Cotton Men Urged To Give Help

Pre-Trial Under Way

A battery of 10 attorneys was on hand Thursday as Judge R. W. Caton opened a pre-hearing at 10 a.m. in 118th District Court the case of C. O. Shifflet, et al versus City of Big Spring, et al.

The hearing is an effort to come to agreement on wording in petitions and coordinate pleadings in the complicated suit growing out of construction of a sewage facility. Judge Caton estimated that the pre-hearing would continue through Friday in an effort to thin out legal underbrush in preparation for the trial on Sept. 12.

The action arises out of a big structure which floated out of the ground May 5, 1963, during construction. Shifflet Bros., contractors, contended this was an act of God due to floods, but the city refused to pay for costs thus incurred, claiming that the contractor was negligent.

Winds Hamper Spraying, West Texas Has Cases

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Health authorities are hopeful they can wind up the unprecedented aerial spraying of Dallas Friday although rain and gusty winds have begun to hamper the fight against the rampaging encephalitis epidemic.

Dr. Hal Dewlett, city health director, said at a news conference Wednesday that the number of suspected cases in the county had risen to 93, with six deaths linked to the mosquito-borne disease.

Ten suspected cases of encephalitis in Oklahoma—including one death—are being analyzed at the communicable disease center in Atlanta, Ga.

State Health Department officials said results of the tests will not be known before Friday.

Dr. Robert Carpenter said a spraying campaign would be necessary if the tests show encephalitis among any of the victims except three who had visited Dallas. Carpenter is director of the division of epidemiology.

SIX PLANES
Six specially equipped Air Force C123 cargo aircraft have dispensed a fine spray of Malathion over 470 square miles of the county in brief, early morning flights.

"This operation will serve as a model for the future if our success continues," said Dr. John Kilpatrick of the U. S. Public Health Service, Atlanta, Ga.

The planes spray the mist of Malathion, an insecticide deemed deadly only to mosquitoes and bees, from an altitude of 150 feet.

It was also announced Wednesday that the Office of Regional Planning (ORP) has approved a grant of $217,000 for Dallas in aid against the epidemic. Most of the money is to go toward deferring the cost of the Malathion.

193 CASES
State health authorities said Wednesday that 193 suspected cases of encephalitis have been reported in Texas.

Of these, 68 are listed at Corpus Christi, where St. Louis encephalitis, the same type that has stricken Dallas, has reached made fibers, an industry leader said today.

This warning came at a Agriculture Department hearing to determine grower sentiment on an assessment of $1 per bale to promote cotton under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act. About 35 leading Texas and Oklahoma growers were scheduled to testify in favor of the program.

Most of Thursday's session was expected to be occupied with testimony of the National Cotton Council, Cotton Producers Institute, and cotton grower organizations. A similar hearing ended Wednesday in Memphis, Tenn.

G. C. Cortright, Rolling Fork, Miss., Council Board Chairman and a CPI trustee, said that man-made fibers are offering textile mills all kinds of goods and services and incentives and cold cash in advertising allowances.

In view of this, he asked, how could cotton farmers ask these customers to put up money to reduce the farmer's production costs, improve the quality of cotton products, and promote them?

An assessment of ginners and other branches of the industry who serve farmers would be reflected eventually in their charges, he said, and the farmer would end up paying anyway.

epidemic proportions.

Dr. J. E. Peavy, state health commissioner, said another strain of the viral illness, known as western encephalitis, has been reported in West Texas.

Suspected cases number 19 in Hale County, five at Lufkin and Amarillo and four at Lubbock.

TIGHT CLOTHES
The strike began Tuesday when Miss Pat Morris, 35, was suspended from her job at the plant because she wore tightly fitting clothes.

Miss Morris, whose vital statistics are 39-27-39, says she is "heartbroken about so much trouble it has caused."

Miss Morris works the overnight shift with six other women who, like her, wear stretch jeans and sweaters. She is not a union member.

She was suspended by the plant foreman on the grounds that her tight sweaters and tight jeans were distracting to other workers.

SAME TYPE
"I don't know why they singled me out," she said. "The other women wore the same type of clothes. I told them I would buy other clothes on payday. They said something about being too stacked and sent me home."

Miss Morris says she works behind a pile of equipment and wears a "huge leather apron."

The company said she refused to change her attire after being orally warned about a week ago.

A local of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union held a meeting and maintained the company should have given her a warning in writing.

Broken Irrigation Ditch

This crushed cement lined irrigation ditch was one of the results of the flood that struck Dell City Tuesday destroying homes, cotton crops and livestock. Damage to the area is estimated at about $2 million. This ditch was valued at $75,000. Cotton field at right was three feet high before flood, which rushed off nearby mountains and covered the community of 950 with three to 15 feet of water. (AP WIREPHOTO) at Big Spring.

In the cool Texas Panhandle, early morning fog cut visibility to one-sixteenth mile at Dalhart and one-fourth mile at Amarillo. The temperature sagged to 54 degrees at Dalhart and 55 at Amarillo.

ROADS OPEN
Massive cleanups began as threats of more rain eased in the mud-caked and still draining sectors of far West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

All major highways finally were reopened after two days of virtual isolation for Dell City in particular. Repairs men also had at least part of the telephone circuits useable again.

The death toll from Monday's flooding stood at four, all in

New Mexico—two persons drowned and two killed as a station wagon skidded off a still-wet road.

Texas Highway Patrol Capt. Jerry Miller estimated damage to houses in Dell City would amount to $2 million at a minimum of the 250 persons forced to evacuate by water up to six feet deep, only a few spent Tuesday night in schools. The others returned to their homes.

CROPS HURT
Crop losses promised to be staggering. Farm experts reported flood waters pouring off the mountains close by damaged 9,950 acres of cotton, 3,200 acres of grain sorghums, 2,000 acres of alfalfa and 800 acres of vegetables, mostly tomatoes.

Faith Draws A Bead On Puerto Rico

Scientists Hoping To Bomb Her

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Faith shifted slightly off her westward course today, moved toward an afternoon collision with the Leeward Islands, and brought Puerto Rico into her range.

Hurricane warning flags which had fluttered over the Leewards since Wednesday night were hoisted over Puerto Rico, an island of 2,530,000 population, when Faith veered off the course she had followed all across the Atlantic.

Weather forecasters said gales would begin lashing the Leewards this afternoon and reach a screaming, 90-mile pitch by midnight. It is expected to pass very close or possibly over the north coast of Puerto Rico Friday.

The turn raised hopes of scientists of Project Stormfury that they still would be able to make the historic effort to tame the hurricane by seeding.

The shift took the French island of Martinique, south of the Leewards, out of the danger zone and meant that the islands of Dominica and Marie Galante would escape with gale force winds.

Forecasters said tides would run wild tonight along the Leewards, which sprawl across the eastern end of the Caribbean. Evacuation of coastal areas was urged.

At 11 a.m., Faith was centered about 550 miles east-southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and 1,550 miles east-southeast of Miami.

RAPID SPEED
Traveling at a rapid forward speed of 25 miles an hour, the hurricane lashed a 400-mile wide area with gales.

Residents of the islands—about 375,000—were ordered to evacuate areas subject to flooding and board up for the powerful winds and heavy rains.

The 4,000-foot jagged mountain range in Dominica, one of the British-owned Windward Islands, was not expected to affect the storm's storm.

"Even if it hit the mountains directly it would disrupt it only slightly," said Arnold Suggs, forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau. "The mountains are not extensive enough to change its intensity."

RANGE
The mountains in Guadeloupe rise abruptly from the sea on the west coast and slope gently down in the east in an almost continuous range.

If Faith slips into the testing area, scientists planned to dispatch a fleet of planes from Puerto Rico to launch a massive bomb attack with silver iodide crystals in hopes of draining the energy she draws from heat and moisture.

BRISK FIGHTING
U.S. Marines clashed again in brisk fighting with North Vietnamese army regulars in the northern provinces of South Viet Nam.

The Military Command disclosed that the Leathernecks were engaged in two new operations and so far have killed 188 of the enemy.

Businessmen Hosts At Lunch

By SAM BLACKBURN
ST. LAWRENCE—Forty-two Big Spring business and professional men joined 100 or more Glascock farmers and ranchers at noon today in a barbecue dinner in the community house.

MID-POINT
The barbecue dinner at which the Big Spring men were hosts, marked the mid-way point of an all-day journey through lush farms and ranches in this county.

Jimmy Taylor, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and Adolph Swartz, of the retail committee, spearheaded the tour.

The first stop was at the Dr. J. B. Sanders ranch, where 52 acres of Irish potatoes on a commercial basis were shown.

The potatoes now being harvested are running from 12,000 pounds per acre up. This is the first year a potato crop has been attempted in this area.

En route to Garden City, stops were made at the Gary Seidenberger farm, where the visitors inspected milo, which is producing 55,000 pounds of threshed grain per acre.

At the Bob Ballinger ranch, the Big Spring men saw a score or more of the prize quarter horses of the state. Ballinger was particularly proud of a young colt, produced by Dixie Buck, who is a grand champion quarter horse mare of the Fort Worth Livestock Show.

The next stop was at the Richard Johnson-James Currie ranch and farm, where 3,600 pecan trees in a commercial orchard were studied. The trees will begin bearing in three or four years and represent the pioneering effort in establishing this as a cash crop in West Texas.

This particular ranch is in the heart of the biggest irrigation belt in this area. Several wells on the farm pump from 1,200-1,500 gallons of water per minute.

ON TIME
Although it rained off and on, all of the scheduled stops were made, and at 11:45 a.m., the chartered bus reached St. Lawrence, exactly on time.

The afternoon schedule was to include inspection of additional farms in the St. Lawrence area and be climaxed with a watermelon feast at the community building here. The delegation was due back in Big Spring at 4:30 p.m.

REDS ORDER
Most of the attacks were concentrated in the Southern Panhandle and just north of the demilitarized zone. Only one raid was made in the Hanoi area—against an oil depot 18 miles from the Communist capital with results not announced.

TIGHT-FITTING CLOTHES BLAMED

Strike Follows Suspension

GARDINER, Ore. (AP)—"At first you laugh about it, then you get mad," says a waitress whose husband is among more than 300 workers who have struck the International Paper Co.'s plywood plant in this Southwest Oregon coastal community.

Miss Morris, whose vital statistics are 39-27-39, says she is "heartbroken about so much trouble it has caused."

Miss Morris works the overnight shift with six other women who, like her, wear stretch jeans and sweaters. She is not a union member.

She was suspended by the plant foreman on the grounds that her tight sweaters and tight jeans were distracting to other workers.

"I don't know why they singled me out," she said. "The other women wore the same type of clothes. I told them I would buy other clothes on payday. They said something about being too stacked and sent me home."

Miss Morris says she works behind a pile of equipment and wears a "huge leather apron."

The company said she refused to change her attire after being orally warned about a week ago.

A local of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union held a meeting and maintained the company should have given her a warning in writing.

"It's a policy matter, not a personality matter," says Harley Gray, president of the union local. "We are not planning to go back to work until the company lifts the illegal suspension of this worker. We are willing to meet with the company at any time."

The Reason

Pat Morris, 35, wears same clothing while playing with kitten as she wore at International Paper Co. plant in the Southwest Oregon community of Gardiner. (AP WIREPHOTO)

E.A. Meyers, calls the strike nonsense. He said, "The matter of attire is outside the contract. As a matter of fact, she had been warned several times about the way she dressed."

"I feel just terrible when I think of all the families with children that can be hurt by this," says Miss Morris.

'Protocol' Visit Delightful Experience For Alan Doelp

By DAL HERRING
Every young bachelor dreams of flying to Europe for a fun-filled summer of carefree living and sightseeing, but for Alan Doelp it is more than a passing fancy.
It is a dream-come-true.

Alan, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Doelp, 3225 Drexel, boarded a trans-Atlantic jet June 13 and landed in Germany for a nine week vacation of traveling and recreation.

Alan says he was simply observing protocol, returning a visit to the United States by Klaus Limbacher, 19, the Big Spring foreign exchange student for 1964-65.

When Klaus studied here, he and Alan became close friends and young Doelp was invited to go to Europe and visit his foreign friend.

"A trip to Europe isn't free," said Alan. "I figure the entire affair cost about $1,250. Of course, that's about half what the average tourist would spend."

Doelp and his friend toured four countries, Germany, Holland, Switzerland and Italy. Sometimes they were accompanied by Klaus' parents, sometimes not.

"We spent five days in Rome exploring all the old ruins," he explained, "and then six of us teenagers went to the island of Elba, where Napoleon was ex-

Orbiter To Send Back Earth Photos Today

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — A busy day was on tap today for Lunar Orbiter.

The schedule included transmission of a picture of the earth taken Tuesday and photographing the fifth of nine potential astronaut landing sites on the moon's surface.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the earth's picture would be sent to the deep space receiving station at Goldstone, Calif. It was hoped the photo would show something of the earth's terminator—the line dividing the shadowed and sunlit portions.
Because of the diffusion of sunlight by the earth's atmosphere, officials said they thought the picture would show a gradual shading from light to dark instead of a well-defined line as on the moon.
So far, the camera aboard the spacecraft has exposed 114 frames of film, each containing two pictures. Half were taken by a high-resolution lens and the rest by a standard-resolution lens.

Theft Of Pets Target Of New Federal Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law a bill aimed at curbing what some have called a multimillion-dollar racket — the theft of pets for sale to scientific laboratories.

The measure, which received final congressional approval last week, also requires humane care and treatment for animals to be used in medical research.

During a signing ceremony in the White House Wednesday, Johnson said progress in the use of animals for research but added that the measure would not interfere with that.

The U.S. Humane Society has estimated that the nationwide traffic in stolen dogs alone brings in at least $50 million annually.

The new legislation provides for licensing of animal dealers and empowers the secretary of agriculture to regulate the handling of animals.

During House and Senate hearings, stories were told of animals starved, abused and kept under filthy conditions by unscrupulous dealers.

Violators of the legislation could be punished by fines up to $1,000 and up to one year imprisonment.

101 Years Old, He Lives Alone, Cooks Own Food

BOSTON (AP) — George V. Kenyon-ashendon just turned 101 years old but he insists on living alone and doing his own cooking.

"Steak and sausage — my future is right here," he said at his two-room apartment in Boston's South End.

He downed eight sausages for breakfast and was preparing chicken wings for dinner.

Ashendon worked around Boston as a freelance photographer until he retired on old-age assistance.

De Gaulle Begins Long World Trip

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle left today on an around-the-world trip, including a state visit to Cambodia whose leader, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has been vociferously opposed to American policy in neighboring Viet Nam.

De Gaulle plans a major speech in the Cambodian capital, Phnom Penh, Sept. 1 in which he is expected to push his campaign for a united, neutral Viet Nam.

Whether he would condemn U.S. policy in Viet Nam from that rostrum was a matter of diplomatic speculation here. He has been critical of it in the past but observers noted he was restrained about the situation while visiting the Soviet Union last spring.

The president, accompanied by his wife, flew from Paris in an American-built DC8 jet on the 22nd anniversary of the liberation of the city by French and American troops.

Although his 27,000-mile trip includes stops in Djibouti, French Somaliland; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; New Caledonia; Tahiti, and Guadeloupe, his visit to Cambodia-formerly a part of French Indochina-overshadowed the rest.

France-Soir, biggest newspaper in France, bannerlined, "De Gaulle has decided to say everything he thinks on Viet Nam." What that was, however, remained a secret.

Farm Week Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proclaimed the Nov. 18-24 period today as National Farm Week.

Go-Ahead Signal Given For Lake

The go-ahead signal for a $30,000,000 West Texas Water supply project has been given.

Bids for construction of a dam and auxiliary facilities for the Colorado River reservoir near Robert Lee have been set for 2 p.m. Oct. 6 in Big Spring. Plans for the huge earthen dam and concrete spillway were approved formally by Colorado River Municipal Water District directors Wednesday. Inquiries already have been received from contractors at various points in the nation.

Despite a tight money market, the district will proceed immediately to issue $30,000,000 in revenue bonds to finance the reservoir, pump stations and pipelines which will carry water as far west as Odessa. Eastman, Dillon, Union Securities, Inc., fiscal agent, is proceeding toward negotiating for sale of the issue, and the board will meet in Big Spring again Sept. 8 to give final, formal authorization to the sale.

Directors said they wanted to be sure of completing the project as rapidly as possible, especially in view of the contract to furnish Midland with contract quantities of water starting no later than 1970. Hence, they decided not to try to split the issue, but rather sell it all now. There was some speculation that plans for the pipeline might be advanced six months or more.

The board also authorized filing condemnation proceedings in several instances where it has been impossible to reach agreement with property owners.

A contract with Fred McCabe for 196,000 cubic yards of riprap rock was approved, as was a $103,621 contract with West Texas Utilities for relocation of power lines near the reservoir basin.

A 99-year lease of a tract of land near the new lake basin to Coke County for development as a landing strip was also approved. Tentative plans for the project call for a minimum length of 4,400 feet.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that an agreement had been reached for putting most of the producing oilwells in the basin "in the dry" on earthen mounds. This will cost upwards of a million dollars. The district still is negotiating with the Texas Highway Department for relocation of two highways which will be partly inundated.

Standard and Poore, investment analysts, have upped the district bond rating to A from the previous BAA, said Charles Perry, president, who headed a visit to New York last week to seek a better rating.

Work may be started on the dam project before November, officials indicated. The earthen dam will extend 22,000 feet across the Colorado River Valley, impounding a 488,000-acre-foot lake with maximum depth of 81 feet in the valley and an average depth of 32.7. The dam itself will be 111 feet high and involve 10,527,000 cubic yards of dirt. Before this, however, 690,000 cubic yards will be excavated for a core trench. When complete, the dam will be overlaid with 74,000 cubic yards of gravel and 196,000 cubic yards of rock rip rap.

Cost of the dam and structure is pegged at about $8.2 million, including $2.75 million for the massive concrete spillway. Land, damages, relocation of power lines, pipelines, highways, oil wells is expected to add another 3.5 million. The pipeline, with dimensions up to 45 inches, will be built later at a cost of about $10 million. Nine pump stations with an aggregate of 10,000 horsepower will be required.

Tors Likes Working With Live Animals

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's he trying to be — another Walt Disney? asked a local observer of producer Ivan Tors.

The Budapest-born movie maker would like nothing more than to achieve the success with family audience that Disney enjoys, but he is doing mighty fine as Ivan Tors.

Look at his activities:

Two high-rated television series, "Flipper" and "Daktari." Three movies for the summer-fall season — "Around the World Under the Sea," "Birds Do It," "Namu, the Killer Whale!" plus another shooting in Africa and six in preparation.

A four-stage studio in Miami and an underwater studio in the Bahamas, where the Tors team filmed the wet scenes of "Thunderball."

Africa, U.S.A., where 500 wild animals are trained for movie work.

The difference between Disney and Tors seems to be that while Walt works with animals that are cartooned or automated, Ivan prefers the real thing.

"It all began when I was making 'Sea Hunt,'" said the producer. "During the years of filming we were exposed to sharks, killer whales and all kinds of supposedly dangerous fish. But the only real encounter was when a barracuda bumped against a man's chest. The man was wearing a St. Christopher's medal which the barracuda apparently thought was a fish."

Tors was intrigued by the apparent willingness of the sea beasts to tolerate the presence of human beings. He continued research with land animals as well and is now convinced that man and beast can co-exist. "The approach is simple," he explained in his MGM office where he works surrounded by photographs of his four-footed and finny friends. "There was antagonism between man and animals during the centuries that man was a hunter."

"But now that hunting is no longer necessary, there is no problem in establishing a friendly relationship. The important step is to pass through the boundary that exists between different species."

He accomplishes that by putting the animal on a long chain and allowing it to grow accustomed to the presence of humans.

Tors figures he can train almost any animal in a year's time, and he constantly seeks new challenges.

Soviets Silent On Lunar Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet spacecraft four times as heavy as America's Lunar Orbiter sped today toward its own orbit of the moon as official silence hid its mission.

The heaviness of the craft, Luna 11, suggested several possibilities to veteran Sputnik watchers including sending back photos and possibly even trying to return to earth after circling the moon. Soviet newspapers reported on their front pages the brief announcement of the launching Wednesday. They did not add any details about the craft or its purpose. There have been reports the Russians might try to land an animal on the moon.

City Plans Wide Spraying For Skeeters

Big Spring is continuing its program of mosquito elimination — in the wake of recent rains and statewide reports of spreading encephalitis. "We are now oiling every known breeding place for mosquitoes we can find," Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said today. "We started oiling right after the last rain." Spraying for mosquitoes will start today, Lillard said, and cover the entire community. "We will continue the spraying and oiling until the mosquitoes are either immune to our chemicals or are eliminated," he stated. "This is as complete and controlled a spraying program as possible." Lillard noted that recent cool weather is no deterrent to the flying disease carriers — the temperature must be below 40 degrees before it will affect mosquitoes, he said. "All this cool weather does is allow the mosquitoes to come out during the day as well as at night," Lillard said.

Mrs. R. E. (Alma) Blount, 66, former resident and composer of the Big Spring High School alma mater song, died unexpectedly Wednesday morning in an Austin hospital. In 1927 they moved to Big Spring when he became a line foreman for Texas Electric Service Company, a post he held until 1947 when he accepted a position with the Lower Colorado River Authority. The following year they moved to Austin. Both Mr. and Mrs. Blount were active in civic affairs here,

Mighty Saturn Thunders Away

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's most powerful rocket, a massive Saturn 1, thundered into the sky today, aiming to hurl an unmanned Apollo moonship three-quarters of the way around the world to qualify both rocket and spacecraft for a three-man earth orbit flight in December. Spurring a tail of fire the length of a football field, the 23-story 663-ton Saturn 1 soared away from Cape Kennedy at 11:16 p.m. Big Spring time on 1.6 million pounds of thrust generated by its eight first-stage engines. The fiery departure was the start of an intended 93-minute flight that was to subject the Apollo craft to a series of punishing and demanding tests, climaxed by a blazing dive back through the atmosphere above the Pacific Ocean. The spacecraft was not intended to orbit. Recovery will be attempted. Watching the launching were the three astronauts who have been picked to ride the next Apollo ship into earth orbit for 14 days starting about mid-December. This team, whose launching will trigger an all-out drive to land men on the moon by 1968, consists of Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grisson, Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee. Before they rocket into space, the two-man Gemini program is to be completed with two more flights, in September and October. As Saturn 1 streaked out over the Atlantic on a southeast heading, the flight control center reported the early phase of the flight was progressing smoothly. The launching was 45 minutes late because of problems in sending teletype signals to a tracking ship in the Atlantic. This caused the countdown crew some anxious minutes as they kept an eye on Hurricane Faith, churning toward islands in the eastern Caribbean — including a key Saturn-Apollo tracking station on Antigua. Had the count been delayed another 40 or 45 minutes, the launching would have been postponed, officials said. Advance winds of Faith had begun buffeting Antigua. "Everything looks right on the money," the control center reported six minutes after launching. It said the second stage ignited on schedule.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell Long, D-La., said the prospects appear to be good that the Senate will reject President Johnson's open housing provision in the civil rights bill. Market Rally Faltered Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally faltered on its second day and prices were mixed early this afternoon in routine trading. Glamour stocks resumed their market leadership at the start but the list reached its peak in a half hour. The trend was downward from that point on. By noon, the New York Stock Exchange index was unchanged after earlier showing a 19-cent gain. Analysts showed no enthusiasm about the character of the rally, saying it was technical and based on no change in the economic and financial factors which were blamed for the 205-point drop in the Dow Jones industrial average from its February peak.

Flow From Leaking Tree Slowing Up

LA FERIA, Tex. (AP)—Sam Morse's leaking acacia tree—whose juices some think have healing powers—has slowed from a flow to a dribble in the daytime, but a 25 cent charge has been added just to touch the tree.

Morse already is charging 50 cents admission to a wire enclosure around the tree. Once inside the gate, most people collect the liquid flowing from the tree and rub it on their bodies.

Recently, there's been a sign in Morse's yard from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. which says, "Too windy today—it dries up the water. Let's give the Crying Tree a rest." He said the tree flows good other than between those hours.

"My big problem now," he said, "is to keep them from pulling the bark off the tree. They pay 25 cents to touch it and once they get inside, they hug the tree and pray and start ripping the bark off and trying to dig mud out from around the roots."

Morse also said he could sell the tree's seeds for 25 cents each, but hasn't started that business yet.

Arms Conferees Are Deadlocked;

GENEVA (AP) — The deadlocked 17-nation disarmament conference went into recess today but agreed to meet again next year.

After calling the talks "fruitless" and "a waste of time" Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roshchin surprised the West by promptly agreeing to a resumption of the negotiations after the end of the next session of the United Nations General Assembly—probably in mid-January, 1967.

The final session ended with East and West blaming each other on the lack of progress during the seven-month session. But delegates from both sides stressed the importance of carrying on with the talks.

Obscenity Defined For Trial Jurors

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A jury resumed deliberations today on a case in which a judge said obscenity must be calculated to corrupt and deprave minds and morals.

Mrs. Garrett Rites Friday

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. W. H. Garrett, 88, died at 11:35 p.m. Tuesday at Root Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. W. M. Wilkinson, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Darris Egger, former pastor. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

She was born March 2, 1878, in Erath County and married W. H. Garrett in 1898. The family moved to Colorado City in 1920. Mrs. Garrett was a member of the First Methodist Church.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1938. Survivors include two sons, J. C. Garrett, Colorado City, and Lt. Col. (Ret.) Charles R. Garrett, Houston; one daughter, Miss Neida Garrett, Colorado City; one sister, Mrs. Abby Atlee, De Leon; also four grandchildren.

paperback books in interstate commerce. The 25 - count indictment alleges the books are obscene, lewd and lascivious.

Ingram told the jurors this is legal language for "that form of immorality as it relates to men and one woman Wednesday and a tendency to arouse lustful thoughts."

"The matter must be calculated to corrupt and deprave the minds and morals of those into whose hands the material may fall," Ingram said. "It must tend to arouse sexual impulses and lead to sexually impure thoughts."

The judge continued his definition: "A thing is obscene if, considered as a whole, its predominant appeal is to prurient interests; that is, a shameful or morbid interest in nudity, sex or excretion, and if it goes substantially beyond customary limits of candor in description or representation on such matters."

The seven books, Ingram added, must be judged on the basis of the contemporary community standard of the nation as a whole.

The books named in the indictment are "Swap Sect," "Orgy Club," "Sin Summer," "Virgins Inc.," "Temple of Shame," "Passion Carrousel," and "Shame Hunger."

Dirksen Observes Johnson May Be In For Surprises

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's confident prediction that the Democrats will hold their strength in Congress in the November elections drew strong dissent today from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Democratic victory in the congressional campaign this year.

If the President believes that, Dirksen said in an interview, he is likely to be in for some surprises.

"There is a definite trend in the country against this administration and for the Republicans," Dirksen said. "The mood of the people is such that I believe we are going to make substantial gains in Senate and House races."

Asked what he thinks is the basis for this mood, he replied: "Everything. There is a tapestry of discontent being woven out of war, inflation, the high cost of living, our gold difficulties, violent demonstrations in the streets and other things I could recite endlessly. The mood is there and it is growing."

Dirksen said that he, like Johnson, was not going to engage in any numbers game. But he said he is willing to take on some bets, with odds of one to two, that the Republicans capture as many as 50 Democratic House seats.

West Texan Knocked Down

Manuel Gonzalez, 147, of Odessa, now fighting out of Houston, sprawls on the canvas after being knocked down by Curtis Cokes, 145 1/2, of Dallas, who won the world

Cokes May Be Named Champ By NYAC

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "As long as I own the title I don't care how much money I got," said Curtis Cokes, who won the world welterweight boxing championship Wednesday night but earned only $5,715.60.

Cokes outthumbed Manuel Gonzalez in the 15-round title bout at Municipal Auditorium and after it was over the new champ said he thought he could beat anybody else in his class.

The fight was for the World Boxing Association's version of the 147-pound crown but Cokes will probably get recognition from the New York Athletic Commission and the French Boxing Federation—which both act independently of the WBA.

The wiry Cokes went after Gonzalez in the first round and continued to pursue him throughout the fight. The rabbit-fast Gonzalez flicked and tapped at Cokes in the early rounds.

In the 12th, Cokes got into trouble and went down for the mandatory eight-count. Only a flurry of punches and his dancing kept him going until the bell sounded.

The 145 1/2-pound Cokes, from Dallas, Tex., wasn't even breathing hard when the fight ended. "If he would have stopped and jabbed punches with me a little bit I think I could have knocked him out."

Cokes said he didn't care who his next opponent is. His manager, Doug Lorr, said Cokes might box Stan (Kitten) Hayward of Philadelphia at Dallas in October. There was also locker room talk of a bout with France's Jean Josselin.

The WBA and New York both stripped Emile Griffith of the welter title—but for different reasons. The WBA did it because Griffith didn't defend within six months; New York took the crown from Griffith after he won the middleweight championship from Dick Tiger.

Cokes, 29, beat Luis Rodriguez in an elimination bout set up by the WBA before taking on Gonzalez. Hayward and Gonzalez were to have met in the second elimination but Hayward refused to go along with the idea.

Cokes pushed his record to 43-9-2 with the victory. Gonzalez, 27, now 36-14-6, said it was his last bout as a welter and he'd move up to the middleweight division.

Freeman Beaten By Barrientes

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Joe Barrientes of Fort Worth, Tex., outpointed Steve Freeman of Houston in a 10-round preliminary to the Curtis Cokes-Manny Gonzalez world's welterweight fight Wednesday night.

Barrientes weighed 138 1/2 pounds, Freeman 133. Cokes won the title by beating Gonzalez in 15 rounds.

Vern Law In Speedy Comeback For Bucs

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

Vern Law's first comeback was five years in the making. Turnabout No. 2 required only 24 hours—and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates instant relief.

Law came out of the bullpen for the first time this season Wednesday night and shakkled Philadelphia for six innings as the Pirates trimmed the Phillies 6-4 and inched back into first place in the National League race.

Law turned the tables on the Phils 24 hours after they had shelled him from the mound in the first inning. He did not retire a batter Tuesday night, yielding three runs and failing to last for the 15th time in 21 starts.

In 1960 Law won 20 games for the world champion Pirates and captured the Cy Young Award as that year's top pitcher. Last season, after a five-year bout with arm troubles, he put it all together again, posting a 17-9 record and a 2.16 earned run average to earn Comeback of the Year honors.

This year has been no picnic for the 36-year-old right-hander. After his brief stint Tuesday night he showed an 8-5 won-lost record and a fat ERA of 4.46.

Wednesday night he came on for starter Tommie Sisk in the fourth inning, worked his way out of a none-out jam and allowed only one hit the rest of the way in nailing down victory No. 9.

While the Pirates moved past San Francisco again, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 11 innings and moved within two games of the top. Houston whipped St. Louis 7-2 and Chicago edged New York 6-5 in other NL games.

The Pirates broke a 4-4 tie on Bill Mazeroski's RBI single in the fifth inning and added an insurance run in the sixth on Matty Alou's run-scoring hit. Vada Pinson cracked a grand-slam homer and two doubles in the Reds' romp over 20-game winner Gaylord Perry and the Giants. Bill Henry, who replaced Perry in the fifth with Cincinnati leading 5-3, was greeted by Pinson's bases-loaded shot.

Joe Nuxhall all way Joe Nuxhall went the distance for the Reds, who had lost six in a row, and boosted his record to 5-4. The loss, Perry's first since July 14, ended a four-game winning string for the Giants.

Maury Wills' single scored Jim Gilliam with an unearned run in the 11th, giving the Dodgers their fourth straight victory—including three one-run decisions over Atlanta.

Phil Regan, who wild-pitched the tying run home in the ninth, blanked the Braves thereafter and gained his 12th victory against a single loss.

The Astros broke a 24-inning scoring famine on Bob Aspromonte's run-producing single in the fifth, added two more runs in the inning and sewed it up with four more runs in the sixth—two on another single by Aspromonte. Mike Cuellar checked the Cardinals on five hits for his ninth victory in 15 decisions.

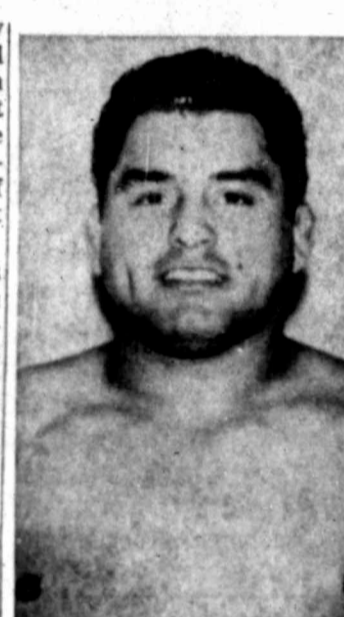

Randy Hundley's bases-loaded squeeze bunt pushed over the Cubs' winning run, capping a ninth-inning rally that erased a 5-4 Met lead. Trailing 5-2 in the eighth, the Cubs scored twice, then tied it on Billy Williams' single and Ron Santo's double in the ninth.

Wrestling Show Will Be Moved To Auditorium

The issues will be clearly drawn in tonight's professional wrestling matches, an American Business Club-sponsored event which has been moved from the City Park to the Municipal Auditorium because of a threat of cool weather. The opening event starts at 8:15 p.m.

RICKY ROMERO

The auditorium, ringside seats included, will seat no more than 1,400 but ticket prices will remain the same. Adult duets will go for $1 each while children under 12 can attend for 50 cents each. The ringside seats will be $2 each. They will be located on three sides of the stage.

A tin-ear who has a foe in a bad way tries to keep the troubled party from making physical contact with his alter ego. Ricky Romero, the most popular grappler ever to show here, will team up with Terry Funk to face a tandem composed of those arch villains, Gay Gary Hart and Art Nelson.

Hart showed here a few weeks ago and spent much of his time taunting the crowd. He did little wrestling and the wrestling buffs weren't at all sure that what he did was legal.

Nelson hasn't appeared on the local scene in years but he wasn't exactly a knight in shining armor when he strutted about the squared circle here a few years ago. He, too, has a flair for rubbing ringsiders the wrong way.

That one is down for the best of three falls. To each member of the winning tandem will go 15-inch trophies, emblematic of the ABC tag team championship. Unless the winners melt them down for brass, they'll be used on a rotating basis.

Another match will pit Kay Noble, a girl with flaming red hair and a temper to match, against Kathy O'Brien, a newcomer here. Miss Noble puts on an arresting show. In a previous appearance, she chased the referee to the dressing room with the timekeeper's hammer—it seems she didn't like the way he was directing traffic in the ring.

Promoter Pat O'Dowdy will have a third match, a one-fall event, to whet the appetite of the customers, but has not announced who the ring principals will be.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When Baylor opens its 1966 season at home Sept. 10 against Syracuse on nationwide TV, two ex-Big Springers will be on exhibition for the Bears.

They are Coye Conner, a tackle who is up to 212 now, and Jack Eisenhart, son of the one-time Webb AFB commander. Eisenhart, who moved from here as a sophomore and played his high school ball for San Antonio Jefferson, weighs 265 and will be at tight end.

Conner filled a breach in the Baylor line last year as a sophomore when a rash of injuries felled some of the Bruin regulars. He wound up clocking enough playing time to letter. He was at guard but has been moved to offensive tackle.

His quick initial charge gives him a jump on most opponents. Eisenhart has already won two varsity letters with the Bears. He goes both ways for Baylor, although he has played principally on defense the past two years. He was outstanding in spring training for the Waco school, is a stellar blocker and owns a fine pair of hands. Quarterback Terry Southall likely will seek him out for an occasional pass.

Both Conner and Eisenhart were running with Baylor's first team at the end of spring training. So was guard Tommy Schaffner, a senior from Odessa.

Other District 2-AAA exes with Baylor include Richard McFarland, a sophomore linebacker from Midland Lee; and Barry Phillips, a soph guard from Abilene High.

It's generally agreed that District 3-AAA football will generally be much tougher than a year ago, an item of interest to local buffs because the resident Steers play two of the league's powers—Lamesa and Snyder.

A five-way fight could develop for the title up that way but the inside edge is generally conceded to Lamesa and Snyder.

Big Springers can expect Lamesa to throw the ball the night of Sept. 9, when the two teams delve into Pandora's box. Bob Wiggins is a fine aerialist and he has some outstanding receivers in Joe Emerson and Gene Mayfield. Wiggins first has to beat out Gene Everheart for the quarterback's post, however, which makes for an ideal situation for coach Donald Jay.

Snyder likely will have the best running backs in 3-AAA, with Mario Tavarez, Z. B. Rinehart and Rick Hall available to lug the mail and Murry Bowden and Curtis Clay ready to call the shots.

That Instant Play Video San Angelo Central had planned on making use of in football this year sells for between $5,000 and $6,000—more if you subscribe for all its trappings.

Rick Mount of Lebanon, Ind., probably the best high school basketball prospect to come along in the Hoosier state since Oscar Robertson went to Cincinnati, probably is glad the summer is about at an end.

The demands made on his time and private life by college mentors and scouts have, quite probably, made him want to seek refuge in the mountains of Tibet.

The problem got so bad, his family had to seek an unlisted telephone number. The college people were calling him as late as 2 a.m. Rick's mother said the boy received more than 500 letters and telegrams from various sources since the Indiana state tournament, most of them from schools offering him scholarships. Virtually every major school in the nation made a pitch for him.

He's already signed two letters of intent, one with Miami (Fla.) and the other with Purdue. Purdue's coach, George King, reportedly risked probation within the Big Ten in order to sign Mount, who is a 6-3 lithly-built blond.

Cowboy Coach Is Cautious

DALLAS (AP) — Everybody else seems ready to pick the Dallas Cowboys to win it all this National Football League season but Coach Tom Landry wants a few more tests before making a decision.

One of them comes Saturday night at Tulsa when Dallas meets Detroit but Landry says this isn't the kind of testing he's talking about.

"We have looked great in the exhibition games (three victories in a row) but it's when they start playing for something that the trouble can come," said the coach.

There has been some talk of the Cowboys winning 21 straight games (that would take them through the championship play-off) and Landry, at his weekly press conference, was asked if he was appalled or optimistic over chances of accomplishing this feat.

QBC Barbecue's Speaker Due To Field Fine Team

Max Bumgardner, principal speaker for the Sept. 2 Quarterback Club's Sept. 2 barbecue honoring players and coaches of the Big Spring High School football team, expects to field one of his strongest teams at Angelo State College this fall.

One of Bumgardner's prize recruits this summer was end Don Burrell of Lubbock High School, star of both the Big 33 game at Hershey, Pa., and the Oil Bowl contest at Wichita Falls.

The Rams started a senior college football program last year. Bumgardner is a persuasive speaker. He became identified as a fiery player for the University of Texas and believes all athletes should play the same way.

Membership tickets for the QBC sell for $5 per family. Ownership of such ducks entitle a husband and father to take his entire family to the banquet.

Co-captains James Duncan and Everett Whately of the club are heading up the sales campaign. The barbecue starts at 7 p.m. a week from tomorrow in the amphitheatre at the City Park.

Men's Loop Sets Meeting Tonight

Election of officers will be held for the Men's Major Bowling league at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the Bowl-A-Rama.

Bowlers interested in competing in such a circuit are being urged to be on hand. Other business pertinent to the league will be discussed.

Union Protesting For Pay Hikes

DETROIT (AP) — More than 1,200 skilled United Auto Workers demonstrated Wednesday in front of Chrysler Corp. headquarters to promote their demands for an immediate $1-an-hour raise.

The parade of workers grew from 100 to more than 1,200 over four hours as the UAW members expressed displeasure with rejection of union requests to reopen labor contracts and negotiate pay hikes for skilled workers.

The Big Three auto firms — Chrysler, General Motors and Ford — Monday turned down the UAW requests to reopen con-

Jack Wilson Is Honor Graduate

Wilson, one of seven graduating with high honors, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Wilson Sr., 1710 Main, Big Spring. He was awarded the bachelor of business administration degree in accounting.

Senate Rejects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted against authorizing $19.7 million in further funds for Project Mohole, a scientific program which called for drilling through the earth's crust in the Pacific.

War Costs A Wedge Against Wider War

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey defended today American expenditures in Viet Nam as a wedge against a wider war and warned of a resurgence of isolationism in the nation.

At the same time he chided administration critics who say the war effort is impeding domestic programs.

He said he has heard recently "otherwise responsible Americans" declare the nation ought to take the money and resources being spent in Viet Nam and transfer them to domestic programs.

"I say that to do so would require, in a few months or years, the investment of far more money, men and resources to Southeast Asia — and possibly to other parts of the world — than we have committed today and at a far greater danger to all of us," Humphrey said in a speech prepared for delivery to the 71st national convention of the Jewish War Veterans.

Now's The Time To Get Even With The Library

There are several hundred men and women in this community who have borrowed books from the Howard County Library and have failed to return the books at the proper time.

Exactly how many borrowers there may be in this group is not announced, but at least 600 of the library's books are now in the hands of these forgetful folk.

An opportunity is being offered such persons to save face, get back in the good graces of the library, and at the same time not have to pay the fines which are presently charged to their accounts.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that the library will close its doors Monday to inventory its books. It will remain closed until this work has been completed. How long this may be is not certain, but it will probably be in early September before the doors reopen.

Meantime, Mrs. McDaniel says that any person who has a library book overdue may return that book and no fine will be collected.

Some of the books have been out as long as a year, she said. It doesn't matter how long the borrower may have had the books — just fetch 'em back, drop them in the book depository in front of the library before Sunday, and go your way in peace.

No fine, your stinging conscience eased and your character wiped clean on the records of the Howard County Library.

What could be nicer?

Kin Give In So Strike Is Over

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — The sons vs. father strike at the Acme Roofing Co. is over with "a few concessions on both sides."

Theron Blodgett, said the two-day walkout came to an end when he agreed to give his sons, Ronald, 25, and Richard, 26, an undisclosed raise.

The boys agreed to take back their demands for paid vacations and holidays. They have been earning $2.50 an hour.

1st Negro Wins Auburn Degree

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Auburn University has graduated its first Negro student in its 110-year history.

Josetta Maxine Brittain Matthews, 23, was awarded a master of education degree in summer commencement exercises Wednesday.

Mrs. Matthews of Montgomery received her undergraduate degree in government from Indiana University last year.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Quick Switch On Kitchen Curtains

Dear Heloise: If it's possible, have two sets of kitchen curtains and keep one set laundered and hung away.

When preparing for a party, or when you are expecting special company (and there are so many things to be done), it only takes a few minutes to hang the clean curtains.

After I get my extra curtains all done up, I pin them on hangers and hang them away, and there is never a fold showing when I want to use them. . . Alberta Neal

This is a super idea. Kitchen curtains are usually the least expensive ones in our homes, and they do get soiled faster than any of the others. So why not have an extra set for a quick change? . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: One never knows when children may have a nose bleed or a black eye, or when faintness may occur.

When an emergency demands the application of an ice pack, it sometimes takes so long to disengage the ice tray from the refrigerator, take the ice cubes out, and find the ice bag (if one has one) . . .

I keep several different sizes of water soaked, frozen sponges in waterproof plastic bags in my deep freezer. I also keep two of them in the freezing compartment of my refrigerator. As it melts, the frozen sponge conforms comfortably to the contours of placement.

Another nice and convenient factor is that the sponge, in its waterproof plastic bag, can be re-frozen without any ado, fuss or muss. Just return it to the freezing compartment.

I would advise placing the plastic bag in a brown paper bag to avoid sticking to the freezer.

The frozen sponges in their plastic bags also help keep food and drinks cold on picnics, and can be used for first aid or opened for wash cloths for sticky hands. . . Martha Schiffman

Dear Heloise: I use an aluminum ice cube tray for storing small jars in the refrigerator.

The jars don't "jump" over as they usually do on a wire shelf, and I can easily slide them in-and-out, all at one time. . . A. R.

Dear Heloise: I like the frozen foods in the plastic pouches, and there is no messy pan to wash.

Psychiatrist Says Prosperity, Women, Are Root Of Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—You just can't say the United States is run by the ladies and expect American women—and men—to swallow it cheerfully.

Dr. Joshua Bierer, a leading British psychiatrist said just that before he left for a U.S. lecture tour beginning in Tucson, Ariz. And for many a smoldering American feminist he has already said too much.

As a takeoff point, Dr. Bierer had commented in a London interview that Americans are "the most worried people in the world" and that prosperity and women are the root of most of the trouble.

Snapped Marya Mannes, perhaps America's most articulate—and caustic—feminine social critic:

"Clearly Dr. Bierer doesn't know what he's talking about. Perhaps if he caught up with present realities here, and learned the complex roots of anxieties shared by our men and women alike, he would stop playing this very old—and very cracked—record!"

Additional Bierer statements that failed to endear the London Hospital director and editor-in-chief of the International Journal of Society Psychiatry to Miss Mannes and other American critics:

"The status of American women is a tremendous cause of worry. . . American women are ruling the American society. The American man works himself to death at 40 or 50 and leaves rich widows. The United States is a matriarchy and this is a very unhealthy thing because fundamentally women like strong men."

Said Betty Friedan, author of the best-selling "The Feminine Mystique":

"When this good doctor has a chance to meet a few American women he may learn something of the real causes of worry shared by both women and men.

1967 All-America Roses To Grace Your Garden

By EARL ARONSON AP Newsfeatures

Meet the four 1967 All-America roses that will be available this fall to grace your gardens.

They are Roman Holiday, Lucky Lady, Gay Princess and Bewitched. In the photo, Brenda Claffin holds a bouquet of Gay Princess roses at Newark, N. Y., home of the prize rose's developer.

Roman Holiday is a bright, orange-red rose that grows in clusters on a low, bushy plant. Robert V. Lindquist, who developed three other All-Americas—Lilibeat, Tiffany and Granada—produced Roman Holiday. This rose's color varies with the season.

GAY PRINCESS

Lucky Lady is a grandiflora of light pink on the petal face and deeper pink on the back. Some of the blooms appear in clusters and others on single stems. Dr. David Armstrong and Herbert C. Swin are the originators. Armstrong also developed Matterhorn, a 1966 AARS winner.

Gay Princess is a compact, vigorous floribunda with hybrid tea-shaped flowers. One of its parents is the honored Spartan. Gay Princess was the 10th AARS floribunda winner for Eugene Boerner. Boerner also has two hybrid tea All-Americas, Katherine T. Marshall and Diamond Jubilee, to his credit.

tended as an aid to retirees who desire to develop or continue an interest in year-around gardening.

"These lamps are identical with those installed in Alaskan greenhouses and will assist in keeping alive the youthful gardening interests of retirees," Morse said.

The fourth newcomer to the ranks is Bewitched, a pink hybrid tea with five-inch blooms on long single stems. It has a spicy fragrance and the plant flowers regularly. Dr. Walter E. Lamert originated Bewitched. His winners in the past include Chrysler Imperial, Queen Elizabeth, Golden Showers, Startrite and American Heritage.

A manufacturer of plant growth lamps has offered to donate eight-foot units to builders of retirement colonies who include indoor growth chambers or indoor greenhouses among its residential facilities.

Garland Morse, vice president and general manager of Sylvania's Electric Products Division, said the Gro-Lux lamps were in-

IN WEST TEXAS, MOST PRODUCTIVE AGRICULTURAL AREA

State Water Plan Bias Accusation Levelled

AMARILLO (AP)—Representatives of business, industry and municipalities said Tuesday that in their opinion the Texas Water Plan shortchanges West Texas—the state's most productive agricultural area.

The plan generally outlined the state's water needs through the year 2020. It proposes diverting water from the Sulphur River in East Texas to the thickly populated southern and coastal areas of the state.

Mayor M. B. Hood of Plainview said, "The cities of West Texas take the position with all other West Texas interests that the preliminary plan, as presented by the TWDB, is not fair and equitable to West Texas."

"The economy and development of West Texas cities and lands is dependent on water for the future. We believe that surface water in Texas should first be allocated to its cities and towns and lands that are in a cultivated and irrigated state, prior to its commitment to other lands in the state that are not now or ever have been in cultivation and possibly for cities and towns that do not now exist."

He added, "As the plan now stands the surface water of Northeast Texas is committed to a single purpose project. It is clear that it is the intention of the plan to transport this water to the lower area of Texas and leave West Texas to hopelessly wait and wish for out-of-state water."

Hood said that in fairness to the West Texas area the state board should seriously reconsider its commitment to East Texas because the West Texas area now has 5.5 million acres out of a total of 7.7 million acres of irrigated land in the state; it is producing more than 50 per cent of all agricultural products in a state whose whole economy is predicated on an agricultural economy.

K. Bert Watson of Amarillo, chairman of the Water Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, told the board team conducting the hearing that the plan "does not adequately consider the needs and possible solution to West Texas water problems."

He suggested that before a final master plan is adopted that the following recommendations be included:

A complete re-evaluation of the amount of surface water available in Texas, including facts based upon water yields under all runoff conditions.

A detailed engineering and economic feasibility report on delivery of water to these West Texas areas—High Plains, Rolling Plains, North Central Texas, West Central Texas, Trans-Pecos, South Plains, El Paso, Fort Worth Prairie and Edwards Plateau.

Water should be transferred from east to west at the highest possible elevation and should be brought into the Colorado River upstream of Lake Buchanan.

In addition to the recommendations made in the preliminary draft of the state water plan for out-of-state sources of water for West Texas, the TWDB is requested to investigate the possibilities of diverting water into East Texas from adjoining states in order to release East Texas water for diversion into important economic areas of West Texas.

Water transferred from the east into the lower portion of western rivers should be used first for the replacement of upstream runoff water now committed to downstream water rights.

Others testifying included Joe B. Pate, representing the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock, a group which represents 23 High Plains cotton counties and about 25,000 cotton producers.

Pate said the High Plains grows half the cotton in Texas and one-eighth of the cotton in the nation, and that water is vital to the continuation of its high production rate.

He said the various facets or clauses of the Texas Water Plan are insufficient to meet the West Texas needs and that "maximum utilization of available water will not prevent the decline of our irrigated economy."

"And, when we speak of water from out-of-state sources two things stick in our mind," Pate said.

"One, we think it is unlikely that such water can become a reality until all available supplies of Texas water have been committed.

"And, two, we have no hope that out-of-state water can be made available to West Texas in anything less than 25 or 30 years which would take us well beyond the time of need."

ONCE NAZI LEADER

Hess Nearing Lonely Days

BERLIN (AP) — Each day, Rudolf Hess knows he is 24 hours closer to the end of September and the day when he may become the sole inmate of the cavernous Spandau war crimes prison.

If he is not freed or moved, he will be the last Nazi held captive in the 19th century military prison built for 600 men.

At 72, Hess no longer is the darkly handsome deputy Fuehrer to Adolf Hitler who strutted with the Nazis to the pinnacle of power in Germany in the 1930s. He has become an old man with 23 years imprisonment behind him, dating from the day he made his startling 1941 flight to wartime Great Britain on a self-styled "mission of humanity."

Convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment by the 1946 Nuernberg war crimes tribunal, Hess has been in Spandau 20 years. He shares the prison on West Berlin's outskirts with two of the other seven top Nazis originally sent to Spandau. They are former Hitler youth leader Baldur von Schirach, 59, and wartime production minister Albert Speer, 61.

At midnight Sept. 30, Von Schirach and Speer will walk out of Spandau free men, their 20-year sentences served.

Hess has refused to see his wife and son all the years he has been in Spandau. He does not want them to see him as a prison inmate.

The key to whether he will remain a man jailed in Spandau, whether he will be freed, or whether he will be moved to a less costly prison apparently lies with the Soviet Union. It costs about $60,000 a year to keep Spandau going.

The United States, Britain and France may be willing to help Hess. But the Soviet reaction is doubtful. Any decision on Hess's future must be unanimous.

About 40 soldiers from each of the four nations rotate monthly to guard it.

Soviet interest in keeping Spandau going and Hess in jail is seen by some quarters this way:

They wanted Hess executed at Nuernberg. After great wartime suffering, the Russians are unlikely to forgive and forget in the case of a man who was a top Hitler aide.

One authoritative source gave this description of Hess today:

"Hess gives the appearance of being listless as he has for years, and is essentially a loner, although of late he has talked often with both Von Schirach, with whom he once had differences, and with Speer. The two younger men go out of their way to help Hess, for example, making his bed or helping to clean his cell when he does not feel well.

"He has been in prison a long time — a quarter century — and he has grown to be an old man. Both prison and age have left their mark, physically and mentally, as they would on any man. It would be difficult to describe Hess as mentally ill as such, although he always has been peculiar, often evasive."

Opening lead: Seven of ♦ North and South missed a superior four heart contract when North failed to check back for a major suit fit after his partner opened the bidding with two no trump.

Observe that North has four hearts and a worthless doubleton. Since he intends to bid a game with four points, it costs him nothing to respond with three clubs first which requests partner to show a major suit. If South rebids three diamonds, denying possession of either four hearts or four spades, North can proceed to three no trump.

West opened the seven of diamonds, East put up the king and declarer won the trick with the ace. He cashed the king of hearts to test the lie in that suit, and West followed with the nine. In order to guard against the possibility of East's holding four hearts, South played a small heart to dummy's ace next. If West showed out, a finesse could be taken against the jack on the return.

When both opponents followed, revealing that hearts divided favorably, South became aware that he was in the dummy for the only time and he shifted to a small club. East played the deuce and declarer finessed the ten—losing to West's queen.

The latter exited with a spade and East's queen forced out the king. South proceeded to cash his remaining two hearts and West discarded a club and a diamond. Inasmuch as declarer could not get back to dummy to take another club finesse, he tried to recover by projecting an endplay.

He cashed the ace of spades and continued with a small one. West played the nine and East overtook with the ten. A diamond return thru declarer's jack enabled West to take the rest of the tricks and record a 200 point profit for the defense.

If South had stepped to count his tricks, he would have realized that the total was only eight, assuming that he could pick up the hearts—two spades, four hearts, one diamond, and one club. Since this leaves him one short of the required total, he cannot afford the luxury of guarding against a four-one division in hearts.

If East has either the king or queen of clubs, South can develop a ninth trick in that suit by taking repeated finesses. In order to attempt this play, however, he requires two entries to dummy, and his efforts should therefore be exerted in that direction.

After the king of hearts is played, South should continue with the queen. When both opponents follow, he leads the ten and overtakes with North's ace as the jack falls. The ten of clubs is finessed and loses to the queen.

When South regains the lead in spades, he crosses over to dummy with the seven of hearts and repeats the club finesse. When the jack holds, he has his ninth trick.

Baked Lentil Casserole Lends Surprise To Company Menus

Looking for something different, either as a meat accompaniment or as a main dish in itself? This is it—Baked Lentils! Served as a meat accompaniment and stretcher of good proteins, or as a hearty main dish, this may be made in the morning for an hour's baking before dinner. The recipe makes 12 servings, each a rounded half-cup. While you are at it, make up a second casserole to freeze and bake for future enjoyment!

Just in case you have not made their acquaintance, Lentils, an Old World legume, are round like a pea but small, flat and thin, varying in color by variety. They are found on your grocer's shelves along with yellow and green split peas and whole dry peas.

OLD WORLD DISH
Stretcher of proteins

Different than all of the legumes in which the water is lost in drying, no soaking is necessary for lentils, cookbooks to the contrary. Unfortunately, many recipes insist on this, also in draining off the soaking water, thereby losing many valuable nutrients. So do, please, adapt the recipes you may find.

BAKED LENTIL CASSEROLE

1 lb. (2 1-3 cups) washed lentils
5 cups water
2 tps. salt
Combine in a Dutch oven or in top-of-the-range heat-proof cooking ware. Bring water to boiling point. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Without draining, add

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup catsup
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup molasses

Milk Drink Made With Peanuts

Looking for varied ways to get more milk into your menus?

Basic white sauces are quick to prepare. Their subtle flavor sparks the natural taste of foods they accompany. And there's a myriad of variations in milk sauces to suit almost any purpose. All help reflect culinary skills of their creator.

Milk sauces can be thin, medium, thick or extra thick, depending on how much flour and fat you add.

For this sauce, take one cup milk, 1 tablespoon flour and 1 tablespoon fat. If you want medium sauce, add 2 tablespoons flour and 2 tablespoons fat; for thick, add 3 tablespoons of each. And for extra thick sauce, use 4 to 6 tablespoons flour and 3 to 4 tablespoons fat.

Try Method I: Melt the fat and blend in the flour. Slowly pour in the milk, stirring constantly over a low heat until mixture thickens. Add salt and other seasonings as desired.

Or, use Method II: Melt the fat and blend in the flour until smooth. Heat the milk and add the flour mixture to it. Stir constantly over a low heat until mixture thickens. Add salt and other seasonings as desired.

White sauces should be cooked gently over a low heat, or in the top of a double boiler, to prevent milk and flour from scorching. Butter, margarine, vegetable shortening or lard may be used for the fat. As a rule, $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt is about right for every cup of sauce.

TV Fans Thrive On Oven Nibbles

Our latest and easiest method for an always popular munch.

OVEN NIBBLES

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. each salt, celery salt and onion powder
6 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits

1-3 cup finely grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup salted mixed nuts

In a jelly-roll pan (15 by 10 by 1 inch) melt the butter in a moderate (350 degrees) oven while it is preheating; remove from oven. Stir the salt, celery salt and onion powder into the butter so seasonings are evenly mixed. Add shredded rice biscuits and mix carefully to coat with the seasoned butter. Bake in the moderate oven until top layer is browned—about 8 minutes. Turn over biscuits with a wide spatula; continue baking until browned—about 4 minutes. Remove from oven. Sprinkle at once with cheese, turning cereal as you do so. Cool in pan. Mix with nuts.

Cook Liver By Slow Pan Frying

Beef liver differs in cooking procedure from calf or baby beef liver. The younger liver can be pan-fried slowly in a little hot fat, while beef liver should be braised. Brown beef liver in a little hot fat, add a few tablespoons of water, cover, and cook over low heat until tender.

CELEBRITY RECIPES

Belgium Type Mousses Are Becoming Easy To Make

Monique Van Vooren is a Belgian, and this is nice because Belgium is famous for its rich and fancy pastries and anyone who has seen her on television or in the movies knows she is better than peaches and cream any day.

One of the fancier exports to the United States, she can cook, too (mousses, at least), and with Monique around who could ask for anything more?

Mousses have a tendency to frighten people since they often require much preparation and fancy ingredients. This really is not necessary, however, as the lovely Miss Van Vooren proves.

A mousse can be many things, and though it is customarily thought of as a chilled and creamy dessert, there are meat mousses which can be served hot as an entree. And there are vegetable mousses and fruit mousses.

It might be interesting, although possibly not, to try something to devise an entire menu of mousses. We could start off with crab as hors-d-mousse; split pea soup as mousse d'puree; then sole and chicken as mousse de d'atrees; foie gras as mousse d'interval, aspic as mousse d'salade, and finish with Mousse d'Monique, which is what we started out to do.

It is easy as pie to make Miss Van Vooren's Mousse au Chocolate, and you will discover that it is a delicious finale to a light lunch or dinner.

MONIQUE VAN VOOREN'S MOUSSE AU CHOCOLATE

Beat well the whites of four eggs, then add $\frac{3}{4}$ ounces of crystallized sugar, a little at a time.

Scrape two bars of unsweetened chocolate very fine and add it. Then chill in the refrigerator until ready to serve.

At serving time, top Monique's Mousse with Chantilly cream, which is cream whipped with sugar and vanilla.

Broccoli Cookery Is Way To Vary Menus

It's time to call the recipe roll—with broccoli to the fore. First, how to cook broccoli to best advantage?

This involves paring the stalks. After removing the large leaves from the broccoli, use your swivel-blade vegetable parer to remove the fibrous outer covering up to the buds.

If the stalks are not an even size, cut them lengthwise—right through the flowerets if necessary—to make even. Trim a slice from the end of the stalks; after that, if you like, you may make two gashes, criss-cross fashion, in the bottom of each stalk to speed up cooking. Wash the broccoli thoroughly in cold water and drain.

One way to cook broccoli is in a large deep skillet with a dome cover. For skillet-cooking a bunch of broccoli, we often use as little as $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of boiling water, with $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt added.

Broccoli is delicious served in a variety of ways. Here are some reminders: Marinate cold cooked broccoli in a dressing made from olive oil, vinegar, mustard, salt and pepper. Serve as a salad. Douse hot cooked broccoli with the delicious flavor of browned butter. Pour a nippy cheddar-cheese sauce over hot cooked broccoli and top with crisp-cooked bacon. Serve with hot buttered toast.

Mix fresh or dry bread crumbs with melted butter and sprinkle over hot cooked broccoli.

Arrange hot cooked broccoli in a shallow baking dish and top with thin slices of cooked chicken, turkey or ham. Cover with cream sauce; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and a dusting of paprika. Bake in a moderate oven until bubbly and, if necessary, brown under the broiler.

Vegetable Color

Cook all white and all red vegetables in a cover saucepan. Cover green vegetables, too, but lift the cover occasionally to help preserve the green color.

Lamb Cooking Adds New Dimension

By JO ANN PHINIZY

West Texans are missing an extra food dimension when they don't include lamb on their weekly menus. Such is the opinion of Mrs. F. W. Lurting, No. 3, Highland Cove.

"I don't know why so few people like lamb," Mrs. Lurting said. "Maybe it's a matter of long-time family habit, or perhaps they've mistaken it for mutton.

Nevertheless, properly cooked, lamb is an excellent dish. It's fine grained, has a sweeter flavor than beef and can be adapted to any occasion.

The Lurtings have several ways to cook lamb. Until the first snow falls, they prefer it barbecued. For this, Dr. Lurting, of Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, officiates.

His method is to select a five-pound leg of lamb and rub it with salad oil. His seasoning is salt, pepper and garlic buds buried in inch-deep slits. To prevent a "gamy" taste, he cooks it well done (22-24 minutes per pound) and serves it with horse radish or mint.

CROWN ROAST

With indoor cooking, Mrs. Lurting reigns. When the entertaining warrants, she goes for the spectacular Stuffed Crown Roast.

The butcher forms the "crown" with lamb ribs in an upright position. Mrs. Lurting seasons the meat with salt, pepper, garlic and a touch of rosemary. The center is stuffed with a favorite bread dressing and baked until well done.

"Put those little frilly hats on each rib and you can't get much fancier," she said.

Mrs. Lurting cautions that spring lamb is not to be confused with mutton.

"They are as opposite as veal and aged beef, she said. "Each has its separate taste, and each must be cooked differently."

If the Lurting daughters, Pam and Mrs. Phillip Hubbard, Long Beach, Calif., have any dissonance with eating lamb, it could only be with lamb chops.

"With those," Mrs. Lurting explained, "It's one bite and then all done."

THE 99'ERS

Mrs. Lurting is a member of the Big Spring Golf Association, the Green Thumb Garden Club; and of the woman's flying organization, "The 99'ers."

She has 300 hours as a single engine pilot, and she is a duplicate bridge player who considers a Lifetime Masters card as being on the mystic side.

Her current activities include helping Pam get ready to become a freshman at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., and in participating in the new glider group, the Big Spring Soaring Club.

"It's a perfect sport for this area and climate," she said. "And all members of the family can learn to soar and be licensed."

Mrs. Lurting selected a variety of recipes including a marinade for "cabrito," the Mexican goat, and a German original that has been in her family for generations.

SPANISH CHICKEN CASSEROLE

3 slices bacon, chopped
1 1/2 cups green pepper, chopped
3 cloves garlic, minced or mashed
1 cup sweet Italian sausage, cut in 1/4-in. slices
1 cup hot sausage, cut in 1/4 in. slices
8 green olives, chopped
Meat from 3 lbs. fryer, cut up
2 cups uncooked rice
1 pkg. onion soup mix
1 1/2 tsp. salt
3 to 4 cups boiling water
Saute bacon, green pepper, garlic, and sausages together until golden brown, stir in olives and place in three-quart casserole. Put chicken in casserole, sprinkle rice over chicken. Stir onion mix into water and pour into casserole. Stir, because the rice absorbs the liquid while cooking. Liquid should cover the chicken by 1/2-inch. Cover and bake at 450 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes six servings.

SMOKE COOKING MARINADE

1 cup water
1/2 cup sherry wine
1/2 cup soy sauce
2 cloves garlic
1/2 cup honey

We use this on cabrito before barbecuing and marinate several hours.

MARINATED BROILERS, HONOLULU FASHION

Marinate four broilers, cut in halves for several hours in:

1/2 cup white wine or vermouth
1/2 cup soy sauce
2 finely chopped cloves garlic
3 tbsps. grated fresh ginger or 1 1/2 tps. powdered ginger

Turn chickens several times during the marinating period.

MOTHER'S SOUR BEEF AND DUMPLINGS

Get a three-corner piece of beef, which has little fat. Place in china bowl and cover with mixture of:

1/2 water and 1/2 vinegar
1 tbsp. whole allspice
1 tbsp. whole cloves
Bay leaf
Whole onion, sliced
Sugar, salt and pepper to taste

Let stand in refrigerator three or four days. Place in pot, and cook very slowly until done. Take out, slice and put aside until you have thickened gravy. Take six or eight ginger snaps, and put in small bowl. Add cold water and stir until smooth. Thicken gravy. Strain and put back in pot with meat until ready to serve. Do not recook or it will thin out.

DUMPLINGS

Cook potatoes in salted water in skins until done. Remove skins and put through ricer. Add beaten egg and enough flour, working in with your hand until firm enough to form into balls. In center put small square of bread fried in butter until brown. Roll in flour and let stand on plate until salted water is boiling. Drop one by one into water and cook for 20 minutes, or until they come to the top. Do not take off lid, but PEEP. Should they all fall apart, cry a little, have more mashed potatoes ready and hope they turn out better the next time.

Cook Rice In Oriental Magic Way

There's a bit of magic in rice. Orientals know of this magic. The use rice in ways far beyond our practical understanding — not only to keep body and soul together but also as a revered symbol at special events.

Rice is offered to ancestral spirits when a new Japanese emperor is enthroned, so all will go well during the reign. This must be especially pure rice. Girls who harvest it are toggled in customary red trousers and green blouses.

At New Years, braided or twisted ropes of rice straw are hung over doorways of Japanese homes. This old custom indicates that all members of the home are strongly attached to each other.

Americans also have traditional uses for rice. Rice at weddings, for example, conveys wishes for the very best in marriage.

But the real magic of rice in America shows up on the table. This ancient food, which the U.S. Department of Agriculture proclaims as being plentiful this month, fits any menu.

Pound for pound, rice is among our most economical and nutritious foods. Every ounce is edible and delicious. What's more, rice is convenient — no peeling, shelling or scraping. Even washing isn't prescribed, because modern rice is machine milled and comes to you ready to cook — sometimes even cooked.

And have you noticed how cooked rice keeps perfectly and reheats easily? Cook enough for a whole week. Store it in a covered refrigerator dish. It's ready for instant use.

To reheat, merely place it in a closed vessel with a few tablespoons of water, over low heat. It soon will be hot and fluffy as freshly cooked rice, ready for hundreds of uses.

A Devotional For The Day

"Surely the Lord is in this place; and I did not know it."
(Genesis 28:16, RSV)
PRAYER: Dear loving Father, as Thy witness in the world, may life ever point to and confirm Thy living presence, especially to those who know Thee not. In the Master's name and for His sake. Amen.

Agonizing Reappraisal

The United States' defense strategy in Western Europe faces another agonizing reappraisal.

Secretary of Defense McNamara, recently returned from a NATO conference, has reaffirmed U.S. policy as revised during the Kennedy administration: To maintain a large integrated allied conventional force to provide a more diverse deterrent against Russian aggression than main reliance on massive nuclear retaliation.

However, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has notified President Johnson that there is strong Senate support for a substantial reduction of U.S. forces in Europe. That would almost surely go back to the tripwire, massive-retaliation strategic concept favored during the Eisenhower administration.

Certainly the Senate sentiment is understandable. Prospering Western Europe has not met its NATO conventional forces goals. France has withdrawn its forces from NATO and is kicking U.S. NATO forces out of France. Britain is talking about reducing its Rhine army. And West Germany has indicated it will lessen foreign-exchange support for U.S. military spending there.

Maintaining a huge force in Europe is contributing burdensomely and dangerously to the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit, while Western Europe — particularly France — has aggravated the gold drain. None of our European allies is willing to help the U.S. Viet Nam war effort; in fact they are hampering it by trade with Asian Communists.

Rightly or wrongly, Western Europeans simply no longer think that Russian aggression on their continent is likely. Even if it were, they say, nothing could stop it but the U.S. nuclear deterrent. Obviously they are willing to take a security gamble Washington still believes to be too risky. But unless they can be convinced otherwise, this nation can hardly carry such disproportionate cost of NATO defenses indefinitely. The question now is whether Mansfield's report was really directed to the President or to our Western European allies.

Blessed Foresight

Although it comes as no surprise, the die is cast on the Colorado River Municipal Water District plan for a 488,000-acre-foot reservoir near Robert Lee. Directors reached the critical decision here Wednesday in setting a date for receiving construction bids and for selling revenue bonds to finance the project. The only big hurdle now is in selling the bonds, owing to tightness of the market, and in obtaining bids within the money. The board, however, is confident both will be accomplished.

This being the case, work should be under way before November. Target date for completion is 1969 in order to have water available from the new reservoir by 1970. It will be needed by then.

All of this points up how far ahead action must be initiated in advance of realization of a major water supply project. The district began seriously to press toward this goal as far back as 1958, and for the past half dozen years it has been pushing vigorously. Opposition engendered to the project has made it abundantly clear that future projects may expect even more spirited and formidable obstacles, hence the lead time on future projects will have to be increased.

The CRMWD leadership and the supporting member cities are due unstinted commendation for their foresight and their perseverance. More water is within sight.

How Those Stories Get Around

WASHINGTON—There is much talk about the credibility gap in regards to the Viet Nam war. Dispatches from Saigon indicate the Pentagon is trying, as usual, to manage the news. This is understandable and even defensible on military grounds. But what is dangerous is that the planting of stories in Saigon by the Defense Department is causing a credibility gap in the Pentagon itself.

This is how it works.

A TOP SECRET directive from the Pentagon to Saigon briefing officers instructs them to announce that Air Force raids on North Viet Nam have knocked out 90 per cent of all enemy fuel capacity and there is no chance of the North Vietnamese supplying their troops in the South.

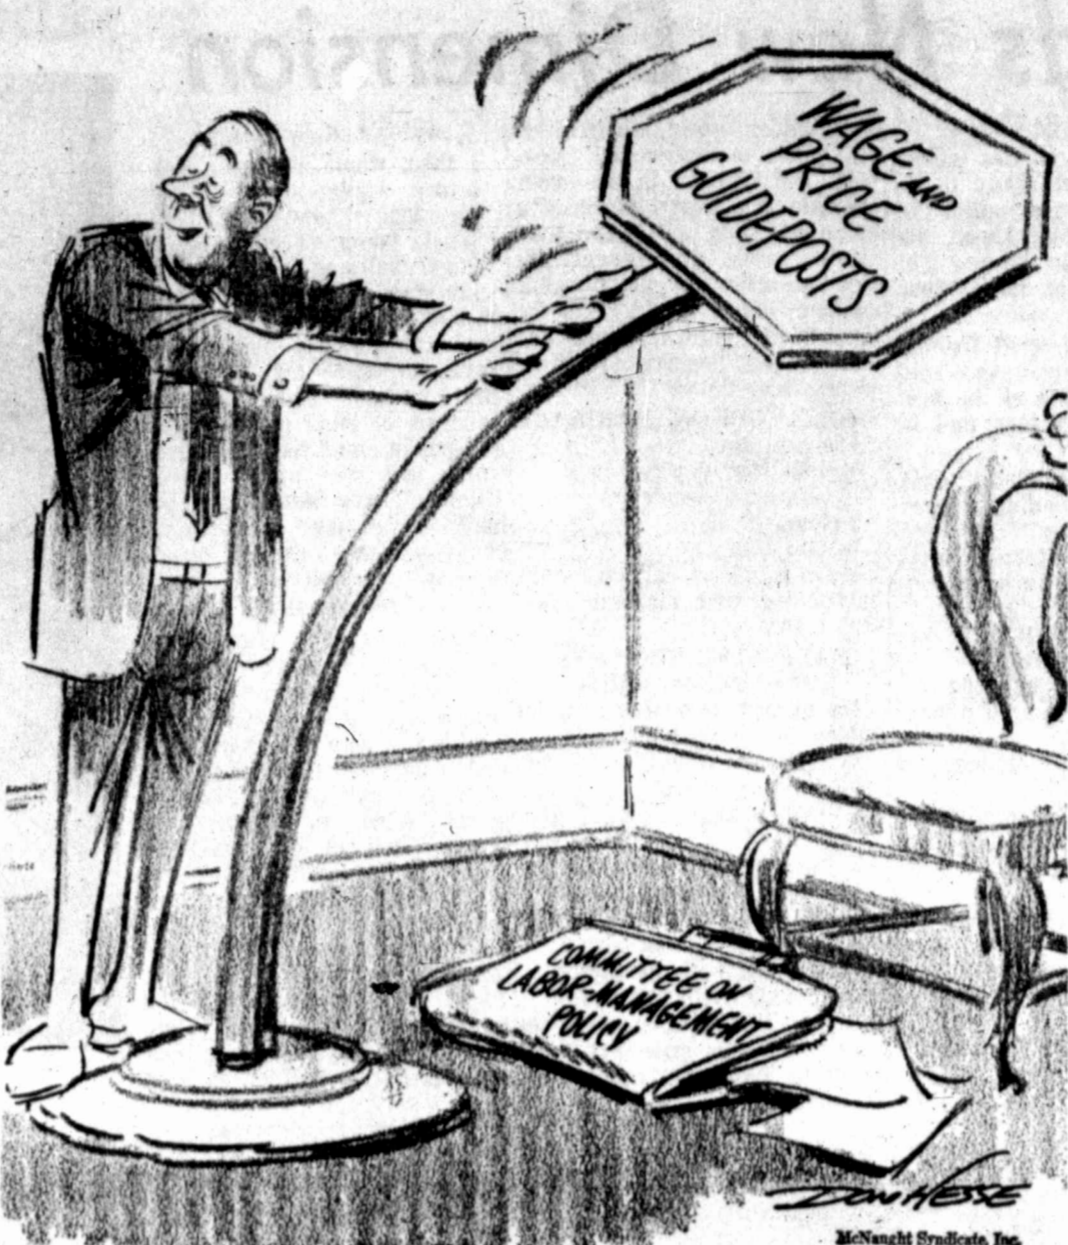

The story is dutifully filed by the correspondents in Saigon to their newspapers back home. The Washington Post prints the story the next morning and it is read by everyone including Col. Zilch, who works in the Pentagon on planning and organization.

COL. ZILCH, unaware the Pentagon has planted the story to keep up South Viet Nam morale, calls a meeting of his staff and informs them that

Billy Graham

I have a seventeen-year-old who has developed into the beatnik type. He spends hours fixing his hair, and the clothes he wears are so tight that I don't see how he can walk in them. What does one do with a son like this? E. W. W.

This sort of dress is a kind of rebellion against society in general, and against parents in particular. But this is not altogether evil, and without some justification. We older people have given our young people a world that is in pretty bad shape, and they resent it. They resent the uncertainty we have handed down to them, and they resent living in a world without too much meaning. The beatnik dress is an outward manifestation of inner resentments and rebellions. They are actually saying: "The older generation isn't worth imitating, in dress, or in thought, so I'll dress different and act different." But remember, this is a stage, and your son will outgrow it. One sees few beatniks in their thirties. Some day he will see that the real change does not come from appearances and from acting differently, but from higher resolves, a greater sense of purpose, and a greater faith. I see thousands of young people changed by Christ in our crusades. Christ can change your son . . . and others like him. If your dissatisfaction with the status quo can be channeled in the right direction, they will effect changes that ought to be made in society.

'NOW-MR. PRESIDENT-THIS RUBBER MODEL'

James Marlow Nixon Keeps On Talking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, out of office almost six years and declining to say whether he has presidential ambitions for 1968, has made an almost incredible number of speeches and statements in 1966.

In the course of them the former vice president probably has given President Johnson more unsolicited advice than any public figure on how to win the war in Viet Nam.

THIS WEEK he tried his hand at prophecy — or mind-reading — about Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. Both men reacted caustically.

Nixon says his only objection to Republican seeking election this year. But, since all this keeps him high in the Republican consciousness if he wants another try at the presidency two years from now, what are his thoughts about that?

"I am not going to speculate on 1968," he says.

He seemed politically dead for a while, after he lost the 1960 presidential race and his try for the governorship of California in 1962, but he didn't stay mute long.

BY THE SUMMER of 1963 he was back in full bloom explaining:

"As the last (Republican) presidential candidate, my role now is to try to guide the thoughts of the Republican party. I will make some speeches and do some writing."

Nixon's speeches and statements range from Viet Nam to inflation. He has advice for Republicans on what their attitude on Viet Nam should be.

While he approves Johnson's goals in the Vietnamese war, he criticizes Johnson's way of trying to reach those goals, then advises him how to do it.

He keeps pumping up Republican hopes for this fall's congressional elections, although he is not always consistent. Most of the time he says they will win 40 House seats but he also has said they will win only 30.

At the end of 1965 he was saying the Democrats were badly split. Now he says the Democrats are split, and not only over the war.

IN MAY he said Johnson and Kennedy were locked in a struggle for control of the Democratic party. In July he was saying the Democrats are divided into two parties: one headed by Kennedy, the other by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

But this week he said Kennedy didn't have a chance to wrest the Democratic presidential nomination from Johnson in 1968 although suggesting Johnson might want Kennedy as his running mate rather than Humphrey.

Hal Boyle The Greatest Mystery

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest puzzle to a husband is his own wife.

She's the greatest mystery of his lifetime, as much of an enigma on their 50th wedding anniversary — if they live that long — as on the day she married him.

HOW COME it is so hard for a husband to understand his wife? What really makes his wife so mysterious? Well, practically everything, it would appear.

An informal poll of a nondescript group of husbands asked: "What puzzles you most about your wife?" It produced these answers:

"Why she always has to be the first gal at a cocktail party to kick off her shoes."

"Why she bends over and kisses me on the bald spot on top of my head while I am reading — when she knows this makes me mad."

"WHY SHE wants me to get bifocal glasses but wants contact lenses for herself."

"Why she always insists that we eat at home by candlelight so dim a fellow can't even see what's on the plate."

"Why she always eats those tuna fish sandwiches for lunch."

"Why she only butters the center of our breakfast toast. I like it buttered all over. I've been telling her that for years."

"Why she thinks I should have to give her four weeks' warning if I'm going to bring anyone home for dinner."

"Why she saves all my old love letters."

"WHY SHE only doles me out six bits for lunch, when everybody knows you haven't been able to get a decent lunch for that in Manhattan since 1942."

"Why she always makes me lick the stamps for our Christmas cards. The Lord knows she's got as big a tongue as I have — probably bigger."

"Why, when we split up the Sunday newspaper, she always demands the section I happen to want to read first."

"Why she thinks she knows how the government could balance its budget when she can't even keep ours in kilter."

"Why she'd rather go out in the evening, even to watch a blood transfusion or attend the opening of a delicatessen, than stay home and watch television."

Yes, mysterious are the ways of wives, but ever husband agrees on the one thing that puzzles him most about his particular wife:

"Why she — when she is in the first place — married me, she had so many to choose from."

Around The Rim Inflation And Turnover

Inflation that is giving all of us fits has hit hard in at least two departments of the city. The police and fire departments report that turnover of personnel has reached a galloping pace.

SEVERAL YEARS ago, the fire department could report an almost static personnel roster. In the past 12 months alone, almost one-third of the force has been replaced. There has been a similar increase in turnover at the police building as well.

The answer? Same as always, say spokesmen for the two departments. Adequate pay for these men is an absolute necessity, or else it will be simply a matter of lowering standards in order to fill the ranks. The current wave of climbing prices is hitting these employees where it hurts — at the dinner table.

THE EXPERIENCED men are moving to other cities where the pay scales are more realistic. The younger men are changing vocations, seeking a more lucrative occupation. There are perhaps many other local fields in which the problems are the same, but probably, few that affects every last one of us so closely.

DESPITE THE FACT that we have provided new fire stations and trucks, new police cars and equipment, these investments are worthless if there are not qualified men to use them. Departments heavily overloaded with beginners will not be able to make the best use of such equipment.

THESE DEPARTMENTS, as well as others, have been long behind in their pay scales and the yearly "catch-up" program somehow manages to stay several giant steps behind the times. Doubtless, the city has paid for this in a climbing insurance rate and a growing crime rate.

THESE ARE NOT new problems, but the accumulative effect has made them more critical than ever before. At budget time, we are inevitably reminded that the City can't afford to do any better by these employees. We may have reached the point where we can no longer afford to do nothing.

— V. GLENN COOTES

David Lawrence Economy Not Being Managed

WASHINGTON—America is today experiencing the ill-effects of a "managed economy" that isn't being well-managed. There's a serious question, moreover, whether any administration or the many councils of advisers surrounding it can prescribe a remedy. For what is being ignored is the basic truth epitomized once by a prominent clergyman who said: "There's enough in the world for everybody's need but not enough for everybody's greed."

THE GREED of groups, the greed of politicians seeking reelection through campaign contributions from some of those same groups, and the greed for political power inside unions by leaders who are ambitious—have all contributed to the collapse of the government's "guidelines," or "guidelines" and brought on the economic disorder that faces the nation today.

The recent airline strike, the suspension of a newspaper in a large city, and the threats of more strikes in various industries in the immediate future emphasize the lack of voluntary discipline in the business world and the fear of the politicians to impose by law the kind of discipline that a free society requires for self-preservation.

"GUIDELINES" presented an interesting test. It was thought that the prestige of a President of the United States was sufficient to impress both labor and management with the need for self-restraint. It was believed that the innocent bystanders were entitled to protection, too.

The principal fallacy of the "guideline" experiment has been the assumption that all businesses were more or less alike and that all unions would be responsive to the argument that wage increases should be related to increased productivity.

AT LAST, some words are being spoken by officials here who concede that "guidelines" cannot be uniform and that every industry, if not every business, is different. The President's Advisory Committee on Labor and Management policy made this point in a formal report a few days ago which said in part:

"We also believe that it is impractical if not impossible to translate the goals reflected in the guidelines into formulae for application to every particular price or wage decision."

"We believe that in a free society any policy to achieve price stability will be acceptable and effective only if it bears equitably on all forms of incomes."

PRESUMABLY THIS includes the as a "fair return" on a dollar increased wages to workers are supposed to take care of the higher and higher living costs. Meanwhile, the dollar depreciates in purchasing power because the government spends more than it should and brushes aside the call for a balanced budget as obsolete economics.

THERE IS NO WAY, however, by which the government can play the role of manager when it doesn't itself manage fairly for fear of political repercussions or reprisals from labor-union members. Only by the uniformity of law can any power be exercised over large groups in the economic world. In times of emergency—as in World War I and World War II and during the Korean war — "guidelines" were applied by law. Labor and management were treated impartially. The concept wasn't popular, of course, as it was believed to be an interference with the natural evolution of a competitive economy.

But the unrestrained conditions of today have turned out to be much worse than the wage and price controls of wartime.

Holmes Alexander One Good Man Gone

WASHINGTON—In at least one of our sovereign states, the Supreme Court's ruling of "one man, one vote" comes out to mean, "One good man gone."

The juggling of reapportionment in the mid-Ohio farm belt has pitted two well-considered congressmen in the re-juggled 17th District of eight rural counties. Since these men are running against each other, either John Ashbrook (R) or Robert Secrest (D) must go. The outcome, whatever it is, will be regrettable to a lot of voters.

JOHN ASHBROOK, 38, a third-term with previous experience in the Ohio legislature and several awards as an "outstanding" young man, survived the Goldwater catastrophe two years ago by 4,000 votes. This margin was a huge drop from his previous high, a handsome 20,000 majority. The GOP rule-of-thumb is that any congressman who won in '64 could probably count on a long career—but the reapportionment cost Ashbrook two counties where he was strong and added two where his November opponent has been strong in the past.

ROBERT SECREST, 62, was first elected to Congress in 1932 after service in the Ohio legislature. He left to join the Navy in World War II, was re-elected in 1948, voluntarily dropped out and was again chosen in 1962 and '64. This record makes him a good man. He probably could have held his 15th District seat indefinitely were it him into the 17th District, where his November opponent has proved him not for reapportionment. It showed self sold in five of the eight counties.

WHAT MAKES the confusion more maddening is that Rep. Ashbrook's old 17th District need not have been changed at all. Its population in 1960 was 396,172, which is well within the 15 per cent deviation that is deemed allowable. An average district in Ohio under the "one man, one vote" nose-counting would be about 404,000 persons.

IT WOULD BE impossible to say with objectivity whether Ashbrook or Secrest is the more expendable. Yet, since neither columnists nor voters are objective, it looks from here as if Ohio and the Congress could less afford to lose the younger man. Ashbrook's most recent public test has been as ranking Republican on the Un-American Activities Committee. That battered group is under the worst assault of its history by Communist and leftist agitators, most of them demonstrating like maniacs against the Viet Nam War. The coolest, the most courteous, the most quick-witted and the most unflappable member of the committee has been Ashbrook.

REP. SECREST has a record that will seem sound and moderate to an older generation — the one that brought in the New Deal. He is no more extremist than Ashbrook is, though they differ on almost every issue except their combined support of the Viet Nam policy.

The Supreme Court's foolishness in this instance means that a good man must walk the plank. It is one of the bizarre results of the strangest court that ever sat in American history.

Building Site Overlays Coal

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Drillers have confirmed that a seam of coal underlying the site of a new county highway building is still there.

Test holes showed the seven-foot seam of coal 175 feet deep shown on maps has not been extracted.

Related misgivings about the ground stability of the site of the new $300,000 building prompted the drilling.

Roach Vs. Turtle Case Is Settled

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The noise in C. B. Roach's car kept going "kerplunk" but Roach couldn't find the source.

"I don't care what you do," Roach finally told a mechanic. "Take the car apart. Just find that noise."

The mechanic turned up a turtle behind an upholstery panel. It apparently had nested there for about four months.

Editorials and Opinion The Big Spring Herald

6-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thursday, August 25, 1966

Dear Abby

No Need To Explain

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who has not been married very long, has telephoned us to tell us that she is leaving her husband and is coming home. We can't understand what happened. She never indicated in any of her letters that her marriage wasn't going well. They seemed so in love and well suited to each other, and they surely went together long enough. Our problem is what to tell people.

In case she changes her mind and goes back to him, we don't want a lot of talk needlessly. Should we give our friends and relatives a "hint" as to why she's coming home in case she decides to stay? What if her visit is prolonged?

THE PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: Tell people she is coming home for a visit. (She is.) If she decides to stay, let HER make the announcement. You owe no explanations to anyone.

DEAR ABBY: As far as husbands go, mine is tops. They threw the pattern away after they made him. But he has one fault. He hits, kicks and bites me in his sleep. I carried a scar from one of his bites for two weeks.

My friend says that maybe he wants to beat the daylight out of me during the daytime, but he waits for a dream to bring out his true feelings. Is this possible!

BEATEN AND BITTEN
DEAR B AND B: Could be. But there is always a chance that he is not dreaming about you when he lashes out tooth and nail. In self defense you should have twin beds.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine received an old beat up overstuffed chair from a friend of hers. The friend who received the chair was going to reupholster it. When she took it apart, she found several very old coins deep down in the cushion.

Some of the coins were so old you wouldn't believe they even had coins way back in those days. They could be very valuable. Whose coins are they? They came with the chair.

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: The coins "accidentally" came with the chair. The receiver should notify the giver that the coins were found in the chair. It is my view that the coins belong to the giver.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

2 Die, 9 Hurt In Car Crash

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP)—Two children of Dr. T. J. Ballinger of Fort Worth, Tex., were killed as the family station wagon hit a slick spot on US 62-180 and rolled into a field Wednesday.

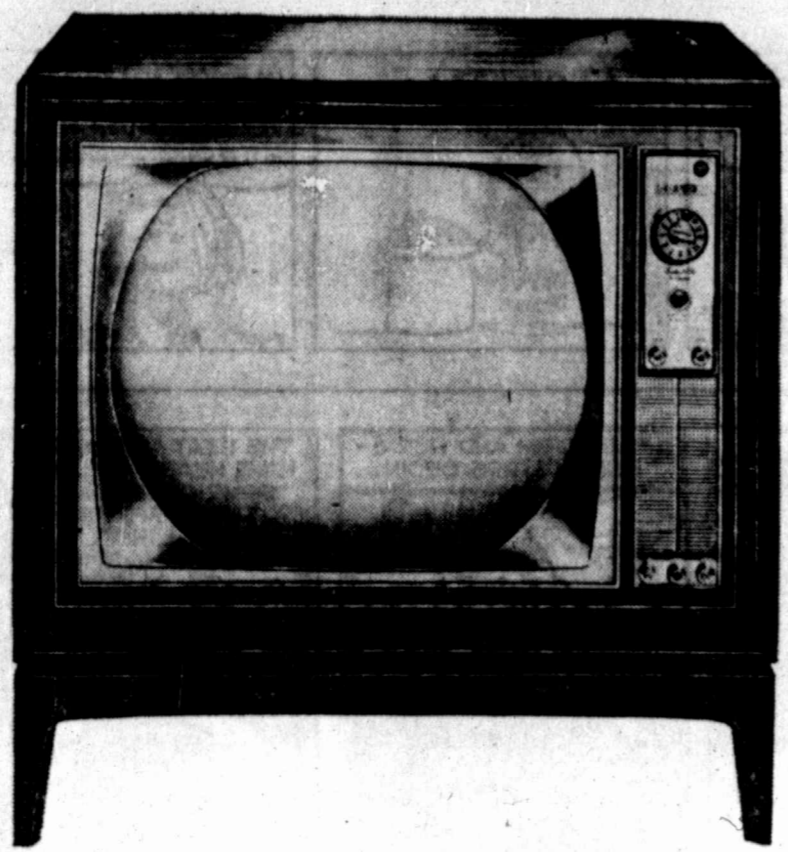

Nine other persons in the car suffered injuries. They were brought to St. Francis Hospital in Carlsbad.

The accident happened 10 miles south of here on a stretch of highway still wet from rains which caused flooding in this vicinity.

Ann Ballinger, 4, and Walter Ballinger, 2, died in the crash. The injured are Dr. Ballinger, who was driving; his wife and three other of their children—Fred, 18, Ellen, 13, and Lawrence, 9; Ballinger's sister, Mrs. Percy Dittmore of Eumice, N.M., and three of her children—Lee, 12, Andy, 10, and Patty, 8.
