Gunman Kills One During Getaway

Police Seek Body Of Third Victim

FORT WORTH (AP) — Hundreds of lawmen pressed a search south of Fort Worth today for a teenage girl whose two male companions were shot to death and found stuffed into the trunk of a car.

Authorities feared that the girl, 16, was dead. Her teenage companions had taken her to a movie Saturday night. Their bodies were found Sunday morning.

GIRL DEAD Asst. Dist. Atty. Grady Hight said he had learned the girl had been raped and murdered and that her body was in the vicinity of Fort Worth. He did not disclose the source of the information.

Central Texas officers arrested two young men late yesterday and charged them with what Hight said were sexually motivated slayings.

Murder complaints were filed against Roy Green, 18, and Kenneth McDuff, 20, both from the Marlin, Tex. area. Hight said rape charges would be filed.

FISHERMAN A fisherman stumbled across the bullet riddled bodies of Robert Brand, 17, of nearby Alvarado, and his cousin, Mark Dunnam, 16, of Tarzana, Calif., shortly after sunup Sunday.

Brand was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brand and Dunnam the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Dunnam of Tarzana.

The bodies, punctured by multiple bullet wounds, were squeezed into the trunk of the Brand family's car which had been abandoned on a lonely country road off US 81 south of Fort Worth.

Investigators ordered a widespread search for Edna Louise Sullivan, 16, of suburban Everman, who had accompanied young Brand and his cousin on a movie date Saturday night.

NOT FOUND The body of the slender brown-haired girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hughes, was not recovered immediately, although Hight said she apparently had not been taken far from Fort Worth.

Hight said she had been raped and choked to death but would not disclose the source of his information.

A second Everman girl escaped the night of terror and death when she refused an invitation to join the trio at the movie.

Rhonda Chamberlain, 16, said young Dunnam invited her to accompany him but that she wasn't feeling well and declined. She said Miss Sullivan intended to spend the night at her home.

ON WINDOW Officers found Louise's name scrawled in lipstick or mascara across a window of the death car and discovered her shoes and purse lying inside.

Sheriff Lon Evans, who surveyed the scene of the first two killings, said:

"It looked like an execution."

Acting on a tip, officers first arrested Green and then captured McDuff in the Bremond-Franklin area of Central Texas some 125 miles south of Fort Worth.

Green surrendered without incident, officers said, but McDuff was taken into custody only after a burst of gunfire and a chase.

Officers stationed themselves at the home of a young woman after learning she had a date with McDuff.

DROVE OFF "He pulled into the driveway and shined the bright lights of his car on us," Sheriff Brady Pamplin of Falls County said.

"When he saw us he threw his car into reverse and tore out."

Brady said he and other officers, aware of the girl in the car, fired only at the car tires, and failed to halt the fleeing vehicle. According to police, McDuff switched from a car to a pickup minutes later but was intercepted by officers and surrendered.

Tarrant County authorities, including Sheriff Evans, returned the two suspects to Fort Worth before dawn today. Evans said Green agreed to make a statement concerning the case, although McDuff "denies everything."

"CAN'T SLEEP" Evans said he was present with other officers and newsmen when Green, shortly after his capture, said:

"My God, I've got to tell somebody about it. I can't sleep. I can't think. I can't do nothing. I don't think people will ever understand. You've just got to understand the circumstances."

"But I don't think anybody ever will."

Probe Wreckage Members of a 12-man Civil Aeronautics Board investigating team from Washington D. C. started probing the twisted wreckage of a jet airliner only hours after 42 persons died late Saturday night. (AP WIREPHOTO)

One Recorder Destroyed In Crash That Killed 42

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — Investigators learned today that one of two recording devices, which may have held a clue to the cause of Saturday night's airliner crash, was burned beyond use in the crash that killed 42 persons.

The Braniff International Airways plane was in an envelope of flame when it plunged from a cloud into a soybean field about eight miles northeast of here.

MAY BE USEFUL However, there was a chance that another recording device may still be useful.

Ed Slattery, spokesman for a 12-man Civil Aeronautics Board investigating team, said Washington experts found heat had destroyed any record that was in the flight recorder. The device, pulled from the wreckage, was designed to keep a record of the plane's position and movements in the air.

He said CAB and factory experts were trying to decipher information in the cockpit voice recorder, which should reveal any cockpit conversation which took place within 30 minutes before the crash. Slattery said the cockpit recorder was recovered "in a rather battered condition."

EXPLOSION An explosion flared as the plane hit the ground, and a witness shouted: "My God, the world is on fire!"

Antone Schawang, owner of the field where the plane crashed, was with his family in an automobile when the disaster occurred. "The sky seemed to light up," he said, as the burning plane crashed and exploded. It was then that his wife shouted that "the world is on fire."

Sitting in the kitchen of his farm home three hours later, his sun-tanned face tired and drawn, Schawang continued his description.

BALL OF FLAMES "I could see this ball of flames dropping almost straight down, then I saw the tip of a wing sticking out and I knew it was a plane," he said.

"Then there was the crash. 'It came so close — a few more yards and our house and buildings would have been wiped out.'"

Schawang said the impact tossed flames and debris "500 feet in the air. It sounded more like hitting your fist on the table than an explosion."

The plane was a BAC One-11, a twin-jet, rear-engine craft built by British Aircraft Corp. and capable of carrying 63 persons. The CAB said this was the first fatal crash of a BAC One-11 in the United States.

Victim Sister Of C. R. Rhodes

Mrs. Grace Rhoades Roettger, 49, among the 42 who died in the crash of a Braniff BAC 111 near Omaha, Neb., was a sister of Charles R. Rhoades, Big Spring.

She was en route to Omaha to meet her husband, Emil, who is employed by International Bethel Pipeline Company. Rhoades and his wife, Nova Dean, were to leave here today for Decatur where arrangements for Mrs. Roettger are pending. Indications are that rites will be held on Wednesday.

Hearings On Strike Resume

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress resumed hearings on the airlines strike today with a direct appeal to labor and management to settle the dispute and avoid legislation "you will regret the rest of your lives."

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., addressed his words to representatives of the International Association of Machinists and the five struck carriers before calling the machinists' president, P. L. Siemiller, as the day's first witness.

Staggers said the Commerce Committee will meet in the early morning and at night, if necessary, to complete action on a Senate-passed bill under which the striking airline mechanics could be ordered back to work for as much as 180 days.

"If this comes to the floor of the House, it will pass by at least as wide a margin as it did in the Senate," Staggers said. "Congress will get lots of criticism, so will the union and the carriers. Nevertheless the people of the country are demanding action. They want the strike settled and settled now."

Staggers said the history of such legislation is that once it is enacted, it is seldom repealed, but widened and expanded.

"This will haunt labor and management for years," Staggers told them.

Siemiller repeated his arguments that the tie-up of five trunk carriers is not a national emergency.

Robbs Dallas Bank, Flees

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A gunman held up the Inwood National Bank in northwest Dallas today and shot to death a man who tried to halt the robbery.

The victim was identified as Herman Nachman, 43, an employe of Miracle Ford Co.

Witnesses said that when the sack containing the money broke, Nachman and two others in the bank tried to overpower the gunman as he bent down to scoop up the money.

Nachman was shot once in the back.

SHIRT RIPPED During the struggle, the bandit's shirt was ripped off. Witnesses said he had the initials "J B" tattooed on one arm.

The gunman fled with an undetermined amount of money into an apartment area behind the bank.

Police began an intensive search of the area for a white man described as being about 30, weighing about 165 or 170 pounds with black hair.

Police said he was armed with a .38 caliber revolver.

MASKED FACE A man who saw the five-minute robbery said the man entered the back door of the bank wearing a full face Hallowe'en mask with a fake cigar in his mouth, and was waving a revolver.

"He told the woman teller to sack up all the money. She got the sack full and passed it over to him, but when he took hold of it, the handle (of the plastic sack) tore loose and the money spread all over the floor, so he got a box and told several customers to start putting the money back in the box."

"All this time, new customers were coming in the bank. He would tell them 'come on in, or I'll kill you'—he kept repeating that, 'I'll kill you.'"

CHARGED HIM "Then two customers charged him and they scuffled around in a circle of about 15 feet and I heard a shot and saw him waving the gun, looking for someone else. About that time I was trying to find a desk to climb under."

The man said during the scuffle the gunman's shirt was torn and his mask was ripped off.

The investigating officers got the mask later, he said.

Witness Thought Holdup Man Was Just Kidding

DALLAS (AP)—A gas station owner who grappled with a masked gunman in a bank today escaped with a bruised nose, banged knee and cuts on his arm as he fell under the weight of a man shot dead.

JUST KIDDING J. E. Cole, 53, said he thought the man was kidding when he told him: "This is a holdup—get in line."

"I had gone to take some deposits, and I thought this was a friend joking with me. I just waved at the man in the corner and walked on by. Then I looked back and saw he had on a mask and realized this was for real."

"I sat on the corner of a desk about 15 feet away. The man was getting a sack of money from the teller, when the sack broke.

"He yelled for another sack and stooped over to pick up the money."

"When he did, a man (Herman Nachman) threw an ashtray at the gunman and charged him. They began scuffling and as they whirled around towards me, I got a hold of the gunman's arm but I couldn't hold him."

Cole said the man did not have a gun in sight when the scuffle began, but during the fight he pulled a gun and shot the man who had charged him.

"The man who was shot fell on me and by the time I got up the gunman was gone."

Red Missiles Get Seven U.S. Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The U.S. military command announced today that American pilots encountered a near-record 24 Soviet-built missiles over North Viet Nam Sunday when seven U.S. planes were shot down. It was the heaviest loss in a single day of the air war.

Under the command's revised information policy, a spokesman refused to say whether any of the planes were hit by surface-to-air missiles. He said only that they were lost to ground fire rather than to enemy planes.

The spokesman said earlier that there were no reports of any missile sightings Sunday over North Viet Nam. He explained today such information from pilots is collected separately and is forwarded to him later.

Heavy ground fire drove off rescue helicopters, and only two of the nine fliers hit were rescued, the spokesman said. The others were listed as missing in action, although the Air Force said pilots sighted three parachutes and heard signals from two "beeper" signal radios.

Reign Of Terror Has 17th Victim

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Charles J. Whitman's reign of terror claimed its 17th victim today one week after the architectural student raked the University of Texas campus with a barrage of gunfire from atop the tower of the main building.

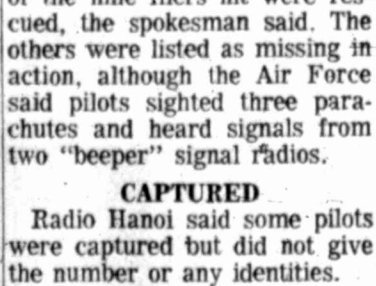

Karen Griffith, 17, of Austin died early today in Brackenridge Hospital, a spokesman said. She had been in critical condition since a bullet from Whitman's rifle slammed into her chest last Monday.

One other person, Mrs. Mary Gabour, 41, of Texarkana, Tex., was still in critical condition in Brackenridge from head wounds.

Authorities expect to get today a report which may show whether Whitman had taken some form of pep drug before he killed 15 persons and then was shot to death in the University of Texas Tower.

Officers found Dextedrine, known as goof balls, with Whitman's body after he was slain by two Austin policemen.

An earlier autopsy report did

not mention any pep drugs, but the report expected today will include results of tests of blood samples.

Beside Mrs. Gabour, 13 other persons remain in Austin hospitals with less serious wounds.

The spokesman said most of the missiles—presumably more advanced SAM Hs recently supplied by the Soviets—were fired in the corridors north and northwest of Hanoi, where most of the planes went down. The most missiles fired in one day was 28 on July 19.

Five of the planes lost were Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, including two F105Fs packed with electronic gear for use against radar and missile sites. They and a Navy A1 Skyraider were known to have been hit, while the seventh—an Air Force RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance jet—disappeared and was presumed lost to enemy action.

The worst previous day for American planes over the Communist North was Aug. 13, 1965, when six went down.

Demos To Pick New Nominee

AUSTIN (AP)—State Democratic Chairman Will Davis called a meeting of the 30 party chairmen in congressional District 18 for 7 p.m. tonight in Amarillo to select a nominee to replace Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex.

Rogers, on July 31, declined the nomination given him in the May 7 primary, saying he wanted to return to private law practice. Rogers has represented the Panhandle district since 1951.

Walls Of Police Keep Hecklers Off Marchers

By The Associated Press

Some 2,000 white hecklers threw rocks, bottles and firecrackers Sunday when demonstrators for open housing in Chicago's white neighborhoods staged their largest march since the drive began 10 days ago.

The marchers, protected by solid walls of police, moved into the all-white Cragin section of Chicago's Northwest Side. Approximately 1,500 persons were in the integrated group, led by Al Raby, head of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, and aides to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King, hit by a rock during a demonstration Friday, was in Jackson, Miss., today for the annual convention of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which he heads.

Violence broke out early today in Lansing, Mich., as gangs of white and Negro youths clashed. Police brought the situation under control in about three hours.

The hostility in Chicago reached fever pitch before a summer thunderstorm drenched marchers, police and hecklers—who cooled off to the point the violence settled into jeering and hooting.

Police arrested 21 whites. Dozens of persons were injured before the end of the nearly four-mile march.

The violence in Lansing, in which four policemen and an undetermined number of motorists were injured by glass splinters, saw gangs of as many as 30 smash store windows and hurl rocks and bricks at passing cars.

Police said the outbreak was touched off by a group of white youths "cruising for trouble," and spread to a Negro section.

In Los Angeles, the Watts community—scene of bloody rioting one year ago—is making plans to observe the anniversary this weekend with an arts and jazz festival.

Junior Rodeo Deadline Near

Deadline for entries in the 21st Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo is 8 p.m. Monday.

At 10 a.m., the office of the Howard County farm agent, said only a relatively few entries had been received so far.

The rodeo opens on Aug. 11 and will run through three nights. The show is sanctioned by the American Junior Rodeo Association.

Sponsors said that the event has a conflict with the junior rodeo being staged on Pecos on the same nights. This could have its impact on entries here.

All points earned here count on the AJRA scores for championship placements. The national finals will be in Odessa on Aug. 26, 27, 28.

A parade on Thursday afternoon opens the show. The first performance is at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Stock will be arriving today or tomorrow.

Volunteers were busy today under the direction of James Shelton, assistant county farm agent, getting the rodeo bowl in shape for the big show.

A trophy saddle will be awarded the all-round cowboy or cowgirl of the show. Silver buckles go to the winners of the several individual events.

PROJECT STILL BEHIND SCHEDULE TFX Costs Skyrocketing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The costs of a big military project—the controversial TFX warplane and its Phoenix air-to-air missile weapon system—have skyrocketed, Defense Department figures show.

The department made the multimillion-dollar increases known in reply to series of questions submitted by The Associated Press.

VERY HIGH The Pentagon figures show the cost of the TFX, known as the F111, to be about $5 billion for the Air Force version and $8 billion for the Navy model.

In 1962 there was testimony before Congress that the unit cost of the F111 would be about $2.9 million.

The original estimated cost of developing the Phoenix system was $137 million. The cost now is $258 million and the weapon still reportedly is having guidance and control problems.

The Pentagon said the reasons for 85 to 90 per cent of the increased costs were "government change orders to improve the capability and increase the versatility of the F111."

The Air Force version of the F111—the F111A—is being built at Fort Worth, Tex., by General Dynamics, while Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., Calverton, N.Y., is building the Navy's F111B.

MCMAMARA The F111 was selected by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara despite the recommendation of a 235-man evaluation board that a Boeing Co.

design be accepted.

McNamara said the General Dynamics design would ultimately save the Defense Department $1 billion.

One of the reasons, he said, was that it offered a high degree of identical parts for the Navy and Air Force versions.

BOTH BEHIND The plane and its weapons system also are behind schedule. The Pentagon said the "F111B and Phoenix schedules have been revised to provide for a more optimum weapons system development. They should provide for the delivery of an operations system within the desired time frame—the 1970 era."

Other sources said the F111B weapons system is 12 to 18 months behind schedule.

Cotton Harvest Cutback Pegged At One-Third

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's first forecast put the cotton crop today at 10,820,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

The Texas crop was estimated at 3,550,000 bales, grown on 4,100,000 acres averaging 416 pounds per acre.

The 1965 Texas crop of 4,665,000 bales grown on 5,565,000 acres and averaging 402 pounds per acre.

The national estimate of 10,820,000 bales was far below previous years.

This compares with last year's crop of 14,956,000 bales and with the 1960-64 average of 14,795,000 bales.

Production is being reduced sharply this year under a new federal crop control program which offered growers substantial government payments for reducing plantings. This cutback is sought because the cotton reserve and surplus has reached a record high of 16.8 million bales.

The indicated crop would be considerably below expected domestic and export demands of 15 million bales. The deficit in the production would be supplied from the surplus.

The report estimated 9,793,000 acres of cotton plantings would be harvested, compared with 13,617,000 last year and 14,956,000 for the 1960-64 average.

The yield per harvested acre was forecast at 530 pounds compared with 526 pounds last year and 475 for the five-year average.

The Census Bureau said 9,907 bales of the new crop had been ginned to Aug. 1, compared with 180,063 last year.

The indicated acreage for harvest, the yield per acre and the production, respectively by states included:

Arkansas 860,000 acres, 519 pounds per acre and 900,000 bales; Louisiana 355,000; 348 and 405,000; Oklahoma 430,000; 279 and 250,000; New Mexico 141,000; 681 and 200,000; and California 627,000; 1,148 and 1,509,000.

HHH Warns Of Consequences

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says if business, industry or labor unions take advantage of a booming economy, it could lead "to something nobody will like."

This "something," Humphrey explained Sunday on the CBS television show "Face The Nation," could be antistrike legislation by Congress.

"The question," he said, "is whether a relatively fully employed economy can maintain both economic freedom and continue economic growth."

It can, he added, if business, industry and unions do not "push their luck too far."

The vice president said that neither the steel price increases, which he called "modest," nor the airlines contract rejected a week ago by striking machinists, was inflationary. But he said the steel price hike would have a psychological economic effect.

"Steel is a bellwether industry," he explained. "When steel increases prices, it encourages others to do the same."

Milch To Appeal Zoning Decision

Al Milch will appeal to the city commission for a zoning change on his property at Twenty-fifth and Birdwell Lane when the commission meets Tuesday night.

Milch's sixth application for a change from "One Family" to "Neighborhood Service" zoning within the past three years was turned down by the Planning and Zoning Board last week in a heated session.

The appeal will come in the nature of a "public hearing."

Larry Crow, city manager, will ask commissioners to increase the cost of installing water meters.

"The present charge was devised some time ago and covered the costs of material and labor," Crow said today. "Now, however, the $45 meter charge (for residential meters) does not cover even the material costs."

Commissioners will consider

Money Causes More Trouble

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Tanzania's new 100-shilling bill, with its picture of a Masai warrior tending cattle, has the government worried.

The tribesmen, great cattle-tending fighters of northern Tanzania, believe the picture proves that all cattle in the country belong to them.

The tribesmen have a strong penchant for rustling — it's just part of a warrior's adult life. The practice leads to tribal wars and many deaths.

The picture on the money has complicated the problem.

Second Vice President Rashidi Kawawa, on a Masailand tour, warned the warriors not to take the picture literally.

"It doesn't mean the Masai are more important than other people," he said.

Kawawa also threatened that the government would use aircraft to trace cattle thieves if necessary.

Harpooned Shark

Simmons Jr., left, and Robert Danrell, both of Boothbay Harbor, Me., said it took 3 1/2 hours to harpoon the creature two miles west of Monhegan Island. This reportedly toothless species lives on small marine growth and plankton. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Farm Surplus Days Are Over

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey said today the era of farm surpluses is about over. He predicted substantial reserve acreage will be taken out of mothballs next year.

Farmers will be called upon to expand production to help feed a world that is eating more of major crops than it produces, Humphrey told the mid-continent farmers assembly.

"Already, our food stocks are dwindling," he said. "If we look toward sufficient production for our own needs, and for emergency food assistance for the developing countries, we find ourselves close to safety margin."

"In the last four years the world has consumed some 200 million bushels of wheat per year more than it has produced."

"In the last four years it has utilized about six million tons of feed grains more than it has harvested. In the case of soybeans, we are using all we produce. Carryovers are minimal. It is clear that we must raise our production sights in rice."

Humphrey said it is apparent that at the end of the current marketing year, "our wheat stocks will fall below the desirable reserve level." He said the same is true for soybeans, and added that milk production is insufficient.

"We are living in a whole new area of demand for feed grains," Humphrey said. "Unit-

'All West Texas Affair' Is Scheduled At Pampa

PAMPA — The mid-summer meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Pampa Aug. 11-12 will be an all West Texas affair.

The chamber will honor the 275 West Texans serving as volunteers on 103 state boards and commissioners at a Thursday evening recognition dinner.

Two top state officials, both West Texans, will participate on the program. Ben Barnes, De Leon, Seapaker of the House of Representatives will speak and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Lubbock, will present the awards for leadership to the state board members.

The "West Texas" menu will be food products grown and

Child Remains Critical Today

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Kimberly Lind, 3-year-old daughter of new astronaut Dr. Don L. Lind, remained in serious condition today after she was struck by a car during a family outing here Saturday.

A spokesman at John Sealy Hospital said Kimberly was "holding her own" after the accident, which occurred on Galveston's West Beach as she darted from the surf into the car's path.

Lind, 35, was named in April as one of the 19 new astronauts processed in West Texas, in-

DEAR ABBY
Hint To Guests

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell that M.D. a thing or two, and I am referring to the one who said that the boys who get girls in trouble are not punished enough. Why should a boy be punished for taking what is thrown at him? I have two teenage sons who are constantly having to fight off the girls. My boys don't have to call the girls. The girls call them. I have seen some notes that some girls passed to one of my sons, and it was a disgrace!

These were girls from nice families, too. We have tried to teach our sons that sex is something to be learned together as man and wife, not something to fool around with before marriage. But the girls nowadays call the boys "chicken" if they try to stick by these rules. So, quit blaming the boys when it is the girls who do all the chasing.

MOTHER OF BOYS

DEAR MOTHER: It still takes two to tango. And if a boy doesn't want to face the music, he had better not dance to it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently spent the weekend at the house guests of some so-called friends. They have a beautiful pushbutton home with every modern convenience imaginable. There is nothing too good for them or for their children.

The guest room was a shocker! We could not have been more surprised or insulted had they sat down to a dinner of steak, and served us hamburger. Their guest room was furnished with a broken down old bed, no dressing table, no mirror, and a few little odds and ends of mismatched chairs.

Bullet Merely Bruises Him

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP)—A bullet went through both seats of a car and through the shirt of a Crosby, Tex., youth but all he got was a bruise.

It happened near here Sunday and William C. Barrett, 18, was charged with car theft after a chase during which police fired at the tires of the automobile the youth was driving.

State policeman Jim Davis said he and other officers were pursuing the car when state policeman Emmet Sparks fired a .357-magnum pistol at the tires.

The automobile stopped and its driver was taken to a Clovis hospital, Davis said. A hospital spokesman said that when Barrett took off his shirt for an examination the bullet fell out and only a bruise was found.

Barrett was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Wandel Massey and held at the Clovis jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Colombian Pilot Studies At Webb

Maj. Alfredo Ortega of the Colombian Air Force is at Webb AFB for a study of U.S. Air Force personnel methods. Working with Maj. J. P. Sokolowicz, chief, military personnel branch, the major will spend eight weeks here for an intensive examination of procedures.

This is the second United States tour for the Maj. Ortega, who is rated as a senior pilot in Colombia. He began flying in his native land in 1952. In March, 1953, the major started 12 weeks of pre-flight training at Lackland AFB and completed his primary and basic flight training at Goodfellow AFB, July 9, 1954.

Upon his return to Colombia, Maj. Ortega was assigned for four years as a B-56 bomber instructor pilot. He spent the year just prior to coming back to the United States in the Colombian war college.

Prior to coming to Webb, Maj. Ortega was at Amarillo AFB, Tex. He will go later to Randolph AFB, Tex., for a four-year instructor personnel course, then return to Colombia for a new assignment.

His wife and three children have accompanied the major during his duty tour in the United States.

Rural Fires Costing More

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Safety Association reports that fires on farms or in rural areas are three to six times greater than the average city fire.

The economic loss to the nation's farm residents from fire is approximately $193 million annually.

Television Talk Sometimes Like A Foreign Language

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television is a language that is sometimes harder to understand than Urdu.

There are, of course, the simple idioms. "Live on tape" is a good example of contradiction. Obviously a broadcast of a taped show, like "The Tonight Show," already reviewed by network censors who occasionally erase naughty words from the sound track, is not really live.

The phrase merely means that the show was taped as it occurred, without going back to reshoot when it faltered or fell apart.

When ABC recently advanced by one week the scheduled debuts of 12 of its 16 new programs, the network called them "advance premieres," and insisted that its "official premiere week" had not been changed.

When to meet this competition, NBC promptly moved up three new show dates, they were not premieres but "sneak previews." In old-fashioned Hollywoodese, a "sneak preview" consists of springing a new movie on an audience which had gone to the theatre to see another film. NBC's "sneak" is about as unsteady as its publicity department can make it.

On another front — show categories — there is also semantic confusion. Press agents for a new NBC entry, "Star Trek," recently issued a release proclaiming that it was not, definitely not, science fiction, but "real action-adventure in tomorrow's space age."

"It is good science fiction," declared the star of the show, William Shatner as he sat, dressed in a modified "Batman" costume, explaining that he plays the captain of a military spaceship that "patrols the outer reaches of the galaxy."

Shatner, last seen in television in a short-lived CBS disaster called "For the People," is another in the growing group of actors who, while still bowing reverently to Shakespeare, has made an adjustment to commercial television with its rewards and security.

His "For the People" two seasons back was received well by the critics but as a misadson CBS entry it never managed to surface in the important Nielsen ratings.

Shatner, a Canadian, got his start in Ottawa's National Repertory Theatre, moved on the Stratford, Ontario, Shakespeare Festival. He has played on Broadway and starred in live television drama. But now as Captain Kirk of the space ship in "Star Trek" he owns a piece of the action, which, if the show is a success, is like a lovely annuity.

Violence Kills 38 In Texas

By The Associated Press
Violence claimed at least 38 lives in Texas during the weekend, with 20 persons dying in traffic accidents and eight in shootings.

Among those shot to death were two teenage cousins, whose bodies were found stuffed in the trunk of a car south of Fort Worth early Sunday morning. They were Robert Hugh Brand, 17, of Alvarado, Tex., and his cousin, Marcus Dunham, 16, of Tarzana, Calif.

The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

TYLER SHOOTING
A shooting in Tyler Saturday took the life of Taylor Lynch, 58, of Tyler. Another Tyler man, Caldwell Jenkins, 70, was charged with murder in the shooting.

Mrs. Vera Lucille Birdwell, 49, of Dallas, was killed Saturday night when her car collided with an automobile going the wrong way on R. L. Thornton Freeway in Dallas.

Two men were killed Saturday when a car and a pickup truck collided southeast of San Angelo. They were Tommy Lee Sikes, 24, an Eldorado junior high school coach, and Jose Maximo Delos Santos, about 50, of Ballinger.

Ronald Wayne Cleveland, 22, Palmer, died Saturday night when his auto left US 75, just north of Palmer and struck a sign.

HIT BRIDGE
Jose Adam Canales, 21, was fatally injured Sunday when his car hit a bridge railing two miles north of Benavides in Duval County.

Jack Wilbanks, 29, a band director at Smiley High School in northeast Houston, was killed Saturday when his car collided with a Missouri Pacific freight train.

A fall from a 30-foot cliff along the Rio Frio near Concan Saturday took the life of Bobby Daniel, 18, of Victoria.

In Terrell, Eric Armijo, 4, of Odessa, suffocated Friday night in an abandoned refrigerator at the home of his grandparents.

NAVY MEN
Two Navy enlisted men were killed early Saturday when their car collided with another near Papalote in Bee County. They were Marshall Lyon, 18, of Monson, Mass., and Frank Pastore, 20, of Sacramento, Calif.

A small car overturned on US 287 southeast of Corsicana before dawn Saturday, killing Gordon Allen West, 25, of Beaumont.

Juan Laredo, 48, of Woodsboro in South Texas, suffered fatal injuries Saturday when his car collided with a tractor-trailer on US 77 seven miles south of Woodsboro.

TAVERN
A 45-year-old Robstown man, Quirino Yguirre, was shot and killed Saturday in a Robstown tavern.

Everette Baltzgar, 55, of near Terrell, was killed Sunday when his car ran off a farm to market road, plunged through a ditch and onto Interstate 20 west of Terrell.

Recall Asked Of Councilmen

ATHENS, Tex. (AP) — The Athens City Council will meet tonight to determine what it will do about a petition demanding the recall of all three of its members.

The petition was filed Aug. 1 by an Athens citizens group accusing Athens Mayor M. D. Geddie Jr. and councilmen Don Foster and Joe Whit of incompetence.

This is the second controversy in three weeks to trouble the municipal waters. The petition was filed only hours before settlement of a controversy between the city and the Henderson County Commissioners Court over the city's refusal to grant the county a building permit so it could construct an addition to the county-owned hospital.

The council has two alternatives under the Athens city charter. It can either set an election at Monday's night's meeting, or if any of the impeached councilmen desire a public airing of the charges against them, a public hearing can be set.

"This is doing the town no good," Geddie said of the dispute. "It will have a bad effect, which will last for years on prospective businesses or individuals who might locate here."

P.H.T. Degrees Are Awarded

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Lamar College of Technology awarded 130 P.H.T. degrees last year.

A P.H.T.—putting hubby through—is awarded wives of male students who worked to help finance their husbands' education.

Three Killed

Three persons were killed and five injured in this crash on the Gulf Freeway near the Elling Air Force Base cutoff Sunday. One motorist lost control of his car, careened off another before crossing the grassy esplanade and smashing broad-side into an oncoming car. Houston machinist William George Fie, 38, his wife, Joyce, 35, and their daughter, Karen, 6, were killed. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Common Market Ties Up Its Biggest Package Deal

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — European Common Market officials and delegates are on a month's vacation, after tying up the biggest package deal in the market's nine-year history.

Before going away they agreed on merging agricultural and industrial markets of the six countries not later than July 1968.

This means that the main pillars are established for a single market for 200 million Europeans. The new agricultural policy is protectionist, with high prices for farm produce. In year-long debates the six were reluctant to make concessions. The attractive side of the agreement was that the cost of buying supports and export subsidies will be financed from a common fund to which the national treasuries contribute.

The fund's annual budget, almost $2 billion from 1968 onward, will cover part of the costs to modernize and mechanize farming. The single market will make it easier for the six to tackle some of the major problems of modernizing their farming. A low level of productivity, resulting in farm incomes consistently behind those of industrial workers, has made it difficult for farmers to stand up to competition.

Farmers make up 17 per cent of the market's 76-million working population. They earn only eight per cent of the gross community product. Industrial workers make up about 43 per cent, earning about 45.5 per cent. People employed in the services represent 39 per cent, earning some 45.9 per cent.

Other problems are those of shortages and surplus and the lack of a stable balance of supply and demand, often due to climate. A wider consumer market will improve sales prospects and enable farmers to specialize. To help the community's shortage of manpower in industry, a social fund helps toward coordinated vocational training schemes for people leaving the land.

Grapes will be grown in southern regions only, not in hot-houses in Belgium and Holland. Southern Italy will leave sugar beats to the farmers in the north. National tariffs and quotas are replaced by a community system of internal and external levies administered by the Executive Commission. Starting next July, single prices for farm products will be introduced throughout the community.

The next move must be to harmonize fiscal and transport policy, including freight rates, lest differing subsidies and taxation affect competition. The market has agreed on the main outline of a transport policy, but completing the agreement will be difficult. For example, The Netherlands, with a Rhine River fleet, is loath to give up cheap freight rates.

Liberal Takes Columbia Helm

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Carlos Lleras Restrepo, an economist and senator, became Colombia's 56th president Sunday and promised vast social, economic and educational reform. Lleras, a liberal, defeated Jose Jaramillo Giraldo. Jaramillo was backed by former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla.

Central Plateau Is Right Place For Reds

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Communists have chosen the right time and the right place if they have decided to make the central Vietnamese plateau a major battleground. That is the conclusion of senior U. S. military officers after a week of sporadic fighting in which the North Vietnamese made the most of the persistent rain and the jungle. American units were cut off twice because of bad weather. A company from the 25th Division held out against overwhelming odds, a platoon from the 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division was overrun. These two actions were comparatively small but they demonstrate vividly how the weather can cut down the performance of the most modern army drastically. The 1st Cavalry has 470 helicopters, and some of them were only five minutes flying time from the surrounded platoon. None of the helicopters could be used because visibility was down to zero. Reinforcements had to slog on foot through the rain-drenched jungle. They took all night to cover 4,000 yards. The Communist forces have

Many Victims On Visits With Friends

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — A 22-year-old graduate student going to visit her husband, a salesman starting a new job and a mother and son returning from a weekend outing were among the 42 persons killed Saturday night in the crash of a Braniff International Airways jet plane. Many of the victims were people returning from or going on visits with friends or relatives.

VISIT HUSBAND
Cheri Lynn Jordan was flying to Minneapolis to visit her husband, Jeff Jordan, a professional football player for the Minnesota Vikings. The two were to make arrangements for her to move to Minneapolis Aug. 20.

The Jordans married in March, 1965, after meeting at the University of Tulsa, where they were students. She had recently completed a session of graduate work at the school.

Hosiery salesman John M. Paul, of Overland Park, Kan., was making his first swing around the Nebraska territory, heading for a gift show exhibition in Omaha. Paul, 44, had joined the hosiery firm June 1. Before then, he was a salesman with a pharmaceutical company.

EARLY ARRIVALS
Robert Kuhr, a Braniff employee, was one of the early arrivals at the crash scene and he identified the bodies of his wife and son among the dead, a fellow employee of Kuhr said.

For Mrs. Robert Kuhr, 32, of Omaha, and her son Mitchell, 5, the flight was a return home from a trip to the zoo and visiting in Kansas City, Mo.

The crash, first major jet airliner disaster of the year in the continental United States, took the lives of two sets of sisters.

Nancy Ann Chamblin, 18, and Susan Carol Chamblin, 15, of Fort Smith, Ark., were on their way to Lincoln, Neb., to visit an older sister. Nancy Ann graduated from high school last spring and Susan Carol was scheduled to enter high school this fall.

OTHER SISTERS
The other sisters, Mary Kay Hamm, 16, and Susan Hamm, 17, of Spring Branch, Tex., a Houston suburb, were flying to visit their grandparents in Nebraska.

Ten of the victims were members of the armed forces. Airman 2C Robert D. Welter, 19, of Des Moines, Iowa, was en route home from Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., to visit his mother.

Welter, on a two-week leave before being transferred to Topeka, Kan., was scheduled to arrive by bus in Des Moines at 8 a.m. Sunday. His mother had gone to the bus station to greet him.

NOT NOTIFIED
Full information was not given on some military passengers because families had not been notified.

Also aboard the plane were two civilian workers for the Strategic Air Command headquarters near Omaha. Donald R. Smith, 41, of Bellevue, Neb., was employed in the SAC public information branch, and Andrew D. Broadfoot, of Omaha, also worked for the Air Force unit.

Two teachers were aboard the plane. Mrs. Morgan Mills, 51, a third-grade teacher in Gonzales, Tex., was en route to visit relatives in Nebraska. Miss Patricia Jacobson, 21, of Fargo, S.D., was returning home from a National Teachers' Corps training program in New Orleans.

FROM FUNERAL
One passenger, L.M. Graeber, 61, of Spring Park, Minn., was flying home from the funeral of his brother, Clyde, in Tulsa.

The pilot and first officer of the jet liner combined more than 34 years of pilot experience.

Girls Miss Their Flight, Board Crash-Bound Plane

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two teenage girls, students at Spring Branch High School, were among 42 persons killed in the crash of a Braniff jetliner in a southeast Nebraska field because they missed connections on an earlier flight.

The two, Susan Hamm, 17, and her sister, Mary Kay, 16, were making their first flight to visit grandparents in Nebraska.

They were two of four Texans who died in the plane crash Saturday night.

Mrs. Morgan Mills, 51, of Gonzales, a schoolteacher, and Mrs. Grace Rhodes Roettger, 56, of Decatur, the former on the way to visit relatives and the latter to visit her husband at Omaha, were the others killed in the flaming crash.

The stepfather of the two girls, R. E. Marsh of Spring Branch, said they left Houston for Kansas City, via Dallas, Saturday afternoon. The flight was scheduled to land at Kansas City, with a brief layover for the Omaha flight, but Marsh said they were delayed for some reason and could not make their connection at Kansas City. Instead, they boarded the death flight.

The reason for the girls' missing their connection is being sought by Braniff.

Mrs. Roettger had planned to return today to Decatur where she was employed as a grocery store clerk.

Miss Jean Duerksen, 22, a registered nurse at Omaha, was returning home from a two-weeks vacation with Gerald Duerksen, a chemical engineer at the du Pont plant near Victoria, Tex., and was among those killed.

Capt. Donald G. Pauly, 47, of Minneapolis, had been a pilot for 24 years and had been flying jets two years.

"He liked very much to fly," his wife said. He and his family, including two boys and two girls from 13 to 20, had recently returned from a three-week vacation in Europe.

First Officer James A. Hilliker, 39, of Bloomington, Minn., had been a pilot 10 years and began flying jets last year. He and his wife, Pat, were the parents of three boys and a girl, ranging from 8 to 15.

TWO STEWARDESSES
Braniff officials said the two stewardesses on the plane were roommates who had recently graduated from stewardess school. They lived in Bloomington, a suburb of Minneapolis.

Sharon Eileen Hendricks, 27, had been with Braniff since last December. Elaine Brisbane, 21, was a native of Minneapolis.

Nixon Lists Voter Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says disrespect for law and race turmoil have joined the Viet Nam war and rising living costs as political issues in 1966.

Nixon said polls still place the war and living costs as the major issues but added that "private conversations and public concern are increasingly focusing upon issues of disrespect for law and race turmoil."

In a signed article in the current issue of U. S. News & World Report, Nixon said there is a "deterioration of respect for the rule of law all across America."

"That deterioration can be traced directly to the spread of the corrosive doctrine that every citizen possesses an inherent right to decide for himself which laws to disobey and when to disobey them," he said.

"The doctrine has become a contagious national disease, and its symptoms are manifest in more than just racial violence," he continued. "We see them in the contempt among many of the young for the agents of the law — the police. We see them in the public burning of draft cars and the blocking of troop trains."

Pastor Speaks On 'Batman'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Robert E. Terwilliger told his parishioners in New York Sunday that the Batman television series provided a "much-needed emotional and almost religious" outlet for many viewers.

Terwilliger spoke informally after morning worship at All Saints Episcopal Church in Manhattan.

He said Batman's "miracles are the kind modern man likes most — not supernatural but scientific," but also said that many Americans have a penchant for "practical messiahs."

He added that the TV show was a "second-rate" emotional release, because it was grounded in a world of fantasy where total good triumphs completely over total evil.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ953 ♥76 ♦K63 ♠AKQ
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—It is evident from the bidding that partner's real concern is with the heart situation. Obviously, he does not have first round control or he would have mentioned it. And if he had second round control, he would have bid a slam himself. You are obliged to pass because the loss of two heart tricks stares you in the face.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠10943 ♥52 ♦A932 ♠KJ9
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—The suggested call is three diamonds, a temporarily bid. It may prove that partner is probing for big things and, if his best bid happens to be three hearts, he would suggest a four club bid to show the fit in that suit. After that he should be on his own.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J3 ♥K43 ♦Q974 ♠K852
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 NT Double ?
What do you bid?
A—Redouble. You have nine points, assuring your partnership of a minimum of 25, giving the adversary a maximum of 15 points. You are therefore prepared to punish him when they escape at the two level, and if permitted to play one no trump redoubled you will of course score an easy game.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A94 ♥KJ86 ♦62 ♠8732
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ 1 ♠ 2 ♥ 2 ♠
3 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Pass. The full strength of your hand was shown on the first round by your free bid of two hearts. If this is all partner needed to produce a game he would have bid four hearts himself.

Q. 5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠63 ♥J109753 ♦2 ♠AK104
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ Double ?
What do you bid now?
A—Four hearts. If partner has opened somewhat light in the third seat, the hand may easily belong to the opponent. In that case your jump bid will make it more difficult for them to get together. Furthermore, if West should now bid four spades, you will be in an excellent position to decide on subsequent action. If partner doubles four spades, you have adequate defensive values and, if he passes, you can bid five hearts with the assurance that the save will be inexpensive and you may even be able to fulfill an 11 trick contract.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠6 ♥10987 ♦KQ63 ♠A865
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—We recommend an ace showing bid of four clubs at this point. While it is true that partner may, for the time being, interpret this as showing a club suit, we intend to raise hearts at our next turn to bid. This will make it clear that we are looking for a slam.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠5 ♥Q542 ♦10863 ♠J94
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♠ Double Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Pass. To bid three hearts would be quite out of order. Partner has undertaken to defeat the contract of two spades by himself. It is not your position to act as a nursemaid to him.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ1075 ♥Q862 ♠973
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 ♥ 2 ♠
2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Pass. You have opened third hand in the hope of obtaining a part score and should make no further move. Partner should have a self-sustaining spade suit to bid at this increased level.

SEES NO SIGNIFICANT VICTORY FOR REPUBLICANS

Urges Support For Viet Nam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's top political strategist is urging Democratic congressional candidates to campaign this fall in full support of the President's Viet Nam policy.

"In the coldest political terms," Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said, "I've told these candidates the strongest political position they could be in is to support the administration's policy in South Viet Nam."

GOOD SHAPE

"I think the President is in damned good shape in the country," he added in an interview with The Associated Press. "In some areas he's stronger than in 1964. And I'm convinced from the polls and conversations around the country that the overwhelming number of Americans don't feel we should turn tail and walk out of Viet Nam."

O'Brien — chief organizer of John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign for the presidency — has made some two dozen appearances in the districts of congressional candidates facing the toughest races this fall.

He keeps a detailed report on the races in every state. And while it's too early to predict in detail the outcome of the off-year election, O'Brien said he is not as concerned as some Democrats over the fate of the wave of young Democratic congressmen swept into office in Johnson's 1964 landslide victory over Barry Goldwater.

PESSIMIST

"Anybody who knows me knows I'm a pessimist," O'Brien said, relaxing on a sofa in his vast, dark paneled Post Office Department office. "But I'm cautiously optimistic that we'll do reasonably well in November. I'm sure the Republican party will not be able to point to any significant victory."

O'Brien then offered this analysis of national politics, 1966.

"We have unusual margins of about 2 to 1 in both House and Senate and in the governorships across the nation. Democratic registration, however, does not hold that margin over Republican registration."

"Couple that with the historic record: The 'in' party suffers losses in an off-year nonpresidential election. These are the minus working against us and would lead one to expect some sort of adjustment of that big margin."

ABOUT THE SAME

"I'm fairly convinced — although it's only August — that when the smoke settles the margin in the governorships and the Senate will stay about the same."

"That brings us to the House, and these are the regional contests that will be closely fought in many areas. Some estimate nearly 100 marginal districts and I know the Republican National Committee is pointing to 68 seats it reasonably hopes to capture."

"But I think there are two unique factors for us this year operating against the off-year tradition of losing seats."

SUPPORTED

"This freshman class of congressmen — the surprise winners in 1964 — has almost unanimously supported the President's foreign and domestic programs more than 90 per cent of the time. They've gone home weekend after weekend on the red-eye special to stand up for the administration. Historically, this is most unusual. Most candidates who have ridden in on a president's coattails have promptly made some adjustment in their political views, backing off from the president's policy to improve their re-election prospects.

"I think the attitude of these young congressmen is going to pay off, because I think the mood of the country is strongly in favor of the Great Society program."

BIG DIFFERENCE

O'Brien said he finds even more impressive the work of the

BIRCHERS, HOUSING

Prime Issues In California Set

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Condemnation of the John Birch Society and possible repeal of California's open-housing law stood today as prime issues between Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Ronald Reagan, his Republican gubernatorial opponent.

Brown challenged Reagan to repudiate the Birch Society as a dangerous political extremist group. Reagan again refused.

PLATFORM

And a 1966 state Republican platform adopted Saturday urged "repeal or amendment" of the Nationally publicized Rumford Act barring housing discrimination.

That posed a touchy issue for the Democrats' state convention next weekend in Sacramento.

What stand to take on the law, strongly backed by Negroes and a white minority, but renounced by a vast majority of white voters in a 1964 statewide ballot?

Passed in 1963 by the legislature, the act bans racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of most publicly assisted housing in California — which includes most housing.

PETITIONS

Enough voters signed petitions in 1964 to put the matter on the November ballot, and by a 2-to-1 margin the law was nullified. But a 5-to-2 State Supreme Court ruling overturned the vote, upheld the law and sent the issue to the U.S. Supreme Court, where a decision is pending.

Democrats recall that the former White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, credited his opposition to the 1964 anti-Rumford initiative as a main reason for his U.S. Senate race defeat by Republican George Murphy, who took no position on the act.

STRONG PLANK

Democrats also adopted a strong plank favoring the law in 1964, and opposing the anti-open housing proposal. Republicans took no stand that year.

Saturday, the Republican state convention overrode Negro protests and adopted a civil rights platform plank recognizing minority group housing problems but urging "the repeal or amendment of the Rumford Act of 1963 and its replacement or amendment by constructive legislation which protects the free choice and constitutional rights of all citizens."

Reagan, who favors repeal of the law but disagreed with the 1964 statewide ballot, had approved the platform's wording along with the other statewide GOP candidates.

He stressed, however, at a Saturday night speech "I repudiate bigotry and racism and all those who are guided by it."

"DON'T DENY ME"

James Flournoy of Los Angeles, a Republican state central committee member and a Negro, asserted: "When you use the word 'repeal' you are automatically slapping one million Negroes in the face. I beg of you don't deny me as a Negro the opportunity to go into my community and try to sell the Republican party."

Brown and Robert Coate, Democratic state chairman, have launched a full-scale attempt to paint Reagan as carrying the hopes of ultra right wingers.

Coate said that if the GOP convention "had adopted a plank condemning political extremists by name, they would have been vigorously opposed by Reagan, who depends on the support of Birchers and other extremists in his campaign."

freshmen in taking "that shaky" it's too early to predict a number of 1964 foundation and building on erical outcome, but I'm as sure it with strong organizations and as I can be that the Republican service to their constituents. prediction of 50 or more new That will make a big difference. seats in the House just isn't "What does this add up to: going to happen."

Weather Has Calmed Down

Texas weather calmed down today after weekend thunderstorms dumped up to four inches of rain in scattered areas of the state.

The Weather Bureau warned, however, that local heavy rains could be expected for at least the next day or two throughout Texas.

The rains and accompanying winds Sunday did little damage, although a 13-year-old San Antonio girl had a brush with death when four inches of rain fell on parts of the city.

The girl, Nancy Alarcon, fell into a drainage ditch and was swept almost three miles through a drainage system that is partly underground and partly open.

Firemen who pulled her to safety said they "didn't expect to ever find her alive."

Although the official San Antonio rainfall was only .35 of an inch, some sections measured as much as four inches and 75 to 100 barricades were placed at flooded low water crossings.

The Weather Bureau said the Davis Ranch near Rocksprings in Edwards County received about four inches of rain, and 3.30 inches fell 12 miles northeast of Brackettville in Kinney County.

High winds damaged a church in Woodsboro, which received 2.40 inches of rain. Refugio got 1.94 inches and some hail.

Laredo reported the highest temperature in Texas Sunday with 100 degrees, while the mercury climbed to only 55 at Dalt.

A Devotional For The Day

She hath done what she could. (Mark 14:8)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we know that all we are and all we have are the result of Thy love and care. Help us to be good stewards of our talents, time, and money. We pray this in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.
 (From the "Upper Room")

Overly Reluctant

American public opinion can only be affronted by the politics-clouded spectacle of the United States Senate and the White House passing the buck back and forth over responsibility for ordering the airline machinists' strike to end.
 The Johnson administration has been curiously reluctant to concede that the AFL-CIO machinists' 27-day-old walkout is a "national emergency" strike requiring all-out presidential action. But the airlines have become such an important integral part of the American transportation system, the arterial network for the lifeblood of the national economy that the strike obviously qualified as a national emergency especially in time of war declared or not.

 Like the administration, the Senate appears unduly anxious over organized labor's reaction to firm strike-stopping action with congressional elections only four months away. But it seems to us that all reasonable concessions to free collective bargaining have been made and failed, and the President should use his inherent powers to restore air transportation while Congress quickly works out legislation to compel a settlement that will prevent the stoppage from recurring.

New Malady

If the source of the story had been something less authoritative than the New England Journal of Medicine, one might be inclined to suspect some leg-pulling. But there it was—an account of how a lawyer cured a shooting pain in his left buttock and leg by removing the wallet from his left hip pocket.
 It seems that the aforementioned lawyer had suffered an ache in his hip and leg for some years, and that various treatments had failed to give relief. But one day the patient removed the wallet, fat with credit cards and such, from his pocket and went about without it for a time. Result: Relief from the pain—which returned when the wallet was again carried in that hip pocket.

 So the lawyer dubbed his ailment credit-carditis, and this addition to the annals of medicine was duly recorded in the New England Journal of Medicine. It all seems to prove the thesis of forward-looking economists: Moderate savings are good, but sitting on your money may have had results. Or maybe it just proves that too many credit cards are a bad thing.

Holmes Alexander The Ceremonial Guns

WASHINGTON — This capital city is becoming accustomed to the intermittent boom of artillery fire. The populace is no longer startled, but it is puzzled.

Mighty monarchs from the Middle East seem to rate the 21-gun salute, as do fly-by-night leaders of African republics. Heads of government should get 19 guns, but Prime Minister Wilson of Great Britain recently came and went without a pop.

THE WHITE HOUSE couldn't explain it. Press Secretary Moyers' shop says the State Department makes these decisions through its Protocol Office, now headed by James on the morning after the Prime Minister's gunless departure, raised no answer at Protocol. A call to Mr. Symington's home revealed that he was outdoors somewhere enjoying the break in our hot spell.

Symington's deputy, Norman Armour, said it all depended on whether the visit of the dignitaries was formal and whether there was a parade—but he referred this reporter to Sam King of Protocol for the technicalities. Mr. King's secretary said Mr. King was out at Andrews Air Force Base to greet some celebrities and couldn't be reached by phone.

MISINFORMATION on the gun salute is rife because nobody tells anybody anything. Reporters who rely on memory say that President Kennedy renewed the old custom, and that Ben Bella, the then-strongman of Algeria, was the first recipient of the honor in a long while. Actually, the Kennedy regime merely moved the artillery in midtown to conform with the age of the helicopter arrival. The guns are now fired from the Ellipse, a playground area south of the White House lawn. A radio commentator recently spread the apocryphal story that the 21-gun salute became an American custom by adding up the figures in the date of 1776. Hardly a man is now alive to remember that far back, but history-minded scribes declared that the salute predated our national birthday by many years.

THERE IS MUCH literature on the lore of gunpowder welcome. The Encyclopedia Britannica, under the listing of "salutations," mentions the 21-gun salute for heads of state, but does not explain it. Funk and Wagnalls Encyclopedia (1950) adds the information that the "official" salutes of the U.S.A. consist of the firing of one rifle for each state at intervals of eight or ten seconds. The Historic Note-book, with an Appendix of Battles (1891) by Rev. E. Cobham Brewer, LL.D., says that 21 guns is a "royal salute" and is derived from multiplying the Trinity (3) by the sacraments (7). The World Almanac (1962) says that 21 guns is the "national" salute rather than "royal." It is accorded to any national flag, whereas a salute to the American Union requires one gun for each state.

BUT THE RIFLE or cannon salute seldom, if ever, stands by itself. A President, both upon arrival and departure, is supposed to receive four ruffles and flourishes from a musical band in addition to the ordnance salute. The same applies to an ex-President, to the sovereign or chief magistrate and to members of a royal family of any foreign country. The President rates the national anthem as part of his welcome, but an ex-president rates only a march tune. A foreign dignitary is entitled to his own national anthem. "The music," adds the World Almanac sternly, "is considered an inseparable part of the salute."

THESE FORMALITIES become complicated in direct proportion to the descending order of rank. But there is no doubt that 19 guns when he arrives and 19 more when he leaves. But Sen. Hayden, who stands in line as President pro tem of the Senate, would get 19 on coming and none on going. For some reason, the Secretaries of Army and Air Force get the same as McNamara, whereas the Secretary of Navy gets only what Sen. Hayden might get.

The lowest number of volleys (5) is accredited to a vice consul or consular agent. The rest is silence.

That's A Surprise
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Members of the Arizona State Legislature are loaned 20 volumes of state laws when they are elected.
 The books almost never were returned—until recently, when Rep. Harry Bandoveris, who will not seek re-election, took his books back to the secretary of state's office.
 "I'm flabbergasted," said Rose Mofford, assistant secretary of state.

At the same time, when men are disobedient, they probably cause God more concern than any of His other creatures. The Bible speaks reverently of this concern: "Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness have I loved thee." In spite of our waywardness, His eyes, like the eyes of the prodigal's father, look longingly for the return of the erring ones to the Father's house.

DISARMAMENT PROBLEMS

James Marlow He Has A Bigger Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — he could even look timid.
"Let's reason together." This has been President Johnson's philosophy. And it worked, for a while, but he will have to change it a bit now.

Johnson has had some golden days in the White House, with business and labor, although irked about it, going along with him quite a while in his efforts to keep down prices and wages.

AND FOR a long time he had Congress eating out of his hand. How much this was due to Johnson's political genius and how much to the reaction after President John F. Kennedy's assassination will never be known.

But after the shock of Kennedy's death there did seem in this country a broad desire for tranquility and eagerness to help Kennedy's successor get the country rolling again without turmoil.

At any rate, for a couple of years Johnson looked pretty much like the master of all he surveyed. Then the change set in.

IT SHOWED most clearly in the criticism he got for the war in Viet Nam and for his sudden decision to send American troops into the Dominican Republic to prevent what he feared would be a Communist takeover.

He was criticized for both actions, in and out of Congress, but particularly in Congress where some members, like Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., still keep up the drumbeat.

AND BIT by bit labor and business began kicking up their heels, with labor angry because it felt Johnson didn't press hard enough to get what it wanted from Congress and business sore because of the restraints on higher prices.

Call it flexibility — or just politics — but Johnson, who can be tough, began to show he isn't always tough and that at times

 —TOMMY HART

David Lawrence If Labor, Why Not Steel?

WASHINGTON — The words of rebuke from the administration because the steel companies didn't consult the government before announcing a hike in prices have a hollow sound. Pleas for "voluntary co-operation" are being repeated, and the hope is expressed that "the good sense of labor and management" will be invoked to "hold the line on prices and inflationary wage settlements."

BUT HOW CAN any rules of conduct in such matters be applied if they are one-sided? Not a word of denunciation has been uttered against the labor unions, one of which has just prolonged the airline strike even though economists say that the terms of the proposed settlement violate the "guidelines" set forth some time ago by the President and his advisers.

The difference seems to be that the management leaders do not exercise much influence in politics, whereas the labor unions do.
 Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says:

"AT THIS TIME, when Americans are fighting overseas, it is essential to maintain a stable economy. . . . It is necessary for those who have the power of wage and price decisions to be willing to discuss those decisions in advance, and to hear and understand the government's position. Not to do so is deliberately to flout the public interest in cost-price stability at a critical time in our economic affairs."

But no such demand has been made of the airline union or of the other unions which now are threatening more strikes.

THE INEVITABLE result of such a topsy-turvy situation is to bring on an economic crisis, and the government will then have to step in with a wage-and-price freeze such as Britain is now undertaking. Plainly, the war in Viet Nam has increased government expenses and had an impact on the national economy as a whole. Control of wages and prices has been imposed by law during the last three big wars in which the United States has been engaged. So there is precedent for such action.

THE STEEL companies have not been in the forefront in maintaining a reasonable profit on their investments. Other industries have passed them. But every time they try to make a price increase to meet the added wage costs they have encountered, the government steps in. The late President Kennedy intervened in 1962 and President Johnson, while using more polite tactics, has nevertheless prevented across-the-board price rises in steel.

The latest action, which has just been initiated, is a direct consequence of the administration's indifference to the violation of "guidelines" by labor unions which are demanding settlements beyond anything contemplated heretofore.

THE STEEL companies were doubtless not unwilling to discuss questions of prices with the President's Council of Economic Advisers, but they probably thought it would be much better for them to announce their decision first, rather than to entangle themselves in a long-winded discussion about a theoretical price rise. Discussions in person are sometimes feared, because they take on a form of coercion to which management is subjected but from which labor unions seem immune.

CONGRESS is not likely, before the November elections, to pass any laws imposing wage and price controls. If the economic situation does not improve, it may well be that when Congress reconvenes after November, serious consideration will be given to legislation to stabilize both wages and prices so as to prevent inflation from having a demoralizing effect on the national economy.

Sam Dawson Market Tied To White House

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's Wall Street has moved closer than ever to Washington's Pennsylvania Avenue. The stock market on Wall Street last week reflected how closely the economy's future is tied to what the White House at one end of Pennsylvania Avenue was or wasn't doing, and to what the Congress at the other end of the avenue was or wasn't doing.

REACTIONS OF both Wall Street and Pennsylvania Avenue to the airline strike and the steel price hike showed how neatly balanced right now the economy is, as labor and management move into position for a possible showdown on wages and prices. The market rarely was more sensitive to political policies affecting the economy.

Stock prices dipped to a two-year low Tuesday as Wall Street reacted to the airline machinists' rejection of a White House-approved wage offer that was considerably above the administration's over-all wage guidelines. Stock traders interpreted this action to mean that wage demands would grow in other industries, production costs would rise, the government might still try to keep a lid on prices, profits would be pinched, and stocks would be less attractive as investments.

THEN AFTER the market closed Tuesday, the steel industry made its first move to raise prices. Stock prices boomed Wednesday.

The thinking of Wall Street traders was that if both wages and prices were to rise—and if this spread to other industries, as seemed likely—the resulting inflation would boost stock prices along with other prices.

The stock market boom continued Thursday and Friday when the White House gave little indication of doing anything to force steel companies to rescind the price hike—as it had on previous occasions. But after the stock market closed Friday, President Johnson said without mentioning steel that a general inflationary price rise might cause a cut in spending for the space program.

TO WALL STREET the political news of the week seemed to spell inflation. The market closed Friday on that note.

The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed Friday, July 29, at 847.38, the low for 1966. The airline strikers' rejection of the White House-approved wage agreement sent Monday's close down to 835.18 and Tuesday's to a new low of 832.57, lowest since August, 1964.

BUT THE STEEL price increase—and particularly the growing belief that it might stick—sent prices up sharply Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The Dow-Jones industrial index closed Friday, August 5, at 852.39. This three-day rise of 19.82 points was credited almost entirely to the steel price news, and the implications of a wage-price spiral in the airline strike news.

Finally Found It
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gene Garrett of Monroeville received a ring of keys which his father, a former state legislator, died 10 years ago.
 He found the lock for each key except one, but he has finally solved the mystery.
 Garrett was elected to the House of Representatives and discovered that the last key opens the desk occupied by his father, and which he now occupies.

Kids Started It
ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP)—Lavinia Tackett's seventh-grade class at Central Junior High School thought it would be nice to send Christmas gifts to soldiers in Viet Nam.
 From that start, a community club has been organized—with 30 members ranging in age from 13 to 82—which sends letters of support to American fighting men in Viet Nam.

Pat, Luci In Bahamas For A Week

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Patrick and Luci Johnson Nugent were honeymooning today at a spacious and secluded waterfront villa.

The President's daughter, who wore dark glasses, and her husband, using the name "Mr. and Mrs. Frisbee," went practically unrecognized on the jet airliner they took from New York Sunday along with six other honeymoon couples.

RECOGNIZED

At Kennedy Airport only one man, seeing them pass by, turned to his wife and said, "There's Luci Johnson."

Preceded by two Secret Service men, Pat and Luci were the last passengers to board the plane at Kennedy and the first to leave the Pan American flight when it touched down here. A waiting white limousine whisked them away to "Capricorn," the $250,000 home of Mrs. Rebekah Harkness-Kean, socially prominent philanthropist.

On the 2½-hour flight, the Nugents sat in the first-class section next to newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Larry Buczkowski of Pittsburgh. The Buczkowskis later said they did not recognize the Nugents. The five other couples rode in the economy section.

After the couple were driven to the villa, a chain was quickly placed across the drive. "Capricorn" is about eight miles west of Nassau, on the western side of New Providence Island some three miles from Lyford Cay, famous millionaire's resort. Thick foliage borders the estate on three sides and on the fourth is a private, white sand beach.

FIGHTING

On the other side of the world, while his brother was marrying Luci in Washington Saturday, Lt. Gerard Nugent, 24, of the U. S. Marine Corps slept on a canvas cot amid the boom of artillery near Hill 65, Viet Nam. Sunday was Lt. Nugent's first wedding anniversary. Two weeks after his marriage he was off to Okinawa and then to Viet Nam. He has about one more month in Viet Nam and already has orders to report to Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The reassignment reportedly was made before Marine Corps officers had any idea of the impending marriage of Pat and Luci.

TOURS AGAIN

Back in Washington the White House, which had been closed to tourists since Thursday afternoon because of the hectic wedding preparations, was being spruced up for public tours today. It usually is closed to tourists on Mondays as well as Sundays.

President and Mrs. Johnson attended church services Sunday at the National City Christian Church. Mrs. Johnson appeared somewhat fatigued and the President skipped his usual handshaking among the crowd outside the church.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent, left the White House to drive to their home in Waukegan, Ill.

NO WORD

There was no official word on whether the multitude of wedding gifts received by Luci and Pat would remain at the White House or be shipped to Austin, Tex., where the couple has rented a duplex.

Pat and Luci apparently will stay at the villa for a week. Their airline tickets indicated they plan to visit Eleuthera Island next Sunday. Eleuthera is 50 miles east of New Providence.

Col. Frantz At 14th AF Meet

Lt. Col. Mount E. Frantz, director, base medical services, is in San Antonio this weekend at a convention marking the 18th anniversary of the 14th Air Force Association.

Lt. Gen. C. L. Chennault is the honorary president of the association.

Col. Frantz was stationed in China from 1943 until 1947 with a Chinese-American composite wing of the China Air Task Force. He attended the first meeting of the 14th Air Force Association in 1949, and is a charter member of the organization.

Long, Hungry Boys Continue Streak

CLEVELAND (AP) — These long, lean, hungry golf pros may have found a new formula to menace stonbroys Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

Two weeks ago, Al Geiberger, a stringbean, 6-foot-2 1/2, 165-pounder, munched on peanut butter and jelly sandwiches for nourishment and went on to capture the PGA championship.

Sunday, slender R. H. (Dick) Sikes, who looks like he couldn't stand up to a good wind, captured the $100,000 Cleveland Open by three strokes with a score of 268.

The 6-foot-1, 155-pound, three-year pro from Springdale, Ark., admitted later that he had been taking vitamin pills the last two weeks to build up his strength.

VITAMIN PILLS
"There's no question the pills helped. Maybe that's why I won. I have been having trouble getting enough to eat and felt a little weak out there today," Sikes said.

Sponsored by Cleveland Browns' owner Art Modell, the 26-year-old Sikes said he got the pills from Browns trainer Leo Murphy.

The former University of Arkansas golf ace entered the final round one stroke back of veteran Bob Goalby. But Sikes, who won the NCAA championship in 1963 and twice was crowned National Public Links King, shot a three-under 68 over the Lakewood country club's par 36-35-71 layout while Goalby slumped to a 72.

It was only the second tour victory in three years for Sikes, who had finished second in two other events this season. He rang up rounds of 69-68-63-65 on the way to his impressive 16-under-par triumph.

TWO BIRDSIES
Sikes bogeyed the second hole after driving behind a cedar tree but got even with Goalby with a birdy on No. 6 and went ahead to stay with another birdie on the ninth.

He also birdied No. 11 and locked it up with a 25-foot putt on the 16th for his final bird.

The $20,000 first prize swelled his 1966 winnings to $85,000 while Goalby, from Belleville, Ill., had to settle for the $12,000 runner-up check.

Don January, who posted one of the day's hottest rounds with a 66, finished third on a 274 total while Julius Boros and Bobby Nichols tied for fourth with 275.

Nicklaus needed 70 strokes and finished in a seven-way tie for 13th at 278; Palmer shot a 74 and closed in a five-way knot for 25th at 280, and U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, the tour's leading money-winner, dropped out after posting a 40 on the front nine.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Final scores and money of the leaders in the $100,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament: R. H. Sikes, $20,000; Bob Goalby, $12,000; Don January, $7,500; Julius Boros, $4,500; Bobby Nichols, $4,500; Kermit Zarley, $3,000; Tommy Bolt, $3,000; Al Geiberger, $2,250; Loren Harris, $2,250; Gene Littler, $2,250.

Greenbelt Team Begins Practice
Forty-four football players arrive today to open practice for the Greenbelt Bowl game.

The 17th annual contest is scheduled Saturday night with Floyd Gass and Bill Long of Austin College coaching the East and Grant Teaff and Charles Fornes of McMurry the West.

Both squads have Oklahoma players on them. Otherwise the teams will be made up of West Texas schoolboys.

Raymond Ater of Idalou and Joe Griffin of Bowie will quarterback the East. The West will have Richard Puckett of Winters and Bobby Watson of Haskell.

Morton's Drops Pair To Conoco
Morton Food of Big Spring tasted the bitter gall of double defeat Saturday evening by Abilene Conoco.

The locals dropped the first one after a disputed call in the sixth, but it really made no difference because a seven run outburst by Conoco an inning earlier.

Morton's nursed a lead in the nightcap until Abilene tied in the sixth on a pair of hits. Then the two teams locked in a scoreless tangle until a walk and two hits off tiring Thebert Camp, who had gone all the way, gave Conoco the victory. Sarge had three hits and Cox two for Big Spring. Rogers, who knocked in the winning run, had four for five to get

Linda Cathey Beats Three State Records At Santone

Linda Cathey, Big Spring's rising young swimming star, broke three state records in the Texas Swimming and Division meet at San Antonio over the weekend.

Ironically, she grabbed only one first place, so beaten was the competition. She also missed qualifying for the nationals by only a couple of seconds.

She won the trophy, for which boys and girls both compete, as the outstanding swimmer of the meet. The inscription noted that it was for "sportsmanship and for outstanding competitive spirit."

Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cathey, competed under the Big Spring banner.

She took first place in the 200-meter breast stroke with a time of 3:03.3, shaving nearly a second off the old record of 3:04.2.

Linda also broke the record in the 200 individual medley with 2:43.1, which was a second under the old record of 2:44.1. Marsha Anderson, Houston, won this with 2:42.7.

Linda was third in the 100 meter breast stroke, and again her time of 1:25.9 bested the previous record of 1:26.2 Jackie Oberdorf, Houston, won with a 1:25.4.

The Big Spring lass placed fourth in the 200-meter free style with a time of 2:30.5, which was well off the record of 2:25.7.

This weekend Linda plans to compete in the swim meet at Tyler.

Jesse Zapata, who had singled and stole second, scored on Tim Arista's single in the first. From there on it was scoreless ball until the bottom of the eighth, although the Redlegs threatened in the fifth. Snyder loaded the bases with none out. S. Hernandez fled to center for an apparent RBI, but the runner left third too soon.

When Alanis threw the ball into left field, attempting to get the head man on a double steal, Zapata backed up the play and his throw enabled Alanis to tag the runner at the plate.

In the eighth, J. Rosas drew a walk, and Arista, trying for a shoestring catch, over-ran S. Hernandez short fly to right. It went for a triple and tied the score. Abe Gonzales, who came on in relief, appeared about out of the woods when R. Valdez's winning bunt down the third base line scored Hernandez. The Tigers got two men on in the ninth but could not score. This left the Tigers with a 8-7 season record.

STRANGLER LEWIS, LEGENDARY CHAMPION WRESTLER, DIES

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Ed (Strangler) Lewis, who achieved professional wrestling fame during the 1920s as a man-wrecking powerhouse, spent the last 25 years of his life teaching young boys to build their lives on a firm religious foundation.

Lewis, whose real name was Robert H. Friedrich, died here Sunday in a Veterans Administration hospital following an extended illness. He was 76.

He was a huge, barrel-chested man whose neck was larger than most men's thighs. And he ruled the heavyweight wrestling ring from 1920 until 1932, when he lost his title to Gus Sonnenberg, a former Dartmouth All-America football player.

In a professional wrestling career which spanned 44 years, Lewis earned more than $3 million and lost only 33 of his 6,200 matches. He earned one of wrestling's biggest purses on the Sonnenberg bout. His take was $25,000.

Lewis became devoutly religious after temporarily losing his eyesight because of trachoma during the height of his career.

Cardinals Rally To Beat Odessa

The Sacred Heart Cardinals, trailing 0-1 in the fourth inning, rallied on the strength of Avel Ramirez' triple and beat the Odessa Dorados, 4-1.

The week before the Odessa's had nosed out the Big Spring Tigers. Odessa took the lead in the top of the first when G. Vasquez singled and came home on Mendoza's single.

In the fourth, with two away, Fierro singled. Cadenhead walked and Ramirez slammed a triple. He came in a moment later on Olague's single. Hank Pope, who was the winning pitcher, scored the final run in the seventh when he doubled and came in on Ribio's single.

Pope was tough all the way, limiting Odessa to six scattered hits, striking out 10. Mata, losing pitcher, also allowed six hits but he could only whiff three— all of them at F. Martinez's expense.

Snyder Trips Tigers, 2-1

The Big Spring Tigers have some sort of close-margin hex, for Sunday they lost a 2-1 baseball contest to the Snyder Redlegs in Snyder. The week before they dropped one to Odessa 4-2.

For a time it appeared that the Tiger's lone one in the first would stand up, but Snyder crowded over two runs in the eighth to win it.

Jesse Zapata, who had singled and stole second, scored on Tim Arista's single in the first. From there on it was scoreless ball until the bottom of the eighth, although the Redlegs threatened in the fifth. Snyder loaded the bases with none out. S. Locals Place In Swim Meet

Big Spring swimmers ran into a hornet's nest of competition in Midland's 19th annual swimming and diving meet last weekend, but the young swimmers fared reasonably well.

Twenty-two teams, including those from Wichita, Kans., Indianapolis, Ind., from Phoenix, Ariz., and Denver, Colo., participated.

Carrie Bizzell, in the 13-14-year-old division, won second in the 100 meter back stroke, fifth in the 100 meter free style, seventh in the 200 meter free style. She also won fifth in the women's senior 50-meter free style.

Linda Tyldesley, in the 15-17-year division, won second in the 400 meter free style, third in the 100 meter fly, fourth in the 100 meter back stroke, and eighth in the 200 meter individual medley. She also took fourth in the 200 meter back and 400 meter free style and fifth in the 100 meter free style in the open class.

Bob Tyldesley captured fifth in the men's open 200 meter fly event and eighth in the 50 meter free style. In the 15-17 year division, he had seventh in the 50 meter free style and eighth in the 200 meter individual medley.

Bill Bortner, also in the 15-17-year class, had fifth in the 100 meter back stroke event.

The girls team composed of Nancy Bortner, Sherry Dickson, Carrie Blizell and Linda Tyldesley, placed seventh in the 400 meter free relay.

Roseboro Hands Headaches To Skidding Houston Club

By The Associated Press
John Roseboro objected to aspirin tablets, so now he's giving National League pitchers headaches.

Roseboro handed out some headaches as the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced Houston 14-3 and took over the league lead for the second straight Sunday.

The Dodgers, who had fallen from the top after moving into first place last Sunday, grabbed over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to Cincinnati 9-7, and a three-point margin over the San Francisco Giants, who downed Chicago 9-6.

Roseboro contributed three hits to the Dodgers' 20-hit onslaught and scored three runs. The performance was typical of those the veteran catcher has been having since he decided pre-game batting practice was for other guys.

"I used to hit, hit and hit some more in the cage," Roseboro explained. "I would have my timing down perfect. Then I would go into the game and it was no good. After batting practice lollipops, pitches in the game looked like aspirin tablets."

As far as the Dodgers are concerned, Roseboro's hitting — since he kicked the batting practice habits — has been sweeter than a lollipop.

Through May 31, the 33-year-old Roseboro batted .240. Since then, without the aid of pre-game hitting, he has hit .348, bringing his season average up to .310, by far the best on the team.

That's not bad for a player whose lifetime average is .245.

In other NL games, Atlanta blanked Philadelphia 3-0 and St. Louis and New York split a pair of 4-1 games.

Another Johnson, Cincinnati's Deron, helped drop Pittsburgh from first place. He drove in four runs, including three with a six-inning double that proved decisive. Roberto Clemente drove in five Pirate runs, lashing two singles and two homers.

San Francisco rallied for four runs in the seventh inning, the last two on Cap Peterson's single, in stopping a three-game losing streak. The rally wiped out Chicago's 4-3 lead and helped Gaylord Perry gain his 17th victory against two defeats.

Tony Cloninger pitched a five-hitter against Philadelphia. The Braves' hurler also doubled home a run in the seventh. Rico Carty homered for Atlanta in the second.

Tim McCarver's two-run homer in the sixth powered St. Louis past New York in the opener. Bob Gibson won his 14th game with nine-inning relief from Hal Woodeshick.

The Mets came back in the second game behind a pair of run-scoring singles by Ron Swoboda. Jack Fisher stymied the Cardinals on six hits.

Ken McMullen's three-run homer gave the punch to Washington's four-run sixth inning that got the Senators past the front-running Orioles. Pete Richter gave up nine hits to the Birds, but two were homers by Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair.

Wayne Causey tripled in two runs in the 10th for Chicago as the White Sox scored four extra-inning runs in their victory over California.

Fred Whitfield, who lives for Yankee pitching, hit two homers and drove in four runs in Cleveland's first victory over New York, and Rocky Colavito contributed the winning two-run double in the eighth inning of the nightcap. Chuck Hinton had five hits, including a homer, in the two games.

Don Mincher's two runs batted in gave Minnesota the opening-game victory, and Dick Green's pair propelled Kansas City to the nightcap triumph.

Bill's Kicker Has Big Day
The Buffalo Bills' new shoe may turn out to be a perfect fit and the San Francisco 49ers' quarterback may be sitting pretty, but how far can the Cleveland Browns expect to go on a 42-year-old toe?

Booth Lusteg, heir apparent to Pete Gogolak as Buffalo's place-kicking specialist, booted the American Football League champions to a 19-13 exhibition victory over the Boston Patriots Sunday.

Meanwhile, San Francisco's John Brodie, who ended a hold-out last Wednesday by signing a long-term contract reportedly in the neighborhood of $750,000, watched from the bench as the 49ers bowed to the Dallas Cowboys 24-13 in a National Football League pre-season test.

Saturday, 15-year veteran Lou Groza accounted for Cleveland's only points with two field goals as the Browns, making their initial start without Jimmy Brown in the backfield, took a 16-6 beating from the Los Angeles Rams in an NFL warm-up.

Lusteg kicked field goals from 18, 28, 42 and 47 yards out and converted after rookie Allen Smith sent the Bills in front with a three-yard scoring plunge in the fourth quarter.

In other NFL games St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 20-10, Philadelphia shelled Chicago 40-21, New York edged Pittsburgh 16-14 and Minnesota battled Detroit to a 6-6 standoff.

San Francisco (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys, their first victory of the season in the bag, look toward Los Angeles, where they will play the Rams next Saturday night.

The offense and defense shared in effectiveness Sunday as the Cowboys won their first exhibition game 24-13 over the San Francisco 49ers.

Don Meredith passed for two touchdowns and set up the other while Mike Gaechter was instrumental in two of them.

Meredith passed to Pete Gent for 10 yards and 43 yards to get touchdowns. Gaechter intercepted a George Mira pass and ran it to the San Francisco 31 to get the Cowboys moving for one score. He recovered a fumble on the 49er 13 to set up the last Dallas touchdown.

Meredith's 12-yard pass to Bob Hayes on the San Francisco one and a plunge by Dan Reeves brought it.

Danny Villanueva kicked a 40-yard field goal for the other Dallas score.

Mira passed five yards to Francisco touchdown. Tommy Davis kicked field goals of 24 and 14 yards.

Mel Renfro, the former defensive star, was making his start at running back for Dallas, looked very good.

Willie Horton's Hot Bat Saves Game For Tigers

By The Associated Press
There are some things Willie Horton depends on his wife for. Such as knowing his batting average or how much money he makes.

But there are other things he has to handle himself. Such as breaking out of hitting slumps.

Horton, who has two home runs, six hits and six runs batted in during Detroit's doubleheader split with Boston Sunday, contends he never reads the papers and never sees his paychecks.

"I don't even know what I was batting before the games," Willie said afterwards. His wife should be able to tell him if she reads the small type today though; it appears in the Top 10 for the first time this season.

Sunday, Horton started hitting in the beginning of Detroit's opening-game 9-2 victory over Boston, and the Sox' 7-6 overnight triumph in the nightcap wasn't safe until Willie had been doubled off second on a sensational play by catcher Mike Ryan.

When the dust had lifted in Tiger Stadium, it was determined that Willie, who had started off the season as if last year's All-Star performance was just a dream, was hitting a hefty .286, good for ninth in the American League. His 67 runs batted in were good for fourth in the league, and Sunday's two homers gave him 17.

In other American League games, Washington beat Baltimore 6-2, Chicago beat California 9-8 in 10 innings, Cleveland won a doubleheader from New York 6-4 and 5-3 and Minneapolis split a pair with Kansas City, winning 2-1 and bowing 4-2.

Ken McMullen's three-run homer gave the punch to Washington's four-run sixth inning that got the Senators past the front-running Orioles. Pete Richter gave up nine hits to the Birds, but two were homers by Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair.

Wayne Causey tripled in two runs in the 10th for Chicago as the White Sox scored four extra-inning runs in their victory over California.

Fred Whitfield, who lives for Yankee pitching, hit two homers and drove in four runs in Cleveland's first victory over New York, and Rocky Colavito contributed the winning two-run double in the eighth inning of the nightcap. Chuck Hinton had five hits, including a homer, in the two games.

Don Mincher's two runs batted in gave Minnesota the opening-game victory, and Dick Green's pair propelled Kansas City to the nightcap triumph.

Bill's Kicker Has Big Day
The Buffalo Bills' new shoe may turn out to be a perfect fit and the San Francisco 49ers' quarterback may be sitting pretty, but how far can the Cleveland Browns expect to go on a 42-year-old toe?

Booth Lusteg, heir apparent to Pete Gogolak as Buffalo's place-kicking specialist, booted the American Football League champions to a 19-13 exhibition victory over the Boston Patriots Sunday.

Meanwhile, San Francisco's John Brodie, who ended a hold-out last Wednesday by signing a long-term contract reportedly in the neighborhood of $750,000, watched from the bench as the 49ers bowed to the Dallas Cowboys 24-13 in a National Football League pre-season test.

Saturday, 15-year veteran Lou Groza accounted for Cleveland's only points with two field goals as the Browns, making their initial start without Jimmy Brown in the backfield, took a 16-6 beating from the Los Angeles Rams in an NFL warm-up.

Lusteg kicked field goals from 18, 28, 42 and 47 yards out and converted after rookie Allen Smith sent the Bills in front with a three-yard scoring plunge in the fourth quarter.

In other NFL games St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 20-10, Philadelphia shelled Chicago 40-21, New York edged Pittsburgh 16-14 and Minnesota battled Detroit to a 6-6 standoff.

San Francisco (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys, their first victory of the season in the bag, look toward Los Angeles, where they will play the Rams next Saturday night.

The offense and defense shared in effectiveness Sunday as the Cowboys won their first exhibition game 24-13 over the San Francisco 49ers.

Don Meredith passed for two touchdowns and set up the other while Mike Gaechter was instrumental in two of them.

Meredith passed to Pete Gent for 10 yards and 43 yards to get touchdowns. Gaechter intercepted a George Mira pass and ran it to the San Francisco 31 to get the Cowboys moving for one score. He recovered a fumble on the 49er 13 to set up the last Dallas touchdown.

Meredith's 12-yard pass to Bob Hayes on the San Francisco one and a plunge by Dan Reeves brought it.

Danny Villanueva kicked a 40-yard field goal for the other Dallas score.

Mira passed five yards to Francisco touchdown. Tommy Davis kicked field goals of 24 and 14 yards.

Mel Renfro, the former defensive star, was making his start at running back for Dallas, looked very good.

MR. AND MRS. GLYNN CAUGHMAN

Newlyweds To Live In Alpine

Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Caughman are on a wedding trip to San Antonio and San Marcos following their wedding July 30 in the Church of Christ at Knippa. Ted McElroy, minister of the Church of Christ at Uvalde, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Caughman is the former Miss Peggy Annell Reagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reagan Jr. of Knippa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Caughman of Ackery.

The vows were exchanged before an altar graced with sunburst arrangements of gladioli flanked by candelabra and commandore trees.

Vocalists were Mrs. J. B. Hutson, Miss Pat Hutson, Mrs. R. A. Hicks and Kenny Knight who sang "Because," "Two Shall Be One" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace over silk illusion and peau de soie. The mold-ered bodice featured a scooped neckline and long sleeves and was fashioned to create a jacket effect. A bow of illusion and peau de soie at the waistline accented the pleat in the front of the white, floor-length skirt. Her veil was held by a bow of illusion and peau de soie centered with iridescent and crystals.

Carried atop a white Bible, the wedding bouquet was of white carnations and stephanotis tied with tulle and picot streamers.

Mrs. O. R. Deans of San Angelo was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Zinsmeister and Miss Barbara Boone of Uvalde. The three attendants were dressed identically in peach-colored gowns with scooped necklines and full, gathered skirts accented with bows at the waistlines. Their headpieces were matching bows, and each carried a single tangerine carnation.

The bridegroom's brother, Jerry Caughman of Austin was best man, and ushers were Larry Reagan, brother of the bride, and Terry Jones of Uvalde, her cousin. They lighted the altar candles.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a yellow silk shantung suit with matching accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Knippa High School and Southwest Texas Junior College at Uvalde, is a senior at Sul Ross State College in Alpine. She is a member of the Religious Club and Student Education Association. The bridegroom graduated from Flower Grove High School and Howard County Junior College. He is also a senior at Sul Ross and a member of the Student Education Association. The couple will reside in Alpine while continuing their education.

The couple was honored with a reception in the Rodney Reagan residence at Knippa.

A LOVELIER YOU

Good Reasons For Wearing Sunglasses

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely writes: What would cause my eyes to burn and puff up after a day spent outdoors? To answer the question with a question: Do you wear sunglasses while outdoors? Long exposures to sun, wind and glare put a strain on the eyes that can cause a burning sensation, reddening and a temporary decrease of night vision. Exposed to sun and heat, the lids tend to puff.

Sunglasses help to prevent all those reactions. If you sail, golf or motor, with the top down, wrap-around sunglasses would prove especially helpful. For they keep out the wind as well as the sun.

Perhaps you have the idea that sunglasses are merely a fad. Well, you will change your mind when you stop to think that they are standard issue to pilots and the military. Feminine sunglasses have acquired fashion value only because they are necessary equipment and might as well be attractive.

But, although you are a faithful wearer, your eyes may tire after a long day in the open. Relief comes from herbal or chilled witch hazel compresses. The same treatment reduces any swelling.

But hear this: Do have a doctor's check, if you have a persistent or undue reaction. You may need prescription sunglasses or other medical treatment. If you find yourself squinting you need a check-up for sure.

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, "The Eyes of Youth." To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Ears Hot? Use Match Covers

Dear Heloise: For the lucky gal with a portable hair dryer... Empty two "penny" match covers. Slip the small boxes over the ears, under the bonnet. Then dry away without frying your ears. Also, a layer of cotton, placed under the last row of rollers or pins at the neck, and held in place with the elastic of the bonnet provides a shield for the neck... Mary Becker

HELOISE

And if you put a strip of cotton (or a facial tissue folded into a strip) under the elastic of the hood across your forehead, you can prevent that mark you usually find when you remove the hood... Heloise

Dear Heloise: I use a very few dishes at each meal, so...

On busy days I wash the cooking utensils, but the other dishes I rinse well and store under the sink in a pan filled with water.

I can wash dishes once a day at night, and yet not have a disorderly kitchen.

It takes little more time and no extra soap flakes to do an entire day's dishes all at once... Mrs. W.E.C.

Dear Heloise: Screwdrivers for large screws used to have big wooden handles, but most of the present-day plastic handles are too small to allow a good grip.

When my husband complained of a sore hand, I found a crutch tip to put over the end of the handle of his screwdriver.

It gives a larger grip to spread out the pressure, better leverage, and prevents the blisters... Doris Bowman

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: I don't expect you to take this seriously but thought you might find it amusing.

My husband doesn't care for the strong taste of raw onion, although he enjoys it cooked.

However, when he came across some crisp, chopped onion in a dish that I'd prepared, he remarked, "Why don't you write to Heloise and tell her to have wives string chopped onion on a length of thread — so that those of us who don't like it can simply yank it out?"... Mrs. Paul D. Burian

Dear Heloise: As most people over 65 are getting their Medicare cards that are supposed to last the rest of their lives, it behooves them to take good care of the card.

If they will wrap a piece of plastic wrap around the card and secure it in the back with transparent adhesive-backed tape, the card can easily be read and will not get torn or dirty.

I also made an extra copy in case mine got lost... N.G.Y.

This is also a good way to protect your Social Security card or driver's license... Heloise

Dear Heloise: The other day I bought some bathroom deodorant cakes, but when I got home they were broken. So out came the good old nylon net!

I put the deodorizer in a pocket of the net, and attached the net to the original wire hangers. It works fine and is using up that mark you usually find when you remove the hood... A Reader

Dear Heloise: Our little girl's bathing suit straps were always sliding off her shoulders.

So I went to the dime store, bought an inexpensive head band to match the suit, and sewed a piece of it between the two straps.

That piece of head band stretches like the suit so it doesn't interfere with putting the suit on and taking it off... Phyllis J. Tipton

Dear Heloise: Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Measure Window Shades

If you are replacing old window shades that fit and hang properly, be sure to take the width measurement from the rollers and not from the shades themselves.

Use a wood or metal yardstick and measure the old rollers from tip to tip, including the metal pins on each end. Then measure the full height of each window from the top of the frame to the sill. And, just to be sure, remind your dealer to allow for adequate "roll over."

Spice, Rice Party Fetes Bride-Elect

Miss Anne Homan, bride-elect of Charles Vincent, was the honoree at a spice and rice party Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. J. C. Pickle, 415 Hillside. Mrs. S. M. Smith was cohostess.

Miss Homan, wearing a two-piece blue cotton dress, was presented a pink nylon pouf corsage centered with a sprig of lily-of-the-valley.

The hostess' gift was a recipe book, and the ten close friends in attendance brought favorite recipes. They prepared rice bags to be used at the wedding on Aug. 14 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Refreshments were served from an antique polished table centered with a hibiscus blossom floating in a crystal tray and surrounded with green ivy.

Blue napkins, monogrammed with the names of the engaged couple, completed the room decor. Mrs. Harold Homan, mother of the bride-elect, was an honored guest.

High Tallies In Duplicate At Cosden

Seven tables were in play at the Friday afternoon duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club.

North-south winners were Mrs. A. Swartz and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, first; Mrs. Joe Steyer and Mrs. Hayden Griffith, second; and Mrs. Travis Reed and Mrs. Carl Blomshield, third.

East-west winners were Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, first; Mrs. Glen Cox and Mrs. J. C. Greenhaw, second; and Mrs. Roy Worley and Mrs. Fred Kasch, third.

Players were reminded that the Wednesday game will be for Master Points.

Four tables were in play for the duplicate games held Sunday at Cosden Country Club. Winners were Mrs. Swartz and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, first; Mrs. Griffith and Mrs. Rogers Healey, second; and Mrs. Kasch and Mrs. Wally Slate, third.

Players were reminded that Master Point games will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

Fasten Patterns With Thin Pins

Thin needles used to fasten pattern pieces will not leave as large holes in the material as do pins. This is important on fine materials such as silk and satin.

Glasscock 4-H Dress Revue Held Saturday

A summer fashion theme was followed in the Glasscock County 4-H dress revue held Saturday in the school cafeteria at Garden City.

Blue ribbon dresses were modeled by Karen Hoelscher, Barbara Hoelscher, Karen Schwendler, Jan Underwood, Kathy Pendley, Cathy Batla, Jan Hirt, Rozanne Hirt, Linda Balla, Jeanie Worst, Phyllis Johnson, Shirley Schwartz, Elaine Jansa and Jan Jost. Red ribbon winners were Kay Schraeder, Betty Smith, Antoinette Schraeder and Dinell Hart.

Danna Werst was narrator for the show. Mrs. Horace Underwood, assisted by Jan Underwood, Jeanie Worst, Betty Smith and Kathy Pendley, served refreshments during the social hour.

Karen Hoelscher was selected to represent the county at the District Dress Revue to be held in Kermit Aug. 10.

Judges for the Glasscock show were Pauline McWilliams, home demonstration agent for Midland County, Cathy Hazlewood and Cindy Pickett of Stanton. Mrs. Mildred Eiland, Glasscock home demonstration agent, awarded the ribbons.

For an extra frilly room for young daughter, use white, permanent-finished organza curtains with wide eye-let ruffles. In center of the top, place a bow of satin ribbon to match the color scheme of the room. Let bedspread be a plain one to match the color of ribbon overlaid with an eyelet ruffled organza one.

Washable Boots Save Footwear

It's rolling around to muddy-shoe-time again. You can protect your shoes and keep your feet dry, too, while working in your garden, by wearing weatherproof garden boots. They are completely washable, made of clear plastic and can be worn with or without shoes.

Local Pair Wins Tourney Honors

Local players starred at the American Contract Bridge League's Summer National Tournament in Denver, Colo. In the nine-day tournament, ending Sunday, seven major titles and several lesser ones were decided.

In the Ski Country Pairs, a one-session championship with 206 tables, Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. E. L. Powell, both of Big Spring, won top score in their section and placed third overall.
