Mission Talk

Astronaut James A. Lovell Jr., left, as he tells newsmen about the reaction of Gemini-12 during the exercise when the spacecraft was tied to the Agena rocket. Listening to the details are Astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., Lovell's Gemini twin, and Dr. Robert

R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston. Lovell and Aldrin gave newsmen a rundown on the Gemini-12 flight at a news conference today. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Space King Spotted Strange Phenomenon

While Working Outside Chariot

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Gemini 12's champion spacewalker revealed today he saw a strange phenomenon while working outside his spaceship: Rubbing his fingers together sparked a faint glow. "I noticed the peculiar thing during the night pass," Air Force Maj. Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. told a news conference. "I think it's something we should look at."

Aldrin, who teamed with Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. for the four-day Gemini 12 flight that rang down the curtain on America's Project Gemini, had no explanation for what it might be. "Over-all, Aldrin said, spacewalking "went quite a bit smoother than I actually thought it would."

Aldrin, a rookie who mastered the hostilities of space with three historic ventures totaling 5½ hours, returned from space with the world's title for space walking. "We didn't run into a single problem that gave us any trouble," he noted. Lovell said the two men had a brief period of disappointment shortly after they got into space and were chasing an Agena rocket for a rendezvous. "Buzz noticed that the computer wasn't giving any change in range," Lovell said, explaining that the radar was supposed to feed the computer with data. He added that he then looked at the control board and noticed that the radar had apparently lost its lock-on. "For a minute we just looked at each other and said: 'Ah, it couldn't happen to us,'" Lovell said.

"I thought at first we were really going to miss it," Lovell said. "The moon appeared to be too low. . . ." As the time to totality came—when the moon completely blotted out the sun—it became more apparent they were right on target. "I'm sort of glad we had radar failure because it gave us a chance to use the backup charts," Lovell added while noting that they were equipped with a sequence of secondary ways to complete the rendezvous. "I think the maneuvers we made were more accurate than those given on the ground," he said.

Aldrin's sojourns, highlighted by a stroll lasting two hours and nine minutes, proved that by resting frequently and using proper restraint equipment, man can do meaningful work outside his capsule. Aldrin did not encounter the fatigue problems strollers before him met.

GREAT VALUE
"I think we learned the great value of a restraint system," Aldrin said.

To do a series of seemingly innocuous tasks like hooking little rings to little hooks, Aldrin investigated the use of waist straps and restraint boots called "golden slippers."

"We have to fix the body in position so we can devote our entire interest to the work at hand," he said. "It can be done without the waist tether, but it can't be done with the same freedom of action."

Aldrin also praised the training he had on earth, specifically the use of underwater simulations to train for work in space where there is no gravity and man has a tendency to float aimlessly.

LOW MOON
Lovell and Aldrin captured man's first pictures of a total solar eclipse from space — a feat that took split-second timing while dashing around the world 17,500 miles an hour. "I thought at first we were really going to miss it," Lovell said. "The moon appeared to be too low. . . ."

As the time to totality came—when the moon completely blotted out the sun—it became more apparent they were right on target.

Waiting

Pvt. Alvin C. York, third cousin of Sgt. York of World War I, waits for the command to move out with other members of his platoon. York, from Spring Bay, Ill., is at Fort Campbell, Ky., for his basic training after induction Nov. 1 at Chicago. York never met his famous cousin. (AP WIREPHOTO)

There's Another York In U.S. Army

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—A young man named Alvin C. York joined the Army nearly 50 years ago.

The Army now has another Alvin C. York, a third cousin to the most decorated enlisted man in World War I. The original York grew up in Tennessee where he hunted fox and sold the pelts for $35 each. The present-day York grew up in Illinois where he works with his father and two brothers in the family landscaping business.

NEVER MET
The two men never met. "I always wanted to write my cousin, but I never did," says Pvt. York, stationed at Ft. Campbell for basic training. "But I collected newspaper clippings and pictures."

World War I's Sgt. York entered the service in 1917. On Oct. 8, 1918 then Cpl. York killed 28 enemy and took 128 enlisted men and four officers prisoner — all singlehandedly. For his

Woman Lying On Road Killed
CLOVIS, N.M. (AP)—Mary Lofdie Williams, 45, of Cheyenne, Wyo., apparently died after she was struck by a car Tuesday night while lying on US 60-84 west of Clovis, state police said.

Officers said there were indications she suffered an epileptic seizure and was in the roadway when the car driven by Larry D. Boreing, 18, of Santa Rosa struck her.

Air War Picks Up In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. fliers stepped up their attacks in North and South Viet Nam while on the ground the fighting lapsed today into small scattered clashes.

B-52 bombers pounded Communist positions in support of the American forces pressing Operation Attleboro in Tay Ninh Province and those in Operation Paul Revere in the central highlands.

The weather improved over North Viet Nam Tuesday for the first time in nearly two weeks, and U.S. pilots flew 59 bombing missions, an increase over recent days but still far below the average 150 missions of ideal flying days.

FLIERS MISSING
One American plane was reported shot down, a two-man Air Force F4C Phantom jet. Both fliers were listed as missing. It was the 427th plane reported lost over North Viet Nam and the first since Nov. 11.

On another front, the U.S. mission announced a new, major effort to spur the pacification program, the civilian-directed campaign to win the allegiance of South Viet Nam's masses to the Saigon government. Deputy U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter, 52, was named to head the new attempt to make the flagging program succeed.

DESERTIONS DROP
As the ground fighting subsided, the 360,000 American troops in Viet Nam and the 60,000 men offshore on 7th Fleet ships looked forward to the traditional turkey-and-trimmings Thanksgiving dinner Thursday.

In another development, U.S. sources disclosed that desertions from South Viet Nam's regular army have dropped sharply since stiff new penalties were ordered last April. These sources reported 4,000 Vietnamese desertions in September compared with 7,500 last March. In the scattered ground action, U.S. Marines supported by air strikes, artillery, naval gunfire and tanks reported killing 36 Viet Cong in clashes Tuesday near Da Nang and Chu Lai.

REDS TRAPPED
The Marines said they trapped one band of 25 Viet Cong on a small peninsula 13 miles southwest of Chu Lai and drove them to the sea. The Leathernecks called in artillery barrages and air strikes which killed 15 of the Viet Cong. The Marines killed the other 10 in ground fighting.

The Marines reported only light casualties. As for the pacification program, which has persistently lagged for years, Porter was given authority to control field operations of the U.S. Agency for International Development, public safety and security, propaganda handled by the joint U.S. public affairs agencies and liaison with Vietnamese revolutionary development teams.

President Johnson is known to be concerned about the lack of progress in the program.

Boy Found Dead In Road Ditch

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP)—A 12-year-old Abbott boy was found dead in a highway ditch Wednesday, the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

He was Lewis McDonald, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Les McDonald. Authorities said the boy was to have gone to a cafe to meet his father about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. A search was organized when he didn't show up.

The body was found in a ditch off a farm road about dawn. Broken glass, as from a car headlight, was found nearby. Abbott is eight miles south of Hillsboro.

Temporary Shortage Of Rifles Admitted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army ran short of standard M14 rifles in the United States during September and October. The Pentagon, acknowledging today what it called a temporary shortage, said nearly 15,000 retired M1 rifles were pulled from depot stocks to fill the gap. The 30 caliber M1 was phased out beginning in 1961 and succeeded by the lighter M14, a 7.62mm weapon weighing about eight pounds.

In response to questions, the Defense Department attributed the weapons deficit to "increased unit activations and concurrent increases in the training base requirements." The Army has been training men at a rate of about 50,000 a month, with a net monthly gain of 20,000 to 25,000. The Pentagon emphasized that: — Reissues of the old M1 ended on Oct. 21 and each man now armed with it will get the modern M14 within four to six weeks.

OLDER WEAPON
— Every new soldier has been and is being trained with the M14 and no one who was given the older weapon was scheduled for overseas deployment. — No soldiers serving outside the continental United States are armed with the M1.

Sources said the Pentagon has stepped up production of the new M16 rifle which has been going to troops in Viet Nam. The M14 production lines were closed down two or three years ago, with the M16 envisioned as an interim replacement until the Army comes up with a new standard weapon for future years. Some military commanders favor the six-pound, rapid firing M16 for jungle warfare, but officers in other areas of the world such as Europe, prefer the M14.

630,000 ORDERED
The M16 fires a 5.56mm round, only slightly larger than the .22 caliber bullet used by small-game hunters. About 630,000 M16s have been ordered, officials said. The Army is getting nearly half, the Air Force and the Marines the remainder. One high military officer said the weapons shortage is not serious and, in fact, "as rifles go."

City Suspends Activity For Thanksgiving Day

Big Spring will note Thanksgiving in traditional form Thursday. Most business establishments, the banks, government offices and the post office will be shut down.

Heavy traffic is anticipated on the highways but it is likely the downtown area will present a Sunday face. Special Thanksgiving Day services are set for 9:30 a.m. at the Webb AFB chapel.

Hundreds of Big Springers are on their way to the homes of friends and relatives in other communities to spend the day. For many workers, it will be a long weekend—the holiday extending through Sunday. This is the case at the Howard County courthouse where e activities ground to a halt at 5 p.m. today not to resume until 8 a.m. Monday.

Webb AFB will be on a holiday footing with only minimum crews operating the agencies. Food stores were swarming with last minute shoppers today

Living Costs Jump Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent last month as virtually all consumer goods and services except food increased in price, the Labor Department reported today.

Retail food prices went down two-tenths of one per cent, but costs continued up for housing, clothing, medical care, automobiles and many other items measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The October increase, the ninth straight monthly rise, brought the index up to 114.5, meaning it cost $11.45 last month to purchase items worth $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

As almost always, the increase brought the consumer price to a new all-time high. The monthly index occasionally has remained stable, or even dropped slightly temporarily, but the long term trend has been upward.

Space Successes Predicted By LBJ

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson, marking the end of the Gemini space program, predicted today still greater U.S. successes in space including the Apollo man-on-the-moon program.

In his first formal speech since his twin operations a week ago, Johnson said, "Gemini has prepared well, for the more ambitious Apollo flights to come." "The months ahead will not be as easy as we reach toward the moon. We must broaden and extend our know-how based on the increased power of those mighty new boosters. But with Gemini as the forerunner, I am confident that we will overcome the difficulties and achieve another success," he said.

Johnson spoke at a ceremony at the LBJ Ranch in which the Gemini 12 astronauts, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., received the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Exceptional Service Award from him.

TROOP LEVELS
Eight other persons prominently connected with the Gemini program also received NASA awards.

Among them were Dr. George E. Mueller, associate NASA director for manned space flights, and Charles W. Matthews, Project Gemini director, both of whom received the Distinguished Service Award; and Maj. Gen. Vincent G. Huston, commander of the Air Force Eastern Test Range, who was given the Outstanding Leadership Award.

Johnson also arranged a later session with key advisers to discuss troop levels in Western Europe.

LOTS OF SQUASH, RUTABAGAS

No Drumstick For Vegetarians

By KENT ZIMMERMAN CHICAGO (AP)—There won't be any traditional Turkey Day arguments in some Chicago homes over who gets the wishbone and who gets the drumstick, because there's no wishbone in squash and rutabagas don't have drumsticks. Baked squash and rutabagas are just two of the delights which will supplant turkey on the Thanksgiving menu in vegetarian homes.

The only hint of the holiday will be an occasional glass of cranberry juice and a slice of pumpkin pie.

BAN ON POLITICAL PARTIES CONTINUES

Spain Looks Forward To Democracy Steps

MADRID (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's proposals to put Spain on the road to limited democratic monarchy gave hope today to the monarchists and nothing much to the 73-year-old dictator's opposition. Some critics charged Franco's proposed new organic laws were only a subtle means to assure continuation of his regime. Others looked forward to the change as a liberalization after 27 years of dictatorship. The country's 32 million people still do not know who their next chief of state will be — or when he will take over from Franco. But they know he is scheduled to be a king and how he will be chosen. The leading contenders are Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, 28-year-old grandson of the last king who is considered Franco's choice, and the prince's father, Don Juan, a 54-year-old exile in Portugal.

proved the laws by acclamation. They will be submitted to a national referendum—Spain's second in 30 years—expected to be Dec. 14. Approval is considered certain. Franco offered to snip off some of his autocratic powers but kept his ban on political parties. "With a genuine, orderly and effective democracy excludes political parties, but this in no way implies the exclusion of the legitimate contrast of opinions," he said. Opposition sources said this decision, not included in the new laws, could drive such moderate groups as the Socialists and the Christian Democrats underground. Oppositionists who had hoped to work in cooperation with the ruling regime said Franco's declaration ruled out a "legitimate opposition."

comes incapacitated, he will be succeeded by a king nominated by the Council of the Realm and the Cabinet and ratified by the Cortes. Nominees must be 30, Catholics of royal blood and if not approved, a regent would reign until a suitable ruler appears. The king's powers would be limited by legislative and advisory bodies, and he would be succeeded by his first male heir. —The new post of premier or chief of government is to be created apart from the chief of state. Franco now holds both posts. The premier would be appointed by the now inactive Council of the Realm to a five-year term. The council also would assume important advisory duties. —The ban on public worship by Spain's 35,000 Protestants and 5,000 Jews would be removed but Roman Catholicism would remain the protected state religion.

Franco made his proposals Tuesday in a long-awaited address to the Cortes (Parliament), which immediately ap-

'Old Town' Face Lifted

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — George Washington's home town is undergoing its biggest face lifting since the days when the first president owned acreage in the center of the city. Government and private enterprise are teaming to give this historic northern Virginia city a new 18th century look.

On almost every street of "Old Town," the section near the Potomac River, across from Washington, D.C., old houses are being restored either by individual owners or development firms. Supplementing this work is construction by private builders of new rows of Colonial style townhouses which blend in readily with the authentic old homes.

But the largest project was given its initial shove by the federal government's urban renewal program.

Most of two large city blocks of outmoded commercial buildings along King Street, the main shopping artery, were demolished under work financed with federal funds. Still left standing, however, were Alexandria's old City Hall and Gadsby's Tavern, regarded by some as America's greatest 18th century inn.

These two examples of earlier Alexandria architecture are being used as the core of a new cluster of brick buildings forming a modern shopping center with Colonial decor. Adjacent to City Hall will be a park, to be known as the Market Square. Underground will be parking space for hundreds of cars.

Alexandria's civic, political and business leaders say the city has potential as a prime tourist area. They cite these as among the sights Alexandria has to show the visitor:

SALES DRAGGING

Auto Recalls Hurt Industry

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry, already beset with a sales lag and production cutbacks, has another worry today — the possible effects of a safety-recall campaign involving more than a half million cars and trucks. The industry confirmed Tuesday reports from Washington that a wide variety of potential auto safety hazards had been discovered in recent months. It was small consolation to U.S. manufacturers that some foreign competitors, ranging from the swanky Rolls-Royce of England to Japan's Honda motorcycle, were in the same boat. The majority of the 327,962

U.S.-built cars and trucks involved in the recall were checked out in recent weeks, but additional thousands of owners were sent notification by registered mail that a potential trouble item had been uncovered in their cars. Industry sales in October and early November ran about five per cent below a year ago. The sales lag has caused all four major automobile firms to slice production. Owners of recalled cars were told that costs of labor and replacement of parts would be met by the manufacturers.

Scout Banquet Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the annual Lone Star Boy Scout district banquet, set for 4 p.m. Dec. 8, have been mailed. Col. Chester J. Butcher, commander of Webb AFB, has accepted an invitation to be the speaker, according to R. L. Tollett, district chairman. Arrangements for the affair, which will be held at the Cosden Country Club, are being handled by a committee headed by Bill Crooker. Tickets ($1.75) may be obtained from Crooker, or any Scout leader.

Election Was A Costly One

The general election of Nov. 7 could turn out to be one of the most expensive — per vote — of any in many years in the county, Edgar Phillips, county auditor, said today.

Phillips was busy figuring up the costs of holding the election preparatory to sending checks to the judges and assistants in each of the 20 voting boxes.

He said the commissioners have agreed that the base pay for all workers in elections will be $10 for the first 10 hours. The presiding judge in each precinct will be paid an extra $5 for bringing the election box to the courthouse.

The commissioners also agreed that the workers be paid $1.25 an hour for all time put in over 10 hours.

Phillips said he had not figured how much each box would involve but that in one precinct, the judge will receive more than $35 and many of her helpers $25 to $30.

The lengthy ballot, plus the numerous amendments, made tabulation of the vote slow and as a result much overtime piled up before most of the boxes were completed and turned in to the county clerk.

Lamesa Slates Holiday Event

LAMESA (SC) — Community Thanksgiving Eve services will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Jack Gist, pastor of a local Catholic church, officiating. The First Baptist Carol Choir will present special music.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Movie maker Walt Disney is expected by his doctors to return to a full work schedule in four to six weeks after surgery that removed part of his left lung.

Disney, 64, entered St. Joseph Hospital recently for treatment of an old polo injury, his studio said, and an examination disclosed a lesion on the left lung.

He was back in his office Tuesday on a limited schedule after being released Monday from the hospital, a spokesman said.

FEWER BABIES DIE

'Inside Red China' Controversial Film

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Any television viewer with an interest in news programs must by now be familiar with what CBS' Marvin Kalb Tuesday night called Red China's "guided tour No. 1."

This is the route of tourists and visiting journalists in a triangle between Peking, Shanghai and Wuhan. We have taken the trip before, courtesy of film by foreign camera teams.

CBS News sent a West German crew on the "No. 1 tour" recently. The result was the usual portrait of busy, smiling people marching and singing in spotless streets, happily picking perfect vegetables in rich green fields, eating well and living in adequate, if slightly beat up quarters, and lots of cute, fat children.

To make the program something more than another travelogue, three writers who were recent visitors to China were asked to look at the film footage, comment and explain. 'ABSENCE OF SIN'

The result was a gentle and often sympathetic interpretation of a nation fighting its way through problems of overpopulation, food and machine shortages and social revolution.

China-born physician - writer Han Suyin emphasized frequently the presence of so many children, and compared it with the old days. Now with maternity hospitals in the communes, Dr. Han noted that "it isn't that there are more babies, but it's just that fewer babies die."

The most interesting observations were the small ones; the excellent food served in train dining cars; the "complete and total absence of sin" in modern Shanghai which once had 80,000 prostitutes, 10,000 bars and night clubs and terrible poverty; the complete and mysterious disappearance of flies in the whole country; the existence of domestic servants in a classless society which is short of house-paint.

NO FREEDOM Occasionally, but not strongly enough, one commentator or another indicated his awareness that the cameramen did not have freedom to shoot whatever they wanted. Writer Robert Guillain advanced the theory that perhaps one reason foreign journalists were not permitted to visit provinces off the guided tour route was to conceal failures, but to conceal "places where their most advanced progress and remarkable achievements are located."

"If the Son makes you free, you will be free indeed."
(John 8:36, RSV)
PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy blessings which are beyond counting. We thank Thee above all for the gift of Thy Son, Jesus Christ, and for the deliverance and freedom we find in Him. In His name we give Thee grateful praise. Amen.

Ingredient For Stability

Gov. John Connally has come out with the first of his budget recommendations, and this presages some sobering fiscal decisions by the legislature when it convenes in January. The governor has proposed a $75,000,000 program to raise the salaries of 40,000 state workers an average of 20 per cent during the next biennium. He said that some $26,000,000 of this would come from the general fund which gets most of the sales tax revenue.

Substantial raises were suggested in several classes. For instance highway patrolmen would be boosted from $5,808 to $7,056 per annum; highway department engineers I from $8,076 to $10,368; prison guards from $4,464 to $5,184; Class II stenographers from $3,660 to $4,116. The governor also proposed to raise the lowest state salary from $2,338 to a minimum of $3,024. The highest current salary under the classification would be raised to $17,784. The latter was justified to "enable the state to attract and retain competent talent in the top scientific and management jobs" which represent only two per cent of state employment but which are responsible for productivity of all others.

Advice Might Save Your Life

Donald J. Beaudette of Minneapolis, Minn., has a piece of advice that might save your life. He has been picked by the American Trucking Association as the Truck Driver of the year on the basis of over 1,500,000 accident-free miles in 19 years. His advice is simple: "Take time to rest. Too many non-stop hours a day miles behind the wheel cause countless holiday crashes. And while you're stretching your legs, take time also to safety check your car's lights and tires." This adds up to being alert so that you can keep your car under control at all times. When we are alert, perhaps we won't be inclined to risk unreasonable speed. Most of all, when we stay alert, we are in a better position to avoid being hit by someone who isn't.

The Wage And Profit Story

WASHINGTON—In the current period of inflation, organized labor has been arguing that corporate profits are high and that wages should be increased in order to meet the rising cost of living. But there is a dispute about the facts and the meaning that should be attributed to them. Indeed, Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of United States Steel Corporation, is indignant because of what he terms a misuse of figures not only by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, but by the Johnson administration. Mr. Blough has just said in a speech before the New York University School of Commerce:

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan has good reason to feel a little cocky, at least right now. He has a lot going for him. At 38 he is trim, square-jawed, with an undaunted gaze. This is the strong, executive-type look. And he was a good executive when he was head of American Motors. He switched to politics and this month was elected to his third term as governor.

My mother makes me go to church, insists that I read the Bible, and drafts me into family devotions. It seems to me that religion is a private matter, and that one should not force one's religious convictions upon others. I suppose your mother also makes you go to the doctor when you are ill, makes you go to the dentist when you have a toothache, makes you bathe when you need it and insists that you eat at meal time. What a cruel mother!

To Your Good Health

She Misses The Point On Sinus Trouble

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dr. Molner: There was nothing about diet in your booklet on how to stop sinus trouble. Do you have a diet to help relieve it, or specified foods to avoid, like milk, etc.? Please forward such suggestions.—A.A. I'm sorry you didn't find what you wanted in the booklet, but I'm sorer still that you evaded the point. Demanding some sort of a diet to cure sinus trouble is almost as pointless as demanding one to cure a broken leg, or as fruitless as putting a splint on your leg to cure hay fever. The booklet very specifically outlines the various factors which cause sinus trouble, and if you will take the trouble to learn which one or which ones are causing your distress, then you can make headway. There are but few cases of sinus which won't respond to the proper treatment. The only way diet can have an effect arises if allergy is involved. This may or may not be combined with other factors: Irritation from fumes, physical malformation of the nasal passages, infected teeth, polyps, etc. Allergy can, indeed, cause sinus trouble, although it is more likely to be a matter of being allergic to something you breathe: Pollen, house dust, feathers, molds, animal danders, plants, and the like. In less common instances, a food allergy may be involved. In fact, that would be about the last place I would search for the trouble unless you had other signs of food allergies. And even then, asking what to eat or what not to eat is a hopeless approach unless one first finds out what allergies are involved. Then, of course, it becomes a simple matter. Foods which affect at least a few people are: milk, wheat, seafood, cantaloupe, strawberries, wheat, or other grains, citrus fruits, eggs, chocolate. All sorts of foods which are perfectly good for most of us can cause allergies in a minority of folks. Drugs and medications also may be responsible. If you happen to be highly sensitive to wheat, avoiding it will help you, but avoiding milk won't do a particle of good. I certainly want you to get over your sinus trouble, but I don't see any hope for you unless you go at it logically. So, read the booklet again and take it to heart. Unfortunately there are people who insist with a strange stubbornness that some special diet can cure anything. Well, it just can't. "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. Dr. Molner is happy to re-operate readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in this column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

The Man Who Forgot To Be Thankful

Once upon a time there was a man who forgot to be thankful.

His name doesn't matter. He had come up the hard way and by dint of work and frugality, he managed to make a down payment on a sandy land farm. The first few years were pure struggle, for when he made a crop, he had to squeeze out a living and still have something left for interest and to pay on his loan.

BUT HIS HEALTH held up. He said, and his neighbors, too, that he was strong as a mule. Much of what others had to hire done, he managed to do it himself, so in the end he had a few dollars more margin.

Two good things happened to him. One was that he got a chance to buy the neighboring place. Not long after that, he met a shy young woman at a church social one summer evening, and his slow tongue in the presence of a girl seemed to melt away. This one was different. She listened with interest, almost with an enthusiasm to match his own, as he talked about what he would do with his new place, and what he would do with the other places he someday would call his own.

OF COURSE, they eventually were married. In time, the home was blessed with children, and they seemed to understand their father in his own gruff, driving way, and at the end of a long day they put their arms about his weathered neck and pressed their cheeks against his stubbled face.

Oh, it wasn't easy, but somehow there always seemed to be enough. None went hungry, and always they had good clothing. There wasn't really anything that they needed that they didn't have.

IT WAS ALMOST tragic that he seemed to want to wall all that happiness up around him. When appeals came for help for someone in the neighborhood, he gave grudgingly because he equated the misfortune of others with their laziness or wastefulness. Appeals for worthy causes, which had no personal connection, left him cold, almost indignant. About the only cross words he and his wife ever had was over her pleas to share their own prosperity, as meager as it often was, with others and with the little church.

AS THE YEARS went by, he added another farm, and another, until he had one of the biggest and best spreads in the county. Things were sitting just right when that particular year came. During the spring, contrary to the forecasts, it rained. And then it rained again until the soil was soaked. This was followed by a few weeks of warm, fair weather, so that seedlings seemed to spring out of the ground. When not long after that a steady drizzle fell for two days, one could almost see the plants growing. It went like that all season, and wonder of wonders there were no serious threats of insects. So fall came, feed and cotton stalks were bending under the weight of fruit. Then came frost at the right time, and the harvest staggered the imagination.

THERE SIMPLY wasn't any place to put it all. His wife and his friends suggested, that in gratitude, he put some of it to the causes they had urged before. He thought that over and then announced: "No, I'll tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going to put up some warehouses and some more silos. I don't have to sell this right now, and next year, if prices go up, I'll sell both crops and make a real killing."

They left him there smiling in contemplation. When it was bedtime, he was still sitting there, slumped. Instead of a smile, there seemed to be a look of utter disbelief on his cold face as though someone had said something incredulous to him. —JOE PICKLE

Is Nuclear Panic Obsolete?

WASHINGTON — At Chungking in 1941 nearly 1,000 men, women and children died when panic erupted inside a large air raid shelter. At London in 1941 more than 170 persons perished under similar circumstances during a Nazi air attack. At South Amboy, New Jersey, in 1950, Americans panicked when an ammunition explosion was followed by wild rumors of an enemy attack by A-bombs and poison gas.

THESE AND other examples of self-inflicted injury under stress caused the Eisenhower administration to treat the danger of public panic as a serious problem in preparation against a nuclear attack. Val Peterson, Ike's Civil Defense administrator, thought that the Soviets might use panic as "the ultimate weapon." He set two dozen teams of psychologists to work. He brought forth two studies on the causes and prevention of panic. Eisenhower's plan for psychological defense against the H-bomb was a reversal of the Truman administration's policy. When Peterson took over, he found that "federal officers have treated the subject of panic as if it were taboo."

WELL, THE treatment of the panic-panic has swung a full cycle. In the Kennedy-Johnson era the subject has all but disappeared from Civil Defense planning and public education. The Executive Department library, housed next door to the White House, could not produce for me any panic studies made within the past four years. When I raised the matter with Director Farris Bryant of the Office of Emergency Planning, he agreed that panic is no longer considered much of a danger. He explained:

"WE LEARNED a lot in the Cuban missile crisis of 1962. I was governor of Florida then. The state was almost sinking with the weight of armament that had been brought in, and we were within easy range of whatever missiles were in Cuba. But we found nothing that even approached panic. I don't think it will be a great problem if we should ever have a nuclear attack."

But it seems a fair question: Is this sort of complacency a vintage product of the "Missile Crisis"? Or is it a reflection of the spirit of '63, the year of the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty?

THE ONLY post-Eisenhower study of the panic phenomenon that I've been able to find (printed records of a conference held in May 1961) comments on the two "fashionable" ways of regarding the "endless euphoria idea, or the feeling that nuclear war is so terrible it could not happen." The other is "the Armageddon attitude which assumes that it could happen, but if it does, whoever and whatever are left won't be worth saving." Neither of these moods indicates a country with much will to survive or to win. You'd think the Office of Emergency Planning would be worried about that.

Light Bulbs Burn Out Too Fast?

NEW YORK (AP)—Light bulb manufacturers insist their product is the most efficient they can make. A congressional report, however, says simply, "Light bulbs burn out too fast."

The conflict has existed for a long time, but the only thing accomplished so far has been to define the battle lines. Since there is so little appreciation of the other's argument, that battle might occur some day.

The stakes are high. Annual sales of light bulbs total one billion. At an average cost of 25 cents a bulb, that total turns into a dollar figure of 250 million.

And, since the cost of electricity used by a bulb is about six or seven times its own cost, you reach an astronomical figure of $1.5 billion as the annual consumer expenditure associated with electric light bulbs.

A HOUSE subcommittee has just published a report for congressional use in "a continuing evaluation of this problem." Its title gives a tipoff: "The short life of the electric light bulb."

The report draws these conclusions: 1. Bulb life is shorter now than it was a half century ago. 2. The life of a standard bulb can be increased. 3. Most popularly used bulbs do not operate at maximum efficiency. 4. The life of bulbs could be doubled at only a small increase in cost to the consumer. Generally speaking, the manufacturers dispute these findings. Both government and business agreed on this: It is impossible to have both maximum light and maximum life from the same bulb. A little less light means a little longer life. And more light means less life.

The problem is how to reach a balance of efficiency between light and life and then mix into the formula the cost of electricity used. It is disagreement over this formula that causes one of the big differences of opinion.

THE MANUFACTURERS want to include in their formula, among other things, the fixed costs of the lighting systems and fixtures. The House report argues that the cost of the bulb and the electric power it uses are the only expenditures that should be considered.

Two other factors complicate the formula of the efficient bulb:

Bulbs are made for sale throughout the country. They do not vary in design from one region to another. But electricity rates do. In Massachusetts the cost is 2.76 cents a kilowatt hour. In Tennessee it is .45 of a cent.

SECONDLY, when you first turn on your lights the electricity you use costs more than it does five minutes later. Your bills are based on a formula that lowers your rate as you use more power—until a minimum rate is reached.

The manufacturers want to use the average price of this electricity. The House report contends a lower rate should be used.

Church Rites Unites Couple

Miss Robbie Lynn Chapman became the bride of James A. Walker during a ceremony held at 4 o'clock Tuesday evening in the chapel of the First Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the assistant pastor, the Rev. Harold Rucker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an off white coat and dress ensemble, the dress featuring a squared neckline and A-line skirt. The Chelsea-collared coat was long-sleeved and styled with frog closings. Her face-length tulle veil was held by seed pearl petals, and she carried a small white Bible topped with cymbidium orchids nestled in white carnations.

A LOVELIER YOU Bring New Beauty To Eye Shape, Size

Eye cosmetics have brought new beauty to many eyes. To their shape, size and coloring. But no make-up has been found to enhance their expression—what they say. Certainly eyes do have a language all their own. A woman might speak the words of a diplomat, but if her meaning is denied by her eyes, it would be better not to have spoken. If she says "I forgive you" and looks "daggers," her insincerity is more rankling than a direct insult.

Yet, to give her the benefit of the doubt, she may be sincere. Her eyes may play her false. The steely look often stems from unconscious habit, rather than an unpleasant turn of thought. From pure habit, some eyes always wear a bored, a preoccupied or a suspicious expression.

Finally open your eyes until the lids rest a bit above the pupils. What a difference! Appearing interested and receptive, your eyes now bespeak appealing traits. But, please note, the idea is What a delightful way to stand corrected! Although I don't recall the snow that fell here on Nov. 29, Thanksgiving Day in 1934, Mrs. Edwin A. Kelley does, and she has sent me the snapshots to prove it.

The pictures were taken at the Kelley home at 1611 S. Gregg and she is shown sweeping the sidewalk clear. The trees, heavy with snow, appear to still have some leaves clinging to the branches. Another snow fell on Dec. 1, 1931, and someone took a picture of a huge snowman that had been made on a vacant lot. The South Mountain slope appears in the background.

Wait For Divorce

DEAR ABBY: Please advise me as to how a 19-year-old girl from a small town who is separated, with a divorce in the near future, should conduct herself. I have a six-month-old son and I want to keep my reputation flawless for his sake as well as my own. I have no idea what is acceptable conduct for a girl in my situation. Should I date? Should I go to the local dances and dance with anybody who asks me? Should I accept dates out of town that mean staying overnight? (Even if we had separate motel rooms?) How about attending mixed parties with a group of girls? I would appreciate any advice you can give me.

NO NAME, NO TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: A woman who is not yet divorced should not date. She may enjoy the company of the opposite sex at parties, or in groups, but she certainly should not accept overnight invitations. Neither should she go to the local dances and dance with anybody who asks.

TECH PREX PRESSES ARID-LAND RESEARCH LUBBOCK-ICASALS, Texas Tech's new program to gain knowledge of the world's arid and semi-arid lands to benefit mankind, picked up additional momentum Monday in an address by President Grover E. Murray to the Tech faculty in which he called for an inventory of resources, ideas and expertise around which to build the concept's master plan. He stressed that he wanted uninhibited thinking.

President Murray, in announcing a campus-wide survey of faculty to determine potential contributions of knowledge and talent to the new International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies, pointed out that "ICASALS has been launched as a concept. It now remains for us to make it a reality."

ICASALS, adopted by the Tech board of directors last August as an institution-wide attempt at pinpointing and solving problems posed by those arid and semi-arid areas which cover more than half the world's land surface, received national and international attention earlier this month in a symposium which preceded Dr. Murray's inauguration as the university's eighth president.

TEXANS AT WAR

Smack In Reach Of Viet Gunners

By The Associated Press

It was a suicidal flight, the Special Forces commander at A Shau said—a mile-wide crevice with a 250-foot weather ceiling forcing planes smack in reach of the Viet Cong automatic weapons.

For stubbornly strafing and re-strafting the entrenched Viet Cong gunners until his ammunition was spent, Air Force Capt. James M. Johnston of Lubbock won the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Johnston's Skyraider was the last plane in the dangerous valley before a fog enveloped it. "We got in where the jets couldn't because of the adverse weather," Johnston said, "and we gave the Special Forces camp air support until they could evacuate most of the survivors. The others who were still alive walked out of the valley and the next day the Viet Cong took over the camp."

The commander said the last air strikes meant the difference between an immediate collapse and time enough to get survivors out. "We were getting heavy ground fire from automatic weapons all the way up the valley," Johnston said. "You can't dodge. You just kind of close your eyes and go as fast as you can."

Johnston's Vietnamese companion in a second plane made one pass over the Viet Cong and dropped all his bombs, getting hit in the process. Johnston maneuvered back and forth over the enemy—"I never saw the people but you knew where they were from the fire spurting at you"—before he flew his Skyraider out of the valley.

Johnston's wife, Riva, didn't know what commanding officer to contact to make a plea for extension of his leave. So she wrote to Commander in Chief Lyndon B. Johnson.

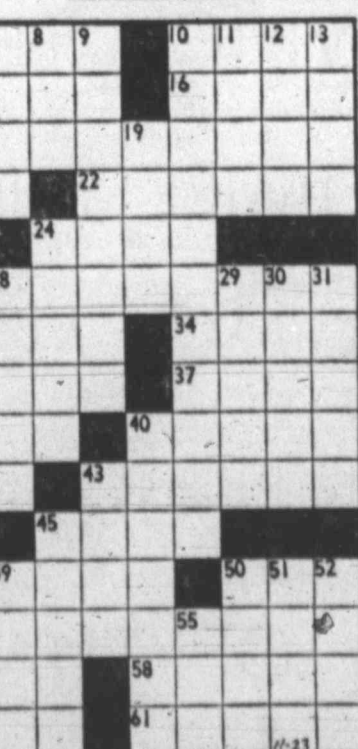

The result: Schmidt received two telegrams, granting and confirming an extension. He was ordered to leave Sunday for Oakland, Calif., from where he will be flown to Viet Nam.

Priest Weds Divorcee

WESTFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest has confirmed that he left the priesthood last September and married the divorced mother of five children.

The Rev. Thomas Dowd, 36, former assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church, Shelburne Falls, said Monday night he was married Oct. 2 to Jean Powers, 35, who was divorced in January, 1964, from Robert Powers, now of Pelham, N.Y.

"I left the priesthood in early September," Dowd said in a statement, "because I did not feel I could live up to what is required in the promise of ordination."

"I enjoyed 10 happy years working with and for the people of my various parishes. I hope that those who know me will understand my personal decision."

The former priest declined comment on where the marriage ceremony took place or the circumstances leading to his leaving the priesthood.

Red China Maps Terms

TOKYO (AP) — Red China today restated its terms for joining the United Nations: expel Nationalist China and end U.S.-Soviet domination of the world organization. They underlined the prospect that the Peking regime won't get in for a long time.

An official New China News Agency broadcast rejected as "absurd" a resolution now being debated by the U.N. General Assembly. Authored primarily by Italy, it would set up a committee to study the question of China's representation for the next year and is being reluctantly supported by the United States.

The Peking broadcast described the resolution as a trap to permit Nationalist China to remain in the organization and as a U.S. device to make it appear Peking has chosen to isolate itself from the United Nations.

"Everybody knows China's stand towards the United Nations under U.S.-Soviet control," the agency said. In September, Peking said U.S. control should be smashed and the organization completely reorganized.

In the American endorsement this week of the Italian resolution, chief U.S. delegate Arthur J. Goldberg stressed the importance of keeping Peking out. This was interpreted by some diplomats as a shift away from the hard U.S. line against membership for Communist China and a step toward a "two-Chinas" policy.

Both the Nationalists and the Communists are opposed to the two-China policy.

The Soviet Union rejected the Italian proposal this week but gave only lukewarm support to the argument that Peking alone has the right to represent China.

It accuses the pair of wire fraud, interstate travel in a scheme to defraud and conspiracy carried out between Feb. 1 and Nov. 1, 1964.

The indictment made these further allegations:

Carr and Miss Wilson solicited money from interested persons, claiming they needed it for travel, legal fees and other expenses in determining the rightful heirs to the property.

Represented themselves as agents for the heirs to the so-called "Hall-Edwards estate," who for many years had been presenting evidence to the Trinity Church in New York City and in England that the church was not in legal possession of its holdings in New York City, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Elks To Acquire Spanish Main

Big Spring Elks Lodge members voted last night to purchase the former Spanish Main building and property as its new lodge home.

Following the local voting, the proposal has been submitted to the Grand Lodge for final approval. It is anticipated that final approval will be received from the Grand Lodge in approximately one month.

The Spanish Main property is located at 601 Marcy Drive at the corner of Goliad and FM 700 south bypass.

A certain amount of remodeling will have to be done, but it is possible that the Elks will be in their new lodge building before the end of the year.

Prior to this time, Big Spring Elks Lodge 1386 has rented quarters in the Crawford Hotel for the past 16 years. One of the largest regular meeting attendances in many months was recorded Tuesday.

Duo Charged With Fraud

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — William C. Carr of Vidor, Tex., and Velma Wilson of Algiers, La., are accused by the government of obtaining $49,000 from more than 300 persons by fraud.

Federal grand jurors levelled the charges in a 60-count indictment returned Tuesday. It said the scheme was based on claims to the property titles to valuable holdings of old Trinity Church in New York City.

Victims were bilked of a few dollars to thousands, the indictment alleged, in New Orleans, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Missouri and Texas.

Hospital Gets A Set Of Drums

A presentation of drums to the Big Spring State Hospital by Ace Ball and his American Legion Band will be made tonight at the weekly dance in the Allred Auditorium.

Mrs. Ennis Cochran, volunteer coordinator, said that the drums were valued at upwards of $250, and the Legion had held two dances to raise the money to purchase the set.

The drums will be a permanent part of the hospital's music department and will be used weekly by Ball and his band. The set is available for other hospital use, Mrs. Cochran said.

Percy Admits Sidestepping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. elect Charles H. Percy says he has no favorite now for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

The Illinois Republican declined to say at a jammed news conference Tuesday whether he thinks Michigan Gov. George Romney or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is in the lead now.

Pressed on this point, Percy said frankly that "if it looks to you like I'm sidestepping and ducking that question, you're absolutely right."

He said it made no sense to line up behind any man "before you have a single announced candidate and before you know where some of those candidates stand."

Pressed on this point, Percy said frankly that "if it looks to you like I'm sidestepping and ducking that question, you're absolutely right."

He said it made no sense to line up behind any man "before you have a single announced candidate and before you know where some of those candidates stand."

He answered "yes" when asked whether a man who didn't support the 1964 GOP presidential nominee could be the 1968 standard-bearer.

Barry Goldwater has predicted that no one who didn't back him two years ago will get the nod. Romney didn't back Goldwater, although he contends he campaigned for the Republican party.

The chairman of the House Republican Conference, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, told an AP interviewer today he thinks Romney now is the frontrunner for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination. He said he had considered Nixon as the frontrunner before the Nov. 8 elections.

At his news conference Percy displayed something of a lack of togetherness with the pronouncements that have been coming out of the Puerto Rico meeting between Romney and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The senator-elect said he was confused by all the talk on Rockefeller's part about a Republican "consensus" and on Romney's about the need for GOP leadership. He said, in effect, that Rockefeller has a perfect right to promote Romney if he chooses. But he made it clear he wasn't at this point.

Robbers Run Gas Station

NEW YORK (AP) — Three bandits tied up a gas station manager and his assistant, police said, locked them in a

The robbers apparently fled when business peered out at the station in Long Island City, Queens, police said.

The bidding:
 West 3 Pass North Pass East 6 South 6 Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠ West's preemptive opening bid of three spades made it difficult for his opponents to probe for their best contract. Altho North's holding fully warrants a take-out double, he would have preferred to have a fourth heart.

South's hand was much too strong to merely contract for game and since a scientific exploration could not be inaugurated at such an advanced level, he decided to gamble out—a slam by proceeding directly to six hearts.

West opened the king of spades and South won the trick in his hand with the ace. The anemic trump holding in the dummy was a distinct disappointment to the declarer. He would gladly have traded North's queen of hearts.

Inasmuch as declarer can discard his small spades on North's diamond honors, South's sole concern was to limit his loss in the trump suit to one trick. The normal procedure with nine cards, is to play the ace and then lead up to the jack. If the suit is divided evenly, or if East holds a singleton king or queen, the defense wins only one trick.

West's preemptive bid indicated that he probably had a seven card spade suit, which made it unlikely that he held three hearts. In fact, of the two defenders, he was the one more likely to be short in that suit. South therefore decided to make an unorthodox play in trumps which might improve his prospects if West had a heart honor.

The North hand was entered by ruffing a spade and the jack of hearts was led. Thinking that declarer was about to take a finesse, East covered with the king. South played the ace and West dropped the queen. A diamond put dummy in again, a second diamond honor was cashed permitting declarer to sluff his remaining spade and another heart was led. East put up the ten but this was his only trick because South drew the eight of hearts with the nine when he regained the lead and claimed the rest.

Perhaps East should not have covered the jack of hearts, particularly since the trump suit appeared to offer the only prospect for the defense to score any tricks—however, declarer earns our praise for a well-calculated play. Observe that, if West's lone heart is the ten, then the jack is the only lead that will enable South legitimately to limit his loss in the trump suit to one trick.

TEXAN PROMOTES CRAZE

Britons Go Western

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — If more evidence is needed that this is the world's craziest capital, then what about the new boutique selling cowboy clothes to Londoners?

Situated on busy Oxford Street, it is, at least, in the West End. In London's West End are most of the capital's department stores, smart shops, art galleries, theaters and restaurants.

But really, broncobuster loggery for the males of a nation more accustomed to derby hats, striped pants, and more lately to stove-pipe trousers, Beate haircuts and miniskirts?

SO MASCULINE
"This Western style will catch on all over the country," said the owner of the new trading post, "and I prophesy it will really last. You see, it's all so masculine."

The proprietor, John Michael, also an originator of Carnaby Street gear, added: "It makes a man look a man and gives a woman a chance to be feminine again."

Commenting on a current craze for things Western among Britons — which goes deeper than clothes — The Times said it was a real cult, adding: "These grown men, all with jobs around London, have a fantas world into which they ride at weekends. They are comparatively old hands in the Western cult, which is beginning to take hold, after sweeping through America, Germany and France."

Thanksgiving Day Won't Be Frosty

By The Associated Press

Thanksgiving Day promises to be anything but frosty in Texas.

Almost summery weather held sway in most sections today and an approaching cool front promised to have little effect.

Temperatures near dawn sank to 38 degrees at Dalhart and 43 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. On the coast, Galveston's reading at the same hour was 69.

Top marks of a dry and windy Tuesday afternoon hit 85 at Childress and 86 at Laredo and Presidio. The coolest spots were Dalhart, El Paso and Galveston with highs of 74.

But the new Western store, called The Westerner, is really catering to Britons who want to dress up like cowboys whether they get no farther west than London's West End.

Helping The Westerner get started is Danny Arnold, who describes himself as a deputy sheriff of Bexar County, Tex. On the side he tours Britain with a Western vaudeville act. Deputy Danny told a posse of potential customers: "All those legendary guys like Wild Bill Hickok didn't get a chance to wear clothes like these."

At these prices, deputy? Jeans — $11.20 a pair. Hats — from $16.50 to $28. Boots — $29.40.

Turkey Becomes Walrus In Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Only in Alaska could a turkey become a walrus.

That happens today when Turkey Tom, all 28 gobbling pounds of him, is inducted into the Order of the Alaska Walrus. It started when some soldiers at Ft. Wainwright discovered there wasn't a live turkey north of the Alaska mountain range. They had one flown in by jet Tuesday night and it was greeted by the mayor and all sorts of dignitaries. Tom eventually will become a resident of a zoo at next summer's centennial site here. The turkey's escort on his round of festivities is Pfc. Noel Bird.

Community's Thanksgiving Rites Set At Webb Chapel

The community Thanksgiving Day service, an annual effort by the Big Spring Pastors Association, will begin at 9:45 a.m. Thursday at the Webb AFB chapel, with Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming, wing chaplain, bringing the Thanksgiving Day message.

Chaplain Deming's topic will be "Food and Gladness." The public is encouraged to attend the services, which will be brief.

Mrs. John Birdwell, chapel organist, will present the special music for the service. The Rev. Clyde Caselton, pastor of the Highland Church of God, will offer the invocation and benediction. Scripture reading and prayer will be by the Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

J. Arnold Marshall, mayor of Big Spring, will read Lyndon B. Johnson's presidential proclamation for Thanksgiving Day. Also having a part in the service will be Col. Chester Butcher, wing commander, Webb AFB, the a cappella choir from Big Spring High School, and members of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club, who will serve as ushers.

This is the first time that the services have been held at the Webb AFB chapel. Base personnel and Howard County residents are invited to attend.

Agents Probe Jail Death

WETUMPKA, Ala. (AP) — State and federal agents have entered the investigation of the death of James Earl Motley, whose body was carried from the Elmore County jail Sunday.

Sheriff Lester Holley says he is awaiting the outcome of an autopsy he ordered to determine how the Wetumpka Negro died.

Companions of the dead man claim he was beaten by an officer when he refused to be arrested.

Sheriff Holley said Tuesday night that without the state toxicologist's report on the autopsy, it isn't known whether Motley, 27, "died of natural causes or whether foul play was involved."

The FBI said Tuesday that it was investigating a complaint to the Justice Department stemming from Motley's death.

Sheriff Holley said Motley was arrested Sunday on charges of highway drunkenness and resisting arrest.

An employee of a Wetumpka funeral home, Clancey Murkison, said he picked up Motley's body at the jail Sunday. He said the body was covered with blood which appeared to be several hours old.

Youth 'Kidnaps' Pretty Actress

LONDON (AP) — A burly youth barged on to the stage of London's Phoenix Theater during final curtain calls Tuesday night, threw actress Juliet Mills over his shoulder and exited with his pretty burden kicking and struggling.

The audience half filling the 2,338-seat house gasped. The theater manager called the police.

Wearing an Edwardian gown and elaborate blonde wig for the leading role in Oscar Wilde's comedy "Lady Windermere's Fan," Miss Mills was carried to a waiting car and driven away. Detectives found the 26-year-old actress, daughter of movie star John Mills, drinking in a pub with her kidnapers. They said they were students trying to raise money for charity.

Miss Mills' husband, American songwriter Russell Alquist, arrived with a ransom of $28. A police spokesman said, "We will take no action unless formal complaint is made by Miss Mills."

More Time Given Cotton Producers In Referendum

Producers of upland cotton who voted Dec. 5-9 to determine whether a research and promotion order should be issued for upland cotton have been allotted additional time in which to establish their production interest, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

Officials of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said a farmer with additional production in a county or state other than the county in which he is eligible to vote must establish that interest with his county ASCS office in order for that production to be considered. He now has until the expiration of the referendum, Dec. 9, to accomplish this. Before this action he was required to establish his interest in other farms prior to the beginning of the referendum, Dec. 5.

This is not a requirement for voting, C&MS officials ex-

Steers Rip 'Dogs In Cage Opener

PLAINVIEW — Big Spring's team got off to a rocketing start in basketball here Tuesday night, defeating Plainview by a score of 60-49.

The Longhorns play their first home game Friday night at 8 o'clock, at which time they host Lubbock High.

As expected, Robert Jackson led the Steers to victory. He scored the first 15 points Big Spring counted and went on to

They Call Him 'Big Play Jerry'

The Associated Press has named Jerry Levis of the Southern Methodist Mustangs as the player of the week in the college ranks. Levis returned a kick-off 100 yards against Baylor in helping SMU win 24-22. With the win, SMU is in line for a Cotton Bowl invitation. (AP WIREPHOTO)

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Cleveland Williams, following his ill-starred fight with Cassius Clay in Houston last week, said he never did have any appetite for boxing, from the beginning.

And some of those who saw the bout said Williams pitched the first no-hitter ever seen in the Astrodome. He never once landed a solid lick in a bout that went seven minutes and eight seconds.

Average age of the participants in this year's ABC (bowling) tournament at Rochester, N.Y., was 44.5 years. And Mr. Average had been bowling an average of 19.9 years and had a 181.6 norm.

One of the game officials in the recent freshman contest between Texas Tech and Texas A&M at Midland was Jimmy Ray Smith of Big Spring.

The 1966 Coahoma Bulldogs didn't hit their peak in football until November came on and, by then, it was too late to do anything about lengthening the season. All the charges of Bernie Hagins could do was humiliate champion-to-be Seagraves and rout O'Donnell.

The Bulldogs wound up reasoning they were the best team in District 5-A and had every right to think so, in view of their fast run down the stretch.

The Bulldogs should be able to grapple with the giants next year. They lose only five letter winners from this year's 4-6 club and some of their most reliable talent will be returning.

The Coahoma fans have every right to be chanting: "Wait 'til next year!"

When Texas Aggie mentor Gene Stallings was an assistant to Bear Bryant at Alabama, he tried to recruit Steve Spurrier. Spurrier wound up at the University of Florida, where he became one of the all-time greats.

The Chicago Bears of the NFL have never gotten the mileage out of ex-Baylor star Ronnie Bull that he hoped to get.

Bull departed the Southwest Conference with the glossiest of reputations as a ball carrier but has rarely been able to come up with the big play for George Halas' team. He's good enough to stick but not good enough to be outstanding.

Joe Bunch, Big Spring's Digger Odell, was a football back in his salad days at Corsicana High School.

Joe tore ligaments loose in one knee his junior year. His doctor took a look at the damaged leg and decided not to operate.

He was back playing the game the following fall.

Bunch still gets a tremendous bang out of football, especially the pro kind. His only problem: He needs two television sets to watch both leagues.

Benny Burleson, the young Midland amateur who has teamed with Wendy Green to dominate the Big Spring Golf Open the past two years, recently toured the Hogan Park course in Midland in a record 63.

He was out in 30 and came home in 33 to beat the old record held by Johnny Warren by a stroke.

Fight Camps In Wrangle At Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Managers of the principals in next Monday night's world's welterweight title fight rowed today over spying charges and the boxes—champion Curtis Cokes and challenger Jean Josselin of France—didn't seem to be enjoying the verbal fisticuffs.

Josselin did not make any statement since he does not speak English but Cokes observed that "This is a world's championship fight but we're not acting like people in a world's championship fight."

At a press party Tuesday night, George Kanter, the American representative for Josselin, said Doug Lord, manager of Cokes, had his "spies" over watching Josselin but "he wouldn't let me in to see Cokes although there had been an agreement."

Kanter also said Lord had furnished some very poor sparmates for Josselin.

Lord said he had done no such thing, that he had furnished the best sparmates he could find "outside of my own stable," and that there never had been an agreement for the two camps to look over each other's fighters anyway.

Norm Levinson, promoter for the Dallas All Sports Association, was inclined to side with Lord. But it was all rather confusing and when a sports writer asked "Is this on the level or is it just a publicity stunt?" Levinson said emphatically that it certainly was not a publicity stunt.

Kanter said he thought Josselin would "be too busy and beat Cokes" and Cokes, when asked his opinion, said yawningly, "How many tickets have been sold?"

Ramon Lucas, Josselin's manager, apparently tried to placate the warring parties when he said through an interpreter that he appreciated the kind treatment his party had received in Dallas and "it will be a good fight."

Lord intimated that he would like to add a four-rounder to the card matching him and Kanter.

But Levinson said ticket sales were going very good, with more than $25,000 already in the till and indications that the gate would be around $80,000 at Memorial Auditorium, where 10,500 can be seated.

Thus, a Lord-Kanter fight would not be needed anyway.

Josselin, 26, is from Besancon, France, near the Switzerland border. He has had 44 pro fights, won 42, 27 by knockouts. He beat Brian Curvis, who had beaten Jose Stable, who had beaten Cokes.

"But that was my first TV fight and I was pretty nervous," said the 29-year-old Cokes. "I should have won it."

Cokes has a record of 46 victories, eight losses and two draws.

Dallas Cowboys Given Edge In Brown Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Thanksgiving Day will be one long blur of football on many television screens with three games due to be beamed across the nation on the holiday.

Cleveland and Dallas meet in the Cotton Bowl in a game that should go a long way toward determining the Eastern Conference winner in the National Football League. The Cowboys, tied with St. Louis for the lead, need to reverse the result of their first meeting with the Browns to stay out front.

Buffalo needs a win at Oakland to maintain the pace in the Eastern Division of the American Football League, and the Raiders can't afford to stumble if they want to maintain any hope of catching Kansas City.

Coahoma Batters Roscoe, 54-45

COAHOMA — Bill Easterling's Coahoma Bulldogs shocked Roscoe in a basketball exhibition here Tuesday night, winning by a score of 54-45, after a slow start.

The win was the third in a row for the Bulldogs and served to set the stage for a struggle with top-rated Stanton here next Tuesday night.

Roscoe had most of its talent back from last season and looked every inch the championship contender in the early stages. The Plowboys built up a 17-10 advantage in the opening period before Coahoma untracked.

Larry McKinney had a lot to do with the victory, scoring 28 points. Jim Rayburn collected 17 for Roscoe.

In the girls' game, Coahoma's margin of victory was

Bearkats Win Over Dragons

GARDEN CITY — Garden City outlasted Flower Grove, 39-37, in a boys' basketball game here Tuesday night.

The Dragons came from far back to go ahead of the Bearkats by three points in the fourth period but Garden City staged a counter-rally and eyed through to success.

Larry Schaefer led the Bearkat surge with 13 points while Neil McMorries had ten for the Dragons.

In the girls' game, powerful Garden City won by the score of 62-41. Cindy Dykes tallied 33 points for Flower Grove while Brenda Jacob had 21 for Garden City.

GARDEN CITY (41) — Carol Jacob 3-2-4; Brenda Jacob 9-3-21; Susan Lopez 4-3-11; Dana West 2-1-5. Totals 17-3-41.

FLOWER GROVE (37) — Mary Prybylo 4-4-11; Gill 1-0-2. Totals 22-18-62.

Sports fans can see the 1966 All-America football team as a unit when the nation's top players, to be selected by the American Football Coaches Association, appear on the Ed Sullivan Show Sunday (7:00-8:00 p.m. Big Spring time) on the CBS television network. Local outlet for CBS is KWAB Channel 4.

NIMROD'S KILL NOTEWORTHY

Tom Gamble, 18-year-old son of CWO and Mrs. Rupert D. Gamble of 1887 Settles St., hit what amounted to hunting's Daily Double when he shot his first deer near Mason last week.

A bullet from young Gamble's rifle killed two deer, one standing behind the other, striking both in the neck.

Hunting with Tom at the time were Russell Hoover, Don Williams and Robin Hoover, who were not as fortunate as young Gamble. They returned home empty handed.

Tom went on his first hunting trip last year but failed to kill anything. He made up for it in a hurry this year.

The Steers hit 38 per cent of their shots from the court the first half and 48 per cent the final two periods for an overall mark of 43 per cent. In all, the Longhorns connected on 23 of 55 field goal chances.

Jackson grabbed off 16 rebounds for Big Spring and otherwise was a terror on defense. Robert Green followed with 12 rebounds.

Plainview won both the B and C games. The Bullpups' margin in the B contest was 53-46 and the Shortorns showed a lot of promise, considering the fact that most of them had only recently come over from football practice. James Newman led the Big Spring scorers in that one with 17 points.

In the C game, Plainview's margin of victory was 48-26. James Brown paced the Big Springers with ten points.

Sands Girls Win, 42-24

IRA — The Sands High School girls won their fourth basketball decision in five starts by turning back Ira, 42-24, here Tuesday night.

The Sands B team set the pattern by winning the opener, 24-15, and remain unbeaten in four starts. In that one, Lana Lloyd had eight points, Sandy Sikes and Sue Oaks six each for the winners while Joan Coleman, Aurora Robles and Lynn Massingill performed ably on defense. Caroline Rogers tallied ten points for Ira.

In a team action, the Mustangs had three girls in double figures, Kay Sample leading the way with 17 points.

So salty was the Sands defense, the Bulldogs could make only three field goals. Playing on defense for Sands were Lanelle Etchison, Sara Bledsoe, Londa Kemp and Brenda Ingram. Etchison picked off nine cars, Bledsoe eight.

Brat Named NFL's Best

NEW YORK (AP) — Zeke Bratkowski is the super sub of the National Football League. The 35-year-old veteran of 12 pro seasons usually sits on the bench while Bart Starr does his stuff for the Green Bay Packers. Sometimes Vince Lombardi lets him work out the kinks in his arm by cavorting with the million-dollar twins, Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, after a game is all locked up. In two games, Brat didn't throw a pass. In two others, he threw a total of eight. But last Sunday, Starr suffered a pulled hamstring in the second period. Lombardi had to fall back on Bratkowski, the man who bailed him out last year after Starr was injured on the first play of the tie playoff game. Bratkowski was equal to the challenge. He completed 14 of 25 for 187 yards and the two Packers touchdowns of a 13-6 victory over their old rivals, the Chicago Bears. One score came on a six-yard pitch to Carroll Dale and the other on a 33-yard toss to Dale in the final period. "I try to prepare myself just like Bart so there isn't any big adjustment to be made," said Bratkowski. As a result of this pressure job, Bratkowski has been named by The Associated Press as the Offensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Cadets, Texas Given Edge In Big Games

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Army will beat Navy, Alabama will polish off both Southern Mississippi and Auburn and Notre Dame will recover from its bruising battle with Michigan State in time to defeat Southern California.

Those are the final forecasts of the season. Army over Navy: This game always is the last half of the two-part football schedules at the two service academies. All the preceding games are merely practice sessions in preparation for this one.

Florida over Miami: Steve Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winner, will pierce the Hurricanes' outstanding defense in his final scheduled appearance as a Gator. It is a Saturday afternoon affair.

Texas over Texas A&M: It has been a sad year for both, but the Aggies will be even sadder as they devour their turkey Thursday.

Nebraska over Oklahoma: The Huskers already have won their fourth straight Big Eight crown, and they have the talent to scalp the Sooners and finish the year unbeaten. It, too, is a Thursday game.

Sports Gadfly Batters Game

PARIS (AP) — Cheer up, you golf duffers. James H. Van Alen is coming to your rescue. Van Alen, a confessed duffer, has a plan to take the pain out of sliced drives (he eliminates them), the frustration out of topped second shots (he gives you another chance) and the agony out of misjudged long putts (you can try again). It's strictly up to you if you want to adopt his system.

Van Alen is an incurable sports gadfly. For 10 years he has been trying to "make sense out of nonsense" in the tennis scoring system. He has proposed using a 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 scoring system. As in the table tennis system and playing sets that finish when the leader gets 21 or 31 points.

Now he has turned his rule-juggling inventiveness to golf. Van Alen's complaint against golf is that "90 per cent of those who play at golf can't break 100 without cheating." This, he contends, leads to excruciating frustrations, unseemly language and bleeding ulcers.

Browns Aim Great Runners At Dallas

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

While most of the country sits back and digests that big Thanksgiving Day turkey, Bob Lilly and the rest of the Dallas Cowboys' defensive line will try to gobble up Cleveland's twin running terrors: Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green.

Dallas, tied for the National Football League's Eastern Conference lead with St. Louis, hosts the third-place Browns in the key clash of a three-game holiday pro football schedule. In another NFL game, San Francisco plays at Detroit. In the American League, Buffalo visits Oakland.

Lilly is the 6-foot-5, 255-pound tackle who anchors the Cowboys' defensive line. Last Sunday he lowered the boom four times on Pittsburgh quarterback Ron Smith as the Cowboys beat the Steelers 20-7.

On Thursday Lilly will have to concern himself not only with Frank Ryan, Cleveland's fine quarterback, but also with Kelly and Green, who've given the Browns a potent running attack.

Kelly rushed for 100 yards in Cleveland's 14-3 victory over Washington last week and took the NFL lead. He has gained 830 yards in 157 attempts and scored 10 touchdowns. Green is fourth in rushing with 640 yards in 117 attempts.

San Francisco will try to bounce back from a tough 35-34 loss to Philadelphia but the 49ers will have to find a defense for the NFL's newest place kicking sensation, Garo Yepremian, the left-footed soccer-type Cypriot kicker, booted two field goals as the

Odessa Winner

ODESSA — Odessa High man-handled Andrews, 63-56, in a basketball game here Tuesday night. Gene Johnson led the Bronchos with 23 points.

Steve Spurrier Heisman Winner

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Steve Spurrier was on the practice field Tuesday doing calisthenics with his Florida teammates less than two hours after he learned he won the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1966.

"There's not much chance to celebrate," Spurrier told newsmen at a hastily arranged press conference.

"We've got Miami to think about, and you can't let up before a game like that," he said. Spurrier was as poised before the cameras and floodlights and endless questions as he has been on the Saturdays he has led the Gators from behind to nearly unbelievable victories.

"It was certainly a thrill," he admitted. "The margin I won it by shocked me a little, though," he said. "Florida didn't play on television this season and we were not seen over the country."

He got 433 of the 869 first-place votes from the nation's sports writers and a total of 1,679 points. Second-place Bob Griese of Purdue had 184 firsts and 816 points.

Next in points were Nick

Lions upset Baltimore 20-14 last Sunday.

Buffalo, leading the AFL's Eastern Division by a full game, can put more distance between itself and pursuing Boston and New York.

But the Bills will have a battle on their hands against the Raiders, who've won six of their last seven and jumped into second place in the Western Division.

The other pro teams play Sunday. In the National League, Atlanta is at Chicago. Green Bay visits Minnesota, Los Angeles takes on Baltimore, New York is at Washington and Pittsburgh takes on St. Louis.

In the American League, New York entertains Kansas City, San Diego is at Denver and Boston plays at Miami.

Warrant Out For Suspect

HOUSTON (AP) — A warrant was out today for the arrest of 27-year-old Charles H. Taylor, charged in Mexico City with murdering his late wife's ex-husband.

At the request of U.S. Atty. Morton Susman, U.S. Dist. Judge Ben. C. Connally issued the arrest order Tuesday. It is a preliminary to an extradition hearing in the case, once Mexico readies papers against Taylor.

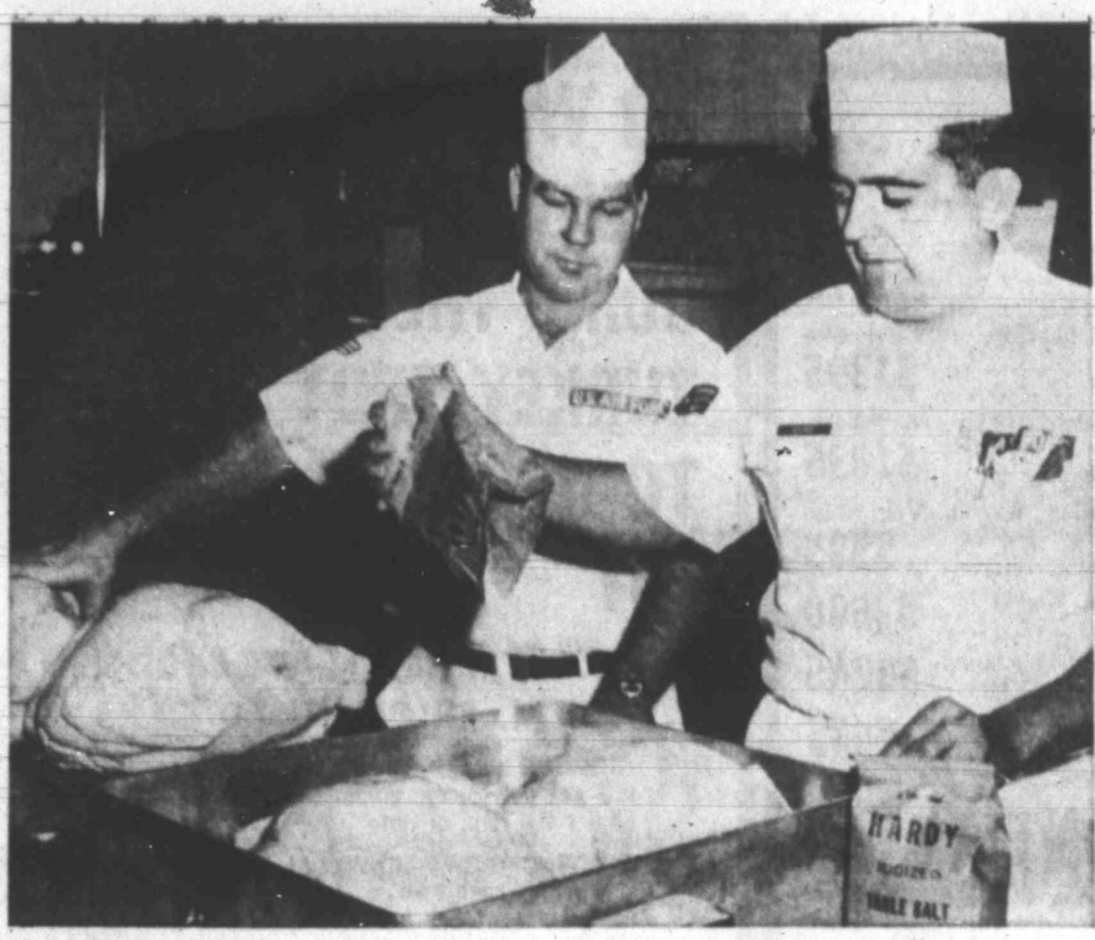

A marshal sent to arrest Taylor, who is virtually blind, found Taylor's last known home empty and boarded up.

His lawyer, Percy Foreman, was nursing a cold and turned aside reporters' questions about Taylor's whereabouts.

Except to say she is safe with an American family, Foreman was silent also on the whereabouts of the daughter Taylor's wife bore by her former husband, Luis Fernando Legarde.

The body of Legarde was found stuffed in a car trunk Oct. 12 in a swampy area near Mexico City. Mexican authorities charged Mr. and Mrs. Taylor with the slaying.

Houston police arrested Taylor when he apparently attempted suicide by smashing through a window. His wife died shortly afterward from an overdose of drugs.

Easy On The Salt, Fellas

Thanksgiving Recipe: Start With Half A Ton Of Turkey

Howard County housewives would probably shudder at the thought of roasting young Tom Turkey for 1,500 guests.

But at Webb Air Force Base, a score or so of cooks and bakers in Webb's dining halls think nothing of it.

The most "spectacular" meal in Howard County Thanksgiving Day will be served to the men at Webb, their families and friends shortly after noon Thursday. The dining halls, Buildings 229 and 240, have been bustling since early in the week, as preparations were completed for the Thanksgiving feast.

Now that all the birds are unwrapped, cleaned and on the table, remove giblets from turkeys. Set aside for gravy.

After 200 pounds of corn bread dressing have been prepared, spoon it into the neck and body cavities. Insert about 225 poultry pins, at regular intervals, to draw body openings together. With a long piece of twine, lace cavities closed, boot-lace fashion; tie with knot.

The turkey is then ready for its sojourn in a 325-degree oven — now on to the rest of the meal.

ALL THE TRIMMINGS
Shrimp cocktail supreme is the appetizer — 130 pounds of shrimp must be used. Vegetables must include 338 pounds of potatoes, 170 large cans of sweet potatoes and 170 pounds of mixed green vegetables.

The assorted relish tray will include 15 quarts of green olives, 30 large cans of ripe olives, 60 pounds of pickles and 45 pounds of fresh radishes.

The meal will require at least 3,000 Parker House rolls and 121 pounds of butter to spread on them.

For dessert plan on 75 mince-meat pies, 75 pumpkin pies, 2 1/2 gallons of whipped cream, 225 pounds of fresh fruits and a large selection of assorted nuts.

Add to that 60 gallons of iced tea, 30 gallons of coffee and 90 gallons of milk.

Serving hours will be noon until 4 p.m. and all base personnel, their families and friends, are invited.

EVEN THE PRISONERS
Howard County jail inmates will celebrate Thanksgiving Day also with a big meal in the traditional pattern and will also enjoy visits from friends and relatives Thursday afternoon, Sheriff A. N. Standard has said.

The jail cook is busy shaping up the menus for the dinner.

Roast turkey, with dressing and giblet gravy, will be the piece de resistance. Backing up the traditional Thanksgiving Day bird will be cranberry sauce, potatoes, peas and coffee. The dessert? Pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

Dinner is to be served at 1:30 p.m. which is earlier than the usual midday meal. There are about 15 inmates in the jail at this time.

'Green Berets' To Star Wayne

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — No major movie has been made about the conflict in Viet Nam. Now the Wayne family aims to correct that condition.

Universal Pictures has announced the forthcoming production of "Green Berets," to star John Wayne with Michael Wayne as producer. Michael is the handsome 31-year-old son of John and president of Batjac Productions, which comprises the Wayne empire.

The younger Wayne reported on the Viet Nam film:
"The story is based on the Robin Moore book which has sold three million copies and created a great deal of controversy. At first we had heard that David Wolper had bought the novel, so we lost interest. But then we found out that Wolper had dropped his option, and we started negotiations to buy it."

TWO REASONS
"The Green Berets" seemed ideal for two reasons: 1. It is a subject that is controversial and topical — something that is on everyone's mind; 2. This is a new kind of war with a variety of new-fangled weapons that have never been shown in a movie before. The whole thing seemed to offer an excellent vehicle for my father and two other top stars."

The Waynes hired as writer James Lee Barrett, who had written the hard-hitting "The D.I." for Jack Webb and "Shenandoah," last year's Civil War film with James Stewart. The project was taken up with the Pentagon, since the film makers would need use of troops and equipment to create a convincing picture of the Viet war.

VIET TERRAIN
"They were extremely cooperative," said Mike Wayne of the Washington in the project and were happy that it was in the hands of responsible people."

Producer Wayne said he hoped to get the film into production early in 1967. It would be made mostly on location, beginning at Ft. Bragg with training of the Special Forces and continuing to a simulation of the Viet Nam terrain, the original being too hazardous for film making. Wayne suggested the Philippines or Panama might do.

The two other stars? Wayne's current hope: Lee Marvin and Steve McQueen.

Dead GI Aids Pals
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A young, wealthy GI killed in Viet Nam left part of his $100,000-plus inheritance to two fellow soldiers because he felt they needed it.

Edward M. McIlvain Jr., 21, an Army Special Forces trooper, left $15,000 each to two buddies who had served with him at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

McIlvain, member of a socially prominent family, was killed by shrapnel while riding in a Jeep in Viet Nam last Oct. 18.

"We don't know anything about his two soldier friends," George M. Cheston, the dead GI's stepfather, said after the bequests were made public Tuesday.

The two soldiers are Francis Roger Murray and Ban K. Roberts, both now in Viet Nam.

In an April 6 codicil to his will, McIlvain said he wanted the soldiers to get the money if he died "on or before July 6, 1967."

McIlvain's wish became known when his will was filed for probate in Norristown, Pa. Officials of a Philadelphia bank said McIlvain's estate could be worth more than $100,000. They said the two GIs have been told of the bequests.

McIlvain lived in Wynnewood, Pa., a fashionable Philadelphia suburb.

The youth enlisted in October 1964 and went to Viet Nam last April.

Smithsonian Is Beginning New Venture
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution, a treasure house of relics, is embarked on a new venture which is intended to have impact on cities and small towns throughout the nation.

The program is keyed to museums and how they can pay off in the far-reaching benefits of stimulating educational growth and the immediate benefits of producing income for towns and cities.

Frank A. Taylor, director of the United States National Museum of the Smithsonian Institution, says the Smithsonian is intensifying cooperation with more than 5,000 existing museums, and also is engaged in training curators and other museum workers.

'NATION'S ATTIC'
The 89th Congress passed, and President Johnson signed, legislation providing for a million-dollar, four-year start on the program. The underlying aims are to help improve present museums and to encourage communities which do not have them, to start now on setting them up.

The Smithsonian, top Washington attraction for tourists and scholars, is a center of study that in recent years has changed from being known as "the nation's attic" to "the nation's showplace."

More than 10 million visitors pass through the Smithsonian each year.

Tourists can be drawn to small museums, too, Taylor said.

"Tourism is a big economic boon to any community and museums have frequently helped the economy of their areas far beyond any relationship to the modest support given them," he says.

OFFERS REALITY
"Twice in recent weeks, I have heard it said that businesses seeking locations for new plants are quite concerned about the cultural climate," Taylor says.

As for helping education, Taylor says, "the museum, no matter how small, offers reality, which is eagerly sought by young, active-minded people."

"The textbook, radio and television are saturating the student with second-hand interpretations and someone else's impressions. He must be given the opportunity to form his own impressions of reality. These are the words of educators."

The legislation behind the new Smithsonian cooperative program permits the support of students enrolled in schools and colleges in taking cooperative courses in museums and makes possible internships for people working in museums who may require work training in well-equipped and well-staffed museums.

"Skilled museum curators would instruct and share their skills with young people making careers of museum work," Taylor says.
