Tears And Joy At Reunion

A smile of joy and young tears are the emotions of mother and daughter on their reunion Saturday at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport after a separation of four years. Mrs. Haisa Yuan embraces her four-year-old daughter, Peggy Yue-Se Yuan, on the mother's arrival from her home in Tulsa, Okla. The child arrived last night after a flight from Taipei, Formosa, where she has been in an orphanage since she was 20 days old. The parents and seven of their other children left Taipei in 1962. The child did not have immigration clearance. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Negotiators Working On Airline Strike

No Headway Yet, Many Stranded

WASHINGTON (AP) - The machinists' union and five major airlines resumed Saturday the negotiations they broke off Thursday, but apparently they made no appreciable headway toward settling the airline strike now in its third day. The Civil Aeronautics Board, in an effort to relieve the air traffic pressures building up across the nation, authorized other air carriers - local service, charter and overseas operators - to fill in where major gaps occur. CALL OFF Two members of the President's Emergency Board - attorney David Ginsburg and Prof. Richard E. Neustadt - which prepared a settlement proposal, issued a statement asking the union to call off the strike during negotiations. "The strike against the airlines is unnecessary and unjustified," they said. In this they echoed earlier comments of the Emergency Board's chairman, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had said that "this is one case in which there is no possible justification for the union to strike." The airlines closed down air service in Eastern, Northwest, National, Trans World and United which, in aggregate, do about 60 percent of the nation's air business. 35,000 MEMBERS The union involved is the International Association of Machinists, AFL-CIO, which represents about 35,000 of the five lines' employees. The CAB gave the scheduled airlines that are not on strike permission to provide as much extra service as they wish over the parts of their routes where any of the five struck airlines had been operating as much as 25 percent of the scheduled service. Since most of the scheduled airlines already are operating at near capacity, the board also gave them permission to sign agreements with the 13 supplemental airlines - airlines restricted to charter business. These agreements would permit the supplementals to carry individually ticketed passengers and individually waybilled cargo in the unused parts of their military and commercial charter flights. However, in the past year the military situation in the Far East has kept most of the supplemental airlines operating also at near capacity. The CAB authorized three American-flag air carriers with overseas routes to expand their services. Specifically the board authorized Pan American-Grace Airways, Inc. - Panagra - and Pan American World Airways, Inc. to carry New York-Miami traffic during the strike. These carriers were authorized also to operate joint flights between New York and Balboa, C.Z., and points in South America. WAIVED REGULATIONS The board waived regulations in order to permit Braniff Airways to provide nonstop service between New York and South America. One of the first airlines to respond to the CAB's liberalization proposal was Piedmont, a local-service operator based at Winston-Salem, N.C. Piedmont said it would put on 20 additional flights Sunday. The cities they will serve include Washington, Atlanta, Winston-Salem, and Richmond, Norfolk and Roanoke, Va. In assessing the probable effects of its emergency efforts to fill the gaps in air service, the CAB said: "Virtually every carrier is so heavily committed to its commercial and military business as to leave relatively little in the way of equipment or crews for service outside of their normal service pattern." IMPROPERLY The board noted that some airlines have contended that it is intervening improperly, and said: "Our sole concern here is to take action to alleviate the great public inconvenience and burden that will be inevitably suffered from a strike of this wide scope."

Going Nowhere

Glum Shriners of the Detroit temple wait endless hours at San Francisco International Airport for the planes that were unavailable due to a strike of airline mechanics. The few planes moving eastward were filled to capacity, with long lines still waiting. Additional Greyhound buses were readied to accommodate some of the Shriners, homeward bound after their week-long convention. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Two Ku Kluxers Given 10 Years

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) - U.S. District Judge William A. Boothe, disregarding pleas for leniency, sentenced two Ku Klux Klansmen Saturday to 10 years in prison for crimes against Negroes. It was the longest period of confinement he could impose on the two - Joseph Howard Sims, 41, and Cecil W. Myers, 26 - under an 1870 law that formed the basis of their convictions. Boothe could have fined them $5,000 each in addition. VERDICT READ The verdicts were read Friday night at the end of two back-to-back trials of Sims, Myers, and four of their fellow Klansmen, all charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of Negroes. The other four were acquitted. The charges stemmed from the slaying in 1964 of Rev. James R. Ray, a 49-year-old Negro educator, killed by shotgun fire near Athens as he was returning to his home in Washington, D.C., from Army Reserve training at Ft. Benning, Ga. TO APPEAL Sims and Myers were acquitted about two months after the shooting of state charges that they murdered Penn. Defense attorney James Hudson, who also represented them in the murder trial, said they would appeal the conviction. Boothe set bond at $35,000 each. One of their co-defendants, Herbert Gues, a 39-year-old garage operator, earlier had pleaded guilty to charges of selling "pep" pills without a license. Boothe sentenced him to two years in prison. This case was not related to the civil rights charges. Hudson asked for leniency for all three and said of Sims and Myers, "Neither of these men have been in trouble before this particular occasion. They felt that they had a cause - at least in their minds." Sims, a machinist, and Myers, a carpenter, were tried in the first trial and convicted by a white jury of 11 men and one woman. SEALED UP Their verdict, however, had been sealed in an envelope for seven days to insure fairness in the second trial, and it was not made public until Friday night. The jury that convicted Sims and Myers acquitted George H. Turner, 33, a maintenance worker at an Athens poultry company. The second jury, a panel of 12 white men, deliberated about nine and one-half hours Friday before returning three verdicts of innocent. They acquitted Guest, James S. Lackey, 30, former manager of an Athens service station, and Denver Willis Phillips, a 26-year-old mechanic. NO QUESTION U.S. Dist. Atty. Floyd M. Buford had said six convictions would be "a declaration for law and order." But he said: "There is no reason to question the jury in any way. Southerners respect the law and Southerners respect jurors. It was up to the jury to decide the guilt or innocence. The jury has spoken."

Republicans Suggest Hikes In Social Security Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Republican Coordinating Committee recommended Saturday night that Congress provide for automatic increases in Social Security benefits to meet increases in living costs. The proposal was made in a report entitled "A Republican Approach to the Needs of the Aging" which called also for action to back up the medicare program. NEGLIGENCE "In the new field of medicare the Johnson-Humphrey administration is guilty of gross negligence," the report said. "The law became effective nearly a year ago and the administration has failed tragically to prepare for the start of the program. The hospitalization program begins on July 1. The program of nursing care goes into effect Jan. 1, 1967. "Still, today, extended medical facilities called for under the act are largely nonexistent. "The Republican Coordinating Committee urges the immediate implementation of already existing programs to provide such personnel, services, and facilities as may be necessary to care adequately for the health of our elderly citizens." The coordinating committee includes representatives of Republican governors, Congress, state legislators and the national committee. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former presidential nominees are members. The report was prepared by a task force headed by John B. Martin, Grand Rapids, Mich., chairman of the Michigan Commission on Aging. It was adopted by the coordinating committee at its meeting here June 27-28 and made public Saturday night by the GOP National Committee. Along with proposing automatic cost-of-living increases in Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits, it attacked inflation and called for immediate steps to "stop multibillion-dollar federal deficit spending which lays the foundation for inflation." Views in the report in other subjects: Jobs: Older people who are able and want to work should be encouraged to do so. The present $1,500-a-year limit on earnings without reduction of Social Security benefits should be raised. GRANTS Most states are falling to meet the minimum subsistence standards for older people forced to rely heavily on old-age assistance programs. Immediate action should be taken by the states, and if necessary by the federal government, to see that basic needs are met. Private Pension Plans: There should be prompt consideration of ways to amend present laws to further encourage such plans.

Lower Allocation Adult Migrant Education Classes To Be Expanded

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Board of Education voted Saturday to expand the federal-state program of adult migrant education almost threefold during the 1966-67 school year. The program, financed largely by federal grants through the Office of Economic Opportunity, will be enlarged from the current $3.3 million operation for 3,000 adults in South Texas to $9.5 million for 8,400 adults in several parts of the state. State and local sources furnish about $100,000 in school facilities and equipment. SUCCESSFUL "I have never seen a program as successful as this one," M. A. Browning, assistant state commissioner of education, told the state school board. "This is the only project like this in the nation." Browning said current adult education classes are almost entirely among the Latin-American migrant laborers in South Texas but the expansion would allow the program to reach Negro farm workers in East Texas. The state board also approved continuation of the current federal-state program for education of migrant children at an estimated cost of $2.8 million in 1966-67 with the state furnishing about $900,000. In about 40 schools, mostly in South Texas, the money would be used to help educate migrant children by enrichment of teachers salaries, instructional facilities, physical examinations of students and low cost school lunches. In 20 schools, there would be special migrant school programs where students attend school six months a year instead of nine months. State school board members set the 1966-67 per capita payment at $1.80 in state funds for each Texas public school pupil. State money pays about 80 percent of school operation costs. LOWER The $1.80 per capita payments compares with an original $0.65 allocation last year which later was increased to $3 when more tax money became available. This year's allocation is based on the state comptroller's estimate that $228.8 million will go into the available school fund during the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1967.

Rusk Pleased With His Tour

TOKYO (AP) - U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk completed Saturday a 15-day, five-nation tour in which he did considerable fence mending and took some precautions against possible future storms. As he took off for Washington from Yokota military air base outside Tokyo, Rusk had little to show in the way of concrete achievements. But informed sources said he had several reasons for satisfaction. In Canberra, he kept the cracks in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization - SEATO - from growing wider, and he had "meaty and useful" talks with America's ANZUS treaty partners, Australia and New Zealand. These ANZUS talks are expected to be continued later this year at the United Nations. In Manila, ground work was put down for a visit to the United States, probably in September, by Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos. In Taipei, Rusk reassured Chinese Nationalists worried about reports of a shift in U.S. policy toward Communist China, and in Japan he reassured nervous Japanese officials that the United States did not intend to escalate the Viet Nam war by its Hanoi-Haiphong area bombings. In Seoul, he noted South Korean requests to participate in any Viet Nam peace talks, but made no commitments beyond promising to study a South Korean proposal for a strategy coordination meeting of Viet Nam war allies.

Shrimp Boat Collides, Sinks

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) - A shrimp boat sank Saturday after a collision with a barge and a tug 40 miles south of Galveston. A Coast Guard helicopter rescued the three aboard the Sandra F. No injuries were reported. A plane from the Corpus Christi Coast Guard Station stood by during the rescue. There was no information as to the home ports of the boats or identity of the persons rescued. They were flown to Houston. The collision occurred about 9 a.m.

Shooting Mishap Kills G. W. Holden

A Big Spring barber was killed accidentally Saturday afternoon, when the .22 calibre rifle he was cleaning discharged, the bullet striking him in the left side of the chest. George Walter Holden, 63, was found dead in his backyard at 405 Dallas by his sister, Mrs. Charlotte Irwin, shortly after 5 p.m. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice ruled that Mr. Holden's death was the result of an accidental shooting. Services will be held Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. at the Fourth Street Baptist Church with the Rev. Billy Rudd officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Arnett, pastor of the Stadium Baptist Church. Interment will be in the Trinity Memorial Park. Mr. Holden was born July 14, 1902, in Comanche, and moved to Big Spring in 1934 from Tahoka. He was a barber at Stroup Barber Shop, and a deacon at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church. He married Miss Gladies McCrary on April 11, 1925, in Roby. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. George Holden; one daughter, Mrs. Bill Irwin; two granddaughters, Peggy Irwin and Debra Irwin; three brothers, Paul Holden, J. Woodie Holden, Fort Worth, Sidney J. Holden, Odessa; and two sisters, Mrs. A. M. Cleghorn, Snyder, and Mrs. Sam Newhouse, Honeygrove. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is handling services.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle After several weeks of increasingly hot and dry weather, showers returned to the area Thursday and Friday to provide relief. Most favored spots were in the south half of the county, where the aggregate was near an inch. Storms danced across the north half from Hartwells to Luther, pouring out from half to an inch of moisture. Where it came, rain was enough to freshen feed and really keep cotton coming. Deposits passed $42,700,000 and were up two million dollars from a year ago, statements of our banks showed last week. This was a five per cent gain. Total resources were up 4.6 per cent in reaching $46,954,000. Loans were up 2.5 per cent. All figures, except loans, were down about the same percentage from the peak reached in April of this year. Savings and loan associations had another $21,887,894 in savings. No figures were gathered on credit unions, but savings accounts there probably exceeded $5,500,000. This all adds up to close to $70,000,000. In the face of this, perhaps

WEEDS BEWARE!

Pablo Bustamante uses city's new mobile spray machine

City Develops Weed Poisoner

City officials have combined a homespun wisdom, a utility tug, high pressure pump, twin barrels and a few feet of hose and devised a mobile spraying machine to kill weeds.

The machine was constructed in the city's public works shop after an idea by R. V. (Skeet) Foresyth, street and sanitation superintendent.

The shop men took a warehouse tug which was obtained through government surplus for about $35, added two 55-gallon barrels, a high pressure pump costing $100, and spent about $25 to rig it with pipes, hoses, etc. After a coat of white paint, the machine was pointed at the weeds.

"We use the sprayer in very limited areas," said Ernest Lillard, public works director. "We spray places that we can't get to with mechanical equipment — like downtown areas where sidewalks are not adjacent to the streets, and in areas that would require hand labor."

Lillard said the sprayer is never used during the time of day when persons may be in the area, or where there are parked cars. He said that the weed poison is not rated as harmful to persons or to car paint, but that the city would rather not take any chances. Likewise, he said workers spray only when there is no wind so the mist can't spread.

The mixture is a soil sterilizer. It soaks into the ground and comes up through the roots of the plants to kill them. "It may take a while to kill an already growing plant," Lillard said, "but after the soil becomes sterile, weeds can't grow in it for about two years." The purpose of the spray is not only a weed killer, but also a weed deterrent.

One pound of chemical powder will make 50 gallons of mixture, seven pounds of it are recommended for each acre of soil treated. The powder costs $2.45 a pound, and so far this year the city has used 20 pounds.

Inventor Will Present Ideas

Don Olson, president of the Ord Corporation, of Santa Fe, N. M., will meet with interested persons July 12, concerning relocation of his company here.

Olson will discuss the commercial aspects of some products which his company has developed, and seek venture capital.

He was contacted by the Economic Development Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, which solicited inquiries through patent attorneys of inventors.

These attorneys recommended Olson as someone they thought had a product that could be manufactured in Big Spring to the mutual benefit of both his company and the community. During the year, Olson has made several trips to Big Spring and discussed various ideas with the committee.

"The chamber in no way endorses or attempts to evaluate the soundness of the propositions that will be presented," said John Currie, local chamber president; "but Olson and his company do enjoy a good reputation in Santa Fe."

The presentation will be made at the Big Spring Country Club at 5 p.m., July 12.

Wrinkle On WTCC Board

Winston Wrinkle, owner-manager of Radio Station KBST, Friday was named a Big Spring director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, succeeding Champ Rainwater.

Local members of the WTCC held a brief session, and adopted a resolution of thanks and commendation to Rainwater, who has served as a local WTCC director for some 12 years. He will be moving soon to Lubbock, to become assistant to the division vice president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Wrinkle, with R. W. Whipkey, other local WTCC director, will attend a district directors' meeting in Stanton Monday. At this session, the regional organization's broad plans for a 1966-67 work program will be unfolded.

Local members of the WTCC — there are some 55 of them — were urged Friday to become affiliated with one of the organization's major committees, to help further its work. These function in the areas of agriculture and ranching, education, industrial development, national affairs, petroleum and chemicals, information, state affairs, tourist development, and water resources.

Old Settlers' Plans Firmed

Plans for the Old Settlers Reunion of Howard and Glasscock Counties have been firmed, Jess Slaughter, president, said Saturday.

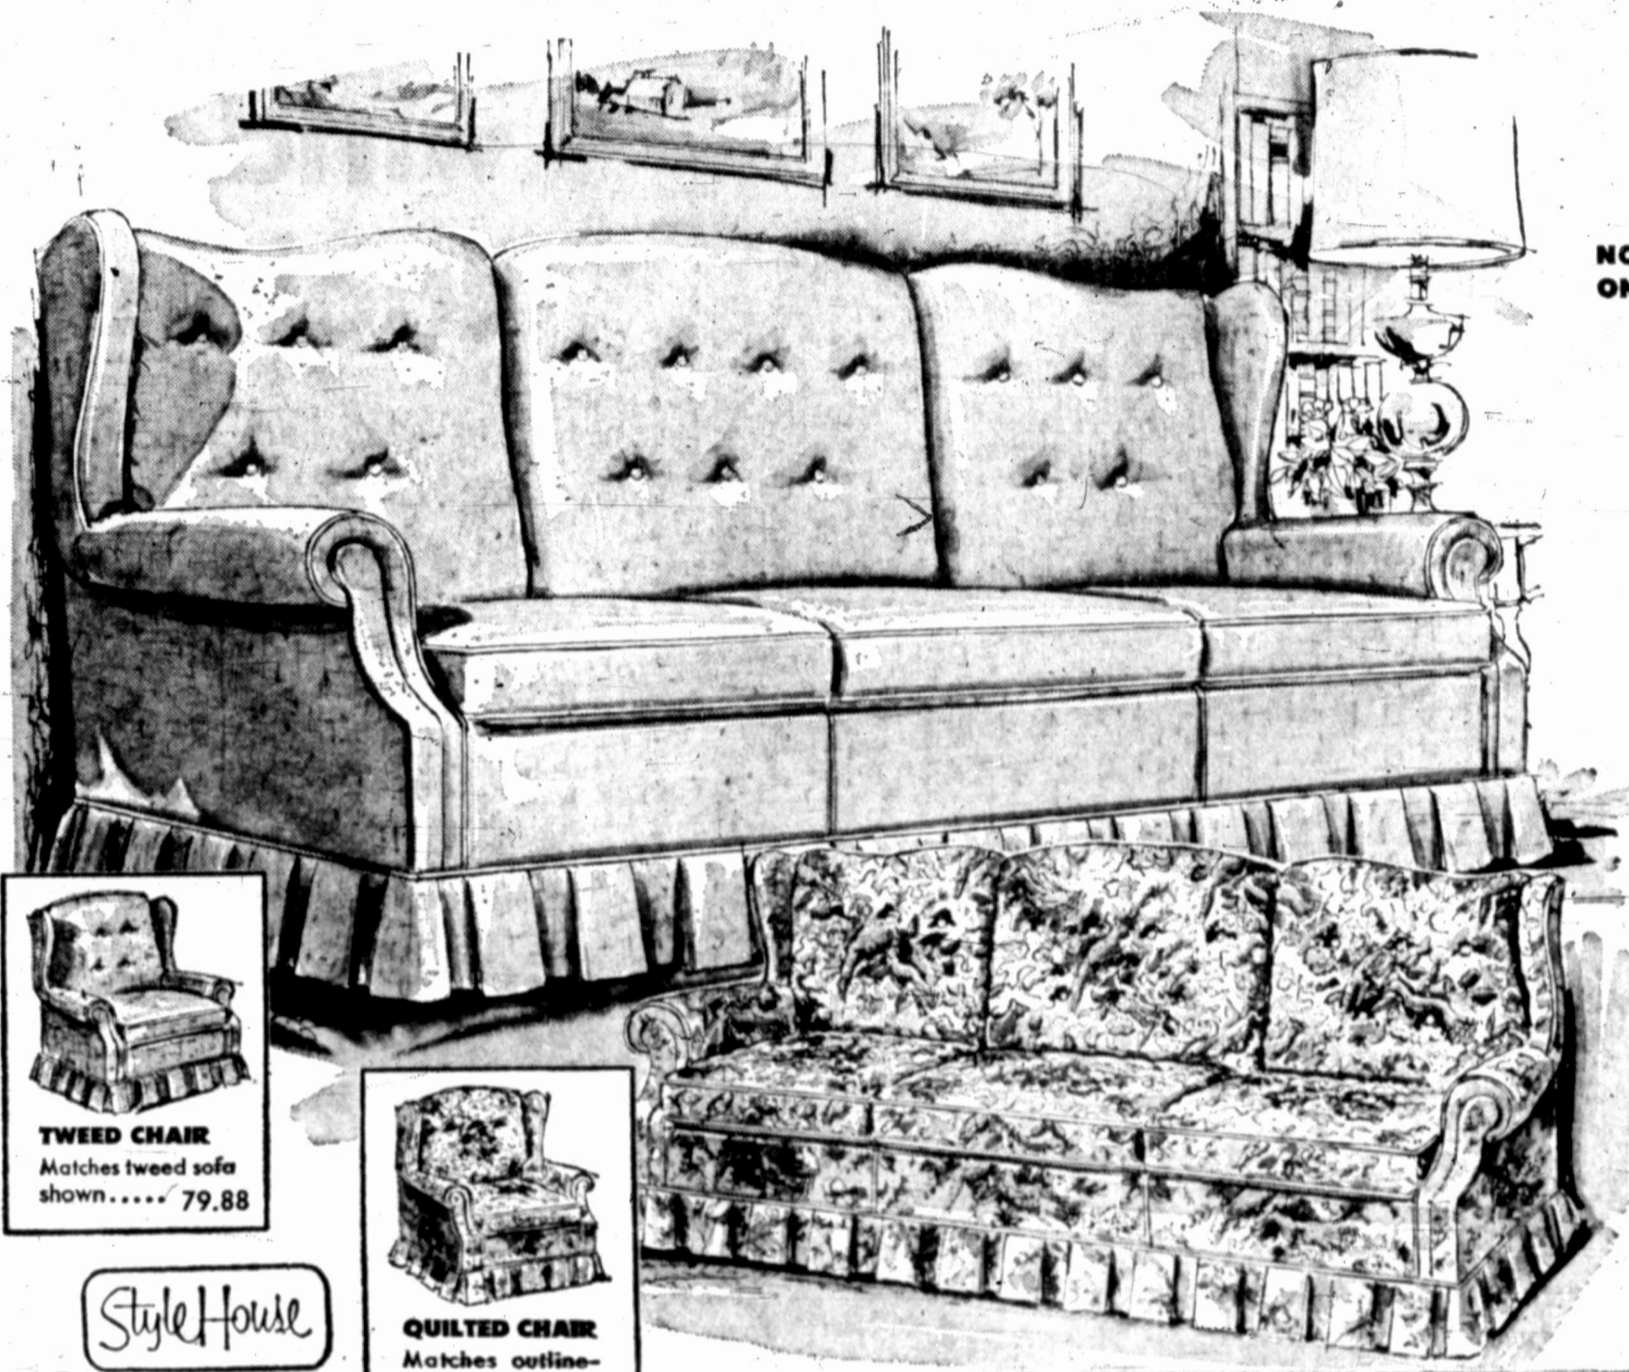

Program details will be announced soon, along with arrangements for the get-together and barbecue. The date this year will be July 29, one week later than the traditional fourth Friday of July. This was due to a conflict in the date of the band engaged to furnish music. This will be the 42nd annual meeting of the old timers, said Slaughter.

Ambuc President Reports On Trip, Gets Awards

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, only Big Spring delegate to the American Business Club's annual national convention at Muskegon, Mich., this year, regaled his fellow American Business Club members with some of his experiences and misadventures in a talk made at the organization's luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Johnson, the club's retiring president, described himself as a "country boy" who had never before been north of Oklahoma. He and his family started the trip, he said, without having hotel or motel reservations in advance, a problem that became graver as the Johnson car progressed northward. In places like Chicago, Johnson said he found it impossible to find places to stay.

Driving on some of the free-ways, he began to think he was going to be unable to depart the super-roads before driving all the way through Chicago.

From Milwaukee the family took the ferry for a trip across Lake Michigan to the site of the convention.

He recommended that his fellow Ambucs try to make the trip when the 1967 convention is held in Springfield, Ill.

Johnson returned with two ABC awards presented to the local club by the national committee. One was the coveted Blue Chip patch, awarded to clubs successful in membership drives; and the other the Century award, given to those units who exceed 100 in total membership.

Don Shields was introduced as a new member of the club while guests included T. A. Hammond, David Holmes and Randy Robertson.

Assignments were made to club members who will help stage Tuesday night's professional wrestling show at the amphitheater in the City Park.

Water Demands Hit High Point

Water demands by Big Spring upon the Colorado City Municipal Water District for the month of June jumped some 20 million gallons.

The city used 208 million gallons in June of 1966, as compared with 186 million a year ago. High-use day was 8.6 million June 14, and low use day was 3.5 million June 19. Last year, June 29 was the high day with 9.6 million, and June 11 was low day with 2.9 million gallons.

Consumers used 153 million gallons in May of 1966. May 23 was high-use day with 8.9 million gallons, and May 1 was low-use day with 2.6 million.

GAMCO Changes Are Announced

The promotion of Auriel La Fond to the position of vice president in charge of research and development of GAMCO was announced Saturday by George A. McAlister, president.

Jim Gillespie succeeds La Fond as director of the Creative Visuals division. In addition to his duties as vice president, La Fond also will be assistant to the president.

Both appointments were effective as of July 1, said McAlister. La Fond is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and took his masters at the University of Michigan. He also has work toward his doctorate at Cornell and California. As a mathematics teacher in Ann Arbor, Mich., high school, he developed some teaching aids which he later patented as Trig-Tracer. In time he added to the line, including items from four companies and marketed nationally. McAlister got in touch with him and persuaded him to market through his parent company, Math Master, and eventually to join Math Master as general manager.

When Creative Visuals was acquired by GAMCO (taken from the initials of the founder and president), McAlister tapped La Fond out to unsnarl a production jam until someone experienced in the field could be obtained.

Gillespie was reared in Alabama and Georgia, graduating from West Point, Ga. He took his bachelor's at Auburn and his masters in education and science at the University of Alabama. In a year of teaching at Prattville, Ala., he met a fellow faculty member, Sue Edwards, and they were married. After being in the Armed Forces from 1943-46, he returned to education, serving as audio-visual supervisor for Tuscaloosa schools and teaching at the University of Alabama during summers.

Recalled for the Korean campaign, he served in the Air University at Montgomery, Ala.,

Girls Arrive For Pageant

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miss Philippines looks like the first lady of her land.

Miss Venezuela is a pole vaulter.

Facts such as these emerged Saturday as the annual international beauty assembly here neared completion. Forty-two candidates for next week's Miss Universe crown had arrived despite an airline strike.

More than 20 more were reported scrambling for reservations or en route.

Miss Philippines, Clarinda Soriano, showed a photograph of herself with Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife, Ismilda.

She said, "The first lady is more beautiful than I am." There was a striking resemblance.

Atsumi Ikono was the first Miss Japan to arrive for the international pageant dressed in Western clothes.

Construction Holds Up Despite Slight Decline

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas construction declined slightly from April to May but held up "very well in comparison with that of the nation as a whole," a researcher said Saturday.

Dr. Stanley Arbingast of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas said "The tight money situation had evidently not affected Texas construction through May as much as had been anticipated."

However, he said, "Shortages of credit from savings and loan associations have hurt new construction to some extent in that some savings and loan institutions as a policy are serving old customers but are not seeking new accounts."

He said a few new federal rules, effective July 1, may bring about an increase, however, in money available for home loans. It authorizes savings and loan associations to issue savings certificates, a privilege previously restricted to banks. Dividends up to five per cent may be paid on the certificates.

Arbingast, in an article for the July "Texas Business Review," said Texas' seasonally adjusted index of total construction dropped from 145.3 in April to 141.5 in May. The May index, however, was 21 points higher than a year ago.

He said Texas' residential construction regained its momentum in May, climbing 13.6 points from April when it was at its lowest point since February 1965. Austin, Corpus Christi, Houston, Laredo, Midland and San Antonio all showed increases in the number of permits issued for single-family dwellings. Laredo had the highest increase, 18 per cent, while the largest decreases were in Tyler, 35 per cent; Lubbock, 31 per cent; Waco, 28 per cent, and Wichita Falls, 25 per cent.

Permits for duplexes increased in Austin, Fort Worth, Galveston-Texas City, McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg and San Antonio.

TWO SCULPTURES FOR TWO PAINTINGS

Artists Make Unique Swap

By SAM BLACKBURN

Mrs. Bismark Schafer traded two Billy the Kids for two St. Anthonys and figures she made a very good swap.

The two items she traded are displayed in honored places in a squat adobe building, just across the road from where Billy the Kid shot down two deputy sheriffs and escaped from jail April 28, 1881. Witnesses of the escape peered that day from inside that same old adobe building across the street as the most celebrated New Mexico gunman made his bloody break for liberty.

PROMINENT PLACE

The two St. Anthonys she received occupy a prominent place in her picture cluttered ranch room, about 30 miles south and east of Big Spring in Glasscock County.

The unusual trade developed in 1965 when Mrs. Schafer and her husband, a pioneer rancher of Glasscock County, were in Lincoln.

Attracted by a display of primitive wood carvings which adorn the front porch of the ancient saloon, they made the acquaintance of Roman Maes. Maes is operator of the saloon and his hobby for years has been wood carving.

He and his wife are the grandchildren of New Mexicans who were directly involved in the Lincoln County war in which Billy the Kid was a star. Her father was aligned with the forces in which the Kid was a leader, the ancestors of Maes were on the other side. But these things all happened nearly a century ago. None of those who took part in the Lincoln County war still lives.

INTERESTED

The Maes are interested in the bloody, exciting history of the little community where they have spent their lives.

Mrs. Schafer told Maes she was a painter. This led to a suggestion that Maes give her two of his wood carvings and, in exchange, she would paint him two portraits of Billy.

"There is only one existing picture of Billy," Mrs. Schafer said. "It is an old tintype which is so badly faded and reproduced of which have been so altered and changed that you can hardly tell what the Kid really looked like.

"I may have taken a few liberties — I just don't believe the boy could have been quite as homely as that tintype indicates."

TWO PICTURES

She painted one portrait of the Kid posed as he is in the tintype and a second of him standing at a corner of the bar in Maes' saloon. Incidentally, the bar in the old saloon is the identical bar that was there in the time of the war and, very likely, the Kid actually stood at the corner just as Mrs. Schafer portrayed him.

Maes is a self-trained wood-carver. He uses cotton wood stumps and other native woods. His work is definitely primitive in execution and has some feature reminiscent of his Aztec ancestors.

Mrs. Schafer, on the other hand, studied art in college as a girl. Later, when she and Schafer married, she found herself too busy raising a family to continue her art work.

MANY HOURS

In more recent years, with the family grown and away, she has resumed painting. She likes to deal with Western subjects and her home is filled with her work. She has a studio in one room of the house and puts in many hours painting.

Her husband is the son of a family that came to Glasscock County in 1887. The Schafers still live on the old ranch homesteaded by his father. Schafer, who is 75 but doesn't look it, was born just a short distance from where he now lives. Mrs. Schafer is also a native-born West Texan. Her parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carter, and she was born and raised just a short distance from the Schafer ranch.

Mrs. Schafer works primarily in oils. She also tries her hands oil at times with water color.

Two 'St. Anthonys' For 'Billy The Kids'

Mrs. Bismark Schafer, Glasscock County artist, holds two wood carvings for which she traded two oil paintings of William H. Bonney (a copy of which is shown to the left). The portraits hang in an ancient saloon in Lincoln, N. M., the scene of Billy's dramatic career. To the right is a portrait by Mrs. Schafer of Pat Garrett, the sheriff who gunned the kid down.

the Kid to death about a year after the latter had slain Victor Nos. 20 and 21 in his break for freedom. Sometime she may go back to Lincoln and it may be that her painting of Pat will join that of the Kid in Maes' saloon. And possibly another of Maes' strangely fascinating wood carvings may find a niche in the Schafer ranch house.

Suspect Shot Trying To Flee

DALLAS (AP) — A burglary suspect knocked out Sgt. Melvin Southall early Saturday, but the policeman recovered and killed him with a shotgun blast.

It took two chases at high speed, however, before the officer got his man, a 26-year-old whose name was withheld.

Southall gave this account:

Cruising alone in his patrol car about 1 a.m., the policeman spotted three men suspected of several burglaries. They sped away in a pickup truck and he pursued until the pickup ran into a ditch.

As Southall stepped from his vehicle, one of the men snatched his pistol and knocked the sergeant unconscious.

He recovered to find two of the men had disappeared and the third was starting to leave after extricating his truck from a ditch.

Southall jumped back into his car and there was another chase, again ended with the pickup in a ditch. His driver leaped out and ran as the officer shouted for him to halt.

He ignored the order and Southall cut loose with the shotgun.

Most Texas Crops Need Rain For Top Yields

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas crops progressed well last week but most sections need rain. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported.

He said crops are reaching the stage when maximum moisture is required for top yields.

Range grasses are maturing and rain is needed to keep the plants growing. Some grass is turning brown.

Rains during the week generally were light except for spots along the coast.

Moisture in the Panhandle ranged from short to very short. The wheat harvest is about over with yields better than expected. Some grain sorghum has not been planted due to the drought. In other areas, sorghum made excellent growth. Extensive grasshopper damage was noted in the eastern Panhandle. Labor is generally adequate.

In general, South Plains' crops are making excellent progress, with moisture adequate. The wheat harvest passed the 80 per cent complete stage and yields from irrigated fields have been slightly below average. Cotton and sorghum progress is excellent. The potato harvest started this week. Most crops will enter the high water requirement stage in 10 to 14 days and good rains will be needed.

Moisture is needed all through the Rolling Plains (Vernon) for cotton, corn, sorghum, ranges and stock water. Older cotton is squaring and sorghum is heading.

Seven of the 22 counties in the North Central Texas district are short on moisture. Corn is at the roasting ear stage and sorghum is heading and both need rain.

Good rains fell in the western part of far West Texas but all other counties need rain. Livestock conditions were fair to excellent with ranges beginning to dry. Cotton made excellent growth and insects are few. Some lambs are moving to market.

Moisture is short all through West Central Texas. Cotton and sorghums progressed but these, and all other crops, need rain. Peach yields and quality are high. Ranges are beginning to burn. Some lambs and calves are being marketed. Labor is short.

Central Texas moisture generally was adequate but sorghum and ranges would benefit from a good rain. Corn and cotton were in good shape with light insect counts. Late grain sorghum is suffering from heavy midge infestations. Early peanuts are blooming. Haying slow. Peaches and melons are ripening.

Moisture is short in East Tex. Cotton and corn need rain. The hay harvest was active and the watermelon harvest has started.

Rains improved coastal counties of Southeast Texas. Early corn is maturing, cotton is blooming and some insect damage has been reported on both. The second cutting of hay is under way.

generally is adequate with a few very dry spots. The progress of corn, cotton, sorghum and peanuts was good. Ranges are holding up well. Hay harvesting continued. Pecan prospects are fair.

Moisture in the Coastal Bend and Lower Valley is fully adequate to surplus. More rain is needed in the Winter Garden.

The sorghum harvest in the Valley and Coastal bend is beginning. Cotton insects are light to heavy. The melon harvest is about over. Haying is active and ranges in the adequate moisture areas are above average. All livestock are in good condition.

Condemnation Is First On County Docket

A jury panel is to report to the Howard County Court at 1:30 p.m. Monday to serve in the trial of at least one important condemnation suit and in other civil cases docketed for trial this week by Judge Lee Porter.

The condemnation action is of great issue in the program to get building of the west leg of FM 700 on the way. It involves nearly three acres of land at the intersection with US 87.

The owners are Tarbox and Gossett and the efforts by the county commissioners to negotiate a deal for the property has bogged down. The owners ask more than $100,000 for their property, commissioners said.

A jury will hear evidence and decide a fair price plus any damages it may feel the owners will have suffered by the seizure of their lands.

In a condemnation suit of this nature, both the property owners and the county has the right, if displeased with results, to appeal.

However, a verdict by a jury opens the land at issue to the state or county for the purpose of building a road.

The county voted $600,000 in bonds to finance purchase of right of way for the proposed road extension. Several tracts are yet to be acquired. The land involved in the condemnation action is probably the largest in amount. About $200,000 remains of the original funds set up for land acquisition.

ANXIOUS, AT 84, TO GET BACK TO WORK

Sawyers Still Trains Horses

By SAM BLACKBURN
Fruit Sawyers, 84, is in the Hall - Bennett Memorial Hospital recovering from a broken left leg.

It is not uncommon for elderly men and women who have passed the two score year mark to break bones. Very often, they do so when they slip on a rug or trip going down steps.

Sawyers, however, doesn't fit into the general pattern.

TRAINING HORSE
His broken leg was caused when a horse fell on him — a horse that he was training to be a barrel racer.

To his way of looking at it, there was nothing unusual to the fact that a man of his years was training a horse.

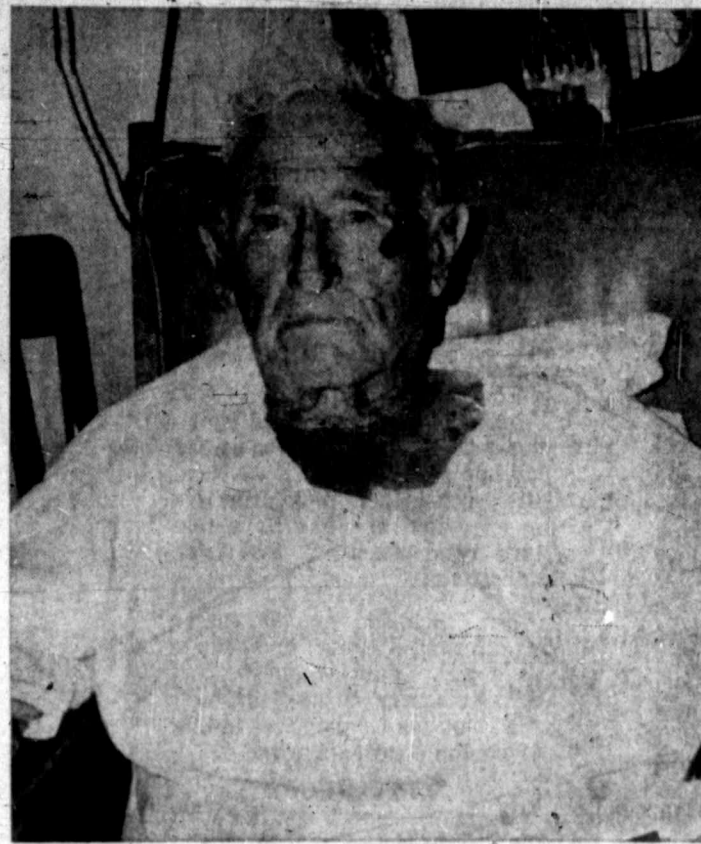

"Why not?" he wants to know. "I've been training horses all my life — that's my job. I have a number of horses I take care of for people. I want to get out of this hospital. I got work to do at home."

Home is out near the Howard County Fair grounds and show barns. He has lived there for a decade or more. There he and his wife, who is as spry as he is, make their home. An older son lives with them. However, it is Sawyers and his wife who take care of the horses kept at the fair grounds.

This is the second time that Sawyers' left leg was broken in a riding mishap.

This most recent episode, he said, was July 3. He was riding the horse he was training a few blocks from his house. A dog ran out and snapped at the horse and the animal shied. It slipped on the paving and fell, pinning Sawyers under it.

FIRST TIME
"Just like the first time," recalls Sawyers. "That was 21

WHAT'S A BROKEN LEG TO A GOOD MAN? Fruit Sawyers, 84, takes mishap in full stride

years ago. A bunch of drunks came by while my wife and I were out riding. They scared my horse and he reared up and fell over backward. My wife asked if I was hurt. I told her I thought my leg was broken.

"Well," she said "we have to get that boot off." I told her I couldn't stand for her to pull it off, but she said I could. She pulled the boot off and in doing so snapped the two broken ends of the bone back into place. I went to the hospital and Dr. Clyde Thomas fixed the break.

"This time, just like before, my wife asked if I was hurt. I told her I thought my leg was broken. 'Well,' she said, 'we got to get that boot off.' And doggoned if she didn't pull the boot off just like before and again snapped the two broken ends back in place. Here I am back in the same hospital, and Dr. Thomas has fixed the same leg for me again."

Sawyers was born in Hood County. His father, the late Riley Sawyers, was in the cattle business and was a trail boss for many years, driving herds of cattle to northern and western markets. Sawyers made one or two of the rides with his father.

RACE RIDER

"I was a very small boy," he said, "so I took up race riding. I rode my first race at the age of eight, and I weighed in at 50 pounds."

He rode race horses all over Texas for many years. His last race, he said, was at Haskell.

"It was a long time ago," said Sawyers, "before I was married and I married 64 years ago." "I lost that race," he added. The Sawyers have five daughters and a son.

All of his life, he said, he has worked with horses and cattle. He worked for many ranches in this area and knows all of the old time cattlemen of this part of Texas.

Three days after the leg was broken, Sawyers was sitting in a rocker in his hospital room. He was contemplating the cast on his leg and wondering how long before he could be up and about.

"I got a lot of work to do at the place," he explained. "Of course my wife and son will get it done, but I should be there, too."

NO PLANS

Very likely he'll be out and at work before many a younger man in the same condition would. And he has no plans at all, other than to get right back in the saddle again as quick as he can.

Did the fall knock him out? "Nope," he says. "Hardly made me dizzy. In fact, I feel dizzier right now than I did when that horse came flopping down on top of me."

R. L. White Dies In Alaska

Richard L. White, 21, a former Big Spring resident, died Thursday in Cordova, Alaska, the apparent drowning victim of a fishing accident.

He was working as a commercial fisherman in Alaska at the time of the accident.

Funeral arrangements are indefinite.

He was born Sept. 27, 1944 in Minden, La. He attended Big Spring schools and entered the U. S. Army in 1963. He was discharged in January, 1965. He was married June 12, 1966, in Cordova.

Survivors include his wife, Amy, Cordova; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. White, Big Spring; a brother, Gary Curtis White, Big Spring; three sisters, Gloria G., Donna Maxine, and Mary Ann White, all of Big Spring, and his grandmother, Mrs. Thula White, Big Spring.

Patients Under Provisions Of Medicare Gain Sharply

Forty more beds were occupied last week in three Big Spring hospitals as 40 new patients were admitted under provisions of the medicare bill.

A fourth hospital reported three admissions who "perhaps would qualify" for medicare, but the question mark on their eligibility remained. There were no figures on how the total compared with the usual patient load in this age bracket.

Medicare, which had a quiet beginning July 1 in Big Spring and across the nation, is expected to offer hospitalization to approximately 3,500 older men and women of Howard County. Four hospitals here have been certified for the medicare programs, including the Big Spring State Hospital, Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, Medical Arts Hospital, and Malone and Hogan Hospital.

Malone and Hogan reported 17 admissions under medicare and a hospital spokesman said he expected "at least that many weekly." Hall-Bennett Hospital records showed 15 admitted under medicare, while Medical Arts Hospital reported eight.

A spokesman in the claims office of the Big Spring State Hospital said that about 50 patients there were "likely eligible" for medicare, although it was pointed out the number fluctuates considerably.

"There are a lot of details to be cleared up before we have everything in order," the spokesman said. "Representatives from insurance agencies will no doubt meet with us to clear up any questions about patients' eligibility for medicare."

There were between 15-20 patients eligible for medicare already in the certified hospitals when the program began July 1. Initial patients, therefore, were paper transfers.

Across the nation, the patient load was not up as much as the paperwork, hospitals reported.

According to a survey released Friday by The Associated Press, 12 major cities indicated that the number of 65-and-over patients entering hospitals was "mostly normal" since the program of hospital insurance under Social Security went into effect. The only city to report a significant increase was Atlanta, Ga., where patient enrollment was up 10 per cent due to medicare patients.

Locally, hospital administrators felt that hospital enrollment would steadily increase, for the next few weeks, anyway, as a result of the medicare bill.

New Faces Pop Up On Grapple Card

Officials of the American Business Club, who lured a crowd exceeding 2,200 for their inaugural professional wrestling show here the latter part of June, hope to do even better Tuesday night with an outdoor event in the amphitheater at the City Park.

JOSE MOTO
Miller, another newcomer.

The program, consisting of three bouts, gets under way at 8:30 p.m. Cost of admission will again be a modest $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. A limited number of reserve seats, 300 to be exact, will go on sale, however, for $2 each.

Miller has best get ready for a rough reception. Moto, to paraphrase, doesn't believe victory is the only thing but, he says, it beats by a mile what comes next.

Gas Producers Seek Relief From Federal Price Controls

By MAX B. SKELTON
 HOUSTON (AP)—Natural gas producers are gradually perfecting an organization to lead another campaign to ask Congress for relief from federal price controls.

Target dates and specific objectives of the campaign are closely guarded secrets. The nationwide gas supply committee was organized last October. So far, its objectives have been spelled out only as "an effort to obtain congressional relief to the gas industry."

No further elaboration was made last week when William O. Senter, a retired Air Force general, became the group's executive vice president and chairman of the steering committee.

There was early indication the group planned to place before Congress early next year some form of a bill clarifying the authority of the Federal Power Commission (FPC) to regulate the wellhead prices of gas sold in interstate commerce. Since then there has been some speculation the campaign may be delayed until a federal court rules on legality of the FPC's area formula for controlling prices.

The case is now before the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals at Denver.

The outcome is certain to be appealed and attorneys close to the situation do not believe the Supreme Court can make a final ruling before the spring of 1968.

A final ruling at that time could inject the matter into the 1968 presidential campaign.

President Lyndon B. Johnson, as a member of Congress, was a prime backer of decontrol bills that were vetoed in 1948 and 1956. He has taken no position on the matter since moving to the White House but the 1964 Democratic Party platform had words of praise for the FPC while detailing "effective government representation and protection for consumers."

The platform said an upward spiral in natural gas prices had been halted "by vigorous regulatory action of the Federal Power Commission and the nation's 36 million consumers of natural gas have benefitted from rate reductions and refunds in excess of $600 million."

The 1964 Republican platform called for "an end to power-grabbing regulatory actions" but included no direct reference to gas price controls.

Gas producers have spearheaded the organization of the nationwide committee but plans call for active participation by pipeline, distributors and other segments of the energy industry. Spokesmen for the coal industry also have indicated they will lend support.

J. Avery Rush Jr., Amarillo, Tex., told the Independent Petroleum Association of America in May of plans for a 100-member advisory committee that would include coal as well as other segments of the gas industry.

"The main thing now is to get the industry together on the need for congressional relief," Rush said.

"We have available the organization, talent and monies to do the job we think must be done."

J. W. (Wimpy) Smith, Dallas, state brotherhood secretary, will address the meeting as will Dr. Owen Cooper, Yazoo City, Miss.

The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. with recreation, and the first meeting will be called to order at 3 p.m. by Olson Sweat, area vice president. Among those on the program will be Rev. Paul Vasquez, Rev. Roy Edgemon, area Royal Ambassador leader. Rev. Smith will bring the inspirational message with emphasis on missions.

Shell Posts Crude Hike

Shell Oil Company has announced that in order to remain competitive, effective July 8 it has changed its posted price for West Texas and New Mexico sour crude by decreasing its gravity penalty for each full degree below 40.9 degrees from three cents to two cents.

The posting for 40 degree gravity to 44.9 degree gravity remains $2.95 a barrel. Approximately 128,000 barrels daily are affected by this change, which results in an average increase of about six cents a barrel.

Effective the same date, Shell Oil Company has increased its posted price for Eastern Montana and North Dakota Fields by 10 cents a barrel to $2.65 a barrel for 40 degrees to 44.9 degree gravity crude, with the two cents per degree differential for crude below 40 degrees and above 44.9 degree gravity remaining unchanged. Approximately 41,000 barrels per day is affected by this change.

These changes by Shell partially restore the prices previously prevailing in both these areas.

Texas Oilmen Complete 135

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday 135 oil wells and 46 gas wells were completed in the state during the past week.

This raised the yearly totals to 3,975 oil wells, compared to 3,662 a year ago, and 1,418 gas wells, compared to 1,600 a year ago.

The commission said 163 wells were plugged, including 75 dry holes.

Three wildcat oil wells were drilled, one each in Dists. 4, 7-C and 8. Eight wildcat gas wells were drilled, four each in Dists. 2 and 4.

Rig Count Shows Drop

A decrease of 12 was shown on the Friday count of Reed International Inc. on active rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin, when the total dropped to 190 from the 202 listed the previous Friday.

However the figure on the latest tally was five above the 185 working units credited to the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico region on the comparable tabulation last year.

Reagan County, continuing to list 27 active rigs—for the fourth consecutive Friday—continued at the top of the county list. The county-by-county comparisons, with previous total in parentheses, are:

Andrews 7 (7), Borden 0 (1), Chaves 5 (4), Coke 0 (1), Concho 1 (1), Crane 3 (5), Crockett 2 (1), DAWSON 3 (3); Ector 7 (8), Eddy 11 (11), Gaines 9 (7), GARZA 1 (0), GLASSCOCK 5 (5), Hockley 4 (4), HOWARD 2 (3), Irion 1 (2), Kent 3 (4); Lea 23 (20), Loving 2 (3), MARTIN 3 (4), Midland 1 (1), MITCHELL 2 (2), Nolan 0 (2), Pecos 18 (16), Reagan 27 (27), Reeves 5 (3); Roosevelt 8 (12), Runtels (7), Schleicher 2 (3), Scurry (2), STERLING 3 (4), Stonewall 4 (4), Terrell 1 (1), Terry (2), Tom Green 3 (3), Upton 2 (2); Val Verde 1 (1), Ward 8 (9), Winkler 6 (5), Yoakum 2 (2), Total 190 (202).

'Briefing' Is A Catch-All

G. I. GUIDE: 4

By ELTON FAY
 Just as soon as you have been "processed" at the induction center, you get a "briefing." "Briefing" is a catch-all to describe anything from advice to iron-clad orders.

The idea of this first briefing for the newly arrived private, as described by the local management, is to "psychologically put him in the right frame of mind," but also to put him a little more at ease.

The do's and don'ts include: Do wear your uniform at all times, with "all buttons, zippers and snaps fastened; your cap will be worn when out of doors." Send your civilian clothing home except for sport attire like swim trunks.

While you are in a reception processing detachment (this usually is three to five days) there will be no passes for leaving the base except in case of family emergency. If that happens, your family should contact the nearest Red Cross chapter.

Do write parents, your wife or friends, but tell them to hold off writing you until you get a mailing address upon assignment to a unit. An incoming letter could wander around for days in a place like this, with more than 40,000 population.

Also, you are told it is inappropriate for military personnel to participate in civil rights demonstrations.

GETTING YOUR NUMBER

Now that they have found out who you are and told you generally what you should and shouldn't do, they begin finding out what latent skills you may possess.

To find out what you probably will do best, what you think you could do best and whether you have the makings for leadership, there is a combination of methods. First you write in answers on a printed form. This is run through a computer which cranks out a "raw score." Then a senior NCO or an enlisted specialist with at least 10 or 12 years of military experience interviews you.

The written test and interviews cover a wide range of subjects, including the ability to speak and write a foreign language.

The product of this is assignment of a military occupation specialty (MOS). The testing staff believes you are a pretty good judge of your own abilities and inclinations; in about 90 per cent of the cases the aptitude test and the recruit's desire for a specialty come close to matching each other.

While all this recording, questioning and interviewing is going on two other processes are under way.

The data is embossed and card-punched for machine processing and copies sent to the personnel branch of the service headquarters.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

Using measurements made at about the time you had your medical examinations, tailors and seamstresses are taking stitches and tucks in your uniform blouse and trousers (but not in the work clothes). It took several wars and intervals of peace for the Army to get away from the baggy breeches, spiral leggings and choker-collar blouse of General Pershing's days.

About the last act in the reception process is inoculation against various diseases, domestic or foreign. This is deferred because some inoculations produce temporarily distorted results in the medical examinations.

You have completed the reception-induction process. Waiting for you is a bag full of clothing, about 30 items. You will receive more as you go on, depending on the climate in which you happen to be serving. By now you know how and when to salute. Chow lines and barracks bedding are a little more familiar. You can move with a group from one place to another without looking like you all were heading out for a neighborhood rumble.

You have a service serial number (this sticks with you throughout your enlisted career), a roster number and a line number. Remember them. You are in. You are one of about three million in the armed forces.

Tomorrow you get down to fundamentals. Your basic training begins.

HIS LIFE IN SERVICE...

If you are the parent of a young man 19 through 26, it's a good bet the draft is a big topic of conversation at your home. Would it be wiser for him to enlist, or join the reserves? Should he wait for induction? What opportunities are there in the service for schooling, perhaps a career in the military?

These questions and many more are taken up in the series, "G.I. GUIDE," appearing in this newspaper. You can also send for the $1 booklet available through this newspaper that further explains and details the facts about present-day military obligations.

BRIGHT SUN AND OBLIGING BREEZES allow some of Big Spring's best women golfers to sharpen their game at Big Spring Country Club where each Tuesday is observed as Ladies' Day. In the Ringer Tournament ending June 30, Mrs. G. F. Dillon won low gross, Mrs. Jasper Atkins won low net and Mrs. Bert Shive won "most improvement." In the Partnership Tournament, Mrs. Jack Magee and Mrs. Atkins were winners. From left are Mrs. Magee, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Shive, Mrs. Guilford Jones, golf chairman; and Mrs. Dillon.

WHERE THERE IS PUTTING there's pressure, and the ladies soon learn the slow and easy approach is best applied with a light touch — and perhaps a sense of humor. Patience and practice are the key words kept in mind by this trio who may be future champions. From left are Mrs. Gil Gingold, Mrs. Bill C. Coleman, Mrs. Leona Newsom and Mrs. Arnold Marshall.

"FEMININE FOURSOMES"

These summer mornings, seasoned golfers will tell you the weather will never be better for getting together a foursome bent on a bit of fun and a lot of exercise. Feminine golfers, especially, are finding the sport an entertaining way to keep in trim — and touch — at the same time.

The nucleus of the city's women golfers is found in the Ladies Golf Association at Big Spring Country Club. Increasingly active, the association has sponsored local invitational tournaments for women as well as assisted during activities connected with the men's tournaments. The LGA has slated a Mr. and Mrs. tournament for July 24, and the Club Championship tournament will be held Oct. 11-13.

COMPETITION IS KEEN but the fellowship rewarding for friendly rivals who regularly meet for golfing at Big Spring Country Club. Pausing to compare score cards are Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Marvin Wright, Mrs. Carl Marcum, Mrs. Don Womack, Mrs. Tommy Gage and Mrs. Jimmy Butler.

SPECIAL PLAYING RULES for Ladies' Day are instituted each week by the Ladies Golf Association and are changed to spark interest in golfing as a healthful recreation. Some aim at giving practice with various clubs, others are tricky tournaments and a few are just "whacky." Ready to tee off are Mrs. Jim Zike, Mrs. John Burgess and Mrs. Inez Roden.

SOME FINE GOLFERS in the Ladies Golf Association at Webb AFB were guests at the country club April 19 for games and a luncheon. Representing the group are Mrs.

B. J. Dromsky, tournament chairman; Mrs. R. A. Gray, treasurer and social chairman; Mrs. D. L. Van Bruaene, secretary; and Mrs. W. P. Stewart, president.

MRS. JOE REEVES LAMPORT Barr Photocenter

Miss Pajot Marries Capt. J. R. Lamport

Capt. and Mrs. Joe Reeves Lamport are on a trip to an undisclosed destination following their wedding Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the chapel at Webb AFB. The double ring ceremony and nuptial mass were conducted by Chaplain Thomas D. Holland.

The bride is the former Miss Constance Marie Pajot, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Cletus T. Pajot, 2610 Rebecca, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark J. Lamport of Britton, S.D.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar graced with tall urns of white gladioli, majestic daisies and chrysanthemums. Family pews were marked with white satin. Mrs. Harold Talbot, soloist, was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Leslie E. Green, and nuptial selections included "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling," "Thanks Be to God," "Panis Angelicus" and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal princess silhouette gown of white linen designed with a scoop neckline and brief sleeves of Belgian lace. The cardinal coat, accented at the shoulders with butterfly bows, was softly pleated and formed a brush train. Her headpiece was a modified toque bonnet of Belgian lace which held a bouffant shoulder-length veil of English silk illusion.

She carried a cascade of white gladioli accented with lemon leaves, backed in tulle and showered in white picot satin.

Embroidered white organza covered the bride's table where a three-tiered white wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom which had been used previously on the bride's parents' wedding cake. The buffet table was covered with white linen and centered with a tall epergne holding white and tangerine carnations and gypsophylla. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a sleeveless coat of white and apricot raw silk over a sheath of apricot silk shantung. Her accessories were of bone leather and the corsage was of tangerine French carnations.

The new Mrs. Lamport is a graduate of Gen. H. H. Arnold High School in Wiesbaden, Germany, and was graduated this summer from Texas Tech with a BA degree in foreign language. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta and president of Delta Phi Alpha.

Lamport received an AB degree from the University of South Dakota and an LLB degree from its law school. He was a member of Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity. Formerly assistant attorney general of South Dakota, he is currently in the Judge Advocate General's Office at Webb AFB.

REHEARSAL DINNER
The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Cosden Country Club which was attended by about 30 members of the family and wedding party. The honored couple presented gifts to their attendants.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Melinda Dean of Athens was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Allen Kirby of Lubbock and Mrs. John F. Guilmarin of Butler, N.J. All wore floor-length dresses of tangerine silk shantung with Sabrina neckline, A-line skirt and banded with a bow at the Empire waist from which fell a panel extending to a brief train. Their headpieces were halos of daisies and each carried a bouquet of majestic daisies backed in moss green tulle and tied in matching velvet ribbon.

Lt. James E. Laney Jr. of Birmingham, Ala., was best man, and ushers were Thomas M. Pajot and Richard J. Pajot, brothers of the bride.

RECEPTION
The reception was held in the Officers Open Mess where the couple were joined by their parents and the feminine attendants in greeting guests. Mrs. Franklin Moore of Abilene was at the register, and members of the house party were Mrs. Betty Jones, Lubbock; Mrs. A. R. Standifer, Odessa; Mrs. Charles

Wedding Rites Held For Lamesa Couple

A mid-afternoon wedding ceremony Saturday united in marriage Miss Glynna Claire Fleming and Gary Homer Campbell. The double-ring service was read by Elder I. W. Thornton at the First Baptist Church in Ackery at 4 p.m.

Palm leaves formed a background and baskets of gladoli were at either side of the altar. Mrs. Bill Hamrick, pianist, accompanied Miss Sue Crowthwaite of Cushing, Okla., when she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin brocade dress with floor-length belted skirt. The neckline was rounded and the long sleeves came to points over the hands. The shoulder length veil was attached to a crown of pearls. The bridal bouquet was fashioned of two small orchids surrounded by white feathered carnations.

MRS. GARY HOMER CAMPBELL

Miss Donna Fleming of Ackery was her sister's maid of honor and she wore a white street-length lace dress over blue. The short veil was blue as were the carnations in her bouquet.

Judy Fleming, also a sister of the bride, and Darlene Wright, the bride's cousin, were bridesmaids and were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Steve Wylie, Artesia, N. M., was best man and Kenny Bannister of Artesia, and Bob Collins of Loco Hills, N. M., were ushers.

Suzie Brasher was the flower girl.

Ring bearers were Lee Fleming, brother of the bride, and Mikie Davis of Artesia, a cousin of the bride.

For traveling the bride wore a three piece suit of navy and white linen with white accessories. She pinned the orchids from her bouquet to her suit.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Irma Campbell, 408 S. 13th St., Artesia, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Don Fleming, Rt. 1, Ackery.

The couple will make their home in Artesia until fall when they will move to Las Cruces to enter New Mexico State University.

Wedding Slated

LAMESA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Van McGuire have announced the approaching wedding of their daughter, Janice Elene, and Robert Leon Creel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morgan.

The couple are both graduates of Lamesa High School and the prospective bridegroom is stationed with the armed forces at Fort Hood.

The wedding will be in Crestview Baptist Church, July 13.

Welcoming Party Held At Cosden

Laurel Van Meter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Van Meter, was the honoree at a "Let's Get Acquainted" party held Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. at Cosden Country Club.

Miss Van Meter is here with her parents for the summer and will be returning to school in California in the fall.

Hostesses for the Blue Room affair were Sue Clark, Nancy Mathis, Suzanne Fisher and Gayle Coleman. About 25 teenage girls were included on the guest list.

Living Area Uses Ceramic Floors

Tile has left the bathroom and kitchen and is showing up more and more on living room floors. Rich-looking quarry tile has the advantage over many types of floor coverings in that it doesn't wear, needn't be waxed and can easily be cleaned by the homeowner.

Most living rooms with ceramic tile floors sport colorful areas that can be shifted about with the furniture.

Class Has Luncheon

Three guests met with 27 members of the Susanna Wesley Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church at the luncheon Friday in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Logan Baker's group served as hostesses.

Mrs. Ara Cunningham warded the invocation and Mrs. W. A. Laswell brough the devotional from the 46th chapter of Psalms. Guests were Mrs. Ruby Simpson, Mrs. Wade Bledsoe and Mrs. Lowell Baird.

The U-shaped tables were decorated with arrangements of pink carnations, a gift to the class from a member, Mrs. W. H. Wells who was unable to attend.

Mrs. D. C. Pyle presided at the business session and Mrs. W. D. McDonald gave the closing prayer.

Called Meeting

A special called meeting of the United Council of Church Women will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

MRS. L. Z. MARCHBANKS

Office Orchid

Customers of Swartz have long been familiar with the trim brunette there who makes it her business to know all their names and most of their faces. Mrs. L. Z. Marchbanks has been bookkeeper for Swartz since 1932 and has seen many women remain faithful to the shop through various fashion cycles.

Born in Big Spring, Mrs. Marchbanks is the daughter of the late R. E. Spears and Mrs. Effie King. Mrs. King had moved from Big Spring prior to her death in 1916. After attending local schools, the former Lois Spears was married to Marchbanks in 1924. They own their home at 1307 Eleventh Place and have lived here continuously except for a brief period during World War II when they resided in California. He owned and operated the Courtesy Barber Shop here until his retirement last May.

Their daughter, Jeanette, is now Mrs. Joe Pellegrini of Vallejo, Calif., and she has one daughter, Carol 15. For a number of years, Mr. and Mrs. Marchbanks have saved their vacation trips to spend with the family on the West Coast.

Prior to joining Swartz, Mrs. Marchbanks recalls that she was stenographer for a lawyer, John B. Littler, and was employed briefly as bookkeeper for the Maytag Company here. She attended the Metropolitan Business School in Dallas.

A member of the National Retail Credit Association since 1947, she also holds membership in the Big Spring Credit Women's Club and is a charter member of its "Career Girl" club, a group of women who have had at least 25 years experience with credit work.

She joined the Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, four years ago and this is the third year she has held a Star Point office. She attends services at the First Baptist Church and meets regularly with the Les Girls Investment Club.

Coin collecting is Mrs. Marchbanks' preferred hobby which she began in 1951—and is still looking for a 1961D Mercury dime. She likes to garden, and when time allows, works best among her roses.

MRS. JOHN LEO DORTON

Linda Mary Holder Weds J. L. Dorton

Miss Linda Mary Holder and John Leo Dorton were married Friday evening in a double ring ceremony read at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Clyde R. Campbell at the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Holder, 410 Aylford, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Dignon, Rt. 1, Big Spring.

Large basket arrangements of white gladioli were flanked by eandabra which held white cathedral tapers.

Miss Brenda Baker, organist, played a prelude of nuptial selections and accompanied Miss Karen Hall as she sang "O, Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a street-length dress of white lace over peau de soie. The dress was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and the sleeves came to petal points over the hands. The shoulder-length veil of French-illusion was attached to a pearl encrusted rose tiara. She carried a cascade of white gladioli showered with satin streamers.

Miss Carol Burleson, the maid of honor, wore a dress of pink bonded lace and a headpiece fashioned as a large pink bow with short veil. Her nosegay was of pink and rose carnations.

Ricky Hicks of Coahoma served as best man and Carl and Ray Dorton of Sand Springs, brothers of the groom, were ushers.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride wore a two-piece suit of navy blue and white and white accessories.

Her corsage was from the bridal bouquet.

They will make their home at 103 1/2 W. 15th St.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society and of a cappella choir.

The bridegroom graduated from Coahoma High School and is employed by Delta Electric Corp.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal couple was joined by their parents and the feminine attendant in receiving the guests at a reception in the fellowship hall.

Miss Vicki Cofer was in charge of the guest register.

Refreshments were served from a table that was covered with pink linen with white lace overlay. The centerpiece was the honor maid's nosegay and it was flanked by white tapers.

Miss Hall, Mrs. Bill Lewis and Miss Virginia Ward were members of the house party.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hand and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Young, all of San Antonio, were out-of-town guests.

HD Clubs Told Of Law, Wills

Home demonstration clubs meeting this week concentrated on problems of law, rights of women in Texas and the correct procedures in writing wills.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

Walton Morrison, Big Spring attorney, was guest speaker for the meeting of the Fairview HD Club when the members met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Shirley Fryar for a program on wills and legal matters.

Morrison described a proper will and others that were so poorly written that they were not legal. He also explained the procedure of probating a will and listed the taxes that must be paid in settling estates.

Mrs. Fryar brought devotional thought from Job 44:2, and Mrs. H. S. Hanson received the attendance prize.

Ten members and a guest, Lisa Morris, attended and were told of the next meeting that will be held on July 19 at the home of Mrs. Jim Smith.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB

Nine members and three guests of the College Park HD Club answered roll call with "Do You Have Knowledge of Texas Laws for Women?" when the group met Tuesday with Mrs. Robert Von Rosenberg.

Roger Brown, attorney, was the speaker and told the women of wills and legal matters as well as the rights of married women in this state. He explained that a will is one's desire of how he wants his estate handled and the attorney also explained that one may will to anyone. He told how to begin a will, different types of wills and some of the statements a will should contain.

On Texas laws for married women, Mr. Brown explained the community property law as well as the wife's right to own separate property. He said property acquired by gift, device or descent is the sole property of the receiver.

Guests were Mrs. Jack Horn, Mrs. Eston Hollis and Mrs. Gary Carpenter.

Announcement was made of the luncheon set for Tuesday at 1 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Paul Bruns, Silver Heels Addition, for members and prospective members. Mrs. Delaine Crawford will be the guest speaker.

Domino Circles Will Increase By Two

By JO ANN PHINIZY
The Big Spring domino circles were increased by two when Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Moore moved into 1001 Stadium. Their previous home was in Hillsboro, and Moore came here as assistant manager at National Builders Center.

Mrs. Moore explained, "Eighty-four is our favorite game. We're not exactly tournament players, we just enjoy the game and those who play."

Moore has been with the William Cameron Company, which merged with National Builders, for a total of 27 years. He says there is very little he doesn't know about the lumber business and that he can figure an estimate on anything from a fenced-in patio to a horizon-breaker building.

Aside from enjoying dominoes, the Moores like to work in their yard.

"It seems to me that the most relaxing thing in the world is to have a flower garden with roses and to take care of them and watch them grow," Mrs. Moore said.

Mrs. Moore's other hobby is making pictures of chipped glass. For this, she chooses the color of glass she wants — if can be an old bowl, an ash tray, a medicine bottle or just about anything. The glass is glazed by oven baking for three and a half hours at 350 degrees.

Wearing protective gloves and face mask, Mrs. Moore breaks

Farewell Party Given By Friends

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. J. C. Ferguson and her daughter, Patricia, were honored with a farewell party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild.

Serving as hostesses for the affair were Mrs. J. M. Craig, Mrs. E. M. Bailey and Mrs. John Kubecka.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Phil Moore of Kermit. Hostesses presided at the refreshment table where shades of purple and orchid with white were used in the decor.

As a parting gift to Mrs. Ferguson friends fashioned a money tree. Patricia's gift was a jewelry box topped with a musical ballerina.

The Fergusons have taught in the Forsan school system for several years and will move soon to Ackerly where they will teach in the Sands elementary school. Patricia is a second grader.

the glass into minute size pieces. Each piece is then carefully glued to a design sketched on heavy fabric. The end result is a sparkling array of color that becomes the focus point of any room.

Mrs. Moore, who plans to work part time, as a saleswoman, says she enjoys keeping busy.

Her favorite time of the year is when her children and grandchildren convene during the holidays. It's usually Christmas or New Year's before the family can be together. They come from a variety of points in Texas.

At such times, there're the sons-in-law and children of Mrs. William G. Moore, Brownwood; Mrs. J. W. Osborn and Mrs. J. L. Crim, both of Houston; and Mrs. M. V. Halliburton, Dallas.

Between holidays, the Moores enjoy "spot" visiting with their children, and in the meantime, Mrs. Moore says they keep the mail man busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore are new members of the College Baptist Church. Mrs. Moore says that she is looking forward to working with the Woman's Missionary Union and other church activities.

Browns Enjoy Tour Of European Cities

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's 3,800 air miles from New York to Amsterdam, Holland, and about 1,800 from Big Spring to New York but the trip was not too long because Mrs. J. E. Brown found who she was looking for when she got off the plane in Amsterdam. Waiting for her and her granddaughter, Miss Phyllis Brown of Fort Worth, was Mrs. Brown's son, Wendall, who has been in Europe for the past eight months.

Mrs. Brown and her granddaughter were on a tour group composed of 34 people who left the states on June 6. Mrs. Brown returned to Big Spring on July 4 after having visited in Holland, Denmark, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, France and England.

There was the thrill of seeing the Pope in Rome and the disappointment of missing Billy Graham's service in London. She and a friend hadn't been told that there were no services on Sunday night and that was when they had planned to attend the Graham revival.

From notes made by the traveler, interest in the life in Holland was shown by her jotting the facts that there were 3.5 million cows and 4 million pigs in the country and gasoline was 80 cents a gallon. She also noted that children go to school 11 months out of the 12 and that the people speak Dutch, French, German and English.

In Copenhagen the rhododendrons were at their prettiest, and the lilac bushes were showing off for the visitors as were the flower trees. Here she observed a small decline in gasoline prices . . . 78 cents per gallon. The group enjoyed a drive through the farm country where most of the people are Lutherans.

For a woman whose background is of farming, Mrs. Brown was delighted with Switzerland where the brown Swiss cows grazed along the lakes and amid the rocks. In this oldest democracy, most of the people speak German and work at making cheese and watches and live in chalets. Here they saw their first glacier, the Rhone.

Arriving in the afternoon in Vienna the group rested for an early tour the next morning and were fascinated with the petit point bags and leather goods in the shops. They were impressed with sightseeing "Classical Vienna," a detailed tour showing the wealth of the former emperors and the Winter Palace. They also attended a training performance of the internationally famous Spanish Riding School and took an excursion to the Vienna woods.

There was so much to see and do in Rome and the group did most of the things like visit the Basilica of St. Paul and the Colosseum and view the mighty statue of Moses by Michelangelo and seeing the ancient ruins. But a modern day delight, shopping, got the better of the women and they took themselves to a special shop where they bought gorgeous gloves and ties.

Continuing the trip into France the touring group spent most of four days in Paris where they visited the Louvre, the Sorbonne, the Pantheon and the Luxembourg Gardens. Also, they saw Notre Dame cathedral, and on the other end of the entertainment schedule, was an evening at the famous Folies Bergere. They were delighted with the Palace of Versailles, the most renowned of the French palaces with its sumptuous apartments, richly decorated with countless masterpieces of art. As magnificent as the palace, are the great park and its terraces, the tree-lined lanes, fountains and artificial lakes.

Mrs. Brown, Wendall and Phyllis stayed in the room for a steak lunch the day they arrived in London but took a short tour about to see Kensington and Hyden parks and to see the Albert and Victoria Museum. They saw the old Episcopalian church that has been bombed in two wars. When they got to the garisoned museum that held the Crown Jewels there was such a large crowd they didn't get a peek at the gems.

The Texans rode the tube train under the Thames across to Waterloo then caught the red bus to Speakers Corner where there were six speakers holding forth, each with a small group surrounding him. They saw where General Eisenhower lived during the war years and felt good when they saw the U.S. Government building with the stars and stripes flying from the staff.

The tour left London on June 27 and was in Dallas soon after.

MRS. BARNEY B. BARNETT

Curley's Studio

Miss Coyle Marries Barney B. Barnett

The marriage of Miss Sylvia Kay Coyle and Barney Benny Barnett was solemnized at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. D. M. Duke officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Coyle, Snyder Highway, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Berton Barnett, 410 Ryan.

The vows were repeated before an altar decorated with large arrangements of white gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length dress of white satin styled along empire lines with softly rounded neckline and long sleeves that came to a petal point over the hands. The train was of lace and the shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of pearls. The bouquet of orchids was circled with carnations of lilac shades.

Traditional items worn by the bride were the borrowed wedding veil, a blue garter and birthdate pennies in her slipper. Bridal attendants were identically dressed in floor-length empire styled frocks of lilac taffeta. They carried bouquets of lilac carnations. Miss Barbara Rea was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Linda Jones and Miss Wynelle Collins.

Miss Brenda Mize, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Bob Spears, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "I Love You Truly" prior to the ceremony.

Donald Ray Anderson of Colorado City served as best man and ushers were Royce Coyle, brother of the bride, and Lynn Barnett, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Luke Harrison and Bobby Grisham both of Colorado City.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to the Dallas - Fort Worth area, the new Mrs. Barnett wore a navy blue A-line dress with white accessories.

They will make their home in Big Spring where she is attending Childers and Reeves School of Hairdressing and he is employed at the Howard County Feed Lots. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School and he attended Colorado City High School.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall where the couple was joined by their parents and the feminine attendants in greeting guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a cloth of white lace over a underlay of lilac satin. Silver and crystal appointments were used in serving. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple and was surrounded with lilac tinted roses.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Alfred Yenson, the bride's sister from Colorado City. House party members included Mrs. Martha McDonald, Colorado City; Miss Patty Pruitt, Mesquite; Mrs. Royce Coyle, Mrs. R. L. Collins and Miss Lanell Alexander.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Alice Whatley and Donald Anderson of Colorado City; Mr.

City Firemen Go To School

Who ever heard of firemen purposely setting a house ablaze?

It will happen at the 37th Annual Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M University July 17-22. Special houses on a training field will be used, of course.

Three firemen from Big Spring will join 2,100 other men to attend the school.

Attending from here will be Fire Chief H. V. Crocker, Fire Marshall A. D. Meador, and H. W. Clawson, battalion chief training officer.

Crocker, who has attended 30 of the annual sessions, will instruct combined operations classes at the school. In these classes, all the various techniques of firefighting are taught and used in real operations.

Meador will take a Fire Marshall III course, and Clawson will take the instructor's training course. Both have attended about 10 of these schools.

The school will have representatives from some 465 cities and approximately 20 states. Firemen are taught techniques in fighting all types of fires, including house, car, boat, oil and pit, along with rescue operations and care and use of equipment, arson detection, etc.

DETAILED BY PAPER

Big Springs Was Busy, Bustling 60 Years Ago

A survey was under way for the West Texas and Northern railroad between San Angelo and Big Spring; postal receipts had scored a 20 per cent gain in reaching a whopping $6,000 for the previous year; and the Knott community was about to take shape.

These are some of the highlights of the tattered, brittle copy of Vol. 2, No. 15 of the Big Springs Herald. You read right—Big Springs, for that was the name of the town on Jan. 12, 1906, when this particular issue was printed.

Mrs. Ches Anderson ran across the copy recently and brought it to The Herald. The edition is liberally supported with advertisements, including a couple of dray and transfer companies. But lest anyone get the idea that Big Springs wasn't progressive, A. Hollaway inserted a notice that "in the course of a week or two I will run two automobiles to Lamesa and return daily." There was not, however, a single advertisement for autos.

Another measure of progressiveness was a report from the Civic League, manifestly a forerunner of the Chamber of Commerce, (which didn't come along until more than a decade later). The league had named a committee to secure a dumping ground.

C. S. Knott, who had only recently sold 18 sections in Howard and Martin counties for a reported $70,000 (that figures at $6 an acre), acquired 17 sections out of the HAT ranch in northwestern Howard County.

"He will cut the land up in small tracts and sell it to actual settlers," noted The Herald. He did, and in the process, East and West Knott were named for him.

RAISE A BONUS
Tracing the route of a proposed railroad, WT&N, The Herald quoted the San Angelo Standard as saying that it might run about three miles southeast out of Big Spring, then down Big Spring Creek draw past the hills, southeast to the Concho divide, then past Sterling City, Water Valley and into San Angelo.

However, there was some complaint about the terrain around Big Spring, and apparently some inducement was sought to bring the road here rather than to Stanton.

"There is no reason why a large bonus should not be raised here to induce the railroad to build to Big Springs," The Herald observed. A railroad spur finally got as far as Sterling City, but there it stopped.

Among the area correspondence was Felix Facts, which included the doings in southern Glasscock and northern Reagan counties. This brought the sad tidings of the death of young Jack Taylor, killed when his horse fell on him near Stiles.

THRIVING YMCA
The YMCA, instituted with the help of Helen Gould, daughter of rail tycoon Jay Gould, had apparently achieved success in its 600 member drive. It also had received more books for its library, courtesy of Miss Gould.

Church news was light, but there was a notice of the Epworth League (a Methodist youth group) program. An obituary told of the death of a housewife from "the dread disease of consumption."

Entertainment was not lacking. The masquerade ball at the Opera House drew a large crowd, and the "Home Sweet Home" waltz came all too soon at 2 a.m. West's Jubilee Minstrels played to a large crowd at the Opera House, but the Franklin-Huston Orpheum Minstrel drew lightly and got mixed reaction. The bill included "four Japanese, the famous clowns of DeLavy and Fritz, the Delong Sisters, moving pictures, vocalists and illustrated songs."

ONLY ONE REMAINS
Of all the firms advertising, only one remains. It was the First National Bank, which "commenced in 1890." There also was one by Burton Lingo, which since has merged with today's National Builders. B. Reagan's Drug store later became Cunningham & Phillips. J. & W. Fisher, established in 1882 and regarded itself as "the store that sells everything," looked confidently to a banner year. Another firm offered "premium stamps."

Among other firms listed were Western Windmill and Hardware, offering "windmills, wagons and farm implements," Orr's Bakery, Willis Photo, West Texas National Bank, Home Steam Laundry, Pool & Cauble with "things fit to eat for a king," Citizen's Meat Market, Cordill Lumber, Stone & Wilcox and Porter & Crow, dray and transfer, Stokes - Wolcott Hardware, J. L. Ward Drugs, Big Springs Land Company, Big Springs Furniture (successor to D. H. Duncan), Littler & Douthitt Real Estate, D. M. Senter Grocery, A. G. Hall & Son, and Carl Blaser with his offer of ax handles for 20 cents, toothpicks for five cents, men's (dress or work) shirts 49 cents.

BARGAIN IN SPIRITS
Dr. E. H. Happel and Dr. E. A. Lang were listed as dentists, Dr. S. G. Cain, Dr. W. C. Barnett as physicians along with Dr. Wright's Sanitarium. Dr. A. Aronson, optician, and Dr. E. Sanford, "ophthalmologist and neurologist," had ads as itinerant practitioners.

F. W. Korn posted some prices from his saloon—"bottle in bond whisky $1.50 per quart." One brand of bourbon was quoted at $3 a gallon but "Coon Hollow" whisky was $4.50 a gallon.

This did not deter The Herald, however, from noting that there were plenty of jobs except for those who were "booze fighters and cigarette suckers."

Lt. Gov. Smith To Speak Here

Lt. Gov. Preston E. Smith will be speaker at a meeting of the West Texas Chapter, Associated General Contractors, to be held in Big Spring July 29.

The dinner session will be at the Ramada Inn, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

It will be the regularly quarterly meeting of the group, whose membership covers a wide area of West Texas. Some 50 persons are expected to attend.

H. R. Bundock, Lubbock, is president of the chapter; John W. Cooper of Abilene is vice president and C. D. Unrue of Abilene is secretary and treasurer. J. W. Little of Big Spring is a member of the board of directors.

Cotton Land Smallest In Sharp Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported Friday that land planted to cotton this year totaled 10,567,000 acres, 25 per cent less than last year. This was the smallest acreage in nearly 100 years.

Texas acreage was placed at 4,400,000, or 75.2 per cent of last year's plantings.

No forecast on production was given, but assuming the yield equaled last year's average, of 506 pounds per planted acre, the crop would be about one bale per acre or a total of about 10,567,000 bales. Last year's crop was 14,956,000 bales.

The government cotton control program offered payments to farmers for greatly reducing plantings because surpluses have climbed to a record high of 16.7 million bales.

The government sought a reduction in production this year which would permit the movement of some of the surplus into markets.

The first official forecast of this year's production will be issued Aug. 8.

Last year's planted acreage was 14,153,000. This compared with 15,728,000 for the 1960-64 average. Not all of the planted acreage is harvested. During the 1960-64 period, an average of 4.9 per cent was not harvested.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL Presidio Isn't Hottest Place

By ED SYERS
Asserting there are plenty hotter places, comes now Presidio asking your help.
Old legend says early Spanish priests locked the Devil from their Indians in a Big Bend mountain cave across the Rio Grande from that aged town. Each May, crossriver Ojinagans re-enact: fire rites up the night sierra to hold him prisoner. Some figure that's how Presidio achieved doubtful Fahrenheit fame as America's 'hot spot.'

Anyhow, recent OBT queries about July-August heat in Big Bend's mighty mountains. Presidio weatherman Oliver Harper has a temperate rebuttal:

"We do not deny being warm; the heat of good old pure sunshine keeps this place healthy. I've lived here 36 years and not known anyone dying from the heat. Can you say that?"

Weathercasting 23 years, Harper says Presidio's climate—dry and shade-breezy—is fine for cantaloupes and winter resort—'crisp mornings, warm afternoons. The average mean temperature of 1963 was 69 degrees, good as many health resorts. He cites scenery:

"There is no entrance to Big Bend National Park that compares with our Camino del Rio." (True; hailed one of United States' 20 most spectacular highways.)

But it's head-on with July-August heat that Harper lays his challenge. "Several places in Texas are warmer but have no reporting station. Our highest was 117 degrees; Fort Ringgold (Rio Grande City) had 123 degrees, May 1879. More recently, Seymour (near Wichita Falls) registered 120. California has topped 134 and Arizona, 127 degrees."

Which Harper hopes will send some of you old timers out to check your almanacs. Out of curiosity now, what's the hottest day you recollect?

VALEY'S NARROW GAUGE: San Antonio's Roy Rowland stirred memories, asking the story of Brownsville's little 'lost' railroad' to the sea—long before rails reached south to the Valley.

Corpus Christi's John F. Kasper: "I believe that railroad (one of) the first in Texas. Gen. (Phil) Sheridan had it built (1866) to haul supplies from Point Isabel to near Brownsville—strips of iron on wood runners, but quicker than by boat." (Note: Short East Texas lines operated even before Confederate Texas.)

And a detailed report from Harlingen's Mrs. Lillian W. Baldrige: "(Following the Sheridan military line,) the Rio Grande Railroad was organized in 1870—narrow gauge 22.5 miles from Brownsville to Point (Port) Isabel, to transship American and foreign goods, American freighted for Matamoros and northern Mexico.

"Streamers anchored in Laguna Madre... with lighters working between ships and wharf, where the railroad extended a quarter mile over water. At Point Isabel was a two story depot with a fine view of the harbor. Lookouts were posted to report incoming steamers by telegraph to the main offices in Brownsville.

"Storms in the '70s and '80s damaged the track, but regular trains entering the Valley in 1904 finished the line. Today that little engine is beautifully refinished and displayed inside Fort Brown."

And Donna's Paul G. Weaver: "... of unusual interest to me because I rode on its last run. Just discharged from the Army, I went looking for big water fishing, rode the little train across the sand flats—more exciting than my first ride on a cable car in San Francisco in 1910..."

Cap Rock CRMWD Board To Get Cooperative Report On Lake Project Sales Up

Power consumption dropped off during June due to showers, but Cap Rock Electric Cooperative still is running ahead of a year ago in power sales.

During June, the system metered 5,540,903 KWH to members, down from the 7,599,322 in May. The first half total for 1964 stands at 42,658,553 as compared with 41,035,401 KWH for the same period a year ago.

"At the end of June, the system had 2,547 miles of line energized, a gain of five miles for the month and up 55 miles from the same time a year ago.

There were 6,037 members connected, marking the first time in the 27 years of operation that the total has passed the 6,000 mark. This was a gain of 42 members for the month and was 325 more than June 30, 1965. Density of members rose to new high of 2.37 per mile.

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will take a comprehensive look at the Robert Lee lake project when they meet Monday at 10 a.m. in Big Spring.

This will be the first meeting in nearly three months, and much has done toward arranging financing and getting construction started.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, said he is hopeful that preliminary drafts of the bond prospectus will be sent by Eastman, Dillon, Union Securities, Inc., the fiscal agents, in time for directors to inspect them. All economic and engineering data has been completed as projected $30,000,000 revenue bond issue.

S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, may be on hand to report on progress of final plans for the huge dam across the Colorado River just above Robert Lee. Previously, a tentative completion date for the plans was

Aug. 1. Approximately 5,000 acres of land have been purchased or brought under purchase agreement for the lake basin, and contacts have been made on most of the other 11,000 acres needed.

Negotiations have been under way concerning relocation of several miles of the Sterling City - Robert Lee highway in and near the lake basin, and with oil companies for putting oil wells "in the dry."

PROVIDENCE, D.I. (AP) — Police were called recently after a young man was spotted at the State House wearing a blue denim shirt with "New York State Penitentiary-02196" stamped in black letters on the back.

Robert W. Russell, 22, explained to police that he makes the shirts to sell.

DEAR ABBY
Reluctant
Lothario

DEAR ABBY: My mother is a very attractive widow, 62 years old but she looks much younger. She met a 60-year-old bachelor, and they hit it off like a couple of teenagers. He's a real sport and a big spender. He has told all their mutual friends she's the best thing that's happened to him in years. He adores her, blah, blah, blah. They have vacationed together, he took her to the Derby, and now he's talking about is a trip to Europe. Abby, mom is going out of her mind waiting for this man to ask her to marry him. They seem so perfect for each other. She doesn't even look at anyone else, and as far as she knows, he doesn't either. What on earth is he waiting for? It's been nearly two years now. How can mom build a fire under this man? She'll do anything. HER DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your mom not to build any fire under her reluctant Lothario or go up in smoke. He sounds like the kind of sport who would rather rent than buy.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 22-year-old college girl who has to be continually coaxed and begged to help her mother now and then with an evening meal, to clear off the table, help with the dishes, make her own bed, hang up her clothes, or do her own ironing? When she was away at college, she lived at the dorm and shipped her laundry home for her mother to do and ship back.

During the summer she is not punching a time clock as so many girls do to help pay for her college expenses. Instead she is out having a good time and sleeping late. Ever since she was a young girl she has expected me to be her slave. HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Because somewhere along the line she was given the impression that she could get away with it. And apparently she was right.

DEAR ABBY: A very attractive fortyish woman is posing quite a problem among the husbands at our country club. She dances the first dance with her husband, and then he goes into the bar where he spends the remainder of the evening and she goes around asking the other husbands to dance with her.

This leaves our wives sitting and seething. How does a man handle this situation without being rude to the woman or to his wife? NO GIGOLO

DEAR NO: It isn't necessary to be rude to either. Tell the lone woman that you are "sitting it out" with your frau, but you'd be glad to waltz her over to her husband.

Problem? Write Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Olympic Week
At Webb AFB
Has Many Events

It's Junior Olympic time again at Webb AFB for boys and girls from 8-16. The first event is a swimming clinic for all contestants at the airman's pool on Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. This will be conducted by Rick Pajot, last year's base champion and member of the YMCA swim team. Rick will demonstrate starts and turns, and he will also help swimmers improve speed.

The swim meet is scheduled for the airman's pool on Wednesday at 8 a.m.

The track and field meet is on Thursday at the HCJC track and the bus will leave the Youth Center at 7:30 a.m.

Physical fitness events will be conducted on Saturday at 8 a.m. in the Butler Building (No. 239). Bowling will be at the Webb lanes on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with singles, doubles and mixed doubles for all contestants.

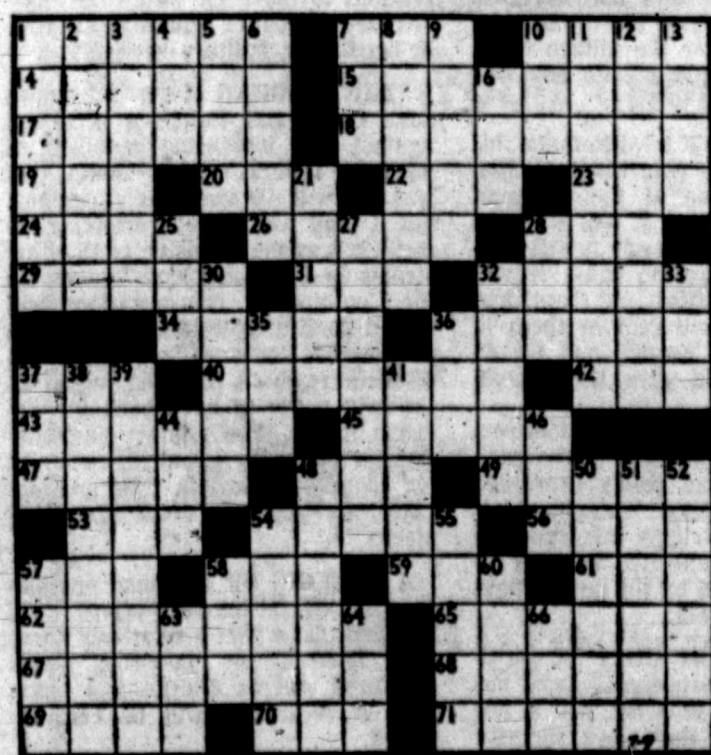

Several swimming classes have been filled with 110 youngsters registered for the second session. An intermediate class and a combined junior-senior life saving class will begin at the airman's pool on July 25.

To Visit Hospital

A group of students in abnormal psychiatry at West Texas State University, Canyon, will tour the campus of the Big Spring State Hospital Tuesday, according to Mrs. Ruth Ward, assistant volunteer coordinator. The students will hear speakers in the morning, eat lunch on the units and interview patients during the afternoon.

Gen. Maddux Becomes Commander Of ATC

GEN. MADDUX

In a brief open-air ceremony in command headquarters complex at Randolph AFB, Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux Jr. has become the new Air Training Command chief.

Gen. Maddux replaced Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, who on the same day took command of the Seventh Air Force in Vietnam.

Service with ATC at Randolph is not new to Gen. Maddux. He was deputy commander, Flying Training Air Force, at Randolph from July, 1957, to March, 1958. He then became assistant to the ATC vice commander and later from California to Hawaii. He served at Bataan and Mindanao, and later in Australia and New Guinea during World War II before moving to Washington, D. C., to serve on the War Department General Staff.

In 1946, Gen. Maddux became chief of personnel at the Far East Air Forces headquarters in Japan where he remained until May, 1948, leaving to attend the Air War College. He later attended the National War College.

Following his assignment with ATC, he served in Korea during 1959-60, then became deputy for Plans and Operations to the commander in chief, Pacific, before returning to the Philippines as commander, 13th

Air Force.

In July, 1965, he became vice commander in chief of the Pacific Air Forces, and remained in this position until his reassignment to ATC as commander.

His directions include the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star, Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Air Medal, Joint Services Commendation Medal and the Purple Heart.

Gen. Maddux also holds two Vietnamese decorations, the Vietnamese Air Force Distinguished Service Medal 1st Class, and the Vietnamese Air Force Gallantry Medal with Gold Wings.

Gen. and Mrs. Maddux have two sons, Michael D. and James C.

Murder Case Is First On Week's Court Docket

Elyre Thomas, charged with murder, will be the first defendant to face trial this week when a jury docket for criminal cases gets under way Monday in 118th District Court.

Thomas will be tried for the gun death March 1 of Louise Williams. He will be represented by Lanny Hamby. The state will be represented by Wayne Burns, district attorney.

One man drew a four year term in the state penitentiary for car theft and two others were given probated sentences when they pleaded guilty Friday afternoon to felony indictments pending against them in court.

David Norman Hazlett, accused of stealing a car from Pollard Chevrolet, was sentenced to four years. Bill G. Ely, who pleaded guilty to theft, drew a three-year probated sentence. Jackie Lee Hill, charged with burglary, drew a three-year probated sentence. The cases are some of the 19 felony matters slated for trial this week in the court. A jury panel is to report at 10 a.m. Monday for service in the cases.

Other cases docketed for trial and announced ready include: Edward Eugene Banks, assault with intent to murder; Carlee Adams, armed robbery; Allen Lamar, armed robbery, and Pete Campos, burglary.

Judge Ralph Caton has hopes that the entire week can be devoted to handling criminal matters.

Friday morning at the sounding of the docket, many of the cases were continued for the term on motion of the defendants.

"BORN FREE" Popular Book Comes To Screen

Every year about this time a lot of people get a yen to turn an old barn or chicken house into an antique business, says actor Burgess Meredith. Some do, some don't follow the whim. He did—and his advice is that it is far better to turn a chicken coop into a house. He did that also.

It all started with a very old house in Rockland County, N. Y. where he still lives, "the haunted residence of Mad Anthony Wayne," he explains.

Every once in a while he would begin to build some out-buildings—such as a chicken house, and even as he finished it he would decide not to have chickens. So he decided to use it to sell antiques. The project was a failure. Undaunted, he decided it had failed because it wasn't big enough. He added two rooms to it. But it still was not big enough for the things he was collecting. He built another 35-foot room hoping that he'd have a more impressive place to lure buyers.

"By that time the place had become so interesting, I decided to sell the Wayne house and live in the remodeled coop," he says. He added a big three-story octagonal tower with a 40 by 40 foot bedroom on top, and pretty soon the chicken house had the biggest wing anybody could visualize.

The project began some 30 years ago and Meredith still lives there with his wife and two children, 13 and 14. His attic is still loaded with antiques and every time he comes across one it is a reminder of "the most interesting experience a man could have."

"I was really my own executioner in the antique business. I spent my entire salary as I went along on antiques, mainly in Europe. But I suddenly figured it isn't good policy to run a business unless you are there all the time supervising the venture. An actor cannot do that."

If he ever went into the business again he'd put mouse traps in everything, he says. People have sticky fingers.

Colorful Western Story Opens At Jet Wednesday

Producer A. C. Lyles has a formula for successful motion pictures: Write a clean, action-filled western with an unusual twist, line up a great cast and set against a colorful background.

"Johnny Reno," Lyles' production opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre.

Lyles used all his powers of persuasion to lure Jane Russell, one of Hollywood's all-time glamour queens, back to a studio sound stage. Jane, content to be just Mrs. Bob Waterfield, had turned down previous offers from other producers. But Lyles' enthusiasm finally broke her resistance.

"I'm delighted that Jane consented to do this picture for me. She's been missed, and after audiences see her in 'Johnny Reno' I believe she'll find it difficult to turn down future offers. There is a built-in audience for established favorites; they are like old friends with whom people can readily identify," Lyles explained.

Lyles has been associated with Paramount most of his life. At ten he was an usher at a theatre in his home town, Jacksonville, Fla. Immediately upon graduation from high school he became a mail boy at the Paramount Studios in Hollywood. After a year he was promoted to the studio's publicity department and later became advertising and publicity director for the Pine-Thomas Company at Paramount.

For the immediate future, Lyles says he will stick with Westerns. "I like them because they tell an exciting but moral story," he says. "In Westerns the good people always win out. And Westerns are ageless; ten years from now they will be as timely as they are today."
