President Returns Salute In The Rain

Despite a steady rainfall at Ft. Campbell, Ky., Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson rides in an open Jeep in review of 5,000 troops of the 101st Airborne Division. Ft. Campbell was the second stop in the President's Midwestern tour Saturday. Earlier he had addressed a large throng in Indianapolis. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Our Troops Have Turned Tide In Viet, Says LBJ

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—President Johnson watched a realistic demonstration Saturday of how the war is being fought in Viet Nam, then told troops of the fighting 101st Airborne "Screaming Eagles" Division that American fighting men "have turned the tide of battle."

decorations to veterans of the Viet Nam war, and chatted informally with wounded veterans of the war.

Military authorities estimated 45,000 persons were on hand to see Johnson, his wife and daughter Luci at Ft. Campbell.

Johnson told the troops he was here "as the commander in chief of the best military force our nation has ever placed in the field of battle."

He said that while the nation's military forces make "conquest impossible for the Communist forces in the field, our diplomats are probing for a way to make an honorable peace seem desirable to the Communist leaders in Hanoi."

OTHER TALKS - From Ft. Campbell, the President flew to Lawrenceville, Ill., and then motored to Vincennes, Ind.

Both Lawrenceville, and Vincennes, turned out in force to welcome Johnson.

Mayor Charles L. Hedde said the crowd there was the largest Lawrenceville had ever seen.

From the airport, Johnson motored nine miles to the George Rogers Clark Memorial, which he made a national historical park by signing legislation sponsored by the Democratic representative from this district, Winfield K. Denton.

A consensus among local crowd estimators put the Vincennes crowd at between 18,000 and 20,000, unusually large for a city of about 25,000.

After a drive back to Lawrenceville, he planned to fly to Louisville, then motor to Standifer, Ky., and Jeffersonville, Ind., winding up a fast-moving day of speech-making and handshaking which the White House described as nonpolitical.

REPUBLICANS, TOO - By way of emphasizing it, Johnson brought with him from Washington a congressional delegation from the area, which included Republicans as well as Democrats. Among them were Kentucky's Republican senators, Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper.

The President made three speeches at Indianapolis, defending his Asian policies and speaking out against street violence.

Departing from his prepared speech at Monument Circle in Indianapolis, Johnson noted a Viet Cong attack on a U.S. Navy hospital in Da Nang and said, "That is typical of the way the Communists fight."

In this country, he continued, there are people who denounce U.S. air strikes against oil storage depots near Hanoi and Hanoi, but he said these people "remain strangely silent" when hospitals are attacked.

HANOI SURPRISED - In his speech for some 5,000 troops of the 101st Airborne Division, some of whose units are fighting in Viet Nam, Johnson said the turning of the tide of battle in Viet Nam "must have surprised no one as much as the leaders in Hanoi."

He added: "For we know from captured documents that the troops from North Viet Nam were taught that Americans were soft; that they could not face the trials of a guerrilla war; that they would not stand up in close combat."

"I suspect that at this very hour someone in Hanoi is busily revising those estimates."

Names Weapons In Breck Killing

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP)—Dan Ragland, Stephens County chief deputy sheriff, said Saturday that ballistics tests on two guns seized by San Antonio police show the weapons were used to kill a Breckenridge service station attendant July 4.

Three men have been charged with murder in the death of Clarence Swaim, 55, who was shot nine times with a .38 caliber revolver and a .380 automatic, authorities said.

Ragland said markings on slugs taken from Swaim's body match those test fired from the two guns recovered by San Antonio police.

Chinese Reported Joining Viet Cong

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marine sources said today there are indications that at least a few Chinese soldiers may be fighting alongside the North Vietnamese in the Viet Nam war.

The sources said, however, that the Chinese may be mercenaries hired by the North Vietnamese and not Red Chinese army troops.

The idea of Chinese involvement — long suspected but never proven — has arisen again in Operation Hastings.

Marines and South Vietnamese troops have been fighting for nine days in an effort to pin down Hanoi's 324th Division in that operation, just south of the demilitarized zone which separates North and South Viet Nam.

A spokesman said one prisoner taken during the operation this week reported his unit had Chinese advisers.

Another prisoner, identified as Hoang Van Hue, was quoted as saying that his battalion had at least one company of Chinese in it. The 15-year-old draftee reportedly told interrogators the Chinese were being integrated steadily into North Vietnamese units.

Intelligence officers said, however, that they believe the youth was referring to mercenaries or Montagnards. The Nungs and Montagnards are wandering tribes of Chinese descent.

The Americans say they are convinced there are Chinese in the battalion, but doubt they are Communists from Red China.

The Defense Department in Washington said there is absolutely no evidence to show there are Chinese fighting in the Viet Nam war.

New Death Stirs Cleveland Unrest

Negro Slain, Whites Held

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Negro died Saturday from shotgun wounds in a predawn shooting that fanned anew the smoldering fury of five nights of sniping and bombing against Cleveland's East Side.

His death — the fourth in the six days of unrest — came as President Johnson warned in Indianapolis that riots breed tyranny and would boomerang against those starting them.

The Negro was Benoris Toney, 29, father of five children. He had been struck in the face and his eyes destroyed by the shotgun blast from a passing car loaded with white youths. Toney died 11 hours later in a hospital.

Whites arrested minutes after the shooting in a lumberyard parking lot about 3 a.m. The shotgun charge had smashed through the passenger side window of Toney's car. He apparently had been trying to get away from a pursuing car.

Toney had left his East Side home about midnight, telling his wife he had to drive to the West Side to pick up a fellow worker.

The shooting followed a relatively quiet night in the strife-torn area, where police and National Guardsmen had toughened security.

The shooting was two miles from the seething Hough — pronounced Huff — area, the hotbed of the rioting. Police, reinforced by 1,750 Guardsmen, had sealed off the area, but despite that sporadic sniping and disorder crept nearer white ethnic pockets.

Police had 400 patrolmen in squad cars and on foot in the riot area, and 1,000 Guardsmen with bayonets fixed backed them up.

The Guard refused to say whether it would move more troops into the area, but 400 Guardsmen were returned a day early from summer training at Camp Grayling, Mich.

John said a democratic society suffers when any of its citizens tries to change the course of events by violence.

"The alternative to self-discipline is tyranny," he said.

Five In Finals For Miss Texas Crown

FORT WORTH (AP)—Ten talented, poised young beauties were named finalists Saturday night in the Miss Texas Pageant. From among these 10 the Miss Texas of 1966 was to be selected.

The 10 are Sharon Kay Terrill, 19, Miss Arlington; Terry Virginia Bolding, 20, Miss Athens; Betty Lynn Buckley, 19, Miss Dallas.

The field later was cut to five girls: Miss Logan, Miss Wilson, Miss Terrill, Miss Hodges and Miss Buckley.

They were the survivors of the 61 entered in the week-long contest leading to the crowning of Miss Texas and a try for national fame in the Miss America contest.

The Texas winner received a $1,100 scholarship, a $1,000 wardrobe, a Casa Manana Musicals contract and other prizes.

A week of anxiety, tiring rehearsals and smiling for judges preceded the announcement of the successor to Mary Lou Butler of Dallas as Miss Texas.

The girls were judged in swim suit, talent and evening gown competition nightly. The results of the evening gown competition were kept secret.

The first runner-up in the Miss Texas Pageant received $500, the second $450, third $400 and fourth $350. In addition, Miss Congeniality was selected by the contestants. A $200 prize went to Miss Congeniality.

She was Miss Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Buckley of Fort Worth and a native of Big Spring. The 5-foot-7, 120-pound blonde is a student at Texas Christian University.

A former Miss America, Maria Beale Fletcher, winner in 1962, was mistress of ceremonies.

The pageant, held in Will Rogers Auditorium, was telecast in color by station KTVT in Fort Worth.

Movie Actor Cliff Is Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—Montgomery Clift, the handsome film actor who won fame for his roles of a sensitive young leading man, died Saturday in his East Side Manhattan apartment, police said. He was 45.

In his private life, Clift was regarded in Hollywood as a sort of maverick, who long scorned the customs of stars but never lost his box office attraction.

During his career he played opposite some of the world's greatest actors and actresses and in 1953 won a nomination for an academy award for his support role in "From Here to Eternity."

In all the years that he made a good living out of Hollywood, Clift never lived there. He spent much of his time in New York and on board cruisers and other ships he had owned.

Clift's attorney, Jack Clareman, said the actor was "in good spirits when he retired for the night at 11:30 p.m. Friday."

A medical examiner said death was caused by occlusive coronary arteriosclerosis.

Viet Cong Shells Damage Hospital

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong mortar crews lobbed 20 or more shells at a U.S. military complex east of Da Nang Saturday night as if to draw attention from beatings that Communist troops were taking in other sectors. Several Marine helicopters quickly returned the fire.

A U.S. Marine spokesman said the shells had wounded seven men, damaged four helicopters and caused some slight structural damage at a 400-bed Navy hospital. Flares lighted the sky for the response by the Leatherneck gunships that halted the attack.

COMPLEX - The hospital, a Seabee compound, and a Marine heliport make up the complex, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. A similar attack there last October killed one man, wounded 100 and damaged 40 helicopters. The area is strategic U.S. air base at that city was unaffected.

Elsewhere, U.S. infantrymen lashed at the Viet Cong in scattered actions, and Marines cut down 14 more of Hanoi's regulars in Operation Hastings, boosting the roll of counted enemy dead in that nine-day battle near the 17th Parallel to 582.

JETS IN ACTION - U.S. jets pursued the air war against North Viet Nam. The American command reported an A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Oriskany had been shot down in the area of Vinh, 180 miles north of the border. The pilot bailed out at sea and was rescued. The Skyhawk was the 306th plane officially listed as lost over the north.

Among developments in the ground war:

Several battalions of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division pounced by helicopter on entrenched Viet Cong in jungles 25 miles north of Saigon and overran their bunkers in a freight that carried on into dusk. A spokesman described the operation as fast and furious. He said American casualties were light in the opening stages. He had no word on Communist losses but reported the infantrymen had captured quantities of machine guns and ammunition.

BIG TRAIL - U.S. Marines, now holding nine prisoners from Operation Hastings, quoted one as having said an infiltration trail big enough for a truck and well covered with a thick jungle canopy extended across the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. This is a six-mile-wide strip, blanketing the border, supposed to be free of military activity under the Geneva agreement of 1954.

It is the season for barbecues, picnics and reunions. Howard-Glasscock Old Festivals will be gathering next Friday for their 42nd annual festivities. Sterling County has a diamond Jubilee in the offing, as does Borden County.

Meanwhile, activities go on. A hearing is set for Tuesday as a preliminary to the improvement of FM 700 from Goliad Street westward to old Highway 80, and a state contract for this work is scheduled for October letter.

About the same time, the FM 700 extension from IS 20 northward to the Snyder Highway will be completed.

And a salt water pollution hearing, by a special legislative committee, was scheduled in Big Spring for Aug. 4-5. Rep. Renal Rosson of Snyder is

Lady Bugs May Rid Fields Of Pests

By SAM BLACKBURN

How many lady bugs does it take to fill a gallon bucket? What is the price of lady bugs per gallon? Why would you want to buy lady bugs by the gallon? The answers are: 80,000.

CONTROL PESTS

They may be the answer to control of cotton pests such as fleahoppers and bollworms. Lady bugs (beetles if you want to be technical) are built like miniature turtles. They are reddish yellow in color and covered over with polka dots. They are among man's best insect friends. Their favorite repast is plant lice, aphids and the eggs of kindred pests which ravage one's gardens and fields.

Kids have played a game with lady bugs for centuries. The youngsters find the little holes the bugs dig and leaning over near the opening chant in childish treble: "Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home— Your house is afire and your children alone."

UTILITARIAN

Here in West Texas, the lady bug has a much more utilitarian value. A number of Howard County farmers are releasing countless thousands of the little beetles in their cotton fields. In Martin County, a larger number of cotton farmers are doing the same thing and have been doing so for two or three years. Does it work? — Do the beetles halt the damaging march of bollworms and other cotton pests?

WANT MORE

Gerald Hanson, one of the owners of the Stanton Chemical and Seed Co., distributor of the bug, believes it does to a degree. Otherwise, he notes, how does it happen that experienced Martin County cotton growers who tried the beetles two or three years ago come back for more each summer? "I tell folk who ask me about it," said Hanson, a former Martin County agricultural agent, "the lady bugs eat in- sect eggs and larvae. In California, the bugs are used and seem to be getting results. If they do work, they're a heck of a lot better than poisoning—because if you poison, you not only kill off the pests, but you destroy the 'good guy bugs' too. Besides poisoning costs a lot more than beetles."

RECORD SALES

Already, this year, he has distributed 150 gallons and he thinks he will hang up a record for sales in 1966.

He gets his supply of lady bugs by air express from California. They arrive packed in plastic bags—the bags stuffed with a kind of moss. There are 80,000 bugs in a gallon.

The formula for the use of lady bugs to control cotton pests is a gallon for each 15 to 20 acres. The farmer releases a second gallon on the same tract within a week or 10 days. Four gallons in all should be ample to saturate the 20-acre field with lady bugs.

The theory is that the lady bugs, hungry from their long fast since being sacked up in California, start dining heartily on the eggs which produce the dread cotton bollworm and perhaps on the nymphs of fleahoppers. One thing is sure—the lady bug does not eat cotton. Bill Ward, who farms north of Big Spring, is the most recent Howard Countyman to buy lady bugs from Hanson.

Mrs. Ward said the little beetles swarmed out of the bag and took over the field.

"We find them now in the garden and on flowers at the house," she said.

Others who have bought beetles, according to Hanson, include E. M. Newton, Bob Lee, Jack Grant, Elbert Long and Don Long in Howard County. Leroy Linney is one of the pioneers in this experiment. Hanson said that he sold this Martin County farmer beetles three years ago. Linney has bought replenishments each year since. Leo Turner and Charles Hale are other Martin County men who are trying out this plan. There are others.

COSTS LESS

"If it works," said Hanson, "it costs a lot less overall than poisoning with chemicals." There is one difficulty—the winters here are rugged enough to destroy the little workers. This means that while a few may survive, it is necessary to buy more beetles each year.

Jack Buchanan, Howard County, uses geese to keep his cotton fields free of weeds and Johnson grass. There were some who laughed when Buchanan imported a small army of white honkers and let them go on his fields. They aren't laughing now. They only look with envy at the weed-free fields on the Buchanan ranch and wryly consider the expensive hired hands they have hoeing in their own fields. MAY LAUGH They may laugh at the farmers who are trying out the beetles. Could be, though, the laughter may sound pretty empty later on. Meantime, if you want a gallon of lady bugs Gerald Hanson has plenty on hand. He had 15 or so of the big plastic bags in crates at his place this past week.

"NICE FRESH LADY BUGS, ANYONE?" Gerald Hanson does thriving business selling beetles to farmers

Market Decline Worst Since May

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week had to contend with an unusually large array of unsettling news and the result was the worst weekly decline since the middle of May when the market was sinking to its 1966 lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks retreated to a new low for the year as the week ended, taking a weekly loss of 7.2 at 313.6.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 20.21 to 869.15, but this still was above its May 17 low of 864.14.

The market decline was steep Wednesday as prices reacted to Britain's new austerity program designed to bolster British industry and save the pound sterling from devaluation.

Youthful Gang Attacks Officer

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas policeman suffered attack by several youths early Saturday while several hundred teenagers milled around a drive-through cafe.

Patrolman Robert Cormier was struck and kicked at the Jack-in-the-Box restaurant in north Dallas after he arrested a teenager. Cormier said he drove into the area about 12:30 a.m. and botted were thrown at his patrol car. He said he arrested a teenager and was putting him in the patrol car when two other youths attacked him. The officer suffered head and arm cuts.

The attackers were arrested after another policeman, Richard Malbauer, arrived. Prior to the attack, eight light bulbs were shot out at the drive-in with a pellet gun, police said. Police said the incident was one of several at the cafe in recent months but none were serious earlier, officers reported.

FM 700 NORTH PUSHES TOWARD COMPLETION New highway link slated to be finished in early October

Mr. Williams' Father Dies

Ben Williams, 80, Rising Star, father of Clyde Williams, 1065 N. Gregg, died Saturday at 3 a.m. in an Eastland hospital. He had been hospitalized for one week.

Services were to be held this afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Rising Star, with burial there.

October Completion For FM 700 Segment

Completion of FM 700 north from IS 20 to SH 350 is planned by October, Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the State Highway Department said Saturday.

J. H. Strain and Sons, Inc., Tye, contractor for the half-million dollar road job, was 75 per cent complete on the project last week and making steady progress.

Construction of the crossing over the T&P railroad tracks just north of IS 20 on the south end of the segment is well along. Slab will be poured for this crossing probably this week.

Base is being built at the north end extending southward and is making rapid progress.

The job represents a major connecting highway link in the county's state-federal road system. It extends the original FM 700 strip north by 2.778 miles and affords access to SH 350 (the Snyder highway) and to the Gall road.

HEARING

Meantime, a meeting is set for 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Howard County court room at which plans and designs for the rebuilding of the west end of the original FM 700 strip will be displayed and discussed. The public is invited to the meeting. Smoot said that questions relative to the proposed road will be answered and he and county officials will be on hand, with other state highway officials to go over all details of this major road project.

The state has plans to award contract for this job in October. The county has been engaged in acquiring right of way for many months. A bond issue of $600,000 was voted to provide funds to pay for needed land. Several tracts are yet unsigned and it seems possible condemnation action will have to be taken on these to insure their availability when the highway department begins its work.

The rebuilding of FM 700 west begins at Gollad street intersection. It includes a major crossing over US 87 and re-routing much of the present road beyond US 87 to the point where it rejoins US 80.

Some Say Start School Earlier

By JERRY MONSON

Ever hear of a school where they don't teach the "three R's?"

The school need not be an all-day program, its proponents say.

Its goal would not be reading, writing and arithmetic, but to foster curiosity, language development and readiness for intellectual activity.

Such a school was proposed recently by the National Educational Association and the American Association of School Administrators.

READY FOR IT?

Are your four-to-five-year-olds ready for this?

The school, geared to meet the needs of the "sticky-fingers set," is based on the principle that most children have already developed a considerable part of the intellectual ability they will possess as adults by age six.

Free schools for all four-year-olds were rejected by the NEA at their national convention, but they supported free schooling for disadvantaged pre-schoolers, such as those involved in the Operation Head Start program.

Sam Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District, said that the school for four-year-olds presents an interesting challenge, one that merits some consideration.

NO FACILITIES

"However," Anderson said, "we do not have the facilities here as yet to support a school of this type."

The school, essentially an upgraded kindergarten, was proposed, according to Dr. William Carr, NEA executive secretary and one of the school's biggest defenders, because much is being said and written today about the child who does not do well in school.

Mrs. Nancy Hoben, a Ysleta school teacher, is an outspoken advocate of pre-school training.

"When a school sets up the basic curriculum it assumes that the child entering first grade has at least a standard middle class English vocabulary," she said in a recent article in Texas Outlook. "Even the pictures in the readiness programs assume that children in all areas know about skis and sleds, even though most of our area sees very little snow."

GLARING LACK

Many administrators are of the opinion that an inappropriateness of materials is perhaps the single most glaring lack in the present curriculum.

At Clear Creek Consolidated Independent School District, graders in the area have a tremendous head start acquired through the area's academic kindergarten program, where the movement has been in progress for 10 years. The program there is gauged to the individual learner, with time in class limited to just over two hours per day, so the child will not be away from home for long.

Advocates of the Clear Creek program say that the child is read to continuously; as a result, he learns to tell events and stories in the order in which they happen. A modified modern math program is underway. Writing is begun by drawing stick figures, later relating the figures to story ideas.

HEAD START

The Head Start program in Big Spring, for disadvantaged preschoolers, is under way in the Kate Morrison School. Its primary goals are to acquaint youngsters with what it's really like to go to school; what is expected of them in school; and how they may participate actively in various project activities. Keith Swim is the director of the program.

Some of the guidelines to test a child's readiness for school are (1) Is the child developing a wide vocabulary? (2) Is he learning to take part in discussions and observe things carefully? (3) Is he learning to take responsibility and be able to lead and follow? As set up by the "Handbook for Pre-School Children" these guidelines can serve as a measuring stick to observe a child's readiness.

Teachers, Students Enjoy Experiment In Education

By DAL HERRING

"An experiment in education, unique in Texas, terminated last week, and results indicate a complete success," said John Talmadge, Summer Honors Institute director.

"We sidestepped all the orthodox procedures usually found in a classroom," Talmadge explained, "and the response was remarkable. The two teachers assigned no homework and gave no tests. All academic endeavors were performed voluntarily, and grading was forgotten."

LIGHT UP

"It was thrilling to see their eyes light up and watch a dozen hands waving enthusiastically," said Mrs. Lila Brewster, who taught the humanities classes. "The kids were completely uninhibited, engaged in a learning process, and loving it."

Only "above average" students were invited to attend the institute, which exposed high school students to facts and concepts ordinarily taught on a college level, Talmadge said.

Mrs. Brewster allowed the 30 students to explore Greek history and philosophy as interpreted in such works as Homer's "Iliad" and "The Odyssey," and the group reflected upon their implication in depth, he added.

PRINCIPLES

Don Green, who taught math-

HUMANITIES PINPOINTED Mrs. Lila Brewster, honors institute students

ematics, placed stress not only upon drill and method, but upon the historical background and principles involved in the mathematical processes.

"Before the institute began, I had students stop me in the school corridors and ask what they could do to get into the institute," explained Talmadge. "The response was rather unexpected. We selected the students on the basis of qualifying test scores and their past academic performance."

If a student qualified, a letter of invitation and explanation went out to him and his parents, Talmadge said. "Parent reaction was gratifying."

STAYED HERE

"I had a job offer in another city at the beginning of the summer," said one father, "but I turned it down because I thought that the clinic was one thing that should not be interrupted."

This program was the dream of one man, but it became a reality through the work of many persons. John Talmadge, BSHS counselor, conceived the idea of their past experience with "gifted" students and their superior credentials, Talmadge said.

ENJOYED SCHOOL

"This is the first time I have ever really enjoyed school," one boy said. "In a normal class, I express my 'wild' ideas, the other kids think I'm an odd ball." In the institute, all the students have these odd ball (intelligent) ideas, and the teachers do little more than just give direction to the discussions.

The lack of homework and tests, and freedom of discussion in class were the things most highly praised by a majority of the students. "We had time to delve deeply into a subject until it really became meaningful," said one young man.

"I could finally learn without having to beat my head against the wall with busy work," said another.

A thorough counseling program resulted as the institute progressed, concluded Talmadge. Personal conferences with the students to evaluate their progress was a part of the project.

ANOTHER BIGGER AND BETTER Southwestern Electronic Parts Show Experience Is The Best Teacher

We gained the experience in 1965 when we sponsored and held the "Southwestern Electronic Parts Show" and Color Technical School.

This year on Sunday, July 31, 1966, we have a MUCH BIGGER AND BETTER SHOW AND COLOR SCHOOL.

MR. PAUL GARVER of Deptford, New Jersey, who is the General Manager of RCA Parts and Accessories, will be our "Keynote Speaker," speaking on the subject "Profile of a Successful Serviceman." We went to the RCA factory and obtained the services of MR. H. C. HORTON, "National Manager of Technical Services" for RCA, to hold our Color School. Mr. Horton, because of his years of experience in the color field, is highly qualified to hold a very specialized training session such as this is.

There will be twice as many factories participating and displaying the very latest developed electronic equipment and parts. Factory personnel will be present in each booth. Some of the factories participating are: Radio Corporation of America (Tube Division), RCA Parts and Accessories, Triad, Workman, Jerrold-Taco, Cornell-Dubiller, Hagnacraft, Ampheno, Colman Products, Clarastat, Astalite, Nova Corp. (Hallmark CB&Commercial two-way radio equipment), Alpha Wire, and others.

Door Prizes Galore—Such as: Free TV, Tape Recorder, Test Equipment and Many Others.

Free Buffet Lunch at Noon—Refreshments Throughout The Day.

Drawing For Door Prizes Will Be Held Before The Audience at Last Session. You Do Not Have To Be Present To Win.

Lamar Asks For New Trial

Allen Lamar, who was convicted of robbery by assault and given a 25-year prison term as punishment, is fighting to avoid serving the quarter century.

Friday afternoon, he filed a handwritten motion for a new trial with Judge Ralph Caton, in 118th District Court. His court-appointed attorney, R. H. Weaver, obviously reluctant to push the matter, took the first motion and told Lamar he would study it and draw up an amended motion for presentation in Lamar's behalf later on.

It was not known when this will be heard, since the defendant, by filing a petition for an amended motion, can delay operations for 20 days.

Lamar, in a letter to the court, made it clear that he is "earnestly intending to appeal" his conviction.

Lamar, who acted as his own attorney for most of his three-day trial 10 days ago, was found guilty of holding up a small grocery store here June 14. He and an alleged associate in the holdup were apprehended in Andrews County an hour after the holdup.

DEAR ABBY
A Happy Family

DEAR ABBY: This is to tell you about a letter you never received. Some time ago I received a call from my son's third grade teacher asking me to stop in at school to discuss a letter my son had written in letter-writing class. It was addressed to YOU, it read:

"Dear Abby,
My dad works all the time. He is never home. He gives me money and lots of toys, but I hardly ever see him. I love him and wish he would not work all the time so I could see him more. (signed) Danny"

That was the entire letter. Abby, I grew up during the depression and wanted my children to have it better than I did, so I worked one full time job and two part time jobs, which almost doubled my income. I managed to provide my wife and two sons with many luxuries, but I realized after reading Danny's letter that I had deprived them of something more important than material things. Myself. And my time. I took stock of myself and was ashamed of what I discovered.

For instance, I had never attended a report card conference, nor visited school. Took no part in scouting, although both sons were Cub Scouts. I had never reprimanded my sons. This responsibility was entirely their mother's. Sometimes days would pass without seeing the boys awake. Because of the standards I had set for my family, I felt I couldn't lower those standards without first discussing it with them, so we held a family meeting. The result: I quit both part time jobs and we adjusted our standard of living according.

That was nearly two years ago and now I have discovered what a wonderful family I have. I have earned the respect of my sons. But more important, I have learned that the greatest gift a man can give his children is himself, his time and his love. Today I am a happy man, and I want to thank you, Abby, because if it were not for the letter my son wrote to you, I might have never known what I was missing. (sign me) DAD

DEAR ABBY: I have heard some very intelligent married people say that 99 per cent of the married couples cheat on each other. Is that true? SHELLY

DEAR SHELLY: No. But it's a pretty safe bet that those who say that 99 per cent of the married couples cheat, do.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

WTCC To Recognize Area Members Of State Boards

Three Big Spring residents will be honored for their volunteer work as members of state boards, agencies and commissions at a recognition dinner to be given by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Pampa, August 11. They are D. S. Riley, member of the Hospital Licensing Advisory Council; R. L. Tollett, member of the North Texas State University Board and H. D. Stewart Jr., member of the Barber Examiners Board. "The services of these men exemplifies the volunteer talent and knowledge which has been made available to the government of the State of Texas since 1876," said John Ben Sheppard of Odessa, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"This is the first time formal recognition has been accorded these hard working individuals," Sheppard added.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will present those honored with a Certificate of Appreciation. In addition, a souvenir program giving the history and purpose of each board and listing the West Texas members will be presented.

Inflation Factors Mark Economy For First Half

WASHINGTON (AP)—Booming business, relatively low unemployment, rising incomes and prices—and the inflation which goes with them—highlighted the nation's economic picture during the first half of this year.

Soft spots did develop in the economy—the housing industry and automobile sales were two—but the economic indicators published by the federal government showed that the first half of 1966 was a banner year for most Americans generally, although the banner cost more than it did last year.

There was even talk both inside and outside government especially in the first three months of the year—of the boom getting out of hand and the possible need for a tax increase to dampen inflation.

WAIT—AND—SEE

But most of the talk in favor of an increase was outside government, and the Johnson administration adopted a wait-and-see position. Economic growth slowed during the second quarter of the year to what officials consider a more sustained pace.

But talk of inflation and the need for more restraint persisted. Some economists said the administration had waited too long and inflation had engulfed the country.

President Johnson, as recently as last week, held open the possibility of a tax increase. But the emphasis now is on the increasing cost of the Viet Nam war and increased congressional spending rather than for purely antiinflationary purposes.

BOOM GOES ON

As the first half of the year ended, there were indications the boom would continue.

The Commerce Department said some monthly indicators such as employment and personal income suggested that the economy had grown more rapidly in June than in either of the two preceding months.

And spending for new plant and equipment is expected to increase to more than $61 billion on a seasonally adjusted annual rate during the third quarter, up from the $59.6-billion rate estimated for April-June and the $58-billion rate of the first quarter.

Here's how a few major economic indicators reacted during the first half of this year:

INDICATORS

Gross National Product—The value of all goods and services produced in the economy increased by $27.6 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $732 billion, a record, but a good part of the increase reflected inflation rather than a solid gain.

Of the $17.9-billion increase during the last three months of 1965, only $3.8 billion or 20 per cent reflected price changes, the Commerce Department said.

But in the first quarter of this year, prices increases accounted for $6.4 billion or 38 per cent of the total rise during that three-month period. The second quarter was even more dramatic. Price increases accounted for $6.5 billion—60 per cent—of the rise in GNP.

PRICE INDEX

Consumer Price Index—The half-year increase of 1.7 points in the Labor Department's index was the largest in eight years. The June index reading of 112.9 meant that it cost $11.29 to buy the goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

Unemployment—The unemployment index never exceeded 4 per cent of the total labor force during any of the last six months and actually dropped to 3.7 per cent in February and April. By June the total number of employed persons had risen to 75.7 million, compared with 71.2 million last January.

On Display In Mall

Title One students from Lakeview and Cedar Crest Elementary Schools will exhibit their crayon work, ceramics and weaving in a special art show Tuesday, July 26, in the Highland Shopping Center Mall. The Title One enrichment program includes grades 1-4.

CHURCH CONFERENCE

Criticism Of U.S. Policy Requested

GENEVA (AP)—A world conference of Christian churches was asked Saturday to condemn a U.S. military build-up and air attacks in Viet Nam as unjustifiable. At the same time, a group of American laymen and theologians called on President Johnson to order no reprisals if captive U.S. airmen are brought to trial as war criminals by North Viet Nam.

NO JUSTIFICATION

"The massive and growing American military presence in Viet Nam and the long continued bombing of villages in the South and if targets a few miles from cities in the North cannot be justified," said a report from the section of the World Conference on Church and Society that is studying structures of international cooperation.

It asked that the conference, organized by the World Council of Churches, adopt its report as an official conference document Monday. The conference is being attended by 400 lay and religious leaders from 80 nations.

Eighty-two members of the conference drew up the report on Viet Nam.

It said the increased U.S. military presence in Viet Nam and the air attacks "involve the danger of escalation of the war into a world conflict and for this reason do not bring South Viet Nam closer to political stability or solve the problems which have produced a revolutionary situation in that country."

The report included a brief call on North Viet Nam to end its military infiltration of the South.

END TO HOSTILITIES

It asks the conference to urge an end to all hostilities in Viet Nam to bring about conditions for a peaceful settlement through the United Nations, the Geneva conference or other international agencies.

The United States expanded air attacks on North Viet Nam last month by opening up bombing attacks on petroleum depots outside Hanoi and Haiphong and elsewhere in the country. The aim is to destroy the oil supplies Hanoi needs to run its war machine.

NO REPRISALS

After the oil strikes, North Viet Nam threatened to bring captured airmen to trial as war criminals. The U.S. response was that such trials could result in "disastrous consequences." It was against any such U.S. reprisals that 72 American lay and religious leaders messaged President Johnson.

In a cable to the White House, they said in part:

"The current episode involving American prisoners should not be made the occasion for any acts of reprisal. We are also calling upon the government and people of North Viet Nam to urge that captured personnel be treated according to standards set up by the International Red Cross . . ."

Nasser Shows Red Missiles

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser showed off everything from his famed camel corps to new Soviet-made air-to-ground missiles Saturday in a mammoth military parade marking the overthrow of King Farouk 14 years ago. The display had a markedly Soviet air.

While 300 new Soviet-supplied armored cars rumbled along with Soviet T55 tanks, new MIG21D jets and four Tupolov TU16 jet bombers winged overhead. The TU16s carried new, bright-red missiles under their wings.

The camel corps, which patrols the Egyptian deserts, followed up marching paratroopers and infantrymen.

The MIG21D all-weather jets and the TU16 bombers are new to the United Arab Republic Air Force.

Military experts said the missiles on the bombers never had been shown publicly before in this country. The public address announcer called no special attention to them, but military experts said it was clear Nasser wanted to show them off. They noted the missiles were painted bright red.

Foreclosure Held In Property Suit

A judgment for foreclosure on three lots on North Main was handed down by Texas Hide and Metal Company, Inc., Friday morning in 118th District Court.

The lots had been sold to Mrs. Margaret C. Miller, now deceased, in 1959, and the plaintiff maintained that she had made a down payment and only nine payments.

Mrs. Miller's heirs defaulted by not appearing in court, and Judge Ralph Catom—ruled for foreclosure. The property includes lots 11, 12 and 15 of the William B. Currie extension of Government Heights to Bauer Addition.

Men Overseas To Get Their Voting Chance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department is making a special effort to see that the men in Viet Nam know about, and have opportunity to exercise, their rights to vote by absentee ballot in this year's primary and general elections.

The effort is part of the general activities the department has carried on for 10 years under the 1955 Federal Voting Assistance Act.

That law was designed to facilitate the use of absentee balloting procedures by both those in the armed services and federal civilian employees away from home at election time.

Viet Nam is getting particular attention because of the problems of time and distance.

"We are concerned about Viet Nam and have a special program on," Stephen S. Jackson, deputy voting coordinator in the department, told a reporter.

"If anybody deserves to vote, the men in Viet Nam do."

In addition to information programs in Viet Nam, the voting coordinator's office has been calling the attention of the states to the problems of getting ballots to men in Viet Nam and back.

Of the approximately 280,000 members of the armed services in Viet Nam, the great majority presumably are eligible to vote. But some are not registered and some are under age.

At present, only two states—Alabama and Louisiana—require a personal appearance registration. In all but four states, the voting age is 21. It is 18 in Georgia and Kentucky, 19 in Alaska and 20 in Hawaii.

COMPUTER WAS RIGHT

RIDGEWOOD, N. J. (AP)—A Ridgewood girl, who tried to trick a date-matching computer a year ago, bowed to the machine's judgment Saturday and married her automated date.

Gail Conti, 22, exchanged vows with James W. Fraser, 24, of Akron, Ohio, here after a year-long courtship that began with a switch-around computerized double date.

Miss Conti, who was a senior at Boston University at the time, switched names with her roommate when they filled out their applications. The girls supplied the right answers with the wrong names.

Then they arranged a double date, but under their correct names.

Miss Conti soon decided that Fraser, who was her roommate's date, "began to look and sound better to me by the moment."

Before the evening was over, the girls confessed and switched dates.

Plane To Probe Brewing Storm

MIAMI (AP)—A hurricane hunter pilot will fly out Sunday to investigate a weather disturbance that shows signs of tropical storm development. Ship reports told of brewing bad weather in the area midway between the Windward Islands and the African coast.

Another disturbance that could intensify in the next day or two also was being watched far out in the North Atlantic 800 miles southwest of the Azores.

Piggly Wiggly

Made from a star-spangled recipe that's 25 years old

The cake above is something we whipped up to help celebrate the 25th birthday of the United States Savings Bond program.

Although there will be no confetti, no horn-blowing—in fact, no party, there are a number of reasons to celebrate this quarter-century observance.

Since that first one was sold on May 1, 1941, Americans have bought more than $150 billion worth of Series E and H Bonds and still buy them at a $4-$5 billion-per-year clip.

About $100 billion have been cashed and spent for homes, college tuition, new cars and furniture, emergencies—and helping dreams come true for millions of American families.

Over half the Bonds bought are purchased on the Payroll Savings Plan—a voluntary automatic plan that has worked wonders for people who might not otherwise save a nickel.

Today there are outstanding almost $50 billion in Bonds—a solid financial rock which millions of Americans stand on.

And today, above all, Savings Bonds are a sure way for all Americans to support our men in Vietnam. While they are there, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines.

NOW— Savings Bonds Pay 4.15%!

Interest on new E and H Bonds you purchase has been raised to 4.15% when held to maturity. E Bonds mature faster—now in just 7 years. Your old Bonds will earn more, too. Savings Bonds are better to buy, and hold, than ever.

Monday Bean Pickin' Time For Old Settlers

Monday at 10 a.m. is bean-pickin' time for the Old Settlers Reunion committee. Jess Slaughter, president of the Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Association, said that 200 pounds of beans will be at the fair grounds pavilion, and he asks for volunteers to be on hand to help get the beans ready for the reunion feed July 25.

"We will need all the help we can get," said Slaughter. "The more help, the sooner we can get the job done." The 42nd annual reunion and banquet begins bright and early next Friday. The forenoon will be spent visiting and registering. At noon the big barbecue, always a feature of these annual rallies, will be served. Slaughter has bought 2,000 pounds of beef, 200 pounds of beans and the essential pickles, onions and other standard features of a barbecue dinner. Cooking the barbecue, huge pots of beans, and son-of-a-gun stew gets started at 10 p.m. Thursday. These annual events usually attract more than 2,000 guests. The annual parties are paid for by donations and gifts. Well-wishers make gifts in advance to pay for the party. These range from generous donations to small sums. All, says Slaughter, regardless of the size, are welcome. Additional donations not acknowledged have been received from Smith and Coleman, E. W. Lomax, Johnnie Walker, M. R. Pollard On TADA Board Appointment of Bill Pollard, Pollard Chevrolet, Big Spring, as Area Director of Texas Automobile Dealers Association has been announced by Carroll Rogers of Abilene who represents this area on the TADA Board of Directors. Pollard has been advised that his major responsibility as an Area Director will be to work at the grass roots with other officials of the statewide franchised new car dealers association to promote a high standard of integrity among the car dealers of the state and serve the motoring public better by making driving safer, more convenient and more economical. "Automobile dealers were particularly concerned at this time," Pollard said, "with highway and car safety, and stress will be placed on association programs in this area with this as the aim. He said TADA planned to work with Area Directors to expand the driver education program into more Texas schools. Dealers help sponsor this training by loaning automobiles to schools. Pollard will serve as an Area Director until the next TADA convention in Houston, May, 1967.

Stock Arranged For Junior Rodeo

C. B. (Mutt) Black, Marfa, will supply the broncs, marfa and steers for the 21st Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo here Aug. 11, 12 and 13. It will be Black's initial contract with the local show but he has provided animals for numerous other rodeos in the area. Contract with Black was made by the directors of the rodeo which is a project of the Howard County 4-H Clubs. The directors and officers have been contacting committeemen and asking their selections to serve. A list of all committees will be available shortly. Trophies for the show have been ordered and will be here soon. A saddle goes to the all-round cowboy or cowgirl of the show. Buckles are awarded top hands in the main events. These are donated by local business and professional men. List of events and pertinent information about the rodeo has been dispatched to hundreds of junior rodeo riders. Entries are expected to begin arriving soon. The rodeo here is sanctioned by the American Junior Rodeo Association and all points earned in local events go toward determination of national titles. All entry fees go back to the competitors in prize money for the several events. Announcement has been made that members of the 4-H Club will distribute rodeo posters on July 28. On Aug. 8, a cleanup day activity is slated at the rodeo bowl and on August 9, a practice session will be conducted at the bowl to familiarize the committee workers with their duties. A big parade will officially kick off the rodeo on Aug. 11. The events are: girls, 12 and under, barrel race, pole bending and breakaway roping; boys, 12 and under, calf roping, ribbon roping and pole bending; girls, 13-15, barrel race, pole bending, breakaway roping; boys, 13-15, calf roping, ribbon roping; pole bending; girls, 16-19, barrel race, pole bending, breakaway roping; boys, 16-19, calf roping, ribbon roping, barrel race, bull riding, bull dogging. Officials of the rodeo association are: Mike McClain, president; Gary McNew, Danny Fryar, Freddy Newman, Mikel Bridge and Lawrence Long, directors.

Man Accused Of Thefts From Mausoleums

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A school bus mechanic was arrested Friday and accused of breaking into mausoleums and robbing bodies of wedding rings, diamond brooches and gold dental fillings. Charged with burglary and malicious mischief was Frederick Thompson, 21. Police said Thompson removed gold fillings and caps from a skeleton which was desecrated Tuesday night in the Northport rural cemetery. Authorities said Thompson told them of breaking into a mausoleum in Pineslawn Memorial Park last week. Loot recovered, police said, included two wedding bands, a wrist watch, two diamond brooches and 15 to 20 bits of dental gold.

Class Treated To Steak Barbecue

Members of Class 67-H in pilot training at Webb Air Force have expressed their appreciation to Pollard Chevrolet Company for hosting class members and their families to a steak barbecue. The event was held recently at Lake J. B. Thomas.

331st Officer Gets Award

Capt. Kenneth L. Kruslyak of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron has been awarded the Air Defense Command "We Point With Pride" Award. The award is presented monthly to that member of the ADC who has distinguished himself during the safe recovery of an aircraft under emergency conditions. Capt. Kruslyak was on an air combat maneuvers mission approximately 50 miles northwest of Webb AFB when caution lights in the cockpit of his F-104A Starfighter indicated a rapid loss of engine oil was occurring. Immediately, he selected afterburner, completed all necessary procedures, and began a high speed return to the base. The control tower was advised of the emergency, all traffic was cleared from the traffic pattern, and Capt. Kruslyak successfully completed the landing. Though complete engine failure was imminent, the professional actions of Capt. Kruslyak resulted in the safe recovery of a $2 million aircraft. This thorough knowledge of the aircraft and its systems has earned him the "We Point With Pride" Award. He became the fourth member of the 331st FIS to earn the coveted award in 21 months.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Sultry Weather Keeps Most Pilots Grounded

By JERRY MONSON
Sultry temperatures kept most pilots down at the Howard County Airport this week. Everyone agreed it was too hot for anything, including flying. Howard Loyd reported about 20 transient pilots in, several of them gassing up, among them officials from the W. R. Grace Co. in a Beechcraft Baron, and representatives of the J&J Cattle Co., Idalou. The latest word from Dr. F. W. Lurting on Signal Mountain Soaring Society activities is that official demonstrations and most of the club activity will get into the swing hopefully around Aug. 7. The club is in the process of installing a runway and drumming up flying enthusiasts to participate in all activities. It was a busy week for pilot testing and re-testing. Robert Lebkowsky and Don Loyd both received word that each had passed his commercial-license written test and both are getting in shape for their practicals. Several charters were scheduled for Big Spring Aircraft this week, among them one to Fort Worth. Pat Petosky, who never stays on the ground, it seems, was off again this week to McComb, Miss., on a charter, and Don Loyd will go after Big Spring Aircraft's recently purchased Cherokee in the near future. Fred Kasch flew one of Big Spring Aircraft's planes to Dallas, and Elmer Giles and D. R. Bates were also up. Frank Hardy recently picked up his private license. Up in the Cessnas of Big Spring Flying Club were Don Baker and Ray White. The Howard County Flying Club Cherokees got a workout with Joe Dawes, Robert Lebkowsky, Mike Moore, Mrs. Fay Reed and Keith Swin.

lines can make connections with most of the airlines that are not involved in the airline strike for anyone needing airline transportation. Webb Aero Club planes were busy this week with several club members taking vacations. Jack Zygnor and his family have just returned from a trip to the Okie country; Dwight Campbell recently returned from Miami, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green left with the 172 for a week's trip to northern Arkansas; Tom Thomas and his family have returned from the Kentucky hills where they tried to do some fishing, but said the weather was better suited for swimming. Rolando Tapia finished his solo and has been doing a lot of training lately; Henry Broom was up for his first flight recently. Up in the 159s during the week were Carl Schwiier, Page Sparks, Tom Thomas, John Metcalf, Bob Brown, Bob Chilgreen, Lee Turner, Norman Pederson, John Vucci and Phil Brown.

LONG TRAIL AHEAD
Youth Horsemen mount up for ride to Burns Valley
MODERN CONVENIENCES

Young Horsemen Go On The Trail

Twelve miles of trail riding, a cowboy cookout under the stars, and more than 100 degrees of heat marked the Howard County Youth Horsemen trail ride Friday afternoon.

Sixty-three riders left the club arena at 4 p.m. and began riding south on US 87. The exodus had all the flavor of a Western adventure, but modern technology had a way of interjecting itself.

Rodney Hudson, 10, rode at one end of the caravan and used his walkie-talkie to keep his brother Mike, 14, posted on activities at the other end. Transistor radios were common, adding music to the outing.

Parents who didn't make the ride, occasionally, positioned themselves along the trail and handed out paper cups full of ice water to the riders.

The mercury indicated temperatures above 100 degrees, but no one seemed to be affected. A few braved the misery of the sun bare-headed, without the traditional 10-gallon hat. Several rode the 24 mile round-trip bareback. "It's actually easier and more comfortable than using a saddle," said one young man. "You get used to letting your body move with the rhythm of the horse's motion."

The group camped at Burns Valley, one mile south of For-san. Horses were turned into 10 acre traps, and after a meal that included hot dogs and ice cream, the campers pulled out bed rolls and turned in for the night. Parents and members of the Howard County Sheriff's posse joined the riders to bring the group total to 125 persons.

Amid guitar-playing cowboys and flickering campfires, civilization still managed to show itself. Many parents brought campers to sleep in, and water and electricity were available at a mobile home nearby. Two member physicians and their families made the ride, insuring medical safety for the riders.

The next morning the group broke camp, policed the area, and left Burns Valley at 8 o'clock to make the 12 mile ride back to the club arena, located two miles south of Big Spring on the Garden City highway.

The Youth Horsemen Club is a self-contained organization, managed by two presidents and a senior guiding committee. Gary Airhart heads the junior riders, and R. G. Click the seniors. The adult steering committee is composed of John E. (Fuzz) Minnick, Bill Kuykindahl and Kenneth Williams.

Reynolds said he hopes both sides will note the comment Saturday by President Johnson in an Indianapolis speech that the freedom to bargain collectively also involves a duty to bargain responsibly.

"We will keep trying because of the tremendous national interest," Reynolds said of the strike against five airlines by 35,000 machinists of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists. The grounding of the planes is crippling 60 per cent of U.S. air traffic and piling up millions of dollars in losses daily.

Reynolds said company and union negotiators would be called back into session at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Air Transport Strike Talks Get Nowhere

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal spokesman reported "no progress whatsoever" Saturday toward settling the 16-day-old airline strike. Union and management negotiators blamed each other for the impasse.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said that if any other industry were involved, he would be prepared to declare that "nothing could be done," but that the heavy public interest involved demands that "we keep trying, trying and trying."

Reynolds said he hopes both sides will note the comment Saturday by President Johnson in an Indianapolis speech that the freedom to bargain collectively also involves a duty to bargain responsibly.

Pioneer Of Area Dies In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. Nella S. Flaniken, 79, died Saturday morning in the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Lubbock after a lengthy illness.

She was born June 13, 1887, in Hamilton. She was a member of a pioneer West Texas family.

Services will be held in the First Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. Monday with the Rev. E. D. Landreth officiating. Interment will be in the Lamesa Memorial Park.

Mrs. Flaniken was a member of the Methodist Church and served as pianist for 17 years.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joe Ripple, Boulder, Colo., Miss Jonell Flaniken, and Mrs. Fred M. Flaniken; two sisters, Mrs. Geneva Robinson, Fort Worth; Miss Schul Merrell, Colorado City; and three grandchildren.

Borden County Woman Dies Here

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. H. E. Bennett, 79, widow of a pioneer Borden County rancher, died Saturday night in Bennett House in Big Spring after an illness of some time.

Services will be in Dorward Methodist Church in Gall and interment will be in the Gall Cemetery. Her grandsons will serve as pallbearers. Time is to be announced by Bronon-Phillips Funeral Home.

Mrs. Bennett was a member of the Methodist Church.

Her survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Roland Hamilton, Lamesa; Mrs. Vick Allison, Loving, N.M.; Mrs. Gene Elliot, Hobbs, N.M.; and Mrs. Virgil Clark, Del Rio; two sons, Milton Bennett, Denton; and Willis Bennett, Houston; 12 grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Windows Broken At Drive-In

Cecil Faulkner, operator of Four-Star Drive Inn, San Angelo Highway, told police Saturday that two plate glass windows were broken out of the concession stand Friday.

James Worthan, 1212 Mulberry, reported two hubcaps stolen from his car Saturday while it was parked in the south parking lot of Goliad Junior High School.

Mrs. Mitchell Dies

Mrs. Lula Virginia Mitchell died at 1:40 a.m. Saturday in a local hospital. Arrangements are pending at Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home. Mrs. Mitchell has one surviving cousin, Mrs. Nola Smitherman, Hot Springs, Ark., who was due in Big Spring late Saturday.

John R. Weaver, Lamesa Rancher, Dies Saturday

John Roderick Weaver, 84, long time Lamesa rancher and farmer, died at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

He was born August 19, 1881, in Sulphur Springs, and moved to Dawson County in 1902 where he bought the A-Bar Ranch eight miles Northwest of Lamesa.

Mr. Weaver's father was the late F. M. Weaver, a pioneer rancher in Indian territory in Oklahoma.

Services will be Monday at 10 a.m. in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Walter Horn officiating. Interment will be in the Resthaven Mausoleum in Lubbock.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Gus S. Junis, and a son, Bill Weaver, both of Lamesa.

Branon-Phillips Funeral Home is in charge of services.

Police Record Minor Mishaps

Four minor accidents were recorded by local police Saturday. There were no injuries.

Involved were the cars of Cecil Wayne Clemmer, 2712 Cindy Lane, and Dolores V. Chavez, 503 NE 10th, at North-east Second and Benton; the cars of Eddie Glenn Kemp, Eunice, N.M., and A. Owen Harris, OK Trailer Court, at Fourth and Gregg; the cars of Raye Nell Dyer, 1500 Thorpe, and Robert S. Ross Jr., 907 N. Gregg, at Lamesa Drive and North Gregg; and the cars of Raymond S. Will Seek Way To Curb Interest War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee will agree Monday on an interest ceiling and other provisions to dampen interest-hiking competition between banks and savings and loan associations, Chairman Wright Patman said Saturday.

The Texas Democrat said there is a consensus within the committee on a limit of 4.5 per cent on deposits up to $100,000 placed for a definite time with commercial banks. The plan also would include authorization for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to set interest ceilings for savings and loan deposits, but no figure was specified.

A spokesman for Republican members of the committee, who are outnumbered 22 to 11 by Democrats, said the minority has not been invited to any sessions to reach a consensus.

The banking committee reconvenes Monday for another try at finding a legislative remedy for the competition which is one aspect of an over-all tight money problem. Some members of Congress and spokesmen for the building industries have predicted a recession unless more construction financing is made available.

The committee wrestled with the interest competition problem during most of June and recessed after adopting a resolution urging the Federal Reserve Board to act within 30 days, which have now expired.

Patman said the consensus plan includes:

- A 4.5 per cent ceiling on certificates of deposit and other time deposits in banks up to $100,000. Above that figure the 5.5 per cent limit set by the Federal Reserve in December would continue to apply. Moreover, outstanding certificates could be renewed at their current rates.
- Authorization for the Federal Reserve Board to raise the reserve requirements on deposits from the present 6 per cent maximum to 10 per cent.
- Authorization for Federal Home Loan Bank Board ceilings on interest paid by insured savings and loan associations. There is now no direct control.
- Authorization for the Federal Reserve to put more money into the housing loan market by purchasing Federal Home Loan Bank Board and Federal National Mortgage Association obligations on request of the secretary of the treasury and secretary of housing.

Man Suffers Wound From Gun Shot

A Northside man was in good condition at Cowper Clinic and Hospital late Saturday following a shooting in the 500 block of North Lamesa Drive early Saturday, officers said.

Doctors Saturday afternoon removed what city detective Ruben Gonzales said was a .22 calibre slug from the back of Joe Martinez, 507 N. Lancaster. Officers said that about 12:51 a.m., they were helping a motorist change a flat tire when they heard a salvo of five shots in quick succession, followed by several more reports.

As a patrol car moved on North Scurry and turned west on Northwest Fifth, police said a man came running to the car saying he had heard shots and had seen two men run up an alley from Northwest Fifth between North Scurry and North Gregg. Then came a radio report about two men lying in a woman's yard at 605 N. Scurry. As patrolmen pulled up to the house, a man ran across the lot. Officers stopped the man, later identified as Estansio S. Dominguez. He told officers he was frightened, then led them to where Martinez was lying wounded by a fence. He was taken to Cowper.

Detective Gonzales said several 22 hulls were found on the scene. Investigation continued late Saturday, pending the availability of Martinez for questioning.

J. R. Morrow Death Victim

Johnnie R. Morrow, 56, meat cutter, died in a local hospital at 2:27 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital following an illness of two weeks. He had been hospitalized a week.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Officiating will be the Rev. Eldon Cook, assisted by the Rev. Paris Barton of the Westside Baptist Church. Interment will take place in Trinity Memorial Park.

Born Nov. 17, 1909, in Raines County, Texas, Morrow moved to Big Spring from East Texas, in December, 1929.

He worked for Piggly-Wiggly here from 1951 to 1960, Bell's Grocery for one year and at Bollinger's Grocery from 1961 until May of this year, when he retired due to failing health. He was a member of the Westside Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sisters, Ora Morrow, Big Spring, and Mrs. May Gamble, Texas, and three brothers, L. E. Morrow, Beckley, Va.; D. D. Morrow, Texas, and O. C. Morrow, Big Spring.

Pallbearers will be Junior Hubbard, Tommy Hubbard, Bob Spier, Roy Deel, Bill Gilbert and Elmer Rainey.

Mrs. Quintela Is Taken By Death

Mrs. Juana S. Quintela, 70, 205 NE 6th, died at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in a local hospital following an illness of three months. Mrs. Quintela had moved here from Radford a short time ago.

Born in Shafter, March 29, 1896, Mrs. Quintela had lived most of her life in Radford.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Monday in Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Father James DeJanelle officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery under direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors include the husband, Pablo, of Big Spring; three sons, Enrique, Daniel, both of Odessa, and Manuel Quintela, Midland; three daughters, Mrs. Manuel Cervantes, Big Spring, Mrs. Paula Garcia, Artesia, N. M., and Mrs. Josefa Garcia, Radford; two brothers, Narciso Sanches, Marfa, California; Sanches, Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. Pilar Aquire, Marfa, Getreres Sanches, Odessa; 24 grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

Final Rites Said Saturday For Ira Driver

Rites were held Saturday at 10 a.m. for Ira J. Driver, a leading figure here for decades in ranching, business and civic activities. He died Thursday in a local hospital.

Mr. Driver had been a resident of Big Spring since 1921, having operated a ranch in Glasscock County for some years prior to that. His wife died last April 26.

Services were at the First Methodist Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Leo Gee, officiating. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Wayne Burleson, Dr. Clyde Thomas, Jimmy Taylor, Adolph Swartz, Doris Blissard, George Weeks, Jim Bob Chaney, Harry Middleton and Champ Rainwater.

Marvin Ferguson Dies Of Attack

Marvin E. Ferguson, 54, 2509 Goliad, was found dead in his motel room in Sulphur Springs Saturday morning after he apparently suffered a heart attack.

He was a concrete contractor for many years and was doing some work on a Gibson Discount store at Sulphur Springs.

He moved to Big Spring in 1951 from Perryton. He was a member of the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Mr. Ferguson is survived by his wife, Beth Ferguson; two sons, Duane Ferguson, Anaheim, Calif., and Darrell Ferguson, Perryton; one stepson, Duane McRorey, Dallas; one brother, Ernest Ferguson, Sweetwater; one sister, Mrs. Bill Holliday, Hamford, Calif.; and five grandchildren.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Launch Crews Look To Gemini 11 Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Launch crews pushed ahead Saturday with preparations to launch Gemini 11 on Sept. 9 while the Gemini 10 astronauts continued extensive debriefing sessions with technical specialists.

The Gemini 10 pilots, Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins, returned to Cape Kennedy Friday after a three-day flight which was hailed by space agency officials as one of the most successful in the U.S. man-in-space program.

As they arrived, an Air Force-Martin Co. team was erecting a Titan 2 for Gemini 11 on launch pad 19.

During their 17,500-mile-an-hour trip, the astronauts caught and linked with one Agena and used its powerful engine to fly to a record altitude of 476 miles; rendezvoused with a second Agena, and recorded two space excursions by Collins, including a stroll over to the second Agena.

Gemini 11 will further exploit what has been learned by the eight two-man Gemini flights that have been conducted. The crew will be all-Navy: Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., veteran of Gemini 5, and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr.

Like Gemini 10, it will be a three-day mission and calls for a hookup with an Agena within an hour after launching. The astronauts may use the Agena engine to fly to as high as 850 miles, and Gordon plans at least one space walk.

Gemini 12, scheduled Oct. 31, will complete the Gemini program. There is a possibility its launching might be changed so that the astronauts, Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., can attempt a rendezvous with the first three-man Apollo ship, scheduled for an earth orbit flight of up to 14 days starting Nov. 15.

The Apollo crew will be Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Rogers B. Chaffee.

Only Four Try For Road-e-o Awards

There were four winners in the Safe Driving Road-e-o conducted by the Big Spring Jaycees Saturday afternoon — that is how many participants there were — four.

Jaycees all week had anticipated at least 20 participants, possibly 40. Four came.

Tommy Taroni, 2330 Brent, took first place; Jerry Tate, 1203 Stanford, and Larry Candler, 2511 W. 15th, were second and third place winners, with Mollie Condron, Forsan, winning first in the girls' division. Each also got a participation badge.

Participants took a written test involving practical problems in driving, and then exercised a series of driving maneuvers designed to demonstrate skill at the wheel. The "obstacle course" consisted of parallel parking, driving with a wheel between two sets of rubber balls, set just wider than the tread, and getting the car out of a narrow "driveway" made of poles.

Local police acted as judges for the contest, which was sponsored by Jaycees and Truman Jones Lincoln - Mercury automotive agency. It took place at the First Baptist Church parking lot.

Tricky Test
Officials look on as contestant tries, unsuccessfully, to drive between two tread-spaced rows of rubber balls at the Safe Driving Road-e-o Saturday afternoon.

THE WEEK

the chairman and Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater is the secretary. Interested persons have been invited to contact Dickson if they wish to testify.

The community lost some fine people, one way or another. Don Robbins resigned as High School football coach after four seasons, to join the athletic staff of Texas Western. Don had built up a devoted following, not only as a winning coach, but as a fine influence on boys. And David Tarbet goes to a church in Danbury, Conn., after having served as minister of the Anderson Street Church of Christ for five years.

Death removed from the ranks of our solid citizens Ira Driver, a highly-esteemed resident for 45 years. Ira was almost automatically associated with the Big Spring Rodeo, which he helped organize, and with the Rotary Club, whose monies he guarded carefully as the club's perennial treasurer. Other senior citizens to pass on were C. C. Brown, and Charlie West, the latter a colored man who had served as yard helper at many homes.

A new county agent was announced. Paul Gross, who has been in Gaines County, will take over the job which Herb Helbig resigned. And Sands School got itself a new coach, J. Blake, who resigned at Forsan.

The last weekend was a busy one for some people. The city swimming pool literally swarmed with some 250 youngsters from more than a dozen towns, competitors in a highly successful YMCA swim meet. And the Signal Mountain Soaring Society really got off the ground with its first demonstrations Sunday. Look for the sail-plane crowd to grow fast and enthusiastically.

Cosden announced promotions in its engineering department with tried and true veterans being moved up. E. B. McCormick was advanced to engineering manager, W. D. (Slim) Broughton became chief engineer, and E. H. Boullion Jr. assistant chief engineer.

The city had a "fringe" benefit for its employees, adopting a new health and accident insurance program, which can be nothing less than helpful.

The city also wound up another phase of street seal coating, putting new topping on some 36 streets. Meanwhile the parks board decided to re-name the various parks after historical personages in the city, and is now open to suggestions. If you want to submit an idea, send a letter to Mrs. H. W. Smith. The committee wants it in writing.

People who keep hoping that the T&P won't be permitted to abandon its last passenger trains through here took cheer from a decision of the Texas Railroad Commission that hearings on the proposition will be held in Big Spring, Fort Worth and El Paso. Previously, Austin had been the location. There will be some arguments presented.

And Judge Ralph Caton served notice that he is going to clean up his court docket of old, dormant cases. There are scores of them, and attorneys and principals must give cause that they will pursue the action, or out it goes.

Howard County Junior College continued to flex its muscles. Registration for the summer term's second half showed an increase. There is due to be another in the fall.

Perhaps the luckiest man around last week was Charles Leon Oliver, who leaped when his big transport truck went out of control on the interstate, crashed through a rail and fell 15 feet. Oliver escaped with minor hurts, while the vehicle was a total loss.

Scientists Study Space Pictures, Miss The 'Walk'

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Technicians Saturday processed over 800 feet of movies and 360 still photographs taken by the Gemini 10 astronauts during three historic days aloft but failed to find any pictures of Michael Collins' walk in space.

Command pilot John W. Young had said he should have gotten "some great pictures" because he aimed a 16-mm color movie camera directly at Collins as he strolled for about half an hour Wednesday.

But National Aeronautics and Space Administration film coordinator Les Gavier said Saturday that for some unexplained reason not a single frame of the walk could be found. Several feet turned out blank, he added. "We told John about it," Gavier said, "and he's as amazed as we are."

Navy Cmdr. Young and Air Force Maj. Collins splashed back to earth Thursday after a record flight that included chases after two separate Agena rockets in the world's first dual rendezvous in orbit. They flew to Cape Kennedy, Fla., Friday to tell officials of their flight.

Five Injured As Tank Explodes

LA FERIA, Tex. (AP)—Five persons suffered injuries Saturday when an ammonia tank at an ice cream plant exploded in this Lower Rio Grande Valley town.

The blast occurred at the Graham Ice Cream Co. plant.

The injured were Charles Graham Jr., Gregg Roland, Luz Gomez, Valentino Noyola and Tom Mills, all of La Feria.

Gavier said Collins and Young had brought back "360 excellent stills, beautiful 70-mm color," plus the movies that showed general views of earth and clouds, and the rendezvous and linkup with an Agena rocket. Some of the pictures were released to newsmen at the Manned Space Center.

Gavier noted that Young and Collins had two photographic problem areas. One of the two movie cameras on board did not work — the one that would have been mounted by Collins on top of the spacecraft as he left to go outside. And Collins lost a 70-mm still camera he had used for several pictures during the walk.

Riots Dampen Support For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rioting in New York, Cleveland, Chicago and other cities is undermining support for civil rights legislation in Congress, sponsors agree privately.

Although they are reluctant to comment publicly on the matter, influential senators feel that resentment against the lawlessness that has swept Negro slums has built up resistance to enactment of any measure "at gun point," as one of them put it.

FROM BOBBY
For example, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., is telling friends that the disorders in Brooklyn have been very damaging to efforts to get legislative help of any kind for those penned up in the ghettos.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., still hopes that Congress will act on rights legislation. But he, too, concedes that the difficult road toward Senate approval is becoming more tortuous.

Javits and Kennedy have asked for action by the Community Relations Service to help deal with the New York situation.

Javits said in an interview the Johnson administration ought to act on an emergency basis to step up the antipoverty program which some Republican leaders have been criticizing.

"The quickest and most direct route to the Negro on the street is through the antipoverty program," Javits said.

PROMISED TOO MUCH
House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan contends that the Johnson administration "promised more than it could deliver in the antipoverty program and now is in a period of inaction on it that does nothing to alleviate the situation in the slums."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has taken the position that the civil rights bill offers big city Negroes few solutions to their problems.

He said a provision of the bill banning racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing — with some exceptions — "won't build any new housing that they need." Dirksen opposes that section of the measure.

Although President Johnson has urged citizens to refrain from violence and has pledged to do everything in his power to alleviate "evil conditions" in the cities, some members of Congress think he ought to do more.

Race Violence Stems From Despair Over Conditions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Rioting and arson have erupted this summer in Negro slums of a growing number of cities. Civil rights leaders are among those who fear more violence elsewhere. What causes the riots? Can they be diverted? A report.

By DON MCKEE
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—

Charred ruins of a white-owned grocery smoldered behind him. The Negro youth stared at the soldiers patrolling the street. His eyes smoldered.

"Who cares about us?" In digging beneath the ruins of racial peace in Cleveland and other cities, that question in one form or another occurs with regularity. It seems to embody much of the reasons for the violence that has enveloped Negro areas all the way from Omaha, Neb., to Pompano Beach, Fla.

The trigger to the violence can be almost anything. A policeman turning off a fire hydrant in Chicago. A tavern argument in Cleveland. An arrest in Watts.

LIVING CONDITIONS
But the Negroes crowded into slums do not talk about fire hydrants and tavern brawls in conversations about rioting or other disorders.

They talk about living conditions. They talk about garbage — uncollected garbage. Or high rents and inflated prices and better jobs. And the welfare check.

"The check is killing us," said a Negro man in Cleveland. The check supports the wife and children and robs the man of his manhood, he said.

"But jobs are available. 'Yeah, low-pay jobs, high prices, poor food, relief,' another Negro replied.

A Negro gang member in Chicago dangled his feet from a desk in the church that served as headquarters for civil rights groups fighting to clean up the slums.

BETTER JOBS
"We're interested in better jobs, recreational facilities," he said. "We don't want any damn sprinklers on a fire hydrant."

But it is not as simple as living conditions. It is the feeling of despair.

"I mean, we're a people lost inside a country," said Stokely Carmichael, the most militant chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee that has taken up the "black power" slogan.

"The magnitude of the simmering unrest, despair and tension has been exposed by the rioting, burning, looting and shooting that has flared in several major cities.

Slum conditions do not provide all the answers.

"GRAB FOR DREAMS"
"Negroes have long been chasing the dream of equality — and they're going to pursue it now by whatever means," said William Booth, chairman of the New York City Commission on Human Rights, in a recent speech.

"That's what black power means — grab for those dreams, put some money in my pocket, some food on my table and some dignity in my hand."

It was in August, 1963, when the march on Washington climaxed that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. urged, "We must not lose faith in our white brothers."

But when King joined in leading the Mississippi civil rights march of 1966, he saw that faith tottering badly among the new generation of Negroes.

"We are tired of white folks killing us," yelled Willie Ricks of SNCC from the hood of a car near Belzoni, Miss. "From now on, it's not gonna be all black blood. We going to get some of that white blood."

"NONVIOLENCE DEAD"
CORE's new director, Floyd McKissick, who joined the black power wing, said: "Nonviolence is dead. I can't sell nonviolence to nobody."

King has proposed a $100-billion, 10-year program to fight poverty, but he said, it can't be done while the United States is pouring its resources into the war.

Officials of Cleveland and Chicago have said they suspected outsiders were instigating violence. Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio, has said a congressional inquiry into the riots is in the making.

FEDERAL HELP
Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said Friday the federal government was ready to offer any assistance to help stop the riots. He said federal officials have been on the scene in trouble areas.

President Johnson voiced concern about the conditions in many large cities. He said he hoped every citizen would obey the law and not resort to violence.

In Indianapolis Saturday Johnson said rioting breeds tyranny and will boomerang against the rioters.

"Our country can abide civil protest," Johnson said. "It can improve the lives of those who mount that protest. But it cannot abide civil violence."

Bandits Sought After Big Robbery

BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Police say they have a sketchy description of three bandits and the name "Lennie" as apparently their only clues in the swift, smoothly executed holdup of the crew on a Brink's, Inc., armored truck at Mitre Corp.

The bandits, wearing rubber Halloween masks and carrying machine guns, struck shortly before noon Friday as the three-man crew delivered $131,000 in cash and $16,000 in checks to the electronics company.

Thomas Horrigan, Brink's assistant manager in Boston, said, "The whole operation took only 15 seconds."

Explosion Kills Seven Coal Miners

MOUNT HOPE, W.Va. (AP)—Seven coal miners were killed here Saturday in an explosion that jarred the Siltes Mine of the River Co. in southern West Virginia.

After five hours, rescue workers found the bodies of five miners about 1 1/2 miles from the entrance. The other two miners had been found earlier.

A New River Co. spokesman said he was not sure how long it would take to recover the remaining five bodies. Their identities were not released.

Identified as one of the earlier victims was Luke Bowyer of nearby Maple Fork.

A crowd of about 400 persons — some of them weeping women — crowded around the mine's entrance hoping for good news from the rescuers. But the rescuers reported to the surface that the remaining five were dead.

About 23 other miners were inside the mine when the blast occurred. They all escaped.

At least nine others were reported injured, either by the explosion or from breathing noxious fumes during the rescue operation. None was reported in serious condition.

Doctors Say Speck Able To Stand Trial

CHICAGO (AP)—Doctors say the man accused of slaying eight student nurses has not suffered a heart attack and will be able to go on trial.

Richard Speck, 24, has pericarditis—an inflammation of the sac surrounding the heart—and "is doing quite well," Dr. Sheldon Slodki, cardiologist at the Cermak Memorial (Birdwell) Hospital in the city jail, told a news conference Friday.

Doctors had said when Speck became ill several days ago that there was an 80 per cent chance he had suffered a heart attack.

Slodki said Speck's temperature was normal and his condition was "fine."

He said Speck would not be allowed on his feet until he has been free of fever for several days.

Speck, ex-convict and itinerant seaman born in Monmouth, Ill., and reared in Dallas, Tex., is charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind., one of eight South Chicago Community Hospital nurses and nursing students strangled and stabbed to death July 14 in the far South Side townhouse where they lived.

Prosecutors say he has not been officially charged with the other slayings for technical reasons.

Lawyer Convicted Of Subornation

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury convicted Asberry Butler Jr., 33, a Negro lawyer and Houston School Board member, of subornation Saturday.

The jury sentenced Butler to six years but recommended probation. Dist Judge Sam Davis imposed the sentence as recommended.

The jury convicted Butler of inducing and encouraging a client in a drunken driving case to lie to the trial jury in the hope of obtaining a suspended sentence.

Butler was indicted on the subornation charge Jan. 12. He was then free under $1,000 bond on a Dec. 13, 1965, indictment accusing him of felony theft from an insurance company.

He also was under another $1,000 bond on an indictment dated Nov. 24, 1965, accusing him of felony theft from another insurance company.

Both these indictments are related to settlements in auto accident claims. Neither has been brought to trial.

William Walsh, Butler's lawyer, said he will move for a new trial and if the motion is overruled, will carry the appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Butler said he will "stay on the school board until the case is won on appeal."

Butler is the second Negro to serve on the Houston School Board. He was elected in 1964 for a four year term.

Belfast Has Church Fights

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police braced Saturday night for possible new outbreaks of violence from Protestant extremists after clashing twice with angry mobs in 24 hours. A weekend police alert was in effect for this strife-torn capital.

The first clash occurred at midnight near the jail where the Rev. Ian Paisley, firebrand Protestant leader, is confined for refusing to pledge to keep the peace. Several persons were hurt and 16 arrested before police dispersed demonstrators trying to march on the jail.

Hours later, a second protest march on behalf of Paisley and two jailed Presbyterian colleagues got out of hand when about 100 youths, defying their leaders' appeals, broke away and tried to invade Catholic sections of the city.

When they broke through a cordon, police turned water hoses on them.

Al Geiberger Leads PGA; Wysong 2nd

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lean and hungry Al Geiberger, avoiding boogies as if they were a plague, grabbed a four-shot lead over dark-horse Dudley Wysong Saturday as the years finally took their toll of Sam Snead in the third round of the Professional Golfers Association championship.

This sent him spinning past the 54-year-old sentimental favorite, Snead, co-leader and leader through the first two rounds, and four big blows in front of the 27-year-old Wysong, a pro of three years playing in his first PGA, who shot the best round of the tournament — a 66 for 212.

Pennel Breaks World Pole Vault Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Pennel bettered the world record in the pole vault Saturday with a leap of 17 feet, 6 1/4 inches as a climax of the International Track and Field Games.

Most of the crowd remained to see the pole vault and Pennel, who will celebrate his 26th birthday Monday, made it on his third and last try.

Pennel's record first was announced at 17-4. When the bar was remeasured, however, the record height was found to be 17-6 1/4.

The 5-foot-10, 170-pound Pennel, whose muscular strength from the waist up, made his 17-6 1/4 on his third and final vault.

He tried at 17-9 but was never close in either attempt.

It broke the pending world mark of his roommate, Bob Seagren, who cleared 17-5 1/2 at Fresno, Calif., May 13, 1966.

The official listed world record of 17-4 was set by Fred Hansen of Rice, now retired, in the USA-USSR meet here July 25, 1964.

Earlier in the meet, Australian Ron Clarke won the 5,000-meter race, but his time of 13:28.4 failed to threaten his own world record of 13:16.6.

The 29-year-old champion, cheered on by 27,846 fans in Memorial Coliseum, took the lead from the outset and finished about 80 yards in front of Tracy Smith of the Pasadena Athletic Association, timed in 13:40.2.

The 5,000 meters was billed as the highlight of the two-day meet which replaced the USA-USSR affair, cancelled when the Russians bowed out 10 days ago.

Clarke is scheduled to run the 10,000 meters Sunday, and sensational Jim Ryun will aim at Peter Snell's world 800-meter record, as well as his own 880-yard record.

America's Art Walker broke his own triple jump record of 54-7 3/4, set a week ago, with a leap of 54-11.

The 400-meter relay ended in victory for the Australian team of Gary Eddy, Allan Crawley, Gary Holdsworth and Peter Norman, with a time of 40.1.

The U.S. team of George Anderson, Harold Busby, Tom Jones and Jim Hines managed to finish in 42.1 after the third man, Busby, pulled up with muscle injury. The American B team of George Gaines, Charlie Greene, Charles Mays and Adolph got in first in 40.1 but was disqualified because it was not an official entry.

Charlotte Cooke of Los Angeles bettered the American record for 880 and 800 meters in one of the feature races of an event run off in weather that was sunny and in the 80-degree range.

Eighteen-year-old Charlotte was timed in 2:03.8 for the 800 meters, bettering her own mark of 2:04.7 which she set at Berkeley, Calif., a week ago, and herational Jim Ryun set in Russia last year for 880 yards.

"I set the early pace because I wanted to run away from the other guys and give myself a chance at the record," Clarke said.

"But after five laps I knew it was too hot. I felt good today, and I thought I had a chance for the record," Clarke said.

Coliseum officials said the temperature was about 80 degrees on the floor of the stadium when the distance men took the track in late afternoon.

Could he have perhaps run faster at night?

Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles is now known as "Pancake" Palmer. The 26-year-old right hander lost only one of his last eight games, and that was the only time he hadn't eaten pancakes for breakfast. Sandwich And Wedge Get Credit For Lead At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A sandwich and a sand wedge helped skinny Al Geiberger shoot a 34-34-68 Saturday in the third round of the PGA Tournament and take a four-stroke lead into Sunday's final round.

Using a sand wedge given to him by a friend two years ago, Geiberger came out of five traps and one-putted once for a birdie and four times for par.

The sandwich part of Geiberger's game goes back to last year when he picked up the habit of munching peanut butter and jelly sandwiches while winning the American Golf Classic at the same Firestone Country Club course.

Saturday, Geiberger took one sandwich, cut into three parts, along with him. He ate one-third of the sandwich on the seventh hole and another third at the 11.

Jim Bunning Tames San Francisco, 8-0

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tony Taylor drove in four runs and Cookie Rojas knocked in three as Philadelphia whipped San Francisco 8-0 Saturday behind the three-hit pitching of Jim Bunning.

Bunning allowed only singles by pitcher Bob Bolin in the third inning, Willie Mays in the seventh and Hal Lanier in the eighth en route to his 10th victory — first, since June 28 — against seven defeats.

Rojas hit two homers while Taylor collected a homer and a double.

Rojas got the Phillies off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning with his first homer off Bolin. He connected off Bolin again in the fourth following Bill White's single and a walk to Clay Dalrymple.

The Phillies closed out their scoring with two runs in the eighth. Taylor drove in one run with a double and scored the other on Bunning's sacrifice fly.

Astros Lose To Pirates

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Mazeroski's run-scoring single climaxed a four-run rally in the eighth inning that carried Pittsburgh to a 4-3 victory over Houston Saturday night and increased the Pirates' National League lead to one game.

Bob Bruce blanked the Pirates on six hits until the eighth. Then with one out he walked Matty Alou, and pinch hitter Jerry Lynch doubled in the Pirates' first run.

Claude Raymond replaced Bruce, but Roberto Clemente singled pinch runner Gene Michael to third from where he scored on Sonny Jackson's error on an attempted force play on Willie Starvel's grounder.

One out later, Donn Clendenon singled Clemente home, and Mazeroski brought Starvel and another single, putting the Pirates ahead 4-3.

Jim Wynn drove in two of Houston's runs with a second-inning single and his 17th homer in the fifth.

The Astros also scored in the third as Rusty Staub led off with a triple and came home on John Bateman's sacrifice fly.

Frank's Blow Fells Chicago

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles got home runs from Frank Robinson and Sam Bowens, but they needed a run-scoring single by Paul Blair in the eighth inning for a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday night.

The victory, their seventh straight, increased the Orioles' American League lead to 1 1/2 games.

Eight-inning singles by Bowens, Bob Johnson and Blair increased the Orioles' lead to 5-2, but the run proved decisive when the White Sox struck for two runs in the ninth on a single by Bill Skowron and Jerry Adair's homer.

Bill Short had blanked the White Sox until the eighth when they scored two unearned runs with the help of Dave Johnson's error.

Bowens homered with none on in the fourth, and Robinson connected in the fifth after Short singled and Boog Powell walked.

The homer for Robinson was his 28th of the season and his sixth in the last six games. During that stretch Robinson has collected 14 hits in 23 at-bats for a .609 average.

Sinden Youngest In Hockey Loop

BOSTON (AP) — Harry Sinden, a defenseman who was unable to advance beyond the minor leagues as a player, is the youngest coach in the National Hockey League. Sinden, who will be 34 on Sept. 14, will take over the Boston Bruins, the youngest team in the NHL, next season.

Webb, Gage Reopen Baseball Tourney

It'll take a heap of doing by either Webb AFB or the Big Spring Oilers but the NBC District Baseball tournament could continue on through Monday night.

Odessa's Drillers are the only undefeated club still in the meet, which started last Sunday. In order for the tournament to continue beyond today, either Webb or Gage will have to win two straight games today.

Webb and Gage reopen the tournament at 1 p.m. on the Webb diamond. The winner then squares off with the undefeated Drillers at about 3:30 p.m.

Carl Schmidt will likely pitch for Webb against Gage while the Oilers will counter with Bobby Suggs (1-1).

The Webb team will be under the management of Lee Fisher. Jim (Boom-Boom) Baum is the Oilers' pilot.

If Gage should win two straight games today, Baum plans to come back with Chubby Moser as his pitcher Monday. Hank Pope, one of the Oilers' hurlers, is ill and his doctor has advised complete rest for a while.

Don Finkenbinder, who has been playing first base for the Oilers, probably won't be available today, either. He'll be replaced by Tommy McAdams.

There is a possibility that Odessa, which beat Snyder and Webb in that order last Sunday, will have Harlan Hinds available for the rest of the tournament. Hinds recently drew his release from the Cincinnati Reds' organization.

Winner of the tournament becomes eligible to take part in the State meet, which opens July 30 in Lubbock. The champion there goes to the National tournament in Wichita, Kansas.

Astros Prosper, Despite Critics' Dire Forecasts

Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's venture into big league baseball not only has confounded its critics by being successful but by producing that sensation of sports—the Astrodome.

A progress report shows that each now is on a profitable basis and that baseball is a year ahead of expectations.

Five years ago Houston was in the midst of the hoopla attendant to the start of major league baseball.

Veteran observers said Houston had launched what would be a sad experience.

Money would be lost in gobs as soon as the novelty wore off. That should be only about a year. Then, if there wasn't a winning ball club to hold the interest, big league baseball would become a drug on the local market.

It was an established fact that a big league ball club couldn't be developed within a year, especially when the club had to start from scratch—use the cast-offs of the established clubs.

There were millions of mosquitoes and stifling heat to be fought in the temporary stadium, a $2-million layout built as a stop-gap to the big stadium that was under construction only about a mile away. Mosquitoes and heat are standard for summer in this city near the Gulf of Mexico.

But it was figured that if there could be an average of 13,000 fans to go with the million or so dollars worth of tickets sold in advance, at least the club might split even its first year.

It didn't make it because 924,456 paid admissions were recorded and that was 1,500 less per game than 13,000. The club finished ahead of only the bumbling New York Mets in the National League.

For three years Houston struggled down around the cellar and home attendance dipped near 700,000. The Colts, as they were known in those days, were losing money and the novelty of being in the major leagues was wearing mighty thin.

However, over near the temporary ball park a giant dome was sprouting on the dusty prairie. In the fourth year of baseball operation, the Astrodome opened its doors.

It was breath-taking, this $38 million structure. Everything was designed for comfort and entertainment.

The county built it with revenue bonds, but the man who drove it through—a man of indomitable energy and controversy—was Judge Roy Hofheinz.

Big, square-jawed; given perhaps to pomposity, Judge Hofheinz is a frustrated baseball player but a man successful in politics and a businessman extraordinary.

A boyhood friend of the judge said the best appellation for Hofheinz would be "the Barnum of sports." He's a promoter and showman to rival the circus king.

BS-Born Jack Spikes Now In Investment Business

Jack Spikes, the 1959 T.C.U. All-American, has announced his retirement from pro football to join the investment firm of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis in Dallas.

Spikes, who played AF football in Dallas, Kansas City and Houston, will become a registered representative after completion of the brokerage firm's Dallas training program and nine-week investment course in New York, according to R. T. Carlson, Dallas Resident Manager of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis.

Last season Spikes alternated with Charlie Tolar at offensive fullback for the Houston Oilers. This spring he sold his contracting interest in Jack Spikes, Inc., an oil field construction firm in Levelland.

A 1956 graduate of Snyder High School, Spikes was selected as an All-American halfback in his last season at Texas Christian, 1959, where he received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

A first draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Denver Broncos, he signed with Denver and was traded to the Dallas Texans where he played from '60 through '62, moving with the club to Kansas City for the 1963-64 seasons. Selected by the New Miami Dolphins off the Houston roster in January, Spikes elected this week to retire from pro football.

Spikes was born in Big Spring. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spikes, now live in Snyder.

Harvey Selected As Cisco Coach

CISCO—James Harvey, football coach at Roby last season, has been named head basketball and assistant football coach at Cisco High School.

Manning Davis recently became head football coach of the Lobos. Harvey is a native of Sweetwater and a graduate of McMurry College. He formerly was a junior high coach in Lubbock.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Miner Coach Sold On System Here

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring's Dick Irons, now up to 260, will open the 1966 football season as starting right tackle on defense for SMU while another former local player, Don White, will be playing directly behind middle guard John LaGrone on defense for the Mustangs.

White now weighs 215, compared to the 180 he carried while a star linebacker here.

Ernest Hawkins lavishly praises his 1966 East Texas State backfield as the finest backfield he has ever coached.

One of the boys he is counting on most is Big Spring's Benny Kirkland.

He gives Benny a slight edge to start over Jimmy Adams and John Gibbons, although Kirkland is the smallest of the three.

The heir apparent to Luz Pedraza as the Sul Ross College quarterback is Cotton Barnes (160), who is a better runner than he is a passer.

Pedraza was not very fast but he could throw the ball.

Vernon Marlar, the White Deer running ace who did much to beat down Coahoma in the 1965 playoffs, is being rated on the Texas Football Magazine's super team for '66, which means he is regarded as the best of his class in all divisions.

Jim Puryear, the Cisco College mentor, uses what he calls the "Quail-T" offense, explaining it thusly: "snap the ball and watch 'em scatter."

Although Tom Wilson last season set every Texas Tech total offense record, he never scored a touchdown his senior year.

Big Spring's Linda Cathey won three thirds, a fourth and a fifth in that AAU Swim Meet at Austin last week and showed improvement in her times, but again expressed disappointment in her performances.

She was in against some of the nation's best talent, too.

She was to compete in the Junior Olympics at Fort Worth yesterday.

Willie Gaines, a Henderson County JC cage star last season, was supposed to transfer to the University of Oklahoma on full scholarship but was unable to meet OU's entrance requirements.

BOBBY DOBBS

Bobby Dobbs, head coach at Texas Western College (now officially known as University of Texas at El Paso), and Big Spring's Don Robbins didn't even know each other before Robbins was offered a coaching job on the Miner staff.

Dobbs, however, was deeply impressed with the finished ball players Robbins and his staff turned out who later joined TWC — among them Charley West, Thurman (Big Daddy) Randle and Buster Barnes.

Robbins genuinely disliked the thought of leaving here, principally because he felt there was still work to be done and because of the splendid attitude of the boys who will be making up the local team for the next two or three seasons.

Their approach to the problems and their mein has never been better around here.

This has been the first summer since Don arrived on the scene that there hasn't been at least one incident involving a local athlete which reflected discredit on the school and the program.

The boys, too, seem eager to start the season.

Incidentally, West turned down a $20,000 bonus arrangement with the Philadelphia Phillies in order to continue his school work at TWC.

He has two more years of eligibility with the Miners, both in football and baseball, and it is generally agreed among members of the coaching staff that the Big Springer is the best athlete on the El Paso school's campus.

When James Blake, who quit as a coach at Forsan recently to take the head grid job at Sands High, was in his second season of basketball at Daniel Baker College, one of his team-mates was Joe Moring, now high school principal at Fort Stockton.

They're going to raise the prize money of the 1967 Odessa Pro-Am to at least $25,000.

And in next year's tournament over there, no qualifying rounds will be held — only those invited will take part.

Local athletes have been invited to participate in the daily workouts of that Odessa-Midland entry in the new semi-pro football league.

The club engages in daily drills in the Blackshear stadium in Odessa at 6 o'clock each evening.

Traded Players May Beat Giants Out Of Pennant

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Successful with home grown products on their current club, the San Francisco Giants face a continuing threat of being knocked out of a pennant by players they've dealt away in the market place.

At the All-Star break, the top ten batters in the National League included no present San Francisco player, but showed three ex-Giants — Manny Mota and Matty Alou of Pittsburgh in the first two spots at .352 and .338, and Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis at .319.

Each had been responsible for victories over San Francisco, which held a one-game league lead at that point over Pittsburgh. So had Felipe Alou, now of Atlanta, who had hit 20 home runs, the same total posted by Willie Mays and Jim Hart of the Giants.

On the other hand, San Francisco sent six players to the All-Star squad, more than any other team, and all six are products of the Giants' farm system. So, in fact, were Mota, the two Alous and Cepeda.

Should San Francisco win the pennant, the Giants might well face another ex-mate in the World Series. Stu Miller anchors the relief pitching corps for the Baltimore Orioles.

Major league rosters list 37 former Giants, including Bob Shaw, the pitcher who was 1-4 with San Francisco when sold on June 10 and then won four straight for the New York Mets.

Even the American League top ten includes a former Giant — Jose Cardenal of the California Angels.

When the Giants won the National League pennant in 1962, much credit went to the preceding winter's trade which brought veteran pitchers Billy Pierce and Don Larsen to San Francisco from the Chicago White Sox.

Given up were relief pitcher Eddie Fisher, a 1965 All-Star selection, right-handed hurler Don Zanni, and outfielder Bob Farley.

Pierce posted a 16-6 record in 1962. After the next season, he retired. Larsen, who was 5-4 the pennant year, was sold to Houston in '64. He's now back in Giant livery with the Phoenix farm club.

Starting with the pennant winners of 1962, Jack Sanford posted a 24-7 record. He came in a 1958 trade which sent long-forgotten catcher Valmy Thomas and pitcher Ruben Gomez to Philadelphia. Jack left in 1965, sold to the Angels.

The Giants, who have followed a pattern of seeking pitchers in their trading, haven't come up with deals to match those two in recent years.

One this past winter put Lindy McDaniel in the Giants' bullpen and helped. The veteran reached the midway point with a 6-3 record. He and utility outfielder Don Landrum came from the Chicago Cubs for pitcher Bill Hanks and catcher Randy Hundley.

Hands stood 5-7 at All-Star time with the last place Cubs while Hundley was hitting .252 with 10 homers.

Matty Alou proved a spark-plug for the 1962 pennant drive. He spent part of the 1963 season farmed out to Tacoma and then hit only .264 and .231 with the Giants the next two years.

He went to Pittsburgh in trade for Joe Gibbon as the Giants sorely needed left-handed pitching. Gibbon hasn't filled the bill, with only a 3-5 record at the midway point.

The deals which sent Felipe Alou to the Braves and Miller to Baltimore are best discussed in Candlestick Park whispers.

On Dec. 3, 1963, Alou went to the Braves, then in Milwaukee, along with pitcher Billy Hoelt, catcher Ed Bailey and infielder Ernie Bowman for hurlers Shaw and Bob Hendley plus catcher Del Crandall. None of the three remain with the Giants.

They received cash for Shaw in the Mets deal and value from him in 1965 as a 16-9 performer. Hendley went to the Cubs along with Harvey Kuenn and Bailey for catcher Dick Bertell, now in the minors, and outfielder Len Gabrielson, who alternates in San Francisco's left field.

Crandall was traded to Pittsburgh for pitcher Bob Priddy and outfielder Bob Burda in Feb., 1965. Priddy spent the 1965 season in the minors. This season, as the Giants' middle infield reliever, Bob represents a return on investment with a 3-0 mark in 21 appearances.

On July 8, Burda was recalled to San Francisco from Phoenix. To explain how Bailey was traded away twice, he had come back to the Giants from the Braves on Feb. 1, 1965, in exchange for pitcher Billy O'Dell. The latter now hurfs for the Pittsburgh Pirates as a top reliever with a 2.47 earned-run average.

Owner Horace Stoneham must shudder every time he meets Miller, who lived in the San Francisco area during the off-season. Little Stu, right-handed pitcher Mike McCormick and catcher John Orsino went to Baltimore on Dec. 15, 1962, in exchange for pitchers Hoelt and Jack Fisher and catcher Jim Coker.

Hoelt, Fisher and Coker are gone, too.

Fisher went to the Mets in the special National League draft of 1963 after posting only a 6-10 record that season with the Giants. Hoelt hurt his shoulder in a spring training fall and didn't show much before being traded in the Felipe Alou transaction.

Coker was traded to St. Louis at the end of the season for Ken McKenzie, a left-handed pitcher whose stay in San Francisco proved similarly brief.

Tribe Rallies To Turn Back Tigers, 6-5

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Whitfield slammed a two-run homer in the seventh inning, bringing Cleveland a 6-5 victory over Detroit and ending the Indians' four-game losing streak.

Whitfield's blow, off reliever Hank Aguirre, followed Ray Oyler's error on Chuck Hinton's grounder and wiped out Detroit's 5-4 lead.

The Tigers, aided by a throwing error by Larry Brown, jumped off to a four-run lead in the first inning. Norm Cash's double drove in the first run, Mickey Stanley's grounder with the bases loaded scored another, and when Brown threw toward first trying to make it a double play, the ball bounced into the stands. Willie Horton and Cash raced home.

Cleveland starting John O'Donoghue, surviving the tough start, blanked the Tigers over the next four innings while his mates were narrowing the gap.

Three Are Added To Texas Team

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Three more Texas schoolboys were named Saturday for the annual Oil Bowl football game with Oklahoma at Midwestern University stadium Aug. 19.

Selected by coaches of the Texas team, Bob Baccarini and Bill Miller, were halfback Mike Myers of Palestine, center Bill Bridges of R. L. Turner High of Carrollton and tackle Robert Lee Hall of Port Neches-Groves.

Their selection brings to five the number picked for the 24-man squad.

Bridges and Hall, both 6-foot-2 and weighing 225 pounds, plan to attend the University of Houston. Myers was a 9.7-second sprinter and gained more than 1,000 yards rushing his senior year.

Bob Gibson Wins, 4-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Gibson pitched a six-hit shutout and drove in the first run of the game in the eighth inning as St. Louis beat Chicago 4-0 Saturday.

The triumph was the sixth in a row for the Cardinals and the ninth in their last 11 games.

Gibson, sidelined for two weeks with a strained elbow, outdueled veteran Robin Roberts, who gave up five hits in the eight innings he worked.

Phil Gagliano singled in the eighth, was bunted to second and went to third on Dal Maxvill's long fly to center. Gibson then drove him in.

Gibson scored on Curt Flood's single over second base.

Sandy Koufax Wins 17th Verdict Behind Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax scattered eight hits for his 17th victory Saturday as the Los Angeles Dodgers snapped the New York Mets' seven-game winning streak 6-2.

Koufax, who has lost five games, had to struggle even though the Dodgers managed to five runs in the first three innings. Maury Wills drove Met starter and loser Bob Shaw, 7-9, from the mound with a two-run single in the second inning.

Koufax walked five, struck out seven and threw the unusually high total of 168 pitches.

Singles by Jim Barbieri and Wills, a sacrifice fly by Willie Davis and a wild pitch by Shaw gave the Dodgers two runs in the first inning.

Wills' two-run single in the second inning followed a single by John Kennedy and a double by Nate Oliver. In the third, Lou Johnson singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Oliver.

Koufax lost a shutout in the second inning when Ron Swoboda and Larry Elliot hit singles and Jerry Grote lofted a sacrifice fly.

Gill, White To Coach Athletes In Clinic

Eddie Gill and Arlen White, both of Sands High School, will be coaches in the all-star games highlighting the annual Texas Coaches Association school, which will be held in Abilene Aug. 8-13.

Gill will coach the West's Eight-Man football club while White will mastermind the West's star-spangled cagers.

Other coaches already selected include Boyd Lowery of Gordon, the East's Six-Man coach; Bobby Helmers of Christoval, the West's Six-Man coach; and David Montgomery of Albion, the East's basketball coach.

No Eight-Man coach for the East has been named at this writing.

The school will be held in Abilene for the second straight year. The clinic will be co-sponsored by the Abilene Chamber of Commerce and McMurry College.

Official registration will begin Aug. 10 for the school. However, players in all the all-star games start arriving in Abilene Aug. 8.

As in the past, the coaching school will consist of lectures on the fundamentals of football and basketball, panel discussions on six and eight-man football, lectures on the fundamentals of track and field and the care and prevention of athletic injuries, a talk by Dr. Rhea Williams of the Texas Interscholastic League, and three all-star contests pitting the best six-man gridgers, eight-man gridgers and basketball players in Texas against each other.

The basketball game will be played Thursday, Aug. 11, at 8 p.m. in the Cooper High School gymnasium, while both football games will be played in McMurry College's Indian Stadium at 7:30 p.m. The six-man game will be played Friday, Aug. 12, and the eight-man game Saturday, Aug. 13, to conclude the annual school.

Tickets to the three all-star games, priced at 50 cents for children and $1.00 for adults for each contest, are now available at the Abilene Chamber of Commerce and Athletic Supply.

Merrill Green, head football coach at Cooper High, will be the guest speaker at a banquet to be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 11, in the CHS Cafeteria. Athletic Supply is sponsoring the event.

The 150-200 coaches expected for the annual clinic will be treated to lectures from several of Texas' finest mentors, including Nat Gleaton, the veteran head basketball coach at

North Seeks 5th In Row

HOUSTON (AP)—Two winning streaks go on the line at the Texas coaching school all-star games here next week.

The North will be seeking its fifth straight triumph in the football game with the South at Rice Stadium Thursday night, Aug. 4.

The preceding night will find the South seeking its fourth consecutive victory in the all-star basketball game at Sam Houston Coliseum.

In the over-all, the North leads both series, boasting an 18-10 margin in football and 12-9 in basketball.

Crowd records in both games were set during the past two years. There were 39,100 at the football game in Fort Worth in 1964. At Dallas last year 8,721 turned out for the basketball game for a record.

The South, because of better height, will be a solid favorite to repeat in basketball. There is no clear-cut choice in football, although the North may be a slight choice on the basis of a better line.

Horn, Two Others Will Be Honored At Clinic

HOUSTON (AP)—High School coaches of the year in basketball, track and baseball—Jimmy Horn of Snook, Howard Johnston of San Antonio Highlands and Cliff Gustafson of South San Antonio—will be honored at the Texas coaching school here Aug. 4.

The three, named by the Texas Sports Writers Association, will receive their awards at the annual luncheon of the Texas High School Coaches Association, at which time the coaches will induct five into the Hall of Honor.

Horn's Snook basketball team won its second straight Class B championship last winter and is so doing tied the all-time national high school record for consecutive victories at 78. In four years at Snook, Horn has compiled a record of 181 victories against only 14 losses.

Johnston's Highlands Track team was undefeated for the 1966 season, winning the Class AAAA state title with only one senior on the squad. He has won five district and three regional titles in five years.

Gustafson has a fabulous record in baseball and is the first to be named coach of the year three times. He won the honor in 1958 and 1961. In 11 years at South San Antonio, Gustafson won 306 games and lost only 85 and during the period won six state Class AAA championships.

Don Coleman of Spring Branch Memorial's Class AAAA state champions was runnerup to Horn in basketball. James Segrest of Monahans, who won the Class AAA track title, was a close second to Johnston. J. B. Carroll of Freeport Brazosport, whose team was Class AAAA state champion, was second to Gustafson for baseball coach of the year.

The Coaches Association will induct these coaches into its

Football Dinner May Lure 2,000

FORT WORTH (AP)—The eighth annual football rally—"official kickoff of the Southwest Conference football season"—is scheduled here Aug. 18, with Bud Wilkinson, former Oklahoma coaching great, as the principal speaker.

Charlie Needham, chairman of the sports committee of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce which puts on the affair, said an effort was being made to sell 2,000 tickets.

All eight Southwest Conference coaches will be in attendance and each will have three of his outstanding football players to be introduced.

There were 1,000 persons at the banquet last year.

Wilkinson, past chairman of the President's Council on Physical Fitness, is now a sports announcer for ABC.

Morris Frank, Houston Chronicle columnist and humorist, again will be master of ceremonies.

The rally will be at Hotel Texas.

January Finds Out, Belatedly

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Not until six hours after he had tied for 17th place in the U.S. Open with a 294 total did Don January learn he became an automatic qualifier for the 1967 Open at Springfield, N. J.

January thought he had missed the exemption point but sports writers told him he qualified when they saw him in his hotel lobby.

The 15 lowest scorers and anyone tying for 15th place, excluding the last five Open champions, are exempt from local and sectional qualifying.

Mustang Defense Is Good, Says Tech's J. T. King

(Another in a series by Texas Tech Coach J. T. King giving a capsule report on the Red Raiders' 1966 football team.)

LUBBOCK — So much has been said about Southern Methodist's "smorgasbord" offense that the Mustangs haven't received adequate credit for their defense.

And the worrisome thing about the matter is that the defense SMU is due to send against us in our sixth game (Lubbock, Oct. 22) is rated better than last year's, which was only the best in the Southwest Conference.

Four big reasons for Hayden Fry's defense being rated so high are linebackers Jerry Griffin, 218, and Billy Bob Stewart, 230, middle guard John LaGrone of Borger, 220, and tackle Ronny Medlin, 230. They were stubborn enough last season, and the added year's experience should make the Mustangs double tough. Wayne Rape, another Borger product, will be a starting cornerback again. He's 185 and difficult to get past.

None of this is intended to sell short SMU's offense.

Either Mac White or Mike Livingston would furnish any team with adequate quarterbacking. Both could be in the backfield in the same time to put considerable pressure on the defense. Jim Hagle (remember his 93 yard run against Texas?) and Larry Jernigan, from Odessa, are another pair of starters returning.

In the line, the secret to most successful offenses, the Mustangs return five starters—from tackle to tackle. One of the new ends will be a person already acclaimed, on the basis of his freshman play, a "game-breaker," Jerry Levias.

We'll have a full afternoon trying to keep the Mustangs from making themselves at home at our own homecoming.

Bobby Pherigo Awaiting Start Of Grid Training

Second team all-stater Bobby Pherigo of Coahoma is one of 15 freshmen prospects planning to bid for spots on the Angelo State College football squad this fall, announced athletic director Max Bumgardner.

The 5-11, 165-pound Pherigo is son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry T. Pherigo of Coahoma. At ASC, he'll be playing football with a former teammate, halfback Eddie McHugh, who will be a sophomore this fall.

Also on the list of freshmen prospects are end Don Burrell and halfback Roy Farmer of Lubbock; quarterback Billy Johnson of Wichita Falls; guard Gary McCarron and Center Lou Young of Crane; halfback Bobby Menchaca of Christoval; linebacker Bobby Montelongo and halfback Lucious Washington of San Angelo Central; guard Carl Teaff of Sonora; defensive back Alan Underwood of Petersburg; linebacker Wesley Whitaker of Lubbock; Monterey; halfback Ronnie Bourland of Vernon; Ricky White of Odessa; Permian; and linebacker Neil Rucker of Andrews.

BOBBY PHERIGO

Angelo State this fall has home engagements with McMurry, Stephen F. Austin, Howard Payne, Trinity University and Hiram Scott College of Scottsbluff, Neb.

Stengel, Williams Will Join Elite In Shrine

By JACK HAND
COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — Casey Stengel and Ted Williams will be inducted formally into baseball's Hall of Fame Monday.

WILLIAMS
William D. Eckert, the new commissioner, will present 75-year-old Stengel and 47-year-old Williams as the latest additions to the Hall which now has 104 members.

Stengel was elected in March by an extraordinary special ballot of the veterans' committee which waived the normal five-year waiting period after a man's retirement.

Williams, baseball's only 400 hitter in the last 25 years and one of the great sluggers of all time, was voted in last January by an overwhelming vote of 83.3 per cent of the 10-year veterans of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Ted, who had his share of feuds with some of the writers in his playing days, received 282 of a possible 302 votes. Only 75 per cent (226 votes) were required. It was the first year the former Boston Red Sox star had been eligible.

The morning ceremonies will be held at Cooper Park in the rear of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum, which is to be the site of a new baseball library.

After Stengel and Williams have responded with appropriate comments, a crowd of about 10,000 will move up Main Street to tidy, little Doubleday Field to watch the Minnesota Twins play the St. Louis Cardinals in the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game.

Joe Cronin, Bill Dickey, Joe McCarthy and Bill Terry will be among the Hall of Famers on hand to swap stories with the new inductees.

Ford Frick, retired commissioner and chairman of the board of directors of the Hall of Fame, will present a trophy to Dan Topping Jr., acting general manager of the New York Yankees, for winning last year's exhibition game.

Charley Dreyden, former sports writer from Chicago, will be honored with the J. G. Taylor Spink Award, to be accepted by Hal Lebovitz, sports editor of the Cleveland Plain-Dealer and national president of the baseball writers.

Before the exhibition game, Ken Fila of Omaha, Neb., will receive an award as the Player of the Year in 1965 in the American Legion Junior Baseball program.

Stengel retired last Aug. 30 as manager of the New York Mets after an extremely colorful career as a player with Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and the New York Giants and manager of several major and minor league clubs, including a fabulously successful stretch with the Yankees. His Yanks won 10

Duncan Hurls 4-1 Victory

Masterful pitching by Dave Duncan enabled the Saunders Angels to defeat the Lions, 4-1, in their final 1966 Sophomore Teen-Age Baseball league game here Friday night.

Duncan limited the Lions to two hits. The only run he surrendered was unearned. Dave fanned 17 in the seven-inning bout.

Rickey Peurifoy, who had three hits for the winners, scored the Angels' first run in the opening inning after reaching base on an error.

Andy Gamboa and Peurifoy crossed the plate for the Angels in the third while Andy Gamboa tallied again in the fourth. Andy Gamboa had two hits for the winners.

The win was the eighth in 13 starts for the Angels.

Buckpasser Wins Brooklyn Event

NEW YORK (AP) — Buckpasser, a solid choice to win the 3-year-old title for 1966, moved up a notch into the handicap division Saturday and won the $107,100 Brooklyn Handicap by a nose at Aqueduct.

Buckpasser stuck his head in front of the King Rancho's Buffalo, one quarter of a mile from home and held on in a stretch duel.

Cosden proudly salutes another of its 'SENIORS' O. T. TEAGUE

*Delivering Cosden-refined gasoline to points in West Texas and New Mexico was O. T. Teague's responsibility for five years as a transport truck driver soon after joining the company on January 15, 1951. Later he shifted into the paint shop as a helper, moving on up to a Craftsman and painter leadman. He became a helper at the new Hydeal unit last October.

Although he was born in Mt. Pleasant, Teague has largely called Big Spring home since 1935, and graduated from Big Spring High School. He served in the U.S. Army Air Corps for three years and a month, and was stationed at the old Big Spring Bombardier School for a while before going overseas for his two-year stint in the European Theatre. He was in Czechoslovakia when the war ended, and was discharged as a corporal. Teague remembers he had difficulty explaining to the military that his initials, O. T., were simply that and stood for no names.

Nellie Digby of Big Spring exchanged wedding vows with Teague here on October 10, 1940. They have one daughter, Barbara, who is Mrs. Russell Austin of Bakersfield, California. The Teagues visited her earlier this year.

This Cosden senior and his wife enjoy fishing, usually at Moss Creek Lake or Lake Colorado City, and they follow the Steers during football season. Their hobby is coin-collecting; both are members of Big Spring Coin Club and the American Numismatics Association, and he is in the American Legion.

The Teagues reside at 400 Circle Drive, and their church home is the Phillips Memorial Baptist.

Officials Satisfied With Pooling Plan

By LEE JONES (For MAX B. SKELTON) AUSTIN (AP) — Since the forced oil and gas lease pooling bill took effect last August it has been virtually an unused law, which has left state regulatory officials well satisfied. The influential Texas Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPO), which wrote the bill and worked hard for its passage, also is pleased with its effects. Seven applications for compulsory unitization have been filed with the Texas Railroad Commission, but four were cancelled when voluntary arrangements were worked out. Two cases have been heard, and Examiner Fred Young plans to submit his recommendation in one of them to the commission in about two weeks. The commission ruling will set the stage for a possible court battle. The bill, passed in the early days of the 1965 Legislature, authorizes the commission to force pool small tracts in reservoirs discovered since March 8, 1961, the date of the Texas Supreme Court's historic Normanna decision. The commission may compel creation of production units of up to 160 acres for oil and 640 acres for gas if efforts to pool voluntarily fail. "It has worked out amazingly well," said Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon. The commission's first decision under the pooling law will come on an application by Hugh Ray Ashford. He seeks to pool his 45-acre tract, which has no well, with an adjoining 35-acre tract with a producing oil well in the Sims Field of Bowie County. Records show Ashford has been unable to drill because of the field's 80-acre spacing rule. What results has the bill had in the absence of a rash of pooling applications to the commission? "I feel there have been more voluntary pooling agreements with the forced pooling bill in the background," said a TIPO spokesman. He added the belief that there has been more exploration because of lower production costs inherent in fewer wells on pooled tracts. Langdon said the bill has helped conserve oil and gas and has given some small landowners the opportunity to make money out of their mineral rights. "If the cost of drilling a well exceeded the value of the minerals a landowner recovered, he just wouldn't drill it," he said. "The Normanna and Port Acres decisions left the commission without any authority to protect small tract operators. In effect, this bill eliminates this and makes it possible for anyone who has a small tract to pool." The Texas Supreme Court's Normanna and Port Acres decisions invalidated commission production formulas which favored small tract operators. Young said there have been fewer Rule 37 applications for closer well spacing than allowed by field rules. The major opponent to the bill when it was before the legislature was Stanley Woods, president of the Texas Landowners and Independent Oil and Gas Association. He predicted this week, "A lawsuit is inevitable." Woods, disagreeing with the TIPO official, said exploration has fallen off because of the bill. "We've dropped over a hundred and some rigs since that bill passed. That means less oil is definitely being found. We aren't finding the reserves. For the small independent or even middle-sized independent to put a block together is prohibitive," he said.

Kobdich Named To Head Oil Information Group

DALLAS — Richard M. Kobdich, Midland, vice president and general manager, West Texas Region, Sinclair Oil & Gas Co., has been named to head organizational functions of the Texas Oil Information Committee's Western Region. As Western Regional chairman, Kobdich will be responsible for key committee assignments in the five areas that comprise OIC's Western Region, according to Charles F. Heidrick, Dallas, state chairman of the OIC of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. Area headquarters cities in the region's 86 counties are Midland, San Angelo, El Paso, Lubbock, and Amarillo. Kobdich succeeds James R. Shute, Midland, district personnel-payroll supervisor, Gulf Oil Corp., whose term expired. He also succeeds Shute to the nine-member OIC Operating Committee, which is the chief policy group for the Texas oil and gas industry's public information and service program, Heidrick said. Kobdich joined Sinclair in 1946 as a junior petroleum engineer in Odessa, following graduation from Wisconsin Institute of Technology with a mining engineering degree. He worked in several states before returning to Texas in 1952 as assistant division production superintendent in Midland. Following service in Tulsa and Houston, he was named vice president and manager of Sinclair's Tulsa division in 1960, the position he held prior to assuming his present post in Midland in 1963.

Rotary Rigs Shown Gain

MIDLAND — Rotary drilling operations in the Permian Basin Empire registered a slight gain on the Friday survey of Reed International Inc. The number of active rigs stood at 175—an increase of two—from the 173 reported a week earlier. However the Friday total was 28 less than the 203 working rotaries listed in the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico region on the comparable tally for 1965.

For the second consecutive week Lea County, N. M., with 28 on both the two latest tabulations, took first place. Pecos County held second with 17 on the Friday check, up one from the 16 credited to it last week. Despite recording a jump of three—from 12 to 15—Reagan County was third. Wiese Transfers To Los Angeles

HOUSTON — R. M. Wiese, an exploration department trainee at Tulsa, and later held positions in that department in North Dakota, Montana, and Colorado. He transferred to Houston as staff assistant in the crude oil department in 1957, and six years later went to Midland as crude oil representative. Williams, a native Nebraskan, joined Gulf in 1948 in the production department at Seminole, Okla., after earning a B.S. degree in business administration at the University of Nebraska. He became crude oil representative at Denver in 1960, and after brief service in Gulf's crude oil department at Pittsburgh, moved to Houston as crude oil field operations advisor in 1964. He was named audit control advisor last year.

Pan-Am Has New Producer

Pan American's No. 3 E. L. Powell, northwest flanker to the same firm's No. 1 Powell, discovery and lone producer in the recently-opened Blalock Lake (Wolfcamp) area of Glasscock County, has flowed oil and gas on a four-hour drillstem test of the Wolfcamp in the 8,050-78-foot interval. Gas surfaced in 14 minutes with no gases reported on the volume. Oil came to the top in 45 minutes. The project flowed to tanks for 15 minutes, clean, and then flowed to tanks for three hours. Gravity of the crude was 40.7 and the gas-oil ratio registered 1,771-1. The first hour, yield was 33 barrels of oil on a half-inch choke. It produced 22 barrels of oil the second hour with surface pressure gauging 550 pounds. The third hour, 11.2 barrels of oil was gauged on a quarter-inch choke, surface pressure registering 500 pounds. Initial shutin pressure was 2,940 pounds. Flow pressure varied from 860-2,552 pounds. Recovery from below the circulating sub was 10 gallons of unidentified water. Total depth is 8,078 feet, with a 4 1/2-inch casing set at that depth. It next will be tested for perforations. Location is 660 feet from the south line and 1,997 feet from the east line of section 4-55-S, T&P survey, 13 miles northwest of Garden City.

Why should our son have a newspaper route?

The living is good. Plenty of money, nice home, nice furnishings, another salary raise in sight; we've never had it so good. Why should our son manage a newspaper route?

Most any educator or businessman will tell you why in three simple words: it builds character.

Oftentimes the youngster who grows up in comfortable circumstances and who gets his weekly "handout" from dad never realizes the value of money or the efforts required to make it and manage it, until he's on his own. By then attitudes and habits are difficult to reverse.

But the newspaperboy quickly learns valuable lessons that stick. While making money on a newspaper route is important, the experience of getting-the-job-done-no-matter-what is more important. When through route management, responsibility and self-confidence are acquired at this early age, a newspaperboy has an advantage over other youngsters that no amount of money can buy.

If you're still wondering whether your son would benefit from newspaper route management, ask a community businessman or civic leader, or better still, phone our Circulation Department.

Shelton To Make Tour Monday With Clubbers

James Shelton, assistant county agent, Monday will visit the 4-H Club boys and girls in the county who are feeding calves for this winter's fat stock shows. His visit is to help get the animals in good condition for inspection next Saturday, when the annual 4-H Club Calf Tour is staged. Most of the kids, Shelton said, have their calves in tip top condition and the visitors who make the all day tour are going to be surprised at the fine animals the club members are readying for the shows. A few youngsters need a little help, he added, and it is these boys and girls he will visit Monday. The calf tour, to which all friends of the 4-H Club organization are invited, leaves the south side of the Howard County courthouse at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. First stop will be at the Gene Long farm to see the calf being fed by Lawrence Long. Other stops in the forenoon will be at Linda and Larry Shaw's home in Knott, and at the Mike McClain place. Lunch will be served in the City Park at 11:45 a.m. After lunch the first stop will be at the Coleman's pen off Birdwell Lane to see Dixie Coleman's animal. Stops will also be made at the homes of Daryle and Roger Coates, Robbie Haney, Mark and Maxwell Barr, Brenda and Junior Jackson, and Dolores Lankford. The club members are feeding 30 calves this year — a large number of quality, according to observers, superior to nearly any in any years. A feature of the tour will be judging events at three of the stops. The youngsters on the tour will try their hand at judging stock. Two qualified judges will be along. When the contest is over, the youngsters can compare their findings with those of the trained men.

Tells Club Of Boys' State

Jackie Bowen, Big Spring representative to the Boys' State convention held earlier this year in Austin, told members of the American Business Club of some of his experiences in a talk made before the Ambucs at their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel. Bowen was elected State Land Commissioner at the convention by what was described as the largest plurality ever given a candidate by the delegates. He said he got a new and fascinating insight on politics by attending the meeting and added he did not think anyone who had ever attended such a convention would ever participate in a protest of the Viet Nam war. Bowen was introduced to the ABC gathering by Roscoe Cone of the local American Legion post. He remained in Austin for one week. The local ABC had made a cash donation toward Bowen's expenses, as per custom. It was announced at the meeting that the board of directors of the club had voted to authorize the ABC to donate $300 toward the purchase of furniture for the Rehabilitation Center here. Leland Pierce was named third vice president of the local club, replacing Weldon Bryson who has been transferred out of town. Fred Clark was appointed to Pierce's old post as sergeant at arms. Among guests present for the luncheon were Jim Gillespie, Jake Pressley and Jim Brown. It was announced that the club would again stage a professional wrestling show in the amphitheatre at the City Park the night of Aug. 4.

Collision Fatal To Two Texans

KERMIT, Tex. (AP) — Two pickup trucks and a car collided about 3 a.m. Saturday killing two persons and injuring three others. The crash occurred 11 miles east of Kermit. It killed Fritz D. Chambers and Armando Navarro, both of this area. Each was riding alone in a pickup. Mrs. Navarro, a son and a daughter, all in the family car, were injured.

'FUN IN THE SUN'

There may not be real relief from summer's heat, but there are ways to make it more bearable, and even downright enjoyable. Many Big Springers have found this out by making use of the greatly improved facilities at nearby Moss Creek Lake, where the city has done much to make it a lively recreation area.

On a given weekend, the Moss Creek population explodes, and one may find fishermen, boaters, floaters, paddlers, waders, pop drinkers, and all manner of ingenious people who have their fun in the sun.

NEW FAMILY IN TOWN
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Price, Kim, Kirk and Kay

Gas Company Official Moves Family Here

By JO BRIGHT

Joe L. Price, new district manager for Pioneer Natural Gas Company, is not only making an effort to remember names as he is being introduced around town, but he's taking a mental note if golf scores are mentioned. He may be able to invite the new acquaintances to join him for a game, and he'd hate to be too badly out-classed.

Mrs. Price, who has been busy giving their home at 528 Scott a "lived in" look, is ready to rest awhile now, and she'd prefer to do it while making friends with some fellow duplicate bridge players.

The other family members who will be finding their particular niche here are Kay, 18, Kirk, 9, and Kim, 4. Kay is preparing to enter Texas Tech as a freshman this fall, while Kirk will be a fourth grader at College Heights Elementary School.

The Prices moved here from Brownfield where he had been manager for the gas company for over eight years. A leader in civic affairs there, he was a president of the Chamber of Commerce as well as that group's "Red Coats" and the Brownfield Rotary Club. He was a director of the country club and past master of the Brownfield Masonic Lodge. In 1961, he received the Jaycee's distinguished service award and later was district representative for the Boy Scouts. He was chairman of the board of the First Methodist Church where he also taught a Sunday school class.

Born and reared in Brookhaven, Miss., Price is the son of Mrs. J. W. Price of Jackson, Miss., and the late Mr. Price. His father was in the highway construction business and there were six children in the family. Finishing high school in Brookhaven, Price went to Plainview where he attended Lippert Business College and met his future wife, the former Eleanor Rodgers, daughter of Mrs. B. S. Timmons of Plainview and the late R. A. Rogers. They were married in her home on Dec. 31, 1946. In Plainview, she worked as a dental assistant, and he joined Pioneer Natural Gas Company in 1950. Later Price finished a management school at Texas A&I in Kingsville and completed a 41-week public utilities course.

Good Care Adds Life To Tools

A lovely garden can add interest to any home. But unless you're careful, you can spend a lot of money foolishly on equipment. It's not unheard of to have home-grown roses cost $25 a dozen.

The best way to keep gardening costs down is to buy only the tools you need. But buy good ones. If you take care of them, you'll find they're really cheaper after all.

You should keep in mind that it's not the initial cost of the tool that's the decisive factor, but how many years it can be used. You only have to buy a good garden implement once, but you'll probably have to replace a cheaper tool several times.

A good basic set of garden tools includes: a rake, hoe, spading fork, shovel or spade, trowel, shears, sprayer, water can, sprinkler, wheelbarrow and lawn mower.

Once you've purchased good tools, take care of them. Now you can go to work on your garden with confidence. It won't cost you a fortune after all.

A LOVELIER YOU

This Is What You'll Wear Next Season

By MARY SUE MILLER

Some women seem to be endowed with a sixth sense when it comes to dressing. Their clothes are always becoming, suitable and on the fashion wave length. But, truth to tell, a talent for being well-dressed seldom comes as a gift. Much like a taste for art, fashion perception is a cultivated quality.

The process begins by keeping informed about trends and designers. This helps you to spot the best in fashion. Once in the know, you are able to adopt from the best what is best for you—your looks and activities. Merely to get you on the beam for fall, here is a rundown on fashions with a message:

Coats . . . Tent shapes, with fullness released from a small, neat top; in mini-to-full-lengths, slim shapes precisely tailored.

Dresses . . . Skinny as a sweater or released to flip, flare or fling out at the hem; necklines trend to high, sleeves to long.

Suits . . . Pea jackets, riding jackets, and Norfolk—long and lean; leveling at the hip bone, neat, double-breasted jackets; eased skirts.

Fabrics . . . Smooth to loose and open, in true-bright and luxurious-dark shades, in deep neutrals and alabaster whites.

Footnote . . . A continuous blend of color in skirt, stocking and shoe. The better to enhance the leg!

A LOVELY FIGURE

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets of a Lovely Figure." It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzzi, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Mrs. Price has just completed a refinishing project on six ladder-back chairs and is well into the work on the table to go with them. A good seamstress, she makes "almost all" of Kay's dresses and some for herself and Kim as well. Kay caught the refinishing bug from her mother and has finished a chest and desk. Interested in journalism as a career, she worked on the "Cub's Den," the Brownfield High School paper and worked last summer for a weekly shopper's guide. She was a member of the Quill and Scroll and won the Gold Key award as outstanding member of the newspaper and annual staffs. Active in church work, she plays the family's parlor pump organ and is a beginner at bridge.

Kirk, who is still waking up in a new world every day, likes to swim and make model airplanes. He has taken part in both Cub Scout and Little League baseball and hopes he'll be able to do so here. Like all little girls, Kim hasn't a worry in the world and has all she can do to keep up with her dolls and coloring books.

And that completes the Price household — except for a gay young dog named "Fitzgerald" and a real cool cat called "Kitty." The coffee pot's on—and the Prices will be proud to make your acquaintance.

Top Tallies Announced

Nine tables were in play during the Friday afternoon duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club.

North-south winners were Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. James Duncan, first; Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, second; Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, third; Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. Ron Kibler, fourth.

East-west winners were Mrs. Don Newsom and Mrs. Glen Cox, first; Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. Fred Lurting, second; Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. Truman Jones, third; and Mrs. A. Swartz and Mrs. J. H. Fish, fourth.

Guest Welcomed By Sewing Club

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. J. H. Cardwell entertained the Pioneer Sewing Club in her home recently. Six members attended, and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins was welcomed as a guest.

James Blake is convalescing at his home following his dismissal from Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Griffith and his family and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Griffith were Monahans and Jal, N. M., visitors.

Spice, Rice Party Fetes Bride-Elect

A "Spice and Rice" shower honoring Miss Karen Walker, bride-elect of Tom E. Adams, was held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Don Crockett, 101 Lincoln.

Cohostesses were Miss Caren Crockett, Miss Terry Macklin, Miss Carol Hughes and Miss Sena Goodlett.

The honoree was attired in a green and blue silk suit as she greeted the 25 guests attending. Her chosen colors of green and white were used in the party decorations. A green cloth covered the refreshment table which was appointed with white milk glass and centered with a white tree to which was attached green rice bags.

Wash Zippers

Methodist Mission Begins In Abilene

Methodist women leaders from the far-flung areas of the Northwest Texas Conference will begin arriving on the McMurry College campus in Abilene today and the 17th Annual School of Christian Mission opens Monday morning.

Representatives from the local Woman's Society of Christian Services and Wesleyan Service Guilds will be Mrs. Gary Sims, Mrs. Robert Hill and Mrs. Thele Watts of the First Methodist Church; Mrs. Raymond Hamby and Mrs. Bob Rybolt of the Kentwood Methodist Church; and Mrs. Marshall E. Brown of the Birdwell Lane Methodist Church.

Approximately 250 delegates will attend the school, and registration begins Monday morning. The general orientation will begin at 1:30 p.m. that afternoon.

Two themes will be developed during the school: A Bible study entitled "Christian Being and Doing" and a mission study of "Affluence and Poverty: Dilemma for Christians."

The Bible study will be conducted by the Rev. George M. Ricker of San Angelo's St. Luke Methodist Church. The mission study will be developed during the morning group meetings.

"How-To" groups will be conducted by Dr. H. Doyle Ragie, Abilene District superintendent, who will deal with how to conduct a Bible study; The Rev. Cecil Hardaway of Hamlin, "How to Deal With Contraversy"; Mrs. Luther Kirk of Pampa, "How to Utilize Resources in Small Societies"; and Dr. George Steinman of McMurry College on the use of the Methodist Hymnal.

Plans Wedding

STANTON (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leonard Jr., Midland, formerly of Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jackie Luaren, to Bruce M. Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Carter, 3323 W. Dengar, Midland. The couple will marry at 4 p.m. Sept. 3 in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Stanton. Miss Leonard will be a senior student at North Texas State University this fall. Carter also attends NTSU.

Here's How Families Can Make Money

When not enough money seems to be trickling into family coffers these days, the whole family can pitch in to earn, to cut down and to help save.

The last part the commercial banks make as painful: as possible by automatically transferring a set sum every month from checking to saving account.

But what about the earning and cutting down?

MOTHER

(a) Do you have a talent for dressmaking or knitting? There's always a call for this kind of skill, so why not put it to work?

(b) Become a babysitter. If you have young children of your own at home, one extra isn't going to make much difference.

(c) Take a part-time job.

(d) If you don't want a job that takes you out of the house, here's money to be made addressing envelopes, or running a telephone answering service.

FATHER

(a) Have you any special skill you can put to good use? If you play a musical instrument, you might consider playing a church organ at weddings and funerals, playing in a dance band or orchestra, giving music lessons.

(b) Get an evening job. If your full-time job is particularly strenuous or exhausting, this might not be practicable, but many men have found that the trick is to do something quite different from their daytime job.

CHILDREN

These days the jobs available to children and teenagers is practically unlimited, and an enterprising child should have no difficulty in supplementing the allowance he gets from his parents.

He could, for instance: Get himself a paper route.

Travel Coat

Designer Federico Forquet presented at the Rome fall and winter showings this travel costume. The coat is loose and plaid-lined. Under it is a two-piece suit of tomato-red wool, with the neckline draped like a muffler. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Wash cars.

In summertime, find work on the local farm, picking fruit. Girls might try: Babysitting. Working as a waitress in an ice-cream parlor or coffee shop. Taking the neighbor's dog for a walk, or doing the grocery shopping.

MOTHER

1. Don't go overboard on convenience foods—TV dinners for instance, or the more expensive frozen vegetables. When there are three or more in a family it's almost always cheaper to buy fresh vegetables in season.

2. Have an economy meal at least once a week. It could be hamburger, or tuna fish, or any of the organ meats which are reasonably priced.

3. Watch out for those items which tend to add dollars to your grocery bill—paper towels and napkins for instance. A damp sponge will usually take the place of yards of paper toweling and a handful of napkins.

4. Take advantage of supermarket specials.

FATHER

1. Be wary of interest charges on installment purchases. If you borrow money to finance a purchase, be sure you are financing at lowest possible cost.

2. Learn to be a Do-It-Yourself Man. Instead of paying a decorating firm to repaint your house, do the job yourself for half the cost.

The same goes for almost any chore you pay someone else to do for you, whether it's 30 cents every day for a shoeshine, or $2 for a weekly car wash—do it yourself and bank the saving.

3. Keep track of how much unessential driving you do. Why not make a habit of walking relatively short distances, instead of automatically taking the car? You'll save on gas, and the exercise will be good for you too.

CHILDREN

1. Cut down on after-school treats—ice-cream sodas, doughnuts, and hamburgers. It might surprise you if you stopped to count up just how much of your allowance is used up in this way. Why not go along with your friends as usual, but have a soft drink instead, and wait till you get home for that pre-dinner snack?

2. Buy fewer comics and start making greater use of the public library, all of which have excellent children's departments.

3. Learn how to make toys for yourself—kites, airplanes, sailboats.

4. Learn to take care of your things. A bicycle, for example, will stay in good condition much longer if you don't leave it out in the rain.

MISS ILENE BARNETT

Office Orchid

Miss Ilene Barnett, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Barnett, not only boasts of being born in Big Spring but still lives in the family home at 410 Nolan. Her grandparents, the late Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnett, came here in 1883, and the home was constructed about that time.

Miss Barnett has one brother, Wilbur Barnett of Houston, and five sisters, three of whom live here. They are Mrs. Rufus Davidson, Mrs. C. S. Anderson and Mrs. Cecil Phillips. The others are Mrs. Edmund Notestine of Amarillo and Mrs. John Schwarzenbach of Buchanan Dam.

A graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, Miss Barnett later took a refresher course in typing and shorthand from a private teacher. Her first job, in 1937, was with the City of Big Spring as a stenographer for the late E. V. Spence, who was city manager at that time. She started to work in 1954 for Merle J. Stewart, CPA, and said she hopes to remain in this job until she has to retire. After going to work for Stewart, Miss Barnett studied accounting at Howard County Junior College and has especially enjoyed this area of work.

Miss Barnett has been a member of the First Baptist Church since her teen years and is a Past Matron of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star.

A homebody at heart, Miss Barnett enjoys reading, knitting and needlepoint as hobbies. Children have always fascinated her, and she spends much time "spoiling" her nieces and nephews.

Considers THDA Recommendations

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. John Latty was hostess to the Carr Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon. Roll call was answered by "My Favorite Fall Meal." Mrs. T. A. Rees led the club prayer, and Mrs. Tom Jackson directed the recreation. Club president, Mrs. Bill Rees, was in charge of the program. "Participate in THDA Recommendations." Refreshments were served to five members. Mrs. Don Henderson will host the Aug. 5 meeting when Mrs. T. A. Rees will give a demonstration on antiques flowers.

Couple Announces September Date

STANTON (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gasplie Jr. announce the engagement and approaching marriage to their daughter, Betty Jo, to Donnie D. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson. The wedding is set for Sept. 3 at the Belvue Church of Christ.

Miss Gasplie is a Stanton High School graduate and is employed at the ASC Office in Stanton. Her fiancé will be a student at Texas Tech this fall.

Miss Karen Walker Honored At Shower

Miss Karen Walker, bride-elect of Tom E. Adams, was honored with a miscellaneous shower this week in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club.

Cohostesses were Mrs. S. M. Anderson, Mrs. W. S. Goodlett, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Jack Alexander, Mrs. Brooks Eubank, Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mrs. M. R. Turner, Mrs. Don Crockett, Mrs. Wayne Vaughn and Mrs. John Hardy. Guests were registered by Miss Karen Crockett.

Miss Walker, attired in a green knit sleeveless suit, was presented a corsage of pink carnations. Her mother, Mrs. S. A. Walker, and her fiancé's aunt, Mrs. J. C. Bowden of Cross Plains, wore white carnation corsages. The hostess' gift was a silver gallery tray.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of miniature chrysanthemums and asters carrying out the bride's chosen colors of green and white. Silver appointments were used. Alternating in serving were Miss Terry Macklin, Miss Carol Hughes and Miss Sena Goodlett.

The couple is planning an Aug. 19 wedding in the First Methodist Church.

H. L. Tucks Take Texas Vacation

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Tuck and family have returned from a vacation to Garner State Park, Inks Lake, and Lake Whitney. They also visited in Fort Worth with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Machen.

Mrs. Dan Burrow and children of Abilene left Thursday after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hudson.

Miss Carolyn Wigginton Complimented Friday

The home of Mrs. G. H. Hayward, 502 Hillside, was the scene Friday of a miscellaneous prenuptial shower honoring Miss Carolyn Wigginton, bride-elect of Jan L. Chapman.

Cohostesses were Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale, Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. Pete Hull, Mrs. R. L. Collins, Mrs. Mike Martz, Mrs. Ernest Rainey, Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Gordon Wheeler and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell.

The honoree, attired in a blue, sleeveless A-line dress bordered at the hemline with lace, was presented a corsage of white carnations. Similar corsages were worn by her mother, Mrs. Ben H. Wigginton Jr., and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. W. B. Chapman.

Calling hours were from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., and guests were registered by Miss Maurine Wigginton, the honoree's sister, who also wore a white carnation corsage. The guest list included 140.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white linen and an overskirt of white

MRS. WAYNE ROSCOE ROGERS

Wedding Solemnized In Chapel At Webb

The wedding of Miss Allith Jennifer Perron and Lt. Wayne Roscoe Rogers was solemnized at 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base. The double ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain Thomas D. Holland.

The bride is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Gregory H. Perron, No. 5 Albrook, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Davis of Blue-jacket, Okla.

Emerald palms and ferns formed a background for large standing baskets of white agapanthus, gladioli and pom-pom chrysanthemums arranged at the altar.

A prelude of nuptial selections was presented by Nick Androvitch at the organ, and he accompanied Miss Penny Frazier as she sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length Empire gown of ivory silk faced peau de soie with Sabrina neckline and brief sleeves. The gown was accented with rows of Venise lace which was also used for the removable chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion fell to shoulder-length from a headdress fashioned of silk and pearl beading.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis centered with white orchids, backed with tulle and pearl leaves and showered with peart satin.

The bride's sister, Miss Elizabeth Anne Perron, was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Dicie Brown, Mrs. Bruce Humeke and Mrs. Robert Clapper, sister of the bridegroom.

Their floor-length Empire gowns of yellow French eyelet and peau de soie ribbon were worn with headresses of yellow carnations and lemon leaves accented with pearl beading. Each carried a nosegay of white carnations accented in yellow and showered with matching satin. The flower girls, Salli Cvik and Becky Mercer, wore formal Empire gowns of white French eyelet over yellow and headresses of yellow and white flowers touched with yellow silk illusion. They scattered yellow rose petals from white baskets.

LI. Fred J. Cox III of Laredo AFB was best man, and ushers were Lt. John Angell of Dyess AFB, Abilene, and Lt. Bruce Humeke and Lt. Michael Manley, both of Webb AFB.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was wearing a two-piece ensemble of light beige with matching accessories. Her draped turban was of peacock blue, and her corsage was the orchids from her bridal bouquet. Upon returning, the couple will reside in Big Spring.

The bride, a graduate of Incarnate Word High School in San Antonio, spent five years as a student at Grefsen Hoyre Skole in Oslo, Norway and at present is attending Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom was a graduate from Vinetta High School in Vinetta, Okla., and attended Oklahoma State University for two years, graduating from the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs in 1965. At present, he is a student pilot at Webb AFB.

RECEPTION

The reception honoring the couple was held in the Officers Open Mess at Webb AFB. With them in the receiving line were their parents and the feminine attendants.

On the refreshment table, a white Army-Navy cloth was used with silver and crystal punch services, and a silver candelabrum holding white taper candles was accented with white carnations, armpoms and Fuji mums. The three-tiered white wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was placed on a table covered with a traditional Air Force cloth. The cake was cut with a decorated saber.

Guests were registered by Mrs. W. Knight and Mrs. S. Finch, and members of the house party were Mrs. R. Mercer, Mrs. J. E. Cvik, Miss Tony Urban, Mrs. R. R. Tindall, Mrs. D. M. Richey and Miss Frazier.

White House Humming With Luci's Wedding Preparations

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lilies of the valley are planted, the cook has baked a sample cake and has it approved, the choir is rehearsing. Everything is about ready for Luci Nugent's wedding to Patrick J. Nugent Aug. 6.

It's going to be a wedding of sentiment and history.

You couldn't get more sentimental than President Johnson's 19-year-old, blue-eyed, black-haired daughter, Luci.

And having a President's daughter hold a reception in the White House is something that hasn't happened in 52 years.

Luci said she was getting nervous as the big day loomed closer.

"But," she said, "I'm not just nervous. I'm happy, excited, filled with hopes, dreams, desires — a conglomeration of emotions, including a little bit of apprehension and a great deal of happiness."

Her 23-year-old fiancé was kept busy on active summer duty with his Air National Guard Reserve unit in Savannah, Ga., until shortly before the wedding.

The President was described as "awfully glad to be getting a son at last."

Mrs. Johnson has spent anxious months planning, working on her daughter's trousseau, coping with every detail, including the big decision: no television from the church and limited press coverage of the wedding scene.

Seven months ago — on Christmas Eve — the Johnsons announced from their Texas ranch that Luci, a nursing school freshman, was engaged to a tall, blond, good-looking, little-known young man from Waukegan, Ill.

Son of investment and insurance counselor, Gerard Nugent, and of Tillie Jocius Nugent, young "Paddy" was newly graduated from college, where he majored in history.

And so, at high noon—Saturday, Aug. 6, before 700 friends and relatives, the President, in cutaway coat and striped pants, will escort his daughter down the aisle of the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in northeast Washington.

It will be a double-ring ceremony. That's what 90 to 95 percent of Catholic couples prefer nowadays," a spokesman for the Archdiocese of Washington reported.

Archbishop Patrick A. O'Connell

Fairview HD Unit Hears Speaker

Mike Stock was guest speaker during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. J. M. Smith. Stock described his activities at the recent annual youth congress at the Paisano Baptist Encampment in the Davis Mountains. This year's theme was "Happiness Is," and over 400 attended the four-day session.

It was announced that the club will adjourn during the month of August, and Mrs. Frank Wilson won the attendance prize.

E. D. Youngs Are New Residents

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Young and son, Eddie, are new residents in the Denton Addition of Sand Springs. Young is employed at Sid Richardson Carbon Company.

Shelia Collier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Collier, has been visiting in Abilene with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Raley.

Mrs. Trevor Crawford has returned home after attending summer school at the University of Texas in Austin.

Camping Trips Taken By Coahoma Groups

COAHOMA (SC) — Returned from a camping trip at the San Saba River are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fraser and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Fishback and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Duke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Milliken, and Cathy and Ricky Evans. The Frasers visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Row in Coleman. Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Fraser, Lubbock, spent last week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter. For the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Fraser accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter to Irving where they visited with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lankford

Boyle, 70, who rarely officiates at such occasions, will celebrate the 80-minute nuptial Mass for the President's daughter and her fiancé.

A lifelong friend of the Nugent family, the Rev. John Kuzinskas, 40, assistant pastor of the Church of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary in Chicago, will marry the couple in a 10-minute ceremony.

Luci, 5-foot-4, and slimmed down "to please Pat" to 110 pounds and a size 7, has picked an elegant, long, white bridal gown. Her mother said it's "the kind you would hand down to your grandchildren."

The 12 bridesmaids, including Luci's 22-year-old sister, Lynda, the maid of honor, will wear gowns of blending pink. The 6-foot-1 bridegroom and his 12 groomsmen will wear formal morning attire.

Young friends and relatives will attend the bride and bridegroom, with two 5-year-olds serving as flower girl and ring bearer.

Nugent's father is to be standing in best man for another son, Marine Lt. Gerard Nugent Jr., on duty in Viet Nam.

A few things the Johnsons and the White House made plain about this historic wedding:

—It is a personal and family event, not a state occasion. Though the church could seat 3,500, they asked 700 to attend. They did not invite world figures, diplomats or officials unless they were close friends.

—Everyone invited to the church also was to be a guest at a White House reception afterward in the East Room.

—The church may be immense and spectacular, but Luci and Nugent picked it because they had often worshipped there together. They'll be the first couple ever married in the $21-million national shrine, built with donations from Catholics across the nation. Normally couples are advised to wed in their parish church.

Luci, originally Episcopalian like her mother, converted to Catholicism on her 15th birthday.

Like any other parents of the bride, the Johnsons are footing the bill for the wedding. A family spokesman said the Johnsons long ago established a special account to handle all the wedding costs from engraving invitations to buying a trousseau. As to how much it's all going to cost, the White House said only: "Weddings come high now."

Heiress to at least half a million dollars herself, Luci announced early they'd live on young Nugent's income, which ranged from $93.50 a month on military service to $5,180 a year in a District of Columbia Education Advisory Commission. But he has improved his salary considerably since joining a new educational consultant firm here.

Luci this week announced she and Nugent plan to go back to school at the University of Texas after their wedding and take up housekeeping in a small, comfortable "dream house" they have rented in "a nice neighborhood" of Austin, Tex., near friends.

It's a one-story rambler type of old brick with another duplex unit attached. That raised speculation — unconfirmed — that their closest neighbors may be the Secret Service.

Luci says she'll do her own cooking and housekeeping, noting "I don't think we're going to be in a position to have a maid."

Luci would not disclose the address of her dream house.

In planning this wedding, the White House has had to cope with a deluge of requests from news media. But church coverage will be held down to a small pool of reporters.

The reception will be a gala affair, with music, dancing and dining. The 700 guests will fill the historic formal rooms of the White House, with dancing probably to be featured in the East Room, where the cake-cutting ceremony also will be held.

Press coverage is being limited to a 10-minute view of the receiving line and a glimpse of the cake-cutting, so the Johnsons can feel free to celebrate with old friends and relatives.

The "President's Own" scarlet-coated Marine Band will provide some of the music and White House cooks are busy preparing special fare.

Every effort is being made in the White House to help the newlyweds get off on their honeymoon undetected.

There was one report they planned to tour the United States by car. Nugent has a new 1966 car and Luci a flashy, dark green, three-year-old one.

They were also offered use of the Acapulco resort residence of the president of Mexico.

New Math Discussed By Club

"New Math" was the program topic during the Tuesday afternoon session of the College Park Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the home of Mrs. A. D. Nanny, 3303 Auburn.

Mrs. E. L. Blewett was guest speaker. She described the advantages of a good background in mathematics. She said that parents could help their children learn mathematics by offering encouragement and by staying in close communication with the teachers.

Eight members answered the roll-call question of "What Good Deeds Have I Done?" Welcomed as guests were Mrs. Jimmy Hall and Miss Carol Nanny.

The next meeting will be Aug. 16 for a workshop in handicrafts, with the place to be announced.

MRS. RICHARD LEON GUNTER

Miss Judy Stuteville Weds R. L. Gunter

Miss Judy Leigh Stuteville became the bride of Richard Leon Gunter during a ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the First Assembly of God Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stuteville, 1301 Mulberry, and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Porter of Austin.

The Rev. Homer Rich conducted the ceremony before an altar graced with basket arrangements of yellow and white gladioli interspersed with greenery. Miss Brenda Baker, organist, accompanied Miss Karen Elrod as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white lace over satin, fashioned with a tiered hooped skirt and basque bodice featuring a scooped neckline and long, tapered sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was secured by a jeweled crown, and her only jewelry was a cameo given to her by the bridegroom's mother. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses showered with satin streamers.

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were Miss Chris Hargrove and Miss Carol Burtleson. Their yellow lace shifts featured round necklines and bell sleeves, and each carried a nosegay of yellow chrysanthemums.

Arlen McCarty was best man, and Tommy Moore was groomsmen. The ushers were Lonnie Newton and Harrell Newton, and altar tapers were lighted by Charles Tubbs and Jimmy Stuteville.

COLORADO BASIN DISCUSSION SET IN ODESSA

Water Plan Hearing Monday

First of a series of hearings on the Colorado River Water Basin segment of the proposed Texas Water Plan looking ahead 50 years will be held Monday at Odessa.

The session is to begin at 9 a.m. at the Odessa College Student Union, conducted by a team from the Texas Water Development Board. A number of Big Spring citizens plan to attend, and may include Owen Ivie, Lee O. Rogers and John Taylor of the Colorado River Municipal Water District; Mayor Arnold Marshall, City Manager Larry Crow, and Chamber of Commerce Manager Carroll Davidson.

Subsequent hearings during the week will be concerned with the Colorado River Basin, the Brazos-Colorado, and the Colorado-Lavaca coastal basins.

The Texas Water Plan proposes the construction of six reservoirs at an estimated cost of $132,500,000 as part of the plan to develop and conserve the state's water resources through the year 2020 when there will be an estimated 30,500,000 persons living in Texas.

Reservoirs proposed in the Colorado River Basin include Robert Lee, two miles north-west of Robert Lee on the Colorado River, at an estimated cost of $12,800,000; Stacy, just below the confluence of the Colorado and Concho rivers, $26,400,000; Upper Pecan Bayou, 17 miles northeast of Coleman on Pecan Bayou, $10,500,000; Columbus Bend, two miles west of Columbus on the Colorado River, $44,200,000; Matagorda, four miles north of Matagorda on the Colorado River, $31,300,000; and a replacement of the present Brownwood Reservoir, eight miles north of Brownwood on Pecan Bayou, $7,300,000.

ROBERT LEE

Robert Lee Reservoir, a CRMWD project, is already scheduled for construction in September, 1967. Columbus Bend Reservoir is expected to be needed during the period from 1967 to 1979; Stacy is expected to be needed between 1980 and 1990, and Matagorda may be needed between 1990 and 2020. Pecan Bayou Reservoir may be needed as early as 1990 for flood control. An early need for the rehabilitation of the dam for Lake Brownwood is seen to assure the continuing usefulness of the reservoir.

There is also consideration of additional flood control in the Colorado River Basin — on the large tributaries above the Lower Colorado River Authority system and in the lower basin near Columbus and LaGrange.

DIVERSION

The proposed plan of development includes a segment of the coastal transbasin diversion facilities included in the State Water Project. The conveyance channel is planned to enter the basin from the Brazos-Colorado Coastal Basin north of Eagle Lake and extend to a Colorado River Inflow point in south Central Colorado County. It would use a short section of the Colorado River as a channel—to the vicinity of Garwood where water would be diverted to the coastal transbasin canal to the Lavaca River basin.

The facility, as proposed, will deliver imported water to the Colorado River basin and will also serve to transmit water to be exported from the basin to the adjoining Lavaca River basin, the Colorado-Lavaca and the Brazos-Colorado coastal basins.

TO SAN ANTONIO

The proposed Texas Water Plan includes the transbasin diversion of 170,000 acre-feet annually by 2020 to San Antonio. The conveyance channel would start at the Colorado River near Austin and extend to San Antonio through southern Travis County, Hays and Comal counties and part of Bexar County.

The TWP also provides for importation of water from Lake Meredith in the Canadian River Basin to serve part of the needs of Brownfield and Lamesa. It is planned to continue through 2020 exportation of 2,400 acre-feet annually to Sweetwater in the Brazos River Basin from Oak Creek Reservoir.

Construction of the proposed reservoirs in the basin would give the Colorado River Basin a total of 25 major reservoirs.

The mammoth statewide water plan calls for the construction of 53 reservoirs in the next 50 years. Also included in the Texas Water Plan is a 980-mile north-south diversion system to meet the rising water requirements of growing Texas. The diversion system will have its origin in the water-rich Sulphur River Basin where water from reservoirs in the basin will serve as the basic supply for the State Water Project.

The proposed SWP interbasin canal would supply a total of 327,800 acre-feet annually to the Colorado River Basin in the coastal area to offset the effect of Stacy Reservoir use in lower basin yield, replacement of diversions proposed to San Antonio (170,000 acre-feet), replacement of additional exportation of irrigation water to the Lavaca River basin (87,800 acre-feet).

Planning for the development of the Colorado River Basin and the coastal basins has been based on healthy increases in population. The 1960 census listed the Colorado River basin as having more than 750,000 population. Projections place the 2020 population at about 2,286,200. Of this, 1,912,900 will be in cities and towns with populations greater than 5,000.

Austin, the state's capital and the basin's ranking city, will continue the number one city in the basin during the next 54 years. The Capital City had a 1960 census figure of 186,448. This is expected to increase to 471,400 by 1990 and to 992,000 by 2020.

Odessa, in the upper portion of the basin, ranked second in population in 1960. It is expected to continue its second place ranking through 1990 when 140,800 persons are expected to live in the West Texas city. However, San Angelo, presently the fourth ranking city in the basin, is expected to overtake Odessa and Midland, third most populous, and move into second place, with a 2020 population of 192,100. Odessa's 2020 figure is projected to be 186,000 while Midland will have an estimated 136,400.

TRIPLE IN 50 YEARS

Big Spring, also in the western portion of the basin, is expected to triple its 1960 census figure of 31,230 by 2020 while Brownfield, Brownwood, Snyder, Ballinger, Colorado City, Elgin, Fredericksburg, and Seminole will double their last census population.

Big Lake's population is expected to jump about four times higher than its 1960 figure; Brady will increase three times its census mark; Coleman will nearly double; Columbus is expected to be nearly five times larger than it was six years ago; Giddings nearly four times larger; LaGrange is expected to follow the Giddings pattern; Goldthwaite's expected growth is set at nearly five times the 1960 census; San Saba and Smithville will more than double the '60 census and Wharton and Winters will show big increases.

STANTON'S LAST COTTON GIN ON WAY OUT
Town famed for its cotton is now without single cotton gin

Stanton Moves Three Cotton Gins Out Of City Limits

By SAM BLACKBURN

STANTON — Stanton, county seat of a county which is famous in West Texas for the cotton it produces and a community which relies to no small degree on cotton for its prosperity, is now a town without a cotton gin.

For the first time in over half a century there are no cotton gins in Stanton. This fall, when the present highly promising cotton crop is being processed, the Stanton residents will probably be puzzled by the lack of a distinctive humming sound which has been a part of their lives every fall since 1913.

THREE GINS

Stanton had three gins in operation last year.

They were all located on the south side of the railroad in the town, and the power and telephone lines along the highway were festooned with long, white strands of cotton. The strands are still in evidence, weathered and stained, but the gins are gone. Only the skeleton of the buildings remain and, in another few weeks, these will disappear.

Two of Stanton's gins are now being installed in rebuilt and modified plants two miles west of town on IS 20. These are the Guitler and the Farmers Gin and Cotton Co. installations. They formerly were located in Stanton.

Stanton's third gin was the Farmers Co-op. This, as an entity, has disappeared. It has been sold and a new organization called the Courtney Gin Co. which is building a gin at Courtney, will replace the old Co-op facility.

URBAN RENEWAL

The removal of the gins is a publicized Urban Renewal Project. The gins occupied a part of the area which is under the program of the UR. The agency acquired the property and is razing the old buildings.

The West Texas Compress and Warehouse Co. plant, located to the east of the gins, is outside the city limits and not involved in the renewal area.

Stanton came into existence in 1881 as a railroad section station called Grelton. Soon afterwards, German Catholic settlers from Anderson County came into the area. They asked that the town name be changed to Mariensfield (Mary's Field). They began farming but apparently devoted their attention to wheat, barley and other grain. Their efforts were successful, until 1886, when a drought hit which drove out all but a handful of the original settlers. These survived only because the legislature allocated $700 to help them.

A new wave of settlers came in 1890—these were predominantly Protestant. They asked that the town be renamed Stanton, to honor Lincoln's Secretary of War.

ABOUT 1906

They, too, farmed. However, since the first cotton was not grown in this area until several years later, it is likely a gin was not provided until at least 1906. That was the year Howard County built its first gin. Presumably, farmers in Martin County must have tried their hand at this crop about the time that Howard countians were trying it.

So, it may be assumed the first gin was probably built in Stanton around 60 years ago.

There are no plans now, Stantonites say, to build a new gin anywhere in the town's limits.

SORGHUM AS COVER CROP DEMONSTRATED

Cover-Crop Plan Advised To Check Soil Erosion

With a majority of all of the farm lands of the Martin-Howard County Soil and Water Conservation district planted to cotton in two-four skip row pattern, there is likely to be a sharp increase in the amount of soil erosion from both wind and water, according to J. C. Wall, soil conservation engineer with the agency.

He recommends use of cover crops to prevent such erosion and to increase and improve the soils.

Cover crops, he said, are close growing grasses, sorghums, legumes, small grains and are used primarily for summer and winter protection and soil improvement.

Another purpose is to improve the physical, chemical and biological condition of the soil.

Wall named small grains, Austrian winter peas, (planted with small grains) millets, sorghums and sorghums with cow peas. He excepted blackeyes and Grohler guar.

SANDSTORMS TO COME

Wall said that a large number of farmers are planting the blank rows of their fields. These farmers, he said, are thinking ahead to the sandstorms of next spring, and are preparing now to help prevent their cover crops from blowing. He said these farmers are also working to conserve water and are keenly aware of the importance of cover crops in this respect.

Soils which have adequate residue, and cover will not "seal over" and keep raindrops from hitting the ground. They have a much higher intake water rate.

The farmers in the area who have turned to this conservation effort have learned, Wall said, they can plant these cover crops in a wide variety of ways without the crops competing with their cotton for moisture.

In this manner after the cotton has passed the critical stages will reach a height of 10 to 15 inches before the frost kills it. This residue left standing will help protect the soil until planting time the following spring.

When left on the surface of the soil, residue will help keep the young cotton next spring from sandblasting.

SMALL GRAIN

Still another way to provide cover for the blank rows is to drill small grain such as barley, oats, rye as winter cover crops.

These can be planted in October or November. Where cotton is to be rotated to the middle rows the following year it is advisable to kill the small grain before the booting stage to prevent the loss of winter moisture. Large sweeps is the most beneficial way to kill the small grain since it leaves the largest amount of residue on top.

Wall asks that any farmer in search of additional information contact him at the Soil and Water Conservation Service offices.

SORGHUMS

If grain sorghums are to be harvested the planting is in the middle two rows at the regular planting date. Forage sorghums such as redtop, sudan grass and similar plants can be sowed in the two middle rows and then shredded if it becomes too tall. Some farmers wait until late July or mid-August and drill forage sorghums in the two middle blanks. Interplanting at this date, Wall pointed out, is the most accepted method and creates little competition between the cotton and the cover crop for moisture.

New Spain's Pride--Mission Of La Bahia--Now Restored

By ED SYERS
Most of us remember Goliad a tragic page in Texas history; but, with three years' painstaking restoration complete, its massive Presidio La Bahia now shows what it also once was: from Panama north, one of New Spain's proudest mission-fort complexes.

This extraordinary restoration—big outer walls and their flanking crenels and bastions below the stern hilltop chapel—was quietly accomplished by Victoria's Kathryn O'Connor Foundation and San Augustine historical architect Raiford L. Stribling.

Now comes Goliad's young Mark Davis, "just an interested student," but who forwards a mass of material that may schedule the restored church fortress your next trip.

By August 15, La Bahia will have its museum in full operation—artifacts that show 10 levels of occupancy, back to Indians, hill-camped by the river before the Spaniards.

The restoration itself? Quoted is Victoria historian Roy Grimes, who ranks La Bahia with Alamo not only historically but also as "perhaps the most realistic and authentic of any Texas restorations."

Your time focus is when Fanin's men saw the walls — "a square of about 3 1/2 acres enclosed by a stone wall of eight to 10 feet in height . . . on each side and also along the western walls were rooms built up which served for barracks for the garrison." Those restored rooms now house the museum.

Student Davis reminds of an official 1761 Spanish inspection report on the then 12-year-old establishment (including cross-ver Mission Espiritu Santo) — "great outlying cattle ranch and 500 neophyte Indians vilaged about — comparing with an Antonio's magnificent San Jose as two of New Spain's finest.

Restored La Bahia is big . . .

and aged. You'll feel both in remarkable restoration — from weathered field stone of the walls to old Spanish mortar that holds them.

You'll feel gratitude to a Texas foundation, thoughtful of its heritage. And, with OBT, may be also for an impromptu invitation from young Mark Davis — who speaks well for his town.

Cleburne's Mrs. R. W. Kimbro, Johnson County Historical Survey chairman, locates cattle drives' Brazos crossing at Kimbell (or Kimball), near Blum, with nearby Rio Vista as cross-over bedding area:

"Enclosed is copy of the marker that will be dedicated July 24 to commemorate the highest point from the Brazos crossing—Kimbell's Bend. The drivers bedded in the Rio Vista area—one day's walk—then on to Cleburne, branching for Weatherford or Caddo Peak and Fort Worth. The marker:

"Bennett Home on the Chisholm Trail: In early days grove here was a guide point for cowboys driving cattle north on Chisholm Trail. At the trees, crews made camp. Water was obtained at the home of Richard Bennett family, 1870 settlers from Kentucky . . . (whose) sons were soon trail hands and ranched this land for five generations.

"As a Chisholm Trail campsite, this spot witnessed, 1866-1890, passage of the greatest movement of animals under control of men in all of history."

Ozona's Mrs. R. A. Harrell (for Crockett County Historical Survey Committee): "We have really just begun to work out plans for Fort Lancaster's (Indian-fighting outpost near Sheffield - Ozona) preservation and development. However, we do have a full time caretaker and hardy folk (there's a walk) are welcome to see the Fort as it now exists . . . Kerrville's Charley Chipman: "You asked about old time rock-fences near Hamilton. Early Polish settlers at Bandera built a lot of rock fences . . . still a good many in use—south, along the old English crossing on the Medina Lake road, the Hondo and Tarrytown Roads. The (Nacogdoches) gentleman asked if the ones at Hamilton were before barbed wire; these were — over 100 years old . . . Fort Worth's Mrs. Genie Beck: "I am seeking information about the 'socialist' colony on a peninsula on the Brazos, not far from Granbury . . . can't think of the colony's name nor the founder's, but some pupils of mine went to the place once and brought me back a brick . . . Is it covered by the Brazos now?" Note: Miss Beck likely refers to the share-work, share-wealth 1920's colony of Kristenstad.

Arnhart Gets Scholarship To Crusade

Larry Arnhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Arnhart, 2304 Thorpe, has been notified that he is a recipient of a scholarship to the Christian Crusade Youth Seminar in Colorado Springs, Colo., beginning Aug. 14. The seminar will be concerned with lectures on the Bible, free enterprise economics and Christian anti-communism.

Among the featured speakers will be Dr. Fernando Penabaz, attorney and professor from the University of Havana, Cuba; Frank Kluckholm, author and former correspondent for the New York Times; Bruce Alger, former Dallas congressman; and Pedro Diaz Lanz, former member of Fidel Castro's Air Force who testified against Castro at a Congressional committee hearing.

The students will be trained in public speaking and organizing local chapters of the Torchbearers, the Christian Crusade youth organization. Arnhart is presently chairman of the Big Spring chapter and has spoken to various church and civic groups on Christian anti-communism.

Electronics Parts Show In Lubbock On July 31

Date for a Southwestern Electronics Parts Show, to be held at the Koko Palace in Lubbock, has been set for July 31, with two sessions, at 9 a.m. and 10:30 p.m.

PAUL GARVER

Nunn Electric Supply Company is sponsor of the show, and is inviting all those over the area who are actively engaged in the electronic industry.

Nunn staged such a show last year and reports that this year there will be twice as many factories participating and displaying latest developments in the electronics field. There will be door prizes, a buffet luncheon, and refreshments during the day.

Paul Garver of Deptford, N.J. general manager of parts and accessories for RCA, will be keynote speaker; and H. C. Horton, national manager of technical services for the same company will conduct a color school.

Garver joined RCA in 1947. As a divisional general manager, he is responsible for directing an activity which maintains parts support for virtually all of RCA's commercial products in use throughout the world.

104's Take Part In Ceremonies

Lt. Col. M. W. Shareck Jr., commander, 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, has announced that five Mach 2 F-104As will be deployed to Buckley Air National Guard Base, Colo., July 27 for participation in a farewell salute to General Deane C. Strother, commander in chief, North American Air Defense Command.

General Strother retires July 29 after more than 35 years in the Air Force.

Lt. Col. Wallace E. Lowman, operations officer, will lead the flight of Starfighters. Capt. Richard L. Davis will fly left wing, Capt. William B. Crewe will fly right wing and Capt. Joseph A. Murphy will fill the slot position. Capt. Douglas A. Beyer will serve as airborne spare.

Capt. Neal Takes Over Webb Information Post

Capt. D. W. Neal is new Information officer at Webb Air Force Base, replacing 2nd Lt. James E. Laney Jr. Lt. Laney, who has served as chief of the information Division since March, 1965, is scheduled to enter pilot training early in the fall.

CAPT. D. W. NEAL

Capt. Neal came to Webb from Baylor University in Waco, where he recently completed his master's degree in education. He entered Baylor under the "Bootstrap" program in January, going there from James Connally AFB, where he had served as a navigator instructor since April 1962.

From July, 1960, until his Connally assignment, Capt. Neal had served as an instructor at Harlingen AFB. He completed navigational training at Harlingen between October, 1959 and July, 1960.

Prior to entering training as a navigator, Capt. Neal completed primary pilot training at Moore AFB, and took basic pilot training at Greenville AFB, Miss., from July to October, 1959.

A 1952 graduate of Burbank (Ohio) High School, Capt. Neal received his bachelor of science degree from Ohio State University in 1956. He taught vocational agriculture for one year before he entered the service.

During his Air Force career, Capt. Neal has attended the Academics Instructors School at Randolph AFB, Squadron Officers School, Maxwell AFB, Ala., and the Information Officers School at Lackland AFB.

The captain's wife, Lynn, is also a graduate of Ohio State University and is a registered nurse. They have three children: Deborah Lynn, 11, Donald W. Jr., 8, and Diane Kathryn, 3.

Story Of Goliad Told In New Book

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

GOLIAD, 130 YEARS AFTER, by Roy Grimes (Victoria Advocate Printing Co., $2.75)

Gen. Sam Houston probably never read — until it was too late, if ever — the correspondence between the Mexicans about the captives of Goliad.

Had he done so, it is unlikely that he would have treated Gen. Santa Anna with the courtesy of a prisoner of war after he captured the president of Mexico at the Battle of San Jacinto.

Goliad has been re-created by Roy Grimes in a series for his newspaper, the Victoria Advocate, and recently published in book form.

He tells the story largely through correspondence and direct quotes from the survivors and letters from some who were mowed down at Goliad, a mission and administrative point southwest of Victoria.

The goat of the Goliad battle was Col. James Fannin Jr., sometimes called a hero for reason unknown except that he was shot like 34 others.

Fannin, attempting to join Gen. Houston's troops and faced with superior Mexican forces, chose a plain as his battlefield when historians say he could have reached shelter. The Mexicans quickly surrounded them and the Americans surrendered.

Scattered bands of other Texas soldiers also were captured and taken to Goliad.

They were held in a form of loose captivity, and most thought they would be returned to their homes.

Actually, almost none were Texas residents. They were adventurers or patriots who formed up in Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky and Ireland.

Then came the final letter from Gen. Santa Anna. He earlier gave orders that all those opposing the Mexicans who bore arms were to be considered pirates and shot.

But the Goliad commander, Lt. Col. J. N. de la Portilla, believed the captives were to be spared. So did his immediate superior, Brig. Gen. Jose Urrea at Victoria.

But Santa Anna sent a courier with a letter demanding in no uncertain terms that his "pirate" order be carried out immediately.

That was done. The men were marched out in groups and shot. The wounded were carried outside the makeshift hospital and dispatched.

The Alamo at least was a fight. This was plain murder.

However, about 120 persons were saved. Col. De la Portilla ruled that many were taken without arms and did not kill them. He saved the doctors and Dr. Joseph H. Barnard's journal is an important part of the book.

For a long time, "Remember Goliad" was a more emotional fighting phrase in Texas than "Remember the Alamo." — The AP.

JIM BOWIE'S LOST MINE, by M. E. Francis (Naylor, $2.95)

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN, by Walter F. McCaleb (Naylor, $2.00)

The Naylor Co. of San Antonio recently has published two books for children about Texas history.

"Stephen F. Austin" is a straight story of the "Father of Texas" and his troubles in helping found the colony. The author, Walter F. McCaleb, has written numerous historical books about the Southwest.

"Jim Bowie's Lost Mine" appears as much legend as fact. It recites that Bowie found the legendary lost San Saba mines by ingratiating himself with the Indian tribe guarding the secret entrance. The book says Bowie led an unsuccessful attempt to capture the mine. Whatever he knew about the location died with him at the Alamo. — The AP.

Alec Guinness Stars In Jet War Picture

Alec Guinness was nominated for an Academy Award as "the best actor of the year" for his performance in "The Bridge on the River Kwai," the Columbia picture at the Jet Theatre which won more than 30 international awards. William Holden and Jack Hawkins also star in "The Bridge on the River Kwai," the CinemaScope-Technicolor drama which won seven other Oscar nominations, including that for "best picture." In addition to Guinness, featured player Sessue Hayakawa was nominated for best supporting actor and director David Lean for best director. Other Academy Award nominations included those for best musical score, best film editing, best photography and best screen play.

Guinness, with his record of dazzling versatility as a stage and screen star, once was told he was wasting his time when he first auditioned for a stage role. Years later, following a considerable success on the stage in London and on Broadway, he applied for his first film role only to be told that he was "not quite the type for a film actor."

Guinness has quietly and gratifyingly ignored these career road blocks. "The Bridge on the River Kwai" is the high watermark of an exceptionally brilliant career during which he has made a world-wide reputation as a Shakespearean star, and has entranced and delighted film audiences with pictures like "The Captain's Paradise," "The Man in the White Suit," "The Ladykillers" and "The Lavender Hill Mob," to cite just a few of his many screen triumphs.

Robinson, a tense, quiet-voiced man with few illusions, has been associated with high-level entertainment shows for years. He was one of the many faces of CBS's old, revered "Playhouse 90."

Robinson's assignment has been to gather interesting, unusual properties. In his quest he has been flying around the world like an astronaut. Among other items, he has lined up a documentary film on the Battle of the Bulge; Ingrid Bergman in a one-character drama by Jean Cocteau; Truman Capote narrating an adaptation of his "Christmas Memory," and an original comedy by Murray Schisgal, author of the stage hit "Luv."

Meanwhile, the other networks are busily searching out durable stage plays to adapt to television. Old works by writers like Tennessee Williams and Arthur Miller are in great demand. The big trick is to find good new material.

"We've literally been flooded with ideas," Robinson said recently. "I would estimate that 90 per cent of them come to us through agents—and I would also estimate that 95 per cent of them are unusable."

'ARABESQUE' Gregory Peck and Sophia Loren

Suspense Comedy Arrives At Ritz

Tingling with suspense and loaded with laughter, the season's comedy thriller starring Gregory Peck and Sophia Loren in "Arabesque," comes today to the Ritz Theatre. It is photographed in England in Technicolor.

Peck plays an American professor of archaeology at Oxford who is innocently, and sometimes, hilariously involved in middle eastern intrigue. The beautiful Miss Loren portrays a seductive Arabian espionage agent with tremendous style and appeal. She wears an especially created, Christian Dior wardrobe including 14 outfits and all the accessories, plus 50 pairs of shoes. These costumes alone are valued at more than $150,000.

Supporting Greg and Sophia is an excellent cast with top troupers by Alan Badel, Kieron Moore, John Merivale, Duncan Lamont and George Coulouris.

A scenic plus is provided by Technicolor cameras which cover London's major tourist attractions in progressing the story's plot. Included are Trafalgar Square, the British Museum, London Zoo, Regent's Park, London Airport, the Royal Enclosure at Ascot, Oxford University and Waterloo Station.

Based on "The Cipher" by Gordon Collier, the adventure with its ingenious climax has an outstanding musical score by Academy Award winner Henry Mancini.

Prize Winner Opens Tuesday

"The Subject Was Roses," the recent Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Frank Glatzer, will be presented at the Dallas Theater Center beginning Tuesday, July 26, on the Down Center Stage. The play, which completed its Broadway run in May, also won the Drama Critics Circle Award and the Antoinette Perry Award.

Teachers May Deduct Cost Of Schooling

DALLAS — Summer school expenses of teachers may be deductible on Federal income tax returns, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for northern Texas, has reminded taxpayers.

If the course or courses are taken to maintain or improve the skills required in performing the duties of the taxpayer's present employment, or to meet the express requirements of the employer to retain current salary, status or employment, then the expenses are deductible, Campbell said.

Educational expenses include amounts spent for tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees and certain travel and transportation costs.

If the education or training is undertaken to obtain a new position, or a substantial advancement in the present position, or to fulfill general educational and personal aspirations, the expenses are not deductible, Campbell said.

Tonsillitis Cases Take Big Jump

Fifty cases of tonsillitis were reported in Howard County for the week of July 17 - 24, the Howard County Health Unit announced Friday. The health unit's report, which is compiled weekly from the lists of area doctors and hospitals, showed a rise in impetigo, with six cases reported.

A breakdown of ailments was diarrhea, seven; bronchial pneumonia, four; measles, three; and tuberculosis, gonorrhea and syphilis, one each.

Hearing Slated On School Budget

Public hearing will be held Aug. 1 at 8 p.m. in the superintendent's office on the Coahoma Independent School District budget for the new year.

It calls for expenditures of $511,195, compared with a current year outlay of $496,807. The small increase is attributable to teacher pay increments, officials said. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Birth Defects Program Studied By New Nurse

"Any child with a birth defect can be referred to the centers in Dallas and Galveston," said Mrs. Betsy Puckett, county health nurse. "At both centers, the 'total picture' of the child is brought into focus—his physical, mental and emotional well being is considered."

Mrs. Puckett recently returned from an educational meeting for birth defects workers at the Birth Defects Center in John Sealy Hospital, Galveston. As a county nurse, she is directly or indirectly connected with most of the health agencies in the area.

"At Galveston there are now 18 full-time workers—doctors, psychologists and nurses—ready to help the child with a birth defect," Mrs. Puckett said. "All are charged on an 'able-to-pay' basis."

Mrs. Puckett took over as county nurse March 1, replacing Mrs. Howard Sherill, who is now a school nurse at Coahoma. A native of Houston, she attended schools there and took her nurse's training at Houston Memorial Hospital. She later went to work as an industrial nurse for Humble Oil & Refining Co. She married Ray Puckett in

Texas Retail Sales Show Unseasonable Rise

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas retail sales rose unseasonably to $1,230,400,000 in June because of "greatly expanded durable goods sales," the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

The bureau said sales normally drop by several percentage points from May to June. This year, there was a 5 per cent climb, the bureau said.

Durable goods sales—such things as furniture, autos and household appliances—totaled $490.3 million in June, offsetting a 1 per cent decline in nondurables.

"Businesses showing large increases in the durable sales category were automotive stores and lumber and building material dealers," the report said. For six months, retail sales children; sees that all tuberculosis patients get the proper care, works with the crippled children's program at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

"In addition, we are now working with the Head Start program for pre-school youngsters in the Big Spring Schools," Mrs. Puckett said that during the "busy seasons," fall, winter and spring, over 100 immunizations per week are given.

She and her husband, who is a field superintendent at Forsan for Humble Oil & Refining Co., celebrated their silver wedding anniversary June 21. Puckett has been employed for nearly 30 years with Humble.

The Pucketts have three sons, Ray Jr., 23, works in Midland; Don, 21, is a graduate of the Naval Academy and is studying this summer at Mare Island, Calif.; and Richard, 19, has completed his first year at the Naval Academy and will be home for one month this weekend.

Webb Upgrades Pavilion Area

The Webb AFB pavilion area located west of the golf course is undergoing improvements, it was reported by Phil Hines, chief, Personnel Services.

Civil Engineering is completing work on 15 new picnic shelters and barbecue pits. When completed, the pavilion area will offer a softball field, playground equipment and drinking water facilities by each shelter.

Work is also being completed on a new road through the pavilion area. Landscaping will begin later this year.

The pond located just north of the pavilion has recently been dug out and restocked. The area will be open to all personnel and dependents, said Hines.
