Flames shoot through roof of building during a five-alarm fire that involved three commercial buildings in downtown Manhattan early this morning. The bodies of six firemen were found in the rubble with six

Six Firemen Killed In Gotham Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Three aging buildings in an historic corner of downtown Manhattan billowed with flame and choking fumes today in a blaze that may have brought death to 12 firemen — the greatest single loss of life in the department's 101 years of operation.

Six firemen were killed and six others were feared dead, and 17 were injured in the basement of a three-story building on Broadway, just south of Madison Square and across the street from the Flatiron Building, the city's first skyscraper.

The collapse of four floors in the buildings, said to be 75 years old, heaped a "huge mass of debris" upon the lost firemen, said Fire Commissioner Robert O. Lowery.

"So it's going to be slow and tedious, this business of spotting the firemen and recovering their bodies," he said.

Are There People Accident Prone?

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Are there people who are accident prone? Sure there are.

According to an expert in the field, you are one of them.

Dr. Orswell Fine, assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Kentucky, explains that everybody can be accident prone under certain pressures.

For example: Just before leaving for work, a man finds out that he is overdrawn at the bank. While driving his car, his mind is centered on money matters, not traffic. He is an accident looking for a place to happen.

OUTSIDE WORLD "We're made vulnerable at certain times during our lives, too, such as times of transition, change or stress," Fine said.

"For example, when a student leaves school and goes into the outside world."

"There are people who by their very character invite accidents," Fine told business and industry representatives Monday at a discussion sponsored by a local mental health group.

Generally, he said, these people fall into one or more of these categories:

SELF-PUNISHMENT —Those seeking self-punishment. This might be a person who has committed what he or she felt was a great wrong and subconsciously wants to punish himself or herself for it.

—Those seeking self-injury to ward off disaster. Fine used an example of a student headed for an examination he knows he will fail. An auto accident will keep him from getting there.

—Those seeking care or pity. Fine noted that a plain-looking secretary who has been injured in an accident receives flowers and attention from men who otherwise might not notice her.

—Those who have very low self-esteem. "They say they're not much good and, whammo, drive over a cliff to prove their point," Fine said.

—Those fascinated by escape from injury in a previous accident. They seem to think they're indestructible.

LBJ Says No New Viet War Strategy Expected

HONOLULU (AP)—President Johnson headed out over the Pacific today on his first overseas trip as chief executive. He left Honolulu at 7:33 a.m. (1:33 p.m. EDT), on a 4,780-mile flight to New Zealand, with a short stop enroute at American Samoa.

Later he will visit Australia, Manila for the summit conference on Viet Nam, Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea, on his 17-day, 29,000-mile journey to six nations.

He is still five days from Manila for the conference he insists will produce neither new strategy for the war in Viet Nam nor a spectacular peace formula.

The President and his wife got a rousing reception Monday in Honolulu. Tens of thousands—many of them young people—jammed miles of downtown streets in a friendly colorful greeting. The state's delighted Democratic governor, John A. Burns, gave an unrestrained crowd estimate of 400,000.

TYPICAL FASHION Johnson responded in typical fashion, hopping out of his car at least a score of times to shake hands and, when staying inside, shouting through loudspeakers mounted inside the trunk, "Aloha, good to see you."

Even while reveling in the welcome, however, the President made clear his attention was on Manila and the Viet Nam war.

In two formal speeches in Hawaii, he went out of his way to discourage high hopes for his Oct. 24-25 meeting in the Philippines with leaders of six other countries fighting alongside the United States in Viet Nam.

At the East-West Center on the University of Hawaii campus, with several score antiwar placards hoisted above the crowd, Johnson said:

NO MAGICAL WANDS "I want my fellow countrymen to know that we are taking with us no magical wands and no instant solution."

Earlier, arriving at Honolulu International Airport, Johnson discarded much of his prepared speech and read another which said:

"We do not expect to pull any rabbits out of any hats at Manila."

Without getting specific, Johnson said, "Some have predicted that this or that will happen in Manila." He said that some have forecast the sessions will produce "a new strategy of war or come forth with some spectacular formula for peace."

NO COMMENT Johnson will be the first American president to visit American Samoa, a group of tiny islands in the South Seas

Quake In Peru Death Toll Nears 100 Mark Tidal Wave Fear Eases

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The death toll from a violent earthquake along Peru's central coast climbed toward 100 today, but tidal waves generated by the earth shock diminished as they rolled across the Pacific.

Hawaii, where President Johnson was spending the first night of his Asian tour, was put on a tidal wave alert with sirens sounding a warning every hour. Only a minor wave reached Hawaii's shores and the alert was called off.

High seas along the Peruvian coast went down during the night.

1,000 INJURED Unofficial reports told of 83 dead in Peru from the quake, at least 1,000 injured and unknown numbers homeless, but the count was far from complete. Many persons spent the night in the streets.

The severe quake, 7.6 on a scale with a maximum of 9, rocked and terrorized the coastal area for about a minute and a half Monday afternoon.

WOMEN PRAY Thousands ran screaming into the streets, village plazas and other open areas as buildings shook and crumbled. Women knelt in prayer while brick and wood cascaded around them.

Peruvian Adm. A. Simec said all available information on the massive wave triggered by the quake had been sent to Hawaiian officials. He said the wave was building as it crossed the Pacific.

TRAFFIC JAM Unofficial reports listed 19 dead in Lima, 32 in Callao, the port seven miles to the west of the Peruvian capital 27 in Huacho, three in Puente Piedra, one in Zapallal and one in Cerro Gordo. Officials predicted the toll would go higher.

The quake's epicenter was located at sea off Chancay, said a seismologist. The tremor struck just before the evening rush hour, causing a giant traffic jam in Lima, and was felt north to Ecuador and south to Chile.

In 1940, an earthquake killed 200 persons in Peru and injured 5,000. A quake which hit Peru and Ecuador in 1868 killed 25,000 persons.

TIDAL WAVE IS MONSTER The tidal wave, or tsunami, is a sea monster that can stalk the ocean at speeds up to 500 miles an hour.

Today, fear of tidal waves generated alarms across thousands of miles of coastal areas on the Pacific basin — with good reason. A wave can strike as if from a calm ocean, but leave in its wake battering ram destruction of life and property.

The deadly wave usually starts near undersea earthquakes and can travel thousands of miles across the ocean to batter far distant shores. Authorities say waves can range from a few inches in height to over 100 feet.

The New York Daily News reported from Saigon that it had been told the President would visit U.S. troops in Viet Nam on his way from Manila to Thailand. The report said preliminary planning of arrangements and security measures had begun.

The President's party refused to comment on the report.

Civil Rights Leader Beaten To Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The violent death of Dr. Robert W. Spike, a nationally prominent churchman, educator and civil rights leader, remained shrouded in mystery today.

An unexplained layover here Monday ended in the bludgeoning slaying of the former executive director of the National Council of Church's Commission on Religion and Race at a time Spike originally had planned to be back in Chicago teaching divinity students.

Dr. Spike, 43, a ministry professor at the University of Chicago, had said he would take an early morning flight back after delivering Sunday's dedication speech for the United Christian Center a half-block from the Ohio State University campus.

HELPED DEDICATE Coroner Robert A. Evans said Dr. Spike evidently died at about noon Monday.

The body, clad only in a green raincoat, was found by a custodian about 1:30 p.m. in a guest room of the building he had helped dedicate.

Dr. Spike's skull had been smashed by at least two blows, the coroner said, with a weapon that may have been a claw hammer penetrating four inches in one spot.

The minister lay beside the guestroom bed, face up on the floor near his neatly placed shoes and socks. His suit was in a nearby closet, his underclothing hung on the bathroom doorknob.

MYSTERY MOTIVE Mystery continued to dominate the case today, including any motive for the crime.

Could it have been robbery? Prosecutor C. Howard Johnson said only $5 was found in Dr. Spike's belongings, highly unusual for a man of the victim's status on an out-of-town trip.

Could it have been connected with the minister's civil rights activities? He received dozens of threats over this, commented Dr. Jerald C. Brauer, dean of the Divinity School at the University of Chicago.

WEAPON MISSING Could his killer have been the same unknown person who fatally shot Loren E. Bollinger, 40, Ohio State University rocket scientist, last May? Circumstances were similar in some respects. Bollinger was slain in a small room of his downtown office, and police said they weren't discounting a possible connection.

Viet Cong Cut Loose With Terror Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong cut loose today with terrorists attacks from Saigon to the northern border area. The U.S. command announced resumption of air attacks on the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

In five grenade, mine and shooting attacks, terrorists took at least eight lives and wounded 62 persons, including five U.S. servicemen.

In one attack, mines derailed a train. In another, a grenade in a movie house killed or wounded 51 Vietnamese.

MONSOON HITS The U.S. air bombardment of North Viet Nam was sharply reduced Monday for the third straight day by monsoon rainstorms. But U.S. headquarters reported nine bombing missions against Communist positions in the demilitarized zone, including one against a storage area on the eastern end of the zone.

This was the first U.S. strike east of Highway One since the American command last Friday said it might end the bombing pause it had called in the eastern sector two weeks before.

U.S. B52 bombers staged two raids in South Viet Nam Monday night. The giant planes returned for a third day to bomb suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations in the central highlands 35 miles southwest of Kontum City. Other eight-engine bombers hit at a small scale, with only scattered engagements reported.

The largest of the terror attacks was a grenade thrown into a movie theater in Quang Tri City, provincial capital of South Viet Nam's northernmost province. Vietnamese headquarters reported six civilians were killed and 45 wounded.

Terrorists mined a train this morning 31 miles northeast of Saigon, derailling the locomotive and three freight cars and wounding the engineer.

charge parallel to each other and about a mile apart.

SUPPLY RUNS OUT If a flow of positively charged water droplets begins moving from the positive mass into the negative mass, he said, this usually forces a counterflow of negative droplets as the two masses are mutually attracted. The counterflowing streams may begin to whirl faster and faster, building rotational speeds as high as 500 miles an hour, according to Rossow's theory. The tornado whirls its destructive path until the charged particle supply runs out.

Tornado Killer Plan Proposed

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Stopping tornadoes by electrocution is proposed by a scientist who does it with laboratory models.

The theory — untested yet on a real tornado — calls for a cannon to fire many wire-wound projectiles into the tornado cloud, stretching a thin wire two miles or more between positive and negative clouds.

LIGHTNING BOLT A resulting lightning bolt theoretically would short out and neutralize the electric field in the clouds which created the tornado, explained Dr. Vernon J. Rossow of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center, Moffett Field, Calif., in a paper today at the 12th Weather Radar Conference at the University of Oklahoma.

After four years of study of storm-cloud forces, Rossow concludes that tornadoes are produced by two large cloud masses of positive and negative

Antique Show Dates Are Fixed

The 14th annual fall Lubbock Antique Show and sale, Oct. 28, 29, 30, will, for the first time, feature rare old musical instruments, early coin operated music boxes of the Western "gay 90's" era, Swiss music boxes and a square grand piano.

The show will be held in the Texas National Guard Armory 2901 4th Street, Lubbock. Hours on Friday and Saturday will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Also featured will be one of the newest forms of collection and one that particularly appeals to Westerners. Collecting barbed wire now threatens to surpass the collecting of bottles in this area and interest in collecting wire is increasing every day. Over 30 different kinds of early wire will be offered as well as books on barbed wire and other categories of antiques.

Television Game Shows Bounce Back In Style

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television game shows, like fashions in clothes, move in cycles and if you can hang on to an idea long enough, it is bound to turn up in style again. That fine childhood game, tic-tac-toe, again is the basis of a day-time diversion.

Seven years ago, NBC abruptly dumped a show called "Tic Tac Dough" amid the uproar surrounding the great quiz show scandal. Monday morning a half-hour show was born on NBC called "Hollywood Squares." The inspiration once again was the familiar parlor game with its circles and crosses.

NINE SQUARES
Nine television personalities — you can't have a game show without television celebrities — occupy the nine squares in which the game is played. One of two audience contestants — these are mandatory, too — picks his star and the smiling host fires a question at the celebrity who must make some answer, preferably funny. Somehow these answers are turned into circles or crosses.

Sample questions included such subjects as George Washington's teeth, Noah's age and the method used by Eskimo women to soften leather.

It is a cut above some of the day-time truck masquerading as entertainment, but there must be some better way to use a half-hour.

Earlier on the network came the debut of "The Pat Boone Show." This one tries to crowd into a half hour the ingredients of the more leisurely music-and-talk programs.

Deputies Testify Accused Slayer Dressed As Woman

By PAUL RECER

KARNES CITY, Tex. (AP) — The trial jury of Johnny Rudy Enriquez was told Monday the accused slayer of five persons dressed as a woman in trying to escape capture last April. Enriquez, 19, of Corpus Christi was wearing women's blue jeans, a blouse, tennis shoes, scarf, bra and make-up when arrested, two deputy sheriffs testified. But a freshly shaved moustache gave him away, they said.

The youth is charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Kay Foss, 22, Beeville housewife, who was shot in the head and thrown from a car near Helena.

SLAYING SPREE
He also has been indicted for murder in the slayings of Highway Patrolman Darvin Hogg, Enriquez' former girlfriend, Victoria Perez, 21, her brother, Fernando, 24, and her father, Francisco, 65, who farmed near Corpus Christi.

Officers said the April 25 slaying spree started when Enriquez plans to marry Miss Perez were changed by her. Jesse Taylor and Raleigh Blackwell, DeWitt County sheriff's deputies, testified Monday they sought out Enriquez on a Cuero street after a barber, Burgess Davis, told them of seeing a man posing as a woman.

WORE MAKE-UP
"I noticed he had been freshly shaved and he could tell he had had a moustache," Taylor testified. "He had make-up on his face . . . he didn't look like any woman."

After pulling the scarf from Enriquez' head, Taylor said, he realized the youth fitted the description broadcast of a man sought in the highway patrolman's slaying.

Hogg was gunned down after stopping a motorist north of Stockdale.

Taylor said a .357 Magnum pistol was found in one of three sacks Enriquez was carrying. Capt. N. R. Smith of the highway patrol identified the pistol as belonging to Hogg.

Another deputy sheriff, Willard Worthington, said he found a .22 caliber pistol in another sack, as well as a man's gray suit, a razor and other men's clothing.

Patrol Leaders To Get Training
An orientation meeting for Scout patrol leaders will be held Wednesday at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. as a preliminary effort before the Junior Leader Training Course begins Saturday, Nov. 5. Sammy Jones, who was in training at the Philmont Scout Ranch last summer, will be the main instructor, and other qualified patrol leaders will assist. William McRee, district scout executive, has urged all leaders to become acquainted with this "ground floor" session.

TEXANS VOTE NOV. 8

Regional Airport Issue Discussed

(Editor's Note: Texans vote Nov. 8 on two constitutional amendments that proponents say could have lasting importance to the state's mushrooming metropolitan areas. The pros and cons on the regional airport and government functions consolidation amendments are outlined below.)

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas voters decide next month whether they want local governments to be free to join together to provide some of the services needed by metropolitan areas as a whole.

Two of the 16 proposed constitutional amendments on the Nov. 8 ballot deal with this problem, which the 1967 Legislature is certain to debate at further length.

Dallas, Fort Worth and Harris County (Houston) are affected most immediately and directly by the amendments, but other cities and counties are likely to follow.

The amendments in their order on the ballot, are:
—No. 2, authorizing one or more counties to create regional airport authorities with taxing power up to 75 cents per $100 of assessed value on taxable property.

CONSOLIDATION
—No. 13, allowing political subdivisions in counties of 1.2 million or more to consolidate certain government functions or contract with one another for their performance.

Each amendment would require a law passed by the legislature as well as voter approval in the localities concerned to take full effect.

Dallas and Fort Worth compromised in their battle over designation of their regional airport to get the airport amendment through the legislature and before the voters.

The amendment would require a majority decision by taxing voters in each county concerned to set up an authority. But if one county approved and another rejected a proposed authority, the county endorsing the proposal could form an authority by itself.

Participating counties would have proportional representation, according to population, on an authority's board of directors.

Airport authorities could issue bonds to buy, build or repair airports and related facilities. They would be required to assume any outstanding bonds against publicly owned airports they acquired.

PETITION
Elections to create airport authorities would be held on petition of five per cent of the qualified taxing voters in the affected counties.

Backers say regional authorities are needed to administer regional airports recommended in the Federal Airport Act. They also contend that an authority would spread the costs of running an airport more evenly over the area served and would give those who pay for and use the airport fair representation in its management.

Opponents argue that authorities would add to the burdens of taxpayers. In areas which already have numerous local government entities, including other special districts, addition of compound an already bewildering situation, they contend. Further, they argue, multi-county airports might be located at inconvenient distances from major counties.

TAX SAVINGS
The consolidation amendment affects only Harris County now, but the 1.2 million population limit on its application eventually may take in such other urban areas as Tarrant, Dallas and Bexa counties.

By majority vote, municipalities and other local governments within a county could set up a common public health department or library system. The county and local governments within it could contract with one another for certain functions without an election.

Advocates say the amendment could result in large tax savings and would encourage planning and coordination to meet the needs of growing areas.

Opponents fear small towns and rural areas within a county would be outvoted by large communities in consolidation elections. They also believe counties might assume expensive responsibilities for services primarily to cities, thus raising the countywide tax burden unfairly.

Electric Engineers To Get Charter
The Permian Basin section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers will receive its charter in a meeting to be held at the Sands Motor Hotel in Midland this evening at 6:30. Presenting the charter will be Dr. Carl R. Wischmeyer, professor of electrical engineering at Rice University, who serves as regional director for the organization. Dr. Wischmeyer will deliver an address entitled "Holland — High Point of the Low Countries" in which he will discuss his experiences as a professor at the Technological University at Eindhoven, Holland.

His attorney, John V. Snee, told Allegheny County Common Pleas Court that Nelson's body has undergone changes.

Nelson is the father of a boy and a girl. His wife divorced him this year. A hearing on the petition was set for Nov. 17 by Judge John P. Hester.

DEAR ABBY

Too Close For Comfort

DEAR ABBY: The other night one of the fellows who works with my husband dropped by unexpectedly with his family. They have a 16-year-old daughter (I'll call her "Jane") who is the age of our oldest daughter. "Jane" spent the entire evening sitting on the arm of my husband's chair.

She had her arm around him, fooling with his hair, playfully fishing in his shirt pockets and generally playing up to him. I was horrified as my children watched this exhibition. Jane's parents acted as though they thought it was cute. When they left I was white with anger.

I will say my husband didn't discourage her either. We can't avoid seeing these people, but I can't take another evening like that one. How can it be avoided without causing hard feelings?

HORRIFIED MOTHER DEAR HORRIFIED: The girl's mother should have taught her daughter long ago to find playmates her own age. But now that your husband knows how "Jane" behaves, he should good-humoredly keep her at arm's length. No grown man has to put up with that kind of nonsense unless he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter (I'll call her Pam) is being married this Christmas and we are planning to give her a lovely big church wedding. Her older sister (I'll call her Sue) was married eight years ago at a very simple wedding because that was all we could afford at the time.

Our problem is that well-meaning relatives have tipped us off that Sue is very hurt because SHE didn't get anywhere near the kind of wedding we are planning for Pam, and we would be wise to hold down the wedding a bit for Sue's sake. Now I am really torn. I love both girls equally and don't want hard feelings in the family. What do you think? TORN

DEAR TORN: More hard feelings are caused from "tips" from well-meaning relatives than by just blundering along and doing the best you can with no inside information. Give Pam the best wedding you can afford. That's what you did for Sue.

Northrop Man Will Address Webb Grads

Daniel Darnell Jr., manager of customer relations with Northrop Norair, a division of Northrop Corporation, will be guest speaker Friday at the dining-in honoring graduating pilot training class 67-C.

Darnell left the Autonetics Division of North American Aviation as manager of customer relations after serving five years in that capacity. He had previously been senior engineering test pilot for the same company. Over a fifteen year period he participated in all phases of experimental flight testing on the F-80, F-84, F-86, F-84, F-100, B-45 and T-28 with additional trainer and cargo aircraft testing. At this time he also qualified for United States Navy carrier based flights.

Darnell served in the Air Force from 1942 until 1950 when he resigned his commission as a major to enter private industry. During his service career, he was awarded the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with 14 Oak Leaf Clusters and the French Croix de Guerre with Palm. Darnell's last Air Force assignment was as test pilot, Fighter Section, Flight Test Division, at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

He is a member of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences, the Air Force Association, the Navy League of the United States, and is a fellow in the society of Experimental Test Pilots.

The bidding:
South West North East
Pass Pass 10 Pass
1 Pass 4 Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♠
Inferences drawn from his opponents' line of defense provided the clues for a successful campaign to South, the declarer at four spades in today's hand.

North's opening bid of one diamond may appear to be in conflict with the text, inasmuch as he has two perfectly bid-dable major suits to show. It should be observed however, that his hand is worth 20 points counting high cards and distribution, and even the diamond suit is not technically bid-dable. North's one diamond call serves the purpose of facilitating partner's response. South might have some weak holding with four or five hearts that would produce a game in that suit—yet he might be reluctant to keep a one spade bid open. Over one diamond, however, South may show either major without increasing the level of bidding.

West opened the seven of hearts against the final contract, declarer played the three from dummy and East put up the queen which held the trick. The six of diamonds was returned and when South followed with the deuce, West was in with the queen.

West switched back to the four of hearts and declarer put up the ace. The ace and king of spades pulled the outstanding trump and the ace of clubs was cashed.

A diamond was led from dummy, East followed with the four and the moment of decision was at hand. South decided, on the basis of East's original lead of the six of diamonds, to play the latter for a doubleton and he put up the ace of diamonds from his hand.

Declarer's only chance to eliminate one of his red suit losers was to exit with a diamond, and hope that the defender who gained the lead was out of hearts. West went in with the king of diamonds and since he had only clubs left, the forced return permitted South to ruff in the dummy while he discarded the ten of hearts from his hand.

Declarer's losers on the deal consisted of one heart and two diamonds.

YOUR Horoscope Forecast For Tomorrow By Carroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can build up a whole new well being for yourself by being more alert to organizing your practical interests on a very sound basis. In the world of large nations can build a new rapport with others by searching out any points of disagreement and letting each know just what they have in mind for the future.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Contacting a most influential person can bring and the superior you need for some special plan you have in mind. Later set into motion that plan which only adds to your prestige. Become better known.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have gotten yourself in pretty much of a rut, but this is a good sign to get into something that improves your mode of living. Confer with some very successful person. Get marvelous ideas that can be put in operation.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you must have recreation, make it the worthwhile kind, and be sure you seek information from trusted advisors only. Your closest tie has excellent ideas, so listen intently and in a most receptive mood.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sit down with your partner and state how you wish to have your affairs trend in the coming days. You get cooperation if you are practical. Many fine ideas crop up that should be accepted, worked on.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to buy mechanical appliances that add to efficiency and help to make your work surroundings more practical, beautiful. Beauty treatments, improving health is also important. Prolong your life span.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) A day to show others the depth of your devotion and have wonderful times renewing old acquaintances, etc. Do some entertaining. Utilize special talents that can bring you very fine benefits.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) Do whatever will make your home more charming and show that you are most loyal to him, then you make a right impression on others. This begins a new upswing, can last far into the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) You have a strong, clear-thinking mind and can analyze correctly what others are thinking and doing, know better where you stand with everyone. Get in touch with one you admire. Discuss your most practical ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Important you impress upon others that you have fine common sense, practical ideas, and that you can make progress through them. Don't permit others to down-grade you. Get your best of working properly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You look and act very charmingly today and are able to persuade others to go along with your finest and most practical ideas. Contact those you feel are key persons. Make a concise, clear manner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Doing whatever will give you a more powerful and prominent position in your community may mean big paychecks, but it will bring respect you desire. Some good friends are a problem. Don't be obstinate—help out gladly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are blessed with good fortune and it behooves you to help others to get ahead, etc. Change your attitude where social matters are concerned. This brings prestige and respect from others.

IF YOUR CHILD BORN HERE, he, or she, will be one of those business and serious persons who seems to literally have no heart for the feeling and opinions of others, so it is necessary to early give spiritual training to soften the nature somewhat, and there is bound to be a great deal of success in this chart, plus more than the usual share of happiness throughout the lifetime. An A-1 citizen here.

Game Warden Trainees Are Being Sought

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is accepting applications for prospective State Game Warden Trainees leading up to competitive examinations at eight key state cities in November.

Successful candidates receive $397 a month while studying and $453 per month after six months on-the-job training. They are requested to contact the nearest Parks and Wildlife Field Office or write to the Personnel Office, Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Tex. Completed applications must be received by the Department's Personnel Office, no later than Nov. 4, 1966.

Applications meeting the initial requirements, such as high school graduate, within the 21 to 40 age bracket plus physical requirements, will be assigned to take written examinations, at San Angelo, Nov. 21; Lubbock, Nov. 22.

The department, seeking to interest qualified young men in a rapidly expanding law enforcement operation, stressed many new opportunities as a field man in this work.

Lately, for example, the usual routine of assisting Biologists with game management techniques and other duties, has been increased to include water safety on the larger lakes.

A LOVELIER YOU

This Is Year You'll Have Fun With Fur

By MARY SUE MILLER

Ever hear of a blue rabbit? A green mole? Or a fox with green, blue and orange stripes? Well, there's news for you: many a U.F.O. — Unidentified Furry Object — is roaming around this planet. But none is from outer space. Just way out!

Indeed the space traveler might well envy the trophies to be had no further than the nearest fur salon. There are all manner of unidentifiable pelts in all manner of jet-set parkas, pullovers, pantsuits, short topers, full coats and even coat-dresses.

To know the origin of a skin for sure, you have to read the ticket. Calf is stamped with the spots of a leopard; rabbit is put together in black-and-white Op patterns. Mink is worked into two-color herringbone and striped effects. But perhaps you would rather have your mink "au naturel." In the utterly beautiful natural Black Willow, let's say.

In the more rarified brackets, furs have never been lovelier. Colors trend from white to palest beige to polished black. And you can tell the pelts — the broadtail, Alaskan seal, otter, beaver, Persian, nutria — without a scorecard.

Plainly furs have reached fantastic heights. If you're out to make a catch, you can aim for either a fun or a fine fur and get a prize-winner. This is a fur year. Even watches wear fur bands.

Creativity Shown At DKG Coffee

Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held a coffee and program Saturday morning in the parlor of the Student Union Building of Howard County Junior College.

Hostesses were Mrs. Leland Calvert, Mrs. Morris Farrow, Mrs. A. C. Kloven, Mrs. Harold Heaton and Miss Neal Cummings. Coffee was served from a silver service on a table centered with an arrangement of orange and yellow fall flowers.

Mrs. B. F. Vandell, vice president, presided for the discussion of this year's projects presented by Mrs. Ray Cantrell. The chapter will collect and contribute magazines for hospitals and rest homes, sponsor a March of Dimes coffee, and collect eye glasses for the needy.

The program followed the theme, "We Look at Creativity for Self-Improvement — Let's Dare a Few Things." Singing was led by Mrs. Martin Landers, and accompanied by Mrs. C. B. Underwood. Mrs. Cantrell, program chairman, urged the members to try new things in the continuing process of self-improvement and education. The group modeled home sewn clothes and original coiffures. The meeting concluded with a birthday party where the gifts were created by the donor.

On Nov. 12, Beta Kappa will join other chapters for the regional convention in Midland.

Two Due Back From Florida

Mrs. E. L. Patton of Big Spring and her sister, Mrs. W. R. Phillips of Artesia, N. M., flew to Titusville, Fla., Friday to visit Mrs. Phillips' son and family. They also visited Mrs. Patton's nephew who works at Cape Kennedy. The women are expected back today or tomorrow.

PUBLIC MAY SEE HD SHOW

Mrs. Johnson Will See Colorful Women

By JOY MILLER
 AP Women's Editor

On the other side of the world, waiting for Lady Bird Johnson, are a queen who sews her own clothes, a First Lady who won a beauty contest, a prime minister's wife who runs a dress shop.

Five other women, not a whit less colorful, are waiting, too. They all will be hostesses to the U.S. First Lady when she arrives with President Johnson in six Far Eastern countries on a 17-day, 25,000-mile journey that may turn out to be her most memorable adventure.

She herself has visited the Philippines and Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea and Malaysia will be new to her, although, with her customary thoroughness, she has studied up on the countries, peoples, institutions and statues.

When Mrs. Johnson arrives in New Zealand Oct. 19 she will have two hostesses: Lady Laura Fergusson, wife of the queen's representative, Gov. Gen. Sir Bernard Fergusson, and Norma Holyoake, wife of Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake.

While the American First Lady is staying at the governor general's home, Lady Fergusson will be her hostess. Mrs. Holyoake is expected to entertain her at a luncheon.

When the presidential party reaches Australia, the second stop, the idea is to let Mrs. Johnson see and be seen. Her assistant press secretary, Maria Ross, has been in Canberra, Australia's national capital, for some days preparing for the visit.

When Lady Bird Johnson greets the prime minister's wife, Mrs. Harold E. Holt, it will be renewing a friendship begun when the Holts visited Washington.

Zara Holt is a plump, gay, warmhearted woman who opened her first dress shop in Melbourne at 18 and now conducts one of Australia's leading fashion houses in her spare time. Mother of three married sons, she, like Mrs. Johnson, is a devoted companion to her husband. The Holts travel together, play tennis and waterski together.

In the Philippines, the third stop, the Johnsons will be re-

Women In Construction Install Slate At Dinner

New officers were installed for Women In Construction following a buffet dinner Saturday evening in the Gold Room of Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. E. A. Fireash, installing officer, used the theme, "Jewels of the Past to Mold the Future."

The new slate includes Mrs. E. O. Worthan, president; Mrs. H. J. Morrison, vice president; Mrs. Johnnie Winham, secretary; Mrs. B. J. Johnston, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Hudson F. Boss, treasurer. The directors are Mrs. John L. Sullivan, Mrs. Tim Jones, Mrs. Raymond Dyer, Mrs. Bill Smelser and Mrs. Troy Drinkard.

Mrs. Sullivan, retiring president, extended the welcome and presented each club member with a gift. In turn, Mrs. Sullivan received a charm bracelet with each member's name engraved on a disc.

Preceding the dinner, a hospitality hour was held for past presidents. The refreshment table was covered with a sequined net cloth over red satin, and the centerpiece was a plumb-based in red roses.

Thirteen members attended, and the six guests were from Midland and Odessa.

Mrs. Bill Gage Heads Questers Church Class

Mrs. Bill Gage was installed as president of the Questers Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church when members gathered at the home of Mrs. Joe Pickle Monday evening.

Mrs. Monroe Gafford installed the new slate with a theme of Diamond Opportunities. Using a background of a blue board with silvered letters showing the many facets of the diamond, Mrs. Gafford told each of the officers their duties and likened them to the faces on the stone.

Others taking office were Mrs. Ross Boykin, vice president; Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, secretary; Mrs. Melvin Ray, Mrs. Joe Goodman, Mrs. C. W. Mahoney and Mrs. Pickle, group leaders; and Mrs. Omer Williams, teacher.

Prior to the business session 13 members were served a buffet dinner which was a covered dish affair.

The November meeting will be in the Boykin home.

Win Ribbons For Flowers At Show

LAMESA (SC) — Over 200 entries were in the weekend standard flower show sponsored by the Dirt Dobbers Club. The affair was held in the Women's Building at the Lamesa Fair Grounds, and the theme was "Signs of the Times."

Mrs. A. P. Barton won the sweepstake award in horticulture and an additional ward of merit for her dahalia. Mrs. Everett Turner won the top award for the artistic division.

Judges were Mrs. Murry Fly, Mrs. W. G. Henderson Jr. and Mrs. Fred Martin, all of Odessa; Mrs. S. L. Terry, Snyder; Mrs. J. L. League, Hamlin; and Mrs. C. A. Hollingsworth.

Winning a neighborly call on President and Mrs. Ferdinand E. Marcos who visited and captivated Washington only last month.

Dressed in butterfly-sleeved ternos, the national Philippine costume, the lovely Imelda Marcos will be Lady Bird Johnson's knowledgeable guide and hostess.

A statuesque 5 feet 7, Mrs. Marcos — who was Miss Manila in 1954 — will be pleased to show off, among other national treasures, her three children, Imelda, 11, Ferdinand Jr., 7, and Irene, 5.

On to Thailand, it will be exchanging one beautiful young hostess for another. Queen Sirikit, 34, is considered one of the best-dressed women in the world. She speaks fluent French and English, loves classical and modern music, paints, keeps active in charitable organizations and the Red Cross, and is the fond mother of four.

In contrast with the sophisticated, world-traveled Sirikit are the two shy, tiny housewives who will be hostesses to the presidential pair in Malaysia.

Week Begins For B&PW

National Business and Professional Women's Week began here Sunday with an 8 a.m. breakfast at Coker's Restaurant attended by 20 members of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. J. Robert Smith, observance chairman, presided, and Mrs. Ivah Lou Ashley was installed as a new member by Mrs. Delphia Gordon, second vice president.

Mrs. Bert Affleck spoke briefly on the significance and founding of the week. She noted that this is the 38th observance of the week set aside by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs as a tribute to all working women.

In March, 1919, a 25-woman council recommended to the War Work Council that state federations for women be established. The first national convention was held in Missouri in July, 1919, to officially establish the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club. There were 125 women present, and from that group has grown today's organization which is international in scope. The club brings together working women in all jobs and professions with the aim of establishing better working conditions and serve the economic interests of the group.

There will be posters and displays in some local businesses during the week, calling to mind this natural observance. News media announcements will be a tribute to all working women.

The next regular meeting will be Oct. 25 at Coker's.

TEXANS AT WAR

Marine Loses 35 Buddies

By The Associated Press

Sgt. Frank Martinez, a Texan at war, was wounded twice in Viet Nam. The first separated him from most of his friends forever. The second took him away from combat forever.

The first wound was a grenade fragment in the right arm. It was comparatively minor, but it kept him in a hospital a month. When he returned, most of the men in his group were strangers.

BLOODY FIREFIGHT
"I had been with the company for 18 months, and when I got back from the hospital I couldn't find most of my friends. They got into a firefight the day before and I lost about 35 of my buddies."

Martinez, 22, volunteered for a second Viet Nam tour because, he says, "I saw no sense in sitting back of a desk and doing nothing."

SQUAD RAKED
He returned to combat with his old outfit, the 173rd Airborne Brigade, last November. Six months later, as he led his squad in an attack on a village north of Bong Tong, the Viet Cong raked the squad with unexpected firepower. Then the Claymore mines went off.

"I got hit in both legs, the right hand, the left shoulder in the chest," says Martinez. His left leg was broken also.

Martinez is recovering at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, his home town.

WASHINGTON HIGHLIGHTS

Personal Income Hits Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says disposable personal income — total income minus taxes — rose faster during the July-September period than prices.

This reversed conditions of the second quarter of 1966 when inflation more than canceled out the advances, the department said Monday night.

It reported that personal incomes rose to a record seasonally adjusted annual rate last month of $589.5 billion. During September alone, the department said, personal income increased $4.1 billion at an annual rate.

The department said all categories of income increased last month except for farm income which remained unchanged at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $15.4 billion.

Wages and salaries led the advance with a $2.1 billion increase to an annual rate of $399.1 billion. Pay raises and more hours worked were responsible for most of this advance.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports 97 per cent of the cases it investigated last year resulted in convictions.

The bureau said in its annual report today that 88.5 per cent of the 13,023 convictions in the year ended last June 30 were on guilty pleas. The total of convictions was a record for a peace-time fiscal year.

The report also said the FBI had located 14,323 fugitives — including 20 who had appeared on its "10 most-wanted" list — and had recovered a record 21,154 stolen motor vehicles.

The FBI also reported that at

Three Firemen Leave Department

Three more firemen have resigned, Chief H. V. Crocker, said Monday, bringing to 25 — half the 50 man force — quitting the department this year.

Larry Stroud gave his resignation effective Oct. 26. Robert Clack and Reece Carter left their posts immediately. All told the chief they were leaving for better positions elsewhere.

Throughout the long list of resignations this year, the matter of pay has dominated the reasons given for leaving, however other scattered reasons were given by some of the men. Crocker said the resignations leave him two men short, as an extra man had been employed recently in anticipation of a resignation. He said he has a number of applications on hand, and these men would be screened for possible employment in the near future.

Texan Killed When Truck Misses Curve

PRICE, Utah (AP)—Earl Petty, 28, a Wichita Falls, Tex., truck driver was killed Monday when his truck missed a curve on Utah 33 and plunged 1,000 feet down a mountainside.

Carr Hopes LBJ To Aid In Campaign

By The Associated Press

Waggoner Carr, back from Washington for a rally in Austin tonight, says he has hopes President Johnson will come to Texas to help in his campaign for U.S. Senate.

Carr said that during his stay in Washington, where he argued Texas cases before the U.S. Supreme Court, he and the President talked about the senatorial campaign at length.

Sen. John Tower, the Republican incumbent whom Carr seeks to unseat in the November election, toured the Chemical area at El Paso Monday and said it was "an eye-opener" in helping him to envision what is being done to implement the treaty. Tower was the only senator to vote against the treaty, which returned to Mexico land formerly belonging to that country before the Rio Grande changed its course.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Tower also told the El Paso residents he was confident that Congress would increase the federal government's share of the cost of a new highway along the border from 50 to 90 per cent. He also said he was confident the Defense Language School eventually will be moved from Washington, D.C., to El Paso.

Tower, who has scheduled a round of activities today in Houston and Harris County, also said that if re-elected he will introduce legislation to increase by $1,000 the outside income allowed war veterans receiving disability pensions. He said the current cutoff levels on their allowable outside income "are no longer realistic."

TRIP ENDORSEMENT

Addressing an El Paso luncheon, Tower said President Johnson had his "hearty endorsement of his quest for peace and I wish him a safe and fruitful journey" to the Far East.

While Carr was in Washington Monday, his Austin headquarters released a statement quoting the Democratic candidate as saying he believed a Latin American would be named to the Federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission. He said he had discussed the matter with President Johnson and White House staffers.

City To Host Band Contest

Young musicians numbering into the thousands will be converging on Big Spring next month when the city plays host to regional band marching and baton twirling contests, sponsored by the Texas Interscholastic League.

The event will encompass both junior and senior high schools for most of the West Texas area. Junior High bands, probably numbering as high as 20, will be here on Nov. 12, and Senior High aggregations, which may reach a total of 80, will compete on Nov. 19.

Bill Bradley, Big Spring High director, Don Turner of the Runnels Junior High band, and R. E. McKiski of Goliad will be host directors. They said all marching events will be in Memorial Stadium, and the twirling contests in the senior high gym.

All events are open to the public, and interested persons are invited, said the directors. The Junior High program on the 12th likely will run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the Senior High contests the week following will take from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Bradley said all local restaurants are being contacted in order that lunch provisions may be made for the great crowd of young people. The Band Boosters Club will assist in local arrangements.

Gunman Robs Texas Bank

DALLAS (AP)—A hefty, unshaven gunman Monday held up the Trinity National Bank in Oak Cliff, then using a receptionist as a hostage escaped with $27,000.

The hostage, Mrs. Phyllis Bowen, 22, was released minutes later in the bank's parking lot, where the robber sped off in a car that had been stolen shortly before the holdup.

The car was found abandoned four blocks away.

The gunman, described as being about 6 feet 2 inches tall and "as big as a football player," walked into the bank and as Mrs. Bowen handled telephone calls, he pulled out a heavy pasteboard orange and black Halloween mask and slipped it over his face.

Drawing a pistol, he forced Mrs. Bowen to accompany him and he went to three teller's cages demanding money, instructing them "give me all your big bills."

Too Early Sprays Can Hurt Cotton

The Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has sounded a note of warning about defoliation and desiccation of cotton prematurely.

"Defoliation or desiccation can hurt cotton quality badly if misused," a bulletin from PCG warns. "Micronaire, fibre strength (Pressley), and seed oil content already are endangered by abnormally wet, cold weather. Defoliation or desiccation at the wrong time could compound the problem. Extreme care is warranted.

"If ready for a light frost, use a defoliant. If ready for a killing frost, use a desiccant. If not ready for a frost — then don't!"

Heavy Clouds Being Erased

By The Associated Press

A clearing trend was pushing southeastward across Texas today, erasing the heavy clouds that brought rains to most sections of the state Monday.

During the night a light drizzle at Wichita Falls was the only reported rain but the Weather Bureau said that scattered showers would persist in the southeast section today.

Skies were clear in the Panhandle, the South Plains and Far West Texas with scattered clouds along the Rio Grande. They remained cloudy over the eastern half.

Skies are expected to be completely clear across the state by Wednesday with higher afternoon temperatures and lower overnight readings.

Although widespread, Monday's rains were generally light, ranging downward from Lufkin's .64 of an inch.

Monday's high readings ranged from 48 degrees at Dalhart to 85 at Brownsville. Pre-dawn readings today ranged from 35 degrees at Dalhart to 74 at McAllen.

Long Ahead Of Decision

Many residents of other states probably were surprised to learn that Texas had anticipated by 41 years certain elements of the U.S. Supreme Court's recent limitations on police interrogation and confessions. This was brought to light by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals' reversal of the conviction and death sentence given Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The state's court of last resort in criminal matters held that the trial judge erred in admitting testimony of police officers concerning oral statements, which tended to prove premeditated murder, were given not less than 16 nor more than 46 minutes after the shooting in the basement of the Dallas City Hall.

Section 227 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, enacted in 1925, rules out any oral statement made by a defendant "while he is in the custody of an officer." This has been modified slightly by court opinions under the rules of "res gestae" which permits the introduction of statements made so close to the time and place of the incident as to be spontaneous. Under that rule a statement made to an arresting officer immediately after a shooting, such as "I've been intending to kill him for the past two years" probably would be acceptable as evidence of premeditation.

Prohibitions against the use of oral statements while in custody of officers, and provision for the appointment of counsel for indigent defendants, have long been embedded in Texas law—over two score years as a matter of fact.

States Can't Do It

President Johnson's recent series of conferences to include all state governors, aimed at persuading them to cut state and local governmental expenditures, is unlikely to have significant anti-inflation impact.

The states' fiscal systems simply are not flexible enough to act promptly enough, especially in concert, to raise or lower taxing and spending to help the federal government counteract trends of inflation and recession. Many have biennial budgets, with governors having much less budgetary control than the President.

Furthermore, state and local governments generally—though their aggregate spending has increased from $27.5 billion in 1960 to $62.6 billion in 1965—must continue steadily to increase their expenditures to provide essential works and services. Annual spending increases are largely built-in, or geared to population growth, such as Texas' major budget items of education, highways and welfare. Temporary cutbacks for anti-inflationary purposes would be greatly wasteful and hurtfully retard already lagging long-range programs.

Gov. Connally has already indicated that the Texas state government has so much catching up to do that it cannot possibly respond to the President's appeal.

The federal government might effect some slowdown in state and local spending by partially holding up or stretching out federal matching grants that totaled $11 billion last year, or 25 per cent of state and local receipts, as against $2.5 billion or 9 per cent in 1960. But under existing law, any state or local government that failed to match and use all of its federal allocations would simply be diverting the federal money to other state or localities that would match and use it.

The states lack the monetary power which the federal government has to run deficits or surpluses as well as a fiscal force for stabilizing the national economy. And, finally, state and local governments' spending is not inflationary anyway, except to the extent that their revenues fall to cover it.

Actually, the burden is upon the federal government to put on the brakes.

Marquis Childs President Johnson's Tour

WASHINGTON — The Lyndon Johnson tour of the Pacific is a many-splendored thing. In the words of Hollywood and the television industry, it has everything — peace, war, the patriotic bit, our gallant leader pressing the flesh in six different countries. In Thailand King Phumiphon is planning a royal ballet to honor the President and Mrs. Johnson in a setting that will make the Broadway production of "The King and I" look like the local hamburger joint.

IN ALL seriousness, no President has ever ventured on an undertaking so far-flung in scope and so wide open in objectives. The risks are great. The Manila conference with the heads of government of six Asian nations is likely to coincide with a grave moment in the Viet Nam War as North Viet Nam seeks with a massive invasion to black out the conference and influence the Nov. 3 election.

This possibility complicates the feverish search that has been going on among the planners. It is a search for the happy ending, the rainbow of peace that will glow as the Manila conference concludes.

WHAT FORM this will take is still far from clear. There has been discussion of a communique that will name a special mission to call on every Asian country — Asians talking to Asians — in the pursuit of ways to end the war by negotiation. This is only one of a dozen or more ideas thrown up for discussion with the hope that one or more will find favor with the conferees.

A considerable risk is the presence of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky as head of the government in Saigon. Ky has repeatedly embarrassed the administration by statements directly contrary to declared policy. He has said that the war cannot be ended short of surrender of the Communist forces in South Viet Nam. He rules out any role for the Viet Cong either in future negotiation or as an element in a government that would be neutral.

LIKE SOME American politicians Ky tends to get carried away by the presence of reporters and if he holds a press conference in Manila he will face the combined press of Asia and the United States.

Officials here tend to be philosophic about Ky. Don't worry, they say, if and when we have to take a negotiating position we will see to it that he comes around. Nevertheless, at Manila with the temptation of the mass press the slender, mandarin-like figure is capable of sending some disturbing rockets into the air.

AS A HARD-LINER President Chung Hse Park of South Korea will want to consider the Manila conference as a council of war. He has committed 42,000 Korean troops to the Battle in Viet Nam, and testimony comes from a variety of sources as to their great effectiveness. These troops were entirely outfitted, transported and their pay provided by the United States. Thirteen years after the end of the Korean War there are still 42,000 American troops in Korea, a number which has been constant for some time.

Differences that may arise among America's Asian allies at Manila will be relatively unimportant alongside the fundamental dilemma. That is, in the midst of a war, which in terms of the American commitment already exceeds the commitment to the Korean War with no end in sight, to sound a note of hope. Every effort is being made here to give the initiative to the Asians.

Johnson has in his first foreign adventure committed himself to a difficult and in many ways dangerous undertaking. Whatever the outcome, at the start he gets E for effort.

James Marlow Supreme Court Picking Its Fights

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is picking its fights very carefully this year.

The story of the first two "decision Mondays" of the new term is a decided disinclination to do battle on new frontiers. This passivity is especially striking in view of the Warren court's 15-year history of "activism."

There have been some notable exceptions. Among them: agreement to examine jury selection in the South and to decide whether city officials may inspect private property without search warrants.

ALSO, SOME important pleas have not been acted on yet. For instance, a Maryland appeal asking that the stamp of constitutionality be put on state aid for construction at church-related colleges.

But, in the main, the court's response to calls for review in significant and controversial areas of the legal battleground has been a terse "no."

The net effect is to leave lower court decisions standing. Also, and perhaps more important, because the justices did not give their reasons, to leave lower courts somewhat in the dark.

TWO CASES in point: Monday's refusal to rule on chronic alcoholism and on whether the right to counsel applies in misdemeanor trials.

Two of the 11 U.S. Circuit Courts have explicitly held that chronic alcoholics may not be criminally punished for public drunkenness alone. In the other circuits the legal pattern is mixed, with procedures sometimes varying from city to city and from town to town.

But only Justices Abe Fortas and William O. Douglas wanted to step in — and it takes the votes of four justices to hear a case.

IN MARCH, 1961, the high court revolutionized state trial procedures by declaring that "any person haled into court, who is too poor to hire a lawyer, cannot be assured a fair trial unless counsel is provided for him."

But here, too, only two justices — Potter Stewart and Hugo L. Black — wanted to grant review.

PRESUMABLY, the conflict and confusion will continue. In some instances, the court may come back another day and find conditions ripe for a declaration of the highest court in the land. But, at the moment, it's hands off.

Hal Boyle Actor Likes Hard Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Gratitude is as rare among movie stars as styness is among flapjacks.

An exception is Rod Taylor, the buoyant and charmingly boisterous Australian.

"We're lucky to be around — as young punks," he said. "But I don't believe in luck in our industry."

"Luck makes people disrespectful and unappreciative. Young ones become smug too early. If you don't try hard enough, you don't last long enough."

ROD'S OWN heroes are Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart, and Spencer Tracy.

"They were great stars because they worked hard," he said. "And no one has taken their place."

"I'm not being incoherent. People call me a movie star, but I know I don't deserve it yet."

But the ruggedly handsome actor, who recently completed "The Liquidators," was being unduly humble. At 26 his talent and industry have put him in the front rank of his profession.

In 1964 a prize-winning performance in Australia won him a plane ticket to London. Hollywood, where the producers pounced on him with glad cries.

SINCE THEN Taylor has made 22 films, a popular television series, "Hong Kong," and graduated himself to the status of producer as well as actor.

When he plays there is nobody who likes to play harder than Taylor, and nobody who likes to work harder when he's on the job. He brings a fine breezy zest to anything he does.

"Without being artsy-crafty about it, which I'm not," he remarked, "I am very conscious of my duty to entertain."

"For some strange reason I love to do it, and I am paid an enormous sum of money to do it, and unless I do the job well I feel bliskeny-blank guilty."

TAYLOR HAS no overlay of sophistication. He is muscularly proud of being Australian.

"The only security an Australian has is if he isn't intellectually brilliant," he said smiling, "is the knowledge that, when in doubt, and if he needs to, he can always knock you on your ears. He can always retreat to that."

Everybody is afraid of something in this "ape of anxiety." What is Rod Taylor afraid of?

"Death is all I can think of," he replied. "I've got a lot of problems, but I love every crowded second of life. If you're an athlete you don't think anybody can beat you, and I'd like to live forever."

Around The Rim Why Don't You Write A Book

I suppose nearly every newspaper man who stays in this business very long has well-meaning people ask: "Why don't you write a book?"

There are a lot of answers you can give. You can say that you have — if you have or if you can make the list stick. You can claim you are assembling material and intend to write a book. Or, if you are honest, there are just two answers which are true and proper.

ONE IS: "I'm too lazy."
The second is: "I don't know how."

In my case, both answers are applicable. I attempted to write a book. I once wrote 32 chapters of one. Then I ran out of soap, came to a dead stop and couldn't find another line. I put the manuscript away for a few months. When I fished it out of my desk and reread what I had written, I realized (with disgust) that I didn't have it in the order it should be and that it would, if it had any possibilities at all, have to be completely rewritten.

I HAVEN'T got around to rewriting it. Probably the original manuscript is rather dim now since at least 30 years have passed since I mustered up enough courage to look at it last.

Further, in view of the kind of books now being written which seem to make the big hits, I don't think I have the kind of caustic nerve necessary to write one.

Besides, it takes an awful lot of words to make a book. I have written millions and millions of words in my career as a newsman but not enough of these were ever on the same subject to constitute a book.

I HAVE also been set back many, many times, more with rejection slips from magazines and short story publications and I thought they were pretty good stories; the editors of the magazines didn't see things that way at all. Had I saved all of my rejection slips I could probably paper a wall and have enough left over for a fairly good book.

Every now and then I get an urge to write a book. I sometimes sit down and ask myself — "what could I write a book about?"

IN NO TIME at all, I come to the conclusion that any book I might possibly write would be "about" a page long. How to sustain a story page after page through a hundred or two hundred thousand words defeats me.

I found, when I tried that 32-chapter deal, you get mired deeper and deeper as you dig further into your plot. I have read famous writers sometimes run dry just as I did at the end of the 32nd chapter. However, they usually find new inspiration in a short time and forge ahead.

WITH ME it was different. When I reread what I had written, and when I reached the last line of Chapter 32 I was at the same dead end I faced three months earlier.

I've known fellows who write books and have published them. They are usually a pretty sad looking lot. I can understand why they look so glum. It just ain't easy to write, and they realize that the next book they turn out will be just as hard or harder than their more recent one.

It's enough to make one sad.

—SAM BLACKBURN

Holmes Alexander Can Goldwater Stop Wallace?

MONTGOMERY, Alabama — Entirely the irony clings to the American tale. Democracy breeds the demagogue. The disciples of a constitutional republic are hoist by the people's own petard. The camp of ambition craves the blood of talented leadership. From Roman history to our own, these old-shoe generalities fit the case. A Caesar reaches for the crown or a George Wallace moves to occupy a vacuum of power.

ORDINARILY a Democratic President could take his prestige into the Southern States and offset any rising, hostile force. But Lyndon Johnson, a present disappointment to those of us who misread his leadership potential, could not match Gov. Wallace in these parts — and hasn't tried. A man who might have won the Alabama governorship was killed in an airplane crash, and Wallace, using all the legal but outrageous dodges of the demagogue, seems on the point of putting his wife into that office. This much is well known, but hardly known at all is the field of attraction being created by the magnet of Wallace's power.

YOU CAN detect it both in Alabama and further away. Recently John Greiner, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, was seen handing out his literature at a Huntsville meeting that the Democratic Wallace was addressing. Earlier Greiner turned up at the Seima Fair when Wallace was there. Party lines mean nothing. The Republican candidate hopes to benefit somehow by even a fortuitous association with the Democratic powerhouse. A nod from Wallace could probably elect Greiner (R) over veteran Sen. John Sparkman (D), and this may happen if it suits the governor's purpose. Alabama's new GOP, strong enough in 1964 to give majorities to Barry Goldwater and to five congressmen, lies puny in the governor's shadow.

THESE COULD develop — but probably won't — a showdown of strength between Wallace and Goldwater, considering that Goldwater carried five Southern states in '64. Recently, Goldwater came into Mississippi to speak for Rep. Prentiss Walker against Sen. James Eastland (D). To the dismay of Eastland's followers, Goldwater tossed away senatorial courtesy and ripped into Eastland, inviting Mississippians to "send Big Jim back to planting cotton." The first sign of a Wallace-Goldwater confrontation occurs when the Alabama governor pays an upcoming visit to Mississippi in Eastland's company.

ANOTHER POSSIBLE clash occurs in late October, when Goldwater comes to Alabama to speak for the Republican ticket there. This will be Goldwater's moment of truth. It will take rare audacity for him to tear into Sen. Sparkman and Mrs. Lurleen Wallace as he did into Eastland. Since nothing's impossible in politics, there is the off-chance that Harry can get something going for gubernatorial candidate James Martin (R) and for John Greiner, whose opponent is much more vulnerable than Eastland as a Southern liberal.

BUT WALLACE is cocked and primed for any such Goldwater assault, and I have had a look into the arsenal. Wallace will point out that he stepped aside as an independent candidate in 1964 to give Goldwater his chance. Wallace contends that he would certainly have carried the five Southern States taken by Goldwater, and probably could have taken more. Wallace is ready to throw in Barry's face the ridicule of failure as a presidential nominee — and we shall have to wait and see if Barry takes the bait.

Art Buchwald How To Get Poverty Funds

WASHINGTON — One of the tragedies of the poverty program in this country is that it is tied up in so much red tape that it takes a riot before anyone on the federal or local level will do anything about helping the people involved.

Some like this are probably being repeated all over the country.

"Ah, Reverend Kissinger, won't you sit down?"

"Mayor, we've been waiting now for poverty funds for South Side for over a year. All we get is a rum-around from everybody."

"YES, REVEREND, I thought that is what you came to see me about. I have your folder right here. Your situation doesn't look very hopeful."

"Why do you say that? We're in desperate need of poverty money."

"I'll be frank with you, Reverend. South Side has been too quiet. The records show you haven't had a riot, a sit-in or a school burning in years. How could I possibly justify giving you poverty funds when nothing's been happening in your neighborhood?"

"Mr. Mayor, our people are law-abiding citizens who are poor but decent folks. We don't believe in violence. All we want to do is better our conditions."

"I'M IN SYMPATHY with your goals, Reverend, but I have to answer to the city council and to the state and federal agencies. I can't release poverty money to a community that hasn't had one violent demonstration this year. You can't sit around waiting for handouts. You've got to scare the hell out of the community."

"What have we been doing wrong?"

the reverend asked.

The mayor started going through his folder. "Here's an example. Two white police officers arrested a suspected Negro robber on a Saturday night. A crowd gathered and someone shouted 'I hope he gets 20 years.' The suspect was driven off with the crowd cheering the police. Would you release poverty funds to a neighborhood that behaves in such a fashion?"

"I KNOW IT was a mistake, but we didn't know the TV cameras were there," the Reverend said.

"Now I want you to take a look at North Side. In the last six months the people there have destroyed two blocks of stores, wrecked one book and ladder fire truck and overturned three police cars. They earned their right to poverty money. I even got extra funds from Washington for North Side after they burned down a new school on the Huntley-Strinkley show. But how would I look going to Washington and asking for money for South Side, when no one has even heard of you?"

THE REVEREND SAID, "I don't know what's wrong with my people. They just can't seem to get aroused by 'black power.'"

"I'm frankly disappointed with you, Reverend. I was hoping this summer when I turned off all the fire hydrants in your neighborhood and refused to build a swimming pool we'd get some action. I had the riot squad all prepared to go in there and let you have it."

"But all you did was present me with a petition. How can I get poverty funds on the basis of a petition?"

Billy Graham

Does the Bible say anything about strikes? Do you think they are right?

H. W.
The problems that exist between labor and management are so complex that even the experts do not know all the answers. The Bible does mention "strikebreakers." A truck could be interpreted as an agreement or contract, and if either management or labor break their contract, it would be wrong, according to this definition.

We must remember that for many years the laboring man had a pretty bad deal. Jobs were scarce, pay was low, and working conditions were deplorable. But a man in Britain by the name of Keir Hardy was converted to Christ by the preaching of D. L. Moody. He saw the inequities between management and labor, and set out to do something about it. He worked for fair wages, he urged working men to work together, he advocated collective bargaining. In fact, Hardy became one of the founders of the British Labor Party. It actually grew out of Christ's Golden Rule, and in recent years the laboring man has come into his own.

As to your question, are strikes wrong? It is never wrong to contend for that which is right. But, of course, labor has a responsibility as well as management. Both often forget the party who really suffers in a labor dispute: the public. Here again, the Golden Rule should come into play. Even when we contend for our rights, if thousands of others are deprived of theirs, we should ask: Is what I am gaining worth the loss it is bringing to others?

KANGAROO TAILS, ANYONE?

Mart Provides Fancy Eating

WASHINGTON (AP) — In this supermarket there are:

- Brasé kangaroo tails, reindeer meatballs, and gourd shavings.
- 200 cheeses, 100 sausages and salami.
- Bread flown in from Paris, fresh caviar from Iran.
- And vine leaves go like pork and beans.

On a typical morning, a woman fills her gold-colored basket with Canadian moose steaks, and a businessman leaves with four cans of quail meat tucked in his briefcase. The cashier rings up orders of $90 or $1,000. Outside, a tourist snaps pictures.

This is the International Food Store, the city's tastiest multi-lingual tourist haunt. Started two years ago as a novelty, the store has become a way of life in downtown Washington.

6,000 ITEMS

There are 6,000 items imported from 50 countries. Aisle signs guide shoppers in English and French.

Embassies buy here. Ambassadors' wives mingle with housewives and tourists. The store reports one million people visited last year.

From the outside, the store seems a typical modern supermarket. Inside, without reading labels, one might assume it was just another grocery store. But you don't find breakfast cereal, bread and eggs.

Instead, there's a paneled, red-carpeted wine alcove, those fancy grocery carts for a touch of luxury, and a gourmet menu eager to help plan menus and unravel foreign recipes.

Arlotte Schmitt, a brown-eyed blonde from Nice, France, speaks four languages and can tell a housewife how to use each item in the store.

Arlotte and store manager Bal Raj Dogra, of New Delhi, India, agree on one point: The shoppers are mostly American — not foreign.

EGYPTIAN JAM

"A woman comes up to me and says, 'What's this stuff?' Dogra relates. 'I tell her it's Egyptian jam. She says, 'okay, I'll try it,' and dumps it in her cart. Next week she may buy three jars."

Two years ago, Dogra says, items were new to most customers. But now he says they've become picky, even over brand names.

Dogra, 29, came here seven years ago as a student. Married to an American girl, his food favorites still are Indian.

He's proud of an "instant curry dinner from Bombay. Just heat and serve it." There are packets of curry rice, herb rice and rice flamenco, too — add water and boil.

IT'S FANTASTIC

Dogra says food is bought as soon as it's put on the shelves. "You can't believe how fast it goes. It's fantastic."

There are $25 roast suckling pigs for instance. "At holiday time, we sell 25 to 30 a day. We can't keep enough of them. Lots of people want pig instead of turkey."

There's the wild game department "for wild game nuts." It includes a $19 nine-pound water buffalo rib roast, a $5 five-pound wild snow hare from Canada, $3 Canadian elk rib steaks, $3.50 quail, as well as mallard ducks, venison, frog legs, pheasants, wild Cornish hens and alligator steaks.

WHALE MEAT

There are rabbits, whale meat, stuffed flounder, rock lobster tails from Africa, soft shell crabs and herring available 12 ways.

"The day we opened the Oriental section was completely sold out," Dogra says. "It's still a major section." Included there are dried lotus root, dried fish, sliced cuttlefish, dried gourd shavings, shaved fish and dried seaweed.

There's diamondback rattlesnake meat, Greek stuffed vine leaves and plain vine leaves — "some people like to stuff their own."

"Every hostess wants to see the snails," he says. "We call them escargots. A gourmet wouldn't think of giving a party without them."

From Belgium, there are spiced baby carrots, tiny pickled corn on the cob, and from Spain artichoke hearts. "We sell 40 or 50 cases a week of this stuff."

NO GIMMICKS

There's wild boar from Germany ("lots of German hostesses"), Italian cherries in brandy ("one cherry is a shot of brandy") and kangaroo tails ("children could fix them"). Ham comes in Danish cherry wine, Scotch whiskey and Spanish sherry.

"Baked for you in Paris" reads the wrapping on long, slender cabaguetts, 60-cent bread loaves flown in from France.

The most expensive items are truffles and foie gras — goose liver — delicacies from middle Europe. Four ounces of French goose liver cost $7.19. Three truffles the size of the thimbles are $2.60.

One idea Dogra would like to dispel: "We do not carry chocolate covered ants. That's strictly a gimmick item, and we deal in gourmet foods — not gimmicks."

New Oil 'Finds' Needed

By MAX B. SKELTON
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —The chief spokesman for the Texas petroleum industry said today it is obvious vast new oil reserves must be discovered if the industry is to meet anticipated increases in demand.

"It is obvious more exploratory drilling is needed to increase these reserves and more capital must be generated to stimulate the search," said W. A. Landreth, a Fort Worth independent operator.

The president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association said, however, it would be a mistake for producers to accept a federal subsidy as an incentive to stimulate explorations for new reserves.

TEMPTATION

"It is inevitable that some will be tempted to turn to the federal government for some type of subsidy," Landreth said in his presidential report before the opening general session of the 47th meeting of the trade group that represents all segments of the state's oil and gas industry.

"Any scheme that allows the income of oil producers to be manipulated by federal administrators would, of course, be sheer folly in the political climate of this country today," he added.

Landreth made no reference to a specific federal subsidy plan. At least four trade associations have special incentive committees studying a variety of proposals calling for the use of oil import quotas to encourage domestic producers to bolster their search for new reserves.

LONG STRUGGLE

Landreth said the industry now is in the twelfth year of a struggle to free itself from manipulation of natural gas well-head prices by the Federal Power Commission.

"It does not appear to be good strategy to compound our problem by asking for further interference in the economies of the producer," he said.

He added, however, that while the Texas association primarily concerns itself with state problems the national situation is forcing it to coordinate much of its work with the general Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, the American Petroleum Institute, and the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

COMPLEX PROBLEM

"Every problem seems to demand a national policy and federal machinery to cure overnight conditions which may have been decades in the making," he said. "Our industry deals with more than 50 different federal agencies today..."

"The mood of our national Congress today seems to be to speed up action and skip deliberations. When you combine this with the politics of grandstanding for the consumer and the mass votes of metropolitan areas we face a very complex problem of coping with any problems, federal or state."

All segments of the Texas industry were asked Monday to inspect all installations and operations immediately and correct as quickly as possible any air pollution that might be detected.

Rehearsals Shaping Up

Whitlock and Kieran Doherty. Tickets may be had from any of the organization's directors or at the door either night of the play. It is the first production of the four-play season. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

JFK's Life, Death Film Draws Tiny Dallas Crowds

By PEGGY SIMPSON
DALLAS (AP)—The dramatic documentary about President John F. Kennedy has drawn small crowds in this city where he was assassinated almost three years ago.

The movie, "Years of Lightning, Days of Drums," closes tonight after a two-week run.

"I don't think too many people here want to see it yet," said Norman Levinson, manager of the Festival Theater.

"If they can't forget the assassination, they don't want to go out of their way to be reminded of it," he added.

DISAPPOINTED

"The movie has done fair, but I have been disappointed. I felt it would do better than it did."

The film includes pictures of Kennedy's reception at the Dallas airport and of the parade through downtown Dallas when he was killed Nov. 22, 1963 by an assassin the Warren Commission said was Lee Harvey Oswald.

George Stevens Jr. produced the documentary for the U. S. Information Agency to be shown in foreign countries. A special act of Congress permitted the highly acclaimed movie to be seen within the United States. Levinson declined to estimate how many Dallas persons had seen the film. He said he had few comments about it from customers.

"They walk out choked up or with mascara running. It's not a show where you'd stand around in the lobby and ask, 'How'd you like it?'" he said.

Two preview showings were sold out in the 450-seat theater, with The United Nations Association of Dallas and the Greater Dallas Democrats sponsoring them on separate nights.

Controversy centered around the Democrats' showing, with some Republican members of Congress protesting the proceeds would help elect Dallas Democrats. The local Democratic group proved, however, that ticket sales would be sent to the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington.

the same as from other preview showings over the country.

The movie, which has drawn heavy crowds in many parts of the country, received good reviews from Dallas newspapers.

Virgil Meirs of the Dallas Times Herald praised the decision to show it domestically, saying, "The film can only make an American proud that he and the appealing President Kennedy are of the same nation."

He added "there are scenes here to make men weep again, for the tragedy is still much too close on us."

Rain Splashes 16-State Area

By The Associated Press

Rain splattered a 16-state area in the southern and central sections of the nation today. Otherwise the weather was generally fair.

Southern Arkansas and northern Louisiana got the heaviest amounts, with El Dorado, Ark., and Monroe, La., recording more than an inch of rain in a six-hour period. Clouds stretched from eastern Nebraska to southern Illinois southward to New Mexico and northwest Florida.

Light showers and snow flurries also dampened the Rocky Mountains.

Most of the nation reported normal or slightly below normal temperatures. Early morning readings ranged down to 22 at Kalispel, Mont.

FBI Jails Grid 'Fix' Suspect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced today the arrest of a Louisiana man on charges of trying to bribe the backfield stars of the Louisiana State University football team.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified the man as Samuel Joseph Graziano, 26, of Baton Rouge.

Hoover said Graziano is charged with trying to influence the outcome of six LSU football games this autumn.

The FBI said its investigation was conducted with the cooperation of the three players involved — halfbacks Jim Dusay and Billy Masters, and fullback Gawain de Betta.

Hoover said Graziano, a barber, tried to bribe the players in connection with LSU football games with the University of South Carolina, Sept. 17; Rice University, Sept. 24; University of Miami, Florida, Oct. 1; Texas A&M, Oct. 8; University of Kentucky, Oct. 15; and the University of Florida to be played Oct. 22.

The FBI said Graziano would be arraigned before a U.S. commissioner at Baton Rouge.

If convicted, the maximum penalty on the sports bribery charge is a $10,000 fine or five years in jail, or both.

Hoover said Graziano is a partner in the Dalton Barber Shop, Baton Rouge.

Graziano lives at 3313 Crestlake Drive, Baton Rouge.

Two Hurt In IS 20 Mishap

A Bowie woman, visiting relatives here, is in Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation in a serious condition and her sister, who suffered less serious injuries, is confined to her home as a result of car-truck collision on the north service road of IS 20 east of town at 5 p.m. Monday.

Highway Patrolman Arvin Henry, who investigated the wreck, said that Mrs. Dessie Miller was the more seriously hurt of those involved. She has a broken ankle, broken arm, and deep cuts on the body and head. Her condition is said to be satisfactory today.

Mrs. Miller, who is here visiting relatives, was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Moe-hen Wyatt, her sister. The two women were en route to Sand Springs to visit friends.

Henry said that the truck involved was a T&P Freight Line tractor-trailer being driven west on IS 20 north service road by Jerry Lee Cockerell, 28, of Midland.

The accident occurred at the point where westbound traffic on the service road cuts back onto IS 20. The truck swerved across the east lane, Henry said, and the Wyatt sedan crashed into it almost head-on. Both vehicles were extensively damaged.

The city emergency ambulance was called and took the two women to the hospital. Mrs. Wyatt has a fractured kneecap and other injuries.

Webb Money Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has received a bill from Congress calling for $979,570,000 in appropriations to finance military construction projects.

The House had cleared the bill Friday night and Senate agreed on the compromise version Monday.

The total is $135,377,000 below the President's original budget recommendation made last January and $63,544,000 below a revised recommendation he made later.

The Texas projects, with the final amount approved for each, include:

- Bliss, El Paso $1,636,000.
- Hood, Kilgus, $1,571,000.
- Chase field naval auxiliary air station, Beville, $93,000.
- Bergstrom AFB, Austin, $4,457,000.
- Carwell AFB, Fort Worth, $1,231,000.
- Kelly AFB, San Antonio, $450,000.
- Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, $675,000.
- Perrin AFB, Grayson County, $61,000.
- Randolph AFB, San Antonio, $236,000.
- Reese AFB, Lubbock, $546,000.
- Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, $2,525,000.
- Webb AFB, Big Spring, $226,000.

The appropriation of $226,000 for Webb AFB is for the construction of an aircraft painting building. An additional $2,000,000 in construction of other facilities on the base was set back to the 1968 military construction appropriations due to the commitments in Viet Nam.

Ceramic Club To Plan Fair

The West Texas Ceramic Association meeting Thursday will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ken Keeler, 2302 Carl, at 7 p.m. Officers will be elected, and details of the upcoming ceramic fair worked out. Then the members will go to Webb AFB and attend the crafts show competition, which will be judged and the winners announced.

Money Losses

Two money losses have been reported to police. Mrs. Bernard Fisher, Ponderosa Apartments, told police a coin purse with some old coins is missing from her home. Jimmie Skelton, Holiday Inn, said he lost $200 early Sunday, some where between the Red Barn and the Inn.

Baptists Urged To Boost Help

Messengers to the 58th annual meeting of the Big Spring Baptist Association were admonished Monday to have an outlook and outreach beyond the thresholds of their own churches.

The association is well below the state average in giving to the cooperative program of the Texas General Baptist Convention, Dr. E. N. Jones, Dallas, secretary of the Christian Education Committee, declared.

"Let me speak frankly," he said. "When you fall below the average, it means somebody is having to carry part of your load."

Here and over the state too much of the load is falling on too few churches, he said. For instance, in the association, only two churches are giving as much as 15 per cent of their revenue to the cooperative effort of Texas Baptist to support missions, school, hospitals, homes, etc. Friendship Church, Lamesa, did something about this until it now ranks second in percentage giving.

Over the state, Texas Baptists will oversubscribe a $12 million budget, Dr. Jones said, but this isn't enough to meet the needs in many areas. For instance, Baptist colleges and universities can count on Baptists for only 40 to 60 per cent of their resources, Dr. Jones explained. In contrast, state supported schools can count on 75 to 85 per cent of their revenues coming from the legislature.

Dr. Jones, who served as president of Texas A&M and of Texas Tech as well as dean at Baylor University, had no quarrel with tax-supported education.

"It's the only way the masses can be educated," he said. "But colleges supported by denominations are the only way that churches can be supplied with enlightened leadership. We must do a better job or we can't even take care of our share in this system of dual education. The only way we can move ahead is through trained leadership."

Bill Smith, Big Spring, treasurer, said the association urged, said the association reached its $9,472 budget for the year, but that a third of this went to pay on indebtedness of property acquired as a potential church site. Sunday school training awards increased during the year, said Glenn Faison, Big Spring, but Joe Peay, Big Spring, Brotherhood president, said that work among the laymen had been lagging. Training Union enrollment was showing a slight gain, according to H. B. Graves, Coahoma, and Rev. John Rankin, Stanton, said use of the encampment north of Stanton was on the increase with attendance of 4,389. Encouraging reports on youth work were heard from J. T. Springer, Lenorah, and on Baptist Student Union from Don Reavis, Odessa.

Rev. Graves, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Coahoma, will deliver the annual sermon at 7 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church here. Final reports will be heard, a budget adopted and a new slate of officers named. Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of First Baptist, is the present moderator of the association which embraces 10,325 members in 31 churches.

Stop When School Buses Unload, Sheriff Warns

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that his office is receiving complaints of motorists who are ignoring the state law relative to motor car operation in cases where a school bus is on the scene.

The law specifies that a driver must bring his vehicle to a complete halt when a school bus is loading or unloading children.

After the children have been taken aboard or discharged, the motorist may proceed but he must do so in a prudent manner.

Standard said there have been complaints that motorists are not coming to a stop when a school bus is parked to one side of the highway loading and unloading.

There has been at least one reported incident where a child narrowly escaped being struck by a passing car, the sheriff said.

He urged motorists to remember and obey the law. He also suggested that anyone seeing a car ignore the law should note the license plate numbers and report them to the sheriff's office.

Relatively Few Students Apply For Draft Tests

Deadline for students to apply to take the draft deferment test is midnight Oct. 21.

So far, according to Louise Nuckolls, clerk of the local Selective Service Board, only a few students have asked for application forms. She estimated the number of less than 50 — possibly not more than 25 or 30.

Last year, the test was given on three dates and more than 200 local students took it. All summer, there have been students asking when they could get application blanks, Mrs. Nuckolls said.

Students who do not get their applications back in the hands of the Selective Service before the deadline will not be permitted to take the tests. Applications must not be postmarked later than midnight Friday.

The tests will be given on Nov. 18 and 19. Application blanks have to be mailed to the Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, Box 988, Princeton, N. J.

The application form, provided the applicant, includes a pre-addressed envelope.

The results of these tests are important to the student who wishes to defer his service obligation until he has completed his education. The tests are considered by the draft board in fixing the status of the applicant.

Austin Rites Set

Services for Harry G. Austin, 46, who died Sunday, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel, with the Rev. Odell Moore, pastor of the Andrews Second Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery. Survivors include one son, two daughters, his mother, one brother, two sisters, five half-brothers and two half-sisters.

Sooner Pilot Makes Dead Stick Landing

County To Ink Ambulance Contract

Howard County Commissioners Court and Bruce Frazier will meet Wednesday to sign a contract under which the latter will transport all indigent county residents who require emergency ambulance service for a flat fee of $20 per run from the county.

If the indigent who needs emergency ambulance attention is just outside the city limits or if he is in any remote corner of the county, the fee for the run will be the same under the agreement reached at a meeting between the commissioners and Frazier on Monday afternoon. Before the county assumes liability, it will require a pauper's oath from the patient.

Frazier has offered to set up an ambulance service for the county, provided the county and city cooperate. The city is agreeable to the plan and, in terms of the proposed contract, the municipality will compensate Frazier for 80 per cent of all emergency run charges inside the city which he cannot collect by normal methods.

Frazier told the commissioners at the meeting on Monday that it would take at least 30 days before he could be in operation with his new service. He is applying for papers of incorporation—under a name yet to be selected—in order to keep the operation separate from that of the Bennett House, which Frazier operates. Bennett House employees will double in brass in the operation of the ambulance service, however.

Frazier said he is providing a special first aid training course through the Red Cross for the members of his Bennett House staff who are to serve in the ambulance operations.

Lions Offer Essay Event

Youth of Big Spring have been given a challenge to develop a plan for world peace—a challenge that could earn one of them a $25,000 educational or career grant.

The Downtown Lions Club and Evening Lions Club, together with those throughout the world, are sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for youth on the most important world subject—peace. The contest offers $50,000 in total awards, including the $25,000 first prize. There will be eight semi-final wards of $1,000 each, plus travel expenses to Chicago, Ill., next July when Lions International meet.

The contest is open to those who will be 14 but less than 22 years of age Jan. 15, 1967. Competition will be through eight world divisions. Essays may not exceed 5,000 words. They will be graded 75 per cent to content, 10 per cent to organization, 10 per cent to style, five per cent to mechanics, according to B. M. Keese, chairman for the Downtown Lions Club. Deadline for entry is Dec. 10, 1966. Detailed information can be had from Keese, or from any other member of the city's two Lions Clubs.

Plan Homecoming

STANTON (SC)—Fred Church, president of the Stanton High School ex-students, announced that a meeting will be held Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. in Jimmy Stallings Insurance Agency offices to map plans for the 1966 Homecoming to be held on Oct. 29.

OIL REPORT

Conoco Finas Wolfcamp Strike

Continental Oil Co. has a discovery completion in the lower Wolfcamp area with its wildcat, the No. 45 W. R. Settles. It was potential to flow 28 barrels of 43.0 gravity oil per day, with a trace of water. Perforations were in the 8,914-8,942 foot interval. Gas-oil ratio was 1,535-1. Operator acidized the formation with 5,000 gallons.

Total depth is 9,300 feet from the 4 1/2-inch casing set at 9,299 feet. Drillsite is 660 feet from the north line and 1,980 feet from the east line of section 133-29, W&NW survey, three miles west of Forsan. The well is surrounded by shallow production in the Howard - Glasscock field.

WILDCAT LOCATIONS

Howard, Martin and Sterling counties all have new wildcat locations.

In Sterling County, Andarko Production Co. Midland, has slated the No. 1-A S. C. Gist as a 10,900-foot operation in the Ellenburger area. Drillsite is 660 feet from the north line and 467 feet from the west line of section 19-34-2n, T&P survey, one-half mile south of Knott, 3 1/2 miles southeast of the Brookling - Pennsylvanian field.

Pan American No. 2 J. L. Moates will drill to 8,000 feet in the Pennsylvanian Reef. Location of the wildcat is 1,681 feet from the north line and 2,400 feet from the east line of section 2-31-2n, T&P survey, 15 miles northwest of Coahoma, one mile west of the Vealmore, East (Pennsylvanian) area of Howard County.

Operator will drill to 12,500 feet in the Ellenburger on the No. 1 D. E. Richards, scheduled by John L. Cox of Midland. The wildcat is spotted 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 41-36-4n, T&P survey, 14 miles north of Tarzan five miles east of the Breedlove Devonian field, in Martin County.

TESTS SPOTTED

Howard and Borden counties have new locations. Barranca Oil Limited of Monahans has scheduled the No. 5 M. H. O'Daniel as a 2,780-foot operation in the Snyder field. Drillsite is 995 feet from the south line and 1,650 feet from the west line of section 34-30-1s, T&P survey, 11 miles south of Midland.

Cities Service No. 1-F Jones is drilling in the Snyder field and is now rigging up pumping units. Drillsite is 1,350 feet from the south and east lines of section 2-31-2n, T&P survey, 15 miles northwest of Coahoma, one mile west of the Vealmore, East (Pennsylvanian) area of Howard County.

Operator will drill to 12,500 feet in the Ellenburger on the No. 1 D. E. Richards, scheduled by John L. Cox of Midland. The wildcat is spotted 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 41-36-4n, T&P survey, 14 miles north of Tarzan five miles east of the Breedlove Devonian field, in Martin County.

Something new in oil field equipment will be shown visitors at the annual oil show which opens Wednesday in Odessa.

It is the line of well pump controls now being turned out by Delta Electronics Manufacturing Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Delta Electric Corp. of Big Spring.

The controls may be seen in the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce booth (B-12), in a display featuring both fixed and animated models of the leading control, the Delta Protector.

A miniature pump-jack with flow lines, containers simulating the "well" and "tank," will demonstrate the pump-off feature of the Delta Protector. Representatives of Delta will be on hand to explain the operation, and show how the device not only programs oil wells to increase production but saves the operator money by actually protecting electric motors, pumps, rods and other equipment by shutting down the well in case of trouble.

The first controls were put on test early this year after a year or more of laboratory and shop research in Delta's plant on the Snyder Highway.

The controls, all fully electronic with no moving parts to be affected by corrosion, mechanical failure and the like, were devised by Mike Craddock, chief engineer, and Joe D. Herbert, president, of Delta Electric Corp.

Delta Electronics was formed last spring to manufacture the controls with a staff which virtually doubled Delta's workforce, most of the new employees being young housewives who "man" an assembly line in a windowless, air conditioned chamber especially constructed in Delta's main plant.

Nearly 200 Delta controls are already in use on Permian Basin oil — and water — wells. Others have been shipped to points as far away as Los Angeles, Calif.

Housewives in three cities claimed some success today as their supermarket boycotts as a number of stores cut prices and at least 30 were involved in their own discount war.

In Denver, Colo., where chanting women picketed two big stores Monday in protest over high prices, one large chain scheduled reductions on a wide range of items and another promised 10 per cent mark downs.

Shoppers in Phoenix, Ariz., announced they had succeeded in forcing down bread prices. A spokesman for the group, the local chapter of Housewives for Lower Prices, said it would now begin pressing supermarkets to drop merchandising gimmicks like trading stamps.

In Portland, Ore., some 30 store owners fought a price war touched off by consumer pressure. At one market, milk was selling for 18 cents a gallon and another offered bacon at 68 cents a pound compared to $1.19 elsewhere.

Housewives in Van Nuys, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb, and in Carlsbad, N.M., announced meetings today to form price-busting groups.

east of Coahoma in Howard County. The No. 3-NCT-4 A. M. Clayton has been struck by Texaco Inc. to drill to 9,905 feet in the Good, Southeast field. Location is 2,900 feet from the south line and 550 feet from the east line of section 45-32-4n, T&P survey, 13 miles southwest of Gall.

COMPLETIONS

HOWARD Mobil No. 7 M. H. O'Daniel finished from the Snyder field with initial pumping potential of 96 barrels of 28.2 gravity oil per day, with 20 per cent water. Gas-oil ratio was 95-1. Perforations were in the 2,456-2,731 foot interval. Location is 1,650 feet from the south and east lines of section 2-31-2n, T&P survey, 15 miles northwest of Coahoma, one mile west of the Vealmore, East (Pennsylvanian) area of Howard County.

Operator will drill to 12,500 feet in the Ellenburger on the No. 1 D. E. Richards, scheduled by John L. Cox of Midland. The wildcat is spotted 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 41-36-4n, T&P survey, 14 miles north of Tarzan five miles east of the Breedlove Devonian field, in Martin County.

DAILY DRILLING

GLASSCOCK Pan American No. 1-B Cox is plugged back to 7,200 feet and operator is preparing to run tubing. It flowed 27 barrels of oil in 4 hours and the flow died. Operator has 435 barrels load oil to go. Location of the wildcat is 1,273 feet from the south line and 1,320 feet from the west line of section 23-34-2n, T&P survey, 20 miles south of Garden City.

MARTIN Pan American No. 1-C Slaughter is at a depth of 10,300 feet. Operator moved off rotary table and is now rigging up pumping units. Drillsite is 1,350 feet from the south and east lines of section 2-31-2n, T&P survey, 15 miles northwest of Coahoma, one mile west of the Vealmore, East (Pennsylvanian) area of Howard County.

Representatives of Delta will be on hand to explain the operation, and show how the device not only programs oil wells to increase production but saves the operator money by actually protecting electric motors, pumps, rods and other equipment by shutting down the well in case of trouble.

The first controls were put on test early this year after a year or more of laboratory and shop research in Delta's plant on the Snyder Highway.

The controls, all fully electronic with no moving parts to be affected by corrosion, mechanical failure and the like, were devised by Mike Craddock, chief engineer, and Joe D. Herbert, president, of Delta Electric Corp.

Delta Electronics was formed last spring to manufacture the controls with a staff which virtually doubled Delta's workforce, most of the new employees being young housewives who "man" an assembly line in a windowless, air conditioned chamber especially constructed in Delta's main plant.

Nearly 200 Delta controls are already in use on Permian Basin oil — and water — wells. Others have been shipped to points as far away as Los Angeles, Calif.

Housewives Claim Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Housewives in three cities claimed some success today as their supermarket boycotts as a number of stores cut prices and at least 30 were involved in their own discount war.

In Denver, Colo., where chanting women picketed two big stores Monday in protest over high prices, one large chain scheduled reductions on a wide range of items and another promised 10 per cent mark downs.

Shoppers in Phoenix, Ariz., announced they had succeeded in forcing down bread prices. A spokesman for the group, the local chapter of Housewives for Lower Prices, said it would now begin pressing supermarkets to drop merchandising gimmicks like trading stamps.

In Portland, Ore., some 30 store owners fought a price war touched off by consumer pressure. At one market, milk was selling for 18 cents a gallon and another offered bacon at 68 cents a pound compared to $1.19 elsewhere.

Housewives in Van Nuys, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb, and in Carlsbad, N.M., announced meetings today to form price-busting groups.

The Denver boycott, whose organizers claim 25,000 supporters, was directed at five chain stores. Business was slow Monday, but spokesmen for the stores said the sales differed little from a normal Monday.

Parks Board Has Busy Slate

A busy session faces the Parks and Recreation Board Wednesday meeting at 4 p.m. in the City Hall.

Members plan to work out some suggested parks improvements so that plans and cost estimates can be worked out by Jan. 1. This will enable them to be considered for the next fiscal year budget.

Members have also been invited to take a tour of improvements made in the last few years, including the new permanent care cemetery, Lakeview School area, City Park, a new softball park, and the entrance at Webb AFB.

The board is also expected to elect a vice chairman, a post vacant since last April.

Plea May Be Changed In Case Slated Wednesday

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said this morning he was not certain there will be a case ready for jury trial Wednesday in 118th District Court.

He said he had been advised that Juan Gonzales Ruiz, charged with murder with a motor vehicle, is planning to change his planned not guilty plea. If this develops, Burns said, that case will not require a jury.

It is not certain if any of the other cases on the docket will be ready for trial tomorrow. Several defendants were scheduled to enter guilty pleas today.

Ruiz is charged with the death last October of John Lewis Stone Jr.

One new development in the court was announced. Burns and Gil Jones, defense attorney, have now agreed on a new date for the trial of Carroll Trantham, charged with armed robbery. Trantham is now slated to face a jury in 118th District Court on Nov. 7. His case was set for Monday but was continued when several important defense witnesses were not in attendance.

On Monday John McGary, charged with forgery, drew a five year prison sentence when he entered a plea of guilty.

Burns said that Jeff Johnson and Shelton Laine, two other defendants on the docket, each charged with DWI, and H. B. Beck, charged with forgery, have informed him they want to enter guilty pleas. He said he hoped to dispose of these three sometime Tuesday.

A jury panel has been instructed by Judge Ralph Cates to report to court Wednesday morning.

Firemen Face Arson Charges

FORT WORTH (AP)—Tarrant County officials charged three volunteer firemen today with arson after a Sunday night blaze injured six other firemen and caused $150,000 damage.

The charges were filed against William Clarence Biew, 22; Antonio Reyes, 23; and Paul Riddies, 25; all of the Fort Worth suburb of Sanson Park.

The Sunday night blaze was at the C and S Plastics Fabricators Warehouse. Three of the six firefighters injured are still in a hospital.

Two officers have turned in resignations, Police Chief Jay Banks said this morning, both citing better working conditions and pay as their reasons for leaving.

Lee Justice is leaving the force effective Oct. 31. He joined the police April 15, 1965, and is a graduate of the Southwest Academy of Law Enforcement, as well as three other special training schools.

Bobby Williams, who is leaving Oct. 28, joined the force April 1, 1966. He also is a graduate of the academy, and another training course.

Banks anticipated naming replacements in the next few days.

Lomax 4-H Club Views Pictures

At their Monday evening meeting, members of the Lomax 4-H Club saw colored slides taken in Ohio, Arizona, Texas and Colorado. The slides were screened by Mrs. J. L. McIlvain.

The meeting was held in the newly built Lomax Gin.

There were 16 club members, including one new member, and eight parents in attendance. The new member is Elizabeth Ann Saunders.

Molly Adkins led the group singing. Steve Fryar led the motto and Gary Posey the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

After a brief business meeting, refreshments in the Halloween colors were served.

Only Two Minor Mishaps Reported

Two minor accidents were investigated by police Monday. There were no injuries or major damage reported.

John Orr McDaniel, 906 Baylor, and Lafayette Don Yates, 910 Ayford, were in collision at Fourth and Austin. James L. Caylor Sr., Oklahoma City, and Robert Vernon Stuphen, Ackerly, were in collision at Northwest Fifth and Gregg.

Petrofina Earnings Almost Double During Nine Months

NEW YORK — American Petrofina's earnings during nine months ended Sept. 30 were $6,322,000 or 88 cents per share, according to data released Monday. Cash flow from operations was $16,113,000. This compares with $3,221,000 or 46 cents per share, of net income and $9,698,000 of cash flow during the corresponding period of 1965.

Addressing the New York Society of Security Analysts, Harry A. Jackson, president of American Petrofina, Inc., noted that since 1961 the company had approximately doubled its refining and marketing operations and its production and reserves of hydrocarbons. Earnings per share have increased more than seven times.

The increased rate of earnings of the company was attributed to higher prices of refined products, to an improved balance between the company's requirements and production of crude oil, and to increasing profits from petrochemicals.

CODEN BOOSTS PROFITS

Noting that, since the acquisition of 1963 of the assets of Coden Petroleum Corporation, the company has greatly expanded petrochemical facilities, Jackson disclosed that "earnings from this diversification are as significant to our fiscal results as are the earnings on the manufacture and sale of gasoline and other fuels." Expected to be completed early in 1968 is a 500-million pound per year styrene monomer plant at Carville, La., which is being constructed as a joint venture with Borg-Warner Corporation. American Petrofina, established in 1956, is engaged in exploration and production activities in the Southwest, Mid-Continent and Rocky Mountain regions. It operates one refinery in Kansas and three in Texas, including the Coden Oil & Chemical Company petrochemical complex at Big Spring. American Petrofina products are marketed under the Fina brand and distributed through more than 3,000 service stations in 14 mid-continent states.

Aunt Strangler Declared Insane

HOUSTON (AP)—A jury Monday found James Hugh Lucas, 41, charged with the strangulation of his great aunt, insane and Dist. Judge Dan Walton ordered him committed to the state mental hospital at Rusk.

Mrs. Emma Lauterbach, 86, was found slain at her home Aug. 19. Her body had been covered with foodstuff and jars arranged in the shape of a cross. The prosecution joined the defense in asking that Lucas, a library clerk at the University of Houston, be declared insane now and at the time of the slaying.

Two Captains Jump Before Jet Crashes

HILL Air Force Base, Utah (AP)—Capt. Charles J. Whitsett and Capt. Sheldon L. Brown, both of Reese AFB, Lubbock, Tex., parachuted to safety Monday after their T38 jet trainer hit a flock of birds near here. The craft crashed and burned in a grain field.

Back Wool Research

An appropriation for women mohair and wool promotion of $17,500 was authorized by the wool committee of the American Sheep Producers Council. The announcement was made by G. C. Magruder Jr., president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association on his return from Denver. Among others attending were Worth Durham, Sterling City, TS&GRA second vice president.

13th President

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Dr. Ray L. Hefner has been inaugurated as 13th president of Brown University.

W. O. Lee Dies In Colorado

LAMESA (SC) — W. O. (Otis) Lee, 66, who operated a machine shop here and farmed in Gaines County for a number of years, died unexpectedly Monday at his home near Bayfield, Colo.

Services are pending here at Branon-Phillips Funeral Home, but last rites will be said in the First Baptist Church. Mr. Lee came to Dawson County from Jones County, and while he operated his business here, he also farmed in Gaines County. About 15 years ago he moved to a ranch near Bayfield.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Juanita Lee, Bayfield, Colo.; two sons, Trice E. Lee, Seminole, John Bob Lee, Lake Tahoe, Nev.; his mother, Mrs. W. L. Lee, Lamesa; three sisters, Mrs. Anne Bishop, Fresno, Calif., Mrs. Verna Moreland, Amarillo, and Mrs. Dorothy Holladay, Imperial, Tex.; four brothers, Eddie Lee, Luther Lee, Alva Lee, all of Lamesa, and Malcolm Lee, Bedias.

LBJ Orders Court Action To Halt Walkouts At GE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson ordered court action today to end a strike of about 6,000 General Electric employees at an Evendale, Ohio, plant which produces jet engines for planes in the Viet Nam War.

Announcement of the action was made by the White House which said the President had cabled his instructions from Honolulu early this morning to Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

The White House said no immediate action is planned against strikers at other GE plants where walkouts occurred Monday. But a spokesman said the Defense Department is watching events closely to determine if any other war production is slowed by the strikes.

Elizabeth Arden Dies At Age 84

NEW YORK (AP)—Elizabeth Arden, who parlayed a $600 loan into a multimillion-dollar business in cosmetics, high fashion beauty farms for wealthy women and race horses, died today at the age of 84.

Miss Arden, who was born Florence Nightingale Graham and adopted for herself the name she gave to her cosmetic firm, suffered a heart attack at her Manhattan home Monday night.

She was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital, where death occurred about 7 a.m.

Library Club Has Book Fair Sale

A bookmobile "book fair" is now in progress at the new gym of the senior high school all this week, offering paperback books for sale.

The bookmobile is sponsored by the Library Club to earn money for district convention meetings.

Mary Evans, president of the club, said that the hours of the bookmobile are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day this week except Thursday, when the hours will be 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Uncle Sam Uncorks Free Shots For Poor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Uncle Sam played bartender Monday to the aged and poor inmates of several Northern California institutions. He uncorked 40,000 shots — on the house.

Collector of Customs George Brokaw said part was a scotch-type whisky, part was rum and the rest creme de cafe.

The whisky was confiscated because it was falsely labeled as a product of Scotland. The rest went unclaimed when an importing firm went bankrupt.

Recipients were the Little Sisters of the Poor here and in Oakland, the Jewish Home for the Aged, the Laguarda Honda Home and the California Veterans Home at Yountville.

Mother Superior Aurelie, Little Sisters of the Poor administrator, said the drinks will be served as therapeutic hot toddies — whenever one of the charges has a cold or feels ill.

SMALL TURNOUT TO AID TOWER

Two Million Votes Magic Figure In Senate Contest

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two million votes is the magic figure in the Texas race for the U.S. Senate.

"I think Mr. Waggoner Carr is in trouble if he doesn't get at least a two-million turnout," says Hank Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO which is backing neither Democrat Carr nor Republican John G. Tower, seeking re-election to the Senate seat once held by Lyndon B. Johnson.

"With 1.6 or 1.7 million voters, we've got it won," says a Republican campaign official.

"With two million we've still got a good chance."

LEJ BACKING

"There's no doubt a light vote would hurt the Democrats while the Republican candidate would be helped," says Gov. John B. Connally, who has put his Democratic organization solidly behind Carr.

Carr also has an endorsement from President Johnson, and there have been unconfirmed reports that Johnson will campaign for him.

Both Tower and Carr are conservatives. Tower, 41, never mentions he is a Republican and stresses his cooperation with both parties in Washington. Carr, 48, claims he could be more effective as a Democratic senator working with a Democratic President, an all-Democratic House delegation from Texas, and a Democratic governor.

'LIBERALS' KEY

The Texas Election Bureau predicts a turnout of anywhere from 2 to 2.5 million of the 3.1 million registered voters. Only 1.25 million voted in the May Democratic primary. Republicans had no statewide contests. The winning margin may lie with a loosely-organized ever-changing group usually called "the Texas liberals." This group consists generally of liberal Democrats led by U.S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, Brown's labor unions, and the Negro and Latin American minorities.

The liberals this year have merged their efforts to defeat Carr with the effort by Republicans and ultraconservative Democrats to re-elect Tower. Optimistic Republicans get their victory forecast by adding the 600,000 GOP votes they have produced in recent general elections to 150,000 they say Tower automatically draws as an incumbent plus a possible 400,000 votes from defecting liberal Democrats.

In the past Democrats have cast large votes through heavy turnouts of Negro and Latin American minorities. This was the case in 1960 when John F. Kennedy carried Texas, which twice had voted for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But organized labor, which usually leads and directs these get-out-the-vote campaigns, is mostly silent this year.

"Our position is that neither one of them is worth our help," said Brown. "We are not going to spend a dime or a postage stamp on either one."

MIDDLE-AGED BULGE

Architect Claims Skyscrapers Creep

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—"You take a gum rubber eraser," says architect Bill Kinne, "and you press the top and bottom. The sides bulge out. That's creep."

Kinne is worried — not about the creep in erasers but the creep in skyscrapers. He's trying to find out how much skyscrapers creep and why.

It bothers the people who live and work in skyscrapers, too. Plumbing joints start leaking, sliding doors won't slide, ceilings crack, fixtures sag. And the bigger the building, the greater the creep.

WON'T BOUNCE

What's more, buildings are getting bigger — and creepier — all the time.

Kinne, who is also an engineer and professor at the University of Wisconsin, has been probing, measuring and listening to the groans of 19-story Van Hise Hall rising off the hilly wooded campus here.

The difference between the eraser and the building is that concrete won't ever bounce back to normal. After completion Van Hise Hall will be several inches shorter than originally intended.

The reason is creep, or, as Kinne also calls it, dimensional change.

Kinne wants to find out how much creep will occur, given certain conditions. Planners can then expect the changes and avoid interminable headaches.

'GROANS' HEARD

To better hear the "groans," Kinne and his graduate students are using "strain feelers" embedded permanently in the concrete. When connected to reading instruments, they tell how much the building's structural concrete frame is straining under its own weight, as well as the weight of classroom furniture and so forth.

To take the data, the scientists are cementing the feelers — ultra thin electrical wires glued to pieces of felt — to short steel bars. Then the bars are welded to the reinforcing steel supports in the concrete. As the concrete creeps, so do the feelers, or "strain gauges."

Creep won't cause a building to collapse, but over the long run the repair costs and the constant trouble will make it age faster. Kinne would like to find ways of giving tall buildings a better posture, avoiding that middle-aged bulge.

Los Angeles To Lose Top Film Studios?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are movie studios going to run away from Los Angeles? The city government is alarmed at the prospect and is planning steps to prevent it.

This month the mayor's Economic Development Board took official notice of the situation by appointing a committee to study means of inducing studios to remain in the metropolitan area.

Suggestions for encouragement included zoning advantages and a new studio complex within the city. But it's entirely possible that the city will come up with too little too late.

RIPE AGE

The trend in recent years has been a reduction of film making in Hollywood — a nongeographic term since studios are also located in Culver City, Westwood, Burbank, Universal City, and Studio City. Obsolete studios such as Hal Roach's have been leveled for shopping centers, and no new studios have been built.

Several of the big studios are reaching the ripe age of 40 and require extensive overhauls to be modernized. Most are in areas that are heavily taxed. As a result, they have started populating areas. Not incidentally, they hope to escape Los Angeles' smog, which sometimes interferes with outdoor shooting.

Three years ago MGM, 20th Century-Fox and Columbia started the industry by revealing discussions for a combined studio to be built on Fox Ranch in Malibu Canyon. The talks came to naught, but the idea of seeking new quarters for filmmaking was not abandoned.

MGM took an option on 1,500 acres at Conejo, north of the San Fernando Valley, and ordered a feasibility survey on building a new studio there. Preliminary sketches were drawn up, and a construction cost of $32 million was estimated.

Fox, which had to sell its back lot — now Century City — to survive the "Cleopatra" debacle, found itself short of space when the company's fortunes reversed. The management ordered a survey by Stanford Research Institute to determine whether building a new studio was economically sound.
