McNamara Confers With Ky

dor to South Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge, Ky, McNamara and new Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach. (AP WIREPHOTO by radio from Saigon)

Diehard Band Of Guerrillas Wiped Out By Copter Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A diehard band of Viet Cong guerrillas answered an American demand to surrender with a hail of bullets today, and an encircling force of U.S. helicopter troops wiped them out.

A U.S. spokesman said 1st Division cavalrymen killed 33 Viet Cong and captured eight in a five-hour engagement near the central coast 28 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

It was the only ground action of any size reported as U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara met with leaders of South Viet Nam's military government to hear their assessment of how the war is going.

NO AIR LETUP
The air offensive against North Viet Nam showed no let-up with American pilots flying 116 strike missions Monday. They concentrated on Communist truck convoys.

The fight against the diehard Viet Cong on the marshy coastland began at dawn, a U.S. spokesman gave this account of the action:

A helicopter-borne unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division spotted five Viet Cong in a rice paddy. The helicopters landed a platoon of cavalrymen who killed four Viet Cong and took one prisoner.

HAIL OF BULLETS
Helicopters flew in two more companies — about 350 men — of U.S. cavalrymen who formed a noose around other Viet Cong guerrillas spotted in the area. A U.S. officer called on the encircled Viet Cong, described as a "local force," to surrender.

The Viet Cong replied with a hail of bullets. In the ensuing firefight, the helicopter troops killed 29 more Viet Cong, captured seven more, and seized 15 suspects.

470 KILLED
In the 10 days of fighting, the U.S. cavalrymen have reported killing 470 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and taking 503 prisoners.

Shotgun Victim
CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Avis Donnelly, 22, of Corpus Christi was killed Monday when a shotgun fell from a seat and discharged as he stepped from a pickup truck. The victim's brother said they were dove hunting.

McNamara spent the second day of his visit in a round of briefings and conferences with South Viet Nam's chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the nation's prime minister, Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, and other officials. McNamara will tour the war fronts Wednesday and Thursday, visiting U.S. forces in the field and flying out for a quick trip to a U.S. 7th

UN Members Urged To Back Peace Plan

Nuclear Treaty Looming

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to make an effort for early accord on a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons, but the key issue blocking the pact remains unresolved.

U.S. officials undertook today to downgrade somewhat a burst of optimism set off Monday night by comments made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko after talks with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

BRUSH CLEARED
Gromyko said afterward that "it looks like both countries are striving to reach agreement," and U.S. sources said that "some of the underbrush" had been cleared away.

The European allies, particularly West German diplomats, were being told that progress on the non-proliferation treaty did not mean the United States was ruling out formation of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear weapons system sometime in the future.

Gromyko was reportedly told Monday in a dinner meeting at the State Department that any non-proliferation formula to which the United States agreed would have to be thoroughly talked out with the NATO allies.

KEY ISSUES
The key issue is whether the treaty would be written in such a way as to prohibit a NATO nuclear force in which the Germans would share some kind of access to nuclear weapons provided by the United States or other NATO allies. The U.S.S.R. has insisted on a treaty which would prevent that. The United States has said that was not real proliferation of nuclear weapons since the system would be under international control with a U.S. veto.

Gromyko conferred for an hour and 45 minutes Monday with Johnson, Rusk and other U.S. officials. He had a working dinner with Rusk and other State Department authorities. Today he returned to New York.

Johnson is known to hope that with improving U.S.-Soviet relations, the Soviet government will eventually be persuaded to play a decisive role in bringing the Vietnamese war to an end.

NO ARGUMENT
The Soviets apparently hope that if a non-proliferation treaty can be concluded it will effectively prevent the United States from turning nuclear weapons over to West Germany. Moscow has made a major issue of this problem for years.

U.S. officials said today that in Monday night's discussions there had been no agreement on the wording of a treaty and that the critical issue remained unresolved.

U.S.-Soviet negotiations toward a treaty on non-proliferation are expected to resume in New York within a few days. The likely U.S. negotiator is William C. Foster, head of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

In general, under such a non-proliferation treaty, the nuclear countries would agree not to sell or give away nuclear weapons. And under the international pact, non-nuclear countries would agree not to acquire such weapons.

Gromyko's meetings with Johnson and Rusk provided fresh evidence that a new era of friendly relations is opening up between the United States and the Soviet Union.

TROOP QUESTION
They could lead, in addition to the nuclear nonproliferation pact, to parallel reductions of American and Soviet forces in Europe, to increased U.S.-Soviet trade and travel and perhaps, as officials here hopefully believe, to eventual Soviet peace-making efforts in the war in Viet Nam.

Asked Monday night if he had discussed Viet Nam with Johnson at the White House meeting, Gromyko said in reference to his nonproliferation comment "what I said was positive on what we discussed."

Asked if the question of troops in Europe was brought up, he said "I did not mention troops in Europe."

THANKFUL GOODBYE

Inez Unwinds Over Mexico

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — As Hurricane Inez whirled toward her death over Mexico today, U.S. weathermen waved a thankful goodbye to the most unpredictable storm ever to come screeching at them out of the tropics.

Inez wasn't the most wicked, and she wasn't in the hair of the forecasters as long as some — although it seemed like it.

UNEASY DAYS
It was 18 long, uneasy days from the time a U.S. weather satellite snapped the first picture of Inez off the west coast of Africa — Sept. 23 until she smashed ashore in Mexico.

Inez did what the forecasters said she would do until she hit Cuba. After that, her moves were contrary to almost every expectation.

Never before had a hurricane whipped into a hairpin turn so close to Florida that gale winds were already beating at the coast. Others had looped well out in the Atlantic, giving ample time for warnings to newly threatened areas.

GOOD RECORD
No hurricane ever traveled straight down the chain of Florida Keys, bringing every little island into the weird calmness of her eye.

And none ever came from Florida to travel west-southwest to Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula. Considering all these capers, the Weather Bureau emerged with a good record. Guadeloupe, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Cuba, and Mexico — every target area but Florida — had 36 hours warning.

CONDITION CRITICAL
Wealthy Pilot Walks Into Plane Propeller

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Wealthy Richard Reynolds, 29, who walked into an airplane propeller Monday, lay near death today.

Reynolds, member of the Reynolds Metals family, was listed in "a very, very critical condition" with a severe head injury after the accident at Richmond's Byrd Field where he was looking over a seaplane he was considering buying.

The Federal Aviation Agency reported that Reynolds, a registered pilot, had started the push-motor aircraft, then climbed out to remove the wheel chocks. As he walked forward he was struck by the right propeller.

Coeds Asked To Pose Nude

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The morals trial of a Michigan Democratic state senator went on in Justice Court today after three Michigan State university coeds testified he asked them to pose nude for pictures.

They testified Monday that the defendant, Sen. Bernard O'Brien Jr. was the man who accosted them from a car on the MSU campus, identified himself as the owner of a large photo studio, and offered them modeling training which involved posing for "stag films" with movie stars.

$800 MONTHLY
Marion Lukens, 22, Linda Outcalt, 19, and Christi LeGasey, 20, all identified O'Brien as the man who told them they could earn $800 a month as models after completing a five-week "training course during which they would be photographed during sexual intercourse."

O'Brien, a Detroit Democrat, blamed "the insurance lobby" for the two misdemeanor charges against him.

British Invite Gromyko

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — British Foreign Secretary George Brown appealed to all U.N. members today to support a six-point British plan for restoring peace in Viet Nam.

In a policy speech to the 119-nation General Assembly he also again invited Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to join with him in a call to reconvene the 1954 Geneva conference. He and Gromyko are co-chairmen of the conference.

ONCE AGAIN
"This being so," he said, "I repeat to Mr. Gromyko from this world rostrum the invitation which I made to him from the Labor party conference in Brighton. I invite him to join with me in reconvening the Geneva conference and to join with me today."

Brown will confer with Gromyko privately late today — the second meeting of the two since Brown arrived in New York late Friday.

CONSIDERATION
North Viet Nam and Red China rejected Brown's peace proposals in broadcasts today and repeated their demand for withdrawal of U.S. troops.

The foreign secretary sought American reaction to his plan at an hour-long meeting late Monday with Ambassador Goldberg.

Goldberg later told newsmen the United States was giving "very thoughtful consideration" to Brown's proposals.

Brown arranged to confer a second time with Gromyko later today in an apparent effort to get the Soviet Union to soften its position on his peace efforts.

Gromyko on Saturday turned thumbs down on Brown's proposal that the Soviet Union and Britain, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, set up a new Geneva parley to negotiate peace for Viet Nam.

BOMBING HALT
The Soviet Union contended that it could not act unless North Viet Nam requested it to do so.

Brown unveiled his peace plan last Thursday at the British Labor party's annual convention in Brighton, England.

LBJ To Speak In Baltimore

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will speak Wednesday in Baltimore and is expected to fly from there to New York for Columbus Day appearances.

The White House said Johnson will speak at noon at Social Security Headquarters in Baltimore, at an awards ceremony for employees being recognized for contributions in launching the medicare program.

George Christian, a Johnson assistant acting as press spokesman, said the President also was making tentative arrangements to go from Baltimore to New York.

"He hopes to go, he plans to go," Christian said, but insisted that all plans were tentative and could be changed.

Johnson is expected to view the Columbus Day parade down Fifth Avenue and make three speeches.

Frank D. O'Connor, Democratic candidate for governor of New York, would accompany the President along with a number of Democratic House members seeking re-election.

O'Connor's headquarters in New York announced that the President would visit the city.

Johnson visited in New York last Friday but did not see O'Connor nor endorse him. O'Connor said Johnson told him privately he was interested in a Democratic victory in New York.

Civilian Kick-Off At Webb

Warren A. Farrow, chief of civilian personnel at Webb AFB, addresses key workers from the various sections in the civilian kick-off for the United Fund at Webb.

United Fund Nearing One-Fourth Of Goal

With $31,841.64 in the United Fund coffers, efforts were doubled this week to push contributions weekly to the $139,877.51 mark — this year's UF goal.

A battalion of UF workers were combing the metropolitan and special gift divisions today, and offices and companies were being informed of the UF "fair share" plan one-one hour's pay each month.

The civilian portion of Webb's UF drive got under way this week with a briefing of key workers. Warren A. Farrow, chief of civilian personnel, and Lt. Col. Julian B. Baird, base project officer, spoke to the 22 key workers present for the meeting. Col. Baird showed a film slide presentation of UF services, and Farrow urged a friendly competition to beat the military division in achieving fund goals. The goal for Webb's civilian workers has been set at $8,579.

Civilian key workers who have been named to make contact within the various divisions are Horace Rankin, Millard E. Saunders, Melvin K. Moelling, Mrs. Marie McCullough, Geraldine Daniels, Ruth I. Gibson, Joyce M. Beazley, G. K. Eisler, Bob Boland, Mrs. Tommie Bryans, Mrs. Quilla Pope, Earl G. Mathis, Delbert L. North, W. G. Brewer, E. A. Wrau, W.

R. Campbell, E. C. Muskardin, E. G. Poitevint, S. T. Cheatham and R. A. Stone. The big gifts campaign, under the direction of Clyde McMahon, has netted $26,737 for the UF treasury. Special gifts, worked by John Taylor, has brought in $1,797. Webb's contributions so far have reached $2,581.85.

The employe division, headed by Joe Price and Don Womack, is still at $665.79, and the metropolitan division, under the Jaycees' supervision and emceed by Lt. John Slaughter, is at $40. Cards for the metropolitan division were expected to be turned in today.

'GO ON LIVING JUST AS ALWAYS' Housewife Gets Bundle

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — It reads like a movie script: A small-town housewife who was an adopted child inherits $1.6 million from an uncle she never knew.

But it actually happened to Rosemary Jelinek, 42, who, although she's elated, says: "We're going to go on living just as we always have."

Until recently, Mrs. Jelinek's life centered on her husband, their two sons and the two-story white, frame house with a fireplace in which she and her family live in Swartz Creek, a southeastern Michigan community of 3,000.

ADOPTED CHILD
But Monday Probate Judge Fred Niles of Ottawa County ruled Mrs. Jelinek was the only heir to the estate of Arthur S. Kruse, a Chicago insurance executive.

Kruse was a man "I cannot recall I ever heard of," said Mrs. Jelinek, who several weeks ago had no idea she was an adopted child and a niece of Kruse, 67, a bachelor who died near here last March.

Mrs. Jelinek is the child of Kruse's sister, Ann Corbin, who put her up for adoption almost immediately after her birth in 1924. When Kruse left no will, the estate was expected to be divided among six cousins, but then the administrators found Mrs. Jelinek.

ONE GIFT WORKS MANY WONDERS
THE UNITED WAY

'SORT OF AVERAGE'
Kruse, a vice president of the Combined Insurance Company of America, capitalized on 100 shares of stock bought for $5,000 in 1951. Stock splits and dividends increased his holdings over the next 15 years.

Denver Boycott Picks Up Steam

DENVER (AP) — The reaction of angry Denver housewives against high food prices is spreading into the suburbs.

Since a group of Denver women known as "Housewives for Lower Food Prices," announced a boycott of five major grocery chains beginning Oct. 17, groups from suburban towns east and west of Denver have been joining the cause.

The women are circulating petitions demanding an investigation of food prices. They say the boycott will last until prices go down. The women's group claims the grocers are imposing higher prices to make up for losses and low profits in other states.

Targets of the boycott will be Safeway, King Sooper's, Red Owl, Miller's and Furr's.

West Germany Seeks Soviet Trade Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany, one of the most anti-Communist governments in Europe, is trying to improve its relations with the Soviet Union and the East bloc.

A high-level West German mission is coming back from Moscow this week after completing the first phase of an effort to get the first trade agreement with the Soviet Union since 1965.

Some West German officials predict that by next year full diplomatic relations will be set up with Romania. Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu of Romania is due in Bonn in the next few months, and final arrangements are expected to be made then.

BRIDGE

Foreign ministry officials hope that similar arrangements will soon follow with Bulgaria and Hungary.

Traditionally Germany has been a bridge between eastern and western Europe, and West Germany is already the East bloc's biggest western trading partner. But competition is tough, and West German businessmen want all the official help they can get.

It is also becoming increasingly clear that reunification of Germany is more likely to be achieved by friendship with the east Europeans than by enmity. But there is still no indication of how reunification may be brought about.

HARD JOB

Improving relations between West Germany and the East bloc is a hard job. Memories of World War II still stand in the way, and the cold war carries them on.

The status of West Berlin is a major difficulty in all deals between West Germany and the East bloc. Communist governments insist that it is not part of West Germany and do everything they can to get it treated as a separate area.

The United States, Britain and France — which occupy the city — let the West German government handle most of West Berlin's foreign affairs.

Pupils Unload 'Mercy Train'

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Students from an El Paso parochial high school begin unloading today 10 boxcars of supplies donated by Lafayette, La., residents for the Tarahumara Indians of northern Mexico.

The goods, including food, clothing, medicine, tools and other items, have been refused entry into Mexico by the Mexican government.

A representative for Lafayette residents, El Paso attorney Joseph Rey, said the goods would be stored in a warehouse pending another appeal for a permit to take the goods across the border.

The supplies were donated after a Roman Catholic priest reported that the Tarahumaras were suffering from malnutrition. The Mexican government said it could adequately care for the tribe.

Winds Sweep Great Lakes

By The Associated Press

Clear and cool weather prevailed across the major part of the nation today.

Temperatures dropped to the 30s in parts of the northern and central sections of the Plains and the Mississippi Valley, and frost was indicated in some areas.

Gusty winds swept the Great Lakes region, showers fell in some areas and there were snow flurries in upper Michigan.

Fairly warm weather continued in the Deep South along with some showers. Showers also fell in mountain areas of the Southwest.

Rain fell earlier along the Northern Gulf Coast from Texas to Florida. Rain and hail with winds of about 40 m.p.h. lashed Watertown, N.Y.

Criminal Docket Hearing Resumed

Howard County Court, hearing the criminal docket, resumed at 1:30 p.m. today.

No morning session was held because Judge Lee Porter and the county attorney, Dee Jon Davis, had to be at the Big Spring State Hospital for the regular monthly sanity hearings with four of these cases on docket.

State Issues New Travel Handbook

AUSTIN—Two years of detailed research are culminated with the release of a comprehensive, 176-page "Texas Travel Handbook," published by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department.

The glove-compartment-sized book contains more than 1,500 items of interest ranging from Alibates Flint Quarries to General Zaragoza's birthplace. In the family of materials now published by the Highway Department, the new Handbook fills a need by providing specific information on points of interest and where they are located.

As State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer pointed out, "We have in the past attracted visitors with a colorful array of brochures, maps, motion pictures and posters—all broad in scope. But once within our borders, there was no single volume to introduce specific sites of interest."

"This new publication," Greer said, "will lead our visitors to attractions in every corner of the state."

In addition to guiding the individual visitor, the new "Texas Travel Handbook" will serve as a reference tool for national travel writers, whose interest is increasingly focused upon Texas.

"Through Highway Department distribution channels," Greer said, "the new travel handbook will be placed in the hands of travel writers, editors and publishers throughout the United States—and in fact, in many countries over the world. However," Greer said, "the Handbook will not be available in bulk quantities for redistribution. Rather, it will be provided on a select and individual basis to the actual traveler."

The publication represents the first attempt by a state agency to compile a comprehensive visitor's guide to Texas. "We realize," Greer said, "in a volume of this depth and detail, some omissions are inevitable at the first printing. As new sites and attractions develop, and our information is updated, subsequent printings will include those new items." Handbook subjects are as varied as the state itself, ranging from the melancholy Empty Saddle monument in Dalhart to the humorous Popeye statue in Crystal City. With the Handbook as a guide, travelers will discover dinosaur tracks and Indian pictographs; learn the location of little-known ghost towns, and follow specific directions to the most popular attractions of modern Texas cities.

Special sections provide information on recreational facilities in Big Bend National Park, four National Forests, and more than 50 Texas State Parks. Summaries of Texas hunting and fishing regulations are provided, as well as information on visiting Mexico.

Choir Boosters Hear Reports On Member Signup

The membership drive, conducted by the Big Spring Choir Booster Association for the past week, has resulted in 70 new members from among the high school choir parents. The drive will begin this week at the junior high schools and will continue at the high school. Importing of membership and supporting the projects which will finance the activities of the school choir was stressed by the president, Dr. Milton Talbot, when the organization met Monday evening in the high school vocational building.

Choir Boosters have started an all-out campaign to sell "Big Spring Steer" bumper stickers. Stickers are available from high school booster members, or by calling AM 3-4216.

The annual candy sale will be initiated the first week in November according to Mrs. Roy Cederberg, vice president in charge of projects. The sale of sweat shirts will continue at the junior high schools.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bill Tune to the 23 members present. The next meeting will be held Nov. 14.

Custody of the Bermuda bowl, symbol of the World's Bridge championship, went to Italy for the eighth consecutive year when her famed Blue team defeated the Americans in a 140 deal match held at St. Vincent, Italy, in May. The United States finished second, followed by Venezuela, the Netherlands, and Thailand.

The Americans, who have come close several times in recent years, fell far behind during the first half of the match, rallied to pull within halting distance and then faded in the closing deals. Next year may mark the beginning of a new era, inasmuch as four members of Italy's Blue team are retiring from international competition.

In today's hand, taken from an early stage of the match, an American declarer muffed a golden opportunity to gain a substantial swing for his team, when he failed to capitalize on a favorable lead against his three no trump contract.

Powell Ruled Guilty

NEW YORK (AP) — A trial judge has withheld pronouncing sentence in U.S. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's criminal contempt conviction until he hears Powell's arguments that the case was out of the court's jurisdiction.

State Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy said he would put off sentencing until he decides on the validity of the trial, boycotted by Powell and his attorneys.

The Negro congressman, found guilty by an all-white jury Monday of willfully disobeying five court orders in connection with a $164,000 libel judgment against him, faces a maximum jail sentence of 150 days and a fine of $1,250.

Justice Levy asked Powell's four-man legal staff to present its arguments for dismissal in addition to a pre-trial motion made before the four walked out of court last Wednesday.

Levy had indicated to the attorneys that their presence during the trial could be considered an acceptance of its legality. They maintain the court has no jurisdiction in a criminal proceeding.

The six-year-old case involves $164,000 in libel damages owed by the New York Democrat to Esther James, 68, a Harlem widow whom he called during a television show a "bag woman" or a go-between used by corrupt police to collect payoffs.

Powell, stripped last month by fellow congressmen of some of his powers as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, was in Washington and not available for comment.

Weathermen in San Juan, Puerto Rico, said the storm holds no threat to any land and Miami forecaster Charles Wise said, "We really don't see any significance to it at all."

Like it or not, that's a Volkswagen. With all the beauty of the funny-looking one. An air-cooled engine that can't boil over or freeze and averages 27 miles per gallon of gas. Which is pretty good for a car that goes 84 miles per hour. We not only put in a lot of what makes the bug so nice. We also put in a lot of what makes the bug so nice for so long. Sweat The Volkswagen Fastback is made the same way Volkswagens were made ten years ago. Since most of them are still around, that couldn't be too bad. It goes through 3,120 inspections. Nothing gets into the car that isn't perfect. For a scratch on the door that only a trained VW inspector could ever see, we'll scratch the whole door. We even take a lot of pains with what you can see. The paint job involves 2 chemical baths, 3 sandings (one by hand) and 4 coats of paint. So first be sure you like the Fastback. Then be sure to pick a color you can live with a long time.

Threat Of GE Strike Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a strike against giant General Electric Co. heightened today despite intensified efforts of government officials who fear a walkout would hurt the Viet Nam war effort.

"It is unfortunate that this company has not moved an inch," said Paul Jennings, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

"I think it is rather obvious that if there is no movement there is going to be a strike," Jennings added.

'NO PROGRESS'

"No progress" was the report of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor after more than two hours of separate meetings with both sides Monday night.

Further talks are scheduled today.

Some 80,000 members of Jennings' union are scheduled to strike at 12:01 a.m. Monday if the dispute over a new contract is not settled. Another 40,000 members of 10 other unions negotiating with the company also have threatened to strike.

COST-OF-LIVING

General Electric in its approximately 160 plants around the nation makes a multitude of products ranging from light bulbs to such weapons of war as jet fighter plane and helicopter engines, bomb sights, cannons and machine guns.

GE workers involved in the negotiations now average about $2.80 per hour in wages and $3.25 when the value of fringe benefits is added.

The union's chief demands include a bigger cost-of-living wage increase and binding arbitration for settling grievances, which it said now frequently lead to strikes.

Mrs. Ennis Cochran, volunteer coordinator, said that Mrs. Brindley plans to make this donation an annual one.

DEAR ABBY

Don't Be Harassed

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and for the past year have been going with a married man of 44. He was nearly separated from his wife when I met him. He's a fine intelligent man, and we love each other very much. His wife is a shrew who has turned their four children against their father. Since she has found out about me she has been pestering my family with anonymous telephone calls and gossiping about me.

She has called me, too, and said some horrible things to me, calling me names, etc. She's also sent me hate cards. I know she'll eventually get sick of the way things are and will divorce him so he can marry me. But in the meantime, is there anything I can do to keep her from making my life so miserable? BORN TO WIN

DEAR BORN: It is the right of every decent, law-abiding, respectable citizen to go about his daily business without fear of being harassed, intimidated or threatened. If you qualify, seek police protection.

DEAR ABBY: A teacher in a public school wanted to make an example of my son because he talked out of turn, so she put a piece of adhesive tape across his mouth. Well, Gilbert wasn't going to walk around school with that tape on his mouth all day, so he tore it off just as he was leaving her class.

And with it he tore off a piece of his lip. The principal had to rush Gilbert to a hospital to have six stitches put in his lip. What I want to know is, can we sue?

MRS. G. G. L.

DEAR MRS. L.: I have an agreement with the bar association. They won't write advice columns and I won't practice law. But they have allowed me to state that no one can prevent anyone else from suing. Whether they can collect or not, is another matter. In the meantime, why not give the teacher a piece of YOUR lip!

DEAR ABBY: I hate alcohol and my sons know it. Yet when we go to their homes for parties, the boys and their wives and their guests drink hard liquor right in front of us. One boy is 32 and the other is 55, so they don't need our permission to drink, but it wouldn't hurt them to abstain when we are present.

My husband is on the boys' side. He says the younger generation is living in an entirely different world. Should I tell the boys that as far as I am concerned, they can live in their world and I will live in mine?

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.

DEAR BLOOMINGTON: If you want to remain on speaking terms with your sons, I suggest you stop fighting battle of the bottle and try living in the same world as long as possible. You'll be living in different worlds soon enough.

Bid Date Set For Schools

Bids will be received Oct. 27 for improvements at Forsan and Elbow school, it was announced today.

The Forsan County Line Independent School District has about $265,000 available for the addition to its plant. Ten prospective bidders have checked out plans so far, according to Gary and Hobertz, architects.

At Forsan, bids will be received on a multipurpose teaching auditorium, a home economics unit, a language laboratory and a teachers' graphics lab.

Elbow is due for a five-room new classroom building to replace the present outmoded one. The red building and block building at Elbow will be demolished later, but the cafeteria-gymnasium built in 1954 is still in good condition.

Cotton Crop Harvest Slow

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' cotton harvest moved slowly last week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports, warning that hot, dry weather is urgently needed to mature the crop before frost in the High Plains.

Cotton stripping reached 27 per cent completion throughout the state, 10 per cent behind the 1965 schedule.

The department also reported Monday in its weekly crop and weather report that sorghum combining is 68 per cent complete, three per cent behind last year. Oats planting reached 43 per cent completion, on schedule, and wheat seeding progressed rapidly to 71 per cent completion, three per cent ahead of 1965.

The corn harvest, 90 per cent complete, trailed last year's pace by five per cent.

Supplies of lettuce increased on the High Plains, but the volume is still light, the department said. Peak movement of carrots, in good supply, is expected in November.

Recent rains improved the condition of vegetables in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and cabbage and carrot seeding increased. The Valley's citrus crop made good progress.

The department said forage for cattle is plentiful.

Race Relations Law Hits Snag

LONDON (AP) — Britain's year-old law against racial discrimination in public accommodations and business is encountering difficulties, and the government is considering plans to tighten it.

The law, passed last November, sets up race relations boards in major cities to investigate complaints of discrimination and to try to resolve the problems by conciliation and persuasion.

Home Secretary Roy Jenkins told a meeting Monday night that the law has a major defect — it failed to give the race relations boards power to compel witnesses to come before them.

Jenkins also said he wants to see more of Britain's colored population — about one million in a nation of 50 million — in government service.

Rain Whips Galveston

By The Associated Press

Briefly torrential rain lashed Galveston during a thunderstorm Monday afternoon, sending water gushing through some downtown streets.

The downpour occurred as a weak cool front pushed southward. By this morning the front was headed into the Gulf of Mexico.

Galveston caught 2.96 inches of rain, and 2.75 of that amount poured down within three hours.

Lightning hit a transformer at the Galveston News during the storm, delaying the afternoon edition about an hour.

Light rain fell early today at Corpus Christi and it was cloudy elsewhere along the waning cool front. Skies were clear in most other sections of the state.

McAllen and Victoria had light ground fog in early morning.

Except for decreasing clouds and a few showers in southern portions of Texas, mostly fair weather was predicted through Wednesday. Northern areas were promised a little warming tonight but it was due to turn a bit cooler in the south.

'I REALLY SAW MYSELF'

LSD Aids Alcoholics

By JOHN BARBOUR

VIEJAS, Calif. (AP) — He is a half-destructive drinker. Alcohol leads him into trouble. It helped break up his marriage. Once he tried to kill himself.

Ten minutes ago — to help sway him away from drink — he received an injection of a controversial drug on trial — LSD — a packaged bit of dreams that thrills, frightens, distorts, damages, depending on the mind that drinks it up, seeks it out. And depending on who gives the drug, and where.

It is a scary drug, defamed by misuse, defended by hope, and too often endowed with magic by those who shouldn't have it. CHANGING BALLET But this is different. A minute after injection, he felt the first effects. Now he is somewhere between his mind and his imagination, aboard a single musical note in a flotilla of notes, riding a single strand of color in a changing ballet of multi-hued pipe cleaners, ribbons and spheres. Everything is pure.

The only notion his companions have of what he sees behind his black eyeshade are his infrequent whispered words, his trailing, unfinished sentences: "Have you ever seen ... when you're at the seashore — the skeleton of a crab, so clean from the sea. Well this is ... this is ... transluence ... I don't ever want to forget this." His hands move to the music like two frail birds afraid to fly. His lips and chin are drawn tight in a tense, closed smile as if pleasure were welling up from his breast into his throat, and he was afraid it would escape.

DANGEROUS The drug is called chemically delysergic acid diethylamide. Its effects are unpredictable, mystical, beautiful and potentially dangerous. It is easy to make, difficult to control. Its action is as varied as the persons that use it. Its repeated use seems to leave its mark on the personality. It can strip a psychotic of the defenses that enable him to cope with the world. It has been all but banned by the federal government. It has been taken by philosophers, musicians, doctors, writers, dope addicts and kids bent on kicks. Each tastes it differently.

In this small camp in the rugged mountains outside San Diego, LSD is being tried on carefully selected subjects as a treatment for alcoholism, one of a handful of experiments condoned and supported by the National Institute of Mental Health. HALF-WAY The indications are hopeful — But the tests have barely reached the half-way mark, have about 1 1/2 years to run, and the psychiatrists who guide them are well aware of the tight grip alcoholism has on its victims, of the frailty and temporariness of good resolved.

Each month a group of volunteers at this county honor camp are given the drug in a controlled study administered through the Vista Hill Psychiatric Foundation to determine if LSD can pull alcoholics away from the path of drink.

Dr. Keith Ditman, psychiatrist at the University of California at Los Angeles, who heads the study, prefers to withhold judgment. He has had LSD himself, as have other doctors on the team. They know many of its effects. But no one knows exactly how the drug works, whether it temporarily upsets the chemical balance of the brain and nervous system, where the site of action is, whether the drug blocks or enhances or both. Ditman explains that LSD makes a person more open to suggestion from outside stimuli, more impressionable. If you look at the human brain as a camera, he says, the effect of LSD is to increase the speed of the film, make it more sensitive. For some susceptible individuals, and a massive LSD experience, there is often a religious-like conversion. For alcoholics who often have a sort of gun barrel view of the world, LSD can conceivably provide a broadening, fulfilling experience.

REAL MEANING The hope is that the alcoholic's LSD experience can somehow open his mind to his own past, help him see it more clearly, erase in one great purging some of the troublesome emotions that have led his life astray. Perhaps Ditman's 5-year-old daughter Cynthia caught the real meaning of LSD, from overheard remarks when she told her father: "Oh, I know what LSD is. It's the stuff that puts you into your imagination."

It is difficult to be more specific than that. The drug varies within the course of a single experience. Shortly after having his injection, one man vomited, and screamed, "Why do you doctors want to get someone through this? ... It could destroy someone's mind ... You could destroy someone's mind ... It would be terrible."

'SAW MYSELF' Yet at the end, this same man was saying, "I really saw myself today ... I just want to see my wife and kids, and I hope that these people look at me as I am today, a newborn man again. I hope that all the people I've hurt in my life will think of me as I am today."

Some men have walked out of the experimental session — after six months at the honor camp — into apparently fruitful and productive lives. Sometimes they have sought the aid of outside organizations like Alcoholics Anonymous.

It is true, too, of other volunteers after LSD — long periods of no drinking, or long periods of reduced drinking. It is also true that some have slid back into their old ways, as if LSD and Viejas never existed.

RESULTS CODED The LSD subjects are carefully screened by batteries of tests to make certain that their mental and emotional and physical equipment will not be deranged by the drug. The results are coded for analysis later, when the study is completed by May 1968. The men will be followed up personally by social workers, and if they leave the world of the traceable, by federal and state arrest records.

The San Diego Honor Camp system which operates Viejas and other camps in these mountains plays a big part in the program. The aim is to reorient troublemakers toward useful roles in society.

Fire Destroys Navy Exchange

MEMPHIS (AP)—A $3.5-million fire has destroyed most of the huge Navy exchange at the Memphis Naval Air Station. Only a charred shell remained of the main building after the spectacular blaze which raged for two hours Monday and was fought by about 4,000 sailors, Marines and civilian firemen.

The rambling exchange building, containing a big department store and numerous specialty shops and offices, was the main shopping center for more than 15,000 base personnel and their families. At least 16 firefighters were taken to hospitals for smoke inhalation, although none was in serious condition. One sailor was injured when a thrashing hose struck him in the face.

Cmdr. Joseph Jones, exchange officer who made the damage estimate, said the loss represented nonappropriated funds, since the exchange is self-supporting. He also said there is a service-wide exchange fund which provides for such disasters. A temporary exchange was being set up to provide servicemen with essential products. The cause of the blaze was not known.

Wreck Kills Texas Woman

MADILL, Okla. (AP) — A Texas woman was killed and her husband was injured in a two-car crash in south Oklahoma Monday. Killed south of Madill at the intersection of Oklahoma 99 and 32 was Mrs. Hollis White, about 65, of Valley View. Her husband, Dr. H. B. White, 69, a retired Baptist minister, suffered chest and head injuries.

Occupants of the second car, Mr. and Mrs. John Laney of Carlsbad, N.M., also were injured, but not seriously. White and the Laney were taken to a hospital at Madill.

Texas Highway Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas' share of $4.4 billion in highway funds divided among the states is $228,920,087 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968.

The federal funds, approved more than a month ago by Congress, were apportioned Monday by the Commerce Department. Included in the Texas total are $169,906,910 for the interstate system and $58,613,177 for primary, feeder and urban highways.

While an apportionment simply advises the states how much they may receive in any year, the department's Bureau of Public Roads said the states may obligate $1 billion of the 1968 apportionment — immediately in new highway contracts.

For the current fiscal year apportionments totaled $4 billion, and the bureau reported the states hold $1.3 billion in unused contract authority. Hours Announced STANTON (SC)—New hours for the Martin County library have been fixed from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday; 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday; closed Friday; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. During school holidays, the library may close at 5 p.m., said Mrs. Ralph Caffey, librarian.

Veteran State Patrolman Dies

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—Sgt. Lloyd E. Webb, 54, veteran state highway patrolman in the Longview and Temple areas, died at Scott and White Hospital Monday night after a brief illness.

Webb was stricken two weeks ago and was taken to a Longview hospital and later was flown here. Uremic poisoning was given as a contributory cause of death. Webb for 30 years was a highway patrolman. He had been stationed in Longview as a sergeant for eight years. He was prominent in Masonic circles and was widely known throughout the state. Funeral services are pending. Surviving are his widow, two sons, a daughter and six grandchildren.

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Arthur T. Blease, 71, mechanical superintendent of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times for 35 years until his retirement in 1963, died Monday.

He came to Corpus Christi from the Houston Post in 1923 to repair the presses of the old Corpus Christi Times. During his 35 years different press installations for the Caller Times. He also installed presses for other newspapers in the Harte-Hanks organization — three at Big Spring, two each at San Angelo and Abilene and one each at Marshall, Snyder and Greenville. He was one of the organizers and first chairman of the Western Division Mechanical Conference of the Southern Newspapers Publishers Association. Demo Chief Steps Down

TULSA (AP) — Tulsa County Democratic Chairman Thomas Frasier said Monday night he would step out of the active party leadership until grand jury indictments charging slander and conspiracy to extort are settled.

Frasier, who will retain his title of county chairman, said a 21-member campaign coordinating committee will take control of county affairs until the counts are settled. "I anticipate taking no part whatsoever in the affairs and operation of the party until the charges against me are settled," Frasier said.

"So long as I am accused of a crime, it would not be fair to put myself in the forefront and damage the good name and image of the democratic party," Frasier, a lawyer, and John Harris, Democratic nominee for judge of the Court of Common Pleas, were named on a charge of conspiring to extort $200 from a private club owner. Frasier also was indicted by the grand jury in Tulsa Saturday for slandering a policeman.

Supreme Court Machine Looted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thieves ripped open a cigarette vending machine in the Supreme Court building and stole $27.60 from its coin box.

The machine is on the ground floor, a few feet from the cafeteria where employees were busy with the work of a late afternoon coffee break Monday when the robbery occurred. Persons working on the ground floor recalled hearing a loud noise, which they now believe was caused by the breaking open of the front of the machine. The robbery occurred a few minutes after the justices, one floor above, ended their session for Monday.

A Devotional For The Day

Be always joyful; pray continually. (1 Thessalonians 5:16-17, NEB)

PRAYER: Our Father, Thou art all glory, all holy, all goodness, and all beauty. We thank Thee for Thy son by whose sacrifice of Himself our sins are cleansed. Help us that we may have thankful hearts to offer Thee our gratitude; through Jesus Christ, our Savior. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Turmoil But Not Fragmentation

Some observers mulling listening posts in Hong Kong have begun to wonder out loud what course the differences between Mao, Tze-tung and his opponents will ultimately take. There is even speculation that Mao and his chief lieutenant and heir apparent, Lin Biao, may be ousted.

The possibility of such an upheaval, reminiscent of the chaos of the 1920s when warlords and political factions struggled for power, is awesome to contemplate. It would offer a temptation, difficult to resist on the part of the United States and Russia, to intervene.

We would be in the best position. In the face of a breakdown in the Communist regime we could offer transportation and logistical support to the Chiang Kai-shek government on Taiwan. There, in contrast with our position in Viet Nam, we could not be accused of fighting an Asian war with white troops.

In such an event, though, Russia would almost surely move into North China, and into other places across the 4,000-mile boundary it shares with China. What would be the result it is impossible to predict.

This speculation needs to be tempered with one final thought, though. It is this: For the first time, at least in modern history, China has been united. The bright fires of nationalism have been kindled. Not for long will the Chinese nation be broken up into spheres of influence among occupying powers.

Stewart's Folly Averted

The effort to extend the west front of the nation's Capitol, destroying both architectural and historic values, has been deferred to the next session of Congress. It is hoped that Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., who has fought the good fight on this issue, can muster support to block this crude mistake permanently.

The plan of Capitol Architect J. George Stewart—a nonprofessional congressman of inexplicable influence—and the 11-year-old Commission for the Extension of the United States Capitol is a $34-million wasteful monstrosity. It would move the Capitol's west front out to add space mainly for "hideaway" offices for members of Congress, a couple of auditoriums and two more restaurants for tourists. Altogether it's a poor buy.

The east front of the Capitol was earlier extended, but that was needed to give the building balance under the dome and add really necessary space. The west front does need reconstruction but not extending.

Certainly the architectural integrity and historic heritage of the nation's Capitol should not be defaced for trivial reasons or on the frivolous whim of a few men with irresponsible power. But that is what is likely to happen next year unless congressmen hear enough objections from their constituents to move them to put a brake on the free-wheeling Stewart.

Marquis Childs This Year's Elections Not Decisive

WASHINGTON.—One of the oddest election campaigns in America's political history will falter to an uncertain end in four weeks. It has been a peculiar campaign because the deep underlying concerns and discontents have found so little expression in the give-and-take of campaign oratory.

The war in Viet Nam, the growing hostility between Negroes and whites, crime and violence — these nagging worries have been muffled. The candidates are talking about effects rather than causes. The Democrats stress prosperity, the Republicans hit at high prices and high interest rates. The cause, in the swelling expenditures for the Viet Nam war, gets only incidental attention.

landslide of 1964. It could be claimed as a Democratic victory, although a loss on that scale would put a roadblock in the way of the Johnson Great Society programs.

IF DEMOCRATIC losses are comparatively small it will not be hard to find the reasons. First and foremost is the massive power that goes with control of the executive branch of government and with large Democratic majorities in the Senate and House. Increasingly, with huge spending by the Federal government — conspicuously the $60 billion for the Department of Defense — this power can hardly be exaggerated.

FIRST-TERM Democrats in marginal seats have benefited by a constant flow of post offices, rehabilitation projects, government contracts of various kinds, dams and harbor dredging. In other words, the pork barrel has been full to overflowing.

THE GROWING evidence of President Johnson's personal unpopularity seems to have little bearing on the Congressional campaign. It has been demonstrated repeatedly in off-year elections that a President has slight influence on the outcome. In 1954 Dwight Eisenhower had a high popularity rating and he campaigned vigorously for Republicans as he did in 1958. In '54 the Republicans lost the narrow hold on the House they had won two years earlier and in '58 they suffered a punishing defeat. Democrats in marginal seats believe — it may be wishful thinking — that neither the popularity nor unpopularity of a President rubs off in an off-year election when voters decide on personalities and regional issues.

Billy Graham

I hear you use the word "world" as though it were something evil. Did not God put us in the world? Is the world not His own creation? What is so bad about it?

C. M.

The word "world" is found in the Gospel of John 79 times, and is always spoken of as being in opposition to the followers of Christ. When the New Testament speaks of the world in this sense, it does not, of course, refer to the world of beauty; of land, sea and air. It refers rather to a world system of evil which is dominated by the evil one, Satan. He is spoken of as the "prince of this world." He is, according to the Scriptures, the temporary ruler of this world's system of evil. That is why the world we live in is in such a state of confusion.

With Satan in charge of so much it is natural that the world should be filled with hatred, sin, prejudice, and misunderstanding. As long as Satan holds sway in the hearts of the people who inhabit this world, we will have endless problems, crisis, and trouble. But the Bible teaches that God has put a time limit on Satan's control over this world.

Some day, the Bible teaches, the "kingdoms of this world" shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and his Christ. . . . (Rev. 11:15). Then, and only then, will the world become what it is intended to be. Then, and then only, will peace, righteousness, and goodness prevail. This is the hope of the Christian, and one that will be fulfilled in God's time.

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China has built the first modern highway bridge across the Tsang Po River in Tibet and opened it to traffic August 1, Peking's New China News Agency reported.

NCNA said the bridge, measuring 2,190 feet in length, was built in 180 days by workers who "held aloft the great red banner of Mao Tze-tung's thought and studied Chairman Mao's works."

James Marlow GOP Prescription: Fight Harder

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In sum, the latest prescription offered by Republican policymakers to deal with the war in Viet Nam adds up to two words: fight harder.

It was offered with congressional elections a month away, and with GOP pollsters reporting that the war is the No. 1 concern of American voters.

Republicans clearly have concluded that concern can be translated into votes on Nov. 8.

THEIR POLLS indicate a substantial bloc of undecided voters. And their strategy indicates they believe that pronouncements calling for victory in a frustrating Asian war could help GOP candidates attract some of those voters.

Some GOP strategists believe that voter frustration over the complex war situation will work against incumbents in the coming election, regardless of their party.

If that is the outcome, comeback-seeking Republicans will benefit, simply because they have fewer incumbents than the Democrats.

ONE MAJOR unknown factor: The impact of President Johnson's 2½-week Asian tour, which will end only six days before the election.

It will include the two-day Manila summit conference where Johnson will meet the leaders of six nations helping to fight Communist forces in Viet Nam. The Republican coordinating committee tempered its hawk-like pronouncement on the war by endorsing that conference as a potential avenue toward peace.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen served notice that the GOP expects an accounting of that mission — "and we expect results."

Dirksen said he thinks the voters will expect results; too.

HAVING endorsed the Manila conference — and noted that Republicans weeks ago urged an all-Asian conference on Viet Nam — the coordinating committee declared: "We insist that every practicable step toward winning the war be taken in support of the thousands now engaged in deadly combat."

In general, the Republican position all along has been one of support for Johnson's war — with peripheral criticism considered in bounds.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is on vacation.

Hal Boyle The Wonderful Julie

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't feel particularly steeped in philosophy today," said Julie Andrews, curling neatly in the sofa of her Park Avenue hotel suite. She wore a beige turtleneck ribbed sweater and beige and gray checked tweed trousers, and she looked impossibly lovely.

Although she was too beautifully mannered to say no, Julie didn't feel particularly like being interviewed either. It was a fine autumn afternoon, and what she wanted to do was go for a stroll and shop at a toy store for a new doll for her daughter, Emma, who will be 4 next month.

MISS ANDREWS, in the dozen years since she made her Broadway debut in the role of a British flapper of the 1920s, has become a world-known entertainment figure.

She came here for the premiere of "Hawaii," one of six films she has done since 1962.

"They kind of snowballed," she said, "and I was exhausted. But I feel fine now."

After a holiday of some weeks, she will start on a filmed biography of the late musical comedy star, Gertrude Lawrence.

"IT'S HARD to portray someone else, particularly one so recently here," she remarked. "I never met her, but I feel I know her. The difficult thing, without doing a straight impersonation of the lady, will be trying to convey what an enormous personality she was."

At 31, Julie herself has become an enormous personality. She combines a cheery warmth with an unmistakable reserve, a bit as Alice in Wonderland might be if she had gone to Radcliffe. She is no longer a childhood Cinderella, but a Cinderella growing used to life in the castle.

JULIE'S perfect courtesy doesn't permit her to say anything mean about someone else — or anything unkind about herself. Asked what she thought her biggest fault was, she said, laughing:

"Most people seem to think I'm a sweet, kind, gentle lady who can work miracles and is good to everyone — and I am. I'd rather let others say what my faults are."

Her likes and dislikes? "I like my daughter, California, potato sandwiches, work, sleep, the season of spring, Friday because it's the day before Saturday, the scent of lilacs, wearing white clothing, and blues and coral colors for fun; textured things in fabrics and paintings, rain, being with close friends. I adore the smell of gasoline and subway stations and most of all, the smell of earth in a greenhouse with the thermostat turned up."

"I DISLIKE traffic jams, too much heat in homes, bitter chocolate, bird of paradise flowers, the sound of police sirens, big parties — they drive me up the wall — and mothers who force their small children to look at 'Mary Poppins'."

What is Julie Andrews really like? She's really like Julie Andrews.

Around The Rim Troubles With A Toupee

In ancient times when Rome was in its splendor, Plautilla, an elegant Roman lady, commissioned a sculptor to perpetuate her lovely features in stone. She stipulated that the sculptor make the hair on the statue removable.

Thus, as hair styles changed, Plautilla could keep her statue up to date by substituting wigs in the mode of the time.

AROUND most newspaper offices today, it is a cardinal rule that a photograph of a woman used in today's issue not be kept for rerunning at some distant date. Hell hath no fury, as I recall from sad experience, like a lady whose photo wearing some passe hairdo or out of style dress, is reprinted in the paper.

Men don't seem to care. They prefer, I gather, that you use that photo of them which gives the most youthful appearance. They pretend to dislike it when friends chortle "When was that photo made — when you were in high school?" but actually they like it.

HOWEVER I was speaking of wigs. The funniest memories I have of a hair piece has to do with a particularly grim and hate-filled murder trial. The case was being tried in a small insular community. The victim had been a member of one of the town's oldest and most respected families. The slayer, too, was the descendant of one of the earliest settlers. The homicide itself had been particularly vicious and the little community was split wide open over the matter.

THE JUDGE was an extremely fat man. He had a fiery red complexion and hair to match. He was to put it mildly, scared to death.

The prosecutor was a run-to-seed lawyer who had managed to get elected county attorney, who was trying to hang on to the job and its monthly paycheck. He had never prosecuted a murder case like this one and he was as scared as the judge.

This county prosecutor was tall, sallow-skinned, and the top of his big head was bald. He kept this spot covered with a toupee which was his pride and joy.

THE COURTROOM was hot and crowded to capacity with sweaty spectators who were anything but orderly in their attitude.

The judge was slumped as deep into his big chair as he could get. All you could see back of his big desk was the top of his forehead.

The county attorney must have felt all alone. He was nervous. He would reach up to scratch his head and his fingers would push the hairpiece back toward the nape of his neck. The result in front was to provide him with a towering white forehead.

A LITTLE later, his eager fingers would go back to his head and the toupee would come forward until it nestled just above his eyebrows. He then looked like an underfed cave-man. Sometimes he would compromise — the hair piece would be about halfway high and halfway low brow.

I became so fascinated with the shifting operations of the prosecutor's hairline I lost track of the evidence.

I had to restrain myself with great willpower. I was beset with an early overpowering urge to step back of the attorney, grab his toupee and hand it to him.

And I wanted to yell in his hairy ear:

"Man, put your scalp in your pocket! They're Indians comin'!"

I kinda wish now I had done it.

—SAM BLACKBURN

Holmes Alexander Wreckage On The Political Seas

WASHINGTON — "I just can't kick the sinking ship," exclaimed a senior, eminent Democratic Senator as he came off the floor after voting for the Johnson administration's figure (lower than that of the Brothers Kennedy) for the War on Poverty.

THE SENATOR, not a candidate this year, meant that he would like to have voted for a still lower sum — say, the Republican figure — but his party loyalty restrained him.

This analogy of the foundering craft, the Great Society, runs through just about every state and district election in the land. The Democratic candidates can be categorized:

THOSE WHO Have Leaped Overboard In Defiance: On top of the list is Alabama Governor George Wallace. They laughed at George a little while back when he stood at the school-room door and defied the federal invaders. But today he is close to putting his wife, Lurleen — in the governor's chair and himself in line for a third — party nomination in 1968. They laughed at Lester Maddox, the Atlanta restaurateur, who defied the federal colossus by chasing Negroes off the premises with a drawn gun. But the earnest little property-defender has won the Georgia Democratic primary election and has become a national figure, if not a coming governor.

THOSE WHO Are Unwillingly Chained To The Deck And Can't Get Off The Ship: Senator James Eastland (D., Miss.) has no problem for re-election against Congressman Prentiss Walker (R) — except that Eastland has opposed the Johnson programs without the benefit of a dramatic defiance. Eastland is saying that he's a Southern, a state, a conservative, Democrat — all true — and that he is not a national one, but the ship's deck is awash with angry, anti-Lyndon waves. In Virginia, one of the two Democratic Senate candidates, William Spong, has a liberal Laborite record in the state Senate and is knee-deep in the foaming waters of retribution. Spong's only salvation is to clutch for support at Senator Harry Byrd Jr., whom nobody can call a Johnsonian. Spong's Republican opponent, James P. Ould, the Lynchburg mayor and businessman, is much further from Johnson and much closer to Byrd than Spong, an advantageous position in the Old Dominion. Governor Pat Brown (D., Calif.) is chained by both legs and up to his chin in the salty sea of alienated affection toward the Great Society.

ONE WHO Was Lucky To Be Kicked Overboard: Nothing in the sad political life of Maryland gubernatorial candidate George P. Mahoney (D.), a six-time loser, ever brought more cheer than President Johnson's refusal to support him. Practically any Maryland Republican could be sure of beating the much-beaten Mahoney, but Johnson's refusal to come into the state for him could elect Mahoney as a foe of open housing.

These spotted examples do more than show the sad spectacle of a stricken ship of state.

Art Buchwald When Americans Get Really Tough

WASHINGTON—Rep. Samuel Stratton, Democrat of upstate New York, charged that President De Gaulle was trying to undermine the United States economy, and he urged Americans to stop buying French wine.

"If we stopped buying French wines and bought New York State wines, De Gaulle would be on his knees in a short time."

If what Congressman Stratton says is true, I wouldn't like to be in the French president's shoes.

SUPPOSE PRESIDENT De Gaulle is working at the Elysee Palace and an aide barges in.

"Monsieur le President, it has just come over the radio that the American people have stopped buying French wines and are going to drink New York wine instead."

"Zut alors. There go my plans for an independent France."

"The Bordeaux people are in the outer office, and they wish to speak with you."

"Send them in."

"Monsieur le President, as members of the Bordeaux Wine Association, we have come to ask you to do something about the crisis."

"MONSIEURS, I did not dream when I asked the American troops to leave France that they would stop drinking our wine."

"Monsieur le President, we winegrowers feel you have gone too far. It is one thing to bring grandeur and glory to France, but at what a price! We feel you must ask the Americans to forgive you for everything you've done."

"There must be some other way," De Gaulle says. "Perhaps we could offer to sell back all the gold we bought from them."

for the rest of their lives are a tough people to deal with."

"I could call off the testing of the atomic bomb."

"That might be helpful. At least it's worth a try."

De Gaulle calls the American ambassador and speaks to him. He then hangs up. "The ambassador says he'll pass on my thoughts, but it may be too late. They started shipping out the New York State wines to the supermarkets last week."

A winegrower says, "And to think we thought the American people were paper tigers."

ANOTHER WINEGROWER says, "We must make more of a gesture. Couldn't we agree to pay the United Nations the money we owe them?"

"That might cost us more than what our French wine brings in," De Gaulle says.

The phone rings and De Gaulle speaks. "Yes, sir. I'm sorry, sir. Yes, sir, I'll do my best." He hangs up. "That was the president of the Burgundy Wine Tasters Association. He's hopping-mad."

A Bordeaux winegrower says, "To hell with Burgundy!"

"Enough of this nonsense, Monsieur le President. We want to know what you're going to do."

"I have no choice. I must get down on my knees. Send in the photographers."

A LOVELIER YOU

Hair Shades Should Now Come Out Same

By MARY SUE MILLER
Two major haircoloring problems—constant color and processing time—have given way to technological advances. Both well-tested!

It's no secret that many women have found a haircolor they loved and then, next time around, could not get the same shade with the same product. But do you know why?

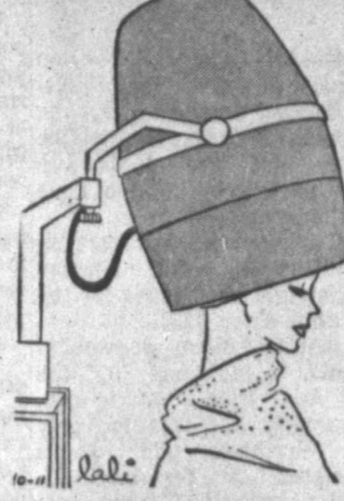

The culprit in the matter is not the hairdresser. It's a-r-r! Once a bottle of haircoloring is uncapped and in use, the remaining color changes from contact with air. Professional dispensers now are newly airtight, operating on the push-button principle. As a result a woman can get as delicate and fanciful a shade as white mix, over and over without variation.

The second innovation speeds the processing time for tinting and bleaching by as much as 90 per cent. This can reduce pre-lightening to 11 minutes!

The speed-up is accomplished by special lamps, housed in an aluminum hood. No steam or electronics are used. Rather rays from the lamps are designed to concentrate on the responsive elements in lighteners and tints. And so accelerate processing, produce even coloring and treat the hair kindly, too.

Timing is automatic, dial controlled to a few blissfully short minutes. Every woman who has spent tedious hours in a salon while her color "took" can give a cheer. For the two advances, three cheers!

Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in "Beauty Knows No Age." Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering make-up, hairstyles and fashions. Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi "adopted" a student at Big Spring State Hospital during the Monday evening meeting in the home of Mrs. Oakey Hagood, 518 Scott. Mrs. Waymon Clark presided as the group agreed to furnish clothing and materials needed by the girl. Mrs. Don Bailey will head the committee to carry out the project.

Mrs. Horace Rankin reported on the recent city council meeting when a Valentine Dance was slated for February. Each chapter will have a queen presented at the dance, and Xi Mu's queen will be Mrs. Hagood.

Mrs. Clark introduced the speaker, Ed Fisher, chairman of the Howard County Historical Survey Committee. Fisher noted that there are many historical places in the county that have not been marked but are deserving of the distinction. He noted that Big Spring was such an important area, in regard to the availability of water, that Geronimo and the Dalton gang remained here for a while.

Seventeen attended and were served refreshments from a table covered with white damask and appointed with crystal and silver.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

If people disappointed me as much as some of my favorite football teams do, I couldn't stand the work I'm in.

Each day I am delighted with some particular friend such as the one who was wearing a fitted skirt which, when she sat caused her knees to be exposed. She said she got the sensation of seeing two big bowling balls looking at her every time she looked down. I've had the experience.

MRS. WILLIAM DROKE is making her home temporarily with her parents, MR. and MRS. WILLIAM T. McREE, until the first of December when she will take an apartment at Park Hill Terrace. Her husband, DR. WILLIAM DROKE, left Friday for an assignment in Viet Nam, and she plans to live here until his return.

MRS. ALBERT SMITH has returned from her trip to the north and east coast with some pretty reminders of the Far East.

She had gone to Columbus, Ohio, to attend the 24th International Convention of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. She was a delegate from local Lodge 375. After the convention adjourned she went to Madison, Conn., to visit her daughter, MRS. WALLY CATALDO. Her son-in-law, Wally Cataldo, who files for Overseas National Airlines, had been making a transport trip carrying troops for the military to Saigon and he brought back some beautiful carved wood for his wife and mother-in-law. She brought back her favorite when she flew back from New York but the other pretties were shipped back so she'll be getting goodies every few days for awhile.

MR. and MRS. CALVIN DANIELS have a new baby, a son who was born Saturday at 1:45 p.m. at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds, 4 1/2 ounces and has been named Christopher Lee. He has a sister, Robin, who is four years of age and their grandparents are MR. and MRS. BOB GARDNER and MR. and MRS. M. L. DANIELS.

Everything was beautiful in Mexico City and Cuernavaca,

Mexico, when DR. and MRS. J. E. HOGAN were there recently for the 15th International Biennial Convention of the College of Surgeons. Pre-convention activities were held in Cuernavaca where they were entertained at lunch at Hacienda Vista Hermosa and later the conventioners went on to Mexico City. Here they attended a performance of the colorful Folk Llorico ballet.

MRS. LEONA WHEELER of Vernalis, Calif., is visiting her son and his family, MR. and MRS. JOHN BILLINGS, and another son, KENNETH BILLINGS, in Midland. She plans to be in Texas for several weeks.

Delegates to attend the Oct. 16 convention in Monahans were selected during the Monday evening meeting of Mu Kappa Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha. The members met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Dean, Rt.

Does she know something you don't...about Frost's bread?

Could be. Like many women, she knows nutritious foods, such as milk, are good for dieters. And she heard Frost's Bread is, too. She wanted to know for sure.

She discovered, ounce for ounce, Frost's Bread has twice the protein of milk. 60% of the calcium. 13% less fat. More iron. And more B vitamins than milk.

So she saw that Frost's Bread, like milk, gives dieters many nutrients, but not too many calories (two slices average even less than a glass of milk).

She now makes sure her own and her family's meals include Frost's Bread and milk for health and vigor. Shouldn't your family enjoy Frost's and milk, too?

Get going with Frost's...the bread to buy!

Two 2-4A Teams Now In Top Ten

DALLAS (AP) — There were only three newcomers to the Dallas News rankings of Texas schoolboy football this week, two of them in the Class AAAA division. Amarillo Tascos again was No. 2 while Nederland moved into No. 3 where Brazosport resided before being beaten by Baytown. McKinney again headed Class

AAA, with Bridge City No. 2. Sweeney was still No. 1 in Class AA and Forney, the first to achieve unanimous selection, headed Class A. Spur replaced Clifton for the only change. The rankings by classes: Class AAAA — San Angelo, Amarillo Tascos, Nederland, Austin McCallum, Galena Park, Abilene Cooper, Garland, Wichita Falls Rider, Marshall, Dallas Woodrow Wilson. # Ralph Neely Must Return To Oilers, Court Rules

DALLAS (AP)—Offensive tackle Ralph Neely of the Dallas Cowboys awaited word from the courts that he is the property of Houston today while Cowboys officials hoped it wouldn't come at least until after next Sunday's crucial game with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Supreme Court Monday declined to review a decision of the U. S. Circuit Court at Denver that Neely must play pro football with Houston. Neely had signed two contracts in 1965 but claimed that the one with Houston, signed before the Dallas contract, wasn't legal. Houston claimed it had his signature on a contract for 1965-66-67-68 and that it gave him a $25,000 bonus. But Neely said the Oilers violated a promise to keep the contract secret and falsely represented that the effective date of the agreement would be Jan. 2, 1965, when he was to play in the Gator Bowl game with Oklahoma. As a result Neely was ruled out of the Gator Bowl game, he said he returned the bonus check. Houston sued in the federal district court at Oklahoma City which held that the contract was not legal. Houston then appealed to the circuit court and got a favorable ruling. This then was taken to the Supreme Court. Neely would not say whether he would play with Houston if the decision is upheld.

in Big Spring's leadership in aerial gains. The Longhorns, in four games, have gained a net of 501 yards on the ground to 455 for the enemy and 370 through the air to 231 for the opposition. In total yards gained then, Big Spring has the edge, 871 yards to 686. Kirby Horton leads all Big Spring rushers with 155 yards picked up in 55 carries for a robust five-yard average. Gary Rogers, second in that department with 118 paces gained in 44 thrusts for a 2.7-yard average, has completed 19 of 75 passes for 327 yards, three of which went for touchdowns. Leading receiver on the team is Robert Jackson, whose 11 completions have gone for 183 yards, including three touchdowns. Lonnie Clanton has punted the ball 18 times for an average of 37.1 yards, despite the fact that he had one blocked.

Eagles Rate With Elite

Tulsa, North Texas and Louisville rank among the nation's top passing teams in the nation, but Wichita is passing the ball a higher percentage of its plays than any team in Missouri Valley football. Wichita has thrown the ball on 127 plays and run it only 84 times. This means the Shockers are passing on 60.2 per cent of their plays. Tulsa is passing on 58.4 per cent, North Texas on 57.1 per cent and Louisville 46.9. Tulsa leads in passing with 269.7 yards a game, however, Louisville is averaging 207, North Texas 203.8 and Wichita 137.7. Cincinnati leads in rushing with 156 yards a game. In rushing defense, North Texas leads with 76.8 to Cincinnati's 88, but Cincinnati is on top in total defense at 225. In total offense, it's Tulsa 375.7, Louisville 302.7, North Texas 258.3, Wichita 237 and Cincinnati 232.3 yards a game. The battle for the individual total offense and passing crowns in the Valley seems certain to go down to the wire between Vidal Carlin, North Texas passer, and Benny Russell, Louisville's run-pass leader. Carlin leads 752-621 in passing over Russell, but he has played one more game. Carlin's edge is only 710-603 in total offense because he has minus yardage rushing with losses trying to pass, while Russell has a net of 72 yards on the ground. Wichita's John Eckman is the No. 3 passer with 514 yards. Cincinnati's Clem Turner closed in on Terry Padgett of Memphis State for the rushing lead as Padgett had an open date. His lead now is 213-192. John Love of North Texas is the pass receiving leader with 26 for 362, with Wichita's Glenn Meltzer second on 23 for 289. Other leaders are Brant Conley, Tulsa, 43.7 punting average; Willie Cherry, North Texas, 37 points; Bob Baxter, Memphis State, 137 yards on 22 punt returns for a 12.5 average; and Roosevelt Bonner, Wichita, 146 on 7 kickoff returns for 20.9.

Big 8's Top Back's Man Of Few Words

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Bob Warmack is not the most talkative fellow around when the Oklahoma Sooners are in the huddle. But the Sophomore quarterback gets the job done just the same. And he says he was particularly short on words Saturday as Oklahoma beat Texas for the first time since 1957. "I just told them we wanted to make a first and 10," the lanky Ada, Okla., native said. Assuming that was the only thing Warmack said to his teammates, he certainly displayed a variety of fakes, cuts and moves to his sometimes-bewildered opponents. Named the Big Eight Backer-of-the-Week by a panel of sportswriters, Warmack sat trimly dressed in a coat and tie as he talked to members of the press. Warmack grinned when asked about his weight, and sheepishly said "It's between 165 and 170." But trainer Ken Rawlinson says he weighed 159 pounds two weeks ago, and he's been losing weight. Coach Jim Mackenzie said at his Monday press conference that Warmack had called an exceptional game against Texas. "I remember one particular play," Mackenzie said. "We'd just gotten the ball in the second half, and Bob threw a 30-yard pass to Ben Hart and we were suddenly at midfield." On the only Sooner touchdown in the game, Warmack faked to talkback Ron Shotts and Shotts was maulled at the line of scrimmage as the play apparently fooled practically the whole Texas team. Lonnie Clanton has punted the ball 18 times for an average of 37.1 yards, despite the fact that he had one blocked.

PHIL CUTCHIN, Oklahoma State football mentor, after his team had been humiliated by the University of Houston, 35-9. "I don't believe we are that bad. I suppose Houston is that good."

WES PARKER, first baseman for the Los Angeles Dodgers: "I'm not sure I could play with many other clubs. I've never hit over .200 and this year it was .238. It would have been tough to make it on a club which stresses power and big averages. The Dodgers are geared for me, stressing speed, pitching and defense... everything except power."

Oriole Star In Near Miss

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Robinson almost drowned at a late-season swimming party and was rescued by teammate Andy Etchebarren, the Baltimore Orioles' slugger told the Associated Press today. Robinson, a non-swimmer, said he jumped into the shallow end of the private pool Aug. 22 to head off an expected dunking by other members of the team. "I was jumping up and down when I slipped off into the deep end," said Robinson, who later led the Orioles to the World Series championship. "I went down a couple of times and kept yelling for help every time I surfaced. My wife thought I was kidding, and I guess everybody else did too." When Robinson stayed beneath the surface for an extended period, Etchebarren, Baltimore's rookie catcher jumped in and grabbed his teammate. Etchebarren said Robinson seemed to be breathing all right when he was pulled from the water, "so we didn't have to work on him." "We let him lie by the side of the pool for about five minutes, and then he got up."

Wreck's Standout Is Good Student

The Rambling Wreck at Georgia Tech holds his Thursday practices at 4:45 instead of the usual 4 o'clock. That's because linebacker W. J. Blane has a civil engineering class at 4 and everybody at Tech knows that practice without W. J. wouldn't be worth very much. "We can't accomplish anything on defense without him," admits Coach Bobby Dodd. So rather than try, the Engineers just sit back and wait until their linebacker is out of class. Blane is worth the wait. The 6-foot-2, 196-pound senior from Roanoke, Va., was named Associated Press' Lineman of the Week today for his strong defensive play against Tennessee in Georgia Tech's 6-3 victory last Saturday. Blane made 14 tackles and intercepted two passes — the first one leading to Tech's winning field goal and the second halting a Tennessee drive on the Tech 23 with less than three minutes remaining.

U. S. Court To Get Suit Against Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin went to the U.S. Supreme Court today to ask it to strip away baseball's 44 years of antitrust immunity and return the Atlanta Braves to Milwaukee. The historic 1922 exemption was granted, the appeal argues, with the express understanding that state law would apply. Four of the nine justices must vote to accept the case before it can be heard by the court. That decision, sought in the 38-page request, is not expected until late this year. Even if Wisconsin wins the review it wants, the 1967 season may be under way before a ruling is handed down. The immediate prize is possession of baseball's vagabond Braves who were born in Boston, found fortune in Milwaukee and finally moved to Atlanta in pursuit of still bigger purses. A favorable U.S. Supreme Court ruling for Wisconsin could revive a Milwaukee court's order telling the Braves to return unless the city is given a 1967 expansion team. But, for baseball even more is at stake. The appeal attacks the very fabric of baseball, its system of granting franchises to cities, its control over its players. A triumph for Wisconsin could splinter that structure and "would lead to the ruination of the game as we know it," an attorney for the Braves warned a year ago.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: TED McCawley, public relations man for Remington Arms Co.: "Very few sportsmen like to hunt alone, and most of them welcome congenial shooting partners who speak the same language. Most people are, however, somewhat reluctant to run the risk of getting stuck for a day afield with some thoughtless or careless chap who ignores the niceties of field etiquette or violates the unwritten laws of sportsmanship. They make that mistake with the same individual only once."

Pitcher SANDY KOUFAX, after clinching the National League pennant for Los Angeles: "It just had to be the most important game I have ever pitched. Last year I won the clincher, but we had another day to go. All the World Series I've won. They're great. They're a thrill. But we had already won the pennant. This, therefore, was nothing ever like this before for me."

PHIL CUTCHIN, Oklahoma State football mentor, after his team had been humiliated by the University of Houston, 35-9. "I don't believe we are that bad. I suppose Houston is that good."

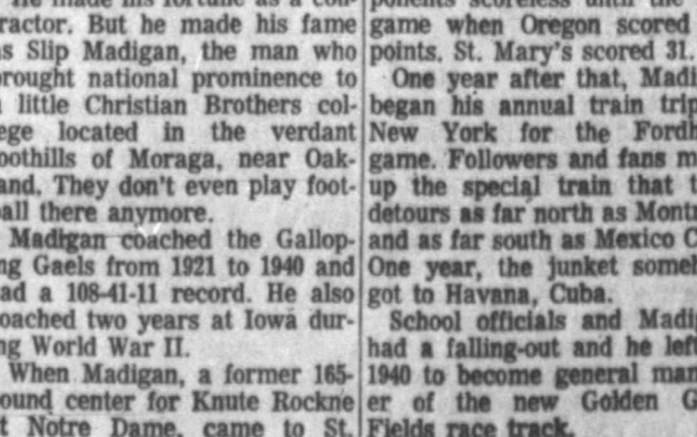

Dr. RHEA WILLIAMS, state director for the University Interscholastic League: "There has been a lot of misinformation about the League and no one man runs it. It is a big organization that is run by the public schools. The league is for participation and not entertainment and is a privilege rather than a right. In football alone the League directs 957 varsity teams, 45,000 varsity players, 125,000 consisting of the junior varsities and over 11 million fans a year view high school football throughout the state. And this isn't the biggest thing the League sponsors. In fact, painting, debate, science, writing and music rank above football in participation. The UIL is at the University of Texas because back in 1910 a group of public school people met and thought they needed a group to sponsor speech contests and asked if the University could be the headquarters and assist them in this... Track was the first sport added, in 1915, and football and basketball were added in 1919. What gets me, and what leads to all the criticism of the UIL is adults trying to copy the pro and college approach to a program. Adults are the most difficult problem the league has."

GLENN DOBBS, head coach at Tulsa University: "I like to get high school coaches because they don't over-coach. All around the country the trend is to return to simplicity. We let our players do what feels natural instead of coaching them into a 'mold' of good form."

Humorist MORRIS FRANK: "Arkansas is such an opportunistic football team that if it ever played Brandeis, it'd not only win but handle the popcorn concessions, too."

Slip Madison, Gael Coach Of Colorful Era, Is Dead

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The story of Slip Madigan, flamboyant head football coach at Little St. Mary's College in California, has ended long after being recognized as a legend of an era never to return. Edward Patrick Madigan, wealthy contractor, died Monday of a heart-attack in his Oakland home. He was 70. He made his fortune as a contractor. But he made his fame as Slip Madigan, the man who brought national prominence to a little Christian Brothers college located in the verdant foothills of Moraga, near Oakland. They don't even play football there anymore. Madigan coached the Gallop-ing Gaels from 1921 to 1940 and had a 108-41-11 record. He also coached two years at Iowa during World War II. When Madigan, a former 165-pound center for Knie Rockne at Notre Dame, came to St. Mary's it was a school of 71 enrollment in downtown Oakland that had dropped football the year before because of a 127-0 loss to California. It took a little time for Madigan to build up football at St. Mary's. But he was a thorough recruiter. He also was inventive. He gave away tickets to make it appear that the school was developing a following. And he paid friends to sit in uniform on the bench to make it look as if the Gaels had a larger squad. In 1929, one year after the college moved to Moraga, Madigan had his best team, an undefeated powerhouse that held all opponents scoreless until the last game when Oregon scored six points. St. Mary's scored 31. One year after that, Madigan began his annual train trip to New York for the Fordham game. Followers and fans made up the special train that took detours as far north as Montreal and as far south as Mexico City. One year, the junket somehow got to Havana, Cuba. School officials and Madigan had a falling-out and he left in 1940 to become general manager of the new Golden Gate Fields race track.

Award Not Exactly Surprising To Hank

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer, surprised when his Baltimore Orioles won the World Series in a four-game sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers, was not exactly astonished to be named American League Manager of the Year.

The Winning Wink

Manager Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles pauses and winks during an autograph session at Memorial Stadium. Bauer visited the park today after the Orioles won the World Series. He was named American League Manager of the Year Monday in a poll conducted by the Associated Press. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Associated Press balloting in 1964 after Baltimore finished third.

In the 1966 balloting by 389 baseball writers, Bauer was an overwhelming choice. He received 321 votes to 53 for runner-up Alvin Dark of the Kansas City Athletics.

"I believe I did a better job this year," Bauer said. "Because of injuries, I had to revise a lot of things we planned on, but we still went on to win. I had to do a lot of juggling with the pitchers."

Bauer used his bullpen crew effectively in support of starting pitchers who completed only 23 games all season.

Bauer, who previously managed at Kansas City for 1 1/2 years, took over the Orioles in 1964. Baltimore finished third during their first two seasons under the 44-year-old former New York Yankees' outfielder.

Before the start of the World Series last week, Bauer was signed to a new two-year contract calling for about $50,000 a year.

Bauer said he never contemplated a managerial career—expecting to finish up in baseball as a coach—but jumped at the chance when offered the job by Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics.

Asked last week to name the Manager of the Year, excluding himself from consideration, Bauer selected Dark for directing Kansas City to a seventh-place finish.

Notre Dame Is Now Second In AP Poll

By The Associated Press

Notre Dame crept into the second spot behind Michigan State in this week's Associated Press college football poll, but the Irish probably will have to wait until Nov. 19 for a chance to overtake the Spartans.

Notre Dame, third last week, led a shuffling of the places behind the Spartans by garnering 15 first place votes for 353 points after trouncing Army 35-0. Michigan State had 18 top votes and 369 points.

The Irish, 3-0, are expected to get by such teams as North Carolina, Oklahoma and Navy which could make their clash with the Spartans Nov. 19. Michigan State, 20-7, will be the choice to beat Purdue, No. 5, and some lesser lights in the Big Ten.

Waiting for either to slip will be Alabama, 3-0, which whopped Clemson 36-0 to move up a notch to third in its quest for a third straight national title.

UCLA, runner-up a week ago, tumbled to fourth after barely nipping Rice 27-24.

The national panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters moved Southern California and Nebraska each up a place to fifth and sixth, although the Trojans had trouble beating Washington 17-14. The Cornhuskers romped at Wisconsin 1-3.

Georgia Tech, 4-0, which dropped Tennessee, eighth last week, out of the Top Ten by beating the Volunteers 6-3, and Florida, 22-19 winner over Florida State, each jumped two places to seventh and eighth. Florida is 4-0.

Arkansas, fifth last week, also dropped out of sight after losing to Baylor 7-0, and the Bears, 3-1, used the victory to grab the 10th spot. Purdue's 35-0 triumph over Iowa gave it ranking with a 3-1 record.

Points are awarded on a basis of 10 for first place, 9 for second, etc.

Table with columns: Rank, Team, Points. Lists top 10 teams.

Chargers Win Figures War

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland Raiders and the San Diego Chargers have teamed to take away some of New York's statistical success, but the Jets are not complaining. They've got the points and the victories.

Oakland took the lead in passing defense and total defense by stopping Miami 21-10, but the Jets beat San Diego 17-16, although the Chargers piled up 445 yards, 350 through the air.

American Football League statistics today show the results dropped the Jets to third in passing defense and second in total defense, but they now are the only unbeaten AFL team.

The Raiders have given up only 228.6 yards per game, 125.6 through the air. The Jets have allowed 233.5 yards per game, 158 passing, to fall behind runner-up San Diego, which has allowed 128.6 passing.

The Jets however, still top everyone in rushing defense, 75.8 yards per game.

Big Hands Handy

Oklahoma's sophomore quarterback Bob Warmack displays the hands which helped him win the Big Eight Conference Back-of-the-Week honor. The 19-year-old signal caller says the size of his hands helps him both in throwing and in faking the ball, both of which he did unusually well last Saturday in leading Oklahoma to its first victory over the Texas Longhorns since 1957. # Lack Of Size No Handicap

AMES, Iowa (AP)—You really couldn't blame the 22,000 fans for roaring with laughter here Saturday when Dave Spealler, who stands all of 5-foot-3 and weighs a strapping 126 pounds, trotted into the football field to kick off for Iowa State against Kansas.

And wearing blue shorts, yet. But hilarity yielded to respect as the 21-year-old sophomore rammied the ball off the side of his foot soccer style in a boot that sailed deep into Jayhawk territory.

Spealler got off two more good kickoffs, scored a 36-yard field goal and succeeded on his only extra point attempt as his host Cyclones won 24-7 for their first victory of the season.

"I was so shook up when I went out there, I had no time to think what I was doing," the tiny youth admitted later.

Spealler, who said he just couldn't get used to the regulation knee-length football pants, was otherwise attired in regulation helmet, jersey and shoulder pads.

Football, naturally enough, was the last thing on the soft-spoken youth's mind when he enrolled at Iowa State after a respectable career of track and as an all-state soccer selection at Lower Merion High School of Wynnewood, Pa.

DUCATS WILL GO ON SALE

The School Business Office here has received an allotment of 1,200 reserve seats and 1,000 student ducats for the Big Spring-Midland High football game, which will be played in Midland starting at 8 o'clock Friday night.

The reserve seat ducats will go on sale to season ticket holders at 802 E. 13th St., at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and to the general public at the same hour Thursday.

They will remain available until Friday afternoon.

Alley Cats Aid Costly

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Two English women say they have helped 100 of Venice's 28,000 stray cats at a cost of $19.60 per cat.

Denying that she had returned to Venice to kill any of the city's homeless alley cats, Miss Mable Raymonde-Hawkins told police she and Helena Sanders had come to see the results of the relief project they started nine months ago. She said she had sent $1,960 from British donors for the treatment of unhealthy cats and about 100 cats had benefited.

After politely informing the two women of the fine for killing animals, police left them to their own devices.

Fretful Americans Might Soon Write 'Ombudsman'

NEW YORK (AP) — The day may come when the time-honored advice "Write your congressman" will change to "Write the ombudsman."

That's what citizens who feel put-upon or neglected by courts or bureaucrats do in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, New Zealand and Britain.

Impressed by the way it works, a joint committee on the organization of Congress is toying with the idea by setting up an ombudsman in Washington to deal with fretful Americans.

Meanwhile, small-scale trials are under way in Michigan and New York's Nassau County.

SWEDISH IDEA

The ombudsman is a Swedish invention. The word translates literally as "a man who is a representative," and what the man represents is the nation's faceless little people.

Sweden incorporated the office of ombudsman in its constitution of 1809, primarily to guarantee civil rights.

It is the function of Sweden's "man who is a representative" to make sure that courts and other government agencies hew to the law of the land. When he feels they are remiss, the ombudsman takes up the matter with Parliament.

TOP ADVANTAGE
As far as Parliament is concerned, a main advantage of the ombudsman system is that crank complaints are sieved out, leaving only those with some merit to be dealt with.

The Swedish ombudsman receives more than 1,000 complaints a year. If he declines to handle a complaint, he has to state his reasons, but the law protects him from any attempt by members of Parliament to influence his actions.

A U.S. Senate-House committee considered the establishment of an American ombudsman during hearings last year but took no action.

COMPLAINTS
The Michigan Department of State recently appointed a kind of ombudsman — title, special assistant for citizen complaints — on an experimental basis. He is Gordon Alexander, 26, a Michigan State University graduate in social science.

Secretary of State James Hare said Alexander would be "in charge of receiving and resolving citizen complaints on any procedure or policy now being practiced by our various divisions."

PLUGGED DRAINS

Alexander said he was getting complaints, all right, but that so far few of them had anything to do with the functioning of the Department of State.

"Mostly they complain about dogs chasing cats, people burning trash, things like that," he said. "I'm flooded but with the wrong type of complaints."

In June, Nassau County, New York, appointed former Judge Samuel Greason, 77, commissioner of accounts with the added duty of acting as ombudsman. In three months he disposed of 50 cases, including complaints about such things as plugged drains and faulty street lighting.

WASHINGTON HIGHLIGHTS

Christmas Mail Deadline Nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien says surface mail weighing more than five pounds should be mailed by Oct. 21 to reach Viet Nam by Christmas.

O'Brien also suggested mailing Viet Nam Christmas parcels weighing less than five pounds by Dec. 1. Regular air mail, he said, should be sent no later than Dec. 10.

O'Brien made his appeal Monday in anticipation of a record flow of 30 million pieces of Christmas mail for American servicemen in Viet Nam. Although he expects a 50 per cent increase in such mail over last year, he said a larger staff and new facilities should eliminate any delay.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Latin-American diplomats here doubt whether a proposed conference of western hemisphere presidents or a regular inter-American conference will ever take place.

"Sadly for all concerned," said one highly placed diplomat, "both conferences are in grave doubt, although each of them was destined to perform a highly important task — the summit conference to speed along the Alliance for Progress and the inter-American meeting to produce a much-needed reorganization of the Organization of American States."

Former President Arturo Illia of Argentina originally proposed the summit conference, which was supported strongly by President Johnson. Although no date ever was announced, it was understood the meeting would be held in December.

But feuding among some Latin-American states over border and other problems, and doubts about the success of the meetings on the part of a few countries, have led to the current pessimism.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Martin Co. has unveiled an automatic navigation device designed to tell the foot soldier exactly where he is.

The Baltimore firm says the device will permit the soldier to determine his location constantly to within an accuracy of about three per cent of the distance traveled.

Shown at the Association of the United States Army's annual meeting here, the device weighs about two pounds, is compact enough to be worn on a soldier's belt and will cost less than $100.

Before setting off on a mission, the soldier will make three settings — an adjustment for the length of his individual stride and two grid coordinates. The operation then becomes automatic — the GI need only look at the coordinate dials to determine his location.

If the device, named Mancen for Man-Carried Automatic Navigation, meets its current test and evaluation at the Army limited warfare laboratory at Aberdeen, Md., the soldier can stop counting his steps, shooting azimuths and locating landmarks.

The General Electric Co. disclosed at the meeting another device for the troops in Viet Nam — a rifle-shaped electronic unit that can smell out humans hiding, perhaps in ambush. But details of this device are stamped secret.

Fiery Crash Kills Woman

McKINNEY (AP) — A fiery auto crash north of McKinney on FM 160 Monday night killed Mrs. Betty Wyatt, 32, of Farmersville and injured two other persons.

Attendants reported Joe Wyatt, 41, husband of the dead woman, and Wayne A. Steed, also 41, of Fort Worth, in the other car, both were in critical condition. They were taken to McKinney Memorial Hospital. The Wyatts' car burst into flames after the collision.

Two Guilty Pleas Entered In Court

Need for a jury in the Howard County Court on Monday afternoon was eliminated by decisions of defendants, slated for trial, to enter guilty pleas.

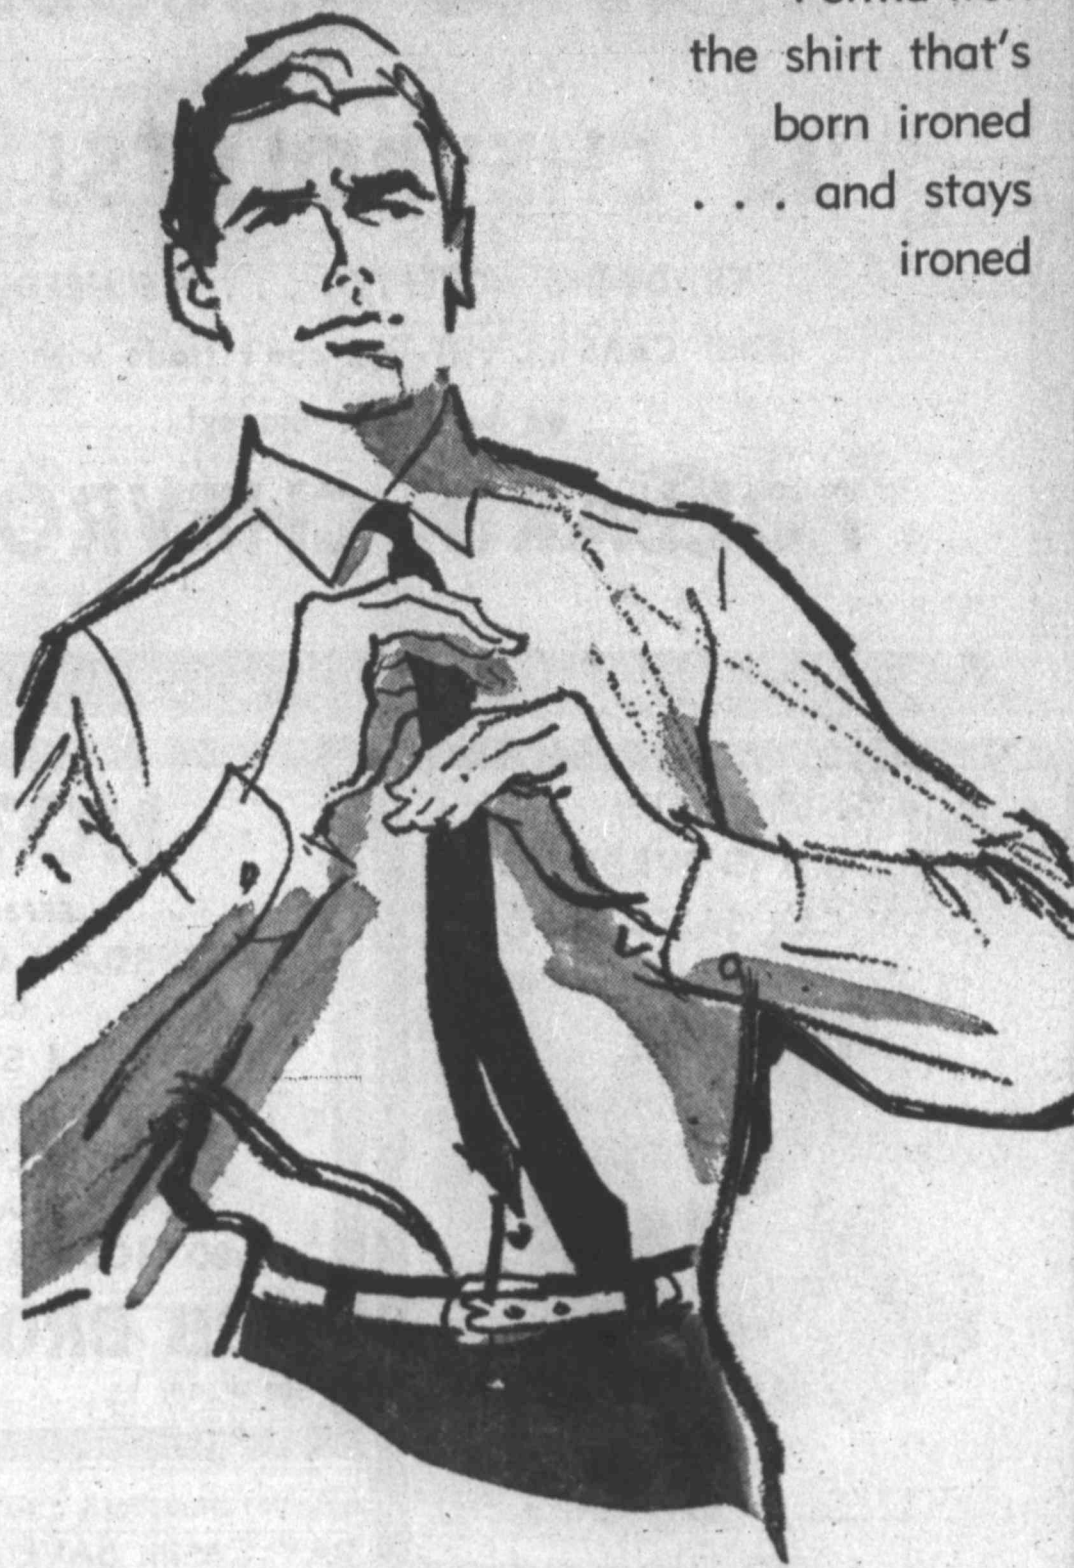

Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said that two of the pleas were Monday morning, and two came later in the day. The latter pleas were by George E. Holley, DWI, and Paul Fierro Hernandez, DWI. Both were fined $50 and costs plus a three months probated jail sentence.

Visitors

LUTHER (SC) — Theresa Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Foster, is visiting in Tucson, Ariz. Also, Mrs. Ethel Foster, mother of James Foster, and Bruce Rogers from San Francisco, Calif., are house guests of the Fosters.
