Teenager Taken Laughing From Mass Murder Scene

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Seven women and children, forced to lie face down on a beauty shop floor like spokes in a wheel, were shot methodically by a high school senior Saturday. Five died.

GIVEN IDEA

Robert Benjamin Smith, 18, taken laughing from the salon, told police Sgt. Ray Gomez he got the idea from recent mass killings in Chicago and Austin, Tex.

Gomez said Smith freely admitted the shooting and told of stabbing his youngest victim, Debra Sellers, 3½, "a couple of times" when she "kept jumping around."

Debra's 3-month-old sister, Tamara Lynn, escaped with a bullet wound in the arm. Police said she either crawled under her mother, Joyce Sellers, 27, or the mother threw herself on the lot.

The other victims were Mrs. Sellers; Carol Farmer, 19, wife of a serviceman stationed in Alaska; and two student operators, Mary Margaret Olsen, 18, and Glenda Carter, 18.

The seventh girl, Bonita-Sue Harris, 18, an employe, was seriously wounded in the head.

NO TROUBLE

Smith, who moved to this central Arizona town near Phoenix from Houston, Mo., 3½ years ago, had no record of trouble at Mesa High School.

But he told Gomez he had been planning a mass killing ever since his parents gave him the 22-caliber pistol for target practice three months ago.

After discarding the idea of suffocating his victims because plastic sandwich bags he bought were too small, Gomez said, the youth entered the beauty shop Saturday, forced his victims to a back room and calmly shot each of them twice.

Two of the victims died on the floor, the other three at a hospital.

"I shot some people," he told Patrolman Gary Johnson, first officer to arrive. "They're back there. The gun is in that sack."

Gomez said Smith told him he hadn't counted on finding any children at the Rose-Mar College of Beauty, "but when he did he decided that they must die also."

"POPPING NOISE"

Eveline Cummings, manager of the beauty college, discovered the shootings when she walked in the door, heard "a popping noise" and looked in the back room.

"I saw a man standing there with his back to me and a gun in his hand," she said. "I ran next door and called police."

Discovering some of the victims alive, Johnson called for ambulances and arrested Smith, who offered no resistance.

Gomez said Smith, after being told of his constitutional rights, told him this story:

Buzz Plans His Space Stroll Outside Gemini 12 Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 12 pilot Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. charges into a searching, two-hour walk in space Sunday, hoping to pinpoint human limitations in that boundless arena where man is still a stranger.

Whipping 42,000 miles through the ocean of void, Aldrin poked head and shoulders out the roof of his spaceship Saturday for more than two hours as he and his companion spent an exotic day exploring heavenly secrets.

AWED — He was awed and chatty as he became a star-gazing shutterbug smoothly sailing through the complex picture-taking session that proved to be a flawless prelude to Sunday's long work session outside.

The sun, moon and stars, plus the world beneath them, held the astronauts' interests after pesky problems with a target rocket linked to their nose seemed to have disappeared.

Aldrin and his champion flying partner, James A. Lovell Jr., skillfully chased the moon across the face of the sun, capitalizing on an opportunity to snap man's first, perhaps most revealing, pictures of a rare solar eclipse from space.

JESTING — "What did I tell you, Buzz?" Lovell asked his rookie pilot as Aldrin hung outside. "Four days vacation with pay and see the world."

"Yeah!" Aldrin replied, with a hearty laugh. "For about 2 hours and 20 minutes, Aldrin's hatch stayed open, exposing both men to hostilities of space. With Lovell guiding the ship, Aldrin spent the time snapping scientific pictures of selected star fields, like the Milky Way.

Their biggest thrill, though, came as they sped over the United States.

"Pretty clouds down there," Aldrin told mission control as they flashed toward Texas. "How's the weather in Houston?"

"It's cloudy. We have a front laying just off the coast."

"I think I can see it. Tell everybody to smile down there."

"We're smiling!"

FEELS BETTER

When Aldrin first stood up, bundled snugly in a bulky spacesuit with oxygen hoses keeping him tied to the seat, he noted: "It looks like I have a small tendency to float out, but very little. I'm completely free. I push myself away and it feels better."

Gazing into the boundless area of space, he spotted strips dangling from the rear of Gemini 12. They apparently had not been cut clean when the spacecraft separated from the booster rocket.

"We've got some of that primer cord hanging around the aft (rear)," he said. "Looks like I'll have to pull some of that stuff away when I get back there."

His spacewalk, designed to probe baffling questions uncovered by stragglers before him, will take him to the rear where a "work bench" is designed with simple tasks for him. He might have to snip some of the cord to keep from getting tangled.

CAMERA

Aldrin used an ultraviolet camera mounted on the side of the spacecraft to take the pictures of star fields, mainly Cassiopeia and Sirius. Relative to the rest of the universe, these fields are believed to be young — about 10 million years old — and pictures from space might give hints to their origin.

Their main jobs completed, the astronauts turned to taking photos of each other.

Once back inside, the pilots settled down for an afternoon of other scientific experiments. Then planned to get a good night's sleep before the big day Sunday, third day of the four-day mission.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has a new unification goal for the armed services: He wants to standardize chow.

Officials of the Pentagon's newly established Directorate for Food Services said Saturday one of their first tasks will be to push through a regulation putting the Army, Navy and Air Force on an equal food allowance basis as of next July 1, the beginning of fiscal 1968.

BIGGER MEALS

Right now sailors get bigger meals. The Navy, under a 1933 law, is allowed 20 ounces of meat per man daily, 12 eggs and 44 ounces of fresh vegetables. The Air Force and Army, whose eating habits are regulated by presidential order, get 18 ounces of meat a day, one egg and 21 ounces of vegetables. In fact, the only similar service rations are the daily allotments of coffee, milk, and flour.

Despite this, sources said the Air Force and Army aren't completely sure they want the new food directorate to tell them how much food to serve.

"We're having some difficulty getting through to people," acknowledged Navy Capt. James

A. Warren, director of food services. "But all we want to do is bring the Army and Air Force up to the same high standard as the Navy."

"The services all won't have to serve the same menu." Once the services are all on the same food standard, Warren said, the food directorate "will have an opportunity to evaluate and improve all standards. There's no way in the world to evaluate now."

To this effect, an executive order describing the new Army and Air Force food allotments now is circulating at the Bureau of the Budget, which must approve it, and later will be sent to the service secretaries for their approval.

WILL COST MONEY

Unlike most McNamara unification projects, this one will cost the Defense Department money. The armed services currently are allowed about $1.1 billion annually for food and allowances; the higher standards will add an estimated $6 million to that total, Warren said.

Why were the Navy's standards fixed by law 33 years ago? "We've never been able to find out," the food officer said.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

The far away war in Viet Nam came home with withering effect again last week — and the body of Sp.5 Richard Spangler comes home today. Richard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Davis, was killed in action a week ago Saturday near Chi Chi.

Even in the face of this sad, sad reminder, only a handful turned out Friday for the Veterans Day observance at the VA hospital.

About half the potential voters turned out Tuesday for the general's race, but those who did gave a convincing verdict (See THE WEEK, P. 8-A, C. 7)

MRS. BERNARD FISHER

Funeral Monday For Mrs. Fisher

Death came Friday to Mrs. Bernard Fisher, member of a family long and prominently linked with the history and development of Big Spring. Mrs. Fisher, who would have been 71 next December 30, died in a local hospital after several weeks of serious illness. She had been in declining health for some time. Rites will be conducted by Rabbi Jerald Klein, Dallas, at 3 p.m. Monday in the River-Welch chapel, and interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park beside the grave of her husband. The family has requested that memorials be in the form of gifts to favorite charities. Mrs. Fisher was born Frances Eckhaus in Lafayette, Indiana, Dec. 30, 1895. She was married there June 3, 1919, to Bernard Fisher, member of one of Big Spring's early-day merchant families, and they came here immediately to establish their home. Her late husband, who died Dec. 25, 1964, had first come to Big Spring in 1883, when his father and uncle moved to the frontier town to establish the J&W Fisher Company, a large mercantile establishment which for years served the needs of ranchers and settlers over a wide West Texas area. Mrs. Fisher had been active in community affairs in her own right. In addition to being a faithful member of Temple Israel, she was a past matron of the Order of Eastern Star, and was appointed to four state offices connected with the staff of the Grand Officer of O.E.S. She was also past Mother Advisor to the Order of the Rainbow. She was an officer in the Jewish Sisterhood, and was one of the leaders among church women establishing the West Side Recreation Center. She also had been active in Parent-Teacher Association work, and served as president of the South Ward, West Ward, Junior High and Senior High units — a distinction probably held by no other woman. During her tenure, she established a radio program, "Know Your Schools." Mrs. Fisher is survived by one son, Julian Fisher; three grandchildren, Evette, Wilma Jean and Anthony Fisher; and a sister, Mrs. Joye (Rhea) Fisher, all of Big Spring.

Italians Hit Hard By Loss Of Livestock

ROME (AP) — Fear grew in Italy on Saturday that flood-tainted food from the countryside or lay submerged under water standing in fields and barnyards. At Ravenna, south of Venice, health officials reported a poultry company had attempted to include 300 flood-drowned chickens in a shipment for export. Authorities would not say for what country or countries the halted shipments were destined. CATTLE LOST — The flood-stricken area was Italy's most important cattle land and 50,000 head of beef were reported drowned. A Rome butcher commented: "With all this meat lost, there probably will be a sharp rise in meat prices all over Italy, and then a general shortage." Carcasses of cattle, pigs, sheep, and poultry dotted the countryside or lay submerged under water standing in fields and barnyards. Soldiers labored to bury or burn the bodies. The Interior Ministry ordered more men on the job and told public security forces to send frogmen protected by rubber suits and masks into high water areas to help in the disposal operation. As the massive cleanup moved ahead in most of the stricken central and north sections of Italy, the situation remained perilous for many communities in the Dolomite Alps north of Venice. LANDSLIDES — Eight days after the worst of the flooding occurred, scattered landslides continued to endanger life and property and a moving mountain of mud threatened to obliterate several villages. Loosened by the floods and heavy rains, masses of earth carrying boulders and uprooted trees piled around the villages of Mezzano, Fiera di Primiero and Imer in the Cison Valley. The three villages have a total of 3,472 residents.

Gals Having Trouble Too

HONG KONG (AP) — According to signs and portents, high-ranking ladies in Communist China have got themselves involved in a dandy political match.

As if the convulsions of a major contest for control of China among the men were not enough, China-watchers also see evidence of a sort of ladies' auxiliary power struggle.

SITUATION

This is the way the situation looks:

Chiang Ching, third wife of Mao Tse-tung, has risen suddenly to political prominence. She is given relatively high rank in the listings of Central Committee leaders attending various public functions and applauding teen-age Red Guard hoodlums.

This former actress is described by knowledgeable Chinese in Hong Kong as vindictive tiger-lady.

Apparently, she had been brooding about the state of things among the ranking women of Red China.

For one thing, Wang Kuang-mei, the wife of President Liu Shao-chi, was getting all the public glory while Chiang Ching sat at home, playing the dutiful but uncelebrated spouse of the great but aging and ailing leader.

MADE TRIPS

Wang Kuang-mei got to go to Indonesia, Burma, Cambodia and North Viet Nam, among other glamorous foreign places, when her husband undertook diplomatic missions. She was lionized by the cream of Oriental Communist society. It was too much.

Worse than that, Wang Kuang-mei had a suspicious background. It is not confirmed abroad, but she is believed to be the daughter of a once prominent official of the Manchu dynasty, and also the cultivated product of a Roman Catholic university education.

She worked as a nurse in Peking before the revolution. She did not marry Liu until 1949 when the revolution was succeeding. As his wife she had honors showered upon her, including deputy chairmanship of the All-China Women's Federation.

TOO GLAMOROUS

woman who was all too glamorous — Soong Ching-Ling, widow of the celebrated Sun Yat Sen of the 1911 Chinese republican revolution. The sister of Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China, Soong Ching-ling was a boon to party propaganda.

Then there was Teng Ying-chao, the wife of Premier Chou En-lai. It was well known she had a capitalist background, although in her youth she was a female firebrand in China and a promoter in France of the Paris branch of the Chinese Communist party.

And where was Chiang Ching, the third wife of Mao? Who knew about her?

HAD CHANCE

Came the power struggle among the men. Chiang Ching had her chance.

President Liu, once Mao's heir-apparent, seemed on the losing side. He was downgraded in the Politburo from second to eighth place and would slip more if the others got strong enough to push him.

Chiang Ching began to blossom. Mrs. Liu came under attack.

Poor Panda's Plight May Yet Be Solved

LONDON (AP) — Once upon a time, in the most inaccessible mountains of the Szechwan Province of China, there was born a little baby panda. It was a cuddly thing, all fluffy black and white fur, and it had no idea it was going to grow up to be a cold war ambassador between East and West, and denounced by the Chinese Communists as an American lackey.

CAPTURED

This baby panda was captured by a Chinese collecting team on American Independence Day, July 4, 1957, when she was about six months old. They took her on a train to Peking Zoo where she was cared for by a beautiful Chinese girl who lived with her day and night.

The Chinese called this baby panda Chi-Chi, which means "naughty, mischievous little girl." For that is what she was, a little furry bundle of fun.

There were two other giant pandas in Peking Zoo at that time. They were older than Chi-Chi, so they were kept apart from her and she lived in an enclosure of her own.

COLLECTOR

One day in 1957 an animal collector named Heini Demmer, who lived in Nairobi — that's in Africa — was commissioned by an American zoo to negotiate an exchange of wild animals from East Africa for one giant panda.

So he took a large collection of big and small animals, some ferocious and some not so ferocious, and set off for China. There for a long time he talked with the Chinese and eventually an exchange was arranged. The Chinese may not have known the exchange was for the United States.

The Chinese took the African animals and told Demmer he could have any one of the three giant pandas in the Peking Zoo. For days and days the animal collector watched the three giant pandas and then, at last, he chose Chi-Chi, the youngest, and took her into his charge May 5, 1958.

THEN, POLITICS

Then, international politics came into Chi-Chi's life.

The United States had never had diplomatic relations with the Communist Chinese government in Peking. And the American government had imposed a ban on the import of all Communist Chinese goods.

Pity poor Chi-Chi! Because she was born in China, poor Chi-Chi couldn't get an import license to enter the United States. So, accompanied by Demmer, she went on a tour of European zoos, traveling by train, car and airplane.

On Sept. 5, 1958, Chi-Chi came to visit the London Zoo — initially for a three-week visit. But she so captured the hearts of everyone that the Zoological Society, which had lost its fourth and last giant panda eight years previously, wanted to buy her from Demmer.

WORTH $35,000

The price paid by the society and its friends was never disclosed — but Chi-Chi is today valued at $35,000.

A special panda pit was constructed for Chi-Chi with a water pool, rocks and logs on which she dozes in the daytime, and a swing.

Chi-Chi, who is fond of eating bamboo leaves and a mash of rice, milk, apples, bananas, vitamins, glucose and boiled chicken, now weighs 235 pounds. Perhaps its all those bars of milk chocolate that she nibbles.

There in the panda pit, Chi-Chi lived quite happily, lazing in the sun or hiding from the English smog in her indoor, heated and air-conditioned den.

Then a couple of years ago, zoologists began worrying about the future of the giant panda population. It is believed there are very few still living in the wild so the Chinese government issued an order strictly protecting the few that remain.

ONLY A FEW

There are only about a dozen pandas in captivity. Eight of these are in the Peking Zoo, where they have twice bred baby giant pandas. Another four or five are believed to be in other Chinese zoos.

Outside of China there are only two — An-An, a male, in Moscow, and Chi-Chi in London.

About two years ago the Russians and the British began independently to consider the possibilities of breeding their pandas.

Again international politics came into the picture. There was a split between the Russians and the Chinese Communists. Since the Russians couldn't get together with the Chinese to breed pandas, they agreed to cooperate with the British.

So for seven months this year, Chi-Chi visited with An-An in Moscow. After a bit of bother at the start, when An-An attacked Chi-Chi, the two got on well together — but they didn't mate.

Now the London Zoo hopes that talks between the British and Soviet governments will lead to An-An visiting Chi-Chi in London next spring for another attempt at mating.

Meanwhile, in Hong Kong, the

Mr. Hart, who observes his 53rd birthday later this month, suffered many bruises and contusions and likely will get about with some difficulty for the next several days.

He was wearing glasses at the time but luckily did not break them.

Mexico's Cuban Relations Are Becoming Strained

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's relations with Cuba are strained. Informed sources are saying Cuba may find there are limits to Mexican tolerance, although there are no signs at the moment that relations are near a critical stage.

ONLY MEMBER

Mexico is the only member of the Organization of American States which retains diplomatic ties with the Fidel Castro regime despite a 1964 OAS resolution that no member maintain such relations.

No pro-Castro sentiment is apparent here except among some extreme leftists. Diplomatic relations have been maintained to satisfy some internal leftist groups and also because Mexico has a policy of seeking to keep open contacts — maintaining "a bridge" of communications, as it has been described — for any eventuality.

The Mexican press is generally critical of Castro.

Some Mexicans suspect that Cuban influence was involved in recent party disturbances in several parts of the country. However, no proof of such influence, if there is any, has been made known.

ARRESTED

Last August, Mexican authorities arrested pro-Castro writer Victor Rico Galan and 26 others for subversive activity. Rico Galan had visited Cuba often.

No date for the trial has been announced. Nine of the 27 arrested are being held without the right for release on bail.

At the end of September, the Cuban embassy's press secretary, Julian Lopez Diaz, was caught supplying funds to a Guatemalan smuggling ring that was running large quantities of arms from the United States and Mexico to Communist guerrillas in neighboring Guatemala.

After being held for a couple of days by Mexican authorities, the Cuban was allowed to return quietly to Havana.

WITH GUATEMALA

Mexico has been making concentrated efforts to strengthen its relations with Guatemala and other Central American countries, so this Cuban activity seriously disturbed officials here.

Mexico has other problems in its relations with Cuba.

About 45 Cubans have been in asylum under protection of the Mexican embassy in Havana for a long time. Castro has refused to grant safe-conduct passes for them to leave Cuba.

Mexico has been criticized occasionally in other Latin American countries for allowing the Cubana Airline to fly between Havana and Mexico City — a route used by some Latin American leftists to get indoctrination in Cuba.

CHECK TRAVELERS

Mexico keeps a careful check on those travelers: Passengers are photographed and baggage carefully examined.

SKIN CANCERS CAN BE COMPLETELY CURED

About 18% of all cancers are skin cancers. They are not contagious. But, early diagnosis is important, so watch out for the danger signals:

A "mole" that has grown in size, looks irritated, bleeds, or is changing color is a frequent offender, particularly if it is located where it is subject to friction. Wart-like growths, often due to excessive sunlight exposure or X-rays, are suspect.

Eczema-like patches on the breast may be skin cancer. Do not be afraid to check with a physician. Removal is painless. Skin cancer is curable, if detected early.

A Bundle From Webb

Webb Air Force Base continues to be one of the leaders in the United Fund campaign. Latest division there to go "over the top" is the Operations complex. Capt. Lawrence D. Becker (right) deputy commander for operations project officer in the campaign, proudly turns over a big sack of contributions to Col. Thomas J. Rowland, deputy commander for operations.

UF Maps 'Big Push'

This is the week in which drive officials hope to make a concerted effort to wind up the affairs of the 1966 United Fund Campaign.

Saturday the total stood at $88,563.24, comparable with last year's final effort but only about 70 per cent of the way to the $139,000 goal.

There are still many cards out which ought to substantially boost the current figures, according to Dick Ream, campaign chairman.

The UF office has been busy the past few days trying to get all outstanding cards returned. Ream said that he was undertaking to organize a corps of faithful workers for one final push.

"There are many who have not yet been contacted directly for gifts," he said, "and we want everyone to have the opportunity to help. There are some few who have not signed cards who need to be given a second chance to be participating members of their home town and not ride on someone else's coattails."

Friday the UF picked up $1,500. The divisions have produced these yields so far: Out of town, $11,229.50 (over the top); big gifts $35,932 (near the goal); special, $6,431; employees $30,613.76; Webb AFB $12,186.73; and area $10 (not yet officially launched).

General Mocks Pres. Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Some 800 students gathered across from President Sukarno's palace Thursday to listen to Sutomo, a former army general turned student leader, gently mock President Sukarno.

The meeting was interrupted at one point when two students began fighting. Dozens of knives were pulled by other students in preparation for a bigger brawl, but the fight did not spread.

The meeting was closely guarded by troops and military police. They made no move to disband the meeting, but did break up the fight.

Beaumont Flooded By Drenching Rains Friday

By The Associated Press

Drenching rains stopped and dense fog developed early today along the upper Texas coast while damage still was being assessed from more than half a foot of rain in places.

Flooding was worst at Beaumont, where a 6.21-inch downpour Friday sent water pouring into a number of buildings and filled more than two-thirds of the streets temporarily. It overflowed the hoods of cars at several intersections.

Lakeview, close to Port Arthur, gauged 6.47 inches and the rains were heavy all along the immediate upper coast.

The fog formed during the night over most of East Texas and along the upper coast, with patches of fog also extending along the state's lower coast. Visibility dropped to one-eighth mile at some points.

A mild cold front coasted southward into the Panhandle, meanwhile, but it started breaking up after getting past Amarillo. Predawn temperatures behind the front included 27 degrees at Dalhart and 29 at Amarillo.

Except for occasional high thin clouds, skies were generally clear over Texas outside the fog belt.

Flood blocked so many streets that Beaumont bus service was suspended, and the water stalled hundreds of cars. Paving and sewer systems were damaged heavily. Firemen resorted to pumps in an effort to hold building losses down.

The deluges, lasting most of the day, caused some schools to close in and around Beaumont. Most schoolboy football games were postponed.

Less severe street flooding occurred at a number of places. Rainfall measurements elsewhere included LaMarque, 1.5 miles northwest of Galveston, 5.50 inches; Grove 5.40, Port Neches 5.20, Port Arthur filter plant 5.18 and Jefferson County Airport between Beaumont and Port Arthur 4.46.

Fair weather was predicted in all sections along with another cool night and then a little warming Sunday. An exception was the Panhandle, where another weak cold front was expected to arrive Sunday.

Charlie Back In Tribute To Good Ol' Days

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The wonderful world of radio gets a salute Sunday night when Charlie McCarthy, aided by a fellow named Edgar Bergen, hosts a show on NBC radio in honor of the network's 40th anniversary.

The elusive Mr. McCarthy was unavailable for an interview, but Bergen agreed to talk over lunch at a Chinese restaurant on Sunset Boulevard.

This is the third of Bergen's annual harkbacks to radio's glorious days. The first contained excerpts from his old Chase & Sanborn show, the second was a tribute to the late Fred Allen.

"The new show has some marvelous stuff in it," said the ventriloquist. "We've got forty different stars, and there are some hilarious routines with Ed Wynn and with Groucho Marx. Amos 'n' Andy are on it, and Lum and Abner, too."

"Then we have many of the great historical events of the past forty years — Edward VIII's abdication speech, the Hindenburg disaster, etc. We have a real gamut, everyone from Winston Churchill to Mortimer Snerd!"

Bergen and McCarthy and their cloddish friend Mortimer were among the biggest stars of radio's golden years in the 1930s and 1940s. The era of bigtime network shows ended when talent and advertising money moved into television.

During television's early years, Bergen performed on one-hour specials and a quiz show — "Do You Trust Your Wife?" — and he now makes a few guest appearances. He is content not to be faced with a weekly comedy show.

Palestine's Balloon Base Popular With World Savants

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — Scientists with space-age problems are finding more and more answers at a Texas installation which in only three years has become the nation's busiest scientific balloon flight station.

Facilities maintained near Palestine by the National Center for Atmospheric Research have aided professors and astronomers from colleges and universities all over the country in their studies of the planets and stars, stratospheric conditions, gamma and cosmic rays and in dozens of other space experiments.

EUROPEAN TEAMS

Teams from Western Europe have now begun to use the Palestine base, and NCAR officials expect even wider representation from the scientific world.

"Scientists are tickled to death with the facilities we offer them here," said Frank McCreary, a retired Air Force colonel who manages the base.

Under McCreary's direction, the base has launched more than 200 balloons ranging from 100,000 cubic feet to 10.5 million since August 1963. Some have soared to altitudes of almost 36 miles, and most have flown in the vicinity of 100,000 feet, carrying instrument loads weighing from a few pounds to three and one-half tons.

Why the popularity of balloons in scientific studies?

ABOVE ATMOSPHERE

McCreary says it is because most scientists want to get above the earth's atmosphere with their experiments. They want to study cosmic rays before they dart into the belt of dense, moisture-laden air circling the earth.

They get undistorted pictures of the sun, moon and other heavenly bodies from the stratosphere, he says.

The balloon station is operated out of NCAR headquarters in Boulder, Colo., which is managed by a group of universities that founded the University Corporation for Atmospheric Research in 1960. NCAR is part of an intensified national effort to gather fundamental knowledge and comprehensive theory about the behavior of the atmosphere, McCreary said.

NCAR selected Palestine for its balloon station site because the city's location in connection with prevailing high altitude winds, and also because it is off the busy commercial airways. Part of the city's municipal airport property was turned over to NCAR for a nominal fee, and the center has since expanded the site to 300 acres.

NOT COMPLETE

Its building program, not yet complete, has provided facilities for office space, a machine shop, photo laboratory, temperature and pressure controlled environmental chamber, electronic test equipment, launch equipment, weather forecasting and other services.

Personnel at the base now number 30, including three Weather Bureau meteorologists whose services are essential to scientists in planning their launches.

A private firm, Winzen Research, Inc., handles the actual launching, tracking and recovery of the balloons and their instrument packages.

Helium-filled balloons released from Palestine generally fly on a westerly course during the summer and travel eastward during the winter, once they enter the stratosphere.

Being about midway across the continent, the base permits sufficient flying time, with operations being shifted to Arizona only for a short period during the winter.

Most scientists prefer at least 10 to 12 hours of flying time for their experiments.

Plane Victim Formerly Lived in Big Spring

LI. Larry Rucker, one of 19 men reported lost aboard an Air Force Constellation which went down 123 miles east of Cape Cod Friday, formerly was stationed at Webb AFB.

Rucker made his home here with his wife, Kay, and two daughters, Tony, 5, and Jan, 2, at 608 Holbert until July, 1965, when he was transferred to Otis AFB, Mass.

The Ruckers originally resided at Swansea, South Carolina. At the time of the tragedy, the family was at home in North Falmouth, Mass.

The four-engine EC121H, a radar patrol plane, vanished from radar screens while on a routine air defense mission.

Searchers reported an oil slick and unidentified debris in the area where the plane was said to have crashed.

Girl Gets Aid In Housework

NEW YORK (AP) — Bubbles Smollen, a 9-year-old girl who has been keeping house since her mother disappeared five weeks ago, has received some help in caring for her father, four brothers and two sisters.

Cynthia Jones, a 20-year-old homemaker, was sent to the Smollen household Friday by the Welfare Department.

"Little mother," said Cynthia, "your work is finished. I'll take care of the house."

Neighbors and even strangers also flocked to help the Smollens.

Thefts Checked

Police Saturday were checking several thefts. Lewis Rios, 804 N. Lancaster, said he returned home to find a TV set valued at $280 missing, and some damage to the house.

Mrs. Tommie James, 1600 Oriole, said her purse was stolen from her car while parked at 1711 Benton.

Former Policeman Testifies He Saw Bloody Fingerprint

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A former suburban police sergeant testified at Samuel H. Sheppard's murder trial today that he saw what appeared to be a bloody fingerprint on a stairway banister near the bedroom where Marilyn Sheppard was slain. Jay H. Hubach, who was a Bay Village police sergeant at the time of Marilyn's bludgeoning July 4, 1954, could not fix the time when he discerned what he called the bloody fingerprint except to say that it was sometime between the slaying and the start of Sheppard's first trial Oct. 18, 1954.

State testimony had indicated that the only fingerprint of any import found in the Sheppard home after the slaying was a thumb print of the defendant on the head of the bed where Marilyn was slain. Prosecutor John T. Corrigan in cross-examination asked:

Texas Dries Up A Bit

By The Associated Press Texas dried up and grew warmer Saturday. Except for a few patches of clouds in the eastern half, the state generally was clear. Fog had been heavy and widespread in East Texas but the sun burned it away before noon. In the Southeast corner, it still was soggy from cloudbursts that flooded Lakeview, near Port Arthur, with 6.47 inches of rain and Beaumont had 6.21. Half of Beaumont's streets were impassable for a while during the downpour. A new cold front kept temperatures in the brisk 50s in the Panhandle, but the cold air mass bogged down south of Amarillo and started breaking up. The Coastal Plains at the time had temperatures in the 70s.

Mesa Tragedy Is Third In U. S. In 4 Months

NEW YORK (AP) — The slaying of four women and a girl in Mesa, Ariz., Saturday was the third mass murder in the United States in four months.

On Aug. 1, Charles Joseph Whitman, 25, killed 15 people in Austin, Tex., before a policeman shot him dead on the 27th-floor observation deck of a tower at the University of Texas.

Whitman had killed his wife and mother before ascending the tower, where he killed 13 and wounded 31 with three rifles, a shotgun and two pistols. One of the wounded died later.

On July 14, eight student nurses were murdered in their house on the South Side of Chicago. They had been strangled, stabbed, or had their throats cut.

Three days later, Richard Speck, 25, was arrested for the crimes after he attempted suicide by cutting his arm in a Skid Row flophouse. A young doctor recognized a tattoo on Speck's arm. Speck is in Chicago's Cook County Jail, awaiting a ruling on whether he is sane and can stand trial. The next court hearing on the subject is set for Wednesday.

Other mass murders: — In Camden, N.J., on Sept. 6, 1949, quiet, Bible-reading Howard Unruh methodically killed 13 persons, all strangers to him, with an automatic pistol. He was judged mentally unfit to stand trial and is now in the Trenton (N.J.) State Hospital.

Local Resident's Grandfather Dies In Florida

Clifford F. Hyser, Port Charlotte, Fla., grandfather of Mrs. Al Monson, 107 W. 6th, died Monday, Nov. 7, at 12:30 p.m. in a Port Charlotte, Fla. hospital. He was 75.

Services were held Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2 p.m. at the Kays Funeral Home, Charlotte Harbor, with Masonic rites. Burial was in Restlawn Memorial Gardens. Mr. Hyser was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and married Frieda S. Krueger Sept. 14, 1921, in Cincinnati. He was a veteran of World War I and after his military service owned and operated a feed mill near Mt. Washington, Ohio, for 35 years. He was a member of the Oakley, Ohio, Masonic Lodge No. 668. The family moved to Port Charlotte seven years ago.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Frieda Hyser, Port Charlotte, Fla.; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Burns, Port Charlotte, Fla.; one brother, Charles T. Hyser, Mt. Carmel, Ohio; five grandchildren, two nephews, one niece, several grandnieces and nephews.

Also in 1956, William Bauer, an engineer, killed six members of his family in their home in Parsippany-Troy Hills, N.J., then turned a shotgun on himself.

— On Nov. 19, 1959, Perry Smith and Richard Hickock killed four members of the Herbert Clutter family in their farm home in Kansas. Both were hung. The story was the basis of Truman Capote's best seller, "In Cold Blood."

— In 1961, Capt. Julian Harvey killed his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dupperrault, and their son, Arthur, on his ketch "Bluebelle" off Miami. Harvey was rescued with the body of a daughter of the Dupperraults, but committed suicide when he learned that another daughter, Terry Jo, 11, had been rescued alive.

GOP Gains Gives Market A Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — The Republican party's election gains gave the stock market a shot in the arm last week.

On the strength of the better than generally expected GOP showing, the market went up for the fifth straight week.

A rally started Wednesday, the day after the election, and continued through the rest of the week.

One broker said, "Congress will be less tied to the Great Society. This means they will take a close look at nondefense spending and the need for a tax increase will be lessened."

Her Second Husband Killed

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Her first husband was killed in Viet Nam. She remarried, and her second husband was killed in Viet Nam.

She gave birth to two sons — one fathered by the first husband, the other by the second. Neither father lived to see his child.

Mrs. Bernard Kistler, 26, was informed of the death of her second husband only an hour after she gave birth to his son.

Saturday, Mrs. Kistler was coming out of the shock of the double tragedy in Meadville City Hospital.

Her first husband, Army Lt. William T. Reach of Ormond, Fla., was killed 22 months ago on a Viet Nam battlefield.

Mrs. Kistler was informed Thursday her second husband, also an Army lieutenant, had been killed in a Viet Cong attack.

Doctors said she lapsed into a severe shock when she heard of his death.

A hospital spokesman said, "She's getting along as well as you could expect under the circumstances." She received visitors Friday.

The spokesman said the baby — still unnamed — was "doing real good."

Both of her husbands were graduates of West Point.

additional bonds, and will set the amount to be sold and the date of the sale. According to reports from Sam Anderson, superintendent of schools, the bond index has been as low as 3.75 but as of last Thursday had leveled off to 3.79. Reports are that the market seems rather steady, Anderson told trustees in a memorandum.

Also confronting trustees in approval of final plans on Runnels Junior High School with a date set for receiving bids; consideration of further studies by the architect, Atmar Atkinson, on the high school athletic facilities; a proposal to employ an electronic data processing payroll service.

Other items include the review of bids received for the purchase of two pickup trucks and a dump truck for the maintenance department and confirmation of the purchase of a site for the bus barn and the school maintenance center.

Hungary Changes Election Law

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)

— Communist Hungary has announced a change in election laws in time for next year's parliamentary elections to give voters a choice of candidates but not of political parties.

Dr. Ferenc Erdei, a government spokesman, told Parliament Friday. "In a Socialist country, no change of regime is offered to the voters at elections."

BUT THE QUESTION IS STILL OPEN, ACCORDING TO JOHNSON ADMINISTRATION

Republican Gains May Lessen Tax Hike Possibilities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican gains in the new Congress could lessen the possibility of a tax increase next year to help fight the war in Viet Nam.

The increased number of Republican faces in the new Congress — the GOP picked up 47 House seats — as indicating a greater insistence on cuts in nondefense spending.

Such a move could reduce the need for new taxes, if President Johnson should decide a tax increase is needed.

The administration is already trying to cut spending as much as possible without harming what it considers essential domestic programs but Republicans next year might insist on even deeper cuts.

One key Republican, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, has said the GOP gains will force the President to abandon any effort to seek a tax increase to curb inflation.

Even before Tuesday's election, government sources said the chance of the administration proposing a tax increase to Congress in January had lessened since August but it was still "in the realm of possibility."

The cost of the war, for example, has soared beyond the administration's expectations as outlined in its budget for fiscal year which began July 1. But so have government tax receipts.

Gemini Launch Pad Being Taken Apart

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Scavengers for progress workmen began tearing apart the historic Gemini launch pad Saturday — aiming to salvage equipment for other space programs and reduce the rest to scrap.

There's a feeling of remorse, admitted Air Force Col. Jack Albert, Gemini launch director. "It's sad to see the team that made Gemini what it is broken apart. It is also a bit sad to see the complex we have worked so hard to build up being deactivated."

With Gemini 12's launch a matter of history, the space agency industry-Air Force launch team is no longer needed, except for completing final paper work and clean-up operations.

The 10-story-tall erector, which millions of television viewers saw lowered before each Gemini flight, and the superclean "white room" that kept the spacecraft dust free are scheduled to become scrap iron.

Some launch team members and expensive electronic equipment will go to Vandenberg Air Force Base, where the Defense Department plans to launch Manned Orbiting Laboratories — MOLE — beginning in 1969.

The MOLE program — conceived to see if man can perform military tasks such as photo reconnaissance in earth orbit — will require flights by astronaut pairs for periods up to 45 days, using a modified two-man Gemini capsule as a re-entry lab.

Fuel farms used for Gemini's Titan 2 rocket will be moved to the Air Force Titan 3 complex here to bolster storage capacity. Thanks to their perfect record — 12 successes out of 12 launches — a few, if any, members of the Gemini launch team are worried about hunting jobs.

Georgia Election Case Going To High Court

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton announced Saturday the state will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court a finding by a three-judge federal court that the legislature cannot choose between Republican Howard H. Callaway and Democrat Lester G. Maddox for governor.

in sufficient numbers to keep either of the party candidates from winning can vote for him again in a runoff.

Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson Jr., who supervises Georgia elections, said he will not provide space on ballots for write-ins unless directed to do so by State Atty. Gen. Bolton or the courts.

"I take the position that another election will be a runoff and not an entirely new election," Fortson said. "Georgia law, as I interpret it, says that only the two high men in any election where there was no majority are to be voted upon in a runoff."

Maddox held a slight lead when the News Election Service closed down Friday night after tabulating the votes from all the regular precincts, but absentee votes in Fulton County (Atlanta), which were counted Saturday, put Callaway ahead.

The returns with those absentees, gave: Maddox 448,044; Callaway 440,892; Arnall 57,832.

S. Vietnamese Shoot Up Recreation Club

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A squabble between allies led South Vietnamese government rangers to shoot up a recreation club of the U.S. Green Beret Special Forces team at Hon Quan Saturday and two Americans were wounded, reliable sources said.

Reliable sources said the rangers used two armored personnel carriers, part of the equipment supplied them by the United States, to crack open a wall of the recreation club and then fired into the building with automatic weapons.

Spokesmen at U.S. military headquarters in Saigon said they had no information about the incident. Thirty-five Special Forces men are among about 70 Americans based at Hon Quan.

Selected Site For Massacre

Asst. County Atty. David Udall charged him with five counts of first-degree murder and two counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

He said very little, but an occasional smile crossed his face as he answered questions put to him by an investigating officer, Gordon Worley.

Observers said it did not appear that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, were in the courtroom.

As in Saturday's shooting, one of the intended victims of a mass shooting at Chicago on July 14 escaped by crawling out of the range of a killer. Corazon Amuraa, a Philippine exchange nurse, was the only one of eight student nurses to escape a young prowler. Unlike Smith, however, the man charged with killing the seven nurses, Richard Speck, 24, was a ne'er-do-well, who had a long police record in Texas.

OTHER The other mass killing which Smith said motivated his shooting spree occurred at Austin, Tex., on Aug. 1. Charles Joseph Whitman, 25, killed his wife and his mother before climbing a tower at the University of Texas and killing 13 more persons before he was shot to death by police.

Efforts to uncover anything about Smith's background at Houston, Mo., were not immediately successful. Sheriff George Foster could not be reached. One person reached during a check said, "There are just too many Smiths around here."

He captured 57 per cent of the votes — to become the first major Republican office holder to win a majority in Howard County in nearly 40 years. Three GOP local candidates gave Democratic nominees a spirited run, and in Precinct No. 2 Ray Nichols must have his eight-vote margin over Winston Wrinkle confirmed by the official canvass of the election. This served notice to the Demos that they can no longer be at ease in Zion.

Our United Fund is at the $98,500 mark, and there are enough good cards out to push the total well past the $100,000 level. Big Spring can burst a few buttons off its vest along with Webb AFB, for our base drew a straight line rating of excellent in recent evaluations. Only one other base in ATC has achieved this over-all distinction. The base, incidentally, has a new executive officer, Lt. Col. James Van Pelt.

Plane Spraying Is A Busy Business

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Spraying from airplanes may look like an easy job, but for the pilot it is about the busiest kind of work a man can have.

Where such aerial spraying once was a limited business, it now has spread to many types of work, ranging from use of insecticides, defoliation and killing plants, and even seeding and fertilizing.

BIGGER PLANES
Most such spraying is done from small, single-engine planes. But still fresh in the memory of many is the spraying in Dallas and Corpus Christi by huge C-123 planes of the Air Force.

The big planes were used for a quick kill of mosquitoes when encephalitis epidemics broke out in those cities in August. The crews had been trained to defoliate vegetation in the Viet Nam war to destroy the lurking places of the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese. Some crewmen still were in battle gear when they arrived hurriedly in Dallas.

But they couldn't have been any busier than a crop duster. In an interview with Bill Duncan of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Kenneth Guettler of Portland, across the bay from Corpus Christi, told what it is like:

BUSY WORK
"It's not just flying low over cotton. You have to know when to turn on your insecticide and when to turn it off. Then you've got to regulate it, too. Particularly with dust you have to regulate it as you go along to be sure you get the prescribed amount to the acre. Then you have to think about your flying. You're turning all the time."

Flying only a few feet off the ground, at 90 miles an hour, the craft seem to stand on their tails as they lurch over utility lines.

W. E. Hunt of Portland, who employs several pilots for part of the year, said, "I guess the major hazard is you just have to stay alert—watch for any objects and know the field."

CHECK IT
"If it's a strange field," he said, "You should always fly around it first, find out where the poles are and connect up all the wires to them. Some lines don't go on the borders of the field but across it."

Hunt also said that inexperienced pilots sometimes forget to keep up their air speeds on turns, and thus stall and crash. Those are the ones you read about in newspapers.

The insecticide can be a hazard. "A lot of the poison used now is more or less a gas and it just stays over the field," said Guettler. "It's real important to start on the downwind side so the wind will blow the chemical away from the next pass."

WARM DAYS
Since hot air will not support as much weight as cool air, sometimes the planes are filled with only half a tank of gas on overly warm days to reduce weight.

There are about 12 aerial flight companies operating in this immediate area during the height of the season. Most companies stay here but the pilots move on.

They may start in extreme South Texas and work their way north and east as the season progresses. Some fliers work in Guatemala during the winter.

Baby Stolen From Nursery

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A one-day-old baby boy was reported missing early Saturday from a nursery at Colorado General Hospital.

Police said the child was taken from a room on the fourth floor of the hospital, a unit of the University of Colorado Medical Center, between 1:25 and 1:30 a.m.

The boy was wearing a white hospital shirt and was wrapped in a white hospital blanket bearing a "U-C Med Center" marking.

Officers said the nurse had stepped out of the nursery to go across the hall to get supplies. A hospital spokesman said she was gone only five minutes.

Guettler worked last year, for instance, through November, reaching the High Plains on a government project designed to kill wintering boll weevils.

In former times, most of the fliers learned their skills as government fliers for the military. Now, most are trained in civilian schools.

MORE POWER
Many of the planes now are built specifically for the aerial application business. They have thick-wings with a more convex upper surface for more lifting power at slow speeds.

Farther up the coast, planes are used extensively for seeding and fertilizing rice crops.

Guettler said a pilot who works only during the season in one place may make as little as $5,000.

But if he moves with the work, he can make as much as $20,000 annually, Guettler said.

She was active in her church, was a past worthy matron of the Greenville chapter of Order of Eastern Star Mrs. King attended West Texas State University and the University of Colorado, and for 12 years she was an elementary teacher.

Survivors include two sons, Robert G. King, Garland, Clifford E. King, Dallas; four daughters, Mrs. Louie Pratt, Baytown, Mrs. Helen Ivie Smith, Emory, Mrs. L. D. Spradling, Big Spring, and Mrs. Joe B. Fleming, Paris; two sisters, nine grandchildren.

Producers Urged To Hear Cotton Act Discussions

Cotton farmers of Howard County are being urged by Paul Gross, county farm agent to attend a 1966 Cotton Research and Promotion Act to be held in Lubbock on next Tuesday.

Gross pointed out that the continuing decline in domestic and foreign markets for U.S. Cotton has resulted in the largest cotton carryover on record. The carryover was 16.5 million bales on Aug. 1.

A team of specialists from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, Gross said, will be on hand to explain details and answer questions relating to the proposed program. Both the pros and cons, as established from four regional hearings and the legislation itself, will be discussed.

The Lubbock meeting is being held for the purpose of presenting information of assistance to cotton producers in making their decision on whether or not to accept the program.

Midland as resource leader. Jack Alexander will conduct the session for directors and committee members with John Moravcik of Odessa as resource leader.

Neil Daniel, lieutenant governor of District 12, will give details on the 1967 International convention at Houston and district convention at Tulsa. Lt. Gov. Bruce Truitt of Odessa will discuss "Why every club should sponsor a Key Club."

Dawson De Viney will tell about the Circle K program, and Rev. Jackson will discuss the Kiwanis Children's Camp.

A mid-afternoon coffee break will be served by the Kiwanis Queens, and Mrs. Starr Warford, English instructor at Howard County Junior College, will sing.

Birch Couple Seen Saturday

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—A. Otis Birch, the 95-year-old California millionaire missing from his Breckenridge home since Monday, was seen eating lunch here Saturday with his bride, the former Pearl Choate.

Newsman spotted Birch and his bride, as they were leaving a cafeteria.

Mrs. Birch, who has been married seven times and who once served a prison term for murder, said:

"I hid my car to try to keep away from you all but it didn't do any good. Why don't you leave me alone?"

McDuff Denies He Helped In Killing

FORT WORTH (AP) — Kenneth McDuff, on trial for his life, looked at the jury Saturday and asserted: "I am not guilty."

McDuff took the stand on the sixth day of the murder trial in which he is charged with the shooting of Robert Brand, 17.

"Did you have anything to do with the killing of Robert Brand?" lawyer Geoffrey Sullivan asked McDuff.

In a loud voice, McDuff, 20, said, "No, I did not."

McDuff also said he knew nothing about the killing of Brand's cousin, Marcus Dunnam, 16, and the rape-strangling of Miss Edna Louise Sullivan, also 16.

"I know nothing about them," McDuff asserted, "except what I've heard in the papers and in the courtroom."

"I'm not guilty of any of them."

The bodies of the two boys were found in a bar parked in a field near the Burleson farm of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McAllister Aug. 7. The girl's body was found a day and a half later near Egan in adjoining Johnson County.

Roy Dale Green, also charged in the rape and triple slayings, testified Wednesday that McDuff shot the two cousins, then raped and strangled their companion.

Green said he saw the shootings and that he also, out of fear of McDuff, attacked the young girl.

McDuff, of Rosebud, said he and Green did come to Fort Worth on Aug. 6, the day of the killings.

Police Guard Ordered For Ballots In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Gov. William A. Egan, saying the "picture has taken a dramatic turn," Friday night ordered the state patrol to guard all ballots from Tuesday's general election in Alaska.

"There is more than a hope that the present administration will remain in Juneau," said Egan, who last Wednesday conceded defeat to his Republican opponent, Walter J. Hickey, millionaire Anchorage hotelman.

Egan, Democratic chief executive since Alaska gained statehood in 1959, called for the police guard as unofficial returns from remote districts continued to close the gap between the two men.

With 383 of Alaska's 398 precincts reported, Hickey led Egan 30,996 to 29,771 today.

Egan said he understood there are about 3,750 absentee ballots that will be counted Wednesday at the state's four district election offices in Nome, Fairbanks, Anchorage and Juneau. The official state canvass of other ballots starts the same day.

The governor said the police guard would be maintained until the official ballot count is completed. He said he has invited Republicans to provide watchers at district election offices when the ballots are counted by official canvassing board members.

MAYOR'S COMMITTEE ON JOBS, WAGES

Special Committee Planned

A special committee will be named in the next 10 days by Mayor J. Arnold Marshall to make a study of personnel classification wages and salaries paid to city employees, compare them with other cities, local governmental and private industry, then make a report to the Big Spring City Commission before the budget is prepared for the next fiscal year.

Such a committee is similar to the one named to study the city's growth needs which resulted in the city's Master Plan and following capital improvements program in the late 1950's.

"It is obvious this is a critical problem of local city government," Mayor Marshall said. "The needs are indicated by the excessive turnover in some of our departments, and we have been unable to fill some vacancies satisfactorily. In addition, we have lost a large number of long-term employees to local industry, as well as other governmental agencies.

"I believe an impartial study committee, with the best interests of our city at heart, can look at the problems and evaluate them toward improving the superior service the residents of Big Spring demand and need," he declared, "as well as determine what is fair to the dedicated public servant."

"We know that the local city government cannot provide the level of service that meets the standards we require," he said, "if it cannot employ and retain the proper type of employee."

The mayor said there would be no limitations placed on the special committee, except that its report should be made to the City Commission on or before Jan. 20, 1967, so that its recommendations may be considered for the new budget which becomes effective April 1.

The size of the committee has not been decided, Marshall explained, but it will be a true representation of the community so it will properly reflect the community's needs and wishes.

The city's present salary schedule is based on the findings of a consultant firm—Griffenhagen-Kroeger, Inc., which was made in early 1964 and put into effect July 1, 1964. This report and its standards will be made available to the committee.

In addition, City Manager Larry Crow's office is compiling information requested from other cities which might be of help to the committee members.

Johnson Men Opposed To Long Bombing Pause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any call issued by Pope Paul VI for a Christmas truce in Viet Nam is assured of sympathetic consideration in Washington, but Johnson administration officials are strongly opposed to another prolonged, one-sided pause in bombing North Viet Nam.

As President Johnson and his top advisers see it, the aerial offensive against the North is one of the most potent instruments they have for bringing about peace negotiations or scaling down the Vietnamese conflict. They insist that any pause must be justified by some move toward peace from the Communist side.

ANXIOUS
As Johnson put it Friday: "We are very anxious to always give consideration, and as sympathetic as possible, to any suggestion the Pope gives, as we did last year. But we are also anxious to have other people do likewise."

This comment, a restatement of a news conference remark of a week earlier, was made as he and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman talked with newsmen at the Johnson ranch in Texas.

The U.S. attitude does not rule out a Christmas lull in the fighting. It does, however, appear to bar any repetition of the 37-day suspension of air strikes against North Viet Nam such as grew out of the Christmas truce a year ago.

BRING STEPS
The one exception would be some indication from North Viet Nam, perhaps through the Soviet Union, that a decision by Johnson halting the bombing would bring immediate, responsive steps from the Communists. The word from Hanoi would probably be clothed in diplomatic secrecy, but U.S. officials say there has been no such indication so far.

Harriman said Friday "we are hopeful" that some sign of progress toward peace talks will emerge from Moscow discussions next month between the Soviets and the British.

Indeed, the lack of any demonstrated interest on North Viet Nam's part in easing or ending the conflict is seen by Washington officials as the fatal flaw in the new surge of peace efforts which has developed in the last few days.

These developments included a strong indication from the Vatican Press Office in Rome that Pope Paul will call again for a Christmas cease-fire. The appeal he issued last year resulted in a lull in the fighting and with that as a start Johnson built his own actions into a peace offensive that produced a 37-day pause in the bombing of the North.

LONG PAUSE
The United States had been told that a long pause in the bombing would result in progress toward peace on the part of North Viet Nam, but no such result was forthcoming and in late January Johnson resumed air strikes. Officials said the Communists had taken advantage of the suspension in air strikes to step up the movement of men and supplies into South Viet Nam.

Now that the U.S. elections are over and a new year approaches, the President seems certain to face increasing pressures for new peace gestures.

One reason is that Johnson's own advisers have said for weeks that following the U.S. elections the leaders in Hanoi would probably reassess their own policies. This forecast has been based on the belief that Hanoi thought the American people would repudiate Johnson's Viet Nam policy by the

Porkers Blast Ponies, 22-0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Sophomore David Dickey scored two touchdowns and Martine Bercher returned a punt 65 yards for another Saturday as sixth-ranked Arkansas moved back into the Southwest Conference title picture with a 4-0 record before Saturday's battle, could not penetrate a rock-ribbed Arkansas defense led by All-America tackle Loyd Phillips. The Mustangs' deepest penetration was the Razorback 29 in the final three minutes.

It was the fifth SWC victory in six games for the Porkers, who can clinch another trip to the Cotton Bowl next week by beating Texas Tech.

Should Arkansas win and SMU lose to the either Baylor or Texas Christian in its remaining games, Arkansas would win an unprecedented third straight undisputed SWC crown.

Dickey's 38 carries broke the previous conference record of 37 set by Ray McKown of TCU against Arkansas in 1952.

Dickey got strong support from fullback Eddie Woodless, who ran the drive to perfection in picking up 66 yards in 11 carries.

The Owls still were not through and recovered their own on-sides kick and moved to the A&M 15 where Frank Pustka missed a 31-yard field goal with nine seconds left. It was his fourth unsuccessful three-point try.

It was the first time in 16 games that SMU has been shut out, the last coming a year ago when Illinois beat the Mustangs 42-0.

Meanwhile, the Razorback defense contained SMU's deadly offense, holding the Mustangs to 185 yards.

Martin Suffers Heart Seizure

ABE MARTIN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Abe Martin, athletic director and head coach of Texas Christian University, suffered a heart attack Saturday only a few hours before his football team met the University of Texas.

Martin has been head coach since 1953, and took on the added duties of athletic director when L. R. (Dutch) Meyer retired in June, 1963. He is a native of nearby Jacksboro.

Martin has a history of heart trouble, but his physician said he should be out of All Saints Hospital within two weeks. The doctor said Martin is through with coaching for the season. Going into the game with Texas, TCU had a 2-5 season and 2-2 Southwest Conference record and retained a mathematical chance to win or share the title.

He played college ball at TCU from 1928 through 1930 and was a regular on the school's first Southwest Conference championship team in 1929.

The Horned Frog team was directed against Texas (4-4 and 3-2) by four assistants. They were Hunter Enis and Don Jackson on offense and Allie White and Walter Roach on defense.

Martin coached in high schools until he returned to TCU in 1945 to be in charge of the offense under Meyer.

The doctor said an electrocardiogram Saturday "showed real change, but I can't say yet he's had heart damage, but there are some circulatory changes."

His teams won the Southwest Conference title in 1955 and 1956 and was in a three-way tie for the title in 1959.

Martin had complained of chest pains since Thursday, but two electrocardiograms Friday showed nothing, although his blood pressure was high. He became worse during the night and was admitted to the hospital at 8:30 a.m.

His record led the trustees to vote him life tenure. He was named Coach of the Year in Texas in 1955 and 1958. He currently represents Dist. 6 on the National Football Rules Committee.

ABILENE — In a wild, offensive struggle, Abilene Cooper blasted Midland Lee, 42-29, here Friday night to move into a tie for first place in District 2-AAAA standings.

Cooper held Lee to minus 26 yards rushing but the Rebels threw 44 passes, completing 22 of them for gains totaling 342 yards.

Cooper scored 21 points before Lee could get on the board and led at half time, 28-8.

Mitch Robertson, Jon Harrison, Randy Allen, Kenny Stephens and Jack Mildren crossed the goal line for the Cougars, Mildren going in on two occasions.

Sonny Rector, Rodger Camp, Tommy Orloff and Rick Maroney crossed the double stripes for the Rebs. Lee scored the final two touchdowns of the game.

Three of Lee's touchdowns came on passes from Gregg Frazier, leading fliager in the district.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Houston's hard running backs romped to a 56-18 football victory Saturday over Kentucky in compiling the most points against a Kentucky team in 45 years.

Cougar halfback Warren McVea led Houston's ground attack with three touchdowns. Quarterback Bo Burris threw for two and fullback George Nordgren carried for one score.

Kentucky jumped to an early lead with a 72-yard drive set up by Bob Windsor's 45-yard run to Houston's 6 yard line.

The Wildcats penetrated into Cougar territory two more times in the first half. Houston's defense picked off four Kentucky passes, two in each half, and held the Wildcats to 134 yards rushing.

Houston halfback Dick Post produced 187 of Houston's 497 yards on the ground as the Cougars total offense hit 649 yards.

Kentucky was able to contain Houston only in the third quarter. Two Houston drives were halted deep in Kentucky territory by fumbles. Kentucky's Mike McGraw recovered one on the 4-yard line and linebacker Bill Jansen recovered on the 1-yard line.

Kentucky quarterback Terry Beadles threw 70 yards to Larry Seiple to set Kentucky's second score. The only other Kentucky penetration was Dickie Lyon's 97-yard punt return for a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Burris hit on 10 of 16 passes for 165 yards. Quarterback Dick Woodall threw for 77 more and provided one touchdown.

Nofsinger Finally Gets Chance With Cardinals

By The Associated Press
Among the seven lines describing Terry Nofsinger in the St. Louis Cardinals' brochure is a six-word sentence that says simply:

"Could see more work this year."

It undoubtedly was not meant to be prophetic but it has turned out that way, with the six-year veteran of 44 National Football League passes getting the call against Pittsburgh Sunday with regular quarterback Charley Johnson lost for the season.

It's the first of two straight games against the Steelers, who are coming off a victory over Cleveland, and Nofsinger's performance should be a strong indication of whether St. Louis can hold its Eastern Division lead. The game tops a full-seven game program that includes Baltimore at Atlanta, Dallas at Washington, Philadelphia at Cleveland, New York at Los Angeles, San Francisco at Chicago and Detroit at Minnesota.

Nofsinger, 28-year-old product of Utah, came to the Cardinals in a trade with Pittsburgh before the 1965 season. He completed eight of 20 passes last year and one of six last week when he took over for Johnson during the third period of the game against New York.

The Cowboys trail the Cardinals, who are 7-1-1, by 1 1/2 games and can't afford another loss if Nofsinger proves he can keep St. Louis rolling.

Cleve 5-1 Underdog In Bout With Clay

HOUSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay, the busiest heavyweight champ since Joe Louis, will make his fifth title defense of 1966 Monday night in the Astrodome against 33-year-old Cleveland Williams, a fearsome puncher in his younger days but now a 5-1 underdog.

The 15-round match, scheduled for 9:30 p.m. CST, will be carried on network (Mutual) radio and closed circuit television (Main Bout Inc.) to some 125 locations with 500,000 seats in 111 cities. It also will be beamed to England on the Early Bird satellite and to 42 nations by film.

BIG CROWD DUE
Promoter Earl Gilliam expects a crowd of close to 50,000 for the first title fight in the big dome with tickets scaled from $50 to $5. There has been talk of a $1 million gate and it appears the show may set records for an indoor fight. The old marks are 23,306 in Madison Square Garden Jan. 17, 1941, for Henry Armstrong-Fritzie Zivic and the $422,908 in Chicago for the second Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano bout in 1947.

Williams is lucky to be alive, let alone fighting for the heavyweight title. Doctors battled for weeks to save his life after he suffered a critical gunshot wound in the stomach in an altercation with a highway patrolman, Nov. 30, 1964.

During a lengthy hospitalization—he underwent several major operations—Williams' weight dropped from 214 pounds to 159. His ring career appeared to be finished.

Although Williams, known as the Big Cat, still carries the policeman's slug in his stomach, he has come back. He recuperated on the ranch of his new manager, Hugh Benbow, a Texas oilman, and resumed boxing in February.

FOUR IN ROW
He has won four straight, two by knockouts. But nobody can be sure if he still packs the punch that gave him his 65-5-1 record with 51 knockouts. He has been stopped three times, once by Bob Satterfield and twice by Sonny Liston.

Clay, 24, still appealing his draft board's reclassification to 1-A and now asking deferment as a Muslim minister, has been fighting in foreign lands because he has not been welcome in many areas. His defenses this year have been made in Toronto, London (two) and Frankfurt, Germany. This will be his first bout in the United States since he stopped Floyd Patterson in 12 rounds last Nov. 22 in Las Vegas.

The champion, sometimes subdued and, at other times, reciting his "I'm the greatest" routine, went 15 rounds with George Chuvalo in Toronto, March 29 without knocking the Canadian off his feet. Cassius, who prefers to be known by his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, cut Henry Cooper and stopped him in the sixth round of a May 21 match in London, and took out Brian London in another three-round mismatch in London, Aug. 6.

STOPS GERMAN
In his most recent defense, he stopped left-handed Kari Miller

While warming up for Williams, Clay boxed a six-round exhibition with Doug Jones, once a top contender, at Louisville, Oct. 27.

Clay's record remains a perfect 26-0 with 21 knockouts. He won the title from Liston, Feb. 25, 1964, and defended against Liston and Patterson before he started his busy 1966 schedule. His weight has been fluctuating from 214½ for Chuvalo to 201½ for Cooper.

When the fighters appeared at a preliminary weigh-in Wednesday, Clay scaled 209 and Williams 216½. They probably will be close to that for the match. They will weigh in officially Monday at noon.

In the old days Williams was a man to be avoided by all ranking heavyweights because of his powerful punch, especially a left hook. He goes back a few years. When he started boxing in 1951, the list of ring champs included people like Ezzard Charles, Joey Maxim, Kid Gavilan, Jimmy Carter and Sandy Saddler, all of whom are long retired. Incidentally, Clay was nine at the time.

It remains to be seen if he still has the old wallop after his surgery. He knocked out Ben Black in one, outpointed Mel Turnbow and Sonny Moore and knocked out Tod Herring in three, June 28, his latest start.

The Ring ratings list Williams No. 3 among the contenders and the World Boxing Association, which recognizes Ernie Terrell as champ, lists Williams as No. 4.

A referee and two judges will score the bout by the 10-point must system.

Jim Hall Leads Drivers In Qualifying Sprints

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"If I'm to win the race, I'll have to beat the Chaparrals and the McLaren - Chevrolets," said Britain's John Surtees, speaking of the Stardust Grand Prix, set for Sunday.

And he was right. In qualifying Friday — when eight of the 29 qualifiers broke the track record — Surtees trailed two Chevrolet — powered winged Chaparrals and a McLaren Elva-Chevrolet.

Jim Hall, of Midland, Tex., who set the track record of 110.20 miles an hour last year, led the pack in qualifying for the $33,500 grand prix.

Thirteen others were to qualify today to fill out the field to 33 drivers for Sunday's 210-mile race, which will decide winners denberger in 13 rounds in Frankfurt, Sept. 10.

Clay's record remains a perfect 26-0 with 21 knockouts. He won the title from Liston, Feb. 25, 1964, and defended against Liston and Patterson before he started his busy 1966 schedule. His weight has been fluctuating from 214½ for Chuvalo to 201½ for Cooper.

Miami Finds Punch, Wins By 38-14 Tab

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami Hurricanes, who usually rely on a brawling defense, finally found a scoring punch Friday night against Pittsburgh, trampling a weak Panther team, 38-14.

Quarterback Bill Miller, sidelined two games back because his wild passing was giving coach Charlie Tate a bad case of nerves, came off the bench and probably won his job back with a sterling performance.

Miller hit 13 of 16 passes for 195 yards, threw for one touchdown, ran for another and allowed no interceptions in two quarters of work.

When he turned the job back to David Oliver, the score was 31-0.

"This is the first game since Colorado that we didn't have to sweat right down to the wire," said Tate. "Miller looked great. He regained his confidence and poise."

Scoring only one touchdown in each of the last five games, Miami still managed to beat fifth-ranked Southern California and then undefeated Georgia. And all the credit belonged to one of the country's finest defensive units.

The defense again was impregnable against Pitt, until Tate dipped into his reserves with the score 38-0 and found he didn't have much back there. They gave up 14 points on a 36-yard pass from Ed James to Bob Longo and a 15-yard run by Jay McCune after a blocked punt.

"Miami outmanned us," said Pitt coach Dave Hart. "On defense, they amazed me."

With Doug McGee, star of the Miami running attack, hampered by a bad knee, Tate switched Joe Mira from defense to offense and he rammed four yards for the first Miami touchdown after a 75-yard march that began with Miller's entry into the game.

Mira is a brother of George Mira, Miami's all-America quarterback now with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League.

Queens Name Co-Captains

Alberta Demerson, Lamesa, and Sandra Gossett, West Orange, have been named co-captains of the HCJC girls' basketball team. Both girls are sophomores.

The Jayhawk Queens, who beat Forsan recently, return to play Thursday night in the local gym, at which time they oppose Welch.

The Queens scrimmaged Gall recently and won, 45-32.

The HCJC team plays its first game against college competition Nov. 29, at which time it goes to Abilene to oppose HSU. The Queens play a return game against the Cowgirls Dec. 6 and are booked to take part in a tournament at North Texas State University in Denton later this season.

Odessa Permian Is Winner Over Cats

SAN ANGELO—Odessa Permian sprang the upset of the year in holding off San Angelo, No. 1 Class AAAA team in the state, here Friday night, 12-6. The defeat left the Bobcats and Abilene Cooper tied for the top spot in 2-AAAA standings. San Angelo can win the right to represent the district by beating Big Spring next Friday.

Permian scored both its touchdowns before San Angelo was able to get on the board.

IN 55-0 WIN

Five Coahomans Wind Up Play

Coach Bernie Hagins took 21 players with him and played them all. Bulldog reserves played much of the second period and second string backs most of the last half.

Junior quarterback Mike Childers showed to great advantage for the Bulldogs and scored his first varsity touchdown.

Regular quarterback Troy Fraser and Ken Gregory were others who got across the goal line for the first time for Coahoma.

Phil Cochran returned the opening kickoff 50 yards and then went on in on a 27-yard jaunt. From there on, it was a romp for Coahoma.

Chuck Pherigo scored three touchdowns on thunderous runs for Coahoma, who wound up their season with a 4-6 record.

Five seniors played their final game for Coahoma. They were Fraser, halfbacks Terry Denton and Cochran and linemen Carl Dorion and Eddie Reed.

Coahoma built up a 33-0 advantage at half time and scored about as it pleased after that, several times going for field goals rather than run the ball on in.

Snyder Lose To Mustangs

SNYDER — The troubled Tigers of Snyder got kicked in the teeth again Friday night, this time by the Sweetwater Mustangs, 24-15.

Curtis Clay got Snyder on the scoreboard early in the first with a 15-yard scamper. Frankie Grimmer kicked the extra point.

Sweetwater grabbed the lead in the second when Kent Boatright plunged over from the one and Gary Ruffin ran the two points.

Ruffin then broke away for a 60-yard TD run and passed to Randy Feagan for two points.

Snyder made a bid to get back into the game in the third with an 18-yard drive, with Mario Tavares going the last nine. Tavares passed to Billy Wilson for two points.

However, this merely spurred the Ponies, who mounted a 72-yard drive to paydirt. John Hefer going over. Ruffin hit Boatright for two points. Sweetwater meets Lamesa Friday in the season finale. Sweetwater led in first downs, 16-13, yards rushing 266-160, and passing 51-36.

A team coached by Gene Mayfield has never lost in one masterminded by Emory Belard.

Permian's William Stewart counted on the first play of the second quarter from the one-yard line.

With 1:36 left in the half, Roger Collins recovered a bobbled pass in the end zone for the Panthers' second TD. San Angelo's Gary Mullins was trying to pitch out at the time.

San Angelo fought back to tally in the third when Mullins went over from the one with 1:32 left in the round.

San Angelo got another drive going late in the fourth but an interception stopped it and Permian was able to run out the clock.

Permian made 151 yards rushing to 28 for San Angelo and 20 passing to 74 for the Bobcats.

Permian is not tied for the lead because it was deadlocked by Abilene High early in the year.

Title Game In Houston?

By TOMMY HART

Lou Eskin, editor of Boxing Illustrated Magazine, notified Tarzan's Melton McMorries via letter that his publication was including bantamweight Marciano Rivas, now in McMorries' fight stable, in the next world ratings.

The article will be in the February issue. . . . Marciano is now on McMorries cotton farm over in Martin County. . . . Those with voting privileges in the Southwest Conference may have a hard time deciding between SMU's Jerry Levias and Edd Hargett of Texas A&M when it comes to deciding on the Southwest Conference Sophomore of the Year in football. . . . Dallas Baptist College, which was to have become a senior college next year, may be a juco for several years because of accreditation problems. . . . That means DBC will remain active in Region 5 basketball until the change is made. . . . One report reaching here says that Dallas Baptist lost its biggest cager to Baylor, although he had another season of eligibility remaining with the Indians. . . . The University of Houston and Texas Western, two teams with explosive offenses, might be an ideal booking for the Sun Bowl at El Paso. . . . A dozen football experts were polled by the Chicago Daily News recently about their ideas of the top collegiate football teams of all time and the 1930 Notre Dame team topped the list. . . . No Southwest teams were included in the top 11 and eight of the group were Big Ten clubs.

Only outsiders to break into the lineup were Southern California (twice) and the 1944 Army team, which starred Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard. . . . That 1930 Notre Dame team, by the way, boasted four All-Americans — backs Frank Carideo, Marcy Schwartz and Marty Brill and guard Bert Metzger. . . . Another Irish back that year was Jumping Joe Savoldi. . . . Buddy Travis, the HCJC mentor, says the modern basketball coach has to be a master psychologist because most schools now are about equal in talent.

Dwayne Thompson, who had a major role in the Odessa-Midland Texas Professional League team's recent victory over Tulsa, is the same fellow who quarterbacked the Big Spring Police Department team to a victory over Webb AFB in that charity game played here several years ago. . . . Earlier, Thompson had been a standout in the Stanton High School backfield. . . . A reader says he heard recently that a five-yard stepoff in a football game for a delay-of-game infraction is not unlike walking the pitcher in baseball. . . . Hayden Fry, the SMU coach, held Big Springer Dick Irons out of the Aggie game recently in order to have him ready for the donneybrook this weekend with Arkansas. . . . Houston has a better chance than you might think to land the NFL-AFL championship game in January, now that Pasadena, Calif., has turned it down. . . . Tough as the St. Louis Cardinals are on defense, they'll be even saltier when Pat Fisher returns to the lineup. . . . Herman Smith, the Big Spring High School mentor, thinks the Odessa Permian Panthers were stronger when his Steers played them this year than they were at the same stage a year ago. . . . Permian went on to win the state championship.

Jerry Claiborne, a former coaching aide of Bear Bryant who got some support for the University of Oklahoma coaching post before Jim MacKenzie was hired, may have the inside track for the job being vacated by Jess Neely at Rice. . . . Claiborne is currently at Virginia Tech, where his team lost only one of its first eight games. . . . The San Angelo Bobcats have averaged more than 12,000 at each of their home football games this season and should bring a flock of supporters here next Friday night. . . . Don Williams, coach of the Plainview Bulldogs, says Amarillo Tascosa boasts the finest high school football team he's ever seen.

REPUBLICAN CAPTURES 56.5 PER CENT OF VOTE

Tower Carries More Counties This Year

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer
Republican Sen. John Tower won re-election by nearly 200,000 votes—56.5 per cent of the ballots, the Texas Election Bureau reported Saturday in its final tabulations on Tuesday's general election.

James Holland, running on the Constitution party ticket, received 6,446.
Tower's victory compared with his 1961 special election runoff with interim Sen. William Blakley, a Democrat. The Republican won by about 10,000 votes and took only 76 of 254 counties. Two counties reported a tie vote then.

the Democrats won by wide margins.
All constitutional amendments passed except No. 4 which proposed to lengthen conservation district directors. Tarrant was the only county in which this proposal won.

UP AND DOWN
Over the Ector County airport, however, he found a thermal and climbed to 1,800 feet and his goal of Julesburg, Colo. on the northeast edge of that state seemed to have some hope. Gradually he glided from thermal to thermal until he reached 2,300 feet, then 2,800 over Andrews.

When he neared Fort Morgan, Colo., he was down to what he figured was his last glide, but he picked up another thermal in the edge of a thunderstorm and rose at an exhilarating 1,000 feet per minute. He dipped sharply again, but he navigated to the edge of another front and climbed back to 8,000 ft. At sundown, with 10 1/2 hours elapsed, he spotted a beacon and made the field.

THANK YOU
From the bottom of my heart I want to thank the voters of Howard County for all their favors during the years they have allowed me to be their county superintendent. I am particularly grateful that you have permitted me to close out the affairs of this office in an orderly manner. For every one who exercised the right to vote, regardless of whether for me, I express my sincere thanks.

THE ARTS

Local Painter Represented In Art Exhibit At College

About 30 paintings, selected as winners in the fall West Texas Art Association exhibition, are on display in the Howard County Junior College library. The collection contains paintings in oils, water color and acrylics, from realistic (even a Texas bluebonnet scene) to non-objective.

Mrs. Kathryn Hartley, Big Spring, is represented by her oil, "Canyon of the Sun," picturing a Mexican village in warm browns and ochres. Sherwood Suter, Abilene, has two oils in the collection, "The Sea Beyond" and "Autumn Forest," both in strong two-dimensional abstract pattern, the latter in an array of greens from brilliant lime to dark olive enlivened effectively with areas of orange tones.

Mrs. Willis M. Parker, Cisco, formerly of Big Spring, won a place in the exhibit with her oil "Prayer Meeting," employing the versatile lines of figures in an outdoor setting. Only one non-objective painting is included in the show, "The Cross," a water color rich in textural interest and strong opposing diagonals, by Mrs. John W. Rice, Christoval.

Other painters in the show represent Gail, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Snyder and Brownwood. The collection will hang in the HCJC library through November.

Friends of the Library have set their monthly meeting for 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Free Library. Everyone who is interested in the library, its services or the promotion of its work, is invited to attend the meeting.

Five outstanding West Texans honored at the Cultural Achievement award banquet in Denton Thursday evening were Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, Abilene, literature; Mrs. Grace Ward Lankford, Fort Worth, music; Hill Country Arts Foundation, Kerrville, Fine Arts; Robert Nail, Albany, drama; and Tom Lea, El Paso, art. Mrs. Lankford has been an adjudicator of piano competitions throughout the world. Robert Nail is the genius behind the Fort Griffin Fandangle. The Hill Country Arts Foundation has created a unique atmosphere for development and encouragement of artistic abilities through exhibition, dramatic performances, and teaching situations for professional artists. Dr. Richardson is past president of the Texas Historical Society and perhaps the region's leading historian, plus the author of several books. Lea's murals, illustrations, portraits and war paintings are acclaimed throughout the world. The WTCC, incidentally, cited Gov. and Mrs. John Connally

Applications are now being received for the G. B. Dealey Memorial Award competitions to be held Dec. 29 and 30, under the auspices of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra League. Preliminary auditions will be held in Fincher Hall on the SMU campus on Thursday, Dec. 29 beginning at 9 a.m. Finalists will play with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra at 2 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 30 in McFarlin Auditorium.

The winner in the piano and strings division will be presented as guest soloist on the regular Monday evening Symphony Series of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra on March 13. For this appearance the Dallas Morning News presents the young artist with a check for $1,000 and a specially designed Dealey Medal. Second place winner receives a $250 check, vocal division winners get $300 and $200.

Requirements may be secured by writing the G. B. Dealey Memorial Awards Auditions Committee, P.O. Box 8171, Dallas, Tex., 75205, telephone EM 3-4557.

Similar surveys will be conducted in all 22 Texas metropolitan areas as well as selected smaller communities.

Viet Victim's Funeral Set For Monday

Services for Spec. 5 Richard Spangler, 22, who was killed in action in Viet Nam near Chi Chi recently, will be held Monday at 4 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. The Rev. Warren Capps, pastor of a Crane church, will officiate, assisted by Jodie Borden, minister of the Abilene Church of Christ. Full military graveside rites by Camp Walters, Mineral Wells, will be held at Trinity Memorial Park.

The body arrived in Big Spring at 6:45 a.m. Sunday. Spangler was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Davis, 531 Caylor, and was transferred to Viet Nam in February, 1965.

Survivors include his parents, three brothers, the maternal and paternal grandmothers. Pallbearers will be Henry Thames, James Norwood, Jim Millican, Bill Williams, Art Franklin and Ray Parker. Honorary pallbearers are Jesse Moon, Earl Davis, Hubert Gilbert, H. M. Haysgood, Roy Rumans and Phillip Palmer.

Churches Vote For Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — The merger of two churches into the largest Protestant sect in the United States, the United Methodist Church, with 11,081,000 members, has been approved by delegates of the two churches.

In separate meetings in the same hotel Friday, delegates to the general conferences of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church voted overwhelming approval of the merger. The Methodist Church, with 10,331,000 members, is now second in size to the Southern Baptist Convention with 10,393,000 members. Merger with the 750,000-member EUB would make the new church the nation's largest.

The merger, which must be ratified by regional conferences of the two churches, carried 749-0 among Methodist delegates. EUB delegates approved by a 325-88 vote.

C-C Convention Group Will Meet

There will be a meeting of the convention and tourist committee in the Chamber of Commerce conference room Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. Bob Rogers, chairman, has asked that all members be present to submit suggestions and recommendations for needed projects to include in the 1967 Chamber program of work.

Scientists Go Up To See Eclipse

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — A total eclipse of the sun over South America was observed Saturday by scientists from many nations gathered in Brazil and Peru.

Skies were cloudy in Porto Alegre when the eclipse began at 6:58 a.m., but scientists were observing it in jet planes above the weather. Scientists from the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration were participating.

In Lima, scientists said the moon completely covered the sun over Lima at 8:03 a.m. The time calculation was made by scientific instruments outside Lima because the Peruvian capital also was clouded over.

At Huacho, Peru, scientists reported the total eclipse lasted one minute and five seconds. Hundreds of scientists observed the eclipse in five jet planes, crammed with scientific equipment. Other observers were at Bage, a livestock center at the southern end of Brazil.

The planes took off from Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Rio de Janeiro and Porto Alegre. The total eclipse occurred when the moon's shadow passed across the sun at 2,000 m.p.h. along a curved path from Lima, across Bolivia, Argentina and Brazil.

Some 300 scientists gathered at Arequipa in Peru's Andes relayed information to the National Geophysics Institute in Lima.

Off Porto Alegre, scientists launched rocket probes through the clouds to gather information of the eclipse.

Natural Color

The natural brown color of American walnut grows in the wood itself. It is in, not on, the wood. Walnut is one of those rarities which age enhances with a richer luster.

MRS. WILLIAM BELEW

Office Orchid

"I have worked for the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce for two years—and have loved every minute of it," said Mrs. William Belew, a pretty, brown-eyed brunette who helps keep the city affairs running smoothly and smiles when she answers the telephone with "Good Morning, this is YOUR Chamber of Commerce."

Mrs. Belew is the former Ann Drinkard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy B. Drinkard, 2204 Alabama. She was born in Eden and attended school there until the family moved here in 1936. She was graduated from the local high school in 1962 and, soon after, on July 7, 1962, was married to her high school sweetheart. The couple lived in Ackerly for about a year while he managed a lumber company, then moved to Lamessa for a year where she worked for Blum and Bratcher Insurance. Returning here in 1964, Belew became associated with the Drinkard Electric Company, and Mrs. Belew began her present job with the Chamber of Commerce.

Besides being the receptionist, she answers correspondence, takes care of the filing, notices and minutes of the meetings. Her special interest is the Ambassadors Club which she "looks after." By this, she means making the contacts, reminding them of meetings and so forth.

Mrs. Belew is a member of the Baptist Temple Church and enjoys cooking and sewing in her leisure time. That time is little, since she attends classes at Howard County Junior College two nights each week.

Anniversary Tea To Be Held At Church

The refreshment table will center the room, with the centerpiece depicting the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of which this group is affiliated. The color scheme of yellow and purple will be carried out in the centerpiece and flower decorations. A white linen cloth will cover the table, and silver appointments will complete the table arrangements.

Pouring punch and coffee during the afternoon will be Mrs. Jim Hyman, Mrs. China Long, Mrs. August Graumann and Mrs. Walter Pachall. Mrs. John Foster will be at the guest register.

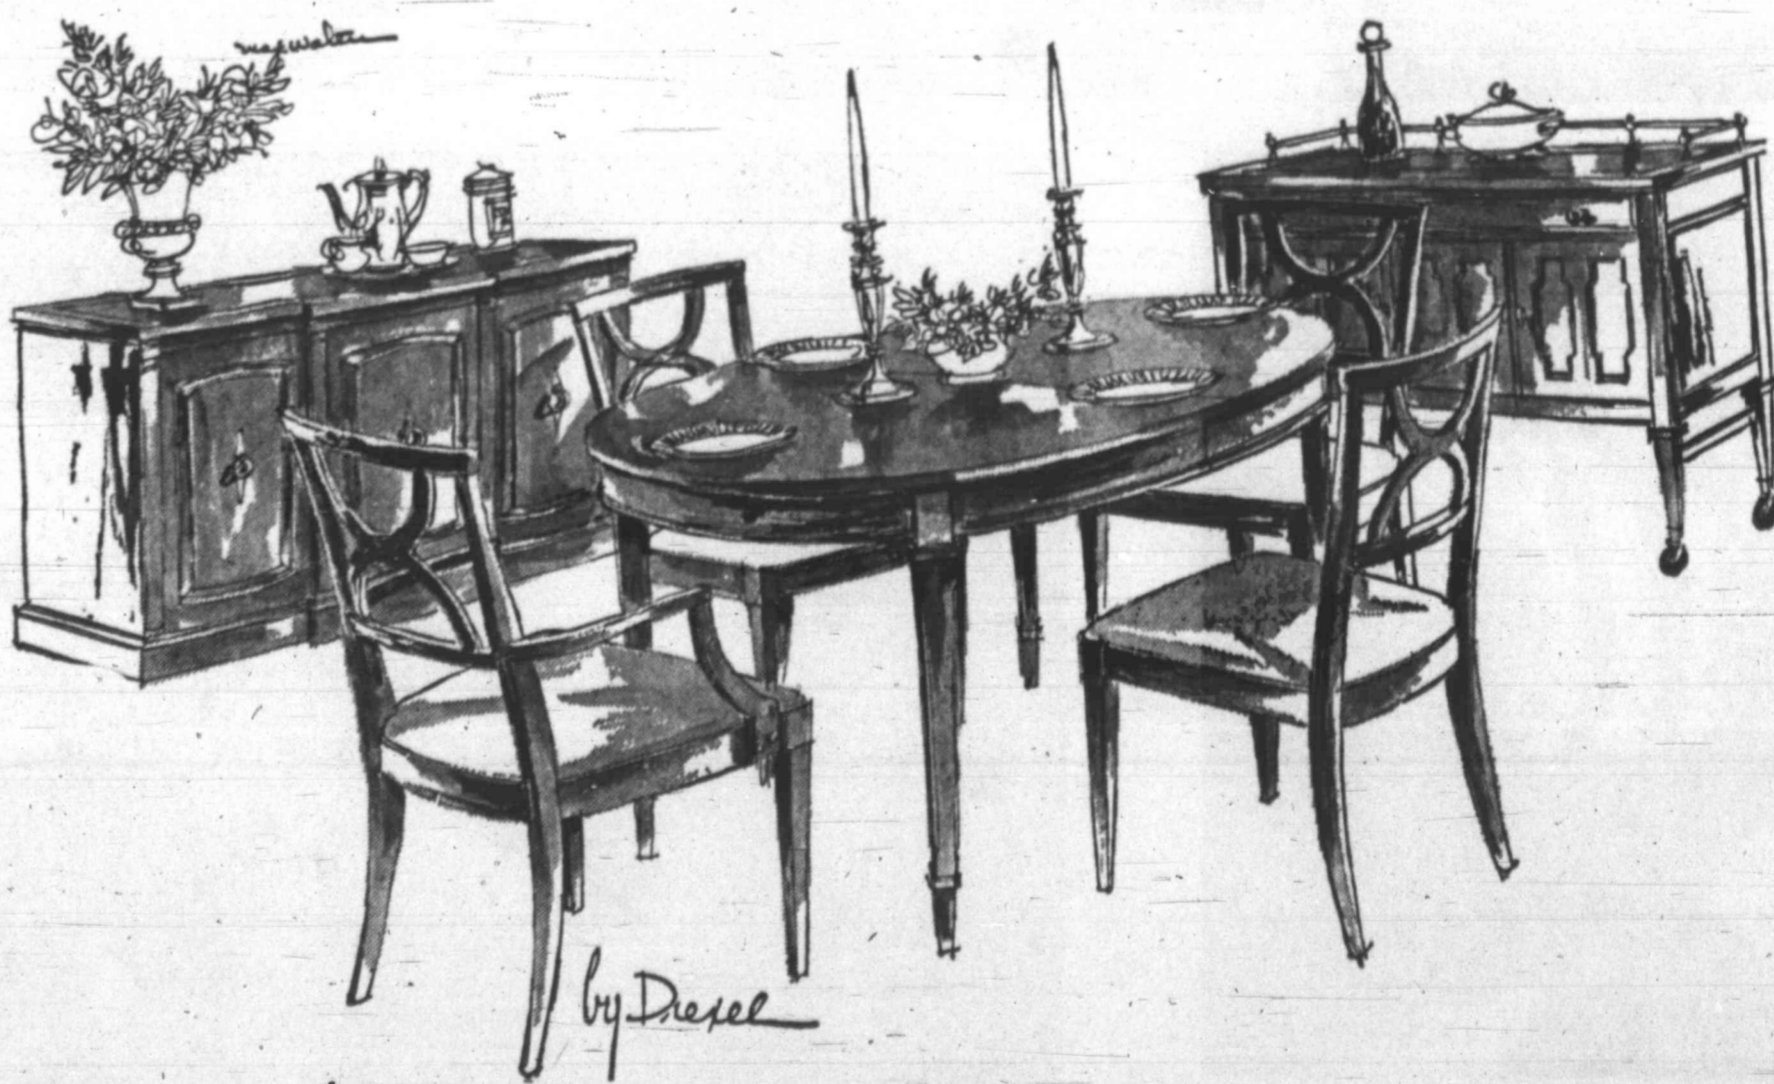

The arrangements committee for the tea are Mrs. Halvard T. Hansen, chairman; Mrs. Leroy Budke, Mrs. Ronald Moore and Mrs. Gerald Miller. Friends and members of the congregation have been invited to attend between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

a treasury of correlated furniture

Three great furniture periods inspired the creation of Triune! It's the climax to 300 years of incomparable designs, blended into one magnificent collection. Designers Henry and David Warren skillfully correlated the woods, the finishes, the hardware into a new furniture classic. They chose genuine mahogany and heightened its beauty with accents of walnut burl. And, in the same graceful manner with which Triune combines classic forms with contemporary advantages, you will welcome the drama of pieces finished in Triune white and Triune blue. You may, if you like, furnish your dining room completely in pieces featuring these delectable new colors. For superlative design and master workmanship, see Triune by Drexel.

MRS. GARY HERBERT SEIDENBERGER

Couple Married In San Angelo Church

Miss Linda Mary Eggemeyer became the bride of Gary Herbert Seidenberger Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in San Angelo. The Rev. James O'Donoghue officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin A. Eggemeyer of Miles, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seidenberger of St. Lawrence.

Decorating the altar were two large baskets of white gladioli and a white prie dieu.

Mrs. John Jones, organist, presented a selection of traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Jimmy Sample and Mrs. Hubert Eggemeyer as they sang "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Harvey Eggemeyer, wore a formal gown of white velvet designed with a rounded neckline, fitted bodice and long tapering sleeves. The dress was highlighted by a front panel of Alencon lace and seed pearl appliques. The detachable train was attached to a lace-trimmed obi sash.

VELVET ROSES

Her fingertip veil of English illusion fell from a headpiece of velvet roses and leaves. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Norma Jean Eggemeyer of Miles. Bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Dorotik, Vancouver; Miss Joan Beach, Miles; and Miss Carolyn Schraeder, Lubbock. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Becky Seidenberger, St. Lawrence, the bridegroom's sister; and Miss Sharon Book of Rowens.

The attendants wore identical costumes of floor-length, royal blue dresses. They each carried a bouquet of duty pink colonial carnations.

Best man was Bill Schraeder, Big Spring. Groomsmen were Dennis Seidenberger, San Angelo; Bernard Seidenberger, Big Spring; and Kenneth Eggemeyer, Odessa.

Ushers were Floyd Wilde, Dennis Schraeder, Larry Schaffer and James Eggemeyer. Acolytes were Steven Seidenberger, the bridegroom's brother, and Kenneth Schaffer.

WEDDING TRIP

For a wedding trip touring the southern states, the bride wore a royal blue wool suit. They will make their home in Garden City.

Mrs. Seidenberger is a graduate of Miles High School and is employed by a San Angelo bank. Seidenberger is a graduate of Garden City High School and is engaged in farming near Big Spring.

A reception was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall in San Angelo where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

Chamber Contest Open To All County Residents

Good idea men (and women) can give a boost to their community. The cultural affairs committee is looking for a symbol to represent all the creative arts that are available in Big Spring in the way of concerts, plays, art exhibits, clubs, etc. It can be a unique design or an idea for an unusual characterization.

Any resident of Howard County is invited to enter a drawing or a specific suggestion which will be collected by the Chamber of Commerce and then judged by a panel of qualified people who have long been active in the cultural affairs of Big Spring.

Here is an opportunity for someone to earn their own small bit of fame and fortune as the name of the winner will be announced by the news media and a presentation of the $25 prize money will be made. The contest will be open all during the month of November.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

The former Knott neighbors held their eighth annual get-together Thursday at the home of MRS. GRADY DORSEY who lives on the Old San Angelo Highway. This is one of the friendliest group of women one could know. There is a group that is closely knit by memories of going through the depression and drought in the farming community north of Big Spring. Many of them have since moved into town and to other areas but they still try to get back to Big Spring when the November date rolls around. Next year the meeting will be held on the second Friday and will be held at the home of MRS. J. D. KENDRICK whose home is also on the Old San Angelo Highway.

From Knott at the Thursday gathering were MRS. FRED ROMANS, MRS. E. L. ROMANS SR., MRS. H. C. MCCLAIN, MRS. O. B. GASKINS, and MRS. MAMIE LEE MERRICK came from Ackerly. MRS. INETA CORNETT was down from Lamesa and MRS. FRED ADAMS came from Coahoma.

There were 25 present for the all day gathering and each woman brought a covered dish most of them containing food that had been raised on their farm and either canned or frozen there.

All in all it was a wonderful day for a great bunch of good friends.

Something I see very little of these days is someone piecing a quilt top. . . . Friday I saw MRS. PHIL BURNS in the process of putting together the most attractive top and she was doing the small blocks from memory after having seen a quilt that she admired. She plans to use the completed cover with early American furniture.

MRS. Y. C. GRAY has returned from Lubbock where she spent five days with the ELIOTT TAYLOR family. Mrs. Taylor is the former HELEN CLAIRE GRAY, and she and Mr. Taylor have recently adopted their second child whom they have named Allison. The other child, Philip, is two years of age.

The JOHN BALCHES are in Sweetwater where they will spend the week with their grandchildren, LARRY and PAM EUBANKS, while their parents, POLICE CHIEF and MRS. WALTER EUBANKS, are attending a convention of law men in Fort Worth.

DR. and MRS. CAL GUILLIAMS are to be in Dallas this week attending a dental convention.

After having read at least 40 miles of stories about the recent election and its effect on the reigning party do you sometimes want to say "All right, already, I know that the Republicans did real well?"

When you successfully dodge a fast-moving car in one of the shopping centers parking areas, don't you wish there were some rules to follow that everyone could understand? Like keeping to the right and not driving 50 mph across the lot through lines of cars. I'm getting intimidated.

Friends of MRS. J. L. MILLER who now lives in Pomona, Calif., are invited to visit with her at the home of MR. and MRS. PREACH MARTIN during her stay here. She plans to be here for two weeks and is looking forward to seeing many long-time friends from the many years she made her home here.

Clerk Uses Process To Cut Volume Size

By SAM BLACKBURN

Since county government was first established, the multitudinous records which the several county offices maintain have been entered in ponderous volumes which occupied vast expanses of shelf room.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, has set about changing his part of this situation.

Starting this week, his office will begin making use of volumes for court records only about a third the size of the ones which have been used in the past.

For many years at the outset, records of the county offices were laboriously penned in ink in the big books. One of the essential qualifications of a county official was a legible penmanship. These fat volumes, now yellowing with age, are stacked ceiling high in the offices and vaults at the courthouse.

THEN TYPING

When typewriters became practical, the records were typed on huge sheets in the loose leaf binders. The dimensions of the big books remained the same.

Still later, a photograph reproduction was introduced and the records were "shot" in enlarged form, on huge sheets of photographic paper—the background black, the text reproduced in white. This was a labor saver but did not diminish the bulk or weight of the binders which held the records. Nor did it reduce the costs of maintenance.

Some of the smaller deputies in the offices have about all they can do to pick up one of the big tomes and lug it from its shelf to the place where it is needed.

A few months ago, a new type reproduction device was installed in the district court clerk's office.

EXPERIMENTED

Cox began a study to find if this machine could not be used to replace the enlarged photostatic reproductions needed for the big books. He found that binders are available which will hold the reproductions from the new machine. The reproductions are on sheets of paper 8x16 inches. The binders are equally small—less than half the size of the old, and about a third the weight.

Further, Cox found by conferring with Ed Phillips, county auditor, it now costs the county $250 per volume for the photostat pages assuming a volume comprises 250 pages. The binders used to cost $58 each.

His office uses two such volumes annually for the minutes of the court docket. This, he pointed out, means the expenditure of $616 per year just for these two books. Storage space, already a premium, is becoming a graver problem. This is true in all offices where the big record books are used.

By using the reduced size binders, the legal size, lightweight paper and the reproducing machine Cox found he could combine all of the court docket records for one year in one 500-page binder. The binder will cost $38; the 500 sheets of specially prepared paper $12.50 and the cost of running for the machine $25. The total expense for the smaller, handier and more easily stored docket records is $75.50 per year.

The savings, he said, for the court docket minutes alone will be $540 a year.

Ultimately he plans to widen the filing under the new system to include all of the records his office maintains.

State's Top Soil Needing Moisture

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Dry, windy weather brought on the need for top soil moisture over much of the state.

John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports. Small grains especially were needing rain. Ranges and pastures would also benefit since even cool season forage plants have about stopped growing.

Harvesting continued to make good progress and small grain planting is nearing completion except in areas where moisture is needed for germination, he noted. Livestock generally are in good condition and dry grass grazing is plentiful. Frosts dipped deep into the state and damage has been noted in many sections.

Moisture in the Panhandle district ranged from short to very short and the early freeze caused severe damage to cotton and late grain sorghum. Wheat stands are good but moisture is needed now. The cotton harvest is beginning as the carrot harvest nears completion.

Except for isolated fields, the South Plains grain sorghum harvest is complete and the cotton harvest is expected to peak within a week to 10 days if the weather holds. The soybean harvest should be completed within a week while the castorbean harvest continues to pick up steam as does the sugar beet harvest. Many farmers are shredding grain sorghum stalks and preparing land. Moisture is generally adequate over the district.

Small grains throughout the Rolling Plains need moisture. Cotton harvesting is increasing since the killing frost. Small grain planting is about complete and growth has been good.

Most North Central Texas counties are needing moisture for small grains. The good weather permitted farmers to push the cotton harvest to 80-90 per cent complete in the Blackland counties but it is only getting started good in other counties. Range forage is dormant since the frosts and freezes.

All tender vegetables and summer grasses have been killed in Northeast Texas and small grains and clovers need moisture.

Moisture in far West Texas ranges from short to adequate and the cool nights, dry and warm days have been good for harvest. The grain sorghum harvest is about over and cotton harvesting continued to pick up steam. The onion crops have been planted in Pecos and Presidio counties and small grains are making good growth. Though ranges are drying out, there is an abundance of forage and livestock are in excellent condition. Preparations are under way for an excellent hunting season.

Moisture is badly needed throughout West Central Texas for small grains, cool season range plants and to fill dry or low stock tanks. The Nov. 1 freeze will enable farmers to harvest the remainder of a short cotton crop. The abundance of dry grass on pastures and ranges makes fire a real hazard. Hunters will find deer and turkeys plentiful and fat.

Moisture is short in Central Texas where the peanut farmers would like to see it stay dry until they can complete the harvesting of a bumper peanut crop. The cotton harvest has been above average but moisture had not been sufficient to bring up planted small grains and keep cool season grasses growing.

East Texas moisture ranges from short to adequate with small grain and clovers needing moisture. The corn and cotton crops have been fair to good.

Moisture in Southeast and the upper Gulf Coast district ranges from short to adequate to surplus in Harris and Liberty counties. The harvesting of second crop rice is nearing completion and the soybean harvest is making good progress. Pastures are generally average but need rain and some damage has been caused by frost.

The shortage of moisture in South Central Texas is holding up the planting of fax and wheat and plant growth on pastures and ranges.

No More Totin' That Sack

Howard County's cotton harvest was getting into full swing at the end of the week, and virtually all of it is being gathered mechanically. Most of the cotton is being stripped, and one company (Allis-Chalmers) chose this county for introducing a couple of new-type units above. These strip the plants, unopened bolls falling into a hopper and the burrs going to an extractor which takes out the locks of cotton, depositing burrs on the ground. These and other mechanical units are stripping hundreds of bales per day, gutting gins. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

Flood Of Cotton Rolls Upon County's Gins

"We have 300 bales on the lot waiting to be ginned — there are trailers lined up back to the highway."

This was the ginning report Friday afternoon from Fairview Gin. That plant has already ginned 1,368 bales and has been on a 24-hour run for ten or 12 days.

Howard County gins were right at 5,000 bales for the season.

Other gins over the county are reporting mounting demand for service. Here in Big Spring, the Cooperative has ginned 704 bales and will start night shifts Monday. Planters in Big Spring, with 459 ginned, goes on 24 hour shift this week.

The Guitlar Gin here had ginned 52 bales but was girded for the buildup expected within a week.

Lomax Gin was reported to have ginned 800 and to be running around the clock.

Knott Cooperative reported ginnings at 350; Planters at Knott had ginned 300. There was no report from the Guitlar Gin in that community.

Luther has ginned 700 bales and planned to start night shifts Friday if hands could be hired.

No reports were available from either Coahoma or Vincent. Both communities are reported getting deep into the cotton.

Rites Said For Fred Guitar

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Fred Guitar Sr., 85, of Colorado City, died Friday morning in the Root Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

Funeral service was held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Kiker and Son Chapel with the Rev. W. M. Wilkinson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in the Merkel Cemetery under direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Mr. Guitar was born in Missouri, March 27, 1881. He moved to Colorado City from Merkel 25 years ago. He was the manager of the Continental Oil and Cotton Company until his retirement a few years ago. He was a member of the Methodist church. His wife, the former Effie Barnes died Jan. 28, 1946.

Survivors are his son, Fred Guitar Jr. of Roswell, N. M.; a daughter, Mrs. Luellie Edkins, Lubbock; and two grandchildren.

Big Spring took 13 boys and three advisors.

Optimists Call For Youth Appreciation, Law Respect

Big Spring's two Optimist International Clubs are joining this week in the observance of two special weeks — Youth Appreciation and Respect for Law.

Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed both of these for the city and has urged other groups and individuals to join in these observances.

"Some citizens are neglectful of their legal and moral responsibilities to render aid when crime and violence threatens," he said. "Moreover, the refusal to participate as jurors or as witnesses, and their reluctance to report crimes to law enforcement agencies creates an atmosphere of disrespect for the law. Democracy must rest upon profound respect for the rights of others and respect for law on the local community level.

"In another area, we hear much about juvenile delinquency, but the fact is that the overwhelming majority of our young people can engage in juvenile decency. They need to be recognized and applauded for their wholesome, creative contributions to our society.

"Therefore, I urge all citizens to join in the observance of these weeks to let our good young people know that we appreciate and admire them. At the same time I urge each one to re-examine himself to see if he is fulfilling his grave responsibility to uphold the law and encourage respect for it."

The Wednesday Morning and the Hi-Noon Clubs plan programs this week which will focus attention of these objectives.

It Can Be Done

United Fund officials are planning an intensive cleanup campaign, probably this week, in an effort to bring this year's campaign to a conclusion. By now it is obvious that the $139,000,000 will not be realized, but it is equally clear that the $100,000,000 mark is no longer an obstacle. This year's total goal was an experiment in challenge, and although it was a bit ambitious, it confronted the community with the responsibility of meeting or falling short on fulfilling requests. Heretofore, the budget committee of the UF had sought, in the interest of realism, to screen figures down to what it thought might be realistic goals. More than a dozen agencies will have to cut back on their plans and perhaps their services, and this reduction can be minimized by people who have not yet given showing a willingness to carry their fair share of the load.

Out of this campaign there has come, and will come, a fresh sense of pride in supporting the United Fund. The response from the employees payroll division showed increases, some of them dramatic and almost phenomenal, where working people proudly did their fair share through an hour's pay per month. There is great potential here if management and workers will team together boldly, positively and without apology.

Wise Investment

Without fanfare, the northeast leg of FM 700 was opened to traffic last week.

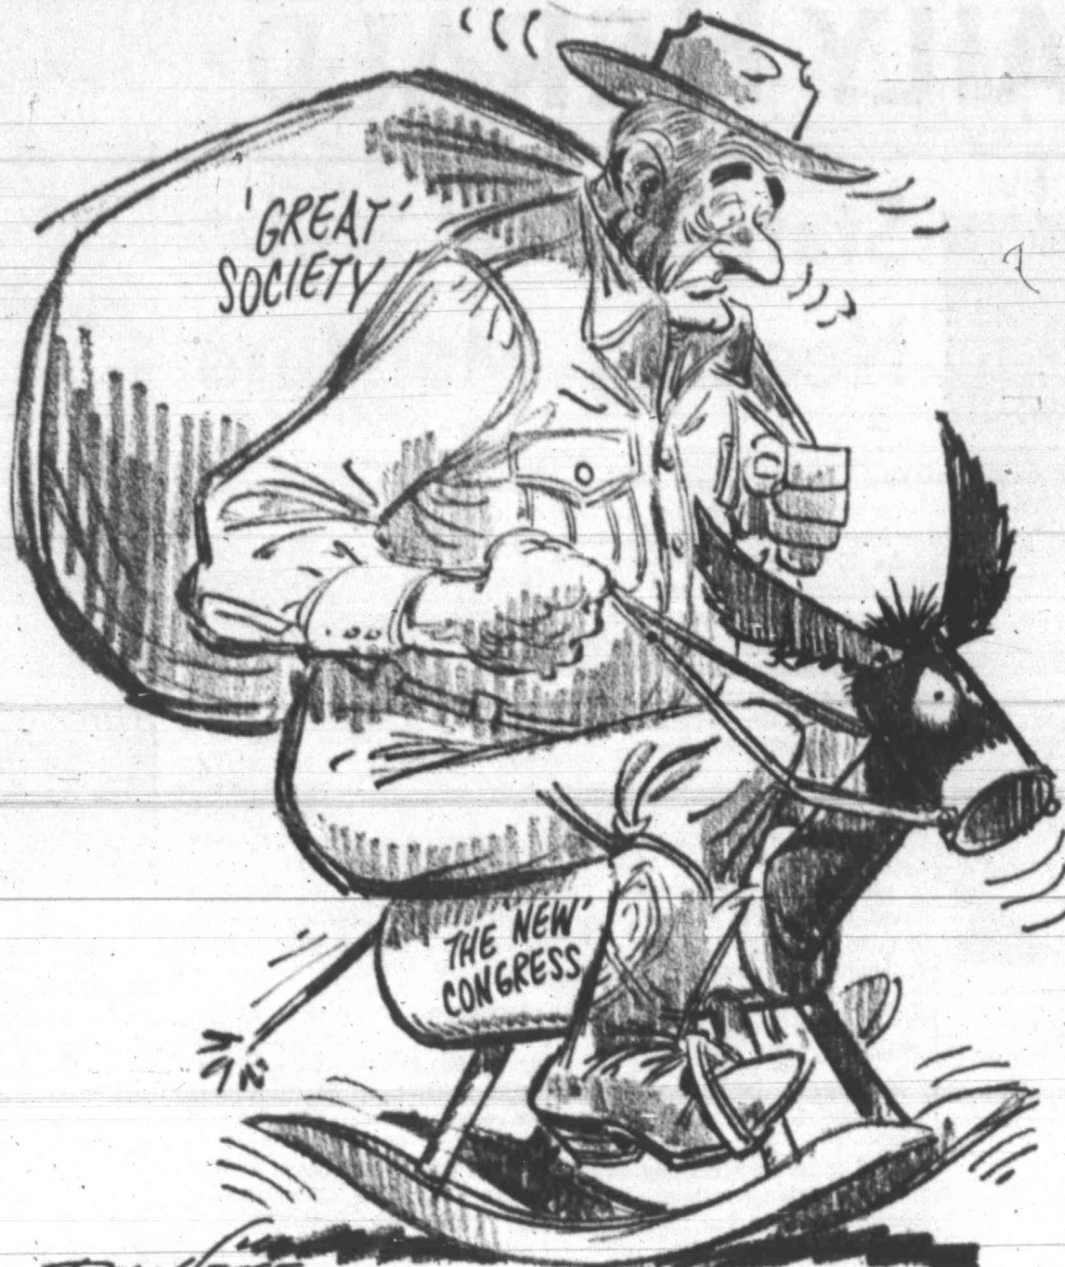

This connection from the previous terminus of FM 700 at Interstate 20 to the intersection of the Gail and Snyder highways will become increasingly useful. Moreover, it will extend the utility of the original part of FM 700 as a southeast loop.

Soon the section from Goliad back to US 80 west near the Sands Motel will be up for contract and improvement. Thus, we will have an arterial belt from US 80 west swinging in a semi-circle to the Snyder-Gail intersection. In time, it is likely this belt may swing westward to US 87 north.

This is of tremendous importance in the movement of traffic, and on this basis, it can have but one course—to become increasingly important. But more than that, we shall see, in due season, other developments take place along the new areas that these projects open up.

The investments of Howard County and the Texas Highway Department will be repaid many times over.

Business Review

Election May Have Effect On Spending

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The business community may have more influence in shaping government economic policy in the wake of Tuesday's election.

Big Republican gains in Congress were interpreted by some during the week as likely to provide a rein on federal expenditures and ease some of the pressure for a tax increase to curb inflation.

Stock prices rallied briskly on news of the Republican gains. Brokers saw the returns as a hope for a cutback in federal spending and less Treasury borrowing, which would relieve upward pressure on interest rates.

The Republicans will consider going along with higher taxes only if President Johnson submits an austerity budget drastically cutting "Great Society" spending, said Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, the ranking Republican on the Ways and Means Committee.

Even then Johnson would have to demonstrate that a tax increase was necessary, Byrnes said.

MORE PANEL POSTS
 Byrnes said the Republicans would seek three more seats on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee. It will be minus three defeated Democrats who usually supported the administration.

In the Senate, John J. Sparkman of Alabama will take over as chairman of the Banking Committee, which will be minus a leading liberal Democrat, Paul H. Douglas. Charles H. Percy's victory in Illinois eliminated Douglas, who would have been chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee.

Bankers said the 90th Congress might be less inclined than the 89th to swallow deliberately incurred budget deficits. For months businessmen and economists, Republicans and Democrats, have speculated about the possibility of a tax increase after the election, a little something to take some of the steam out of an economy swollen by heavy spending for the war in Viet-Nam and the Great Society.

STILL A DANGER
 Interest rates have soared as the Federal Reserve system applied brakes.

During the week, Alfred Hayes, the New York Federal Reserve Bank president, said there still was a clear and present danger of inflation, despite some cooling off in recent weeks.

He added he still advocates a tax increase. Hayes challenged President Johnson's statement that there "had been a very healthy movement toward price stability in recent weeks."

Hayes said the administration's wage-price guidelines had been threatened with extinction. "If these demands are granted and there seems to be not enough determination to resist them, there will be inevitable upward pressure on prices," Hayes said.

A spokesman for International Harvester cited wage pressures this week as one reason the company was joining the move to increase farm equipment prices.

SEVERAL RAISES
 "We have a cost-of-living clause in our contract so our wages have gone up several times this year," he said. International Harvester, Deere & Co., Allis-Chalmers and J. I. Case raised the prices of tractors, combines, plows and corn-pickers two to nine per cent.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman criticized the increases, and said they added to inflationary pressures on the economy.

"The increases are likely to be disturbing to housewives who are now picketing grocery chains for lower food prices," Freeman said.

MANY PRICE HIKES
 The week's round of price increases also included water treatment equipment, aluminum by the pulp and paper industry and steel used to make drills, tool bits and cutting tools.

Stainless steel went up too, just a week after the price of nickel was increased. Nickel is used in stainless steel. It also is used in nickel-bearing copper alloys, and those prices have gone up, too.

Steel production has declined for four straight weeks. But the output for the year is slightly ahead of a year ago. Automobile production was cut by storms and a strike at a General Motors plant. Production was seven per cent less than a year ago.

The Commerce Department during the week blamed a slackening of automobile sales for a decline in corporate profits in the three months ended Sept. 30.

Around The Rim

All Right, Let's Get Serious

The space in this corner, as you may or may not know, is given over to different writers on different days of the week. There has never been a "policy" laid down as to the column's contents, although by general agreement it has been felt that a rather casual approach would be an offset to the weightier pieces normally appearing on an editorial page.

WE HAVE HAD our critics, and no fault is to be found with this. One, in particular, writes fairly regularly and frankly and lets us know that he holds his nose at the hogwash he finds under the "Rim" heading.

Heard from him again this past week, and he feels that instead of trying to be frivolous, the corner ought to be taking up the cudgels for civic improvement.

SPECIFICALLY, in the last letter, he wants us to let fly at the city commission and the city manager about the city's unimproved and dirty alleys. He implies that we don't have the intestinal fortitude to speak out against city hall.

Well, I want to go on record as being against dirty alleys. The business of cleaning them up and keeping them that way may be more a property owner's responsibility than the city's, so here's where civic improvement begins to lead you down treacherous paths. Anyway, I will try to keep my alleys clean.

BUT IF THIS is to change to a sound-off column, at this writing I am still a little sore about the complexity of trying to cast a ballot in a Texas election.

I might let fly at the legislators, who ought to come up with a better set of statutes covering the mechanics of voting.

IN THE first place, there ought to be a law prohibiting more than two constitutional amendments at any one voting time. These ought to be written in such language that even I could understand them.

In the second place, we ought to go back to a check mark device without all that scratching required on a Texas ballot. It would facilitate counting of votes by about 2,000 per cent.

WHEN I was a slob-gob in the Navy and had to take tests, they used the check-mark device and the instructor would lay a pre-cut panel over the check marks and have our papers graded before we could say "Aye, aye, sir." There will be no mention here as to the marks I achieved, but I at least knew pretty quickly whether I earned a weekend liberty or had to go back to swabbing the decks.

IF EVERY county in Texas can't afford voting machines, then at least a simpler type of ballot ought to be perfected.

As it is, if stars are passed out for laborious work at little recompense, a fair share ought to go to the people willing to serve as judges and clerks at the polling places. They deserve some consideration, even if the rest of us don't, and if they want to start a picket line, I am about ready to join them.

Provided we stay in the alleys.

Straw That Broke The Pollster's Back

WASHINGTON — They said in 1966 it could never happen—but they didn't reckon with the ability of the pollsters and the sophistication of the computers.

In the year 1972 polling methods had become so scientific that by interviewing one man in Billings, Mont., and one woman in Charlotte, N. C., they were able to predict the presidential results in all 50 states.

Once the results of the polls were in, everyone voted according to the pollsters' predictions and election day had little interest for anybody except the department store officials who held slashing clearances so the Thanksgiving Day sales could begin.

By 1967 it wasn't even necessary to go out to vote. All you had to do was pick-up your phone and telephone your ballot in, and by 1980 the polls were so accurate that it was decided not to have any elections at all. The results of the three major political polls were turned over in sealed envelopes to a Price Waterhouse vice president who announced the winners at the end of the Miss American Teenager TV Contest.

It was in 1984 that the trouble started. Pollster Lou Harris went out to talk to his one interviewee, a man in Joliet, Ill.

"HOW ARE YOU going to vote?" he asked the man.
 "Communist,"

Startled, Harris asked the question again.
 "I'm going to vote the straight Communist ticket."

Harris rushed off to interview a woman in Albuquerque, N.M.
 He asked her the same question.

SHE REPLIED, "I'm going to vote Communist. I think we should have a Communist government."

Shaken, Harris put the results through the computer and discovered, if his survey was correct, that 250 million American people would vote Communist in the 1984 elections.

He called up George Gallup to check the results of the Gallup Poll. Gallup replied, "You won't believe this, but on the basis of my two interviews, a Communist is going to win in 1984."

THEY RUSHED over to Oliver Quayle, who was checking and re-checking his figures. "No matter how I do it, it still comes out Communist."

The three men decided to go see the heads of the Democratic and Republican parties and discuss it with them. They were horrified. "Are you sure you're right?" the pollsters were asked.

"Of course, we're right. We talked to six people and on the basis of our voter projections the Communists will win by a landslide."

"I think we better talk to the President about this."

PRESIDENT GEORGE Hamilton was called from the White House screening room and told the news. He immediately put in a call to J. Edgar Hoover, who, at the age of 88, was still the head of the FBI.

All the material was turned over to Hoover and his men. In a week he made his report to the President.

"The six people interviewed by Harris, Gallup and Quayle were all part of a Soviet spy ring. Somehow the Russians found out who the pollsters were going to interview and planted their own people there. Since they knew the pollsters' word was final, they were sure they could get away with it."

WHEN THE NEWS was announced Congress was called in special session and passed a law that all candidates for public office would have to be officially elected by the people, and the results of polls would no longer be sufficient to elect a president of the United States.

On the same day a strong note was delivered to the Soviet Embassy complaining that the Russians had interfered in our elections, and President Hamilton asked J. Edgar Hoover to stay on for another eight years.

On The Foreign Front

Borrowers Are Also Withdrawers

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many of the nations which received gifts and loans from the United States in two world wars and the postwar period are now helping themselves to this country's gold supply.

In fact, the 26 nations which drained gold from the U.S. Treasury during fiscal 1966 also owed the United States money. And in the case of their World War I debts, they had made no payments in almost 35 years.

FRANCE HAD drawn more gold from the Treasury since 1962 than any other nation. During the fiscal year which ended June 30—the latest figures available—she drained more gold than all other nations combined.

Since most nations are indebted to this country it's the exception rather than the rule for nondebtors to drain gold from the U.S. Treasury.

Only four debtor nations—the United Kingdom, Greece, Colombia and Morocco—added to Uncle Sam's gold supply during the year, the British by about $170 million.

THE TREASURY Department also listed three nondebtor nations which sold gold to the United States during the fiscal year—Canada, Switzerland and the Vatican.

Countries normally sell gold to this country to obtain the dollars they need to carry on foreign business. This can be done simply for the asking. The United States guarantees conversion into gold at $35 an ounce of the dollar holdings of foreign central banks.

France converted $57.7 million into gold during the last fiscal year and has converted at least $223.7 million since June 30.

HER POLICY of buying at least $34 million in U.S. gold monthly came to a halt during October, however, because of her falling reserves. U.S. officials saw this as only temporary but expressed hope that the worst of the French gold drain may be over.

The French, although still in debt to this country, are ahead in their payments on their World War II and postwar era debt. The latest payment, in September, left a balance of less than $400 million of the approximately $2.5 billion borrowed.

BU TFRANCE still owes $6.7 billion, including interest, on her World War I debt and no payments have been made on that since 1932. In 1953, this country agreed that no further World War I payments need be made until German reparations were settled, an unlikely event unless and until Germany is reunified.

The total drain on U.S. gold during the same fiscal year was $519.7 million, including $378.4 net sales to foreign countries. The government also sells gold for domestic industrial and artistic use.

Election Argues For Parliamentary Plan

WASHINGTON — Presumably the will of the people was expressed in Tuesday's election. But was it? There are 100 members of the United States Senate, but only 35 of them were up for election. The remaining 65 were elected either in 1964 or 1962. Can it truly be said that the American people feel exactly the same way today about the senators who were not up for election this time as they did two or four years ago?

OUT OF THE 35 electoral contests for the Senate, the Republicans won 18 and the Democrats 17. Would the Republicans have captured control of the Senate if all seats had been voted on in the election this year?

These unanswered questions are directly related to the defects in the American congressional system. The election of senators is a far better index of national opinion than the election of members of the House. This is because the elections for the upper house are statewide, whereas members of the House of Representatives are chosen in 435 separate districts, and only a few are large-sized areas. Hence, local questions often predominate.

IT IS DIFFICULT, for example, today to determine just what issues were nationwide in the campaign and how the American people reacted to them. All the pre-election polls indicated a shift from the Democratic party to the Republican party in many districts and states. But careful examination of the various factors that influenced the electorate leads to the conclusion that much of the voting in the congressional contests was against the party in power rather than in favor of the alternative party or its candidates.

THERE IS much talk about the

Billy Graham

Women are known as the "weaker sex," but it seems to me that men are weaker than women in many ways. I recently read an article which pointed out that men have more nervous breakdowns than women. Which sex is actually weaker?

A.G. While I am a man, and would like to think that we are the stronger of the two sexes, I believe you have a point here. A psychologist in Britain has made the statement that for every woman who "broke down" during the bombing of Britain in World War II, there were 70 men. While it is true that men are stronger than women, muscularly, I often wonder if their superior strength doesn't end there. Men are more fickle, morally. They are more given to profanity and obscenity. Psychologists say they worry more, and break down under stress quicker than women. Physically, they are more given to heart ailments than women, and there are more male alcoholics than women.

There are also more women than men in the average church, and women have taken the lead in many of our great social movements. Since they now have the vote, candidates for political office take great pains to win the support of the fair sex.

But we must remember that it was Eve who first yielded to Satan's temptation in Eden, and therefore, women should take their responsibility of helping to rid the world of sin and evil—and spreading the Gospel of God's love and forgiveness.

Cow Almost Starts Battle

NEW DELHI (AP)—A report from Indian forces at the Pakistan front said a cow recently awakened an entire regiment and sent it to battle stations in the middle of the night.

The report said a rope was run from frontline sentries and tied to the foot of a soldier sleeping at the rear. On feeling a tug, he was to awaken the regiment. One night a cow tripped over the rope.

To Your Good Health

Let Youthful Beards Bloom As They Will

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: My older son who is nearly 17 is what our doctor calls a "late bloomer." He was nearly 14 before he was pubescent and even now has a very scant beard and it is very blond.

His younger brother, now 15, was pubescent at 11 and returned from a three-month camp two summers ago with a precocious (and atrocious) incipient black beard which I made him shave off. His beard is thick and fully adult now and he was proud to be the only eighth grader with a real beard. Now he shaves daily and often again if he is going out in the evening.

My question is not important but I am curious. How unusual is it for a boy to produce a beard so young? And isn't it odd for brothers to mature so differently? — MRS. M. B.

The older boy may be a slightly late "bloomer," and the younger is a slightly early "bloomer," but neither is outside the range of being normal. Differences of age of maturation are seen even in non-identical twins.

I would not use the word "precocious" for the younger boy's beard because "precocity" is used, medically, only when secondary sexual characteristics appear much earlier than in his case.

Your problem, I think, is to avoid letting the difference in ages become an issue. See that young blackbeard has a good razor and blades and let there be reasonable silence. Emphasizing the "virtility" of the younger boy could scar the other boy psychologically—and the dark beard shows up more than a light one. Ride the situation out quietly.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband had a vasectomy seven years ago but never returned to the doctor for a checkup. We have six children, I am only 34, and I think I am pregnant again. Could this be? — MRS. C. A.

Vasectomy (cutting or tying the duct which carries male sperm) is an effective means of preventing pregnancy, but there are several things you should know about it.

First, the sterilizing effect is not instantaneous. There are small structures called seminal vesicles which retain some sperm, and the sterilizing effect is not obtained until these have had time to empty. After the vasectomy, no further sperm reaches these vesicles, so in time impregnation no longer is possible.

However, and here is another point to remember, accessory ducts may also be present and if these are not discovered and tied, sperm can still flow through them. Therefore the man should always be checked after the operation to make certain that no sperm is present.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write in care of The Herald for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Cliff - Hanger Race Stirs Keen Interest In Canvass

There probably will be a sizeable audience on hand Monday morning when the Howard County Commissioners Court canvasses the vote cast in last Tuesday's general election.

"I am going to set the canvass down for 10 a.m.," said Judge Lee Porter. "I have been informed we will have company during the checking of the ballots and I have promised we will get at the job as early as possible."

The interest in the canvass is engendered by the closeness of the unofficial results in the race for County Commissioner, Precinct 2. Ray C. Nichols, incumbent Democrat, who will be at the table helping with the canvass, is the apparent winner over Winston Wrinkle, who ran for the post on the Republican ticket, by only eight votes.

Wrinkle, according to the election totals reported to the clerk, carried two of the five boxes and Nichols three. Nichols also led in the absentee vote.

The vote by voting precincts: No. 1, Nichols, 49; Wrinkle 29; Absentee, Nichols 57, Wrinkle 21; No. 15, Nichols, 247, Wrinkle, 118; No. 9, Nichols, 215 and Wrinkle, 210; No. 18, Nichols, 48, Wrinkle, 61 and No. 2, Nichols, 409 and Wrinkle, 548. Total vote was Nichols, 1,025 and Wrinkle, 1,917.

Vote in none of the other races was close but because the three local Republicans made the strongest showing that the party has ever achieved, interest in the canvass is higher than usual.

In the other commissioner race, Billy Tune, Democratic candidate, outpointed Bill Shepard, the Republican contender by a vote of 771 to 592 on official returns. Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, a Democrat, won over Judith Spencer, his Republican opponent, 2,903 to 2,317.

DEAR ABBY

Sympathy Can Be Helpful

DEAR ABBY: My problem is people who tell me their troubles and ask for advice. Every one I know has confided some sort of mess to me — money troubles, neighbor troubles, children troubles, husband, sex, household, and every other kind of trouble, until I've had it to the teeth. These people are my friends and relatives, so I can't very well avoid them or they'd be hurt. I guess it's gone to the point where my husband comes home, takes one look at me and says, "Well, what happened now—and to whom?"

I have my problems, too, but I don't burden anyone else with them. Well, I guess it's gone full-circle and now I'm telling YOU my troubles. What is your advice?

TIRED OF TROUBLES
DEAR TIED: Look at it this way, most people who tell their troubles to others don't want advice — they just want someone to listen to them. A sympathetic ear provides therapy for the troubled one, so consider yourself blessed to be able to perform that useful service.

DEAR ABBY: I told this lady that I wasn't the marrying kind on our first date, but she said she didn't have anything going for her at the moment and was only out for a good time, so I could hardly run her off.

Well, one thing led to another and now I can't get rid of her. She hangs around where I work, bringing me hot lunches every day. And when the quitting-time whistle blows, there she is out in front with her car all shined up, waiting to give me a lift home.

But she doesn't take me to MY home, she takes me to HERS, where she has supper all cooked and waiting. Then she lets me relax while she just plays the guitar and sings love songs in my ear. Should I weaken?

OVER FORTY
DEAR OVER: How old is the car?

DEAR ABBY: After 22 years of marriage my husband has announced that he is taking in his mother to live with us. We have a three-bedroom home and four sons — two boys in each bedroom and my husband and I in the third. I asked my husband where his mother would sleep and he said, "With you. And I will sleep on the living room sofa."

Abby, I have always gotten along with his mother, but I didn't marry my husband to sleep with his mother. Besides, she has other children with more room than we have. My husband says he doesn't know how much longer he will have his mother, and as long as she is living she comes first. Then he throws the Good Book at me, quoting the commandment about honoring thy mother and father. His mother is 64 and in good health. In fact, she's in better health than I am. What is your advice?

SECOND BEST
DEAR SECOND: "Throw the Good Book" back at him: "A man leaveth his own father, that brought him up, and his own country, and cleaveth unto his wife, and his wife cleaveth unto him, and they shall be one flesh."

OFF MY CHEST

Nip and Tuck

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

How I had dreaded cleaning the attic! But it was all worth it after I found the picture of Nip and Tuck when they were puppies. I sat down there and then in the cold, dusty room and recalled the day when Bob brought them home to Carol. How she laughed and loved them and flung her arms around both our necks in excited gratitude. How much fun we three had, watching the cunning antics of the canine infants.

Nip is gone now, duly mourned and buried under our apple tree, and Tuck, gray and crotchety, limps if he moves too fast. Carol lives in Cincinnati in a happy home of her own, and I carry roses to the cemetery on the hill.

What a wonderful gift is memory. My days are rich with remembrances of the good life Bob and I had. How glad I am that we shared, not only a home, but also a love for God and His Church so that though now I am lonely, yet I am not alone.

Sandpipers Walking Lightly Onto Modern Music Scene

By MARY CAMPBELL
Associated Press Feature Writer

The Sandpipers are a new, young group, three boys, two girls, with a pleasing, romantic style and a nice light touch with a lyric.

Their first LP is titled "Guanfanaama," for the song on the first hand of the album. "Guanfanaama" is a song to get in your mind and sway there all day.

The Sandpipers seem able to appeal to both young and adult musical tastes, as do Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass. (They're on Alpert's A and M label.) They sing "Cast Your Fate to the Wind," "Beyond the Sea" and others of that genre. Their "Carmen," plays Bizet's "Habanera" between verses, but the verses — words and music are contemporary.

Speaking of "Carmen," the new Capitol LP, "I Love Carmen," bridges another gap of tastes, pop and classical.

This LP subtitled, "The greatest hits from the world's favorite opera," provides the overture and singing of "Carmen's" famous arias and ensemble pieces by the cast of the Sadler's Wells Opera of London. Patricia Johnson, as Carmen, has a good, agile voice and Donald Smith is a strong Don Jose. Raimund Herinx, as Escamillo, sounds a bit like Nelson Eddy.

This LP is really excerpts from the opera, not a popularized version. But the opera is so popular — the claim of "the world's favorite" is probably just — that it can almost be considered a pop recording. It is done in English — which can be understood.

"The Best of the Best of," RCA, collects 12 songs that many of us bought LPs to hear. There's "Jamaica Farewell," by Harry Belafonte, "Java," by Al Hirt, "Peter Gunn," by Henry Mancini, "You Send Me," sweetly sung by Sam Cooke, "Bouquet of Roses," by Eddy Arnold, and "He'll Have To Go," by the late — and sadly missed — Jim Reeves.

If you're still wishing you'd bought one of these when it was at its height — here's your chance again, this time teamed with some other memorable hits.

Enzo Stuarti, who usually sings Italian songs, with troppo crescendo, has a new album on Epic, "Soft and Sentimental." Stuarti's voice has a lot of quiver, but he's quiet here, and very pleasant.

Nearly every record company has an Italian pop singer under contract, and for our money, Stuarti is one of the best. Here he's singing mostly big current ballads — "Strangers in the Night," "The Shadow of Your Smile," "I Will Wait for You" — which has a throated-back quality — and "This is All I Ask" — very full and mellow.

The SPEBSQSA — that means barbershoppers — has awarded its 1966 prizes. Decca recorded the winners on two albums, as it has every year since 1961. "1966 International Barbershop Chorus Winners" lines up of Louisville chorus first, followed by choruses from Livingston, N. J., West Palm Beach, San Antonio and San Diego. Each does several numbers. Louisville, last year's runner-up, has real toughness and a sharp attack.

"The Top 10 Barbershop Quartets of 1966" leads off with the champions, the Auto Tappers from Dearborn, Mich. Other winners come from all over the country, singing old songs in a good old way.

'ALVAREZ KELLY'
Richard Widmark and William Holden

Holden, Widmark Star In Adventure

William Holden and Richard Widmark are starred, as a renegead adventurer and a reckless colonel, respectively, in "Alvarez Kelly," which opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

In Panavision and color, "Alvarez Kelly" is a drama of violent action and romantic intrigue, based on a true incident of the Civil War when Confederate cavalry fought a series of bloody battles in an effort to steal a huge herd of cattle from the Union army in order to feed the people of Richmond who were being starved into submission by Gen. Grant.

Holden plays the title role, that of an Irish - Mexican rancher who brings the herd north; he is kidnapped by Widmark, leader of the guerrilla forces, and persuaded to train the Confederate cavalry in the techniques of the cattle drive, prior to their seizure of his herd.

The "persuasion" involves shooting off one of Holden's fingers, and the promise that the others will be shot off, one a day, until or unless he agrees to cooperate.

Agreement to cooperate in the hi-jacking of a herd does not include agreement in anything else, and Holden — in revenge for the finger and in gratitude for the night she spends with him — helps Widmark's reluctant fiancée escape from Widmark and the South, via a blockade runner.

The girl is played by Janice Rule, and Victoria Shaw also contributes to the film's stormier romantic passages. Miss Shaw also plays a Southern belle, one who uses her feminine wiles to help Widmark kidnap Holden.

The feud between the two men, reportedly, as bitter and as brutal as the war that is waged around them. "Alvarez Kelly" reaches a breathless climax over a battle, with Kelly's cattle over-running a vital military position, a battery of cannon and some 500 soldiers.

Patrick O'Neal and Roger C. Carmel also are costarred in support of Holden and Widmark.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL

Old Roads Were Rivers' Rockbeds

By ED SYERS

Many a Texan — come lately finds it hard to believe lots of our old roads took, for mile-or-more stretches, to rock river-bottom itself — water around axle level — and that, in the Hill Country of limpid Guadalupe, Nueces, Sabin and Frio, you can — with caution — still do it. Some random recollections from the main:

Plainview's Geologist W. F. Bowser: "I've driven down the rock riverbed of the Frio several times. Most of my trips were during the '30s, scouting drilling in Kerr, Real and Banderita counties.

"One of my last trips through the Frio Canyon was to show my bride the truly western atmosphere and beauty. I always carried a box of sugar cubes as a little doe deer always met me at one of the many gates along my route."

Tyler's Mrs. Ben Hamilton: "Anyone planning a tour of Texas should cover the area from Kerrville and Hunt to the smaller towns of Barksdale, Leakey and Camp Wood (north of Uvalde). You cross the rivers and can drive up them in places, right on the rock beds . . . but there is danger from flash floods in rainy weather."

Corpus Christi's D. E. Woods bullseyes such danger, recalling the Sabin Canyon road, north (of US 90 west) to Utopia, Vanderpool and finally Highway 39.

"About 40 years ago, my wife and I raced a five-foot wall of water down the road . . . already flooding enough that stones used for markers were almost covered. If I hadn't known the road, we'd likely have wound up in a deep hole.

"When we turned out of the river bed, the water was over the running boards (remember?), and the engine was near drowning out with water thrown up by the fan . . . Far as I know, the Frio road — and you can drive it — is by far the most dangerous (if flood flash-flood), as there just 'ain't no place to climb out."

So, highslung then, you can run the riverbottoms, checking locally. But it is passing. A publisher friend advised recently that even lovely Sabin Canyon's byway may pass to history next year, with a newer, over-the-top route.

Bull?
What does a non-agricultural eastern college do with a bull? They had the opportunity to find out recently when a farmer-alumnus contributed one. Converted into dollars, a bull is a generous gift. Unfortunately, bull-size contributions are not frequent enough to solve the financial problems of higher education.
Few of us these days can found a college. Most of us, with our dollars or gifts in kind, can help keep one going.

FIGHTING PRINCE
Peter McEnery and Susan Hampshire

Fighting Prince Star Had A Busy Schedule

A sleek white sports-car streaking along Britain's first motorway, the M1, throughout the summer months carried Britain's latest young man in a hurry — Peter McEnery.

Reason was that Peter, 25, tall and handsome, was trying to be in two places at once.

Not only was he appearing in two plays at Stratford-upon-Avon, "The Merchant of Venice" and "The Jew of Malta," but he was filming a hundred miles away in the starring lead role in Walt Disney's feature motion picture, "The Fighting Prince of Donegal."

This was his timetable: "If I was filming I had to get up at 6:45 a.m. to get to the studios by 8," Peter explains. "I would film all day."

"If I was at Stratford the next evening it would mean getting up at 6:45, be at the studios at 8, and film until one o'clock. Then I would drive to Stratford and get there at 4:30 p.m.

"I would then get ready for the 6:30 performance, leave the theatre around 11 and drive straight back to Pinewood for filming the next day. I'd get back around 1:30 a.m. I'd be awakened again.

"If I had a matinee, naturally, I didn't film that day after finishing work the previous evening at 5:50. I would drive to Stratford in the morning, do the matinee of 'The Merchant of Venice' and the evening performance of 'The Jew of Malta.'"

"I did this twice a week and Saturdays sometimes, too."

On top of this, Peter's make-up for his acclaimed role as Ithor in "The Jew of Malta"

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Brooks, a veteran comedy writer for movie shorts and television, is turning to feature film work as writer and director of "Springtime for Hitler."

The project, described as a farce comedy, is to be made here next spring in collaboration with Sidney Glazier. The latter won a Hollywood Oscar this year for a documentary film, "The Eleanor Roosevelt Story."

Tax Payments Are Booming

With November nearly half gone, Howard County taxpayers have paid all but about $200,000 of their 1966 tax bills, it was announced at the office of Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector. Total tax income for the county this year is pegged at $1,311,401.

October collections — always a lion's share of the tax payments — hit $1,074,470. This compares with $1,024,745 collected in the same month in 1965.

During October the discount allowed taxpayers is three per cent, and most the larger property holders pay up early to benefit from the discount.

Actually the collections this October are not a great deal more from those of 1965. A five-cent increase in the state tax collector would account for levy is in effect this year which was not on the bills in October, 1965. This, according to the tax collector would account for, nearly all of the difference between the total tax payments to date this year and the total last year.

It was announced that 2,418 Howard County voters have obtained their registration certificates so far. These certificates, which replace the poll tax as a proof to voter qualification, are available through Jan. 31. There is no charge for the registration.

Included will be one boy and one girl for the top honor any 4-H Club member can receive from his county — the Gold Star award.

The boy and girl chosen for the Gold Star will hear about it for the first time when their names are called by the master of ceremonies on Tuesday night.

The meeting will feature a dinner served under the direction and supervision of the Howard County Home Demonstration clubs.

The program will include short talks by Paul Gross, county farm agent, Mrs. Catherine Crawford, county home demonstration agent, and James Shelton, assistant county farm agent. There will be music featuring 4-H Club talent. Parents of the club members and special guests will be in attendance.

The 85 awards other than the Gold Stars to be presented will be for special accomplishment by the club members in all fields of 4-H Club endeavor.

One event on the program will be a report on the 1965 4-H Club highlights by Larry, Don Shaw, Martha Couch and Kelly Gaskins, all leaders in 4-H Club affairs.
