Bombers Raid Viet Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. B52 raid brought into the open Saturday hostilities over a border sector of Viet Nam that was supposed, under the Geneva Agreement of 1954, to be free of military activity. Officially it is the demilitarized zone.

The ground-breaking American strike, loosed at dawn in the southern half of the six-mile-wide strip along the frontier at the 17th Parallel, stirred moderate to heavy anti-aircraft fire from clandestinely emplaced enemy guns.

OTHER ASPECTS

In other aspects of the war: Briefing officers announced that U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops had killed the equivalent of two battalions of North Viet Nam's 324B Infantry Division in Operation Hastings. This is a 15-day-old campaign just south of the demilitarized zone. The list of counted enemy dead rose to 830. Though some Marine units had been mauled, over-all allied casualties were called light.

Soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division probed a long-time Viet Cong stamping ground in Binh Duong Province, 50 miles north of Saigon, with no immediate contact. They were involved in a large, new sweep-and-destroy operation code-named Springfield.

Strikers Vote Today On Whopping Hike

Bolivian Farmers Find Straying U2

PANAMA, C.Z. (AP)—Wreckage found by farmers in west-central Bolivia was identified positively Saturday as a U.S. Air Force U2 reconnaissance plane that had vanished on a flight out of Louisiana Thursday.

INVESTIGATION

An announcement from the U.S. Southern Command headquarters in the Panama Canal Zone said the wreckage and remains of the pilot, Capt. Robert D. Hickman, 32, of Alexandria, La., father of six, would be taken to Oruro in Bolivia for transportation to the United States and a detailed investigation of the cause of the crash. Oruro is 52 miles east of the crash site and about 140 miles south of La Paz, the Bolivian capital.

POSITIVE IDENTIFICATION

Col. Louis J. Churchville, public affairs officer for the U.S. Southern Command here, said positive identification of the plane and the remains of Hickman had been made by an investigating team headed by Lt. Col. Edward J. Fox, air attaché of the U.S. Embassy in La Paz. Fox and his team reached Oruro late Friday night and left for the crash site at dawn Saturday.

"They will conduct a preliminary investigation and coordinate with Bolivian armed forces personnel to clear the crash area and collect the wreckage," Churchville's announcement said.

The announcement also reported two U.S. Air Force HC130 search and rescue aircraft left their staging base in Lima, Peru, for La Paz to be at Lt. Col. Fox's disposal.

ROUTINE MISSION

The long-winged U2, capable of flying at altitudes above 90,000 feet, took off Thursday morning on what the Air Force described as a routine mission from Barksdale Air Base, La. Its mission and destination were not disclosed.

U2s, however, have been used for reconnaissance of Cuba.

Suffocation Ruled, Man Found Dead

A man identified as Chester William Cox, 42, who seems to have lived in Beaumont, died of suffocation in the Phillips Motel at 10:30 p.m. Friday. A mattress on fire filled the room with smoke, and the man, apparently unable to find the way to the door, was suffocated.

An autopsy was performed Saturday afternoon. The surgeon said he found the lungs filled with fluid and other symptoms to support the theory of smoke suffocation. There were no indications of other injuries. There were minor abrasions on the face and neck, but these may have been caused by the victim's efforts to escape from the smoke-filled room. He had not been burned.

The victim worked for the Johnson Elevator Company, according to cards found on his person.

The body was removed to the Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, ordered the autopsy.

The funeral home located a woman in Austin who said she was the former wife of the victim. She also told the funeral home that the man's mother lived in the vicinity and that she would tell her of her son's death.

Later the body was ordered removed to Luling where it was taken Saturday night.

City firemen answered the call after smoke was seen seeping from the motel room. They broke into the room and found Cox sprawled on the floor between the bed and a window. Firemen administered mouth-to-mouth respiration pending arrival of an ambulance. There was no response.

Other than to the mattress and some smoke stains, the fire caused little damage in the room.

Cox had been registered at the motel for three days, police were told. He had a new model automobile.

Wilson Happy With Parley

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson returned from Washington talks Saturday, happy with President Johnson's "understanding" of the Labor government's money troubles but gloomy about prospects of peace in Viet Nam.

Wilson indicated much of his talk with the President had explored the Southeast Asian conflict, and he emerged with the conclusion that "there is no immediate prospect of any peace talks."

Even more pessimistic was word from Moscow, where United Nations Secretary-General U Thant had sought ways of softening up the Soviet Union's position so that some door to peace negotiations might be pried open.

Doubles Johnson's Former Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking airlines mechanics won a whopping hike in wages of 72 cents an hour plus fringe benefits in the White House contract agreement, it was learned Saturday.

HEFTY PACKAGE

The hefty package, spread over three years, is an annual increase of 6 to 7 per cent, about double the White House guideline for curbing wage demands the government considers inflationary.

But fears remained over whether the 35,000 strikers would approve the contract proposal in voting across the country Sunday. And not a plane of the five grounded airlines will fly until they do. The lines struck July 8 are Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World, and United.

President Johnson, announcing the agreement Friday night, appeared to anticipate criticism over the size of the settlement when he said airline labor costs were so low no price hikes would follow.

Whether the airlines would withdraw the fare reductions proposed to the Civil Aeronautics Board was not known immediately.

NOT INFLATIONARY

"This settlement will not be inflationary," Johnson said. Wage increases alone total 56 cents an hour over the three years for 19,000 mechanics, 31 cents more than demanded. But in return the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists gave up its insistence on a cost-of-living wage escalator clause and pension improvements. The 16,000 other strikers — fuelers, gas-truck drivers, maintenance men, stock cleaners and janitors — will get the same percentage wage hikes but less in money because their pay scales are below the mechanics' current rate of $3.52 an hour.

Some 8,000 flight-line mechanics inspectors and crew chiefs will get an extra pay differential of 5 cents an hour on top of the 56-cent hike.

The 5-cent flight-line wage differential was viewed as the most costly fringe benefit in the contract proposal.

All the strikers will get up to $2 a week in added company-paid medical benefits to cover members of their families, virtually wiping out the health-benefit deduction that now comes out of their paycheck.

BETTER VACATIONS

The union won improved vacations — four weeks after 15 years' service instead of the present 20 years, and three weeks after 8 years instead of the current 10 years.

The details were learned despite the lid of secrecy clamped on by the White House until the strikers vote on the contract.

The outcome of the vote will be known sometime Sunday night.

The contract is retroactive to last Jan. 1, and the 35,000 strikers will get lump-sum back pay averaging $200 per man.

Marchers Walk Into Barrage

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators marched into the center and lined roofs on both sides of the street.

The march was resumed and a few more missiles were tossed. Police rushed hecklers in a vacant lot and drove them away.

One Negro girl was struck in the face by a rock. A policeman was struck on the shoulder by a rock. One Negro youth struck by a bottle was placed in a police car. More than 50 youths charged the vehicle but police sent them running by using their night sticks.

Police estimate that more than 500 persons gathered at the real estate office. The marchers were estimated to number more than 300.

WATER SPRAY

The whites countered with signs lettered "Go Home, Nigger," and "White Power." At one point the paraders were stopped by a sprinkler that sprayed the sidewalk with water. But the owner removed it after a 15-minute delay. Further on, seven or eight youths sat down on the sidewalk and blocked the procession for a few minutes.

Police formed a buffer zone in front of the real estate office.

Police Beef Up Patrols In Troubled Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A double shift of policemen patrolled areas of potential racial trouble in Baltimore Saturday night as they received reports of scattered racial incidents.

Police drew no obvious connection between the incidents and white supremacist rallies which were blamed for a major disturbance Thursday night.

Three persons affiliated with the National States Rights party were free on bond totaling $10,000 on charges arising from the rallies. An injunction has been handed down forbidding further rallies in the city.

A tense calm prevailed on the strength of a pledge from the three — Charles C. Lynch of San Bernardino, Calif., and Joseph Carroll and Richard Norton, both of Baltimore — that rallies would not be held over the weekend.

Two other persons, neither of whom spoke at the rallies, also were charged with riot, inciting a riot, conspiring to riot, disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct. Authorities said the two, Edwin F. Hendle and Paul Cordle, both of Baltimore, were still at large and had not been served with the grand jury presentments.

"I feel pretty optimistic," said Maj. Gen. George M. Gelston, the police commissioner, as he described as overplayed a report of a small-scale gang fight between white and Negro youths in a section of East Baltimore.

ANNOUNCED GOAL REACHED A YEAR EARLY

U.S. Military Build-Up Continuing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The massive build-up of U.S. armed strength has passed its announced goal of 3,093,000 a year ahead of time. There are strong indications the build-up will continue.

NOT SPECIFIC Pentagon officials are reluctant to talk in specific terms about the eventual size of the military forces.

Questioned, Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said, "We cannot see clearly at this time what will be required."

Vance added that "we do not know yet" what the upper limit on military manpower will be.

Other sources said force planning currently was projected ahead three months at a time. The course of the war in Viet Nam is the major factor that will determine the level to which over-all American armed strength will be raised.

CLIMB HIGHER

The U.S. force in Viet Nam

currently totals more than 280,000 men. This total is expected to climb to about 400,000 by the end of this year and probably higher next year.

If conditions should dictate a bigger-than-expected reinforcement in Viet Nam, the effects would be felt throughout the military establishment.

For example, the sending of an appreciably greater force to Viet Nam would require an increase in the number of recruits and units to fill the holes left in the Garrison in the United States.

A larger force in Viet Nam, under a one-year tour of duty, would necessitate a step up in the output of replacements.

The big U.S. build-up was set in motion just one year ago.

BEFORE THAT

Subsequent to that, Congress was asked to provide funds to augment the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force by 452,000 men.

Under the schedule laid out for Congress by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the new level of 3,093,109 men was to be reached by June 30, 1967.

However, the build-up progressed so swiftly that the objective was reached — and surpassed by a little — as of June 30 this year. This was shown in official figures released this week.

As of June 30, the Army stood at 1,199,764 men, some 34,000 short of the immediate goal. The Marine Corps totaled 261,659 as against an objective of 278,184.

The Navy was pegged at 744,626, up about 17,000 from stated goals. The Air Force totaled 887,307, higher by about 34,000.

The continued high level of the draft is still another indicator that the build-up is progressing without letup.

'IS HE COLD? IS HE HUNGRY? HE'S THE ONLY ONE WE HAVE'

Their Only Surviving Child Is Viet Cong Captive

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Days of quiet concern about the fate of their Army officer son — an only surviving child — have stretched into weeks, months and years for a McAllen couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rowe.

CAPTURED Capt. James Nicholas Rowe, 28, was captured by the Viet Cong in October, 1963, and his parents haven't heard from him since. Rowe was with the special forces — a green beret.

As a boy of six he vowed to go to West Point, after the death of an older brother, who was a cadet.

The Rowes call him "Nick" and "Nikki." Their only daughter, Mary Alice, died in 1936 at the age of 11. Their other son, Richard, died in February, 1944, a few months before he was to graduate from West Point.

The Rowes took Nick to West Point to attend graduation ceremonies for Richard's class and while there Nick vowed to become a cadet "to carry out the things Richard had planned," Rowe said.

DEEP BONDS The Rowes talk little about Nick's capture, and approach it with a philosophical calm. But there are obvious deep bonds of affection — and they glimmer when Mrs. Rowe laughingly says:

"Nick would be furious if he heard us talking about him at all." "We don't try to write him," she said, "What's the use of sending letters when he can't answer us? What can we say, except something innocuous?"

"Nick knows we will carry on and the fact that he's aware of that may help his morale, too. We're his private cheering section. We'll stand by and hope that he returns to us."

Once a month they get a personal letter from the Army adjutant general's office. A recent one began:

"No further word has been received concerning your son since I last wrote to you." On a recent pleasant evening, as they reminisced, old letters gradually were brought out and picture albums were taken from a cabinet beneath the book-filled shelves that line one wall of their modest, comfortable home.

HEAVY MIST As the quiet talk went on, heavy mist clouded Florence Rowe's eyes and she spoke for a moment in the slow voice of despair:

"To wait and wait and wait and wait. No word, sometimes I worry: 'Is he cold? Is he hungry? He's the only one we have.'"

Rowe keeps a birthday letter Nick sent him eight years ago: "You and mom have given me a foundation that should support our family for generations — if I am able to convey the same ideals to my children."

"If you don't have faith," Rowe said, "what do you have? Wherever he is, he's doing the best he knows how."

"There is another thing that I believe Nick knows. And that's how this town feels about him. I can't go to the store and just buy groceries and leave. Everyone asks about him and they're all saying prayers for him — the Catholics, the Protestants and the Jewish. Everyone."

Nick left behind a fiancée he met while training at Ft. Bragg, N.C. She was distraught, the Rowes said, and they asked her to visit them.

MARRIED

"We got her to start dating again and told her to pick up her life and go on," Mrs. Rowe said. The young woman was married to an Army officer last February.

The Rowes had comforted Richard's fiancée 20 years earlier.

Capt. Rowe, 5-foot-8, 150 pounds, lettered in four sports at McAllen High School. At West Point he played guard for the 150-pound football team and in his senior year won a best company commander award.

"Nick always said he felt he had Richard backing him at every crucial time at the academy," Rowe said.

At the Army language school in Monterey, Calif., Capt. Rowe learned mandarin Chinese and Laotian, the Rowes said.

Rowe was with the Motor Transportation Corps during World War I and met Mrs. Rowe while both worked for the American Red Cross' commission to Poland. They were married in Warsaw in 1921.

CIVIC WORK

Rowe, 71, is a real estate operator. Mrs. Rowe has spent much of her time doing civic work. She has been a member of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission and the Texas Council on Human Relations and for 12 years was volunteer secretary of the McAllen Citizens League, a private group that promotes civic improvement.

ONE SADDLEBAG STILL TO GO
Mrs. Garner Thixton readies for 5,000-mile motorcycle ride

Thixtons Plan To Ride 5,000 Miles On Cycle

By SAM BLACKBURN
"In a way, it's a present for my 30th birthday, I suppose," observed Mrs. Garner Thixton, Sterling City, Mo., as she tucked a few additional items into one of an already bulging saddlebags.

"It will be fun . . . I think," she added. Her birthday is Sunday.

The "present" of which she spoke is a 5,000 mile tour of the southern and eastern half of the United States and parts of Canada — aboard her husband's shiny new motorcycle.

"The farthest I have ridden so far," admitted Mrs. Thixton, "was to San Angelo."

She admits that neither she nor her husband, who is a civil service worker at Webb AFB, "have had the nerve" to sit down and figure out just how many miles their itinerary will cover. She "guessed" it might take in 5,000 miles — with a lot of sightseeing sidetrips they plan en route.

DROPPING THE KIDS
The Thixtons set out late Friday, with the motorcycle riding on a trailer back of their family car. Their actual motorcycle ride, with Thixton at the handlebars and Mrs. Thixton hanging on at the rear of the "buddy" seat, starts Sunday from Lake Jackson. The car part of the trip is to distribute the five little Thixtons with relatives at Corpus Christi, where Mrs. Thixton formerly lived, and at Lake Jackson.

They will leave the car at Lake Jackson, board the Harley-Davidson and take off Sunday.

day for Houston — first stop on their itinerary.

A sight seeing layover in New Orleans is planned and then the Thixtons will hit the road for Florida. When the Everglade state has been inspected, they will head up the Atlantic coast. There will be numerous stops including historic Williamsburg, Va. The coastal runs in Long Island where Mrs. Tom McKnight, a sister of Thixton, lives. After a visit there, the tourists will be on their way to Montreal and from Montreal across Ontario to Detroit.

TO VISIT FACTORY
After Detroit, they will check out (Chicago and head for Milwaukee where Harley-Davidson cycles are made and where they will visit the plant. En route back home, the last scheduled important stop is in Arkansas with relatives and then back to Lake Jackson.

"We'll pick up the kids and the car and be heading for home," said Mrs. Thixton. The trip is set for 18 days.

The big motorcycle is heavily laden. A locker box is fastened to the rear. Back of it is a saddle roll in which are sleeping bags and other items. Both of the king-sized saddlebags bulge with other equipment. Included is a kit of tools for repair jobs along the route.

"We plan to camp out as much as we can. Of course, if the weather gets bad, we'll have to change our plans. We have a cooking kit along and will probably fix a lot of our meals on the roadside," Mrs. Thixton explained.

Her husband is a veteran at the art of cycling. He started riding when he was nine, his wife says.

She can operate a little motorcycle but "my legs are too short for me to handle the Harley-Davidson well," she said.

Co-Op Meeting Set Tuesday In C-City

COLORADO CITY — Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, Inc. in Colorado City, is having its 27th annual membership meeting Tuesday, at 6 p.m. in Lone Wolf Co-opatorium.

There will be coffee, donuts, cookies, and cakes for everyone before the meeting. Also, live entertainment will be provided by a local group known as the "Pacers."

Emcee and humorist for the evening will be Leon Hill, a retired Baptist minister and evangelist. He is a noted humorist, traveler, philosopher, and author, and promises to promote plenty of laughter throughout the meeting.

Linda Wiggins and Dennis Grizzle, of Ira, will have a slide presentation of their trip to Washington D. C. which was sponsored by Lone Wolf Electric.

There will be over $1500 worth of prizes given away this year including a door prize for each member registering.

The nominating committee of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, Inc. has named the following to be voted upon at the annual meeting from which three directors will be elected to serve the Cooperative for the ensuing three years: Area 11, Roscoe Hudgins and Alfred Hackfeld; Area III, Ed Roach and C. N. Stubbfield; Area VIII, Sam Williams and Graham Smith.

Pre-School Group Meets Aug. 13

The Permian Basin Pre-School Association will meet Aug. 13 at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, 306 W. 3rd, at 2 p.m. Jim Thompson, director of the center and Mrs. William Cottrell, speech therapist, will be the speaker.

Jack and Jill Nursery and Kindergarten of Big Spring will host the meeting. Mrs. Helen Jones, of that facility, is the new president of the association.

During the business meeting, plans for the coming year will be discussed. The group will also discuss the possibility of publishing day care pamphlets and day care advertising in newspapers. In addition, films will be selected for professional growth.

Loyd Brings Back Dad's New Plane From Florida

By DAL HERRING
Don Loyd, 18, Wednesday brought a Comanche 140 back to Big Spring from Vero Beach, Fla. The trim red and white plane was purchased by Big Spring Aircraft.

Don is the son of Howard Loyd, manager of Howard County airport, and has been flying for the past two years. He is presently working toward his commercial license.

Young Loyd made the flight from Florida in 14 hours, stopping for fuel three times. He landed in Dawton, Ala., Monroe, La., and Lufkin, Tex. The fancy Comanche has a cruising speed of 130 miles an hour.

The week's activities were relatively slow, with only about 25 transient planes stopping, of which some 15 gased up.

Instructor Pat Petosky took up D. R. Bates and Everett Vaughn. Roy Smith flew the Cherokee 180 and Pat took Chuck Jones on a charter flight to Austin. Gene Sorrels took Lt. Pitman up in the Colt.

Five members of the Big Spring Flying Club went up in one of the Cessnas, and Howard Loyd took the other one on a cross country run. The five were Little, Bettie, Grandberry, Merrick and Ray White.

Pilots in the Howard County Flying Club were just as active, with Joe Dawes, Reed, Bates and Hall flying the Cherokee 180, and Jo Palone taking a cross country in the Cherokee 140. Reed and Robert Lebkowsky also flew the 140.

Venezuela Receptive To HemisFair, Connally Says

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Gov. John Connally of Texas visited industrial areas of eastern Venezuela Saturday and flew over the Caroni River and Angel Falls, highest waterfall in the world. The governor is here on a three-day visit, meeting with Venezuelan officials to promote the 1968 San Antonio HemisFair.

At a news conference Friday, Connally said he had found Venezuelan officials "receptive" but added they had not confirmed this country's participation in the HemisFair. He said he hopes Venezuela will be represented.

In meetings with officials and the press, the governor stressed the cultural and social aspects of the fair, saying that it would "show the confluence of Western civilization and the common cultural heritage of nations of the Western world."

He said Mexico, Peru, Bolivia, and Panama have confirmed they will participate in the fair, which will last from April to October and mark San Antonio's 250th anniversary.

"With the fair we hope to build a better understanding between the nations of Latin America and Texas and the United States," the governor added.

Threaten To Boycott Polls

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Speakers at a farm workers' wage protest rally declared Saturday that liberals may "go fishing" election day unless some candidate for the U. S. Senate speaks out in favor of more pay for field hands.

The speeches came as the farm wage protest marchers reached Corpus Christi, a major stop on their walk from San Juan in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

They hope to reach Austin by Labor Day, Sept. 5, to hold a rally at the Capitol to climax their requests for higher wages.

They want a $1.25 an hour minimum for work where they say pay is 60 cents to $1.00 an hour. Federal minimum wage laws do not apply to field workers.

The Rev. Antonio Gonzales of Houston, a Roman Catholic priest who has been a figure in the 400-mile march from the Valley, said when the march reached this port city Saturday that until the states does something to help the working poor, "we're going to be living with the governor."

FOREIGN MELONS FLOURISH

Mrs. Myrtle Lee and one of the odd melons she is growing Melons Grow Easily, But Pose A Harvest Problem

An odd-looking melon, dark green with a wrinkled rind, identified tentatively as a "Spanish Melon" can be grown easily in this country—perhaps commercially.

However, Mrs. Myrtle Lee, 1313 Park, wonders just how you go about harvesting the melons once you grow them and when you can find out if they are ready to eat.

A year or so ago, a friend sent Mrs. Lee a box of rare foreign fruits and vegetables as a gift. One of the items was a "Spanish Melon". She was admonished on the package to let the melon stand until it softened enough to give to the pressure of her thumb. She waited 10 days.

"I ate it with lemon juice," she said, "and it was quite good. Tasted something like a honeydew, but not quite the same."

This spring, she planted a handful of the seed on the north side of her house. The seeds sprouted mightily. The vine broke out in a rash of bright yellow blossoms.

Lamesa Opens Nursing Home

LAMESA (SC)—Mayor Douglas B. Black will be principal speaker for the open house being held Sunday afternoon from 1:30 to 6 p.m. at the Mesa Manor Nursing Home, Lamesa's newest convalescent center.

Dr. George E. Worrell, pastor of First Baptist Church, will open the dedicatory service with a prayer and special music will be furnished throughout the afternoon by the Gatlin Quartet, a group of young recording stars from Odessa.

The nursing home is owned and operated by McDonald Enterprises, owners of a group of such institutions in various parts of Texas. It will employ a staff of 14 persons to begin with along with the administrator, Mrs. Jessie Vickery.

The building is designed with four wings, each leading from the central station where the superintendent of nurses will have her office. A central lobby and spacious dining room also are features of the 44-bed hospital. The hospital will begin operation Monday.

MAJ. WADE H. TERRY
Major Terry
Commanding
Webb Unit

Maj. Wade H. Terry has taken command of the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron at Webb Air Force Base, replacing Maj. Hans P. N. Gammel, who was recently assigned overseas.

Maj. Terry came to Webb from Headquarters, 3rd Air Force in London, where he had charge of a Command Post Section. He had been with the 3rd Air Force since September, 1962.

From May, 1958, until his assignment overseas, the major served as operations officer at Richards Gebaur AFB, Mo. He was at Misawa AB, Japan from August, 1955, until 1958, and at Tyndall AFB, Fla., for two years prior to that time. He went to Tyndall in July, 1953, when he was recalled to active service from the officer reserve.

Entering the service in the Aviation Cadet Reserve in May, 1942, Maj. Terry was called to active duty in September, 1942. He completed his pilot training at Eagle Pass in July, 1943, and became a flight instructor in the P-51 at Tampa, Fla.

Completing a year's duty as flight instructor, the major was assigned to the China-Burma-India theater in September, 1944. Stationed in China, he flew P-51s with the original Flying Tiger squadron.

Upon his return to the United States in October, 1945, Maj. Terry had duty tours at Perrin AFB and Long Beach, Calif. At Long Beach, he headed a reserve training group, until he departed the service in October, 1947.

For six years, he was a civilian general contractor.

Critical, But Joins Up Again

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Claude McClure, the soldier who spent two years in Viet Cong prison camps then criticized the U.S. presence in Southeast Asia, is back in the Army again.

He has re-enlisted with the rank of sergeant E-5 and is now at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He might be sent back to Viet Nam, the Army said.

McClure was cleared last April 15 of charges of furnishing the Viet Cong with documents inimical to U.S. interests and was released from the Army.

Fort Worth Man
Dies; Handled
Cosden Products

Friends here have been advised of the death of a Fort Worth business man, K. F. Felts, who has operated the American Petrofina products distributorship. He acquired this business in 1946, and was the Cosden distributor until Cosden was purchased by Petrofina.

Mr. Felts died Wednesday in Austin, where he had suffered a heart attack.

Funeral services are to be in Fort Worth Saturday afternoon. Richard M. Johnson, former Cosden vice president, will attend the rites, and perhaps other Cosdenites who had association with Mr. Felts.

Reds Hold Secret Meeting In Jungle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The official Viet Nam Press said Saturday some high-ranking Asian Communists, including a general from Red China, had met 10 days ago under an extraordinary security guard in the jungles of Tay Ninh Province of South Viet Nam.

Without touching on what might have been their subject matter, the government news agency indicated a chance military patrol had broken up the session, in confusion.

The Viet Nam Press said South Vietnamese army troops had infiltrated the area, near the Cambodian frontier about 70 miles northwest of Saigon, and engaged in a firefight with elements of a full regiment of guerrillas posted in the jungles as a security force. By its account:

The Communist representatives broke up the meeting and pulled out, leaving behind a briefcase that was seized by the troops.

Captured documents named one participant, Vo Chi Cong, as counselor of the Viet Nam People's Revolutionary party and personal representative of President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam.

On hand from Red China were Maj. Gen. Huyet Deat Trung, military adviser to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, and Maj. Ngu Goang Rang, political adviser to the front.

Both names were spelled phonetically in the Viet Nam Press account. They sounded similar to Vietnamese names, but it is common for both the Chinese and Vietnamese Communists to change names.

The Viet Nam Press story said a colonel named Mot Nang had been present as a representative of the Cambodian National Defense Ministry and that a colonel identified only as Chewclani had represented the Laotian Communist Pathet Lao.

Top leaders of the South Vietnamese Communist movement were reported on hand.

Services Monday For Infant Girl

Services for Lisa Diana Breeding, infant daughter of Airman 2.C. and Mrs. Ralph Breeding, Sterling City Rt., will be Monday in the Froberg Funeral Home Chapel in Alvin. Burial will be in the Confederate Cemetery in Alvin. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home was in charge of local arrangements.

The child died at 4:50 a.m. Saturday in a local hospital.

Survivors in addition to the parents are its paternal grandfather, Walter E. Hopper, Danville, Ill., and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Breeding, Alvin.

ENTERED IN COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT CONTEST

Knott Residents Set A Busy Pace

By SAM BLACKBURN
 KNOTT—Sometimes you hear folks ask: "What on earth do the people who live in tiny roadside towns and communities do to fill in their time?"

Probably some have asked that about Knott.

Knott, like Mr. Caesar's ancient Gaul, is divided in three parts—East Knott, Middle Knott and West Knott. It sprawls along the road for about two miles. However, the people of Knott do not restrict residency acceptance in their community to the scattered farm homes along the county highway. To them, the Knott community encompasses a pretty large hunk of Howard County's northwest corner. It even laps over into Martin County.

Mrs. Mac Gaskins, for instance, who is a most enthusiastic Knott resident, pooh-poohs the idea there's nothing to do in a community like Knott.

NEED MORE TIME

The real problem, she says, is to find enough time to do your routine work and still get the neighborhood activities cleared away.

Take last week, for instance.

Knott set a walking blood bank in operation in its area. Virgil Long, lab technician for the Medical Arts Hospital, typed the blood of 58 Knott residents. There were 23 others who already had their blood type card and presented them to the bank. Mrs. Gaskins says the plan is to enroll a hundred of Knott's 300 or less residents in the bank. The cards, with the name, address, phone number and blood-type will be kept on file in the Community Center (which used to be the Knott school cafeteria). Mrs. Lloyd Robinson is temporarily in charge. Should anyone need blood, she goes to the bank, pulls the cards of those who are of the proper type and calls them on the phone. However, Mrs. Robinson stresses she is only temporary director—she thinks a man ought to be running the blood bank.

ACTIVE NIGHTS

That was Monday night.

Tuesday night was double-barelled — the Knott 4-H Club achievement tour absorbed the time and interest of 54 of the community's people and was climaxed with a dinner at the community center. Meantime, double-brewers' playing against their dads) was under way followed by an ice cream and cake supper. On last Saturday, the 4-H Club horsemen met at the center, rode until it was dark and then had a wiener roast.

Wednesday nights, there are no activities in the Community Center. Wednesday is prayer meeting night and the three churches are the centers of attention. There are no activities, other than religious, on Sundays. However, things are already on tap for other nights.

CONTEST

Part of all this activity stems from the enrollment of Knott in the Texas Community Improvement contest, sponsored by the Electric Utilities of the state. The Knott official entry is on file. The enterprise is now organized and is already functioning. Of the 125 families in the Knott community, nearly all have signed up to participate in the project. The interest is not so much on winning one of the cash prizes which are offered, although Mrs. Gaskins admits that this would be very nice. The general enthusiasm is to make the Knott community a better place, a friendlier neighborhood and a nicer spot in which to live.

All improvements made in the community from March 21, 1966, through March 21, 1967, will be credited to the Knott score card. An expert will check out the showing made next year and decide the grade to give the town.

The bloodbank is one achievement which will be credited in the contest.

OFFICIALS

Officials of the new Community Improvement Project have been elected. They are Robert Brown, president; Donald Allred, secretary, and Jerry Roland, treasurer. The group meets for a business session the second Thursday in each month. Special meetings can be held at any time.

Last spring, Mrs. Gaskins said, the community improvement organization sponsored a volleyball tournament at the Knott school gym. Twenty teams entered and each team member was assessed $1 registration fee. This provided the basic funds for the improvement project activity. The three girls in the Knott community make it yearly custom of donating the proceeds at the end of the season for what they call "loose cotton." This is divided among the churches and to the Community Center. The gift last spring was about $200 to each agency Mrs. Gaskins said. Other enterprises will provide additional money as needed. Generous friends in Big Spring and elsewhere make contributions of material and money.

PROJECTS

What's ahead for the Community Improvement project? Well, several things are already in the mill.

First of all, Mrs. Gaskins said, all of the rural mail boxes in the community will be put in good repair and their owners' names stenciled on them.

Further improvement is planned for the baseball grounds, including painting of the fence and poles. The community has already bought uniforms for two teams and supplied playing equipment.

The Community Center will be put in good repair and a new roof installed. An air conditioner ("We've already been given an air conditioner," said Mrs. Gaskins, "and we want to get it in operation as soon as we can") will make the center more comfortable.

SWIMMIN' HOLE

There is a lake between the three Knotts. The community improvement group has built a dock and diving board so the kids can swim in the pond. It is not deep but ample for little tykes.

Each year, the Farmers Gin sponsors a big domino tournament at the gin office. This year the tournament will be a part of the Community Activity and go on the score card. The gin provides trophies for the winners. Perhaps the players will be charged a small entry fee this fall—the money to be given to the Community Improvement Program.

What else? "Well," said Mrs. Gaskins, "when we get these things out of the way we'll plan some others."

And that's what to do in one small community.

Guardsmen Due Back Home Today

Recruits of Battery A, Third Battalion of the 132nd Artillery, were due to return to Big Spring today after two weeks of intensive training with the 49th Armored Division at North Fort Hood.

In the group are Pvt. James T. Anderson, James D. Foresyth, Wayne R. Johnke, Jimmy B. McGill, Winfred H. McQueen, Larry G. Raschke.

WTCC To Ask Women's Help In Area Programs

ODESSA—Following a pattern set by Infocade '66 the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will again seek the woman's viewpoint during a meeting Aug. 5.

A select group of West Texas women leaders will gather on a ranch near Albany to hear the results of the WTCC's recent series of over 100 idea and planning sessions with West Texans determining Growth Potentials in the fields of tourism, industrialization, water, agriculture and ranching, petroleum and chemicals, education, public affairs and culture.

"We want these women leaders to appraise and evaluate these growth potentials for West Texas and offer their suggestions," said John Ben Sheppard of Odessa, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Sheppard noted there are 1,651,302 women in West Texas, adding, "We want women to be full partners in our efforts to determine these potentials and what to do about them. The woman's viewpoint is essential. Men may build cities, but women make them fit to live in."

Topics to be discussed include the woman's role in tourist and industrial development, excellence in education, more active and informed participation in civic and public affairs and ways and means to move West Texas forward.

The women will also be asked to assess the need and scope of activities of a proposed Women's Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the picturesque and historic Lambshead Ranch between Albany and Fort Griffin State Park.

Short Yields Are Expected Unless Rains Fall Soon

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Spotted showers and some good spotted rains failed again to relieve the growing statewide shortage of moisture. Drought and heat are maturing crops and browning ranges over much of the state, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said at midweek.

While cotton made good progress, other crops need rain at once, the director said. Some reports from his district agents are already counting on expected short yields unless rain falls very soon, he added.

Gets Degree

Lynn Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Denton, Silver Hills, will receive his master's degree Aug. 15 from Eastern New Mexico University, and this fall will teach English in the Colorado School of Mines at Denver. He has attended Howard County Junior College, Lubbock Christian, and Abilene Christian, where he earned his B.A. degree.

Ranges generally are still providing grazing but livestock are showing effects of the hot, dry weather, he noted. He said widespread soaking rains could change the picture swiftly. Good rains fell in the northern Panhandle and lighter showers in other counties but the big need is for lots of water. Dryland grain sorghum is hurting. Some was never planted due to drought. Irrigated crops are making good progress. Ranges are below-average and some feeding is being done but cattle in general are in fair condition. It is dry in all the South Plains area but both irrigated and dryland cotton is looking good. Dryland cotton needs rain. Ranges are dry but livestock are in good condition. Sugar beets, soy and castor beans are making good progress. Some shortages of labor are reported. Moisture is short throughout the Rolling Plains (Vernon). Drought is slowing cotton development. Some forage sorghum is being harvested. Some sorghum will be harvested within 10 days. A growing need for stock water was noted.

Most North Central Texas need rain though some spotted showers and good rains have fallen. Crops held up well, however. Ranges and livestock are in fair condition. A general rain is needed in far West Texas for crops and ranges. Irrigated crops are making excellent progress but cotton insects are increasing. Livestock conditions are generally good. Labor is short. Moisture in West Central Texas ranges from short to very short, but cotton is doing well. Insects have been light. Sorghum is heading but rain is needed to insure good yields. Ranges are very dry but dry grass is adequate in most areas and most livestock are in good condition. Some shrinkage is noted in lambs and calves.

Moisture is short in Central Texas where crops are maturing. Corn is drying. Sorghum harvesting has started with good yields. Ranges are very dry but dry grass is adequate in most areas and most livestock are in good condition. Some shrinkage is noted in lambs and calves.

Combines and trucks are needed. Range growth has stopped but livestock are in good condition with some increase in marketings noted. Peanuts in the Eastland - Comanche area are being irrigated; buying is spotty; peaches and melons are moving; and goat shearing is under way.

Dallas Teenagers Damage Police Car After Fracas

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas police car received more than $100 damage early Saturday as a group of teenagers apparently hurled bricks in protest to officers breaking up their after-hours gathering at a drive-in restaurant.

It was one of several incidents recently between teenagers and police.

Five youths were issued citations for loitering in connection with the after-hours gathering. A sixth—a juvenile—was questioned by juvenile authorities.

Patrolman D. E. Havis said a crowd of 50 to 100 had congregated on the parking lot of a closed restaurant when he spotted them at 12:10 a.m. As he got out of his car, the youths scattered.

Havis, although alone, nabbed six. An ice chest of beer was found on the lot.

After issuing the five older youths citations, Havis and Officer H. C. Barge took the boy, 16, to the police station. They left Havis' squad car locked and parked on the lot.

Officers discovered the car damage when they returned.

Havis said two windows were smashed and both the left front door and left rear fender had been dented. He said bricks were found on the front and rear seat.

NEW POST OFFICE, WATER SYSTEM

Ackerly Plans Two Big Projects

By SAM BLACKBURN
ACKERLY — Ackerly's two major community projects for 1966 are not yet at hand but both apparently are steadily coming nearer to realization.

One of the projects initiated for this year was the installation of a municipal water supply system.

The second major project was the building of a new post office to replace the one which has served for over three decades.

WATER SYSTEM

Early in February, the citizens of Ackerly marched to the polls and by a nearly unanimous vote (there being only two opposition ballots) approved the issuance of $131,000 in bonds to finance the building of the community's first municipal water system.

The project called for the drilling of adequate water wells (the city aldermen took options on three 80-acre tracts, all within 1 1/2 miles of town and all of which are believed water producing lands), installation of a pumping system at the wells and a pipe line to a storage facility in the town.

This is to be an overhead tank with a 75,000 gallon capacity. Also to be provided will be a small building to serve as a water office for the community. The essential feeder lines and connection through the town will also be laid.

SURVEY

Since the election, a survey has been conducted and 115 residents have officially signed up to become patrons of the new water department.

Travis Russell, now Ackerly postmaster but in January, mayor of the town, said that the prospective patrons include the two persons who voted against the project last February. "I personally signed 'em up," observed the ex-mayor.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS IN STORE FOR ACKERLY Small incorporated town plans water system and new post office

Russell was succeeded as mayor by O'Brien Bowlin. Bowlin's fellows on the city council are Tommy Horton, Bill Hambrick, Bill Massingill, T. L. Yings and Travis McCarthy. It will be their responsibility, once the FHA loan is approved, to push ahead with the water project.

It was stipulated the revenue bonds voted be restricted to interest of not to exceed 5 percent.

LOAN

If they could not be sold at that rate or better, a loan was to be negotiated for 40 years from the Farmers Home Administration. This is the course being followed and the FHA is now making its final study of the project. The money, Russell said, should soon be available.

"We will be happy to get the system going," Russell said, "since the water wells we have in town here are not very strong. We know from tests made by oil companies that there is good water on the three tracts the town has optioned."

The community is to buy the water rights only on the 240 acres if the deal goes through as planned. Meantime, the post office project should be even nearer to realization than the water program. And it is certainly of more personal interest to Russell. As postmaster, he is most eager to get into his new building.

PLANS SET

The first announcement of the new building was made March 10 out of the Dallas regional post office. The plans called for 1,000 square feet of floor space (adjuncted by 7,820 square feet of parking area).

"The bids were supposed to have been opened July 22 in the office of the post office real estate officer in Lubbock. No announcement of who was awarded the contract had reached Russell through Friday of last week.

An option has been taken on a tract of land about 50 feet north of the present post office. The government plan calls for the successful bidder to build the building according to specifications set up by the department. When the building is finished and accepted, the post office department will rent it for a 10 year period from the owner with an option of renewing the lease for an additional 20 years.

AIR CONDITIONED

One feature of the new building will be air-conditioning — a comfort which the present building does not provide.

The way things seem to be shaping up, both the new municipal water system and the new post office for Ackerly could be completed about the same time.

New Trial For Marshall Denied

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Judge John Mead refused Friday to grant a new trial for William Marshall, 30, a hairdresser sentenced to die for murder.

Marshall was convicted in January of slaying Sue Burgess, 15, Oct. 6.

Lawyers argued that they were not permitted to see a companion of the slain girl alone in order to question her about the case. They said two prosecutors and the mother of this girl, Judy Fogle, were present.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bill Alexander told the court that defense counsel was permitted to ask Miss Fogle any question. Marshall's lawyers served notice they will appeal.

Youth Called Here To Hear Of WTCC

A select group of young leaders will gather in Big Spring Aug. 9 to assess West Texas' potentials, their challenges and opportunities.

Purpose of the meeting, called by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is to explore the thinking of young people on all subjects vital to West Texas' future.

Invited to the meeting are recent high school graduates, class officers of West Texas high schools, colleges and universities and student leaders from West Texas who attend school elsewhere.

They will be briefed on the results of a recent series of brainstorming sessions conducted by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce with experts in the fields of education, tourism, industrialization, culture, the role of women, water, agriculture and ranching, petroleum and chemicals, and state and national affairs, all approached from the West Texas point of view.

"We want the benefit of these young leaders' thinking on all of these subjects," said John Ben Sheppard of Odessa, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"It is short-sighted to plan for the future without consulting those who are the future," said Sheppard. He added, "We must keep our young people in West Texas, they are our greatest resource."

The meeting will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Ramada Inn in Big Spring.

Boats Form Picket Around Dredging Barge

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Ten boats formed a floating and orderly picket line Saturday around commercial shell dredge boats operating in Trinity Bay in Chambers County.

The scene was very quiet, highway patrolmen reported. The boat pickets were protesting the dredging, which they say stirs up silt which causes oysters to die.

Joe Nelson, one of the organizers and an oysterman, said in advance that the boats did not intend to interrupt operation of the dredges of the Parker Brothers, but only to call attention to the viewpoint of oyster fishermen. The dispute has been a long one in Texas.

The boats were manned by oystermen and by sportsmen. The schedule called for the picket boats to leave at dusk and return Sunday.

"We want the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to change its policy and keep the dredges back away from our live oyster reefs," said Nelson. The shells are used for many purposes, including that of roadbeds.

Toll Climbing

AUSTIN (AP)—State police said 1,677 persons had died in Texas traffic to noon Friday, compared to 1,479 last year.

Reunion Called Success, But Attendance Down

The heat had its impact on attendance at the 42nd annual reunion of the Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Friday. Jess Slaughter, president, said Saturday, "We had about 1,500 this year," he reported. "Last year we had nearly a thousand more. It was too hot and dry. I guess the old folk just didn't want to go through the discomfort."

Oldtimers Have Attended Practically All Reunions

Two of the fellows who had the most fun, at Friday's 42nd Annual Reunion of the Howard-Glasscock County old timers, were Sam Cauble and B. F. Logan.

Cauble, who is 93, came early and brought along his personal armchair so he could be comfortable.

It was the 42nd annual reunion that Cauble had attended. He was one of the handful of ranchers and farmers who organized the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Association in 1924.

Friday, Cauble looked around at the other pioneers who had been his neighbors and friends for so many years.

He shook his head. "Nearly all of us who organized this association," he said, "are gone. I can count on the fingers of one hand all of the original organizers who are still around."

His advanced years has slowed him down and hampered his hearing, but he still had a zest for the activities at the reunion. He ate barbecue, shook hands with old cronies and took a deep interest in the old fiddlers contest.

He lives with his son, Lad Cauble, 800 Johnson.

Logan, who came to Howard County 68 years ago with his father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Logan, was singled out for special honor. He was the man at the reunion who had lived in the county the greatest number of years.

Logan said his parents settled on a section of land two miles northwest of Coahoma. He was 19 at the time and worked with his parents on the farm. His father also had farms in Mitchell County.

Logan attended some of the earliest reunions probably the first one—they used to have them on what we called Cottonwood Park," he said. "I remember some they had on people's farms, too."

Always a fiddler, Logan has been a tough contender for many years in the annual Old Fiddlers Contests which are a feature each reunion.

"I fiddled Friday," he said, "but I had a stroke a while back and it left my bowing arm slowed down. The music's still inside me, but I just can't get it into the fiddle."

Logan lives at 401 NW 9th Street. He was formerly manager of the Burton-Lingo Lumber Co. at Coahoma. He also was mayor of Coahoma and justice of peace there.

Bill Arnett was also accorded applause for his remarks in tribute to the pioneers who have died.

FIDDLERS CONTEST
The old Fiddlers Contest was larger, perhaps, than in other years in the number participating. In the group for fiddlers 65 years of age and older, R. B. Luce was first place winner. Other winners were Tom Castle, second, Tommy Neal, third and M. T. Mitchell, fourth. In the group for fiddlers under 65, Bill Kellogg was first, Sam Roberts, second, Perry Gannan, third and Denver Pettit, fourth. Cash prizes were awarded the winners.

Texas Shorty, champion fiddler, pleased the crowd as did Sam's Band, which played for the afternoon program and for the big dance which closed the reunion.

OLDSTERS
Mrs. Jim Morgan, 94, was the oldest woman in years and Albert Becker, 96, the oldest man in attendance. B. F. Logan was the pioneer recognized as having lived the longest in the county—68 years. Mr. and Mrs. Ron August, and their daughter, Denise, of The Dalles, Ore., won the award for coming the greatest distance to the reunion. Denise is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Holley, leaders in the reunion activities.

The old settlers unanimously re-elected Slaughter as president. Mrs. Herman Taylor, secretary, Cecil Long vice president.

Slaughter expressed his appreciation to all who had helped in the reunion. He said the donations were generous and that the volunteers who worked in putting the reunion into being were loyal and patient.

Man Charged In Shooting Of Step-Father

Cecil Johnson, 23, has been charged with assault with attempt to murder his stepfather. He was released Saturday on $5,000 bond, set by Justice Walter Grice.

Johnson is alleged to have shot Charles Peterson, 37, in the back of the neck with a 12 gauge single-loading shotgun at the rear of Gomez Apartments about 11 p.m. Friday.

The incident occurred in an alley between NE Fourth and Fifth Streets. Officers said when they arrived, they found Peterson lying on the ground in a gateway behind a cement fence.

Officer Paul Alexander said when he walked up to the victim and asked what happened, Johnson identified the injured man as his stepfather and pointed to a shotgun lying on the ground.

Peterson was taken to Cowper Hospital by ambulance, and his condition was reported as good Saturday night.

Life-Saving Class Slated In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — Senior life-saving courses will be taught by authorized Red Cross instructors beginning Monday at the North Side Swimming Pool. Classes will be held at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Approximately 275 adults and children have participated in the swimming classes and water safety courses sponsored by the Red Cross during the summer months.

Strange Bedfellows In Open Housing Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over open housing now racking the House paradoxically pits the most important supporters of the bill against the civil rights groups that want it the most.

For their allies in a crucial vote due Wednesday, the civil rights groups will have Southern Democrats and anticivil-rights Republicans, but the prospect leaves them undismayed.

"If people vote the way we think they should, we don't question their motives," says one civil-rights leader.

The proposal to outlaw racial discrimination in housing would have a tough enough time in any case, but a confusing legislative side issue is compounding the difficulty in the House.

President Johnson originally proposed an outright ban covering everybody and every type of housing. It had no chance from the day it was offered, and everybody in Congress knew it.

A painfully worked out compromise in the House Judiciary Committee would cover only those in the business of selling or renting housing, leaving the individual owner untouched.

There was no confusion in the minds of the majority of the committee that approved it.

But lawyers for the Civil Rights Leadership Conference, a lobby representing more than 50 organizations, said the language could be interpreted to mean a homeowner was exempt only if he handled a transaction himself without using a real estate agent. That would make it almost as tough as Johnson's original proposal.

To clear it up, Rep. Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., author of the compromise, prepared an amendment making his original intent clear an individual owner and his agent both would be exempt. He plans to offer it Wednesday when the House takes up the issue.

Burglaries, Theft Listed By Police

Two burglaries and a theft from a parked car were reported to police this weekend.

Larry Seals, 809 W. 16th, told officers that someone had broken into his garage and stolen $59 worth of diving equipment, including a scuba tank.

Dorothy Vance, 1000 Lancaster, reported a mahogany guitar taken from her home while she was on vacation.

A movie camera, a dress, and a suit were allegedly taken from a car parked in front of Malone and Hogan Hospital, R. L. Guevara, Box 17, Lufkin, told officers Friday.

Skunk Gets Away, Perhaps Easily

Friday was a dog day that started affecting skunks with its hot, sultry temperatures. Officer Lee Steele will attest to this uncanny influence, at least.

He answered a call at the State Hotel early Friday morning and was told by Maurine Shoemaker that a skunk was trying to bite a dog.

Steele attempted to capture the skunk — chances are that he really didn't want to — and thereby save the frightened dog. But, curses, the skunk ran away, and guesses are that Steele didn't pursue too hastily.

Zachariah Urges Fund Use Be As Intended

George Zachariah, in a talk before members of the American Business Club at their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel, said it was imperative that all funds donated toward the Mental Health and Rehabilitation program in this state be used for the purpose for which they were originally intended.

Zachariah said there is now an estimated $100,000 stored in various banks around the state which was originally donated to help improve the lot and education of crippled children which is not being used.

Zachariah said such programs need all the financial assistance they can get and some method should be found to unfreeze such funds.

The Ambuc speaker also expressed the belief that chances are excellent that this city will be authorized the funds for establishment of an out-patient treatment center and reminded his listeners that money for the operation of such agencies is supplied by the federal and state governments for the first three years of their existence.

The local ABC chapter recently made a $300 donation to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center here, with provisions that the money would be used for furniture and equipment.

Don Shields was introduced as a new member of the organization.

Guests, in addition to Harry McMillan, included Mrs. Derle Everett, Mrs. Bill Bradford, Mrs. Gene Thomas, Mrs. Fred Clark and Mrs. Ken Olsen.

THE WEEK

the state tax rate is being advanced five cents (to 47 cents), although the county rate remains at $1.07 and the HCJC rate at 60 cents. Texas voters, remember, approved a constitutional amendment last fall to up the state schedule to pay for buildings at state colleges.

Speaking of things going up, milk has done it again—a shortage in the area, they say—and bus fares advanced a bit as well as fees for ambulance service. These are just some of the items that get in the papers.

On the other hand, civilian workers at Webb shared in a general wage increase for government workers after a federal survey. The increases varied with different classifications of work, but averaged around three per cent.

But the City of Big Spring can't raise the price of its water, delivered to Big Spring State Hospital. The Supreme Court said, finally, that the city must abide by a contract made in 1937, to provide the water at 10 cents per thousand gallons.

The city had sued to get a new water schedule. Of the 10 cents, one fellow remarked, "You can't even collect rainwater for that price."

Northsiders have taken things in hand and are going for a massive cleanup. They have gotten full support out of the city, and you may expect to see a lot of improvement soon. The leaders over there are to be commended for showing what a group can do for itself when it wants to. The city also has eased some financial restrictions to get NW 9th paved.

Howard County Junior College employed two new instructors, Mrs. Gail Lundy in business administration and Juanita Shepperd in physical education. And the school board promoted Herman Smith to head coach, succeeding Don Robbins, to whom he has been an assistant for the past four years. The Steers should move along without a break in stride, and can know that in Smith they have another man with winning ways.

Tragedy and sorrow came, as always. Mrs. Don Carpenter of Big Spring drowned last Sunday in a boating accident at Lake Champion. Michael Ray Towery of Coahoma was the victim of a gunshot wound, and Charles R. Young, a Coahoman who was working as a welder near Pampa, was electrocuted in a mishap. Among esteemed people who passed on was Mrs. H. W. (Hack) Wright, who for a long time had been distressingly ill.

Webb sent another class of pilots on its way over the weekend, as wings were awarded. One of the group was the son of Brig. Gen. Joseph S. Bleymaier, who addressed the class during Friday night, and awarded honors Saturday morning. The general is a top figure in the missile development business.

General contractors of the area met in Big Spring Friday. They had business sessions, then in the evening gathered for a dinner at which Lt. Gov. Preston Smith was the speaker. Smith, a West Texan, was back on the home grounds for a couple of days of visiting over the area.

Kasch Brothers was awarded the contract for improvements and additions to the Bauer School. Their bid was higher by some $4,000 than the lowest figure submitted, but the school made it of record that preference should be given home town interests.

The school board may also have to tackle anew the Kater Morrison school question. A letter was produced from the guiding federal agency indicating that the closing was an administrative decision. However, school administrators say there was no choice of the district complied with the Civil Rights Act and qualified to receive continued federal allotments.

But perhaps the happiest notes of the week were sounded by the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers. They gathered for their annual reunion, ate a lot of barbecue, heard some speeches, took part in, or watched, the traditional dance; but mostly just enjoyed themselves in country-type "visiting."

FBI May Step Into Murder Case Of Negro In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — A Negro man was found dead in a wrecked car in a small Bogalusa park Saturday, victim of a gunshot blast at close range.

Assistant Police Chief L. C. Terrell identified the dead man as Clarence Triggs of Bogalusa and said he died of a gunshot wound in the head.

The wrecked car was found in the park located just off a main highway through Bogalusa, scene of racial unrest and sporadic violence for over a year and a half.

Police quickly cordoned off the area and ordered an autopsy on the body.

The FBI at New Orleans said it was maintaining a close liaison with Bogalusa authorities to determine whether the death involved a violation of federal law.

Terrell said the wrecked car was registered in the name of Mrs. Lanell Seal, a white resident of Bogalusa. He said the auto had veered off the roadway and had struck a fire hydrant and a highway sign.

Royan Burris, who said he was president of the Deacons of Defense, a Negro defense organization, said he went to the scene about 3 a.m. and found Triggs' body covered with a blanket. Police were there.

Burris said he approached police to give them what information he had and was arrested on a charge of interfering with police. Burris, a coin-machine operator, said he was taken to city jail, booked, and released on $100 cash bond.

Burris said his information was that a car with two white men in it had followed Triggs prior to the shooting.

He described Triggs as a 24-year-old construction worker who recently moved to Bogalusa from Jackson, Miss. Burris said so far as he knew, Triggs had not engaged in civil rights work.

Triggs' wife, Emma, said she last saw her husband about 11 p.m. Friday night, when he left her in front of a tavern near the home of her mother.

Some 200 attended the Rotary Club party Friday night for members of Class 68-A on scenic Mountain. A barbecue feast with watermelon was catered by Don Newsom.

The Huff and Puffers Square Dance Club provided the entertainment, then invited the guests to participate.

Texas Electric Service Co. provided electric power, and Bus...Cramer, superintendent of the State Park, cleaned up the parking area and pavilion for the party.

All those participating were impressed with the location of the park, Jerry Worthing, Rotarian, said. He added that many activities could be held in the park, provided facilities were provided.

Scattered Showers Expected
Scattered showers and thundershowers are expected Sunday over the South Atlantic States, Gulf Coast, Southern and Central Plains, Southern and Central Plateaus and portions of the Northern Plateaus. Warmer temperatures are forecast for New England, the Lakes and the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and temperatures across the rest of the nation will remain about the same. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Hull Family Holds Annual Reunion Here

The annual get-together of the sons, daughters and other relatives of the late S. L. and Gussie Hull, pioneer residents of Howard County, was held a week earlier this year than it has been in the past.

The change in dates was because one son was in town earlier in July and would not be able to wait over until the first Sunday in August—the traditional date when all the Hulls and their kin gather for a big picnic dinner in the Big Spring City Park.

Earl Hull, who lives on the old S. L. Hull place near Coahoma, said that there were 75 at the most recent reunion. The S. L. Hulls had two daughters and six sons—all of whom were on hand, but one son, who was ill.

The other visitors were from Big Spring, Stamford, Lamesa, Stanton, Odessa, Monahans, Amarillo and Phoenix, Ariz.

Funeral Director To Talk To Club

Louis Miller, manager of Singleton Funeral Home in Andrews, will be guest speaker at the weekly Jaycee luncheon at the Holiday Inn Restaurant Monday.

His topic, "The American Funeral," will cover the traditions peculiar to the United States. His visit is sponsored by the Funeral Homes of Big Spring.

"Area ministers of all faiths are invited to attend this meeting," said Ron English, Jaycee publicity director. "We also hope to have many representatives of funeral homes in this area."

State Official With Contractors

J. W. Little, Big Spring, chapter director; H. R. Bundock, Lubbock, president; Governor Smith; Charles D. Unrue, Abilene, secretary-treasurer; and John W. Cooper, Odessa, vice president.

SMITH IN ADDRESS HERE

Lt. Governor Lashes At 'Irresponsible' Strikes

The "irresponsible labor unions" which are a party to strikes crippling the American economy and stopping its progress were a target of an address made in Big Spring Friday evening by Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

Smith spoke at a dinner meeting at the Ramada Inn, held by the West Texas Chapter of Contractors. There were some 40 present, from a half-dozen area towns.

He said the "glowing inefficiency in our nation's inability to protect its best interests is one of the darkest clouds on our horizon today."

He said it is up to the people—whose interests are at stake—to make their voices heard in Washington. He urged his audience to "know your representative, know your senator, let all of them know how you feel."

The lieutenant governor stressed that he is not anti-labor or anti-union. In fact, he said he believed in the principle of unionism, and that most of them work in harmony with management, increase productivity of workers and are a part of the production team.

But, he said, the irresponsible group that can cripple a whole nation's progress toward its goals, ought to be brought under control.

REGULATIONS
He reminded that business is under "nearly every type of restriction you can imagine. It collects taxes for Uncle Sam, it pays half the Social Security of its employees, it is forever extending the 'fringe' benefits, it is under regulations on employment practices and wages and hours."

He said that unions should be under at least a type of control to halt strikes that paralyze the whole national economy. Citing the current air transport strike, he said no human could come up with an estimate of losses that are affecting all the public.

No group or association, said Smith—labor or management—ought to have liberties that harm the nation's progress.

IN TEXAS
The lieutenant governor noted that Texas has enjoyed a comparatively favorable position in its relations with unions, but that "the growing cloud of irresponsible unionism" can spread quickly to this state, as it brings in more people and more industry.

"And you businessmen," he said, "will be the first to feel the winds, because you are in the front line."

He suggested better management-union relations, and more efforts to bring about national legislation to correct the current inadequacies.

The dinner session at which the state official spoke climaxed a day of committee business for the contractors. Sessions in the afternoon dealt with trade problems. They were directed by H. R. Bundock of Lubbock, chapter president, who introduced Smith at the dinner.

Prisoner Found In Refuse Pile

WARPOLE, Mass. (AP)—When a guard reported Vahey Venetian, 39, missing at Walpole State Prison, authorities quickly stopped—a garbage truck about to leave the yard. The garbage was dumped, and there in the pile of refuse was Venetian.

Three BS Coaches Given New Duties

Jack Tayrien has been promoted to the Big Spring High School varsity coaching staff, Supt. of Schools Sam Anderson has announced.

The addition of Tayrien, who has been head coach at Goliad Junior High, rounds out the staff.

Cliff Patton has been named first assistant under the new head mentor, Herman Smith.

Replacing Tayrien as head coach at Goliad will be Jimmy Marcus, a veteran mentor who at one time was assistant basketball coach at the local high school.

coaches were still needed to complete the local junior high staffs, one at Goliad and one at Runnels.

Tayrien, a native of Odessa, has been associated with the local school system the past four years and has been head coach at Goliad two years. He graduated from Odessa High School in 1957 and enrolled at Oklahoma State University. However, he took his degree from the University of Corpus Christi. He came here immediately upon leaving UCC.

In high school, he was noted as a discus thrower as well as a football guard. He played football under both Cooper Robbins and Hayden Fry at Odessa High.

Anderson also said that two

Five Are Added To Texas Squad

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Five more Texans were named to the Oil Bowl squad Saturday. Texas meets Oklahoma here Aug. 19 in the intersectional football game.

Robert Dawson, Iowa Park quarterback; Steve Meeks, San Marcos halfback; Terry Brewster, Jackboro tackle; Barney Harris, San Antonio MacArthur halfback; and Calvin Hunt, Edna tackle, were the five announced Saturday.

These brought the Texas squad to 13 thus far.

Red Sox Play Two

LAMESA — The Lamesa Red Sox, undefeated in 15 baseball games this season, entertain Piedras Negras, Mexico, in two contests today. The first contest gets under way about 1:30 p.m.

Ed Brannick Shagged Bats With Giants 61 Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some batboys go a long way. But none compare with Eddie Brannick. After 60 years with one team the 73-year-old secretary and assistant treasurer of the San Francisco Giants has become a National League institution.

In 1905 Eddie was a little lad of 12 seeking a summer job with the New York Giants. He walked into the Polo Grounds and John T. Brush, then club president, made him the batboy with the consent of John McGraw, then in his third year of 29 as manager.

Since then Edward T. Brannick has never had to look for work. This is his 60th full season with the Giants.

"I guess," Brannick reminisced recently, "I've been around the majors longer than anyone. I was so young I had to get out my working papers in April of 1906."

Brannick probably has seen more baseball than anyone around.

In the 50s, before the Giants moved here, he used to say, "wait awhile, he's young yet, when anyone asked him if Willie Mays belonged with the Giants.

"Now I've got to put him right in there with Matty (Christy Mathewson), Carl Hubbell, Ross Youngs and Mel Ott," says Eddie.

It has been months since the Giants traded slugger Orlando Cepeda to the St. Louis Cardinals for pitcher Ray Sadecki but there still are people around Candlestick Park who think it was the worst deal the Giants ever made.

"I disagree," says Brannick. "The Giants needed southpaw pitching and Sadecki won 20 games two years ago. He's only 25.

"The deal reminds me of the time 40 years ago when we sold Long George Kelly to Cincinnati. Kelly had hit above .300 six straight years and the fans really got hot over that one. But we had Bill Terry to play first base and he hit over .300 for 10 years. In fact, in 1930 he hit .401 and no National Leaguer has ever come close."

Brannick was something of a landmark in New York because every rabid Giant baseball fan knew him. After getting the turnstile count he would talk with the box seat fans, wander around, then sit with fans behind first base and in center field.

Grapple Show Set Thursday

The third in a series of summer wrestling shows sponsored by the American Business Club will be staged in the amphitheatre at the City Park Thursday evening.

The starting hour for the three - bout entertainment has been moved forward 15 minutes to 8:15 p.m. Ticket prices will again be a modest $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. A few ringside seats will be offered at $2 each.

Ricky Romero, the Mexican with the gentle approach and the sledge - hammer backlash, is in against Iron Mike in the main event.

There isn't much doubt about the tin-ear wrestling buffs will back in that outing. Romero seems to be able to do nothing wrong in the eyes of his adoring public. Iron Mike, on the other hand, is a barrel-chested Midwesterner who can make one mad simply by saying "hello."

Iron Mike, who his critics say is so sneaky he won't even use a last name, tried to throttle Dory Funk Sr., here several weeks ago. He didn't fare so well but neither did Funk, for that matter. They spent more time using their elbows and heels of their hands on each other than they did trying to wrestle.

A featured bout will be a one-fall event between two Negro girls. One calls herself Princess Ubangi and claims to hail from Africa. The other is an intense youngster named Sweet Georgia Brown.

The third match on the program lined up by promoter Pat O'Dowdy sends Dory Funk Jr. against Jack Cain. Neither boy has been seen here before. Cain was due to show locally but had to cancel out due to a date he had in court.

Funk is supposed to be an able ring operative, taught all the tricks of the trade by his paternal parent.

Proceeds over and above expenses go toward ABClub charities.

Anatomist Says Baboons Would Be Able Caddies

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A Cape Town University anatomist, Dr. R. Trevor-Jones, suggested that baboons could easily be trained to become efficient golf caddies. At the most they'd only offer a little monkey chatter if you played a bad shot.

Baboons, he maintains, are a national asset which should be cultivated and developed. Dr. Trevor-Jones suggests they should be turned into "drone workers."

Baboons have done useful work in many parts of South Africa. One assisted a farmer herding his sheep. Another was trained to drive a tractor. In the South-West African railway station of Uitenhage one was successfully trained to act as a porter and odd-jobs man.

Among methods of developing the working baboon, Dr. Trevor-Jones suggests a simple electrocautery brain operation which would remove certain irritable tendencies in the animal.

"In South Africa we have a wonderful opportunity to develop a docile, intelligent working baboon," he said. "At the moment we shoot the poor fellows but should be carrying out research on them. They are highly adaptable, strong and willing to learn and second only to humans when it comes to living under trying conditions."

Florida State Fights Way Into Grid's Top Echelon

(Another in a series by Texas Tech Coach J. T. King giving a capsule report on the Red Raiders' 1966 football foes.)

By J. T. KING

LUBBOCK — Florida State, our fifth opponent (Lubbock, Oct. 15), is new to our schedule but certainly not a newcomer to the thinking of college coaches.

Florida State, in recent years, has been a tremendous independent. Last season was not one of the Seminoles' best (4-5-1), yet Florida State managed to beat Baylor 9-7 and hold Texas Christian to a 7-3 victory. Kentucky barely beat FSU 26-24.

At Tallahassee they're saying this about FSU:

"Young but eager... strong pass receivers... untried defense... thin in the offensive line... capable running backs... inexperienced but talented secondary."

When they say "strong receivers," that's putting it mildly. In the next breath, FSU spokesmen assert:

"Whoever winds up at quarterback in FSU's pro-type offense will find one of the finest groups of receivers in the land awaiting his passes."

As at another place I can think of rather quickly, the big question is selecting the starting quarterback.

From 13 candidates (which isn't like that other school), the struggle has narrowed down to three—junior Kim Hammond and a pair of sophomores, Bill Cappelman and Gary Pajcic.

Hammond, of course, has the edge of experience, in addition to possessing all-around skills. Cappelman is the best passer, and Pajcic is cited for his poise, leadership and "ability to win."

That last-listed trait isn't a bad one.

Bill Peterson, the FSU coach, described his spring training as "... the most exciting we've ever had..." The attitude of the squad was tremendous, and these boys like to hit."

And they'll get ample opportunity to hit. The schedule is billed as the toughest yet. Other foes on it include Houston, Miami, Florida, Mississippi State, Virginia Tech, South Carolina, Syracuse, Wake Forest, and Maryland.

Space City In Orbit Now Being Envisioned

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Step into a rocketing time machine set the dial for the year 1995 and zip into space.

Now you can explore where America's space-age know-how is leading, as the future is envisioned today by this nation's aerospace industries.

SPACE CITY
In 1995, a 4,000-man "Space City" is in orbit around the earth—including a space hotel for tourists and a hospital to explore new areas of medical research. The moon, Mars and Venus are colonized by scientists.

First stop: The United States' largest space city, sailing in orbit 200 miles above the earth. The orbiting city is actually a collection of many manned laboratories, living cabins, power plants and other units launched separately over a period of years but assembled together as one monster space station.

"Its complexion has changed drastically in the last five years, triggered by the opening of the Space Hotel," visualized L. Eugene Root, president of Lockheed Missiles and Space Co.

The city has an average population of more than 4,000 people, although even the permanent residents are assumed to return to earth every six months.

EXCLUSIVE
The orbiting hotel is, of course, one of the most exclusive hotels in the world, travel costs being what they are.

An orbiting hospital is also here, principally for research related to the heart, blood circulation, cancer and arthritis.

In the weightless world of outer space, the heart does not have to work so hard as it does on earth, where it pumps against gravity. Patients with weak hearts are taken to this hospital in space—sometimes for recuperation after artificial hearts have been installed.

Special forms of radiation found only in space are being harnessed to kill rare cancers. And arthritis sufferers have less pain in space, where muscles are not continually straining against gravity.

RESEARCH
Most of the population works at the government-operated research laboratory, where work continues in such fields as astronomy, weather forecasting for the planet earth, earth-space and space-to-space communications.

At rates predicted for 1975, the cost of establishing, manning and maintaining such a space city would total about $7.5 billion a year. But, Root believes, costs are certain to decline on a launch-by-launch basis as production becomes more efficient.

In fact, at 1975 predictions, a three-week stay at the Space Hotel—including transportation—would run about $200,000 a person. That figure will have to be reduced 10 or 20 times before it would become feasible.

By 1995, however, such a reduction is likely. At a recent meeting in Washington, Dr. Werner von Braun, director of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, predicted a reduction in launch costs by at least a factor of 10 in the next 30 years.

FIRST STARTED
How did such a space city come about? Return to earth in that rocketing time machine and come back to the year 1966, when the building blocks were being developed.

Test after test is going on every day at America's aerospace industries to get more out of today's family of rockets.

Looking ahead to the day that heavier payloads must be launched, Chrysler Corp.—prime contractor for the Saturn IB booster, forerunner to NASA's Saturn 5 moon rocket—said improvements could increase the Saturn IB's lifting ability from today's 37,000-pound limit to 77,000 pounds for manned orbital flights.

IMPROVEMENTS
Boeing Co., which builds the mighty first stage of the Saturn 5 moon rocket, is already studying improvements, even though the first Saturn 5 is not scheduled to launching until early next year. It is designed to put 250,000 pounds in orbit.

With the spadework now progressing toward that big space city orbiting the earth, let's return to the rocketing time machine and see what else is going on in space in 1995.

Second stop: The moon. Exploration of the moon's surface—began shortly after the first lunar landing by American astronauts—is well under way.

Thanks to an agreement reached in the United Nations, activity here is international.

Teams of scientists from the U.S., the Soviet Union and other nations are working together, searching for fossils, analyzing topographical features and using the moon as a base for huge telescopes peering into the heavens.

The scientists live in shelters that protect them from occasional meteoroids that plummet to the lunar surface. They drive around in vehicles with wide-tread tires that don't sink into the porous surface.

A launch base is also here. Rockets carried in sections from the earth are assembled to propel people and unmanned scientific instruments deep into space. Since the moon's gravity is only one-sixth that of the earth's, rockets use less fuel to escape the gravity pull and thus become more efficient.

Let's climb back into that rocketing time machine and see what's going on at even further space frontiers in 1995.

Third stop: The planets.

Because of the fact that it received priority over Venus in the 1960s, the exploration of Mars is further along. Man has been landing on the red planet off and on for 15 years now, staying several months at a time.

Technical breakthroughs in the 1960s helped make this possible—principally the development of a nuclear-powered rocket.

Let's return to earth and 1966 to see what is now being done.

A major national policy decision currently rests in the hands of President Johnson: What should be the next national goal after a manned lunar landing?

The choices: Colonization of the moon, extensive experiments in earth-orbiting space stations or a manned landing on another planet.

SHIFT EMPHASIS
The space sciences board of the National Academy of Sciences has recommended that "starting in the 1965-1975 period, a shift in emphasis toward the planets and away from the moon begin, progressing toward a roughly equal expenditure for lunar and planetary exploration in the 1970-1985 period."

NASA now spends over 60 percent of its budget on lunar exploration and only about one percent on planetary.

Since more is known about Mars than Venus, the board also listed Mars as having top scientific priority, with the moon and Venus sharing second place.

Nuclear energy is being harnessed for rocket engines at places such as the Jackass Flats nuclear rocket development station, 80 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nev. Here, Aerojet General Corp. and Westinghouse engineers are working with NASA and the Atomic Energy Commission to develop nuclear rocket engines.

NUCLEAR ROCKET
"If you want to go out to examine Mars," the NASA administrator, James E. Webb, said recently, "you can do this with a chemical rocket if you go unmanned. But when you want to go out with men, you must have the nuclear rocket."

Refiners Warned Of Oil Imports

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A Texan warned California independent oil producers and refiners today they are in trouble.

Johnny Mitchell, president of Jade Oil & Gas Co. of Houston and Los Angeles, said crude prices in California are 50 cents per barrel less today than they were in 1957.

He said the cost of producing a barrel of oil has increased 50 per cent since 1957, due to increases in labor costs, equipment costs, taxes, and other intangibles that are necessary to produce a barrel of oil.

Mitchell, a former president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, said in California there is a great demand for all the oil produced. "Independents in California are not protected by market demand proration, nor are we protected by any state elected or appointed commission that will properly regulate this state's industry, insuring the correlative rights and equities of the small independent producer," he said.

Mitchell said with the price of crude depressed as it is by marketing practices, a "darker cloud is looming on the horizon."

"The administration and Secretary Udall's playmates in Puerto Rico are beginning their preplanned dumping operations of duty-free gasoline in our area," he said.

Mitchell said Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., has made an effort in several letters to bring this situation to the attention of Udall.

"Finally . . . Secy. Udall replied that imports of gasoline into California would not exceed 10,000 BPD," Mitchell said. "But this 10,000 BPD is enough to trigger even more unbearable marketing practices, and further depress crude prices perhaps to such an extent that independent refiners and independent producers will have to close shop.

"The senator was asked to conduct a congressional investigation on the matter and to include the most famous handout since the Teapot Dome . . . the Boots Adams-Phillips grant in Puerto Rico. Now we learn our troubles that Boots Adams has purchased Tidewater Oil Co.'s outlets in California."

Rig Count Up To 177

MIDLAND — A gain of two up from 175 to 177—in active rotary rigs in the Permian Basin Empire was shown on the Friday survey of Reed International Inc.

Despite that increase the total of working units in the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico territory on the latest count was 13 below the 190 credited to the region a year earlier.

Lea County, N. M., for the third successive week, headed the list with 29, up 1 from 28 last week. Pecos and Reagan counties—EACH WITH 1/2 ON THE Friday tabulation—were tied. The Pecos figure was a drop of 1 from 17, while Reagan registered a jump of 1 from 15.

Strike Closes Lebanese Refinery

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Workers at a petroleum refinery processing oil from Arabia were on strike Saturday, bringing the refinery's operations to a halt, a spokesman said.

A spokesman for the Medreco Co., which operates the refinery in the southern port of Sidon, said the strike began Friday. He would give no details.

Commission Lists 117 Completions

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported Saturday 117 oil well completions during the week. This made a total of 4,385 for the year, compared to 4,079 in 1965.

There were 58 gas well completions and 92 dry holes reported.

The six oil wildcats included two in Dist. 7C and one each in Dist. 1, 2, 3 and 4. There were 11 gas wildcats and 47 dry tests. The 167 holes plugged included 67 oil wells and eight gas wells.

Waterflood Hearing Set

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission has ordered some 50 oil operators to show up in Albany Aug. 9 with reasons why water-flooding operations should not be halted in the Shackelford County regular field near that West Texas town.

In their facts and figures do not satisfy the commission—which fears waterflooding may be polluting the Hubbard Reservoir in the area—the projects could be shut down.

A commission official said that agency and the West Central Texas Municipal Water District have been trying for three years to clean up the reservoir, built about four years ago.

The official said the commission decided to call the show-case hearing after a one-year investigation by its field workers.

The reservoir is an important fresh water source in West Texas, serving, among other cities, Breckenridge and Abilene.

Waterflooding is used when the amount of oil in an underground reservoir is depleted and loses pressure. Water is then forced underground to fill the void left by the declining oil level.

The commission is concerned that the pressure caused by the water may be causing seepage of oil underground into the reservoir, polluting the water.

Young Man's Body Found, Youth Held

OZARK, Ark. (AP)—A young man's body was found Saturday in a field near this West Arkansas town. Sheriff Bob Pritchard said he thought it was that of Kenneth Bush Kienlen, 19, missing for 30 days from Oklahoma City.

Pritchard said the remains had been taken to a coroner for autopsy and positive identification. The body was found near a dirt road about a mile off US 64.

Authorities in Dallas reported the arrest of a youth for questioning in the case.

The Dallas sheriff's office said Dennis Sossamon, 19, of Grand Prairie, a city between Dallas and Fort Worth, had waived extradition and was being flown to Oklahoma City to talk to authorities.

Kienlen had been missing since July 1 when he left his grandparents' house in Del City, an Oklahoma City suburb, after telling them he planned to drive to Little Rock to see a girl.

Rifle Had Been In Pawn Shop

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 27-year-old man, who had just redeemed his M1 rifle from a pawn shop, delayed for 15 minutes a meeting between Prime Minister Harold Wilson and President Johnson.

The Secret Service received a call Friday about it. Wilson was not permitted to leave Blair House until the search revealed no gunman.

Later, it was learned a man with a rifle had gone to talk to a friend at a nearby building before catching a bus.

High Interest Rate Shoe Is Pinching

WASHINGTON (AP)—The high-interest-rate shoe, traditionally worn by the Republicans, now is on the Johnson administration's Democratic foot—and pinching politically.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had the idea that the average man, borrowing his way through life for a home, automobiles, appliances and sometimes to pay taxes, had a high degree of interest in the interest he had to pay. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman kept interest rates down. The rates went up in the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower but nothing like what they have under Lyndon B. Johnson.

Democrats have begun to worry that the interest-rate increase, as a symbol of the higher cost of living, is going to hit their candidates at the polls in November with just about as much impact as the reputed public frustration over Vietnam.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the assistant Democratic leader, and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., have taken the lead in urging President Johnson to do something about it.

But there doesn't seem much the chief-executive can do beyond cutting federal spending—which the Republicans say he isn't doing—at a time when banks and savings institutions are warring with each other for investors' money and record mortgage costs have brought a slump in home building.

The current issue of the Senate Republican Policy Committee memo spends most of its wordage on such subjects as interest rates, the cost of living, strikes and their economic effect, inflation and the deficit, the value of the dollar and "LBJ's economic gambling—passing the point of no concern."

Democrats generally blame the tight-money policy of the Federal Reserve Board—which Johnson can't control directly—for the high interest rates. They attribute inflation generally to the business boom but are careful not to suggest any dampening of the economy in an election year.

There was a "breakdown in communications."

Two Die In Court Gunfire

PLENTYWOOD, Mont. (AP)—The mayor of Plentywood and an oil worker on trial for assault were killed Saturday and two men were wounded in a blazing gunfight in police court.

Sheriff Lyle Meddlers said the oil worker, Duane Falk of Plentywood, stood up in his chair upon being convicted, pulled a 22-caliber pistol from the pocket of his bluejeans, and began firing.

He killed Mayor Ludwig Tande and wounded Justice of the Peace William Denikas, who is confined to a wheelchair, and city policeman Ole Fiske.

Then Fiske began firing and Tande fell dead with a bullet between his eyes. Meddlers said it was not learned immediately whether Fiske had shot Falk or whether Falk had turned his gun on himself.

Hopes To Save Last Wildlife

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Corps of Engineers plan to pump water from areas north of the Florida Everglades into Lake Okeechobee in hopes of saving wildlife threatened by floods.

Loans Ready
AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Saturday the Department of Agriculture has authorized emergency loans to farmers in Cass, Concho and Morris counties for crop losses due to bad weather.

Cosden proudly salutes another of its 'SENIORS'

R. FLOYD WILLIAMS

R. Floyd Williams, although born in Bates, Arkansas, came to Big Spring in 1929 when oil was booming in Forsan and his father, Joe D. Williams, who drilled some of those wells, decided to move his family here.

That was the same year the Cosden refinery came on stream. And Floyd Williams was to join the personnel there January 22, 1951. From the yard he moved to the warehouse. In October 1952 he transferred into the electrical department as a helper, advancing to B then A craftsman. He completed a 60-hour special course in instrument study at HCJC. Today he specializes in refrigeration at the operating units and in the offices.

After graduating from Big Spring High School, Williams entered the Army Air Corps from 1942 to 1946. Three of those years were spent on foreign shores, in the Pacific and Central and South America. He was a radio operator and was discharged as a S/Sgt.

Williams and a local girl, Ima Dell Hayworth, were married here June 18, 1949. Their home at 902 East 15th boasts three children. Lila Gail, 16, will be a high school sophomore; Gayla Dell, 11, will be a Goliad seventh grader; and Lana Lanell, 8, will enter third grade at College Heights.

This Cosden senior has several avocations, each extremely useful. He enjoys building and has either sold or traded houses he has built. Being a master electrician, he undertakes some of that work as a hobby. Auto mechanics appeal to him, particularly installing air conditioning in cars.

The Williams family is active in Trinity Baptist Church, where he is a deacon and an associate Sunday School teacher of young married couples. Mrs. Williams teaches 17-year-old girls.

Hatch Family Reunion

Members of the Hatch family, a long-time prominent one in this area, have gathered here this weekend for their first reunion in over 10 years.

The family first came to West Texas in 1906 when a young couple, the late Mr. and Mrs. Dell Hatch, decided to settle in Big Spring where he purchased land to farm and later became one of the first cotton buyers in business here. Later, they were joined by his brother, Robert, and another family was established. It is the children and grandchildren of these two couples who are celebrating the reunion this weekend.

The Dell Hatches had six children, two of whom are still living. They are Miss Nell Hatch of Big Spring and Mrs. Harold Robb of Dallas.

The Robert Hatches were the parents of six sons and two daughters, all of whom are still living and are here this weekend. They and their families are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hatch of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Hatch of Waco and their daughters and families; the Bill Bayers of Waco and the A. E. Bowers of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Hatch, Big Spring; Gordon Hatch, Big Spring; and Mrs. R. T. Piner and her daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Dixie Kilgore of Lamesa and children and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Patterson and their son, Dan, of Big Spring and another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson of Dallas. Others are Dr. and Mrs. John L. Hatch and children of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Emmette Tomb and her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Keithly of Truth or Consequences, N. M.; and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hatch and children of Odessa.

Six-Panel Doors Ward Off Evil

The famous six-panel Colonial door found in millions of American homes is also known as a "Cross-and-Bible" door. This is because the center stile and crossbar which divide the upper four panels outline a cross, while the lower two panels represent the open pages of a Bible.

The door originally signified a Christian household and was intended to ward off evil.

Popular in America since Colonial times, six-panel doors of ponderosa pine are available today as stock items at lumber dealers.

New Wool Trend Is Double Faced

Technological exploration and development are extending the natural potentials of wool. For fall, a new bonding process permits the creation of doublefaced wool fabrics of a sort that cannot be produced by the double-weaving process.

A rather loose hopsack, for example, in a gray or neutral tone can be bonded to a brightly woven, crisp gabardine. The myriad heather-toned wools can be bonded, back-to-back in a gay combination of possibly, a pale plum and a

MRS. JOHN H. STEWART

Office Orchid

Mrs. John H. Stewart, the former Helen Rogers, was born in Gainesville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rogers, who are now residing on Lake Granite Shoals near Llano. The family moved to West Texas when she was seven years old so that her education was in the local school system.

Mrs. Stewart graduated from Big Spring School and, soon after, went to work as a telephone operator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. However, her real desire was to be a secretary, so she prepared for this work and in 1943 started secretarial work with the firm of Coffee and Coffee, attorneys.

After service with another local law firm, she was employed October, 1955, as secretary to the late E. V. Spence who was then general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Mrs. Stewart is still with the job, and O. H. Ivie is now general manager. She feels that she has had a very interesting career in both legal secretarial work and in her present position of working with engineers.

Mrs. Stewart is a member of the First Methodist Church where she is a former teacher in the Primary Department and a member of the Philathea Sunday School class. Also, she holds membership in the Order of Eastern Star.

She and her husband were married on March 15, 1941, in the First Methodist Church parsonage and reside at 1101 E. 12th. They enjoy fishing, swimming, snow skiing, bowling and football.

Sprague & Carleton® "Correlates"

CORRELATES are a family's best friend — ideal for children's rooms; equally at home in master bedroom, dining room and den. Compact and convenient, their built-in custom look brightens your home while adding that extra storage space everyone needs.

Living room? You haven't really lived until you've seen what CORRELATES can do! All the living comfort you need, plus useful storage, display, library space. And the charm of Early American styling adds so much to your home!

Dining room? CORRELATES are the answer to a hostess' prayer, providing ample storage and display space for your treasured silver, china, linens.

Bedroom? CORRELATES turn it from a part-time to a full-time room. A few well-chosen CORRELATES and it's ideal for reading, letter-writing, check-balancing... a happy hideaway when your children entertain chums with a blasting phonograph.

But best of all, CORRELATES are young at heart — ideal companions for the mighty little leaguer, the industrious student and the dainty junior miss. Lots of room for everything from roller skates to record albums, from frilly slips to model ships... and plenty of shelves for little elves to show off a collection of dolls or put the toy soldiers on permanent parade. Later, perhaps — a library.

Sprague & Carleton CORRELATES are specially designed with you in mind to fit in anywhere and make everything fit. No more scattered toys and clothes. No more dismal storage woes. And the added protection of exclusive MAPLELUX FINISH resists stains and scratches like magic! Starter groups and add-on units fit every room and every budget. We repeat... CORRELATES will grow on you! Come in and let us help you solve your "inner space" problems!

Miss Carolyn Wiggington Is Married To J. L. Chapman

The wedding of Miss Carolyn Sue Wiggington and Jan L. Chapman was solemnized Saturday evening in the College Baptist Church. The Rev. Byron Orand officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Wiggington Jr., 1508 Nolan, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Chapman, Rt. 1.

Wedding tapers, held in candelabra and entwined with foxwood foliage, decorated the altar and enhanced arrangements of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and jade palms. The bridal aisle was marked with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Don Richardson, organist, presented selections of traditional wedding music. She accompanied Clyde Chapman, brother of the bridegroom, as he sang "Because," "I Love Thee", and as the couple knelt on a white prie dieu, "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie styled with a gently-rounded neckline and petal point sleeves. Self roses cascaded down a slightly belled skirt, and the chapel train was attached to a bow at the waist. Her four-tiered veil of silk illusion was held by a petal rose of peau de soie showered with seed pearls.

ORCHID BOUQUET

As her bouquet, she carried a cascade of miniature carnations and a white orchid showered with picot ribbon.

Mrs. Donald Reed, Odessa, was matron of honor, and Miss Maurine Wiggington, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Miss Shirley McCrary was maid of honor, and Miss Melita Singletary was bridesmaid.

The attendants were attired in identical floor-length gowns of china blue peau de soie styled with slightly belled skirts. Self roses on the back waist completed the dresses. They wore matching blue slippers and white gloves. Their headpieces were veiled pillbox hats styled with bows of dress matching fabric, and they carried cascades of blue carnations and white satin leaves.

Don Chapman, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Edwin Ditto, Kermit, Tommy Chapman, Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom; and Jim Whorton, Dallas.

Groomsmen were Art Clonts, Donald Reed of Odessa and David Smith of Kermit.

For a wedding trip to Colorado the bride wore a green knit suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet. The couple will reside in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman are graduates of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She was a cheer leader and was employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Chapman was named to the HCJC "Who's Who," and is now attending Texas Tech. He is employed by Montgomery Ward in Lubbock as a management trainee.

A reception was held at the church fellowship hall where the honored couple, parents, and attendants welcomed guests.

LACE APPLIQUES

The refreshment table was covered with a floor-length satin cloth which had an overskirt of lace appliques over tulle. The appointments were crystal and silver, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of the attendants' bouquets flanked by silver candelabra. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Miss Carolyn Owens and Miss Barbara Parsons, Altus, Okla., presided at the refreshment table. Miss Candace Smith of Kermit was in charge of the register.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Pete Hull, Mrs. R. L. Collins, Mrs. Mike Martz and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell.

Rice bags were distributed by Miss Tammie Wiggington, Hobart, Okla., and reception music was presented by Mrs. L. B. Thomas.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. Seals, the bride's grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wiggington, all of Hobart, Okla., and the Rev. and Mrs. T. O. Parsons, Altus, Okla.

The rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening at the church fellowship hall. Accenting the table were silver candelabra, a gift to the honored couple. Thirty guests attended, and the honorees presented gifts to their attendants.

Sun Closes Unique Vine

One of the unusual annual vines that should be planted near every outdoor living room is the moonflower. This, as its name implies, blooms at night filling the air with delicious fragrance. Ordinarily, during the heat of the summer, the flowers will close when the sun rises high in the sky.

While this would leave the vines without daylight bloom, it is possible to have flowers day and night by alternating the planting of moonflowers with Heavenly Blue morning glories. These will bloom all day and close at night.

Dental Assistants Meet Thursday

A LOVELIER YOU

Results Rout Doubt Of Cosmetic Skeptic

By MARY SUE MILLER

Studies show that the majority of mature women keep a well-stocked make-up kit. It is sure to contain foundation, powder, rouge and lipstick. The inclusion of eye make-up—pencil, shadow and mascara—is on the upswing.

Thus lovelies, past the age of no-telling, give evidence of a desire for continued attractiveness. And this leads to the assumption that there would be much concern about the condition of the skin under the make-up. But this is not the case. A high percentage of the group neglects the basic steps in skin care, even the application of a dry-skin cream or lotion.

Yet it is a fact, and every woman knows it, that dryness and lines caused by dryness increase with every candle on a birthday cake. The number of candles you may expect are on the increase, too. Modern medicine predicts an ever lengthening life span.

If left to itself over the years, the skin could come to resemble antique parchment. What a pity, when systematic applications of modern skin-care products retard wither.

Why then would a woman ever be neglectful? Either she's a skeptic or she does not understand the bare essentials of skin care. For the latter lady, this small list: moisturized cleanser to remove make-up; superfatted facial soap; oil-rich, moisturized night-care cream or fluid.

For the skeptics this advice: Try those beauty aids. The results rout doubts!

BANISH CREPEY THROAT AND CHIN

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat & Chin." For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Knitted Vest

This smart-looking vest is simple to knit and finish with a loop edging. Pattern No. 900 contains instructions for making sizes 12, 14 and 16.

Send 50 cents for Needlework Book. Contains free stole pattern and embroidery and a coupon for free pattern of your choice.

Send 25 cents plus 5 cents postage in coins for this pattern to MARTHA MADISON, care of the Big Spring Herald, Box 1490, New York 1, N. Y. Add 15 cents for first class mail.

Environment Aids Growth Of Plants

In growing wild flowers on the home grounds, try to give each type of plant as nearly as possible its natural environment. Sun or shade, alkaline or acid soil, moist or dry soil, all should be considered. If you bring them in from field or woods, be sure to bring with them a ball of soil.

Purple cone flowers will not bloom in the shade with wild violets, nor thrive in the same kind of soil.

MRS. TRAVIS L. LLOYD

Couple Recites Vows In Chapel Ceremony

Miss Lena Brown exchanged wedding vows with Airman 3C Travis L. Lloyd Saturday evening at the Webb AFB chapel. The Rev. William H. Warren officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brown, 404 Benton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Lloyd, Monticello, Ark.

Baskets of white and pink chrysanthemums showered with white satin streamers formed the altar decorations.

Mrs. Jim Van Allen, organist, presented selections of traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Gaylene Woods as she sang "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal dress of white peau de soie with an overlay of white lace. The dress featured a short lace jacket with a scooped neckline and her veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. Her bouquet was an arrangement of white orchids.

Maid of honor was Miss Sandra Hefington. She carried a nosegay of blue carnations.

Carrying nosegays of pink carnations were the bridesmaids, Miss Christine Earp, Miss Carol Bullard and Miss Georgia Brown, sister of the bride.

The attendants wore identical street-length dresses of pink.

Best man was Airman 2C Louis Gammel, Crossett, Ark. Ushers were Airman 3C Kenneth Dunn, Webb AFB; Airman 2C Hugh Stout, Douglas, Wyo., and Airman 2C Bobby Richardson, Speedwell, Tenn.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School where she was a member of the Future Homemakers of America, the Bible Club and the Science Club. She is employed at the Bennett House.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Drew Central High School, Monticello, Ark. He is stationed at Webb AFB.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with the attendants' bouquets. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed in blue and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Jim Van Allen, Miss Beth Frazier and Mrs. Kenneth Hoffman.

Capucci Causes Talk With Paris Showing

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Sexy batwing hostess gowns sent tongues twittering Friday at the opening of new fall and winter fashions by Capucci.

The floor length gowns and his evening dresses are slashed clear up the center front, beyond the limits, and reveal slender pastel sheathed legs.

The batwing treatment is given in soft slender crepes, but also in billowing faille. Colors range from soft lavenders to fuchsia pinks and purples.

Capucci's light pastel wool topcoats, with their careful detailing, go over fur dresses. These are made on jumper or suspender lines. For after dark they are treated to jeweled yokes and short sleeves. For daytime they are all fur.

Capucci uses feathers. They range from barnyard chanticleers with wings spread to form sleeves, to color island humming birds whose plumes are used in a patchwork bolero and sprout great paradise wings at the neckline.

Madame Gres has long enjoyed a reputation of skillful handling of bias cuts and avant garde silhouettes. This season she concentrates on geometry of color.

Her special cuts and inserts are often achieved through bi-color treatments.

A beige daytime ensemble is cut horizontally. The top half of the coat is pale beige and the lower part honey beige.

On a youthful suit dress, she features a double faced camel hair wool. The loose square hip-length jacket opens to reveal beige and yellow plaid, and she

Wedding Solemnized In Coleman Church

MRS. DONALD BRUCE LARSON

Miss Mary Alice Terry became the bride of Donald Bruce Larson Saturday evening in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Coleman. The Rev. Horace Crowder, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Terry, Coleman; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Larson, Marianna, Fla.

Miss Flora Dee Daughtry played organ selections of traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Dan English of Lubbock as she sang "O Perfect Love," "The Greatest of These Is Love," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Decorating the altar were crescent-shaped candelabra and candle trees holding white cathedral tapers. Baskets of gladioli completed the arrangements.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight Italian silk. The dress featured a molded empire silhouette and a slim skirt. Tiny covered buttons and deeply flared sleeves accented the bodice, and the chapel train fell in deep pleats from the back.

Imported Alencon lace was re-embroidered on the bodice and sleeves, and the same lace formed accenting designs on the train and on the front of the skirt. A deep V-shaped insertion of the lace at the back of the bodice highlighted the train.

Her ensemble was completed with a floor-length veil of French illusion caught to a headpiece coordinating with the bridal gown. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses and French carnations accented with ribbon streamers.

Miss Merryly Rush was maid of honor. Miss Annie Lou Williams, Big Spring, was bridesmaid, and Miss Day Martin, Fort Worth, was flower girl.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of blush pink textured silk in the Empire silhouette with flared sleeves and A-line skirts. Their bouquets were cascades of deep red carnations and leather leaf fern.

For a wedding trip to South Texas, the bride wore a soft pink dress of silk shantung featuring a flared skirt and a bow at the neckline. She wore white accessories and a white rose corsage from her wedding bouquet. The couple will reside in Lubbock.

Mrs. Larson taught homemaking at Big Spring Senior High School and in the Lubbock school system. She is employed by Texas Tech as an instructor in the Applied Arts Department.

Larson is attending Texas Tech to complete his degree in chemistry.

A reception was held in the Rural Electric Association Club Room where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

Mrs. Robert Coers and Miss Nancy Graves presented piano selections during the reception.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Larry Forsythe, and Mrs. J. V. Perrin, Amarillo; Miss Susie McDonald, Ballinger; Mrs. Jack Thurman, Lubbock; Mrs. Gary Coffman, Dallas; Mrs. Charles Mayo and Miss Carol Martin, both of Fort Worth; Mrs. Jeanie Gratton, Roswell, N. M.; Mrs. James Clett, Mrs. Henry Winstead, Mrs. John Summers and Mrs. Clifford Moore.

Married Thursday

Miss Barbara Jean Campbell of Fort Worth and Van Arthur Lewis, 2304 Grace, were married Thursday evening in the Assembly of God Church with the Rev. Homer Rich officiating and Miss Carolyn Hooser and Dwayne Hanson serving as attendants. The couple, who were married previously on July 4 at Acuna, Mexico, will reside at 1101 Lancaster, and he is employed by Harding Well Service in Coahoma. The bride, a former local resident, is the daughter of Mrs. Juanita Campbell of Fort Worth and the late Charles Campbell. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Vickie Lewis, 305 E. 9th, and Leon Lewis of Lubbock.

Mark Tools By Burning Polish

An easy way to hang onto your own wooden-handled tools is to brand them. And the easiest way to do that, according to Gerald Prange of the National Forest Products Association, is to paint your name or initials on the handle with a liberal supply of nail polish, then set the polish on fire — quick! before it dries — works just like a branding iron.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Parke of Malta, Idaho, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Vickie Ann, to Billy G. McIvain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McIvain, Rt. 2. The couple will be married Sept. 1 in the First Methodist Church at Burley, Idaho.

MRS. CHARLES L. VEAL

Vows Are Exchanged In Baptist Temple

Miss Gloria Lea Lawdermilk exchanged wedding vows with Airman 2.C. Charles L. Veal Friday evening at Baptist Temple. The Rev. Dan Oglesby, minister of the Midway Baptist Church, officiated for the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lawdermilk, 410 E. 14th, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Veal, Vernon, Ill.

An arch, centered with white floral arrangements and flanked by emerald ferns, graced the altar.

Jerry Oliphant, organist, accompanied Carl Reynolds as he sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of bridal satin. The dress featured a detachable train and appliques of illusion lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a rosette of matching fabric. For her bouquet, she carried a cascade of gladiolus backed in satin leaves and showered in picot ribbon.

Mrs. James L. Reynolds, Lubbock, attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lynda Loveless and Miss Lynda Morgan.

The attendants wore identical Empire styled dresses of yellow bonded lace. Their yellow net veils were attached to ring hats, and they carried yellow chrysanthemum pompons accented by moss green tulle.

Best man was Airman 2.C. Curtis L. Tedd, Webb AFB. Ushers were Dan Yates, Lamesa, and Airman 3.C. Randolph Jewers, Webb AFB. Groomsman were Airman 2.C. Robie Robertson and Airman 2.C. Gary Aikins, both of Webb AFB.

Miss Judith Yates was flower girl, and altar taper lighters were Miss Brenda Hopper and Miss Toni Latty.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore a beige silk sheath with brown accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside at 601 1/2 Abram.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School where she was a member of the Future Homemakers of America and the Bible Club.

The bridegroom graduated from Potoka High School, Vernon, Ill., and from the Industrial Machinist and Blue Print School in Peoria.

A reception was held at the church fellowship hall where the honored couple, bride's parents, and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with white net over a satin underlay and centered with yellow carnations. The three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with a miniature bride and groom.

Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Latty of Midkiff; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson of Midland; and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eudy.

Following a Thursday evening rehearsal dinner at the home of the bride-elect's parents, a surprise birthday party was held for the bride.

Foundations Need Yearly Check-Up

Foundations may show cracks as a result of a year's weather damage, especially through ground holes at the foundation line. Masonry cracks are best filled with a pitch-based water-proofing cement.

The ground holes should be filled with sand or gravel and topped with soil or sod, as protection against future rains and more cracks in the foundations.

Siding should be scrutinized for peeling paint, splitting and general decay. A complete re-siding job may be indicated.

Pair Wed In Church Ceremony

Miss Sharon Ann Marino became the bride of Airman J.C. Duane F. Kaiser Friday evening at the St. Paul Lutheran Church. The Rev. Donald Hafemann, minister of the Midland Grace Lutheran Church, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Marino, Gail Route, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip F. Kaiser, Delafield, Wis. Mrs. Gale Bonner, organist, presented a selection of traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Wanda Jean Heckler as she sang, "I Love You Truly."

Before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and lavender chrysanthemums, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a street-length dress of ivory peau de soie complemented with a coat of lace with long tapered sleeves. Her veil of illusion was attached to a cluster of rosettes accented by silver leaves. She carried a cascade of feathered white carnations and white gladioli atop a white Bible.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Katherine Marino. She wore a street-length sleeveless A-line dress of pale lavender lace over lilac. She carried a nosegay of lavender chrysanthemums.

Airman J.C. John Hall, Webb AFB, was best man. Ushers were Airman J.C. Lee Hackler, Webb AFB, and Dickie Hatch. The altar taper lighter was Michael Marino, brother of the bride.

The bride attended Big Spring Senior High School, and the church fellowship hall where the bridegroom graduated from high school in Hot Springs, S. D. He honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

Stripling Retires From 1st Federal

Robert Stripling has announced his retirement from an active executive position with the First Federal Savings & Loan Association after 23 years. The election of Charles Beil to succeed him as executive vice president has been announced by Elmo Wasson, association president.

Stripling will continue to serve as a member of the organization's board of directors.

Stripling, a Big Spring native, joined First Federal in 1943, when it was quartered on the fifth floor of the Petroleum (now Cosden) Building. At the time, the association's total assets were around $150,000, and Stripling has led First Federal up to its present size of $18,000,000 in assets. He started out as secretary, in recent years has been executive vice president.

CAREER IN CITY
With his board, he directed the move of the association to a structure at Sixth and Main Streets in 1954, then, three years ago, into the showplace edifice now occupied.

Stripling is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fox Stripling, early-day settlers in the city. He was educated in Big Spring and, except for a short time with a wholesale grocery firm in Lubbock, has spent his entire business career here. He was the founder of the Stripling-Mancill Insurance Agency. He is a member of the First Stripling said he hopes to get in more time golfing and traveling, and taking advantage of a lodge owned in the mountains at Ruidoso. He will, he said, devote more time to the insurance business.

Mr. and Mrs. Stripling reside at 903 Mountain Park. They have one son, Dr. Robert Stripling Jr. of Kansas City.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

That Ghostly Music Heard On Texas' Fiddlers Island

By ED SYERS

Quite some dark nights ago, Obie and I considered coast-camping near Fiddler's Island, small and reedy where the San Bernard glides to sea—just west of the old Stephen Austin colony country that is now burgeoning Freepport.

We left it instead to night fishermen and, some say, the haunting strains of violins that gave it ghost legend and name. Some old timers trace Fiddler's dark-of-the-moon music to an early time hermit, murdered for his gold; others, to a young musician, bereaved his wedding night. Others to ship-wrecked, sea-chanteying pirates.

Still others, like the Henry Overbays who live and fish beside, will suggest the muted night sounds result from such natural causes as the shift of oyster shell in the channel, or night wind in the island line of timber.

Few accuse your imagination. "On the river," writes Freepport historian Mrs. Adele P. Caldwell, "between Churchill Bridge and the mouth is a spot called 'The Narrows' (the banks come real close together and it's a fine fishing spot). The tale is told you can hear fiddler's music . . . early evenings or nights."

Old accounts try to describe the sound over the "Singing River." You seem to sense it, welling from the water itself, at first. Then it swells to something you hear—almost touch. If you dare to stay . . . maybe see.

Some accounts relate of long ago skeptics who rowed out nights to dare the music to its end. Always they came back shaken, never returned to try again. Of course, Henry Overbay asserts if you just fish the music leaves you alone.

Now Mrs. Caldwell reports a new kind of fiddlers — who seemed, at the time, happy.

"Long ago, several fellows were near that spot in a boat. They were having a hilarious time, playing their fiddles. Somehow, they got in a fuss and the boat turned over. The fiddlers were drowned, but they never stopped fiddling."

Now this sort of ghost might not be so fearful after all. If you decide to test, take a dark night at high tide, advises Mrs. Caldwell.

And let us know how you make out, will you?

BIGGEST PECAN: Strangely, until a Houston query, OBT's catalogue of biggest trees omitted our state's — the majestic, friendly pecan ("peccan or puccon" as early Anglo explorers called it). Well, no longer. Hear Victoria's Rev. Nathaniel H. Kern:

"As of this date (being first claimant), WE have the biggest pecan tree in Texas!—at least, the biggest one on record. There may be bigger ones, but this is a whopper (circumference 4 1/2 feet above ground, 208 inches, height 96 feet, average spread, 52 feet). It is on 'Blackacre,' our little farm, a mile and a half west of Belmont (between San Antonio - Houston) on US 90-A."

MAILBOX: (Write OBT, care of The Herald. For personal reply, please enclose stamped, addressed envelope).

Aug. 14, Borden County and its seat Gail, southwest of Lubbock, celebrates 75th Anniversary, reports that Plains community's Mrs. Pauline Clark. Aside from thoroughly naming cow country for Gail Borden, Texas patriot, journalist, inventor—and father of condensed milk, here's where old-time history makers will yet get to see their early day pictures writing it. South Plains history is so relatively recent . . . Denton's Roy Hunter: "We are planning a trip across South Texas-Houston to Corpus to San Antonio and Austin — wherever inclined. Please send a list of caves and camping places." Note: Sent; maybe OBT camper-splunkers want to add personal preferences . . . Hurst's Mrs. John Dodge: "My son and I are authentic arrowhead hunters. You mentioned a Lewisville site; is it covered by Lake Garza-Little Elm? (Yes). What is known about the so-called 'Lagoon Sand Pits and where are they?' (Note: Need help on that one.) Oklahoma City's J.A.G.: "Sure, you give Presidio a bad time on its temperature. Marsh (as composer). For my research . . . may he be contacted?"

Webb Airman Given DFC

Airman I.C. Francisco Alvarado has been presented the Distinguished Flying Cross by Col. Chester J. Butcher, wing commander at Webb AFB, at ceremonies in the commander's office.

Airman Alvarado distinguished himself by heroism as flight mechanic on an air rescue service HH-43B helicopter over North Viet Nam June 23, 1965.

The citation accompanying the award reads: "On that date, Airman Alvarado assisted in the recovery of a downed pilot under extremely hazardous conditions. The mission required a flight of approximately 150 miles, most of it over hostile controlled areas with some heavy anti-aircraft artillery. The actual pickup (rescue) was made in heavy jungle and required exceptional skill and crew coordination. The skill and professional manner in which Airman Alvarado performed his duties for this mission contributed to its success and saved the life of a United States Air Force pilot."

Airman Alvarado is presently a helicopter crew chief with Dept. 18, Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service at Webb.

He arrived here in November, 1965, from Wurtsmith AFB, Mich. The airman's hometown is San Antonio.

Sure It's Hot Now, But Do You Remember '56

Editor's Note: Ten years pass rapidly and memory-fades. But think back—a decade to the heat and drought situation then. Perhaps it will even make you feel a little cooler. A look backward.

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

While Southwesterners fret about the heat and the usual summer dryness, they might roll the years back and consider a decade ago. It might make them feel better.

Recall those years when drinking water sold for more than oil, half of one county went on relief, and all sorts of desperate solutions were offered to end the drought?

PARCHED LAND

President Dwight D. Eisenhower flew to Texas to see for himself the parched land, the dry river beds, the mud in what once were lakes, hungry and thirsty cattle, farmers and ranchers at the end of their financial tether, giant trees dying.

The drought began about 1950 and not until the spring rains of 1957 did the federal and state authorities say cautiously that the drought appeared broken.

All during the period, the failure of rain became a symbolic matter for many, who talked about the seven fat years and the seven lean years recounted at the time of Joseph in the Bible.

700 YEARS

Scientists said the drought was the worst in 700 years in some places.

The Southwest is so huge that there were spots here and there that received some rain at the right time so that some crops were grown.

But at one time, for instance, the federal government declared all but five of Texas' 254 counties drought disaster areas. People who all their lives had been able to make ends meet finally had to ask for relief.

Here is a state-by-state report, taken from the 1956 files, the quotes taken from official sources:

Colorado: Situation worse in some areas than the famous "dust bowl" days of the 1930s.

WORST IN 20 YEARS

Utah: Worst drought in 20 years in southern half and some ranges "bare as a hardwood floor."

Arizona: Scientists find, from tree rings, worst drought in 700 years; what grass can be found is bleached white.

Kansas: Too dry to sow crops and where land seeded, the seed did not sprout.

New Mexico: Only a light sprinkling of snow on the mountains, and lakes and reservoirs at all-time low; plains brown and bare.

Oklahoma: Winds sapping the limited soil moisture. Many trees dying.

STAGGERING

The losses were staggering. Texas officials said the loss was $2.75 billion in five years in crop failures. Ranchers sold their herds down to only breeding size, and some of these breeding herds finally went to the meat packers. Some people simply abandoned their farms and ranches.

City people found their water sources dried up. Dallas built connections to small lakes it had abandoned as water supplies. Then it routed water from the Red River, but some persons found the taste of the water so different they did not like to drink it.

So groceries began selling distilled water by the gallon for 50 cents, while crude oil sold for about 15 cents a gallon.

WATERING GRASS

Watering of grass and trees was banned. Housewives were advised to save their used dishwater to keep valued shrubs alive. Cars could not be washed.

Temperature maximums went above 100 in many places and stayed there for weeks.

Karnes County, Tex., one that suffered most, had about 17,000 population and the county judge said 10,000 persons were on relief at one time. Karnes City, the county seat, had 150 businesses and 25 closed. Officials said 2,000 persons left the county for greener pastures.

Various government research helped farmers avoid the "dust bowl" type of soil damage, although a lot of dust blew.

Scientists say there always will be cycles of drought and of too much rain in the Southwest, and the 1950s taught the cities that they must do something.

HUGE DAMS

They began building huge dams and pipelines and conduits and otherwise preparing in the event another dry period comes.

Texas and the federal government began looking ahead as far as the year 2020 with a master water plan that consists of more reservoirs, bringing water from the well-supplied eastern part of the state to the drier western portion, and even bringing water from rivers in other states.

But you can wager that if the world ever reaches a water-heated utopia, there will be someone who will cry that it's still too hot or too dry.

DEAR ABBY

The Cost Of Treatment

DEAR ABBY: Why does a psychoanalyst charge so much? The cheapest one I have been able to find costs $25 an hour. I certainly can't afford that. Am I supposed to postpone my nervous breakdown until I can pay for it?

I can't understand why doctors dedicate themselves to curing the sick mind and then set their rates so high that few people can afford them.

NEEDS TREATMENT
DEAR NEEDS: A psychoanalyst must have four years of college, four years of medical school, one year of internship, and three years of residency in a psychiatric hospital. Then he, himself, must submit to psychoanalysis which requires four one-hour sessions a week (at $25 an hour) for three or four years.

In addition, he takes four years of lectures and seminars which cost him about $4,800, plus another 200 hours of supervision from a training analyst at $25 an hour. By the time he is ready to hang out his shingle, he has spent almost $50,000 on his education and is 35 years old. Does that answer your question?

DEAR ABBY: It came to my attention that my new daughter-in-law resents my referring to her as "George's wife" or "my daughter-in-law." I don't dislike her, actually, but she is George's fourth wife in nine years and I can't always remember the name of his current wife on a moment's notice.

George divorced his first wife (Margaret) to marry a girl named Charlotte, and for the longest time I kept calling Charlotte "Margaret." Then he divorced Charlotte to marry Cynthia, and I had the same trouble. I kept calling Cynthia "Charlotte." Now he has taken another wife and I am not taking any chances. Should I explain this to her?

CAREFUL IN TORONTO
DEAR CAREFUL: Don't explain. With George's record for changing wives, it hardly pays to tax your memory with their names. George could eventually take the fifth.

DEAR ABBY: AS you know, bachelors who have money are reluctant to get married—these days because they fear that if the marriage doesn't work out, it may cost them a great portion of their material wealth. One cannot blame them with the present divorce rate.

Can a woman tell a man that she would be willing to sign a legal paper saying she will make no claim on his money or property if the marriage ends in divorce? What better way can she prove to him that she loves him for himself, and himself alone? Or should she just go ahead and have the papers drawn up and present them to him? WILLING TO SIGN

DEAR WILLING: I advise you to have any such papers drawn up. Most bachelors with "material wealth" are well aware of how to protect themselves against designing females. (That's probably why they are still bachelors.) Wait until he proposes. HE may present YOU with the papers.

DEAR ABBY

They're ready to go—but quick. Luxurious Impalas, racy Chevelles, thrifty Chevy II's, sporty Corvairs. Chevrolet's never built more cars for the money. And you've never been able to save more on one than right now.

Construction At Record Pace

DALLAS (AP)—The construction industry in the first seven months of the year has set a record pace, the Texas Contractor, the trade magazine, will report Tuesday.

Awards of contracts, not including individual housing, amounted to $114,332,000, the magazine reported.

This brought the seven-month total to $794,120,000, about $30 million beyond the pace set in the record year of 1964.

Building Authorizations Decline In First Half

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas building authorizations fell during the first half of 1966 from their level of the last six months of 1965, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

The first half authorizations this year were 12 per cent above the comparable period last year, however.

"The latest data, for June, provide further evidence of a weakening of Texas building trends," the bureau said.

June nonresidential permits dropped 20 per cent from May and 17 per cent from last June. Residential authorizations fell 11 per cent from May and 21 per cent from June 1965.

Dr. Robert B. Williamson, bureau research associate, said the index of residential permits dropped in June to the lowest level since 1961—except for a briefly touched low point in February 1965.

"Influences on residential building in Texas during the first half of 1966 were essentially the same as those which have caused home building throughout the nation to decline," Williamson said.

"Factors contributing to a weakening of home building trends in Texas and the nation include reduced supplies of mortgage credit, rising building costs, and adverse demographic factors."

Williamson said the average interest rate on convention first mortgage new home loans in June was nearly 6 3/4 per cent, compared with about 5 3/4 per cent last fall.

"The flow of new savings to savings and loan associations, a major source of mortgage credit, appears to have diminished in recent months," Williamson said. "A contributing factor has been the competition of commercial banks for savings through their payment of high interest rates on time deposit certificates."

A Devotional For The Day

In these five parables lay a multitude of invalids, blind, lame, paralyzed. (John 5:3, RSV).
PRAYER: Help us, Lord, to be helpful. May we tarry in prayer until we are sure of Thy guidance. Then lead us to the blind, the lame, the paralyzed, that together with us they may walk with Thee. We pray in His name. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Penalties For Bad Driving

If you've grown unaccustomed to counting points, prepare to resume. Texas has a new auto insurance plan, promulgated by the Texas Insurance Board as another weapon against the staggering accident rate, which will assess higher premiums against those convicted of certain driving violations.

The actual rate structure goes into effect Aug. 1 of next year, but traffic accidents and offenses accumulated for the previous year will be counted in computing the premiums a year hence. So practical minded drivers will start being all the more careful—supposedly—beginning tomorrow.

The rate structure is based on a regional structure, and for the computations, Howard County is thrown with Midland, Ector and Scurry counties. The rating system will be done for these four counties.

There are penalty points for various violations, speeding among them. There are also DWI cases, hit-and-run cases, cases of negligent homicide and any felony offense involving an automobile.

Penalties are rated on these points. If you pick up one point, your basic insurance rate will be 15 per cent more than the normal rate for auto liability, medical payments and collision insurance. Two points raises it to 35 per cent, three to 60 per cent, and four to 90 per cent—almost double the regular rate.

There are things to be watched and remembered. Speeding will undoubtedly be the most common offense for which penalties are assessed. Driving without a valid driver's license is another; and there is a penalty for being involved in any kind of moving violation resulting in suspension or cancellation of license.

It remains to be seen how the penalty program will be accepted, or what results it will achieve. The board has authority to institute it, so the state has it.

There is one point in which everybody is in agreement on: That is that insurance rates have gone just about through the ceiling. The board feels that if enough reduction in accident rates results from the plan, that basic rates will come down. The insurance companies have said all along that it is the drivers who are making their rates.

There is an adage that a fellow reports when something affects his pocketbook. Paying steep fines is supposed to have been a deterrent, but a great big hunk of extra money on that insurance premium may be a better one. Most of the states have the penalty plan in effect, and apparently it is working. The simple analysis of it would be that the driver who has the wrecks is going to foot the bill.

Business Review

Only Auto Makers Miss On Big Profits

By JACK LEPLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A flood of excellent second quarter earnings reports came out this week but earnings of the big three automakers weren't among them.

Oil companies, railroads and manufacturers reported record or near record profits.

This indicated that the economy, spurred by demands of the Viet Nam war, was rolling along at a good pace.

While some economic indicators have signified that the business boom has lost some of its zip, the profits picture was good as the business upturn approached its 66th straight month in August.

AMONG THE companies reporting high second April-May-June profits were Bethlehem Steel, Boeing, Jersey Standard, Shell Oil, New York Central Railroad, Gulf Oil and Pennsylvania Railroad.

But the picture was not so good for the automakers, which have seen domestic sales decline from the record 1965 level.

Here is how the big three fared in the second quarter:

| 1966 | 1965 |
|-----------------------|---------------|
| Net $546,035,382 | 638,460,046 |
| A share $1.90 | 2.23 |
| Sales $5,501,643,726 | 5,657,497,124 |
| Ford | |
| Net $216,900,000 | 237,300,000 |
| A share $1.97 | 2.14 |
| Sales $3,311,900,000 | 3,085,600,000 |
| Chrysler | |
| Net $54,400,000 | 61,800,000 |
| A share $1.20 | 1.47 |
| Sales $1,430,000,000 | 1,370,000,000 |

CHRYSLER attributed the decline in domestic sales of passenger cars to tightness of credit, higher interest rates, acceleration of tax payments and a boost in the auto excise taxes.

None of the automakers mentioned the auto safety issue as a contributing factor.

Despite the downturn, 1966 looms as the second best auto sales year in history.

"While the market for automobiles in the second quarter showed some decline from last year's peak level, the outlook remains favorable," said Frederic C. Donner and James M. Roche, chairman and president, respectively, of General Motors.

"THE ECONOMY continues strong, consumer income is rising and unemployment is at a very low level. Used car prices are firm. The long-term growth factors—the increases in population and multiple-car families, the trend to suburban living and the growth in the replacement market—continue to be favorable."

Another giant of industry, earnings lower in the second U.S. Steel Corp., also found its quarter than a year earlier. Big Steel earned $77,428,706, or $1.43 a share, on sales of $1,174,294,062, compared with $81,042,694,062, compared with sales of $1,229,130,354 in the 1965 second quarter. The absence of a requirement for preferred stock boosted per share earnings this year.

THE GENERALLY good earnings failed to inspire the stock market. On Monday the market suffered its worst setback since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963. Brokers blamed the same factors that have contributed to the market's prolonged decline—tight money, weakness of the British pound and the Viet Nam war.

With production of 1966 model cars nearing an end, output this week slowed to an estimated 68,000 passenger cars. This compares with 103,465 last week and 147,093 a year ago.

SALES OF U.S.-made passenger cars in the middle 10 days of July fell 5.3 per cent from a year earlier. However, total volume increased to 230,168 from 216,035 because there were nine selling days this year against eight a year ago.

Steel production declined last week for the fifth consecutive week, totaling 2,424,000 tons against 2,469,000 tons the previous week.

Orders for new machine tools rose sharply in June, with defense buying for Viet Nam apparently supplying at least a portion of the push. Bookings totaled $177.5 million, compared with $158.8 million in May and $134.5 million in June, 1965.

That Settled It
VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Some time ago the Junior Chamber of Commerce named this "paint up, clean up week" in Vancouver.

Little did it know this would be the week the Union of Outside Workers — the garbage collectors, street cleaners and others — would pick to go on strike.

To Your Good Health

She Confuses Nerves And Nervousness

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have read that the human body needs a thin layer of fat to "insulate the nerves."

I repeated this to my grown son (who is underweight) and he said the idea was false.

Is there a relationship between thinness and "nerves"?

L. I.

I'm afraid you are confusing nerve tracks of the body with "nerves" in the sense of nervousness or emotional problems.

Am I right in guessing that your son is a nervous individual and you are hoping that if he eats more, it will help him?

The answer is no. Emotional tension does not depend on whether a person is thin or fat. For just one example, consider the compulsive eater, the person who eats too much because eating is for him a reaction from tension. Others drink too much, smoke too much, lose their tempers, go into sulks or have other compulsive reactions.

The complex networks of nerves, which are the "signaling system of the body," perform such things as transmitting sensations (pain, sight, sound, smell, etc.) and controlling muscular activity. When you move your hand, certain nerves tell the appropriate muscles to contract or relax.

These nerve trunks or chains of nerves do, indeed, have a thin protective sheath which contains fat, but a thin person has these sheaths just as well as a fat person.

Such fat has no relationship to the layers of fat just beneath the skin—the kind of fat that makes a fat person fat. And excessive food intake will not correct "nervousness."

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a virgin become pregnant? I stopped my boyfriend before we went all the way, but now my period is late and my friends tell me I could be pregnant. I've prayed and am scared and awfully nervous.—MISS A. C.

This question comes up often enough to make it obvious that the younger generation, supposedly so sophisticated, misses the point about "going all the way."

Pregnancy can occur whenever an ovum, or female egg cell, is present, and is penetrated by a male sperm cell. Although an emission contains millions of sperm cells, only one is needed for pregnancy.

"Going all the way" is a somewhat vague term, but the important question is whether just one sperm cell found its way into the vaginal tract and to the ovum. These cells are vigorous and can "swim" or be carried quite a distance through the vaginal area. Such pregnancies probably are rare but they are possible, and every girl should be told of this possibility.

I have been chided at times as being a square old fogey for insisting that chastity is not an out-of-date virtue. The foregoing letter is typical of many that I receive from girls who are anxious, frightened or remorseful when they learn or suspect that sexual "freedom" isn't as simple and safe as they had let themselves suppose.

The sexual drive exists to procreate the race. Any sexual experimentation or play that permits the sperm cell to reach an ovum permits Nature to take its course and cause pregnancy. Yes, a virgin can become pregnant.

Around The Rim

Safety Device For Driving

There has been a lot of hubbub about automobile safety. Some people say the car makers have left screws loose, and a great many others say the fault is in the nut at the wheel.

The curious thing is that, with all the opinions voiced, the most practical solution has not been offered. It is simply this: Install a permanent back-seat driver, or substitute therefor, in every motor car.

IF IT is awkward to have a live back-seat driver in the machine at all times, which it very well might be, then a tape recording device could be installed.

The car of the future would have three recordings, and a switch would turn one on automatically as the driver got in the car.

The first would be in use when the driver prepares to leave the house. It would, roughly, chatter on as follows: "Is there enough gas? Did you think to have the battery looked at yesterday? Did you ask the man to check the tires? You know I told you the left front looked low to me... Watch out, somebody may be coming down the street... Be careful, you're grazing this tree at the side of the driveway..."

ANOTHER recording would take over as the car starts to town: "Keep your eyes open at this next corner. There's a yield sign on the intersecting street, but nobody pays any attention to it. I know, because that's the corner where Maudie Spreckleberger got hit right in the broadside—I mean the broadside of her car. Please slow down a bit, those corners are dangerous. Are you looking? The light is about to change. Wait a minute, don't jam on the brake so hard. All right, what are you waiting for? The light has changed. Why can't you stay on your own side of the street? Watch it, here comes a kid on a bicycle. Flash your signal if you're going to turn there..."

The third recording would come into action when the poor drowsy driver takes to the highway:

"PLEASE LET up a little on the gas. That's a speed zone ahead, didn't you see it? You know, this is the area where they hide the radars behind the hills and under the bridges. Are you sure you're on the right highway? Where's the road map you said you had marked? Isn't that a school bus up there? If it is, you'd better be prepared to stop. No, I don't believe it is a school bus."

"BUT THAT really is a gasoline truck. And if you swing around it, give it lots of room. I always shudder to think of hitting a gasoline truck? Are you reading the signs? That looked like a construction ahead" signal to me. You have to be careful the way they build these roads. One minute you're on a divided highway, the next minute you are in two-way traffic. Doesn't that make you nervous?"

"START WATCHING. I believe our exit number is the next one. Be sure you stay in the right lane. They say these freeway stackups are the worst kind. Did you bring the Smothers' address? You didn't? How are we supposed to find their house?"

By this time the driver is such a nervous wreck that he vows he'll never get in the car with a back-seat driver again. That takes drivers, and autos, off the streets and highways.—BOB WHIPKEY

Experts Back Of Riots

WASHINGTON — Senator Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Democrat, is one of the most independent-minded men in the Senate and has the confidence of the people of his state, where he served five terms as governor, and previously as mayor of Cleveland. He has just spoken out about the riot in Cleveland as well as the disturbances in other parts of the country, and his conclusion is that the disorders and the looting are part of a national conspiracy "methodical and manifestly directed by experts."

MR. LAUSCHE addressed on Wednesday a convention in Chicago of the Independent Grocers' Alliance, and he minced no words as he warned the "civil rights" leaders that the street demonstrations are not helping their cause. He said in part:

"What is the difference between stimulating the masses to a fever pitch of violence under the guise of nonviolence and stirring up the emotions of people with lawlessness as your objective? Wrought-up emotions stir up normal reactions regardless of the intent of their perpetrators. Government must remain supreme. No sector of our society or our economy should be permitted to exercise powers greater than those exercised by the government."

THE SENATOR referred to the riots in cities across the country, and then added:

"The mode of operation, especially in the Cleveland riot, indicated design and organization. The technique adopted clearly showed that there were certain centrally managed tactics—keeping the riot in progress while many innocent people became involved in it.

"The riots have not been a help to the cause of the Negro. The advocates of 'black power,' 'get whiffy' and 'take the gun and the holster away from the white man and put it on the black man' are clearly adopting a course of extremism. They are advocating action which coincides completely with the action about which they so justly complain in certain parts of the country."

WHILE SENATOR Lausche was making his speech, news dispatches from Cleveland reported that a 17-year-old Negro youth had told a grand jury investigating the riots there that the looting, firebombing and sniping had been planned by a gang known as the "Black Panthers."

The Negro boy said there were about 200 "hell raisers" in the organization and that he himself took part in the rioting and threw several firebombs.

CITY AND state officials in Cleveland are determined to get at the facts. Louis B. Seltzer, retired editor of the Cleveland Press who is foreman of the grand jury, is quoted by the United Press International as saying:

"The grand jury saw enough to realize that the violence was organized and planned because of specific targets singled out for looting and burning."

HERE IN Washington, Congress is well aware that resentment is building up in different parts of the country because of the stimulus given by men in public life to "demonstrations." Politicians are beginning to talk about possible reaction at the polls in November that may come as a result of the over-emphasis on "civil rights" and the lack of emphasis on individual responsibility and the maintenance of order.

Big Daddy In The Big Swim

WASHINGTON — The most moving story in the newspapers this week was the disclosure from Peking that Mao Tse-tung swam nine miles to prove to critics he was in good health.

When Peking released the news, the United States National Security Council was called into immediate session and it was decided that the U.S. had no choice but to answer the Chinese in the only possible way it could. President Johnson would have to swim the Pedernales River to save face in Southeast Asia.

"GOOD AFTERNOON, ladies and gentlemen. This is your special CBS reporter Johnny Weissmuller speaking to you from the banks of the Pedernales River where President Lyndon Baines Johnson will try to break Mao Tse-tung's record of swimming nine miles in a choppy river. Thousands of people are lined up on both sides of the river to cheer the American President on in what has probably been the most difficult decision he has had to make to date.

"I see Bill Moyers, the presidential press secretary, over there and I'm going to ask him to come over and say a few words.

"Bill, is it true that the President is escalating our relations with Red China by trying to beat Mao's swimming feat?"

"THE PRESIDENT has said many times he is willing to sit down with the Chinese, anytime, anywhere, and discuss our differences. Since they have refused, the President has no choice but to go for a swim instead."

"Bill, Sen. Fulbright said last week that the President was over his head when it came to dealing with South-east Asia. Was he specifically referring to this swim?"

"I THINK Sen. Fulbright is all wet.

The decision to make this swim was taken with the advice of the Cabinet, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and former President Eisenhower. It's one thing to criticize the President's breaststroke, but it's another to say what you would do if you were in his place."

"Why aren't any of the other Western leaders joining President Johnson in this swim?"

"We've invited them to participate, but while they are most sympathetic to our cause, they feel since President Johnson got into this thing himself he ought to get out of it alone. The only one who offered to go along with the President was Premier Ky."

"Why didn't the U.S. accept his offer?"

"PRESIDENT JOHNSON has saved Marshal Ky from drowning so many times that he feels he'd rather not take the plunge with him again."

"Have you heard from Gen. De Gaulle?"

"Gen. De Gaulle has sent word he never swims. If he has to go anywhere he walks on the water."

"Well, thank you, Bill. Here comes the President now. He's surrounded by Secret Service men and Vice President Humphrey is holding his towel. Mr. President, could you say a few words before you take your dip?"

"I'D JUST LIKE to say that in the most recent poll 63 per cent of all Americans were in favor of my taking this swim. I feel the American people are behind their President, and despite the critics and the nervous Natives in this country, I'm going to swim the Pedernales because I think it's the only right thing to do."

"Mr. President, why aren't you wearing a bathing suit?"

"Because there is only one answer to naked aggression, and this is it."

The Massacre Of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON—"Being an old baker, when I buy bread I sometimes like to buy the Pullman loaf. It is square and makes good sandwiches. So I picked up a loaf of Pullman bread and when we got it home I noticed the price tag and I was surprised. I thought well, now, wait a minute: last week that loaf was 25 cents. This week it is 30 cents. So it has gone up very considerably."

THOSE IMMORTAL words were spoken as only he could utter them by Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois. This was inflation at home, the inimitable Dirksen said in support of a cut of $250,000,000 in the Development Loan Fund of the foreign aid bill. It has been on a level hardly higher than this that a majority of left, center and right in the Senate joined in cutting foreign aid to ribbons.

The war dance around the prone corpse is a manifestation of more than merely the growing unpopularity of a program that had no voting constituents. It is evidence of the alienation between the President and his critics in the Senate. As he invokes patriotism in defense of his Viet Nam policy and scorn for those who challenge his policy to the cheers of the crowd, the gulf widens.

THIS MEANS that increasingly not alone foreign aid, which has always been a stepchild, but other programs, including those on the Great Society front, will be in trouble. Whether President Johnson intended to put his weight behind the aid program, the fact is that the kind of background White House support evident on other occasions was hard to find.

THE SENATE might have summoned a witness of impeccable qualification and properly conservative background. George D. Woods came out of a successful career in private banking to be, as head of the World Bank, a passionate convert to the need to raise the level of life in the developing countries if there is to be any hope of orderly progress. Even as the debate on foreign aid—if the massacre in the Senate can be so described—was going on, Woods delivered a carefully reasoned jeremiad on the failure of the rich nations to share enough of their surplus with the poor nations to enable them to move out of bondage to poverty.

ONE AFTER the other niggling amendments were tacked on, which in many areas will make the administration of the aid program difficult if not impossible. The climax was the resolution, accompanied by blood-and-thunder oratory, denouncing West Germany for concluding a deal with Red China for a steel rolling mill. If the Germans had ever contemplated reconsidering this arrangement, the brutal attack by Senate hawks makes it all but impossible, since to yield under this threat is to seem to accept the status of a satellite.

IT HAS BEEN said that the war fever reflects some of the attitudes of the isolationism of the past—you do as we say or take the consequences. In this light the slaughter of the foreign aid bill is a kind of watershed, and speculation on the blame is idle. Should the President have pursued his feud with Sen. J. William Fulbright, who turned against the whole aid concept? The quarrel may prove to have cost the Administration far more than the loss of this battle.

Billy Graham

Please explain the meaning of the word "sun" as written in Genesis 1:3, where God said, "Let us make man in our own image, after our likeness." R. M.

Out of this and other Scriptures has grown the concept we call the Trinity. Sometimes God is referred to as Holy Spirit; at other times as God, and at other times as the Son. Jesus said, "Father, thou art in me, and I in Thee."

Divine truths are not easily grasped by our finite minds. However, when we think of the sun in our solar system, we have a trinity of components: the orb, the heat, and the light—one, yet three in one. We, ourselves, are composed of body, soul (mind) and spirit. One, yet three in one.

Of course the main reason we believe in the Trinity is because it is delineated in the Scriptures, not because it is logical and rational. There are many things we believe that cannot be fully explained. For example, we believe in the miracle of reproduction, indeed, we are all products of that miracle—yet, no one can adequately explain it.

In many spiritual matters we must say, "God said it, I believe it, and that settles it."

SYMBOL OF SAFETY

You never mistake the meaning of a Church spire.

Even to those who are cold to the ideals for which the Church stands, that finger of faith always points to something that is comforting, reassuring, safe.

The very presence of a Church, whether in a crowded city street or on a quiet country road, is a benediction to all, including those who are not conscious of worship.

Such an influence, with what it means to those who open their hearts to truth, is worthy of a second thought. It merits acceptance as a refuge. It commands confidence as a port in time of storm.

The Church deserves your support — your membership — because it affords real protection for the family whose welfare it is your duty to defend and whose proper upbringing is your solemn obligation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LT Plays To Be Staged At State

The Little Theatre of Big Spring passed another milestone last week with the announcement it will stage its future productions in the State Theatre, on Runnels Street downtown.

Ike Robb, representing R&R Theatres, made the announcement, stating he had temporarily closed the facility for movies.

"Acquiring this ideal facility enables the little theatre to make more extensive plans for the future," Mrs. Harold Davis, president, said, "and we appreciate Mr. Robb's gesture in making it available to us. Since the old City Park building has been condemned, we have had considerable difficulty in finding a place for rehearsals. We were also restricted in the amount of time we could use the City Auditorium for getting our plays ready for an audience."

"By using the State Theatre building, both of these problems are solved," she said.

The organization will stage its first production in the "new" facility the latter part of September. Special stage lights have been ordered, and plans are currently under way to adapt this initial play to the stage area. Although the stage area is relatively small, the organization plans to use it "as is" for the present.

Mrs. Davis pointed out that acquiring the State Theatre is another in a series of steps forward the theatre organization has made this year.

The season ended last May was one of the best in the history of the organization, combining larger crowds and better productions. Although only four plays were staged, the directors immediately made plans to produce five next season.

The first "children's workshop" was staged during the summer months. Using the YMCA facilities, the organization employed two instructors in giving youngsters the background for working on stage in future productions for children. Children's plays have been well received, and the workshop drew capacity enrollment.

Directors recently employed a full-time executive director—Jack Meeker. Meeker has worked in most of the organization's recent plays, directing many of them. When he is released from the Air Force, he plans a career in the theatre.

"We are looking forward to our best season yet," Mrs. Davis said, "with one, maybe two, children's plays. Our playhouse downtown and a full-time director should help us stage the best productions in the 10-year history of our organization."

The season ticket sale will start in August.

Stresses Seat Belt Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government stressed today the importance of training motorists to buckle their seat belts.

The Public Health Service said of 1,850 Oakland, Calif., drivers interviewed during a survey, 28 per cent owned vehicles equipped with seat belts.

'Combat' In Comfortable Perch In TV Ratings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When September rolls around, a tight little band of combat infantrymen will resume its fifth year of fighting its way from the Normandy beachhead into Germany.

The veterans of the realistic ABC series, "Combat," seem to win all their encounters with the Nazis but don't seem to get far except to a comfortable if not peak perch in the Nielsen ratings.

Over the seasons, Sgt. Chip Saunders and his squad of three regulars have encountered plenty of weather — those drenching Hollywood rains, snow, blazing heat — and coped with cowards, malcontents, spies, snipers. Sharp-eyed viewers of the series have noted that, no matter how hard the "Combat" squad fought, no matter how many fields, forests and streams it crossed, it seemed to be moving in one giant circle. The series was shot in the back lot of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. After awhile, they ran out of fresh backgrounds, and were back crossing the same stone bridge or were trapped under timbers in the same village church.

Next season they will be fighting in brand new terrain.

Morrow, who has avoided sham-battle fatigue by occasionally directing episodes of the show, hopes that with his studio shift the writers can get the show into new terrain.

Animals Star In Comedy Jet Feature

There have been many great comedy teams in Hollywood history, Martin and Lewis, Abbott and Costello, and Laurel and Hardy are among the best, but none of these great entertainment duos have been quite as unusual as Taffy and Margo who are seen in "Taffy and the Jungle Hunter," the Technicolor adventure which opens at the Jet Theatre Saturday. Taffy weighs 150 pounds eats hay and peanuts and trumpets without a musical instrument, while Margo loves bananas and climbs trees.

Taffy is a baby elephant and Margo is a chimp and the fun they create is a highlight of the story of a young hunter's son who runs away into the teeming African jungle. Manuel Padilla plays the youngster who disappears with his two pals when he learns that his father, played by Jacques Bergerac, has decided to ship Taffy the baby elephant to an American zoo.

There's hardly a species of wild life the runaway trio do not encounter, nor a jungle hazard that doesn't await them as their incredible safari crosses the dense wilderness. Lions, leopards, giraffes and hippopotami are seen in "Taffy and the Jungle Hunter" along with gazelles, impalas, crocodiles and zebras to mention just a few. The dangers which beset the little hunter, his elephant and the chimp include a volcanic eruption, a jungle fire which sends thousands of animals fleeing desperately across the veldt and tribal rivalry which threatens to engulf everyone in warfare.

"Taffy and the Jungle Hunter" follows the trials of two sets of jungle parties, the trio of fugitives and a search party headed by the boy's father, Jacques

Steve McQueen Stars In Film

"Nevada Smith," a production for Paramount Pictures releasing opening today at the Ritz Theatre, is a taut, action-packed western drama directed by Henry Hathaway and starring an all-star cast. The actors recruited for their roles in the Panavision color production include Steve McQueen, in the title role, Karl Malden, Brian Keith, Arthur Kennedy and Suzanne Pleshette. Co-starring are Raf Vallone, Janet Margolin, Pat Hingle, Howard Da Silva and Martin Landau.

Based on the character created by Harold Robbins in "The Carpetbaggers," a best-selling novel and smash-hit film, also a Levine-Paramount offering, "Nevada Smith" is a prologue to the earlier motion picture. It deals with the early years of the fascinating character, played by the late Alan Ladd in the previous film.

The story goes back in time, to the 1890's during California's colorful gold rush days, when young Nevada is a rugged, innocent boy. When he finds his mother and father have been tortured and killed by three vicious killers in the picture's opening scenes, he sets out to track them down.

Carl W. Mickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weslie L. Mickey of 607 N. First St., Lamesa, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Texas.

CARL W. MICKEY

Lt. Mickey, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Kelly AFB, Tex., for training as an education and training officer.

Shipfitter Fireman Roland D. Hammack, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex L. Hammack of 2204 Warren St., Big Spring, has departed Charleston, S. C., for Holy Loch, Scotland, aboard the Submarine Tender USS Simon Lake.

Submarine Tenders provide maintenance and repair of nuclear-powered polaris submarines.

Marine Pvt. Gary L. O'Dell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Purcell of 1408 Tucson Road, has completed individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

His next stop is four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught infantry sub-specialties, such as the machine gun, grenade launcher, rifle or mortar. Marines to be assigned to highly technical specialties will be sent to military technical schools for their specialist training.

Two Big Spring soldiers have just completed a water supply course at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. They are Pvt. Jimmy E. Minnick, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah A. Minnick, 1107 Mulberry; and Pvt. Billy J. Hutchison, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Hutchison, 601 McEwen.

They were trained in removal of impurities from drinking water and in conversion of sea water to drinking water.

Seaman Apprentice Jimmy R. Horton, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Horton of Big Spring, is serving aboard the U.S. Seventh Fleet Destroyer, USS Rowan, operating in the South China Sea.

The coveted Combat Infantryman's Badge was awarded Army Pfc. James A. Newsom, 20, whose wife, Patty, lives at 2503 Rebecca St., Big Spring in Viet Nam July 15.

He is assigned as a rifleman in Company C, 2nd Battalion, 14th Infantry, in the 25th Infantry Division.

In Viet Nam, at least 30 days of contact with hostile forces is required in order to be eligible for the award.

Maj. Howard T. Nuckels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Nuckels of Rt. 1, Big Spring, has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Toul-Rosières AB, France.

Maj. Nuckels received the medal for meritorious service as

Earl Hull Named To FHA Group

Earl S. Hull, long time Howard County farmer, has been named to serve a three-year term on the Howard County Farmers Home Administration committee. Hull replaces Ross Hill who has served on the committee for the past three years.

The other members of the committee are the chairman, Edgar L. Phillips, Big Spring, and James C. Barr, Coahoma. These men give assistance to Delbert Donelson, the agency's county supervisor, in determining applicants' eligibility for FHA assistance.

The agency at the present is accepting applications for farm ownership, operating, soil and water, rural housing, and economic opportunity loans.

26 Violent Deaths Since January 1st

Guns ran traffic a close race ahead of last in violent deaths in Howard County in the first six months of 1966 as a cause of death.

A check of the vital statistics kept by Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, for the period Jan. 1 through June 30 discloses there have been 26 deaths recorded in which violence in some form was the cause. Thirteen of the victims were killed in traffic accidents.

Seven, the records show, died of gunshot wounds.

The remaining six deaths were from as many causes — one each fatality being charged to drowning, gin - accident, tractor mishap, burns, electrocution, fight injuries. For the same period in 1965, the records showed only 18 violent deaths: Of this number, seven were blamed on traffic, three were caused by guns, knives three, falls two, drownings two, exposure one.

Eleven of the victims killed in 1966 in car accidents, gunshots and otherwise were under the age of 21. The youngest to die was a child of two; the oldest to perish from violent causes was 70. The average age was 25 years.

Twenty-three of the victims were males; three were female. At least three of the deaths listed were homicides, two or three were ruled suicides.

This year, so far, is eight but still lags far behind 1961 when there were 41 such deaths for the entire 12 months.

January had nine of the violent deaths, February three, March three, April six, May three and June two.

Webb Calls For Bids On Floors, Air Conditioners

An invitation to bidders has been issued by the Base Procurement Office at Webb, covering installation of floor tile in the day rooms of 17 dorms. Plans are available for inspection at the office, building 625.

The work consists of removing existing floor tile and shoe mould, and install new asphalt floor tile and wood shoe mould.

The usual 10-90 day completion period will be required after receipt of notice to proceed is received by the successful bidder.

The base also will take bids to replace two cooling towers. The specifications call for removing existing tower and foundations, installing new concrete slab and installing new air cooled condensers.

Requests for bids must be received by Aug. 22. A 10-day starting, 6-day completion time is set.

R WE PERMANENTLY RECORD ALL PRESCRIPTIONS.

No matter how long ago you secured a prescription from us, we can locate it quickly if you wish to repeat it, or if any physician you consult needs information about what you have taken.

There are some medicines which can only be refilled if your physician instructs us to renew them. Sometimes a new prescription is needed. We have wise pharmacy laws which protect you against harm. We gladly obey them.

When you wish to refill such prescriptions, at your request we will phone your physician for his permission and if necessary ask for a new prescription. This sometimes takes time till we can speak to the physician, but we are glad to supply this extra service.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?
