Besieged Marines Face Another Day

Weary after third night of fighting North Vietnamese troops, U.S. Marines crawl from foxholes as first rays of sun light their hill-top position near the demilitarized zone last week. Helicopter in background was shot down when it came in to resupply the unit. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Battling U. S. Marines Aided By Jet Bombers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers made their third raid of the week on North Viet Nam Saturday in support of American Marines battling to drive infiltrated Hanoi regulars from the border province of Quang Tri.

Cruising high out of range of enemy guns, the eight-jet bombers from Guam dumped tons of explosives on Communist truck parks, storage depots and infiltration trails a few miles north of the old demilitarized zone bestriding the frontier.

Smaller warplanes struck at seven enemy storage areas within the zone, which lately has drawn more attention than the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos as a funnel for Communist reinforcements and supplies.

PATROLS PROBE
Action dwindled for the Marines. Patrols probing along the southern edge of the zone established no significant contact.

South Korea's Tiger Division announced its troops killed 41 Viet Cong and captured five in a drive launched Friday at Phu Cat Mountain, 370 miles northeast of Saigon. A spokesman said Korean casualties were light.

This drive is one phase of separate but coordinated operations being conducted in the central coastal area by American, South Vietnamese and Korean battalions.

ARMS SEIZED
Across country in Tay Ninh Province on the Cambodian frontier, a battalion of the S. 198th Light Infantry Brigade was in the 10th day of a field campaign that has stirred only light enemy contact.

The operation, first by men of the brigade since they arrived in Viet Nam Aug. 14, has accounted for five Viet Cong killed. The troops said they seized five weapons and quantities of rice, documents and equipment.

The U.S. command disclosed reports of plane losses over North Viet Nam have been incomplete. It said that, as of Friday, they totalled 385. The unofficial count, based on spokesmen's announcements, has been 371 with the destruction Thursday of a U.S. Navy Skyraider.

SHOT DOWN
Planes shot down in South Viet Nam were reported to total 123. This excludes parked aircraft lost through enemy attacks and those wrecked by mechanical failure.

Statistics of war included an airlift record for U.S. Air Force cargo planes in Viet Nam. Col. Charles W. Howe, commander of the 315 Air Division, announced they carried 70,767 tons — including 149,921 passengers — in August. The previous high was 66,699 last May.

The U.S. Agency for International Development presented 14 patrol boats to South Viet Nam's customs service. The vessels will augment the watch that warcraft maintain on coastal and river traffic.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Perhaps one of the most appreciated but less sensational bit of news for the past week was the return of sunshine. This sort of weather for the next few weeks would work wonders. Within a few days, the grain harvest should be resumed. Meanwhile, ranchers are seeing grasses they didn't know existed, and many hillsides are beginning to bloom with flowers like springtime. In town, fall flowers are coming on, and pyracantha were never so heavily laden with gold and red berries. Foliage is almost obscured.

Two local people were honored in state gatherings last week. Mrs. Jack (Kate) Irons was elected committee woman for the 29th Senatorial District at the State Democratic Convention in its Austin session. She becomes the first committee woman from Big Spring in about a decade. Mrs. Nora Binder and Mrs. Norman Read are others who have held this post. At Fort Worth, members of the Texas Cemeteries Association chose O. G. (Orville) Shapland to be president of that organization for the next year.

Bank call figures showed hefty gains, but without throing on cold water, it is only fair to say that the call date (Sept. 20) caught one of the banks with an unusually large deposit. Several times, however, calls had caught us on abnormally low days. Deposits of $43,803,193 were up by 8.23 per cent. Loans rose but slightly to $23,866,318, but this was a new all-time high. Total resources hit $48,388,668, pressing close to that $50 million mark.

Sports fans found nothing more delightful than the transformation of the Big Spring Steers. Downgraded in many quarters, the Steers showed what determination will do. They used a grind and guts formula to literally whip the Snyder Tigers, 34-0, in a remarkable demonstration of what second effort will do for blockers and runners. If they develop just a little more quickness, they'll be salty.

Texas Teen Charged With Three Murders

Student Admits Wild Shootings

FORT WORTH (AP)—Authorities filed murder charges Saturday against a high school senior in connection with the bizarre, apparently unmotivated shooting deaths of three persons.

The charges, lodged in the court of the Justice of the Peace Jim Boorman, named Melvin Stewart Pittman, who was 19 years old Saturday. He was charged with three counts of murder and held without bond. He related the deaths to officers and newsmen.

Pittman was picked up Friday in a stolen car after a high-speed chase, and then told about the killings.

Following his directions, officers found the bodies southeast of here near Lake Arlington.

DON'T KNOW
The tall, slender youth was quoted by investigators as saying, "I don't know why I did it."

The dead were Victor Laird and his wife, both 48, who disappeared Sept. 1, and Kenneth E. Jones, 35, missing since Thursday.

A search for the Lairds began after their car was discovered close to the lake Sept. 7. Relatives said the couple had planned a fishing trip to the Gulf Coast and there was no concern for their safety until the car turned up.

STOLEN
Police Lt. J. W. Tindall said Pittman told of shooting Jones while the victim was fishing at the lake Thursday. The youth gave no motive, Tindall said, beyond admitting he took $3 or $4 from Jones' pockets.

He was held without immediate charge.

Officers arrested Pittman after a chase at up to 100 miles per hour on the Fort Worth outskirts Friday morning. They said he was driving a sports car licensed by Jones, Fort Worth branch manager for a Houston investments firm.

SHOT IN NECK
Tindall related these details: The sandy-haired prisoner at first claimed he borrowed the car from a friend whose name he couldn't remember but was reluctant to undergo a lie detector test.

He told of buying a .303 caliber rifle for $30 at a pawn shop and going to the lake. He spotted the Lairds and killed them with shots fired from about 75 yards.

Nearly three weeks later, Jones stopped to chat while the youth was fishing. A shot in the neck dropped him as the victim was walking away.

Officers said young Pittman is a senior at Fort Worth Tech High School.

Mercy Train May Not Roll Across Border

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A railroad official said Saturday a 10-car mercy train with foodstuffs and farm equipment for a small Indian village in northern Mexico would be stuck in El Paso over the weekend.

The train is en route from Lafayette, La., to a village south of Chihuahua City, Mexico.

Tom Foster, general yardmaster for Southern Pacific Railroad, said a permit allowing the train to enter Mexico would be required before any further action can be taken.

VERY POOR
The Mexican government said permission to deliver the goods to their country would be an admission the country is unable to care for its own people.

Census figures show about 30,000 Tarahumara Indians in the rugged Sierra Madra Mountain country in Chihuahua state and neighboring Sinaloa.

Even by Mexican Indian standards, they are almost hopelessly poor. Corn is their main source of food, drink and income and the corn crop in Chihuahua has been reported very poor.

Southern Pacific is handling the train shipment of 25 tons without charge.

DONATED
He said he believed the authorization would have to come from Mexico City.

A spokesman for the Treasury Ministry said Friday the train "will not be permitted to enter Mexico."

The trainload of food and implements were donated by Louisiana residents after a Roman Catholic priest of the Jesuit Order said at least 200 Tarahumara Indians were dying of hunger daily. The Rev. Luis Verplancken said many of them were children.

Mexican officials have denied that the Indians are in such dire straits.

LBJ To Push Peace Quest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, rebuffed by Moscow on the administration's latest Viet Nam peace overtures, said Saturday he will "continue the search for peace on every front, whatever obstacles we may confront."

Johnson seized upon the fifth anniversary of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency to issue a statement pledging the peace quest will be pushed, "however long the road may be."

Johnson, through press spokesman George Christian, also disclosed that more governors representing both political parties will be invited to the White House late next week to discuss one major problem attributed to the Viet Nam war — economic dislocation caused by mounting war spending.

The President, who met with seven governors Friday before flying to Texas for a weekend visit to his ranch home, plans to invite all governors to a series of conferences.

In these meetings, Johnson is urging spending restraint at state and local levels to lessen inflationary pressures.

Peking To Enter Battle?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says he believes Red China is convinced the United States wants war and he thinks Peking will react to an expansion of the Viet Nam fighting by entering the conflict.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he has failed to convince President Johnson and other administration officials that there is grave danger of such a development.

"I get awfully discouraged about the trend events are taking in Viet Nam," he said. "If there is further escalation of the war I am afraid we may be in for it."

Downcast by the rejection by Moscow and Hanoi of the latest U.S. proposals for peace talks, Fulbright made it clear he feels that an expansion of the fighting is almost certain after the November elections.

"Nobody knows what the Chinese will do," he said, "but I'm convinced their leaders believe the President is trying to get them involved so that we can destroy their nuclear installations."

Johnson Helped By Draggy Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slow congressional pace early this year is paying political dividends for the Johnson administration as much key legislation becomes law in the weeks leading up to the Nov. 8 election.

Politicians generally agree that voters are more likely to remember a popular bill that is signed into law amid considerable fanfare in October than one that was signed back in February.

Most of the major "Great Society" bills of this year with potent political appeal in the cities, to labor unions and among minority groups have either won congressional approval in the last month or are likely to attain it before Congress goes home.

Johnson has just signed two key measures: a minimum-wage bill that raises the federal level to $1.40 next February and

Moptop Battle Raging

DALLAS (AP) — The battle between Dallas school authorities and three teenage musicians over when long hair is too long resumes Monday in federal court.

U. S. Dist. Judge W. M. Taylor Jr. heard testimony Thursday and Friday in a suit brought by the boys after they were refused admittance to school because of their long locks.

The students—Phillip Farrell, 17; Stephen Webb, 18; and Paul Jarvis, 17—play in a combo called Sounds Unlimited. They say the long hair, which approaches collar length, is necessary for their work.

FULL HEAD
Among the witnesses during the first two days of hearings were other boys with longer hair who said they are being permitted to attend school.

Jim Burkle, owner of a clothing store which specializes in "mod" clothes for teenagers, testified that "a full head of hair balances the look."

"It's part of a new revolution in men's clothes," he said.

Other witnesses included Dr. W. T. White, superintendent of Dallas schools, and Lee McShan, president of the school board of trustees. Both said they support the decision not to allow the boys in school unless they get a haircut.

MORALE
Judge Taylor issued a temporary restraining order last week ordering school officials to admit the three to classes at Samuel High School pending the outcome of a suit against the administration.

The boys' lawyers say their civil rights are being violated by their being kept out of school. They seek permanent action against the school system.

W. S. Lanham, principal at Samuel, said he denied the boys admission because they would not get their hair "trimmed up a bit."

Colored Clouds Responsible? Thousands Spot Bright Objects In Sky

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — A space experiment wafted a huge multicolored cloud hundreds of miles across the sky Saturday and was followed by reported sightings of a brilliant unidentified object in the sky in the East and Midwest.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration experiment ejected a barium and copper oxide payload from a four-stage rocket at its test range on the Atlantic Ocean here, about 120 miles southeast of Washington.

The time was 5:13 a.m., and the clouds remained visible at heights of 310 and 370 miles above the earth for about 45 minutes.

A similar launching is scheduled for Sunday morning, at 5:51. It should remain visible for 30 to 60 minutes.

STRANGE THINGS
Shortly after Saturday's launching, thousands of persons sighting brilliant objects or light in the sky in Virginia, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Southern Wisconsin.

A NASA spokesman in Washington said the cloud probably was responsible.

"A sunrise reflection against the cloud could do strange things," he said.

Illuminated by the sun, the clouds at first appeared light green with a red tinge. Then they turned blue, forming elongated patterns. The experiment is designed to measure the electric fields and wind motion in the upper atmosphere.

FACE VALUE
The current tests, in which the West German Ministry of Scientific Research is cooperating, were originally scheduled in early September but postponed repeatedly because of unfavorable weather.

Taken at face value, however, not all the reported sightings could be explained by the colored clouds.

There was one report of three mysterious objects in suburban Richmond, Va., on Friday night, hours before the Wallops Island test. There were several calls to police, and Patrolman John G. Pace, sent to check into them, said he saw three objects whose light persisted about half an hour.

STARTED TO LAND
An Anderson, Ind., college security officer making his rounds reported seeing a mysterious round blue object which, he said started to land on the school's football field.

The watchman, Henry Fox, said he first spotted what looked like a star in the eastern sky and moving toward the city. After about 15 minutes, Fox said, the blue started to fade and "left a long-slender object like a shaft of light sticking up into the air—it was very tall."

Thousands Spot Bright Objects In Sky

This incident did not lead to a postponement of Saturday afternoon's football game at the field between Anderson and Hanover Ind. College.

MIRROR
Many of those who reported seeing a brilliant object in the sky were policemen and deputy sheriffs on patrol. Four airline pilots told the O'Hare International Airport control tower at Chicago they sighted a brilliant light which they estimated at 4,000 feet some 100 miles east-northeast of the city.

A Weather Bureau meteorologist at Chicago said the sky was exceptionally clear during the early morning and suggested that visual atmospheric tricks might be at play, aided by a mirror effect of Lake Michigan.

PAUL REYNAUD

LaLonde Lost French Friend

When Paul Reynaud, former prime minister of France, died last week, Ralph LaLonde, Big Spring, felt he had lost a personal friend. LaLonde had met Mr. Reynaud in El Paso in 1950 when he worked in that city. Reynaud had come there on a speaking engagement, and LaLonde, of French ancestry, made his acquaintance. Mr. and Mrs. Reynaud, who had no children at the time, took a liking to the LaLondes and their children, Mignonette, 12, Yvette Chere, and Honoree Celeste. After the Reynauds returned to France, they exchanged letters frequently with the LaLondes, and when Mignonette graduated from the University of Oregon several years later, the chancellor halted proceedings while he read a cablegram of congratulations from M. Reynaud to her. Reynaud was the wartime premier of France and was a captive of the Germans for five years. Twice he was scheduled for execution, he told LaLonde, once at the order of his arch political rival Pierre Laval, the collaborator with the Nazis. For some reason, the Germans never followed through. Reynaud said he didn't take the easy out of going to North Africa "because no French government has ever deserted its people." At first a booster of De Gaulle, he later parted company with him. Over the years Reynaud kept up his correspondence with LaLonde.

CRMWD Gets Its Money

The Colorado River Municipal Water District now has $29,850,750 in the bank and high hopes of some sharp bids on its lake project at Robert Lee. Proceeds from the sale of the district's $30,000,000 revenue bond issue were turned over to CRMWD Thursday noon, and the First National Bank of Fort Worth, trustee, promptly invested the funds for the district. The district should realize about 4 1/2 per cent over the 4.9 per cent which the district pays on the issue.

O. H. Ivie, general manager for CRMWD, closed out the transaction in New York, and funds were transferred promptly by Morgan Guaranty to the Fort Worth bank, which had a schedule of reinvestment worked up by Charles Perry, Odessa, district president, and John Beck, the bank's trustee.

Sterling Has 253 Enrolled

STERLING CITY (SC)—Sterling County began its school year with a total enrollment of 66 in high school, and 187 in grade school. The school serves a county that is 914 square miles of predominately ranch country.

For reasons peculiar to the economy and location of the county, some advantages enjoyed by larger schools are not offered. These include band, organized school music, art classes, and selection of foreign languages. Nevertheless, students have the advantage of smaller classes, more individual teacher-student attention, and the friendliness expressed in small town schools.

Within the last 20 years, a progressively larger number of graduates go on to further education. Most all accredited Texas colleges, and several out of state universities have at one time or another had Sterling County school graduates enrolled.

Presently studying in several Texas colleges, and four out-of-state institutions, are 50 students from Sterling City, representing graduating classes back to 1960.

Faculty members in both the high school and grade school have for the most part master degree credentials in specific educational subjects; or are working on higher degrees through extension courses and summer study.

Recent participation in one act play competitions and Interscholastic League have accumulated additional awards for the Sterling City students. FFA and FHA clubs are active, and every year produce a good to outstanding individual and collective achievement record.

Administrators O. T. Jones, superintendent James Thompson, high school principal, and J. R. Dillard, grade school principal, work with a board of trustees. Parent-Teacher-Association and Alumni Association are active.

Transportation to and from school is exclusively by private car. No school bus has ever run routes in this county. The longest distance traveled this year will be 60 miles round trip.

Round trip compensations to car owners is five cents per mile for the first passenger, three cents for second passenger and two cents for others.

Courtesy Check Is Big Surprise

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay is making a telephone check on courtesy among New York City employees. He wasn't happy with the results Friday.

Dialing the Sanitation Department, Lindsay heard a voice say: "Sanitation!"

"That's no way to answer the telephone," Lindsay replied. "You should say 'Sanitation Department, may I help you?'"

Then he added: "This is the mayor."

The startled employe handed the phone to a superior, whose manner, Lindsay said, didn't satisfy him either.

The employe who answered the phone later told a reporter: "I thought at first, maybe it was a nut."

Masonic Lodges To Have Meet

Scurry Lodge 706 of Snyder will be honored during a workshop to be held at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 5, in the Masonic Hall in Dunn. Scurry Lodge will receive an honor roll award, which is given by the Grand Lodge of Texas in recognition of outstanding attendance during the spring series of Masonic workshop programs. Colorado City, Ira, Hermleigh, Lorraine and Dunn Lodges are invited.

Judge To Study Mansfield Case

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — A Superior Court judge has asked for more time to study a custody case involving the 11-month-old son of actress Jayne Mansfield.

She contends the boy was taken illegally from her by her former husband, Matt Cimber, last July. Judge William Murray continued the hearing until Oct. 6.

Miss Mansfield, wearing a white mini-skirt and white boots, had flown to Santa Ana from Las Vegas, Nev., where she is appearing in a night club.

Sterling Cancer Unit Given Honor Award

STERLING CITY (SC) — Encouraged by the "Better than Best" award for 1966 Cancer Drive efforts, a group of Sterling County citizens met Sept. 19, to plan the 1967 Crusade.

Dan Glass, as newly appointed president, replaced Earl Seago who has moved. Mrs. Worth Allen was elected vice president and Mrs. Ross Foster, secretary.

Field representative Riley Sloan presented an American Cancer Society authorization certificate and also the "Better than Best" award for the unit's efforts in collecting $937.83 in the 1966 drive.

Delgate Ross Foster will attend the division meeting in Houston Oct. 5-6. The next meeting for this unit will be held Nov. 21.

Others at the meeting were Mrs. Tom Ashbill, Mrs. Arthur Barlemann, Mrs. Henry Bauer, the Rev. Andy Daniels, Jack Douthit, H. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. Bill Humble, Roland Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Nichols and Dr. William J. Swann.

They tell of the man who loved to play an unusual cello. His instrument was different from the ordinary because it had only one string. Whenever he had a few spare moments he could be found in the basement of his home playing his cello. He always sat on a low stool and held the neck of the instrument in his left hand while he drew the bow back and forth across that single string. He kept a finger in one certain spot on the string so he could bring forth the very same sound. Back and forth he moved the bow, hour after hour, always producing the same monotonous tone.

For many years his poor wife had endured the unpleasant sound of his cello, but the time came when she could stand it no longer. She walked down the steps to the basement and back into the little room where her husband was sitting with his cello. When he saw her approaching, he stopped playing. She came near to him and placed her hand on his shoulder. "John," she said, "I have heard many people play the cello but they always have four strings on their instrument and they move their fingers different locations on the strings so they can get a variety of tones as they draw the bow. Why can't you play as others do?"

For a few moments John sat in silence with his head bowed low. Then he looked into the weary but gentle eyes of his patient wife and said, "You see, my dear, they are looking for the place; I have found it."

A multitude of people in this world go through the days, months and years looking for their place in life, but many never seem to find it. This happens because they don't know what or where their place is. They haven't decided where they want to be or what they want to do.

One of the pre-requisites for a happy and well-balanced life is to find our place in this world. If we do it in our early years, so much the better; but if we have put it off, we can still do it. We can take the step now before further time is allowed to pass.

What we choose is not necessarily the important thing. Some want to be merchants; others choose to be doctors, nurses, lawyers and engineers. There are those who prefer to till the soil and help to produce the food supply for the world. Some want to be salesmen; some teachers. Many women choose the worthy occupation of staying in the home to care for the family.

The important thing is that we spend our life doing what we like to do. The person who truly enjoys his occupation is usually happy whether his station be humble or great. In contrast, those who go about their daily tasks because they feel they are forced to, because they feel there is no other way, will probably find life to be a drudgery and consequently miss the real pleasure of living.

Each of us has the power to choose the kind of life he wants. As individuals, we can bring that desire into reality if it lies within the realm of reason, and if we want it badly enough to work and plan for it. For then we will be willing to do whatever becomes necessary to prepare ourselves to achieve that which we desire.

Fifth Woman Becomes Ambassador For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty years ago a blue-eyed blonde — whose name she used it gave little clue to her sex — was ordered to postwar London, to head a section of the United Nations relief program.

"Before going, I wanted to make sure they had my data and were fully advised. I was assured they were. Sex didn't rear its ugly head."

But when she arrived — in her words — "They were absolutely astonished to find me a girl. Noses were quite out of joint."

That girl — still attractive, still capable of jolting males — is Carol Laise — pronounced lace — new U.S. ambassador to Nepal, the fifth woman now serving with ambassadorial rank.

Because Carol is frequently a man's name in Europe — and responsible for that mixup 20 years ago — Miss Laise's official State Department name is Caroline, the name given her at birth but seldom used since then.

She is now in her late 40s, a silver-blond with gray-blue eyes and a hint of makeup.

Women ambassadors fit no mold. Of the five now in service, three are married and their husbands accompany them. Like Miss Laise, one other — Margaret Joy Tibbets, ambassador to Norway — is a Foreign Service officer and single.

Other women are Katherine Elkus White, ambassador to Denmark; Patricia Roberts Harris, a Negro ambassador to Luxembourg; and Eugene Anderson, ambassador to the United Nations.

"The administration," President Johnson noted, "is not running a stag party."

Carol Laise happily agrees. "It's quite natural in human situations for persons to have stereotypes about who can do certain things and what's required to do certain jobs," she says. "People tend to reach out always for those they know have proved successful, rather than shifting to someone else."

"They don't automatically think a woman can do the job. But if she proves she can, it operates on an individual basis."

As ambassador, she becomes this country's chief representation in Nepal. It's her responsibility to explain and become the extension of American policy overseas.

Nepal is a mountain country the size of Arkansas, nestled in the Himalayas, with 10 million people. It borders Red China and India. Nearly half a million people live in the capital, Katmandu.

The past year Miss Laise was director of the State Department Office on South Asia Affairs and held major responsibility for U.S. policies in five countries: India, Pakistan, Nepal, Afghanistan and Ceylon.

"Her major problem? The same as with most women. 'Clothes!' she laughs, amused this should be an ambassador's problem. "I need mostly summer clothes. It's summer there eight months a year. And all the sales have taken place. I don't have nearly enough."

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Winnsboro Has Cavalcade Of Colors During Autumn

By ED SYERS

Recently OBT scenic drivers asked best East Texas woodland routes to see our fall forests splashed scarlet and gold. Here's a vote for Winnsboro country, northeast; also authoritative word that our autumn spectaculars are near world-rarities.

From 'Autuma Trails,' Fort Worth's garden-clubbing Mrs. J. D. Wolesey extracts an article by Texas naturalist Donald H. Wills of Richardson and Winnsboro:

"This small area in East Texas is unique in that it has all the color variations of the Missouri Ozarks, the Adirondacks, White Mountains, Smokies and Blue Ridge Mountains.

"Most Americans take for granted nature's autumn display, and few realize how lucky they are. The phenomenon is actually limited to only a few regions of the world (temperate, non-evergreen forests of: the British Isles and Western Europe, Eastern China and parts of Japan; the eastern and central part of North America.

"In all the Southern Hemisphere, only a small part of southern Chile and small areas of New Zealand and Tasmania have autumn coloration; and of all areas, eastern U.S. (captioned here) has the most spectacular display of all three colors—gold, yellow, red.

CAVALCADE OF COLOR
"In the fall in this area, sumac and black gums are first to show scarlet and purple; next the yellow and gold of hickory, pecan, white oak and elm; then the red of dogwood, maple, sweet gum and Spanish oak. Splashes of green from pine, water and willow oaks, and the brown of black-jack and post oaks complete the range.

"What causes these colors that appear only in the fall? Four pigments found in the leaves; and the temperature and moisture changes that affect them are the secret."

Predominant chlorophyll yields summer's green, observes Naturalist Wills. Fall's cooling nights touch yellow-orange carotenoids. A third pigment (anthocyanins) is synthesized to produce scarlets and purples; and the rusty browns come from the oak's tannin.

Why this area? Light intensity, air and soil temperatures and moisture are in unusual balance and awake the colors gradually, says the Texas naturalist.

Thus fall's beautiful blaze . . . soon aburst. Want to look round Winnsboro?

ANOTHER GRANDDAD
Fort Worth's Mrs. J. A. McNutt: "I read your article on a reader's search for his great grandfather's grave and the account of the Dove Creek Battle. I am now almost positive that my grandfather James Owen Stewart was killed in the same battle. I had tried for years to get information where his death occurred.

"As I understood, he was buried at a 'Dove Creek' between two trees. A History of Hood County mentions his death in 1865 (year of battle). This fits the description of the battle as we were told when young. I would so much like to (know more).

Farmers Strongly Favor An End To Summer Rains

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Will the coming of the fall season break the prolonged rain period? That's a question on which Texas farmers would like to get a strong "yes." The rains, said John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, took their toll of unharvested crops, delaying vital field work and holding up the maturity of crops, especially in the High Plains.

But, he added, pastures and ranges continue to improve; stock tanks are full of water and livestock are in good to excellent condition with fall and early winter grazing prospects the best in many years. Everyone, he said, would like to see a prolonged period of hot, dry weather.

Panhandle moisture is adequate and about 75 per cent of the area's wheat has been planted. Onions and carrots are being harvested in Hartley County and pinto beans in Sherman County when conditions are favorable. Ranges are making good recovery from the long dry period.

South Plains farmers are much concerned about the continuing rains which curtailed all harvesting and the maturity of crops. A large per cent of the grain sorghum is ready for harvesting but it is a catch as catch can proposition. Cotton needs hot, dry weather to push it to maturity and the low temperatures of the week aren't helping.

Similar conditions exist in the Rolling Plains district where rains have been heavy. Some counties reported bottom bolls on cotton were rotting and boll weevil and bollworm damage was increasing. Weeds are becoming a problem. Fields are just too wet to work but ranges are very good.

North Central Texas has fully adequate to surplus moisture and cotton is suffering. Farmers are having trouble defoliating cotton.

Pastures in Northeast Texas are the best in over a decade but crops are hurting. Excessive moisture is damaging cotton, sweet potatoes and grain sorghum and delaying haying operations. Soybeans are being damaged by army worms and dairy farmers in Hopkins County need labor.

Range conditions are the best in 30 years, calves and lambs are heavy and livestock are in excellent condition in the far West. But cotton and improving range forage need hot weather. First bales have been ginned in all counties but cotton insects are increasing. Large acreages of wheat are being planted in Pecos and Reeves counties, sheep shearing is continuing and farm labor is scarce.

Cotton, grain sorghum, small grain and peanut producing counties in West Central Texas need open weather for harvesting, land preparation and planting. Cotton seeds are increasing and some damage to small grains in Gillespie County was reported. Cotton harvesting is continuing as weather permits and in Jackson County an estimated 87 per cent of the crop has been harvested but quality has been very low. Hay baling reported. The first pecans have been harvested in San Saba County but prospects for the district point to a very light crop. Grass and winter weeds are abundant on ranges and livestock and deer are in excellent condition. Labor is short for most operations.

Boggy fields in Central Texas stopped the cotton harvest and all other field work and is lowering cotton grades. Peanut growers still feel that crop prospects are good but would like some good weather. Hill County cotton producers expect the best yields since 1960 but pecans continue to shed from scab and shuckworm damage.

Showers continued to add to the fully adequate to surplus moisture situation in East Texas where hay losses from wet weather are being reported. Insects continue to damage pecan prospects.

Moisture is adequate and pastures and ranges in South Central Texas generally are in excellent condition. The cotton and peanut harvests have been slowed by the rains.

Adequate to surplus is the moisture situation in South Central Texas.

Free Range Vote Is Set

GARDEN CITY —Glasscock County landowners who are qualified electors will decide Nov. 8 if their county is to have a law banning free run of livestock on roads and highways.

A petition signed by more than 50 property owners asking the county commissioners call such an election on Nov. 8 was presented recently to the commissioners court. The county judge, in accordance with the requirements of law, has signed a call for the election.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, who acts as county attorney for Glasscock County, is preparing the proper notices and forms.

About three years ago, Glasscock County had a vote on this same question, and voters turned the plan down at that time.

Glasscock County is one of the few Texas counties which continues under the free range law. This makes it legal for livestock to run at large.

The voters who can take part in this election, according to Burns, are property owners who are qualified electors. A voter, otherwise qualified as an elector but not owner of real estate, cannot vote, Burns said.

"Please try to be worth it."

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Sept. 25, 1966 5-A is in full swing with shortages noted for Brazoria, Liberty and Orange counties. Some harvest labor is needed.

Scattered rains over South Texas have returned moisture generally to the adequate level. The cotton harvest is now complete in most counties and very near that stage in those still harvesting. Good weather generally favored the Valley harvest. Grain sorghum continues to make favorable progress and vegetable planting is continuing. The citrus harvest has started and the crop looks promising. Cotton stalk destruction is in full swing and labor is short in several counties.

Plane Crash Claims Five

RIGGINS, Idaho (AP) — The bodies of five men — including George Skakel Jr., brother of Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy — were taken Saturday from the wreckage of a plane which crashed in the central Idaho primitive area.

The five, members of a 20-man elk hunting party, also included Dean F. Markham of McLean, Va., a close friend of Sen. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The others killed were Louis Werner II, an investor and member of a prominent St. Louis family; Earl Ranit, president of the Dabar Haulage Co., of Bayonne, N.J., and the pilot, Donald Adams, of Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho.

Skakel, of Greenwich, Conn., was president of the Great Lakes Carbon Corp. of New York, which has holdings in southwest Idaho. Markham was in charge of Great Lakes' Washington office.

The five were killed late Friday when their plane, loaded with hunting gear, overshot an airstrip deep in the Salmon River gorge 40 miles east of Riggins, Idaho. Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton said the pilot apparently tried to make a climbing turn in a steep canyon.

Howling Mob Manhandles Diplomats

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — A howling mob crashed into the Portuguese Embassy Saturday, seized three diplomatic personnel, ransacked the building and burned it. Radio Kinshasa said the crowd of 200 were Angolan exiles.

The three Portuguese were manhandled by the mob but released. They were treated for injuries at a hospital and returned to their homes. The three-story embassy was left blackened by flames. Smashed furniture, dishes and books littered the floors. Papers, passports and photographs smoldered in the consular section. Two cars parked outside also were burned.

UNTOUCHED
The U.S. Embassy next door was untouched.

In Lisbon, the Portuguese Foreign Ministry announced it was sending a protest to the U.N. Security Council in New York.

The announcement said the Portuguese government will seek assurances from the Congo that Portuguese lives and property will be safeguarded. It added that Portugal will demand restitution for the damage to the embassy and injuries to its personnel.

PROTEST
Taken from the embassy by the mob were the charge d'affaires, Antonio Ressoano Garcia, first secretary, Carlos Milheirao, and Maria Helena Silva, a stenographer.

The Portuguese announcement said a vigorous protest was being sent also to the Congolese government. It charged that serious threats had been made recently against Portuguese living in the Congo and that Congolese police ignored acts of violence.

Rites Today For Franklin

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Charles E. Franklin, 97, retired office employee, died Friday night at Root Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

He was preceded in death by his wife in 1964. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. John Womack, Colorado City, Mrs. Kelly Watford, Midland, and Mrs. Grace Everett, Big Spring; two sons, J. C. Franklin, Midland, and Dr. V. E. Franklin, Socorro, N. M.; two sisters, Mrs. O. O. Shurtlett and Mrs. J. A. Loveless, both of Colorado City; also 11 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren, and 12 great-great-grandchildren.

FOURTH TERM
Also, in his convention keynote speech and in the Connally-inspired platform approved by delegates, Connally gave every indication of wanting to be Texas' key first term governor. A key issue of the 61-plank platform is constitutional revision, which most agree would take three years at the earliest.

The Wall Street Journal appeared the same day as the state convention with a long front page article favorable to Connally which recalled 1962 campaign talk that Connally was sent to Texas by Johnson, an old political buddy. The Journal story arrived at the conclusion that Connally has successfully "slowed Texas' drift toward becoming a northern style two-party state, with a liberal Democratic party and a conservative Republican party, and has preserved at least a while longer the firm control of the conservative Democrats."

TOKEN OPPOSITION
Connally faces only token Republican opposition in the November election and spent much of the party primaries backing former Texas Secretary of State Crawford Martin in a successful race for attorney general against the liberal Democrats' big hope, State Sen. Franklin

Connally Hits Peak In Political Power

AUSTIN (AP) — When President Johnson and Gov. John Connally rode off into the sunset Friday to look at the President's white-faced Herefords, you can bet the talk turned to Texas politics sooner or later.

The President may have congratulated the 49-year-old governor on reaching his highest peak of political power since resigning as U.S. Secretary of Navy four and a half years ago to return to home state politics.

Most other Texas Democrats are congratulating Connally for his swift, sure control of the state convention Tuesday that set up party leadership for the next two years — an important period just before the 1968 presidential campaign.

Also, in his convention keynote speech and in the Connally-inspired platform approved by delegates, Connally gave every indication of wanting to be Texas' key first term governor. A key issue of the 61-plank platform is constitutional revision, which most agree would take three years at the earliest.

TEXAN DRAWS LIFE TERM
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A jury which had reported itself deadlocked three times finally convicted Donald Jay Davis Saturday of killing a policeman and sentenced him to life in prison.

Davis, 22, of Abilene, apparently relieved that the jury had rejected a prosecution request for the death penalty, told the jurors: "Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, thank you very much."

Davis was convicted of murder with malice in the shooting death of officer Floyd DeLoach 39, who was killed in a Houston bowling alley parking lot June 30, 1965.

The 19-man, two-woman criminal district jury was in its third day of deliberations when it reached the verdict.

Draft Slices Enrollments

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Students continued to pour Texas colleges this fall, but the great swarms that once flocked into the ivy-covered halls appeared this year to be smaller because of the draft and tighter scholastic requirements.

It was the first year since the G.I.'s hit the campuses after World War II that there was even a hint that university and college enrollments might not skyrocket each year at an ever-increasing rate.

Even with a small hint of slackening of the rate of increase, some colleges such as Baylor set records. And most showed increases although not as great as in previous years.

EASY SCHOOLS
One college executive pinpointed at least 27 male students who would not return to that college because of its high scholastic standards. The executive said they sought schools with resulting higher grades would keep them out of the military draft.

This same educator said his school had more women applicants than it could house in campus facilities.

Another school official whose enrollment was less than expected said he believed — but could not fully prove — that some persons who normally would have entered college had volunteered for military duty while they still could pick their branch of the service.

DELIBERATE
Still another school with a drop in students said it was deliberate — to make better use of facilities available.

Again the great state schools led all the rest in enrollments and in increases, although many other schools gained equally on a percentage basis.

The reasons for state school increases are many, but, as any parent can tell you, the lower tuition at state schools is a major factor.

While the established schools were enrolling, new schools found long lines of registrants. One example is El Centro, the new Dallas college, housed in an old department store building, which drew 4,318 students this fall.

PACK LEADER
McLennan Community College, also in its first year, signed up almost 1,900, while nearby Connally Tech in its first year had about 250 students.

St. Edward's at Austin admitted women for the first time and saw enrollment increase from 721 last year to 850 this fall.

Howard County enrollment was down because of failure of Webb Air Force Base personnel to register in view of the uncertainties about Viet Nam, said President W. A. Hunt.

Still leading the pack in size is the University of Texas with more than 27,000 students. North Texas State set a record at nearly 14,000. Texas Tech signed up about 19,000. Texas A&M went over the 10,000 mark. The University of Houston has more than 21,000.

Arlington State, which has been booming since it became a four-year school, found some of the bloom gone this year with only a minor increase but still with 12,000 students.

THE WEEK

No. 1 DC Reed and No. 2-F Reed completed for 250 and 410 barrels daily.

Howard County had its 16th traffic fatality last week when the car driven by J. W. Dinwiddie Jr., Snyder, flipped half a mile west of Coleman store on SH 350 near Vincent. At the rate we have been going, our toll for the year could be 21 or 22 — possibly a new record — a Sterling County, two more Wolfcamp producers — Roden record which is painful and shameful.

Big Spring had a distinguished visitor last week when Rear Admiral Pierre Charbonnet Jr., commander of the Eighth Naval District, spent a couple of days here. The city also paid last respects to a native son, Rear Admiral John Quinn, USN Ret., whose last rites were held Wednesday. The admiral's mother once recalled how she had trouble getting him to bed in the wee hours because of his thirst for knowledge. He was that sort of man.

The United Fund cranked up the engine last week and got moving on two fronts. The Employees Division, particularly the payroll deduction section, began making the appeal for an hour's pay per month as a fair share for the average worker. The Big Gifts Division shoved off with a goal of trying to get most of the job done within a week.

Howard County Junior College's enrollment reached 974 at the cutoff time last Monday. This is down about five per cent from last autumn. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said this was due principally to uncertainty over military obligations in Viet Nam. Had Webb AFB registrations been up to normal, enrollments would have gained. In addition, several young men withdrew to enter military service.

Downtown Inc. is taking no chances with the weather. The formal opening date has been set back again, this time to Oct. 15, which should give the contractor and city a week to 10 days leeway.

Approval of the Head Start program at Kate Morrison was announced last week when the Office of Economic Opportunity posted a grant of $143,964 for operation of the nine-month program for about 200 pre-school youngsters.

The house-to-house canvass for Muscular Dystrophy brought in over $1,300 last week, and Saturday's tag day was to

New Stamp Commemorates Work Of Johnny Appleseed

By SAM BLACKBURN

A special commemorative postage stamp is being issued to honor John C. Chapman.

The way it works out, the name of the honored man does not appear on the stamp nor is there any reference on it to his real identity.

John C. Chapman, born about 1775, is known in American folklore as Johnny Appleseed and the 5-cent U.S. postage stamp which goes on sale here Sept. 26 pays tribute to his nickname rather than his real name.

ROAMED MIDWEST

Chapman, alias Appleseed, lived from about 1775 to 1847. He wandered at large over the middlewest of his time, and most of his life was spent roaming up and down the Ohio River valley. Evidence of his existence is still to be found in Indiana and Ohio.

He was a plant nurseryman, a herb doctor, a minor military hero and a religious enthusiast. A vagabond by nature, he roamed from settlement to settlement. He carried a big bag of apples with him and as he wandered about the country, he planted these seeds.

He cajoled the pioneers at whose homes he visited to plant fruit trees—principally apples—and provided them with both the seed and the know how of care.

The Encyclopedia comments "He strengthened the economy of rich farming areas in northern Ohio and Indiana."

DESIGN OF STAMP

The picture on the commemorative stamp in his honor does not fit the rough contemporary sketch of the man which an early day artist made. This drawing, regarded as probably the most like Johnny Appleseed, is in the Chicago Historic Society.

The drawing on the stamp shows a heavy set bearded individual, a spade over one shoulder and a sapling in his right hand. The stamp is dominated by a red apple before which Johnny stands. At the top in green is "Johnny Appleseed." Below is "5-cent United States Postage."

The stamp design is by Robert Bode of New York City.

Records show there are still apple trees in Indiana and Ohio which Appleseed either planted or which are the direct descendants of trees he set out.

Wild apple trees found in the woods are said to be other products of Chapman's insatiable campaign to spread the growth of fruit trees over the frontier.

Report Due Monday On UF Drive

No dollars and cents figures will be available until Monday on the first week of the United Fund campaign.

Clyde McMahon, chairman of the special gifts division, said that workers of his section, and of other sections, were planning to compile their figures early Monday to see where the drive stands in its first week of operation.

The UF volunteers are shooting for $139,877.51 this year.

The first week's campaign machinery began operating last Monday, when United Fund headquarters officially opened at 106 Permian Building.

The payroll deduction section of the employe division also began, as did the special gifts drive. The United Fund special slide presentation, a 15 minute program to acquaint employes and civic groups with the UF's purpose, began its showing across town.

At Webb AFB, Lt. Col. Julian B. Baird, UF project officer, selected eight men to head the drive within their divisions. The men are 1st Lt. Lawrence E. Becker, DCO; 1st Lt. Charles E. Anderson, AB Gp.; Capt. Douglas A. Beyer, 331st; Maj. Maurice J. Took, hospital; Warren A. Farrow, civilian personnel; 1st Lt. Carl J. Lund, FMS; Capt. James E. Swigart, OMS; and 1st Lt. Roland J. Whitlock, supply.

R. J. (Dick) Ream is chairman of this year's campaign. For further information on the UF program, contact UF headquarters at AM 3-7676.

Typhoon Ida Rams Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Ida, accompanied by powerful winds and heavy rain, raged into central Japan Sunday. Four policemen on duty were reported swept away by high tides within the first hours of the storm.

The typhoon hit the western part of Omasaki, about 114 miles west of Tokyo. The typhoon has center winds of 78 miles an hour with gusts up to 118 miles an hour. It ripped off roofs and knocked down billboards.

The typhoon, fourth storm to hit Japan this season, was accompanied by a tropical storm. Carrying the threat of landslides and floods, both storms headed northeastward up the heavily populated islands.

The tropical storm, Helen, hit the southern island of Kyushu with center winds of 56 miles an hour.

Ida, smashing inland at Omasaki, a Honshu Island cape, caused all trains in that area to be suspended and residents of low-lying areas to be removed.

Wind and rain lashed Tokyo and high tides were forecast.

2 Texas Schools Get U.S. Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allocation of funds to two Texas school districts which educate children of federal employes who live or work on tax-exempt property was announced Friday by the Office of Education.

The allocations included $11,515 for classroom wings for a junior high school in Waco, Tex., and $6,510 for a new roof and rewiring of electrical lines for a Graford, Tex., school.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Aviation Panel Asks Port Improvements

By JERRY MONSON

The aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce is presently at work on some long-range improvements for Howard County Airport that need to be finished in a hurry, according to the committee chairman, Connie Edwards.

Trans - Texas Airways first turbo-prop jet makes its debut at the airport next week, and when the jet service becomes a regular thing here, Howard County's runways will be outdated, Edwards said.

In sight for improvements are widening and lengthening the runways, airport beautification, a terminal for T-TA, and possibly some ramps and a T-hangar. The project now in the talking stage could cost nearly half a million dollars.

If you've any suggestions, contact Edwards or a member of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee.

The fourth annual Confederate Air Force "Operation Stampede" will be held Friday through Sunday, Oct. 21-23 (rain date Oct. 28-30) at Harlingen AFB, Harlingen. Several local pilots are expected to turn out for the fly-in and breakfast, a feature of which is the USAF Thunderbirds, aerial demonstration team. The CAF World War II combat aircraft will stage air shows all three days.

Other activities include a parade and dance Saturday, US Navy and USAF jet flybys all three days, trade exhibits, jet statistic displays and a carnival.

The Signal Mountain Soaring Society will meet Oct. 10, but a program and meeting place has not yet been decided on, according to Dr. F. W. Lurting, club president. Some training flights were expected to take place this weekend, but most pilots stayed down last week because of the rains.

Big Spring Aircraft had a host of fliers up, among them Al Hopsan, A. J. McNaillen and Larry Seals, students of Charlie George, in the Cherokee 140; and Roy Granbery, Ted Pierson, Don Loyd, Gene McKiska, and Rodney Hallmark, all in the 140.

Charles Wash was on a cross-country flight in the 140.

In the 180 were Elbert Long, who took a cross-country, and Robert Lebkowsky, Frank Sabato was up in the Colt, and Ellis Dyer was up with George in the Howard County Flying Club's Cherokee.

Joe Ewing, former Big Spring resident, now of Del Rio, received his private license from George last week.

The Comanche is in the radio shop for repairs and the addition of equipment.

Some 25 transient pilots flew in last week, with 15 of them gassing up.

Up in the Cessnas of Big Spring Flying Club were Wayne Howard and Clayton Bettle.

urday on a cross-country trip to Brzil in one of Howard County Flying Club's Cherokees. Also on cross-countries were Mrs. Joyce Green and Ellis Dyer. Others up included Charles Wash, Keith Swim, R. Caudill, Sam Dennis and Bob Wash.

Although bad weather was a big factor in flying, Webb Aero Club members managed to log some flying time between showers.

Up in the Cessna 150 were Wes Pearce, Bob Burke, Earl Powell, Murray Cook, Lee Turner, John Dinges, Tom Thomas, Gale Andrews, Phil Brown, Dick Sitarz and Bob Winder.

In the Cessna 172 were Phil Brown, Sitarz, Bob Caffey, Pearce and Bob Brown.

Four Texas Men Face Arms Theft

AUSTIN (AP)—Four Taylor, Tex., men were charged with burglary in Austin Friday after two Texas Rangers and a constable confiscated a number of weapons and household goods.

Charged and released on $1,000 bond by Justice of the Peace Bob Kuhn were Dale Hall, 24, Billie Smith, 22, Rudy Kovar, 19, and David Pekar.

Officers said the goods, thought stolen in the Austin area, included 40 rifles, shotguns and pistols, five television sets, outboard motors, typewriters, cameras and tools.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Twenty-five Rhode Island high school pupils will swap places with a like number of Scottish pupils next year.

The three-week exchange next May will be sponsored by the Providence branch of the English-Speaking Union.

Sunshine Brightens Area's Cotton, Grain Prospects

Most of last week was just what the farmers wanted.

They revelled in the bright sunshine and the temperatures which climbed to above 80 degrees for the first time in nearly two weeks.

Their cotton fields, lushly green, loaded with fat cotton bolls and still speckled with white blossoms, seemed to grow almost as one watched.

J. E. Fickling Jr., who farms six miles north, said that he has cotton now nearly five feet tall in sandy fields near his house.

He, like many other farmers, is elated.

"Last year," he said, "the field made about three-quarter bale to the acre. And that was doggone good. This year, if hail or some other disaster does not hit, I believe that same field will make nearly two times that much per acre."

With retreat of the rains, the smiles on the farmers' faces have grown broader. Many who had grain crops ready or nearly ready for harvest seem to believe that no great damage was done by the wet spell. Those who have late grain feel that the rains will do more good than harm. Those where the feed was ready for the combine do not think the damage they have suffered, if any, will be material.

Let the rest of September and October continue warm and clear and the agricultural picture in the most glowing colors in more than a decade.

Ranchers, of course, are delighted with the situation. Pastures are as lushly green as they were in early spring. Tanks are well supplied with water.

One problem is beginning to develop for the farmers. Tall cotton such as can be found in scores of fields in the county is something new. Strippers are not built to deal with such towering plants.

What will be the situation when the time comes to harvest the crop? One or two types of strippers are built to deal with tall cotton; unfortunately not too many of these are available in this county.

Football Player Shot After Game

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP)—Police continued an investigation Saturday of the shooting of a 16-year-old Corsicana high school football player following a game with Hamilton Park High School of Dallas Friday night.

The youth, Wilbur Collins, who attended the predominantly Negro Jackson High School, was taken to a hospital after the incident. He was reported in good condition today.

Police said the shot which hit Collins came from a Hamilton Park bus. The bus was stopped after it left Corsicana to return to Dallas, but no arrests were made.

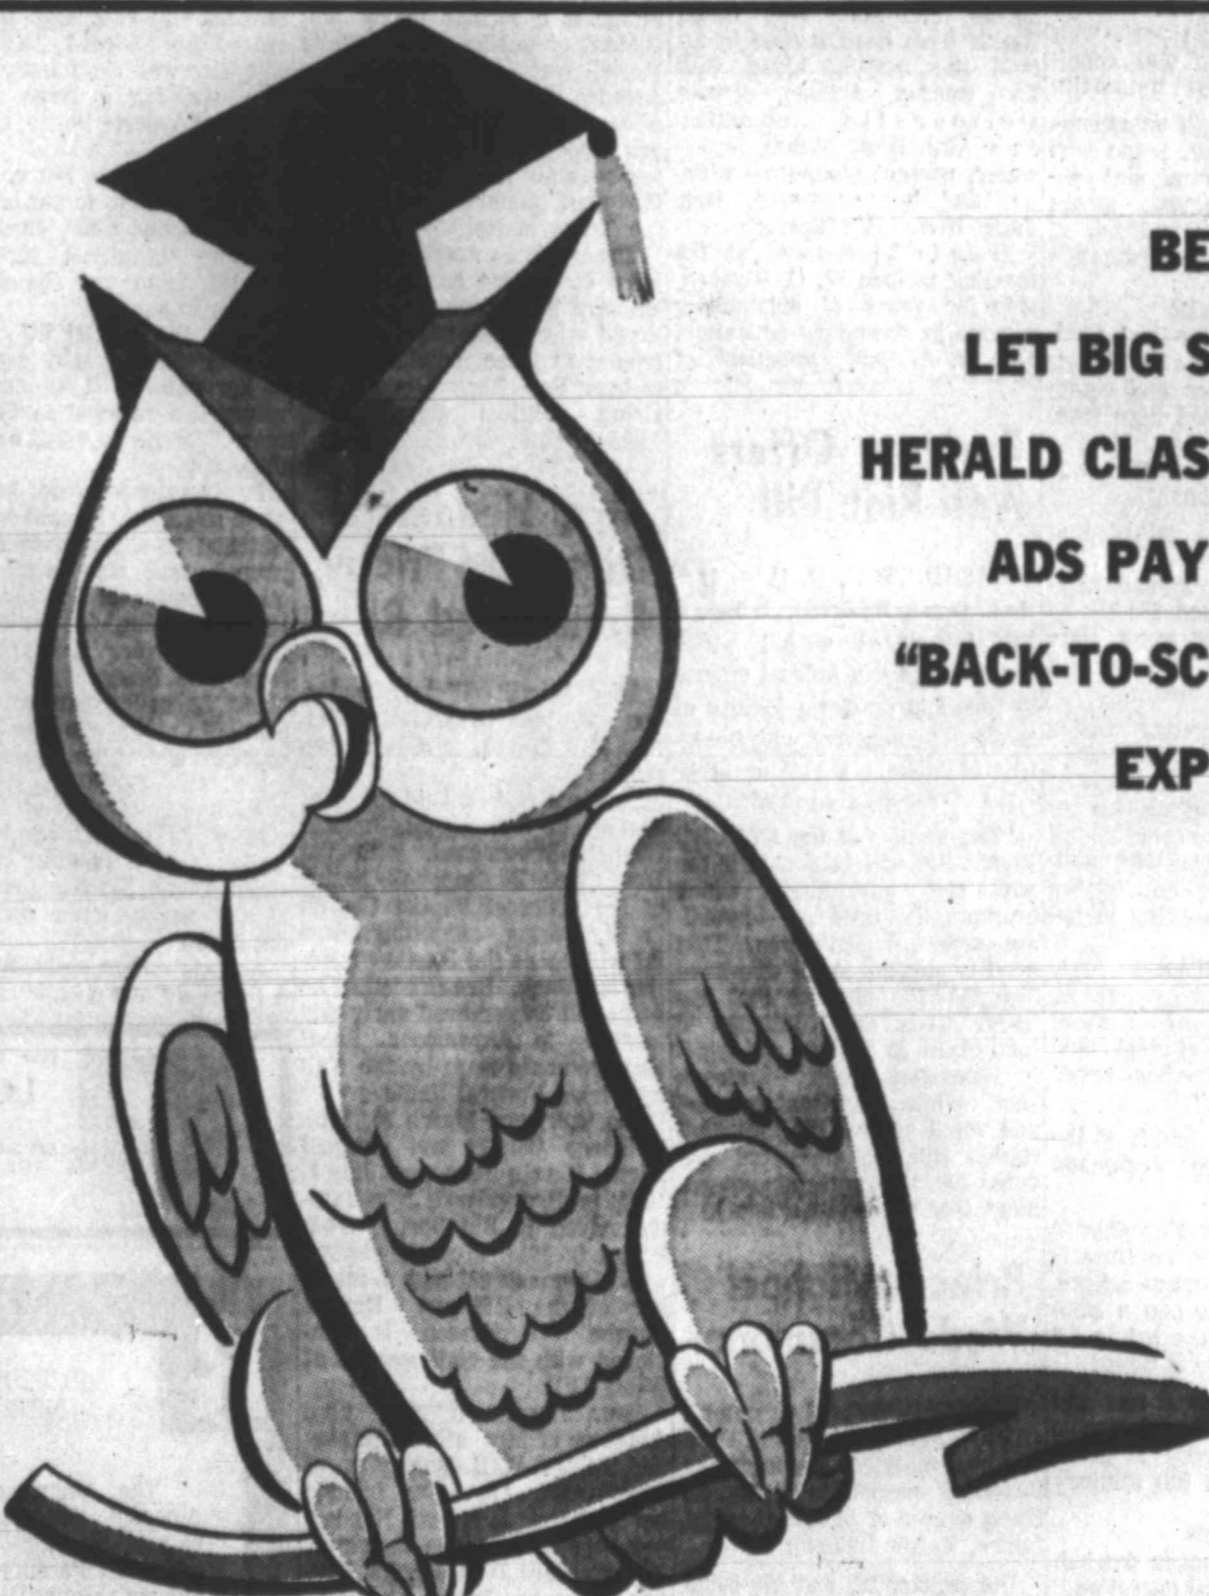

Slaying Suspect Is Escaped Con

WHARTON, Tex. (AP)—Authorities charged escaped convict Hearne E. Smith, 31, with murder Friday night in the shotgun slaying of Nellie Allen.

Peace officers widened a search for the accused man, meanwhile, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. He was reported seen early Friday at McAllen in a 1966 Ford Mustang.

Mrs. Allen was kidnaped and killed last Saturday after Smith escaped from a Southeast Texas prison farm.

The 140-pound fugitive is armed with a rifle and a pistol, officers said.

Saigon Port Bottleneck Is Snapped

AP Spotlight
By ROBERT MOOREFIELD
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Saigon's sprawling port is no longer the bottleneck that caused long delays in channeling military cargoes into Viet Nam. Military port officials point to increased war tonnage moving through the port, with unloading facilities and conditions improving month by month.

Commercial cargo unloadings are another matter. Some port authorities say commercial conditions are improved; others shake their heads and tell of lack of supervision, coordination and equipment.

TONNAGE
The U.S. 1st Logistical Command reports that 811,413 tons of military supplies and equipment were unloaded here from March 1 through Aug. 31. The peak for the six months was July with 152,159 tons.

Military tonnage unloaded at the other main ports — Cam Ranh Bay and the lighterage at Qui Nhon — totaled 863,325 by logistical command count. Cam Ranh Bay had 52,987 tons, with July also its peak month.

"Things are getting better right along," says a spokesman for the command. "The days of the long, long waiting for an unloading berth are over. We all have heard of ships with military cargo sitting out in the South China Sea waiting to unload."

MIXED WAR
"Nowadays the ships come in, unload their cargoes in about three days instead of eight, then move along so another vessel can use the berth."

Maj. Robert M. Smith of the 4th Transportation Command observes:

"Once a military ship gets to its unloading berth, no time is lost in getting its cargo ashore. About four months ago a military cargo was unloaded in 5.9 days. The time now is three."

"Ships with a mixed war and commercial cargo do not fare so well because priority is given vessels carrying a full military cargo."

NO HUB
"Saigon is no longer the hub of all U.S. logistical operation," a spokesman says. "Other ports have taken off the pressure here. Also, added storage facilities here have made the unloading of military cargoes easier and quicker."

He says all the ports received about 1.4 million tons of military cargo in 1965, compared to about 3 million tons for the first eight months of this year.

Natale Arcomona of Brooklyn, N.Y., port consultant who came to Viet Nam at the behest of President Johnson, finds commercial shipping at Saigon has great room for improvement.

BOGGED DOWN
Arcomona, on leave from the International Longshoremen's Association, serves as an adviser to Vietnamese port officials and works through the U.S. AID program in trying to ease handling of commercial cargoes. He has been here since December.

Those to be honored at the meeting include W. C. Blankenship for years of outstanding service in secondary education, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of

Burleson Offers Anti-Riot Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C. — U.S. Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Texas, has introduced a bill which would make it a federal offense to travel in or use a facility of interstate commerce with the intent of inciting a riot or other form of violent civil disobedience.

"The demise of the 1966 Civil Rights Bill will take with it the anti-riot amendment, which prompts the need for immediate separate legislation. That need is obvious to all who have observed the violence that has taken place, and continues to take place, in various and widely separated areas," Burleson said. While Burleson opposed and voted against the 1966 Civil Rights Bill, he supported and voted for the anti-riot amendment that was written into it.

Night Of Terror Shatters Family

EDITOR'S NOTE — The house, the place, the family seemed insulated against tragedy. Wealth, intelligence, charm and an envied sense of public service warmed the home of Charles H. Percy, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate. And then, near dawn, the intruder came. Here, detail by detail, is a compelling reconstruction of the night of horror that shattered one attractive family.

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — There is no wrong side of the tracks in Kenilworth.

The elite community, bordered by the Indian Hill Country Club and by Lake Michigan, is the smallest of the North Shore suburbs where overseasers of Chicago finance and industry reside in stately houses shaded from sun and public by honeysuckle, hedge, poplars and elms.

Sheridan Road winds past the private drives and trimmed lawns of the North Shore. From the road, Kenilworth's 11-man police force can check each home once an hour.

One private road is Devonshire Lane. It curves east through the twin stone driveway stanchions of Windward—the 17-room, English country style home of Charles H. Percy, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate.

COOL NIGHT
Saturday, Sept. 18, was clear. It was cool in the fading summer that night as Charles Percy drove the 17 miles to Chicago to speak at a rally.

Percy's wife, Loraine, 37, and her stepdaughter, Valerie, 21, were entertaining a small dinner group on the hidden side of the honeysuckle. Valerie's guests were two young men, Tully Friedman and Timothy W. Drescher, who had worked with her in Percy's campaign.

Valerie's twin, Sharon, had a date. Gail, 13, was home. Mark, 12, was spending the night with friends. Roger, 19, was at college in California. The twins and Roger were Percy's children by his first wife, who died in 1947.

LIKED POLITICS
Valerie, a June graduate of Cornell, had studied in Switzerland and France. Her love was French literature. She also liked politics and debates, preferring them to debate table.

In 1964, when Percy made an unsuccessful campaign for governor, his 5-foot-7, blonde daughter was continually at his side, sporting a large button: "Hi, I'm Valerie Percy, Chuck's My Dad."

Valerie's guests left early. At 10 p.m. she went to her bedroom on the second floor, changed to a filmy nightdress, turned on the television and rumped the pillows in her bed.

WATCHED TV
Sister Sharon said goodnight to her date at 11:30 p.m., and returned a raincoat to Valerie's room. Valerie was still watching television.

Percy returned from his rally after midnight. He and his wife watched television awhile, then retired. Gail was in bed. The other member of the household, Henry Whitting, the butler, was in his quarters above the garage. The Percy dog, a large black Labrador retriever, was penned in the garage at the southern end of the house.

TOOLS
As dawn formed on the far side of Lake Michigan, an intruder with a handful of tools stepped onto the flagstone patio at the northeastern corner of the house.

A glass cutter costs 39 cents. A flashlight and a knife cost less.

than $1. A piece of metal big enough for a club can be found anywhere.

SET TO KILL
The intruder cut his way through a screen and the glass of a French door to enter the $200,000 mansion. He had come to kill. By choice or chance, the victim was Valerie Percy.

Stepping into the dark vestibule, the killer sidestepped a piano bench, and brushed against the grand piano as he walked across the hardwood floor of the music room.

Mrs. Percy stirred in her sleep. She heard glass break and drowsily assumed one of the children had knocked a water glass from a bedside. She heard a clicking sound downstairs. She returned to sleep.

SLEPT ON SIDE
Climbing the 18-step circular staircase, the killer walked past Sharon's room and Mark's room, which was empty. He opened the first door on the left.

The room has twin beds with a common headboard. On the dresser was some jewelry and a wallet with $60. In the bed farthest from the door was Valerie. She slept on her right side.

The intruder closed the door, walked to the bed and raised his club. He landed four blows on the girl's head.

Valerie instinctively raised her arms and both knees. The assailant switched to his knife and slashed 10 times at the girl. She was stabbed in the throat, twice in the chest, and twice in the stomach. Valerie groaned.

SOUND HEARD
Mrs. Percy heard the sound. She went down the hall to Valerie's room. The killer was standing by the bed with a flashlight. He cast the harsh glare in her face. She screamed, ran back to the master bedroom, and triggered the manual rooftop siren which blared through the sleep of Kenilworth's 2,789 residents.

Percy jumped from bed and ran to Valerie's room. The killer had fled. He had taken nothing. Except for the blood-soaked bed, the room was undisturbed.

Mrs. Percy returned to Valerie and felt her pulse. The girl was still alive. She wiped the blood from Valerie's face with a pillowcase.

ROPED OFF
Percy telephoned police, then his neighbor, Dr. Robert P. Hofh, who arrived in minutes.

Kenilworth police and Chief Robert Daley reached the home quickly and roped off the access. It was 5:15 a.m. Dr. Hofh came downstairs where the family had gathered.

"Valerie is gone," he said. Andrew J. Toman, the Cook County coroner, reached the home before 7 a.m. Daniel Drage, director of the Chicago police crime laboratory, arrived with four of his men. Investigators spread over the grounds and house.

Elizabeth Percy, the victim's grandmother, came from her home in nearby Wilmette.

STABBED
"I'm Chuck's mother," she said to newsmen clustered at the driveway pillars. "Can someone tell me what's happened?"

"Something terrible has happened, ma'am," a reporter replied. "Valerie has been stabbed and killed."

"And Sharon?" Mrs. Percy asked. No one else was injured.

SCUBA DIVER
A scuba diver searched the shoreline for the weapon. He found nothing. But Wednesday night, a U.S. Coast Guard cutter dragging magnets swept the same area, and found a bayonet, 40 feet offshore and 800 feet south of the Percy home. "It is possible this weapon could have been used," said Daley.

Drage announced at midweek that he had 10 "live" finger and palm prints.

CREMATED
The body had been cremated privately. The ashes were buried near the Christ Episcopal Church in Winnetka.

Sam Anderson To Head State Teachers' Unit

Thirty-seven years in education and a philosophy that "anything that's good for part of the school system is good for all of it" stand back of Sam Anderson, school superintendent, on the eve of one of the highest honors his profession can bestow.

Anderson, who is entering on his sixth year as Big Spring school superintendent and the 11th in the district's history, is the unopposed candidate for president of the Texas State Teachers Association for the 1966-67 school year. The election for TSTA posts is Oct. 2-4, and Anderson is thus due to become the first Big Spring ever to attain this high position.

THIRTY-SEVEN YEARS IN EDUCATION
S. M. Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring Public Schools

DEPRESSION DAYS
Anderson got his start in schooling during the unrelenting great depression when, after two years of college, he was asked to become principal of Meridian Creek school in Bosque County. He had two teachers with him and received the respectable salary of $140 a month — which was promptly cut the next year. The school operated only eight months. Later he taught at Cayote, in the same county, then went to Pidcake for seven years before becoming principal at Petronilla near Robstown for 19 years and at Port Lavaca for eight years. Prior to coming here in 1956 as assistant superintendent, he was superintendent of Jim Hogg (Hebronville) schools. Anderson took time out from 1942-45 to be with North American Aviation in Inglewood, Calif., in confidential engineering.

EXTENSIVE STUDY
He attended public schools in Clifton, where he was born, and took his bachelor of science degree in secondary education from North Texas State College. His master's degree in educational administration and supervision was conferred by Texas College of Arts and Industries. Graduate work and advanced special courses have been taken at Baylor University, the University of California at Los Angeles, and Texas Technological College.

What changes in educational philosophy has he seen over his nearly four decades in education?

"During the depression, most of Texas was rural in its outlook," Anderson said. "After the war, and the population shift to urban centers, much thinking was changed. The World Wars especially caused an explosion of thinking."

FAST CHANGES
"Since 1950, urbanization, advanced communications and technology have all played a role in modernizing educational methods. Today a textbook is often out of date before it is published."

Anderson said that after the Russians developed the first Sputnik in the late 1950's, the nation woke up, alarmingly, to the realization that education was the best line of defense. The National Defense Education Act, which has seen hundreds of young people complete college who would not have been able to finish their educations otherwise, grew out of the revolution of thinking that followed the '50s.

What does he think about federal aid to education, especially since the Big Spring Schools are involved in Operation Head Start and various federal titles and grants which have provided assistance to the education program?

NOT NEW
"Ever since the land grant acts, when universities such as Texas A&M were initiated, federal aid has been involved in many different aspects of the school's total program," Anderson said. "I believe anything that helps part of the school's program helps all of it. I'm in favor of any program that will advance the education of our boys and girls."

In order for democracy to survive, Anderson pointed out, the best possible education for president, Texas Council for Exceptional Children, which work he pioneered; president, Howard County Association for Crippled Children and Adults; and life member of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers and currently chairman of its committee on exceptional children services; is a member of the Rotary Club here and past president of the club in Robstown; a member of the First Methodist Church and formerly on its official board.

MANY OFFICES
Anderson is just completing a term as vice president of the TSTA, to which he was elected a year ago. During that time he represented TSTA in various local, state and national meetings. The term as president, to which he is due to be elevated Dec. 1, will keep him busier than ever for a year. In this, however, he has the support of his board of trustees, which encouraged him to make the race for vice president more than a year ago.

He was married to Mildred McMillan, whom he had known in Bosque County, in 1930, and they have one daughter, Dr. Lyn Brewer, who is interning this year in St. Vincent's in Little Rock, Ark., where her husband Dr. Tom Brewer is in his second year residency in internal medicine. The Andersons reside at 900 W. 17th, where on rare occasions, he gets a chance to relax.

Ceramics Club Set Thursday

Instruction and demonstrations of ceramic flower making will be the program for the West Texas Ceramic Association, which meets Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the student union building parlor of Howard County Junior College.

Gerald Wilson, special education teacher and former crafts teacher in the Big Spring Independent School District, will bring the program, which includes colored slides. Nominations for officers for the new year will also be received, according to Mrs. Kenneth Keeler, president. Hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. Charles Sweeney. All members are urged to attend, according to Mrs. Keeler, as well as persons who might be thinking of joining the organization. Last spring, the association staged the first area-wide ceramics show for hobbyists ever held in West Texas. Another is being planned for next spring.

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Pottstown merchants give away cash prizes, from $300 to $1,000 from a "lucky barrel" in a different downtown store each week.

There are 100,000 names in the barrel. The only requirement for winning is that the winner must have signed in at the store during the week.

The name of the Rev. Wilfred Penny, an Episcopal minister, was drawn recently. He didn't win his $400 prize, however, because he didn't sign in. The barrel was located at the "Catholic Shop."

Introducing two of the most radical changes in Volkswagen history. Can you spot them?

Did you notice that the headlights are vertical now instead of leaning back a bit? That doesn't make the car look any better. But it makes the road look better by making the lights a little brighter.

And that little hump in the back? We did that to hold the license plate up straight so the police can read it better. (Sorry.)

What you won't notice without driving the new model are the big improvements.

The engine has been enlarged to a ferocious 53 horsepower. That only adds 3 m.p.h. to the top speed. Because we put most of the additional power where it would make the engine accelerate faster, turn slower and last even longer.

Now that the VW is getting to be such a hot car, we put in a couple of things to slow it down. Dual brakes.

The front wheel brakes are completely independent of the rear wheel brakes. So if you ever lost the front wheel brakes, you could still stop the back of the car. (Which automatically stops the front of the car too.)

The new VW also has seat belts, backup lights and recessed door handles as standard equipment. In fact, this year we made so many changes on the Volkswagen that we thought we'd better make one more.

We wrote "Volkswagen" on the back of the car to be sure everybody would know what it was.

Red Rocket Tests Slated

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet booster rockets will be fired into the Pacific Ocean about 1,800 miles east of Tokyo from Monday through Oct. 25, the Kremlin announced Saturday. A previous series of Soviet tests beginning Aug. 24 and scheduled to continue until Oct.

25 ended Sept. 6. The announcement today asked ships and planes to stay out of the target area between noon and midnight during the one-month period. The target is a circle with a radius of 46 miles centered about 2,075 miles northwest of Honolulu. The Soviet Union has fired rockets into the Pacific on several previous tests as part of its nuclear missile and space research programs.

Education Panel Stresses Information About Cancer

"The danger signals of cancer should be as familiar to us as Main Street," said Mrs. W. N. Norred, chairman of the American Cancer Society education committee here in Big Spring. "An annual checkup should be as much a matter of course as a tune-up for the family car." The local unit is endeavoring to bring life-saving facts to all

Howard County residents by conducting informational programs. A large selection of films are available, as are pamphlets and handbooks for clubs and organizations.

Mrs. Norred, together with members of her committee, are now in the process of arranging for speakers and firms to be presented at various civic meetings. She may be contacted at AM 3-2801 for program information.

"If someone invented a drug that would cure half the present cases of cancer, the excitement would be beyond belief. We have such a drug—it is communication." Words of a physician concerned with the problem of cancer are being mailed to Howard County residents by the Cancer Society this week.

THE ARTS

Drama Department To Give Demonstration

The Big Spring High School drama department has been paid the compliment of being asked to put on a demonstration of Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey" at a University of Texas Interscholastic League workshop for judges. The meeting will be held at Odessa College Oct. 15. Dan Shockey, director, has announced Gloria Gale, Steve Compton, Jan Cole and Terry Conner in the principal roles. The department, incidentally, is planning on producing "Our Town" in December.

the Harry J. Russell Fine Arts Foundation, has announced the first of a series of art history lectures starting today at 2:15 p.m. (for an hour and a half) in the community room of Commercial Bank and Trust Company in Midland. Arnold Leonard, director of the Midland Institute of Fine Arts, is the lecturer for the monthly series continuing from September through May. The Russell Foundation offers these without charge to the public. Title of the series is "An Introduction to American Art." The first lecture is titled "Early Colonial Art 16th-18th Century." About 60 color slides produced by the institute will be used.

Friends of the (Howard County) Library will have a regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the library. Topic for discussion this time is due to be the Texas penal code. All persons interested in the library and in the topic are urged to attend.

The weekly story hours have been resumed on Tuesday at 10 a.m. for children three through five years of age. Parents are urged to help by picking up their youngsters promptly at 11 a.m. By the way, volunteers are still needed to help with this program.

The Midland Community Theatre has announced that the "Sound of Music" will be its first production in 1967. It has been set to open Feb. 2. Special singing auditions for youngsters will be at 2 p.m. Oct. 9. Adult tryouts will be Oct. 23 and 30 at 12 p.m.

Fifty-seven of the world's leading young pianists are now due to participate in the second Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition which opens Monday on the campus of Texas Christian University. Contestants will represent 15 countries and the United States as they compete for the $18,350 cash awards. The $10,000 first place prize is provided by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, whose founder-president is Dr. Iri A. Allison, Austin. Preliminary performances will begin at 9 a.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium and will continue until Oct. 1 when 12 semi-finalists will be announced. The semi-finals will be Oct. 3-5 the finals will be played with the Fort Worth Symphony orchestra Oct. 7-8.

The Big Spring Senior High School band will be host on Nov. 12 to the junior high marching band contests, with 26 entries expected, and on Nov. 19 to 35 senior high bands in this area. This promises to be one of the biggest musical events here in many years. They are under UIL sanction.

Longhorns Hang On To Beat Texas Tech

By MIKE COCHRAN
LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Greg Lott raced 88 yards with the opening kickoff Saturday to start Texas rolling toward a 31-21 Southwest Conference verdict over Texas Tech.

Bill Bradley, the Longhorns' talented sophomore quarterback, shared the spotlight with a spectacular performance capped by an 80-yard quick kick that died inches from the Tech goal. Bradley scored twice on short runs and passed three yards for another touchdown as the Steers opened the conference season before a screaming record crowd of 48,155. The victory earned Texas a brief reign as the conference leader and marked the seventh straight year the Longhorns have launched the campaign by trouncing Tech. It was the first conference game of the season. The Red Raiders have beaten Texas only once in 16 games and never since joining the conference in 1960. However, the 21 points was a high for Tech against Texas. The Longhorns constructed a 24-lead by halftime and spent most of the second half repelling Tech scoring threats. Fumbles and penalties repeatedly frustrated Tech, which tallied twice in the final minutes. Lott, a junior from Lubbock and the godson of Texas football great Bobby Layne, skipped swiftly through the first wave of Tech defenders on his stunning kickoff return. He burst into an open field around the 50 and was not overtaken until he reached the goal, stumbling across with a tackler on his back. Bradley startled the hapless Raiders moments after the second quarter opened, booming the long quick kick that left Tech operating from its end zone. This led to a 47-yard field goal by David Conway of Texas, his longest ever.

Stopped At The Plate

Wes Parker of Los Angeles Dodgers has Cubs catcher blocking plate and ready with knowing look Saturday as he finds Chicago ball in third inning at Chicago. Parker tries

Frosh Blanks Dodgers Behind Bruins, 4-0

CHICAGO (AP)—Rookie pitcher Ferguson Jenkins shut out National League leading Los Angeles on four hits Saturday as Chicago beat the Dodgers 4-0. The defeat, coupled with Pittsburgh's 8-6 victory over Atlanta, cut the Dodgers' league lead to 1½ games and left Los Angeles' magic number at seven. Any combination of seven Los Angeles victories and Pittsburgh losses would give the Dodgers the pennant. The Cubs scored on infield outs in the first and fourth innings and picked up two more in the eighth on a single by Jimmy Stewart and a passed ball. Jenkins, now 6-7, pitched his first shutout and second complete game of the season. The Cubs pushed over a run in the first when Glenn Beckert pulled a perfect fake on the Dodger defense. Don Kessinger opened with a single. After faking a bunt toward first base, Beckert pushed a single past Wes Parker as the Los Angeles first baseman charged in the next pitch. This hit and run maneuver sent Kessinger to third, and the Cubs' shortstop scored on Billy Williams' infield out.

Green Wave Is Too Much For Texas A&M, 21-13

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Bobby Duhon, the southpaw slinger from the Cajun country, directed Tulane to a 21-13 conquest of favored Texas A&M Saturday night to give himself a big 20th birthday present. Tulane's defense, which looked weak and porous in practice, came up with the biggest surprise, however, and recovered three Aggie fumbles. They were turned into touchdowns. The turning point came in the third quarter when Tulane guard Vic Eumont recovered the ball in the A&M end zone after Aggie kicker Steve O'Neal fumbled while trying to get off a punt. Less than a minute earlier, a Tulane drive had been stopped at the Aggie three when Mike Findley fumbled and A&M's Robert Cortez recovered. O'Neal was set to punt on second down but the Aggies were penalized for delay of game. The ball was then snapped from the one and a nervous O'Neal dropped it as Tulane defenders keyed on him.

ATLANTA (AP)—Roberto Clemente's two-run homer in the seventh inning capped a five run Pittsburgh rally that gave the Pirates an 8-6 victory over Atlanta Saturday. The triumph moved the Pirates to 1½ games behind the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost to Chicago 4-0. With the Pirates trailing 6-3 entering the seventh, Bob Bailey led off with a single and went to third on a single by Jesse Gonder. Jerry Lynch singled, scoring Bailey and Lynch went to second on Matty Alou's sacrifice bunt. Gene Alley then doubled in two runs, tying the score. Clemente followed with his 27th homer of the season over the right center field wall off Braves' reliever Jay Ritchie,

Bunning Records 18th Hill Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia clubbed Al Jackson for five runs in the third inning — two of them unearned — and beat St. Louis 5-4 Saturday night. Ten men batted in the Phillies' third with pitcher Jim Bunning and Dick Groat hitting doubles. Lou Brock's throwing error let in two runs. Bunning, who struck out 10 recorded his 18th victory against 12 losses. Jackson is now 12-14.

Baylor Upset By Colorado

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Unranked Colorado beat Baylor, the nation's No. 10 team Saturday night, 13-7 with a tight, fighting Buffalo secondary keeping the electrifying Terry Southall's passing impotent except for one scoring bomb. Southall's one scoring toss compared with the four he threw in Baylor's only other game as the Bears beat Syracuse 35-12 two weeks ago. It was Steve Graves who intercepted a Southall bomb with 51 seconds remaining in the game that probably saved it for Colorado. He picked off the aerial, intended for Paul Beaton, in the end zone, and that was the game. Up to that point Southall was hitting well as he fought the clock and it would have taken only one aerial to put Baylor ahead.

Runnels Winner In Two Starts

In seventh grade football competition involving the city's two junior high schools Saturday morning, Runnels posted two out of three wins. The Packers rolled to a 22-0 victory over Goliad. The Oilers held on for an 8-0 success but Goliad won the third game from the Colts, 6-0.

San Francisco Decisions Houston In 13th, 9 To 5

HOUSTON (AP)—Willie McCovey's run-scoring triple in the 13th inning broke a 4-4 tie and triggered a five-run rally that gave San Francisco a 9-5 victory over Houston Saturday. The victory left the third-place Giants four games behind National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost to Chicago 4-0. McCovey's hit came off reliever Chris Zachary and drove in Frank Johnson, who singled. Willie Mays then walked and Jim Hart doubled to left scoring McCovey and Mays. Alou singled scoring Hart. Carroll Sember replaced Zachary and gave up a single to Jim Davenport and when the ball got away from Astro left-fielder Joe Gaines, Alou scored. Joe Morgan tripled in a run in the 13th for Houston. The Astros took a 4-1 lead in the eighth when Morgan tripled in two runs and another came in on Rusty Staub's sacrifice fly. But the Giants tied the score with three runs in the ninth. Two scored on Mays' 35th homer after McCovey had doubled and the third came in on Tom Haller's sacrifice fly. The Astros loaded the bases with one out in the 11th, but John Bateman lofted a fly to Jesus Alou in short left and when Alou's throw home rolled all the way to the backstop, Morgan tried to score from third. But reliever Lindy McDaniel

Ponies Fail Again

DENVER CITY — Denver City of District 4-AA failed to win for the third straight week here Friday night when it was tied by Loveland, 0-0. Both clubs threatened twice but could not get into the end zones...

much worse had the locals taken advantage of all their scoring opportunities... Inspired play in the trenches by such head-hunters as James Carver and Cliff Talbot took the steam out of Snyder's deadly option play and enabled the Steers to play ball control... Surprisingly enough, Snyder had a slight edge in play through the first quarter with quarterback Murry Bowen working his options well to Mario Tavez and Curtis Clay...

The winds of change were brewing by the time the second period came on, however. From then on, it was all Big Spring's show. Cliff Talbot set Big Spring's first TD drive in motion by smothering a Snyder fumble at the Steer 29 the first play of Round Two... Quarterback Gary Rogers, mixing his method of assault well, then engineered a 71-yard scoring drive, needing only six plays to get the TD. The payoff materialized on an 11-yard pass to Robert Jackson up the middle, with 8:22 showing on the clock. Carver proceeded to boot the first of four straight conversions tries and Big Spring led, 7-0...

INTERCEPTION HELPS A nifty pass interception by Doug Robinson on Snyder's 38 put Big Spring on the attack again with less than four minutes remaining... Fullback Kirby Horton, as hard to hold all night as a greased pig in a silo, got the touchdown with 2:34 to go from seven yards away with a thunderous rush... The Steers carried their 14-0 lead to the dressing room at the half and then seemed content to play defense until the fourth, when they came back to count a total of 20 points...

Late in the third, Rogers triggered a 67-yard drive that paid off with six points with 11:29 still to go. Rogers himself rolled around left end from four yards away and surged across the double stripes. Carver's PAT made it 21-0... Snyder would have sued for a truce then and surrendered unconditionally but Big Spring would have none of it... Mike Gartman speared a pass thrown by Snyder quarterback Micky Almond at the enemy 38 and legged it all the way back down to the foe's 14 on a sparkling run. The touchdown came easy after that, Burchett seeking out Manuel Rogee with a pass for 11 yards and another TD. Carver again bisected the uprights for the score and Big Spring's lead mounted to 28-0...

WILLIS SPEARS TWO Only 4:54 remained on the clock when Olague scored but Big Spring, aided by Gregg Willis' second pass interception and a pass interference call down to the enemy one, was destined to count again... This time, fullback Tommy Mauldin served up the micky, booming through for his first varsity touchdown ever. Mauldin also tried to run the conversion but missed by inches. Tommy collected his trophy with 33 seconds remaining... So venomous was the Big Spring line play in the second half, Snyder once into Steer territory only moved and then only with the help of a 15-yard penalty inflicted against Big Spring. Willis' second interception then blunted a Tiger drive at the Steer 42...

On at least three occasions, Snyder tacklers were laid out colder than a landlord's heart by hard-charging Big Spring ball carriers... Everyone on the Big Spring bench seemed to want a piece of the action, with the result that some Big Spring backs who never before had carried the ball in varsity play picked up some impressive yardage. Horton led all the Steers with 87 yards in 18 lunges for a 4.7 average... The outcome left each team with a 2-1 won-lost record. The Steers will be idle next weekend. Snyder tries to regroup in game in Kermit but the job may not be easy... Score by quarters: Coahoma 8 8 8 8 — 32 Roscoe 21 0 0 0 — 21 Snyder 0 0 0 0 — 0

Klondike Cougars Defeat Dragon Octet, 40 To 12

FLOWER GROVE — Flower Grove, with three regulars in dry dock, came a cropper here Friday night, losing to powerful Klondike by the score of 40-12... David Neill scored 20 points for the Cougars while Jackie Warren added eight and Billy Ray Hemphill and Don Etheredge six each... Emilio Silva ran the second half kickoff back 65 yards for one Flower Grove score while Gregory Gonzales got the other on a long run in the fourth... The defeat left Flower Grove with a 1-2 won-lost record... WELLMAN — Wellman, next football foe of Flower Grove, humbled Smyer, 22-6, here Friday night... Wellman picked up a safety in the opening period after Smyer had gone out in front on a touchdown. Tommy Chestman ran two yards for Wellman's initial tally. Adair passed to Martin for the two extra points... Chestman roared three yards for another Wellman tally. Ronnie Moore got the rest one for the Cats on a three-yard plunge...

Nix-Steakley Pass Defeats Ponies, 14-12

COLORADO CITY — Glen Nix scrambled from rushing Sweetwater linemen in the fading moments of the game here Friday before a capacity crowd, suddenly stopped and whipped a pass down the middle to Rusty Steakley, who stepped over for the 37-yard TD... With 1:15 left in the game, Nix again did the unexpected when, instead of holding (or the place kick, straightened and fired a two-point conversion to Donnie Higginbotham. That climaxed a storybook finish for Colorado City's scrappy Wolves, who won, 14-12...

Lamesa Wins 3rd In Row

LAMESA — Those Lamesa Tornadoes keep huffing and puffing and blowing the house down. Friday evening they brought the roof down on Seminole, 13-0. This did nothing to detract from their eighth place in state rankings... Gene Everheart came through with a clutch pass on third down on the Seminole 24 with 2:47 left in the second quarter. Gary Mayfield grabbed it and went 65 yards for the score. Russell Dennis put frosting on the cake when he snatched a Seminole pass with 59 seconds left in the same period and returned to the Lamesa 49... Everheart promptly hit Billy Williams for the 51-yard TD and then kicked the extra point... The Tornadoes were content to play defensive ball thereafter, although they did have a 45-yard pass call for a TD called back in the fourth. The contest was non-district affair...

Forsan Bisons Win 3rd In Row, 12-7

Forsan	118	First Downs	18	Wall	110
Yards Rushing	160	Passes Completed	4 for 12	Yards Passing	4 for 12
Penalties, Yds.	4 for 30.0	Fumbles, Lost	4 for 30

WALL — Despite a series of frustrating penalties that cost them two touchdowns and numerous gains, the Forsan Bisons remained undefeated by turning back Wall, 12-7, here Friday night.

The Buffaloes registered touchdowns in the first and fourth periods.

After a 50-yard scoring pass from Jack Ellis to Johnny Dolan had been called back due to an infraction, the Buffaloes went on to get a TD in Round One when Ellis went over from the four. The try point failed.

In the second quarter, Ellis blocked a Wall punt and Forsan surged deep in Wall territory but a penalty again stopped it.

In the third period, Larry Callihan swept end for 25 yards but another penalty nullified the score.

In the fourth, Larry Callihan set up the Buffaloes' second TD. Ellis got it on a keeper from the five despite the fact that Callihan slipped about the time he was supposed to get the handoff.

Wall finally got a score late in the contest on a 65-yard play that went right up the middle.

Larry Callihan made a net gain of 75 yards running and would have had 140 had not the red handkerchiefs been thrown so often.

On defense, linebacker Ray McKinnon, with nine tackles, and Ellis, with seven, led the Forsan surge. Bill Crutcher recovered two Wall fumbles for Forsan and made four tackles.

Dolan had four tackles and two pass interceptions. Clayton McKinnon made a key interception on his own 10 and a saving tackle near the end of the game.

Forsan, winner of three straight games, will be idle next Friday and will return to play in district action against Herleigh Oct. 7.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fritz Peterson shut Boston out on six hits and New York scored the only run of the game on an infield out as the Yankees beat the Red Sox 1-0 Saturday.

Jim Lonborg held the Yanks to three hits in the seven innings he worked but two came in the sixth when Jim Hegan singled, moved to third on Horace Clarke's single and scored on Bobby Murcer's ground out.

Cowboys Host Vikings Today In Big Test

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — After six years the Dallas Cowboys should have a clearer understanding Sunday whether they have matured as a championship team in the National Football League.

The Cowboys, blazing undefeated through a five-game exhibition schedule and crushed the New York Giants 22-7 last Sunday, meet the Minnesota Vikings in an interdivisional contest in the Cotton Bowl.

It will be the second meeting within three weeks for the two clubs. Dallas, preseason favorite for the Eastern Division title, beat the Vikings 28-24 in the final exhibition game. Swift Bob Hayes caught two long touchdown passes as did Pat Flatley for Minnesota.

After a first week bye, the Cowboys bombed New York out of the Cotton Bowl a week ago. Quarterback Don Meredith saw five of his 14 pass completions go for touchdowns. Split end Hayes caught six for 195 yards and two touchdowns and alternate halfback Dan Reeves received the same number for 120 yards and three scores.

Meredith's 358 yards passing ranks him No. 1 in that department in the league. Dallas' 18 total offense yards against the Giants makes it the best.

"When you can run, you can pass, it's that simple," Meredith said after his finest performance. "Our offensive line makes this a different club. I can sit back in there now and throw all day."

Frank Tarkenton, Minnesota quarterback, might disagree with Meredith's run-pass philosophy.

The Vikings have the league's third and fourth leading rushers in fullback Bill Brown and halfback Tommy Mason but Tarkenton is only 13th in passing with a 47 per cent completion average, 305 yards and no scoring tosses in two games.

Minnesota opened the season with a 20-20 tie with San Francisco and then lost last week 38-23 to Baltimore after leading 16-0 in the first half.

"We didn't hustle on offense," said Coach Van Brocklin of the defeat. "We played like we had an 85-0 lead."

The Vikings got a boost at slot end with the acquisition of veteran Preston Carpenter, 32, from Washington. Carpenter, younger brother of Viking end Coach Lew Carpenter, will start against Dallas.

Vols Manhandle Auburn, 28-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Tennessee Volunteers unleashed a powerful aerial attack with a rugged defense to match and whipped the young Auburn Tigers 28-0 in a Southeastern Conference football opener for both teams Saturday.

Tennessee quarterback Dewey Warren, operating behind a fiercely aggressive offensive line, passed to end Austin Denny for two touchdowns and substitute Art Galiffa hurled a scoring pass to end Jerry Daulton. Fullback Bob Maurilio plunged one yard for another Tennessee touchdown.

Guerrero built up a following here years ago but he was a stranger to most grasping buffs here. And he will be a popular one. Little is known of Atlas or his credentials locally.

In the semifinals Tuesday night, Gary Hart will be in against another person new here, Batman. As does his namesake in the TV series, Batman wears a mask and keeps his identity to himself and like the famed comic strip character he believes in combatting evil with good.

Austin Trounces Tennessee Team

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Austin College capitalized on four pass interceptions and a recovered fumble Saturday to smother Southwestern 22-7.

Southwestern led on the statistics sheet but couldn't cope with the clutch passing of Austin quarterback Fred Maples and the hard running of fullback Mike Maloney.

The Memphians scored first on a 41-yard pass play from Bruce Cook to Bobby Clark, but a pass interception late in the first half set up a 26-yard scoring run by Maloney. Maples pass for the two-point conversion put Austin ahead to stay.

The other two Austin touchdowns came on passes from Maples to Bill Haygood, the first set up by an interception and the second by a recovery.

Jayton Cops One

JAYTON—Jayton of District 4-B edged Rochester, 12-3, in a practice game here Friday night. Mike Morales passed to Terry Moore for 30 yards and the winning score with less than three minutes remaining.

At 5:18 in the final quarter, sophomore Roger Wherl of King City, Mo., filched another Volkman toss to set up a 26-yard Tiger touchdown drive that deadlocked the game 14-14. Quarterback Gary Kombrink floated a 23-yard pass to Earl Denny and Kombrink on the next play sneaked over from the one.

Seagraves Eagles Win Over Stanton, 30-0

By JERRY MONSON STANTON — The Seagraves Eagles trampled the Stanton Buffaloes, 30-0, in nondistrict play here Friday night.

Frustrated in continual attempts to score, the Buffaloes lost their opening kick starch early in the first quarter and never recovered.

The Buffaloes kept the ball for seven minutes in the first stanza, gradually advancing into the Eagles' territory at the two-yard line, when a run by David Avery failed. A series of penalties and personal fouls followed against the Buffaloes in the first period which took away much of the first seven minutes' spark.

In less than a minute in the second stanza, Seagraves picked up two touchdowns in less than three minutes to lead 12-0 by the half. Melvin Francis scored on a four yard pass and Mike Bagley scampered across the goal on a one yard run to total the points.

With a minute and a half to go in the third quarter, Francis capped his second TD of the evening on a lateral pass, pushing the one-sided game even higher to 18-0.

Stanton rallied early in the fourth quarter but only briefly as Ricky Corbell, David Avery and Phil Payne accounted for some good defensive plays against the onslaught of the Eagles. Coach Bryan Boyd's 2-A squad then collapsed, and TD's by Tim Blair and Phil Nash wrapped up the game for Seagraves with only minutes to go in the game. All PATS failed.

Stanton is now 0-2 for the season.

Score by quarters: Stanton 0 0 0 0 — 0 Seagraves ... 0 12 6 12—30 TDs — Francis (2), Bagley, Nash. No PATS.

Funk Will Risk Crown Tuesday

Dory Funk Sr., has agreed to risk his North American championship here, so promoter Pat O'Dowdy has changed the top billing in the American Business Club's Tuesday night wrestling show scheduled for the Municipal Auditorium.

Funk will go against Prof. Tom Tanaka, said to be Japan's greatest wrestler. Dory's title, and the belt that goes with it, will be at stake.

The match is down for the best-of-three falls, with a one hour time limit.

Originally, Ricky Romero was booked to oppose Tanaka, who is new to the local scene, but Romero gracefully stepped aside when the title match firming up.

The admission prices will not be changed for the championship test. Adults can gain admission to the auditorium for $1. If they want to sit at ringside, they pay an additional $1. All ringside pews will be numbered and advance tickets can be purchased at Bill Reed's Insurance Company, 21 Johnson, or through Fred Clark.

In the semifinals Tuesday night, Gary Hart will be in against another person new here, Batman. As does his namesake in the TV series, Batman wears a mask and keeps his identity to himself and like the famed comic strip character he believes in combatting evil with good.

Huskers Wake Up To Win, 28-7

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Fourth-ranked Nebraska, plagued by offensive ineptness, shook off its troubles in the third period Saturday, tallied 15 points in three minutes of game time and defeated Utah State 28-7 in an inter-sectional football clash before a record Memorial Stadium crowd of 63,543.

A 38-yard field goal by Larry Wachholtz which barely skimmed the crossbar broke a 7-7 tie with 46 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

League against rushing, have established their credentials as Western title threats and last week against Oakland unveiled Mike Garrett as a running back and he proceeded to show his Heisman Trophy form by gaining 83 yards in 10 carries.

Both the Charges and Raiders have had trouble getting their ground games going. Gene Foster has taken over at fullback for San Diego with Paul Lowe and Keith Lincoln battling for the other spot.

The Bills finally put together their offense against Miami last week and with Jack Kemp's arm getting stronger, they should get going. The Oilers will have to do better than they did last week in New York, which shouldn't be difficult.

Volkman, a junior quarterback, herded Illinois on long scoring thrusts in the first two periods. His passes to Craig Timko and John Wright were good for 37 yards and Cyril Pinder added 23 on the ground in a 91-yard drive in nine plays. It was capped by Pinder's 3-yard dive across the goal.

In the second, the Illini drove 56 yards in 12 plays with rookie Bill Huston rounding end for the final five yards.

Three minutes later, the Tigers scored their first TD on a 68-yard march in nine plays as Kombrink hit Charles Weber for 15 yards, Jim Juras for 12 and Charlie Brown for 25. Earl Denny burst through the middle for the final nine.

Midland High Loses, 28-0

MIDLAND — The Midland Bulldogs offense disappeared like the morning mist here Friday night and Lubbock Monterey administered a 28-0 spanking. Midland, with a 2-0 record coming into the game, had been picked as a slight favorite.

Monterey didn't know that, for Chris Barnard plunged over from the two in the opening round with Jim Stiles adding the point.

Barnard climaxed another drive from the two in the second, and Stiles made it 14-0. Stiles came back in the third on a 2-yard sneak and added the PAT. Stiles connected with end Wayne Whitaker for 15 yards and the final score.

Statistics reflect how the Bulldogs were outclassed during the evening. They managed only three first downs, had a net of one yard rushing and only 62 passing. On the contrary, Monterey piled up 18 first downs, 171 yards rushing and another 161 passing.

Eagles Upset By 10-9 Tab

ABILENE — The favored Eagles of Abilene were kicked into submission, 10-9, before a crowd of 6,500 here Friday night.

Dewayne Trammell of Dallas Sunset did the kicking—first after Bruce Prime had gone 36 yards for a score and Trammell added the point. In the fourth when a drive stalled on the 20, he booted the winning field goal.

Abilene had pounded back into the game in the third when Tommy Evans scampered 16 yards, but the PAT failed. Abilene got the 20, too, but it was in vain. Dallas Sunset could muster but 67 yards on the ground against Abilene defense and 29 yards passing, but it—made them count. Abilene got 148 on the ground and 24 passing, but not at the right point.

Lee scored in the first when Gregg Frazier plunged for five yards and added the point. Austin got back in the ball game when Vince Johnson hurled a 20-yard scoring pass to Sam Carnill.

Lee could pick up only 31 yards rushing and 43 passing, while Austin got 152 on the ground and 77 in the air.

Arkansas Vanquishes Hurricane, 27 To 8

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Sixth-ranked Arkansas turned to a mighty defense Saturday and rolled to a 27-8 victory over Tulsa after Martine Bircher opened the scoring with a 64-yard punt return in the second quarter.

It was the 23rd consecutive regular season victory for the Razorbacks, whose only loss in 24 games came at the hands of Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

Arkansas defense shutout the high-scoring Tulsans for almost 57 minutes before the Hurricane scored in its 50th straight game. The touchdown came on a six-yard pass from Glen Dobbs to Gary McDermott.

Sophomore tailback Bruce Maxwell scored touchdowns on runs of two and one yards. He led the Arkansas attack with 122 yards on 27 carries.

Arkansas' other touchdown came on a 13-yard pass from Jon Brittenum to Tommy Burnett, ending the Razorbacks' only long offensive drive of the day. It covered 61 yards and took only five plays.

The Razorbacks built a four-touchdown advantage in the second and third quarters and Coach Frank Broyles then turned loose sophomore-loaded offensive and defensive teams.

Tulsa managed to preserve its scoring streak by moving 80 yards in the final quarter. Dobbs hit McDermott for the touchdown and then passed to Harry Wood for the two-point conversion.

It was the first time in 27 games that the Hurricane failed to score at least twice.

Bircher, a 175-pound senior, brought a record Razorback stadium crowd of 41,000 to its feet in the second period when he took a punt at his 36, started to the right sidelines and sprinted the distance, faking Tulsa's last defender at the Hurricane 10.

Middle Guard David Cooper set up two touchdowns, one with a fumble recovery at the Tulsa 25, the other on a pass interception which he returned 14 yards to the Hurricane 27. Maxwell scored both touchdowns on short runs.

Brittenum, who led Arkansas to its second straight Southwest Conference title last year, completed two passes in the 61-yard scoring drive.

David Dickey, a sophomore wingback, had 17 yards on a key play to finish with 62 yards on 10 carries.

Tulsa, the defending NCAA passing champion, hit on 23 of 41 passes for 287 yards.

Tulsa held Arkansas' Harry Jones to 23 yards on six carries.

WOODSON — In one of the hardest hitting games seen in this area in years, Sands and Woodson played to a 12-12 deadlock in an eight-man game here Friday night.

The stylike left Sands with a 2-0-1 record. Woodson was making his first start. The Mustangs host powerful Loop Friday night.

Sands scored in the second quarter when Alfonso Calvio sprinted 15 yards at the end of a 40-yard drive. The try for two extra points fell inches short.

In the third, Sands had a faulty snapback from center on a fourth down play and Woodson took over on the Pony two-

It took four plays for Woodson to score from that point. Gerald Brown finally got the tally from the half yard line.

In the fourth, Larry Newcomer recovered a Woodson fumble at the enemy 10 for Sands and Calvio counted again from that point.

Needing 17 yards on fourth down late in the game, Woodson gambled successfully with a pass, Danny Bellah throwing to Gary Pevey down to the Mustang three. Again Sands held for three downs only to give up the TD on the fourth down play. R. C. Whitmore went in for Woodson.

Larry Oaks made 17 tackles and Calvio 15 for Sands. Randy Hambrick helped a lot with 13, as did Oren Lancaster.

On offense, Calvio, Merwin Beal, Marion Snell, Kenneth Gillespie and Jim Fryar were outstanding for the Ponies.

Notre Dame Wins In Air Skirmish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame unveiled a sensational sophomore passing combination, Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour, who clicked for touchdown passes of 84, 39 and 7 yards, leading the Fighting Irish to a 26-14 season-opener conquest of Purdue's Boilermakers Saturday.

Seymour, 6-foot-4, 205-pounder from Berkley, Mich., speared 13 Hanratty tosses for 276 yards to completely overshadow Purdue's heralded passer, Bob Griese.

Hanratty, 6-foot-190, from Butler, Pa., completed 16 of 24 passes for 304 yards in the nationally televised game.

Purdue's secondary was demoralized by Seymour, who made one sensational catch after another. The best was his fingertip catch in full stride of Hanratty's long toss on the 84-yard scoring play which put the Irish ahead for keeps, 14-7, in the second quarter.

The heroics of Seymour and Hanratty, plus halfback Nick Eddy's 96-yard touchdown run on the kickoff following Purdue's first touchdown in the opening quarter, avenged Notre Dame's 25-21 loss at Purdue last fall.

Griese completed 14 of 26 tosses for 178 yards and was a dancing scammer against the fierce Irish defense, but the Boilermakers were against much superior firepower in the amazing Hanratty-Seymour display.

Purdue scored first on Leroy Keys' 94-yard sprint for a touchdown after grabbing Rocky Bleier's fumble in midair late in the first quarter.

But 14 seconds later, Eddy streaked 96 yards straight up field with Griese's ensuing kickoff to make it 7-7.

Detroit Grabs Second Place In AL Race

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL

(AP) — Norm Cash's three-run homer in the sixth and a four-run Tiger barrage in the seventh led Detroit to an 8-1 win over Minnesota Saturday and kept the Tigers alone in second place.

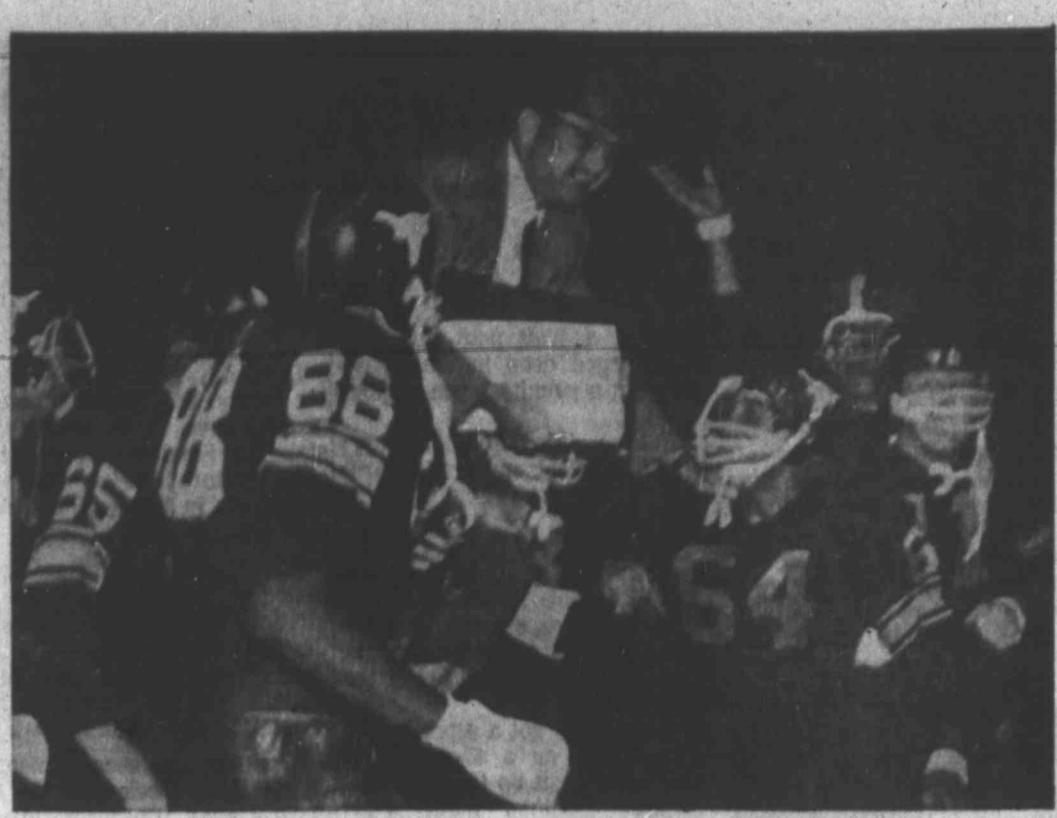

The win put Detroit two games ahead of third-place Minnesota, which had a chance to tie the Tigers after a 12-4 win Friday.

Dave Wickersham took the win, allowing six hits for an 8-3 record.

Losser Jim Merritt gave up a single to Don Wert and a double to Jake Wood before Cash slammed his 30th home run into the right field bleachers. Until the fifth, Merritt had held Detroit to one hit.

Reliever Al Worthington took over in the seventh with one out and two on. Wert slammed a double to score both base runners and Al Kaline added a two-run single. Kaline's double drove in the final run in the ninth.

Sandy Valdespino broke a scoreless tie in the third with a triple, scoring Minnesota's Ted Uhlander, who had singled. Detroit 000 003 401—8 12 0. Minnesota 001 000 000—1 6 1.

Ohio State Bucks Decision Purple

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Bill Long mixed his passes with Paul Hudson's bruising runs to guide Ohio State to a 14-7 opening football victory over Texas Christian University Saturday.

But it took an alert Buckeye defense to stop P. D. Shabay from steering the Texans into a tie or victory. Three times in the final period, the Bucks intercepted Shabay passes to halt threats.

Hudson scored both Buckeye touchdowns, on runs of two and 18 yards, to climax drives of 47 and 78 yards.

Shabay capped a 67-yard TCU drive to open the second half with a two-yard scoring drive. Will Thomas returned the opening kickoff 91 yards for Ohio State, but lost the ball at the two, one of nine fumbles in the first half.

Ohio State scored the next time it got the ball, then was unable to move again until the closing moments of the period when a penalty and a fumble stopped a march to the nine.

TCU, unable to drive beyond the Buckeye 45 in the first half, started the third quarter with a determined march to tally. Fullback Kenny Post bucked most of the distance, but failed twice to get across before Shabay banged in.

Long opened up as the third period ended, hitting Bill Anderson and Rufus Mayes with two passes each to reach the 18. Hudson got the rest.

A fumble recovery at the Ohio 45 gave the Frogs their only first half scoring chance, which failed when two runs and a pass from inside the five were stopped. But in the second half Shabay twice guided them inside the Ohio 20 before interceptions, by Tom Portsmouth in the end zone and by John Muhlbach at the 17 blunted the drive.

Muhlbach's second interception in the closing moments stopped a final effort by sophomore quarterback Rick Bridges. Long completed 12 of his 14 passes for 106 yards. Shabay completed 12 of 19 for 114 yards. Hudson was the leading groundgainer with 92 yards on 23 carries. Post was TCU's work horse, with 55 yards on 14 tries.

The Bucks dominated the first half, holding the Frogs to 99 yards gained, half on passes. But in the second half the Ohioans got out of their own territory only once, on the scoring drive, while the Texans ran and passed for 180 yards on four marches.

Ohio State wound up with six fumbles, losing five of them. Buckeye Dick Himes recovered two of TCU's three fumbles.

Florida Gators Stun Maroons

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Florida stunned Mississippi State by scoring 21 points in a seven-minute surge in the third quarter Saturday, and the Gators rolled to a 23-7 Southeastern Conference football triumph set up by daring defensive play.

Steve Spurrier tossed two touchdown passes to lead the Florida attack which boosted the Gators' record to 2-0 and saddled the Maroons with their second 1966 defeat and their eighth straight loss.

The Gators intercepted three straight passes thrown by Mississippi State quarterback Don Saget, and turned them all into touchdowns in Florida's league opener played before a record crowd of 49,333.

Reed International Inc. listed 170 active rotary rigs in the Permian Basin Empire Friday. The number is identical to that posted a week earlier, but 24 less than the 194 recorded on the corresponding count last year.

Basin Completes Howard Wildcat

Basin Oil Co. of Big Spring has completed a Howard County wildcat.

The No. 1 H. G. Fambrough was drilled to 9,075 feet, plugged back to 8,550 feet, with perforations in the 8,118-1,177 foot interval, pumping potential initially 198 barrels of 34.0 gravity oil per day, with a gas-oil ratio too small to measure, after the formation was fractured with 50,000 gallons fluid and 1,000 pounds sand.

In the long east extension to the Ackerly Dean formation, the producer was set originally to test the Pennsylvanian, which was dry.

Drill site is 1,988 feet from the north and west lines of section 18-33-30, T&P survey, three miles southeast of Ackerly. It is shown on some maps to be in Borden County.

New locations have been staked for Glasscock and Mitchell counties.

Southwestern Natural Gas Co.'s No. 4-A Chriesman is slated to drill to 8,600 feet in the Spraberry Trend area. The location is 600 feet from the south line and 2,640 feet from the west line of section 1-36-5s, T&P survey, 20 miles north of Stiles.

C. W. Guthrie of Big Spring has staked the No. 1 Elmer Powell in the Itan, East Howard pool of Mitchell County to drill to 3,000 feet. Drill site is 2,310 feet from the south and east lines of section 21-29-1s, T&P survey, four miles southwest of Itan.

The Ackerly (Dean) pool of Martin County has gained a new producer with completion of No. 1 W. B. Hope by Clark Oil & Refining Co.

From perforations between 8,436-8,583 feet, it flowed 190 barrels of 39.0 gravity oil per day through a 16-44ths - inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was gauged at 1.235-1. The pay section was fractured with 50,000 gallons of fluid and 100,000 pounds of sand.

Site is 600 feet from the north and east lines of section 16-34-3s, T&P survey, one mile west of Ackerly.

Texas' Public School Integration Doubles

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' public school integration probably doubled this year with half as much attention.

It went so smoothly that school administrators had lots of time for the usual September problems, such as traffic snarls and ushering mixed up youngsters to the right school.

Desegregation put Negro teachers, as well as Negro pupils, in formerly all-white schools throughout Texas' gigantic system of 1,370 school districts and 2.5 million pupils.

SHORT STEP

Integration took a short step in high school athletics: Negro schools at Plainview (Washington) and North Powderly joined Wheatley of San Antonio as members of the Texas Inter-scholastic League, playing an integrated schedule in basketball.

League officials expect 20-25 more Negro members among its enrollment of some 1,100 schools next year.

Best estimates on the number of Negroes attending school with whites in Texas differ considerably, but the sources agree integration totals probably doubled from 1965 to this year.

The Southern Education Reporting Service, which handles integration reports, estimated 60,000 Negroes attended school with whites last year. Leon Graham, assistant education commissioner in Texas, put the figure at 15,000 last September.

STUDENT'S RACE

Federal regulations preventing a student's race from being recorded on registration reports makes the integration guessing game a tough one. Teachers' certificates do not designate race, either.

There's no doubt, however, Negroes and whites are mixed in school as never before. One reason is the federal government's threat to cut off educational aid funds to segregated schools. In Texas federal school aid adds up to a tidy sum of $160 million.

"The single most important thing" about new federal guidelines issued last March, Graham said, "requires school districts to begin faculty desegregation." In that connection, he said, the only complaints the education agency has had regarding integration have come from a "limited number of Negro teachers who feel their contracts were NAACP motion to order immediate integration of senior high schools in the city, already scheduled for full integration not renewed because of integration."

Fina Jobbers Meet Monday

American Petrofina jobbers and distributors in a slice of the southwestern area will be introduced to Fina's new advertising program here Monday.

R. I. Galland, president of Petrofina, will head a list of officials from the Dallas office for the sales meeting at 4 p.m. in the Cosden Country Club. This will be followed by a social hour and dinner.

The meeting will be in charge of J. W. Cahill, advertising and sales promotion manager, assisted by Tom E. Cook, general manager of branded sales, W. H. Frank, manager of distributor sales, J. C. Cline, assistant distributor manager all of Dallas, and Phil van Dusen and Fred Irwin, representing the advertising agency of Geer, du Bois of New York; Sam Thurman, Lubbock, and Ray Piner, district managers at Lubbock and Albuquerque. There will be about 85 jobbers from the Lubbock, Albuquerque and Wichita Falls districts here for the meeting.

GLAMOR STOCKS

Although some issues, mainly glamor stocks, took sharp losses, the opinion in the street was that the light volume made such changes almost meaningless.

However, Fairchild Camera fell 17 1/2 points to 147 1/2 and Polaroid dropped 10 1/2 to 136. It was assumed some long-term profits were taken by many.

Blue chips, which had shown an encouraging resurgence of strength in the previous week, were down. American Telephone lost 1 1/4 at 51 1/4; General Motors fell 2 1/4 to 78 1/4; and

Stock Mart Dips On Light Volume

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week returned to its discouraged attitude of the spring and summer, falling again but on very light volume.

Turnover was 25,189,000 shares, compared with 31,209,890 for the previous week. This was the lowest volume of a full, five-day trading week since the week ended June 4 when 20.8 million shares changed hands.

Part of the reason for the decline was the very large advance made the prior week. It took the market back a sizable way from where it had fallen.

The stock market community was adopting a watch-and-wait attitude before committing itself further.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) lost 4 1/2 at 62 1/2.

Although Big Three automakers did announce price increases on their 1967 passenger car models, this news did not have a bullish affect on the stocks concerned. The thought was that the price increases were not enough to cover the rising costs of labor and materials.

BONDS ADVANCE

On Wednesday, the market took its worst loss in three weeks, a loss which brought the closely watched Dow Jones industrial average down below the once "magic" 800 level which it had recrossed on the upside in the previous week.

Of 1,573 issues traded last week, 1,128 fell and 327 rose. The Dow Jones industrial average fell 23.33 to 790.97. The Average Press average of 60 stocks lost 7.6 at 285.5, its worst loss since the week ended Aug. 27 when it fell 8.9.

Government bonds advanced while corporate and municipal bonds were about unchanged to a little easier. It marked the third net advance for Treasury bonds in four weeks.

Introducing two of the most radical changes in Volkswagen history.
Come see us and look at the 1967 Volkswagen.
You'll notice that the headlights are vertical now instead of leaning back a bit. This does not make the car look any better. But it makes the road look better by making the lights a little brighter.
You'll notice a little lump in back. That's to hold the license plate up straight so the police can read it better. (Sorry.)
The big improvements you won't notice without driving the new model.
Come see us and test drive the 1967 Volkswagen.

New Version Of Beanstalk

W. H. Perry, 1694 E. 12th, has a new version of Jack and the Beanstalk. Last May he planted a few castorbeans. They began to show ordinary growth, and then when late summer rains came, they took off like magic. At last reports, they had topped 15 feet and the end wasn't in sight. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

DEAR ABBY

Troubles With Diet

DEAR ABBY: I just have to lose weight or I will go crazy. I have tried starving, dieting (with and without a doctor's supervision), exercise, pills, shots — nothing works. I even started smoking INSTEAD of eating. I did lose weight, but I got so nervous I couldn't sleep at night, so I had a hypnotist treat me for smoking. He got me off cigarettes, but I started to drink like a fish. By the time he cured me of drinking I was my old fat self again. Last evening was the payoff. My husband took me to a dress-up affair. I wore a girdle that pushed my spare tire UP, and a bra that pushed it DOWN. I was in agony until I went to the powder room and took everything off underneath. When

I zipped my dress up, the zipper broke, the seams split, and of course, we had to go home. PLEASE, PLEASE help me! "FAT" DEAR "FAT": It's back to the doctor for you! And this time listen carefully, take his advice, and no cheating! And if HE sends you to a psychiatrist, go. What you put in your mouth is all in your head. DEAR ABBY: Just one question: How does a mother part with her child when an institution for the incurably handicapped is the only answer? A MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: She prays for the wisdom and strength to put aside all thoughts of herself, and to consider only what is best for her child. DEAR ABBY: My sister sent us her 19-year-old daughter to get a job in this city. She has been here since the 2nd of June and has gone job hunting only once. She claims she can't find anything. This girl is big and strong. She sleeps until noon because she's tired out from watching the late, late shows on TV. She lays around the house all day reading trashy magazines and eating. She pays no room and board and won't even keep her own room clean. How much longer do we have to put up with her? I can't take much more of this. HAD IT DEAR HAD IT: Give the girl some "required reading" — the WANT ADS. And tell her she has exactly one week in which to find a job and start working at it. Otherwise OUT!

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

That sweet smell about these parts is the smell of success. Our BSHS Steers were not only successful score wise, but they showed several hundred viewers how a team gets together and plays together. We're just as proud of them as if they were ours and we'd coached them. It was a good Friday night out-ting that also gave the band a wonderful opportunity to show what an excellent organization it is.

We had our friends, the W. D. McNairs, with Terry and Lee, over from Snyder as our dinner guests. This is always the best time for a visit. Both families are then silently hoping their team will win and as we have not yet played, we can relax and talk about other things. We have a few new people in our little stadium family. The JIMMY FELTSES were just behind us but most of the old bunch was there. Like the W. D. LOVELACES who didn't forget to bring their coffee like we did. Missed DEE BENNETT who is babysitting his cattle in South Dakota. The W. S. GOODLETTS and the MERLE STEWARTS are still with us as are the BERT SHIVES and MRS. DEE BENNETT, the JOHN DIBRELLS and the PAT MURPHEYS who have recently returned from Durango, Colo.

The A. A. PORTERS and the LEE PORTERS are vacationing and have been through the American Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn. The couples plan to visit the Lee Porter's son and his family, the LEWIS PORTERS, in Columbus, S. C., and the A. A. Porter's son and his family, DR. and MRS. TOMMY PORTER in Atlanta, Ga.

OLEN PUCKETT is spending the weekend with Mrs. Puckett at the home of her parents, MR. and MRS. ZD GORDON, where she is recuperating following surgery in Lubbock. She will remain for some time at the farm home of the Gordons which is on US 87 south between Lub-

Key Care Prevents Mistakes

Here are some tips on locks and keys that you should keep in mind:

Never label your keys with your name or address. More than 45 million keys are lost annually. If you lose a labeled key, the finder, if he is a burglar or prowler, has an invitation to visit you even if he mails them back to you.

Never leave your house keys on your car ignition ring, even in an attended parking lot. Keys dangling on a ring can be removed, duplicated and returned to the car in a few minutes.

A snap-apart key chain enables you to remove the major part of your key ring, leaving only the ignition key when you leave your car to be serviced or parked by an attendant.

Study Course Offered To Dental Assistants

October will be a busy month for the Permian Basin Dental Assistants' Association, according to Mrs. Joyce Clements, president.

The group met Thursday evening in the First State Bank building in Odessa in a planning session for the month's activities.

The group will begin a two-session study course using tapes by Dr. John Shirley of Dallas, an industrial psychologist. It will take 26 hours to complete the course.

Mrs. Charles Wilson, 1219 E. 16th, will host the first session on Oct. 8 and a luncheon will be served during the day. The second session will be held Oct. 22.

In other business discussed by the society, it was announced that Mrs. Wilson will accompany two dental assistants, Mrs. Marvin Callahan and Mrs. Edwin Dickson, to Reese Air Force Base Oct. 14.

At that time, Mrs. Callahan and Mrs. Dickson will take the state board examination to receive their dental assistant's license, and Mrs. Wilson will as-ist in administering the test. Climaxing Thursday's meeting, a style show was presented by the Uniform Shop of Odessa.

The next meeting will be Oct. 27 when a buffet dinner will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Big Spring Country Club. Dr. Preston Harrison, director of Big Spring State Hospital, will lead a seminar on hypnosis, and guests will be doctors and their wives.

Goals Met For Peruvian Library

Twelve of the fourteen districts in Texas Federation are responsible for 17 children's libraries having been established in Peru through the Alliance for Progress program adopted at the beginning of the 1964-66 administration. When Mr. James Boren of the State Department, Washington, D. C., called upon Mrs. J. L. Ginnings, president, to ask her assistance in interesting the club women of Texas in the program, she felt the library project was one that would be within the scope of Federation's ability to help, and the goal was set for one little library for each district. Some districts have gone beyond the call of duty.

A map showing the locations of the libraries has been sent to Mrs. Ginnings, together with letters of appreciation to the federated club women of Texas for their support of the Texas-Peruvian partnership.

AAUW Urges Support Of Teaching Program

Mrs. Gary Sims, president of the Big Spring Branch of the American Association of University Women, announced today the reappointment of Miss Anna Smith, 1308 Runnels, as chairman for the College Faculty Program 1966-67 drive for funds. The money will support the graduate study of local college women 35 years or older who are preparing for careers as college and university faculty.

ations last year, three Texas women are studying this year for their new careers. Under the leadership of Miss Smith, AAUW will again turn to the community to join in the support of this locally important program. Miss Smith is a faculty member at Howard County Junior College and dean of women. A Texas CFP pays the tuition and fees for full-time graduate study to each award winner as well as a personal stipend related to her need on the assumption that she will study within commuting distance. The stipend has ranged from $600 to $2600. Awardees may attend any regionally accredited graduate school in Texas. Twenty-four Texas women have already been in graduate school under this program and many are now at work in Texas colleges.

Mrs. Sims emphasized the timeliness and value of this program by pointing out that college enrollments have been skyrocketing, and this year they are expected to show the largest percentage increase at any educational level. With the financial assistance of community businesses, individuals, foundations and organiza-

Home demonstration club members will be identified by wearing cotton boll corsages which members will learn to make during club meetings. The public is urged to view the exhibit any time during the day. Fireplace Ashes Improve Roses Sift fireplace ashes through a half-inch netting and work them into the ground around roses, grapes and so on. Ears Are In---Side For Style This Year

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There are certain things you ought to keep under your hat, at least during the winter.

These things are ears. Ears can't tolerate exposure to the brisk winds and low temperatures, even though eyes, nose and mouth can. Ears aren't very pretty, anyway, especially not red ones.

Mothers who have not in the past necessarily been sensible about their own millinery have nevertheless insisted that their young wear headgear that cover mite-sized sensitive ears. They have put baby-caps on their babies and stocking caps on their kiddies.

YOUNG IDEA

Now that all young clothes are anybody's fashion game, baby caps and stocking caps are for mothers, too. Indeed, they are for skiers, hunters, walkers—any female averse to frostbitten ears. Of course, there are numerous other sporting styles ranging from the cone cap to the scarf hat, all dedicated to the task of keeping those heavy appendages under wraps.

Nobody bothers to sit at home knitting and purling baby bonnets and stocking caps and mittens. Fun time is too valuable for that. Today is the age of instant everything, including instant knits made by machines and yet with the handcrafted look. These kinds of earwarmers are ready to wear in the instant you buy them at your favorite hat counter. Moreover, they sometimes have hand warmers (mittens) and leg warmers (knee socks) to match.

WITH FUR

Animals thought of covering their ears with fur first. We people have recognized the merit of this plan by stealing the idea for our own. It's a very hairy fashion year anyway, with animal skins of all kinds not only serving us as coats, but even dresses and pants. Naturally, the fur hat—the style that leaves plenty of ear room—is the chic choice for those who can afford it, and who don't have a knack with knits. For those who like the look of fur but lack the wherewithal are fake fur hats also designed to protect the ears.

Ears are definitely in this year—inside a warm hat.

Ear Conditioning

Hats for winter weather include black and white fur pom pom pixie toque by Lin Mac worn by TV performer Salli Sachse, center; a white baby bonnet for ski slopes and scooter rides, designed by Zwicker, also modeled by Miss Sachse; and bottom, tassel and stocking cap of red ribbed knit by Lin Mac, worn by TV actress Mary Hughes.

DECISION

There's a difference of opinion here. Both of these Little Leaguers stand ready to put up a good argument, even though it is a foregone conclusion that the "ump" is going to win. But when the game is over, differences will be forgotten and umpire and catcher will go down to the drug store together for a banana split.

In doing so, they will be reflecting something that is a basic part of our heritage — the ability to lose, without holding a grudge . . . the ability to yield.

These are qualities important not only to sportsmanship but to life. And this importance is stressed in the most powerful of terms again and again throughout the Bible.

Little Leaguers learn the rules of sportsmanship — and of life — in one way on the playing field and in another, deeper way when they attend church with their families on Sunday. Are you taking your Little Leaguer to Church?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rake Leaves Under Rug --- With Inside-Outside Carpet

The next thing you know, you will be raking leaves under the rug!

Sound far-fetched? Not at all. Before long you'll find yourself shopping for "just the right" carpet for your backyard. Something that will pick up the colors of the marigolds, yet won't clash with the roses.

Already, durable synthetic carpets cover tennis courts, putting greens, playgrounds, and even baseball fields.

According to the Tufted Textile Manufacturers Association, no place is off limits for exciting indoor-outdoor carpeting . . . rough and ready to bring new glamour and charm to your home, inside and out.

Kitchens, bathrooms, terraces, garages, utility rooms, patios and poolside areas take on a new, fresh look with the addition of a plush, easy-to-care-for carpet created to take all that mother nature, and you, can give it.

SAFE AND SENSIBLE
Worryproof . . . wrinkleproof . . . weatherproof, indoor-outdoor carpets are also "wall-proof." Bathroom floors, poolside areas and patios padded with synthetic carpeting help prevent serious injuries resulting from falls; carpeting in kitchens helps resist stains and eliminate costly breakage; carpeted playroom or basement floors provide a safe and comfortable place for children to play.

Manufactured of man-made fibers that dare you to harm them, indoor-outdoor carpets are more than a luxury; they're a versatile necessity. Just imagine: —Stepping from a relaxing afternoon bath onto a soft, luxurious carpet; —Entertaining guests on an elegant, carpeted patio; —Watching your children doing handstands and cartwheels over a springy, durable carpeted playground.

You Can Vacuum This

Inviting patio setting is arranged on a durable, good looking, indoor-outdoor carpet called "Mardi Grass." Against a background of natural redwood and deep green plantings, this carpeted hideaway offers a perfect spot for relaxing and getting away from it all.

No need for much imagination . . . just imaginative planning to see these thoughts materialize. CAREFREE MAINTENANCE Easy to install and just as easy to maintain, carefree indoor-outdoor carpets are the best thing to happen to home decorating since the paint brush. An occasional mopping, hosing, sweeping, or vacuuming keeps this sturdy carpeting in fine shape.

The majority of these carpets are tufted of olefin polypropylene yarn solution dyed in luscious colors ready to complement the most vivid color schemes. All are completely stable, resist moisture and are extremely strong and durable.

So you see, there is nothing far-fetched in the idea of carpeting a backyard, or a front yard for that matter.

Look at it this way . . . now you will have an ideal place to hid unsightly fallen leaves!

Installation Set For Next Week

The Bykota Sunday School class of First Baptist Church will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 8, in the home of Mrs. William T. McRee, 1905 Morrison.

New officers and teachers will be installed, and all members are urged to attend.

Airport P-TA Elects Treasurer

The Airport Parent-Teacher Association met last week with Mrs. Dorothy Earp presiding and introducing the teaching staff. Each teacher was presented a flower in a milkglass bud vase. The Rev. Jack Burkholder was elected treasurer, and Mrs. Dale Vaughn's first grade class won the room count. Refreshments were served to 50.

Gifts Presented To June Richey

WESTBROOK (SC) — Miss June Richey, bride-elect of Wayne Turnage, was honored at a gift reception held Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall of Methodist Church.

The honoree's colors of pink and white were carried out in table decorations.

Mrs. Choppy Rees presided at the registry, and serving at the refreshment table were Mrs. J. D. Iglehart and Mrs. Price Hendrix. Mrs. Bill Rees read a recipe for a happy marriage.

Hostesses were members of the Builders Sunday school class and Mrs. A. A. Raschke. Approximately 25 guests attended.

Former Resident Is Married In Lindale

Miss Zinnia Clause became the bride of Danny R. Clanton on Sept. 3 in the First Assembly of God Church in Lindale.

The Rev. S. B. Echols Jr. of Leslie, Ark., officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Christie of Bennett, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Clanton of Quitman, Ark., former local residents.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, John W. Sztar, wore a gown of white lace over satin, featuring a scalloped neckline, the full-length skirt accented with tiers of chiffon and scalloped lace which formed a chapel train. A pillow of white lace and pearls held the illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by feathered carnations and lily of the valley atop a white Bible.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. Lena Clanton of Quitman and Mrs. Mary Helen Harris of Roswell, N. M., wore identical dresses of blue lace and chiffon over taffeta, and carried nosegays of feathered blue carnations.

R. B. Clanton of Quitman served his brother as best man, and John Stanley Sztar, nephew of the bridegroom, served as groomsmen. Billy Joe Harris of Roswell, N. M., and Randy Echols of Leslie, Ark., were ushers.

Following a reception held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sztar of Mineola, Mr. and Mrs. Clanton departed for a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark. For travel, the bride chose a three-piece suit of powder blue with white accessories. A white corsage completed her costume.

The bride is a graduate of Bennett High School, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Des Arc High School, Des Arc, Ark.

The couple will reside in Leslie.

Dr. Desmond McCann Speaks To Altrusans

Procedures and statistics concerning out-patient clinics were explained by Dr. Desmond McCann of the Big Spring State Hospital staff when he spoke at the Thursday luncheon of the Altrusa Club. The women met at Coker's Restaurant with Mrs. Zarah LeFevre presiding for the community service program.

Introduced by Mrs. Houston Cowden, Dr. McCann told of plans for the out-patient clinic here which will serve 42 western counties. He said that there are now 300 out-patients, all of whom are seen once a month, with others being seen more often, according to their need. This type of treatment has been given at the local hospital for the past two years. The staff assigned to this work includes Dr. McCann, another psychologist, a psychiatrist, two social workers, one secretary, a receptionist and a bookkeeper. The new out-patient operation will be in full-scale effect by July, 1967.

Dr. McCann also discussed the present adolescent population at the hospital, noting that this ward is under the supervision of Dr. Frankie Williams. Ages vary from six to 17 years. He explained that juvenile authorities are now more interested in treatment and rehabilitation of young people rather than "simply putting them away or punishment." In answering the question, "Where did the child go wrong?" he listed three main causes: overstimulation of a small child, lack of love and limit setting or lack of limit setting.

The Altrusans were reminded of the meeting Oct. 14-16 at Koko Inn in Lubbock. The next regular luncheon meeting will be Oct. 13.

Six-Year Brush Control Plan Pays For Garrett

On his ranch near Signal Mountain, Horace Garrett has proved in six years it is possible to control undesirable brush on Howard County lands.

He made a close check and found that the 10,000 acres he cleared of brush and prickly pear are now producing 27 per cent more forage than they did before the work began. This has repaid him for the cost in clearing 3,000 acres of red-berry juniper and another 7,000 acres with mesquite mixed with prickly pear.

Conservationists hail the achievement as a remarkable accomplishment.

Garrett's approach was to plan a long-range program where he could list the needs "this brush was using moisture that I needed" and methods. Then he fixed priorities on each job over a six-year period.

FEED FOR STOCK
Ranchers are in the business of growing grass and use livestock to do their harvesting. Another reason I had for doing this job was that the brush was so dense that I had difficulty in working livestock on the ranch," said Garrett.

Research has shown that mesquite uses more than 10 times the amount of water to grow a pound of brush as compared to grass. Undesirable brush species in Texas has been estimated to use 16,000,000 acre-feet of water annually.

To visualize this amount of water, consider a lake 30 miles square and being over 250 feet deep. This water loss effects not only ranchers but city dwellers as well for some would be used in municipal water supplies.

The most important factor in planning brush control is planning the management needed following treatment. Grass that has been thirsty for water that brush has been taking for many years is not usually in very good shape. It needs a period of rest from grazing to gain strength. Later, when grazing is begun, the need to keep it in good shape is important.

LEAVES HALF OF GRASS

Garrett tries to leave about half of the grass. This will protect the land, yet maintain grass in good condition.

"I don't figure the half I leave for the land is wasted at all," he said.

"It allows the plant to reproduce itself and the forage will allow more water to get into the ground instead of running off the land."

Other factors in planning brush control are the consideration of the wildlife adapted to the area. Some brush may be undesirable for livestock but essential for the preservation of game birds and animals.

FOLLOW-UP VITAL

"Even with the best controls we have we cannot expect to achieve brush eradication," said Garrett. "All we try to accomplish is to control the brush, realizing that a certain amount of follow-up maintenance will be needed. This follow-up work should be included in the overall plan, and it is least costly. I am now following up in work that was originally controlled four years ago. Henry Bliznak, a brush control contractor, is working now in two pastures treating mesquite and pear that have become evident in the past four years. Without this follow-up work, I would be in bad shape again in a few years." Information regarding planned brush control treatments, and adapted methods can be acquired by working with the local Soil and Water Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service.

PRICKLY PEAR AND MESQUITE CONTROL

Councils Should Concentrate On Policy Making

AUSTIN—City councils should not confuse policy making with policy administration, a University of Texas government professor declares in the current issue of Public Affairs, Comment.

Dr. Stuart A. MacCorkle, director of the UT Institute of Public Affairs and a former member of the Austin city council, says the most important function of a council is "to decide what is to be done" and then leave the "how" up to the city's chief administrative officer.

Although an "analysis and review of administrative policy action is clearly within the council's domain," he explains, the chief administrative officer should first be "given the opportunity to do his job" with the aid of skilled subordinates working in key positions in the managerial process.

"In council-manager government, if something goes wrong, the manager stands responsible to the council," Dr. MacCorkle continues. Therefore, attempts by individual councilmen to "short-circuit the administrator's authority by issuing direct orders to officers or employees or by requesting detailed reports from them" can only lead to friction in the administrative mechanism.

Dr. MacCorkle suggests that in today's business of urban government, city councils should concentrate more attention on people than on things.

Mirror Seeks Forest Fires

TORONTO (AP) — A mirror spinning 6,000 times a minute is part of an airborne, infrared detection system expected to cut fire loss in Canadian forests.

The system, developed in Ontario and being tested by the Department of Lands and Forests, may have been a factor in helping the province keep forest losses to a minimum this year despite increased use of the woods.

The airborne detector, reacting to extremely small amounts of infrared radiation, can locate a fire invisible to the eye. Flown over forest lands, it can pinpoint a freshly started blaze and map its boundaries.

The equipment is contained in a 60-pound, tear-shaped pod mounted on the wing of an aircraft. The spinning mirror scans a strip of ground. Any infrared radiation light from a fire is converted by electronic means into a pattern on a slowly revolving strip of film. This builds up a complete infrared picture of the forest below.

Hunters May Have Booklet

Sheriff A. N. Standard has a supply of the official Texas Hunting Guide folders, he said. These brochures, issued by the state game and fish commission, are "must" reading for hunters who are not entirely familiar with the same law and its requirements.

The folders are available at the office of the sheriff in the courthouse. Maps are featured in it, showing the seasons for various game. Definitions are provided for game terms. Explanation is made of the law dealing with game storage and sale.

Details on the cost and provisions offered by hunting licenses are printed. The legal means and methods of taking game are explained and the "don'ts" are listed under a special section captioned "It is unlawful to..."

Several hunters, Standard said, have fallen into difficulty with the law and have been dealt with by the game warden and the peace justices. Had some of these known the law fully, they might have avoided the violations for which they were cited.

A Devotional For The Day

Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. (Matthew 6:8)

PRAYER: Our Father, we praise Thy holy name that Thou carest for us from day to day. Help us to appreciate more the blessings Thou givest us unflinchingly. Confirm our minds to trust entirely in Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Your Fair Share

During the past week, the United Fund has launched its greatest challenge to the people of Howard County in seeking to raise a $139,000 goal.

It is generally acknowledged that hope of this being accomplished rests upon the assumption of a "fair share" by the rank and file of our people. This is something that can't be brushed off as just another dollar appeal. The disposition to give a dollar to whatever appeal comes along may be conscience salve, but it won't get the job done.

The appeal is being carried to as many places as possible to consider giving an hour's pay each month as a fair share of support to the United Fund.

Surely this is a reasonable suggestion. It can't deprive many of the necessities of life, and it can mean the difference between a lot of malnourished agencies trying to make Big Spring and Howard County a more livable place, a community with a heart.

So, please consider this as your minimum support this year. Most employees will help you with payroll deductions to do your fair share.

Taking Another Look

Two developments of the past week are heartening to West Texans concerned about the water future of the region. Under the guidance of Rep. George Mahon and Rep. Richard White, the U.S. House appropriated $155,000 for a preliminary survey of feasibility of importing water into the West Texas region. At the same time, Joe Moore, chairman of the Texas Water Development board, said that the board would take another look at the same subject.

At least, West Texas has overcome the inclination of some to write off the matter on grounds that geography is against it. From the beginning, West Texas has contended for a complete study of the possibilities of water importation with the right to make its own judgments as to cost.

Heretofore, the inclination has been to say in effect that "you have a problem out there; too bad about that."

One plan mentioned is to stair-step water up the Colorado River to the projected Stacey site or to the Colorado River Municipal Water District's new lake at Robert Lee. Another has been to bring water in to northeast Texas over the Fort Worth-Dallas arch. O. H. Ivie of the CRMWD thinks that there might be a good possibility of bringing northeast Texas water into the Brownwood area.

At any rate, it is encouraging to see studies resumed. If West Texas is to play its rightful role in meeting food needs in the next few decades ahead, it is going to need some new sources of water. We're late getting started.

Marquis Childs Painful Facts Of Fiscal Life

WASHINGTON — The war in Viet Nam is now costing $2.7 billion a month. Rather than a random figure picked out of the air, this is a careful calculation accepted at the highest level of government concerned with taxes and debt and the storm cloud of threatened inflation hovering over the economy.

WHAT IS more, it is believed that President Johnson is now convinced he cannot wait until January to ask Congress for an increase in personal and corporate income taxes. Nor will Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara delay until after the first of the year his long-anticipated request for the added money to finance the war. This will be in the range of $11 to $14 billion.

These stark facts of life cannot be concealed by rhetoric. For the past six months the president, as so many of his predecessors before him in troubled times, has been imprisoned on the rack between the pulls of policy and politics.

CHAIRMAN Wilbur D. Mills of the tax-writing ways and means committee in the House called some time ago for a forthright statement of what the war was costing, how much economy could be expected in domestic programs. He found the reply sent by the Treasury vague and ambiguous. With Mills feeling he had been given a runaround, this did not improve the atmosphere. Autocrat of the tax-writing business, the chairman is at best not easy to deal with. To several high-level visitors who have pressed him recently on taxes and inflation, the President has said, "Go up and talk to Wilbur about that." But talking to Wilbur, without authority to lay down presidential guidelines, is a rather futile exercise.

McNAMARA'S tactic in muffling the mounting cost of the war is also the source of widespread grumbling. In the current budget Viet Nam spending is based on the assumption the war will begin to phase out in June and the American commitment curtailed. The reason, the secretary explains, is to prevent the services from overspending. He cites the waste of some $20 billion in materiel at the end of the Korean War as a horrible example of what he means to avoid.

But the rapid escalation in the cost of the war has created a growing sense of the unreality of the administration's fiscal stance. During 1966 the cost has gone from an estimated $1.5 billion to $2 billion to the current $2.7 billion a month. Added to his other troubles with Congress it leaves McNamara virtually no margin for error. Initially he had hoped to postpone presenting Congress with the bad news until January.

FOR MOST of us the money supply and interest rates are academic. But what has been happening in recent months brings it down to the pinch of daily life. A loan for a year in college is hard to come by. The interest rate has skyrocketed on mortgages and money is not there. The real estate market is slowing to a jog trot.

Whether this is the way to cure inflation is, to say the least, questionable. The debate has been going on since last December when the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate despite the fervent plea of the President. Don't apply the brake on the money supply, the President argued, until you see our budget for next year.

AS A SOP to the chorus demanding action to damp down the rise in prices and interest rates, the President called for cancelling the seven per cent investment credit. That undoubtedly fed the boom but the effect of cancellation will hardly be felt before six months. With the crucial date of Nov. 8 in the offing it was a gesture calculated to offend the minimum number of voters who could in any event be counted as already alienated from the Great Society.

Federal Reserve Board using the authority under a new measure, will impose a ceiling on long-term certificates of deposit, dropping the interest rate perhaps half of one per cent from its present level.

EFFECTIVE as this will be, in a limited sense it is not, in the view of those profoundly concerned with the direction of the economy, a substitute for a tax increase to soak up surplus money. Nor, said as it must seem to the President, are his appeals for voluntary cooperation from the bankers, trade unions, industry any more effective in throttling down the racing engine of prosperity.

ONCE YOU UNLEASH SOMETHING LIKE THAT—

Business Review Picture Spotted As Inflation Battle Joined

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle against inflation rolled on during the week as the government made new moves against it.

The Johnson administration restricted interest rates, put a freeze on federal hiring and hinted about possible tax increases.

Within an hour after President Johnson signed a new law giving them authority to do so, the government agencies that regulate banks and savings and loan associations announced ceilings on the interest rates these institutions will be permitted to pay their depositors.

The ceiling for regular savings and loan accounts will vary between 4 1/2 per cent and 5 1/2 per cent, depending on the part of the country involved.

The purpose is to prevent further escalation in interest rates paid to depositors.

CAR PRICE HIKE

The Big Three automakers — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — announced price increases on 1967 models.

GM's boost averaged $56, Ford's $113 and Chrysler's $92. The manufacturers claimed that the price hikes resulted from safety equipment added to cars as standard equipment for 1967 and did not reflect increased wages and fringe benefits and higher costs of steel, copper and other materials.

It was estimated that the price boost, on the basis of projected 1967 model sales of 900,000 cars, would cost the American consumers nearly $1 billion.

President Johnson said he regretted the price increases and Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, criticized it.

Higher prices for food, used cars and medical care boosted the cost of living another 4 per cent in August.

PRICE INDEX UP

The government's consumer price index rose to 113.5, which meant that it cost $11.35 to purchase items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the

UP AND DOWN

- New orders drop; housing starts off 26 per cent

index is based.

The biggest price rises in August were for food, up 1.3 per cent.

The index so far this year was up 2.5 per cent, more than double the rise in the first eight months of last year and the biggest climb for the period since 1957.

Johnson disclosed plans to sell a new Treasury savings certificate to individuals, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler explained that the new certificate will offer a "much higher rate of interest" than the 4.15 per cent paid on savings bonds held to maturity, but the buyer will have to hold it longer before it can be cashed in.

SOFTEN IMPACT

The House Ways and Means

Committee reached agreement Thursday on legislation carrying out Johnson's basic anti-inflation proposals but containing several modifications to soften the impact on business.

The committee voted to suspend from Sept. 9 until Dec. 31, 1967, the 7 per cent investment credit authorized in 1962 to encourage businesses to expand their facilities.

New business statistics were rather disappointing. New orders received by manufacturers of durable goods dropped 4.5 per cent during August to their lowest level in nine months. Construction activity dropped slightly during August to its lowest level since last fall. Housing starts fell to an annual rate of 1,057,000 units, off 2 per cent from July and down 24 per cent from August, 1965.

CLOTHES COST MORE

Clothing industry executives indicated that prices of men's suits will be rising for the fall of 1967. Hart Schaffner & Marx, one of the largest manufacturers and retailers of men's clothing, plans to raise retail price of men's suits about five per cent, or an average of about $5 each. Other suit manufacturers said they haven't determined their fall 1967 prices, but the higher labor costs make a rise inevitable.

Automobile production during the week rose to 170,628 passenger cars, up from 153,622 the previous week and 150,210 a year ago.

Steel production rose in the week to 2.67 million tons, up from 2,415,000 the previous week.

The National Feminine Movement

LISBON (AP) — Portugal's National Feminine Movement (MNF) has launched a campaign for every Portuguese to contribute one hour of his salary for the support of the movement.

The MNF is a semi-official group of 80,000 women volunteers organized to support Portugal's 100,000 troops stationed in its African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Guinea to fight against guerrillas.

The MNF says it expects to gather about four million Escudos ($140,000) in its fund-raising drive.

Around The Rim That Cute Little Wiggle

It's mighty easy to talk when you should be listening, and many of the woes of this world are created by the quick tongue. And frequently what is uttered is done in all innocence, or terribly misunderstood.

Ran across a little article written some time back that interested me, because it had to do with a feminine characteristic which men are just naturally interested in. The way women walk.

THE GUY WHO talked and may have later regretted it was a specialist in orthopedics, and he, in the course of what must have been a scientific lecture, said that women have no physiological reason for wiggling when they walk. The cause of the wiggle, he said, is a combination of short steps and stiff knees.

That did it.

A woman along in years who said she had been a woman longer than the man had been a surgeon, said, "If he thinks women go around walking with stiff knees, he must be some kind of a nut." The doctor had nothing to say.

CONTINUED SHE: "We do not look for reasons, physiological or otherwise, for the things we do." The doctor said he wouldn't comment.

And on: "We do the things that come naturally to the feminine members of the human race. And we are not interested in the medical point of view — only the masculine point of view."

BY THIS TIME, the doctor said he was willing to drop the whole thing.

I would not follow the doctor into such a dilemma. The physiological aspect had not occurred to me, but if there is a man with soul so dead that he can't tell the difference (rear perspective) between what might be a wiggle — or a lift — and stiff knees, then he is blind or a dumkopf. Didn't Nature have something to do with this?

THERE WAS a fair creature, you will recall, name of Marilyn Monroe, who was assigned the bit in her first film of walking down a street, the camera moving along behind. This may have changed the whole mode of female movement for a generation, and it led Miss Monroe own to her own type of fame. It never occurred to me that Miss Monroe had stiff knees, or that she was taking unnecessarily short steps. I just thought she was quite a walker.

THE BOOKS say that since time immemorial the female of the species has offered her charms to attract the male, whether it be in adornments, in scents, in the alluring smile, the come-hither look, or the subtly soft voice. Nobody has ever tried to buck this trend.

And if the bit includes a sort of sexy swing of the — er, of the well, let's say of the hips, who's going to argue? Not most of us fellows.

REALLY, there's no scientific explanation for it, and that's where the doctor made his mistake. A woman's walk, like the rest of her, is all her own. Ain't nature grand?

Art Buchwald That's What I Thought You Said

WASHINGTON — It has been reported that President Johnson has a bugging device in his specially built limousine which has a reverse twist on it. Although the people along the route can't hear what he is saying, the device makes it possible for him to hear what the people are saying.

This is a very dangerous thing for any politician to do. Those of us who have covered many political campaigns know that what the people seem to be yelling and what they are actually yelling are two different things.

I TRULY fear for the consequences. Suppose the President is driving down Main Street and he turns his bugging system on. This is what he might hear:

"Officer, when is this parade going to be over? I'm trying to get to the shoe store before it closes."

"Don't ask me, lady. But you can't cross until the President goes by."

"Why not? I didn't vote for him."

"THAT'S NOT the point. We have orders not to let anybody cross the street."

"But what about my shoes?"

"Lady, how often does the President of the United States drive down the Main Street of Ranpucket?"

"How often do I get a chance to buy a new pair of shoes?"

"Hey, you kids, get back there. The President's going by."

"CRAZY, MAN. We thought the fuzz on the motorcycles were looking for us."

"Look, he's waving at us."

"Don't wave back. He'll think we're for his policy in Viet Nam."

"If you don't stop pulling my ears I'm not going to let you sit on my shoulders."

"Which one is the President, Daddy?"

"I can't see. You've got your shoe in my eye."

"We want Bobby. We want Bobby. We want Bobby."

"What about the cost of living, Mr. President?"

"Send George Hamilton to Saigon."

"OKAY, FOLKS, now get back. Get back."

"Free Adam Clayton Powell."

"Who's the fellow in the car with Congressman Healy?"

"That's the President, you dope."

"He'll never save Healy."

"He'll never save Healy."

"Martha, Martha, I'm over here."

"I see you but I can't get over to you until this damn parade is over."

"OFFICER, I'm from the press. How many people would you say are lined up along the street?"

"The chief of police told us not to say."

"Could you hazard a guess?"

"About 2,000, but the chief's a Democrat so he'll probably tell you 10,000."

"We want Bobby. We want Bobby. We want Bobby."

"All right. I'll buy you a popsicle as soon as it's over."

"There he is. There he is. Oh, I wish he'd stop and shake hands with us."

THE President immediately shouts something to his driver who stops the limousine. The President climbs out and goes over and starts shaking hands. Then he gets back into the car again, smiling and very pleased.

"He stopped and shook hands with us, Gertrude! It's almost as if he heard exactly what you were saying."

David Lawrence Katzenbach Change Stirs Speculation

WASHINGTON — When a member of the cabinet resigns to accept a subordinate post under another cabinet officer and at the same time has to take a cut of $5,000 a year in salary, there is bound to be an arching of eyebrows all over the capital.

CERTAINLY if this happened anywhere else in government or business, it would be assumed that someone was being demoted. But President Johnson, at his news conference, said:

"As far as I am concerned, he (Katzenbach) is not concerned with title or promotions or demotions. He is concerned with serving the interests of the nation."

While this is a tactful observation, it doesn't have a ring of persuasiveness because, in the first place, Mr. Katzenbach has to all intents and purposes been doing a good job as attorney general and actually has little familiarity with the operations of the department of state, where he is to become the No. 2 executive.

SO THE gossip takes a very wide range. Some people hereabouts think that President Johnson was determined to make a change at the head of the department of justice and that, while he is not particularly dissatisfied with Mr. Katzenbach's services, he wanted to get an entirely different personality to help manage the department.

Naturally there is speculation as to whether the involvement of Mr. Katzenbach in the civil-rights problem may have had some adverse reactions. There are those who think he has been too aggressive in his enforcement of the civil-rights laws and not sufficiently flexible to take account of the various political reactions in this kind of controversy.

INDEED, AS the presidential campaign of 1968 approaches, President Johnson may feel that he needs as attorney general someone with a good deal of maneuverability.

It is true that Mr. Katzenbach was professor of international law at the University of Chicago from 1956 to 1961, but he has had no experience in the making of foreign policy. If the President was really looking for someone with expert knowledge in the international field, he had available in the government itself many other men, particularly in the foreign service, from whom he could have made a selection.

It is natural to assume that, if the second man in any department makes a good record, he will be eligible for appointment to the top post when there is a vacancy. But if Secretary Rusk should resign, the general feeling here is that Ambassador Goldberg is likely to take his place.

AS FOR THE new attorney general, speculation immediately arose as to whether Ramsey Clark of Texas, Mr. Katzenbach's deputy who now becomes acting attorney general, will be given the nomination. The President was asked at his news conference whether the fact that the father of the deputy attorney general is on the Supreme Court would rule out his son for the top place in the department. The President replied:

"I won't get into that. I haven't made any decision on that, as I have said to you before."

FOR WHERE there is any "conflict of interest" in cases that come before the justices, they usually rule themselves out. It would be impractical for Associate Justice Tom Clark to do so, because every case for or against the federal government that comes before the highest court involves the department of justice in some manner. Maybe Justice Clark has planned to retire anyway, as he will be 67 years old this week and has been on the high court nearly 17 years.

Billy Graham

We had a group of singers in our church which sang beat songs with a drum and guitar. True, these songs had a Gospel message, but the rhythm shocked some of our people. What do you think of this kind of music. I have never heard Bey Shee or Cliff Barrows render this sort of music, and I wonder if you approve. —W. B.

The Psalmist said, "Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord." I am in favor of any kind of music which glorifies God. Perhaps the church has failed to appeal to many people because the music has been dull, staid, and lacking in feeling. While I do not encourage "beat music," as it is sometimes called, in our crusades, I am in favor of spirited singing, and joyful music. In London, Earl's Court resounded with happy singing, and some of it bordered on the foot-tapping variety. I believe that worshipful songs should be used in a service of worship. But I also believe that joyful, happy songs are acceptable in the evangelistic service, and make an appeal to the un-churched. I notice that some of our popular singers on television use a change of pace, mixing rhythm with a more deliberate style when it comes to a dignified hymn or Gospel song. I too feel that when one wants to get over a serious message in song, it is sometimes best to steer clear of the rhythmic treatment, so the words can penetrate the mind and heart of the hearers.

"The name of Richard Rogers spells magic to millions the world over. The program features some of the best music from the versatile pen of the master, and underscores such rewarding musical experiences as 'Victory at Sea' written for television and 'Slaughter on Tenth Avenue' written for ballet. Of course the perennial Broadway show favorites of Rogers and those written with his collaborators Hart and Hammerstein will be heard in plentiful numbers throughout this gala evening."

First Piano Quartet

"An old 'American Institution' scores success after success with its distinguished repertoire including Paganini, Chopin, Milhaud, Ellsten, Lecuona, Saint-Saens, Strauss, Liszt, and Mozart. This gifted team has rightfully earned the title 'Forty Fabulous Fingers'."

As an added attraction the Quartet will be joined by the Big Spring High School Chorus to present Carl Orff's "Catulla Carmina."

Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale

"The impact of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale resounds through the vast Permian Basin. Now considered one of the most exciting cultural achievements of Texas and the entire country, it is in the midst of its fifth season, under the inspired leadership of Dr. Lara Hoggard."

Rolf Bjoerling

"Rolf Bjoerling is a lyric tenor in the great tradition of his father, the late and beloved Jussi Bjoerling. Young Bjoerling has appeared extensively on the operatic stages of Europe and in recital. A N. D. Horse Costs $10 Daily

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The mimeographed sheet headed "detailed shooting schedule" was a breakdown, scene by scene, of the actors, props and livestock needed in an episode of "Gunsmoke."

The actors in Scene One were the cast regulars, five cowboys and two women, all extras. The prop was a hatbox for Kitty, proprietor of the Long Branch saloon. The live stock needed was "wagon & 1-up, 4 N.D. horses, 1 dog."

STAR SYSTEM

Robert J. Miles, whose title is "director of livestock" on the CBS hit, concentrated on the last. On the day the scene was shot, a wagon drawn by a single horse stood on the set simulating Dodge City's main street. Four well-mannered horses drooped quietly before the hitching rail, and a dog, accompanied by his trainer, awaited the director's instructions.

The star system operates even in the television animal business. At the bottom of the status pile is the "N.D. horse" — the initials stand for "non-descript" — and these are the animals just used to dress a set. Mostly they just stand around like extras to provide some color or when the hero gallops up in front of the saloon.

$10 A DAY

"The basic price for an N.D. horse is $10 a day," said Miles. "But that goes up to $15 a head when he has something to do. He becomes a 'semi-cast horse,' like a bit player."

The next step up is to become a full-fledged "cast horse," and the price goes to $25 a day. These are the mounts of members of the cast, usually guest stars.

At the top of the heap is the "contract horse," whose owner is paid $100 a week under contract, and which is never used on other shows even when the production company is on vacation. Such a horse is Chappo, the big animal ridden by "Gunsmoke" star Jim Arness. The animal is the fourth used by Arness under contract over the

'AMBUSH BAY'
Mickey Rooney stars

Mickey Rooney Plays Rugged Marine In Film

Sometime when you have nothing else to do, take all the reels of film in which Mickey Rooney appears and unwind it west. Your reel will easily reach to the Philippines, where The Mick recently finished "Ambush Bay," opening in Color by De Luxe Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. Hugh O'Brien and James Milchum co-star in the war drama about a marine patrol on a mission preceding General MacArthur's historic invasion of the Philippines.

Rooney, now 39, has appeared in over 100 feature films since he first appeared in "Not To Be Trusted" in 1927. During this span of performances he has played everything from his famous Andy Hardy character to the infamous "Baby Face Nelson."

Born in Brooklyn, Mickey's parents were Joe Yule and Nell Carter, top vaudevillians who moved their young son into the act. At the age of five he made his movie debut and at six began a series of film comedies as the lead character of the "Mickey McGuire" series, thus acquiring his life-long first name. During the early '30s he starred in many other films, and was signed to an MGM contract in 1935. At Metro, Rooney appeared in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Ah, Wilderness," "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and

"Captain's Courageous," among many others. In 1939 he received a special Academy Award for his role opposite Spencer Tracy in "Boys' Town" and was also named "King" of the movies for acting awards in 1939 and 1940 and won more nominations in 1943 for "The Human Comedy" and in 1956 for "The Brave and the Bold."

On television, Rooney has twice received Emmy Award nominations for his acting in "The Comedian" and "Eddie." His filmed TV series, "Hey Mulligan" was seen on the NBC network. Since leaving MGM, Rooney has formed his own producing company, Barbaloo, Inc. and rejuvenated an old and neglected career of songwriting. He has appeared on major TV variety shows and toured the night-club circuit.

But, says The Mick, movies are his first love. In "Ambush Bay" he plays a rough, tough, war-hardened marine hero. Of all his "tough-guy" roles on the screen to date, the Sergeant Wartell part is his most demanding and for Mickey the most satisfying.

"This cat comes on like the whole Marine Corps. When he lands, even the beach backs off."

'HOW TO STEAL A MILLION'

Comedy On Art Forgery Opens

William Wyler's comedy on art forgery and the chic world of fashion, "How to Steal a Million," will have its local premiere at the Ritz Theatre today. In Panavision and De Luxe color, it stars Audrey Hepburn and Peter O'Toole and co-stars Eli Wallach and Hugh Griffith, with a special guest appearance by Charles Boyer.

Since France is the center of the modern art, and Paris is the center of France, Wyler chose the French capital as the site for his filming. As Nicole, Miss Hepburn plays the daughter of a virtuoso forger, portrayed by Hugh Griffith. She regrets his life of crime, but she loves him dearly and only hopes he will not get into too much trouble.

O'Toole, as Simon Dermott, enters her life when she captures him as a suspected burglar in her father's mansion. She does not discover until later that he is actually a detective who specializes in solving crimes peculiar to the art world.

For the film, Wyler needed some 70 canvases and 12 pieces of sculpture, all by the world's leading artists, including Renoir, Van Gogh, Cezanne and others. The trouble was, however, that the masterpieces had to be forgeries — so realistic that they could pass for the genuine articles.

So early last year, behind padlocked doors at the Studios de Boulogne, just outside Paris, seven of the Continent's finest artists began their work. By year's end they had what has been called "the greatest collection of art forgeries in history." So realistic are the paintings that Los Angeles experts who recently viewed them implored the studio never to let them out of their hands, or surely some day they would be passed as genuine articles.

Little Theatre Pushes Season Ticket Sales

Although the ticket sale pace is about the same as last year, little theatre members were hoping to show a substantial increase in the next few weeks.

Residents interested in season script for the four planned productions may get them at the chamber of commerce or from board members. Cost is considerably less than the single ticket admissions for the individual plays.

Rehearsals are being held nightly, and work crews are also putting in considerable time getting the revamped movie house set for legitimate theatre. Help is still needed in this work, however, and persons willing to lend a hand are invited to contact Mrs. Richard Davis for more information.

Season tickets cost $25 for patron memberships, which allows the holder to an unlimited number of admissions for each play of the season. The sponsor memberships allows 20 admissions during the season for $15; the family membership gives 12 admissions for $8; and the single ticket gives five admissions for $5. Students and airmen may get a five admission ticket for $2.50.

Gate prices are $1.50 per adult and 75 cents for children and airmen.
