Wheat Surpluses Near Unsafe Low

WASHINGTON (AP) - Those troublesome wheat surpluses that bothered agriculture officials and Congress not long ago, are gone. So far gone, in fact, that officials are worried about reserves falling below what is considered a safe emergency level.

prospect for the 1966 crop year, the carryover on June 30, 1967, likely will be reduced significantly from the 550 million bushel level now indicated for 1966 and could total some 350 to 400 million bushels," the report said.

These latter figures are based on an assumption that this year's wheat crop will be as large as last year's 1,362,000,000 bushels. But some reports from production areas tell of some damage to winter wheat from adverse weather.

Bring Back Europe GIs?

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is strong sentiment in the Senate for reducing U.S. troop commitments to North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

Forty-four senators said they favored eventual withdrawal of a substantial portion of the six U.S. divisions of 225,000 American fighting men spread along the Iron Curtain.

But of this group, only 15 said they would cut U.S. forces to a token level of one division at this time as suggested recently by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The question asked senators was: "Do you believe Western Europe should take over its own primary defenses with U.S. ground troops reduced to a token level? Why?"

Mansfield said in an interview May 16 that Western Europe ought to be taking over its own defenses. He added that a single division would serve as well as six as a token of the United States presence on the continent and as a guarantee of American response to any Communist attack on the West.

Fifteen senators disagreed with Mansfield's position, most of them saying the United States must stand by its treaty commitments to NATO in spite of France's forthcoming withdrawal of troops from the alliance.

Sixteen senators declined to take a public position on the issue, but several of them said privately they favored gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops.

There is recent evidence of Pentagon support for thinning out U.S. units in Europe. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in a speech last week "the American people are not going to shirk their obligations in any part of the world, but they clearly cannot be expected to bear a disproportionate share of the common burden indefinitely."

Among senators who gave full approval to reducing U.S. forces to a token level, many cited Western Europe's failure to live up to its NATO commitments despite economic prosperity. Several cited the drain on U.S. balance of payments.

EXPOSURES NAMED
In this group were Democratic Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Vance Hartke of Indiana, Thomas J. McIntyre of

New Hampshire, Wayne Morse of Oregon, William Proxmire of Wisconsin, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, George A. Smathers of Florida, John J. Sparkman of Alabama, Stephen M. Young of Ohio, and Mansfield.

Republicans included Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont, Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, and Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii.

Greening said Western Europe is "fully able to defend itself" and "it is time we stopped overextending ourselves."

DAVID S. CRYMES
Student Gets Two Diplomas

COLORADO CITY (SC) — David Stuart Crymes, 1966 graduate of Colorado City High School, made two trips across the stage Tuesday night, once to receive his academic diploma and once to receive a diploma in piano from the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Crymes, the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Melvin Crymes, has been a member of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians for the past five years. This group is sponsored by the Guild and the diploma is the highest award offered by this group to a high school student.

Over 60,000 piano pupils participate in the nationwide annual piano playing event held in 600 music centers over the country. Crymes has played in the National Auditions for five years. He won the National Medal in 1964, and the International Medal in 1965 and 1966.

Crymes is a pupil of Mrs. W. E. Morton, Sweetwater, and a former student of Mrs. Olsen Sweet, Colorado City.

Minimum Wage Bill Backers Voice Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of minimum wage legislation ask the House today to reverse a vote removing 1.6 million small firm employees from the bill's proposed coverage.

The vote Wednesday marred a precedent shattering triumph for the measure's sponsors, who succeeded in retaining a provision extending minimum wage coverage for the first time to upwards of 400,000 workers.

FIGHT AMENDMENTS
The bill's backers face another struggle today over an amendment that would delay until 1970 an increase in the minimum wage to $1.60 an hour. The wage now is $1.25 and the bill would boost it to $1.40 next February and to $1.60 in 1968.

The amendment eliminating coverage of 1.6 million employees of small business and industrial firms was adopted by a nonrecord vote of 120 to 109. Under House rules it can be put to a roll call vote before final action on the bill.

ROLL CALL
Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., the bill's manager, said he will request such a roll call. He predicted the House would undo Wednesday's action.

Dent is counting on an admitted error in the amendment to help overturn the vote. The amendment's author, Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., said he intended to block extension of the minimum wage law to workers in 995,000 retail and service establishments doing less than an annual gross business of $500,000. The bill would have dropped the present $1 million limit to $500,000 next year and to $250,000 in 1969.

OTHERS ELIMINATED
In drafting the measure, however, Anderson also knocked out 650,000 employees of other businesses, including mining, manufacturing, processing, communications, finance and insurance, that do less than $1 million a year gross business.

The House voted 137 to 148 to reject an amendment by Rep. David T. Martin, R-Neb., to delete the farm provision. The bill would cover farms that employ 500 man-days of labor in any quarter.

The farm worker minimum would start at $1 an hour next Feb. 1, go to $1.15 in 1968 and to $1.30 in 1969. Other newly covered workers would get two additional 15-cent raises, reaching $1.60 in 1971.

A LOVELIER YOU Hot Summer Takes To Versatile Costume

By MARY SUE MILLER
For travel, town and daytime occasions, the sum of fashion is a costume—a suit with blouse, dress with coat, or dress with jacket. And nothing could be more versatile.

Costumes instantly adapt to changes of scene and climate, nature's to man-made. Owing to skimpy, uncomplicated silhouettes and highly disciplined fabrics, this is a fashion with built-in ease. What's more, it has great good looks.

Suits take two directions. Jackets are short or riding-coat long. Some have notched collars, some are collarless. Sometimes there's a belt, sometimes not. Sleeves go to all lengths, from sleeveless to the wrist. Skirts are slim or let-out.

Coats are skimpy enough to double as a dress. And dresses are equally skimpy. Newswomen have scoop necklines and long sleeves.

The color focus is on pale, off tones and on bold brights, with a sprinkling of darks. In many costumes, pinks and brights mix—a pale coat tops a bold print dress, for instance. Fabrics range from luxury weights in linen and cotton, through silky prints and crepes, to sheer cotton voiles and blends.

This variety allows for personal preference and flattery. And perhaps that's the greatest boon in costume fashions for summer. A lovely-on-the-go wants real cool looks in addition to cool comfort. Well, with a costume, she can have it both ways.

YOUR COLORS
In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "YOUR MOST FLATTERING COLORS." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin.

American Legion Award Winners

Recipients of American Legion Awards at Runnels Junior High School Wednesday were Mary Cattie Gomez, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Gomez, 511 NW 4th, and Rocky Lee Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wooley, 627 State. Byron D. Hill, right, vice commander of the Legion, and Roscoe Cone, left, 19th Congressional District Americanism Chairman for the Legion, made the presentations.

'Bugged' Talks May Prompt Dismissal Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The attorney for public relations man Fred B. Black Jr., says he may ask the Supreme Court today to dismiss outright income tax charges against his client in light of the Justice Department's admission it "bugged" talks between the two.

Hans A. Nathan, the attorney, said he would ask the court to go beyond the suggestion made Tuesday by Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall.

Marshall, in an extraordinary memorandum telling of the electronic eavesdropping, said Black is entitled to a court hearing. He added, however, the department is convinced the 1965 snooping by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents had nothing to do with Black's eventual indictment by the Internal Revenue Service and conviction on the tax charges.

OVER OGALLALA FORMATION Oilmen Given Deadline To Fill Surface Pits

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has set deadlines for oil and gas operators in 13 West Texas counties to fill surface pits used to collect salt water and other waste material.

The counties overlay the vast Ogallala formation, which provides fresh water to numerous communities in the area.

A Sept. 1 compliance deadline was set for operators in Hemphill and Swisher counties and a May 1, 1967, deadline for Dalley, Cochran, Dawson, Gaines, Hale, Hockley, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Andrews and Martin counties.

In certain cases, the commission said, pits lined with impervious material would be accepted. Operators who fail to comply with the order by the deadlines face severance of their pipeline connections.

The commission said it found that salt water pits were seeping into the underground water formation.

The Texas Water Pollution Control Board held lengthy hearings and issued several no-pit orders affecting the Ogallala before a district judge ruled that the commission had sole jurisdiction over such matters.

Senate Confirms Postmaster Bids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed today postmaster nominations by President Johnson including:

Texas—Harold C. Strauss, Bellville; William D. Shepherd, Channing; Thomas A. Boulimay, Galveston; Jesse K. Brett, Hull; Norma L. McBee, Lefors; Ralph W. Chaney, Monahan; A. J. McAllister, Post; Flora M. Martin, Ropesville; Charles B. Townes, Tahoka.

331st Honors 3 Members

Webb's 331st FIS held a farewell party Saturday evening honoring three squadron members and their wives. The 331st commander, Lt. Col. Michael W. Shareck, presented parting gifts to Maj. James H. Middleton, Capt. Robert J. Barberie, and Dr. (Capt.) Clifford C. Kirk.

Maj. Middleton and Capt. Barberie have been reassigned overseas. Dr. Kirk has been reassigned to Lackland AFB.

Highlight of the party was the presentation to Dr. and Mrs. Kirk of a hand-carved Asian wood sculpture, a symbol of the Air Force Flight Surgeon's dedication to duty. In return, Dr. Kirk bequeathed his rubber glove to the squadron.

Other 331st personnel honored were Lt. Col. W. E. Lowman and Capt. R. L. Davis, who were presented with membership pins from the Caterpillar Club, an exclusive organization of pilots who were forced to parachute in a final attempt to save their lives by abandoning a stricken aircraft. The Caterpillar Club pin is a small gold silk-worm with a ruby eye.

Mrs. Norman Fogg and Mrs. Sam Brooks were in charge of arrangements, and Mrs. Fogg provided entertainment.

State Fair Will Eulogize Nimitz

DALLAS (AP) — The late Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz will be honored by the State Fair of Texas during "German Day" Oct. 15-16.

Business Mounts At Eating Places

AUSTIN (AP) — Eating and drinking establishments in Texas had gross sales of $897 million last year, the Texas Tourist Council reports.

This is a $74 million increase over 1964.

Hotel and motel gross receipts were up from $125 million to $140 million, a 12 per cent increase.

Turncoat, Family Leave Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — Korean War turncoat Clarence Adams arrived in Hong Kong today, leaving only two of 21 self-exiled former American prisoners of war in Communist China.

Adams, from Memphis, Tenn., crossed the Lowu border bridge 23 miles north of the city with his Chinese wife and their children, Louis, 3, and Delta, 4.

Nicholas Platt, a U.S. consulate official, met them at the border and took them to an undisclosed hotel.

CROSS BORDER
The consulate had been expected Adams since the Chinese notified the Hong Kong Red Cross he would cross the border May 9. But Adams told newsmen he had not planned to leave China until this week.

"I think maybe there was a mistake in the date," he said.

The turncoats still in China are Howard Adams, no relation to Clarence, of Corsicana, Tex., and James Veneris of Hawthorne, Calif. One of the former war prisoners who chose to remain with their captors died in China, two left via Europe and 15 others preceded Adams across the Hong Kong border. The last was Morris Wills of Fort Ann, N.Y., who crossed last Oct. 19.

LITTLE CONTACT
Adams said he did not know whether Howard Adams and Veneris were planning to leave China.

"I have been working at the foreign language press," he said. "They are studying at Peking University, and I've had very little contact with them for many months."

Adams said he and his family would fly to the United States "just as soon as our travel documents are ready and my mother sends us the travel money which she wrote she would send as soon as we reached Hong Kong."

A U.S. consulate spokesman said issuance of travel documents for the family could take from one to three weeks.

Auto Industry Cuts Schedule On Production

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry, facing the task of selling the greatest inventory of new cars in its history, reportedly has cut 100,000 units from production schedules.

The report came Wednesday from Ward's Automotive Reports, an industry trade publication. It said the cutback is in addition to an estimated 175,000 units Ward's said were chopped from production schedules two weeks ago.

School Girl Seeks Snakebite Antidote

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — The Arizona Indian chief wished Virginia Fiedler "good luck" but that was all.

She had written asking for the formula for a native antidote for rattlesnake bite.

But the chief said he could not because it was a secret.

Undaunted, the 17-year-old Amarillo High School senior has put in as much as 10 hours a day trying to discover the formula scientifically.

If successful, she may come up with a "real breakthrough," says Dr. Everett Newman, Amarillo veterinarian.

KNOWS IT EXISTS
Virginia knows such an antidote exists because she has seen it in action.

She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Fiedler, were on a vacation eight years ago in Arizona. Attending tribal Indian rites, they saw men pick up rattlers, entwine them in their arms and be bitten repeatedly with no apparent ill effects.

Virginia remembers that the men drank a potion of some kind before performing the rites.

Her memory of all this was jogged in biology class. She began to read everything she could find on rattlesnake antidotes.

A SERUM
The only recognized antidote in medical literature is crotalus antivenin, a serum. She suspected this was not what the Indians had used, because some people are violently allergic to it.

school biology instructor H. N. Carl bought and borrowed supplies from St. Anthony's Hospital, Amarillo, and from Dr. Newman.

DRIED VENOM
Then rattlesnake venom in dried form was bought from the Miami Serpentarium in Florida.

Finally, she began research in December in what had been a storage closet at the high school.

Since the poison in each snake varies, Virginia had to determine how much venom constitutes a lethal dose.

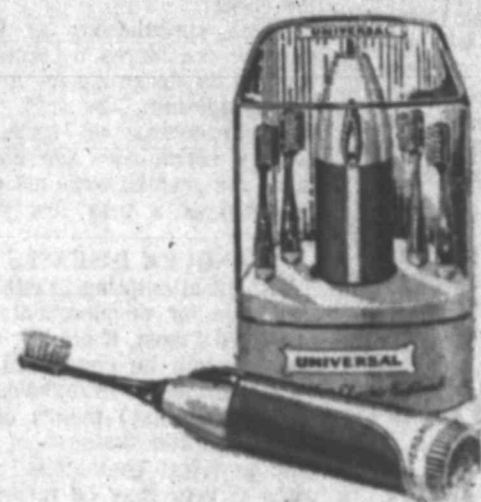

Through microscopic study of the blood's reaction to the venom, she confirmed what she read — that the venom breaks down the cell wall, resulting in death for the bite victim.

Her present planning calls for extensive trial and error experimentation with the leaves, hoping for a brew that will enable cell walls to resist breakdown from the venom.

Humphrey Zealously Accepts Widened Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson, while vice president, is said to have observed once that President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a man he much admired, "never let his vice presidents put their heads above water."

As President, however, Johnson has begun to allow his vice president to surface, and the blessings have been mixed for Hubert H. Humphrey. As a result of White House dispensations, the Humphrey head is not only above water, where he can breathe, but high enough to be hit with rocks from the shore. Some hurt.

But Humphrey isn't complaining, although he has been known to exhibit his wounds privately. With his old zeal, his bubbly, blue-eyed evangelism, his effusive joie de vivre in the business of government and politics, Humphrey has fairly leaped into the growing role given him by the President. He would much rather be wounded but active than safe but inactive. Being a realist, he knows, too, that what the President giveth the President can removeth. It is a constitutional fact of life that any moment he chooses, for Humphrey's protection or his own, and not necessarily in that order of priority, the President can submerge his vice president beyond the reach of sonar.

This was recently symbolized at the Gridiron dinner in Washington. The President had said he would not attend. Thus, resplendent in white tie and tails, with a dandy little speech warming his inside pocket, Humphrey occupied the dais seat reserved for the senior officer of government present.

But at the last moment Johnson showed up. In a business suit. Even in a white tie, a vice president is no match for a president in a business suit. So Humphrey moved a few seats down the dais, the President delivered the government's response and the vice president's speech cooled in his pocket while he looked on, just another well-dressed spectator.

One might expect real damage to an oratorical rocket such as Humphrey when, all ready with all systems on go, he suddenly is stopped cold on the launching pad. But Humphrey took the incident good naturedly. The next day, showing up at a television panel, he grinned, "I hope I get to say more than I did last night."

NOT COMPLAINING

Publicly or privately, the vice president has never been heard to complain about any presidential treatment, whether it is a sudden shadow that cuts off his own light, or a sudden summons to a new assignment, or a staggering variety of phone calls from the White House that have reached him at home and abroad, in planes, behind speakers platforms, at airports, hotels, in cars and, in fact, once in the middle of a motorcade over the Brooklyn Bridge.

Depositions In Solon's Libel Suit Taken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The taking of pretrial depositions begins today in the $5 million libel suit brought by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd against columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

In the suit, the Connecticut Democrat accuses the columnists of falsely picturing him as unfit to be a senator, as an agent of foreign interests, as interfering with the award of government contracts in return for bribes, and as unlawfully diverting campaign funds for his own use.

First on the list of witnesses to be questioned was James P. Boyd Jr., a former aide to Dodd. The senator's lawyers say there was a conspiracy under which former Dodd employees removed documents from the senator's files and made them available to the columnists.

The pretrial statement taking is expected to continue for weeks.

Southern Baptist President Named

DETROIT (AP) — Youthful looking Dr. H. Franklin Paschall, new president of the Southern Baptist Convention, has definite ideas about the future of religion in this country.

He outlined many of them at a news conference Wednesday after his election as head of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

The 44-year-old Paschall fielded nearly 50 questions ranging from the Negro's part in the Southern Baptist church to Paschall's views on separation of church and state.

RACIAL STRIFE

Nearly half of the questions dealt with the racial issue. The new convention head commented, "I have been distressed over the racial problem, distressed on both sides in the struggle."

He said the federal government had provided laws governing integration and equality and added:

"We have the laws now and if Christian leaders can instill the proper attitude in people, we will have significant progress."

Dr. Paschall discussed the ecumenical movement briefly. An hour earlier, two Southern Baptist Convention delegates (messengers) had disclosed the Baptist church was considering holding interfaith talks with Roman Catholics.

AGAINST IT

"I don't think it is a good idea for Baptists to become part of an ecumenical movement, organically or spiritually," he said. He also said a federated church is not the answer to problems of Christianity.

Dr. Paschall said some recent ecumenical talks among other churches had convinced him that while church leaders might be for the idea it had not gone over very well with the church membership.

"We do not want to make an effort to become a counterpart of Rome . . . I would not like that," he said.

Dr. Paschall told another questioner only 4,000 of the SBC's 10.7 million members are Negroes, but he said all were welcome.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Ross Black, former basketball mentor at Lovington (N.M.) High School, will be the first cage coach at New Mexico Junior College in Hobbs, which aspires to membership in the Western Conference.

Bernie Moore, the retiring commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, says the biggest thrill he ever got in football was in guiding his LSU Tigers to a 19-13 win over Texas A & M after losing to them in the regular season, 28-13.

That was in 1945, the year Homer Norton guided the Aggies to a 7-3-1 win-loss-tied record. Goble Bryant and Marion Flanagan captained the A&M team that year.

Ozell (Cy) Reid, who grew up here and became the local high school's first great miler, appeared before the sub-committee on Flood Control, House Committee on Public Works, in Washington, D. C., on behalf of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas.

Reid is now executive secretary of the latter organization, which is currently comprised of 116 clubs and has approximately 90,000 members.

Reid told the committee that SCOT has gone on record opposing any fees which would be levied on public waters for fishing or for use of boats.

Reid contended that sportsmen, as such, more than pay their own way, and reminded his listeners of the taxes and fees which now must be paid by hunters and fishermen in Texas. They include, he said:

- (1) Fishing licenses, (2) hunting licenses, (3) ten per cent tax on arms and ammunition, (4) ten per cent tax on fishing tackle, (5) a boat registration fee, (6) a two per cent sales tax on all items, and (7) a motor fuel tax.

Bob Burris, new head football coach at Midland Lee High School, played his prep school ball under Muskogee's Paul Young, generally regarded as the best and most successful of the Sooner high school mentors.

At one time, before the days of Emmett McKenzie, local school officials were told to try and talk Young into applying for the coaching position here.

Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves may be a better bet to establish an all-time home run record in the big leagues than Willie Mays.

Willie has almost a hundred more round trippers than Hank but Aaron is three years younger than Mays, and he generally hits from 35 to 40 a year.

The best hitter in the big leagues may not even wear a National league uniform, however. Young Tony Oliva of Minnesota is emerging as baseball's new "monster man."

Johnny Keane, who departed the New York Yankees by request recently, said of Oliva after returning to his home in Houston:

"I don't remember seeing a better hitter come to the major leagues."

The fight game can be the most vicious and cruel of all sports and not because of the physical damage suffered by the man in the ring.

The gladiator earns his bread by risking his sanity and his health. The leeches then take it away from him.

Cassius Clay, the heavyweight champion of the world, is deep in debt. The hate organization he fronts for, his home-town backers who staked him in the beginning, his ex-wife — they all exact their pound of flesh.

Randy Turpin earned $200,000 in one night and $500,000 in a checkered career but, at 38, he decided to see what the other side of the curtain looked like. With a revolver, he blew himself into eternity recently.

What happened to Turpin's money? The people who guided his career traded their wisdom for one fourth of his earnings. The tax bite was steep — the government swooped up about half the total take. People who posed as friends put the bite on him numerous times and found him to be an easy mark.

He lost a few bob in ill-starred businesses. Suddenly he was at the end of the line, broke and on the cuff to the extent of $44,581 in taxes owed to the state.

In desperation, he agreed to hustle up $5.00 a week for 153 years to Britain's income tax service — which is like a shark in that it was born hungry and stays that way. He fell a few years short of the 153.

Turpin was the second British world champion to dispatch himself in the past 12 months. The other was Freddie Mills. When he departed this vale of tears, Mills had a little money left, but not much.

Ken Boyer doubled home reliever Gerry Arrigo, who had singled and gone to third on infield outs, with the Mets' only run in the sixth.

They got off to a poor start this season and the crowds responds accordingly. Now they're back in the groove and have won seven of their last nine games. A crowd of 2,833 turned out Wednesday night to watch them play brilliantly in a 1-0 victory over Arkansas.

Hal Haydel pitched a five-hitter and didn't allow a Traveler past second base at Dallas-Fort Worth nipped Arkansas. Charlie Benson drove in the winning run with a double. El Paso knocked over Amarillo 6-5 when George Pena's single bounced over the shortstop's shoulder and two runs scored in the eighth. That halted the winning streak of Sonica relief pitcher Ron Cayll, who had taken eight in a row.

Dallas-Fort Worth still is nine games out of first place, but not too long ago the Spurs were 11 away and fighting desperately to stay out of the cellar. Amarillo continues to lead the

Two-run doubles by Elston Howard and Roger Repoz helped the Yankees record their high run total for the season and nail their sixth victory in the last seven games.

Hall homered off Red Sox reliever Dick Radatz in the 10th after a one-out walk to Harmon Killebrew. The Red Sox had scored twice in the seventh and then tied it in the ninth on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double.

Killebrew belted a two-run homer and starting pitcher Jim Kaat delivered two more Minnesota runs with a pair of singles.

The White Sox, who had dropped eight of their previous 10 games, scored two runs in the seventh on a poor throw by Baltimore catcher Adny Etchebarren and a balk by pitcher Steve Barber for their margin over the Orioles. John Romano homered for Chicago in the second inning.

Five Kansas City pitchers stopped the Senators on three hits while Ed Charles' first homer of the season triggered a three-run rally in the sixth.

Jim Dickson, Lew Krause, Paul Lindblad and Jack Aker pitched hitless relief over the final 3 1/3 innings, preserving Fred Talbot's second victory.

Advance Tickets Are Available For Game

Advance tickets for the Big Spring High School annual spring football game, scheduled to start at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Memorial Stadium, are now on sale at the School-Business Office, according to Everett Whitley, co-captain of the Quarterback Club.

The booster organization is sponsoring the contest and all proceeds go into Quarterback Club promotions. The game will be televised locally and will be aired over two radio stations, KBST and KBYG.

Tickets for the contest, which climaxes three weeks of workouts for the green but hungry troops of coach Don Robbins, are priced at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The Quarterback Club, according to Whitley, is planning a very active campaign this fall, starting with a barbecue that will honor team members and coaches early in September.

Game tickets will also entitle holders to see a scrimmage between the sophomores on the team. That is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Some of the best looking sophomores to ever report for workouts here are in camp. Gary (Red) Rogers, a defensive standout last year, will quarterback the Black team Saturday night while Bill Burchett and Dean Gilstrap will team up to mastermind the Gold unit. Richard Cauley, who has piled up plenty of experience at the quarterback's spot, will probably be at the strong end position on the Black unit because Robbins wants to get as much experience as possible in the game.

Rogers will work with a backfield consisting of Leonard Evans or Francis Ethum at tailback, Doug Robinson or R. J. Englert at fullback and Ronnie Anderson at the flanker spot.

The Gold unit will go with Lonnie Clarton or Juan DeArce at the tailback spot, Kirby Horton or Fran DeArce at fullback and Leonard Smith at the flanker back position.

Wayne Kennedy, one of the Steers' returning lettermen, has not worked out this spring due to illness.

PLAYERS OF YEAR

Ellis, Shoultz Honored Buffs

Quarterback Jack Ellis and linebacker Jackie Shoultz of Forsan High School have been named recipients of the Daily Herald's football Players of the Year awards and their school has been presented with suitable certificates.

Ellis is a 170-pound junior who stands 5-10½. He was an all-district performer on offense and was a second team performer at the linebacker's spot.

He completed 72 of 170 passes for yardage totaling 1,083 yards. He threw for nine touchdowns and two extra points and scored four touchdowns and two extra points himself.

Shoultz, a 175-pound senior, was chosen on the all-district defensive team as a linebacker, as well as a center on the offensive unit.

Coach Oscar Boeker said Shoultz was one of the best team leaders he ever coached. Jackie averaged 11 tackles a game through nine contests. Forsan played its final season of eight-man ball in 1965. However, three of its games were against 11-man opponents.

Boeker said both boys adjusted exceptionally well to the 11-man game.

Colts Hammer Hawks, 12-8

The Colts put together two massive innings to clip the Hawks 12-8 in an American Little League game Wednesday evening. Tenn's double was the only extra base hit for the Colts as the accumulated 11 safeties.

Six runs in the third and four more in the fourth turned the trick, although the Hawks have a five-run fourth off two hits, including Young's double. Woods sparked a three-run first inning with a homer.

Nicklaus, Player Head Oklahoma City Field

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A field of 144 golfers headed by Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and seven winners on this year's PGA tour, were set to tee off today in the $37,000 Oklahoma City Open at Quail Creek Golf and Country Club.

Nicklaus and Player are making their first appearances in the eight-year-old tournament. Tourney officials are claiming their own little Tournament of Champions with the entrance of the winners of seven tour tournaments this year. Besides Nicklaus, who won the Masters, the field includes Bruce Devlin, the champ at last week's Colonial National Invitational.

The winners at the two previous tour stops—Frank Beard at New Orleans and Harold Henning at the Texas Open—also have entered. Other champs are Don Massengale, the winner of the Bing Crosby Open; Dudley Wysong, the victor at the Phoenix Open and Babe Hickey, who won the Cajun classic.

Jack Rule Jr. is the defending champion, and the only former titlist in the field. Only Arnold Palmer, who is passing up the tournament this year, has won the affair twice.

Charles Coody fired a seven-under-par 65 to set the pace in the $3,500 pro-amateur Wednesday as a warm-up to the tournament. Coody's score was two strokes better than Howie Johnson and Charles Sifford, who carded 67s.

Rockets Shade T-Birds, 3-1

The Rockets edged the T-Birds 3-1 in an International Little League game which turned into a pitcher's duel. G. Jones got credit for the win, although he had relief from Mike Adams. Medlin was charged with the loss.

The score was tied at 1-1 going into the fifth when the Rockets broke loose for a pair. Banks got a double and Boel the other hit for the Rockets. Brewer doubled for the T-Birds, and Robb and R. Spivey added singles.

Social Whirl Can Be Rough On Drivers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—In the first Indianapolis 500-mile auto race in 1911, the drivers lined up according to times entries were filed and simply chugged away at about 75 miles per hour until they finished, blew an engine or wrecked.

The 50th running of the Memorial Day classic on Monday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will be more complicated. Drivers already will have spent a month in time trials and other preliminaries, including enough social events to exhaust a dowager duchess.

Most of the dinners and luncheons are sponsored by oil and accessory firms whose competition, if not more intense than the drivers, at least is spread over a longer period.

Fantastic amounts of money reportedly are spent to persuade a car owner and driver to use a particular product, especially among potential winners. In addition, about $200,000 in special prizes is offered for cars using the donors' oil additive, tires, sparkplugs and the like.

Nicholson Busting Ball For Astros

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two weeks before he was fired as Houston general manager, Paul Richards decided to make a trade to bolster the Astros' Oklahoma City farm club, purchasing Dave Nicholson from the Chicago White Sox.

It was a big mistake. Nicholson hasn't done a thing for Oklahoma City.

But Nicholson has been doing a thing or two with National League pitching, raising his average to .333 Wednesday night when he led the Astros to a 7-1 victory over the New York Mets by collecting a homer, a double, two singles, driving in two runs and scoring twice.

cut down on the swing that brought him four major league strikeout records and a .203 lifetime batting average, started to connect more often and grabbed a job with the Astros.

"He has done it all himself," said Houston Manager Grady Hatton. "I just told him to forget the home runs, just hit the ball."

Nicholson has followed orders. He has collected 25 hits in 75 at-bats for his .333 average, taken over fifth place in the National League batting race and still displayed power with 4 doubles, 2 triples and 3 homers.

Elsewhere, Curt Flood rapped the biggest hit of the night, a grand slam homer as St. Louis clubbed the Chicago Cubs 9-1, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 3-2, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Philadelphia 2-1 and Cincinnati defeated Atlanta 6-2.

Flood capped a seven-run seventh inning uprising for the Cardinals after Bob Toian had put them ahead 2-1 in the fifth inning with a run-producing single. Flood's grand slam followed by a two-run pinch-hit single by Bob Skinner and a wild pitch by Ted Abernathy that let another run score.

Matty Alou and Manny Mota turned on their former San Francisco teammates, slamming homers in the third inning off Bob Shaw for all of the Pirates' runs. Don Schwall and Roy Face combined to check the Giants on four hits, although each was tagged for a homer by Willie McCovey.

Chris Short, looking for his eighth straight victory at Dodger stadium, had the Dodgers' shutout on six hits when Bill White's error opened the door with one out in the ninth. Lou Johnson's single and a walk to Ron Fairly loaded the bases, and one out later, Wes Parker stroked a two-run single that brought Don Drysdale the victory.

Milt Pappas recorded his fourth straight complete game victory for the Reds by holding the Braves to five hits. Cincinnati pulled ahead with a three-run sixth built on Art Shamsky's sacrifice fly and two errors by second baseman Woody Woodward, each allowing a run to score.

PUBLIC OPINION POLLS

LBJ Aware Living Costs, War Hurt His Popularity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is keenly aware that the high cost of living and the Viet Nam war are cutting into his administration's popularity as measured by public opinion polls.

In reaction to the polls and other signs, the administration has made several moves to try to show that the rise in living costs has been much lower than in other industrialized nations.

Richard M. Nixon would be closer now than eight months ago.

The poll said 54 per cent of those queried replied they would like to see Johnson win if the election was held today, while 36 per cent picked Nixon and 10 per cent were undecided. Last September, a similar poll listed Johnson with 61 per cent, Nixon with 35 per cent and had 4 per cent undecided. No other candidates were listed in these polls.

RECENT SHOWING

Another recent Gallup Poll posed the question: Should the United States withdraw its troops if the South Vietnamese begin fighting among themselves in a big way? The polling organization said 54 per cent of Americans would favor withdrawal in that event, and only 28 per cent favored continuing to help South Viet Nam.

At a news conference last Saturday, the President was asked: "How you regard some of the very recent polls that show considerable public dissatisfaction over both Viet Nam and the economic situation as to inflation?"

He replied that he believes there is somewhat more concern about higher prices now than you would have in a normal period because we are coming close to reaching our objective of full employment."

But he produced a chart to show that United States price increases have averaged less than 1 1/2 per cent a year since 1960, whereas in Germany the growth rate is 3 per cent, in the United Kingdom and France 3 1/2 to 4 per cent and in Japan 6 1/2 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has been using a form of compulsion to get clothing manufacturers to fill nearly one-fifth of its military uniform orders since last July, Pentagon figures showed today.

This is in contrast to past wars when contractors scrambled for government orders.

The reason, Pentagon officials said, is now there are no wartime controls to limit the amount of material which can be devoted to the civilian market.

In the past 10 months, the Defense Supply Agency said, procurement officials issued 218 "rated orders" for uniform items out of a total of 1,157 contracts.

Hearing Begins In Air Disaster

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Willis B. Smith Jr., a pilot for American Flyers, Inc., has testified a departure from routine procedure kept him from being aboard an American Flyers airplane which crashed near Ardmore April 22.

The crash killed 77 Army recruits and six crew members. Fifteen persons survived.

A Civil Aeronautics Board

team, headed by CAB vice chairman Robert T. Murphy, began a hearing on the crash Wednesday.

Smith, one of seven witnesses the first day, said he flew as a crew member of the plane from Ardmore to Tacoma, Wash., and on to Monterey, Calif., April 22. He was relieved at Monterey before the craft continued its trip with a load of soldiers bound for Ft. Benning, Ga.

The Lockheed Electra turbo-prop crashed about 8:30 p.m. that day while trying to land here for refueling.

PROCEDURE CHANGE
"Normally I would have flown back to Ardmore on the plane," Smith said, "but I had a full load and I was told to take a commercial flight."

Another witness was Pvt. James A. Gorman of New York City, one of the 15 survivors. He told of the plane "turning, banking, going up and going down" during its approach at Ardmore.

"It was much, much more than for a regular landing," Gorman said. He said the maneuvers took place over approximately 15 minutes before the crash.

REVVED UP
Gorman said the turns and banks were not sharp until just moments before the crash.

At that time, Gorman said, "the engines revved up as high as they could go. . . I thought something was up."

He was knocked about 15 feet forward by the impact and found his way out through a rear emergency exit.

Gorman suffered cuts and bruises and a broken arm. He limped from a swollen knee and had his left arm in a sling.

Other witnesses Wednesday included Robert C. Kettelkamp, operations director for American Flyers; James R. Wachter, Federal Aviation Agency air traffic control specialist from Fort Worth, Tex.; Elmo Smith, flight service station operator at Ardmore, and two persons—Lawrence F. Woodward of Ardmore and Ben C. Stromme of Sulphur, Okla.—who said they heard or saw the plane before it crashed.

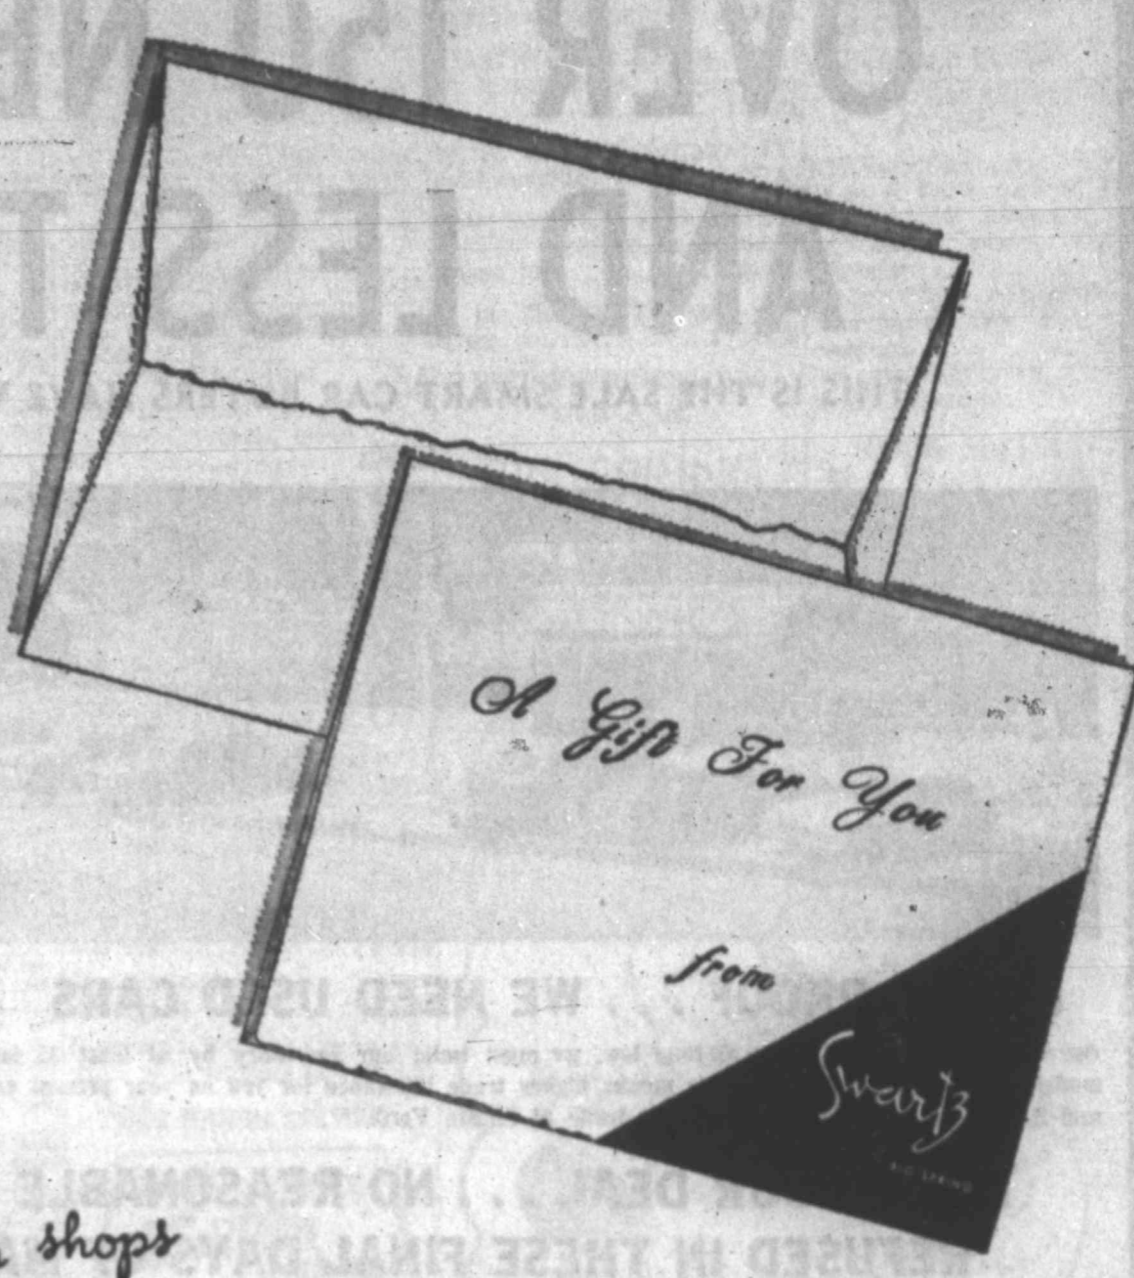

APPARENT PILOT
Kettelkamp said Reed Pigman, 59, president of the airline and apparently pilot of the aircraft when it crashed, had asked to make the flight. He said Pigman often went on short flights and some charter groups requested him as pilot.

Many of the questions asked Kettelkamp and Willis Smith concerned Pigman's health. A House of Representatives committee reported two weeks ago it had learned that Pigman had received treatment for a heart condition.

Both testified that Pigman appeared in good health the day of the flight and Willis Smith said he had never seen Pigman take anything more than "a couple of aspirin a couple of times."

Idea Of Cut In Forces In Europe Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — John J. McCloy said Wednesday that reduction of U.S. troops in Europe to a token force, "coincidental with the French attack on NATO," would sound the death-knell of the North Atlantic Alliance.

The veteran diplomatic trouble shooter for American presidents also told senators he doubted the wisdom of proposals for a face-to-face meeting of President Johnson with French President Charles de Gaulle.

McCloy referred to De Gaulle's planned visit to Moscow and said that "if we have jockeying around for individual alliances, we will be back where we were in 1913 and 1939."

"I deplore this move away from the collective approach (to security)," he said.

Testifying before a subcommittee on national security, McCloy said this would be "a most inappropriate time" for the

Galveston Key Cotton Outlet

GALVESTON (AP)—Some 43 per cent of all cotton exported from the United States this season was shipped from the Port of Galveston, according to C. S. Devoy, general manager of the United States to reduce its forces in Europe.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana recently suggested that the time may be ripe for Western Europe to take over primary responsibility for its defense.

Galveston Wharves.

He said that Galveston had handled 1,199,729 bales through May 10, out of some 2.58 million bales exported throughout the nation.

In April alone, Devoy said, the port shipped 61,794 bales out of a total of 128,000 bales exported from Texas.

Also in April, he said, imports at Galveston rose more than 25 per cent over last April.

More Pay Not Always Enough To Lure Exec

NEW YORK (AP) — Money still talks but up in the executive suites other things sometimes are more persuasive.

Such things as more interesting work, less cut-throat competition among fellow executives, freedom from over-emphasis on memo writing, may mean more to a key man than an offer of higher pay if he is thinking of changing jobs.

REPEAT TROUBLE
In an affluent society, with more big-salaried posts around than men with ability or reputation to command them, a lot of companies are reporting trouble these days in recruiting top or middle-level officials.

Today, executive recruiters say, a prospect may turn down a job offering $25,000 more a year if he feels the other company would be less congenial to his tastes, the other industry less fitted to his talents, or even another location less suited for his hobbies.

The typical executive today is well-paid. He probably can furnish most of the things his family craves. Profit sharing, retirement and other benefits ease his present and future state. More money weighs less in his mind today than yesteryear when good jobs were hard to find.

One big company is having trouble getting new men because of its reputation for organizational zeal. "It's report-happy," one man said in turning down an offer, "and I'd rather be judged on performance than on my literary skill."

FIRMS IMAGE
Thorndike Deland Associates, executive recruiters, reports one key vice president recently turned down a $100,000-a-year post to stay on his present $75,000 job. His reason: he had doubts about the other firm's image.

Still another stuck to his $28,000 post rather than take $40,000 from a larger company. His reason: his firm promoted him to executive vice president (with no pay boost) and he could be a general executive there rather than a production specialist with the larger one.

One of the biggest companies in its field is having trouble getting men, the recruiters say, because of its reputation of being overloaded with "young tigers" fiercely competing with each other. One executive who declined an offer said, "Why should I get into that rat race when I can make almost as much here and not get an ulcer?"

Life In Soviet Still A Battle

KIEV, U.S.S.R. (AP) — You get mighty thirsty when you're paying $20 a day for a hotel room and there is no running water.

The same thing happened last year in the same hotel, the newest in Kiev and one of the most modern in the Soviet Union.

PRICES TRIPLED

This time, however, there seemed more grounds for complaint. Hotel prices for diplomats and correspondents were tripled this year as part of a Soviet drive to earn dollars for foreign trade.

The lady on the seventh floor who keeps room keys was very apologetic. She said the water would be back on in 50 minutes.

The guest asked if there was a buffet such as many Soviet hotels provide on several floors. "Nyet." The guest asked about room service. "Nyet."

BOTTLED WATER

The lady suggested buying bottled water at the second-floor restaurant.

The guest figured this would be quicker than waiting 50 minutes. He did not count on the elevator.

The hotel, with 14 floors and accommodations for 350 guests, has two elevators. Each is modern, with a telephone inside. But each is the size of a telephone booth. The Soviets allow six people in each. The wait can be 15 minutes or more.

In the restaurant the thirsty guest was ignored by waitresses, then finally directed into the kitchen. There he ordered four bottles of cold mineral water from a lady behind the counter. There was no cold water, the lady said, handing over four bottles.

A harried waitress, unnoticed by the counter lady, grabbed two of the bottles and scurried back to the restaurant.

DEBATE ENSUES

A debate then ensued in order to get another two bottles without paying for six. The guest won this fringed encounter but the battle was far from over.

Waiting for the elevator on the second floor, the guest finally concluded that the upbound local did not stop there. He walked down to the first floor in order to ride up to the seventh.

On returning to his room, the guest found the cold water was on again—but not the hot. Apparently 50 minutes or more had slipped by.

Dads Dig Deep For Senior Prom

By The Associated Press

To Pop, who has just shelled out or is preparing to dig deep for the senior prom for his graduating youngster: The dances aren't costing much more than in recent years. It just seems like it.

This is the consensus of an Associated Press survey of several Texas cities as the teenagers donned cap and gowns at the old high school.

Ron Murphy, senior class sponsor at William Travis White High School in Dallas, said the cost of the senior dance will be about $10 per couple, much the same as in previous years. The class as a group supplements this with mass car wash programs and the like, but the main financing comes from tickets.

LIMIT COSTS

At Harlingen and McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, both cities have a limit of $300 on the cost, holding the expense down by close budgets. McAllen is cutting corners to permit not hold senior proms, but substitute low-cost dances for the whole school. One recent such affair was at the municipal auditorium with tickets at $1.50.

POOL EFFORTS

However, in Austin a number of graduating girls will pool their effort for a senior party. Mrs. Laginia Hale, dean of girls at Austin High School, said some times the cost of these private parties get out of hand, reaching as much as $1,000. But most are keyed to the tastes of the girls and parents involved.

On the whole, Mrs. Hale says she does not believe the cost has risen much in recent years. One Austin father noted that the trend is toward big parties in party barns outside the city where the combos can turn their amplifiers to the top without anyone calling the cops.

It was to avoid a large number of expensive parties that Highland Park High School, in a swank suburban area of Dallas, decided some years ago on a whopper of a party.

It begins with a prom immediately after commencement exercises, followed by a 2 a.m. swim party and breakfast at 8 a.m. It is well chaperoned.

One father, like other fathers have discovered or will find, reports that the Highland Park ticket cost of $12 a couple is just the beginning, however.

Project Mohole Funds Requested

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's plea to Congress for $19.7 million to continue work on Project Mohole came a couple of days after Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., urged the House to reverse its earlier action in rejecting funds for the program.

As second ranking Democrat on the House Space Committee, Teague's role in rocketry development is well known. Not so well known is his interest in deep sea and earth explorations. But, he comes by it naturally. Texas A&M University, his alma mater, has a well-regarded oceanography department. Many of the nation's top geologists are A&M graduates.

Teague took his associates to task for refusing to grant Johnson's request for funds to carry on the project.

It involves drilling a hole through the earth's inner crust in the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii.

TEAGUE'S STAND

"The action of the House in disapproving a budget request of $19.7 million for Project Mohole is inviting Russia to spunk the United States in its efforts to explore the earth's interior," Teague told his colleagues.

"Unless the Senate restores this money, the project will be terminated and I am reliably informed that termination costs could run as much as $45 million."

"Completion of Project Mo-hole will surely enhance the prestige of the United States and has already resulted in numerous engineering and scientific discoveries of value to the military and to industry. It has the backing of the entire scientific community."

Johnson, following up his fellow Texan's plea, sent a letter to Capitol Hill reviewing the project—which is named after a German scientist who did early research on the earth's interior structure.

"The Mohole project will provide the answer to many basic questions about the earth's crust and the origin of ocean basins," said Teague.

About $25 million has been spent to date on the estimated $110-million project. The National Science Foundation is administering the project, but the Brown and Root Co., Houston, is the prime contractor. NSF has completed work on the design of an ocean platform from which the drilling would take place.

Johnson's request is still to be acted upon, but his personal plea for the funds makes it likely they eventually will be provided.

Texas A&M Will Build Accelerator

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M University has been awarded $25,000 by the Atomic Energy Commission to construct a 200-kilovolt accelerator.

One Case Involving Suspension Is Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court upheld Wednesday one case involving suspension of a Port Arthur policeman, Inspector Glenn Hamman, but ordered a second case brought to trial in district court.

Hamman was indefinitely suspended from the Port Arthur police force May 13, 1964, by the director of police for allegedly leaving his post of duty. The Firemen's and Policemen's Civil Service Commission reduced the suspension to six months without pay. Hamman appealed to the district court. Hamman was again indefinitely suspended on June 24, 1964, for different alleged acts and this suspension upheld upon appeal to the commission. Hamman appealed again and the district court consolidated the two appeals.

The high court said today the district court was right in upholding the six months suspension, which also was affirmed by the court of civil appeals.

However, the Texas Supreme Court said the trial court erred in setting aside the second suspension because the second suspension was based on alleged acts that occurred within six months of the alleged acts in the first suspension.

Presbyterian Church Top Executive Elected

BOSTON (AP) — A Kansas attorney, William P. Thompson of Wichita, Wednesday was elected chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A.

He is the first new occupant of the office in 15 years.

He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, whose service in the post has brought him into international church prominence.

Thompson, 40, is the first layman to hold the highest administrative office in the Church since 1883. The title, technically, is stated clerk.

He was elected by the Church's governing General Assembly.

Among 819 voting delegates, Thompson polled 502 ballots to 302 for the Rev. Dr. John W. Meister of Fort Wayne, Ind., and 15 for the Rev. Dr. Hugh Miller of Dover, N.J. A total of 410 was required.

Thompson served during the past year as moderator of the Church, its top honorary position.

The denomination earlier voiced its support for the "right of dissent" in current antiwar demonstrations and criticized those who tried to suppress it by defaming the "character of the protestors."

Kitchen Helpers Aid Working Housewife

By JO ANN PHINIZY
Too many cooks in the kitchen means family co-operation around the James Shaw home, 3709 Rebecca.

"We all do a little bit of the cooking," Mrs. Shaw said. "The first person home of an afternoon is the one who starts the evening meal. By the time it all gets on the table, everyone has helped in some way."

She explained that while she is on her lunch hour from book-keeping duties at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, she puts out whatever might be planned for the evening meal.

"Mostly it's one dish meals, such as a pot roast or meat loaf cooked with vegetables and ending with dessert," she said. "We usually operate out of a pair of freezers, and keep a frozen supply of such things as spaghetti sauce or pinto beans."

Mrs. Shaw's mainstays for cooking co-operation are Shaw, a pumper at Humble Oil and Refining Company; and Kathy, a junior at Big Spring Senior High School.

basketball and summertime fishing.

"Yet they help in their own fashion," Mrs. Shaw said. "For one thing, they are always hungry. For another, one or both of them usually set the table, and they are perfect to fix the ice tea glasses."

Fixing ice tea is an important ritual for the Shaws. It's their standard drink and Mrs. Shaw makes a fresh batch for each meal. A great time saver, she says, is to add the sweetening before the tea cools.

The boy's greatest contribution is putting ice cubes in the glasses. It's Mrs. Shaw's mental block.

"I don't know why," she says. "Simple as it is, I'd rather make a three-layer cake than fix one ice tea glass."

Somewhat, Mrs. Shaw said, with everyone helping with the evening family meal, things still get done on time.

"It may not be the most organized way to do things," she said, but it's a great help to me and one thing for sure, no one can afford to criticize."

things," she explained, "and all about the four food groups. But school only teaches you how to cook one dish at a time. Family cooking is a little bit different."

"You can't cook, say, a meat loaf all by itself and call it a meal," she said. "Nor can you follow the exact directions forever. I know such things as vegetables shouldn't be tampered with, but what if your family doesn't care for greens? The only way I can get mine to eat vegetables is to add a touch of garlic in the cooking. Might not be too right, but it works."

Mrs. Shaw chose some of her favorite recipes. She said that all of them fit some occasion or another and are easy to make.

Unique Flavor Changes Summer Skillet Loaf

There are probably almost as many ways to make a meat loaf as there are days in the year! If you're looking for a new one, and an easy-to-prepare family supper at the same time, fry this skillet meat loaf tangied with the zesty flavor of beer or ale. Either of the brewed beverages is used as the liquid ingredient, and makes gravy right in the pan, along with a touch of chili sauce.

Cooking the patty on top of the stove keeps your kitchen cooler and enables you to serve the dish in half the time required for oven-baked meat loaf. And summer being the season everyone wants to be out of doors, this is indeed a tasty time saver!

SUMMERTIME MEAT LOAF
1 egg
1 cup beer or ale, divided

1 cup soft bread crumbs
3/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. instant dried onion
1/2 tsp. thyme
1 lb. ground chuck
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1-3 cup chili sauce

Beat egg slightly in large bowl. Add 1-3 cup of beer. Stir in bread crumbs, salt, pepper, onion and thyme. Add meat and mix thoroughly. Shape into one large patty. Melt butter in skillet. Brown meat over medium heat on both sides. Add remaining 2-3 cup beer; cover and simmer 20 minutes. Stir chili sauce into pan gravy and heat to serving temperature.

Yield: 4 servings.

SWEET POTATO SURPRISE CAKE
1 1/2 cups cooking oil
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, separated
4 tbsps. hot water
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
3 tbsps. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1 tsp. ground nutmeg
1 1/2 cups grated raw sweet potatoes
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. vanilla

Combine cooking oil and sugar and beat until smooth. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add hot water, then dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Stir in potatoes, nuts and vanilla. Beat well. Beat egg whites until stiff, and fold into mixture. Bake in three greased 8-inch layer cake pans at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool and frost.

FROSTING
1 large can evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
1 stick margarine
3 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1-3 cups flaked coconut

Combine milk, sugar, margarine, egg yolks and vanilla in sauce pan. Cook over medium heat about 12 minutes, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and add coconut. Beat until cool and of spreading consistency.

AVOCADO-EGG SALAD
2 ripe avocados, diced
2 hard cooked eggs, diced
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup salad dressing
Salt
Dash garlic powder
Lettuce leaves

Combine avocados, eggs and celery and toss together with salad dressing, salt to taste and garlic powder. Serve immediately on lettuce leaves.

PECAN DROPS
1 cup pecans
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup plus 2 tbsps. shortening
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
2 tbsps. vanilla extract

Start oven at 325 degrees and chop pecans rather coarsely. Cream margarine and shortening together until smooth. Then beat in the confectioners' sugar gradually. Stir in the flour thoroughly and add vanilla extract and pecans. Mix well and drop by teaspoons onto an ungreased baking sheet. Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until a delicate light brown. Makes 4 dozen.

CHESS PIE
3 eggs
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 tsp. butter flavoring
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup evaporated milk
1 tsp. vanilla
1 unbaked pie shell

Cream margarine, add sugar and eggs, and beat thoroughly. Add the milk, butter flavoring and vanilla. Pour into an unbaked pie shell, and bake about 90 minutes in a 325 degree oven.

Grape Juice Goes Into Cool Drink

A grape is a grape is a grape. But use varies according to type, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We generally separate grapes into four classes, according to use: (1) wine grapes, (2) table grapes, (3) raisin grapes and (4) sweet, or unfermented, juice grapes.

These sweet juice grapes, mainly the Concord, were produced in abundance last year. That's the reason you're seeing such large quantities of grape juice on display at your grocer's.

Try this Ginger Grape Delight. You'll need 1 package of grape gelatin, 1 cup each hot water and white grape juice, 1 cup drained, canned, white seedless grapes and whipped cream topping.

Dissolve the gelatin in hot water. Add the grape juice and chill until slightly thickened. Fold in grapes, pour into molds and chill until firm. Unmold and top with any of the following whipped cream toppings: cream until thick and fluffy. Blend in 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger.

Peppermint Whipped Cream Topping: Beat 3/4 cup of whipping cream until thick and fluffy. Blend in 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 drops of peppermint extract and a few drops of green food coloring.

Walt Disney Takes Culinary Honors With Beef Hash

Walt Disney, is no less a master in culinary delights than in the studio with brush and pen. But back in the twenties, when he was a young artist trying to scratch out a living, he was hungry enough to entertain Mousie as he watched one skitter around his grim garage studio.

Instead, he had the inspiration that was to carry him to amazing heights of success, to make his name known in every nation of the world. The inspiration, of course, was named Mickey Mouse. And upon that story book beginning was built a warm and human empire of entertainment that has outlasted governments and kings, dictators, despots and all sorts of fuzzy regimes.

Walt worries no more about his bread and board and could enjoy tenderloins and truffles on the hour if he cared to. Through his years of success, though, he has kept his love of simple food, hearty and well-prepared, and dishes such as chili and beans and roast beef hash remain among his favorites.

Here is his favorite recipe for dining well and truly when he prepares a meal just for himself or informally entertains close friends.

Though Walt's formula is for one serving, it can be multiplied as needed, and, except for the final touches may be prepared ahead of time. Pleasantly uncomplicated to prepare, Walt Disney's Browned Roast Beef Hash, has the simple elegance of great cuisine. Here's how he does it.

WALT DISNEY'S BROWN ROAST BEEF HASH
Prime rib of beef or roast beef, chopped fine. Meat, onion and potato should be in about equal proportions. Chop one medium onion fine and fry lightly in butter. Chop one medium potato in very small pieces. Mix all together and add one cup of beef stock. Put in an open pan in a 350 degree oven for one hour, then form it like an omelet and brown

WALT DISNEY

In a frying pan. Serve with a poached or fried egg on top. This hash may be interrupted after its initial oven roasting then fried later.

With it fresh peas, asparagus, carrots, lima or green beans, plus a salad (cold slaw is nice) make an entirely delightful lunch or relaxed dinner.

Grate Rind Prior To Fixing Juice

When a recipe calls for both grated orange rind and orange juice, grate the rind before squeezing the juice. Treat lemons in this same fashion. And be sure to wash and dry the orange or lemon before doing the grating.

Four Foods' Top List As Savers

"Fore!" is a familiar word nowadays, as golfers take to the courses for early-morning rounds.

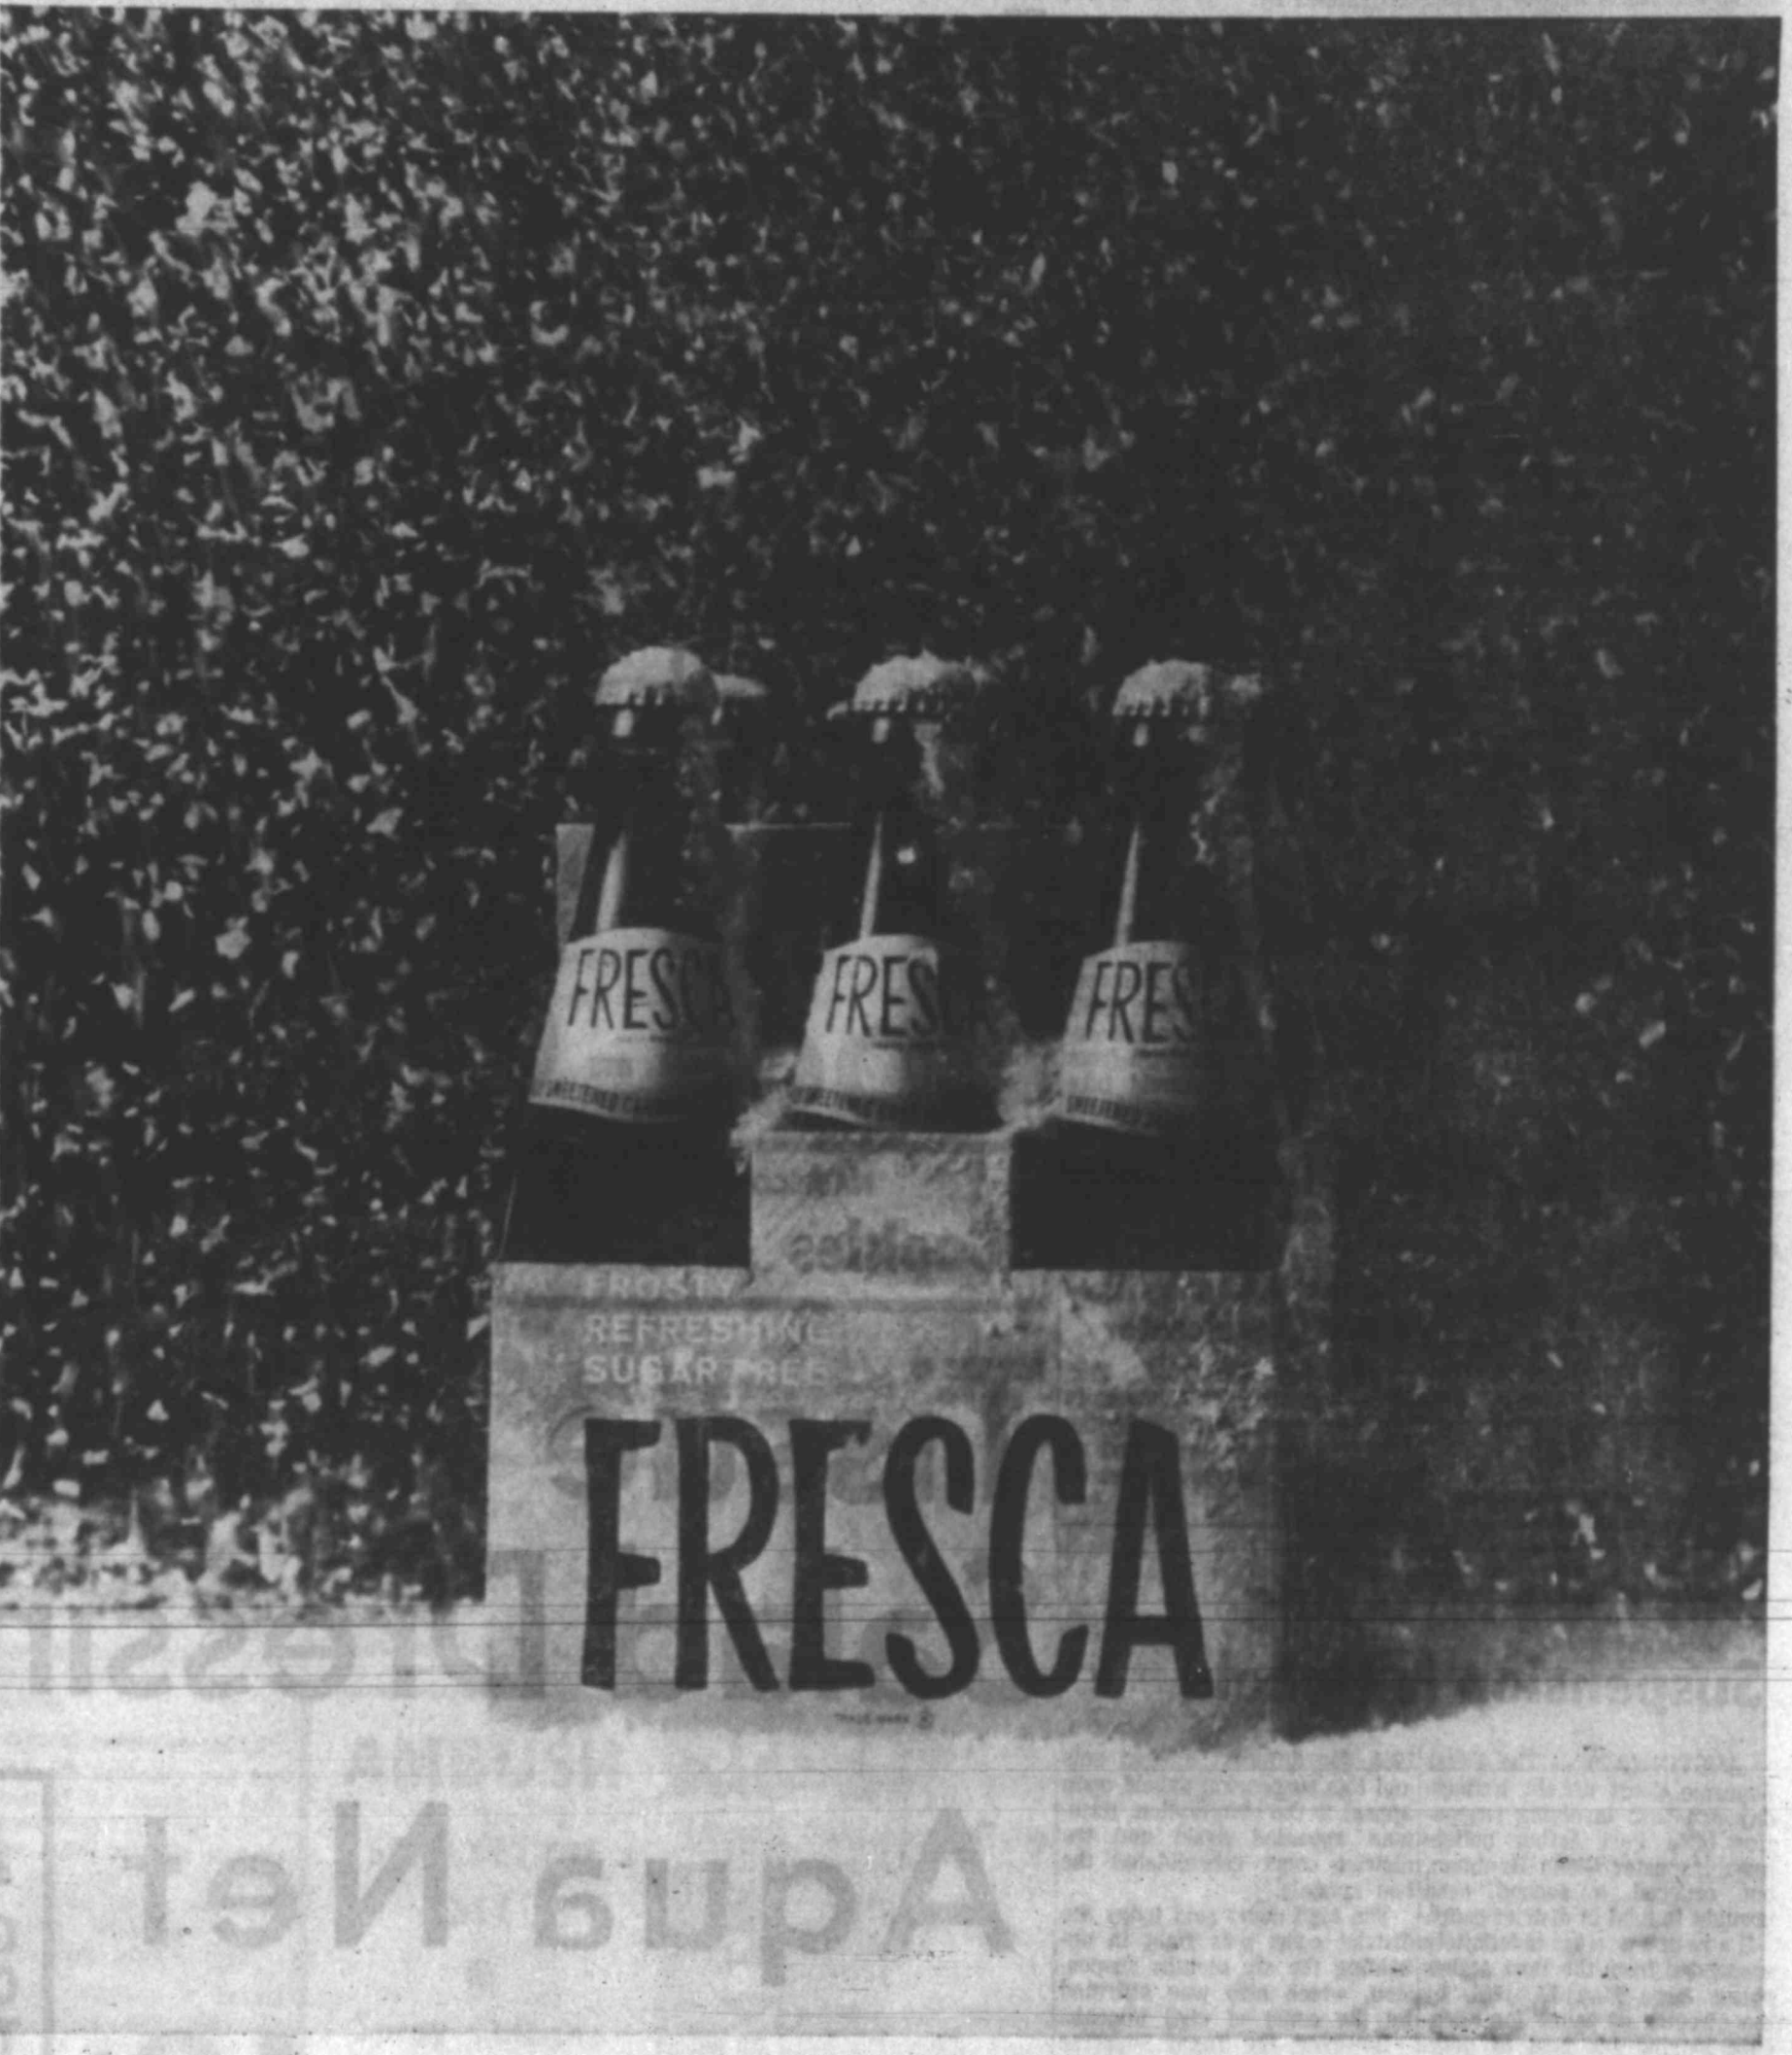

Another familiar "four" during June is the plentiful foods reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They're raisins, split peas and lentils, canned red salmon and seasonal vegetables. They, too, fit into courses—on tables that provide good eating.

A 272,000-ton raisin crop—the largest since 1953—has created a huge supply of these delicious dried fruits. You'll see the abundance reflected in current prices. Nutrition-wise, raisins are always a bargain. Use them in pies, pudding and other desserts or serve them for afternoon snacks.

If you wish to economize, let split peas and lentils give you an added boost. You'll find split peas cost little per serving, yet they're versatile and high in protein.

Canned red salmon offers a perfect solution to warm-weather meal planning. A salad that features red salmon is refreshingly delightful and so easy to prepare. Last year's red salmon pack, on the market now, was 2 million standard cases—2 1/2 times more than a year earlier.

June and fresh vegetables are synonymous. The delicious taste of fresh vegetables gives appetites that extra pick-up needed during warm weather days.

Here. The frosty taste of Fresca. It's a blizzard.

Fresca is the new cold drink with the frosty, cold taste. And of course, it's sugar-free.

Just how refreshing is Fresca? This refreshing: icy, biting, bold, cold, frosty, wintry, breezy, shivering, shimmering, shuddering, stinging, springy, sparkling, splashing, nipping, chilling, lively, light, bright, brisk, bouncing, bubbling, piercing, nearly freezing, and almost shocking.

There's never been a taste so refreshing. It's a blizzard.

Dear Abby

It's Her Own Problem

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with a woman who will let a man walk all over her? My neighbor has married the same man TWICE. They are divorced now, and like a fool, she is considering marrying him again. They don't have any children to stay together for. She doesn't need a man to support her as she makes more than he does. He treats her like dirt. If you can tell me what she needs this good for nothing, arrogant, two-timer for, you are a genius. "THE ONE SHE CRIES ON"

DEAR ONE: I can't tell you, but you can take my word for it, she needs him for something. Even if it's only to "punish" her. To each his own. Some people's idea of happiness is having something to "suffer" for. It's a pathological quirk.

DEAR ABBY: I haven't a love problem, but I want to know the answer to something that has been bothering me. My son recently married a woman who was married before and had a child by her first husband. My husband legally adopted the little girl. Now, that child isn't really my granddaughter, is she?

She already has two grandmothers as her mother's mother is still living and so is her real father's mother. So if she already has two grandmothers, where do I fit in? I don't get it.

WHAT AM I?

DEAR WHAT: When your son adopted the child, he became a father, and you became a grandmother.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a person who is constantly correcting others in public about the pronunciation of words and their use? All involved in this situation are adults. Thank you.

CORRECTED
DEAR CORRECTED: The constant corrector is showing his ignorance. It is infinitely more important to be KIND than correct.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Teenagers Can Be Employed

DALLAS—Employers can hire teenagers in many kinds of jobs during the summer months without violating the Fair Labor Standards Act—the federal law containing child-labor provisions, according to regional director W. J. Rogers of the U.S. Department of Labor's wage and hour and public contracts divisions.

Boys and girls of 16 and 17 can work in any job except those which have been declared hazardous by the secretary of labor. They require an 18-year age minimum.

Youngsters 14 and 15 years of age may be employed in such jobs as office, clerical or sales work. In fact, they can work in most jobs that do not involve manufacturing, mining, processing, or similar occupations, he pointed out. During summer vacation, these may work as many as eight hours a day or 40 hours a week, but all work must be performed between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Employers should obtain age certificates or work permits. They serve as proof of age for purposes of the act and usually can be obtained from local school authorities. He also reminded employers that where state and federal child-labor laws differ, the higher standards prevail. Additional information on how the act's child-labor provisions apply to working youngsters may be obtained from the nearest office of the Labor Department's wage and hour and public contracts divisions—regional or field offices.

'TIDE TURNED'

Adults Following Instead Of Leading Younger Set?

NEW YORK (AP) — Are adults copycats, following the young generation instead of trying to lead it?

Dr. Emanuel Demby, president of Motivational Programmers, Inc., says: "From time immemorial, young people have carved out individualistic group patterns, behavior that made them like teenagers and separated them from us."

"Then the tide began to turn." Adults took over rock 'n' roll music; they adopted the Twist, Frug and Watusi; they sliced hems above the knee; they even talked about a sexual revolution almost as much as the youngsters.

"Every step that youth took to differentiate itself was followed by a copycat action on the part of adult society," Demby told a recent scientific meeting.

The one exception: smoking pot — marijuana — and using psychedelics.

NO-MAN'S LAND

"It is almost as though this is the only no-man's land between youth and adult society. Thus, it is not surprising that more and more young people are taking a stand that pot, LSD and all the rest are not only not harmful but helpful to their growth. Adult society, anxious and fearful, accuses youth of becoming alienated and degraded by dependence on drugs."

In depth interviews with young people, Demby said, "We found them almost thanking God that in at least one area of human activity, adults were not copying youth."

Demby, who is senior research consultant to the College of Business Administration of Fairleigh Dickinson University, said one youth told him: "Adults are the enemy."

Another said: "We're taking over sooner or later. We have to. We're the active generation. Yours is the generation of betrayal. You started out idealistic. You wound up commercial."

Youth, said Demby, sees adult society as a pitiable, alienated, replaceable segment of the world's population.

Demby was fascinated to discover that one of the basic things with teenagers is putting their parents on — making them think things that aren't so.

BIG PUT-ON

One youngster explained to him: "We tell parents things just to find out what it takes to shock them. The Beatles are a big put-on. We don't really care. But it's the biggest put-on of them all. Nobody cares except the parents. They think it's real. And the kids who are too young think it's real too. Pop art is one great big put-on."

Some of the practical implications of his study, said Demby: "Black humor and the humor of the put-on should have a great future."

Until adults discover the thrill of being adults, the models used in advertising will continue to become younger and younger. A model who looks like a 21-year-old will be ready for obscurity.

Package design will move more toward sensual materials and sexy forms.

New frames of reference will be needed to measure public opinion attitudes of youth groups, to know how much is part of a put-on.

Fewer young people will want to become physicists or have anything to do with the bomb and development of weapons.

The future for products and services that promise relief from anxiety will be greater than ever.

Penney's Reports Annual Earnings

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Company, department store chain, has reported earnings of 43 cents a share for the first quarter. Earnings for the same quarter last year, including a non-recurring gain of 11 cents a share from the sale of Penney's here, were 46 cents.

Net earnings for the 13 weeks ended April 30 amounted to $10,622,258 compared with 1965's $11,494,743, of which $2,940,965 came from the sale of the building. While over-all earnings decreased $832,485, comparative earnings excluding last year's non-recurring gain increased $2,008,380, or 23.3 per cent.

Sales for the first 13 weeks of the Company's 1966 fiscal year which began on Jan. 30 totaled $496,310,969 against $444,176,291 for the same 1965 period, an increase of $52,134,708, or 11.7 per cent.

Rock Hudson Star At Cannes Festival

By BOB THOMAS
AP TV - Radio Writer

CANNES, France (AP) — Having witnessed the tribal customs of the American film community, I felt obliged during a European visit to observe the ritual of the international film festival.

The biggest and most prestigious of the festivals is the one at Cannes, so I dropped in on one day's events of the festival's 20th year.

And where were all the starlets in bikinis, or less? That traditional element was lacking. In its place was a fully clothed Rock Hudson.

NEW MOVIE
The occasion was a showing of Rock's new Paramount picture, "Seconds," and he had interrupted a motor tour through Europe to attend the festival. He enjoys such functions about as much as he likes to fill out his income tax. But he also owns part of the picture and he arrived at the Nice airport smiling.

His festival baptism came at a luncheon staged in his honor at Eden Rock, the swank resort at Cap d'Antibes. There he was greeted by 200 reporters of many nations and by Sophia Loren, who was president of the jury committee and takes her duties seriously.

He endured endless questions in a variety of languages until he finally insisted that he be allowed to finish his cold cuts before facing another interview. "Seconds" was shown that night at the Festival Palace. The afternoon showing for the press and others had not gone well, and as a gag, Rock showed up with a golden horseshoe to indicate his wish that the night performance would be better received. He also brought actress Pamela Tiffin, who wore a frightened smile as she faced the photographers. They seemed to number several hundred.

FILED SLOW
Directed in stark style by John Frankenheimer, "Seconds" seemed like new-wave Hollywood. The audience found the film slow and overwrought, and there were intermittent whistles of discontent. But the audience obviously liked Rock, personally and professionally, and he was greeted with applause as he departed.

"Seconds" was snubbed by Miss Loren and her fellow judges when the prizes were handed out. But its dramatics may serve to convince the film world that Rock Hudson can do something besides court a coy Doris Day.

Court Backs Jerry Sadler In Land Row

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court agreed with land commissioner Jerry Sadler Wednesday that a tract of coastal property in Cameron County is not vacant school land and may not be purchased.

The court, without written opinion, refused to entertain arguments attacking decisions of a Cameron County district court and the Corpus Christi Court of Civil Appeals in Sadler's favor. Ruby Hermon Butler, executrix of the estate of John Claude Butler, brought the suit to force Sadler to accept an application to purchase the tract, located about 15 miles northeast of Brownsville. The tract is bounded on the north and east by Laguna Madre, records show. Sadler contended no vacant and unsurveyed lands could exist in the area described in the application, which he rejected Feb. 24, 1966.

AWAIT DEVELOPMENTS

Europe Now Wary Over U.S. Economy

NEW YORK (AP)— European central bankers seem as perplexed by the U.S. economic mix as are most Americans in and out of Wall Street. The European money managers are questioning their American counterparts closely on whether U.S. business is headed for a superbloom — with its threat of bust — or is leveling off prior to a possible turnaround. They are concerned because of the prime role of the United States in world monetary and economic affairs.

WHAT'S HAPPENING?
Just what's happening to the American economy is dominating the international conference of the American Bankers Association in Madrid, Spain. And just what really is happening depends on which of the experts you are listening to.

official Washington view as outlined to them in Madrid by Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers. He is trying to assure them that the American economy is slowing down in healthy fashion after expanding too fast in the first three months of this year.

But the European central bankers seem to be taking a different view than did the traders in the U.S. stock markets. The April slowdown sent stock prices down sharply. Even more disturbing to the markets was the drop in new car sales and production in May.

TURNING POINT?
The perplexities of the current situation in the U.S. economy — is it or isn't it at a turning point? — also are the dominant themes of meetings under way in New York.
Steelmen are debating both close-range and long-range outlooks for their industry at the annual meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute.
The professional watchers of the stock market are gathered at the Financial Analysts Federation's annual meeting. And their views range all the way from optimism to pessimism, with the middle ground of fingers-crossed attracting the most adherents.
It's a puzzling time — whether you look at it from this side of the Atlantic or the other.

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND

Olivia Not Regretful Over Horror Film

PARIS (AP) — "Imagine dear, sweet Melanie banned in Britain!" exclaimed Olivia de Havilland in mock horror.
Melanie, of course, was the saccharine belle of "Gone with the Wind," which Miss de Havilland played with remarkable skill in 1939.
In more recent times she appeared in "Lady in a Cage," a Gothic tale of such horror that the British censor refused to allow it to be shown in the isles. The British are more alarmed by violence than by sex in films; the reverse is true in America.

NO REGRETS
"I have absolutely no regrets about doing the picture," said Olivia. "I thought it was a testament against senseless violence, and I was happy that the French critics agreed. In fact, they raved so much about it that the film was booked into the London Film Festival; it will apparently be the only time "Lady in a Cage" will play in England."
The actress was commenting over tea in her house on Rue de Benouville near the heart of Paris. She fits gracefully into the Parisian life, although she was born in Tokyo of English parents and spent most of her childhood and acting career in America.

WED EDITOR
She moved to Paris nine years ago, when she married magazine editor Pierre Galliane. The marriage appears to have hit an impasse, but she continues her residence here.

STUFFED EGGPLANTS
Using green peppers and rice

Rice, Beef Give Rich Stuffing To Eggplants, Green Peppers

For a meal in a dish that's colorful, tasty and inexpensive, select the prettiest, shiniest purple eggplants and green peppers you can find and stuff them with an appetizing ground beef-and-rice filling. Each diner gets an eggplant half and a pepper in these recipes prepared to serve four.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS
4 medium-sized green peppers
1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green peppers
1 1/2 tps. Tabasco
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
Remove tops; slice white membrane from inside of each pepper. Drop peppers into boiling water; let simmer for 15 minutes. Combine beef, onion, pepper, Tabasco and salt in a skillet—saute until pepper is tender. Toss in rice to blend all ingredients.

chop. Heat oil in skillet. Add eggplant pieces, beef, onion, pepper, garlic, Tabasco and salt; saute until eggplant is lightly browned.

Toss in rice to blend all ingredients. Stuff eggplant halves with filling. Place stuffed halves, skin side down, in greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Remove from oven, sprinkle with lemon juice and serve. Yield: 4 servings.

Raisins Are Good Buy

Despite its familiarity, the raisin actually is rather unique. Unique because in the United States, only California has the right kind of climate to produce raisins. Australia, Greece and Turkey are the only other sizable producers of raisins.

Since the 1920's, various types of seedless raisins have dominated the world market, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The seedless varieties of grapes not only are preferred for eating out of hand, but are especially valued by the confectionary and baking industries.

During the Middle Ages, the market for raisins expanded from the Far East to European countries. Raisins were noted for being good additions in cooking, and good snacks for the weary traveler.

Stuff each pepper with about 1/2 cup of filling. Place peppers, standing up, in greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 1/2 hour or until peppers are tender. Peppers may be served hot or cold. Yield: 4 servings.

STUFFED EGGPLANT
2 medium-sized eggplants
1/2 cup oil
1 1/2 lbs ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper, optional
1/2 clove garlic, chopped
1 1/2 tps. Tabasco
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
1 tsp. lemon juice
Slice eggplants in half; scoop out some of the insides and

Skillet Liver Can Become Dinner

A quick and savory way to prepare a nutritious meal.

SAVORY SKILLET LIVER
1 lb. baby beef liver
1 tsp. salad oil
1 tsp. wine vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. onion salt
1/2 tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. butter
Have liver sliced between 1/4 and 1/2 inch thick. Mix the oil, vinegar, salt, onion salt and celery salt and turn liver in the mixture; allow to stand about 1/2 hour. Lift liver from marinade and cook in a skillet in hot butter over moderate heat to desired doneness, turning to brown both sides. This should take only 3 to 5 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

PLENTIFUL FOOD

Crab Cooks Maintain World Of Their Own

Most good cooks are cheerful and they spread their cheer to all plates that receive the fruits of their efforts.

Still wags and cartoonists often characterize the "crabby" cook as the kind who adopts the nature of never-satisfied diners.

But why are only sour cooks—and other unfriendly persons—called crabs?

Perhaps it's because their acrid manners have a men that portends no good to any who get in their way—just as the grasping claws on a live crab's legs can pinch.

Fortunately, though, the joy of eating crabmeat is in reverse ratio to the "crabbiness" of a live crab.

It's like the New Hebrides native at Espiritu Santo told an American sailor during World War II, as they studied a mess of fresh crab from the sea: "You have to think of the good meat; not how they look here."

And when you consider eating enjoyment, it's among the highest of compliments to be called a "crabby cook." Crabs and crabmeat are delicious—a treat enhanced even more by a cook who knows her crabs and how to prepare them for delicious fare.

With crabs and crab meat so abundant, this is a good time to serve it with other plentiful foods like all of the spring-fresh vegetables now at the market.

You may want to prepare Crab Ravigole, as suggested by the U.S. Department of Interior: You'll need 1 pound of fresh or frozen crabmeat, or two 6 1/2-ounce cans of crabmeat; 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 2 tablespoons chopped onion; 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle or drained pickle relish; 1 tablespoon chopped parsley; 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped; 1/4 teaspoon salt; a dash of pepper; salad greens, an additional 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing; 2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives; 1/4 teaspoon paprika; and pimiento strips.

Thaw frozen crab meat or drain canned crab meat. Remove any shell or cartilage. Combine mayonnaise, lemon juice, onion, pickle, parsley, egg, seasonings and crab meat. Shape into a mound on salad greens. Combine mayonnaise, olives and paprika. Spread over crabmeat mixture. Chill. Garnish with pimiento strips. Serves six.

Lemonade Time

Making lemonade? Count on four lemons yielding about three quarters cup of juice.

Standards Required For Food

What guidelines do you use when you shop for ice cream? How can you be sure the product was processed and packed under sanitary conditions?

Development of large dairy plants serving expanded regional areas has brought more need for uniform standards.

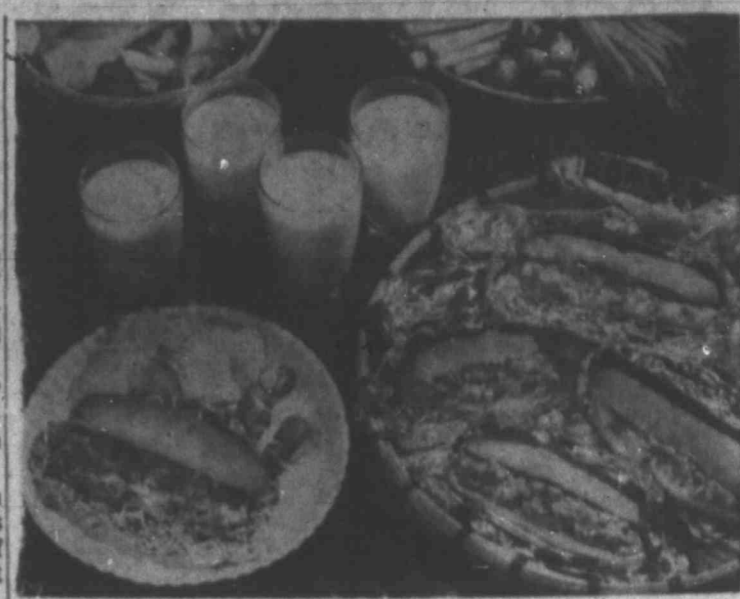

The International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers has asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to prepare a draft of standards.

With the help of the industry, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service developed these standards. They cover two areas: the quality of raw material and the condition of the manufacturing plant and manufacturing practices.

To protect the quality of raw material, the standards provide for inspection and certification of farms on a regular basis, and a program of approved handling procedures.

The phase of the standards dealing with manufacturing plants specifies equipment and practices which many frozen dessert manufacturers are already employing.

Adequate buildings and processing rooms, stainless steel equipment, adequate pasteurization equipment, and a thorough cleaning routine are taken for granted by many in the dairy industry.

Porch Supper Made Ahead

Hot, meaty sandwiches provide a satisfying answer to the springtime supper problem.

Supper is indeed an easy meal with these hot sandwiches. You'll need only potato chips, raw relishes, milk and fruit.

MEAT SALAD HIDEAWAYS

1 can (12 ozs.) luncheon meat, finely chopped
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1-3 cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tps. finely chopped onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

3 tps. mayonnaise
3 tps. catsup
12 frankfurter buns
Combine meat, cheese, olives, onion, eggs, mayonnaise and catsup. Mix well. Split frankfurter buns almost through. Fill each bun with approximately 1-3 cup mixture. Wrap in foil and heat over coals or bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 minutes. 12 sandwiches.

DR. BAKER—PLEASE DON'T BE ANGRY WITH ME—I HAD TO COME BACK—AND BE WITH YOU!

NO—HOW DID YOU KNOW?—YOU ARE HERE TO MEET ME, AREN'T YOU?

I WAS GOING TO OIL CITY, JANE—ON THE NEXT PLANE!

IT'S A CRAZY, MIDDLED-UP WORLD, HONEY—WHEN NEWS CAN BE SAD AND GOOD AT THE SAME TIME—BUT—I—

WILL YOU TELL HER, JANE, WORTH—ABOUT THIS?

REX MORGAN

HOW DID THE DOCTOR HEAR ABOUT YOU, REX?

DR. BAKER, A CLASSMATE OF MINE, WHO IS MEDICAL DIRECTOR OF THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL, SUGGESTED THAT HE GET IN TOUCH WITH ME!

HOW'D YOU'DNT RECOMMEND ANYONE WHO ISN'T GOOD? YOU KNOW, JUNE, I'VE BEEN THINKING FOR SOME TIME THAT IT WOULD BE NICE TO HAVE AN ASSOCIATE HERE IN THE OFFICE!

IT WOULD MEAN THAT YOU COULD TAKE AN OCCASIONAL WEEKEND OFF WITH OUT WORRYING ABOUT YOUR PRACTICE! WHATS THE DOCTORS NAME?

DR. MORELAND... I.R. MORELAND... HE'S EXPECTING TO BE IN TOWN IN A DAY OR TWO AND WILL CALL ME!

IT MIGHT BE REAL INTERESTING TO HAVE ANOTHER MAN AROUND!

TERRY

TRUE, BAZZ! BUT TO A POOR FOREMAN A SUM SUCH AS HIS WIFE'S WOULD ONLY CHRY IN HER PURSE IS HEALTH BENEFIT. HIS WILDEST DREAMS!

EYES! WELL WORTH THE RISK OF CROSSING THE GREAT, SWAMPY THE REY SEA PIRATE, AND PUTTING THE FEMALE SHORE ON THE MAINLAND!

MUST BE SOMEONE IN YOUR OUTFIT WHO KNOWS THE FISHING FLEET WHO COULD NOMINATE THE LARGEST BODY SWIMMER IN TOWN.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF FISHING SHIPS, THUS THOUSANDS OF SUSPECTS—AND WE LACK A COMPUTER TO PROVIDE US WITH A QUICK ANSWER TO YOUR QUESTION!

SMITTY

YEAH, SMITTY! PUT A WAHIE-TALKIE ON OUR DOGS COLLAR

I TALK TO HIM THROUGH THIS ONE HERE

SAY SOMETHIN' TO HIM, HERBY!

Red Party In U.S. Takes On New Look, Softens Approach

NEW YORK (AP) — "The sun," beams Gus Hall, America's No. 1 Communist, "is shining more brightly on the Communist party."

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
A high level of play is offered in today's hand taken from a recent World Title match between the United States and Italy. The Italians netted a substantial swing on the deal.
Alto four spades is a superior contract, the Americans reached four hearts at the table where they were seated North-South. East opened the bidding with one diamond, and South made a somewhat doubtful preemptive jump overall of two hearts. This bid is designed to describe a good suit of at least six card length with little outside strength, and it implies a lack of interest in any other suit.
North invited a game by raising to three hearts — there seemed little inducement to show his spades and a doubleton honor is considered to be adequate trump support for an announced six card suit. South carried on to four hearts.
West opened the queen of diamonds and was permitted to hold the trick, when declarer played the five from dummy. The diamond continuation was alities of a new American society, but the party has melted down some of the graven images of Karl Marx which thundered that religion was the opium of the people, that capitalism was doomed because of its built-in excesses that would cause increasing misery, wars and ultimately and inevitably a revolt of the masses in a bloody dawn of socialism.

For an occasion, the CP-USA sounds as if it were getting downright soft on communism.
"Capitalism in the United States, says the CP's proposed new platform "is a marvel of social collective effort."
"We recognize many positive, humanist values in the ethical and moral precepts of the several religions," says the same document.
GREAT REVERSAL
"We, in common with most of the world's Marxists, are persuaded that war is no longer inevitable," it continues. And, in one of the greatest reversals since the Yankees lost the pennant, it adds: "It strikes us as folly to think that monopoly can be overcome and revolutionary transformation of society be undertaken without the sanction and participation of a majority of the (American) people. We Communists are defenders of the Constitution in principle and practice."
Since the party's founding in America in 1919 any one who has followed its party line has traveled a crooked path, indeed. When Moscow called the turns, the CP-USA turned, even if it meant marching back through the rubble of yesterday's certitudes. The anti-Fascist line of the 1930s, the Hitler-Stalin pact and the German invasion of the Soviet Union forced the party to about face three times in a matter of months, causing numerous comrades to fall out of step.
Moscow currently is attempting to coexist with the West. So the CP-USA is trying to coexist with the USA. And it is doing better than it has for over 15 years.
Despite its "new look" and its softer approach, the party is still carefully watched by government agencies.
FOREIGN ATTACHMENT
"They are not just another group telling Americans what to do," says an aide to U.S. Atty.

Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach. "The reason for our interest in them is their attachment to a foreign power."
"The CP-USA is probably more pro-Russian than any party in the world," said an FBI spokesman.
"They are a Trojan horse in our midst," he added. But the bureau doubts it is a horse filled with spies.
"Espionage is carried out directly from Moscow," the FBI says. "The party would be too risky. Moscow knows we know who the members are."
Says the FBI: "Hall puts membership at 12,000, up 2,000 in recent years, with another 100,000 state-of-mind Communists. He's probably right."
That sounds slight compared to the estimated 100,000 card carriers only two or three decades ago.
HOSTILITY DIMINISHES
But for years the main issue the party dealt with was its own survival. It was confronted with the hostility of the law, the Congress and the American people in general. This hostility has diminished, fortunately for the CP-USA, at a time when the meaty type of divisive issues on which Communists feed have arisen, especially the turmoil over the war in Viet Nam and civil rights.
Despite the new conditions in which it exists and for all its optimism the Communist party is nowhere near the power it was in the 1930s — when depression woes fed its strength — when it was a major force in labor and among the intellectuals.

The affluence of the American society may be the greatest barrier against any new growth of the party. It has failed to make much headway among the "new left" on the university campuses, which generally regards it as a relic of an older time with no meaning for today.
There is little evidence that it has much influence among Negroes engaged in the civil rights movement. Intellectuals couldn't stand the switchbacks of the party's forward march and strayed off, few to return.
COST POSITIONS
The hard-line anti-Americanism of post-war Stalinism cost the party key positions it had gained in the big labor unions, and the party all but split itself into oblivion when Stalin, its former hero, was desanctified by Nikita Khrushchev in 1956.
The party that once polled 100,000 votes for its presidential candidate in 1932 won less than 1,000 votes for New York City Council 25 years later.
So when a government official says the party doesn't have great influence "but more than is generally believed," he is paying a compliment to the CP's tenacity. In fact, it's lucky to be alive at all. Yet it has not been all the party's doing.
Not the sun but the courts first began to shine more liberally. After World War II, the CP-USA began to burrow underground to escape the Smith Act of 1940, which made it a crime to conspire, advocate or teach the violent overthrow of the government, and the McCarran Act of 1950, which required the party and its members to register as Communists.

Eleven leading Communists were jailed in 1949 under the Smith Act, including Hall who had a maximum security cell at Leavenworth next to the late Machine Gun Kelly, the 1930s bank robber — "a nice fellow," Hall says of his cell neighbor, Sen. Joseph McCarthy was in full cry after the party.
But by the mid-50s McCarthy had faded and died. After many climbs up and back to the U.S. Supreme Court, the Smith Act says a spokesman for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, "has been all but gutted." To secure a conviction under it, the court ruled, actual efforts to instigate subversion must be proved.
ANOTHER DECISION
The court also held registration of party members violates the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination. After 16 years the court has yet to decide if the party itself must register. There is little movement in Congress to amend the McCarran Act, admittedly a legal briar patch.
"Congress has outlawed the party as far as it can under the Constitution," said a Senate aide. "Anything more would be a bill of attainder which could as well apply to the Elks or B'nai B'rith as to the CP."
Therefore the party has re-emerged into the light of day.

The money that went for legal fees is now free for agitation and propaganda. And, it so happens, these times offer a seller's market for agitation and propaganda.
Disquiet over civil rights and the war in Viet Nam is not Communist inspired, says the FBI. But both issues provide handy outlets for the CP's marchers, mottoes, and mimeograph machines.
The rise of a young radical "new left," particularly on campuses, offers the party a badly needed field for new recruitment to replenish its aging membership.
With its softer line and a broadening pond in which to cast it, the Communist party plans to hold a national convention in New York next month, its first since 1959. In anticipation of the convention, the party drew up its new draft, printed ed 50,000 copies of the 127-page document and plans a similar second printing.

It is a sometimes turgidly written attempt to bury old images. "The CP is trying to do away with the old Bolshevik skulking town an alley with a bomb," said the FBI. "They want to present themselves as just another American political faction."
If the draft program is not quite as American as apple pie, it would nonetheless probably draw a stinging letter to the editor from Karl Marx.
STILL "VILLAINOUS"
To be sure, the villain is still the monopoly capitalist.
The CP, while "marveling" at the "social collective effort" of American capitalism, says "the finished product is still the private property of the corporate owners."
