Soon-To-Be Aggie Annual Barbecue

Cutting beef for the 1,500 expected guests at the Aggie Scholarship Barbecue tomorrow evening are, from left, Winston Wrinkle, Jack Cook, Lewis McKnight, Henry Hill, Hayes Stripling Jr., Harold Talbot and Don Reynolds. The feed will be held in the City Park Amphitheater at 7 p.m. The $1.50 tickets will go toward a scholarship to A&M for some deserving area youth. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Aggie Club or at the Amphitheater.

Low Rate To State Hospital Remains

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed with Big Spring must stick with a water contract it made with the Big Spring State Hospital in 1937.

"We affirm the judgments of both courts below," said the majority opinion. Associate Justices James R. Norvell, Robert W. Hamilton, and Zollie Steakley dissented.

To Try Seven In One Blow

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force rocket will try Thursday to spread a network of seven communications satellites around the world to transmit vital military messages between far-flung outposts.

If successfully injected into separate orbits, the string of jam-proof satellites could hasten the flow of and improve the reliability of military orders flashed between Washington, Viet Nam and strategic bases.

The seven payloads, plus an experimental engineering satellite, are to be hoisted into space between 10 a.m. and noon (EDT) Tuesday aboard a powerful Titan 3 rocket.

LBJ Urges Hospitals To 'Obey The Law'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called on hospitals today to obey the law against discrimination, and on leaders in the health professions to ward

Three More Jurors Needed

Two jurors selected this morning in 118th District Court and two selected Tuesday afternoon bring the total number of jurors to serve in the Dee Scarggs Jr. murder trial to nine. Attorneys are hopeful they can secure the remaining three today.

Selected at 10:30 a.m. today from five veniremen questioned were Harvey Coffman and Barbara Tibbs. John Simpson and G. W. Hudson had been picked Tuesday afternoon during questioning of 18 veniremen.

Other jurors are H. C. Spivey, Arthur N. Jackson, Lloyd H. Duncan and J. B. Anderson.

Judge Ralph Cason said that there were nine other veniremen left to question this afternoon, followed by eight talesmen, selected in the event the attorneys ran out of veniremen to question.

Scagg's, a 22-year-old Negro, is on trial for his life in the slaying of Norris Sadler Oct. 28, 1965. Gil Jones and Jack Little represent Scagg's. District Attorney Wayne Burns is representing the state.

off abuses in the medicare program that starts July 1.

Johnson told a conference at the White House the countdown has started — that in 15 days the country embarks on the greatest contribution to the well-being of older citizens since Social Security began 30 years ago.

He said there will be problems. He listed the one of compliance with the civil rights law that denies federal funds for any activity involving discrimination because of race, religion or origin.

"We believe the answer to that problem is a simple one," Johnson said, "and we ask every citizen to obey the law."

More than 80 per cent of the country's hospitals, he said, have given assurances they will do so. This would be about 6,000 out of a total of 7,500.

CONFERENCE The President called the one-day conference of administration officials and 300 officers of national and state medical and hospital associations to review the almost-completed plans for the universal health insurance system.

Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner was expected to announce the latest tally on how many of the country's approximately 7,500 general hospitals have enrolled in medicare and met the test of compliance with the Civil Rights Act.

The secretary said last week that 5,511 had met the no-racial-discrimination rule so far. He predicted that virtually all the others would be in compliance by July 1.

CONCERNED But officials are concerned that hospitals and physicians set up workable procedures to insure that patients do not occupy hospital beds after they could be discharged, or after they have recovered to the point at which visiting-nurse or nursing-home care would suffice.

EASIER Crime Stop makes it easier for good citizens to do what they should be doing anyway to help the police—call police immediately when they see a crime or even suspect one.

"We just urge all people to lend the police their eyes and ears and then assure them of anonymity," Police Chief George Bischel said.

The anonymity is important, he said. People are much more willing to report crimes or suspicious activities when they know their name will not be involved.

More than a thousand calls have been received at the special Crime Stop telephone line at the police department. From these, the police made the more than 30 arrests, half of which were for felonies.

WOULD MISS "We would have missed most of them, maybe all, except for Operation Crime Stop," the chief said.

Bischel said the calls which did not result in arrests allowed police to gather additional clues on reported crimes because officers were able to investigate them quickly.

The program, which has been widely advertised, hits hardest at house burglaries.

Bischel said daylight burglaries of homes is a big problem. Thieves take advantage of an unguarded house to pull their

Ruby's Appeal Hearing Set For June 24

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals announced today it will hear arguments June 24 on the main appeal to the death sentence assessed Jack Ruby for killing Lee Harvey Oswald.

Setting of the date for the appeal arguments cleared the way, at least in state courts, for the first review by higher courts of the March 14, 1964, conviction handed down by a Dallas district court jury.

Legal complications and wrangles among defense attorneys postponed action on the main appeal. A quick decision June 13 that Ruby, a 35-year-old former strip joint operator, was legally sane satisfied a previous order by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals that it could not consider the main appeal until the sanity issue was decided.

The court goes into a summer recess June 25 until Oct. 5, as prescribed by the Texas Constitution.

BRIEF ORDER The setting of the date for arguments came today in the form of a brief written order issued by the three-man court.

The session will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Rioters Are Moved Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Five hundred policemen removed more than 2,000 persons from riot-ridden streets in a predominantly Puerto Rican area Tuesday night and arrested 71.

To clear the streets and do it with a smile," police held disturbances to a minimum after two nights of rioting.

The arrests brought to 112 the number of persons taken into custody since the rioting began Sunday after a Puerto Rican youth was shot and wounded by a policeman. The policeman said the youth pulled a gun as the officer tried to break up a fight.

Eleven of the arrests were made 13 blocks from the scene of the riot Monday night when two homemade bombs were thrown at a police car. The car was not hit.

Police strategy Tuesday night was to stop trouble before it could germinate. Groups were not allowed to form. The arrests were made during brief and isolated rock-throwing episodes.

Howard's Rate Remains Same

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Insurance Board staff recommended today automobile insurance rate increases that would push the average yearly premium for the typical Texas motorist up $2.11.

Staff recommendations usually are accepted by the board without change, as was last year's large increase.

HIGHER CLAIMS The proposed increase was based, the board heard, on increased claims paid by insurance companies, relative to premiums.

Auto insurance premiums paid in calendar 1965 totaled $438 million.

For the first time in recent years the board did not issue statewide average figures for all classes of auto coverage combined. Board Chairman Hunter McLean told The Associated Press such figures tend to mislead the public.

For private passenger coverage, these percentage increases were indicated: Bodily injury and property damage liability, up 11.9; private passenger $50 deductible collision, up 2.4, and full comprehensive coverage, up 0.3. For $50 deductible, private-passenger, comprehensive coverage, a 17.7 per cent increase was indicated.

Average dollar increases for the typical motorist—that is one who is over 25, drives a new Ford or Chevrolet and from work but does not use for business—are: Bodily injury liability ($10,000 per person, $5,000 per accident), up $1.77; $5,000 property damage liability, up $1.15; $100 deductible collision, down $2.07, and full coverage comprehensive, up $1.27.

In this typical category none of the insurance board's 26 rating districts received a decrease in liability coverage.

In the extensive collision insurance field, 19 of the districts were recommended either to receive decreases in their rates or to remain at present rates.

Seventeen rating areas should receive decreases or remain at present levels for full coverage comprehensive, for the typical driver.

CHANGES Here are proposed rate changes for some of the board's 26 rating territories, for a liability policy providing bodily injury coverage of $10,000 per person and $20,000 per accident and $5,000 property damage coverage for a driver over 25 who does not use his car for business but drives to and from work:

- 1. Harris County (Houston)—up from $82 to $87.
- 2. Dallas County—up from $73 to $76.
- 5. El Paso County—up from $62 to $65.
- 10. Lubbock County—up from $54 to $55.
- 11. Taylor County (Abilene)—up from $43 to $46.
- 14. Potter and Randall counties (Amarillo)—up from $44 to $48.

OPERATION CRIME STOP Public Is Helping Police

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Police, the telephone and a watchful public have teamed up in San Antonio to cut the city's crime rate.

The program, called Operation Crime Stop, has already led to the arrest of more than 30 suspects and provided police with possibly valuable information for future investigations.

EASIER Crime Stop makes it easier for good citizens to do what they should be doing anyway to help the police—call police immediately when they see a crime or even suspect one.

"We just urge all people to lend the police their eyes and ears and then assure them of anonymity," Police Chief George Bischel said.

The anonymity is important, he said. People are much more willing to report crimes or suspicious activities when they

THINGS ARE QUIET NOW Since Kitty came to stay

Harry Solves Thug Problem

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Ever since a gang of hoodlums beat up an attendant at Harry Fitzgibbon's gasoline service station, a 150-pound guard has been on duty. He is a South American jaguar.

Fitzgibbon had a Richmond, Calif., importer ship the year-old animal—trained since birth for protection work—from Paraguay.

The jaguar, Kitty, operates at the end of a 15-foot chain. "Kitty responds like a police dog, if not better," says Rich Brammar, one of the station attendants.

"He will lie down, sit up or get something the minute he's told. Sometimes he sleeps in the office window. But he also will go after somebody on command."

Off duty, the jaguar is regarded as a nice, safe pet by the four children at Fitzgibbon's home.

But he has a look of fury at the station. In the early hours of May 30, a roving band of youths plagued attendant Joe Ghazar for 30 cents worth of gas, then "a penny more, now another penny more." When some of them tried to steal oil, Ghazar told the youths to leave. They beat him up and tried to set fire to the station.

So Fitzgibbons put in a rush order for Kitty. The jaguar has known neither cage nor jungle. He is a seventh-generation of domesticated jaguars.

The nights are quiet now at Harry's place.

Parade Kicks Off Lamesa's Rodeo

LAMESA (SC) — The clippity-clop of horse hooves against paving brick will sound around the square here at 4 p.m. Thursday as a prelude for the 17th annual rodeo.

At least 10 riding groups are expected to lend color to the parade, and the 10 rodeo queen nominees will add beauty.

The rodeo — an affair open to all — will supply the action starting at 8 p.m. Thursday with shows at the same hour through Saturday.

Sheriff possee are expected from Morton, Andrews, Howard County, Lynn County, Cochran County, Terry County, Lee County, New Mexico, Denver City and the host, Dawson County Sheriff's Posse. Junior Riding Clubs will also take part.

Approximately 200 entries are expected in all events including calf roping, bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, girl's barrel racing and two new events, junior pole bending and barrel racing.

Stock for the rodeo is being furnished by Red Whatley of Crosbyton. Judges for the events include Lloyd Croslin, Lubbock, and Shorty Baker, Big Spring, riding competition and Bill McIlvain, flag judge in timed events.

The Lamesa Calf Ropers Club will award a saddle to the club member showing the best average in roping. Kenneth Thomas of Midway was last years winner.

Tom Keger is president of the rodeo association and Frank Jones Jr. is secretary.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Lime juice replaced orange juice as the official drink during a state cabinet meeting—in an effort to promote Florida limes.

Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner handed out plastic bags of Florida limes Tuesday to cabinet members.

DEAR ABBY

Clothes Make A Man Mad

DEAR ABBY: This nut I am engaged to says if I want to be married in a formal wedding gown, it's O.K. with him, but he is not going to get all dressed up in a "monkey suit."

When we went to the wedding rental place, the man showed Sandor what he was supposed to wear for a formal wedding, and Sandor said, "Over my dead body!"

He would only have to wear it once, Abby, and it could be made to fit him comfortably, but Sandor says he is going to wear his new dark blue suit with a regular shirt and tie. And when Sandor says something, that is final! How do you reason with a man like that?

IN TEARS

DEAR IN: Your fiancé is an individualist. Wear what you wish, and let Sandor do the same. It will appear odd, but the ties will be no less binding.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and no raving beauty, but I am not ugly either. I was over at my girl friend's house one night and she called up "C" — a boy I like — and she asked him what he thought of me. He didn't come right out and say he LIKED me, but he didn't say he HATED me, either.

I was listening in on the other phone. I was going to ask him to our club formal, but now I'm not sure. He has never asked me out, but whenever we were accidentally thrown together, he acted like he sort of liked me. I am all confused. Please tell me what to do. CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Forget "C" and ask a boy who has asked you out. And if you want to be well liked by both boys and girls, don't be a party to calling up boys. And NEVER listen in on the other phone. It's dishonest and childish.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done for a 77-year-old woman with a drinking problem? That woman is my mother, and it breaks my heart to see her destroying herself. It all began several years ago when dad retired and they started spending their winters in Florida. Why would a loving, respected grandmother turn to alcohol after having done practically no drinking previously?

Dad is strictly a one-drink-before-dinner man. I finally got the courage to speak to mother about it, and she said she could quit anytime, but I know she can't. She drinks alone and thinks no one knows it. I can't force my mother to go to a doctor, and I can't accuse my father of lying when he says she is "better." I am an R.N. and know where she's heading. How can I help her, Abby?

HEARTBROKEN DAUGHTER

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: No one can overcome alcoholism unless he admits that he is powerless against drink. That is the first step in the Alcoholics Anonymous method. Your mother could possibly be helped by joining that group. It's worth a try.

If she were to see a psychiatrist and he unearthed the reason your mother was trying to destroy herself, he might be able to rescue her. But it's a sad fact of life that no one can be helped who will not help himself.

PRESENTS TWO-FOLD PROBLEM

Second Deadline Feared

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

However medicare weathers its first critical months — the predicted increase of elderly patients July 1 — it will come upon a second deadline that could potentially jam up hospitals even more than the first.

That deadline is Jan. 1, 1967. On that day, nursing home provisions for persons 65 and older go into effect.

TWO-FOLD
The problem is two-fold. First, patients must spend three days in a regular hospital before qualifying for the nursing home care for chronic ailments.

Second, there is now and has been a shortage of capable nursing homes and beds.

An Associated Press survey of hospitals and doctors across the country indicates that the great worry is that elderly patients seeking nursing home care, and unable to find it, might back up into the general hospitals.

What medicare seems to be doing, even before it goes into effect, is to point to some glaring shortages in the nation's medical facilities.

COULD HAMPER
In any case, hospital administrators say, increasing the number of beds devoted to chronic, long-term cases could hamper general hospital ability to care for the acutely ill — from the acute appendix case to the emergency room patient. Said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in a report to President Johnson:

"There is a significant shortage of health personnel and certain health facilities that has been evident for some time. Medicare, of course, did not create these shortages, but by putting older people in the same position as others to compete for services, the program will have the effect of adding to the present demand for medical services."

BACKFIRE
Many hospital authorities fear that the nursing home provisions might backfire.

Clarence W. Bushnell, administrator of the hospital in Bridgeport, Conn., said, "I foresee a massive increase in patients in January, 1967, to qualify for nursing home care."

In Michigan, administrators also expressed concern about the shortage of qualified nursing beds.

J. Henry Irwin, head of Reed City Hospital, said: "The thing we are concerned about is that many cases that were being treated at home of a semichronic nature will be admitted because they now feel it is their right and the obligation and duty of the doctor to admit them."

BIG LOAD
Much the same fear was voiced by Dr. Tenero D. Caruso, a Los Angeles surgeon. "I can say that all of the people in rest homes will want to go into hospitals to conform with these regulations, and this will be a terrific load that the hospitals will have to carry for a while," he said.

Not all the hospitals nor the doctors expressed this kind of fear.

Some said in fact that the change would be for the good. Municipal and county hospitals in the more populous, wealthier states like California and New York saw a shift in patient admittance, with many patients now seeking private hospitals rather than government-sponsored institutions because the medicare bill would now pay their way in the smaller, often more expensive facilities.

In some areas nursing home provisions were not expected to have an adverse impact, but actually a good one.

John Brewer, executive director of the Hospital Council of Southern California, said many county hospitals will now be freed of chronic disease loads because of the paid nursing home care.

NO ANSWER
How much can be done between now and the New Year's Day deadline to increase the number of nursing home beds is a question without an answer at present.

To many critics of medicare, the three-day requirement is the worst and potentially most damaging of the program's provisions. It will take effect in winter, when acute disease loads and respiratory ailments are at their peak.

And all of these elements will be complicated by a still greater problem that has been with medicine for some time, and now seems even more critical — the shortage of nurses and trained hospital help.

And that is the third obstacle that medicare must face.

Next: The outnumbered nurses.

Plane Shortage May Force A Curtailment

NEW YORK (AP) — The demands of the Viet Nam war are forcing some of the nation's major airlines to curtail passenger service just as they enter their peak summer season.

Accelerated military needs have caused delays in delivery of new commercial jet craft, leaving some airline companies which had planned to use the new jets without sufficient equipment.

CANCELS SOME

Eastern Air Lines said Tuesday it had to temporarily cancel about 5 per cent of all flights in its 102-city system a week ago because of delays in initial delivery of 68 new jets.

A check of a half-dozen major airlines showed at least one other carrier is curtailing some new service and another may have to follow suit.

A fourth, Pan American Airways, canceled almost two dozen transatlantic flights this summer to divert aircraft to military service in Southeast Asia.

A spokesman for United Airlines said new service planned between New York and the area from Washington, D.C. to Tennessee had been indefinitely delayed. It was to begin Oct. 1 but has been pushed back until after Jan. 1.

MAY DELAY

Trans World Airlines may delay establishing some new routes if its promised jets don't arrive soon, a spokesman said.

Officials of United and TWA reported the Boeing Co. and Douglas Aircraft Corp., two of the nation's major jet makers, have repeatedly delayed delivery of new planes, blaming heavy military commitments and shortage of parts.

"They keep pushing the delivery dates back," the United official said. "They said Aug. 1 and now they say Aug. 18."

The TWA official said the carrier has been told by Douglas the delay would be at least several weeks.

ORDERS

Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp. reports it is unable to meet orders for engines on time because of heavy backlogs and insufficient labor supply. Pratt & Whitney said June 3 it expected to get back on regular production schedules in the near future.

In Seattle, Boeing said that for the next six months, delays of 30 days can be expected on deliveries of both the 707 long-range jet and the 727 medium-range craft because of the shortage of Pratt & Whitney engines.

American Airlines, which said it wasn't seriously affected by the situation, is getting its new jets from the British Aircraft Corp. American is receiving 30 short-range BAC jets on time, a spokesman said.

HAD TO CUT

The Viet Nam war has affected Pan Am in another way. The international carrier had scheduled a weekly average of 238 crossings for the heavy summer months but had to cut them to 206, a spokesman said.

He said the planes were needed to ferry military personnel and cargo to Southeast Asia, especially Saigon.

The carrier has increased its West Coast-to-Southeast Asia weekly flight load from 23 to 38. Still more planes are needed to fly U.S. troops in South Vietnam on "rest and recuperation" leaves, the spokesman said.

Pan Am has no large deliveries of new craft scheduled before the slow fall period. "By then, we'll either have enough planes on hand for our needs or we just won't schedule new services," the official said.

IN A BIND

Eastern Air Lines was caught in a bind because it was concentrating its flight-crew training program on jets. It now finds itself without enough flight crews trained to fly propeller craft it had thought would be out of service by now.

The line has eliminated flights at cities where it can switch passengers to other flights. It has also set up a special round-the-clock task force to iron out passenger problems created by the cancellations.

An Eastern spokesman said the line couldn't estimate when it could return to full service but notes it expects delivery of the new Douglas DC8s, DC9s and Boeing 727s later this year.

Norwegian Tanker Limping To Port

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Norwegian tanker Saga Sky, threatened by three holes below its waterline, steamed toward New Orleans today under Coast Guard escort.

The grain-laden vessel radioed it was in danger of sinking Tuesday night and its crew of 35 was standing by to abandon ship after striking a submerged object in the Gulf of Mexico 110 miles off the Louisiana coast.

The skipper of the Saga Sky later reported the tanker had righted from a nine-degree list after flooding was stopped. He said aid was no longer needed. The ship was making eight knots toward port.

Rescue aircraft and a Coast Guard cutter were dispatched to the scene as a safety precaution.

Officials at Coast Guard headquarters here said a check of the area would be made immediately to determine what the tanker hit in 180 feet of water.

The Saga Sky was about 180 miles from the mouth of the Mississippi River when it started steaming again. The ship had picked up grain in Galveston, Tex., and was due to load more grain at Destrehan, La., up-river from New Orleans.

Agents for the owners said the vessel was scheduled to carry 85,000 tons of grain to The Netherlands — the largest commercial shipment ever made from the port of New Orleans.

Road Beauty Work To Start

AUSTIN (AP)—Bids will be accepted by the State Highway Department June 21 for landscaping of 71 miles along Interstate 20 in Van Zandt, Smith and Gregg counties.

The project, longest ever planned, is expected to cost about $150,000 and will be one of the first major projects planned exclusively for roadside beauty under the federal Highway Beautification Act.

More than 20 different kinds of trees and shrubs, including dogwood, redbud, climbing roses, youpons, pampas grass and slash pines, will be planted.

The project is among bids to be received June 21-22 on 64 projects including 346 miles of US and state highways and 129 miles of farm roads.

Pass Dble. Pass Pass

Opening lead: Eight of ♠ East and West suffered a substantial loss in today's hand when they allowed themselves to be outbid, and then failed to find the winning defense against South's doubled four heart contract.

North opened the bidding with one diamond and East made a take-out double. Also he was primarily interested in spades rather than another suit, his holding was too strong for a mere overcall. South did not have enough to redouble; however, he did not wish to be shut out of the proceedings, so he bid one heart.

North showed his excellent fit for partner by jumping to three hearts. East competed with a free bid of three spades, and South carried on to four hearts.

East's double was questionable in view of the unfavorable vulnerability; however, it would have worked out well if West had bid four spades. His holdings in the black suits and the potential ruffing value in diamonds all figured to be useful to a partner who had announced a willingness to play a nine trick contract, strictly on his own initiative. Observe that East can actually make five spades on the deal, losing only one heart and one diamond.

West opened the eight of spades against four hearts and declarer ruffed in dummy. The closed hand was entered with a trump and the jack of diamonds was led for a finesse. East won with the king and returned the king of spades, forcing North to ruff with the nine of hearts.

South overtook the king of hearts with the ace and proceeded to draw West's remaining trumps. The ten of diamonds was cashed followed by a diamond to the ace. Two more diamond tricks brought declarer's total to 10 — four diamonds, four hearts, and two spade ruffs in dummy — and he cheerfully conceded the rest, having fulfilled his doubled contract.

East could have scored a profit on the deal if he had refused to take the king of diamonds when South led the jack. If declarer repeats the finesse, East wins the king and gives his partner a ruff, and a club shift then nets two more tricks. If South plays ace and another diamond, North does not have enough trumps left to pick up West's and, without the diamond suit, declarer must fall short of the goal.

New Tension Due In Arab Relations

By GARVEN HUDGINS
CAIRO (AP)—U.S.-Egyptian relations appear headed for a new period of tension over fundamental issues in the Arab world.

At the root is President Gamal Abdel Nasser's apparent conviction that the United States is actively supporting forces in the Middle East hostile to Egypt, with the intention of weakening the Arab Socialist state he is building.

Egyptian commentators cite U.S. arms aid to Israel, American backing for Saudi Arabian King Feisal, differences over Yemen and delay in action on a food request to Washington.

The latest U.S. sale of military equipment to Israel inflamed the Cairo press. Publisher Mohamed Haikal, Nasser's close friend and regarded as his spokesman, commented in his newspaper Al Ahram: "The United States doesn't want friend in the Middle East. It wants only agents. The United States has sold what it calls defensive arms to Saudi Arabia. It has supplied Israel with offensive arms. Defensive American arms to Saudi Arabia to use against Egypt! Offensive American arms to Israel to use against Egypt!" Vice President Abdel Hakim Amer reflected Nasser's views in a widely publicized address to Egyptian troops stationed in the Sinai, near the Israeli frontier. He said: "The American arming of Israel is not surprising to us, since the United States is the foster father of Israel. Our source of armament is the Soviet Union and it will always remain so."

Pastor Employed As Director

BEAUMONT (AP)—The Rev. William H. Raines, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Brookshire, Tex., has been employed as executive director of the Jefferson County Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. His annual salary will be $12,800.

As executive director, Raines will have responsibility for the development, co-ordination and execution of all Jefferson County programs set up by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Also backgrounding current American-Egyptian differences is the so-called Islamic pact.

No such pact exists but Nasser and associates contend that Saudi King Feisal is seeking to establish it as part of an imperialist plot directed from Washington.

"The imperialist plan," said Field Marshal Amer, is that Britain will evacuate Aden in 1968 but the United States and Britain will bequeath their influence to Saudi Arabia and so keep the actual control in the hands of the United States. That is why they talk of an Islamic alliance.

Effects of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's state visit to Egypt are being analyzed in Western embassies in Cairo — and doubtless inside the Egyptian government itself.

There is evidence that Kosygin suggested to Nasser the practical benefits of not aggravating relations with the United States in view of his critical food needs.

The Soviet Union is itself a major grain importer and Russians in Cairo have dropped the word that they do not relish the idea of having 29 million hungry Egyptians on the doorstep. The current U.S. food aid program to Egypt expires June 30. Egypt's food requirements from outside sources are staggering. It is estimated that four of every five loaves of bread in Egypt are made with American flour. Critics of the U.S. aid program to Egypt claim that nothing can be shown as a return on more than $1.5 billion worth of American economic aid put into Egypt since Nasser came to power in 1952.

Crusader's Pin Causes Trouble

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The caped crusader did not make the scene but one of his pins caused some trouble. James Moss, 3, was released from a hospital Tuesday after doctors removed a "Batman" pin he had swallowed. A hospital spokesman said the lad suffered a throat scratch and lost some blood.

Three Oil Groups Ask For Lower Valuation Factor

The tax rate for oil and gas valuations will remain at 2.65 times the county value, which will approximate 60 per cent of actual value, school trustees reaffirmed Tuesday night.

Trustees heard representatives from Skelly, Standard Oil and Independent Royalty Owners ask for a return to a 2.5 times county assessed valuation on gas and oil properties. The representatives claimed that Pritchard and Abbott, appraisers for the district, had made a one-year agreement with the oil companies last year to take a valuation of upwards of 60 per cent.

"The figure 2.65 is a factor above 60 per cent," the representatives claimed.

School board president Joe A. Moss said that to the best of the board's knowledge, Pritchard and Abbott's appraisal was correct, that 2.65 times the county value would approximate 60 per cent.

"This is all we have to go on," Moss said. Trustees later voted to stand by the Pritchard and Abbott valuation.

(The point at issue is this: Howard County assesses on the basis of 20 per cent, and the school district contends that 2.65 times this would equal only 53 per cent. Oil companies contend that actually the county is assessing them on the basis of 24 per cent and that 2.65 times this comes out at 63.6 of a true 20 per cent on county values.)

Sealed proposals for kitchen equipment for Moss Elementary School will be received until 5 p.m. Monday, June 20, at the office of the superintendent, Moss announced.

Boys State To Elect Officers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Boys State participants will choose between rival candidates of two parties tonight in electing their officers.

Gray Miller of Houston, nominated by the Longhorn Party, and Steve Sanford of Booth, of the Pioneer Party, are vying for governor.

For lieutenant governor their respective running mates are Steve Mims of Dallas and Jim Wright of Texarkana.

Boys State, an annual event to teach how government functions, is sponsored by the American Legion. There are 741 boys from Texas and two from New Mexico registered.

lated documents may be obtained in the office of Atcheson, Atkinson and Fox, architects, 1214 14th St., Suite 106, Lubbock, Moss said.

In other action, trustees accepted the resignation of the following personnel: Leslie Gene Adkins, Wanda Boatler, Mrs. Rosie Cardenas, Mrs. Avis Ann Carey, Mrs. Ruby L. Fleming, Bobby D. Grant, Mrs. Sandra Hicks, Mrs. Mary Lou Hopkins, Mrs. Irene Miller, Hubert Murphy, Mrs. Dale Jane Nowicki, Mrs. Sharon Rossmiller, Mrs. Virginia Short, Mrs. Hazel Simmonds, Allen Simpson, Jan L. Employed were the following personnel: Mabel Beebe, Kentwood; Ina Bea Bittner, College Heights; Mrs. Lottiemae Chapman, Cedar Crest; Mrs. Ella Cunningham, Kentwood; Mrs. Barbara Ervin, Marcy; Linda Harris, Marcy; Jonell Lloyd, College Heights; Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Otterson, Marcy; Mrs. Betty Schroeder, Marcy; Mrs. Sharon Winders, Marcy; Dolly J. Wilkins, elementary counselor.

Secret Police Holding 'Em

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban athlete given political asylum in the United States says more than 30 Cuban trainers at the Central American and Caribbean games in Puerto Rico are secret policemen.

"If it were not for that, many more might defect," said Juan Pablo Vega Romero, 18, a bantamweight wrestler.

Vega, who arrived here Tuesday from San Juan, said he decided to defect because he was tired of being afraid.

"Fear in Cuba stems from uncertainty and the fact that you can't trust your neighbor, he may tattle on you to the Communists," Vega told a news conference.

He said he planned to live in Chicago with his brother-in-law, Bernardo Cortes.

Vega said he escaped from the Olympic Village in San Juan Sunday night after removing his Cuban sweater and replacing it with one a Puerto Rican athlete had given him.

He said a Colombian priest who teaches at the University of Puerto Rico turned him over to U.S. immigration officials.

East Asian, Pacific Nations Planning Pact

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Nine East Asian and Pacific nations agreed today to form a new regional association — called ASPAC — for cooperation in economic, political and other non-military fields.

Arrangements for the new organization, which will be an informal one without a treaty basis, were worked out today during the second day of the Asian-Pacific conference of foreign ministers.

It brings together South Korea; Japan, Nationalist China, the Philippines, South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and Malaysia. A 10th country, Laos, attended the talks here as an observer and may join.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand, who will become chairman of ASPAC because his next meeting will be at Bangkok, said other countries such as India might also come in if they desire.

The new organization is to be announced formally in a communique at the close of the conference Thursday.

An informed source said the communique would also include a statement on the war in Viet Nam and would denounce nuclear tests in the area, the French as well as Communist China's.

The source declined to say what the statement on Viet Nam would say. He said the inclusion of both topics was proposed by the Philippines, which is preparing to send about 2,000

FORMERLY PREFERRED PIGS TO PEOPLE

Rail System To Solve Commuter Problem

By BEM PRICE
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Over the years bitter travelers have accused railroads of preferring pigs to people as passengers — with some accuracy, since pigs have been more profitable.

But now, the entire field of passenger railroading is on the verge of a vast technological upheaval with the technicians leaning heavily on the computer and borrowing freely from the aircraft industry.

BUILDING ROAD
San Francisco is now in the process of building a 75-mile railroad at an ultimate cost of $1.2 billion that, upon completion in 1968-69, will be the world's most advanced commuter system — at least its designers hope so.

The federal government is hoping the San Francisco project will serve as a prototype for urban centers and, for that reason, has contributed $5 million to the initial experimental work.

But the San Francisco project, which demands construction of earthquake-proof tubes under the Bay and through the tricky Hayward Fault in the Berkeley Hills is only one project.

Work is under way in the East on another project to connect New York and Washington initially — Boston and Washington eventually — with 160 mile-an-hour trains which will accelerate to top speed in 125 seconds without disturbing a cup of coffee.

HIGH COST
The preliminary exploratory work is costing $125 million, with the federal government putting up $13.6 million and the Pennsylvania Railroad, the remainder. Again, the idea is that the fast intercity train will serve as a prototype for other areas.

In addition, the United Aircraft Corp., at Farmington, Conn., is working under an initial $2.1-million contract with the Commerce Department to design another prototype high-speed train which will be tested over a track in Rhode Island.

Atop all this there is a tracked-bus system in operation on an experimental aerial carriage outside Pittsburgh which, its designers say, will carry 20,000 passengers an hour swiftly and in near silence.

This system, operating over concrete ribbon tracks, was put together by the Westinghouse Electric Corp., to serve cities of 500,000 to 3 million.

MANY USES
Westinghouse engineers maintain it could be used for cross campus transportation at large universities, to operate between airports and cities, to serve as shuttles for shopping centers and industrial complexes.

With its lightweight cars — 19,000 pounds — Westinghouse claims the system can be put almost anywhere — on the sides of mountains or hung from buildings.

Each of the systems, whether to serve in the intercity or intracity trade, is fully automated, operating on the same principle as the push button elevator.

The Westinghouse system already operates into and out of stations on the test track, coming to rest within six inches either way of a line drawn on the platform. The San Francisco system, employing much heavier cars and operating at capacity with 10 car trains, is being designed to stop with a 12-inch tolerance along a 700 foot platform.

FEASIBLE
It is perfectly feasible — and it has been demonstrated on a test track here and at Pittsburgh — to send high speed commuter rail vehicles safely zipping along only 90 seconds apart on grade separated tracks.

The 90 second intervals are maintained by computerized controls. When one train slows down, all slow down. If for any reason, one train is stopped by an emergency in the open countryside, all stop.

But the probabilities of power failure — the kind that occurs when a diesel engine backs down on a conventional train — are extremely remote.

Each of the cars in each of the systems is independently powered by electricity — each wheel section, or truck, in fact — and each car is capable of pushing or towing the others.

AUTOMATED
As for the automated, 160-mile-an-hour train, it will operate on half-hour or one-hour separations, not for any particular safety reasons, but simply on the basis of current traffic demands.

There is no reason, of course, why the techniques applicable to the movement of passengers could not be applied to the movement of freight, including the automatic assembly of trains in a marshaling yard.

All this is made possible by an extraordinary increase over the past six years in railroad research funds — from $6 million to $47 million, according to the magazine Railway Age.

The abrupt upswing in research and development was given impetus by cities across the nation and by the federal government.

COMMUTER
The alternative for cities to a rail commuter system was construction of more and more highways and the slow conversion of downtown areas into parking lots.

As for the federal government, it began realizing that the air corridors between cities could accommodate just so many aircraft and it was faced with building over more intercity highways.

There are now 196 million people in the United States. The Census Bureau estimates there will be about 240 million people by 1985 and 300 million by 1990. The population is now being living in five supercities, embracing population corridors stretching from Boston to Washington, Buffalo to Chicago, Los Angeles to San Francisco, Jacksonville to Miami and San Antonio to Dallas-Houston.

In the nearly two years since San Francisco's plans began taking on substance, at least 24 other cities have developed, or begun to develop plans for commuter railroads which connect with subways running into the heart of the city where they, in turn, will connect with bus systems or an intercity subway network. Ten of these cities currently are spending, or planning to spend, nearly $3 billion.

PARK & RIDE
Nearly all are developing a park-and-ride system patterned after those in Europe. The idea is, of course, to reduce the number of motor vehicles entering the hub of any city.

Around Copenhagen, for example, each station on the rail commuter line has a fee parking lot. The fees gradually increase the closer the station to the city. All day parking in Copenhagen can cost as much as $10 for a large, American-size car.

The systems being studied in this country call for a nominal parking fee in some instances, the same at all stations, or free parking.

What makes Bay Area Rapid Transit System fascinating to rail buffs is that it is being engineered from scratch and considerable time and money is being spent to give it aesthetic values.

Since BART's tracks are to run in places through densely populated areas, it has been experimenting with means of reducing the noise of steel wheels on steel rails.

ENDED CLACK
It adopted the all-welded rail, thus ending the clackety-clack problem and is requiring sound suppressing skirts to be built around all cars.

All told the BART system will consist of 16 miles of subways and tunnels, 25 miles of surface lines and 30 miles of aerial carriageways. Where possible the latter will run down or alongside highways.

B-A Big Spring Herald, Wed., June 15, 1966

B.R. Stokes, BART's general manager, said in an interview the system is being designed to move 30,000 passengers an hour — seated.

Polishing Up Leader's Image

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia's new rulers are polishing up President Sukarno's tarnished public image in preparation for the meeting next Monday of the nation's highest legislative body.

The campaign appears to be an attempt to ward off the growing threat of conflict between supporters and opponents of the 65-year-old president.

Officials say the chief danger spots are in Central and East Java. There have been several bloody clashes there between the pros and antis.

The purge of the Communists that followed their attempted coup last October was accompanied by a rising chorus denouncing Sukarno's pro-Com-

Baptists Study Federal Aid

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A blue ribbon committee of the Southern Baptist Convention began study today of a major question facing several denominations: Should federal aid be accepted by church-supported colleges?

The question was the main item on the agenda for the Baptist Education Study Commission, described by its chairman, Rabun Brantley of Nashville, as the most comprehensive evaluation of problems and issues facing Baptist schools ever conducted by the 11.7 million-member denomination.

More than 200 Baptists debated the question for nearly three hours Tuesday night. They reached no firm conclusions.

At its recent meeting in Detroit, the convention reaffirmed opposition to acceptance of federal loans, saying this violated the traditional concept of separation of church and state.

While the SBC does not own any liberal arts colleges, 53 such institutions are operated by state Baptist groups.

Laotian Effective Against Cong Loses U.S. Support

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The flimsy screen that covered the Laotian scene, giving it an apparent internal political and military stability, has cracked recently.

Although on a far smaller scale, there is some similarity with events in neighboring South Viet Nam. Both countries are threatened by Communist aggression.

Laotian generals seem to concentrate more on strengthening their own personal interests than on containing the Communist Pathet Lao.

COMMITTED
The United States is deeply committed and faces the dilemma of perpetual quarrels among generals whom it supports.

Last month, exasperated generals of the Vientiane high command, led by Ouane Rattijoun, Kouprasith Ahay and Oudorn Sannanikone, demanded the removal of Brig. Gen. Thao Ma as head of the Laotian air force.

The generals accused Thao Ma of becoming an independent warlord at the Savannakhet airbase 300 miles south of here. At their request Premier Souvanna Phouma issued an order transferring Thao Ma to the Vientiane high command as head of operations.

Since he became air chief more than three years ago, Thao Ma, 52, has been effective in helping the war effort against the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam. By Laotian standards, Thao Ma is a top-notch fighter pilot.

PLANES
The United States provided his fledgling air force a substantial number of T28s, fighter bombers driven by propellers.

Best estimates are that the Laotian air force has at least 50 of these planes which are serviced — or substituted in case of loss — at the nearby Udorn American airbase in Thailand.

Thao Ma personally led missions — almost daily — in bombing Communist supply routes that lead into South Viet Nam via Laos.

The Vientiane generals complained that Thao Ma, confident of American support, repeatedly refused to execute orders of the high command. Some field commanders even accused Thao Ma of refusing to give air support to their troops when they engaged the Pathet Lao. In other words, the generals charged that Thao Ma behaved according to his whim and not in accordance with their needs.

Wants 'Sambo' Out Of Library

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Two Negro groups plan to ask the Seattle Library Board to take the book, "Little Black Sambo," from its shelves, says Kevé Bray, executive director of the Central Area Action Committee.

The book "is derogatory to the Negro and it strongly suggests inferiority to the Negroes," Bray said.

He said his committee and the Washington State Negro Historical Society will make the request.

The book is a children's fable about a native boy's adventure with tigers in the jungle.

Child's Theatre Workshop Begins Here Saturday

It isn't necessary for young students in the Children's Theatre School-workshop to attend every session in order to gain from the experience, directors said.

The curriculum is set up so that each week's session is independent, and youngsters may miss a session or two while on vacation without affecting the segments he may attend.

The workshop classes begin Saturday at the YMCA and continue through July each Saturday through July 30, except the July 4 weekend. The sessions are three hours each, from 9-12 o'clock. The fee is $5.

Parents interested in enrolling a child may send the name, grade, address, and phone number to Box 463 by Friday, then attend the opening meeting Saturday.

Mrs. Norman Spencer and Jack Meeker will be instructors, provided there are enough participants. The class size will be limited to 30.

Serves Aboard Hospital Ship

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Robert B. Shaw, professor and chairman of the division of thoracic surgery of Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, spent two months of the summer aboard the hospital ship SS Hope off Nicaragua.

He is a part of the ship's team which has a basic objective of teaching the latest techniques of U. S. medicine to doctors and technicians of other nations.

Ag Teachers Converge Here Suspects Face For Electrification Course Stiff Bonds

For the first time in five years, Big Spring will be the site of a Texas Electric Service Co.-sponsored farm electrification workshop for vocational agriculture teachers, according to Conrad Miller, of Big Spring's TESCO office.

The two-day workshop, which begins at Cosden Country Club Thursday morning, will host 91 vocational agriculture teachers invited from West Texas to learn more about teaching about electricity on the farm.

"The subject matter and the material we will provide should help the teachers in becoming more self-sufficient in teaching basic electricity, and how it can be applied to jobs in agriculture and agri-business," Miller said.

"For the past four years, the workshops have been held in Colorado City and Sweetwater. The two-day event here will be the first of more than one day's length ever held in Big Spring. The workshop is the result of the combined effort of three TESCO divisions — Colorado

City, Big Spring and the Western (Midland-Odessa). To aid in the teaching process, during the two days a practice wiring board to use for classroom instruction will be built.

Following the welcome at 9 a.m. Thursday, by J. D. Womack, TESCO division manager of Big Spring, classes will begin. R. H. Browder, of TESCO's Fort Worth area development division, will speak on "Why Teach Farm Electrification." Hulien Harris, Area II vo-ag supervisor, will speak at 10 a.m. on new lesson plans on wiring, motors and controls. Miller will follow at 10:30 with suggestions for teaching electrical wiring. After the noon break, Kenneth Beerwinkle, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at Texas A&M University, will give suggestions for teaching about electric motors.

Friday, Beerwinkle will conduct a class from 8:30 to 10 a.m. on teaching electric and electronic controls; and, from 10 o'clock until noon, Russ Hudepeth, Midland, and W. C.

Adams, Sweetwater, will show how to build a practice wiring board.

Bond of $25,000 each was set for two Fort Worth men Tuesday by Martin County Judge Jim McCoy following their arrest on Howard County warrants in Martin County about an hour and a half after a Big Spring grocery store was robbed at gunpoint at 9 a.m. Tuesday, officers said.

Charges of robbery by assault were filed with Big Spring Peace Justice Walter Grice, in accordance with the revised Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, according to local officials.

The two men, Carlee Allen, 23, 1825 S. Bowie, Fort Worth, and Allen L. Lamar, 30, 917 Boaz, Fort Worth, were tentatively identified as the robbers by the victim, Floyd Ashley, according to Leo Hull, assistant police chief.

Allen and Lamar were transferred Tuesday afternoon to county jail.

They were stopped by Felton

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., June 15, 1966 11-A

Wilson, Texas Highway Patrol, with friction tape before leaving in a 1958 tan Ford with about $50 from the cash register and some cigarettes. Ashley said both men had pistols, and police found a .22-caliber revolver lying on the counter, which they believe one of the robbers left behind.

Recreation Program Has Big Turnout Of Children

Registration for the citywide recreation program is booming — and the doors are still open.

Through Tuesday afternoon, well over 500 youngsters had signed for the summer activities.

Parents are urged by Jim Gilbert, director, to take their children to the City Park adjacent to the Northeast fire station, or to the Lakeview Y Branch, or the Central YMCA. These are serving as program centers for the program made possible by the Big Spring Independent School District, the City of Big Spring, the United Fund and the YMCA. Every elementary-age child in the city is urged to take part.

The Monday-Wednesday session now has 219 registered for the activities which are held in and near the central Y building; the Tuesday-Thursday session has 216—a total of 545.

In the north part of town, the Lakeview program has attracted 85 so far, and the Northeast playground 25. This makes a grand total of 545.

"There is yet time for others to get in on the fun," said Gilbert. "We have the adult leadership to supervise the program, and we want to reach the largest possible number."

There may be many in the north part of town who do not

Judge Okays Bible Course

SEATTLE (AP)—A judge has decided that the University of Washington can continue to offer a course called "The Bible as Literature."

Superior Court Judge W. R. Cole rejected the contention of two Fundamentalist ministers that the course is religious instruction and violates constitutional provisions against using public money for such purposes.

"I believe The Bible as Literature is a proper subject of the humanistic field," Judge Cole said Tuesday.

"This course... is an elective course. It is not required. The University of Washington or any university is an institution of higher learning, and no one has to attend."

Two Bible Presbyterian ministers, the Rev. Thomas Miller of Seattle and the Rev. Harold Webb of Tacoma, sued to force the university to drop the course.

Their witnesses contended the course, presented by the university since 1919, presented a one-sided, modern viewpoint.

Baptist Board Approves Building Improvements

DALLAS (AP) — Approval of building and improvements in three Texas cities was given Tuesday by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Board vacancies also were filled and sums appropriated for landmark preservation and construction.

The action came at the quarterly meeting of the executive board.

Valley Baptist Hospital at Harlingen got permission to negotiate a loan not to exceed $85,000 for interim financing in order to erect a student union building.

Approval was given for construction of an addition to the Independence Baptist Church at Independence, the work expected to cost about $20,000. An additional $4,000 was approved for improvements to a historical park near the church.

San Marcos Baptist Academy of San Marcos was given authority to negotiate a loan of $30,000 to build a home for its president.

Board replacements included the Rev. Rufus Sprayberry, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mineral Wells; the Rev. Jim Lafferty, pastor of the first Baptist Church of Cameron; the Rev. John Wiles, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Comanche, and the Rev. Wayland Boyd, pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Amarillo.

Appointed to boards of trustees were the Rev. Sprayberry to Hardin-Simmons University; the Rev. C. N. Rue, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tulla, to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo, and the Rev. Robert E. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Port Arthur, to the University of Corpus Christi.

Bill D. King, minister of elementary education at First Baptist Church of Abilene, will fill a vacancy in the State Training Union Department as associate secretary in charge of children's work, effective July 11.

The Rev. Daniel Aleman was named to the Language Missions Commission. The Rev. Aleman is pastor of Primera Iglesia Bautista Mexicana in San Antonio. He will assume his new duties in Dallas July 1.

E. O. Hartwell pastor-builder in Texas for more than 20 years, was given special recognition.

Brief Exercises Will Do It

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Only five minutes of intensive exercise a day will help keep the doctor away, Cologne University's Institute for Sports Medicine has found.

But the exercise the university has in mind isn't weightlifting, isometric tension or other such current vogues. The Cologne Institute advises spirited running, cycling, swimming and the like to give the heart and lungs the workout they need.

Wilder Hollmann, professor of sports medicine and cardiology at Cologne University, said in an interview that a healthy body's circulatory system needs to be taxed to within 70 per cent of capacity for at least five minutes each day to keep in shape.

Forest Fire Rages In Isolated Area

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A California condor, soaring high above the coastal mountains, could view this scene today:

Endless miles of rocky, brush-coated ridges, studded with mile-high peaks and slashed by deep ravines, all of it shimmering under a searing sun.

Cut off from the 20th century by lack of roads, it is a wilderness of isolated grandeur, haunt of deer, black bear, puma—and the vanishing condor.

In its heart is an undulating sea of flames.

A plane crash last Saturday set this scene. Two died in the crash. Within moments fire flashed across the rugged, almost inaccessible slopes of the San Raphael Mountains north-west of this scenic resort on the Pacific.

For firemen this is a job as tough as they come. One veteran forester called it one of the worst spots to fight a blaze which, in the first four days, swept across 60,000 acres.

More days—crew bosses won't estimate how many—lie ahead before containment can be expected.

The battle is raging in the center of the San Raphael wild area, so designated because there are no roads. This lack of access is not a fire prevention measure but a government restriction designed to preserve the precipitous mountain terrain in its natural state.

But when fires start in such remote country, suppression crews suffer the handicaps of this protection. Wherever possible, roads must be built to admit men and machinery. This time only one road, across the southeast corner, has been gouged out by bulldozers. Elsewhere smoke jumpers are flown in by helicopters.

The vegetation is mostly chaparral—dwarfed evergreens and brush five to ten feet tall. The word derives from the Spanish chaparro, or evergreen oak.

There is very little timber, and most of this is confined to the canyon bottoms and to Pine Mountain and Mission Pine Mountain, where the rings of tree stumps indicate cuttings in 1917, the year timbers were replaced in the old mission at Santa Barbara.

Three Named In Murder

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Three white men charged with murdering a Negro man, whose body was found in a creek near here, have been taken to state police headquarters for lie detector tests.

Sheriff Odell Anders said Claude Fuller, 46, of Kingston; Ernest Avants, 35, of Washington; and James Lloyd Jones, 56, of Natchez were being held without bond. He said all three are papermill workers.

Two of the men charged Tuesday night were listed earlier this year by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as past or present members of Ku Klux Klan organizations.

Authorities charged the three with the fatal shooting of Ben Chester White, 65, in Kingston June 10. White's body was found three days ago in Pretty Creek.

He had been shot 16 times in the chest and arms with a rifle, Anders said, and his head had been partially blown away by a shotgun blast.

White had no connection with any civil rights activities in this area, said Dist. Atty. Lennox Foreman.

Natchez has been scene of Negro demonstrations during the past year. Civil rights forces led a boycott of white merchants for many months. The area repeatedly has been described as a hotbed of Klan activity.

The House committee probed Klan activities earlier this year and on Feb. 4 made public the names of persons it said were employed by the International Paper Co. at Natchez "who are past or present members" of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi or the United Klans of America.

The list included the names of Ernest H. Avants and Claude W. Fuller.

Sheriff Anders took Fuller, Avants and Jones to Jackson, Miss., for lie detector tests Tuesday night.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B. BIG SPRING, TEXAS, HERALD, WED., JUNE 15, 1966 SEC. B

Miss Patricia Miller Marries W. R. Cox

STANTON (SC) — Patricia Joan Miller became the bride of William Ray Cox Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. W. H. Uhlman, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Miller, Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Cox, Lampasas.

The altar was enhanced with baskets of red and white gladioli flanked by branched candelabra entwined with palm leaves and holding tall white tapers.

A prelude of traditional wedding selections preceded the ceremony. Soloists were Mr. and Mrs. Riley Albertson, and the organist was Mrs. Adeline Zamarripa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of imported silk organza. The slender silhouette featured re-embroidered Alencon lace with appliques of seed pearl clusters and crystal beads. The dress was designed with a scooped neckline and long, petal point sleeves. A double Watteau train complimented the ensemble.

Layers of silk organza petals edged with seed pearls and crystals formed the veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet was a cascade of white French carnations centered with a white orchid and carried atop a white Bible.

MAID OF HONOR

Miss Vivian Morgan, Houston, was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Mrs. Virgil Miller, Fort Walton Beach, Fla. Bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Long and Miss Marilyn Joy Weeks, Kingsville.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of red pearly de soie, sleeveless, and featuring scooped necklines and large bows at the back waistline. They carried white, lace-covered fans accented with red carnations and streamers.

Serving his brother as best man was James Cox, Austin. Groomsmen were Clinton Miller, the bride's brother; Dan Murrah, Belton; and Rod Stephenson, Midland. Ushers were L. Virgil Miller, Fort Walton Beach, Fla., brother of the bride; and George Huckabee, Dallas.

Miss Joanna Sue Haggard was flower girl and Bradley Martin was ring bearer. Altar taper lighters were Royce Ann Clark, San Antonio; and Alexis Gayle Haggard.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride wore a blue linen suit with a blue floral shell, white accessories and an orchid corsage. The couple will reside in Dallas.

MRS. WILLIAM RAY COX

of the Lobo Band, the Press Club, the Sul Ross Singers and Mu Gamma Delta. She has been a teacher in the Stanton school system and will join the teaching staff of the Dallas Public Schools this fall.

Cox was a member of Alpha Chi National Honor Society and the Business Club. A reception was held at the church fellowship hall where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a white net ruffled cloth over a red satin underlay, and silver and crystal appointments were used. The centerpiece was the bridesmaid's fans flanked with candelabra and white tapers.

Miss Patti Harrell registered guests. Members of the house party were Mrs. Joyce Bergstrom, Mrs. Patsy Jones, Mrs. Nona Cain, Mrs. Wanda Bryan and Mrs. Doris Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coble, Colorado City, have been visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lilly. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McMeekin had as their guests their grandchildren, Cindy, Mike and David Hardegree, of San Angelo.

Coahoma Guests From Colorado

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Beauford Bishop and family of Cortez, Colo., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Daniel and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tindol and children, Kelley and David, of Alpine visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tindol. Tindol is a math instructor at Sul Ross. They were on their way to the University of Missouri where he will attend summer school. They also visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Couble, in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Pelton have as guests her sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Elliott, Ventura, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Threet and son, Bill Jr., Crane.

Episcopal Women Have Luncheon

A covered dish luncheon was held Monday by the Women of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The 26 members attending met at the parish hall with Mrs. Jack Lipscombe presiding.

The Rev. Donald Hungerford gave the opening prayer, and Mrs. Ralph Caton read a poem entitled "The Housewife's Christ."

Reporting on the recent diocesan meeting in Vernon were Mrs. Don Dwyer, Mrs. Marjorie Jordan and Mrs. Jack Burnett.

Mrs. Lloyd Duncan Heads OES Chapter

Mrs. Lloyd Duncan was installed as worthy matron of the Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star Saturday evening at the Masonic Hall.

Installing officers were Mrs. E. A. Fiveash, Mrs. Robert New, marshal; Mrs. Don Ince, chaplain; Mrs. F. C. Gambill, organist; and Mrs. Bill Smelser, secretary.

Serving with Mrs. Duncan will be Joe B. Hoard, worthy patron; Mrs. Floy McNaughton, associate matron; William Muegge, associate patron; Mrs. O. G. Hughes, secretary; Mrs. Richard Mitchell, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Brewer, conductor; Mrs. William Muegge, associate conductress; Mrs. S. L. Thurman, chaplain; Mrs. W. M. Gage, marshal; Mrs. Morgan Martin, organist; Mrs. Troy Marchbanks, Adah; Mrs. M. A. Webb, Ruth; Mrs. L. Z. Marchbanks, Esther; Mrs. Worth Hatten, Martha; Mrs. J. H. Eastham, Electa; Henry Brewer, warder; and Horace Jarrett, sentinel.

Musical selections were presented by Mrs. F. C. Gambill, and candles were lit by Jerri Lynn McNaughton and Patty Brewer. Presenting the Bible were Linda Duncan and Belinda New.

Other program participants were Mrs. McNaughton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitchell, Mrs. Gambill and Mrs. Fiveash.

Following the addresses by the new worthy matron and patron, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell assisted in the presentation of jewelry ceremony.

The registration committee included Mrs. Hoard, Mrs. John Puckett and Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, and the decorating committee was composed of Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Marchbanks, Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. W. E. Booth, Mrs. M. C. Lawrence, Mrs. Muegge, Mrs. S. L. Thurman and Mrs. Worth Hatten. Hoard gave the benediction.

Refreshments were served by members of the Past Matron's Gavel Club from a table covered with a white lace cloth over a blue underlay and centered with an arrangement of white flowers.

Mrs. Duncan, 2700 Cindy Lane, was hostess for a Friday evening installation dinner. Guests were incoming officers and past matrons.

Assembly Officer Is OES Guest

The annual "friendship night" and salad supper were highlights of the Monday evening meeting of the Social Order of the Beauceant. The 54 attending met at the Masonic Temple with Mrs. Eugene Gross presiding.

Welcomed as guests was a seven-member delegation from Midland headed by Mrs. Lorey Absher, supreme outer guard of the order.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white linen and centered with a bouquet of red carnations surrounded by white candles.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mrs. C. O. Nalley, Mrs. Willard Sullivan, Mrs. Bob Lee, Mrs. E. E. Brindley and Mrs. O. L. Nabors.

Wesleyan Guild Discusses Camp

Plans for the annual retreat at Ceta Canyon on July 23-24 were discussed during the Monday evening meeting of the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church at the church parlor. Mrs. W. E. Moran presided.

Conducting the program on "Neighborhood Ecumenicity" were Mrs. V. H. Flewelling, Mrs. Floyd B. Martin and Mrs. Bert Affleck.

The members approved a plan to supply cookies to the patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital on Mondays, and Miss Helen Willard was welcomed as a guest.

Planning to attend the south central jurisdictional meeting in Fayetteville, Ark., on June 17 are Mrs. Thel Watts and Miss Gladys Burnham.

The next meeting will be July 11 at the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass for an ice cream supper.

Lace Returns To Fashion Design

The newest look in fashion is the old-fashioned look of lace.

Showing up everywhere this season are dresses trimmed with flattering, feminine lace. It is used for collars and cuffs, demure bibs and deep yokes, and as an outline for Empire waists and becoming bateau necklines.

The new simply-cut shifts take on an air of elegance with trimmings of heavy cotton lace. One cotton corduroy shirt, in soft chocolate brown, features a deep yoke of rich creamy lace, echoed in scalloped cuffs on the dress's long fitted sleeves.

A touch of lace also adds delicate charm to straight-line shifts in sturdy cotton hopsacking. The dresses are accented with bibs and cuffs of snowy white tucked cotton, edged in frilly lace.

Game Schedule Altered Due To Tournament

Duplicate bridge players who met at Coston County Club Sunday were reminded of the annual tournament for the Permian Basin Unit of the American Contract Bridge League which will be held June 23-26 in Midland.

Due to the tournament, George Pike announced that the Master Point game originally slated June 26 will be played instead next Sunday, June 19.

Winners were Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Tom South, first; Mrs. D. W. Wall and Mrs. Carl Blomshield, second; Mrs. Ayra

McGann and Pike, third; and Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Wally Slate, fourth.

During Tuesday's game, Mrs. Charles Dodson and Mrs. Gien Cox placed first. Other winners were Mrs. Fred Lurting and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, second; and Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. Tom South, third.

A three-way tie for fourth, fifth and sixth places was between Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. L. B. Edwards, Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, and Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Jack Irons.

Couple Recites Nuptial Vows

Miss Christine Rainey became the bride of Chapman Smith Saturday afternoon at St. Mary's Church in Canton, Ill. The Rev. John Anderson officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Rainey, Canton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, 715 Tulane.

Gracing the altar were arrangements of white Shasta daisies, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Lance L. Lindeen of Peoria, Ill.

The bride wore a white street-length dress of white cotton lace featuring a pleated lace-trimmed neckline and an A-line skirt with scalloped lace circling the hemline.

Her bouffant, shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a coil hat of satin petals. Her bouquet was a cloud arrangement of white daisies surrounded by gypsophylla.

Mrs. Lance L. Lindeen of Peoria was matron of honor. Her dress was of blue crepe with a fitted bodice and an Empire waist. The dress featured a back bow and an A-line skirt. For her bouquet, she carried blue and white daisies arranged with gypsophylla.

Ted Mitchell of Dallas was best man, and Miss Laurie Lindeen was flower girl.

For a wedding trip to St. Louis, Mo., the bride wore a white and blue dress with an A-line skirt. The couple will reside in Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of Canton Senior High School, Canton, and of Southern Methodist University, Dallas. She was a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and SMU. He is a second year law student, and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

A reception was held at the Wee-Ma-Tuk Hills Country Club where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was centered with a champagne fountain and a four-tiered wedding cake adorned with white daisies.

Plan Ahead For Roofing

If your future plans include the construction of a fiber glass roof over a patio, be sure to make a rough sketch ahead of time.

While this is a good procedure in any project of this kind, it is especially necessary in this particular job—because the size of the panels you use will have a bearing on the spacing of the rafters that will support the fiber glass.

The idea is to space the rafters so that the joints of the fiber glass fall directly on the framework. This is much easier, requiring less cutting, if you know what size panels you intend to use.

The correct approach, unless you have had experience in this kind of work, is to take the measurements of the area to be covered, make a sketch of it and take it to the dealer who sells the fiber glass. Depending on the over-all size, he will recommend the proper size panels to purchase. You can then go ahead and construct the framework, spacing the rafters so that the joints fall on them, giving good support and requiring less mastic to make them leak-proof.

A LOVELIER YOU

Learn Cause, Cure Of Ugly Blackheads

By MARY SUE MILLER No skin is immune to blackheads. It is a mistaken idea that their sole target is young, blemish-free skin. Large pores attract the pests, no matter what a woman's age.

Relief measures are more meaningful, once you understand the nature of blackheads. They are triggered in one's youth by overactive oil glands. Excessive oil forms a plug in the pores and the plug is then darkened by oxidation.

Other than the beauty threat, there are several dangers in blackheads. One is a flare-up of pimples, owing to infection from bacteria in plugs and on the skin's surface. Plugs also stretch and enlarge the pores. At any time of life, enlarged pores can become clogged with oil and grime from external sources. Blackheads soon infiltrate the pores so clogged.

As soon as these facts are understood, it becomes obvious that not squeezing, but cleansing with soap-and-water, and by the use of cleansing grains and medicated cleansing lotions.

The more thorough the program, the more quickly blackheads are dislodged and the less chance there is of infection. Once the skin is clear, and not before, the time is right to tone enlarged pores. This is done by splashing with cold water after cleansing and by the application of astringent masks or lotions. As heat is not kind to oily skin or enlarged pores, the needy should bring these routines without delay.

LOVELIER COMPLEXION

Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types; proper application methods; treatments for blackheads, enlarged pores, circles, wrinkles, crepsiness, etc. For your copy of "A Lovelier Complexion," write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

A Devotional For The Day

The disciples came to Jesus, saying, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" And calling to him a child, he put him in the midst of them. (Matthew 18:1-2, RSV)

PRAYER: Our gracious heavenly Father, we who are adults humbly acknowledge our responsibility toward children entrusted to our care. We who are children ask that we may love those who would help us grow in Jesus' way of life. Grant us, adults and children alike, to be acceptable in Thy sight. We ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

Library Aid

The federal 1956 Library Services Act initially was not notably successful in concentrating on rural library development. But its later shift to urban emphasis, where local matching funds were more readily available, has greatly increased the number of Americans adequately served by libraries.

As administered ably through the Texas State Library, this federal aid program has been of significant benefit, despite the deficiency of state financial assistance.

A U.S. House vote of 338-2 has just approved 60 per cent federal matching library grants of $700 million over the next five years, considerably more than the Johnson administration requested. With such a lopsided House vote, Senate approval also appears assured. And the effectiveness, need and popularity of the program indicate that actual appropriations will come close to the authorized spending level.

Consequently, Texas cities, should be preparing to look into matching aid that is likely to become available.

The next session of the Texas Legislature faces another financial squeeze. Extensive state aid to local library development should not be expected. But the state should at least consider beginning a partnership contribution to the effort to provide adequate library service throughout Texas. Strong public library systems are essential to meeting the ambitious but fruitful educational goals which this state is now setting for itself.

Growing Concern

There is a growing suspicion that the United States Supreme Court is hobbling society in its zeal to remove the shackles from the individual. Even the schism within the court, as evidenced by a one-vote margin on split decisions and the heat of dissenting opinions would argue that there is mounting concern in this direction.

The latest case in point is the decision which, reduced to its simplest terms, means that a defendant in a criminal case need give only "name, rank and serial number." He can, if he wishes, make a statement, but officers are hedged around with responsibility to insure that the statement is voluntary and that it can be chopped off at any point the defendant desires.

In a sense, this is no more than extending to all the rights which the knowing and the affluent have possessed all along. Those wise in the way of the law, or who had resources for a good attorney, have in the past refused to make statements, or even to say anything. The less learned or least able to afford counsel have gone along volunteering information.

Yet, there is something about the latest decision which may well accentuate the arrogance of seasoned criminals. Does the decision mean that officers cannot even interrogate suspects? Does the ruling go beyond the province of statements? Does it cut off the officer from investigation?

The application of the rule, as evidenced by subsequent cases, will shed a lot of light. In the meantime, it is not surprising that concern be felt for the rights of society as well the individual members of society.

David Lawrence Rhodesia — One-Way Street

WASHINGTON — "Reciprocal action" is a favorite phrase nowadays in diplomacy. But evidently the United States government, which gave its blessings to a trip by Senator Robert F. Kennedy to South Africa to lecture the people there on their domestic affairs, is unwilling to allow anyone from the Rhodesian government to come to this country to present the case of the Rhodesian people.

THIS IMPRESSION is derived from a letter written by the principal private secretary of the prime minister of Rhodesia. It was addressed to Thomas J. Anderson, president and editor-in-chief of the "Georgia Farmer," published in Atlanta. The letter reads as follows:

"Office of the Prime Minister, Salisbury, Rhodesia, 17th of February, 1966.

"Dear Mr. Anderson:

"At the direction of the prime minister I write further to my telegram of the 29th January to advise you of the present position regarding the proposed lecture tour of the United States by a Rhodesian cabinet minister.

"FOLLOWING AN instruction by the prime minister, the Ministry of External Affairs enquired from Mr. Gebel, the United States consul in Salisbury, if his government would permit such a tour, and the reply now received indicates that the United States government would be averse to such a tour either by a cabinet

Billy Graham

Why is it that God answers my prayers for a short while, but then it seems that my problems come back worse than ever?

J. W.

It may be because you stop praying and trusting.

The Christian life is not a "once-and-for-all" affair. It is a continuing proposition of faith, prayer and trust. The Bible says, "Without faith it is impossible to please Him."

First, we are "justified by faith." But this doesn't mean that the battle is won for all time. It goes on to say, "The just shall live by faith." Faith is the principle of the Christian life.

Offhand, I would say that you need to spend more time with the Word of God, and not to look so much to the circumstances 'round about you. The Bible says, "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." I find in my personal experience that if I spend much time in the Word of God that faith comes easy and natural. But, on the other hand, if I neglect it, I begin to be swamped by circumstances and begin to experience defeat.

Prayer, of course is vital and important. But the Word of God tends to give us a faith-basis for our prayers, and brings the Christian life into proper perspective and balance.

Two of them who made the try before, both governors, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, took themselves out of presidential consideration for all time, or so they said.

The only other Republicans who now look like the most likely prospects — Michigan's Gov. George Romney and former

AT THE moment Romney is trying to get re-elected governor and Nixon isn't saying what his hopes are. He just keeps on making speeches and keeping himself in the public eye.

Johnson, who made a stunning record getting his "Great Society" programs through Congress in 1965, looks a bit bogged down in 1966.

Hal Boyle Works Both Ways

YOURVILLE, U.S.A. (AP) — "Wilbur, did you know that you are just a crippled female?" said Trellis Mae Peeble, America's most average housewife.

"Says who?" yawned her husband from the sofa.

"Says Dr. Marvyn Jeffreys of South Africa—that's who," replied Trellis Mae.

"Who he?" asked Wilbur.

"He's a 76-year-old anthropologist. It says right here in the newspaper that he believes men are 'crippled females' and naturally inferior to women."

"In what way?" inquired Wilbur.

"His male pride aroused."

"Well, he says men don't live as long as women, commit more suicides, and have to go to the booby hatch more often. He says that women are even 13 times safer than men at driving."

read all the fine print," said Wilbur offily. "You didn't finish what Dr. Jeffreys had to say."

"Like what?"

"Well, he says that since women are mentally a-lter and physically more durable than men they ought to take better care of men."

"In what way?"

"Well, wives ought to mow the lawn. And wash the family car."

"And do all the heavy work around the house—such as moving the furniture—so their husbands won't get a hernia."

"The good doctor suggests that because of their relative feebleness, men should retire at 60 but that women could well go on working until they're 70. Now, what do you think of that?"

"I think we ought to drop the whole subject at this point," said his wife defensively. "I should have known you men always wind up sticking together. Let's watch television."

"Go get me a beer first, I'm thirsty," said Wilbur, leaning back on the sofa cushions.

"Go get it yourself!"

"I can't. That poor old crippled female you're wedded to is just too tired."

"Well, I'll get it just this once — if you promise not to use that silly phrase again the rest of your life," said Trellis Mae.

As Trellis Mae padded out to the kitchen to get the beer, Wilbur felt he had earned the first clear-cut victory since his marriage.

"Let me see that newspaper," said Wilbur.

Wilbur frowned as he began to read the article. But as he read on the frown relaxed. A smile took its place.

"Hey, you know, this guy's got something at that," he announced, handing her back the paper.

To Your Good Health An Understanding Husband Can Help

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you suggest a book for a husband to read in order to understand his wife who is going through menopause? I am fine except quite often I feel sorry for myself and could cry for no reason at all. If my husband doesn't react the way I think he should, I either cry or stop talking and act mad for several hours. I can't seem to control my actions.

I have been told to get shots from my doctor but I don't want to start them as I am not that bad, but my husband gets very disgusted when I have these spells. — MRS. S. S.

I suggest my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," which you can obtain by sending 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Herald. Both of you should read it.

The booklet points out that menopause is a trying time for many women (a few go through it very easily, but the majority have at least some symptoms) and an understanding husband can help his wife over the rough spots.

But when a woman doesn't do anything to help herself — you refuse to see your doctor — then it is understandable that a husband might well resent it.

Going into a pout or a cry that lasts several hours certainly can't make life very happy for either of you. While some nervous tension is expectable, menopause alone is not adequate excuse for making family life miserable.

A fuller understanding of what menopause does and doesn't mean may help you sort out your thoughts and stop expecting your husband to "react the way you think he ought to" whenever you have a black mood.

Do your part: then you will have reason to expect your husband to do his.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our son has Perthes disease in his hip; and has worn a brace for nearly two years. Friends and relatives say, "Why not take him to another doctor?" There isn't anything to do except keep pressure off the leg, is there? We took him to a specialist and are continuing with our family doctor. — MRS. D. B.

There is no way to speed up the healing process, so don't let your friends and relatives pressure you into shopping around for other doctors. Your boy will be all right, but it takes time. A lot of time.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The New Way To Protest

Mama used to say that I exercised my protest by running around the house until my head of steam dissipated. Another form of protest was to lie in the floor and kick my feet, or to throw or kick something.

THIS, HOWEVER, would seem old fashioned today. If you have a gripe, don't cry out in anguish or slam down your fist. How corny can you get?

The thing to do is march. All you have to do is have a cause and a fresh pair of half soles and a lot more energy than judgment. But it works. If you can get a few crudely written signs or a fair crowd that also likes the feel of hot pavement beneath shoe leather, you may get an audience. That's what you are really after.

THIS TECHNIQUE ought to be used more widely than it is. Come autumn, and the first exams in junior chemistry disclose a bunch of sleepy heads doesn't know hydrogen sulphide from grape juice, there's no longer need to moan and groan or fear breaking the news at home. Just organize a march from the cafeteria kitchen past the vocational building, under the eave of the gymnasium, through foyer and right smack dab against the chemistry lab. If that doesn't shake the instructor, then the next march might as well be down the gully and over the hill to the administration building.

IF THE APPROACH to a certain culvert out in the rural sector has been washed out and not filled back to your satisfaction, then rally a few friends and neighbors and march — march to the nearest shade tree and send for the commissioners court.

Should you get a traffic ticket for parking in the mayor's driveway, don't take it lying down. No indeed. Get on your feet and march by the most circuitous route to the city hall, and like Joshua and his faithful band, seven times encircle the citadel. Then ceremoniously pay your fine and fall back in a faint.

PERHAPS YOU don't like the prospect of higher green fees at the golf course. Well, just round up a posse of golf carts and rumble around the back nine and end up sullenly and silently before the 18th green. Dismount and march resolutely to the first tee and back to the 18th green.

If you have trouble at home, don't shout at your mate. There is a better way. Enlist the support of others who don't understand women, and march right down to the county clerk's office, parading back and forth in front of the marriage license counter. The overly dramatic may-war sackcloth and ashes.

THE POSSIBILITIES are limitless. I recommend the practice heartily to everyone. But as for me — I choose to ride in an air conditioned car with soft music. Might as well protest in comfort.

Not Time For NATO To Make A Deal

WASHINGTON — The Warsaw Treaty Organization (WTO), known as the Warsaw Pact, has long been a gleam in the eye of American peace-mongers.

Some in the Senate, like Church of Idaho, and some diplomats in their soft billets at Geneva, seem to believe that the glory road to European disarmament lies through collective bargaining between the Communist and the Western alliances.

IN THE PAST, the idea of a "thin-out" of forces through NATO-WTO negotiations was not such an alarming concept. The West would have been dickered from strength, and might have driven an acceptable deal.

But today, with NATO in an organizational shambles, we would go to any negotiating table in a weakened condition. It is a case of "Buyer Beware" on our part.

SEVERAL WARNING flags require attention. Historically, since the mid-1950's, it has been a Russian objective to wheedle a bargain that would remove U. S. troops from West Germany in return for the removal of Soviet troops from East Germany. In February, 1954, Molotov proposed at Berlin that the whole of Germany be "neutralized" and that the World War II allies agree to an all-European treaty of "collective security." Secretary of State Dulles refused on the solid ground that the Russians would do what they liked if American forces were back in America.

WHILE RUSSIAN intentions have not changed since then, many other factors have. The Eisenhower Administration threatened "massive retaliation" by nuclear weapons if Russia made a wrong move. But the Kennedy-Johnson Administration has played with the policy of a "pause" between a Russian attack on Europe and our response. More than anything else, this maybe-so "credibility" of American determination to defend Europe has given De Gaulle the reason or excuse to go it alone.

There is a third factor that should warn us against a NATO-WTO disarmament agreement. It is the fact that we may be in an overageer state of mind, and this could be to the advantage of the other side.

FINALLY, there is the degree of our relative strength in confrontation with the Soviet Union. The U.S. Navy is spread thin in the Atlantic, from the African coast to the North Pole, and the Soviet Navy is growing fast. Since 1964 Russian missile-firing submarines have been on regular patrol in both the Atlantic and Pacific. In the Mediterranean our Sixth Fleet is still superior, but the Soviet sea force now has anchorages in the Med and has established Naval aid units in Algeria, Egypt, Syria, Cyprus and Yugoslavia. Our Seventh Army in West Germany is powerful and well-equipped, but General Lemnitzer has asserted that both ground and air units will be cramped when we have to move them next year from France into Germany. By and large, we are relatively disadvantaged at this time — a bad hour to talk terms with Communists.

IT WOULD BE one thing for the USA to conduct disarmament terms directly with Russia, the boss of the WTO alliance. But for the unbossed 15 NATO nations to try a conference with the eight Soviet bloc WTO countries could lead to mischief.

Tax Bill Is A Bit Hettier

NEW YORK (AP)—This is tax day for the nation's corporations. And the bill is a hefty 25 per cent higher than last June 15. One way or another, big and little business firms must fork up more than $3 billion today for the U. S. Treasury.

Higher interest rates and a scarcity of money available for borrowing will squeeze many companies.

MANY OF the largest corporations probably have long since prepared to meet the tax collector. But bankers say some of the smaller firms have been having trouble finding money to borrow.

The bigger tax bite this year than last stems from the U. S. Treasury's new collection rules more than it does from the larger profits on which to pay the levy.

Formerly corporations paid 18 per cent of the year's estimated income tax in the first half of the year. Last March Congress passed a Tax Adjustment Act to boost first-half payments to 24 per cent.

Corporations paid part of last year's remaining income tax March 15, and 12 per cent of this year's estimated tax April 15. Another 12 per cent is due today, along with the final payment for 1965's taxes.

THE PURPOSE of the law was to put corporations on a pay-as-you-go basis by the end of next year—something like the withholding tax on personal paychecks. In the long run corporation's total tax bills remain the same. But getting closer to a pay-as-you-go schedule is putting a special, if temporary, squeeze on corporate treasuries this year.

It's also putting a squeeze on many banks. The demand for loans has been soaring with the big spurt in economic activity. The demand for tax loans is just that much more of a burden to banks hard pressed to find lendable funds.

And some of the funds the banks have built up will be drawn down by the tax deadline. These are the Certificates of Deposit which corporations have bought from the banks, many with the aim of meeting the tax bills. Nearly $4 billion of these CDs come due this month, $717 million of them today.

OTHER BIG corporations have bought tax anticipation Treasury bills. The Treasury has about $4.5 billion of these maturing this month. These will pay the tax bills of many companies, who have been collecting interest on them while the Treasury has been enjoying use of the money in advancement of tax payment date.

Walled Treasure

LOVELL, Wyo. (AP)—Ferrell Mangus recently purchased an old house for rental property. He started to remodel the old house and found about $1,000 in silver dollars and other assorted coins plastered in the walls of the kitchen.

Mangus said the coins were mostly dated between 1921 and 1923.

The house had been moved from nearby Kane, Wyo., to Lovell about 18 years ago by a shepherd, George Flesher, who died 10 years ago.

Not So Daring

BELLEVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Albert H. Bachelor has an automobile tag with the number "000007," but it's only a sample.

He saw the tag with five zeros on it on display at the county license office and someone gave it to him. He added the "7" himself.

"I thought I might get a traffic ticket," he said, "but I talked to some officers and they said it was okay."

Larry Dierker Wins In Koufax Hill Duel

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax finally lost a game, and part of his problem was Jim Gentile's broken bat. Gentile's bat wasn't there, nor was Gentile, as Houston defeated Los Angeles and Koufax 3-0 Tuesday night.

But Gentile's replacement was, and he was a major factor in Koufax's first loss since April 30, a loss which snapped his eight-game winning streak. Chuck Harrison, who took Gentile's spot on the Astro roster when the volatile first baseman was banished to the minors Monday, rapped a bases-loaded, two-run single in the sixth inning that broke up a scoreless battle between Koufax and young Larry Dierker.

Gentile was ordered to Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League following his outburst against umpire Ed Vargo Sunday.

Miller Mesmerizes New York Yankees

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A funny thing is happening to Stu Miller on the way to his first no-hitter.

He keeps running out of innings. Baltimore's abominable slow man won his fifth game of the season Tuesday night, finishing up with three perfect innings as the Orioles rallied for a 2-1 victory over New York.

That gave the 35-year-old relief specialist a string of 6 2/3 hitless innings in his last three games, a record for a reliever. Sure, Sandy Koufax does it faster, but speed never has been one of Miller's specialties.

They like to kid Miller about his limited repertoire of pitches. One seems slower than the next. Then they try to hit him and it's no laughing matter.

Actually, it may surprise American League hitters, but Miller claims to have developed a fast ball in his old age. "I've never been a fireballer," he admits modestly, "but my fast ball is a lot better now than when I was younger. My arm seems to get stronger every year."

The veteran righthander who, was 14-7 last year, has appeared in 23 of Baltimore's 58 games and has finished 14. He has seven saves to go with his five victories.

Baltimore's victory combined with Cleveland's split against Boston lifted the Orioles into undisputed possession of first place. Cleveland beat the Red Sox 5-7 in the first game as Fred Whitfield drove in five runs but dropped the nightcap 11-7 with George Scott hammering two homers for Boston.

Eisewhere, Minnesota tripped Kansas City 6-3, Washington ended an eight-game losing streak by beating Detroit 3-2 and California clouted Chicago 10-4.

Miller came on in the seventh with the Orioles trailing 1-0 against Jim Bouton. But Bouton, trying to make a comeback after missing almost two months with a bad arm, got in trouble on Clete Boyer's two-base throwing error in the eighth. Earl Battey doubled home the tie-breaking run for the Twins in the eighth and then knocked in another run in the ninth against Kansas City. Dave Boswell pitched a five-hitter and struck out 11 for the victory.

Willie Kirkland's seventh inning single drove in Washington's winning run against Detroit. Phil Ortega, who had limited the Tigers to two hits after the first inning, gave up a two-out single to Bill Freehan in the ninth before Dick Lines came on to get the final out.

Ed Kirkpatrick smashed two home runs, driving in four runs in California's victory over Chicago. Dean Chance got credit for his fourth victory and ended a personal six-game losing streak despite 15 White Sox hits.

Mr. Moto Set To Show Here

Krusher Kowalski is out and the sinister Mr. Moto is in on the American Business Club's professional wrestling program, which will be staged in the amphitheatre at the City Park Thursday, June 23.

The announcement was made by promoter Pat O'Dowdy this morning. Mr. Moto will meet popular Ricky Romero of Mexico City in one of the main events. The winner will be determined in the best-of-three falls.

The other headline event will pit Jessica (Gidget) Rogers against Kay Nobles, another match that will be determined with two or more falls. The ABClub has also lined up a curtain raiser between Don (Lawman) Slaton against Jack Cain, down for one fall. Starting time for the program is 8:30 p.m. Admission prices have been pegged at a modest $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Prior to the Big Spring Golf Open, perhaps young Steve Threlkold's most significant achievement in the game was a fourth place finish in the Missouri Valley Conference meet, achieved his senior year in college.

However, three years ago — at the age of 19 — the Fort Worth native blitzed the Boaz course in his home town in 61 strokes, 11 shots under regulation figures. He also aced the 157-yard eighth hole at Rockwood course in Fort Worth at the age of 15. He's been pursuing his education in the game since he was 12.

Although he retains his rights in the PGA, Jimmy Dixon of the Open field no longer is in the golfing profession. He took a salesmanship job in the Fort Worth area about three years ago.

Another tournament entry here, Bobby Clarke, is the son of the old-time Sweetwater fighter, who was Lew Jenkins' running mate when both were growing up. Lew, of course, went on to win the lightweight boxing championship of the world.

Midland's Benny Burleson, who always seems to play well here, teamed with Ted Wright to finish second to Johnny Warren and Martin Allardy in the Ranchland Hills Partnership tournament held earlier this year.

Burleson and Wright were two strokes off the winning pace then.

Skip Martz, the Amarilloan who teamed with his father, Don, to set the early pace in the True-Amateur division of the Big Spring Open, is a teacher and the golf coach at Cap Rock High School in his home town. He carries a nine-stroke handicap. His father, who is in the newspaper business, is an 11-handicapper.

Two other Amarillo school officials were in the local meet. They were J. E. Ferguson, principal at David Crockett Junior High, and Ross Larson, Amarillo High School principal. The two have been playing golf only about three years.

If the Philadelphia Phillies succeed in signing Big Spring's Charley West to a baseball contract, he would start his pro career at Macon, Ga.

Remember Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, who went from Alabama to a regular pitching job with the St. Louis Cardinals?

He's now a resident of Davidson County in North Carolina, where he entered politics as a candidate for county commissioner.

The news was greeted without much comment, except for one distressed citizen, who remarked:

"We've already got a bush-league catcher for a sheriff."

Big Spring's John M. Pipes has gone to the National Open Golf tournament in San Francisco.

His mission is two-fold. He will be on hand as a spectator and he wants to try and interest someone of import in his unique collection of golf facts.

John Howie, the one-time Anson mentor who later became head football coach at Littlefield High School, is now associated with Northwest High School, a Class AA school near Fort Worth, as the head mentor.

The word around racing circles is that Rodger Ward is in no position to retire from the game.

His personal life has been raked by legal difficulties that cleaned out his piggy bank. However, his reflexes may be gone just as are those of A. J. Foyt, the flamboyant Texan, who seems to be running into too many walls.

Bucks Have Big Edge

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Ohio State has the inside track in the 28th NCAA baseball tournament after a showdown victory over No. 1-ranked Southern California. Unheralded St. John's of New York is the only other unbeaten club.

The Big Ten champs, ranked No. 2 nationally, breezed past USC 6-2 Tuesday night in the second round as Big Steve Arlin fired a three-hitter and struck out 12.

Orioles Nudge Yankees, 4-2

Jack Fletcher led off with a first inning single and the Duncan Orioles took the cue by going on to flatten the Sportsman's Toyland Yankees, 4-1, in Sophomore Teen-Age Baseball league play here Tuesday night.

The Orioles scored three runs in the opening inning and added an insurance tally in the fourth. The O's collected only four hits and all were singles.

Tommy Tanner, on the hill for the Orioles, parceled out five hits to the Yanks, including doubles by Tony Stewart and Tommy Guinn.

Texas on Walt Witowski's five-hitter, wasn't even supposed to be in the District 2 tourney — if you talk to Seaton Hall fans. The selection of St. John's created an uproar because the Redmen lost five of their last eight regular season games and tied for second behind Seaton Hall in the Metropolitan Conference.

Selection was based on the Club's 1.76 pitching staff earned run average and solid .281 team batting average. The Redmen have gone unbeaten since their selection for a 25-5 mark, taking the committee off the spot.

Kaiser will start a big right-hander, Bob Smith, 5-0 with a 1.61 ERA, against Ohio State at 8:30 p.m., CST. Marty Karow will go with his No. 2 man, Dick Boogs, sophomore right-hander who is 5-1 and 1.88.

USC will send right-hander Ray Lamb, 8-5, against Arizona's Gale Kennedy, 9-3 right-hander, at 2 p.m.

Oklahoma State will start John Pierce, a curve balling right-hander who is 6-3, against Texas at 6. The longhorns will start either lefty Gary Gressett, 1-1, or Minton White, 0-0, a right-hander, with ace Gary Moore in relief.

Arizona, ranked No. 3, eliminated Northeastern of Boston 8-1 as lefty Mike Paul fanned 11 and permitted four hits. Oklahoma State's Big Eight champs ousted North Carolina 4-1 behind Richard Frank as Gary Howard and Tracy Freemy, a pair of 182 hitters, delivered the clutch hits.

Souchak Finds Deep Rough Is Tough

had trouble judging the texture of the rough trying to get ready for the tourney, Souchak and wound up six feet past the pin from where he two-putted for a bogey 5. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Green Play To Decide Winner, Says Palmer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Nicklaus was the favorite — as usual — going into Thursday's opening round of the United States Open Golf Tournament even though the tight, testing Olympic Country Club layout doesn't figure to be his kind of course.

"If there is a favorite, it has to be Jack," said defending champion Gary Player, the little South African who is gravely disturbed about his game.

"It's going to be won around the greens, not on driving," said Arnold Palmer. "And Jack is going to be on more greens than anyone else."

It seems a contradiction in terms, until two members of golf's Big Three start explaining about the other.

"Those greens are very small, and very hard to hold," Player said. "Jack has that soft lob shot that will hold." Palmer agreed. "Jack has the highest shot in golf," he said. "It could make the difference."

The Olympic course is the other side of the coin from the Bellevue in St. Louis, site of last year's tourney where Palmer failed to make the cut and Nicklaus finished in a tie for 32nd, 17 strokes away.

Where Bellevue had mammoth greens averaging about 10,000 square feet, "these average about 5,300," said Joe Dey, executive director of the U.S. Golf Association and the man who gives the word on the condition of the course.

Where Bellevue stretched 7,191 yards—and would appear to favor long-hitters Nicklaus and Palmer—this one goes only 6,727 and would appear to favor the position men. Each carries a par 70.

The early arrivals had nothing but complaints about the deep, clinging rough and Dey had it cut back to four inches Tuesday.

"It's still difficult," said the man who makes the Open courses tough. "It has to do with the nature of the grass," he said, making clutching motions with his hands. "This particular type of grass grabs the ball, holds it."

"Ben Hogan told me it was one of the fairest courses he has ever seen for an Open."

The field of 133 pros and 35 amateurs faces four rounds over a course that has been extremely trying in practice rounds.

"If you're off the fairway, you're in trouble," Nicklaus said. "You've got to stay on the fairway, but you've still got to be long enough."

Devils Shade Lions, 6-1

The Devils broke out in a rash of hits to back Joe Trantham's stout hurling as Joe Merrick's club defeated the Lions, 6-1, in a National Little League game here Tuesday night.

Trantham threw a one-hitter. Alan Davis was the only Lion player to solve his offerings for a hit. That was a single and it scored Paul Douglas with the losers' only run in the sixth.

The Devils got their runs in bunches, scoring three in the first and the other three in the fifth.

Charles Merrick clubbed a triple and D. Smith a double and single for the Devils.

Colts Turn Back Hawks, 15 To 0

The Colts have been having their problems in the American Little League this season but they all seemed to disappear Tuesday night.

The defending champions in the circuit laid the wood to the ball in bombing the Hawks, 15-0. Guy Bell drove out a second inning home run while Mike Tredaway and Scott Egan each had three hits for the winners. Jeff Bartlett, on the mound for the Colts, yielded only three hits to the Hawks.

The Pirates drubbed the Stars, 5-1, Monday night, thanks mainly to two home runs rocketed by reliable Ricky Steen. The third time Steen appeared at bat, he backed the right fielder up against the wall.

Drillers Win By 12-4 Tab

The Duncan Drillers struck for five runs in the first inning and added five more in the sixth on their way to a 12-4 Hi-Junior Teen-Age league victory over the Kiwanis here Tuesday night.

The Drillers outhit the Kiwanians only by a margin of 8-6 but took full advantage of erratic play on the part of the opposition.

Jerry Ryan got the Drillers off to a good start by clubbing a first inning home run with Clayton McKinnon on base. Four of the five runs the Drillers scored in the first inning were unearned.

Tommy Ryan, McKinnon and Danny Hooser each had two hits for the winners while Raymond Hattenbach connected safely twice for the Kiwanis.

Dean Gilstrap and R. J. Englert drove out doubles for the Kiwanis.

Stars, 5-1, Monday night, thanks mainly to two home runs rocketed by reliable Ricky Steen. The third time Steen appeared at bat, he backed the right fielder up against the wall.

Greg Crawford pieced together the mound win, surrendering only one hit to the Stars. That was a second inning single to Dick Conley. Brad Cedarburg scored the Stars' run in the fourth.

Furlong Signs On As Kicker

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons hope the luck of the Irish rides with them next fall when they try for extra points or field goals in their first season in the National Football League.

The Falcons signed a veteran of the Irish Football League, Tommy Furlong, to a contract as a kicker Tuesday.

He kicks the ball sideways like a soccer player.

Meningitis Kills One, Encephalitis Hits Another

By The Associated Press
Meningitis and encephalitis have struck down soldiers from Texas at Ft. Dix, N.J., and Ft. Polk, La.

Pvt. Joe Edd Mills, 19, of Tulla died of encephalitis Monday at the New Jersey installation. Pvt. Hubert Earl Crow, 21, died Tuesday at Ft. Polk of meningitis.

They were the sons, respectively, of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mills of Tulla and Mr. and Mrs. Elgie Crow of Amarillo.

Mills entered Walsen Army Hospital June 8 "with symptoms of a mild upper respiratory infection," the Army said. He died at 3 a.m. June 13.

Crow died Tuesday after being admitted to the base hospital on June 7. His was the fourth death this year at Ft. Polk from meningitis. He had been in the Army only five months.

Mills entered the Army on Jan. 3 and took basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex. He was transferred to Ft. Dix on April 3.

Story Of Capital's Home Shown With Tense Drama

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Movie - TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television's news departments, somewhat ironically, find it easier to cover daily a war on the other side of the world than some activities crowded into a few short blocks in downtown Manhattan.

There are more than 1,200 stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange alone, and the really important news to viewers any day from that place is whether the particular stocks he owned went up or down. It is absolutely impossible to crowd this detailed information into even an hour-long news round-up.

But television can — and did Tuesday night — introduce viewers to a tense, frantic and unexpectedly dramatic place that narrator Harry Reasoner called "The Capital of Capital." The program on CBS called "Wall Street. Where the Money Is" opened with a closeup of $10,000 bills and a sheaf of securities and closed with a shot of a mutual fund executive ordering 10,000 shares of an unidentified stock. We never got a tip on the market, but we did get a fast-paced tour of the financial community. There was the noisy bustle on the Exchange floor that looked like a disturbed hive of bees. There were men buying and selling by hand signals on the American Exchange and men shouting themselves hoarse on the Commodities Exchange.

"You might say that every time there is a transaction on the New York Stock Exchange, somebody is right — and somebody is wrong," philosophized a successful young broker.

One broker said his judgment proved correct on an average of seven times out of 10. Another

Remedial Programs

LAMESA (SC) — An eight-week remedial program in reading, language and mathematics will begin June 20 sponsored by the Lamesa Independent School District. Classes will begin at 8:30 a.m. and last until 12 noon at V. Z. Rogers School. They are open to any pupil in the Lamesa-district in grades one through 12. Sixteen teachers have been employed full time to help in the program.

said he tried to be right 80 per cent of the time — to shoot higher would make him timid. Another suggested that men who made real money in the market tended to run with stocks rising in value and cut their losses quickly.

One of the most interesting sections of the program was a brief documentary of the sale of a $50-million bond issue. It showed four financial syndicates bidding for the issue and it built up like a stage drama as the rivals attempted to cut under each other's offer.

Altogether it was a lively, thoroughly understandable presentation of an off-beat subject. It was produced with wit, intelligence and considerable imagination.

NBC and ABC expect to cover Thursday's news conference on the Surveyor 1 mission, now scheduled for 2 p.m. EDT. More pictures of the lunar surface will be shown and experts will explain what has been learned about the geography and composition of the moon.

CBS will have an hour special, "Two Weeks on the Moon" next Sunday — 8-7 p.m. EDT. Recommended tonight: "The Undeclared War," NBC, 9-10 EDT, a report on the brushfires and other hostilities since the end of World War II.

A MILLION THANKS...

From

WALTER W. STROUP, CLU

WALTER W. STROUP

My warmest thanks go out today — my 15th anniversary with Southwestern Life — to all my policyowners, friends and fellow Howard County citizens who have helped make the past 15 years in my life the most wonderful and satisfying years anyone could ever hope to have.

It has been my pleasure to have had the opportunity to serve so many of you over these years — to help you plan for the protection of your loved ones . . . for the education of your children . . . for a comfortable retirement . . . and for many of life's other cherished goals.

I am proud to represent a Company that has been built over the past 63 years on the philosophy of "excellence in service." In all my years of providing life insurance service, I have always tried to live up to this philosophy.

May I wish all of you in Big Spring and vicinity my very best wishes for success, happiness and good health now and in the years to come.

Paddle Boat Concession Approved At Moss Lake

City commissioners approved the operation of a paddle-boat concession at Moss Creek Lake Tuesday when attorney Lanny Hamby re-submitted lake manager Ikle Ripard's contract for approval.

The original contract had not stipulated liability insurance. Hamby said the new one indicates the concession will carry liability insurance of $50,000 per person per accident, $100,000 aggregate per accident and a maximum of $2,500 for property damage per accident.

Ripard will operate the concession, but commissioners stressed that it is not in any way connected with the city, nor will the city receive any money from it.

"The operation will add to the attractiveness of the lake at no cost to the city," Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said.

Car Stolen

Mrs. Johnny Glenn, 1206 E. 15th, said her 1959 auto was stolen while she was out of town between Sunday and Tuesday, police reported today. The keys were not left in the car, which carries license number DCB 59, officers said.

Commissioners decided to pay Mrs. R. H. Caldwell, 113 Frazier, $150 for damages to her car, which struck a water main protruding six inches above Madison Street April 20.

Mrs. Caldwell said she was looking over some property she thought she would buy when the car hit the meter and lost its oil pan and transmission. Bids for repair of the damage ran to about $200, more than the trade-in value of the vehicle, she said. She asked for $150, which she said was the trading value of the car.

Six ordinances were given approval readings. Second reading approval was given to on-premises consumption at the Spanish Main and to off-premises consumption at Thelma's Drive-In Grocery and Market. Third reading was given to annexation of Jerry Worth's trailer court property south of the present city limits.

Final on-premises consumption approval was given to the Red Barn and Scarbro's Cafe, and final reading approval was given to a zone change from "retail" to "commercial" on John Nutt's property in McDowell Heights Addition.

Jaycees Help Spur Chapter

Three members of the Big Spring Jaycees traveled to Spur last night to participate in that chapter's first orientation session and to help present Spur's charter.

The Big Spring Jaycees recently co-sponsored with Post the organization of Spur's chapter. Making the trip last night were Richard Hughes, Joe Crump and Henry Hill.

Hill and Hughes recently returned from Brownwood where they attended a meeting for Jaycees presidents. Hill is a state director.

Out of the 350 clubs in Texas, more than 50 per cent participated in the conference.

At their regular Monday noon meeting, the group discussed plans for a teen-age Road-o. The event will be held in the latter part of June and will allow young drivers to demonstrate their skill in competition exercises.

The Jaycees have decided to make it an annual event. It has been held in Big Spring in the past, but not regularly. There was none last year.

Banjo entertainment at the meeting was provided by Ken Keeler, an instructor pilot at Webb AFB. Also, Mrs. Norman Fogg gave an imitation of Phyllis Diller.

Now You See It: Now You Don't

Homes Sink Into Old Mine, Owners Busy Filing Suits

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—It all began when Mrs. Bennie C. Stewart looked out the window and saw her cow disappear right into earth.

That was Jan. 3, last year. "I couldn't believe my eyes," said Mrs. Stewart. "Our cow was just sinking like she was going down in an elevator. She went down about 12 feet and we had to destroy her."

Eighteen days later the earth opened up beneath the modest home she and her blind husband occupied and broke it in two. They moved away.

Since then, five other houses have broken apart or plummeted into an abandoned limestone mine that runs beneath an irregular area approximately three-fourths mile long. It is perhaps half a mile wide in some places in the pleasant, modest suburban area at the southwest outskirts of Kansas City, Kan.

The latest disappearing act was Monday night. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Monty Flack plunged into a 90-foot hole and was swallowed up. The Flacks had moved out earlier when their garage fell into the abyss.

Others moved too, although their houses were unscathed. Large sunken areas in a field across the street, the fissures in their driveway and another deep hole in the Flack backyard are enough for Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Crookham who live next door west.

Mrs. Crookham and their son, David, 17, were at their home Tuesday, taking up some carpeting.

"We left the next day after the garage tumbled down," she said. "We have rented a house elsewhere."

Sheriff Harry Higgins lives in the next house. He has moved out most of his more valuable furnishings.

Only two families still are in the block along Gibbs Road.

Why did they build there? "My father, who lived just the other side of Flacks, bought all these lots 12 years ago," said Mrs. Crookham. "We knew the quarry was under us but it says right in our contract of sale that it was adequately supported by big pillars and there would be no sinkage."

The pillars at the entrance to a side of a hill south of the Kaw River look substantial. They are about 12 feet square, hewn from solid rock.

Interpretative Reporting Casts Writer As Expert

AUSTIN — Many of today's interpretive news reporters "might well be classified as true political scientists," says Dr. Norris G. Davis, journalism department chairman, in the current issue of Public Affairs Comment, published by the UT Institute of Public Affairs.

In his article "Public Affairs Reporting: Progress and Problems," Dr. Davis comments that in contrast to "straight news reporting" interpretive reporters go "beyond the negative role of revealing those who have failed in a public trust."

In this way the interpretive reporter can "light up a much larger area," using as his main tool "the tool that the political scientist has used so much—the comparative study."

Public officials, he says, can help by recognizing the natural adversary attitude of the reporter and give full information as a means of good public relations; by keeping information short and simplified; and by pointing out trends and innovations of which the reporter might be unaware.
