FOR MEDICARE

Five Local Hospitals Are Eligible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Big Spring hospitals have been approved as eligible to participate in the federal medicare program. They were among 424 Texas hospitals declared eligible Saturday.

Cowper Clinic and Hospital, Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, Medical Arts Hospital, and the Big Spring State Hospital were on the list.

Other area facilities eligible include Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City, D. M. Cogdell Hospital in Snyder, and Sterling County Hospital at Sterling City. There were no listings for Lamesa and Stanton.

In releasing the list, the government made it clear that this eligibility will be canceled if a later inspection discloses racial discrimination.

In its drive to enroll as many as possible of the country's 7,654 qualified hospitals before the program of care for the elderly begins July 1, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is accepting their assurances in writing that they are in compliance with the nondiscrimination requirements of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The results of this hurry up effort were disclosed Saturday when the department made public a list of 5,538 hospitals which have been formally signed up for participation or have provided written assurances that they are in compliance with the law against discriminatory racial practices.

But HEW specified that this clearance "is subject to an on-site visit later" by government representatives who will check for discrimination not only in the handling of patients and employees but in giving hospital staff privileges to doctors regardless of color.

Although 2,143 hospitals — mostly in the South — as of Thursday had not yet been cleared under the rights law, Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner predicted on that day that virtually all will be certified in time for the start of health insurance benefits for 19 million Americans aged 65 and over.

A Welfare Department spokesman said that only some 2,000-plus of the hospitals listed Saturday have completed all the formalities of signing up to participate in medicare. But he said the others named have given assurances of compliance and are expected to be fully enrolled by July 1.

He noted that Saturday's list — somewhat updated from figures Gardner gave Thursday — shows 2,096 hospitals still not listed as in compliance. But he said officials believe that a large percentage of these have compliance papers "in the pipeline" and the list is expected to grow steadily as these papers are processed. The additional names are to be released as they become available.

In plain-talk answers to questions put by the American Hospital Association, HEW has laid down its interpretation of the legal requirements. The question-answer article is published in the current issue of "Hospitals," AHA's official journal.

HEW specified that this clearance "is subject to an on-site visit later" by government representatives who will check for discrimination not only in the handling of patients and em-

Ridicules Postal Service

Storms Crash Across Area

By The Associated Press

Towering thunderstorms smashed Saturday night across West Texas, where tornado winds caused damage estimated at more than $1 million Friday night.

Winds in excess of 80 miles an hour pushed rain at almost horizontal levels through Monahans about 7 p.m. Saturday. Within 45 minutes the storm had struck at Odessa, 50 miles northeast, with winds of up to 50 miles an hour.

The menacing storms halted a search for 16 Boy Scouts and their leader from New Mexico who were missing on a raft trip down the Rio Grande in Big Bend National Park. Moderately heavy winds ushered in rains across Howard County late Saturday, which quickly built up a heavy run-off in the downtown area. The raindrops started about 10 p.m., and shortly after, water was running curb-deep in most of the major streets downtown. Reports from most parts of the county said there was some rainfall, varying from light to heavy. There were no gauge reports.

In Monahans, the high winds blew over many trees and toppled a house trailer. No injuries were reported.

Lubbock and Abertathy were the hardest hit in Friday night's storm. Up to five inches of rain soaked parts of the region. Cotton, wheat and vegetable fields in South Plains counties were riddled by hail. Skies were generally clear to partly cloudy over most of Texas Saturday, with highs ranging from 100 at Presidio to 84 at Galveston. Readings mostly were in the 90s.

The shower activity was expected to drift eastward into North Central Texas Sunday.

The violent weather, described by some as tornadoes, dealt injury to 18 persons at Lubbock and two at Abertathy. Winds killed 2,500 chickens at a southeast Lubbock farm, then bore down on the heart of the city, causing minor damage to the courthouse and other downtown buildings. More than 300 trees, some 25 feet tall, were snapped off or blown down at McKenzie State Park on the Lubbock east side.

"It looked like a giant had stalked through the woods swinging a big ax," said newsman Joe Gordon of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

NEW MARCHERS New marchers—25 from Memphis, Tenn., a group from Louisiana, several from Milwaukee, Pittsburgh and New York — joined Saturday, the vanguard of a larger influx expected within a few days.

The huge tent had been set up in Batesville, the Panola County seat, Friday night for the first time since the march started Sunday but it wasn't used because Negro homes were opened to the weary walkers and it was cool.

The marchers now have 149 miles to go—from the original 225—to reach their goal, the state capital at Jackson.

"I don't feel marches from Memphis to Jackson are going to get Negroes registered," said Charles Evers, state director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Instead of spending all that money on airplane tickets and campouts, we should spend it on registration," he added. "That's what Meredith was shot for."

Evers, the dominant civil rights leader in Mississippi for more than a year, made his comments in Natchez, Miss., as the rally was under way in Batesville.

Told of his views, Negro leaders with the marchers promptly disagreed.

OVERCOME FEAR Robert Green, education director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference said: "I would say this: We registered about 50 to 70 people in Batesville and I think the purpose of the march is to assist

Scouts Missing In Raft-Trip On Rio Grande

BOQUILLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sixteen New Mexico Boy Scouts and their leaders were overdue here Saturday at the end of a weeklong raft trip on the Rio Grande.

"We haven't found any bodies or anything that is amiss," the Border Patrol office at Marfa said. "We just haven't found the scouts."

The 16 scouts and their leader, John Rachel of Hobbs, N.M., entered the river Monday at the lower end of Santa Elena Canyon at Castolon on the Texas-Mexico border.

They left with three rubber rafts—two of them homemade like," said Terry Brown, Big Bend National Park superintendent.

The area northwest of the park was struck by a "tremendous storm" Thursday night and Friday, Brown said. Rain water from that area drains to the Rio Grande and could cause rises on the river as much as 15 feet in the area where the party should have been Friday.

"Everybody started looking for them yesterday after the storm," the Border Patrol spokesman said. "The storm was considered bad enough that they started looking for them."

The Department of Public Safety and the Border Patrol said a raft and equipment belonging to the scouts were found on the Mexico side of the river near Mariscal Canyon.

Strength May Hit 400,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Saturday that military successes in Viet Nam "exceeded our expectations" in the first quarter of this year but said more U.S. troops will be sent there to counter continuing infiltration from the Communist North.

McNamara said 18,000 more GIs already are ticketed for South Viet Nam duty, which would boost the total there to some 285,000. Some expect the buildup to reach 400,000 by the end of the year.

RUSK JOINS Secretary of State Dean Rusk joined McNamara in anticipating further political turmoil in South Viet Nam as it shifts from a military toward a civilian regime.

However, after cutting the effectiveness of the military campaign in half earlier this spring, the internal turmoil's impact on the anti-Viet Cong effort has now been virtually overcome and "I don't think that controversy will impede military progress," McNamara said.

The administration's defense and foreign affairs chiefs spoke at a wide-ranging news conference immediately after a special White House briefing for Democratic and Republican congressional leaders.

LEJ PRESIDES President Johnson presided at the two-hour session, which also featured a report by Rusk on his just-concluded European trip.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois had complained that the administration was not engaging in enough bipartisan consultation on Viet Nam. After Saturday's midday gathering, he left the White House voicing satisfaction with the meeting.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and other administration supporters received statistics designed to show how much the Johnson regime has kept in touch with Congress and the Republican opposition. The President himself told reporters this was the 39th such bipartisan parley since he entered the White House.

"I don't know of any subject on which the American people have been more fully informed than Viet Nam," Rusk said.

Rusk said France's allies intend to push ahead with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization alliance without backbiting against President Charles de Gaulle, who is divorcing France from NATO's integrated military system.

McNamara and Rusk stoutly denied any intent to cut back the 225,000-man U.S. force in West Europe.

Rusk portrayed the Soviet threat as still there, and on Viet Nam he challenged Soviet leaders "who make rude remarks" against U.S. actions in Viet Nam to try some peace-making instead. He noted the U.S.S.R. is co-chairman of the Geneva convention supposed to guarantee peace, neutrality and independence for Indochina.

Alma Heads Back Out To Open Sea

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — Tropical storm Alma churned past North Carolina's outer banks toward the open sea Saturday, after buffeting the coast with gale force winds and drenching rains.

Forecasters said Alma, downgraded from a hurricane Friday, already was involved with a cold front and would become non-tropical — losing its calm eye and resembling an ordinary, though dangerous, low pressure system—by midday Sunday.

Alma, as a hurricane, left 47 dead—35 in Honduras, seven in Cuba and five in Florida. The extent of her damage was not known.

But having lost half of her force over Georgia, Friday she spared the Carolinas major damage.

The storm did dump almost eight inches of rain on the Wilmington area and flooded isolated low areas along the coast. At 3 p.m. (EDT), the Washington Weather Bureau located her large, ill-defined center about 75 miles south of Cape Hatteras and 125 miles east of Wilmington.

She still was moving east northeast at 15 miles per hour and was expected to continue in that direction with little change in direction or intensity for the next 12 hours.

The storm, though still a threat to shipping, was expected to dissipate over colder water in the next several days.

Catholics Show Strength In Viet Nam Demonstration

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 30,000 Catholics marched in closed ranks through the heart of Saigon Sunday in a major demonstration of strength in the face of Buddhist-provoked unrest.

They were led by 15,000 black-uniformed "commando groups" as they stepped in military formation under rigid discipline.

It was one of the biggest demonstrations in the capital's history and it underlined the strength of the apparatus of Viet Nam's 1.5 million Catholics.

CHANTING Slogans rhythmically chanted by the marchers demanded a fight against communism "until victory," hailed Americans and other allies of South Viet Nam and banned any compromise with the Communist Viet Cong.

Compared to Buddhist crowds which recently milled through the streets in anti-government rioting, Sunday's Catholic demonstration showed a high degree of discipline, organization and strength. A police source estimated the Catholic demonstrators at 30,000.

Similar demonstrations were

Two Killed In Car Collision

MOUNT PLEASANT, Tex. (AP) — Two persons were killed and 10 injured Saturday in a two-car collision at an intersection on US 67 two miles west of Mount Pleasant.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. Temple Mayfield Hellums, 34, and her mother, Mrs. Esther Mayfield. Both were from the Lafayette Community near Pittsburg in Northeast Texas.

Police said one of the cars crashed into the side of the other as both went through the intersection. There were six persons in each vehicle.

Mahon Says 'Indefensible'

EDWARDS Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — The 30-member Accident Board investigation continues in the crash of the half-billion dollar XB70A bomber and death of ace test pilot Joe Walker and Maj. Carl Cross.

The inquiry went into the weekend with Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, saying in Washington:

"The loss of these men and an aircraft in which more than $500 million has been invested by the taxpayers—while accommodating the public relations department of a private company—is indefensible."

The Air Force had said the XB70A and four other planes using General Electric engines were flying formation Wednesday while pictures were taken from a business jet leased by the company.

Carpenter, 28, led the survivors to safety at Tuo Morong. He said that with the Communists threatening to annihilate the company, he called in the strikes because "this was the most effective way I could see to kill them."

The air offensive over both North and South Viet Nam continued full scale. A spokesman announced U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 72 missions over North Viet Nam Friday, with bridges, barges and box cars among the targets. U.S. and Vietnamese pilots together flew 907 sorties in the South.

Marchers Get 53 Negroes Registered In Small Town

BATESVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Negroes in overcoming the fear that has been so much a part of their lives. The county circuit clerk said 53 Negroes registered.

James H. Meredith, who broke the racial bar at the University of Mississippi in 1962, started the march with a few companions in an effort to spur registration. He was wounded by a shot near Hernando and is recuperating in the East.

The man charged with the shooting, Aubrey J. Novell, 40, of Memphis, Saturday was granted a habeas corpus hearing to be held in Holly Springs next Tuesday, his attorney said. Novell, charged with assault with intent to kill, had been jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

A militant Negro organization, the Deacons for Defense and Justice, told President Johnson, Gov. Paul Johnson and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach in telegrams Saturday that "we are going to offer protection (to the marchers) since the officers of the law won't give it."

About 40 highway patrolmen were among the police that guarded the Batesville rally. Groups of whites stood quietly watching as the demonstrators sang and clapped in the warm sunshine.

Negro leaders lifted Sam Flowers, a retired sharecropper, and carried him into the registrar's office as the first applicant — following with El Fondren, who gave his age as "106 and nine months."

Circuit Court Clerk Ike Shankle, who doubles as registrar, asked Flowers his age. "I was born in August," said Flowers. But he didn't know which year. When he gave his age as 68, Shankle said, "that would make it 1897, is that about right?"

Flowers, unable to write, signed his name with an "X."

Shankle was polite, businesslike, ignoring onlookers.

The elderly new voters drew a loud cheer when they were carried back outside the courthouse. A line of Negroes formed in the hallway, awaiting their turn at Shankle's desk.

No Danger From Damaged Lab

TOPEKA (AP) — There is no danger to the public from bacteria in the tornado-damaged state public health laboratory, Dr. Nicholas D. Duffett said Saturday.

He inspected the laboratories and said there was little breakage of containers holding hazardous tuberculosis cultures.

Multiple Marital Merger

The 10 children of widow Mrs. Delores McMillan and the seven children of widower Henry Arsenault became a joint family as their parents (back row, second and third from right) were married. The children not only watched the wedding in Batesville, Miss., but some served as altar boys and others as flower girls. Everybody is happy about the marriage but one problem exists. There are now two Robert's and two Mary Ann's in the family of 19. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The grim echoes from Viet Nam brought word last week of a fifth casualty affecting Big Spring. Capt. Robert L. Sandner, who was at Webb from 1960-65 as a pilot instructor, died of wounds. Mrs. Sandner and their son had been staying here while he was overseas. Even as this happened, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas received the posthumous award of the Purple Heart for their son, Pfc. Coy Thomas.

If you have wondered this spring what became of the wind, well, it went that-way, and it went in a hurry last week. Happily, the high, hot wind did comparatively little crop damage and our area missed out on the punishment inflicted on Lubbock by storms. At the end of the week virtually all our cotton was up, most of it was up to an excellent stand and high enough that it was largely past danger of covering from an average rain. Feed was growing as though it were jet propelled.

While the turnout for the runoff Democratic primary was disgraceful (only one of four potential voters, allowing for the GOP primary total), none could complain about the tightness of the races. Franklin Spears edged Crawford Martin for state attorney general by 11 votes, Ray Nichols beat Ralph White by 41 votes for county commissioner of Pre-

What Do You Know About Flying Our Nation's Flag?

What is the proper way to raise the American flag? When may the flag be flown? Is any flag ever flown higher than the United States flag?

As flag day approaches on Tuesday, these are some of the questions that Americans should be able to answer. Many patriotic organizations throughout the nation have already begun campaigns to educate the people concerning flag etiquette.

The flag should be raised and lowered by hand. Do not raise it while it is furled. Unfurl, then hoist quickly to the top of the staff. Lower it slowly and with dignity.

Place no objects on or over the flag. A speaker's table is sometimes covered with a flag. This practice should be avoided.

SUNRISE TO SUNSET

The flag should be flown from sunrise to sunset, but it may be shown at night on special occasions to create a patriotic effect. The term "special occasions" means athletic events, bond campaigns, ceremonies, patriotic pageants, and parades.

A flag should never be flown in inclement weather.

No flag may be flown above the Stars and Stripes except the United Nations flag and this only at UN Headquarters; and the church pennant, a dark blue cross on a white background, during church services conducted by Naval chaplains at sea.

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, those present in uniform should render the right-hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove their headgear with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart; women should place the right hand over the heart. ALWAYS ON THE RIGHT When displayed from crossed staffs with another flag, the flag of the United States should be on the right (the flag's own right) and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

When flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the U.S. flag, the latter should always be at the peak. When flown from adjacent staffs, the Stars and Stripes should be hoisted first and lowered last.

When the flag is used to cover a casket, it should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave or allowed to touch the ground.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the Stars and Stripes should be either on the marching right, or when there is a line of other flags, in front of the center of that line.

When the flag is displayed in a matter other than being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. The union should be in the uppermost part and to the observers left, even when displayed vertically.

When displayed from a horizontal pole, the flag should be hoisted out from the building, toward the end of the pole, union first.

THE "DO NOTS"

There are several "do nots" that are an important part of flag etiquette.

Do not display the flag with the union down except as a signal of dire distress.

Do not use the flag as a portion of a costume or athletic uniform. Do not embroider it upon cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes.

Do not use the flag as a covering for the unveiling of a statue or monument.

Do not let the flag touch the ground or the floor at any time.

Do not let the flag become soiled. If it does, use proper procedures for cleaning or disposing of it.

Do not dip the flag to any person or thing. One exception here is in a Naval ceremony which salutes ships of other nations.

Do not carry the flag flat or horizontal. Never use it as a drape, or as a receptacle for or carrying anything.

When the United States flag is worn out, dispose of it with due reverence. According to an approved custom, the union is first cut from the flag, and then the two pieces, which no longer form a flag, are cremated.

NOW WE GOT IT

The records of the Pennsylvania State Navy Board for May 29, 1777, show a payment to Elizabeth (Betsy) Ross for making flag colours, 14 pounds, 12 shillings and twopenny (about $43 at today's rate of exchange).

The "Betsy Ross" flag of 13 stars remained the nation's ensign until 1795 when the flag was changed to 15 stars and 15 stripes, marking the admission of Vermont and Kentucky in 1791 and 1792.

This was the flag that valiantly flew through the night over besieged Fort Mifflin and inspired Francis Scott Key to pen the immortal "Star Spangled Banner."

In 1818 Samuel Chester Reed of the U. S. Navy suggested that the nation revert to the original 13 stripes but to continue to add a new star on the admission of a new state. This was adopted in 1818.

ADDED STARS

New stars for new states are added on the Fourth of July after admission of a new state.

One of the purposes of having Flag Day is to remind citizens that even 190 years after the founding of the republic, with the country in an era of economic prosperity, one should never lose the memory of freedom.

Flying proudly and rallying freedom's defenders around the globe, Old Glory has come to be identified with freedom and individual dignity wherever it may be seen.

Visit In Capitol

Brenda Dyson, Stanton, and Mike Springer, Lencor, together with Mrs. Stanley Reid, Stanton, stand on the steps of the capitol. Brenda and Mike were chosen as a group from Texas for Government-In-Action tour sponsored by rural electric systems. Mrs. Reid is the tour nurse. The schedule calls for the group, traveling by chartered bus, to return to Dallas Tuesday after two weeks away from home.

Baptists Plan Evangelism Meet Monday

The Big Spring Baptist Association will hold an evangelism conference during its monthly workers conference at the Baptist Encampment, Stanton, beginning Monday at 7:15 p.m. Featured speaker will be Dr. O. Byron Richardson of the Texas Baptist Evangelism Division, Dallas.

There will be eight different conferences for workers, led by the following ministers: the Rev. Byron Orand, College Baptist Church, music directors; the Rev. Dan Oglesby, Midway Baptist, training union directors; the Rev. R. F. Polk, First Baptist, departmental superintendents; the Rev. Paris Barton, Westside Baptist Church, Brotherhood presidents; the Rev. Bill O'Dell, Berea Baptist, Sunday school superintendents; the Rev. Dan Sanford, Phillips Memorial Baptist, junior and intermediate teachers; and Dr. Richardson, adult and young people teachers.

Baptist Temple Church choir will bring the special music. The congregational song leader will be Jim Stephens of College Baptist Church, minister of music and education.

The association is expecting a record attendance. Moderator is Rev. Polk, and evangelism chairman is the Rev. James A. Puckett, Baptist Temple.

The encampment was moved six years ago to its present location and is jointly owned by six associations from Andrews to Snyder. It is located on the Lamesa Highway, five miles north of Stanton.

Few Hospitals Sign Up For Medicare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security administration says less than a third of the estimated 7,654 hospitals with facilities that could be used for older persons under medicare have been signed up to participate in the program.

The administration said Friday that as of Thursday 2,107 hospitals had signed up.

It said agreements to participate in medicare had been signed by another 2,715 hospitals meeting required standards.

Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner, who made the estimate of available hospitals, said Thursday it is not anticipated that all would sign agreements by July 1.

Marine To Get 30 From Home

ATWATER, Calif. (AP) — Marine Pvt. Curtis Mason, now stationed in Viet Nam, will receive 30 letters from 30 girls in his home town.

The letters were the girls' final examination in high school English.

Said teacher Larry Wentz: "Eventually exams go into the wastebasket, but doing something like this is live and not throwing talent away."

LEAVE FOR NEW ASSIGNMENT
Mr. and Mrs. Cheney Plummer going to Missouri

Active Family Leaving For New Motel Duties

Mr. and Mrs. Cheney Plummer, owners and operators of the Travelodge Motel, 1000 W. 4th, left Big Spring Saturday for San Diego, where Plummer will attend a training session for Travelodge personnel and then be transferred to Lincoln, Mo.

The Plummers, who have lived in Big Spring just over three years, came here after 20 years in North Platt, Neb. Plummer had been a franchised bottler for the Pepsi-Cola Company before switching to the motel business. They had considered such a switch for several years.

"We liked Big Spring very much," the Plummers said. "It is certainly one of the most friendly places we have ever been, and our business associations have been wonderful." Both Plummers are native Missourians, Plummer from Weaubleau. They met while she was attending State College in Springfield and he was working for the government. Plummer was transferred to Nebraska and served with the Army-Air Force in Europe during World War II. The Plummers will head back to Lincoln, Mo., where they will be affiliated with Travelodge in inspection, opening new locations and upgrading the general program. They will leave here around June 23.

Plummer has been active in the Chamber of Commerce, especially the tourist convention committee. Mrs. Plummer is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Altrusa Club. Both are members of the First Methodist Church and the Eastern Star. Plummer is a Mason.

Two sons are presently in the Armed Forces. Chester, 21, is on reserve status in the Navy, and will go on active duty July 21. He attended the Oklahoma Military Academy at Claremore for two years and the University of Houston for one semester. Larry, 19, volunteered for Army duty shortly after high school graduation here and is in training at Ft. Bliss, El Paso.

Thirty Juniors Begin Course Toward Academic Excellence

A special summer honors institute for 30 juniors at Big Spring High School will begin Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the Goliad Junior High.

Thirty students were selected on the basis of qualifying test scores and past academic performance. Two sophomores were admitted to the program on an experimental basis, said John M. Talmadge, institute director and high school counselor.

Talmadge has spent the past week in an in-service training session with the two institute teachers, Mrs. Lila Brewster and Don Green.

Held in conjunction with the Texas Education Agency, the institute will provide a no-credit program designed entirely for promoting academic excellence. No grades will be given.

Green will teach "the wonderful world of mathematics," and Mrs. Brewster will instruct a humanities course called "man and his relation to the universe."

"These two teachers were selected because of superior credentials, past experience with students in the upper intelligence levels, and ability to explore subject areas in depth," Talmadge explained.

Big Spring Independent School

District has hired the teachers, there will be no tuition cost, and books will only have to furnish normal classroom materials.

Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, director of instructional service, will welcome the students Monday morning at 9 o'clock when he speaks on "The Quest for Excellence."

"We hope all parents of institute students will be in the Goliad cafeteria to hear this introduction to the program," Talmadge added. "It is extremely important for the parents to become thoroughly familiar with the objectives of the institute."

The 30 students will be divided into two groups, Alpha and Sigma. The purpose for this is to maintain a proper girl-boy ratio in the two classes.

Two sons are presently in the Armed Forces. Chester, 21, is on reserve status in the Navy, and will go on active duty July 21. He attended the Oklahoma Military Academy at Claremore for two years and the University of Houston for one semester. Larry, 19, volunteered for Army duty shortly after high school graduation here and is in training at Ft. Bliss, El Paso.

WTCC To Study Tourist Growth

KINGSLAND — Some of Texas' foremost authorities on tourist development will meet here Wednesday to help the West Texas Chamber of Commerce plan a vigorous campaign to attract more tourists to West Texas. This session is one of nine called by West Texas Chamber of Commerce president, John Ben Shepperd, Odessa, to develop West Texas' "Growth Potentials." Harlan Bridwell of Bridgeport, chairman of the Tourist Development Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Jack Smartt of Crane, vice chairman, will preside. "Tourism is big business in West Texas," said Shepperd. Last year more than four million people visited West Texas. That's a half-million more than live here.

School For Girls Plans Open House

GAINESVILLE—The Gainesville State School for Girls will observe open house on June 25-26, marking the first open house since October 1962. Two new facilities have been opened there. Hours the first day will be 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. On the second day, a Sunday, the hours are 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and 1:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Girls are planning a special series of entertainments.

THEIR DEEDS OVERSHADOWED BY UPROAR OF PICKETS, PROTESTS

Generation Of 'Doers' Seek Meanings

By JOHN BARBOUR Associated Press Writer

They come from the years of good life, and from the moments of their own self-doubt. They are as unlike as nature and growing up can make them. They have just one call in common. They are young, and they know their youth is a precious and fleeting thing.

One after another they say: "If I don't do it now, I know I'll never do it."

THEY GO

So they go — to put the years of their young lives on the line to serve in jungles and river towns of distant places, or in the jungles of their own cities, and the rural wasteland of America.

Some are Peace Corps volunteers. Some are volunteers of VISTA, the domestic Peace Corps. Some serve through smaller groups that spring from college campuses and college consciences. They number in the thousands. They seek a hundred things, and among the things they find are themselves.

These are the generation of "doers" — those who have spurned the apathy and the gray flannel suit ideals of a previous generation — seeking to shape the world in which they will have to live. Sometimes their words are drowned out in the uproar of rebellions on college campuses; sometimes their deeds are overshadowed by the picket signs and protest banners that have blossomed on the campus.

TIME TO DO IT

They see that there is not only much to be done, but they believe this is the time to do it. Suddenly youth has a job to do, and a spirit to do it with.

OVERRIDING RULE

Plans To Enforce Guidelines For Schools

BIRMINGHAM, Ala (AP) — U.S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe II affirmed Saturday that his office will continue to enforce the so-called guidelines for school desegregation.

"We deeply regret the occasional necessity of curtailing the opportunities of young people by denying federal funds to school districts which refuse to comply," Howe, of Connecticut, told the Alabama State Advisory Committee of the Civil Rights Commission.

"The over-riding principle, however, is that federal funds must not be used to support discriminatory practices."

Howe said the 1966 guidelines do not require that every school have a biracial faculty by next fall.

"They do not establish a fixed formula for staff desegregation, nor do they tell school administrators what people they may hire and which they may fire," he said.

"They do say this: That all personnel decisions—decisions regarding hiring, firing, promotion, demotion, assignment and reassignment—must be made without regard to race, color or national origin except to correct past discrimination."

Howe asserted the guidelines do not fix arbitrary pupil percentages in cases of school desegregation under free choice plans. The figures given in the guidelines, he said, "are merely an effort, based on numerous requests for guidance from local school authorities, to establish broad measures of progress for eliminating the dual school system and to indicate whether or not a free choice plan is working."

Howe also said he hoped a "reasoned discussion" of the position his office has taken would help local school authorities move into compliance with the law. He added: "I hope there is no misunderstanding of our position. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Office of Education . . . are going to adhere to the procedures and policies established in the law."

Miss Johnson Plans Concert

Sonnet Johnson, who is working toward her master's degree in piano, will be presented here one week from today in a concert at the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Miss Johnson will appear under the auspices of the Piano Teachers Forum and the Howard County Junior College music department, and there is no admission charge.

Her graduate teacher, the internationally known Stefan Baran, resident artist at North Texas State University, will be in the audience.

Since graduation here and from HCJC where she studied under Jack Hendrix, Miss Johnson has graduated with honors at NTNU with a bachelor of music.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving B. Johnson, 1005 E. 21st and is a 1962 graduate of Big Spring High School. Miss Johnson took her early training under Mrs. Doug (Donna) Wiehe.

Attends School

Seventeen members of Southland Life Insurance Company's field organization attended a Basic School at the company's home office, Dallas, last week.

Student agents at the school included Jack Alderton, Big Spring.

Ruby Due Back In Courtroom

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's fight to escape the electric chair for killing Lee Harvey Oswald goes back into the courtroom Monday for a sanity hearing that may be unique.

For nearly two years, a parade of lawyers representing Ruby, 35, has insisted the former night club and strip joint operator was unbalanced in November, 1963, when he shot Oswald.

The Warren Commission named Oswald as President Kennedy's assassin.

The Court of Criminal Appeals said on May 18 that a sanity hearing must be held before it could consider Ruby's appeal from his 1964 conviction.

In a surprise move, Ruby's current lawyers asked Thursday for the withdrawal of a 1964 affidavit filed by Ruby's sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, in which she said he was insane. The lawyers assert that the May 18 ruling was based on the affidavit and that its withdrawal would in effect remove the necessity of a sanity hearing.

They said their reason for the request was that a sanity hearing would violate Ruby's constitutional rights because they would have to call the same witnesses that they would call if a second murder trial is granted. They also said Ruby no longer wanted a sanity hearing.

Also visiting the airport this week was a USAF helicopter from Edwards AFB, Calif.

Earl Kimbal, Lubbock, received his private license here last week.

Ruby of his constitutional rights.

Here is the situation on the eve of the sanity hearing.

Defense lawyers say they will not place Ruby on the stand and that they will present no witnesses and no evidence to back up earlier contentions that he is insane. They say they will not fight the state's contention that he is sane.

The state says that the sanity hearing should be held and that it will be ready Monday morning to present witnesses and evidence to show that Ruby is sane.

Ruby will be represented by two rival sets of lawyers, each of which claim they should be his counsel. One group is headed by Phil Burleson of Dallas, currently Ruby's head counsel. The other group is headed by Joe Tonahill of Jasper, who was fired by Ruby but was designated by the Court of Criminal Appeals, Texas' highest court for criminal cases, as his attorney in the sanity hearing.

Holland said he will recognize both Burleson and Tonahill, along with all the other defense lawyers, Monday.

Although they have disagreed over the procedure for handling Ruby's case, Burleson and Tonahill say they agree that no witnesses and no evidence will be offered at the sanity hearing.

A jury will decide whether Ruby is insane or sane. If they find him sane, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is expected to consider the appeal of his conviction. If found insane, he will be sent to a state mental hospital.

and they carry that spirit with them.

It is there in the assured words of a VISTA youth in Colorado, in the earnest, artless way of a boy from Wisconsin, in the soft sorrow of a young girl working with the poor of Chicago's North Side, and in the dreams-come-true of a small-town girl bound for the Peace Corps.

So it is with Karen Behling. She is 21, a brown-eyed, ash-brown-haired senior at the University of Wisconsin. She is warm-natured and pretty. She lived, until college, in a town of 2,300 people — Oconto Falls, Wis.

LAUGHED

When she was much younger, she used to tell her father that one day she would go to Peru. He used to laugh.

"But then," she says, "I started taking anthropology, and he didn't laugh about it anymore."

Now Karen is a Peace Corps invitee, going probably to Peru to work in urban development. Karen is aware that hers has been a good life. Her father is a lawyer. She has two younger sisters. Their home is a comfortable contemporary with white siding in the wooded hills that frame the Oconto River. The hills were "a great place to hike," the river ideal for swimming. Karen was an honor student at Oconto Falls High School, 430 students, two-thirds rural.

Karen feels a built-in obligation to offer to others some of her own good fortune, to give of herself, and to leave some mark of her own on the world.

UNDECIDED

But her reasons are more than altruistic. She is thinking of graduate school. Her future is still open, still undecided.

"Ever since the Peace Corps started," she says, "I've been interested in it, and thought it would be a great opportunity to help other people. But it will also help me to decide whether to continue in my current field, or go into Foreign Service."

"You don't have to go to Peru to find another world. On the North Side of Chicago, behind the Lake Shore Drive facade of fancy apartments, is a dingy section where the wind whips sharp, stinging street dirt into your face, and poverty stares back at poverty."

Even taxi drivers who live there won't pick up in the neighborhood.

A sign in the store front says, "Hull House outpost for teenage girls." Men passing by stop and leer in the open door at a pretty social worker. Next door is a second-hand clothing store. On the other side is a take-out chicken shop.

OTHER WORLD

This is the other world for Susan King. She is 19, from Glendale, Calif., a VISTA volunteer who stepped out of college after three months partly because she was tired of hearing the teenage dramatics of "Joey didn't call. I'll never go out with Joey again." She asked herself, "Is this what it's going to be like from now on?"

At "the Outpost" she brings her warmth to young girls who live in the cold uncertainty of not enough money, not enough jobs, not enough self-respect. To them, she is a big sister, and a window to what the world might be.

It is a joke among VISTA people that they answer the inevitable question, "Why?" with a barren smile and the phrase, "To help the poor, of course." The real answer is, naturally, much more personal.

VOLUNTEERED

Susan has volunteered for a year away from her family — a family that has found comfort in rising above its own problems. Her mother isn't well. Her father has been in a wheelchair since he was 16 when polio struck him down. He does accounting and income tax work at home. But, between Susan, her older brother, and two younger sisters, there seems to be a great sense of family. "It was always fabulous," she says. "Just great."

Now she is in a daily battle with forces she can do little about. The spindly girls who come into the "Outpost" look younger, but more tired, than their years. Gradually, they begin to share their lives with her.

GIVE A LOT

The job, she says, "takes somebody who can give an awful lot, and doesn't need a pat on the back all the time, who can be satisfied with that extra squeeze a kid gives you at the end of a hug."

She lives on a street lined with signs that say "Baited for Rats." She and her roommate, Susan Beeby, 18, of Santa Cruz, Calif., walk home the long way to avoid the skid row that is half a block away from their apartment.

At 19, Susan has a notion of what her months in Chicago have given her. "It's very different from when I was a kid," she says, and adds softly, "that wasn't so long ago. You grow up an awful lot doing something like this. I can see it in myself." The psychiatrists who have to pick and choose between those who volunteer to serve can catalogue the stated reasons. The kids want to help people, want to do something worthwhile, want to travel and see exotic places, want a new challenge, or perhaps they are only staving off that last requirement — perhaps they fear it — fear slipping into a mold, fear becoming part of the organization, or seek one last fling before becoming part of the 9-to-5, married, walk-the-baby-at-2 a.m. generation.

One expert sees beyond these reasons. "I think they are people who have not completed the work of adolescence," he says. "That's not to say anything bad of them. Some of their contemporaries have never taken up the work of adolescence — or they have ended or interrupted it for some other expediency."

Perhaps, he says, they are taking the lids off their consciences. They have grown up with parental order, told how the world will be, told how they should be within that world. But now they are a little older, faced with some frightening drives within themselves, child-like views of sex and aggression and hostility. And now they have to have a time apart to discover within themselves channels for these drives.

A great number are looking for independent measures within themselves to substitute for all the external traffic signs that have directed their lives so far.

CRITICAL TIME

Said one Peace-Corps official who was a volunteer himself: "Peace Corps service gets you at a very critical time of your life, takes you out of the academic arena and out of Western society and its values. It gives you a better notion of your own value and direction."

For instance Robert Carney, a VISTA volunteer, age 23, a blue-eyed blond.

"I think it's a kind of frustration, mainly, for me and others I've known. You sit in a college classroom and you pick up the theory and the abstractions, but they're hollow one way or another. So you look for the reality to support the abstractions."

He works at a small project near Colorado Springs, a sort of big brother for would-be delinquent boys. He comes from Iselein, N.J. His father sells steel. Living was comfortable, if not extravagant. He started at Jersey City State College, dropped out to work for a year, returned and dropped out again for VISTA.

WASN'T ENOUGH

"I guess I went to college because of the social and economic commitment my family had put on it," he says. "That's pretty much the way it is in middle-class America. Junior goes to college, and that's that. It may be enough for some people, but it wasn't enough for me. So I left."

He plans to leave VISTA this year, return to college, go on to graduate school in psychology.

Carney and a co-volunteer, Steve Sutherland, 20, of St. Paul, Minn., told of a recruiting trip to the University of Colorado to sign up VISTA volunteers. A fraternity offered them sleeping accommodations and the house president showed them the room. They thanked him and offered him a drink. Their host, they said, turned pale with shock.

"He had thought we were starchy-eyed idealists with 'Jesus saves' written on our backs," Carney said. "He was as surprised as most people are to find out that we're really not that type at all, that we are human beings, just kind of human beings."

THE DOERS

They are the doers — more than objectors. They would fight in Viet Nam with rifles, but they would prefer to fight in the jungles of Malaysia with books and shovels. They would choose the enemies of hunger and filth, over human enemies.

Beyond this, they seek something within themselves as well. They ask the child inside to grow up, to find a meaning larger than the meanings they have encountered so far, and to find in the frustration of helping people afraid of help, the answer to their own frustrations.

The office of attorney general is being vacated at the close of the year by Edward W. Brooke, who so far is the major candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

The incumbent Republican Gov. John A. Volpe is unopposed for re-nomination for another term.

The Republican convention will be in Boston June 24-25.

As the Democratic meeting neared its end, the delegates endorsed Worcester attorney Joseph E. McGuire for the party nomination for lieutenant governor.

E. J. McCORMACK

Kennedy Rival Wins Nod For Governor

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts Democrats worked to complete their state ticket Saturday after giving an endorsement for governor to Edward J. McCormack, an old Kennedy political rival, and the nephew of Speaker John W. McCormack of the U.S. House.

McCormack eked out a narrow victory over two rivals, both of whom were long time workers in the Kennedy political vineyard.

Closest to McCormack in the convention balloting was State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, Holyoke, and a campaign worker in the last 1964 years for both the late President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

When the balloting was completed, McCormack had a majority of 892 votes to 722 for Donahue and 129 for the other Kennedy friend, Kenneth P. O'Donnell.

Donahue said at the end that he will keep his pledge to step aside if the convention didn't want him. And he pledged to

Y Programs Begin Monday

If the enrollment for the YMCA swimming program is a criterion, things will be popping at the Y during the next couple of months.

Curt Mullins, general secretary, said that 309 are enrolled in the swimming classes so far. The beginners will be divided into two classes, one section meeting Monday and Wednesday and the other Tuesday and Thursday. Forty-four are enrolled in the advanced swimming classes on Monday and Tuesday. This is all part of the progressive classes which will continue through July 30.

The body building instructor for junior high and high school boys will be at 2:30 p.m. Monday, continuing through July 6, and Jack Tayrien will be instructor.

Boys basketball, under Buddy Travis, will begin Monday at 3:30 p.m. for junior high boys and at 4:30 p.m. for senior high ones. This class will meet Monday - Wednesday through July 6.

Handball instruction is slated for 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday through July 13.

Jim Gilbert will instruct in girls volleyball for teenagers starting at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

work for the election of McCormack, both in the primary in September and the election in November.

O'Donnell didn't appear in the convention hall, but had said in advance he will challenge the convention choice again in the primary.

Sen. Kennedy remained neutral, and in fact stayed away from the convention except for a convention eve dinner at which he spoke.

In another first night contest, the convention gave its endorsement to Democratic former Gov. Endicott Peabody for nomination for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated at the end of the year by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.

Peabody defeated Boston Mayor John F. Collins 1,078-721.

Three incumbent Democrats were endorsed for re-nomination by acclamation in the opening session. They are Secretary of State Kevin H. White, Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, and Thaddeus Buczek, auditor.

The final session Saturday took up the endorsements for state attorney general and lieutenant governor.

The office of attorney general is being vacated at the close of the year by Edward W. Brooke, who so far is the major candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

The incumbent Republican Gov. John A. Volpe is unopposed for re-nomination for another term.

Four Local Lads Go To Boys State

Dale Pless, Kirby Horton, Jackie Bowen and Cliff Talbot left here Saturday with delegates from several other West Texas points to spend a week in Boys State at Austin.

They boarded a chartered bus carrying regional delegates and were joined here in boarding the conveyance by boys from Odessa and Midland.

They are sponsored by American Legion Post No. 355 and were selected on the basis of scholarship, character, ambition, and leadership ability.

In Boys State, citizens organize their own city, county, and state governments. They choose their own officials in accordance with regular election procedures, which are non-partisan and free from propaganda. The mythical Political Parties in Boys State are called "Longhorns and Pioneers," said Dr. Halvard Hansen, chairman of the American committee.

The state will be divided into counties, precincts, judicial districts, cities, villages, and rural communities, in order to give concrete instruction in different types of government.

Election of office will be followed by immediate induction in office. The oath of office will be administered to the governor and lieutenant governor before a joint session of the legislature, presided over by the speaker of the house of representatives, immediately after elections.

Kept On Crying

Dolores Evans, 19, of Tucson, Ariz., brought the audience and her fellow contestants near tears with her original dramatic monologue during the talent part of the Miss Tan America Pageant Friday. She kept right on crying when she was announced the winner, and Frank Clarke, of the Dallas Cowboys football team, helped her with her robe. She attends the University of Arizona, and one of her prizes is a four year college scholarship. She had told her mother not to waste money on the plane trip to Dallas and the finals, because "I won't win anything." (AP WIREPHOTO)

Farm Activity At Year's Near Peak

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—

Activities on Texas farms at midweek rose to near peak for the year. The grain harvest was rapid and the flax harvest was about completed, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He added that turbulent weather in the High Plains area Tuesday night caused some damage from blowing sand, heavy rains, hail in spots and high winds.

Ranges across the state furnished good to excellent grazing. Livestock conditions are the best in many years in some areas, he said. He noted a growing need for widespread surface moisture.

Rains from .50 to 2.00 inches last week and more Tuesday night improved Panhandle conditions but moisture is still short. Some dryland wheat is about ready for harvest. Irrigated wheat is in the tough dough state. Some irrigated grain sorghum is up and growing good. Ranges are below average and cattle are in fair to good condition.

South Plains (Lubbock) crops had been making good progress before Tuesday storms and farmers were busy with field work. Winds and hail caused damage in some areas. Range and livestock conditions are good.

Moisture is needed all through the Rolling Plains (Vernon) where the wheat harvest is 15 to 60 per cent complete. Yields ranged from 4 to 30 bushels an acre with the average around 15. Cotton planting ranged from 50 to 100 per cent complete with some farmers waiting for rain. Stands range from fair to good. Sorghum planting is on, haying is active, and spraying for pecan casebearer is under way.

Moisture is needed in half of North Central Texas. The grain harvest is in full swing and farmers are busy baling hay. Ranges are good and livestock are fine.

Moisture in far West Texas is adequate, except for west of the Pecos. Over 90 per cent of the cotton and sorghum is planted. The grain harvest is starting. Livestock are good to excellent. Sheep shearing is about complete. Onions and alfalfa are being harvested. Labor is short.

Moisture is getting short in northern counties of the West Central Texas. The harvest is active. The oat crop is very short. Wheat yields are better than average. Cotton and sorghum made good growth. Ranges are average to above and livestock are in good condition. Labor is short. Ranchers are drenching sheep and goats for internal parasites.

Moisture is needed in west and northwest counties of Central Texas. The grain harvest is near the peak. About half the peanut acreage is planted. Some growers are waiting for rain. Livestock conditions are good. Sheep shearing is about complete. The set of pecans is fairly light. Casebearers are fairly heavy. Cultivation, baling and grain harvesting kept farmers busy.

Moisture is getting short in South Central Texas. Pastures will soon need rain if production is maintained. Livestock are in excellent condition. Cotton, corn, sorghums and watermelons are doing good but insects are increasing. Farmers are fighting grass and weeds and making progress. The flax harvest is about over. Yields have been above average but grades have been low. The hay harvest is very active and the vegetable harvest is increasing.

Moisture generally is adequate in the South Texas District. Some dryland sorghum needs rain but cotton and sorghum generally are making progress. Bollworms and weevils showed up and control measures are being applied in the Valley. Sorghum prospects are good.

Policy Worries Go In Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senatorial worries about U.S. foreign policy its commitments and costs are being written into President Johnson's $3.4-billion foreign aid bill.

When the measure, with its worldwide economic and military assistance programs, reaches the floor from the Foreign Relations Committee it could become the springboard for another round of bristling debate over Viet Nam.

Although no official order has been entered, Federal District Judge Frew Brewster said in letters to attorneys last week that the Northside United allegations against the Big Spring Independent School District trustees were unfounded. This does not necessarily mean the end of the litigation, but likely emphasis will be given now by NU to backing programs and projects which will improve that part of town.

One suggested compromise would be for the Foreign Relations Committee to set up its own CIA subcommittee with the President instructing the CIA to report to it as fully as it does to Russell's group.

The Big Spring Shrine Motor Patrol competed under an evil star in the state competition last weekend. The patrol had practiced diligently with 12 riders, but suddenly had to go with nine when two riders were hurt in a collision during practice and a third had a sprained ankle. Nevertheless, they won fourth — and more important, they won the sportsmanship trophy the first time it was awarded.

Mansfield said he appraised Johnson of the situation but did not seek any kind of commitment from him. The President, he said, indicated the dispute is something the Senate should work out.

He spent a fair night and is semiconscious, a spokesman reported. Police inquiring into the row reported there were no developments in an investigation they say is far from over.

AFA Cadets Are Assigned Here

Six Air Force Academy cadets are scheduled to arrive at Webb today to participate in "Operation Third Lieutenant." This is the academy's program to place selected cadets in operational organizations throughout the Air Force.

He was about to leave when Weisman approached and said, "You and your friends are loud-mouthed," Sinatra: "You're out of line, Buddy."

The new officers are members of the Air Force Academy Class of 1968, and this will be their first opportunity to experience Air Force life at the operational level. The third lieutenants will remain at Webb through July 23.

Then Weisman hit him with either his fist or an ash tray below the right eye, the singer said. Sinatra said he didn't strike back and a hotel detective jumped between them. Martin, 48, backed him up.

Each cadet at Webb will be assigned to a specific duty under a host supervisor. They will receive assignments with the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron, the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, Wing Stan-Eval and the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson said he doesn't know whether someone hit Weisman or he was injured in an accidental fall. He said Weisman had been taking pills for a physical condition and was drinking.

Sheppard Ruling Opens Way For Hiding Facts

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors said Saturday the Supreme Court ruling in the Sam Sheppard case may lead the courts to "hide from public knowledge virtually all of the facts of law enforcement and the administration of justice." Robert Notson, executive editor of the Portland Oregonian, said the decision invalidating the verdict of second-degree murder against Sheppard supplies useful guidelines to trial courts and the press. "But the court did not stop there," Notson said. Notson said the court seized upon an extreme case and generalized. A court statement that "unfair and prejudicial news comment on pending trials has become increasingly prevalent," is not true, Notson said. "American newspapers have been increasingly circumspect in the handling of news of criminal matters, and any fair analysis of their columns over the years should demonstrate that this is true," Notson said. "The clear reason the number of cases has increased is not that the practices of newspapers had become increasingly bad, but that the courts had shown an increasing disposition to entertain appeals based on alleged adverse publicity. "There is no body of evidence anywhere to support the claim that publication of sober and factual pre-trial information has resulted in innocent men being convicted. "The interest of the courts, the public and, in the long run, the defendant, lies in keeping the processes of justice under the close scrutiny of the public. "Experience of history indi-

CONGRESSMAN HAS STRUGGLED 13 YEARS 'Right To Know' Progresses

By JOHN W. BECKLER and BEM PRICE WASHINGTON (AP)—A battle the most Americans thought was won when the United States was founded is just now moving into its final stage in Congress. It involves the right of Americans to know what their government is up to. It's a battle against secrecy: locked files and papers stamped "not for public inspection." It's been a quiet fight, mainly because it has been led by a quiet, careful congressman, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., who has been waging it for 13 of the 14 years he has been in the House. They ranged from simple "nonpublic" to "While this document is unclassified, it is for use only in industry and not for public release." The law has been used as authority for refusing to disclose cost estimates submitted by unsuccessful bidders on nonsecret contracts, for withholding names and salaries of federal employees, and keeping secret dissenting views of regulatory board members. It was used by the Navy to stamp its Pentagon telephone directories as not for public use on the ground they related to the internal management of the Navy. S1160, as the bill now before the House is designated, lists specifically the kind of information that can be withheld and says the rest must be made available promptly to "any" person. The areas protected against public disclosure include national defense and foreign policy secrets, investigatory files of law enforcement agencies, trade secrets and information gathered in labor-management mediation efforts, reports of financial institutions, personnel and medical files and papers that are solely for the internal use of an agency. In the view of many veterans of the fight for the right to know, the most important provision would require an agency to prove in court that it has authority to withhold a document that has been requested. Under the present law the situation is reversed and the person who wants the document has to prove that it is being improperly withheld. Moss bumped his head on the government secrecy shield during his first term in Congress when the Civil Service Commission refused to open some records to him. FIND OUT "I decided right then I had better find out about the ground rules," he said in a recent interview. "While I had no background of law, I had served in the California Legislature and such a thing was unheard of." (California is one of 37 states that have open records laws). Moss was given a unique opportunity to learn the ground rules in his second term in Congress when a special subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee was created to investigate complaints that government agencies were blocking the flow of information to the press and public. Although only a junior member of the committee, Moss already had impressed House leaders with his diligence and seriousness of purpose and he was made chairman of the new subcommittee. His characteristics proved valuable in the venture he undertook. TAKEN FOR GRANTED The right of a free people to know how their elected representatives are conducting the public business has been taken for granted by most Americans. But the Constitution contains no requirement that the government keep the people informed. The seeds of the secrecy controversy were sown during the first session of Congress when it gave the executive branch, in a "housekeeping" act, authority to prescribe rules for the custody, use and preservation of its records. They flourished in the climate created by the separation of the executive and legislative functions of government. Since George Washington, presidents have relied on a vague concept called "executive privilege" to withhold from Congress information they feel should be kept secret in the national interest. There are constitutional problems involved in any move by Congress to deal with that issue, and S1160 seeks to avoid it entirely. CLASHED Moss, acting on the many complaints he receives, has clashed repeatedly with government officials far down the bureaucratic lines who have claimed "executive privilege" in refusing to divulge information, and in 1962 he succeeded in getting a letter from President John F. Kennedy stating that only the president would invoke it in the future. President Johnson gave Moss a similar pledge last year. Until the Moss subcommittee entered the field, the battle against government secrecy had been borne mainly by newspapers. In 1953, the American Society of Newspaper Editors published the first comprehensive study of the growing restrictions on public access to government records — a book by Harold L. Cross entitled "The People's Right to Know." The book provided the basis for the legislative remedy the subcommittee proceeded to seek, and Cross summed up the idea that has driven Moss ever since when he said, "The right to speak and the right to print, without the right to know, are pretty empty." Now 53, Moss is a short, compactly built man whose hard work and party loyalty have brought him the reward of a leadership position — that of assistant majority whip, fourth in the hierarchy of important House posts. He has a powerful, resonant voice that makes him one of the best orators in the House when he chooses to speak, which is not often. Moss feels S1160 marks a legislative milestone in the United States. "For the first time in the nation's history," he said recently, "the people's right to know the facts of government will be guaranteed." There is wide agreement with this view, but warnings against too much optimism also are being voiced. Noting the exemptions written into the bill, a Capitol Hill veteran observed, "Any bureaucrat worthy of the name should be able to find some place in those exemptions to tuck a document he didn't want seen." Others have warned that it may take years of litigation to determine the effectiveness of a freedom of information law.

Another government witness, Fred Burton Smith, acting general counsel of the Treasury Department, said if the bill was enacted "the executive branch will be unable to execute effectively many of the laws designed to protect the public and will be unable to prevent invasions of privacy and individuals whose records have become government records." INADEQUATE Smith said the exemptions contained in the bill were inadequate and its court provisions inappropriate. In addition, he said, persons without a legitimate interest in a matter would have access to records and the whole package was of doubtful constitutionality. Far from deterring him, such testimony has only strengthened Moss' feeling that Congress had to do the job of making more information available to the public because the executive branch obviously wouldn't. The bill he is bringing to the House floor, June 20, is actually a series of amendments to a law Congress passed in 1946 in the belief it was requiring greater disclosure of government information to the public. And that, for Moss, takes care of the constitutional question. "If we could pass a weak public information law?" he asks, "why can't we strengthen it?" INTERPRETATIONS The 1946 law is open to many interpretations. And the interpretations made by the executive agencies were such that the law, which was intended to open records to the public, is now the chief statutory authority cited by the agencies for keeping them closed. For the law permits withholding of records if secrecy "is required in the public interest," or if the records relate "solely to the internal management of an agency." If a record doesn't fit those categories it can be kept secret "for good cause found." And even if no good cause is found, the information can only be given to "persons properly and directly concerned." Between 1946, when that law was enacted, and 1953 the amount of file space occupied by classified documents increased by one million cubic feet, and 24 new terms were added to "top secret," "secret," and "confidential" to hide documents from public view. NON-PUBLIC They ranged from simple "nonpublic" to "While this document is unclassified, it is for use only in industry and not for public release." The law has been used as authority for refusing to disclose cost estimates submitted by unsuccessful bidders on nonsecret contracts, for withholding names and salaries of federal employees, and keeping secret dissenting views of regulatory board members. It was used by the Navy to stamp its Pentagon telephone directories as not for public use on the ground they related to the internal management of the Navy. "For the first time in the nation's history," he said recently, "the people's right to know the facts of government will be guaranteed." There is wide agreement with this view, but warnings against too much optimism also are being voiced. Noting the exemptions written into the bill, a Capitol Hill veteran observed, "Any bureaucrat worthy of the name should be able to find some place in those exemptions to tuck a document he didn't want seen." Others have warned that it may take years of litigation to determine the effectiveness of a freedom of information law.

Another government witness, Fred Burton Smith, acting general counsel of the Treasury Department, said if the bill was enacted "the executive branch will be unable to execute effectively many of the laws designed to protect the public and will be unable to prevent invasions of privacy and individuals whose records have become government records." INADEQUATE Smith said the exemptions contained in the bill were inadequate and its court provisions inappropriate. In addition, he said, persons without a legitimate interest in a matter would have access to records and the whole package was of doubtful constitutionality. Far from deterring him, such testimony has only strengthened Moss' feeling that Congress had to do the job of making more information available to the public because the executive branch obviously wouldn't. The bill he is bringing to the House floor, June 20, is actually a series of amendments to a law Congress passed in 1946 in the belief it was requiring greater disclosure of government information to the public. And that, for Moss, takes care of the constitutional question. "If we could pass a weak public information law?" he asks, "why can't we strengthen it?" INTERPRETATIONS The 1946 law is open to many interpretations. And the interpretations made by the executive agencies were such that the law, which was intended to open records to the public, is now the chief statutory authority cited by the agencies for keeping them closed. For the law permits withholding of records if secrecy "is re-

Injured Lad Satisfactory After Accidental Shooting

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Doctors said a boy who crawled several miles through river-break brush with a rifle slung in his abdomen was in satisfactory condition Saturday.

Jerry Neel, 15, an 11th grader this fall at Chillicothe High School, accidentally shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle Thursday while hunting rabbits near the Red River.

"He said he crawled till he couldn't crawl any further," said an aunt, Mrs. Albert Walker of Vernon.

She said the youth had left the family farm 20 miles northwest of Vernon about 10 a.m. Thursday and was shot shortly before noon.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Neel, became alarmed when he hadn't come back home by 4 p.m.

Officers joined in a search but the boy was not found until 5 a.m. Friday, when his father set out to check a patch of brush about one mile from the farm house.

"Jerry, Jerry," the elder Neel called into the night.

Finally he got an answer: "I'm over here, Daddy."

Neel ran to his house and made arrangements for an ambulance and doctors to be rushed to the scene where his son lay.

The youth underwent three hours of surgery Friday. Doctors said the bullet ripped into his stomach and came to rest near his backbone.

Members of his family said they couldn't be sure just how far Jerry had crawled, but estimates ranged from three to six miles.

City Improving Its Lost-Hours Rating

During the city's past fiscal year, 72 injuries were sustained by the 240 employees, costing the city 2,494 lost man-hours, according to Roy Anderson, assistant city manager.

Anderson claimed a substantial drop in the employe injury rate since the instigation of a safety program two years ago, however.

"We didn't keep statistics like these until this report," Anderson said. But, he added, he can back up his claim.

"Since the beginning of the city's accident prevention program, the cost of workmen's compensation insurance has shown a decrease. In January, 1964, the city received from Traveler's Insurance Co. a retrospective adjustment in the amount of $17,929.17, and in December, 1965, received refunds amounting to $11,748.45."

Before the safety program, he indicated, the number of injuries was high enough to prevent substantial refunds.

The 2,494 man-hours lost is equivalent to that of one full-time man, or about $3,750, Anderson said.

He cited "carelessness in getting off trucks" as accounting for a substantial portion of back, shoulder and leg strains.

The city requires that employes report even very minor injuries.

"This," Anderson said, "helps to account for the comparatively high incidence of injuries; however, most were very minor."

During the fiscal year, he said, one employe was involved in four injuries, four reported three injuries each and six reported two injuries each.

Supervisor's investigation reports show that no injury occurred as the result of failure of the employe to use the safety equipment available, he declared.

There are two legal suits, one each filed by two former employes, pending, he added.

Youngsters May Still Sign For Summer Fun Program

With upwards of 400 youngsters already enrolled, the city-wide summer recreation program gets under way Monday.

There is still time for parents to register their boys and girls in the program, said Jim Gilbert, director. Those in the south part of town should come to the central YMCA, while those in the north part of town should go either to the Northeast Park or the Lakeview YMCA at 9 a.m.

There is no registration fee, although those who are able are asked to pay $1 for materials used in handicrafts. The program continues through July and is made possible by the City of Big Spring, the Big Spring schools, the United Fund and the YMCA. Although the Y administers the program, it has nothing to do with Y membership, so any youngster is urged to take part.

The program for school areas on the south side will be handled largely at the Y, and parents are urged to furnish transportation or work out car pools. However, for youngsters who do not have a way to the Y, the program will operate a limited bus service, picking up boys and girls at their schools and returning them at noon.

Children in the College Heights, Marcy, Park Hill, Airport schools will have their activities on Monday and Wednesday mornings; those in the Washington Place, Kentwood, Cedar Crest and Boydston school districts on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Program supervisors are Don Stevens, Jack Tayrien, Mrs. Nancy Miller, Mrs. Peg Russell, Chuck Chapman, Pat Nelson and Ruth Russell. Mrs. Carol Ann Condron will be the arts and crafts instructor, while Stevens and Tayrien will be bus drivers.

Gustavo Hernandez will be in charge at the Northeast Park location, Sam Dawson at Lakeview, assisted by Mrs. Anna Myers and Oscar Tucker. Rick Pajot will be lifeguard.

Kluxers Make Rights March

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Four men wearing white Ku Klux Klan outfits left Gettysburg Saturday on a march to Washington where they planned to picket the White House in protest of James Meredith's recent civil rights march in Mississippi.

John Cain of a Chambersburg radio station said one of the four men identified himself as Roy Frankhouser, grand dragon of the Pennsylvania Klan.

Cain said another identified himself as William Bond, formerly of Mississippi and now of Pennsylvania, and that a third man said he was "king klegle" of New Jersey.

Meredith, a Negro, whose admission to the University of Mississippi in 1962 touched off rioting, recently led what he called "a march against fear" from Tennessee into Mississippi where he was birdshot.

Washington is 90 miles south of Gettysburg.

The four men laid a wreath at an equestrian statue in the Gettysburg Battlefield and then began walking down the road. One carried an American flag, another a Confederate flag, and a third a white banner.

Mrs. Schillings Funeral Held

Services for Mrs. Marie Schillings, 66, 1301 Tucson, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. She died at 11:45 a.m. Friday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born Sept. 25, 1899, in Winsboro, Tex., and moved to Big Spring in 1960 from Mineral Wells.

The Rev. Jarrell Sharp, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Interment was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Schillings is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. L. Whaley, Big Spring; one son, Frank Carroll, Houston; and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Dave Dorchester, Roy Bruce, Bill Adams, R. S. Tawater, John Annen and L. N. Fulmer.

Church Group Posts Bond

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — A religious group which chose to remain anonymous posted $15,000 bond Friday for Henry Amerson during the second day of his trial in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Marjorie Wills of Houston.

The Houston aircraft mechanic said the group "must be pretty wonderful and understanding people." Amerson, 39, had been in jail since his arrest in Houston Jan. 30, 1965.

Harris County medical examiner Joseph Jachiczek told the court Friday that his autopsy indicated Mrs. Wills, 26, was forcibly raped. He said she died of "asphyxia," or choking.

Mrs. Wills disappeared after leaving her job at the Houston airport early Jan. 16, 1965. The body was found next day in an ice-coated ditch near Pearland. Amerson has denied a any knowledge of Mrs. Wills' death. Testimony will be resumed Monday.

New Publication Seen At Coahoma

COAHOMA (SC) — A new publication, the Signal Mountain Observer, has made its appearance under a Coahoma format.

The initial issue carried no volume or number, but the announcement said that the paper would be a weekly devoted to Eastern Howard County. Donald Banta, Colorado City, is publisher of the paper, a five-column issue on a 10x16-inch form.

Colorful costumes, sidewalk barkers, and a carnival atmosphere will be the theme of the day. Merchants may stay open as late as they like.

Progress Made On Lake Plans

Steady progress is being made toward the beginning of work on a lake on the Colorado River just above Robert Lee.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said Saturday that during the past week understandings on trades affecting about 1,000 acres of land in the basin area had been made. This will make about 4,600 acres now purchased or under agreement to the district.

This is 30 per cent of the total acreage needed, and it leaves 14 property owners yet to be contacted. Four of this number own over 10,000 acres. Ivie said that negotiations were proceeding satisfactorily with purchases holding within appraisals.

A meeting has been set for June 23 in Fort Worth with Richard Locke, representing the fiscal agents of Eastman, Dillon, Union Securities, Inc., and Freese, Nichols and Endress, the district's engineers. Out of this confab likely will come the final draft of the prospectus for a $30,000,000 revenue bond issue, according to Ivie.

Last week Ivie, together with S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, engineer, J. A. Snell, San Angelo, District 7 state highway engineer, the resident engineer and several from the state office, conferred on the re-routing of several miles of State Highway 158 (Sterling City-Robert Lee). Both the district and highway department will make engineering studies and then get together at another meeting.

Engineers have given a firm estimate on completion of plans for the big dam in time for an early September letting.

P-TA Proposes Timely Move

AUSTIN (AP) — Leaders of the Parent-Teachers Association drafted legislative proposals Friday which included public school kindergartens and sex education in the schools.

P.T.A. President Mrs. L. L. Ledger of Copperas Cove called the proposals, approved at an annual training session, "strong and timely."

Other legislative proposals included a provision for "adequate" teacher compensation and stronger laws and enforcement of laws concerning the sale, possession and use of alcohol, narcotics and stimulants "by children and youth."

Another called for stronger laws dealing with sex offenders. The proposals will be submitted for adoption to the annual state meeting of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers in Austin Nov. 16-18.

Appeal Denied, Case Is Heard

An appeal from a damage suit brought originally in 118th District court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

C. P. Ward Jr. had appealed a damage claim in the case against Barbara Sue Brooks, et vir, but the court disallowed it.

In another action, the case of Carroll Trantham versus Jess Slaughter, was submitted. Trantham, though his attorney Gil Jones, had sought to mandamus Slaughter into a second preliminary hearing, but Judge Ralph Caton ruled for Slaughter. The case then was appealed. Trantham had been charged with robbery.

Thekeld, Chancellor Lead Big Spring Open

By TOMMY HART
A 22-year-old blond bomber and a former National Left-Handed champion fused their games perfectly to grab the 18-hole lead in the fourth annual Big Spring Golf Open under sunlit skies Saturday.

They are Steve Thekeld, an assistant pro at the Midland Country Club; and his southpaw partner, Stuart Chancellor, also of Midland, who blazed around the course in 63 strokes—eight under regulation figures.

The unique, low-ball tournament winds up with an 18-hole round today.

Laying back as if ready to vault into the lead are the defending titlists, Wendy Green and Benny Burleson, also of Midland, who only one stroke out of the lead.

They are tied with Bobby Westfall, Floydada, and the seasoned Jack Williams of Plainview.

Fred Marti Assumes Lead In Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Fred Marti put his hot putter to work again Saturday and fired a three-under-par 69 for the second round lead in the $100,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament.

Marti, tied at 70 with Phil Rodgers and Jim Ferrier for the first day lead, needed just 28 putts on his round and finished with a 30-foot birdie effort on the 18th hole.

His five-under-par 139 gave him a two-stroke edge over Roger Ginsberg of Riverdale, N.Y., who topped the early finishers Saturday with a 70 and a 141 total.

Marti, of Baytown, Tex., said he got a big lift when he pitched to within one inch of the cup on the 464-yard fifth hole, just missing the birdie.

Following Marti and Ginsberg, with one-third of the field still on the course, were Rodgers, Tom Weiskopf and former champion Julius Boros, who won here in 1963.

Protege Of Gary Player Wins British Amateur

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Bobby Cole, 18-year-old protege of Gary Player, defeated Ronnie Shade of Scotland 3 and 2 Saturday for the British Amateur golf title in a final round cut to 18 holes because of midweek rains.

Cole never behind in the abbreviated final, started his winning surge on the 14th hole by canning a 12-foot putt for a birdie 4 and a 1-up edge.

He took the 15th with a par and closed out the match on the 16th when Shade, a British Walker Cup player, drove into a trap and came out poorly.

In the morning's semifinal rounds over the 7,650-yard Carnoustie course, where par is 71, Cole defeated Henri de Lamaze of Paris 2 and 1 and Shade eliminated Gordon Cosh of Scotland by the same score.

Rains in midweek had washed out one-half day's play, and officials cut the final round to 18 holes for the first time since 1895.

Cardinals Visit Odessa Seeking Fifth Victory

The Big Spring Cardinals go to Odessa today to oppose the Odessa Dorados in a 2:30 p.m. baseball game.

The Red Birds are now 4-3 for the season. They moved above the 500 mark by turning back the Big Spring Tigers last Sunday, 7-6. A return game is scheduled here between those clubs July 3.

Tony Fierro will likely pitch for the Cards today. Other starters will be Tony Martinez, second base; Manuel Lopez, shortstop; Tom Arista, center field; Guy Lara, third base; Benny Marquez, left field; Joe Cadenhead, right field; Pano Rodriguez, first base; and Abel Ramirez, catching.

Francisco Rubio manages the Cardinals.

Wright Leading By Six Strokes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Veteran Mickey Wright turned in a four-under-par 68 Saturday in the Bluegrass Invitational Golf Tournament for a strong six-stroke lead going into Sunday's final round.

Miss Wright hit 16 of 18 greens on the 72-par Hunting Creek Country Club course. She was off fast with an eagle three on the second hole.

Carol Mann moved up from third to second place with a 71. She chipped in from 45 feet on the 18th hole for her one-under-par 71.

Wright's lead of six strokes over Mann was the largest in the tournament's 11th year.

Minnesota Wins Over Sox Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Gary Peters walked in what proved to be the winning run as the Minnesota Twins whipped Chicago 4-3 Saturday night for their seventh victory in as many meetings with the White Sox this season.

Minnesota jumped in front on Harmon Killebrew's run-scoring single in the first inning and Bob Allison's fourth homer in the second inning for a 2-0 lead.

Tommy Wright pitched a four-hitter and batted in Waxahachie's first run Saturday as the Indians defeated Brenham 3-1 for third place in the state schoolboy baseball tournament's Class AAAA Division.

Dodgers Grab Top Position In Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Davis singled home one run and scored another on Lou Johnson's squeeze bunt in the ninth inning, lifting the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Saturday.

The triumph gave the first-place Dodgers a one-game lead over the second-place Giants in the National League.

Jim Gilliam led off the ninth with a walk and was sacrificed to second. Frank Linzy retired Wes Parker on a fly, but Davis followed with a single to right field for the run that broke a 2-2 deadlock.

Baltimore Knocked Out Of Top Spot By Boston

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles were knocked out of the American League lead.

The Orioles, whose five-game winning streak was snapped, dropped 11 percentage points below the Cleveland Indians.

Boston made only three hits during the big rally, but four consecutive walks forced in the first two runs and put the Red Sox ahead 3-2.

Cubs Defeat Oriole Nine

The Hull and Phillips Cubs scored three runs on Duncan Oriole errors to win, 7-4, Saturday.

The Cubs scored two runs in the second, one in the fourth, one on a second-base error in the fifth, and three, two of them on Oriole errors, in the sixth. Both teams had only four hits.

Thelkeld Is Low With 67

Steve Thekeld, young Midland pro, may have the satisfaction of gaining medal honors among pros entered in the fourth annual Big Spring Golf Open as well as sharing first place in the Open Division.

The 22-year-old one-time Fort Worth resident fired a medal score of four-under-par 67 Saturday to lead runnerup Bobby Westfall, Floydada, by two strokes.

Waxahachie Wins

AUSTIN (AP) — Tommy Rhymes pitched a four-hitter and batted in Waxahachie's first run Saturday as the Indians defeated Brenham 3-1 for third place in the state schoolboy baseball tournament's Class AAAA Division.

Thelkeld was out in 34 and came home in 33. Even-par 71's were turned in by C. A. DeWees, the former Big Spring Country Club pro who now resides in Arlington; Jack Holt, San Antonio; and Bunky Johnson, Amarillo; while checking in with 72's were Wendy Green, Midland; J. B. Wetzel, Big Spring; Jack Bartko, Big Spring; and Jerry Green, Big Spring.

Permian Winner

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Monte Van Stavern singled in the 11th inning to drive in the only run of the game Saturday as Odessa Permian beat Fort Worth Arlington Heights 1-0 for third place in the Texas schoolboy baseball tournament's Class AAAA division.

Natural Gas Industry 150 Years Old Monday

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Monday will mark the 150th anniversary of the birth of the natural gas industry in the United States.

The nation's first gas distribution firm was organized on June 13, 1816, in Baltimore, Md. Ironically, Baltimore Gas & Electric Co. was organized five years before the first U. S. discovery of natural gas at Fredonia, N. Y. The new firm distributed gas manufactured from the coal seam at Fredonia.

But Baltimore Gas & Electric started what now has become the nation's sixth largest industrial gas utility in terms of plant investment and production.

The nation's first gas distribution firm was organized on June 13, 1816, in Baltimore, Md. Ironically, Baltimore Gas & Electric Co. was organized five years before the first U. S. discovery of natural gas at Fredonia, N. Y. The new firm distributed gas manufactured from the coal seam at Fredonia.

Glasscock Venture Strikes Spraberry

Texas' No. 1-E Glasscock, a 10-mile south of Garden City, has been completed as a Spraberry discovery to pump 17 barrels of 36.2-gravity oil per day, plus 56 per cent water, from a series of perforations extending from 5,616-6,475 feet, which were treated with 5,000 gallons of acid and 50,000 gallons of fracturing fluid.

It is 1,880 feet from the north and east lines of section 5-33-5e, T-4P survey, and is a workover of the depleted discovery and lone producer in the Garden City, South (Wolfcamp) pool, which was completed from the same pay in May, 1964 to pump three barrels of 36-gravity oil plus 11 barrels of salt water from perforations in the 7,635-82-foot interval. Operator asked for new pool designation, Garden City, South (Spraberry) from the reservoir opened.

Jake L. Hamon has taken eight outposts in block 2, T&E survey, to the Calvin (6,800-foot lower Spraberry and Dean) area of Reagan County. All are expected to 8,200 feet to explore both the proven producing horizons in the field and spot about 15 miles northeast of Stiles.

No. 9 Sugg is 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 197, one-half mile east of Dean and three-quarters Spraberry production.

No. 11 Sugg is 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 209, five-eighths mile southwest of Dean and one and one-fourth miles southwest of lower Spraberry production.

No. 12 Sugg is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 209, one-half mile west of Dean and one and one-half miles northwest of lower Spraberry production.

No. 13 Sugg is 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 208, one-half mile west of Dean and one and one-half miles northwest of lower Spraberry production.

No. 14 Sugg is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 208, one-half mile west of Dean and one and one-half miles northwest of lower Spraberry production.

No. 15 Sugg is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 207, a mile west of Dean and two and one-fourth miles northwest of lower Spraberry production.

No. 16 Sugg is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 197, one-half mile east of Dean and three-quarters Spraberry production.

Permian Basin Rig Count Records Another Jump

MIDLAND—Another jump in the number of active rotary drilling rigs operating in the Permian Basin was registered on the Friday tabulation of Reed Roller Bit Co., with the total showing an increase of 4—up to 182 from the 178 counted in the region a week earlier.

However, the 182 working units listed on the latest count was 14 less than the 196 credited to the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico area on the same Friday last year.

Reagan County, which has headed the list for the last several weeks was tied by Lea County, N. M. on the Friday report for first position. Reagan gained four, up to 25 from 21, while Lea showed an increase of five, with 25 on the latest survey as compared with 20 the previous Friday.

Pecos continued in third spot, recording a jump of one, to 18 from 17.

Rigs, by counties, with last week's figures in parentheses: Andrews 5, (6); Chaves 5, (1); Cochran 1, (0); Concho 1, (1); Crane 7, (4); Crockett 4, (4); Dawson 5, (4); Ector 4, (3); Gadsden 9, (12); Fisher 2, (3); Edley 1, (2); Garza 6, (3); Glasscock 2, (3); Hockley 4, (6); Howard 3, (3); Irion 3, (2); Kent 0, (1); Lea 25, (20); Loving 3, (2); Martin 4, (2); Midland 2, (1); Mitchell 1, (1); Nolan 2, (1); Pecos 18, (17); Reagan 25, (21); Reeves 2, (3); Roosevelt 10, (7); Runnels 3, (3); Schleicher 3, (4); Scurry 2, (2); Sterling 3, (5); Stonewall 2, (1); Sutton 0, (2); Terrell 1, (1); Tom Green 2, (2); Upton 2, (2); Ward 9, (7); Winkler 5, (5); Yoakum 2, (3). Total 182, (176).

Strawn Found In Tom Green

Southern Minerals Corp. opened Strawn R-15 reef lime oil production 17 miles southwest of San Angelo in Tom Green County with completion of No. 1 Eva Browne Tweedy.

It was potentialized for 145 barrels of 44-gravity oil daily from perforations at 6,016-18 feet after treatment with 25 gallons of acid. Production was through an 11-64-inch choke and gas-oil ratio registered 365-1.

Location is 467 feet from north and west lines of W. Schirmacher survey 763, certificate 225, 1,600 feet southeast of same operator's No. 2-A M. D. Bryant, a recent 5,900-foot Strawn R-11 pay opener on the south side of the Knickerbocker multipay Strawn field.

Deep Pecos Site Nears Completion

The Superior Oil Co. was flowing to pits to clean out and complete No. 1-C Blackstone-Slaughter, 24 miles southeast of Fort Stockton in Pecos County, one and one-fourth miles southeast of the two-well Grey Ranch (Eilenburger gas) pool.

After drilling to 16,211 feet, operator plugged back to 15,435 feet and is checking on open hole between 14,000 feet, where the 7-inch liner is set, and the plugged back depth.

Baltimore the first American city to light its streets with gas. STARTED 1816

Many cities and towns accepted manufactured gas quickly. By the time the first natural gas company was organized in 1859 there were 297 manufacturing gas companies serving nearly 5 million customers.

Despite the 1821 discovery at Fredonia, it took natural gas many years to overcome the lead gained by manufactured gas. Most discoveries that followed Fredonia were long distances from principal markets. Major metropolitan areas did not start receiving significant volumes of natural gas until nearly 100 years after the Fredonia discovery. The nation's first 1,000-mile pipeline was not completed until 1931. The first natural gas delivery to New York City was not made until 1949.

The postwar pipeline construction boom has left Hawaii the only state still served only by manufactured gas and liquefied petroleum gas.

FIRST PIPELINE

The 1821 Fredonia discovery resulted in the first pipeline in America but it involved moving gas only short distances through small hollow logs.

Within four years Fredonia had about 100 street lights fueled with natural gas but it was not until 1859 after the discovery that the Fredonia Gas Light and Water Works Co. was organized to distribute natural gas to commercial and residential customers.

The Fredonians may have gotten the idea to use hollow logs as a pipeline from the Chinese. Hollow bamboo poles had been used by the Chinese as early as 940 B.C. to pipe natural gas to salt plants to dehydrate brine.

Peale was born in Pennsylvania, but he may have gotten his idea to light the streets of Baltimore from London.

Several decades of British experiments with gas manufactured from coal had enabled Pall Mall in London to become in 1807 the first street in the world to be illuminated with gas.

197 Wells Said Drilled

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday 158 oil wells and 39 gas wells were completed in the state during the past week.

That raised oil well completions for the year to 3,317, compared to 3,119 a year ago, and gas wells to 827, compared to 1,419 a year ago.

The commission said 225 wells were plugged, including 129 dry holes.

Thirteen wildcat oil wells were drilled—five in Dist. 4, three in Dist. 8, two each in Dist. 2 and 7C and one in Dist. 8A. Thirteen wildcat gas wells also were drilled—six in Dist. 3, two each in Dist. 2, 4 and 6 and one in Dist. 9.

Coke 'Failure' Hits Canyon

Tucker Drilling Co. Inc. of San Angelo and Peter Henderson of New York City have requested designation of Bloodworth, North (Canyon sand oil) pool for No. 1 Otis B. Jacobs, a former 7,812-foot failure in Coke County.

The project was recompleted on the Canyon to flow 180 barrels of 46-gravity oil daily through a 16-64-inch choke and from perforations at 5,653-5,665 feet. The pay was injected with 30,000 gallons of fracture fluid and gas-oil ratio was 1,400-1.

Originally drilled by the same operators and abandoned in January, it is 660 feet from north and 1,990 feet from east lines of section 313, block 1-A, H&TC survey, 14 miles northeast of Robert Lee, three-fourths mile northeast of their Canyon sand gas-distillate discovery in the Bloodworth 5,700-foot area and 1 1/2 miles northeast of the nearest Canyon oil producer in that pool.

Jal Explorers Flowing Gas

Shell Oil Co. No. 1 North Antelope Ridge Unit, Lea County, N. M. explorer, 23 miles north of Jal has developed a gas flow of possible commercial quantity from an unidentified section.

On a drillstem test at 11,990-12,150 feet, which was still open at last report, the project had gas at the surface in 19 minutes at the rate of 3 million cubic feet, daily flowing on a 1-inch choke with 100 pounds surface pressure.

After an unreported length of time the gas rate declined to 2.3 million cubic feet with 75 pounds flowing pressure. It again dropped to 1.8 million cubic feet daily with surface pressure of 55 pounds.

Testing continued on the section in this operation which is contracted to 15,000 feet as a Devonian prospector.

It is 1,960 feet from north and east lines of section 22-23e-34e, 1 and one-half miles north and slightly east of a loan Devonian and slightly east of the Devonian gas well, three and one-half miles east of the discovery of the Devonian opener in the Bell Lake, North area.

Oldham, Jobbers Hold Meetings

George Oldham, local oil jobber, had a series of meetings Friday and Saturday in Fort Worth and Dallas with members of the Texas Oil Jobbers Association and distributors, he said Saturday.

"The purpose of the meetings," he said, "was to improve communication between suppliers, both major and independent, and their jobbers, distributors and commissioned agents."

Oldham represents TOJA's district 12. He said action on the meetings will take place within 30 days.

Wanda Boatler Becomes Bride Of William Driver

Miss Wanda Lanell Boatler and William J. Driver exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church. Dr. P. D. O'Brien of Houston officiated for the double ring service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin H. Boatler and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Driver, all of Silver Heels.

Preceding the ceremony, a musical prelude was presented by Miss Delores Howard, who accompanied Mrs. Carl Bradley as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The wedding scene was illuminated by a tall crescent candelabrum holding bridal tapers. To either side were large white wrought iron urns holding arrangements of white stock, gladioli and chrysanthemums. Seven-branched candelabra and emerald fern trees completed the setting, and family pews were marked with tall candelabra tied in satin and lighted with votive candles. During the wedding prayer, the couple knelt on a white prie dieu.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of peau de soie fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Alencon lace, sprinkled with seed pearls, encircled the waistline of the molded bodice, and was repeated on the A-line skirt. The back featured a chapel train that extended from a self bow at the back waistline. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a coil of lace petals adorned with seed pearls and iridescents.

WEBB WINDSOCK

Check Section and Ops Flight were hostesses last Tuesday for the 356 PTS monthly coffee. With the wind blowing like it was, the poolside coffee was moved into the TV room of the Officers Open Mess. A delightful game of Name Bingo was enjoyed by all and various prizes that one would use at the pool were won. Winners were Mrs. R. L. Flechsig, Mrs. W. S. Koopman, Mrs. R. L. Hurst, Mrs. J. C. Hussey, Mrs. T. C. Isaacson, Mrs. J. A. Leonard, Mrs. E. H. Wasserott, Mrs. D. T. Drinnin, Mrs. D. R. Shaw, Mrs. R. W. Hunter and Mrs. R. W. Shaw.

Capt. and Mrs. Robert Barberie were feted by several of their friends in the 351 FIS last weekend. Friday evening a dinner party was held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy, and Saturday evening Capt. and Mrs. N. D. Fogg, Capt. and Mrs. J. S. Alback Jr., and Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy entertained the Barberies at a party held at the Officers Open Mess. Another dinner was held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. J. S. Alback Sunday evening. The Barberies left Big Spring Tuesday morning.

Last Sunday the IPs and wives of Falcon Element and

La Juana McPherson Weds Billy Toombs

Miss La Juana June McPherson became the bride of Billy Bob Toombs Saturday evening at the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, Richard Williams, pastor of the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McPherson, 603 Holbert, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Toombs, Merkel.

A large basket of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and carnations centered the altar. The arrangement was flanked by tall candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Emerald green ferns completed the setting.

A church vocal group sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Because," and "Be With Me Lord." The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white voile over taffeta in the Empire fashion. The dress featured a short-sleeved bodice with appliques of white lace daisies and lace insertions. A band of lace trimmed the skirt, and the train was attached at the back waist-line with a large bow.

For her bouquet, the bride carried a cascade of stephanotis atop a white Bible. Her bouffant veil of illusion was shoulder-length and attached to a band of white daisies.

MATRON OF HONOR
Matron of honor was Mrs. Dan McPherson of Arlington, sister-in-law of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Jones of Kermit and Mrs. Norman Wright of Lubbock.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of flowered voile over taffeta. The dresses were styled in the Empire manner. They carried baskets of white daisies and leather fern. Virgil Jones of Abilene was best man. Ushers were Freddie Toombs, of Merkel and Dan McPherson of Arlington. Groomsmen were Ronnie Toombs of Dallas and Kenneth Duncan of Merkel.

Miss Susie Toombs of Merkel, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

For a wedding trip to Galveston the bride wore a two-piece dress of orange flowered sarrano with orange and white accessories. Her corsage was taken from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Abilene Christian College, Abilene. She is presently a medical technology student at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas.

The bridegroom graduated from Merkel High School and received his BS degree from Abilene Christian College.

RECEPTION
A reception was held at the church annex where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The table was covered with a white organza cloth over a satin underlay with pink roses. The centerpiece was a five-branched silver candelabrum encircled by pink and white carnations. # Miss Cynthia Carol Vaughn Weds Durward E. Rutledge

Miss Cynthia Carol Vaughn became the bride of Durward Earl Rutledge at 5 o'clock Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Vaughn, 417 Tulane, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh N. Rutledge, Rt. 1. Centering the altar were crescent candelabra entwined with fern. On either side, were seven-branch candelabra and large urn arrangements of white gladioli, asters and chrysanthemum pompons. Marking the family pews were greenery and stephanotis tied with satin bows.

Miss Merry Lee Dibrell presented the organ prelude which included "Be Thou But Near," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Panis Angelicus," and "Traumerci." She accompanied Mrs. Carl Bradley as she sang "Because," and played "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on a white prie dieu.

FORMAL GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown fashioned in white satin over bridal taffeta. Panels of re-embroidered Alencon lace adorned the sculptured bodice and the modified bell skirt, which was appliqued with re-embroidered lace, seed pearls and French crystals.

The scalloped neckline was encrusted with seed pearls and crystals. The long sleeves ended in petal points, and the Watteau chapel-length train fell in gathers from a shoulder panel of Alencon lace. Her elbow-length veil of French illusion was attached to a queen's crown, designed with open-work pearls and a drop pearl trim.

She wore a diamond heart-shaped pendant, a gift from the bridegroom. For her bouquet, she carried white orchids and roses showered in stephanotis and backed in French tulle and satin leaves with satin picot streamers. She carried the bouquet atop a white Bible, a childhood gift of her paternal grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Vaughn, Mastador.

For traditional items, the bride wore a diamond lavallere belonging to her late great-grandmother, Mrs. Absalom Roberts; her dress was new, and she carried a borrowed lace handkerchief. For something blue, she wore a friendship garter and a four leaf clover and a birthdate penny in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Julia Vaughn, and matron of honor was Mrs. Gerald Winters, Fort Worth. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill Cofer, Universal City, and Miss Ragena Rutledge, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore identical

MRS. ELBIA HENDERSON

Office Orchid

Mrs. Elbia Henderson, secretary-traffic manager for Radio Station KBYG, has worked for her present boss, Jack Wallace, for 17 years, going from radio to television, back to radio. Her job involves regular secretarial duties as well as scheduling all commercial and public service announcements and programs on a daily log. A course in speed writing has been of great help to her.

Mrs. Henderson lives with her husband, and a Siamese cat at 1108 Lancaster. They have resided in Big Spring since July, 1949.

She was born in College Station, later moving to Lubbock where she completed school before moving back to College Station to become secretary to the curator of the Texas A&M museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson met in Lubbock while she was working for the Peerless Pump Division and he was stationed at Reese AFB. They married in 1946. He is owner and manager of the Big Dipper Donut Shop.

Mrs. Henderson is a member of the Ruth Sunday School class at First Baptist Church, and at one time, taught in the Primary department. What little spare time she has is spent sewing, reading or square dancing. The Hendersons belong to the Big Spring Squares. Also, she collects demitasse cups and saucers.

Her father, George C. Morgan, resides here, as does a brother, Ernie Morgan, and his family.

floor-length dresses of turquoise silk organza over taffeta with scooped necklines and elbow-length sleeves. The bell skirts featured bows at the back waistline. Their headpieces were turquoise organza flowers centered with seed pearls and veiled in French tulle. Their bouquets were nosegays of Sweetheart roses.

Serving as best man and groomsmen were the bridegroom's brothers, Drexel Rutledge and Tommy Rutledge. Other groomsmen were Bonnie Murrell, Abilene; and Daniel Tsao, Kowloon, Hong Kong. Ushers were Blake Talbot, Bobby Lovell, Lubbock; and Steve Van Horn, Valdosta, Ga. Miss Toni Hansen was flower girl.

The bride's traveling costume was a three-piece turquoise silk suit with matching pillbox hat. She wore white accessories and an orchid corsage from her bouquet. The couple will reside at the Bell Crest Manor in Hurst and will take a delayed wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College where she was vice president of the Wesley Methodist Foundation, a reporter for the Lasso Club, a member of the Women's Recreation Association, recipient of the Spirit Award in 1965, and sophomore favorite girl. She is employed at the Holiday Inn.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Big Spring schools and attended H.C.J.C. He was president of Sigma Delta Phi and secretary-treasurer of Circle K. He will receive his BA degree from Arlington State College, Arlington, in July. He was head dormitory counselor of Trinity House, secretary of Beta Phi Omega, secretary-treasurer of the Dormitory Council, a member of the Inter-Dorm Council and Alpha Phi Omega. He is employed with Bell Helicopter Company in Fort Worth.

RECEPTION

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Marshall, 700 Highland, where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with white tulle over silk peau de soie. Chantilly lace flounces draped with lace bells and satin ribbon accented the cloth. Silver and crystal appointments completed the arrangement.

The three-tiered frosted wedding cake was separated with pedestal columns and each layer was decorated with bows of Maline and wedding bells. The cake was adorned with a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting at the refreshment table were Miss Nancy Marsh-centered with turquoise and white carnations flanked by turquoise candles. Completing the decorations were candles based in lemon leaves. Twenty-six guests attended and hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Rutledge. The honored couple presented their attendants with gifts.

Members of the house party were Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shive, Mr. and Mrs. Warden Mayes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cruz, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gound, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. Knox Chadd.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Childress, Mesquite; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tally and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rutledge, all of Abilene; Mrs. Tom Whipple, Waxahatchie; Maj. and Mrs. William Vance Johnson and family, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Felts, Mineral Wells; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rockett, Euless; Marceline Shi, Kowloon, Hong Kong; and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Lovell, Lubbock.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The Patio Room at the Holiday Inn was the scene of the Friday evening rehearsal dinner. The U-shaped table was

July Wedding

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Carolyn Sue Wiggington and Jan L. Chapman is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Wiggington Jr., 1588 Nolan. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Chapman, Rt. 1. The couple is planning a July 28 wedding at the College Baptist Church.

The bridesmaids luncheon was held Saturday at the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. The table was covered with white linen and centered with a bride doll based in turquoise carnations and greenery. Turquoise ribbon streamers, interspersed with white wedding bells, flowed from the centerpiece. The place cards and favors were miniature baskets filled with white mints topped with a white bow and two silver rings hanging from a heart-shaped arch. The ten guests were presented with gifts.

FIVE Important Reasons Why Penney's Own Towncraft White Dress Shirts With NEVER-IRON* PENN-PREST Is Your Best Buy At Any Price!

- 1 Penn-Prest goes ALL the way! Penney's sees to it that every single part of every Towncraft shirt (collar, band, cuffs, front, pocket, back and yoke) is individually Penn-Prest to the precise degree of heat, pressure and time each requires to stay smooth!
- 2 Because the ENTIRE shirt undergoes the Penn-Prest 'bake-set' process, it retains its all-over smoothness wash after wash for the life of the shirt... 'irons itself' in the dryer!
- 3 No seam pucker... anywhere! To guarantee this, Penney experts scientifically specify every construction detail — the numbers of stitches for every part, the varied easier stitching tensions for different seams, the special collar lining of wash-wear Dacron® polyester.
- 4 Performance-proved, the hard commercial laundry way, by Penney's own model Testing Center — the most modern of its kind.
- 5 Penney's superior broadcloth — a perfect abrasion-resistant blend of 65% Dacron polyester 35% cotton. Smooth to the touch, it's tough enough to take Penn-Prest processing. And, its white stays bright — another Penney 'plus'!

A LOVELIER YOU

Modern Miss Stays Captive Of Coiffure

By MARY SUE MILLER

Feminine tresses bring to mind the captive maiden of old. She was always in distress and dreaming of rescue by a knight in armor. Just so, modern lovelies, captives of hair problems, dream of hair-saving miracles. Or so their letters indicate.

Well, no shining knight am I. But I will try to give factual answers to current hair problems. You are sure to find a solution to your own pet puzzle herein:

Can brushing break the hair? Only when it is extremely fine or brittle. In such a fix, try a baby-soft brush or substitute fingertip scalp massage for brushing.

Should split ends be singed? No, have splits trimmed off and, thereafter, keep the ends lubricated with pomade.

Can hair be straightened without damage? Yes, if you patronize a reliable salon or use a gentle, curl-free process at home.

Other than curling, what gives body to limp hair? If your aim is a satin-smooth finish—bounce without curls—success comes from roller permanents with a special body-giving lotion.

Does anything keep hair from drooping on damp days? Sprays containing moisture guard.

Is dandruff curable? Dandruff responds to a faithful treatment. The advice of a dermatologist is a wise first step. In home control, medicated shampoos and herbal tonics are useful. Hospital-clean brushes are a must.

What stops falling hair? If anything will, it's medical treatment.

RULE YOUR WAVES

What's your hair problem? You'll find a way to overcome it in my 16-page booklet, "Rule Your Waves." Advice includes: beauty treatments for oily, dry, and normal hair; ways to manage unruly locks; how to add color and highlights; tips on cutting, permanents and styling; grooming tricks. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald for your copy, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Wedding Rites Held In Baptist Church

Miss Cecilia Kay Pachall and Johnny Bruce Bedell were married Friday morning at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Pachall, 1313 Princeton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks G. Bedell, Gall Route.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress designed in the Empire manner with an A-line skirt. The fitted bodice featured long, petal point sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Below the bodice was a row of lace which extended to a satin bow at the back.

The bride's veil of illusion was attached to a pillbox hat of matching fabric. Her bouquet was of white orchids surrounded by stephanotis and greenery and showered with ribbons. She carried the bouquet atop a Rainbow Bible.

For traditional items, she placed a birthday penny in her shoe; and for something old, she wore a pearl ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Sallie B. Edmonson. Her wedding dress was new, and she borrowed an Irish linen handkerchief from her aunt, Mrs. R. A. Pachall.

Mrs. Bobby Dan Forester of Andrews was matron of honor. She wore an A-line dress of blue silk shantung with rounded neckline and puffed eyelet sleeves. Her bouquet was a nosegay of blue carnations.

John Phillips was best man. For a wedding trip to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the bride wore a two-piece suit of lime-yellow linen and white accessories, and her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Bedell are graduates of Big Spring Senior High School. She was a member of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, the Latin Club, Future Teachers of America, a cappella choir and was the Daily Herald's correspondent for BSHS.

Bedell was a member of the Auto Mechanics Club and the ICT-VIC Club. He is with Bedell Brothers Enterprises.

Coker's Restaurant was the scene of the reception where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a blue linen cloth and centered with the wedding bouquets. The two-tiered cake was decorated with confection roses and topped with blue satin wedding bells. Mrs. Johnny Macon, Fort Worth, sister of the bride, assisted at the refreshment table.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Toni Russell and Terry Russell, both of Fort Worth.

Remember the first time Dad took you fishing...

What a big day in your life that was. A couple of men going off on a new adventure (well, you felt as big as him). Come to think of it, he really pulled in that big one, didn't he? But that wasn't all he gave you credit for. Or taught you. Dad really had quite an influence on your life, didn't he? On Father's Day, let him know just how much he's meant to you.

Miss Jean Cornelison Weds Larry D. Hall

Miss Jean Carol Cornelison became the bride of Larry Don Hall Friday evening at the First Baptist Church. The bride's father, Harold B. Cornelison Sr., assisted by the Rev. Darrell Baergen, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cornelison of Leakey, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Marshall, Lamesa.

Miss Emma Joyner, organist, accompanied John McAnelly as he sang "Because," "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie fashioned in a bell silhouette. The dress was highlighted by re-embroidered Alencon lace on the bateau neckline, bodice and on the front skirt panel. Appliques of lace accented the chapel train.

Her veil of illusion was attached to a cabbage rose encrusted with beads and seed

Wedding In July

The approaching marriage of Miss Sylvia Kay Coyle is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Coyle of the Snyder Highway.

The prospective bridegroom is Barney B. Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berton B. Barnett, 420 Ryon. The wedding is scheduled for 5 p.m., July 2, at the Church of the Nazarene with the Rev. D. M. Duke officiating.

pearls. She carried a cascade of gardenias and stephanotis atop a white Bible.

MATRON OF HONOR
Mrs. John Darrell Baergen, Abilene, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Ann Lankford, San Angelo; Mrs. Jerry Hall, Ackerly; and Mrs. Neal Ator, Hurst.

Best man was Lawson Hager, Abilene. Ushers were Harold Cornelison Jr., San Angelo, brother of the bride; Jerry Hall, Ackerly, brother of the bridegroom; and Walker Parris, Abilene.

For a wedding trip to Austin, the bride chose an aqua three-piece suit. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and brown accessories. Her corsage was from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside in Abilene.

The bride received her BS degree from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, in May. She was a member of the Tri Phi Social Club, a varsity cheerleader, ROTC sponsor, and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The bridegroom will receive his BA degree from Hardin-Simmons University in January.

RECEPTION
The reception was held in the church parlor where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a white net cloth with a satin hem and ornamental puff balls at each corner.

Mrs. Harold Cornelison Jr. was in charge of the register. Members of the house party were Miss Kay Louvorn, Miss Benni McDaniel, Miss Cindy Ballew, Mrs. Darryl Schoonmaker, Mrs. Mark Wishard and Mrs. Walker Parris.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Irene Lankford, San Angelo; Mrs. John Truett, San Antonio; Judge and Mrs. Ike Chism, Albany; Mrs. H. A. Douglas, Fort Worth; and Mrs. Freddie Moss Jr. and Mrs. E. N. Adams, both of Rockport.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Affair

Miss Nancy Lewis, bride-elect of Bill Murphy, was honored with a miscellaneous shower this week at the home of Mrs. Walter Stroup, 706 Scott.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Duke Pierce, Mrs. Roy Brown, Mrs. Travis Carlton, Mrs. Doyle Forbes, Mrs. Avery Faulkner, Mrs. Silas Wilson, Mrs. Marvin Parkhill, Mrs. Miller Russell, Mrs. Carlton Black and Mrs. L. H. Manley.

A yellow and white carnation corsage was presented to Miss Lewis, and yellow carnation corsages to her mother, Mrs. V. E. Lewis; and to her fiance's mother, Mrs. G. W. Murphy.

The refreshment table was covered with an imported linen cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white spring flowers. Side tables were decorated with bridal dolls, surrounded with yellow and white lace and bouquets of roses in milk glass containers.

The hostesses' gift was a steam iron and ironing table. Approximately 70 attended, and gifts were displayed on a white linen-covered table.

The couple is planning a July 1 wedding at the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ.

PROJECT HAS 185 ENROLLED

Better Start For Youngsters

By DAL HERRING

Teachers in the Head Start Program frequently have to explain to a five-year-old what a color is or how to eat with a table utensil.

Many of the young participants have never had a commercially made toy, lived in a house with other than dirt floors, seen a book, or used indoor toilet facilities.

Some of them cannot yet effectively converse in English.

185 ENROLLED

With 10 teachers and as many instructional assistants, the project is attempting to correct some of these environmental deficiencies for 185 children.

"The purpose of the program is to prepare children to enter the first grade," said Keith Swim, project director. "We are trying to expose these children to the kind of cultural knowledge that other children their age take for granted."

Nine classes will be ready to enter school next September. The program has a 10th class which will undergo two sessions of training. It will be ready to enter school the following year. The latter class is an experimental one and will be observed for results as the students advance through the grades.

Project activities are many and varied.

The children not only participate in normal kindergarten work, but to develop their social awareness, they are involved in dramatic play. One way of achieving this is with puppets.

PROJECT

"Children who cannot express themselves in a normal conversation find little difficulty in making a puppet talk. In speaking to the puppet, they learn to project their thoughts," said Mrs. Don Farley, head teacher.

Story telling and arts and crafts are another part of the educational program. Hand and finger work is emphasized through finger painting and brush water colors. Also, the children develop coordination cutting out drawings with scissors.

"The types of activities must be rotated frequently," explained Swim, "because the attention span at that age is short."

Mental perception, the ability to get along with other children and becoming familiar with classroom situation are other important considerations.

"When some of the children first came to us," said Mrs. Farley, "they were so timid that they would not walk into a room, but would slide along the wall. They must be taught to respond in a social situation. At first, many were afraid to say 'good morning.'"

MEALS

The Head Start Program furnishes a noon meal worth 35 cents and a five-cent morning and afternoon snack, resulting in a $90 a day food budget.

"We frequently must teach a child to eat from a plate and how to use utensils," said Swim.

"We often use the same methods that are usually required for an 18-month-old.

Plans call for additional kitchen and equipment, scullery tables, an electric dishwasher, and evaporative coolers for the classrooms.

The Office of Economic Opportunity requires that the community supply 10 per cent of the financial burden of the project. Big Spring Independent School District furnishes the Kate Morrison Elementary School buildings without additional tax burden.

The present program began March 1 and will last until about Aug. 1. The children attend a full day from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

NURSE

A registered nurse, Mrs. Helen Muskardin, works with the group, and the children receive optical, dental and medical attention.

An eye-check is made at the beginning of the term to find those needing glasses. The Downtown Lions Club has donated over 30 pairs of glasses to the project.

In cases where children are in danger of losing permanent teeth, the project takes care of dental expenses. They also receive inoculations for measles, diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus.

Three new teachers and two new aids were recently added to the program. New instructors are Mary Ann Ploeger, Mrs. Minnie Loyce Phillips and Mrs. Betty Schroeder. The aids are Beverly Burk, who has two years in college with a major in Spanish, and Montanez Cruz, a graduate of Texas Tech with a major in Spanish and Italian.

Head Start teachers are paid the same regular salaries as faculty members in the Big Spring public school system. Salaries at the project amount to approximately $8,000 monthly.

VOLUNTEERS

Community volunteers also have an important role in the program. Ten persons a day assist in such capacities as field trips, in classroom situations when needed, with lunchroom duties and in outdoor recreational activities.

The Association of American University Women does some of the program is volunteer work, especially the group trips into the community.

Volunteers are still needed. Anyone interested should contact Swim at the school administration office.

Cub scouts from Webb AFB collected toys and donated them to the project. The drive was so successful that one entire room is filled with play items.

Field trips are an important phase in the project. The classes have taken trips to City Park for sack lunches, to the movies, to Webb AFB, to the post office, and to the library.

"We took 40 at a time to Webb," said Mrs. Farley, and each child had a chance to sit in the cockpit of a jet trainer. Ike Robb, manager of the Ritz, scheduled a movie showing for them, and Mrs. Calvin Daniels, at the county library, spent many hours with the groups as a story teller."

"Wul, this year we've had 13 inches of rain . . . too bad it all had to come in the last two hours!"

DEAR ABBY

What Counts Is Inside

DEAR ABBY: I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown and it's my own fault, but I can't help it. I was 29 when I married Woodley. He was 29 and completely bald except for a little fringe of hair around his head. It bothered me then, but I told myself I'd get used to it. Well, I never did. It kept bothering me more and more.

I finally made him get a toupee (it cost $200), and he looked 100 per cent better, but I was STILL ashamed to walk beside him. From a distance he looked fine, but from close up you could tell he was wearing a toupee. He said he didn't care if people knew he wore a toupee or not, he thinks it looks better than no hair at all.

I am so ashamed of myself for feeling like I do because he is the dearest, sweetest man in all the world. And the best husband, father, and provider a woman could ask for. I just hate myself for being dissatisfied with him just because he's bald.

What car I do? Sometimes I think I can't stand it another day.

WOODLEY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your problem is that you obviously have never had anything important enough to worry about. A handicapped child, a helpless parent, a husband with a drinking, gambling, or chasing problem? The real problem is YOUR head and what's not IN it. Accept the realities of life if you cannot change them. And ignore the nonessentials in an otherwise good man.

DEAR ABBY: Why are certain people always late? I know two. A man and a woman. The woman has no excuse whatsoever because she has no job, no children, and all the time in the world. The man is self-employed, and his reputation for tardiness is so well-known that when he makes an appointment it is assumed he will be anywhere from half an hour to an hour late! And he always is.

But he never has the courtesy to apologize or explain. I am always prompt. My time is every bit as valuable as anyone else's, and I resent being kept waiting.

WHY, oh, why are some people always late? ON TIME

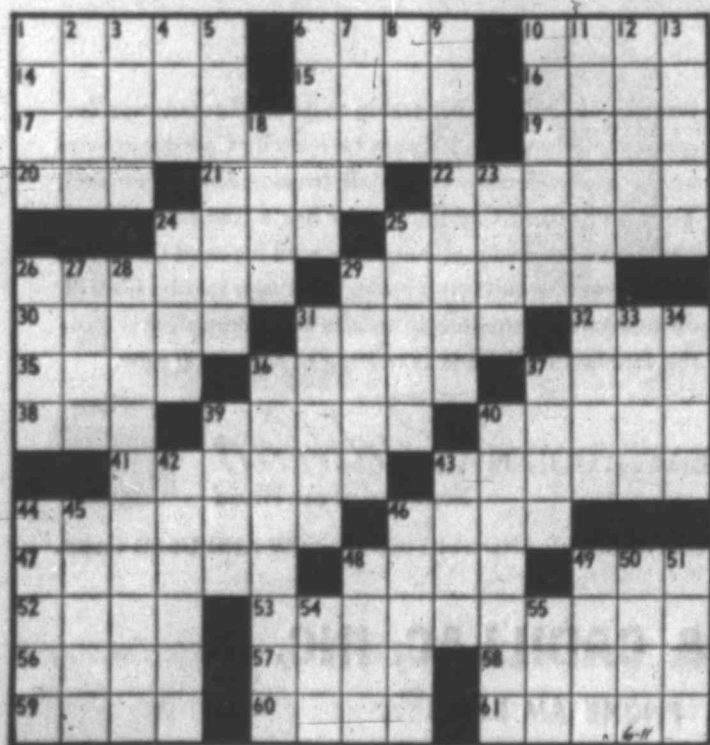

DEAR ON: Show me a person who is "always late" and I'll show you a person who is selfish, inconsiderate, and emotionally immature. Like children, they live in a timeless world, and couldn't care less about the inconvenience they cause others.

Occasionally, one who is meticulously punctual will be made late through no fault of his own. But those who are chronically tardy are bound to be immature and inconsiderate in other ways.

MEN IN SERVICE

First Lt. Stephen L. Turner has completed the U.S. Air Force survival and special training course conducted by the Air Training Command at Stead AFB, Nev.

The lieutenant is being assigned to Otis AFB, Mass., with the Air Defense Command which is the Air Force component of the U.S.-Canadian North America, Air Defense Command protecting the continent.

His wife, Sharon, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Corbell of 2509 Carol Drive, Big Spring.

Capt. Edwin A. Henningson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Henningson, 1 Ball Place, Waverly, N. Y., has been decorated with one of the highest U.S. Air Force awards — the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC) — for heroism in Viet Nam.

Capt. Henningson received the DFC at Bien Hoa AB, Viet Nam. For more than three hours, the rescue helicopter commander hovered over 150-foot trees to rescue 12 severely wounded soldiers. He also resupplied the remaining ground forces, who were pinned down by Communist fire, with essential ammunition, medical supplies and food.

Capt. Henningson, assigned at Bien Hoa, is a member of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service which flies combat and peacetime air rescue and aeromedical evacuation missions.

He was commissioned in 1955 through the aviation cadet program, and received his degree in business and economics from the University of Omaha.

His wife, Dolores, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Belk, Route 2, Big Spring.

Airman I.C. Thomas Lennahan, son of Mrs. Myrtle E. Lennahan, Settles Hotel, Big Spring.

Sgt. Riker Given Service Medal

T. Sgt. Jerry D. Riker, air traffic control technician, was presented the Air Force communications service certificate of exemplary service last week. Maj. William H. Conner, commander of 2050th Communications Squadron (AFCS), presented the award.

While assigned to the 1973rd Communications Squadron at Udorn Air Base, Thailand, Sgt. Riker was responsible for saving two host nation aircraft and four pilots.

Although he was faced with a problem of a language barrier, pilots unfamiliar with direction finding procedures and adverse weather conditions, the sergeant handled the situation with speed and professionalism. He patiently explained the procedures while successfully directing both aircraft to Udorn AB.

has been selected outstanding airman of the quarter for his Air Force unit at Rimini, Italy. Lennahan, a food service specialist, was honored for his exemplary conduct and duty performance. He is a member of America's overseas air arm assigned to NATO. The airman attended Big Spring High School. His brother-in-law, Capt. Robert L. Sandner, died in action in Viet Nam last week.

Radarman Seaman Eddie D. Gaines, USN, son of Mrs. Louise Walker of 1515 Sycamore, Big Spring, has returned from Viet Nam waters to San Diego, Calif., aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ticonderoga, ending seven months of combat operations as a unit of the Seventh Fleet in the South China Sea.

While on station off the coast of Viet Nam, attack aircraft from his ship flew over 10,000 combat missions in 115 days.

Charles L. Sweat, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Sweat, was promoted to Army Specialist 4 recently in Germany, where he is serving with the 2d Armored Cavalry Regiment. (Specialist 4 is an enlisted rank corporal.)

Specialist Sweat, a track driver in the regiment's Howitzer Battery, 2d Reconnaissance Squadron, entered the Army in January 1965 and arrived overseas in June 1965. He completed basic training at Fort Polk, La.

He is a graduate of Colorado City High School and attended Howard County Junior College.

Technical Sergeant James L. Swor, whose wife, Nancy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. McCullough of 3706 Dixon, Big Spring, has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal in Southeast Asia.

Sgt. Swor, who is on duty at a forward combat base, received the medal for meritorious achievement in Southeast Asia. He was cited for his outstanding job proficiency and leadership. He attended Galena Park High School, and his father, Allen Swor, resides in Beaumont.

Fireman Travis D. Oliver, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Oliver of 2006 Johnson, Big Spring, was standing by in the Western Pacific Ocean as a crewman aboard the destroyer USS Rupertus, for recovery of Project Gemini 9 space flight. Although splashdown is scheduled in the Atlantic, air and sea units of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard are ready in the Pacific in case the three-day space flight ended there.

Maj. David P. Blackbird, son of Mrs. M. F. Blackbird, 800 Marcy Drive, Big Spring, has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Tan Son Nhut AB, Viet Nam.

Maj. Blackbird received the medal for meritorious service as an intelligence officer at Headquarters, Tactical Air Command, Langley AFB, Va. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill, knowledge and job proficiency.

He is now at Tan Son Nhut as a member of the Pacific Air Forces which provides offensive - defensive airpower for the U.S. and its allies in the Pacific, Far East and Southeast Asia. Maj. Blackbird is a veteran of the Korean War.

The major, a graduate of Sunset High School, Dallas, received his bachelor's degree in government from Texas Technological College, where he was commissioned upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He earned his master's degree in international affairs at the University of Pittsburgh.

Maj. Blackbird's wife, Patsy, is the daughter of Mrs. Sam E.

Blowers, Seagoville. B.S. degree in architecture. He also earned his M.E. degree in civil engineering from Texas A&M University. His wife is the former Wanda F. Latham.

Pvt. Robert Kurtz, 19, son of S. Sgt. and Mrs. Hubert W. Kennedy, 402 Westover Road, checked in this week at Camp LeJeune, N. C., to begin special training in detecting mine fields and booby traps.

Kurtz, who enlisted in the Marines in February, completed training at boot camp in San Diego, Calif. He spent a 20-day leave with his parents and then was assigned for special training at Camp LeJeune.

On his graduation day from boot camp, Kurtz won a medal for expert rifle marksmanship.

Donald R. Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reeves of 601 E. 12th St., Big Spring, has been promoted to major in the U.S. Air Force. Maj. Reeves is a civil engineer at Pleiku AB, Viet Nam.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, Reeves received his commission in 1953 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Texas A&M University where he earned his B.S. degree in architecture. He also earned his M.E. degree in civil engineering from Texas A&M University. His wife is the former Wanda F. Latham.

Training Program For Urban Mission Work

A new kind of involvement in urban life and culture is offered to 1966 college graduates, seminary students and other interested adults in two New York projects announced for 1966-67 by MUST. The projects are open to anyone in the United States.

MUST, which stands for Metropolitan Urban Service Training, is a new ecumenical training program for Christian mission in urban America. It was launched in April, 1965, by the National Division of the Methodist Board of Missions and is being financed during its first two years by a $500,000 grant from the board.

MUST is headquartered in New York and is guided by an interdenominational board of directors. The full-time professional director is Dr. George W. Webber, former pastor of East Harlem Protestant Parish and author of "God's Colony in Man's World" and "The Congregation in Mission."

The two new MUST-sponsored projects are the Judson Urban Vocation Project, and the Metropolitan Intern Program for theological students.

The Judson Urban Vocation Project purpose is to help students understand the nature of urban culture and assist them in developing a sense of vocation for responsible living in the city.

Applications may come from any part of the U.S., but the applicant must have completed four years of college. Focus of the project will be the Washington Square vicinity of Greenwich Village in Lower Manhattan. It begins Sept. 15, 1966, and runs to June 15, 1967, involving work, study and involvement in the city.

"Each member will find his own job in the city," Dr. Webber said, "with the major source of learning coming after work hours, with involvement in social movements, club associations, local political clubs, theater and gallery groups and youth programs.

The Metropolitan Intern Program deals with personal involvement in the life of metropolitan society; consideration of the style of life that is required for Christian presence and wit-

A WARNING TO ALL GARDENERS

Whether you have a few flower pots, or a large garden, you are exposed to some constant peril. Cuts, scratches and bruises happen to most gardeners. Usually they are not serious if you observe simple precautions. Wash with an antiseptic soap, apply a good germicide and bandage lightly if needed. We can help you select good products.

But, Tetanus, one of man's most dangerous killer germs, lurks in the soil and can quickly enter the blood stream through any wound or burn. The spores of tetanus bacillus are almost everywhere in both the city and country and in dust or rust. If you have not recently been immunized by tetanus toxoid, ask your physician about it. The protection is given is positive.

A Devotional For The Day

Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:3)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us to be humble, to help someone in need. Help us to strive to keep on and on doing something for others in their need. We ask it in Jesus' precious name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Keep The Momentum

The past week has produced some encouraging and constructive results toward the application for a mental health and retardation demonstration clinic.

Howard County Commissioners Court voted to give the project its support, thus clearing up a key angle of local financial responsibility. The machinery for gathering of statistics was set in motion.

Details of the program were outlined at a public meeting and generated keen interest and even enthusiastic response.

Attorneys of the participating counties of Mitchell, Scurry, Dawson and Howard got together and drafted articles of incorporation and by-laws which will be applicable in each county.

Thus, where we were lagging, we are now moving with increasing speed and force. The important thing now is not to lose momentum. We must keep the ball rolling until the job is complete.

You can help, particularly if you are a member of an organization, by encouraging your group to write a letter of endorsement to Dr. Preston Harrison, director of the Big Spring State Hospital, and in the letter express a willingness to help the project.

This is important to all four counties. While they will be breaking ground for the entire state, but more importantly they will be providing a service which can meet a real need. As home of the state hospital, which is not in the project per se but which will certainly be a major resource of counsel and guidance as well as a corollary institution, we have a double responsibility here to press for the culmination of the program. As a health center, this is virtually a must.

Operation Spare Not

What was that old verse — "Woodman, spare that tree, touch not a single bow. In my youth it protected me, and I'll protect it now?"

We propose a paraphrase: "Woodman, chop down that tree, hack down every bow. In its youth it was fair and green, but it's dead and ugly now."

All over town there are the bare trunks and limbs of trees that fell victim to too many bores and insects or to too little moisture. These ghostly carcasses are a blight.

Many of them are in the public domain — that is within rights-of-way, or certainly outside of fences. If the city could go after these, perhaps we could get those on private property to chop down dead trees. The city has always been generous about hauling away such refuse when it makes for a better appearing town.

How about Operation Spare Not?

David Lawrence Guns And Distorted Minds

WASHINGTON — It is not surprising that James Meredith was brutally attacked on his march in Mississippi. For, regrettably, the United States is a crime-ridden country where firearms can be possessed by many irresponsible persons in all parts of the country.

attack on high government officials. Most of these come from individuals of unbalanced mind who, if they possess lethal weapons, may take potshots at anybody whose name they have read in the papers.

Every day tragedies are recorded. Crimes continue among persons of every race and color. Last Sunday a woman with two children entering a church in Lansing, Mich., was suddenly abducted by a man with a gun. Murders in congested sections of big cities are numerous. Can responsibility really be placed on current controversies on public questions? Isn't it a fact that individuals on the borderline of insanity are permitted to roam the country to inflict harm on innocent persons?

THE ANSWER is not to be found by making blanket indictments of the people of any state or community. The attack on Meredith is deplored by citizens everywhere, irrespective of their views on the controversial race question. There will be those who will say that Meredith should never have attempted a march under conditions of tension. But it is a reflection on all government in America — federal, state and city — that people cannot walk the streets of cities or the highways with any assurance that they will not be the victims of criminal attack.

PERHAPS THE most dramatic example of such a crime was the assassination of President Kennedy by a young man who had been a Communist but who was soon absolved of having been motivated by international politics or any public grievance. The murder of Mr. Kennedy was generally attributed to a deranged man who had acted without reference to any controversial views.

THE FACT remains that neither can crusades or demonstrations "stop bullets" when they are fired by individuals with the distorted mind of an Oswald or a Norvell. Restrictions on the widespread distribution of shotguns, rifles and revolvers to persons unfit to use them would do some good. But, in the long run, crime will not be wiped out until individual behavior is improved and better training is afforded the youth of the country in their homes and in their communities.

Attorney General Katzenbach said on Tuesday that the shooting of Meredith was an "isolated" incident. He called the occurrence "so absolutely — I don't want to use insane in the literal sense — so unpredictable with all those police around." There is no record that Aubrey James Norvell, who was arrested and accused of the crime, has been active in the civil rights controversy.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

THERE IS a fear that persons who are being prominently mentioned in the news will be the victims of assault. Threatening letters are constantly received concerning possible

The investigation of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's finances by the Senate and the Internal Revenue Service again brings to a boil the long simmering issue of what is a proper contribution to a politician.

The Connecticut Democrat was the beneficiary of the $200,000 proceeds of four testimonial dinners allegedly billed as campaign fund raisers. The charge is that he diverted some of the money for personal use and did not pay taxes on it.

Billy Graham

I have no patience with a preacher who talks about hell. A "scare" religion depicts God as a tyrant. What do you think of this?

G.G.L.

I think you are naively foolish about the truths of the Bible. If the Bible is true, if the great creeds of our churches are accurate, if the inner voice of conscience is reliable, there is a time and place when we shall be judged for our conduct in life, and where we shall be judged for the deeds done in the flesh.

God loves us enough to be brutally frank about the dangers of persistent sin, and the consequences of leading a life in defiance of heaven's laws. What kind of mother could be silent about the danger of a hot stove, the tragedies that lie in lustful sex, and the consequences of stealing, lying and cheating? Love has its positive and negative poles. A good, loving parent says "yes," but he also must say "no."

We spoiled, pampered children of the Twentieth Century think that we can do whatever we like, live the way we like, and end up wherever we like, but the Bible says that life has rules like farming, and, "Whatever a man sows, that he will reap."

I preach that sin still brings hell to the soul, and if unrepented of, brings the soul to hell. And I do it because the Bible teaches it.

This is a twilight zone between propriety and impropriety in this whole area, extending far beyond the Dodd case. No code exists to guide the office holder or aspirant, either on the state or national level.

What is "political" use and what "personal" is largely left to the conscience of the individual candidate.

This sorry tale establishes the background for the remark of Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.): "We shouldn't presume to judge a man against standards that haven't been defined. If we are going to judge Dodd, we have got to judge the system too."

IT'S high time that the citizenry started judging the system.

Oldest Pear

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Illinois is carefully preserving its oldest pear tree.

The tree, along with other nursery stock, was brought to Jersey County in a covered wagon 135 years ago by Dr. Ralph H. Van Pelt, a native of New Jersey. The pear tree still flourishes, and this year was a solid mass of white blossoms in late April.

The tree is located four miles north-east of Jerseyville, on land now owned by Frank Loy.

Jack Lefler Slowed Boom Still Has Lots Of Punch

NEW YORK (AP) — The business boom, although cooled off somewhat, still shows signs of being robust.

LOTS OF MUSCLE YET

- Gross National Product tops $700 billion mark
- Industrial production up 12.5 per cent for new peak
- Personal income and corporate profits are both up
- Booming retail sales presage continued pressures
- Automobile output back up; steel holds steady

Latest statistics show that in the first half of 1966 the economy has made a strong showing.

Business activity has increased in many sectors despite economists' predictions of a slowdown.

The gross national product — total of all goods and services — topped the $700-billion annual rate for the first time in the opening quarter of this year. It hit $713.9 billion, up nine per cent above a year earlier. The rate of gain was higher than that registered in 1965.

Industrial production in April reached a record 153.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average. This was 12.5 per cent above April, 1965. The rate of gain in the entire year of 1965 was 11 per cent.

PERSONAL INCOME UP Personal income also zoomed to a record annual rate of $537.1 billion in the first quarter. This was an increase of $41 billion, or eight per cent higher than in the 1965 first quarter.

Another key indicator, corporate profits, rose to an annual rate of $48.8 billion, a record, in the 1966 first quarter for a gain of $5 billion over a year earlier.

Analyzing the economy, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York said during the week that despite recent signs of moderation in domestic business activity, continued pressure on industrial capacity, the supply of skilled labor and prices is likely.

The slowdown in the economy's rate of growth followed an extraordinary first quarter which had inflationary implications and was quite clearly unsustainable.

"The slower pace of recent weeks is an encouraging development both for the near-term and the longer-term outlook," the bank said.

MOORE PRESSURES Indicators of prospective demand in the months ahead continue to point to further advances in output and spending, according to the bank.

Caps For Boys

CHICAGO (AP) — Boys with girls' hair are going to have to wear swim caps in Chicago Park District pools.

"Long hair clogs up the strainers in the drains and we have to call the engineers to clean up the mess," said Vernon F. Herliand, director of recreation for the district.

Booze Seized

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Fred J. Toole, national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, watched as two policemen poured $100 worth of booze down the drain in the Evanston police station recently. WCTU headquarters is in Evanston. The liquor had been seized by police during recent raids.

To Your Good Health The Meaning Of Diabetic Or Dietetic Food

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother-in-law has diabetes, and we would like to know the difference between diabetic and dietetic food. — M.A.L.

These are confusing terms and relatively meaningless to boot.

There really is no such thing as diabetic food. A diabetic eats the same food purchased for ordinary use, but the amount must be controlled.

Starchy foods may be strictly limited. Indeed, calories may be limited, since the amount of food consumed must remain within the amount that can be utilized by the body. (Insulin, or diabetes medications taken by mouth, can increase the amount to some extent.)

desist from use of aspirin or might limited dosage be recommended without endangering her hearing? — E.S.G.

If she read such a thing, she must have read it elsewhere, because I do not know of any reason why aspirin will endanger hearing. However, large doses can cause ringing in the ears.

Some hearing loss usually comes with advancing age, but to say aspirin is responsible is not correct. I hope your mother goes back to using whatever aspirin she needs for comfort.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim Battle With The Machine

I've been saying for a long time that the Machine was going to get us, but I didn't realize I would be among the first victims.

It's Uncle Sam's Machine that's after me, and that compounds the troubles.

You must know (or you will) that the Internal Revenue Service has taken to the big computer, that you have been assigned another number, and that your number is likely to come up at any given time.

WELL, THE first time they fed me into their machine, something snarled it up. I got a letter which said, in effect, "are you who you say you are? You'll have to prove it. Send us your full name, names of father and mother, date and place of birth, Social Security number, and any identifying scars."

This shook me, because I thought I had been the same person all along, and old Uncle had been hearing from me every year I ever earned a nickel.

TURNUED OUT that they had put into the machine, "R. W. Whipey" (I might have known). So I brashly wrote back and told 'em if they would just spell my name right, we could be folksy again.

I understand that those digital monsters never forget, so I assumed that for the next three years I would be badgered about Bro. "Whipey" not sending in a return.

BUT SURE enough, whoever feeds the machine its breakfast data got the thing turned around.

Reason I know is that the machine spewed out my card again. This time the name was correct, but the information was that I had claimed 14 cents credit from last year's tax, and in so doing had not sent in, this year, the amount I should have.

The truth is that I claimed $14 credit (big operator, huh?).

NOW THE Machine and I are going to have to hassle over $13.86. This may not seem like much to Uncle Sam, but it's pretty important to my budget. It's not the principle, it's the money.

So, I am now engaged in correspondence with the Internal Revenue people, and have told them that there is a screw loose in the Machine. They are not going to accept this, I know, but there is going to be a lot of postage spent over the deal.

THE BETTING is ten to one that it will take four and a half years to reconcile the 14 cents against the $14. The same odds are that I lose.

If the IRS had just stayed with some accountants going over the returns, they could have told the difference between $14 and 14 cents. Whether the data monster ever finds out the difference is something else.

The dismal truth is that I just don't trust the Machine. And besides, I want credit for my $13.86.

Art Buchwald A Policy For Our Loved Ones

WASHINGTON — People who are perplexed about the State Department foreign policy will be very happy to hear we have one. It isn't much of a policy, but at least it's ours, and I can now reveal what it is.

The present State Department's policy is based on waiting for people to die. Since we can't very well do anything with many of the present world rulers, our only hope is that they will soon take a trip to that Great Big United Nations in the Sky.

I WAS FORTUNATE to speak to the Assistant Secretary of State for Funeral Affairs, whose department is working on the policy. As I entered his large, quiet, dignified offices I heard organ music in the background. The secretary was wearing a mourning coat, a gray tie, striped pants, and a somber, almost sad, expression on his face.

"Are you the bereaved?" he asked.

"No," I said, "I'm a newspaperman and I wanted to talk to you about our foreign policy. Is it true that it's based on waiting for leaders of different countries to die?"

"WE DON'T REFER to them as leaders," he said quietly, "but as the loved ones. Please don't get us wrong. The State Department does not want anyone to die, but if certain rulers would expire all our problems would be solved."

"Who are some of the leaders you are waiting for, to pass away?"

"I'd rather not mention any names. But there are certain people giving us tremendous amounts of trouble. It is our belief that, if they were no longer with us, we could then proceed with policies favorable to the United States."

"Do you have any of these policies on hand?"

"YES, WE DO. Please follow me." He took me into a large, softly lighted room where all the different State Department policies were on display.

"This is our most inexpensive model," he said. "You will notice that, although it has no frills, it is very solid and will hold up in any kind of weather. We use this for our smaller countries in Africa and South America. It costs only $25 million dollars."

"OVER HERE is our medium-priced model. You will note this one is much more elaborate and has a pure velvet lining in it. It is perfectly suited for a European nation and can even be used behind the Iron Curtain, providing the mourners request it."

"How much does one of these cost?"

"Between 50 and 100 million dollars, but that includes everything."

"What are those Oriental policies over there?"

"AH, AT THE moment those are our most expensive models. If the right person dies, it might cost as much as a half-billion dollars. But it is the most complete of all our policies and provides aid to the bereaved in every possible form from the cradle to the grave."

I looked over and saw a magnificent model, hand-carved in mahogany and ivory.

"That looks like a French model," I said. "But it's very long, almost seven feet."

The Assistant Secretary of State blushed. "You weren't supposed to see that one. It's already been reserved."

Marquis Childs The Grad And The Draft Board

MADISON, Wis. — "Of course it depends on my draft board . . ."

You could hear any number of young graduates add that condition to their plans for the future. Nothing could seem farther from the undeclared war 10,000 miles away than the procession in cap and gown under a brilliant cloud - flecked sky in the university football stadium. Although there were some 3,000 in a seemingly endless file across the stage each got a handshake and a red leather - covered diploma in an effort to keep the personal touch.

AS THESE young people can hardly help but be aware, the rapidly escalating conflict touches each of them in one degree or another. It is, above all, over the inequities of the draft that student protest at the University of Wisconsin has made itself felt. A recent student sit-in was directed not so much against the war as the dubious relationship between grades and the draft call.

Wisconsin has a long tradition of dissent and the university wisely took the demonstration in stride. Kept within bounds with a comparatively small minority of participants, it nevertheless seems to have expressed a widespread feeling in the undergraduate body.

WHAT IS true of the academic community appears to be true also, if the polls are an accurate register, of opinion in the country. While the articulate few make their protest heard, the war is increasingly resented within the silent mass. As one faculty member put it: "During the past year we have found it harder and harder in any public discussion or debate to get someone who will support the policy of the administration in Viet Nam."

CONTINUING study is presumably a reason for exemption from the draft. A survey a year ago indicated that over two-thirds of the men and 42 per cent of the women getting general Bachelor of Arts degrees went on to graduate school. At a guess about the same percentage of this year's class will enroll for more education.

One reason is the increasing complexity in every field of knowledge. A B.A. degree, as one graduate put it, is today roughly the equivalent of what a high school diploma was a few decades ago. What is happening in colleges and universities across the country is an experiment in mass education such as no society has ever before undertaken.

TO A RETURNING old grad it is an amazing phenomenon. Enrollment in the university today is 29,000. In that earlier time 7,000 seemed big and close to the practical limit of expansion. By 1970 the total will be close to 40,000 on the Madison campus and other campuses are springing up around the state.

IF A SUPERFICIAL judgment is worth anything, these graduates filing across the flower - decked stage are not unlike the graduates of three or four decades ago. For all the sensational reporting of drugs, sex, revolt in the colleges they look as though they were prepared to take their place in the society that made it possible for them to get an education. For most of those not going on to graduate school, and particularly the engineers, jobs are waiting at salaries that a decade or two ago would have seemed fabulous.

THIS IS the America that President Johnson talks about, as at his last press conference when he said everyone is happy and well off. But it is not hard to discover the troubling doubts just below the surface.

Eddy Arnold's Blend Has Put Many In Top Ten

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Eddy Arnold, probably the best voice in country-western singing, has landed on the pop charts — as well as the country-western — with his last four single records.

After "What's He Doing in My World?" did well about a year ago, Arnold sat down in Nashville with Chet Atkins to choose tunes for an LP to be called "My World."

"It wasn't to be songs with 'world' in them, necessarily," he says, "but I said I thought one good tune for it would be 'Make the World Go Away.' It had been done by two other artists already, but Chet said we'd do it."

Released as a single, that became a hit. His third was "I Want To Go With You," written by Hank Cochran, who also wrote "What's He Doing in My World?"

His fourth — and present — entry on the charts is "The Last Word in Lonesome Is Me," by Roger Miller.

"Roger and I did a show together in Chicago a year ago in April," Arnold says, "and he did this song. It was on the B side of his record, 'Engine No. 9.' It was a ballad and he seems to have better luck with the rhythm things. So I said to him, 'This is a very pretty song. If it doesn't happen for you, I'll remember it and I might do it later on myself.'"

"He is delighted that I've done it."

Arnold has written a few songs that have become hits: "I'll Hold You in My Arms" and "Just a Little Lovin' Will Go a Long Way," and, in collaboration with Sandy Walker, "You Don't Know Me."

And he has been received by the pop as well as country public before. His "Bonquet of Roses," sold over a million copies in 1948. "You have to get into the pop buyer market to sell a million," he says. "There are not enough died-in-the-wool country fans to make a record a million seller."

He says, "I almost became a pop singer in the beginning — nobody knows that. But when I came off the farm (in Henderson, Tenn.) and tried to make a living singing and playing the guitar, I didn't know there was any difference. I just sang them straight. I never attempted to sing with a nasal sound. "I had twanging instruments with me, but I never sang with a twang."

Arnold cut his first record, "Mommy Please Stay Home with Me," in 1945, for RCA. He has been with RCA ever since. Three or so records later he had his first hit, "That's How Much I Love You."

The biggest change in Arnold's music has been the switch from twanging background instruments to a string orchestra. At his first concert in New York's Carnegie Hall, in May, he used strings most of the time and for one group of old songs accompanied himself on the guitar.

"I do a little bit of everything — country-western, pop and folk — in my performances," he says. "I have no intention of going all the way to pop."

At Carnegie Hall, the song which most delighted the audience was one he sang with guitar only — a cattle call which displayed a beautiful, floating tone and unaffected style and evoked strong feelings of nostalgia in many listeners.

In some ways, Eddy Arnold seems "country," in other ways, very "city."

He lives on 100 acres 10 miles from Nashville but lets his riding horses get fat while he plays golf and goes boating. He dresses in business suits and goes "cowboy" only when appearing at rodeos, where western garb is everybody's costume. He speaks without twang and without downhome phrases. He gives a smooth, polished performance on a stage.

But he looks outdoorsy and his blue eyes gaze steadily, with the expectation that everyone he meets will be neighborly. His conversation is warm, sometimes boyish and frankly emotional. Like many country people, he enjoys talking about his family.

He says he likes to buy clothes for his wife on impulse, and she likes it, too, because he spends more for them than she does. He teases his son, a junior in high school, that he'll be glad to help him with his phone calls to girls and to drive for him when he's out on dates.

And he misses his daughter, married last fall, even though she comes over two or three times a week.

Asked whether he worries about being "too country" or "not country enough" for fans, he says, "I just live the way I live and forget it."

To meet Eddy Arnold and to listen to him sing is to decide that he has the best of both worlds.

Marvin's Oscar-Winning Role Returns To Jet

By his nose audiences will know Lee Marvin as a deadly varmint-type western gunman killer in "Cat Ballou," way-out action comedy at the Jet Theatre in color.

Co-starring with Jane Fonda, Michael Callan, Dwayne Hickman, Nat King Cole and Stubby Kaye, Marvin plays a dual role: he is Kid Shelleen, drunk and defeated ex-gunner, and he is his own twin brother, the ruthless killer Strawn. Strawn is a sagebrush bogey-man with a silver nose curved and cruel as a hawk's beak. Somewhere in his evil life, Strawn's actual nose had been cut from his face by a bullet, and how he has taken refuge back of its sinister facade. According to make-up chief Benny Lane, the nose "had to have that makeshift look, as though Lee, himself, might have put it together and tied it on his face with leather thongs."

Marvin here picks up the news about his mock schnozzola. "It's a horror to look at and a horror to wear," the star said. "There are no nostrils, so I'm obliged to breathe through my mouth. That respiratory action seems to increase the menace of my appearance, but it isn't comfortable."

"Me and my nose," Marvin grinned. "I wore it home sometimes from the studio. My youngsters love it."

'A BIG HAND FOR THE LITTLE LADY'
Burgess Meredith and Joanne Woodward

Comedy Western Has Stellar Cast

"A Big Hand for the Little Lady," a Western without Indians, laced with comedy and highlighted by a surprise funny ending, opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

The production stars Henry Fonda, Joanne Woodward, Jason Robards, Paul Ford, Charles Bickford, Kevin McCarthy, Burgess Meredith, Robert Middleton, John Qualen and nine-year-old Gerald Michenaud.

The western tells the story of a handsome couple and their young son who pass through a western town of the 1890's on their way to a new home in Texas. The husband, a compulsive gambler, stumbles on the biggest annual poker game in the territory and uses the family homesteading money for a fling at the game. The ending is a delightful surprise in every sense.

Fonda plays the compulsive poker player who throws his life savings into the pot in a portrayal that ranks among the best he's ever done. The film marks Fonda's 60th year motion picture and his 20th year in the acting profession.

Joanne Woodward plays Fonda's wife in her first film after the birth of a third child, Claire Olivia.

Robards, widely recognized as one of America's finest actors on stage and screen, portrays Harry Drummond, the rich, intendant and loud-mouthed rancher who leaves his daughter standing at the altar to attend the poker game.

Ford raised long sideburns for his role in the film of an 1890's western banker. He got rid of them the day he finished the part.

Bickford plays the richest undertaker in Texas.

McCarthy has distinguished himself on the stage and in television in addition to motion pictures, in which he made his debut in "Death of a Salesman." Now he plays a territorial lawyer with a passion for poker who leaves his client literally at rope's end to join in the game.

Meredith has the role of a small town western doctor who finally gets even with the town to which he has given an unrequited devotion.

Michenaud portrays the son of Miss Woodward and Fonda, is his fifth feature film.

Jose and Tony Giorgio, both card experts, were retained as technical advisors for the poker game sequence. Giorgio, in addition, was given the role of a card expert in the picture.

'Fireball 500' Tells Race Car Story, With Music

All of the thrills, spills and excitement of stock car racing and its daredevil, death-defying young drivers make "Fireball 500" the action picture of the year for young adult movie audiences and the spectators who last year made stock car competition America's number one outdoor spectator sport.

Youth favorites Frankie Avalon and Annette Funicello are re-teamed in starring roles in the color thriller, but in different, more mature roles. Also starred in "Fireball 500," opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, are Fabian, Chill Wills, Harvey Lembeck and Julie Parrish.

Avalon and Fabian portray two daredevil drivers who compete on the track and for each other's women, with no holds barred. The story is set in a Southern town which is the site of national championship stock car races with principal scenes at the track, a colorful country fair and the primitive backwoods of the area. Added to the suspense of the drivers' rivalry is a rich widow who wants the attentions of one of the men, night-time bootlegging and cat and mouse games with federal agents and flirting with death in "Figure Eight Chicken" auto races. Racing authenticity is provided by scenes of championship races at the nation's top tracks.

Miss Funicello and Miss Parrish play Fabian's girl friend, sought by Avalon, and the wealthy widow respectively. Wills is Miss Funicello's uncle and fair impresario, while Lembeck portrays the racing promoter in a departure from his usual comedy roles.

Lighter moments are provided with singing and dancing at the fair and a country dance. These are highlighted by two Avalon songs, one by Annette, an Avalon-Parrish duet, one joined by Frankie, Annette and Fabian, and a country-rock musical number.

Unique Village Opens Sunday

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP)—A

"pioneer village," started a decade ago by a former photographer and automotive electrician, opens today in Jester State Park near this Central Texas city. The park is named for the late Gov. Beauford Halbert Jester, a native of Corsicana.

The pioneer village was the brain child of the late Alva Taylor, a Navarro County history buff who operated an automobile electric shop in the '20s and '30s and then became a photographer. Arthur Patrick Jr., chairman of Navarro County Historical Survey, said of Taylor: "He decided we should bring in from out-of-the-way places actual historical buildings so people could visit them all in picturesque surroundings." Taylor died last year and Patrick succeeded him as chairman of the Historical Survey. Among buildings on display are an early double log cabin, a general store, a blacksmith shop and a slave cabin. There is also an old Navarro County barn, converted into an historical photograph library and an old Indian trading post built by George Washington Hill, secretary of war for the Republic of Texas. The festivities get started at 11:30 a.m. with a barbecue served from the rear of an authentic chuck wagon.

Crutch Is Not A Traffic Light

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A crutch does not make a legally acceptable traffic signal, a crippled widow who used one to guide traffic at an intersection has learned. Vernice Hunter, 51, who became a self-appointed traffic director when she couldn't get a traffic light installed in her neighborhood, was fined $1 for obstructing traffic. The judge said he was sympathetic, but he told Mrs. Hunter, "Taking the law into your hands is not the right way."

Museum To Open

CHICAGO (AP)—Coins, stamps, armor and maps representing 800 years of Lithuanian history and culture have been assembled and will form part of a collection to be housed in a museum created for Lithuanian study and appreciation. The museum opens June 22.
