Debt Ceiling Hike Asked Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department asked Congress today to raise the temporary debt ceiling to $332 billion for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

The ceiling—which was raised by Congress last year to a temporary $328 billion—would drop to the permanent level of $285 billion if Congress fails to act.

Negro Need For Political Power Seen

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Negroes should forget about integration and instead work to improve their lot by organizing political parties, said the new national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"We feel that integration is irrelevant," said SNCC's Stokely Carmichael in an interview at his Atlanta office.

Twisters Strike Nation's Midriff

By The Associated Press Severe thunderstorm warnings were in effect for much of the middle Missouri Valley this morning as heavy rains, hail and tornadoes struck the nation's midsection.

Mercury Tops 100, Texas Areas Soaked

By The Associated Press Soaking rain drenched North Central and East Texas Sunday, but temperatures soared above 100 degrees at eight cities across the state.

CAB Plans Airline Fare Cut Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board indicated today it would insist that the airlines reduce fares early next year if they do not do so voluntarily.

The CAB chairman, Charles S. Murphy, said the fare reduction should apply both in the domestic and in the international areas.

Despair Noted On Streets Of Calcutta

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — This is one of the world's largest cities and it is a city in crisis — overwhelmed by runaway population, poverty, hunger, disease and illiteracy.

A third of its people live in conditions which by Western standards are unfit for human habitation.

"We're really in a race with time," one official admits. "If the race is lost, all of India will face a serious threat, experts here agree. Repercussions could be felt throughout Asia."

Bloody rioting broke out in mid-March, ostensibly over food shortages. Before the army regained control, about 30 lives had been lost, and millions of dollars worth of property — mostly government — had been burned or otherwise destroyed.

Local resources such as taxes are insufficient; administrative ability is skimpy.

Even nature is working against Calcutta. The harbor, a major trade link between East and West, is silted up; and the flow of fresh water into the Hooghly River is diverting into other branches of the mighty Ganges.

"Given the resources of the area, the city is faced with a hopeless task," was the grim resume of one qualified observer.

Rebellion Against Ky Ends In S. Viet Nam

Escapes Serious Injury

A Webb Air Force Base man received abrasions Sunday evening when his motorcycle, lower center, was in collision with the car above at FM 700 and Wasson Road.

Cycle Rider Not Seriously Hurt Sunday

A collision between a motorcycle and a car Sunday evening at FM 700 and Wasson Road left a Webb Air Force Base man with contusions and abrasions, according to Webb officials.

Police said the accident was between a motorcycle driven by 24-year-old Ervey John Henderson, Webb AFB, and a car driven by Eugene H. Halfmann, 3704 Calvin, about 7:10 p.m.

The motorcycle was traveling east on FM 700 and the car was going west on FM 700, turning south onto Wasson Road, which intersects the farm-market road near the Park Hill Terrace Apartments, officers said.

Point of impact was the car's left front fender and the center of the cycle's left side, officers noted.

Henderson was taken to the base hospital, where his condition was reported as good this morning.

Senator Raps Ike's Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy declared today it "would be a terrible mistake" for the United States to heed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion for the possible U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons to European allies.

In an interview, the New York Democrat said "it would be a betrayal of our responsibility, which is greater than any other nation's since we created nuclear weapons, to spread them to other countries."

Others object. In separate interviews, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, former chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, also voiced objections to the Eisenhower suggestion.

Eisenhower, in a letter made public Saturday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Ednam F. Kelly, D-N.Y., called for a "drastic" revision of the Atomic Energy Act that banned the transfer of nuclear weapons to other nations.

The former commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrote that he feels "we should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments, under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

But Hickenlooper said he is "against selling or delivery of nuclear weapons to any other nation" and added: "Just as a bald proposition I would be against it."

Symington said he thinks the Soviet Union would respond to any U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons by pulling out of negotiations for a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

Deferment Quiz Turnout Light

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some school officials say the light turnout for the second session of the draft deferment quiz may be a result of draft director Lewis B. Hershey's statement that few college students will be drafted unless the monthly draft quota jumps over 30,000 men.

Supply ample. Hershey said there are enough nonstudents and college dropouts to fill current military needs. Next month's quota was set at 15,000 men and the list has jumped over 30,000 only twice this year, in January and in May.

One official who linked the light turnout to Hershey's speech was James C. Windsor, dean of students at Christopher Newport College, Newport News, Va., where only five of a scheduled 222 took the test.

Revolt Crushed, Discord Remains

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The rebellion against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky in Da Nang collapsed today, giving the military junta uncontested control of the nation's second largest city.

Some 400 rebel troops streamed out of Da Nang's Tinh Hoi pagoda and gave up their weapons to an overwhelming ring of loyal marines and 13 armored cars which slowly had tightened the stranglehold on the Buddhist stronghold.

About 400 other antigovernment soldiers and armed insurgents gave up Sunday.

Called leader. Among those captured was Da Nang's mayor, Dr. Nguyen Van Man, who was pictured as a prime mover in the revolt. Ky threatened to execute Dr. Man last month as a Communist plotter but later backed away from the threat.

The commander of Ky's Da Nang task force, Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, said the physician-mayor had been taken when he tried to flee the pagoda. He was flown to Saigon.

By crushing the Da Nang revolt in a week-long campaign of attrition and force, Ky took a major step toward reasserting the U.S.-backed government's authority in the northern provinces. But Ky still faced major opposition in Hue, the other Buddhist power center 50 miles northwest of Da Nang, and in Saigon itself.

Terrorism charged. Twenty civilian and military leaders in Hue issued a proclamation charging the junta with using "terrorism, bombing and slaughter" to repress the people of the northern provinces and establish dictatorial rule over them. They also said they would boycott a national congress in Saigon Tuesday called by the government to discuss the country's deep political divisions.

Ky gave no indication whether he would move against Hue, where the Buddhist-controlled radio has been predicting a government invasion since the premier sent 2,500 loyal marines and paratroops to Da Nang eight days ago.

Two hours of anti-American rioting erupted in Saigon outside the main Buddhist Institute after a mysterious shot killed a Vietnamese private as a U.S. military convoy passed by. Egged on by shouts that the Americans had killed the soldier, a mob of youths burned a U.S. military truck and a Jeep.

Youths scream. "Burn American cars! Kill Americans!" the youths screamed. A toothless old woman spat on an American correspondent.

The youths roughed up the jeep's driver, Capt. Earl R. Keeler of Glen Burnie, Md., but he took refuge in a nearby command post for Korean, Australian and other allied troops.

After two hours 1,000 Vietnamese marines and paratroops scattered the mob, hurling tear gas and firing automatic weapons into the air.

There were conflicting versions on the origin of the shot that killed the Vietnamese soldier, a bicycle messenger. Buddhist monks said a GI had killed the Vietnamese. Some U.S. sources said the shot was fired by a Vietnamese guard with the convoy, but other American accounts of the incident did not say whether an American or a Vietnamese fired the shot or whether it came from another source.

Congressmen Eye October Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little floor action is expected this week in Congress but its committees will continue to grind away at legislation that may keep senators and House members in Washington until early fall.

Leaders now are hoping for adjournment by October, a month before the congressional elections.

Foreign aid. Major committee activity this week centers on the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees. The Senate committee gets a closed briefing today from State and Defense Department officials. Both committees resume consideration Tuesday of the annual foreign aid bill.

Legislation to regulate traffic in cats and dogs used for experimental purposes will come before the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday.

Drug hearings. Two Senate committees, Judiciary and Government Operations, have scheduled hearings on use of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

The House Government Operations Committee will delve into such matters as drug safety, personality testing of government employees and creation of a department of transportation.

The House Judiciary Committee resumes hearings Tuesday on new civil rights legislation, while the Ways and Means Committee starts hearings today on the administration's request for an increase in the national debt limit.

Emergency proclaimed. A state of emergency was proclaimed in Britain today, giving the government sweeping powers to keep essential supplies flowing during the national maritime strike.

The proclamation was signed at Buckingham Palace by Queen Elizabeth II and read shortly afterward in the House of Commons.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House the first move by the government was to assume powers to put ceiling prices on food.

So far there has been no sense of emergency in the nation as a result of the week-old strike of the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen. Food prices are only a few pennies higher. But the port of London now is almost choked with strike-bound shipping, and the government moved before the situation could degenerate into widespread shortage.

Latin America Is Target Of Cuban Hatred

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba has intensified a campaign of hate against Latin America since the January Tricontinental Conference of Communist revolutionary leaders in Havana.

At the same time, there has been no letup in the propaganda barrage against "Yankee imperialism."

Government-controlled news media — newspapers, magazines, television and radio — have been devoting an increasing amount of space and broadcasting time to ridiculing elections, reforms, governmental changes, new laws and prospective projects of Latin American countries.

CONDEMN LEADERS

Communist party speakers at mass gatherings condemn President Eduardo Frei of Chile, and ridicule the "gorilla government" of Humberto Castello Branco of Brazil. They envisage ties between imperialism and Raul Leoni of Venezuela, and tell of "the vacillations by weak-willed President Arturo Illia of Argentina."

Much of the vilification is thought to be angry reaction to sharp protests and criticism by Latin leaders of the Tricontinental Conference resolutions in support of armed "liberation struggles" throughout the hemisphere.

The organization of American States — OAS — is a favorite target of Cuba's bitter-tongued propagandists.

ABHOR OAS

They picture OAS delegates as lackeys of the United States who are always quarreling among themselves.

Inter-American meetings in Panama and Buenos Aires, which sought to improve trade relations, are reported by Cuban news media as total disasters which resulted in splitting the United States from its Latin neighbors. So are alliance for progress efforts.

Recent elections in Colombia and Guatemala were described as a farce.

WHIPPING BOY

Chile's Frei is a favorite whipping boy in the Communist press. Since he denounced the Tricontinental gathering and Cuba as being responsible for Chile's political and labor unrest, he has been getting it from all sides. Sensationalized versions of his political life, slanted news stories telling of his dealings with United States copper companies in Chile and cartoons picturing him as a slave to Uncle Sam appear in newspapers and magazines.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro has twice devoted long speeches and communique to blasting the Chilean president.

One of the few countries not coming in for the mixture of acid comment and sarcasm is Mexico.

JUDY ANN BOX CYNTHIA ANN CONNER KANDY LYNN PHILLIPS

Beauties Vie For Top Spot

Fourteen pretty Texas girls have been selected to compete in the Miss Wool of Texas contest today in Dallas at the Apparel Mart.

From this area the four selected were Judy Ann Box, San Angelo; Cynthia Ann Conner, Fort Stockton; Kandy Lynn Phillips, Junction; and Esther Jeanne Wright, Big Lake.

Co-sponsors of the contest are the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and Texas Fashion Creators Association.

The winner will tour the state as a feature model and will receive a complete wool and mohair wardrobe and accessories. She will also compete in the Miss Wool of America Pageant in San Angelo in 1967.

Miss Box is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burrell Box in San Angelo. She is a freshman at Angelo State College, and is an active member of the First Baptist Church. She works part-time as a secretary for her father.

Miss Conner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan B. Conner of Fort Stockton. She is a freshman at Texas Tech, and she was a high school drum major and twirler. She is now serving as Miss Fort Stockton Lions District sweetheart.

Miss Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Phillips, Junction, was Miss Wool and Mohair of Kimble County last year and was a competitor in the Pecan Queen Contest.

Miss Wright, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jack L. Wright, Big Lake, is a freshman at the University of Texas, Austin, majoring in clothing textiles and fashion design. She was the first runner-up in the Miss West Texas pageant, and has done fashion and photographic modeling over West Texas.

A LOVELIER YOU Good Hair Demands Summertime Care

You may elect to wear your hair long and straight this summer. Or in a toss of wavelets, close to the head. Or anywhere betwixt and between. Hair fashions appear to be limitless. So, to each her own!

Your hair—the fabric of your hairdo—will not let you off so easy, however. It demands special care in summer. For then it is liable to more abuse from natural causes than at other seasons. Sun, heat, humidity and perspiration are an enormous drain on the hair's manageability and vitality. If you wish to avoid trouble, and of course you do, use these tactics as they best:

Shampoo dry or normal hair once weekly, oily hair at least twice a week. Wash a head that perspires excessively every third day with a deodorant shampoo. For ailing hair, add conditioning treatments to shampoos.

Refresh the scalp between shampoos with herbal tonic. So as not to disturb sets, apply it directly to scalp with an eyedropper.

Brush night and morning. This helps to air and cleanse, as well as stimulate.

Avoid overexposures to sun. Short exposures somewhat benefit oily locks. Tinted, white and dry hair should never be exposed—never.

Wear a cap when swimming and immediately rinse out salt or chlorinated water that may seep beneath.

Groom your tresses, as necessary, with pomade and spray. That is, if you like to play it real cool!

What's your hair problem? RULE WAVES

You'll find a way to overcome it in my 16-page booklet, RULE YOUR WAVES. Advice includes: beauty treatments for oily, dry, and normal hair; ways to manage unruly locks; how to add color and highlights; tips on cutting, permanents and styling; grooming tricks. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald for your copy, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

High Tallies Given For Two Games

Results have been announced for duplicate bridge games held Friday at Big Spring Country Club. North-south winners were Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers, first; Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. J. H. Fish, second; and Mrs. Glen Cox and Mrs. J. C. Greenhaw, third.

East-west winners were Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, first; Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr. and Mrs. Jack Irons, second; and Mrs. E. M. Bunn and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, third.

During Master Point games played Sunday afternoon at Cosden Country Club, Mrs. J. J. Havens and Mrs. Ray McMahen placed first. Other winners were Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, second; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Tom South, third; Mrs. Slate and Mrs. Ron Kibler, fourth; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steyer, fifth.

Stares OK For Short Skirts?

LONDON (AP) — As skirts go up-up-up in Britain, the public is divided on whether to stare.

Even in the chilly, damp sunless weather of the early English spring, the skirts of many girls average four inches above the knee.

Some are five and six above.

When a Yorkshire factory overseer complained that production was dropping because the men spent too much time looking at young Kathleen Yorke's short, short skirt, Kathleen said, "The men shouldn't stare."

The Daily Sketch asked its readers for comment, noting that fashion experts predict skirts this summer will be shorter than ever. The paper was swamped with replies.

"Can anything be more soothing after a hard days work at the office than a row of shapely legs in the train home?" wrote John Wright of Orpington, Kent.

"Britain is depraved enough without having girls going about half dressed," H. G. Jenner, Elythe, Northumberland, commented.

Said J. M. Hampstead of London: "All I can say is, three cheers for the fashion designers. How could they do more? They give the girls the fashions they want. And, let's face it, they give us men one of the prettiest sights in the streets for years."

A restaurant in nearby Amersham refused to admit Pat Gadd, 17, because her skirt was too short.

"When this young lady came into my restaurant I was flabbergasted," said Margaret Fox, 62.

Dear Abby

Parents' Mistake

DEAR ABBY: I am MAD at you. Yes, MAD, MAD, MAD! I just got through telling my daughter that she is not to associate with children of divorced parents, and then you come along and say people who think that way are ignorant! Well, I am not ignorant. I am a college-educated Christian woman, married 25 years. If people want to get divorced and drag themselves in the mud, let them associate with their own kind. There is no parental supervision in broken homes. The mother is either out working or is too dead tired to care where her children are.

And daddy is either honeymooning with his new wife, or out drunk with his girl friend. And meanwhile, the kids are running wild. No, I don't want my children associating with children whose parents are divorced. And if this warps them to tears, I am glad. Maybe it will make them think twice about what divorce can do.

FOR MORALITY

DEAR FOR: So you would punish kids for the mistakes and misdeeds of their parents. You are indeed "mad."

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a college-educated couple who, instead of hiring a sitter for their three-year-old son, take him wherever they are invited? I don't mean to a casual bridge evening, but to a late dinner party to which six other couples had been invited. We don't have extra bedrooms as yet, and Mr. and Mrs. X show up at the door with their Bobby all ready for bed. (Our bed!) They didn't ask us if we minded, nor did they make any excuses for bringing him.

Naturally, the child fusses a little, being in a strange bed and all, and his parents take turns running in and humoring him, which disrupts the entire party. These people can afford a sitter just like the rest of us, but they have taken the child with them ever since he was a month old. Any comments?

PARTY SPOILED

DEAR SPOILED: If this couple spoiled ONE of your parties, shame on them. If they spoiled TWO, shame on YOU. Your complaints are valid, but if you want action, you'd better address them to the offending couple.

... Not Quite Quiet Enough

BEAUMONT (AP) — Pool players, it seems, have the same penchant for quiet during a game as golf bugs.

Two men were shooting pool in a local tavern when an argument erupted. One player, his concentration interrupted, threw a punch—and a couple of pool balls. His opponent retaliated by cracking a pool cue over the first combatant's head. He, in turn, had a beer bottle broken over his own head by the first.

Eight stitches were required to close the wound in the head of the pool cue victim. Ten were required for his opponent.

They refused to press charges against one another.

Whooper Diet Habits Bared

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP) — It took a cold spell to give wildlife experts some diet data on the rare whooping cranes.

Northern that swept last winter over the Aransas National wildlife refuge chilled the shallow bays so that the rare birds' favorite shell fish moved into deeper and warmer waters.

The whoopers promptly switched their dining to agricultural test plots on the refuge and feasted on everything from sweet potatoes to cow peas, with grain sprouts for relish and peanuts for dessert.

Four Awards For Dick Van Dyke Show

Writer Bill Persky, producer Carl Reiner, actress Mary Tyler Moore, actor Dick Van Dyke and writer Sam Denoff display Emmy awards they won in Hollywood last night for their part in the Dick Van Dyke Show. Van Dyke and Miss Moore won for leading actor and actress performances. The writers were honored for two episodes of the series, and Reiner got his Emmy for producing the winning series. An Emmy was presented each writer, because they work as a team on the show. (AP WIREPHOTO)

'Highest Honors' Program Better Than 1965 Version

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television industry's highest honors, its Emmy awards, were passed out Sunday night in traditional show business fashion on CBS. It was a better program than last year's but it still lacked the glamor and excitement of the movies' Oscar show.

Because television, unlike motion pictures, is a two-coast business, there were assemblages in both Hollywood and New York and the show bounced back and forth between them. Danny Kaye and Bill Cosby, West and East Coast masters of ceremonies, kept the jokes short and the recipients on the move.

LION'S SHARE
"The Dick Van Dyke Show," which has concluded its run, and Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theater, came off with the lion's share of the awards — four each.

Van Dyke, costar Mary Tyler Moore, the show's writers and the program itself were chosen in various categories. The Bob Hope show awards were for outstanding directorial achievement, Sidney Pollack for "The Game"; outstanding single performance by an actress in a leading dramatic role, Simone Signoret in "A Small Rebellion"; best actor, Cliff Robertson in "The Game," and for the series as a whole, Bob Hope, executive producer.

"The Fugitive," another well-done and long-running series, was picked as the best dramatic series. Barbara Stanwyck received a tremendous hand when she received her award as outstanding actress in a series, and so did Cosby, a night club comedian turned television hero. Miss Stanwyck stars in "The Big Valley" and Cosby is a co-star of "I Spy."

FOUR POSTHUMOUS
Two awards went to talented persons who died during the season. David Llewellyn received an award for his fine "KKK — The Invisible Empire," chosen as the season's best documentary in spite of the fact that CBS, the network on which it was broadcast, did not enter shows in its news division. Alice Pearce, who played a supporting role in

EVENING'S HIGHLIGHTS

Emmy Award Show Spurs Own Drama

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The expiring Dick Van Dyke Show triumphantly collecting four more Emmys. Negro Bill Cosby thanking NBC for having "the guts" to star him. Winner Barbara Stanwyck fighting back tears.

These were among highlights of Sunday night's Television Academy Awards, a slow-paced show that nevertheless developed its own drama.

There was pathos when Paul Davis, art-gallery owner, accepted an award for his wife Alice Pearce who played comic neighbor Gladys on the "Bewitched" series and died of cancer a few months ago.

"I ask you to join me in a toast to a wonderful actress, a great human being and the most delicious wife a man could've had," he said.

The nationally televised program was presented from Hollywood and New York. In New York, an award to David Lowe, producer of "KKK—The Invisible Empire," was accepted by his widow, columnist Harriet Van Horne.

The Van Dyke show tied with the Chrysler Theater, the latter including Bob Hope's Christmas special, for the most awards—four.

The Van Dyke program brought Emmys to its stars, Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore; its producer, Carl Reiner; and the writers of its "Coast-to-Coast Big Mouth" episode last September 15, Bill Persky and Sam Denoff.

Producer Reiner, accepting his Emmy, paid tribute to the show's crew and cast, including Rose Marie and Morey Amsterdam, in the Hollywood audience.

Backstage, he recalled that the show was canceled after its first year, but that executive producer Sheldon Leonard talked New York executives into renewing it. Sunday night's awards brought the show's total in five years, he said, to 16 Emmys.

Van Dyke has won three Emmys, Miss Moore two.

HAPPIEST YEARS
Miss Moore thanked everybody connected with the show for "five of the happiest years of my life."

Dick said he keeps his Emmys "on a mantel in my bedroom—where I can see 'em." The program wasn't canceled for next fall, he said. "We on the show decided that five years was a good round number and to quit before we wore out our welcome."

By networks, the breakdown of Emmy awards was NBC 20, CBS 14, ABC 9.

"Batman" (Adam West) and "Robin" (Burt Ward) presented the award for continued performance by a leading actor in a dramatic series. "Holy suspense," cried Ward.

Winner Cosby said, "I extend my hand to a man by the name of Robert Culp (his costar in "I Spy"). He lost this because he helped me." Culp also was a nominee.

An NBC source said Culp tutored comedian Cosby as an actor at the series' beginning. Culp also wrote six of the "I Spy" scripts, including the first, in which he gave Cosby the lead.

VERGE OF TEARS
The gray-haired Miss Stanwyck, radiant and emotional in a coral lace-beaded gown, said backstage she didn't get up immediately when her name was announced because "I thought they said Barbara Parkins (star of the Peyton Place series). Yes, I was on the verge of tears. I really did not expect it this year."

Cliff Robertson, winning for a single performance in "The Game," on the Chrysler Theater, said, "I feel I'm the luckiest actor in town and certainly the happiest."

She won her Emmy as the mother of a rich family in the old West on ABC's "The Big Valley."

Jittery Don Knotts, winning a supporting Emmy for "The Return of Barney Fife" on the Andy Griffith show last Jan. 10, exclaimed: "Well, I really am surprised. Would you believe this?" The Emmy was his branch of our profession."

A Devotional For The Day

For this child I prayed; and the Lord hath given me my petition which I asked of him; therefore also I have lent him to the Lord; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the Lord. (1 Samuel 1:27-28)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, channel our thoughts, our actions and our prayers that we may transmit the vision we cherish to others that they may become useful in service to Thee. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Biting Hand That Feeds Them

It may be that the South Vietnamese people do not know what they are doing. It is even possible that they do not care. But the rising anti-American demonstrations, culminating in the loss of a U.S. observation plane from South Vietnam "rebel" gunfire, has already had seriously adverse effects on U.S. public opinion.

Until recently the prevailing public consensus supporting our effort in Viet Nam had been well established by President Johnson and the majority of Congress. The people generally are much less than enthusiastic over the loss of life and treasure. But they have accepted and supported the administration argument that since we are in Viet Nam, we must see it through.

But the American people share a very human trait: They want their sacrifices in men and money to be appreciated. If they feel, as many of them do now, that our efforts are not being appreciated, then public revulsion can come very quickly indeed.

If public opinion no longer supports the operation in Viet Nam, the pressure for us to get out may prove to be irresistible, no matter what the consequences are. The shift of public opinion, too, could have an almost opposite effect, one enunciated recently by Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, one of the most powerful and respected men in the Senate. Russell suggested that the time had just about come for the U.S. to win in Viet Nam or get out. The danger of "either, or" is the massive widening of the conflict to North Viet Nam, risking eventual war with Red China.

It is quite probable that most Vietnamese cannot imagine the effect of public opinion in a democratic society. Certainly public opinion—if such ever existed in Viet Nam—has had precious little expression in the history of that country. Therefore it may be useless to try to persuade them that the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam can be brought to a halt by simple, unarmed citizens in the United States. But it should be worth a try. They should realize that their cause is in grave jeopardy.

Insidious Accident Factor

A highway patrol survey of fatal accidents in Arizona, has turned up some suggestive findings as to a possible contributing cause that has heretofore not received much attention. A high percentage of drivers in the fatal accidents studied had substantial amounts of carbon monoxide in their blood.

It does not follow that carbon monoxide contributed to the accident in each of these instances. There is some reason for concluding, however, that this deadly gas—especially in cases where alcohol was also present in the blood—might have been a factor. At the very least, further study of the effects of carbon monoxide, alone or in combination with alcohol, is warranted by what this limited survey showed.

Forty-seven per cent of the drivers on whom tests were made had been driving before the accident. Twenty-eight per cent of them were legally drunk. This tends to bear out the general conclusion that alcohol is an important factor in accidents.

In addition, however, 59 per cent of the drivers tested were found to have at least a 5 per cent saturation of carbon monoxide in the blood, and 22 per cent had at least a 10 per cent saturation. The effects of carbon monoxide are not precisely known. Some medical authorities believe, however, that as little as 5 per cent will affect vision. Headaches and nausea are brought on by a 10 per cent saturation, and 20 per cent causes extreme drowsiness.

Further medical study is indicated. Also, systematic inspection to check for exhaust leaks might help. Clearly, more should be known about the possible role of carbon monoxide in auto accidents.

David Lawrence Perhaps A Salutary Development

WASHINGTON — Strange things are happening and strange things are being said today that have not been heard before, but they reflect an intense feeling of concern about the course of the American government in some of the domestic policies of importance to the nation.

When the chief justice of the United States, for instance, feels that he must disregard all precedent and issue a warning against a tendency by Congress to emasculate provision of the constitution, this is a matter of profound significance.

SPEAKING ON Tuesday before the annual meeting of the American Law Institute, Chief Justice Warren expressed apprehension that some of the 30 bills being considered by Congress in connection with the civil-rights controversy "might get through and at the same time be ill-advised." He did not specify any of the proposals by name, but made this important observation:

"Some of them go a long way and may radically change the relationship between the federal and state governments."

This change, however, has been going on now for several years, and the present Supreme Court in its decisions has been responsible for some of the most significant interpretations which have brought this about.

THERE IS wide speculation in the national capital as to what particular measures the chief justice had in mind. It is assumed that he was not commenting on the objectives or even the drafts of legislation proposed thus far by the administration. One measure of which he may have been referring would give any citizen the right to go to a federal court with a complaint that racial discrimination has occurred in the selection of jurors. The federal government would then take over the selection of jurors in state and local courts "without regard to state and local laws and regulations applicable to jury selection and service." Another proposal would permit litigants in certain cases involving civil rights—particularly state prosecutions against demonstrators—to have their trials transferred from state to federal courts.

THE REAL difficulty today is that the whole issue of discrimination has gotten out of the hands of lawyers and into the political arena. Civil-rights organizations hold a club over the administration here and also over individual members of Congress because, as voters are being organized into blocs based on race or color, the natural result is for holders of the aspirants to public office to vie with each other in promising to get even extreme proposals enacted.

The administration has felt the pressures, and the Department of Justice, while it has been trying to adhere to precedents, has been unable to come up with a bill that is satisfactory to the civil-rights groups. The administration bill, for example, would require that jurors be selected from lists that include a cross-section of the community, but the selection of jurors by state authorities would not be interfered with unless it can be proved that racial discrimination has occurred. The extremists would like to have an automatic system which would allow the federal government to move in practically at will—even on suspicion of discrimination.

THERE HAVE been hints from time to time in addresses by supreme court justices that have been construed as referring to pending issues, but never has Congress been so explicitly warned as in the chief justice's speech this week.

It is rather late in the day for a warning to be delivered by a member of the court that any legislation "may radically change the relationship between the federal and state governments." As a matter of fact, the Supreme Court of the United States over the years has been gradually changing the relationship by giving the federal government an increasing amount of power.

IT MAY BE that the chief justice and his colleagues on the bench are becoming aware of the growing danger. This could be a salutary development.

James Marlow It's LBJ Vs. Critics Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sounds very tolerant towards his critics, when he's not criticizing them. He can be both tolerant and critical not only in the same week but in the same speech.

This has been going on for years because the critics have irritated him for years.

Just last week he was saying a president "will find people who differ with him, who disagree with him. We all understand that. We accept that."

BUT ALSO last week he challenged the critics of his Viet Nam policy to stop being "nervous Nellies," saying: "There will be nervous Nellies and some who become frustrated and bothered and break ranks under the strain and turn on their own leaders, their own country and their own fighting men."

It was one of his sharpest attacks on those who don't like the Vietnamese war and say so. Back in 1964, in office less than three months, Johnson combined criticism and tolerance in one speech. This was on Feb. 11, 1964.

"Regardless of what you hear," he said, "and regardless of what some of the bellyachers say, we are a much beloved people throughout the world."

HE SAID, "You will hear alarmists and people who like to jump on their government, people who like to criticize... join with some of our opponents and will be almost as much of a problem as some of our other enemies."

Then he became suddenly tolerant: "We have differences. Even in our own country we do not see everything alike. We must make allowances for the other fellow."

Three days later, speaking about U.S. problems at home and abroad, he managed the same kind of combination:

"Freedom prospers through fair discussion of honest differences. Both at home and abroad we welcome such discussion. But neither at home nor abroad is there any need for twisted arguments that would damage the good name of our country.

"THOSE WHO distort the truth to alarm the people either at home or abroad, about our capacity or our purposes will not fulfill their ambitions."

Two weeks ago one Washington reporter wrote that Johnson had accepted his "critics as a way of presidential life and muffled some of his outbursts. The anger that used to explode when Sen. J. W. Fulbright took the Senate floor with attacks on foreign policy has dissolved into a kind of sadness."

The mind-reading was a little premature. That same week in a speech at Princeton Johnson took a crack at Fulbright who had complained American foreign policy displayed an "arrogance of power."

WITHOUT MENTIONING Fulbright by name, Johnson said the exercise of power in this century meant for the United States "not arrogance but agony."

Hal Boyle Change Six Times

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are under 25, chances are that you'll change jobs six times during your lifetime. Even men between 35 and 44 average two more changes before retirement.

Accidents are by far the biggest killers of children. Each year they take the lives of more children between one and 14 than the five leading diseases combined. Up to age six, one of every four children is hurt in a household accident.

Want a placid life? You might start by painting your living room orange. Tests show that this color appears to have the least effect in stirring people's emotions.

Don't forget to bring your own salt if Jean Paul Getty, the billionaire, invites you to dinner. He doesn't keep any on his table—just superstitions.

Quotable notables: "The greatest problem of Western civilization is that it is breeding from the bottom and dying from the top." — Will Durant.

No one who has ever visited the West Coast film colony will be surprised at this: Beverly Hills tops all other communities in phones — it has 130 for every 100 residents.

At last there's a legal $3 bill. It is being issued this week by the Bahamas, which is switching from Britain's traditional pounds, shillings and pence to decimal-based currency. Bahamians also will make change with a new 15-cent square coin and a $5 silver piece, largest metal coin in this hemisphere.

If you have a weak stomach, perhaps you'd better cancel any ambition to become one of the first settlers on the moon. Among the foods being considered for these pioneers are algae and tiny fresh water fleas, which reproduce quickly and are rich in protein and carbohydrates.

History lesson: Can you name the first president of the 48 states? He was William Howard Taft, whose administration was ending as Arizona became the 48th state on Feb. 14, 1912.

It was Heywood Brown who observed, "the only real argument for marriage is that it remains the best method for getting acquainted."

To Your Good Health Bronchiectasis And What To Do About It

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: I wish you would write about bronchiectasis. — D. A.

This is a disorder of the bronchial tubes, which become dilated (perhaps only in certain areas) and infected. The dilation allows a pudding of mucus and pus. The result is a chronic cough with foul-smelling phlegm. Bronchiectasis also is the commonest cause of blood-tinged sputum. (This condition also can, obviously, be a factor in bad breath.)

As with other ailments, it can be mild or severe, but certainly the former should be treated to prevent it from becoming worse. Without treatment it can be expected to do this.

Cough, examination of the lungs with stethoscope and percussion (as when the doctor taps on your chest) and the patient's history give ready clues to the presence of bronchiectasis. Duration of the cough, when it started, and the sounds from the lungs are all indicative.

The most specific proof, however, rests in X-ray studies. An iodized oil is instilled into the bronchial system to make the dilated tubes clearly visible.

From the patient's standpoint cough, fever, fatigue, loss of appetite and weight can be evidence of bronchiectasis. Since all of these can result from other conditions, obviously you must leave the diagnosis to your physician. But when such signs occur, it is time to find out the cause.

Bronchiectasis can affect the young as well as the old, and the inbetweens, but at any age it is well to keep strongly in mind that smoking aggravates the situation.

Basic treatment consists of the use of antibiotics to subdue infection and measures to help drainage of the clogged tubes. Inverted posture, that is with the shoulders lower than the hips, helps drainage of the phlegm. Drugs to loosen the sticky secretions also are effective in clearing the bronchial tubes.

In severe cases, segments of the affected lung or lungs may be removed, which can effect a cure of the problem.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and wonder if polish kills growth of the nails. My parents think it does. Some people blame the polish remover. They say polish hardens the nails and makes them grow. I would like to know if this is true. — A. B. It seems to me that everybody is misleading you, innocently, I am sure. Rate of growth of nails, as of hair, varies from one person to another.

Polish itself probably does no harm, and certainly doesn't alter nail growth.

Polish remover doesn't seem to bother most people, but it can alter the characteristics of the nails if people happen to have soft or fragile nail structure to start with.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Wanna Be A Waitress?

Those cartoons you see in which customers venture into a restaurant and have to trip a waiter (or waitress) in order to get some attention don't tickle the funny-bone of the average cafe manager.

No where is the shortage of skilled workers in evidence like it is in the field of those who wait on restaurant customers.

Cafe operatives complain they cannot get competent help and those persons they do hire are not prone to remain with one job very long.

SOME EATING establishments, and this is especially true in the metropolitan areas, run advertisements daily in newspapers which state, in substance:

"Waitresses Wanted. Good Pay." Management insists that the girls can earn over $100 weekly for such chores. But, the bosses add, the waitresses are apt to work just long enough to get a few bucks ahead, then quit simply by phoning in or not showing up at all.

THE WAITRESSES, on the other hand, present a good argument. They insist the base pay in most cafes does not exceed $20 a week. They're expected to make up the difference in tips. "It's hard work," they'll tell you. "The base pay is low... and the tips are lousy. We're lucky to carry home as much as $10 a day. We work about ten hours a day six days a week. If we average a dollar an hour, we're lucky."

IN ADDITION to their problem of trying to make ends meet, the girls must try to charm the customers, a lot of times when they don't feel like it. An element of the clientele which takes its meals in public places, to be frank, give the waitresses a bad time.

If they don't try to date the girls, some are prone to make remarks that would knock the enamel off a Sherman tank.

THE PROBLEM is apt to get worse before it gets better, too. The result could be higher food prices in restaurants.

Unemployment pay is too easy to get, some of the restaurant chieftains grumble. Interpreted, they mean that a girl will find she will not just about as much by getting a check from the state as she can by working, and run a lot less risk of getting bunions.

Holmes Alexander The Liberal Press Reacts

WASHINGTON—Professor Pavlov's dogs, as everybody knows, were "reflex-conditioned" to salivate at the ringing of a bell, but these canines have nothing on the liberal press at the mention of certain proper names. For example, you can count upon it that the "Washington Post" and the pro-Communist "National Guardian" will foam at the mouth whenever Democratic Senator James Eastland of Mississippi edges into the news.

SOMETIMES the effects are funny. In his capacity as Judiciary Committee chairman, Eastland introduced a bill on April 19 to restrict foreign travel, such as recent trips to Cuba and North Viet Nam by pro-Communist Americans. He told the Senate why his bill was necessary. Several court decisions have rendered the State Department helpless to enforce its present regulations or to punish the violators. Within a few days of Eastland's speech, there were these fulminations:

WASHINGTON POST: Eastland "has come up with a dandy little scheme for converting the land of the free into one vast continental concentration camp... a wire fence around the American frontier..."

National Guardian: "All the bars are now down," wailed Sen. James O. Eastland (D. Miss.),... a leading segregationist..."

But on May 5 another such bill, a little stronger than Eastland's, was introduced by Rep. Wayne Hays (D. Ohio) at the request of the State Department—and it got almost no attention.

IT'S FUNNY that a bill by Eastland, "segregationist," set off hydrophobic reactions about "a concentration camp" and a "wire fence," whereas Secretary Rusk's bill, introduced at his request by an accredited liberal, Wayne Hays, could hardly earn a line of print.

Funnier yet, Eastland's measure is designed to leave travel restriction to the discretion of the President, whereas Rusk's proposal would freeze into law the State Department regulations which the courts have thus far nullified as being contrary to liberty. If there's any difference in the infringement upon our right to travel, the senator is the liberal in his discretionary approach, and the secretary is the reactionary in his reliance upon discredited legislation.

EASTLAND WOULD provide a law under which the President could name certain areas of the world where it would be against the national interests for Americans to travel without "written authorization" of an exit permit. If the Americans were reporters, scientists or legitimate businessmen, they would not be denied permission. If they were agitators against our foreign policy in time of international crisis, they would be restricted and punished for any violation.

RUSK WOULD accomplish the same necessary restriction by another approach. His bill would spell out limited circumstances under which a passport could be denied or revoked, and would provide punishment for violation. The chief difference is that Eastland would prevent undesirables from going into trouble spots by requiring the use of an exit permit, and Rusk would do it by revising the passport laws.

The difference is slight, but the reaction makes the story. When Eastland bills a traveling subversive, that's news—but the secretary can chew on the same leg and nobody seems to notice.

Sam Dawson Boom In Spring Lull

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of living is out of step with other economic signposts. Just when everyone is being assured that most indicators point to a slowing down of the economic boom, the consumer price index takes off on its own. And the direction is upward at a pace unequalled in 15 years.

SUCH THINGS as new orders for manufacturers of durable goods may be down from earlier in the year—the cost of living isn't. The index of industrial production may be advancing at a less hectic pace than a couple of months back. What matters to most families is that its dollars don't buy as much.

Economists are quick to point out that the course of the economy, as measured in industrial statistics, changes well before prices of consumer goods and services are likely to. But many a nonstatistician will be wondering if that's any assurance that the cost of living is going to turn down if you just give it time.

AND THE statisticians and the economists aren't too sure that it is. They also aren't too sure that the business boom is really turning down now, instead of just having a passing spell of spring fever. Or the economy might, for all they know, be having another of its rolling recessions. That is, auto sales may be off from their peak right now, but the sales of other consumer industries may keep rolling along at high speed.

They probably will as long as the public goes on buying in quantity. And despite some fluctuations in retail sales which could be temporary and seasonal, the public still seems to be spending freely, if switching from some products to others.

HIGH-SPENDING consumers, high employment, rising production costs, and the increasing demand of defense and civilian industries for materials and goods and services—all contribute to the trend toward higher living costs.

The cold statistics from the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that its consumer price index in April rose to a record 112.5 per cent of the 1957-59 average. The jump over the March figure was four-tenths of one per cent. But the eye opener was that the three-month advance was 1.4 per cent, the highest for any January to April period since 1951, when the Korean War was in full swing.

IN APRIL food didn't get the blame, for a change. The price of food was officially described as leveling off. The big jump was in services, housing, transportation, clothing and medical costs made the biggest advance in April.

And the increased cost of these items seems, at first glance, to bear little relation to the statistic reports that show housing starts to be in the doldrums, auto sales to be less exuberant than in March, and the orders for new durable goods—consumer or industrial—to be lower in volume.

ONE MONTH doesn't make a trend—whether it be in the cost of living or the statistical course of the economy. And right now this is especially true because so much of the current picture could be changed—or could be already in the process of changing—because of the Viet Nam war.

But for most people the sad fact may just be this: the dollar doesn't go as far as it did only a while back.

A Speedup

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Its computers, fast as they are, can be made to go faster, says Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

The company has announced a computer that will work 100 times as fast as those presently operating. The development employs a coaxial-type packaging, similar to television cable, which allows the computer's logic circuitry to amplify current 20 times, at speeds five times faster than previously realized.

The new method allows the switching operations, that occur when a number of circuits are fed into a single circuit at high speeds, to be performed in one and one-quarter-billionths of a second.

Trot Limit

TORRINGTON, Conn. (AP)—It's still against the law here for anyone to drive a horse faster than an ordinary trot or 10 miles per hour,

BUZ SAWYER

BUT GEN, TAM IS IN HANOI, I'M HIS EXECUTIVE OFFICER, SURELY, CDR. SAWYER, YOU CAN GIVE ME YOUR MESSAGE.

SORRY, COL. GO, I'M INSTRUCTED TO TALK ONLY TO GENERAL TAM.

OH, YOU HAVE INSTRUCTIONS? YOU'VE BEEN PURPOSELY SENT TO SEE THE GENERAL. HOW INTERESTING! HOW VERY INTERESTING!

NOW, CDR. SAWYER, SUPPOSE YOU SAVE YOURSELF A LOT OF TROUBLE AND GIVE ME THAT INFORMATION.

SORRY, AS A PRISONER, I CAN GIVE ONLY MY NAME, RANK AND SERIAL NUMBER.

GASOLINE ALLEY

Restless, Judy? Is Junior acting up?

I keep wondering why anyone would open a well and deal it back up again!

You're making something out of nothing! It's just an innocent little patch!

If it's so innocent, Gideon, why did they try to hide it with that big cupboard?

You've been reading too many murder mysteries!

NANCY

AUNT FRITZI! I WASHED THE MOP AND PUT IT IN THE WINDOW TO DRY.

ANYTHING ELSE YOU WANT ME TO DO?

THERE SURE IS.

FILL UP POOCHIE'S WATER BOWL.

LI'L ABNER

YOU CLAIMED THAT UNINHABITED ISLAND FOR THE U.S.A, I HOPE!

OH, Y-YES, SIR! B-BUT IT WASN'T EXACTLY UNINHABITED!

THAT "UGH!" WAS UNAMERICAN! REMEMBER WHAT SHE SAYS "GIVE ME YOUR TRENCH COAT-THE WRETCHED REFUSE--"

IF ONLY THEY WERE MERELY "WRETCHED REFUSE" SIR--BUT THEY'RE LOWEST SLOBBOVIAN!! UGH!!

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD WAKE UP-- IT'S TIME TO GET UP!

IT'S NOT TIME TO GET UP-- IT'S JUST TWO AM.

OH, MY GOODNESS!

I'M SORRY, DEAR... I MUST'VE BEEN DREAMING.

I WISH SHE WOULDN'T GET ME INVOLVED IN HER DREAMS LIKE THAT!

RICK O'SHAY

BAM! BAM! BAM!

HOWS THE PRACTICE GOIN', HISSHOT?

NOT BARE KICK--

AH AIN'T READY FOR NO CONCERT YET BUT AH COULD GIVE A RECITAL.

SNUFFY SMITH

GUESS WHAT HAPPEN TO "THE BIG AXE" LAST NIGHT, CALEB.

YOU MEAN THAT INFUNNEL REVENOGER WHAT'S BEEN CHOPPIN' UP OUR STILLS FER TH' LAST THIRTY YEARS?

YEP!! THAT'S HIM!! HE WUZ WALKIN' IN HIS SLEEP AN'--

STOP HEE-HAWIN' AN' TELL IT!!

-- AN' AFORE HE WOKE UP HE'D CHOPPED TH' RADIATOR OFFN' HIS CAR!!

KERRY DRAKE

Nickey Bonn, USING THE NAME NOLA BARNES, HAS SWIFTLY OVERCOME "LITTLE" FANNY'S ANNOYANCES AT AN UNWELCOME VISITOR.

SAY... YOU'RE REAL PRETTY NOW!

I'M AN APRIL FOOL, TOO, MR. BONN. I DON'T KNOW MUCH ABOUT JAZZ-- AND I'M NOT REALLY A FAN OF YOUR NEWSPAPER CHORDS!

BUT I DIDGEE YOUR ONE-BAR SMOKE LAST NIGHT, AND I LIKED IT SO MUCH, I DECIDED TO TRICK YOU INTO ASKING TO PAINT ME!

BUT YOU'RE SUCH A SWEET GUY, NOW I'M ABASHED OF MYSELF! SO, IF YOU'LL HANG ME MY COAT--

NO! WAIT, MISS BARNES!... I... I'D LIKE VERY MUCH TO HAVE YOU FOR ME!

BETLE BAILEY

THANKS FOR YOUR HELP, CHAPLAIN.

THAT'S WHAT I'M HERE FOR, BETLE, TO HELP OTHERS.

BUT TRY TO STAY OUT OF TROUBLE IN THE FUTURE. YOU WERE JUST LUCKY I WAS AROUND TODAY.

HOW'D THE FIGHT START, ANYWAY?

PEANUTS

YOU IN CASE OF A FOUL BALL, GIVE OFF YOUR MASK AND CATCH IT.

POW!

IN ALL THE TIME WE'VE BEEN PLAYING, I'VE NEVER SEEN A FOUL BALL...

DICK TRACY

MR. BRIBERY! HE CAN'T STAND BLOOD.

SIT DOWN, UGLY CHRISTINE, I'LL GET SOME WARM WATER AND BANDAGES.

I GET SHOT AND HE FAINTS!

WHERE AM I?

MARY WORTH

AS MARY LISTENS IN STUNNED SILENCE, DENNIE REPEATS THE SOMMER NEWS....

MR. CLARK WENT TO THE HOME OF HER MOTHER IN ATLANTA-- AND DIED THERE-- WHEN THE BABY WAS BORN!

SO FAR AS I COULD LEARN, THE GRANDMOTHER AND HER UNMARRIED SISTER STILL HAVE THE BOY!

I'LL GIVE YOU THEIR ATLANTA ADDRESS...

I MUST HANG UP NOW, DENNIE-- AND TRY TO REACH THE FATHER-- BEFORE HE LEAVES FOR THE AIRPORT!

REX MORGAN

SELMA, IS THIS THE ENVELOPE? HOW MUCH MONEY WAS IN IT?

$5000 IN FIFTY DOLLAR BILLS, SERGEANT!

MY DEAR, TELL THE SERGEANT THAT I WAS HOLDING THE MONEY FOR YOU!

YOU YOU TOOK IT FROM ME, WHILE I WAS IN THE COMA!

ALL RIGHT, PROFESSOR-- BACK TO YOUR CELL!

YOU'LL REGRET THIS, SELMA! I HAD GREAT PLANS FOR YOU... TO SEE THE WORLD... TO MEET IMPORTANT PEOPLE...

TERRY

MAJOR, YOU MUST BE PUTTING ME ON--

WITH SHOCK STICKS IN FIGHT, TERRY AND INSPECTOR TONOP ARE RACED WITH THE PROBLEM OF HOW SHE WILL ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FORMOSA.

KEEP CHINA!

A BRIGHT DIME LIKE HER WOULDN'T MORE SHE COULDN'T RIDE OUT HERE FOR LONG-- AND THAT YOU'VE BROCK THE NORMAL ENDS!

HER ONLY OUT IS TO REACH THE MAINLAND.

ONE WOULD THINK SUCH AN INTELLIGENT FEMALE WOULD PREFER MY JAIL TO THAT OF THE CURSED REDS.

FORGET IT! SHE'S WELL AWARE THAT SUCH A GRUESOME CHOICE HINT NECESSARY FOR THE DAUGHTER OF U.S. SENATOR STOCK.

SMITTY

CHOW, LET'S GO FOR A WALK.

I DON'T FEEL LIKE IT.

WHY NOT?

I'D RATHER TAKE A NAP ON TH' BACK PORCH.

HUH? WHAT WAS YOU TALKING?

MOON MULLINS

AHEM!

"TH' GOVERNMENT STRAIGHTENED OUT DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME-- I WISH THEY'D DO SOMETHING ABOUT HOW SPRING-CLEANING AND SPRING FEVER HIT AT TH' SAME TIME--"

GRANDMA

LOOK AT THAT CUTE SMILE!

AND DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH BRIGHT, SPARKLING EYES?

WONDER IF THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT ME OR LITTLE LEROY!

Ashley's Murder Trial Start Due

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Leslie Douglas Ashley's second murder trial was to begin here today.

Ashley, 28, who was once within four hours of death in the electric chair, is charged with the 1961 sex-party slaying of Houston real estate man Fred Tones.

Carolyn Ann Lima and Ashley were found guilty at an earlier trial. A federal court in 1963 ordered they be given new trials because evidence had been withheld at their trial. Miss Lima was tried a second time, given a five-year sentence, and is now free.

A writ of habeas corpus motion filed by Ashley's lawyers was denied last Thursday by U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears.

Lloyd Lunsford, Houston attorney, argued in the habeas corpus writ that Ashley's guarantees of due process were being denied by the state in that he was allowed too little money for his defense and that he should not be held before trial.

Holding Her Banner High

Miss USA Title Holder Prefers 'Masculine Men'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miss U.S.A. said today that good manners for men are a must in her book.

"Men who have had manners could be called my pet peeve," said Maria Judith Remyeni, who was selected Saturday night.

"I like men to be masculine," Miss Remyeni said. "I hate femininity in men."

DENMARK NATIVE
Miss Remyeni, a 5-foot-6 brunette was born in Denmark of Hungarian parents and came to this country 10 years ago. She speaks four languages and intends to add a fifth—French—soon.

Miss Remyeni of El Cerrito, Calif., is a junior at the University of California at Berkeley. She represented her home state in a field of 49 beauties from 48 states and the District of Columbia.

A hint of the outcome was given Thursday night when photographers chose Miss Remyeni as "Miss Fixable," indicating she also is photogenic.

Child Death Laid To 'Dare' Game

LONDON (AP) — Police have charged a 12-year-old boy with murdering an eight-year-old schoolboy. Detectives believe the child died in a death-dare game called "the chicken run."

The body of little Ian Lewis was found bound hand and foot in the River Thames Saturday.

Other boys said the game consists of rival gangs daring each other to be bound and left on the Thames foreshore when the tide is out. The object is to get clear before the tide comes in again.

Detectives believe Ian failed to make it and drowned.

Thirty-Eight Die Violently Across Texas

By The Associated Press

At least 38 persons died violently in Texas during the past weekend.

Traffic accidents claimed at least 19 lives, shootings nine, and drownings seven.

The Associated Press count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Richard Gosse, 23, of San Antonio, died Sunday night when his motorcycle skidded and overturned in an intersection.

Kathy LeBleu, 14, of Orange, drowned while swimming Sunday off Bolivar Peninsula near Gilchrist.

Galveston County sheriff's officers said Miss LeBleu was swimming with an unidentified boy and that both had trouble swimming. The boy was rescued but Miss LeBleu was not reached in time. Her body was recovered Sunday night.

James Langever, 39, of Fort Worth was killed Sunday in a one-car accident on Loop 820 in Fort Worth.

SHOT FATALLY

Carol McElwath, 40, of Austin apparently was accidentally shot to death with a 30-30 rifle Sunday as he prepared to go hunting.

F. A. Mood, about 55, of Austin was missing and presumed drowned after a fishing boat capsized on Buchanan Lake near Burnet Saturday.

Ernesto Ramirez Torres, 26, was found dead in a ditch along a farm road near Abernathy, 16 miles north of Lubbock, Saturday. The Department of Public Safety said it appeared Torres was a hit-and-run victim.

STRANGLE DEATH

The beaten, partially clad body of Jill Haslett, 18, bank employe, was found Sunday in her East Dallas apartment by a friend. Police said she also had been strangled.

Three young men were fatally injured Saturday night in a two-car collision on US 67 four miles west of Dublin. They were Duncan Oliver McCarty, 23, of Mozele, a soldier home on leave; and James Lester Watkins, 19, and Tom Gordon Wells, 20, both of Mason and students at Tarleton State College.

A Fort Worth police officer, Roy M. Cardwell, was shot to death early Sunday near his abandoned automobile in the Benbrook Lake vicinity. Police said he had fled from the police station during questioning about the earlier shooting death of Mrs. B. J. Hunt, 43, whom he had taken to a hospital.

DALLAS VICTIM

A two-car collision in North Dallas Sunday killed Marion Keller III, 3, of Dallas.

An El Paso man, George F. Heimer, was killed when struck by a car Sunday near a downtown Dallas expressway intersection.

His address was listed as 5605 Paradise Lane, El Paso.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K6 ♡A552 ♣AQ7 ♣AJ108

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass Pass 1 ♣ Dble.

Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—This is a close choice between two no trump and three clubs, but our own preference is three clubs. Two no trump appears to be a slightly drastic bid with only 18 points. If partner makes any move over your raise to three clubs, you are then in strategic position to contract for game.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK752 ♡KJ83 ♣K53 ♣2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 1 NT Dble.

Pass 2 ♣ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—The partner has promised no great strength, he nevertheless is presumed to have an evenly balanced hand. You, therefore, have splendid defenses against the adverse contract, and a penalty double is recommended.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQ985432 ♡J5 ♣84 ♣AJ

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

3 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You have some support for hearts; partner may have none whatever for spades. He knows that you consider your hand of use only with spades as trump, nevertheless, he has chosen to bid four hearts. Without information to the contrary it is our practice to assume that partner knows what he is doing.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AKQ82 ♡A6 ♣AJ7 ♣852

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—With a conservative partner you may bid six no trump. With an aggressive partner, four or five no trump.

Ex-Texas Editor In New Position

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Mason Walsh, former managing editor of the Dallas Times Herald, has been named general manager of the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette.

Walsh, 53, has been managing editor of the Gazette for 3½ years. He succeeds Howard S. Wilcox, 46, who resigned to start his own public relations and advertising firm in Indianapolis, Ind.

Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the newspapers, said S. Lowell Parker, member of the Republic editorial page staff, will replace Walsh as managing editor.
