The Wave Wasn't Needed

The driver of the flooded car had troubles enough at Miami, Fla., when his car was stalled in high water from Hurricane Inez and then along comes a doubtful friend in a larger car and sends a high wave almost over the top of the midjet. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Killer Storm Stalls In Gulf Of Mexico

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez, growing meaner again over the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ground today to an ominous stop, lashing the seas with winds up to 126 miles an hour.

Blocked by an immense high pressure system over the gulf, the killer storm stalled after hitting the Dry Tortugas, 68 miles west of Key West, with gusts of 114 to 126 mile velocity.

Unable to turn northward toward the upper Gulf Coast states, Inez now had two logical choices. She could swing back to northeast and strike Florida another blow—this time a more deadly one. Or she could move to the southwest, toward Central America.

Forecasters, dealing with the most unpredictable storm ever to howl out of the tropics, predicted that Inez would remain stationary for 24 hours before going on the prowl again.

Now, in her 12th day, she was in the Gulf, with 700,000 square miles of warm tropic water to reheat her engine and new coastal targets in nearly all directions.

At her last landfall, from Palm Beach to Key West, four persons died and more than a dozen were hurt. The storm-related deaths added to the list of victims that totaled hundreds in the Caribbean.

Downtown Merchants Post Big Prizes For Kick-Off

Prizes in cash, certificates and a variety of merchandise items totaling more than $3,000 will be offered to the public on Oct. 15, when Big Spring celebrates a new phase of its "Operation Sparkle" program.

The opening of the new street itself will be at 10 a.m. with appropriate formalities. The Big Spring High School Band will play, the Ambassadors Club will participate, and there will be a special demonstration by the Sweetwater-ettes, a group of junior high school girls from the neighbor city, who, brilliantly costumed, perform as a baton-twirling team.

The first was the opening of a public parking lot at Second and Main, site of the old First National Bank building.

In addition to special awards from the 29 firms, there will be cash prizes awarded as a climax to the Oct. 15 event in the amount of $250. First award will be $100, and there will be two $75 awards. Registration for the cash prizes may be done at any participating store.

Merchandise to be given away ranges all the way from a Honda motorbike to a set of book ends. There are diamonds and sofas, clocks and cameras, shoes and suits, coats and hats, stoles and sweaters. The variety is outlined in advertising appearing in The Herald, together with information on when prizes will be announced during the celebration day.

Still to come are other downtown streets and walks, plus attractive circular walks at intersections. It is planned, under a master program, to give all the downtown this kind of treatment.

Opening of Main Street, marked by new, colored sidewalks, a lowering of curbs, and new paving, marks a second major step in the downtown renovation.

Participants include: Zale's, Prager's, White's, Blum's, Jewelers, McCrory's, Foster Drug, Stanley Hardware, Ward, Boot, Saddle & Western Wear, Hester's, Book Stall, J&K Shoe Store, Big Spring Furniture, Anderson Music, Thomas Office Supply, Barnes - Pelletier's, Jack Lewis is Buck and Cadillac, Swartz, Elme Wasson, Big Spring Hardware, Kid's Shop, Miss Texas Shop, City Pawn Shop, Sears, Hemphill - Wells, Anthony's, Mellinger's, Gibbs & Weeks, First National Bank and State National Bank.

Ruby Retrieval Ordered By State's Top Court

Oswald Murder Guilt Reversed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed today the death-penalty conviction of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, Oswald was identified by the Commission as President Kennedy's assassin.

The opinion said recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court in the cases of Willie Sol Estes and Dr. Samuel Sheppard as well as the record in the Ruby trial make it "abundantly clear" that the trial court "reversibly erred in refusing (Ruby's) motion for a change of venue" (to a trial site other than Dallas.)

The state's highest court for criminal cases sent the case back for retrial in some other county than Dallas.

The opinion said recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court in the cases of Willie Sol Estes and Dr. Samuel Sheppard as well as the record in the Ruby trial make it "abundantly clear" that the trial court "reversibly erred in refusing (Ruby's) motion for a change of venue" (to a trial site other than Dallas.)

POLICE TESTIMONY: The three-man court held that the trial court erred in admitting as evidence testimony by police officers of conversations with Ruby shortly after the killing.

NEWS COVERAGE: In the Sheppard case the U.S. Supreme Court reversed the Cleveland physician's murder conviction on grounds that extensive newspaper coverage had created such climate of opinion that he was denied a fair trial.

NOT ADMISSIBLE: "Obviously this statement constituted an oral confession of premeditation made while in police custody and therefore was not admissible. The admission of this testimony was clearly injurious and calls for reversal of this conviction," the opinion said.

SHORT OPINION: Compared to the voluminous record and appeal briefs in the case, Morrison's opinion for the court was dramatically short—three pages.

NOT FINAL: The court's order by presiding Judge W. A. Morrison said that the reversal on grounds of the inadmissible testimony made it unnecessary to discuss in detail "the error of the court in failing to grant (Ruby's) change in venue."

Asked what role he would play in prosecution if the trial moves to a new county, Wade replied, "It will depend on where it's moved. Wherever it's moved, it depends on the attorney there. If he needs us to help him, we will, of course."

Weather Slows But Can't Stop Annual Pig Show

Weighing in operations at the 21st Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club pig show were moving at a snail's pace early today. The rains of Tuesday and this morning were slowing activities. Pickups were lined up for a block as exhibitors awaited their turn at the scales. Weighing was due to be over by noon.

Chilly weather brought out coats and gloves for those working with the show, and sloppy grounds offered little comfort. Regardless, Paul Gross, superintendent, said that it appeared his estimate of 120 entries would likely be achieved. The youngsters from the clubs and FFA chapters were not letting the weather keep them away.

Reports from Canada had tied a pause in the bombing there to an effort to scale down military operations in that section as a possible approach to peace.

The afternoon will be used by the exhibitors getting their animals in top shape for their parade before Gene Gaston, Springlake, the judge in the show ring on Thursday.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers, choosing his words carefully, placed the no-bombing decision in a somewhat different context. He said it was done "in an effort to permit an ICC (International Control Commission) investigation of alleged violations of the 1954 Geneva Treaty as it relates to the demilitarized zone."

In response to questions, Moyers said, "I'm not in a position to describe it as a suspension of bombing."

The annual pig show is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Jaycees have been busy all week lining up buyers for the auction. The public is invited to attend all phases of the show, particularly the auction.

Prize money totalling about $200 will be awarded in the several categories in the show. Awards will go to the first 10 best showman.

Special trophies will be awarded for the grand champion pig of the show, for the reserve champion, and for the best showman.

Judging gets under way at 9 a.m. Thursday. The closing event will be the big auction sale at the barn at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Only 30 of the pigs in the show will be sold.

Texas Demos Set Ambush For Tower

AUSTIN (AP)—With the prestige of President Johnson and Gov. John Connally at stake, Texas Democrats are setting a multi-million dollar ambush for the state's lone Republican in Congress, Sen. John Tower.

With just as much effort, and money, Republicans are trying to make Tower's campaign for a second term into a vehicle for regaining ground they lost in the 1964 election.

The situation is complicated because both Tower and his Democratic opponent, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, are conservatives. Carr faces the very real possibility of a boycott of the polls by liberal Democrats, who have been feuding with the party's dominant conservative faction for a decade.

Most observers agree that Tower, from his favorable position as the incumbent, got off to a better campaign start.

CHANCES BETTER: However, Democrats claim Carr's chances have increased daily since he got unqualified backing of Johnson and Connally, the undisputed top political powers in a state that has been predominantly democratic since the civil war.

Carr also claims full support of the 23 Democratic members of Congress and of former Gov. Allan Shivers and Price Daniel. Shivers, who led state party machinery to support Republican Dwight Eisenhower for president in 1952 and 1956, has aided some statewide GOP candidates in the past.

B52 Raid Kills 100

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force announced today that a B52 raid two months ago killed more than 100 Viet Cong soldiers, the largest claim of the war for a B52 strike.

The Air Force's delayed report said the long-range bombers on Aug. 25 hit two target areas 55 miles northwest of Saigon in Tay Ninh province.

Bid Opening On Lake Project Due Thursday

The zero hour for the projected big lake of the Colorado River Municipal Water District near Robert Lee comes here at 2 p.m. Thursday. Bids on the dam and the spillway and other structures will be opened in the Settles ballroom.

Thirty-eight general contractors checked out plans for the job, which may be in the neighborhood of eight million dollars. About two dozen contractors have made on-the-ground studies of the site, and O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, said he was anticipating at least a dozen and a half bidders on the huge job.

Some of the largest contractors in the nation have checked out plans for the job which entails moving about 11 1/2 million cubic yards of earth in the construction of a dam which will be 22,000 feet long and well over a hundred feet high.

The massive - gated morning glory concrete spillway, its outlets and stilling basin are expected to represent about two and three quarter million dollars of the total cost of the dam structure. The district has yet to arrange for mounds which will put two dozen wells "in the dry," and for relocation of a state highway. Land, utility line removals, rip-rap rock and other expenses are expected to run the total cost to around $12,000,000. The pipeline contractor will come later.

ONE GIFT WORKS MANY WONDERS THE UNITED WAY

TEXANS AT WAR

'He Never Knew What Hit Him'

By The Associated Press
It is difficult for Staff Sgt. Elphas Wade Linder, 26, to talk of his buddy's death. His mouth becomes dry. He opens his gray eyes wide and takes a deep breath before beginning.

For Linder, a Texan at war in Viet Nam, the death of Sgt. John Edward Miller, 29, is something too vivid, too tragic to strike from the mind.

WELL DUG IN
Linder accompanied Miller's body home to Granbury, Tex., in June, serving as official escort. He returned then to complete his year-long tour of duty in South Viet Nam.

Now he is home in Fort Worth with his wife, a daughter, Kimberly, 4, and son, Kelly, not yet 1. A native of Anderson County in East Texas, he is awaiting reassignment in Germany.

"We were out on a routine sweeping mission," he said as his mind reluctantly flashed back to the steamy jungles of Viet Nam, "and ran into what we discovered was a heavy weapons company.

"They were well dug in and we were getting them out.

SHOT THROUGH HEAD
"We ran into strong resistance and his (Miller's) squad got stopped on the left flank. The platoon leader was going to pull us back and fire in artillery.

"But he (Miller) was hit before he could pull back."

Linder paused and took another deep breath.

"It took us a half hour or 45 minutes to get to him. We didn't know how bad he was hit."

Pausing again, Linder, as if out of breath, said:

"He was shot one round right through the head. He never knew what hit him."

President Hits Pay Dirt In Drive To Slow Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has hit pay dirt in the Senate in his drive to hold down inflationary spending but the zig-zagging economy vein could run out quickly.

While the Senate was voting 45 to 27 Tuesday to lop about $750 million off anti-poverty program authorizations, its Finance Committee was loading up a House-passed foreign investors tax bill with 22 amendments. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said would drain $600 million out of the treasury.

KENNEDY BILL
Johnson's victory in holding anti-poverty spending to the $1.75 billion he budgeted for it was achieved at the expense of projects sponsored within the Senate Labor Committee by Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Both had contended the war on poverty should be escalated. The cut in the over-all poverty outlays came after Johnson had taken the unusual course of summoning Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to the White House Monday night.

DIRKSEN HELPS
Dirksen reported that Johnson "fulminated like Hurricane Inez" when he talked about Congress' trend toward boosting spending above the levels of his budget.

The result was a proposal by Mansfield to chop the $2.5 billion poverty bill back to $2.1

Local Teachers Attend CTA Meet

AUSTIN — A number of Big Spring teachers will join 125 education leaders Saturday in Lubbock for the third of six area leadership conferences sponsored by the 40,000 member Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

Teachers from four TCTA districts will represent 44 classroom teachers associations in 84 counties.

Mrs. Ola Mae Robertson, president of the Big Spring CTA, said that teachers will discuss local problems, exchange ideas and explore ways of developing quality in their profession. They will attend their choice of seven section meetings covering legislation, welfare, program, professional rights and responsibilities, teacher education and professional standards, membership and professional relations.

A workshop for District IV of the TCTA was held Monday night in Midland at the Holiday Inn, Mrs. Robertson said. Mrs. Ray Cantrell, Boydston teacher and membership chairman for District IV, was in charge of the program.

Nazi War Criminal Offered TV Pact

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) today was reported negotiating with Baldur von Schirach to pay the freed Nazi war criminal to appear on a television news program.

Von Schirach, head of the Nazi youth movement and gauleiter of occupied Vienna, was released from Spandau Prison in West Berlin Friday night after having served a 20-year sentence.

Foreign Aid Measure Due New Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rolled up the guns today for another foreign policy clash across the old, battered battlefield of foreign aid.

And Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., a commander of the forces supporting the air program, acknowledged the measure faced new attacks.

But he cautioned that if it was cut much more it would be like "throwing a 10-foot rope toward a man drowning a mile from shore."

"A noble effort, but not very realistic."

FUNDS SLASHED
The House and then the Senate Appropriations Committee pared the aid bill down to $3.04 billion from the $3.4 billion the administration originally requested.

But Pastore, aware that all the axes haven't been sheathed, observed in an interview: "It's going to be a serious chore to retain the amount as reported by the committee."

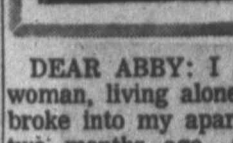

Action on the aid appropriation should add fuel to the off-and-on Senate debate over Viet Nam, its cost and the possible roads to war and peace.

Senators Tuesday heard efforts to cool off any talk of using nuclear weapons in the war — and had cold water splashed on any hopes the Soviet Union might play a peace-maker role now.

NO HANOI CHANGE
"I am sorry to say I do not see that prospect," Foy D. Kohler, the American ambassador in Moscow for four years, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kohler, questioned by the Senators on his nomination as deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, said he had tried to get Soviet leaders to undertake a mediation role, such as they did in settling the India-Pakistan border fight.

DEAR ABBY Just Give Him The Message

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, living alone. A prowler broke into my apartment about two months ago. A police investigation followed. Now the investigating officer is making a pest of himself. He drops in for coffee any time he feels like it. He talks incessantly about his domestic problems and his children. Recently he has made some very cutting remarks about his wife from whom he says he is separated.

He has even maneuvered a couple of home-cooked dinners by dropping in at meal time. I am afraid if I give him the ax any other married man would have received in the beginning, all future calls for help from the police department might be ignored. How can I get rid of him?

DEAR STUCK: Thank the man for his diligence as a police officer, but tell him you would prefer he not continue to drop in. And if he doesn't get the message, tell the chief. That should end it and keep the record straight for the future.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for two years and already she is tired of me. She swears she still loves me as much as ever, but what am I supposed to believe when she tells me she wants twin beds? We are moving from our small apartment into a little house and the question of a bedroom suite came up.

That's when she told me she wanted twin beds. Before we were married we agreed on a double bed, and she seemed satisfied. I have argued all I can. She insists that we will both sleep better in twin beds. Maybe SHE will, but I am hurt.

DEAR MICKY: If she swears she still loves you, what do you want, an affidavit? Remember you agreed on a double bed BEFORE you were married, so you can't blame her for not knowing your sleeping habits. Maybe you snore, hog the bed or snatch the blankets. Quit arguing. Absence could make the heart grow fonder.

DEAR ABBY: Exactly how should a minister's wife dress in this day and age? I get so much criticism I hate to go out of the house.

Is there anything wrong with a sheath dress, which is neither too short nor too tight, but is sleeveless? And shouldn't a minister's wife be able to wear colors? (People would like to see me in black all the time, I'm told.) And isn't it permissible for a minister's wife to wear pale pink lipstick and matching nail polish on occasion? And when all the other women in the congregation wear nylons and heels, what is a minister's wife supposed to wear—high button shoes and lisle stockings?

I wear jeans or shorts when I garden and a swim suit when I swim, just like any other woman. Your published answer would be very much appreciated by me as well as other ministers' wives. I'm sure. Thank you.

SICK OF CRITICS
DEAR SICK: Your ideas of what to wear and when to wear it sound natural and reasonable to me. Be yourself and ignore the "critics' cat calls. That should be acceptable in the living church of today.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WILL:
It's always a good practice to be nice to the people you meet on your way up. You're bound to meet them on your way down.

Luxury Cadillacs

Cadillac Introduces Front Drive In New Eldorado Model

Highlighting the 12 model Cadillac line-up for 1967 is all new styling, unexcelled safety, comfort and convenience features and a completely new luxury personal car—the front-wheel-drive Fleetwood Eldorado.

Calvin J. Werner, Cadillac Motor Car Division general manager and General Motors vice president, said that the 1967 Cadillacs will be on display at Jack Lewis Buick & Cadillac, 403 Scurry, Thursday.

SAFETY

"Safety has always received primary consideration at Cadillac and this year is no exception," Werner said. "Prominent among the product improvements related to safety is an energy-absorbing steering wheel used in combination with an energy-absorbing steering column. The wheel deflects under severe body impact and cushions the driver against a padded surface inside the circumference of the wheel. At the same time the impact collapses a section of the steering column."

The new Eldorado is distinguished as the only car in the world offering the mutually complementary features of front-wheel-drive, variable ratio steering and automatic level control as standard equipment. This model is being built on its own special assembly line at Cadillac's Detroit plant.

Length of the Eldorado is 221 inches, its height is 53.3 inches, its wheelbase is 120 inches. Other models retain their 1965 dimensions.

FRESH CONCEPT

The front view of standard models is fresh in concept but retains a traditional Cadillac flavor with the cross-hatch grille design and vertically mounted twin headlamps. A broad, bold look is achieved with wider spacing of the grille elements.

The new silhouette gives the car a longer appearance. A powerful horizontal design line sweeps the entire length of the car—emphasizing length and a sculptured look. A distinctive new roof structure is exclusive to the two and four-door hard-top models.

Highlighting the rear view is a completely new bumper and taillight configuration. All lighting functions are housed in the vertical bumper outers which provide positive nighttime Cadillac identification.

CRISP LINES

Crisp, tailored lines dominate the styling theme of Cadillac's five-passenger Eldorado. A long hood, distinctive roof, and short rear deck set the character for Cadillac's new personal luxury car. Its appearance is dignified, but youthful, with a roof design reminiscent of a formal opera coupe and full-wheel openings that give a sporty flair.

Front ventipanes are eliminated to aid the clean-appearing side view. The rear windows slide back into the roof structure.

The front view features a traditional cross-hatch grille. Concealed twin headlamps rigidly mounted behind the outer ends of the grille are revealed when the vacuum-operated grille covers swing down. Incorporated in the bumper are rectangular parking lamps.

REAR VIEW

In the rear view, tall lamps are designed into the trailing edge of the rear fenders and are split vertically by a slender bar finished in chrome and body color. Back-up lamps are fitted into the rear bumper.

Additional product improvements related to safety include a red warning light on the dash panel to indicate any malfunction of the dual power brake system.

The upper portion of the all-new instrument panel is fully padded and all controls have been relocated, recessed and padded.

The turn signal control is redesigned with two functions including a new lane-change signal which activates when the lever is held in place and shuts off when released. This was incorporated to eliminate direction lights remaining on after moving into another lane. The second function is the normal signal for a turn and it cancels automatically after the turn is completed.

All models feature a hazard-warning signal which flashes all four directional lights in case of emergency.

HIGH PERFORMANCE

Cadillac's high performance 340 horsepower V-8 engine is improved with a completely new valve train and Quadrajet carburetor. Better oil economy results from an improved cylinder bore finish and new oil rings.

Cadillac automatic climate control is redesigned for optimum customer comfort. Five individually controlled air outlets—two more than last year—provide improved air flow and distribution.

Wall Voted Second Term On AGA Board

ATLANTIC CITY — C. I. Wall, president of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., Amarillo, today was re-elected to the board of directors of the American Gas Association.

Wall was named to a second two-year term at the closing session of the 48th annual convention of the gas industry's national trade association. Some 6,000 gas industry executives, representing nearly every state in the nation, Canada, and countries in Europe and South America, have participated in the four-day event.

In 1957, Wall began his utility career with the West Texas Gas Co., predecessor firm of Pioneer Natural Gas. There, he served as vice president and general manager, vice president in charge of operations and, in 1951, as president.

In 1954, when Pioneer was organized, he was vice president of distribution and later, executive vice president. He was elected president in 1955.

Director Plays Chilling Scene

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "One billion dollars the citizens of Gotham City will pay me, or I will bury them all under one huge cake of ice, exactly like a million years ago!"

The villain delivering this threat was the unlikeliest of actors to be found on a Batman set: Otto Preminger. At least it appeared to be Otto Preminger, though it was hard to tell with blue make-up covering his egg-bald head and reddish eyebrows flaring.

When he spoke in the familiar Teutonic tones, there could be no doubt that the man in the silver jump suit was the reputedly temperamental Preminger. Yet he seemed the most docile of actors.

"I follow directions implicitly," he insisted. "I always appear on the set on time, and I know my lines perfectly. I am setting a good example for all actors."

Preminger was portraying the latest of the Batman menaces, Mr. Freeze, a diabolical figure who plans to make Gotham City into one huge ice cube unless his demands are met. The director knew his lines but stumbled over "frozy, frost factory" in which he had turned Batman and Robin into human popicles.

Will they thaw in time to save Gotham City from Mr. Freeze's icy scheme? What's your guess? After finishing his scene, Preminger paused to chat. He generally does his acting behind the camera, but that has not always been true.

'GAVE UP ACTING'

"I gave up acting when I was 21," said the director of "Laura," "Forever Amber," "Exodus," etc. "In 1939 I was directing a play, 'Margin For Error,' which called for a Nazi role. A noted German actor was playing the role, but one day in rehearsals he left me a note saying, 'I am going back to Adolf.'"

"There were a number of refugee actors in New York then, but all looked too Jewish to play the role. I am Jewish, too, but with a scar and monocle I could look like a Nazi. So I played the role for a year, then came out here for 'Pied Piper' with Monty Woolley, the film version of 'Margin For Error' and one other."

Except for the prison camp commandant in "Stalag 17," Preminger gave up his Nazi portrayals for film making. His return to acting came from the urgings of Batman producer William Dozier and the Preminger twins, 6.

Rotary Hears About Sparkle

Big Spring Rotarians were given details of "Operation Sparkle" by Carroll Davidson, Chamber of Commerce manager, at the Tuesday luncheon at the Settles.

Davidson reviewed details of the "Sparkle" program and stressed that it does not mean improvement of the downtown area alone. He said all improvements are being urged in order to upgrade and beautify the entire community. The chamber manager cited the recent landscaping of the VA hospital, the city's parking lots and other phases of the program.

Davidson also mentioned the industrial development work being carried on by the chamber, asked for help in the C-C's programs of work and told of the immediate need of lengthening and improving runways at Howard County airport to meet the demands of jet service.

He reminded members of the formal opening of the 200 block

Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO...world's finest personal car

SEDAN de VILLE...another dramatic Cadillac surprise

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of Cadillac for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece...with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the sure-footed traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control. And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time...with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! And with this new Cadillac look come a number of other achievements...the most luxurious interiors in history...a new generously padded instrument panel...a more responsive Cadillac engine...improved variable ratio power steering...and a new General Motors-developed energy absorbing steering column. Discover Cadillac for 1967 for yourself...at your authorized dealer's. Once you have personally seen and driven these exceptional new automobiles, you'll agree that never before has anything on the highway said new so beautifully...or Cadillac so well!

Zone Change Is Approved

The planning and zoning commission Tuesday approved a zoning change for a half acre tract at Birdwell Lane and IS 20, north of the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. right of way.

Cotton Mize had asked that a triangular tract on the west side of Birdwell Lane be rezoned from IF-1 (single family) to C (commercial). He told the commission that a milk depot for the Borden Company would be built on the site.

On the recommendation of Ernest Lillard, director of public works, the commission then set a public hearing for Nov. 1 on changing the zoning on all IS 20 north frontage, from Birdwell Lane to the Snyder Highway, to zone C. Such a change, he said, would allow property owners to begin developing their property in line with such usage, and eliminate the need for a series of hearings on each individual property owner's request.

Mayor Arnold Marshall was a surprise visitor at the zoning session.

"We appreciate the important job you are doing for Big Spring," he told the commissioners. "We know service on this commission is a difficult job for you and it is oftentimes a thankless task."

He reminded the commission that its job is to make decisions on land usage — that personalities and pressure groups should not enter into their decisions. He said the city commission is behind the zoning commission in its decisions, and urged the members to call on the city commission at any time it can be helpful.

Lynda Visits Actor

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson flew here Tuesday and spent about 15 minutes with actor George Hamilton who is on location for a film. Police said the President's eldest daughter sat with Hamilton and two Secret Service men in a limousine being used in the movie.

Head Start Is Ready To Start

Official registration for the Head Start program will be Monday at the Kate Morrison School from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. Classes will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday and dismiss at 2:30 p.m.

Children who are eligible are those living in the Cedar Crest, Bauer and Lakeview school attendance areas. According to Supt. Sam Anderson, the program is allowed to accept 10 per cent of the total enrollment from other areas upon application and approval through the central administration office.

Children must be six years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1967, Anderson said, so that next year they will be ready to enter first grade. Birth certificates are necessary for registration, he said.

Beginning Tuesday, Head Start buses will run from Cedar Crest, Lakeview and Bauer schools. Later, regular bus routes will be established.

Head Start teachers will attend in-service training classes Thursday and Friday of this week at Kate Morrison School. On Thursday, Mrs. Don Farley will work with teachers from 8:30 a.m. until noon; in the afternoon, Keith Swim, program director, will be available from 1 until 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Billy Redd, former Head Start director from Beadmont, will train teachers from 8:30 a.m. until noon and 1:30 until 4 p.m. on Friday.

The Office of Economic Opportunity has awarded the Big Spring Independent School District a nine months Head Start grant in the amount of $143,964.

Oil Jobbers To Meet

District XII members of the Texas Oil Jobbers Association will meet Thursday at noon at the Big Spring Country Club to discuss the "profit squeeze" the oil industry is in.

George Oldham, director, who is in charge of the arrangements, said that all jobbers, distributors and commission agents have been invited.

"Expenses are rising constantly—taxes, insurance, wages and equipment costs all up," Oldham said. "Our profit margin is going down and we've got to do something to reverse this trend."

Assisting Oldham in the arrangements for the meet is Mrs. Juanita Adams of the Big Spring Country Club staff.

President of TOJA is Rigdon Edwards, Sweetwater. Executive manager is Calvin McIntosh, Austin.

Stuck Drivers May Get Stuck

Two young men, one said to be from Sweetwater and the other from Best, have been arrested by the state highway patrol and may be charged with destruction of private property, as result of an episode at the Jeff Grant farm, 10 miles north of town Tuesday night.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said the car the two men were driving became mired in the mud about 6:30 p.m. They "borrowed" a tractor from the Grant farm without asking the owner, planning to use the tractor to pull their car out of the mud.

Sheriff Standard said that in the course of getting the tractor to the scene, they damaged it and another tractor extensively and likewise caused heavy damage to the yard and fence.

Porter Richardson will act as master of ceremonies. Awards will be presented for the oldest native born Mitchell Countyman present, the oldest old timer present, oldest married couple present, a travel award, and an award for the youngest old timer.

Last year, September had 70 permits valued at $3,510,000, but this included the mammoth high school rebuilding project.

Inauguration Of Skiles Set Nov. 7

ABILENE — Plans for the Nov. 7 inauguration of Dr. Edwin L. Skiles are beginning to shape up, according to Dr. Lee Hemphill, who heads arrangements for the historic event.

Dr. Skiles will be installed as the 11th president of the institution at the ceremonies.

Dr. W. R. White, president emeritus of Baylor University, who served as president of H-SU from 1940 to 1943, was the only other chief executive to be inaugurated. His inauguration came during his first year on the H-SU campus during the school's 50th Anniversary Celebration. Dr. Skiles inauguration will be one of the major highlights of the school's 75th Anniversary Celebration.

Old Timers Reunion Slated At C-City

Newton's office issued 41 permits for total construction valued at $164,212. Of the total, the schools took permits for additions valued at $110,000 and a church youth center accounted for $37,000.

Contract For Ackerly's Post Office Is Awarded

ACKERLY—Contract for this week that Laco Reynolds' offer had been accepted by the U.S. post office department.

Russell said he was told the contract will call for the construction of the new building, according to specifications, on a tract of land just to the north of the present post office which has been in service for nearly a quarter of a century.

The contract calls for the contractor to build the post office and then lease it to the government for $2,000 a year for 10 years with a renewal option for an additional 20 years.

Russell understood that the first step will be the acquisition of title to the tract of land on which the building will be located. The post office department took an option on the land last spring. Mrs. Odessa Davenport is the owner. The post office will now transfer the option to the contractor, and it will be up to him to close the deal for the real estate.

The new building will encompass 1,000 square feet and will have 7,820 square feet of parking area and area for moving postal vehicles.

The building is located on the east side of First Street between Avenue G and Avenue H. Russell said he did not know when work will begin, but he understood the construction will be expedited.

Haney Sells Champion Steer For $1,250

Tulsa Livestock Show bidders tried out at Tulsa. His steer placed seventh. Haney had a second steer which won ninth.

James Shelton, assistant county agent, and the young exhibitors arrived home early this morning after a long night drive from Tulsa. This is the first year the Howard Countians have competed in the Oklahoma show.

The champion steer of the show, which nosed out Haney's entry, brought its owner $3,350. The only other Howard County steer sold at the Tulsa show was that of Maxwell Barr. It was bought at 75 cents a pound which brought the young owner about $800.

Other steers entered in the show were returned by their owners to their home pens today. Dolores Lankford, one of the local exhibitors, whose steer placed fifth in Tulsa, believes the animal is entitled to better treatment and will enter him in the famous Kansas City Royal Stock Show next week.

Mark Barr was the other exhibitor from this county who

STERLING HAS REAL SOAKER

STERLING CITY (SC)—The heaviest rain of the year fell in parts of Sterling County Monday and through early Tuesday.

The southern part of the county, along a line where the cool front stalled out, got downpours. The extreme southern part had 4.5 inches, and this sent the Middle Concho, between Sterling City and Barnhart to running.

Sterling City reported 3.00 inches in the western edge and 2.47 at the government gauge in the northeast portion of town. Sterling Creek was running, but the North Concho remained unaffected as most of the moisture soaked into the ground.

McDonald Ranch, west of town, had 1.8 inches with a steady drizzle still falling. East of town 2.6 inches were reported and in the southeast portion 4.0 inches were measured.

Colorado City Citizens Explore Hospital Plans

COLORADO CITY (SC) — If Colorado City wants to save its hospital, local sources will have to dig up the money, a spokesman told 30 local citizens at a Tuesday 4 p.m. meeting in the City National Bank.

City Attorney John Worrell and County Attorney Frank Ginzler, who went to Austin to explore the legal aspects of city or county aid to a privately owned hospital, made a report.

Colorado City's only hospital is the Root Memorial Hospital, owned by Charles Root. Root has announced that because of the decrease in revenue since medicare became effective July 1 and because of increased costs in keeping records, the hospital would be closed Oct. 15.

Both Worrell and Ginzler reported that the city could establish a city hospital, and the county could contribute to its upkeep; that the county could issue tax bonds and operate the hospital, but the city could not contribute to its maintenance; or that a hospital district could be established, or the city and county could lease the present hospital and issue revenue bonds to support it.

"You'd just as well make up your mind that you're going to have to dig down in the old jeans and pay a tax (in order to have a hospital)," Worrell said.

A permanent steering committee was set up to study the problem and to make recommendations. Members are Rex McKinney, Murrell Blasingame, G. D. Foster, Mrs. Harry Dockrey, Rev. C. C. Beck, Jay Craddock, Mrs. George Wilten, James Hill, A. C. Benson, Bennie Franks, Mrs. Dee Bassham, Tom Rees, Warren Anderson, C. C. Thompson, Larry Kinard, Bob Rely and Luther Anders.

Marlin Longer, Wider, Lower For 1967

American Motors' 1967 Marlin fastback is longer, wider and lower than its 1966 counterpart, yet retains its distinctive full-back styling and semi-elliptical side window openings. The wheelbase has been increased from 112 to 118 inches, permitting an increase of about six and one-half inches in over-all length of the Marlin. Most of the added inches are in front with the longer hood helping to accentuate the fastback styling. In addition, the new Marlin is four inches wider to provide an important increase in shoulder room and in door thickness.

Advanced Line Of Ramblers Has Many Safety Features

A highly advanced line of 1967 cars featuring extensive changes in styling, engineering and performance is being introduced by American Motors.

"These new cars represent an entirely new product position for American Motors," Thomas A. Coupe, vice president of automotive sales, said. "We have combined all-new styling with all-new engineering in our senior lines. There is major emphasis on safety in every model."

KEY FEATURES

Coupe said key features for 1967 include:

—New contemporary styling for Ambassador, Marlin, and newly named Rebel models, all of which are longer and more spacious.

—Four new optional high-performance V-8 engines ranging from 200 to 280 horsepower.

—Smart re-trimming of the Rambler American which maintains its compact dimensions.

—A new four-link rear suspension system for Ambassador, Marlin and Rebel models to provide a smoother ride, added stability and greater ease of handling.

—An all-new safety steering package which includes an impact-absorbing steering column and a deep-dish three-spoke steering wheel.

RE-DESIGN

In addition to the new safety steering package, interiors are re-designed to minimize projections — including new safety styled instrument panels with recessed controls and safety padding.

Standard safety features include all-welded single-unit construction. Double-brake system as featured on American Motors cars since 1962, brake system warning light, retractable front seat belts, rear seat belts, four-way warning flashers, padded visors and ceiling, stronger door locks, "lane-changer" position on turn signals, double pivot inside rear view mirror with day-night adjustment and provisions for shoulder-belt installation.

Coupe said many of the engineering advances found on the new models are the culmination of years of research and development, including completion of an engine program which resulted in all-new sixes and V-8s in a period of less than 30 months.

Seven high-performance engines — three Torque Command Sixes and four Typhoon V-8s — ranging from 190 to 343 cubic inch displacement — are available for 1967. Horsepower ratings range from 128 to 280.

STANDARD

Six-cylinder engines are standard on all models except the Ambassador DPL convertible, which is available as a V-8. A 199 cubic inch six, rated at 128 horsepower, is standard on the Ambassador, Marlin and Rebel models. The Ambassador, Marlin and Rebel models have as standard a 232 cubic inch six rated at 145 horsepower.

Engine options for the Ambassador include 145 and 155 horsepower sixes and 200 and 225 horsepower V-8s. For the Ambassador, Marlin and Rebel, engine options include the 155 horsepower six, and 200, 235 and 280 horsepower V-8s.

Long-life features are stressed in all lines, including Deep-Dip rustproofing, ceramic-armor exhaust system, acrylic enamel finish, 4,000-mile chassis lubrication interval.

Two and four-door sedans, two-door hardtops and convertibles, and four-door station wagons are offered in the Ambassador, Rebel and American series. The Marlin is a sporty two-door fastback with six-passenger seating.

Ambassador and Rebel two-door sedans have hardtop roofs and are designated as sports sedans.

STEREO

A new eight-track stereo tape player, which operates independently of the radio, will be available on Ambassador, Rebel and Marlin models. Twin speakers are mounted on the rear package shelf.

The 1967 American Motors cars will go on sale at McDonald Rambler, 1607 E. 3rd, Thursday.

American Motors' most luxurious series, the 1967 Ambassador, is 202.5 inches long, compared with the former 200 inches, while the station wagon is 203 inches in length. Wheelbase has been increased two inches to 118, and the new width is 78.4 inches, an increase of 3.9 inches.

Sleek styling is accentuated by long, flowing lines and a modified fastback design. Bold, vertical headlamps flank the richly ribbed horizontal grille. A round "gunsight" hood ornament features the Ambassador crest.

Top-of-the-line DPL models have full-length dual pin stripes on the crown of the body line. For added sportiness on DPLs, a lower body molding with lower panel in satin chrome paint is available.

The Ambassador's flowing roof panel flows downward to the rear deck, which has a modified "V" design. A ribbed trim panel, which complements the front grille, extends the full width of the car, blending into the divided tail-lights which are designed to provide side visibility.

The Ambassador DPL convertible features a new top mechanism which folds flush with the body line. The entire unit folds behind the rear seat instead of part of it going into side housings, so that the convertible becomes a full six-passenger automobile. The same feature is offered in the Rambler Rebel SST convertible.

Station wagons, with much larger capacity than before, have a subtle step-down design, which has been a keynote of AM's wagons, plus a chrome roof-top luggage carrier. Wagons have a new fold-down mechanism for the second seat, which extends the possible cargo area to the back of the front seat. Three-seat wagons now carry a covered spare tire, instead of having four double-chamber tires as in the past. The side-hinged rear door, instead of a tail-gate, continues as standard on three-seat models. The hidden storage compartment has been enlarged.

KEY TO NERVOUS SYSTEM? Scientists Study Flies' Eyes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists, trying to learn how a nervous system works, are looking at the world through flies' eyes.

They say they've gotten so good at it they can tell rather precisely what a fly sees and how well—as it buzzes away, transfixed, in a special fly "planetarium."

The eye test is part of a program to study the entire nervous system to find how it works. Scientists hope, for instance, to see how light received by the eye is translated into consciousness and action. Ultimately, the research could help development of electronic eyes that read print.

COMPLICATED

Says Dr. Gilbert McCann, director of the California Institute of Technology's Booth Computing Center:

"We've been studying many creatures, but the fly seems to fit our needs best. The fly's nervous system has many properties that are similar to the human system, although the fly's is simpler. It's complicated enough, though, to be interesting."

McCann and his researchers work with the flies in lower levels of the ultramodern computing center, where a special laboratory is fitted out to serve as a combination paradise-nightmare for flies.

SIMPLE LIFE

The paradise part is the fly's secure, comfortable home, where he's born, fed and bred. Life is simple—until he's put to work. Then begins the nightmare.

Flies selected for experiments first find little cardboard tabs glued to their backs. The tabs are used for identifying each fly and as handles to keep them tied down.

And tied down they are—to computers.

The identifying tab is hooked to a computer. The fly is placed inside the fly planetarium, where lights of different patterns and shapes can be spotted inside the dome-like surface.

LIGHTS SCARE

Thus, by starting the fly with lights, and by varying the lights, scientists see how the fly responds.

What have they learned? The fly's eye, McCann said, "has about the same ability as the human eye for observing dim objects. Even though it is much smaller and more primitive, its light-gathering power about equals that of the human eye."

But that wasn't enough. McCann and his colleagues wanted to go deeper, and that called for fly surgery and a bigger planetarium.

TEST PATTERN

In the larger device, with a microscope to aid the surgery, tiny electrodes were planted in the optic nerve fibers behind the flies' eyes.

Then, when lights were flashed inside the dome, the computer recorded the tiny electric impulses the eyes sent to the fly's brain. Thus the experimenters learned what kind of test patterns produce what kind of electrical signals in the fly's nervous system.

With probes at different points along the fly's optic nerve fibers, McCann said, it is possible to detect any changes in the signal patterns.

This, he explained, will indicate whether ganglions—groups of nerve cells acting as primitive brains—have received impulse patterns and have integrated, or altered, the pattern before passing it on down the fiber.

Manila Summit Date Changed

MANILA (AP) — The tentative date for the Manila summit meeting on Viet Nam was changed again today, to Oct. 24-25.

It was the third date proposed. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos in his original proposal for the meeting, had suggested Oct. 18. Later he switched to Oct. 23-24.

Both Australia and New Zealand wanted an earlier meeting because they have general elections within a month. The change was agreed on at a conference today of Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos with representatives of the six other nations whose heads of government will attend — the United States, South Viet Nam, South Korea, Australia, Thailand and New Zealand.

Romance Over For Viet Hero

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The romance of Lt. (j.g.) Dieter Dengler, who escaped a Communist prison camp in Laos last July 26, is over, says Marina Adamich, his pretty Yugoslav sweetheart.

Miss Adamich, a chemistry research assistant at Stanford University told newsmen Tuesday: "I will never marry Lt. Dieter Dengler. He's changed. We just could never marry now."

Dengler, 28, a Navy pilot, announced last weekend that he and Marina would wed Oct. 16. Miss Adamich became engaged to the German-born Dengler before he left for Viet Nam.

Rain Dulls Water Use

The Colorado River Municipal Water District has a classic example of what incessant rain will do to municipal water demands in West Texas.

September rains were evenly spaced when not almost continuous, and water deliveries to the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder dipped 23 percent in amounting to 494,878,300 gallons. Odessa's 290,570,000 was down 31.79 percent from September of 1965, Big Spring's 189,723,000 was down 19.51 percent, Snyder's 44,494,300 was down 41.22 percent.

Partially offsetting this 198,662,500-gallon decline by cities was a 54,515,272 gallon gain by oil companies. The 372,969,444 gallons they took was up by 17 percent.

Total deliveries for the month amounted to 876,776,744, down from the 1,011,923,972 for September, 1965. For the year the total is now 9,184,958,430, a gain of 3.06 percent over the same period in 1965. Declines in September wiped out 40 percent of the year's gain.

France Ends Atomic Tests

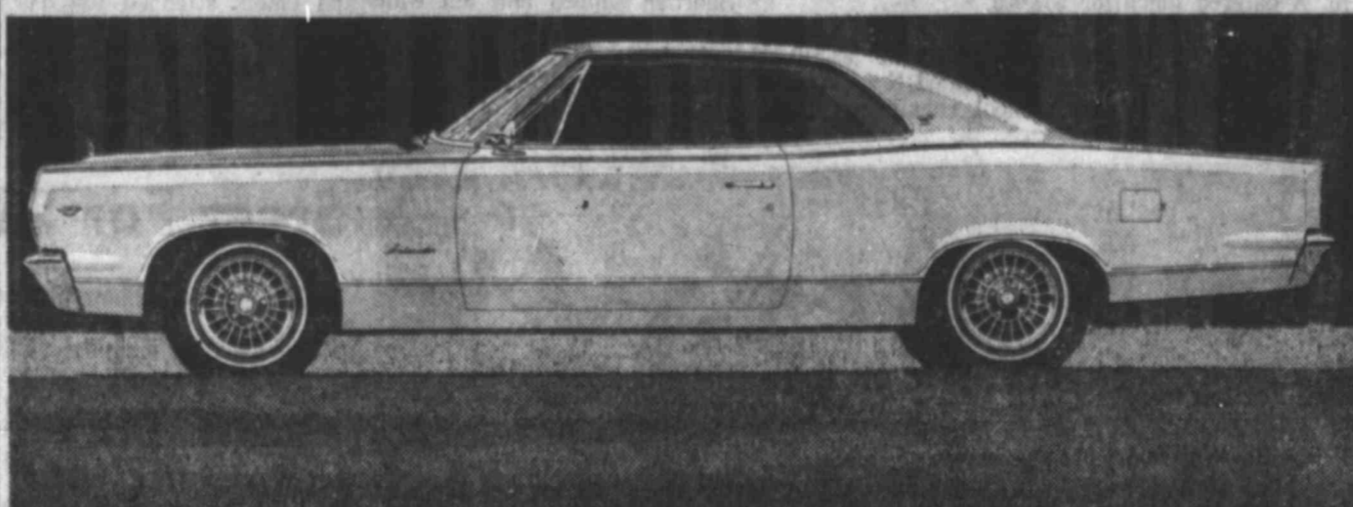

PARIS (AP) — France has ended its current series of atomic tests in the South Pacific with the explosion Tuesday of a fifth atomic device, the Defense Ministry says.

The plutonium-doped experimental device was set off over the testing grounds at Mururoa Lagoon near Tahiti. There was no immediate indication of the size of the blast.

It was the second test of an instrument containing plutonium during the current series, the Defense Ministry said. Addition of plutonium gives more power to an atomic blast, but France does not have sufficient quantities of enriched uranium to produce a thermonuclear or hydrogen bomb yet.

CELEBRATING HIS 90th BIRTHDAY
Rev. Eugene Alexander Samples and his favorite Book

Minister Going Strong At 90

By SAM BLACKBURN
Rev. Eugene Alexander Samples is celebrating his 90th birthday today.
In accordance with his usual custom, Mr. Sample noted the day by walking three miles. He also spent some time reading his Bible. Probably he read again for no one knows how many thousand times his favorite scripture — "Let not your heart be troubled..."
Mr. Sample lives at 908 Runnels with his wife, Lucy, whom he married March 2, 1913.
He was born Oct. 5, 1876, near Tabor, Texas, in what was known as the Alexander Community. Soon after he was born, he was baptized in the Alexander Methodist Church — with the Rev. Robert Alexander, the preacher for whom the community was named, officiating. However, his official enrollment in the Methodist church was at the age of 14. He thus has had a continuous membership extending over 76 years.
For 15 years after he became a preacher, he was in the Texas conference.

ther, James Jasper Sample, being one of the outstanding farmers in the Tabor Community. The father died Feb. 5, 1878, and Mr. Sample recalls sadly "I never knew my father."

LARGE FAMILY
He had four brothers and four sisters of whom he was the youngest. All are now dead. He has survived six years longer than the oldest of his kin. He had two half brothers and one half sister — all of whom are also dead.

He was married the first time to Alice Gertrude Darby in Grimes County on Nov. 25, 1903. She bore him five children — four daughters and a son, and four of them still live. Mrs. Sample died July 24, 1911.

Two years later he married Lucy Day. They have had seven children. Five of their family still live.

The Samples lived for two years in San Angelo before returning here Feb. 8, 1966, to make their home.

Sample keeps a close tab on his grandchildren. He is also very fond of several "adopted grandchildren."

DOESN'T WORRY
Although hampered by deafness ("I don't care for television — I can't hear what they say"), Mr. Sample still carries on an active life for a man so near to the century mark. He sells greeting cards, and it is in connection with this work that he usually gets in about three miles of walking a day.

Friends and relatives dropped in today to wish him well on his 90th birthday.

"I don't worry about my health," he observes. "I have noticed that those who fret too much about how they feel and how they are, generally wind up sick."

MANY CHURCHES
"I preached at many churches," he recalls. "Some of these were Leon Mission, Marvsville, Villa, Millikin, Dodge and a church near Crockett."

Today he is classified as a retired minister out of the Northwest Texas Conference.

Prior to entering the ministry, Mr. Sample taught school for five years.

He has devoted many years to selling Bibles and religious books. "I have no idea," he said, "how many Bibles I have sold — hundreds and hundreds, I suppose."

He also tried his hand, through the years as a dairyman and a farmer. He came from a farm family, his fa-

Home Building Drops Sharply In Key Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Construction of new houses across the country is off sharply this year as interest rates climb.

Many families are having trouble borrowing money to buy new homes.

"Home building has all but been shattered by tight money," said Burton E. Smith, president of the California Real Estate Association. "I never have seen it so tight, so bad. If and when building starts up again, it will take the builders two years to catch up with the demand."

An Associated Press survey of major cities found:

HOUSING STARTS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA this year have been the lowest since 1944.

LOW IN DALLAS
In Dallas, they are the lowest in six years, with apartment construction down 39 per cent and houses 17 per cent.

"With all the hundreds of real estate offices in Dallas, only 12 deals were made in the whole city in half a week," said Mrs. Maude Thompson, a Dallas real estate agent. "Usually it's 80 or so a week."

In Minneapolis, sales of houses have been down and rentals up.

In Seattle, new housing construction has been down, but sales are up 30 per cent from 1965 in the midst of an economic boom.

CHICAGO HURTS
In Chicago, George Arquilla Jr., Burnside Construction Co. president, said tight money had hurt most of the builders in Chicago, and put some out of business.

In Kansas City, Dale Thompson, president of City Bond and Mortgage, estimated the decline in new starts at 25 to 30 per cent.

The flow of mortgage money for one-family houses has slowed to a trickle, Kansas City builders reported. They said sales had dropped 40 to 50 per cent from 1965.

The builders blame tight money — the difficulty they have in obtaining loans to finance construction of houses and the problems families have in obtaining mortgages to buy the houses.

RATES JUMP
Thousands of prospective home buyers have had a struggle in getting government-insured Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration loans in recent months.

Lending institutions have been putting their money in other types of loans on which interest rates are higher.

In a move to attract more funds, the government increased the interest rate on FHA and VA-insured mortgages Monday from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent.

The increase makes the rate of return on federally insured mortgages close to the prevailing rates on conventional mortgages, which have averaged about 6.55 per cent.

Hoffa Convictions Upheld On Appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has lost an appeal of his 1964 conviction for mail and wire fraud and conspiracy.

The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Tuesday in a 2-1 decision, the convictions of Hoffa and six co-defendants in connection with an alleged plot to defraud the Teamsters' pension fund of more than $1 million.

Hoffa's lawyers contended that the convictions were the result of "vicious publicity," prejudicial evidence and a running feud between Hoffa and Robert F. Kennedy, then U.S. attorney general.

NO ERRORS
In their majority decision, Judges F. Ryan Duffy and Latham M. Castle held that "each claim of error has been carefully considered and all such claims of error are hereby denied."

Hoffa was convicted by a jury and sentenced Aug. 18, 1964, to five years in prison by U.S. District Judge Richard B. Austin. He also was fined $10,000. The other defendants were sentenced to lesser terms and fined $5,000.

15 DAYS
Judge Luther M. Swygert, in a dissenting opinion, held that Hoffa was convicted because of "trial errors."

Hoffa and the others have 15 days in which to file a petition for a rehearing by the appeals court.

The other defendants and their sentences are: Benjamin Dranow, five years; Calvin Kovens, Miami Beach, Fla., and Zachary A. Strate Jr., three years each; S. George Burris, New York, 18 months; Samuel Hyman, a Florida real estate developer, a year and a day; and Abe I. Weinblatt, Miami Beach, one hour.

Buddhists Patching Up Bitter Feud

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Moderate Buddhist leaders are patching up the bitter feud with South Viet Nam's military regime caused by the radical Buddhists.

The militant Buddhists spread turmoil in Saigon and cities in the northern part of South Viet Nam six months ago. The government cracked down, and Buddhist leaders now are divided and isolated.

NOT CHANGED
Monks and laymen arrested during the government riots in May and June are trickling out of jail, let go in an apparent conciliatory move by the government. Eleven were freed over the weekend.

More than 1,000 were rounded up during the rioting. Sources say several hundred hard-core militant Buddhists and their followers remain behind bars. They have not been charged.

The Unified Buddhist Church (UBC), one faction of Viet Nam's leading religion, spearheaded unrest which led to the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963. But the radical monks misjudged the situation when they tried to topple premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government, the sources said.

Their demonstrations attracted world attention without getting the army support in South Viet Nam necessary to change the government. Ky's victory and the successful assembly elections Sept. 11 gave the junta its firmest control in 14 months in office.

Broadway Producer Divorced In Juarez

Both attended the court hearing.

The wife's suit charged incompatibility of character. The proceedings were uncontested and a property settlement was reached.

Conference Of Presidents Promises To Achieve Little

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Diplomats in Buenos Aires say most of the American governments realize the proposed conference of the hemisphere's presidents promises to achieve little. But, as one puts it, "it's become a sacred cow and nobody wants to be the first to kill it."

The presidential conference was first proposed last May by Argentine President Arturo Illia. The proposal gained momentum when President Johnson endorsed it a few weeks later. Then Illia was overthrown by the Argentine military, and Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía replaced him.

LITTLE AGREEMENT
Thus far there has been little agreement on time, place or agenda for the conference. Buenos Aires; Punta Del Este, Uruguay; Vina Del Mar, Chile; Lima, Peru, and San Jose, Costa Rica, all have been suggested as sites. The current word is Mexico City next March.

There is general agreement the presidents would deal mainly with top-level economic matters to give a push to lagging plans for Latin-American development and economic integration.

TWO SUBJECTS
The United States reportedly has proposed two subjects: boosting the Alliance for Progress and cutting down the arms race in Latin America. The latter is considered a move to quiet congressional critics of U.S. military aid to coup-prone Latin republics.

Several nations have advanced no ideas at all for the summit gathering, diplomats said here, because they feel the summit will do little more than sanction what the inter-American foreign ministers approve earlier.

Jesse E. Booker Retires From AF

After 21 years in the service of his country, Jesse E. Booker, airman first class, will leave the Air Force on retirement Nov. 1.

"I regret leaving the service," he said, "but I feel I have served my share and rendered a fair amount of service to my country. I will miss the Air Force."

Booker, who lives at 1508 Robin, with his wife, Alma, and his 11-year-old daughter, Helen, will move to San Antonio from Big Spring. His wife is a Del Rio girl.

Booker, a cook with the Webb AFB organization, began his military career in the U.S. Navy. He graduated from the Sidney Lanier High School in San Antonio and immediately enlisted in the Navy in August, 1943. He was assigned to the USS Wisconsin, then served out the remainder of the war aboard a tanker. He entered the Air Force in 1953.

He is now serving his second hitch at Webb. He was here from 1959-1962 and then returned in 1963.

He has several job offers in San Antonio.

Ag Studies Will Include Mitchell

The fifth in a series of area studies designed to discover income producing opportunities in Texas Agricultural and related fields has been launched, according to Dr. R. E. Patterson, dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University. The new study, headed by Norman Brints, covers an area beginning with the northern Cross Timbers and extending westward to include most of the Rolling Plains including Mitchell County, said Bobby Lemons, county agricultural agent.

Brints will interview agricultural leaders throughout the area, including farmers, ranchers, businessmen and industry, banking and agency representatives in the county, according to Lemons.

Two other studies, one covering the Panhandle and the other the South Plains, are nearing completion. Target date for completing the Rolling Plains study is mid-1967, stated Lemons.

A Devotional For The Day

I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no division among you. (I Corinthians 1:10)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to forget our differences. Lead us to unite in Christ so that we may render helpful service to Thee and to our fellowmen. In the name of our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

Excellent Work

Two events, widely separated, point to the quality job of feeding which Howard County club boys and girls are doing these days.

Robert Haney's 885-pound steer was reserve champion of heavyweight division of the major livestock show at Tulsa, Okla. Maxwell Barr had the second best heavyweight steer in the same show, and a couple of other Howard County steers placed fairly high.

When you get in these spots in shows like Tulsa, you're getting hits in the major leagues. Sounds like old times.

Today and Thursday, you can see some fine examples of feeding right here at home by running out to the fair barns to look over the annual FFA and 4-H pig show. You'll see some excellent animals. We are a long way from being a heavy swine producing county, but the work of the club boys and girls in this field has kept swine production from becoming a casual if not lost art.

The Manila Conference

Some senators, both Republican and Democratic, remain unenthusiastic over the "little summit" meeting of the United States and its smaller Southeast Asia friends in Manila this month. Their comments followed President Johnson's acceptance of an invitation by President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines to attend a conference with leaders of Australia, South Korea, Thailand, New Zealand, South Viet Nam and the United States.

Manila meeting would, accomplish anything.

It is difficult to fault this judgment. No sensible person would argue that a conflict which engages the attention and support of the great powers, including Russia, China and the United States, can be affected, much less settled, by a meeting of President Johnson with leaders who have supported our position in Viet Nam.

There is at least a suggestion that President Marcos over-persuaded President Johnson. Yet no one should be prepared to argue that the meeting will do any harm. At the very least it may give a little more emphasis to the President's oft-repeated declaration that he is willing to begin negotiations over Viet Nam now. Some observers think the conference will accomplish quite a lot—particularly in overcoming some of the adverse effects of the bi-lateral talks between President Johnson and Premier Ky in Hawaii.

'Paunch Corps' Doing Great Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Less than two years after sending its first retired American businessmen ashore in a less developed land, the "Paunch Corps" is lean and trim and working hard.

The corps, a relative in ideals to the Peace Corps, completed its 100th project this week, has 300 more jobs scheduled for this year, and hopes eventually to handle 500 projects a year.

row Fifth Avenue building and a small annex across the street.

REQUESTS from foreign companies are processed here, men are briefed and debriefed, searches go on constantly for men with specific skills. The foreign companies pay a management fee and round-trip transportation. The corps pays expenses, usually $20 to $40 a day. The corpsman gets no pay.

Each job will be at the request of a foreign businessman—not his government—in a free-enterprise economy. All jobs will be in relatively underdeveloped lands. None will be in Europe or the Soviet Union.

More often than before, the man chosen is not retired. Instead he is a key man whose employer agrees to a leave of absence at company expense. Some on the availability roster are in their 30s.

"WE PROVED our point," said a spokesman in the jammed Manhattan headquarters. "We found out the idea works. We are willing to concede less than 10 per cent of the projects will be unsuccessful, and we're ahead of that goal now."

At first the corps believed a single project might take two years, but it got six months was set.

"Now we find three or four months is long enough to do the job," the spokesman said. "Then they get out."

The corps tolerates the nickname "Paunch Corps" for lack of another. Its initials, for example, produce the vocally unpalatable IESC. Its full name is the International Executive Service Corps.

GETTING OUT is important. A highly placed native management man, for example, might fear competition if the American stayed around to kibitz.

Heading the corps is Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics Corp. His staff of 47 paid employees crowds into one floor of a narrow growing number of requests for assistance is cited by IESC as proof of the need and acceptance from abroad. And the growing number of available consultants is offered as proof that American businessmen will volunteer.

I have heard of our Christian heritage, and the Mayflower Compact. I believe that many Americans are ignorant of the facts regarding our founding fathers. Could you tell me precisely what the Mayflower Compact was? I believe that every American would like to know. D.R.

In a hot, poorly ventilated cabin of the Mayflower, before the Pilgrims set foot on these shores at Plymouth Rock, they drew up the Mayflower Compact.

Completed projects include 19 in Iran, 14 in Thailand, and 11 each in Brazil and Panama. Adverse criticism has been restrained, praise plentiful.

Still Fit At 75

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Nickoli Iwanoff, a Bulgarian aged 75, is the star turn at the gymnasium of the Perth Young Men's Christian Association.

Many a middle-aged man who believed himself fit, has had to change his mind after watching the wiry little Bulgarian somersaulting his way through an amazing series of exercises.

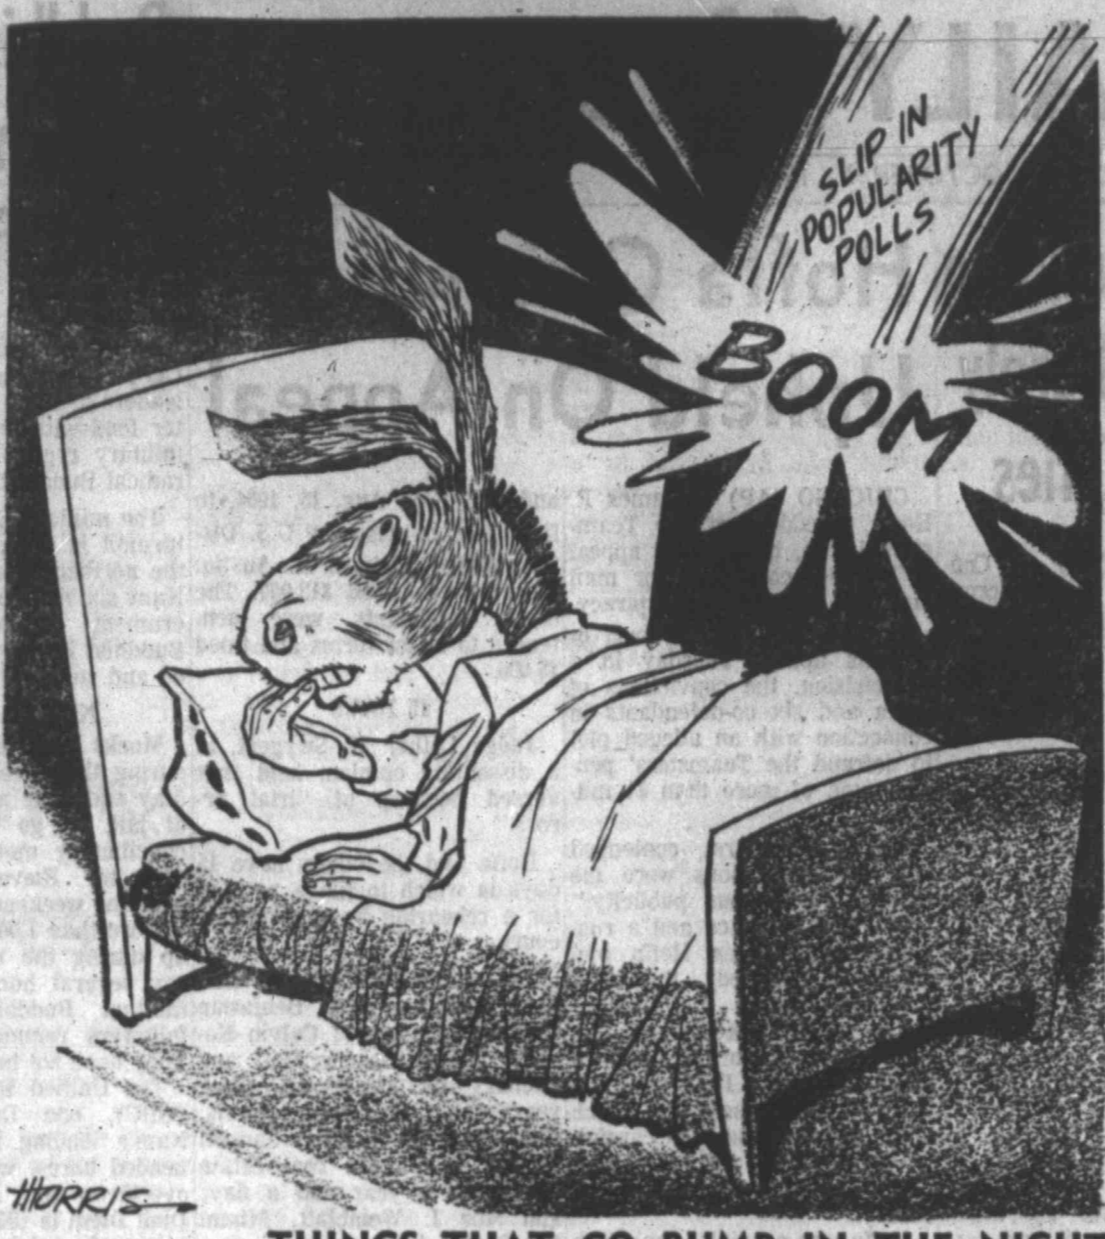

"He can do gymnastic movements which the average man of 45 would find impossible to perform," said YMCA physical director David Robertson.

Bulgarian television featured his physical skills just before he migrated to Perth from Sofia a year ago to join his architect son Ivan.

"We had not seen each other for 25 years but father had not changed one bit," Ivan said. "One of his first needs was a set of parallel bars and directions to the nearest gym."

Chinese Being Clubbed Into Conformity

WASHINGTON (AP)—An undertaker isn't necessarily the right man for a chicken farm, particularly if his idea of raising chickens is to beat them with a stick and scare them with a fog horn.

The result: The Chinese people are being clubbed into iron conformity and into subservience to him, his sayings have become the Chinese bible, all criticism is being rendered impossible, and the sanctity of Mao is being shouted into their skulls.

Mao Tse-tung, 72, who buried ancient China, is using a stick and a horn on the modern Chinese, and making a mess of it, even though right now they sound as docile as chickens trying to say yes.

NEW YORK (AP)—Ava Gardner wants to change her public image.

"The image I seem to have—that I'm a loud-mouthed, temperamental, oversexed, sultry siren—sometimes terrifies me," said the film actress.

Although they brought her a fortune and a world-known name, she feels now she has rather wasted 25 years of her life.

HIS REGIME unified a chaotic and impoverished country. But then he had the task of taking it into the 20th century as fast as possible, with all that meant in industrialization and everything else.

"I REALLY hate the work of being a movie star," she said frankly. "I don't have the emotional make-up for it—the love of exhibitionism."

This is where he revealed, despite himself, that an undertaker may not be a good chicken farmer, that a great revolutionary leader may be out of place trying to guide and run a country which needs to organize itself.

"I don't go to cocktail parties or lead a very glamorous life. I am a very simple human being, easy to get along with except for a normal Irish temper. If I do lose it, I get over it the next minute."

Many Chinese, judging from the repeated purges of his critics, seem to realize his deficiency but their voices have been hushed with terror. Yet his terror tactics seem to say he has the same realization himself.

For A Burn, Use Cool Water First

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My married daughter burned her hand on a hot pot. I told her to soak her hand in cold water. Her husband told her to put oil on it instead—that the water would just cause a blister and infection. Did I advise her wrong?—MRS. F. B.

of a surgeon should I see about having fatty tissue removed from the breasts? Mine are so large and heavy that I am very uncomfortable and have trouble getting clothes I can wear.—R. N.

No, you didn't.

For a burn, the best possible first aid is cool water—not ice water, but at the temperature it comes from the tap.

A plastic surgeon. Ask your regular physician to refer you to one who specializes in this type of work. The operation is entirely feasible.

Cool water takes the pain out of a burn as quickly and effectively as anything known, and it does no harm. (It does not cause a blister. If your son-in-law ever had a bad sunburn, he'd know that your blister whether wet or dry on the outside.) As for infection, tap water is at least as free of infection as the various oils, greases or other glops that people put on burns.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a woman hemorrhages in the third month of pregnancy and then it stops and she feels all right, does this necessarily mean something is wrong with the baby? Friends are scaring me and saying, "The baby won't be right," etc. Please help me as this is pressing on my mind.—N. B.

At this point let's distinguish between a singed finger or the serious type of burn that can send you to your doctor or to the hospital. What I've said above applies to either. Water is best. But the more serious the burn, the more important the advice.

It is a danger sign and I am sure your doctor is taking proper precautions to keep you from losing the baby. There is no reason to think that the child will be defective either physically or mentally.

Let's take a serious burn when a child tips over a coffee pot or pan of hot soup or water. Or otherwise is burned. Ordinary cool water will give

A Day And Week To Remember

When Oct. 3 slid by Monday, it was the anniversary of a memorable date.

On a "warm and clear day" in 1849, Capt. R. B. Marcy, blazing a trail from Dona Ana, above El Paso, eastward to Fort Smith, Ark., had come upon the big spring which came to give this town its name. So, in 1949, Big Springers resolved to celebrate this event. At first the idea was nebulous, but when Elmo Wasson, Chamber of Commerce president, named a centennial commission, things got going—and growing.

THE COMMUNITY seemed to be just itching to get together in a massive effort; every segment pitched in. A big historical pageant, Centurama, was planned. Special events were scheduled, and soon it was evident that this couldn't be on one day—so the city just made a week of it.

Thousands of visitors came to town. Except for one breather, there was a major parade every day of the week. There was a major show of celebration every evening. Outstanding personalities, such as Gov. Allan Shivers, former Gov. Pat M. Neff, and W. G. Vollmer, president of Texas & Pacific Railway Company, were invited to help celebrate.

AN ADDED attraction of gimmick was the temporary springing of one Frank Grandstaff from the Tennessee state prison long enough to come and hear a cantata he had been inspired to write after reading Shine Phillips' memorable "Big Spring, Casual Biography of a Prairie Town." Frank proved a curiosity, and the governor laughed that the prisoner got more attention than he did.

Anyhow, the historical museum was opened to touch off the celebration, followed by Grandstaff's cantata, sung by the T&P Chorus. In the evening the amphitheatre was filled for an all-church service.

MONDAY was Governor's Day, with an air cavalcade, band concert, and a huge historical parade that saw nearly every business and organization in town entering a big, decorated float. Afterwards, the marker at the "big spring" was dedicated, followed by a picnic, old fiddling contest, and finally the premiere of Centurama with a cast of 500. Finally Patti McDonald was crowned Centennial queen at a big ball.

WEDNESDAY was military day with the Goodfellow AFB band coming up (we were between air bases then), and a grand military parade with veterans organizations joining in while military planes (including the huge B-36) roaring overhead. The finale of Centurama came that night after a widely applauded run. The carnival, which had set up at the park, shifted locations to the old bombardier school, where next morning the Howard County Fair opened to usher in agriculture and ranching day. This even drew thousands.

FRIDAY was dedicated to youth, with junior officials taking over. There was a big youth parade in the afternoon, and schools put on a colorful and massive pageant at the stadium that evening, followed by a football game. Saturday was labor and industry's day. The city christened an airliner, had a judging of whiskers and pioneer costumes, watched its final parade showing the contributions of labor and industry. That night there was an all-West Texas square dance as Big Spring happily—but almost wearily—came to an end of its biggest birthday party.

A Negro For The Supreme Court?

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has under consideration the appointment of Ramsey Clark to be the head of the Department of Justice. At present the Texas lawyer, 38-year-old son of Justice Tom Clark of the Supreme Court of the United States, is serving as acting attorney general. This is logical because since 1965 he has been the No. 2 man in the Department with the title of deputy attorney general. He was chosen to take over the duties of Attorney General Katzenbach because the latter has just been transferred to the post of undersecretary of state.

ment of Colored People and argued the desegregation cases before the high court.

IF THURGOOD MARSHALL were nominated for the Supreme Court, he would be the first Negro ever to serve on the highest court of the land. A Negro has been appointed to the President's cabinet already, and there are Negro judges on the lower courts.

IF THURGOOD MARSHALL is the man best qualified to be appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States when the next vacancy occurs will be argued with considerable vehemence by many lawyers who can cite as more capable certain judges at present serving in the lower courts. Indeed, there is some feeling, too, that if race or religion is a factor, then the question of discrimination in failing to appoint a woman judge during the last 178 years is pertinent. Speaking of political rewards, there are more women than men aged 21 or over and could form the largest single group of voters.

IF RAMSEY CLARK is nominated for attorney general, however, it is to be expected that his father would retire from the Supreme Court. Approximately 85 per cent of the cases that come before the high court are argued by Department of Justice lawyers under the direction of the attorney general. It has been assumed that no member of the Supreme Court would wish to pass judgment on cases in which a blood relative had participated. A "conflict of interest," as it is usually called, could cause Justice Clark, aged 67, to leave the bench, and it is surmised that he probably would be glad to do so, since it would mean a promotion to the cabinet for his son.

WHETHER Thurgood Marshall is the man best qualified to be appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States when the next vacancy occurs will be argued with considerable vehemence by many lawyers who can cite as more capable certain judges at present serving in the lower courts. IF A VACANCY occurs on the high court, it is not expected until after the election, so it isn't likely that any development such as the choice of a Negro for the high court would happen during the congressional campaign. With all the talk of a "backlash" vote and the growing controversy over the interpretations of the Constitution being rendered by the high court, it seems improbable that an unnecessary issue at this time would be injected into the campaign. It is natural, therefore, for such a nomination to be postponed for several weeks.

IF A VACANCY occurs on the high court, it is not expected until after the election, so it isn't likely that any development such as the choice of a Negro for the high court would happen during the congressional campaign. With all the talk of a "backlash" vote and the growing controversy over the interpretations of the Constitution being rendered by the high court, it seems improbable that an unnecessary issue at this time would be injected into the campaign. It is natural, therefore, for such a nomination to be postponed for several weeks.

WHAT WOULD President Johnson do about a vacancy in the Supreme Court in the immediate future? There is considerable speculation that he might appoint Thurgood Marshall, who is at present solicitor general of the Department of Justice, a post to which he was appointed by President Johnson last year. Mr. Marshall had previously served as a judge on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, to which he was named by President Kennedy in 1961. Prior to that time he was the special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and argued the desegregation cases before the high court.

IF THURGOOD MARSHALL were nominated for the Supreme Court, he would be the first Negro ever to serve on the highest court of the land. A Negro has been appointed to the President's cabinet already, and there are Negro judges on the lower courts.

IF THURGOOD MARSHALL is the man best qualified to be appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States when the next vacancy occurs will be argued with considerable vehemence by many lawyers who can cite as more capable certain judges at present serving in the lower courts. Indeed, there is some feeling, too, that if race or religion is a factor, then the question of discrimination in failing to appoint a woman judge during the last 178 years is pertinent. Speaking of political rewards, there are more women than men aged 21 or over and could form the largest single group of voters.

IF RAMSEY CLARK is nominated for attorney general, however, it is to be expected that his father would retire from the Supreme Court. Approximately 85 per cent of the cases that come before the high court are argued by Department of Justice lawyers under the direction of the attorney general. It has been assumed that no member of the Supreme Court would wish to pass judgment on cases in which a blood relative had participated. A "conflict of interest," as it is usually called, could cause Justice Clark, aged 67, to leave the bench, and it is surmised that he probably would be glad to do so, since it would mean a promotion to the cabinet for his son.

WHETHER Thurgood Marshall is the man best qualified to be appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States when the next vacancy occurs will be argued with considerable vehemence by many lawyers who can cite as more capable certain judges at present serving in the lower courts. Indeed, there is some feeling, too, that if race or religion is a factor, then the question of discrimination in failing to appoint a woman judge during the last 178 years is pertinent. When A Governor Looks Back tion in executive office. Given more governors like this one, the Sovereign States wouldn't be disappearing down the gullet of Federalia.

BOISE, Idaho — "If you're king," said Idaho Governor, Robert E. Smylie (R), "you don't die privately."

He was referring to his own political demise, which occurred in the recent Republican primary election, and his outgoing comment tells something about both his defeat and his disappointment.

CONGRESS, says Smylie, is even worse than the federal bureaucracy when it comes to cutting into our responsibilities. I've had to fight harder against congressmen than the central government, and the reason is that pork chops for Main Street make such glittering election bait." He was talking about the time-tested inconsistency of senators and representatives who want to economize on federal spending—everywhere except in their own constituencies.

BOB SMYLIE is a big, confident, capable man who will have served three consecutive, four-year terms when his tenure expires. Only Governor (1920-35) Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland served longer since the adoption of the American Constitution. Governors Dewey (N. Y.), Williams (Mich.), and Faulkner (Ark.) had 12-year incumbencies, but in each case retired voluntarily. Smylie, like Ritchie, broke his pitcher by going to the well once too often.

SMYLIE, probably more than any governor, was responsible for getting Congress to retain the gubernatorial veto on projects dreamed up by the anti-poverty warriors. He doesn't regard Washington as the capital of an alien power, but he holds that Congress, as well as the national press, are responsible for downgrading the States. "It's the old difficulty," he says, "of making legitimate news run from West to East, instead of always in the other direction."

Out of his confidence, his strength, his success, his long tenure, Bob Smylie has acquired an air and an assumption of majesty.

"It's the old difficulty," he says, "of making legitimate news run from West to East, instead of always in the other direction."

THIS PROUD MAN, Smylie, covers his chagrin with wry humor. When I saw him he had just dedicated a site on the capital plaza, and he remarked that it should contain a bench where he could spend his elder statesmanship in exile. In fact, he may not be very long out of public life, for President Johnson is said to have an eye on Smylie for a federal appointment—despite the rumored objections of Sen. Frank Church (D., Idaho). Sympathy for Smylie would flow more freely if there weren't a good deal to be said for the democratic principle of rota-

Soviet Style

Well, it's above the knee as demonstrated by model at the showing of the All-Union House of Fashion collection in Moscow Sunday. Prior to now, hemlines in Moscow have been kept discreetly low, but apparently the "decadent" Western fashion has been given official approval. It looks as if once again the Soviet authorities had given in to youth. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Moscow)

Teenage Jury Examined By Student Speakers

"Teenage Organizations" was the program topic during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the 1965 Hyperion Club at the home of Mrs. H. C. Ernsting on the Veterans Administration Hospital property. Cohostesses were Mrs. James Owens and Mrs. Robert Hill. Mrs. James Cape presided.

Miss Campbell's talk was on the purposes and aims of a local "Teen Jury." She stressed that the jury would need the approval of Big Spring civic organizations, parents and teachers.

Holmes topic was on establishing a Junior Achievements group in Big Spring. This group, under the sponsorship of local businessmen, would conduct summer time businesses on a profit and loss basis. He added that this would give teenagers opportunity to learn about business and would assist them to assume responsibilities.

Gardeners See Effect Of Outdoor Lighting

The effectiveness of outdoor lighting was demonstrated by Olen Graves of Texas Electric Service Company when he was guest speaker Tuesday evening for the Green Thumb Garden Club.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ike Robb, No. 4 Highland Cove, and cohostesses were Mrs. Fred W. Lutting, Mrs. William R. Cashion, Mrs. Arch Carson and Mrs. A. Swartz. Husbands of the club members were guests, and approximately 35 were in attendance.

Graves noted that the lighting adds "charm to the night" but should not copy daytime lighting. One of the early uses of lighting was to provide safety at steps and pathways, but now beauty is also being stressed.

He said well-shaped trees, pretty borders and fine plants deserved the compliment of good lighting to beautify a well-planned yard. He demonstrated flood lights for up or down effects and showed fixtures for accent lighting.

Graves was introduced by Mrs. Cashion, the new president, who also introduced other officers, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Johnson, reporter. Mrs. J. M. Woodall is vice president.

Refreshments were served from a polished table centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations. A pewter

Midland Lee Could Be Set To Explode

It's taken a while for coach Bob Burris to install his prototype offense at Midland Lee but the Rebels may be ready to tell when they clash with the Big Spring Steers in the District 2-AAAA opener for both teams here Friday night.

The Rebels, 1-2 for the season, rely mainly on the bone-crushing runs of fullback Roger Camp, a 190-pounder; and the passing of Gregg Frazier, 172-pound junior quarterback.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

School officials who find it compatible to live with officiating atrocities committed in their junior high school athletic contests, which are invariably perpetrated to shower manna upon resident elevens, are simply deluging themselves if they think such bias is helpful.

Many athletic departments hire competent arbiters, reasoning that the better the officiating is as that level the easier it is going to be for a boy to adjust when he reaches high school.

Unfortunately, some schools commission coaches with their own systems or appoint gross incompetents to regulate the player traffic in the junior high contests. Such individuals, for reasons not quite lucid, think their primary mission is not to serve in the true capacities of the referee, the umpire and allied help, but so hobble visiting delegations that they cannot mount drives that would result in scores.

Such officials are referred to as "homers" for obvious reasons. They emerge as a sort of 12th man on the field for the home team, a friend to turn to in need when all else seems lost.

The favoritism shown the provincials under such circumstances may offer a temporary balm but it exposes the boys to greater perils down the road. At some point along the way, they must face the Moment of Truth in games where the board of arbitration takes pride in conforming to the code.

That LSU-Rice football pact has been extended for 11 more seasons, or through 1977. Some young man not yet out of high school may be coaching at either or both of the two schools by that time.

Local football fans can expect to see running back Tommy Orloff of Midland Lee in full flower when the Steers host the Rebels Friday night in their 2-AAAA conference opener.

Orloff has been running on a flat wheel in recent weeks. When his running gear is sound, he can make a lot of difference in Lee's attack.

It's fairly well established that some team other than Texas Western will set up shop in the Sun Bowl this season.

Thus far the Miners haven't been able to detonate that nervous energy that proved so devastating last year. (The Miners finally won over New Mexico last Saturday, 51-3, after having lost to Arizona State and North Texas in previous outings.)

And some of the cynics are saying that the Think Department left the TWC basketball team when Moe Iba hiked out for Memphis State. In other words, they are suggesting that head mentor Don Haskins is not the Socrates of the round-ball world.

Haskins is a good coach if for no other reason than he is a disciplinarian. He runs a tight ship. There is no doubt who wears the captain's bars when he's around. And he wins and wins and wins, which is what counts, whether you're playing poker or the stock market.

Jim Browder of the Fort Worth Press opines that the Texas and Arkansas 1-attacks are so familiar this fall that Bevo, the Longhorn mascot, might start "inking."

Texas Tech officials will induct two new names, Windy Nicklaus and Brig. Gen. Ross Ayers into the school's Athletic Hall of Honor Nov. 5 (when the Raiders will be at home to Oklahoma State).

That recalls to mind a ceremony that was to similarly honor the late Pete Cawthon a few years ago. Cawthon, then a resident of Alabama, was duly notified of the ceremony that was to be staged in his honor but he refused to be a party to the conspiracy.

He remembered all too well the slings and arrows that had been aimed his way by certain individuals who professed to be friends of the school. His health was deteriorating at the time and the chieftains of the party lamely used that as an excuse to define his absence.

Cawthon would dearly liked to have attended but could not find it in his heart to forgive his detractors.

You've heard of the Year of the Locust? You'd have to call a 48-hour period in District 3-AAA ending Saturday night the Lost Weekend. Not a team in the conference returned a victory.

San Angelo Lake View started Thursday night by blowing a 18-14 verdict to Coleman. On Friday night, Brownfield fell to Seminole, 13-10; Snyder was upended by Kermit, 21-7; Monahan scrambled Sweetwater, 21-6; Herford routed Levelland, 33-5; and Tulla handed Littlefield its first loss, 15-14.

To complete the unanimity, Lamesa was decked by Lubbock Coronado Saturday night, 12-7.

Bisons Lead In Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — With quarterback Hank Washington and end Dave Szymakowski there is little reason to wonder why West Texas State leads the major college football teams in total offense and forward passing.

Washington is first this week in individual total offense and second in passing. Szymakowski ranks eighth in pass receptions.

In team total offense, West Texas has gained 1,419 yards in three games for an average of 473 yards. Notre Dame is second with 439 yards a game.

Most of West Texas' offense has come on the tosses of Washington. Of its 904 yards passing—an average of 301 per game—Washington has accounted for 824 yards. As a team West Texas has completed 55 of 103 passes and Washington's record is 51 of 96.

Szymakowski has caught 20 passes for 297 yards and three touchdowns.

Washington's 859 yards in total offense leads the nation in that category. Danny Holman of San Jose State, who leads Washington in passing with 60 completions in 92 attempts, is second with 511 yards.

Bo Burris of Houston is third in total offense with 683 yards. Terry Southall of Baylor is sixth with 595 and Vidal Carlin of North Texas State is 10th with 578.

Billy Stevens of Texas Western is third in passing with 56 completions for 671 yards. Carlin is fourth with 46 for 599 and Southall is eighth with 43 for 579.

Stevens' throwing makes Texas Western fifth nationally in forward passing with an average of 250 yards per game.

No QBC Session Staged Tuesday

Although several people brought the elements to see about it, no Quarterback Club meeting took place here last night.

Coaches and officials decided to forego the convulse, due to the fact that the Steers did not play a game last week.

The booster organization will resume its weekly meetings next Tuesday night.

Vols Picked To Topple Engineers

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more ups and downs in college football than there are in a Wall Street stock report.

Last week's wanderings on the rim of Upset Gulch brought a meager .709 picking average and dropped the season's figures to .726.

Michigan State over Michigan: Bubba Smith, Michigan State's defensive end, is 6-7 and 245 pounds. At that size he is big enough to be both the Smith Brothers and make the Wolverines cough up that ball.

UCLA over Rice: Gary Beban and his rugged playmates make the Rice Owls say "Who?"

Notre Dame over Army: The surprising Cadets have allowed only one touchdown in their first three games but Notre Dame is in a different league. The Irish to get at least three TDs.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide has both an offense and a defense.

Arkansas over Baylor: Each team has a top flight quarterback but Jon Brittenum of the Porkers has more able helpers.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojan defense will be stacked to stop the running of Don Moore and the plunging of Jeff Jordan.

Nebraska over Wisconsin: One of the poorest Wisconsin teams of recent years collides with one of Nebraska's best.

Ohio State over Illinois: If you don't have courage, don't bet on this one.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: For the fourth straight week the TV fans will watch a pair of unbeaten teams. The Tennessee defense, which hasn't yet allowed a touchdown, to melt the effectiveness of Lenny Snow.

Florida over Florida State: Steve Spurrier will find his targets often enough to pull it out although this meeting is more than a game for Florida State.

Dartmouth over Princeton: For years this meeting ended the Ivy League season but here it is on World Series Saturday, with Dartmouth the host. That makes it even tougher for Princeton.

Texas over Oklahoma: The annual Dallas battle. Super Bill Bradley, the young Texas quarterback is out with an injury, but sophomore Andy White, who completed six of eight passes last week, is expected to be a capable replacement.

O's Power Is Matched With Dodger Hurling

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore's young Dave McNally were on the mound and catcher Andy Etchebarren was on the lookout for Maury Wills as the World Series opened today.

A sellout crowd of 55,000 began filling into Dodger Stadium early for the 1 p.m. CST, start of the Series that is expected to be a classic match-up of Dodger pitching and speed vs. Oriole power.

Both Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were well aware that the entire battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

"I'm looking for Wills and Davis (outfielder Willie Davis) to try and do a lot of running," Etchebarren said.

Etchebarren said the Orioles had paid particular attention to that facet of the game the last weeks of the season.

"We've been working on it the last two weeks," he said.

"We've also worked on a few more pickoff plays."

Meanwhile, Wills inferred that the Dodgers would test Etchebarren early because he is a rookie.

"You'd have to consider that," Wills said. "A thing like that shouldn't go untried."

Wills explained that the Dodgers "don't go out there and run blindly," but try to force the other club back to fundamentals.

The Dodgers' ability to put the squeeze on with speed is one of the major reasons Manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles tapped McNally for the opening assignment. A left-hander, McNally would be more effective in holding the Dodgers on base.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston would have preferred to open with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax, but had to switch to Drysdale when Koufax was forced to pitch the full nine innings in the pennant-clincher at Philadelphia last Sunday.

As the rotation now stands, Drysdale, 13-16, will be followed to the mound by Koufax, 27-8, and Claude Osteen, 17-14. Jim Palmer, 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6, will follow McNally, 13-6. Osteen and Bunker hook up in Baltimore Saturday when the scene shifts to the American League city.

The Dodgers remained the 8-5 choice because of their pitching and speed. Alston's pitching staff has a 2.63 earned run average and 52 complete games compared with a 3.35 ERA and 23 complete games for the Orioles.

But Bauer has the bombers, particularly Frank Robinson, who became the first player in a decade to win batting's triple crown by leading the league with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

Over-all, The Orioles have hit .259 with 175 homers to .256 for the Dodgers, who have only 108 homers.

Howley's Dash Not A Record

DALLAS (AP) — Chuck Howley, Dallas Cowboys linebacker, will have to settle for second best in the National Football League's record book.

The NFL declined Tuesday to give Howley an extra yard and his runback of an Atlanta fumble for a touchdown last Sunday will stand at 97 yards. This is one yard short of equalling the record set by George Halas of the Chicago Bears against the Thorpe Indians Nov. 4, 1923.

The Cowboys had asked the NFL to study the movies of Sunday's game and rule whether Howley's run could have started his runback of an Atlanta fumble for a touchdown last Sunday on the two-yard line.

Los Angeles Tried To Ink W. McNally 6 Years Ago

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost in the bonus bidding for Dave McNally six years ago, face the young Baltimore Orioles' left-hander today in the opening game of the 1966 World Series.

Although he has been with the Orioles four years and helped them to the American League pennant this season with a 13-6 record, McNally is a virtual unknown when compared with Los Angeles starter Don Drysdale.

"I'm probably the most unsuccessful pitcher ever to start a World Series opener," McNally said on the eve of his big challenge. "But that doesn't matter. When you go out on the field, you either do or don't."

McNally has understated his own case somewhat. Although he completed only five games, McNally kept the Orioles close in contests and Baltimore was 22-11 in games he started.

"Drysdale certainly has earned his reputation," McNally said. "But he's lost a lot of games, too. We're not scared of him."

McNally has come along steadily since turning down an $85,000 bonus offer from the Dodgers in 1960 and signing with Baltimore for $5,000 less.

NFL Teams Gang Up On Speedster

DALLAS, Tex (AP) — They're ganging up on Bullet Bob Hayes this National Football League season but try as they might they just can't stop the world's fastest human from catching touchdown passes.

As a result the Dallas Cowboys are swinging along unbeaten in eight games—three of them league affairs—and Hayes, the sophomore in NFL play, is moving at a record pace.

Hayes has snared four touchdown throws in the three league games and if he keeps it up not only will he surpass what he did as a rookie—12 touchdowns—to lead the league—but he could threaten the league record of 17 for one season.

All this comes in the face of double, sometimes triple, coverage in every game. The teaming up in the game with Minnesota had even stronger significance. Before that one Norman Van Brocklin, coach of the Vikings, told a luncheon, "Hayes is no super-man. I only hope some of our players give him a rap in the mouth and we'll see how well he does."

Hayes didn't get the poke in the chops but he was hit everywhere else, sat on and generally given a working over. He once complained to the officials. But that didn't deter the former Olympic sprint champion, who once ran the 100 in 9.1.

He got loose in the second period as Don Meredith called an audible, seeing that Bullet Bob had beaten his tormentors. Meredith pitched to Hayes for 37 yards and a touchdown. Minnesota had led 10-0 at the time, but when Bob got the Cowboys on the scoreboard they went on to win the game 28-17.

In the league opener against New York, Hayes broke open a game with a 74-yard touchdown pass from Meredith, made on an audible. He outran the 9.3 sprinter, Clarence Childs, to do it. Hayes also took a 39-yarder in the third period for another touchdown.

Against Atlanta last Sunday, with Dallas ahead only 17-14, Hayes took a 49-yard touchdown pass and busted up that ball game, too.

The mighty pass-receiver caught 18 in the five exhibition games for 431 yards and six touchdowns—an average of 23.9 yards per reception.

In the three league games he has caught nine passes and four have been four touchdowns. His average per reception has been 32.9 yards, which may be some sort of record. There is no record along this line listed by the NFL.

Will Their Power Beat Dodger Pitching?

They will face the winningest pitcher in the majors, Sandy Koufax, plus Don Drysdale, Claude Osteen and Don Sutton. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Mayor Seeks Fast Bracero Plan Renewal

OJINAGA, Mexico (AP)—Mayor Diogenes Bustamante said Tuesday that quick reinstatement of the bracero program is being sought to ease unemployment in this area of Northern Mexico.

At the same time he branded as false reports that 2,000 persons were homeless and in urgent need of food and clothing at Ojinaga, across the Rio Grande from Presidio, Tex.

PAPERS BLAMED

Bustamante blamed Juarez newspapers for spreading word that many were starving in this city of 15,000 because heavy rains and the flooding Rio Grande had destroyed crops and houses.

The Ojinaga mayor said Gen. Praxedes Giner Duran, governor of Chihuahua state, obtained government supplies of food, medicine and clothing, and these were distributed by trucks and helicopters even to flood victims in outlying areas.

SHORTAGES OF JOBS

Bustamante said there still is an acute shortage of jobs, however. He reported Duran has gone to Mexico City with a plea for President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz to seek emergency reinstatement of the bracero program, which expired last December.

The defense created two trump tricks in defending against South's four heart contract by locking the latter in dummy at a time when North had only clubs left to lead. Declarer could have taken effective counter-measures, if he had thought ahead and anticipated the dilemma before it was thrust on him.

West opened the three of diamonds, the nine was played from dummy and East won the trick with the king. He shifted to the deuce of spades in order to remove dummy's trump. South was reluctant to finesse the queen for if it lost to the king, West might be expected to drive out the ace of diamonds—thereby leaving declarer with another loser in that suit.

Declarer put up the ace of spades and returned a club to North's queen. East was in with the ace and he led back a diamond to the ace. The king of clubs was cashed on which South discarded his remaining diamond. The jack of hearts was overtaken by the queen and declarer began drawing trump by leading the queen of spades.

West played the king and put his opponent back in the dummy with a heart. A club was led, East played the jack and declarer ruffed with the ten of spades, to prevent West from overruffing him. The jack of spades was cashed, however, when trumps failed to divide, South was obliged to concede the setting trick to the nine of spades.

Declarer could have avoided being pinned in dummy by playing a second round of hearts before he starts the trump p.p.s. Suppose he cashes North's ace of hearts first and then overtakes the jack with his queen. Now, when the queen of spades is led, he can discard the king of hearts from dummy. Observe that South's ten becomes the master card in that suit.

West wins the king of spades but must put South back in on the return, whether he leads a heart or a diamond. Declarer draws the remaining trump and limits his losses to one trick each in spades, diamonds, and clubs.

Airport Votes Called Crucial

FORT WORTH (AP)—Crucial votes lie ahead on clearing the way for construction of the North Texas regional airport between Dallas and Fort Worth, area leaders were told Tuesday night.

J. Lee Johnson III, vice chairman of the Fort Worth-Dallas regional airport committee, described the elections to be held within the next six months as "economic D days."

He addressed about 200 members of 20 chambers of commerce in the affected region. Without the facility between the two cities, Johnson predicted this metropolitan area will lose its place among the nation's economic leaders.

"The economic areas of the future are going to depend on air accommodations," he said.

The first "D" day will come Nov. 8, Johnson said. That is the date for statewide voting on 16 constitutional amendments, one granting the power locally to create airport authorities.

"If it passes," Johnson added, "the second 'D' day will come hopefully in April." This would be the date Dallas and Fort Worth residents vote on establishing the regional airport authority.

Charles of the Ritz

Jemphill-Wells

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The chairman of the Federal Power Commission sought Tuesday to dismantle what he called "intriguing myths" about the FPC's relation to the natural gas industry.

FPC Chairman Seeking To Unravel Gas 'Myths'

Speaking to 6,000 gas company executives attending the 1966 convention of the American Gas Association, Lee C. White said that the most prominent myth is that the FPC holds against the industry "no matter what the issue."

White said that despite the "myths," pipeline regulation cost has dropped more than one third in the past decade, pending pipeline cases have dropped from 110 to 31 since 1960 and the new area pricing doctrine has eliminated indefinite provisions which kept the industry in a state of uncertainty.

Industry Grows

"If this were true, it is inconceivable that the industry could have prospered and grown to the extent that it actually has," he said.

White pointed out that the gas industry is the nation's sixth largest in gross investment and has attracted more than one million new customers this year alone.
