SHOES ARE 'SOMETHING OLD'
Believed to be over 549 years old

Wedding Shoes Came Over On Mayflower

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Nancy Ellen Fitch said today she has a gnawing fear that when she steps to the altar to be married Saturday—everybody in church will be staring at her feet.

WEAR A SIGN
"I've thought of wearing a sign around my neck saying 'Bride'—but I suppose that wouldn't be in keeping with the general tone of the wedding," she said.

"So, I guess I'll just have to keep smiling."
Nancy, 24, is marrying John M. Rainier, 23, Tulsa, Okla., who is studying for his doctorate in science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The lure of Nancy's feet, which she said "are not historic at all," is that they will be inside a pair of beautifully preserved green satin slippers that are believed to be 549 years old.

Nancy got them out of a 1912 shoe box, to which her mother, Geraldine, had returned them after her wedding in 1935.

The family says the shoes have been handed down from mother to daughter ever since Sarah Jane Willey got them from William Brewster aboard the Mayflower in 1620.

Nancy is a direct descendant of Sarah Jane Willey, the family said, but how Sarah Jane came to get the slippers from Brewster, a spiritual leader of Plymouth Colony, is uncertain.

CONSTRUCTION
How did the same pair of shoes fit all those different size feet? It's in the construction.

Nancy said the wedding shoes are the widest at the ball of the foot and cup it in such a way that it fits almost any size.

She said the shoes still bear the label of their shoemaker, John Hove, 1417, and that they were made in England.

Titan Sprinkles Eight Satellites Into Orbit

Communications Network Planned

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Eight satellites, including seven to speed secret military messages between Washington, Saigon and other strategic points, rode a mighty Titan 3 rocket today toward lofty outposts in space.

The 12-story-tall Titan—most powerful booster in the Defense Department arsenal—was blasted off on its fourth test flight at 9 a.m. EST.

JAM-PROOF
Six hours later, the satellites were scheduled to zip into random circular orbits 21,000 miles above the equator, forming a jam-proof communications network in the skies.

Eight minutes after blastoff,

Final Scaggs Juror Picked

The last juror was selected at 11 a.m. today to serve in the Dee Scaggs Jr. murder trial, which was to resume at 1 p.m.

The 12th juror selected was Mrs. Josephine Raoul, the second woman juror and the third talesman questioned this morning. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, had summoned 40 new talesmen Wednesday afternoon in the event attorneys ran out of the talesmen summoned Tuesday.

Selected Wednesday afternoon were Jack Tibbs and Carl W. Smith. Other jurors are H. C. Spivey, Arthur N. Jackson, Lloyd H. Duncan, J. B. Anderson, Harvey Coffman, Barbara Tibbs, John Simpson and G. W. Hudson.

The 22-year-old Negro is on trial for the slaying of Norris Sadler Oct. 24, 1965. Gil Jones and Jack Little are the defense attorneys. District Attorney Wayne Burns is representing the state.

Earlier in the week, Judge Caton over-ruled several routine motions for mistrial filed by defense attorneys.

Jones had subpoenaed KBST newsmen Jim Baum for two of his news broadcasts Tuesday, charging that Baum had released certain motions to the public which might influence prospective jurors in the case. The three motions were explanations and principles of the right of self-defense, a motion in limine that the state's attorneys not mention the altercation involving Willie Ray English in the case, and a challenge to the jury panel that the defendant did not request a special venire summoned in the case. Shortly before noon, the court was hearing other motions filed by the defense, and it appears that testimony would not start until after lunch.

the triple-barreled booster's acrobatic last stage successfully settled with its payload into a nearly circular orbit ranging from 104 to 115 miles above the earth.

Later, the Air Force said the last stage re-started as planned and sped into a long, looping "transfer" orbit ranging from 111 to 21,000 miles out. It was to ignite a third time to circularize the orbit at 21,000 miles about 3 p.m. EST.

Five U.S. Army ground terminals stood ready around the world to relay military test traffic through the orbiting vehicles.

MESSAGES
The seven communications satellites—each capable of linking ground stations up to 10,350 miles apart—were built to carry messages between Washington and Viet Nam. Land lines and undersea cables are vulnerable to sabotage and natural interruption.

If this first batch proves such a system feasible, about eight more satellites will be sent up aboard another Titan 3 in August, followed by a third bunch next spring if necessary.

The eighth satellite launched today was an engineering experiment. It was to extend two 52-foot booms to test the feasibility of using the earth's gravitation as a means of stabilizing a spacecraft. Designers hope it will keep one arm always pointed toward earth.

CAPABILITY
The Defense Department has been using the Syncom 2 and Syncom 3 satellites for communication between Washington and Saigon for the past two years. The seven satellites launched today would greatly increase this capability.

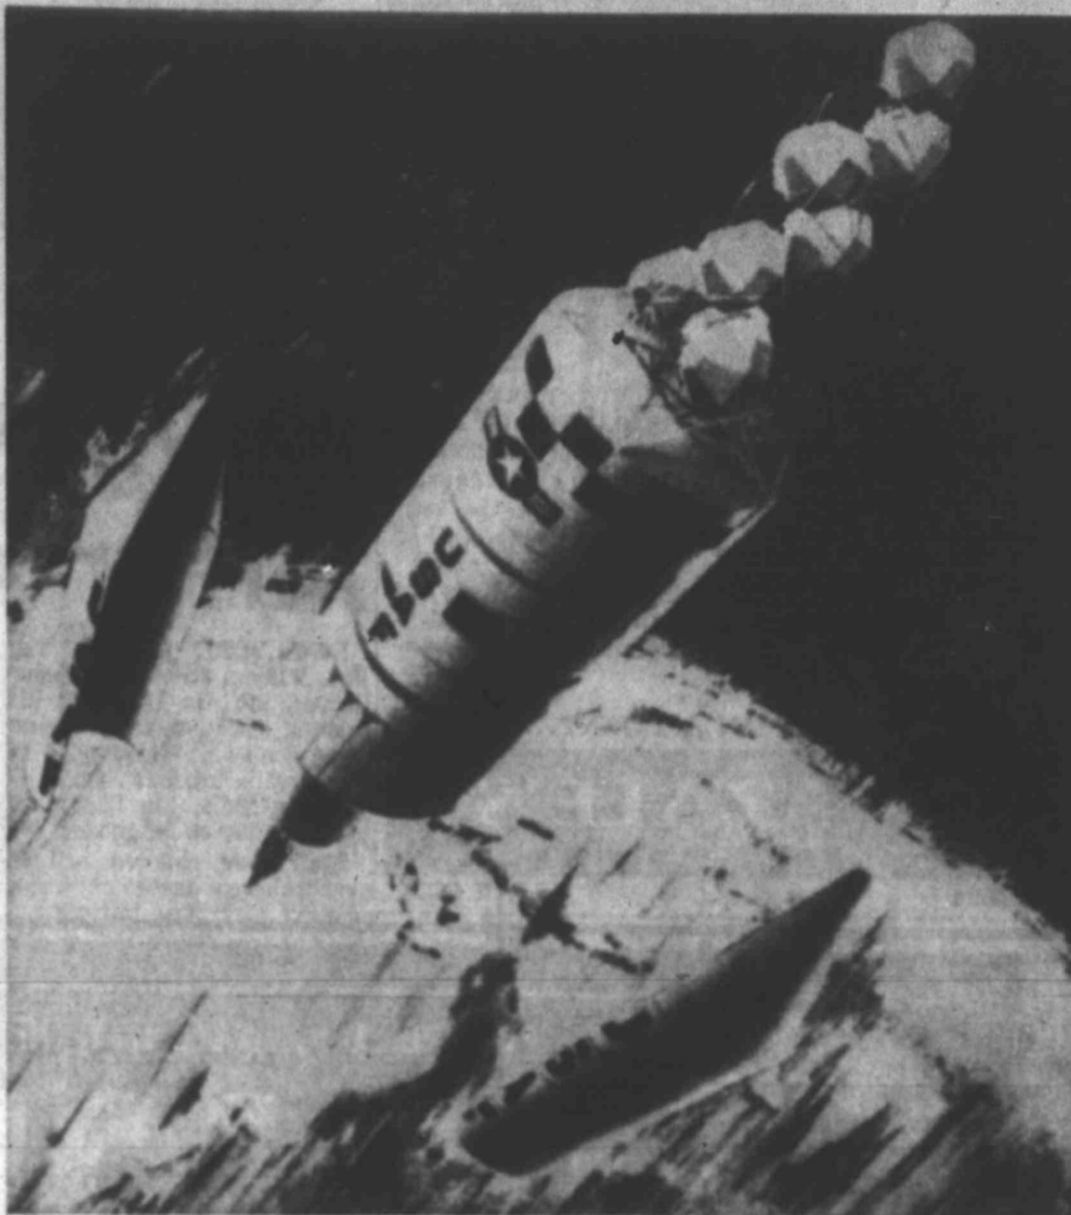

No provisions have been made to tie the satellites launched today into civilian communication systems, but they could be put to work in recovery operations during future manned space flights.

El Paso Asking ICC Investigation Of T&P Railroad

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—El Paso Mayor Judson Williams said Wednesday the city is seeking help from three states on the proposed discontinuance of two passenger trains between here and Dallas.

The Texas & Pacific says it plans to file an application in about a month with the Texas Railroad Commission seeking discontinuance of trains No. 26 and 27.

Williams said he has asked support of public service commissions in New Mexico, California and Arizona in requesting a full investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

State Oil Allowable Decreased For July

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission dropped the statewide oil allowable today for the second consecutive month, setting the July production factor at 33.3 per cent of potential.

The July percentage figure will permit maximum oil production of 3,118,942 barrels a day, compared to the current 3,187,995 under a 34.5 per cent order.

In July, 1965, a 28.1 per cent market demand factor allowed production of 2,885,657 barrels daily.

Only one of the 11 major purchasers of Texas crude oil asked for an increased allowable. Three sought a lower percentage in July than the order. The Bureau of Mines had forecast the July demand for Texas crude at 2,885,000 barrels daily, an increase of 10,000 over June.

Purchasers' nominations, in percentage and barrels per day:

36—Pan American 288,000
34—Sinclair 105,100 and Sun 119,950
33—Atlantic-Richfield 61,000 and Standard of Texas 41,600
32.5—Cities Service 72,000 and Gulf 215,700
32—Shell 175,000
31—Continental 30,000; Mobil 247,900 and Phillips 119,640.

Two major purchasers, Humble and Texaco, nominated by barrels only. Humble asked for 404,200 a day in July a decrease of 8,015. Texaco sought the same barrel allowable in July as in June, 155,900.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Aggie Club or they may be obtained at the entrance. Youngsters under 12 eat free.

AGGIES THROW ANNUAL FEAST TO HELP SOME DESERVING LAD

Aggies are going to beef-it-up tonight. With a barbecue, that is. The Big Spring A&M Club will be out in force to feed about 1,500 guests at the annual scholarship event.

Purpose of the event is to provide a scholarship to A&M to some deserving area youth. The barbecue will be held in the City Park Amphitheater beginning at 7 p.m. All the trimmings and a choice of refreshments will be served.

The scholarship amounts to $125 a semester, which applies toward tuition, room, board and fees. Over an eight semester program of study, this totals $1,000.

The club presently has three young men at A&M on these scholarships.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Aggie Club or they may be obtained at the entrance. Youngsters under 12 eat free.

Oil Companies Accept Values

No written protests were filed here Thursday as oil companies — a few half-heartedly — went along with school district oil and utility values.

Only nineteen companies had tax representatives to register at the hearing of the board of equalization for the Big Spring Independent School District at the county commissioners court room.

Earlier in the week two companies and one production group had appeared before the board of trustees to protest a factor of 2.65 times county assessed values.

School tax officials estimated that the new roll on oil and utility assessments would represent about $1,283,000 increase in values.

Howard County assesses on the basis of 20 per cent of actual value, but the companies appearing before the school board had contended that actually their county assessment was actually 24 per cent. The school district assesses at 60 per cent of actual value, thus the companies contended that 2.65 times 24 per cent would be more than 60 per cent.

School tax officials and representatives of Fritchard & Abbott, valuations engineers, were meeting with representatives to formalize the assessments.

Premier Ky's Forces Push Dissidents Into Corner

SAIGON (AP)—Gunfire punctuated the government's campaign today to regain control of Hue. Buddhist demonstrators burned an American automobile in Saigon. Two U.S. servicemen were threatened, but both escaped unharmed.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky pushed his Buddhist foes farther into a corner by sending 500 of his elite paratroops to reinforce government riot police in Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon, and slapping a 9 p.m. curfew on the capital. The government appeared confident of crushing the antigovernment, anti-American rebellion, now in its fourth month.

STAGE MARCH
The paratroopers fired on dissident infantrymen of the 1st Vietnamese Division who tried to stage a march in Hue with Buddhist banners. The marchers fled after a heavy burst of fire. One dissident was reported killed and at least three wounded.

Soldiers at the walled citadel of 1st Division headquarters opened fire with rifles and automatic weapons when five Western newsmen later approached the gates. The newsmen fled with bullets whistling about them.

The outbreak in Saigon came just before the curfew. The American car was burned in the area of the Buddhist Institute. No one was in it.
From a rocky hilltop 25 miles northwest of Chu Lai came the epic story of a five-hour stand in the night by 18 U.S. Marines against an encircling Viet Cong force of 250. With ammunition running short, the Americans were fighting with knives and rocks when air and ground support forces finally routed the enemy.

ALL BUT TWO
S. Sgt. Jimmie Howard of San Diego, Calif., who commanded an observation post on the hill, said his men had only eight rounds of ammunition left and only seven "were able to pull a trigger" at the end. U.S. military headquarters said all but two were killed or wounded, but the Marines killed 45 of the attackers.

U.S. jets continued heavy attacks on North Viet Nam, flying 66 missions during which they dodged nine Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles. Two planes were lost to conventional groundfire, bringing the number of American planes shot down over the Communist north to 265. One of the pilots was rescued by helicopter.

Ky's 500 paratroopers rolled into Hue at dawn to a chorus of jeering, drum-beating Buddhists, but they quickly hauled Buddhist altars off main streets and took positions at the radio station and one of the bridges across the Perfume River.

The soldiers fired a few tear-gas canisters and shots into the air. But with the help of 600 combat policemen sent in by Ky last week, they carried out the operation without any concerted resistance from the armed Buddhist youths and dissident troops who have kept the city of 100,000 in open rebellion for weeks.

Hospital Groups Pledge Support For Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pledges of support from state and national medical and hospital groups eased today the Johnson administration's concern over the start of the Medicare program July 1.

John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, announced that he had received "many expressions of eagerness and willingness to cooperate" from the more than 200 leaders of the health professions who attended Wednesday's White House "conference on medicare implementation."

The conferees diffused half a dozen major problems to be faced, Gardner said, including shortages of nurses and other medical manpower, racial discrimination in some Southern hospitals, concern over the method of reimbursing hospitals for their increased load of elderly patients, and some signs of public misunderstanding of what the insurance program does and does not provide.

The all-day meeting of delegates from every state also produced new and promising proposals for dealing with these potential difficulties, Gardner reported. He said the government has pledged to follow up on the suggestions and do "everything we can to sustain and nourish our great voluntary hospital system."

Rusk Stresses Need For Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk stressed today that the United States and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations—outside of France—believe the only way to settle the division of Germany and bridge the gulf between East and West is to show plainly our "resolve to keep our defense strong and to remain united."

Rusk aimed his new thrust at the policies of Charles de Gaulle before the Senate's National Security subcommittee as U.S. policymakers evidenced concern over the French president's trip to Moscow next week, believed to be an effort by de Gaulle to work toward some German settlement himself.

Rusk, in making his first public report on the NATO meeting at Brussels last week, said the session "was a critical test of the vitality of NATO. And I believe it is accurate to say that NATO passed this test with confidence."

High Winds Lash Fort Worth Area

By The Associated Press
Winds reached hurricane force momentarily at one point and lashing rains poured southward from Oklahoma into North Central and Northeast Texas today.

Early reports from the affected area indicated no major damage, however.

Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth clocked gusts of wind up to 75 miles per hour. The Weather Bureau reported, and sirens wailed as airmen turned out to tie down planes and movable objects.

LINES SNAPPED
Power lines snapped in several places, parts of Fort Worth were without power briefly and the wind shattered plate glass windows in several stores. Tree limbs littered the streets. A house trailer was whipped across a West Fort Worth street.

There was an unconfirmed report of a tornado funnel being sighted near Azle, northwest of Fort Worth, in the rainy darkness of early morning.

At one point Weather Bureau radar tracked a sizeable mass of thunderstorms which boiled across the Red River from Oklahoma and advanced to a line linking Tyler, Hillsboro and Breckenridge.

By daylight, however, most of the turbulence tapered into light to moderate showers, largely north of a Brownwood-Tyler line.

PANHANDLE
Threatening weather first developed Wednesday night in the east edge of the Texas Panhandle. Pampa, pounded hard by twin hall storms the day before, escaped this time with light hail and .30 inch of rain.

Before midnight the Weather Bureau posted severe weather watches for a 100-mile wide sector from the Childress vicinity toward Ardmore, Okla.

Subsequent special advisories alerted most of North Central and Northeast Texas as heavy thunderstorms surged slowly southward, with radar indicating the most severe weather was around Weatherford and Bowie. Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area residents were warned to be on the lookout for damaging winds, possibly hail and rain occasionally heavy enough to cause flash flooding in the streets.

ALL CLEAR
By 6 a.m., however, official forecasters issued an all clear, reporting scattered thunderstorms would continue but there was no further danger of severe weather.

The turbulence churned up as a weak cool front stretched across the north part of the state from near Wichita Falls toward Lubbock. Skies were mostly clear in South Texas and at least partly cloudy elsewhere.

Forecasters promised occasional thunderstorms again by evening in Northwest and Northeast Texas, and scattered showers in southern areas of the state.

Shortage Of Nurses Will Be Even Worse

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

American nurses—already badly outnumbered by their duties and their patients—haven't seen anything yet. Wait until medicare takes effect July 1 and elderly patients begin competing fully for medical services.

That seems to be the prevalent feeling of U.S. hospital administrators preparing for the impact of medicare.

A nationwide survey by The Associated Press showed that many of the better-staffed hospitals are worried about the drain of nurses and technicians to smaller hospitals as the medicare patient load spreads.

Peter Geilich, assistant administrator of Parkland Hospital in Dallas, Tex., said he expected that the main impact of medicare would be increased competition for trained people with smaller hospitals in rural areas.

SMALLER HOSPITALS

The smaller hospitals, he said, will have to come up to higher standards to qualify for the medicare program—and those hospitals will have to hire qualified registered nurses and technicians.

But, unlike the big teaching hospitals, the smaller hospitals won't be training new people. They'll have to raid the bigger hospitals for their personnel.

At a recent meeting, Boone Powell of Dallas, president of the American College of Hospital Administrators, said there already is a serious shortage of 20,000 registered nurses—and medicare will make that shortage critical.

BELOW STANDARD

At the Los Angeles County General Hospital—part of the county hospital system that carries much of California's medical load—the assistant administrator, John O'Conner, said county hospitals now provide an average of three hours of nursing care per patient per day. The standard, he said, should be four or five hours.

"With funds available from the government," he said, "we can increase the nursing staff which is now extremely low among general hospitals."

Dr. Tenero D. Caruso, a Los Angeles surgeon, put it this way: "I've heard, I've read and I've listened and I've looked. Right at the present time in Los Angeles there are large hospitals that have wards that are closed because of the inability to get adequate, competent nursing help."

NO HELP

"I know of three hospitals whose census of occupied beds is down not because beds aren't available, but because there isn't capable help available."

A report to President Johnson on the status of medicare preparations agreed that there was a significant shortage of health personnel—and that the medicare program would have an impact in those areas where shortages already exist.

The answers to such shortages, the report said, require long-term solutions. But gradually legislation and federal money is encouraging an increase in nurse training facilities.

The nurse supply will increase by 10 per cent in 1966—as graduates reflect the increased nurse training enrollment from 50,000 to 54,000.

There are another 60,000 persons a year in training for professional health occupations.

Former Newsmen's Book Picked As An Alternate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former West Texas newspaperman, later an aide to two Texas congressmen, has turned author and is coming out with a book which has been selected by a book club as an alternate choice for its members.

Larry King was working in Odessa when he teamed up with J. T. Rutherford, successful candidate for Congress in the 1954 election. As administrative assistant to Rutherford during the latter's eight years in the House, and then as an aide to Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., King learned politics.

And politics, along with the racial controversy, are the warp and wool of "The One-Eyed Man," to be published by the New American Library June 20. It will be offered by the Literary Guild as its alternate selection for August.

While Washington is the setting for a portion of the novel, most of the action takes place in a fictitious Southern state whose Governor Blanton is said by some pre-publication reviewers to resemble that of a cross between Lyndon B. Johnson, the Talmadges of Georgia and the Longs of Louisiana.

Since leaving Wright's staff in 1964, King has devoted his full time to writing. He has had several articles in national magazines and is now at work on his second novel, one which will revolve around the careers of a minister and a congressman from the 1890s to the 1960s.

Around the capital: Washington's spring rains brought trouble to Rep. Elgin (Kika) de la Garza of Mission. Writing in his newsletter about a Sunday drive with his family, he said:

"We went for a ride, got caught in a thundershower and then got stuck in a creek. Here it's called a 'run.' The creek flows by our house, and as I drive around a curve I found that the heavy rains had sent it up over the roadbed. Being used to the arid Rio Grande and the dry creek beds, I bravely drove into the stream with the idea of fording it. But our motor drowned out half way through.

"Water started seeping into the car, and all my passengers looked at me to do something. What I did was crawl out a window, then wade in water up to my waist until I reached dry land. I had to send for a tow truck to pull us out but we managed to get out before he arrived, and I will not try again to run a run."

Two Texans are among the 60 architects in the nation advanced to Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects. A third such recognition was made posthumously to the late Charles Thompson Granger Jr., of Austin. The two who will receive the awards at the 1966 annual AIA convention July 1 in Denver are Marvin Eickenrodt, 68, of San Antonio, author of "History of the Development of Architecture in Texas," and Harwood Taylor of Houston, at 38 the youngest of all those advanced the Fellowship by the institute.

May Prove Heredity Is Mental Instability's Cause

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—He covers on the floor, eyes wild, muscles taut, starkly frightened.

He is ESS, a dog — and a nervous wreck.

But ESS hasn't been subjected to duress; he hasn't been harassed or tortured; his life isn't stressful.

Like emotionally normal dogs living under the same circumstances, he is regularly well-fed in clean, dry, well-kept kennels. Physically, he seems healthy and well.

Emotionally, he's a shambles. And it's no accident.

ESS is a product of selective breeding — a research project by three doctors who believe that genes, the carriers of inherited traits, are a big factor in mental stability, in man as well as dog.

"The first thing everyone asks is 'What have you done to those dogs?'" said Dr. O. D. Murphree, psychologist at Veterans Administration Hospital here. "All we have done is select the parents."

The study is a collaborative effort by Murphree and Drs. R. A. Dykman and J. E. Peters of the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock.

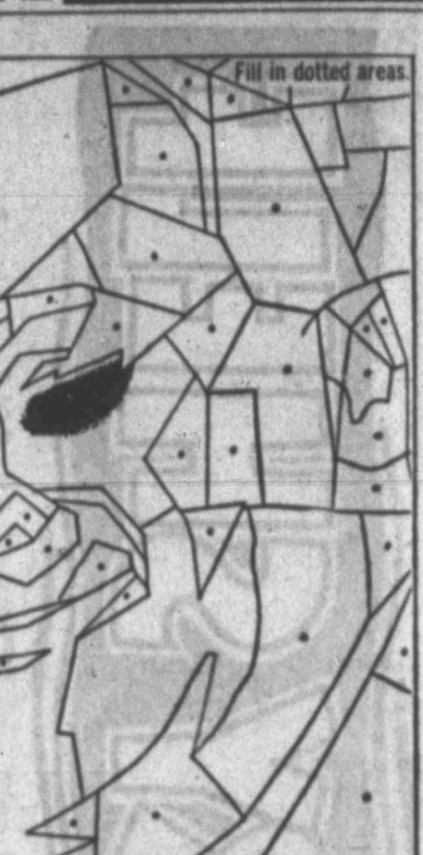

Together they have bred two separate strains of bird dogs: the "E line" — dogs like ESS; and the "A line" — "normal" dogs that act like the family pet.

Both groups are treated alike. The finger is pointed at genes because environmental differences have been reduced to almost none.

The researchers believe their next generation," he said. The factor is self-limiting because eventually one becomes so withdrawn that he produces no offspring.

Effort Attempts To Show Reasons For Guerrilla Wars

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Movie - TV Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — "The Undeclared War," an NBC news color special Wednesday night was an effort to explain the outbreak of guerrilla warfare in many places in terms of the two-year old conflict in Guatemala.

Three quarters of the hour was devoted, with considerable sympathy, to showing the operations of these mountain fighters with leftist tendencies who have been operating in classic hit and run fashion against the government.

The program explained in slightly fuzzy style the goal of the outlaws — and suggested they were typical of underground warriors in other countries. They crop up in underdeveloped countries where land population is sharply divided between a few haves and a lot of have-nots.

Fortunately for the NBC camera team, a couple of the Guatemala guerrillas had a rudimentary knowledge of English and, what was more, a keen working knowledge of the uses of propaganda. Otherwise they would never have welcomed the television team to shoot pictures of them. They emerged, all of them, looking rather like romantic Robin Hoods.

The program made a great point that the most fertile ground for the outbreak of such warfare is in countries with a peasant class that is largely illiterate and held in something like feudal bondage, dominated by rich landowners supported by government military forces.

Similar guerrilla warfare exists in neighboring countries of Peru and Colombia, both of which were touched upon lightly in the program.

NBC's short-lived "Let's Play Post Office" a noon hour game show will be replaced by another game show on July 4. The new one will be called "Showdown," and is notable for the fact the host will be a Los Angeles broadcasting personality named Joe Pyne.

Pyne has created a recent stir in broadcasting by a series of interview shows featuring controversial subjects — and by abusive comments by Pyne.

Recommended tonight: "The Baffling World of ESP," ABC, 10-11 EDT, a documentary on experiments in extra sensory perception; "The Dean Martin Summer Show," NBC, 10-11 with comedians Rowan and Martin heading a cast of variety performers for the rest of the summer season.

A LOVELIER YOU

'Delinquent' Dieters Don't Get The Dates

By MARY SUE MILLER
Studies show that a teenage girl seldom rates a passing grade for her dietary habits. Most girls are delinquent in their consumption of vitamin C, calcium and iron. And those nutrients, plus protein, are essential to a strong body, sound teeth, physical stamina, stable nerves, and good skin and hair.

The cause of deficiencies is mostly of Miss Teen's own making. She eats goeey snacks and puts on weight. Then, still snacking, she skimps on meats and vegetables. Thus her intake is never properly balanced; likewise her weight, verve and looks.

So saying, let's see how the nutrition problem can be solved at a low cost in calories. You're on your way when you follow this basic pattern of eating daily:

For calcium, protein, and riboflavin (B-vitamin): 4 cups vitamin-D skim milk. (vitamin-D is necessary to ingestion of riboflavin.)

For iron, protein and B-complex: 3 servings chicken, lean meat, fish or eggs. Example: 2 eggs at breakfast, hamburger patty at lunch; at dinner, broiled liver.

For vitamins C and A: 1 orange or half grapefruit; 1 cup tomato juice; large portions dark green and deep yellow vegetable.

For iron: Baked potato with skin and two tablespoons wheat germ.

Those foods add up to 1400 calories and provide all necessary nutrients. To reach and maintain normal weight, you need an additional 900 to 1000 calories and you may use them for any food your heart desires—preferably for bread, meat, vegetables and fruits.

Plans to endorse and assist in the area out-patient mental clinic were discussed at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's Club. The members met at the Snack Bar in the Cosden Petroleum Building with Mrs. Cass Hill presiding.

Miss Edith Gay reported on the Thursday mental health meeting at the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Building, and Mrs. Hill and Mrs.

High Hems Stress New Leg Care

Here are some tricks with stockings to camouflage less-than-perfect legs and ankles so noticeable now with shorter-than-ever skirts.

To make large ankles look smaller — wear dull — finish-seamed stockings and keep the seams straight. Wear dark shades and also avoid bright or light-colored shoes and especially those with ankle straps.

To make plump legs appear thinner — wear longer skirts, even to the middle or at least slightly above the top of the calf. Follow the suggestions for large ankles.

To make thin legs look plumper — select light shades for stockings and skirts that are moderate in width at the hemline. An extremely full or bouffant skirt may make legs look like the proverbial pipe cleaners. Extremely narrow skirts also accentuate thin legs.

Shorter skirts call for special knee care. Rough, discolored knees look awkward. If necessary, use a pumice until the skin is soft and smooth.

Italian Coasters Brighten Room

If you can't actually take that trip to Italy, bring Italy into your home! Italian straw accessories in vibrant colors and ripply textures can set the tone for a home that is rich with sunny Mediterranean hues.

Straw coasters, tissue dispensers, bathroom accessories and waste baskets in bold, earthy colors almost shout, "Spring is coming!" In breakfast nook or patio, brighten the table with colorful coasters to blend with china or table cloth. Tissue dispensers, waste baskets, guest towel holders and soap dishes in Italian straw can harmonize with bathroom decor and linens.

Match them to a curtain or rug, or make them the only objects that strike a different color note. Imagine a hot pink tissue dispenser and waste basket in a turquoise room, or lemon yellow in an olive room!

Ladies' Society Gains Member

Mrs. L. B. Mauldin was welcomed as a new member during the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Ladies Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The women met at the Odd Fellows Hall with Mrs. C. L. Kirkland presiding.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Lois Garland, and drills were led by Mrs. Lonnie Griffith and Mrs. Jim Skalecky. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. L. Millican and Mrs. C. D. Coats.

Gift Party Held For Bride-Elect

STANTON (SC)—Miss Charlotte Bevers, bride-elect of Don Jones, was the honoree at a lingerie shower Monday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the home of Sarah Saunders.

Miss Bevers' chosen colors of blue and white were used in table decorations. The white linen cloth was centered with a bouquet of blue daisies, and a crystal punch service was used with blue napkins. Favors were marshmallows made as jewelry boxes holding tiny wedding rings.

Hostesses were Susie Poe, Margaret Clardy, Lila Phillips, Doris McNew, Eunice Stephenson and Sarah Saunders.

Janice Spraberry Engagement Told

LAMESA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Spraberry have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Janice Kay to Ronald Lewis Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland E. Edwards of Wolfthorpe. The wedding will be Aug. 20 in the chapel of the First Baptist Church.

Rainbows' Dinner Held At Temple

Miss Judy Daniel, grand drill leader, was honored with a salad supper at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls. The 68 members and 36 guests attending met at the Masonic Temple.

Candlelight Rites Initiate Rebekah

Mrs. Mary A. Cadzow was initiated by candlelight ceremony into the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 Tuesday evening. The 38 attending met at the IOOF Hall with Miss Shirley Lee presiding. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white lace cloth over a pink underlay. Hostesses were Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, Mrs. Leon Cain, Mrs. Kenneth Duffer and Mrs. J. R. Petty.

PINK THEME

Farewell Party Fetes Mrs. Ennis Cochran

Mrs. Ennis Cochran was honored Wednesday evening with a "Pink Pandora" party at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hill, 2303 Allendale. Co-hostess was Mrs. Bill C. Coleman.

The party was a farewell affair for Mrs. Cochran, volunteer coordinator at Big Spring State Hospital, who will leave Sunday for a trip to Sayre, Okla., where she will remain for several weeks.

Mrs. Cochran was surprised with gifts which were presented to her in pink "Pandora" boxes.

The pink theme was used throughout the entertaining area. The white cloth and napkins for the refreshment table featured a pink rose motif and pink punch was served from a crystal service. The floral centerpiece was in shades of pink and green, and other appointments were of crystal.

Guests were members of the Spoudazio Fora Study Club, with 15 attending.

Dear Heloise:

You absolutely must forward this hint along to men — and women, too—who mow slanting lawns. These lawns are most dangerous. The lawn mower slides, causing falls and broken hips. If men, who have golf shoes, will put them on before they mow the lawn, the cleats in the golf shoes will allow the feet to anchor onto the sloping terrace, and they will not slide and slip. . . . and they might just prevent broken bones and cut feet.

If wives, whose husbands have these golf shoes, will put on about three pairs of their husband's socks, they can most likely wear these shoes, too, if they have to do the lawn.

I cannot understand why people wear tennis shoes when doing this job. They are no protection whatsoever. Each year, the emergency room of my hospital is filled with patients who have lost toes, the bottoms of their feet, or have broken legs, just from mowing the lawn.

Please tell them this . . . Dr. W.W.M.

Dear Heloise:

We always put tennis shoes on our five-year-old when he is going to be playing in the shallow water of a river or lake.

The shoes keep him from cutting his feet on broken bottles,

Safety Advice Given For Lawn-Mowing

Dear Heloise: I have had this same problem and have figured out some other uses for a punch bowl. So, ladies, please write us in care of The Herald and tell us of the uses you have devised for your seldom used punch bowl. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

What do most mothers do when their child cuts herself, or gets an ugly bump? Well, they most likely run for the ice; but many times find the tray empty or frozen too hard to get the ice out in a hurry.

I keep a teething ring (the type that can be frozen) in my freezer at all times, and use this on the injury instead of using an ice cube.

My three-year-old daughter thinks holding a colorful ring on her bump is the greatest. . . . Patricia Webber

Dear Heloise:

I hope someone can come up with some suggestions as to what a punch bowl can be used for besides serving punch.

I got one as a gift five years ago and have had very little use out of it. . . . Gertrude Winfield.

Dear Heloise:

Our frozen trying chickens usually come in a plastic bag so I wash the bags inside and out and use them for shaking the chicken in the flour.

This way I don't have to worry about the bottom falling out (like in a paper sack) and I can use them again and again. . . . Mary Borden

Dear Heloise:

Last summer I bought a basic straw hat, and with material from the cut-off hems of four or five too-long dresses, I made snap-on bands. I made them with either flat bows or very short (two or three inch) streamers.

Thus, one hat carried me through the summer, and only my best friends knew.

The commonplace hat pin can be used to hold these changeable hat bands in place. Sure makes for a smart matching outfit. . . . Jeanie Sutherland

Rebekahs Perform In Memorial

A memorial service was held Tuesday evening by the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153. The 29 attending met at the lodge hall with Mrs. Odell Buchanan presiding.

Against a background of white lilies and candelabra, Mrs. H. F. Jarrett conducted the special service. She was assisted by Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, Mrs. Jones Lamar, Mrs. Joe Evans, Mrs. Kyle Canale, Mrs. L. L. Robinson, Mrs. Elmo Martin, Mrs. Morgan Martin, H. F. Jarrett and Mrs. O. G. Burns.

A resolution of sympathy concerning Clyde Nation, father of Mrs. Frank Goodman, was read by Mrs. Rogers.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar and Mrs. Rogers.

Mrs. Worth Hatton, Andrews, was welcomed as a guest, and members were reminded of the June 25 invitation to attend the new lodge dedication in Lamesa.

Shower Held For Bride

The home of Mrs. R. W. Andrews, 1715 Yale, was the scene Tuesday evening for a bridal shower honoring Mrs. Mack Frazier.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Travis Carlton, Mrs. Ray Vess, Mrs. R. V. Fryer, Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. Dan Conley, Mrs. Gilbert Gibbs, Mrs. John Lane, Mrs. Carl Coleman and Mrs. W. P. Hughes. Their gift to the honoree was an electric portable mixer.

Guests registered in a heart-shaped, white lace bridal book topped with gardenias.

Appointments of crystal and silver were used on the white linen-covered table, and the centerpiece of yellow and white daisies was flanked by white candles. The bride's colors of yellow and green were used in accents throughout the entertaining area, and gifts were on display. Over 100 were included on the guest list.

Lions Auxiliary Welcomes Guests

Mrs. Jerry Avery and Mrs. H. C. Petty were guests of the Downtown Lions Auxiliary when the group met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Curley.

Mrs. Joe Pond and Mrs. Schley Riley served as cohostesses for Mrs. John Dibrell who had been announced as June hostess.

The salad meal was served buffet from the dining table that was covered with a pastel green linen cloth. The centerpiece was a large arrangement of white daisies.

Four teacher-members who can attend only summer meetings were present. They were Mrs. B. M. Keese, Mrs. Gilbert Gibbs, Mrs. John B. Hardy and Mrs. M. R. Turner. Sixteen were present.

Badges Awarded To TOPS Rebels

Achievement badges were awarded at the Tuesday meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

First badges, denoting a 10 pound weight loss, went to Miss Deanna Morris, Mrs. Loretta Stewart and Mrs. Gilbert Madison. Second badges, for a 20 pound loss, were given to Mrs. M. C. Lawrence and Miss Claudia Locke, and a third badge, representing a loss of 30 pounds, was awarded to Miss Evelyn Powell. The weekly prize was won by Mrs. Hugh Merworth.

Mrs. Harold Bell presided and introduced a guest, Mrs. James Sawyer. Mrs. Grady McCrary led the pledge.

The next meeting will be June 21 in the Chamber of Commerce.

A Devotional For The Day

"Truly, I say to you, unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven." (Matthew 18:3, RSV)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we are thankful that we can pray and call Thee our Father. May we realize in our hearts that we can make known to Thee all our thoughts and desires and become as trusting as a little child in our faith; through Christ our Redeemer. Amen.

Takes Both

There is at least a possibility that one side or the other can "win" the argument over whether automobiles or drivers are the major cause of accidents. A good case can be made that an element of individual misjudgment enters into most accidents. The scoring of points in this argument must surely be recognized as a barren exercise, though. The argument and its conclusion are irrelevant. The heart of the question is this: Can automobiles be made to offer better protection for their occupants in the event of a collision? No one within the auto industry or outside the industry can argue successfully that automobiles cannot be made much safer.

Many obvious improvements are possible. Among them are: Removal of elaborate chrome-plating which can momentarily blind drivers with reflected sunlight. Improved brakes.

Padded dashboards. Strengthened frame-work and tops to minimize rollovers when a vehicle overturns. Improved bumper system. More rigid frames, with fenders and other parts of outer shell designed to crush and absorb much of the initial impact of a collision. Better headlight systems.

But it is not enough just to improve the safety of automobiles. Much stricter supervision of drivers must go hand in hand with improved auto safety features if the accident toll is to be diminished substantially. This will involve individual driver examinations at intervals of not more than five years—preferably not more than two years.

Safer automobiles and safer drivers is the proper approach. There is no point in arguing fruitlessly over whether the driver or the automobile is responsible for most accidents, since both are now at fault.

Right Of Dissent

President Johnson made a few sound remarks the other day on the importance of dissent in a democratic society. The occasion was the ceremony honoring 121 "presidential scholars," outstanding high school graduates from the states and territories. The crux of the matter, as he put it, is that "no American, young or old, must ever be denied the right to dissent."

He cautioned the young students "never to dissent merely because someone asks you to, or because someone else does." That is excellent advice, predicated on the need for independent thought and conclusion.

He told his audience that "dissent and protest must be the recourse of men who, in challenging the existing order, reason their way to better order." It is this that underlies the whole concept of dissent—the free expression of views, even views highly unpopular or distasteful to those in authority—as an essential part of the democratic process whereby our society evolves and makes its decisions.

This is not a mere theory. It is a concept that must be honored in daily practice, as well as championed in fine-sounding phrases. The national interest and the cause of freedom are best served when we maintain an intellectual climate in which dissent is not only permitted but encouraged.

Issues Affecting The Presidency

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's political popularity has taken a nosedive. The latest Gallup Poll has revealed that only 46 per cent of the people today approve of the way he is handling his job. This rating is the lowest Mr. Johnson has had since he has been in office.

Yet Mr. Johnson himself hasn't changed his objectives. He is more familiar with his job and concerned with a lot more problems than when he took office.

THE REASONS FOR the diminishing popularity are the same as those which other Presidents have encountered. They are a combination of circumstances — some economic and some emotional — which affect political thinking throughout the land.

The basic cause of the President's decline in popularity may be summed up as follows:

1. THE VIET NAM WAR. President Johnson didn't start the conflict. It was going on before he took office. But the American people have really grown tired of it, just as has happened during every war in history. The longer the war, the greater the political damage that results. There is a widespread dissent over the method by which the selective service system operates. The large number of persons who have sons of draft age are worried, and so are the parents and relatives of the men who already are in military service.

2. ECONOMIC circumstances. Various sections of the country are feeling the effects of what might be called intervention in the normal economic process. In Midwestern states, administration actions which tend to hold down prices of food grains, hides and cheese naturally have a political effect, as do some official predictions that farm prices generally may fall later this year.

3. The cost of living is rising, and the housewives are feeling it. They constitute an important influence also on the voting of their husbands.

4. THE TALK of more and more government spending has produced an unfavorable reaction. The administration may try to get a balance in the cash budget, but this will not remove the effects of the current inflation at least right away. This is bound to cost the administration many votes in November.

5. The race problem. Resentment is growing in all parts of the country, particularly in relation to the redistricting of schools to attain a "racial balance." Hitherto it has been assumed that the heavy vote which the Negroes will give to the Democratic party, especially in the cities, will more than offset any losses among the whites in suburban and rural areas. But, while this may be true in certain instances, there is developing a widespread protest against the proposed civil-rights legislation, particularly the "fair housing" provisions. Real-estate men will be harassed by charges that they have practiced discrimination in consuming the sale or rental of houses or apartments. Home owners are fearful that property values will drop if neighbors are forced to sell or rent to Negroes. Since housing is a matter that affects a very large number of voters, the issue is bound to be more and more discussed between now and the November elections.

VOTER DISCONTENT is not always logical. When the votes are added up, it is frequently found that a combination of issues—emotional and economic—which cause the voter to take a negative attitude toward the party in power not only can weaken that party's hold on Congress but sometimes can take away its control of one or both houses.

Took Only Keys

ARTESIA, N. M. (AP) — Usually, a state police car discourages thieves. But not so with Officer Lesley Dudley's car.

Recently, someone took a personal radio from his cruiser parked in front of his Artesia home.

Then, three nights later when the cruiser was parked in front of the Artesia Fire Department building, someone took the car keys.

Dudley didn't think the latter act very funny.

"It put the car out of commission," he declared, "because all extra keys have to come from Santa Fe (state capitol) and the entire switch had to be changed."

A Fascinating Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — To an American, the wheels within wheels in South Viet Nam — power struggles, inner conflicts, Buddhist uprisings, endless government changes — are an exasperating, confusing sight.

Now perhaps the spinning wheels will slow down. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a 35-year-old air force general, seems to have overcome the extremist Buddhist leadership which sought to get rid of him.

HOW DID HE MANAGE this when others failed? For one thing, he used force against the opposition. But that isn't enough explanation. The real story behind Ky's tactics and success hasn't been told yet.

Some of it can be guessed at by way of contrast in the person of President Ngo Dinh Diem who was toppled and killed in 1963 after using extremely violent force against the Buddhists.

He was inflexible, without alternatives, a dictator without the necessary political instincts to survive. He gave no indication he intended to yield any power or share it.

He underestimated the intensity of his opposition and wasn't shrewd enough to split it by showing some willingness to compromise. By his stubbornness he solidified the opposition.

KY WAS SHARPER when the Buddhists got on his back, complaining that his military government of 10 generals should be replaced by a more representative one of civilians, he agreed, although not saying exactly when.

His agreement, and the steps he took to provide for a constitution, an election, and an assembly, certainly were calculated to take steam out of the opposition and divide it.

His concession could be expected to, and obviously did, satisfy his moderate critics and this seemed to show up quickly when the extremist Buddhists, tasting some success, wanted more fast: they wanted Ky out in a hurry.

They apparently did not have the masses of Viet Nam behind them. The uprisings they engineered in the cities of Saigon, Hue and Da Nang had to be urged and pushed.

One monk above all others, Tri Quang, was Ky's enemy. No concession seemed enough for him. The story behind this monk is not fully known and perhaps never will be.

In a last desperate effort to arouse the country — or was it a plea for pity? — Tri Quang went on a hunger strike.

BUT IN HUE AND SAIGON the Buddhists who still listened to leaders like Tri Quang, rioted. Bit by bit but slowly Ky shattered them. Even the self-burnings by several of Tri Quang's monks and nuns didn't arouse the nation against Ky.

That he now feels self-confident was clear enough Wednesday when his military government said it would stay in power until 1967, permitting only a step by step march to civilian government.

Achieved Perfection

Around The Rim

At Last, A Children's Theatre

Probably no single activity of the Big Spring Little Theatre program here has been discussed longer than a children's theatre or workshop. Saturday, thanks to a devoted little band of workers, it is finally getting off the ground.

At the first organizational meeting of the little theatre, back in the early 1950s, this subject was brought up. It has been discussed off and on ever since. Most of the time, the group was too embroiled in the problems of producing adult plays and seeking adult talents.

BUT FINALLY, some children's plays were produced — after the organization was 10 years old. And now, sort of putting the horse back in front of the wagon, the workshop is becoming a reality.

Not considering the Easter Pageant, the children's plays of the last two years have been the most popular and best received work of the theatre organization. In the first place, uninhibited children make excellent actors; secondly, children's plays are great fun for the children spectators.

DIRECTORS have spent most of rehearsal time in the past to training youngsters in the rudiments of stage work. The new workshop program should solve that, making possible far more polished productions. In fact, the theatre organization might well consider a similar school-workshop for adults.

TWO MAJOR obstacles have stood in the way of a children's workshop previously: a place to hold it and someone to teach it. Volunteers for teachers were ruled out, for the obvious reasons of training and the demanding time necessary. Jack Moeker and Mrs. Norman Spencer were hired recently to handle instruction. Curt Mullins, general secretary of the YMCA, came to the rescue with classroom space at a token fee.

UNFORTUNATELY, the theatre group has no surplus money for this program, so a fee has to be charged for the initial classes in order to pay the instructors. Hopefully, the next classes will be offered to all youngsters at no cost so that all interested will be able to participate. At any rate, the program has moved from the discussion stage to the action stage, giving the organization a bridge to reaching a wider segment of the community.

MRS. JACK BURNETT and Mrs. Harold Davis were leaders in this program, as well as Mrs. Conny Wade and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith. They have launched another milestone in little theatre activity here.

The Bright Young Graduate

WASHINGTON—A lot of proud parents are showing up this month at university commencement exercises throughout the land. I was sitting next to a beaming couple last week and during the ceremonies I struck up a conversation.

"You must be very happy today," I said to the father.

"Oh, I am. Martha and I have waited all our lives for this moment when Peter would graduate from college."

"Which one up there is Peter?"

"HE'S NOT THERE," the father replied. "He walked out when Secretary McNamara started to make the commencement speech."

"That's a shame," I said. "I guess you and your wife are pretty upset."

"Oh, no. He told us he originally planned to lie down across the podium, so we're very grateful he decided on a non-violent protest."

"I'll bet you scrimped and saved to put Peter through college."

"ACTUALLY, the tuition wasn't too bad. We had set funds aside for that. But it was pretty hard to get up the ball money every time Peter got arrested. We managed though except for the time he burned his draft card."

"He had to stay in jail for that one?"

"I'm afraid so. It wasn't just burning his draft card that got the administration angry—Peter accidentally burned down the gym with it."

"It must have played heck with the basketball schedule," I said.

"IT DID. But when Peter got out he started a freedom committee to burn down gymnasiums, and about a fourth of the school signed up."

"What did Peter major in while he was in college?"

"He started out majoring in Modern Anarchy, but he found it was too restrictive, so he took a straight liberal arts course with a minor in Nietzsche. Martha wanted him to study law, but Peter said, 'There are no laws.' And that was the end of it."

"Peter sounds like he's got a mind of his own."

"I THINK YOU could say that. He's the only one in his class who stopped two troop trains going in opposite directions at the same time on the Atchafalaya, Topoka, and the Santa Fe."

"You have to have convictions to do that," I said.

"You also have to have long legs," the father said. "Peter then walked from Anchorage to Nome, Alaska, because he claimed the Alaskans would not let the Eskimos vote. And he also sat in Gov. Romney's office for two nights as a protest against capital punishment."

"BUT MICHIGAN doesn't have capital punishment."

"That's what Gov. Romney kept telling him."

"It must have been an interesting four years for you."

"I guess you could say that, particularly during school vacations when Peter found it hard to get LSD."

Stretching The Truth

WASHINGTON—"There was some things he stretched," Mark Twain said of himself through the vernacular of Huck Finn, "but mainly he told the truth." You must reverse Twain's statement to evaluate the truthfulness of politicians: "There are some things about which they tell the truth, but mainly they stretch it."

The matter of stretching the truth is timely because Senator Dirksen and Representative Ford, the GOP leaders in Congress, have proclaimed a Consensus of No Confidence in the Johnson Administration. Ford cited 19 examples of Democratic falsifications. It is instructive, I think, to examine a sampling of these illustrations to see which party was doing the "stretching."

IN APRIL, Defense Secretary McNamara was accused of smothering a dispute within the top Pentagon command relative to cutting funds for manned bombers. When confronted with previously-secret testimony, McNamara blamed the confusion on a badly drafted memorandum. Mark up a "stretcher" against McNamara.

Last summer, President Johnson needed quick justification for dispatching troops to the Dominican Republic. He explained in a subsequent press conference that "some 1,500 innocent people were murdered and shot, and their heads cut off." It was a presidential "stretcher."

WHEN HE WAS running for re-election in 1964, President Johnson declared that "I cannot — and will not — force anybody" to follow the wage-price guidelines. But in 1965, with the election won, LBJ strong-armed the aluminum and steel industries into line by using his great powers and releasing materials from the Stockpile and by selective purchases. The President had committed "campaign oratory."

BUT THE REPUBLICANS, in trying to pin sin on the Democrats, often do some stretching of their own. It is manifestly unfair to accuse McNamara of lying when he has made optimistic statements about "improvement" in Viet Nam or has expressed "confidence" in the Saigon government. He could not have anticipated the several military setbacks and political coups which occurred very soon after these statements.

THE SAME can be said for Republican charges about various peace offers from Hanoi. The Administration did not announce one which had indirectly reached UN Secretary-U Thant and was reported after the death of Adlai Stevenson. But this offer was one which the State Department said it "did not believe," and there was no reason to raise false hopes by announcing it. The Republicans lose credibility of their own when they make too much of such items.

THEN, THERE was the GOP howl when the White House ordered the elimination of 25,000 federal jobs and was required to show a year later that federal civilian employment had increased by 132,647. The explanation is that the President is trying to cut useless jobs, but adds new jobs when Congress passes one of his programs. LBJ is not a payroll-padder.

Politics is a game of exaggeration, and both parties play it.

Likes Nickname

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "Alligator Alley," a derogatory name hung on a controversial toll road project across the Florida Everglades, has caught the fancy of an official who'd like to keep it.

"I think it's colorful, especially for northerners," said Broward County Commissioner John D. Easterlin.

"It was dubbed 'Alligator Alley' by those who opposed it," said Easterlin, "and now that it's been called that I like it."

The 77-mile, two-lane toll road, which will connect Fort Lauderdale on the Atlantic Coast of Florida with Naples on the Gulf Coast, is expected to be completed by 1967.

Reagan Gives Uncut Version Of His Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan said today he is "a throwback to the age of unhyphenated Republicanism" and will focus on "nagging problems" such as taxes, crime, labor and education in his race for the California governorship.

He said he fully expects Californians of both parties to swing the state into the GOP ranks in November.

In a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, Reagan gave what he described as "an unfiltered, uncut version of where I stand and what I think the issues are in the fall election."

The 53-year-old Hollywood star, who won the Republican nomination for governor of California June 7, faces Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in November.

Reagan flew East Wednesday to lunch with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm and later meet here with the California GOP House delegation and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Eisenhower told newsmen after the two had lunched that Reagan "seems to have integrity and common sense, and he's for Republicans."

'Banjo Billy' Mural Attacked

"Banjo Billy," a freed slave who died on Long Island in 1829, plunks a tune for white and Negro children in a panel of a 160-foot mural adorning the wall of the Jamaica Savings Bank in New York's Queens borough. Some Negroes consider this derogatory to their race and have picketed the bank and withdrawn deposits. The bank says a sampling of Negro depositors showed 71 per cent approved. Yesterday, the city Commission on Human Rights held a public hearing over "Banjo Billy," painted two years ago. Two commissioners said they'd ask the full group to recommend it be changed or removed. The American Civil Liberties Union said it was none of the Commission's business. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Coed Defends Her Sources, May Be Ordered To Jail

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Annette Buchanan, 26, a coed at the University of Oregon, was appointed managing editor of her college newspaper on May 1. Unknown to her, that was the first step along a path that could take her to jail.

Three weeks later, she interviewed seven students about smoking marijuana. The story was published in the newspaper, the Oregon Daily Emerald, on May 24.

By coincidence, that was the same day Dist. Atty. William Frye of Lane County lost the 4th District Democratic congressional nomination to Charles O. Porter in the Oregon primary election.

Frye read the story, and obtained subpoenas summoning Miss Buchanan and three other student editors before a grand jury June 3. The other three were quickly dismissed when they said they did not know the names of the students quoted in the story.

When Miss Buchanan declined to reveal the identity of the five students whose names she remembers. Frye took her before Circuit Court Judge Edward Leavy and asked that she be ordered to divulge her sources. Leavy complied.

Miss Buchanan again appeared before the seven-member, all-women grand jury Wednesday. Again she declined to reveal her sources. Again Frye took her before Judge Leavy, who cited her for contempt of court and set June 27 for her trial. If convicted, she could be sentenced to six months in jail.

Miss Buchanan says she has received hundreds of letters of support. An anonymous source is paying her legal costs. Newspapers have printed editorials praising her stand.

Robert C. Notson, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and executive editor of the Portland Oregonian, said, "The possible good derived from disclosure of her sources is hardly sufficient to warrant punishment." He said, however, that it was not a good case for establishing a legal precedent.

Twelve states have laws granting newsmen the right to withhold names of their news sources. Oregon is not among them.

Cooperation Termed Vital

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — T. D. Barrow, director of Humble Oil and Refining Co., told 600 U.S. and Canadian oilmen today in a prepared speech that harmonious cooperation of the oil industry and the government is vital to the industry's growth.

Barrow addressed the American Association of Petroleum Landmen's meeting. He said federal leasing policies in high potential areas of the Continental Shelf will determine the success of the U. S. petroleum industry in meeting future energy needs.

Barrow said the newly established Public Land Law Review Commission affords the industry the chance to suggest improvements in its leasing laws and practices.

He recommended keeping a "competitive basis with a minimum of changes." He said the competitive bids at open sales after public notice should be continued for outer Continental Shelf lands, but he said acreage limitations should be eliminated. Delegates from 19 states and several anadrian provinces registered for the two-day meeting. More than 750 persons were expected for the 12th annual meeting.

This afternoon, George Bush of Houston will discuss "Off-shore oil—a businessman's challenge." Bush, Republican nominee for congressman from Harris County, is former president of apata Off-Shore Co.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., will speak Friday on federal versus state control of conservation.

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP)—Houston detectives who arrested Henry Francis Amerson have testified he agreed to go with them to the police station for questioning.

Amerson, 39, charged with the rape-slaying of Mrs. Marjorie Wills, 26, of Houston, is on trial in District Judge G.P. Hardy's court.

Detectives J. A. Pierce and

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., June 16, 1966 9-A

B. G. Lott testified Wednesday they arrested Amerson, a Houston airplane mechanic, Jan. 21. Both men said he agreed to go with them to the police station for questioning.

The state contends police action was proper and within the law. The defense claims Amerson's constitutional rights were violated in his questioning and search by police.

The body of Mrs. Wills, 26, a Houston International Airport insurance clerk, was found in a ditch near Pearland, Tex., in Brazoria County Jan. 17. An autopsy said she had been raped, stabbed, beaten and strangled to death.

TODAY'S RECRUITS REPORT IT'S TOUGH, BUT IT'S FUN

Waves Are Trying To Sink World War II Image

By JANET STAIHAR
BAINBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The Waves want to sink a World War II image. Top brass at Bainbridge's U.S. Naval Training Center, where the nation's enlisted Waves struggle through bootcamp, are out to torpedo the public idea that Waves are a group of crass, loose-living women whose primary duty is entertaining sailors at overseas canteens. The new society of bell-bottom skirts is young, between 18 and 26, single, college or high school alumnae, and painfully clothes conscious. "We want the normal American girl who's devoted to her country — not the dregs of society," said Lt. Janet Blumberg, 24, Mount Holly Springs, Pa. She's the Waves public information officer. Commanded by Cmdr. Anne L. Ducey, 51, of Haverstraw, N.Y., the Navy's only female commanding officer, the center trains 600 recruits in summer months. This drops to half that in winter, after graduation rushes. The Navy has upward of 5,000 Waves, short for Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service. Recently the Waves came into the news when Paul H. Nitze, secretary of the Navy, announced a cutback at Bainbridge. He said the Navy plans to shift the Waves training center and other facilities to Orlando, Fla. because of cost factors. A half-finished barracks for the Waves will be used for other purposes. "It's tough. But it's fun," said Seaman Sharon Tremmel, 18, Cleveland, Ohio. "And you learn how to get dressed in two minutes flat, head to foot. Before coming here, boy! was I unorganized!"

That's the keyword, organization. Either "baby booties"—new recruits—shape up in 10 weeks of boot camp or they're out. Fifteen per cent do not make it so a board of naval officers and doctors sign release papers. Some dropouts won't accept discipline. Many are too slow and buckle under the diet of drills and classes. Sixty recruits, a company, arrive every two weeks. Teenage girls accustomed to Bobby Daria, pop-op, and privacy are apt to be jarred silent. Eight recruits share a cubicle. They sleep in bunk beds, walk on bare-board floors and look up at bare-beamed ceilings. Next, a crew of seamstresses doggedly stitch 60 hemlines to "within two inches of the knee, ladies," and put in countless tucks to compensate for Jayne Mansfield figures. Sometime later, after the tailoring is done, they'll be issued Navy blue winter uniforms, very smart white dress uniforms, and two-piece blue-and-white striped summer suits. But now, 60 rather scared recruits trek out of the fitting room, clad in blue raincoats with the hoods up. For all the world they look like a band of drills.

Ahead of them is 10 weeks of learning Navy symbols, weapons parts and endless weeks of drills. 12-A Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., June 16, 1966

Union Leader Says LBJ Guidelines Are Dead Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany was reported today to consider President Johnson's wage-price guidelines "a dead issue." A source close to Meany said organized labor apparently has won its long fight to bury the White House guidelines. "We're not even having to beat them over the head about it anymore," he added. This reported victory seems to be further evidence that Johnson's bent and battered guidelines, originally designed to prevent an inflationary wage-price spiral, are headed for the economic scrap heap. "The indications are that they (the guidelines) are on the way out or already out," said a source.

The guidelines were the administration's chief weapon in the psychological war against inflation during last year's sharp rise in prices. Prices have been rising even more sharply so far this year. But Johnson hasn't mentioned the guideline theory in months, despite several labor contract settlements far in excess of the 3.2 per cent per year limit on wage increases suggested by Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers. One sign that Johnson may let the guidelines die — probably without a formal burial — was his endorsement of a special presidential emergency board's recommendations for a four per cent pay hike for some 34,000 airline mechanics. The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists still is resisting the recommendation, demanding even more. Johnson also had nothing to say about a 4.7 per cent wage increase recently negotiated by the AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers' Union for some 20,000 Western Union employees. The President and his economic advisers haven't tried to push the guideline pill down anybody's throat since council chairman Gardner Ackley tangled with New Jersey labor leader Pete Weber last March. "He told us to go to hell," said a spokesman for Ackley in relaying one of Weber's remarks. But Weber merely was voicing what virtually every other labor leader in the nation had been thinking and saying for more than a year.

Couple Moves To Isolation

CURRIE, Nev. (AP) — Even for Nevada, Currie is isolated. And that's just what Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Krueger of Menlo Park, Calif. wanted when they moved here one year ago this week. They fled suburban living to take over virtually the entire town of Currie, population 38, amid the sagebrush and jackrabbits of northeast Nevada. So, how is it to turn from orderly urban life in the San Francisco Bay area to a harsh, lonely spot 50 miles from the nearest town? "We're doing fine," said Jeannette Krueger in an interview over the nearest telephone, at a gas station 16 miles away. "My husband loves it. It's entirely different from living in a city, believe me." They put much of their life savings into a lease, with option to buy, the town's businesses — a general store, bar, service station and three little cabins the Kruegers rent primarily to deer hunters. "It's a rough life," Mrs. Krueger continued. "It's been hard. But we're very pleased." Will they stick it out? "We're still here!" Mrs. Krueger says, adding they hope to exercise the option and buy the businesses. The only real complaint that Mrs. Krueger has is that she seems to have developed an allergy. "I hope it's not the sagebrush. We're in the middle of it out here."

Boys State Officers Picked

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gray Miller of Houston won election as governor of Texas Boys State by a single vote early today. Young Miller, candidate of the Longhorn Party, defeated Steve Sanford of Booth, the Pioneer Party nominee, 371 to 370. Balloting on officers of the annual Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion to teach how government works, did not begin until after 11 p.m. Wednesday. It was 1:30 a.m. before the votes could be counted and results made known. Steve Mims of Dallas was elected lieutenant governor, polling 375 votes to 366 for Jim Wright of Texarkana. Rashad Dabaghi of Huntsville defeated James Beane of Marshall 424 to 313 for attorney general. New officers were to take their oaths of office and assume Boys State duties today.

ON HUMANS WITHOUT THEIR CONSENT

Unethical Experiments Charged

BOSTON (AP) — A Harvard Medical School professor says unethical experiments are being performed on humans without their consent...

submitted were not included for reasons of space. "It is evident that in many of the examples presented, the investigators have risked the health or life of their subjects," Dr. Beecher wrote.

originally compiled for the study, Dr. Beecher, said, was the consent of the patient mentioned.

DR. HENRY K. BEECHER

Dr. Henry K. Beecher, director of Harvard's anesthesia laboratory at Massachusetts General Hospital and chairman of a faculty committee studying ethics in human experiments...

His examples, he said, are from leading medical schools, university hospitals, private hospitals, governmental military departments (Army, Navy, Air Force), governmental institutes, Veterans Administration hospitals and industry.

Even then, he said, "statements regarding consent are meaningless unless one knows how fully the patient was informed of all risks and if these are not known, the fact made clear."

Dr. Beecher said he wished to affirm that "American medicine is sound and most progress in it soundly attained," but cautioned:

"I believe the type of activities mentioned will do great harm to medicine unless soon corrected."

Journal editors who reviewed the article in the latest issue certified the 22 examples given as accurate and correctly described. They said 28 others he

Three Killed In Car Crash

HEARNE, Tex. (AP) — A flaming crash of two automobiles killed three persons and critically injured a fourth about 3 1/2 miles south of Hearne Wednesday night.

Killed when a sports car crashed into the rear of a station wagon were Gail Irene Clepper, 18, driver of the station wagon, and her sister, Janice Marie Clepper, 12, both of Bryan, and Doug Baxter, 36, driver of the sports car.

Jimmy Paul Ernest, 21, of Jasper, Ala., was taken to a Hearne hospital in critical condition. He was a passenger in the sports car, police who investigated the accident on US 190-Texas 6 said.

The Clepper sisters were the daughters of C. A. Clepper of Bryan. Baxter was service manager of a Rockdale automobile agency.

Tire Stolen

Bob Smith, manager of the filling station at State 350 and IS 20, told police Wednesday that an 8.25 x 14 tire was stolen from a rack in front of the station between noon and 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Deadline Is Friday For Children's Theatre Class

Friday is the deadline for youngsters to sign up for the Children's Theatre School-workshop, which will be held on Saturday mornings, beginning Saturday and continuing through July 30, excepting the July 4 weekend.

Classes will be held from 9-12 o'clock in the YMCA, and the fee is $5. Eligible youngsters are those in the fifth through eighth grades. Only 30 can be accepted.

Parents interested in enrolling their children in the program may bring them to the first session Saturday morning. Instructors are Jack Meeker and Mrs. Norman Spencer.

The summer classes will emphasize basic acting technique, production techniques, and the history of the theatre. Although the course is geared to teaching young people something about theatre work so they may more easily fill parts in upcoming children's plays, it is open to all youngsters who might want to gain some experience in public speaking.

Directors pointed out each week's meeting is independent, and it is not necessary that participants attend every session in order to profit from the course.

Members of Big Spring Little Theatre's planning committee met with workers in the Midland Community Theatre before launching the program here. The Midland organization has an outstanding youth theatre.

Committee members are Mrs. Jack Burnett, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Conny Wade, and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith.

HCJC Board Sets Tentative Budget, Opens Lab Proposal

Subject to approval of the NDEA, contract for laboratory furnishings in the new science building at Howard County Junior College has been let to Taylor Manufacturing Company of Taylor.

The Taylor bid was for a net of $63,902, which compared with a net of $68,710 for Kewaunee Technical Furniture Co. and a net of $73,366 for American Desk Manufacturing Co.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, explained that if administrators of the National Defense Education Act approve the bid, NDEA will share in half of the cost. This will mean a cost of $31,851 to HCJC.

Trustees also gave tentative approval to a budget for purposes of public hearing on Aug. 18. The fiscal guide calls for a "hard" budget of $770,618, compared with $719,179 budgeted for this year and $752,776 estimated as the actual expenditures for the year. Thus, the budget shows a 7.19 per cent increase over the 1965-66 budget but only 2.37 over what actually will be expended.

To the hard budget, which involves tax funds, will be added $187,085 under the proposed budget for the student housing system which is financed solely out of revenues. This compares with $159,948 budgeted for the current year and $180,819 estimated as actual expenditures. The percentage increase is 44.5 over the budget for last year, due principally to far greater occupancy of the dormitories (which generate corresponding revenues).

If bond fund expenditures (for new buildings) are figured in, the total expenditure for the new fiscal year will be $1,563,168 as compared with $1,815,559 this fiscal year. This is because the amount allotted to completing the building project is $605,465 as compared with $882,004 set aside a year ago.

The proposed budget has $681,450 set up for the general fund (current operations) budget, an increase of $51,149 or 8.17 per cent over the $626,470 budgeted a year ago, and $26,981 or 4.12 per cent more than the $654,469 estimated as actual expenditures this year.

Debt service requirements of $89,169 in the proposed budget are $3,541 less than the $92,709 budgeted for the current year, or down 3.82 per cent. It is $9,139 less than the estimated actual expenditures, or down ments and after a brisk fight drove off the Viet Cong. The reinforcements were pinned down by machinegun and sniper fire when they landed 100 yards from the base of the hill. An air strike was called on the machinegun position, but it failed to silence the enemy fire.

A squad of Marines swept around the machinegunners' right flank, and the Viet Cong fled.

Another hero of the fighting was Navy medical corpsman Billy Holmes of Madison, Tenn. Holmes spotted a wounded Marine being dragged away by a Viet Cong soldier, attacked the Viet Cong and pulled the wounded Marine to safety.

Marine Gets Fourth Medal

CHU LAI, Viet Nam (AP)—A Marine sergeant who was wounded three times in the Korean War got his fourth Purple Heart today on a rocky hilltop in Viet Nam.

"It was the longest night of my life," said S. Sgt. Jimmie Howard, 38, of San Diego, Calif. Howard suffered a back wound while leading 17 other Marines in a last-man stand. They fought heroically against an attacking force of 250 Viet Cong in the early morning darkness.

Howard's small band of Leathernecks held out for five hours until Marine reinforcements arrived in helicopters and drove off the attackers. From a hospital bed in Chu Lai where he was in satisfactory condition, Howard told how his small force nearly ran out of ammunition and resorted to knives, bayonets and rocks, to beat back the enemy.

"We wanted them to think we still had grenades," Howard said, "when the reinforcements got to us, we had just eight rounds of ammunition left."

By that time, Howard said, he had only seven men left who were able to pull a trigger and five of these were among the wounded.

U.S. military headquarters said that all but two of Howard's reconnaissance team were casualties. Howard said the Viet Cong attacked just before 1 a.m.

"They lobbed 60-millimeter mortar at us and then opened up with machinegun and small arms fire," he said. "From then on it was Katie-bar-the-door."

"We played gopher when they charged up the deck (ground). They had us surrounded and were coming up the hill."

Howard radioed for air support. Marine jets hit the Viet Cong positions with napalm, and helicopters strafed them with rockets and machinegun fire.

About 6 a.m., helicopters brought in Marine reinforcements.

Even Defeated Candidates Get Some Welcome News

Candidates in the two Democratic primaries received good news Thursday, even if they lost.

C. V. Riordan, chairman of the Howard County Democratic executive committee, said that refunds of $1,292.16 were made to candidates. This ranged from $64 to as much as $167. Candidates whose fees are fixed by state statute did not share in the refund because they did not share proportionately in the initial assessments.

Riordan said that gross receipts (from candidate assessments) stood at $4,037.00, whereas the cost of holding two primaries was $2,744.84. This accounted for the balance of $1,292.16 for distribution, which was accomplished in the ratio of the candidates original assessment to the total assessment.

All bills for the primaries have been paid, said Riordan. He had hoped to have $1,500 to refund, but some election judges misunderstood and had full crews on hand to count the comparative handful of votes for the lightly-contested runoff primary. Nevertheless, Riordan expressed gratitude to all who helped hold the primaries as economical as possible.

Services Set For Drowning Victim

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Funeral services for Donnie Ray Chatum, 17, son of Roy Lee Chatum of Oregon and Mrs. Pearly May Chatum, Colorado City, will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the Wallace School, at Colorado City. Burial will be in the Mitchell County Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

The Negro youth, who would have been a senior in Colorado High School next fall, drowned while attempting to swim a stock tank near Westbrook.

In addition to his father and mother, he is survived by his grandmother, Mrs. Ruby Thompson, Colorado City, three brothers, Kirvin, Irvin and Harris Chatum; and three sisters, Ruby, Mary and Emma Chatum.

Chief, Sheriff Can't Get Along

KAUFMAN, Tex. (AP) — City prisoners will be taken to the neighboring town of Terrell, at least temporarily, after what Kaufman Mayor A. R. Mora called a "clash of personalities" between the sheriff and city police chief.

Traditionally, Kaufman has used the Kaufman County jail for city prisoners.

Last Saturday the doors were shut when H. L. Evans was sworn in as police chief. The sheriff, Roy Brockway, unseated Evans two years ago after Evans had served as sheriff for eight years. Evans had served as police chief in 1945 and 1954.

From 10 to 20 city prisoners had been lodged in the county jail each month. The city of Terrell has volunteered its jail

Not Bad, Kid

California Angels' rookie pitcher 23-year-old Clyde Wright (left) gets some kidding from 28-year-old veteran Joe Adcock as they talk after Angels took a doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins in the Twin Cities Wednesday night. Wright made his first major league appearance and went the distance in an 8-1 victory over the Twins in the first game. In the second, Adcock blasted a three-run homer in the eighth to break a tie and give the Angels a 6-3 win, dropping the Twins to fifth place in the standings and putting the Angels in fourth. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Bauer's Bull Pen Keeps O's On Top

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer probably can't wait to yank his next starting pitcher.

The Orioles' elite bullpen corps has stretched its week-long perfect game to 12 2-3 innings and the way things are going, Bauer can point to just about any of his relief pitchers and get a hitless job.

Moe Drabowsky tacked on the latest 3-1-3 inning stint Wednesday night when he saved Wally Bunker's sixth victory as the American League-leading Orioles downed Washington 6-4.

Before Drabowsky, rookies Eddie Watt and Gene Brabender and veteran Stu Miller had pieced together 9 1-3 perfect innings over five games. Bauer has to stop and think to remember the last time he didn't get an airtight relief job.

"I've got a heckuva bullpen," Bauer smiles. "I can pull any one of them and get a good job done."

Still swatting his chance to add to the perfect string is the newest member of the bullpen corps who joined the Orioles Sunday.

That would be Eddie Fisher, who was only the top reliever in the majors last year. He hasn't been able to crack the bullpen rotation yet but if he's patient, Bauer may find a spot for him.

The Orioles' victory kept their lead at one game over Cleveland which unleashed Yankee-killer Fred Whitfield and beat New York 8-5. Elsewhere, Detroit battered Boston 11-7 as Al Kaline got his 2,000th career hit, California swept a doubleheader from Minnesota 8-1 and 6-3 and Kansas City edged Chicago 5-4 with the second game of the doubleheader postponed by rain.

Whitfield hit his fourth homer in eight games against the Yankees this year as the Indians kept pace with the front-running Orioles by beating New York.

The two-run shot capped a three-run Cleveland sixth that broke a 2-2 tie. It was his 19th homer against the Yankees since coming into the American League in 1963.

Kalime collected three hits including a two-run homer that climaxed a four-run Detroit ninth inning rally against the Red Sox. Norm Cash had broken a 7-7 tie with a two-run double before Kalime connected.

Low Krauss made his first start of the season and limited Chicago to five hits over seven innings as the Athletics handed the White Sox their eighth loss in the last nine games. Bert Campaneris' two-run single in the sixth delivered the deciding runs.

Rookie Clyde Wright pitched a four-hitter in his major league debut and drove in a run with a single as California ripped Minnesota in the first game of their doubleheader.

The Angels completed the sweep with Joe Adcock's pinch hit three-run homer in the eighth inning earning the victory for veteran Lou Burdette.

Midlander Wins

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Seventh-seeded Tom Fucci of Sacramento State was upset 6-2, 6-2 by Bob Bruce of Midland, Tex., in the 18 and under division of the Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Tournament Wednesday. All other seeded players advanced into today's quarter finals.

Up To Dozen Records Could Fall In Meet

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — A record-breaking spree in the 45th NCAA Track and Field Championships was expected to be launched today by a 128-pound distance running machine, Gerry Lindgren of Washington State.

Lindgren, a 5-foot-4 sophomore, was tabbed to shatter the meet record in the six-mile run, only final in the opening of the three-day test at Indiana University for some 500 of the nation's best collegiate track men.

Before the 20-event meet closes Saturday afternoon, perhaps up to a dozen NCAA records may have tumbled and UCLA probably will have dethroned team co-champions Southern California and Oregon.

Most of today's program was devoted to preliminaries, featuring world shot put champion Randy Matson of Texas A&M and sensational Tommie Smith of San Jose State.

But the closing event, at about 7:30 p.m. EST, was the day's only payoff race — the six-mile final in which Lindgren was expected to break the NCAA mark of 27 minutes, 59.2 seconds set last year by Montana's Doug Brown.

Lindgren, as a freshman, equalled olympian Billy Mills' world six-mile mark of 27:11.6.

A last-minute decision by meet officials to eliminate trials for the three-mile run today accentuated a possibility of an exceptional six-mile performance by Lindgren, who also is

Oilers To Play 2 Foes Sunday

Licking their wounds after having suffered seven straight defeats, the Big Spring Gage Oilers will be the hosts in a baseball doubleheader at Steer Park Sunday. Diamond buffs can gain admission to the stadium for both games at the bargain price of 50 cents each. The Oilers, who now have a 9-8 record, will entertain the strong San Angelo Angels in the 1 p.m. opener and square off with Texas Tech in the 3:30 p.m. afterpiece.

Chances are Danny Valdes, who beat the Angels earlier this season, 7-2, will mount the knoll for the Oilers in the first game. Chubby Moser could get the call against Texas Tech.

In two recent games against Tech, the Oilers were defeated, 3-2 and 5-4. Dave Calderman likely will pitch for Tech while San Angelo's mound choice could be Charles Spieker.

Manager Jim (Boom-Boom) Baum of the Oilers says he expects to field his regular lineup against the Sunday opponents. The Oilers have been hard-pressed to field nine players in its road games in recent weeks.

the mile relays, and five of the meet's eight field events.

Matson, who owns the world shot put record of 70-7 1/4, figures to erase the NCAA mark of 64-7 by Dallas Long in 1962 and dethrone Oregon's Neal Steinhauer, winner last year with 62-4. The shot put finals are Friday.

In the preliminaries of the 100 and 220 dashes today, a flying field could tumble or match NCAA records in seeking to dethrone 100 champion Charlie Greene of Nebraska and 220 titlist Earle Horner of Villanova.

Smith, also a contender in the broad jump, is rated in a class by himself in the 220. Smith also is the best 440 man in this meet, but he is skipping that to anchor San Jose State's 440 relay team.

UCLA's favoritism for the team crown hubs around powerful 440 and mile relay entries and pole vaulter Marc Savage, who has cleared 16-9.

Wetsel Team In 3-Way Tie

J. B. Wetsel, golf pro at the Muny course in Big Spring, combined with Harold Beavers of Lubbock to tie for first place in the pro-pro low-ball partnership event here Thursday. The two piced together a 69.

The 18-holes of play preceded the Men's West Texas Amateur Golf tournament, which gets underway here today and continues through Sunday.

Two other teams deadlocked for first place in the pro-pro play. One was composed of Butch Mitchell of Lubbock and Bob Hickson of Dumas, the other of Don McDaniel, Abertamy; and Denny Adams, McCarney; Robb Smith, Big Spring, is among the entries in the West Texas.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Baylor has always had trouble filling its football stadium, even for its games against headline intersectional foes.

For that reason, there's a drive afoot now in Waco to promote the Baylor-Syracuse Sept. 19 contest, because it will be an national television.

The Odessa-Midland pro football team, which will operate in a circuit that has Tulsa, Sherman-Denison, Pasadena, Barkburnett and Dallas as other members, has been granted permission to use the W. T. Barrett Stadium in Odessa.

Byron (Santone) Townsend, the former Odessa football great, is fronting for the group that plans to field a team over there.

They say that Pete Gogolak, who led the Buffalo Bills in scoring two years running, made only $9,800 with the AFL team last season. Little wonder he jumped to the NFL.

UCLA, which upset Michigan State in the past Rose Bowl game after a lacklustre season, is being picked to win the AAUW football championship by at least one man close to the scene.

Championing the cause of the Uclans is Ray Willsey, the University of California coach, who says:

"You have to go with the team that finished on top last time."

In the North half of the far-flung circuit, Oregon State is rating the most support.

It takes 75 gallons of paint to brighten that inside border around Indianapolis Speedway, which runs 2 1/2 miles but is only six inches wide.

In analyzing next fall's 2-AAAA football race, no coach in the conference rated San Angelo or Permian below second place or put Midland Lee higher than fifth.

Although Billy Foster was absolved of any responsibility for the multiple crashes that occurred in the last Indianapolis race, outspoken A. J. Foyt of Houston says Foster is the man to blame for the mishaps.

"Foster was the first to hit the wall and the first to break out of line," says Foyt. "To me, he pulled a very childish stunt. I expected something like that to happen. I told my crew if we got through the first lap we would be all right. Maybe I was a little cocky about the race, but I really thought I would win."

Foyt says he wants to win the 500 four times, explaining: "I want to be the Babe Ruth of racing."

When Jack Lee and Jerry Sanders fashioned that ten-under-par 61 in the first round of the Big Spring Open last week, they were only one under after the first nine holes.

Lee and Sanders were playing in the True Amateur division of the tournament.

Steve Myra, who kicked the Baltimore Colts to the NFL title in 1956, now sells insurance in Fargo, N.D.

Tom Fucci of Sacramento State was upset 6-2, 6-2 by Bob Bruce of Midland, Tex., in the 18 and under division of the Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Tournament Wednesday.

All other seeded players advanced into today's quarter finals.

Trojans Still Have Good Shot At Baseball Crown

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Don't count out Southern California's four-time champions in this 29th NCAA baseball tournament. Rod Dedeaux, USC's canny 51-year-old coach, has his ace pitcher, 15-game winner John Stewart, rested and ready to halt unbeaten Ohio State in tonight's big fourth-round game. Ohio State's Big Ten champions were nearly tripped by unheralded St. John's of New York Wednesday night, but pulled out an 8-7 victory with two runs in the ninth on a squeeze bunt and error with the bases loaded. TOMMY WILKERSON
Muney Player Fires Ace

Tommy Wilkerson's golf game Wednesday at the Muney course ranged from the enviable to the linkster's nightmare. Playing in a group that had as other members Paul Mosley, Bernard Rains, Dr. Jack Tyson and Adam Ramos, young Tommy scored an ace, an eagle, a birdie and two bogies on a stretch of nine holes. Tommy fired his ace on the 144-yard sixth hole after bagging an eagle on one and a birdie on two. For the round, he was three strokes under regulation figures.

Associated Press Sports Writer
It was in the cards for Bob Gibson to post his 100th victory. But can the St. Louis ace become the National League's new strikeout king?

A 30-year-old right-hander apparently reaching his peak, Gibson stepped up to the 100-victory plateau Wednesday night when he pitched a three-hitter in the Cardinals' 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

It was only natural that Gibson, one of the league's top pitchers, eventually post victory No. 100, and it may be just as natural for the fireballer to take a shot at dethroning Sandy Koufax as the NL's No. 1 strikeout artist.

A right-hander has been unable to lead the National League in strikeouts since 1962, but Gibson has inched his victory total, his number of innings pitched and his strikeouts upward each of the last three years.

Last season he hit the 20-victory mark, worked 299 innings and struck out 270. And right now he's running ahead of both his own strikeout pace — and Koufax.

By striking out eight Pirates, Gibson ran his total for the season to 128 in 126 innings, or just over one an inning. That's by far his best ratio ever. Koufax, meanwhile, is running second with 117 strikeouts in 117 1-3 innings, his usual one-an-inning clip.

While Gibson remained ahead of Koufax, Willie Mays closed in on Ted Williams, moving to within one homer of third place on the all-time home run list by hitting No. 529 of his career in San Francisco's 4-0 victory over Houston.

Elsewhere, the Dodgers stayed two games back of the front-running Giants with a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, the New York Mets edged Atlanta 5-4 and Cincinnati swept Philadelphia 7-6 and 9-6.

Gibson, bringing his record to 9-6, allowed only two men to reach second base in outdueling Bob Veale. Veale, who allowed only five hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth, surrendered the game's only run in the first inning on singles by Julian Javier and Phil Gagliano and a grounder by Curt Flood.

The Giants collected all their runs on homers with Tom Haller connecting in the fifth inning and Mays and McCovey hitting consecutive shots in the eighth. Mays' was his 15th of the season. Joe Gibson pitched into the ninth but needed Frank Linzy's one-out relief help to finish a four-hit shutout.

After a record heat wave, the normal San Francisco fog crept back to town Wednesday and could bring changed course conditions every day of this 72-hole event as the moisture seeps back into the earth.

"Now this will play like a San Francisco course," Nicklaus said. "If you want conditions like a Scottish course, you should go play in Scotland."

With the hot weather early in the week, the five-inch rough didn't seem so tough to many, but Nicklaus warned, "It will come back when it gets wet. Just see what happens to it."

Many, including host pro Kyle Burton, say a long ball hitter will be at a disadvantage and must play defensive golf over this tight layout of 6,727 yards with par 35-35-70.

"Hogwash," answered Nicklaus. "If you hit long and straight you have an advantage. If you don't hit straight, you have problems."

Bad news to the others was his statement, "I'm driving better than any time since Oakland."

That was the course near Pittsburgh where big Jack beat Palmer for the Open title in 1962. Nicklaus admitted he hasn't been putting too well.

Sentimental favorite Ben Hogan, seeking his fifth National Open title at 53, returns to the scene where he lost his bid for No. 5 in a playoff to virtually unknown Jack Fleck in 1955.

Hogan says he isn't playing too well. Fleck says virtually nothing.

Cabots Edge Jets, 3 To 2

The Jets lost sole possession of first place in American Little League standings here Wednesday night when they lost a pulsating 3-2 decision to the Cabots.

The Jets and Cabots are now deadlocked for first place in the standings along with the Pirates, each with a 9-6 record.

David Carter scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth with a home run. David McElrath counted with a jet run in the sixth but it was not enough.

Carter, the winning pitcher, also had a double in the first round and counted a run. Randall Brock had two of the Jets' four hits, both of them

Jay, Schwall Go To Braves

The Atlanta Braves, major disappointments in the National League pennant race, obtained pitchers Joey Jay and Don Schwall in separate transactions shortly before Wednesday night's major league baseball trading deadline.

The Braves acquired Jay from Cincinnati in exchange for Hank Fischer, another right-hander, and then picked up Schwall, also a right-hander, from Pittsburgh for southpaw Billy O'Dell.

Segura, Buckholz Win Tennis Tests

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pancho Segura of Ecuador and No. 4 seed Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis won singles matches Wednesday in the $17,000 U.S. Professional Hardcourt Tennis Championships.

Segura defeated Dick Horwitz of St. Louis 6-1, 6-3 and Buchholz downed Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, 8-6, 6-3.

Gonzales Leads Braves To Win

Mike Gonzales clubbed three home runs to lead the Kent Oil Braves to a 30-5 Texas Little League victory over the Tigers here Tuesday night.

The output of round-trippers upped Gonzales' season output to six. Pascal Porras had six hits in as many times at bat for the Braves.

The Braves are now in third place in the standings with an 8-6 record.

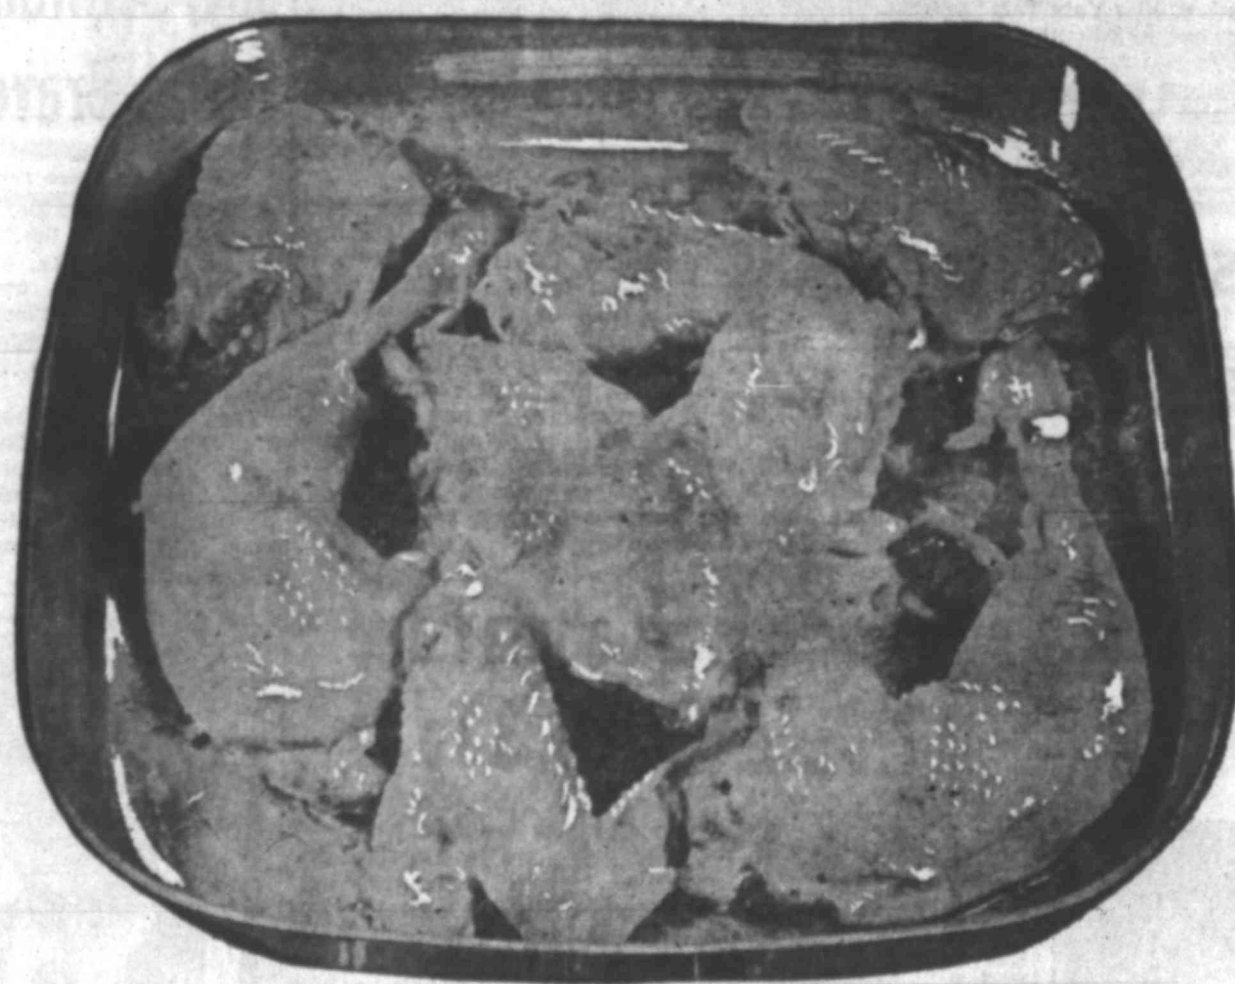

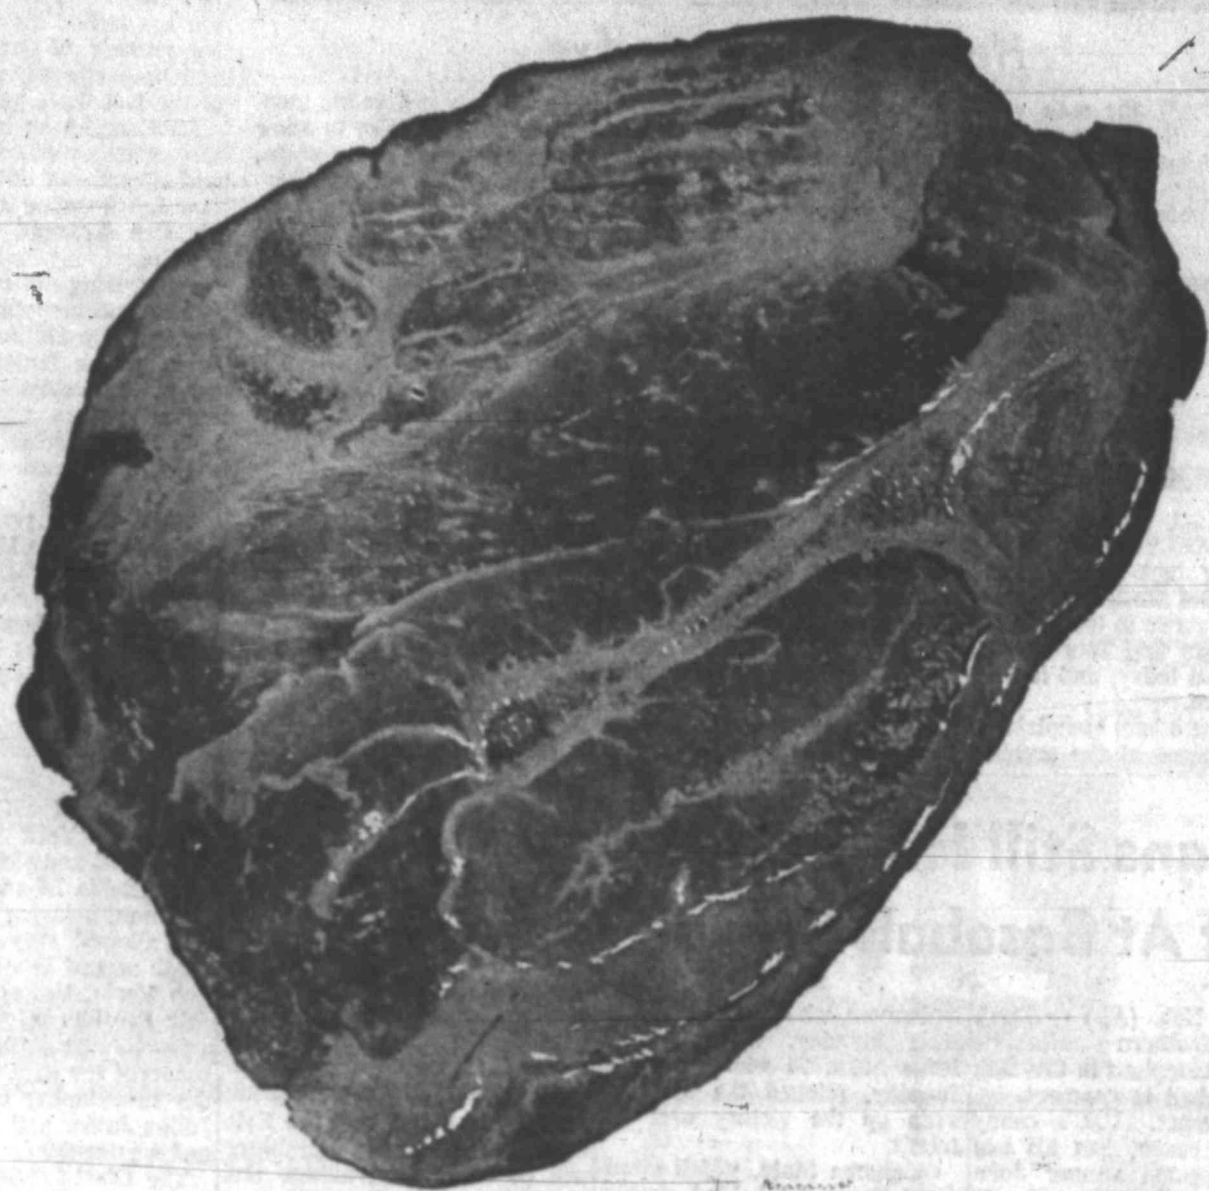

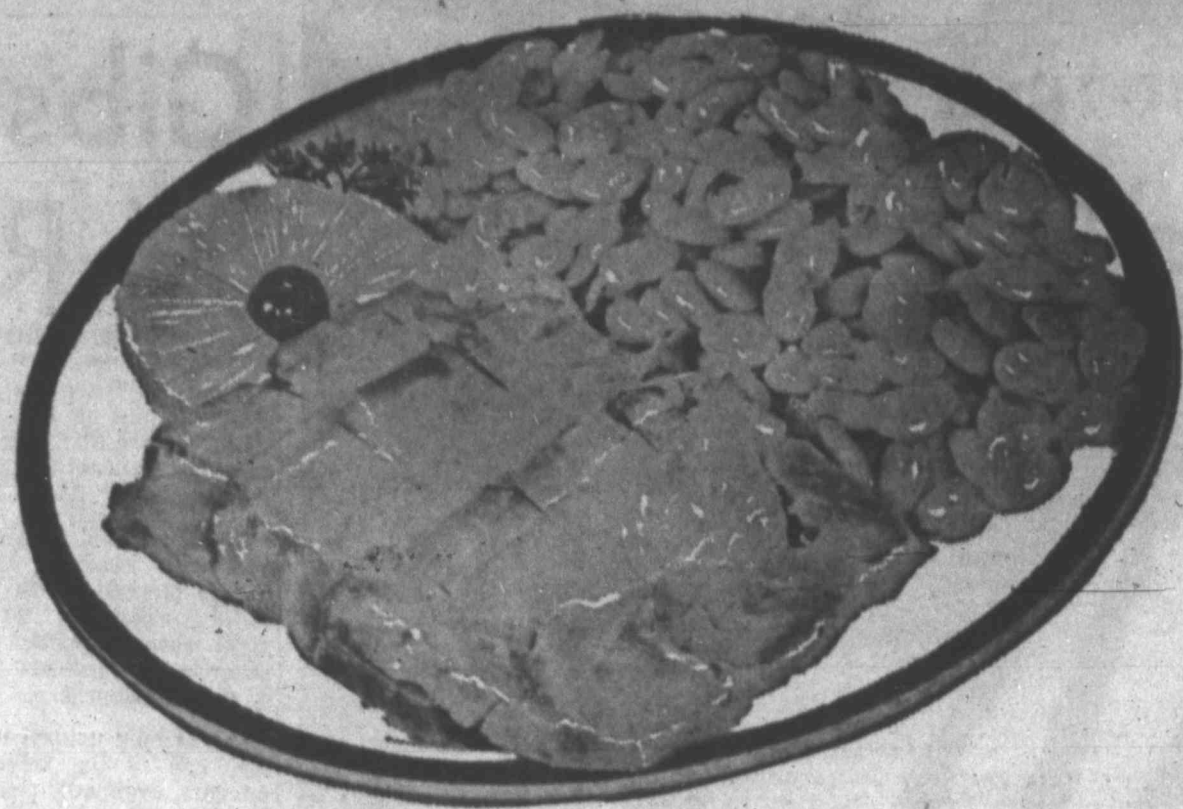

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pancho Segura of Ecuador and No. 4 seed Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis won singles matches Wednesday in the $17,000 U.S. Professional Hardcourt Tennis Championships.

Segura defeated Dick Horwitz of St. Louis 6-1, 6-3 and Buchholz downed Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, 8-6, 6-3.

Controls May Reduce Big Surplus Of World Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Cotton Advisory Committee said today a modest beginning is being made this season toward reducing the world's big cotton surplus largely because of U.S. production controls.

It is possible, the committee said, that consumption during the 1966-67 season will reverse itself and exceed production.

World stocks have reached a record of more than 80 million bales. Consumption from this supply during the current 1965-66 season is expected to total about 51 million bales.

The committee is an inter-governmental organization of 40 cotton producing and consuming countries. It is assigned the task of keeping member countries advised of cotton developments throughout the world.

"With the prospect of sharply reduced 1966 crop plantings in the United States and in certain other countries, and a continuing upturn in consumption, there is every indication that world consumption will exceed production next season, and that a modest beginning can be made toward reducing the world's cotton surplus," a committee report said.

The U.S. government has launched a program which calls for cutbacks of about a third in the country's cotton acreage.

The world cotton reserve and surplus is expected by the committee to be close to 30 million bales by Aug. 1, the highest since 1945. The bulk of these stocks will be held by the United States, where they are expected to reach 16.5 million bales.

The committee also predicted an increase in world trade in cotton during the coming season. It based this forecast on the fact that stocks in many consuming countries have been greatly reduced in anticipation of lower prices. The U.S. price will be reduced under the new program which increases payments to growers to offset price reductions.

The report said lower prices should encourage increased use of cotton by textile manufacturers in this country as well as in some foreign countries.

Extracting Blood For Viet Nam, Then Executing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exiles claim the Fidel Castro regime is executing political prisoners en masse, bleeding them first, and sending their blood to Communist Viet Nam.

There were 166 executions last May 27 at La Cabana fortress prison in Havana, Dr. Miguel Angel Oiba Benito, secretary-general of the Commission for Humane Treatment for Political Prisoners in Cuba, told an exile meeting Wednesday night.

Before shooting the prisoners, an average of seven pints of blood was extracted from each, said Dr. Oiba Benito, formerly a prominent Cuban lawyer.

He addressed the Cuban Lions Club in Exile at a special meeting in memory of three members of the club executed two years ago in Cuba.

By inference, he was presumed to have at least six clubs since he had named that suit first.

South's cue bid of four spades was a further probing effort; however, when his partner merely retreated to five clubs, he decided to settle for a small slam and proceeded to six diamonds.

West opened the ace of clubs to look at the dummy. When the North hand was spread, West concluded that his only hope was to find his partner with the ace of hearts and he shifted to that suit. South was in and he promptly ruffed a small spade with the jack of diamonds, and discarded the other spade on the king of hearts. When the queen of diamonds dropped, under the ace-king, declarer claimed his slam and a 920 point profit.

The interesting feature of the deal was that West could have defeated the contract by two tricks, provided that he shifts to a trump at trick two. East covers North's jack of diamonds with the queen and South is forever after disconnected from the dummy. He must, in the end, surrender two spade tricks.

It was perhaps naive of West not to presume that South would check for controls by using Blackwood if he was missing two aces. West's lapse was magnified by the fact that his teammates had a misunderstanding at the other table when they held the North-South cards. They reached a contract of seven clubs which West promptly doubled. A one trick set was registered and the total profit on the deal for the United States was swelled to 1,020 points.

MRS. W. U. O'NEAL

Fruit Cake Begins Treasury Of Recipes

By JO ANN PHINIZY

"It was back when we were first married that I started my recipe collection," said Mrs. W. U. O'Neal, 1901 Runnels. "We rented an apartment from the late Mrs. B. F. Willis. That Christmas, I was at a loss for a fruit cake recipe, and Mrs. Willis told me about one of hers."

That recipe is still the foundation of the O'Neal holiday cooking and was the start of a library of cookbooks and a repository of about 500 active recipes. "Some would call me an avid recipe collector or addicted to food fascination," Mrs. O'Neal explained. "But the truth is, I enjoy cooking and recipes are the key to new foods and ways."

Mrs. O'Neal, who is a secretary for Bond Operating Company, says that cakes usually hold the center of her attention. She cooks them plain or fancy and the main secret is to start from scratch.

CAKE COOKING
She says, "I don't know about the pre-mixed cake batters; but it seems that they would take away half the fun of cooking, and, even then, you couldn't be too sure about the flavor."

There is a demand on Mrs. O'Neal's cake-cooking ability. She is on the refreshment standby list of the Altirusa Club, Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter No. 67, the state hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital.

In speaking of her collection of cookbooks, Mrs. O'Neal says that her procedure is to find a recipe that looks good and try it out on her family first. O'Neal, co-owner of the Cactus Barber Shop, is currently sole judge of new recipes. Usually the trial and error show takes place at the evening meal.

PLAIN CAKES
Mrs. O'Neal refers to her husband as the ideal "taster" but she can't seem to steer him too far away from plain cakes.

Other favorite eaters are the O'Neal's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Elam, of Seminole—and her grandchildren.

"They usually visit about once a month," Mrs. O'Neal said. "I try to have a little of everything they like ready, but I also try to get it cooked and in the freezer beforehand. That way, I have a chance to do a little visiting and avoid kitchen confusion."

Mrs. O'Neal says that every home needs an automatic electric oven.

"You can put your meat in at noon, set the timer, and have it ready for serving at any hour you want," she said.

In selecting her recipes, Mrs. O'Neal just naturally included some of her favorite cake formulas. She said that for a special occasion, or maybe just because you want to, the Cornish Game Hen is sure to please.

CORNISH GAME HENS
2 Cornish game hens
3/4 cup soy sauce
1-3 cup sugar
2 tbsps. corn oil
2 tbsps. sherry
1 clove garlic, crushed

Put hens in a deep bowl. Combine other ingredients and mix well. Pour over birds, cover and let stand 24 hours.

Wrap in foil and bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours. Remove foil and brush with melted butter. Increase oven heat to 400 degrees and return birds to oven about 15 minutes to brown.

CREOLE RICE
1 cup long grain rice
1 small onion, chopped fine
1/2 green pepper, chopped fine
1/2 tsp. salt
1 small can tomato sauce
1 cup water

Mix all ingredients and put in buttered one quart casserole. Dot with butter; cover and bake 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees.

GERMAN BUNDT CAKE
2 sticks corn oil margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup powdered sugar
3 cups cake flour
1 tsp. vanilla
Pinch salt
4 egg whites
4 egg yolks
2 tps. baking powder
1 cup milk
1 tsp. almond flavoring

Keep ingredients at room temperature. Cream margarine, sift the two sugars together and gradually to margarine; beat until smooth and creamy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, and beat well. Mix in extracts. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and sift three times.

Starting with flour and ending with flour, add alternately with milk to batter, reducing speed on mixer to medium. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Turn into well-oiled Bundt cake pan and bake for one hour at 350 degrees. Let set in pan 15 minutes before removing (this may be baked in a 10-inch tube pan.)

WALDORF RED VELVET CAKE
1 stick corn oil margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 (2 ozs.) bottle red food coloring
2 tps. cocoa
2 1/4 cups cake flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. soda
1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. vinegar

Cream margarine and sugar, add eggs, beat well. Make a paste of food coloring and cocoa; add to batter. Sift salt with flour, and add alternately with buttermilk to batter. Add soda to vinegar, and quickly mix into batter. Stir only enough to mix. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees in two deep 8 inch well-greased and floured pans. When cool split to make four layers.

Red Salmon Makes New Cream Dip

The salmon dates back to pre-historic times.

This popular fish has provided tasty food for the human race down through the ages. Its modern-day convenience of coming to the home in easy-to-store, easy-to-use cans makes it even more appealing to the busy homemaker.

Salmon provides one of the quickest meals you can prepare. Just open the can and use the salmon as is. Home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest that you use the whole salmon—including liquid, bones and skin. They're good sources of iodine and phosphorus, vitamin A, vitamin D and B vitamins.

When serving salmon as it comes from the can, you may want to add salt and pepper, some minced onion and mayonnaise to give it extra zest. Or a good sprinkling of pepper sauce may suit your taste.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service is reporting plentiful supplies of canned red salmon now. You'll find this high-quality salmon a beautiful and tasty addition to salads and other dishes. Prices are attractive, too.

For your next party, try this Salmon Sour Cream Dip. You'll need 1 pound of canned red salmon, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 drops of tabasco, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 cup sour cream, 1 tablespoon drained red caviar and assorted crackers.

Drain and mash the salmon. Blend in salt, tabasco and onion. Fold in sour cream, chill, then garnish with caviar. Serve with crackers. Makes about 1 pint of dip.

Old Treat Will Please Father

Sunday is Father's Day—the day we pay tribute to fathers all across the nation. It's that special day set aside each year when father reigns supreme, and what could be more appropriate than to serve his favorite dessert—strawberry shortcake.

It is an elegant dessert which is easy to make when you use frozen puffy pastry patty shells. Prepared according to package directions early in the day, they are all ready to be filled with mounds of whipped cream and fresh strawberries.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
1 pkg. frozen patty shells
1 qt. fresh strawberries
3/4 cup confectioners sugar
1 cup heavy cream
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Prepare patty shells according to package directions. Gently wash berries in cold water. Drain; hull. Reserve 6 large berries. Slice remaining berries into medium bowl. Add sugar; stir in vanilla.

At serving time, whip cream. Spoon sweetened berries in patty shells, top with whipped cream and garnish with whole berries.

June Is Month For Dairy Land

June has been celebrated as dairy month for the past 30 years. In the beginning, June, a peak promotion month for milk, was selected as a fitting time for a nationwide salute to the dairy industry.

Today, scientific progress has made every month dairy month. June now serves as a timely reminder to the housewife to serve nutritious dairy foods to her family all year long.

Since 1937, June Dairy Month has grown into one of the world's largest single dairy foods sales and information campaigns. Again in 1966, the story of milk and dairy foods will be presented to the public by all parts of the dairy industry.

Leaders in agriculture, business, education and government, and scores of enterprises tied to the multi-billion-dollar dairy industry, are uniting in this annual observance of June Dairy Month.

June marks the dairy industry's biggest annual effort to tell its story and to encourage use of its products.

Sweetbreads Go With Cooked Ham

When you want to use ham "and something else," try sweetbreads. This delicately flavored, white or cream-colored variety meat is perfect with ham either broiled, daycreamed, or in a salad. Sweetbreads which are very fragile need to be precooked in water to firm them for easier handling. Since they're also highly perishable, it is best to precook them after purchasing if they are to be served the following day.

CELEBRITY RECIPES Luxembourg Duchess Tells Exotic Oyster, Endive Dish

Grand duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg would probably admit that the simplest way to prepare this royal food is to marry a prince and have the palace chef do the work, though this may not be practical any more — there are so few royal houses left.

Be of good heart; it's not all that complicated, and any talented commoner can turn the trick providing he has a princely income and can afford the ingredients. (Real foie gras costs from 20 dollars up per pound in America and truffles retail at about the same price as gold.)

"Three Star" veal sweetbreads should be part of a regal dinner which includes such things as oysters on the half shell, baby glazed carrots, braised endive, fine wine—champagne or a true Tavel—cheese, fruits and cognac. Slightly Americanized, here is how the chef of the grand-ducal palace of Luxembourg designs Her Royal Highness the Grand Duchess Charlotte's favorite:

GRAND DUCHESS CHARLOTTE'S RIS DE VEAU "TROIS ETOILES"
Prepare three fine sweetbreads by soaking them in cold water until they become white, then blanching in cold salted water and bringing slowly to a boil. As soon as the boiling begins, take them out and cool them and remove all membranes. Cut the sweetbreads into 12 medallions about 3/4-inch thick, salt and pepper them and lightly dust with flour, shaking off any excess.

Cook them quickly in a little hot oil, about three minutes total time. Remove from the pan, drain and keep warm, covered by a little butter to prevent their drying out.

Cook in butter a little less than half a cup of finely chopped ham and one finely chopped shallot or green onion. Add a glass of dry white wine, or champagne, and a cup of cream, then reduce over moderate heat by about half. That's the sauce, which is to be kept hot but not boiling.

Put 12 hearts of artichokes cooked in butter on a serving platter, top each with a slice of warm pate de foie gras, a medallion of sweetbread and, finally, a slice of truffle warmed in butter and its own juices.

Over all spoon warmed fine-champagne cognac and flame. Serve the sauce on the side, and may the cheers be royal huzzahs.

Sausage Wrap-Ups Please Record Crew

Easy to eat is a tasty description of brown 'n serve sausage biscuit wrap-ups served piping hot to those gathered around the record player. Foods which can be eaten out of hand have great appeal especially when appetites are hearty and sit-down space is limited.

The brown 'n serve sausage links used in this snack recipe are the same handy sausages that save extra minutes in the morning at breakfast time. The links are fully cooked when purchased so that a brief three to five minutes in the skillet heats and browns them for serving.

SAUSAGE BISCUIT WRAP-UPS
8 oz. pkg. brown 'n serve sausage links
8 oz. pkg. refrigerator biscuits

2 tps. milk
Sesame seeds
Celery seeds
Poppy seeds
Dill weed

Heat sausage links three minutes in hot oven. Drain on absorbent paper. Separate biscuits and roll into oblong shapes, 1 by 4 inches. Roll biscuit around sausage letting tip of sausage show at each end. Place sealed edge down on ungreased baking sheet. Brush outside surface of biscuit with milk. Sprinkle with one of the following: sesame, celery, poppy seeds or dill weed. Bake in a hot oven 8 to 10 minutes. The wrapped sausages may be placed on a baking sheet, covered with foil and refrigerated 5 to 7 hours before baking, if desired. Yield: 10 snacks.

WITH MUSHROOMS
Cook at home easy way

Cookout Time Calls For Southern Chicken

Let the oven do the work during the many potluck picnics and family outings coming up. Tender, juicy oven-fried chicken topped with a delicate mushroom sauce will highlight any backyard picnic. This easy recipe will awaken family taste buds whether served on the porch, patio or along a swiftly flowing stream. This chicken, flavored with fresh, springtime herbs and is especially grown to be juicy and meaty.

If the picnic is to be held in a park, careful packing is essential. The mushroom sauce may be made early in the day and sealed, while piping hot, in a wide-mouth thermos. As soon as the chicken is cooked and while it is still hot cover tightly and wrap with several layers of newspaper. When the picnickers are ready, the chicken will still be crisp, golden, and hot.

Plump mushrooms, fresh green onions, and sweet cream, plus a dash of soy sauce, all combine to make a flavorful accompaniment to the oven-fried chicken.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE
2 lb. broiler-dryer, cut up for frying
1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
Salt
Pepper
Paprika

MUSHROOM SAUCE
1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
20 oz. fresh mushrooms, sliced cap through stem
1/2 cup chopped green onion
2/3 cup flour
1 cup soy sauce
2/3 cup light cream
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper

Meat burner in roasting pan in a slow oven. Remove pan and arrange chicken pieces, skin side down. Season with salt, pepper, and paprika. Turn after 30 minutes and sprinkle second side of chicken with seasonings. Bake an additional 30 minutes. To make mushroom sauce, melt butter in fry pan. Sauté mushrooms and onion about 5 minutes, or until onion is golden. Sprinkle flour over vegetables and blend well. Add soy sauce and cream slowly and cook until mixture thickens. Season with salt and pepper. Serve hot over chicken.

Yield: 2 to 4 servings

Delightful Aspic For Bridge Clubs

Nice when the bridge club comes to lunch.

BROCCOLI-EGG ASPIC
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) consommé, undiluted
Salt and pepper to taste
2 slices hard-cooked egg
6 cooked fresh broccolini florets
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
2 cups cooked sliced fresh broccoli

Lettuce or chicory
Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup of the cold consommé. Beat the remaining consommé and stir in softened gelatin; add salt and pepper. Cut the 2 slices of hard-cooked egg into 4 wedges and place in bottom of a 5-cup mold with the cooked broccolini florets. Pour in 1/2 cup of the aspic mixture. Chill until firm. Chill the remaining gelatin mixture until consistency of unseasoned egg whites. Fold in the mayonnaise, sliced eggs and sliced broccolini. Turn into the mold over the egg and broccolini garnish. Chill. Unmold onto a bed of lettuce or chicory. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

A bunch of carrots (with tops) weighs one to 1 1/2 pounds and is enough for four are putting them in a stew. If they are to be cut and served as a separate vegetable, it's usually best to pare them.

Odin and ends of string in the kitchen, ribbon lengths in the house? Wrap them around wooden spoons (the small ones that come packaged and have flat "bowls") and string and

If your yeast bread has a strong yeasty smell, it may be that you are allowing it to rise at too high a temperature.

You can use leftover corned beef in a stew. Cut the beef in small squares or thin strips and add to shredded green cabbage along with a little minced onion and onion; toss with French dressing.

Over-add 1 cup water and 1 cup grapefruit juice to a small package of orange gelatin dessert when you are making it up. If you like, you can fold in some orange and grapefruit sections after the gelatin has thickened slightly.

Over-add whole-baked corn (from a can) to a can of scalloped tomatoes? Good with pork chops, liver and bacon and other meats or poultry as well as fish or eggs.

Include Tuna In Cool Menu

When you feel like having a cool dinner on a warm day, try a Tuna-Go-Round Salad. The salad, as cool to make as to eat, is heartier than it looks or tastes — just the thing for summer.

Tuna, rich in protein and minerals, is solid nourishment combined with a delicate flavor that fits perfectly into a salad picture. Canned tuna is especially valued these days as an economical source of complete protein. As always, the tuna element is cooked chives; in this instance, you need not even mix it with other ingredients. Simply put it in the salad as is; the dressing provides a natural mixer at serving time.

TUNA-GO-ROUND SALAD
1 small head cabbage, shredded
1 cucumber, sliced
2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
2 tomatoes, coarsely sliced
2 carrots, shredded
Place cabbage in salad bowl; overlap cucumber slices around cabbage to make border. Make a well in the center of cabbage and fill with tuna. Surround tuna with sliced tomato. Sprinkle shredded carrots just inside cucumber border. Serve with 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, thinned with 2 tablespoons lemon juice and seasoned with 2 tablespoons each chopped green pepper, parsley and chive.

Civilian Army Works To Help, Not Kill

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There are two American armies at war in Viet Nam — the classic soldier army, killing and being killed, fighting the armed enemy, and the civilian army working to change lives so that the most hopeless can have hope; working to teach the people ways to make the land sustain them, build the schools for their children, fight disease and poverty so they may lead full lives.

President Johnson has made clear that there will be no victory if both armies do not succeed in their goals. Should the soldier army completely destroy the enemy, it will be of no long-lasting substance for Viet Nam unless the enemies of life — hunger, despair, desolation — also are conquered.

The battlefield army has troops by the tens of thousands. Billions of dollars are spent to support its effort.

The army of civilian aid is much, much smaller. Its budget is by comparison infinitesimal.

A senior American aid official, philosophizing about the civilian army says: "The soldiers fight the battles but if we're going to win this war it will be because of the people out there trying to create order out of chaos."

SENTIMENTS

His sentiments are echoed by many U.S. military and civilian authorities in Viet Nam who believe that the Viet Cong — the Communists who control most of the Vietnamese countryside — cannot be militarily annihilated; that final victory will come when full stomachs, responsible local government and education persuade the peasant-guerrilla to reject communism and war.

On the front line of the social offensive is the U.S. Agency for International Development — AID — with a budget for 1966 of $620 million — peanuts compared to the billions of dollars swallowed up in the shooting war by more than 250,000 American soldiers, the Vietnamese army and allied troops.

700 EMPLOYEES

For AID and its 700 employees scattered throughout Viet Nam's 42 provinces, the $620 million budget provides $400 million for commercial imports to bolster Viet Nam's war-ravaged economy; $80 million for foodstuffs; health, education, capital assistance and job training; $20 million to train and equip the national police force for routine police work together with counter insurgency duty, and $60 million for revolutionary development, a term that encompasses the development of local government, self-help projects, pacification of villages wrested from the Viet Cong, and even the "Chien Hoi" or open arms, program of rehabilitating Viet Cong defectors.

SKELETON

That is the skeleton of the AID program. The mind and muscle are provided by the men and women who risk ambushes, harassment, disease and disapproval to make the program work.

Although there are thousands of other American civilians working in Viet Nam — for construction companies, religious and philanthropic groups and international agencies — the AID people are the hard core of the aid program.

Like Lloyd Clyburn, 43, from Bullard, Tex., who has been shot at while trying to teach Vietnamese farmers how to grow bigger and better vegetables and raise more pigs. He is the agricultural adviser for the five northernmost provinces of Viet Nam.

Clyburn, a graduate of Texas A&M who received his doctorate from Louisiana State University in 1963, would rather talk of crops than the Viet Cong. "We've introduced 30 good varieties of crops, including tomatoes, lettuce, onions, string beans, sweet potatoes, cabbages and even watermelon," he said.

NO PROBLEM

Clyburn worked in Brazil and Cambodia before coming to Viet Nam in January, 1963. He had no problem deciding whether to take the Vietnamese assignment. His wife, Juanita, made the decision for him.

The war was building up and Clyburn had a job offer from a foundation at a little more pay, he said, but his wife told him: "Let's get in it and not run from it."

Then there are Dr. George F. McInnes, a slow-speaking surgeon from Augusta, Ga., and Mary Bannon, an attractive brunette from Chicago, who work with a dozen other Americans in a whirlpool of pandemonium known as Da Nang Hospital.

Miss Bannon, 25, is one of eight nurses at the hospital and McInnes, 51, heads the six-man U. S. surgical team.

MEDICAL WARDS

About 500 patients are admitted monthly to the medical wards, which have 250 beds, and there are always at least 300 persons receiving care at one time for such diseases as leprosy, cholera, typhus and tuberculosis.

Miss Bannon volunteered to serve 18 months in Viet Nam. "These people need help and, of course, there is a war on," she explained. "With our boys coming over, the least we can do is help our country."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bannon, "thought the idea of my coming here was all right," she said, "but they worry."

ON BEAT

Donald J. Carberry, 48, a former policeman of Framingham, Mass., is back on the beat, but this time it's all of Quang Nam Province and the provincial capital of Da Nang.

As public safety adviser, he can suggest changes but the orders have to come from the provincial chief of the national police. That procedure has its built-in frustrations.

"Some days I come in and ask myself, 'What am I accomplishing?'" he said. "Then on another day you see a small slice of progress and it gives you a new lease on life. 'These people want to learn and I believe they are the finest policemen I've worked with. They're very eager. It all makes the job worthwhile.'"

Dr. Merrill M. Shutt had everything going his way when he left Seattle in January, 1965. At 35 he had a thriving medical practice and was settling into a comfortable 8-to-5 routine with his wife, Merry, and their children, Miles, 6, and Katie, 9.

Then Shutt decided to shuck it and come to Viet Nam where he is the regional public health adviser for 11 provinces north of Saigon with a population of a million.

Many Planning To Go Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record number of Americans plan to travel abroad this year, despite the drain on the U.S. dollar.

This is shown by passport statistics slated for publication soon. Passport issues are an advance indicator of foreign travel plans.

The figures also indicate the number of overseas trips by U.S. officials is climbing somewhat faster than that for American tourists. Much of the increased official travel is to Southeast Asia.

The White House has made some effort to curb foreign travel by officials and to encourage U.S. citizens to see America first. However, the President's daughter, Lynda Johnson, is among many intending a trip abroad. She is scheduled to leave for Europe shortly.

Spending by Americans overseas is one of the headaches for U.S. authorities worried about the gold outflow.

Native Son Looks About For Just Plain Doughnut

EDITOR'S NOTE — Maine-born John Roderick has been a foreign correspondent for The Associated Press for the last 13 years. And it has been seven years since he was in the United States on vacation. Here are the observations of a highly puzzled native son.

By JOHN RODERICK

NEW YORK (AP) — What has become of the plain old-fashioned doughnut mother used to make?

It has, alas, gone with the wind, along with the two inches of rich cream which once adorned the top of the milk bottle.

When a man has been away from America for seven years, as I have, his thoughts as he comes home are on many things.

I confess unashamedly that Maine lobsters, Boston baked beans and crisp, hot doughnuts washed down by a cool glass of creamy milk figured in my dreams.

I found the beans and lobsters more or less as they once were. But I wandered down Broadway and up Main Street in a fruitless search for the plain doughnut. The doughnut of my day has married and remarried and produced a star-spangled crop of offspring called "donuts" of all colors, conditions and classes. They are glazed with a frightening variety of red, blue and green icing, impregnated with a thousand exotic flavors.

I created a sensation by asking for a plain doughnut.

I am appalled at the tons of calories Americans daily cram into their mouths.

Friends already alarmingly overweight munch on chocolates, wolf down a malted-milk or tuck away a pie a la mode between meals.

They try to wash away these sins of gluttony with a glass of skim milk. For today skim milk, which we as children regarded with faint contempt as something for hogs, has become a prima donna in fancy dress, beckoning to the fat because it has fewer calories.

I have been struck by the extraordinary contrasts, greater I believe than those I have noted among the Japanese among whom I have lived since 1959.

Never have I seen so much affluence, so many smart homes, apartments, automobiles and public buildings. But beside them there are shocking slums.

Take the train from Boston to New York and look out the window as it moves through the outskirts of the big cities on the route.

Never have I seen so many large, ugly, badly styled automobiles.

Contrasted to the neat, compact Japanese models they seem grotesque.

After the doughnut and the automobile, I stood back aghast at urban renewal. It has changed the face of America. In my home town, great cavities have appeared on Main Street and shopping centers have proliferated on the outskirts.

All this may well be for the good if we are replacing the old with something graceful and vital. But what about the 33-story apartment building in New York which I saw soon after arrival?

"Isn't urban renewal wonderful!" I exclaimed. "They're taking down that ugly old building."

"Are you crazy?" my host asked. "They're not taking it down. They're putting it up."

Today's American, I believe, is taller mentally and even spiritually than ever before. But he often is assailed by waves of mediocrity, compressed into molds of conformity, invited to lose himself to forget his obligations.

What he needs is the plain doughnut.

Apt Play

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson Little Theater group was nearly burned out while rehearsing for a play, "The Fireman's Flame," when a blaze erupted recently. Real firemen snuffed out the flames.

Researchers Looking For Dangers Of 'Pill'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government researchers say they hope to launch a study of perhaps 20,000 American women for at least 10 years—to try to answer a vital question: Is there any long-term danger—such as the possibility of developing cancer—in the prolonged use of oral birth control pills or mechanical contraceptives?

The pills are being used by an estimated 5 1/2 million women in the United States alone.

And the government, represented by the Public Health Service's National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, has taken the first steps to explore whether a massive, controlled study among women using "The Pill," or other artificial contraceptives, could be carried out.

The institute, one of the National Institutes of Health, has awarded a contract to the District of Columbia Public Health Department for a pilot study. The study—just getting under way—follows by more than a year testimony by Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the National Institutes of Health, before a congressional committee, that until the question of any health hazard is settled, millions of women may be taking a chance by using the controversial pills.

However, neither Shannon nor any other governmental health official has recommended that use of the pills be curbed, and various scientific groups and individuals—including a special committee of the World Health Organization have declared that:

In the 10 years since the pills were developed—including five since the first ones were placed on the American market—no evidence has been produced to link them with specified diseases concerning which some investigators have voiced fears. These diseases include cancer of the breast, the cervix, and the endometrium (lining of the womb); also thrombophlebitis (blood clots in the legs) and cerebral strokes.

Indeed, Dr. Gregory Pincus, Worcester, Mass., developer of the pills, said in a recent report to the National Academy of Sciences that various studies by other investigators indicate the pills appear to be potentially protective against both cancer of the breast and cervix.

Pincus also said there's justification to explore the possibility that long-term use of the pills might help protect women from developing atherosclerosis, the form of hardening of the arteries which many doctors suspect as a possible contributor to heart attacks.

DEAR ABBY He Resents 'Prying' Wife

DEAR ABBY: Over a year ago I married a man of means. We are both in our early 50s, and it is the second marriage for each. I gave up a good job, allimony from my previous marriage, and a lovely home of my own to marry him. A year passed and he never discussed his business matters with me. Nor did he mention any provisions he might have made for me in case of his death.

When I brought this up he became highly indignant and said such questions were prying and improper, and I had aroused his suspicions of my motives in marrying him.

Then he said before he took any action to provide me with the security I felt I was entitled to, I would have to "prove myself in the marriage." This has become a grave issue between us. What is your opinion?

INSECURE
DEAR INSECURE: This matter should have been discussed and resolved before you married him. He knows that it is his responsibility to provide for you in case of his death, but he probably resented your bringing it up. (A man of means is usually extremely sensitive about his money the second time around.)

Steer clear of the subject for awhile. It will come up again. But if you really feel financially insecure, consult a lawyer and find out where you stand.

DEAR ABBY: Everytime I read or hear a professional person condemning girls and women who wear curlers in their hair in public, I could scream. I think it's just fine that some women have the time and money to have their hair done in beauty parlors, but there are lots of us who don't.

I, for one, am busy with housework and children during the day, and if I want my hair to look nice in the evening I have to put it up every day. That means I must chauffeur the children to and from school, do my shopping, walk the dog, and do all my outside errands with curlers in my hair. Frankly, Abby, I don't see that it is such a big crime. Thanks for listening . . . I feel better already.

New Cave Discovered

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP)—A driller named Sylvan Turner was going about his business in the usual way, his machinery laboring to dig through the rock. Suddenly Turner's drill simply dropped. He was, if anything, drilling air.

This was discovered what will become Texas' newest tourist attraction, due to be opened to the public in late July one mile south of Georgetown and easily reached by the public.

Turner was drilling a core sample prior to construction of an overpass where Interstate 35 would cross U. S. 81 about halfway between Temple and Austin.

Thirty-three feet down was the point at which Turner's drill dropped. This started more drilling and the state highway crew's speculations were confirmed: The highway route was directly over one of the state's major hidden caverns.

Paleontologists, spelunkers and others swarmed to the site and what they found fascinated them.

They found remains of prehistoric mastodons, camels and horses, all near a beautiful underground lake. The animals' remains were estimated by Dr. Ernest Lundelius, University of Texas paleontologist, to be 10,000 to 20,000 years old.

However, persons driving the highway need not slow down and creep along as they once did over rickety bridges. Nearly 40 feet of solid rock support the roadway. No one will fall in.

The huge cave was named "Inner Space," a group formed the Georgetown Corp., leased the land from the owner and preparation for public viewing began.

Donald Duncan, corporation president, said more than 7,000 feet of the cave have been mapped by Bill Russell and other members of the University of Texas Speleological Society.

Already, about a half million dollars have been spent for lighting of the cavern with special emphasis to show up the stalagmites, helictites and flowstones, Duncan said.

The cavern is under property owned by W. W. Laubach and is leased to the corporation. The corporation was formed when Laubach, a retired minister, met with Doyle Clawson of Burnet, manager for nine years of the Longhorn Cavern at Burnet.

They met with Duncan, and brought in the other corporate members, Tom and George Norsworth of Dallas and Mayor Ramsey Clinton of Burnet. Like several other caves in Texas, Inner Space is in the Comanche Cretaceous Formation, said Miss Roselle Girard of the University of Texas' Bureau of Economic Geology.
