Johnson Pronounced Free Of Throat Cancer

President Talks With Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson underwent successful surgery today and, just four hours later, was able to talk to a group of newsmen in a hoarse whisper.

Johnson, who doubtless was delighted by word from his doctors that his twin operations turned up no sign of malignancy, told half a dozen reporters who gathered in his hospital suite:

"Just a sore throat, that's all — sore and very painful."

Johnson, who was in the operating room at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center in suburban Maryland for about an hour, displayed good color and high spirits when the reporters visited with him for 17 minutes at his invitation.

'ACTION ITEMS'

Johnson didn't do much talking, though, limiting himself to a couple of brief comments. For the most part, when he wanted to say something, he scribbled messages on paper.

During the visit, Johnson was going through a folder of papers labeled "Action Items."

A number were messages of good wishes. Some were reports from federal officials — one informing him that he should be in a position within the first 10 days of December to make a public announcement on his budget-cutting efforts and future tax policy.

'CLEAR CUT'

Before Johnson summoned the newsmen, a growth removed from his throat had been pronounced "clear-cut" free of cancer. The second operation, carried out along with the throat surgery, was for an abdominal hernia.

In half an hour after that was finished, he was already writing questions for his doctors on the back of medical forms.

Even as surgeons turned to the repair of a rupture in the existing surgical scar on the President's side, experts were in a room adjacent to the Bethesda Naval Hospital operating theater, examining the polyp clipped from the edge of his right vocal cord.

Their verdict: It was not malignant.

'CLEAR CUT'

Dr. James C. Cain, long a personal physician to Johnson, said it was "clear-cut" benign.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson was in the operating room about 53 minutes, from about 6:27 a.m. until 7:20.

Moyers said it took Dr. Wilbur J. Gould 17 minutes to remove the polyp, using forceps inserted through Johnson's mouth.

Then Dr. George A. Hallenbeck, assisted by Dr. James P. Osborn, took over, repairing the incisional hernia that erupted at the site of gall bladder surgery — conducted at the same hospital just 57 weeks ago.

19 MINUTES

That phase of the operation took 19 minutes.

Moyers said preparatory work and other routine tasks accounted for the remainder of the time in the operating room.

Moyers said Johnson would be drinking liquids later today, and would be able to use his voice when essential. But he said the doctors want voice usage — which Gould blamed for the polyp in the first place — held to a minimum.

And the doctors have told Johnson he can make no formal speeches for four to five weeks. During those weeks, Moyers said, the President will be experiencing discomfort from the swelling in his throat.

HUBERT READY

For a period of some 90 minutes, Johnson was under the influence of the general anesthetic. During those minutes, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was standing by at his apartment in southwest Washington, ready to act if emergency arose.

"No such action was necessary," said Moyers, who telephoned Humphrey with word that the operation was over and was successful.

Moyers quoted the doctors as saying Johnson would be taking a few steps around his hospital room later today.

Moyers reported Johnson began coming out of the anesthetic about 15 minutes after the surgery was completed.

TELL ME, DOC

In another 20 minutes, he said, Johnson was handed a pad and pencil — he is supposed to favor his throat for a while — and wrote out:

"Tell me something."

The doctors then gave Johnson a brief account of the operation but, apparently, that did not fully satisfy him.

Johnson reached for the pad again and wrote, "Tell me all that took place."

Earlier, in making a bare announcement that the surgery had been successful and no cancer was found, Moyers had said the procedure took 53 minutes.

Moyers said the polyp in the President's throat was larger than the doctors had expected. He said they estimated it at four by five millimeters — a millimeter is .04 of an inch — whereas in advance of the operation the doctors had estimated only three millimeters.

Moyers said the doctors told him the polyp was located on the edge of the right vocal chord and had "dropped lower than the doctors had seen prior to the operation."

Moyers added that what the doctors called a "frozen section" of the polyp tissue was done immediately after the removal of the growth. This was for microscopic examination of the tissue to determine whether it showed any signs of malignancy.

In a "frozen section," the tissue is first frozen by chemical or other means and a very thin slice of it placed on a glass slide for examination under a powerful microscope to determine whether there are any cancerous cells in the tissue.

Moyers said the examination showed that the tissue examined was "benign". He added that in the words of Dr. James Cain of the Mayo Clinic, one of the President's team of surgeons, it was "clear-cut benign."

Moyers added that a further examination of polyp tissue, employing another process in which the tissue is "fixed" in certain test materials, will be carried out.

The Time Is Near

Samuel H. Sheppard checks his wrist watch prior to convening of court today in his second-degree murder trial at Cleveland, Ohio. A jury gets the case today in the trial which began Oct. 4. Sheppard is accused of killing his first wife, Marilyn, at their Bay Village home July 4, 1954. Convicted in his 1954 trial, Sheppard spent nine years in prison before winning a new trial through federal courts appeals. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Sheppard's Murder Fate Up To Jurors

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard's second-degree murder case went to a jury of seven men and five women at 10:30 a.m. today, midway in the fourth week of his retrial.

Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty gave the panel a choice of three verdicts in its judgment of Sheppard in the July 4, 1954, bludgeoning slaying of his first wife, Marilyn.

The charges were: guilty of second-degree murder; for which the sentence is life; first-degree manslaughter, carrying a sentence of one to 20 years; or acquittal.

Sheppard, 42, is charged in the indictment with "unlawfully purposefully and maliciously killing his wife."

WIFE PRESENT

Sheppard stared intently at the jury during Judge Talty's 40-minute charge. His second wife, blonde Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, also listened with obvious interest from the second row of the spectator section.

The jury retired from a courtroom directly across the corridor from the scene of Sheppard's 1954 conviction for second-degree murder. He served nine years in prison before winning a new trial from the U.S. Supreme Court.

JURORS WARNED

Sheppard, who testified at his first trial, failed to take the witness stand this time. Judge Talty warned the jurors that he had a constitutional right to remain silent and that they were not to draw any inferences from failure to testify.

The packed courtroom listened intently to closing arguments Tuesday in the retrial which began Oct. 24.

Prosecutor John T. Corrigan spent only 24 minutes on his closing argument. He told jurors he was confident they would: "Bring back a verdict consistent with the facts of this case. A verdict that would tell Sam Sheppard he can't hide from the truth and tell the world-be Sam Sheppards they also can't hide from the truth."

NOT GUILTY

F. Lee Bailey, Sheppard's chief counsel, concluded his 70-minute argument by asking the jury "to put together a picture of what happened. And you can quickly say this man is and always was not guilty. I ask you to do it with dispatch."

Bailey said Marilyn was beaten to death by "someone with an awful hate, a hate this defendant could never have known."

Sheppard, 42-year-old former osteopath, was convicted of second-degree murder Dec. 21, 1954, after a nine-week trial. He served nine years in prison before being released on bond by a U.S. District Court in Dayton, Ohio, July 16, 1964.

The U.S. Supreme Court overturned the conviction in June and ordered that Sheppard be retried or freed. It said prejudicial news coverage denied Sheppard a fair trial.

At the first trial, Sheppard was charged with first-degree murder. The state asked for the death penalty and stressed Sheppard's affair with Susan Hayes, a former laboratory technician, a key state witness then who was not called for the retrial.

Happy Astronauts Hail Launch Crews

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Flashing broad grins, the Gemini 12 astronauts flew back to Cape Kennedy today and thanked the launch crews for the perfect blastoff that enabled them to end America's Gemini project with a record-shattering space flight.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. landed here in separate planes about 11 a.m. (EST) after a two-hour trip from the aircraft carrier Wasp, which plucked the astronauts from the western Atlantic Ocean Tuesday.

Their four-day orbital journey concluded the historic Gemini program and opened the gate to the Apollo man-to-the-moon project.

NEWEST HEROES

As America's newest heroes bounded into solid ground for the first time since their fiery rocket departure last Friday, they were greeted by a large red, white and blue sign which listed all 10 manned Gemini flights and said: "Gemini program successful."

Another read "Welcome back Jim and Buzz."

"We're last but not least," Lovell said.

"Buzz and I are both happy to end the Gemini program with what we hope was a success.

"We've had quite a bit of fun and experience . . . a lot of thrills, some troubles, but I think we've learned a lot and gained some more knowledge toward our space efforts, and we're anxiously looking forward to apply this new knowledge we've learned toward future programs.

SAFE AND SOUND

"Everybody here has done an outstanding job to get us into space," Lovell said.

Then, Lovell added, "The spacecraft behaved and got us back home, nice safe and sound with no trouble and of course we're thankful for that."

Champion space-walker Aldrin then stepped forward and said:

"I feel humble and proud to have been a part of the last flight in Gemini. What we did up there and what we saw was a treat for me as an individual. . . . It was just fantastic.

"We certainly appreciate all the work that has gone into making this flight a success."

Then Aldrin unfurled a "Go Army, Beat Navy" sign which he had unfurled in space during his record walk outside the capsule.

Graduate: Lovell, 38, and champion space-walker, Aldrin, 36, brought the Gemini program to a triumphant end Tuesday when their space chariot splashed into the Sargasso Sea area of the Atlantic Ocean, about 700 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The landing was another example of the precision America has reached in its man-in-space programs. For the fourth straight time, a Gemini craft landed close enough to its recovery ship for the descent and splashdown to be relayed live by television to U.S. homes.

A helicopter put the spacemen on the deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp 30 minutes later and they strode jauntily across a red carpet, acknowledging the cheers of hundreds of sailors.

'TRIED REAL HARD'

Stepping to a microphone, command pilot Lovell said: "We're both happy to end the Gemini program with a success. I hope we can continue to do as well in the space program."

Marines, Viet Cong Locked In Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground fighting flared anew on widely separated fronts today as American infantrymen battled the Viet Cong in Communist War Zone C near the Cambodian border and U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were locked in heavy fighting with Hanoi regulars near the buffer zone between the two Viet Nams.

American planes, backing up the U.S. Marines in both areas, rained blows at the enemy. One Marine helicopter was shot down but there were no casualties. It was the 224th helicopter reported lost in South Viet Nam in the war.

As the Marines fought the North Vietnamese — soldiers about 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone, giant B52 bombers struck in embattled Tay Ninh Province 60 miles northwest of Saigon for the seventh straight day, following up 104 strikes on Viet Cong positions by smaller tactical bombers.

MID-DAY RAID

The B52 raid at mid-day came about the same time a battalion of 600 to 700 men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division made contact with a Viet Cong force of unknown size. The outcome of the clash was not yet reported by U.S. headquarters.

To the north, two companies of Marines and two companies of South Vietnamese troops were reported in hard combat with what was believed to be a reinforced company of Hanoi

Two Train Crash Kills 38 Persons

NILOPOLIS, Brazil (AP) — A train loaded with commuters bound for Rio de Janeiro collided head on with a passenger train before dawn today and police said 38 were known dead and more than 200 injured.

Police Inspector Joel Crespo said he counted 30 bodies at an improvised morgue near Olinda station 13 miles northwest of Rio. He said eight other passengers had died in hospitals after being removed from the twisted wreckage.

Central do Brasil Railroad officials said the Rio-bound train carrying commuting workers left the suburb of Novo Iguaçu, ran through stop signals and slammed into the train headed for Novo Iguaçu.

The first car of the three-car commuter train bound for Rio ripped open at impact and threw passengers and wreckage across the tracks, witnesses said.

"There was a sharp crash, then a lot of panic," said survivor Ned Barcelos Pereira, a passenger in the third car of the commuter train.

"You could hear screams coming from the front two cars," he said.

PILE OF SHOES

Soldiers, policemen and firemen arrived quickly to help the injured. An estimated 3,000 onlookers crowded the gobbled-up main street and the unpaved side streets at Olinda station to watch the rescue work.

Passengers of the Rio-bound train said it was filled with commuters from the working-class suburbs. The passenger train going in the opposite direction was lightly loaded, according to railroad officials.

As the rescue work progressed, a pile of 20 unmatched, shabby shoes stood by the side of the track along with a blood-stained pile of early newspapers being shipped from Rio.

AT TEXAS BASE U.S. Trains Thai Men To Operate Choppers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thailand with 25 choppers and is promising more under the military aid program. But Thailand only this year set up a helicopter training school and it takes weeks for an individual to learn even the basics of helicopter operations.

PENTAGON MUM

Meanwhile, Thai personnel are undergoing training at two U.S. bases — Ft. Wolters, Tex., and Ft. Rucker, Ala.

The Pentagon declined to discuss the training program, but The Associated Press learned 40 Thai have completed basic instruction so far this year at Ft. Wolters, the nation's primary helicopter training base. Twenty-eight more are to start the 16-week course between now and next March.

In addition to or among these are 20 Thai officers who will advance next month to more intensive chopper training, including tactics, and formation and instrument flying at Ft. Rucker.

COPTER CORPS

Instead of committing Americans to what officials now consider a relatively small but nevertheless menacing problem in Thailand, the United States is helping the Thai government lay the foundations for a helicopter corps of its own.

Fights Draft Board To Help Wife

Tom Michaels, 22, of suburban Warren, is appealing a draft board decision to classify him 1-A. He says he must stay home and work to care for his wife, Mary, 23, who suffered complete kidney failure Sept. 9. Michaels is trying to buy a $6,000 artificial kidney machine which he plans to learn how to operate. The machine would keep Mrs. Michaels alive. Ex-Student Fights For Wife's Life

DETROIT (AP) — Tom Michaels has told his draft board he can't fight for his country because he's fighting for his wife's life. The 22-year-old spray painter at a truck plant is appealing the decision of Selective Service Board 303 in suburban Warren that he is 1-A—qualified to enter military service immediately. He lost a student deferment while he was at the bedside of his wife, Mary 23. Her kidney failed Sept. 9, five days after their first wedding anniversary. To stay alive, doctors said, Mrs. Michaels must have her blood filtered twice a week on an artificial kidney machine. Mrs. Michaels said her husband must work to pay for her hospital care.

'JUST NOT SAFE'
The young couple hopes to avoid a hospital bill of $10,000 a year by buying a $6,200 artificial kidney. Michaels would be trained to operate the machine. He already has made a $1,200 down payment. "I can't operate the machine myself while I'm on it," Mrs. Michaels said. "I could pass out or something. It's just not safe."

'Howlin' Mad' Smith Sick

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—One of World War II's most colorful figures, retired Marine Maj. Gen. Howlin' M. "Howlin' Mad" Smith, was reported resting comfortably here Tuesday night in a hospital.

The colorful conqueror of the Japanese on the Pacific islands of Saipan and Iwo Jima complained of illness late Monday and was rushed to Valley Baptist Hospital here. Smith, 85, is a resident of La Jolla, Calif. He was here to attend ceremonies at the Marine Military Academy.

During the war of attrition in the Pacific, the tough old Marine commanded forces that took Saipan and Iwo Jima from the Japanese, inflicting heavy casualties.

San Marcos Man Guilty Of Threat

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Schuyler Colfax Brock Jr., 45, of San Marcos, Tex., has been found guilty of sending a threatening letter to President Lyndon B. Johnson.

U.S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttle ordered Brock held pending a pre-sentencing investigation. Two psychiatrists from the U.S. Hospital at Springfield, Mo., testified that Brock did not know right from wrong. He pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Two former employers and a landlady, however, testified that Brock always acted normal around them. Sentencing was expected in about two weeks.

Mail Carriers Distribute Survey Cards To Farmers

Rural mail carriers from the Big Spring post office will leave some livestock survey cards along their routes beginning Nov. 20.

Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms, Frank Hardesty, postmaster, pointed out.

Rural carriers distribute the cards at random in boxes along their routes.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Hardesty said. "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the state's livestock holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are Buford Hull, Rural Route 1, C. M. White, Garden City Route, Clyde Payne, Knott City Route, and Mrs. Roland Evans, Gail Route.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Other post offices in the county, where rural routes operate, are cooperating in this program.

Travis Russell, postmaster of Ackerly, said that John L. Rudeseal, who carries the route out of that office, will assist. The rural route carriers out of Knott are also in the program.

Ex-Con Guilty Of Kidnaping

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Federal court jurors found James R. Durham guilty Tuesday night of kidnaping a 10-year old girl. Then deliberated more than three hours.

Durham, 31, testified that the girl stowed away in his car. He found Karen Jean Dye in the back seat about 7 a.m. Aug. 30 and had left the Dye home at Canute, Okla., the night before after a visit, he said.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Billie Jean Dye, 31, testified she met Durham at a tavern and had a date with him. She said the last time she saw Karen, before her disappearance, the girl and two more of Mrs. Dye's four children were in the front room of the Dye home and Durham was reading to them.

Durham, an Alabama ex-convict, said he tried to return the girl home but had car trouble and finally bought a bus ticket with what money he had and sent her from Tucumcari, N.M., to Vega, Tex.

Officers picked her up there and she was returned home four days after she left. Durham was arrested in Tucumcari. Durham denied he molested the girl. Dr. George White of Amarillo, Tex., testified he found no evidence of bodily harm. He examined the girl soon after she was taken from the bus at Vega.

A LOVELIER YOU Daily Beauty Tools Work Double Duty

By MARY SUE MILLER

Some of the beauty tools that keep a lady lovely work quite as effectively to keep her home lovely. For instance:

Try using a loofah bath sponge, once it starts to fray, to clean the bathtub and basin. It does the same sanitizing job on enameled as on metal surfaces. An old powder brush takes the frustration (and nail breaks) out of dusting the crevices in wicker, cane and mesh furniture; also from pieces with carved and curlicued designs. Be sure, though, to wash and dry a powder brush well before using it for this purpose. Otherwise it might add a dusting of powder to the dust on the furniture. Gracious!

New velvet-finished puffs-bath - powder size, dime store variety - put a beautiful patina on hollow silver, after it is cleaned and dried. When soiled, puffs come out like new when hand or machine washed.

The cotton swabs that have myriad cosmetic uses are great for cleaning polish residues from hard-to-get-at nooks in scrolled copper and brass pieces.

Cosmetic chamois, the non-hardening kind, makes an instant polisher for mirrored and glass surfaces. And, look ma, no lint!

Pleasant to handle, these cosmetic tools save a lady's hands and energy. And every time you find a less wearing way to perform a task, your home is the beneficiary. And so are you!

HOUSEWORK
Attention homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tired Of Ham? Freeze Some

Dear Heloise:

What can you do with leftover ham after you are sick of baked ham, fried ham and ham sandwiches?

I try to save any way I can, and always find it cheaper to buy and cook big hams.

Mother

Never keep ham too long. When you get near this point, get out that meat grinder.

Also, your sharpest paring knife. Naturally you can't get pretty slices any more right down near the bone of the ham, so cut out all the nice chunks you can — removing all the fat.

Put these chunks in a fruit jar and tightly cap it, or in a plastic bag, and freeze them.

Then grind those small pieces of ham through your meat grinder. I always use the largest grinder blade for this.

Don't add anything else. Jars or plastic bags are dillies for putting the ground-up parts in to store in the freezer.

Later, this is delicious for making ham salad (wonderful for lunches), or ham croquettes. The greatest part about it all is that you can take a spoon and remove any amount of the frozen ham that you want for that day. It doesn't stick together like most frozen foods.

The chips or small chunks can be used in scrambled eggs, soups, and salads (especially macaroni—either hot or cold).

The bones can be boiled for soup. If you don't eat soup, let the liquid boil down and save it for making gravy. Lush.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise: I use a strip of elastic instead of ties on my baby's bibs. Just sew the ends to each side of the neck band, making it rather loose so it will go over the baby's head.

No more fiddling with knots and bows, and junior can put it on and take it off by himself.

Sheila D. H. Pierce

Dear Heloise: I am 10 years old and take instrument practice. I was polishing my flute (with silver polish) and discovered that you can use cotton swabs for cleaning those hard-to-get-at places.

It works beautifully.

but one day I wore them when dusting.

Since then that job has been so much less disagreeable.

At the finish, wash off the gloves. Your hands are still nice and clean and free from grit, dirt and oil. It's worth trying.

G. G. Kelley

Dear Heloise: I noticed in your column that you like incense.

Have you tried what I do to make double use of it? I get several boxes of my favorite scent at a time. Then I open each box about one-third of an inch and put them under my slips or right in among the piles of underwear.

My garments have such a delightful aroma when I put them on.

Little Ida

I hadn't tried that one, but I just opened a box and set it in our linen closet.

Thanks, Ida . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here's another use for gallon plastic bleach jugs.

Wash and dry thoroughly, then fill with powdered laundry detergent, using a funnel to simplify the job.

Now you have a handle on your detergent and a cap (no more spilling if it tips over in the car).

I use a marking pen to identify the contents.

DANNY FRYAR AND CAROLYN CRAWFORD WIN TOP HONOR Gold Star awards go to long time 4-H Club workers

Carolyn Crawford, Danny Fryar Win Top Awards

A sophomore honor student of the Big Spring High School is the 1966 Howard County 4-H Club Gold Star girl and an 18-year-old Lomax youth, now a senior in Stanton High School, is the Gold Star boy.

Carolyn Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delaine Crawford, was named Gold Star girl at the Achievement Dinner for 4-H Club members Tuesday night. The Gold Star boy is Danny Fryar, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Fryar.

They were two of half a hundred Howard County youngsters given special recognition for outstanding work. More than 250 of their fellow club members, parents and friends were on hand to witness the ceremonies. A dinner was served in the Howard County Junior College-Student Union Building preliminary to the awards program.

T Men Find Good Driving, Too

Full Extent Of Flood Disaster In Italy Still Not Known

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — In the early hours of Nov. 4 Italy — often called the fragile country because of its susceptibility to natural disaster — was hit by the worst flooding in its history.

Four major rivers — the Arno, the Adige, the Tagliamento and the Po — were pushed over their banks by heavy rains and, with phenomenally high tides from the Adriatic Sea and overflows from scores of streams, inundated a third of the nation.

The disaster swept and damaged. Some of the greatest architectural splendors of Western Italy from the Dolomite Alps north of Venice to the southern edge of Tuscany south of Florence. Florence and Venice, unique in their own ways and among the brightest jewels in the diadem of Italian cities, were badly damaged.

Irreplaceable art works were damaged. Some of the greatest architectural splendors of Western civilization were harmed. The Italian economy, just emerging from its recession of two years ago, suffered a major setback.

It was a disaster without precedent in modern Italy. Even now, nearly two weeks later, the full extent of the catastrophe is not yet clear.

ALMOST INCALCULABLE
The damage to the nation

Josselin On Hand
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jean Josselin, the French champion, arrived in Dallas Tuesday to begin training for his Nov. 28 welterweight title fight with Curtis Cokes.

and to the world — was almost incalculable.

On Nov. 9 the Italian government ordered an emergency appropriation of 47 billion lire — $7.2 million — to help the flood victims. The Cabinet set a 10-cent — 1.6 cents — a liter — quart — gasoline tax designed to bring in $500 million a year through December 1968.

This was a first measure only. For the great long-range task of rebuilding the economy of the stricken zones, it was expected that the government might have to impose new taxes on tobacco, alcoholic beverages and other consumer items and perhaps even float a national loan.

Giving his first parliamentary report on the disaster, Premier

Aldo Moro declared Nov. 11 that the floods had wiped out the economic gains achieved since the recession. He called for a period of national austerity.

SHOPS WRECKED
He said that it was still impossible accurately to assess the over-all cost of the floods. Estimates ran up to $2.5 billion more than a fourth of the national budget.

Most industry in the stricken areas was knocked out of operation. Production of Venetian glass and lace was virtually destroyed. An estimated 80 percent of the livestock in Tuscany, livestock center of Italy, was reported destroyed along with thousands of acres of Chianti vineyards that produce Italy's most famous exported wine.

About 6,000 shops in Florence and an equal number in Venice were wrecked. Hotels and restaurants were washed out. A severe drop in income from tourism was expected.

The art loss brought sadness to experts the world over. Some 1,300 masterpieces were damaged by water and mud in Florence, including nearly 900 works of the first rank.

Dr. Ugo Procacci, superintendent of Florentine Galleries, estimates it will take 20 years or more to repair the art that can be restored.

Meeting Cancelled
The regular scheduled meeting of the Friends of the Howard County Library has been cancelled. Next scheduled meeting will be Jan. 26.

Youth Corps Aid For Local Units

Seven youngsters have gone to work of 25 allotted the city under the federal Neighborhood Youth Corps program.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, with the cooperation of Leon Kinney, Texas Employment Commission manager and Ray Pope, with the school district, has been busy during the autumn getting the project under way here.

After the city commission approved the program by resolution recently, Anderson went to work getting it in operation.

"The program is designed," he said, "to help youngsters stay in school who might otherwise be forced to drop out in order to go to work." The federal government sets up standards for the program.

Eligible youngsters are between 16-21 years of age, and there are minimum - maximum family income figures that must be met, as well as the number of children in the family.

Big Spring is in an eight-county area administered from a central office in Snyder, Anderson said. The school officials and TEC officials assisted in screening the students, referring them to Anderson.

The federal government pays the youngsters $1.25 per hour, and they may work up to 10 hours per week. During the summer vacation period, they can work 30 hours weekly.

"We have found the young people eager and willing to work," Anderson said, "and it is easy to find places for them." At present, under this program, there are two working at the Howard County Library, two working at the Texas Employment Commission office, and three working for the city. The latter includes one girl doing clerical work in the public works office, and two boys employed as mechanic's helpers.

In addition, the state hospital has agreed to employ eight and the VA hospital will employ six.

"We can easily place as many as they care to allot us," Anderson explained. "For the current year through May, 1967, we have 25 and should have all these in jobs in the next few weeks."

Red China's Neighbors Shudder

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's neighbors shudder as they watch developments in the world of communism. For students of Communist trends, two main factors arouse apprehension:

—There is growing worry about the Soviet Union. Some qualified students of Communist affairs express fear that pressure from the U.S.S.R.'s own "hawks" is growing, perhaps to the extent of endangering the leadership of party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

BOTH WATCHED

—The men now ruling China and their supporters appear to believe implicitly in what their own propaganda says.

While China's internal political struggle continues, the Kremlin watches for signs of an upheaval in Peking which might brake the anti-Soviet course.

Peking's leaders watch the Kremlin for signs of a neo-Stalinist upheaval which might produce a more militant Soviet regime. The United States watches both.

And both Peking and Moscow watch the United States for any hint of diminished public support for the administration's Viet Nam policy. It all adds up to increasing tension.

WANTS WAR

Red China's propaganda insists that the United States eventually will attack the China mainland that Viet Nam is just a prelude. An attack is probably a distant prospect for Chinese leaders, but to them still inevitable unless they change their course. They show no signs of changing their course.

With its internal political turmoil and economic weakness, Red China is not courting a clash with American power. It is being cautious. But if its leaders are convinced that the clash will come this could lead Peking to actions which might have serious consequences.

Peking has shown that it wants the war in Viet Nam to continue indefinitely and that it is willing to tolerate a certain amount of risk to that end.

School Trends Told To Rotary

Jim Holmes gave Rotarians a peek into the future of public schools at their regular meeting Tuesday at the Settles, and told members how and why our schools have changed.

Holmes is principal at Cedar Crest school.

Schools have changed in order to meet the individual needs of the students and to educate them for the opportunities and challenges that are ahead in the atomic age, he said. Holmes pointed out that the sum total of man's knowledge had doubled in the past 10 years, and that by 1980, it is expected to double every year.

Holmes said that he foresaw the possibility of state supported kindergartens because a child is actually capable of meaningful learning at age three. He stressed also that education should be a partnership between schools and parents. He was introduced by Club president Dick Ream reminded members of the club assembly in honor of District Governor Earl Wilbur on Dec. 5. Wilbur will speak at the regular luncheon on Dec. 6 and all Rotary-Anns will be invited to attend the meeting.

John Payne, rector at St. Mary's, was introduced as a new member of Rotary.

Gales Rip Britain

LONDON (AP) — Gales hit Britain today for the second day in succession, ripping roofs and causing widespread delays to trains and shipping.

More than two dozen vessels sheltered from high seas off Deal, southern England. Channel ferry services to the Continent were canceled.

A London weather center spokesman said there was a chance of more freak storms like the 100-mile whirlwind Tuesday which toppled a bell tower through the roof of a school at Leicester injuring 21 children.

The Cunard liner Carinthia, which should have sailed Tuesday night for Canada, was forced to stay in port at Liverpool along with many other vessels.

Trains from London arrived three hours late in Glasgow. High winds had blown two huts onto the track.

Threatened TV Strike Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations for the broadcasting networks and two unions representing 36,000 performers, newsmen and announcers broke off talks early today after a 16-hour session that extended beyond a Tuesday midnight deadline for a threatened strike. The strike was not called immediately.

Kenneth Groot, executive secretary of the New York local of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists — AFTRA, said after the talks were suspended at 4:15 a.m. that no further meetings had been scheduled.

He said a group of AFTRA executives were meeting to decide whether to strike.

Groot declined to say whether a strike was likely or when it might be called.

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate word on the progress of the talks. The unions are seeking higher fees and minimum salaries for their members.

Industry negotiators declined comment.

Network sources in New York indicated that a walkout by the AFTRA and the Screen Actors Guild would curtail live programming. They said, however, that filmed and taped shows would allow the networks to stay on the air indefinitely.

Employees of independent radio and television stations would not be affected by a strike.

One network spokesman said, "The major casualty would be the soap operas."

Network programs such as the "Tonight" show and the Ed Sullivan show would have to use taped rebroadcasts of earlier programs.

17,500 MEMBERS

A strike also would mean that the networks' major evening newscasts would go on the air without such familiar names as Walter Cronkite, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, and Peter Jennings. Network executives would take over the news programs.

AFTRA has a membership of 17,500 and represents almost everyone who appears before a microphone and all performers on live or taped television shows or commercials.

The Screen Actors Guild, with 18,500 members, is negotiating for all performers on filmed television commercials.

The networks involved are the Columbia Broadcasting System, the National Broadcasting Co., and the American Broadcasting Co., radio-TV networks, and the Mutual Broadcasting System, a radio network.

Both the AFL-CIO unions are seeking a three-year contract with an increase from $105 to $130 in the daily rate paid to performers on television commercials.

Damages Sought From Store Here

Montgomery Ward Co. has been named as defendant in a damage suit for $100,000 filed on Tuesday in 118th District Court.

The plaintiff in the case is Lee W. Hazen and his wife, Mrs. Minnie Lee Hazen.

He complains that on Oct. 14, while Mrs. Hazen was shopping in the store, she slipped on a floor and fell. He alleges this caused serious injuries, resulting from negligence by the defendant.

Driving Fine

Hughes L. Kimbell, charged with DWI, entered a plea of guilty to the charge in Howard County court. Judge Lee Porter fined him $50 plus costs, and placed him on three months probation.

Clemente Is MVP In NL

NEW YORK (AP) — Roberto Clemente, flashy right fielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player today, edging Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax by only 10 points.

Clemente, whose timely and explosive hitting helped the Pirates come close to winning the pennant, received one less first-place vote than 27-game winner Koufax but won on total points, 218 to 208. Clemente had eight votes for first, Koufax nine.

Koufax won the MVP award in 1963 and finished second to San Francisco's Willie Mays last year. Just two weeks ago the brilliant Dodger left-hander was named, for an unprecedented third time, the winner of the Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher.

Clemente, who batted .317, hit 29 homers and drove in 119 runs, was the only player named on all 20 ballots which were cast by two baseball writers in each league city. Koufax was named on all but one ballot, but even if he had drawn a second-place vote on that one he would have fallen one point short.

A first-place vote is worth 14 points, a second-place nine, a third-place eight and down to one for 10th place.

Clemente, 32 and a 12-year veteran, received eight votes for first, 10 for second and two for third. Koufax, who became a 20-game winner for the third time, collected nine votes for first, six for second, one for third, two for fourth and one for fifth.

The Queens went into a stall with 5 1/2 minutes to play and it paid off.

In the B game, Forsan won, 35-24. Angie Tidwell hit 13 points for Forsan and Pam Cove 15 for Flower Grove.

The Queens have now won four straight games. They see action against Stanton next week.

AID PROMISED Texas Migrants Returning Home

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Just about the time of the first northern an enormous group of Texans—about equal to the population of Waco—began returning to their homes from their spring and summer jobs throughout the state and nation. A record mass of 167,000 men, women and children migrated to seasonal farm employing 1965. More than three-fourths of them went to 36 other states. About 38,500 moved from their homes to jobs in other parts of the state.

"We're just guessing but we think it is about the same this year," said Egon Tausch, migrant worker expert for the Texas Good Neighbor Commission. "It was the aim of getting higher wages that took them out of the state last year and this year a number of Northern states improved their rates a little so most of them said 'Let's try it again'."

MECHANIZATION

For almost a century it has been a practice to import workers from Mexico to harvest crops in Texas and other states. In recent years they were covered by bracero or labor contracts supervised by the two nations. Meanwhile, the domestic force of migrants swelled by Mexican workers crossing the river to settle in Texas and rear families. Most Texas migrants live in the Rio Grande Valley but at least 44,000 of those who went north last year have homes in 39 other counties. With the end in 1964 of the bracero act, which authorized temporary importation for harvest work, the demand for Texas migrant workers became nationwide.

With the demand came new problems for the state and its migrant citizens. "Undoubtedly the No. 1 problem for everyone is mechanization," said Tausch. "In just a relatively few years this stream of workers to other states will dwindle to relatively few numbers because mechanization will take away the out of state jobs. Then they will have to find jobs at home."

BRACERO ACT

The end of the bracero act had relatively little effect in Texas because mechanization was already well advanced. Good Neighbor Commission reports show that the use of machines in the 1965 cotton harvest displaced more than 230,000 workers in Texas, and that machine harvesting of vegetables probably displaced about 6,000. Canning of spinach and sugar beets is now 100 per cent by machines. Harvesting fresh beans is 75 per cent mechanical, carrots 50 per cent.

When mechanization comes, the migrants whose job experience has been limited to "season labor" in the fields must be fitted for other jobs—jobs that usually require more education and training. State and federal agencies are wrestling with the problem.

Panel Blasts Rich Suburb

DETROIT (AP) — The suburban Grosse Pointes, home of many of Detroit's affluent leaders, is charged by a panel of religious and educational leaders with being a "middle-class ghetto" where "divorce and alcoholism run rampant."

The panel said Tuesday the area was segregated "socially, racially, politically and economically."

"Families in Grosse Pointe present their children with clothing, shelter and a rat race," said the Rev. Franklin Bennett of Christ Episcopal church in Grosse Pointe.

The trappings of success surround Grosse Pointe children and defeat them, said Dr. Armin Grams, a staff member of Detroit's Merrill-Palmer Institute, which specializes in child guidance.

"WHAT'S THE USE?"

"They realize they have no hope of attaining—in terms of status symbols—the success of their parents," he said. "They are likely to say, 'What's the use?'"

Hugh Riddleberger, headmaster at Grosse Pointe University School, a private school, said Grosse Pointe youngsters were not doing well on college admission interviews.

DIVORCE RAMPANT

The suburban area, bounding Detroit's east side, consists of the communities of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Point Park, Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe Woods.

"Divorce and alcoholism are rampant in this community," said the Rev. Mr. Bennett.

Opening lead: King of ♠

An interesting application of the "uppercut" provided West with the means to establish a second trump trick for himself and thereby assure the defeat of South's four heart contract.

West opened the king of spades on which East followed with the seven. West continued with the ace on which his partner played the nine. Since East had not high-logged, it was clear that he had the missing spade.

so that a continuation did not appear inviting.

West had book in his own hand, and he surveyed the dummy to see where an additional trick might be developed. It was obvious from South's opening bid that the declarer had virtually every missing high card—the ace of clubs alone assured that he had no losers in the minor suits. Unless East held some unexpected value in trumps, the situation appeared hopeless.

Presently West saw a way to promote an additional trick provided his partner had some intermediate cards in hearts. He continued with a third round of spades, deliberately presenting South with a ruff and discard. Declarer trumped with North's three of hearts and then led a heart from dummy.

East played the nine of hearts, South put up the queen and West was in with the ace. Now came a fourth round of spades. East made selling use of the jack of hearts by ruffing in with that card. South overrudded with the king and cashed the ten. However, by now, West's eight of trumps was established as the setting trick.

Sleeping Tots Tell Secrets About Asthma

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Sleeping children are telling secrets about asthma — a tragic and sometimes deadly disease that grips five million Americans.

Machines record the pulse, breathing, heart beat and brain waves of these youngsters in slumber — and it also records the very movement of their eyes to show when they are dreaming.

Researchers here are looking for patterns that develop before an asthma attack — a constriction of breathing passages that makes the victim feel like he is suffocating. A severe attack can bring death.

DIFFERENT BEAT

Dr. William W. Hahn is conducting the study at the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital. The hospital offers treatment to youngsters 6 to 15 from the United States and abroad.

Admission is based on the severity of the case and is limited to children who get no relief from conventional treatment.

Dr. Hahn has completed a study based on tests of waking children which shows that asthmatics have different heart beat and breathing rates than healthy youngsters.

"What I'm interested in is what in the nervous system is responsible for triggering this asthma attack," said Dr. Hahn. He explained that the heart rate and similar body functions are controlled by the autonomic nervous system, composed of two branches which work in opposition to each other.

EVERYONE DREAMS

One sneeds up the heart, the other slows it down. Normally, said Dr. Hahn, they achieve a balance or harmony. But he believes in asthmatics the balance is disturbed.

Doctors believe that emotional problems can cause asthma, as well as physical factors such as allergies.

Dr. Hahn is hopeful that the study will show whether emotional stress can trigger an asthma attack. His machines can measure psychological reaction by tracing the brain wave pattern, he said.

He also wants to determine in which of the four stages of sleep asthma attacks occur. Stage one, in which a person dreams, is the stage of lightest sleep. The deepest sleep is in stage four.

2 Topless Waitresses Face Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the city's first topless waitresses must stand trial on charges of indecent exposure and creating a public nuisance, a judge has ruled.

Criminal Court Judge Walter H. Gladwin set the trial for Nov. 29 after listening to testimony Tuesday at a hearing by Ruby Diamond, 28, and Florence Rose Mayer, 27.

The judge said descriptions of the coverings of breasts of the two girls — pasties the size of a silver dollar — convinced him there was enough evidence for a trial.

Connie Pope In Lab Theatre Unit

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's Laboratory Theater has chosen the classic Greek drama Euripides' "The Trojan Women" as its initial major production of the fall season.

Scheduled for a four-performance run beginning Thursday the play will be presented at 8:15 p.m. each night and at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Speech Building Theater.

Directed by graduate assistant Ramona Peebles, the drama will be enacted by a cast of nine in addition to the traditional Greek chorus which points up the anti-war theme in vocal lament and dialogue.

Written in 413 B.C., "The Trojan Women" takes up the thread of Greek history soon after the invasion of Troy. The women of Troy, their husbands slain, are taken captive by the Greeks whose bloodthirsty action has brought down the anger of the gods.

Connie Pope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Pope, 2504 Rebecca, is a member of the chorus. She was heard previously in the chorus of "Electra." She is a senior education major at Tech.

Plans For Art Show Firmed

Members of the Big Spring Art Association studied the development of French impressionism at their meeting Tuesday evening. They also mapped plans for the annual art display and sale this weekend.

Mrs. Bill Unger brought the program, with film strips on the French impressionist painter, Henri Matisse. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. D. F. Bigony, and Mrs. John Zimmerman, president, presided.

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw and Mrs. Frank Hartley will begin registration tasks Friday morning in the Highland South mall for the weekend art display. The BSAA is sponsoring the exhibition which will begin at 9 a.m. Friday and continue through 5 p.m. Sunday. All area painters are invited to submit works to the display, at an entry fee of 50 cents per item. Prizes from the show will be used to purchase more art books for the Howard County Free Library.

Assisting with hostessing duties were Mrs. Bigony's sisters, Mrs. S. L. Thurman and Mrs. Vernon Kent. Guests were Mr. Kent and Linda Gayle Swords.

Phone Company Asks Appraisal Of Services

A simple post card will soon be used for an unusual job: helping Southwestern Bell Telephone Company improve its service in Big Spring.

In the next few days, every telephone customer here will receive a post card from Harry Sawyer, local manager for Southwestern Bell. On one half of the double post card, the customer will be asked for comments and criticisms.

The other half of the card can be torn off, filled out and returned — postage free — to Sawyer.

"We're not seeking compliments," the manager pointed out. "If any of our customers have criticisms or service difficulties, we would like to know about them so we can try to remove the causes. Comments and criticisms help us give customers the kind of service they want."

The manager said everyone who replies unfavorably will be contacted in an effort to clear up the source of dissatisfaction.

Thick Fog Cuts Ideal Weather

Thick fog cut out a wedge of South and Central Texas from the ideal fall weather felt everywhere else in Texas today.

The Weather Bureau said the sun-blocking fog spread from the Gulf Coast as far inland as Waco and Lufkin and spread northward through the morning. Skies generally were cloudless.

Forecasts indicated the fog would lift by midday but reform late tonight and Thursday. Early morning minimums ranged from 38 at Junction to 62 at Corpus Christi.

Warner Labeled 'The Last Tycoon' body is giving me the goose." On the following day, the Festival presented a retrospective program of the achievements of the film maker during his 48-year tenure as head of production for Warner Brothers. Critics marveled at the panorama of distinctive films and personalities.

"DON JUAN"

John Barrymore in the silent "Don Juan." Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer" speaking the first words heard in a feature movie. Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart as the snarling symbols of the gangster era. Busby Berkeley's geometric fantasies in the Dick Powell-Ruby Keeler musicals. Bette Davis at her dramatic heights, the young John Garfield in "Four Daughters," Paul Muni as Zola Bogie in "Casa Blanca" and "Sierra Madre." Brando as Stanley Kowalski. Gary Cooper as Sergeant York. Cagney as George M. Cohan, etc., etc.

FILMS SPEAK

San Franciscans learned last month what Hollywood has known for decades: that Warner's films speak better for him than he does.

He and his brothers started producing movies in St. Louis back in 1912. The four boys were sons of Polish immigrants, and they started in the film business in New Castle, Pa., with a converted store they called the Bijou.

Down through the empire-building years, Jack always operated the studio while his other brothers took care of business matters in New York. Now Harry, Albert and Sam are dead, and Jack rules Warner Brothers as president and production chief.

VIGOROUS 74

A vigorous 74, he is often termed "The Last Tycoon." From his desk in the administration building of the Burbank Studio, Jack Warner continues to dictate the fortunes of a corporation that last week reported an annual gross of $97 million and a profit of $4,663,000 in the fiscal year ending August 1965.

And now he has agreed in principle to sell his interest in the company to Seven Arts Productions, Ltd., a distributor of films for television, for an estimated $32 million in cash.

A born gambler, he risked $5 million to buy "My Fair Lady" and sank $17 million in its filming. He paid Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton a million dollars each to star in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and allowed it to be filmed with bawdier language than film audiences had ever heard before. Both gambles appear to have paid off.

Now Warner is spending $10 million or more on another Lerner-Loewe musical, "Carnegie," without a box-office "draw" in the cast.

Cap Rock Shows Slight Increase

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative continues to show gains for the year, although the October margin was slight. Sales of 4,221,141 KWH was about $19,000 more than for the same month a year ago, but it boosted the year's total to 78,422,684. For the same 10 months of last year the figure was 75,071,053. During the month the system energized three more miles, making 2,583, up 80 from a year ago. The number of members connected stood at 6,170, which is a gain of 46 for the month. This makes 366 more members than at the same time a year ago. Power sales were down sharply from the 9,483,692 in September, the last month of the irrigation season.

Saving Buddy's Life Costs 2 Bullet Scars

By The Associated Press
It cost him two bullet wounds, but Sgt. Carl Largent, a Texan at war, was able to save a wounded buddy's life during a bloody shootout in Operation Paul Revere.

Wounded

This is the story as told in the citation accompanying the Bronze Star which was awarded to the Killeen soldier last month as a result of the June 20 incident:
DRAGS COMRADE
"He distinguished himself over and above the call of duty in a search and destroy operation when he observed a member of his platoon become a casualty. Disregarding personal safety, he crawled to the wounded man and was himself wounded while dragging his comrade to a safe position. The action undoubtedly saved the man's life."
SNIPERS KILLED
Largent was a forward observer for a mortar unit assigned to prevent the buildup of North Vietnamese regulars during the rainy season.
"We were pursuing the North Vietnamese near the Cambodian border when a squad from A Company got pinned down by snipers," recalls Largent, 23.

"A couple of platoons went in to pull them out but got caught too. Then my platoon went in. We killed two of the snipers and the others fell back.

"We followed, but were ambushed again. We had four killed in action and three wounded in action. I was one of the wounded in action," says Largent.

Meteor Shower Slated Tonight

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A meteor shower after midnight tonight may produce one of the most spectacular sky shows in more than a century. The Leonid meteors may flash through the skies about 2 a.m. (EST), toward the east and a little south. Weather, however, could obscure the show. Leonids accounted for the greatest meteor shower on record the night of Nov. 12-13, 1833, described by one observer as "a tempest of falling stars." The Leonids, whose name comes from their apparent origin in the constellation Leo, are believed to be debris from comet Tempel-Tuttle. The tiny fragments produce a glow as they hit the earth's atmosphere.

Four Old Cars Cost $23,450

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Wilbur Christensen, a suburban highway contractor, paid $23,450 for four antique automobiles at an auction in Denver Tuesday. His top purchases were $10,750 for a 1920 Pierce-Arrow and $8,500 for a 1922 Rolls-Royce.

Pull Mall phaeton. Christensen said that although he paid more for the Pierce-Arrow, he considers the Rolls-Royce the centerpiece in his 11-car collection. Arthur G. Rippey, retired Denver advertising man, said the auction of his 30 veteran and antique automobiles, several carriages, assorted headlamps and horns brought $164,675 from other collectors. All the cars are in running condition.

38 Papers Win Awards

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Associated Press Managing Editors Association today awarded citations to 38 newspapers and a radio station for their outstanding contributions to The AP news report. The awards were announced at the annual APME convention which began here Tuesday and continues through Saturday.

DEAR ABBY: How can a good-looking single girl get a fur coat?
PEGGY
DEAR PEGGY: Get a wolf and skin him.
DEAR ABBY: There is a lady in our neighborhood everybody calls "PRIVATE IDA" because she goes around like a detective inspecting everybody's trash. She's actually been seen going up and down the alleys looking into people's trash cans. She told someone that she learns a lot about people that way. She knows who cooks nice meals, and who opens cans and serves TV dinners. She says she knows the beer drinkers, gin drinkers and wine drinkers. And how much they drink, too. What can be done about a busy body like her?
A NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: Every neighborhood has its characters who provide comic relief. Enjoy them!

The AP members receiving the awards made exceptional contributions in coverage of news in or near their areas for other members of the news cooperative. In some cases they gave a story or pictures, or both, to AP before they could use the material themselves. Recipients of the awards are: NEWS COVERAGE — Asheville Citizen-Times, Asheville, N.C.; Radio Station WBBQ, Augusta, Ga.; the Biloxi-Gulfport Daily Herald, Biloxi-Gulfport, Miss.; Public Opinion, Chambersburg, Pa.; the Clarksburg Exponent, Clarksburg, W.Va.; the Decatur Daily, Decatur, Ala.; Eugene Register-Guard, Eugene, Ore.; the Keith County News, Ogallala, Neb.; Lewiston Morning Tribune, Lewiston, Idaho; the Tribune, Nassau, Bahamas Islands; the Oregonian, Portland, Ore.; the Daily Sentinel, Sitka, Alaska; Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader Evening News, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. NEWSPHOTO COVERAGE — The Bismarck Tribune, Bismarck, N.D.; the Plain Dealer, Cleveland, Ohio; the Frederick Post and the News, Frederick, Md.; the Kansas City Star, Kansas City, Mo.; the Quincy Herald-Whig, Quincy, Ill.; Deseret News, Salt Lake City, Utah; the Salt Lake Tribune, Salt Lake City, Utah; Sioux Falls Argus-Leader, Sioux Falls, S.D.; St. Petersburg Times, St. Petersburg, Fla.; the Blade, Toledo, Ohio.

It cost us over $1,500 the first time, and we are old now and retired. And that would mean going into our life savings. I really don't know anything about how to do a second wedding. Can you help me?
NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: Explain the circumstances to your clergyman. It can be a beautiful church wedding, but all the frills and formality (bridal veil, etc.) are inappropriate for the second time around. If the groom insists on a lot of extras that would put a strain on your pocketbook, let him provide them.
