Conventions Will Boost Carr, Tower

AUSTIN (AP)—Preliminaries of the 1966 State Democratic Convention begin today with the all-out accent on boosting Waggoner Carr to the U.S. Senate.

Pre-convention activities hit a high mark tonight when Carr makes a 30-minute statewide television address from a $25-a-plate "victory kickoff" dinner spread in the municipal auditorium.

The convention proper is scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday, preceded by an early morning meeting of the State Democratic Committee to rule on contesting delegations.

Uncontested delegations begin drawing their credentials today at 10 a.m., with only one admission ticket issued for each of the 6,258 delegate votes.

From 2 to 4 p.m. Democratic county chairmen will gather in a workshop to discuss desired changes in the state election code and the November general election.

While the men are working, all women delegates and party officials' wives will be attending a reception honoring Mrs. John Connally.

FUSS BREWS Many of the senatorial districts will hold pre-convention caucuses before or after the Carr dinner to nominate their choices for convention committees and their two members of the new 62-member state executive committee.

The current state committee meets at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday to hear and act on a report from a credential subcommittee about contested delegations from Angelina, Denton and Midland counties.

Still another committee action will be the selection of a nominee to replace State Rep. Bill Satterwhite, Ennis, who decided not to run after the May primary.

Democratic chairmen of Ellis and Hill counties could not agree on another nominee and passed the decision on to the state committee.

PROTESTS Briefly the delegation protests to be acted upon include: Angelina (36 convention delegates)—Liberal delegation challenged by conservatives who walked out of the county convention and held their own separate or rump convention.

Denton (34)—Conservatives stayed through county convention then held rump convention afterwards, claiming 10 of 16 precincts represented at first convention should be disqualified because chairmen did not file copies of precinct convention minutes with county clerk.

CONSERVATIVES Midland (37)—Two county conventions held, both conservative, and named delegates to state convention. Protest claims the majority convention included delegates who did not even vote in the May primary.

Armstrong (2)—request that delegates elected be disqualified because some non-residents took part in precinct conventions.

Harris (847)—Conservatives who lost control of county convention to liberals asking that entire delegation be voided because of allegations that liberals won control through a close voice vote.

More Funds Are Given Bible Class Although the formal period of appeal for the Bible Class Fund was over, investments in the program continued to be received today.

'Green' U.S. Artillerymen Shell Own Troops In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Artillerymen in a U.S. light infantry brigade on its first combat mission in South Viet Nam mistakenly shelled their own troops in two separate operations near the Cambodian border today, the U.S. Command reported.

The mistakes cost the lives of six Americans while 23 others were wounded, a spokesman said.

The troops of the U.S. 196th Infantry Brigade were out on their first search and destroy missions when shells from their own guns fell on them near their base camp at Tay Ninh city.

16 WOUNDED One shelling at 1:30 a.m. today killed two infantrymen and wounded 16, an official spokesman said.

The forward controller marked the target with a smoke grenade. The bomb was dropped in the designated target area, inflicting the Marine casualties, the spokesman reported.

The mistaken bombings overshadowed war developments in which U.S. planes kept up crippling pressure on targets in North Viet Nam and sparred with Communist MIG jets for the third straight day.

The U.S. Command said three Marines were killed and four wounded. A spokesman said the air strike was called in by the Marines and was under direction of a forward air controller.

He said the Phantom jet made one bombing run 600 feet in front of Marine positions, then the ground unit called for strikes 300 feet closer to them.

Both artillery incidents took place a few miles from Tay Ninh City, 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the accidental bombing, a U.S. Marine F4 Phantom fighter-bomber accidentally dropped a 500-pound bomb Sunday on Marines dug in during Operation Prairie. The incident occurred in the northernmost province of South Viet Nam a few miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Thant Considers Staying In Office

TEXANS AT WAR: JOHNSTON Passes Up Retirement, May Return To War

By The Associated Press James Johnston left his farm home near Perrin, Tex., and joined the Army to get it out of the way. That was 20 years ago.

THIRD TRIP Now a major and twice a Texan at war, Johnston will pass up retirement next year even though it may mean a third trip to South Viet Nam.

On the wall of his den near the Army flight school where he works is one of the least fierce of fighting men's mottoes: "Low, Slow and Reliable—18th Aviation Co."

The planes that worked the Mekong Delta picked up the nickname 'Delta Airlines,' and you might compare us with a civilian airlines because half of our work was courier runs.

The other half was radio relay, parachute supply drops, and before helicopter ambulances arrived in Viet Nam, medical evacuation.

"We fly U-1A's, called Otters. It's a brute of an airplane, ugly and slow, but it can land on a strip of grass 800 feet long. It doesn't climb very well, and that's when we took most of the fire—on takeoff after making a delivery, say, out where the Green Berets were operating. I wouldn't attempt to say how many bullet holes we accumulated."

SAFETY FEATURE "But there was a safety feature built into the Otter kind of accidentally. They put all the gas tanks in the belly. By the time a bullet penetrated the gas tank and the floor, it was about spent."

"One bullet lodged in the heel of the boot of a Vietnamese trooper but didn't stretch him."

ILLNESS STRIKES 18 Band Members DALLAS (AP)—Eighteen members of the Odessa High School band became ill Sunday after performing at halftime ceremonies of the Dallas Cowboys-New York Giants football game in the Cotton Bowl.

All were treated at a hospital and later rejoined their band members for the trip home.

Bill J. Dean, band director, said nine were taken to the hospital shortly after the halftime intermission and the other nine became ill while eating dinner at a downtown restaurant.

UN'S U. THANT

East-West Relations Hit New Low

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said today he would consider remaining in office until the end of this year, if members of the world organization fail to agree on a successor by Nov. 3 when his term expires.

He declined to say whether he would agree to stay on beyond Dec. 31.

Thant made his comment at a news conference in which he also declared that East-West relations had reached a new low and that U.N. action on disarmament and other key issues was being severely hampered.

HOLY WAR That also expressed doubts as to the value of an Asian peace conference on Viet Nam in view of the concept of some powers that this was a holy war between the Communist and non-Communist ideologies.

Thant met the press as diplomats from around the world gathered for the opening of the 21st session of the General Assembly Tuesday afternoon. He talked privately with U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk just before the news conference.

Thant's indication that he might remain in office beyond Nov. 2 came after newsmen noted the worldwide appeal for him to reconsider his decision to step down. When asked whether he might extend his term still further if no suitable successor is found, Thant said he did not agree with the theory that a deadlock might develop.

UNHAPPY He declared that his decision to quit was not linked with the Viet Nam war, U.N. financing and other problems he had given in his letter on Sept. 1.

His decision to retire, he said, was not related to possible improvements in the world situation.

He made it clear that he was unhappy with his inability to function as he believed the secretary-general should because some member nations looked upon the post as that of "a glorified clerk."

He said he believed the secretary-general should be able to take diplomatic and political initiatives much broader than some members felt should be permitted.

VIET TOPIC In the U.S. view, Thant should be persuaded to stay on as secretary-general for another five-year term despite his avowed intent to step down.

Viet Nam also was a prime topic as the U.S. secretary of state, Dean Rusk arrived for a week of meetings with foreign affairs leaders from about 85 countries, including Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Rusk declined comment on Pope Paul VI's new Viet Nam peace appeal. He said he had not yet had a chance to read the text, but might have a statement concerning it later.

GROMYKO Gromyko arrived Sunday talking a hard line against "forces of aggression"—which in Soviet parlance means the Americans in Viet Nam.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in the introduction to his annual report said chances of fruitful international cooperation had been seriously impaired by "the deepening crisis over Viet Nam" and "an increasing intransigence and distrust among governments and peoples."

Rusk will spend a week in New York meeting foreign ministers attending the 21st annual session of the U.N. General Assembly, which opens Tuesday. He will see Gromyko Thursday.

Gromyko will make a Soviet policy speech in the Assembly's general debate Friday. In a statement issued on his arrival he said:

REDS SPURNED "The peoples are expecting the United Nations to adopt decisions which would erect a reliable barrier before the forces of aggression and safeguard the freedom and sovereign rights of the peoples."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg indicated that Rusk would ask Gromyko to help get North Viet Nam into peace negotiations.

Philippine Prexy Praises Democracy

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Pointing to his own country as a showcase of individual freedoms, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today that democracy can succeed in Viet Nam and the rest of Asia.

"The new wave in Asia is democracy," Marcos said in a speech prepared for delivery to the faculty and students at the University of Michigan, where he was to receive an honorary degree.

NEW LEADERS "It portends changes that reach to the bedrock of Asian culture; it has made new leaders of Asia impatient of the old order and has opened their eyes to the possibility of lifting up their ancient societies from the mire of degradation, brutish poverty, and class constructions."

Marcos, who is midway through a 15-day state visit to the United States, said his fellow countrymen look upon democracy as "the necessary condition and context for economic development."

"For the Filipino, private enterprise is an extension of the idea of individual freedom; hence, for him, private enterprise and democracy are inseparable," Marcos said.

FACTS OF LIFE "The stability of our democracy is a fact. In a region where authoritarian rule, political and military coups, armed insurrection are facts of political life, the Philippine has not deviated from the path of democracy," he said.

"Even while we were recovering from the devastation of the last world war, beset at the same time by Communist subversion, we maintained an unbroken record of constitutional representative government."

Negro Students Attend Classes

GRENADA, Miss. (AP)—Nearly 170 Negro pupils passed through police lines today and began their second week of integrated classes at formerly all-white schools. White crowds, who taunted and beat the Negroes last week, were absent.

City officials, under a federal court order to protect the Negroes, said law and order would be maintained.

Miss Joan Baez, a folk singer active in civil rights work, accompanied the Negroes as far as the police barricade. She told officers she had transfer papers for five young Negro children whose parents were unable to accompany them. She asked to be allowed to take the papers to the school.

"Nobody but students and parents can go in," said Lloyd Jones, a state highway patrolman.

169 COUNTED Newsmen counted 169 Negro children entering the grammar and high schools. Another nine were turned away. They said school officials told them their transfer applications were not in order.

In another development, L. D. Boone announced his resignation from the six-member City Council. He said he was not able "to devote sufficient time to the job." Grenada's city manager quit last week.

WHITE MOBS White mobs ran freely on school registration day one week earlier, beating and stoning Negro children and white newsmen until the Mississippi highway patrol stepped in.

"We are taking all possible steps to prevent the slightest of incidents," said Mayor J. D. Quinn.

"If a violation of the law occurs, there will be immediate arrests and prosecution to the fullest extent of the law."

State Officials Use Short Wave

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials say short-wave radio transmitters to send diplomatic messages are used both by the United States abroad and some foreign nations in Washington.

Officials said Sunday American diplomatic missions in 45 countries use radio transmitters. They said in about half of these instances, radio is the only alternative to poor means of communication. In others, the transmitters are held for emergencies.

13 JAILED And Saturday, FBI agents swept through Grenada, arresting 13 white men — one a justice of the peace — on federal charges of conspiring in the attacks on Negro children.

The men were taken before a U.S. commissioner in Oxford, 65 miles north of here, and released in $1,000 bond each. Maximum punishment under the charges would be 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Mayor Quinn spoke Sunday night after the latest in a series of city council meetings, attended by most of the city's police force.

Plans, Quinn said, were to hire four new policemen and buy riot-control equipment, two more cruisers and more radio equipment. Riot-control classes were being organized, he said.

KING DUE Policemen were told to administer the laws without exception, and promised officials would back them up with prosecution of persons arrested.

An aide of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said the civil rights leader would arrive this afternoon.

In Jackson, Gov. Paul Johnson said that the appearance of King or any of his people would not and must not influence the clear obligation of all law-abiding citizens to preserve the peace.

NEGRO LEADERS NO HELP Powell's Power Dims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Sam M. Gibbons says nothing Negro leaders can do will keep Rep. Adam Clayton Powell from losing his chairmanship powers of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Asked about plans for a rally in New York City Tuesday in Powell's behalf, Gibbons, a Florida Democrat, said, "I don't think it would have any effect on the outcome of the vote."

POWELL OFFERS About offers by some Negro leaders to picket the homes of committee members known to be against Powell, a New York Democrat from Harlem, Gibbons said in an interview: "Anything like that involving members of Congress is fraught with danger. You don't threaten people who are in the highest law-making body in the land and perhaps the most important in the world. Congressmen are not intimidated. Each man votes according to his conscience."

Gibbons is the leader of a group of committee members who say they have the votes (at least 16 on the 31-member committee) to transfer Powell's powers as chairman to six subcommittee chairmen. The move is to be made Thursday.

PREACHING Powell, a Negro, preached Sunday at Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church where he is pastor and announced plans for Tuesday's rally at the A. Philip Randolph Institute. Randolph, head of the AFL-CIO Sleeping Car Porters Union, is to be rally chairman.

Powell's sermon was on Daniel in the lion's den. It contained no political remarks.

But at the end of the 90-minute service before about 2,000 persons, Powell said of the committee members' move against him: "This is the reward I get for excellence."

He said he has been called "the best chairman on the Hill" by Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson and by House Speaker John W. McCormack. Fifty-four major bills were passed during his chairmanship, he said.

Indonesia Seeks Return To UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Indonesia notified the United Nations today it would return to the organization Tuesday.

Ambassador Lambertus Nicodemus Palar, Indonesian ambassador to Washington, telegraphed Secretary-General U Thant that his country was resuming its membership.

President Sukarno withdrew Indonesia from the United Nations effective March 1, 1965, because Malaysia had been elected to the Security Council amid his campaign of confrontation against it. Since then, Sukarno's power has waned.

Powell's sermon was on Daniel in the lion's den. It contained no political remarks.

GOP Leader's Daughter Slain

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — Police said they were without a suspect, motive or hard clue today as they continued their investigation of the mystery-shrouded murder of Valerie Percy, daughter of Republican leader Charles H. Percy.

Valerie, 21, blonde and pretty, was beaten and stabbed to death in her bed early Sunday morning while the Percys and two of their children, including the victim's twin sister, slept in nearby bedrooms. Two other children were away at the time.

Percy, 47, is the Republican candidate in the November election against U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas and has been active in both state and national politics.

NO LEADS

A day-long search of the 17-room house and grounds on the fashionable North Shore turned up potential clues but nothing of immediate significance, police said. Questioning of family members, servants, and friends was of little help.

"We have no leads at all," said Kenilworth Police Chief Robert M. Daley. "There are no clues that would help us in any way."

But Chicago police crime laboratory technicians are studying fingerprints, bed clothing, floor sweepings and other physical evidence collected from the Percy home.

Inside, police were busy piecing together this story:

INTRUDER

The intruder approached the Percy home, situated on the shore of Lake Michigan, apparently shortly before 5 a.m. Footprints in the sand indicate he may have come by way of the beach.

Using a sharp instrument he cut an opening in the locked screen door, opened it, then cut a slice out of a glass panel of the inside door, unlocked it and entered the house.

There was no noise. The Percy family slept and a Labrador retriever in an attached garage did not bark.

The intruder crept up a staircase. At the top landing were three doors. He chose Valerie's—whether accidentally or by design is not known.

AWAKENED

Percy and his second wife, Loraine, the victim's stepmother, were sleeping in a bedroom about 35 feet from Valerie's.

Mrs. Percy told police she was awakened by a moan. She got out of bed and walked into the hall, unaware that Valerie was dying of a crushed skull and more than a dozen stab wounds in her head, throat, chest and stomach. She was unaware, too, that the killer was still in the girl's bedroom.

As Mrs. Percy entered Valerie's bedroom she was blinded by a flashlight beam. She ran from the room screaming and pushed a burglar alarm button, awakening her husband. Percy telephoned police, then went to Valerie's room. The killer had fled, apparently by the same route he had entered the house. Mrs. Percy telephoned a neighbor, Dr. Robert P. Hohf. Valerie was dead when he arrived.

QUESTIONS

Mrs. Percy was unable to describe the killer or even say whether it was a man or woman. No one has reported seeing anyone come or go, although two neighbors said they heard car tires squeal about the time the murderer fled. A pair of scissors and a shoe was found in the neighborhood, but they were not immediately linked to the case.

The rest of the story is full of questions.

Dr. Andrew Toman, coroner of Cook County, said marks on Valerie's body indicated she struggled with the killer. But no sound was heard other than the moan.

PLANNED

Toman also said the "attacker obviously came into the house to murder someone." But Police Chief Daley was unwilling to commit himself to this theory or to one that the crime had started out as a burglary.

While Toman said the murder was planned, no one came up with a motive. Daley said there was no indication of anyone having "hard feelings toward Valerie."

Valerie, a June graduate of Cornell University, had been working in her father's campaign. Police said they would question persons she had contacted during the political work.

Percy's campaign manager, Scott Cohen, said Percy is still in the race for senator but that campaigning will be suspended. Sen. Douglas, telegraphing his condolences, said he too was calling off his campaign.

Douglas's message was one of a thousand or more telegrams and telephone calls offering sympathy.

SHOCKED

Percy's political career includes an unsuccessful try for the governorship of Illinois in 1964. He was chairman of the 1960 GOP National Platform Committee. He resigned as chairman of Bell & Howell Co. when he ran for governor. He had become president and chief executive officer of the firm in 1949 at the age of 29.

Valerie, her twin, Sharon, and her brother, Roger, 19, were children of Percy's first marriage, to Jeanne Dickerson who died in 1947. Two other children, Gail, 13, and Mark, 11, were born during his second marriage.

The slaying shocked residents of Kenilworth, a community of fewer than 3,000. Neighbors, classmates and friends spoke of Valerie in glowing terms. "She was loved and admired by everyone in the community," said a neighbor, Mrs. Nelson D. Stoker.

GI Home Loan Appraisals Record 21 Per Cent Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appraisal requests for proposed dwellings under the GI home loan program jumped 21.2 per cent during August to a monthly high for 1966, the Veterans Administration reported today.

The August total was 10,292, compared with 8,495 in July and 8,879 in August, 1965. The previous monthly high for 1966 was 10,086 in April.

Applications for appraisals for proposed dwellings are considered an indicator of future construction activity.

The seasonally adjusted annual rate for appraisal requests for proposed construction also increased during August by 7.1 per cent, to 106,000 from rate of 99,000 based on July activity.

However, the number of construction starts under the GI program dropped to 3,627 in August from 3,927 in July and fell far below the August, 1965, total of 4,838.

As a result, the seasonally adjusted annual rate for VA starts dropped to 35,000 during August, compared with 42,000 in July.

The number of requests for appraisals of existing dwellings decreased to 14,672 during August from 14,773 in July and 17,119 a year earlier.

Applications for home loan guaranty numbered 19,739 in August, up from 18,766 in July and 18,398 in August, 1965.

Faubus Offers Racial Advice

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE, Ky. (AP)—The focus of racial tension at the Southern Governors' Conference no longer is Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus, who once triggered a national crisis on integration.

And that's the way the governor says he likes it.

After six terms Faubus, 58, is attending his 12th—and he indicates last-Southern Governors' Conference.

"This is a kind of sentimental journey," he said in an interview. "There's no pressure. I can relax. I don't have to watch every word I say."

But Faubus still is willing to dispense racial advice to anyone who asks for it—and his attitude remains basically unchanged since the stormy days of 1957 when he ordered out the Arkansas National Guard and blocked integration temporarily at Little Rock's Central High School.

At a news conference Sunday, he sounded his views. Racial integration breeds nothing but trouble and the federal government should let states handle their own affairs.

Later, at his plush cabin in the woods near Kentucky Lake, Faubus reminisced.

"I have no regrets about what I did nine years ago," he said. "I kept the confidence of the people and avoided bloodshed."

"After all," he said, "we haven't had any riots, looting, property damage—not a window broken yet. And look at Watts and those other places."

He said a governor faced with civil rights troubles must first keep the confidence of responsible people in both factions.

"Yet, if the radicals decide to concentrate on your state or city, you're going to have riots and there's nothing you can do," Faubus said.

"Arkansas has been fortunate so far in that we haven't become a target."

"All I want to do in the remaining few months is finish out my term with the least controversy," he said.

He said he is going home to the Ozarks where he is building a new home at Huntsville, to write his memoirs.

"If I keep going on—a plane crash, a stroke, a car accident—and I wouldn't get to do my writing," he said.

Mayor Of NY Hurls Strikes

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Mayor John V. Lindsay showed his pitching prowess Sunday on Manhattan's Lower East Side, where he and his wife, Mary, attended the Feast of San Gennaro.

The Lindsays stopped at a number of stands and munched on baked clams, clams on the half-shell and sausage sandwiches.

Lindsay stopped at a baseball throwing stand and promptly heaved three straight strikes, knocking three stuffed dolls off their racks.

He was given a large doll for his feat — "not just because he was the mayor," proprietor John Minsquero said.

Beaumont Schools Hike Meal Costs

BEAUMONT (AP) — Beaumont schools have boosted the prices of their lunches by an average five cents, citing increased food costs as the reason.

Milk for students was boosted an average two cents per half-pint bottle.

Ike Hinted Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he was prepared to do "whatever was necessary to win" the Korean War, including using nuclear weapons.

Eisenhower appeared in a taped interview shown Sunday night over stations of the National Educational Television Network.

On the program, as he wrote in his book, "The White House Years," his memoir on the presidency published in 1963, Eisenhower said he let it be known to the enemy in Korea "through several channels" that he was prepared to use atomic weapons, and that the knowledge shortened the war.

Said Eisenhower: "I let it be known and I'm sure it had a great effect because the answer came back that they're ready to resume conversations about the armistice."

Concerning the use of atomic weapons today, Eisenhower said massive nuclear attack against another nation — except in retaliation — is out of the question.

But he added: "This does not mean that in sticky situations that you couldn't use a proper kind of nuclear weapon sometime." He did not elaborate.

NINE GUNSHOT VICTIMS

Texas Violent Death Toll Hits 27

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents killed at least 15 persons in Texas over the weekend as the violent death toll rose to 27.

Nine of the victims were shot to death. The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and went through midnight Sunday.

The victims included: Richard Ward, 18, of Columbus, Ohio, was shot to death Sunday after a grocery store on Port Bolivar peninsula was burglarized.

The store owner shot at several persons fleeing the store and apparently hit the victim.

George E. Murray, 20, Houston, was fatally injured Saturday night in a two-car crash in Houston.

BODY FOUND

William Mullaney, stationed at the Beeville Naval Air Station, and Mrs. Fannie A. Woody, Austin, were shot to death outside an Austin motel Sunday.

Scott Vineyard, 16, Midland, was killed by lightning Saturday while rabbit hunting in a mesquite patch northwest of Midland.

Evelyn Comanche, 45, San Antonio, was fatally shot while driving a car Sunday in San Antonio. Police said the man apparently was shot accidentally with his .32 caliber pistol by a woman passenger.

Marshall Pena, 30, Fort Worth, was killed Sunday when shot by another man while sitting in a Fort Worth cafe.

The body of Mrs. Letha Marie Sonnier, 62, Houston, was found near her burned bed Sunday.

Eddie Roy Lewis, 22, Houston, died Saturday night after he was shot during what police said was a scuffle with a woman.

Albert Ross, 47, Houston, was shot to death at his home Sunday.

BOAT CRASH

Clay Grimes, 20, San Angelo, was killed Sunday when the high-powered boat he was piloting collided with another boat during a race on Marine Creek Lake at Fort Worth.

Jesse Ray Crain, 27, Lufkin, was killed Sunday when his car hit an edge of the Angellina River bridge on US 99 between Lufkin and Nacogdoches.

Henry Smith, Dallas, was shot to death Sunday in Dallas.

Max Gonzalez, 19, Corpus Christi, was killed Friday night when a friend pulled the trigger of a gun he said he presumed was unloaded, sending a shell into Gonzalez' chest.

TWO TEENS

Thurlow Pope, 43, died Sunday in Dallas after a two-car accident a few blocks near his home.

Two teenagers were killed Friday night when an automobile struck a stalled car on Texas 16 about three miles south of De Leon in Central Texas.

They were Mervell Newton, 14, and Robert Halbrooks, 17, both of DeLeon. Four other persons were injured.

Wanda Long Mitchell, 33, Fort Worth, was killed and two other persons injured Friday night when two cars collided in Tarrant County. Walter W. Ivie, 54, Silsbee, was killed Friday night when his car and another vehicle collided in the rain on US 90 near Sealy.

ABILENE SMASH

Harian Kenner, 18, Chireno, was killed Saturday when a car in which he was riding ran off a road about 20 miles east of Nacogdoches and struck some trees.

The driver, a cousin of the dead youth, was injured.

Lee Sheffield, 52, Magnolia, was struck and killed by a car Saturday in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean Morgan, both 18, Pecos, were killed Saturday when their car smashed through a US 59 guard rail on an overpass near Sugar Land.

Mrs. Ella Snowden, 90, Austin, was killed in Austin Saturday in a two-car collision which injured three other persons.

Victor B. Crossley, 24, an airman from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., was killed Saturday night when his car left Interstate 35 and rolled end over end 10 times.

William B. McGee, 19, Abilene, was killed Sunday when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole and then a brick building in Bronte. He was the son of police Capt. George McGee of Abilene.

Pupils Want Sukarno Out

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — First-waving students accused President Sukarno today of playing a key role in the abortive Communist coup of last October and called anew for his removal from power.

More than 2,000 students massed outside the University of Jakarta waving banners and shouting slogans despite efforts by military leaders to head off the demonstration.

The demonstrators heard youth leaders charge Sukarno was at headquarters of the Communist party (PKI) when the coup attempt was launched. It was the bitterest attack the students have yet made on Su-karno. "Sukarno has not condemned the PKI but supported them!" shouted one student leader.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Mon., Sept. 19, 1966 3-A

"Sukarno says he condemns imperialists, but he has never condemned the Chinese imperialists who helped the PKI coup attempt!" another screamed.

Army patrols hovered near the demonstrators who surged to the gates of Sukarno's palace but made no attempt to stop them.

Sukarno was in his palace handing out medals to his household staff while demonstrators milled outside. He gave medals to servants who used to sell his bath water to people who thought it would make them strong.

Ignoring a warning from Maj. Gen. Alamsjah, one of the army's top leaders, the students massed outside the university campus and circulated a proclamation demanding that Sukarno leave the country.

Weeks Of Back Pain Now Relieved

"After weeks of pain in my back and hips, I tried DeWitt's Pills—got wonderful relief," says Mrs. R. Gardner, Waterloo, Iowa. Dear Abby

Policeman
A Friend

DEAR ABBY: I have a young neighbor who has children about the ages of mine. Our children play together constantly at either my house or hers. It seems the only way this mother can discipline her children is to tell them if they aren't "good" she will call the policeman.

Now it's none of my business how she wants to raise her children, but I do not want my children to grow up being afraid of policemen. Should I say something to this mother? If so, how do I put it without getting her angry at me?

A NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Tell her that for their own safety children should be taught that the policeman is their friend because should a child be lost, hurt or molested by a stranger, he should ask the nearest policeman for help. If you explain this to your neighbor she will surely understand and change her threats.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 16, I lost the thumb and first two fingers from my right hand in a hunting accident. This is my problem. People are always wanting to shake hands with me, which has given me many awkward moments.

They become offended or embarrassed if I do not shake hands with them. I have tried wearing a glove, but people are not very observant and they put out their hand anyway. I don't think I ought to apologize for my hand. Any suggestions?

S. C.

DEAR S. C.: You needn't apologize. Simply offer your left hand before the other party has a chance to reach for your right and he should quickly get the message.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

for Tomorrow

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you with more energy than usual but you find that otherwise there are many peculiar and contentious, may be even some decidedly adverse conditions in the mists of trade that need to be handled with much care and caution or intermittent trouble can follow for some time to come.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A more cheerful attitude and a gentle touch will get rid of that depressed feeling around you because of rather strange influences being present. Some new interest needs careful study. Don't take expensive chances.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Home conditions may be somewhat uneasy but if you show understanding and kindness, all works out very well. Fine understanding will help you keep your feet on the ground. Show that you have logic and intellect.

SEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Certain individuals and conditions need to be cleared up so do so after you have all the facts, but do it diplomatically. It takes a little effort to get one to understand you better. Explain ideas simply.

MOON-CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) If you are a little more practical you find that you can overcome all obstacles that stand in the way of your progress. Common sense methods save much trouble. Light entertainment is best for the evening.

LEO (July 23 to August 23) Follow through with personal desires taking care not to get into arguments over money. This could deter you from making big strides forward. Don't be so fearful where women are concerned for they resent it.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) By consulting with experts you can get back on the beam if you have not been thinking very clearly lately. Avoid prejudices and concentrate on constructive meditation. Then you make progress quickly.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) Some secret anxiety could keep you from an opportunity to get higher-ups to give you a boost which your most cherished aims are concerned, if you do not rise above such. State your aims. Then full speed ahead.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23) Avoid gossipy pals and devote your time to higher-ups who can support your ideas if you approach them in a very charming, admiring way. Do some civic work. Steer clear of the social or other can be trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 23) Experimenting with new ideas can bring advancement, so get about other things for awhile, and don't worry higher-ups. Expansion comes easily now. Get out to the heater or other light entertainment in P.M.

CAPRICORN (December 24 to January 20) You need to clear up obligations today if you want to feel good again and gain the respect of others as well. Be devoted to the one who is in a very fine mood again. Don't harbor any cheating thoughts.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) A partner can be quite demanding, but this is good, since it forces your mind away from any anxieties or temptations and you accomplish a great deal. Use new tack on competition. Get amazing results.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) Keep busy at the work you truly like and you find much pleasure and advancement possible right now. You can put ideas across by some new method. Show that you are ambitious and others respect you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TOMORROW... he or she will be one of those very ambitious young people who has the organizational powers and is also very good at small detail. This combination makes for great success. However, early (back to more cooperation-minded where others are concerned. He/she should be more cooperative and the desire to specialize is great and the perfectionist is definitely in this chart.

'I Will Prepare Myself ...'

By MIKE ROTHENBERGER
Staff Representative
Dale Carnegie & Assoc., Inc.
Copyright 1960, Dale Carnegie & Assoc., Inc.

A very prominent businessman went downtown to his office one morning, a couple of hours earlier than usual. He had some things he wanted to do before the employees came to work. No one was there when he arrived except old Tom, the custodian of the building. Old Tom was a faithful employe of many years service to the company. When the boss walked into his office, there was old Tom emptying the ash trays, dusting the furniture and tidying up the place.

When the boss noticed him going about his routine, he said, "Tom, you know, as I look around this place, I can't help thinking what an asset you have been to our organization for all these years. You have kept this place clean and cheerful for our employes and our customers to enjoy." "Tom," he said, "You are an important member of this organization and I want you to know that I appreciate you—and all you have done." Old Tom said, "Thank you, boss," and walked out of the room with his dust cloth in his hand.

A few minutes passed and the boss had settled down to work at his desk—and then the door to his office opened and in came Tom. His eyes were moist—there was a tear on his cheek. The boss could not understand. He said, "What is wrong, Tom, did I say something to offend you?" Tom said, "No boss, you didn't offend me, but I have something I want to tell you." "Boss," he said, "You know that I have worked right here in this place for 17 years—12 of those years I have worked for you—and this morning is the first time anyone ever told me that they appreciated anything I do." He said, "Boss, I just want you to know that I appreciate what you said to me this morning more than I have ever appreciated my paycheck that you signed for me. I just wanted to tell you." He then turned and walked out of the room.

It was Professor William James of Harvard who said, "The deepest principle in Human Nature is the craving to be appreciated." He didn't say—the want or the desire—he said the craving. Man will not give us his best for money alone, but he will give us everything possible if we will give him a bit of sincere appreciation.

When we understand this simple principle, when we resolve not to criticize or condemn, but instead, look for every opportunity to drop a word of honest appreciation here and there, we will find that life will take on a new glow. We will find that more and more fine people will be attracted to us. This is a universal principle. We can use it at home, at the club, at the office, or any place else where we associate with other people. When we have made it a habit to give honest praise and appreciation, we shall have taken another giant step forward toward the self-preparation that will enhance our success and happiness. The development of a keen awareness of the thoughts, the feeling, and the reactions of other people is another way that I can "Prepare Myself," and assure that some day my time for a more rewarding life will come.

Tanzanian Judge Acquits Peace Corpsman Of Murder

MWANZA, Tanzania (AP)—A Tanzanian judge acquitted U.S. Peace Corpsman Bill Hayward Kinsey today of the charge of murdering his young wife.

Judge Harold Platt announced his verdict to a tense, crowded courtroom. A two-man jury had recommended that Kinsey, 25, of Washington, N.C., be found innocent. The judge was not required to follow the recommendation of the jury of "assessors" but he usually does in a murder trial.

The two assessors—Gail Bagley, 46, a soil conservation expert from Elsberry, Mo., and Tanzanian economist Fred Mugobi, 27, told the court they believed that Peverley Kinsey, 23, died of an accidental fall on March 27, as her husband contended.

"Having given anxious thought to the evidence in this court, I'm of the opinion that the charge has not been sufficiently proved against the accused so as to enable me to find that he is guilty beyond reasonable doubt," said Platt.

"While the accused must therefore carry with him the suspicion that he may have been responsible for his wife's death, he must, in justice, be acquitted and set free.

The British-born judge took nearly two hours to review the cases for the prosecution and the defense and to read his judgment.

Kinsey, flushed and tense, sat grim-faced in the dock listening intently to the judgment. He blinked nervously behind his horn-rimmed spectacles.

He was released immediately from custody and Peace Corps officials whisked him away.

In Washington, Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn said in a statement: "Naturally, we are deeply gratified by the verdict. The court proceedings were eminently fair, were conducted with complete dedication to the highest principles of modern jurisprudence and were a credit to the government of Tanzania and its judicial system."

Vet Reunion Draws Three

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—The 82nd Volunteer Infantry Regiment ended its last reunion at Ft. Leavenworth, Sunday. Only three of the veterans attended.

It is believed only five are still living of the 1,312 who left Ft. Leavenworth Sept. 16, 1899, to fight the Philippine insurgents. It was a guerrilla war, much like the current one in Viet Nam.

The regiment's first reunion was 30 years ago.

The three who returned this year were Edwin A. Harris of Kansas City, Roy Kirkpatrick of Abilene, Kan., and Rolla Lafferty, Spokane, Wash.

"I don't think we can have any more reunions," said Harris, 82, who enlisted at 15 by lying about his age. "There are only three of us. What can we do?"

Civil Rights Bill Meets Sudden Death In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected today a final effort to revive the 1966 civil rights bill with its controversial open housing provision.

Corpsman Faces Charge

A former Big Spring High School youth, now a Navy medical corpsman, reportedly has been charged with premeditated murder in the shooting death of a South Vietnamese civilian.

put the bill on the Senate shelf. Left there, the House-passed bill will die when Congress adjourns.

Ervin argued it was degrading the Senate and its rules "for the sake of politics."

Ervin said the opponents haven't had time to launch a measure and "indeed there has been almost nothing said by any of the proponents in defense of any of the provisions of the bill."

Ervin said the only defense has come from the bill's floor manager, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., "who has diligently sat throughout the debate while other proponents have been painfully conspicuous by their absence from the Senate chamber."

A review of the summer and fall programs will be the main item of discussion at the YMCA board of directors meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. at the Y. Also under the discussion will be the upcoming United Fund Budget.

Jack Little is president of the directors.

Smith was with patrol 13 U.S. Marines when the civilian was questioned. Finding him without proper identification, the Americans ordered him held.

Smith was said to have been left to guard the Vietnamese person while the Marines searched a nearby house. At that time, sources here said, the suspected Viet Cong tried to escape and Smith was said to have shot the suspect dead.

His defense counsel, Capt. Edward Fogarty, USMC, in a letter to Smith's mother in Trona, Calif., said he would do everything in his power to see that justice was done, the source here said.

After his graduation from high school here, young Smith joined the Navy on June 6, 1964.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Trona, Calif. His father works for a chemical company there. They moved from Big Spring in April of this year. Young Smith came to Big Spring from Ozona. While in school here he was reportedly a good student.

Modern witch doctors in southern Africa have mostly discarded the tribal mumbo-jumbo usually associated with their jungle counterparts. They often arrange private consultations and visit important patients in plush new automobiles.

For the up and coming youngster who wants to make a career of witch doctoring, there's a "learn now-pay later" correspondence course.

"Far from regarding the witch doctor and muti-man as an evil influence and fraud, most of them today perform a worthwhile service to the black community," said Dr. Peter Becker, an expert on African tribal folklore.

Among South Africa's 12 million blacks, the family witch doctor, male or female, plays an important role. Most Africans have deep rooted mystic influences which govern their way of life — whether they work in city offices or jungle mudhuts.

They want their dreams analyzed and everyday problems solved, and the modern witch doctor is quick to cash in on words like psychoanalysis — although he may not understand the meaning.

Most Africans place immense faith in the protective and curative powers of animal and herbal potions. Some still prefer more potent medicines made from human bone and flesh. Most muti-men now provide attractive boxes for the various potions — it's a good selling point.

The soothsayer and fortune teller also is in great demand. Small animal bones are used much the same way as the Western fortune teller uses playing cards. The various shaped bones predict death, love, fortune or disaster.

Survivors include one brother, O. L. Nations, Kansas City, Mo.; three sisters, Mrs. Pres. Henry, Oklahoma City, Okla., Mrs. Ernest Langenegger, Hagerman, N. M., and Mrs. E. T. Beck, Lemoore, Calif.; also several nieces and nephews.

Mansfield told a newsman today, "We've got two or three more votes." He wouldn't say whose.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said they expect a new civil rights proposal by President Johnson next year. Dirksen's opposition to the 1966 measure is a key factor in its expected rejection. Hart has tried to guide the measure to Senate approval.

The civil rights bill would ban discrimination in about 40 percent of the nation's housing units, mostly apartments and new single-home developments. Individual homeowners would not be covered.

Y Board To Meet

COMMUNICATION LACKING Grenada-Impasse

GRENADA (AP) — Two days of violence and five days of tension in Grenada have passed without any effective dialogue between white city officials and Negro civil rights leaders.

There was one brief and informal contact two weeks ago, because of the season's first high school football game. Two ministers approached local officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to ask that a march scheduled for that night not be held.

"We thought there might be a riot or a massacre," the Rev. Jamie Houston, a Methodist minister, said Sunday. The march and a demonstration scheduled for the square were canceled.

But Mr. Houston is not optimistic about formal negotiations soon. He thinks the city is controlled by persons with ultra-conservative political views, and is suspicious that the Ku Klux Klan is active in the county's rural areas.

"The Negro community has for some months been willing to negotiate," he said, but he blamed the lack of communication partly on the "inability of the city and county government to come to a decision on what should be done."

Mr. Houston would like to see a cooling-off period, but asks, "Who is going to persuade the Negro community to do this? They will always come back and say that up to now there has not been any incident of good faith."

He urged Catholics everywhere to join in a special "day of prayer" Oct. 4 — the first anniversary of his peace pilgrimage to the United Nations in New York — and announced he would preside at a ceremony that day in St. Peter's Basilica.

In the fourth encyclical of his reign, the Pope told the world's half billion Roman Catholics that he lifted his voice "with piercing cry and with tears" to political leaders to "prevent the further spread of the conflagration and even to extinguish it entirely."

He called for a meeting to work out plans for peace and said "a settlement should be reached now, even at the expense of some inconvenience or loss, for (otherwise) it may have to be made later in the train of bitter slaughter and involve greater loss."

The Pope added that a peace settlement "must rest on justice and the liberty of mankind, and take into account the rights of individuals and communities, or otherwise it will be shifting and unstable."

The pontiff also appealed for an end to the nuclear arms race, nationalist expansion, racism, segregation and revolution.

In his encyclical, a circular letter to the world's Roman Catholic bishops, the Pope noted that the month of October is dedicated to prayers to Mary and said that this October "our prayers and supplications should be redoubled" to help bring peace to all men.

Pope Paul said that from the very beginning of his pontificate three years ago, he had "neglected no opportunity" to use his office to work for peace. He recalled his trip to the United Nations in New York last Oct. 4 to appeal for peace before the world's largest political forum.

He announced that this Oct. 4, the anniversary of his visit, would be set aside by Catholics throughout the world as a special day of prayer for peace.

The Vatican described the encyclical as an act of "notable importance" in the Pope's personal campaign to end the bloodshed in Viet Nam.

The 2,000-word encyclical was the Pope's first major public act after his two-month summer retreat. Vatican sources said the Pope had acknowledged that all his diplomatic efforts to end the war had achieved nothing. They said with this encyclical he was launching an intensified program to influence world opinion at the level of the people.

The sources said the Pope had decided on this course particularly because of the decision of U Thant to quit as secretary-general of the United Nations. The Pope and Thant have been working closely in efforts to promote peace, and the sources said the Pope considered Thant's departure a great blow.

"It seems to us," the Pope said in his encyclical, "as if seemed to our more recent predecessors, that a very provident God has committed to us a special task: namely that we labor with patient and persevering effort for the preservation and the strengthening of the peace."

"For we are threatened by a more extensive and more disastrous calamity that endangers the human family, even as a bloody and difficult war is raging, particularly in areas of East Asia."

Dystrophy Drive Starts

The muscular dystrophy drive kicks off in Big Spring Thursday, with the Alpha Chi and Mu Kappa Chapters of Epsilon Sigma Alpha spearheading the campaign.

Mrs. B. E. Reagan, Alpha Chi, and Mrs. Robin Howell, Mu Kappa, are co-chairmen.

A door-to-door solicitation will be the mainstay of the march, with high school girls ringing doorbells and receiving donations.

On Saturday, home economics girls from Runnels and Goliad Junior High Schools will be receiving donations in all the shopping centers and the downtown area for "Tag Day."

Other activities include a dance Oct. 1 at the Big Spring Country Club. All proceeds will go to muscular dystrophy. The Texas Tech Raiders will furnish the music.

Organizational representatives include Mrs. J. C. Williams, welfare chairman for the march; Mrs. James Hargrove, Mu Kappa chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha; Mrs. W. J. Crow, Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha; Mrs. Zinnula Harris, PBX Club; Mrs. Frank Morphis, Insurance Women; Mrs. Jack Price, Opti-Mus Club.

Art students at Goliad Junior High are making posters for the drive. The Opti-Mus club is mailing letters to businessmen asking for donations.

Pope Calls For Month Of Prayer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today proclaimed October a month of worldwide prayer to end the Viet Nam war and set Oct. 4 as a day of special observance for Roman Catholics.

Warning that "we are threatened by a more extensive and more disastrous calamity that endangers the human family," the Pope called for a redoubling of prayers next month.

He urged Catholics everywhere to join in a special "day of prayer" Oct. 4 — the first anniversary of his peace pilgrimage to the United Nations in New York — and announced he would preside at a ceremony that day in St. Peter's Basilica.

In the fourth encyclical of his reign, the Pope told the world's half billion Roman Catholics that he lifted his voice "with piercing cry and with tears" to political leaders to "prevent the further spread of the conflagration and even to extinguish it entirely."

He called for a meeting to work out plans for peace and said "a settlement should be reached now, even at the expense of some inconvenience or loss, for (otherwise) it may have to be made later in the train of bitter slaughter and involve greater loss."

The Pope added that a peace settlement "must rest on justice and the liberty of mankind, and take into account the rights of individuals and communities, or otherwise it will be shifting and unstable."

The pontiff also appealed for an end to the nuclear arms race, nationalist expansion, racism, segregation and revolution.

In his encyclical, a circular letter to the world's Roman Catholic bishops, the Pope noted that the month of October is dedicated to prayers to Mary and said that this October "our prayers and supplications should be redoubled" to help bring peace to all men.

Pope Paul said that from the very beginning of his pontificate three years ago, he had "neglected no opportunity" to use his office to work for peace. He recalled his trip to the United Nations in New York last Oct. 4 to appeal for peace before the world's largest political forum.

He announced that this Oct. 4, the anniversary of his visit, would be set aside by Catholics throughout the world as a special day of prayer for peace.

The Vatican described the encyclical as an act of "notable importance" in the Pope's personal campaign to end the bloodshed in Viet Nam.

The 2,000-word encyclical was the Pope's first major public act after his two-month summer retreat. Vatican sources said the Pope had acknowledged that all his diplomatic efforts to end the war had achieved nothing. They said with this encyclical he was launching an intensified program to influence world opinion at the level of the people.

The sources said the Pope had decided on this course particularly because of the decision of U Thant to quit as secretary-general of the United Nations. The Pope and Thant have been working closely in efforts to promote peace, and the sources said the Pope considered Thant's departure a great blow.

"It seems to us," the Pope said in his encyclical, "as if seemed to our more recent predecessors, that a very provident God has committed to us a special task: namely that we labor with patient and persevering effort for the preservation and the strengthening of the peace."

"For we are threatened by a more extensive and more disastrous calamity that endangers the human family, even as a bloody and difficult war is raging, particularly in areas of East Asia."

Y Board To Meet

A review of the summer and fall programs will be the main item of discussion at the YMCA board of directors meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. at the Y. Also under the discussion will be the upcoming United Fund Budget.

Jack Little is president of the directors.

Smith was with patrol 13 U.S. Marines when the civilian was questioned. Finding him without proper identification, the Americans ordered him held.

Smith was said to have been left to guard the Vietnamese person while the Marines searched a nearby house. At that time, sources here said, the suspected Viet Cong tried to escape and Smith was said to have shot the suspect dead.

His defense counsel, Capt. Edward Fogarty, USMC, in a letter to Smith's mother in Trona, Calif., said he would do everything in his power to see that justice was done, the source here said.

After his graduation from high school here, young Smith joined the Navy on June 6, 1964.

TRAVELS IN A SHADY WORLD: ALONE

Garbo Has Endured As A Star

EDITOR'S NOTE — A lonely beauty who is the screen's leading legend and perhaps its greatest female talent, turned 60 this week. Greta Garbo today is almost a phantom, but after 25 years her films still are major attractions. AP columnist Bob Thomas describes Garbo's career and later life in a three-part series beginning today.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — She travels through a shadowy world of her own making, slipping in and out of airports, trench-coated, with a slouch hat pulled down over one eye.

Sometimes an alert photographer spots her behind the dark glasses and steals a quick shot. She manages a wan smile, then races to a waiting limousine and vanishes.

She is Greta Garbo, born Greta Gustafsson in Stockholm, Sweden, 60 years ago Sunday. Some sources say 61. She has not acted in films for a quarter century, yet most critics agree she remains the screen's greatest actress.

Garbo lives in New York City, much as she has during her 40 years in America: alone. Her loneliness has long been a national joke, but she is not amused.

Alone

Greta Garbo is casually attired in blouse, slacks and wears dark glasses as she strolls through street on the Isle of Capri in 1958. She has not acted in films for a quarter century yet her pictures are major attractions. Garbo lives today, in New York, much as she has during her 40 years in America: alone. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

"I never said, 'I want to be alone,'" she once complained to a friend. "I only said, 'I want to be let alone.'" For the most part, she is. Old-time fans often observe her on the long walks she takes on Manhattan streets, but they respect her privacy.

Garbo has lived for many years in a cooperative apartment on 52nd Street overlooking the East River. Her trips have grown more infrequent. She makes a rare return to Europe, usually staying at some secluded place on the Riviera, or on the yacht of Aristotle Onassis. She comes to Hollywood once a year, visiting a few old friends like Katharine Hepburn, hair stylist Sidney Guikaroff, and director George Cukor.

But most of the time she leads the solitary life. How did she get that way?

Her biographers have suggested that Garbo was a shy, sensitive girl who was thrust into a life for which she was temperamentally unsuited. The make-believe of being a motion picture actress appealed to her, but the clamor surrounding her status as a movie star proved more than she could endure.

Upon her arrival in Hollywood in 1926, she was immediately placed in the publicity mill at MGM. Press agents posed her with the studio's trademark lion and in the silent-era version of cheesecake. The nadir came when she was required to don a sprinter's suit for a photograph with the University of Southern California track coach.

She snapped: "When I am beeg like Gish" — Lillian was then the queen of MGM — "no more publicity like this; no more handshakes with prize-fighters."

Garbo gave only a few terse interviews before withdrawing into silence. Lon Chaney told her: "Don't talk to anyone; we are in the business of illusion."

The illusion of the "Divine Garbo" continued to grow during her 15 years in Hollywood and it remains vivid today. Friends say she is acutely conscious of that illusion and the way it is perpetuated by her 24 films, which can be seen on television and at Garbo festivals in and in the silent-era version of cheesecake. The nadir came when she was required to don a sprinter's suit for a photograph with the University of Southern California track coach.

Garbo gave only a few terse interviews before withdrawing into silence. Lon Chaney told her: "Don't talk to anyone; we are in the business of illusion."

Garbo's friends agree. Says one: "If Greta went back to work now, she would be competing with the way she appears in the films of her heyday. She looks marvelous today. But still, she is 60."

Next: Garbo's Hollywood years; memories of her leading men.

Surveyor Launch Toward Moon Slated Tuesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans Tuesday to launch Surveyor 2 toward a soft landing in the center of the moon's visible face to explore a potential manned landing spot.

An Atlas-Centaur rocket is to boost the 2,304-pound spacecraft skyward during a 43-minute favorable period starting at 7:46 a.m. EDT. The three-legged, camera-carrying vehicle is to cover the quarter-million-mile course in 63 hours, aiming for a feathery touchdown in the Sinus Medii (Central Bay) Thursday night.

The target is about 800 miles east of the Ocean of Storms where Surveyor 1, America's first lunar soft-lander, touched down in June. Performing far beyond expectations, Surveyor 1 relayed 11,237 close-up pictures that indicated the surface where it landed is strong enough to support a manned expedition.

Scientists believe the Sinus Medii is a fairly level area with a few ridges and craters. The target point for Surveyor 2 is about 14 miles north of a crater called Oppolzer, which could be a problem.

A Devotional For The Day

I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord. (Psalm 122:1)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, O God, for the church where we gather for fellowship with Thee and with one another. We pray that, by our loyalty and devotion, we may help the church to fulfill her purpose. In Jesus' name we ask. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Go Slow On Cutback

Sen. Mike Mansfield's resolution calling for an early withdrawal of at least two of the six American divisions assigned to Europe has touched President Johnson on a sensitive nerve. He replied by saying that he would not "carelessly weaken" the alliance by accepting such advice.

The truth of the matter probably is that the President is just as anxious as Mansfield and other senators and plain citizens to reduce our troop commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. For those troops primarily constitute a token of our commitment to European security. A reduction of two divisions from that strength would not alter materially the visibility of our purpose, that is to defend Europe against any attack from Russia.

But Johnson's concern runs much deeper than just the question of the number of our hostages against Russian attack. The central theme of President Charles de Gaulle's determination to create an independent nuclear deterrent for France and a position independent of the U.S. for Europe rests on the conviction that the U.S. cannot be relied on. He seems convinced that the U.S. would not defend Europe with nuclear weapons if it thereby faced retaliation on U.S. cities by Russian intercontinental rockets armed with nuclear warheads.

Therefore, the credibility of our devotion to European security is at stake, in the President's view. He cannot afford to take the slightest risk that our purpose will be questioned. Hence he will resist Mansfield's proposal.

This does not mean, though, that Mansfield and other senators of a like mind will not press for adoption of the Senate resolution. An Associated Press survey suggests that almost two-thirds of the Senate favors reduction of U.S. forces in Europe. The feeling is based on a desire to reduce the cost of keeping the troops there, plus disenchantment with the reluctance of other member nations to share either the cost or contribute the quotas of defense personnel.

The Senate may adopt the resolution, although it will have no binding effect. The President can ignore it. Already he has told the world that we will not cut back on our troops in Europe unless a reciprocal reduction of Russian troop concentrations in Eastern Europe can be arranged.

Should Help But Not Instantly

The National Safety Council was widely accused of a pro-industry lack of enthusiasm for the new federal car-safety law while the bill was pending in Congress. After its overwhelming final passage, however, the council has openly expressed high hopes for a tremendous saving of lives when the strict law goes into full operation several years hence.

The council, usually conservative in its estimates, predicts that the law will save at least 20 per cent of the lives otherwise lost, which would be 10,000 a year as the death rate now nears 50,000 annually. (That is twice the number of Americans killed in the Viet Nam war so far.)

With the number of cars and drivers increasing and the full force of the law not to be felt until around 1970, NSC foresees fatalities continuing to climb in the years just ahead (perhaps to 65,000 by 1968). But it expects a decline in deaths during the 1970-75 period. That should also include a relative reduction in seriousness of nonfatal injuries.

Such forecasts are, of course, largely guesswork. Much will depend on the effectiveness of the law's regulatory agency. Another factor will be drivers' and passengers' use of such safety devices as seat belts. And another prospect is that the industry may increase the life-saving by competing in safety devices and designs even before the law is fully effective and toward standards higher than it requires.

Most accidents will continue to be caused, as now, by driver error. But the whole idea of the car-safety law is to reduce the fatalities and seriousness of injury in the accidents which do happen. And that certainly is worth pushing the new law to its fullest possible effectiveness.

Tax Credit Renege Causes Trouble

WASHINGTON — When an administration goes back on its word to American business and pulls the props out from under a program of modernization of equipment already in progress and for which hundreds of millions of dollars of stockholders' funds have already been committed, something serious is bound to happen to the national economy.

FOR HOW can any planning be undertaken and contracts made for two and three-year projects when the government suddenly refuses to honor its past pledges? This is the situation confronting the country today by news that the President intends to pressure Congress to "suspend" the tax credit promised not as a temporary measure but as a permanent change in the American system of taxation. It will mean, of course, the loss of many jobs to workers involved. It will also help foreign producers to grab more of the American market in such products as steel.

IF THE NATION were face to face with a need for tax money and could not raise it in any other way, the durable - goods industries of America - which now are to be made the victims of a discriminatory tax measure - might be ready to bear the disappointment in silence. But the government has not disclosed any plans to impose new taxes generally or to increase existing taxes on any other segment of the economy. It has singled out the businesses engaged in modernization or improvement of existing plant facilities.

Spokesmen for many businesses - chemical products, electric utilities, paper manufacturing, airlines, railroads and local transit lines - have just told the house ways and means committee that the proposal, if adopted, would have an adverse effect on the economy. A clear analysis of the situation was given in the testimony of Thomas F. Patton, chairman of Republic Steel Corporation. He said in part:

"AT THE OUTSET let me make it clear that I applaud the motives of the administration in recognizing the necessity to do something about the inflationary pressures currently being generated in our economy. I respectfully disagree, however, that a suspension of the seven per cent investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation, even for the limited period provided for in the proposed bill, will produce the desired result of countering such pressures promptly. In fact, I am inclined to believe it may add fuel to what has been appropriately called our overheated economy.

"We all recognize, of course, that inflation is highly destructive and undesirable. It cannot be dealt with, however, by the device of turning on and off tax incentives on which are based carefully developed, long-term capital improvement plans and programs."

THE ADMINISTRATION has plenty of alternatives to use, among them being a moderate increase in income-tax rates for both corporations and individuals. This means a uniformly applied tax plan, instead of placing the burden on certain industries.

WHEN THE investment tax credit went into effect in 1962, businessmen understood that this was to be permanent legislation based on the long-term needs of the country. They have been repeatedly assured since that time that this still remained the policy of the administration.

Billy Graham

I hear conflicting reports about Britain. I read that they are in an austerity program, and then I read about "Swinging London." You have been there. What is the actual situation over there?

Y.P.S.

The press describes England's main problem as economic. But that, in my estimation, is only a surface symptom. This great nation's influence in the world ran parallel with her spiritual might. When the United Kingdom exerted her greatest influence in the world, she was a center of evangelical strength. It all began with the Wesleys, who brought England from the brink of revolution with Christian revival. Out of that grew the emancipation of the slaves, the industrial revolution, the Salvation Army, the YMCA, the Methodist church, and the world-missionary movement. But after World War I Britain began to question, and defect from her firm faith in God. This declension has been gradual, but every year the church has grown weaker, and the nation has become less influential in the world. However, there are thousands of people in England who have not lost hope, and are trusting for, and praying for a return to the teachings and principles they are certain made England a mighty nation. We saw signs of this during our recent crusade in London. We are going back to England to help fan this spark of hope. With nations, as well as individuals, the Biblical statement is true: "If thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door."

BUT WHERE'S THE BAND?

Business Review

Only A Faltering Step

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the United Nations was born in San Francisco in 1945, just as World War II was ending, many people there and around the earth felt a brilliant sense of happiness.

Perhaps a new world was emerging from the labor pains of war and the endless mistakes and ferocities of mankind. That was the hope.

BUT THE REALISTS didn't share it. They thought that at best the United Nations might be only a step in the direction of a better world but, if so, only a faltering step. They were right.

When the U.N. General Assembly begins its 21st year Tuesday it will be a troubled organization of 117 member nations while the biggest in population, Red China, is excluded. And that will be one of the troubles.

It has been for years. Now again the United States, which has year by year kept Red China out, apparently will try to do it again. Yet, at times, the Johnson administration has been using language both clear and foggy on its position toward the Peking government.

EXCLUDING RED CHINA won't be the only problem for the assembly, although this as much as anything shows the troubled condition of the world 21 years after San Francisco and how far short the early dreams fell.

The United Nations will have to get itself a secretary-general, either by finding a new man for the job or persuading U Thant, the Burmese, to stay on. Now finishing his five-year term, he said Sept. 1 he wants no more of it.

In explaining why, he used 1,000 rather nice words to say he is fed up, which is as good a commentary as any on the condition of the United Nations, one of whose main goals is supposed to be keeping the peace.

He called the war in Viet Nam a "reproach to the conscience of mankind." That war will be another U. N. problem.

AND, AS TO keeping the peace, he said: This responsibility of the United Nations has "remained unfulfilled because of the continuing failure to agree on basic principles. The world situation appears to me to be extremely serious."

And he complained, without mentioning it by name, that Red

China is not a member.

Last March Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey defined American policy toward Red China as "containment without isolation." He said the problem was to contain Red China's militancy but not isolate it from the family of mankind.

At the same time he indicated there had been no change in U.S. opposition to U.N. membership for the Red Chinese.

Preferred Buttermilk

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you don't make 591 phone calls a year, you're below the American average.

You probably learned in high school that U.S. Grant, Civil War hero, was more than a bit fond of bourbon whiskey. But do you know the favorite drink of his chief rival, Robert E. Lee? Well, on or off the battlefield, Gen. Lee generally preferred buttermilk.

PSYCHIATRISTS say that day-dreamers tend to be sensitive, nervous and perceptive. But when I was a boy, Pappy just told me I was lazy.

Gout afflicts between 500,000 and a million Americans, and physicians still aren't sure why this painful affliction strikes most often in the big toe. They believe it is because this toe suffers more wear and tear in walking or running.

Here's a fact of life which we've decided to put far down on our list of things to brood about: Since a fly's longevity-span is only 60 days, it's middle-aged in a month.

The United States boasts more Nobel Prize winners than any other nation.

QUOTABLE notables: "Lying in bed would be an altogether perfect and supreme experience if only one had a colored pencil long enough to draw on the ceiling" — G.K. Chesterton.

Fickle femmes: Veteran cops say most lady shoplifters don't steal from actual need but to better their standard of living. They steal most often beauty aids, stockings, cigarettes, candy and meats.

Macabre warning: Highway accidents have become so commonplace that some doctors advise it's a good idea to have your dentist make a mold of your teeth and jaws. Then you can get a better restoration job if your face is smashed in a wreck.

IF YOU HATE your first name, it may be a sign that you hate yourself, too. A study by Columbia University found that persons who felt their names fitted their personality tended to have a higher self-esteem; those who disliked their names often were also dissatisfied with themselves.

Worth remembering: "It's the little things that annoy us most; we can sit on a mountain but not on a tack."

It was Wilson Mizner who observed, "We all have something to fall back on, and I never knew a phony who didn't land on it eventually."

Plain Talk About Gallbladders

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I know that the gallbladder is a "vesicle attached to the liver, which receives bile from the hepatic ducts, concentrates it and discharges it after meals."

When the gallbladder is removed diet is very different and some foods (usually our favorites) are prohibited entirely.

This is my question. Can anything be given to replace the bile? — G.E.R.

What you say about the gallbladder is true, but what you say about diet after its removal is not true.

Bile, which is necessary for digestion, is being produced constantly by the liver (the volume in 24 hours is about the same as that of urine).

Removal of the gallbladder does not mean that this supply of bile is lost. Instead it is discharged directly into the small intestine, where it will go anyway.

The difference is that it no longer is saved in a concentrated form to be discharged in larger amounts at eating time. In most cases there is a perfectly adequate supply to control digestion.

Innumerable people have no problem at all after removal of the gallbladder, and can eat anything. A few who always eat exceptionally large meals, including a lot of fat, may have a little distress but can avoid it by reducing their intake.

There are some folks who lack other digestive essentials — hydrochloric acid, certain enzymes from the pancreas, pepsin, etc. There are medications to supply these essentials if needed.

When digestive trouble persists after removal of the gallbladder, it is time to look elsewhere for the solution: Ulcers, hiatal hernia, colon disorders, functional disturbances.

Dear Dr. Molner: My six-year-old daughter has had swollen lymph glands ever since a live measles shot last October, and she runs a fever. The doctor can't find any cause except large tonsils and an infection that has to work its way out of her system. Should I take her to a gland specialist? — Mrs. B.

I question whether a gland specialist (endocrinologist) is necessary.

Reaction to live measles vaccine disappears within a week or 10 days, so I would look for some other reason for the swollen lymph glands. The enlarged tonsils seem to point to tonsillitis or chronic infection of the nasal or throat area.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is subtle thyroid deficiency and what can be done for it? — T. D. A.

It's a mild lack of thyroid — not enough to be obvious, but enough to slow you down a bit, make you a little more tired than you should be. Small doses of thyroid drugs can make up the deficiency and give you more zip.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

What's Coming?

Care to take a jaunt into the future, say half a hundred years from now?

William L. C. Wheaton, director of the Institute of Urban and Regional Development at the University of California, speaking before the American Institute of Planning at Portland, Ore., recently, made the following forecasts over what the American city would look like 50 years from now:

BY THAT time, there will be 500 million people living in the country in 1,000 Metropolitan areas. Family incomes will average $25,000 per annum. Single buildings of 100 stories or more will rise into the air, with as many as half a million people living and working together.

Freeways will be landscaped, featuring plastic cows and sheep—reminders of a more bucolic age. The home simply will become a place to catch a few winks rather than a place for family living.

THERE WILL BE at least four American megalopolises—tremendous 100-mile concentrations of people with population of 50 million each.

To get on a freeway in the year 2016, you will have to make computer reservations in advance like making airline reservations now. Your car will be publicly owned. When you are through with it, you merely will press a button and it will return alone to a central garage.

To replace vanishing natural resorts many more man-made resort cities will be created.

PROFESSOR WHEATON says mankind will not be living in impossibly crowded communities 50 years from now, even though the population of the country will boom. There will continue to be sparsely populated zones between super metropolises.

Despite the super cities, according to Wheaton, there will be open space separating them to provide transportation corridors, retain scenic beauty, protect climate and to provide for future growth.

AIRLINES will be using land-saving vertical takeoff planes. Inter-urban trains will travel at 220 miles per hour. Other trains will flash through pneumatic tubes.

Think the man is daft? Imagine how a Daniel Boone or a Marco Polo would have his eyes opened, if he were to come alive in this advanced age? —TOMMY HARR

NEW YORK (AP) — The tremendous surge in the use of credit during the 1960s is being accompanied by a related phenomenon: counseling services that advise or supervise those who can't pay bills.

The reception given a new counseling service here indicates there are a lot of people who thought they were basking in the good life only to have a tidal wave of bills submerge them in debt.

SAID WILLIAM J. Martin Jr., President of Consumer Credit Counseling Service of Long Island:

"We haven't publicized the service much, but we have determined there is a definite need. People are banging down the door. Those seeking help are 'confused, overwhelmed by their position.'"

Called by various names—debtors anonymous, credit counselors, consumer counselors — they have the same goal:

To take the avalanche of bills you can't pay, put you on a strict budget and, if necessary, horse-trade your creditors into taking payments in smaller amounts.

CREDIT COUNSELING services are available in at least 27 states and Ontario, Canada. Soon there may be one in Washington, D.C., and in the near future they are expected to appear in every state where laws permit.

The facts behind the phenomena are these:

Consumer installment debt has increased from about $48 billion in 1950 to close to $70 billion early this year. Personal bankruptcies, estimated at more than 140,000 a year, have had a similar increase.

Some of this results from illness and acts of God. Much of it, however, represents the proliferation of charge accounts, credit cards, easy terms, and the buy-now-pay-later terminology.

You may have noticed that the same person who fumbles, hesitates, and then decides not to tip the shoe shine boy may flash his credit cards elsewhere as if there were no tomorrow. He doesn't know how to use credit.

AT FAULT FOR the prevalence of this attitude are those who dispense credit. Admittedly, they have emphasized the ease and not the pain.

Any community can begin a credit counseling service if its merchants, doctors, lawyers, loan officials and bankers want one, and are willing to pay the administrative costs. One procedure is to write the National Foundation For Consumer Credit, 1411 K Street, NW, Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Anyone who wants to play an active role in politics has to be prepared for brickbats—and I believe that I have in my time received more than my share of them. About this I do not complain, because I embarked upon my political career with my eyes wide open to the hazards. I thank my friend, Holmes Alexander, for this chance to speak my mind on the subject.

PROLONGED EXPOSURE to brickbats inevitably toughens one's hide, and a certain amount of adversity makes a man a better politician, and a sadder one.

If you are profoundly convinced of the rightness of the policies you are advocating, then it does not matter too much what your opponents say about you. Neither does it matter too much if you appear for a time to be isolated, nor if your views and actions are twisted and misrepresented.

Like most politicians, I have had my ups and downs. I have also had the very great satisfaction of seeing certain of my political views converted into law and policies.

SOMETIMES in the course of a heated campaign I might be angered by what I consider to be a foul blow of my opponent. But I have always found that campaign wounds heal quickly and that, once the campaign is over, even the bitterest political rivals can again become firm friends. The personal friendship between President Kennedy and Barry Goldwater is a case in point.

Ordinary political brickbats are one thing. It is an altogether different thing when you are made the target of a sustained attack of character assassination by a nationally syndicated columnist. In inviting me to write this guest column, Holmes Alexander has asked me how it feels to be attacked in column after column, day after day, accused of villainy after villainy—and in a sense left helpless to reply because my opponents can direct their attack against me through the columns of several hundred newspapers, while I myself must patiently wait for the final verdict of the Senate Ethics Committee and of the courts.

I SHALL answer frankly by saying that this is a terrible ordeal for any public figure to endure.

No matter how certain you may be of your own innocence, no matter how confident of the ultimate verdict, you can't help wondering how many of the lies and distortions are actually believed by your supporters, and you can't help being concerned over the anguish such a campaign inflicts on your wife and children.

I must say that all the members of my family, from my wife, Grace, to my youngest son, Nicky, have borne themselves like so many Spartans. If they have suffered, they have not permitted me to see it. Grace has summed up her own attitude in these words: "If you were guilty and no one said a word about it, I would hide my head in shame. But because I know you're innocent, I can hold my head high no matter what may be said about you by your enemies."

I HAVE ALSO been heartened by the hundreds of letters I have received from old friends. If a single one of these old friends had turned against me, it would have hurt me far more than I would care to admit.

No words can express how much the dedication and loyalty of my staff members have meant to me. Contrary to the impression which the few staff members who betrayed me have sought to create, the overwhelming majority of the present and previous members of my staff have remained personally loyal to me.

NATIONWIDE the mail count to date has been roughly 10-to-1 in my favor, while from the State of Connecticut it has been running approximately 20-to-1.

Some of my friends wonder at my ability to bear up under sustained attack. And I can only answer them by saying that I bear up because of my clear conscience and because of the encouragement of my family, my friends, my staff and my many thousands of supporters in Connecticut and across the nation.

Canaries, Yes; Dynamite, No!

BUDAPEST (AP) — Taxi riders in Budapest are allowed to take along their pet dogs and canary birds but must leave dynamite at home.

The Budapest taxi users code going into effect July 3, 1966, said this among other things.

India Plans Silk

NEW DELHI (AP) — Shafi Mohammed Qureshi, deputy commerce minister, said India has a great future in the international silk market.

There is no reason, he told a Bombay meeting of silk producers, why India's present 4.5 per cent share of the world market cannot be increased to 20 per cent in the next 10-15 years.

More land will be devoted to cultivating mulberry, on whose leaves silk worms feed, he said. He ranked India currently fourth in raw silk production, behind Japan, Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Woman's Forum Has 'Friendship Coffee'

Mrs. T. H. McCann and Mrs. L. B. Maulden were cohostesses at the Woman's Forum "friendship coffee" Friday morning in the McCann home at 702 Highland. Other club members were in the house party to greet the guests, local clubwomen and members of the International Wives Club.

Those honored were Mrs. Hal W. Reddock, Mrs. Ernest E. Pennell Jr., Mrs. Loren H. Hinkler, Mrs. Roy E. Drinnen, Mrs. Al Valdes, Mrs. J. E. Gillespie, Mrs. R. B. McAfee, Mrs. John Furquerson, Mrs. Paul Hathaway, Mrs. H. C. Ernsting, Mrs. Donald Van Meter and Mrs. Odell Womack.

The coffee theme celebrated the Mexican Independence Day. At the doorway was placed a donkey, draped with a colorful serape, and several chickens were nearby. A sign read, "Bien Venidos, Amigas." Centering the polished serving table was an arrangement of sunflowers in a straw hat being smelled by a figurine of Ferdinand, the Bull. On the wall was a huge paper flower from Mexico, and pinatas were placed about the room. At the dining room bar was an arrangement of orange pyracantha in brown pottery placed on a green woven mat.

Yearbooks were distributed at this first meeting of the season, and calling hours were from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Plans for the Sept. 27 visit of Miss Eula Mae Henderson, executive secretary of Texas Woman's Missionary Union, were made during the Friday meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church.

Miss Henderson will be at the First Baptist Church from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for the annual WMU meeting. All members of the Big Spring Association are invited to attend.

The Friday meeting also marked the close of the Week of Prayer. The theme for the week was "By Faith Committed," and leaders of the daily studies were Mrs. R. F. Polk, Mrs. J. P. Gordon, Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mrs. G. G. Morehead and Mrs. Clyde Angel.

1905 Hyperions Hear History Of Viet Nam

Lt. Charles W. Hastings, Webb AFB, was guest speaker during the opening program of the 1905 Hyperion Club Thursday afternoon in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Lt. Hastings spoke on his experiences in Viet Nam, and his topic was "Happiness is a Second Chance." Lt. Hastings has received numerous awards for his valor in the fighting and is being nominated for the Distinguished Flying Cross.

He described the nature of the Asiatic conflict and of the Vietnamese people. He said that, through medical assistance to the people, the Americans are making progress toward winning their help and trust.

Lt. Hastings stressed that the duties of an officer are to protect his troops, protect the civilian population, and to destroy the enemy. He also believes that while winning the war, the American is learning more about the nature of the "cold war."

Mrs. J. C. Pickle gave the devotion and announced the Oct. 4-5 state board meeting in Austin, and the District board meeting in Odessa on Oct. 22.

Twenty-five members attended, and hostesses were Mrs. Sam Anderson and Mrs. Shine Phillips. Refreshments were served from a polished table centered with an autumn flower arrangement flanked by tall gold tapers in brass candelabra.

SCENIC CHAPTER

ABWA Friendship Tea Held Sunday Afternoon

Fifty members and guests attended the Sunday afternoon Friendship Tea given by the Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at the home of Mrs. H. P. Wooten, San Angelo Highway.

The tea table was covered with a gold satin cloth with a matching net overlay. The centerpiece was an arrangement of black and gold carnations with satin ribbon corner posts and based in a bed of green fern. The background was interwoven with black and gold ribbon, symbolic of the chapter's "kick-off" of the fall season.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Herman Taylor, Mrs. Floyd White and Mrs. L. V. Misk.

Mrs. Alan Risetter registered guests and presented each with a get-acquainted tag in the form of cutouts of a cup and saucer.

Mrs. Tony Barron and Mrs. Wooten welcomed guests. Other hostesses were Mrs. Edward Cruz and Miss Shirley White.

LIVING A QUIET LIFE AT EDNA

Candy Barr Now Sings

EDNA, TEX. (AP) — Candy Barr, the baby-faced doll who parlayed a striking figure into a job of peeling for $2,000 a week in smoky night clubs across the nation...

BUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — She's off the stage now, but a lot of people remember Candy Barr, the baby-faced doll who parlayed a striking figure into a job of peeling for $2,000 a week in smoky night clubs across the nation...

Then came a stretch in prison — 25 years for possession of marijuana. She said she was innocent, and a feminine pal said she only asked Candy to hold the cecceers for her.

OVER 7 YEARS But possession for any reason is illegal and Juanita Dale Phillips — that's her real name — served three years and four months, getting out early on good behavior. She is in her early 20s now.

She came back recently to the vast, red-brick prison here, this time to make arrangements for her appearance at the prison rodeo, held each Sunday in October, as a performer.

Unfortunately for the boys who shout, "Take it off," Candy will only sing.

"I wish we could have her go through her old routine," wistfully said one prison executive who declined to be named, "but we can't do that."

NOT STRIP One of her conditions of parole was that she not appear as a stripper.

She lives quietly at Edna in South Texas and professes to like the quiet, semirural atmosphere in contrast to the high-living days of the bumps and grinds in some of the nation's larger cities.

There was even a romance at one time with gambler Mickey Cohen — he put up her $15,000 appeal bond. Between the time of her sentence in 1938 and failure of her appeal, she still stripped at $2,000 a week.

Back to the prison: "A 5-foot 7, 113 pound Candy Barr, symmetrically packaged in an olive green wrapper, de-

Many Southern Governors Feel Uncle Sam Pushing

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE, Ky. (AP) — Many Southern governors agree with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace the federal government is pushing too hard, too fast on school desegregation.

But none of those interviewed at the Southern Governors' Conference indicate that their states have any intentions today of following Wallace's example of open defiance on the issue.

Alabama, at Wallace's urging, recently passed a state law forbidding school desegregation except under federal court order.

CIVIL RIGHTS "We have told our school systems that they do not need to go beyond the 1964 civil rights law," said Gov. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina.

"We have promised legal aid to those which the federal government seeks to have go beyond this law. But there are no plans to go further."

School desegregation in the South currently ranges from that in such states as Tennessee, Kentucky, Florida and Oklahoma, which report virtually no problems, to that in Alabama, South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi, Virginia and Georgia. In the latter states, the governors were unanimous that the guidelines on school desegregation go beyond the Civil Rights Act and that the Justice Department seeks to exceed the guidelines or both.

GUDELINES "I most certainly feel that the guidelines exceed the authority of the new Civil Rights Act and I so told the board of HEW," said Gov. Miles E. Godwin of Virginia, referring to John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Godwin said the Office of Education and the Justice Department both were "very unreasonable in their approach" to the issue. The Virginia governor added, however, that there were no major desegregation problems in his state and he felt the state's civil rights leaders were "very understanding."

TRADITION "The Justice Department is the one that's going beyond the guidelines," said Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson. He said his state has protested to Washington "many, many times. In some instances, our protests have resulted in promises that the federal government would try to cooperate and be more reasonable but it's not cooperating then far."

"You can't pull tradition up by the roots that's been in existence for more than 100 years and expect to accomplish anything over night, but I don't think (secretary) Gardner or those people up there (Washington) understand this at all."

NOT NECESSARY "By the time I was ready to leave here, I had found that these things, while nice to own, were not really necessary. They were all a part of the 'front.' The important thing, I believe, is the individual and the individual's attitude, and I discovered that fact at Goree."

"Don't misunderstand me, I've got my own ideas about this place and some of them are better left unsaid, but I have to admit, the job did me some good."

Arreaga Leads In Texas PGA GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Johnny Arreaga of Waco, with a four-under-par 138 at the halfway mark, took a one-stroke lead into the final 36 holes today of the Texas PGA Tournament.

Arreaga shot his second straight two-under-par 68 Sunday over the tough Great South-west Golf Club to gain the stroke edge over Earl Stewart of Dallas and Miller Barber of San Antonio. Stewart and Barber shot 76 Sunday for 139 totals after 36 holes.

In fourth place was Willard Wood of Houston whose par 71 gave him M. Earl Jacobson of San Antonio had 142.

Defending champion Buster Capin of Longview added a 71 to an opening round 72 for a 143 and a tie with Gene Mitchell Jr., of Lubbock and Woodrow Tucker of San Antonio for sixth.

BRIDGEHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP) — Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., was unable to repair his Chaparral in time Sunday and didn't get to compete in the 200-mile Bridgehampton Grand Prix.

Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., driving a Lola Ford, won the event.

RUN FOR YOUR LIFE

'Mission' Show Draggy Affair

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Mission Impossible" had for its mission the job of spitting some nuclear warheads out of a dictatorship in South America. And it took an extremely long Saturday evening hour to accomplish the assignment.

The CBS program was one of three new shows bowing in over the weekend. The others were NBC's "T. H. E. Cat," on Friday and CBS' Western comedy, "Pistols 'n' Petticoats" the following evening. None of them proved to be anything more than stock treatments of familiar themes.

The sole hour show was "Mission Impossible." It had the least amount of plot. And it resolved that problem by filling the extra time with a lesson on applying stage makeup and with a demonstration of electronic methods of breaking down the door of a bank vault.

"Mission Impossible" is an organization of secret agents for hire — but only for the good side, of course. The head man, played by Steven Hill, didn't have much to do, but he had on hand guest star Wally Cox playing a master safe cracker, Martin Landau, playing a master of disguises, and Barbara Bain as a mistress diverting masculine attention at the right time.

It was also pretty confusing, not to mention boring.

Also on the busy side was "T.H.E. Cat," whose title is supposed to be the name of the hero, Thomas Hewitt Edward Cat, who by a curious writer's coincidence is a retired cat burglar. He is very adept at scurrying over rooftops, climbing walls and dropping lightly from considerable heights to save the client's bacon. He is a professional bodyguard. The first show was full of demonstrations of his skills and when they add some plot to the action, it could turn into a diverting show.

A disappointing revival was Jackie Gleason's return to his "Honeymooners" — character with the return of his Saturday evening CBS hour. Maybe it was because Gleason and Art Carney, playing Ralph and Ed again, have acquired new wives who lack the bite and weary cynicism of their old ones, or maybe it is because of the script, but the setup seems to lack its old charm. Even Gleason appeared to be off his stride.

"Air of Disaster," an NBC summary of the problem of air pollution, covered the subject from Los Angeles' smog to New York City's dirty atmosphere. But, it shed little new light on something that is of major national concern.

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. Partner is obviously fishing around for big things and he is doing so in the face of our minimum pronouncements. Because we have been careful to show no enthusiasm and because the mild spade fit can be conveniently shown below the game level, one forward move is in order.

Because as little as a king or a long suit in his hand will probably produce a slam, a mere double on your part would be placing too much pressure on him. You must take matters in your own hands and force him to speak even though he may have to do so at the six level.

Jefferson Marks Wettest August

BEAUMONT (AP)— August was the seventh wettest month in Jefferson County since 1911, when the Weather Bureau began keeping rainfall records for the area.

A total of 17.26 inches was recorded, making the month the dampest month of August on record.

Unofficial total rainfall in Port Arthur, in south Jefferson County, was 18.11 inches. Total damage caused by a 12-inch flash flood in Port Arthur on Aug. 6 was placed at $1.5 million.

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dipped into the 50s in the Panhandle today as skies cleared over most of Texas following several days of heavy rain and violent weather in some sections.

Portions of Central Texas were soaked with up to four inches of rain early Sunday. But the Weather Bureau said the only moisture in prospect for the state through Tuesday were a few thundershowers in coastal areas.

A stationary cold front stretched from South Texas to Florida this morning. Texas skies were expected to remain clear north and partly cloudy south.

The community of Blue northeast of Austin caught four inches of rain Sunday morning. Other heavy falls included Giddings 3.15, Elgin 3.35 and Liberty Hill 2.25.

Thunderstorms and several tornadoes pounded sections of West and North Texas Saturday, inflicting hail damage to some South Plains cotton and ripping buildings at a spot north of Amarillo.

Dalhart had a reading of 56 degrees before dawn today, while Galveston recorded a warm 80 at the same time.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♥KQ985 ♦AQJ543 ♣Q8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. This definitely shapes up as a slam, but in order to investigate the full limits of the combined holdings we suggest a rebid in hearts to clarify our distribution to partner. He will know that we have six diamonds and five hearts.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠82 ♥64 ♦AK842 ♣A982
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—This is a good hand for a partner who could open the bidding and then jump. We would not abandon hopes for a slam and recommend a raise to five hearts. This will indicate our concern about the spade situation. If partner can guarantee no more than one spade loser, a six contract will be a reasonable undertaking.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ973 ♥AK82 ♦AQJ ♣3
The bidding has proceeded:

What do you bid now?
A.—Double. While it is clear that partner has very little in anything in the way of high cards, he might have a modicum of distributional values—enough even to produce a game. In any event, your hand is too rich in high cards and support for all unbid suits to sell out so cheaply.

Looks A Little Different

American version of Volkswagen sedan for 1967 incorporates more major improvements than ever before and even looks somewhat different than last year's model. Mechanical improvements include a more flexible engine for better all-around performance; progressive springing action for greater comfort; a dual brake system, and a new 12-volt electrical system providing brighter lights and faster cold weather starting. In addition to changing the shape of the engine compartment lid to provide greater lid-to-bumper clearance, the "beetle's" front fenders were slightly reshaped to provide improved headlight mounting.

Many Improvements Made In 1967 Volkswagen Cars

The 1967 Volkswagen "beetle" not only looks different than last year's model, but also incorporates more major improvements than ever before.

Many of them — including one exterior change — are American-inspired. Stuart Perkins, president of Volkswagen of America, Inc., explains . . . "our new VW sedan incorporates a number of important performance, comfort and convenience features which Americans have told us they want.

"And this year the 'beetle' sold in America actually is different in appearance from the 'bug' built for other parts of the world. This is evident on the front fenders which have been slightly reshaped to provide a new headlight mounting," he added.

Frank J. Winterhalter, president of Big Spring's Western Car Company, commented, "we hope that the people of this area will visit our showroom to see the major improvements in the 'beetle' which, for the most part, are built into — rather than onto — the car.

"For example, the brakes have been engineered into a dual system utilizing a tandem-type master cylinder on each VW sedan and coupe. This assures that even if the front or rear half of the system becomes inoperative, the other half still functions.

"Inter - Continental Motors Corp., Volkswagen distributor for five southwestern states, reports that sales in this area during the first eight months of 1966 were 34 per cent more than during the same time last year. August was a record sales month with a 28.3 per cent increase over August, 1965."

ELECTRICAL SYSTEM
All VW models for 1967 have a 12-volt electrical system which replaces the previous 6-volt system and provides brighter lights and quicker cold weather starting. A new generator which be-the 1967 U.S. version of the "beetle" include:

Retractable and self-adjusting lap-type seat belts in front and lap-belt anchorages in the rear.
Dual back-up lights.
Two-speed windshield wipers which provide improved visibility under all bad weather conditions.
Recessed interior door handles.
New safety door locks with push - button locking controls on the window frames.
Spillproof and easily-serviced battery.
Soft plastic knobs for all dash panel controls and window cranks.

Outwardly only a few differences can be spotted on the "bug." Even fewer are evident on the other VWs for 1967 which include both the five-passenger Fastback and Squareback, the sporty and low-slung VW Karmann Ghia coupe and the bus-like station wagon and box-shaped truck. In each case, you have to look closely to spot any outward difference.

ENGINE FLEXIBILITY
A somewhat larger engine with a displacement of 1493 cc (91.10 cubic inches) has replaced last year's "beetle" engine which had a 1285 cc (78.42 cubic - inch) displacement.
While engine horsepower went up almost insignificantly with the larger displacement — from 50 in 1965 to 53 hp. for 1967 — "beetle" performance has been markedly increased in normal city and suburban traffic.
