

Charged In Smashing Car

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A young Dallas man was under a charge today in connection with the smashing of police squad car as the officer attempted to quell a disturbance.

Jerry Wayne Pyle was charged with malicious destruction of property over the value of $50. Conviction of the offense carries a 2-20 year prison term.

The charge was the latest in a series stemming from youth outbreaks at or near drive-in eating places.

The Dallas City Council and police department are studying recommendations ranging from publishing names of juvenile offenders to increasing the amount of bonds in an attempt to stall further incidents.

2-A Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., Aug. 10, 1966

Zale And Levine Propose Merger

DALLAS — The proposed acquisition by Zale Corporation of the business and assets of Levine's Inc., has been agreed to in principle by the executive committee of Zale and the board of directors of Levine's, officials of both Dallas-based firms announced.

Morris B. Zale, chairman, and Ben A. Lipshy, president, of Zale and William Levine, chairman, and Morris Levine, president, of Levine's said the companies are working out the details of a definitive agreement for a tax-free acquisition which would satisfy various financial and legal requirements. It would then be submitted to the stockholders at special meetings to be called as soon as practicable.

Under terms of the proposed reorganization, Levine's shareholders would receive 50 shares of Zale common stock, $1 par value, and 28 shares of a new 10 per cent convertible preferred stock, $25 par value, for each 100 shares of Levine's common stock, $4 par value. The new preferred would be created by the shareholders of Zale, with each share convertible into .9091 share of Zale common stock. Zale would issue approximately 354,500 common shares and 198,500 preferred shares for all of the 709,027 Levine shares outstanding.

At current market prices, the transaction would involve between $13 million and $14 million. Closing prices at the first of the week were $24 per Zale share and $15 per Levine's share. Both stocks are listed on the American Exchange.

Heart Aid Working Well

HOUSTON (AP) — A young, alert Mexico City woman lay in a Methodist Hospital intensive care unit early today, continuing to progress as an assistant heart methodically pumped her blood.

Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez, 37, identified by the hospital for the first time Tuesday, was cheerful and able to speak after the previous day's surgery for the mechanical heart pump.

An advisory issued Tuesday afternoon said the temporary device, technically known as a left ventricular bypass, was contributing "about 40 per cent of the heart's output."

The pump was taking on a decreasing amount of work, the hospital said, adding that the device was functioning well.

Continuing to progress satisfactorily, Mrs. Vasquez was able to receive a visit from members of her family Tuesday afternoon.

She is the fifth person in the nation to receive an artificial heart pump and the second woman. All previous such patients, including two men at Methodist Hospital, have died.

The pump, designed to let the heart rest and heal while the device does most of the work, was reportedly modified considerably for this operation. It is thought that the pump is entirely outside the patient, except for tubes connecting it to the heart through slits in the chest.

In the previous operations the device was partially implanted in the chest.

Presumably, the present pump would be easier to detach when no longer needed. The device is not intended as a total or permanent replacement, but merely as a short-term helper.

So far, the hospital was reported no complications following the 3½ hour surgery.

City Votes Inquiry Into 'Community House' Issue

City commissioners agreed Tuesday to send a letter of inquiry to Jerry Worthington asking what his "final, ultimate use" of the boarding house for former mental patients he plans to build will be. This action came after a group of 25 residents who live near Sixteenth and Bell told commissioners the property will be used as an adjunct to the state hospital.

Floyd Young, 1306 Bell, gave a statement on the position of his group, known as the Neighborhood Protection Committee, to the commissioners.

"If you can do something, we need your help," the statement read. "If you cannot help us now, you can re-examine our family ordinance."

Young, it stated, "made numerous efforts to determine exactly what was being constructed on the site which would be the 'Community House.' The builder, Jerry Worthington, was never able to explain. Finally, early last week, Worthington said it was to be a house for patients from the Big Spring State Hospital. He had earlier implied that it was an out-patient hospital for Medicare patients.

When Mr. Young asked Mr. Worthington why he had not told the truth from the beginning, Mr. Worthington replied, "I had to bite my tongue . . . I wish I could have . . . but knowing it was a government project, I thought it might be a secret."

The committee stressed it does not oppose the federally-sponsored, $99,000 project—the proposed site. They showed concern for the safety of women and children in the neighborhood.

PERMIT
They also claimed that the project would be in violation of the stated purpose on the building permit the city granted Worthington — that "Community House" would be part of a hospital rather than merely a boarding house, and that the multi-family zoning ordinance does not allow mental hospitals in such zones.

"Whether the building will be used as a boarding house or a mental hospital is a question of fact," John Burgess, city attorney, said. He said it is probable that the question might have to be settled in court.

R. L. Tollett, president of Copden Oil & Chemical Company, stated his support for the proposed construction at the site selected.

"I own a house five blocks from the site," he said. "It's not going to hurt me, or anyone. It is to be a place where 24 people can make a conversion outside of the environment of the state hospital . . . they need the help of every Christian . . . it is our duty to help restore these people to a normal way of life."

After quoting from the 25th chapter of Matthew, Tollett also pointed out that he does not think the site will depress land value nearby, as the NPC claimed, but rather would enhance it.

One member of the audience asked Tollett if he would buy his property right across the street from the proposed center.

"I'll buy it right now at its present assessed value," Tollett replied.

Commissioner Jimmy Morehead said "it's strange that the government appropriated this amount of money ($99,000) and nobody learned about it until just a few days ago."

Shortly afterward, Mayor Ar-old Marshall suggested Worthington be contacted to determine what the actual use of the property will be, and the commission adopted the idea.

Sands Slates Hearing On New Budget

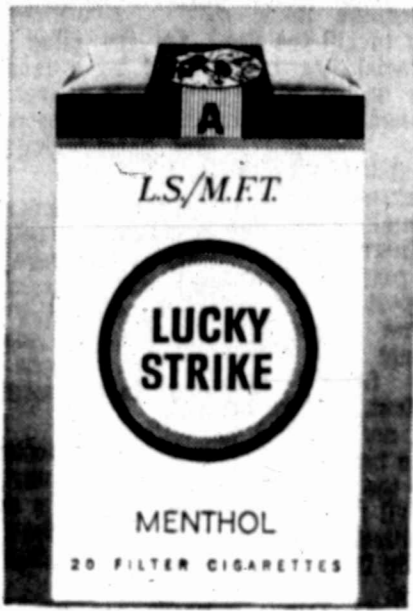

Final public hearing for the Sands schools budget for fiscal 1966-67 will be Aug. 18 at the board room at the high school, according to M. B. Maxwell, superintendent of Sands schools.

Total estimated expenditures for the coming year, he said, is $232,985, based on estimated revenue during the year, $282,351. Last years' expenditures totaled $253,415.

Recommended in the budget:

Administration, $26,000; instruction, $135,250; health services, $2,400; pupil transportation, $24,300; operation of plant, $3,500; maintenance of plant, $19,350; fixed charges, $2,500; total for computing per pupil cost, $213,300; food service, $1,500; student body activities, $1,500; total for all current operational expense, $216,300; capital outlay, $5,000; debt service, $31,685.

Pickup Hit Him Along Roadside

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Will Freeze, 86, of Aransas Pass, died Tuesday night when he was struck by a pickup truck as he walked beside a disabled automobile on Interstate 35 about five miles north of Waco.

Officers said Freeze was a passenger in an automobile which had a flat tire and he apparently stepped onto the highway in front of a pickup truck driven by Jerry Don Keel, 26, Rt. 3, Waco.

Little Theatre Directors Make Production Plans

Directors of the Little Theatre of Big Spring found the going tedious Tuesday evening, as they hop-scotched through a long agenda aimed at getting a new season of plays off the ground and onto the stage.

Tackling the details of an employment agreement with an executive director, the board hammered out the duties and responsibilities of this first employee of the organization, reserving some of the production problems for itself. This contract is to be approved at a later date. In substance, it provides that the executive director will direct and produce the organization's plays in return for half the net profits of a season, with a guarantee of $25 per play. Jack Meeker, a Webb AFB airman, has been employed for the upcoming season.

The annual membership meeting of the theatre organization was set for Sept. 1 in the Prairie Playhouse of City Park. At that time, new directors will be elected, as well as a new slate of officers. All season ticket holders are members.

Mrs. Jack Burnett reported on the summer "children's workshop," evaluating it as generally successful. Financially, the program was wrapped up within the money approved.

Mrs. Norman Spencer, vice president who chaired the meeting, named a committee of four to discuss plans for a similar workshop in the fall. These include Mrs. Burnett, chairman; Mrs. Jim Bill Little, Mrs. Richard Davis and Glenn Cootes.

The annual season membership campaign will begin within the next few days, Mrs. Spencer announced, naming Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith, John Arnold, Mrs. Little, to serve with her on this committee.

At the behest of Meeker, work parties in the State Theatre were called for 7 p.m. Thursday, and 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. A big turnout of workers was urged in order to get the facility ready for the initial play. The painting will be enlarged, and some staging is to be done.

A suggestion to name a casting committee to work with the director in selecting actors for productions was tabled for further study. But after a warm exchange directors gave approval to a motion that will prohibit refreshments in the auditorium area during play presentation.

The list of plays to be offered this season was approved at a previous meeting, Tuesday evening, the directors rubber-stamped Meeker's suggested play dates.

The season will open with "Poor Richard," Sept. 30-Oct. 1. "Dracula," a melodrama, will be staged Nov. 11-12, with perhaps a matinee. The children's play of the year will be "The Wizard of Oz," set for Feb. 10-11 with a matinee. "Holiday for Lovers" will go to the boards April 7-8, and the season will close with "Streetcar Named Desire," May 25-26-27.

DEAR ABBY

Must Make A New Life

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you when I was 14, but didn't take your advice. Believe me, I wish I had. You wouldn't remember my letter, you get so many, but I asked you if I should go back with a boy I'd broken up with and you said no. I did anyway because I was crazy about him. Well, I got pregnant. I wanted to go to a home because I knew I had made one big mistake and didn't want to make another, but my parents thought we should get married. We've been married two years now, and I am the most miserable (I probably didn't spell it right, I had to quit school) girl in the state of Texas.

My husband doesn't want to work steady, he doesn't pay any attention to me or the baby. He runs around with the kids, and there have been times when we haven't had enough to eat. All our money goes to get his car fixed up so he can drag race. I haven't told my mother how unhappy I am. I've caused her so much worry. I can't hurt her any more. Please give me some advice, Abby. This time I'll take it.

SEVENTEEN AND OLD DEAR SEVENTEEN: It won't be easy to finish your education, but if you really want to, you can do it. Encourage your husband to grow up and face up to his responsibilities. Try to build as good a marriage as possible with the material you have.

Most important, confide in your mother. She may not be as surprised as you think. If your marriage is hopeless, perhaps it is better to recognize it now, than 10 years and six babies from now.

DEAR ABBY: Am I disappointed in you! You told the woman who always asks a telephone caller, "Who is calling, please?" that she was correct to ask, because the caller should always identify himself first. Nothing makes me angrier than to have someone ask me, "Who is calling?"

They give the impression that they might not let you talk to your party if your name doesn't suit them. Besides, what's the difference who is calling! If a person is too busy to come to the phone, he is too busy, no matter WHO is calling.

DISAPPOINTED DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Sorry, but everyone should have the privilege of knowing who is calling him before he answers the telephone. And if he doesn't care to answer, that is also his privilege. (It's yours, too.)

DEAR ABBY: I had the same kind of situation as "WANTS ROMANCE," but I didn't just sit around and wait for him to show up. After the third date I came right out and told him what was on my mind, and I asked him if there was something wrong with HIM, or was there something wrong with ME! He said, "Oh, so you want to be kissed!"

Then he kissed me so hard he nearly broke my collar bone. We were married five months later and have been married for nine years, and we have six children. So I guess that proves that honesty is the best policy. "GOT ROMANCE" IN PLANTSVILLE, CONN.

Arabs Hard To Describe

SANAA, Yemen (AP) — No single word can describe them. They are tribal spokesmen and one-man supreme courts, but they are of the lowest caste and live apart from other men.

They can trace the ancestral lineage of a whole tribe, but know nothing of their own origins. They instruct prospective grooms among the tribal nobility how to behave with their brides, but can never marry above their station.

"They" are the Dawshans, a class of Arabs who are indispensable to tribal life in this remote country, most of whose inhabitants are tribesmen.

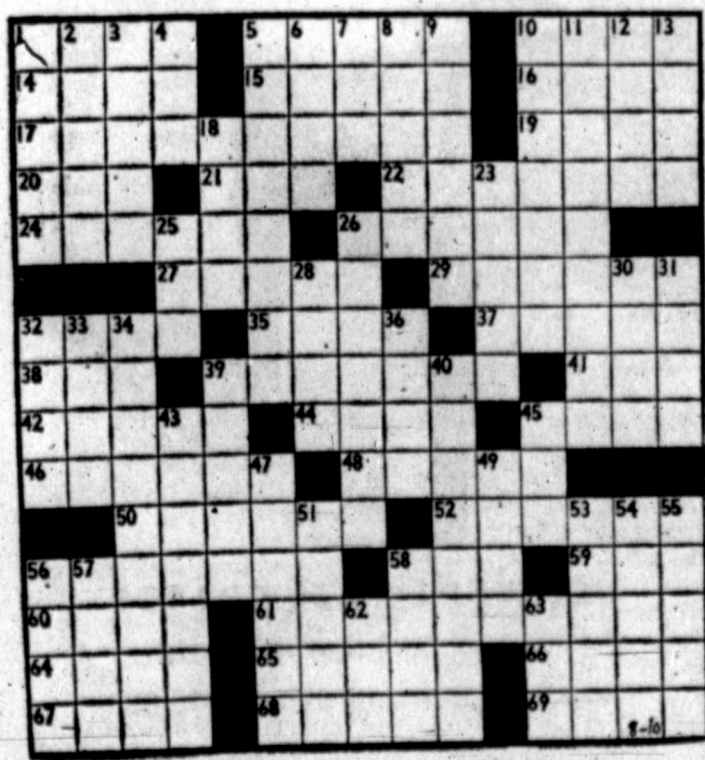

Dawshans is derived from an Arabic word meaning noise, or uproar, but strangely enough, the Dawshans are a quiet people.

Every major tribe employs one or more Dawshans, and despite their low caste, they are highly regarded. The blood money if one of them is murdered, for instance, is set by tribal law at about $33,000, ten times the amount allotted a regular tribesman.

Peace In Outer Space Planned

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union will reach an agreement soon on a treaty pledging peaceful use of outer space, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg predicts.

Goldberg, who has been negotiating the treaty in Geneva, told a news conference about 80 per cent of the treaty has been settled and he hopes a complete text will be worked out in time for approval by the U.N. General Assembly at its session beginning Sept. 20.

An aggressive defense submerged South's four heart contract, when the latter failed to adopt effective countermeasures.

The auction was sound. North's response of one no trump is proper with eight high card points and even distribution. South has 19 points including distribution, and his jump rebid to three hearts urges his partner to carry on at the slightest excuse. North accepted the invitation and carried on to four hearts, inasmuch as his original response might have been based on as little as six points.

West opened the deuce of spades and declarer was confronted with a choice of plays from dummy, depending on whether he believed that his opponent had led from the jack or the king. South made the winning guess by putting in the ten. East covered with the king and declarer played the ace.

The jack of diamonds was led at trick two and passed around to East's queen. The latter realized that it was essential for the defense to develop some club tricks before the ace of diamonds was dislodged. He, therefore, shifted to the eight of clubs. South played the three and West cooperated with his partner by putting on the nine to dislodge dummy's queen.

The king of diamonds was led and East played the ace. On the club return, South's king was trapped under West's ace, and the latter cashed two tricks in the suit to put declarer down by one.

South could have frustrated his opponents' campaign by severing their line of communications. To accomplish this, he must play the king of clubs from his hand when East shifts to that suit at trick three. West is obliged to release his ace. To prevent South from winning two club tricks, and now when he returns the jack to drive out dummy's queen — East follows with his remaining club. When the latter gets in with the ace of diamonds, he is unable to put West in to cash another club trick, and South subsequently discards his loser on North's good diamond.

Wants U.S. Citizenship

Georgia (Mrs. Bruce) Lepper, 24, holds her five-month-old son, Joshua, in her London home as she complains that she has been deprived of her U.S. citizenship because she voted in the British election in March. Mrs. Lepper, who comes from Closter, N.J., and is married to an English sociology student, said the "bombshell" burst when she went to the U.S. Embassy in London to register Joshua's birth. An official told her, she said, she signed away her citizenship by voting. Mrs. Lepper vows to carry her case to the White House, if necessary, to retain it. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Oilmen Get Rebuttal Today

ALBANY, Tex. (AP)—"Good housekeeping methods" by oil-field operators could prevent further pollution of Hubbard Creek Lake, near Breckenridge, witnesses told a Railroad Commission hearing Tuesday.

The hearing, which was expected to conclude today, involves 102 oil leases in water-flood projects located in a 38.5-square mile area west and northwest of here.

Salt water is entering Hubbard Creek Lake, the commission said. The hearing is to give some oil operators in the area an opportunity to show cause why their water-flood operations should not be suspended.

Testimony from the West Central Texas Municipal Water District which has jurisdiction over the lake comprised most of Tuesday's hearing.

The area involved in the hearing covers 4.3 per cent of the drainage area of Hubbard Creek Lake and provides 4.3 per cent of the runoff, Leon S. Hughes, an employee of the U.S. Geological Survey in Austin, said Tuesday.

"The area contributes 29.8 per cent of the chloride discharge into Hubbard Creek Lake," he said.

Tests of the water are made for various organizations such as water districts and the Texas Highway Department, said Trigg Twitchell, also an employee of the USGS.

Seven testing stations, he said, are in operation on the Hubbard Creek watershed.

The president of the West Central Texas Municipal Water District, John A. Wright of Abilene, said the district exists to provide an adequate supply of high quality water for the municipal use of Abilene, Albany, Anson and Breckenridge.

Ralph Hooks, Abilene's mayor, said citizens of Abilene "have a big stake in Hubbard Creek Lake and are contributing 92 per cent of the cost and operation of the lake."

The Hubbard Creek Citizens Association, represented by Tom Gordon, Abilene attorney, and Fred Stephens, a petroleum engineer from Wichita Falls, are expected to present the majority of today's testimony.

Some 250 persons, including an estimated 150 interested oil operators, attended Tuesday's session.

Heavy Rain Sweeps Through Panhandle

Texas Weather
By The Associated Press

Heavy rain and light hail, accompanied by high winds, swept through Dalhart and Dumas Tuesday night as the top of the Texas Panhandle was alerted for possible tornadoes.

No tornado reports were received by the Weather Bureau after the alert came at the end of a day which had seen showers fall from Lufkin to the Texas-Oklahoma border in scattered areas.

Dumas reported 27 of an inch of rainfall during a 20-minute period Tuesday.

There were no immediate reports of hail or wind damage in the Panhandle.

The tornado bulletin, issued by the Weather Bureau, had said the greatest threat of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms was in a 120-mile-wide strip from 20 miles northwest of Dalhart to 10 miles northeast of Hobart, Okla.

The tornado watch expired at 11 p.m. without incident.

Earlier Tuesday, shower activity was reported near the Texas-Oklahoma border, in Central Texas and in East Texas as far south as Lufkin.

Some lighter activity was reported 10 to 20 miles southeast of Waco, 30 miles northeast of Dallas, near Corsicana, and southeast of Longview.

None of the showers produced much rainfall, with Lubbock reporting the most with 1.8 of an inch. Amarillo had .04 of an

Trial And Error Way Nears End

EDITOR'S NOTE — Prospects that natural human evolution will cease and men will control what their future shape will be based on new understandings of how genes direct both heredity and growth. The following series of four articles takes you into a submicroscopic world and explains how scientists are cracking the genetic code — the language of the genes.

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

For the past 100 years or so man has muddled along, gradually gaining mastery over other creatures by accident.

Accidental alterations in the mechanism of his heredity slowly — by trial and error — made man better adapted to his environment than his rivals.

SCIENTIFIC VIEW
That's the accepted scientific view today, and scientists call this long, frequently bungling process "evolution."

This process may be near an end.

For better or worse, scientists now believe, man will not much longer have to wait for an accident to change his heredity.

He will cause his own "accidents."

If the heart he was born with wears out, he'll be able to grow a new one — in a laboratory, and have it transplanted into his chest; or perhaps he will grow it in his own body, feeding the new on the old.

In the past the accidents, or mutations, that made some men different from their ancestors were caused either by errors in the way nature put together the tiny living blueprints passed along from parent to offspring; or by occasional strong bursts of radiation from the sun that disarranged those blueprints.

SAFER WAY

Today, however, scientists are learning to bring about mutations with chemicals — a much safer method, because this way the mutations eventually may be predicted and controlled.

Mutations result from changes in the structure of genes. Although too tiny to be seen in an ordinary microscope, genes contain the patterns by which all living things develop.

Every human body cell has about 150,000 genes, grouped in 46 chromosomes — tintable bodies — in the cell's core, or nucleus.

So when body cells divide, the chromosomes split into twin sets of pairs and line up in the center of the nucleus. The nucleus, and at the same time the rest of the cell, divides down the middle. Each of the two resulting cells has the same number of chromosomes, and thus genes, as the parent cell.

INCREASING CELLS
This is the way all living things grow, by increasing the number of body cells.

When they reproduce, the process is slightly different. The egg cell of the mother has only half the needed number of chromosomes. The sperm cell of the father has the other half. They unite and the fertilized cell thus acquires the total of chromosomes necessary for later division and growth.

Genes are molecules of an acid, complex and strangely formed. Each looks something like two corkscrews twisted into one another and connected at intervals by bonds; a sort of chemical spiral staircase.

The molecule's name is deoxyribonucleic acid, or DNA. Its spirals are made of chemical bases called adenine, guanine, cytosine and thymine, arranged in a specific order opposite each other.

REPLICA

When time comes for a cell to divide, the identical corkscrews separate, one staying in the parent group of chromosomes, the other going to the offspring. Each then makes a replica of itself, drawing upon chemicals in the cellular fluid.

The arrangement of the chemical bases along the spirals creates a crude alphabet: A for adenine, G for guanine, C for cytosine and T for thymine. Groupings of these bases form exotic "words" in a language that gene specialists — geneticists — are learning to decipher.

One side of the spiral staircase may be an arrangement of bases or letters into a grouping like this:

attttccacagatacgg.

The other side:

taaacagggtctatcgc.

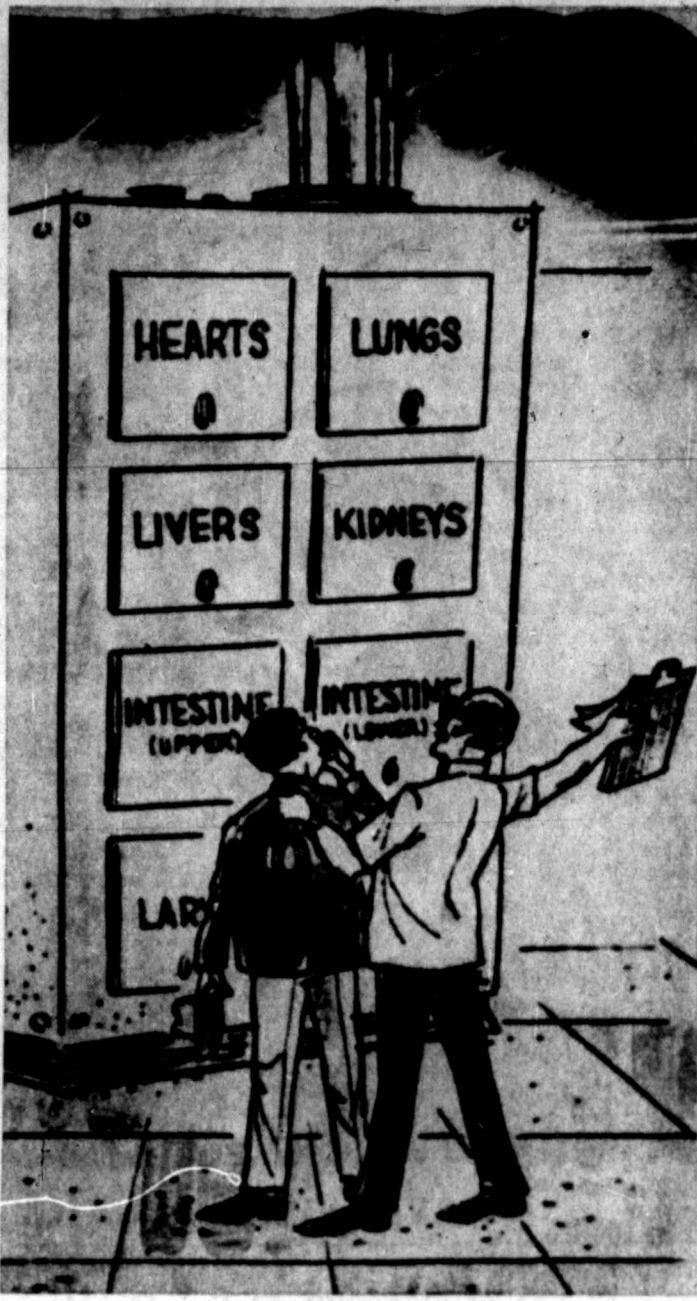

The letters are almost invariably in multiples of three.

CODE KEYS
Scientists found one of the keys to this code when they learned that each triplet directs the formation of one of some 20 amino acids which make up proteins, the building blocks of living tissue.

Each of the 64 possible three-letter combinations carries information that enables the cell to make protein — in other words, to grow — so that it resembles its parent.

Storing the formulae for making human protein is a pretty big job for a tiny molecule, but DNA has another job, too. It not only must carry information from one generation to the next, it must see that this information gets out of the nucleus into the body of the cell where protein is made.

To do this, DNA makes single-corkscrew copies of itself, differing in that a base called uracil is substituted for thymine. The copy, lacking an atom of oxygen, is called ribonucleic acid, or RNA.

Music Successful After Speech Fails To Reach

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A grand piano, a sandbox full of Kansas wheat and a low-wheeled cart are helping teach handicapped children how to talk — some for the first time in their lives.

Consider 9-year-old Timmy. When he came to the Institute of Logopedics here, he couldn't speak, had withdrawn into himself and lived in his own secret world.

Robert Ralstin, an institute instructor, thought perhaps music could reach through to Timmy's world.

He stood the boy beside a grand piano, opened the top and plucked out simple scales on the strings. Almost immediately, Timmy's face brightened, and he tried to crawl up this strange box of sound.

Within months, Timmy and his teacher were playing simple duets on the xylophone, and Timmy had embarked on what will be likely a year's long pathway to speech.

The late Dr. Martin F. Palmer, who founded the institute 32 years ago, explained it this way: the part of the brain that responds to music is tucked away in a well-protected area and has a separate blood supply than much of the rest of the brain. Thus, an accident that blocks blood and damages part of the brain might leave the music receptor untouched. Sometimes an accident may result in brain damage and aphasia — the loss of learned ability to speak — and sometimes music can be the key to reaching the brain again.

MANY ARE THINKING HARD ON IT Big Legislative Hassle Coming Over Gun Control

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Chances are good the University of Texas sniper slayings will become a widely discussed subject during the 1967 Legislature. Several changes in Texas statutes and Constitution have been advanced since the campus massacre, with pro and con arguments already appearing.

The biggest argument likely will come over gun control, a subject that had senators and representatives getting mountains of mail from their home folks during the 1965 session. A $10 pistol permit bill was decisively defeated.

Echoes of the sniper's rifle fire had hardly died away before President Johnson said the "shocking tragedy" showed the time had come for a federal gun control law. State Sen. Charles Herring, Austin, a good friend of the President, said he was sure the next legislature would "try to control in some way the sale and transfer of arms."

Gov. John Connally proposed lifetime confinement of persons who are adjudged insane after committing vicious crimes.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, who either will be a U. S. senator or a private citizen when the next legislature meets, said he favored harsher prison sentences for vicious crimes, rather than gun controls. Carr said citizens have a constitutional right to have firearms.

State Rep. Dave Finney, Fort Worth, suggested that Connally's proposal be enlarged to confine for life defendants who are found insane when accused of crimes that could have brought the death penalty, such as rape and armed robbery.

An Austin outdoors columnist argued that legislating gun traffic could do nothing about "our society that is spawning these potential murders. They are the sick and the disturbed and the frustrated Oswalds and Whitmans still in our midst who are in need of help."

A Dallas outdoors columnist suggested that "anyone at the President's ranch could become violently insane and with the more than a dozen guns reputed to be there murder a large group of prominent officials. Or he could do it with a steak knife."

Apparently there is little likelihood of the Texas Legislature reaching accord on a gun control or pistol permit law but that does not mean a lot of Texans, including the opponents, are not thinking hard about it.

During the first six months of 1966 the Texas Department of Public Safety received reports of 175,768 pistols being purchased in Texas. There is no law to require the reporting of rifle or shotgun sales but it is generally agreed that several times more rifles and shotguns are sold than handguns.

Last year the state issued 571,053 resident hunting licenses plus about 160,000 exemptions for those who don't need a license — under 17, over 65 or hunting on their own land. It's a good guess that all of these had at least one gun and most of them more than one.

Project these figures into the future when Texas will double its population before the end of the century. And take into consideration the guns and pistols bought in the past.

Firearms deteriorate slowly. Very few are destroyed. They are passed from hand to hand, year after year.

This is what has some officials worried. Somewhere along this chain, dangerous weapons undoubtedly fall into the hands of the careless, the criminal and the insane.

Television Sex Show Criticized In Britain

By RONALD THOMSON
LONDON (AP) — Executives of the British Broadcasting Corporation today ordered an investigation into a television program which showed a young couple in bed discussing their sex lives.
Hundreds of viewers telephoned complaints about the 45-minute dialogue. Reviewers called it the frankest, most intimate TV program ever shown in Britain.
DOCUMENTARY
The BBC had billed the documentary drama, "Exit 19," as an inquiry to discover "if in the age of space ships the British are still living in the steamship age when it comes to sex and ethics."

The couple talked in detail about their sexual habits and their attitudes toward homosexuality, incest and premarital love.
Philip Saville, who wrote and directed Exit 19, avoided professional actors for the roles of the man and the girl, who in the script were engaged.
Instead he picked Jack Bond, 28, a film editor, and Maureen Saffhill, 21, an art student.

IN THE NICK OF TIME U.N.C.L.E. Will Have A Niece Next Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stefanie Powers, her long hair dripping, clothes wringing wet and bound with ropes thick enough to dock the Queen Mary, sat uncomfortably in a large, air-conditioned cave on the MGM lot Tuesday while, repeatedly, a heinous THRUSH villain set a time bomb designed to destroy her.
NICK OF TIME
In the nick of time "Hurricane" seconds to spare! — in bound a golden-haired fellow attired in something like a Boy Scout uniform. He shot off the rope that bound her (sound to be added later) and the pair scurried off to safety.
And that, friends of television's good guys, is the way it is girls for the part and chose Maureen, a pretty blonde, because "she is a really modern girl — absolutely free in her attitudes."

Complaints from viewers began coming in after the program's opening sequence showing the couple in bed, with the girl apparently naked.
The dialogue included such exchanges as:
Jack: "When did you first make love?"
Maureen: "At 17."
Jack: "Did you enjoy it?"
Maureen: "Not very much."
Saville supplied the questions. The couple gave their own answers.
"Miss Saffhill and I met for the first time in the studio," Bond told a newsmen.
AD-LIB ANSWERS
"Our orders were to ad-lib answers to certain questions even if they took us aback."
"Miss Saffhill was obviously startled by some of the questions, because we had no idea what they would be."
"In fact I gave truthful answers, even though it was a very unusual experience to be questioned in this way. We recorded our answers in different studios."
BBC officials said the program was taped 10 months ago but Kenneth Adam, program controller, did not agree until recently to let it be shown. It was transmitted late Monday.
NEXT WEEK
The investigation will be held next week by the BBC's Board of Management since Sir Hugh Greene, director-general, is on vacation. Despite periodic demands for censorship of the state-supported BBC, the government has consistently refused to interfere.

Elizabeth Hale Nursing Advisor In Viet Nam

Elizabeth Hale, former Big Spring, arrived at Da Nang, Viet Nam, to serve as permanent advisor to a school of nursing at Da Nang provincial hospital. Miss Hale for many years was on the staff of the VA Hospital here.
Fifty-three students are in the Viet Nam course, one of a series in a program by the Ministry of Health and USAID to upgrade and standardize nursing in Viet Nam through expansion of the education program.

Jurors Laughing In Obscenity Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—An Obscenity trial that saw jurors burst into laughter during defense testimony Tuesday appeared nearing an end after defense lawyers said they expect to finish calling witnesses to the stand today.
On trial in federal court since July 11 have been seven persons and four firms charged with shipping obscene paperbacks across state lines.
Also Tuesday, the government estimated it will be able to conclude its prosecution, including defense cross-examination, by Friday.
The prosecution told the court

Wider Hunt Begins For Bank Robber

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas police and the FBI had widened their hunt today for the tanned, tattooed gunman who killed an auto salesman Monday in an aborted attempt to rob Dallas' Inwood National Bank.
Agent-in-Charge J. Gordon Shanklin of the Federal Bureau of Investigation denied rumors that his agency had identified the gunman.
"We haven't come up with anything yet," Shanklin said. "We're running after every angle."
Shanklin admitted two FBI agents were added to the case Tuesday but would not say how many men in all were assigned.
Capt. Will Fritzy, directing the Dallas police phase of the search, moved his entire 27-man homicide bureau into the manhunt.
Police were known to be checking on the whereabouts of six ex-convicts whose initials are "J. B."
Witnesses to the slaying of auto salesman Herman Nachman, who was fatally shot in the neck when he tried to subdue the gunman, said the killer, had "J. B." tattooed on his upper arm when his shirt was ripped off.
Extra police cruisers stayed in the neighborhood of the bank all day Tuesday and far into the night, some officers believing the gunman took refuge in nearby apartments.
Officers said they had several prowler reports from jittery residents of the neighborhood.
The dark-haired bandit darted out a rear door of the bank, thwarted pursuit by firing several shots, and was last seen heading for a cluster of apartment buildings behind the bank.

Rape Verdict Returned Of 'Perfect Babysitter'

FORT WORTH (AP)—Edna Louise Sullivan, a "perfect babysitter" who was saving her earnings to buy new school clothes in the fall, was raped and choked to death, an autopsy indicated Tuesday.
The 16-year-old high school sophomore from suburban Everman was slain before dawn Sunday along with a boy friend and his visiting cousin.
The three youngsters went to a movie Saturday night and never returned home.
A fisherman found the bodies of the boys—Robert Hugh Brand, 17, of Alvarado, and his cousin Marcus Dunnam, 16, of Tarzana, Calif.—in the trunk of a car south of Fort Worth Sunday morning. Both had been shot to death.
Miss Sullivan's body was found face down in a field late Monday night some 25 miles south of Fort Worth. A party of 2,000 lawmen and volunteers had pressed a search for her all day using helicopters, skin divers and men on horseback.
Two Central Texas young men are being held without bond in a Fort Worth jail have been charged with the three slayings and with the criminal assault of the girl. They are Robert McDuff, 20, of Rosebud, and Roy Green, 18, of the Marlin area.
Dr. Feliks Gwozdz, Tarrant County (Fort Worth) chief deputy medical examiner, performed the autopsy on the girl's body.
"Our preliminary findings are consistent with the supposition that she was criminally assaulted," he said. "Death came from strangulation, he added.

Ky Ready To Negotiate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — South Viet Nam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky says he is willing to negotiate an end to the war with the Hanoi regime "under favorable conditions," the Los Angeles Times reported today.
"We would go to the conference table to tell them we draw the line at the 17th Parallel," Ky was quoted as telling Times correspondent William Tuohy during a flight Tuesday to Tam Ky, where Ky was briefed on the current Operation Colorado.
Tuohy quoted the premier as saying:
"We would be willing to talk if they would be willing to compromise."
"We're not sitting down to give them a couple of provinces south of the 17th Parallel. They would have to withdraw their agents and soldiers from South Viet Nam."
"I'm not refusing to talk. The question is whether Ho Chi Minh will talk. Personally, I don't think Hanoi will accept negotiations now."
"They have nothing to lose by continuing their aggression."
"If we can prove to them we stand firm, that we are stronger every day, every month, then on the day they see no hope for victory, they may wish to talk, to negotiate," the report concluded.

Followed Order To The Letter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Secret Services' instructions to convention officials of the Plumbers and Pipe Fitters Union were explicit.
Do not, agents said, admit anyone to the floor after a certain hour before the arrival of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the convention speaker.
Doormen followed the orders to the letter.
They locked the Secret Service agents out of the arena until the union president, Peter T. Schoemann, advised of their plight, let them in.
