De Gaulle Watches Reds Fire Unmanned Missile

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle watched the Soviet Union launch an unmanned earth satellite from its top-secret space center in Central Asia, a French spokesman said Saturday.

TOP REDS
The three top leaders of the Soviet Union joined De Gaulle at the Central Asian space center, Baikour, to see a Cosmos series satellite blast into orbit.

The three were Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party who headed political talks with De Gaulle, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

De Gaulle was the first foreign leader allowed to visit Baikour and the first Westerner to have seen a Soviet rocket launching.

REPORTERS BANNED
A press officer for De Gaulle, Gilbert Perol, told reporters here about the Baikour visit. Reporters accompanying De Gaulle on his 11-day Soviet tour were banned from Baikour and brought directly here from Novosibirsk in Siberia.

Other Soviet officials who flew 1,200 miles southeast from Moscow to be at Baikour for the occasion included Soviet Defense Minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

Podgorny had been escorting the visitor in Novosibirsk, a major industrial center in Siberia which De Gaulle visited for two days.

The Soviet Union and France will sign an agreement on cooperation in space research next Thursday. The satellite that blasted off Saturday in De Gaulle's presence is part of a series officially described as being for scientific research.

BIG BRASS
But Baikour is also the center of Soviet military rocketry and is believed to be the place from which all Soviet cosmonauts have been launched.

The military aspects of the occasion were emphasized by the presence not only of Malinovsky but also the chief of the armed forces' general staff, Marshal Matvei V. Zakharov, and the commander of Soviet Strategic missile forces, Marshal N.I. Krylov.

Krylov's command includes the intercontinental missiles that constitute this country's main strength.

The French spokesman said it was very hot at the launching site. It lies in the wastelands of Kazakhstan, a Soviet Central Asian region, to the northeast of the bleak Aral Sea.

The Soviet Union has maintained great secrecy about its space installations, forbidding visits by foreigners and letting out only bits and pieces of information about their activities.

Inviting De Gaulle to Baikour would seem to have been a gesture meant to dramatize the respect and trust the Kremlin places in him. The general has been heavily praised here for his "realistic" foreign policy, and the Soviet press has expressed optimism about the results of his visit.

Howard County let contracts for paving of six miles of new lateral roads, the paving and gravel bids running to $28,500. In addition, a gravel contract for $5,657 will touch off a seal coat job for 25.5 miles of other road.

For a "vacation" season, schools seem busy. Besides the regular summer school (shifted to Goliad Junior high to make way for complete shucking of the interior of the senior high building) and HCJC's summer session, upwards of 500 youngsters at Lakeview and Kate Morrison are getting supplemental training. Forty students are enrolled in an honors section just for the challenge of it.

News from Austin says that the Parks and Wildlife Department is asking a budget of $33.8 million dollars, of which $7.8 million would be earmarked for park repairs and urgent improvements. If it gets the funds, maybe the department could spare poor old scenic Mountain Park a few crumbs.

When Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds read about the movement to "Let Freedom Ring" by duplicating the first independence day through ringing of bells, she decided this would be worth trying here. The idea snowballed, and everyone approached figured it was an excellent idea. There will be a brief, colorful

B-52s Expand Push To Spoil Cong Drive

Cong Appears To Be Losing Hope

WASHINGTON (AP)—Questioning of Communist prisoners and defectors has turned up signs of a growing sense of hopelessness among some elements of the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, sources said Saturday.

Analysis of interrogations suggests that the Viet Cong are beset with rising problems stemming from the increasing intensity of U.S. and South Vietnamese military operations and mounting CV losses.

DETERIORATE
The sources said VC morale appears to have become fragile, at least among some of the lower-ranking military and civilian cadres, and the fighting capability of some of the VC units seems to have deteriorated.

The unrelenting use of American air power—with the B52 raids a major factor—rated primary cause of the apparent trend, interrogation reports show.

The VC resorting to a draft, are said to be impressing many youths between 15 and 18 years and even women, who are said to be replacing men in certain nonfighting tasks.

It is stressed that officials analyzing the results of the interrogations are not trying to imply that the Viet Cong has stopped being an effective fighting force.

QUIZZED
The basis of the analysis is the interrogation of some 200 prisoners and defectors who have fallen into the hands of the South Vietnamese government since June 1965.

The newest analysis document is classified, but the substance of it became available Saturday.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has read brief excerpts from the interrogation study on a few occasions.

At a White House news conference two weeks ago, McNamara read this paragraph: "There seems to be considerable doubt among the ordinary soldiers of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese that even in a protracted war the Viet Cong would eventually win. The majority of the recent interviewees continue to say they expect the government of Viet Nam and the United States to win the war as a result of their superiority in weapons, equipment, and supplies. The interviewees no longer claim, as was the case earlier, that the Viet Cong would win because of growing popular support."

UP TO PANEL
If the Judiciary Committee approves the compromise, it could clear the way for House passage of the controversial provision as part of the administration's 1966 civil rights bill, which also deals with jury selection, school desegregation and protection of Negroes' rights.

The committee is scheduled to take up the housing proposal Monday, and Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said it should complete action on Monday or Tuesday.

The committee tentatively approved all other sections of the bill Friday, after which Celler, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio and Rep. Charles Mathias J.R., R-Md., met in Celler's office to discuss the housing provision.

WATER DOWN
A consensus was reached at the meeting that the sweeping prohibition on housing discrimination proposed by President Johnson would have to be watered down if it was to have any chance for passage.

The exemption of owner-occupied homes from the proposed law would, in effect, cut out all single-family dwellings except houses built or bought for speculative purposes rather than for an individual buyer. The exemption might be broadened by the committee to include two-, three- or even four-unit dwellings.

HOWARD IN ROAD LIST
Howard, Mitchell, Scurry and Nolan counties are among 12 approved by the Texas Highway Commission for additional surfacing of highways.

US 87 north from Big Spring to the Martin County line, a distance of 21 miles, was set up for new surfacing at a cost of $250,000.

In Mitchell County, US 84 from the Scurry County line to the Nolan County line a distance of 4.4 of a mile, was included for additional surfacing at a cost of $5,000.

US 84 in Nolan County was included from the Mitchell County line to one mile north of Roscoe, a distance of 10 miles, at a cost of $131,000. Similarly, US 84 in Scurry County from four miles southeast of Snyder to the Mitchell County line, a distance of 11.8 miles, was included at a cost of $141,000.

CIRCLE MOON, HEAVY LOAD
The Saturn originally was to have been launched Wednesday, but technical troubles forced a delay.

As the second stage of the Saturn 1B sails through space 115 miles above the earth, television cameras will peer for six hours into its tanks full of liquid hydrogen fuel and beam directly to tracking stations live pictures of what is going on in the weightless flight.

Taming the highly volatile hydrogen fuel must be accomplished before astronauts go to the moon. On the lunar mission, the hydrogen-fueled Saturn stage must restart after a period of coasting in weightlessness to kick an Apollo three-man spaceship toward the moon.

About Aug. 9, the U.S. will try to launch another satellite around the moon, called Lunar Orbiter. That launch was originally planned for July 12 but was delayed one month because a spacecraft camera arrived late and more time was needed to test the satellite.

His Luck Ran Out

Mansfield Sides With Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said Saturday the United States should welcome a move toward neutralization of Southeast Asia if it developed from French President Charles de Gaulle's Moscow talks.

The Senate Democratic leader said in an interview it seemed obvious to him that De Gaulle has discussed with Soviet leaders "ways and means of how the conflict in Viet Nam can be terminated."

Mansfield did not go so far as to predict De Gaulle will offer some concrete proposal but made clear he hoped the French leader would do so.

"If any move materializes as a result of these talks," he said, "I assume it will be on the basis of De Gaulle's stated policy for the neutralization of all of Southeast Asia."

NEUTRALIZATION
"I, for one, think that is a sound doctrine and good policy, provided there can be guaranteed neutralization with withdrawal of all foreign troops from the area."

He said the guarantees would have to be in the form of big-time pledges to enforce neutrality in the area.

Mansfield thus sided with Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright has argued that the administration's policy of containment of Red China would work and that neutralization of the whole area was the answer to the problem of Viet Nam.

Mansfield said that despite De Gaulle's criticism of American policies, the French president seemed interested in trying to get negotiations started. He noted that De Gaulle had dispatched a trusted subordinate to Peking and Hanoi before leaving for Moscow.

DE GAULLE PROBING
"De Gaulle's fingers seem to be reaching out in many directions," Mansfield said, "and among the matters to be considered in his talks with the Russians Viet Nam is not the least."

The Democratic leader said he was convinced the Russians would like to have the fighting ended in Viet Nam but were restrained from taking the initiative because any surface move would be likely to provoke further critical blasts against them in the Communist world by Peking.

Dodd Probers To Go Into 'All Of Charges'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said Saturday the Senate Ethics Committee was going into all the charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., including disposition of political dinner funds.

Cooper said that when the group of which he is a member, concluded current hearings into Dodd's relationship with Julius Klein, Chicago public relations man and agent for West German business interests, it would set its staff to work on "all of the issues" that have been brought up.

Specifically, Cooper said in response to a question, this could include tracing the distribution of financial proceeds from four testimonial dinners given for Dodd in Connecticut.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who previously had expressed some doubt on the committee's authority to go into such matters, said in a separate interview he believed the issue of the dinner proceeds was "an in-between one" where the committee must proceed cautiously.

But Cooper said he had no doubt that the group should proceed. "I think our committee has authority to go into every mat-

U.S. Troops Kill 474 On Two Flanks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Blows by U.S. B52 bombers Saturday expanded American spoiling operations designed to keep infiltrated North Vietnamese regulars from mounting a rainy-season drive across the waist of South Viet Nam.

While U.S. troops fought Communist battalions on both flanks of the highlands, the eight-engine jets from Guam rained 750-pound bombs on targets—officially identified as a troop concentration, supply depot and rice storage area—30 miles northwest of Pleiku.

474 TOLL
The announced toll of enemy dead this week from the two related ground operations, part of a military-political picture that has created in Saigon an air of optimism unparalleled for years, mounted to 474. American losses in both cases were called light.

Among the losses were six men killed in the crash of a transport helicopter under enemy fire in the coastal campaign north of Tuy Hoa, where elements of the 1st Air Cavalry and 101st Airborne Divisions were in the sixth day of Operation Nathan Hale.

Elsewhere, two U.S. Navy planes were shot down in the Gulf of Tonkin 15 miles northeast of Vinh. That boosted to 270 the American planes destroyed in the air war against North Viet Nam. Pilots of both craft, a Skyhawk and an Intruder, were rescued from the sea. The Intruder's radar operator is missing.

MORE TROOPS
Contributing to the build-up of American armed forces in Viet Nam, nearly 1,900 paratroopers of the 4th Battalion (airborne), 53rd Infantry, landed from a troop transport at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. The total is now about 271,900.

The role of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government in the current Viet Nam scene, with the Buddhist-led rebellion suppressed and Vietnamese troops aggressive afield, drew praise from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

"On the military side, the government is going particularly well," Lodge told newsmen, and it has scored "a solid political victory in the recent situation here."

VISITS RUE
Ky paid a four hour visit to Hue, the northern hotbed of unrest cooled down in the last two weeks by loyal paratroopers, marines and police. The premier officially ushered a 50-truck convoy of food and other supplies into that city of 198,000 400 miles north of Saigon.

He and his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Cao Van Vien, pinned insignia on a group of newly promoted soldiers and handed out awards for valor they won in hard fighting earlier this week against a Communist force 30 miles north of Hue. Spearheaded by 1st Division troops who had been considered of dubious loyalty, they killed more than 300 Communists in the biggest all-Vietnamese operation this year.

The defiant leader of the Hue militants, Thich Tri Quang, was described as near a coma at the end of the 18th day of a protest fast which he said he would maintain until Ky's government resigns.

NEAR COMA
Arrested Tuesday and now under guard in a Saigon clinic, Quang was reported insisting on a liquid diet, though moderate Buddhist leaders were discussing a compromise in their ill-fated power play.

Dr. Nguyen Duy Tai, head of the clinic, said the condition of the monk is extremely serious. "Despite his tremendous resistance," Tai said, "I feel he can lapse into a coma at any time."

Buddhist aides said Quang was taking only tea, water and juices when he started his strike in Hue with a demand that President Johnson drop American support of the Ky regime. The monk, 42, now is reported limiting himself to three glasses of heavily sugared water a day.

A week from today ceremonies at the VA Hospital will take cognizance of the beautification of the grounds, the installation of a color fountain, and a flower shield which proclaims to all that this is the Veterans Administration Hospital. Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Rep. Omar Burleson will be here to share in the occasion.

The week went by without thunderstorms or capricious weather. We had warm days, cool nights—the perfect formula for growing crops, particularly cotton. Most of the fields are in excellent condition, although the combination which has spurred crops has also stimulated weeds.

U.S. To Seek Two Space Firsts In Next 10 Days

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The space agency plans to chalk up a pair of U.S. space firsts in the next 10 days by firing a satellite around the moon and boosting into orbit around the earth the heaviest payload this nation ever launched.

The two-barreled push toward the moon is scheduled to begin Thursday when a scientific satellite called IMP 4 begins a three-day journey toward a loop-sided orbit around the moon.

On July 5 or 6 a 22-story-tall Saturn 1B booster—the mightiest rocket the United States ever has launched—will try to

Grand Jury Will Ponder 16 Cases

A complaint filed June 11 robbery by assault, and four against Pablo Ramirez, charging him with the rape of his 4-year-old daughter, will be one of 16 felony matters to be laid before the Howard County grand jury Tuesday.

Ramirez is at liberty, having won his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. His wife, who was the prime witness, has declined to prosecute the case, according to Wayne Burns, district attorney. Nevertheless, Burns said he intends to give the grand jury a chance to hear the state's version.

One murder case, a complaint alleging assault with intent to commit murder, two charges of der in connection with the stabbing on June 17 of Joe Vierra.

There are four defendants charged in connection with the unlawful possession of marijuana. They were arrested on June 18 and the police claim a quantity of marijuana was captured. They have been identified as Felipe Juarez, Santos A. Mendoza, Juara Mendoza, and Ramon Mendoza.

Other cases on the grand jury docket:

Rodney Johnston, theft by bailie, also worthless check (repeater); Carolyn Wagers, forgery and passing; Phillip Carl Smith, DWI second; H. B. Beck, forgery and passing; E. B. Honcutt, felony worthless check; Vernon Collins Ford, DWI second; Joe Lomas, burglary; Cleveland Turner Jr. and Fay M. Elliott, burglary of a coin operated machine; Jackie Lee Hill, burglary.

Texas Sales Leading Last Year Totals

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas retail sales dropped 4 1/2 per cent in May but so far there are no signs of an over-all decline, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The May sales were 4 per cent over May of 1965, and the January to May totals lead the previous period last year by 4 per cent.

The University of Texas agency said recent reports on consumer buying intentions in Texas "suggest continued consumer optimism and expansion of retail sales, particularly in selected categories."

"Uncertainties over the war in Viet Nam, alarm over increasing prices and prospects for a tax increase may combine to dampen sales in some areas but no over-all decline is in sight at the present time," the bureau said.

Five of the state's six largest cities reported retail sales increases for May. Four had increases for the first five months.

Austin reported a 3 per cent increase for the month and nine per cent increase for the year; Dallas 4 per cent increase and 3 per cent decrease; El Paso unchanged for the month and one per cent decrease; Fort Worth 5 per cent increase and 3 per cent increase; Houston 3 per cent increase and 8 per cent increase; San Antonio 7 per cent increase and 8 per cent increase.

Texas KKK Fails Predicted Growth

Editor's note: The Texas Ku Klux Klan disclosed plans late last year for a massive spring membership drive. Its leaders predicted the KKK would sweep across the state this spring in a gigantic revival.

By PAUL RECER
HOUSTON (AP)—Royce McPhail, then the grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Texas, predicted late last year the KKK would sweep across the state this spring in a gigantic revival.

The organization, he said, would start gaining 100 members a week with huge torchlit rallies in key cities far from the Klan's East Texas stronghold.

He said the Klan would use peace and persuasion to convert the voters to white supremacy and opposition to the Negro civil rights movement. He forecast a membership of 50,000.

SPUTTERING
McPhail has dropped from the hooded ranks. His open and relaxed Klan has changed into an organization of dark suspicions, distrust and secrecy.

Law officers say the fiery cross is sputtering in Texas toward darkness, that membership and interest in the Klan is declining.

Officers who have kept the Klan under investigation since its revival in Texas 18 months ago point to the Feb. 11 resignation of McPhail as the start of the Klan's sudden decline.

Interest in the KKK was already slipping, one officer said, but McPhail's statements, that some elements in the Klan were planning violence, caused wide-reaching dissension among members. Others followed McPhail out. Leadership in local Klaverns passed into young and less experienced hands. Interest declined. Suspicion and distrust appeared. Soon, officers said, the Texas Klan officers ordered tight secrecy.

BLAMES FBI
Jack Cannon, 40, a Beaumont floor covering contractor who became grand dragon in March, said the new secrecy is necessary because of the FBI.

"The more secrets we keep from the FBI, the better off we are," he said recently.

He accused the FBI of actively thwarting the Klan on a number of occasions. The FBI kept silent.

Cannon said he fears for his life because of his new position. He said he started carrying a rifle in his car after someone fired a pistol at him while he was driving on a Beaumont street in March. Cannon has other guns loaded at his home. He is cautious of strangers.

MORE CAUTIOUS
John Aspinwall of Houston, the former grand kliaiff of Texas, is even more cautious. His telephone is unlisted. He carefully screens credentials of reporters who ask for interviews.

The machinist, 37, said he resigned the Klan after his family received a number of threatening calls, including one caller who asked, "How would you like to find the charred bodies of your children in a gutter somewhere?"

"I didn't get out because of myself," he said recently. "I'm out and I'll stay out, but I'll always be a Klansman at heart."

Cannon and Aspinwall both said they knew the source of the threats on their lives. A law officer said Klan members constantly fear FBI infiltration.

FEAR SELVES
Other officers assert that Klansmen and former Klansmen fear violence from each other more than they do from outside enemies.

One officer said the Texas Klan now "doesn't amount to a damn." He cited the May 2 meeting west of Beaumont in which Robert Shelton of Alabama, the United Ku Klux Klans of America Imperial Wizard, or national president, spoke.

The Texas KKK could muster less than 40 members for the speech. Most of the crowd of 250 to 300 were college students, the officer said.

One source said Houston, six months ago, had two strong Klaverns, or local Klan chapters. After McPhail pulled out, the members began arguing and membership dropped to below Klavern strength, which is 25, at both chapters. They are now talking about a merger. Leadership in one of the Klaverns has passed to a youth of 20.

SUSPECT ALL
"They suspect everybody of being FBI agents," he said. "Everyone is discouraged and it looks as if the unit is going to fold up."

Officers say the membership in the state was never what the Klan claimed. McPhail said six months ago there were 5,000 Klansmen in Texas. Officers then put it at less than 500. Lawmen now say the membership total is considerably less. They also note that a membership total gives no true indication of the Klan strength. Many members become inactive long before resigning.

Typical is a former officer of a Klavern in a small East Texas town. He said he was in charge of recruiting, but found very little interest and finally just stopped attending meetings. Later, he resigned.

Cannon said membership totals are secret. He said he could have 2,000 men in front of the Houston City Hall within two hours' notice.

SCATTERED
Cannon said units are scattered throughout the state and these haven't reported in to him.

Some officers call the Texas Klansmen "frightened little people" who are scared of the civil rights movement, the federal government, the news media and of each other.

The result has been a secrecy that was not known six months ago.

Meredith In March Lead

TOUGALOO, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith took over the Mississippi march Saturday, with civil rights leaders closing ranks behind him despite quarrels over policy.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the confusion after Meredith's arrival was due to "some temporary breakdown in communications."

King, after conferring with SCLC lieutenants and Floyd B. McKissick, head of the Congress of Racial Equality, said, "This breakdown in communications we are in the process of adjusting."

SNUBS RALLY
Meredith, snubbing a rally in Canton Friday night in which he was to receive a hero's ovation, drove from Tougaloo back to Canton Saturday morning to resume his "march against fear."

Before he had gone very far, the column behind him had swelled to about 500. Many who made the march from Canton to Tougaloo Friday drifted back during the day to do it all over again.

"As far as I'm concerned, there's only one march," said Meredith, when asked if he was starting a separate effort.

King said he did not believe the apparent difference of opinion among the principal figures in the march — aimed at spurring Negro voter registration in the state — would hurt the marathon effort.

QUARRELS
He declined comment on the internal quarrels with leaders of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee — a more militant group than either SCLC or CORE.

SNCC leaders have been muttering angrily since the march accepted a compromise in Canton and held a rally Friday night — instead of again trying to put up the two big tents the marchers use for night quarters.

"An effort to raise the tents on the grounds of a Negro school Thursday night, in defiance of the city's refusal to allow such action, was repulsed by a barrage of police tear gas.

The conference in Jackson, as Meredith was leading the "march" down US 51, lasted about five hours. Asked why it took so long to repair a "temporary breakdown in communications," a King aide said much of this time was spent discussing the program for Sunday's march on the Capitol in Jackson, which lies eight miles south of Tougaloo.

COLLEGE TOWN
Tougaloo is the site of Tougaloo College, a predominantly Negro school.

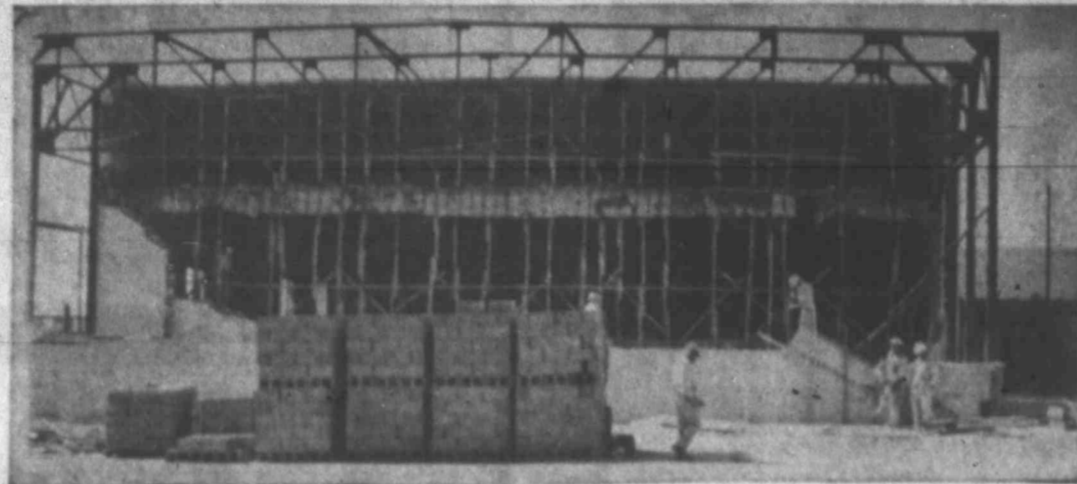

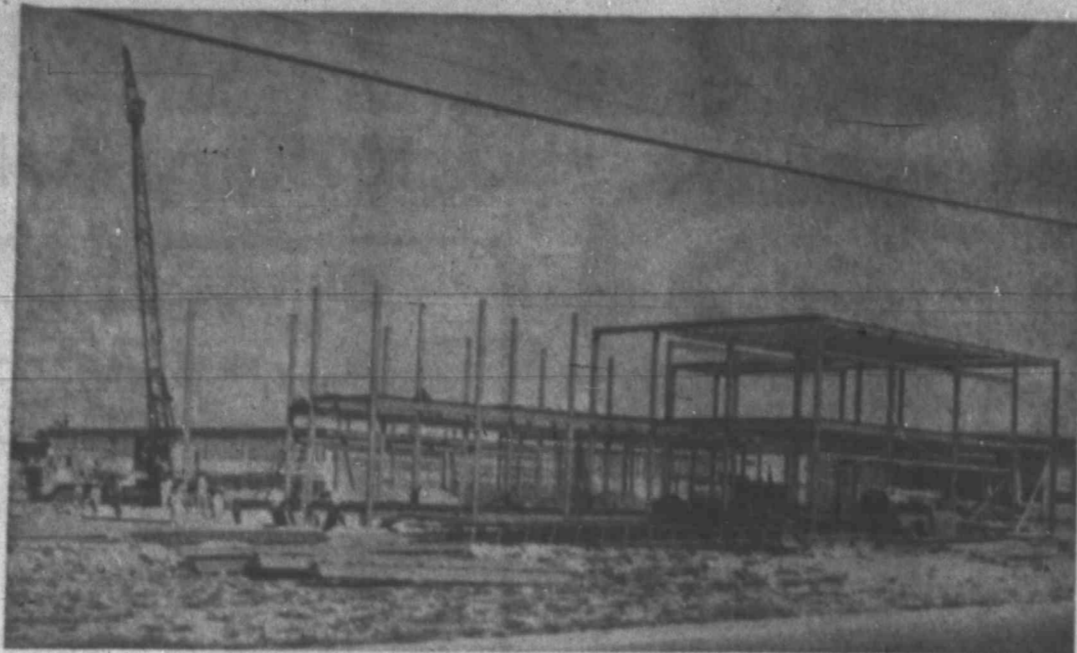

A detachment of highway patrolmen guarded Meredith and the other marchers as they strode along the shoulder of the highway.

Meredith, celebrating his 33rd birthday, had planned to stroll with comedian Dick Gregory, Mrs. Gregory and a few friends.

But there were some 250 persons assembled outside the courthouse in Canton when they arrived and they trailed along. The column continued to swell with each mile.

"We want freedom; we want freedom," the marchers chanted early in the day.

"Tell 'em to hold it down," said Meredith, a former Air Force sergeant. They were silent thereafter.

School Construction Progresses

Looming large on the construction front in Big Spring are jobs at Howard County Junior College and at Senior High School. In the top photo, steel goes up for the two-story science building at HCJC, where a steel frame already is in place for a one-story new library building. In the middle, one end of the existing classroom building has been ripped out as workmen prepare for an enlargement. Below, a bulldozer moves dirt to make way for additions to the front of the present high school plant.

One of the panelists, Dr. William O. Lamotte Jr., Wilmington, Del., a consultant to the AMA Advisory Committee on Medicare, Cancer, Heart Disease and Strokes, drew spirited applause from the doctors when he said: "I personally feel its the responsibility of organized medicine to make the recommendation — direct billing — to its membership."

Doctors Propose Direct Billing Under Medicare

CHICAGO (AP) — A move developed Saturday to put the American Medical Association on record as recommending to the nation's doctors that they bill their patients directly under Medicare.

This procedure would require patients over 65 to pay their doctors the full amount charged and then send the doctor's itemized bill together with a completed form to Blue Cross or some other carrier acting as intermediary for the federal government.

DEDUCTION
The Medicare law provides that under this form of billing the patient would receive 80 percent reimbursement of the "reasonable charge" for services rendered after the patient has paid the $50 annual deductible.

Strong support for the direct billing method in the Medicare program starting July 1 developed at a day-long question-and-answer session on the eve of the AMA's annual convention.

Nearly 3,000 doctors from throughout the nation fired questions about Medicare's provisions to officials of the Social Security Administration, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, other government agencies, the AMA, insurance firms and legal experts.

One of the panelists, Dr. Arthur E. Hess, director of the Social Security Administration's Bureau of Health Insurance, urged the doctors to adopt a "wait and see" policy on their billing procedures.

RESOLUTIONS
Lamotte pointed out that several resolutions recommending such action will be considered by the House of Delegates, the AMA's policymaking body, during the association's convention.

The Medicare law also provides for an "assignment" method of billing for medical services. Under this procedure, the doctor and the patient fill out a claim form which the doctor then sends to the carrier. Assuming the patient has paid his doctor the $50 annual deductible or the doctor elects to waive this charge, the carrier would pay the doctor 80 percent of his "reasonable charge" and the patient would pay the doctor the remaining 20 percent.

Emergency Act
GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — Parliament has extended Guyana's state of emergency until Dec. 31 at the bidding of Prime Minister Forbes Burnham.

The extension approved Friday night will allow the government to introduce a national security bill to deal with control of explosives and firearms and the detention of persons.

Primaries Slated Tuesday In N. Y.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York nominates Democratic and Republican candidates for 41 House seats in a primary Tuesday. In the present Congress, the party division is 27 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's present term expires this year, and there will be a gubernatorial election in the fall, but in New York nominations for statewide offices are made in party conventions rather than in the primary.

CONVENTIONS
Both major parties will hold their conventions Sept. 7-8. Mississippi and South Carolina have runoff primaries Tuesday, but neither involves any major office.

Connecticut Democrats open a two-day convention Friday expected to renominate Gov. John N. Dempsey. Republicans chose E. Clayton Gengras, a West Hartford businessman, last week to run against Dempsey.

Virginia Republicans hold their convention Saturday to pick two nominees for the Senate. Mayor James P. Ould Jr. of Lynchburg is bidding for one nomination and is expected to get it. There has been talk of L. Lee Potter of Arlington, national committeeman, for the other nomination.

BYRD TERM
Ould wants to run for the seat now held by Sen. A. Willis Robertson, Democrat. The other nomination would be for the

Minesweeper Burns, Sinks

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The USS Stalwart, a wooden-hull minesweeper, burned and sank Saturday while tied up at the U. S. Navy Base in San Juan.

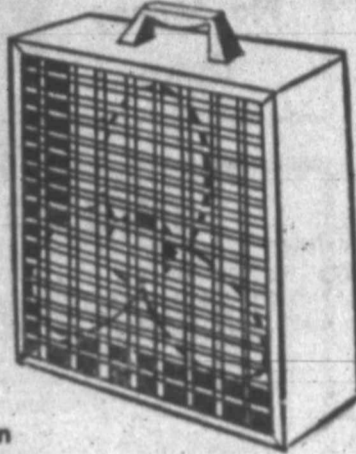

More than 200 Navy and city firemen tried to save the 173-foot vessel, but its wooden hull, impregnated with oil, burned for eight hours. Then the ship turned on her side and sank slowly in the shallow harbor. She was one of the few nonmagnetic wooden Navy minesweepers still in service.

The fire started before dawn, apparently as a result of a boiler explosion, although a Navy spokesman said the exact cause had not been determined. The Stalwart was commissioned in 1955.

AEC Conducts Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission conducted another test Saturday in its continuing effort to develop nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes.

The low-yield blast was set off underground at the AEC's Nevada test site. It was the second test this year in the Plow-share program, designed for peaceful uses. A low-yield blast has a force less than that of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The AEC said the test was part of an experimental effort to develop a special nuclear device which can use a nuclear explosion to produce neutron-rich isotopes of the heavier known chemical elements and perhaps of some new elements.

Destructive Pest Found On Border

By WALTER GRAY
BROWNSVILLE (AP) — They ran 150 traps for four years and caught nothing.

An estimated 10,000 dry runs. The federal trappers weren't downcast; they were pleased.

Perseverance unhappily paid off one day last week when inspector W. J. Kachitk checked a trap in downtown Brownsville and found a tiny specimen they'd hoped wouldn't turn up: A Mediterranean fruit fly.

MEDFLY
It's a tiny, bright orange-yellow fly with a white-flecked black thorax—called the "Med-fly."

The destructive pest breeds in citrus fruit and is a threat to an annual multi-million-dollar crop in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. It has never before been found in Texas.

An all-out war against the pest is on.

State and federal pest control offices have beefed up their field units and 500 traps have been set in the Brownsville area alone.

Since the Medfly invaded Florida in 1962, the 150 traps in the Valley had been checked regularly every three weeks.

July 4 Traffic Toll Estimated

AUSTIN (AP)—Department of Public Safety statisticians predict 31 persons will die in Texas traffic during the three-day holiday of July 4.

Twenty-eight died during a similar three-day holiday last year.

ABClub Gets Good Report On Its Wrestling Venture

The American Business Club grossed in excess of $500 as its share of Thursday night's professional wrestling show at the amphitheatre in the City Park, the organization's members were told at their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

From that figure will be deducted such items as the cost of concessions; fees for policing the area, etc.

The show was a signal success, Ambuc vice president Richard Hughes told his listeners, and plans are firming up for a similar production in the same location. Tentative plans call for the program to be staged the night of July 12.

more than 10,000 times. Spraying in infested areas begins Monday.

Spraying has been delayed while bids for the federal government job were being taken, an official said. Only multi-engine aircraft will be used for the low-flying runs over residential areas.

B. C. Stephenson, district supervisor of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Pest Control Division, said 34 flies had been found at 16 locations. Eighteen flies were found Friday. Stephenson said this indicated rapid reproduction.

"It appears that three-fourths of Brownsville is infested," he said. The city has more than 20,000 acres.

QUARANTINE
Mexican officials in Matamoros quickly set up a border quarantine and began an inspection program.

The quarantine has been extended from Brownsville to Laredo and applies to many fruits and vegetables. Mexican officials said about 80 per cent of the fruits and vegetables consumed in Mexican border towns are imported from the United States.

No flies had been found in Matamoros, Stephenson said.

The Medfly is native to North Africa but has spread to Costa Rica and Nicaragua, officials said. It has infested Florida three times since 1929, the last time in 1962, Stephenson said.

He said a malathion insecticide would be used in a spray solution that would include a bait salt to attract the flies.

Medfly traps are plastic cylinders with small openings at either end. The fly is attracted by a sex lure on a wick inside and odorless fumes from a deadly insecticide dust at the bottom of the trap fells the flies.

TO BE GUESTS OF CITY NEXT WEEKEND

34 Foreign Students Coming

Thirty-four students from 20 different nations will be in Big Spring June 30.

These foreign students will arrive on the American Field Service bus at 6:15 Thursday and spend the weekend with Big Spring families.

GREETINGS
They will be greeted at the First National Bank Parking lot by Mayor Arnold Marshall, members of the Red Coat Ambassador's Club, local American Field Service officials and their host families.

The students are en route to New York City, where they will depart for their home countries. The 19 girls, 15 boys and their two chaperones embarked from Southern California, where the students have been going to school for the last year.

There are students from Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Finland, Germany, Iran, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands,

New Zealand, Norway, Peru, Philippines, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

ACTIVITIES
The local chapter of American Field Services has made arrangements for a full weekend of activities for the visitors, said Mrs. R. J. Ream, president. The students will spend Thursday evening with their local host families getting acquainted. Friday afternoon, they will tour

Webb AFB and get a first-hand look at the pilot training program.

Friday evening, the students will be guests at a party in the pool area at the Cosden Country Club. Saturday, they will meet at 4 p.m. at the totem pole in City Park for a recreation period and at 6 p.m., they will depart for the Horace Garrett Ranch for a swim party and a barbecue dinner.

There will be a talent show and square dance exposition for the visitors at the Garrett Ranch. The students will leave Sunday morning at 8 o'clock from the First National Bank parking lot.

COAHOMA (SC) — Double Exposure, owned by Line Hicks, Sonora, was picked as the grand champion stallion, and Dawn Five, owned by Maxine Reed, Goldsmith, was named grand champion mare at the third annual Coahoma Quarter Horse Show at the Roping Club arena here Saturday.

Scores of horses were entered in 30 categories, and the sheer numbers kept Tommy Buckner, Big Spring, the judge, busy until late in the day. Saturday night the cutting horse show was in full swing under the sponsorship of the West Texas Cutting Horse association.

BID COLTS
Double Exposure is a Double Bid colt, while Dawn Five's sire is Pale Face. Double Jan, owned by Scharbauer Cattle Company, was reserve mare. She also was sired by Double Bid.
The all-round youth trophy was awarded to Mike Connie, Midland.

The show also featured riding and roping events in addition to the various classes. Gerald Oakes, vocational agriculture teacher at Coahoma, served as show manager.
First place winners in the various categories were:

Rites Pending For Mrs. Kay
Mrs. Lillie Kay, 77, of the Vealmoor Community, died Friday in a Big Spring hospital after an illness of two years. She was born Feb. 29, 1889, in Falls County. She made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Carl McKee for the past 22 months.
Mrs. Kay was a member of the First Baptist Church of Kosse.
Survivors include her husband, Mr. W. M. Kay, of Kosse; three daughters, Mrs. Carl McKee of the Vealmoor Community, Mrs. J. B. Laxson of Waco, and Mrs. Howard Hunt of Houston; two sons, J. C. Kay of Houston; 11 grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.
One son, Ray Kay, preceded her in death.
Funeral services are pending under the direction of the White Funeral Home of Kosse. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements.

Physician Total Passes 11,200
At the beginning of 1966, there were 11,218 physicians (doctors of medicine) in Texas and 292,088 in the United States. With the recent graduations from the nation's 88 medical schools, the physician population will reach a new medical milestone and go over the 300,000 mark.
The number of physicians in the United States has been increasing faster than the general population for several years. The population of Texas is currently estimated to be 7,700,000. At the present time, Texas has a ratio of one physician for every 954 people.

4-H Rodeo Board Picked
Directors for the H-H Junior Rodeo, Aug. 11-12-13, were named and an adult committee selected at a countywide 4-H Club meeting here Saturday.
Members chosen as rodeo directors were Gary McNew, Lawrence Long, Danny Fryar, Freddie Newman, and Mike Bridge. Mike McClain, who is chairman of the county 4-H council, is an ex-officio director.
Chosen to serve on the adult committee were Raymond Phillips, Neil Fryar, Billy Wayne Jackson, Dothard Soechting, and Robert Brown.
Tickets for advance sales were distributed, and they will go for $1 adults and 50 cents children.
Members will be contacting business houses soon for ads in the traditional rodeo program.

Daughter Born
Sp.5 and Mrs. Robby J. Allen became the parents of a daughter, Bronwyn Jaye, Saturday 8:55 p.m. at the Fort Ord, Calif., hospital. The baby weighed 6 pounds and 12 ounces. The Allens reside at 138 Fourth Div. Ave. in Fort Ord. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Clark, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen, all of Big Spring.

Capt. Grimes receives medal, cluster

Three medals were presented at the Webb wing parade and review Saturday morning during graduation ceremonies for Class 66-II. Capt. Jerry S. Grimes received both the Air Medal and Oak Leaf cluster for service in Southeast Asia. Lt. Robert A. Kuropkat was awarded the Oak Leaf cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross.

J. A. Stiager Rites Today
COLORADO CITY (SC) — James A. Stiager, 66, died in Bennett House in Big Spring Saturday after a long illness.
Mr. Stiager had lived in Big Spring for 11 years, and was a former resident of Westbrook and Monahans. He was a retired service station operator, born in Grand Saline, Feb. 6, 1900.
Services will be today at 2 p.m. from the Kiker and Son Chapel, Colorado City, Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church, Big Spring, assisted by Rev. Fred Smith, pastor of the Payne Baptist Church, Colorado City. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery.

Levander Wins GOP Stalemate
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Republicans broke a state convention stalemate Saturday by relaxing endorsement requirements and chose Harold E. Levander, a lawyer, as the party's choice for governor after 15 deadlocked ballots.
Levander, 55, defeated John S. Pillsbury Jr., 53, after a two-man stalemate that lasted most of two days.
Pillsbury, the obvious loser even before the decisive 16th ballot was announced, immediately moved to make the endorsement unanimous.

Agent Urges Crop Check
Farmers were alerted Saturday to be on the watch for flea hoppers.
County Agent Herb Helbig said there had been reports of some hoppers infestation, and he urged farmers to keep close check on their cotton fields for the next six weeks.
With the moisture situation as it is, hoppers could work on squares and cause the plants to lose its fruit. Helbig said producers would do well to maintain a specially close watch when cotton begins to square.
"It's the early bolls that make the big difference in the crop," said Helbig. Where damage appears probable, several chemicals are available, among them a systemic poison, Bidrin, which remains effective for several weeks.

Crushed By Truck
LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Lee Robert Wasick, 45, of Alice was killed Saturday north of Laredo when a huge truck rolled over him as he attempted to release the vehicle's brake lines.

Symington Wants Top Targets Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., says the Air Force should destroy the docks of Haiphong harbor and "the meaningful military targets in North Viet Nam."

His comments, made last March, were included in testimony made public Friday by the Senate Armed Forces Preparedness subcommittee. The group questioned top Air Force officials, including Chief of Staff Gen. John McConnell.

Symington said he wanted U.S. air power to "hit targets that really mean something, instead of barracks and buses and excarts."
He asked McConnell: "Do you believe that if we bombed the more meaningful targets, General, in North Viet Nam, it would improve our position as to what is received in South Viet Nam?"
"Yes, sir, it would," McConnell replied.

If restrictions were lifted on the bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam, Symington said, "I believe you would save the need for at least 100,000 ground troops who otherwise must go to South Viet Nam and would save a great deal of casualties."
"We are bombing the least important targets most, the more important targets less, and the most important targets not at all, and the American people are getting wise to what is going on."

Three Medals Given In Webb Ceremony
Three medals were presented at the Webb wing parade and review Saturday morning during graduation ceremonies for Class 66-II. Capt. Jerry S. Grimes received both the Air Medal and Oak Leaf cluster for service in Southeast Asia. Lt. Robert A. Kuropkat was awarded the Oak Leaf cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross.
The citation accompanying the award to Capt. Grimes read in part: "Capt. Jerry S. Grimes distinguished himself by meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial flight as a combat crew member in Southeast Asia... Outstanding airmanship and courage were exhibited in the successful accomplishment of important missions under extremely hazardous conditions including the continuous possibility of hostile aircraft. His highly professional efforts contributed materially to the mission of the United States Air Force in Southeast Asia."

Dates for service in the awarding of the Air Medal were from Oct. 24 to Dec. 21, 1965, while for the Oak Leaf cluster, Capt. Grimes was cited for the period Dec. 26, 1965 to Feb. 10, 1966.

Distinguished
The citation accompanying Lt. Kuropkat's award read in part: "... distinguished himself by extraordinary achievement during aerial flight as an electronic warfare supervisor from July 8 to Oct. 11, 1965. During this period he demonstrated outstanding airmanship and courage while flying special missions under extremely hazardous conditions. His successful completion of these missions produced information of vital importance to the nation's security. The professional skill, distinctive achievements and devotion to duty of Lt. Kuropkat reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."
Both officers have been assigned recently to Webb.

KBST Wins 2 Broadcasting State Awards
FORT WORTH (AP) — Radio Station KBST won two Texas Associated Press broadcasting awards for outstanding journalism Saturday night.
Jim Baum, station manager, was presented with awards for the best spot news and the best newscast over five minutes at this 19th annual meeting.
KVKM-TV in Monahans won two for the best documentary and the best newscast, and KOSA-TV in Odessa won the best spot news award. Radio Station KVKM in Monahans won three awards for best news special or documentary, best spot news, and best newscast over five minutes. This was in the category for cities under 30,000 population.
Radio Station KCRS in Midland won two awards for the best news special and best five minute newscast. KCRS is in the 25,000 to 75,000 population category with Big Spring.

Building Site Looting Listed
Al Milch of Al Milch Construction, told officers Friday that someone had removed more than $340 worth of construction materials from a building site at 404 1/2 Vicky.
Milch said 300 studs, nine pieces of lumber, a hand saw and 25 pounds of galvanized nails were taken.

ceremony in front of the memorial to our war dead, then everyone and every institution that has a bell is urged to ring it for three minutes.

Police Chief Jay Banks sounded a warning against purchasing of scrap copper. There has been an increasing number of thefts of copper wire and tubing, and the chief figures that youths are doing most of the pilfering. However, in the rural areas some experienced pole-skimmers must have been at work. In any event, everyone is warned not to buy what likely is stolen material, and, on the contrary, to notify officers.

D. M. McKinney is leaving Texas Electric Service at the end of the week after 46 years association with the company and its predecessor. Thirty-five of those years have been right here in Big Spring. Mac had intended on taking to the rocking chair, but the people at Lewisville (in the Fort Worth, Dallas area) signed him up as Chamber of Commerce manager. Mac's a worker, and Lewisville had better be ready to get with it.

The Rotary Club's installation turned out to be awards night as the club gave some deserved recognitions. One went to the Rev. Donald Hungerford, who retired as president; one to Adolph Swartz, for his spearheading the downtown rehabilitation; and one to Mrs. E. V. Spence, commemorating the great vision and service of her late husband, first general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Greathouse, Pierce and Davis No. 1 Armstrong completed as a Pennsylvania discovery five miles southeast of Ackerly and in extreme Northwest Howard. It flowed 283 barrels of 41-gravity oil from 9,950-87.

Wrestling came back to town Thursday, and in a big way. Around 2,500 turned out for the first grappling events at the City Park amphitheatre. The performers sensed the feeling, put on a feverish show, had everyone in a frenzy, including the sponsoring ABC club, which delightfully cleaned up financially.

The 3560th Pilot Training wing has a new commanding officer—Col. Thomas J. Rowland. A native of Wichita Falls, the colonel is conversant with this general area, and certainly with his rich background of experience, he knows the Air Force, too.
Last week the United Fund budget and screening committee spent three evenings hearing requests from the various agencies. By the time this group adds up the asking figures, it will have the task of weighing the total against anticipated resources. In the absence of a magic wand, it's safe to assume that there may be some paring of requests.

The city's parks board had a busy session last week, and among other things wanted to find out whatever became of the proposal for joint development with the schools of the Boydston area. Perhaps this proposal can be resurrected.

At least two of the bogus $20 bills sprinkled liberally across West Texas were passed here. (One of the alleged passers was picked up in Tuscon, Ariz.) The phony bills were passed in dimly lighted night spots for the most part. Instead of keeping a candle in the window, it might be better to keep it over the cash register.

New Phone Trap Works
DALLAS (AP) — New telephone equipment to help trace obscene phone callers netted its first offender in Dallas early Saturday. Southwestern Bell Telephone officials reported.
Richard Bates, 21, was charged with making an obscene and indecent telephone call to a Mesquite housewife.
Telephone officials said the new polarity trap which ties up the offender's phone line was used to trace the call to the woman's residence.
An obscene phone call was placed at 1:21 a.m. Saturday to the housewife and the phone call lasted until 1:50 a.m. Bates was arrested shortly after 2 a.m., sheriff's deputy A. D. McCurley said.
Bates was the second person charged in the North Texas area with making obscene phone calls since the new phone tracing equipment has been installed. Phone company officials said. The first was arrested in Fort Worth Thursday.

Auto Crash Hurts Woman
A Howard County woman was shaken up in an early-evening auto crash at FM 700 and Scurry Saturday, officers said.
Mrs. Ethel N. Swiger, Sterling City Rt., was taken by Big Spring Ambulance Service to Cowper Clinic and Hospital, where she was treated and released.

IN COLLISION
Police said the Swiger vehicle was in collision with a car driven by Harry Joseph Hopper Jr., Webb Air Force Base, about 6:10 p.m. The Swiger car was traveling south on Scurry and the Hopper car east on FM 700, police said. The Hopper car sustained an estimated $400 damage, and was removed from the scene by independent wrecker. The Swiger auto had about $350 damage, but was moved away under its own power.
Another wreck Saturday, and three Friday, injured no one. Involved Saturday were the car of Margaret Y. McDonnell, 2709 Larry Drive, and the parked car of George Amante, 514 Washington, in the 200 block of West Sixth.
EARLIER
Friday wrecks included the cars of Bonnie King, 4201 Oak, and Martha B. Merrick, Rt. 1, Box 292, at Airport and Wright; the car of Elmer R. Greggie, Webb Air Force Base, which hit a street marker at the Ranch Inn Motel, west city limits on US 90 west; and the car of W. L. Thompson, 1609 Stadium, which rolled from a parked position into a light pole at Fifth and Birdwell Lane.

LURID DETAILS OF AIRSHIP BEFORE WRIGHT BROTHERS

Texas In 1897 Agog At UFO Sightings

Editor's note: The unidentified flying object issue is really nothing new, of least as far as Texas is concerned, according to Houston Post reporter Frank Masquelette. He reported sightings of the Houston Daily Post and the Dallas Morning News to come up with this report.

By FRANK MASQUELETTE
Houston Post Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Yellowed newspaper clippings tell of a series of sightings across Texas in 1897 of the "mysterious airship."

The datelines include Childress, Atlanta, Merkel, Aurora.

They add up to what might be called: The Great Airship Flap of 1897.

ACCOUNTS
Although accounts of the sightings came from ministers, judges, physicians and attorneys, many obviously were products of unbridled imagination.

Still, they are informative, and bear a resemblance with many accounts nowadays of unidentified flying objects (UFO).

Consider this report from the 1897 Houston Daily Post:

"Childress, Texas, April 17—The much talked-of airship was seen here last night about 1:16 o'clock. The Rev. J. W. Smith was the first to discover the curious aerial monster.

"He thought at first that it was a star shooting, but after watching it a moment or two, saw that it was not . . .

VANISHED
"It soon disappeared, traveling in a westerly direction. The Rev. Smith thinks that it must have been 2,000 feet high and traveling very fast."

About a week later came this report in the Houston Daily Post of April 23, 1897:

"Merkel, Texas, April 26—Some parties returning from church last night noticed a heavy object dragging along with a rope attached.

"They followed it until in crossing the railroad it caught on a rail. On looking up they saw what they supposed was the airship.

"It was not near enough to get an idea of the dimensions. A light could be seen protruding from several windows; one bright light in front like the headlight of a locomotive.

"After some 10 minutes, a man was seen descending the rope; he came near enough to be plainly seen; he wore a light blue sailor suit, was small in size.

SAILOR
"He stopped when he discovered parties at the anchor and cut the rope below him and sailed off in a northeast direction.

"The anchor is now on exhibition at the blacksmith shop of Elliott & Miller and is attracting the attention of hundreds of people."

Another bizarre account was found in the April 19, 1897, edition of the Dallas Morning News:

"Aurora, Wise County, April 17—About 6 o'clock this morning

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, June 26, 1966 9-A

the early risers of Aurora were astonished at the sudden appearance of the airship which has been sailing throughout the country.

"It sailed directly over the public square, and when it reached the north part of town, collided with the tower of Judge Proctor's windmill and went to pieces with a terrific explosion, scattering debris over several acres of ground, wrecking the windmill and water tank and destroying the judge's flower garden.

FIND REMAINS
"The pilot of the ship is supposed to have been the only one aboard, and while his remains are badly disfigured, enough of the original has been picked up to show that he was not an inhabitant of this world.

"Mr. T. J. Weems, the U.S. Signal Service officer at this place and an authority on astronomy, gives it as his opinion that he (the pilot) was a native of the Planet Mars."

"Papers found...are written in some unknown hieroglyphics. This ship was too badly wrecked to form any conclusion as to its construction or motive power."

"The town is full of people today who are viewing the wreck and gathering specimens of strange metal from the debris. The pilot's funeral will take place at noon tomorrow."

Texasans, after all, are not known for taking a back seat to much of anything, and 19th century UFO sightings are no exception.

VA Hospitals Look Into Process Of Growing Old

Growing old is simply a question of mind over matter — if you don't mind, it doesn't matter. That is the consensus of researchers in the psychology of aging at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston. Regardless of their age, persons who are effective and productive do not think of themselves as growing old. Apparently they are not aware that they are aging.

In sharp contrast, the researchers observed that individuals who have difficulty in their adaptation to later life tend to worry about growing old even while they are relatively young.

An integral part of the evaluation included assessing the attitudes of different age groups toward growing old. The results of this study point to techniques that hopefully will be helpful in motivating persons who have difficulty in facing the problems of aging.

As the average age of American war veterans passes 46 years, the expanding research program in aging and the health problems of senior citizens established by the VA has been functioning long enough to begin to report its findings.

ASPECTS OF AGING

Concerned with the physical aspects of aging, researchers at one VA hospital observed a progressive enlargement of the heart and changes of metabolism during the aging process. They noted a decrease in protein albumin carried to the heart muscle, and a decrease in hyaluronic acid present in organs having an increasing amount of connective tissue.

The loss of hyaluronic acid would account for many of the characteristics associated with aging, they contended. In the animal laboratory they were able to demonstrate an increase in albumin and hyaluronic acid in the vital organs following the administration of the female hormone estrogen.

While an expected increase has occurred in the number of patients suffering from the chronic diseases which affect older persons, the VA hospitals have had an increase of 23 per cent in the number of arteriosclerotic heart-disease-patients and an increase of 50 per cent in the number of patients suffering strokes and other brain damage accompanying aging.

Certain complex body sugars called mucopolysaccharides (MPS), always decrease with age, according to research workers at the VA hospital in West Roxbury, Mass. They also found an increased resistance to drying by the MPS while the water content decreased with age.

VARIOUS STUDIES

One study is expected to provide descriptions of the normal aging process, prediction of later outcomes, and correlation of variables.

In another, Spanish-American War veterans are being studied in an attempt to learn what factors have influenced the survival of this group of veterans who now average 87 years of age.

At the VA Center in Los Angeles, 400 domiciliary members have had their diets altered so that normal fat has been mostly replaced by unsaturated fats. This experiment is double blind, which means that neither the patients nor their doctors know which patients are receiving experimental diets and which get regular diets.

Lt. Col. J. P. Baird congratulates Sgt. Nathan Mitchell

Sergeant Wins Freedoms Award

S. Sgt. Nathan S. Mitchell, who is assigned to data automation, received the George Washington Honor Medal for his participation in the 1965 letter writing contest for military personnel. The award was presented in the Webb wing staff meeting room by Lt. Col. Julian B. Baird, comptroller.

Sgt. Mitchell recently was notified by the Freedoms Foundation that he had been awarded the George Washington Honor Medal and $100 in the 1965 letter writing contest for military personnel. Sgt. Mitchell wrote the winning letter while stationed in Japan.

He recalls being interested in writing since he was 12 years old.

"I was 12 that night I had this vivid dream," he said. "It left such an impression that I was compelled to write my dream in story form. Since that night I've been writing almost every chance I get."

Sgt. Mitchell has written several articles that have been published in national magazines. He says success as a writer is a long, difficult road filled with rejection slips and disappointments. Although Sgt. Mitchell hopes to write professionally as a writer, presently his writing is largely a means of personal satisfaction and enjoyment.

In the prize winning letter, he wrote:

"Perhaps one of the most important questions today is not the polite 'Who are you?' but 'What are you?' To many people, the answer to this question is certainly variable. To me, fortunately, the answer is easy: I AM AN AMERICAN. In my mind, never in the history of mankind have four words meant so much. As an American fighting man and a guardian of the nation, I am hardly ever in any official position of 'selling' any ideas to anyone regarding the American way. I do, however, endeavor to exemplify that being an American is an important heritage bequeathed me by many great men of the past. Great men gave their lives that we may enjoy such happiness, security, and contentment as we have today. With such a valuable inheritance I feel behooved — even obligated — to guard and protect this with all I have."

Awards Given Newspapers

EL PASO (AP) — The Pasadena News Citizen was named Friday as General Excellence winner for daily newspapers in towns of 15,000 or more population at the summer convention of the Texas Press Association.

The Athens Daily Review was named General Excellence winner for daily newspapers for towns of less than 15,000.

The awards were announced at the opening business session of the association's three-day meeting.

The News Citizen won first place in the editorial contest and third places for appearance, column writing and news pictures.

The Daily Review won first in news pictures and second in column writing.

Other General Excellence winners were:

Weekly newspapers in towns of more than 6,000: Conroe Courier; for towns of 3,501-6,000, Gilmer Mirror; 2,001-3,500, Webster News Citizen; 2,000 or less, DeSoto Star.

The awards were presented by TPA President Winn B. Crossley of the Madisonville-Meeker. He was assisted by first vice president Jim Barnhill of Hillsboro and second vice president Harold Hudson of the Ochiltree County Herald of Perryton.

Mrs. Humphreys Rites Saturday

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. D. D. Humphreys, elderly Westbrook woman, died Thursday in the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City after a long illness.

She was born in Parker County. Her husband died in 1949. She was a member of the Methodist Church at Westbrook.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the First Methodist Church of Westbrook, and burial was in the Westbrook Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Mrs. Humphreys is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary McCarty of Lockney.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Reminiscences Of Days Of The Buffalo Hunter

One thing about editing a Texas swapshop like this is the growing conviction that Texas is also a State of Mind and all her sons aren't bounded by Canadian, Red, Sabine and Rio Grande country. Take Phoenix, Arizona's F. B. Creekmore: "Seems to me I've been enjoying OBT's efforts for Texas heritage long enough without some kind of contribution. So here goes—from memory. Your readers can add or correct."

"The buffalo hunters' dugouts in the bank of Deep Creek on the grounds of what was Snyder's only high school in the 1940's. . . Scurry County's first dugout, east of Snyder—don't remember who owned the land; his wife was stepdaughter of Ranger Frank Hamer. . . The flattened mesa north—MacKenzie Mountain—where (Indian-fighting General) Ranald MacKenzie's dogfaces surrounded bronco Indians and rescued white captives—brother and sister, as I recall the way it was told.

"J. Wright Moor, probably our greatest buffalo hunter, had a home north of Snyder. . . in it, once, was the hide of the last Indian. . ."

East Texas — ways: "The grim walls of the old State penitentiary at Rusk. I think John Wesley Hardin, continued

YOU WRITE THIS COLUMN

Many years ago, William Edward Syers began writing a different kind of Texas history, probing into the forgotten spots "Off the Beaten Trail."

These provided Ed Syers with a wealth of material and a rich background in Texiana, but when he thought to quietly kill off his column, letters poured in by the scores and hundreds. Most of them contained tid-bits of local history. This gave Syers another idea. Why not put together a Texas history column which you and hundreds like you would write? This is the new offering under the OBT brand. If you have something to tell about your area, and especially some virtue to tell to tourists and others, write OBT, care of The Herald. Or, if you have questions; maybe other Texans can help supply the answers.

there, just wouldn't do anything they told him; finally, they put him a tank of water—pump or drown. They took him out, nearly drowned. . . There was a tale of some prisoner jumping into a vat of molten iron. This was when Texas operated an iron foundry there nearly a century ago, with prison labor. Now, of course, the old walls serve a gentler purpose as State Hospital for mental patients.

"This trail may be cold, but in 1940, couple of men from old Company A, Texas National Guard brought in from west of Rusk some 'pieces of a man' who had turned to iron ore rock. I saw them; must have been in Texas in those days. . . There's the story of Moses Rose who went over the wall at Alamo; said he was buried in a little cemetery between Rusk and Alto, but I don't know which. . . What about world's biggest dogwood tree, south of Rusk? "Also, Indian mounds west of Alto, Texas—U. dug one of them in the early '40s. What kind of man did they decide built those mounds?"

Note: Texian Creekmore, like many, should see the growing, accurate, excellent preservation of our heritage—iron-plaques of our Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Long — from home, he proves a point on transplanted sons. It isn't being away necessarily that makes you feel Texas the stronger; it's sometimes being so close, we take her for granted.

San Antonio's Roy Rowland: "In 1904, my family made a mule-wagon trip to Brownsville. There were no railroads to the Valley. Yet at Brownsville, we went across to Point (later Port) Isabel on a 20-mile-long narrow gauge railroad which transported freight and passengers. How did this 'lost' railroad come to be?"

MAILBOX: (Write OBT, in care of Big Spring Herald).

San Antonio's Mrs. Jimmy Hays: "May we camp McKittrick Canyon? Are there pine forests in the Davis Mountains?" Note: Fine camping but pines only at Davis and Big Bend; McKittrick's mountain ponderosa will open only as national park, pending. . . Houston's Mrs. Margaret Anderson: "About vacationing Big Bend how's the heat?" Note: Big Bend 'heat' registers high day numbers, but comfortably dry; fine, cool nights. . . Ed Syers

Emerson And Ralston In Net Quarterfinals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Roy Emerson, champion of Wimbledon for the past two years, breezed past Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 Saturday and joined Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in the quarter-finals of the All-England Tennis Tournament. Emerson was the only one of the men to advance before rain

Hurdles Record Falls In AAU

NEW YORK (AP) — Defending champion Willie Davenport broke a meet record in winning the 120-yard high hurdles and two other meet marks were tied Saturday as a star-studded field battled for National AAU outdoor track and field titles and berths on America's international team.

Eight finals were run off Saturday with 11 scheduled for the Sunday windup. Lee Evans, 18-year-old freshman from San Jose, Calif., City College, tied the meet record for the 440-yard run in winning his semifinal in 45.8. Evans, favored Theron Lewis, winner of his semifinal in 46.3, and six other feet quarter-milers will race it out in the final Sunday.

Davenport, who won the hurdles last year in 13.6, took this time in 13.3, edging Don Shy of the 48er Track Club of Los Angeles. The time was one-tenth of a second faster than the record set by Jack Davis of 1956 and tied by Jerry Tarr and Hayes Jones.

Phils Outlast Pirates, 8-7

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Homers by Bill White and Rich Allen and a triple by Dick Groat powered Philadelphia to an 8-7 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday night after a wild 48-minute first inning.

Great tripled in the lead run in the sixth, breaking a 5-5 tie, and also had a double, single and another run batted in. White's 12th homer, also scoring Cookie Rojas, iced the game in the seventh.

Athletics Win Over Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mike Herschberger's four runs batted in and Larry Stahl's three key hits led the Kansas City Athletics to a 7-1 victory over Cleveland Saturday.

Pittsburgh got three runs on two hits, two walks and a hit batsman in the first. But the Phils combined five hits and a walk for four runs.

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Pudge Bob Murphy of Florida shot a four-under-par 67 Saturday and added the National Collegiate Athletic Association golf title to his National Amateur crown.

Kaline Blast Gives Tigers Victory, 1-0

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline hit a two-out home run in the eighth-inning Saturday, lifting Detroit to a 1-0 victory over Minnesota.

Kaline's blow into the upper right-field seats broke up the scoreless battle that saw both starters, Detroit's Denny McLain and Jim Grant of Minnesota, leave in the seventh inning.

Garry Roggenbuck replaced Grant with the bases loaded and one out in the Tigers' seventh. He got pinch hitter Mickey Stanley on a fly ball and Dick McAuliffe on a grounder.

Roggenbuck also got the first two outs in the eighth, but Kaline came through with his 12th homer.

Tommy Aaron Low In Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy Aaron, almost always a contender but not a winner, shot a 69 Saturday for a one-under-par total of 212 and took the third-round lead in the $100,000 Western Open Golf tournament.

One stroke back at 213 were Billy Casper, the new National Open king and defending titlist; Ken Venturi, the 1964 Open champion, and Kermit Zarley, the 1962 NCAA champion.

In sweltering 95-degree heat, Aaron fashioned 35-34 standard. Casper had 36-35-72, Venturi 34-37-71 and Zarley, who was tied for the 36-hole lead with Homero Blancas, his one-time University of Houston teammate, posted 37-36-73.

Blancas slipped to 74 for 214 to share this bracket with Jack McGowan, who tied for second in the 1965 Western Open.

Arnold Palmer's showdown with Casper, who rallied to defeat the slumping Palmer for the National Open crown a week ago, faded. Arnie, demanding a majority of the crowd of 16,300, skidded to 75 for 217.

Both Palmer and Venturi were bitter about the slow play of the National Open and then came here and slow down," said Arnie. "They put in a rule to speed up play and then they don't do anything about it."

Venturi said he was "dead tired."

"We had to wait on every tee and it took us four hours and 45 minutes to finish — it's ridiculous," said Venturi. "It was all caused when the first group of the day (Jay Hebert and Joel Goldstrand) took 4:19. It clogged the rest of us and the time never could be made up."

The lowest third round was 77-30 by George Archer of Gilroy, Calif., the 1965 LPGA International champion. His sizzling back nine with five birdies was a competitive record for Medina's timbered No. 3 course.

The field for Sunday's windup was reduced to 60, with 226 being the cutoff mark.

Aaron is one of the best players among PGA regulars who has never won a tour title. But he's always dangerous and has $16,722 in winnings this year.

Aaron had birdie putts of 4 1/2, 15 and 2 feet and holed out on a 25-foot chip for another. He overshot the ninth green and was trapped on the 15th for his only bogie.

Casper hit at least four traps, costing him bogies each time, but compensated with 5, 36 and 10-foot birdie 3 putts.

Venturi had the lead all to himself after 45 holes but went over the 15th green to drop a stroke to par and bogeyed the 18th when he was in the sand.

Three strokes off the pace with 215 was Gay Brewer with 11 one-putt greens for a 69. Bruce Devlin, with 70, shared 216 with Archer.

Astros Decision Cards, 3-2, Behind M. Cuellar

HOUSTON (AP) — Undefeated Mike Cuellar won his sixth game for Houston by scattering seven hits and the Astros made the most of four errors for a 3-2 victory over St. Louis Saturday night.

Morgan injured in Astro drill

HOUSTON (AP) — Joe Morgan, Houston's second baseman, was lost to the Astros for at least three weeks Saturday night when his right knee cap was fractured by a ball hit by teammate Lee Maye.

Morgan, the Astros' leading batter with a .319 average, was hit on the knee cap during batting practice by a smash off Maye's bat. He was taken to a hospital, where X-rays showed the fracture.

Morgan's leg has been placed in a cast and it is estimated that he will be lost for three or four weeks.

pushed across unearned runs in the fourth and seventh.

In the fourth, Rusty Staub singled and when pitcher Ray Washburn threw wild, Staub went to second. Phil Gagliano's error on Dave Nicholson's grounder moved Staub to third.

Bob Aspromonte then grounded into a force out at second but home plate was left unguarded and Staub scored when Julian Javier's throw went wild.

Cuellar struck out 15 — high in the majors this season. He walked three.

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves swept a day-night doubleheader from Los Angeles Saturday, winning the opener 5-4 and taking the nightcap 4-3, handing Dodger right-hander Don Drysdale his sixth straight loss and 10th of the season.

The doubleheader sweep was Atlanta's first this year, with a crowd of 47,226 watching the night game after 32,063 turned out in the afternoon.

Pitcher Tony Cloninger singled in two runs and blanked the Dodgers for six innings in the nightcap before Tommy Davis singled and Jim Lefebvre lined a hit off the Atlanta pitcher's foot. Limping, Cloninger went back to the mound but was tagged for a three-run homer by John Roseboro.

Cloninger was lifted after the seventh inning but got credit for his eighth victory against seven losses.

The Braves built a 4-0 lead with one run in the first inning and a three-run uprising in the sixth capped by Cloninger's two-run single.

The Braves won the afternoon game with home runs by Joe Torre, Rico Carty and pitcher Ken Johnson, who checked the Dodgers on seven hits in his first complete game in 14 tries against Los Angeles.

Indians nudge Bengals, 5-3

The Indians struck for all their runs in the third inning in posting a 5-3 Texas Little League victory over the Tigers here Saturday night.

The win enabled the Indians, who have an 11-7 record, to solidify their hold on second place.

Mike Smith clubbed a home run in the fifth for the winners with Oscar Flores on base.

Track Champ Likes Distance Races

CAMP SPRINGS, Md. (AP)—Marie Mulder, America's top women's distance runner, has an unusual problem. The distances are too short.

The 16-year-old charmer, in two years of competition, already has established American records for 800 yards and 800 meters. But Marie thinks she'd do much better in the mile or its international equivalent of 1,600 meters.

Not many meets have the mile run for women, but it is becoming more common. Marie thinks the 1,500-meter run will be added to the Olympic program by 1972, and she is willing to run six more years to compete in the dream-come-true event.

"I don't have enough speed to run the half," Miss Mulder said. "The mile is concerned mostly with endurance, and that's what I have."

Stan Pitts, her coach at Crossland High School, agrees. "Marie has tremendous endurance," Pitts said, "but the half is not her race. The longer the race, the better off she is. I think she'd be a good two-mile runner."

Miss Mulder won the 800-yard run in 2 minutes, 11.1 seconds at the Women's National AAU meet in Columbus, Ohio, last July and captured the 1,500-meter

Cabots Win Over Stars

The Cabots retained their chances at a first place finish in American Little League Stars, 13-0, here Thursday night. Cabot now has an 11-6 record, which leaves it one contest behind the front-running Jets.

The Cabots were shut out until the fourth inning, at which time they struck for nine runs. Scott Carlile registered the pitching win.

Danny Weir, Duke Dyan and Billy Henkel each had two hits for the winners.

Juniors Can Qualify For State August 8

The Big Spring Country Club will be the scene Monday, Aug. 8, of regional qualifying for the State Junior Golf tournament.

The big meet itself will be unreeled Aug. 15-19 in San Antonio.

The local course is one of 14 across Texas holding regional eliminations and the only one in this immediate area.

Entry deadline for boys who will not be 19 years of age by Aug. 5 is July 25.

The Texas PGA combines with the San Antonio Light, originator of the tournament, is sponsoring the event.

Two qualifying tournaments will be played Aug. 5 at Brock Park, Houston; and Tyrell Park, Beaumont.

The other 11 scheduled Aug. 8, in addition to the one scheduled here, include: Pinecrest, Longview; Rockwood, Fort Worth; Eastern Hills, Garland; Weeks Park, Wichita Falls; Lake Waco, Waco; Pampa

Pirates Trip Hawks, 5-1

The Pirates remained one game off the pace in American Little League play Friday night by drubbing the Hawks, 5-1.

The Hawks were blanked by Gregg Crawford until the sixth, when Rickey Huckabee crossed the plate after walking. He advanced home on a hit by Alan Hill.

The Pirates made the most of four hits. They crowded four of their runs across the plate in the third with the assistance of only one safety. That was a single by Albert Carlile.

Ed Gill Named Coach Of West

By TOMMY HART

Eddie Gill, whose plans for this fall haven't yet been firmed up, will coach the West team in the annual Eight-Man All-Star football game, which takes place in Abilene in August.

RIVES MCBEE

Gill, who guided Sands High School to a successful season last year, reports for duty August 7. He'll be allowed to use one of his own players, halfback Ricky Kemp. Ben Hogan didn't play the 18th hole in the third round of the U.S. Open tournament in San Francisco this year any better than he did when he lost that playoff match to Jack Fleck on the same course 11 years before.

Each time he took a buzzard six. Rives McBee, the Midlander who scored a record-tying 64 in the second round of the U.S. Open this year, will probably go on the tour with the help of the same sponsors who originally backed Bobby Nichols. Tommy Wilkerson, who played frequently with McBee around Denton, says the best parts of Rives' game are his wedge shots and his putting. Tommy, who, incidentally, will get his degree at North Texas University after one more semester and who then probably will get a tour of duty with the military, thinks McBee will be a winner on the pro tour.

That hole-in-one Wilkerson at the Muny course here recently was his first and he's been golfing eight years. Baseball may be a dying sport but last Sunday crowds totaling 298,051 saw the big league teams in action. Terry Jastrow, Midland Lee's fine all-around athlete, will attend the University of Houston on a golf scholarship, although the University of Texas offered him the same sort of arrangement. Tommy's Lettuce, owned by L. Burchell of Big Spring, won a 6 1/2 furlong race at Ruidoso Downs a week ago yesterday, rewarding his backers with a $6.20, $3.80 and $2.80 payoff. Gary Player played in only 12 golf tournaments in this country last year and will be in only ten this year.

The trip he made with his Morton's Foods softball team to the Wichita Falls tournament recently proved expensive to sponsor-player Cotton Mize. Cotton gave a wallet containing $190 in cash and a $15 check to his wife for safekeeping during a contest. Some light-fingered person came up under the stands and lifted the purse which Mrs. Mize had placed between her feet. Mize had to borrow $20 to return home.

The Men's Class of the First Presbyterian Church will hear a talk by pro footballer Danny Birdwell at a chicken barbecue, scheduled to be held at the manse, 401 Edwards, starting at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Winners of three 1966 PGA tournaments failed to qualify for this year's U. S. Open—Bert Yancey (Azalea and Memphis Opens) and Harold Henning (Texas Open).

Johnny Poulson, A. J. Foyt's chief mechanic, has almost completely rebuilt the racing car Foyt wrecked in Milwaukee. That was the vehicle Jimmy Clark piloted to a second place finish at Indianapolis this year.

Roy McMillin, who got his start in professional baseball in Ballinger in the old Longhorn League, has now played in more than 2,000 major league contests. He's now with the New York Mets.

SMU quarterback Mac White, whose parents now reside here, is working this summer as a guard in the Dallas county jail.

Dick Irons, the local griddler who begins his varsity eligibility at SMU this fall, is handling heavy lumber between school terms while his team mate, Don White, is helping his dad run a dairy here.

They say that Mickey Mantle will become a sports announcer for NBC at a fancy salary after this season with the New York Yankees.

A well-known area athlete enrolled in a book-keeping course in high school and told friends later he had no idea what he was getting into, that he thought the course had something to do with looking after books in a library.

Twenty-three of the pro golf tour's 41 tournaments this year pay is at least $100,000 each in prize money.

BUILDING SELF-CONFIDENCE AT REHAB POOL
Youngsters lose fear of water early

Swimming Is Enjoyable But Can Be Dangerous

By JERRY MONSON

Swimming, boating, water skiing, skin and scuba diving are among the most enjoyable—and the most hazardous—popular recreation activities available to the average American, according to Jim Gilbert, physical director at the YMCA.

"Because millions of Americans don't know how to swim, drowning has become the fourth largest accident killer in the country," he said. "Each year sees an increase in water sports—and in water tragedies. The number of backyard swimming pools has climbed to well over a quarter of a million. Commercial and public pools total better than 115,000.

"Swimming and water sports are among the healthiest body-conditioning activities," Gilbert said. "They offer a perfect opportunity to combine fun and fitness.

"Learning to swim is not difficult. It's mostly a matter of taking the time and trouble to learn. Yet, millions of Americans, including many of our own townsmen, don't know how to swim and won't make an effort to learn.

"They're playing around with danger every time they go near the water."

The YMCA offers a wide, varied swim instruction program, beginning with "tiny tots," ages 3-5, and continuing through men's and women's beginner classes.

"Enrollment in our swim programs has really jumped," said Curtis Mullins, Y general secretary. "In the past two years, the whole program has seen an increase of 405 youngsters, from 248 in 1964 to 653 in 1966—and this is just for the summer enrollment program alone."

Classes the Y offers include tiny tot, beginner (minnows), fish, flying fish and shark (various levels of swimming) junior and senior life-saving, a "drown-proofing" class, teen beginner instruction, women's and men's summer classes from Mrs. Peg Russell, who taught swimming during the school year. This is her third year at volunteer work and first at the Rehab Center; two years were spent in volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital, in occupational therapy.

"The class for handicapped youngsters meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30-9:30 a.m. There are about eight children a day in the class, with 10 or 12 different youngsters participating weekly. About eight volunteer instructors rotate the classes.

"These children have almost all types of handicaps," Cynthia said. "Among the most common are cerebral palsy, rheumatic fever and rheumatoid arthritis. In addition, we have several youngsters from the special education class in instruction occasionally."

There are several phases of the class, among them teaching the children how to breathe under water and swimming the length of the pool under and on top of the water. Children must glide the length of the pool, do different water exercises, hold their breath under water for fairly long periods of time, and float.

"The class teaches the children not to be afraid of the water," Cynthia said. "In addition to strengthening their muscles and teaching them balance, it builds self-confidence.

"Perhaps this is the most important thing."

"COME ON, YOU FISHES AND MINNOWS!"

classes, all instructors are fully qualified and certified, at annual intervals.

"Water safety is mostly a matter of common sense," Gilbert said. "The rules for avoiding danger are few and simple. Simplest of all—and most important—is learning how to swim from a certified, qualified instructor.

"That way you can have all of the fun of swimming and none of the risks."

Swimming takes a new approach at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, where Cynthia Condon, a 17-year-old Forsan High School graduate, volunteers her time and skills to teach handicapped children how to swim.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Condon, Box 1683, Big Spring, Cynthia is taking over the summer classes from Mrs. Peg Russell, who taught swimming during the school year. This is her third year at volunteer work and first at the Rehab Center; two years were spent in volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital, in occupational therapy.

Jim Bunning Making Foes Whiff At Air

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jim Bunning says he doesn't know why he's successful with the strikeout pitch.

"I'm not an overpowering type of pitcher," the 34-year-old right hander observed after reaching a plateau shared by only 18 other pitchers in major-league history.

"Each club has one guy who can throw harder than I can," he said.

Bunning recorded his 2,000th strikeout when he whiffed Jesse Gonder, Pittsburgh catcher, in the second inning of Friday night's game between the Phillies and Pirates.

Bunning found it a trifle difficult speaking about strikeouts after suffering his third straight defeat. The Pirates, behind Bob Veale's five-hit pitching and solo homers by Robert Clemente (11), Gonder (4) and Willie Stargell (15), won 3-1. The Phillies scored their only run in the ninth as Veale recorded his eighth win in 13 decisions. The Phillies now have scored one run for Bunning in his last three decisions.

Was he aware of the impending record?

"Sure, I've been looking forward to it since spring training when I realized I needed 197 to make the 2,000."

Bunning admitted before Friday's game that for the first time in his 10-year major-league career he found himself trying for strikeouts.

He was eager to join the club headed by the great Walter Johnson, who struck out 3,505 batters in his career. The only active pitchers with more than 2,000 strikeouts are Robin Roberts (2,581), Sandy Koufax (2,211) and Don Drysdale (2,015).

What does he feel contributes to his ability to strike out so many hitters?

"I guess it's because I'm not afraid to set up a hitter. I mean moving the ball around, one high, and the next low and away, and then coming back with another high hard one.

"You have to keep the hitter guessing, get him to swing at your pitch, not the one he wants."

Bunning said the only time he usually tries for a strikeout is when there are runners in scoring position, or a spot where he has to keep a runner from advancing.

Bunning, if he reaches the 268 strikeouts he had last season, would pass John Clarkson (2,013), Dazzy Vance (2,045), Bob Newsome (2,062), and Ed Plank (2,112) of the inactive members of the 2,000 or more club.

"Now that I've reached 2,000," said Bunning, "I had better forget the strikeouts and concentrate on winning. That's what really counts."

The other 2,000 or more strikeout pitchers are Cy Young second to Johnson with 2,819; Warren Spahn (2,553), Bob Feller (2,581), Tom Keefe (2,524), Christy Mathewson (2,565), Early Wynn (2,334), George Waddell (2,310), Lefty Grove (2,266) and Grover Alexander (2,198).

Stewarts Form Fine Father-Son Tandem

DALLAS (AP) — When Earl Stewart III was two years old he reached the ninth grade had his golf clubs, went into the back yard and started swinging.

His dad, Earl Stewart Jr., a former intercollegiate golf champion and later a star on the PGA tour, noticed the youngster's interest and soon started giving him hints on playing the game.

Earl Stewart III, by now known as Chip — his mother said there were too many Earls around the place already and it was confusing — took part in all sports in grade school.

So his father called him in one day, told him he should concentrate on one sport. Chip chose golf and by the time he had reached the ninth grade had become quite serious about it.

Chip started playing every day. For two years he has been his father's partner in the amateur tournament at Odessa, Tex. They were third in 1964, fourth in 1965.

Chip has made a lot of progress in just the past year. He went to the University of Texas on a golf scholarship. As a freshman this spring he qualified by leading the varsity by 20 strokes over 144 holes and he was 29 strokes ahead of the freshmen.

He also made four A's and two B's in his studies. Chip got 21 offers from colleges and his father thinks the boy's high scholastic standing was almost as much responsible as his golf ability.

"The colleges wanted him because they thought there would be no scholastic worries about him — that he would be sure to be eligible to play all the time," says Earl Stewart Jr.

Chip has three varsity years at Texas, which he will complete before thinking about playing golf for a living. He's taking business administration.

But it's pretty certain that about 1968 young Stewart will be following the sun along the golf trail with the professionals.

The boy has played in only one major tournament — the Dallas Open, staged at his father's course, the Oak Cliff Country Club. His father won this tournament in 1961 and usually wins big money each time it is played while serving the club as resident pro.

In the recent Dallas Open fans were intrigued with the competition between father and son. Earl Jr. is ready and willing for his son to beat him, if the youngster is able.

It looked for a time like Chip would turn the trick, too. In the first round, Chip was ahead of his dad by a stroke 79-71. But in the second round Chip soared to an 80. It made him slightly ill and had the same effect on the father.

But Chip got a lucky break — the second round scores were washed out by rain. The next day Chip shot a 71 but his father had a 68. In the third round Earl scored a 72 and Chip had a 70 — and they were all even.

However, in the last round, Earl's 69 gave him a 280 and $1,700. Chip shot 73, losing by four strokes, but he did finish as the leading amateur in the tournament with Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo with a 276. Had Chip been a pro he would have earned $37.

Chip says he learned a lot in that final round. He was playing with long hitters Tom Weiskopf and Ray Floyd, two of the brightest youngsters on the golf tour. Floyd had a pair of 67s — lost top prize of $15,000 by one stroke — and Weiskopf had a 68 and two 69s.

Instead of concentrating on his own game, Chip watched them at every chance. He won't do that again.

Morton's Retains First Place With 4-3 Victory

Morton's Foods retained its hold on first place in American Softball League standings by winning a 13-inning tussle from Montgomery Ward, 4-3, here Thursday night.

Morton's now boasts an 11-1 record, compared to 7-5 for Ward's.

In other action, Pepsi-Cola captured its fourth decision in seven starts by trouncing Webb AFB, 8-6. The latter team is now 1-10.

Cotton Mize, sponsor of the Morton's team, scored what proved to be the winning run in the first game after singling. He slid home on an erratic throw after the Morton's team had loaded the sacks with two out.

Ward's had sent the game into extra innings by scoring twice in the seventh. Bobby Suggs and Martin Gehling crossing the plate in that round. Jimmy Roger and Jack Blizard each had two hits for Morton's in the game, as did Billy Roger of Ward's.

Webb managed only three hits off Pepsi-Cola hurling but made the winners work for their decision. A five-run outburst in the

McConachie Is New Chairman Of Council

AUSTIN — L. W. McConachie, executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches' Association, was recently named to the Executive Committee of the National Council of State High School Coaches' Associations.

The newly organized group held its first meeting in late April in Washington, D. C. and McConachie was elected chairman of the 11 man group which represents high school coaches' associations throughout the country.

McConachie will serve as chairman of the group for a two year period. The basic purpose of the newly formed organization is to help high school coaches associations to better assist their respective state membership.

In addition to his duty as chairman of the group, McConachie was also named to represent the group at the U.S. Olympic Development Committee since it would be the first time the coaches of the nation's youth would be informed of, or consulted on, such matters.

Some of the projects discussed by the group were: setting up of a major service that could be state associations with a reference file on good speakers with pertinent information about them.

Also the executive committee felt that the council should sponsor an Olympic tour, as this would be a most valuable educational experience for high school coaches.

Since the group is a part of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, the Executive Committee proposed that the high school coach of the year program, which is sponsored jointly by AAPHER and the Pepsi-Cola Company should become an area of interest for the national council.

The committee was also of the opinion that the members of the council would want to assist the present overseas coaching project by submitting recommendations of coaches who have the necessary personal and professional qualifications for such assignments.

DREARY ASSIGNMENT FOR GOLFERS Links Game Generates No Enthusiasm In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Golf is one international sport that is safe from victories by the Russians. That's because they don't play and don't intend starting.

Golf would seem to be the next sport to be taken up by Russian athletes. They have come on strong in other onetime aristocratic sports like tennis, horsemanship, and rowing.

But sports authorities here only laugh when asked when golf's turn will come. They dismiss it as a speciality of certain nations that excites no interest in the Soviet Union, like baseball and American football.

"We'll start playing golf when you Americans start playing Gordki," one sports authority said, treating the whole idea as a joke. Gordki is a strictly Russian sport in which the players throw a big stick at small sticks, trying to knock them out of a square.

The Soviet press does not attack golf, as might seem natural, as a rich man's sport that wastes valuable land and spreads harmful country club values through society.

The press just ignores it. The Russian people, with the exception of a few far-out cosmopolites in the big cities, never have heard of it.

The only victims of this situation are the foreign golf players in Moscow, who sometimes talk as if they consider the lack of a course the city's greatest deprivation.

A smiling Western ambassador said recently: "I'm going to Paris on vacation. At last I'll get to play some golf."

Some Westerners suspect that the absence of golf in the Soviet Union isn't quite as simple as the sports authorities here make out.

The thinking is, the Russians have invaded other sports they never played before, why not golf?

Lemon Signs To Attend HC

Robby Lemon of Hereford, who stands just over six feet, will cast his lot with the HCJC Jayhawks next basketball season.

Lemon also plans to report for track workouts in the spring. He is a 9.8 sprinter, ran on his school's sprint relay team and has cleared 20-4 in the broad jump.

His high school basketball coach was Cubby Kitchens, who coached a former HCJC standout, Kenneth Clearman.

Lemon lettered two years in basketball and one in track. His high school cage quiet finished with a 5-5 record in district competition last season.

He has designs on becoming a coach.

Big Volume Of Highway Work Going In County

By SAM BLACKBURN
Despite a marked dropoff in volume as compared with two or three years ago, Howard County still has nearly three quarters of a million dollars worth of U.S. and State road building under way.

The construction programs are well along, according to Joe Smoot, resident highway department engineer.

Major item on the list — the building of the north leg of FM 700 from the present terminus at IS 20 to connect with SH 350 — is estimated at 65 per cent complete.

The state project, which will cost about half a million dollars by the time it is finished, is being built by J. H. Strain and Sons of Tye. The original contract called for construction of 2.77 miles of paved highway with two major bridges. The bid was $438,565.41.

Another major project in this county is the construction of two super-sized "rest areas" on IS 20. One of these is 10 miles west of town and will cost more than $100,000 when it is finished. The second is located three miles east of Coahoma. This one is not as elaborate as the one to the west. It will cost $42,698.80.

Third project on the road building agenda is the construction of service roads along IS 20 bypass north of town. These two roads will cost $87,896.15 and $50,575 respectively. These are nearing completion.

Jones Brothers of Odessa has contract for the two Howard County rest areas and for the service roads. The firm also is building a third rest area on IS 20 — this one in Mitchell County, three miles west of Westbrook. It is to cost $45,279.29 and will be comparable with the one east of Coahoma.

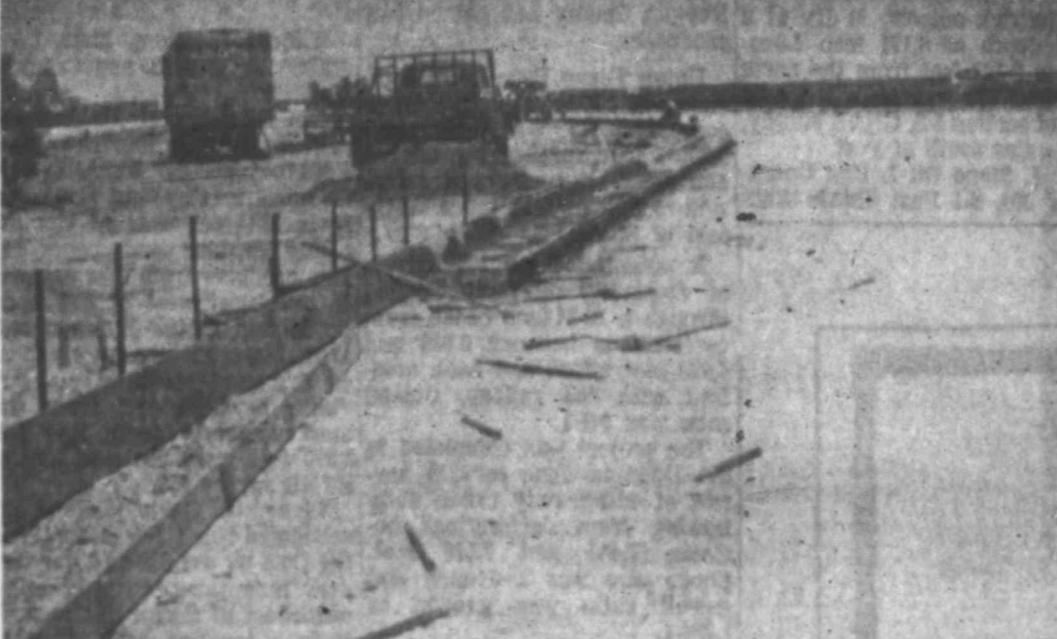

Smoot pointed out that the series of such areas about 40 miles apart on Interstate roads.

OVERPASS BRIDGE
Strain is pushing ahead with the second major crossing on the FM 700 job. This is the bridge over the T&P tracks east of town. Steel is at hand for this towering overpass. The second bridge on the 2.77 mile road is over a creek about a mile east of SH 350 and has been completed. Strain will begin hauling caliche for base this week. This work will begin at the north end of the road.

Smoot explained that the king-sized rest areas are vastly different from the familiar and popular "roadside parks" which have distinguished Texas highways for years. These rest areas on the IS network are much more elaborate. The one west of town, for example, sprawls for a full half-mile along both the east lanes and the west lanes of the highway. Jones Brothers is now busy running curb and building road base. The Odessa firm's contract in relation to the rest areas calls for the construction of the roads into and out of the areas, all curbing, drainage and paving. Shelters and tables will be provided later by the state highway department, Smoot explained.

PROMOTE SAFETY
He noted that the object of the areas is another step in the expanding effort of the department to reduce accidents and make the roads safer.

Just how elaborate the finishing touches on these areas will be is still being discussed. The state would like to install toilet facilities but has not determined on any workable plan which would stand the assaults of vandals.

These areas will probably be extended on westward on IS 20 in the future. At present, they terminate in Howard County. There are other areas being built to the east on the highway, Smoot said.

Meantime, the state is pressing the Howard County Commissioners to speed up acquisition of right of way needed for the extension and rebuilding of FM 700 from its present intersection with US 87 west and north to rejoin IS 20 near the Sands Motel. Much of the right of way has been acquired, according to county officials, but several vital tracts are still unsigned.

KEEP BALL ROLLING
The county voted $600,000 in road bonds to provide the funds way. About $400,000 of the money has been used.

This job, if it could be started on the heels of the four projects now pushing toward completion, would keep road building in the county going on federal and state highways.

For more than decade, constant, never-ceasing major highway construction has been a vital element in the county's economy.

INCLUDING MILITARY SUPPLIES Cong Can Buy In Black Market

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In Saigon's teeming, shabby 7th Police Precinct, a tough Viet Cong guerrilla team collects precious drugs by shopping at the corner drug store.

Penicillin costs the equivalent of five cents a shot, antimalaria pills less than a penny each.

BIG VOLUME
In the countryside, police roadblocks each month net about 3,000 assorted vials and packages of drugs. Perhaps 10 times that amount gets through. Some goes into the civilian black market. The rest gets to the Communists.

On the "Street of Thieves," the enterprising black marketer can pick up almost any standard item of military equipment. He can also buy such U.S. aid items as steel, cement, copper wire, asbestos roofing and such GI staples as long-playing records, cigarettes and whisky.

A river of cash and goods flows from the United States to South Viet Nam.

SOME FOR REDS
Some — probably a small but still significant percentage — gets into Viet Cong hands. Some probably lines politicians' pockets. There is a suspicion that corruption reaches high places in Saigon, though no proof has been produced. And some money goes into bank accounts of already wealthy members of a Chinese minority which thinks in terms of survival and profit.

In spite of it all, the U.S. Agency for International Development is supporting innumerable projects deemed of utmost importance by the Americans. It is the main financial prop for the government. And despite all the complexities and frustrations, U.S. officials are cautiously hopeful about the future of the program.

IP's 100 Per Cent In Bond Buying
The first 100 per cent participation in the U. S. savings bond drive was reported last week by 1st Lt. David L. Van Bruene, information officer for the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron at Webb AFB. All instructor pilots of the 3561st T-38 school have signed up to purchase bonds.

1st Lt. Robert Lawrence, an instructor pilot in I Flight, and Maj. Francis W. Ethum, chief check section, worked together in achieving the perfect score.

from the war is how to mend the torn patchwork of the economy in a nation of 15 million, battered by 20 years of strife.

INFLATION
The problem involves how to deal with galloping inflation in the midst of war. And how to deal with the twin threats of a civilian black market and a supply line from Saigon to the Viet Cong. Articles flowing into Communist hands range from batteries to aspirin. Sumpans have been intercepted trying to smuggle through complicated lathes for manufacture of ammunition and arms, and small motors for generators, buried in shipments of fertilizer. Drugs and small items are stuffed in bicycle tires, in cabbages, in the shapeless bundles carried by old women, or in false-bottom gasoline tanks.

Bulk shipments like rice and cement require false papers and bribery.

Demo Panel Sets Meet

An organizational meeting and idea session for the Howard County Democratic committee will be held at 7 a.m. Tuesday in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn.

Ed Fisher, chairman of the executive committee, said this would be a Dutch treat affair and everyone is invited to take part. He promised a fast moving meeting so that participants can be out by 8 a.m. All past precinct chairmen and other committee officials are urged to attend as well as those newly elected, said Fisher.

Farm Census Is Mixed Picture

There are four fewer farms, 250 more hogs, 2,300 more beef cattle and 60 less dairy cows in Howard County now than in 1965.

Herb Helbig, county agricultural agent, preparing a survey for the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, came up with these statistics last week.

He pointed out that in previous surveys, there were 778 farms listed compared with 772 at this time.

He also noted that the crop income for the county was up nearly $700,000 and livestock income up $50,000 in the new estimates as compared with previous figures. The gross agricultural income of the county, he pegs at $10,407,000 as compared with $9,537,000 in the last report.

Howard County has a total land area of 583,680 acres. Of this, 183,431 acres are devoted to cultivation. Only 2,000 of the county's arable acres are listed as irrigated.

LESS CULTIVATED
The number of acres in cultivation this year is about 1,000 less than in the previous report.

Grazing takes up the lion's share of the county's land. However, Helbig estimated a thousand less acres are devoted to pasture this year than last. He said 318,864 acres are now used for grazing.

There also is one less irrigated farm this year than last and one less irrigation well. The total number of irrigated tracts is 38 and the number of wells 84.

He estimated there are 16,300 head of beef cattle grazing on the county's 318,869 acres of pastureland. He said there were 14,000 hogs in the county at the last check a year ago.

MORE SWINE
Helping to eat the grass on the pastures are 8,500 head of sheep and 740 milk cows.

Farms in the county have been gradually increasing their interest in pigs for several years. The number of swine on farms has climbed to 1,850. A year ago, there were 1,600 pigs being raised.

Egg production in the county should show a marked drop this year. The number of hens, Helbig's estimates show, have dropped from 14,730 a year ago to 6,000 now, and there's no assurance they are laying more even if enjoying it less.

State Grants
Attorneys Fees

Ralph Caton, judge of the 18th District Court, Friday signed orders allowing the attorneys who defended Dee Scaggs Jr., $1,195 attorney fees and investigative expenses. The two orders were filed in the office of Fern Cox, district court clerk.

The court granted Guilford Jones $600 attorney fees and $95 for investigative work. Jack Little, who was Jones' associate charged with murder, was allowed $500 for his services.

Both Jones and Little were court appointed to represent Scaggs. The jury in the case found the defendant not guilty.

Notables To See Herd Of Longhorns Off On Trail

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A herd of more than 100 Longhorn cattle leave San Antonio Sunday to follow the path taken a century ago by millions of Longhorns on drives from Texas to Dodge City, Kans.

This time the cattle will ride most of the way. The cattle will be the stars in the Texas Longhorn centennial trail drive and cowboys helping them along will include three governors, two U.S. senators and a western movie actor.

EXCITEMENT
"We want to give the young people of today a chance—probably the only one in their lives—to see a herd of real Longhorns and to experience the color and excitement of trail drives of the past," said Charles Shreiner III, president of the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association, which is sponsoring the event.

The drive will start from the northern edge of San Antonio at 2 p.m. Sunday with Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and western star Rex Allen as the lead riders.

The cattle will be herded about six miles out of town where they will be bedded down for the night.

Monday morning, the cattle will be loaded onto trucks, taken to Stonewall, in Central Texas. The "dogies" will then be herded down Ranch Road 1 past the Lyndon B. Johnson Ranch and to the second night's camp.

The Longhorns will spend most of Tuesday on trucks. They will be unloaded about 4:30 p.m. near Abilene, Tex., and herded to near Old Abilene Town, where they'll be greeted by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Abilene officials.

RED RIVER
The cattle will be trucked Wednesday morning to near Vernon and then herded to picnic grounds near Doan's Crossing, the point on the Red River where an estimated 19 million

Longhorns crossed from 1866 to 1886 into Indian Territory.

Thursday morning, Texas Gov. John Connally will lead the cowboys and the cattle across the Red River into Oklahoma. The drive will be met on the north bank by Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon and other Oklahoma officials.

The cattle will be trucked from the river to Altus, Okla., and herded through that city.

Friday will be spent hauling the Longhorns from Altus to near Dodge City.

AT DODGE
Riders will herd the cattle into Dodge City, where they will be greeted by Kansas Gov. William H. Avery.

The cattle will be sold at an auction in Dodge City. Officials of the association doubt that any of the herd, however, will end up as steaks.

Longhorns, they said, are more valuable today as collector's items than as meat.

Ranchers in 43 states now raise the Longhorn for sentimental reasons or as a curiosity. "They're very popular because you don't have to coddle them," one official said. "They can adapt to most climates and can take care of themselves."

The animal that once fed much of the nation, one official said, is now, in effect, a rare and valuable pet.

MEET THE NEW SALES MANAGEMENT TEAM AT CHEVY CENTER

COME BY... GET ACQUAINTED

We're starting with our best foot forward...
POLLARD CHEVROLET'S "MANAGERS"

Riley Allen
General Sales Manager

Riley was formerly Assistant Manager with a Chevrolet Dealer in Waco. He is a member of Legion of Leaders, a member of the Sales Honor Club of the Chevrolet Motor Division, for a period of three years as a retail salesman. Riley is a member of the Baptist Church, he's married and has two sons. They now live at 2285 Lynn.

Les Caperton
New Car Sales Manager

Les is the former Sales Manager for the Chevrolet Dealer in Coleman. He is a member of the Society of Sales Executives of Chevrolet Motor Division. Les is a member of the Baptist Church and is married, and has two daughters.

"Red" Holland
Used Car Sales Manager

Red is a very familiar face around the Automobile business here in Big Spring. He has lived here since '56 and has been connected with the local Chevrolet Dealer most of that time. Being Used Car Manager for over three years limits his outside time, away from the lot, so you drop by and visit with him, both friends and old and new customers.

If you're counting on a new VW, you can stop at $1681

In fact, when it comes to money, a VW will save you a lot of counting after you buy it, too.

On gas bills. (It gets about 29 mpg.)
 On tires. (They average 40,000 miles.)
 It hardly ever needs oil between changes.

And, since the engine is air-cooled you never have to dish out for anti-freeze.

So if you don't like to count, buy a Volkswagen.

It figures.

4-H GIRLS LEARN 'HOW TO BE A LADY'

TEA FOR TWO OR TWENTY is the time when a gracious hostess should make her guests want to call again. The simple but enduring ritual at the crystal punch bowl or silver coffee service is learned early by girls who are participating in the summer 4-H program of self-improvement. Here, Carolyn Crawford presides at the refreshment table while Janette Nichols and Kayla Gaskins take the roles of guests.

THE RIGHT HAT can crown a costume, and the wrong one can ruin the effectiveness of any ensemble. The summer 4-H session on wardrobe planning includes tips on the selection of accessories for time, place and activity. Trying on toppers for teenagers are Jane Murphy, Debra Buchanan and Mary Lou Brown.

IT'S ALL IN THE WAY you look at it as 4-H members are taught that optical illusion is created by lines in dress styles. They learn that vertical lines give height; horizontal lines add width. The chameleon qualities of color are recognized so that each girl will find the shade most flattering to her complexion. Shown choosing what will best show their individuality are Molly Adkins, Carla Perry and Betty Lee McIlvain.

A SAUCER ON THE HEAD is worth two on the table when a young lady wants to improve her posture and learn to walk and sit gracefully. Robbie Brown, left, Texas Tech student and 1965 Texas

4-H Dress Revue winner, is assisting younger girls in this session of "How to Be A Model." The course includes modeling, grooming and exercises to correct figure problems.

MRS. BEN TERRY FAULKNER

Couple Marries In Rochester Ceremony

Miss Linda Dell Penman became the bride of Ben Terry Faulkner in a candlelight ceremony held at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church at Rochester.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Dell Putman of Rochester and the late Mr. Putman, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Faulkner, 141 L. Wood.

Dr. Dewitt Seago of Brownfield conducted the double ring service as the couple exchanged vows before an altar lighted by double arches of cathedral tapers. At each side of the altar were placed basket arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery.

Preceding the ceremony, special selections were presented by Mrs. R. A. Shaver Jr., organist, and David Venable who sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer."

ORGANZA GOWN
The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, William Martin Penman. She wore a formal sheath gown of silk organza with portrait neckline outlined with scalloped Alencon lace enhanced with tiny seed pearls. The brief bell sleeves were of lace, and appliques of the lace were on the Empire waistline. A sweeping train of organza, outlined with Alencon lace, fell into a chapel train. Her veil of English silk illusion was scalloped and accented with Alencon rose appliques.

The bridal bouquet, carried atop a white Bible, was of white orchids encircled with stephanotis and English ivy.

The bride's cousin, Miss Bren-

Texas Woman Gets Award From AAUW

The eleventh biennial conference for state presidents of the American Association of University Women closed Thursday in the nation's capital. Sessions were held in the modern, eight-story, AAUW Educational Center.

Centering on the role of the state division in leading, interpreting and administering, the 1966 conference also included a tour of the White House and a legislative briefing.

A highlight of the conference was a flight to Patrick Air Force Base and Cape Kennedy following the close of meetings on Thursday. As guests of the US Air Force Systems Command, the group was briefed on the missiles program.

Working sessions of the conference included discussions on the roll and functions of the Legislative Program Committee, involvement and participation in branch work, written communications and finances. Dr. Pauline Tompkins, general director, gave the keynote address.

During a Wednesday evening banquet, the 1966 Achievement

Award was presented to Dr. Dora J. Dougherty of Fort Worth. An Air Force Reserve Major, Dr. Dougherty holds both commercial and flight instructor pilot ratings and an airline transport pilot certificate.

She has logged more than 3700 hours as a pilot, and has set two helicopter world records in 1961 for altitude and distance.

Currently chief of the Human Factors Division of Bell Helicopter Company in Fort Worth, Dr. Dougherty is responsible (for research in the development and testing of cockpit displays and controls in an effort to improve safety and effectiveness.)

Wedding Ceremony Unites Miss Harman, Ross Reagan

The First Baptist Church in Waco was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Nelwyn Harman and Ross B. Reagan. The 8 o'clock double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. H. J. Flanders, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Horace Hood Trippet, 3723 Chateau, Waco, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Reagan, 806 W. 16th.

The vows were exchanged before an altar graced with basket arrangements of white asters. Candelabrum, holding white cathedral tapers, were entwined with English ivy. The organist was Mrs. W. J. Wimpee who accompanied the soloist, Walter L. Wheat of Big Spring, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, as he sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of candlelight silk peau de sole and imported re-embroidered Alencon lace traced with tiny seed pearls and crystal beads. The molded basque bodice was fashioned with a wide oval neckline and three-quarter length sleeves complemented by short ivory kid gloves. Tiny self covered buttons fastened the back of the gown which was enhanced at the waistline by a small bow. The slim controlled skirt of back-gathered fullness was complemented by a wide chapel-length train.

Her veil of ivory silk illusion fell in soft tiers to below her fingertips from a crown of Alencon lace enhanced by a circle face veil. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias encircled with white ribbons and tied with white satin streamers.

MRS. ROSS B. REAGAN

(Helman Marcus Portrait by Giddings)

The centerpiece was of pink roses. The four-tiered cake was separated with columns. A green cloth was used on the bridegroom's table where the centerpiece was of Bird of Paradise and the cake was chocolate. Silver appointments and bouquets of pink roses were placed on two punch tables.

Guests were registered by Miss Margie O'Brien, and members of the house party were Miss Bette McCall, Miss Stevann Simpson, Miss Nanette Rountree, Miss Judy Kimbriel, Miss Alethea Brooks and Mrs. Bill Harman, sister-in-law of the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Susan Light and Miss Marty Fleming, both of Houston; Miss Laurie Spurgeon and Mrs. George E. Furquerson, both of Dallas; Miss Barbie Graham, Celina; Miss Pam Kirkpatrick, Waxahachie; Mrs. Walter Wheat, Big Spring; and Mrs. Jim Pickett of Arkansas.

Upon returning, the couple will reside at 6440 Bordeaux, Dallas.

In August, the bride will graduate from Southern Methodist University where she is on the dean's list and a member of Phi Beta Phi. She is also on the Rally Committee, a member of Phi Alpha Theta and representative to the governing board at SMU.

Reagan, a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, received a BA degree from SMU where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta. He is continuing Medical School in Dallas where he is affiliated with Phi Chi Medical Fraternity. This summer he is working in the computing laboratory at SMU.

REHEARSAL DINNER The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held Friday evening at Ridgewood Country Club. Approximately 50 guests attended, and the couple presented gifts to their attendants.

W. A. Burchell has been convalescing from foot surgery. Ray Dabney and Harvey Hocker are on the vacation list next week. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. MRS. RICHARD LEE MCCORMICK

Miss Medley Weds Richard McCormick

Miss Nita Dealene Medley exchanged wedding vows with Richard Lee McCormick Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Massingill, Ackery. The Rev. R. L. Cheek officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. McNallen, OK Trailer Park, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. S. L. McCormick, 707 Creighton, and the late Mr. McCormick.

Decorating the home and forming the altar were large baskets of white gladioli against a background of emerald green palms. Flanking the arrangement were candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, wore a street-length dress of white peau de soie. Delicately embroidered white lace formed her gently-tapered capelet, which was caught at the bodice with a tiny satin bow. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion cascaded from a pearl-encrusted tiara.

She carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses encircling a white orchid and accented by white satin leaves, atop a white Bible.

For traditional items, she wore a birthdate sapphire in her shoe and a blue garter. Her veil was borrowed and her dress was new.

Miss Rene Burson was maid of honor. She wore a blue two-piece dress styled with a pleated skirt and bateau neckline. She carried a nosegay of aqua carnations showered with matching ribbon.

Billy Massingill, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man, and Mark Massingill lighted the altar tapers.

For a wedding trip to El Paso, the bride wore a brown and white suit with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside at 11234 E. 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are graduates of Big Spring Senior High School where she was a member of the Journalism and Shorthand Clubs. She was a Junior Miss Big Spring and was among the top ten high school beauties as well as local queen during National Beauty Salon Week.

Members of the house party were Miss Lynn Massingill and Miss Judy McCormick.

McCormick is employed at Republic Supply Company.

A reception was held at the home where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests. A white lace cloth over a blue satin underlay covered the refreshment table. The table was appointed with a silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl. The three-tiered white wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

I didn't know there was even such a thing as a National Gin Tournament — but four local couples attended one in Las Vegas, Nev., last week! Making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. George McAllister Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Pfeiffer. They said over 500 were entered — 60 from Mexico City, and the winner took home $18,000. The Big Springers brought home only memories of some good shows including those of Sammy Davis Jr., Jerry Vale and the Smothers Brothers.

R. E. McKinney and his son, Rick, barbecued for some surprise guests Wednesday evening. Stopping overnight were his aunt, Mrs. Frank Batson; her daughter, Mrs. D. V. Allen; her son, Frank; and Miss Judy Johnson, who is engaged to Mrs. Allen's son, Bob, whom they were to meet this weekend in Dalhart.

Mrs. Paul Bruns called to say that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bruns of Denver just left after being their guests for two weeks. The elder Bruns was to be in Miami, Fla., this weekend for a National Education Association meeting. While they were here the families traveled to San Antonio and the Astrodome in Houston.

The two pretty daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gonzales left yesterday after a visit here with their parents Yvette Teresa and Anna Marie are both students at the Catholic University of Washington in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Ruth Ward of Big Spring State Hospital says that their report on Mrs. Ennis Cochran, volunteer coordinator, is that she is doing fine following surgery earlier in the week at Sayre, Okla.

Col. and Mrs. Victor Wallace and family of Austin were here last weekend as guests of their close friend, Mrs. E. V. Spence. They were on the way to Aspen, Colo. Mrs. Marvin Brandon of Irving and Mrs. Charles L. Weaver have been visiting friends in this area for the past week. They are the daughters of Mrs. Lovie Barlow, formerly of Big Spring.

Tidbits: Judge and Mrs. Lee Porter spent the weekend in Dallas visiting her mother... Joe Moss was in Boston on business... Mrs. Cecil Wasson returned from California Wednesday... Mr. and Mrs. Larson Lloyd will be in Amarillo this weekend for a bank convention... Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Boatler and Mrs. Herschal Petty plan to be in Sweetwater Monday to board a Kiwanis Special to convention in Oregon. Call me?

Mrs. W. A. Bell Hosts Meeting

WESTBROOK (SC)—Mrs. W. A. Bell was hostess to the Ruth Sunday School class Tuesday evening. Opening prayer was voiced by Mrs. Harrell Geron. Mrs. Charles Rame used "Friendship" as title for her devotional. Special music, "His Hands," was given by Mrs. Johnny Shackelford, soloist. Mrs. Sam Seffogins, president, presided during the business meeting and Mrs. Troy Lanford, directed the program.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bevers Jr., Stanton; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jones, Midland.

Baskets of white gladioli tied with blue ribbons flanked the altar. Mrs. Ernest Hock, organist, presented traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The dress was fashioned with an ankle-length sheath skirt and long pointed sleeves, and the waist-line was enhanced by a flat bow. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a white headband.

For her bouquet she carried a cascade of white carnations atop a Bible covered with seed pearls and iridescents.

Serving her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. David McClure, Midland. Miss Carol Calloway, Odessa, was bridesmaid. The attendants wore identical street-length dresses of white lace accented by bands of light white carnations showered with blue streamers.

Best man was David McClure, Midland. Ushers and altar tapers lighters were Pat and Mike Springer. Bobby McKandies, Midland, was groomsmen.

TO FORT WORTH For a wedding trip to the Fort Worth area, the bride wore a blue suit with a blue and white print blouse and black accessories. The couple will reside in Stanton.

The bride attends the Stanton High School, and the bridegroom graduated from Midland High School, Midland. He attended Odessa College and is employed at William and Lee Scouting Service, Midland.

A reception was held at the church fellowship hall where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The wedding cake was frosted white and decorated with blue confection roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Assisting at the refreshment table were Miss Margaret Clardy and Miss Suzanna Poe. Miss Jerrrie Webb was in charge of the register.

Given MD Degree In Arkansas

Dr. Lyn Anderson Brewer has returned to Little Rock, Ark., after visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Anderson, 900 W. 17th.

Dr. Brewer received her MD degree June 12 from the University of Arkansas after completing her first two years at the University of Texas School of Medicine in Galveston.

She was in the top ten per cent of her class, and at 23, was the youngest in a class of 80 students. She plans to intern at St. Joseph's Hospital in Little Rock. Her husband, Dr. Thomas Brewer, is now doing a residency in internal medicine at the University of Arkansas.

MRS. DEE RATLIFF

Office Orchid

Mrs. Dee (Cocca) Ratliff is the former Sue Brown, daughter of Mrs. Frank French of Lubbock and Kelly Brown of Huntsville. She was born and reared in Big Spring and graduated from Big Spring Senior High School in 1960. She has a younger sister, Judy, who is 19 and an older brother, Kirby, 28, who works for Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

Mrs. Ratliff's husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Ratliff and he was reared at Forsan. He is a route salesman for Standard Sales Company of Big Spring.

In 1960, Mrs. Ratliff went to work for Texas Electric Service Company as secretary to R. L. (Jimmy) Beale and after his retirement June 1, 1966, she became secretary to Don Womack, division manager.

She has been a member of the National Secretaries Association for three years. She is a former recording secretary of the association and now holds the post of vice president and program chairman. This year she was elected secretary of Precinct Four and also served as secretary of the Howard County Democratic Convention.

Mrs. Ratliff is a member of the Baptist church and spends her leisure time reading, cooking and sewing.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By HELEN SHAW

A Medical "Hail and Farewell" party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bryans Saturday. The cohorts were Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. E. Frantz. Farewells were said to Capt. and Mrs. C. H. Barker, Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Dils, Capt. and Mrs. Clifford Kirk, Capt. and Mrs. L. R. Klimesiver, Capt. and Mrs. F. N. Medici, Capt. and Mrs. J. S. Towbin and 1st Lt. Mary C. Walsh. Those hailed were Capt. and Mrs. W. T. Ward and two nurses, 2nd Lt. Roberta Crowley and 2nd Lt. Jane Pacey.

The 331st FIS met in the Fire-side Rooms of the Officers' Open Mess Friday to say goodbye to three departing members. After dinner, Lt. Col. Michael Shareck introduced the visiting cadets from the Air Force Academy to the 331st, and wished the departing officers luck in their new ventures. In closing, Col. Shareck presented the traditional squadron plaque to those leaving. Capt. Bill Crewe presented Maj. Irvin Smith, former "A" flight commander, with a trophy from members of his flight. Maj. Smith is retiring from service and will be leaving Texas for California. Maj. Ken Reed is being reassigned to ADC Headquarters, Colorado Springs, Colo., and Capt. Sam Brooks is leaving service to fly for Braniff Air Lines.

Wives of Class 67-G met for coffee Monday at the home of Mrs. Joe Tate.

Bride-Elect Introduced At Coffee

Miss Barbara Ward of Hurst, bride-elect of James W. Hinds was honored at a coffee Saturday morning in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. B. W. Hinds was hostess, and Miss Judy Hinds presided at the refreshment table.

Miss Ward and her mother, Mrs. Roy Ward of Hurst were presented white glabella corages which they wore as they were introduced to the approximately 50 guests that called between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon.

Members of the house party were Mrs. R. W. Thompson, Mrs. R. H. Moore, Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Miss Deane Mansfield, Mrs. George Elliott and Mrs. Forrest Underwood and Mrs. James Underwood, both of Midland. Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. James Underwood are aunts of the prospective bridegroom.

The table was covered with an ecru cutwork cloth, and the appointments were of copper. Centering the table was a wrought iron candelabrum, arranged with spider mums and English ivy, which held copper votive lights.

Altrusa Club Installs Slate During Dinner

The annual Altrusa Club installation dinner was held Thursday evening in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club with 24 members and seven guests attending.

Mrs. M. S. Knowles, retiring president, introduced the guests as Mrs. Felix Jarrett, Mrs. Inez Roden, Mrs. Noel Lester, Mrs. Hubert Johnson, Mrs. Oleta Horn and Mrs. H. C. Stipp.

"Through the Looking Glass" was the theme of the installation conducted by Mrs. Homer Petty. Preceding the service, the small hand mirrors, which she gave the incoming officers, were placed in a semi-circle on the head table.

The new officers are Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, president; Mrs. Morgan Martin, vice president; Mrs. Thurston Orenbaum, corresponding secretary; Mrs. P. B. Baldrige, recording secretary; and Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, treasurer. New directors are Mrs. Caribel Laughlin, Mrs. Knowles and Mrs. D. L. Reid.

Mrs. J. B. Apple worded the invocation, and Mrs. Willard Hendricks spoke on "The Wonder Drug - Love," ending with the poem, "By the Touch of the Master's Hand."

Mrs. Knowles gave the gavel and president's pin to Mrs. LeFevre who spoke briefly in announcing a workshop for retiring

MRS. ROBERT LAVELL HANSON

Miss Tubb Marries Robert Lavell Hanson

Miss Gloria Jean Tubb became the bride of Robert Lavell Hanson Saturday evening at the Lakeview Baptist Church. The Rev. Roy Collins, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Tubb, Rt. 2, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hanson, 2312 Mishler.

Decorating the altar were two sunburst arrangements of gladioli and chrysanthemums. Double candelabra flanked the arrangement, and the bridal aisle was marked with white tapers and satin bows.

Mrs. Ray Walker, organist, accompanied Mrs. Arnold Tonn as she sang "Whither Thou Goest," and Mrs. Gorman Rainey as she sang "The Wedding Prayer." "Always" was sung in duet by Mrs. Tonn and Mrs. Rainey.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de sole and Alencon lace. The dress was styled with a sweeping full skirt and train, and a panel of lace accented the skirt front. The molded bodice was of lace and featured a scalloped neckline and long petal point sleeves.

Her finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a caplet of seed pearl leaves and a bow. For her bouquet, she carried atop a white ribbon, white carnations surrounding a white orchid and showered with picot ribbon streamers.

For traditional items, the bride wore a birthday penny in her shoe; and, for something old, she wore the wedding band of her grandmother, Mrs. O. C. Moore. She wore a pearl pendant, a gift from the bridegroom; and her Bible was borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Scott, Sand Springs. For something blue, she wore a blue garter.

Mrs. Kenneth Eubanks, of Garland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Alice Whatley of Colorado City was bridesmaid.

The attendants wore identical street-length dresses of pink silk faille. The sleeveless dresses were fashioned with scooped necklines and waistline bows which accented the pleated skirts. Their headpieces were large bows of silk faille veiled.

Mrs. B. D. Rice Receives Book

"Apples of Gold" was the farewell gift book presented to Mrs. B. D. Rice during the Friday afternoon meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the HD agent's office with Mrs. Grady McCrary as hostess.

Mrs. Rice and her family will be moving in July to Lake LBJ where they will make their home.

Four-H Club members conducted the program. Joan Crawford's topic was "Eat a Good Breakfast." She stressed that a proper vitamin balance was important for good health.

Bruce and Keith Nichols spoke on "Safe Use of Pesticides." Their four rules were, keep away from children, read labels, proper disposal of containers, and clean utensils.

Mrs. Robert Nichols was welcomed as a guest, and the next meeting will be in September.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Those people who take glamorous trips the year around, following the dictates of the leaders of their sets, probably don't have nearly the fun that the ordinary family has on the summer vacation of two weeks.

We've had some good times on trips we have taken to Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming where there were thousands of families just like ours with the same amount of gear. We enjoyed the mountains in Colorado and New Mexico as well as the beaches at Galveston and Corpus Christi in Texas and those of southern California and Catalina Island. Those were the vacations we had to plan for and hit right on schedule.

Every family should have a special little treat together, during the vacation period even if it is only a few days at a local lake or at a mountain cabin. Or it could be a round of fun right in the home town if there are those days set aside with the family to bowl, swim, ride horseback, attend ball games or watch them on television. Also a great deal of fun can be derived from visiting friends . . . just talk visiting.

Surely there is a lot to be said for spending this rest-from-work time with the family even if the funds are shrunken from excessive use. Well, that's how I look at this vacation for the summer months. How about you and yours? If you are having company or going on a trip, give us a ring at 3-2542 . . . we want to know before you go or when you return.

MR. and MRS. LOGAN BAKER are entertaining their grandchildren, LOGAN WILLIAM, BECKY and CHRISTY BAKER this week. They children flew into Midland from Fort WORTH with their father, WOODY BAKER, Friday afternoon and accompanied their grandparents here. Their father was to join some business associates in Ruidoso, N. M., for the weekend. The Bakers plan to take the children home at the end of the week.

MRS. ENNIS COCHRAN, volunteer coordinator at the Big Spring State Hospital, is a patient in the Sayre Hospital, Sayre, Okla., where she underwent surgery recently. The Cochran daughters are in Sayre where their grandparents live.

ROBERT HAILEY of Norfolk, Va., is visiting his mother, MRS. GEORGE HAILEY, as is her daughter, MRS. EUGENE SEARCY, and her son of Fort Worth.

MRS. R. D. ULREY returned Thursday night from a two-weeks vacation trip with relatives in Colorado. In Longmont she attended the military wedding of her grandniece, Miss Kay Howard to David Craigie who has just completed his studies at the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs. In Byers she joined her sisters, MRS. W. T. DAY and MRS. FLO BURGER and another sister, MRS. OSA O'CONNOR of Oklahoma City, for a week of visiting.

A just-for-fun trip to Las Vegas, Nev., has just been completed for the AL CARTERS and the CHUB JONESES. The two couples spent the week in the resort town returning here Thursday.

The best part of summer is underway for the R. A. PACHALLS. Their daughter, MRS. STEVE TEGLOVIC, and her children, Van, Terry and Sheri, arrived Saturday from their home in Sacramento, Calif., for a visit of several weeks.

BRIAN CLARK is the name of the new little boy in the family of MR. and MRS. BILL JOHNSON. No one is prouder of the latest family member than his sister, Denise, who is having a very successful summertime vacation from school watching the infant. He was two weeks old Friday.

Another home that is happier for the addition to the group is that of the BILL POLLARDS. Their little daughter who was born June 1 has been named

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, June 26, 1966 7-C

KAY LYNN. The Pollards have a son, BILL, who will be three in October.

MR. and MRS. GEORGE MELEAR left Saturday for Waco where they will visit for about two weeks with his sisters, Miss Grace Melear and Mrs. Annie Prescott.

FRANK HARDESTY JR. was the featured soloist on the High Noon Show over KOSA, Odessa, on June 24. He is a former resident of Big Spring and is a teacher in the Odessa school system.

Webb Chapel Scene Of Saturday Rites

Miss Audrey Ann Mowlds became the bride of 2nd Lt. Barry Leroy Dawkins Saturday afternoon at the Webb AFB Chapel. Chaplain B. F. Meacham officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mowlds, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dawkins. Both families live in Portland, Ore.

plans to attend Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom graduated from Roseburg High School, Roseburg, Ore., and from Oregon University, Eugene, Ore. He is in pilot training at Webb AFB.

The altar was decorated with basket arrangements of multi-colored gladioli and carnations flanked by seven-branched candelabra with white wedding tapers. The background was completed with an open Bible on a missal stand placed under a large wooden cross.

Following traditional wedding selections by Mrs. John Birdwell, organist, the bride was given in marriage by 2nd Lt. Bob Tucci, Webb AFB.

She wore a street-length dress of white rose pattern lace. The sleeveless dress featured a bell skirt and a fitted bodice, with a train which fell from a Grecian effect at the shoulder.

The ensemble was completed with a tiered veil cascading from a rose cluster crown. For her bouquet, she carried white roses showered with picot ribbon streamers atop a white Bible.

2nd Lt. Charles Honea, Webb AFB, was best man.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore her wedding dress and a rose corsage from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Madison High School in Portland, Ore. She was an art major at Portland State College and

Two-Dollar Bills Are Scarce, Banks Wish For None

By SAM BLACKBURN
And smiles:
"As unpopular as a $2 bill," statistics show there are $125,500,000 worth of $2 bills now circulating in this country. This breaks down to more than 64,000,000 individual bills.

Where are they?
"We haven't got them," assert Big Spring bank officials. "We don't want them."

A check of the three Big Spring banks shows there are probably less than 200 of the $2 bills here.

State National Bank, for example, said it had four bills of that denomination. Security State Bank has $5 on hand. First National Bank is better stocked with about 140 on hand.

Where are these bills?
GATHERING DUST
Bundled up neatly with rubber bands around the lot accumulating wear in a till at a teller's desk.

"No one wants to take the $2 bills," said one teller.

"The only time we have any demand for them at all is around graduation season," said another bank official. "Some times people come and ask for this denomination to be used as gifts to graduates."

One bank here anticipating this seasonal demand ordered 900 bills ahead of graduation. "We sent about 700 of them back to the Federal Reserve Bank after the season was over," the official reported.

All of the bills on hand here are battered and worn. Bankers say no new twos are being printed.

No one seems to know exactly why the denomination was ever issued.

UNHANDY
Cash registers are not provided with spaces for $2 bills. A cashier who gets one has either to put it with $1 bills and run the risk of giving back too much change, or with the $5 bills and chance mistaking it for a five.

Somewhat the two dollar bill has acquired a wide reputation as being a bad luck token. Some business establishments won't take one when offered. A cafe owner in another city used to be victimized by certain

UNPOPULAR U.S. MONEY
$2 bills low esteemed, but some like pranksters who were aware of his dislike for these bills. The prankster would enter the cafe, eat a big meal and offer a $2 bill in payment. The proprietor would draw back in horror.

Informed this was all the money the customer had, the proprietor would blurt: "Just forget it—the meal's on the house."

BAD (OR GOOD) LUCK
Most persons who believe that the twos are bad luck also think you can eliminate the jinx by tearing off one corner of the offending bill. A check of the bundles of bills at local banks shows the corners missing from most. If you want a two dollar bill as a pocket piece—some folk go the other way and believe possession of one brings good luck—the banks will oblige. Meantime, they wish that the day would come when the last of the $128,500,000 in twos would be gone. Things are bad enough having to dispense copper-tainted quarters and doing without halves, so please forget about the twos.

Jack Buchanan Is On State Panel

Jack Buchanan has been named as one of 16 Texans to serve on a steering committee for a penetrating look at the direction of agricultural education for Texas A&M University.

H. C. Heldenfels, president of the board of directors for A&M, said that out of the meeting Monday and Tuesday at College Station, some guidelines for enlarging the study might be established.

He asked Buchanan to bring to the meeting any ideas he

CWO Heath To Retire

CWO-3 Herbert R. Heath, who has served in Webb's Base Supply since July, 1960, is scheduled for retirement Friday, June 1. His last duty day is June 30, and will end an Air Force career spanning 26 years. He has held every job within base supply at least twice during the last six years because of changes in personnel during his tenure. He is currently assistant supplies manager.

Heath came to Webb from Tachikawa AB, Japan, where he had served a tour of 3½ years. Prior to his duty in Japan, he was supply officer for the 93rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron, stationed at Kirtland AFB, N. M., where he served as supply officer for six years.

Other duty stations for the warrant officer have included Fort Dix, N. J., Howard AFB, Canal Zone, Northwest Field, Guam, Naha AB, Okinawa, and Chanute AFB, Ill.

Heath enlisted at Chanute AFB in 1940; he attended air mechanics school there. In 1942 he was a member of the cadre appointed to establish Seymour Johnson AFB in North Carolina. That same year he received his appointment as a warrant officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath plan to live in Big Spring for at least a year. Mrs. Heath will continue her employment at Webb as executive secretary for the military-civilian incentive awards committee.

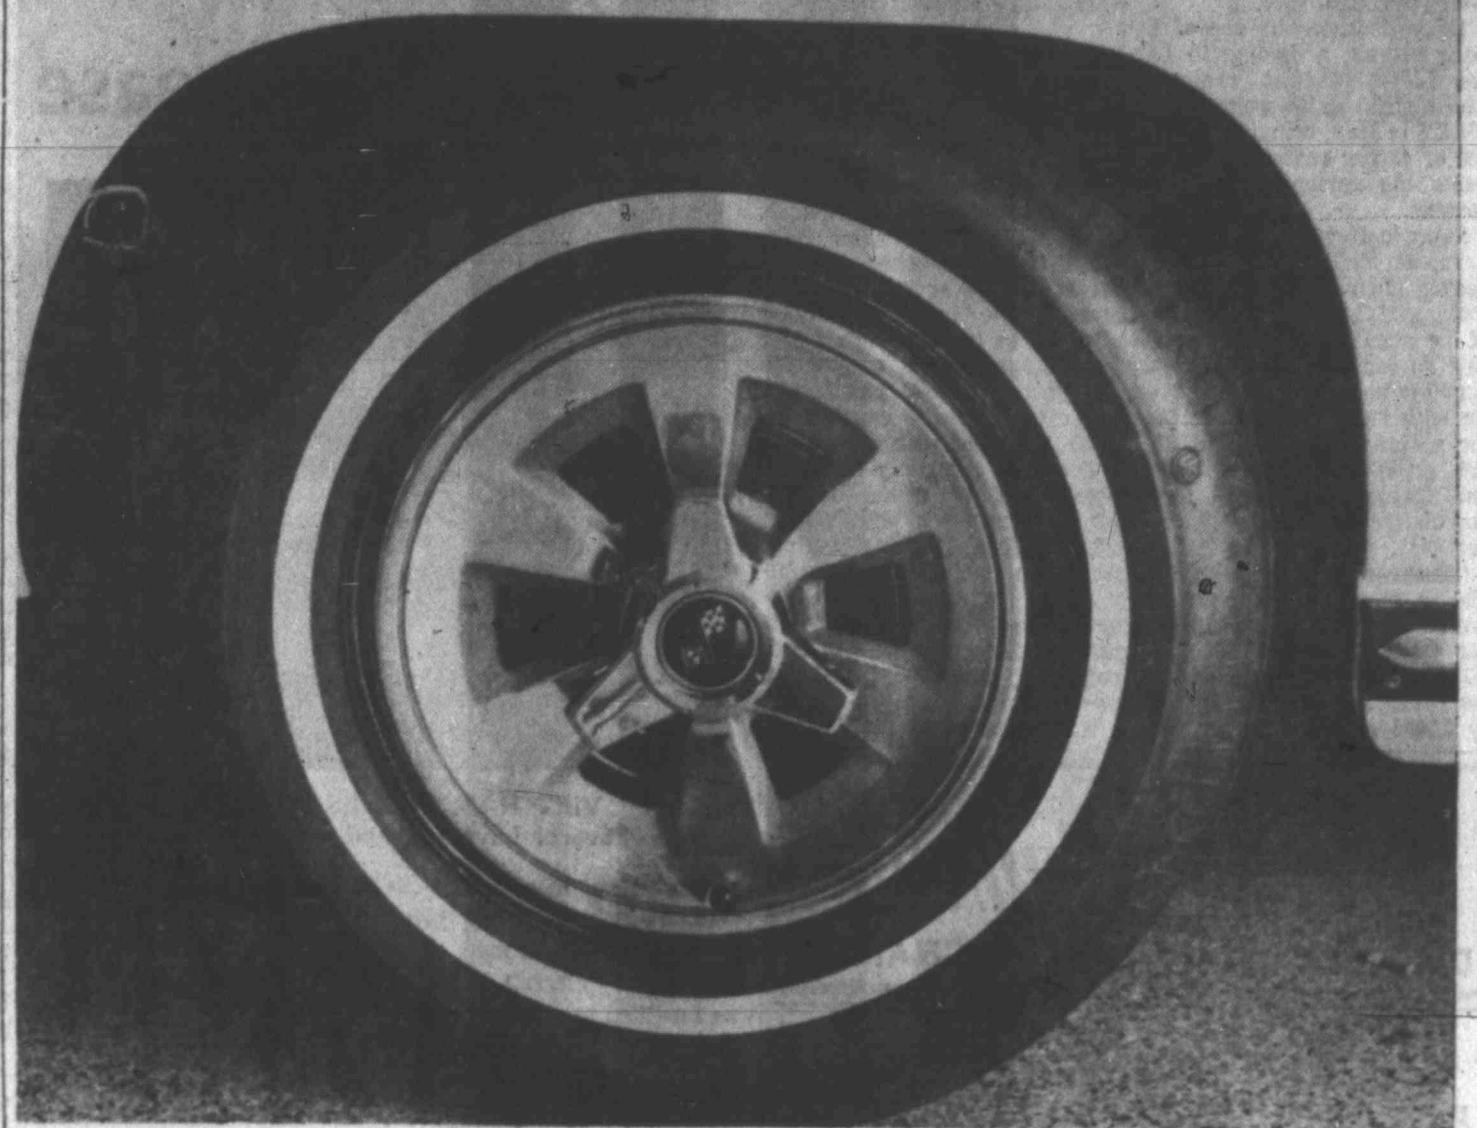

The Heaths have two children. Their son, Donald J., will be a senior at Illinois State University, Normal, Ill., in the fall. Their daughter, Lynn, plans to enroll as a freshman at Howard County Junior College.

To Restore Church

ZUNI, N.M. (AP)—Zuni tribal and church officials have announced plans to restore the old Zuni mission church, believed to have been built about 1700.

The Zuni Tribal Council and the Franciscan Fathers of St. Anthony Roman Catholic mission estimate the cost of the restoration at $100,000.

Bond Sales On Increase

Both Howard County and District 4 are running ahead on sales of United States savings bonds through May.

Howard County is one of the pace setters, according to Larson Lloyd, district chairman. The district sales amounted to $79,326 in May, bringing to $468,450 or 43 per cent of the year's quota the amount sold in five months.

Sales in Howard County, said a report to Robert W. Currie, county chairman, were $50,922, making $261,530, or 48 per cent of the annual quota, the amount sold so far this year. The only counties to exceed it were Martin with sales of $1,257 in May for a five-month total of $15,256, or 78 per cent of quota; and Gaines with $2,627 for a cumulative total of $35,849, or 51 per cent.

Other county sales (with cumulative figures in parenthesis) are Andrews $2,027 ($25,174), 31 per cent; Dawson $6,389 ($29,333) 29 per cent; Mitchell $8,440 ($56,075) 43 per cent; Scurry $7,664 ($44,833) 35 per cent.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Both Military And Civilian Air Traffic Are On Increase

A score or more of Air Force F-4Cs, powerful combat planes used today in the Viet Nam conflict, have touched down at Webb AFB over the past few weeks. The huge aircraft is powered by two afterburning jet engines, making it one of the Air Force's newest and fastest tactical fighters, capable of 1,600 miles-per-hour speeds.

The F-4C can carry twice the bomb load of World War II Flying Fortresses and has an all-weather bombing system for use in placing either conventional or nuclear bombs on target. It can also be armed with heat-seeking or radar-guided, rocket-propelled, air-to-air missiles.

With a maximum fuel load, it

VIET NAM PLANES AT WEBB Several have touched down recently has a range of more than 1,600 miles. In-flight refueling gives it almost unlimited range. Originally a Navy aircraft, the F-4C was modified to meet Air Force requirements. A reconnaissance version, the RF-4C, also is being produced for the Air Force.

Up in the Cherokees of Howard County Flying Club this week were Robert Lebkowsky, Elbert Long, Mrs. Joyce Green, Keith Swim, Charles Dodson and Mrs. Jo Polone, who was on a cross-country late in the week.

Big Spring Flying Club Cessnas saw plenty of action this week, with John Stanley, Wayne Bartlett and Clayton Bettle flying.

It was a fairly quiet week at Howard County Airport. Howard Loyd of Big Spring Aircraft reported about 40 transient pilots in, among them officials from Furr's in their Beechcraft King Air.

David Taylor soloed in his Piper Clipper last Sunday.

Three fly-ins take place early today, at Killeen, Andrews and McCamey. Breakfasts are scheduled, with some aerial demonstrations and shows. Contact the Howard County Airport for more information.

Contestants of the spot landing contest, held last Saturday by Webb Aero Club at the airport, put on a good showing, with Darrell Hissem winning first place, commercial class, by landing eight feet from the marker. Jerry Whitlock took the private pilot first place trophy by landing only four feet from the marker. Student first place was won by Rolando-Tapia.

Attending the fly-in breakfast at Colorado City last week was Tom Thomas and Bob Green. Up in the 150 were Lee Turner, John Metcalf, Stephen Lakin, John Vucci, Charles Keiker and Bob Taron.

New members welcomed into Webb Aero Club this week included Dwight Campbell, John Dinger and Jerry Tucker. Next general membership meeting will be held July 20 at 8 p.m.

Thirty-one Webb pilots will receive their commercial pilot's certificate with instrument rating as a result of satisfactorily completing the military pilot test give last Tuesday at Webb. Robert Weisner, representing the Federal Aviation Agency regional office in Lubbock, administered the tests in Withycombe Hall.

Two instructor pilots, Capt. Roger Blume and Bruce W. Turner, received super-constellation ratings on the test, while 1st Lt. Thomas S. Thomas, a member of Class 66-H, made a perfect score.

Instructor pilots receiving their certificates, in addition to Blume and Turner, were Capt. Albert K. Donaldson and Charles R. Stalaker and 1st Lt. John H. Stull.

Graduating jet pilots receiving the award included Capt. Bruce M. Kramer and Donald L. Pierce, 1st Lts. Gail H. French, Jack E. Keeter, Gary E. Wolter and Thomas Thomas.

Also, 2nd Lts. Kenneth V. Anderson, William O. Bare, Douglas E. Bash, Paul W. Bishop, Richard Brazik, Ronald C. Decker, Thomas W. Eversham, Stephen French, John W. Hammer, Robert E. Harry, William A. Hanley, Dwight E. King, Larry P. Lindseth, Neil A. Nesa, Mark T. Powers, Ronald J. Seewald, Myron F. Smith, James L. Williams and Ronald W. Williams.

Sand Springs And Coahoma Hope To Launch Chamber

COAHOMA (SC)—An organizational meeting of Coahoma-Sand Springs Chamber of Commerce has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Village Restaurant. The organizational steering committee members are Lonnie Anderson, chairman, Buddy Anderson, J. C. Collins, Carl Bates, Austin Pyle and C. Roy Wright. They will be contacting all business people in this area before Tuesday urging attendance. The public is invited to attend.

Bid Date Set For Gail PO

GAIL — A site has been selected and the Post Office Department is seeking bids for a new post office for the town of Gail, Gene D. Skeen, postmaster, has announced. Bid date is Aug. 5.

A release sent from the Post Office Department to Skeen explains that the officials have selected a site on the west side of Oak Street (FM 609) between Wasson Avenue, (US 190) and Wilbourn Avenue. An option on this property has been taken and the Post Office Department will turn this option to the successful bidder.

The post office department will lease the building erected by the successful bidder for a term of 10 years with options to renew the lease for additional 20 years.

The department's investment will be limited to postal equipment. The building and land will remain under private ownership with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents will be available on or about July 5 at the office of V. E. Bell, real estate officer, P.O. Box 1386, Lubbock. He will supply bidding forms, specification, and other information.

The bids must be in the hands of the real estate officer in Lubbock not later than 2 p.m. Aug. 5.

Pistol Team Is Heavy Winner

The Webb AFB pistol team took top honors in a pistol match sponsored by the Big Bend Rifle and Pistol Club last week at Marfa. Representatives for the Webb team were Capt. Raymond S. Ryan, 1st Lt. John Bear and S. Sgt. D. E. Murphy. Capt. Ryan fired in the expert class and won the following trophies: match grand aggregate over-all, center-fire national match course, .45 caliber slow-fire, .45 caliber timed-fire and the .45 caliber grand aggregate. Sgt. Murphy won these sharpshooter class trophies: match grand aggregate overall, .45 caliber national match course, .45 caliber slow-fire, .45 caliber timed-fire and the .45 caliber rapid-fire.

Welcome To Big Spring Webb's New Pilot Training Class 67-H

All Big Spring joins in a hearty West Texas welcome to the new class at Webb Air Force Base. While they are citizens of our city for the next year, it is our hope that they will find a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere. We hope the new students can become acquainted with our town, and find a "home" here. They are asked to drop in and see us at any time and let us extend, in person, the hand of welcome.

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. (Psalm 23:1)
PRAYER: We thank Thee, kind heavenly Father, that when we were lost, the Good Shepherd found us; took us gently into His loving arms, and brought us into the fold of the redeemed. Help us to be true to Thee and faithful in service as pledge of our gratitude and obedience. We ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From the "Upper Room")

Opportunity For Hospitality

This week will bring an unusual group of visitors to Big Spring, and it also brings an opportunity for Big Spring to demonstrate the virtue of Western hospitality.

Coming here for several days will be a bus load of foreign exchange students who are completing a year in this country under the American Field Service program.

These young people will get a chance to see us at work, and play, to see some of our customs, to see some of our enterprises and industries.

No one suggests that we create any artificial situations or that we be unnatural in our dealings with our visitors. But we do suggest that you take time to be cordial and to be interested in them.

It is not just that they will be getting an impression of Big Spring and West Texas, but more importantly that this will be a part of their over-all impression of the United States. Chances are that many of these young folk will some day be leaders in their own nations, and we hope that they remember us fondly and with respect.

Time To Broaden Program

Contracts were let last week for paving of six miles of new permanent roads for the county's lateral road system. Another 26 miles will be seal coated to protect the surface of the existing roads.

Howard County now has approximately a hundred miles of permanent lateral roads, exclusive of the state highways and state farm-to-market roads. This gives us one of the better rural road systems in West Texas.

There remains much more to be done, however. We hope the program can be accelerated and more nearly approach the goals of several years ago when commissioners set a target of 20 miles of new road per year. Perhaps this was a bit ambitious, but we need to at least double what we are doing now. This will call for increased professional skills, and to this end, we feel that the county should step up its quest for an engineer capable of providing this as the complement to the present administrative machinery.

Nixon In The Picture

WASHINGTON—If the Republican National Convention were to be held next month, Richard M. Nixon would be nominated as the party's Presidential candidate by a sizable majority. This is the judgment of party officials with a realistic and relatively detached view of the shape of things to come.

What can happen in the two years before the delegates meet is something else. But, as of now, the odds are that history will repeat itself and, as at San Francisco in 1964, the prize will be locked up long before the first gavel sounds.

NIXON IS the only national figure in the party free to go up and down the highways and byways, not only for his own cause but to help members of Congress all over the country. As head of the Boosters Club, he has been more instrumental than any single individual in raising over $1,000,000 for Republicans running for House seats in marginal districts in November.

Nixon is his own skilled organizer. He is said to have an early grip on the delegates from the South, who are traditionally a marketable commodity. Up to 80 per cent of the men and women who nominated Goldwater at San Francisco two years ago will be delegates again in 1968. These hard-shelled pros love the man who in their mythology was counted out of a victory in 1960.

THE POLLS SHOW Nixon's chief rival is Gov. George Romney of Michigan. He is the choice today of the moderates and the liberals—the more ambiguous term of "centrist" is becoming popular—who sought desperately and in vain when it was too late in 1964 to sidetrack Goldwater.

After that, so his moderate backers insist, will be time enough to organize the Romney campaign for President. There can be no evasion. Romney will have to make it clear beyond any doubt that he is a candidate and that he is behind the drive for the nomination.

THE MODERATES have in the past been long on high-flown moralistic statements and short on the sweaty grind of organization. Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania—in his off-again, on-again behavior in 1964 was the cardinal example. Scranton's latest performance in divesting himself of all his political clothes in full public view was hardly calculated to hearten the moderates.

But with Pennsylvania's Sen. Hugh Scott taking the lead, they are tightening their hold on the Republican National Committee. Scott was largely instrumental in purging a noisy minority calling themselves the Rat Finks in the New Jersey Young Republicans, who advertised their anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, anti-everything view of the world.

THE PRIZE of 1968 looms in Republican eyes a lot larger than it did six months ago. Soundings from around the country indicate a disenchantment not only with Viet Nam and other Administration troubles but with Lyndon Johnson, whose image as a wheeler dealer arouses a growing apprehension. The mood within the party is one of every-increasing confidence.

THAT IS ONE reason Scott, Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin and other realists in the leadership are urging caution. The Republican party is a minority party, and these realists are saying that any delusion that it could win with anyone could be fatal. They put Romney forward as a new face, a new conviction or righteousness in public life. At the same time they know that the spade-work or organization is still to be done.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The Supreme Court of the United States has dropped the other shoe. It has reinforced its opinion in the case of Danny Escobedo in 1964 and issued some precise guidelines for police questioning of suspects.

In the Escobedo case, the court overruled a conviction obtained after the suspect had asked, and been denied, the right to see his lawyer. The so-called confession made by Escobedo during the interrogation following denial of the request for counsel was ruled inadmissible.

Now the court has undertaken to clarify the Escobedo doctrine.

It is true that the Supreme Court's decision will make police work more difficult. But it would be foolish to assume that the court will ever make it easier for prosecutors to obtain convictions. Individual rights guaranteed under the Constitution will be construed strictly.

This question then arises: At what point must the rights of society be superior to the rights of an individual? Some argue that the point has already been passed in the Escobedo and more recent cases. Against this is the argument that the erosion of any individual right diminishes the rights of all free men. The question remains unanswered those. Who value individual freedom must hope devoutly that a dogmatic answer is never given.

Housing Off: Weak Spot Or Credit Pinch?

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the weaker spots in the economy — automobile sales and housing starts — have continued to slide, reports showed during the week.

Though automobiles are selling at their second-highest level, they aren't keeping pace with last year.

Housing starts fell in May to their lowest level in 3½ years.

Otherwise, the economy kept on an even keel, spurred by demands of the Viet Nam war.

General Motors reported selling 187,222 new passenger cars in the middle 10 days of June, off 14.1 per cent from 124,845 in June, 1965.

SOME ARE UP — Performances by the other automakers: Ford, 58,451 sold in mid-June against 62,738 a year earlier, a decline of seven per cent; Chrysler, 38,976 against 34,438, an advance of 14 per cent; and American Motors, 8,143 against 7,276, a gain of 12 per cent.

Passenger car production for the week totaled an estimated 189,100 units, compared with 186,291 the previous week and 201,779 a year ago.

Housing starts in May fell 13 per cent to an annual rate of 1,306,000 units from 1,499,000 in April. A year earlier the pace was 1,516,000.

Some economists term housing starts a leading indicator, foreshadowing changes of direction in business activity. But a government official said, "This is simply a manifestation of the credit squeeze that housing is in."

FREIGHT HITS PEAK — Freight traffic on the nation's railroads for the week was the highest in 22 years, showing an increase of 8.6 per cent over a year earlier.

The advance of the cost of living — which has been in its steepest climb in 15 years — was kept to a minimal one-tenth of one per cent in May by a drop in food prices.

Grocery prices fell six-tenths of one per cent — the first drop in eight months. The decline was offset by rises in the costs of clothing, housing medical care and personal services.

The result was that consum-

OFF AND ON

- Auto sales off, but steelmakers think bottom touched
- Freight volume hits highest point in 22 years
- Housing starts fall of 13 per cent for lowest ebb
- Wheat prices edge up, and so will bread price
- House passes moderate unemployment benefit measure

ers paid $11.26 to buy goods and services worth $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

Average earnings of factory workers climbed 60 cents a week in May to $99.22 for those with three dependents and to $91.35 for single workers.

WAGE ADJUSTMENTS — Cost-of-living pay raises will go to more than 200,000 workers with labor contracts pegged to the government index, including three cents an hour for 95,000 aerospace workers and five cents to 75,000 meat packing employees.

Four mills raised prices another 25 cents a hundred pounds — the second increase within a week. Earlier they imposed a 15-cent boost.

Indications were that the retail price of bread would be raised one cent for a one-pound loaf.

Bad weather that harmed some crops, government surpluses and a tendency by farmers to hold back in marketing their crops have combined to send wheat prices higher.

AIRLINE PURCHASES — United Air Lines announced that it has bought 24 Douglas jets for about $220 million.

George E. Keck, president, said that growth of airline traffic and demands in United's markets necessitated the purchase of 15 long-range DC-8-61s and six DC-8-31 jet freighters.

The House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved and sent to the Senate a mild expansion of the federal-state unemployment compensation system.

The bill would increase the net federal unemployment tax on employers by 0.2 percentage point starting next year, and eventually would increase by $1,200 the annual wage base on which the levy is applied.

STEEL STRONGER — Steel production inched up during the week to 2.67 million tons, a gain of 0.4 per cent from 2.66 million tons the previous week. Output for the year totaled 63,466,000 tons, off 3.3 per cent from 65,899,000 tons in the like period last year.

Reports from large steelmakers indicated that the slump in automotive buying of steel has hit bottom and is starting to turn up sharply.

Bell's Palsy: What It Is, What To Do

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: The neurologist said I had Bell's palsy, not a stroke. How serious is this? —MRS. F. H.

Dear Doctor: Has anyone produced a cure for Bell's palsy? The doctor said if it didn't go away in six months it most likely would never go away. Eight months later the left side of my face is still paralyzed but finally my eye has started to blink again. —MRS. D.

Bell's palsy is the name assigned to what happens when something affects a branch of the facial nerve—that which controls muscles of the face. In a word, it is neuritis in a certain place.

The nerves of the face are of necessity close to the surface. They cause the changes of the several facial muscles which express subtle emotions: The slight sneer, or hidden sympathy, or a faint distaste, or love or annoyance or a wink or happiness or you name it.

Bell's palsy doesn't affect all of the face, nor all of the expressions of the face, but it does paralyze the nerve branch which controls part of the face and its muscles.

A drooping of the corner of the mouth and of the eyelid on the affected side of the face is the principal consequence. Remember, only one branch of the facial muscle is involved.

It is not a serious ailment in the sense of endangering life or being painful. It isn't something that spreads. It isn't contagious, either. It is an annoyance.

To answer Mrs. F. H.'s question, it is a local condition which affects a part of the nerve of the face. A stroke is damage to some part of the brain, and the resulting paralysis depends on which part of that organ has been damaged, and how seriously. Bell's palsy has nothing to do with the brain and its signals. It is an interference in nerve signals at a "local station," and not at "headquarters."

What causes the trouble in the branch of the nerve? It may be a chill, an infection, or in occasional instances a physical injury. The general health of the patient can be a factor, but this is not easy to evaluate.

For the most part, and for practical purposes, we usually can say no more than that something has affected the nerve, and the paralysis is usually temporary, although recovery may be rapid, in a week or two, or may be slow.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease of young people. To learn more about it, send in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Mononucleosis," enclosing with your request a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim

A Fellow Ought To Smell Good

What's going to happen to the world is that it is going to be submerged in a sea of liquid fragrances now being marketed for men's use.

This alarming circumstance is strongly pointed up in a publication on "good grooming" that I recently glanced through.

Though some other things caught the eye, the most striking display was in a wide variety of advertisements coaxing the male animal—not notably an aromatic beast—to drench himself in all manner of soap, so he will smell better.

IN THIS ONE magazine there were 26-count 'em, 26-different species, all guaranteed to make a fellow (it said) more manly, more refreshing, and, principally, more attractive to the opposite sex.

I would not know what this stuff smells like, but the ingenuity in naming the various brands is right off the top of Madison Avenue. I can guarantee you none of the lotions bear such labels as Oie Skunkwater, or Upchuck. The names are either calculated to be real he-mannah, real mysterious, or real sexy.

I HAD GONE into this grooming magazine rather wistfully, with a fond dream that even I could become a Reau Brummel with a minimum of time and expense. There were sketches of the Ivy League Look, the Continental Look, and so on, but I found nary an illustration for what you might call the Middle-Age Paunch Look. This was disillusioning, but even so, I found articles telling me how to tie a tie, and how to hang up my britches at night, and how to rotate the wearing of shoes.

HEADY STUFF, all this, but not as heady as the new business of setting men wash in their colognes, deodorants, after-shave lotions and other preparations.

Time was when a fellow just gave off the odor of his work. Butchers couldn't get rid of the aroma (and a good one) of fresh-cut meat and sawdust; druggists gave off a vague air of medicinal compounds; I know my Daddy always smelled of chewing tobacco and printer's ink. An outdoorsman had his own odor, too; either of fish or bird feathers.

MEN CAN'T GET by this way any more; not if they read the ads. The magazine I have mentioned had an article titled "The Smell of Love," and it went on to say that for ages women have adorned themselves with spices and perfumes, presumably in the aim of attracting the wooing male. Now, it said, men ought to return the favor, and try to anoint themselves with something besides under-arm you-know-what.

THERE MAY be a point to all this. Thing is, nobody knows what kind of atmosphere is emanating from his own pores, and he ought to wise up. Please pass me a combination of Mediterranean Nights and Old Scottish Heather. That ought to help even the Middle-Age Paunch character.

What To Do With The Moon?

WASHINGTON — The first photos taken of the moon by U.S. Surveyor I have been very disappointing. They show the moon to be completely lacking in first-class restaurants, tourist attractions, and bathroom facilities.

For all the money it's going to cost us to get there, very little thought has been given to what we do with the place once we have it. The Russians and Americans are in agreement that the moon should not be used as a military base, so someone is going to have to come up with other ideas as to how we can make the moon pay off.

SEVERAL IDEAS have been submitted but each one is getting careful consideration. We know from the photographs that the moon is made up of craters and rocks. Nothing can grow on it, but this could be turned into an advantage. The U.S. government pays farmers not to grow wheat, cotton, tobacco and corn. Since you can't grow anything on the moon, we could leave it just the way it was and collect millions of dollars a year from the Department of Agriculture. In no time our investment in the moon would pay for itself.

Another idea which has been suggested is to use the moon as a dumping place for junked cars. Special missiles could be developed to carry the junked cars to the moon and they could be left in large piles in the craters.

THE BEAUTIFICATION people might complain about this, but, between the junk car dealers and space industry lobbies, they wouldn't have a chance.

A third idea which makes sense is to lease the moon to an outdoor advertising company which would build the largest neon sign known to man.

Since mostly lovers look at the moon, it would be a perfect place to advertise a soap, a 24-hour deodorant, or a mouth wash that makes it possible for people to have close friends.

BECAUSE CHILDREN occasionally look at the moon, no beer, whisky, cigarette, or advertisements for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" would be accepted.

Many real estate promoters have put in bids for moon land to develop homes for senior citizens. One real estate man wrote in a direct mailing piece, "We may not have water or electricity at this moment, but for $10 down and $10 a month we can offer you one helluva view."

MRS. LYNDON JOHNSON wants to keep the moon as it is, but the Highway Builders Association has come out for progress and insists the moon needs decent roads if it ever hopes to have an economy of its own. Sargent Shriver would like to make it into a Job Corps poverty camp, and Mayor John Lindsay would like to move the New York Stock Exchange there.

In any case, the "Committee To Decide What To Do About The Moon" is still working on it, and no decision will be made until someone lands there. If the Russians get there first, we may not have much choice. No one knows what the Russians plan to do with the moon, though there was a hint the other day when a Soviet newspaper attacked several Soviet writers and artists in an editorial, and ended it by saying, "Siberia is too good for them."

The Court On Civil Disorder

WASHINGTON — One wonders, sometimes, how people generally can learn what "the law of the land" is today on many subjects. There is, for instance, such a constant flow of opinion by the Supreme Court of the United States — often involving complex phrases and technicalities — that it is hard for the average person to know what's considered lawful or unlawful.

There is a glimmer of hope, however, in an opinion of the Supreme Court last week which puts in simple form "the law of the land" with respect to disorders and improper conduct, especially in connection with "civil rights" demonstrations. The Supreme Court says:

FIRST, NO FEDERAL law confers an absolute right on private citizens—on civil rights advocates, on Negroes, or on anybody else—to obstruct a public street, to contribute to the delinquency of a minor, to drive an automobile without a license, or to bite a policeman. Second, no federal law confers immunity from state prosecution on such charges.

The issue arose because of the efforts of various defendants in "civil rights" cases to remove their trials from state to federal courts in the belief that they would get better treatment in the latter.

BUT ASSOCIATE Justice Potter Stewart, who delivered the latest opinion of the majority of the court, says that merely alleging that the charges are false or that the defendant was prosecuted for reasons of color or race and may be unable to obtain a fair trial in a particular state court is not enough to remove a case from a state court to a federal court. The Justice adds:

"THE MOTIVES of the officers bringing the charges may be corrupt, but that does not show that the state trial court will find the defendant guilty if he is innocent, or that in any other manner the defendant will be denied or cannot enforce in the courts of the state any right under a federal law providing for equal civil rights. The civil rights removal statute does not require and does not permit the judges of the federal courts to put their brethren of the state judiciary on trial."

THERE ARE CASES which can be readily transferred from state to federal courts when there is an explicit provision of federal law which specifies the conditions for such a removal at the start of proceedings. Congress, of course, has the constitutional power to provide that federal issues shall be tried in federal courts, or that jurisdiction should be shared, and in many instances appeals can be made to the U.S. Supreme Court from state court decisions. But "the law of the land" today, as pronounced by the majority of the Court, reiterates, in effect, that no one can find legal justification for "civil disobedience."

INEVITABLY, as demonstrations increase in intensity and provoke more and more violence, the country will demand that Congress seriously consider the enactment of a law defining "incitement to violence."

An opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States once declared—and it is still, presumably, "the law of the land"—that free speech does not include the right to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater, thereby producing panic. Similarly, the right of "free assembly" can hardly include a right to obstruct traffic and carry on provocative demonstrations.

Shades Birds

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A pair of robins showed they can take advantage of man's ingenuity.

When technologists of the U.S. Forest Products Laboratory built a "sun follower" that slowly tilts from east to west to expose wood specimens to maximum sunshine, the robins moved in.

They built a nest in the supporting framework, which is kept comfortably shaded all day by the specimen rack above it.

OF tennis AND religion

It happened on the very first point as everyone knew it would. The champ was testing the challenger's backhand.

Champs are like that. Right from the start they probe for some flaw in the opponent's game. And when they find it — look out!

Life is just as probing and relentless. Quickly it uncovers our weaknesses . . . then assaults them again and again.

Is that why men go to church? It's one of the reasons!

Victories never come with glorying in our uncertain strength. They come with doing something about our proven weaknesses.

Long ago it became trite to observe that the Church is meant for sinners rather than saints. But it is sound Christian living to recognize honestly our shortcomings . . . and constantly, persistently to seek God's help in overcoming them.

Warming Story Of A Lad's Growing Up Shows At Ritz

A picture which major reviewers are giving high praise is "And Now Miguel," because it is cast in a rather unusual atmosphere which puts emphasis on heart and wholesomeness, along with a degree of excitement and adventure.

The film will run at the Ritz this week, beginning Wednesday and on through Saturday. It is highly publicized as a story for the entire family.

The picture is an adaptation of an award-winning novel by Joseph Krungold, and tells of the yearnings of a small boy in northern New Mexico who hopes to prove himself a man, and thereby be able to accompany his father, uncles and older brother to the mountains with the family flock of sheep.

The story has been brought to the screen by producer Robert B. Radnitz and director James B. Clark, who have together made a specialty of this sort of entertainment, having previously worked in tandem in the filming of "A Boy of Flanders," "Misty" and "Island of the Blue Dolphins."

In this fourth of their pictures of "children's" and "family" together they harvest on their type pictures, qualifying as previous experience in a special, yet really pleasing to special, self-set category of making everyone of whatever age or social condition.

A Boy's Adventure

Young Miguel and his dog protect their lambs from an aerial attack in this scene from "And Now Miguel," which plays at the Ritz Wednesday through Saturday of this week. It's a heart-warming story, for the whole family, about a youngster growing up in northern New Mexico.

The boy Miguel of the title is portrayed by 12-year-old Pat Card, a slender striping who evinces a complete understanding of his role, beyond his years and appearance.

Small Pat is afforded support by his co-stars and supporting players. These include his screen father, Blas Chavez, portrayed by Michael Ansara; by Guy Stockwell, as the young artist confidant of the boy Miguel; by Clu Gulager, as the nomad sheep-shearer who helps the boy attain his purpose; by Joe De Santis, who plays the understanding grandfather Chavez; by Pilar Del Rey, who plays the mother with delicacy, loveliness and sympathy.

In the pattern that producer Radnitz has set for his pictures, "And Now Miguel" was photographed as close as possible to the actual setting of the story, in the villages, mesas, pueblos and high plateau country of northern New Mexico. And against a symbolic backdrop of tall Pederal Peak. It benefits greatly thereby in a feeling of documentary accuracy, and scenic beauty. "Real" people of the locality have been used wherever possible, to portray their counterparts of the story.

Book Best Of Hammett

THE BIG KNOCKOVER. By Dashiell Hammett. Random. $5.95.

The younger generation of readers who enjoy suspense and espionage novels should lose no time in getting acquainted with Hammett.

The older generation will remember him as one of the early greats in what then was called the detective fiction field. He wrote five full-length novels, at least two of which—"The Maltese Falcon" and "The Thin Man"—are classics, and he pioneered the crisp, wisecracking dialogue which so many others have taken up.

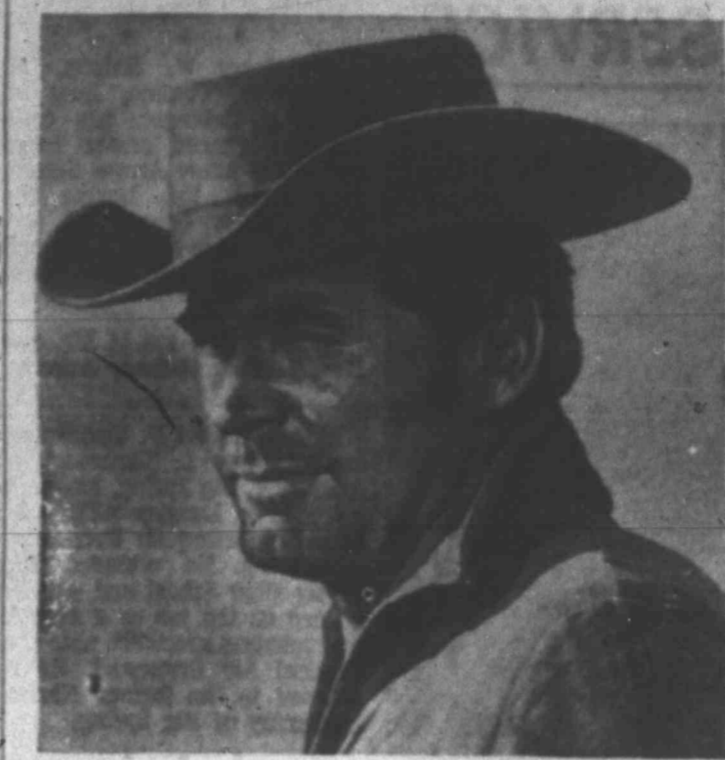

This book is a collection of nine magazine stories and short novels, mostly from the 1920s, plus an unfinished novel of an entirely different nature. It's a dandy book.

The stories are first-person narratives related by a private detective in the San Francisco office of a national agency. Most of them take place in that area, but one is set in a small Balkan state.

The title story is about a huge gang of imported hoodlums robbing two San Francisco banks simultaneously, after which the masterminds start slaughtering the hired gunmen at a wholesale rate, in order to retain all of the loot for themselves. Our detective hero gets into more gory action than two or three James Bonds.

James Garner Rides Again

The TV star has top billing in a western adventure film, "Duel At Diablo," which is the Ritz theatre's featured offering, for three days beginning today.

James Garner In A New Western

There was a time, gossip has it, that big and handsome screen and TV star James Garner walked off a set where he was making a western series, vowing he would never wear a big hat and gun belt again. He had had it with westerns.

But that feeling didn't last long. He's back in the saddle again.

He was offered a juicy part in the super-western, "Duel at Diablo," and it was too much for him to resist.

This new picture is at the Ritz for three days beginning today.

Garner is starred in the color picture, together with Academy-Award-winning Sidney Poitier. Swedish Bibi Andersson is introduced in American audiences in the picture. The picture was produced by Nelson and Fred Engel, the same team responsible for the low-budgeted success "Lilies of the Field" which earned a Best-Actor Academy Award for Poitier.

Garner owes his rather impressive thespian career to the fact that he was once an attendant at a gas station near which a young man named Paul Gregory also pumped octane. As the world knows, Paul became a highly successful TV, stage and movie producer.

Garner was in Los Angeles upon being mustered out of the service after the Korean conflict, and happened to be in the building where Gregory maintained an office. He went in to see Paul and came out with a role in a touring company of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

Question For Frank

Jeanne Crain poses a question of proper conduct to Frank Sinatra, in the picture "All The Way," to show Wednesday through Friday at the Jet drive-in. It's part of a double bill with Sinatra also the star in "Come Blow Your Horn."

STAMPS IN THE NEWS

Togo Salute To WHO Is New Floral Series

By SYD KRONISH
Togo joins the many nations of the world honoring the inauguration of the new World Health Organization headquarters building in Geneva by issuing an attractive flower series of seven stamps. The designs are as follows: 5 F—tallisman rose, 10 F—camellias, 15 F—daisies, 20 F—lilies, 30 F—magnolias, 50 F—(airmail) daisies, 90 F—(airmail)—tallisman roses. A souvenir sheet containing the two highest values was also issued.

Canada's postmaster general has announced the issuance on June 30 of the 14th and last stamp in the precentennial floral emblem series. The 5 cent center will feature the coat of arms which dates from the proclamation of Nov. 20, 1921. The coat of arms appears at the left of the stamp while the 11-point maple leaf is at the right.

The Republic of China on Formosa has issued another in its series of ancient Chinese paintings in the Palace Museum at Tainchong, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. This set also commemorates the fourth inauguration of President Chiang Kai-shek. The titles of the paintings are: "Fishing on a Snowy Day," "Calves on the Plain," "Snowscape" and "Magpies."

To honor the opening of the radio communications system of the CENTO Pact, Iran has issued five new stamps. The denominations are 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 rials and designs feature views of radios and radio towers. Also issued by Iran was a 10 rials stamp marking the opening

Local Man Completes Course

R. S. Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Hubbard, 2206 Nolan, receives his commission from Capt. J. C. Haynie upon successful completion of a vigorous 11-week course of instruction at the Naval Aviation Schools Command at Pensacola, Fla. His wife, Brenda, formerly of Tarzan, looks on.

Sidney T. Clark Jr., whose parents live at 2302 Clanton, Big Spring, received an early promotion to Army grade private E-2 on completion of basic combat training at Fort Bliss, June 4.

He was awarded the promotion two months earlier than is customary because of his score in firing the M-14 rifle, high score on the physical combat proficiency test and his military bearing and leadership abilities.

Clark entered the Army last March. The 21-year-old soldier is a 1963 graduate of Plainview High School. He attended North Texas State University, Denton, and Howard County Junior College.

Cadet Jimmy D. Alexander, 21, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Alexander, live at 707 W. 18th, is attending Reserve Officer Training Corps summer camp at Fort Knox, Ky., which started June 19. He is a student of Tarleton State College in Stephenville.

Cadet Alexander is a 1963 graduate of Big Spring High School and a member of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Pvt. Wendell R. Long, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Long, live on Route B, Lamesa, completed a leadership preparation course at the noncommissioned officer academy, Fort Polk, La., June 17.

He received two weeks of intensive training in leadership.

map and compass reading, weapons and drill.

Pvt. Jerry W. Batson, 25, whose wife, Pauline, lives on Route 2, Ballinger, has completed advanced armor training at the Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky. During the eight-week course, he was trained to drive Army tanks and load and fire their 105-millimeter guns.

Batson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Batson, Ackerly.

Airman Harold P. Yarbrough, son of Elmer L. Yarbrough of 505 Young, Big Spring, has been assigned to Langley AFB, Va., after completing Air Force basic training. He attended Big Spring High School and will be trained on the job as a vehicle maintenance specialist with the Tactical Air Command. He is married to the former Norma McMurray of Fort Spring.

U. S. Air Force 1st Lt. James E. Jeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jeter of Rt. 2, Lamesa, has received the Air Medal with one oak leaf cluster at England AFB, La., for service in Viet Nam.

Lt. Jeter, a C-47 Skytrain pilot, won the awards for his meritorious achievement in sustained aerial flights subject to dangerous ground fire in Viet Nam.

The Lamesa High School graduate was commissioned in 1963 upon completion of the Air Force ROTC program at Texas

SIDNEY T. CLARK JR.

COL. R. G. FLY JR. PINS LT. JAMES JETER

Technological College, Lubbock, where he was graduated with a B.S. degree. He is married to the former Carol Ann Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Freeman, 1014 N. 12th, Lamesa.

U. S. Air Force Major Claud A. Wilkins, son of Mrs. Lucille Trulock of Colorado City, has flown more than 85 combat missions in Southeast Asia.

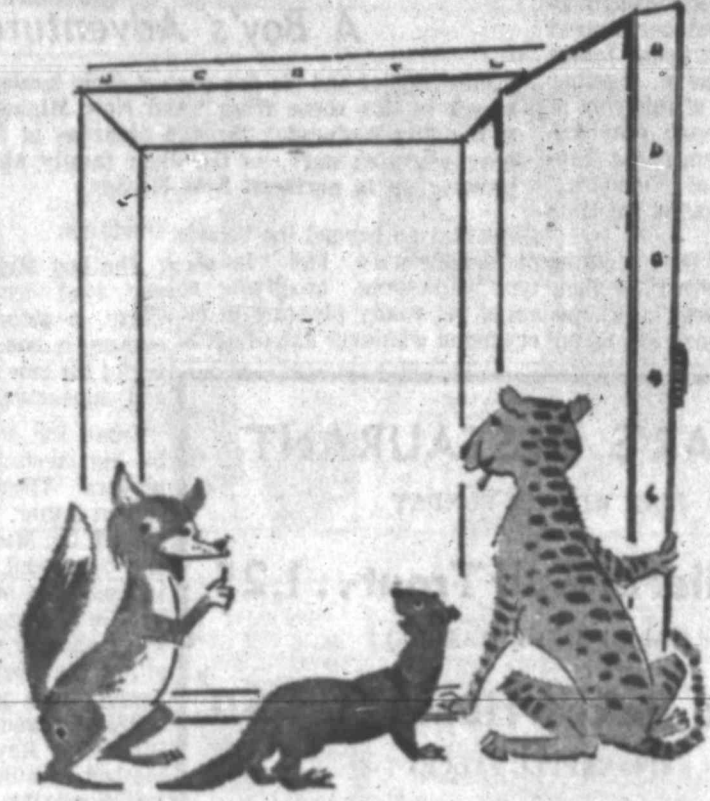

Maj. Wilkins, an F-4C Phantom II pilot, primarily flies "Night Owl" missions in the around-the-clock harassment of Viet Cong supply lines and storage areas. His tactical fighter wing has downed five MIG aircraft, more than any other unit in the limited air-to-air combat in Southeast Asia.

The Colorado City High School graduate received his B.S. degree from the University of Omaha (Neb.). He was commissioned through the aviation cadet program.

His wife, Marion, is the daughter of Mrs. Lucille Dodson of Pipe Creek.

DEAR ABBY

Didn't Like Cat's Food

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother is the kind who will walk into your house, head right for the refrigerator and help himself. It has always burned me up, but I've never said anything. Sunday Ned did that stunt again. He took out a bowl of liver and mashed potatoes I had scraped off everybody's plates and had mixed with cat food. I was saving it for the neighbor's cat, which I am feeding while she is on vacation. Well, Ned made himself a big sandwich of this stuff, got himself a beer, and seemed to enjoy it. I never said a word until he got all through, and then I told him what he ate. I am not going to tell you what happened after that. Abby, but I laughed so hard I cried. Ned isn't talking to me and neither is my husband. Did I do anything so terrible? The stuff was fresh and wouldn't have killed anybody.

ELsie

DEAR ELSIE: I think it was hilarious. But you could have waited a few days to tell him.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Bob's Common Law Wife," who lost three husbands and therefore feared to marry number four, the following story from the Bible:

Sarah, the wife of Abraham, lost not three, but seven husbands on the first night of her marriages. Foul play was suspected; she herself thought that the devil had been destroying her bridegrooms. Prospective husband number eight was told by the Angel Raphael not to fear to wed her; that when a man and woman love and worship together, the devil has no power over them. They married; Sarah's father sadly arose before dawn and dug a grave for his prospective son-in-law. But lo, the bridal couple greeted him at their door! And they lived happily ever after. So, please tell "Bob's Common Law Wife" that where there is the presence of God in a marriage, they need not be afraid.

A BELIEVER

DEAR BELIEVER: I am deeply indebted to you for your beautiful letter. While a newspaper column makes interesting reading for many, the answer to all problems can be found between the two covers of the Bible. "Seek and ye shall find."
