Ruby Sketched During Trial

Jack Ruby, who died Tuesday in Dallas' Parkland Memorial Hospital of a blood clot in his lung, is shown during his trial on March 10, 1964, in Dallas by Associated Press artist Woodi Ishmael. This was Ruby's expression as he listened to psychiatrist Dr.

Ruby Returns In Death To His Native Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Ruby, who grew up on Chicago's tough West Side, returned home in death today after gaining international notoriety as the slayer of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin. He will be buried beside his parents.

The plane carrying Ruby's body landed at O'Hare International Airport shortly after midnight after a flight from Dallas, where he died Tuesday at Parkland Memorial Hospital — the same hospital in which Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald died.

His death from a blood clot in the lungs forever clouded the international doubts surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy. Until the end, Ruby insisted he acted alone in fatally shooting Oswald.

BLOOD CLOT KILLS

Ruby, 35, had extensive cancer, but Dr. Earl Rose, the Dallas County medical examiner, said it was a massive blood clot that would probably have killed him even if he had not been weakened by cancer. Rose said, however, that cancer would be listed on the death certificate as a contributing cause.

Rose, who performed an autopsy, said the blood clot apparently formed in Ruby's leg Tuesday morning and traveled through the heart to the lungs.

Ruby's coffin was taken from the plane as soon as the doors were opened. Twenty policemen quickly placed it in a hearse for the drive to a North Side funeral home.

KIN COMPOSED

Ruby's brother, Earl Ruby of Detroit, and two sisters, Ellen Kaminsky of Chicago and Eva Grant of Dallas, accompanied the body on the plane.

They appeared composed as they walked quickly and silently past a waiting crowd of some 50 newsmen.

Hershey Weinstein, president of the Original Weinstein & Sons Chapel, said services and burial would be held Friday morning.

Weinstein said that only Ruby's parents were buried in the large family plot in Westlawn Cemetery.

Ruby's death prompted statements from various individuals connected with the case in one way or another.

DEATH DENIES

In New York, William F. Kunstler, one of Ruby's lawyers, said his death denied him the opportunity "to have a jury decide that he was guilty of nothing more than murder without malice, a crime that carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment."

Kunstler added in a statement that such a verdict — of murder without malice — "would have helped to establish that what Ruby did in Dallas on Nov. 24, 1963, was solely the result of spontaneous reaction to the president's assassination."

In Los Angeles, Joseph A. Ball, who was senior staff counsel to the Warren Commission, said he did not see how Ruby's death could have any effect on the validity of the commission's report on Kennedy's assassination.

SOMETHING SINISTER

Ball said he was sure that some persons who have been writing critical books about the report "will spread the word that there was something sinister about Ruby's death."

Ball said he saw no reason to reopen the Warren inquiry unless new evidence developed. He said he had received no communication from any commission officials about any such review.

Ruby had been moved to Parkland Hospital Dec. 9 from the Dallas County jail, where he spent more than three years after killing Oswald before a nationwide television audience.

SAME HOSPITAL

It was the same hospital where Oswald succumbed shortly after Ruby shoved through a crowd and fired as police escorted Oswald through the City Hall basement Nov. 24, 1963.

Oswald, a malcontent ex-Marine, subsequently was named by the Warren Commission as the assassin whose rifle shots fatally wounded President Kennedy two days earlier on a Dallas street.

Aside from his brother, Earl, and the two sisters, only reporters and photographers stood by as the pine-covered casket was placed aboard the airliner in Dallas late Tuesday night.

No others were present to say farewell to the brawling night spot owner whose gunfire forever sealed the lips of Oswald, credited officially with committing the assassination entirely on his own.

Ruby died without knowing whether the world believed his story about why he committed the act.

ANGRY PASSION

He told his family that he was motivated by an angry passion to save Mrs. Kennedy from having to return to Dallas for the Oswald trial. He also maintained that his path crossed Oswald's only by an accident of timing.

Doctors said Ruby woke up Tuesday in a "joyful" mood, had a bath, and ordered eggs for breakfast. He suffered a "generalized convulsive seizure" at 9:10 a.m. and was dead by 10:30, said Dr. Eugene Frenkel.

Ruby made a clandestine recording at the hospital only days before his death in which he said it was an accident of timing that he had a chance to shoot Oswald as police officers were escorting the handcuffed, 24-year-old suspect to a waiting car in the basement of the city jail, in a routine transfer to the county jail.

Ruby said in the recording that he had understood that Oswald was to be transferred about 10 a.m.

WIRES STRIPPER

Ruby made a trip from his apartment to the Western Union, half a block from the police station, to telegraph a $25 money order to a Fort Worth stripper who needed rent money.

Evidence was produced at Ruby's 1964 Dallas murder trial that the money order was stamped at the Western Union at 11:17 a.m.

Police said Ruby shot Oswald at 11:21 a.m.

The recording said, in Ruby's words: "The ironic part of this business (is) that I made an illegal turn behind a bus at the parking lot. Had I gone the way I was supposed to go — straight down Main Street — I would never — I would never have met this late because the difference of meeting this late was 30 seconds one way or the other."

'NEVER SEEN HIM'

He said in the tape-recorded conversation with his brother, Earl, that the shooting of Oswald "happened in such a blur that before I knew it I was down on the ground. The officers had me on the ground."

Earl asked him if he knew Oswald before and Ruby replied: "I never have known him or seen him before."

Ruby said there was no truth whatsoever to stories that Oswald had been in his club. He called this "a fabrication."

Ruby was asked by his brother if he ever planned to shoot Oswald, and he replied: "I was so emotionally upset for three days."

The conversation, recorded in (See RUBY, Page 4-A, Col. 3)

City And County Sign Fire Pact

City and county officials Tuesday evening agreed to a new two-year fire fighting contract that will insure rural areas of the county will get continued fire-fighting protection.

The new contract sets out an annual payment of $7,500 by the county to the city, for the first 75 fire calls made in a calendar year. For the next 10 calls over the minimum, the county will pay $100 per call. However, the city fire trucks have never made more than 75 calls outside the city in the years the two agencies have had a fire agreement.

In addition, the new contract stipulates the county will make its payment on or before Jan. 15, leaving only a two-week lapse in the effective dates of the contract. Previously, this lapse had been up to three months.

The new contract covers 1967 and 1968.

The expiring contract called for the county to pay the city $6,000 annually for the fire fighting service. The city had asked for an increase to $9,000 in 1967 and $12,000 in 1968.

During the meeting Tuesday night, Fire Chief H. V. Crocker pointed out the city could reduce its force by four men and one truck if it did not make rural fire calls. He also said rural calls require more maintenance on the fire trucks making them.

Mayor Arnold Marshall, John Stanley, Chester Cathey, Walter Stroup, Jimmy Morehead, John Burgess, and Crocker represented the city; County Judge Lee Porter, Ray Nichols, Simon Terrazas and Bill Tune represented the county.

Time Running Out On Hoffa

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, with time fast running out for his final legal efforts to stay out of prison, busied himself today in shaping up nationwide trucking contract demands.

"I guess that's how he stays sane," said a close associate about the grueling work pace maintained by Hoffa despite the eight-year jury tampering sentence hanging over him.

Hoffa kept aides working long hours wrapping up final details on wage demands he said will range from five to seven percent for some 500,000 teamsters employees of 12,000 trucking firms.

Contract talks start in Washington Jan. 17, but unless successful in winning a new Supreme Court hearing or a new trial, Hoffa could be in prison before the March 31 contract deadline.

The Supreme Court has already rejected his appeal.

Some Teamsters sources expressed concern that the trucking negotiations might bog down if Hoffa is not around to complete them, but the 53-year-old union chief expressed confidence that a settlement will be reached without a strike. Hoffa added that some trucking firms might have to raise their rates to pay the new labor costs.

One union source, predicting possible difficulties if Hoffa went to prison before negotiations were completed, said "Hoffa has been a one-man show, not because he is autocratic, but because he has been dealing with these employers for so long."

Hoffa told newsmen, "I've talked to about every carrier (truck company) in the country," in preparing for the negotiations.

Freeze Dips Into Valley

By The Associated Press

It wasn't a good morning to venture outside without your topcoat anywhere in Texas, and freezing weather spread even into the usually warm Lower Rio Grande Valley today.

In most cases the temperatures around dawn were chillier than the day before in southern sections of the state while the northwest quarter warmed a bit.

Low marks ranged from 12 degrees above zero at Monahans, 13 at Junction and 15 at El Paso—all in Far West Texas—to a high of 40 degrees at Galveston.

In the citrus-growing Rio Grande Valley, the mercury dipped to a biting 20 degrees at Rio Grande City. In the same area, San Manuel recorded 26 degrees; Mission, Raymondville and Elsa 27; Harlingen 30; Edinburg 32, and Brownsville 33 degrees.

Temperatures started edging back up early in the day, however, and citrus groves apparently escaped harm. Earlier freezes already had wiped out winter vegetables most vulnerable to severe cold in the Valley.

Readings here and there across other parts of the state included Lubbock 19, Dalhart, Perryton and Lufkin 20, Longview and San Antonio 22, Amarillo and Tyler 25, Texarkana 26, Dallas and Fort Worth 31 and Galveston 40.

Forecasts promised more fair weather throughout the state and another cold night in South Texas.

Ex-Advertising Director Dies

AUSTIN (AP) — Al Jennings, former advertising director and associate publisher of the Austin American Statesman, died of a heart attack at his home today. He was 56.

Jennings retired last September after 28 years with the Austin paper. Before that, from 1935 to 1938, he was assistant advertising manager of the Breckenridge American.

Jennings began his newspaper career with the Cleburne Times-Review when he was 12.

He was a former president of the Texas Newspaper Advertising Managers Association.

NO STITCHES, GETS HITCHED

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Some people rush to the emergency room at Wilmington General Hospital to get stitched.

Ronald K. Palmer went there and got hitched.

Palmer, 21, of Wilmington, slipped on some ice Monday night and cut his hand when it went through a window.

His fiancée, Janine Bergeron, 19, of nearby Newark, and a friend, took Palmer to the hospital.

Also at the hospital was the Rev. Ross B. Rainey, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, Wilmington, who had brought his ill wife to the hospital.

Palmer and Miss Bergeron had decided earlier to get married, they said, so they decided to do it right then.

After Palmer's cut hand was treated (he didn't need stitches), the minister was asked if he would marry the couple.

They brought in the marriage license from the car outside and the Rev. Mr. Rainey agreed.

"I just happened to have my little book with me," he said, "the one I always use for weddings. I was so nervous and excited that I was glad it was there — I completely forgot the words."

So the two were married, in the middle of the waiting room with nurses and a doctor looking on. A friend, Edward Edge, and two hospital orderlies that the bride knew, were witnesses.

Palmer is a baking company salesman and his bride is a hospital attendant at Governor Beacom Health Center.

Wife, Mom, Child Die In Past Week

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Daniel W. Davis' wife, mother and only child have died in the past week.

Davis' wife, Katherine, 57, died last Friday after a short illness.

A few hours later a Marine Corps officer arrived at the family home with word that the couple's son, Pfc. Edward Davis, 19, had been killed Dec. 28 by an enemy explosive device in Vietnam.

Davis was in Decatur, Ill., for burial of his wife Tuesday when word was received that his mother, Ludie Sanders, 86, died of pneumonia in Bell, Calif., Sunday.

Exile Combat Leaders Fume Over Failure

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The leaders of a tiny Cuban-Haitian exile army are in jail today, fuming over a breakup of a fantastic plan to conquer Haiti and turn it into an invasion base against Fidel Castro.

Officials at Key West's Monroe County jail said all were held for the federal government on charges of violating U.S. neutrality laws.

Bond was set at $5,000 for Rolando Masferrer, exiled Havana politician who has tangled before with the United States over plots to shoot up Castro Cuba.

27 IN JAIL

Officials set bond at $2,500 each for most of 27 comrades jailed here with him after a roundup of about 80 motley-uniformed persons, including a woman and a priest.

William B. Meadows, U.S. attorney for south Florida, said he was checking on whether Masferrer had violated restrictions imposed on him by the Immigration Service for previous war-making activities.

About 50 of the captives were taken to Miami for booking. All were released Tuesday night in recognizance bonds of $100.

HITCHHIKED HOME

Masferrer, an athletic 45, criticized the United States for "protecting Fidel Castro" by arresting him and his band at a Florida keys rendezvous where federal agents said the expedition was preparing to embark.

One of the group's officers, Anton Constanzo, said at Miami that he eluded arrest and hitchhiked home.

Constanzo said the expedition had planned to land at Port Au Prince, Haitian capital, join forces with 20 comrades in the Negro island republic, and overthrow Haitian President Francois Duvalier's government with the help of native malcontents.

CONFIDENT

Then the island would be used as a base to make war on Castro, whose territory lies only 50 miles west across the Windward Passage. Constanzo said Masferrer was confident he could forge a Cuba invasion army within a month.

The Rev. Jean Baptiste Georges, a Haitian priest and once education minister under Duvalier, was to be installed as president. He was among those rounded up. Another was the group's only woman member, identified as Aurlia Poggio and described by exiles as the expedition's quartermaster.

WHY STOP US?

The raid was made on Cocoa Plum Island, near Marathon, when agents saw a 55-foot shrimp boat being loaded late Monday night. They surrounded the island's only house and exiles came boiling out like ants from a kicked-over hill, cursing the raiders.

No Warhead On Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unarmed Air Force missile fired in a test from Florida has veered off its scheduled course into the Gulf of Mexico and presumably soared over Cuba, the Pentagon said today.

The Pentagon gave no other details.

A spokesman said the missile, a Mace, has a maximum range of about 650 miles. The test range lies in an area of the Gulf of Mexico off Cuba.

PROPAGANDA BLOCK

While the Defense Department did not go into any explanations, the quick announcement was obviously aimed to get in ahead of any propaganda blasts from the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba.

The Mace is a winged type missile 44½ feet long and weighing up to 18,000 pounds. With its self-guidance system the weapon can cruise at 650 miles an hour.

Spokesmen at first said the missile had no explosives of any type, but they amended this later to say that the Mace is equipped with "destruct" charges under each of its two wings.

NO EXPLOSION?

These are designed to allow guidance crews to destroy a missile going astray, but an officer said obviously the destruct capability had failed.

Nevertheless, spokesmen said, there would be no explosion when the missile struck down, whether on land or sea.

When armed, the missile can carry either a nuclear or a conventional warhead.

The assumption was that the missile had already "hit" the ocean south of Cuba, but the Pentagon had no reports that it actually had impacted.

What happens when it impacts?

JIG SPLASH

"It will merely make a big splash," a spokesman said.

A spokesman said the missile's errant course was traced by radar, allowing Air Force officers to plot where it would go down.

The Pentagon said the missile was being used as a test vehicle in a fighter-interceptor test program.

WORTH $7 MILLION

Paintings Found In Robbers' Den

LONDON (AP)—Eight paintings worth $7 million, stolen five days ago in the world's biggest art theft, were reported today recovered intact.

Three of the old masters were found in what was believed a professional robbers' den and others in a parcel behind a clump of bushes not far from London's Dulwich College Gallery where they were stolen Friday, police informants said.

Scotland Yard announced the recovery of the paintings but declined to give details. Detectives were still questioning some men in connection with the theft, the Yard said.

The paintings — three Rembrandts, three Rubens and one each by Gerald Dou and Adam Elsheimer — were reported to be in good condition despite exposure to frosty air. Some of the paintings were damaged slightly, officials said.

STOLEN LOOT

Scotland Yard insiders said three of the paintings were found Monday at a hideout which contained a board of other stolen property and some weapons.

They said an anonymous telephone call led detectives Tuesday night to Streatham Common, about four miles from Dulwich Gallery in South London, where the remaining five paintings were found in some bushes.

One of the Rembrandts was the "Girl at a Window," said to be worth $2.8 million. All the Rembrandts and Rubens were world famous.

HIGHEST THEFT

Scotland Yard, announcing that the paintings had been recovered, said they were identified by the curator of the gallery.

The paintings were stolen Friday night from the college art gallery, the oldest public gallery in Britain.

It was the biggest art theft in history.

Police said they recovered Rembrandt's "Girl at a Window" and his portrait of his son Titus as well as the "Three Graces" by Rubens on Monday night. The other five paintings were found Tuesday night.

All the paintings were recovered in London. Officials said some were damaged but the damage was comparatively slight.

The announcement of the recovery did not say how the paintings were traced or whether anyone had been arrested.

Scotland Yard announced earlier that several persons were being questioned.

The Yard did not announce the recovery of the first three paintings for fear the thieves might destroy the others.

VIET WAR PRODUCING ITS OWN GI SLANG

Green Beans Come Out Of Boonies

SAIGON (AP) — The Green Beans came out of the boonies last week for Bob Hope's show and the word for the Hollywood round eyes was "something else again."

Like all the rest of America's 20th-century wars, the Vietnam conflict is producing its own GI slang.

Foot soldiers who were doughboys in World War I and dogfaces in World War II are grunts or ground pounders in Vietnam.

The wild blue yonder types of 1941-45 and the jet jockeys of Korea are zoomies or Steve Canyons here.

PLOWS CLEANED

Casualties are seldom killed; they are zapped, waxed, get their plows cleaned or get schnitzled. They may be dinged but rarely are wounded.

Atomic age troops in Vietnam prefer affirmation or negatron to yes or no.

The American buildup in Vietnam began with retreat argot from previous wars. Boondocks described the bush or any obscure location. It later became boonies and now shows signs of reverting to World War II's tulies.

DOUBLE THUD

Some twisting of the language grows out of boredom with repetition. A few GIs prefer balloon to platoon and corpse to corporal. Drinking water is referred to as potable, as in "give me a glass of potable."

Other slang is functional or, in the case of the F105 Thunderchief, malfunctioning. A series of crashes by the jet fighter-bomber earned it the title thud. The two-seat model is known as double thud.

The most widely used single phrase is still "sorry 'bout that." Heard here for almost two years, it is stenciled on caps and shirts, used as explanation or apology and is the title of a book of war humor.

The difficult tonal language of Vietnam has been raided by American soldiers for suitable expressions.

'DINKY DOW'

"Troil oi" (pronounced "choi oi") is loosely translated as "Oh, My God" and has become a universal exclamation. "Di di" (pronounced "dee dee") means go. It sometimes is used as "di di it up" or "let's di di the hell out of here." "Dien Cai Dau" (pronounced "dinky dow") means crazy.

U.S. troops and some Vietnamese rate people or objects by the numbers. "No. 1" is the very best; "No. 10" designates a "cheap Charlie" or some other disliked item. Nobody seems to use any of the numbers in between.

Some troops express sarcasm with "real fine" or "outstanding." "Something else again" is high praise, used, for example, in referring to a particularly well endowed Hollywood starlet. Roundeye is the GI term for a western girl.

CRMWD Sales Set New Record

Water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District set a new record in 1966. During the year CRMWD delivered 11,753,026,120 gallons, or 4.01 per cent more than the previous year. It even topped the previous high year of 1964 when CRMWD produced 11,544,516,382 gallons.

An abnormally wet summer, however, cut the over-all demands by the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder, which used 7,528,896,100 gallons, which was well under (4.81 per cent), the 7,528,896,100 for 1965 and the peak year of 1964 when member cities took 8,138,616,900.

On the other hand, relaxation of the pinch on oil allowances increased the draw of oil companies for secondary recovery. During 1966 the companies took 4,287,949,720 gallons, an increase of 13.72 per cent over the 3,770,905,230 of 1965.

December deliveries were substantially up. The member cities used 451,402,300 gallons as compared to 409,031,480 for the same month in 1965, and oil companies took 386,825,358 gallons as compared with 318,848,292 for the same month the previous year. Thus, the December total was 838,227,658 as compared with 727,879,692 for December 1965.

During 1966, Odessa received 4,035,170,000 gallons of water from the CRMWD, a decrease of 3.27 per cent for the year. Big Spring drew 2,801,465,000, an increase of 3.52 per cent. Snyder took 738,441,400 gallons, a decrease of 2.49 per cent.

The oil company draws for the year were: SACROC 1,740,709,320 (up 39.71 per cent); Sharon Ridge 41,398,000 (up 11.94 per cent); Lion Oil 19,775,600 (down 4.49 per cent); Tidewater 125,513,200 (up 2.91 per cent); Standard and Sinclair 497,545,600 (up 3.43 per cent); Sun Oil 1,190,393,000 (down 2.54 per cent).

Scout Exposition Tickets Will Be Distributed Soon

Tickets for the Boy Scout Exposition, which is scheduled for Scout week in February at Highland Center, will be distributed at the next meeting of the Scouters Round Table Jan. 12.

Bill Bradford, who is in charge of this phase of the exposition, said that unit leaders could obtain them at that time, or by calling him at home (AM 7-6729) or at work (AM 3-7661, Ext. 318).

Applications are now being received from the various units for phases or activities of Scouting to be depicted in the Exposition. Henry Stewart, chairman, has received several thus far.

DEAR ABBY

Son Should Get Truth

DEAR ABBY: My sister has a 12-year-old son who was born with one deaf ear and about one-third hearing in the other ear. His doctors have informed my sister that in the very near future the boy will be totally deaf.

Don't you think the mother is being extremely unfair to hide the truth from her son? She is a college graduate and a prominent socialite and she seems almost ashamed of her son's handicap. She said she couldn't bear the thought of his wearing a hearing aid or studying lip-reading so young.

She thinks highly of your advice, Abby, so please answer.

DEVOTED AUNT
DEAR AUNT: That mother is doing her son a shocking disservice. The boy should start preparing immediately to live in a silent world. It will be much more difficult for him to learn after he has suffered a total hearing loss.

Urge your sister to talk to her son's doctors and to follow their recommendations. And I hope for the boy's sake she acts at once.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and a boy who is 14 asked me to be his girl and I said yes.

Then he asked me if he could kiss me on the lips. Abby, I told him that I had never let a boy kiss me on the lips and I wasn't going to let him either. Well, then he said he was sorry, that he guessed he was just a little bit more grown up than I was, and he would have to find someone more grown up to be his girl.

Well, I didn't really care that much about him, so there wasn't too much heartbreak. But, Abby, I am still confused. SHOULD I have let him kiss me on the lips?

PRIVATE NAME
DEAR PRIVATE NAME: I think you used excellent judgment.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is dead and I had two enlarged pictures of him nicely framed and I keep them in my living room. The other day a neighbor came in and saw them and she said personal pictures did not belong in the living room.

Abby, I haven't had much education and I would appreciate it if you would tell me if I am wrong to keep his pictures there.

I get a lot of pleasure out of looking at his pictures in the living room, but if they really do not belong there I suppose I could put them somewhere else. Thank you.

JUST DUMB
DEAR JUST: Personal pictures should be enjoyed. And they "belong" where ever they afford the most pleasure.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Newsman Face Restrictions

CHICAGO (AP) — There will be restrictions on newsmen and photographers covering the trial in Peoria of Richard Speck, Judge Herbert C. Paschen says.

However, he said Tuesday, specific guidelines will not be formulated until it is known how many newsmen will cover the trial.

Speck, 25, is charged with the stabbing and strangling of eight student nurses July 14 in their Chicago dormitory.

Speck's counsel, Public Defender Gerald Getty, was granted a request for a change of location for the trial. Getty contended a fair trial in Cook County would be impossible because of news coverage given the murders.

Judge Paschen said photographers and television cameramen may be prohibited from taking pictures on the second floor, where the court-room in which Speck is to be tried is located.

The courtroom holds about 80 persons. Because of its smallness, Judge Paschen said, identification cards may be given to newsmen. Reporters also may be restricted from leaving or entering the courtroom while the trial is in progress.

The number of newsmen will have to be limited, he said, because "we must save some room for the public."

KERMIT (AP) — A two-car crash killed Jerry Meeks of Kermit and injured five other persons in this West Texas oil town Tuesday.

Meeks' wife, Kathy, and his sister, Lena Savage, suffered critical injuries.

Pulitzer Prize Jurors Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—Columbia University named two Texas editors among the 40 it announced Sunday as jurors for the 1967 Pulitzer Prizes in Journalism.

The Texans are Jack B. Kreuger, managing editor of the Dallas Morning News, and Charles O. Kilpatrick, vice president and executive editor, Express Publishing Co., San Antonio, Tex.

The editors will select nominees for awards, based on work published in 1966, in eight journalistic categories.

Their recommendation then will be submitted to a 14-member advisory board.

The Pulitzer Prizes are awarded every year in May by the Columbia University board of trustees.

Services Slated For Air Victims

DALLAS (AP)—Funeral services were set for today and Thursday for two persons killed in an airplane crash while on a flight from Georgia to Dallas.

Services will be in Colquitt, Ga., today for Donna Louise Phillips, 28, a secretary in the U.S. Engineers' Dallas office.

The other victim, John Hullum, 36, a Dallas salesman, will be buried Thursday at Wills Point, Tex.

They were returning to Dallas in Hullum's airplane Monday when it crashed near Jackson, Ala.

Scrambling Aggie

Texas A&M guard Sonny Benefield (24) hit the floor in a scramble for the ball against Rice University in College Station Tuesday night. Rice's Larry Miller (33), also a guard, made a run for the ball but was a little late in his arrival. The Aggies won the Southwest Conference game 69-66. (AP Wirephoto)

HC Seeks Second Loop Win Tonight

HCJC tries to shake the barbed wire from its hull in a return to basketball competition at 7:30 o'clock here this evening, at which time it will play its first Western Conference home game.

Buddy Travis' Jayhawks, 10-5 on the year, take the floor against powerful Clarendon College.

This will be one of two conference games this week for HCJC. The Hawks will also host Lubbock Christian College Friday night.

The Big Springers finished a lagging second to Amarillo College in the Murray State tournament at Tishomingo, Okla., shortly before the holidays. They lost to the Badgers by 20 points in a game that didn't set very well with any member of the local party.

The Hawks tangle with Dallas Baptist College in Dallas Jan. 9, then take a break until Jan. 21, due to mid-term exams.

Probable starters for HCJC tonight are Leon Smith of Austin, Henry Willis, Levelland; Bill Sinches, San Angelo; Jack Hosley, Leadville, Colo.; and Lee Leonard, Eunice, N. M., all sophomores.

Smith leads the team in scoring with 334 points and a 15.6 average. All five of the starters, however, are averaging 13 points a game or more.

Others who can expect to see action include Hiron Hubert, Jack Thompson, Larry and Barry Linder, Terry Fields, Robbie Lemons and Jackie Tillman.

The Hawks carry a 1-0 conference record into the game, having topped NMCI on the road Dec. 13. Other HC wins have come over Odessa College, Texas Western College's freshmen, New Mexico JC of Hobbs, Paris, Jacksonville Baptist, Cisco, Connors, Okla.; Eastern Oklahoma A & M, and Garden City, Kan.

The locals have lost to New Mexico JC, Dallas Baptist, Dodge City, Kan.; and Cameron, Okla.; in addition to Amarillo.

Golf Play Opens Feb. 10 In 2-4A

District 2-AAAA golf teams will open their conference season at the Maxwell Municipal Golf course in Abilene Feb. 10 and wind up five rounds of competition at the Big Spring Country Club April 7.

In between those dates, the league teams will take part in meets at Hogan Park in Midland Feb. 17, in Odessa March 17 and over the Riverside course at San Angelo March 24.

The Odessa meet has tentatively been set for the Odessa Country Club but final arrangements for that course have yet to be made.

First two teams and the medalist in the five-round meet become eligible to take part in competition on the Regional level.

Coach Dan Lewis of Big Spring has eight golfers around whom to build his team this year. All have been working out for some time.

Included in the group are five letter winners. They are seniors Randy Nicholson and Tom Wilson and juniors Ken Chadd, Mike Hall and Mike Weaver.

Others competing for first string berths include junior Don Kasch and sophomores Ronnie Broadrick and Bill Schwarzenbach.

Ponies, Texas And A&M Win SWC Openers

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference opened a new basketball campaign Tuesday night but it looked little different from the one ended 10 months ago.

Southern Methodist, Texas and Texas A&M won as expected, and SMU Mustangs produced another heart-stopping finish reminiscent of last year's championship team.

The Methodists, hitting an amazing 90 per cent of their shots in the second half, caught Baylor 78-78 in the last 13 seconds when Bill Voight completed a three-point play, then won 85-83 in overtime when Charles Beasley lofted a 26-foot shot with two seconds left.

Texas cashed 50 per cent of its 54 field goal attempts and turned back stubborn Arkansas 71-62 while Texas A&M subdued Rice 69-66.

Texas Christian and Texas Tech will complete the first round of conference games tonight at Fort Worth.

Southern Methodist's victory had a little more significance because it came on the road, where winning generally is tougher. Texas and Texas A&M each won at home.

The triumph was SMU's seventh straight this season and 11th consecutive in the conference, since the Ponies won their last 10 a year ago to clinch a second title in a row.

Two of the last three victories were claimed in extra periods, and it took two overtimes to beat Drake 84-81 in the Sun Carnival tournament last week. That also was the second straight two-point decision for SMU.

The 6-foot-5 Beasley, an all-conference selection last year, scored a career high of 30 points for the Methodists, tossing in 14 of 21 shots from the floor. Darrell Hardy got 26 and Ed Thorpe 24 for Baylor.

The first night of conference action was great for the shooters. Rice hit 49 per cent of its shots, Baylor 48 per cent, A&M 46 per cent and Arkansas 45 per cent, while SMU wound up with 61 per cent.

Rice, which has won only two conference games in two years, came within one point of tying the Aggies three times in the last five minutes and finally lost at the free throw line 23-16.

A&M also controlled the rebound, 39-29.

Larry Miller was high for Rice with 17 points and Sonny Benefield led A&M with one less.

Charlie Turnbough and Billy Arnold picked up a sagging Texas offense in the second half. After Tommy Rowland's basket gave Arkansas its only lead of the game 41-40 in the second half, Arnold sank three consecutive baskets and Turnbough added 10 points and the Longhorns had a 59-52 lead.

Turnbough was the leading scorer with 20 points although he fouled out with 6:13 to play. Rowland got 19.

Longhorns Turn Back Odessa Quint, 59-54

ODESSA — Big Spring waxed warm in the third quarter and went on to topple the pre-season favorite for the District 2-AAAA basketball crown, Odessa High, here Tuesday night, 59-54.

Down six points at the half, Spring comeback in that canto.

The Steers caught the Bronchos with 4½ minutes gone in the third round and by the end of the quarter were in charge, 43-37.

Danny Clendenin led the Big Spring comeback in that canto.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

They say that Cliff Richey, the young Texan rated the fifth best men's amateur tennis player in the country, will never emerge as the leader of the mob because he lacks the big serve necessary for grass play. His game is built primarily for clay.

That big Steve Worster of Bridge City, the footballer colleges all over the land are after, scored 79 touchdowns during his high school career, for an average of better than two a game in the 38 contests in which he appeared.

In his three years as a varsity player, he gained a net of 5,422 yards in 785 carries.

Big Spring's Johnny Hughes, a sophomore at ACC, recently underwent knee surgery for the second time. He was injured in the game against the University of Chattanooga. Quite probably, he will miss the track season again with the Wildcats.

Although he was hurt midway in the season, Big Spring's Charley Johnson emerged as the ninth leading passer in the NFL.

He completed 103 of 205 passes for the St. Louis Cardinals. His aerial gains amounted to 1,334 yards and ten went for touchdowns. Charley's longest completion was for 69 yards. Eleven of his aeriels were intercepted.

The troubles the New York Yankees have experienced the past couple of years cast long shadows years before hand. The once proud Yanks are currently reduced to dealing for tarnished players, men they wouldn't even keep in their organization a few years ago.

Before World War II, Big Spring — then in the old West Texas-New Mexico league — had a loose working agreement with the Yankees but the parent club never bothered to check on the health and success of the team as a whole.

They assigned Big Spring several players but only because they weren't ready for bigger things. And the Yankees made many a baseball operative mad with their aloof attitude toward the so-called bush leagues in general.

The Yankees, in those days, had one big farm outlet — at Newark, N.J. The New Yorkers had all the money in those times and most of the other big league teams were off the gold standard. For that reason, many of the big league teams were eager to trade with the Yanks, getting much-needed cash in return.

The Yankees still try to do their trading at the company store but the same plan doesn't work. The reason is obvious: They have few players that other clubs want.

The Yanks have developed a few players down through the years. People like Babe Ruth, Red Ruffing, Johnny Mize and Enos Slaughter were all acquired in purchases or trades, after they had proved their mettle elsewhere.

The New Yorkers still have lots of money, thanks to a lucrative TV contract, but dollars are worthless in the baseball market because there are no more poor clubs. Their failures hurt like a tight shoe but they either don't know how to go about correcting the problem or don't want to devote the massive effort that will be needed to do it.

The Yanks recently acquired a shortstop named Dick Howser who has hit a grand total of 16 home runs in his six years in the majors. In one month, Rudy York clubbed more homers than that.

The demise of the Yankees pains the rest of the American League because they know they must put a good club in New York in order to rival the National League for customer appeal, but few of the other teams in the circuit want to deal with the Yanks. They've learned all too often in the past that it does their own press relations no good.

I look for Kansas City to move to Oakland in the next year or two, when the American League moguls have decided that KC is not a big league town.

Incidentally, Larry Lawrence, who wrote for this paper at one time and who later was stationed with the military at Kansas City, says that fans in that city refer to their team as the Z's rather than the A's.

Despite Problems, Duke Wins For Coach Bubas

Associated Press Sports Writer

"A position of leadership," said Vic Bubas, Duke's basketball coach, "is a lonely one and I have been lonely for the last couple of days."

Bubas got lonelier later. That was after he had temporarily suspended nine players including four starters for training violations and left himself with only seven players — two on the bench and five on the floor — for Tuesday night's game against Penn State at Durham, N.C.

Fortunately for Duke, one of the clean sweep survivors was sharp shooting Bob Verga. He fired 38 points and led what was left of the Blue Devils to an 89-84 victory over Penn State.

Bubas would give no details on the suspensions which hit starters Mike Lewis, Bob Reidy, Dave Golden and Tim Kolodziej and reserves Tony Barone, Warren Chapman, Ron Wendell, Jim Liccardo and Joe Kennedy.

The coach would say only, "It is a privilege, not a right to play college basketball."

Fred Lind, C. B. Claiborne, Steve Vandenberg and Stu McKaig joined Verga in Duke's starting line-up. Lind and Claiborne never had scored a point before for Duke but produced 22 between them with Claiborne getting 13.

The win was the second in a row for Abilene in league competition, leaving them all alone in the standings.

Jody Mays of Midland led all scorers with 33 points while Tony Davis paced Abilene with 23.

Trio Slaying Suspect Faces Mental Exams

ORANGE, Tex. (AP)—Ronnie Lee Ozio, a 14-year-old high school sophomore charged with a New Year's gun and knife rampage that claimed three lives, will undergo "immediate and thorough" psychiatric examination.

Dist. Judge Eugene R. Hoyt ordered young Ozio transferred to the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston for this purpose Tuesday.

A motion to commit the youth for such examination came from Dist. Atty. Roy S. Wingate, who has asked that Ozio be ruled a juvenile delinquent.

Police said the youth arose New Year's morning and killed his father, John A. Ozio, 38; his grandmother, Mrs. Victoria Ozio, 77, and Mrs. Bobby Mayberry, 35, of Foreman, Ark., who was engaged to Ozio.

PIERCED BY ARROW
The women were shot repeatedly with a .22 caliber rifle and pistol. Ozio's body was pierced by a hunting arrow in addition to bullets.

Officials said young Ozio's high school English themes might hold a clue to what prompted the killings. Two themes in his notebook spoke of a "friend named Randy" who had fallen in love with "Debi."

The only person in the Ozio apartment unscathed in the carnage was Debi Mayberry, daughter of one of the slain women. "Randy" in the first theme met "Debi" while their families were visiting. That was how the 100-pound, 5-foot Ozio met Debi Mayberry.

"Randy" resolved to do something about his meager physique and physical unattractiveness. A second theme, written two weeks later, said Randy still had not impressed "Debi" and "is an ugly clod and probably will be an ugly clod for some time to come."

The high school themes, along with relatives' statements about the quiet, bushy-haired Ozio, will be sent to his psychiatrists. In a Beaumont hospital, Creg Mayberry, 16, Debi's brother, was recovering from a knife wound suffered while trying to stop the slayings.

Ozio cannot be tried on a murder charge until his 17th birthday under Texas law. He can be held as a juvenile delinquent until then if a court so decrees.

Wire Service Offers To Pay Newsmen $200

NEW YORK (AP)—The Associated Press Tuesday night announced its final money offer to the wire service local of the American Newspaper Guild, proposing a two-year agreement to pay top-scale newsmen a minimum of $200 weekly in the first year and $207 weekly in the second.

The offer was made public after mediator George Papp called an open negotiation session to let both sides disclose their positions.

The Guild rejected the offer and made a counterproposal which The Associated Press estimated to be 80 per cent above the company offer in the first year and more in the second year.

The Guild proposed top newsmen minimums of $205 immediately, $212 on Jan. 1, 1968, and $224 weekly on July 1, 1968.

The contract expired at midnight Saturday, but was extended until midnight Saturday, Jan. 7, at the request of the mediator.

The Guild previously announced its membership had authorized the negotiating committee to call a strike if settlement was not attained.

Houston Hotel Fire Hurts Six

HOUSTON (AP)—Six men suffered apparently minor injuries as fire charred one floor of a small downtown hotel Tuesday night.

The injured were among about two dozen people forced to flee the Adams Hotel, which occupies the second and third floors of a three-story brick building. It is diagonally across the street from the better known Rice Hotel.

Firemen reported most of the 15 rooms on the upper floor were damaged. Smoke and water also caused damage to small business firms at the ground level and to rooms on the second floor.

Chemical Plant Workers Strike

BEAUMONT (AP)—An independent union went on strike today at the Jefferson Chemical Co. but officials said the plant would continue to operate.

Spokesmen said the work stoppage was ordered, effective at midnight, after negotiations for a new contract reached an impasse in late afternoon.

Striking employees of the plant 10 miles southeast of here at Port Neches, are members of Local 1792 of the International Association of Machinists and the Aerospace Workers Union. It represents about 70 Jefferson Chemical workers.

PICKET LINES

Six hundred other employees represented by unions affiliated with the AFL-CIO are expected to honor picket lines of the local, which has no connection with the AFL-CIO.

A regular crew reported for an eight-hour shift starting at 11 p.m. and union leaders said it would remain on the job until the regular 7 a.m. quitting time. R. H. Darling, plant manager, said supervisory personnel would continue operations thereafter.

DEADLINE SET

Union and management spokesmen reported wage parties with other crafts, pay for three-day funeral leaves, and recognition of absences because of sickness or injury as justifiable were at issue. They disclosed no pay figures.

Members of the striking union besides the machinists include carpenters, painters, janitors and other utility workers, truck drivers and laborers.

Jefferson Chemical provides feeder stock for two neighboring plants which manufacture synthetic rubber—Goodrich-Gulf and Texas-U.S. Chemical.

The strike began as bargaining talks were in progress with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, which has set a deadline of midnight Jan. 9.

Computers To Verify Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says its computers will be used this year to verify completely all aspects of 1966 income tax returns.

The IRS reported Tuesday the computers verified only the mathematics of the 1965 returns. This alone, it added, turned up about $19.1 million which otherwise might have gone undetected.

In its annual report, the IRS also said its computers have frightened taxpayers into reporting voluntarily about $6 million in previously unreported taxes since Jan. 1, 1962.

But, the IRS said, its electronic brains also turned up more than 9,000 delinquent returns on which $2.6 million in taxes had already been paid through withholding from paychecks and mailing of estimated tax payments. Of these, another $800,000 in taxes was still due, but other taxpayers had $400,000 in refunds coming to them.

Actor Ford Packs For Viet Hitch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Glenn Ford is packing his fatigues for a 30-day hitch in Vietnam.

The Marine Corps announced Tuesday that Naval Reserve Cmdr. Ford had been ordered to active duty for 30 days.

When the actor expressed a preference to serve his active duty obligation in Vietnam, the Corps assigned him to the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force there.

Ford served as an enlisted man in the Marine Corps from 1942-1945 and joined the Naval Reserve as an officer after World War II.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Fish Tank Provides Moisture To Room

Dear Heloise:

We discovered a wonderful solution for dryness in a child's room.

When our son was two years old, he had trouble with nose congestion during the winter. Since he climbed in and out of his crib, having a vaporizer running might have been dangerous.

So, we bought a large fish tank with a pump that aerates the water. Sleeping has been no problem for him since then, because the moving water creates moisture in the air.

In addition, the tank light is very soft and acts as a night light. The very quiet hum of the motor is a reassuring sound.

Some doctors recommend clocks in the room for the same purpose.

Needless to say, the tank adds charm to our son's room and he adores watching the fish. They are not only company but entertainment for him. . . Mrs. Paul Weintraub

Ah, that's just a great idea! I'm sure lots of parents will love your hint. How ingenious can a Mother be? . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
A neat way to use mouth wash is to sterilize any plastic squeeze bottle you may have, then pour the mouth wash into it.

When needed, just a squeeze or two will squirt the right amount into your mouth. So convenient. I just know all your other readers would love to try it and find it useful. . . V.E.C.

Dear Heloise:
There is a plastic hoop available for making snap-on-the-waist aprons.

I bought one and put my clothespin bag on it. . . now my clothespins travel with me!

The snap-on-band is easy to put on and no more trouble untangling apron string knots with wet hands. . . Billie J. McDaniel

I want you, dear one, to tell your readers that if they want a light, fluffy meatloaf . . . to separate that egg or eggs they put into it, and beat the white until it is stiff. Then fold it into the meatloaf mixture.

This will make such a light meat loaf that you wonder if it is not a soufflé.

I use this same method on hamburgers. . . W.

A Devotional For The Day

It is the God who said, "Let light shine out of darkness," who has shone in our hearts. (II Corinthians 4:6, RSV)

PRAYER: Eternal God, standing at the portals of this new year, we give Thee thanks that the future is in Thy hands; that at no time and in no place can we drift beyond Thy love and care. Grant us grace to walk with Thee. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Merits Of The Case

The movement by some Negro civil rights leaders toward rallying a racial defense against congressional disciplining of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., is dismayingly ill-advised.

The position they apparently will try to develop is this: Much of Powell's conduct as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee cannot be condoned; but it is no worse than that of some other committee chairmen, and Powell is being singled out for attack because he is a Negro.

The facts are just the opposite. Powell's conduct has been flagrantly worse than that of any other committee chairman. His colleagues have hesitated to try to discipline him because they feared the vote loss threatened by his counter-charge of racial prejudice. Emboldened by that racist political shield, Powell has so excessively abused his congressional privileges and immunities that his activities can no longer be ignored without peril to the integrity of Congress.

Rep. Powell is not being called into question by his colleagues because he is a Negro. Rather he has been allowed to get away with as much as he has because he is a Negro. And that is not only enough to reflect damagingly on the whole Congress but enough also to reflect damagingly on the whole civil-rights movement.

The Powell case thus is a test not only of the integrity of Congress but also a test of the integrity of the national civil-rights leadership. Rep. Powell should be judged fairly — on the proved facts, the letter of the law and congressional rules. But to excuse him on the grounds some civil-rights leaders are raising would be racial prejudice and discrimination in reverse, and it would long be a heavy handicap on other Negroes aspiring to public office. Powell has failed his responsibility to his own people, and they can only hurt their own great and just cause by taking up for him now on a racist basis.

Unsolved Problem

The airlines long ago solved the flight problem. Passengers are pampered by stewardesses and flight personnel. They are kept informed in flight of estimated time of arrival and anticipated weather conditions.

But the airlines have yet to solve the problem of handling passengers before boarding. There are long, inexplicable delays. The central terminals are far removed from boarding stations. In far too many airports, passengers must expose themselves to rain and snow and bitter cold when boarding and leaving planes.

The terminal procedures of today seem well suited to the DC-3's of yesterday, but not to the VC-10's and the 707's of today. This raises the question of tomorrow: How will the airlines ever handle passengers for the giant planes that will soon be delivered, such as the B-747 and the C-5A, when 500 passengers must be explained and deplaned? The thought is enough to give an air terminal manager the shivers, much less the luckless passengers.

Some bold new ideas in airport planning will have to be developed. New techniques for ticketing and check-in procedures are needed. A new concept of terminal design must be conceived. The terminal "finger" design seems to have aggravated, rather than relieved the situation.

If the problem of airport passengers is not solved soon, high-speed passenger trains, modeled after those of Japan, can create serious inroads on air traffic. The triumphs of air technology have not been accompanied by triumphs in passenger-handling techniques.

Hang Together, Or Hang Separately

WASHINGTON — "There's only one target-master," said a White House aide with pride a few months ago. "The President puts his finger on the map at every place where the bombers are going to strike. He gets up in the middle of the night to worry about the boys who didn't make it back to their ships and bases."

What the President dishes out, he should be willing and able to take — the credit as well as the blame for his lonely decisions and his very public mistakes. In target-mastering, he has tried to cut with a dull knife instead of a sharp one. In managing the war, he has falsely given the impression that he could make it selective, immaculate, harmless to civilian enemies.

THE COUNTRY, now getting realistic reports of the bombing in North Vietnam, is mad at Harrison Salisbury for telling some of the truth, but madder at Lyndon Johnson for concealing some of the truth.

It doesn't matter about Salisbury, but it matters a lot about Mr. Johnson. He has sunk so low in the estimation of his countrymen that we have a crisis—one that has to be compared with Britain under poor Neville Chamberlain and the USA under the miserable James Buchanan. The worst of it that there's no Churchill in sight, not a Lincoln, not even a Truman who knew how to kick his way out of a tight spot nor an Eisenhower who knew better than to get into one.

ONCE THE situation is unblinkingly faced, the solution declares itself. We have got to stick with President Johnson. The Ben Franklin ultimatum—"hang together, or hang separately"—applies as seldom before. For although we can and must allow the military professionals to win in Vietnam, at whatever cost and with whatever weapons, the main show is not in Indochina.

THE RUSSIANS are deploying anti-missile systems, and we have to assume that this is because the Russians are preparing for nuclear war—or nuclear showdown. The Red Chinese have fired their fifth atomic test shot, and Hanson Baldwin reports that "Peking probably has a small arsenal of nuclear weapons that could be delivered over short distances by a variety of means." The only assumption we can safely make is that Communist China, along with Russia, is readying for nuclear war—or nuclear showdown.

Add to these grim estimates that NATO is no longer an "alliance," that the American home-front is a shambles of broken morale and rampant disloyalty, that we are siding with the wrong race in Africa, that Red Cuba remains a cocked communist fist—and you can see what the American options are: unite or perish.

TO UNITE means to rally behind the only President we've got. Those of us in the press who touted LBJ as the peerless leader have a lot to answer for, even as if in my own case, we voted for Goldwater. So have the 43 million voters who gave LBJ his sweeping popular majority got a lot to answer for. So has the Democratic party, and so has the whole political system, got some blame to carry. But all of us will have much more fault and shame to bear if we condemn Mr. Johnson to stagger to the end of his term without any support and faith, just as the nation allowed Herbert Hoover to do after the Depression closed in on him.

THIS TIME is different—very different. It's not merely that military collapse is worse than economic hardship, but also that this is a case where the country, I believe, can save the President, rather than expect him to save us.

If it's forgiveness for not always telling the truth, let's forgive him. If it's a belated chance to make good, let's bestow it on him. If it's faith in the best that's in him—which is considerable—let's assert it. If it's our prayers for a man in trouble, then we should pray—for the President as well as ourselves.

House May Junk 21-Day Rule

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision that could vitally affect the course of legislation in the 90th Congress will be made next Monday when House Democrats hold their pre-session caucus.

They will decide whether to try to retain the 21-day rule or discard it.

The rule puts a limit of 21 days on the time the Rules Committee may block House action on legislation approved by other committees. It was adopted originally at the insistence of Speaker Sam Rayburn to protect President John F. Kennedy's legislative program from stragglers by the Rules Committee then dominated by conservatives. It has been retained at the insistence of the Democratic leadership.

BUT LAST year's election results made the rule less appealing to its original sponsors. Among other things, the elections vacated the seats of the Chairman Howard W. Smith, a conservative Virginia Democrat, and James W. Trimble, an Arkansas moderate.

Democrats held 10 seats on the Rules Committee last year and Republicans five. The ideological division was eight to seven in favor of the liberals, although there were times when the reverse was true and the 21-day rule was used on several occasions.

THE LINEUP in the new Congress will be 10 Democrats and five Republicans. Democrats plan to fill their two vacancies with liberals. Theoretically that would give the Democratic leadership a 9-6 voting edge on most legislation, or at worst eight to seven. The new chairman, Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., has voted in the past with the five Republicans and probably will continue to do so.

With that strong grip on the committee, the leadership sees no point in retaining the 21-day rule. It could be used to force House votes on legislation the leaders want bottled up by the Rules Committee.

Conservatives will be in numerical control of some committees this year and might kick over the traces and approve bills the administration doesn't want. In that event, an unfettered Rules Committee could serve as a graveyard.

Rep. Richard M. Bolling,

D-Mo., one of the original champions of the 21-day rule and a leading spokesman for the liberals, sees no reason to retain the rule.

'I'd Be Honored, Suh'

By EDDY GILMORE
MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Geographically, the Southern Hotel is appropriately down south—way down yonder in South Manchester.

High above the hotel flies a tattered Confederate flag. In the main ballroom is the Lone Star flag of Texas. A miniature Confederate flag decorates every table in the dining room. Above the bar is another burgee with the stars and bars of the Confederacy.

Why? "I'm probably the only mid-die-aged, South-loving, frustrated English cowboy you've ever met," explained John Ridley 45, "and I'm the proprietor of the Southern Hotel."

"I LIKE the South. I like the Southwest. I've been fascinated by everything Southern and Southwestern since I was a child. But it was just pure luck when I got the Southern Hotel. You see, it had been named that before I got it. I suppose it's because it's in South Manchester."

In addition to being the proprietor of the Southern Hotel, Ridley is also an official of the Quizz-Draw Club in Blackpool. "We started the club four years ago," he said. "I practice in my cellar, get through about 1,000 rounds of ammunition every week."

Then the members own guns?

"LOADS of them. I've got a single-hand rig and a twin-rig. The twin-rig is for the two-gun man. I confess, I'm a two-gun English cowboy."

And horses? "Oh, yes, we've got horses. Not only do most of us have horses, but we have rifles, real American Western rifles and for that matter, handmade leather holsters."

But isn't all this very costly? "You're right it is. Just ask my wife. She's giving me hell about it, pardner."

Ridley said he wanted to get one thing definitely understood. "I like all Americans," he insisted. "I just happen to favor the South."

"During the war in Italy, I was in a hospital in Caserta. It was my birthday and they let me out on crutches."

"I MET up with some of your boys in a little cafe and got to talking and I said I'd met American men, but I'd never even seen an American girl."

"A big sergeant said, 'We'll fix that.' Do you know, those American soldiers picked up my crutches and they picked me up too and they took me to a place where your WACs were stationed."

"Well, sir, those soldiers knocked on a door and we all went in and sat around for a few minutes being entertained by two, delightful American girls."

Have any Americans ever been in the Southern Hotel? "Not that I know of," he replied, "but I'd be proud to welcome them."

"The first Southerner who comes in here, or for that matter, the second or the third one, well, if he wants to drink I'll promise he can drink all he wants to—and it won't cost him a penny. Why, I'd be honored, Suh."

Finds Son In Danger From Glue-Sniffing

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: We have just discovered that our son has been indulging in "glue sniffing," and also that many teenagers are doing it.

Does it cause brain damage? Does it do physical harm? Is it habit-forming? If not, then why is it almost impossible to get him to stop?

Who could tell me what damage he may have done to himself already?—MRS. R. K.

The effect of sniffing as well as the damage is from the volatile hydrocarbons used as solvents in "airplane glue" and similar cements. Some cleaning fluids have the same effect. Eventual brain damage, perhaps indirectly, cannot be ruled out. The direct physical damage is of a different type.

These hydrocarbon fumes are highly toxic, and permanent damage to the liver is one consequence. Changes also occur in the blood.

This is in addition to the young people who are hurt and even killed because of accidents resulting from their glue intoxication. There are some shocking cases on record, young people falling from roof-tops, or getting in automobile accidents. Glue-sniffing is actually intoxication, but with toxic fumes instead of alcohol. The youth of the sniffers, their bravado and lack of mature judgment all contribute to the number of accidents and other kinds of trouble which result.

It appears to be habit-forming. I do not mean it causes an addiction, like narcotics. It just becomes a habit. Too often, I am told, glue-sniffers, in search of stronger "kicks," progress to taking narcotics.

Sniffing is a thoroughly dangerous practice, and the solvents involved are the same ones which require warnings on various products. When the directions say, "Use only in a well ventilated place," the warning is meant to avoid poisonous effects. Yet the glue-sniffers breathe the stuff full strength into their lungs.

Blood tests and liver function tests may give an indication of how much harm your son has incurred. That does not mean that damage can be corrected. If the liver has been damaged, it cannot be "cured."

As with cirrhosis from any other cause, the important thing is to avoid any further poisoning, and then get adequate rest, and a sound diet.

Confirmed alcoholics who have ruined their livers by drinking too often refuse to accept the only truly useful piece of advice: Quit drinking. I hope the young glue-sniffers will have more sense.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne — The Teenage Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

The Now Generation

Time magazine has done something only twice done in its 40 years of history. It has picked a composite as its Man of the Year. Thus the inheritor (the new generation — man or woman — 25 and under) becomes its Man of 1966.

HERE ARE SOME things which the publication has to say about the new generation—which it also describes as the "now" generation: "Despite his tolerance of quixotic causes and idiosyncratic roles, the Man of the Year reflects — more accurately than he may care to admit — many of the mainstream currents in society at large. . . . Never in history have the young been so assertive or articulate, so well-educated or so worldly. Predictably, they are a highly independent breed, and—to adult eyes—their independence has made them highly unpredictable. This is not just a new generation, but a new kind of generation."

"CUSHIONED by unprecedented affluence and the welfare state, he has a sense of economic security unmatched in history. Reared in a prolonged period of world peace, he has a unique sense of control over his own destiny. . . . He has clearly signalled his determination to live according to his own lights and rights. His convictions and actions, once defined, will shape the course and character of nations. (The new generation's) attitudes embrace every philosophy from Anarchy to Zen; simultaneously it adheres above all to the oververse side of the Puritan ethic, that hard work is good for its own sake."

"THEIRS IS AN immediate philosophy tailored to the immediacy of their lives. The young today no longer feel that they are merely preparing for life; they are busily living in it. (The new people) have the opportunity to disprove the doomcriers of the 1950s who warned that the next generation would turn out spineless and grey-flannel-souled. Henry Thoreau would have felt at home with this generation of youth; they are as appalled as he was at the thought of leading 'lives of quiet desperation.'"

If some of the language in the piece sounds a bit high-binding, the thesis is one that demands attention. It's easy to scoff at the weird goings-on at Berkeley and on other campuses and to write off beards and kooky dress and deviations as phases. But I think it would be a mistake.

IT SEEMS to me that educators, politicians, religious leaders and all others coming in confrontation with youth would be well advised to seek deeper understanding of this new generation. Every generation, because of the nature of youth itself, challenges the old, and may aspire to change it by some flaming social or political code or reform it by some new apostolic zeal. Youth always is in ferment, and this is one of the working powers of society. But I am convinced, as Time says, that this is a different kind of generation.

THE OLD CLICHES will no longer suffice. The new generation has ideas of its own and has more liberality and latitude in expressing them. It will not embrace the old virtues simply because it says so on the label. The smart elders will be those who have more sense and daring than to merely deplore and resist, but to grasp what is going on and find some way to channel the tide. —JOE PICKLE

Cardinal Supports Oen Country

WASHINGTON — Many clergymen in America have said things about the Vietnam war that amount to aid and comfort to the enemy. But the moment a prominent churchman defends and supports his own country, he is jumped on not merely by the Communist press but even by some editorial writers in the United States.

Cardinal Spellman visited American servicemen in Vietnam and other Far East areas during Christmas week. Should he have told them that they must not fight hard and that, if guns are directed at them by the enemy, they must not fire back? Or was he right when he told the troops that they are "defending the cause of righteousness?" In a Christmas Eve sermon at a military base near Saigon, he said:

"THIS WAR in Vietnam is, I believe, a war for civilization. Certainly it is not a war of our seeking. It is a war thrust on us, and we cannot yield to tyranny, and so has said our President and the Secretary of State."

"We do hope and pray . . . we shall soon have the victory for which all of us in Vietnam and all over the world are praying and hoping, for less than victory is inconceivable."

How does one improve the morale of the fighting men? Can it be done by telling them, in effect, that they must compromise on the battlefield itself?

IT WAS NATURAL for the Communist press abroad to assail Cardinal Spellman and denounce him as "Satan in a priest's cloak." But it was surprising to read an editorial in this country which declared:

"What the Cardinal has said has shocked a great many people. It would have been possible for him to have comforted, inspired and encouraged young Americans enduring a cruel and often agonizing experience so far from home without calling for what amounts to total victory."

BUT CARDINAL Spellman did not advocate what is commonly called "total victory." Nor did he say anything that could possibly be construed as opposition to a peace negotiation itself. His philosophy was summed up in the words that he spoke at a naval base in the Philippines, when he talked to men who had seen action in the Vietnam war. He said:

"I believe that, in these circumstances, you are not only serving your country, but you are serving God, because you are defending the cause of righteousness, the cause of civilization and God's cause."

CARDINAL SPELLMAN throughout his distinguished career has made many an address that has given people a better understanding of moral principles in American life. As military vicar for Catholics in the U.S. Armed Forces, he has for 25 consecutive years spent Christmas with American troops abroad. He might have delivered in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City a sermon championing abstract principles in international affairs. But in the middle of a war, a chaplain speaking at a military camp doesn't tell the soldiers that they are engaged in an immoral mission and that they must not respond vigorously to the enemy's use of force.

THE ACTUAL conditions of war can hardly be ignored by any writer in the American press. Nor can patriotism be considered to have been abolished either for troops in the front line or for Americans back home. (Copyright, 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

Supersonic Critics Sound Off

NEW YORK (AP)—The awards of contracts for the U.S. supersonic airliner were not all they seemed.

Although the government designated Boeing as contractor for the craft and General Electric as the supplier of engines, no announcement was made of a schedule for the project.

As it stands now, the supersonic contracts do not even lift the project off the drawing boards. President Johnson said he could not even predict when construction would begin.

Some observers still are disturbed by the fact that the tremendous thunderclap that will trail the supersonic may make it almost useless for domestic flight.

DESPITE YEARS of work on how to eliminate the boom that accompanies the smashing of the sound barrier, the problem remains. The supersonic, if it were used on domestic flights, would shake up millions of people and send shivers through hundreds of square miles of landscape.

A question, then, that conservative members of Congress will be asking is whether the nation should commit enormous sums of money to build this craft while also pushing a costly space program and a war in Vietnam.

Any project of this size, especially one which involves innovations that have been proven only on paper or in the laboratory, is wide open to criticism. And the critics aren't silent.

Among the chief criticisms is that the supersonic airliner is not needed. Another is that it is unproven technologically. And still another is the method and cost of financing.

PRESENT indications are that development costs will come close to $5 billion. The government is committed to pay at least 75 per cent of this amount—a sum that has been growing, as seems always to be the case in financing large projects.

Some feeling also exists that one company should not be entrusted with sole responsibility for such a project. And the fact that the thunderclap problem has not been solved, and won't be until a prototype is built, lends credence to suggestions that Lockheed still might be in the picture.

The reasoning here is that most of Boeing's supersonics might initially be used for transoceanic flight. The noise factor isn't so important over water. The big plane could cruise from its take off city at subsonic speed, reaching sound-breaking speed out over the ocean.

IF THE BOEING supersonic is used only across oceans, it is possible that a smaller, slower supersonic might be built for domestic use. The assumption is that a small plane would be less of a nuisance.

Balanced against these negatives is one overriding positive aspect: the demands of the U.S. balance of payments situation.

A supersonic airliner could make a tremendous difference in our trade balance. If we exported supersonic planes our trade balance would improve by billions of dollars. Without a supersonic we would have to import, and our trade deficit would deepen.

Three other nations are involved in building supersonics: the Soviet Union, Britain and France. American companies already have signed contracts to buy the supersonic Concorde, a product of a French-British alliance.

Care Of Heating System Can Increase Comfort

Most home owners can lower their winter fuel bills, add years to the life of their heating systems and enjoy more comfortable heating by following a few simple recommendations, according to a local Carrier Air Conditioning Company dealer.

Roy Hester, president of Hester's Sheet Metal, said many homeowners can save up to 20 per cent on fuel bills by simply having their heating systems cleaned and adjusted to operate at top efficiency.

"Many heating systems operate at combustion efficiencies that are 10 to 20 per cent below par. To stop this waste of fuel and enjoy more even heating, burners and valves need to be cleaned and adjusted," Hester said.

He said that in most cases this requires only an inexpensive annual service call by a heating specialist.

"At the same time," Hester said, "electrical connections and protective controls are usually checked and the fan motor and blower can be cleaned and lubricated, if necessary."

This service, which can be contracted for on an annual basis, when combined with minor maintenance by the homeowner will keep the heating unit operating at peak efficiency and will prolong the life of the system, he said.

Hester said homeowners should clean or change filters in new homes about once a month while in older homes this should be done every other month.

"A clogged or dirty filter will restrict air flow and cause the heating unit to work almost continuously while still providing inadequate heat," he said.

There will be six flights in the competition... based on the booked volume of agents in 1966... in which United's representatives can compete for more than 300 prizes ranging from trips to the firm's international convention to be held in Palm Springs, Calif., next November, to color television sets, special UVL jewelry and blazer jackets.

Achievements of the competitors will be judged on both the percentage increase they show as well as the dollar volume over the assigned and approved quotas set for them by United, Jolley said.

United is one of the big four in the household goods moving industry.

Two "flyers" ... a telegram and a live bird ... were delivered Tuesday by Byron Neel, owner of Byron's Storage & Transfer, to "sing out" about the big 1967 nation-wide "Goal Buster Sales Contest" for United Van Lines agents.

James R. Jolley, UVL's sales vice president, said that the special "Kowta-Maker" parachute will serve as a constant reminder of the sales goals set for the local agent firms.

All 542 representatives of the world-wide household goods carrier firm across the country received news by Western Union messenger of the 21-week "sky is the limit" competition. The contest begins Jan. 9. Details of the "goal buster" drive to stimulate greater and more competitive selling efforts will be mailed to agents this week.
