CAR IN WHICH ROBERT R. McEWEN JR. PERISHED Widely known Big Springer died in this one car crash Sunday

Bob McEwen Dies In Auto Mishap

Robert Russell (Bob) McEwen Jr., 47, widely known Big automobile dealer here for many years, died at 11 p.m. Sunday in Cowper Hospital and Clinic of injuries received in a one car accident about two hours earlier.

Mr. McEwen was injured fatally when his late model car left the highway, crashed across rough brushland and plunged into a ravine at 8:20 p.m. The mishap was at the curve on the Snyder highway .7 mile north and east of town. He was alone, travelling northeast, enroute to the Howard County Airport to bid his daughter, Diane, goodbye. She was boarding a plane from the airport.

ROBERT R. McEWEN JR.

Geo. pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

REARED HERE

Mr. McEwen, who resided at 809 W. 14th, was born July 15, 1919 in Pittsfield, Mass. He came with his parents, R. R. and the late Mrs. McEwen when he was still a schoolboy, and was graduated from Big Spring High. Later he attended the University of Texas and was married June 15, 1941 to Nettie Carter.

After service in the U.S. Air Force from 1942-1945, he was associated with his father in the Buick-Cadillac agency here. Subsequently he operated the business until he sold out in October, 1965, to become associated with the Shasta Ford sales department.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church, was a past president of the Big Spring Downtown Lions Club, was a past president of the Toastmasters Club and in 1950 was named as the winner of the Jaycee award as outstanding young man of the year.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Nettie Carter; two sons, Russell McEwen III, and Scott McEwen, one daughter, Diane, all of Big Spring, his father, R. R. McEwen Sr., La Jolla, Calif., one sister, Mrs. Dan Krause, Dallas; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Sorrells, San Diego, Calif. His mother, Mrs. Nettie Carter, died in 1958. He is survived by his father-in-law, Harold Talbot, Dr. Milton Talbot, Jack Cook, Louis Carothers, Elbert Boulton, Raymond Tollett, R. W. Andrews and Harold Steck.

MISSIS TURN

Highway patrol officers who investigated the accident said that the car did not make the turn and after leaving the slab plowed 119 paces over the right of way to wind up in a ditch more than 300 feet from where it left the paving. The car was demolished.

Mr. McEwen was removed to the Cowper Hospital but never regained consciousness.

His was the seventh traffic death on county and state roads in the county in 1966 and the 13th automobile fatality of the year counting the deaths which have occurred inside the city limits.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickel Rosewood Chapel. The Rev. Leo

Speck Pleads 'Not Guilty'

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, 24, pleaded innocent today to indictments charging he murdered eight young nursing students.

The pock-marked drifter stood in a crowded Circuit Court room of Chief Judge Alexander J. Napoli, surrounded by four sheriff's policemen.

NOT CUFFED

He was not handcuffed. Judge Napoli asked Speck several questions relating to his ability to pay fees for a lawyer to defend him.

Speck murmured, "No," in a low voice to each question. Then Napoli approved appointment of Gerald Getty, chief counsel of the public defender's office, as Speck's attorney.

Getty at this point entered Speck's plea of innocent to all eight indictments returned by the grand jury July 26.

Getty then waived the reading of each indictment. Napoli assigned the case to Judge Herbert C. Paschen for trial.

BACK DOOR

Speck was led from the room through a back door by his guards. All persons in the courtroom had been searched for weapons or cameras by sheriff's deputies. Women spectators were frisked as well as the men, with women deputies assigned to the task.

Judge Napoli had cleared the courtroom after appearance of 13 earlier defendants who were called to plead to indictments.

Airline Issue To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the machinists union told Congress today that the only way to get striking airline mechanics to agree to a new contract is to make wage and fringe benefits effective immediately rather than in stages.

Union President P. L. (Roy) Siemiller gave this view at an informal session of the House Labor Committee, as Congress, once again, took the lead in efforts to end the 25-day strike against five major airlines. At the same hearing an industry spokesman called on Congress to impose a solution in the dispute.

FORCING BACK

While Siemiller and William J. Curtin, chairman of the industry negotiating team, appeared together before the House committee, the Senate Labor Committee met to consider bills aimed at forcing the strikers to return to work.

The union rank and file overwhelmingly rejected a White House-engineered settlement offer in voting across the nation Sunday. Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, said his group had reached tentative agreement on a proposal to allow President Johnson to declare a national emergency and order the strikers back to work.

PROMPT ACTION

Senate Democratic Leader, Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., predicted prompt Senate action but indicated it might take most of this week to move emergency legislation through Congress.

"There must be a law to resolve this dispute and restore the lines to action," Curtin said. "Regrettably, it must also be a law for final settlement of this dispute because of the irresponsibility that has been shown."

Siemiller told the committee, "We did everything possible to expedite what we hoped would be ratification. The turnaround was a great disappointment to myself. I went on record on the air from the White House and in telegrams to locals over the country recommending the solution."

NOT FORMAL

The session to which the two leading negotiators in the airline dispute were called was described by Chairman Adam Clayton Powell Jr., D-N.Y., of the House Labor Committee as "not a formal hearing."

He named a special eight-man subcommittee equally divided by party and headed jointly by himself and Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio. This group, he said, will meet in closed session later and decide whether the committee itself should pursue the matter any further.

REJECTED IT

The machinists who grounded 60 per cent of the nation's air traffic threw a monkey wrench into the White House agreement Sunday by rejecting it in secret balloting, 17,251 to 6,587.

Despite the big wage and fringe benefit gains totaling 72 cents an hour spread over a three-year contract, the strikers apparently decided it was too little and too late. Many said they wanted the full benefits right now without waiting for the second and third year of the contract. Others said they didn't get a better pension plan or a cost of living escalator clause.

The union's president, P.L. (Roy) Siemiller, had recommended that the strikers accept the agreement. Their rejection of the pact did not jeopardize his position, observers said. Many units, in reporting their thumbs-down vote, sent along messages such as "We're with you all the way. Keep fighting."

LAST STRIKE

"This will be the last strike in this industry," growled one 20-year veteran of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists in predicting Congress would land on the union with both feet.

It was not immediately clear whether the Senate would revive plans to give Johnson power to order the strikers back to work, or have Congress do the politically unpopular job itself.

Wirtz Says LBJ Taking No Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz told the Senate Labor Committee today the Johnson administration is taking no stand, for or against, a congressionally-imposed settlement to the airlines strike.

If Congress does decide to act on any of the various pending proposals for ending the 25-day walkout, Wirtz said he prefers the solution proposed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Morse's plan would impose a six-month back to work period during which efforts would continue at attaining a negotiated settlement. Wirtz said he favored this approach, over proposals to empower the President to declare a national emergency to be followed by issuance of back to work orders for three 60-day periods.

Boat Missing, Search Begins

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — A chartered British excursion boat with 25 to 30 persons aboard — including children — was missing today off the rugged Cornish coast.

The pilot of a Royal Air Force long-range plane reported seeing a white dinghy in the search area. Clothing was in the craft but there was no sign of life.

An extensive search was launched after the pleasure boat vanished during the night. There was no word of her 24 hours later.

The missing vessel — The 45-foot motor cruiser Dariwin, with a crew of two — left Falmouth Sunday for a round trip to Fowey, 40 miles away.

Man Later Said Dead

AUSTIN (AP) — A newsman said today the sniper who killed seven persons has been identified as Charles Joseph Whitman, 24, an ex-Marine from Needville, near Houston.

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Tex. Aug. 1 (AP)—A deadly accurate sniper killed seven persons and wounded at least 26 others today before he surrendered to police in his perch high in the University of Texas tower, before police announced he was dead.

After a 1½-hour gunbattle the shooting ended. Police Capt. Russell Forrester said the sniper was "dead on arrival at Breckenridge Hospital."

It was not immediately known whether the sniper was killed by police bullets. During their siege of the tower, police fired volley after volley with shotguns and rifles equipped with telescopic sights.

The sniper picked off some of his victims as far as two blocks away as they walked along Austin's main downtown street during the busy lunch hour.

Others fell on the grass of the campus mall and rescuers were pinned down by the steady fire. Police hid behind trees and buildings and fired back with shotguns and rifles with telescopic sights.

"WE GOT HIM"

The firing began at 11:55 a.m. (CST) and at 1:20 p.m., Police Chief Bob Miles announced "We got him."

The slender, four-sided tower is about 30 stories high. It stands in the middle of the campus and its upper stories command a view of the entire city. Throughout the 1½-hour gunbattle the sniper changed his position quickly from one to another of the tower's sides.

Some of those hit included a policeman, a girl student, a small boy, a city electrical utility worker and an Associated Press newsmen. Latest reports indicated there might have been as many as 26 persons shot.

A justice of the peace identified one of the dead as Robert Boyer, a professor at the University. He was shot in the back. Another of the dead was said to be a policeman, Billy Speed.

After the sniper finally surrendered thousands of people swarmed to the plaza in front of the tower. A priest was summoned, and two injured persons were carried from the ground floor.

WHITE FLAG

Some observers said a man could be seen waving a white flag from the top of the tower before the man's capture; other reports said police led the man away struggling.

Ambulances took the victims to the city operated Breckenridge hospital. Many of them were treated in hallways as facilities became overtaxed.

EARLIER SLAUGHTER

The campus sniping recalled another wholesale shooting incident almost 17 years ago when Howard Unruh, a quiet Bible-reading World War II veteran walked down a street in Camden, N. J., and shot and killed 13 persons. Unruh is in a mental hospital.

"Different sounds came from the building—like a pistol and rifle and then we heard the big one," said Mrs. Susan Bradshaw, a university employe who was walking near the tower when the shooting started.

"Everybody was running, shouting someone has been shot. I'm scared," she said.

One girl felled by a bullet was dragged behind a cement stairway by several men after she was wounded. Shots from the tower prevented others from reaching her.

The campus was almost deserted when the firing began. Small groups of people ran out of buildings when the first shots were fired, then ducked back to safety as the bullets kept coming from the tower. An Associated Press reporter, calling from near the campus, said:

"Traffic as far away as two blocks from the campus is being rerouted farther south. A block from the campus, some 500 yards from the tower, a city electric crew member was shot."

"He was not behind a tree and that was a mistake. He got it right in the gut. I just heard it and looked around, the guy was on the pavement," said Art Eatman, 32, a Texas Water Development Board employe.

People hid in alleys and crouched behind buildings. A newsmen quoted Mrs. Vera Palmer, a member of the staff that oversees the tower observatory, as saying she went up on the elevator to relieve Mrs. Edna Townsley, who was working the observation tower.

As she stepped off the elevator, she said she saw a man in a white shirt with tennis shoes in his hand. He said: "Lady don't you dare get off this elevator."

She said she turned around and went down.

RACIAL OUTBURSTS REPORTED IN MANY AREAS

Chicago Whites Counter-Demonstrate

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 3,000 angry white persons, shouting "White power!" as they threw rocks and bottles, drove 350 civil rights demonstrators from an all-white neighborhood Sunday.

Sixty persons — including three policemen and a nun — were injured by rocks and bottles. Scores of persons, mostly white youths, were arrested.

MOST SERIOUS

It was the most serious direct clash of Negroes and whites in Chicago in several years, police said.

Earlier this summer, riots wracked Puerto Rican and Negro areas.

Gangs of white youths burned 30 of the marchers' cars and pushed two into a lagoon. The autos had been left in a park in the normally tranquil middle-class Irish-Lithuanian-Polish neighborhood of new bungalows and homes on Chicago's Southwest Side.

The demonstrators — white and Negro, priests and nuns, men and women and children — moved from the area at a fast walk without returning the violence as 260 policemen attempted to keep the whites away.

KING'S BANNER

They were protesting under the banner of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., against alleged discrimination in housing. Dr. King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, organized the march last week. King was not in Chicago Sunday.

The demonstrators met in a Negro church after the marches and said they would go back to the all-white area. They did not say when.

After the demonstrators left, whites swarmed into Marquette Park in droves of 500 to 1,000. They overturned the marchers' cars and burned them. Firemen were summoned, and were pelted with rocks and bottles by the whites.

HECKLERS

Police estimated about 3,000 white hecklers were present during the evening.

The park was closed off by police so the firemen could work. Firemen counted 20 burned autos bearing the emblem of the "Union to End Slums," with out-of-state license plates or with college insignias.

Two hours later, the youths ran into the park again and burned 10 more cars. The demonstrators marched stochically on sidewalks. Members of the Blackstone Rangers and East Side Disciples, Negro teenage gangs, were in the march.

BLOCK PATH

White youths sat on the sidewalk blocking the marchers' path. Police removed them. During the march, Raby noted: "The marches will continue for two weeks or for two years, as long as they are necessary. We're going to stand in the shadow of the church in order to associate our cause with the moral leadership of the community."

King's program began quietly Friday night. About 40 demonstrators picketed in front of a real estate firm they accused of refusing to deal with Negroes. It was to be an all-night vigil.

The protesters asked police to take them away in squad cars after a crowd of 200 whites gathered.

Saturday, some 250 demonstrators marched into the neighborhood. There was rock-throwing and jeering from residents. Eight persons were arrested and six were injured.

Six units of police dogs were taken into the area, but were not needed.

A Negro, 18, was treated for a shotgun wound. Police said he was shot as he ran from a liquor store which was being looted.

Arrests included about 20 adults and seven juveniles.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J. (AP) — Mayor James Flynn plans to meet tonight with representatives of this city's Puerto Rican residents to discuss a disturbance Sunday night involving a milling crowd of about 200 persons in a predominantly Puerto Rican area.

Several cars were stoned and numerous trash-can fires were set during a period of about three hours.

The unrest reported stemmed from the arrest of a Puerto Rican Saturday night.

In Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Police fired riot guns in the air to scatter a hostile crowd as new trouble flared early today in the heart of Omaha's Negro near North Side.

Officers said the crowd broke into little bands and roamed business streets in the area. Bricks and bottles shattered windows of stores. There was some looting.

Fire bombs apparently tossed from cars started fires at four shops.

Army Has Big Problem Of Training For Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army disclosed today it is seeking ways to solve a so far unsolvable problem: how to get more than 130,000 National Guard and Reserve recruits into basic training.

The backlog was caused by suspension of the Reserve enlistment program in mid-1965 by President Johnson because of the Viet Nam war.

The backlog totaled about 38,000 men on June 30, 1965. But for at least the last three months it has been stuck above the 130,000 mark, with the most recent figure given as 133,000 at the end of last month.

Some guardsmen and reservists have undergone basic training during this period, but they are relatively few. They are members of first-line units in "selected Reserve force" which would be the first called in a mobilization.

Asked about what steps are being taken to pare down the backlog, the Army said "a variety of measures are now being considered."

When it was suggested that suspension of the Reserve enlistment program might be one path, the Army replied: "Until these studies are completed and these basic determinations are made, it is considered premature to consider suspending enlistments."

Among other things, the Army is looking at the possibility of expanding training facilities, including opening more barracks and creating additional training companies at regular Army centers.

The Army also said it is debating the degree to which the prebasic training at home stations could be credited toward the basic combat training requirements.

DELEGATES INDICATE ALREADY PREJUDICED

Speck's Trial Chances Are Dim

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — "You're already prejudiced without one word of evidence against Speck brought forth," Louisville attorney John T. Ballantine told the delegates to the National Association of Legal Secretaries last week.

"That's exactly what the press and bar are trying to avoid," he added.

MOST OF THEM

Two-thirds of the 400 delegates, meeting in Louisville, had raised their hand when Ballantine asked how many thought Richard Speck, indicted in the slaying of eight student nurses in Chicago, should be sentenced to at least 10 years in prison.

The rest, the Louisville Courier-Journal reported, had raised their hands when he asked how many thought Speck should be committed to a mental institution on the grounds of insanity.

The incident points up the difficulty of assuring the accused in a widely publicized criminal case a fair trial.

What makes the Speck case particularly significant is that it follows two historic Supreme Court decisions.

and so far as is known no effort has been made to draw a confession from Speck.

However, Police Supt. O. W. Wilson's statement at a news conference 15 hours before Speck's capture that "as far as I'm concerned, there is no question he's the murderer" has brought criticism.

Harvard law professors Paul A. Freund, Mark DeWolfe Howe and Albert M. Sacks said Wilson had prejudged the case. Warren D. Wolfson, a criminal attorney who figured in the landmark Escobedo confession case, said the publicity would hinder Speck's chances for a fair trial. After Speck's arrest, Wilson defended himself. Asked at a news conference if he should have called Speck the murderer, Wilson replied: "He is. He is."

"The information about Speck that I gave the Chicago public was information that we determined they should have had. This was our justification for announcing that Speck was the killer."

"I saw no reason for concealing those facts from the public," Northwestern University law Professor Fred Inbau said. Wilson not only was within bounds in making the statement but "was under a duty and obligation."

WILL NOT PREJUDICE

"Keep in mind that this fellow isn't going to be tried next week," Inbau, a member of the Chicago Crime Commission, said last week. "What the Police Department said is not going to prejudice his rights."

More typical of the walking-on-eggs approach of authorities in the Speck case was the response of John Stamos, first assistant state's attorney, when newsmen asked if the state would try to send Speck to the electric chair.

Said Stamos: "No comment."

Williams Given Nod In Pre-Election Pick

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan voters Tuesday will choose between former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, 55, and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh, 38, in a Democratic-U.S. Senate primary full of imperfections—including the future of party unity.

It could indicate how state voters view the war in Viet Nam. The Senate contest is the feature race on a lengthy primary ballot for both parties which reaches from the governorship—where there are no contests—to hundreds of local offices.

Former six-term Gov. Williams has been favored to beat the Detroit mayor ever since the race materialized last spring. Even in recent days, Cavanaugh forces acknowledged their candidate was trailing, but they have banked on a major broadcasting and circular campaign in the closing days to pull an upset.

Williams, who also was assistant secretary of state for African affairs, has solid support from local party organizations and the labor hierarchy, a backbone of Michigan Democrats.

The Senate campaign unexpectedly reached the courts Sunday when Cavanaugh's workers obtained a circuit court order barring distribution of thousands of circulars. The circulars, alleging that Cavanaugh favored non-Negro candidates in two Detroit contests, were found in the 1st Congressional District headquarters of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

A hearing was scheduled today on the temporary order restraining distribution of the circulars. John Burton, United Auto Workers coordinator for the district, was subpoenaed to appear at the hearing, as was the printing company that published the circulars.

Williams, who has been endorsed by the UAW, said he had never seen and knew nothing about the circulars.

Cavanaugh is hoping for a heavy turnout of independent voters. Republican crossovers and support from Democrats not swayed by party leaders. The winner will meet recently appointed Republican Sen. Robert Griffin in the November general election. Griffin has no primary opposition.

Complicating the race for the standard six-year term is a parallel race matching the same candidates for an interim term from Dec. 1 to Jan. 3. Griffin's appointment and the short-term contest were brought about by the death of two-term Democrat Patrick McNamara.

Heading the ballots in the open primary are the governorship nominations. But two-term Republican Gov. George Romney and Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency are opposed. Michigan primaries, especially this one with its crossover potential, provide little indication of November results.

Viet Nam has been the only issue to catch much fire with voters — and even its appeal is uncertain.

Williams generally has supported Johnson administration policies while Cavanaugh opposes the Ky government, escalation and what he calls an over-dependence on military tactics instead of political and social efforts.

FBI Agents Nab Suspect

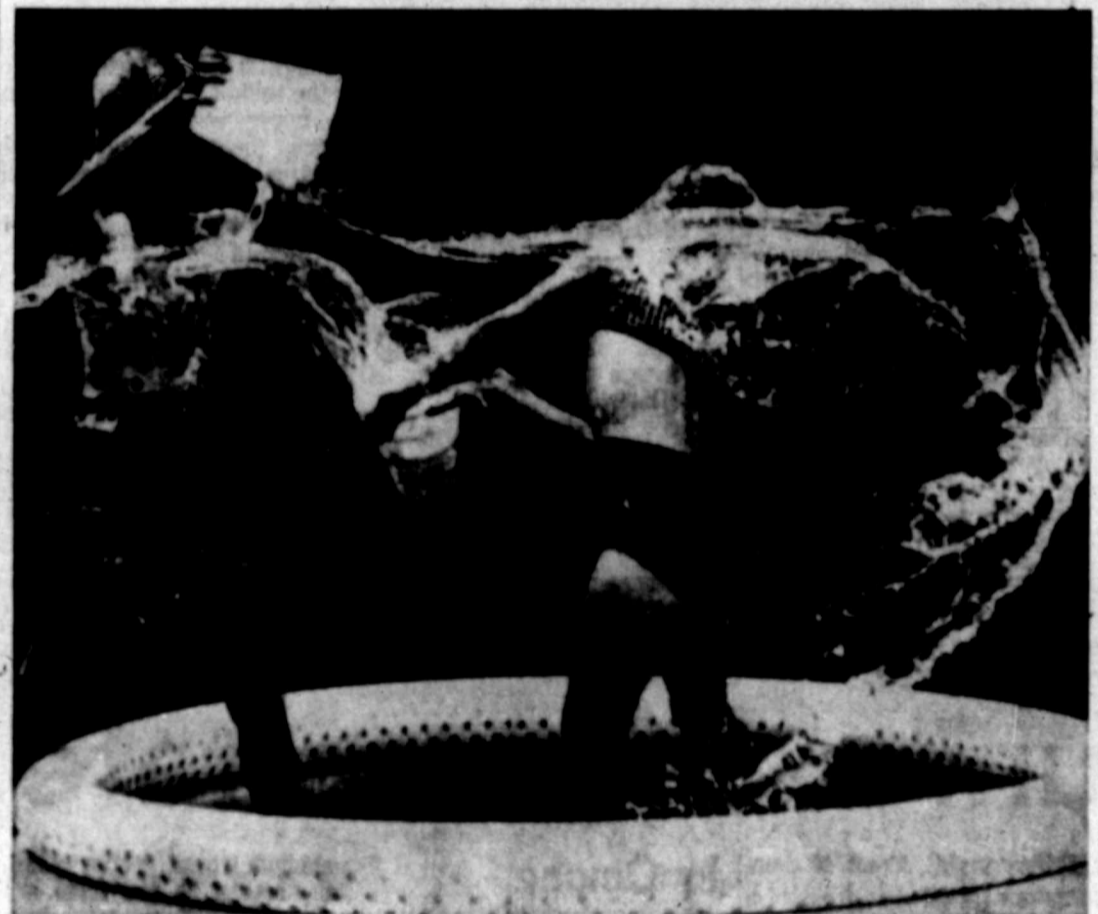

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—A 33-year-old suspect in the $84,500 robbery of a Philadelphia bank was moved to the city-federal jail here late Sunday to await an Aug. 9 preliminary hearing.

August Scharfner of Philadelphia was held in lieu of $100,000 bond set Saturday night following his arrest at Ardmore.

Scharfner was at a Lake Texoma cabin where he had been staying as Edward Shade of Dallas since last Monday. Agents found $45,000 in his luggage.

He was captured after two vacationing FBI agents spotted his car. Lee Teague, chief of Oklahoma FBI operations, said Scharfner also is wanted for questioning in the June 9 robbery of a savings and loan firm in Glenolden, Pa.

He was arraigned on charges of robbing the Girard Trust Bank of Philadelphia July 6.

July Hot Weather Gets Hotter In August Debut

By The Associated Press
Most Texans saw the weather turn hot in July—and then it grew hotter in August.

Sunday, the last day of the torrid old month, brought some of the season's warmest yet. Wichita Falls' high of 106 degrees, for example, matched a local record for the date.

Isolated showers tried to cool several other areas but they provided only brief and hardly noticeable relief.

It stayed steamy through the night and mostly cloudless skies this morning promised a scorcher with late afternoon marks well above 100 in nearly every section of the state.

Top marks at other points Sunday included Presidio 107, Waco 105, Cotulla 104, Laredo and Wink 103, Junction 102, Austin, Childress, College Station, Dallas and Midland 101, and Mineral Wells and San Angelo 100.

A wind storm whipped through Breckenridge in West Central Texas, damaging a few small buildings, and gusty thunderstorms threatened the north part of Dallas County and the south half of Collin County for a time.

Continued hot weather was forecast throughout the state along with isolated showers in the Panhandle and in South Texas.

Suggests No One May Want Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Thruston Morton, D-Ky., says that if the Republicans don't do well in congressional elections this fall, the question will arise in 1968 of who would want the GOP nomination for president.

"We might have to pardon somebody from the penitentiary to be a candidate," Morton said.

"But I think that as of today, we will do well in the congressional elections," he said. "And if we do, the presidential nomination will be sought."

Although admitting that the situation is a touchy one which could change greatly between now and November, Morton as chairman of the Senate's GOP Campaign Committee, figures the GOP stands to pick up 44 to 50 House seats and two or three Senate seats this year.

An important factor, he emphasized, is that the winners of congressional and gubernatorial elections in November will be in a position to exercise leadership at the 1968 Republican national convention.

Should Republican Charles Percy defeat incumbent Sen. Paul Douglas and Republican Ronald Reagan turn out Pat Brown as governor of California, both will be figures to be reckoned with at the next national party, Morton said.

Queried on his thoughts on the possibility of the 1964 unsuccessful candidate for President, former Sen. Barry Goldwater's chances of entering the race again, Morton said he had spent the July 4 weekend in Arizona with Goldwater.

"I think he's determined to run for the Senate again," said Morton.

He said he does not believe Sen. Carl Hayden, Democrat who has been in the Senate since 1932, will make the race in 1968.

Red-Ruled Nations Not Unified

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Soviet Union long has sought a "united front" of Communist-bloc nations to deal with the situation in Viet Nam, but signs today are that the Red-ruled nations are far from unified on the issue.

The curious behavior of the controlled press in Communist Czechoslovakia and an announcement by Communist Romania seeming to go counter to Soviet views on a Viet Nam solution raise strong doubts that the Russians will be able to hold any solid line.

CZECH REPORTS

In Prague, Czechoslovakia, about a week ago, the publication Literarni Noviny published a series of articles from the conservative French newspaper Le Monde.

These articles, dealing with Viet Nam, for the first time told readers of a Communist newspaper in a Communist country that the Viet Cong commit cruel atrocities against villagers of South Viet Nam. Up to now, Communist audiences have been told only that atrocities were committed by Americans and their South Vietnamese allies.

The Czechoslovak paper — and a broadcast of the articles as well — carried Le Monde's account of how the Viet Cong cause destruction and suffering among the rural Viet Nam population, how they kidnap, murder and torture village chiefs and local officials, how they commit "executions, repressions and terror."

GRIM STORIES

Le Monde's stories detailed grim episodes of Viet Cong terror and pointed out that "all the people and not merely the collaborators, undergo steadily increasing pressure." It told of forced conscription of villagers for Viet Cong guerrilla service, including the drafting of boys 14. It told of the oppressive taxes levied on villagers by the Viet Cong and collected at the points of machine guns. This must be shocking fare for an audience accustomed for years to only one side of the story. The question arises: Why is the other side of the story now being presented? Surely no Soviet audience has been given such information by any organ of the Soviet press.

PEACE ROUTE

The answer may be that the Czechoslovak Communist regime may want justification for supporting a route to peace in Viet Nam which might not square with Soviet views, or might fall far short of the all-or-nothing demands of the Communists in Viet Nam.

Romania has come forward with something which also arouses suspicion that it is straining hard at the Moscow leash over the Viet Nam question.

The Romanian Communist government, in a note to the United Nations Security Council, has said that "examination of acts of war in Viet Nam is within the competence of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indo-China."

This stops short of agreeing with the U.S. stand that the Geneva Conference — which divided Viet Nam 12 years ago — should be reconvened to seek peace.

COMES CLOSE

But it seems to come close to asking for such a convocation. The Soviet Union, on the other hand, has rejected the appeals of both Britain and India to support reconvening the Geneva meeting. The U.S.S.R. and Britain are cochairmen of the conference, and the two would be empowered to call it into session.

Prague and Bucharest both are keenly interested in openings to the West and increased trade to build up their internal economies. Evidently they see danger of the Viet Nam war spreading, and judge it now to be at a perilous stage. Expansion of the war could set back their hopes for the sort of internal development which would permit them even larger measures of independence from Moscow.

Advance Men Being Sought For LBJ's Campaign Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House aides, suspecting President Johnson's campaign travels this fall will be extensive, are beginning to worry about finding advance men to make appropriate arrangements.

No campaign tour is complete without the advance man — the fellow who goes out ahead to helpfully, smoothly out all preparations and drum up a crowd.

In many ways, it's like the old-time traveling circus. Good advance men are in short supply at the White House right now. For that reason, press secretary Bill D. Moyers has persuaded Tom Johnson, an assistant enlisted to work in the press office for only one year, to stay on the job at least through November. He had been scheduled to depart Aug. 15.

Johnson — he is "Tom" to the President and the White House staff — is still in his 20's. He is one of two tested advance men on the White House staff. He was the man, for example, who made the advance arrangements — outside the security and communications fields — for the President's July 23 foray into Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

That trip went smoothly. Crowds were on hand at each stop. There were plenty of welcoming banners. And, in Indianapolis at least, the streets were littered with Democratic campaign literature after the chief executive's departure.

In an off-year election, the White House advance man presumably doesn't have to worry about distribution of campaign fliers. But nearly everything else, with the exception of security and communications, comes within his province.

President Johnson — no kin to advance man Johnson, who is from Macon, Ga. — likes to be greeted by plenty of homemade placards. He even has been known to suggest the exact lettering to be placed on these spontaneous outcroppings of hospitality.

The advance man, working with Secret Service agents, must work out the President's exact route and schedule. He even must make certain enough bands are on hand — and that they learn either "Hello Lyndon" or "Hail to the Chief."

President Johnson's associates are saying that, for the foreseeable future, he probably will confine his travels to weekend expeditions such as last month's trip to the midlands.

But the fact that Tom Johnson isn't going home to Macon — at least right now — is one sign they're hedging these bets.

Thousands Hurt By Burst Bubble

NEW YORK (AP) — The vote by union machinists not to accept the proposed settlement of their strike against five airlines has heaped frustration upon frustration for scores of thousands of persons who had hoped to be airborne soon.

After being grounded for more than three weeks, travelers had expected to take off — many of them as early as today. Hopes were high after President Johnson's announcement Friday night that the airlines and the leadership of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists had reached a tentative settlement.

Airlines accepted many thousands of reservations. The bubble burst Sunday when the machinists rejected the settlement.

Mass cancellations of reservations resulted. Disappointment also was keen for the airlines, which are suffering heavy losses, and for many thousands of furloughed airlines employees.

Resort areas — whose patrons are carried mostly by planes — went back into their gloom. Frank Henry, president of the Greater Miami Hotel Association, said: "This is heaping insult over injury."

Lew Price, director of the Miami-Metro News Bureau, said city and county officials planned to place ads in Eastern, Midwestern and Southern newspapers in an attempt to lure motoring tourists.

Many people had to make another change in their vacation or business trip plans — or cancel them outright — because of the strike against Trans World, United, Eastern, National and Northwest airlines which is 25 days old. TWA said in New York that it was uncertain what to do about 121,000 reservations the airline had accepted since Saturday, when it appeared that the strike would end by today.

"It is particularly unfortunate," TWA said, "that we will be unable to accommodate the backlog of approximately 16,000 Americans stranded in Europe due to the strike. We sincerely regret the continued inconvenience to our passengers which will result."

A spokesman for Eastern Airlines in New York said it had alerted thousands of employees not to report for work Sunday night after it learned of the strike settlement rejection.

Hopeful Soviet Leaders May Back Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today there is an inkling of hope that Soviet leaders may be moving slowly toward supporting negotiations to end the Viet Nam war.

Mansfield praised efforts of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in Moscow recently to explain the American position on Viet Nam to interest the Russians in using their influence to try to get Hanoi to the negotiating table.

The Montana senator, a White House luncheon guest during Wilson's visit to Washington last Friday, said in an interview:

"The results of Mr. Wilson's visit to Moscow were not as gloomy as they have been described. He did a good job for us there on Viet Nam."

Mansfield did not elaborate.

Wilson indicated he found few hopeful signs of progress toward settlement of the war. But he said at a news conference that neither the United States nor the Soviet Union wants the war escalated.

Mansfield was joined by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a veteran member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in rejecting the idea that American bombing of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam involves any change in U.S. policy or any significant expansion of the war.

So What's New About Op!

The current vogue in painting, known as Op, has nothing over this peaceful and ancient shorescape showing water shining against dark sand at ebb tide on Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island on the Ariake Sea. Op art is so called because repeated patterns in a painting create optical effects such as shimmering or vibrating — similar to the effect felt on viewing this photograph. Tiny specks in the picture are people, some carrying buckets balanced on their shoulders. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Gift Affair Held For Bride-Elect

Miss Carol Bullard, bride-elect of Timothy Earl Willett, was honored recently with a gift shower at the home of Mrs. Carl Eason, 1319 Wood.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Lee Young, Mrs. Ethel Simmons, Mrs. Melba Carter, Mrs. Charlie Hedgcock, Mrs. Kenneth Carter and Mrs. Randy Jones.

The honoree's chosen colors of yellow and white were accented in the decor, and she was presented with a yellow chrysanthemum corsage. Her mother, Mrs. Leroy Bullard, received a corsage of white carnations.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over a floor-length yellow satin underlay. The centerpiece was a miniature bride-and-groom and yellow candles.

Approximately 50 attended and the register table was centered with yellow lilies in a white vase. The hostesses gift was a bedspread and pillows.

An Aug. 5 wedding at Phillips Memorial Baptist Church is being planned by the couple.

Plans Two Weddings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson, a bride herself on Aug. 6, will be a bridesmaid at the weddings of two of her friends, just two weeks after she marries Patrick Nugent.

The latest report is that Luci, President Johnson's younger daughter, will be in the bridal party for her cousin, Patsy Derby, 25, who is marrying a young minister, Burnell Chaney of Patchogue, N.Y., at Georgetown Presbyterian Church here Aug. 21.

Luci and one of her bridesmaids, Helene Lindow, gave Patsy a lingerie shower at the White House Thursday night with about 40 friends coming in for dessert and coffee in Luci's top-floor solarium hideaway.

Patsy, a member of the White House staff, is a niece of Mrs. Johnson's. As she explains the relationship, "my grandmother was her father's half-sister."

Luci will have to do some fast commuting to make her bridal party dates.

The day before Patsy's wedding, Aug. 20, Luci is to be a bridesmaid for another of her own bridesmaids, Kathleen Carter, who is getting married in her hometown of Austin. Kathleen is the daughter of Clifton Carter, lawyer and executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

Luci gave bridesmaid Kathleen a White House shower last week.

And, there's still another of Luci's bridesmaids, who'll soon be a bride. That's Beth Jenkins of Austin, daughter of former presidential aide Walter Jenkins. But she's not getting married until December.

New Agents Appointed

Mrs. Crump has been associated with the Dawson County Child Welfare Department for several years. A native of Crosby County, she is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Mrs. Medlock will resign to join the Home Economics staff at Texas Tech. She has been the home agent in Dawson County for two years.

Miss Duncan will receive a B.S. degree in home economics from Texas Tech this summer. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Duncan, of Roscoe.

serve club, community and country."

Guest speaker at the Monday "Top Hat" ceremonies was John W. Macy Jr., chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and a 1963 "Top Hat" award recipient. His topic, "Unless We Begin Now," dealt with the growing national demand for womanpower and what must be done in preparation to meet the demand. He pointed to the capability of business and professional women to counsel other women and influence the development and use of womanpower in the future.

For the third year, state federations are participating in the "Partnership with Young Career Women" project. Inaugurated at the 1964 national convention, this project provides for each state federation to bring an outstanding young career woman to the national convention to observe business and professional women in action and receive leadership training.

Aimed at furthering communication between BPW and today's young careerists, the program includes workshops, attendance at business sessions, social events and specially planned tours.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Festive Cakes Made Simple

Dear Heloise: A new idea in decorating cakes for festive occasions . . . Use an angel food cake baked in a tube pan. After the cake is decorated in your favorite style to suit the occasion, place a small glass of fresh or artificial flowers down in the center of the cake.

This makes a very attractive and unusual type of decoration. . . B. Einert

Dear Heloise: A hint to travelers: Mark your luggage with bright colored stick-on tape. Then, when 20 bags that look like yours are together in an airline terminal, depot or bus station, it is a simple matter to spot yours by the colored tape. . . Helen Architect

LETTER OF WISDOM: Dear Heloise: Here are some words of wisdom: "Never retire from something UNLESS you retire to something, because, in other words, you will get old before your time." . . . Jeane L. Dixon

Yes, folks, this is THE famous Jeane Dixon, who has the "Gift of Prophecy." . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: Plastic bags of any kind and size are very useful to our boys in the armed forces. They can use the bags to wrap articles they must carry with them, and prevent their things from becoming damp during inclement weather. . . A Reader

Dear Heloise: We are on a budget and just can't afford many of the expensive store-bought toys for our young children.

The only homemade idea we were able to come up with was a board with all sorts of gadgets attached to it . . . things like hinges, light switches, wheels, hook and eye locks, bells, etc.

Our toddler stops by his gadget board a dozen times a day to test his skill. It's nailed to his wall at a safe height so he won't fall against it and hurt himself.

There must be many good ideas for homemade toys, but we're at our wits end. Please, won't somebody give us more ideas for inexpensive toys that can be made at home? Unimaginative Mom

How about it folks? I'm sure many, many children have homemade toys which they just love.

Won't you share your ideas with the rest of us? Write to us in care of The Herald. Letters do not have to be signed to appear. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've found that the best soup spoon for older children (and adults, too) is a Chinese soup spoon.

Many of the commercial soup spoons are too shallow, and the relationship of the angle of handle to the bowl of spoon is awkward. . . Bettie Kan

Dear Heloise: An ironing board cover that shows signs of wear on the side nearest the person ironing can be turned wrong side out and returned to the board.

This places the worn spot away from the heaviest ironing traffic, thus prolonging the life of the cover. . . Jean Kennedy

Weekend Car Accidents Snuff Out 31 Texas Lives

By The Associated Press
Automobile accidents claimed 31 lives and Texas counted a total of 47 violent deaths during the weekend.
Helping to swell the number were two traffic crashes each responsible for 10 fatalities. There also were eight drownings.
One of the worst collisions occurred Sunday on US 281 outside Fallurris in the Rio Grande Valley. It killed Mrs. Harriet M. Edwards, 35, of Abilene and her daughters Laura and Elizabeth, Dorris F. Edwards, 60, of Mercedes, and Dorsey A. Bean, 59, of Edinburg. Two other daughters of Mrs. Edwards, Margaret, 10, and Katherine, 11, suffered grave injuries.

The other crash taking five lives happened six miles west of Port Arthur on Texas 73 Saturday night. Its victims were Charles Livingston, 24, and Orra J. Alpha, 54, both of Port Arthur; and Mr. and Mrs. Camille Harrington, both 39, and Hilda J. Slaydon, 33, all of Groves.
Among others figuring in weekend violence were:
Johnny Samaniego, 14, was killed and Eddie Garcia, 19, suffered serious injuries Sunday night when a car struck their bicycle in San Angelo. Police said the automobile did not stop. They sought the driver.
Isaac L. Wilson, 26, of Fort Worth drowned Sunday in Lake Worth. Relatives began a search after he disappeared while floating on an inflated tube.
Michael McDuffie, 15, of Corrigan was killed near that East Texas town Sunday night when his motorcycle and a car collided on FM 1987.

A crash involving two cars 15 miles north of Galveston on the Gulf Freeway Sunday killed Ruth Johnson, 24, of Houston and injured six other persons.
Three were reported in critical condition—Andrew Johnson III, husband of the dead woman; Alonzo Crittendon, 25, of Lamarque, and Velma Hillenbrand, 51, of Galveston.

Brooksie Havins, 33, of San Angelo suffered fatal injuries 3.6 miles southwest of Abilene on US 277 Sunday when one car clipped another and swerved in front-of-one driven by her husband, Ivan, 35. Havins, three children of the couple and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Martin of Abilene, in the car colliding with the Havins vehicle, all were hurt.

Two Texans On Fatality List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Texas service men have been killed in action in Viet Nam, the Defense Department said Thursday.
They were Army Spec. 4 Dale W. Schmidt, son of Mrs. Leslie I. Plumley, Houston, and Navy HM3. C. Daniel M. Gunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josephine L. Gunn, Marble Falls.
Army 2nd Lt. Dennis B. Easley, husband of Mrs. Linda L. Easley, Arlington, was changed from missing in action to dead of non-hostile causes.

Kluxers Picket Houston Concert By Mrs. King

HOUSTON (AP)—Carrying signs labeled with such phrases as "Texas will keep white power," five men who claimed to be Kluxers picketed a concert by Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. Sunday.
A spokesman for the group, who said the men were members of the Houston Ku Klux Klan, described their 15-minute protest in the 97-degree heat as a "test" to find out if "Klan pickets would get the same protection as civil rights pickets get."
Meanwhile, inside the air-conditioned City Music Hall Mrs. King, wife of the civil rights leader, presented a "Freedom Concert" to a small crowd of 250-300. Most were Negroes.

The concert depicted the national desegregation movement. In reference to the small audience, a spokesman for Mrs. King told newsmen that "some of our people were scared to come." Mrs. King received no threats, the spokesman added, although some people telephoned demands to "send Mrs.

King back."
Other signs the quiet, orderly pickets carried read: "Texas will never welcome King and his arsonists." King! you will never burn Houston." "George Wallace for president. Wake up America." and "Mrs. King go back to the White House. L.B.J. needs you."

Walks Off From Prison Farm

Hanna was sentenced last Dec. 13 to three years in prison for a violation of the motor vehicle theft act.

Burglars Use Radio Aids

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Security-conscious robbers got $100,000 in cash and gems during a three-hour foray Sunday in a North Miami Beach department store.
A watchman they tied up said the gunmen and their woman lookout kept vigil against police with walkie-talkies.
They apparently rehearsed the walkie-talkie tactic in public Saturday. Shoppers told police they had noticed two men using the instruments in the store's parking lot.
Watchman Art Porep, 54, said two armed men bound him to a cot. Then they and perhaps others methodically pried open two safes after blacking out nearby windows.
Porep said the female sentry, posted near the door, would whisper in a husky voice, "Danger red, danger red, police car entering parking lot" and the men would suspend their labors until the danger was past.

LSD 'Trip' Ends In Fall

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—An LSD "trip" with three friends ended with a fatal three-story fall for a Berkeley youth Sunday.
Friends of Vernon L. Cox, 29, occasional University of California student and son of a retired Air Force officer, told police he jumped from a window some four hours after taking the hallucinatory drug LSD for the first time.
Kenneth D. Tavalin, 19, one of the witnesses to Cox's behavior under the influence of the drug, said, "Vernon was in touch with reality one minute and the next minute he lost control. We restrained him several times from leaving the apartment."
Other witnesses were Ronald E. Ryer, 23, and Francis D. Turner, 30. Both lived in the Telegraph Avenue building from which the youth jumped, across the street from the one in which he lived.
They said Cox repeatedly insisted he was going to take a trip to Europe.
When they prevented him from leaving the apartment for the last time, they told police. Cox ran into a bedroom and jumped out the window.
Police said no arrests were made.

Probes Dodd's Many Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has done some investigating of Sen. Thomas Dodd—at Dodd's request—but is delaying a further probe until a Senate inquiry is completed, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach asserts.
The Senate Ethics Committee is making an investigation of Dodd's dealings with Julius Klei, Chicago publicity man and agent for West German business interests, and also the Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs.

SOME THINGS MAY HELP, BUT TIME IS THE TRUE HEALER.

When Smitten, Don't Scratch Those Chiggers

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — The boom in camping, picnicking and just plain lakeside sitting has brought new joys to millions. Also it has brought a boom in scratching.

The itching comes from an almost microscopic insect known as chiggers or red bugs. They are widely distributed in the United States.

Most outing fans who venture beyond the bare earth acquire at least mild chigger bites which keep them preoccupied during the better part of the following week.

Many victims solemnly take a pledge never to venture forth again, but these pledges are about as stable as New Year's resolutions.

Since they can't be avoided fully on an outing, there are several things that can minimize the torment.

One thing is to recognize the chigger's habitats. Some are surprising. The chigger's main joy is to burrow his way under the skin of a warm-blooded animal and imbibe enough warm blood to see him through the initial stage of development. Actually, it is the larval form of the harvest mite, known scientifically as Trombicula Irritans.

If no animal host comes along, the larva subsists on plant juices, a fact which seems far down on his preference list.

As soon as he is beneath the skin surface, he begins tickling nerve tips to make us scratch. This massages a copious supply of blood within easy reach, says

Floyd Murray of Orange, who has studied the insect extensively.

Doctors advise: Don't scratch. But they have been known to scratch as vigorously as anyone else.

When he feels himself emerging from the host stage, the chigger climbs out, leaving a vast improvement in comfort behind, and eventually becomes an inoffensive adult mite which preys on smaller insects only.

Despite general theories that chiggers like green grass, that is not its favorite place of ambush.

A hiker may walk hastily and fearfully through a sea of tall grass and sink gratefully down on an old log. He would relax less readily if he knew that most of the red bugs he will take home have waited in eagerness on the log.

An old log, especially one that is just a bit soggy under the bark, is sure to have a prime boating of chiggers. An old stump, another sitting place for strollers, is a veritable chigger castle. They subsist on the wood's decomposing juices.

Wariness should be exercised in gathering wood for a camp fire. Yanking it from a bed of leaves may disturb a variety of insects, and perhaps a snake.

Placing a bundle of baby's things on the ground or a weathered bench or table means plenty of night walking with the tot until the chiggers leave. A plastic sheet on which to place the baby and its gear will stop the trouble.

Loose and cool but hard-finished slacks and shirt with no cuffs or gaping pockets and with the shirt or blouse flapping free virtually shake off the chiggers as long as you are upright. When a person sits, he creates creases in clothing, and chiggers gather there.

Good insect repellents help, of course, if applied in time. A hot, soapy bath when you get home will eliminate some of the red bugs.

Murray says that when you feel the first tickling little itches, be brave and do not scratch. That only makes the itching worse.

A severe case of chigger bites might call for the help of your doctor.

But time alone is the true healer.

EXTRA CARE SERVICE

DEAR ABBY

Better Go To Canada

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school senior and I plan to become a nurse. I also have other ambition. I want to marry a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Please do not laugh at me, Abby, I am serious. I am not pretty, but I do have plenty of friends and I've been told I have a good personality. I've dated guys from school, but they don't satisfy this feeling I have. I have read everything about the R.C.M.P. and am more determined than ever to marry one. How can I meet one?

FROM VIRGINIA

DEAR FROM: You could take a trip to Canada and get "lost" in the Rockies, but there is always a chance that the bloodhounds might find you first. Get your R.N., then apply for a job in Canada. And in the meantime, keep repeating the motto of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police: "We always get our man." And may be you'll get yours. Lotsa luck.

Nurses Doing A Fine Job In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The traditional image of the American nurse—coolly professional approach tempered with the warmth that helps mend men's souls—is standing up well to the tough test of the war in Viet Nam.

Hundreds of women nurses are assigned to field hospitals, operating rooms and wards from Can Tho in the Mekong Delta to Pleiku in the highlands to Da Nang in the north.

They treat American troops mostly, but it is not unusual for them to nurse a Vietnamese child or even a captured Viet Cong guerrilla.

One of the largest staffs of nurses is at the 500-bed 93rd Evacuation Hospital at Long Binh, about 15 miles from Saigon. There are 62 nurses, 51 of them women.

The wards are filled with American wounded brought by helicopter directly from the fields of battle, and with men suffering from malaria and other tropical diseases.

When the nurses arrived last October there was no hospital at Long Binh. There was nothing but two cement pads for the foundation of the first building.

"We really started from scratch," says Col. Anne Bauer of Monterey, Ind., chief nurse there. "But it was exciting and challenging. Few of the girls had ever been in on the building of a full scale hospital from the ground up."

The nurses lived in tents — "in the hoodocks," laughed one bright-eyed lieutenant. "When it was hot we were covered with dust; when it rained we were covered with mud."

Now in their quonset hut barracks, a typical nurse has herself a space about 10-by-10 feet. It will hold a bed, a foot locker, and if she's lucky and can get it, a chair.

The work is hard and luxuries are rare. But there is little serious complaining.

DEAR ABBY: Harry is somewhere in his late 60s and has never been married. I am a widow, 59. We started seeing each other about a year ago and agreed to be just friends and nothing more. We enjoyed each other's companionship immensely for a while, then he broke his promise and got romantic. I put him in his place and we agreed once more to be only friends.

Now Harry wants me to accept a diamond. He says he is not pressing for marriage, but he would like for me to wear his ring. I would like to accept it, but I don't want to commit myself to marriage. What do you think he has in mind?

WATCHING MY STEP

DEAR WATCHING: He could be only trying to cut off your circulation. No matter what he says, his tone has a wedding ring to it.

DEAR ABBY: When I read "Insulted's" letter, complaining because she had received a garbage pail from her aunt and uncle for a wedding present, it brought back memories. Years ago, an English professor was reading a play in which the author had attempted to depict poverty, filth, and squalor against a background of garbage cans, clotheslines, etc. The professor became enraged.

"What's wrong with garbage cans?" he wanted to know. "In India there are no garbage cans because there is no garbage. And there's no garbage because there's no food! Garbage cans are an indication of plenty," he said. "A mark of an affluent civilization of which any nation may well be proud!" I have never forgotten those words. It also instilled in me a new respect for garbage cans.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ J73 ♥ A874 ♦ K732 ♣ A3

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Your hand has the value of 13 points and partner's return to hearts makes it a moral certainty that he has four trumps. You should contract for game.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ A64 ♥ KJ75 ♣ A984

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two diamonds. Offensive prospects on this hand are outstanding, for when partner responds with one no trump to a club opening that shows a hand of about average high card strength (13-11 points) plus a probable club fit. Since your holding is all controls, a slam investigation should be begun. If your reverse in diamonds elicits a club preference, you can cue bid the ace of hearts next to see partner's reaction.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ A43 ♥ A ♥ K92 ♣ 109854

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—A drastic bid is in order at this time. While your hand started out with a value of 13 points, it has increased enormously as you solidly both card strengths. The indicated call is, therefore, three spades, a cue bid forcing to game.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 1072 ♥ 532 ♦ KJ ♣ 10984

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. This may seem rather drastic with only six points in high cards, but partner has shown a very powerful hand with a value of at least 19 points, which gives the partnership a minimum of 25 points. It seems to us it is desirable to indicate possession of a partial stopper in clubs.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 642 ♥ AKJ75 ♣ A94 ♣ 83

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. This hand tempts many players into a two heart overcall, which is fraught with danger. While prospects of game are remote at the present time, the risk of a sizable penalty is distinct. Beware of hands in which you have three losing cards in the suit with which your adversary has opened the bidding.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ KQJ1094 ♥ A6 ♣ A ♣ 93

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 NT Pass 5 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Our choice is six spades. Since partner has made a positive response to your low bid without the ace of clubs, he surely has either the king of diamonds or the king of hearts, or both. This solves the problem of disposing of the six of hearts, for surely he must have a club suit as good as five to the king-jack.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ Q10864 ♥ 73 ♦ 62 ♣ A J 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner is forcing you to bid again at the level of two. He must, therefore, have a powerful holding. If you should respond with only two spades, he will have to proceed on the theory that your hand lacks offensive values. In order to avoid such a construction, you should bid one spade more than necessary, in other words, three spades.

Q. 8—Partner opens one spade and you hold:

♠ K72 ♥ A J 8 4 ♥ K Q 5 ♣ A 6 4

What is your response?

A.—There is a response which announces to partner: "I have a 4-3-3 hand and could have opened with one no trump had I been the dealer. Take it from here; you know what I have." That bid is three no trump.
