GROCERY BILL UP ONLY 10 CENTS

Living Costs At Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) - Here are some tips, negative and positive, on how to beat the high cost of living:

DON'TS

Don't: Get sick, eat so many omelets, hire a baby sitter so often, get a new hair-do before the old one looks real dowdy.

DO

Do: Walk more instead of riding, try an art museum once in a while instead of a movie, think twice before borrowing mortgage money at today's rates, take up bird watching instead of polo.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics issued its consumer price index for July Monday. As expected, it set a new record, as usual.

The month's rise of four-tenths of one per cent brought the index to 113.3. This means it costs $11.33 to buy what cost $10 in 1957-59 - on the average and generally speaking.

FOOD UP

Food prices went up four-tenths of one per cent, but this was much less than is usual in July. However, egg prices took a whopping 5 1/2 per cent jump when unusually hot weather curtailed production. Hence the advice to go easy on the omelets. The average housewife, though, cannot make a great big dent in the cost of living by attacking the food budget. For one thing, most folks have to eat. For another, Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of labor statistics, cited figures to show food prices are not the deepest-eyed villain in the cost of living drama.

Suppose, he supposed, that a family's grocery bill has been $25 a week. He emphasized he was speaking strictly of groceries, not paper napkins, detergents and the thousand other items in supermarkets.

10¢ HIGHER

The July rise in costs added 10 cents to that bill. Turning from food to other living costs, the bureau said: "About half of the rise in the consumer price index in the past year has been caused by increased charges for nearly all kinds of consumer services, averaging 4.1 per cent. Transportation and medical service charges each climbed five per cent over the year. Other types of services were up 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, except for rents, which, with a 1.3 per cent increase, continued their slow rise." For the benefit of cost-conscious housewives, Chase prepared a simple tabulation. It is based on the concept of a $100 "basket" of goods and services, though it contains many things that wouldn't fit into a basket, like babysitters and gall bladder operations.

The tabulation shows the increase "in average costs of major components" of this basket between July, 1965, and July, 1966, as follows: -Food: up 7 1/2 cents. -Other nondurables, apparel, fuel, textile house furnishings, housekeeping supplies, gasoline, tobacco, toilet goods, newspapers, etc.: up 62 cents. -Durable, houses, furniture, appliances, automobiles, etc.: up 12 cents.

SERVICES

-Services, medical care, barber and beauty shops, domestic service, babysitters, utilities, public transportation, laundry and dry cleaning, movies, all types of insurance, mortgage interest, etc.: up $1.35. It all totals up to a $2.80 dent in your pocketbook.

Gas Blamed In Church Explosion

One Killed As Roof Falls On Worshipers

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) - A thundering explosion Monday night sent the roof crashing down on 200 worshippers in the Church of God in Christ. Falling debris killed a woman and injured 53 other persons.

12 TRAPPED

Twelve persons were trapped for a time as a small fire broke out and was quickly quenched in the concrete-block and frame building.

Investigators found no ready explanation. One fireman thought he smelled natural gas but officials said they had detected no evidence of a leak.

After preliminary investigation, Plainview's director of public safety said natural gas apparently was to blame.

Indications are that it was a gas leak, possibly set off by an electric organ, he reported.

The United Baptist choir was singing when it happened," said Elder Henry Jackson, 32. "The lights went out, then there was an explosion that blew the floor out of the building and then the top caved in.

INTO CEILING

"It blew me up in the ceiling, then I fell back in the chair where I had been sitting and turned over backwards."

Mrs. E. N. Givens, wife of the pastor of the Negro congregation, said a capacity crowd of 200 or more filled the church for an all-musical service opening a week-long revival, and there were 65 in the choir loft alone.

The Rev. Mr. Givens, hurled across the church and against a wall, was injured. His wife had gone next door shortly before the blast.

Rescuers plodded through mud left by two days of rain to sift the wreckage, using a truck crane to hoist big pieces of the roof.

FOUND BODY

They found the body of Mrs. Ennis A. Dukes, about 45, of Pampa, beneath timbers which crashed down on the rostrum where she was sitting. She was district president of the church's women's auxiliary.

Motorists in hundreds of cars flocked to the church on the north side of Plainview, a West Texas farming center. Many helped remove the injured. Ambulances came from at least five other towns.

Doctors kept 28 of the injured in hospitals overnight. A falling beam pinned David Lewis of Lubbock and his wife, who were sitting near the back of the church.

MANY ESCAPED

Lewis said many persons escaped because the toppling roof lodged about five feet above the floor on the front side. The blast occurred about 9:50 p.m. during a song ending the service.

Tremors Still Rumbling Through Eastern Turkey

ERZURUM, Turkey (AP) - Tremors rumbled through eastern Turkey today for the fourth straight day since Friday's devastating earthquake.

STRONG JOLT

Some 15 tremors have hit the ruined town of Varto since Monday, including a strong jolt Monday night.

A tremor shook Erzurum Province early today, but there were no reports of damage.

"The whole town was destroyed in a matter of seconds," an elderly peasant said today recalling the fury of Friday's earthquake in Varto.

Witnesses said the small county seat rocked first horizontally and then vertically, and then there was nothing left.

All but three of the town's 700 mud huts and concrete buildings crumbled down.

QUAKE CENTER

Varto was the epicenter of the violent quake that killed an estimated 3,000 persons in eastern Turkey.

"I was on the street," said Osman Duman, 37.

"The ground shook under me. I saw houses falling apart and a great cloud of dust rose into the sky. I just couldn't understand what had happened."

The leveled town was jolted Monday night as seemingly endless tremors continued to ripple the area.

The tremor, described by an Interior Ministry official as "quite strong," caused no deaths or injuries.

Premier Suleyman Demirel estimated in a radio address to the nation that 2,000 had perished in the four province disaster regions.

MUCH HIGHER

Demirel's estimate was below those of local officials who said more than 3,000 have been killed. Officials say 2,100 have been counted dead in the Varto district alone.

Government officials moved to provide housing for homeless peasants before the early winter sets in. Thousands were sleeping in the open. Cool weather usually begins here in August. Demirel promised all efforts to provide new housing before cold grips the mountainous region. He said 58,000 families would have to be resettled.

The Turkish army moved mobile bakeries into the area to make bread for the survivors. Planes dropped fresh loaves into villages not yet reached by land.

GRATEFUL

Demirel said the nation was grateful to all countries that sent assistance. He appealed to Turks to keep up their help for their stricken countrymen.

CARRYING WAR SUPPLIES

American Merchant Ship Sunk By Mine; 7 Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - An American merchant ship with war supplies for the fighting forces in Viet Nam was blasted by a Communist mine today and sank in the Saigon River. Seven of its American crewmen were killed.

RUN AGROUND

The mine ripped a gaping hole in the port side of the vessel, the 7,601-ton Baton Rouge Victory, and flooded the ship's engine room. The ship was run aground at the river bank 22 miles southeast of Saigon and it sank to the bottom with water up to its main deck.

Late in the day, the ship was reported blocking one of the two main shipping lanes to Saigon.

Elsewhere in the war, the U.S. military command disclosed that a U.S. Marine amphibious force 1,500-strong landed unopposed on beaches 50 miles southeast of Saigon early Monday, and in the 36 hours that followed the landings had made no contact with the Viet Cong units believed to be operating in the jungle swampland in the area.

Another Marine force had landed a week earlier 50 miles east of Saigon. Both were assigned a blocking role in Operation Toledo, a combined U.S.-Vietnamese sweep against the Viet Cong 5th Division.

No other major ground action was reported. In the air war over North Viet Nam, four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs tangled with four MIG17s Monday in a four-minute aerial battle 20 miles north of Hanoi.

The MIGs attacked the Thunderchiefs while they were bombing a road 10 miles north of the capital. Both sides exchanged cannon fire, a U.S. spokesman said, and then disengaged without damage to either side.

The MIG encounter came while American pilots flew 80 missions over the Communist North, striking at 12 storage depots and three surface-to-air missile sites, among other targets.

DEPOTS HIT

Pilots reported they severely damaged at least seven of the oil depots and set off numerous secondary explosions. Among other results, pilots claimed they damaged or destroyed 27 barges, nine bridges, 16 storage buildings and five anti-aircraft sites. The Air Force said Thun-derchiefs destroyed or damaged 20 guns in one of the anti-aircraft sites 95 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The mining of the Baton Rouge Victory capped a week of stepped-up Viet Cong terrorism and sabotage in the Saigon area.

45 IN CREW

The U.S. government-owned vessel is operated by charter by the States Line of Baltimore, Md., a spokesman said. He said it left San Francisco July 28 for Saigon. It carried general cargo including post exchange supplies, and its deck was loaded with trucks. It had a crew of 45, all Americans.

The vessel was hit in the Long Tao channel in a swampy, mangrove area controlled largely by the Viet Cong.

Official sources said the Viet Cong apparently were attempting to mine an ammunition ship which had been scheduled to travel up the river ahead of the Baton Rouge Victory. The ammunition ship, however, had been delayed.

The explosion caused heavy damage to the ship's engine room, where the seven crew members were killed.

Two Lost In N. M. Floods

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) - Heavy flood waters forced families to leave low areas during the night in the Carlsbad-Artesia area along the Pecos River valley of southern New Mexico.

At least one person was missing and presumed drowned. Another flood victim, a boy, was reported missing Monday in heavy rains in the Tucumcari area in east central New Mexico.

State police said Joe Little, a Carlsbad radio newsmen, was swept away by the flood waters when attempting to go into the small town of Lakewood with National Guard units. Lakewood is about 20 miles north of Carlsbad.

Missing in the Tucumcari area was Don Welch, 3, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Welch, 34, of La Mirada, Calif. Welch said his truck slid off slick US 66 near Tucumcari and overturned in a rain-swollen arroyo. Welch rescued two small daughters but couldn't find his son.

National Guard units, Civil Defense workers, and state and local police carried out evacuation of low areas along the Pecos.

Hardest hit were areas in south and east Carlsbad. The Pecos was reported over its banks and gradually rising this morning, although the rains had stopped.

About five feet of water was reported in one area on the east side of town. Approaches to a bridge on US 285 south of town were reported washed out.

The sheriff's office said all roads into Carlsbad were virtually closed.

Eagle Draw at Artesia, about 35 miles north of Carlsbad, was reported full and families in low-lying areas along the draw were being evacuated.

Market Slides As Rally Fades

NEW YORK (AP) - A morning rally in the stock market failed and prices were down sharply once again early this afternoon in heavy trading.

On the basis of points in the Dow Jones industrial average, the market slide was now worse than the plunge of spring 1962, a 200-point drop.

From the Feb. 9 closing high of 995.15 in the Dow industrials to Monday night's close of 792.03, the loss was 203.12.

This was stretched by the loss of another 5.68 at noon today when the Dow industrials stood at 786.35.

Downpour Floods W. Texas Roads

By The Associated Press

A foot and a half of water rushed through the hamlet of Dell City in far West Texas today, and major highways around Van Horn and Sierra Blanca still were closed after downpours of rain, unusual for far West Texas.

Muddy water overflowed railroad tracks and highways and knocked over telephone lines, cutting off communications except by radio to the usually arid West Texas towns.

State police at Pecos said Dell City (pop. 950), about five miles from the New Mexico border, was marooned with water rushing in the streets. No injuries were reported.

Motorists looking for an open route between El Paso and Odessa and Midland, leading eventually to Dallas-Fort Worth, must detour far south to Marfa and Alpine on US 90, now open at Van Horn.

All traffic from far West Texas into the Carlsbad Caverns area of New Mexico was also cut off, where US 62-180 is badly flooded with many portions still under water, the Highway Department said.

Highway officials said US 80 closed at a threatened bridge three miles east of Van Horn, and Texas 54 north of Van Horn, would not be opened today. Motorists had stayed overnight in Van Horn waiting for the waters in the usually bone dry creeks to recede.

No Need Is Seen For Antiwar Activities Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told the House Committee on Un-American Activities today that current antiwar activity "can hardly be considered a threat."

He added: "There is no need for new legislation because a panoply of laws, state and federal, presently protects the national interest."

UNDESIRABLE

In a sharp worded statement, Clark said legislation aimed at Americans who try to block shipment of troops or material to Viet Nam or seek to send supplies to the Viet Cong "is undesirable."

Clark cited existing laws, which deal with sabotage of military material and installations, trespass on military property, port security, seditious and protection of federal property, and said: "These laws are adequate to protect the federal interest."

He said also that the Pool bill is objectionable because of "its prohibition against sending medical and other needed supplies for members of the armed forces and civilians held prisoner by hostile forces" and "its excessive and indiscriminate penalty which would attach the same severe sanctions to saboteurs and sit-ins alike."

The bill would authorize a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Another view that new legislation is not needed was expressed by Fred B. Smith, general counsel of the Treasury Department, who said "I think we are coping very well" with the antiwar groups.

The committee also heard from Brig. Gen. William W. Berg, deputy assistant secretary of defense for military personnel policy, who challenged the assertion by committee sponsors that the legislation was necessary to boost the morale of American soldiers.

"We do not have any evidence available to us, or reports by commanders in the field, that indicate that the morale of our forces has been impaired by the demonstrations of dissent to United States policy, by the publicized assertions of intent to assist our adversaries or by the gestures of impeding the military effort," Berg said.

TURNED QUIET

The committee hearings turned quiet Monday after four tumultuous sessions last week in which more than 50 persons were arrested. Only a handful of spectators were present.

Despite the administration's opposition, the committee is expected to give early approval to the bill sponsored by acting Chairman Joe R. Pool, D-Tex.

Pool and Rep. John H. Buchanan, R-Ala., commented after Monday's session that the administration officials ended up "making a pretty good case for the bill."

"I don't think they have been able to substantiate their testimony," Pool said.

"Nobody is for the bill, except the people," said Buchanan.

The bill would impose a maximum $20,000 fine and a 20-year prison sentence on those convicted of sending materials to North Viet Nam, or of trying to block the shipment of U.S. men or materials to Viet Nam.

Young Girl Changes Hobbies Of Parents

By JO ANN PHINIZY

A 14-month-old daughter with saucer-like blue eyes and infinite curiosity can easily become a family's No. 1 hobby. One such example is Teresa Alexander. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Alexander, 2714 Carol, and she believes that each day is a world of new discoveries.

The Alexanders, formerly of Dallas and recent Big Spring residents, say that, before Teresa, they had many active hobbies; although none of them were quite as interesting, or as much fun, as their daughter.

Alexander, communication technician with Texas and Pacific Railway, says that their outside activities are now confined to two favorites and even those are slipping.

AIRPLANES

He has his own plane, a Cessna 172, and has been a qualified pilot since the days of World War II. Mrs. Alexander had accumulated 20 hours toward a required 50 for her pilot's license.

These days, Mrs. Alexander places her flying graduation on a "someday" basis while Alexander admits that, if his family is grounded, he doesn't see much fun in flying around the country.

Now days, the Alexanders have expanded their stay-at-home hobby of ham radio operating. Alexander has long had his license and has "voice" friends all around the world. He often tunes in on the ham frequency of ships at sea, African outposts; and, when he gets the equipment, on Viet Nam.

Once he had the pleasure of picking up calls from the Dallas area members of the International Geophysical Year Expedition at the South Pole. He "patched" the calls into the requested family telephones.

My annual "Hurry Up and Get Ready" message is about to sound forth. If you are getting children, young or old, ready for school, the time is at hand. The stores are up to the top shelf with merchandise but if you don't get there early the sizes you need for the present are going to be gone. There will probably be a great number of shirts, pants, dresses, sweaters, etc., in sizes your child is just out of or not quite into, so take my advice and go now.

MR. AND MRS. LESS WHITAKER and MRS. BILL MCCARTY of Amarillo have returned to Amarillo after spending the weekend with MRS. C. W. DEATS SR. and MR. and MRS. A. W. MOODY.

Guests in the A. W. Moody home have been their daughter, MRS. FRED STITZELL, MR. FRED STITZELL, MR. STITZELL, their daughter, Martha Ann, and son, Charles Vessel. The family plans a vacation trip to New Mexico.

Britishers Plan Party

The British Wives Club will entertain children of the members at a Back-To-School party Aug. 31 at the pavilion at Webb AFB. The announcement was made Monday evening when the group met in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company. Mrs. Ben White, president, and Mrs. Stanley Wheelock will be in charge of arrangements for the swim and hot dog party to which approximately 30 children are expected.

During Monday's meeting, game prizes went to Mrs. White, Mrs. Wheelock, Mrs. Richard Shoemaker and a guest, Mrs. Richard Cramer.

The evening's entertainment included an auction directed by Mrs. John Green. Date for the next meeting will be announced, and plans have been made to meet for bowling at that time.

Typical English desserts were served for refreshments.

Care Needed For Potted Plants

Give potted plants only enough food and water for healthy growth. Too much of either will do more harm than too little.

The soil in the limited space of a flower pot should be a mixture of good garden soil, sand and humus, in equal parts. From time to time add a little more humus and a complete plant food. The soil should dry out at the top before more water is added.

Janella Williamson To Wed In Colorado City

WESTBROOK (SC) — The wedding of Miss Janella Williamson and Lonnie Hoyle of China Grove will be held Saturday evening at Colorado City in the home of Oscar Batten, minister of the city's Northside Church of Christ. The ceremony had previously been scheduled in the church according to Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Williamson, parents of the bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clawson celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary Thursday in their home near Westbrook. Attending were their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Findeisen, Michael and David, Corpus Christi; Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Clawson and Larry, Coahoma; and Herman Sullivan, Linda and Kim of Westbrook. Homemade ice cream and cake was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Findeisen and sons returned home Saturday. Mrs. J. L. Thompson of Modesto, Calif., also returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Clawson, and family. Mrs. Thompson also visited her brother, G. I. Board of Union, and relatives in Lindale and Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverla Sullivan of Odessa were guests of their parents over the weekend.

Kim Sullivan accompanied Mrs. Dwayne Clawson and Larry of Coahoma to Dallas to visit the Jack Jarnigans. They will also visit Six Flags Over Texas. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wyatt of Sweetwater and Mrs. A. C. Moody spent Sunday in Brownwood.

Mrs. Eva Lewis and daughters, Margie and Patsy, and Ronnie McQueen accompanied Buddy and Doug Lewis home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Clemmer were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Heald and sons of Lamesa Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Bentz and sons moved to Colorado City Friday. They spent the summer in Abilene and both attended classes at Hardin-Simmons University. They will teach in Colorado City this fall.

New Control For Plants By Capsule

Tired of dusting your vegetables and flowers with pesticides?

One day you may be able to stick an insecticide capsule in the ground in the spring and avoid repeated attacks on destructive pests for the rest of the season.

The new pest control capsules would work much like cold capsules. They would release the insecticide at regulated time periods throughout the growing season.

Scientists of the U.S. Agriculture Department have used capsules filled with bacterial spores to control European corn borers. They are planning further research with insecticides.

Open House Marks Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Shortes will observe their golden wedding anniversary Aug. 27 with an open house at their home in Knott. Calling hours will be from 2 to 6 p.m. and the host group will be members of the couple's family.

Mr. and Mrs. Shortes met at a Moore community sing-song in the home of the Jack Carters in 1912. They were married in 1916 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Castle.

They have farmed in the Knott Community since their marriage and are the parents of four children. The children are James R. Shortes, Viet Nam;

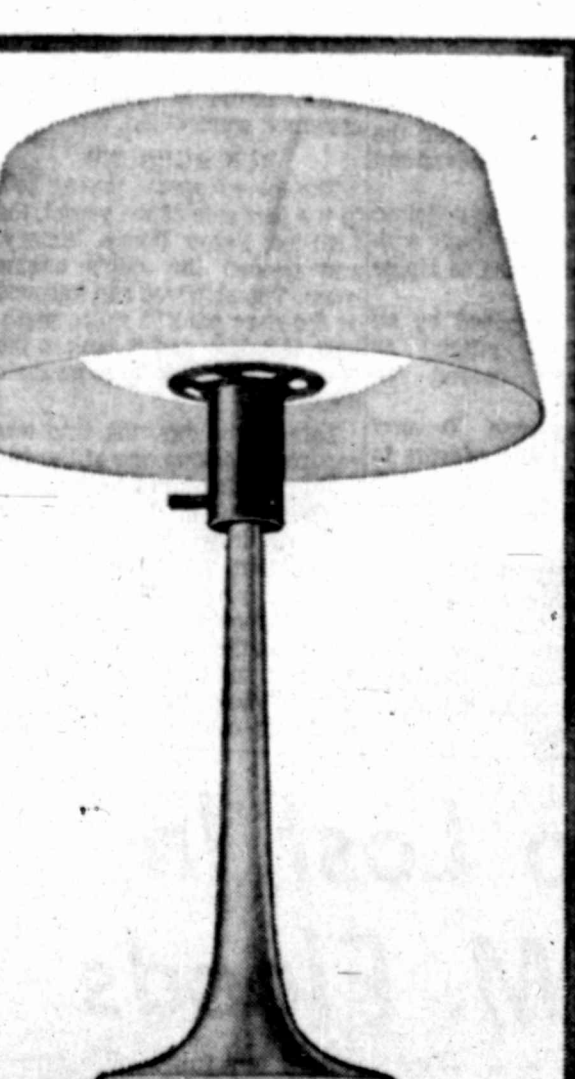

Darrell and Johnny Shortes, Big Spring; and Mrs. Leon Riddle, Knott.

The refreshment table will be covered with a gold linen cloth and a lace overlay. The centerpiece will be an arrangement of gold chrysanthemums and roses.

Assisting at the refreshment table will be Mrs. Darrel Shortes and La Deana and Sherry Riddle. Gary Lee Riddle will be in charge of registering guests, and displaying gifts will be Darrell Gene and Bennett J. Shortes.

Friends of the family are invited to attend.

PROPER STUDY LIGHT IS GOOD PROTECTION, TOO!

Thanks to an ever alert safety patrol, school-bound youngsters are protected from harm as they cross busy streets. At home, proper study light is good protection against eyestrain and fatigue. For best light from a table lamp, use at least 150-watt illumination in a lamp that's tall enough to spread light evenly over the work area. It should be properly shaded to shield the light source from the eyes. And a diffusing bowl is recommended to soften the light and prevent glare. Check your children's study light now. Better sight can mean better grades.

Women Who Know Quality
 Come To Good Housekeeping

You may not be too familiar with authentic styles, but, with quality your first consideration, you'll be certain to appreciate real beauty in home furnishings. The finest materials and craftsmanship, on which quality is based, make furniture substantially sound and give that air of permanency that lends enduring charm to your living. No matter what its styling or how intricate its detailing, furniture without these qualities will soon lose its appeal. Women who know quality will find at Good Housekeeping furniture created by America's foremost designers and craftsmen, furniture that will live on through the years. And, remember, real quality costs far less than you think. Have a Problem? Feel free to consult our home furnishings experts . . . no obligation.

SALUTE OF VALUES

Are you willing to go as low as $1681.00 for a new VW?

We don't sell status. Just a car. One that gets about 29 mpg, averages 40,000 miles on a set of tires, and hardly uses oil between changes.

Of course, the fact that it's practical is no secret. And everybody is going to know that you're saving money. But that's the price you pay for Volkswagen.

your ace in the hole...

HIGH-POWERED HERALD CLASSIFIED ADS ...
THE SMART, MODERN WAY TO GET EXTRA CASH
THAT PUTS YOU IN THE CHIPS

How many times have you wished there was an Aladdin's lamp you could rub, or magic words you could say that would quickly bring you extra cash. Extra cash that means more fun for your family, lets you take advantage of good opportunities as they come up, or pays sudden, unexpected bills. Wouldn't it be a nice, comfortable feeling to have an "ace in the hole". — The real fact is . . . you do! You have the money-making power of The Big Spring Herald Classified Ads ready to go to work for you every day of the year . . . And, it doesn't take magic words, all it takes is a phone call.

Look around you. All through your home there are things you don't use or need any more. These things are worth good, hard cash. Some other family wants your musical instruments, outgrown toys, tools, sporting equipment, dishes, appliances or rugs. Just about every worthwhile thing you find has a potential buyer. To place the far-reaching Herald Classified Ad that takes your offer right to him—just dial AM 3-7331 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. for a friendly Ad Writer. It's inexpensive. A 5-word ad costs only $3.75 on the special 6-day rate.

Decide to stack the deck in your favor. You have an "Ace in the hole". Put it to work for you today . . . and have more of the things that make living so much more fun.

Prager's Quality Clothes Feature Popular Prices

Prager's Mens' and Boys' Wear features quality, fashion oriented clothing at popular prices—and has done so for the past 38 years.

A. J. Prager has the most complete boys' department you are likely to find. It is completely separated from the men's department and features all nationally-advertised goods—known brand names—and offers a complete satisfaction guarantee on everything sold.

SCHOOL DAYS

Prager's is fully stocked for back-to-school with jeans by Levi's, Farah and Wrangler, knit shirts by Dan Moore and button-down or regular collar shirts from Model.

Coats and jackets by Tom Sawyer and Eskay are always in stock. A full line of boys' accessories, toiletries, underclothing, of course.

To complete the ensemble, Prager's has Pedwin boys shoes, Acme cowboy boots and a complete stock of Keds. The boys' department also is an authorized Boy Scout Trading Post, with everything the Boy Scout needs.

The reason boys from 2 to 20 want to buy at Prager's is that the store is famous for youth clothes made for boys—and boys like that.

The latest stylings are on hand in Prager's men's department. Prager keeps up with fashion and keeps fashion merchandise at popular prices—all merchandise must be quality.

The accessory line is absolutely complete—Prager's has 23 top brands of toiletries as well as belts, ties, cuff-links, tie clasps and tacks and many other items.

A feature line of long and short sleeved shirts in different styles, colors, fabrics, fashion colors, in regular sizes and tall sizes gives the customer what he wants. Suits are available in traditional, Continental and regular models. Shoes are quality—Pedwin, Weyenburg and Nunn-Bush as well as the popular Hush-Puppies.

SWEATERS

A terrific line of coats and sweaters is at hand for the fall season. Prager's has the largest variety of fine sweaters in Big Spring—not only in quality is the selection outstanding, but in fashion, a Prager's tradition. Sports coats and slacks in almost any size or style comes for the fashion-conscious man.

MOD CLOTHES

In keeping with the Prager tradition of always keeping up with the latest in fashion, Prager has just got in stock some of the British Mod clothing for the high-fashion-minded young man. More is to come, such as high-collared shirts with the Tom Jones sleeve, in all the Mod color combinations, from polka-dots to fringes, in just a few days.

Whenever you're thinking about clothes for man or boy, think of Prager's Mens' and Boys' Wear at 102 E. 2nd, where fashion, quality and modest prices go hand-in-hand with an absolute guarantee of satisfaction for the customer.

Perk Up Rugs With Cleaner

It often happens, your friends notice what you overlook. This is especially true of carpets and rugs. The colors, the patterns of the rugs, often are dulled so gradually by soil that you never notice the difference.

Treat your self to a big surprise—you can clean and brighten those colors instantly with America's new favorite carpet cleaner called "Blue Lustre." It leaves nap open and fluffy. Let your eyes again see the clean new look of your carpets.

Blue Lustre costs so little, and you can rent an easy-to-use electric shampooer for only $1 per day with the purchase of Blue Lustre.

State National Is Happy To Serve

State National Bank of Big Spring and the people who work there make a practice of keeping up with developments and helping business and industry to grow—including farming.

The bank has grown with the town and with Howard County. When one thinks of expansion, one of the best places to get information and to find consultation is the State National Bank. The management feels the bank can grow only if the area it serves can grow.

Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins Popular With Residents

It's a hot, miserable day. The family is hungry. You don't want to go to all the trouble of dressing up, dishwashing, and the hot kitchen chores.

So? So go to any one of the three popular places in Big Spring where you can drive in, order what you want, eat it in the comfort of your car—the Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins. At the Wagon Wheels, you can take a rest while you are eating a wholesome meal.

Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt, owner, says Westerners believe in eating beef, and all kinds of uses are made of it at the Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins.

Wagon Wheel No. 3, on US 80 west, has the "best barbecue in town." The real pit-cooked pork sandwich, spare ribs, sausage, chicken and beef are mouth-watering. They also have service inside the drive-in.

All you have to do is drive up to any one of the Wagon Wheels and check the menus, juiciest hamburgers you ever ate, along with such side lines as pickles, French fries and the drink of your choice.

Other foods available include all kinds of sandwiches as well as the Wagon Wheels' famous fried chicken, drinks, including coffee and others made at the fountain.

Then there is the famous service of providing lunches for working people—busy people. A telephone call to your favorite Wagon Wheel will have the working man's or woman's lunch ready when asked for. A lot of Big Springers are using this service.

The Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins are in Big Spring to serve the public, and a telephone call will have that service ready for people with just a few minutes to eat—who drive up without the time to do a lot of waiting.

Clean Your Rugs With Blue Lustre

Since wall-to-wall carpeting has become the vogue for modern floor furnishing, home owners appreciate more and more the quiet comfort and beauty it lends to the gracious living that is so much a part of Mid-Twentieth-Century American life.

Since this task can be done at their own convenience and does not disrupt the household, they find Blue Lustre is inexpensive to use because one-half gallon of the concentrate is sufficient to clean three 9x12 rugs.

PROBLEMS

And, of course, getting the home spic and span for company, especially when a group is expected, has long been a problem for American housewives.

With the Blue Lustre method of easy home carpet cleaning, care, the tedious job of carpet cleaning has been made a simple, almost pleasant chore.

EASY, SAFE

Blue Lustre is an odorless foam shampoo which is safe to use even on the finest oriental rugs, and quickly brings back forgotten colors dulled by soil. There is no oily or gummy residue to attract rapid resoiling, and consequently, carpets stay clean longer.

Your Blue Lustre dealer, Big Spring Hardware, 117 Main, has available to go along with Blue Lustre shampoo, a very efficient electric carpet shampooing machine which makes it simple and easy to clean carpets without much fuss and bother.

SHAMPOO

This easily-portable electric shampooer can be conveniently carried in your car and is designed so that the twin brushes adjust automatically to the carpet nap providing excellent cleaning action. It is easy to maneuver on the floor covering and its method of dispensing Blue Lustre avoids over-wetting of carpets or rugs.

Most people prefer to do their own carpet cleaning with Blue Lustre and the shampooer,

LOW PRICE

The shampooer is available at Big Spring Hardware for only $1 per day with the purchase of Blue Lustre shampoo foam. The shampooer is handy, lightweight and efficient, and with Blue Lustre foam shampoo, your rugs will take on a like-new sheen and so will your family after they see the brilliant results. They might even think you bought a new carpet.

Go by Big Spring Hardware and rent the electric shampoo machine and buy some Blue Lustre, or call them at AM 7-5265.

Dirksen Says President Did Not Accomplish Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam war is costing President Johnson some of his political popularity and there isn't much the President can do about it, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today.

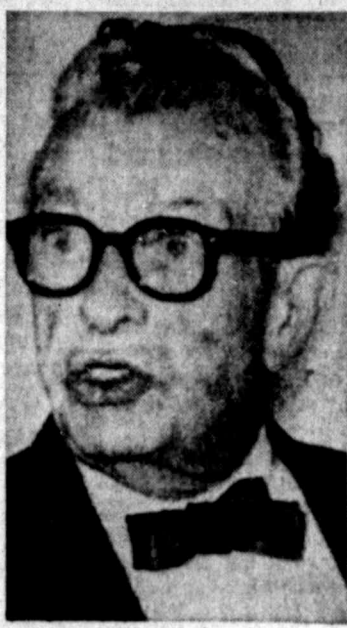

Dirksen dismissed as "long on good rhetoric but short on results" Johnson's weekend "non-political" swing across five Northeastern states where he got in some not-so-subtle plugs for Democratic candidates while praising Republicans accompanying him.

ACCOMPLISHMENT
"I don't think the President accomplished very much politically," Dirksen told reporters. "Johnson himself was reported well-satisfied with his weekend of stumping. He was said to be planning similar trips in the immediate future."

The GOP leader noted that public opinion polls indicate Johnson's popularity standing is lower than it has been in the past.

Asked if this reflects dissatisfaction with the way things are going in Viet Nam, he replied: "Of course it does. It reflects the frustrations of the people."

Reminded that he was something of a "partner" of Johnson because of his support for the

SEN. DIRKSEN

President's Viet Nam course, he answered: "I am and I'm willing to take the gaff for it because there is nothing else to do."

NIXON REVIEW
The Viet Nam situation is scheduled to be reviewed by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon at a closed meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee today. Nixon, who just returned from Asia, is expected also to discuss domestic issues.

Nixon told the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in New York Monday night the United States should be prepared for five more years of combat in Viet Nam "unless there is a substantial increase in the present war effort."

To shorten the war, Nixon suggested U.S. forces be increased "so commanders can stay on the offensive," raising the number of military targets for air attack and stopping American foreign aid to countries that trade with the enemy.

Nixon said the greatest "single weapon working against U.S. success (in the war) is opposition in this country."

STILL OPPOSES
Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., touched on the same issue Monday in a Senate speech. Fulbright said he still opposes U.S. policy in Viet Nam although he believes Moscow, Peking and Hanoi would be "grievously deceiving themselves if they underestimated the militant spirit" in the United States.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an Associated Press interview last week that Communist China and North Viet Nam would be mistaken if they refused to negotiate an end to the war in the belief Johnson was isolated in his policy and ultimately would have to back down.

He told the Senate he wanted to make his position clear because people had misinterpreted his remarks in the interview as meaning he was withdrawing his opposition to the war.

Meanwhile, Sen. Clifford P.

Case, R-N.J., voiced support for a conference of Asian nations to seek a solution to the Viet Nam war. "We should welcome and encourage such an initiative," he said in a statement.

LBJ May Be Headed West

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, pleased with his trip into New England and Canada last weekend, may be planning another multistate swing in the West.

There were reports Monday from Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and Oklahoma of a possible presidential trip. Some of the reports said security agents were making checks in their areas.

The White House refused to confirm the reports. Press secretary Bill D. Moyers told newsmen that "as far as I know no plans have been formed for a President's trip." Moyers did add, however, that Johnson was pleased with the results of the New England swing.

The White House never announces travel plans for the President until final decisions have been made.

Automakers Are Facing A Threat

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union gives every indication it is not taking as final the Big Three automakers' rejection of contract reopening to give wage boosts to skilled workers.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are apprehensive as they shift into high gear on 1967 models, despite labor contracts which run until September of next year.

Unrest within any major segment of their 700,000-man labor force holds the threat of work stoppages or slowdowns. None wants this in a boom market such as has existed last year and this.

GM, Ford and Chrysler separately turned down Monday a UAW demand for immediate contract reopening to give skilled workers an immediate wage increase of at least 50 cents an hour.

The Big Three said reopening wasn't justified, pointed to upcoming automatic raises next and said, at least in effect, the union should abide by the three-year pacts signed in 1964.

The UAW contends its tradesmen working in auto plants are underpaid when compared with those of similar skills working elsewhere, particularly in the building trades. There have been demonstrations to emphasize this theme, and at least one factory shutdown.

Douglas Fraser, co-director of the union's skilled trades department, said the question of reopening now would be advanced to the top of the agenda for a meeting Sept. 7 of the UAW's international executive board.

"It will be reviewed and from there, there should be a clear indication where we will go next," Fraser said.

Asked if he anticipated stoppages or other incidents by skilled tradesmen because of the rejection, he replied: "No, but I've been wrong before."

Auto workers, both the skilled and unskilled, will get automatic increases a week from next Monday under current contract terms. The Big Three estimate these will total $186 million for the UAW-represented alone.

Corresponding boosts also are passed along to salaried personnel.

Heart Patient Heals Well

HOUSTON (AP)—A Mexico City beauty shop operator began her third week as an artificial heart patient and her doctors said they are pleased with her progress.

Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez, 37, is spending a large part of the time out of bed and makes frequent unassisted walks around her hospital room, a Methodist Hospital advisory said.

The artificial pump, or left ventricular bypass which she received Aug. 8, was removed last Thursday because doctors said her natural heart had healed well and the device was no longer needed.

She received the pump in a 3½-hour operation in which two heart valves were replaced. Mrs. Vasquez has lived longer than any other patient known to have received an artificial heart pump. She is the fifth person and second woman to undergo such an operation. All other patients died.

The other patients, both men, who received the pumps in operations at Methodist Hospital, died of lung complication. Doctors said, however, the pumps had worked well and their natural hearts had shown signs of healing.

The hospital said Mrs. Vasquez's lungs remain clear and her appetite is excellent.

In Concert Wednesday

The Four Latinos, gospel singing group from Nashville, Tenn., will appear at the First Assembly of God Church Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to present a concert of gospel singing and instrumental music. The group hails from Mexico City, Mexico, and will release their first album Sept. 1. The Rev. Homer Rich, pastor, said that there is no admission charge for the special program and the public is invited.

Orbiter Sends Blurry Shots

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter's high-resolution camera continues to transmit blurry pictures of the moon but a U.S. space agency spokesman is optimistic.

Monday the bumpy camera sent a smeary picture of ground along the moon's equator, where astronauts hope to find a smooth landing spot later in the decade.

The spokesman said: "The high-resolution shutter seems to be firing off at random from a spurious signal. But the law of averages says we should get some clear shots taken at just the right time."

"It's likely we'll have close to 100 per cent success on the mission."

Space agency spokesmen said they hoped the high-resolution

Astronauts To Make Use Of Second Stage Rockets

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When a Saturn 1 rocket flings a satellite into orbit, its second stage enters a separate orbit and circles the earth like a giant empty house trailer.

Why not, somebody asked, make use of this hardware in some way?

That's what the National Aeronautics and Space Administration hopes to do. The agency's Marshall Space Flight Center has begun negotiating a contract to convert a Saturn 1 second stage into a manned space station.

The contract, with McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis, Mo., is expected to run about $9 million.

McDonnell is to build an airlock that will connect a three-man Apollo spacecraft to the hydrogen fuel tank in the second stage and is to develop life-support systems to make the tank habitable.

The second stage, which uses liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen for propulsion, is 58 feet long and weighs 23,000 pounds empty. Much of the length is taken up by the engine. But the hydrogen tank measures 20 feet by 21.7 feet — plenty of room for three astronauts to set up housekeeping.

The airlock will be about 12 feet long and 5 ½ feet in diameter. It will be attached to the top of the second stage and ride in an adapter section between the rocket and the Apollo spacecraft.

Once in orbit, the three Apollo crewmen will separate their ship from the rocket, turn it around and link up with a docking apparatus at one end of the airlock.

The airlock will be a chamber with airtight doors like manhole covers at each end. The astronauts will open one door and crawl into the chamber, closing the cover behind them. Then they open the other end and enter the hydrogen tank. This eliminates the need to depressurize the spacecraft and the tank each time a man enters or leaves.

There also will be an additional hatch on the side of the airlock to permit an astronaut to take a space walk without depressurizing either of the cabins.

Before entering the tank, the astronauts will make certain any leftover hydrogen is vented overboard and they will activate equipment to pressurize it. They also will electrically connect the Apollo craft's life support system to the fuel tank.

Equipment such as work tables, beds and experiments will be packed in containers attached to the walls of the tank.

Houston Selected For Medical School

AUSTIN (AP)—Houston would be the best location for any future state medical school, the University of Texas board of regents has decided.

This recommendation, which can be no more than advice to the Texas Legislature, was revealed Monday at a hearing on the UT system's 1967-68 budget request.

W. W. Heath, chairman of the regents, said the regents adopted a resolution several months ago saying that if their advice were sought, "we would say that in our judgment Houston would be the best location."

A major consideration in recommending Houston is faculty recruitment, he said.

"This is based primarily on the fact that there is a very serious or emergency situation relating to the ability to recruit medical faculties—there are not enough to go around," Heath said.

"It would be much easier to recruit faculty in Houston than in some smaller place."

Heath listed the city's medical center, available clinical materials and other medical resources as among its attributes in hiring medical faculty members.

The university, he said, has had "extreme difficulty" hiring teachers for the new South Texas Medical School at San Antonio, recruiting only 18 against a need for "many times" that number.

In San Antonio, a new teaching hospital had to be built near the site of the school. Heath quoted a federal official as saying the government—which helped build the school and hospital—did not want to go through the experience again of having to build a medical school and teaching hospital from scratch.

Medical school cities must be designated by the legislature, which also must authorize creation of any new schools.

In 1965, a bitter fight developed between Amarillo and Lubbock legislators over a proposed new medical school. The bill finally enacted located the school at Texas Tech, Lubbock, but Gov. John Connally vetoed it.

Stalling House Building

The home-building industry is not alone in its concern over the sharp decline in housing starts. Many other segments of the national economy are adversely affected — materials suppliers, home equipment and furnishings producers and distributors, construction workers, utilities, and property — taxing units of government.

As personal incomes are still rising, the cause of the housing — starts decline is obvious. It is the tight — money interest rise imposed by the Federal Reserve Board to check inflation, which is rapidly shrinking the supply of mortgage money.

Even granting that the Fed's anti-inflation policy may generally be sound and necessary, there is danger of bringing a serious imbalance into the economy if too much of the counter — inflationary force is concentrated on the housing industry.

Congress may have to take emergency action before this session's end to ease the squeeze on home-building. By mid-summer housing starts had dropped to the low of the 1960 recession, and current building — permit reports indicate a continuing decline. A point that has been insufficiently stressed is this: While home-building is slowing down, population growth and family formation are proceeding at undiminished rates. In a nation already short of standard housing, any long continuation of those divergent trends could result in a housing shortage that would be difficult and time — consuming later to overcome.

The question is whether such sacrifice is necessary to prosecute simultaneously the Viet Nam war and necessary domestic program without runaway inflation. Checks on inflation likely could be better distributed.

Mistaken Course

The statement of James Meredith, who broke the segregation barrier in the University of Mississippi, on a nationally televised program during the weekend is wrong, however seemingly rightful.

Meredith took the position that if the law would not deal with the attackers of Negroes engaged in the exercise of civil rights, then it was up to the Negroes to deal with it. His position was that frequently the perpetrators of attacks and murders are well-known to white authorities, and indeed to the general public, but nothing happens.

Sadly, in some cases, he is near the truth. This must be a tremendously frustrating feeling, not alone because of a sense of personal insecurity but that justice is mocked.

Nevertheless, the enduring, curative answer to violence is not violence; the answer to lawlessness is never taking the law into one's own hands. As slow and as painful as the process may be, ultimately the answer is through the ballot box. The physical courage to take up arms must be stifled beneath the greater courage of citizenship which in due season will gain respect and support of most men and women of good conscience.

Marquis Childs The South American Problem

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's first venture in summitry will be in the comparatively friendly framework of the Alliance for Progress. He is going to Lima, Peru, between mid-November and early December to sit down with the 19 other American Presidents to chart the future course of the hemisphere.

In his brief case, the President will need to have something much more tangible than the traditional speech assuring the neighbors to the South of the undying good will of the colossus of the North.

FOR BY THE terms of his address this week marking the fifth anniversary of the alliance, a far greater effort is vital if breakdown, anarchy, dictatorship are to be averted.

The goals he set forth were of a magnitude reducing what has been done thus far to hardly more than a scratch on the surface. How to achieve these stirring goals—140,000,000 new jobs, a million new homes, hundreds of thousands of new classrooms—the President did not say. One thing is certain: At the present scale of American aid of roughly $1 billion a year and with North American investment in South America sluggish to stagnant, there is no visible way to achieve these goals.

WHAT IS MORE, the Congress is in a surly mood, and the familiar concept of foreign aid funneled through the Alliance for Progress will simply not suffice. As the President noted, the growth rate over-all can be shown to be above 2½ per cent. This was the minimum set forth in the charter of the alliance signed five years ago at Punta del Este.

BUT WITH hardly more than a passing glance, Mr. Johnson stepped around what is the greatest single obstacle to progress and orderly development in the Americas to the South. That is a birth rate that in many countries is the highest in the world, exceeding Asia and Africa. With an annual rate of increase of 3 to 3.5 and even 3.9 per cent, the economic gains are absorbed by new mouths to feed.

WHAT SPECIALISTS in each country stress is that a far-reaching campaign of education is essential to change ancient habits of thought if the population explosion is to be damped down. This, of course, is where the American aid program might be effective. It could underwrite the program of education and then follow through with the clinics and other means for helping those who want to limit their families. As a small beginning, the aid missions in Latin America have population-planning advisers, but their function is extremely limited.

IN LATIN AMERICA as in other under developed areas, those opposing any effort to stem the soaring birth rate point to vacant tracts of land. There is ample room for more people, they say, and with new agricultural techniques, new fertilizers and new seeds, production can be greatly increased.

Theoretically, this is true. Brazil has vast empty spaces. But to develop this empty territory, and much of it is uninhabitable jungle, calls for huge capital expenditures and skills and resources already in short supply.

AS THE PAINFUL record in other under developed areas as well as in Latin America makes clear, to move excess people from one area to another and provide them with a way of living is one of the most difficult of all undertakings.

The forum from which the President chose to speak—the new building of the Pan-American Health Organization—held a special irony. It is the center of a far-reaching effort to raise standards of health. With new drugs and improved medical services, life expectancy has been increased on the average from 15 to 20 years. This means that a woman can expect to live through her entire child-bearing phase. Death control is increasingly effective, while birth control is all but nonexistent.

Cash Still Talks

ATHENS (AP) — Athens City Council has proposed that the Greek government require all foreign visitors to Greece to have at least $200 on arrival. The proposal was made in an attempt to curb the recent influx of beatniks and cashless undesirables.

James Marlow Wide Split In Thinking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six Negro leaders, brought together to answer questions about the civil rights struggle and the kind of tactics they favored, revealed a wide split in their thinking.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and leader of some recent Negro demonstrations in Chicago where whites reacted violently, said: "I believe firmly in nonviolence."

But King insisted demonstrations must continue, not because they solved problems by themselves but because they brought attention to the problems.

Floyd B. McKissick had another view. He is national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

HE SAID: "Nonviolence is something of the past. We believe in nonviolence providing nobody hits us. When somebody hits us, we believe in self-defense."

James H. Meredith, shot several months ago while leading a one-man march into Mississippi to try to prove Negroes could walk the highways safely there, said: "Nonviolence is incompatible with American ideas."

Asked if he meant that — if several whites or Negroes are killed and the law does not punish them — people ought to organize as vigilantes and go out and take the law into their own hands and commit violence, he replied: "That is exactly what I am saying, exactly."

AT THAT point Stokely Carmichael interrupted to say: "If those won't do it, who is going to do it?"

Carmichael, the foremost Negro advocate of "black power," is chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, perhaps the most militant, or at least the most militant-sounding, of the Negro groups.

"We (Negroes)," he said, "are the only people in this country who have to protect ourselves against our protection. Since the police forces of this country are not protecting us, then who is going to protect us? We are going to go down together, all of us."

ROY WILKINS, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was not letting the NAACP name get wrapped up in violence or slogans of violence. "I think we'll have to come to law and order," Wilkins said. "We all come to the courtroom and the law eventually. We find we can't solve it with rhetoric."

Hal Boyle Fortune's Darling

NEW YORK (AP) — Fortune's darling in the film world today is Michael Caine, a breezy Cockney who looks more like a rakish young English aristocrat.

The 33-year-old actor, who has spent most of his career subsisting on crumbs from life's banquet, has a frank, heart-warming goal, now that he's on top.

"IT'S MONEY, pure and simple," he said, his clear blue eyes lighting with a gleam of honest stupidity.

"I spent too long without it. For 10 years my average wage was $12 a week. Now I want something I never had before—security. To me that means money."

"It won't change me. It's too late to change when you're 33, and having your last go-round. You only change if you suddenly become a millionaire at 20 or 25."

MICHAEL HAS made five pictures in 19 months without a day off. They include the controversial "Alfie," a n d "The Wrong Box," one of Britain's best comedies in years.

Besieged by offers, Caine now gets $250,000 and up a picture, plus a percentage of profits.

Although he appears to be the manor born, Michael is the son of a London charwoman and a fish market porter and proud of his Cockney heritage.

"It's an advantage," he observed. "For a Cockney, there is no way to go but up."

"Cockneys have the strongest sense of survival of any people in the world, and an actor needs that. They also have a sense of humor. I've never met a pompous Cockney."

MICHAEL WENT to work as an office boy for a film producer at 16. Before getting his first real break as an understudy for Peter O'Toole in a play, he labored as a warehouse freight handler, a cement mixer, and a pneumatic drill operator in the streets.

By the time he landed a starring role, he had appeared in 125 live television plays and more than 350 stage dramas, ranging from "Hamlet" to "Getting Gertie's Garter."

"When you finally make it," he remarked wryly, "people say you're lucky or that you've got talent. But sweat and hard work are synonymous with luck and talent."

THE LOAN of his mother's life savings—they amounted to $700—helped tide Michael over one critical juncture.

"That makes me sound like a bit of a bum," he said cheerfully. "But her attitude was, 'I don't want you to be an actor, but I'll back you financially anyway, and when you fail you can turn to something else.'"

"That was the wonderful thing about it. She was loyal enough to back me even though she thought I was wrong. She wanted me to have my chance. But it was the finest $700 she ever spent."

To Your Good Health More Queries On Birth Control Pills

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking birth control pills for a year and a half but would very much like to become pregnant now. However, some women say that the hormones in the pills last a long time in the bloodstream and I could have a retarded child. Is this true?—MRS. G. N. Y.

No, it's not true. For years I've tried to combat some of the old wives' tales that have been passed down from generation to generation, hoping to clear the air.

Now it seems that some brand new groundless scare stories are being invented. Pay no attention to these rumors.

Dear Doctor: There have been quite a few arguments over whether "the pill" causes blood clots, cancer, etc., but none has come up that I cannot answer. My doctor says "don't worry about it," but I would like a further answer.

A friend says her doctor told her that women who continue taking the pills will continue to be fertile until the age of 70. Is this possible?—MRS. M.B.

The theory was advanced several years ago that it MIGHT happen. The argument was that since the pills prevent ovulation, maybe the supply of ova thus would be stored up and appear later in life.

At first there was no way to say that this COULDN'T happen. The pills by now have been in use for quite a few years, and we can say that it HASN'T happened. The medication, you know, was tested abroad for years before it was used in this country, so the evidence is quite strong—and becomes stronger each passing year—that users will not remain fertile past the normal age.

Dear Doctor: I have been taking birth control pills for three years and read that after four years they won't work. Are they harmful?—MRS. S. S.

There is no sign that the pills lose their potency, no matter how long they are used.

As for stopping them after any specified number of years, much uncertainty has developed simply because in the beginning the government recommended them for a limited time.

This was not because any harm was known to occur, but

Around The Rim Home On Wheels

Camping under modern conditions, no matter how hard you try to do the thing as they used to do isn't quite the same.

WHEN I WAS a kid, roaming about Texas and New Mexico like an Arab (only we didn't always have tents to fold up) we were faced with the matter of totting along the bare essentials. There were no luxuries.

Our bedding was in rolls, wrapped in old wagon sheets (or sometimes a piece of tarpaulin). A bed roll comprised a quilt or two, perhaps a blanket or so and a pillow. You slept on the ground — the quilts serving in lieu of a mattress; the blankets for cover. The tarp came into good use if it rained, which often it did.

THE FOOD and most of our cooking utensils were stowed in the chuck box which was attached to the rear of the wagon. It had a slanting door — hinged at the base — which meant the top of the box was narrow and the bottom wide. There were rough shelves inside, and, when we were travelling in real style, a few drawers.

The flour, which came in 50-pound bags, rode in the wagon proper with the neck tied in a knot. The sack got pretty dingy but I don't suppose it hurt the flour. If so we didn't bother about it.

FRYING PANS, the coffee pot and the Dutch oven rode in a feed box on the side of the wagon bed. Also in this box was the axle grease, the axe, a handsaw, a hammer and a rusty can of assorted nails.

The water keg was on the opposite side of the wagon. A piece of ducking was tied over the top of the keg, water sloshed as the wagon rolled over the rough roads, keeping the cloth wet. This, I suppose, kept the water a little cooler.

SINCE WATER wasn't always where you thought it would be the matter of conserving your supply was pressing. You generally had to forego the luxury of washing your face. There were many times when the dish washing was limited to throwing a handful of "clean" dirt into the greasy skillet and scrubbing the interior with a piece of wadded paper. You then rinsed the pan with a little water. It was ready for use again. After all, by the time it had heated on a flaring campfire of mesquite or cedar all germs undoubtedly had perished.

THE WAGON was always loaded to the rails despite our economy in selecting what we took with us. There was my dad's tool box — he was a carpenter and whether we ate regularly depended on his tools. He always had a half dozen rifles and shotguns — they were his hobby.

My mother had a battered box she called a "cedar chest." It was neither a chest or cedar, but in it was most of our extra clothing, the linens and spare bed clothing we owned.

WITH THE bed rolls, the horse feed, the lantern, the oil can, the tent (if we had one) there wasn't too much room for anything else.

Except for us, of course. The bedrolls piled across the wagon bed served as a substitute for a spring seat, and the driver and one of the passengers sat there. I usually piled down on the tent or any spare bedding which might be available.

We bumped along at the tremendous speed of about 25 miles a day if we had good luck.

SLOW? I suppose so. Nevertheless, my wanderings in this manner covered all of West Texas, a lot of East Texas and considerable portion of Arkansas.

Camping? Well, they do it now for fun, they tell me. I never could see much fun in it.

Art Buchwald No, Virginia, There Isn't

WASHINGTON — When the late President Kennedy cancelled his subscription to the New York Herald Tribune, I wrote a letter to my little friend, Virginia, assuring her that, although the paper wasn't read in the White House, it was still very much alive and would remain alive as long as there were Presidents in the White House to cancel their subscriptions to it.

The other day I received another letter from Virginia. It read:

"DEAR SIR: I am seven years old and all my friends tell me there is no New York Herald Tribune. I won't believe it's so until I read it in your column. Are they lying again?"

"Your friend, 'VIRGINIA.'"

"DEAR VIRGINIA: Unfortunately, this time your friends are telling the truth. The reason there is no Trib is because it could exist no longer. No, Virginia, there is no Herald Tribune. You are too young to understand why it is no more and so am I.

"The publishers said they wanted to publish it but the unions wouldn't let them. The unions said they wanted to print it but the publishers wouldn't let them. The advertisers all insisted New York City needed a Herald Tribune, but many of them wouldn't advertise in it. The readers said the New York Herald Tribune was a great newspaper, but apparently there just weren't enough of them."

"EVERYONE LOVED the Herald Tribune, even the competitors, but that did not prevent it from dying. Alas, Virginia, how dreary New York will be without the Trib, as dreary as many other cities where newspapers have died and none has come to take their place.

"A newspaper is not like Santa Claus. You don't have to see Santa Claus to know he exists, but you have to see a newspaper. You have to touch it and feel it and read it and, what's even more, believe in it.

"No Herald Tribune. It's true, Virginia. Those of us who worked for it thought it would live for a thousand, nay, ten thousand years, from now. We thought it would gladden the hearts of Virginias for generations to come. We didn't believe it would disappear until it happened, and some of us can't believe it still.

"I'M SORRY to break the news to you in this way, but, although your friends were right, tell them not to gloat when a newspaper dies. A little of the truth, beauty, romance, love, faith, and fancy that the world is so short of dies with it.

"Sincerely, 'A. B.'"

Holmes Alexander How Close To Revolution?

WASHINGTON — It is in the War Between the Races, not in the Viet Nam War against Asian communism, that we are lacking in victories in 1966.

Nowhere in the streets of American cities have our U.S. forces—local police or National Guard—defeated the Negro rioters. Nowhere have the arms of our constituted authorities applied the necessary power to destroy the hostile units and to put them out of action. In no American city can it be said that the keepers of law-and-order have distinctly won a battle.

ATTENTION should be paid. The most forgotten fact about Douglas MacArthur's encounter with the Bonus Marchers in 1932 was that the general succeeded. The marchers were routed. They never regrouped. The nearest thing to a para-military rebellion during the Great Depression was efficiently demolished. A shabby siege of the capital city was lifted.

On July 28, 1932, President Hoover told the press that "several thousand men from different camps marched in and attacked the police with brickbats..." On the next day, Hoover wrote the D. C. commissioner that:

"... I COMPLIED with your request for aid from the Army to the police... There is no group, no matter what its origins, that can be allowed either to violate the laws of this city or to intimidate the government."

Johnson administration. I saw on his desk a copy of Professor Crane Brinton's "The Anatomy of Revolution." On page 86 of my own marked copy, there is this telling passage:

"IN EACH revolution there is a point, or several points, where constituted authority is challenged by the illegal acts of revolutionists. In such instances, the routine response of any authority is to have recourse to force, police or military. Our authorities (who failed to prevent revolutions) made such a response, but in each case with a striking lack of success."

During a 20-day period in July, 1966, according to a summary by the U.S. News & World Report, eight American cities were ripped by riots. There were 207 casualties, including seven deaths. In the Watts District riots of a year ago, there were 1,066 casualties, including 34 deaths.

PROFESSOR BRINTON points out that the cause behind big revolutions is not poverty. "The worst famine in modern Western history," he points out, "the Irish potato famine of the 1840's... produced no revolution." Revolution comes to what Brinton calls "economically progressive societies." It comes to relatively prosperous, well-fed people with inefficient, wasteful, bankrupt governments which overtax the money-earners and arouse the intellectuals to indignation. Revolutionaries are fired by the disappointment of "rising expectations."

Whatever the past mistakes of profligate spending and of false hopes raised by Civil Rights legislation, the administration has one means of preventing revolution. Battles in the streets must be won.

Newsmen Given Blame For Gonder's Image

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jesse Gonder finally is catching up with Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson again, but he'd rather catch up with Yogi Berra.

Gonder, who was a high school chum of Robinson and Pinson, continued hitting like the two sluggers Monday night, rapping three hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged Philadelphia 6-5 and maintained their one-percentage-point lead in the National League pennant race.

Gonder, a reserve catcher has started the last three games for the Pirates and has collected eight hits in 13 at bats, raising his average 54 points to .245.

But as elated as Gonder is about his hitting, he prefers building his image as a catcher-an image he contends has been marred unjustifiably.

"I'm not a bad catcher," he said. "I hate to say this, but I have to blame the New York press. When I was with the Mets, the press was building the Mets' image. Any time a player did something wrong, they'd play it up big.

"Like one day the headline read, 'Gonder drops pop fly, Mets lose.' I don't think I got a fair shake."

The Pirates are willing boosters for Gonder's defense.

"He hasn't caught a bad game for us this year," pitcher Al McBean said.

Added Manager Harry Walker: "Bob Veale would rather pitch to him than anyone else."

The 30-year-old Gonder has traveled extensively since attending McClintock High School in Oakland, Calif., with Robinson and Pinson.

He played with 11 minor league teams and four major league teams — both New Yorks, Cincinnati and Milwaukee — before joining the Pirates this season.

In other National League games, second-place San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 5-2, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 4-3 in 12 innings, St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0 and Chicago downed New York 8-4. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

Patriarch Officiates

On hand to present a silver trophy to Gray Reno recently at La Mesa Race Track in Raton, N. M., was the 93-year-old "grand old man" of that state's racing, who has donned his black derby hat on the occasion of every running at the track's derby. He is George (Shorty) Clements, seated here with Mrs. Clements. Standing is R. Wood Erwin, La Mesa secretary-treasurer. Shorty was born in England and came to this country to ride as an exercise boy and jockey. He settled in Raton over 50 years ago, working as a valet, custodian of the winner's circle and in various other capacities at the track until his retirement at the beginning of this season.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
HERB CAEN, San Francisco columnist: "I hate the way the sports columns overlap these days. Is it fair to have to start worrying about the (football) 48ers before you've stopped worrying about the (baseball) Giants?"

DENNY LEMASTER, Atlanta pitcher: "Now we starting pitchers are going to get a chance to work our way out of jams. Bobby Bragan (fired recently) would yank us at the first sign of trouble, and it ruined our confidence. He was a genius at only one thing—talking."

ERNE TERRELL, the WBA's Heavy-weight boxing champion: "Only two states don't recognize me as champion, Gold-water and two states in the presidential election but those two states don't recognize him as president."

JOHN MCKAY, football coach at USC: "This year, schedule is the toughest I've faced in seven years here. Our conference (AAWU) is better balanced while Clemson, Texas, Miami and Notre Dame rate way up there as contenders. Only Wisconsin figures to be a conference also-ran."

HORACE STONEHAM, owner of the San Francisco Giants, commenting on the National League race: "Sure, I think we have a chance to win it—nobody else seems to want it."

DEL CRANDELL, former National leaguer, now with Cleveland: "Which league do I think is stronger? Club by club, I can see no difference. I can't put my finger on why the feeling exists that the National League is stronger unless it is the All-Star game business. You can't judge by one game or even a series. I can honestly say the leagues are equal in ability. Another fallacy concerns the umpiring. You hear the National is a low ball league and the Americans stresses high balls but I haven't found any difference in the way balls and strikes are called. To me the umpiring is identical."

CASSIUS CLAY, the celebrated fisticuffer: "I have to say that I'm gonna go down in the history books of boxing as the fastest heavyweight of all time. That's a pretty good title, I think. I don't think it means much to be a champion in with a puncher. I'm not a brute savage. I'm a classical fighter. A picture fighter. I'm also gonna go down as the most talked-about fighter, the most publicized and the most popular. My fights are now shown in the holy city of Mecca, a place where they don't usually go in for westernized sports. I will go down as the onliest real world champion who was recognized in all parts of the world. . . . I'm thinking about fighting all over the world. Russia, South America, Mexico, Mecca, Indonesia, Saudi Arabia. . . . When I fight, 68 per cent of the people with television sets all over the world are watching me. . . . I still want to fight Ernie Terrell in Chicago. I like Chicago. A fight between Terrell and me here would help this city over the troubles it's having. I'd be training here for a month and I could tour the streets and work with those street gangs. . . . It would give the Negroes of Chicago a chance to see someone who is doing things the right way and give them pride. . . . Everybody loves me."

ABE LEMONS, veteran basketball coach at Oklahoma City University, speaking with tongue in cheek: "I just may go into football coaching. I hear they're playing it inside (at Houston) and they're putting the ball up a lot more. That's right down my alley."

GEORGE ALLEN, new coach of the Los Angeles Rams: "We can never drift, even in practice, down to a 70 per cent performance. Games are won and lost in every hour of our preparation. We must constantly give 110 per cent. Also, we are definitely thinking of 1966, and only 1966, not 1967."

Baltimore Folks Have Hot 'Yule'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — In hot and humid August weather, Christmas decorations festooned three light poles on Charles Street in Baltimore's business district today.

The red, green and silver decorations went up last weekend but the Charles Street Association, a merchants' group, said they are only to test public reaction and will come down Wednesday.

"It gives you a spirit of Christmas," said one pedestrian, Mrs. Willetta Rowell.

Roger Miller's Show Boasts Host's Own Fresh Styling

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV - Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roger Miller, composer of "You Can't Roller Skate in a Buffalo Herd" and "My Uncle Used to Love Me But She Died," may very well be just what television has needed for a long time: A new variety star with style and personality all his own.

Miller, whose NBC half-hour show will be a candidate for public approval in the new season, is a tall, sleepy-eyed Texan with a Southwestern drawl that would make LBJ green with envy. He has built-in hatred of the cliché answer.

Ask him about his upcoming show, and instead of telling you about the great guys he's working with, he'll murmur something about it being "something like swimming — if you panic you drown."

"The Roger Miller Show" will be the only really novel excursion into variety on television in the season that starts in a couple of weeks. All in all, there will be 10 programs weekly on the three networks that fall into the variety category — and three of them, "The Ed Sullivan Show," "The Red Skelton Show" and "The Lawrence Welk Show" have been around almost as long as television itself.

There will also be two other new variety shows this season.

Milton Berle is coming back on ABC in what he promises will be a revue. Garry Moore returns to CBS after a two-season absence.

Thus Miller will be the only real "new face" that TV talks about so much but uses so infrequently.

No one can tell now what kind of television personality Miller will show. It is a vast distance between being a guest star singing his own songs and acting as host to guest stars, making them look good — and singing other people's music.

And most of all, it is hard to tell how a show competing with "The Lucy Show" will make out, since Miss Ball's television road is marked by the graves of series that died for lack of audiences.

"There are some things that I just won't worry about," Miller reflected. "I always say 'Rome wasn't built in a day.'"

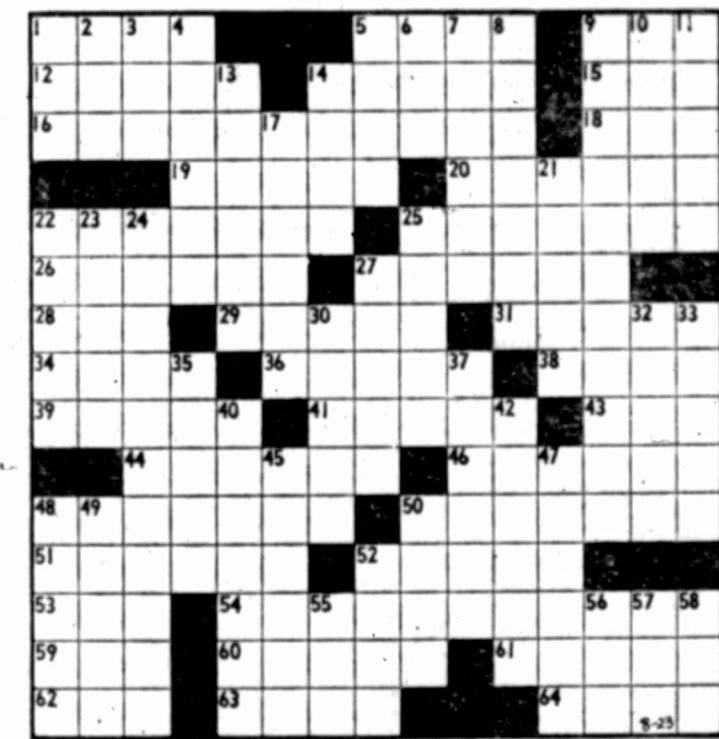

It is even hard to predict what his show will look like. Miller himself says the set will consist of "two trees and a picture of my uncle" and, for a change from turtle-neck sweaters and bright-colored slacks, he'll specialize in "hip boots and hairnets."

With a couple of exceptions like Jack Jones and Liberace, he said he'll try to find guests who aren't the eternal travelers on the variety circuit.

Setbacks Delay Vacation Trip

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — After eight years delay by broken legs, assorted childhood mishaps and childbirth, Mr. and Mrs. Arden Miser and their eight children finally set out on a vacation trip.

They and the family dog headed Sunday for a rented cottage at Higgins Lake.

About 25 miles from home a rear wheel on the loaded family station wagon started to lock and a short time later exploded.

Miser walked to a telephone to call a tow truck. Mrs. Miser and children stayed in the car. "Then I heard a crackling sound," she recalled. "I looked back and smelled smoke. Then I saw it."

She took the children, aged 1 to 12, to the side of the road just as the car burst into flames. "We saved nothing, not even my purse which was beside me on the front seat," she said. "But we're still going to the lake, at least for a few days."

Influential Catholics Back DuBay's Plea For Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Influential Roman Catholic voices today were offering support to the plea of the suspended California priest, the Rev. William DuBay, for an open ecclesiastical trial of his case.

Without one, the Vatican recently upheld his suspension. Rev. DuBay, protesting the lack of a hearing at which he could defend himself, has appealed to Pope Paul VI.

The widely respected Jesuit weekly, America, saying the situation points up deficiencies in the church's legal procedures, declared:

"In the name of basic human dignity and the procedural guarantees indispensable for that dignity's recognition, Rev. DuBay should be given an impartial, public and procedurally impeccable trial."

Some other American Catholic publications have voiced similar views.

The independently edited newspaper, the National Catholic Reporter, said last week that Rev. DuBay "is performing a service for the church" in insisting that the church heed the rights of due process.

"Today it is an almost universal conviction of mankind that judicial proceedings held in secret and in the absence of the accused are not likely to provide 'efficacious' protection of personal rights."

The issue has broad implications for the church, in the light of the Second Vatican Council's stress on the place of individual conscience, ideas and expression in contributing to the church's life.

America, in its strongly worded editorial, disclaimed any sympathy for Rev. DuBay's doctrinal or practical viewpoints, but declared that he should have due process of law for his "sake — and even more, for the church's sake."

Rev. DuBay, 31, first got into trouble in 1964 when he publicly accused his superior, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, of Los Angeles, of "gross malfeasance" and urged Pope Paul to remove him.

REV. DUBAY

McIntyre had failed to provide moral leadership against racial discrimination, and had suppressed priests who sought to do so.

Cardinal McIntyre transferred him several times, eventually to Santa Monica, Calif., and last February suspended him from exercising his priesthood, after he urged a labor union for priests, and published a book, "The Human Church," urging wide reforms, such as election of bishops.

He appealed his suspension, asking for "an ecclesiastical court before which I may make a defense and receive the protections of due process." On July 30, he was notified by the apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, of Washington, D.C., that the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of Faith had upheld his suspension as "well founded and just."

Rev. DuBay, in appealing to Pope Paul, commented: "Not only have I been tried in absentia by anonymous judges and prevented from appearing in person with counsel and witnesses, but also I have been denied the right of confronting my accusers."

In its editorial, America said that "by modern standards, canonical law is sadly deficient in procedural safeguards" for clergy, not only because of their reluctance to clash with bishops, but because the law is weighted in favor of bishops.

Parent Training Is Abilene Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — An experimental program to train 105 needy and unemployed parents in Abilene, Tex., has been approved under a $251,818 grant from the Welfare Administration.

The program, approved Monday, will offer training in air conditioning, electrical wiring, plumbing, stenography and office work, food service handling and cooking.

Cotton Yield Looking Good

AUSTIN (AP) — Widespread rains boosted cotton prospects over large areas of North Texas last week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

The department said in its weekly crop-weather report that High Plains cotton prospects were greatly enhanced and "in North Texas, additional moisture was received to insure normal fruit development."

The department said sorghum and other crops benefited from rain and planting moisture was provided for some early seeded wheat.

The report said mid-August rains slowed combining of sorghum grain in North Texas and delayed Coastal Bend cotton and rice harvesting.

Cotton ginnings passed the 100,000-bale mark in South Texas. Statewide, cotton harvest is at 5 per cent, compared with 14 per cent last year.

Sorghum harvest reached 36 per cent, compared with 38 per cent a year ago.

Potato harvest on the High Plains is nearly complete. Onion harvest is near completion in most areas. Land preparation and planting of peppers and cabbage continued in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and "the citrus crop continues to look good," the report said.

War Kills Texan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said Monday that Capt. Don T. Elledge, son of Mrs. Vera Elledge of Mabank, Tex., had been killed in action in Viet Nam. Captain Elledge was an Army officer.

VA Given 3 Awards

Three special awards were presented at the Veterans Administration Hospital Monday for participation in the U.S. Government Savings Bond program.

A special award from the Secretary of the Treasury, Douglas Dillon, went to Robert W. Bouldin, personnel officer and chairman of the bond campaign, for his role in raising the employe participation from 53 per cent in May to 82 per cent in June at the conclusion of the drive.

William J. Driver, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, Washington, D. C., presented the hospital a commendation certificate along with the award from the Treasury Department. In his letter Driver said that he wanted to "commend the employes... for the outstanding record achieved during the 1966 United States Savings Bond Campaign."

The awards were accepted, on behalf of the hospital, by Dr. H. C. Ernsting, acting hospital director, in a special staff meeting at the hospital.
