Connally's Slate Has No Trouble

Reports to the Texas Election Bureau at 1:35 a.m. from 252 of 254 counties, 158 complete, were GOVERNOR: Connally 890,332, Hackworth 34,358, Woods 274,333. DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - Gov. John Connally, longtime friend and political ally of President Johnson, easily won Democratic nomination Saturday night for a third two-year term.

It also appeared that the governor would retain control of state party machinery as a result of county precinct conventions.

Also piling up massive, uncontested leads were Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, for another term and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in his bid to unseat U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in November.

Tower is the only Republican Texan now in Congress.

The victories for Connally, Smith and Carr came as no surprise. Some observers felt how-

County Votes Only Half Of Its Potential

No more than 5,500 Howard County voters cast ballots in helping to settle six contested state office races and eight uncontested races Saturday in the Democratic primary elections. Total vote was 5,510. This was only about half the potential.

In only one state contest did Howard County voters go against the statewide Democratic grain—that between Franklin Spears and Crawford Martin for state attorney general. Howard Countians gave Spears a 74-vote margin, while state judge Martin piled up a good lead. Galloway Calhoun, the other candidate, received less than 1,000 votes here.

Gov. John Connally had no trouble here, setting back Stanley C. Woods of Harris County and Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Washington County. Connally received 3,740 votes, compared to 1,685 for Woods and only 110 for Hackworth.

The closest race was in the contest for attorney general, with Spears edging out Martin by 2,188 to 2,114. Calhoun received 973 votes.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith won the Howard County vote handsily, getting 4,526 votes to Bill Hollowell's 813.

Jerry Sadler was popular, gathering 4,129 votes to Fred Williams' 1,196 in the race for commissioner of the General Land Office.

Byron Tunnell of Smith County won easily here in the race for railroad commissioner, gathering in 3,605 votes to overwhelm Paul B. Haring of Goliad County, 962, and P. S. (Puss) Ervin (See COUNTY, P. 5-A, C. 5)

Our week turned fast and furiously, but perhaps the tempo was at a peak before tapering off toward the end of school and the summer. Webb AFB opened its gates for a breath-taking airshow and also had a wing review. Rotarians entertained the 573rd district convention with a jam-packed schedule. Saturday brought the party primaries. And farmers eyed fields eagerly for a chance to begin plowing and planting.

The week was not without its violence, too, for Howard County added its 11th traffic fatality of the year. He was Robert Setters, 15, a Kansas lad, who was killed instantly when a car veered from IS 20 six and a half miles east of here and smashed into a sign. There was another similar case just inside the city limits, but the "breakaway" feature of the signs caused them to collapse without inflicting serious injury. At the rate for the first four months, our year's total deaths will be our very worst.

Politicians made the most of the last days before election time. Bill Hollowell brought his campaign for lieutenant governor here; both Crawford Martin and Franklin Spears flew in for last-minute contacts for attorney general. Local candidates worked at feverish pitch.

Word from Rep. George Mahon was that the House Appropriations Committee had included $951,000 for a U. S. post office building here in its recommended public works bill. The item must yet clear the House, then the Senate. Mean-

PORTER, COX WIN

Runoffs Ahead In Two Commissioners' Races

Howard County Democratic voters Saturday returned County Judge Lee Porter and District Court Clerk Fern Cox to their offices for another four-year term but the two county commissioners, who sought re-election, have been projected into a runoff in June. This is on the basis of complete, though unofficial, returns.

Cox had little difficulty disposing of his one opponent, Mrs. Winnie Wood. He defeated her by more than 1,000 votes. His vote was 3,249 and her total 2,130.

Cox's victory moves him into his first full four-year term although he has already once been elected to the post. Originally appointed to the race at the first general election after his appointment for the unexpired term left by his predecessor.

Porter had a tougher go of it against A. G. Mitchell, former deputy sheriff. His margin of victory of Mitchell was less than 800 votes. Porter is due to begin his second term as county judge. L. J. Davidson, county commissioner from Precinct 4, led the field in his race against three rivals but he did not poll a sufficient vote to evade a runoff. His opponent in June will be Billy B. Tune.

Davidson polled 521 votes. Tune was second high man with 416. Marshall J. Sprull was third with 276 and Barney K. Edens was fourth man in the race with 160 votes.

R. C. Nichols, commissioner from Precinct 4, seeking his second term, managed to lead the field in his race but he was closely pushed by the man he defeated in the last election—Ralph White. White and Nichols will fight it out in the runoff.

Nichols polled 723 votes and White 644. Matt Harrington was a relatively poor third with 385 and W. T. Bill Conger trailed the field with 194.

Less than 6,000 voters bothered to go to the polls. This represented only about 45 per cent of the potential vote.

Other officers at county and precinct level on the ballot were unopposed in their efforts to return to their posts.

Ralph Baker, seeking re-election as county surveyor, led the field in the greatest number of votes. He was given the support of 5,446 voters.

OTHERS

Other candidates and their votes:

Ralph W. Caton, judge of the 118th District Court, 5,334.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, 5,949.

Frances Glenn, county treasurer, 5,402.

Pauline S. Petty, county clerk, 5,334.

Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, Place 2, 4,211.

Lula Adams, justice of the peace, Precinct 2, 583. (Columbia)

Ed Fisher, unopposed, was elected as Howard County Democratic chairman. He polled 5,326. He will succeed C. V. Riodan, who did not seek re-election.

In the county and precinct contests, there was very little doubt of the outcome at any time during the tabulation. The closest race was that between Porter and Mitchell for county judge. However, it was made clear early that Porter was holding a lead.

The county commissioners races, involving as they did only a few of the county's 20 voting precincts, were determined fairly early in the tabulation.

TORRID RACES

Roberts, Dowdy Hold Slim Leads

Rep. Ray Roberts forged a slender lead late Saturday night in a torrid race with fellow U.S. House member Lindley Beckworth.

The clash of the two established congressmen—battling in the 4th District of North Texas—topped a Democratic primary menu featuring seven House contests and a U.S. Senate race.

At least two of the eight congressional contests remained in doubt at a late hour.

The second cliff-hanger developed in the 2nd District of East Texas, where state Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin, challenged Rep. John Dowdy's bid for an 8th term.

The lead shifted from first one to the other with Dowdy, a conservative, wresting an inconclusive advantage at a late hour.

Voters, reshuffled under mandatory redistricting, returned incumbents Omar Burleson and Bob Casey to Congress.

Burleson, representative of West Texas' 17th District, turned back a spirited campaign by Abilene attorney Eldon Mahon to win his 11th term.

Casey retained representation of the 22nd District by defeating Bill Kilgarlin, former Harris County Democratic chairman. Former Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe of Houston won the newly created seat in the 7th District, Harris County, with a resounding triumph over John Wildenthal, onetime Houston city attorney.

In a third Harris County contest, State Sen. Bob Eckhardt swept into a commanding lead over the name of the late Rep. Albert Thomas and real estate broker Larry McKaskle.

Thomas' name, under Texas Election Code provision, remained on the ballot despite his death. Eckhardt needed a majority vote to escape a runoff with McKaskle.

State Rep. Abraham Kazen of Laredo moved ahead of two contenders in South Texas' 23rd District, created under redistricting, and was assured at least a runoff berth. Cotulla rancher Roy Martin trailed at a late hour with transportation executive Randolph Sherywood a distant third.

United States House returns from the Texas Election Bureau at 12:45 a.m. in contested Democratic races:

Dist. 2, 18 counties, 6 complete: Martin Dies Jr. 33,095 and John Dowdy 34,005.

Dist. 4, 11 counties, 7 complete: Lindley Beckworth 25,831 and Ray Roberts 32,408.

Dist. 7, Harris County: Frank Briscoe 29,738 and John Wildenthal 12,857.

Dist. 8, Harris County: Bob Eckhardt 19,709, the late Albert Thomas 10,124 and Larry McKaskle 8,373.

Dist. 17, 24 counties, 21 complete: Omar Burleson 39,070 and Eldon Mahon 22,310.

Dist. 22, Harris County: Bob Casey 29,254 and Bill Kilgarlin 23,397.

Dist. 23, 19 counties, 4 complete: Abraham Kazen 30,764, Roy Martin 17,658 and Randolph Sherywood 6,518.

Veteran Holds Broad Lead Over Mahon

Omar Burleson, with 20 years of service in Congress to his credit, ran up another term in Democratic primary voting Saturday, winning handsily over Eldon Mahon, Abilene attorney.

Unofficial, incomplete returns compiled early Sunday by The Herald and other newspapers, showed:

Burleson 39,224 Mahon 23,097

It was a more impressive victory for the Jones County lawyer than most observers had predicted. Mahon actually carried only one county, and that by one vote. It was Glasscock.

Mahon had counted on most of his strength in the western counties of the newly reorganized 17th district—Mitchell, Nolan, Howard, etc., where he had lived most of his life and where he had served in public office and was well known.

But he lost these, and even his native county, Mitchell, where he started his public career.

Burleson had campaigned largely on his record, asking the voters to uphold that. Mahon had pitched his race on an appeal for "new, effective representation," contending that Burleson had not attained a place on major House committees, nor had he kept pace with new legislative ideas. Burleson's voting record is strongly conservative.

Burleson told The Herald:

"It is a victory which not only pleases me, but humbles me, and I am reminding myself that along with the privilege to serve this district—particularly the many new counties—there goes a great responsibility, and I am deeply conscious of this."

"I thank all of my friends, including many new ones, who gave me the finest support a man could ask for. I have no rancor, no ill feeling of any sort toward those who opposed me. I hope everyone finds in me a true representative."

A weary Mahon, talking to The Herald from Abilene, said:

"I gave it all I had, and did my very best to present my views and my platform. I traveled thousands of miles, and met many new and lasting friends. So many friends gave much of their time and effort in my behalf, and I am deeply grateful for all their help."

"I congratulate Mr. Burleson, and wish for him a successful tenure of office."

Mahon felt that a uniformly light vote may have militated against his success.

In state congressional redistricting this year, the 17th district took on 12 new counties. It now encompasses a 24-county area, from Howard and Glasscock on the west to Palo Pinto, Erath and Hamilton on the east, and stretches north and south from Haskell and Throckmorton to Concho.

TEMPLE DICKSON

Home County Vote Spells Difference

Rep. Temple Dickson, Sweetwater, piled up a 10-1 margin in his home county of Nolan Saturday to capture the Democratic nomination as representative of the new 72nd legislative district.

Complete, unofficial returns showed Dickson with 6,279 votes to 5,210 for Rep. Roger Brown, Big Spring.

Rep. Dickson had been serving his first term from the old 80th district and Rep. Brown, whose tenure had been confined to a short special session, had represented the old 78th district.

Rep. Dickson said Saturday night that while he did not get a tremendous vote in Howard County, he nevertheless was grateful for the support he did receive and pledged his best in representing the new district.

"I voted for the redistricting bill which binds Howard, Mitchell and Nolan counties together. It is a good district, one which has a great deal in common, one that is compact and has a community of interest. I look forward to working for the good of all the district."

Brown carried Howard County 4,252 to 1,196, a margin of 3,056 votes and a ratio of 4-1. On the other hand, Dickson swept his own county 3,354 to 356, a margin of 2,998. He only needed to break little more than even in Mitchell County to win, but instead he swept it, 3-1.

The vote by counties:

Dickson Brown

Howard 1,196 4,252

Nolan 3,354 356

Mitchell 1,729 602

Total 6,279 5,210

GOVERNOR GRATEFUL

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally issued the following statement late Saturday night:

"Texas is moving into its greatest era of human opportunity and progress. The people demonstrated today that they want to continue the type of government which will help insure these achievements."

"I am deeply grateful for this overwhelming vote of confidence in my administration. Many individuals share in this victory, and to them I express my heartfelt appreciation for their wonderful support."

Governor's Forces Sweep To Power

Supporters of John Connally swept precinct conventions in most of the powerful metropolitan areas Saturday night in their drive to assure the governor control of the Democratic Party in Texas for the next two years.

An Associated Press tabulation of counties in which conclusive returns had been reported showed that Connally forces had garnered at least 1,985 votes for the all-important Sept. 20 state convention in Austin. The total number of votes at the state convention will be 6,258.

In Dallas County conservative forces claimed a majority of the votes in next Saturday's county election after taking approximately 60 per cent of the precinct conventions from liberal supporters of Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Connally leaders in San Antonio said they had more than the 2,075 needed to control the Bexar County convention with a number of precincts still unreported.

Supporters of the governor swept precinct conventions in Travis (Austin), Wichita (Wichita Falls), Nueces (Corpus Christi), Taylor (Abilene), Potter (Amarillo), Smith (Tyler), Bell (Temple), Gregg (Longview), Lubbock, Midland and Hidalgo counties.

The Republicans also held precinct conventions but the theme was mostly harmony and unity with no controversial issues.

The battle for control of the precinct conventions had attracted more interest in some circles than the races for political offices.

Liberal forces scored their major victories in Harris (Houston) and McLennan (Waco) counties.

A tabulation late Saturday night showed that the liberals had more than a majority of the votes needed to control the Harris County convention. Liberals swept most of the McLennan County precinct meeting.

Liberal forces apparently beat back a challenge in Galveston County and kept a tight grip on the Jefferson County organization.

In Tarrant County (Fort Worth) leaders of neither side would claim victory late Saturday night.

In Denton County a fight loomed after the largest precincts appeared evenly split between the two factions. But virtually all of the smaller counties reporting endorsed the governor and his administration.

Demo Control Scrap Will Go To County Convention

Howard County's status in the state-wide scrap for control of the state Democratic convention, as being fought out by Governor John Connally and the liberal-labor elements loyal to Ralph Yarborough, seems up in the air.

Precinct conventions held here Saturday were inconclusive, and the showdown test likely will come at the county convention next Saturday.

On the basis of unofficial tabulation of delegate strength, Connally supporters had 117 votes; the opposing forces 109. However, a number of precincts did not report conventions, and there is a question of their representation at the county convention.

A full report on the precinct conventions is to be found on Page 4-A.

Thousands Gape At Air Show Thrills

While thousands gaped, gasped and watched in wide-eyed astonishment, the U.S. Army Golden Knight parachute team and the peerless Air Force Thunderbirds staged a spectacular air show Saturday morning at Webb AFB.

The event honored graduates of Class 66-G, who were presented their wings at a wing review and drew an aerial salute of a low pass by jets from the field. Special guests included the delegates and wives attending the District 57th Rotary International convention.

From the main hangar southward for a quarter of a mile along the line, people were stacked in to watch the amazing display of skill by the parachutists and jet pilots. Before and afterwards, until the gates of the base were closed to the public at 1 p.m., they viewed an assortment of transient and base aircraft on static display.

WING REVIEW
Air Force personnel took a busman's holiday, gawking at the show as their civilian friends did, and snapping pictures right and left of the sleek aircraft.

A few thousand spectators arrived in time to view the colorful wing review in advance of the show. Inevitably, the sunshine was too much for at least one of the participants, who fainted momentarily.

The Thunderbirds, making their 1,065th appearance, were flawless in their flashing pas-es at closure speeds exceeding 1,200 miles per hour on an apparent collision course. Their white smoke trails etched awesome and magnificent patterns in the blue, cloudless sky.

EXCITING SHOW
They did everything a jet airplane can do — and some things most people didn't know could be done — and they did it in formations so close that wings almost touched. Pilots looped

Body Of Mishap Victim Is Taken To Liberal, Kans.

Body of Robert Settlers, 15-year-old youth killed Thursday night in a car accident east of town, has been sent to Liberal, Kan.

River-Welch Funeral Home turned the body over to a Liberal mortician who is driving through from Big Spring to the Kansas town.

Settlers was killed and David L. McDowell, 42, Colorado City, was injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a sign board on IS 20 east of town. McDowell was not seriously injured.

Settlers' home is in Liberal but he had been residing for four months with his father, Charles W. Settlers, Colorado City.

and rolled, and flew in inverted positions, often times at seeming tree-top levels. They rocketed vertically into bomb-burst separation that spent giant spidery trails off in different directions. While the regular flight of five performed unbelievable feats of flying skill and accuracy, two other Thunderbirds kept the crowd gasping with low passes, and one so slow it seemed the plane had to stall. This all took place with rapid precision that there was scarcely a lapse between one maneuver and the next.

PARACHUTISTS
Nor did the Golden Knights yield any laurels to the famed Thunderbirds. One of the maneuvers saw a parachutist fall free from 13,000 to 3,500 feet, ride his chute for 10 seconds, cut away from it and then fall free to 1,800 feet before opening a second chute. Two others joined in mid-air and passed a baton. Two fell free for 20 seconds in opposite directions, then reversed position and fell another 20 seconds in a different direction, creating a diamond smoke pattern, finally opening chutes at 1,800 feet. There also was a four-man formation drop. All of the parachuters landed virtually on target in front of the reviewing stand, some landed on one foot, and one hit the target dead center with both feet.

Base officials, counting cars as they entered Webb gates, estimated that 10,000 people must have been on hand at one time or another during the morning

Military Ban On Moon Outlined

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson proposed Saturday that the United States, Soviet Union, and other space powers join in a treaty outlawing military activity on the moon and denying anyone or any nation lunar sovereignty.

Johnson said the objective is to make sure that American astronauts and those of other nations can freely conduct scientific investigations of the moon.

Nonmilitary goals in outer space are attainable, Johnson said, and in his view a treaty is needed to lay down rules for exploration of the moon and other heavenly bodies for peaceful purposes only.

IN U.N.
Johnson said the treaty proposal will be discussed first in the United Nations by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg in the 28-member U.N. Committee on Outer Space.

After that, it would become a matter of formal negotiations among nations involved in outer space exploration looking toward a treaty.

Johnson said "the elements of such a treaty would be as follows: 'The moon and other celestial bodies should be free for exploration and use by all countries. No country should be permitted to advance a claim of sovereignty.'

FOR SCIENCE
"There should be freedom of scientific investigation, and all countries should cooperate in scientific activities relating to celestial bodies."

"Studies should be made to avoid harmful contamination."

"Astronauts from one country should give any necessary help to astronauts of another country."

"No country should be permitted to station weapons of mass destruction on a celestial body. Weapon tests and military maneuvers should be forbidden."

"I am convinced that we should do what we can—not only for our generation but for future generations—to see to it that serious political conflicts do not arise as a result of space activities. I believe that the time is ripe for action. We should not lose time."

School Districts Ignore U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two hundred, fifty-five school districts have ignored requests to pledge compliance with civil rights law in order to qualify for new federal aid and are regarded as out of compliance, the Office of Education reported Saturday.

only 255 which have not been heard from and thus are currently unqualified for new aid. And the office is not announcing where these are, pending further efforts to obtain voluntary compliance.

LACK OF FUNDS
The ability of the Welfare Department to carry out its civil rights compliance role has been thrown into doubt by lack of funds, its chief said Saturday.

Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner said in an interview that "the House dealt a real blow to our plans for civil rights compliance" when it cut a budget request from $4,132,000 to $277,000.

The budget request had proposed 348 positions, and the House reduced this number by 70, Gardner added.

Asked why the 1966 civil rights program of the Johnson administration does not deal directly with the de facto school segregation problem, Gardner said studies are still under way which involves such cities as Boston, Chicago and San Francisco in an effort to determine a course of action.

Soviet Premier Going To Cairo

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin leaves for Cairo Tuesday on the first of a round of visits to non-Communist countries.

Kosygin's schedule also calls for trips to Sweden and Finland this summer. He will greet French President Charles de Gaulle in Moscow next month.

WILL ASK MORE
Making it plain he intends to seek restoration of the money by the Senate, Gardner said: "I don't think we can operate an adequate and balanced program in both the north and the south with this kind of reduction."

Visiting U.S.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A delegation of Yugoslav officials and trade experts left here today for a month's visit to the United States to seek further expansion of trade between the two countries.

Asked why the 1966 civil rights program of the Johnson administration does not deal directly with the de facto school segregation problem, Gardner said studies are still under way which involves such cities as Boston, Chicago and San Francisco in an effort to determine a course of action.

Death From The Skies

While the plane burns in background, fellow sky diving parachutists bend over body of one of five parachutists who died when their plane crashed in a farm field near Pottstown, Pa. Also dead in the crash was the pilot. Another sky diver, jumpmaster on the flight, jumped safely as the plane started its death plunge. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Five Sky Divers Killed As Light Plane Crashes

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Five of six sky divers and their pilot were killed Saturday as their single engine plane carrying them on a parachute accuracy drop contest crashed, exploded and burned two miles from their objective.

The monoplane, powered by a 450-horsepower engine, crashed on a farm field shortly after take-off from the New Hanover Airport. Apparently it was circling to come back for the competitive jump. It was the first flight of the sky-diving meet, canceled after the disaster.

Four of the jumpers and the pilot were trapped in the cabin of the plane and plummeted with it to their deaths. Another got clear and jumped, but apparently his chute tangled in the tail assembly and failed to open. He hit the ground within 35 feet of the burning wreckage.

The sixth diver survived, leaping from the disabled craft as it spun earthward. He jumped from an altitude of 500 feet and landed safely, uninjured but badly shaken by the tragedy.

The plane was piloted by Jim Kiesling, 33, Willow Grove, Pa., a veteran pilot and father of five children. The surviving jumper was Walker D. McGraw, 25, a Navy man attached to the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N.J., and designated as the jumpmaster on this flight, first of a score scheduled for the meet which included such events as delayed jumps.

In the plane were three fellow Navy jumpers and two civilian jumpers. The Navy men were identified as Alva McBride, 23, Thomas L. Boidorf, 21, and Ronald L. West, 20, all of Lakehurst. The two civilians were Scott Benner, 17, Boyertown, Pa., and Howard Miller, 20, Havertown, Pa.

Pakistan, Red China May Bring India New Trouble

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian people were warned Saturday that amid all their other difficulties they may have to face renewed trouble with Pakistan and Communist China.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, touring west-central Indian towns, recalled the recent conflicts with both neighbors and told a crowd in Bhandara that India wants peace, but cannot yield to threats.

It was the second consecutive day Mrs. Gandhi has told her people to guard the security of India, which fought for three weeks against Pakistan last September and clashed with China in the Himalayas in 1962.

Mrs. Gandhi said in Aurangabad on Friday: "We have to keep our army and air force ready. Our people have to stand ready to back up the defense services."

In New Delhi, parliamentary members of Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party circulated an annual report filled with foreboding about China and Pakistan.

The report said China occupied Indian territory in the Himalayas and that if this continued, it might "ignite the flames of a wider conflict."

It also referred to what was called Pakistan's tendency to

Lynda, George At Six Flags

DALLAS (AP)—Lynda Byrd Johnson and actor George Hamilton made a surprise visit today to Six Flags Over Texas, the amusement park between here and Fort Worth.

Secret Service agents escorted the President's elder daughter and her escort from the park after 45 minutes. About 18,000 people were in the park at the time.

The President's daughter and Hamilton arrived by plane from Austin, where she is a University of Texas senior. President and Mrs. Johnson are spending a long weekend at their LBJ Ranch, 60 miles west of Austin.

Youth-Led Revival At First Baptist Begins Friday

A worship service will begin the revival at 8:45 p.m. Friday, followed by recreation and refreshments at 9 p.m. Saturday's services will also be at 8:45 p.m., with a hot dog supper at 9 p.m., and a full-length feature movie at 10 p.m. A high attendance is expected in Sunday school, with a youth fellowship that evening at 8 o'clock.

Market Rallies

NEW YORK (AP)—An hour-long rally at the close of the stock market Friday halted the steepest market plunge in four years and cut some earlier losses.

Too Many Sick At Polling Box

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Voters in Precinct 9 had to ballot Saturday in a makeshift tent.

The polling place originally was designated as the Shady Oaks Nursing Home. Election Judge C. C. Morris said the nursing home manager, Paul Langford, informed him late Friday that voting could not take place there because "there are too many sick people around."

Morris got a crew together and started building the open tent structure Friday night. It resembled an old type brush harbor meeting place.

The precinct is a large one and in northwest Sherman. About 100 patients are in the nursing home.

Humphrey With Kennedy On New Study Of China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is actively supporting a proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for creation of a high-level commission to reassess U.S. relations with Communist China.

Humphrey, who has called for "containment without isolation" of Red China, has told associates he regards as excellent the proposal made by the late President John F. Kennedy's youngest brother and seconded by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

Although he has been silent about President Johnson's reaction, Humphrey's endorsement of a commission study is interpreted as indicating a willingness on the part of the administration to explore new avenues toward Asian policies.

This contrasts with the State Department's cool reception for the commission suggestion when it was made in the Senate last Tuesday by Kennedy and McGovern.

At that time department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the proposal would be studied. But he added that problems with Peking long have been receiving constant attention at the highest level of government.

There also is the aspect of Humphrey's willingness to get behind a call for a "major reassessment" of policies by a senator who might be considered, along with his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as a potential rival for the Democratic presidential nomination in the future.

The public endorsement given the Kennedy-McGovern proposal by Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is not expected to arouse Johnson's enthusiasm for it. Fulbright has been highly critical of the President's Viet Nam policies, the Kennedy's slightly less so.

Kennedy and McGovern suggested presidential appointment of a nongovernment commission, headed by a prestige name. Neither senator has offered any legislation, pending some unmistakable indication of Johnson's reaction.

Humphrey has suggested that Congress could act on its own to authorize the appointment of a commission of experts. In such cases, the vice president and the speaker of the House usually are designated to pick the membership.

U.S. Troops Chase Smashed Commies

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Survivors of a smashed Communist battalion threw away their weapons and melted into the countryside Saturday in an effort to elude hotly pursuing U.S. air cavalrymen and South Vietnamese troops who already have killed 416 of them.

The allied units wiped out all but a scattering of the mixed Viet Cong-North Vietnamese force of 400 to 500 men in two days of fighting on the rain-soaked coastal flatlands on South Viet Nam's central coast.

But while the U.S. command claimed the biggest allied battleground victory in weeks, ominous signs appeared on the political scene, bringing with them the possibility of new civilian disorders.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who had promised powerful Buddhist groups his military regime would step down after elections in September or October for an assembly to draft a constitution, told a news conference he expects his government to remain in power for another year. Buddhist organizations in Saigon promptly called for strategy meetings.

Antigovernment Buddhist rioting joined the nation last month. One aspect of those disorders was still to be seen Saturday. At the Vietnamese resort of Da Lat, a student group staged a sit-down demonstration for the fourth straight day, continuing their protest of the killing of five students by government soldiers April 21. Two soldiers also were killed in the clashes.

The battleground victory on the central coast overshadowed other military developments. U.S. spokesmen in Saigon said that despite the arrival of monsoon rains, American warplanes had blasted targets in North and South Viet Nam.

A delayed report told of the destruction by U.S. planes of two spans of the Bac Giang railroad and highway bridge 25 miles northeast of Hanoi, the northern capital, cutting a vital supply route from Communist China.

The U.S. Air Force and units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division accounted for 332 of the Communists killed in Operation Davy Crockett, 18 miles north of Bong Son and about 250 miles northeast of Saigon. The South Vietnamese claimed 84.

Associated Press Correspondent Bob Poo, with the cavalrymen, reported the Communist survivors had followed their usual tactic of throwing away their weapons to facilitate escape. Poo said the enemy force had been identified as the 9th Battalion of the Quyet Tam (Determination) regiment.

In Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said there was "precious little left" of the enemy unit.

In addition to the enemy death toll, the allied force reported capturing 40 prisoners and questioning 515 persons suspected of being Viet Cong or Viet Cong sympathizers. Presumably those questioned were natives of the area.

MORE CONSERVATIVE ELEMENT WINS SLIGHT EDGE IN PRECINCT BATTLES

County Convention To Decide Howard's Support

Whether Howard County expresses its political support for Gov. John Connally, or swings again to the liberal-labor line apparently will be fought out at the county convention next Saturday.

There were brisk battles between the opposing forces in a couple of major precinct conventions in Big Spring Saturday, and each side emerged with a victory.

As far as could be determined by The Herald, Precinct 1 held no convention Saturday. There was nothing heard from a number of rural boxes, either, and it is possible that if these have delegate strength at the county level, they could control the county's status.

It has for several years sent a liberal-labor delegation to the state convention, but the more conservative element organized new strength this year.

UNOFFICIAL TALLY
An unofficial tally of precincts reporting to The Herald would indicate that Connally supporters have 117 votes (from Precincts 2, 4, 16 and 17); and the interests more favorable to the Ralph Yarborough leadership have 109 (from Precincts 3, 5, 15 and 20). The convention at Forsan, with four votes, apparently was not strongly committed.

No convention reports could be obtained from most of the rural boxes.

The big scrap was in Precinct 3, where the vote was close, and considerable delaying strategy occurred in Precinct 2, but conservatives were in command. A report by precincts:

PRECINCT 2
Precinct 2 took over an hour to select a list of delegates to the county convention, pass a resolution favoring the continued leadership of Gov. John B. Connally and adopting the unit rule. Conservatives were in firm control.

Robert H. Dyer was elected permanent chairman and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. served as secretary.

The following were named as delegates: Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Cofer Jr., Harold Canning, Charles Lusk, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cootes, Mr. and Mrs. Billy W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bette, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heinze, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eysen Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rains, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Boss, D. F. Terry, Robert Boadle, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. McDonald, Jerry Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., Earl Lusk, Ray Thomas and R. F. Dorsey.

Sixteen alternates were named. They include: Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hollingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Mairi McFaul, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Falson, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Jvie, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McAlister, Mr. and Mrs. Marcellous Weaver, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Conley.

PRECINCT 3
Forces led by Frank Parker and D. A. Brazel, International

Union of Operating Engineers, narrowly captured the Precinct 3 Democratic convention Saturday evening and adopted resolutions limiting the tenure of a governor to four years and calling for an industrial safety law.

Oddly, opposing forces led by Clyde McMahon Jr. succeeded in seating their chairman, Lanny Hamby, 25-17, only to lose on the voting of resolutions. A motion endorsing Gov. John Connally lost 21-20. Thereafter, most motions proposed by Parker carried by one to four votes. The convention lasted for nearly an hour as recounts were repeatedly called for. At least one motion to adjourn was beaten.

The unit rule was not adopted, but the delegates proposed by Parker was adopted as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Roemer Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Roemer Jr., Bert Shive, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Brazel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hewett, Roy Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Melton, Lavern Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Greenfield, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wright, O. O. Brown, R. L. Baber, Julia Taylor, Joe King, Ora Johnson, J. B. Landston, Irvin Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Childress, Oscar Nabors.

PRECINCT 4
An unusually large turnout of about 80 persons attended the precinct 4 meeting, held in the Fourth and Nolan Street fire station and the conservative element appeared to outnumber the liberal wing by about three to one.

Bob Travis was named chairman and Sue Ratliff secretary of the convention.

A resolution to offer Gov. John Connally unqualified support was adopted but a proposal to petition the state legislature to update the state constitution failed to carry.

Forty-eight persons were named as delegates to the county convention. Three others were chosen as alternates. The unit rule was adopted.

Named as delegates were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Heith, Mr. and Mrs. Tom South, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Hohertz, Mr. and Mrs. Wendal Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Spence, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Landers.

South, Lloyd Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Galbraith, Mr. and Mrs. Reg Hyer, G. B. McNallen, Bob Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Warden Mayes, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bradberry, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caton and Tommy Hart.

Chosen as alternate delegates were Mrs. Tommy Hart and Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Faulkner.

PRECINCT 5
At the Precinct 5 convention, held at the Cedar Crest School, L. R. Mundt, who served as precinct judge, was elected precinct chairman to the county convention. The 13 voters present adopted the following resolutions: that Texas adopt a permanent voter registration system; that the governor of the state be limited to not more than two, two-year terms; that a job safety law be adopted at the next session of the legislature; and that the programs of the Great Society and President Lyndon B. Johnson be supported fully.

Twenty-two delegates, including Mundt, were elected to the county convention: Laurel Grandstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bedford, E. A. Sanchez, LeRoy Grandstaff, W. T. Boadle, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Jose A. Perez, Mrs. L. R. Mundt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Griffith, Don Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Novis Womack, W. J. Goodson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gamble.

The convention voted to abide by the unit rule at the county convention.

PRECINCT 9
Coshoma, Precinct 9, sent its four delegates uncommitted to the county convention. Paul West was named convention chairman and Leroy Wright secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Paul West, Mrs. B. F. Mabee and Leroy Wright were named as delegates.

In balloting which had nothing to do with the convention, B. G. Shepherd was named chairman.

PRECINCT 10
Precinct 10 at Forsan named six delegates to the county convention, these to vote under the unit rule. There were only three others present.

The convention passed a resolution asking the county convention to select one delegate from rural boxes to be a member of all counties named at the county convention.

Chairman was J. C. Ferguson and with him, other delegates are Mrs. Dale Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoard, G. L. Monroy, C. J. Lamb.

PRECINCT 15
Robert Pearson served as chairman of this meeting, attended by seven persons, and no list of delegates was available.

The convention passed resolutions calling for industrial safety laws, a minimum wage, especially for women, reasonable working hours for women, equal legal rights for women, a state minimum wage equal to the average of the U.S., repeal of "right-to-work" laws, and "we do not think our present representatives are working toward these ends, and desire a change."

The precinct's delegation will go to the county conclave bound under the unit rule.

Sterling Gives Burleson Edge

STERLING CITY — Sterling County, in an extremely light turnout of 130 votes, gave Rep. Omar Burleson a 74-53 edge over Eldon Mahon in the race for congressman of the 17th district.

In other voting, John Connally got 108 votes for governor, Johnnie Mae Hackworth 3 and Stanley C. Woods 19. Preston Smith swamped Bill Hollowell for lieutenant governor 116-10, and Waggoner Carr won the senate nomination 113-13 against Jack Willoughby.

Crawford C. Martin and Franklin Spears finished in a dead heat with 56 votes each for attorney general, while Galloway Calhoun got 17. Jerry Sadler polled 93 votes for land commissioner to 33 for Fred Williams. P. S. Ervin got eight for railroad commission, Paul Harding 26, and Byron Tunnell 83. W. T. McDonald won the court of criminal appeals edging 70-34 to John Onion.

In uncontested county races, W. R. Brooks, county judge, W. Durham, county clerk, Mrs. Sally Wallace, county treasurer, and Tom Ashbill, justice of peace precinct 1, all were re-nominated.

were in charge all the way at Precinct 16's convention, attended by more than 40 people. Precinct chairman W. D. Berry was named chairman of the convention and R. H. Weaver secretary.

Rotarians Go For High Flying

Houston Voters Elect Negro To State Senate

Texas' voters elected a Negro woman state senator Saturday, at the same time rejecting several veteran legislators who got caught in the re-districting shuffle.

Selection of Miss Barbara Jordan, 30, fast talking Houston attorney, as the Democratic senatorial nominee for Dist. 11 of eastern Harris County was tantamount to election. She has no Republican opponent in November. She defeated state Rep. J. C. Whitfield by a margin of nearly 2 to 1 to become the first Negro in the Texas Legislature since 1895.

Two other Negroes, candidates for state representative, also fought close races in Harris and Dallas counties.

The selection of Miss Jordan apparently leaves the Senate with the same feminine representation it had for the last legislature—one woman.

Mrs. Nevelle Colson, representative from Navasota 10 years and then senator for 18 years, apparently was defeated in a close race with Sen. William T. Moore, Bryan.

In another battle spawned by re-districting, Sen. Bill Patman, Ganado, defeated Sen. Culp Krueger, El Campo, active campaign worker for President Johnson and senator for 10 years.

Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon, just completing his first term, defeated veteran Sen. Andy Rogers, Childress, who served seven Senate terms plus two in the House.

Rep. Chet Brooks, Houston, won easily over Rep. John Ray Harrison, Houston, for the southeast Harris County senatorial district.

Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry, San Antonio, outspoken supporter of horse race betting, easily won a three-man race for the Senate.

Rep. Wayne Connally, Florenceville, brother of the governor, was easily over Erasmo Andrade, San Antonio.

Sen. Tom Creighton, Mineral Wells, downed Gene Smith, former Tarrant County district clerk.

Rep. Joe Bernal, San Antonio, defeated David Carter for another San Antonio Senate seat.

Dawson Voters Favor Incumbents

LAMESA (SC)—A total of 2,451 Dawson County voters went to the polls Saturday to return three incumbents to office by an overwhelming lead.

Local GOP Pleased With Big Turnout

Local GOP leaders said Saturday night that more than 50 write in votes were cast for Phil S. Kindrick, Taylor County, for congressman of the 17th District at the Republican Primary polls.

They said 189 votes were cast at the nine GOP polling places, but said late Saturday that no breakdowns would be available until early in the week.

The Republican primary candidates were unopposed. The nine precinct conventions elected full slates of candidates to the county Republican convention, leaders said.

W. J. (Bill) Sheppard said: "We were extremely well pleased with the turnout. We had really expected about 100 voters."

In 1962, he said, with contested races, only 162 Howard County Republicans voted. "We were really amazed at the number of votes," Sheppard added.

In the state races, Mitchell Countians gave Rep. Omar Burleson the nod over Eldon Mahon by a narrow margin of 1,257 to 1,122, in the 17th District congressional race.

THE WEEK

while, plans are in the third stage.

Speaking of plans, Stanton's underground school has created considerable interest. Wall Street Journal picked up a story on the unusual project and gave it national circulation. Architect Owen Puckett said he got so many inquiries as a result that it was impossible to answer them all.

Although it would have been wonderful to have Lake J. B. Thomas lapping at the spillway, the five and three-quarters feet increase was a Godsend. Although Lake Colorado City went from an apprehensive low to billowing over the spillway and Champion Creek picked up four feet or more, the Lake Thomas increase of 27,000 acre-feet approximated what these two lakes now hold. Moss Creek lake also went over the spillway, Powell Creek was within less than three feet of the top, Cosden Lake overflowed.

This area has seldom been in as good condition as it is now. There are many fields, soaked by successive rains aggregating up to 10 inches in some places, which cannot be plowed for another two weeks. It is possible that planting will swing into full force within 10 days barring other rain. There is enough moisture reserve in the ground to almost make a crop.

Cats made news. Smoky and Bibbs, the cats belonging to Sherry and Sharon Monnens of Iowa City, Iowa, climbed into a van which was being loaded for a trip to Big Spring. So they made the trip before being restored to their distraught owners, but not before Smoky enlarged the delegation with a litter of three. About the same time, Tiger, the J. B. Langston pet, came limping home with a steel trap on his paw, thus arousing the owners and lawmen.

The Head Start program at Kate Morrison school got another $33,316 last week, boosting the total to $81,629 and the total time to five months. This is just about what was asked originally before the program was cut back piece by piece, and then restored the same way. Around 200 pre-school youngsters are being equipped for an even start next autumn.

The local chapter of the American Cancer Society had its installation with Mrs. Donald cal unrest in South Viet Nam. The Buddhists are demanding an early end to military rule.

In Da Nang, scene of anti-Ky turmoil in April, Mayor Nguyen Van Man said Ky's statement surprised him.

"We are in for a bad time," he said, if Ky stays on.

Ky made his statement at the Binh Tuy Airbase near the Mekong River delta town of Can Tho, about 100 miles southwest of Saigon. This was the first time that he had spelled out clearly the objectives of his 10-man military directorate.

"I expect to stay in power for at least another year — perhaps until the middle of next year," he said. "There is no doubt about that."

He also said he and the army would fight any "neutralist or Communist" government if it emerges from general elections.

Ky added, however: "I am sure that the majority of Vietnamese are anti-Communist. I am sure that no such government will be elected."

Both Washington and the U.S. Embassy here withheld comment.

According to Ky, the political program for the nation shapes up as follows:

Elections for a Constituent Assembly some time early this fall, in September or October.

Drafting of the National constitution by the assembly.

Another vote for a Legislative Assembly which, in turn, would name a government according to the pattern of the now-defunct fourth French republic.

That would come in the middle of next year, and until that time the military would continue to rule.

The air force vice marshal, whose regime took power 10 months ago, indicated that he and the military expect to continue to play a major role.

But he declined to say whether he would be a candidate in elections.

Ky's statement appeared to constitute a major political development since the military junta gave in to Buddhist demands for elections and a civilian regime. Part of the deal with the Buddhists was that Ky's regime would step down after the elections.

Van Meter succeeding Mrs. Larson Lloyd as president. Reports indicated the campaign for funds so far has brought in $4,865. Another humanitarian group, the Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults said its fund appeal had resulted in $2,014.

Construction totals will be given a boost shortly when Grace Baptist files for its new building on FM 700 just north of the National Guard Armory. The first contract is for $129,000, and the project ultimately may cost $350,000. Incidentally, this group only missed by 22 having 100 per cent of its enrollment present a week ago, despite heavy rains.

The Herald's own R. W. Whipple was singled out for special honors last week, being presented with the Air Force Exceptional Service award. This carries with it a certification and a medal, and it is the fourth highest of the existing civilian awards which the Air Force makes. The citation noted his long record of service in making the base and the civilian community one.

Sterling County added a small discovery in Earl Wells No. 5-A Glass, a San Andres prospect which instead hit pay in the Queen. Greathouse, Pierce and Davis No. 1 Armstrong will be a 9,200-foot Howard County prospect five miles southeast of Ackery.

Webb AFB is about to lose another of its top men. The reassignment of Col. Joe Sherwood, Air Base group commander, to command of the 6234th combat support group in the Pacific Air Force was announced during the week.

The case of the tragedy which claimed two lives in a shooting here in April appeared closed last week when William T. Patterson was sent off to Rusk for confinement in facilities for the criminally insane. An 118th District Court jury found that Patterson was insane at the time he shot two men with a high powered rifle, and is still insane.

The career of a promising young attorney was terminated suddenly last week. John W. Benson, who came here just a year ago, died suddenly of a heart attack. Ironically, when he and Mrs. Benson were enroute here last year, her father Rupert Ricker, died unexpectedly. A year later, the same thing happened to John Benson.

Tumor Transplant Volunteer Losing Ground To Cancer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Robert F. Allen was in critical condition Saturday in St. Joseph's Hospital, and his physician said it was only a "matter of time" before death ends his courageous fight against bone cancer.

"He is terminal, and that means just what it sounds like," said Dr. T.E.A. von Dedenroth. "The situation has deteriorated in the last 48 hours."

Allen received nationwide encouragement in February when he volunteered for a revolutionary tumor transplant exchange in Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

His appeal for a transplant partner who had the same kind of cancer and B-type blood resulted in his being paired with Harry T. Griffith, 63, a former professional baseball player from Flourtown, Pa.

Allen has not been told that Griffith died April 25.

He also has not been told that his own case is considered terminal, said Von Dedenroth.

"He's still fighting," the physician said.

"Apparently the surgery was performed too late. There's a possibility that if they'd gotten to him sooner, something might have worked out."

Allen was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Friday. He had been bedridden in his home since his return from Buffalo April 27.

Two tumor transplants and a nerve operation to ease the pain had weakened him. He also was bothered by swelling in the abdominal area and a recurring fever.

Earlier this week he complained of a sore throat which made eating solid foods virtually impossible.

Von Dedenroth said the spreading of osteogenic sarcoma, the bone cancer which forced the amputation of Allen's left leg last fall, is to blame for the worsened condition of the ex-football player from the University of Illinois and Tucson High School.

The cancer has spread throughout Allen's pelvic region, the doctor said, adding: "There's nothing more we can do."

Allen, 29 an insurance broker, is married and has three children. He volunteered for the tumor transplant experiment after doctors had told him he had two to six months to live.

As a result of Allen's search for a transplant partner, two other young men also have undergone tumor transplants in Buffalo. They are Larry Rink, 21, of Centerville, Mich., with whom Allen underwent a second transplant, and Thomas E. Welker, 21, of Conrad, Mont.

Doctors have said it is too early to tell whether the treatment will be successful with Rink and Welker.

Judge Miffed As Bond Reduced In N.Y. Court

AUSTIN (AP) — "There are telephones in New York and some of the lines lead to Texas," Federal Judge Adrian Spears, miffed at U.S. Commissioners in New York City, said Friday.

Spears became irked on finding that a commissioner—junior to him in the federal judiciary—reduced a bond set by Spears from $10,000 to $1,000, and that another New York commissioner knocked a $1,000 bond down to $500.

The bonds were set for defendants in a pending case involving an alleged interstate marijuana ring. The marijuana allegedly was brought illegally from Mexico into Texas and California.

Indictments in the case involve 17 persons, most of them residents of New York and New Jersey.

Spears said the U.S. Commissioner in New York did not contact the U.S. Attorney's office in this district before "taking it upon himself to reduce the bonds."

He allowed a woman defendant, whose bond was reduced from $10,000 to $1,000, to remain free, however. He said she came to Texas on her own Friday for arraignment and had done nothing to make him believe she would not show up for trial.

Nader Opposes Strict Regulation

DETROIT (AP)—Auto industry critic Ralph Nader told a news conference Saturday he opposes too stringent government regulation of the auto industry.

Nader said he was very much in favor of President Johnson's highway safety bill aimed at cutting the nation's 50,000 annual traffic death toll. He said that in many ways, he believes, the bill does not go far enough.

But, the Washington attorney told newsmen prior to a speaking engagement Saturday night, "I do not want complete government regulation for it can stagnate if it is not done by proper people in an open manner."

He added, "One has to be very careful about saying let's give it to the government. . . rather, we must allow the industry to develop a competitive attitude on safety which it does not have today."

Nader praised Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., whose subcommittee got General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors to make public Friday lists of potential defects found in cars built since 1960.

"That marked a significant breakthrough in the auto industry's veil of secrecy and in the cause of auto safety," Nader said.

He referred to Sen. Ribicoff's report that about 8.7 million of the 47 million cars built since 1960 had figured in callback campaigns.

The auto firms' reports show that relatively few defective cars were found but that the extensive recalls were made to eliminate possibility of any further mishaps.

Nader said one of the weak points of the industry's report to Ribicoff was that some car divisions indicated they had found potential sources of trouble, but had not been able to locate all the cars possibly involved.

WASHINGTON (AP)—About two dozen American servicemen and U.S. civilians working for contractors have been punished for black market activities in South Viet Nam, it was disclosed Saturday.

A Pentagon spokesman said actions were taken against the Americans as a result of a drive to halt the illegal black market sale of post exchange goods, pilferage and money manipulation.

Names of the servicemen and civilians were not disclosed, nor were there any specific information available on the extent of punishment. However, at least some of the servicemen were court-martialed.

"The Defense Department and Gen. Westmoreland have been aware for some time of black market activities," the spokesman said. He said that they had been pushing a "vigorous program for ferreting out" offenders. Gen. William C. Westmoreland is the top U.S. military commander in Viet Nam.

Last month, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sent representatives to Saigon to check on the situation, the spokesman said.

McNamara and Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance require regular reports on illegal activities in Viet Nam and measures being taken to stamp them out.

So far, the spokesman said, it appeared that only a small number of Americans have been involved and that the great majority there are free of taint.

The defense official denied there is any special probe under way. He said, rather, that the Defense Department and the military command in Saigon are "continually monitoring" the situation.

The problem was most acute during the early months of the buildup, the spokesman said, but "it is diminishing now."

Last summer and fall, he said, all post exchange goods entered the country through Saigon, and much was stocked on the docks and in warehouses and was vulnerable to theft.

But steps have been taken to remedy the difficulties, the spokesman said.

Smith Holds To His Policy

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Prime Minister Ian Smith held firm Saturday to his policy of independence under white rule as Rhodesian delegates took off for London and talks aimed at working out a resumption of top-level negotiations with Britain.

Britain considers Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence Nov. 11 illegal and is trying to bring Smith's downfall through economic measures, including embargoes on vital oil.

Speaking at Marandellas 40 miles southeast of Salisbury, Smith declared that enemies of his white-supremacy government "have not been able to find a single chink in our armor." He praised his followers for their "wonderful unanimity in successfully fighting the battle of Rhodesia's independence."

Britain's Labor government demands firm guarantees that Rhodesia's black majority eventually will be granted full participation in the government before it will recognize Rhodesia's independence.

There is no board of censors at the Post Office. Officials say first-class mail remains sacredly private and the department couldn't care less how colorfully an individual might want to express his thoughts to a friend.

But there is growing concern with the "organized peddling of pornography through the mails," as department general counsel, Timothy May put it, and the post office can operate with more assuredness.

The Supreme Court said March 21 in upholding the conviction of publisher Ralph Ginzburg that advertising or "padding" could help establish a publication as obscene.

To the Post Office, this means easier administration of the 1865 Mailing Law under which Ginzburg was convicted and the mails are patrolled for obscene.

Black Marketeers Caught In Saigon

Rain's Benefits Exceed The Losses

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Farmers in many sections of Texas have a surplus of rain. Reports of damage to crops, livestock, fences and ponds came from several district agents, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported.

But, he added, farmers here say benefits will exceed the losses. Only the Panhandle didn't share in the beautiful rain. Northern counties got little or no rain, the director said.

District agents at midweek reported: From a trace to one inch of rain fell over parts of the Panhandle, but that most of the northern counties got none. Ranges generally are below average but livestock are in good condition.

Good rains fell over the South Plains (Lubbock), ranging from 2 to 6 inches with up to 8 inches in spots. These have insured good planting moisture. Only one or two isolated spots are still short on moisture. Only a small acreage of cotton and grain sorghum had been planted and it will probably have to be replanted. Cotton and sorghum planting will be in full swing when fields dry. Irrigated wheat, onions, potatoes and sugar beets are making good progress. Ranges should improve.

Rolling Plains (Vernon) rain varied from 3 to 9 inches. All counties had adequate moisture. Small grains improved. Some replanting of cotton and sorghums will be necessary.

Excessive rains in North Central Texas caused considerable erosion and crop damage. Replanting of cotton and sorghums will be considerable. All stock tanks are full. Ranges and livestock are in good condition.

Northeast Texas has hard hit with 10 to 13 inches of rain along the Red River and over 30 inches in Gregg County, reported agent R. S. Loftis from Mt. Pleasant. He estimated 40 per cent of corn and sorghum already planted would be replanted. Corn and sorghum were 75 per cent planted when rain began. Tomatoes not covered by plastic were lost. Erosion damage was severe on open fields with recently prepared seedbeds. Fences were washed out, farm-pond-dams were broken and cattle losses were heavy, he said. It will be several days, he added, before the full extent of damages will be known. He noted that older stock were being lost in bogs. He said Holly Jones, a Gregg County stockman, estimated he had lost 100 head of cattle. Loftis said benefits to crops and pastures would outweigh the losses.

Rains up to 12 inches left moisture adequate in all far West Texas counties except Culberson, Jeff Davis, Presidio and Brewster. Some areas were hit by heavy hail with damage to crops, livestock and buildings. Fences were washed out.

Ranges and dryland crops and livestock are improving. About 75 per cent of the district's irrigated cotton had been planted and some replanting will be necessary. Goat and sheep shearing has halted. Planting of dryland cotton and sorghums will begin when fields dry. Labor is very short.

All West Central Texas, except Schleicher County, reported adequate moisture. Moisture for cotton and sorghum planting is available and pastures and grain prospects have been greatly improved. Grazing in the southern counties was lush. Fruit and pecan prospects were helped. Sheep shearing was delayed. The clip will be lighter, due to the dry winter. Tractor drivers will be needed, he noted, when fields are dry enough for planting.

Heavy rains hit Central Texas with surplus moisture with some damage. Some cotton and sorghum will have to be replanted but the rains helped ranges and pastures.

Oats, corn and cotton were damaged in East Texas. Moisture is fully adequate to surplus. Fruit and pecan prospects look good and pastures are average to above. Some livestock losses have been reported due to the floods, but livestock generally are in fair to good condition.

Forsan Oil Well Service Company today celebrates a giant stride from one battered rig little more than two decades ago to a fleet of 10 plus a handsome new headquarters building.

Open house will be observed from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the new brick control center at the south edge of Forsan. C. V. Wash and his sons, Bobby Wash and Charles Wash, are hoping their many friends and other interested people will inspect new facilities.

It will be an excellent opportunity to inspect equipment, too, for every rig that can be spared from the field will be on the enclosed yard, which covers a city block. Several of them will be operating to let visitors know what services the company can provide.

NEW BUILDING

The new 1,300-square foot building, making attractive use of brick and glass, is finished in walnut panel inside. Bright furniture adds color, and light ceilings give a feeling of openness. Off the lobby is a big lounge with coffee bar. To another side is a private office for business consultations. Also opening off the lobby are the main office work room and a separate room for the accounting machine. The office work room also opens into a large storage space for office records, supplies and other material, plus room for telephone and radio equipment. Louis Heinze is the builder.

Areas surrounding the office are paved for parking, and the entire yard, which also contains a shop building, is stabilized with oil and gravel.

Forsan Oil Well Service is one of Howard County's most vigorous industries, employing a work force of 50 people, 45 of them on crews. It services more than 3,000 oil wells in a 60-mile radius each year, and since it began probably more than 75,000 wells have been visited by company crews.

So vast and busy are the operations that a communications system is almost the heart beat of the firm. Neither C. V. Wash nor his sons are ever more than three minutes from contact with a foreman on the job, wherever it may be.

The company is equipped for rod and tubing service, swabbing, new well completions, high-pressure pump service, treatment of wells with heated oils to make the water fall out, pumping service, and other services, including multiple completions. In the latter instance, a prime exhibit is a well in the field which is pumping from three strings of tubing in the same casing.

FROM STORE TO RIG

If the business has taken a giant stride in 24 years, C. V. Wash has taken a bigger one from the cotton patch to this thriving enterprise. He was reared in San Saba and McCulloch counties, and when his mother died when he was 18, his father and the boys went to the oil fields at Crane in 1924. Mr. Wash was a roustabout and roughneck there, at McCamey and Wink before coming to Forsan in 1933 with Humble Oil and Refining. The following year he bought a grocery business and operated it for half a dozen years.

But with World War II raging, Humble was desperate for a responsible source of well service so they turned over some equipment for Mr. Wash to go into business. His whole operation was a Wilson one-pull, jaw-clutch, skid-mounted rig powered by a four-cylinder International motor. The whole thing was mounted on a battered red 1938 truck.

HECTIC TIME

It was so difficult to get help that frequently Mr. Wash borrowed Bobby and Charles from their heavy classes. The boys laughingly figured "we spent more time on the rig than in school," but this night-and-day operation was necessary to meet the war demands.

With the end of the war in sight, another unit was secured in 1945. Today the company has 10 rigs. Five of them are derrick types (three 69-foot single derricks, one 84-foot double and 196-foot double); five are double pole type. The double units can pull three sections of rods and two joints of tubing and stack them in the derrick; the singles pull two rods and one joint of tubing.

The firm became a partnership in 1952 and a corporation in 1958 with Mr. Wash as president, Charles vice president and Bobby secretary - treasurer.

Mr. Wash has been a longtime civic worker at Forsan and was first president and founder of the Forsan Service Club. For 15 years he was on the school board and served as its president. He has been on the board of deacons of the Forsan Baptist Church for 30 years and chairman a good part of the time. He also was head of the church's building committee.

Mrs. Wash was Mae Crumley before marrying C. V. Wash in 1929 in Millersview. Their home is south of Forsan on US 87.

Bobby is married to the former Nita Archer, Lamesa, and they have a daughter, Dianne, and two sons, Robert and Billy.

Congratulations Forsan Oil Well Service, Inc.

A close friend recently paid high tribute to the men in the wedding business. He said it would be almost impossible to drill wells to the depths we do without the added, I heartily agree, if it is one thing to drill a well, it is another to KEEP these wells producing year after year after year. A lot of West Texans earn a living directly from oil. It puts beans on our table for instance. A lot of royalty owners the world over depend on royalty checks for their living. So you see Mr. Wash, when you started your company 24 years ago, I'll bet you didn't dream just how many of us would owe you a great big THANKS! The Oldham Oil boys want to say tribute to you, C. V., and the Wash boys, Bob, Charles and Bobby, your families, and your employees for your constant and consistent progress. Congratulations on your fine new headquarters.

Sincerely,
George

Sterling Venture Looks Like Ellenburger Strike

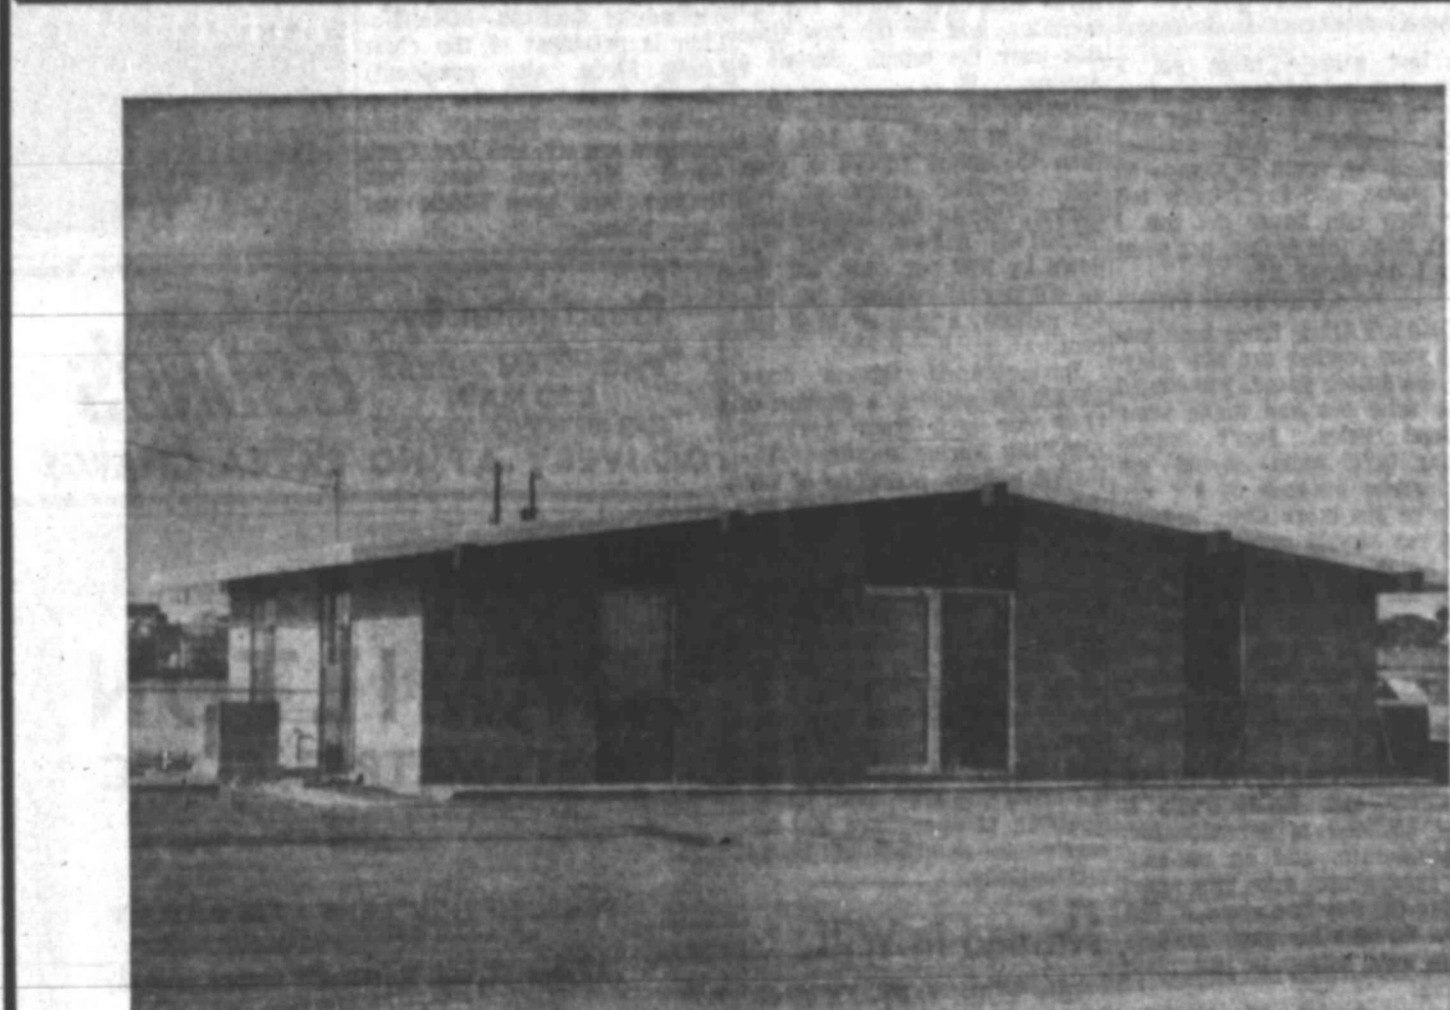

Frank Burch and J. C. (Cuck) Lynn No. 1 W. W. Durham has indicated possible Ellenburger discovery production.

Located four miles southeast of Sterling City, it is 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 24-12, SPRR survey, Abstract 750. This puts it five and three-quarter miles south of the Gulf Oil Corp No. 1 Davis, a recently completed Wolfcamp strike, which has been designated as opener of the Sterling City NE Wolfcamp pool.

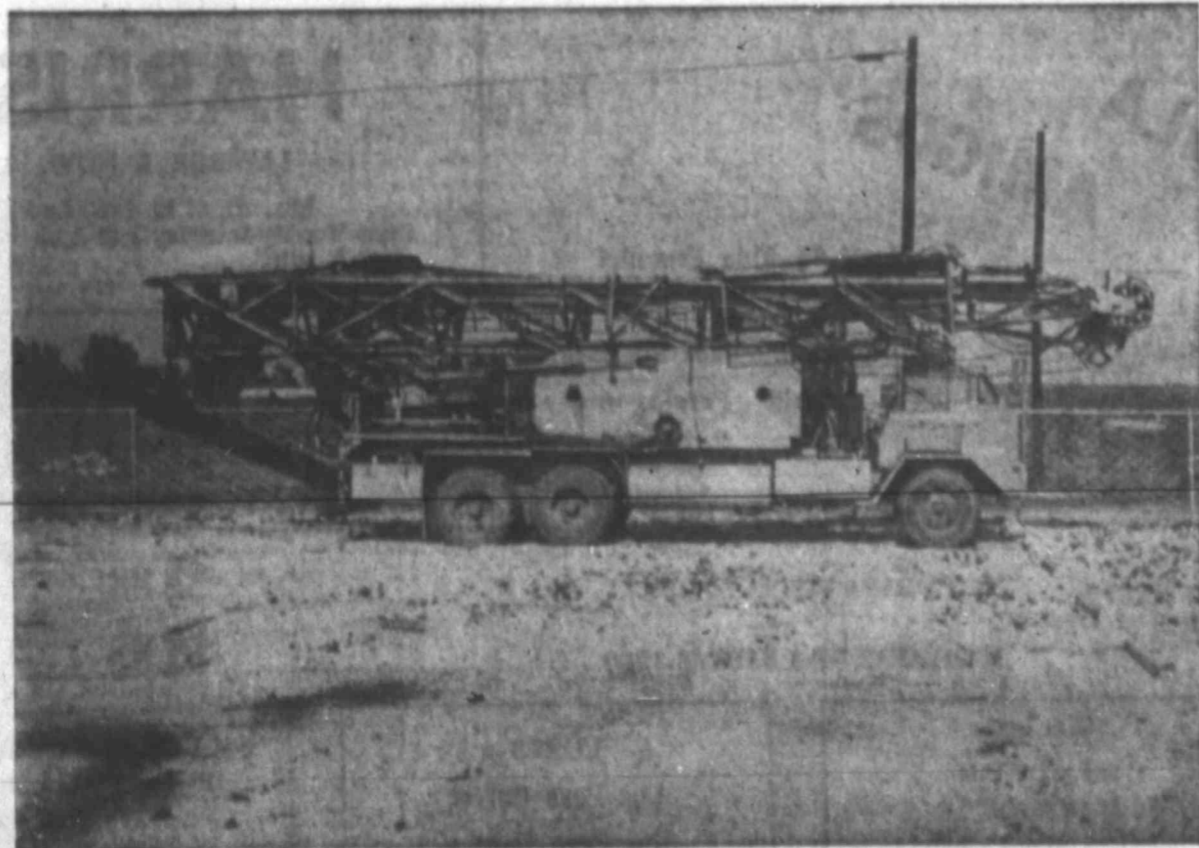

On a 1 1/2-hour drillstem test at 7,828-8,005 feet, gas surfaced in an hour and 20 minutes with no gauges or volumes. Recovery was 7,760 feet of formation oil and five feet of filtrate water. Initial shutin bottomhole pressure in 30 minutes was 3,446 and flowing pressure was 918-2,748 pounds. Final shutin pressure after an hour was 1,181 pounds. Originally projected to 3,900 feet, the operation was drilling below 8,035 at latest report.

Three Locations In Ackerly Area

Mason & Co. of Dallas has staked three locations in the Ackerly-Dean pool seven miles southwest of Ackerly. All are slated for 3,000 feet. No. 1 Shortes-McDonald is 660 from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 33-3n, T&P: No. 1 Bonham is 660 from the north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 33. Banquet Is High Point As Rotarians Close Sessions

Rotarians of 573rd district closed out their ninth annual conference Saturday and headed for their homes with an appeal from the new district governor, Earl L. Wilbur of Dalhart to "work for a better district."

Wilbur presided Saturday morning at a breakfast for club presidents. Then many of the 250 delegates who attended the three-day affair witnessed the aerial demonstrations at Webb Air Force Base, where they had places of honor during the open house program.

BANQUET
The conference reached its high point Friday evening with the Governor's Banquet at Cosden Country Club. Outgoing governor Jimmy Willson presided and got a standing ovation for work well done. He also was presented with a handsome silver tray.

Similar gifts went to Stuart Coulter of California, who was here as Rotary International presidential representative, and to Jerry Worthy of Big Spring, who has led the local forces as conference chairman.

Guests got a rare oratorical treat from Sam Kessinger, of Ridgewood, N. J., who has made hundreds of Rotary talks. He had the crowd roaring with laughter at sky guys and home-spun anecdotes, then had them awe-inspired with moments of inspiration.

12,000 CLUBS
He pointed out that Rotary's development is the work of many men—it stands today at more than 12,000 clubs in 123 free countries. The challenge for more work is ahead, he said, and "a longer life is not enough; the question is what are we going to do with it?"

"Wherever men are free and friendly," said Kessinger, "you will find a Rotary club, where friendliness is developed into usefulness." He said men of progress must have faith, work,

Friendly Rivals

As Rotarians concluded their District Conference here Saturday, they had appeals to gather in 1967 from two cities—Borger and Hereford. Presenting the bids were J. C. Knowles (left) of Borger, and Ray Faubion of Hereford. The District Assembly (made up of club presidents and secretaries) will make the conference choice at a June meeting.

love, service and growth—and that they will find happiness as the by-product of a good and useful life.

The banquet crowd was entertained with musical numbers by Mrs. Don Newsom and Mrs. Carl Bradley, vocalists, and the organ-piano duo of Gayle and George.

At their Friday afternoon business session, the delegates heard spirited bids for the 1967 others were courtesy resolutions thanking Big Spring for its hospitality, and various organizations, firms and individuals who had assisted in preparing the conference program.

FOR WILLSON
The crowd at its closing plenary session, gave a standing ovation to District Governor Jimmy Willson Jr., who has an unusual record: He is the only governor whose father before him served in the same capacity, and he is the only one who has ever served two terms.

Concluding reports were given and an appeal was made for attendance at the Rotary International convention to be held in June in Denver.

Some 200 conference delegates gathered at the Cosden Club Friday noon to hear a brief, stirring challenge from Stuart Coulter of California, personal representative of the president of Rotary International.

"Rotary," he said, "means friends." And he extended this friendship to include all the peoples of the world. The organization, he continued, must be like the tallest radio tower in the world, beaming in the loudest voice, "peace on earth." It must be a college of understanding, staffed by men from all over the world dedicated to the mission of creating better understanding. Rotary, said Coulter, must venture into broader realms to achieve this goal.

He said the organization is big—590,000 members; is strong financially; has business leadership. But it must continue to do more of its established fields of community service, vocational service, and particularly the field of international understanding. It can be the greatest catalyst existing for world friendship.

The crowd has warm applause for the Howard County Junior College choir which, under the direction of Gary Ebersberger, sang several numbers. Another entertainer was Richard Johnson, who did folk songs with his own guitar accompaniment.

U.S. To Buy More Pork

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Saturday reversed itself and announced it soon will increase pork purchases.

The action was disclosed in a joint statement by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

The announcement noted that the Defense Department several months ago had ordered a reduction in pork purchases for feeding troops in the continental United States after hog and pork prices had risen sharply late in 1965 and early this year.

The original order, issued Feb. 17, instructed the armed services to trim their hog and pork purchases by 50 per cent over a six-month period.

The reversal announced Saturday results from pork prices which the Pentagon said have dropped substantially since January.

The announcement said that the increase in pork buying will go into effect soon, but did not specify just when.

Increase Shown In Rig Count

MIDLAND — An increase of five was shown on the Friday survey of active rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin Empire as reported by Reed Roller Bit Co.

Postal Receipts Make Sharp Gain

April postal receipts at the Big Spring Post Office were $32,785.48. Frank Hardesty, acting postmaster, said this is $3,531 or 14.1 per cent greater than the receipts from the same month a year ago.

In April, 1965, the receipts were $29,254.34.

Total work load at the post office showed an increase and was up to 12.9. This represents an increase of 9.7 in outgoing mail and 14.4 in incoming mail.

The total number of possible deliveries is now at 11,175 compared with 10,818 for last year.

DEAR ABBY Can't Repay This Debt

DEAR ABBY: May I say something for the thousands of us who are retired? Most of us draw small Social Security retirement benefits and have no other income. We can't work for various reasons. Maybe a wife or husband is disabled and can't be left alone. Then our children write us, "Don't do this," and "Don't do that." And, "Can't you get someone to do it for you?" I wonder where they think the money is coming from to get things "done" for us? They also say, "If you need anything, let us know."

Abby, they know we aren't going to ask them for anything. Why can't each son and daughter send a few dollars every month in case mom and dad "need" something? It would mean so much to us. Parents are proud, and they don't like to ask their children for anything. What do you say, Abby?

ONE WHO KNOWS
DEAR ONE: I say, I'd like to see the child who had to ask his parents for something he "needed." Parents know how much it costs to feed and clothe each child, and there was always enough for "extras" because mom and dad denied themselves luxuries. The son or daughter of an aging parent who says, "If you need anything, let us know," needs to know something of the debt he never can repay—the one he owes his parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 22-year-old son who is only human. There is a big, overgrown, 14-year-old girl who lives up the street from us and she runs after my son all the time. Her parents have given her permission to date. She is forever bouncing over here, asking my son to carry her places or to take her to the movies or somewhere.

I told him he had better not because if anything ever happened to her he would go to jail. I am worried to death all the time, Abby. I have even talked with this girl and tried to warn her about what could happen, but she won't listen to me. What do I do now?

WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: If you think your son could become dangerously involved with this girl, why don't you lecture HIM? It won't help to "warn" Little Red Riding Hood if the "wolf" is loose and bent on mischief.

DEAR ABBY: What can I do about my mother? I am 15 and have just started to date. (Please say I'm cute.) My mother is a 37-year-old widow, and she has just started to date, too. (She is very attractive.) Last Saturday night I had to break a very special date because at

Water Output Has Decline

General-flooding rains which came in late April cut into production of water by Colorado River Municipal Water District facilities, and for the first time this year the month showed a decline.

Deliveries amounted to 925,714,168 in April, or 3.84 less than the same month a year ago. Member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder took 618,006,500 gallons, which was down by 9.69 per cent, but the oil companies required 309,707,668 gallons, a gain of 10.45 per cent.

During April Odessa drew 339,530,000 gallons, a decline of 11.97 per cent from April of 1965. Big Spring required 215,761,000 gallons, a decline of 8.06 per cent; and Snyder took 63,715,500, a decline of 2.27 per cent.

Deliveries for the first four months of 1966 have amounted to 3,367,048,116 gallons, up 8.08 per cent over the comparable period of last year. District officials anticipate that May, also because of the unusually bountiful supply of moisture, will fall under the May, 1965, totals. However, prospects are that the year's total demands will be up substantially.

Heading For The Wire

Here's how the field looked as horses in the 82nd running of the Kentucky Derby headed for the wire Saturday. Race was won by Kauai King, ridden by Don Brumfield. (AP Wire-Photo)

Kauai King Sprints To Derby Victory

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kauai King, owned, trained and ridden by Kentucky Derby novice Michael Ford, 41-year-old father of three from Omaha, Neb., won the 82nd running of America's glamor race Saturday with a mighty display of front-running speed.

Off in front in the 1 1/4 mile race, the Maryland-bred son of Native Dancer-Swept In by Blenheim 2nd, never relinquished the lead as he became the first Derby winner since Jet Pilot in 1947 to set all the pace in taking the $163,000 Run for the Roses.

Kauai King, named for an

Hawaiian Island which legend says never was conquered, carried the white and blue silks of Michael Ford, 41-year-old father of three from Omaha, Neb.

The colt was trained by Henry Forrester, 59-year-old native of Covington, Ky., now living in Brentwood, Tenn., and ridden by 28-year-old Don Brumfield of Nicholasville, Ky.

To them it was a very, very pleasant first.

Under Brumfield's patient riding, Kauai King broke from the starting gate to gain a narrow advantage, coasted to a two-

Coahoma Wins Second Place In State Meet

AUSTIN (AP)—Jimmy White of South Houston sped the 440 in 47.2 to tie one of the storied records—that of the fabulous Eddie Southern—and Dickie Phillips of Galena Park North Shore vaulted 15 feet 1 inch Saturday to highlight the classes AAAA, A and B track meets.

These overshadowed the fact that San Antonio Highlands won Class AAAA with 55 points, Goldthwaite took Class A with 67 points and Bartlett won Class B with 50.

Monahans won Class AAA and Taylor Class AA Friday night. There were six records and one tie set in the windup of the massive event, making it 13 records and 3 ties for the entire meet, including Classes AAA and AA Friday night.

Phillips became the first to better 15 feet in the state meet although it was not the highest a Texas schoolboy ever soared. Pinto Beene of Abilene Cooper did 15 feet 3/4 inches last year.

The Galena Park boy tried for 15-4 and barely missed.

John Robertson of Dallas Sunset ran the 880 in 1:53.2 for another record in Class AAAA to go with Phillips and White's.

Goldthwaite set three records—with its 440-yard relay in 42.7, mile relay in 3:21.1 and a 22.2 220 by Charles Blackburn—in Class A. Albert Lee of Cross Plains ran the mile in 4:55.0 to hang up the other A record.

There were no records in Class B but it was here that one of the toughest breaks an athlete ever encountered came. Don King of Overton had set a 220 record of 1:18 in the preliminaries Friday. In the finals, while leading by three yards, King pulled a muscle and had to drop out.

Highlands won Class AAAA by 21 points over Odessa Permian while Corpus Christi Miller and Abilene Cooper, the favorite, wound up tied for fourth with 26 each while Spring Branch Memorial pulled into third place with 30 points as the result of placing second in the mile relay—last event on the program.

Goldthwaite finished 30 points to the good over second place Coahoma in Class A. Coahoma had 36 points while Pettus, the favorite, was third with 30 and Springtown fourth with 24.

Bartlett beat out Friendswood, the second place team, by 20 points in Class B. Friendswood had 30 and Rule, in third place, scored 22. Skidmore-Tyner, Orchard and Follett tied for fourth with 20 each.

Jayhawks Win No. 1 Spot In Conference

ROSWELL, N.M. — Howard County JC repeated as track and field champion in the Western Conference here Saturday morning, scoring 78 1/2 points to 71 for runnerup Odessa and 54 for third place NMMI Lubbock Christian was fourth, with 48.

The Hawks, although badly crippled for the meet, won first places in the pole vault, sprint relay, mile, two mile, 100-yard dash, 220 and high hurdles.

The Big Spring team set records in the pole vault, where Joe Tighe jumped 13-0 to beat the old mark by a foot and 5 inches; mile run, the century

Wins Second Tie In Row

Mike Mosley (above) of Coahoma won his second straight State Class A 880-yard run at Austin Saturday, at which time he was clocked in 1:55.8. The Coahoma senior failed to break his old record, however. Tony Butler, also of Coahoma, won the discus throw in Class A competition with a heave of 161-2 1/2 while the Coahoma mile relay team wound up second to Goldthwaite with a 3:21.4 clocking. Goldthwaite's time of 3:21.1 in the event beat Baird's year-old mark by 3.7 seconds. (Photo by Danny Valdes) dash, high hurdles, 220 and two mile.

Freshman Jimmy Jasper of Dallas raced the 100 in 9.5 to beat the old mark by a tenth of a second and the 220 in 21.4 to shatter the old mark by a second.

Another dual winner for HCJC was Walter Reyna, sophomore from San Diego, Texas who raced the mile in 4:21.8 to beat the old mark by 4.3 seconds. His 9:53.4 clocking in the two-mile shaded the old record by 5.4 seconds.

Harley Bynum of HCJC copped the 120-yard high hurdles in the record time of 14.6. The old mark was 14.7.

Records also fell in the 880-yard run (won by Randy Allen of LCC in 1:55.9); javelin and hop, skip and jump.

Odessa won first places in the shot put, 440-yard dash, high jump, discus, 330-yard intermediate hurdles and mile relay but couldn't match the Hawk's overall brilliance. Lubbock Christian earned blue ribbons in the broad jump and half-mile, while NMMI prevailed in the javelin while's Geiger was first in the hop, skip and jump.

The Jayhawks will rest until the Nationals in Garden City, Kansas, scheduled two weeks hence.

Steers Leave 12 Aboard In 2-0 Loss To 'Dogs

MIDLAND — Big Spring left 12 runners stranded in losing to Midland High, 2-0, here Saturday afternoon.

The defeat was the eighth in conference play for the hard-knuck Longhorns, compared to three wins.

Don Spain and Robert McCullough combined to keep the Steers away from the plate.

Together, they gave up four hits, the same number yielded by Gary Mears of Big Spring.

The second of Midland's runs was unearned. The Bulldogs scored in the opening inning when Wayne Merritt walked, stole second and went to third on a balk. From that point, he counted on a single by Spain.

In the fourth, Bob Vincent reached base on a miscue and was replaced by a pinch runner, who scored on Bobbo Combs' one-baser.

The Steers placed two runners aboard in the first inning, two in the second, one in the third, two in the fourth, one in the fifth, two in the sixth and two in the seventh but couldn't bring them around.

In the seventh, McCullough fanned three straight batters after Jesse Zapata had gained a life on a bobble and Sammy Mims singled.

The Steers wind up their season with three games this week. They played Abilene High in Big Spring Tuesday, Cooper in Big Spring Thursday and closing out against San Angelo in San Angelo Saturday.

Jack Rule Jr., Is Leader At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Jack Rule Jr. collected three consecutive back nine birdies with a croquet-mallet-type putter Saturday to post a three-under-par 68 for the first round lead in the $117,000 Champions International Golf Tournament.

All three putts were for 15 feet and the 35-33-68 left the 27-year-old Iowa native one stroke ahead of Harold Henning, a young South African, Gordon Jones, a former Marine jet pilot, and Earl Stewart, a Dallas, Tex., veteran.

Six days of rain had delayed the first round 48 hours and play moved very slowly as water still covered hundreds of spots on the 7,118-yard, par 36-35-71 Cypress Course of the Champions Golf Club.

It was the first PGA test of the course built in 1957 by Jimmy Demaret and Jack Burke Jr. and Rule admitted he may have had a bit of an advantage over many of the pros who had seen the course only the last few days.

Slugging Giants Batter St. Louis Cards, 15-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants erupted for 13 runs in the third inning, with a grand-slam home run by Orlando Cepeda and a two-run homer by Jim Hart leading the rally and won their seventh straight, 15-2 over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night.

The Giants blazed 11 hits off three Cardinal pitchers in the inning as Juan Marichal won his sixth game without a loss.

The 13 runs, a record for the third inning, fell short of the modern National League single inning record of 15 set by the old Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952 and the modern major league record of 17 set a year later by Boston.

The Giants sent 16 men to bat in the third. Willie Mays brought in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a double and Hal Lanier and Marichal each had two hits in the inning.

Both Nicklaus and Palmer ran into early difficulties. Palmer took a triple bogey six on the 191-yard eighth hole and had to settle for a 39-34-73. Nicklaus bogeyed the first two holes on both the front and back nine and came in with a 36-35-74.

Rule, winner of the St. Paul Open in 1963 and the Oklahoma City open last year, carries two putters but uses the conventional style only for long distances.

Doug Sanders, a pre-tournament favorite along with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, headed an eight-way tie at 70, the only others to break par.

HOUK IN CHARGE Keane Is Fired As Yankee Boss

ANAHEIM (AP) — Johnny Keane was fired as manager of the 10th place New York Yankees Saturday night, and General Manager Ralph Houk took over direction of the club.

Houk, a cigar-chomping former Army major who had led the Yanks to three straight pennants before moving upstairs, made the announcement in the hotel suite Saturday night just before the Yanks took the field against the California Angels.

The decision was made, Houk said, by Yankee President Dan Topping. Houk, who managed the club against California, paced nervously back and forth as he made the announcement.

Keane, Houk said, was with the players on the bus at the time of the announcement. Keane had been told earlier but wanted to talk with the players. Houk said he hated to fire Keane.

"I don't want to call him a failure, but something had to be done," Houk said. "Keane is my man. I don't believe he failed."

Also out is first base Coach Vern Benson.

Houk takes over with a four-year contract at an increase from his present $50,000 as general manager. The duties of general manager will be taken over by Dan Topping Jr., a vice president of the club.

The move had been rumored.

ANAHEIM (AP) — Mickey Mantle drove in all three runs as the New York Yankees snapped a four-game losing streak and rewarded new manager Ralph Houk with a 3-1 victory over the California Angels Saturday night.

Houk replaced Johnny Keane as New York manager about two hours before game time and directed the last-place Yankees to their fifth victory in 21 games.

Rookie left-hander Fritz Peterson hurled a four-hitter, ending a four-game Angel winning streak.

Oilers Crush Webb, 12-6

Reggie Tredaway clubbed two home runs and Jimmy Roger and Tommy McAdams one each as the Gage Oilers thundered to a 12-6 victory over Webb AFB Saturday.

The win was the seventh in nine starts for the Oilers. Freddie Mears went all the way on the mound for the Gage team, although he was tagged for ten hits.

Roger got the Oilers off-wing with a three-run round tripper in the first. McAdams and Tredaway followed with four-runners in the second and Tredaway repeated in the ninth.

Roger also had two doubles to go along with his homer. Jack Blizzard and Dean Christian each had three safeties for the Oilers while McAdams and Jim (Boom-Boom) Baum accounted for two blows each.

Gage pitched 120 011 012-12 17 2 Webbs and Baum; Duran, Fisher 13 and Alonis.

BIG CROWD IS DUE Pro-Am Is Set At Muny Here

Favorite weather could bring out scores of golfers for Tuesday's Pro-Am, an 18-hole event scheduled at the Muny course.

New pro J. B. Wetsel said as many as 15 or 20 pros could show up for the event. Amateurs will be charged $4 each as an entry fee. The pros will set their own price Tuesday morning.

Wherever possible, a pro will be named to captain a team and a fair distribution of handicapped players will be assigned each foursome.

Entries will make use of half their handicaps and winners will be determined in a low-ball style of competition.

This is the first meet of its kind scheduled by the Muny since Wetsel took charge of the pro shop. The course is in tremendous shape for such play, especially the greens.

Recent rains have caused the fairways to green up as never before in history.

Small Fry Stands Stress Very Well, Says Expert

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Little League baseball players apparently handle emotional stress better than infield grounders.

After some behind-the-backstop monitoring, a physical education researcher contends the mighty mites of the diamond are not under sustained emotional stress as some critics charge.

Dr. Dale L. Hanson of the University of Maryland checked the heart beats of 10 players last summer in the Greenbelt, Md., Little League and found that they became excited only while batting.

In each game a player between the ages of 9 and 11 had two small electrodes attached to his chest. Hanson sat behind home plate with a radio receiver and antenna. An electrocardiogram attached to the radio recorded signals from the player.

The boy's normal heart rate was checked sitting and standing before a game, 40 times during the approximate 90 minutes of competition, and again after the game.

"The average normal heart rate was 100 to 105," Hanson said. "Only when the players came to bat did the rate jump. We recorded between 140 and 200 with an average of 167. This was due to the emotional stress, not to exercise."

"But within three minutes after batting, whether he got a hit or made an out, each player's rate returned to normal."

"At all other times in the games," Hanson said, "the players generally registered only normal heart beats."

Hanson didn't monitor pitchers or catchers because "the coaches didn't want me to use

Tigers Visit Angelo Today

Frustrated by the weather last weekend, the Big Spring Tigers seek to get in a little work on their baseball program this afternoon, at which time they will meet the San Angelo Lions in San Angelo.

The single contest will get under way at 2:30 p.m. Abe Gonzales has been named the starting hurler for the locals while Horace Yanez and Jody Flores will stand by for relief work.

Others who will be on the field for Big Spring when the umpire signals the start of play include Billy Weatherall, first base; Pat Martinez Jr., second base; Billy Pineda, shortstop; Junior Mendoza, third base; Nico Paredes, left field; Albert Mendoza, center field; and Ruben Billalba, right field. Robert Dutchover will do the catching.

Others who will suit out for the Tigers include Manuel Puga, Junior Corrales and Pat Martinez Sr.

The Tigers go to Loving, N. M., for a game next Sunday.

Among the Sports' players are Doug Smith, Mickey McCaleb, Joe Ellis, Bill Chaney and David Lamar.

The visitors will probably send Mike Brumley to the pitcher's knob in the opening game and come back with Dink Whisenhunt in the afterpiece.

Probable starters for Big Spring include Baum behind the plate, Don Finkenbinder, first base; Bernard McAdams, second base; Tommy McAdams, third base; Reddie Tredaway, shortstop; and Jack Blizzard, Dean Christian and Tito Arencibia or Marion Tredaway in the outer cordon.

McAdams and Marion Tredaway have been leading the Oilers' mace attack.

The Oilers return the two games next Sunday, going into the Sports' home lair.

Texas Noses Out Rice Track Team

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF AUSTIN (AP)—Little iron man Richard Romo of Texas and giant Randy Matson of Texas A&M stood out in the Southwest Conference track meet Saturday night as Texas unseated Rice as champion of the varsity division, 58-55.

The mile relay decided the issue and Texas got fourth place to win the meet as Rice won the event in a record 3:05.5.

Rice won the freshman division 66 to 65 by taking the mile relay in a record 3:09.7.

Romo ran the mile in 4:05.9 and the three-mile in 14:32.0 to hang up two of five records set in the varsity division.

Matson didn't set any records, since his records are so far ahead of everybody else anyway, but for the fans what he did Saturday night was stupendous.

He threw the shot 66 feet 9 1/2 inches and the discus 137 feet 7 inches—the latter the longest toss in the nation this year.

Treston Davis of Texas set an 880 record of 1:48.9 and Jim Bankhead of Southern Methodist hung up a new mark in the 440 with a time of 46.4.

Four records were set in the freshman division, with Dale Bernauer of Rice running the 220 in 21.4, David Matina of Texas running the 880 in 1:51.8, Jim Gillham of Texas skipping over the 440 hurdles in 54.0 and the Rice mile relay mark.

Matson's shot put was his best of the season as he rounded into shape late because of an injured knee, suffered in basketball. It also was by far the longest in the nation although he already held that distinction.

The discus toss was 2 feet 6 1/2 inches better than the previous longest throw in the nation—the 195 feet 1/2 inch whirl by Gary Carlsen, a junior at Southern California. Matson also is a junior.

High point man of the varsity meet was Bankhead, the Southern Methodist star, who racked up 12 1/2. He won the 440, ran third in the 220, on the first place 440-yard relay team and on the second place mile relay team.

Bernauer's record in the 220 presented an odd situation—Doug Belzung of Rice set a record of 21.5 in the preliminaries and Bernauer beat Belzung in the finals to set a record of 21.4. Belzung was third in 21.6.

Bernauer, incidentally, was high point man of the freshman class with 15. He won both sprints and ran on both winning relay teams.

An Army Of Sophomores

By TOMMY HART

Jimmy Evans, the former Big Spring High School quarterback, was shuttled to the taxi squad by the New York Jets of the AFL two games before the 1965 season ended. He's now working for an oil company in an oil field in Oklahoma, but could get another trial with the Jets this year. . . . Jo-Jo White, the one-time Detroit Tiger, says he and Hank Greenberg, then his roommate, slugged 58 home runs in 1938. . . . Jo-Jo, who is the father of Houston's Mike White, didn't hit any that year. . . . Ex-HCJC trackster John Perry, now at the University of Texas, pulled up lame prior to the Kansas Relays this spring and still hasn't been any help to the Longhorns. . . . Incidentally, the Texas University mile relay team, of which ex-Jayhawk Steve Langham is a member, ran a 3:12.4 at the Drake Relays and failed to qualify for the finals. . . . Texas had no entries in the high jump in the Southwest Conference meet yesterday, which is unusual for a school that large. . . . Odessa Permian had 96 sophomores out for spring football drills this year, which may more than make up for the entire Big Spring varsity squad has—although Permian is only one of three high schools in Odessa. . . . Many of the tickets being sold for that match, by the way, are being ordered by out-of-town people and promoters expect a sellout. . . . The publicity releases say that the winner of the duel will receive $5,000, the loser $2,000 but those in the know feel certain the two will split the pot evenly—$3,500 each. . . . Some of the New York papers are prone to be very critical, figuring they maintain the interest of the readers that way. . . . Maynard has a brother who is with the FBI on the West Coast. . . . The year's first football game will probably take place the night of July 9, when the All-America classic is on tap at Atlanta, Ga. . . . The May 19-22 Colonial National Invitational at Fort Worth is the only golf tournament in Texas this year which will have both Gary Player and Arnold Palmer in the field. . . . When Robert Gonzalez, the high school junior from Falfurrias, ran that 4:08.0 mile in Corpus Christi last week, he turned the final quarter in a sizzling 58.6. . . . The city of Chicago has never produced a big winner in professional golf. . . . No Chicago-reared pro ranked in the top 50 money-winners in 1965. . . . Another note on pro golf: 31 of the 41 Americans on last year's top 50 list grew up in climates where they can play golf all year. . . . Charles Skeen, who is leaving a coaching job at Grady school near here to become basketball mentor at Follett High School, is joining a system that has growing pains. . . . The school will build a new auditorium and has no money problems. . . . Gleann Elmore, Follett's head coach, is due to quit after next season and Skeen will likely become the No. 2 man on the athletic staff. . . . When in high school at Forsan, Skeen was a hard-hitting back who dearly loved to play defense. . . . When Big Springer Chubby Moser played in the Green Belt Bowl Classic in Childress a few years ago, one of his team mates was Chuck Harrison, now a fixture in the Houston Astro lineup. . . . Moser underwent surgery on his baseball pitching arm a few months ago and says it never felt better.

Newest Monument

Workers put the finishing touches on the infield of Busch Memorial Stadium with the unfinished Gateway Arch in the background. The $24-million stadium will be dedicated Sunday and the St. Louis Cardinals will play their first game there Thursday. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Cardinals Open New Ball Park Thursday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals will break the seal on the nation's newest stadium next Thursday, but not until a nostalgic farewell Sunday to the country's oldest professional baseball site. The Cardinals will close an era in ancient Busch Stadium at Grand Avenue and Dodier Street in North St. Louis, where baseball was played as far back as 1868. After Sunday's game with the San Francisco Giants, the Cardinals and their fans will parade two miles to the new multi-sport riverfront stadium in downtown St. Louis. At the new park, in the shadow of the Gateway Arch, there will be speeches, fireworks, entertainment and a huge birthday cake to usher in the new era. A full house of 49,275 is expected to jam the $24 million, double-tiered civic Center Busch Memorial Stadium for the first game against the Atlanta Braves. This is a far cry from the unname ball park surrounded by a crude fence where 800 people gathered at the old site 100 years ago.

"MOTHER'S MOMENT"

A SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY took Mrs. W. A. Laswell, 111 E. 16th, to Portland, Ore. this week where she is attending the Seventh Assembly of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. Her daughter, Mrs. Tammy Gage, presented her with a corsage Thursday, prior to her departure, as she wished her a happy holiday. Mrs. Laswell's other children are Mrs. Gage's twin sister, Mrs. Good Graves of Hart; Robert B. Laswell of San Antonio; and Dick Laswell of Big Spring. The Gages will have his mother, Mrs. W. M. Gage, as their Sunday guest.

THE MORE, THE MERRIER think the Morris Robertsons of 2806 Clanton. Mrs. Robertson will be pampered today by the men in her household as they offer the comforts she gives them every day. Robertson takes over the kitchen as the boys, Roddy, 12, Ricky, 20, Robby, 17, Reggy, 16, and Randy, 13, provide the niceties.

The family will attend church services this morning, and Mrs. Robertson will spend the afternoon as a coordinator working with the Methodist Youth Fellowship. Ricky, a member of the National Guard, will leave next week for Camp Polk, La.

TWICE BLESSED and more is Mrs. John R. Taylor, 613 Tulane, who receives gifts from her three-year-old twin daughters, Karen Ann, left, and Brenda Ann. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are parents of two other children, Linda, 18, a senior at Big Spring High School, and Richard, 13, a seventh grader at Runnels Junior High School.

STORY TIME will come today as usual in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hargrove, 3225 Cornell, as Mrs. Hargrove reads and explains the pretty pictures to their adopted daughter, Sheri Rene. The brown-eyed youngster, who is 16 months old, will go with her parents today to Colorado City to spend the holiday with her grandmothers, Mrs. W. C. Hargrove and Mrs. J. L. Schafer.

WOMEN'S NEWS

SECTION C

BIG SPRING HERALD

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 8, 1966

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Happy Mother's Day Young Mothers, Old Mothers and Mothers that are at that glorious stage in your children's lives that you don't know what you will be called upon to do next.

I wonder, if a mother were to be called upon to say which stage of her children's lives she most enjoyed, what she would choose. Would it be the moment when she saw him or her for the first time; when he was first beginning to recognize her; when he learned to walk and talk; and those other days of the wonders of having a baby in the house? Or were it the years just before the youngsters started to school when they were so full of questions and dogged the steps of the busy mother.

Perhaps the time of the first school venture and the advent into P-TA and all the fund-raising projects, or perhaps the Cub Scouts or Brownie activities have a dearer memory. Then the days when boys meant more to the girls and girls meant more to the boys... the first parties when they admitted it was rather nice to be in the company of each other. Also exciting were the days of the athletic competition or perhaps getting good grades that brought them into an honor group. The endless days of fund-raising in high school that mothers must, of necessity, take a part in although it is, and was always in the far background, are good days to remember... and look forward to.

Then there are those days when heartbreak seems just a breath away when things didn't go according to the heart's desire and the whole family was thrown in a turmoil because of the crisis in the life of one of the family members... Then graduation from high school and departure for college. This brings on even greater days because the mothers always expect a letter every other day and are lucky if they get one every other month... dad always hears more often.

Those are the days of joy and frustration, and they are wonderful days. There are always others that will burn into the hearts of mothers... like when her sons go into military service or when the only daughter marries and goes abroad to live for three years.

Being a mother is a wonder.

ful experience and I purpose a big thanks to those little ones who have grown up to be big ones, for being the fine young people they are and will continue to be. And to all those children who are making life wonderful for their mothers today. "Happy Mother's Day," because without you where would we be? Lonesome, that's what.

A houseparty in Lubbock today is a super Mother's Day celebration when four sisters and their daughters get together in the home of MRS. FRED YOUNG. The mothers are not so young anymore but their spirit is wonderful. MRS. W. J. CRAWFORD who is 89, along with her daughters, MRS. CECIL REID of Austin, and MRS. F. W. HARDING, is with her sisters for their annual reunion. Also in the group are MRS. ELIZA ADAMS, 88, and her daughters, Mrs. Young and MRS. E. E. SWINDELL, all of Lubbock; MRS. MARTHA WILLIAMS, 82, and her daughter, MRS. LILLIAN BERNARD of Decatur; and MRS. LILLIAN TOLAR, 86, Newport, Ark., and her daughter, MRS. GRACE RISTER, Hot Springs, Ark. The local people were not sure how long they would be away from home... Last year when they went to Decatur 10 of them stayed 10 days.

MRS. KENT MORGAN and her mother, MRS. S. A. FISHER of Lubbock, are in Greenville where they spent the weekend with Mrs. Morgan's daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. FRANKLIN WILLIAMSON, and their daughters.

The REV. and MRS. FRANK POLLARD of Hereford, former Big Spring residents, were here for the Rotary convention and were the houseguests of the BILL BRADFORDS.

LT. GRAHAM GALLOWAY of Austin was here for the Air Force show Saturday. He was stationed at Webb where he received his pilot's training.

Did you ever see the roses more beautiful than they are since the rains and the cool weather? There are several rose trees about the city that are particularly lovely. MRS. W. H. HENRY on E. 20th has a hedge of sweetpea bushes that are very attractive. The sweetpeas, when they bloom, are just like those on the plants but these bloom on a shrub-like bush and, at first sight, look very much like a flowering peach.

PAT HAMILTON, a former resident who delighted audiences here when he played the leading roles in two high school musicals, is going to be with the collegiate entertaining group at Six Flags Over Texas this summer. He is a freshmen student at McMurry College in Abilene.

MISS LINDA MUZZALL a great-niece of Mrs. Arthur Pickle returned here with her aunt and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pickle Friday night. Miss Muzzall is a lab technician at Kennett, Mo. Her parents' home is in Fulton, Ky., where the Pickles have recently visited. The guest plans to be here several days.

MRS. M. K. BRITTON has gone to Shreveport, La., to visit with GUY TEAGUE, who recently underwent surgery on his right leg. Surgeons at the Shrine Hospital are hopeful that he will regain almost complete use of the limb.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Ruth Berryhill, bride-elect of Hugh Kirby, was honored with a Tuesday evening miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. O. B. Kirby, 1000 Wood.

Design Games In Ceramic Floors

The durability of ceramic floor and wall tile has given rise to a variety of imaginative, serviceable decor. In areas where the most entertaining takes place, tile especially contributes to the fun. In the den or game room, a shuffleboard can actually be a part of the tile floor.

Pads For Swingers Booming

By ANDREW JAFFE
Associated Press Writer

FORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — From the outside, it seems like any other southern California apartment house — a pastel-hued, three-story stucco affair with 248 units spread over a city block.

But inside, man, it's something else. It's one of a growing number of establishments supplying pads for young swingers — single guys and gals who like to live it up.

Three tennis courts cover part of the parking area. On each side of the red-carpeted lobby are banana-shaped swimming pools. Next to them are heated pools with swirling water to condition play-tired muscles.

Behind one pool is a two-story women's gym. Behind the other a men's weight room and sauna bath. Under the lobby is a snack bar and party room.

The newcomer is met not by the manager but an "activities director," whose mission is to put the stranger at ease and get him (or her) mixing.

LONELY HEARTS?
Sound a bit like a lonely hearts club?

"Don't say that — it's death," whispers 36-year-old developer Howard Ruby. "We're just here to see that people have fun."

To his $3 million South Bay Club apartments, Ruby added a quarter-million dollars in recreation facilities.

He enlisted a social club that caters to the single, 21-to-35 set. Within 45 days of its grand opening, South Bay had achieved 100 per cent occupancy and has had a waiting list ever since. In many other apartments in the area vacancies average 10 per cent or more.

Despite the elaborate provisions for exercise — the emphasis for South Bay is boy meet girl.

Every Sunday starts with a continental breakfast at poolside and ends with a barbecue-hootenanny. Tenants need only bring a steak.

STAG DANCES
Every month the house organizes a stag dance. There is an occasional discussion forum featuring subjects such as "Sex and the Single Person." A weekly six-page newspaper exchanges gossip and reports coming events.

Mrs. Lucille Retter, a Tucson, Ariz., widow with two grown daughters and South Bay's chief organizer, moves between the complex's two pools, addressing bathers by their first names and inviting them to the first meeting of the ski club.

At poolside, bachelors and bikini-clad misses back in the sun.

Richard Knickerbocker, 37, an assistant city attorney, has driven home on a lunch hour to lift weights with a friend. Says he:

BIG FAMILY
"Outside — it's you against the world. But here you're part of a large family. One guy even lost his stutler."

Knickerbocker says he saves money — despite a renting range of from $125 to $275 — by playing at home instead of away. "Even my bar bills are less."

Michelle Mauzerelle, 22, and Estelle Martineau, 21, both recently arrived from Sanford, Maine, are on their way to the billiard tables.

"I feel like a child with a new toy," confides Michelle, eyeing a male with a tattoo on his arm climbing from the pool. "Everything here seems so much newer and brighter. People are so gay and casual."

The girls pad off, barefoot and without makeup, to await nightfall.

"Back home, you have to wait for boys to call," says Estelle. "Here they just knock on your door. Two dropped by last night around dinnertime. We gave them hamburgers and went for a swim."

Palaces such as Ruby's are springing up throughout the Los Angeles area. One offers horseback riding — another 16 swimming pools, one for each wing. Eventually Ruby predicts the larger complexes — housing some 1,000 single men and women — will include bowling al-

Substitute For Hall At Entrance

It went the way of the rambling old house with secret rooms and romantic window seats . . . it passed into history and was never heard from again. For today we usually step from the front porch to the living room, and the family's muddy shoes are the bane of every woman's existence.

There's no place for galoshes, umbrellas, or coats. Modern architecture's determination to reduce everything to its essence, to the "bone," has helped deprive us of this sensible area of the home or apartment.

But you can slyly solve the problem by reserving an area just inside your door for a long, low window chest to hold gloves, bags, paraphernalia. A chest to seat extra people, and open up to hide galoshes, plastic raincoats and hats, mittens and boots. And that stalwart veteran of the Victorian era—the hat-rack—can be added here, too.

Scavenge for an old one, then paint it a bright color. Seek out a galvanized milk can and enamel it. A sturdy umbrella stand!

Printed Sheets Are High Style

When you shop for White Sale bargains, look for new high-fashion styles in printed cotton sheets.

The National Cotton Council reports that one major bedding manufacturer is promoting six new printed sheet patterns.

The new prints are pretty enough to sew into dresses or to use as decorator fabrics. They include a colorful paisley design borrowed from the world of women's fashions; a delicate wedding lace pattern; and a bold geometric print with an op art look.

WHY BOOM?
Why the boom?
Mrs. Ludmila (Anna) Duda, South Bay's resident manager and confidante to its inmates, answers this way:

"Everyone is lonely. Everyone wants people — or they're mentally imbalanced. If they want to be left alone here, they can be. The rooms are soundproof. But most of our tenants have no other way to meet people informally. Where can a school teacher find a mate — outside of school?"

Does Mrs. Duda attempt to enforce a moral code over her domain?
"An emphatic emphatic 'No,'" she replies. "If they need rules, then they're not old enough for this place. And we've had to evict a few who weren't."

Cotton Fabric Aids Old Chair

Cotton fabric and a coat of paint will turn an old wooden straight chair into a decorator item.

To make a seat cover with a stylish quilted look, cut several layers of cotton batting to fit the seat top. Cover this padding with a sturdy cotton print, turning edges of material under to fit the seat.

Secure fabric and padding to the chair seat with gold upholstery tacks, placing them around edges and at equally spaced intervals across the seat top.

Boat Care Is Family Project

A boat, whether tied to a wharf or resting on a trailer in a suburban garage, needs attention.

While cars are more in need than ever of servicing with specialized equipment in the hands of trained mechanics, boats have become easier to maintain. But they still need attention. Here are some tips:

Wooden boats — Scrub with soap and water to prevent dirt, tar and marine growth from hardening. Repair damages with marine dough or caulking compound. Smooth with sandpaper, secure or replace loose fastenings and paint. Use regular marine paint above the water line, an anti-fouling paint on the hull bottom and upward to the water line.

Aluminum boats — Generally trouble-free, dents may occur if an underwater obstacle is struck. Hammer out dents with a rubber-headed mallet. Hammer first around the outer diameter of the dent, then work with a circular motion inward to the center. Painting may not be necessary, but if it is, use a metal primer, anti-corrosive barrier and anti-fouling paint.

Fiber glass boats — Smooth and patch any loose edges. Special material is available for patching fiber glass. Ask your dealer to give you the proper paint for this type of boat.

Feet Need Care

A balm rubbed well into the skin of your feet daily keeps them soft and stimulates circulation. A daily dusting of foot powder or spray also helps to keep feet refreshed.

Favored By Fashionables

Fashions for "here and now," the styles that personify the mood of the moment, were shown at the Rotary Ann luncheon Friday by Swartz. The models were, seated, Mrs. James

Seasoned For Summer

Beauty and the beach and girls on the go set the pace for today's fashions as shown Friday by Hemphill-Wells Company. Modeling styles that moderns have made their own were, from left, Delinda Bradford, Mrs. D. M. Richey, Mrs. George Podrasky, Mrs. R. G. Pfland, Thresa Foster and Mrs. Kent Morgan. Seated is Mrs. Auriel La Fonde. Each of the women showed two costumes during the informal showing at Friday's luncheon.

Rotary Anns See Fashions

An informal showing of fresh, flawless fashions climaxed the Rotary Ann luncheon held Friday at Big Spring Country Club. "Fashion '66" was presented by Swartz and Hemphill-Wells Company, with complementary shoes by Hemphill-Wells and Barnes-Pelletiers. Commentary was by Mrs. Elaine Clark, and collifers by Jo's Hair Fashions. An organ prelude and background melodies were by Mrs. Champ Rainwater.

Mrs. Don Hungerford presided at the luncheon, and the invocation was by Mrs. Leo Gee. Mrs. Hungerford recognized the co-chairmen, Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. Adolf Swartz, and introduced the honored guests from out-of-town.

Luncheon tables were covered with pale yellow cloths and accented with potted trees, their branches bearing fashion fruit, miniature millinery. Dividing the room was a green-carpeted ramp where models paraded before passing among the tables.

First of the Swartz models to appear was Mrs. A. K. Guthrie who showed a two-piece knit suit of creamy white with coffee stripe detailing and a single fringed pocket. Later she wore an oyster-white, softly fitted silk linen shirt dress, diamonds of light and medium green marking the bodice and being matched by the green silk organza side bow on her silk straw hat.

Pagoda pink and plum were paired in the dacron and cotton long shirt, scalloped at the hem, worn by Mrs. James Duncan to top her stretch pants in cherry trapeze. For daytime townwear, she chose an off-white three-piece knit suit with inserts of spring green seashell embroidery on the collar and square pockets.

Mrs. John Taylor preferred pimento red linen for a tailored, double-breasted suit, white-buttoned, worn with a red-banded white hat softened with a large white silk rose. Changing moods, she went casual for her second appearance, showing a two-piece white dress, its sailor collar edged in navy and notched with red. Her hat was a white straw roller.

Silver sand was the shade of the silk A-line shift worn by Mrs. Don Newsom. The shirt was balanced with two box pleats, the collar high and rolled, and the back belted low and loose. Later, she showed a mauve pink Alaskine A-line shift with tab button detailing and neat slit side pockets.

Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr. bet on black as a complimentary color, and it came up a winner. Her black stretch pants were worn with a side-slit long overblouse, the modern print a mixture of mauve, pink and fuschia. For a dress to go anywhere, she liked a sunny wool knit, circled with a deep gold belt and matching piping on the pockets and cap sleeves.

An alabaster cashmere ensemble in three parts was shown by Mrs. Robert Johnson. The sleeveless shell, topping a slim skirt, was accented with a lacy pattern to match the long-sleeved lacy weave of the longsleeved cardigan. Her second costume was trim pants of stark white, topped with a long-sleeved, long-line blouse dotted with bright flowers and detailed with black scroll on the collar, cuffs and hemline.

Mrs. Delnor Poss emphasized her blondeness with the silver sheen of her three-piece suit of Alaskine. Her walking coat was styled with three-quarter-length sleeves and rhinestone buttons, and her black straw hat featured a bow at one side. Later, she showed a slim suit of jonquil yellow, string-belted in white leather and pearl-buttoned.

The first model for Hemphill-Wells Company was Miss Delinda Bradford, the belle of the beach in a sleek black swimsuit with diamond-shaped bodice and almost-bare back. The go-together look was achieved with an orange and black oriental print beach towel. Miss Bradford was presented later in a two-piece voile dress in blue and green with tucked bodice and dainty detailing.

Mrs. Kent Morgan modeled dazzling yellow stretch pants teamed with a silk, puff-sleeved overblouse splashed with strokes of gold, coral and yellow. Later, she showed a picture print shift in shades of blue that could fall straight or be sashed with matching fabric.

Eye-catching and fetching was Mrs. George Podrasky, choosing the little girl look of yellow checked gingham for her two-piece swimsuit and matching cover-up beach coat. Accenting it all was eyelet embroidery. She also showed a three-piece sports suit of coral denim. "Pink Candy" was the name of the sports outfit worn by Miss Thresa Foster. The hot pink pants were teamed with a round-necked, short-sleeved rainbow print overblouse. For dressier occasions, she showed a dress with a plum-colored skirt of dotted swiss attached to a tucked, dropped white bodice, the two joined with a burgandy belt.

Deeply-tanned Mrs. D. M. Richey wore a casual costume of aqua nylon stretch shorts and complementary long torso shell in an abstract print. Presented the second time, she wore a pink, white and brown striped sleeveless dress with knife-pleated skirt. The jewel neckline was draped with long strands of pink beads.

Ready for tea or travel was Mrs. R. G. Pfland in a smart three-piece suit of coffee and black plaid with beige shell. The finishing touch was a beige snap-brim hat bowed at the center front. For other activity, she modeled a beige two-piece knit dress with button and tab detail on the long torso top. With it she used a picture hat of black straw and patent.

Mrs. Auriel La Fonde liked the look of bright white puffed pique for her easy skimmer worn with a black stik turban and black patent accessories. Introduced again, she chose a silk shift in cherry with side pockets and soft tie at the side of the neckline.

Families of boys in Vietnam will want it to hang on their wall, as will every intelligent newspaper reader who wants to keep in touch with the explosive situation in southeast Asia.

Printed in handsome full color on heavy paper of high quality, this 21x29 inch map folds compactly to fit in a handbag, desk drawer or glove compartment.

Da Nang, Hue, Chu Lai and hundreds of other places are shown, including major air bases, United States marine and army landings, roads, railroads, mountain passes, falls and rapids, rivers and other topographical features that help you understand the strategy of the fighting.

Besides the large detail map embracing North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, there are smaller maps showing elevations, Communist dominated countries, and the continent of Asia as a whole; also an economic map of southeast Asia spelling out the agricultural, industrial and power resources of individual countries. Another "extra" is a chronology of events since World War II. An atlas type index lists and locates cities, towns and physical features in North and South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

The map is produced by C. S. Hammond & Company, a leading organization in its field. Get your copy today.

MRS. DEWAIN COX

Couple Recites Vows In Baptist Church

Miss Sandra Merrell became the bride of Dewain Cox during a Friday evening ceremony at the Stadium Baptist Church. The Rev. J. W. Arnett, pastor, officiated for the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Merrell, 1407 E. 14th, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cox, 600 Circle.

Decorating the altar was an archway entwined with ivy and white roses and flanked by seven branch candelabra. Completing the setting was a background of wedding greenery and white pew markers.

Mrs. John Billings, pianist, accompanied Miss Claudia Caudill as she sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a formal dress of white Alencon lace. The dress featured a shallow neckline, elbow-length sleeves and a detachable train trimmed in lace.

Her veil of illusion fell from a white velvet pillbox hat, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
Maid of honor was Miss Jean Cox, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Pamela Merrell, sister of the bride, and Miss Jeanne Bogard were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical style dresses of pale pink antique silk. The dresses were designed with scooped necklines and gathered A-line skirts. They carried bouquets of pink dahlias with white streamers.

Carl Campbell was best man, and groomsmen were Donnie Phillips and Jerry Daugherty. Ushers were Johnny Rutherford and Deuane Goza.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, Mrs. Cox wore a green suit with white accessories. The couple will be at home at 702 E. 17th.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox are graduates of Big Spring Senior High School where she was a member of the National Thespians, and he was a member of the Bible Club. Mrs. Cox is employed at Gandy's Creamery, and Cox is employed at Martin Linen Supply Co.

RECEPTION
A reception was held at the church fellowship hall where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth overlaid with pink net and centered with the bride's bouquet flanked with wedding tapers.

The four-tiered wedding cake was frosted white and decorated with pink confectionary roses. Miss Cindy Gressett was in charge of the register and members of the house party were Miss Priscilla Grizzard and Mrs. Carl Campbell.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Mimmie Mabry, Oklahoma City, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Davis Holby and Mrs. Sam Kemp, all of Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salinas, Levelland.

Calls Saigon 'U.S. Brothel'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring Barry Goldwater's demand that he step down as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. W. Fulbright has challenged new controversy by calling Saigon "an American brothel."

The outspoken Arkansas senator said what is happening to the capital of South Viet Nam is the result of the "fatal impact" that a rich strong civilization — even when acting with the best of intentions — can have on a poor weak one.

Fulbright, concluded Thursday night his series of lectures at Johns Hopkins University's School of Advanced International Studies, reports on the impact of Americans and American money on Saigon.

EOD Inerts Cannon Shells

Two artillery rounds of World War II vintage were picked up by members of Webb's Explosive Ordnance Detachment recently. The rounds, each approximately two feet in length and 2 1/2 inches in diameter, were discovered by children playing in a downtown salvage yard.

The children, neighbors of S. Sgt. James B. Sams, EOD non-commissioned officer, knew of his work at Webb and reported the finding to him. Sgt. Sams checked with the owner of the downtown company, explained the possible hazard, and requested permission to remove the rounds to the base.

"He said that he was glad to get rid of them," Sgt. Sams explained.

Once such items are taken to Webb, procedures are initiated to inert them — to render them safe — and if it is desired, they may be returned to their owners. M. Sgt. H. F. Washer pointed out. It is suggested air police be contacted if people are not certain about souvenir or salvage explosives.

He joined the bank in March, 1959 and through the years had served as public relations officer, business development officer, purchasing officer, loan officer and was named senior vice president in January, 1958.

Mahon To Ask Inclusion Of Plains In Water Study

Rep. George Mahon will urge the House Interior Committee Tuesday to include the High Plains in a study of possibility of diverting Columbia River basin surplus to the Colorado River in Arizona and California.

There is such a proposal before the committee, but the plains have been left out. Moreover, there is stiff opposition to including the plains area by Arizona and California interests; by the Interior Department which sees the Rocky Mountains as a prohibitive barrier; and by the Pacific Northwest which thinks industry should come there and that it should protect itself against water shortage.

"The fact remains that the water table in the High Plains is receding," said Mahon. "I feel we should at least have the opportunity to determine feasibility of transferring Pacific northwest water to the area. A number of years ago Mahon tried unsuccessfully to get a study on feasibility of bringing water from the Missouri River basin to the Texas Plains. Last year Mahon participated in getting a $300,000 study of feasibility of stair-stepping water up the Colorado River in Texas. Another plan is to divert East Texas surplus to the Rio Grande. Still another is the North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA) which visualizes bringing high quantities of water from Canada and Alaska to the West, Southwest and Mexico.

Most Local People Wary Of Super Bargain Offers

By TOM BARRY

Recent figures from the national office of the Better Business Bureau list a number of bogus business schemes used to defraud countless citizens almost every day.

But Big Spring seems to have developed a reputation of not being too hospitable to fly-by-night victimizers.

"I'll tell anyone that if an out-of-town salesman comes to their home with merchandise which can be purchased locally, that the best thing to do is to buy from a local merchant," Carroll Davidson, local Chamber of Commerce manager, said. "Fly-by-night salesmen are one of my pet-peeves."

"Most likely, the price locally will be cheaper," he added. "If you're dissatisfied, you have someone to go talk to, whereas, with a fly-by-nighter, all you'll ever see is your cancelled check."

CRUEL SCHEMES

A fraud which has been tried in Big Spring lately, according to Jay Banks, police chief, depends upon ignorance, and it cruelly affects those least likely to be able to afford it.

"I've had one or two reports of fake Social Security men attempting to defraud," Banks said.

"They will go to an old person's home, and misrepresent themselves as agents of the Social Security Administration, and tell the victim that if he is to qualify for Medicare, he must pay for a small insurance policy, only one payment of $50 to $60. They pocket the payment.

Of course, there is no filing fee for Medicare. Banks said if anyone representing himself as an agent of Social Security or any other government agency attempts to "sell" Medicare, the police want prompt notification.

REBATE DEAL

Another, which came to Sheriff Aubrey Standard's attention recently, involved fake rebate checks.

A man will come to the victim and show him an apparently legitimate refund check from a company, for, say, $100. The victim is not sure he has not done business with the company, but it is made out to him.

The man tells the victim: "The only way you can get your money back for being overcharged is if you'll give me half now." The victim pays, and the man gives him the check. The check is a fake and bounces — after the con man is gone.

FREQUENT FRAUDS

Just in case, here are some of the frauds the Better Business Bureau lists as being most used.

1. Bait and switch — For example, sensationally low offers in advertising upholstery material, wholesale meat, etc. When the customer shows up, the goods are low in quality. The salesman says the goods aren't so hot, and shows the "better quality" merchandise, which, if purchased, usually has a huge markup over the same goods in reputable outlets.

2. Home improvement swindles — A good example is the siding company representative who comes to the homeowner with an offer to put on aluminum or wood siding at a "reduced price," for the privilege of using it as a model for other prospective buyers.

CHAIN RACKET

3. Chain referral sales plans — These have been outlawed as lotteries by the attorney general of Texas.

The idea is that the salesman tells the customers, after they buy his item, that they can send letters to 12 of their friends urging them to buy, and each of the 12 then sends similar letters to 12 more friends, and on and on.

For every one sold, the salesman says, the original customer receives a commission. Mathematically, after the seventh progression, the number of persons involved would be in the hundreds of millions.

4. Charity gyms — Few of the snaky charity institutions can obtain a city license for house-to-house or business canvassing. If you don't recognize the charity, check with police or the Chamber of Commerce before going to it.

FAKE CREDITS

5. Fake credit certificates — These are offers of money off if used in the purchase of a machine or other goods. The goods offered are usually of low quality and have a high markup. The customer will end up paying a premium.

6. Business opportunities — Usually an advertisement in a magazine or newspaper which says that for about $5 a person can find out how to make money selling greeting cards or searching for buried treasure or something. After the money is sent, usually nothing arrives; or if it does, is worthless.

A Devotional For The Day

"You must keep these words of mine in mind and hear; you must teach them to your children, talking about them when you are sitting at home and when you go off on a journey, when you lie down and when you get up." (Deuteronomy 11:18-19, Smith and Goodspeed)

Loss Of Distinguished Servant

The departure of Thomas Mann from government service creates a vacancy that will be difficult to fill, and it may also have "somber overtones," as one columnist observed.

Mr. Mann has given practically all his adult life as career man with the State Department, and his last and most important post was that of undersecretary for Latin-American affairs.

Mann is given credit for working out the satisfactory compromise in the Panama revolutionary disorders, who helped Brazilians achieve order after the threat of communism, of preventing anarchy in the Dominican Republic through reluctant but timely intervention.

A Texan who was reared on the border, Thomas Mann brought not only rare skill and intelligence to his job, but he also brought a keen understanding and appreciation of the Latin America viewpoint.

Yet he has insisted upon basic respect for the United States, which made him a target for some of the rabble rousers. He has been accused of being too friendly to American business which generally is acknowledged as being one of the chief hopes of stability and progress for Latin America.

"No official has more ably served the legitimate hemisphere interests and needs of this nation," wrote William S. White, syndicated columnist. "None has contributed more in courage, in savvy, in patiently effective negotiation, to solve the running crisis of hemisphere affairs." To which we add our amens.

There Must Be A Danville

There must be a Danville somewhere in these United States that needs a poverty program under the Office of Economic Opportunity. To date, though, the OEO has been unable to find one.

Danville, Ind., was first pressed by the OEO to set up a community action board to receive and administer poverty funds. The city of 3,287 persons, it was alleged, needed a community action program because it had 1,339 families with annual incomes under $1,000 and 1,979 families receiving aid to dependent children. Trying to prove their point, the OEO sent a representative to Danville. He discovered immediately that his poverty statistics didn't match Danville, Ind.

As he prepared to depart, the visiting OEO man said: "Those figures are for Danville, Ill.—an understandable mistake."

Alas, the figures didn't apply to Danville, Ill., either. In its extremity, the OEO called upon the population division of the Census Bureau, only to discover that there were only six Danvilles in the country and none of them fitted the poverty profile prepared by OEO.

There is at least a suspicion that officials of OEO will cultivate henceforth a deep silence on the subject of Danville, Somewhere, U.S.A. By application it may be possible to fit the OEO profile to some other town, but Danville must be forgotten.

Marquis Childs The Debate Wanes

WASHINGTON—Senator J. William Fulbright's office has just politely declined the 75th invitation to speak. They come from universities, service organizations, clubs and high schools in every corner of the country in such a flood that the only possible response is a standard form of regret.

THIS CONTINUING flood is the more surprising, since Fulbright is not only the most outspoken critic of the Administration's Viet Nam policy but is also a gloomy prophet of threatening doom and disaster in the growing Viet Nam involvement. So gloomy on the score of America's path toward downfall was the Senator's speech to the American Newspaper Publishers Association that even friendly critics chided him.

The televised hearings on China policy and foreign aid stimulated the requests. But Fulbright's staff members who are handling the letters and telegrams say that in many instances the request reflect a deep and often troubled desire to hear debate on the widening conflict.

AS TO A DEBATE, the Senator is rather like a man who turns up all prepared for the contest and finds the other side has decided to rest on past statements. Whether it is judged shrewd politics or wise statesmanship or a little of both, President Johnson has decreed that this must be a time of silence.

With respect to Viet Nam and the war, the President is setting the example in this department. He turned down the ANPA, the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the 50th anniversary dinner for Pulitzer Prize winners. These are the kind of audiences that Presidents in the past have welcomed as a forum for their views.

THE LINE the President means to take on Viet Nam in the fall campaign and perhaps beyond seems clearly marked. He puts the war and all its attendant troubles above partisanship on the score of the national interest. At his last press conference, called on a few minutes' notice, this was shown in the following exchange:

Reporter: Mr. President, do you think the Vietnamese war will hurt the Democrats in the fall election?

THE PRESIDENT: I don't believe that any of you want to make this a Democratic or a Republican Army or Air Force or Navy or War. I never use the party term in connection with the servicemen and what they are doing. I don't see many people that do. I try to talk to the leaders of both parties in this country about the national interest, and I have never seen many of them put their party ahead of their country. I doubt that they will.

THE PROFESSED belief in the White House is that the elections in Viet Nam are a sign of political vitality. But no one is saying this very loudly, since it is possible that either the elections will never be held or that they will result in chaos and confusion. A new military coup precluding an election in the foreseeable future is not ruled out. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will shortly confer with the President, and he may provide clues to the future. But the word is that he will be under wraps during his stay in this country.

The Texans on the White House staff know their Bible. They quote Ecclesiastes: "To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under the sun."
It is the season of silence.

Stock Market Dips, But Inflation Still Felt

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market during the week took its biggest plunge since the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated but later it regained some of its losses.

The drop came Thursday after General Motors announced it was cutting back auto production. But the next day, after GM said its auto assembly plants would be back in operation higher.

President Johnson asked for advice during the week on how to prevent inflation—and received it from all sides.

The President said he saw disquieting signs in the economy. The nation faces new problems as an outgrowth of prosperity, he said.

TAX HIKE PROPOSED
The advice offered by William McClesney Martin Jr., Federal Reserve Board chairman, was "a simple, clean-cut across-the-board increase in taxes." He said that was the logical way to deal with inflation.

It was Martin who a year ago said he saw disquieting similarities between the economic situation then and in 1929.

It also was Martin who differed with the White House in December and voted to increase rate from 4 to 4½ per cent. But during the week Martin said an indefinite escalation of interest rates could have undesirable effects on the economy.

Walter W. Heller, a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, called for a temporary across-the-board 5 billion tax increase. He also proposed temporary suspension of the 7 per cent tax credit allowed business on new investment.

"A tax increase now would be a good insurance agent against inflation," Heller said.

CHAMBER DISAGREES
Delegates to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington were pulled on what anti-inflation measures they thought would be the most ef-

In all, 293 voted for reduced federal spending, 98 for further use of monetary powers to curb credit and money supply, 49 each for wage-price controls and moral suasion, 38 for reduced capital investment and 16 for increased federal taxes.

Gardner Ackley, the President's top economic adviser, said an increase in federal spending beyond that already budgeted would make an income tax hike "almost inescapable."

It is an election year, a time when tax increases are singularly unpopular with Congress, and the administration has been bringing pressure to bear on Congress to cut back its additions to the budget.

Ackley, Heller's successor as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, cautioned businessmen that profits might be getting too high for the health of the economy.

The government would face the need to clamp down on overall demand in case a speculative boom resulted from higher costs and prices, he said.

PROFITS GAIN
The First National City Bank of New York reported that 1,399 leading corporations earned 12 per cent higher profits the first three months of 1966 than a year ago.

Altogether, 94 per cent of the companies showed improved earnings. A new wave of demand stemming from Viet Nam—on top of an already healthy business situation—helped lift about everything but the auto-

Around The Rim When Ol' Jim 'Poured It On'

As of this morning on the political front, the tumult and the shouting have died. The losers are despondent, the winners are elated; some are girding for another fight in the June second primary.

I admire them all. It has seemed to me that making a race for public office is a physically, mentally, emotionally exhausting experience, not to mention the drain on the pocketbook. The bigger the office, the greater the task.

BUT EVEN SO, the "nice" candidates of today don't fly at each other's throat with foul and bitter imprecations as was the custom many years ago.

As a young reporter, my baptism of fire in covering political speeches was in the days of Fergusonism, about the hottest issue this state ever struggled through. The issue, you may recall, was whether you were on Jim Ferguson's side, or whether you weren't. And there was no half-way.

JIM HAD ALREADY soared and fallen at the time I mention, but Mrs. Ferguson—"Ma"—came on the scene, you know, and Jim was right by her side, promising "two governors for the price of one."

This didn't take, the first go-round, but two years later it did, and Texas had its woman governor. For two elections, the Fergusons and their cohorts were locked in bitter battle with the oil man, Ross Sterling, and the business interests that favored him.

W. LEE O'DANIEL may have brought a new note to Texas campaigning, when he introduced the barrel for donations. But even the crooning, biscuit-passing Pappy never matched the scorching oratory that Jim Ferguson used to lay on the backs of the crowds that flocked to hear him.

This would be in the days, remember, when there was no radio or television, and a candidate literally had to stomp the entire state to reach his voters. In the days of bad roads, and rather simple automobiles, this was no easy chore.

IT WOULD ALSO be in the days when the great political harangue took place on the courthouse square, the candidate and his cohorts on the bandstand, the crowd spread around the lawn. The kids would go about their playing at the edge of the crowd, and mostly the men stood—and stood perhaps for two hours—ready to cheer "pour it on him" when old Jim let loose with all but unprintable remarks about anybody who dared oppose him.

HE CALLED them mongrels, yellow-bellies, and low-life thieves. He called them crooks, and feeders at the trough of degradation. He called them worse. What made it bad for a reporter trying to keep up, he said things that one couldn't write for the paper, for reasons of libel, or for good taste.

BUT JIM, and his like, never cared or libel, or perhaps even good taste. The thing was to bemean your opponent with every word in the dictionary, and perhaps with a few concocted on the spot. This was the day when politics took on its evangelical fervor, and even created frequent fights between opposite partisans.

Politics may be a lot neater now, but it probably will never again be as exciting.

A New Dance

WASHINGTON—Teenagers who live in the world of the frog, the monkey, the swim, and other such energetic dances occasionally come up with some startling discoveries.

The other night the 16-year-old daughter of a friend of mine rushed into her mother's bedroom after attending a dance and said excitedly, "Mother, you'll never guess what we did!"

The mother, expecting the worst, grabbed onto both sides of the bed and said weakly, "What did you do?"

"We danced holding onto each other."

"Oh," said the mother, "how did it happen?"

"I DON'T KNOW. We were each out there dancing separately and not paying any attention to each other when suddenly Roger put his arm around my shoulder and he took my other arm like this, and we started dancing together."

"How could you possibly do that?" the mother asked.

"I don't know. But he asked me to follow him and do whatever he did. It really felt funny."

"In what way?"

"I MEAN the idea of actually dancing with another person and him holding you in his arms. It was kind of crazy."

"Did you like it?" the mother asked.

"I loved it. At first it was kind of hard to follow because I was supposed to do exactly what he did. But then when I got the hang of it, it wasn't hard at all."

"What else did you do?"

"I KNOW THIS is going to sound ridiculous, mother, but he put his cheek on mine and we danced cheek to cheek all around the floor."

"And he held you the whole time?"
"Yes, the whole time we danced."
"What did the other kids do?"

"THEY COULDN'T believe it. I mean none of them had ever danced like that and they thought Roger and I were nuts. But then a couple of them tried it and they liked it, too, and pretty soon about five or six couples were dancing cheek to cheek. I asked Shirley to try it with Bobby, but she said she wasn't going to follow any boy around a dance floor, and Bobby said it spoiled the dance if you and the girl did the same step. But I said they just wouldn't know how good it felt until they tried it."

"What kind of music did they play?" the mother asked.

"THAT WAS the weird part of it. Roger asked the orchestra to play slow music because you dance better together that way. A few of the kids got mad, because they said, nobody can dance to slow music. But we did, mother, we really did."

The mother said, "I don't know how to break this to you, Barbara, but that's the way your father and I used to dance."

"You couldn't," the daughter cried.

"It's a new dance. Roger told me no one had ever done it that way before."

"ROGER IS wrong," the mother said. "Everyone danced that way. That used to be the whole idea of dancing—to let the fellow hold you and to follow him on the dance floor."

The daughter looked at her mother with new respect.

"I'll be darned," she said. "I didn't think you folks had it in you."

The Right To Take A Job

WASHINGTON—In the United States today a small group of individuals are asserting the right to determine when or if a newspaper shall be published. The entire government, including the Congress of the United States, stands by apparently afraid for political reasons to do anything about it.

YET, THERE are legislative remedies available, and the Constitution says that Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press." This means also that no group of individuals shall take the law into their own hands and keep the press from publishing. If the employees of a newspaper go on strike, this is understandable. But when coercion is used to prevent a company from hiring any individuals who would then become employees, an unprecedented situation is created.

THREE NEWSPAPERS in New York City recently went out of business due to economic difficulties and financial losses. A single company was organized. The Department of Justice said no violation of antitrust laws was involved. Many of the former employees were invited to come to work. They refused. Theoretically, the new company would have the right to offer the jobs to other individuals. The labor unions, however, can interpose coercive measures. If anybody seeks to cross a picket line, he can be subjected to threats and possible interference when he tries to enter the plant.

STRANGELY enough, although both houses of Congress are in session and there are committees specifically charged with the duty of writing legislation on labor-management relations, not a single bill has been introduced on a committee hearing held to find out whether the constitutional rights of citizens are being violated. This inaction is a form of discrimination which ignores a civil right of the individual—his right to take a job when offered to him.

The three New York newspapers which formed a new company are unable to get new employees. Even if an individual does not agree with what the unions are trying to do, he hesitates to get into a row with them, as they could affect his employment in the future.

IT IS OBVIOUS that the labor unions have acquired control of the hiring of employees and are regulating the conditions under which they are to work.

The law of the land is strict when one company threatens any action that could put another company out of business. No business is permitted a monopoly. Restraint of trade is denounced. But all of this does not seem to have any application to labor unions. They may put a company out of business. In this case, they are actually preventing a company from going into business.

CONGRESS AND the administration spend a lot of their time endeavoring to obtain respect for the "civil rights" of citizens. There are wars against poverty and crusades to assure "equal employment opportunity" for everybody—but none of these governmentally sponsored enterprises seems to safeguard the right of an individual to take any job that's open or the right of a company to establish a newspaper or newspapers. This would be understandable in the Soviet Union, but not in free America.

Gary Merrill prevents Chuck Connors from committing murder in this scene from "Ride Beyond Vengeance," new Columbia Pictures release in color.

Chuck Connors In Western Picture

With Chuck Connors heading the star-studded cast, "Ride Beyond Vengeance" opens today in color at the Ritz Theatre.

This new Columbia Pictures release, produced by Andrew J. Fenady, and directed by Bernard McEveety in Columbia color, reportedly is an outdoor action drama whose sophisticated elements take the story out of the run-of-the-mill into the waters of all-ages entertainment.

Co-starring are Joan Blondell, Gloria Grahame, Gary Merrill, Bill Bixby, Michael Rennie and newcomer Kathryn Hays as Jesse. Producer Fenady, who also wrote the screenplay for the film, based on the novel "The Night of the Tiger" by Al Dettler, added a group of notable players to star in cameo roles: James MacArthur, Arthur O'Connell, Ruth Warrick, Buddy Baer, Frank Gorshin and Robert Q. Lewis.

In "Ride Beyond Vengeance," Chuck Connors plays a buffalo hunter returning to his bride in the town of Coldiron, Texas, with a stake in his saddle bags of $17,000. Outside town, he is robbed of his money by some cattle rustlers. In seeking to recover the money, Connors almost literally tears apart the town.

Price Again Terrifies

"It is the most terrifying Poe film ever made," actor Vincent Price says of "The Tomb of Ligeia," the new American International Pictures terror production based upon the works of Edgar Allan Poe, which opens at the Ritz Theatre Friday the Thirteenth with another AIP film, "House of Fright."

And if anyone should know whereof he speaks it is Price, who has starred in seven previous AIP films based upon Poe's works.

Brilliantly and imaginatively directed, it is claimed, by Roger Corman, the new cinema version of the Maryland poet's terror tales introduces English actress Elizabeth Shepherd in the title role of a beautiful, voluptuous woman whose will is so powerful, so evil, that it survives her own death.

Her determination to exert her will upon the living brings a strange delight to her surviving husband and naked horror to the girl he later falls in love with and marries.

In the end, Ligeia's evil brings both to the point of madness and into a situation from which death would be a welcome relief.

Other stars at the festival included Kirk Douglas, Glen Ford, Leslie Caron and Peter Ustinov.

The next big — and final — offering of the spring season will be the annual concert of the Howard County Junior College choir Monday at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Gary Ebensberger, who has won praise for himself and the choir in two years at HCJC, will be directing for the last time before going to Arlington State.

With the exception of a solo, "More," by Cynthia Pond, soprano, this will be an all-choir presentation. The first portion deals with classic religious works, and the second is in a gay and light vein from descriptives to spirituals to musical comedy hits. Among the latter are "Hello Dolly," "Moon River" and "Chim Chim Cheree." Admission is $1 adults, 50 cents for students who do not have activity cards. This is something you won't want to miss.

It would be difficult to describe the joint concert of the Big Spring High School band and choir as anything less than a triumph. It was that for the two organizations, and certainly for the directors. That standing ovation and repeated curtain calls should tell Doug Wiehe how Big Spring feels about him. It's no reflection on others to say he has been our best band director, and we have had our best bands under him. The concert performance was so excellent it was a fitting valedictory. While Wiehe is leaving to direct the North Texas State University band, fortunately we are to have Mel Ivey back with his genius for developing outstanding high school singers.

The 18th annual Fiesta of Arts and Crafts has been scheduled for May 14-15 for the historic Laguna Gloria Art Museum in Austin. The works of some 100 outstanding artists from over the state will be displayed. Besides this, there will be a round of activities including games for the children and a dance for the adults, and concerts.

Dates for the Carlsbad Area Arts Association show will be June 5-July 17, it has been announced. The show with prizes from $10 to $100 is open to both amateur and professional artists residing in West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. Deadline for entering is May 16, and entry blanks may be had from Director, CAAAA, Box 66, Carlsbad, N.M.

Being out of town at the time of "John Brown's Body" was our misfortune. However, reports indicate that there were many spots of brilliance in this difficult, but artistic presentation. Perhaps it will prove an ice-breaker.

Now hanging at the Howard County Junior College administration building is the Texas Fine Arts Association Exhibition B, a collection of 21 works from Texas artists. Included are 11 oils, one Hyplar oil, five watercolors, two caseins, and one each in acrylic-vinyl, charcoal, and Hyplar oil. Among the art artists with pictures in the exhibit are Tincie Heddins, San Angelo, "Vase of Flowers"; Mary Helderbrecht, Abilene, "Spring Thaw"; Carolyn Parks, Monahans, "Humble Beauty"; Lona Shook, San Angelo, "Still Life"; and Jackie Zweiger, Monahans, "Century Old Barn." The exhibit will hang until May 25 and you are urged to go by and view it.

In order to encourage the younger artists of the region, the Big Spring Art Association is planning a special division for students through high school age in the Texas Fine Arts Association Citation Exhibition. These entries will not compete for TFAA citations, but will receive awards for first, second and third place winners and be included in competition for "best in show" honors.

Students may enter up to six original works, which must be framed or matted and wired suitably for hanging, at an entry fee of 50 cents per item.

Adult entrants in the TFAA Citation Exhibit will pay $2 per item, up to six works accepted, and all exhibitors will compete for honors including the $100 Cosden purchase prize, TFAA citations, cash awards and gifts from Hemphill-Wellis, the Hobby Shop, Sherwin-Williams, Bennett's Pharmacy and others.

Miss Suella Lacy, associate professor of art, Hardin-Simmons University, will judge the show Saturday morning, May 22, and awards will be made at 4 p.m. next day in the community room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

Registration will be from noon to 6 p.m. Friday, May 27, at the community room. The exhibit will be open to the public Saturday and Sunday afternoons to 6 p.m.

A Man Could Get Killed?

Appearing in Universal's hilarious suspense comedy, "A Man Could Get Killed," are the romantic team of James Garner and Melina Mercouri, left, and Sandra Dee and Tony Franciosa. The cloak-and-dagger spoof was photographed in Technicolor.

Garner, Mercouri Star In Spy-Spoof Flicker

A cinema funfest, with more laughs than a convention of comics, Universal's zesty spy-thriller spoof, "A Man Could Get Killed," opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. James Garner, Melina Mercouri, Sandra Dee and Tony Franciosa are the co-stars who make up two romantic duos involved in the intriguing spice of the world's spy center, Lisbon, and Portugal's seacoast, photographed in Technicolor.

Garner essays another of his outstanding comedy roles opposite the unhibited Greek beauty, Miss Mercouri, who tops her performances in "Never on Sunday," and "Topkapi." In "A Man Could Get Killed," to give love and romance, Miss Dee sheds her teenage ways and blossoms forth as a wondrous woman of the world opposite Franciosa, who emerges as a splendid comedian.

The story is about an American bank representative who gets mixed up with a bedroom-eyed European temptress, an anything-for-a-buck opportunist, and in the year's kookiest set of villains. In the telling, there are more plot twists than an O. Henry anthology.

Backing the star quartet are Robert Cote, Rolane Culver, Gregoire Aslan, Cecil Parker and Dulcie Gray; and an international collection of villains who add a Keystone-Koppish touch.

Tax Collector At State Meet

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, is attending the annual state tax conference in San Antonio. She will be out of her office through Wednesday.

Local Forces Marshal For Opposition To Rail Merger

Meetings have been called in Big Spring Tuesday to enroll more strength to resist a proposed railroad merger which the Missouri Pacific - Texas & Pacific say would be disastrous to their business.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

County Airport Is Busy Place

M. Sgt. Darrell B. Hissem, president of Webb Aero Club, announced this week that the club has been awarded the Federal Aviation Agency's Flight Safety Award for 1965. The award is given to Air Force aero clubs posting accident-free flying records during the year.

Up for Howard County Airport this week were Zan Dawson and Buddy Hatch, on a cross-country in the Colt; Jacky Romine, also in the Colt; Robert Lebkowsky and Keith Swim in the Cherokee. Swim was on a cross-country early in the week.

The Cessnas of Big Spring Flying Club saw plenty of action this week, with Lawson Allen, John Stanley, Mrs. Jo Polone, Donald McKinney, Charles Cooper, James Merrick, Robbie Sanders, Ben Faulkner, Roy Granbery and Bob Brock up. Allen was on a cross-country during the week, and Charles Cooper was made an official member of the Big Spring Solo Club when he soloed this week.

Big Spring Aircraft reported about 16 transients in this week, among them, Sen. Franklin Spears in a DC-3 and Crawford Martin in a Cessna 411, both hot on the campaign trail for the attorney general bid.

Also in at the airport was D. W. Kibbie from the Colorado Oil Co. in a converted A-26, and officials from the Jeico Corp., Salt Lake City, Utah, in their Cessna 411 turbo-charger. Howard Loyd flew a patient to Globe, Ariz., in the Comanche this week.

Trans - Texas Airways local

Sessions will be held at the Settles Hotel, both at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m., and will be largely for T&P employees, but other interested persons may attend.

The two meetings are so that workers on different shifts may attend one.

Roy Williams and Walter Moore, in charge of the presentation, are requesting full attendance.

The Missouri Pacific says its position would be placed in jeopardy by the merger, would affect the railroad, its shippers, its employees and the communities it serves.

The Texas & Pacific—a subsidiary of Mo-Pac—has issued a pamphlet outlining its position. Among its points:

The proposed merger destroys the agreement of long standing establishing the Texas & Pacific with the Southern Pacific as one continuous line through the El Paso gateway to the west coast.

WOULD LOSE FREIGHT
Freight traffic, which now moves over the Texas & Pacific to and from the Kansas City and St. Louis gateways, will be lost. This traffic will be diverted at El Paso to move over the Rock Island trackage instead of moving over the T&P and KO&G from El Paso. Single line freight service from New Orleans to Memphis would eliminate the T&P's participation in movements between these points. Also, single line freight service would bar the KO&G from sharing in freight hauls between New Orleans and Kansas City.

As a result of the merger, T&P can expect a loss of freight traffic which it now handles in the immediate El Paso area. Texas & Pacific's efforts and ability to serve industries along its line in West Texas will be severely limited.

T&P's cost of providing service for West Texas industries will be considerably increased. The proposed merger could very well result in the ultimate termination of Texas & Pacific Railway's service into the El Paso area.

Further restriction of operations on the railway's system would result, with freight reductions, in line with restricted operations.

"In many instances, jobs will have to be relocated or abolished since they would no longer be essential in the normal conduct of Texas & Pacific's transportation services."

Three To Get Degrees At Seminary

Harvey L. Barton, pastor, Crestview Baptist Church, Big Spring, will receive the bachelor of divinity degree while James J. Mahoney, son of Mrs. Earl Parrish, 104 NE 12th, Big Spring, and Thomas J. THOMAS J. WILLIAMS

Dr. Scott L. Tatum, pastor of the Broadmoor Baptist Church in Shreveport, La., will speak at the exercises, scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. May 20 in Truett Auditorium.

A total of 190 degrees are to be conferred, including three doctors of theology and one doctor of religious education.

Barton is married to the former Patsy Koonce, Idalou.

Williams is married to the former Carolyn Malone, Abilene, and is music director for Emmanuel Baptist Church, Weatherford.

Scouting Units Pointing Toward Big Exposition

Scouting units are pointing toward the big exposition Saturday at the Highland Shopping Center Mall, and more than a score units will have displays.

Bill Bradford, chairman of this activity, said that seven Cub packs, nine troops and six Explorer posts have entered so far. There is still time for others if unit leaders will only contact him promptly, he said. Units are selling tickets to the affair, and they get to keep 40 per cent of the proceeds.

Another important event looming is the National Council meeting in Dallas on May 18-19, said Jack Gully in a report to the district meeting Thursday evening. So far 15 men from this district have registered, and others are expected to go. R. L. Tollett, chairman, said this would be a "chance of a lifetime" for many Scouters. The national meeting coincides with the Region I meeting.

Summer camp signups are encouraging with 21 units so far committed to long term summer camps, said Frosty Robinson, camping and activities chairman. He hoped to involve the remaining seven troops. Two veteran scouters, Garrett Patton and Leroy Wright, left Friday morning for the Davis Mountains Scout Ranch to spend a week in strenuous woodbadge training.

Bill Crooker, organization and extension chairman, said that enrollment was lagging by 16 at this stage, but he predicted a gain for the year. Most of the loss has occurred in Cub packs and Scout troops; Explorer enrollment is up sharply. Erven Fisher, advancement chairman, said that in April the picture took a definite upturn. Gerald Wilson was introduced as new scoutmaster of the handicapped boys troop. He is in need of an assistant.

Johnson Hopes For Clear Skies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson hoped today for a turn for better weather in this water-logged central Texas hill country as he swung into a long weekend at his ranch.

Johnson, who flew to Texas Thursday from Washington with wife Lady Bird, announced before he came that he wanted some sunshine. However, it has been a soggy spring for this sometimes-parched territory. A light drizzle fell as he arrived by jet here and transferred to a smaller jet-powered plane for the 60-mile hop northward to the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City.

Johnson is expected to announce a number of appointments to top government posts while in Texas.

ARE YOU AFRAID TO GO TO A PHYSICIAN?

Recently a physician told about one of his patients who was brought to his office almost in a state of mental collapse. For nearly a year this patient watched a growth on his body become larger and was afraid to go to a physician for fear of hearing the worst. He just worried himself sick.

Fortunately it was a benign tumor, easily removed by minor surgery and now he is well again. But, if it had been cancerous, the delay might have permitted that growth to become incurable, instead of being easily removed before its poison infected the body.

Never fear the worst. If you have recurring pains or aches, or unusual body changes, consult a physician quickly. The odds are they will be curable.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?
