Storms Ease Up After Dumping Up To 48 Inches Of Snow

The coldest weather of the season chilled the East on Saturday while some sections dug out from heavy snow. Across the continent, a Pacific storm hurled winds and rain at Southern California, flooding some streets, stalling cars and setting off minor rock and mud slides.

In between, plain, piercing cold kept Christmas shoppers moving at a fast pace. State police reported all main roads were open again in snow-belts in western and northern New York.

PUPILS MAROONED
 More than 300 pupils at the Copenhagen (N.Y.) Central School left for their homes Saturday after being marooned by about four feet of snow piled up in Friday's storm.

Residents of the village near Watertown provided the shelter of their homes overnight to the youngsters, about 20 faculty members and several bus drivers.

New York City, with 17, and Washington, with 19, experienced their chilliest weather of the autumn.

A low of 10 above zero broke the record for Dec. 3 in Charleston, W.Va.

Ohio — where snow on the ground in the northeastern section of the state ranged up to 30 inches — marked down new lows for the date in at least eight cities. Among them were Dayton with zero, Akron with 2 and Cleveland with 7.

It was still snowing in Ashtabula County, Ohio, but the sheriff commented: "We got a lot of snow but no problems." All main roads were clear.

CITY DOUSED
 Rainfall measured 2.60 inches in Mt. Wilson, north of Los Angeles. The city was doused by 2.30 inches of rain raising the season total to 6.73.

Four traffic deaths were attributed in part to slippery streets and freeways.

A collision of two automobiles on an overpass slicked by frozen drizzle killed four persons near Denton, Tex.

NEW SNOWSTORM
 Early in the day, in the northeastern quarter of the country, the mercury shriveled to -7 in Holton, Maine, -6 in Zanesville, Ohio, -2 in Rockford, Ill., and zero in Montpelier, Vt.

The -4 in Lansing, Mich., set a new low for the date.

A new snowstorm kicked up in the Rocky Mountains. Missoula, Mont., had 4 inches of snow in six hours.

Wife Charged In Gun Death Of Ranchman

SEMINOLE — Mrs. Katie Whitaker, charged with murder with malice in the shotgun death of her husband, K. K. (Dick) Whitaker, 54, prominent Gaines County rancher, continued to remain in Seminole Memorial Hospital Saturday where she had been admitted for shock.

When she will be removed to the Gaines County jail or released on bond was not announced.

Mrs. Whitaker is alleged to have fired the shot which took the life of her husband on Wednesday. His body, was found beside his car at the Whitaker Ranch 18 miles east of Seminole.

A ranch hand found the body and called Sheriff Alton Montgomery. The car door was open and a shotgun was on the car seat. Sheriff Montgomery said that it was indicated that Whitaker was walking toward the car when the fatal shot was fired. The victim was fully clothed with the exception that he wore no shoes.

One shotgun blast had struck the man in the face.

Sheriff Montgomery, while saying that his investigation is not yet complete, said that the shooting seems to have come as a climax to a quarrel.

Services were held Saturday for the dead man in the First Baptist Church in Seminole.

Three San Angelo Residents Killed

BALLINGER, Tex. (AP) — Three San Angelo residents were killed Saturday in a two-car collision on U. S. 83 nine miles north of this West Central Texas community.

Dead were Lonnie Jones, 35, Mrs. Frankie Beasley and Mrs. Rosamie James. All were in a car driven by Jones.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Gins simply can't stay up with the tempo of the harvest, and if cotton trailers were available, they would be two weeks behind. As it is, the crop has produced 31,000 bales, with another 5,000 waiting to be ginned. Upwards of 20,000 more may be waiting in the field for strippers. The county average will be well above a bale to the acre, which is terrific for dry-land cotton.

If there is a city in the country which has felt the impact of the Viet Nam war more frequently than Big Spring, we could only sorrow the more for it. Last week word came of the death of Capt. John R. Humphrey, 35, co-pilot of a C-47 that crashed shortly after take-off near Saigon. His wife and two young sons, who live at 4210 Parkway, are left behind.

Off With The Coat

LBJ, Ordaz Renew Friendship Vows

CIUDAD ACUNA, Mexico (AP) — The Presidents of the United States and Mexico renewed Saturday the vows of friendship between their nations at a spot on the border symbolizing this spirit in name and in concrete.

They met this time to inspect the site where the two countries are building a gigantic $75-million international dam across the Rio Grande. The name of the dam is Amistad — the Mexican word for friendship.

The 6½-mile-long structure of earth and concrete lies 12 miles west of Ciudad Acuna and its sister city of Del Rio, Texas. It will control floods, provide irrigation and eventually produce power.

BEARHUGS
 With traditional abrazos — the Latin equivalent of bearhugs — Lyndon B. Johnson and Gustavo Diaz Ordaz exchanged greetings on the rickety bridge between the two cities.

It was a raw, damp, see-your-breath day. But the welcome for President Johnson was warm.

In the town Plaza of Ciudad Acuna, the two chief executives spoke from a platform glowing with the red, white and green of the Mexican national colors and the red, white and blue of the United States.

In his welcoming remarks, Diaz Ordaz voiced a hope that "the name, the dam, will turn into a symbol of the relations between our two countries."

Johnson called the dam "another link in the bridge of mutual trust, friendship and progress which unites our people."

SQUARE PACKED
 The two Presidents made their way down a corridor in a crowd of several thousand packing the Ciudad Acuna square to the bust of Benito Juarez, the Abraham Lincoln of Mexico. Johnson placed a wreath of golden leaves beneath the bust of Juarez.

From there it was off by helicopter to fly over the dam site and down to a neat construction town on the Mexico side for a barbecue under a tent.

The president and Mrs. Johnson flew from the LBJ ranch to Austin, Texas, late Saturday morning and switched to a larger plane for the 200-mile trip to Laughlin Air Force Base near Del Rio. They brought along Secretary of State Dean Rusk and a large party of American officials.

Viet Cong Mortar Attack Shakes Air Base Near Saigon

Nine Gls Hurt In Downtown Billet Blast

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed a mortar and small arms attack on Saigon's busy Tan Son Nhut Air Base early Sunday and followed swiftly by blasting a U.S. billet in downtown Saigon. U.S. officials disclosed meanwhile that a record eight U.S. planes were shot down in massive raids over North Viet Nam on Friday.

Nine U.S. Army soldiers were wounded in the downtown Saigon billet blast, none seriously, U.S. spokesmen said.

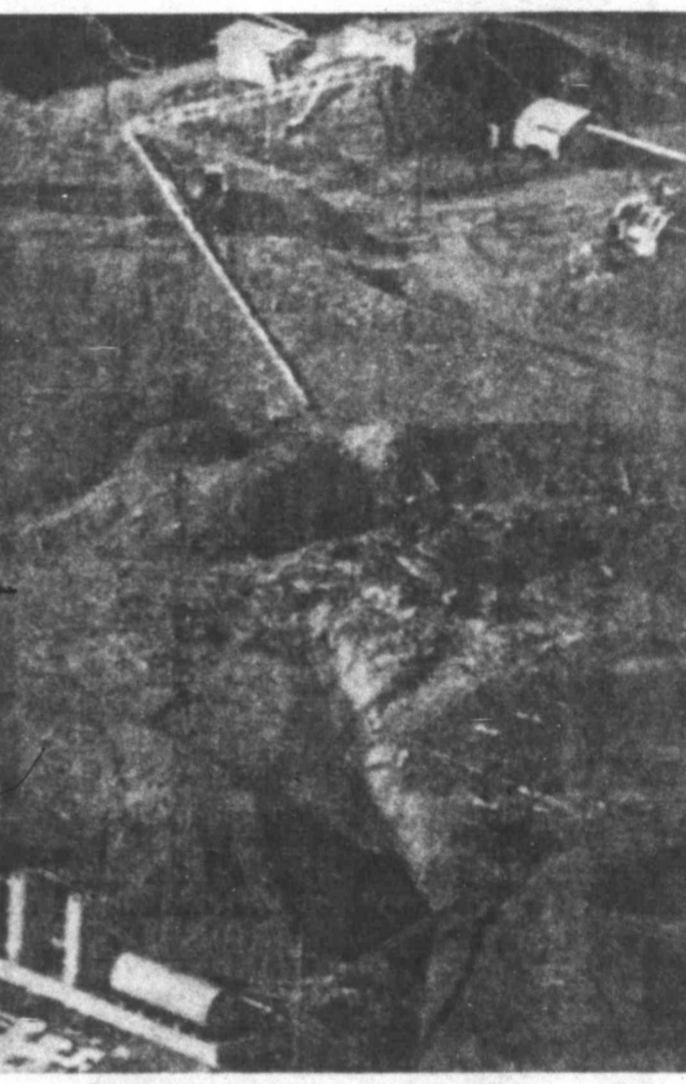

Spokesmen also said casualties and damage to aircraft and other equipment in separate Viet Cong airport attacks were light, but they did not elaborate.

13 PILOTS MISSING
 A disclosure that two more planes were lost Friday than originally reported raised the total to a record for a single day, with 13 pilots missing — also a record for a single day.

The two Viet Cong attacks in Saigon came after the massive U.S. air raids Friday near Hanoi that proved costly to both sides.

REDS CLAIM DOZEN
 Asked to comment on the timing of the Viet Cong attacks, a U.S. spokesman said they were not considered reprisals for the American air raids and that such attacks are planned days or even weeks ahead, down to minute details.

Nitroglycerine Blast

An explosion of four tons of nitroglycerine in an underground bunker (center) at a U.S. Powder Co. plant near Marion, Ill., was heard 25 miles away. One two-ton piece of concrete was hurled a quarter of a mile, a witness said. The plant was sealed off. Five men were treated at Terrin Hospital. One man was reported missing. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Kosygin Calls Viet Conflict Key Problem

PARIS (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Saturday called the Viet Nam conflict "the world's No. 1 problem," the main roadblock to good relations between Moscow and Washington.

Speaking and replying to questions at a luncheon of the French Diplomatic Press Association, the visiting Soviet leader called for a settlement of the Vietnamese war on the basis of the Hanoi and Viet Cong positions. This would mean a halt to American aerial bombardment of the North, withdrawal of American troops and eventual removal of the Saigon government.

Kosygin, on a nine-day official visit to France, said the Vietnamese conflict is the cause of many international problems. He said all mankind is extremely preoccupied by the continuing fight in Viet Nam, which must be ended as soon as possible.

Millionaire, Big Bride Traced To Trailer Park

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — A newlywed couple left Breckenridge, Tex., the 95-year-old millionaire and his hefty bride, Pearl Falls, at one point but had not been seen for several weeks until this weekend.

A newsman located the Birches in a trailer home near the downtown area with their trailer hitched to a 1958 sedan.

WON'T TALK
 Mrs. Birch refused to talk to visitors, Birch is ailing with a bad hip and is also nearly deaf, but at his Breckenridge hearing he appeared alert and content with his new wife.

California court-appointed guardians of Birch have been attempting to locate the couple for further court action.

SEES MORE CONSERVATIVE COMPLEXION IN THE NEW CONGRESS

'Great Society' Money Will Be Scarcer, Opines Tower

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of four articles based on an exclusive interview with Senator John Tower by Ed Wishcamper, editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, and made available to The Herald.)

By ED WISHCAMPER
WICHITA FALLS — A month before the 90th Congress convenes, Senator John Tower doesn't know "what the President could cook up that we didn't legislate on in the 89th." And that's just as well, for chances are dim Congress would be in a receptive mood for new spending, he indicated in an exclusive interview with this writer in his Wichita Falls home.

a more conservative complexion in the 90th Congress.

"Election of 47 new Republicans in the House," he said, "suggests probably a slowdown in the enactment of new Great Society measures, and curbs on spending."

Tower doubts any Great Society programs will be repealed, but money to finance them will be hard to come by, he says.

for the first year, $200 million to implement the program in the second year, and $500 million for the third year.

"Something tells me they're not going to get all that money from Congress," Tower said. (New legislation involving spending must clear Congress in two stages: first, the authorization; secondly, the appropriation. The big appropriations for the demonstration cities program are not yet made.)

Tower notes that the 47-seat Republican gain in the House actually means a vote spread of 94 from the 89th Congress, and the three-seat gain in the Senate provides a six-vote spread.

BY A FEW VOTES
 "This can be very influential in determining the outcome of issues," Tower observed. "In the Senate in the 89th Congress, often issues were decided on as few as three and four votes."

How influential the Republican gains can be was cited in the case of the proposal to repeal Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law, which now allows states to have right-to-work laws.

death knell to repealing 14-B in the 90th Congress."

The senator says any proposal to raise taxes by President Johnson "could be expected to receive extensive deliberation." He did not flatly forecast it would be defeated, but he says he has found a tax increase "is highly unpopular" with working salaried people.

RECESSION SIGNS
 Tower himself does not favor higher taxes. "A number of us can see recession straws in the wind, though Walter Heller (former chief economic advisor to the President) says he has not seen these straws," the senator commented.

He cited a slowdown in housing construction, and such corporate retrenchments as Humble canceling a $12 million expansion at Baytown, and Chrysler saying it would cut its non-production operating budget by $40 million.

Questioned on inflation, Tower is perplexed by what he calls "a dual phenomenon—the cost of living continues to go up, the buying power of the dollar declines while the cost of money goes up."

responsibility of Congress, "and in the final analysis self-discipline" must be manifest in Congress."

Since the election, Senator Tower said, "President Johnson has called congressional leaders of both parties to his ranch for conferences and said, 'Let's quit spending.' Of course, that is what Republicans have been advocating all along."

Tower said he shares generally the views of Michigan Rep. Gerald Ford, House Republican leader, who said that rather than obstructing and opposing Johnson proposals, the Republican

E. E. Long Retires Post As T&P Master Mechanic

By SAM BLACKBURN
 "The little round man" who has almost become a legend with the mechanics and machinists of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. in the past 43 years answered his last phone call Wednesday at the office, picked up the private belongings on his battered desk and signed out for the final time.

had reached retirement. A career as a railroader which he began in 1923 and never interrupted for two score and three years had terminated Long was no longer T&P's master mechanic on the run from El Paso to Fort Worth. He was now E. E. Long, retired railroader, active grandfather and a man with a lot of idle time on his hands.

in the T&P honored him with a king-sized farewell party at the Big Spring Country Club. Nice things were said about him. He was slapped on the back, congratulated, kidded, and made much of. Then his pals gave him a fancy camera, complete with film and other gadgets, and told him to start enjoying his well-earned idle time.

"LITTLE ROUND MAN" OF T&P RETIRES
 E. E. Long, 43-year veteran, ends career as railroader

MOVING
 The first thing that Long will do, he said, is move back to his home in Fort Worth. "Our house there has been waiting for us, all ready — even with the utilities in service — for three years," he said.

He and Mrs. Long have been living in an apartment at 1602B Lincoln during the most recent of several hitches he has served in Big Spring as a T&P executive.

Actually, Long is a Big Spring. He came here as a small boy from deep East Texas where he was born, back in 1905. His father, the late E. A. Long, was the first chief of police Big Spring had after the town had outgrown the city marshal status.

He and Mrs. Long have three sons—all of whom are railroaders. There are nine grandchildren waiting for Grandpa to get into action.

 Long began work as a railroader with the Big Spring section of the T&P in 1923. He started out as a machinist's helper. In 1931 he was sent to Fort Worth and in 1935 he was past the grade of machinist and rated a supervisor.

His next job with the line was night roundhouse foreman at Mineola. From there he was sent to Texarkana in 1940. He was soon back in Fort Worth and became master mechanic for the Western Division, a post he took over July 1, 1946. Two years later he was master mechanic for the Eastern Division, including the New Orleans area. A year later, he was back in Big Spring, again serving as master mechanic for the Western Division.

SHORT HITCH
 He served a short hitch in Marshall as shop superintendent and was called back to Fort Worth to take over as master mechanic for the entire line from El Paso to New Orleans. He filled this post from 1951 until February, 1963. Once again he was sent back here to take care of the Western Division, now dubbed the Rio Grande Division.

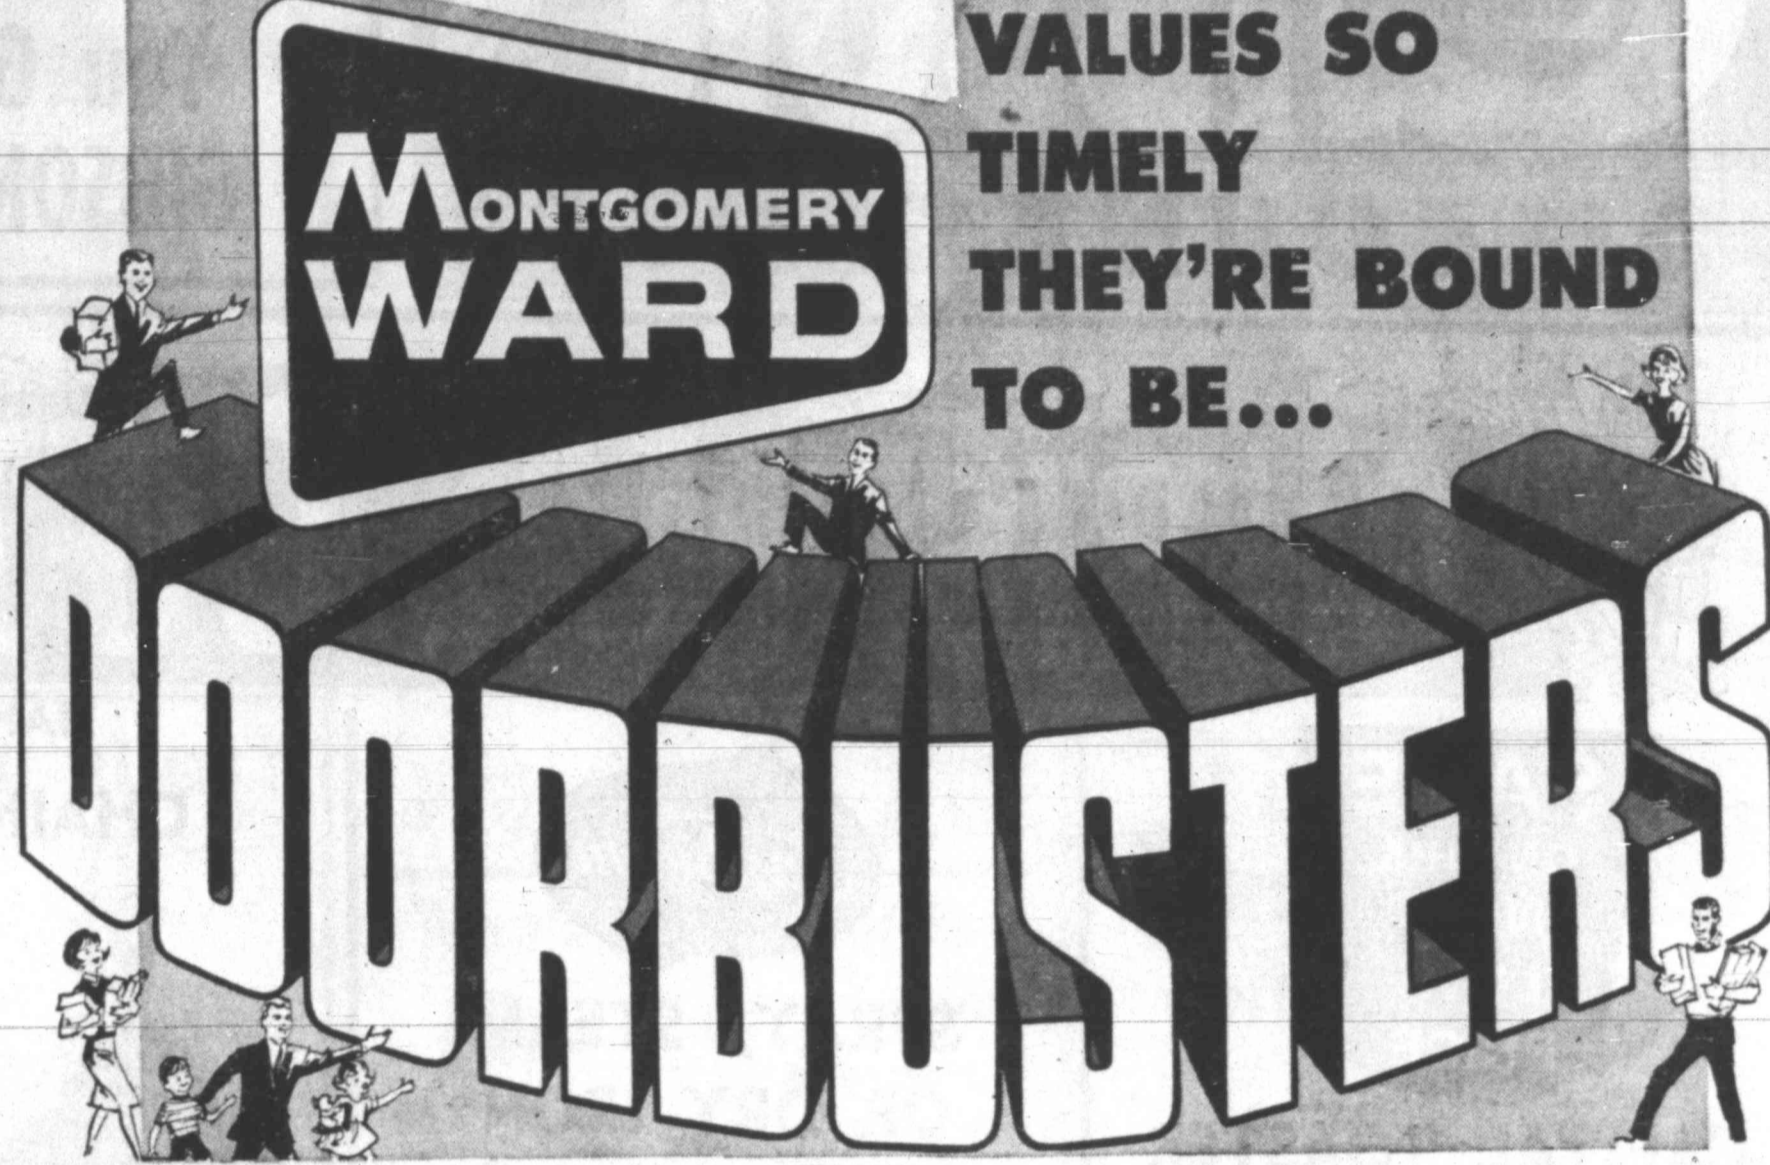

Long has fished a little but he doesn't call himself a fisherman. "Haven't had time," he says, "to become a fisherman."

Presentation Of 'Messiah' Today

Area residents are invited to attend the Christmas presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church. Featured in the oratorio will be the church's Chancel Choir, the Howard County Junior College Choir and the Texas Technological College String Orchestra.

Gwen McLaughlin, Big Spring Public Schools teacher; and Mel Ivey, choral director at Big Spring High School. Accompanying the ensemble will be James Ball, church organist, who will play the church's new Reuter pipe organ. Paul Ellsworth of the Texas Tech music faculty will direct the symphony. Van C. Hale, First Methodist Church music director and chairman of the HCJC music department, will be in charge of the oratorio. The Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor, and the Rev. Harold Rucker, associate pastor, are encouraging all local congregations to attend.

They Move Around

The Jascha Bryant family, 2601 Larry, are not strangers when it comes to traveling. From the left, Mrs. Bryant's brother, Aubrey Nelson, formerly of England, now of North

Traveling Is Way Of Life For This Air Force Clan

Things are fairly quiet around the Jascha Bryant household now at 2601 Larry.

Lt. Bryant was graduated from Class 67-D at Webb AFB Saturday with a B-52 assignment. Mrs. Bryant's brother, Aubrey Nelson, is on his way to make his home in North Dakota, after living most of his life in India and England.

And Mrs. Bryant? She's still deciding whether or not to take the pictures down from the walls, because Bryant had not yet received his orders the first part of the week.

Take a sprinkling of Southern-style Georgia living, interspersed with a foreign mixture of India - English background, and what do you have? Just the two most adorable little girls, Bebe and Lisa, that you've ever seen.

Lt. Bryant is a native of Moultrie, Ga., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Bryant of that city. He was graduated from Colorado State University in 1964 when he received his commission. He had entered the Air Force in 1956 and served for eight years as an enlisted man in New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado, Nebraska, Texas and England. His year at Webb came to a close with his graduation Saturday.

Mrs. Bryant is the former Anita Nelson, who was born in Ajmer, in northwest India. She came to England in 1948 but later returned to India. She came back to England in 1952 and she and Bryant were married in December, 1959, in Leicester, England.

Her first visit to the States was in 1960 and she received her citizenship in 1965 in Omaha, Neb.

Her brother, Aubrey, who was visiting her until today, was also born in Ajmer, India. He served in the Royal Air Force in England for two years and lived in England until Nov. 21, when he found himself in Big Spring.

A mechanical engineer, he attended schools and colleges in India. He will make his home in Minot, N. D.

The two really colorful members of the family are Bebe, age 6, who was born in England, and Lisa, 4, who was born in Portland, Ore. Bebe attends Immaculate Heart of Mary School.

The Bryants have nothing but praise for the base-community relationship here in Big Spring, and for the weather.

"The climate is not so very different from some parts of India," Mrs. Bryant said, "so Aubrey and I are used to it, anyway."

Off-Duty GIs Bother Lodge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is reported to be concerned about a tarnished image of off-duty American soldiers as linked to bars, brothels and brawling.

A well-informed source said Saturday Lodge sent a memo in mid-November to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, requesting that regulations governing off-duty GIs be tightened.

That could cover both dress and deployment.

U.S. military officers were said to be considering whether to order troops in major centers to wear uniforms after 6 p.m. or to spruce up the civilian garb they ordinarily wear in leisure time at night.

5,000 CIVILIANS
Off-duty GIs are now easily confused with the 5,000 or so American civilians here, including communications technicians, construction workers and merchant seamen.

Lodge was said to be especially concerned with the situation in Saigon, Vung Tau, Bien Hoa and Qui Nhon. Vung Tau is a coastal city and the main Vietnamese rest and recreation area for U.S. units.

Thousands of Vietnamese are involved in catering to GIs. These include one-stop service establishments where soldiers can get their tanks or jeeps washed, laundry done and a quick lunch.

'SAIGON TEA'
Bar girls drink "Saigon tea," for which soldiers pay whisky prices. Tu Do — Freedom Street and others near it in Saigon are lined with saloons with back home names such as "New York" or "Carolina" for the amusement of Americans.

The U.S. troop buildup has made inflation a hard fact of life for virtually every urban Vietnamese.

The American presence helps boost rents to high levels.

Some GIs and American civilians with post exchange privileges cause resentment by peddling their PX purchases on the black market, to be sold to Vietnamese at inflated prices.

Taxi, pedicab and motorized cycle drivers often zip past waiting Vietnamese to pick up Americans, who commonly pay far more than the going rates.

Another sore point is Americans who date Vietnamese girls. English-language newspapers in Saigon refer to them as "foreign flower seekers."

Viet Customs Agents Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agency for International Development is virtually doubling its force of U.S. customs agents at Vietnamese ports in an effort to cut losses in its $400-million commercial import program.

AID officials announcing this Saturday night said it is part of an over-all effort to gain better control over the large volume of goods flowing into Viet Nam.

An Associated Press survey last month disclosed heavy losses, ranging 20 per cent or more in some areas, as a result of pilferage, corruption, black marketeering and other illicit operations.

Just How Much Money Is Uncle Sam Spending?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Have you ever wondered how much federal government money is being spent in your county?

If you did, chances are you would have had an extremely difficult time finding out. It's doubtful you can find out now. But things may change.

The Office of Economic Opportunity, the federal antipoverty agency, is required by law to develop an information system which will permit anyone interested to find out what programs affecting the poor and their cost are being conducted in every one of the 3,500 counties in the United States.

The computerized system worked so well for the antipoverty agency, the OEO decided to expand it to include all programs of other agencies in the government, not only those relating to the poor.

100 PER CENT TARGET
Thus far, the system includes partial information on the activities of 12 departments and agencies that have reported on 163 programs.

But, assures John Johnson, acting director of the OEO's information center, 85 per cent of all the government's programs will be listed by January.

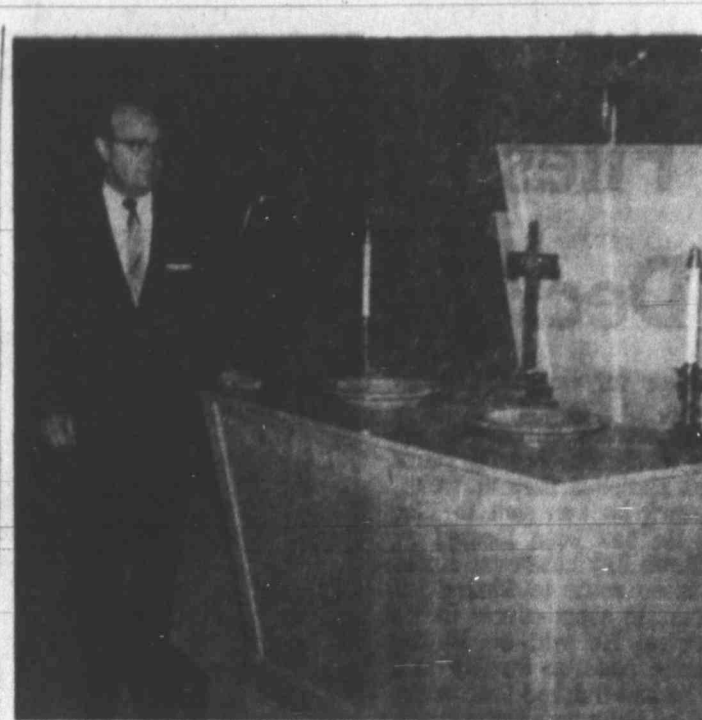

"Once we get that far, it will be simple to shoot for a 100 per cent system," he said.

REALLY BIG
The national agency summary currently includes programs conducted by the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Welfare, Housing, Interior, Justice, and Labor, in addition to the Aviation Agency, General Services Administration, Office of Economic Opportunity, Small Business Administration and the Veterans Administration.

Next month, Johnson said, Defense Department programs will be added to the catalogue.

"This accomplishment is one of the really big things attempted by government," Sargent Shriver, director of the OEO, told newsmen. "This is possibly the dawn of a new era."

"This will bring into Washington all the information local officials need to find out what's going on in their area and in other areas. In this way, they

Husband's Medals Will Go To Mrs. Perryman

Medals earned by Lt. Ronald G. Perryman, 22, before his death in Viet Nam Oct. 25, will be presented to his wife, Judy, in ceremonies set for 2:30 p.m. today in the Coahoma High School auditorium.

Col. Harold Winchester, San Angelo, will preside at the rites, and a Col. Chitty of Fort Hood will represent the U.S. Army and make the actual presentation, which will follow the showing of a film, "Viet Nam Profile."

Mrs. Perryman, who was a bride of two months at the time of her husband's death, has been residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Grant, in Coahoma. Her brother, Lt. Thomas Grant, will also have a part in today's program.

Cold Weather Grips Texas

By The Associated Press

Winty weather gripped most of Texas Saturday, causing isolated icing that contributed to four deaths in North Texas west of Denton.

Another cold and cloudy day was forecast for Sunday.

Two cars collided head-on on a railroad overpass near Denton, killing three members of a family in one car and a Mineral Wells teacher driving the other. A faint mist in 30 degree weather iced the bridge surface on Texas 24 and one car skidded into the path of the other.

Dead in one car were Theron Leroy Riddles, 50, and his wife, Lee, 49, both of Dallas; and her father, Bascom Hardeman Littlefield, 75, of Fletcher, Okla. Also killed was the other driver, Mrs. Judy Wood Coley, 23, of Mineral Wells.

The cold front pushed temperatures in the Panhandle down to 15 at Dalhart and 16 at Amarillo. By noon, Dalhart still had 28 degree cold and Amarillo 31.

North of the front, patches of fog, light drizzle and some light rain fell, none of it heavy enough to dent the drought that has been intensifying all over Texas for two months.

The front by noon reached a line from Kingsville to north of Laredo to below Del Rio and northwestward to west of Wink. The cold drizzle greeted Presidents Johnson and Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico at their meeting at the Amistad Dam at Del Rio.

Only the southern reaches of South Central Texas still were warm.

Mother Of Local Residents Dies

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church in Stamford for Mrs. G. W. (Rosella) Anglin, 2213 18th St., Lubbock, who died at 3:30 a.m. Friday in the St. Mary's hospital in Lubbock. Burial will take place in Highland Cemetery, Stamford.

Mrs. Anglin was the mother of two Big Spring residents, Mrs. Jack Tibbs and B. G. Anglin.

Mrs. Anglin had resided in Stamford for about 35 years prior to moving to Lubbock three years ago. She was born in Gassville, Ark. Her husband, George Anglin, died in 1952.

Survivors include five other daughters, 14 grandchildren, 31 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Robbers Retire Hyman Forever

NEW YORK (AP) — Hyman Ginitnick, 78, was badly beaten a year ago during a robbery of his small tailor shop in the East Flatbush section of Brooklyn.

His lawyer son pleaded with him to retire. Ginitnick refused. "What would I do?" he asked them. "I'd have no one to talk to."

Ginitnick's shop was robbed again Thursday. This time two young thugs stabbed him to death and fled with $4 and change from his pockets and another $6 from a neighbor with whom he had been chatting.

Cotton Payments To Be Up In '67

LUBBOCK—Direct payments to cotton producers on the Texas High Plains in 1967 should come to over $24 million more than in 1966 under the newly announced provisions of next year's cotton program.

This is according to the calculations of Donald A. Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., the organization that represents growers in 23 counties surrounding Lubbock.

Johnson emphasized that these payments are a part of the cotton support price. The loan level under the 1967 provisions has been set at 20.25 cents per pound, down from 21 cents in 1966. Under previous government cotton programs, when direct payments were not involved, the lowest level reached by the loan was 29 cents per pound in 1964.

"Direct payments, as any cotton grower can tell you, are in no sense of the word a bonanza to farmers," Johnson stated, adding that "they are simply a method of keeping the price of cotton to American farmers high enough that, in theory at least, he can afford to produce it."

Johnson said that the additional area income would be the result of 1) a higher level of payments per pound for both price

Kremlin Buries Unknown Soldier

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today buried its "unknown soldier" from the World War II battle of Moscow in emotional ceremonies that included an appeal to American mothers to stop the war in Viet Nam.

The body of the unknown soldier, who fell in the successful defense of this capital from Nazi attack 25 years ago, was buried at the base of the Kremlin wall. About 5,000 Soviet military and Communist party figures were present for the ceremonies, at which a mother of two World War II heroes, Mrs. Lyubov Kosmodemyanskaya, said in a choked voice:

"On a day when we bow our heads over the grave of an unknown soldier, one of those who was killed in the great patriotic war (World War II). I address the mothers of America.

"American mothers, you must say 'no' to the war in Viet Nam."

YULE KETTLE NOW BOILING

The Salvation Army had a cool day Saturday to start the Christmas kettles boiling.

Nevertheless, the kettles were put out downtown to open the appeal for funds for seeing that the poor are not overlooked at Christmas. They will be operated daily, except Sundays, until Christmas Day. First kettles went up on two locations downtown, and more will be operated in the shopping centers and at the post office. Capt. William Thomas, in charge of the SA work here, pleaded for generous support. Normally, the Salvation Army has a list of 200 to 300 families for Christmas baskets.

Weather Fine For Harvesting Texas Crops

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Feeding of livestock has become general over Texas due to drought and a decline in grazing forage.

Harvesting was rapid last week with the end in sight, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The weather has been fine for harvesting but has changed the outlook for winter grazing.

Native ranges and pastures are being grazed out in many areas; hence the need for feeding statewide.

Reports from district agents said:

The Panhandle is very short on moisture and dryland wheat was being stocked lightly. Irrigated fields made good growth and provided good grazing. The grain sorghum harvest is over, and the cotton harvest is well along.

The South Plains cotton harvest is 90 per cent complete and quality has been better than expected. The castorbean and sugar beet harvests are about over.

Moisture is needed throughout the Rolling Plains (Vernon.) Most late grains were coming up to a stand.

The need for moisture is district-wide in North Central Texas area. Some counties got showers but the need is for general moisture. Small grains are making very little growth.

The need for moisture also is district-wide in Northeast Texas. Grains are making little growth and feeding has started.

Range grasses are very dry, moisture is short and the danger of fires plagued stockmen in far West Texas. Moisture is needed to get winter weeds and grass going. Deer hunting is a major activity.

Little or no grazing is being provided by grains in West Central Texas and the entire area is very dry. The main activities are caring for livestock, completing the cotton harvest and plowing.

Rain is badly needed in Central Texas. Some grain has never come up and some is dying. The pecan crop has been light and the quality is off.

East Texas moisture is short to very short except in Jasper and Newton counties. About 75 per cent of the pecan crop has been harvested. Livestock were in fair to good condition.

Moisture in Southeast Texas is generally short. Pastures are about average. Pecan yields are below average.

It's still dry in South Central Texas and vegetative growth has stopped. One large range fire has already hit Gonzales County. Grain is just surviving. Feeding is increasing but livestock are in good condition.

South Texas moisture is short to very short. Oats need rain. Vegetables are being harvested. The citrus harvest is slow. Ranges are average.

Choir To Be Spotlit With First Piano Quartet

The Original First Piano Quartet comes here Tuesday for the second of the current Big Spring Concert series, but the celebrated artists will share the spotlight in the first half with the Big Spring High School choir.

For the past three months, the choir has worked hard under Mel Ivey on the difficult composition usually attempted by only college or professional choirs. Ira Schantz, of the TCU faculty and formerly at HCJC, will be tenor soloist, and Mrs. Don Brinegar will sing the soprano role in "Cattullus Carmina," Carl Orff's creation based on poems of the Roman, Catullus. Besides the four pianos, there also will be percussion parts by members of the Big Spring High School band.

The famed quartet has an assortment of musical fare for the portion after intermission. Included are works of Paganini, Bach, Schubert, Beethoven, Strauss, Prokofieff, Kodaly, and Sarasate. One passage will include a Stephen Foster Medley. The latter, along with "Variations on the Caprice in A Minor," "Polka (At the Races)," and "Gypsy Airs" are on Decca gold label recordings by the quartet, presumably still composed of William Gunther, Frank Mittler, Adam Garner, and Edward Edson. The Elwood Emerick Management, agent for the troupe, has not furnished any advanced information of the quartet. In its appearance here Feb. 15, 1963, the original First Piano Quartet was rated as one of the top hits of the concert season.

"Our Town," the famous play of Thornton Wilder, three-time Pulitzer prize winner, is shaping up well in rehearsals by the Big Spring High School drama department. The production should be in excellent shape for the opening at 8 p.m. Dec. 12. A second production will be at the same hour Dec. 14, and both will be at the HCJC auditorium. Admissions are $1 and 75 cents. Among those with leading roles are Steve Compton, Gloria Gale, David Thomas, Dean Landrum, Charles Macklin, Teresa Conner, and Don Crockett. Because the high school auditorium is under extensive reconstruction, the department is not attempting a musical this year.

Howard County Junior College's choir will present its annual Christmas concert at 8 p.m. Dec. 12 in the college auditorium. The singers are working on a program composed almost entirely of sacred music. All of the proceeds from admissions ($1 adult, 50 cents students and children) will go to the music department's scholarship fund. The choir has an engagement Monday evening to sing at the college awards banquet, and then Thursday noon to appear before the Kiwanis Club.

The second round of the all-region choir contests will be held here Dec. 10, and some 200 visitors will flock to the city. Big Spring High School will not be competing, having participated in the first round in which it qualified 10 for the final round here Jan. 14 when the top 64 young vocalists in the region will be trying for 16 places on the all-state choir.

A new exhibit, entitled "A History of American Home Lighting," opened yesterday at the Museum of the Southwest, in Midland.

"This exhibit of lanterns and lamps used before the advent of electric lights, will dramatically suggest the advances made in home lighting in the last 100 years," John R. Vincent, director, said. (10 a.m. - 5 p.m.) except Mon-

A BELL RINGER FOR HC'S HENRY WILLIS (52) TWC's Loy Wells (44), Walter Richards (14) watch helplessly

Jayhawks Vanquish TWC Frosh, 79-66

By TOMMY HART
HCJC's Jayhawks gave the TWC freshmen a few lessons in popping the cotton and exercising ball control in topping the Miner first-year forces, 79-66, before a gym that was more than three-quarters full here Friday night.

In winning their third decision in five starts, the Big Springers jumped out in front from the start and built such an advantage in the second half that coaches Buddy Travis and Verdell Turner were able to experiment with player combinations.

The Hawks got tremendous performances out of Bill Sinches, a steady influence throughout, Leon Smith and Henry Willis. Smith led the scorers with 21 points while Willis came down with 17 rebounds, two more than Smith, and wound up with 18 points. Sinches scored only 12 points for the Hawks but earned his keep in countless other ways.

Lee Leonard also hit in double figures for the locals, bucketing 14 points, most of them from the corner. He seems to hit better from that spot than he does from under the hoop.

Lightning-fast Walter Richards, a 6-1 Negro from Houston who adjusts his sight through the use of spectacles, paced the visiting Miners with 24 points. He hit six of seven from the free throw line and added nine field goals. The invaders missed on only two of 14 gratis pitches.

The El Paso club had three other players in double figures — John Raud with 13, Loy Wells with 12 and Stanley Keys with ten.

After a fairly close ten minutes of play, the Hawks began to pull away and with 15 minutes gone in the first half boasted a 14-point bulge, at 43-29.

The big crowd seemed delighted with the aggressiveness of some of the HC freshmen, among them Hiron Hubert, who brings the ball down court for the locals. He's going to be a good one. Robbie Lemons put on a fine floor show during the Big Springers, too.

The North American champion. Eight years ago, Steinborn won the Texas Heavyweight title.

O'Dowdy passed up the opportunity to produce a show here last month because he could not get the talent guaranteed to draw a good crowd.

The Badgers finished with 59 points to 58 for Odessa's No. 1 unit.

Amarillo's winning tandem was composed of Terry Legate and Cleveland, who had a 149 for the day.

Odessa's No. 2 team finished third over the season with 52½ points, followed by South Plains, with 47½.

The winning tandem will be determined in the best of three falls, with a one-hour time limit.

The second match will send Cain, well known here as a referee, against London — new to the local crowd. That one is also down for the best of three falls, with a one-hour time limit.

Then comes a one-fall match between Funk, perhaps the most talented of the three Funks now wrestling, and Steinborn. The latter is a curly-headed youth who claims to be Dan'l Boone claimed he killed a bear.

Six men will try to wrestle one, a 550-pound animal named Victor, in the spotlighted event of a professional wrestling program scheduled to be staged by the American Business Club at the City Auditorium Friday night.

The show will be the first staged here in nearly two months and is being promoted by Pat O'Dowdy. Ringside seats sell for $2 each and are now available at Bill Reed's Insurance Company. General admission will cost $1 while students can gain admission for 50 cents.

The show gets on the road at 8 p.m.

The six men who will be in the ring against the bruin are Dick Steinborn, Tom Tonaka, Terry Funk, Dandy Dan Miller, Jack Cain and Terry London.

The six claim they're putting up a $600 bond with the winner to get it all.

Three bouts will lead up to the main event. In the opener, Steinborn and Professor Tanaka will pair up for an Australian Tag match with Terry Funk and Miller.

The winning tandem will be determined in the best of three falls, with a one-hour time limit.

ODESSA — Plans are being made by the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and Odessa College for the sixth Odessa Chamber of Commerce Junior College Basketball tournament to be played on the college courts Dec. 8, 9, and 10.

Spectators will see two games played in the afternoon at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., and two games in the evening at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. One ticket is good for either the afternoon or evening sessions.

Schedule for the opening day of the tournament lists Howard County Junior College of Big Spring against Paris Junior College in the first game. The second game will be between Lubbock Christian College and Hobbs Junior College.

New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, and Cisco Junior College will face each other in the third game. Odessa College will be pitted against St. Phillips Junior College, San Antonio, in the last game of the preliminaries Friday.

Playing schedules for the next two days will be based on the winners and losers in the first four games.

Odessa College coach L. E. McCulloch has picked Howard County, Hobbs, NMMI, and Odessa as favorites in the tournament. McCulloch also predicted that Howard County and Odessa would meet in the finals.

Season ticket admission is $3 with admission for one session at $1. Student admission for one session is 50 cents. Tickets are available through the chamber and Odessa College, or at the door.

Bronte Is Edged By Vega, 27-22

BROWNFIELD — Vega (Oldham County) did a better job than anyone has of throttling Doug McCutchen this season and defeated Bronte of District 4-B in the regional championship football game here Friday night, 27-22.

The Vega team scored twice in a 50-second span of the fourth period to upend the Longhorns, who lost in last year's regional finals to Groom.

A pass interception and a 31-yard runback by Ronnie Pingel enabled the Vega club to take the lead permanently. Pingel had scored two plays earlier on a two-yard run.

The Longhorns pushed their way to the Vega eight where the champs-to-be dug in to hold shortly before time ran out. Bronte led at half time, 22-14.

Vega made 206 yards rushing and 42 passing to 91 rushing and 126 passing for Bronte.

Monahans Wins On Penetrations

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The Monahans Lobos pushed over a touchdown and conversion in the final 1:30 of the play Saturday to tie Vernon 7-7 and win on penetrations 4-1. Monahans advanced to the Class AAA semifinals of Texas Schoolboy football against McKinney.

This is the second consecutive tie-playoff game for Monahans, who last week beat Dumas on first downs in a 6-6 deadlock.

Jack Blanchard scored on a four-yard run and Frank Peters kicked the extra point. Vernon got past Monahans' 47-yard line only once and that came in the third quarter when the Lions drove 71 yards for their touchdown. Joe Egings scored on a seven-yard end sweep and Tom Wilson converted

Astros Slate Dodger, Yank Practice Tilts

Ralph Houk's Yankees, with Mickey Mantle and crew, play the Astros Friday and Saturday nights, April 7 and 8 and on Sunday, April 9 at 2:00 p.m.

The Astros regular championship season will open Tuesday, April 11, against the Atlanta Braves at the Astrodome.

The Yankee-Astros series on April 7-9 will mark the second anniversary of the opening of the Astrodome when the same New York Yankees joined the Astros in the world's first indoor baseball game.

Night games will again start at 7:30, but Sunday single games will start at 2:00 p.m. instead of 1:30.

Three doubleheaders are on the docket this year, two of which are the day-night affairs with separate admissions.

The lone regular doubleheader is with the New York Mets on Sunday, July 30, while the day-night events are with Atlanta on June 17 and with Cincinnati on Aug. 28.

The Astros have scheduled the popular ladies nights on 13 Wednesdays throughout the season, and have also pre-scheduled three family days, a teenage night, a helmet day, kid benefit night and the oldtimers game during the 1967 season.

Ticket prices and outlets will remain the same as in the past with box seats at $3.50, reserved seats $2.50, pavilion $1.50 and children's seats in the pavilion 50 cents. Special ticket reductions are available on some of the special nights.

Spring Branch Upsets Port Arthur, 28-17

By The Associated Press

San Antonio MacArthur's unbeaten, untied Brahmas and Spring Branch's iron-fisted Bears were the semifinalists of Class AAAA schoolboy football today and only mildly interested in a couple of other games that will complete the bracket.

MacArthur and Spring Branch play each other next week to furnish a finalist from the lower division.

Spring Branch upset Port Arthur's hopeful Yellow Jackets 28-17 Friday night as Jimmy Graf scored two touchdowns and little Donnie Wigginton, who rushed for 120 yards, threw a touchdown pass to Rodney Johnson.

MacArthur clipped previously undefeated, untied Alice 21-12, with Dutch Riefler running 25 yards for the clinching touchdown after smashing over from a yard out for a previous score. Class AAA also completed half its semifinal bracket when McKinney, the big favorite, crushed Ennis 34-0 and Sam Marcos ran down Fredericksburg 36-14.

McKinney was magnificent in winning his ninth straight shut-out, with Mike James running for two touchdowns and Phil Wood passing for one touchdown and running for another.

The Harrison brothers scored three touchdowns between them as San Marcos "strapped" Fredericksburg. Ty rushed for two and Bo made another, while Dan Mauldin and Bill Jones each passed for one.

Class AA and A decided three semifinals each.

Daingerfield ruined Plano's hopes for repeating as champion of Class AA by beating the Wildcats 21-15, scoring two touchdowns in the last half. Gary Fromby took a 16-yard pass from Jack Anderson for the touchdown that paid off. Granbury rolled on undefeated and untied with a 31-16 upset of Iowa Park and will play Daingerfield next week.

Granbury worked up a 24-0 lead in three periods and had little trouble with Iowa Park, which entered the game as one of the favorites with a perfect record. Jerry Tidwell ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third.

Bastrop edged Hardin-Jefferson 14-11 as Donnie Aldridge ran for a touchdown and got the two-point conversion with only two minutes left.

In Class A, Forney's mighty Jackrabbits, sweeping relentlessly along, smashed Keller from the undefeated, untied list 41-0.

Schulenburg upset George West 31-16 and Rosebud Westfield 28-61 in other Class A games. White Deer and Sonora decide the last semifinal spot tonight at Snyder.

Big Larry Bush scored three touchdowns and Sammy Beeler intercepted three passes, running two of them back for scores, as Forney crushed Keller.

Dennis Demel passed for 302 yards and two touchdowns in Schulenburg's victory over George West. He also ran for a score.

Larry Spivey intercepted a pass and ran it back for a touchdown, and he slipped across from five yards out for another in Rosebud's decision over Pewitt.

SMU's Foe Boasts Tremendous Defense

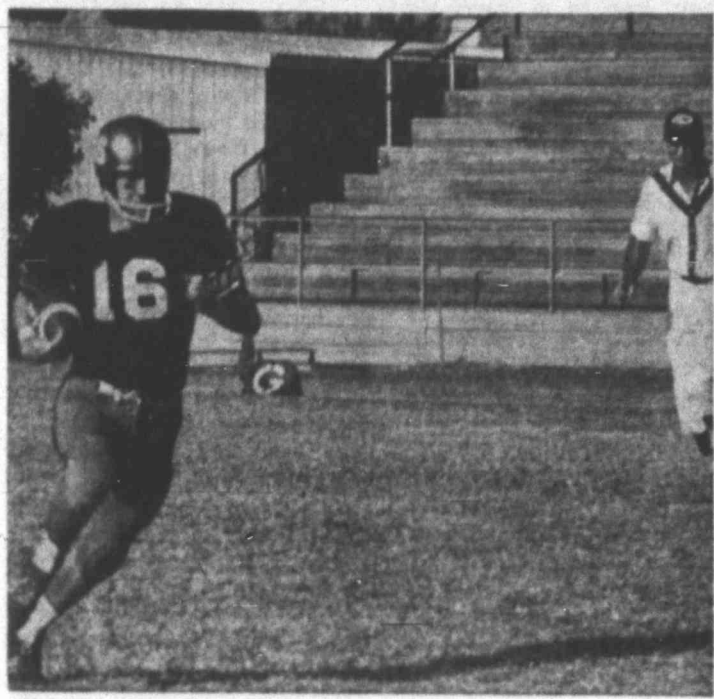

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Strikingly similar in many ways are the Cotton Bowl football teams — Georgia and Southern Methodist. But this goes only until you get down to defense.

Statistics of the season show Georgia has averaged 283.4 yards per game on offense, with 195.3 of it on the ground. Southern Methodist averaged 316.3 yards, 207 rushing.

SO-SO PASSING

Neither is prolific in the air. Georgia tried only 14.6 passes per game, Southern Methodist 17.4.

Both were tough against passing. Georgia intercepted 25 throws, Southern Methodist 21.

Williams On The Move

Marshall Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams of 3300 Drexel, Big Spring, is shown on the go in a football game earlier this year for Howard Payne against McMurry. Although only a freshman, Marshall clocked a lot of playing time for the Jackets. He figures to play a lot of quarterback for the Brownwood team the next three seasons. Marshall was an all-district back for Coahoma High School.

Burley Bearden Selected As League's Top Coach

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Burley Bearden, who had to fight against player losses through scholastic troubles, auto accidents, injuries and withdrawals and still managed a tie for the championship, has been named coach of the year in the Southland Conference.

Bearden piloted his Arlington State team to a co-championship with Lamar Tech—giving the Arlington school its first share of any of the 21 athletic titles so far determined in the three-year-old league.

Bearden got five of the 10 first place ballots submitted by conference athletic directors and sports information directors. Bennie Ellender of Arkansas State trailed with three top-

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Steers Using Fast Break

By TOMMY HART

The Orange Bowl people, who were able to offer the fattest post-season football fare in the last year when Alabama and Nebraska hooked up, watched their game's prestige erode alarmingly Nov. 26, when its two new antagonists, Georgia Tech and Florida, both took it on the chin.

Of the nation's four major bowl games, only the Cotton Bowl escaped a defeat on the final big weekend of play. Incidentally, the Cotton Bowl foes, SMU and Georgia, have never before met on the field of football strife but the Peach State's other major collegiate unit, Georgia Tech, has opposed the Mustangs on ten occasions. Incidentally, two Big Spring natives, Dick Irons and Don White, will be very active for SMU in the upcoming Dec. 31 battle at Dallas. Bronte, scourge of District 4-B in football this year, should be even tougher next fall. The Longhorns return all but two guards from its starting team, among them the powerful running back, Doug McCutchen, one of the state's leading scorers this fall. District 4-B, by the way, left the door open for Sands High School to seek admission in 1967 but other schools in Sands' own district (3-B, eight-man) were reluctant to let the Mustangs go. Sands is centrally located in 3-B but would relish the chance to move up to 11-man ball. The New York Yankees apparently decided that if the NFL could prosper in a world of crass commercialism, it was worth a try on their part. They are offering a $4.95 kid's bat, complete with name, to parents across the land. Those interested can order it through Bruce Henry, the Yanks' traveling secretary, c/o Yankee Stadium, Bronx, N. Y., 10451. Midland will stage its fourth annual Tall City Golf Open (for women pros) May 4-7. The meet will be staged at the Midland Country Club for the first time. Unlike many big-time boxers, Archie Moore managed to hold onto his money and ended his ring career in good financial shape. He made wise investments and now resides in a $175,000 home in San Diego. Coach Don McDonald has the Big Spring Steers fast-breaking the opposition this season and they're well worth the price of admission. Harold Davis, the one-time HCJC mentor, said passing up the chance to sign McDonald as a player was one of the mistakes he made while coaching. McDonald went on to make good at San Angelo College.

How would you compare little Marshall of Huntington, W. Va., (2-8) against Sugar Bowl-bound Nebraska (9-1) in football this year? Using comparative scores, you can give the Thundering Herd the edge. Marshall beat Kent, which won over Bowling Green, which upended Toledo, which surprised Xavier, which bounced Cincinnati, which shocked Louisville, which nudged Tulsa, which flogged Colorado State, which hog-tied Air Force, which uncoupled Washington, which rapped UCLA, which scrambled Missouri, which whipped Oklahoma, which upset Nebraska. Despite all that applause heard following the appointment of Fred Taylor as head coach at TCU, there was a lot of agitation for bringing in an outside coach. Such advocates are firm believers that the school's athletic program needs a transfusion that only an outsider can give. There are those who reason that if Dallas Baptist College and the Cameron Aggies were competing in the Southwest Conference in basketball, they would finish closer to the top than the cellar. Bobby Smith, who was Andrews' leading scorer against Big Spring here the other night, was also a star halfback in football. The first ten players on the Ranger Junior College basketball team this year are Negroes and the coaching staff searched all over the nation for them. Ernest Turner, the former HCJC great, is again playing with the New Mexico State University basketball team, which has embarked upon a "suicide" schedule under new mentor Lou Henson (formerly of HSU). Turner attended summer school there (at the urging of Henson) to regain his eligibility. Among other players for NMS are Robert Evans and Bubba Harris, both formerly with Lubbock Christian College; and Ronnie Phillips, one-time South Plains College regular. By the time he's a senior, the University of Texas' Chris Gilbert should be a likely candidate for the Heisman Award. As a sophomore, the current winner, Steve Spurrier of Florida, gained 1,089 yards running and passing for the Gators, just nine more than Gilbert did carrying the ball in his first year with the varsity at Texas.

AFL Also-Rans Tangle Today In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers and the San Diego Chargers, a couple of teams whose American Football League title dreams are things of the past, meet Sunday in a game that pits the Chargers' slick passing combinations against the Oilers' ripening youth squad.

Denver beat the Chargers 20-17 last Sunday and wiped out San Diego's title chances. Charger flanker Lance Alworth was off the injured list for that game and will be ready again Sunday to grab passes from quarterbacks John Hadl and Steve Tensi.

Aside from Alworth, the Chargers boast a receiving crew that includes Jacques Mackinnon, Gene Foster, Keith Lincoln, Jim Allison, rookie Gary Garrison and Willie Frazier, an ex-Oiler.

The Oilers have been victims this season of intercontinental range passes by other teams and in their last outing, two was a little anemic.

Houston Coach Wally Lemm has devoted the second half of the season to perfecting his 1967 model. The key to the enterprise is Don Trull, who replaced senior quarterback George Blanda, now assigned to kicking duties.

Trull's passing bogged down against Buffalo, a team that whipped the Oilers 42-20, and Blanda returned in the fourth quarter for some flashy heaves to Frazier. Lemm vowed afterward, however, that it was to be Trull all the way from now on.

"Don makes things happen—he's a very dynamic player," Lemm said. "That's a quality that makes quarterbacks great."

Going into the Charger game, Trull has hurled six touchdown passes against Hadl's 16 for the season.

As part of his new young look, Lemm is sending out 11 rookies on offense and defense Sunday. For Garland Boyette, it's the first excursion as defensive end.

Mustangs Favored To Win SWC Cage Crown Again

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Southern Methodist was picked in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal basketball poll Saturday to win the Southwest Conference championship and make its third straight trip to the NCAA playoffs.

Eleven sports writers and a sportscaster thought Southern Methodist would get only token competition from Texas Christian, which was picked for second place. Texas was placed third, Baylor fourth and Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Rice and Arkansas were ranked in that order to make up the second division.

The panel also predicted that Charles Beasley of Southern Methodist and Darrell Hardy of Baylor would be the top performers, Doc Hayes of Southern Methodist coach of the year and Bill Voight of SMU would be the conference's leading sophomore.

Southern Methodist, which represented the conference in 1965 after Texas Tech was ruled ineligible, then won the title outright last season, got 11 of the 12 first place votes. Texas received the other ballot.

Southern Methodist ruled the pre-season All-Conference team, placing Beasley and Denny Holman. Hardy, Mickey McCarty of Texas Christian and Dale Dotson of Texas were others making it.

League Parley Likely To Be Action-Filled

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Southwest Conference officials indicate that the winter meeting opening here Thursday will be dull and non-productive of important news but they are only talking about the agenda.

It's what not on the agenda that could make it a most lively session, what with J. T. King, coach of Texas Tech, promising to demand—that something be done about the game officiating.

LEVIAS TALK DUE
And Coach Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist says he'll talk about what some of the teams have been saying to his Negro player, Jerry Levias. This will, however, be in private and probably won't reach the faculty committee, governing body of the conference.

There are no recruiting violations to be considered and the major topic on the agenda has to do with indefinite probation voted against Texas A&M last December for alleged football practice out of season and lifting of athletic scholarships of football players who didn't plan to play.

Sanctions were voted in football until Jan. 15, 1967, meaning the Aggies couldn't play in a bowl game this year.

The faculty committee will review the situation, determine if A&M is satisfactorily revising its practices and consider taking off the probation, which will have to be after Jan. 15.

Conference secretary Howard Grubbs said there was nothing on the schedule involving the officiating or racial undertones but admitted they could be brought up by the coaches and recommendations made to the faculty committee.

KING CRITICAL
King criticized the officiating in the game with Baylor and said he would take it up with the conference. Coach Jess Neely of Rice previously had complained of the officiating in the Southern Methodist-Rice game.

Grubbs pointed out that at each winter meeting of the coaches and athletic directors, officials for the coming year were selected and those no longer wanted deleted. This does not go to the faculty group but if controversy arose over changing the officiating setup the faculty committee would have to settle it.

Fry said his Negro player, Levias, was the victim of racial slurs and abuse in two conference games although he did not name the teams involved. He said one player spat in the boy's face. He also said Levias received insulting telephone calls and letters from the public.

Fry said he would tell the two schools that they were involved but he planned no public statement. He added that he would advise the others if they asked him to, but all this would be confined to the meeting of the coaches and would not, as far as he knew, go to the faculty committee.

Ticket prices, policies on closed circuit television (replay of games in the press box and on the bench while they were in progress) and new scholarship limitations will be reviewed.

AGREEMENT NEEDED
The conference, at its spring meeting, decided the playbacks could be used if the coaches agreed. There is a limit of 50 new athletic scholarships per year, this being set at last year's spring meeting.

Changes in some of the sports operations will be discussed. The tennis coaches want the schools to be able to enter twice as many players at the conference tournament. The golf coaches want to discard a round-robin to determine the team championship in favor of a 72-hole tournament that would be held concurrent with the one to determine the individual champion.

Revision of the NCAA baseball playoff plan will be made. Four teams tied for the championship last spring and Texas won the playoff berth on a flip of the coin.

There may also be a discussion of a report from Jack Keady, sports editor of the Arkansas Democrat at Little Rock, that a movement was noted tending toward transferring the Cotton Bowl to Houston to combine with the Bluebonnet Bowl and for the conference to pull away from its tieup with the Cotton Bowl, thus allowing conference representatives to pick their own bowls.

Cotton Bowl officials said they knew nothing of such a movement and that the conference had expressed satisfaction with its tieup.

Football coaches meet Thursday, athletic directors and business managers join them Friday and the faculty committee opens its session Friday.

Eagles Triumph
WACO — Abilene High thrashed Dallas Woodrow Wilson, 101-73, in a Waco Basketball tournament game here Friday night that saw 13 members of the Eagles get into the scoring column.

Vinegar Bend Mizell Success In Politics

MIDWAY, N.C. (AP)—His big hands fondled the coffee cup the way they used to clasp a baseball.

"I love the game," he smiled. "I miss it. I guess I always will."

But Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell is staying busy. He likes to talk baseball, but seldom gets the time.

And after next week the former major league pitcher will have even less time.

Monday, the man from Vinegar Bend, Ala., will begin his term as a Davidson County Commissioner, and it's likely he will be the commission chairman.

But the commissionership is only the first inning. Mizell will continue his job as public relations man and a sales supervisor for the Winston-Salem Bottling Co.

He's assistant Sunday school supervisor of the Faith Missionary Alliance Church, on the board of deacons, teaches Sunday school, and says he will continue to travel over North Carolina speaking to young people.

And then there is his job as commissioner of the hometown Little League program. "But I may have to give that up next spring," he said. But he didn't sound as if he wanted to.

And there's the family. Mizell, at 35, is a happy man, especially when he's surrounded by his wife Nancy and sons Davis, 10, and Danny, 4.

They live in a ranch-style home eight miles south of Winston-Salem. The house, on a country road opposite their church, commands a lot big enough for old Ebbets Field.

Mizell helped pitch a shutout Nov. 8. He and four other Republicans defeated five incumbent Democrats for seats on the County Commission. He led the ticket.

"This is my first try at politics," said the former fire-baller, who never was known for great control. "The Republicans—and I have been one for several years—first approached me about running for sheriff. But I just couldn't see that."

He said he made no campaign promises.

"We just told the voters we would do our best and give the job our time."

"I would say winning the election thrilled me as much as the World Series win in 1960 when I was with Pittsburgh."

Nancy winked at her 6-foot-5 husband, and laughed: "baseball gives you gray streaks. Politics makes it white."

Mizell met Nancy when he was playing with the Winston-Salem Cardinals of the Carolina League in 1950. They married two years later.

The big southpaw, who retired from baseball in 1963, said he hated leaving the game after 14 years.

"My arm went bad. All that was left were minor league teams."

Nancy chimed in again: "Once you've played in the majors that's it. And the traveling is terrible. David went to four different first grades."

Bills Gunning For Revenge

By The Associated Press

With any luck at all, Buffalo Coach Joe Collier will spend much of Sunday afternoon looking for penalty flags to flutter to the ground. Without any luck, he'll see them.

The Bills, leading the Eastern Division of the American Football League, tangle with the Boston Patriots in a game critical to the championship aspirations of both clubs. And if Bill running backs Bobby Burnett or Wray Carlton break loose for any long gainers, Collier will be intently studying the referees.

"I always look for flags on a breakaway," Collier said, recently in explaining why he didn't see a particular long gainer.

It's possible, however, that Collier will be watching for penalty handkerchiefs more in hope than in fear, because much of the running in the game figures to come from Boston's Jim Nance, who last week became the top ground gainer over a season in AFL history.

With three games left on the Patriots schedule, Nance has gained 1,123 yards, becoming the second man in the league to gain more than 1,100 yards in a season. Paul Lowe of San Diego ran for 1,121 in 1965.

The Bills, 8-3-1, have lost just one of their last 10 games, but that defeat was administered by the Patriots, a 20-10 decision back on Oct. 8. In their last five games, all victories, Buffalo has scored an average of 29.8 points, while giving up a grand total of just 33. And after a shaky start, quarterback Jackie Kemp has been throwing like his old self.

Boston, in the meantime, has lost only one of its last eight games behind the running of Nance and the passing of veteran Babe Parilli. The Patriots' overall record is 6-3-2.

San Diego, 5-5-1, meets Houston, 3-8-0, and the Chargers hope to see John Had and Lance Alworth put together a few touchdown pass combinations. Don Trull has been quarterbacking the Oilers of late.

New York played at Oakland Saturday afternoon.

Cards Need Scoring Punch In NFL Bout

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, who haven't scored a touchdown in three weeks, probably will need more than one Sunday when they tackle Dallas' free-wheeling Cowboys in a showdown for the National Football League's Eastern Conference lead.

St. Louis, despite its touchdown famine, starts the day in a first-place tie, at 8-2-1, with Dallas in the East. But the Cowboys, the NFL's highest-scoring outfit, are favored by two touchdowns in the rematch of a 10-10 early-season standoff between the clubs.

JOHNSON IS OUT

The Cardinals, who lost quarterback Charley Johnson for the season a month ago, were upended by Pittsburgh 21-6 three weeks ago, drew a bye the following weekend and then edged the Steelers 6-3 last Sunday. The only St. Louis points in those two games were registered on field goals by Jim Bakken.

Coach Charley Winner refused to panic, however, as the Cards prepared for Sunday's game, which has sold out the 75,504-seat Cotton Bowl for the first time in the Cowboys' six-year NFL history.

"I've heard some people say we've already conceded the game," Winner said, "but let me tell you, we're going to win it."

Winner's upset plan hinges on a strong showing by quarterback Terry Nofsinger, Johnson's replacement, who thus far has failed to click, and a rugged defensive unit led by NFL interception leader Larry Wilson.

Stacked against the Cards are the Cowboys' potent offensive forces led by Don Meredith, the league's No. 2 passer, and Dan Reeves, the touchdown leader with 14. The Cowboys have averaged just under 34 points per game, the Cardinals less than 20.

CAN CLINCH TIE

Elsewhere Sunday, Green Bay can clinch a tie for the Western Division title by downing the San Francisco 49ers, who handed the Packers one of their two losses. Baltimore, second in the West, entertains Chicago; New York is at Cleveland, Detroit at Philadelphia and Atlanta at Minnesota in other games.

In American Football League action, Buffalo is at Boston, San Diego at Houston and Miami at Denver.

The Packers, whose 28-16 victory over Minnesota last Sunday avenged their only other setback in 11 games, run into a hot 49er team which still has an outside shot in the West. San Francisco, 5-4-2, can take the title if it wins its remaining three games while Green Bay drops three straight.

Odessa Permian Decisions Steers In Swimming Meet

In the first competition of its sort involving a Big Spring High School ever held, a dual engagement at the YMCA pool here Friday, the resident Steers lost to Odessa Permian, 53-35.

Despite the reversal, the Steers and their backers were cheered by the developments.

The Big Springers came off with first places in three events and grabbed seconds in four others.

The Longhorns will return to competition Dec. 17 in a dual meet at Andrews.

Webb AFB personnel helped to stage the Friday night, furnishing timers and judges.

Jim Devore, Big Spring, copped the 160-yard individual medley in the time of 1:37.4.

In the 100-yard free style, Chuck Stone of the Steers picked off a blue ribbon by winning in the time of 1:02.1. Charles Lacy, Big Spring, was fourth in the same event.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Bill Bortner, Big Spring, led the pack in 1:07.0. Devore was second in the same race with a 1:11.9 clocking.

In the 160-yard medley relay, Big Spring's team of Bortner (backstroke), Larry Ethun (breaststroke), Bob Bell (butterfly) and Stone (free-style) was second in the time of 1:34.5.

In 200-yard freestyle competition, Bruce Bunn, Big Spring, was second in 2:31 and Frank Horn, a teammate, was fourth.

Charles Lacy, Big Spring, was third in the 60-yard free-style, immediately ahead of another Steer, Johnny Arguello. Bunn also picked up a third place in the 400-yard free style while Horn was fourth in the same event.

In an exhibition, Stone, Bortner, Lacy and Devore teamed up in the 400-yard freestyle relay and placed second.

The Steers are coached by Bill Lewis, former Texas Tech swimmer.

Permian first places were picked up by its relay team (Randy Boop, Steve Morris, Bill Scader and Gary Beene) and the free-style relay team (Ray Parker, George Phillips, John Cole and Don Baer).

Individual first places going to the Panthers were the 200-yard free-style and 100-yard breaststroke (both by Larry Ridge), 60-yard free-style (Beene), 100-yard butterfly (Scader), and the 400-yard free-style (Gary Dunnivant).

CRMWD May Set Record

The Colorado River Municipal Water District appears headed for a record 11.6 billion gallon year.

Increased production in November pushed the total output for the year to 10,914,651,662 gallons, nearly 400 million more than through the first 11 months of 1965.

The $31,361,176-gallon production figure for November was about $4,900,000 more than for the same month last year, or up 8.26 per cent. The member cities were up only .85 of one per cent, but oil company demands were up 18.87 per cent.

Odessa's draw stood at 224,100,000 for November, down 2.32 per cent; Big Spring was 187,540,000, up from 7.76 per cent; Snyder was 44,041,000, down 8.97 per cent. Oil companies, bolstered by greater allowable used 375,306,176 gallons, about 60,000,000 gallons more than a year ago. The production so far this year is up 3.24 per cent over the comparable period in 1965.

Howard Tops Bond Quota

Howard County has achieved its U.S. Savings Bonds quota for the year, and District No. 4 should be over the top when November totals are reported.

Martin County has achieved 161 per cent of its quota, Larson 13 per cent from its goal.

Robert Currie, Howard County chairman, reported sales of $51,002 during October, boosting the total to $551,648 against an annual quota of $550,000. James Jones, Martin County chairman, reported October sales of $3,597, making a total of $32,221 for the year.

Other county sales for October (with cumulative sales in parenthesis) and per cent of annual quota achieved include: Andrews $7,457 (45,064) 56; Dawson $5,101 ($55,806) 56; Gaines $4,663 ($55,609) 79; Mitchell $5,150 ($109,705) 84; Scurry $31,588 ($102,880) 79; total $108,558 ($92,936) 87. The Area I total sales for October stood at $962,857, or 83 per cent of goal. Texas sales stood at $13,520,322 for October, or $128,194,374 for the year, 87 per cent of quota.

Mahon Says Zone Loophole

MIDLAND (AP)—Foreign oil may continue pouring into the United States despite a Defense Department effort to cut back on purchases of oil overseas, Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., said.

He praised the Defense Department's decision to "buy American" in its petroleum products and predicted it could cut foreign spending by $100 million annually.

But Mahon told the annual meeting of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association that the recent action of the Foreign Trade Zones Board in authorizing a zone in Bay County, Mich., could open "one potential new loophole in oil import controls."

Mahon said a chemical company had asked a federal license to import 10,000 barrels a day of foreign oil into the Michigan zone.

James O. Bailey began his Cosden career on October 24, 1951 as a yardman. In the asphalt plant he helped at loading and blending, and was briefly with the pump doctors.

The laboratory became his work center in 1954. Presently he is a No. 1 tester in the polystyrene plant and a relief special tester on the chromatograph in the chemical laboratory.

Born in DeKalb, he has claimed Big Spring as his home since infancy. His wife, the former Ara Lee Anderson, is a native of Sand Springs where the Baileys reside. They were married August 12, 1945. Their home is full of activities of four sons.

Demand Extremely Strong For Texas Oil Production

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—The domestic petroleum industry moved into December with its highest crude oil production rate in history.

Additional sharp increases can be expected during the first two weeks of December. A healthy increase in Texas became effective Thursday.

The American Petroleum Institute estimates that crude output the week ending Nov. 25 averaged a record 8,489,010 barrels a day.

The institute earlier had said January-October production had averaged 8,296,000 barrels daily. This was a healthy 517,000 barrels above the record 1965 average of 7,781,000. The November gains and those indicated for December could push the final 1966 average to 8,330,000 or more.

ALLOWABLES UP
Despite the record output for the nation as a whole, Texas production still is well behind that state's record level.

Texas produced a record 3,334,000 barrels a day the week ending March 8, 1957, during the final stages of the international crisis created by the closing of the Suez Canal.

Statewide allowables for Texas producers have been increased 117,670 barrels a day for December. With a November output that climbed as high as 2,983,150 barrels a day, the authorized increase should boost the state's production above the 3,000,000 mark the first time since early 1957.

Texas officials are optimistic about the months ahead but have not indicated when the state's output might once again reach the record level of 3,334,000 barrels daily.

"The crude market is extremely tight," Ben Ramsey, chairman of the state's oil and gas regulatory commission, said recently.

RECORD IN 1957
"Demand is extremely strong and is expected to remain strong the next several months," Ramsey said.

Texas production slumped sharply after the reopening of the Suez Western Europe. The domestic industry also ran into a little recession of its own and Texas output dropped to a low of 2,198,000 in May 1958 before starting its gradual comeback.

The cutback and recession also dropped nationwide production from an all-time high of 7,818,400 barrels a day early in 1957 to a low of 6,220,388 in mid-1958. It was not until eight years later, in early 1965, that the 1957 record level was broken.

Officials of the petroleum institute believe petroleum supplies have kept in good balance during the 1966 spurts to record levels for both demand and crude production.

At the end of October, crude oil stocks were equivalent to 25.2 days of supply, compared to 25.7 a year earlier. Gasoline inventories were equivalent to 36.2 days, compared to 37.9 a year earlier.

The Texas statewide crude production allowable for December daily average to about 3,100,000.

The all-time high for the statewide allowable in Texas was 3,733,000 barrels a day in early 1957 when actual output recorded the record level of 3,334,000 barrels daily.

'Harassed' Actors Stage 'Our Town'

By APRIL BURKART

"Enter from left cement mixer and cross to second pile of bricks..."

This was how the stage directions at the first rehearsal of "Our Town" sounded at BSHS. Amid the total ruins of what will, in the future, be referred to as the new, modern high school auditorium, Mr. Dan Shockey, speech teacher, was trying to direct rehearsal. It wasn't really so bad, in fact. Then Charles Macklin, who portrays Doc Gibbs in the play, made a not-so-graceful entrance over one of the pieces of drilling machinery; and Gloria Gale, Mrs. Gibbs in the play, exited into one of the various ditches (fondly referred to as "our private little moats").

ACROBATS?
"I must be coaching a bunch of second rate acrobats!" Mr. Shockey said, not very calmly. At this the cast and crew decided something had to be done before the performances scheduled Monday, Dec. 12, and Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m.

"Why don't we use an auditorium that is already constructed," asked Steve Compton, who is cast in the play as the stage manager, coming down from his perch atop a tall mountain of cement sacks.

HCJC AUDITORIUM
After a lengthy debate of two seconds, the dramatists decided to try to obtain the HCJC auditorium for further rehearsals and the subsequent performances. And that is why the tickets ($1 for adults and 75 cents for students) read "Admit One, Howard County Junior College Auditorium" for a BSHS drama production.

The tickets may be obtained from any member of the cast or crew which includes Diana Landrum, David Thomas, Teresa Connor, and many other BSHS students.

The Big Spring High School Band would like to thank the members of the community for the help which they have given us this school year during our marching season.

The local service clubs, businesses, and private individuals have all given us a great deal of much-needed and appreciated support in both our band program and in the marching contest which was held here Nov. 12.

We are quite proud of the first division which we received at this contest and of the fine manner in which the city has received our activities this year.

Our new director Bill Bradley, has brought us a number of new ideas which have increased both our enjoyment and accomplishments in the band program. With his help and the community's we are sure that we will do equally as well during our next marching season.

University Coeds Solve Transportation Problem

AUSTIN — For University of Texas coeds living in four privately owned dormitories, the problem of transportation to classes has been all but eliminated.

The answer to the distance between the dormitories and the university? Buses. New, old and multicolored, they transport students from their rooms to their classrooms and back every hour or oftener throughout the day.

Mayfair House is running its own bus for the third consecutive year. A monthly fee of $5 is charged each girl who wishes to ride to classes. Like the others, the Mayfair bus goes to all parts of the campus so that each girl may get off near her class. The bus also makes a trip to and from the library each evening, for which there is no charge to the Mayfair inhabitants.

Heflin Manor is another residence that boasts wheels. At first, the dormitory leased a bus from the Austin Transit Company; the bus was repainted and bore the name of the residence. Last year, Heflin purchased a bus of its own. It was running last fall as early as Rush Week, even before classes began. The Heflin bus makes runs twice each hour, to and from the campus, as well as four times each evening on weekdays. It rests only briefly on weekends. Since the fall of 1963 Dexter House and Madison House have shared a big new bus, orange and white with mortarboarded Longhorn steers painted on the sides.

Conoco Wives Club Observes First Year

The Conoco Wives Club, organized last February, held its first Christmas party Thursday evening at the Downtown Tea Room with members' husbands as guests. The dinner began at 7 p.m. with 45 in attendance. Hostesses were the officers, Mrs. Le Roy Dolan, president; Mrs. Bud Pickett, vice president; Mrs. J. D. Leonard, reporter; and Mrs. Burl Griffith, secretary - treasurer. The welcome was extended by Mrs. Harley Grant. Mrs. Dolan presented a summary of the past year's work by the club, which was followed by a musical program. The pianist was Debbie Harris and singers were Mrs. Fran Bordofsky, Darrell Shortes and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Stasey. The program concluded with Mrs. Leonard speaking on the various types of decorations used in the observance of Christmas.

covered with white linen. The main table held miniature black oil derricks with a flow of black "oil" flanking an arrangement of the company's symbol in red and white. Completing the decorations were other items representing the oil industry and centerpieces of cedar, red candles and colorful tree ornaments.

Save Glass Tables With Felt Cover

Furniture with glass-covered tops needs special care, for sudden changes and extremes of temperature and banging objects can chip, split, or shatter glass.

Felt backing, easily applied to the bottoms of lamps, ashtrays and knickknacks will help prevent breakage of the glass surface.

Kenneth Campbell spoke briefly on the history of the Continental Oil Company in this area, and the evening ended with group singing led by John Cardwell. The invocation was by Albert Midland, and the benediction was by Charlie Austin.

Lamesa Women Honor Employers

LAMESA (SC) — Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club honored their employers at a banquet Tuesday evening in Forrest Park Community Center. The annual affair was hosted by Mrs. L. E. Petty, Mrs. Floy Barfoot, Mrs. Virginia Wilson and Mrs. W. D. Pratt. Coy Whitten of Lubbock was guest speaker and discussed investments. Approximately 30 members and guests attended the banquet.

WHEN UNCLE SAM WANTS HIM

Should She Go With Him -- Or Stay Home?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Third in a four-part series by Marie Ryckman, staff writer for the Dayton Journal, giving information of vital interest to hundreds of couples across the country with military service clearly written in their future. Very early in their young married lives many young men and their wives are facing what may be their first serious problem as wedded couples—answering Uncle Sam's call. This may bring about separation, or new living surroundings, and very possibly, financial hardships. However, there are trained people, military and civilian organizations, and even laws to make things easier.

By MARIE RYCKMAN
Dayton Journal Staff Writer
DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—When her husband is drafted, should a wife live where he is stationed?

The services do not want the wives to follow their husbands to boot camp," says recruiting Sgt. Vernon Moore, U.S.A. "In the entire boot camp period, the draftee is allowed off the base only on weekends during the last five weeks of the eight-week period. He is not allowed off at all during the first three weeks."

Before leaving boot camp, the inductee will be given his new assignment. If he is sent to California, his wife should not follow him, Sgt. Moore advised, for he is probably about to be moved out (overseas).

However, if he is assigned to bases in other states, he might be there long enough to take his wife. The serviceman must request permission from his commanding officer to do so.

HOUSING DIFFICULT
Housing is always a difficult problem. Usually, when the commanding officer has given his permission, he has indicated that housing is available. However, rents are always very high around service bases.

The government provides no housing for the family of a serviceman who has had less than two years of service. Neither does it pay anything at all for the transportation of his wife to the permanent station. Some service bases in this country are located in high employment areas where there is often a need for more employees. Many others, however, are located in rather remote areas and opportunities are scarce.

GETTING JOB
Wives of servicemen who follow their husbands to permanent bases anyway and need to find jobs should call first on the state employment service office in the area in which they are relocated. This office will have a picture of the employment needs of that area, and try to fit the individual to the proper job opening.

Jobs on bases requiring high skills and greater training do not have high turnover rate and thus, there are seldom openings which could be filled by wives of draftees.

In high employment areas, according to Mr. Devlin, employers are constantly looking for usable skills, such as those of legal secretaries, stenographers, sales girls, dental assistants, nurses and therapists. In such areas, there should be good opportunity for jobs for service wives.

COMPENSATION?
Is the wife of a draftee who leaves her work here to go with her husband eligible to receive unemployment compensation while looking for a job?

Each claim is judged on its

own merit. If the wife meets the eligibility requirements in the number of credit weeks worked in covered employment, is available for work, and is actively looking for work, she would be eligible to receive compensation in accordance with the compensation laws of the liable state.

A draftee's wife, who may seek unemployment compensation benefits, should take with her when she files a claim her Social Security card and, in such cases, employment names and addresses of all employers for whom she has worked during the previous 15 months. Each employer is required to furnish her with a payroll ad-

With a few more starts than we make stops perhaps this week will see us off on a shopping spree to get the gift that we have been thinking up for our friends and family. . . . The little snap of cooler weather gives one a boost along the way, but the biggest boost comes from seeing all the decoration that friends are going to make gay the house with. A visit to the home of one friend, who always gets going early with her house decorations, was made even more remindful of the season by the basket of Christmas cookies given to her by MRS. W. A. HUNT . . . and they were delicious. Another friend has her Christmas pretties all lined up hoping that any day now she will be moved to get them placed in just the right spot. . . . I'm looking for just the right spot to hang the "Christmas Kissing Ball" given to me several years ago by MRS. WAYNE VAUGHN and which holds a place of cherished honor among my decorations. . . . and don't we all have some such keepsake that makes our Christmas happier?

A happy family was the one of LT. STEVE GATES who graduated Saturday from Webb AFB. His parents, MR. and MRS. H. B. GATES flew down from Colorado Springs, Colo. and his aunt and uncle, MR. and MRS. JONATHAN LANCASTER, came over from Kermit for the occasion. Also here were MR. and MRS. ROBERT LADLEY from Uvalde whose son, Robert, Steve's roommate, graduated.

Today is the day for the Red Dress Tea. Hours are from 2 until 5 at the home of MR. and MRS. JAMES BRUCE FRAZIER, 1606 E. 25th.

Not many families have the good fortune of having a family homecoming after so many years, but MRS. R. D. ULREY has just recently returned from such an affair at the old family home in Woodward, Okla. Her brother makes his home at the homeplace and was host to his four sisters and other members of the family. There were 25 relatives present for the big Thanksgiving Day meal at the farm home. The sisters present in addition to Mrs. Ulrey were MRS. E. F. BURGER and MRS. W. T. DAY of Byers, Colo., and MRS. OSA O'CONNOR of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Happy birthday a date late to MISS DITTY GILLULY whose real name I didn't know until I was grown and whose name I didn't know how to pronounce until Wednesday. It's Ethelyn, pronounced with the accent on the 'thel.'

This will be a happy Christmas season for the family of Army Spc. WELDON REDDOCH who has recently returned from a year of duty in Yung Tu, Viet Nam. His wife and baby made their home here during his overseas service and his mother, MRS. A. M. REDDOCH also lives here. Reddoch, a career Army man, will be stationed in Rucker, Ala., after Jan. 1.

MR. and MRS. JAMES UNDERWOOD of Andrews were here over the weekend to visit his father, W. A. UNDERWOOD, who is ill.

If you haven't sent in your donation for the TB Christmas Seals be sure and do so, and when you send your Christmas mail use the stamps to show you are cooperating with the program. . . . It helps a lot of people, and in the long run helps you, too.

Add Green Pepper To Celery Dish

Adding thin strips of green pepper or pimiento to creamed celery makes the dish attractive. Or easier yet, just sprinkle with paprika.

New TOPS Club See Cosmetics

The Thursday night TOPS Club met in the Texas Electric Reddy Room and were given a makeup demonstration by Mrs. Glenn Stallings, a representative of Merle Norman Cosmetics.

The total weight loss for the week was seven pounds.

New members being welcomed were Mrs. Lelia Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Cockerham, Mrs. Cecil Earp, Miss Leah Johnson, Miss Jo Fleener and Miss Margaret Cockerham.

Mrs. John J. Herbert, program chairman, announced some of the programs for the coming months.

The Christmas party will be held in the home of Mrs. Ronald Merideth at the corner of Hilltop Road and Birdwell on Dec. 17, starting at 7 p.m. At this time the members will also complete the Christmas basket for a needy family.

The next meeting will be Dec. 8, 7:30 p.m., at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. Anyone interested in attending may call Mrs. Herbert Doering at AM 7-6570 or Mrs. Ronald Merideth at AM 3-7108.

Model Holiday Fashions

OWC Opens Season With Choir, Fashions

Officers' Wives Club members at Webb Air Force Base and their guests heard "Angel Voices Singing" when this was chosen as the theme of Thursday's luncheon in the Officers Open Mess. The songs of Christmas were presented by the Goliad Junior High School Advanced Choir with those attending joining in singing the final selection, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

The other portion of the program was an informal showing of glittering holiday fashions from Zack's with Mrs. Jim Zack providing the commentary as background music was provided by Mrs. Imogene Lloyd, pianist. During the social hour in the Fireplace Room, representatives of Faye's Flowers showed holiday arrangements and answered questions concerning decorations for the home.

The fashion models were Mrs. Dan Daniel, Mrs. James White, Mrs. W. L. Nelson, Mrs. J. M. Fitzsimmons, Mrs. H. C. Hill, Mrs. E. M. Bunn, Mrs. L. M. Terrill, Mrs. Nancy Cole, Mrs. B. W. Cofer, Mrs. Roger Blume, Mrs. W. D. Lund and Mrs. Roy Peterson.

"Partridges in Pear Trees" was the decoration theme. Place markers were stuffed felt partridges and a large felt pear tree graced the head table. A blue and green color scheme was used in all decorations, and many were given as attendance prizes. Winners were Mrs. J. O. Ahnert, Mrs. Dennis Angellanti, Mrs. La Verne Brinegar, Mrs. Judy Pedlar, Mrs. R. L. Rader, Mrs. T. L. Thomas, Mrs. Claudia Rider, Mrs. G. A. Phillips, Mrs. R. G. Piland, Mrs. Pat Boe, Mrs. Carol Lang and Mrs. O. L. Bankhead Jr.

Newcomers welcomed were Mrs. Don E. Brinegar, Mrs. Elaine Van Pelt, Mrs. Cathya Koropke, Mrs. Gordan Pedlar, Mrs. Tom Weinde and Mrs. H. J. Hopper. Farewells were said to Mrs. Gayle Truc, Mrs. Phyllis Mott, Mrs. Darlene Sorenson, Mrs. Pat Manning, Mrs. Nan Rider, Mrs. Sharon Jacobs, Mrs. Joyce Carroll, Mrs. Karen Walker, Mrs. Mary Jo Reeves, Mrs. Sarah Hunter, Mrs. Nancy Cole, Mrs. Judy Farmer, Mrs. Geri Hopper and Mrs. Nancy Zastrow.

Guests were Mrs. Gertrude Pedlar, Sue Bomar, Mrs. D. Ross, Mrs. M. Longbottom, Mrs. John Holland, Mrs. Tom Brown, Mrs. Roy Minear, Mrs. John Cox, Mrs. Vic Zoehler, Mrs. B. W. Whipkey, Mrs. Aubrey Bryans and Mrs. Jim Pierce.

Others were Mrs. John Anen, Mrs. Charles Read, Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. Robert Tingley, Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. John Suter Jr., Susie Muerer, Mrs. H. T. Hanson, Mrs. James R. Hyman, Mrs. Donald Van Meter, Mrs. Mary Kay Nichols, Mrs. Phyllis Graumann, Mrs. Albert Hohertz, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. S. J. During the fashion showing, Mrs. Roy Peterson modeled a bright fuschia held up by barely-there straps.

For less formal affairs such as luncheons or teas, Mrs. Roger Blume showed a Sherwood green double knit relaxed sheath complemented with a full coat repeating the same worn by Mrs. J. M. Fitzsimmons. The brief bodice was covered with shining paillettes and the skirt was eased with gathered fullness under the bustline. Seductive black lace, threaded at the Empire bodice with soft red satin, was shown by Mrs. L. M. Terrill. The shell effect of the bodice was flared and attached to the gown.

Bright and beautiful was the printed chiffon cage over a matching sheath chosen for holiday dancing by Mrs. Nancy Cole. The fullness of the fabric, in tones of green, orchid, pink and orange, was caught at the back neckline with pink velvet streamers.

A slender shaft of gold metallic brocade suited Mrs. James White. The shoulder design was inspired by a Grecian drape, and the slim skirt extended to a trumpet flare at the back. Perhaps in the same dancing party, Mrs. E. M. Bunn liked the looks of a can-can shift, its tiers of ruffles in

WEBB WINDSOCK

By KARLA FLECKSIG
Capt. and Mrs. Glenn Vorres and children spent Thanksgiving in Layntree, Tex., at a real old-fashioned family reunion. Thirty of Mrs. Vorres' relatives were assembled for the feast. An interesting sidelight to the event was Mrs. Vorres' "opportunity" to kill a rattlesnake!

Miss Dixie Brown, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Wesley Brown, was home for the Thanksgiving weekend. Coming with Dixie from Loretto Heights College in Denver, Colo., were three of her dormmates. Also spending the weekend with the Browns was Cadet Richard White. He is the son of Col. and Mrs. Edward White, formerly of Webb AFB.

Connecting Doors Give Extra Room

Certain rooms seem to call for connecting doors. For example, the bedroom and dressing room, and the kitchen and dining area.

Pretty, practical wood louver doors are often the answer.

As connecting doors, louvers have two special assets: a slim, classic look that makes them equally appropriate for contemporary or traditional decor — such as a modern kitchen on one side and a formal dining room on the other; and a slat design that offers both privacy and a sense of "openness." This maintains the separateness of the rooms while tying them together.

Tells Plans

The announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Carla Jean Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pierce, 616 Buckenberger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Seidenberger Sr. of Garden City. The wedding is scheduled for Jan. 21 in the immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church with the Rev. Francis Beazley officiating.

New Gadget Is Household Fad

In an era of battery-powered appliances, the newest addition is a paper towel dispenser operating on two standard flashlight batteries. Push a button, a towel unrolls, and the gadget stops automatically when the button is released. One set of batteries will power the dispenser for one year, says the manufacturer.

What's A Fellow To Do?

What's a fellow to do when mother takes him to a tea party? Dangle his feet from a chair that's too high, and speak only when spoken to, or, like young Dale Kerwin Brown, find a big chair that provides a corner of escape while waiting it out? Frank Brandon, Herald photographer, spotted Dale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brown, during Tuesday's meeting of Ambassador Club wives.

President Named By Lutherans

Mrs. Leroy Budke was named president of the St. Paul Lutheran Church Parish Workers during a meeting held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Albert Hohertz, 2800 Parkway. Mrs. Ronald Wasson was cohostess.

To serve with Mrs. Budke are Mrs. Bob Roeber, vice president; Mrs. Clair Wiederhoff, second vice president; Mrs. Marlin Gieseke, secretary; and Mrs. Moran Oppgaard, treasurer. Mrs. William Lund was introduced as a new member.

Mrs. Frank Long, the presiding officer, announced that the group will have a Christmas party Dec. 18 at the Parish Hall. At that time, members will bring gifts to be donated to patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

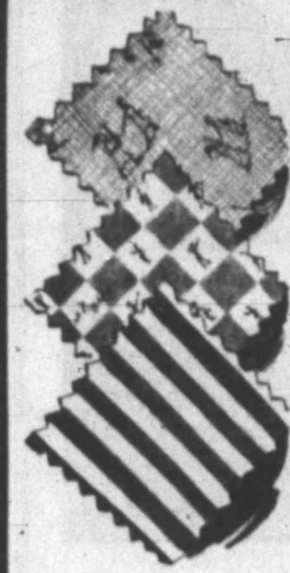

Twenty-one attended, including a new member, Miss Joan Lyster.

Press Clothes To Insure Packing

Before packing away summer clothes press everything. Pressed clothes take less space to pack than wrinkled ones and they'll require only a touchup with an iron next spring. Stuff sleeves with paper towels to help them keep their shape and prevent creases. When a box is filled, loosely stuff the air space with crumpled tissue paper or paper towels to prevent clothes from shifting when the box is carried around or stored.

YOUR Horoscope Forecast for Tomorrow

By Carroll Righter

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much study can get you to penetrate within the heart of any conditions facing you but you would be wise to really live the Golden Rule and not get involved with anyone who is not up and doing along lines... at last, think-out action that is also of a high order. Being silent for awhile brings accurate answers.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A day to plan how to best co-ordinate efforts with others toward a more ambitious future. Do something thoughtful for them. Scheduling activities and labor for the week ahead intelligently is the first good step in right direction.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Doing whatever will make you a more charming and increasing prestige to wise during day, and then be sure you do something especially thoughtful for others. Get into that hobby you have been working on. Complete or perfect it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid those arguments at home by interesting kin in some outside projects. Please all. Forget irritations and start a new era of well being. It is only a matter of good leadership on your part.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Much care on the road and in motion everywhere saves you accidents that could be avoided. Any statements you need to work on, reading to be done can be gotten into in p.m. Have everything in order.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Avoid running around and spending money like water and later regret your extravagances. Be more economical instead save for the proverbial rainy day. Plan how to earn more in the near future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of making radical changes around you get yourself in hand, since you are under tensions of some sort or another. Improve your health. Concentrate on whatever is pleasant instead of being almost morbid.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Still looking at all those tasks ahead of you and doing nothing about them? Schedule your time wisely and you get them out of the way quickly. Get into others around you with your earnestness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get your work done quickly around the house and stop depending on friends who aren't around when you want them to be. Avoid the alcohol which can certainly get on your nerves. Take it easy tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are tempted to step out and make a bit of a spectacle of yourself trying to have a good time, but would be criticized by highlights. Get into some civic work instead. Do something helpful while enjoying prestige.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) By concentrating more on bettering your life, finding new outlets that are possible, instead of gadding about with persons you know little about, you make progress. Avoid one in particular who is overly glamorous.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Keeping promises made is best instead of trying to promote something new that partners do not care to hear about. Do some philosophical studying. A companion who is straight thinking can be of real assistance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You can disturb a partner greatly if you do not keep a promise made and do not put on some unnecessary tension. Do not sever connections that you would later regret. This could also be very bad for you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN today he, or she, will be one of those very meticulous young people who will want everything to be orderly and neat and speak loudly around him, or her, so be sure you have just that kind of atmosphere around you. Get best results in bringing this fine child up. Early on, also, to be more concerned with the very important issue of life first, and then with the minute, for greatest success.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: All kinds of upsets can be in effect today and tonight so make sure that you do nothing to add to the difficulties that can occur from the planetary positions. You have some unusual cause under which to operate that requires a very exact result, so use the clinical method in pursuing any investigations, occupations or importance.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't endeavor to slough off your duties on the shoulders of others or you lose their respect and further co-operation in the future. Have that little talk with coworker. Be sure to be diplomatic, however.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) It would be wiser to buy that special gift for close tie that will be quite costly instead of going out to have expensive and unnecessary fun. Show husband you are sensible also. Indulge in quiet, inexpensive pleasure tonight in almost any way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid arguing with anyone you can cause much disturbance around the home, bring disharmony. Go about quietly and make any adjustments that are necessary. Bring order where there is almost chaos.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Show diplomacy and tact in speaking with others since they may misinterpret whatever you say, if you are not careful. Be patient. Certain interests are not working out just as you intended them to. Make better plans.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be more serious and sensible and you can complete those practical tasks ahead of you with relative ease, much success. Don't depend on money expert who has been helpful in the past. He or she, could be very busy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be altruistic as well as ambitious for yourself right now. You have to make rather difficult decisions, but can do so quite easily. Put on your thinking

Save Hands By Using Wall Mop

Use a sponge mop for scrubbing kitchen walls. As your hands will not be touching the wall, you can use a stronger detergent for the task.

HINTS FROM HELOISE
This Keeps Oil From Soiling Your Shelves

Dear Heloise: I have no idea what brand (or what kind) of cooking oil women use that make a film on the outside of their bottles and their shelves.

For myself, I cut off the bottom of a large plastic bleach container (about three inches high) and set my family-size bottle of cooking oil in this container. It fits almost perfectly. Of course, for the smaller bottles of oil use smaller plastic bottle bottoms.

Mrs. R. L. Brownburg

Now, I think you have really topped them all! Who in this wide, wide world of troubles would think to set a bottle of cooking oil down into that FREE little plastic bottle? Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here is a telephone tip for everyone, but especially for busy places where there is lots of noise — like offices, stores, homes where radio or TV are blaring or kids screaming! (My sister gave me this tip about 35 years ago when she was a switchboard operator.)

When the noise around you makes it difficult to hear the conversation on the phone, during the intervals of listening, cover the mouthpiece with your free hand.

This prevents the noise from going into the telephone and interfering with the incoming message.

To put it in worse verse: "On the telephone, when it's hard to hear, "Don't stick a finger in your other ear; "Instead, cover the mouthpiece with your hand, "and the message will come through just grand!"

Mrs. E.E.B.

Dear Heloise: Last year I saved my plastic lemons instead of throwing them away when the juice was gone.

Before Christmas I gathered them together and had a lot of fun making tree ornaments with them.

I sprayed some with gold paint and sprinkled gold glitter on them while still wet. Others I sprayed with snow and silver glitter.

I pushed straight pins (the kind with big heads) into the tops where the juice came out, tied metallic thread around the pin heads and hung my new ornaments on the tree.

Not only do these look beautiful, but they are nonbreakable and can be decorated to match any color scheme.

I have some new ideas on how to fix the plastic lemons I have saved this year... Nucia Reimers

LETTER OF LOVE

Dear Heloise: As a token of your love and appreciation to a mother or father so dear, and yet so often taken for granted:

Send them flowers on YOUR birthday, thanking them for the life they gave you... Joe

Dear Heloise: I always had trouble keeping my sleeveless dresses on hangers.

As we buy a lot of buns, I find the flat little plastic gadgets that hold the bun packages and some types of bread closed... work real well to hold my dresses on the hangers... Mildred Tehl

Dear Heloise: A small sugar scoop is great for putting the stuffing in your roast turkey, chicken, etc.

Saves a lot of muss, fuss and bother... S. C.

Dear Heloise: Maybe this is not news... but I think the best way to clean patent leather shoes and purses is just plain-oie kitchen-vinegar. It even removes white lines around shoes from rain, etc... Another reader

Dear Abby

She Needs Some Help

DEAR ABBY: I have a dear friend who after nine years of childless marriage has given up all hope of ever bearing a child. She's arranged to adopt a baby next February when the expectant mother (who is now in a home for unwed mothers) delivers. Well, my friend does not intend to tell anyone she's ADOPTING a child. She's going to say she gave birth to it herself!

Only her husband and I know of her scheme. Her own mother doesn't even know. She's confided that she is going to "pad" herself in front with pillows so she'll look like she's carrying a child. She's even planning on checking into a hospital when the baby is due! I told her she'd never get away with it.

Last night she wore a maternity dress and a small pillow and she really looked pregnant. She says she has pillows of all sizes. What do you make of this?

HER FRIEND: I think she's shockingly obsessed with bearing a child. If she were MY friend, I'd suggest that she "confide" her scheme to her doctor. Anyone who is so far out of touch with reality strikes me as a very poor candidate for motherhood. Any kind.

DEAR ABBY: You told a reader that a host NEVER should accept money from a houseguest in return for hospitality. How about this?

Five months ago my husband and I moved to Florida from the north. Suddenly everyone who knew us up north became our best pals just so they could come to Florida for a cheap vacation—at OUR expense.

So far we have had four sets of houseguests. Each set consisted of a family of four, and they all stayed a week or longer. We had to feed them three meals a day, and I did all the housework and laundry without help. One couple did offer to "help" with the grocery expenses, so we let them.

My husband is a police officer and brings home the grand total of $85 a week. NOW will you retract your statement?

FLORIDA RESIDENTS: DEAR RESIDENTS: I had reference to "HOUSEGUESTS"—people who visit by invitation. Your visitors appear to be self-invited free loaders, in which case not only were you justified in "accepting" their money, you should have requested it in advance.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Men Say Loud "No" To Designers' Extreme Fashions

"No" is the vote on this black broadtail pants suit trimmed with red vinyl and designed by Jacques Kaplan. However, an approving "yes" said the restaurateurs of the beige lace and enka nylon night gown and peignoir by Hollywood Vassarette. Another "no" came from the judges on the pretty velveteen pant suit with frilly lace collar created by Victor Joris of Cuddiecoats, and "no" was the shout among the men on this slippery black mini-skirted dress by Betsy Johnson for Paraphernalia.

Maitre d's Good Arbiters Of Gay Night Life Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON NEW YORK (AP)—For too long, designers, buyers and fashion magazine editors have considered themselves to be the arbiters of the styles women wear.

They are not. The men who stand at the velvet ropes of posh restaurants and night spots arbitrarily deciding who shall or shall not enter their establishment are the real fashion pacesetters.

What does it matter if designers decide that pants suits or culottes or mini-skirts are perfectly acceptable party fare if the man at the door decides these garments are at-home clothes?

CULOTTES

Susannah York, for example, wore her pretty glittering party culottes to the elite Colony Club only to have manager Joe Cavallero Jr. politely but firmly refuse admittance. In order to determine what will truly survive in the chic spots, we set up a panel of distinguished restaurateurs. They were Edward Zwaaf of L'Etoile, Nino Schiavon, of the Drake Hotel, Gene Cavallero, of the Colony, and Leo Shanley, of Sherry's. Cord Hamilton, in a silver brocade tie of Arthur Discotheque, arrived too late to add many opinions.

With 30 members of the American Press Institute Seminar for Women's Editors as witnesses, we paraded before them various questionable styles.

The most tolerant was Zwaaf of L'Etoile on the matter of party pants. The mini-dress by Betsy Johnson, called noise dress because the brass rings on the hemline jingled, got nowhere. Nino, Cavallero, and Shanley were adamant about pants. They admitted they were attractive . . . "but for the home."

DELIGHTFUL

Appreciative cries of delight came from all the men who agreed that "yes indeed," the lady in the long lace coat and dress would add class to their places. But the lady was wearing an enka nylon nightgown from Hollywood Vassarette.

The men were not fooled by a pair of culotte pajamas, appropriately by Eye-ful, or a one-shoulder gown by Rudi Gernreich. They recognized that these belong in the boudoir.

A chic suit was satisfactory until the girl removed her jacket. It's designer, Pat Sandler for Highlight, had substituted a polka dotted bra for a blouse.

"She'd have to keep her jacket buttoned," was the consensus.

If you have small children in the house, do not store household cleaning compounds within their reach. Opening a bottle or can and breathing the fumes often can be as dangerous as tasting the contents. One way to banish guess-work and worry is to use safe substitutes such as baking soda for day-to-day cleaning during the dangerous touch - and - taste - everything stage.

"WE HAVE AN OBLIGATION TO FILL IN VIET NAM"
Capt. Carl Wyrick, veteran of two hitches in war-torn Asian land

Returned Pilot Believes We Belong In Viet Nam

By SAM BLACKBURN
Capt. Carl Wyrick, who has already served two hitches in Viet Nam, doesn't know if he will have to go back again, but if he does, he says he wouldn't complain too much.

"I wouldn't mind," he says. "I feel we have an obligation to those people. You can't help feeling that way, once you have had a chance to see and talk to them in their own land."

Capt. Wyrick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wyrick, Coahoma, is, to all practical purposes, a Howard County native. He was born in Rusk, but he moved with his family to Coahoma as a small boy.

"I attended school from the first through the twelfth grade at Coahoma," he says, "and when I attended Howard County Junior College." He also was a student for a time at the University of Maryland and the University of North Carolina.

"I haven't finished college yet," smiled the 32-year-old pilot, who has been in the Air Force since 1954. "When I get out of the service I plan to go back to school."

Wyrick's first round in Viet Nam was in 1962. He stayed seven months that time and in September, 1965, again found himself in that same troubled land. He returned to the states Nov. 1 and will begin his duties in a few weeks as an instructor at Webb AFB, where he will be attached to the 3560th Training Command.

In all, Capt. Wyrick has flown 359 missions in Viet Nam. He flew 131 of these on his first hitch and 228 on the second go-round.

His last work with the Air Force in the war zone was as a C-130 troop carrier pilot. Two months ago, he and five other pilots in as many planes were busy shuttling troops and supplies into the hotly contested area where Operation Thayer was under way.

His base was Taiwan (Formosa) but in the Thayer action, he and his fellow C-130 pilots flew in 35 miles and back 35 miles in a round-the-clock delivery of men and supplies to the battle zone. The airplanes, from necessity, flew their missions at low levels.

There were no antiaircraft guns in enemy hands in the area, he said.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

An Election Cost Him His Hide

By ED SYER
For some time, I've figured we'd about cleared OBT's buffalo orange: you keep turning up stories. So El Paso's maybe-fastest shootout on record, some Texas champion trees and a grim Indian - history pivot in East Texas' Killough Massacre will have to wait awhile. Here's Eagle Pass' Clifford O. Lawrence and a new wrinkle in the shaggy old bison's hide:

"When I read CBT, it makes me want to spin yarns with you . . . also reminds me I am getting along in years and we're interested in the same thing: 'searching our heritage,' as you say. Take your recent buffalo articles . . .

"Quite some years ago I opened a law office in the courthouse at Brackettville (US 90 west for Pecos). I hadn't been there long before probating a will . . . (that paid me) a very fine buffalo hide.

I placed it on my office floor, much to my wife's disgust.

DOGS LIKED IT

"She was insistent I get rid of it. I thought a lot of it and so did a pack of mongrel dogs that roamed the city. They'd come in every morning around 9 a.m., to roll and lounge on that hide regardless of what business being transacted. This created quite a furor and upset my wife something terrible. I constantly defended that hide; it got to be an issue.

"It wasn't long before an election. I had an opponent and a pretty good scrap on my hands, and I didn't win with too great a margin. I was mighty relieved.

"Next morning when I came to my office, there stood (let's call him John), a Seminole Indian and about six or eight of his family—all grinning like possums happy with somebody's best chicken . . . and all of them with perfectly good poll taxes.

LOST HIS HIDE

"I suspected the worst and sure enough it was worse than that. 'John' informed me he'd come after the buffalo hide. Inside my office, another group was already rolling it up.

"After much talk, 'the facts' came out. My wife had promised them the buffalo hide . . . provided, I won."

"Moral? You're figuring ahead of oldtimer Lawrence's story. He never concluded you can win, still lose your hide. That was, and is, mine.

But our old timers had a way of seeing things straight, didn't they?"

Big Spring: Transportation Center

Excerpted from "Big Spring" by Shine Philips

"East of Big Spring is the 'old road' that led to Colorado where most of the lumber came from. It was shipped to Colorado by train and then on out here by oxen trains with long wagons coupled together. It had to come over hills that it would be hard to make in even a modern car and then when they got the wagon on top, the hard part of it was to get the durn oxen out of the way to let the wagon roll. One hill in particular is terribly steep and the old wagon ruts show that it must have been a dilly to try to steer some dumb oxen over, pulling a string of big-wheeled wagons. Often as many as sixteen yoke to two to four wagons, loaded with lumber, moved at the terrible speed of from three to ten miles a day. It was kind of like flying—the weather had a lot to do with it and if you haven't seen any West Texas steers — I'll tell you they are mighty 'tempermental.' The cowhands and wagon bosses carried the difference in the long whips they toted and their aim was mighty accurate. They could hit the rear of a steer twenty feet away and where it hurt most. These long whips were great 'persuaders', but a steer has only two gear shifts — one low and the other backward."

Gins Turn At Capacity But Cotton Piling Up

More than 30,000 bales of cotton were ginned through Friday noon and an additional 5,600 bales were on the yards awaiting processing. Production is holding at a remarkably high per acre figure with about 45,000 acres planted to cotton this year, the prospects for a crop averaging better than an acre a bale to the acre are the brightest in the county's history on a per acre basis. Reports of phenomenal production on many farms are common. Some farmers tell of small plots in their fields where an average of 2 1/2 to three bales has been stripped. One bale an acre cotton is the rule; better than a bale is common place.

TYPICAL SCENE ON HOWARD COUNTY COTTON GIN YARDS THESE DAYS
500 bales of 1966 cotton await processing at Big Spring Co-op Gin

and his idle stripper." Ideal weather continues. This is of great importance to the farmers. Occasionally, early morning dew keeps the strippers out of the fields for a while, but on most mornings, the work gets under way as soon as it is light enough to get into the fields.

Gins are working around the clock. One ginner, where more than 700 bales of cotton are stacked up in trailers awaiting turns at the gin, estimated he had "a week's work on hand right now."

Fairview gin continues to lead the parade in the total number of bales ginned. Friday noon the gin had handled 5,997 bales and had a backlog of 770 on hand.

In Big Spring, Cooperative had ginned 3,283 bales and had 674 on the lot. Guitars has ginned 1,561 and estimated 600 bales were waiting. Planters Gin has handled 2,915 and has 750 on the lot.

Lomax has ginned 3,465 bales. There were 350 bales on the yard at noon Friday.

Knott's Cooperative, 3,140 ginned, 730 on hand; Planters, 2,422 ginned and 200 waiting; Guitar, 1,930 ginned, 200 on hand.

Coahoma's two gins reported: Guitar 1,375 bales and 150 on hand; Acuff, 1,480 bales ginned and 542 on the yard.

Luther community's Planters gin has ginned 2,600 bales and had 600 waiting. Vincent's cooperative has ginned 1,530 and had 220 on hand.

Sentenced Passed

Rodney Johnson, charged with frauding with a worthless check, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Friday afternoon. Judge Ralph Caton sentenced the man to three years but probated the sentence on good behavior.

Ambulance Ordinance Calls For Rigid Regulations

Emergency ambulance service returned to Big Spring Thursday, and Tuesday the Big Spring City Commission will consider the city's first ordinance designed to regulate all ambulance services using city streets.

Bruce Frazier, after negotiating contracts with the City of Big Spring and County of Howard, launched Alert Ambulance Service to fill the void created when the city's only existing such service was stopped. For several weeks, the city has had no emergency service except for a fire department station wagon that was provided as a stop-gap measure.

The new ordinance is designed to assure residents of a safe, first class ambulance service, according to John Burgess, city attorney, and was drawn after studying similar ordinances of other Texas cities. Although it is quite specific and strict for operators of emergency ambulance services, it requires very little of those providing only transfer service.

TERMINOLOGY

As proposed, the ordinance requires all ambulance operators to have a permit, costing $24 per year. Emergency service is described as the unscheduled transfer of persons injured or critically ill, and apparent that such persons will suffer serious harm unless medical attention is received at the earliest possible time.

Transfer service is defined as routine moving of ill persons, not requiring the use of sirens, red lights or exceeding the speed limit.

The permit for emergency service will require 24 hour continuous service, and permit the use of sirens and red lights, and ambulances may exceed the posted speed limit by 10 miles per hour.

PERMITS REQUIRED

The permits will be required of all persons operating ambulances on the city streets, Burgess pointed out. The applicant must not have been previously convicted of a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; must provide liability insurance; must have a permit from the State Department of Public Health; must provide a description and appropriate serial numbers of the ambulances the applicant plans to use.

The city commission will act on all applications of ambulance services, holding the usual public hearing. The commission will determine the "public convenience and necessity" of the service, hearing all witnesses of the applicant, as well as anyone opposing the permit.

Concerning "public convenience and necessity," the ordinance describes this as determining if the ambulance service will be located to benefit the citizens of Big Spring and that it will not adversely affect existing ambulance services so as to lower the standards of service in the city.

RECORDS AND MECHANICS

The proposal provides that the books and records of the operator's permit must be open for inspection by the city manager at all reasonable hours. All ambulances under the ordinance must be free of structural defects with no serious impairment of any safety feature resulting from an accident or other event.

Emergency ambulances must be equipped with a stretcher, clean linens, two blankets, and a sanitary mattress cover; a backboard; two lower extremity splints and two upper extremity splints; an oxygen therapy unit with at least 1,000 pounds of oxygen in the tank; one quart of liquid fire extinguisher or 2 1/2 pounds of CO2 or 2 1/2 pounds of dry chemical extinguisher; a first aid kit; one or more red lights mounted on top of the vehicle visible from a 360 degree coverage; a siren approved by the police department.

Frazier has contracted to offer emergency service for a six months trial period, with the city agreeing to guarantee the first 90 per cent of his billings, in the event of default. The county agreed to pay the costs of indigent calls.

Frazier's agreement provides a charge of $15 for transfer service. For emergency calls, he will add to this basic charge the cost of oxygen, licensed nurse in attendance, mileage for long trips, and standby service.

He told commissioners he planned to qualify 30 first-aid trained people to respond to calls on a continuous basis, in addition to 15 chauffeur-licensed drivers with first aid cards.

Billy R. Jenkins, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jenkins, Stanton, received an early promotion to Army private E-2 on completion of basic combat training at Ft. Bliss, Nov. 10.

He was awarded the promotion two months earlier than is customary because of his accuracy in firing the M-14 rifle, high score on the physical combat proficiency test and his military bearing and leadership abilities.

Navy Communication Technician Third Class Ronald M. Brown, 19, a member of the staff of Commander Seventh Fleet, was promoted Nov. 16

He has been with the Seventh Fleet since January, 1965.

During a ceremony in the fleet commander's cabin, Brown was presented his promotion certificate by Vice Admiral John J. Hyland, Commander of the Seventh Fleet.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound. (Isaiah 61:1)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, we need Thee every moment. Help us to find in Thee the strength to meet life's obligations. In the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Redeemer, we ask. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

New Revenue Sources For Cities

The problem of the city of Big Spring with its wage and salary schedules under present revenues is one that will not be easily solved, and a solution may be some time in coming.

The city administration, concerned with what appears to be an abnormally large turnover in employment, has called upon a special committee of 31 businessmen to look at the picture, and offer some suggestions. While the committee might do just that—suggest—the responsibility of finally determining the city budget rests with the duly elected city commission.

Perhaps more heads will help. The mere creation of the committee indicates the gravity of the situation.

What may be worse is that Big Spring is certainly not alone. Small towns, large cities, are faced with the same woes.

Their leaders have been pushing for a long time for the Texas Legislature to make possible more sources of revenue for municipalities, and this is a must. The property tax no longer can carry the burden.

There is some question of the efficacy of a city sales tax; indeed, Gov. John Connally has spoken out against it. Some cities might adopt such a levy; others might not, and there would be a checkerboard result in Texas that could affect what actually is a competition between cities for trade and industry.

A new method of levying personal property taxes, or even one on automobiles; these, and others, have been suggested. Perhaps more could be tacked on municipal services, but the net take might be small. There is also the idea of a state revenue refund.

There seems to be no immediate panacea. But good judgment will have to be exercised. The demands on cities for such things as sanitation, street improvement, police and fire protection grow all the time. But there is reluctance to cough up the tax dollars to meet these demands. The money is going to have to come from some source.

Opportunity In Vocational Training

Big Spring has an opportunity to become the vocational training center for a large area of West Texas.

Few realize that the program at Big Spring High School has been expanded remarkably under the new building program. Exposure to training in trades, aside from the on-the-job programs in which our schools pioneered, is now a reality for high school students. It will be interesting to see what effect this has on dropouts at the higher grade level, and to see what effect it has in creating job placement. On one or both counts, this program is bound to prove increasingly beneficial.

At Howard County Junior College, where some vocational training already is in the curriculum, planning has begun on a vocational building.

This would broaden the programs now offered in the Practical Arts building and should complement the high school program to some extent. Certainly, students exposed to training in a special field for a couple of years in high school and two more at junior college level would have every chance of emerging as craftsmen about ready to produce.

The professions have an appeal to young people (who get a lot of encouragement if not pressure from their parents in this direction), but the hard fact of life is that the technicians, the mechanics, the skilled hands, the supervisors, the people equipped by experience to assume administrative responsibilities, are those who will fill most of the functions in a community and area. We have a great opportunity in this direction.

Marquis Childs

Conflict Of Interest In The Court

WASHINGTON — With the federal government spending ever more incredible billions of dollars each year, the power to influence that spending grows by a geometric ratio. Not only the executive but the legislative and even the judicial branches are enmeshed in the golden web of who gets what and why.

Conflict of interest covers a multitude of relations—members of Congress who benefit from law firms operating in the sphere of government, friends of the big contractors, lobbyists with their lines into congressional offices.

RECOGNIZING concern among conscientious public officials and increasing public cynicism, the Federal Bar Association, made up of lawyers in government service and those formerly in government, is holding next week a two-day seminar on conflict of interest.

Disclosure of all assets may be one answer, whether made to the public or in private to a commission. Many judges would welcome that requirement as would many members of Congress. The dilemma is shown in a sharp light by a recent incident that is the subject of much private speculation here. And it ties in with another deeply disturbing phenomenon, which is electronic bugging revealed in two sensational lawsuits.

ON OCT. 16 the Los Angeles Times disclosed that Justice William O. Douglas received $12,000 a year from the Parvin Foundation of which he is a trustee. The other trustees, among them President Robert F. Goheen of Princeton and Robert M. Hutchins of the Fund for the Republic, receive no compensation.

When this was revealed the Supreme Court was considering the appeal of Fred E. Black Jr., Washington lobbyist, from his income tax conviction on the ground that bugging by the FBI in private conversations in his suite in the Carlton Hotel here violated his constitutional rights. Bobby Baker's conversations were also bugged both in the Carlton and in a hotel-gambling casino in Las Vegas, the Fremont.

IT HAPPENS that the principal assets of the Parvin Foundation are a mortgage on the Flamingo and an interest in the Fremont contributed by Albert B. Parvin, who has holdings in three other Las Vegas gambling casinos. He is head of Parvin-Dohrman, specializing in furnishing restaurants and hotels, with principal clients on the Las Vegas strip.

In mid-October the report is said to have circulated at the highest level in the Department of Justice that the justices in their conference room in the marble temple the Supreme Court occupies were divided four to three in favor of a new trial for Black.

THE REVELATION of his income from the Parvin Foundation could conceivably lead Justice Douglas to disqualify himself. Justice Abe Fortas had already disqualified himself because he had been Baker's lawyer and Justice Byron White had also ruled himself out because he had been Deputy Attorney General when the Black case was initiated. With Douglas out this would have left the court tied, three to three, and Black's conviction would have stood.

But Douglas saw no reason to disqualify himself. The final vote to give Black a new trial, with presumably one of the doubtful justices joining the majority, was five to two.

WITHIN THE COURT there is understandable concern if the division within the conference room was in fact known to outsiders. Could this knowledge have come through an electronic bugging device? In the atmosphere of palace intrigue fed by these devices it is regarded as not impossible.

ASIDE FROM the sinister aspect of this possible invasion of privacy at the highest level, Douglas' friends believe he was the victim of a deliberate attempt to impair his judicial standing. He has said he saw nothing wrong in accepting the $12,000, nearly one-third his salary of $39,500. But his friends are also asking whether he would not have been in a stronger position if he had, under a uniform statute, disclosed this salary. These are questions Congress will be called on to answer.

Jack Lefler

Government Tries Housing Transfusion

NEW YORK (AP) — The government acted during the week to pump new life into the badly ailing housing industry.

President Johnson released $250 million in special funds to finance the purchase of mortgages from savings and loan associations and other lenders who write mortgages.

The action came at a time when housing starts had slumped to a 20-year low.

The mortgage financing assistance will come from the Federal National Mortgage Association, a federal agency. Congress earlier this year authorized the agency to spend $1 billion in support of housing.

The government will make the funds available only for houses on which construction has not yet begun.

Another restriction is that only mortgages that are no larger than $15,000 will be purchased except in high-cost areas.

MONEY SHORTAGE
A shortage of money in the hands of savings and loan associations and other lenders has made it extremely difficult recently for those who want to buy houses to find mortgage financing.

F. W. Dodge Co., a construction and marketing information concern, reported that further weakening in the housing market caused the total value of construction contracts awarded in October to fall to $4,106,093,000 from $4,355,890,000 a year earlier.

Continued large gains in most kinds of nonresidential construction last month failed to offset the 35 per cent drop from October, 1965 in the value of contracts awarded for residential construction.

October's contract statistics showed further movement along the direction that construction has been taking ever since early spring, when credit scarcity began to distort this market," Dodge said. "The year's cumulative increase in total contract value reached a high of 11 per cent at the end of March, and since has dwindled steadily to the current four per cent as the home building situation has become progressively worse."

The question of an income tax increase in 1967 remained up in the air.

President Johnson was working on his budget for the 1967-68 fiscal year that may total a record $140 billion, and was reported still undecided about a tax increase.

"It's still a 50-50 chance," one government source said.

Johnson announced he had whittled $5.3 billion off federal spending programs, of which $3 billion would be saved in the current fiscal year.

Suspension of the seven per cent investment credit in October apparently had little effect on buyers of new machine tools as orders slipped only slightly from the September level.

OFF-BUT UP
Net new bookings were off two per cent in October from September but were 15 per cent above the October, 1965 level.

November orders were reported to have continued at a pace close to October's.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that factories are running at closer to capacity than at any time in more than a decade. However, its analysts found that inflationary strains from this source have leveled off in recent months.

The board said manufacturers operated at 91 per cent of capacity in each of the first three quarters of this year, the highest since the last quarter of 1955 when the rate also was 91 per cent.

- #### MIXED SIGNS
- $250 million of $1 billion allowable is prescribed
 - Commercial building up, but residential off 35 pct.
 - Tax credit suspension appears to have little effect
 - Factories said operating at 91 pct. of capacity
 - Automobile output up for week, but down from last year

Automobile production for the week was estimated at 201,500 passenger cars against 155,625 the previous week, when production was curtailed by Thanksgiving Day, but was seven per cent behind the 216,932 built a year ago.

Chrysler Corp. elevated Lynn Townsend, president, to chairman, and Virgil E. Boyd, group vice president - domestic automotive, to president. Chairman George Loe will retire Jan. 1.

Steel production during the week dipped 1.4 per cent to 528,000 tons from 2,656,000 the previous week.

What Others Say

Lobbyists and agents for foreign interests may be just a little puzzled by the unanimity—284-0—with which the House has voted to tighten restrictions on their political activities and expenditures in the U. S. For a number of the legislators voting had been, in the past, recipients of campaign contributions from lobbyists and foreign agents.

Plainly, these restrictions are long overdue. Still, the foreign agents and lobbyists may be pardoned for wondering when—or if—Congress is going to abandon its double standard and require its members to disclose more fully their own campaign receipts and expenditures. And it's a legitimate bit of wonder—

Around The Rim

Call 'Em Like You See 'Em

Nobody ever said the English language was an uncomplicated thing. Those of foreign tongues struggle valiantly with it, and most of us born and bred abuse it terribly.

This may not shake the world, but comes now a bale of literature advancing something new called Phonetic English Spelling, as contrasted to Conventional English. An outfit in Chicago has raised enough money from somewhere to lay down the aims of the new Phonetic English.

IT CLAIMS that if English were spelled phonetically, it could become the ideal world language; it could eliminate illiteracy; it could improve spoken English; and it could provide a simpler reading alphabet.

TO PUT IT simply, the idea is to spell every word just as it sounds, which is what a lot of newspaper people I know have been doing for many years. To show you how we've got things mixed up now, the informational booklet points out that we use the pronunciation of "i" in various ways: as in "been", in "England", in "sieve", in "women", in "busy", in "build", and in "hymn." I couldn't find it, but I suppose in Phonetic English you would spell the words "bin", "Inland", "siv", "wimmun", "bivy", "bild", and "hym."

You know, a fellow could write, "I bin bivy with wimmun."

THE FONETIC English spelling requires a new alphabet. The vowels appear in there twice, and "k" and "q" are all but eliminated, so we have 29 letters. This new paper doesn't have the type to put diacritical marks over the letters, but the vowels appear as an "a" with a little mark over it, so that it is pronounced as in "ate", or with nothing over it, pronounced as in "at". "E" can be as in "eat" or in "egg". "I" as in "ice" or as in "it" and so on.

THOSE OF us who are always having trouble with deceive, achieve, and the like, might go for some simplified spelling, but this new Phonetic is, like the new math, something that a younger generation will have to tackle.

This system wants to spell "fork" as "fawrc", and if that's any help, I'll just use my knife.

THE SPONSORS of Phonetic English list what might be called a classic example:

Mary had a lital lam
His fitez wuz whit az sno
And evriwhar that Mary went
Hir lam wuz shoort lo go.

Here's another:
Mi cuntri tiz uf the
Swet land uuz liburti,
Uf the I sing.
Land whar my fothurz did!
Land uf th Pilgrimz prid!
From evri mountun sid,
Let fredrum ring!

This is not the first time people have dreamed of a simplified language, nor will it be the last. If the professors leave us all alone long enough and our reading continues to grow less and our pronunciation more sloppy, we, the publik, will take care of it ourselves.

THERE COULD come a time when a father would quote Shakespeare to his offspring: "A hawrs, a hawrs, mi cingdum fawr a hawrs!"
And the kid would answer: "Whus a hawrs, Pop?"

Can We Trust A Truce?

WASHINGTON — While South Viet Nam and allied governments, including the United States, have announced agreement with a Viet Cong proposal of a truce for the Christmas and New Year holidays, a big question is still unanswered. What will be done if the truce is violated this time as it was last year?

MOST PEOPLE have forgotten that the 30-hour Christmas truce in December 1965 had been in effect only a little while when seven Viet Cong violations occurred. General Westmoreland then promptly rescinded an order for the extension of the truce. The South Vietnamese and allied forces obeyed the truce, but there were at least 84 violations by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese before it ended, and 12 Americans and 30 South Vietnamese were killed. One of the sneak attacks occurred early Christmas morning.

The State Department at the time commented that the violations were unfortunate. But bombing raids were nevertheless halted until the end of January, for a total of 37 days.

WILL THE United States again go through with the truce and a deferment of bombing, despite violations that may occur? Instead of waiting for such happenings, it is more logical for an announcement to be made now that, while a truce has been proclaimed, it will be terminated immediately if there are any violations by the other side. Allied commanders have standing orders to take countermeasures for defense if attacked during a truce, but a specific warning could persuade the Communists that they will gain nothing by violating the truce.

IT HAS BEEN argued that the North Vietnamese are not able to control some of their troops in the field. But this makes it even more necessary that the United States take precautions against further casualties that could result from irresponsible action.

From a military point of view, the agreement to call an eight-day truce may prove to be a mistake, and leaders in the armed services today are almost unanimous against the proposed action. It is reasoned that American forces have been putting on pressure for several months now and that the eight-day respite will merely give the enemy a chance to build up its forces and move supplies to bases without fear of attack.

IT IS recognized, of course, that there is a sentimental value in arranging a truce for the holiday period, but it becomes meaningless if the adversary continues—as seems likely—to refuse to enter into any peace negotiations. Every analysis made of last year's truce by military men shows clearly that the advantage is on the side of the Communists.

THE WHOLE world will watch carefully the behavior of the Communists in connection with the truce this year. If the Communists violate the truce, they will doubtless claim that orders had been disregarded in the field. But the decision has been made that the truce will be honored by the forces of the South Vietnamese and their allies, and that the risks are worth taking. If violations do occur, it might be one way to convince the world that the only logical course to follow thereafter is to pursue the war intensively to a successful conclusion.

Who Is The Enemy?

WASHINGTON — "Do you know what one of the troubles with the Viet Nam war is?" a colonel in the Pentagon asked me the other day.

"I'm sure I don't," I said in all honesty.

"We can't make an enemy out of the enemy."

I thought about this for a few minutes and then I said, "How's that again?"

"Just what I said. It's impossible to describe the enemy in terms that will get to the American people emotionally."

"YOU MEAN we can't call them yellow bellies as we did the Japanese in World War II?" I said.

"Exactly. Nor can we refer to them in racial terms, because the people on our side look exactly the same as the people on their side."

"I never thought about that," I said. "The problem is how do you portray the Viet Cong in photographs and movies for what they really are without offending the South Vietnamese at the same time?"

"Through atrocities, of course," I replied. "Can't you show the Viet Cong committing atrocities against the South Vietnamese people?"

"IT'S AWFULLY difficult," he said, "because our television cameramen and still photographers only take pictures of the atrocities we commit, but never get any shots of the ones the Viet Cong commit."

"The solution then would be to get our cameramen attached to the Viet Cong," I said.

I said.

"OF COURSE not. At least not until they stop raping and pillaging the South Vietnamese villages."

"Which nobody will believe they're doing because we have no pictures?"

"That's the difficulty. We don't even have any good films of the North Vietnamese in Hanoi calling for the raping and pillaging of South Viet Nam. Remember in World War II those wonderful shots of Hitler, Goebbels and Goering screaming oaths at the Allies?"

"How could anyone forget?"

"And those pictures of Tojo in Tokyo?" he said.

"They were worth thousands of words."

"WELL, WE haven't been able to get any shots of Ho Chi Minh that show him looking like anything except a starving Santa Claus."

"You can't get the people riled up about that," I admitted.

"Isn't it possible to make the Viet Cong wear uniforms so we can tell them apart from the good guys?"

"That's another problem we have. The Viet Cong don't wear uniforms. They look just like everybody else in Viet Nam."

"WHY DON'T we send a bombing mission over the Viet Cong areas and drop World War II Nazi uniforms on them?" I asked. "You can't help but hate someone in a Nazi uniform."

"We've thought about it; but the Viet Cong are too small. The uniforms would never fit them, and they'd probably use the helmets for bath-tubs," he replied.

"Well, at least it taught us a lesson."

"What's that?"

"We should never get into a war where the people on both sides look alike."

Billy Graham

I don't see why we should pray for world peace. I'm sure God can take care of it without the prayers of Christians.

P.R.
I pray for world peace because the Bible tells us to. Peace is a symptom of things being set right in the world, the cause of world unrest lies much deeper. The world is full of unrest, confusion and conflict because we have not given the Prince of Peace His rightful place in the world.

It is interesting to note that during the thirty three years of Christ's sojourn on earth, history shows there were no major wars. Although Christ was not accepted by all, just the fact that He was upon earth, had a serene effect upon civilization. What if each of us were to declare Him our Savior, and follow Him in word and in deed? This world would be turned into a heaven upon earth.

But prophecy indicates that no such general acceptance will take place until Jesus said at the time of His coming there would be wars, hatred, and abounding iniquity. Some day peace will come, but the world will be purged by judgment, and evil men will be removed from the scene. Then righteousness and peace will reign in the world.

FOR PREVENTION OR HEALING... CALL A DOCTOR

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Johnny's sick!" The words strike fear in your heart, although your child's name may be Mary, Jane, or Bob. You put him to bed and call the doctor. You give him medicine and nurse him tenderly.

It is easy to tell when your child is not well — physically, that is. And it is comparatively easy to provide whatever is necessary to heal him. But do you feel as much concern for his soul?

Perhaps you have not noticed symptoms of spiritual indisposition. Perhaps you have thoughtlessly disregarded his spiritual needs. Yet his body is only temporal. His soul will live on — and on — and on!

Your Church is like a doctor — ready to heal illnesses of the spirit, but even more eager to prevent them.

Attend Church regularly with all your family for spiritual check-ups, just as you call on your family physician for physical care.

Brando Is Back In 'Appaloosa'

Marlon Brando is given a new arena for his talents in "The Appaloosa," in which his co-stars are Anjanette Comer, John Saxon and Emilio Fernandez. The film opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Brando reaches the Technicolor screen in the role of a saddle tramp, bone weary of life as a buffalo hunter on the open range, who aspires to settling down on a ranch as a horse breeder.

Although the film, based on Robert MacLeod's best-seller novel of the same name, has a traditional western setting, it is primarily a human drama, only by chance encompassed within an outdoor framework.

Sidney J. Furie, riding the crest of his recent cinematic triumph, "The Iceman Cometh," makes his American directorial debut with the assignment. Brando's leading lady, Miss Comer, has enjoyed one of filmland's most spectacular successes. She made her screen debut only a year and a half ago, starting in "Quick Before It Melts," and also starred in her earlier vehicle, "The Loved One."

MARLON BRANDO

Saxon, entrusted with the role of Chu, lead "heavy," He acquitted himself so effectively that Universal, after viewing initial rushes, signed him anew to a lucrative multiple picture deal.

Emilio Fernandez stepped out of harness as one of Mexico's foremost directors to accept a role as Saxon's partner in villainy.

'Supremes' Are Starred

One of the most popular recording groups ever to appear on the musical scene is a group of lovely lasses called The Supremes. Undoubtedly the Queens of the pop song charts, they can now be seen as featured guests in the wild and fun-filled Technicolor production of "Beach Ball," starring Edd Byrnes, Chris Noel and Robert Logan. Opening Wednesday at the Jet Theatre, the film also features The Righteous Brothers, The Four Seasons, The Hondells and The Walker Brothers.

Now on top of the world of fame and fortune, The Supremes, composed of three lovely lasses, Diana Ross, Florence Ballard and Mary Wilson, are truly a phenomenon in the world of modern music. They have performed the incredible feat of having five records in a row reach the number one spot on the best selling charts making them the first American group to achieve this coveted status.

There is no question that The Supremes are America's number one vocal group and the hottest record sellers to come down the pike since the Beatles became the world's foremost anti-barbarshop quartet. Their appearance in "Beach Ball" illustrates another growing market for the modern music of the younger generation. The film deals with the tribulations of a musical group — naturally, there's enough music and free-swinging dance to satisfy any modern youth's interest in musical mobility.

However, "Way... Way Out" is an authentic, future projection into activities taking place in 1989 on the moon. It depicts things which have become commonplace by that time but which are mind-boggling today. Producer Malcolm Stuart and art director Hilyard Brown were determined sets would be realistic, not just futuristic and fantastic to cause comment and provide laughs. Humor is provided by the story situations and Jerry Lewis' interpretation of them.

Brown, who has a long list of top motion picture credits and who won an Oscar for art direction in "The Apartment," expanded their musical versatility for "I Do, I Do."

Besides singing, each is playing a newly-learned instrument, she the violin and he the saxophone. A show spokesman said special material for them to perform was written in as the result of a reminiscent-swapping session during which the two stars disclosed youthful ambition to play those instruments.

'WAY, WAY OUT' Anita Eckberg, Jerry Lewis, Connie Stevens

Lewis Stars In Space Film Coming To Ritz

"Way . . . Way Out" is a comedy which is just that! In this assignment the toughest he has ever been given. He studied not only the latest, authentic equipment at the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, but even more importantly, was allowed to examine projected other space centers he visited. He was permitted to study and examine "hardware," as such material is termed, to be used in the space program of 1989 by many manufacturing firms contracting with NASA.

It was up to designer Moss Mabry to give the audiences a glimpse into wardrobes for moon visitors in 1989 when designing costumes for Connie Stevens and Anita Eckberg who play the first lady weather-nauts on the moon in "Way . . . Way Out." Mabry not only created the fashions but an entire new spectrum of orbital colors with the aid of DuPont wizards who came up with fabrics and colors not yet in use anywhere in the world.

Martin, Preston In Something New
NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Martin and Robert Preston both expanded their musical versatility for "I Do, I Do."

Revenue For '66
STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — The American Shakespeare Festival grossed $567,350 during its 1966 summer season of 12 weeks.

The take compares with $652,049 in 1965 and $323,264 the previous year. The downturn in receipts for public performances of "Falstaff," "Julius Caesar," "Twelfth Night" and "Murder in the Cathedral" was offset by an increase in revenue during the festival's 14-week pre-season series of showings for school audiences. That tally was $358,103, against $293,623 in 1965.

Bette Davis In 77th Film

"The Nanny," a suspense-drama which opens Saturday at the Jet Theatre, is the 77th film in which star Bette Davis appears. Shooting began on April 5, 1965, which coincidentally happened to be Miss Davis' 57th birthday.

In her twenty-odd years as a film actress, it must be admitted that few other performers have generated as much excitement on the screen as she. Twice a winner of the coveted Academy Award, and nominated for this honor a record ten times, Bette Davis is undoubtedly one of the finest actresses America has produced.

Bette Davis started life in Lowell, Massachusetts, the first of two daughters born to a New England family that came to America in the 17th Century. At sixteen she entered Cushing Academy, where participation in school theatricals led to her decision to become an actress.

She made her stage debut in Rochester, New York, with a bit part in a play called "Broadway." Then, as a member of the Provincetown Players, she made her first New York stage appearance in "The Earth Between," followed by Ibsen repertoire.

She then played the role of Elaine in "Broken Dishes." The play ran six months, and then she went into "The Solid South," opposite Richard Bennett. Near the end of this run, she made a screen test for Universal, the results of which took her to Hollywood with a three-month contract.

The contract stretched to a year, and when Universal let her contract lapse, Bette was preparing to return to New York when George Arliss asked her to star opposite him in "The Man Who Played God." That was at Warner Brothers, and she stayed on there under contract for eighteen years, giving many of the memorable performances that have earned her the present world-wide reputation she enjoys.

Financial Aid To Pupils Up

HAWKINS, Tex. (AP) — From $40,000 in 1959 to $900,000 in 1966 — this is the story of Jarvis' financial aid to students, which is now 22.5 times the 1959 size.

'SWINGERS' PARADISE' Cliff Richard and Susan Hampshire

'Swingers' Paradise' Due During Midweek At Jet

A new dance called The Beach Skuff and dozens of lively tunes played with the famous Liverpool beat made world popular by The Beatles but sung and played this time by Cliff Richard and The Shadows highlight the action-packed "Swingers' Paradise" opening Thursday at the Jet Theatre.

The Shadows, a rump quartet made up of John Rostill, Hank B. Martin, Brian Bennett and Bruce Welch, are one of England's most popular instrumental groups.

However, there is more than dance music in "Swingers' Paradise" for Cliff Richard and his leading lady Susan Hampshire set out to borrow a motion picture producer's equipment to make their own film and wind up spoofing every legendary movie character from the Keystone Cops to Tarzan.

Laughable and exciting from the opening sequences, the musical is a blaze of color, with Cliff Richard making over 60 costume changes and playing in one scene, three different kinds of cowboy, including a singing cowboy in jeans and Stetson hat.

The Shadows, who normally accompany Cliff when he does public engagements throughout England and Europe, have their biggest screen role in "Swingers' Paradise." They are an integral part of the dramatic story, beginning as salon musicians aboard an ocean going liner and winding up playing their own musical beat.

Morris Goes Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — To help his songwriters, Edwin H. Morris, a music publisher, is entering Broadway production.

Morris said many composers are frustrated by a lack of good story material and inability to find sponsors for stage presentations.

Morris has lined up two shows, "How Do You Do I Love You" and "How Now Dow Jones." Both have lyrics by Carolyn Leigh, music by Elmer Bernstein.

Morris previously invested in 10 shows put on by other managements.

A light in the dark ages.

Learning was kept alive for almost 1000 years through charity. First, in the monasteries and later in the universities formed by bands of scholars who pooled their knowledge and meager funds.

The black gown of today's graduate reminds us of this unselfish giving for it was originally worn to hide the medieval student's rags.

Higher education's need for generous giving hasn't diminished, but grown.

Few of us can afford a college; most of us can help keep one going.

Give to the college of your choice.

Happy Century For Evans Twins

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It was "happy century" Friday for Grant and Sherman Evans, who claim to be the oldest twins in the United States.

But they had to celebrate separately. Grant's party was at the Florida Christian Home in Jacksonville. Sherman's celebration was at his own home in Winter Haven, Fla. Neither brother felt up to the trip of nearly 200 miles although they are in reasonably good health. Born Dec. 2, 1866, in Carter County, Ky., the twin brothers went separate ways as adults. Sherman became a watchmaker and opened a shop in Dayton, Ohio, in 1896. Grant farmed in the Kentucky bluegrass region.
