Johnson Still Refusing To Take Strike Stand

House Committee Hears Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz testified today the administration still has taken no position as to whether a law to end the airline strike should be passed.

He avoided characterizing the 29-day-old strike as an emergency situation and told Congress it would be breaking new ground if it passed such a law.

SENATE PASSED

The Senate passed Thursday a bill to order an end to the machinists' union's strike against five major airlines, and Wirtz appeared before the House Commerce Committee which now is considering the measure.

He said that as long as the matter is pending in Congress he expects no meaningful negotiations between the parties.

Both the administration and the Congress have been trying to sidestep the responsibility—and the possible political repercussions from labor—for ordering an end to the strike, and House action is not expected at least before the middle of next week.

NO THREAT

Wirtz said there is no threat to the nation's military effort, such as led to compulsory arbitration legislation in wartime; no threat to the national health or safety, such as was argued in favor of the strike-delaying aspects of the Taft-Hartley Act, and nothing comparable to the threat of a general railroad tie-up that led to legislation in 1963.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., the chairman, said the hearings probably would continue for two or three days, perhaps until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

THEN DECIDE

Then the committee would have to decide whether to accept, reject or alter the joint resolution the Senate passed.

The Senate move would have Congress order striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists back to work for 30 days, and hand President Johnson authority to extend that period to six months.

"That proposal will never go anywhere over here," said Rep. William H. Ayres, R - Ohio. "We'll give the President the tools to settle it if he feels a national emergency exists."

Johnson ignored the demands of debating senators — Democrats and Republicans — that he take a stand on strike-ending legislation. But he did relay word that if there was to be a law, he preferred the version approved by the Senate to one which would have assigned him the whole task of issuing any back-to-work commands.

SOUNDS WARNING

With organized labor bitterly opposed to legislation, and with all 435 House seats at stake in November's elections, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., sounded a warning which seemed certain to resound across the Capitol.

He said: "When you get back to your state, when the members of the House of Representatives who run for re-election this year go back to their states, you're all going to be charged with being strikebreakers. That may be unjust, it may be unfair, but it's a political fact of life."

Thugs Gun Down Woman

CHICAGO (AP) — Violence erupted in scattered sections of the Chicago area during the night, killing two persons and injuring 15.

Mrs. Sally Jackson, 41, an expectant mother, was wounded fatally as she stood on a porch on the West Side, talking with Mr. and Mrs. Birch Williams and Richard Banks, 18. Pellets struck Williams on the left hand and his wife, Marcella, and Banks in their left arms. All are Negroes.

The shotgun blast came from a car containing five youths, who shouted "Mighty Blackstone Rangers" as they passed the porch.

The Blackstone Rangers are a gang of Negro youths who have been clashing with other

Youth Admits 'Fun Killing' In Roscoe

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Nolan County authorities came here today for a Sweetwater teen-ager quoted as admitting a "fun killing" of a 65-year-old night watchman at Roscoe.

Police took him into custody Thursday night on the west edge of Fort Worth. They said he ran out of gas in a stolen car but told officers by telephone the vehicle went into a ditch.

Patrolmen sent to check on the reported accident said the 15-year-old driver quickly informed them: "I'm a murder suspect. It's all over. I'm ready to go in."

Juvenile officer H. H. Hungerford said the young prisoner readily admitted after reaching headquarters that he shot the watchman, Lewis Snyder.

The body of Snyder was found in a Roscoe street about 4:15 a.m. Thursday. He had been shot in the back and face, apparently with his own pistol.

Hungerford identified the Sweetwater youth as Mark Richard Harris. The juvenile officer and a newsman present as he was questioned quoted him as saying:

"I've been thinking about why I did it. I wanted to have fun like the guys in Chicago and Austin who had fun killing people. . . I'm not sure I knew what was happening. I didn't realize how serious it was until I had already shot him."

A gun which belonged to the slain watchman was recovered Thursday at Grandview.

Steel Firms Hand Over 2nd Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second major economic defeat for the Johnson administration within a week.

REJECTED PACT

Only last weekend, striking airline machinists overwhelmingly rejected a contract agreement worked out under White House auspices which called for a 6 to 7 per cent increase in wages and other benefits, well beyond the administration's 3 1/2 per cent wage-price guidelines.

Those same guidelines call for relative price stability.

President Johnson withheld direct comment on the steel price increases which snowballed Thursday by announcements by eight companies. Three others had announced hikes earlier, beginning with Inland Steel on Tuesday night.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said the President felt the public interest had been violated by the price decisions. He said it was the President's view that the effect of the price increases won't be visible immediately but will show up in time.

The Washington Post reported that Johnson definitely has decided to let the steel price hike stand. The Post said that the President, without anger or emotion, decided there was nothing he could do to force a price roll back.

If the increases stick, as now appears likely, it will mark the

POLLUTION COMMITTEE HEARS WITNESSES HERE

Oil Well Brine Getting Blame

After hearing voluminous testimony on examples of water contamination over West Texas — witnesses saying largely caused from oil well disposal water — a special legislative committee at noon Friday started hearing from representatives of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The RRC has authority to control disposal of oil field brine.

ONE OF SERIES

The committee is the House Inland Salt Water Pollution Central group, studying possible legislation for clearing up Texas waters. The Big Spring hearing opened Thursday, and is one of a series being held over the state.

Last witness Friday morning was Roy D. Payne, Austin, director of field operations of the RRC.

He told of the number of wells which this organization must supervise and explained that with other duties, field men were pressed to keep up with a new order on abandoned well plugging, held to be a major source of water contamination.

ness setting of surface pipe and cementing of wells, and also to witness completion of injection wells — which must be employed as open pits are abandoned.

ROADSIDE DUMPING

He also said the RRC is concerned about the roadside dumping of oil field disposal water by trucks employed to haul it off. He said the commission is studying an order to put responsibility on the oil operator, so that a permit would be required, along with hauling contract, and information as to where the water is to be disposed of.

Earlier the committee had heard from more than a dozen witnesses, most of them describing — with slides to illustrate — examples of salt water encroachment into fresh water areas, largely from open pits in oil fields.

A story of devastation to West Texas water supplies created by salt pollution — with some strong recommendations for stricter laws to curb such pollution — was unfolded Thursday.

Some 40 persons crowded the meeting room, and during the afternoon the committee heard ten witnesses. The hearing continues through today.

Rep. Renal Rosson of Snyder, chairman of the committee, presided.

First witness was O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, who detailed how that agency has spent thousands of dollars in studies to locate and eliminate sources of pollution on the watersheds of its reservoirs.

ON COLORADO

Ivie told of unplugged, or faultily plugged oil wells, of open brine pits, and of dumping of oil field brine along roadsides. He backed up his description with a number of color slides, showing how salt contamination in Borden, Scurry and Mitchell counties had affected the Colorado River.

Ivie submitted the following recommendations to the committee:

1. That the Texas Railroad Commission take a more active role in seeing that all wells drilled which are not producers be properly plugged. Further, that any abandoned well which has not been properly plugged be re-entered, either by the driller or the Railroad Commission itself if the driller cannot be located, and properly plugged.
2. That more stringent laws be enacted and faithfully enforced so far as the dumping of salt water on the highways and roads of the state by people employed to properly dispose of or "haul off" water produced along with oil. He suggested that those hauling salt water be required to post a bond, and this be forfeited in event of violation.
3. Noted that RRC's "no-pit" orders sometimes permit the use of lined pits for disposal of brine. It was recommended that no-pit orders should contain a clause that all earthen salt water disposal pits should be earth-filled, compacted and mounded over.
4. That in areas where water disposal operations or salt water disposal wells are in operation, detailed studies should be made by the RRC to insure that injection wells are properly constructed so that the injected water will not enter a fresh water zone.
5. The Legislature should provide adequate funds so that the RRC should have additional trained personnel to enforce its rulings.

RUNNELS COUNTY

Other strong recommendations came from C. T. Parker. (See WATER, Page 4-A, Col. 5)

DENIES ATTACKING SOVIET SHIPPING

Rusk Wants Strengthened Staff To Keep A Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk called today for strengthening the International Control Commission staff in Viet Nam to prevent violations of the embattled buffer zone between North and South and to protect Cambodia.

Rusk also denied at a news conference that any U.S. warplanes striking military targets near Haiphong, North Viet Nam, had attacked Soviet shipping.

Russia charged the United States with attacking its shipping in a note delivered in Moscow today but the vote was refused. Rusk said it was returned because it was "abusive."

In response to a question, Rusk said the United States has not wanted to invade the demilitarized Vietnamese buffer zone — but he also warned that a local commander "has to do those things which are necessary for the security of his own forces."

"The whole area can be secured if it is respected," Rusk said.

PEACE APPEAL

Over and over, Rusk made appeals for peace talks to settle the Vietnamese issue and declared his regret that the Soviet Union, as a co-chairman with Britain, of earlier Geneva talks, "has not been willing to take an active role" in getting negotiations.

India, chairman of the three-nation control commission, has proposed that the staff be expanded to deal with the developing crisis of the Vietnamese war.

One relatively new aspect of this crisis is the passage of North Vietnamese forces into or through the buffer zone and U.S. counterstrikes by air against Communist positions in the zone.

Post Office Funds Okehed

The Big Spring post office project has moved one important step nearer realization.

It was included in the General Services Administration construction funds which were approved Thursday by the Senate appropriations committee. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, a member of the committee, announced approval of the $951,000 item for the federal building project here. Other Texas projects are at Denton, Laredo and San Antonio.

Last year GSA purchased the entire block between Main and Runnels and Fifth and Sixth as the site for the new structure to house the post office and federal agencies operating here. The funds are in the Independent Offices appropriations bill, which earlier had cleared the house. If approved in conference committee and signed into law, the bill will clear the way for final plans and a construction contract on the project here.

Preliminary plans have been designed by Olen Puckett, Big Spring architect.

Bombers Keep Striking At Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52s bombed the demilitarized zone for the fourth time in a week today, then pounded two North Vietnamese positions close to the Cambodian border.

IN ZONE

The bombers struck before dawn at North Vietnamese infiltration routes, supply dumps and gun positions in the buffer zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

In two more raids only 2 1/2 miles apart, other B52s hammered at the Chu Pong Mountain lair of North Vietnamese regulars four miles east of the Cambodian frontier.

The latter attacks apparently were intended to block the North Vietnamese from pulling back into Cambodian sanctuary. A force of North Vietnamese army regulars had engaged U.S. infantrymen and cavalry men in this central plateau area in a series of short intense fights earlier this week.

FOR WHITMAN'S MURDER RAMPAGE

Tumor Still Gets Blame

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Charles Joseph Whitman was a "crazy, deranged" man as he prepared to kill and die Monday, a grand jury report says.

What went on in the dark recesses of Whitman's mind? What caused this "tender" husband, called a "sweet guy" by his friends, to turn to butchery? What derailed his apparently orderly thinking processes onto a path of mass murder?

TUMOR BLAMED

The grand jury said a small tumor close to the brain stem "undoubtedly caused him much mental pain and possibly contributed to his insane actions."

Dr. Coleman de Chenar, however, said the pecan-size, non-malignant tumor "could not have had any influence on the psychic behavior." De Chenar is a pathologist doing the Whitman autopsy.

A person present in the grand jury room during the testimony contended there was no conflict between De Chenar and the grand jury report.

"He said there was no medical correlation to psychosis; but the tumor was a possible aggravation to his mental condition. He said a brain tumor, wherever located, could aggravate his condition," the person said.

STUDYING IT

De Chenar has been studying Whitman's brain. Authorities said his formal, written autopsy report would be made public today.

Dr. de Chenar, awaiting his appearance Thursday before the grand jury, answered newsmen's questions about his study of the Whitman brain, which was badly torn by shotgun slugs.

"You can't just study a brain and tell if one is insane," he said. "A person might have childhood encephalitis which would damage the brain. He might preserve outwardly normal behavior, yet be mean and cruel."

The pathologist added that Whitman was "not feeble-minded or epileptic" and said that his case "does not look like any of the clearcut mental illnesses such as schizophrenia or manic-depressive behavior."

What then? What caused Charles Whitman to turn into a sniper who meant to shoot until he was dead?

The grand jury said it agreed with Police Chief Robert A. Miles of Austin to release the notes left by Whitman only to "authorized investigating agencies since they contain unverified statements of an insane killer concerning an innocent individual."

Why the mass killings occurred and what could be done to prevent future similar tragedies continued on the minds of nearly all concerned.

A drug analysis in the autopsy on Whitman's body was not mentioned in Thursday's grand jury report. Jerry Dellana, Austin justice of the peace, said such an analysis was ordered because police found a bottle of pills that appeared to be dextro-amphetamine in the footlocker which Whitman carried his weapons to the tower top.

Johnson's Friend Wins In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Buford Ellington, a political ally of President Johnson, won the Democratic nomination for governor of Tennessee Thursday in a close battle with a political novice allied with the Kennedy family.

In the U.S. Senate primary, Gov. Frank G. Clement unseated Sen. Ross Bass in a race which was not decided until after 90 per cent of the vote had been counted. With 2,520 of the state's 2,741 precincts reported, Clement had 339,997 while Bass had 331,019.

Howard H. Baker Jr., son-in-law of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., swamped a more conservative candidate to take the Republican senatorial nomination.

Ellington had 368,443 votes to 322,535 for John J. Hooker Jr. Baker polled 103,164 and Kenneth Roberts 33,636.

Two Negro civil rights leaders became the first of their race to gain election to the County Court of Haywood County in West Tennessee. Dan Nixon and A. D. Powell, both farmers, took narrow victories in the county which has been the scene of several racial incidents in recent months.

Hooker, 35, conceded defeat just two hours after the first had put his record of 10 years in the House and two in the Senate on the line against the governor. Clement, rounding out his third term as governor, had accused Bass of being a "rubber stamp" for the Johnson administration. By law, Clement could not succeed himself.

Baker, member of a prominent East Tennessee political family, never trailed as he put down the bid of Roberts who managed the 1964 Barry Goldwater campaign in Tennessee, returns from Shelby County (Memphis) — the state's largest — were reported in Ellington's column.

Bass, who defeated Clement in 1964 to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Upholds Bid By MoPac

CHICAGO (AP) — A three-member federal court has upheld an Interstate Commerce Commission order permitting the Missouri Pacific Railroad to take control of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad.

The majority decision Thursday held that public benefit of the merger outweighs a "minor offense" by Missouri Pacific in acquiring stock interest in the C&EI.

The court reviewed the 1965 ICC ruling on complaint of the Illinois Central Railroad, which claimed the Missouri Pacific illegally acquired a substantial stock interest in the C&EI while its merger case was pending.

Judges Bernard Decker and Elmer Schnackenberg held that assignment of voting rights in the C&EI stock owned by Missouri Pacific to an independent voting trust set up "effective insulation between Missouri Pacific and Eastern Illinois."

Judge William Campbell, in dissenting, held that the trust arrangement by Missouri Pacific did not mitigate its violation of the ICC regulations while the merger was pending.

Campbell and Decker are judges of the U.S. District Court in Chicago. Schnackenberg is on the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Gibson Cited For Service

Martin L. Gibson, Stanton, who has served 15 years as a member of the Howard-Martin-Mitchell County Selective Service Board, was presented with a citation of appreciation from President Johnson Thursday.

The president noted that Gibson has served 15 years without monetary compensation and solely as a public service.

Robert Dean, president of the board, made the presentation to Gibson as the board met on Thursday for its regular session. Dean acted at the request of Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state director of the Selective Service in Texas.

In addition to the citation, which was signed by the President, Gov. John Connally, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey and Col. Schwartz, Gibson was also presented with an emblem symbolizing 15 years of service.

Community Committee Nominations Proposed

Nominations for community committees will be accepted by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office through Aug. 12.

A tentative list of nominees has been prepared, but petitions accompanied by six or more eligible voters will entitle others to be listed as nominees. If a nominee by petition is found to be ineligible, he will be notified and has until Aug. 22 to appeal.

Dear Mother,

As you suggested, Bill visited TSO about his eyes a few days ago. When compared to what we have been paying elsewhere, his professional eye examination and new glasses cost a great deal less at TSO. He said that the quality of service and the glasses he got were superb. In fact, he's even been telling people about the excellent care he received at TSO.

At TSO you can safeguard your eyes and vision for a nominal fee. Also, a convenient credit plan is available, if you desire.

Workman Dies On Amistad Dam Project

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Forces holding freshly poured concrete collapsed at the giant Amistad Dam project on the Rio Grande today, killing one workman and injuring three others.

The $78 million dam, a joint project of the United States and Mexico, is being built 12 miles upstream from Del Rio.

At Val Verde Memorial Hospital here, authorities identified the man crushed to death under the semi-liquid concrete as B. C. Vela of Monterrey, Mexico.

The others were dug free and two were taken to a San Antonio hospital. Attendants said one of the pair, Enrique Vela, 21, was in grave condition with head, chest and leg injuries. The other, Leandro Gallegos, 38, of Del Rio, suffered a badly fractured leg.

A fourth man, Gilbert Lopez, 35, of Laredo, escaped with superficial injuries, doctors reported.

Witnesses said the accident occurred about 12:30 a.m. (CST) as workmen were going across the dam structure to what is known as a monolith section on the American side of the river.

ANOTHER SESSION SET New Community Agency Launched

Big Spring's original Community Opportunity Team was permitted to expire Thursday evening, and preliminary steps were taken to create in its place a new Howard County - Big Spring Community Action Agency.

The change was brought about so that the local unit would be in conformity with guidelines laid down by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Incorporation papers were voted for the newer group, and a set of by-laws adopted. However, a quorum was lacking, and new officers could not be elected. Another special meeting of the CAA was called for Aug. 15.

The CAA becomes the entity (operating as a state-chartered, non-profit corporation) through which all federal funds would be channeled for various projects and programs coming under the so-called war on poverty. It would, eventually, obtain a grant for community surveys to determine which of the many poverty programs might be expected for local community betterment.

It was reorganized so that its composition met OEO specifications. It has a governing body composed of 45 people, with the composition broken down to representatives from taxing agencies, representatives from the community at large and representatives from the so-called "target-area" which would be expected to share most in federally-funded programs.

Only program which Big Spring has had so far is the "Head Start" program, to help pupils of pre-school age in underprivileged environments to adapt for school work. A five and a half month program has just concluded here, with 200 pupils involved, and an application will be made for a renewal. However, approval of this will be determined by the completion of organization of the CAA.

Couple Due From Tour

The Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Duke of the Church of the Nazarene will return here this evening, according to a letter from the Rev. Duke.

He wrote recently from Jerusalem where a Big Spring group paused on their tour of the Holy Lands.

"We have visited Italy, Greece, Egypt, Lebanon, and Jordan," he said. "We visited Jericho; that claims to be the oldest city in the world, then went to the Jordan river where Jesus was baptized, then on to the Dead Sea, lowest place on earth. Then we saw where the Dead Sea scrolls were found; we waded in the sea, then drove to Bethany and the home of Lazarus, Mary and Martha. There we had a devotional service and went to the tomb of Lazarus."

Except for stomach upsets and an exhausting pace, all are doing well, he wrote. The remainder of the party is due in Big Spring next Friday.

Kiwanians Hear About Officers

A moving picture, with Danny Thomas as narrator, depicting the services a police officer performs for his community and the training he goes through to prepare himself for the work, was screened Thursday at the Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Chuck Condray, former DPS officer and now a car salesman, presented the program on behalf of Jay Banks, police chief. Banks was program chairman for the day. Condray is a member of the Optimist Club and the film is a part of that organization's program for the better appreciation of law enforcement officers.

Shot Into Orbit

VANDEMBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A satellite intended to study radiation belts today was in a polar orbit ranging from 220 miles to 2,776 miles from earth.

The satellite was launched into orbit by a Scout rocket Thursday from this West Coast missile center.

Riding Club Sets Contest At G-City

The Glasscock County Riding Club will slip into the saddle for a "playday" Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Garden City Roping Arena.

Two adult roping events will be open to everyone, and breakaway roping for those 55 years and older, and one for those 20 years and older through 55.

Three age groups will ride in three junior roping events, including tie-down roping, ribbon roping and break-away roping. A trophy will be given to the high point individual in each age group.

Likewise, in the junior divisions three trophies will be given to each age group in the racing events, which will include barrel racing, pole bending and relay racing.

Rosettes and ribbons will be awarded in the junior events to the second and third place winners. A concession stand will be operated during the show, and no admission will be charged.

Couple Narrowly Missed Death In UT's Tower

AUSTIN (AP)—Police said today a young couple who saw Charles J. Whitman just after he apparently had killed his first victim "are just lucky to be alive."

Lt. Merle Wells said police had checked the stories told late Thursday by Don Walden, 22, University of Texas student from San Antonio, and Miss Cheryl Botts, 18, of Rockdale.

"There is no doubt they saw and talked with the killer," Wells said today. "Apparently Whitman had just knocked the receptionist in the head and was hiding her body back of a couch when they saw him."

Walden, who is working in a bus station this summer, told the Austin American he and Miss Botts went to the top of the university tower about 11 a.m. Monday. He wanted to show her the view from the 307-foot observation platform.

Miss Botts told the American they were going to wait until noon to leave so they could hear the chimes again, but decided to leave about 11:50 a.m. Don said they left about 11:40 a.m. The first report of the sniper

Rev. Bostick Goes To Graham Church

The Rev. Ronnie K. Bostick has announced that he will resign as pastor of the Airport Baptist Church to accept a new ministry in the Bethel Baptist Church in Graham.

Rev. Bostick has been with the Airport Baptist Church since September, 1964; and during that time, he has been instrumental in several decisive steps forward.

Cage Reported As Missing

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A one-time lawyer for Ben Jack Cage says he fears that the former Texas insurance company official may have been kidnaped or gone into hiding.

Laercio Pellegrino said Cage "has many enemies in Brazil."

Cage, who fled to this country after drawing a 10-year-prison sentence in Texas for embezzling $100,000 from insurance companies that went bankrupt, has disappeared from Rio de Janeiro.

Pellegrino said he had not been able to find any trace of the former Texan during the past month.

Texas officials have tried without success since 1957 to extradite Cage from Brazil.

The Brazilian government recently has been investigating Cage's naturalization as a Brazilian citizen.

The Texas promoter claimed he was a farmer in order to sidestep the usual five-year residence requirement and was able to obtain citizenship after only three years.

Brazilian law prohibits the expulsion of any citizen who is the parent of a Brazilian-born child.

Authorities are investigating charges brought against Cage that a child reportedly born to him and his wife actually was the son of a Brazilian woman who turned the baby over to Cage for $50.

If it was found that the child is not actually the Cages' natural-born son, another obstacle to Cage's extradition to Texas would be cleared.

The Dallas Morning News said today it was told by Mrs. Cage, who is visiting friends near Kerrville, Tex., that she has not been in contact with her husband for several weeks.

She said she knew nothing about reports that Cage may be tried in Brazil for the embezzlement.

Mrs. Cage declined to comment on whether she would prefer that her husband return to Texas and serve his prison sentence, the News reported.

The newspaper quoted Dallas friends of Cage as saying they heard from him by telephone Wednesday and that he was hiding in Brazil under an assumed name.

According to the friends, Cage may soon try to return to Texas, since they say he would prefer serving a prison term in Texas to one in Brazil.

Texas 'Friendship Kits' Passed Out To Vietnamese

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—"Friendship kits" from Texas were used to soothe hurt feelings today when a South Vietnamese hamlet was searched for evidence of Viet Cong sympathizers.

The treats were handed out to Vietnamese children and adults at a "county fair" operation in a tiny village about 10 miles northeast of Da Nang.

Such operations are routinely carried out in hamlets of South Viet Nam where the loyalty of residents to the government is questionable. Local militiamen, backed by U.S. marines, moved the villagers out of their homes for interrogation and a methodical search of the houses.

While the village men were being questioned to determine if any residents were Communist sympathizers and to learn if there had been any Communist troops in the area recently, the women were given canned fish, rice, cooking pots and stoves to prepare a community lunch.

The activity is designed to make the search for Communists more like a picnic or county fair than a military operation.

Lt. Glenn Wapp of Riverside, Calif., who was running the show, said the Leathernecks tried to cook the rice "but the villagers didn't like that."

"They wanted to do it themselves," he said.

After lunch, the "friendship kits" were passed out causing a mad scramble among the village youngsters. The kits included candy, toothpaste, tooth brushes, pencils and balloons.

Imitation Indian headbands—complete with feathers—were slipped into some kits.

Most bags contained packets of cigarettes, but some youngsters didn't resist the temptation to light up. The villagers were also shown movies and given medical treatment.

The "friendship kits" were the innovation of the Denton Record-Chronicle. After three months in Viet Nam, the Record-Chronicle's reporter, Wick Fowler, returned to Texas and began collections for more than 10,000 friendship kits. Each packet carried a greeting from Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Wapp, a marine platoon leader who had been wounded three times in eight months, was assigned to the civil affairs program five days ago.

"I've got six kids at home and I like being with kids," Wapp said. "This gives me a great opportunity to do that."

Someone yelled: "A guy's shooting from the tower."

Walden grabbed Cheryl's arm and they ducked into a nearby building.

Walden said he called police during the shooting and gave his information to "a lieutenant" and was told officers would get in touch with him.

Wells said the first he knew of the incident was Thursday when Walden and Cheryl came to the police station while Wells was testifying before the grand jury.

Well, It's Cooler Anyway

By The Associated Press

Slightly cooler weather with patches of scattered light showers lingered across Texas today.

Most of the shower activity in early morning dotted the Panhandle, stretched along the Red River Valley from Mineral Wells eastward past Sherman and Paris and pelted the extreme upper Texas coast.

Skies were clear to only partly cloudy elsewhere.

Occasional showers were expected to spread over most of West Texas and to continue in the southeast and across the coastal plains.

Extended forecasts, covering the period through Aug. 10, called for temperatures 2 to 7 degrees below normal in the northern half of the state, 1 to 3 degrees above normal in the south central and southeast sections and 1 to 3 degrees below normal in the southwest.

The outlook was for moderate to heavy showers at scattered points in Northwest Texas and southern areas early next week and limited moisture elsewhere.

But She Has Most Stripes

NEW YORK (AP) — There are three stripes on Mrs. Alfred Peterson's shoulder and only one on her husband's, but he still outranks her at home.

She said Thursday nothing would change there after being formally promoted to sergeant in the Police Department. Peterson is only a patrolman.

"He's still the boss in the house," Mrs. Peterson said.

The couple met shortly after each had joined the force in 1949. They have two children, Janet, 6, and Richard, 7.

Writer Says Beatle's Remarks Misinterpreted

LONDON (AP) — Maureen Cleave, whose interview with John Lennon set off a wave of Beatle banning in the United States, said today that Lennon actually deprecates the fact that some people know the Beatles better than they know Christ.

"I do not think for one moment that he intended to be flippant or irreverent," said Miss Cleave. "He was certainly not comparing the Beatles with Christ."

"He was simply observing that so weak was the state of Christianity that the Beatles were, to many people, better known. He was deprecating rather than approving this."

"Sections of the American public seem to have been given an impression of his views that is totally absurd."

Remarks by Lennon about Christianity, quoted by Miss Cleave in an interview that was reprinted in an American magazine this week, aroused a storm on some U.S. radio stations, particularly in the Southern Bible Belt. A number of stations banned the quartet's records and urged listeners to join the boycott.

Miss Cleave's interview with Lennon was first published in the London Evening Standard on March 4.

In it she wrote: "Experience has sown few seeds of doubt in him: Not that his mind is closed, but it's closed round whatever he believes at the time."

Then she quoted Lennon as saying: "Christianity will go. It will vanish and shrink. I needn't argue about that. I'm right and I will be proved right."

"We're more popular than Jesus now. I don't know which will go first — rock 'n' roll or Christianity. Jesus was all right, but his disciples were thick and ordinary. It's them twisting it that ruins it for me."

Miss Cleave then wrote: "He is reading extensively about religion."

That was all the 1,600-word article had to say about religion.

In a telephone interview today Miss Cleave commented: "I am astonished that John's quotation should have been taken out of the context of my article and misinterpreted in this way. The interview, which took place and which appeared in British and also in some American newspapers five months ago, dealt briefly with the subject of religion."

The Beatles are scheduled to open a 14-city American tour in

Car Rally Is Planned

Desquite Rally Association will hold a road rally Aug. 14 for American, foreign and compact cars.

"A rally is a timed event involving skill to cover a given course while following specific instructions given at the start," said David Ford, rally chairman.

"Drivers must maintain a set speed average well below local speed limits. The only things needed are car, driver, navigator, wrist watch and the desire."

Trophies will be given in all classes with additional prizes for the top three places. Registration time will be 3 p.m., starting time will be 3 p.m., and the approximate time en route will be three hours. Ford said. Starting point will be the Pizza Hut in the Highland South Shopping Center.

"Future events of the association will depend on how many members we can get," said Ford. "We hope to have gymkhanas, night rallies, and cross countries later on. Also, we would like to obtain affiliation with the Sports Car Club of America."

Further information can be obtained by contacting David Ford at AM 3-3697.

Died Of Thirst

MARATHON, Tex. (AP) — Workmen found the body of an unidentified youth, about 14, Thursday in the Black Gap game preserve 65 miles southeast of here in an arid section of West Texas. Deputy Sheriff Arthur Caveness said he apparently died of thirst.

Campaign Has Not Helped Much

A city-wide campaign to prevent car thefts and thefts from cars did not prevent a theft Thursday, officers said.

Mrs. Jo Ann Staulcup, 119 Utah, told officers that while she and her husband were at a store at 813 W. 3rd, someone entered their car and took her white billfold, which contained $25 in bills and numerous cards.

The campaign urges motorists to lock their unattended vehicles.

O. S. Womack, 1601 Tucson, told officers Thursday that he returned from vacation and at $100 had been stolen from his home.

Church Has Long Tenure In City

The Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin ranks fourth in the continuity of organization of churches in Big Spring.

Steps toward founding of the church were taken in 1884 when Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Welsead, an English family, gave lots for the erection of a church home. The first service was held in March, 1885, in the public school with Bishop Garrett in charge. In November of that year he gave permission for formal organization of the Mission of St. Mary's. The cornerstone, still preserved in the new plant, was laid in February of 1886. The Rev. George Wiggins was the first pastor. By 1894, Miss Dotie Rix and Miss Ida Semler organized the first church school. The church building was destroyed by a tornado in July, 1897, but on July 16, 1899, Bishop Garrett dedicated a new church building which continued to serve until the congregation built a new home at 10th and Goliad in 1925. Ten years later the church ceased to be a mission and became a church by the time of the golden anniversary on April 12, 1935.

When the church began planning and raising funds in 1954 for its home at Tenth and Goliad, an ultimate plan was adopted. A sanctuary was erected on the south, with classrooms and offices built on the other three sides to close the hollow square on a bricked courtyard with four Arizona ash trees. The patio to the east of the original sanctuary is at the south end of the new sanctuary.

The Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of the church, entered upon the ministry about the time the congregation here was planning its new home. A native of Connecticut, he took his BA at Trinity College in Hartford, his STB from Berkley Divinity School and became curate at Manchester, Conn., in 1954-55. From 1955-59 he was vicar at St. John's in Snyder and came here in 1959, a year after the new home here had been occupied.

During his tenure, membership of the church has virtually doubled, and a parochial school was established. It has grown from a kindergarten into a five-grade school with nine faculty members. Rev. Hungerford also has been active in community affairs, serving as president of the Rotary Club, a YMCA director, officer of the pastors association and interim chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital. Curate of the church is who came here upon his graduation from the seminary in Lexington, Ky., in June, 1964.

ST. MARY'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Sunday dedication marks end of 12 year program

ST. MARY'S EPISCOPAL COMPLETES PROGRAM

Sanctuary Dedication Sunday

The beauty of simplicity, enriched with symbolism, centered in the altar and lifting toward heaven, makes the new sanctuary of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church a striking place of worship.

This will be dedicated Sunday to the glory of God, marking the culmination of 12 years of dreaming, planning and building.

BISHOP DUE

In addition to the dedicatory services at 10:15 a.m. with the Right Rev. George Quarterman, bishop of the Northwest Texas diocese, officiating, there will be an open house period during the afternoon from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., so members of other churches and friends can view the structure.

Opening of the door will mark the beginning of the sacred rites, with the blessing of the font to follow. Then the new pews, pulpit and lectern, the altar rail and kneelers, the candlesticks, the communion silver and anointing spoon and finally the blessing of the altar and super-frontal will follow.

Immediately afterwards Holy Communion will be observed with the rite of confirmation and the communion of the faithful, announced the Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector. Music will be in charge of Mel Ivey, with Brenda Reid at the organ. The sanctuary was designed by Harwell Hamilton Harris, now a professor of architecture at the University of North Carolina in Raleigh. The theme is that of a 13th century monastery, and the cloistered walks, the opening on to the patio all convey this feeling.

As with all Episcopal churches, the sanctuary is altar-centered. Entry from either the courtyard or the choir (and bride's room) leads past the baptismal font with glassed areas opening into the patio. Turning, the faithful proceed to a wide aisle which leads through the nave to the chancel and points to the elevated altar.

At either side are two large but unobtrusive candlesticks, and overhead is a cross with an off-center background to focus attention upon the altar. Symbolism developed in the design of William Sevenson of St. Louis, Mo., is upon the Virgin Mary around the cross, and upon the Holy Trinity in the candlesticks.

ORGAN CHAMBERS
Huge organ chambers at either side rise nearly 40 feet to the peak of the gable and are set in a pattern of wood grill.

To the right of the altar is the bishop's chair, to the left the credence and the seat for the acolytes.

The pulpit, from which only the clergy speak, rises to the right of the altar also and immediately in front of the pews. To the left is the smaller lectern for the reading of the Scriptures and for use by the lay readers.

Six huge laminated wooden arches support the roof and give the sense of lifting praises toward heaven.

Carvings on the altar, pulpit and lectern involve the Celtic cross, grapes (the Scripture from John — "I am the vine...")

Among the unique features are the recessed small glass panels on either wall of the nave—upwards of 450 of them—and the vast glass panels as skylights for the altar.

NEW SANCTUARY DEDICATION
A blend of modern and traditional design

Size Of Sanctuary Doubled

Episcopalians will worship in their spacious new sanctuary Sunday, which is an architectural blend of modern airiness with traditional cloister.

The edifice is the final structure of a 12-year building program, and was put up at a cost of some $150,000.

The structure encloses about 6,000 square feet, with a ceiling soaring to 36 feet. It is more than double the size of the previous sanctuary, and will seat more than 325 — ample room for church growth.

From the black stained and waxed cement flooring, a conservative brown stain coloring is carried through light tan stained pews and darker browns in the laminated paneled beams and concrete block walls.

The contrasting ventilation ducts are concealed in darker brown balcony effect ledges, with return air ducts embedded in the flooring of the aislesways of the building. The ducting surrounds the seating area, assuring even circulation of air conditioning and-or heating, depending on the season.

The rear of the building is mostly glass, looking out on a courtyard of grass and cement walkways, trimmed with hedging. A curtain, which can be drawn to suit the circumstances, separates the sanctuary area from the rear aisle.

A custom-designed grillwork of stained wood covers the sound system on either side of the altar area, largely for organ music. The normal acoustics may be sufficient to eliminate the need for amplification of normal speaking.

Unique spacing of clear glass blocks—almost 500 of them—in the side walls provides ample lighting for daylight hours, without a harsh glare. Special lighting fixtures, with a traditional cross design, provide other lighting of the seating area. Carefully hidden spotlights put emphasis on the wall behind the altar.

Choir seating on either side of the altar can accommodate up to 50. Custom screening provides privacy along either side of the sanctuary.

An air-conditioning unit of some 47 tons will keep the facility cool on hottest summer days, and a heating system will do a similar job during winter months.

In addition to the sanctuary, the new addition includes a cluster of auxiliary rooms along the east side. These include a bride and choir room, complete with a light signal system with the organ area; a mechanical room; an Altar Guild Sacristy, for keeping the sacred vessels and linens; an office for the Curate; a storage room; and a clergy vestment room. There is also an entrance from the parking area on the east side, for the use of staff and choir members.

The previous sanctuary will be converted into a parish hall, according to the Rev. Donald Hungerford, for general meetings and as an all-purpose room.

Work began on the building Oct. 8, 1965, by the contractor, Kasch Brothers, Mechanical and electrical design was done by Connie Wade, one of the communicants.

Past Linked With Present

The past is linked with the present in the new St. Mary's Episcopal sanctuary.

The altar, center of the worship area, is the same that came from the old church at Fifth and Runnels Streets, where in 1884 the venerable church was founded. Over the entrance at the rear of the sanctuary is a large cross, carved from one of the rude beams from the old church, and painted by the Rev. William Boyd, a former rector.

In the courtyard and visible through glass panels in the rear of the sanctuary is the bell from the old church.

Found Lean Days Waiting, Hoping

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is a widely held belief among actors, undoubtedly fostered by budget-minded producers, that any regular employment in television, no matter how dismal the series, helps a fledgling career.

"Forget it," commanded Judy Carne, who encountered her leanest days after her two frail comedy barks foundered in network channels with all hands aboard.

Judy, who had replaced Julie Andrews in the London production of "The Boy Friend," was imported five years ago to play the young English girl in the ill-fated "Fair Exchange."

Then, a couple of seasons back, she had a part in "Baileys Of Balboa," another disappointment. Now she is a co-star in ABC's upcoming young-marrieds comedy, "Love On A Rooftop."

But it was not previous experience that won her a third chance. It was an elimination contest that started with 20 girls, among them Nancy Sinatra, and Judy worked hard, with a coach and a recorder, to eliminate her native British accents.

The elimination process for "Love On A Rooftop" was a real ordeal. After the 20 girls had been arbitrarily reduced to four, each girl was subjected to a "personality test." This involved sitting down in front of a camera to be interviewed by a director who had a bit of free time.

Ultimately she was told she would probably be the choice — but only for the pilot episode of an unsold program, maybe a week's work. Then came two months while they were testing for the boy who would play her husband — a difficult time when she could not take any acting jobs that would tie her up for more than a few days at a time.

DEAR ABBY
Artistry, Or Nudity

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister who is 24, beautiful and very well built. After she graduated from high school (with high honors) she went to modeling school. She has modeled dresses, coats, cosmetics, lingerie, and bathing apparel. She was asked to pose for an artist who specializes in nudes. She did. Then was hired by a sculptor who did several statues of her. Then a photographer hired her for a series of pictures.

My question: Why was the work of the photographer considered pornography, and the artist's and sculptor's considered "art"? She posed in the nude, in practically the same position for all three.

HER BROTHER: All photographs of nudes are not regarded as pornography, just as all efforts of artists and sculptors are not considered "art." But an unprincipled jerk with a camera is more likely to try to pass off pornography as art — at considerable profit to himself. Who, in this case decided the photography was "pornographic?"

There are some legitimate arguments as to who is qualified to judge between art and garbage. And I dare say that plenty of some has passed for the other.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bachelor, now divorced, after having been married for two years. During my marriage a son was born. The boy is now four years old. He and I have always been very close because my ex-wife allowed generous visiting privileges. Now my "ex" has remarried and she has instructed my son to call her new husband "Daddy . . ." (the man's first name).

When the boy is with me he calls me "daddy," as he always has. But he seems somewhat confused having two "daddies." I am concerned about what this confusion will do to the boy. Can you advise me as to an angle to convince my ex-wife that this boy is being raised in an environment that is not wholly real?

FRUSTRATED DADDY: Your signature is the most honest part of your letter. It is YOU who is frustrated. You don't like the idea of your son calling another man "daddy."

But since your "ex" has remarried, another man is playing the role of your son's daddy, and he is entitled to the name. Too bad, but that is one

It's Rehearsal Day For Luci

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's church rehearsal day for Luci Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent on the eve of their wedding.

Following their rehearsal walk down the aisle, there's one more dinner-dancing celebration tonight for members of the wedding including Luci's parents, President and Mrs. Johnson.

Behind the scenes, many persons will be working late into the night to get things ready for Saturday's high-noon nuptial Mass at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception and for the White House wedding reception to follow.

Later the huge church will be decorated with bouquets of white flowers, willow greenery and potted trees. Pews and kneelers will be marked and decorated with greens, ivy and white blooms.

The White House will be decked with flowers in the pink and white theme of the wedding.

The 150-member men and boys choir held its final practice session Thursday night. The carillonist, Robert Grogan, 26, of Washington, was ready for his hour-long concert of religious music on the wedding day. The shrine director, Msgr. Gerard P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill. Thomas J. Grady has briefed just about everyone on what's going to happen at the Roman Catholic, double-ring ceremony that unites the young couple.

Among the busiest today will be the Secret Service and police responsible for security precautions over a vast area on the wedding day. The threat of picketing by peace groups still remains.

Another remaining detail is the installation of telephones and equipment for the more than 200 news media representatives who will cover the event.

Luci and Nugent have attended a party every night on this last week before their marriage. It was a Texas-style cookout Thursday night at the suburban Maryland home of a friend. Rain finally forced everyone indoors after the hamburgers, hotdogs and barbecue fare had been served on paper plates. It was casual style, with the young men in slacks, Western hats and red kerchiefs. Luci wore slacks, in a fancy combination of red and white polka dots and checks.

After the rehearsal, the big party tonight will be a candle-lit dinner dance given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

Insurance Unit Names Chairmen

Mrs. Frank Morphis, president, named three new committee chairmen during the dinner meeting held Thursday evening for members of the Insurance Women of Big Spring.

Women named to the post were Mrs. Robin Howell, publicity and bulletin; Mrs. Curtis C. Choate, ways and means; and Mrs. W. Ray Null, educational.

Mrs. Tommy Harvell gave the welfare report, saying that monthly checks were being sent to the Big Spring State Hospital. Several suggestions were made pertaining to raising funds for the welfare project.

It was announced that the state convention will be held in Brownsville Oct. 20-22, and plans were initiated to charter a bus and join other chapters in this area in attending the meeting.

Mrs. Morphis reminded the group that a membership drive is now under way and stressed the importance of personal contact with prospective members.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Sept. 1, for dinner at Big Spring Country Club. Ten attended.

A LOVELIER YOU

The Ho-Hum Fashion Season Is With Us

By MARY SUE MILLER

In fashion terms this is the ho-hum season. We begin to tire of our summer clothes and they begin to look tired. What we need is booster shots for fashion morale.

For a sure-fire reaction, try a colorful fall accessory. All manner of fall touches are now coming into the stores. Among them, new scarves are perhaps the most versatile. They're big enough to drape in any number of ways and they're handsomely printed in go-with shades. Just tie a grape-toned paisley square around the shoulders of a pale linen dress and, presto, you've got a new slant on fashion.

Or how about a soft, suede pump in heathery green? This shade is a most interesting, all-season neutral. Worn as a footnote, it promises to update light-to-dark summer outfits through Labor Day.

For more of the same, you might consider the polish of wood jewelry — big, swinging hoop earrings and enormously wide bracelets. Papier mache bangles in a paisley pattern are another thought to ponder.

The city-bound contingent should consider the taupe glove — the racy pigskin leather or a longer fabric or shortie version. Not to be overlooked is a smashing chapeau — in bronze to match your tan and brimmed to shade your eyes.

Wherever you operate, you'd be missing a bet if you did not wear a new lipstick shade, a luminous red or mauve. That way, the old ho-hum becomes a hallow. You gain a head start on fall, too!

YOUR COLORS

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin.

A Devotional For The Day

"Truly, I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me." (Matthew 25:40, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, may we not seek the plains if men's needs require that we climb the hills, yes, even the mountainsides. Give us understanding as we read Thy Word. Teach us to heed it that we may have our steps clearly directed. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Provincial Interests

After absorbing a constant barrage of brickbats for the past month of hearings on the state water plan, high state officials and the Water Development Board are growing a little sensitive.

Gov. John Connally has observed that many of the attacks on the plan are provincial and selfish. The counsel for the board let loose a retort at a hearing this week, lending force and amplification to the governor's view.

And, of course, they are probably right.

And if another plan were trotted out next month for hearings, the reaction would be pretty much the same. It is only natural that each area is going to look out for what it conceives to be its best interest, then face more objectivity.

There cannot be agreement even within river basins on what is an equitable and sensible long-range approach. Texas is so large that climatic and geographic conditions within a single basin are poles apart. Certainly those in the more arid areas are concerned about holding what scant resources they might have, but those downstream frequently cannot countenance any plan which might alter historic stream flows.

But if Texas is to have an orderly plan of development, there must come a time when provincial interests must be acknowledged frankly and then composed as reasonably as possible in keeping with the larger goal of the whole state and the projected needs a quarter and half century away.

Good Example

Apparently, the cleanup campaign in the northern part of Big Spring is getting results.

Residents of that area, with Northside United taking the lead, have promoted participation in gathering and disposing of trash, weeds and other refuse. So far nearly four score truck loads of materials have been hauled away free of charge by the city.

This is a fine project and a splendid record so far. We hope that the good work will continue to the end that that area may be safer, healthier and more attractive. It could set a good example for all of us.

Marquis Childs Cambodia Next In The War?

WASHINGTON — Averell Harriman is planning to go on another peace mission and it is a measure of the urgency of the mission that this diplomat, with his wide experience in the capitals of the world, has been given the assignment.

The ambassador-at-large is making plans to fly to Cambodia in September. The objective is to try to find a way to help that peaceful principality from being overwhelmed in a widening war in Southeast Asia. With the fighting in Viet Nam spilling across Cambodia's borders the threat of direct involvement has grown.

THE AMERICAN military in Saigon say that numbers of Viet Cong have taken refuge in Cambodia. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara emphatically has denied this. Nevertheless, officers in the field insist they must have the right of hot pursuit to deny to the enemy not only a refuge but what they insist is an area for regrouping and for the movement of Communist troops from North to South.

Caught in the middle, like a juggler doing a difficult balancing act on a high wire, is the beguiling, often bewildering figure of Prince Norodom Sihanouk. Cambodia's ruler wants desperately to keep his country neutral and out of the flames flaring up on his borders. This is also the aim of policy in Washington and the principal reason for the Harriman mission.

IT IS EVIDENCE, however, of the rigidity of the principals with a stake in the outcome of the Viet Nam war that even a small step to insure Cambodia's neutrality has seemed impossible. For nearly three years a separate Cambodian conference under the terms of the Geneva accord has been an objective.

This would be in the pattern of the successful conference on Laos in 1962. Harriman was the delegate to the Geneva meeting at which the Soviets agreed on a neutral Laos with a coalition government headed by Prince Souvanna Phouma. Just four years ago the neutralist Prince visited Washington to sit down with the late President Kennedy. Hopes were bright for an independent, neutral Laos staying clear of direct involvement with either side in the cold war.

THOSE HOPES were short-lived. The Communist-led Pathet Lao launched new attacks from the North. They have been countered by repeated American air strikes flown from bases in Thailand. The Soviets were apparently unable or unwilling to apply restraint to the Communist-led forces in Laos and this is believed here to be one reason they are unwilling to have any part of even a limited conference with the Geneva accords as a base.

FOR MONTHS the British and the Americans have pushed for a meeting confined solely to Cambodia. The hoped-for end result would be a neutrality pact on Cambodia's borders insuring against an enlarged border war eventually pulling a peaceful kingdom into the holocaust consuming Viet Nam.

BECAUSE OF adamant Soviet opposition the possibility of a conference is all but ruled out. The approval of Moscow, as co-chairman of the Geneva accords, is essential. The best hope, and it may also be the last hope, is to persuade the International Control Commission consisting of representatives of Canada, India and Poland to provide a neutrality patrol.

If not even one corner can be spared — one small brand pulled out of the burning — the outlook for peace in Southeast Asia is dim indeed. It is in this context that Cambodia has a special significance.

Likes Vegetables

UPPER DARBY, Pa. (AP) — A move to ban front yard vegetable gardens here has been shelved by the township commissioners.

The ban was discussed after neighbors of Sotirios Travlos complained that his vegetables didn't look right growing next to their well-trimmed lawns.

The commissioners decided against the ban after receiving a "great amount of opposition."

WESTERHAM, England (AP) — The late Sir Winston Churchill's home, Chartwell Manor, has had 50,000 visitors since it was opened as a shrine five weeks ago.

'I THINK YOU'RE GIVING ME AN ITCH'

Hal Boyle Putting First Things First

NEW YORK (AP) — Many a man hates the idea of compulsory retirement at the age of 65.

"It's unfair," he says. "Work is the only thing left that I really enjoy. Why should it be taken away from me?"

On the other hand, many a young college graduate at 21 or 22 hates the idea of having to settle down to the responsibility of a job.

"IT'S UNFAIR," he says. "I want to live a little, see the world. Why should I have to spend nearly 45 years on a treadmill before I can get a pension? It looks like I'll be forever in Dullsville."

Well, perhaps these complaining old men and young men have a point. Maybe we ought to reverse present practices and let the young work less and the old men work longer.

It could be worked out somewhat as follows: Carrying his ink-wet sheepskin in hand, Ned Bumble, just turned 22, creeps in fearfully for his first day on his new job.

"GLAD to have you with us, Ned," says the personnel executive. "We've decided to start you at a pension of $10,000 annually for the first three years. You've earned a good rest, so enjoy it."

"Come back to see me on your 25th birthday, and we'll begin putting your nose to the grindstone."

Ned, happily worn out from traveling the world and chasing the girls, returns three years later and buckles down at $20,000 a year.

These are his orders: "Just show up on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and drop in Fridays to pick up your check. Don't bother to come in on Mondays at all. No fello' your age is really strong enough to face work on Mondays. Naturally, we're giving you six weeks of vacation."

WELL, NED carries, has some kids, buys a house, and slowly begins settling into life's routine.

At 35, he is patted on the back by the personnel executive and informed: "You're doing fine, Ned. As a reward, we're cutting your pay to $10,000 and your vacation to four weeks. And by the way, from now on you can come in on Mondays, too — if you really want to."

Cheered by this, Ned, who is now slowly getting over his playboy habits, looks forward to more promotions in the future.

THEY COME steadily. At 45 his salary is trimmed to $7,500 and his vacation to three weeks. At 55 he is cut to $5,000, his vacation to two weeks.

"And if you want to take some extra work home to do it there at nights, it's okay with us," adds the personnel executive generously. Ned is so grateful at this sign of appreciation he doesn't know how to thank him.

At 65, his children long flow and no longer having any desire himself to see Tahiti or raise vegetables in a backyard garden, Ned is desperately afraid he'll be forcibly retired.

AH, BUT no. Managements are no longer that unkind.

"Ned, as a special recognition of your years of devoted service we are going to let you stay on the job as long as you want for nothing a year," he is told.

"You can come in on Saturdays and Sundays, too, if you wish, and as a special concession the board has decided to let you have a cot and sleep in the office — if you pay for the cot."

At 82 Ned expires happily at his desk, the only one in the office not taking a coffee break at the time. He has lived a wonderful life, and if he had a final regret it was only that he had frittered away those three empty years of his youth on a pension.

But at least they let him work when he wanted to — when he was old and there was nothing else he could think of worth doing.

James Marlow Two Jolting Defeats

WASHINGTON (AP) — In one week's time President Johnson has suffered two of the most jolting defeats to hit him since he entered the White House.

Both business and labor, by smashing his efforts to limit wage and price increases, served notice any magic spell he might have had over them is broken.

LAST FRIDAY he intervened personally in the machinist union's strike against five airlines, going on since July 8, and blessed the settlement agreed to by the companies and union negotiators as "noninflationary."

This statement has been questioned. Then on Sunday the union's members around the country voted to reject the agreed-on wage boost as not enough.

Thursday the steel industry kicked over the traces.

LAST TUESDAY one steel company, Inland Steel, boosted prices. The White House jumped in, tried to persuade the rest of the industry not to follow suit.

Johnson was ignored. By Thursday 11 companies had raised prices.

The White House called the action irresponsible and inflationary. And Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said, "This is not an hour in which this business leadership of America can take pride."

What business did Thursday, therefore seem inevitable. Although his relations with Johnson were smoother than they had been with President John F. Kennedy, business was getting restless with Johnson's restraints.

AND LABOR, which gave strong backing to Johnson in 1964, was becoming discontented in more fields than wages.

To Your Good Health The 'Tired Housewife Syndrome'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I am 34 and the mother of five children. Exhaustion walks with me from morning till night. All I want to do is sleep but even that does not dispel the fatigue.

It is getting increasingly difficult for me to clean the house, or even make decisions. I yell at the children constantly and feel close to tears over nothing.

A complete physical examination shows nothing wrong, so no one seems to understand my feelings. Even tranquilizers only make me more tired and depressed. I wish I could lie down and sleep forever. What's wrong with me? — N. Q.

It sounds to me like what an astute physician labeled the "tired housewife syndrome." It is nothing new, and it's not limited to housewives.

I doubt very much whether anyone, male or female, ever went through life without having at least one hard attack of it.

Medically there are things to look for: Low blood sugar, faulty nutrition, anemia, a chronic infection, underactive thyroid or adrenal gland. But after a thorough checkup shows nothing calculated to make you so tired, then what?

Can we fairly describe your problem as simply that the fun has gone out of life?

A lot of us let it happen to ourselves, and it can cause more misery than many real physical ailments.

How old is the adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy"? Well, all work and no fun makes Jill a tired girl who yells at her kids, wonders why rest doesn't stop her from being tired, and wishes she could "lie down and sleep forever."

How long since you've hired someone to come in and take care of the kids for an afternoon so you could go to a movie or go shopping or do whatever you feel like doing?

How long since you and your husband have managed to go on a vacation trip, even for a few days, without the children? Certainly you love 'em, but even a short separation makes them suddenly much more lovable. (I have some children, I know.)

Nearly all of us can do two or three times more work without exhaustion, provided we allow some time for recreation, and do some things we really want to do.

Nobody denies that a man needs a vacation from his job. Well, a woman also needs an occasional vacation from hers.

To learn of new treatment for this cruel and painful disease, write for Dr. Molner's booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way To Stop It."

To receive a copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Never Mind How It Works

Functionalism is a term which used to govern at least 90 per cent of the design of any machine.

U.S. industry has found out how to get around that. What the car people do is hire fair-haired boys steeped in commercial design and social psychology and let their ideas of what a car should look like govern the mechanics of the working parts. Same applies to other businesses.

THE DESIGN boys decide they want the hood of the car to be real low. So the engineers are faced with the problem of getting the engine works out of the way of the design.

On one car, the result was that the engineers were forced to cut off part of the radiator, making it hold less water in a smaller area. The result was that the car looked like 120 standing still, but the engine overheated at anything over 70. Reason, said the engineers, was that at high speeds the water was pumped through the cooling shell so fast that it couldn't cool enough before it got back to the block of the engine to be heated again.

NATURALLY, the engineers got all the blame. But these poor souls could not help it. The styling department decides what goes — or doesn't go.

Take the typewriter on which this is written. It doesn't type a whanging bit better than the old model we have at home; it is at least two inches wider, but has the same width carriage; and seems to be held together with bobby-pins. The throw-lever is a flimsy, loose piece of plastic jammed into some very thin aluminum — and on and on. But it is pretty. It probably cost $20 more than the old model, which was made of honest metal and looked like what it was — a machine, designed functionally to do a job with a minimum of fuss and bother, in the smallest space practicable.

THE CAR AND the typewriter are pretty good examples of this "style governs function" bit, but there are even better ones.

The design boys have come out with a new bottle for our shaving lotion. The old bottle was squat, held five ounces of stinkum and fit neatly into the medicine cabinet. The new one has a top two-inches deep, a neck at least that long, holds five ounces, and will not go into the cabinet. Same thing happened to our shaving cream container.

OTHERS ARE chairs humans cannot sit in, pastel toilet paper (it is to laugh), food packages which would hold twice what they do (a case of blatant dishonesty), and room air-conditioners with so much pre-work that there's hardly any place for the air to come out.

Of course, nobody wants to go back to Henry Ford's old dictum about the Model A: "You can have them in any color, so long as it's black." But isn't it about time industry let the engineers engineer and the stylists style, in proper proportion of importance? — TOM BARRY

Holmes Alexander Victory In Sight-But-

WASHINGTON — Nothing stands in the way of victory in Viet Nam — except the American people. They would not be in the position of consenting to their own defeat — if they knew the score. And the score is this:

We are so close to winning that if a negotiated peace came tomorrow, history would reveal it as the blunder of the century.

THE PRESIDENT cannot say this because he is on record before the world as seeking "unconditional negotiations." We are so close to winning that the coming congressional elections may well decide whether the Communists give up or fight on. The President cannot say this, either. If he did, he would be taking the stump against the peace-wing of his own party, a political impossibility.

WE ARE SO close to victory that the Republican Congressional candidates, if they dared unite as a party behind a Democratic President, could bring the war to an end by sweeping into office in November. But only the President could point this out, another political impossibility. The GOP does not dare take the Viet Nam issue out of the campaign by fully backing the President. The opposition party must always oppose.

VICTORY IS CLOSE, but nobody in authority will risk trying to read the clock. Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam said four years ago that "this is going to be a long, inconclusive war. Thus we are sure to win." It has already been too long for most Americans, and it still has the appearance of being inconclusive. Nonetheless, the very best information shows that the enemy is already beaten on these five criteria, which may seem indistinct but are judged to be decisive:

1. Failure by the Viet Cong to mount a monsoon offensive for two years in a row. They cannot overcome American mobility even in the worst weather.

2. REPEATED DEFEATS of the North Viet Nam divisions by General Westmoreland's forces, and wholesale losses of heavy weapons brought down from the North.

3. Failure of the Communists to overthrow Premier Ky or to prevent the elections that are set for September.

4. Policies in Hanoi which have led to mounting use of American air power in North Viet Nam. The Ho Chi Minh government had promised: "We shall offer them no pretext which could give rise to an American military intervention against North Viet Nam."

5. FAILURE, thus far, of the American pacifists, in and out of government, to stop the escalation.

In different circumstances the President could bring these admittedly nebulous but welcome proofs of a close-to-victory situation to the people. Unfortunately, his credibility is not high at the moment. He has frittered much of it away, but that is another story. A redoubtable persuader, LBJ has not persuaded even such persuadable men as Bill Fulbright and Vance Hartke, let alone the irreconcilables of the Senate.

But the facts ascertainable to a lucky reporter are that this war cannot be lost — not unless the American public loses it now by lack of understanding. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence A Need For Gun Registration

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has asked Congress to pass a law that will control the sale of firearms throughout the country.

The driver of an automobile must have a license and pass an examination. Some states require periodic tests for renewal. But the purchaser of a rifle or revolver may be or may become insane and yet continue to possess lethal weapons.

Naturally, the makers of guns that are used in sports do not like to have their business interfered with, and there is no reason why a system that would permit sane and responsible persons to own sporting guns could not at the same time keep such weapons out of the hands of the insane or irresponsible.

THE TRAGEDY in Austin, Texas, has revived the controversy over public control of guns of all kinds. The subject got nationwide attention when President Kennedy was assassinated.

Congress for a long time has been well aware of the problem, but has done nothing about it. There is a strong sentiment now in favor of enacting some kind of legislation. The leaders in both political parties and many members of the House and Senate are speaking out emphatically and demanding that some action be taken on one or more of the several bills now pending in Congress.

TECHNICAL objection has been raised — particularly by the argument that control of gun sales would run counter to the constitutional rights of the individual. No argument can persuasively be made, however, as to the need for licensing ownership of weapons so as to assure possession only by responsible persons.

One of the difficulties is that many guns are bought by mail, and there is no procedure at present for checking on the identity or the responsibility of the purchaser. Some of the pending bills propose that registration of gun ownership and tighter control over gun dealers are explicitly provided. It is quite likely, moreover, that the states will have to supplement federal legislation so as to make certain that control of firearms is strictly enforced.

THE POLICE must become better informed, moreover, as to who owns firearms in the community. Eldon James, national commander of the American Legion, said in Des Moines on Tuesday that a system of firearms registration might have prevented the tragedy at the University of Texas on Monday. He added:

"If the police had some way of knowing that this fellow was building up such an arsenal, they might have been able to keep a check on him and have prevented the murders."

IT IS RECOGNIZED, of course, as the President says, that legislation will not prevent all tragedies but "would help reduce the unrestricted sale of firearms to those who cannot be trusted in their use or possession." Declaring that many lives might be saved as a consequence, Mr. Johnson continued: "The time has come for action before the loss of life that might be prevented by its passage."

LAW ON firearms may not be enough. There has long been a feeling throughout the country that persons of unsound mind are allowed to roam around in the community and that the mentally ill are sometimes not detected soon enough to prevent them from expressing their inner emotions by the use of murder weapons. This is a problem with which medical men, particularly psychologists, have been struggling for a long time. The danger of a combination of firearms and irresponsible users is something that might at least be reduced by legislation that would require licensing and periodic examination for those who own guns.

Preparing For Youth Week

Wesley Methodist Church youths preparing for Youth Week are, from left, Deanna McWhirt, C. Frank, Harold Knapp Jr., and Lynda Lloyd.

Evangelist Eddie Martin In 1st Baptist Crusade

Evangelist Eddie Martin, one of Southern Baptists most successful full-time revivalists, will lead the First Baptist Church in revival services starting Sunday and continuing through Aug. 14.

Rev. Martin has led many large outdoor united crusades, speaking to crowds of upwards of 15,000 at a single service. The Southern Baptist churches he led in revivals last year averaged baptizing over 40 converts, and one church in Miami, Fla., resulted in baptizing 176 people. He also is in special demand by youth groups, and last year he visited more than 40 schools.

Hundreds of visits have been made and will be made in preparation for the services, said the Rev. Robert F. Polk, First Baptist pastor. Cottage prayer meetings are being held in homes of members. Music for the revival will be under direction of Glenn E. Faison, minister of music, and he will be assisted by a quartet of young men from Wayland College in

Youth Activity Week Starts On Monday

Wesley Methodist Church youths are sponsoring their annual youth activity week, beginning Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

"Youth in an adult's world" will be this year's theme, and special programs have been planned. There will be a dialogue pertaining to youth and adult problems; a full-length film; and an adult panel discussion. Each program will begin at the same time—6:30 p.m.

Evening meals will be served by various Sunday school classes each evening. Recreation has been planned for each evening. A hay-ride will conclude the week Friday.

Chairmen of the committees planning the week are Harold Knapp Jr., program chairman; Linda Tawater, worship chairman; Deanna McWhirt, food chairman; Sue Bearden, recreation chairman; and Lynda Lloyd, publicity chairman.

Church Plans Area Survey

The Carl Street Church of Christ is sponsoring "Operation Doorbell," a religious survey in the southwest area of Big Spring.

The church is sponsoring this Saturday and Sunday to encourage Christian commitment, and residents are urged to spare five minutes when a volunteer calls. A team of ACC students will assist in making the survey.

"In the world today a great search is in progress," said Jack Alderton, of the Carl Street Church. "This is the search for 'renewal,' for 'revival,' and for a deeper 'commitment.' One can see this reflected in the lives of young people as they seek for greater dedication and more meaning in life. It can also be seen in many of the church leaders as they restlessly search for a means of guiding themselves into purer love and deeper commitment.

Unless the ideal of restoring New Testament Christianity—so fervently advocated by the Church of Christ—will have been robbed of its power and relevance. The world today demands substance in religion, not form; acts and deeds and involvement, not words; meaningful commitments, not claims.

Christians today need to be taken back to the cross of Jesus and told again of what our Savior has done for each of us personally. Then they can turn and help the world."

Group Gives Prayer At The 'Wailing Wall'

A special prayer said at the "Wailing Wall" in Jerusalem, on the Jordan (Arab) side, by the group from Texas, now touring the Holy Land near by, got them in trouble.

Rev. James A. Puckett, one of the nine Big Springers in the 24-man group, wrote: "At the 'Wailing Wall' we had special prayers for Big Spring Jewish friends, although our Arab guide violently protested that we were violating the law and were likely to be arrested."

The group is scheduled to leave Europe Aug. 8.

Rev. Puckett, of Baptist Temple, said since his last report the touring Texans have been in Beirut, Lebanon, Baalbek, Damascus (the oldest city in the world) and spent five days in Jordan.

A New Twist

Fourteen-year-old Judy Reeve of Weymouth, Mass., finds herself twisted into a knot and apparently can see no way out as she has a go at a game called, appropriately enough "Twister". The object of the game is to place hands and feet on different colored dots after a wheel is spun and keep your balance. The action took place at a teenage fair under way in Boston. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Contents Of Whitman's Notes Are Revealed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—"I am prepared to die. After my death I wish an autopsy on me to be performed to see if there's any mental disorders."

Charles J. Whitman thus informed the world—in notes left near the murdered bodies of his wife and mother—that he did not expect to survive the Monday violence he inflicted on the University of Texas campus.

The Associated Press learned exclusively today the precise wording of major portions of the notes.

The source, a law official who requested anonymity, declined to divulge large portions of the two notes which he said included "statements about Whitman's father."

In a two-page note left in his Austin apartment, near the nude body of his pretty blonde wife, Whitman wrote of his impulses and pain and compulsions that mystified him.

"I don't quite understand what is compelling me to type this note," he began.

"I've been to a psychiatrist. I've been having fears and violent impulses. I've had some tremendous headaches in the past."

"I am prepared to die. After my death, I wish an autopsy on me to be performed to see if there's any mental disorders."

There followed one of numerous statements about his father's source said, and then Whitman told of his plans for his wife.

"I've decided to kill Kathy (Kathleen Whitman, his wife) tonight. I love her very much," Whitman then again wrote of his father.

Poses In New Library

Mrs. Ruth Dozier, Colorado City librarian for almost 40 years, poses in the roomy new library which will be dedicated Sunday. (Tom Goss photo)

Library Dedication To Also Honor Mrs. Dozier

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. Ruth Dozier, Colorado City librarian for almost 40 years, will be honored Sunday with a dinner at Civic House. The occasion will be the dedication of the new Mitchell County Library, containing 7,000 square feet and valued at $101,000, built with Mitchell County, federal and donated funds.

The dinner is set for 12:30 p.m. at Civic House with Lt. Gov. Preston Smith as speaker. The dedication ceremony will be at 2:30 p.m. at the library on the corner of Oak and Fourth Streets. Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin, will cut the ribbon formally opening the library.

The library was originally formed as a project of the Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs and started in 1925 with 217 books. The library, which has been open to the public during all of its years, remained the property of the Women's Clubs until recently, when ownership was transferred to Mitchell County.

The library now has 18,000

Then:

"I intend to kill my wife after I pick her up from work. I don't want her to have to face the embarrassment that my actions will surely cause her."

At this point, Whitman apparently was interrupted. The rest of the note was in handwriting.

"At 3 a.m. both dead," the source said, concerned Whitman's feelings and his relationship with his father. According to statements released from other sources, the University of Texas student mentioned in the handwritten portion that he "hated his father with a mortal passion."

The neatly hand-printed note found at the plush apartment of his mother was addressed to "To Whom It May Concern" and began:

"I have just killed my mother. If there's a heaven she is going there. If there's not a heaven, she is out of her pain and misery."

"I love my mother with all my heart."

Once again, Whitman wrote an attack on his father, mentioning his opinions about the relationship of his parents.

The grand jury Thursday withheld the notes from the public because they "contained unverified statements of an insane killer concerning an innocent individual . . ."

Two Pickups Are Struck

W. J. Coates should have hidden everything he owns Thursday.

Police said a pickup driven by James Paul Phillips, 321 W. 30th, Odessa, smacked into Coates' parked pickup at 815 W. 4th, knocking it off the street, then itself went off the street and sideswiped another of Coates' pickups parked in the driveway. Coates' two pickups sustained about $600 damages, officers estimated, and the Phillips vehicle about $350.

Phillips refused medical treatment, officers said.

Two other wrecks injured no one. Involved were the cars of Rogers M. Brown, 701 N. San Antonio, and Humberto C. Hernandez, 100 NE 10th, at North West Fourth and Trades; and the car of Shelton Lain, Wyoming Hotel, and the parked car of Harbison-Fischer Mfg. Co., Fort Worth, in the 200 block of Lancaster.

COAHOMA YOUNGSTER IS FLOWN TO BURN CENTER

Little Marie Delacruz was in Galveston today for treatment in the intensive burn center made possible by Shriners.

Marie stumbled into burning trash on July 27 and sustained second and third degree burns from her rib cage to her ankles.

She is one of four children of Mrs. Marie Delacruz, a Coahoma widow, whose monthly income is only $66. The Big Spring Shrine Association was alerted by Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare supervisor, and Shriners went immediately to work. They got the first vacancy at the center and arranged to fly Marie to Galveston Friday morning at their expense.

Marie is the third Big Spring child to be sent by the Shrine to the center since it opened last year.

Four Firemen Killed In Big Explosion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Joseph G. Toole, 43, a Cleveland Fire Department veteran, returned to work Thursday after two days off. His wife had given birth to their fifth child.

Toole passed out cigars to fellow firemen, and then his squad was called to a fire at the Metallurgical Inc. plant in the Southwest Side.

Less than an hour later, Toole and three other firemen were dead and eight others injured in an explosion that rocked the factory and ripped gaping holes in the roof.

No damage estimate has been made.

Fire investigators were to start work today to determine the cause of the explosions that turned a routine fire into tragedy. Workmen at the plant that manufactures manganese pellets used in producing steel told firemen Thursday that they believe a spark from a welding torch set off the fire.

Sister Charged

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A rifle shot killed James McKinney, 24, at his home Thursday during what police described as a disturbance. Officers charged his sister, Christine McAlister, 19, with murder.

8-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, Aug. 5, 1966

July Down As Real Scorcher

How about that July? It was a "booger," wasn't it? Not only did it keep rain of importance from falling, it maintained a heat average well above the normal for the month, and it provided four of the nine days of the current summer when the temperature was 100 degrees or better.

Furthermore there wasn't a single day in the whole bloom-in' month when the maximum reading for the day was under 90 degrees. In fact, there was only one day when it was 90 degrees—all of the other days were higher.

HOT-HOT
Three scored 99, four hit 98, and five were 97. The other days ranged around the 95 to 96 mark with only one day reporting 92 and one 90 degrees.

The minimum temperatures were also discouraging. There was only one night in the whole month when the temperature was as low as 68.

There were two nights when it never cooled below 78, which is certainly unusual.

Average maximum temperature, according to the U.S. Experiment Station, was 97. The average for the past 51 years for July has been 95. The minimum was 74 compared with the 51 year average of 70. The mean temperature (and it was mean) was 86 which was three degrees higher than the average mean. Even the wind was higher—the July average velocity was 4.2 miles compared with the 48 years average of 4 miles.

MORE EVAPORATION
Evaporation was 11.7 inches; the 51 year average 10.97. The precipitation (this is to laugh!) was only .95 inch. The average for the Julys in the past 66 years has been 2.06.

If you want to feel good, though, the total rainfall for the year as July ended was 1.67 inches ahead of the 66 year average. Total rainfall for 1966 as of July 31 stood at 12.39 inches.

If it will help any—consider the figures for January 1966. Average maximum temperature for the month was 49 compared with 56 degrees for the past 51 years. The average minimum was 23 compared with 28. The wind was only 3.8 miles compared with the average of 4.2 miles. Rainfall for the month was .83. The average for 66 years has been only .59.

Wasn't January a nice month?

St. Paul Slates VCS For Monday Through Friday

Beginning Monday, at 8:30 a.m. till 11:00 a.m., the St. Paul Presbyterian Church will conduct a Vacation Church School for all children from 4 to 14. The school will close on Aug. 12, at 7:00 p.m. with a sharing program and ice cream social under the direction of Mrs. Birt Allison.

The study in each of the four age groups will be "The Church," and this will be developed through the use of Bible study, stories, music, play and hand activities.

Mrs. Al Seddon is director of the school, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Bob Rodman. Those teaching in the various departments are: Nursery, Mrs. J. W. Tipton; kindergarten, Mrs. Joe Horton, Mrs. John Arnold, and Halena Wozencraft; primary, Mrs. Al Seddon, Bobby and Diana Rodman, and Medena Furqueron; junior, Mrs. Darol Holsman, Mrs. Bob Burns, Mrs. John Furqueron, and Joanie Knight; junior high, Mrs. Joe Knight.

Kathy Seddon will be the pianist. Mrs. George Stull will be secretary of the school, and Mrs. San Anderson is "snack time" chairman. They will be assisted by Mrs. Tom Fetters and Ann Furqueron.

Would You Believe, Pegasus?

It's a horse of course! And, not kaput yet, although named Kaput. The 13-year-old trail horse was trapped in a remote canyon near the mountain community of Foresthill, Calif., for three days before being rescued by helicopter. Kaput and its rider, Cliff Lewis, of South Lake Tahoe, Calif., fell into the canyon from a steep trail. Neither was injured. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Relatives Investigating Deeper Into Man's Death

Mrs. Roy S. Harrison, 6202 Abington, Houston, a sister of Chester W. Cox, who was found dead in a smoke-filled motel room here last weekend, said today that she is not satisfied with the investigation made of her brother's death.

She said that she and her two brothers in Houston have employed a detective and will conduct a further investigation. She said she and her relatives even contemplate a more thorough autopsy than was performed here. The victim was buried earlier this week but the brain, she said, is in the hands of a pathologist and if any evidence develops, she said an exhumation order would be sought to explore the matter further.

She said that several things puzzle the family. Cox, his sister related, had no job here and she does not know why he was in this part of the state.

She said, also, that Cox always carried large sums of money with him. Police have told her only $25 was found on the man's person. Two nearly new suits he had with him have disappeared, she claims. She also says that his suitcase has not been found.

She said there were abrasions on the side of his face and that other factors do not fit her knowledge of the dead man's conduct.

Cox was removed from the motel room after smoke was noted emerging from the door. Firemen sought to revive him but failed. On order of Walter Grice, justice of the peace, an autopsy was performed on Monday afternoon. The surgeon said that the lungs were filled with fluid and that other conditions pathologically supported the conclusion death was caused by suffocation from inhaling smoke.

The surgeon said that the brain showed no damage.

Witness Confab To End Sunday

A district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses will end today in Dallas' market hall. The event began Wednesday with Big Spring representatives participating. The Dallas gathering was one of 10 set through the nation this summer. All local meetings will be held at their scheduled times next week at Kingdöm Hall, said Eliseo Gamboa, spokesman for the congregation.
