Two Reds Assassinate Vietnamese Politician

One Youthful Gunman Nabbed

Slain In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two youthful gunmen assassinated a leading South Vietnamese politician in Saigon today, and police announced that one of the assassins confessed he was a Viet Cong terrorist. The gunmen, firing at close range from a motorcycle, killed 58-year-old Tran Van Van as he rode in his car to his office. A short time later, one of the pair was seized when he fell off the motorcycle near the residence of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. The other assassin escaped. The U.S. command announced that one of two American jets lost over North Vietnam Monday was the victim of a Communist MIG17, and the pilot was missing. It was the first American jet loss credited to the Communist since July. Since U.S. air attacks on the north began 22 months ago, the United States has reported the loss of six planes to MIGs. U.S. pilots have reported downing 26 of the Red jets and probably two more. U.S. headquarters reported no significant ground action, and Vietnamese headquarters reported 21 Viet Cong killed in three scattered engagements. In South Vietnam, Air Force B52 bombers struck today at a suspected Communist base camp 48 miles east of Kontum, in the central highlands. The 7th Fleet destroyers Ingersoll and Keppeler, patrolling off the North Vietnamese coast, reported damaging four barges with five-inch shells in a bombardment 13 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. American pilots flew 284 strike sorties over South Vietnam Tuesday and claimed destruction or damage to nearly 300 enemy fortifications, huts, sampans and structures. South Vietnamese pilots flew 146 sorties. U.S. headquarters announced the termination of Operation Healdsburg, a week-long search-and-destroy sweep by units of the 3rd Brigade, 1st Infantry Division, 30 miles north of Saigon. During the operation, which began Nov. 29, the infantrymen reported killing 13 Viet Cong in scattered contacts.

Pearl Harbor Dead Honored

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

From state capitals to college campuses, in churches, and on highways, millions of Americans remembered Pearl Harbor today on the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack that brought the United States into World War II. Some of the observances took note of the Vietnam war. For some individuals, such as Husband E. Kimmel, the 84-year-old retired admiral who says he was blamed for America's worst naval defeat, the remembrance of Dec. 7, 1941, stirred up bitter memories. That day a quarter of a century ago also left some footnotes to history: on the evening of the Pearl Harbor attack, Eleanor Roosevelt calmly scrambled eggs for guests at the White House, according to a journal among the manuscripts the Library of Congress in Washington put on exhibit to commemorate the 25th anniversary. Hundreds of men who knew the horror of that December 7, a date which President Franklin D. Roosevelt said "will live in infamy," gathered in Pearl Harbor for the main commemorative ceremonies. A special Mass was offered at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, for the Rev. Aloysius Schmitt, a Loras alumnus and Navy chaplain who was killed on the USS Oklahoma during the Japanese attack. The Mass also was in memory of other chaplains and laymen of the Dubuque Roman Catholic diocese who died in action, including the Rev. William Barrary, another Loras alumnus killed recently in the Vietnam war while serving as an Army chaplain. Veterans groups in Carlisle, N.M., asked residents of the city to observe a minute of silence at noon in conjunction with the sounding of 34 sirens. Motorists were asked to pull over to the side of the road. ABOARD ARIZONA At the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, brief ceremonies were scheduled at a tower housing the bell from the USS New Mexico, a World War II ship. The tower honors university students killed in the war. The William Seely School in Groton, Conn., named for the first Groton boy who died in World War II, planned ceremonies including the presentation of a plaque to be mounted in Seely's memory. Seely was serving aboard the USS Arizona when the ship was bombed at Pearl Harbor. "A BUM RAP" In two-day ceremonies beginning today, Utah State University in Logan will dedicate its new "Center for the Study of the Causes of War and Conditions of Peace." In an interview on the eve of the Pearl Harbor anniversary, Kimmel said at his Groton, Conn., ranch house that his being blamed for the naval defeat is "a bum rap." "My principal occupation — what's kept me alive — is to expose the entire Pearl Harbor affair," said Kimmel, who on Dec. 7, 1941, was the No. 2 Navy man in America. He was the commander of the combined U.S. and Pacific fleets. ROTTEN MESS Kimmel was relieved of command 10 days after Japan knocked out 18 ships and killed 3,435 Americans, and in three months he was retired. "They made me the scapegoat," he said. "They wanted to get the United States into the war." Asked who he meant by "they," Kimmel replied: "That was President Roosevelt and Gen. George Marshall and others in the Washington high command. FDR was the architect of the whole business. He gave orders — and I can't prove this categorically — that no word about Japanese fleet movements was to be sent to Pearl Harbor except by Marshall and then he told Marshall not to send anything." Kimmel, white-haired and alert, added: "God willing, within the next year, you'll see a couple of books published exposing the whole rotten mess."

Johnson Says Viet War Cost To Top Estimates

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson estimates Vietnam war costs between now and next June 30 will exceed earlier budget projections by $9 billion to $10 billion. He plans to ask Congress next month for a supplemental appropriation to bridge the gap, he told a news conference Tuesday in his federal building office suite. The President remained mum about the possibility of a 1967 tax increase, but said facts needed to make a decision are falling into place. Although Johnson had predicted earlier that war outlays would top the budget figures by anywhere from $5 billion to $15 billion, the figures he cited at the news conference were perhaps a bit lower than many observers had expected. YES ANSWER Since the chief executive had long been citing the forthcoming Vietnam money request as a major item to be pinned down before a tax decision, he was asked if the new estimate — as well as a recent federal forecast that business spending on plant expansion would slow down — would help him make such a decision. "The answer is yes," Johnson replied. "It gives me help. If you are trying to find out if a decision has been made, it has not been." Johnson went on to say, in response to another inquiry, that he would not speculate whether the new Vietnam cost estimate plus results of the business investment survey would make a tax hike more or less likely. WRONG IMPRESSION "People might get the wrong impression," he asserted. Although Treasury and Budget Bureau officials earlier had recommended announcement of a tax decision by about Dec. 10, the chief executive gave no indication he'll tip his hand that soon. Actually, the question has been up in the air for nearly 10 months. The new money request for Vietnam will boost the defense budget to between $67 billion and $68 billion for the 1967 fiscal year that began July 1. That compares with a budget estimate last January of $58.5 billion. How much of the defense total is being spent on the war, no one will say. '67 SPENDING Johnson made his announcement after devoting much of the day to conferences with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They talked not only about fiscal '67 outlays but also of the new defense budget for the following bookkeeping year, that will go to Congress next month. Johnson told newsmen "we made substantial progress" at the meetings. But he said "there are a few specific items that are yet to be resolved" — issues on which McNamara and one or more of the Joint Chiefs

Draft Overhaul Call Expected

CHICAGO (AP) — A national draft conference is expected to call today for a major overhaul of the nation's Selective Service System — with the emphasis on limiting the authority of local draft boards. The consensus seemingly emerged after more than four days of wrangling debate on the draft and its alternatives. The conferees made it clear that they agreed, along with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, that the present draft laws are a haze of inequities. The Massachusetts Democrat told a news conference Tuesday night that revision of the draft will emerge as "one of the most important and significant issues Congress will address itself to in the next few months."

NOT ALWAYS FAIR "There is a concern around the country about the draft," Kennedy added. "It is foremost in the minds of our young people." He predicted Congress would act because the present Selective Service laws are not always fair, lack flexibility and have no degree of predictability. To rectify this, Kennedy suggested that national standards be set up for the nation's more than 4,000 draft boards, making it impossible for one board to reject commercial pilots and another to classify them IA, an example of inequities that have been reported. The senator, a leading opposi-

tioner of a lottery draft system, arrived in Chicago to attend the closing sessions of the conference. More than 100 scholars, government specialists and students have convened to discuss the draft — which has been a focus of rising concern since the United States began increasing its involvement in Vietnam in 1964. About 600,000 men have been drafted in the past two years. NEW LOOK NEEDED Despite the massive opinion that a new look is needed in the Selective Service System, the conferees have been unable to agree on very little else. "What other recommendations will emerge at today's closing session along with the proposed centralization of draft board control is not clear. The conferees listened Tuesday to at least four proposals for national service, including anthropologist Margaret Mead's suggestion that everybody — women, too — be asked to perform some national duty. Her proposal was bluntly criticized by other delegates, some of whom described it as just another form of coercion because young men would be faced either with the draft or with compulsory national service.

Millionaire Found Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — James (Jimmy) Donahue, one of the heirs to the Woolworth millions, was found dead Tuesday in his mother's swank apartment on Fifth Avenue. He was 51. Authorities listed the death as apparently from natural causes pending completion of a report by the medical examiner. Donahue was the grandson of the late dime-store magnate Frank W. Woolworth, who died in 1919 at the age of 77. Donahue reportedly inherited $15 million from his grandfather's estate when he was 35 years old. Police said Donahue was found by his mother, Mrs. James P. Donahue, lying in bed. A doctor from the Lenox Hill Hospital pronounced him dead. Donahue's father died in 1931. Donahue was a first cousin of another Woolworth heir, Barbara Hutton. He once had ambitions to be an actor, but his mother was said to have dissuaded him. He appeared as a chorus boy in a 1933 Broadway show that closed after 10 days. In 1945, Donahue served briefly in the Army as a private. Prior to World War II, he dated several showgirls. He never married, however. Donahue was expelled from Italy in 1935 for allegedly shouting "Viva Ethiopia!" from his hotel window. He maintained a mansion on a 100-acre estate off Cedar Swamp Road in Old Brookville, Long Island.

Five Black Muslims Seized By Detectives

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives hiding in a Moslem mosque have seized five Black Muslims, including their scimitar-waving leader, in what authorities said was an attempt to take over the prayer center from its Egyptian-born director. The five were identified as followers of Elijah Muhammad, head of the virulently antiwhite Black Muslim organization. Police said one of the Muslims told Dr. Muhammad Rauf, director of the center used by Moslem diplomatic personnel: "We are going to take over this mosque. Our mosque was burned down. The people who regularly attend this mosque will from now on be at the black man's feet." TAKEOVER ATTEMPT The five-story building on Riverside Drive in Manhattan is one of two Islamic mosques in the United States. Worshipers at the center include several ambassadors to the United Nations. In reconstructing the takeover attempt, Rauf told police that he was in his study Tuesday when two men and Farragun Muhammad, the group's leader entered. Farragun, holding a scimitar, ordered Rauf to give him the building's records, books and deeds, police said. Rauf told them to return in the late afternoon when he claimed his secretary would be able to help them. "END OF YOU" The Muslims promised to return, threatening Rauf's family and warning him, "If you don't agree it will be the end of you." Calls were placed to the police, the Egyptian consulate, the American delegation at the United Nations and the State Department. Eight detectives were waiting for the Muslims in the mosque when they returned and an

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Sunday was the day that got Christmas activities started in Big Spring. Three hundred women, most of them in red dresses, suits or coats, called at the home of MRS. B. U. C. FRAZIER for the annual affair for which a number of good friends join together for the Christmas tea. Those in silk suits and dresses fared better than those in coats. The weather took a turn for the warm instead of the cold and a great many women who started early with coats came away somewhat warm. As usual, it was a delightful affair and the food was delicious. Each of the numerous hostesses prepares a favorite tea-time treat... and each offering is a delight.

The newly-modeled home of the CLYDE ANGELS is a beautifully arranged and decorated one. The choice of pink floral arrangements was perfect with the home that has pale blue carpeting and walls... The LARSON LLOYDS had hurried back from Dallas and were enjoying the hospitality as were the K. H. MCGIBBONS who arrived home from Juarez, Mexico, just in time to assist with the house-party duties.

Most of those at the open house made their way to the presentation of "The Messiah." MRS. CARL BRADLEY, who was scheduled to take a soprano part had to drop out of the choir due to a slight indisposition. Her part was sung by MRS. DON NEWSOM. And aren't we proud of our Big Spring women who sang the solo parts which include, of course, MRS. DON BRINEGAR, and the singers are all happy to have Van HALE to conduct them as they perform.

Enjoyed having a short visit with FRANK MIMS of Corpus Christi last Saturday. He spent some time here with the TOMMY JORDANS en route to California where he was to visit relatives.

MRS. HOMER WESTBROOK is having a good time buying pretties for her little three-months-old granddaughter, KIMBERLY ELLEN. She is the daughter of MR. and MRS. JOHN WESTBROOK who now live in Mountain View, Calif. Westbrook is being trained as a pilot for Pan American Airlines. He was a Navy helicopter pilot in military service.

I'll never be able to prepare the wonderful food that I heard about at a meeting of the Coahoma 1941 Study Club Monday night but it was interesting to hear about. We heard how to prepare food served at Christmas in various countries which are represented in Big Spring by members of the International Wives Club. MRS. J. RINEO BRINGAS told of preparing pork for the holiday festivities in her native Philippines. MRS. ELSE SINNOTT described the season's activities in her land of Denmark and told of the preparation of duck and goose for the holiday fare. MRS.

A LOVELIER YOU Put Bit Of Yourself In Gifts You Wrap

By MARY SUE MILLER
What the thought is to the deed, a personal touch is to a gift. And none is more sure to a wrapping that bows to the tastes or interests of the recipient.

With designs ranging from traditional to ultra modern, gift wrapping papers offer enormous possibilities for the individual note. Wrappings also are a source of package trims of the kind that say "For you alone." Consider these ideas:
To delight a child, use a gift wrap laden with Christmas goodies—cookies, candies and gingerbread men and trim with a paper gingerbread chef. Make him by covering a salt box with the wrapping; add a foam head and cap it with a red tissue paper chef's hat.
Intrigue males, any age, with toy drum decor. Drums are made on ribbon spools. After cutting off overlapping edges, cover top and bottom of spools with shiny red paper; build sides with red-and-green country-checked paper, using two strips pasted back to back.

WELDON REDDOCH told of the customs followed during the holy season in Nicaragua where the natives enjoy a dish similar to the Mexican rellenos but requires much preparation. MRS. AL VALDES gave a description of a typical Christmas week in her former home of Havana, Cuba, where the people enjoy turkey and also barbecue pork on a spit in the yard.
With the exception of the Dames Simont who related the Dames always had snow on Christmas and indeed, quite a long time before and after, the other three women always had a warm holiday season. Mrs. Reddoch had never seen snow until she came to live in Big Spring... and I hope she gets to see some more this holiday season.

DEAR ABBY

The Joy Of Giving

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about Christmas and the single person? Last Christmas I bought 22 gifts for my family and got back three in return. I have two brothers and one sister, all married. And they have a total of 16 children.

I bought expensive gifts for my sister and her husband, and for both brothers and their wives, and all the kids. I spent $250 all told.

And guess what I got? One gift from each family which couldn't have added up to $20 in value. Does this seem fair to you? What do you suggest?

DEAR GYPPE: I suggest that since you obviously do not give for the joy of giving, you put an end to the hypocrisy and quit giving expensive gifts. Face it, the only way you'll ever be able to come out even with that cheap clan is to get married and have 16 children.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter recently married a fine young man, and they live in another state. My daughter advised me that his parents address all their letters to "MR. AND MRS." and I should do the same. Abby, I do not object to this as long as what I have to say is to be shared by both her and her husband, but my daughter and I have always enjoyed a very close relationship, and there are still things I would like to write to her in confidence — just between her and me.

She says that now that she is married there should be no secrets from her husband, and he should know everything. I can't help but feel that I have lost the closeness I once had with my daughter. She is all I have. Please give me your opinion.

SOMETHING LOST DEAR SOMETHING: If your daughter is determined to share with her husband everything you write to her, including personal messages, try the telephone for matters you wish to be strictly for her two ears.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

VAN HORN, Tex. (AP) — Alfredo Aguilar, Culberson County constable, was under indictment for murder today as he convalesced from bullet wounds in William Beaumont Hospital, El Paso.

Aguilar is accused of shooting to death his brother-in-law, Jesus Mendez, 46, the night of Nov. 27 when a wild gunfight erupted in Nick's Bar in Van Horn.

Five other men were wounded in the exchange of fire that officers said occurred after Mendez, a county road worker, slapped Aguilar.

Expanded Gift Shop Is Ready At VA Hospital

The Veterans Administration Hospital patient gift shop, an annual Christmas activity for VA patients, has progressed even further this year as a project of the American Legion Auxiliaries throughout the area.

Mrs. Zaida M. Rea, VA's representative for the ALA, chairman of the gift shop, said that patients are aided by volunteers in selecting gifts for their families from the supply given by various organizations.

The gifts are then gift-wrapped and prepared for mailing by the volunteers, all at no expense to the patients.

Patients who can walk or be taken by wheelchair are brought to the gift shop to select gifts. Bed patients are given personal service by the volunteers. Value of the hundreds of gift items this year totals approximately $2,000. Some are donated outright or are acquired through donated funds.

The gift shop, an annual project at all VA hospitals, began at Kerrville in 1921 at the American Legion Hospital there. Later, when the Kerrville hospital became a VA hospital, the project became VA-wide.

Organizations and individuals who have contributed items include American Legion Posts and Auxiliaries from Slaton, Snyder, Lubbock, Midland, Brownfield, Odessa, Big Spring and Crane; the World War I Barracks and Auxiliaries from Lubbock, Knox City and Odessa; VFW Posts from Levelland and Slaton; the National Catholic Community Service, Big Spring, and the Catholic Daughters of Slaton; several Slaton merchants; the Vincent Baptist Church, Coahoma; the Delphi-an Study Club, Brownfield; Lovis Hill, Big Spring; Mrs. Sally E. Howes, Abilene; the occupational therapy department, VA.

Gifts from many more organizations and individuals will continue to be received throughout the week.

Not only will Rep. Omar Burleson officially light the 60-foot tree atop the hospital on Dec. 23, but the presentation of gifts for patients remaining in the hospital at Christmas will be made that evening at 7 o'clock. About 10 trees will be decorated Dec. 16 by various groups and organizations.

The Salvation Army will again decorate the dining room for Christmas morning, using fresh greenery sent from Maryland to Big Spring by Capt. William Thomas' mother, who has sent the greenery for a number of years. The Christmas menu will include turkey or baked ham, Southern dressing, orange candied sweet potatoes or twice-baked potato, buttered broccoli or au gratin asparagus, congealed cranberry sauce or congealed Christmas salad with mayonnaise, butterfly rolls, egg-nog tarts, hard candies and salted nuts, and, of course, plenty of coffee.

Other Christmas activities at the hospital will include caroling groups and various other decorations.

36th Gangland Killing Recorded

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — A volley of shots apparently fired from two passing cars today killed Joseph D'Amico, 27, of Boston, in what police said was the 36th gangland killing in Greater Boston in 2 1/2 years.

Police said D'Amico was a passenger in a car driven by James Kerns, 28, of Boston. Kerns was charged with being an accessory after the fact of murder.

Kerns was found wandering around the car after it crashed. He was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital where he was charged and treated for a wound of the right cheek. Doctors said they did not know if Kern's injury occurred in the crash or whether it was a bullet wound.

Disney Due Checkup

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney is in the hospital for a postoperative checkup following removal last month of part of his left lung.

Disney, who was 65 Monday, returned to work on a limited schedule before re-entering St. Joseph Hospital. A spokesman for Disney said the checkup did not involve surgery.

Oil Waste Hearing Ends

AUSTIN (AP)—Railroad Commission examiners have completed their hearing on whether the commission should ban on a statewide basis the use of open pits to dispose of salt water and other oil field waste.

Most witnesses at Tuesday's day-long hearing said they would not oppose such an order so long as it was flexible enough to provide exceptions where there is no danger of pollution of underground water.

The record of the hearing will be presented to the three railroads.

Jerry Thornhill of the Texas

Water Development Board testified that his agency "fully endorses the work of the Railroad Commission in considering the statewide 'no-pit' order."

Board investigations show that "evaporation is not an effective means of disposing of produced salt water," Thornhill testified.

"In most cases, it can be mathematically demonstrated that pits used in the industry are not large enough to handle simply by evaporation, the amount of water placed in them," he said.

A burger oilman, Bob Scarth of J. M. Humber Co., disagreed, saying that evaporation is important in getting rid of salt water in the "high, dry Panhandle."

Frank Faulk, Fort Stockton, testified that the Pecos County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 "heartily endorses" the idea of a statewide no-pit order.

"There is a good chance that open pits, unlined, will eventually divulge water downward that will reach aquifers (water-bearing formations)," he said.

Houston geologist J. Leonard Davidson said that "practically every financial institution in Texas is looking at the outcome of this meeting" because of its effect on the oil industry.

Lawrence J. Moore, Texaco, suggested that a no-pit order be made effective Jan. 1, 1970, with exceptions for lined, impervious pits meeting commission standards.

The commission has exclusive jurisdiction over oil field salt water disposal. In 1965 a district judge and the legislature stripped the water pollution control board of any authority over such disposal.

Several witnesses expressed fears that the federal government or some other agency might try to take jurisdiction over the problem from the commission.

Two Texas Trains Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's shrinking railroad passenger service lost two more trains Tuesday.

The Interstate Commerce Commission approved discontinuance of Trains No. 1 and No. 8 between Dallas, Tex., and Denver, Colo.

No. 1 is the southbound Burlington Zephyr which makes the 834-mile route in 18 hours and 50 minutes. It was one of the first of the once popular "streamliners" in Texas.

No. 8, a northbound passenger, takes 20 hours and 45 minutes to make the trip.

When the trains are eliminated, Burlington Lines said, it would reshuffle its other passenger schedules. No date was set immediately.

The railroad incurred losses of $513,994 last year and $266,758 for 1966's first six months.

The ICC, noting that 66 jobs would be abolished by the discontinuances, said that two trains will remain on the Dallas-Denver route with dining cars and sleepers as well as coaches. The agency also noted that buses and aircraft served the area in "abundance."

Under proposed Burlington schedule changes, a southbound train would leave Denver at 8:10 p.m. and arrive in Dallas at 4:30 p.m. the next day. The Dallas-to-Denver train would leave at 1:15 p.m. and arrive at 7 a.m.

Capt. Humphrey Rites Are Set

Memorial services for Capt. John R. Humphrey, 35, former Webb AFB pilot who was killed in a plane crash in South Vietnam Nov. 26, will be held Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the McClellan AFB chapel in California. Graveside services will be held in the Golden Gate National Cemetery near San Francisco, Calif.

His wife, Shirley Bowles Humphrey, and two sons, Dale and Scott, reside at 4210 Parkway in Big Spring. Mrs. Humphrey and sons have gone to San Francisco for the rites. Arrangements there are in charge of Sierra View Funeral Chapel, 6201 Fair Oaks Blvd., Carmichael, Calif.

Capt. Humphrey served as an instructor pilot here before going to Vietnam. He was copilot of a C-47 that crashed on take-off near Saigon. He is a native of Kansas and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Humphrey.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass 1 ♥ 1 NT
Pass 3 NT Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♣
East severed the main communication artery with his partner at the opening gun, and thereby handed the three no trump contract to South with hardly a contest.

West opened the ten of hearts, North played the six and East put up the queen which won the trick. A heart was returned to dislodge dummy's ace.

The jack of diamonds was led and passed around to West's queen. The latter was out of hearts, and he shifted to the four of spades. South was in with the king and he played the king of diamonds. East put up the ace and cashed the king of hearts, however, the declarer retained the jack as a stopper and when he regained the lead, he had nine tricks. The defense was limited to two diamonds and two hearts.

East was in position to lay the groundwork for South's eventual downfall at the opening gun, by permitting the declarer to win the first heart trick. South's free bid of one no trump clearly marks him with a heart stopper—at least four to the jack—so that putting up the queen of hearts cannot prevent him from eventually winning two tricks in the suit.

By allowing South to take the first trick with the jack of hearts, East preserves the vital line of communications with his partner. When West gets in with the queen of diamonds, he has a heart left to lead and thereby dislodge dummy's ace. Declarer cannot score a ninth trick without driving out the ace of diamonds, and East is now in position to cash three hearts and send his opponent down to defeat.

Surprise Attack Plunged U. S. Into World War II

By MALCOLM BARR
PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — More than a generation has passed, but tiny droplets of oil still filter to the surface of the water, bursting into a kaleidoscope of color above the sunken battleship Arizona.
Twenty-five years later, the memory of Dec. 7, 1941, lingers, a recollection of horror, of disbelief.
The men who died that day, 2,409 of them, now are names on the walls of a gleaming white memorial.
The memorial, inside Pearl Harbor, straddles the sunken battleship from which the oil still seeps and aboard which remain the bodies of 1,102 officers and men of the U.S. Navy. ARIZONA HIT

Gene Lindsey of Jefferson City, Mo., president of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, has led an unprecedented number of survivors to Hawaii for the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack. Lindsey was a signalman aboard the destroyer Chew, moored about 500 yards from famed Battleship Row when the first bombs fell.
"Everything happened all of a sudden," he recalled. "When the Arizona was hit, she just exploded."
A bomb set off the battleship's forward ammunition magazine. A "one-in-a-million" bomb went down her stack. She was hit by torpedoes. More bombs dropped on her decks and flames shot hundreds of feet into the air.

BURNING OIL
Throughout that day, Pearl Harbor's waters — now so tranquil, so serene — were aflame with burning oil, with men struggling toward the shores of Ford Island.
In the 110 minutes the Japanese attack lasted, the U.S. Navy lost more men than it lost in the Spanish-American War, World War I, and Korea, combined.
It plunged the United States into World War II.
It was a lesson of unpreparedness, and something that military men say will not happen again. Today, few ships are seen in the harbor. They come, they go. But there is never the assembly of warships like the fleet that was riding at anchor 25 years ago.

On that day, 18 vessels were sunk or seriously damaged. Nine of the 18 were the battleships Arizona, California, Maryland, Nevada, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Utah, Tennessee and West Virginia. The Utah, like the Arizona, went down with part of her crew trapped aboard. She remains a tomb for 58 men.

Leaders Remember Pearl Harbor Day

By The Associated Press

It was Dec. 7, 1941 — one quarter of a century ago. A senator named Harry S. Truman was sound asleep in a small hotel in Columbia, Mo. Dwight D. Eisenhower, just promoted to brigadier general, was catching a nap in his quarters at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.
Brig. Gen. Omar N. Bradley was admiring the flowers in the yard of his home at Ft. Benning, Ga.

A scrawny, 17-year-old farm hand, Audie L. Murphy, was trudging down a muddy road near Floyd, Tex.
Lt. Col. Mark Clark of the U.S. Army was taking an after-dinner stroll through a woods in Virginia.

Brooding in East St. Louis, Ill., muscular Hank Bauer, 19, was brooding over whether he would ever make it to the big leagues.
At the Defense Department in Washington a young captain of military intelligence, Dean Rusk, was poring over papers in his office.
Another young Army officer, William C. Westmoreland, was in his car between Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Greensboro, N.C.

All were about to hear that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor, plunging the United States into World War II. They heard it at various times, by various means and with various reactions.
Westmoreland is now the general commanding U.S. forces in another war — in Vietnam.

YOUNG CAPTAIN
As he recalls it: "On 7 Dec. 1941 I was a young captain on duty with the newly activated 9th Infantry Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C."

"The division had just returned from extensive maneuvers in North and South Carolina and, as I was driving from Ft. Bragg to Greensboro to visit friends, I heard the news of the Pearl Harbor attack over my car radio.
"I realized that this was the beginning of exciting years ahead. I considered myself fortunate to be a part of a ready unit of the U.S. Army. Shortly thereafter I was on my way to North Africa, not to return until over four years later."

Harry S. Truman, who became president before the war ended, was chairman of a special Senate committee investigating the defense program.
Exhausted by his long hearings, he had gone to Columbia for a rest before attending a state Democratic conclave on Dec. 9 at nearby Jefferson City, Mo.

'HE WAS FRANTIC'
A telephone call from Mrs. Truman, at their Washington home, roused him from sleep to hear the news of Pearl Harbor.
"He was frantic," his daughter Margaret, now Mrs. Clifton Daniel, related in her autobiography "Souvenir."

"He knew that he had to be back in Washington immediately but, pining for isolation, he had taken himself far from established airfields.
"He leaped into his clothes and walked across the field to a little private airport on the outskirts of Columbia and stated his predicament.
"The owner of the airport borrowed a private plane and flew him to St. Louis where he managed to get on a plane for Washington, arriving in time for the convening of Congress."

TRIED TO ENLIST
A rural mail carrier in an old model A Ford stopped on the muddy road near Floyd, Tex., to tell Audie Murphy about Pearl Harbor.
"I did not even know where Pearl Harbor was, or how it related to the United States," Murphy recalls. "But the man was highly indignant over the bombing so I thought I might as well be indignant, too."
Murphy tried to enlist in the Marines and paratroopers but they took one look at his skinny, 117-pound frame and turned him down. He finally got into the infantry on his 18th birthday, June 20, 1942.

During two years of combat in Europe, Murphy won the Medal of Honor and two Silver Stars for valor in combat, was wounded three times and was reported to have killed 240 of the enemy personally.
He is now a movie actor with a long string of screen credits.

BONE TIRED
Dwight D. Eisenhower had spent most of the day working on a report on Louisiana maneuvers. In this greatest peacetime military war game he had been chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Walter Kreuger.
He went to his quarters in the early afternoon, ate lunch and lay down for a nap. He was bone tired. "Under no circumstances," he told his wife, Mamie, was he to be disturbed.
Eisenhower had barely closed his eyes when the telephone rang. It was an aide who informed him of the attack on Pearl Harbor. Five minutes later the future Allied military commander and U.S. President was back in his office.
Hank Bauer had just finished his first year of professional baseball — with Oshkosh of the Wisconsin State League.

JUST A KID
"On Dec. 7, 1941, I was back in East St. Louis working as a maintenance man at the Obernester Glass Co.," he says. "I wasn't working that day, but I don't remember specifically what I was doing.
"I was just a kid at the time. Something like this had never happened before. I enlisted in the Marines the next month."
Bauer took part in some of the toughest Pacific theater actions, was badly wounded, won post-war stardom as a New York Yankee outfielder and last year managed the Baltimore Orioles to victory in the World Series.
Mark Clark, who led the Allied military assault on Italy in 1943, recalls: "We had finished dinner — this was out in the country in Virginia — and we were walking in the woods when we heard somebody running up calling to us to tell us Pearl Harbor had been bombed."

HURRIED TO CAR
"Immediately I hurried to my car with Mrs. Clark and went right back to my headquarters at what is now Ft. McNair in Washington."
Dean Rusk, now secretary of state, was one of the first persons in America to hear about Pearl Harbor. It had yet to be announced by the White House when an officer for the Japanese section of the army intelligence staff ran into Rusk's office with the news.

Gen. Bradley, who led U.S. ground forces in their drive into Nazi Germany after D-Day, says: "I was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., commandant of the post. I was out in my yard, looking at some of my flowers, when a friend came along and told me about the bombing. I was not too surprised."

School Board Sells Last Block Of Bonds

Big Spring Independent School District sold the last $1,000,000 in school improvement bonds of its original $5,500,000 issue Tuesday night for an effective interest rate of 4.062 per cent. Total interest cost will be $786,800.

Successful bidder of nine who sought to purchase the bonds was a syndicate headed by the Republic National Bank of Dallas. Its associates are Weeden and Co., Columbia Securities and McClung and Knickerbocker.

Carter Johnston, fiscal advisor for the school board, after studying the nine offers told the board that the Republic bid was "excellent" and his recommendation was adopted unanimously. All members were present except Dr. Carl Marcum, who was out of town.

Johnson said that the money will be available for the district's use in mid-January. It was said that of the total to be received more than half is earmarked for the renovation of the Runnels Junior High School. The board will now begin a study of the project's under way and planned which must be worked into the program.

SOME TRIMMING
Trimming of many proposals

originally set up seems likely in view of the shortage of funds, and the mounting costs of construction.

The board heard a suggested plan to rebuild the high school athletic field by representatives of the Vibra Whirl Co. of Panhandle. The over-all plan as laid out by the firm involves the expenditure of at least $101,000 on the tract of land to the north and east of the high school.

Suggested expenditures for the project, under the plan of the board, would call for $6,000 to rebuild the baseball field, $1,250 to clear out old curbs and concrete; $6,000 for moving dirt; $3,500 for planting; $7,500 for tennis courts; $45,000 for a field house; $9,250 for a 15-row by 100-foot stand; press box $2,250; lighting $8,450; concession stand $8,750; fencing $1,450; ticket office $550 and goal posts and flagpole $650. No decision was reached.

The only other business at the called meeting was the formal approval of the members of the multiple list textbook committee. This is the committee which will consider the approved texts as set up by the state education agency and designate those books on the list to be used in the local school system.

The committee, as approved, S. M. Anderson, Noel Reed, Harold D. Bentley, Mary Breckenridge, Lila K. Brewster, Mildred Buchanan, Elfa Cantrell, Wilbur P. Cunningham, Edith Gossett, Betty Lou Green, Onelia Hardy, Joe W. Hillman, Jo Ann Morris, Ruth Rutherford, Dan Shockey and Nedeleene Speagle.

A small group from the Boydston school appeared with a plea that the board provide the school with a cafeteria and that improvements be made in the general arrangements of the building. These suggestions included a larger and better located administration office.

The board told the visitors of the money shortage but assured them it would give the problem every consideration.

Ervin Fisher, who has been protesting the alleged practice of keeping school doors closed when children need to get inside out of the cold or wet weather in the early morning was back to renew his request for action.

Yule Mail Is Heavy

The Christmas mail rush has started in big-league style. The first six days of December seem to bear out the prediction of Frank Hardesty, postmaster, that this year's volume will exceed last year.

He said that for the first six days this year, outgoing mail has totaled 178,261 pieces. In the same six days, incoming mail was 329,453. Total mail for the six days handled was 507,714. Last year for the period the total was 452,384 pieces. Outgoing mail was 162,173 and incoming 280,211.

Sheriff Warns Of Check Racket

A persuasive individual who has cashed seven forged checks in Midland and Odessa in the last few days, may invade Big Spring with the same racket, Sheriff A. N. Standard warned today.

The checks, each of which is in the amount of $33.58, are written on check forms of the Hudson Engineering Co., Odessa. There is no such firm, according to Sheriff Standard. The checks are made out to Carl E. Schoolcraft and are signed by a "Jack Hinson."

Standard urged any merchant who may be asked to cash one of these checks to call his office at once. He also pointed out that this is the season when racketeers are prone to work their schemes on retailers.

Officers reported both vehicles caught fire moments after the head-on collision on Texas 6.

Karami Forms New Cabinet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rashid Karami, Lebanon's new premier, formed a 10-man Cabinet today without including any members of Parliament.

Karami, premier in 1958-64 and in 1965, turned to ambassadors and leaders in various fields after he was unable to get parliamentary approval for a Cabinet drawn from the Chamber of Deputies.

George Hakim, head of the Lebanese delegation to the United Nations, was named foreign minister.

Karami was asked to form a new government by President Charles Helou after Premier Abdullah Yaffi resigned last Friday. Yaffi had been criticized for the closing of the Intra-Rank tribal strife, and Saudi Arabia's threat to break off relations over what it charged was hostile Lebanese policy.

CRMWD Seeks Place If Stacy To Have A Sponsor

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District think it is too early to name a local sponsor for the Stacy reservoir project below the confluence of the Concho with the Colorado River.

But in event the Texas Water Rights Commission should decide that a sponsor is in order, the CRMWD has applied to be named a sponsor. Under the Texas Water Plan, $3.5 per acre of the reservoir storage earmarked for cities to be served by the CRMWD. Among them are Midland, Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder. Charles Per-Rank, CRMWD president, said that under the circumstances, the district felt it should have a substantial voice in the project when it is built.

OTHERS ASK
The City of San Angelo had filed for local sponsorship to negotiate with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for construction of the reservoir, and a hearing has been set Dec. 15 in Austin on this application.

Meantime, the Texas Water Development Board and the Lower Colorado River Authority filed applications for sponsorship. The present Texas water plan had not set up the Stacy project until 1980-90, and the CRMWD expressed doubts about incurring costs for water that will not be needed for 15 or 20 years.

A contract to furnish Standard Oil Company of Texas with water for a repressuring project in Coke County was authorized. The district will furnish 3,300 gallons per day at the same price charged Sun Oil Company. Later, when water is available in the new lake above Robert Lee, the contract quantity could be upped to 4,400 barrels per day.

PROGRESS ON DAM

Steady progress is being made on the Robert Lee project, O. H. Ivie, Big Spring, general manager of CRMWD, reported. Substantial work has been done on the core trench and on the excavation for the service spillway. More equipment is expected this month, and by Jan. 1 Clement Bros., contractor, will go on a pair of 11-hour shifts per day. Concrete work on the spillway will start by March 1.

The board ratified contracts with Southwestern Laboratories and Trinity Testing Laboratories for inspection and testing of materials going into the dam, and a contract paying Humble $50,000 toward the drilling of a directional oil well under the projected lake basin.

An exchange of small acreage adjacent to the lake and conveying this to Coke County for an access road also was approved. The auditor was authorized to make a book transfer of fixed assets of the district. S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer, expressed confidence that satisfactory arrangements could be made for relocating several miles of SH 158 (Robert Lee - Sterling City) which will be inundated by the new lake.

Ruby Trial In February?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby's second trial for the slaying of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald has been set for the North Texas city of Wichita Falls, possibly in February.

Dist. Judge Louis T. Holland announced selection of Wichita Falls, a city of about 115,000 persons, Tuesday after a conference with defense and prosecution attorneys.

"It is accessible to all witnesses, has ample facilities, and is made up of a multitude of good, fair, honest people," the judge said.

Although Holland set no exact date for the trial, he said the case would be heard in early 1967—possibly February. He said setting of the case would depend on availability of prosecution and defense lawyers.

TEASE OPERATOR

Ruby, 35, is a former Dallas strip-tease joint operator who gunned down Oswald before a national television audience just two days after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Warren Commission said Oswald, alone and with no conspirators, conceived and carried out the Kennedy slaying. "I didn't shoot anybody," he was quoted by Dallas newspapers as telling police during interrogation.

Holland was appointed presiding judge when Ruby's trial judge, Joe B. Brown, voluntarily stepped out during the former Chicago man's appeal. He said he would preside throughout Ruby's second trial.

Holland also said the change of venue ordered last Oct. 5 by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals will become effective immediately although the official order has not been signed.

VENUE CHANGE

The change of venue will take Ruby out of the Dallas County Jail and from the custody of Dallas Sheriff Bill Decker. However, Ruby's removal to the Wichita County jail is not expected until just prior to the start of his new trial.

Ruby was convicted of murder in his first trial and given the death penalty. In its October decision, however, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction and ordered the change of venue.

Cited as inadmissible evidence in the first trial was testimony from a Dallas policeman. The appeals court added, however, that holding the first trial in Dallas also amounted to a reversible error.

Oswald was fatally wounded when Ruby shot him in the mid-section in the Dallas Police Building on Nov. 24, 1963. The accused former Marine was being transferred from the Dallas City Jail to the Dallas County Jail as a battery of television cameras recorded the event.

Ruby has been in jail continuously since that date. Some observers predict that he will go free if convicted of murder without malice since he already has spent more than three years in confinement.

The first Ruby trial was a stormy, headline-making affair that lasted a month.

Tower Gaining Prestige With Top Committee Jobs

(Editor's Note: This is the last of four articles developed from an exclusive interview with Sen. John Tower by Ed Wishcamper, editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, and made available to The Herald.)

By ED WISHCAMPER WICHITA FALLS—Sen. John Tower is going to stand taller in the saddle in the future than he has in the past.

And he acknowledges that "as a freshman senator, I had a better position than any freshman has a right to expect."

Tower discussed the effects of his November election sweep on his own political fortunes in an exclusive interview with this writer at his home here.

The senator concedes he gained the national spotlight early because he won the seat formerly held by Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic majority leader elected vice president.

"And through gratuitous circumstance," Sen. Tower said, "my party elevated me to the Banking and Currency Committee, and through another gratuitous circumstance, to the Armed Services Committee."

"The party was generous with its assignments."

Now Tower gains both in Senate seniority and prestige.

He moves up automatically to the No. 1 minority spot in seniority on Armed Services, with the retirement of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

On Banking and Currency, he keeps his place as No. 2 Republican under Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah, and he retains his spot as ranking minority member on the Housing subcommittee on Banking and Currency.

Aside from seniority, which is important enough in the Senate, my re-election to a second term enhances my position," Tower admits.

"The general assumption is if you are re-elected, you will be there a while, especially if you are young," Tower is 41. He entered the Senate at 35.

Tower thinks he is 25th in seniority among 36 Republicans in the Senate, though he could not find his exact rank at the time of the interview.

The fruits of Tower's election victory are already being seen. He has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential candidate on the 1968 GOP ticket.

"You don't run for vice president, and that's a bridge to be crossed in the future," he commented.

And Les Carpenter, chief of The Reporter-News bureau in Washington, has written that Tower is being considered as chairman of the Republican campaign committee, succeeding Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky.

"I understand I am being considered," Tower said.

"Would he welcome the duty?"

"I would accept it if the party wants me to do it," he commented in another soft-sell response.

How does the Republican senator stand at the White House?

"We (he and his staff) maintain a cordial relationship with the White House. Ordinarily, our contacts are at the White House staff level. You can't talk with President Johnson two or three times a day. Ken (Ken Towery, his aide) and I know the staffers real well.

"We have been at the White House bill signings, briefings and social functions. My personal relationship with President Johnson is cordial."

Tower was asked to define the role of the Republican party as the opposition party.

"Our responsibility as the party of opposition," Tower said, "is basically this: to support the President when we conceive him to be right, as we have done in Viet Nam; and to oppose him as we conceive him to be wrong, as on most of his domestic policies."

"It is our function to give voice to all those regardless of party affiliation who oppose the policies of the administration or the majority party in Congress."

But Tower spurns "obstruction for the sake of obstruction."

Rather, "when we perceive a substantial segment of citizens oppose certain party policies, it is our obligation to reflect that opposition."

New Satellite Race Starts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A sparkling new "public benefactor" satellite raced toward a lofty Pacific outpost today, aiming to test advanced techniques for space communications and weather forecasting.

Among the satellite's goals are the first continuous weather pictures over one area of the globe, color television transmission between the United States and the Far East, and the evaluation of a space communications system for commercial and military aircraft.

The 1,547-pound payload, called ATS for Applications Technology Satellite, bolted away Tuesday night from Cape Kennedy atop an Atlas-Agena rocket.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the rocket performed perfectly and drilled ATS into an initial transfer orbit ranging from 115 to 22,749 miles above the earth. "So far it looks beautiful," a NASA official reported.

Today, a kick motor was to fire and place ATS in a so-called synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific. It would seem to hover above Christmas Island.

The satellite is the first of five $9-million ATS payloads which officials said are being built "for the express purpose of bringing practical benefits to mankind from space technology."

From its stationary orbit, ATS would be able to photograph one-third of the earth on a continuing basis—providing meteorol-

TEXANS AT WAR 'Don't Remember What Happened'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS "I wasn't aware of what was happening," said Lt. Robert W. Thomas, a Texan at War, whose most terrifying moments he can only vaguely recall.

"I wasn't really unconscious," he said. "I just don't remember what happened."

Thomas, 24, a Texas A&M graduate from Bryan, recalled phases of the incident — ejecting from a jet — in a recent interview at Carswell Air Force Base, where he is convalescing.

TAKEOFF PROBLEM The red haired bachelor pilot, who flew the F4C Phantom jets over Southeast Asia with the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing, tells it this way:

"We encountered a flight control problem on take-off, so we decided to abort the mission and land. But we didn't want to land with our ordnance weapons and ammunition."

"So we decided to jettison, and when we did, the ordnance came off and something hit the rear of the airplane and caught it on fire."

'LET'S GO' "Since it was night, we could see the sky lit up from behind us . . . We were at 3,000 feet. "We started a slight climb — a gradual climb . . . Then the aircraft commander said, 'Let's go.' I pulled the handle and out I went . . ."

"In this case it was the fast acceleration. It cracked a vertebra . . . Doctors said it produced a form of shock . . . Fortunately we were in quote 'friendly territory' . . ."

"I don't remember the helicopters picking us up. But I crawled into the helicopter, so I wasn't unconscious."

Train Mishap Injures 13

CHICAGO (AP) — An elevated train ran off the rails during a rainstorm today and one of its eight cars plunged 30 feet to the ground, killing one person. Thirteen persons were injured.

Another car was left hanging, one end attached to the train, the other resting on the ground.

The accident occurred near the Chicago Transit Authority station at 41st Street and Indiana Avenue on the South Side.

CTA officials said the cause of the crash had not been determined.

The train was carrying a light passenger load because during the morning rush hour the heavy travel on this CTA division runs from the South Side north toward the downtown business district.

"You have our hope and our prayers that the time will soon arrive when you will return safely to our great state."

Hollywood Labeled Vulgar Capital

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is Los Angeles the vulgar capital of the world?

An Eastern magazine makes the claim in its current issue. Playwright William Inge said in reply: "Elizabethan England was very vulgar, but out of its vulgarity comes culture."

Inge made the remark as he and other transplanted New Yorkers met to announce the establishment of a Western outpost of the famed Actors Studio, the most influential force in American acting for the past decade and more.

CHEAP RENT Actors Studio-West was the brainchild of Paul Newman and director Jack Garfein, and they found immediate response from local graduates of the studio, the City of Los Angeles donated headquarters for rent of $1 per year.

The nature of the place is ironic: it was formerly the home of William S. Hart, the stony-faced cowboy of silent films.

Garfein, who will act as executive director for the Western branch, said "There has been a tremendous influx here from New York of people in all crafts — acting, directing, writing, etc. Many are in Hollywood because they find work here. Others prefer to live here and fly to New York to read for a play; that's easy to do in the jet age.

WASTE OF TALENT "Many of these people have worked at the Actors Studio, and they discovered there is no place to develop their craft in California. After all, you don't grow as a performer when you are employed in soap operas, third-rate TV and B movies.

"This situation has caused an enormous waste of talent in this country. Actors are hanging around drugstores when they should be acting."

"The Actors Studio—West is designed to give actors a sense of continuity and purpose that they wouldn't have between assignments."

The new branch, which will be overseen by the New York studio's spiritual leader, Lee Strasberg, also will offer a workshop for playwrights, conducted by Inge. Plans include a 120-seat theater to be installed in what was once Bill Hart's garage.

Great Stars Honor Hurok

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Great music by large orchestras and fine dancing by corps de ballet often, by their very size, fit poorly into the small television screens.

By adroit setting and skillful but unobtrusive camera work, the problem was almost entirely overcome Tuesday night in CBS' handsome tribute to impresario Sol Hurok.

The Russian-born Hurok, who was seen on camera a few times but not heard during "S. Hurok Presents," was well represented by some of the great stars who have performed under his aegis.

Marian Anderson introduced the talent and narrated movingly the words in Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait." She spoke of a cultural exchange of artists, saying that Hurok "has done more for it than anyone."

FOOT-STAMPING

The program consisted of performances by the international artists who have been important in the exchange. Antonio and the Ballets de Madrid performed in castenet-clacking, foot-stamping numbers. Isaac Stern played Mozart. Van Cliburn's contribution was a Rachmaninoff concerto. Andres Segovia's guitar solo was by Villa-Lobos. Two portions of the program were turned over to the Bolshoi Ballet.

When the soloists were playing the camera moved forward, sometimes concentrating on the faces of the artists and then lingering in closeup on the hands of the instrumentalists and the feet of the dancers. The only real "production" surrounded the Copland number and that was a series of Lincoln pictures on the screen against the background of Alfred Wallenstein and the orchestra's music.

'FAMILY AFFAIR' It was, as promised, "an evening of musical excellence," and an impressive way of honoring a man who has done so much for music.

CBS' "Family Affair," one of the few successes of the new season, suffered a blow Tuesday. Sebastian Cabot, the bearded, rotund actor who is so important as the gentleman's gentleman in the series, was hospitalized and a temporary replacement must be found.

A representative of the series said that Cabot will be unable to work for several weeks. Several performers are under consideration, but it is thought that John Williams will be chosen to fill the vacancy.

A Devotional For The Day

I cried unto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill. (Psalm 3:4)

A Prickly Question

President Johnson gingerly grasped a nettle when he established a study group to search for new ways to cope with strikes that threaten the national interest. What will come from this approach few men would dare to predict.

There is a growing body of public opinion that strikes against the national interest can no longer be tolerated. Yet it is no easy task to draw the line between those strikes which affect the public interest and those which do not.

A nationwide railroad strike, for instance, could bring national disaster. The same could be said for a nationwide strike of truckers. In recent years air service has become a vital part of the nation's transportation system. A shutdown in the steel industry would have the most serious economic and military consequences.

But does a strike on a single railroad, truck line, airline, or steel company threaten the national interest? The question of legislative remedies is another prickly aspect. What stronger weapons does the President need to prevent strikes which threaten the national interest, other than the ones he already has?

Since the national interest is paramount, a compulsory arbitration law may be necessary. With that the freedom of labor and business to negotiate freely will be destroyed in major industries. Neither business nor labor are enthusiastic about compulsory arbitration. Labor leaders do not wish to see their unions lose their freedom. Business has no desire to turn over its books to federal investigators to determine if a wage increase is justified. This appears to be the logical conclusion of a compulsory arbitration act.

As with most issues of substance, no simple, handy remedies will be found. Perhaps the best remedy is for the utmost in statesmanship and responsibility to be exhibited by both labor and management. The freedom of labor and business will be circumscribed in any form of compulsory arbitration.

The Nebulous Line

Ever since the 16th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution in 1913 authorized federal income taxation, the worried question has been persistently raised: How high can income tax rates go, and how steeply can they be graduated, before the work incentives of the most talented, energetic and productive people become so impaired as to damage national economic development and social progress?

The question has been theoretically analyzed and emotionally debated with each successive hike in federal income taxation. And perhaps it cannot be conclusively answered until the danger point has been reached and serious damage done.

In the 20th of its series of government finance studies, the highly respected Brookings Institution, in collaboration with the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center (one of the better scientific polling agencies) concludes that the present level of federal income tax rates has little effect on work incentives. Specifically:

"Thus the annual loss of output due to the effect of taxes on work incentives, contrary to popular opinion, appears very small—probably less than half of one per cent."

That conclusion, interesting if unwelcome, derives from responses of a representative sample of 976 earners of $10,000 a year up. The survey found the median average work week of the affluent to be 48 hours, with many holding more than one job and having wives who also worked. And seven out of eight said taxation was no consideration in how long or hard they worked.

Various factors, requiring more study, may explain that. Work is often its own adequate incentive, especially for the creative. Necessity may play a part. Power may be a motivation rivaling income in high-level work incentives. And the prestige of a higher salary, even if taxation does take much or even most of it, is a social motivation rivaling economic motivation. Anyway the study strongly suggests that there really is no clearly markable percentage line at which income taxation becomes self-defeating.

Holmes Alexander You'll Love Or Loathe Them

WASHINGTON — Not many polemic books turn out to be lasting literature, any more than cartoons turn out to be enduring art — but how often the special pleading tract and the grossly extravagant caricature can illuminate and demonstrate the problems that we love with. Here are some wide-swinging books with social comment, often distorted but vividly instructive.

IN "MARK'S Concept of Man," Erich Fromm tries to alter the accepted American belief (he calls it an "irrational and paranoid attitude") that Marx, the messiah of communism, is a "devil." Psychiatrist Fromm's contemptuous opinion of America, previously expressed in his other books, serves him well in this one. The more he depicts private enterprise as slavery and the average man's desire to better himself as degrading, the more Dr. Fromm can elevate the Marxian philosophy of freedom — through — socialism. The worst thing he can say about Russia is that it is not Marxian enough, but

Billy Graham

You say that to be a Christian all we must do is repent of our sins, confess Christ openly, and we are saved. Is this all there is to being a Christian? G. Y.

While I don't recall making that precise statement, it is in fact the core of 'beginning' the Christian life. The Bible says, "As many as received Him, to them gave He the power to become the sons of God." But birth and development are two different things, and we should not confuse the two. To be 'born of God' is one thing, but to develop into Christian maturity is another. Birth may be simple and easy, but growth practically always involves 'growing pains'.

To be a mature Christian is one of the most rigorous, challenging adventures in the world. One must resist conformity, be self-effacing, and above all, bend one's will to the will of God. An acorn can be dropped into the ground with little effort, but to nurture that tiny seed into a mighty oak takes patience and toil. If I left the impression that it is a light, easy thing to be an effective Christian, I am sorry. But, though it is a tough challenge, the rewards in this life and the life to come, are enormous. "And everyone that hath forsaken houses, or brethren or sisters or fathers, or wife or mother, or children, or lands, for my name's sake, shall receive an hundred fold, and shall inherit everlasting life."

ANOTHER CABOODLE of miscreants, according to L. Brent Bozell in "The Warren Revolution," are our modern "constitution-makers." Readers who look for "Hang Earl Warren" won't find it in this closely argued volume, but they may feel like going out to look for a rope, provided they can stick with the tedious but devastating scholarship. Bozell says that we always did have two constitutions: one fixed and one fluid. The fixed one declares, in the First Amendment, that "Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech." The fluid one says that free speech, while a dandy thing, must not be misused to endanger our survival.

THESE BOOKS, all to some extent "extreme," will do for you what a bold cartoon will do: Demand at once your approval or rebuttal.

Around The Rim

Young Publishers

Do youngsters still aspire to be publishers? Being in the journalistic field, perhaps this is more than an academic question. Being a good deal older than when I first got the bug, perhaps I am insulated from the efforts of today's generation to put out a paper.

AND YET it doesn't seem so long ago the presence of an old Oliver typewriter inspired my neighborhood companions and me to issue an occasional bit of intelligence under some contrived newspaper title. Usually, these efforts never got much past Vol. 1, No. 1 or 2. Later, however, when the inspiration struck again, another one-page effort would appear. Sometimes these were serious efforts, sometimes the reports were written with tongue in cheek, and sometimes with more than a sly gig intended.

THE SCHOOL had no newspaper of its own then, so we contrived one of our own that ran for several weeks. It appeared under the name of the STB Bottle Washer—don't ask me where we got that title. Aubrey (the late Dr. A. Leland) Forrest was our editor, chief typist, etc. Curtis Bishop who has made a name for himself by writing a series of sports novels for boys and a few well-received westerns, headed up a delegation that came out with a rival publication, the Jelly Journal, an allusion to the scorn we heaped upon them by noting they were just a bunch of jelly beans.

YEAR'S LATER, one of our boys joined with some of his neighborhood pals to produce an enlightening publication which expired while birthing the second issue. This was done painstakingly with pencil, hand lettering all the stories and illustrating a few. The headlines, word division, and writing were classics.

Of course, grown ups do some of this under the justification of club bulletins, etc. But they lack the innocence and sparkle of newspapers which kids are inspired to create.

AT LEAST I hope they are still inspired—the world will be poorer when these fail to appear, and I suspect our profession will be poorer, too. The earlier the bug bites, the better.

A Voice That Wasn't Heeded

WASHINGTON — While much attention is currently being given to the anniversary of the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor 25 years ago, little is generally known, even today, about what really happened in the months immediately preceding the outbreak.

American officials had a feeling at the time that an attack was imminent, but military men thought it would come in the vicinity of the Philippines.

A FEW WEEKS before the assault on Pearl Harbor, this correspondent had a long talk here with Admiral Nomura, the Japanese ambassador to the United States, who was plainly worried about a possible war. He felt it would be senseless, and privately remarked:

"If war comes, you will win. But war settles nothing that peaceful negotiation at the opportune moment could not settle much better."

Subsequently a member of the Japanese parliament who had graduated from an American college called on this writer in Washington and explained that, while the military clique had virtually taken over in Japan, there was still a chance for peace. The Japanese ambassador and the visitor from Japan later talked at length with this correspondent, who urged that all such information be disclosed just as frankly to the Department of State.

MANY YEARS later, former President Hoover, upon learning of the strenuous efforts made by Ambassador Nomura to prevent a war, wrote him a letter in which Mr. Hoover said:

"In making a study of the period when you so earnestly and ably strove to prevent a war in the Pacific, I find myself time and again filled with admiration for your efforts. And what a better world this would be had your urging been heeded!"

It is a fact that Admiral Nomura wasn't told in advance by his government of the plan to attack in Hawaii or of any decision to break off diplomatic relations with the United States.

CORDELL HULL, who was Secretary of State at the time, voiced his anxiety in cabinet councils. He believed that war with Japan was likely and was well aware that the Hitler government in Berlin was doing everything it could to consummate a secret alliance with the Tokyo regime.

While American entry into World War II might not have been prevented, due to dangers on the Atlantic side, there is reason to think the Japanese might have become an ally of the West rather than a partner of the Nazi government in Germany. On Nov. 27, 1941, this correspondent wrote in one of his dispatches:

"AS BEFITS A delicate negotiation, the conversations between the Japanese and American governments have been carried on with the utmost secrecy. Yet everybody knows that matters of the gravest importance are under discussion. The issues are fundamental, and while there are certain risks in publicity, there are, on the other hand, considerations which would make it possible for the Japanese and the American peoples to avoid friction if the nature of the problem were better understood by the public in both countries."

"The United States holds some trump cards because her financial and economic resources can be of material assistance to both Japan and China in an era of reconstruction, and everybody knows that economically both countries are in desperate circumstances."

THROUGH government control of the press, the people of Japan were kept in the dark about negotiations with the United States. Maybe if world wide radio had been available to all peoples then, the result would have been different.

The lessons of 1941 are more than ever important today. President Johnson by his recent trip to Asia dramatized before all Asian peoples the deep interest of the United States in helping them achieve a better standard of living, the lack of which has enabled the Communists to gain the upper hand in China.

IT IS APPARENT, as Ambassador Nomura predicted, that war hasn't settled the Asian dilemma. The peoples of the world, however, are better informed today, and this can lead to constructive steps in Asia such as were taken in Europe in 1947 through the Marshall Plan. Maybe if Asia had been given similar help in the post-war period, China would not have been seized in 1949 by the Communists. Then perhaps there wouldn't have been a Korean War in 1950 or a Vietnam War today, both of which have cost many more billions than would have been needed to finance a plan for economic aid to Asia through the last 20 years.

Japan's Good Life Sustained By War

NEW YORK (AP)—On this 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the economy of that once-defeated land is booming. Industrial might has replaced military power.

Reflecting this, its people, once led by militarists, seem dedicated to peace. But in 25 years a cruel irony has developed, and now much of Japan's good life is sustained by a war in Vietnam.

HUNDREDS of millions of dollars flow into Japan because of the war. The estimate has even been placed as high as $1 billion but that is an extreme and unlikely figure.

These sales, of course, are primarily to the United States and South Vietnam.

The relations between the United States and Japan, in a commercial sense at least, seem now as cordial as those between any two nations. Big problems exist, of course, but each problem can be worked out by diplomacy.

There are similarities in the businessmen of both nations that are really remarkable. Prototypes and counter parts are found in each. A "typical" American businessman is not much different from a "typical" Japanese businessman.

PARTLY BECAUSE of American aid, which began immediately after the war, partly through American technology, and a good deal through Japanese inventiveness, ingenuity and good sense, Japan quickly recovered from World War II.

During this period a mutual respect developed among commercial interests and is now sometimes referred to as the "Pacific partnership" of Japan and America.

Annual trade between the two nations now is close to $4.5 billion, perhaps the greatest trans-oceanic commerce ever developed between two nations.

It may be argued, and it has been, that modern Japan's well being results from its need to fulfill the demands of its people through commercial rather than military means.

MODERN JAPAN is no better off in natural resources than it ever was. In fact, it is far shorter of resources than its Atlantic counterpart, Britain, or any of the heavily industrialized nations of Europe.

Japan has attempted to solve through commerce what its previous military leaders would not have believed possible.

For example, it must import its coal, some even from the United States. It must import scrap steel from North America and iron ore from Australia. But, nevertheless, it still exports finished steel to the United States.

There are many measures of this success. Here are a few:

—A very large percentage of the cheap transistor radios sold in America, even some which carry well-known trademarks, are made in Japan.

—Japan is the world's largest ship-builder and its steel mills are the third most productive in the world.

—Despite her need to import—and that includes rice for her people and alfalfa for her cows—Japan has recently run up a surplus in her balance of payments account.

'I'D SAY WE'RE SURROUNDED, OL' PAL'

James Marlow Is Congress Out Of Date?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe the whole thing's wrong.

Maybe Congress is too stuffy, too stiff, too cramped, too much in a rut and out of date. Maybe it needs to move outdoors, on a mountain or near one, in a field, in the woods, near a stream, or under a tent.

Perhaps a little music or singing, or a few horsemen dashing up the grassy aisle at the last minute to break a tie vote would live things up a bit, just to break the sameness and get the public interested.

IN RECENT years there have been only three good actors in the Senate: Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Texas Democrat, and two Republican senators: George Murphy of California and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Johnson moved on to the White House. Murphy has hardly performed in his old professional way. Only Dirksen has never stopped acting.

He has just come out with a hit album of dramatic readings, "The Gallant Men," recorded in his voice which is one of the most fascinating in America since it starts out sounding like, "Oh, boy," and suddenly sounds like, "Oh, Lord."

IT'S BEGINNING to sink in on politicians that they've lost their magic.

All year people by the hundreds of thousands troop into the Capitol to watch the House and Senate, where it's all free, and probably not one in a thousand sits through one whole day to watch and listen.

But, for that matter, it's a rare senator or representative who sits in his chamber one whole day to listen to his colleagues, either.

Yet, around the country people pay out money by the bushel for sit-for hours to see a show or hear a concert. And everywhere in America millions from supper to midnight sit entranced before television.

NO WONDER in California the Republicans picked Ronald Reagan to be their gubernatorial candidate or that the people elected him. And no wonder that now the defeated Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown, is suggesting actor Gregory Peck would be a good bet to run for the Senate.

Chuck Connors, one-time ball player and television Western star, and John Wayne, the strong silent type of movies and television, have been mentioned as fine political candidates.

A few musicians like Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, for instance, would live up Senate sessions. When the Southerners put on a filibuster to block a civil rights bill they usually play to pretty thin galleries.

If Armstrong were a senator, and pulled out his trumpet to put on an anti-filibuster filibuster, he'd pack the place, wherever it was. And if Marian Anderson could get elected to the Senate and, instead of making a speech, gave a weekly performance with her magnificent contralto, the Senate could help reduce the national debt by selling tickets.

Hal Boyle Strange Things Happening

LONDON (AP)—"Take us to a night spot where there won't be any Americans," said the visitor from the United States.

"That's right," said his wife. "Some place where we won't be falling all over Americans like we were in Paris, and Rome."

But, you and your husband are Americans.

"Of course we are, honey, but we see enough of them at home. When we're in London we want to see Britishers. You know, the swinging ones in their swinging places."

TOLD that in London it is very difficult to find a minus-American night spot, the husband replied with a resigned sigh: "If it's really like that, all right. But please, some place where there won't be too many."

Years ago someone said that there are few hatreds as intense as the hatred of one American tourist for another.

Generally, this is still true today.

Although Western European night clubs were not specifically designed for the American tourist, many were certainly founded with the free-spending, big-tipping American visitor in mind.

Some notable exceptions are: Dolly's, Scotch of St. James, Blaise's, the Cromwellian, The In-Place, and re-opening soon, the Ad Lib.

DOLLY'S is big, black, ex-plusive, loud and very dark. So dark that you may find yourself sitting next to a member of the Rolling Stones and not even know it for... maybe a minute or two.

Here you find members of the new aristocracy, the disc jockeys, some pop musicians, photographers and racing drivers.

Blaise's is really crazy, man. Here you can see a girl with a bare midriff dancing with a man wearing gloves. Gloves are in-things now. Blaise's even has a place for low-stake gambling.

The croppers look like demure schoolgirls in their blouses and prim ties. Maybe they are, for strange things are happening in London 1966.

ALL these places have food, drink and music. They are clubs, and if you're not a member and British, there may be trouble getting in.

If you are an American, brandish your passport and you're as good as in. Understandably, there are membership fees.

The Ad Lib, which was originally situated next door to a church, is moving but its owner, John Kennedy, says that when its doors open in June, The Ad Lib's going to be so far out it's going to be in.

On its menu chicken in several forms is listed. A footnote reads: "served live if you prefer it but the feathers are hell on the tonsils, but very sexy with applesauce."

To Your Good Health Significance Of Personality Change

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My husband, 70, is acting queerly and I am frankly worried. When I try to fix his meals and ask him what he wants, he flies into a rage and shouts that I should know. Then he slams the door to his bedroom and sometimes stays in there until the next day.

Other times he will just get mad over nothing and go out with the boys. I have heard that men this age become senile. Do you have a pamphlet on this, or what can you say to relieve my mind? — L. D.

No, no pamphlet on it, because such emotional outbursts don't fall into any simple formula. They take many forms.

Excessive anger is one. Anxiety, withdrawal, depression, suspicion and a good many others exist.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is cortisone used in treatment of hay fever? My son, 18, had one shot of what he believes was cortisone, and it seemed to help. Maybe it was just a mild season. Would such a shot be harmful every year? — MRS. R. M.

Cortisone is indeed used to give hay fever victims some temporary relief, but it is unusual for a single dose to produce such complete relief. I must assume that your son has very mild hay fever or the season was extremely mild.

Whether treatment is advisable each year should be judged by your physician, but I doubt that a single annual injection would do much good.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request, 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Irish Target Was 1st Spot In All Polls

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP) — "We're proud and happy to be proclaimed national football champion, but that was our target from the start," said Coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame.
"I am particularly proud of this best team I ever coached and one I will cherish always because of its tremendous finish under a terrific injury handicap," said the 43-year-old Parseghian in the shining hour of his 16-season career as a head college coach.
In only his third Notre Dame season, Parseghian has produced the first Irish national title since Frank Leahy directed the 1940 club to a No. 1 finish in the AP's poll with a perfect 10-0 record.
This year, Parseghian's superb blend of brilliant sophomores and bristling seniors won nine games, muscling six shutouts—most by the Irish in 34 seasons—and played a classic 10-10 tie with Big Ten champion Michigan State.
That matched the last undefeated, but once-tied Irish campaign 13 years ago, a 9-0-1 record by Leahy's swan song team of 1953 which played a memorable 14-14 tie with Iowa.
The deadlock with Iowa was almost as controversial, for entirely different reasons, as the Irish-Michigan State standoff of the decade Nov. 19 at East Lansing, Mich.
Hawkeye partisans contended Notre Dame's feigned injury tactics, as each half neared an end, stopped the clock permitting last-second Irish touchdowns passes for the 14-14 tie.
For Parseghian at East Lansing, Mich., before a national television audience, one of college football's most tense, hard-hitting games ended with wide-spread criticism because the Irish ran out the clock in the closing 90 seconds with six straight ground plays near mid-field.
Parseghian, even though elated over capturing the national title, has flared back at critics who contended the Irish should have gone down firing the long bomb in an effort for victory over Michigan State.
"Let's review the situation for those people clamoring for a big Notre Dame game," said Parseghian, now owning a remarkable three-season Irish record of 25-3-2, mainly with inherited personnel.
"Much was made of Michigan State's fourth down gamble with six inches to go which succeeded on the Irish's 30 in what proved their last series of the game."
"But what about our gamble, with fourth and one on our 39, on the third from last play of the game? Those many critics don't even mention that the two-yard sneak for first down by Coley O'Brien, all 173 pounds of this great little replacement for injured Terry Hanratty, might have been the biggest gamble of our season."
"If Michigan State takes over, possibly within our 40, they can shoot at least for a field goal by their great kicker, Dick Kenney. Then the howl against us would be even louder than what we did on the last two plays, a pass-run option by O'Brien which lost seven yards and a five-yard sneak by O'Brien from our own 34."
"This is very much a game of percentages, and a 66-yard desperation pass on the last play of such a terrific game is a foolish gamble when you are risking a superb comeback from a 10-0 deficit under adverse conditions."

Looking 'Em Over

With Tommy Hart
Now grown to 187 pounds, Joe Jaure was back here for the holidays recently from Texas Western College where he is very pleased at the prospect of playing varsity football next year with the Miners.
The mercury-footed Jaure started every game this fall as the defensive safety for the TWC freshman team, which was coached by ex-Big Spring Jack Irons.
He won't be allowed to report for track drills until he is a sophomore at the El Paso school. For that reason, he'll report for spring football workouts.
The Miner frosh played four games, three against New Mexico colleges, and won half of them.
Joe says Don Robbins, the former head coach here, is doing a fine job as a TWC coaching aide. Robbins scouted two foes for the Miners the past season and the TWC team won both games by whopping scores.
Incidentally, Charley West of Big Spring, who helped to get Jaure enrolled at the school, intercepted 11 enemy passes over the year for 185 yards and one touchdown. He also returned eight kickoffs for 178 yards (an average of 22.3 yards per carry), returned 25 punts for 121 yards, received four passes for 54 yards and scored a total of 11 points.
In ten games over the year, the Miners played to an average paid turnout of 25,911. An average of 48 points a game was scored in games involving TWC. The Miners counted four or more touchdowns in each of seven starts.
Coach Bernie Hagins of Coahoma High School is having to seek a replacement for Merkel on the Bulldogs' 1967 football schedule.
Otherwise, the Coahoma schedule will remain about the same. Merkel's district is being realigned, which is the reason the two schools won't be playing next year. Hagins says the Bulldogs need a home game the night of Sept. 29.
The Bulldogs will open on the road either Sept. 9 or 10 against Colorado City, then play Wink at home, Roscoe on the road and Brady away from home before turning to District 5-A play against Plains in another road contest.
Coahoma next catches Tahoka in Coahoma, meets Jal, N.M., in a non-conference joust at Coahoma, goes to Seagraves and winds up against O'Donnell at home. Inter-scholastic League rules dictate that Class A teams like Coahoma must play ten consecutive weeks.
The Bulldogs should be very salty this fall.
Remember Buddy Hancken, the Ballinger baseball manager in the Longhorn league when Roy McMillin was the shortstop there?
Buddy will return as manager of the Amarillo club in the Texas League in 1967. In that capacity, he'll be working for the Houston Astros.
George Sauer, the former University of Texas end, is on the verge of shattering Don Maynard's record for pass receptions with the New York Jets of the AFL.
Don, oddly enough, is helping Sauer get his name in the books.
"Every opponent double teams Don and that lets me get single coverage," concedes Sauer. "I don't blame them either, he's our most dangerous receiver. I doubt if I've drawn double coverage three or four times this year."
Maynard, a Colorado City product who now resides in El Paso (in off season), visited his ailing father here following last season. The elder Mr. Maynard later died in the local VA Hospital.
Mike Frizzell, a 6-6 star of the first magnitude when at Midland Lee a couple of years ago, figures to be a big help to the Rice University cage team this season. He averaged 15.8 points a game as a freshman at the Houston school.

Two Changes Made In Meet

Two minor changes have been made in the starting times of games in the Big Spring Junior High School Basketball tournament, which starts a two-day run Friday.
The Big Spring Goliad - Colorado City eighth grade engagement, which was to have been played at 4:30 p.m. Friday, has been moved forward to 3 p.m.
Replacing that contest at 4:30 p.m. will be the ninth grade contest between Big Spring Goliad and Sweetwater.
The change was made because the Sweetwater team could not make the trip here as early as originally planned.
Eight teams are entered in each division of competition.

Cassius Tells Terrell He'll Takes Lumps

NEW YORK (AP) — "You'll never hit me," Cassius Clay told Ernie Terrell.
"I'm gonna agree with you," retorted Terrell. "You'll never know what hit you."
"You're a handsome man," added Terrell. "You want to know what you're gonna look like after I get through with you? You know what medium rare steak looks like?"
"Don't talk like that," replied Clay. "Talking is my line. You're the WBA champion. That's your line."
This is a sample of what you're going to hear from now until Feb. 6 when Clay, recognized as heavyweight champion in most parts of the world, and Terrell, the World Boxing Association's champion from Chicago, battle it out for the undisputed championship at the Houston Astrodome.
The undefeated, 24-year-old, 6-foot-3 Clay of Louisville, Ky., and the 27-year-old, 6-foot-6 Terrell signed contracts for the long-awaited 15-rounder at a news conference in a ballroom of the Hotel Americana Tuesday. Charles King, commissioner of boxing for Texas, attended to approve the contracts.

Carries On Stilwell Name

Capt. Joe Stilwell III wears earphones over helmet and stands beside command bunker of the 1st Battalion, 18th Infantry, 1st U.S. Infantry Division, deep in War Zone C in South Vietnam near the Cambodian border. The third-generation Stilwell is the air operations officer for the battalion. He says following in the footsteps of grandfather "Vinegar Joe" and father Joe II is like "being in a goldfish bowl." (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

It's Just Like Being 'In A Goldfish Bowl'

DAU TIENG, South Vietnam (AP) — His grandfather was "Vinegar Joe," his father was a famous general, too, and for Capt. Joe Stilwell III it's like being "in a goldfish bowl."

Fame of his forefathers has put the 27-year-old officer on the spot. He's the third Stilwell to go to war in Southeast Asia. "Pressure?" he said. "Yeah. Do something right and everybody says, 'Of course, look at his family.' But do something wrong and listen to them howl: 'Hey, lookit what Stilwell did now!'"

He is the air operations officer with the 1st Battalion, 18th Infantry, 1st Infantry Division. It's a job with responsibility, but Stilwell wants command of a rifle company.

GLASSES SLIP

"I'm hoping to get a company in the next couple of months," he said during an operation in the jungles near the Cambodian border. His helmet was cocked to one side as a bulbous earphone pressed against one ear. His eyeglasses slipped down his nose.

The battalion was establishing an encampment in a clearing deep in War Zone C, about 80 miles northwest of Saigon. Helicopters swirled in with ammunition, equipment and supplies. Stilwell, with a slight beard on his jutting chin, barked into a field phone. There might have been a resemblance there to "Vinegar Joe," the caustic Gen. Stilwell of World War II who won fame in Burma against the Japanese and with airlifts into China.

'RATHER BE ON LINE'

The 1st Infantry troops were in pursuit of a Viet Cong force that made War Zone C its home, headquarters and long-time sanctuary. Jets frequently swooped across the tree tops unleashing napalm and bombs. GIs were moving through the jungles and the air strikes had to be closely controlled. Stilwell spent hours on the phones, coordinating with air observers, brigade headquarters and troops in the field. During quiet moments, Stilwell with earphones still clamped over his head, sat on a sandbag and worked on a crossword puzzle.

"It's interesting here," he said. "But I'd rather be on the line somewhere. That's the place to be."

He arrived in Viet Nam last summer but was soon called back to the United States when his father, Brig. Gen. Joseph Stilwell II, was lost in a DC3 that crashed in the Pacific between San Francisco and Honolulu. The father was commander of the Special Forces Training Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C., at the time.

Kennedy Clan Plans Christmas Skiing

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — A good part of the Kennedy clan — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., his family, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, her children, and Patricia Lawford, sister of the senator and the late president — are expected to spend the Christmas holidays skiing at Sun Valley, Idaho.
 The senator's office confirmed

Monday that he and his wife's family and Mrs. Kennedy and her two children, Caroline and John Jr., have reservations, but said the exact dates are not known.

In New York, it was disclosed that Jacqueline Kennedy appeared at a restaurant for lunch wearing a skirt that ended three inches above mid-knee.

Although the skirt was not quite mini, "it was the shortest we've seen her in," said Dick Atkins, an executive of Women's Wear Daily, a fashion trade publication.

Congressman Denied Visa

MANILA (AP) — Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., said today the Communist Chinese government had refused to grant him a visa to visit Red China.

The congressman applied for a visa at the Communist China Travel Agency in Hong Kong 10 days ago. His trip was approved by the U.S. State Department, but he said he would travel as a private citizen.

He said his request for a visa had been "a test of many statements by Red leaders who have said their hostility is not directed towards the American people but at our government."

Divorced Wife Of Newsmen Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Alice Higginbotham Patterson, 85, divorced wife of the late Joseph Medill Patterson, founder of the New York Daily News and co-publisher of the Chicago Tribune, died Tuesday. Mrs. Patterson was the daughter of Harlow Niles Higginbotham, an early pioneer of Chicago who became a partner of Marshall Field and helped build Marshall Field and Co.

YOUR Horoscope Forecast for Tomorrow

By Carroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Upsets of any and all kinds can occur now if you work any angles that can upset those with whom you have any sort of personal allegiance. Try to keep your attention focused upon impersonal and objective points of view and you will be able to remove trouble from your sphere.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Don't give into temptation to not keep a promise you have made to another who is depending upon you. Show others that you want to be happy with self and others, if you give too much discipline to this child, you find that the disposition is sour and the life ruined. Early teach to have consideration for the interests and time of others. There could be much resentment. Send to a good college.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): You are tempted to give a partner a piece of your mind, but if you do, you can sever a valuable relationship. Find out what your true position is with others. Matters come into the open and this is easy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): This is a good day to get at those accumulated duties and get them out of the way quickly. One you depend on can be in an irritable mood. Be silent and patient and carry through as best you can.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Avoid going out for expensive pleasures. Avoid "to be loved" one, though you may be piqued about something. There may be something of importance you may have overlooked. Handle it today, efficiently.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Although whatever you need to do to make family happy is somewhat boring, you had better do it with a smile. Be patient instead of making radical changes you suddenly feel are necessary. You may change your mind tomorrow.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23): Get busy with reports, other minute on written material and edit all. Your ingenuity is high and want to get into new arrangements with associates. They are not available or in the right mood now. Await a better time.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You have many bills to pay, etc. and are upset. Don't worry. God always provides. Show that you have good common sense where money is concerned and others will help. Anybody can get into a bind sometime.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Stop all somewhere and have that cup of excellent coffee and settle your nerves instead of being circulous or very critical of others. Avoid showing bad temper. Then all works out just fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You want to upset the applecart right now because of some one's attitude, but you would regret it later. Forget own affairs for awhile and try to help others. This helps you indirectly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Endeavor to assist a good pal who is just bored and determined to do something that he or she would regret later. Avoid the social. This could prove to be very disappointing and even dangerous tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You have to show ingenuity if you want to get on the good side of one who means a great deal to you, but is in a difficult mood. Decide just how to have better credit. This is very important right now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Analyze present conditions and then concentrate
