Up Against The Enemy

The spokesman said the Viet Cong objective was to capture the command post of the 41st Regiment of the South Vietnamese 22nd Division. He said government forces captured 51 weapons including anti-aircraft and machine guns. Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

High-Flying Bombers Hammer Red Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — High-flying U.S. B52s bombed Communist North Viet Nam Thursday night for the fourth time in the war.

The bombers unloaded tons of explosives on ammunition dumps, truck parks and storage depots in the southern end of North Viet Nam above the demilitarized zone.

The heavy raid was part of the new U.S. aerial offensive in the southern Panhandle to halt North Vietnamese infiltration of men and supplies into South Viet Nam through the demilitarized zone.

The B52 raid was preceded Thursday by waves of U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine bombers which hammered also at the infiltration routes in the southern section of North Viet Nam.

Infantrymen of the South Vietnamese 22nd Division reported driving back successive waves of attacks today by two battalions of Viet Cong, an estimated 1,000 men.

A Vietnamese military spokesman said 150 Viet Cong were killed in three hours of close-quarter fighting before dawn. He estimated that the enemy carried away 100 more dead and wounded.

The fighting took place in jungled mountain-country 277 miles northeast of Saigon near the central coast. The action was only 12 miles from where Vietnamese troops reported killing some 200 Viet Cong Sept. 8.

The Vietnamese spokesman said seven Viet Cong were captured in today's battle, including one company commander

TEXANS AT WAR

Frightened Face Mirrors Rescue By 'Copter

By The Associated Press
For Chief Warrant Officer Jimmie D. Bright, the face of war is the frightened, upturned face of a stranded Vietnamese infantryman whose name he'll never know.

Bright, 26, a Texan at war, was a Pyote, Tex., carpenter before he became a pilot of armed helicopters which escort the "slicks" or troop-carrying helicopters, into battle areas.

TROUBLE
"We were on an 'eagle flight'—we'd scout around until we drew fire and then we'd bring in ground troops," Bright recalls of one incident. "We were looking for trouble."

"We brought in these slicks and they got surprised by a lot of ground fire all at once. The slicks loaded and got airborne as quickly as they could."

"Then there he was: One Viet-name infantryman who got left behind. He must have figured it was all over for him. He sure looked lonely down there."

HOT AREA
It may be that nothing would have been said had that foot-soldier been left amid the Viet Cong. But Bright decided to go down for him.

"We landed, shooting everything we had, rockets and machine guns. The other craft aloft could see we were taking fire from every direction—it was a real hot area."

"That soldier jumped aboard and we got out without anyone getting hurt. We got back and he shook our hands and took-off to rejoin his unit. I didn't even get his name."

After duty with A Company, 502nd Aviation Battalion, Bright returned to Texas to teach pilots at Ft. Wolters.

Airport, Employee Needs Cited By C-C Committees

The Howard County Airport urgently needs improvements, and Webb AFB may be forced to turn to other cities to hire temporary civilian personnel. These problems were two of the various items brought up by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce's 15 committees at a report session late Thursday.

Connie Edwards, chairman of the aviation committee, told other committee representatives that more money is needed for overdue improvements at the Howard County Airport.

Edwards said that Trans-Texas Airways has completely outgrown the airport runway space available, and, with the first turboprop jet landing in Big Spring Oct. 2, improvements needed to get under way as soon as possible.

LONGER RUNWAYS
"If we cannot provide adequate space for T-TA," Edwards said, "they may take their flights elsewhere." He pointed out that the runway needed to be lengthened from 5,500 feet to at least 6,700 feet and widened 50 feet. Also, he said, there is no place to put the private planes now; soon a terminal for T-TA would have to be provided.

"We need more ramp space and another T-hangar," Edwards said. "The FAA has been contacted, and they were willing to advise us on many areas of work. Perhaps as much as a half million dollars would be needed."

He told committee members that Mrs. Fay Reed was handling the airport beautification project which is under way.

Webb AFB may be forced to look elsewhere for civilian personnel to fill about 45 temporary positions, Col. George Franks, from the base-community council, reported.

SHORTAGE OF HELP
"We face critical shortage of temporary civilian help," Col. Franks said. "This condition has been existing for about two months, and Bud Farrow, civilian personnel officer, has been able to fill only five to 10 positions locally."

Col. Franks said that personnel would have to be acquired elsewhere if local persons were not available for jobs.

Seven Persons Die In Flames

CHICAGO (AP)—Flames and suffocating smoke killed seven persons early today, but a young father scooped his baby son in his arms, leaped through a second-story window, and safely escaped the fire which devastated the South Side apartment.

Four persons were injured. The dead — two children, a woman and four men — were trapped in their rooms in the old building. The flames erupted on the ground floor near the base of the rear porch and gushed up a central stairwell.

"It went up like a tinderbox," said a fireman.

Marvin Snipes, 19, and his year-old son, Marvin Jr., jumped. The father and son were in good condition at Michael Reese Hospital.

The dead included two cousins — Mary Wright, 5, and Calvin Wright, 9.

Also killed were Minnie Hall, 60; Moses Wright, 32; William Hall, 65; Willie Hall, 65, and Bill Adams, 49.

Substantial Gain Shown By Banks

	Sept. 29, 1966	Oct. 13, 1965	Gain
Loans and Discounts ..	$23,866,318.89	$23,551,907.05	$ 314,411.84
Deposits	43,983,193.25	46,473,782.58	3,239,496.67
Cash	16,599,282.71	7,689,808.98	3,569,583.73
Total Resources	48,388,668.56	44,817,318.54	3,571,358.02

Deposits in the four banks in Howard County rose 8.23 per cent to $43,983,193 as of the close of business on Sept. 29, it was disclosed today.

The figures were in response to a call for condition by the comptroller of currency and the state banking commission.

Loans and discounts rose but slightly — 1.33 per cent — but this was enough to make the $23,866,318 a new record for the First National, State National, Security State and Coahoma State Banks combined.

Cash took a sharp rise—49.51 per cent—reaching $16,599,282.71, and bond holdings were up 39.47 per cent in amounting to $12,636,033. The gain in cash was partly attributed to one bank having received a sizable deposit on the day of the call.

Total resources of $48,388,668 fell under the peak of $50,368,943 on April 5, 1965, but it was a new high for this season of the year.

Local banks held a total of $1,100,490 in United States bonds, down $550,098 from the comparable date a year ago. They also had $42,296,145 in county and municipal issues, down $113,334, but the other bonds amounted to $4,239,397, which made $12,636,033, or $3,575,965 more than held in bonds at the comparable date in 1965.

The loans and discounts were about $300,000 more than the $23,551,907 reported on the June 20 call this year. Deposits were up by a million over the $42,701,784 reported then and cash was up substantially over the $7,249,733 on June 30. Total resources were nearly 20 million.

Carr, Tower Swap Pokes Over Draft

By The Associated Press
Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Sen. John Tower, stepping up the pace of their campaign for the office now held by Tower, traded verbal pokes over the draft Thursday night.

The rival candidates both had some things to say also about the war in Viet Nam.

Carr, the Democratic nominee endorsed by President Johnson, asserted there are inequities in the draft law and Tower, as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has made no effort to correct them.

Tower, the Republican who succeeded Johnson in the Senate, rejoined that "The President has already moved to make a study of the draft, so his ("Carr's) criticism also falls on the President."

The attorney general spoke in Mount Pleasant at a $5-a-plate barbecue staged by Democrats of 18 Northeast Texas counties. Those arranging it estimated 1,000 turned out.

Remarks of Tower were made in Fort Worth at a news conference, held prior to a dinner at which he received a citizenship medal from the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. About 800 attended the dinner.

The attorney general likewise chided Tower for his Senate voting record and accused Tower of "trying to hide the fact that he is a Republican."

Docile Ivan

Ivan the Terrible, a rare and valuable snow leopard that escaped from Oklahoma City's Lincoln Park Zoo, tumbles from a rooftop, dragged from a dart fired into his hip. The dart still protrudes from his hip. The leopard spent 27 hours of freedom until he was caught early today in a net held by the men at the base of the building. A short time later the leopard died from effects of the tranquilizer. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Gromyko Blasts U.S. Peace Move

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union replied today to the latest U.S. Viet Nam peace proposals by demanding the immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces as the only way to peace.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the U.N. General Assembly in a major policy declaration "there are still no signs testifying to the seriousness of the intention of Washington to seek a settlement" of the Viet Nam war.

He dismissed the latest proposals of U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as part of a "so-called peace offensive" and said each new peace move was followed by "a further escalation of aggressive actions."

UNCONDITIONAL
"Where is the solution of the Viet Nam problem to be found?" Gromyko asked.

The answer, he said, "is simple and logical: unconditional cessation of the bombing of the territory of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, withdrawal of all armed forces of the United States and their allies from South Viet Nam, removal of foreign armaments, the granting to the Vietnamese people of a chance to settle their internal problems themselves."

"The aggressor has come to Viet Nam; the aggressor should leave," he said.

AGGRESSION
Gromyko declared that it was the duty of every government "to declare its support to the heroic Vietnamese people, from this rostrum, to denounce American aggression, to demand its unconditional termination in the north and south of Viet Nam, to demand the withdrawal of all armed forces of the United States and their allies from Viet Nam."

RED ASSISTANCE
Gromyko repeated the Soviet pledge to render all necessary assistance to the Viet Nam Communists.

On other issues, Gromyko submitted three draft resolutions for assembly consideration backing up his attack on U.S. policy.

They were:
A resolution requesting all states to refrain from all actions which would hamper agreement on nonproliferation of nuclear weapons until a treaty on that subject is concluded.

WARNING
A resolution calling for condemnation of all forms of intervention in the domestic affairs of states, and warning states which undertake armed intervention in the domestic affairs of states that they must accept responsibility for the consequences.

A resolution requesting states possessing military bases in Asia, Africa and Latin America to disband them at once "and not establish them in the future."

REDS AIM
This appeared aimed at Washington-sponsored proposals for nuclear sharing among the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.
The U.S. offer of a mutual de-escalation of the war was made in the assembly debate Thursday by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

He said the United States is prepared to stop all bombing of North Viet Nam the moment it is assured, "privately or otherwise," that North Viet Nam will promptly take "corresponding and timely steps to reduce or bring to an end its own military activities against South Viet Nam."

U.S. POSITION
He also called on North Viet Nam to agree to a time schedule for "supervised phased withdrawal from South Viet Nam of all external forces — those of North Viet Nam as well as those from the United States and other countries aiding South Viet Nam."

Gromyko and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk dined together and discussed East-West issues for three hours at Rusk's New York hotel suite Thursday night. Gromyko invited Rusk to dinner at the Soviet delegation headquarters Saturday night to continue the talks.

USEFUL?
Neither side would say what came up at the meeting, the first between the U.S. and Soviet foreign affairs chiefs since a year ago. But Viet Nam and disarmament presumably were high on the list.

Gromyko said the atmosphere was "normal." A U.S. spokesman said "it wasn't unfriendly" and the talks were "useful."

The General Assembly's 23-nation steering committee Thursday night finished recommending a 95-item agenda for the assembly and suggesting in which committee each item should be debated.

The committee made most of its decisions by general consent but voted 11-3 with nine abstentions against a Soviet proposal to bar the question of Korean unification.

LBJ Will Join Wife At Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson took off today for a weekend stay at his Texas ranch.

Johnson is expected to return to the White House Sunday night or early Monday. He has talks scheduled here Monday and Tuesday with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany.
Mrs. Johnson, who has been making a western tour, was due at the ranch later today.

'LITTLE APALACHIN' RAID

13 Cosa Nostra Bosses Nabbed

NEW YORK (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice today held 13 Cosa Nostra bosses in a total of $1.3-million bail after their arrest Thursday in what was described as the biggest raid involving crime syndicate figures since the 1957 Apalachin conference.

Bail was set at $100,000 each for the 13, all listed as prominent members of the Cosa Nostra's national crime network by underworld informer Joseph Valachi.

Justice Joseph M. Conroy said the men were being held as material witnesses in the investigation of "major crimes" in Queens County. The group was remanded to civil jail when they were unable to post bond.

ROUNDUP

lik, who directed the roundup Thursday, called it the most important since the gangland conference at Apalachin, N.Y., in 1957 was broken up by state police. Sixty top hoodlums and their friends were arrested then.

The raid Thursday came as the group was eating in a basement dining room at La Stella restaurant in Forest Hills, Queens. The community, about 20 minutes from Manhattan by car, is known for its comfortable apartment houses and tennis stadium, home of the national singles championships.

LOTS OF CASH
Garelik said none of the Mafia attending the "little Apalachin" meeting carried less than $600 in cash in his pockets. He described them to newsmen as "elegantly dressed" and wearing "expensive jewelry." Among those charged with "consorting with known criminals" were: Thomas (Tommy Ryan) Eboli, once barred as a fight manager after punching a referee, and now top man in the family of imprisoned Brooklyn leader Vito Genovese, considered the syndicate's "boss of bosses."

JUST A GUEST
Michael Miranda, a guest at the Apalachin meeting, and underboss of a New York Cosa Nostra family.

Carlos Marcello of New Orleans, described in Senate testimony as the Mafia's Southern chieftain and a onetime partner of Frank Costello.

Santo Trafficante, a Cosa Nostra big shot in Florida and former head of rackets in pre-Castro Cuba.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Hammock Is Ironing Aid

Dear Heloise: When ironing large articles, such as curtains, etc., fold a bath towel in half lengthwise and pin it (open side up) like a hammock to the edge of the ironing board cover at each end on the side next to you — thus forming a pocket.

Place the dampened article in the towel which will keep it from drying out, and out from underneath.

As you iron, the article will be pulled away from you, taking the heat with it. . . Mrs. J. B. Elliff cloths. It was a chore to iron the end which always partially dried out.

That little old "towel-hammock" really solved the problem! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: You know how elusive the end of a piece of sticky tape can be on the roll?

After you have cut off a piece of tape, lay a paper clip across the roll and put the end of the tape over it.

No more problems finding the end or getting it started, just give the paper clip a turn and the tape is loose. . . D.E.D.

Ladies, this is truly a wonderful hint. I appreciate it most when ironing my long table-

A Devotional For The Day

Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. (Isaiah 41:10)

PRAYER: O God, our lives are in Thy hands. Our prayer is that Thy will be done and that Thy kingdom come. May we hear Thy voice today saying, "Fear not, for I am with you." For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Reform Due But Not Likely

John Connally finds himself burdened with a dilemma that has plagued progressive Texas governors since this state's constitution was adopted in 1876. Experience undoubtedly has convinced him what is basically wrong with our state government, but he must hesitate to push for the obvious remedy because it might seem like a power grab when done by an incumbent.

Governor Connally recently told a Dallas meeting that the state government is inflexible and unresponsive, deficiencies that have caused the federal government to move in to fill the public's needs and also have hampered state-local governmental relations. One reason, he said, is that "Texas is basically run by 160 boards and commissions." Another is that the governor and legislature deal with only 14 per cent of the state's $3.6 billion biennial budget; the rest flows "automatically by provisions of the constitution."

The governor did not go on to specify what should be done about it, but the reform that is clearly needed is comprehensive constitutional revision. And the most extensive remodeling is needed in the executive branch.

Texas should have a departmentalized state administration responsible directly to the chief executive. Only quasi-judicial boards and commissions, in the regulatory field, and advisory boards should be retained. And the governor should prepare and present the budget, preferably to annual sessions, with the legislature retaining budget control only through the appropriating process. This is, of course, the basic administrative system that the federal and better-managed state governments now have.

However, Governor Connally well knows the powerful opposition to such logical reform. The legislature is reluctant to give up any of its powers and prerogatives, even those which properly belong in the executive branch. Special-interest lobbies like the existing headless administrative hodgepodge, because it is easier to influence unduly and it is more difficult for the people to fix responsibility for mistakes and manipulations against the public interest.

The Texas Constitution was drafted as Reconstruction waned, when there was real fear of excessive executive powers. As a result the governor has only nominal administrative supervision; he must work his will mainly by persuasion and politics over the executive branch, though he is inevitably held popularly responsible for any ineffectiveness. If this state is ever to have really effective state government, the governor must be given the authority, as well as the responsibility, to govern.

To Move Or Not To Move

A new chapter in the tragic history of the Dominican Republic is about to be written. The Inter-American Peace Force is scheduled to withdraw from the island on Sept. 25, while rumors of coups sweep the country.

President Joaquin Balaguer, striving to assert his authority over the military and the extremists of the left and right, has asked for a law limiting the extracurricular activities of political parties. He has replaced National Police Chief Jose de Jesus Morillo Lopez with a supporter he trusts, Lt. Col. Luis Nez Tejada Alvarez. He is trying, reports suggest, to replace Enrique Perez y Perez, armed forces minister, before the peace force leaves Santo Domingo.

The army opposition tends to coalesce around Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, one of the two survivors of the band which assassinated Rafael Trujillo. Imbert served briefly as president during the earlier days of the occupation by U.S. forces, but was eased out. He professes to be fearful of Communist influences in the republic and may well be planning a vendetta to wipe out the record of the near-defeat he suffered at the hands of constitutional forces.

If there is any probability that U.S. troops will have to be sent back to Santo Domingo because another civil war is about to break out, the measure our back seems to be turned, it would be much better for us to remain there a little longer. In the alternative, our Department of State, or even the President personally, should let it be known in the strongest possible terms that we support the administration of President Balaguer.

Congress May Prefer To Wait

WASHINGTON—President Johnson is being urged by some people to let Congress take a recess on Oct. 15 and come back into session just after the Nov. 5 election. Some members of Congress who have heard about the suggestion say, however, that, unless there is some economic emergency, Congress is not likely to hurry up and pass any leftover legislation—such as the civil-rights bill or important appropriation bills that could affect the growing demand for a curtailment of government spending.

IF, MOREOVER, a bill providing for a general tax increase is submitted to Congress in a session just after the election, Capitol Hill observers say there would be a tendency to delay it anyway until new committees could be formed in the 90th Congress, which begins its work in January.

Certainly there will not be much inclination even then to take up a civil-rights bill right away, because sentiment in Congress is likely to be stronger against the measure in the next session than it is today.

UNFORTUNATELY, the civil-rights leaders have failed to evaluate carefully the reasons for the defeat of the measure at the current session of Congress. They are still inclined to make blanket indictments charging "racism" against legislators who have voted with them in the past. Many of the senators who voted this week against closure have supported civil-rights legislation heretofore. The significant fact is that public opinion has made itself felt in protest against certain parts of the proposed measure. The consensus seems to be that Congress has been too hasty in passing civil-rights bills before and has not examined carefully the constitutional aspects involved.

OPPOSITION to the pending measure has been based not merely on the "open housing" section but also on the provisions for the selection of juries. Many lawyers throughout the country have felt that the whole jury system would be disrupted if the proposals giving to the federal government power to intervene in the picking of jurors were enacted into law.

It may be a bitter pill for some of the civil-rights leaders to swallow, and they may not like to be told the realistic truth of American politics. But they have gone too far with their street demonstrations and have given Congress the impression that its members were being coerced into passing new laws. Again and again during the debate, some senators and representatives have spoken out bluntly about efforts to stampede the national legislative body.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS would, of course, prefer to let things ride until the January session, especially if there should be a change in seats in many of the states. The chances, therefore, of a call for a recess from Oct. 15 until just after the election are dim. The current session may run past an Oct. 15 deadline, almost up to the week of the election itself in November, before final adjournment.

LBJ Keeps Humphrey Guessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plays it so close to the chest even the man he picked to be one heartbeat away from the presidency, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, is left looking uninformed.

This isn't the way President John F. Kennedy treated his vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson, who has made a career of secret-keeping until he is ready for disclosures in his own good time, and for his own reasons.

The way Johnson dismissed a question about Humphrey this week creates a new question: Will he repeat his 1964 performance of leaving Humphrey hanging on the hook till the last minute?

IN THE 1964 election year, when the country had no vice president, Johnson kept an almost incredible silence about the man he wanted for his running mate. He gave the impression of agonizing over the decision.

Humphrey, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and others were publicly talked about as likely prospects. Johnson said nothing. Then, shortly before the Democratic convention opened in August, Johnson eliminated Kennedy.

He just simply announced no member of his Cabinet, which included Kennedy, would be considered. But Johnson gave no indication he favored Humphrey until the moment before he boarded a plane here for the convention.

THEN HE told newsmen his choice was Humphrey. And shortly afterwards at the convention he explained why he had reached this decision, describing Humphrey as the "best-equipped man in this nation to be president if anything happened to the president."

But it could hardly have taken Johnson all those months, right up to the last minute, to reach such an appraisal of Humphrey who had worked with him in the Senate for years and had been his chief lieutenant there.

SINCE THE election Humphrey has been the hardest-working his liberal admirers have vice president in history, not because of a special quality which makes him different from his predecessors but because Johnson has given him more work to do.

He has piled assignments and responsibilities on Humphrey. The vice president has been running up and down the countryside making speeches and is so loyal to Johnson that some of

But Robert F. Kennedy, now a U.S. senator from New York, has been running up and down making speeches and getting more enthusiastic receptions than Humphrey at a time when Johnson's standing in the public opinion polls has been falling.

ONE POLL reported a majority of Democrats quizzed preferred Kennedy over Johnson for president in 1968.

How Doctors Have To 'Keep Up'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Today's thoughts may bore some folks to tears, but others may find that it puts some meat on the bare bones of the remark that physicians "have to keep up to date."

It's a good deal more than hearing on occasional lecture or skimming through a medical journal in the evening, hoping that the phone won't ring.

As an example, I have a list of postgraduate courses offered by the American College of Physicians, 20 of them in the next nine months. Various schools and clinics are hosts, with experts gathered from all over the country.

The courses cost each doctor from $60 to $100, plus as much more for food, lodging and travel, with four to five days of study.

The current course is sponsored by the University of Minnesota and the Mayo Clinic on advances in skin treatment for internists.

Others and the sponsoring schools are Care of the Critically Ill Medical Patient (State University of New York); Endocrine and Metabolic Disorders (State University of New York Downstate Medical Center); Newer Aspects of Allergy (Harvard University); Progress in Gastroenterology (University of Pennsylvania); Cancer (Columbia University); Infectious Diseases (University of Pittsburgh).

Renal (kidney) Diseases (Cornell University); Biochemical Lesions (Washington University); Arthritis and Related Disorders (New York University); Advances in Cardiovascular Disease (Mount Sinai, New York); Cardiopulmonary Disease (Yale University); Fundamental Concepts of Gastroenterology (University of Michigan); Psychiatry for the internist (Wayne State University).

Clinical Auscultation of the Heart (Georgetown University); Advances in Endocrinology (University of Washington); Application of Advances in Electrophysiology of the Heart (New York University); Current Physiological Concepts in Diagnosis and Treatment (University of Cincinnati); Clinical Applications—Recent Advances in Pharmacology (University of Iowa).

These are not for the doctor who can go back to graduate school for a semester or year, but for the practicing physician who can put in a week of concentrated study.

The American College of Surgeons, American Academy of General Practice, American Psychiatric Association and many more specialized groups and state and county medical societies.

The foregoing should give readers some inkling of the life-long study that it takes for doctors to keep up with modern medicine.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease of young people. To learn more about it, write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Mononucleosis," enclosing with your request a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

What Every Young Bride Should Know

Being a relatively new bride has its downsides.

The first one comes when you realize you're married to a man who's nuts about machinery and a 1964 Lambretta scooter.

After that, it's more or less cataclysmic, depending on your outlook. If your life has always paralleled the adventures of Charlie Brown, watch out.

I DIDN'T realize what I was getting into, I promised to "love, honor, cherish," but nobody told me that meant cleaning pistons and polishing generators and holding flashlights while my knight in shining armor putters around carefully twisting and turning each little nut and bolt — just so.

THREE WEEKS after the wedding: He: "Where did you put that valve adjuster? I can't find it anywhere."

Me: "Oh, I was just tidying up a little and straightening some things in your drawers. By the way, what does it look like?"

He: "It's useless to explain anything to women. You never attach importance to anything of real value."

MONTHS LATER, and I'm still trying to figure that out.

Just try to have a nice, romantic, candlelit dinner for two when you're married to a mechanic. Just try.

The music is soft. The lights are low. The roast is succulent. The champagne is chilled. The bride is glowing. Then in comes Sir Lancelot. I muster my best Julie London-type voice and whisper, "Dinner's ready, darling."

"I CAN'T eat now," says the voice of doom. "The valves are out of adjustment on the car, and if I don't fix them now, you know what that means."

I've spent many sleepless nights trying to figure out "what that means."

They say that brides learn a lot in their first year of marriage. I certainly have.

WOULD YOU believe . . . I've learned how to check the oil in the car, change a tire, polish a scooter, adjust the valves, and "various and sundry" other items which every new bride should know.

Oil change, anyone? —JERRY MONSON

Form Can Be Beautiful

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. — Right away Henry Dreyfuss, the industrial designer, in his pleasant grove of an office, made me think of Senator Robert Taft, historian Charles Beard and my family friend, John W. Davis, who ran for the presidency in 1924.

IN A LIFETIME of writing about the great and the near-great, I have found that the truly great have a common quality — a cordial simplicity which does not know how to pretend. And I have felt it a sad fact, a national loss, that so few of our men of politics are truly great, and that the country does not have full use of its real talent in running its public affairs. Therefore, on a trip such as this into the Western states where the main business is interviewing politicians, I break away and try to meet men in other pursuits who are doing things for America which not many Americans hear about.

Dreyfuss, 62, is tall, gray, bespectacled, unhurried, immensely considerate, and his mission in life is to give beauty to the common objects of modern living. One of his many industrial clients is the Edison Electric Institute, a research association of the utilities companies, and one of his jobs for them is to design aesthetics into the power poles and towers.

IT CAN BE DONE. Dreyfuss told me that the first man or company which built a bridge across a river was undoubtedly charged with defacing nature. He, himself, a New Yorker, opposed the building of the magnificent George Washington Bridge across the state's Hudson. But when he thought the matter out, he came to understand that bridges throughout the world are among our noblest structures and that they add rather than detract from natural beauty. He recently returned from a trip to see the Aswan Dam in Egypt and he shuddered at the sight of an ugly forest of transition lines which mar that ancient land because nobody bothered to think of the future generations.

THANKS TO Dreyfuss, Los Angeles and San Francisco are getting "Dreyfuss Poles," which are utility uprights where the crosspieces at the top give the effect of a sunburst. It's just a matter, he says, of putting things in order, in this instance of rearranging the crosspieces so that they are pleasant to behold.

The gaunt transmission towers which march across the California landscape and carry electrical power to far-flung industry are going to offer him more difficulty, but he keeps remembering that these high-tension wires are very much like bridges across rivers, and Dreyfuss has some ideas about making them more welcome to the sight. He may decide to advise his utilities clients to use variety—that is, to have one tower in the form of a pillar, another in the form of a shaft, some towers made of wood, others of steel, others of some other metal.

IN THESE DAYS of heavy corporate taxes, many of our big companies have turned to the kind of research which once existed only in the universities. One result has been that commercial firms have discovered a motivation beyond mere profit-seeking, and now take pride in raising the level of public taste—as in the new, light-weight, jammy telephone sets that Dreyfuss has helped develop for the Bell Laboratories.

He is not one who believes very much in concealment or camouflage, such as hiding a power generator in a colonial house or making a filling station look like something other than what it is — a vending machine. He quotes Louis Sullivan, who was the teacher of Frank Lloyd Wright: "Form should follow function." Dreyfuss says that if function is perfect, the form is perfect.

"BUT," he goes on, "there are so many objects that are perfect in function. A ball is perfect, and it has an inherent beauty. The same can be said for a wheel, a propeller, the hull of a ship, and many airplanes."

But if an object is less than perfect, it still can be made tasteful and full of quality. This is his life's work.

Awakening In Thailand Late Coming

WASHINGTON—The threat of "another Viet Nam" has set the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to trying with little success so far to pierce the diplomatic curtain surrounding the American role in Thailand. A lot more is at stake than merely the insistence of the Thai government on secrecy and the sensitivity of the state department over any breach of that secrecy.

ECONOMIC aid to Thailand from 1949 through the present fiscal year totals more than $477,000,000. In addition, military assistance—classified secret—adds up to billions of dollars, including the construction of three huge Air Force bases from which American planes fly up to 1,600 sorties a week.

Yet reports from Bangkok tell of rapidly increasing Communist subversion in northeast Thailand. Thailand's chief of staff and head of the Thai Air Force, Marshal Dawee Chulaprasit, said publicly for the first time that U.S. troops are helping to suppress the insurgency. This was promptly denied in Washington. That is how the American commitment in Viet Nam began and it is why Bangkok's call for help causes such deep disquiet here.

HOW MUCH the vast infusion of American dollars has helped the Thai peasant, and particularly in the rugged and needy northeast, is the question currently being asked.

Four years ago the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association signed a contract with AID to provide from their co-ops around the country on a non-profit basis men with the know-how to help electrify rural communities in underdeveloped areas. In July, 1965, J. K. Smith, manager of the Kentucky statewide organization of rural electric co-ops, went to Thailand to conduct a survey, from village to village.

HE SPENT nearly two months in northeast Thailand going from village to village. Surplus power was available from a dam recently completed under a West German contract. If that power could be brought to the villages it would pump water for irrigation and provide for cottage industry.

Smith worked out a comprehensive plan which would have brought electricity to 133 villages in the area. He found the villagers enthusiastic. The cost, about $1,000,000 would in the long run be in part repaid by charges assessed against power consumers.

THIS LOOKED like just the kind of project to bring new life to the area until Smith got back to Bangkok with his recommendation to the American AID director, Tracy Park. Park, a former executive from Houston, Texas, with the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., was uninterested. Smith left Thailand with the impression that he had come up against a Goldwater-type Republican whose chief interest was in building roads.

In the year that has passed nothing has come of the recommendation "still under consideration." Park recently retired.

Foot dragging on the part of the Thai government seems to have been another factor. Head of the Provincial Electric Authority is Sai Nidhinantana, a conservative, upper-class Thai who, like most of officialdom in the capital, shows little interest in what happens in the remote northeast.

ON THE other hand, in many of the 23 countries to which they have gone the rural electric co-op specialists have had a good working relationship with AID. In six Latin-American countries co-ops have got a start. The war notwithstanding, three regional cooperatives in South Viet Nam are being developed capable of bringing electricity to 200,000 consumers. A four-man team now in India is cooperating in a preliminary survey of electric co-ops proposed for three states. This is the type of self-help program with a tremendous potential not only for material improvement but for winning and holding the loyalty of peoples. For Thailand it may be too late, if not too little.

Bishops Return From Holy Lands Journey

A former Big Spring woman and her husband, the Rev. and Mrs. Elvis Bishop, of Wichita, Kan., have returned recently from the fulfillment of a dream — a trip through the Holy Lands.

Mrs. Bishop is the former Dorcas Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. (Corbett) Clanton, Gail Route, Big Spring.

The trip was a godsend at the time it came. Rev. Bishop had long planned to visit the Holy Land this summer, but cancelled the trip when their son, Eddie, almost 14, died of cancer after a short illness.

"Our older children and our many friends in the churches wouldn't hear of the cancellation and insisted on sending us both," said Mrs. Bishop. "They not only raised the money but helped with the arrangements."

"They'll never know how much it meant to us, especially at that time."

In addition to covering the Holy Land and experiencing the thrill of walking where Jesus walked, Rev. and Mrs. Bishop toured most of Europe, including Russia where they had the rare thrill of worshipping with 1,000 people in one of their nightly Protestant services, a new privilege for many of the Russian people. Since their return, Rev. Bishop accepted a new job, that of president of the Full Gospel

Evangelistic Association for a five-state area. They will continue to live in Wichita, where he has pastored the Faith Chapel for the past 10 1/2 years. They have three children at home, Terry Lee, 7, Randy, 11, Gaylene, a senior in Friends University; four married children, Boyce, Pete and Glenda Foster of the Wichita area, and LeNeve Peacock, New Orleans.

Local Group Attends Meet

The Rev. and Mrs. John C. Black, with several delegates from the First Christian Church, will attend the International Convention of Christian Churches, now being held in Dallas to-day through Wednesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Black will leave here after the Sunday morning worship service. Other delegates include Mrs. Florence Hallam, Mrs. Alberta Elam, Mrs. Clara Bell Schattel, David Holmes, Tom Gambill, Laura Parks and Beth Ann Ross.

The theme for the convention is "In Christ, Fullness of Life." A goal of 20,000 delegates has been set. Upwards of 15,000 of them are expected to be from Texas.

Speakers at the convention will include Dr. Martin Luther King, the Rev. John Wright, Bishop of the Pittsburgh, Pa., diocese, Robert Storey, Dallas attorney, Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, William T. Pearcy, Indianapolis, Ind., and Paul Verghese, secretary, World Council of Churches.

The convention is being held in the Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

He has held several district positions and was for 13 years a trustee to Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla.

The Rev. D. M. Duke, pastor of the church, has extended an invitation to the public to attend. Services will include spiritual songs, a gospel message and special music.

The church is located at 1400 Lancaster. Service-time is 7:30 o'clock nightly.

Gets Criticism

LONDON (AP)—Roman Catholic marriage regulations are defeating all the expressions of brotherly love, states the (Anglican) Church of Ireland Gazette in a comment on the ecumenical movement. "This is one sphere in which Roman Catholic policy has not relaxed one iota," the Gazette said. "Nowhere in the world are the injustice and sheer cruelty of these regulations felt to a greater extent than in Ireland."

TEMPERANCE ABOVE ALL

There is no specific commandment against drinking, but any and all of the Ten Commandments could be broken under the influence of alcohol. The test for this Sunday's International Sunday School Lesson comes from Deuteronomy 5:16-21; Proverbs 23:31-35; Hosea 4:11-13; 7:5-7; Luke 21:34-36; Ephesians 6:15-18. When man reduces the higher, inner disciplines, anything goes, including the Ten Commandments. As the foundation of modern law and law enforcement, the Decalogue has an important part in the prevention of crime. Alcohol does not strengthen a man; it loosens his nerve structure, numbs his brain and gives him hallucinations in place of sense and intelligence and creative power.

City May Benefit From CRMWA Job

Indirectly, one section of Big Spring's north side, often washed out during heavy rains, may benefit from the huge Canadian River dam project near Stanford.

Hundreds of miles of water pipeline was contracted to carry water from the new lake site in the Panhandle to cities as far away as Lamesa by the Cen-Vi-Ro Pipe Co. At the end of the construction, the firm had many odd sizes of 54-inch diameter pipe left on its yard at Plainview.

Thursday, Ernest Lillard, director of public works, visited the yard to see if the pipe might be used here for drainage control on the north side. The pipe has been offered to the city free.

"I think we can use it at three intersections," Lillard said. "We have a bad drainage problem on the west side of North Gollad, at the intersections of Sixth, Seventh and Eighth streets. This pipe might enable us to carry flood waters under the street, and stop the usual washing out we have every time it rains."

The engineering department is checking into the feasibility of using the pipe. As such concrete pipe has cost the city up to $11.84 per foot, this gift from the contractor could amount to several thousand dollars, depending on how much will be needed.

Youth Will Attend Game

Thirty-one youths and their counselors, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dickens, Mrs. Bill Ward and the Rev. Harold Rucker, are expected to be among the thousands of Methodist young people who will see the SMU-Navy game free Sept. 24 at the invitation of SMU and Navy.

The invitation was issued by SMU Coach and Athletic Director, Hayden Fry.

The youth will be seated in a special youth section. Additional adult tickets in the youth section will be available at $2.50. Counselors who wish to secure reserved seats in the adult section are being accommodated at $5 each.

Many Dallas churches are opening their facilities for "over-night" camping. The picnic facilities in Fair Park will be available for groups who arrive before lunch.

Special parking arrangements have been made to accommodate the chartered buses which will be used by many groups to transport the Methodist Youth Fellowship members to Dallas.

The SMU Mustangs will be looking for their second victory of the season. Their season opened September 17 against Illinois, a game which SMU won.

Reservations for the free tickets are being made through Lester Jordan of the SMU Athletic Department. Both pastors and laymen are serving as counselors for the groups attending the game.

Dr. Robert E. Goodrich, a strong supporter of the Methodist Youth Night idea and father of one of the players, said the group will probably be the largest gathering of Texas Methodist Youth ever assembled.

"In addition to providing the youth with an opportunity to see the Mustangs play, it will be a witness to the involvement of youth in the Methodist Church at the local level," Dr. Goodrich said. Dr. Willis Tate, a Methodist layman and former football star, is president of SMU.

City Cleanup Gets Results

The city's weed-battling forces have chalked up a long list of accomplishments during the summer, Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said this morning, and many residents have had a part in the program by paying their share of the costs.

The crews cleaned up 145 lots during the summer months, he said, and asked the property owners to pay 10 cents per front foot for the service. About half of these owners voluntarily paid the bill.

In the past, Lillard said, we notified lot owners in advance, gave them the opportunity to clean up the lots themselves, then did the work, and sent a bill. This year, the city moved in and did the cleaning, giving the property owners the option to pay or not.

"We have had good response," he said, "and I believe many more will pay the small costs when they receive the bills."

Rev. Marvin L. Roark, pastor of the Kentwood Methodist Church, is one of the property owners who thanked the city in a written letter for the new program, which involved mowing some of the church property.

Sanitary Fill Project To Go On Full Scale

The city will begin a full-scale sanitary fill method of garbage disposal at a new site Monday, Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said this morning.

About a year ago, the city leased about a three acre site from O. R. Bolinger. The site is about a mile north of the T&P Railway Co. right-of-way on Birdwell Lane and contains a ravine about 20 feet deep, Lillard said.

It should take a little over six months to fill the area, Lillard explained. He added that the city has been using the fill method at the old dump site, on FM 700 near the sewage disposal plant, for about a year. This dump ground will be closed, at least temporarily.

"The city has done no garbage burning in over a year. The fill method involves compacting the dumped garbage, then covering it with dirt. It is one method of land rehabilitation, in cases of unusable ravines that can be filled and leveled with surrounding acreage, he pointed out.

Deputies, Posse In Saddle Again

Two deputy sheriffs and members of the sheriff's posse will be in the saddle today.

They are to ride over the L. I. Stewart ranch, 16 miles west of town, looking for a valuable 900 pound Angus bull. The big sire vanished three weeks ago and the sheriff has been asked to conduct a search for him. The terrain is such that only horseback riders can do the job, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

Police Check On Burglaries

Police today were investigating several burglaries and thefts.

John Pitts, 1708 Young, said four wheels and tires were taken last night from his trailer parked behind Ann's Cafe, NW Bell at Northwest Seventh.

Mrs. Carl Knappe, 1406 Dixie, reported a bicycle stolen from the Goliad school grounds Thursday.

Earnest Boyd, principal at Airport School, reported the building entered Wednesday night, however nothing was taken. A teacher's desk and cabinet were ransacked.

Mrs. Ronald Fryar, 611 Elgin, reported an attempted burglary of her home, but nothing missing. Police said a window at the rear of the house had been forced during the night.

Mrs. James Edwards, 809 E. 16th, told officers vandals had thrown eggs on her car.

Gives Demonstration

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, presented a hypnosis demonstration Wednesday to members of the Hi-Nom Optimist Club. About 20 persons attended. Barzie Fletcher was program chairman.

Downtown Group Plays It Safe—Sets Date Oct. 15

Just to be sure in case there are other delays, Oct. 15 has been set as the firm date for the downtown beautification project opening between Second and Third Streets on Main.

The celebration and opening ceremonies were originally set for Oct. 1, but because of inclement weather, have been rescheduled.

All of the attractions that were listed for the Oct. 1 opening will still hold, according to Adolph Swartz, president of Downtown Big Spring, Inc.

Ceremonies will kick off at 10 a.m. with the official ribbon-cutting by Mayor Arnold Marshall. The high school band will offer a concert, and the Sweetwaterettes, 42 baton-twirling girls from Sweetwater, will entertain.

A grand prize drawing for first, second and third prize, totaling $250, will take place at 10 a.m., sponsored by downtown merchants.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served before and after the ceremonies. In addition, all downtown stores will be offering throughout the day special giveaways and sales to celebrate the project's completion.

Other activities will continue to be scheduled. The project, which totals approximately $52,168 will be entered in Operation Sparkle, a two-year contest sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for all West Texas cities.

Funds Raised For Battle On Dystrophy

Volunteers gathered in over $1,300 in the first of three major activities of Epsilon Sigma Alpha for the Muscular Dystrophy drive.

The sorority had enlisted approximately 300 Big Spring women in the door-to-door appeal Thursday evening. Still more is expected when the final report is made. Big Spring Insurance Women handled the collection and tabulation of the house-to-house appeal.

Saturday the next major project comes up with tag day downtown and in the shopping centers. Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed this a special season in the fight against muscular dystrophy and appealed to all citizens to have a part in giving ammunition in the search for causes and a cure for the malady.

A third event comes up Oct. 1 when a benefit dance will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Big Spring Country Club. Music will be by the Texas Tech Red Raiders, and the script will be $3 per couple or stag.

Insurance Firm Is Seeking Removal From Litigation

A federal jury trial, in which an insurance company asks to be removed from a $350,000 damage suit originating in Big Spring, got under way Thursday in Abilene.

The insurance company is the Boston Insurance Co., and it asks a declaratory judgment against the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital and Forrest C. Gambill, both of Big Spring. Gambill, a former patient, filed a damage action in the 118th District Court against the hospital, alleging he received burns on his feet from a heating pad on Dec. 24, 1961. This he claims eventually led to the amputation of his left leg at mid-thigh.

The hospital holds a $50,000 liability policy with the Boston company, which seeks a ruling by the federal court that it has neither to defend the Big Spring suit, nor pay if a judgment were returned against the defendant.

The company bases its argument on its claim it was not informed of the claimed injury until Gambill filed suit against Bryans, 1401 Johnson; Rannels at Northeast Third, Frank Barnard, 110 E. 16th, and Eugene D. Carrillo, 200 NE 3rd; 100 block of North Johnson, Richard Harold Sayers, 503 Nolan, E. S. Estep Jr., 212 N. It was reported that 25 men will be working as commissioners with the 61 units. The staff is a service group organized to help packs, troops, and posts.

Don Womack, new district commissioner, was in charge of last night's session.

NO. 13 IN A SERIES 'I Will Prepare Myself ...'

By MIKE ROTHENBERGER. A young minister volunteered to spend an evening at home with his small son while the mother was away. The minister decided that he would use the time to prepare his sermon for the following Sunday morning. He went into his study, sat down at his desk, and began to work. He had been working for about five minutes when the little boy came in. The lad had all kinds of questions for his daddy to answer. The minister talked to his son for a few minutes and then sent him back to the living room to play. Again the minister began to work on his sermon, but the little boy came running back with some questions. The young minister realized that he would have to find a way to occupy the boy's time or the sermon would not be prepared. He rose from his chair, went over to a filing cabinet, opened a drawer and took out a map of the world. He said, "Come with me, son." He took the boy by the hand and together they walked to the kitchen. The father spread the map out on the table and took a pair of scissors and cut it into pieces just like a jig saw puzzle. He mixed up the pieces and then told the boy to climb up on a chair near the table. "Son," he said, "I have made a puzzle for you. I want you to put it all together and when you have it finished, call me so I can see it." "All right, Daddy," said the boy, "I'll call you as soon as it is all put together."

AIR BATTLES INCREASING Warplane Order Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson Administration, faced with a steadily steepening air war in Viet Nam, has ordered 280 additional warplanes in fiscal 1968 at a cost of $700 million. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, announcing this Thursday, said most of the additional aircraft will go to the Navy which he said has had a higher loss rate per mission than originally expected.

383 LOSSES The defense chief emphasized that thus far in the Viet Nam war the over-all aircraft loss rate is running "somewhat less than we estimated." But he also noted that sorties have exceeded original estimates by five to 10 per cent.

Pentagon figures show 505 U.S. planes have been downed in Viet Nam fighting to date, with 383 losses in North Viet Nam and 122 in the South.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace faced a contempt of court showdown for the second time in his turbulent career today as Negroes sought to speed up school integration in Alabama. Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People filed a motion in federal court charging Wallace with violating a two-year-old court order.

War Laid At President's Doorstep

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson is in trouble with the American voter because of the war in Viet Nam, says a survey prepared for the American Broadcasting Co.

The same sampling of opinion says those questioned think President John F. Kennedy would have done better.

However, the poll says the majority reject former Sen. Barry Goldwater's views and also want no part of "get out of Viet Nam" policies suggested by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

ARRING SLATED

Full results of the survey, released today, will be broadcast Sept. 24 as "ABC Scope: The Viet Nam War."

John F. Kraft, Inc., which took the poll, concludes that: "In sum, the American people don't like the war in Viet Nam, and the fact that it is still going on is laid at the President's doorstep. But, because there seem to be no alternatives, in frustration, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara get saddled with the blame."

The Kraft organization said its conclusions represent the observations and analysis of Kraft researchers regarding the significance of the salient findings of the poll.

PROBE ASKED

Kraft said that those who answered the poll found nothing sacrosanct about the presidency and felt an investigation about the conduct of the war might be all to the good.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the poll said, "is, if anything, in worse shape than President Johnson." Twice as many people think he's doing a good job than think he's doing a bad one, although his "favorable" total of 49 per cent is lower than Johnson's, the poll

Military Rail Shipments Soar

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An 80 per cent increase in military goods moved by rail is expected this year, says an official of the American Association of Railroads.

J. J. Kelley, association military director, said the amount of military rail shipment is not yet as great as during the Korean War, but should pass the end of the year.

INDIANS DENIED HELP

'Mercy Mission' Halted At Border

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A crew of Indians to unload the supplies.

Living in remote parts of the Sierra Madre Mountains, the Tarahumaras have not been assimilated into modern Mexican culture, partly because of their isolation and partly by their own choosing. Like several other Mexican Indian tribes, they are constantly threatened with hunger.

Mexico's last census said there were about 30,000 Tarahumaras.

In Mexico City Thursday night the Treasury Ministry said that allowing Lafayette to help the Tarahumaras would indicate that the government was unable to care for its own citizens.

PRIEST KILLED

The "mercy mission" to the Tarahumaras, who live in primitive conditions, received another blow Wednesday night when a plane crashed 235 miles south of El Paso, Tex., killing a priest and a nun.

They were Father Ernesto Uranga of Chihuahua City, Mexico, and Sister Lourdes Ramirez, formerly of El Paso. They were carrying medical supplies and food to the Indians.

Gordon Blake, an engineer who directed the drive for donations, said the Mexican reaction to the Lafayette effort came as a shock.

NOT STOPPING

"The train is rolling, we are not stopping the train," he said. "We know nothing of the politics of this thing. We know only that the help is needed."

The load of supplies for the Tarahumaras was gathered in the Lafayette area after an appeal from Father Luis Verplancken, a Jesuit missionary who once lived in Lafayette.

Father Verplancken said the death toll among the Tarahumaras due to starvation had reached 200 a day. The tribe is located in Chihuahua State, adjoining Texas.

STARVATION

The governor of Chihuahua, Gen. Praxedes Ciner Duran, denied the priest's statement regarding hundreds of starvation deaths.

"The report is criminal," he said. "To my knowledge, not a single Indian has died of starvation. As to reports that the corn crop has failed and is causing famine, we have the best corn crop in the history of Chihuahua."

The 10 freight cars left Lafayette Thursday as part of a train. They were at Houston, Tex., early today, with San Antonio and El Paso the next stops. El Paso is on the border.

Blake said the cars had been scheduled to arrive in Creel, Mexico, on Sept. 30, to be met by Father Verplancken and a

Leeward Islands Get Storm Alert

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Residents of the Northern Leeward Islands were placed on a storm alert today as a gusty tropical depression whirled in from the Atlantic.

Winds blew at only 30 to 35 miles per hour in squalls near the center of the disturbance but forecasters said small craft should remain in port on the chance that a tropical storm will develop.

The Leeward Island chain separates the Northern Caribbean Sea from the Atlantic.

Reports from ships and island stations during the night indicated that the depression was centered near latitude 14.0 north, longitude 58.0 west. This is 140 miles northeast of the French island of Martinique and 1,800 miles southeast of Miami.

It was moving westward at 15 to 20 m.p.h. and was expected to move into the Northern Leewards late today.

World Premiere Slated Oct. 8

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The world premiere of "Requiem Canticles," the most recent composition of Igor Stravinski, will be performed here Oct. 8. The work was commissioned by Princeton University and will be directed by the 84-year-old composer and his musical associate, Robert Craft.

Baptists Asked To Support Plant For Mexican Church

Baptists of the Big Spring Association will have an opportunity Sunday and Oct. 2 to lend a helping hand to the Mexican Baptist Church.

The church, ruined beyond repair by a gas explosion last spring, is being replaced by a modern plant of masonry construction. The project, costing $30,000, is well under way but there is $5,000 needed to complete the financing.

At a recent associational conference, messengers voted to ask their churches to share in raising this amount to assist the brethren in Mexican Baptist.

The new plant will contain 4,500 square feet and is a two-story construction. The entrance is on the Northwest Sixth Street side and thus the sanctuary, which seats 250, is at ground floor level.

Most of the classrooms of the fully graded educational plant are on the lower floor. This fellowship hall (which, by means of folding doors doubles as educational space) as well as the church office and the study for the pastor the Rev. C. S. Pena.

The church is experiencing a resurgence of interest, said the Rev. Dan Oglesby, Midway Baptist pastor and chairman of the association's mission committee. Although engaged in its building project, it is sponsoring a mission of its own. The church received $9,000 insurance on the old church, $1,000 from the Baptist emergency fund, $5,000 from the WMU Care and Share program, and another $10,000 on low interest, long-term loan. This leaves $5,000 to be raised.

Blue Ridge Preacher Stays Busy On Sunday

CRESTON, N.C. (AP) — Jerry Howell listens attentively, with frequent nods of approval, as her husband preaches the same sermon at three different mountain churches on Sunday morning.

Their 9-month-old daughter, Melissa Dare, sleeps.

At night, the Rev. Keith Howell delivers the sermon a fourth time at still another church.

The 30-year-old Emory University graduate serves 10 Methodist churches in the Blue Ridge Mountains of western North Carolina.

As the crow flies, Creston is six miles from West Jefferson, in Ashe County, but by road it's 15 miles and 30 minutes.

New Pastor Receives Welcome

The Rev. Robert McDermott, left, extends a handshake to the Rev. Leo St. John, seated, welcoming him as the new pastor of St. Thomas Catholic Church. Rev. McDermott has been reassigned temporarily to Brownsville. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

Rev. St. John Is New Pastor

The Rev. Leo St. John, J.F. OMI, recently assumed his new duties as pastor at St. Thomas Catholic Church, replacing the Rev. Robert McDermott, who has been reassigned.

Rev. St. John, a native of Camden, N. M., came here from Fort Isabel. He was graduated from the College of the Southwest at San Antonio and has lived most of his life in South Texas, working with Mexican missions.

He was assistant at St. Mary's in San Antonio in 1934 to the Rev. Tom Kennedy, now the pastor of St. Ann's Church in Midland.

Rev. St. John has also lived in New York City. He was chaplain of the Civilian Conservation Corps during its inception.

Davis On ASC Panel

Lawrence Davis was elected as a regular member of the County Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization committee at a meeting of the community committeemen Wednesday.

Every one of the 15 community committeemen were present for the meeting at the ASC office, said Gabe Hammack, administrator.

Davis will join Cecil Allred, chairman, and Clay Reid, vice chairman, hold-over members on the committee. He will serve a three-year term.

Work on the current program is proceeding satisfactorily, said Hammack, but some additional men are needed on the staff for a time to complete the measurement of plowed-up excess cotton acreage. Those interested in the jobs should contact Hammack.

Son Of Wealthy Oil Man Killed

FORT WORTH (AP) — John Moncrief, 22, son of wealthy Fort Worth oil man W. A. Moncrief Jr., was killed early today when his motorcycle hit a light pole.

Police said the vehicle jumped a curb before striking the pole on the city's west side.

Young Moncrief was stationed with the Marine Corps at San Diego and was home on leave.

Kiwanian Is Candidate

Big Spring Kiwanians at the Texas - Oklahoma District Kiwanis Convention in Fort Worth this weekend are campaigning for the election of a Big Spring man as lieutenant governor Division 22.

V. Ward Jackson, former president of the Big Spring club, is the candidate being pushed by the local delegates, Bill Johnson, club president elect, Delaine Crawford, secretary, and Don Lovelady, member.

They will seek to line up support from other Division 22 clubs for Jackson.

Jack Alexander was the last Big Spinger to be a lieutenant governor of Kiwanis.

The delegation left Thursday for the Fort Worth convention.

Program on Thursday was by the Rev. D. M. Duke, a member of the club, who screened a number of slides he had made on a trip this summer to Paris, Rome, Egypt and the Holy Land. Duke was the member of a group of local ministers and their wives who made the trip.

Dallas Businessman Found In Water

DALLAS (AP)—Funeral services were to be held today for William F. Rose, Dallas businessman whose body was found floating in a boathouse near Athens Thursday.

The afternoon services were at Highland Park Methodist Church with burial following in a Dallas cemetery.

Justice of the Peace C. C. Adrian of Athens said a bruise on the body could have been caused by a fall. He ordered an autopsy.

Rose told an attendant at an exclusive Athens club that he was going fishing Tuesday. After it was found he had not slept in his bed, a search was started and the body found. He had a history of heart trouble, relatives said.

He is survived by his widow, four sons, 14 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Astronauts' Doctor Raps Russian Claim

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Hard work—not what he breathed, as a Russian cosmonaut claimed—forced Richard F. Gordon Jr. to sweat so much he cut his Gemini 11 space walk short last week, says the doctor for America's astronauts.

Dr. Charles A. Berry labeled as "peculiar" the way Dr. Boris Yegorov, who flew in space two years ago, said Russian spacemen do not have a sweat problem because they breathe a different atmosphere in orbit than do Americans.

LESS PLUMBING

All U.S. spaceships have been equipped with a pure oxygen atmosphere, mainly because it requires a less complex plumbing and control system. Russian vehicles have flown with a mixture of nitrogen and oxygen, much like air on earth.

Berry discounted any thought that the 100 per cent oxygen atmosphere caused Gordon to perspire more than usual, adding:

RED ROCKS

"They (the Russians) ought to watch what kind of rocks are thrown. I certainly don't want to throw any myself, but our problem is work. He (Gordon) worked hard and sweated. It's as simple as that."

Gordon hurried back to safety Sept. 13 after spending 44 minutes of a planned 115-minute stay outside Gemini 11 because sweat streamed down his face into his eyes. Officials said he worked so hard tying the spacecraft to an Agena rocket for a later experiment that his suit's evaporative gear did not expel body moisture fast enough.

VERY FREELY

Berry described Gordon as a man who "does perspire very freely."

Yegorov told a space development meeting in Geneva this week that a perspiration problem doesn't exist for Russians "because the atmosphere and environment of the Soviet space cabins and space suits are absolutely normal—whereas Americans rely on artificial air mixture."

To this, Berry said in an interview Thursday at the Manned Spacecraft Center:

PROBLEMS

"That's sort of a peculiar way to put it. You're artificially supplying everything up there—whether it be air or pure oxygen. The atmosphere doesn't cause the sweat.

"The temperature of the atmosphere and the air flow through the (space) suit, plus how much work you ask a man to do are the things you have to watch.

"Anyway, sweating is the way the body cools itself. The body has to sweat in order to remain cool. If you think you have a problem if you sweat; man, if you don't sweat, you've really got problems."

Opening lead: Four of ♠
South, the declarer, at four hearts, failed to count 10 tricks and in his haste to draw trumps, he disrupted his campaign beyond repair.

West opened the four of hearts and East ducked, permitting South to win the trick with the ten. He continued with the king of hearts, East played the ace, and then shifted to the queen of clubs. North put up the ace and the last trump was drawn by leading to declarer's queen.

The jack of spades was led and passed around to East's queen. The latter returned a club, which South ruffed with his remaining trump, the six of hearts. He now ran the diamond suit, discarding two clubs from the dummy, but then he had to let East in with the ace of spades and the latter cashed a high club for the setting trick. South waited too long to begin development of the spade suit. West's trump lead prevents him from obtaining more than one club ruff in his hand, and an immediate inventory of his tricks reveal that he has only nine available—three hearts, four diamonds, and the ace of clubs, and a club ruff. The 10th trick, therefore, must come from the spade suit, and there is no time to be lost.

If South leads the jack of spades at trick two, East is in with the queen and whether he returns a trump or a club, declarer continues with the king of spades to dislodge the ace. Now South is in position to draw trump and cash out his high cards including the ten of spades, which scores the fulfilling trick.

DEAR ABBY

Just Be Patient

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. I hate to be hugged and kissed by my relatives. If I tell them to quit they might think I am a hateful child. My Uncle Joe has rough whiskers and my Aunt Alice sits with her arm around me, which is very uncomfortable. How can I tell them in a nice way to stop?

SQUASHED: There is no "nice" way to tell people who have an honest affection for you to stop showing it. (Besides, aunts and uncles would not remember anyway.) We have all had Aunt Alice and Uncle Joe in our pasts, and have survived. And so will you, honey. So be patient and kind. (And escape at the earliest moment.)

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his fiancée recently broke their engagement. The girl not only returned the ring, but she piled into a box all the gifts our son had given her during their courtship and left it on our porch. Everything was worn out, battered, and beat up. An old pair of beach clogs, with matching grass hat and tote bag (pretty when new, but now rummage), several stuffed animals, his picture, badly abused, some used books, half a bottle of cologne, etc.

But she kept a sterling silver bud vase which had been in my family for years—a genuine antique, which meant a lot to me.

Will you please spell out WHAT a girl should keep and what she should return, should the engagement be broken. What do you think of this girl?

HIS MOTHER: All items based on the engagement should be returned. This includes gifts intended for use by the couple after their marriage as well as all heirlooms. To return used and useless gifts shows contempt and poor taste. Your son was lucky he didn't get the girl.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a fellow who says he loves me very much. He knows I will not go all the way because we have fought over this several times. I told him I wasn't going to change my mind, but he still tries to break down my resistance.

Abby, I really like him, but if he continues to act the way he has been, I don't know what I'll do. How can I get around this without losing him?

BATTLING: Let's get one thing straight. A fellow who loves a girl does not encourage her to do something that is immoral. If you lose him, you'll be lucky. Hold out for orange blossoms, honey. He's offering you poison ivy.
