McNamara Says Draft Calls May Be Cut In Half Next Year

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told President Johnson Saturday fewer Americans would be sent to fight in Viet Nam next year and draft calls might be cut in half.

McNamara based his optimistic report in a military situation he said had been stabilized and dramatically improved.

McNamara said the United States would slow its troop build-up, curtail bomb production at home and—barring the unforeseen—undertake no sharp increases in air raids on Communist North Viet Nam.

WARTIME TAX

His hopeful assessment—with its possible bearing on the unanswered question of a wartime tax increase—was delivered at Johnson's LBJ Ranch.

And it came in the waning days of state and congressional election campaigns—some of them shaped by issues of war and the economy.

McNamara tempered his optimistic words with this note of caution: "I want to emphasize that we continue to face a stubborn enemy."

40,000 MORE GIs

And to fight that enemy, he indicated, 40,000 more Americans will be sent to Viet Nam before the current year is over. McNamara said American forces in Viet Nam would total about 385,000 men by the end of December. The currently reported level is about 345,000.

McNamara came to Texas to talk about defense spending for the year ahead—the budget's biggest item, and the one that may determine in large measure whether Johnson proposes an income tax increase.

The evidence McNamara and Johnson gave Saturday was weighted toward a budget picture that might make a tax increase unnecessary.

NOT ANSWERED

But that question was not answered at a news conference on the front porch of Johnson's ranch house. McNamara said he could not estimate the size of next year's defense money request, nor that of a supplement-tal appropriation—beyond the Defense Department's $59-billion share of the 1967 budget—which the administration will request in January to finance the Viet Nam war.

Johnson said the budget impact of McNamara's planned slowdown in Viet Nam could not be assessed in dollar terms now.

McNamara said only: "The cutbacks will take place. It's information that bears on the future of our economy and the transition from war to peace."

McNamara reported these major decisions—"barring unforeseen contingencies"—on the shape and impact of the war next year.

LOWER IN '67

"Draft calls will be lower for 1967 than they have been for 1966. It is now apparent that the total number to be called during the next four months will be significantly smaller—perhaps no more than half as many—than the 161,000 called in the four months of August through November."

McNamara said draft calls had been ranging between 37,000 and 50,000 men a month.

"I anticipate that the calls in the next four months will average less than 25,000," he said.

"A slowdown in our rate of deployment is planned. The increase in U.S. forces in South Viet Nam will be substantially less than this year."

McNamara said American forces will have been increased by about 200,000 men by the end of the current year. "The increase next year will be nothing on that order."

Republicans Due To Score Modest Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1966 election campaign wheeled along today through clouds of uncertainty over Viet Nam, backlash and living costs toward Republican gains of modest dimensions in Tuesday's climactic balloting.

Unless undetected undercurrents of sentiment are stirring among a prospective 50 million voters, a survey completed five days before the election indicates the Republicans are likely to gain fewer than 30 House seats, pick up perhaps a net of one Senate seat and possibly gather in five or six more governorships.

The GOP can count on gains in one or both branches of some of the state legislatures, the analyses indicate, but not on a border-to-border sweep.

NO SINGLE ISSUE

No single issue stands out as a pivotal one on which the election outcome will be decided. As is often the case in off-year elections, purely local issues are likely to be decisive in many races.

The war in Viet Nam seems to be the greatest concern of most Americans in the autumn of 1966. It has been talked about, and argued about as a campaign issue. But there are no signs it will sway many votes one way or the other.

Viet Nam is an immeasurable factor, just as is the question of whether white resentment at the pace of Negro progress will stir up sizable backlash vote or whether resentment against inflation and high prices will have any major effect on how the people ballot.

JOHNSON'S JOURNEY

Nor is there any way of determining whether President Johnson's Asian-Pacific journey might have some vote-pulling appeal for the Democrats or whether his upcoming minor operations might bring the (See GOP, Pg. 8-A, Col. 1)

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

There are years when all signs fall, but this time they worked. That hard freeze came Wednesday, and with it an end to the growing season. There was mixed reaction, but generally most observers felt that the 23-degree weather would be more beneficial in the long run. While more cotton bolls would have made had the frost held off another couple of weeks, the freeze killed leaves which will shed and let the sunlight and cool nights crack the bolls. Consequently, this year's harvest should be a good 30 days ahead of last year. And a lot can happen to a crop lying in the field for 30 days.

Sam Anderson, superintendent of Big Spring schools, has been elected to the presidency of the huge Texas State Teachers Association, by the largest professional group in Texas. This is quite an honor to the community, too, for this is the first time this has happened to us. As a matter of fact, two West Texas schoolmen have held this high post.

The United Fund passed its official closing mark during the week, but there still is much clean up-work to be done. The total Sunday was past $92,500, which is two-thirds of the way to the $139,000 goal. Some substantial reports are due yet, but it will take some mighty effort and

SAUCY SAMPLER SAYS SAUSAGE SUPERB
Connie Schwartz, St. Lawrence expert, approves 1966 delicacy

St. Lawrence Ready For Sausage Lovers

By SAM BLACKBURN
ST. LAWRENCE — German sausage, the way Alfred Schwartz of St. Lawrence makes it, is a 60-40 proposition. Sixty per cent of the meat that goes into the sausage is pork and the other 40 per cent is beef.

"If it was all pork," observes Schwartz "it would be too greasy."

For seasoning, only generous portions of salt and black pepper are needed.

The finished result is something that sausage lovers of this part of the country drool about when the Fall Festival Day at St. Lawrence is mentioned.

Today is Fall Festival Day. St. Lawrence community is putting on bib and tucker and planning for an invasion of hundreds of its sausage-hungry friends and neighbors. Apparently, from reports, a small army of Big Springers will be included.

BUSY SATURDAY

All day Saturday St. Lawrence made preparations. The work started at 6 a.m. when nearly every able-bodied man in this Glasscock County farming community, showed up at Schwartz's big barn. There the men set about making 2,400 pounds of the famous St. Lawrence sausage. The work was far from finished at 10 a.m. Saturday. After a small mountain of ground meat had been properly seasoned and stuffed into the traditional packings, it had to be smoked. However, all was finished before the day ended.

Today, starting at 11:30 a.m. in the St. Lawrence community building, the sausage, backed up with barbequed beef, beans, other vegetables, tea and coffee and a dessert, will form the menu for a mammoth public dinner. The lunch will be served from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. At 5 p.m. or thereabouts, the second big meal of the day will be served featuring the same delectable viands.

Taxpayers apparently love that three per cent. County and state collections at the end of the month stood at about 85 per cent of the current roll-as people hastened to qualify for the three per cent discount. City and schools shared in the early payments, but perhaps not to as great an extent.

Howard County had six miles of new paving last week with that there will be a record breaking crowd.

While the meals are under way, the sausage will be sold uncooked to those who want it.

SAUSAGE SALE

"Last year," said Schwartz, "some of the visitors bought 20 and 25 pounds of the sausage."

The price is $1.25 a pound. It comes in loops which weigh anywhere from two to perhaps four pounds.

At 2 p.m. a big auction sale will be held at the community house. Among items to be sold will be 30 bales of St. Lawrence cotton. These have been donated by the farmers and will augment a mountain of merchandise donated to the St. Lawrence community by merchants in Big Spring and elsewhere. There will be real bargains and real buys for people who like auctions. A. W. Schroeder is in charge of this event.

A dance tonight winds up this annual event.

What's it all about?

Well, St. Lawrence is an almost 100 per cent Catholic community which is growing population-wise year by year. The St. Lawrence church, now in service has been outgrown.

So the profits from these annual events go into the St. Lawrence church building fund. Each year the fund gets a little fatter and the day a little nearer when a new church edifice will replace the one small wooden building now serving.

WIDELY RENOWNED

For a lot of West Texas, "going to the festival at St. Lawrence" has become an event looked forward to each fall.

Last year, the sausage supply was exhausted before the demands for the product had been met.

This year, Schwartz said, more sausage has been made than last year.

"Maybe we'll have enough this time," he mused.

Infantrymen Build Trap Around Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. infantrymen — possibly 10,000 of them — built a trap around a large force of Viet Cong in thick jungle and thorny vines in the battle for Tay Ninh Province Saturday and beat back half a dozen Red Counterattacks with murderous fire.

"We are hurting the Viet Cong," said one U.S. operations chief. "We have them boxed in, and they are trying to break out."

It was the third day of pitched fighting near the city of Tay Ninh, 45 miles northwest of Saigon and near the Cambodian border.

ENEMY TOLL HIGH

The known enemy death toll was listed as 97, but officers said the continuing swirl of the battle prevented an accurate compilation. They expressed belief the enemy toll would rise.

Viet Cong casualties in their unsuccessful counterattacks were listed as heavy.

U.S. casualties were termed light.

One of the U.S. units involved — the 196th Light Infantry Brigade from Ft. Devens, Mass. — was getting its first real action in the war. It came to Viet Nam with 50 per cent draftees in August.

American officers expressed the belief the U.S. infantrymen had perhaps 2,000 Viet Cong ensnared in an area the Viet Cong have long dominated. They said there might be as many as 6,000 Viet Cong — a division — in the general area.

COMMIES ATTACK

Elsewhere around the city of Tay Ninh Communist forces attacked two South Vietnamese outposts, inflicting heavy casualties.

About 240 miles to the north, troops of the U.S. 4th Division continued a hunt for a North Vietnamese army force that hit them hard a week ago. B52 bombers from Guam hit at suspected North Vietnamese hideouts in the area for the eighth straight day.

U.S. Naval guns and jet bombers attacked North Viet Nam Friday, but the U.S. command in Saigon reported enemy ground fire had brought down two U.S. planes — the 417th and 418th losses of the war. All four crewmen were listed as missing.

TARGETS BLASTED

The attacking planes blasted lines of communication, storage and staging areas as well as military and naval targets in 155 missions. The U.S. command said U.S. pilots had flown 607 missions over the north in the past four days, a record for that time period. Foul weather during the north had curtailed attacks for the past few weeks.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas voters decide Tuesday one of the most confusing political campaigns in recent years.

The voting results may be as close as the campaign has been confusing.

Both Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Democrat, claim the winning margin but both will push their slambang campaigns right up to vote casting time.

335 Absentee Ballots Cast

Three hundred and thirty-five absentee votes have been cast by Howard County voters for Tuesday's general election.

This is seven less absentee votes than in the May, 1966, primary and 100 greater than the absentee vote in the November, 1962, general election—the last "off" political year.

Absentee vote in the May primary represented a little under 6 per cent of the total vote polled—5,379; the absentee vote in the last general election when a presidential campaign was not at stake was only slightly over 4 per cent of the total vote. Total vote was 5,355.

If the absentee vote forecasts the total vote to be expected Tuesday, then there should be about 6,500 votes—based on the last general election comparable with this.

It is not anticipated a heavy vote will be cast.

Most of the interest is centered in the race for U.S. senator. In the past few days the voters have been devoting considerable attention to the contest for Howard County school superintendent.

minority of the state Democratic party, have the choice of voting for a conservative or going fishing.

Just to keep the confusion rampant, one of the 16 proposed amendments to the state Constitution requires that those who believe in the poll tax type voter registration must vote in favor of poll tax repeal, while those who want permanent voting rights must vote against it. McNamara Says Draft Calls May Be Cut In Half Next Year

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told President Johnson Saturday fewer Americans would be sent to fight in Viet Nam next year and draft calls might be cut in half.

McNamara based his optimistic report in a military situation he said had been stabilized and dramatically improved.

McNamara said the United States would slow its troop build-up, curtail bomb production at home and—barring the unforeseen—undertake no sharp

His hopeful assessment—with its possible bearing on the unanswered question of a wartime tax increase—was delivered at Johnson's LBJ Ranch.

Absentee vote in the May primary represented a little under 6 per cent of the total vote polled—5,379; the absentee vote in the last general election when a presidential campaign was not at stake was only slightly over 4 per cent of the total vote. Total vote was 5,355.

If the absentee vote forecasts the total vote to be expected Tuesday, then there should be about 6,500 votes — based on the last general election comparable with this.

It is not anticipated a heavy vote will be cast. Most of the interest is centered in the race for U.S. senator. In the past few days the voters have been devoting considerable attention to the contest for Howard County school superintendent.

County's Cotton Crop Pegged At 50,000 Bales

By SAM BLACKBURN
Educated guesses on Howard County's 1966 cotton crop range from 40,000 to 50,000 bales with most of the guessers setting on 42,000 to 46,000.

A little high, but 42,000 to 46,000 seems almost a sure thing. A 45,000 bale crop would mean averaging a bale to the acre. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office here says there are 181,431 acres of cultivated land planted to cotton this year.

Even the more optimistic observers are wondering if the fields can average a bale to the acre. Texas Employment Commission, after a check with farmers who were hit hard by the freeze of last week, expecting the total to be 40,000 bales. It is early in the season and a lot of things can happen. Meantime, with less than 1,500 bales ginned, the real test of the situation is still three to four weeks off.

DAMAGED
The frost which came unexpectedly early, damaged young cotton seriously and will doubtless sharply reduce its production. A lot of green bolls on such cotton will never open.

On thousands of acres of older cotton, though, the frost is beneficial rather than harmful. It is accelerating defoliation and making way for the strippers.

Not all of the gins in the county have begun operating. Those which have started up have not been too busy. The Co-op plant in Big Spring had ginned 310 bales through Friday, and Fairview Gin was working toward 300 bales as the week ended.

ALMOST TWO
It is felt many fields will make better than a bale to the acre and some fields will probably produce nearly two bales to the acre. Billie Langley farm, which began stripping a week ago, had a 12 acre tract which yielded 20 bales.

Some of the early cotton, which has been ginned in Howard County, has been cotton grown in adjacent counties. Cotton harvest seems to be piling up in Martin County. One gin company here, which has a plant in that county, is so send some of its staff from the local installation to Stanton to lend their compatriots a hand.

Howard County has little irrigated cotton. The dryland fields are the ones which are holding the interest of the farmers.

Most of Glasscock's cotton crop will come from irrigated fields in the St. Lawrence community. Martin County has both irrigated and dry land cotton. Dawson County, usually the giant of this immediate area, is mostly dryland.

Cornerstone Ceremonies Set Monday

The Grand Lodge of the Ancient Free & Accepted Masons will be convened here Monday for a cornerstone levelling, the first such event to take place in this vicinity or nearby two score years.

H. W. Fullingim, Odessa, grand master of the Masons in Texas, will be here to convene the lodge for the cornerstone ceremonies at Howard County Junior College's new science building.

The rites are scheduled for 4 p.m. at the northwest corner of the two-story building, on the Birdwell Street side. Invitations have been sent to 32 lodges in this region to send representatives, and naturally the public is invited.

Staked Plains 598, Big Spring 1340 and Coahoma 992 Masonic lodges are cosponsors of the event and have provided a red granite cornerstone which will be set in the building.

The grand lodge will be convened at 3 p.m. by Fullingim at the hall of Lodge 1340, then will move to the college shortly before 4 p.m. After the ceremonies, in which Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the college, will be the orator, the lodge will be adjourned to the hall for official closing.

There will be a reception for the public and all Masons at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building immediately after the cornerstone levelling. Band music will be supplied at the site while the crowd is assembling.

Knights Templar and Shrine Club members, in uniform and regalia, will add color to the event, in which the Order of Eastern Star also will have a part.

Refused To Destroy Paris

Former Nazi General Dies

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP) — Ex-Gen. Dietrich von Choltitz — a central figure in saving Paris from destruction in World War II — died Saturday after a long illness marked by asthma, arthritis and heart attacks. He will be buried Wednesday, which would have been his 72nd birthday.

Choltitz was the Wehrmacht leader who defied Adolf Hitler's orders to stage a last-ditch fight against the Allied invasion in 1944, and to destroy Paris rather than let it fall into Allied hands.

Instead the be-mooned Prussian aristocrat, assigned to command German occupation forces in the French capital after duty on Polish, French and Russian fronts that won him citations for bravery, surrendered to the Allies and turned over the city relatively intact.

TRAITOR

The Nazis called him a traitor. The saving of Paris brought him years of ostracism. As an aging oldster he lived in seclusion with his family on a general's pension of about $675 a month at a home on Frankreich-Strasse (France Street) in Baden-Baden, the headquarters of French forces in Germany.

Gen. Pierre Koenig, a former commander of the French forces, was among Choltitz's most frequent guests. Koenig once said of him: "He has more friends in France than he has in Germany."

BEST SELLER

A best-selling book and the movie "Is Paris Burning?" put Choltitz back in the international spotlight. He took up the assignment to Paris Aug. 2, 1944, when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's invasion forces already had surged effectively into France.

Choltitz soon received a call from the consul-general of neutral Sweden, Raoul Nordling, who raised the question how Paris might be saved. The mayor, Pierre Taittinger, also pleaded with him in private conversation.

HITLER MENTALLY ILL

The Wehrmacht leader later credited both with helping him make up his mind to disobey the Fuehrer's orders. He explained his defiance in a small autobiography in 1950, titled "Is Paris Burning?" He said Hitler was mentally ill and that destruction of Paris would have shattered forever any possibility of future French-German friendship.

His autobiography inspired the book that became a best seller.

Choltitz gave up on the afternoon of Aug. 24, 1944, when Free French armored columns led the advance into Paris.

Hitler's reaction was restrained. A court-martial probed Choltitz' conduct but reached no verdict. It was a trial in absentia, for the general was in a U.S. prison camp at Clinton, Miss. He was freed in

Two Dallas Men Drown

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The bodies of two Dallas men who drowned Friday when their boat capsized at Lake Texoma were recovered Saturday.

They were J. R. Buchan, 53, and John Livingston, 43.

A third man in the boat, Jerry Montgomery of Kansas City, swam to an island and hailed Max Eggleton, a guide from Denison.

The pair returned to the scene but found only the bobbing boat. Waves and wind were high when the boat capsized.

The three were among a group of 20 officials of the W. L. Gordon Co., a Dallas food brokerage firm, which had been holding a sales meeting at the Tanglewood Hills Country Club.

BILL FIVEASH

Pythians Set Roll Call

Frontier Lodge 43 of the Knights of Pythias will hold its annual roll call in Castle Hall 1407 Lancaster, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., and Bill Fiveash, Abilene, grand chancellor commander, will be the featured speaker.

The roll call is the traditional affair by which Pythians make their gifts to the "Thanksgiving" Christmas activities of the Pythian home for children. All members are expected to attend, and under the statutes of the lodge, those provisionally hindered may be counted by proxy if they send in their gifts. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

The public is invited to attend the meeting, and of course visitors will not be asked for contributions.

Fiveash is rated as one of the hardest working commanders Texas Pythians have had. A graduate of Abilene High School and McMurry College, he is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force, a past chancellor commander of the Abilene Lodge (a new home was built during his tenure), past president of the Abilene Southwest Rotary Club, member of the official board of First Methodist Church in Abilene, and the business manager of McMurry College.

Dr. Hanna Back Home

After a decade and a half of academic and professional training, residency and military service, Dr. Jeff Hanna is back home to follow his practice of medicine in association with Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Hanna is a graduate of Big Spring, and Mrs. Hanna is his school day sweetheart, the former Martha Johnson. With their three children, Maria Elaine, 7, Jeff II (Jay), 5, and Trent Monroe, 13 months, they are making their home at 902 Highland. The family belongs to the Episcopal church.

Dr. Hanna took his academic and pre-med training at Tulane University and his medical degree from the University of Tennessee College of Medicine. He interned in the University (of Tennessee) Hospital in Memphis and then did his residency of three years in obstetrics and gynecology at the same hospital.

Entering the Air Force, he was promptly assigned to Wiesbaden, Germany, AF headquarters in Europe and the largest U.S. service hospital on the continent. Recently he completed three years service and was separated.

Dr. Hanna is from a family of medical practitioners. His father, the late Dr. Jeff Hanna Sr., once practiced here. His brother, Dr. Bill Hanna, is now doing his residency in Oklahoma City. Dr. Jeff Hanna has board certification by the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COMES TO BIG SPRING

Optimization, the most advanced method known for teaching speed reading, will hold classes in Big Spring.

OPTIMIZATION EXTENDS... Its usual invitation to everyone—High School & Jr. High students, teachers, business and professional people.

"Horse and Buggy reading methods are no longer sufficient to keep pace with today's increased reading requirements," says Dr. Cecil Mullins, inventor of Optimization.

The world is moving ahead of every field of endeavor at jet speed in a jet age. Today's industry could not survive by using the same methods used decades ago. It just does not make sense to use antiquated reading methods.

Dr. Mullins, renowned Educational Psychologist, says that the faster you read, the more you comprehend. "Fifteen years ago," he continued, "I became intrigued with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration, I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would ever have been able to in 8 to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fictional history, or of a technical nature. A doctor, a lawyer, a lawyer, a lawyer, etc. at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds."

Dr. Mullins' methods were so successful that he created the Optimization Speed Reading Course. Taught in 12 two-hour sessions, Optimization guarantees the student will read at least 1,000 words a minute or a book in an hour or less with good comprehension.

"One of the secrets of our success," said Dr. Mullins, "is that we are firmly committed to the principles that learning proceeds best, only when the students are enjoying themselves. In our classes most of the students have a ball from beginning to end—and along the way, they become the best readers anywhere."

The accomplishments of some of Optimization's previous students sound like something out of science fiction. One 13-year-old lad reads books for his public school assignments in 6 to 10 minutes. His grades have jumped from barely passing to straight A's and B's after taking the course.

Another ex-student, a 35-year-old public school teacher—has made less than average grades in his undergraduate university work. He went back for graduate studies after developing, thru Optimization, the ability to read an average non-fiction book in 10 to 15 minutes. His first semester at Texas University he was awarded straight A's and a chance for a scholarship.

These are just two of many reports from teachers, doctors, lawyers and other business and professional men who find that each day has progressively more reading to be done and fewer minutes to do it.

"I know—the results sound incredible," Dr. Mullins said. "But we have a standing offer for anyone who is undecided to come to our first meeting free of any obligation, to see for himself what the course will be like. And our guarantee is absolutely firm."

Pros And Cons On Amendments

1. Assessment of farm land based on agricultural usage. Would provide that the person who farms or raises livestock on a tract of land on the fringe of an expanding urban area would not be taxed on the basis of potential residential, industrial or commercial use, but on the basis of the land's value as a farm.

FOR — Under present state law, when the city approaches the farm the tax burden to the farmer often becomes prohibitive. Proposal will help preserve family farm. Expansion of cities penalizes the fringe-area farmer for something over which he has no control.

AGAINST — Farmers already receive subsidies and special dispensations. Proposal would cost state and local government substantial revenues at a time when all governmental levels are hard pressed. Taxing one man's land at a higher or lower rate than another's is fundamentally unfair.

2. Authorization to create airport authorities composed of one or more counties, first through act of Legislature then through petition of qualified voters, and finally by referendum.

FOR — Regional airports serve wide areas, thus the people in those areas should share both its costs and management.

AGAINST — Creation of airport authorities would further complicate the layer-upon-layer confusion of special governmental districts. It already takes longer to drive to the airport than to fly to a distant city in some cases, and regional airports would compound this problem.

3. Withdrawing Arlington State College from participation in the Permanent University Fund.

FOR — The 59th Legislature did not intend for the college to participate in both the permanent fund and a state ad valorem tax fund when it was made part of the University of Texas System.

AGAINST — The college should be allowed continued participation in the fund, as it did as part of the Texas A&M University System.

4. Increasing permissible terms for directors of conservation and reclamation districts from two to six years.

FOR — Six-year terms would permit staggered elections every two or three years, reducing cost of elections. Proposal authorized, but does not require, longer terms.

AGAINST — Proposal includes no provision for recall and poses threat of making elective officials less responsive to needs and desires of the people than if they were serving two-year terms.

5. Authorizing Legislature to provide system of retirement, disability and death benefits for county officials, employees and others.

FOR — Noncompulsory retirement plan would aid in recruiting and holding employees and ameliorate layoffs of elderly employees who should be relieved of active duty. There is no retirement system for elective county officials.

AGAINST — Employees are already eligible for Social Security at much lower cost.

6. Providing assistance for survivors of law enforcement officers, firemen and Department of Corrections custodial personnel.

FOR — System would eliminate sole reliance for charitable contributions to provide for needs of survivors.

AGAINST — It is unfair to single out a certain class of public employees for special treatment. Costs should be borne by cities and counties, not by the state.

7. Repealing poll-tax requirement and requiring Legislature to provide annual registration of voters.

FOR — Constitution would be rid of void and ineffective language; registration policy would become stable, not at mercy of Legislature's controlling factions.

AGAINST — Annual registration inhibits greater voter participation; question is best left in hands of Legislature; proposal is unnecessary in light of U.S. Supreme Court action.

8. Allowing newcomers to state to vote for president and vice-president, and for recent former residents to vote absentee in presidential election.

FOR — Many Americans are being disfranchised on the national level because they move about from state to state, which has little to do with qualifications to vote for president.

AGAINST — Brief residence requirements of a state or county are not too much to ask.

9. Increasing membership of Texas Criminal Appeals to five and lengthening court's term.

FOR — Would facilitate disposition of appeals and would effect almost continuous function. Present provisions governing length of term were intended as temporary when enacted 40 years ago.

AGAINST — Integration of civil and criminal appellate courts is needed, not patchwork preservation of present system. State should move toward plan in which judges run (Missouri plan) rather than increasing number of judges and thus the campaigns that must be conducted.

10. Providing that change in junior college or school district boundaries will not abrogate, cancel or invalidate taxes or bonds, previously voted.

FOR — Plan is already in effect in Dallas County and has proved successful.

AGAINST — Newly-annexed areas would be subjected to taxation at rates not specifically voted upon by the newly annexed property owners.

11. Authorizing Texas Water Development Board to issue $200 million in bonds upon two-thirds vote by Legislature, and expanding uses of Texas Water Development Fund.

FOR — Individual political subdivisions in Texas do not have money, authority or facilities to plan and develop efficient statewide plans.

AGAINST — Development of Texas water resources is better handled locally than by the state.

12. Authorizing Legislature to provide for consolidating functions in counties of 1.2 million population or more.

FOR — One unit's assessing property could guarantee uniformity and fairness; county may be able to provide services better or at less expense than small towns. System would be completely voluntary.

AGAINST — Large cities would have the votes to override wishes of rural population; possibility exists that services would be provided to well-to-do areas but not in less-attractive subdivisions.

13. Allowing members of armed forces to vote in Texas if they satisfy ordinary requirements.

FOR — Present law was inspired by mutinous conduct of nonresident volunteers after Battle of San Jacinto. It is unfair to deny protectors of nation one of their most precious rights. One's most because U.S. Supreme Court has already spoken; therefore, proposal would eliminate contradiction.

AGAINST — Since many military men are stationed in Texas as only temporarily, measure is a threat to proper conduct of affairs of state and local government.

14. Authorizing system to handle aid for vocational rehabilitation.

FOR — No way now exists for Texas to receive its share of U.S. funds for training of handicapped. Proposal would be subject to state auditing safeguards and expenditure controls.

AGAINST — Adoption could mean less and less local control over program and more and more federal control.

15. Establishing date on which newly elected members of Legislature qualify and take office.

FOR — Representative's term begins on date of election, but provision not that certain for state senators; present system discriminates against senators.

AGAINST — Texas Supreme Court has already ruled that senator's term begins on date of election; thus, even though Constitution disagrees, uniformity has already been established.

War, Budget Big Problems Says Rep. Omar Burleson

Viet Nam and the country's fiscal problems remain as the two big issues the next Congress must face when it convenes in January, in the opinion of a veteran member, Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson.

As of January 1, Howard County, through redistricting, goes into Rep. Burleson's 17th district, and the congressman was in Big Spring Friday and Saturday, making informal calls on friends and meeting the public.

He reiterated that he is pleased to have the county as a part of his constituent area, and said "I hope I can serve well the interests of you people."

MORE BOMBING

The Viet Nam puzzle is yet to be solved, said Burleson, and he said generally speaking he remains in full support of President Johnson's policy. "About the only area in which I differ," said the West Texan, "is that I feel we should step up the bombing of more significant military installations in North Viet Nam. Of course this is taking a calculated risk of deeper involvement by Red China—but I feel the risk already exists."

Burleson said the matter of a tax increase will await an administration recommendation, and he has not seen yet that a firm decision has been mapped.

TAXES

"If we must vote more taxes to support the Viet Nam war and to bring about a balanced budget, then I would be for such action. If more taxes mean more domestic spending and more inflationary pressures, then I would have to oppose them. I would want some assurance that much domestic spending by the government be curtailed. There are many programs which, with the world situation what it is, could be postponed without serious damage."

Burleson said he felt the next Congress will not be producing the volume of legislation as has been put on the books the past couple of years. "There will be some 'shoring up' of programs, some necessary revisions of laws, some tidying up of complex bills that have been passed. I have the feeling that a more conservative approach to legislation will be taken by the next Congress."

NEW CONGRESS

This will be determined of course, he thought, by the make-up of the Congress in the wake of next Tuesday's elections. He personally did not think there would be a heavy turnover from Democratic losses.

The congressman, in speaking of the new Congress, reiterated his endorsement of all the Democratic ticket next Tuesday, including Waggoner Carr for the U.S. Senate. "The entire Texas delegation in Congress has made plain its endorsement of Mr. Carr," he said.

ON WAYS AND MEANS

A major advancement in "position" in Congress also is due for Rep. Burleson, since he is due to become a member of the Ways and Means Committee, the most influential one in the House. Texas will have a vacancy on that committee, and the Texas delegation has given Burleson unanimous endorsement for an appointment. Barring a major upheaval at the polls Tuesday (which would change the Democratic-Republican ratio on the committee) Burleson is due for the post.

It means that he must give up two other committees, the one on House Administration, of which he is chairman, and, Foreign Affairs.

"I feel that I can be of more service to my district on the Ways and Means Committee," he said. "It is in the tax and 'business' legislation, an area in which I am vitally interested, as is all West Texas."

"As our legislative processes have become more complex, a member of the Congress needs to better compartmentalize—or specialize, if you please—his efforts. I want to put my full energies on the Ways and Means Committee."

ACHIEVEMENTS

He said, however, he is particularly proud of achievements made by the House Administration Committee in the past few years. "We have done a great deal of reform in operational procedures, including the use of automated equipment, and we are effecting major savings. We are getting along with less personnel. We also have developed a career police force which is much more efficient than formerly."

Burleson is recognized as one of the leaders of the more conservative element of the House. He acquired a number of new counties in his district in the state re-shuffle, and currently is visiting 71 all of them.

Camporee Set For Scouts In December

A camporee designed to help Boy Scouts get off second and first class advancement requirements will be held at the Round Up grounds here Dec. 2-3-4.

Frosty Robison, district camping and activity chairman, said that a series of demonstrations on first and second class requirements would be staged during the camporee, and boys will rotate between these demonstrations. Afterwards, the boys will have an opportunity to be examined by unit leaders or others and pass the work.

"This is an excellent opportunity for boys in all our troops to get off those requirements that have held them back on rank advancement," said Robison. "At the same time, the demonstrations will give boys a chance to master skills in scouting."

Camping will be done by troops with each unit furnishing its own meals, tentage, etc. The first night in camp, the boys will have troop campfires, but the second evening there will be a big campfire for all when the awards will be made.

Periods will be set aside for strictly fun activities, Robison said, and the camp will break the morning of Dec. 4 in time for boys to go to Sunday school and church.

Florida Sheriff Suspended Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Haydon Burns today suspended Dade County (Miami) Sheriff T. A. Buchanan for the second time this year. Buchanan was indicted Friday on two charges of conspiracy to commit bribery.

Burns took the action in Jacksonville. The governor said he ordered Buchanan to turn over his duties to his executive officer, Leonard McNutt, pending appointment of an interim sheriff.

Buchanan was suspended in April after being indicted on a perjury charge. He later was acquitted.

Four of Buchanan's top aides also were indicted Friday.

To All the Wonderful People of Howard County — my sincere appreciation for the splendid cooperation and understanding you have bestowed on me in my one term as county commissioner Precinct 2.

To the voters of Precinct 2, I wish to take this means to humbly express my gratitude and heartfelt appreciation to you, the voters, for making this term in office possible. To you, I will always be earnestly grateful for the honor you afforded me. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

To The Voters of Howard County

IN ORDER THAT THE VOTERS MAY KNOW ALL OF THE FACTS CONCERNING THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE IN HOWARD COUNTY BEFORE THE ELECTION ON NOVEMBER 8, 1966, I SUBMIT THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION:

- The County Superintendent is an elected County-State school official, elected for a four-year term, whose primary duties are both administrative and supervisory, and are prescribed by state law.
- The office is supported by STATE FUNDS received from the Texas Education Agency, based upon a County Administration Budget approved by the elected County School Board and the Texas Education Agency finance Director. The sole item paid from local county taxes is the County Superintendent's annual bond premium of $5.00 per year.
- This office has actually spent $3,000 to $3,500 less than the approved operating budget for each year during the last five years. County records, available to all, will substantiate these facts.
- The question of abolishing the county superintendent's office is how it may BEST be done. I pledge, that if re-elected, I will support and work for abolishing the office by a legislative bracket bill. This will save the cost of a special election and will fix an early, specific date for closing the office and transferring its duties to the office of the county judge. I have discussed this with State Representative Temple Dickson and State Senator David Ratliff, and both have responded favorably to this procedure.
- My opponent has said: "If elected, I will work to secure the necessary petition to abolish this phantom office." While I cannot concur that it is a phantom office, this procedure means that if the voters are asked to approve abolishment, as she proposes, the office under state law cannot be terminated until Jan. 1, 1971. Moreover, the cost of a special election would be $800 to $1,000 to Howard County.

I earnestly seek your vote for re-election on Nov. 8 and offer you the knowledge and experience of a career in school administration to be used in the orderly, expeditious closing of the office and the transferring of its duties.

Local Man Killed When Hit By Car

Merritt E. Appling, 76, of 407 W. 7th Street, was killed at 6:30 p.m. Friday when he was struck by a car as he walked along the highway near the New Mexico border in Gaines County.

The body is now at River-Welch Funeral Home here and services are to be at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the River-Welch Funeral chapel. The Rev. Byron Orand will officiate and interment will be in the Resthaven Cemetery in Midland.

Mr. Appling, according to reports reaching here from Seminole, was killed almost instantly. The accident, according to State Highway Patrolman Pat Randel, was 12 miles south of Seminole on SH 385. Randel said that Appling apparently was walking for help after a tire had gone flat on his pickup. The car which struck the Big Spring man was driven by Joe Kennedy Howell, Amarillo. The body of the victim was removed to Seminole and later brought to Big Spring.

Mr. Appling, who had lived here since 1960, was born Jan. 30, 1890, in Stockdale. He married Dixie Omega Burrow on May 2, 1919, in Frederick, Okla. After her death on Oct. 28, 1960 he moved to Big Spring.

He was a Baptist and a member of the Odd Fellow's lodge at Wink. He had lived in Midland prior to coming here.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. E. E. Everett, Big Spring, and Mrs. Lucille Russell of Gonzales, La. There are three sisters, Mrs. Alley Polk, San Antonio; Mrs. Isola Townsend, McAllen and Mrs. Fannie Cirkle, Waco.

He has five grandchildren, two of whom live in Big Spring. The grandchildren here are Mrs. Carolyn Stein and Charles Rhodes.

Workshop Series Is Launched

Workshops Being Offered For Local Business Staffs

"The size of our brains isn't nearly as important as the size of our thinking," Warren Quinlan told a workshop at Montgomery Ward Saturday morning.

This is the first of a series of eight workshops already booked for local businesses. Others may be added without charge on request.

"Our attitudes and skill abilities are becoming more and more important to the success-minded businessman," Quinlan advised the Ward employees. "This is why the Dale Carnegie Courses have developed a non-commercial workshop program for business as a community service. Quinlan is director for the courses in West Texas."

"Six workshop programs are available," he explained, "but before one of these workshops is presented, there must be a clear-cut purpose for presenting it and an understanding of what the workshop is designed to accomplish, how it will be presented, and what is required for the company for whom it is being produced."

The human relations program is designed to motivate personnel to get along better with others and to be people conscious.

The communications course stresses clear expression of ideas, to promote better listeners and sell ideas instead of arguing.

Personnel are inspired to develop faith in their abilities and to assume responsibility as part of the self-confidence course. The enthusiasm program not only generates new enthusiasm for the company and its product, but shows individuals how to become better organized. The attitude workshop aims at developing constructive ambition, to overcome indifference.

"If we can build right attitudes, right aptitudes follow," Quinlan added.

No charge is made to the business for the workshop, providing it is booked one week in advance. Information can be had by calling The Herald, AM 3-7331.

C. E. Campbell Rites Monday

Funeral services for Carl E. Campbell, 72, Big Spring painter, manufacturing company executive and an outstanding leader in the Boy Scout movement in West Texas, will be at 10 a.m. Monday in the Baptist Temple Church. The Rev. James Puckett, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park with Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Campbell died unexpectedly on Thursday night, of a heart attack.

Pallbearers for his services are to be Joe Pickle, S. M. Smith, Raymond Tollett, D. D. Johnson, E. B. McCormick, Alvin Smith, Garrett Patton, and Carl Corbin. Mr. Corbin is from Midland.

All friends of scouting are asked by the family to consider themselves as honorary bearers.

All recipients of the Silver Beaver in the area are asked to wear their awards and be seated in a special section.

2,253 Voters Qualify For Voting Next Year

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, said that 2,253 Howard County electors have formally qualified themselves for voting in 1967 by registering with her office during October.

The registration system replaces the old poll tax plan. All qualified voters are asked to come to the office and register. There is no charge for registering. Deadline for registration is Jan. 31.

Mrs. LeFevre warned those who have registered that their action has no bearing on their right to vote in Tuesday's election.

"Many who have registered in the past few days seemed to have the impression they were qualifying themselves to vote Tuesday," she said. "We explain to each registrant—but some seem to be confused."

In order to vote in Tuesday's general election, the voter must have his 1965 poll tax receipt, his exemption certificate or, in a limited number of instances, special registration certificates which were written in the fading days of the poll tax payment period last spring.

Astros Receive Med Go Signal

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 12 astronauts Saturday received medical clearance to rocket into space next Wednesday while another Cape Kennedy launch team prepared to shoot for the moon Sunday.

Here is the schedule as the United States this week takes two more important steps toward a manned lunar landing:

The Lunar Orbiter 2 spacecraft is to set sail for the moon at 4:21 p.m. Sunday atop an Atlas-Agena rocket. Its goal is to orbit the moon and take high-resolution photographs of 13 potential astronaut landing sites.

DOUBLE-HEADER

The Gemini 12 double-header is to start at 2:16 p.m. Wednesday when another Atlas will boost an Agena satellite into orbit as a target for Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

The astronauts are to start the pursuit atop a Titan 2 rocket at 3:55 p.m. This will be the last Gemini flight. Lovell and Aldrin passed a four-hour medical examination Saturday with flying colors. Doctors pronounced them physically and mentally fit for their planned four-day voyage.

'FIT TO FLY'

Dr. Norman Pincock, chief examining physician, reported the astronauts were "fit to fly. They're in great shape and ready for the mission."

Highlights of the Gemini 12 mission include a rendezvous and link-up with the Agena, three work sessions outside the spacecraft — Aldrin photograph a total eclipse of the sun and a sodium vapor cloud to be speared across the sky by a French rocket.

Major goal of the journey is to determine whether man can work effectively outside an orbiting spaceship. On two of the last three Gemini trips, space-walking astronauts had fatigue problems because of exhaustion doing just simple tasks.

LOTS OF REST STOPS

"I'll attempt to work at a moderate pace, with plenty of rest stops, throughout my entire EVA (extravehicular activity)," Aldrin said.

He plans to spend nearly five hours performing EVA tasks—a two-hour space walk plus two long "space stands" during which he'll poke the upper half of his body through an open hatch.

The flight is to end next Sunday, concluding the successful Gemini project. First orbit flights of the three-man Apollo moonship are to start early in 1967.

Lunar Orbiter 2 is to carry on photographic research started by Lunar Orbiter 1 last August. The first of the series was commanded to a deliberate crash landing on the moon last week so that it would not interfere with the new spacecraft.

Italy's Floods Leave Death And Destruction

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Italy's most ruinous floods since the Middle Ages eased Saturday after levying a high toll in life and property and damaging some great art treasures. But streams were rising again under lowering clouds in the northeast.

More than 100 persons were feared dead in the Italian phase of fall storms kicking up across Europe from the Mediterranean to Scandinavia. More than 40 dead have been counted.

THOUSANDS HURT

Thousands were injured and tens of thousands made homeless.

The threat of further trouble centered in the Alpine region of Trento, where floods and landslides already had cost the lives of at least six persons. Trento, a city of 70,000 was isolated. The Weather Bureau said the clouds could unleash new waves of disastrous rains.

All through the central and most northern sections, struck Friday by the full fury of rain-swollen, tempest-boiled rivers and streams, the floods were retreating.

SCENES OF MISERY

Florence and Venice, two of the great museum cities of the world, were scenes of desolation and misery.

Experts said the floods had caused more damage to Florence and its priceless art works than the combat of World War II. Venice lay stunned and slime-covered by the worst flood tide to hit the canal city in a thousand years.

Weather worsened in other sections of Europe. England got scattered snows and flooding. Landslides and rampaging rivers killed 11 persons in Austria. Freezing temperatures, rains and snows hit Spain.

Poland Raked — Fierce winds lashed the Yugoslav coast and raked southern Poland. At least five persons were dead or missing in Yugoslavia. Trees and electric lines in Poland's Tatra Mountains fell before winds reported to have reached 135 miles an hour.

In Italy, Venice was left awash in stinking, salty slime deposited by the Adriatic Sea that had poured water up to six feet above normal levels.

BROKEN BOATS

Venice was littered with smashed and sunken gondolas and broken boats hurled onto canal banks. Scores of the lovely foot bridges that lace the city together were broken. Homes, completion of a road stretching four miles south from West Knott, then swing back two miles to the east to FM 2231. This steady program of permanent improvement makes Howard County distinctive. More than that, it helps residents in these areas.

Absentee voting ended Friday with 335 having cast ballots. This is about 45 per cent more than four years ago, and perhaps it indicates that people will be good citizens after all and vote Tuesday in the important general election. Incidentally, there are 16 proposed state constitutional amendments on the ballot. For your help, a list, with terse pros and cons, is in today's Herald.

Dr. Robert Angel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel has more than passing interest in the Cleveland Williams-Cassius Clay bout. It was Dr. Angel who was on duty when Williams was hauled into a Houston hospital a couple of years ago with what appeared to be fatal gun wounds. In a five-hour operation, Williams was patched up, and his remarkable stamina pulled him through. Now he's fighting for the heavyweight title.

Cotton coming to the market so far from Howard and surrounding counties has shown about half-middling and strict low middling, about a third light middling and low middling. The staple has been averaging 29-32nds. It is probable, however, that the quality may pick up as the crop pops open.

Sterling County had a pair of oil discoveries during the week. Texaco No. 1 S. McEntire, seven miles west of Sterling City, had 28 barrels of 44 gravity oil from the Fusselman at 8,757-788, but nearly as much salt water. Champlin No. 1, Foster looked like a Leonard discovery, flowing at the rate of about 75 barrels a day. Martin County had a Dean-Wolfe strike in Pan American No. 1-C Slaughter, which flowed 238 barrels from 8,840-9,215. It is Replicans also hope to elect at least two state senators and three to five state representatives, mostly from Dallas and Houston, to join the lone GOP legislator currently, Rep. Frank Caboon of Midland.

There also will be two—maybe three—Negro legislators, all Democrats, the first elected since Reconstruction Days.

Much of the ballot will be taken up with "for" and "against" choices on the 16 suggested changes in the state Constitution. The one for poll tax repeal (No. 7), which would make annual voter registration permanent, is easily the most discussed.

Despite the nine month tussle between Carr and Tower, voter apathy has been the biggest issue of the Senate campaign.

"The greatest challenge faced by political candidates on Nov. 8 in Texas is not their respective opponents, but the apathy of the general public," said Gov. John Connally, who endorsed Carr.

Tower, 41, a former college instructor from Wichita Falls, seldom mentioned that he is a Republican and his billboards carried no identification. He stressed his past record of cooperation with both Democratic and Republican officials in Washington and Austin.

Stock Market Edges Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged higher statistically last week, squeezing out a fourth straight weekly rise.

This was so even though the Dow Jones industrial average took a minor loss of 2.90 at 805.06.

The verdict was clear cut among the 1,565 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. It included 839 gainers and 567 losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks reflected this by rising 1.3 to 294.9.

It was a narrow rise, however, and if not for a quick turnaround in the news at the end of the week, it might have ended with a loss.

VOLUME DIP — Volume for the week was 31,497,651 shares compared with about 31.9 million shares the week before.

As the week's trading began it became apparent profit-taking was in order on the strong three-week rise that lay behind. Stocks were sold down sharply but buyers came in quickly.

The underlying support seemed to be a signal for a general rally of the much-battered glamour stocks Tuesday. All 15 of the most active stocks—a list dominated by high-flying glamour issues—made gains.

"It looks as if some of the big trading funds are back in the market," said Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co.

The "performance" or "hedge" funds play the market like traders.

Texas Political Leadership United In Endorsing Carr

AUSTIN — Rarely—if ever—has a Democratic candidate received such widespread and broad-based support among his party as that received by Waggoner Carr in his bid for the U.S. Senate.

Carr has received the endorsement of the President, the entire Congressional delegation from Texas, most all of the state officials and hundreds and hundreds of county and precinct officials.

Such team-support is a result of being a member of the "Texas Team."

Four years ago, a rare political phenomenon occurred in Texas. All three of the top state positions—governor, lieutenant governor, and attorney general—were filled by new men at the same time.

Working together, these three top officials—with outstanding co-operation from members of the State Senate and House of Representatives—have written brilliant chapters of progress for Texas.

"This Teamwork for Texas" caused Gov. Connally to comment: "All of these accomplishments have not come about by accident. The last two sessions of the Legislature, under Democratic administration, have been described by objective observers as the most productive in this century.

"Why has this success been possible?"

"It's because your elected state officials have worked together in unity and harmony for a common purpose: to create more educational opportunities, more job opportunities, more progress in every way for the people of Texas."

Gov. Connally said the rapid strides of progress have been possible because the overwhelming majority of Texas' elected officials had "made a conscious and deliberate effort to cooperate and to reduce the type of discord often seen in the past."

"Texas has had stable and responsible government because its leaders are stable and responsible officials," the governor added.

LOOKS TO WASHINGTON — Today, one of those three state officials who started Texas' march to new heights of achievements four years ago is seeking to extend that same brand of harmony and teamwork to Washington.

To spotlight Carr's rate, the State Democratic Executive Committee devoted its traditional pre-convention banquet exclusively to Carr. This is the first time a single candidate has had this honor.

SINCERE THANKS — We wish to thank all our neighbors, friends, and relatives for their expressions of sympathy, the floral offerings, and all of those who brought food, especially the members of the Lutheran church, the Church of the Nazarene, and the First Methodist Church. We would especially like to thank Dr. Thomas and the staff of Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital for their untiring care, and many other kind deeds performed at the death of our loved one.

Democrats some sympathy votes.

In any event, no major political upheaval of nationwide proportions is in sight for the campaign finale—no throwing out of the "ins" on a scale so massive as to endanger Democratic majorities in the Senate, House or governors' mansions.

1968-OMENS

In fact, the Tuesday results might turn out to be notable largely for their omens for 1968 and what they might do to chances for even higher national office of men running this time for governor or senator.

Republican Govs. George Romney of Michigan and James A. Rhodes of Ohio are in this classification, along with the party candidate for governor in California, Ronald Reagan. So, too, is the Republican senatorial candidate in Illinois, Charles H. Percy.

A survey by Associated Press bureaus and member newspapers just ahead of the election lists Romney and Rhodes as big winners. It tabs Percy as the Republican most likely to be a Democrat from the U.S. Senate—a grizzled veteran Paul Douglas.

TIGHT RACE

Movie-television actor Reagan apparently is out in front in a tough, tight race with Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

There are plenty of other attention-sparking races, too—for governor in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Maryland and New York, for example. And Senate contests in such states as Massachusetts, Tennessee and Texas.

But one thing that catches the eye of the party pros is that the chief tom-tom thumpers in the opposing political camps in this nonpresidential election year are men who aren't running for anything—this time.

CARR DUE LBJ VOTE — The Democrats are credited with gaining a Senate seat in Idaho, at the expense of Republican incumbent Len B. Jordan, to offset a loss in Illinois.

Besides the Republican Senate seat in Massachusetts, both parties are being assigned a 50-50 chance at the Republican Senate seat now held by John G. Tower in President Johnson's home state of Texas.

Johnson is going to vote back home near the LBJ Ranch and he has endorsed Democratic Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, whom some Democrats consider too conservative.

And there are even up chances at Democratic Senate seats in Montana, Oregon and Tennessee.

Russian-Built Plane Crashes

NICE, France (AP) — A Russian-built Ilyushin plane, operated by Air-Mali and bound for Marseille from Zagreb, Yugoslavia, crashed late Saturday above the Cayolle Pass in the French Alps northeast of Nice.

Officials said seven members were aboard, all crew members. Air-Mali is a small African company operated by the Mali republic of West Africa.

The crash occurred in a blizzard above the village of Entraignes.

A resident of the village reported that he had seen a red flare from the towering mountains. He gave an alert and officials later identified the plane as the Air-Mali craft, on a flight for mechanical servicing.

Officials said that because of heavy snowfall in the region and lack of visibility, it was impossible to send rescue parties or investigators to the site before dawn.

Authorities at the Marseille airport confirmed that they had received advance notice of a flight plan concerning this particular craft.

Herrington Rites Slated Monday

COLORADO (SC) — Services for Frank Herrington, 69, who died Friday in the VA Hospital in Kerrville, will be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Kiker and Son Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery.

Mr. Herrington had been in ill-health for a number of years. He formerly lived in Colorado City, leaving here in the mid 1930's. He was a retired boot-maker. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Methodist church.

Survivors include his wife, who lives in Brady; one son, Frank Herrington Jr., San Antonio, one daughter whose name and address are not known, and one brother, Hope Herrington, of Carrizo Springs. There are four grandchildren.

Weather Forecast

Rain is forecast Sunday in north Pacific states, Mississippi Valley and central Plains. Rain and snow is slated for northern Plains and snow in north and central Rockies and northern New England. CONFUSING er registration must vote in favor of keeping the already outlawed state poll tax on the books.

Also, there are two Jesse James running for state treasurer—one the veteran Democratic incumbent and the other the Constitution party nominee.

VOTE SIZE KEY — One thing everyone agrees on, is that the size of the voter turnout likely will determine the hot Senate race. The bigger the vote, the better Carr's chances.

The Texas Election Bureau estimates "a little less than two million voters" out of 3.1 eligible. Only 1.25 million turned out for the May Democratic primary.

There were no statewide contests in the Republican primary.

There are numerous offers of the record predictions from legislators and state officials of no more than 1.6 or 1.7 million voting.

Tower says 1.5 million is more realistic.

TWO QUESTIONS — Two unanswered questions could vitally affect the vote. They are:

—Would a campaign appearance by President Johnson have helped or hurt Carr?

—How many liberal Democrats will carry out threats to vote for Tower, or not at all?

Tower won the Senate seat in 1961 to succeed Lyndon Johnson and become the first GOP senator from Texas since 1870. He now is the only elected senator of Texas Republicans in Washington.

A Tower success, or defeat, Tuesday is expected to affect the fate of GOP candidates in congressional and legislative races, particularly in Dallas and Houston.

The highest GOP hopes for Congress center on Houstonian George Bush in the new northwest 7th District of Harris County and Pampa rancher Bob Price in the 18th District-of the Panhandle. Neither faces an incumbent.

GOP HOPES — Republicans also hope to elect at least two state senators and three to five state representatives, mostly from Dallas and Houston, to join the lone GOP legislator currently, Rep. Frank Caboon of Midland.

There also will be two—maybe three—Negro legislators, all Democrats, the first elected since Reconstruction Days.

Much of the ballot will be taken up with "for" and "against" choices on the 16 suggested changes in the state Constitution. The one for poll tax repeal (No. 7), which would make annual voter registration permanent, is easily the most discussed.

To the do-it-yourself decorator, print advertising makes a material contribution. In more ways than one.

How else can she get such complete information on prices, sizes, styles and colors right in her own living room?

Where else can she find a stunning idea—and bring it to a standstill for further study? What other medium lets her clip and compare?

Print's the only one.

And the spell that print weaves doesn't stop with material. It helps ring the register for everything from automatic can openers to zipper closures. Which is why—whatever you have to sell—part of your sales message belongs in print.

Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

Prisoners Fatten Up On Meals In County Jail

Sheriff A. N. Standard said last week that he fed the prisoners in the county jail for less than 20 cents a meal. This statement has stirred several citizens to ask:

Mustangs Lace Aggies, 21-14

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Big play Jerry Levias came through again Saturday, taking a punt back 83 yards to the touchdown that gave Southern Methodist a 21-14 victory over Texas A&M and kept it on top of the Southwest Conference football race.

The Mustangs were winning their fourth straight conference game and remaining ahead of Arkansas, the last team left in the race other than SMU. Arkansas beat Rice 31-20 and clashed with Southern Methodist in the first three minutes as it stunned 68,711 fans with a 90-yard scoring drive that saw Tony Williams score from the one with Bob Anderson's kick giving it a 7-0 lead.

The defense was responsible for Southern Methodist tying the score and Levias, first Negro to get a Southwest Conference athletic scholarship, was the boy who won it. He has been the big punch in every game played by SMU this season.

Texas A&M virtually dominated the first half and it was late in the second period before SMU could score.

Gil Smith blocked Dennis Parlee's field goal try to set up the first Aggie touchdown drive—a 64-yard surge in which Wendell Housley dug 14 yards out of the big SMU line and Edd Hargett passed for 27 yards. The touchdown was on an 11-yard throw by Hargett to Bob Long.

The Aggies scored the next time on a 78-yard march with pass interference on the SMU 22 helping them along. Hargett threw 15 yards to Bill Sallee and then to Larry Lee for a touchdown—but it was called back and the Aggies penalized for holding. But Hargett then passed to Lee for 23, to Ronnie Lindsey for six and Tommy Maxwell for 11 and the touchdown.

Glynn Lindsey kicked both Aggie extra points.

SMU got its first touchdown on the running and passing of Mac White. He passed to Larry Jernigan for 18 and ran for 31 in the surge that found White bouncing over from a yard out.

Two pass interceptions led to SMU tying the score in the third period. The first, by Pat Gibson, stopped the Aggies after their Tuffy Fletcher had recovered a fumble on the SMU five. The other gave SMU a touchdown as Wayne Rape gathered in a Hargett throw and scooted 25 yards to the score. Then came Levias' electrifying run.

Dennis Parlee kicked all three extra points for SMU.

The fellow who furnished Levias his key block on the long touchdown run was George Wilmot. It came after Levias had picked his way across the field and finally found a hole near the left sideline that he could get through. Wilmot sprang him loose finally with a hefty block that knocked out the Aggie defender.

Spartans Ambush Hawkeyes, 56-7

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State, stung by an Iowa touchdown drive with the opening kickoff, roared back for a lopsided 56-7 victory Saturday as Gene Washington and Clint Jones rewrote the Spartan record book.

The triumph, the most top-heavy MSU victory since it blanked Indiana 54-0 in 1957, assured Michigan State at least a tie for a second successive Big Ten title.

Washington grabbed a pair of touchdown passes to bring his career total to 15—smashing the MSU record held by Bob Carey.

Jones put on scoring runs of 70 and 79 yards and a two-yard scoring drive as he set a MSU and Big Ten single game rushing record.

The pile-driving Jones collected 268 yards in 21 carries. The Big Ten record was 239 yards by Jim Grabowski of Illinois last year. Jones also broke MSU's single game rushing record of 207 yards set by Ron Rubick in 1962.

Iowa's brightest moments came in the first three minutes as it stunned 68,711 fans with a 90-yard scoring drive that saw Tony Williams score from the one with Bob Anderson's kick giving it a 7-0 lead.

Engineers Skim Past Cavaliers

ATLANTA (AP)—Fifth-ranked Georgia Tech finally overcame an aroused band of Virginia Cavaliers Saturday 14-13, coming from behind in the third quarter to mark up its eighth straight victory.

With just 15 seconds left on the clock, Cavalier specialist Braxton Hill attempted a 40-yard field goal that would have given Virginia an upset victory.

However, the kick was short and Tech ran out the clock.

Tech pulled ahead when Leny Snow dived over from the one and Bunky Henry kicked the extra point to make it Tech 14, Virginia 13.

horns kept alive faint hope for a share of the Southwest Conference football title.

Gilbert, who scored twice once on a 65 yard run, bettered the 1943 record of 199 yards by Ralph Elsworth against Rice.

Among the 38,000 in attendance was Miss Lynda Bird Johnson, daughter of President Lyndon B. Johnson, who was graduated from the University of Texas.

Until Gilbert broke away on his 65 yard fourth quarter touchdown which clinched Texas' victory, the Longhorns had methodically crunched 72, 52 and 81 yards for scores with Bill Bradley, a crippled sophomore quarterback, getting two touchdowns and Gilbert a pair.

The defeat wiped out any chance the slumping Bears had for the title. It was their third consecutive conference loss after upsetting defending champion Arkansas.

Texas drove 72 yards in nine plays the first time it had the ball, with Bradley scoring on a one-yard run. Then the Longhorns fell to making errors and didn't get beyond their 36-yard line as Baylor took a 7-6 half time lead on the first of Terry Southall's two touchdown passes.

It appeared for a time that Baylor's 218-pound linebacker Randy Behringer might lead the Bears to their first victory over Texas in nine years. He intercepted a Gilbert fumble and returned it ten yards to the Longhorn 22 to set up Baylor's first touchdown which Tommy Smith got on a 21 yard pass.

Behringer also blocked the extra point kick after Texas' first touchdown and he forced Bradley into a fumble on the Longhorn 28 in the second quarter. Three plays later Paul Becton fumbled after completing a Terry Southall pass and Corby Robertson recovered for Texas on its 18.

Texas' first two possessions in the third quarter produced touchdowns, with Gilbert throwing a two yard run and Bradley on a five yard run at the end of an 81-yard, seven-play drive. Gilbert, the conference's leading rusher, got off a 55-yard run which set up Bradley's second score.

Southall, a senior completed 24 passes, a career high for 188 yards. He threw a seven yard scoring toss to George Cheshire in the third quarter.

Richey Defeated In Tennis Play

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP)—America's top-ranked tennis player, Edson Richey, beat the Brazilians 6-4, 6-4 Saturday and gave the United States a 1-1 split with Brazil in the opening singles round of the Davis Cup Inter-Zone tennis competition.

In the first match, Edson Richey of Dallas, Tex., 5-7, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3, defeated the Brazilian first set and became a sitting duck for Mandarino.

The day's results placed extra importance on Sunday's doubles match in which Ralston, and Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va. probably will play Koch and Mandarino.

The final singles are scheduled Monday, with a reverse pairing. Ralston will play Mandarino and Richey will face Koch.

The winner of the best-of-five match series here will qualify to play the West Germany-India survivor in the Inter-Zone final.

From this will come the team to challenge Australia for the big silver trophy at Melbourne the latter part of December.

The 24-year-old Ralston, from Bakersfield, Calif., has been the wall, played overpowering tennis under a broiling Brazilian sun at the Leopoldina Juvenil Club here.

The United States had been placed in the hole when the 19-year-old Richey suffered a leg cramp in the fourth game of the

Kirkland Scores In Lions' Win

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—East Texas State's Lions rolled on undefeated in the Lone Star Conference Saturday with a 17-13 victory over Sam Houston.

Halfback Curtis Gayton of East Texas kicked a 34-yard field goal and added two touchdowns before halftime with a 9-yard run by quarterback Benny Kirkland of Big Spring and the 55-yard runback of an intercepted pass by Bill Garner.

Sam Houston scored in the final period on runs of 5 and 4 yards by Billy Arlen.

Runnels Split 2 Games With Travis Of Snyder

Big Spring scored with 1:17 left in the game on a pass from Johnny Rutherford to Toby Green. The drive covered 83 yards in five plays. Big Spring failed to convert, however.

Big Spring drove to Snyder's four in the second but lacked a half-yard of getting a down renewal. Runnels' record is now 5-3-1.

On defense, Charles Rodriguez, Lewis Switzer, Joe Zubiate, Green, Robert Dennis, Fernando Mendoza and Charlie Huff excelled for Runnels while Mendoza, Kyle Rozene and Green stood out on offense.

The Runnels-eighth graders ran their won-lost record to 4-4 by winning the opener.

In the second, Joe Lane passed to Bruce Hicks for 47 yards to Snyder's one, after which Joe Chavez barreled over for the score. Chavez also added the two extra points.

Later in the second, Runnels scored on a 14-yard run by Ernest Zuabiate but Big Spring was caught holding. The Yearlings drove to the enemy four but lost possession.

Runnels added its insurance tally in the fourth on a dazzling 56-yard run by Chavez, at which time Hicks threw the key block around the enemy 30. That drive was for 60 yards and required three plays.

On offense, Hicks, Lane, Chavez, Benito Rubio, Zubiate, and Lewis Dumnam stood out for Runnels. On defense, Edward Peterson, Dale Crenshaw, Zubiate, Lewis Johnson and Tommy Mitchell were impressive.

Tech Raiders Rip Cowboys

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Quarterback John Scovell directed a flawless Texas Tech attack Saturday night as the Red Raiders rolled to a 10-7 inter-sectional football victory over Oklahoma State.

Kenny Vinyard's 35-yard field goal early in the fourth period sealed the verdict for the Raiders, who were knocking at the goal moments before the game ended.

But it was Scovell who lured a ringing response from a crowd of 28,175 with his daring runs and critical passing.

The victory was the third for Tech against five losses and upset the Southwest Conference 10-12-1 record against outside opposition.

The loss was the fourth against two victories and a tie for the Cowboys of the Big Eight Conference.

Scovell passed Tech into scoring position on a 41-yard drive in the fourth quarter that set up Vinyard's winning field goal.

The Dallas quarterback also spurred Tech 62 yards in 11 plays in the second period to deadlock the score 7-7. He hit four passes of 9, 8, 8 and 11 yards before he tipped eight yards for the touchdown.

Defensive halfback Terry Brown recovered two Tech fumbles in the first half and one at the Raider 19 set up an Oklahoma State touchdown. Jack Reynolds, operating from the 10, flashed four straight times into a mass of red-shirted Tech defenders and scored from the one on the final thrust.

The touchdown came with only 35 seconds gone in the second quarter and it appeared briefly that Oklahoma State was going to work the ball in again moments later.

Mike Leinert bobbed the ball on a kickoff return and Brown retrieved it at the Raider 23. Oklahoma State failed to make a first down and Craig Kesler's 34-yard field goal effort missed.

With eight seconds left in the half, Kesler got off another 39-yard try that sailed wide.

Dazzling Burger Leads OU Surge

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Quarterback Jim Bargar, who had waited on the sidelines since opening the Sooners' first game, led Oklahoma to a 37-6 Big Eight Conference football victory over Kansas State Saturday.

Bargar got the starting nod over Bobby Warmack and directed Oklahoma to its third conference win against one loss.

Eddie Hinton got two of the Sooner touchdowns. Bargar passed to Randy Meacham for another, tailback Jim Jackson scored a fourth and reserve wingback Stan Crowder took a 12-yard pass from Gene Cagle for the final score. Mike Vachon kicked four extra points and an 18-yard field goal.

Cornelius Adavis scored Kansas State's only touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Big Spring's B team played perhaps its finest game of the season in topping a good Abilene Cooper JV outfit, 22-18, here Saturday afternoon.

Quarterback Johnny Patton scored all three touchdowns for Cooper, along with two extra points. In addition, he passed to Roy Lee Warren for two more conversion points.

Cooper led at one stage, 12-8, but Big Spring was in command at half time, 16-12, and went farther ahead in the third when Patton hurried over from the seven.

Patton's other touchdown runs were for five and one yards. Johnny's passes to Luven Flores were especially effective for Big Spring.

With six minutes to go in the game, Big Spring drove to Cooper's two but couldn't get in. Cooper never threatened after that.

Robert Domingo's ball carrying was impressive for Big Spring. On defense, Emmett Miller, Bob Pursler, Steve Russell, Tommy Mauldin, Jimmy Wilson and Flores were particularly poisonous for the Shorthorns.

Cooper's JV team had beaten

San Angelo's JV's by three points the Saturday previous to the game here and brought an impressive 5-2 record to town. The victory was especially important in that it insured a better than 500 season for the

North Texas Vanquishes Cincy With Big Third

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — A three-touchdown explosion in the third quarter boosted North Texas to a 35-13 homecoming victory over Cincinnati University Saturday.

The triumph gave coach Odus Mitchell, in his final season, a homecoming record of 17 victories, three losses and one tie.

Cincinnati came from behind to post a 7-7 tie at the half, but a fumble on their own 10-yard line early in the third quarter triggered the Eagles' explosion.

Corkey Boland sparked the second-half outpouring by passing for 201 yards on 11 completions of 23 attempts. End John Love was the top North Texas receiver for the day, with 131 yards on six catches, one of them a 72-yard scoring strike from Boland in the final period.

Billy Woods, defensive stand-out for the Eagles, scored his fourth touchdown of the year on defense by returning a 26-yard pass interception.

Cincinnati's final tally came with five minutes left in the fourth quarter on a 69-yard screen pass, Greg Cook to Mike Turner.

North Texas struck first in the game with a 13-yard pass from Vidal Carlin to end James Russell with 20 seconds left in the first quarter. Cincinnati tied it up nine minutes before the half on Lloyd Pate's six-yard run.

The first Cincinnati score was set up by Ed Ford's 57-yard punt return. It was a wild, scrambling game that saw North Texas have six passes intercepted and the Bearcats lose the ball five times on fumbles.

Irish Blast Pitt, 40-0

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Nick Eddy's 85-yard kickoff return and Tom Schoen's 63-yard punt return for third quarter touchdowns enabled top-ranked Notre Dame to subdue Pittsburgh 40 to 0 for the Fighting Irish' seventh straight football victory Saturday.

Pitt's once-victorious Panthers held Notre Dame scoreless until the final five minutes of the first half when quarterback Terry Hanratty's three-yard scoring run capped an 80-yard Irish march.

However, the tide really turned against Pitt which had beaten only West Virginia in seven previous starts when Eddy raced 85 yards with the second half kickoff for a 140-yard Irish lead.

Still in the third quarter, Schoen grabbed a Panther punt in full stride and streaked 63 yards down the sidelines for a third-touchdown to make it 21-0 for the Irish and the Panthers began to fold.

In a 19-point Irish spurge in the fourth quarter, sophomore halfback Bob Gladieux scored twice on a 19-yard pass from Hanratty and a 5-yard touchdown run.

Pitt started gamely enough, keeping the Irish off balance by intercepting three Hanratty passes and recovering a fumble by Eddy the first time the Irish had the ball and marched from their 30 to Pitt's 25.

Coyotes Lash Garden City

GAIL — Gail handed Garden City its first defeat in District 4-B eight-man football play by winning a 34-8 decision here Friday night.

Quarterback Don Nunnally scored for Gail in the opening period on a one-yard keeper play. The try for PAT was no good.

Later in the round, Nunnally

Clay Hams It Up For Fans

HOUSTON (AP) — Wary of spies from the camp of challenger Cleveland Williams, heavyweight champion Cassius Clay found time Saturday to take a public workout for their Nov. 14 title bout.

Clay spent much of his first full day in Houston making public appearances. He agreed to help referee a football game between two boys' teams, and Friday night he visited a Negro university.

"They loved me out there," he reported.

He flexed his jaw muscles at a news conference, coming on at first like a tired old man of boxing, besieged by aches and pains, but slowly warming up to a veiled production (one round) and the inevitable poem.

Clay warned all concerned not to be startled by his training style in the workouts that began Saturday. He said:

"I know Williams will have spies in the gym. Don't be deceived by the way I train."

An emphatic "no" was the answer when he was asked if he thought Williams was hampered by a 1963 gunshot wound in the stomach, suffered in an altercation with a state highway patrolman.

"Williams is the most dangerous opponent I will have faced," Clay said. "He can hit hard."

As for his own condition, Clay said Williams was catching him tired after five fights this year, adding: "I have had a little trouble with my hands and back."

Clay said he didn't expect the aches to bother him, however, and promised to try finishing Williams off quickly.

"If I say the first round, you might not come," he said.

Cooper Cougars Batter Midland 'Dogs, 30-0

ABILENE — The Cougars of Abilene Cooper thoroughly dominated the statistics to take a 30-0 win off the Midland Bulldogs, but it wasn't quite as easy as it sounded.

After the teams swapped punts in the first quarter, Cooper's ace quarterback, Jack Mildren, rolled out, broke into the clear and ran 54 yards for a TD. With only a minute left on the clock before the half, he hit Randy Allen with a 32-yard scoring pass for a 13-0 lead at intermission.

However, Cooper quickly settled the issue in the third when Mildren climaxed a drive with a seven-yard TD, then passed to Allen for 15 yards to end a 41-yard push. Mitch Robertson booted a field goal

Tide Racks Up 7th Win

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Bobby Johns cracked a defensive duel by scoring on a 33-yard sprint with an intercepted pass Saturday, carrying Alabama to a 21-0 conquest of Louisiana State which kept the Crimson Tide's national and Southeastern Conference title hopes flaming.

The victory was the seventh straight for the fourth-ranked defending, national football champions, who stayed in a tie with Georgia for the league lead by boosting their conference record to 5-0.

Alabama had forged an 8-0 margin in the first half on a safety and two field goals by Steve Davis, but the Tide was not able to score a touchdown until Johns picked off Fred Hayes' pass and swept into the end zone with two minutes left in the third period.

A pass interception by Stan Moss with four minutes left in the game nailed down the triumph for the Tide. Moss grabbed reserve quarterback Trey Prather's toss and returned it to the Louisiana State six, and Frank Canterbury scored on a three-yard run to wrap up the victory.

Louisiana State, shut out for the second straight week — first time it has been blanked twice in a row since 1941 — could not handle the fired up Alabama defense led by linebacker Mike Hall and tackle Louis Thompson.

Green-Indians Shell Columbia

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Opportunist Mickey Beard commanded an awesome Dartmouth offensive attack Saturday as the defending Ivy League football champs scored almost at will in shelling winless Columbia 56-14.

The victory enabled the Indians to keep their hopes alive in a bid for a second consecutive title as Harvard, the only team to top Dartmouth in the league this season, was upset by Princeton 18-14. Dartmouth is now 4-1 in the league and 5-2 overall.

Dartmouth was nearly perfect under Beard's leadership. The Indians needed less than 2 1/2 minutes to bolt into a lead, going 59 yards in five plays after the kickoff. Jim Menter scored on an 18-yard run.

SW Texas Wins By 20-7 Tally

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Texas State, rolled over Stephen F. Austin 20-7 Saturday in a Lone Star Conference football game.

Halfback Mutt Henderson's 27-yard touchdown run followed by Lubbie Whitmire's PAT accounted for all of the SFA scoring in the first period.

Southwest Texas then scored in successive periods on Halfback Reece Morrison's 15-yard run, his run of 84 yards and quarterback Jesse Perkins' 1-yard keeper. Dave Morrison converted twice for Stephen F. Austin.

LOOKING 'EM OVER Track Prospects Bright

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis could come up with his finest track and field team ever at HCJC next spring, assuming that Linwood Wright will re-enroll as planned at mid-term. . . . Right now, the young sprinter is helping his father back east. . . . Jimmy Jasper, fastest sprinter in the state when in high school, is back, as is quarter-miler Rodger Hill. . . . Both reside in Dallas. . . . An Inglewood, N.J., freshman, William Walker, may be faster than Jasper. . . . He's done 9.5 in the 100, 20.7 in the 400, and 1:00.9 in the 800. . . . The straight-away and 20.9 around the curve, can run the quarter and the high hurdles. . . . Another fine sprinter in school here is Robert Lindsey of Sandusky, Ohio, who has run the 220 in 21.2 and the low hurdles in 18.7. . . . Vaulteur Joe Tighe, a boy with great potential, is back. . . . New to the team will be Lester Willingham, Class AAAA champion broad jumper while in Dallas-Adams; Max Locke, Class AA champion discus thrower, from Dalhart; Dee Fletcher, Dallas, (48.4 in the 440); John Gibbon of Decatur, third in the state meet in the half mile; Claude Crouch of Dallas, a 14.5 high hurdler; Jerry Greenwood of El Paso, a splendid mile and half miler; Bobby Baker of Big Spring, former Class AAAA champion in the hurdles; and Mike Gallagher. . . . Lewis has an 880-yard relay team in sight that can do a remarkable 1:25.0. . . . The HCJC mentor likes those first place finishes at Laredo and Fort Worth and wants to return the National Juco title to Texas. . . . After two weekends, Sunland Park's betting handle is up six per cent, with a daily average of $151,855. . . . The El Paso track's meeting extends for 84 days.

Kenneth Hamby, Richard Cauley, Gary Don Newsom and David Holmes are regarded as the four top students on the Big Spring High School football team. . . . I feel certain a playoff for the state junior college basketball championship could be worked out, if the opposing camps would agree to get together. . . . After all, the NCAA is discussing a playoff to decide a true national football champion. . . . Jim Pendleton, who played the outfield for the Houston club in its first big league baseball game, is now a Houston bus driver. . . . Eddie Erdelatz, the former Navy coach, is said to be seriously ill with an abdominal ailment that required surgery. . . . Bill Davee, now in the Cleveland Williams fight camp, is the same fellow who managed West Texan Lew Jenkins to the lightweight boxing championship a quarter of a century ago. . . . Of Williams, Davee says: "He won't stand there and get backed up like Brian London. . . . he won't fold after taking a little tap like Karl Mildrenberger. . . . and he won't stand in the middle of the ring, like his feet were nailed to the floor, like Floyd Patterson." . . . Iverson Martin, the former El Paso Country Club pro, is currently associated with a golf course at Las Cruces, N.M.

Ex-Big Springer Peppy Blount and other AFL game officials are paid an annual salary based on $3,600 for 11 games. . . . In addition, each official is given an air travel card and arranges his own transportation and is allowed $40 per day for hotel, meals, taxi and incidentals. . . . Perhaps you wonder what high school football arbiters make? . . . There is a minimum of $10 per game and it can go as high as $60, where the gate receipts exceed $10,000. . . . They make $50 each if the income is between $5,000 and $10,000, as is often the case at local games. . . . Officials working high school games are also paid seven cents a mile and schools also defray expenses of meals, hotels and taxi fare.

A Senator can help, if he wants to. . . . And, we have one who does. John Tower. . . . You can blame fiscal foolishness for our record high cost of living. John Tower does, and he's not alone. He and other Senators have voted for federal spending cuts this year that have saved Texans, and taxpayers everywhere, more than $5 billion. Non-defense items they felt we could do without. . . . if it would help slow the spiral. . . . It may have. . . . Essential spending is another matter. As a member of two major committees concerned with defense and the economy, John Tower worked to add $1 billion in priority items important to Texans. Like soil and water conservation, school lunch and milk programs, farm and ranch disaster relief, land-grants for colleges—to name a few. He and others felt that $900 million more were needed this year to help educate returning Vietnam veterans, to boost the Nike-X anti-missile project, to build more Navy ships, to provide for military medical care. He voted for these and other essentials. . . . If you're keeping score, and some people do, Senator John Tower has helped trim $5 billion in fat. . . . add back meat amounting to $2 billion. . . . for a net saving of $3 billion in tax dollars. That sure could help a deficit budget. . . . Who said Texas Republican couldn't be effective in Washington!

Re-elect Senator John Tower—he's doing a good job for Texas

Schweitzer Assigned To London

W. H. Schweitzer, assistant manager of the purchasing department for Humble's refinery at Baytown, left Saturday with his family for temporary assignment in London, England.

He married the former Jennetta Dodge of Big Spring in 1946. They were students together in Texas Tech and both graduated in 1943. Their three children, Bill, 16, Steve 14, and Carol, 7, accompanied their parents, and the family will tour in England and Europe before returning home.

Schweitzer, a native of Metcalf who was reared in Metcalf, will be assigned as purchasing consultant with the new Esso European organization. He took his degree in technical engineering and joined Humble's Baytown refinery that same year, serving in various technical positions. In 1961 he was assigned to purchasing. Schweitzer took time out for service in World War II and in the Korean Campaign. He is a leading layman of the St. Marks Methodist Church and resigned as chairman of the board of trustees of San Jacinto Methodist Hospital on the eve of his departure. Mrs. Schweitzer is the daughter of Mrs. J. P. Dodge, Big Spring.

Cosden proudly salutes another of its 'SENIORS' GEORGE C. FRANKLIN

George C. Franklin, a native Big Springer, began his Cosden career August 21, 1951 as a yardman. Months later he went off to military service, entering the USAF for a four-year stint. Some nineteen months were spent in Germany and Holland. He was discharged in 1956 as a S/Sgt.

When Franklin returned to Cosden he was a helper in the electric shop. Moving to the refinery laboratory as a utility man in 1957, he has worked up to No. 2 tester. Gasoline distillations are his specialty in this job.

This Cosden senior and his wife, the former Bonnie Jean Gill whom he married here July 22, 1950, reside at 1307 East 19th Street. Their daughter, Janice Elaine, 10, is a fifth grader at College Heights. And their son, Clayton, was born last August 27.

Hobbies in a wide range involve Franklin, who is a member of the Masonic Lodge. He enjoys all sports, amateur photography, chess, and he collects U.S. stamps and coins. He is a Boy Scout committeeman for Troop 339.

The family is active in Hillcrest Baptist Church, where Franklin serves as a deacon.

Call For Change In Import Policy

WASHINGTON—In a joint letter signed by 59 members of Congress from 18 states, Secretary of the Interior was urged to make improvements in the Mandatory Oil Import Program for 1967.

In their joint letter the congressional group expressed much concern about recent developments which appear to seriously threaten the meaningfulness of the Mandatory Oil Import Program.

Citing the recent action of the Foreign-Trade Zones Board in establishing a zone in Bay County, Mich., the letter stated that "if implemented by you with an import allocation (it) would, it seems to us, almost certainly lead to increased imports in such substantial amount as to be a most serious threat to the program."

The letter also cited the recent proposal by the interior department to change the graduated scale for determining allocations to refiners and expressed concern that this proposal "would discriminate against the smaller and medium-sized refiners in favor of the larger ones and constitutes such a basic change that it would have far-reaching disruptive effects."

Congressmen also expressed concern about 1) "the persistent and increasing overage above the estimate of Canadian imports... now averaging more than 30,000 barrels daily"; 2) the rapidly increasing imports of bonded jet fuel "now approximating 50,000 barrels daily"; and 3) "pending... application for increased shipments from Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands to the mainland." Rep. Ed Edmondson, (D-Okl.) and included signatures of these Texas congressmen: John Young, Jim Wright, Richard White, George H. Mahon, Bob Casey, John Dowdy, Lindley Beckworth, Wright Patman, W. R. Poage, Olin E. Teague, J. J. Pickle, O. C. Fisher and Graham Purcell.

Drilling Rig Blaze Called 'Arson' Job

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP)—The period of relative calm in the San Juan Basin oilfield strike was short-lived Friday as arsonists touched off a $257,000 fire at a drilling rig owned by one of the nine companies involved in the strike.

Sheriff Roy Marcum called the fire "definitely arson." He said there was evidence that the fire started in six different places.

Firemen prevented the blaze from spreading to two 5,000-gallon butane fuel tanks.

Marcum said the valve to a diesel oil fuel tank was opened and fed the blaze at the Circle A Drilling Co. rig nine miles east of Bloomfield.

Harry Drenner, organizer for the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union which started the strike last Sunday, asserted: "I'm quite confident the fire was not started by this union or a member of it."

The union said the strike against the nine drilling companies, including Circle A, was the first in a long effort to organize all the oil field workers in the basin.

The fire was the first act of violence in the strike although several verbal skirmishes between strikers and nonstrikers had been reported.

Nonstrikers had reported they were being threatened with violence if they did not cooperate with the union in the walkout.

Sheriff Marcum said the many reports of intimidation have not been substantiated. He said he called upon state police for assistance in maintaining order in the area because he was short of personnel.

Drenner said the fire would make no change in the union's plans. He stuck by his estimate that 75 per cent of the drilling capacity in the basin has been shut down by the strike.

Lofland Drilling Co., another firm involved in the strike, said all five of its rigs were operating with full crews despite the strike.

Drenner denied this, asserting "They're counting their rigs in Utah which are not affected by the strike."

Pay Opener Indicated In Midland

Texaco Inc. No. 6-D Scharbauer, Midland County dual prospect has shown as a possible Mississippi pay-opener with the swabbing of 54 barrels of new oil plus 19 barrels of load oil in two hours.

The crude came from perforations at 11,556-606 feet which were acidized with 2,500 gallons and later injected with 4,900 gallons. A drillstem test between 11,595 and 11,700 feet earlier had surfaced gas and returned 47.5-gravity oil. A Fusselman strike was indicated when perforations at 12,510-520 feet flowed 22 barrels of new oil through a 45-64-inch choke after treatment with 1,900 gallons of acid. Further tests are scheduled.

Ellenburger perforations at 12,950-60 feet were squeezed off after the zone was found to be noncommercial.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 18, block 39, T-2-S, T&P survey, two miles southwest of Midland, a mile northeast of Ellenburger production in the Hilonesome multipay field and 1 1/2 mile southwest of the Midland, Southwest (Fusselman and Ellenburger oil and Devonian gas) area.

New Discoveries From Wildcats

AUSTIN (AP)—Wildcat activity picked up in Texas this week, with three oil and 15 gas discoveries, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The previous week's wildcat efforts produced no results. Drillers completed 130 oil and 47 gas wells, bringing the year totals to 6,280 oil and 1,940 gas wells. Comparable 1965 figures are 5,863 oil and 2,450 gas wells.

Cotton Classing Gains, 5,000 Samples Handled

The USDA Consumer & Marketing Service, Cotton Classing Office at Lamesa classed 5,000 samples during the first week of operation this season, according to J. U. Dedear, officer-in-charge. At the close of business Friday there were approximately 3,500 unclassified samples on hand.

The present classing staff of two classers will be supplemented by three additional classers this weekend and more classers needed.

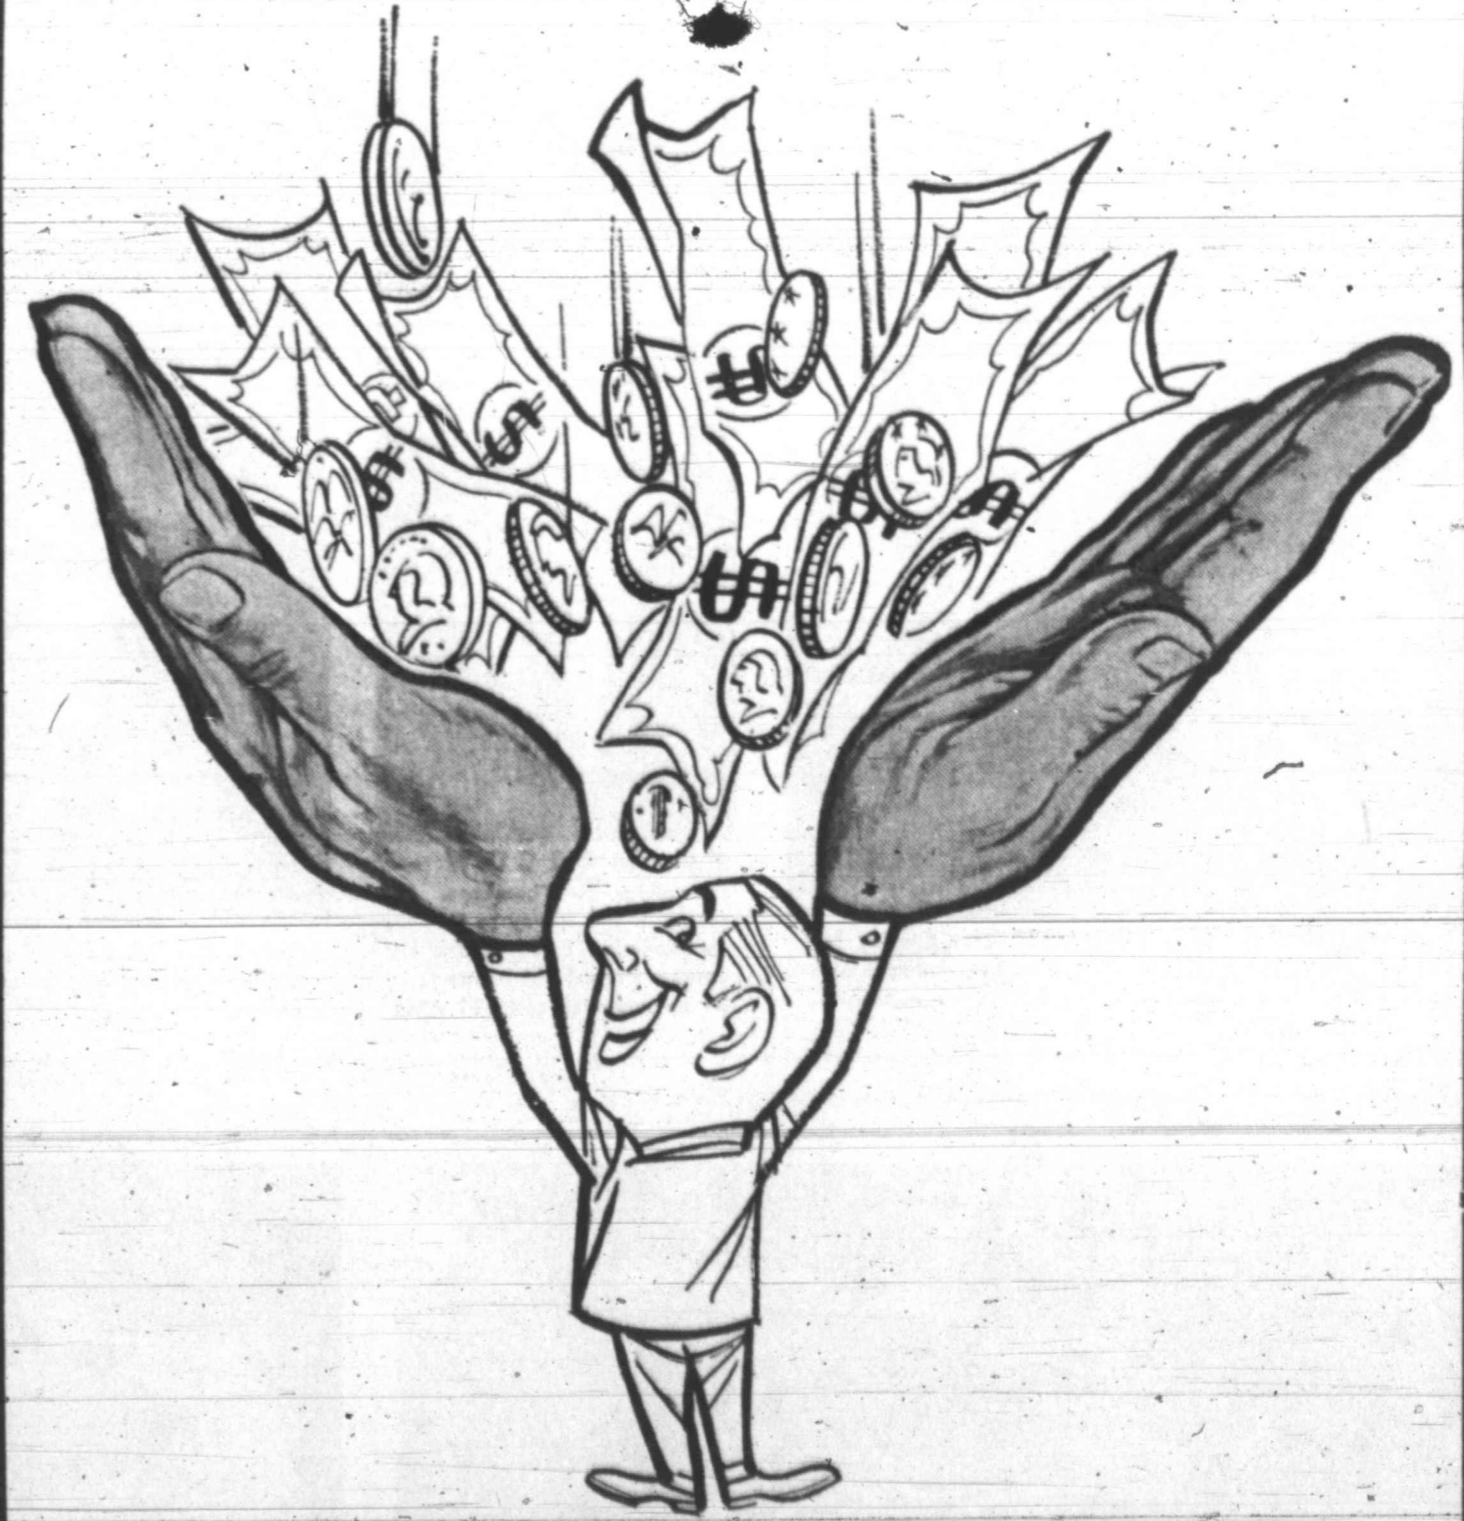

The classing office reports Middling Light Spotted was the predominant grade and comprised nearly one-half of the total classed. Middling accounted for 23 per cent; Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 17 per cent; Strict Low Middling six per cent and Spotted grades 15 per cent. Approximately six per cent of the grades were reduced because of bark.

Staple lengths varied from 3 1/4-inch, with one per cent in this category, to 1 1/4-inch which comprised four per cent of the total. The predominant lengths were 15-16 inch—47 per cent; 31-32 inch—20 per cent and 29-32 inch—10 per cent.

Micronaire readings were fair with 74 per cent falling in the 3.5 through 4.9 range. Only three per cent "miked" 5.0 and above while 23 per cent was 3.4 or below.

Market activity was slow but is expected to pick up as ginning increases. Some of the spot cotton prices quoted on the Lubbock market on Thursday 20.00; Middling Light Spotted—15-16 inch, 18.40 and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted—15-16 inch, 17.65.

City Settles Cotton Suit

A suit against the city of Big Spring was settled amicably last week, when officials agreed to pay $1,700 to Lee Cotton for a house which had been mistakenly demolished under the city's hazardous structures ordinance.

The city's ordinance, City Attorney John Burgess pointed out, was not an issue in the suit. Along with some other hazardous structures in the city, Cotton's building, located at 703 Wyoming, was earmarked for rehabilitation or removal.

All property owners were notified, he said, except that due to a clerical error, Cotton's property was not correctly listed and he was not notified. The mistake was not discovered until after the building had been removed.

Cotton filed suit, asking $3,740 plus fees. The city commission and city officials agreed that an error had been made and agreed to negotiate a settlement, handled by Burgess.

"We felt that Mr. Cotton might have refurbished his property had he been given notice," Burgess explained, "and therefore agreed to make the settlement, which also provides that Cotton pay back taxes of $269."

The ordinance to clear hazardous structures is aimed primarily at old, abandoned buildings that create danger to children who sometimes play in them, or are otherwise fire and health hazards. Many unsightly structures in the city have been cleared at the owners' request.

Texas GOP Hopes Ride On Four Congressional Races

By The Associated Press
Texas Republicans, outwardly confident, approach the electoral showdown Tuesday with their congressional hopes riding on four key contests.

GOP victories in Houston's so-called silk stocking district and the Texas Panhandle would be no surprise, but a Republican breakthrough elsewhere would be a genuine upset.

Two other Republicans and a number of minor party candidates also are seeking U.S. House seats, but represent only token opposition to the Democratic stronghold.

DEMOS CONTROL
Democrats control all 23 Texas House seats and seek to oust Sen. John Tower, the state's lone Republican in Congress. Tower faces Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in the state's most spirited race.

The four most important House races are:
Dist. 7, former Houston Dist.

Atty. Frank Briscoe, a Democrat, vs. Houston oilman George Bush.

Dist. 18, former Amarillo Dist. Atty. Dee Miller, a Democrat, vs. Bob Price, Pampa rancher.

Dist. 13, Rep. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls vs. Republican D. C. Norwood, Wichita Falls oil operator.

Dist. 3, Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas vs. Dallas Republican Jim

Collins, a businessman.

WOMAN CANDIDATE
Jane Sumner, Austin lawyer, and Dallas advertising executive Duke Burgess, both Republicans, entered the political war but neither campaigned actively.

Miss Sumner opposes Rep. J. J. Pickle in Dist. 10 in Austin and Burgess faces Rep. Earle Cabell in Dist. 5 in Dallas.

The Constitution party fielded five candidates, Bob Gray in Dist. 7, W. D. Sprayne in Dist. 8, R. R. Richter in Dist. 10, Bert Ellis in Dist. 20 and Richard K. Troxell in Dist. 23.

Laurel Dunn and Robert Moore are the lone Conservative party candidates, entered respectively in Dist. 11 and 20.

Three familiar congressmen from Texas will not return to Washington. Two were tripped up by reapportionment — Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston and Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater—and a third chose to retire.

TARDY ENTRANCE
The surprise retirement of Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa ignited the current political fury surrounding the Miller - Price race. Miller's tardy entrance is a factor in the contest.

Panhandle politicians say Miller, with a boost from Gov. John Connally, is gaining ground daily. It is possible that strong Amarillo and Borger ties will propel him past the more conservative Price.

The intense Houston race matches Bush, a moderate Republican, against Briscoe, a conservative Democrat. Both enjoy broad personal popularity.

Briscoe is politically seasoned having won three Democratic primary and two general election races. Bush won statewide recognition two years ago in a losing campaign against Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

GOP leaders argue that both Bush and Price should win, possibly by a semi-comfortable margin. Democrats, of course, do not share this viewpoint.

Republicans consider Collins and Norwood strong contenders, although a victory by either must be considered an upset.

Pool, a conservative, attracted national attention during the controversial hearings recently before the House Un-American Activities Committee on a bill prohibiting aid to the enemy in the Viet Nam War.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Punch Bowl Used All Year Round

Dear Heloise: I must tell you the different ways I use my beautiful punch bowl ALL YEAR ROUND.

In the spring, we have it on our coffee table with bright artificial red grapes or cherries heaped in and falling over its edge.

In the summer, we have a gay sherbert and ginger ale punch parties for thirsty children on hot nights; or fill it with assorted summer fruits in season and watermelon balls for a colorful and tasty dessert after a backyard barbecue.

In the fall, I heap it with small pumpkins, berries, nuts and assorted colored gourds for a centerpiece in front of our fireplace.

Best of all, is Christmas season when we bring out our favorite red and gold Christmas baubles and fill the bowl. On Christmas Eve we take each ball from the bowl to hang on the tree... then wash the bowl and fill with eggnog to toast the season.

Gloomy January and February brings warmth from the bowl with warm cocoa and marshmallows served from it to freezing little Cub Scouts or Brownies.

So you see, I wouldn't be without my precious punch bowl. It has become part of the family and much too beautiful to hide away. Joan Horden.

Dear Joan:

Beautiful things are to be seen, appreciated, and enjoyed. Why buy lovely items for the home and hide them away where they can't be seen?

There is no one more deserving to enjoy beautiful things than our own families. I think the year-round use of your punch bowl is wonderful and I know that your family and friends enjoy it. Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise: I found a good use for bath towels that have become frayed at the edges.

On rainy days, I lay one over our doormat and fold under the ends to fit the mat. This not only does a better job than the mat alone, but is safer than the cotton rug I once used. Mrs. G.B.G.

Dear Heloise:

After you put a hem in a dress by hand, and when pressing or ironing, push iron UP from hem instead of top of hem to bottom.

The stitches won't show. Crystelle C. Jackson

Court Reporters Say She's Fastest Steno

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The first woman to win the speed contest of the National Shorthand Reporters Association is a housewife who took up shorthand "to try something new."

Mrs. Alberta Buster, 29, a pretty, petite, brown-haired woman, won the association's speed contest in Dallas, Tex., this year for the second consecutive year.

She took dictation at 280 words a minute with 99.73 per cent accuracy to defeat 19 finalists, four of them women. "I took up stenotype as a hobby — to try something new — when I was working as a stenographer at Great Northern Railroad," she said in an interview. "I went to school two nights a week, but it was mostly individual effort."

Mrs. Buster opened her office as a court reporter in April. Previously worked with an agency.

Reporting court proceedings and legal depositions had developed Mrs. Buster's interest in legal matters.

"I've become very fascinated with legal precedent and judicial interpretations," she said. "And what amazes me most is how well the jury system works."

But the greatest thing about her work, said Mrs. Buster, "is that it leaves me free to come and go as I please."

"Being free-lance, I can take the day off, for instance, if I'm giving a party that night," she said. "Sometimes I work 10 or 12 hours a day, but then the next day I can say, 'I've had it, and not even go into the office.'"

Despite this freedom, though, she said, her biggest problem is typical of most working women.

"I'm always in a bind for time. Although I'm interested in languages and love to cook exotic foods, I can't always have time for these things," she said.

How does she find time? "It's a matter of organization. Like they say, 'If you want something done, give it to a busy person.' I manage to find some time for these things."

Mrs. Buster's husband, Raymond, works for the Great Northern Railroad. They have no children.

MRS. TONY TARONI

Office Orchid

Men like to talk to Mrs. Tony Taroni. If they are friends, it's because she's a gregarious brunette with a sense of humor — and if they are strangers — it has something to do with the fact that she is classified as "male job counselor" at Big Spring Employment Agency. During the five years which Mrs. Taroni has worked at the agency for Jeff Brown and Bill Crocker she has counseled with hundreds of applicants and liked her work a little bit better each time she was able to fit the man to the job.

Mrs. Taroni is the former Ruby Leah Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Black of Guyton, Okla., where she was reared and graduated from high school. She attended Henderson State Teachers College at Arkadelphia, Ark., prior to working for over a year at the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

In 1948, she married Tony Taroni in Liberal, Kans. For the next 15 years they made their home in Gurdon, Ark., where he owned a Ben Franklin Five and Ten Cent store. It was here that their two children were born. Toni, 18, is a freshman at Howard County Junior College, and Tommy, 16, is a junior at Big Spring Senior High School. The family moved here when Taroni became associated with the Sid Richardson Carbon Company as a shipping supervisor. Their home is at 2320 Brent.

While living in Gurdon, Mrs. Taroni was instrumental in organizing the Girl Scout program there and served as Scout chairman for four years. Also, she was a den mother for the Boy Scouts and assisted with a Brownie Scout Troop. At the same time, she held a regular job for six years with the county health department.

She is now a member of the Band Boosters and shares with her family the hobbies of motorcycling, water skiing and camping. Most any weekend she fills the back seat driver spot as she and her husband cycle to area towns.

CFW Tours Canada On Program

"Touring Canada with CFW" was the program presented by Mrs. Bob Simpson at the Thursday evening meeting of the Christian Woman's Fellowship of the First Christian Church.

Another speaker was Mrs. Joe B. Johnson who reported on the 117th International convention for Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) in Dallas during October.

Mrs. Don Williams presided as plans were made for a Woman's Day in March and a Dec. 8 workday to decorate the church for the holiday season. The work will begin at 9:30 a.m. Making hygiene kits was chosen as the November service project.

Mrs. J. T. Allen brought the devotion, and refreshments were served by the Esther Circle members.

The next general meeting will be Dec. 1 when a salad luncheon will be held in the Fellowship Hall at 12 o'clock noon.

Keep Kits Handy For Party Spill Cleaning

Make your own emergency "disaster kit" for quick clean-ups if food or beverages are spilled on carpets or upholstery during a party.

A manufacturer of carpet cleaning products suggests mixing a solution of rug shampoo, water and white vinegar. Soak small sponges in this fluid and squeeze them lightly until they are wet but not dripping. Then pack each sponge in a plastic bag and tie the top or wig it with a rubber band.

Tuck these sponges plus a few paper towels into cabinets and drawers about the rooms where guests will gather. Then, if spills occur, you'll be able to clean up without making a fuss. Just wipe up the worst part of the mess with a towel, rip open a plastic bag and sponge the spot to stave off stains. Another dabbing with a paper towel and the job is done.

Rebekah Story Told For Class

"The Story of Rebekah" was offered in devotion form by Mrs. Van Perry at the regular meeting of the Baptist Temple Rebekah Class Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Blasingame, 618 Caylor.

The opening prayer was by Mrs. Robert Crawford. After the devotion, members held a business meeting and heard a report on the sick in the class. Games were played and refreshments were served to 10.

Watch Hairdos

Avoid trying to make your hair the most outstanding feature. Doing this takes away from the over-all appearance. Elaborate hairdos can overpower your face and personality.

Velvet--At-Home Snob

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

Common fashions such as denim and vinyl have elevated their status in the democratic style world of today.

By contrast the aristocrat of fabrics, velvet, refuses to become folksy.

Velvet will never be found on field hands or on the bottoms of kitchen chairs, even though the new kinds are chemically treated to be hardy, wrinkleproof and stain resistant.

Put velvet on a field hand and he would come into the house and relax in kingly fashion. Put it on a chair and the chair would surely move into fancier parts of the house.

Velvet does that. The fabric in past history belonged exclusively to the high born makes you feel opulently regal even though you haven't a credit card to your name.

For this reason velvet has always been ideal for the party dress, formal or informal.

Now that rich and poor alike are staying at home in an elegant manner, velvet is very much a part of this new fashion picture.

For several seasons the long jacketed velvet boy-suit has been a favorite glamor-in-the-house costume. This year the snowy white ruffled shirt with stove pipe pants, a la Lord Fauntleroy are the career girl's after-five-delights. So are bell bottoms with slick white satin shirts.

Newcomers in at-home vel-velts are knickers—call them bloomers, if you wish. If you are the exotic type call them shrunken harem-pants. At any rate, these are fun, comfortable and most alone.

Tasting Tea Set By Forsan Study Club

The Tasting Tea scheduled for Nov. 17 was the main topic of planning Thursday when the Forsan Study Club met in the Forsan School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. C. B. Long presided as the tea was planned for 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria with Mrs. Hammond Elrod in charge of arrangements. She will be assisted by Mrs. Bill Cregar and Mrs. Travis Fryar.

The program was presented by Mrs. Raymond Moore who used the title, "Famous Traits of Yesterday." She told of the slaughter of bison in Texas by the early settlers which almost wiped out the hardy animal herds. The second speaker was Mrs. J. L. Overton who spoke on early modes of transportation and described the main route of the Butterfield Stage Line which operated between Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

Hostesses were Mrs. B. W. Calley and Mrs. Don Murphy.

Mothers To Send Robes To Hospital

The Howard County A&M Mothers Club has adopted a project which will include sending several very cloth robes to the hospital at the college and donating funds to be applied on the purchase of a sewing machine for the infirmary.

The plans were made Thursday evening when 11 members met at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Miller Jr., 1024 Ridgeroad. Mrs. W. C. Moore, president, conducted the business session and white elephant sale which followed.

Three new members were introduced, Mrs. Harold W. Clark, Mrs. A. G. Beene and Mrs. H. E. Butler.

The next meeting will be Dec. 1 with Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood.

Honored At Thursday Gift Coffee

Mrs. Gaston Lackey was the honoree at a stork shower and coffee held Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Alvis Harry, 706 W. 14th. Mrs. Robert McCarty was cohostess.

Mrs. Lackey was presented a corsage formed of miniature baby items and received gifts from the 15 attending. Calling hours were from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

A white linen cloth, dotted with yellow and green daisies, covered the refreshment table, and the centerpiece featured three white angels.

MRS. ANTHONY B. CARPENTER

Wedding Solemnized In Webb Ceremony

Miss Ricki Lynn Ashley and Airman 2.C. Anthony B. Carpenter exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony performed at one o'clock Saturday afternoon in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base. Chaplain Thomas D. Holland officiated for the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndell Ashley of the Midway Community, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony B. Carpenter Sr., Red Bank, N. J.

The altar was accented with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums, interspersed with greenery, and a prelude of wedding selections were presented by the organist, Nick Androvich.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She chose a formal sleeveless gown of white peau de sole complimented with a long-sleeved full-length coat of white lace which flared to fullness in the back. The gown was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, and the coat neckline was accented with a pearl pin. Her fingertip-length veil, enhanced with lace, was held by a tiara of pearls, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and carnations atop a white Bible.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Barbie Hine, and the bridesmaid was Miss Terriann Ashley, the bride's sister. They wore identical sheath gowns in rose and pink velveteen with matching headpieces of tulle and velvet. Each carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums.

The best man was Airman 2.C. Richard Downey, and ushers were Airman 2.C. Gary Rovny and Airman 2.C. Woodrow Hambrick.

For a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a tailored burnt orange shift with bone accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet. Upon returning, the couple will reside at 2205 Main.

The bride, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is now attending the Commercial Business College in Midland. Airman Carpenter is a graduate of Florence Township Memorial High School in Florence, N. J., and is a member of the Air Force now stationed at Webb AFB.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents where guests were registered by Miss Cathy Young of Midland. Members of the house party were Mrs. Lester Owens, Miss Carolyn Owens and Mrs. Gilbert Webb.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru lace cloth and a gold underlay, and the centerpiece was of bronze and gold chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery. Crystal and silver appointments were used, and the three-tiered white wedding cake, placed on an amber crystal stand, was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Dr. Louise Ann Worthy is chairman of the seal sale and her co-chairman is Mrs. M. M. Edwards. There will be approximately 5,000 seals mailed this year to residents throughout Howard County. Three sheets of stamps will be in each envelope along with other pertinent information concerning the work of the association.

Each envelope for donors use will have a tape on the back which has the name and address of the person who has made the gift. These tapes should not be obliterated as they are coded and show the association who has made the gift. The amount is then credited to the giver. In the past, a number of the tapes were torn off or scratched over and the donors were never given credit.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL GIVE AWARD FOR ARTS DESIGN

Opportunity is knocking all this month while the cultural affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce sponsors a contest to choose a symbol that will represent all aspects of the creative arts in Big Spring. The group is looking for a design or characterization that will reflect the interests of the groups of local people who participate in music, drama, art and related areas of creativity. All residents of Howard County are eligible for the prize of $25 cash to be awarded after a group of impartial judges has studied all entries and decided upon a winner.

A list of the rules may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce. Entries will be accepted from both children and adults but no separate prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. W. A. Laswell gave the devotional thoughts for the meeting of the Susanna Wesley Class of the First Methodist Church when the members met at Fellowship Hall Thursday.

Mrs. Felton Smith headed the hostess group, and they chose a decor of autumn for table decorations. Thirty-one attended including Mrs. Audrain who gave the invocation, Mrs. Martha Lowe and Mrs. Gayle Bledsoe.

The group made plans to take a Thanksgiving meal to the pastor of the Baker Methodist Church.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There's one thing that we older ones must do for the younger ones... we must put out the pretty pictures of strutting turkeys, the cornucopias filled with acorn-squash, big round apples, ears of red corn, etc. If they don't see these in pictures they may grow up and never know what bountiful harvest means.

Who but those who raise them ever see turkeys with feathers on them anymore? The markets are full of frozen, defeathered birds from January through December, and the weather doesn't even have to turn cold to make turkey and dressing palatable.

Now that the Thanksgiving season is at hand and all the decor is for the upcoming holiday, there are some most attractive paper turkeys that make a beautiful decoration for the home when the cut tissue-paper gobbler is pulled out, doubled over and fastened at the bottom with a clasp. Somehow or another the old gobbler's head flips up at the right place and he just looks wonderful.

The Halloween celebrating is well over but a nice memory is lingering on in the heart of Mrs. H. E. HEATON who lives in the Sand Springs community.

She writes, "On Halloween night we had between 45 and 50 trick-or-treaters knock on our door for a small treat. Everyone of those little treaters said 'thank you.' I think mothers of Sand Springs would be happy to know how nice and behaved their children were on that night. I'm glad they are my neighbors."

Good neighbors make good neighbors, and it is my guess that Mrs. Heaton is a good neighbor, too.

THOMAS W. FETTERS, 707 Tulane, was in the academic procession Tuesday at the ceremony for the new president of Texas Technological College in Lubbock. When Dr. Elmer Murray was honored Fetters represented Wabash College in Indiana.

The TED POINDEXTERS were expecting his parents from Abilene here for a visit this weekend.

We are off in all directions this weekend but hope to gather in Dallas today and return home tonight. DAVID is spending the weekend in Austin with his brother, GARY. They were to attend the Texas-Baylor game in Waco. If they were the only two there each team had at least one booster. We're in Dallas attending an Associated Press Managing Editors session.

MRS. H. J. JOHNSON and her daughter, Valerie, have returned to their home in Shreveport, La., after visiting her parents, MR. and MRS. ROSS BOYKIN.

Don't neglect to call us about your visitors and visits. We also like to know where the children are now and how they are getting along with their endeavors, mornings or at AM 3-2542 in the afternoon.

SCRATCH OUT ALL THE NAMES OPPOSING YOUR FAVORITES

Mark Your Ballot Carefully

Unless the unexpected happens, a tremendous number of ballots cast in Tuesday's general election will wind up in the "mutilated" classification, and hundreds of voters will unintentionally have wasted their effort to vote.

In some instances, the "mutilation" will have its impact on only one race. Unfortunately, in others, there is a possibility many ballots will be set aside as "spoiled" and not be counted for any candidate.

HUGE DOCUMENT

The ballot for this general election is a huge document. It is actually the size of one of a newspaper. One half of it is devoted to the races for public office; the other half covers the 16 proposed amendments to the state constitution.

The danger of spoiled ballots stems from the custom of "scratching" to eliminate the candidates (or issues) the voter does not approve.

Only the unscratched names, under the Texas system, are tabulated.

The problem, observers point out, arises from the fact there are three candidates for several of the offices. There are four candidates for governor from as many parties.

If a voter "scratches" out the names of three of these leaving only one name unmarked — his ballot will be counted as favoring the unscratched candidate. If he overlooks one of the other three and leaves two unscratched names, his vote is cancelled and no candidate gets his nod.

Some precinct judges forget that, in such mutilations, only the race involved is nullified. They sometimes junk the whole ballot — which, observers point out, is unfortunate because it is not the law.

It is said that in the 1960 election, more than 100,000 ballots were discarded because they were improperly marked. Election observers point out this was most important in that race since the margin of victory for the Kennedy-Johnson slate in the state over the Nixon-Lodge team was only 46,233 votes. How the 100,000 votes which were discarded would have affected this margin is still debated in political circles.

NO POLICY

Apparently in that election there was no one-policy on how to handle mismarked ballots.

In some precincts, it was indicated the judges counted the vote for the man they believed the voter really intended to support. For example, if the rest of the marked ballot was wholly democratic, the tendency was to count the mismarked vote in the presidential race for the Democratic team. Other precincts cast out all defective votes, which in some instances, were said to have amounted to as much as a third of the total vote cast.

This year, there is good reason to think a great many errors in voting will be made. In the governor's race there are gubernatorial candidates from the Democrat, the Republican, the Constitution and the Conservative parties. There are candidates from three parties for U.S. senator, for lieutenant governor, attorney general, commissioner of agriculture, commissioner general land office, comptroller and state treasurer. In any of these races it will be easy for the voter to overlook scratching two of the names, thereby depriving his candidate of his vote.

Another problem involves the lengthy and complicated constitutional amendment problem.

The so-called gist of the proposed amendments is printed in very small type which will be hard for many older voters to read in dimly lighted election precincts. This not only poses a problem of mismarking ballots; it also will slow down voting.

The average voter, it is estimated, will need a minimum of 10 minutes to mark the big ballots Tuesday. Even students of the election who have made themselves familiar with the general issues and candidates required from five to six minutes on test ballots.

COUNTING

Tabulating the vote will also be a tedious enterprise. This will probably mean that Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, and her deputies will get in a lot of extra hours of work Tuesday night.

If there is a heavy vote or even a fairly heavy vote, the precinct judges and their aides will have a ponderous task counting the ballots and listing the returns.

And the problem of what is a "mutilated" ballot will not be a minor issue.

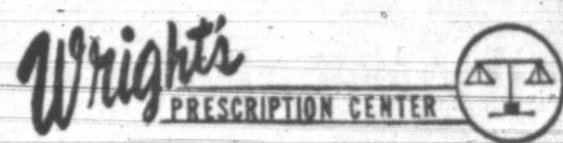

Midshipmen Get 'Sea Training'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Naval Academy says it is substituting "at sea training" for the "cruises" its midshipmen formerly took during the summer.

Actually, it's a matter of terminology, since the midshipmen will be doing what they've always done. But a Navy spokesman said Friday the word "cruise" could be considered a pleasure trip.

Voters To Use Bedsheet Ballots Tuesday

By SAM BLACKBURN

An unknown number of Howard County voters will go to the polls Tuesday to make use of a generous supply of the biggest and, to a degree, most complicated election ballots in many political years.

There have been more than 10,000 of these oversized ballots provided to the 20 voting precincts of the county. These voting precincts open at 8 a.m. Tuesday and close at 7 p.m.

During that day, the voters will express their choice of four party candidates for governor of Texas, their favorite of three party candidates for U.S. senator, lieutenant governor, attorney general, agriculture commissioner, general land office commissioner and state treasurer. There are two candidates for railroad commissioner.

LOCAL OFFICES

They will also decide on whether the Democratic or Republican candidates for county school superintendent and for two seats on the Howard County Commissioners Court shall prevail. In addition, they will signify their approval of several justices of the supreme court and criminal court of appeals, a congressman, district judge, state senator, state representative, district court clerk, county judge, county treasurer, county clerk and county surveyor and one justice of the peace who are all Democratic nominees and have no opponents in other parties. Of course, if the voter wants to do so, he can write in the names of individuals whom he prefers for these posts (taking care to scratch out all others).

AMENDMENTS

When the voter has completed his work on the candidates for office, his task is only half done. Facing him on the right hand side of his ballot are 16 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. He is to say whether he wants the amendments approved or rejected.

This will be the final election at which the voter will establish his right to vote by presenting a poll tax receipt. In the future, he will show a "certificate of registration" which will replace the poll tax receipt in 1967 as a proof of voting eligibility.

There are 10,622 men and women in Howard County who are qualified to vote in this election.

VOTING PRECINCTS

There will be 20 voting places operating Tuesday.

They are (with their potential vote in parenthesis):

The 16 amendments proposed for the constitution must be voted on either "for" or "against." They cover a wide field of subjects and observers are agreed that the titles as set up on the ballot are not too informative. The voter, if he has not made a study of the published reports on the proposed amendments, is likely to be completely confused, it is argued, if he tries to understand the amendments by the text of the titles.

The voter who wants to approve an amendment scratches out the "against" proposition. In the vote for individual candidate the voter scratches out all of the names in the race with the exception of the candidate for whom he wants to vote. In the governor's race, for example, where there are four names, three must be marked out to make the ballot a qualified vote.

Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. (Romans 8:37)

Your Most Important Moments

The most important few minutes you can spend Tuesday are those in the voting booth.

While the public's attention has been turned toward the contest for the U.S. Senate, bear in mind that Texans have a choice in eight or nine state offices, and three local (including precinct) ones. There are also 16 proposed amendments to the state constitution.

The outcome of the U.S. Senate race very likely will be determined simply by the size of voter turnout, and followers of both John Tower and Waggoner Carr acknowledge this.

No man should go into office because too few people voted. This is not the democratic way; it is not an expression of the people. Texas ought to register at least two million votes Tuesday, and it is to be hoped that Howard County will contribute its full part to the total.

The Herald has announced its preference for Waggoner Carr, Democrat. This is not disparaging Sen. Tower or his record. It does believe that through the years ahead, Waggoner Carr can and will become a more effective and representative spokesman in Congress for what most Texas people believe in.

He is a West Texas neighbor known to many in this area personally; he has served ably for many years as a Texas legislator, Speaker of the House and as attorney general. In short, he knows Texas people, Texas affairs, Texas problems. His record in public office is strong enough indicator that he will perform competently in Congress, and will be a voice in the over-all political leadership that, for years, has set the pace in the state's progress and should continue to do so.

The major point to remember about Tuesday's balloting, however, is that YOU have NO VOTE unless you cast it. Let the ultimate result of the Senate contest—as well as all others—be a real expression of the majority wishes of the people.

You, as an individual, are part of "the people." Your first responsibility is to mark your ballot on Tuesday.

High Honor

Sam M. Anderson, superintendent of schools for Big Spring, has been paid the highest honor within the province of the school teachers of Texas when he was elected president of the vast Texas State Teachers Association.

It is well-deserved recognition, for TSTA has had not more indefatigable servant than Sam Anderson. Over the years he has done yeoman service for the educators. Sam Anderson has been at his finest, too, in his pioneering and leadership of the state's program in special education which has reached out to help once forgotten children.

With his advice and suggestions as well as his administration, the Big Spring schools have continued to make significant advances, academically as well as physically. Yet, despite this load, Sam Anderson has found time to carry more than his share of the load in leadership of many civic and humanitarian programs in this community.

In the past three and a half decades, Big Spring has had superintendents who were highly respected in the councils of TSTA, but Sam Anderson is the first to ascend to the highest office. Big Spring also is honored by this recognition and is proud of it.

Thursday evening when teachers and friends pay tribute to him at a banquet, we know there will be a large crowd on hand to express these feelings personally.

The Trip And The Election

WASHINGTON — Everything that a president does or says is usually evaluated in terms of political gain or loss. Mr. Johnson's trip to Asia would not have been associated in any way with a possible political motive if he had made the journey in the last two weeks in November instead of in mid-October just before the congressional elections.

IT WILL, in any event, be quite a challenge to the politicians to figure out just what were the advantages or disadvantages of Mr. Johnson's Asian journey in terms of domestic prestige or help to Democratic congressional candidates. For the fact is a substantial majority of the voters are not too familiar with Asian problems. They are more concerned with what is going on inside the United States and are worried about the cost of living and inflationary trends.

It is true that the Viet Nam war has been more or less an issue. But when the election results are counted next week, it will still be anybody's guess as to whether the position of the administration in the Viet Nam war was upheld or rejected or ignored as a factor in the voting.

FOR THERE are three groups with views on the Viet Nam war—those who want to see it stopped altogether and American troops withdrawn, those who want to see the war escalated, and maximum power applied, and those who think that the President's course of feeling his way in the hope that the Communists will come to the peace table is all right. But there will be no way to measure which of the three blocs actually casts the most votes.

MANY OF the candidates for Congress individually have refrained from taking positive positions, and have expressed themselves in the vaguest and most abstract terms. There are, of course, voters who have persons of draft age in their families and who would like to see the war ended at once. But it may be doubted whether this will be a controlling reason for voting either the Republican or Democratic ticket, because neither party has defined explicitly what it really wants the President to do in Viet Nam.

Mr. Johnson unquestionably added to the prestige of the United States in the world by his trip to Asia. He made a dramatic appeal for peace. When a president travels 30,000 miles to visit countries which never see the head of the American government, there is bound to be widespread discussion of the visit.

PERHAPS THE most significant results of his tour of the Far East will not become apparent immediately. It is hoped, of course, that the emphatic expressions of interest in the peace and welfare of Asia, together with promises of economic as well as military aid, will make a deep impression on the peoples of the whole region.

VIEWED SOLELY from a domestic political point of view, Mr. Johnson may help to diminish some of the protest, as many persons will feel that his trip showed he is doing his utmost to bring peace in Viet Nam and that failure to be successful in that effort is not due to any acts of omission on the part of the United States government.

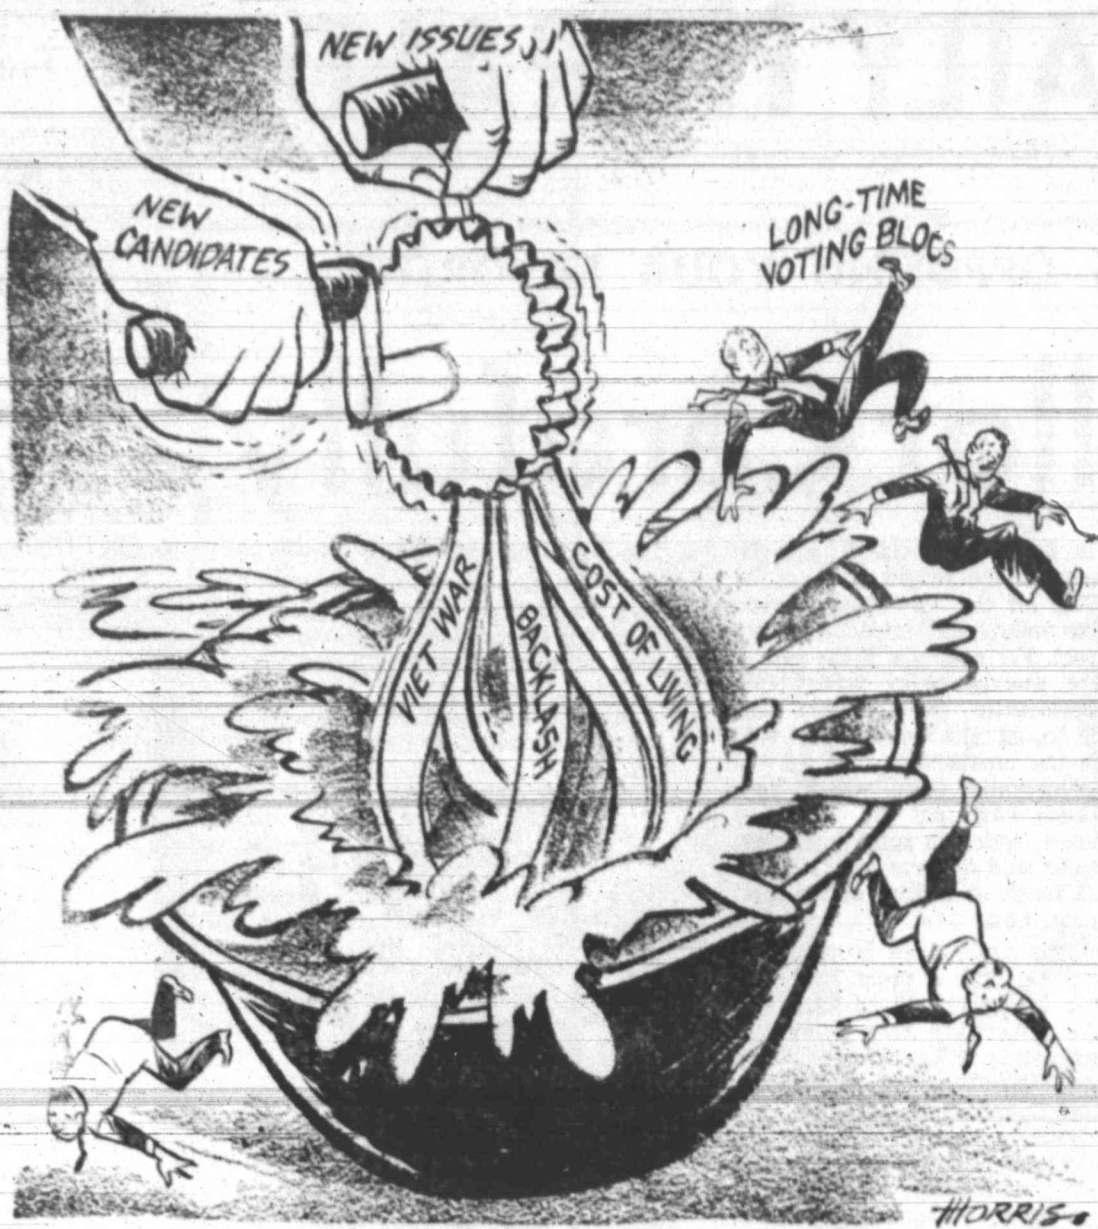

Mr. Johnson's trip will probably be viewed much more impartially after the elections, and with more objectivity than is the case today.

4-Party Phones

LONDON (AP) — Hungary is to introduce four-party lines to meet the demand by 70,000 applicants for private telephones, the Hungarian news service reports.

The quadruple lines will be installed first in large blocks of flats, according to the report.

It quoted the Hungarian Post Office as justifying four-party lines not only because of the considerable saving in installation cost but because "the average subscriber uses his phone not more than 30 minutes a day."

Oh Where Has The Little Guideline Gone?

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A month ago American Airlines and the Transport Workers Union shattered the government's economic guideposts with a contract calling for 6.5 per cent wage increases.

"Clearly inflationary," said Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

During the week there were indications that that may have been only the beginning.

A presidential emergency board recommended a contract settlement between Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers calling for a five per cent wage increase retroactive to last July—another five per cent next July and a third one in July, 1968.

And the biggest of the five operating unions representing the nation's railroad workers accepted a five per cent wage increase off the industry.

SPECIAL COST?

"The board isn't unmindful of the inflationary effects of high wage settlements on the economy," the presidential emergency board said. But it added:

"The high rate of productivity over the past several years in air transportation creates an economic environment in which wage increases may be above average but price increases need not result."

The Johnson administration had set a guideline of 3.2 per cent for labor contract increases.

Ackley has insisted that figure still stands — despite a recent rash of settlements of five per cent or more and in the face of the big steel and automobile contract negotiations coming up next year.

General Motors president James M. Roche gave some indication during the week of what lies ahead. He spoke to industrial executives in Flint, Mich., and he talked tough.

TALKS TOUGH
Roche used the words "ridiculous" and "without merit" in describing United Auto Workers' local strikes against GM plants.

A strike by 3,400 members of the UAW idled the Buick-Oldsmobile Pontiac plant at South Gate, near Los Angeles. Another strike, at St. Louis, Mo., cut off production of Chevrolet Corvettes for several days.

Westinghouse Electric Corp., the nation's second-largest manufacturer of electrical equipment and appliances, and Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., which makes farm equipment, also were hit by strikes.

Westinghouse said it was willing to give the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical workers the same package it negotiated with other unions, estimated to average five per cent a year for three years. But the union objected, saying it had been offered less than the others had.

MORE OF SAME!
Allis-Chalmers said it had offered the striking UAW a five per cent wage increase now and another three per cent in 1967 and 1968.

National Airlines warned its pilots might strike Nov. 28.

L. B. Maytag Jr., National president, touched on another problem in the airlines face: a shortage of jet engines that has delayed production and delivery of new jetliners.

The engines are off to war. The Boeing Co. reported the delivery delays sharply reduced its earnings the past three months.

September figures released during the week showed defense orders — particularly for aerospace equipment — were up sharply. Military orders jumped from $3,155,000,000 in August to $4,656,000,000 in September, as aerospace equipment orders soared from $2,072,000,000 to $3,380,000,000.

Around The Rim What It Was, Was Hummin' Music

DEAR RUF:

They started the culture season on us the other night, and if the first shambang wasn't very longhair, it was hummin' and foot-pattin' music, which you would understand better.

What it was, it was an orchestra and four singers—two of 'em men and two of 'em purty gals—offertin' all kinds of songs written by a feller you may have heard of, ole Dick Rodgers. Leastwise, Dick turned out plenty of tunes, so many that the players and singers couldn't get around to all of 'em.

BUT WHAT they did was OK. I might talk about the singers first. One of the gals was little and dark-headed, and she wore wissy sort of dresses, if you know what I mean. The other was well, statuesque if you want to use a cultured word, and was blonde, and stayed with slinky dresses, if you know what I mean. The little girl got to change her dresses three times, the other one made it only twice.

The little gal sang high up, and the blonde one sang lower down, which made it fit all right when they sang together.

THE MEN was pretty nice lookin' fellers, the clean-cut type, and they got to change clothes, too. Started in dinner jackets, then changed to ordinary outfits. Didn't affect their singin' none.

Out of these four, they sang by themselves some, they sang as duets some, and they sang as quartets some. This kept it interestin', but nearly always they was singin' something you like to hear. You know, something you already know, which helps. They even got the crowd to singin' once, which never comes easy.

THEY WAS all backed up by the orchestra, which was one of the nicest-lookin' ones you've seen in a long time. There was more than 20 men in it, and just one gal. And she was a good-lookin' red-headed fiddle player who didn't have on one of them long-trailin' black skirts. That helped.

And they had a drummer who worked all the time. He had about a dozen different thing-a-ma-jigs to pound on, and if it wasn't on, it was the other. You know, in big orchestras, we always worried about the kettle drum man gettin' to sit out most of the time. Not this young feller.

WHAT YOU would mostly have liked, Rufe, was the kind of music they had put together for this orchestra. Everyone of them tunes ole Dick wrote were swung together real purty, so that you could have imagined yourself listening to a classy Broadway show-pit outfit, if you had ever seen a classy Broadway show-pit outfit.

The feller that led them did his fair share, too. Even played his cornet once, on top of swingin' his stick to keep all the players together.

THE SHOW might have been a little classier, in a way, but if it had been, I wouldn't have known what was going on, and couldn't have let you know. As it was, I knew nearly every tune they played, and could whistle 'em when I was leavin'. This makes the good feelin' hang on for awhile. If you know what I mean.

Yore cultured friend,
ZEKE

Simple—Or Simply Confusing

WASHINGTON—It is very hard for a resident of Washington, D. C., to explain the American election system to a foreigner. Just the other day a representative of South Viet Nam came here to study our elections—so he could go back to his country and report on how the greatest democracy in the world works.

Let us call him Tri-Vang Vin. "Whom are you going to vote for on Tuesday?" Tri-Vang Vin asked.

"NOBODY," I told him. "We're not allowed to vote."

"But how can that be?" Tri-Vang Vin asked. "Is this not the capital of the United States?"

"Exactly," I replied. "That's why we are not allowed to vote. You see, anyone who lives in Washington, D. C., may only vote once every four years for the President of the United States. The rest of the time on election day we have to stay at home."

"But who represents you in Congress?"

"EVERYBODY," I said. "A congressman from South Carolina might tell us how much money we can have for schools, a representative from Nevada could dictate how much taxes we have to pay, and a senator from West Virginia will tell us what kind of police department we can have. We're too dumb here to think for ourselves."

Tri-Vang Vin said, "How can you be a democracy if you cannot decide for yourselves who will represent you?"

"OH, WE ARE a democracy, all right. That's why we don't have the vote. You must understand that the question of home rule for Washington has been debated many times, and it's always been defeated because Congress claims that if they gave the 800,000 citizens of Washington the right to choose their own government it would be unconstitutional."

"But the people in Washington always keep telling us that we must allow the people of South Viet Nam to vote."

"THAT'S TRUE. They want the people of South Viet Nam to have the vote, but they don't want the people in Washington to have a say in their own affairs. You see, Congress trusts you, but they don't trust us."

"How can it go back to Viet Nam and tell my people that nobody in this city is allowed to vote?"

"It's easy. Just explain to them that in order for us to get the vote we have to persuade Congress to give it to us. Since we have nothing to say about who gets elected to Congress, they aren't about to let us have it."

"Why not?"

"BECAUSE CONGRESS likes to run Washington, D. C. If they gave us home rule they wouldn't be able to fix their own traffic tickets."

"But why aren't your elections a fraud and a mockery if 800,000 people in the nation's capital have nothing to say about their destinies?"

"Because we're not a backward nation. We have spent billions of dollars persuading everyone in the world that the only solution to their problems is free and open elections. And this country believes that everyone should have the God-given right to vote, except, of course, those people who live in the District of Columbia. You see, my friend, the United States has to draw the line somewhere."

A Triumph, Johnson Style

WASHINGTON — The Presidential tour of Asia has been a triumph for the qualities predominant in the Johnson temperament — drive, stamina, and unquenchable appetite for crowd acclaim. Taken merely as a physical performance living up to a two-and-a-half-week schedule with scarcely a letdown at any point, it was more impressive than any of the foreign forays of previous Presidents this observer has witnessed.

THROUGH IT all — the endless ceremonies of greeting, the state dinners, the formal entertainment he finds so boring — Johnson moved with an outward show of patience and vigor.

The face he presented to the world was one of stern dignity varied by the smile directed at the huge crowds greeting him along the way at almost every stop.

For one thing, he knew from day to day, often from hour to hour, the impact the trip was having back home.

THE WHITE House phoned every morning to one of the President's aides giving the play the story was getting in the press and in television and radio commentary.

All of this added up to blanketing the news media and presenting a powerful leader receiving the acclaim of the world.

HE HAD on the Asian tour the services of a devoted staff and the help of hundreds of State Department and United States Information Service personnel along the way. Bill D. Moyers, with the wholly inadequate title of Press Secretary, put prodigious energy and understanding into the task of liaison with the trail of reporters, photographers and technicians who were the President's constant shadow.

On the whole, the reception was overwhelmingly friendly. Discounting the huge, contrived demonstrations such as that in Seoul where a large part of the population got their orders to turn out, it was an impressive show of warmth and friendship. Curiosity aroused by the Johnson legend, "The Giant Texan," as the signs in Seoul had it, was part of it.

IN THE frenetic atmosphere of the trip the signs of hostility were probably exaggerated. In Australia these signs were no more than what might be seen along a Presidential parade route in any large city back home. There is a fiery student group that is shocked and outraged by the Viet Nam War in almost every country, some with Communist orientation, others merely pacifist and rebellious.

IN THE course of his tour the President has seen the far outposts of American military power. On the two flanks in Viet Nam in the south and Korea in the north, the base is broadly extended for an indefinite stay. If the war in Viet Nam should end as it did in Korea with a permanent division between the two halves of the country, it is thought by experts that pacification and reconstruction would require a long-term force greater than the 47,000 Americans presently in Korea, despite the pledge at the Manila conference to take American troops out of Viet Nam six months after a negotiated settlement. This would be looked at on the Communist side as a propaganda exercise.

Neither the tour nor the Manila conference settled any of the great issues of war and peace.

Parents Urged To Visit In Big Spring's Schools

American Education Week, which begins today, will be heralded in Big Spring by a mayor's proclamation, various displays and demonstrations and parent visitation in many of the Big Spring Public Schools.

Theme of this year's observance is "Education Adds Up." Spearheading the campaign to publicize American Education Week are Mrs. Sue Shockey and Nedelene Speegle.

Activities for the week will include a mall display by the Future Teachers of America at the Highland Shopping Center, according to the F.T.A. sponsor William Martin. Men's service clubs are being asked to use student speakers for entertainment, and special placements and napkins will be available for luncheon meetings.

The Big Spring Pastors Association is cooperating by reminding members of the various congregations of the activities during the week.

Mayor Arnold Marshall officially proclaimed American Education Week in Big Spring Friday.

Parent visitation in the schools should be a major activity, Mrs. Shockey said. A letter from Sam Anderson, superintendent of schools, has been sent to all parents in the school district urging them to visit.

All P-TAs are to meet this week to emphasize American Education Week. Posters are being distributed throughout the downtown area.

Sam Anderson, New Head Of TSTA, To Be Honored

A special school-community banquet, honoring Sam Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring Public Schools, will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club, in conjunction with American Education Week.

Anderson has recently been elected president of the Texas State Teachers Association.

BELL TO SPEAK

Lloyd R. Bell, assistant director of public relations for the TSTA, will be the featured speaker. His topic will be, "Partners in Search of Quality."

Bell, before joining the headquarters staff of TSTA, served six years as a high school instructor of public speaking and debate in Joplin, Mo., and Dallas. His administrative service includes five years as principal of Nathaniel Hawthorne Elementary School in Dallas, and four years as principal of Benjamin Franklin Junior High School in the same system.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Missouri in 1948, and his master of education degree from Southern Methodist University in 1954.

Bell's professional interests include membership in TEPSA, TSTA, NEA, AASA, and life membership in the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers. He has served as vice president and president of TEPSA at both district and state levels. At the national level, Bell has served

THIS OFFICE WILL BE ABOLISHED

HOW: The Legislature May Abolish This Office By Statute!

STATE REPRESENTATIVE TEMPLE DICKSON ... by letter to Judith Spencer, Aug. 8, 1966 ...

"If the people of Howard County reflect a desire to abolish the office of County School Superintendent by electing you, I would consider myself bound by that decision, and I would comply with your request to pass legislation abolishing the office."

THIS IS THE WAY THE VOTERS TELL THE LEGISLATURE THAT THEY NO LONGER WANT THIS OFFICE AFTER THERE ARE NO LONGER ANY COMMON SCHOOLS IN THE COUNTY FOR THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT TO SUPERVISE. MANY OTHER COUNTIES HAVE ABOLISHED THIS OFFICE BY THIS METHOD.

THIS OFFICE CAN ALSO BE ABOLISHED BY SPECIAL COUNTY WIDE ELECTION INITIATED BY PETITION, BUT THIS TAKES MORE TIME AND DOES NOT ABOLISH THE OFFICE UNTIL THE END OF THAT TERM. WHEN THE LEGISLATURE ABOLISHES IT, AS JUDITH SPENCER PROPOSES ABOVE, IT TERMINATES IMMEDIATELY. THE LEGISLATURE WILL BE IN SESSION NEXT JANUARY!

WILL JUDITH SPENCER DO THIS? SHE HAS ALREADY DONE IT IF ELECTED BECAUSE REPRESENTATIVE DICKSON HAS COMMITTED HIMSELF TO THIS IF SHE IS ELECTED.

CAST YOUR VOTE FOR JUDITH SPENCER TO ABOLISH THIS OFFICE AND SAVE $18,000.00 every year.

Queen Is Chosen For Homecoming

By JUDY FLEMING

ACKERLY — Brenda Ingram, a sophomore, was crowned 1966 Homecoming Queen during the halftime ceremonies of the ball game Saturday night.

Lynn Maxwell, student council president, crowned the queen and presented her with a bouquet of roses. Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ingram. She was escorted by Richard Pitts.

The senior candidate for homecoming queen was Beth Ingram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Ingram. Her escort was James Lemon. The junior candidate Sara Bledsoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bledsoe, was escorted by Mike McClain. Lynn Massengill, freshman candidate and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Massengill, was escorted by Terry Brown.

A bon fire and pep rally at 6:30 p.m. Friday started off the homecoming events. A chili supper sponsored by the senior class preceded the game between Sands and Sierra Blanca.

HONOR ROLL

The honor roll for the first nine weeks has been announced. High school students making an A in every subject were James Lemon, Merwin Beal, seniors; Sara Bledsoe, Charles Jones, Londa Kemp, juniors; Brenda Ingram, Aurora Robles, Beverly Snell, sophomores; and Shara Dee Hambrick, freshman.

In junior high Stevie Herm, Eddie Newcomer and Sally Smith, eighth graders made the honor roll.

BSHS Students Tested Over Nine Weeks' Work

By ANDREA McCAIN
Most of the activities around the BSHS campus came to a sudden halt as time came for nine weeks tests.

The tests were scheduled as follows: first and fourth period tests Wednesday; second and fifth, Thursday; and third and sixth, Friday.

Report cards will be issued Wednesday.

Three members of the Library Club and two sponsors traveled to Abilene Saturday, Oct. 29, for the annual Teen-Age Library Association district convention.

Those attending were Mary Evans, Patty Goodman, and LaDonna Honea. Mrs. Elizabeth Korzinski and Mrs. Barbara Fairly sponsored the trip.

SHORTHAND CLUB
The Shorthand Club met Thursday, Oct. 27, at 6 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Vonna Swim, club sponsor. The club elected Laura Parks, president; Janice Anderson, vice president; Lynn Green, secretary; and Pat Thomas, treasurer.

They decided to meet every second Thursday of each month at 6:30 p.m. in a member's home. The next meeting will be held at the home of Laura Parks, president.

The senior class held a meeting Thursday, Nov. 3, after school to discuss the senior gift and fund raising ideas. Every senior present had an opportunity to contribute his ideas. Various club pictures were made this past week. Students are reminded to watch and listen for the date on which their club pictures are scheduled.

Members of the annual staff are selling the annuals, or students may go by room 216 to purchase their books. The price is $7 and no down payment plan is offered. Deadline for purchase is Nov. 18.

At the Friday morning pep rally, girls tied victory ribbons on the football-boys' helmets. Girls signed up prior to the pep rally in Mrs. Ed Seay's office.

The Steers met the Odessa Permian Panthers in Memorial Stadium Friday night.

DIPLOMA DEADLINE
Tuesday was the deadline for seniors who are wishing to graduate in the spring of summer to sign up for diplomas. Anyone who neglected to do this should make some arrangements with the people in charge.

"Our Town," which will be put on by the drama department of Big Spring High School is not a musical and the choir and music departments will not participate in it as was stated in last week's column. Mr. Dan Shockey is director.

Legislative Action Favored To End Superintendent Job

Among local political races to be decided Tuesday, the one apparently stirring most interest is that for county school superintendent, in which Walker Bailey, Democratic incumbent, is

Breeders To Have Bulls In National Anxiety Show

When local Hereford breeders complete showing in the Concho Hereford Association sale on Monday, they will send several animals to the National Anxiety 4th sale and show in Amarillo. James Coates will enter two bulls in the Amarillo sale, and Kenneth Loso will take two bulls and two heifers from the Dr. G. T. Hall herd. Leland Wallace, who had one of the top animals in the sale last year, will consign three bulls. His W. Prince Domino 10th went for $3,000 last year to J. S. Criswell of Graham, making the third highest single quotation in the sale. Charlie Creighton is the big exhibitor in the Concho sale Monday, having 12 bulls consigned. Wallace has four and Coates two. They are entering an unusually large number because the traditional Howard County-South Plains Hereford sale will not be held here this year.

being vigorously opposed by Judith B. Spencer, Republican. In the waning days of the campaign, the talked-about point is the eventual abolition of the superintendent's office. Both candidates now say they would work for such elimination. This was the basis of Mrs. Spencer's platform when she first announced for the office. She at first pointed out that a county referendum could be held, then pointed to a simpler method—that of legislative statute. She contacted this district's representative in the Legislature, Temple Dickson of Sweetwater, who advised her that if the people of Howard County expressed themselves as favoring doing away with the superintendent's office, he would offer the proper bill in the Legislature. Mrs. Spencer announced her advocacy of this method in a Herald advertisement a week ago. Superintendent Bailey subsequently has said he, too, would seek legislative action to eliminate the office.

DEAR ABBY

The Good Marriage

DEAR ABBY: You are pretty good at getting right to the heart of things in very few words. Can you tell me why there is so much divorce today?

H.H.T.

DEAR H.H.T.: Most divorces result from the illusion that a "perfect" marriage is achievable, and anything less is a failure. Consequently, when each discovers the inevitable human imperfections in the other, he becomes disillusioned, resentful, and frustrated. Then two otherwise normal, intelligent people who, at one time "loved" each other enough to marry, become part-time strangers and sometimes enemies.

Married couples should realize that a successful marriage is like a successful business partnership. It cannot succeed without mutual trust, confidence and respect. And the sooner the "partners" get down to the business of making the best of the most challenging relationship in all human experience—marriage—the sooner we can turn our divorce courts into bowling alleys. And I'm all for it.

DEAR ABBY: When being introduced to a person, is it proper to say, "I've heard a lot about you?"

HAL

DEAR HAL: It all depends on what you've heard.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has one habit which worries me to death. He keeps a cigar or pipe clamped between his teeth while pouring gasoline into the tank of the power lawn mower, or filling the gasoline tank of our boat. When I fuss he says I am getting all excited about nothing because his cigar or pipe is not lit.

I grant you, I can't see a flame, but when I grab them out of his mouth, the cigar or pipe are still warm. Please

THANKS—for your past confidence PLEASE—ALLOW ME THE RESPONSIBILITY OF GUIDING THE CLOSING OF THE OFFICE OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

I am grateful to the people of Howard County for having honored me in the past to serve as your county superintendent. Over the years it has been my privilege to help a large number of common as well as independent school districts with their problems in educating thousands of children. In more recent years following the Gilmer-Aiken Act, I have had been able to assist in the orderly transitions arising out of consolidation of districts, and to administer the many other duties of the office.

This progression of events has brought near the time when the duties of the office can be handed without undue burden by county judge. When the Legislature convenes in January, Rep. Temple Dickson and Sen. David Ratliff have assured me that they will support and work diligently for early passage of my proposal for a bracket bill to abolish the office of county superintendent in Howard County. Thus, the office can be liquidated at once on a specific date.

There has been circulated here, by my opponent, a petition for an election on abolishment of the office, and if and when this is presented to the county judge, this would freeze intact for the next four years the office of superintendent. If a special election were called (and carried), I am advised by the head of the legal division of the Texas Education Agency, that "the office shall not terminate until the end of the elective term to which the county superintendent has been elected."

My pledge is to work for legislative abolishment, which means that the action can become immediately effective upon passage.

Again, I express to you my deep appreciation for the past honors you have conferred on me. I ask you to permit me to use my lifetime of experience as a school man and administrator in the orderly, expeditious termination of the office. I thus respectfully ask for your vote on Tuesday.

Rock Hudson In Serious Drama

Generally, a new Rock Hudson picture is a ball. Extras love to be in it, members of the crew fight for the assignment and name actors willingly accept smaller parts just to be connected with the film.

Not only is it that a Rock Hudson picture is a guaranteed box office success and everyone loves to be associated with success. It's also that working with Rock is just plain fun. It's always relaxed. It's always laughs. Until "Seconds."

There was a difference about the atmosphere at "Seconds." There was a difference in the way Rock Hudson went about his business. It became more of a business, more of a dedication.

"Seconds" opens today at the Ritz Theatre. It is a shocking and terrifying twentieth century suspense drama. It gives Rock Hudson the most seriously dramatic role of his career.

Hudson was acutely aware of the type of assignment he had accepted and of the broadening effect it might have on his career. Formerly always all business in front of the camera, but a genial fellow who loved to exchange banter with those about him between scenes, Hudson changed.

Still cordial, he nevertheless politely excused himself after each scene to retire to his dressing room to peruse his script. Or he would search out director John Frankenheimer and engage him in frequent discussion about the film, the situation and the character.

Totally absent were those non-stop bridge games which Hudson used to engage in between scenes.

The serious nature of the picture and of the role was more than matched by the serious attitude with which the star approached them. Even the sounds were different. There is a tendency toward loudness when one does a comedy. People working on a picture love to tell jokes and top one another.

But, when you're doing a drama which everyone believes in, the sound level drops. Jokes, if they're told at all, are whisked away.

'SECONDS' Rock Hudson and Salome Jens

pered. Everything possible is done to avoid disturbing the mood of the picture.

And "Seconds" is a picture which definitely has a pervading mood of its own.

"Seconds" was directed by Frankenheimer and stars Rock Hudson, with Salome Jens, John Randolph, Richard Anderson, Murray Hamilton, Will Geer, Khigh Dhleg, Karl Swenson, Wesley Addy and Jeff Corey. It was produced by Edward Lewis for Paramount Pictures.

Wigs Age Mary

NEW YORK (AP)—Six wigs are being used by Mary Martin in the musical "I Do, I Do," to depict the passage of 35 years.

A London expert, Stanley Hall, was summoned for the job. His first provided coiffure for the star in 1945 when she played in "Pacific 1860." The wigs run in tint from off-blond to golden red to what is described as "glorious grey."

Spoof On Westerns Stars Dino And Delon

An uninhibited comedy spoof that is more Tom Jones in spirit than Buck Jones, with a full quotient of horses and horseplay, is "Texas Across the River," photographed in Technicolor, opening Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

DEAN MARTIN Stars in "Texas Across the River"

Starring Dean Martin, Alain Delon, Rosemary Forsyth, Joey Bishop, and co-starring Tina Marquand, Peter Graves, Michael Ansara, Linden Chiles and Andrew Prine, the comedy western takes a squint-eyed look at the brawling frontier, with its picaresque characters. The Technicolor production was directed by Michael Gordon, of "Pillow Talk" fame, from a screenplay by Wells Root & Harold Greene and Ben Starr.

Although "Texas Across the River" aims a swift-kick-in-the-buckskin at all the beloved clichés of the classic American western, it was photographed by Russell Metty, A.S.C., against the spectacular backgrounds, never before used as motion picture locations. It is well-stocked with gunfire, beautiful women, Indians, the United States Cavalry, Texas longhorn bulls, swift horses and other ingredients vital to the slam-bang, action-packed horse opera, as western pictures were affectionately dubbed early in screen history.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

There Was So A White Buffalo

Mail sack's heavy; some quick tries to catch up. Let's begin with the once-Indian-revered white buffalo, existence of which was doubted by a recent OBT reader.

From an unsigned Morton old-timer comes rebuttal: "I can assure Grand Prairie's 'Skeptical' there was at least one albino, for I saw and handled the hide a number of times in the early 1900s in the home of frontiersman-buffalo hunter J. Wright Moor of Snyder.

"From time to time he was offered phenomenal sums for it but he elected to keep it and did until his death. I don't know what finally happened to it, but (the white buffalo) can be verified by many who lived in Snyder around 1900."

From Bryan's newsman-playwright R. C. Stewart Jr.: "In the Abilene area is the tale of old-timers about the white buffalo, leader of the last great herds as they passed through, searching for grazing lands.

"Seems their yearly trek tagged the gap in the hills southwest as 'Buffalo Gap,' where a town grew up before present day Abilene."

Why was that albino important? The Kiowa know the great white ghost one day would lead his herd back for vengeance on the white hunter; and thundering with them would ride the Indians.

RIVERBOATS
Centerville—Caroline O. Stell: "... very interested to find among the boats that once moored at old Magnolia (near Palestine) on the Trinity, the names 'Ida Rees' and 'Black Cloud.' These two boats were owned by my great-grandfather, John D. Stell, with a third which bore his name. They did carry

Hawk Now Looking For A New Job

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Burt Reynolds, in custom-made shirt and tailored slacks, flicked with a fingernail a picture of a suspect, and stated, "Wanted in Massachusetts, wanted here, grand theft."

He stopped, groaned and turned to the director: "Indian boy no speak well today, Indian boy very tired."

They reshot the brief scene, and Reynolds got through his lines without difficulty. The young actor, who plays the title role in ABC's new police drama, "Hawk," strolled over to the sidelines as the production crew was preparing for the next shot.

"I'm all tensed up today," he explained. "I'm just sick about our show's ratings. We'll get the word in a few days, but right now I just feel that we're not going to make it."

Reynolds was right. The Nielsen ratings were bad and ABC announced the show will be dropped at the end of December.

"Well," he said, just before the axe fell, "I've worked as hard as any actor could to make it work. And what's killing us is this big problem—damn movies in prime time. Obviously it's absolutely impossible for a show that costs $150,000 to go up against a movie that cost $3 million—and comes on an hour ahead of us."

He looked around at electricians moving cables, camera-men adjusting their equipment, and a make-up man swabbing perspiration from the forehead of Leon Janney.

"All these jobs gone down the drain if we don't make it," he said sadly. "But I figured—and the network people agreed—that we'd be clobbered in the first ratings. 'Hawk' is a word of mouth show, and we expected to give it time. But the network boys look at those ratings and they forget what they've said before and out we go."

Reynolds, a Palm Beach boy, was a halfback on the Florida State College football team when an automobile accident upset his plans to become a professional. He quit college, came to New York and turned actor. In lean periods, he learned he could find jobs as a stunt man.

It stood him in good stead in "Hawk," where he did all of his own stunts—though it made everybody nervous.

"I do the stunts because I can do it better than anyone else," he said, without any suggestion of conceit. "I think I move as well as anybody else—I've been doing stunts for 13 years and I've never been hurt. And it works better in the show—they can start the stunt closer, where they can see my kisser and then move back so that the audience knows that I'm doing it. It adds something."

Reynolds has crowded a lot of action into his 10 years in television, and this is his third series. His first was "Riverboat," in which he had the second lead. After that he moved into "Gunsmoke" for a couple of seasons to play an Indian half-breed. This was followed, in Hollywood style, by three guest star roles as an Indian.

Pop Music Dug For Bagley Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Digging into the pop music archives for new shows is keeping Ben Bagley busy.

Bagley assembled and produced a review, "The Decline and Fall of the Entire World as Seen Through the Eyes of Cole Porter," which had a hit off-Broadway run and has since gone into editions on the West Coast and in London, plus a bus-truck tour starting in October.

Ever since Bagley has been revisiting other composers including Gershwin and Berlin. His next stage venture is to be based on the music of Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart.

ABClub Hears Band Unit

Under the direction of Bill Bradley, the Big Spring High School German band provided members of the American Business Club with a musical interlude during their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

It was announced that the club's board of directors would hold a business meeting with club proxy Morris Robertson at 7:30 p.m. Monday at 805 E. 2nd St., at which time plans for the Ambucs convention will begin to take shape.

Ten members of the organization's "Big Hatters Club" were present for the luncheon and drew a round of applause. Only those members who have been recruited as many as three new pledges within a year's time are eligible for membership in the "Big Hatters" group.

The attendance contest being staged by the ABC went into its second week, with 59 present for the session. To Don Anderson went the dubious distinction of carrying the plaque for the coming week, signifying that his group reported the smallest turnout.

New Partnership
NEW YORK (AP)—A new Broadway producing partnership has been set up by two long-time aides on other sponsors' shows.
The team, Joseph Harris and Ira Bernstein, have together served as general managers for 50 exhibits, including the current "Name," "Sweet Charity," "Wait Until Dark" and "Wait a Minim!"
Their first separate venture is to be "Hallelujah, Baby!," a musical by Arthur Laurents, Jule Styne, Betty Comden and Adolph Green. The property was previously under option to David Merrick and was relinquished in dispute over suggested script revisions.
