

Petroleum Demand Up In Forecasts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A petroleum industry study group made a sharp upward revision today in its estimate of record demand for petroleum products for 1966.

The supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America also said the 1966 increase in domestic crude production will be the largest since 1959.

The optimistic forecasts were tempered, however, by warnings from the study group and F. Allen Calvert Jr., president of the trade group that represents nearly 7,000 independent oil operators in 40 states.

Calvert said the optimism may be geared too closely with a national emergency.

"We have been through such 'healthy' periods in previous emergencies—in the Korean War, and during the Suez crisis of 1956-57," said the Tulsa, Okla., independent.

"Those experiences taught this industry to tread cautiously. They brought brief periods of feast, followed by prolonged periods of agonizing famine."

The study group estimated 1966 domestic petroleum demand at 11,715,000 barrels, 3.6 per cent above 1965. Last October the group had anticipated only a 3 per cent gain.

Domestic crude production now is expected to average 8,159,000 barrels a day, compared to an October estimate of 8,164,000.

The predicted crude output would mean an increase of 355,000 barrels daily—4.5 per cent—from 1965.

"This forecast gain, the largest since 1959, compares with an annual average gain of 144,000 barrels per day or 2 per cent for the 1961-1964 period," the committee said.

Reapportionment Hottest Issue Facing Legislature

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The legislature opened a 60-day session today. Possible higher insurance rates and reapportionment were the hottest issues.

Legislators said people are stirred up about rising auto and home insurance rates.

Sen. B. B. Rayburn, Senate Finance Committee chairman, said "Reapportionment will be one of the hottest issues. . . . I hope it can be worked out to the satisfaction of everyone concerned, but that seems doubtful."

Li. Gov. C. C. Aycok and Speaker Vall Delony, chosen by Gov. John McKeithen to hammer together a single, over-all reapportionment plan, will hand it to the governor after conferring with a Senate committee as a matter of courtesy.

One informant said Aycok and Delony, provided there are no last-hour changes, plan to offer revised seating, within the present 39 districts and to suggest leaving the House as is at 105, since House reshuffling was adopted in a 1963 special session.

Others say they understand Aycok and Delony will go ahead with an idea they previously had discussed a few weeks ago, adding 25 members for an expanded 1,300 man House, giving greater voice to population while keeping the present state constitution requirement of at least one man for each parish.

In the vanguard of arriving legislators, little attention was paid to various individual tax raise bills prefiled. The govern-nor says he doesn't think the people want tax boosts now.

A general rate boost in auto liability has been put off by a state agency until Aug. 31, waiting for the legislature to handle rate problems.

The insurance industry, which contends some companies are backing away from the Louisiana market because of tight rates, seeks legislation for a modified "file and use" plan that, in plain terms, means the companies themselves would file their own rates.

The governor doesn't want the heated issue of property tax equalization, now in a federal court, to jump into the session. He said he will call a special session on that when the time is ripe.

Loser Asks For Federal Vote Check

HOUSTON (AP)—Interest in Harris County's unusual 8th Congressional District race tumbled Sunday from a dead man's name on the ballot to a charge by one of the candidates of "flagrant election violations."

Larry McKaskle, who apparently lost his bid for U.S. Representative to State Rep. Bob Eckhardt in Saturday's Democratic primary, said Sunday he had asked for federal referees "to examine the collected evidence."

Unofficial returns showed Eckhardt was the victor with 20,327 votes. McKaskle polled an unofficial 8,521. The name of the late Albert Thomas, who had filed for re-election before his death, received 10,261 votes.

McKaskle, 36, a real estate broker, said he had asked for the referees in a telegram late Saturday night to U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach. He also said he planned to file for a court order to impound the ballots.

"If I don't hear anything from the attorney general by Tuesday, I will personally call him," McKaskle said. "If I can't get him, I'll go directly to the President."

Eckhardt, 52, who is serving his fourth term in the state legislature, said of McKaskle's statements:

"It sounds to me like it's a man saying, 'I have not won, there ought to be an investigation.'"

"I know of no instance in Texas when there has been a denial of the right to vote," Eckhardt said. "As far as I know that is the only instance in which federal election judges are called in. . . . No one has accused any election judge of any such activity."

African Nationalists Fear Sell-Out In Talks

LONDON (AP)—Talks between British and Rhodesian officials were scheduled to begin today. African nationalists feared a sellout.

Three officials of the Rhodesian white minority regime arrived Sunday for talks to determine whether a basis exists for negotiations to end the six-month crisis. The whites declared independence Nov. 11, defying British demands for ultimate African majority rule.

The three Rhodesians are Sir Cornelius Greenfield, chief economic adviser; Gerald Clarke, Cabinet secretary; and Stanley Morris, public services chairman. They were to meet with Oliver Wright, former private secretary to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, and Duncan Watson of the Commonwealth Relations Office.

The talks were arranged when British officials met secretly last month with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith in Salisbury.

Smith said later he was ready for unconditional talks but pledged never to compromise his regime's principles, and Wilson told Parliament Britain would not back down on its conditions for a final settlement. He said Britain would keep squeezing Rhodesia with an economic boycott and oil embargo.

written to Wilson protesting the new talks and said he was "not satisfied" with Wilson's reply.

President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia, Rhodesia's African-ruled northern neighbor, said in Lusaka Sunday night he had Kaunda sent a personal emissary here to brief Zambian Foreign Minister Simon Kapwepwe, who was expected to demand assurances from Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley that African interests in Rhodesia will be safeguarded.

Kapwepwe is en route to New York, where Lord Caradon, Britain's chief U.N. delegate, is trying to get African delegates to delay a demand for an urgent Security Council meeting on Rhodesia.

Ruling Given On Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—A light plane crash that killed two persons last Nov. 8 near Fort Stockton, Tex., resulted from "pilot incapacitation caused by the combined effects of alcohol and carbon monoxide intoxication," the Civil Aeronautics Board said today.

The CAB said a post-mortem examination of the pilot, Jack D. Birdwell, 40, of Coleman, Tex., showed a considerable amount of alcohol in the blood stream and a carbon monoxide saturation value of 17 per cent.

The CAB added that post-mortem examination of the passenger, Wayne H. Smith of Coleman, showed that he similarly would have been disabled.

Cong Expected Out In Force

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There is growing belief that the Viet Cong and more than 20,000 recent reinforcements from North Viet Nam will come out of hiding soon and fight.

They have been lying low for weeks. One reason, American military men say, is that the Communists have been critically short of supplies. They have been hurt by the repeated search-and-destroy sweeps by allied ground forces and incessant U.S. air strikes.

The Reds are thought to be regrouping and resupplying to take the initiative with the onset of the monsoon rains, when the weather prevents the Americans from providing ground forces with full-scale air cover and support.

The monsoon season, just beginning, runs into August. Some military men argue that instead of a single massive offensive, the Communists will make many small-scale attacks. The most probable targets are allied outposts along the Laotian and Cambodian frontiers.

Military sources say that Cambodia is where some of the infiltrating North Vietnamese have joined Viet Cong units and sought sanctuary from American guns. Some branches of the Ho Chi Minh Trail from the north end there.

In recent weeks, however, the United States has ruled out Cambodia as a sanctuary. Artillery and infantrymen have fired across the border when attacked from Cambodia.

To counter this, intelligence reports say, the Communists have pulled back into Cambodia about 20 miles. The monsoon drives are expected from these new sanctuaries.

One particularly sensitive spot, long a Viet Cong stronghold, is the French-named C Zone just inside South Viet Nam along the Cambodian border.

American infantrymen have repeatedly swept through this area and destroyed huge caches of supplies but have made only minor contact with the enemy. The giant B52 bombers also have subjected the area to incessant heavy bombing.

U.S. intelligence is reasonably sure that more than 20,000 North Vietnamese have entered South Viet Nam and neighboring Laos and Cambodia since the first of the year.

They filter down the Ho Chi Minh Trail, not as organized units but in small groups or individually.

U.S. officials say the infiltration rate reached 5,500 in March, about 1,000 more than previous months, and the April figure could have been as high as 7,000.

Alaska Stream Continues Rise

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The Chena River continued a steady rise Sunday after rain. Residents lined the Cushman Street bridge downtown watching great cakes of ice float by on the high water.

Civil Defense Director Jack Murphy ordered cranes to stand by at the bridge and at the University Avenue bridge in nearby College in case logs, ice and debris threatened the spans.

Murphy said the water level was about six and a half feet, up two feet from Saturday. Bank level is about 12 feet and the stream was rising rapidly.

NO FEAR OF 'BACKLASH'

Mayor Seeking Re-Election

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Arthur J. Holland — who made headlines by moving to a racially mixed neighborhood — seeks a new term of office Tuesday in an election in which the Negro vote could be pivotal.

The 47-year-old mayor says he might lose votes among "some white people" who consider him an integrationist, but he insists his record is the key issue and will withstand any "white backlash."

Holland also said he has heard rumors that some Negroes would oppose him because they regard his change in residence as a grandstand play to gain Negro votes. He discounted this as "illogical and unrealistic."

"There are some Negro leaders who oppose me because I'm too independent," he said in an interview, but he expressed confidence the majority of Negroes would support him.

Apartment from the racial question, campaign issues have included birth control, urban renewal and management of the antipoverty program.

Polls indicate Holland's opponent, Carmen J. Armenti, 37, a city councilman the past four years, has made inroads into the Negro and Italian vote.

Holland moved two years ago from an area that bordered on an Italian section to a neighborhood that is about half white. Other residents are Negro and Puerto Rican.

Holland said he bought the Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, May 9, 1966 3-A house in hope of halting deterioration eating away at much of Trenton, and because his wife, Betty, wanted an old home that could be restored to authentic early American style.

Holland has had strong support from Italians in past elections. Now some observers believe Armenti, an Italian, will draw off some of that support.

Holland entered city government 15 years ago when he was appointed deputy director of the public affairs department. He was elected to the city commission in 1955 and became mayor in 1959 when he won more votes than anyone else in the commission election.

He led a fight to change the commission system and strengthen the mayor's position, then became Trenton's first mayor under the new form of government in 1962.

He received about 17,400 votes in that election, 19,000 more than his closest competitor. There were 54,000 registered voters, including 8,000 Negroes.

An election official who is backing Armenti estimates that about 4,000 Negroes voted in 1962 and that probably three fourths were for Holland.

Hershey Warns Of Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Selective Service director said today persons proposing major changes in the military draft should "face up to the complications" that could be encountered in alternate systems.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey commented after a group of educators and civic and government officials in New York substantially approved Sunday a plan that proponents said would replace what they termed the guesswork, uncertainties and inequities in the present draft system.

The conference, in a statement, said "a young man should have the option in an uncomplicated manner of fulfilling his service obligation through participation in specified nonmilitary activities."

It added "there appeared to be general agreement that in order to reduce draft inequities, serious consideration should be given to eliminating student deferments and to instituting a combined lottery-alternative service system."

The conference had no official standing. Those attending said they were interested in arousing widespread discussion of the entire draft situation, which Congress must review by July 1, 1967, when the current law expires.

Warren Urges Ethics Institute

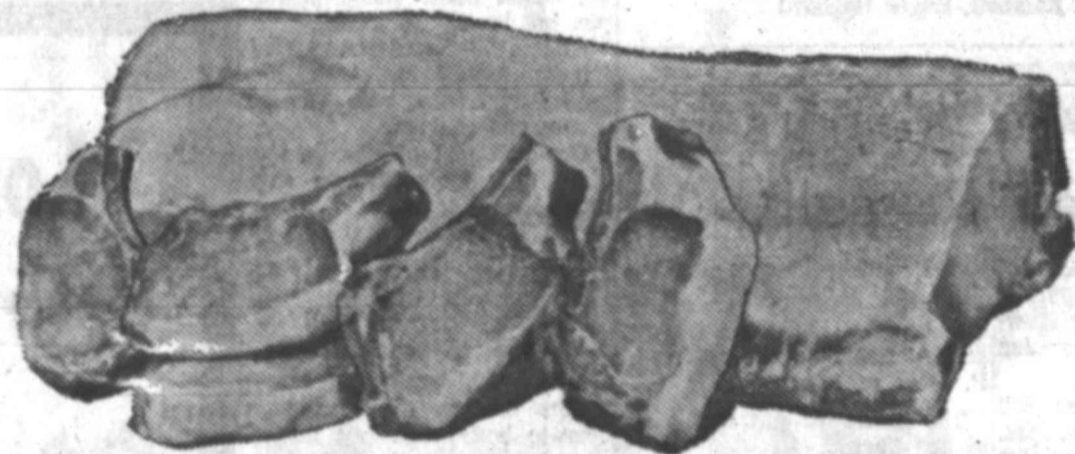

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren urges establishment of an institute on law and ethics, declaring that "without moral commitment of the people to obey, the law is quite helpless."

Warren spoke Sunday night at the 80th anniversary dinner of the Jewish Theological Seminary.

He recommended that the seminary establish such an institute, with its aim "the exploration of the manner in which ethical insights affect the law, and in turn that in which law affects the ethical insights."

One question the institute could take up, he said, is the effect of war in breaking down morality.

Network May Be Changed

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert F. Hurlleigh, president of the Mutual Broadcasting System, has confirmed reports that a group of businessmen has formed a corporation in Delaware to take an option on Mutual by July 1.

The network has been owned since 1960 by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.

The Mutual system was set up in 1934 and now has 515 radio stations to which it feeds news, public affairs and special events programs.

The system does not own any radio stations, but that situation could change under new ownership.

Hurlleigh said Sunday: "The new funds will allow us to produce more programs and out of the profits from these to buy stations in major market areas."

Federal Communications Commission regulations permit networks to own up to seven radio stations.

Minnesota Mining paid $1.3 million for the system in 1960, and in 1964 the offering price was $3 million when Mutual was negotiating to sell the network to Metromedia, Inc.

LBJ Hosts Mexico's Flores

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson entertains Mexico's foreign minister, Antonio Carrillo Flores, at his LBJ Ranch today as he nears the end of a long weekend in Texas.

NOT ANNOUNCED The visit was not announced.

Population Guess Higher

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Population experts are raising the flag on long-range estimates of how many people will inhabit the earth after the turn of the century.

This is reported in a new United Nations booklet on population problems prepared by T. E. Smith of the Institute of Commonwealth Studies at the University of London.

A U.N. report in 1963 said the world's population, estimated at three billion in 1960, might double to six billion by the year 2000.

The report said also the estimate at the low point could be 5,300,000,000 and at the high point 6,800,000,000.

Governments and international agencies have been using the U.N. estimates as a framework for assessments of future social and economic needs.

In summing up the findings of the second U.N. world population conference, Smith said the participants stressed that it was unwise to take long-range estimates literally because of the many uncertainties that lie ahead.

Blames Congress For Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers says continued congressional appropriation of more money than sought by President Johnson will feed inflation.

The Florida Democrat noted that estimates indicate Congress may add $3 billion or more to the President's budgeted spending.

Smathers said Sunday he believes the administration has been "remarkably successful so far" in holding down profits and prices.

ton, also was reported on hand. The President and his wife went alone to Sunday services at Johnson City's First Christian church, then dropped in among tourists flocking through his nearby boyhood home, now a museum.

APPOINTMENTS Later Johnson announced a series of appointments and job shifts: —Donald Opie McBride, 63, a special assistant to Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., will be nominated as $27,000-a-year director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, succeeding Arnold Jones whose term expires May 18.

—John Milton Steeves, 61, now ambassador to Afghanistan, will be nominated to become director general of the State Department's Foreign Service, succeeding Joseph Palmer II, recently named assistant secretary for African affairs.

—Bernard Boutin, now deputy director of the antipoverty program, was picked to head the Small Business Administration, taking over from Eugene Foley who now is an assistant secretary of commerce.

SUCCESSORS BOUTIN —Bertrand M. Harding, now deputy commissioner of internal revenue, will be nominated to succeed Boutin at the Office of Economic Opportunity.

—Henry E. Stebbins, ambassador to Nepal, will be nominated as ambassador to Uganda, succeeding Olcott H. Deming who is being reassigned.

—Elliott Percival Skinner, a native of Trinidad who became an American citizen in 1944, was chosen to be ambassador to Upper Volta.

While there has been no firm word when the Johnsons will return to Washington, the President said last Wednesday he planned to stay until tonight or Tuesday morning.

The Johnsons had other announced guests at the ranch Sunday — Texas Gov. and Mrs. John B. Connally. The four of them, it was said, took a long ride around the ranch area.

CONNALLY WINS Connally, a conservative Democrat, won a big victory in Saturday's statewide Democratic primary election, as conservative forces within the party crushed representatives of the liberal faction.

There had been pre-election reports of a Johnson-Connally rift, leading many Texans to assume the President was backing the liberals whose principal spokesman is Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough.

Also at the ranch for Mother's Day was the Johnson's older daughter, Lynda Bird, 22. Her steady escort of recent months, Hollywood actor George Hamilton, also was reported on hand.

Must Amend Atomic Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says the 1954 Atomic Energy Act will have to be amended before the United States can supply more plutonium to the European Atomic Energy Community — Euratom.

Euratom has asked for 1,900 kilograms of plutonium, worth about $43 million, to develop fast neutron reactors that would produce more fuel than they burn. The reactors would be used in nuclear power plants.

It was reported the AEC is studying the request from Euratom members — Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany. If supplied by the United States, the plutonium would be under Euratom safeguards to make certain it is used only for peaceful purposes.

What do you bid now? A.—Three diamonds. An alternate call of three hearts suggests itself but our preference is for the single raise and the deciding factor is the heart spots. With something like the ten of hearts instead of the four we might be inclined to favor a jump rebid in hearts.

Odinga's Revolt Is A Forewarning

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The political revolt of Odinga Odinga and his little leftist band is a warning signal of dangers to come rather than an immediate threat to Kenya's present government.

President Jomo Kenyatta, at 75 or thereabouts, dominates the politics of his country as few other African leaders of today. His position is virtually unassailable.

The defection of 29 legislators from the ruling Kenya African National Union — KANU — has barely dented the party's overwhelming majority in Parliament.

With Kenyatta at the helm, the party almost certainly would sweep the polls if it went to the country.

As it is, the government has declared there will be no national election until the end of its constitutional span of office in 1968 except in the unlikely event of it being defeated in Parliament.

The resignation of the Communist-leaning Odinga as Kenya's vice president finally shattered the facade of party unity and brought into the open the longstanding split between leftists and political moderates in the government and Parliament.

Formerly home affairs minister, Odinga had steadily been shorn of power until, at the time he quit, his post as vice president was largely honorific. He was speaking the truth when in announcing his resignation, he said there had been increasing pressure on him to leave the government.

His resignation had the effect, for the first time, of revealing publicly the relative strength of Kenya's two ideological groupings. Only a handful were ready to hoist Odinga's colors.

The flurry of KANU statements denouncing the dissidents has tended to play into their hands and inflate the importance of their rebellion. The outpouring reveals acute sensitivity to the threat of tribal conflict that in so many African countries goes hand in hand with political division.

Odinga is a Luo, Kenya's second largest tribe behind Kenyatta's Kikuyu, and commands powerful grassroots support among his own people. They are concentrated in western Kenya.

Clearly piqued by the offer of the Luo union — a tribal welfare society — to make Odinga its leader, KANU has suggested that all such tribal organizations be banned.

National unity is threatened by "the ugly monster" of tribalism, warned KANU. And it charged Odinga and his followers with whipping up old tribal enmities.

To date, political rivalry has been confined to a war of words and Kenyatta, a no-nonsense president, can be expected to crack down sharply on any violence.

Kenya became a one-party state with the voluntary dissolution of the Kenya African Democratic Union in 1964, but there is nothing in the constitution that outlaws opposition political movements. One such party, the Kenya People's Union, which has offered Odinga its leadership, is awaiting official registration. If granted, Kenya will be one of the few African states with a homegrown opposition, as opposed to one inherited from the days of colonial rule.

"More stability rather than less is the likely result from all this," suggests Mwai Kibaki, assistant minister of economic planning and a top man in the KANU hierarchy. "KANU will now speak with one voice. Statements by dissidents will be recognized as coming from a small minority party. Previously they could claim to speak in the name of the ruling party and

Seven Killed In Auto Accident
HOBSON, Tex. (AP) — State police said seven persons were killed and an eighth critically injured today in a two-car head-on collision in heavy fog near Hobson, 50 miles south of San Antonio. Officers said the smashup happened about 5 a.m. Torches and heavy equipment were rushed to the scene to extricate the bodies, a spokesman said. No further details were immediately available.

Milk Prices To Go Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's economic service predicted today that producer milk prices in the second quarter of this year will average less than during the first quarter.

But the service said in a dairy situation report that gross receipts from the sale of milk this year will be 6 to 7 per cent higher than the $5.1 billion record level of 1965.

Gross receipts do not show, however, how much producers will have left after deducting production costs. No figures were given on possible costs.

The service continued to predict that milk production this year will total about 2 per cent less than last year. Production in the first quarter of the year was down 5 per cent from a year earlier.

WRONG ONE, TOO Traveling Cats Back In Iowa

The "Iowa City Cats" arrived safely at their destination late last week, but one of them was the wrong one.

The two cats had taken a 1,000-mile trip by moving van from Iowa City, Iowa, to Big Spring some weeks ago. They were accidentally locked in the van as it moved Airman Douglas Koch's furniture to Big Spring.

Owned by the twin daughters of Mrs. Elmer Mommens, 1119 E. Church, Iowa City, the felines, Smoky and Bibbsie, were located and returned—at least it was thought that they were the right cats.

As it happened, Smoky, was really Smoky, red collar, pregnancy and all. She had a litter of three while visiting Texas, and all the cats survived the trip by air freight in good shape.

But Bibbsie wasn't Bibbsie, according to Mrs. Mommens. The Herald received a note from her this morning, saying: "Glad to get Smoky back. Sherry (one of the twins) couldn't believe it was Smoky. Sharon (the other twin) said she will take the one black kitten for hers. Eugene wants one and a neighbor boy wants the other one."

Mrs. Mommens said she will turn non-Bibbsie over to the Iowa City animal shelter.

Evidently, the real Bibbsie has taken a real liking to Texas, since she hasn't been located. It is to be hoped that Bibbsie's impersonator will enjoy Yankee-land.

You're a skeptic. Good. Then you're going to be a good customer, if we can ever win you. We showed you proof on television that High-energy Enco Extra cleans your carburetor while you drive. (Probably you said, "So what? My car still runs.") We told you it improves firing power, helps prevent hot spots and misfiring and gives you the high octane to help you take off like a cat. (You drove right on by.) It's frustrating to develop a gasoline that gives this kind of performance and then not even have you try it. Did you know new High-energy Enco Extra is more powerful than aviation gasoline of just a few years ago? That the Tiger is now the favorite of motorists all over the world? And that Jimmy Clark became the World's Champion Race Driver with a Tiger in his tank? So why not "Put a Tiger in Your Tank?" "Happy Motoring!"

Harry Truman's Friends Gather For His Birthday

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman, more than 13 years out of the White House, was lauded as "the man of peace" today as more than 400 friends gathered to wish him a happy 82nd birthday.

President Johnson and Chief Justice Earl Warren plan to telephone their congratulations.

Truman's birthday actually was Sunday, and he celebrated it by dedicating a federal office building in his home town of Independence — a structure he worked hard to obtain for the city. The building is only a few blocks from the square where Truman got his political start 44 years ago.

Truman gave a brief talk after he was presented with a miniature of the seal of the United States which is on the front of the building.

The former president said he could not claim any more credit for completion of the building than many other government officials and elected representatives.

He said, with a grin, "I just tried to prod them along a little when they got a little slow."

Centerpiece for the birthday luncheon today was a huge cake, decorated with a frosted picture of the proposed Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace, to be built at Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

President Johnson, in one of his two visits to the Truman Library in Independence last year, hailed the center as a fitting memorial to Truman who had much to do with the recognition by the United States of the new state of Israel.

The guest list for the annual luncheon included the governors of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Arkansas and many dignitaries from the Truman administration.

For Truman, the highlight at

Police Bullet Stops Wild Race With Stork

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The high-speed chase ended, a police bullet in his chest, his head cradled in his pregnant wife's lap, Leonard Deadwyler's dying words were: "She's having a baby."

Authorities gave this account of Deadwyler's death Saturday night.

Deadwyler, 21, was driving his wife, Barbara, 25, to a hospital. With them was their son, Leonard Jr., 2, and Gamaliel Ferguson, 31, owner of the car.

Several police cars pursued Deadwyler at speeds up to 80 miles per hour before he eased off to a slow roll.

Deadwyler's car continued to inch forward as Officers J. M. Bova and K. E. Ross approached and ordered a complete stop.

The car continued to inch forward.

Bova, pistol in hand, thrust his head, shoulders and arms through Deadwyler's open window to remove the ignition key.

The car suddenly lurched forward, knocking Bova off balance and causing his pistol to fire. The bullet struck Deadwyler in the chest.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at a nearby hospital. Hospital attendants said his wife was not in labor. Their son was turned over to juvenile authorities for care.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

The low-priced high-price car.

Low-priced because it's a Catalina with a sticker that's within reach of a lot of low-priced car buyers. High-priced because it has the Pontiac name and everything that goes with it. Like a full 121 inches of road-leveling wheelbase. And 50 more standard horsepower than those low-priced cars offer. And steady Wide-Track ride and handling. With luxurious interiors you practically sink up to your knees in. (And, of course, standard safety items like a padded dashboard.) All backed up by Pontiac's legendary resale value that makes such exciting reading in the record books year after year. Makes you wonder why anybody would buy a low-priced car when you can get a Pontiac Catalina for the same money.

Wide-Track Pontiac Catalina (A big, powerful Pontiac for less than $3000*)

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Catalina 2 and 4 door sedans and 5 and 4 door hardtops are at least $3000. These prices include dealer suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Transportation charges, state and local taxes, accessories and optional equipment additional.

Fine Adaptation Of Miller Play

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The end of a man when his dream world is shattered was powerfully depicted Sunday night in CBS-TV's fine adaptation of Arthur Miller's famous "Death of a Salesman."

In two hours of tense, even painful drama—we watched an aging, defeated traveling salesman move inexorably to self-destruction clinging desperately to the fantasies of quick fortune, of fame, of popularity on which he built his shabby life.

Lee J. Cobb, playing the distraught Willy Loman, turned in a overwhelming performance that was as effective as his Broadway portrayal of the role 17 years ago. So was Mildred Dunnock's portrait of his loving, patient and blindly loyal wife.

The drama was related largely in flashbacks to happier days in the story of the salesman—"just a hard-working drummer" as his son screamed in his moment of truth.

Loman's grandiose dreams ballooned everything larger than reality—money he had made in the past was big, a son who had been a stock clerk was inflated to be a star salesman.

His pathetic values, mostly involving being important and well-liked, were shaken with age and faltering sales success. But the fantasies also had destroyed his two sons, Biff, 34, making $28 a week, and who was a petty thief, and Happy, a bum, braggart and liar.

George Segal and James Farentino, playing the sons, gave fine performances.

Earlier in the evening on ABC, "I Am a Soldier" was an absorbing documentary on Viet Nam. It concentrated on one company commander, a West Point graduate, for about three days of combat with the elusive Viet Cong.

We were with Capt. Theodore Danielson and some of his men in training. We went along jungle trails, avoiding booby traps and dodging sniper bullets to find and destroy a Charlie outpost.

The photography was excellent. Producer John Secondari who wrote and narrated the program has an ornate, oratorical style that seemed a little lush for the stark and grim subject matter.

Recommended tonight: "The Hill County: Lyndon Johnson's Texas," NBC, 10-11 EDT, special program in which the president of the United States conducts a tour around the country in which he was born.

Sorensen Is Seeking Nebraska Governorship

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Philip C. Sorensen, younger brother of former presidential counsel Theodore Sorensen, makes his bid for the Democratic nomination for governor in Tuesday's Nebraska primary.

The Lincoln attorney won the lieutenant governorship two years ago in his first try for public office.

He is aiming now for the office being vacated by Democrat Frank Morrison who is running for the U.S. Senate.

Sorensen has two primary opponents: Henry Ley, 62, of Wayne, who quit as state banking director to seek the nomination, and state Senator J. W. Burbach, 54, Crofton grain dealer.

On the Republican side, former Gov. Val Peterson, 62, again is seeking the office held from 1947 to 1953.

Peterson, former federal Civil Defense administrator and ambassador to Denmark, has four opponents including a hard-campaigning newcomer, Norbert T. Tieman, 41, Wausau banker; former State Normal Board President Bruce F. Hagemeister, 56, Hemingford; Henry Kuhlmann, 49, former rancher and farmer from Grand Island, and Albert E. Hahn, 52, retired Grand Island junk dealer.

When the Morrison-Sorensen combination won election in 1964, it was the first time in 30 years Democrats had taken both governorship and lieutenant governorship in Nebraska.

The Sorensen name is a political asset. Philip's father—a Republican—had been Nebraska's governor general. His brother Ted kept the name in the news as an aide to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Although the governorship contests hold the center of the stage in the primary, a heated contest appears in the offing for the Senate in the general election.

U.S. Sen. Carl Curtis, a Republican, is unopposed for the nomination. Morrison is expected to be an easy primary victor over his only Democratic opponent, power district employe Raymond Arndt of Columbus.

Krueger Trial Begins Again

DALLAS (AP)—The State of Texas was to try for the third time today to select a jury to hear the murder trial of Paul Eric Krueger, 18-year-old California youth, in connection with the shooting deaths of three fishermen.

Earlier trials at Kingsville and Brenham were curtailed because juries could not be chosen. Most prospective jurors at both proceedings were disqualified either because they said they were against capital punishment or because they had already formed opinions about the case.

The case was moved to Dallas on a change of venue motion.

Transplant Of Little Value In Allen's Cancer Case

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—"Up to the end he had a hopeful, optimistic attitude."

This was how Dr. T.E.A. von Dedenroth recalled the optimism of Robert Allen, 29, who died Sunday, ending his fight against a rare form of bone cancer.

Allen, suffering from osteogenic sarcoma, underwent a transfer of cancerous tissue with Harry T. Griffith, 63, of Flourtown, Pa., about eight weeks ago at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

Allen never knew that Griffith, a former minor league baseball player, died April 25.

Allen was admitted to a Tucson hospital Friday. Dr. von Dedenroth said the cancer had spread too far through Allen's pelvic area.

"He had been under hypnotherapy treatment," von Dedenroth said, "and thought that he had this thing licked."

The doctor said that Allen, who returned from Buffalo 12 days ago, had been under a hypnosis treatment which enabled him to develop a positive outlook toward his disease.

Even when Allen's condition worsened last week, requiring his hospitalization, he "felt he was merely recuperating from the operation," von Dedenroth said.

Thursday, when von Dedenroth realized "only a miracle" would save Allen's life, the doctor broke the news to the stricken man's wife, Anita. She has been in seclusion and under a doctor's care since.

Doctors at the Roswell Park institute said they did not think the two men had died in vain.

"The deaths of Mr. Allen and Mr. Griffith are regretted here," a spokesman at the institute said. "Both men knew that the method, at best, was highly experimental and unproven. Apparently, in these two cases, the procedure was of little value."

The spokesman said the knowledge gained from the experiments "has been beneficial" to cancer research.

Specialists hoped the transfer of cancer tissue would produce antibodies in the blood of both men and help stop the spread of cancer.

"Apparently the surgery was performed too late. There is a possibility that if they had gotten to him sooner, something might have been worked out," von Dedenroth said.

Allen, who lost a leg last fall because of cancer, was a former football player for the University of Illinois and an award-winning insurance man.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons and a daughter.
