Y'ALL COME SATURDAY

Ribbon Snippin' Program Stated

Big Spring puts on its gala best Saturday morning, for a presentation of a brand-new Main Street, the most spectacular contribution yet to the community's "Operation Sparkle" program.

FORMAL OPENING

A formal street-opening program starts at 9:30 a.m., with a concert by the Big Spring High School Band and performance by a 42-girl baton drill team from Sweetwater, the Sweetwaterettes.

The program proper starts at 10 a.m. with playing of the National Anthem, a dedicatory prayer and presentation of officials, followed by the traditional ribbon-cutting.

Then comes drawings for three cash prizes totaling $250—one for $100, two for $75 each—with Miss Junior Big Spring, Debbie Duncan, pulling the tickets.

The program will be followed by serving of free coffee and doughnuts at the new parking lot pavilion, and then downtown stores go into what is probably their biggest "give-away" day—drawing throughout the day for merchandise awards valued at more than $3,000.

More than 30 merchants are cooperating in the Operation Sparkle event, making one of the most widely-observed cooperative events ever staged by community business establishments.

While the "new" Main Street has been open for a couple of weeks, it gets a special refurbishing for Saturday's celebration. New colored concrete sidewalks have been cleaned, planter boxes have been repainted, store fronts are "dolled up."

The net result is a change in the heart of the business district that hasn't been matched, say oldtimers, since Main Street was first paved back in the mid-twenties.

High curbs are gone, and there is a new look about paving and sidewalks. Notable are the new circular beauty spots at intersections, which later on, will contain planted trees.

The Main Street overhaul, done through cooperation of the city, Downtown Big Spring, Inc., and numbers of merchants and property owners, follows the opening some months ago of "Operation Sparkle No. 1," the new off-street parking facility at Second and Main.

Plans are to continue the sidewalk, intersection areas and other up-dating projects throughout the central business district. The 200 block of Main is, in effect, the "pilot" block.

BIG BLOWOUT
It is evidence of what city planning can do. And those who have labored to bring it into being are issuing their warmest "Y'all come" for the big blow-out Saturday morning.

CELEBRATION

9:30-10 a.m.—Music by Big Spring High School Band, directed by Bill Bradley.

During same period, performance by the Sweetwaterettes, Sweetwater Junior High baton drill team, directed by Mrs. Dean Guest.

10 a.m.—Star-Spangled Banner (Webb AFB Color Guard) Invocation by the Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple Church.

Introductory remarks by R. W. Whipkey. Presentation of officials: Members of present and past City Commissions, Chamber of Commerce president, president of Downtown Big Spring, Inc., Adolph Swartz.

Formal cutting of street ribbon, by Mayor Arnold Marshall, C-C President John Currie, Downtown President Adolph Swartz.

Drawing for $250 cash awards by Debbie Duncan, Junior Miss Big Spring of 1966. Three drawings, two for $75 each and one for $100.

Serving of free coffee and doughnuts at new pavilion on downtown parking lot.

AWARDS GOOD SATURDAY

The multitude of merchandise prizes being given by Big Spring merchants for the "Operation Sparkle" celebration are to be awarded Saturday, the directing committee emphasized. Drawings will be held at various stores throughout the day, at different hours. Although it is not necessary to be present at the specific drawing, prizes are to be picked up by store closing times Saturday.

UN Diplomat's Wife Hurls Two Tots To Death

Shrieking Mother Follows

NEW YORK (AP)—An African diplomat's screaming wife threw her two children from an 18th-floor window today and then followed them to death in a courtyard below. Police said it looked like "a bloody battlefield."

Police identified the victims as Mrs. Olive M. Mwallino, 19, and her children, Kotoki, a one-year-old boy, and Janet, a girl three months old.

The woman's husband is an official of the Malawi delegation to the United Nations, police said.

Her husband is G. T. K. Mwallino, a second secretary of Malawi's mission to the U.N. The incident occurred at 525 E. 86th St.

EYE WITNESS
A television antenna installer, Gerald Cristodero, working on a nearby roof, told police he saw the woman throw the children to their death, then follow them.

Cristodero, 24, said the woman stood at the window, screaming at the top of her voice. She threw something out. He said he could not tell what was thrown, but a few seconds later the woman threw something else out—and this time he could tell it was a child.

SHE LET GO
Mrs. Mwallino then put her legs out the window and sat on the window ledge for a short time, still screaming, the witness told police.

She let herself down until she was holding onto the ledge with her fingers. Then she let go and fell screaming to the courtyard below.

Police said the family had moved into the 21-story apartment building recently.

WHAT HAPPENED
The father, accompanied by another Malawi official, was brought to the apartment building by police. He apparently had not been told what happened. He was taken into an office and began shrieking a short time later.

Another witness, David Anderson, 23, a construction worker, said he was working on 87th Street and heard the screaming. He looked up and saw the woman throw a child out of the window, he said.

About 25 persons, attracted by the screaming, quickly gathered near him.

SMOKING PROBE

Major Cancer Cause Isolated

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A Texas scientist has isolated a major cancer-causing element in cigarette smoke, a member of the U.S. Surgeon General's Advisory Committee says.

Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, University of Texas vice chancellor for health affairs, told an organizational meeting for the Texas Interagency Council on Smoking and Health Thursday that "once an element is isolated, there is no problem eliminating it."

PLAYED DOWN
LeMaistre spoke guardedly about "this breakthrough" and after learning newsmen were present at the meeting, tried to play it down.

He declined to elaborate because he said he would be "betraying the confidence of the investigator." He said the discovery would be published in a scientific publication "in about 10 days," later postponing this deadline "perhaps as long as six months."

LeMaistre praised the "sophisticated research" being done by the Baylor Medical School and the University of Texas medical system, but he did not indicate whether either school is involved in the breakthrough.

DON'T PANIC

The only reason he brought the matter up, he said, was to warn those at the meeting not to get too excited when the discovery is published. There still are serious illnesses such as emphysema and chronic bronchitis that are caused by cigarette smoking, he said.

LeMaistre said that he was not speaking for the surgeon general's committee or the University of Texas.

The surgeon general's report on Jan. 11, 1964, linked cigarette smoking and lung cancer. LeMaistre said the report was based on committee findings and those findings have survived "13,000 subsequent scientific investigations." Tobacco industry spokesmen say there has been no scientific proof that smoking causes cancer.

EMOTIONAL

"The temporary drop in cigarette sales (after the report) didn't last," LeMaistre said. "It was an emotional thing and we all knew it."

"Education is the key. President Kennedy told us this when he set up the committee."

LeMaistre said high school students are more sophisticated scientifically than any of us were, and we can reach them if we stick to facts and not appeal to emotion or moral issues.

'NOT ONE'
"There is not a safe cigarette on the market," he said.

Dr. William S. Brumage, director of the Texas Health Department's division of cancer and heart diseases, said 4,500 young people start smoking every day.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the Texas Education Agency, American Cancer Society, Texas Heart Association, Texas Tuberculosis Association and Texas Parents and Teachers Association.

Similar interagency councils on smoking and health have been established in 37 states and there is a national council.

Brumage was named chairman of the new group, which will meet "in about six months."

LBJ CLAIMS:

Nothing Like Being Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—To hear Lyndon B. Johnson tell it, there's nothing like being president of the United States to put a man in a relaxing mood.

And to hear him held forth at his news conference, there's nothing like a political tour and an upcoming election to bring out the ebullience in Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Ebullient" is the adjective that has been attached so often to the name of the vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey.

It rarely has been associated with the President, at least in the face he presents to the nation. But it was different Thursday.

DRIPPING SARCASTIC
The furrowed brow, the dour visage of past months gave way at the nationally televised and broadcast news conference.

The 40-minute session started seriously enough, with the President speaking extensively about his forthcoming trip to Asia and the Manila conference of the allies fighting in Viet Nam.

But before long, he was welcoming, with dripping sarcasm, the Republican party to "the vineyard" of broader Social Security benefits.

After all, he remarked, this was a "really historic move on the part of my friends, the Republicans." For, Johnson said, when the first Social Security bill came before Congress "99 per cent of the Republican party voted to recommit on the grounds it was socialism."

KEEPS JABBING
He jabbed on: "Only a few months ago, 93 per cent of them voted to kill Medicare—another very important part of Social Security."

When one newsman asked about "a little bit of a personal matter," Johnson joshed: "Do you want to go into it here?"

As it turned out, the reporter wanted to know: "Can you tell us a little bit of your personal routine, how you manage to relax, what you do to protect your health?"

"I have no trouble relaxing," Johnson told him—and the nation.

TREATED BETTER
"One of my schoolmates once said to me that he knew that one man in the world would never commit suicide and that was Lyndon Johnson because he would go to sleep thinking about it."

"I don't have any problem relaxing. I am treated better than most people who work in this country."

"I get up early and work until 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon and then I take two hours off and have a wonderful shower and shave, and go to bed and sleep two hours while the rest of you people are trying to fight the traffic and get home."

"Then I go back at 5 o'clock refreshed and work until late in the evening."

Mail Robbery Lead Checked

MONTREAL (AP)—Police checked fingerprints on an abandoned car today in their search for burglars who cut through a wall and heavy mesh screen to reach an estimated $500,000 or more in the post office of Montreal International Airport.

Police at first said the burglars made off with a million dollars in cash in the predawn robbery Thursday. District Postmaster Hector Cormier later said less than $500,000 in cash and valuables was taken.

Police said the burglars drove up to the post office building, parked their car in a partly completed building next to it, removed several cement blocks from the post office wall, crawled through, cut a hole in a mesh screen, reached inside, and opened the door to the safety cage where the registered mail was kept.

One postal employee was in the mail room during the robbery. But he told police he neither heard nor noticed anything.

"We have questioned this man thoroughly and have no reason to believe he was a party to the burglary," Cormier said.

The other 19 postal employees working the overnight shift were out eating.

"Whoever did the robbery certainly must have known his way around," a postal security official said.

The abandoned car was found behind the airport in suburban Dorval.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Snowstorm Zips Out Of Rockies

By The Associated Press

The first major snowstorm of the season slammed into the nation's midsection today. The driving blizzard hampered road and air travel, closed schools in Wyoming and drove temperatures below freezing across most of the Rockies. At least two deaths in Wyoming were blamed on the storm.

The Wyoming Highway Patrol closed all roads out of the capital city of Cheyenne because of heavy snow. Winds with gusts up to 65 miles an hour caused huge drifts on streets and highways.

Traffic was at a standstill in Cheyenne and schools were closed generally throughout southeastern Wyoming. The Warren Air Force base west of Cheyenne was marooned with no road traffic possible in the area.

Panhandle Freeze Due

By The Associated Press

The Weather Bureau predicted today that the coldest weather so far this fall is on its way to Texas with two fronts moving into the state.

The bureau said freezing temperatures could be expected tonight in the upper Panhandle.

The first cold front struck upper Texas about 3 a.m. and is expected to pass through Texas during the night.

Skies were clear in the Panhandle and South Plains, but the front was expected to set off showers as it moved deeper into the state.

COLD AIR DUE
A new surge of Canadian cold air was forecast for the Panhandle during the afternoon and over all the state Saturday.

By 6 a.m. the mercury had dropped only to 43 degrees at Dalhart and 59 at Amarillo. By contrast, it was down to 32 at La Junta in Southeastern Colorado.

Behind the norther lay up to 17 inches of snow at Lander, Wyo., and snow was falling across much of Colorado, Utah and Montana.

Winds gradually shifting to the north were expected to accent the cool snap by late in the day, and forecasts called for overnight lows down to 36 in the Panhandle and the 40s over the rest of the state's northern half.

It was clear to partly cloudy with no moisture reported anywhere in Texas.

Arrival of the cool snap was due to be particularly noticeable after temperatures Thursday ranging up to 96 degrees at Cotulla—the top mark in the nation—and 95 at Mineral Wells. The coldest spots with highs of 83 were Alpine, El Paso and Galveston.

Social Security Pay Boost Action Slowed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A drive to enact Social Security benefit increases now rather than next year slowed today—but proponents said they still look for action before Congress adjourns.

The House Ways and Means Committee turned to other legislation while waiting for drafts of two alternative proposals to step up Social Security payments Jan. 1, 1967.

The committee was on call to meet when the drafting was completed, but this could be delayed until Monday or Tuesday. Congress is trying to adjourn by the end of next week.

Meanwhile Senate Democratic leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, said that even if the House passes a measure quickly, the Senate would require some hearings.

NEXT YEAR BETTER
"I don't intend to delay adjournment," Mansfield said, adding that the Social Security legislation might better be brought up next year.

However, Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., sponsor of a quick increase plan similar to that which President Johnson proposed for later consideration, told newsmen, "I have every confidence that Congress will pass a bill this year."

SOMETHING SIMPLE
Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, author of another proposal, said Congress can easily act "if we stick to something simple, not complicated, and that doesn't involve a basic tax increase."

In a surprise move Thursday, the House Ways and Means Committee ordered legislation drafted for study today. And both Republicans and Democrats on the committee talked of starting additional benefits to pensioners Jan. 1, 1967.

EARLY START
Johnson's proposal for higher benefits and other added features was suggested for congressional consideration next year—to become effective on Jan. 1, 1968.

One source said the Ways and Means Committee would vote unanimously for an early start if Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., indicated he would favor sending a bill to the House.

Mills made no comment. But the senior Republican member of the committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, said he is gratified that the committee has "seen fit immediately to consider legislation to provide increases in Social Security benefits to offset increases in the cost of living before the adjournment of Congress."

CURIOUS COLUMN OF TRUCKS CROSS VIET

Thunder Road Miracle Staged

Editor's Note: The longest convoy since American troops came to Viet Nam—nearly 700 vehicles—rolled for more than 40 miles out of the rubber plantation country near the Cambodian border to Saigon today. It took two infantry divisions, one American, one South Vietnamese, to pull it off but it was a major victory over the Viet Cong. AP correspondent Hugh Mulligan rode the length of the convoy on top of an armored personnel carrier named "Headquarters Eight." Here is his report.

ALONG HIGHWAY 13, South Viet Nam (AP)—The little white marker along the roadside read, "Saigon: 118 kilometers." Six months ago, it might just as well have read, "To the North Pole." Both destinations were equally inaccessible.

But now, in one of the minor miracles of the war, a curious column of trucks—nearly 700 of them—was coughing and snorting along the rutted, shell-cratered road.

Rubber worth $2 million was rolling into Saigon along a bitterly contested highway, where only last week a motor scooter driver with a load of lettuce could not have gotten to the next village without paying a $4.50 tax to the Viet Cong, listening to a propaganda lecture and putting in at least half an hour of hard labor for the Communists.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE
Villagers along Highway 13,

known as Thunder Road, never had seen such a sight. The convoy stretched across the rolling green jungle as far as the eye could see.

Four battalions of infantry from the Big Red One, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, were camped in the jungle along the right-of-way, looking for trouble. Thirty helicopters waited on the Quan Loi rubber plantation airstrip to rush in another battalion if the Viet Cong decided to contest the reopening of Highway 13, the lifeline for 100,000 people living in the three provinces north of Saigon to the Cambodian border.

A battalion of Army engineers took four days to repair the blown-up bridges, remove the booby-trapped roadblocks and fill in the huge artillery craters along the Thunder Road. At last "Operation Tulsa," the longest road convoy of the war since the Americans came, was ready to roll.

POP OF BULLET
The convoy moved in two sections. First north from Saigon to Hon Quan, in Binh Long province on the border, bringing rice, cement, roofing metal, petroleum products and medicine. Then south with 2,500 tons of rubber, all of it highly inflammable, ready to go off at the pop of a sniper's bullet, but all of it immensely important because rubber is South Viet Nam's main export.

Since the battle of Dong Xoai and the massacre in the Michelin Plantation last year, the three plantations of the Terre Rouge Company still operating in Binh Long province account for more than 50 per cent of South Viet Nam's production.

PAID AGAIN

But the province grows only enough rice to feed 6,000 of its 80,000 people. The trucks going north with rice meant that the plantation workers and their families—at least 40,000 people—would be paid again.

The trucks going south loaded with rubber meant that this year the rubber would reach France, Germany and Japan, instead of rotting in warehouses. Last year so little rubber got out that no new trees were planted for the first time in 30 years.

It was inevitable that the Viet Cong would not let so significant a convoy pass without some harassment at least. Minutes before the first trucks rolled,

U.S. demolition teams swept the road for mines. Defused all of them, cut all the electrical timing devices and removed a few claymores without losing a man or a vehicle.

SNIPER FIRE

Once the long line of trucks began to clatter down the road, sporadic sniper fire crackled, but no one was hit and the trucks kept going at flank speed—about 35 miles an hour.

Several times rocket grenades soared out of the dense jungles, but none of the rubber trucks caught fire.

The convoy itself was surely the most curious collection of vehicles since the taxicab army clattered out to save Paris: incredibly antique vehicles, held together with baling wire and loaded to the gunwales with charcoal or rubber. Every available truck within miles had been pressed into service.

There were brand new trucks from the rubber plantation, Army trucks from the Big Red One and the South Vietnamese 5th, and just about everything else that could boast four reasonably round wheels.

The miracle on Thunder Road came off. The trucks got through.

LBJ Holds Door Open For Soviet Peace Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is holding open the possibility that the Soviet Union may play an active role in ending the war in Viet Nam.

At a news conference Thursday he spoke optimistically about improved relations with the U.S.S.R. generally and, significantly, appeared to include the Soviet Union among nations seeking peace.

All the while Johnson emphasized that the United States will not withdraw from the conflict — or even pause militarily — unless "the enemy" does the same.

POLITICAL WARS

And he did not forget the political wars at home, salting the 40-minute session in the White House East Room with criticism of Republicans.

"There are only two governments in the world that now appear opposed to ending the war and achieving the peace," Johnson said. He did not name the two, but evidently he referred to Communist China and North Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union repeatedly has turned down appeals that it join Britain in reconvening the 1954 Geneva conference, but the hope persists in some diplomatic quarters that Moscow yet will take steps to try to bring about a negotiated settlement of the war.

FRUITFUL SESSION

Last Monday, Johnson conferred for two hours with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Thursday, the President called the session fruitful and said he believes "it will be productive."

The President said he had told Gromyko the United States "would welcome a visit by the leadership of his country to this country, that we welcomed his people coming here in the exchange programs, and we wanted to know them better."

The President jumped into the nationally televised and broadcast conference less than an hour after his return from a political whirl into New York and Delaware — and without lunch, he pointed out. His mood was confident, relaxed, even ebullient.

MORTARS LOBBED

But he spoke firmly and seriously about his intentions to keep the United States in the war in Viet Nam until "the aggressor" yields.

Ruling out a unilateral pause in U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, Johnson said this had been tried twice with these results:

"Our boys sat there and watched the enemy. He didn't pause. He kept up his bombing. He threw his hand grenades. He lobbed his mortars into our troop encampments and killed our Marines, our airmen, our Army soldiers."

Said Johnson: "If the aggressor will pause, we will pause immediately. If they will withdraw, we will withdraw immediately."

SACRIFICES

"We will lay a schedule on the table tomorrow — a schedule to move out of South Viet Nam, to come home, to leave no troops in that area, to give up our bases — provided they will lay on the table their schedule for withdrawal, their schedule to get their people to quit the killing and the murdering that is going on.

"If it develops that there is any hope that would flow from another pause, we always keep an open mind. We will make additional sacrifices if we need to."

"But I see nothing on the horizon at this moment that would justify my asking all 300,000 or 400,000 Americans to stand there with their hands in their pockets because someone here suggested they pause, unless their enemy would pause."

25,000-MILE TRIP

Next Monday Johnson begins a six-nation, 25,000-mile trip to the Far East, with the high point a conference in Manila Oct. 23 to 27 of the allies fighting in South Viet Nam. He called this "a very exciting, challenging and demanding trip" and said he and Mrs. Johnson, who was at the news conference, were looking forward to their visits to the Philippines, New Zealand, Australia, Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea.

At the same time, Johnson brushed aside charges that the trip, three weeks before elections, is politically motivated. He said he would have preferred going Nov. 15, after the elections and after Congress finished for the year, but that Australia and New Zealand were having their elections late in November.

WHACKS GOP

As the conference wore on, Johnson warned to the opportunity to whack at the Republican party.

With more than a touch of sarcasm, he said he was "particularly pleased to observe — the really historic move on the part of my friends, the Republicans, in the Congress, to support Social Security legislation."

Thereby noting GOP support for his proposal to improve Social Security benefits, Johnson went on:

"I didn't have time to check all the record but in the first Social Security bill, 99 per cent of the Republican party voted to recommit the Social Security bill on the grounds it was socialism."

Minimum Wage Law Places Unfair Burden On Farmers?

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm workers are being brought under the minimum wage law, courtesy of a new act of Congress. But only a fraction of the nation's farm hands will be affected, thanks to numerous exemptions in the law.

The law is expected to apply to about 1 1/2 per cent of all farms and ranches and to about 390,000 workers, or 12 1/2 per cent of all farm workers.

The farm as well as the individual must meet certain eligibility rules. Generally speaking, only large farm operations are covered.

Exemptions as to coverage are set forth in the statute President Johnson signed Sept. 23, to become effective next Feb. 1. Backers of the legislation say they would like it to go further; opponents say it places an unfair burden on the farmer as it is.

50 CENTS HOURLY

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., chairman of the Senate migratory labor subcommittee, had this to say:

"It does not cover as many farm workers as I had hoped."

"I fought in the Labor and Public Welfare Committee on the Senate floor to make it a stronger bill. But it eventually will provide a $1.30 an hour minimum wage for migratory farm workers."

"Considering that we have found farm workers making 50 cents an hour and less, and that 75 cents is not an uncommon wage in some states, I consider this bill to be an historic achievement."

GOES TOO FAR

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, criticized the new law as one that went too far.

"I think it is going to affect us adversely, even though it doesn't reach a large number," Poage said.

"I think the best farm wage is one related to the productivity of the worker, and to the price of the product. As I see it, the whole thrust of this is to level out the difference between the good and the poor workers."

AMENDS LAW

"I recognize that wages ought to go up as the returns of the farmer go up, but unless farm prices go up, most farmers simply can't pay higher wages."

The new legislation amends the Wage-Hour Act, which heretofore has not been applicable to farm workers. The amendments provide $1.40 an hour minimum for non-farm workers initially, with a boost to $1.60 on Feb. 1, 1968. For farm and ranch workers the minimum is to be $1 an hour in the first year, $1.15 in the second, and $1.30 an hour after the beginning of the third year. There are no overtime provisions for farm workers.

Specifically, the law as it now applies to farm workers provides:

COWBOYS EXEMPT

That an employe shall not be covered if he is (1) "the parent, spouse, child, or other member of the employer's family," or (2) if he is hired to work on a piece rate basis, commutes daily from his permanent residence to the farm and has been employed in agriculture less than 13 weeks during the preceding calendar year. This would exempt large numbers of college students and others who work only in summers.

Sheep herders and cowboys are exempt. The exact description of those who qualify under this exemption for those "engaged in the range production of livestock" is yet to be drawn up by the secretary of labor.

An important section of the law which results in exemption of the majority of all regular farm hands provides that it shall not apply to any worker if his employer — the farm where he is hired — did not use more than 500 man-days of agricultural labor during any calendar quarter — three-month period — of the preceding year.

A "man-day" means any day during which an employe performs any agricultural labor for not less than one hour. In determining the 500 man-days, the employer does not have to count the time worked by his wife, children, parent or other exempt individuals.

MIGRATORY WORKERS — Congressional committee staffers said that the 500 man-days is roughly the equivalent of hiring seven or eight full time workers.

Last December the Agriculture Department took a count showing there were 3,128,000 persons who did some farm work for wages last year. Only about 12 1/2 per cent, or one-eighth, will come under the wage law, because of the exemptions.

The December survey showed there were 466,000 domestic migratory farm workers. About one-third of this number, which is included in the 3.1 million figure, will be covered. The other two-thirds will be working on farms which do not meet the 500 man-day qualification. Of those covered, it is estimated that application of the law will bring pay increases to 46 per cent.

TEXANS AT WAR

Mine Blast Blew '150 Holes In Me'

Twice wounded, Marine Sgt. Joe Beaver, 21, a Texan at war, made his way cautiously through a Vietnamese village near Da Nang.

It was June 20 and hot. Beaver, a sniper, moved ahead of his Marine buddies to look for the enemy.

"I didn't get two feet," he recalled recently, back home in Arlington.

The mine exploded, seriously injuring Beaver and a half-dozen other Marines.

150 HOLES
"It didn't even knock me down," Beaver said of his third mishap. "But when I tried to walk, I fell down. It blew about 150 holes in me."

Beaver was discharged just last month from the hospital at Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth. He entered the hospital as a corporal and came out a sergeant.

A former Arlington High School pupil, Beaver said the Vietnamese conflict is similar to other wars: "There's a lot of fighting and not much sleep."

'GLAD TO BE HOME'

He received his first battle wound in December from Viet Cong hand grenades. Twenty-four hours later, he recalled, he was riding in a tank that hit a mine.

"You don't know how great it is to be here," he told Air Force officials who formally welcomed him back. "I'm glad to be home."

Beaver is working with Reserves in Fort Worth, awaiting further orders. His limp is gone.

although leg injuries suffered in the mine explosion occasionally cause discomfort.

The future? College, probably Texas Christian, Beaver says, after his discharge, scheduled next April 10.

Oil Show To Open Friday

The colorful 1966 Permian Basin Oil Show parade is set to go at 11 a.m. Friday through downtown Odessa, officially opening the Permian Basin Oil Show to the public.

More than 150 units have been entered including 15 marching bands, 20 antique cars, trucks and tractors, decorated floats, numerous oil field displays, and riding clubs from several area towns.

The U.S. Marine Corps color guard will set the marching pace as the parade starts up North Grant from Third Street. Near the front will be the 1966 honoree, Robert O. Anderson, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Atlantic Richfield, Philadelphia, Pa. He will be followed by the Permian Basin Oil Show president, Fred Courtney, Andrews, and other Oil Show officers.

Parade chairmen, Cullen Akins and C. C. Michel, claim this year's parade exceeds even that of 1964, which was over a mile long. Part of the parade will continue to the oil show grounds where special ribbon cutting ceremonies are scheduled for 1 p.m. The gate will remain open until 8 p.m. It will open again at 10 a.m. Saturday and the show will conclude at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Sharp Escalation Of War Might Trigger Pay Clamp

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The "earthly reason" that would make the Johnson administration consider price and wage limitations is a sharp escalation of the war in Viet Nam.

Arthur Okun, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, used the term this week in criticizing the idea of economic controls because of shortages or inflationary pressures caused by war.

The very fact that the topic arose suggests the administration has seriously considered the earthly reasons — and that perhaps all Johnson's aides are not agreed.

Shortly before Okun spoke, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor cautioned that controls could come unless consumers and business "acted sensibly," though he said there were no indications "at this time" that they would be needed.

TWO PURPOSES

Controls would serve at least two purposes: They would restrain inflationary pressures at home, and they would assure proper allocation of effort and goods to prosecution of the war.

Controls always exist. Supply and demand is a control. The mere threat of rigid controls is, in itself, a mild control. Persuasion, such as used by the Johnson administration, is another. Wage and price guideposts are controls.

At the far end of the scale are

Project Cost Put At $45,000

Construction work for the remodeled block on Main between Second and Third streets cost $45,380.15, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works. Of the total, the city paid $16,136.15 and the property owners picked up the balance of $29,244 under an assessment paving program.

Almost one-fourth of the cost — $10,000 — was required to dig up the old street and tear out the old high curbing. The new paving cost $12,585; the plain sidewalk, $7,824; and the colored sidewalk, $5,931.90. Balance of the cost went to new curbing, gutters, steps and retaining wall.

artificial, rigid controls on wages, prices, rents and the use of commodities. And in between are taxes. Not long ago we lowered taxes. Now there is talk of raising them — to control inflation.

KOREAN CONTROLS

It would be difficult to believe that an administration committed to full employment, prosperity and the "Great Society" domestically could permit a dangerously uncontrolled economy, or that it would permit domestic demands to limit the war effort.

In the Korean War we did have rigid controls. But the economy then produced only $265 billion worth of goods and services a year. Our productive power, our Gross National Product is now more than $700 billion.

At the peak of the Korean War, the United States devoted about 13.5 per cent of its Gross National Product to defense. The figure now is about eight per cent.

SHORTAGES SHOW

Some shortages have begun to show in the economy, Connor told the American Ordnance Association. He said "some disruptions in the civilian economy" may become worse in the months ahead. The Office of Emergency Planning, of course, has a blueprint for action in the event of a serious threat to national security. And it does, of course, include the use of rigid economic controls. Such rigid restraints may be a long way off. And they may never come. Their use is distasteful politically and economically.

Blasts Kill 5, Hurt 10

MONTREAL (AP) — A chain of explosions and fires tore apart a chemical plant on Montreal's outskirts Thursday night, and police said at least five men were killed and 10 others injured. Four others were missing.

Ken Molyneux, personnel director at the Monsanto Canada Ltd. plant where the blast occurred, said the cause of the explosion would not be known for several days and maybe not for weeks.

The explosions, which broke windows more than a mile from the scene in suburban LaSalle, occurred in a group of tanks containing chemicals believed used in the manufacture of plastics. About 30 workers were in the plant at the time.

Mexico's Death Toll Hits 65

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP) — Mexico's death toll from Hurricane Inez rose to at least 65 today following the discovery of about 50 bodies in mud and flood waters of two villages northwest of Tampico.

Gov. Praxedis Balboa of Tamaulipas state ordered the decomposing bodies buried without identification to avoid the danger of an epidemic.

The bodies were found in the Manuel-Gonzalez area where the hurricane hit Monday morning. The find raised the unofficial toll for the 18-day hurricane to 293 dead.

The danger from flooding in Tampico eased as the Tamesi and Panuco rivers leveled off.

Amendment Okay Will Enlarge Appeals Court

(Editor's note: This is another in a series about the proposed constitutional amendments. Texans will vote on Nov. 8. This deals with Amendments 9, 12 and 16.)

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

Commissioners on the Court of Criminal Appeals write legal opinions on which they can't vote. That's left up to the court's three judges.

The judges want to divide the responsibility. The court's word is final in Texas in criminal cases.

A proposed amendment to the state Constitution would do that, enlarging the appeals court from three to five judges.

The proposal—No. 9, on a list of 16—also would lengthen the term of the court from 9 to 12 months and would abolish the legislature's authority to permit the court to sit in cities other than Austin.

The governor would fill vacancies, until the next general election, with confirmation by the Senate. The governor now appoints replacements for the entire unexpired term and does not need the Senate's approval.

'ALL FOR IT'

"We're all for it," said K. K. Woodley, one of the criminal appeals judges. "We think it's a pretty important amendment, more helpful to the people at large than to any one person."

"It would divide the responsibility among five instead of three, and the longer term would make it easier to keep up with the docket."

"Also, the commissioners get the same pay and do the same work—but they're not called judges. The difference is there."

Evidently when the two appointed commissioners were added to the court in 1925, the thought was they would soon be made judges. An amendment raising their status failed in 1926, and it's taken almost 40 years to try again.

JUSTICE DELAYED

Meanwhile the backlog of cases grows each year. There were 2,002 cases pending Jan. 1. The proposal has the support of the judicial section of the State Bar of Texas.

Those favoring the measure say it's undemocratic for two judges on a panel of five to have the power to decide a case.

Opponents contend that by changing the time for which a judge may be appointed—to the next general election—it raises the possibility of all five judges running at the same time. Also, they say, Texas should move toward appointed judges, rather than continuing the elective system.

Two unrelated amendments on the Nov. 8 election ballot would establish the date on which new members of the legislature may qualify and take office, and would provide the method and manner for dissolving hospital districts.

TROUBLESOME

The legislative question has been troublesome. Proposal 16 on the ballot sets the day for taking office as the day on which the legislature convenes, after the general election. This year legislators elected in November would take office Jan. 10.

In the past, the Constitution has provided that representatives begin their jobs the day of the general election. There has been no certain date for state senators. The Texas Supreme Court ruled this year that a senator's term begins the day he is elected.

Backers of the proposal point to what legislators—who would be most directly affected by the proposal—thought of the amendment. The measure passed the House 108-30 and the Senate 30-0.

Opponents say the amendment will confound the courts with a new term, "take office," and added that the Supreme Court's decision has settled the question by naming the time for senators to assume their duties as the same as representatives.

'LAME DUCK'

It could also result, they say, in a "lame duck" session if a special legislature was called after November but before January.

The hospital district amendment No. 12 would provide the first constitutional authority to dissolve districts.

Supporters say it's absolutely essential because there is no

Union Official Death Suspect Nabbed In NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Police have arrested a 22-year-old carpenter and charged him with homicide in the fatal stomping Wednesday night of union official James P. Fox.

According to police, the young man, William F. Collieran, had gone to see the 62-year-old Fox at his Flushing, Queens, home that night to "discuss union problems and business matters."

Fox was business agent for Local 608 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Collieran is a member of another local of the union.

Late Wednesday night a neighbor looked out and saw a man standing over the prostrate Fox, kicking him in the head. The father of two died hours later in Flushing Hospital from a skull fracture and head wounds.

Police said the victim's widow jotted down the license number of a car she had seen cruising frequently in the quiet residential neighborhood in recent days. The plates were traced to Collieran and he was arrested at his home.

Public Works Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent to President Johnson the compromise public works appropriation bill which includes about $25 million for public works projects in the Red River basin in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The money is about $3.7 million above Johnson's recommendation. It goes for construction, planning, studies and operation and maintenance of individual water projects.

The final amounts agreed upon for the projects:

- Construction
- DeQueen Reservoir, Ark., $1,000,000; Gillham Reservoir, Ark., $1,400,000; Garland City, Ark., $250,000; Maniece Bayou, Ark., $400,000; Dierks Reservoir, Ark., $500,000; Red River levees and bank stabilization, Ark., La., Okla., and Tex., $2,000,000; Caddo Dam-Caddo Lake, La., Tex., $100,000; East Point, La., $114,000; Broken Bow Reservoir, Okla., $8,000,000; Pine Creek Reservoir, Okla., $2,900,000; Pat Mayse Reservoir, Tex., $2,175,000; Lake Kemp Reservoir, Tex., $1,000,000; Hugo Reservoir, Okla., $721,000.

- Planning
- Hugo Reservoir, Okla., $129,000; Lukfata Reservoir, Okla., $100,000; Waurika Reservoir, Okla., $185,000; Bayou Bodcau Reservoir, Bayou Bodcau and Red Chute, Loggy, Black, and Cypress Bayous, Ark., and La., $150,000.

- Studies
- Red River below Denison Dam, comprehensive study, Ark., La., Okla., and Tex., $417,000; Denison Reservoir, Okla., Tex., $40,000.

The balance of the money is for operation and maintenance of various projects.

'Hot' Laredo

NEW YORK (AP) — The highest temperature in the nation Thursday was 98 degrees at Laredo, Tex. The lowest overnight reading was 8 at Cut Bank, Mont.

dios maintained platoons of screen writers, and producers hired and fired on whim.

Studios no longer can afford writing staffs. Most writers are free-lancers who move from one project to another on contract. Multiple writing credits are rare. Most films bear the names of one or two writers. That is even more true in television, which has neither the time nor the money for multiple writers.

NO CONTROL

Although they now work singly or in pairs, film writers remain dissatisfied. They claim to have no control over how their work turns out on the screen. That may be an issue in negotiations for a new contract; the current one expires in December.

Two solutions have been found for this problem. One is for the writer to become a "hyphenate" — a director-writer or producer-writer. Many top writers have done so, but others lack the temperament or opportunity.

MORE FEASIBLE

The more feasible solution, but one fraught with difficulties, is for the writer to remain nearby or on the set during production.

"That's what I have done since I started writing films," says Stanley Shapiro. "The writer must be present when his work is transferred to film. He can explain what he intended when he wrote the lines, and the power of his presence subliminally prevents people who do not know writing from changing the intent and meaning of the scene."

Producer-director Stanley Kramer welcomes the collaboration of a writer: "I regard the coming of the writer as the start of a project, and I like to see him remain until it is over. Films are a joint endeavor."

NOT WELCOME

Not all directors agree. Billy Wilder observes: "The writer is not particularly welcome on most sets. Directors are inclined to regard them as Geste-po workers."

Is there any real hope for writing achievement in movies and television?

Richard Brooks sees a better outlook in movies: "I think studios are beginning to realize the public is buying the story, not stars. People will go to see Alec Guinness in 'River Kwai,' but not in six other films. Gregory Peck in 'To Kill a Mockingbird' is far different from Gregory Peck in 'Cape Fear,' although he gives his all in every film."

Arkansas Governor's Race Slated To Pick Up Steam

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The wraps are about to come off in the Arkansas governor's race between Democrat Jim Johnson and Republican Winthrop Rockefeller after two months of nothing more than some gentle sparring.

The hull has been Johnson's doing. Rockefeller came out ready to fight just after Johnson won a bitter Democratic runoff primary with less than 52 percent of the vote Aug. 9.

SCHEDULE CUT

While Rockefeller paraded across the state, Johnson stayed in his headquarters and worked at patching up the Democratic party organization, split by the primary campaign.

Fearful of wearing himself out while his opponent was inactive, Rockefeller quickly cut back his schedule.

Success in uniting the party behind him is critical to Johnson. Already some top Democrats have defected. More are reported ready to.

RACE ISSUE

An early fear among voters that election of Johnson might precipitate racial demonstrations and violence appears to be

Coffee Drinkers Rationed In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cubans, who like their coffee black and sweet — and lots of it — have been told they must go through another year of rationing.

Havana Radio said Wednesday coffee rationing will end in 1967.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said coffee production will increase to about 30 million pounds this year. It added that about 20 million pounds will have to be exported because of the country's need for agricultural equipment, fertilizer and down payment.

Cubans now are rationed only 1 1/2 ounces of coffee a week, the broadcast said. Foodstuffs, clothing and shoes have been rationed since 1962.

diminishing. Johnson has refused to discuss the race issue, except to admit that he is a segregationist.

Rockefeller has continued to call Johnson a radical on the race issue, as did Johnson's opponents for the Democratic nomination.

POOR VS. RICH

Johnson has made it clear that he will try to make this a "poor boy vs. rich man" race such as Gov. Orval E. Faubus ran successfully against Rockefeller two years ago.

Faubus, retiring after six two-year terms, is not working openly for Johnson, although he has said he would rather see a Democrat win than a Republican.

Johnson has not asked for the governor's help, principally because he believes his criticism of Faubus contributed to his victory in the primary. He defeated J. Frank Holt, whom he called Faubus' candidate. Holt denied the charge, but many Faubus supporters were active in his campaign.

Civitan Candy Project

Bob Pusey, left, president, and Dean Wallace, project chairman, get ready for Civitan's trick-or-treat candy sale to raise funds for a club project. This is for furnishing new shoes to needy youngsters, particularly at Christmas time. All net proceeds will go to this, and the club will make placements largely through schools and churches. The sale is under way now, but Saturday at 8:30 p.m. a concerted house-to-house effort will be made. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

DEAR ABBY

Easing A Heartache

DEAR ABBY: Tonight my heart aches for my 12-year-old daughter who once again attended an after-school dance without an invitation to dance one dance.

When her older brother was that age and popular with the crowd I always encouraged him to ask the not-so-popular girls to dance, impressing upon him how much it could mean to a girl who might not otherwise receive one invitation to dance during the entire evening.

I was proud that he followed my advice. I wish other mothers would tell their sons the same thing. Will you help me, Abby? It could mean so much to the girls.

A MOTHER IN KENT
DEAR MOTHER: You bet I will. An ounce of thoughtfulness can ease a ton of heartache.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 38-year-old bachelor who lives with my mother to help out as much as possible. For the last three years my brother, who is a school teacher, has lived in our town at our small place more than in their own home. They come here for supper every night, and when there are dishes to be washed afterwards, they break the four-minute rule getting away.

My mother claims it is HER house and I am not allowed to say a word. She says if I leave she can have the law bring me back because she is a hardship case. I would consider Thanksgiving in Viet Nam a blessing—is there any escape?

DEAR HELPLESS: Anyone who would consider Thanksgiving in Viet Nam a blessing would have a tough time passing the physical, so forget it. There is no law that can force a man to live with his mother even though she is a hardship case, so if you don't like the set-up there, move, and contribute to your mother's support some other way.

No Marker For Romeo?

VERONA, Italy (AP) — A statue of Juliet, a statue of Romeo, or one of each? Or does either deserve a memorial?

The questions are being debated in this town made famous by Shakespeare. The tourist office likes the debate, though it is backing the idea of a statue for Juliet as a lure to more tourists. Her tomb here attracts 150,000 a year.

Critics of the statue for Juliet complain that Verona already has the tomb, as well as a Juliet's house and a Juliet's balcony.

This faction likes to point out that the tourist office itself has its quarters in Juliet's house, right under Juliet's balcony, and that there's not a marker to recall poor Romeo in the whole town.

Three Honored On Birthday

Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠
A colossal swing resulted when South, the declarer at seven hearts allowed himself to be victimized by adverse distribution.

West used the protection of the third seat to make a shaded opening bid of one diamond, North who was willing to play a game contract no matter what, announced his intention by cue bidding his opponent's suit. The two diamond bid forces partner to keep the proceedings going until game is reached.

East held no defense and he attempted to preempt bidding space by jumping to four diamonds. South made an enterprising free bid of four hearts to tell partner that he had a good suit. This was all North was waiting to hear and he leaped to seven hearts on the expectation that South had a reasonable prospect of establishing the dummy.
West decided that it was futile to lead a diamond inasmuch as North would hardly have contracted for all the tricks unless he was void in that suit. West, therefore, took a passive course and he opened a trump.

When North spread his hand, South observed that, if he established his partner's spade suit, the dummy would be high. He, therefore, drew trump in two rounds and then cashed the three top clubs, discarding a spade from the closed hand.

The ace of spades came next followed by a small spade which declarer ruffed. When East showed out on the second round, South's campaign collapsed. Had spades divided three-two which is the normal expectation, declarer intended to reenter dummy by trumping a diamond, ruff out the remaining spade, trump a diamond with North's fourth heart and claim the balance with good spades.

The four-one division proved to be declarer's undoing for, it left him one entry short and in the end, he was obliged to concede a diamond trick.

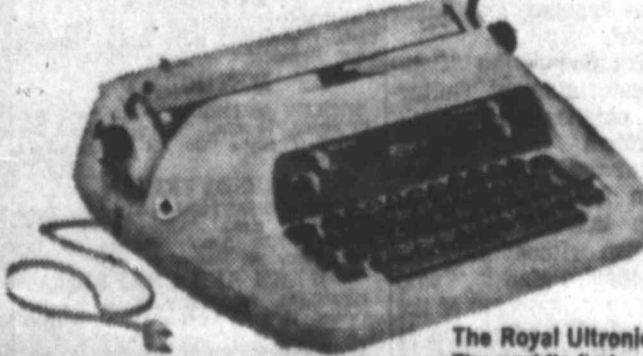

Altho South was somewhat the victim of bad luck, he had actually overlooked a better line of play. If both opponents follow to three rounds of clubs and one spade, then declarer can score 13 tricks on a simple cross-ruff.

After the opening trump lead is won, hearts are abandoned and the last trump is left outstanding. South plays the A-K-Q of clubs, and the ace of spades. He now ruffs three spades in his hand and three diamonds in dummy. Observe that all of his trumps are high and there is no risk of an overruff. Once declarer cashes his side winners, the rest is routine.

FUTURE HOME OF GRACE BAPTIST Ground breaking ceremony planned Sunday

Ground Breaking Set For New Grace Plant

Ground breaking ceremonies for the future home of Grace Baptist Church on new FM 700, across from the Texas National Guard Army, will be held Sunday at 3 p.m.

The Rev. Roy Honea, pastor, has invited all friends and members of the church to attend. Participating in the ceremony with Rev. Honea, who will turn the first spade of earth, will be Dr. Roy S. Day, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, Midland, who will offer the prayer; the Rev. Claude Craven, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, who will conduct the scripture reading; and the Rev. R. F. Simmons, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church of Odessa, who will preach the devotion. Vernon Gamble, music director, will lead the song service, and as building committee chairman, will receive the shovel from the pastor. Albert W. Medlin, chairman of the Board of Deacons of Grace Baptist, will offer the closing prayer.

The shovel to be used in the ceremony has special significance. On Sept. 25, 1966, Grace Baptist Church observed her seventh anniversary, the last anniversary in the present location, 109 Wright. The morning services were highlighted by the presentation of a golden shovel, to be used in the ground breaking ceremony, to Rev. Honea. The shovel was presented by the Young Peoples Department of the church.

Construction costs for the new plant are estimated to run $129,000. General contractors are Southland Church Contractors Inc., Houston, and the architects are James P. Oubre and associates, New Orleans, La. All work on the plant will be done by local labor, although the general contractor is out of the city, Rev. Honea said.

The public is invited to observe the ceremony and anyone interested in further information should call Rev. Honea at AM 3-4840.

Korat AFB Chapel Receives Books

CWO Henry D. Brewer, left, and Chaplain (Ma.) Malcolm L. Bartee examine some of the books donated to the Korat AFB chapel by members of the Baptist Temple Church. In all, there were 138 books donated to the chapel. Brewer, who was previously stationed at Webb AFB, wrote to friends in the church and mentioned the need for religious reading material. Major Bartee, chaplain for the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing, said the books will be put on display and made available to base personnel. Rev. James A. Puckett is pastor of Baptist Temple.

Baptist Association Plans Special School On Missions

The Big Spring Baptist Association has announced a special school of missions Oct. 23-27 at 7:30 o'clock each evening for the people of Big Spring and its vicinity.

Foreign and United States missionaries will be speaking at the school of missions at various local churches nightly. They will rotate among the Group I and Group II churches, which include: Group I, Vincent, Coahoma, Midway, Stadium, College, Prairie View and Forsan; and Group II, East Fourth, Courtney, Baptist Temple, First Baptist, Westside, Stanton and Lenorah.

Two of the missionaries for the school will be the Rev. Eugene Mervyn Mockerman, O'ray, Colo., and the Rev. Bobby Rine, Aztec, N. M.

Rev. Mockerman, a pioneer mission area pastor, serves the First Southern Baptist Church in O'ray. Before moving to Colorado in 1964, he was pastor in Las Vegas, Nev. He was moderator of the Lake Mead Association, Nev., and vice-moderator of Grand Valley Association, Colo., and has also served as a member of the executive board of the Arizona Convention Foundation.

A veteran of World War II, he received the U.S. Presidential Citation for Meritorious Action in the First Marine Division, Solomon Islands campaign.

Before entering the ministry, Mockerman was an electrical engineer and attended the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at Ft. Leslie McNair and an electrical school in Boulder City, Nev.

A native of Stockton, Calif., he attended Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at Mill Valley. He and his wife, the former Maxine Craig, have four children.

Rev. Rine serves as missionary of San Juan Association in New Mexico and lives near the Navajo Reservation.

He has held pastorates in Albuquerque, N. M.; Lubbock, Cleburne and Lorraine; and in Eldorado, Okla. During these pastorates he has been active in associational work.

A native of Quanah, he holds the bachelor of science degree from Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, and the bachelor of divinity degree from Southwest-

REV. E. M. MOCKERMAN

Baptists Set Homecoming

Phillips Memorial Baptist Church will hold a Homecoming Day Sunday, with former pastors as speakers.

The Rev. Dan Oglesby, Midway Baptist Church, will preach at 10:30 a.m.; the Rev. Ed Welsh, Kingston Avenue Baptist Church, Odessa, will offer the message at 11:30 a.m.; the Rev. Dave Craddock, Calvary Baptist Church, Andrews, will speak at 2:30 p.m.; and the Rev. John Bullock, Garden City Baptist, will bring the evening sermon at 7:30 p.m. All were formerly associated with Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

A noon dinner at the church will be held for all members. All former members are invited to attend. The Rev. Dan Sanford is the pastor.

REV. JACK BURKHOLDER

Grace Has New Assistant

Grace Baptist Church has called the Rev. Jack Burkholder as associate pastor.

Rev. Burkholder was formerly with the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Webb AFB. He was assigned the duties of testing NCOIC while at Webb.

Upon completion of his military service, he attended the Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington.

His duties at Grace Baptist will include educational assistance, youth direction and public relations activities, in addition to serving as associate pastor.

Rev. Burkholder and his wife, Donna Jean, have three children, Wanda, Kathy and Jackie.

Baha'is To Meet

The Baha'i group of Big Spring will hold a discussion on Christianity and the Baha'i faith at 1804 Dixie at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Interested persons are welcome.

Catholics Meet With Buddhists

KYOTO, Japan (AP)—Roman Catholic priests and sisters here are holding dialogues with Buddhist monks and nuns in churches and temples, each preceded by a period of meditative silence.

Toll Of Time

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Confidence in religious beliefs decreases as teenagers grow older, according to finding of a survey of youths 15 to 18 years old in the St. Paul-Minneapolis area.

Church Backs Jazz Cabaret

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—A church basement on the campus of Princeton University spent the summer disguised as a jazz cabaret.

The experiment was so successful it probably will be repeated next summer.

The night spot operated with the blessings of church leaders, had standing-room-only crowds of collegians and high school pupils all summer long.

"We wanted to show them we live in this century and not some other," observed the Rev. Donald Meisel, a minister of the First Presbyterian Church.

The club, soon to close its first season, is called "The Catacomb," after the caves in which early Christians sought refuge from Roman soldiers. It derives its modern inspiration from the haunts of Parisian music enthusiasts.

"We haven't done a lot of evangelizing. It's just one way of saying that we care, to suggest to the teenagers that the church is adaptable and flexible and not confined by tradition," the Rev. Meisel said.

A church member characterized the project as the most important work undertaken in years by the parish. The white stone building has been a state-ly landmark at the head of the Ivy League campus for years. It is not directly affiliated with the university.

The atmosphere of the basement night club is relaxed and friendly. Dress is casual, occasionally tending toward the "beat," long straight hair for girls and sandals for boys. But there is no dancing, and liquor is prohibited.

Main attraction of the "Catacomb" is entertainment. Guitarists, jazz combos and a folk singer perform twice nightly. The amateur musicians are usually drawn from the town of Princeton's talented populace. They perform without pay.

"I think they're glad to," said Jay Breese, a comanager of the establishment. No admission is charged. Soft drinks cost a dime. Coffee and tea are served to accompany potato chips and cheese dip.

Ecumenical Group To Build Jesuit Chapel

LENOX, Mass. (AP)—A Jew, a Buddhist, a Christian Scientist and some Roman Catholics have joined forces to recreate an Old World Place of worship for a boy's school here.

A chapel, based upon the Italian sculptor Bernini's 17th century classic church of Sant' Andrea al Quirinale in Rome, is being built for the Jesuit-run Cranwell School for Boys. The Cranwell chapel is larger than that of Sant' Andrea, but the proportion between length and width is maintained.

Among the artists, engineers and craftsmen assembled to construct the chapel were: Peter McLaughlin, Boston architect, a Catholic from Ireland; Leonard Baskin, professor of art at Smith College, a sculptor who designed the chapel's crucifix, a Jew born in Brooklyn; Biganess Livingstone, whose paintings enliven the chapel's interior, a Catholic housewife from Brookline, Mass.; Joseph Ferguson, whose stained-glass windows are designed to encourage an atmosphere of prayer and contemplation, a Christian Scientist; Ulrich Bear, who designed the vestments to be used at the altar, a German Catholic; and Arthur Choo, the engineer, a Chinese Buddhist.

The building is of reinforced concrete pillars, cantilevered toward a central crown. The exterior surfaces are finished with brush-like strokes in the concrete. The crown-like sculpture with a spire on top will be placed on the summit of the chapel by helicopter around Oct. 26. The crown was chosen because it carries upward the flow of the building's lines.

The 26 stained-glass windows extend from floor to ceiling. Inside, the concrete forms converge over the altar where they rise again to draw attention to an aluminum spire that will dominate the campus.

The altar, made of unpolished Mount Airy granite, is placed under the crown structure and covered with a baldichino, an ornamental canopy. Two matching communion tables are placed at the edge of the sanctuary. A small pulpit, also of granite, is located on one side. The celebrant's chair, backed by a dark oak screen, is at the other edge of the altar platform.

Curved pews, accommodating 525 worshippers, are set on a sloped floor, circling the altar on three sides. This is intended to encourage participation in the Mass as called for in the Vatican's Constitution on the Liturgy.

The chapel was designed with the idea of satisfying present requirements and those of the next century.

IS HE YOURS

You take him for a walk around the block and people stop you to say, "What a beautiful baby!"

You try to be modest about it, but your heart is bursting with pride. He is the most beautiful baby—and—he's yours! Or is he?

It can be pretty disturbing the first time you realize that your baby really isn't yours at all — that you do not possess him. Yet the sooner you do realize it, the better. We can't possess another person no matter how dearly we love them. And in the case of our children, we are custodians, not owners.

He is a beautiful baby—and you, naturally, want nothing more than for him to grow up into a fine young man. It is your responsibility, in the years ahead, to help him do so — and you will find the strength and guidance to aid you in your task in your church.

Start going to church this Sunday. Chances are that they've even got a nursery for beautiful babies!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Pledge to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Saturday Rites For Mr. Stocks

Services for Raymond C. Stocks, 58 of 1304 Princeton, well-known service station operator who died Thursday at 10:30 a.m., will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the East Fourth Street Baptist Church. The Rev. Billy Rudd, pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Homer Rich, pastor, First Assembly of God. Burial will be in the City Cemetery, under the direction of the River-Welch Funeral Home.

He was born in Franklin Co., Dec. 12, 1907, and married Bertie White April 29, 1928 in Franklin County. He was a building contractor until three years ago, when he opened the Stocks Conoco Station at Eighteenth and Gregg Streets. Mr. Stocks was a member of the Baptist faith and the IOOF Lodge. He had been in failing health for several months.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Bertie Stocks, Big Spring; one daughter, Mrs. B. G. (Maxine) Davis, Abilene; two sons, Joe Stocks, Big Spring, and Herschel Stocks, Houston; two brothers, W. T. Stocks, Big Spring, and J. J. Stocks, Whiteface; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Johnson, Mt. Vernon; also six grandchildren.

Banquet Draws Large Crowd

Eighty people were present for fellowship in a banquet style at the Stadium Baptist Church Thursday evening. The four-night banquet was held with each group comprised of those whose birthdays are in the same three months.

Mrs. J. W. Arnett, Miss Jean Cox and Mrs. Todd Roberts were the captains of the winter months group. Mrs. Lester Adams and Mrs. Edwin Broadway were captains of the spring months group. Mrs. Ben Mabe and Mrs. Donnie Collier were captains of the summer months group. Mrs. Gene Ross and Mrs. Don Karns captained the autumn months group. Each group planned its own menu and its part on the program.

Timing of the banquet coincides with the birthday of the church. Sunday marks the beginning of the fifth year with 128 enrolled in the Sunday school headed by Lester Adams. The Rev. J. W. Arnett is pastor.

Police Check On Pair Of Thefts

Two thefts and an attempted burglary were reported Thursday to police.

Lt. David Garrett, 1104 11th Place, said gasoline had been stolen from his car on two successive nights. Police are keeping a close eye on the neighborhood. Ernie Turner, 1226 Birdwell Lane, said a 22 caliber German-made pistol was stolen from his pickup during the past week. He valued it at $15.

Yeggs were unsuccessful in breaking into the business in the Highland Shopping Center, although they made entry into the found through the roof. Police found evidence they tried to force open several doors of businesses, before giving up.

Popular Numbers On Halftime Show

This evening's half-time show at Midland will feature the Big Spring High School band—"The Steer Marching 100"—in a series of popular melodies. Included will be "Blue Skies" and "Love Potion No. 9." The latter is a special arrangement by the head of the ACC music department and will spotlight Morgan Martin on the trap set. Morgan is a senior and this is his sixth year in band, the third in the Steer band. Other numbers will include the "Grand Entry Swing March" and the "Fight Song."

The Weather Bureau forecasts some rain occur in the Great Lakes Region, and mixed with snow Friday night for the northern portion of the upper Mississippi Valley. Showers and thundershowers will occur in the eastern half of the nation. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Polygraph Test Inconclusive?

Apparently the polygraph test made Thursday on Carroll Trantham, defendant in an armed robbery case, was inconclusive in its results.

While neither the state nor the defense attorneys would comment on the outcome of the test which was conducted in Fort Worth, statements made by both in connection with the inquiry of the court as to whether the case would be ready for trial Monday pointed to the indecisiveness of the outcome.

Gil Jones, attorney for Trantham, told the court that he was preparing a motion for continuance in the case and that in connection with this motion (on which Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, will rule when the document is filed) reference would be made to the polygraph examination.

Protestants To Observe "Bible Year" Sunday

Seven hundred and 50 million Bibles ago, the American Bible Society began its work of Bible publication and distribution. In years, that means 150 years ago—1816.

Protestant personnel at Webb AFB this Sunday will celebrate "The Year of the Bible," in recognition of this historic anniversary. This year, and throughout the year there have been special programs around the nation honoring the Bible Society's work. Military chapel congregations at hundreds of bases and posts will join in the celebration this week.

A display of interesting Bibles, posters, and pamphlets may be seen in the chapel this weekend, and Chaplains (Lt. Col.) Robert Deming and (Capt.) William Warren will highlight the importance of the Scriptures during the two Sunday Protestant worship services. All offerings received from Protestant activities Sunday will be for the Bible Society's work. Among those lending Bibles for the chapel display are S. Sgt. Robert M. McDonough and Mrs. Miriam Russell.

"The American Bible Society has given many Bibles and Testaments free of charge to Webb AFB personnel over the years," noted Chaplain Deming.

Theft Charge

Charlie Reed, charged with theft of an air conditioner in Snyder, posted $1,000 bond here in the case after he had been arrested on a Scurry County warrant. Sheriff A. N. Standard informed the Scurry County authorities of Reed's action.

Elaine Clark, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court on Friday morning. She was fined $50, costs in the case, and placed on three months probation.

Draws DWI Fine

Docket Sounded

The judge sounded the docket at 10 a.m. and will have a jury panel in the court on Monday for trial of any cases set for trial.

In the scheduled trial of Juan Gonzales Ruiz, charged with murder with a motor vehicle, Jones, the defense attorney, informed the court he "might" move to take the case from the jury docket and submit before the court. However, no such formal motion has as yet been filed. Ruiz is charged as driver of a car which was involved in the death of John Lewis Stone Jr., some time ago.

Announcement was made that H. B. Beck, charged with forgery, plans to enter a guilty plea.

Felipe A. Juarez and Santos Mendoza, accused of possession of narcotics, were granted continuances to Nov. 25, the next week for the criminal docket.

Pete Campos, burglary, told the court he had no attorney. The court appointed Norman Spencer.

UNDECIDED

Announcement was made that the attorney for Eleno Chavez, charged with assault with intent to kill, was ill, so the case was passed.

Several other cases on the docket were left undecided. Whether Loyd R. McGary, charged with forgery, will go to trial will be decided later.

The cases against Jeff Johnson, DWI, second; Ruben H. Jimenez, assault with intent to kill; Merrill Johnson, DWI, second; Shelton Lain, DWI, second; and Jackie Thomason, burglary, were called. There was no answer either by attorneys or by the defendants. Burns moved for bond forfeitures.

A charge of DWI second against James Wesley Legate was announced ready, but no trial date was set.

Rites Pend For Mrs. Ransom

Mrs. Eddie Moe Ransom, 57, of 709 Ohio, died suddenly at 10 a.m. today in a local hospital. Services are pending at the River-Welch Funeral Home.

She was born Feb. 27, 1909, in Naples, Tex., and married Marion (Red) Ransom in June, 1966, at Stanton. She had been a resident of Big Spring for the past 14 years and was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband, Marion (Red) Ransom, Big Spring; one daughter, Fannie Mae, Loraine, Ohio; one son, Lawrence Wallace, Kansas City, Mo.; one brother, Fritz Graham, Mt. Pleasant; one sister, Rebecca Royal, Mt. Pleasant; an aunt, Martha Washington, Pittsburgh, Tex.; also five grandchildren.

E. W. Holcomb Service Held

STANTON (SC)—Elisha Walter Holcomb, 80, died Thursday at 10:45 a.m. at his residence, 304 W. Carpenter.

Services were to be held today in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. T. L. Pond, pastor, Courtney Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Williams, Welch. Burial was to be in the Trinity Memorial Park, Big Spring, under the direction of the Gilbreath Funeral Home.

He was born Aug. 6, 1886, in Georgia and moved to Martin County in 1945 from Big Spring, where they had lived since 1930. The family moved into Stanton in 1965. Mr. Holcomb was a farmer.

Runnels Jr. High FHA Car Wash

The Runnels Junior High School chapter of Future Homemakers of America will conduct a car wash Saturday, with proceeds going to the organization's charity projects.

Service will be offered at four places: corner of FM 700 and Goliad; Highland Shopping Center; corner of 7th and Runnels; and Forman's Service Station. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the price is $1.311 N. Gregg.

Services Pending For Jost Baby

Ronald Lynn Jost, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jost, St. Lawrence community, died at 3:41 p.m. Thursday in a local hospital. Services are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born Oct. 11 at 3:50 a.m. The parents are farmers in the St. Lawrence community, moving there from Wall in 1963.

Other survivors include one sister, Belinda Marie Jost, of the home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elo Jost, Wall; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schniers, and the paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Ed Schwertner, all of San Angelo; the maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. John Book, Rowena.

Ambulance Pact Ready For Action

All parties concerned — city officials, county officials, and Bruce Frazier — have given tentative approval to a contract for the latter to provide emergency ambulance service in the City of Big Spring and Howard County. Monday, the contract begins the rounds of formal approval, going first to the County Commissioner's Court.

City Manager Larry Crow, who has spearheaded efforts to get emergency ambulance service restored here, said a tentative contract was drawn by City Attorney John Burgess Thursday. It has been checked by County Judge Lee Porter, County Attorney Dee Jon Davis and Frazier.

TO OFFICIAL BOARDS

He said city officials will take it to a meeting of the County Commissioners Court Monday morning. If it wins approval there, a special meeting of the City Commission will be called to study it. If it gets this second endorsement, it will be ready for Frazier's corporation to sign.

Frazier said today he still has considerable preparation to make before he can offer his service about 30 days hence, but he has one ambulance now being made ready for work, and he is ironing out details of getting his drivers and attendants trained and ready.

The substance of the problem of restoring ambulance service has been over the degree of city and county financial participation. O. D. Majors, who operated Big Spring Ambulance Service here, said he could not provide emergency service without financial help. In a proposal submitted to the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday, he asked $1,000 subsidy per month.

TERMINOLOGY

Frazier's proposal asks that the two agencies backstop his operation for 80 per cent of his uncollected bills, after reasonable effort has been made to collect them. Of this amount, the city has asked the county to pay those of indigent persons.

The next stumbling block has been a proper definition for "emergency service" and "indigent persons." These are probably the major decisions to be made by the two commissions next week.

Meanwhile, the city's stop-gap emergency ambulance measure — the fire department station wagon — made two calls in the last 24 hours, both taking heart attack victims to hospitals. One call was made Thursday evening, and another this morning. The station wagon is equipped only with a stretcher and some first aid equipment.

Hall Hereford Sale Has Good Average

By SAM BLACKBURN

The Hall Ranch sold 50 head of its fine certified Anxicy 4th Herefords Thursday afternoon at its first annual production sale on the ranch southwest of town. The 50 head brought a total price of $34,810 for an average of $696 per head.

Twenty-one bulls were sold for $15,945. This averages $759 per head. The 21 cows (some with calves at foot) sold for $18,865—average $650.

OVERFLOW CROWD

The sale was in the ranch's permanent sales barn and was attended by a crowd which overflowed the big building and exceeded even standing room limits. Many spectators and buyers stood just outside the big doors during the speedy sale. It took George Morse, the auctioneer, just under an hour and a half to sell the entire 50 head. John H. Montgomery, Jayton, was sales manager.

B. J. Simpson, Rio Hondo, bought the top bull sold, as well as the top cow. Simpson paid $2,500 for a 2-year-old bull named Premier Lamplighter 54. The Rio Hondo man was high buyer for the show, spending $6,950 for a bull and three cows. He paid $2,500 for a 4-year-old female with a calf. He paid $1,000 for a second cow with a heifer calf.

B. P. Mitchell, Kermit rancher, bought one bull and four cows for $4,000. Winston Bros., Snyder, paid $2,350 for three cows and one bull. C. T. Armin of Sabinal was buyer of the most cows with seven purchases for $3,985.

OTHER BUYERS

Other buyers who took advantage of the production sale to build up their herds with purchases included H. D. Robbins and Son, Hereford; S. F. Buchanan, Big Spring; A. P. Mitchell, Emico, N. M.; Bert C. Roy, Rogers, N. M.; S. P. Pitts, Nacogdoches; Rocker & Reynolds, Barnhart; C. J. Reynolds, Garden City; W. W. (Bill) Anderson, Lovington, N. M.; Rich Anderson, Gail; Dub Hurvey, Sweetwater; J. C. Sale, Stanton; Edward Simpson, Big Spring; Button Estes, Midland; Gene Pickard, Albany; C. C. Nunnally, Gail; Leland Wallace, Big Spring; Pied Piper Farms, Hamlin; Clyde Eisenbach, Santa Angelo; Sam Wilkinson, Stanton and Thomas A. Rosson and Son, Sweetwater.

Ann Bickley Rites Today

STANTON (SC)—Miss Ann Louise Bickley, 66, died Thursday at 9:20 a.m. in a Big Spring hospital.

Services will be held late today in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Richard Payne officiating, assisted by the Rev. C. R. LeMond, Roscoe. Burial will be in the Rose Hill Cemetery in Merkel at 5 p.m., under the direction of the Gilbreath Funeral Home.

She came to Martin County in 1933 from Merkel, where she was born July 19, 1900.

Survivors include Miss G. Geneva Middleton; one brother, Joe Bickley, Abilene; five nieces and six nephews; also several great nieces and nephews.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Telephone Call Case

It took a Howard County Court jury about 30 minutes Thursday to find Marshall Beyerly III, guilty as charged, and Lee Porter, county judge, took even less time to fix the man's punishment at $200 fine, costs in the case and two months in the county jail. Beyerly had been convicted of making obscene calls over a telephone to a Big Spring teenager. He was arrested after a telephone device traced the call.

The defendant, attorneys said, intends to appeal the conviction and continues at liberty on bond.

The new code permits the jury to rule on the guilt or innocence of a defendant and the assessment of the punishment can be delegated, if the defendant requests it, either to the jury or to the judge. In this case the punishment was left up to the judge.

The case was the only one tried this week in the county court before a jury.

A number of guilty pleas were accepted during the week.

Beyerly, already under a probation sentence out of district court for conviction on a worthless check charge, was alleged to have made obscene suggestions in a phone call to a young girl and arranged a meeting with her at a drive-in restaurant.

The police instructed the girl to go through with the trust. When she met the man the police moved in and took Beyerly in custody. The event was last Aug. 10. A polarity trap, an electronic device, provided by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, was used to trace the call.

Services Pending For Jost Baby

Ronald Lynn Jost, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jost, St. Lawrence community, died at 3:41 p.m. Thursday in a local hospital. Services are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born Oct. 11 at 3:50 a.m. The parents are farmers in the St. Lawrence community, moving there from Wall in 1963.

Other survivors include one sister, Belinda Marie Jost, of the home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elo Jost, Wall; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schniers, and the paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Ed Schwertner, all of San Angelo; the maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. John Book, Rowena.

Draws DWI Fine

Elaine Clark, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court on Friday morning. She was fined $50, costs in the case, and placed on three months probation.

Docket Sounded

The judge sounded the docket at 10 a.m. and will have a jury panel in the court on Monday for trial of any cases set for trial.

In the scheduled trial of Juan Gonzales Ruiz, charged with murder with a motor vehicle, Jones, the defense attorney, informed the court he "might" move to take the case from the jury docket and submit before the court. However, no such formal motion has as yet been filed. Ruiz is charged as driver of a car which was involved in the death of John Lewis Stone Jr., some time ago.

Announcement was made that H. B. Beck, charged with forgery, plans to enter a guilty plea.

Felipe A. Juarez and Santos Mendoza, accused of possession of narcotics, were granted continuances to Nov. 25, the next week for the criminal docket.

Pete Campos, burglary, told the court he had no attorney. The court appointed Norman Spencer.

UNDECIDED

Announcement was made that the attorney for Eleno Chavez, charged with assault with intent to kill, was ill, so the case was passed.

Several other cases on the docket were left undecided. Whether Loyd R. McGary, charged with forgery, will go to trial will be decided later.

The cases against Jeff Johnson, DWI, second; Ruben H. Jimenez, assault with intent to kill; Merrill Johnson, DWI, second; Shelton Lain, DWI, second; and Jackie Thomason, burglary, were called. There was no answer either by attorneys or by the defendants. Burns moved for bond forfeitures.

A charge of DWI second against James Wesley Legate was announced ready, but no trial date was set.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If you have your radio repaired in Cuba, says a refugee radio mechanic, it will be altered so that

Big Spring merchants will now be almost eliminated, he said. "This project will improve our business," he said. "It gives the area the appearance of a downtown shopping center."

Adolph Swartz, president of Downtown Big Spring, Inc., said that he was "very proud and happy with the project, especially with the city's cooperation and participation."

JUST ONE PHASE "This is just one of the phases which we hope to complete," Swartz said. "And we hope all of them are as successful as this one."

M. C. Grigsby, C. R. Anthony Co., said that the merchants' participation in the project spoke for the way they all felt.

Over $3,000 in prizes will be offered in one day," he said. "This is an expression of our sentiments about the project."

Grigsby said that the parking facilities were much better, and he was looking forward to other phases in the downtown beautification project.

"It's really gratifying to see so many cars parked in an area where they weren't parked before," said Joe Blum of Blum's Jewelers. "I believe this will help downtown business in the long run—it's certainly a 100 per cent improvement."

Randall Polk of Hemphill-Wells Co. felt that the only fault with the project was that it was not begun earlier.

Run On Loan Branch Over

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A run on a savings and loan association branch in Chinatown in which $3.5 million was withdrawn in two days is over, association officials say, and the greenback tide has begun to flow the other way.

Two days of rumor-fed withdrawals from the branch of the San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Association came to a halt Thursday afternoon, they said.

By the close of business some $40,000 was back on deposit. Much of it, said an association officer, "was brought back upstairs from safe deposit boxes in the basement."

"It's been a nightmare," said David Winslow, vice president of the association and manager of its main office.

Greeting the patrons returning their money was a sign posted outside the branch which assured them in Chinese that "savings redeposited now will draw interest from Oct. 1."

Winslow said he believed the run was "beautifully planned" to discredit the branch's crusading manager, J. K. Choy, for his outspoken championing of Chinatown's poor.

It started with a series of anonymous telephone calls to Choy and the dumping of a load of garbage in front of the building, a Chinese way of saying that something inside smells. The withdrawal by patrons in Western and Chinese garb was orderly. But the lines were so long the branch had to remain open three additional hours Wednesday. The run resumed Thursday morning but slowed in mid-day and stopped about 1 p.m.

Twenty Big Spring High School students will attend the annual West Texas Student Activities Conference Saturday on the Odessa College Campus.

Over 600 high school students are expected to attend, according to Dr. Jack Rodgers, president of the college. The event attracts students as far north as the Oklahoma border and as far south as Sanderson. Purpose of the meet is to provide a "dry run" for students planning to enter the University Interscholastic League (UIL) competition in the spring.

The Big Spring students, accompanied by Mrs. James Hedges, Mrs. Johnny Johansen and Dan Shockey, will participate primarily in the speech, drama and writing events. Twelve events are planned this year in writing, persuasive speaking, extemporaneous speaking, prose reading, poetry interpretation, science, slide rule, journalism, yearbook, debate, drama and number sense. Each event will be conducted on a workshop basis.

Activities begin at 8 a.m. with registration and a general assembly will begin at 8:30 in the college auditorium. Special consultants and critics from the faculty of the University of Texas will be on hand to help students.

Remaking Main

Main Street between Second and Third presents a strikingly new appearance today (upper left) as part of the Downtown, Inc. revitalization project. First the Downtown organization bought and razed the old First National Bank building, replacing it with a paved parking lot. Then high curbs and old paving on Main Street were ripped out to be replaced by new colored sidewalks, low curbs and pavement sloping to the center of the street. Circular headers protect 90-degree parking, and a pavilion beautifies the parking lot. All of it is part of Operation Sparkle for downtown.

Downtown Dedication Climaxes Six Years Of City Planning

Main Street 45 Years Ago

This is how Main Street, between Third and Second, appeared 45 years ago. The photograph, part of a panoramic picture, was provided through courtesy of Bradshaw Studio. At left is the building which now houses Elmo Wasson men's store, but which then contained Blies Drug Store. Proceeding northward down the block were such concerns as the A. P. McDonald Men's store, the telephone company (upstairs where the two arches are), the State National Bank and others. Note that jitneys were not too numerous, showing lack of a parking problem. Out of this view but part of the Bradshaw picture, is a horse tied to a rack. This picture was taken before the grade of Main was cut so sharply. Today's revitalized project puts it back almost the same, except that the curbs are even lower now.

Presentation of a completely-rebuilt block of downtown Main Street — a big flash in the city's "Operation Sparkle" — is a climax to planning, work and money-raising that dates back for six years.

While a spectacular portion of the downtown renovation now makes its mark, there is more to come.

The 200 block of Main Street was made the pilot block for extensive street and sidewalk rebuilding, parking addition, and beautification of intersections — largely because of its notorious high curbs — but the work, over a period of time, is destined to cover all the downtown mercantile and financial area.

STARTED N '66
Awareness of a need to upgrade the aging heart of the city was brought about in the city's widely-publicized master plan, brought forth in 1960, with a special Planning Committee working with Marvin Springer of Dallas, an expert consultant in this field.

Two years later, Springer issued a supplemental report having to do directly with the need for an updating of the aging central area.

He called for provision of off-street parking, for an improvement of thoroughfares, for a general modernization program. He suggested that a special organization be set up to adopt the program and push it through.

CORPORATION
There came into being a non-profit corporation called Downtown Big Spring, Inc. Once set up, this unit cast about for off-street parking lots in line with Springer's recommendation.

In a while, First National Bank erected a new building, and its property at Second and Main Streets became available, as did two adjoining parcels of land.

This is when Downtown Big Spring, Inc., came into action, with Adolph Swartz, its president since organization, the spearhead of the attack. Through his leadership, merchants, property owners, and professional people having an interest in keeping Big Spring on the go — there are more than a half-hundred subscribers now — signed up for pledges covering a five-year period. The total has run to more than $150,000, although much of this is yet to be paid in.

PARKING LOT
With this commitment, the organization bought the 125x140 foot property in the heart of downtown, and demolished structures on it.

The City of Big Spring, cooperative to the fullest degree throughout the program, agreed to accept the property from the corporation and convert it into a public off-street parking lot.

This, of course, has been done. The lot now "sparkles" all the more with fresh retaining walls and a new pavilion on the Main Street side.

This lot was opened with fanfare, has seen regular, at times heavy, use.

Then came the next step of private building renovations, too. There have been some new store fronts, other evidences of modernizing. Springer says this kind of work must go along with the cooperative effort and Swartz expresses confidence that it will do just that.

The Downtown Big Spring president has voiced cooperation to the many people who assisted in planning and in financing. "You just can't do a job like this without everyone helping," he said. "And we have had splendid cooperation. The point is that we want to keep going."

CITY'S HELP
Here again, the city, recognizing that its own tax revenues are linked to productive property, picked up the cudgels. City Manager Larry Crow and Ernest Lillard, director of public works, directed the planning for the new project and energetically saw it through to completion. The re-grading and re-paving of the Main Street block, along with the construction of attractively-colored new sidewalks, all this work was financed by property-owner assessment, just as is done when the city paves a street.

CROSSWALKS
A contract was awarded to W. D. Caldwell for the work, with the city and property owners sharing the cost, the city handling the unique cross-walk islands which add a touch of beauty and limit pedestrian exposure to actual street traffic.

These islands, incidentally, will be touched up with planting trees at the proper planting season.

The result, as is now being viewed and will be formally dedicated Saturday, is something close to spectacular, particularly to people who have become the high curbs on Main Street for the past 40 years.

HARD WORK
None of the project came easy. There were meetings of leaders by the score, and delegations from Big Spring visited a number of other cities which have been, or are, carrying on similar projects. They went to Grand Junction, Colo., to Temple, to Abilene, to Lubbock, checked with many another city. They held numerous conferences with City Planner Springer, Downtown Big Spring, Inc., leaders and city commissioners met on several occasions, to stay in tune on what safely may be termed the biggest cooperative venture Big Spring business interests have achieved in history.

WTCC CONTEST
The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has in being its "Operation Sparkle," a contest for West Texas cities climaxed in 1968, when the HemisFair in San Antonio and the Olympics in Mexico City are due to bring thousands of new tourists into Texas. The West Texas city which does the best job of civic beautification will receive an award and wide recognition.

Says Carroll Davidson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce: "Big Spring is going to set the top mark in "Operation Sparkle." We have accomplished much, with our parking lot, the new Main Street, the VA Hospital grounds, the removal of many condemned buildings, and the opening of several new parking lots. We're going to keep on moving."

PRIVATE IMPROVEMENTS
The downtown development program has sparked a number of private building renovations, too. There have been some new store fronts, other evidences of modernizing. Springer says this kind of work must go along with the cooperative effort and Swartz expresses confidence that it will do just that.

'Operation Sparkle' Is City-Wide Undertaking

The completion of the downtown beautification between Second and Third on Main is but one entry in Operation Sparkle, a two-year contest sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, tourist development committee.

"Sparkle" is a broad program of community improvement aimed at attracting visitors and influencing them to stop and visit, and stay longer. Its outreach is to all cities in the 12 counties served by the WTCC. The contest, which began Jan. 1, 1966, and will close Dec. 31, 1967, is sponsored in each city by the local Chamber of Commerce. Quarterly reports are sent to the WTCC by the four city divisions, including over-50,000 population, 15,000-50,000 population, 5,000-15,000 population and under 5,000 population.

Each city is to have at least 12 projects to be eligible for the grand award in each division. Scrapbooks are being compiled by each of the cities participating, and winners will be determined by these scrapbooks. Winners will be announced and awards will be presented at the 50th annual meeting of the WTCC in April, 1968. Judges will be named from the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, the Texas Tourist Development Agency, the Travel and Information Division of the State Highway Department, and the Texas Industrial Commission.

"Any beautiful or improvement will be entered in the contest," said Carroll Davidson, manager of the local chamber. "Individual homes being spruced up, alleyways cleared — any community or individual project may be submitted."

"We are particularly pleased with the downtown improvement project and hope more projects such as this will be initiated."

Make-Up Tricks To Shorten Long Lines

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: I have a long, thin face. You get the picture if you draw a narrow oblong with a ruler. Is there a make-up trick that would soften the angles?

The answer: Yes, make-up offers an excellent solution. So does hairstyling.

The make-up ruse requires a skin-toned foundation, a pat of contour blusher in a dark shade and a translucent, glossy liquid or brush-on highlighter. To make the most of the trip, first apply the foundation in a smooth film.

The blusher is next in play. Brush it onto the cheeks in a half-circle that starts just above mid-ear and finishes under the earlobe; fill in and blend well. Owing to this placement the face appears less angular. The cheek bones gain substance; the cheeks and jawline appear softer.

And the effect can be increased of an evening by highlighting the cheek bones and the tip of the chin. Simply apply highlighter in wing formation to the cheek bones; contour the chin bone.

The hairstyle that both softens and shortens the face is smooth and close to the head at the top. It is long enough to flip up or turn under at a point about an inch below the ear. To increase the illusion wear full bangs, cut straight across to clear the eyebrows, or arrange the hair in a swag to one side of the forehead.

In such ways, a long face breaks into happy curves!

Cedar Crest P-TA Plans Date For Halloween Party

Plans for a Halloween carnival were discussed during the Thursday evening meeting of the Cedar Crest Parent-Teacher Association. The members met at the school with Mrs. George S. Smith presiding.

The carnival is set for Oct. 31 with serving to begin at 6 p.m. and games starting at 7 p.m. Proceeds will be used for financing a school Christmas party.

Mrs. L. E. Rush gave the devotion, and W. R. Dawes, principal of Marcy Elementary School, was guest speaker. His topic was "Better Education Through Legislation."

Mrs. Robert Bradshaw announced that Mrs. Tom Adam's second grade room was leading in the membership drive.

The room count was won by Mrs. V. L. Perkins' fourth grade, and Mrs. Wayne Nichols won the attendance prize.

Thirty-three attended, and refreshments were served by mothers of fifth grade students.

High Tallies Announced For Bridge

Winners during Tuesday's duplicate bridge games at Big Spring Country Club were Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Gien Cox, first; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. E. L. Powell, second; and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. A. Swartz, third.

During Wednesday's Master Point games the north-south winners were Mrs. Jones and Mrs. J. H. Fish, first; Mrs. Powell and George D. Pike, second; and Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. Bristow, third. The east-west winners were Mrs. Carl Blomshield and Mrs. D. A. Brazel, first; Mrs. Elvis McCrary and Mrs. Floyd Mays, second; and Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, third.

This afternoon's games at the club were also for Master Points.

Gavel Club Plans Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party for the Past Matrons Gavel Club was slated for Dec. 10 when the group met for dinner Thursday evening at the Downtown Tea Room. Hostesses were Mrs. Gordon Hughes and Mrs. Ollie McDaniel.

Mrs. James Felts presided, and the prayer and devotion were given by Mrs. Hughes.

Named to serve as hostesses in November were Mrs. John Puckett and Mrs. E. A. Fivash, and Mrs. McDaniel will be card chairman for that month.

Eleven members attended and repeated the club prayer in unison. The next meeting will be Nov. 8.

P-TA Told Of Special Education

The operation of the Special Education School and its teaching program were detailed by an instructor, Mrs. William McRee, when she was guest speaker at Wednesday's meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Washington Elementary School.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Don Farley, president, who conducted the business session and called for committee reports. It was announced that John Hardy, principal, will represent the unit at the state P-TA conference at Austin in November. Adopted for this year's project was the beautification of the school yard. Top soil will be provided and grass planted.

Mrs. Marvin Tatum's fifth grade class won first place in the membership drive, and second place went to Mrs. Jack Denson's fifth grade class.

Approximately 60 attended.

Federation Workshop Slated Here Nov. 4

Final plans for the local federation workshop, scheduled here Nov. 4, were made during the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Junior Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. Jerry Barron, 3223 Cornell. Mrs. Fred Simpson was cohostess.

The workshop will be held in the home of Mrs. Arnold Marshall, 700 Highland, and all members of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs are invited to attend.

A district federation workshop will be held Oct. 22 in Odessa, and those from the forum who plan to attend are Mrs. Morris Rhodes, president; Mrs. Earl Zetsche and Mrs. Wayne Henry. Mrs. Rhodes presided as Mrs. Jay Turnbow was elected recording secretary to replace

Mrs. John Suter who is moving with her family to Midland.

Mrs. Zetsche presented the program, "Creating With Stitches," and was assisted by Mrs. Louis McKnight, Mrs. Howard Churchill and Mrs. Wayne Denton. The women showed the fundamentals of knitting with club members joining in trying the stitches.

It was announced that Mrs. B. F. Seay, state president, will be a guest of the forum during its Oct. 27 meeting in the home of Mrs. R. S. Galbraith Jr., 2601 Ann Drive. Also, a dessert bridge is slated Nov. 10 at Big Spring Country Club.

Refreshments were served to 18 members and two guests, Mrs. R. L. Lafond and Barbara Carpenter.

Food Group Hears Talk

The importance of good nutrition for a healthy body was stressed by Mrs. M. L. Blackburn during a talk Thursday afternoon to members of the Big Spring Chapter, Texas School Food Service. Mrs. Blackburn, a guest in clinical dietitian at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Ernest Williamson presided, and a project committee was appointed. It was announced that Mrs. John Annen, cafeteria director, will leave Saturday to attend the national convention in Pittsburgh, Pa. She will be away from her office for a week.

The refreshment table was accented with a "ghost" tree, and other tables featured pumpkins and flowers to carry out the Halloween theme. Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve the 26 attending.

Mrs. Clyde Angel Reviews Book

COAHOMA (SC) — The Mary Jane Club met Thursday at the First Federal building with Mrs. Troy Roberts as hostess. Fifteen members attended and four guests, Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mrs. Bernice Hagins, Mrs. Johnny Justiss and Mrs. Dwayne Clawson. Mrs. Clyde Angel gave a book review entitled "My Hands Are Wringing."

M. F. Bryants Have Guests

LUTHER (SC) — Mrs. M. C. Denton and Mrs. T. M. Yates and her son, Tim, have been visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bryant. Tim has been seriously ill with a bone infection and was confined to the Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital for two weeks. He is improved but still unable to return to school.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Don't Throw Zippers Away--Repair Them

Dear Heloise:

I should be doing housework right now, but I decided to take a few minutes out to share this hint.

I rarely replace broken zippers—I repair them!

My procedure is as follows: When the zipper slide has broken away from the teeth, I pry open the slide with a screwdriver, run it down to the base of the zipper and slip it back over the teeth.

Then I squeeze it back together with a pair of pliers.

This works even when one or two teeth have broken off, and it has saved me much money and time... A Regular Reader

Yes, some zippers can be repaired this way.

You have to squeeze the zipper back to exactly the original spacing or it won't work properly.

Also, rubbing some dry soap or candle on the zipper runners will make it slide easier... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To renew suede shoes and handbags, buy a sheet of fine-grain emery cloth and cut it into two-inch squares.

Gently rub the emery cloth over the slick, worn spots on the shoes or bag, then the entire surface lightly.

Voilà! Like new!... Belva

Dear Heloise:

I make very attractive coasters out of plastic lids from coffee cans by gluing small plastic dillies in the lids.

The coasters prevent marks on my furniture and are so easy to make... Madge Williams

Dear Heloise:

After squeezing oranges, remove the membrane from inside the rinds, and run the peel through the food grinder several times.

Divide it into small portions, wrap in plastic wrap and store in freezer.

When a recipe calls for grated orange rind, you will have a supply on hand.

If you happen to save empty pill bottles, they make excellent containers for small quantities of the grated orange rind... May Craighead

Maudie, you are so right. Why twist our arms and shoulders when there is an easier way?... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When using liquid bluing for your wash:

Take the little plastic cover off the opening of an empty soy sauce bottle. Clean the bottle, fill with bluing, and replace plastic cover and metal cap.

Then when you want bluing in your laundry, just remove the metal cap and shake out the desired amount.

Because of the small opening in the plastic cap of the bottle, there is less chance of getting too much bluing in the water... Mrs. F. Soboski

Dear Heloise:

I am no longer young, but this hint works well for me.

So I would like to help someone else and tell how I fasten my brassiere without straining my arm and shoulder.

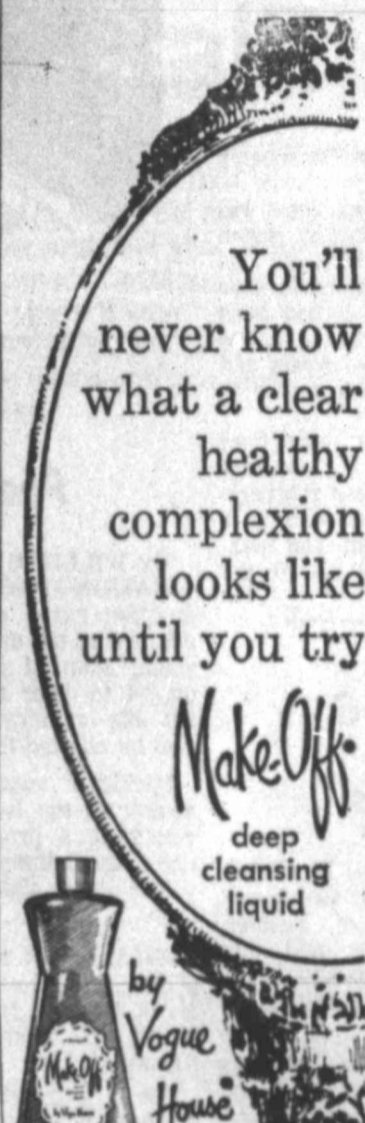

I just turn my brassiere around and fasten it in front where I can see what I am doing.

Then I pull it around so the fasteners are in back, put my arms through the straps, and pull them up.

Presto, no strain and it's quick and easy... Maudie

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

The secret of having a "trouble-free" complexion lies in the cleanser used. Try new Make-Off for oily, dry, or combination skin. It neutralizes as it completely and antiseptically deep cleanses. Pleasant fragrance. Non-drying. Effective. Compare... you'll see the difference!

Vincent Baptists Attend Meetings

VINCENT (SC) — Members of the Vincent Baptist Woman's Missionary Society attended the associational WMS meeting at Baptist Temple on Monday. Tuesday afternoon the WMS met for mission study, "Beneath the Himalayas," with nine members present.

Monday evening the teachers and officers meeting was held at the church with 20 attending and participating in the fellowship which followed. Among those going to the Baptist Temple session were Mrs. J. M. Wilson, Mrs. Wiley Cunningham, Mrs. Jack Wolf and Mrs. Laverna Laing.

Join the Operation Sparkle crowd Saturday. Register for the beautiful Mink Stole to be given away Saturday at 6 p.m. at Anthony's. Winner's name will be posted in the store immediately after the drawing. (Illustration suggestive).

A Devotional For The Day

Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified; he is risen; he is not here. (Mark 16:6)
PRAYER: We thank Thee, Father, for the manhood of Jesus, Thy Son. We rejoice in His triumphs and accept with joy the victories we win over our difficulties and defeats and sins; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Only Sleeping, Perhaps

When the Senate Ethics Committee concluded the first phase of an inquiry into misconduct charges against Sen. Dodd last July, it was indicated that hearings would be resumed in late summer or early fall. Now the likelihood is that there will be no further hearings until after the new Congress convenes in January.

This naturally has given rise to further skepticism. There is renewed talk that the Ethics Committee, though it has gone through the motions and may go through some more along about next February, will not really mount a thorough investigation of the senator's financial affairs.

The early stages of the inquiry were devoted mainly to the question whether Dodd had done unethical favors for Julius Klein, a Chicago public relations man who is registered as a foreign agent in behalf of West Germany. Dodd came out of this fairly well, though not entirely unscathed.

Now, however, a much more serious question is before the Ethics Committee: Whether Sen. Dodd, as charged, diverted more than $300,000 in political campaign contributions to his personal use without including them in his income tax return. It is also a far more touchy question, that might conceivably make some of Dodd's fellow senators nervous about their positions.

Thus far, there appear to be no solid grounds for thinking the committee will dodge a genuine probe about next February. It has been subpoenaing pertinent documents from banks and other financial institutions and, according to Chairman Stennis, wants to have all the evidence in hand before it is presented in hearings. There can be no objection to that. When the committee resumes its inquiry, however, a great many citizens will be watching to see how thorough a job it does.

Milestone

Festivities Saturday will give formal notice and a colorful promotion to a milestone in the history of downtown Big Spring.

The renovation of Main Street and its intersections, the decorative circular headers for parking area protection, the new sidewalks with a dash of color, the paved parking lot where once the old First National Bank building stood, a decorative pavilion, the restoration of planters with cherry laurels all add a new sparkle to the city's commercial core.

Equally as important, it should add a touch of zest to merchandizing in that area, a new wave of enthusiasm and venture among the merchants and their staffs.

Perhaps what has been done will stimulate other developments which will further transform what at one time was the business district, pure and simple. Perhaps what has been done collectively will permeate private operators to the point that fronts and other externals will be brightened to match.

All of this will benefit more than just the downtown area. As one segment of the town's business prospers, so will another. Traffic or volume is what offers encouragement, and within the community it is all to the good.

David Lawrence A Gesture Toward The Soviets

WASHINGTON — Language is no longer a barrier to mutual understanding between the governments of the United States and the Soviet Union. But what can produce mutual trust?

When President Johnson talked for an hour and a half at the White House on Monday with Foreign Minister Gromyko—who speaks excellent English—the news reports said that the Russian foreign minister had by his side translators to present certain official statements. But there was plenty of intimate conversation in English on an "off-the-record" basis.

WHEN PRESIDENT JOHNSON in his speech in New York last Friday appealed for a united Europe, he said this will happen only "as East and West succeed in building a surer foundation of mutual trust."

The President's address in New York contained several overtures that undoubtedly will impress the Soviet government. He outlined a series of points, including better tariff and trade treatment generally for the Eastern bloc of Communist states and help to four of them in getting commercial credits. The list of proposed actions the United States might take in certain fields is perhaps the most comprehensive program that has been launched in a long time to improve Soviet-American relations. Mr. Johnson said that "we want the Soviet Union and the nations of Eastern Europe to know that we and our allies shall go step-by-step with them just as far as they are willing to advance."

THERE WERE intimations, too, that the United States is ready to help stabilize the military situation in Europe and that there can be "a gradual and balanced revision in force levels on both sides." This, the President remarked, could steadily shape "an entire new political environment."

The intimate consultations just begun between the diplomatic representatives of the Soviet Union and the President and Secretary of State here may play an epochal part in changing the international climate in Europe and in influencing in an important way the whole Asian situation.

MOST SIGNIFICANT is the fact that the United States and the Soviet Union are trying to develop some kind of working understanding with reference to the continent of Europe. If the threat of war were eliminated, this would make possible a reduction of American military forces. It would, of course, cut down substantially the annual expense of the United States.

THERE ARE, however, many important considerations in the whole situation. What about German reunification? Also, if military forces in Europe on both sides are reduced, does this mean that there will have to be reliance on nuclear weapons in case a war does break out? For the time being, there is much discussion about the tentative agreement between the Soviet Union and the United States to work together to prevent a "proliferation" of nuclear weapons among other nations of the world. On the surface, this looks like a salutary development, but it does not answer the question of what would happen to Western Europe if, after it has reduced its armies, a sudden attack came from the East and America's armies in large part would have been withdrawn.

OBVIOUSLY the only answer that ever will be found to such questions must be based on mutual trust between the powerful governments of the world. It could be that the continued possession of tremendous nuclear power by the United States and the Soviet Union might actually serve as a combined deterrent against any irresponsible government that might emerge in Pelting or elsewhere.

People To Speak On Hundred Questions

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
 WASHINGTON (AP) — A question asked often since enactment of the draft law is: If a young man of 18 can be required to fight and maybe die for his country, shouldn't he also be allowed to vote?

Michigan voters give their answer in the Nov. 8 elections, voting on a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in that state from 21 to 18.

ONLY FOUR states now have a minimum voting age below 21. In Georgia and Kentucky it is 18, in Alaska 19 and in Hawaii 20.

The proposed Michigan amendment is one of several hundred questions to go before voters in various states in November, either as constitutional amendments or referenda. Nearly all states have one or more issues on the ballot.

Also in the field of voting laws are questions arising from the increasingly mobile nature of the United States population.

One result of this shifting about is that on election day, thousands are unable either to vote in the state they left or to meet the residence requirements of the state they have moved into.

FLORIDA will vote on a proposal to amend its one-year residence requirement to allow otherwise qualified persons who have moved into the state to vote in national but not in state and local elections. The state reports its population increased by 2,000 persons a week last year.

North Dakota has up for decision a proposal to let new residents vote for president and

Hal Boyle Small Girl, Big Voice

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to figure whether Petula Clark was born—or minted.

Every time the teeny-weeny strawberry blonde British singer lifts her voice in song she makes echoes in the bank.

She sang first at the age of 7, and a quarter of a century later she has become a one-woman international hit parade. She has sold 25 million records throughout the world, more than any other woman vocalist in history.

"I'd really rather not think about it—it makes me sound like a factory or a sausage machine," said Petula.

"I'm very much interested in the artistic side of music, and leave the rest to others."

WEARYING of being called "the English Shirley Temple," Miss Clark moved to France and became an instant success there. A multilingualist, she has had top-selling records in Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Holland and Italy. During her present three-month night club tour in this country, she also will be featured on variety programs over the three major U.S. television networks.

Petula is pretty, petite and perturbed, but not at all petulant, prissy, or pontifical. She is perturbed by her size. She has a big, big voice but she is only 5 feet 2 and weighs only 108. And although she is the mother of two daughters, even in a mink wrap she still looks like a little girl who has lost her teddy bear.

"I have a complex about being so small," she admitted. "I have a feeling that when people meet me, they are disappointed. Because I have a big voice, they expect me to be a big person."

Her husband-manager is Claud Wolff, a French recording executive.

Petula isn't sure just how she should be classified musically.

"MY MOTHER was Welsh, and all the Welsh are natural singers. She never had a lesson, but she taught me."

"I don't think of myself as a rock 'n' roll singer. I have a rocking mezzo-soprano voice, I suppose, if there is any way to describe it at all."

"I like to sing modern popular music. But Barbra Streisand is a pop singer, too, and we're not at all alike."

"Trying to put people in little boxes is rather dangerous. Petula suffers from 'spotlight terror' before each performance, but feels "this nervousness is necessary to me—as a kind of stimulant."

"I am more me on stage sometimes than in real life. It is a marvelous kind of therapy."

To Your Good Health Letters From Teenage Readers

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: I am 13, weigh 140, and am 5 feet 4. How much should I reduce? I'm willing, I love to eat.

How can I get rid of beauty marks and moles on my arms, neck and back?

How often should I wash my hair? Mine is dry. — GIRL NEEDS HELP AT 13.

You might as well learn the awful truth. People who love to eat are rather certain to be too heavy unless they exercise more, reduce their diet and avoid foods that are extremely high in calories.

I get about a bushel of letters every week from grownups who think there's some way to eat all they want of rich foods, not bother with exercise, and still not get fat.

It takes some will power but people can learn to eat less and like it—and stay thin.

The only way to get rid of moles is to let your doctor do it. Just removing a mole is a simple office job. If it's in a very prominent place where a small scar will be objectionable, I suggest either a dermatologist or a plastic surgeon.

Wash your hair when it gets dirty. Once a week or so should be plenty. Use a shampoo that is made for dry hair, to replace some of the oils.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 17-year-old boy who is well past puberty. I can't understand why some of my organs are so undeveloped. What do you suggest?—M. M.

It seems as though hardly a week goes by that I don't get this question, and not only from teenagers. Yet the fact remains that almost never is there anything really worth worrying about. It's just a common self-doubt.

I'm sure it will make you feel better to consult your doctor. He will keep the visit strictly confidential.

Dear Dr. Molner: If one lipoma tumor is removed will many more appear? Are they dangerous if not operated upon? —G. C.

More lipomas (fatty tumors) may appear but not because of removal of one. Some people are more inclined to have this trouble than others. No, they are not dangerous. They are removed only if they are large enough to be a nuisance or to mar one's appearance.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease of young people. To learn more about it, send in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Mononucleosis," enclosing with your request a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim Double Trouble

I don't remember when we first told David that we got him free for Raleigh coupons.

I think, though, it's probably made a lasting impression on his 10-year-old mind.

DAVID IS one of my kid brothers. The other one, Douglas, is his twin. Together they're walking disaster.

Doug has always pretty well been able to fend for himself. But poor Dave—no matter how high he may climb a tree with the other kids, he's at the bottom of the pile when they all tumble down.

For twins, they're exact opposites, not only in looks, but in everything they do.

GIVE DAVE a mechanical toy, and 10 minutes later, he'll have it strewn in sections across the floor—tearing it up, not mischievously but curiously because he wants to see how it works. But then he's got a problem on his hands—he can't put it back together.

Doug? Well, he can't tear anything down, but he can come along right behind Dave and put everything together again—just so.

Brothers are a pest at any time, let's face it. But twins? Just think of it—sisters have twice as much to lose in the way of jewelry, cologne, stockings, boy friends' pictures, and sometimes, boy friends.

EVER SEE that old cartoon where Sis and her beau are seated nonchalantly on the living room sofa and Kid Brother is peeking out from around the corner—almost always with his hand out? Would you believe, two kid brothers?

Did you ever try to watch a romantic movie with your kid brothers? The hero and heroine have finally found each other after many years and tears well in their eyes. Then the touching silence in the theatre is broken by a disgusted "Aw, mush" from the left aisle, followed by snickers—and guffaws.

TRY TO explain the fine points of grammar to a kid brother whose vocabulary consists of "c'mon, youse guys, I'm gonna clobber ya."

Invite a V.I.P. girl friend to your home—and what awaits you? Two grubby looking faces, usually smeared from chocolate bars or gooey cookies; two pairs of ragamuffin trousers and two undershirts Mother threw away in the last closet-cleaning (which were promptly confiscated and worn by two stubborn little wretches); and of course, "Hey, Sis, look what the cat drug in!" or some other polite phraseology.

BUT TELL them you're getting married—and suddenly you've got on your hands two sobbing little boys who won't have anyone to "pester" if you leave; who plot and scheme and save their candy pennies to buy you—what else—a candy dish; and who labor over an elaborately crayoned note that reads, "We love you, Sis."

Twin brothers? Every girl should have them—but only one pair.—
 JERRY MONSON

Holmes Alexander The Story In Alabama Is Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — No political race this year is fraught with more significance, is wrapped in such mystique, is more difficult to explain or more agonizing to predict, is so ominous for both major parties and so ethnic in orientation as the contest for the governorship of Alabama. And no political contest in the nation can be so curiously summarized. One word will do it. That word is Wallace.

GOV. WALLACE is all. He is the significance. This energetic, articulate, resourceful, economy-sized maestro of politics—a compact model LBJ in many ways—has been making five speeches a day since last July for two purposes. One is to keep himself in power in Alabama by getting his wife elected to the governorship. The other is to energize a third political party with himself as its dynamo and to have a lot to say about who is elected President of the United States in 1968 or shortly thereafter.

GEORGE WALLACE is the mystique. He is a spell-binding contradiction. He has lost every fight which he has picked with the federal government, but the people here are convinced that he has come off the winner. He has found a way to evade the State Constitution's ban on two consecutive terms by running his wife in his stead, but his followers say that he will head a national party to restore and preserve the American Constitution. He inveighs against "socialism" and big government spending, but his state administration is flush with welfare services. He ran up Alabama's indebtedness from $258,347,000 to $503,010,000 in less than four years. Virtually every daily newspaper in Alabama calls him a poor governor, yet Lurleen Wallace won endorsement by 55 per cent in the Democratic primary, beating two former governors, two former congressmen and the attorney general. Wallace is an incredible man, but his credibility rating is top with the people. If you ask how he gets away with it all, nobody knows.

HOW TO EXPLAIN the election campaign? Congressman James Martin, the Republican candidate, is 48, as handsome as a portrait, a proved vote-getter who barely missed being elected U.S. Senator in 1962. He has a sound program for improving the state and is the last chance in sight for stopping Wallace from becoming a modern Huey Long. Against Martin is Mrs. Lurleen Wallace, a pleasant lady of no political attainment and running on the preposterous platform of paying her husband $1 a year to manage the state if she's elected.

WALLACE IS a fateful figure for both the major parties. They are vulnerable, heaven knows, and it is their failure to be forceful, to be different, to be productive of big figures that has brought Wallace to the fore. The governor's correspondence is nationwide. His following among office-holders and office-seekers in faraway states approaches that of Robert Kennedy. Unless Jim Martin pulls an unpredictable surprise, and if Wallace can finance a campaign on the order of John F. Kennedy's in 1960, there may be some strange happenings in the presidential primaries of 1968.

WALLACE HAS mounted the ethnic hurricane, the one that is tossing Negroes and whites into conflict, but paradoxically he is not a racist. The national Negro leaders certainly hate Wallace as a symbol of resistance to their revolution, but it is conceded here that his effervescent personality and welfare programs will get him many Negro votes.

In Alabama today, all is Wallace. How it will be in America tomorrow is no laughing matter. With the gods departing, we've got to expect the demigods.

Marquis Childs Save Our Cities—Or Else

WASHINGTON — For the New Left it is a contemptible too little that cannot save a decaying social order. For the New Right it is a blatant handout too late to rescue a crumbling administration.

In the widening gap between these two extremes the demonstration cities bill may be lost. Its ardent backers would hardly deny it is too little. Taken at face value it is in the first phase a poultice of planning applied to a hodgepodge of existing housing and other programs that have demonstrably failed to cure the ills of the great cities.

YET ANYONE who in recent months has talked with the mayors of many of these cities, as this reporter has, knows how desperate they feel the need is. The measure authorizes $24,000,000 for planning an attack on each city's problems and $900,000,000 to be spent over two years to start carrying out those plans. The vote in the House on the bill already passed by the Senate, coming at the tail end of the session, means at best a narrow squeak.

AS THE MAYORS readily say in private, survival during the past summer, with rioting that could be brought under control, does not mean survival next summer or the summer after that. The ghettos will not stay barricaded in the fashion of apartheid in South Africa no matter how efficient the police force.

The New Left of the Stokely Carmichaels and the furious dissidents in California may be a passing phenomenon. Other radical movements have risen and fallen in times of stress. But those who profess to be troubled about the integrity of the two-party system cannot be so confident about the New Right.

BARRY GOLDWATER'S achievement, lost sight of in the hurricane of votes that overwhelmed him, was to move the whole political spectrum to the right. Lyndon Johnson hardly needed to extend himself in claiming new and advanced positions. Now, both with and without Goldwater's help, the New Right is consolidating its position.

In Missouri, for example, a conservative party is forming, outwardly spurning the kooks and wild-eyed fanatics, with one major objective in view. That is to get the necessary 18,000 signatures to put Gov. George Wallace of Alabama on the ballot in the Presidential election of 1968. The same thing is happening in other Border and Northern states.

THIS IS THE shadow cast by the New Right — they have a candidate who knows how to exploit the discontent and frustrations beneath the surface of politics as usual. Were it not for this fact the New Right might also be discounted as a passing phenomenon.

Critics on the left cite the terrifying logic of the ever-increasing cost of the Viet Nam war squeezing out hope for an attack on the decay of the cities. When groups such as the Columbia University Conference on National Priorities put forward estimates of $76 billion a year as essential to stop the decay and make the cities livable, what is contained in the demonstration bill suggests using a teaspoon to bail out the ocean. For those who want to find justification for saying a plague on both your houses this will serve as an excuse.

BUT WITH a small beginning, so the backers of the measure believe, it will be possible to come back to Congress and show what can and must be done. Planning under the measure will provide the foundation on which federal, state and city can build on a cooperative basis.

You'll feel nine feet tall!

When you give the United Way you can be proud—real proud. You have proved that your concern for your community is both real and continuing. You know that all through the year your one gift will work many wonders because the people-serving agencies that share it won't have to take time out for separate appeals. You give life, you give love, you give hope when you give your fair share to the United Way.

Midland Bulldogs Are Hosts To Longhorns

Coach Herman Smith takes his Big Spring High School football show on the road tonight, ringing up the curtain in Midland where the going has always been sticky for the locals. The Longhorns and their hosts, the Midland Bulldogs, take to the field at 8 p.m. In the past, Midland has never warmed up to the Big Spring press clippings. It likely will be that way tonight. Midland is coming off a Lost Weekend, having been routed by San Angelo last Friday night, 36-0. The Bulldogs, if they are anything like past Midland clubs, don't take kindly to such treatment. Harold King, the ringmaster of the Midland circus, always coaches the type of clubs that gives Big Spring the most trouble. The Bulldogs will run a lot of trap plays and when they're pulled in the defenses will start bombing them with aerial deringido. Big Spring is off to a better start than anyone had dared hope. The Steers blew their opener to Lamesa, 15-0, in an exercise of futility but since have done right well by themselves. Over-all, they are 3-1. Midland has a fine interior line. For that reason, Big Spring doesn't figure to run up the middle with much success. The locals likely will have to go outside or go overhead or both. Midland has a fine fliker in Paul Lyons, good receivers in Larry Pipkin, Domingo Valencia and Don Spain and a speed merchant in Kenneth Dodson. The Bulldogs looked great

Michigan Bids For Rose Bowl Engagement

By The Associated Press
For Michigan, the football season does not begin until Saturday, but if the late start is successful, it could mean the Wolverines will be playing in January — in the Rose Bowl. Michigan actually has played four games, losing two, including a 20-7 defeat by Michigan State, but the Wolverines hopes for a bowl bid are tied to their clash Saturday with Purdue, another bowl hopeful. "As far as the team's concerned," says quarterback Dick Vidmer, "this year's season begins Saturday." "We're still in this thing to go to the Rose Bowl," said line-backer Frank Nunley. "If we beat Purdue, we think Michigan State can beat them, too. We have to win all the rest, though." Michigan and Purdue are the most serious of the Rose Bowl contenders, although Michigan State, ranked No. 1 in the country, is the pick to grab the conference championship. But the Spartans went to the bowl last year and are ineligible this season. Purdue, No. 9, is 1-0 in the conference and Michigan 0-1, but the Boiler-makers must meet the Spartans a week from Saturday. The meeting is not the only one Saturday that could lead to a bowl bid. Alabama, ranked third and gunning for a third straight national championship, opposes probably its toughest competition in Tennessee, which has eyes on the Tide's Southeast Conference crown. Ken Stapler, the nation's hottest passer with 25 completions in 32 tries for 248 yards and five touchdowns, will try to crack the Volunteer defense that has allowed only nine points on three field goals. Tennessee also can throw with Dewey Warren, who has completed 47 of 76 passes for 538 yards and five scores.

Goliad Teams In Two Ties

SNYDER—Big Spring Goliad came from behind twice to tie Snyder Travis, 20-20, in a ninth grade football game here Thursday night. The deadlock left the Mavericks with a 4-1-1 record. They play in Sweetwater next Thursday night. Tommy Ryan scored all 20 points for the Mavericks. Travis took the lead early, running up a 12-0 advantage. Ryan raced 80 yards on a kickoff for one TD that was nullified by a clipping penalty. In the second period, Gary Hughes passed to Ryan for 30 yards and Goliad's first touchdown. It was 12-6 at half time. The first time Goliad had the ball in the third quarter, the Mavericks scored on a drive, with Ryan going over from three yards out. When he made the two extra points on a run, Big Spring led, 14-12. With about 90 seconds to go in the game, a pass interference call was made against Goliad that put the ball on the Maverick one, from which point Travis went on over. When Travis converted for two points

NFL Spotlight Is On Cards, Dallas

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The fired-up Dallas Cowboys, with quarterback Don Meredith stoking their air-minded offense, challenge St. Louis for the National Football League's Eastern Conference lead Sunday in a battle of unbeatens.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When Texas Western College held the University of New Mexico without a touchdown in their meeting a week ago Saturday, it was the first time in 14 games under coach Bobby Dobbs the Miners had kept the opposition away from the goal line. TWC won the game, 51-3. Big Spring's Jack Irons is now head freshman coach at the El Paso school. The frosh are currently known as the Burros. They formerly were called the Ore Diggers. Irons, who is a brother to SMU's Dick Irons and Mike Irons of the local team, is assisted by Harrison Gamble and Curt Parsons, who played for TWC in 1965.

Mercurial Bob Hayes and Dan Reeves, the NFL's leading scorer with 48 points, are Meredith's favorite targets and the veteran quarterback has pitched for 14 touchdowns, tops in the league. The Cardinals, who have won five straight, have rallied after half time in four of their victories. Billy Gambrell has been quarterback Charley Johnson's top receiver lately with four touchdowns in the last three games. But Sonny Randle and Bobby Joe Conrad are just as dangerous.

Bob Measells Quits Squad

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech will begin basketball workouts Monday with five returning lettermen from last season. Guard Billy Tapp, 6-5 senior from Lubbock Monterey, is the lone 1965-66 starter expected to report.

Meredith runs the NFL's most explosive offense. The Cowboys lead the league with 183 points in four games — an average of 45.8 per game. They have scored 10 of their 25 touchdowns from farther than 20 yards out.

Bland and Kansas City's Len Dawson lead the AFL with 13 touchdown passes, four more than New York's Joe Namath. But the high-priced Jet pitcher buried five of his TDs against the Oilers in that first game.

Star's Wife Wins Florida Decree

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams, Hall of Fame baseball star who made $100,000 a year before retirement from the Boston Red Sox in 1960, has been divorced by his wife Lee, a former model. Williams, 48, did not contest the decision, handed down in Dade County Circuit Court Thursday. He waited throughout the hearing in his lawyer's office. Judge Harvie Duval awarded the 41-year-old Mrs. Williams $50,000 plus $10,000 in attorney fees. She testified Williams made life unbearable by constantly criticizing her with profane language during their five years of marriage.

YOUR
Horoscope Forecast

For Today and Monday
By Carroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The FBI as well as any investigative agencies and those with whom one can find out the mysterious can find out whatever they have in mind—and it is equally important that you use this weekend to find out just where you stand with others as well as clarifying your own intentions. You can be shrewd in making decisions, too.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Go over your obligations carefully and see which need payment quickly and how to make arrangements to carry through with others. Ease up on your credit. Be most devoted to loved one tonight. Find solace.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A little kindly conference with partners who have not been very cooperative for some time will clear up misunderstanding quickly. Find out what they think. They act sensibly toward all allies, even those in personal life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study what tasks are ahead of you and then give right into them with enthusiasm. Get all cleared up quickly. Be sure you do something that will improve your health, such as taking exercise, having proper diet planned, etc.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) It is up to you to entertain friends who are worthy today, so step out and do just that and have a wonderful time to boot. Seek pleasure enjoyable to all. Forget the worries of the work week.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Many improvements can be made at home if you get the approval and assistance of those dwelling with you. Get rid of whatever is obsolete and takes up valuable space. Don't hang onto old clothes, either.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you know in your own mind what it is you truly desire, you can go after your goals in a positive and practical way. Dress in good taste. Then off to see the persons who hold the key to your greater success, happiness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Get out of those tasks that require you to be patient and precise, since you are just in that kind of mood today. Then make plans hastily and energetically for casting some good friend. Be very thoughtful, kind.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to accomplish almost anything you like this day, so get out to the right places, see the right people. Your closest ties are interested in your activities. Talk to them and get new ideas, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A day to sport that flair for Sherlock Holmes type of work and uncover much that has been most puzzling to you in the past. Find right channel to follow for future success. Discuss with higher-up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a good idea to prefer closest ties that will benefit all of you now. Then have a good time together. Be joyful. You need to get out for a good time so that you clear your thinking processes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to contact these higher-ups if you go to golf courses, club meetings, etc. where they are apt to be. State aims clearly. Enjoy sports as well and you start an uptrend very quickly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Look for new interests and outlets this Saturday instead of going to the same haunts, and improve your way of living. Developing career. Make a year business to meet the persons you admire, can be helpful to you.
