Arctic Air Hammerlocks Midsection

By The Associated Press
A blast of arctic air, the coldest of the winter, numbed a vast stretch of the nation today from the Rockies to the Appalachians.
The bitter cold set records for the date in parts of the Midwest, caused some power failures and stalled automobiles.
In Chicago, where the mercury dipped to -10 degrees, police said reports of crime during the night were far below normal because would-be lawbreakers apparently preferred the warmth of their homes.

CARS STALLED

Chicago auto clubs were swamped with calls from owners unable to start their vehicles. Toll road police in the Chicago area reported numerous cars stalled in traffic when their gas lines froze.

In Long Prairie, Minn., radio station KEHL was off the air for four hours after its antenna cable contracted and broke in -28 degree weather. William Larson, station manager, said the severe cold "took every bit of slack out of the cable."

The temperature hit an unofficial low of -52 degrees in Phillips, Wis. Hibbing, Minn., had -47. The Milwaukee Weather Bureau's observer in Neillsville, Wis., reported -46.

Department stores in Milwaukee, Wis., reported a run on gloves and earmuffs Tuesday. A 20-mile wind, coupled with zero temperatures "just blew the heat right out of the buildings," according to a spokesman for the Wisconsin Gas Co.

At Hibbing, Minn., it was 44 below zero early this morning. International Falls, Minn., had 33 below and it was 31 below in the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

In Chicago, some 3,800 families were without electricity early this morning when a power line snapped on the Northwest Side. The accident was blamed on the cold weather by the Commonwealth Edison Co. The temperature dropped to 10 below at O'Hare International Airport.

PRANKSTER FRIGHTENS NEWLYWEDS

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A newly married couple was stopped by a highway patrolman Tuesday and the nervous driver ordered out with his hands in the air.

The Illinois motorist was quizzed about his marital status while his nearly hysterical bride kept shouting, "What's wrong?"
After determining the man was telling the truth, trooper Jerry Matheson explained that a station attendant had found a note on their car's gasoline tank reading: "I am being held hostage and forced to pose as a wife. Please call police."
The bride looked at the note and said it was the work of a prankster.

Officers did not get the couple's name.

AGREEMENT REACHED Unusual Suit In Lamesa Ends

By SAM BLACKBURN
LAMESA — An action seeking to recover funds lost by the Lamesa National Bank through defalcations by a deceased officer came to a sudden halt here today.
Judge Truett Smith of the 106th District Court, after a considerable delay in resuming the trial here today, announced that an agreement had been reached. No amount was specified, but attorneys on both sides appeared satisfied. The figure will not be known until judgment is entered.

While action had centered around the bank's action to recover losses, what was dominating the trial here and absorbing the interest of the spectators is the picture being painted of a popular young banker's fantastic operations which milked his own bank of a quarter of a million dollars through the creation and manipulation of a flood of bogus installment notes.

A jury of eight men and four women, is sitting in the case. Judge Truett Smith of 106th District Court, is presiding.
The plaintiff in the case is Lamesa National Bank. The defendant is Select Insurance Company and associates.

QUARTER MILLION

The bank has sued to force the insurance company to make good a bank loss of $251,584. The insurance company had issued bonds to the bank for $25,000 and $425,000 to indemnify the institution against losses caused by any act of any of its officials from other causes.

THE SUIT

The loss of which the bank complains, was revealed on Oct. 31, 1965. It had occurred over a period of about eight years and was the product of a manipulation which officials testified was devised, set up and operated by the late W. E. (Bill) David, 34.

Tuesday's evidence in the case — the first day of the trial — was devoted almost 100 percent to setting up the background of the loss and offering of a flood of exhibits dealing with the bank's demand on the company to pay and the company's refusal to do so.

C. A. Hollingsworth, now president of the bank, a vice president at the time the shortage was revealed, was the day's witness.

He and a fellow bank officer, B. P. Middleton, discovered the complicated operation David allegedly had employed to mulct the bank of over a quarter million dollars.

Hollingsworth said that on Oct. 27, 1965, Middleton came to him with a number of installment notes which he felt, were forgeries. On the following day the two officers inspected other notes and came up with a large number which were questionable.

Sunday morning, Oct. 31, 1965, he said that he and Middleton met with David, who was the son of a former president of the bank. They asked him, Hollingsworth said, if he knew what they wanted to discuss.

He said he had "utmost confidence" in the people's wisdom to keep in the new Constitution "that which is worthy" in the old.
The annual sessions amendment would provide a 120 day legislature in odd numbered years and a 60 day session in even numbered years to consider budget and other fiscal matters and emergency matters submitted by the governor. It also would provide higher pay for lawmakers. Connally did not specify how much higher salaries he thinks they should get.

PEOPLE'S WISDOM

He said he did not want to scrap the present 90-year-old Constitution just because it is old.
"Let us recognize that our need for a new Constitution is based upon the fact that our present charter restricts and withholds necessary and needed powers for our state and its local units of government to meet the demands of our people," Connally said.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., a member of the Armed Services Committee, said in an interview the proposed defense budget "might be scrutinized a little closer than usual but I don't think there will be any trouble getting support for the war."

WOULD YOU BELIEVE

Caviar At Automat?

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you believe caviar at the Automat? Well, would you believe quail in aspic? And nary a nickel put in a slot?

You better, because the Confrerie de la Chaine des Rotisseurs, a society of gourmets, held its annual dinner—all nine courses of it—at the Automat in the basement at Broadway and 37th Street Tuesday night.

The 30 waiters hired for the occasion seemed on the skeptical side. Dressed in white ties, dinner jackets and white gloves, they filled up on corned beef and cabbage before serving the fancier fare to members who had taken over the Automat from its usual customers for the evening.

The waiters were the only ones who pushed trays along the cafeteria rail, and the first thing the countermeat dished out to them was great dollops of $48 a pound caviar from Iran.

The Iranian caviar set the tone because the guest of honor was Mehdi Vakil, Iran's permanent representative to the United Nations, who was made a knight of the order.

Paul A. Spitzer, a New York meat company executive, who is head of the North American section of the international organization, dubbed him with a golden broche—luxury version of the thing you barbecue meat on in your back yard.

LIMESTONE LETTUCE
The confrere supplied red damask cloths for the tables, red and white carnations and white candles in silver candlesticks, but the six forks, four knives and one spoon at each place were plain old-fashioned stainless steel. Each diner also had six glasses for the wines which accompanied the meal.

It took three hours for the dinner which began with hors d'oeuvres of oysters, clams, crab, sturgeon, sausage in pie crust, and sweetbreads served from a special bar with champagne and aperitifs.
The sit-down meal began with caviar and progressed through consommé, salmon poached in white wine, beef roasted with truffles, braised endives, sherry to give diners strength to go on—quail in aspic, limestone lettuce salad, various cheeses and apple pie.

Gov. Connally Delays Specific Tax Demands

Constitution Vote Sought By Connally

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally asked the legislature today to submit to the voters this November the issue of whether they want to call a constitutional convention to rewrite the state's basic document.

In the meantime, he recommended that the legislature authorize a 25-member constitutional commission to serve as staff for the convention "when it is called by the people."

The proposed convention would have three delegates from each legislative district, elected by the people of the district. Delegates would be chosen by a place system and by a majority vote.
After the convention has completed its work, the proposed constitution would be submitted to the voters at the next following general election.

TEN MEMBERS

Ten members of the constitutional commission would be picked by the governor, five by the lieutenant governor, five by the speaker and five by the chief justice.

Connally also asked the lawmakers to submit several constitutional amendments, providing four-year terms for governors, annual legislative sessions, branch banking and a definition of "urban counties."

"As governor, I can conceive of no other project which equals or even approaches in importance the proposal for constitutional revision through a constitutional convention," Connally said, in laying out his first recommendation.

Initial reaction to President Johnson's announcement that he will seek a $73 billion defense budget indicates Congress will vote any funds needed to finance the war in Vietnam.

But requests for military spending not related directly to the war could run into tough opposition.
Johnson told a news conference Tuesday night that his requests for defense spending in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 will total $73 billion — an increase of about $5 billion over the current level. He also disclosed he soon will ask Congress for a $9.4 billion supplemental defense appropriation for the current fiscal year.

At the peak of World War II, defense spending totaled about $88 billion a year. The Korean war peak topped $59 billion.

CLOSER LOOK

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., a member of the Armed Services Committee, said in an interview the proposed defense budget "might be scrutinized a little closer than usual but I don't think there will be any trouble getting support for the war."

Stennis singled out military construction projects as an example of spending that might get a closer look.

Another Democratic member of the Armed Services Committee, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, said congressional action on the over-all defense budget will "depend on the justification" the administration presented but added he expects war spending requests to be approved. He noted that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara goes before the panel in closed session next Monday to start outlining the administration's case.

NO PROBLEM

One Republican member of the committee, Sen. Jack R. Miller of Iowa, said that as long as Johnson justifies his requests for Vietnam spending, "I would anticipate that he would have no particular problem in getting them."

But Stennis and Miller said any request for funds for an antimissile defense system could touch off controversy.

"This antimissile missile matter is going to be a large item in controversy," Stennis said. "Heretofore I've supported large amounts but I think it ought to be carefully examined this year."

SIMILAR SYSTEM

In his State of the Union message a week ago, Johnson told Congress the Soviet Union "has begun to place near Moscow a limited antimissile defense."

But he did not say whether he would give the go-ahead for a similar U.S. system designed to knock down attacking missiles before they reach their targets.

Miller also said there is sentiment in Congress for reducing U.S. commitments in Western Europe. "I can see some fighting coming up . . . if this budget envisions an extension of those commitments . . ." he

Cancer KO's Barney Ross

CHICAGO (AP) — Barney Ross, world welterweight and lightweight boxing champion in the 1930s, died today of throat cancer.

Ross, 57, died in his Lake Shore Drive apartment at 10:45 a.m.

Never knocked out in an 82-bout pro career, Ross was unable to appear at recent benefits for him attended by boxing greats in New York and Chicago.

The plucky, little ex-fighter—dogged by ill fortune since his ring retirement in 1938—recently was treated at the Veterans Administration Research Hospital. He was a Marine hero in World War II.

Ross is survived by his wife, Catherine; four brothers, Ben, Sam and George of Chicago, and Morrie of Los Angeles; and one sister, Mrs. Ida Kaplan of Chicago.

LEAST BURDEN

"I consider it essential that I present in detail my proposed revenue and taxation program in a separate special message," Connally said.

"You may be assured that I shall offer to you revenue proposals that will cover all of my recommended spending programs for the ensuing biennium, and that my tax and revenue producing plan will be designed to impose the least possible burden on the taxpayers of Texas."

Here are some high spots of the governor's recommendations:

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

Submit to voters this November the question of calling a constitutional convention with a commission consisting of 25 members appointed by the chief justice, the lieutenant governor, the speaker and the governor. The commission would serve as a staff for the convention body which would have three delegates from every legislative district.

PAY VOTE

Annual sessions—Submission of a proposed constitution change to voters calling for a general 120 day session of the legislature on odd numbered years and a 60 day fiscal session on even numbered years. Voters also would be asked to vote on legislator pay increases.

PARK DEVELOPMENT

Submission to voters in 1967 a constitutional change to permit issuance of $75 million in bonds to acquire and develop additional land for recreational purposes. The bond issue would be financed by a $1 a car admission to improved park areas.

FOUR YEAR TERMS

Four year terms for all statewide elective officers.

A prohibition against eavesdropping in any form.
Support for the seven recommendations made by the Texas Research League for the state's metropolitan areas.
Increased salaries for state employees.
A five per cent increase for all public school teachers.

The inclusion of a pay increase for public school teachers came as a surprise to many. There had been indications the teachers' pay raise demands either would be postponed until another session of the legislature, or that they would be told later to pass their own tax bill, such as a tax on mixed drinks, if they wanted a raise.

BOLD PROGRAM

Connally did not say so today, but there were indications his recommendations for new taxes and other forms of new revenue would be made in another lengthy speech to a joint session in the near future.

"Our challenge this session is to formulate a bold, progressive legislative program which reflects and serves the vigorous, ambitious, youthful yet humanitarian spirit of Texas," Connally told the senators and representatives.

Near the end of the speech he said that his recommendations today, including the budget he recommended a month ago, called for additional general revenue funds of about $125 million.

Showgirl Thaw Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the beautiful Broadway showgirl in the sensational 1906 Harry K. Thaw-Stanford White murder case, died Tuesday.

The 82-year-old onetime "Girl on the Red Velvet Swing" succumbed in a convalescent home where she had been a patient, gradually growing weaker, for more than a year.

Mrs. Thaw was the key figure in the trial of her millionaire husband for murder of her former lover, handsome society architect White.

The case, one of the most famous in the annals of American crime, was followed by millions of newspaper and magazine readers who wanted to know why Thaw shot White.

The slaying occurred June 25, 1906, at the opening performance of a new rooftop night club on the original New York Madison Square Garden, which White designed.

Hundreds of socially elite looked on in horror — including Evelyn — as Thaw shot White.

Her later life was an anticlimax of vaudeville and dancing performances. In later years, she lived quietly in Los Angeles, the victim of several strokes and the infirmities of old age.

Baker Witness Admits Big Fib

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government aims to finish presenting its evidence today against Bobby Baker.

Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, is accused of income tax evasion, larceny, larceny after trust, interstate transportation of stolen money and conspiracy. His defense will offer its side after the prosecution concludes in the U.S. District Court trial.

Wayne L. Bromley, a former Baker associate, admitted from the witness stand Tuesday that in preliminary investigations he lied to the FBI, Internal Revenue Service, Senate investigators, agents of the comptroller general and a grand jury.

FORMER PAGES

"Have you been indicted for these false statements?" cried out Boris Kostelanetz, one of Baker's lawyers.

"Unless it's happened in the last couple of days, sir, not to my knowledge," replied Bromley.

Bromley and Baker were former fellow Senate pages, went to the same law school and were fraternity brothers. Bromley became a lobbyist and re-

Burglars Botch Dallas Bank Job

DALLAS (AP) — Burglars botched a bank job but they had their trail well covered until it rained, Dallas police said recently.

Police said the burglars attempted to chip their way into a vault roof of a bank in North Dallas. They didn't quite make it. But they did leave a slight hole in the asphalt covering the concrete roof.

Rain accumulated in the hole, then started leaking into the vault. Bank officials quickly called police.

Officials added one comment for the burglars' benefit: The vault is used only to store records.

Rebellion In Thailand Supported By Peking

EDITOR'S NOTE — Thailand's battle against a Communist insurgency in its northeast has raised the specter of another conflict similar to that in Vietnam.

By FRED HOFFMAN BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Striking similarities exist between the Communist insurgent movement now being fought in Thailand and that in South Vietnam, which grew into a major military struggle.

But the differences between the two are more numerous — and in every case favor the West against the Communists.

As in Vietnam, the rebellion in Thailand is supported and fostered from North Vietnam and Red China.

Red China began trying to bring off a Communist takeover in Thailand 17 years ago with the establishment of the "Free Thai Movement" and has greatly intensified its efforts in the last three years.

RED TERRORISM Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn asserted in mid-December that his government has "definite evidence" to prove that North Vietnam is supporting and nourishing the Communist terrorism.

Most U.S. and Thai authorities say the insurgents, whose numbers are generally estimated at about 1,000, are largely indigenous, as they were in South Vietnam at the start.

The Thai dissidents are using methods tried and proven effective by the Viet Cong. They have set out to terrorize the villagers and cow them into submission and support. They are striking at authority by assassinating and molesting local officials and teachers.

CORRUPTION In both countries, the central government has a history of being remote and to a considerable extent disinterested in the well-being of peasants up-country.

Local police and government functionaries in both countries have a history of corruption and exploitation of villagers and peasants.

But there are fundamental differences, some of which are rooted deep in centuries of tradition, history and institutions. The Thai insurgents lack the patriotic glamor of the Viet Cong — they cannot, like the Vietnamese guerrillas, claim to be carrying forward a war for independence.

Thailand never was a colony, as Indochina was under the French for a century. Thai institutions evolved over 600 years of nationhood.

POLITICALLY PASSIVE Although there is discontent in the northeast, observers say the villages are not in ferment, "a seething mass of discontented people just is not here."

The Thai government is an authoritarian one, run by a military oligarchy. But it is not a "hell-on-the-neck" dictatorship.

While there appears to be no great enthusiasm for the military-led government, there seems to be no great resentment either.

In short, the Thais are politically passive. Even students, normally the most volatile elements in many countries, are seemingly docile.

DRAFTING DOCUMENT At a recent soccer game between two national universities, some students carried placards saying: "We are waiting for the constitution" — an appointed assembly has been drafting a constitution for eight years.

Government leaders forecast completion of the new document by midyear, with elections to follow in about six months.

There is some opposition to this idea among powerful elements of the military oligarchy ruling Thailand. The last elections more than nine years ago were nullified by the military leaders.

Although King Bhumibol, 39, is only a constitutional monarch, he is a unifying influence among the people and a tempering influence on the military government chiefs.

Not even the Communist insurgents criticize the royal family.

In Vietnam, the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem was only about three years old when the Viet Cong began the campaign of assassination and terror.

Oil Allowables Sliced In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission broke the rising trend in statewide oil allowables today, setting the February production pattern at 36.5 per cent of potential.

That factor will permit maximum production of 3,294,440 barrels of crude oil daily next month.

The January allowable of 37.5 per cent, a record, allows oilmen to produce up to 3,543,531 barrels daily.

Last January the commission moved the February allowable up a notch, from 32.6 to 32.7 per cent, which provided an allowable of 3,157,864 barrels a day.

SELLING TROUBLE The Bureau of Mines had forecast a February demand for Texas crude of 2,950,000 barrels daily, a decrease of 10,000 from this month.

None of the 14 major purchasers of Texas crude oil, nominating by percentage or barrels per day, asked for more than the current allowable.

Shell Oil Co. and Gulf Oil Corp. both said they were having trouble selling surplus crude oil.

SOFT MARKET "The market is unusually soft at a time when demand is generally very firm," said R. M. Armstrong of Shell.

Commission Chairman Jim Langdon said Texas crude oil stocks increased 1.1 million barrels from a month ago, 29.8 million from a year ago, and added "The demand for Texas crude for February is not as firm as January."

Nominations by major purchasers in percentages and barrels per day:

- 37—Sinclair 106,500
- 36.5—Mobil 262,300
- 36—Atlantic-Richfield 80,420

DEAR ABBY Personal Matter

DEAR ABBY: Why do women wear brassieres? I started to question this particular piece of wearing apparel after a friend of mine stopped wearing a bra because she had rheumatoid arthritis. She said she felt so comfortable, she'd never wear a bra again. I decided to give it a try, and discovered that she was right. I took it a step further and tried not wearing anything underneath my clothes. Great discovery!

I don't wear my clothes snug, nor do I wear transparent fabrics, so no one can tell whether I'm wearing undergarments or not. Some of my friends have fussed something terrible with me about this. Why? I look just fine without undergarments, so what crime have I committed besides depriving the bra and girdle manufacturers of a customer? LIKES MY FREEDOM

DEAR LIKES: If you look "just fine" sans undergarments, you're lucky. Apparently you don't need the girdling in, pushing up, or filling out that undergarments provide for your less fortunate sisters. What you do (or do not) wear is between you and your conscience, so why not enjoy your freedom and comfort and keep quiet?

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when most everyone is apt to engage in a few of words that have little meaning—all ideas from a basic desire to hear themselves talk—without actually accomplishing or achieving very much. Best to look into financial problems and see how they can be handled. Do not get socially as you had planned. (March 21 to April 19) See what you can do to improve the value of your real estate and other holdings. Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Being sure to take health and beauty treatments, eliminating bad habits in security and self-consciousness. Then you can get on with your life in a planned. Don't miss some fine opportunity to meet interesting people. Gemini (May 21 to June 21) You have annoying problems certain to be solved intelligently. You are right in them without getting nervous. Don't rely on usual advisor. You can have better success if you use a positive, constructive fashion. Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Be sure to assist one who is having rather rough shedding and show that you are interested in his or her welfare. Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Important you follow precisely every law and regulation that you are required to. You show loyalty to good support. Handle with care. Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) There are many interesting things in the world, but you should await a better time before getting into them. A new career could bring trouble if you follow his, or her, advice. Be wise and stick to the present. Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You have assumed certain obligations and it is wise to go ahead with them, though they now seem boring. This brings you further assistance in the days ahead. Don't criticize your buddy because you feel distressed. Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Your partners in all categories of your life may seem irritating, and this is because you are not feeling quite up to par. Be lenient scrupulously. Don't permit others to get you off the track. Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You should be grateful to have so much work ahead on this day when you could get into trouble just bursting around here and there. Don't be critical of coworkers. Maintain calm or your health suffers. Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Some new idea could mean greater happiness and success for you in the near future. Take the bugs out of present set-up, also. Think more in terms of economy, though amusement is as usual. Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Doing whatever you expect of you at home is wise since this will maintain peace and harmony, albeit at a bit of a chore. Get rid of whatever has become obsolete. Replace with the modern and efficient. Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Your ideas may be all right, but if you pay attention to what others have to say, if music is your hobby, buy that music which pleases you. Spend some charming hours at the piano, etc., and relieve tensions.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow, he or she, will be one of those "sensitive" types who cannot decide whether to become steeped in the ultra-modern or the very ancient, the good or the bad, and so be sure to send to a school where the real forte can be found and then the career becomes successful. There is an ability to understand the overall picture of any undertaking. Point out that being generous, kind, is best.

Biting Cold Grips Most Of Texas

By The Associated Press

All of Texas shivered today, and the mercury plunged almost to zero in the frigid northern Panhandle.

Brisk breezes, generally 10 to 15 miles per hour, added bite to the cold. Sleet, snow or freezing rain failed to develop as forecast, however, in the central and northeast part of the state.

Perryton, near the Panhandle's northeast corner, saw thermometers dive to 4 degrees above zero before dawn.

Amarillo and Childress recorded 11 degrees and Dalhart, where most of Tuesday's one inch of snow had melted, registered 13.

RAIN TO CONTINUE Temperatures stayed above the 30s only in the coastal plains and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

There was a little rain during the night at scattered points in East Texas. Texarkana measured 17 inch. Tyler, 83, Beaumont 68 and Houston 61.

Forecasts called for occasional rain to continue into Thursday near the upper Texas coast, and there were prospects for snow flurries this evening in the Panhandle.

LITTLE WARMING Most sections were promised a little warming Thursday but another night of subfreezing weather, with readings down to 16 in the Panhandle, 18 in Southwest Texas and the 20s to low 30s elsewhere.

Lows at other points this morning included Lubbock 15, Wichita Falls 16, Midland 17, San Angelo 20, Abilene 21, El Paso and Texarkana 22, Alpine 23, Dallas 27, Fort Worth 28, Junction and Tyler 30, Longview 31, Del Rio 31, Lufkin, Presidio and Waco 33, Austin 35, Beaumont and San Antonio 37, Houston and Laredo 38, Galveston 39, Victoria 43, Corpus Christi 45 and Brownsville 48.

Israeli University To Share Big Estate

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Most of a $1.3-million estate has been willed by Samuel Sturman, a Rochester businessman, to an Israeli University.

Sturman directed in his will that the money be used to found a department or chair at Hebrew University to plan a model state in the Middle East "with justice and righteousness as its foundation."

Hampton To Cut Record With King

TOKYO (AP)—Musician Lionel Hampton says he will make a record this summer with the jazz-loving King of Thailand.

Hampton said in an interview in Tokyo today that Thai officials told him during a recent visit to Bangkok that the proceeds from sales of the record would go to charity.

King Bhumibol Adulyadej, considered a gifted musician, plays the saxophone and several other instruments.

Bachelor Of Arts Degree Worthless?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A college bachelor of arts degree is all but worthless any more and "means little or nothing as a symbol for a liberal education," says Dr. Louis T. Benetz, president of Claremont Graduate School.

In a speech to the National Conference of Academic Deans he suggested offering specialized degrees such as bachelor of chemistry or English.

Kenilworth Police Chief Robert Daley stands in front of the "Percy Murder Investigation Headquarters" in Winnetka, Ill. The investigation was moved to nearby Winnetka because of the police facilities. Both are suburbs of Chicago. Daley and a crew of 14 men have been investigating the September murder of Valerie Percy, the daughter of Ill. Sen. Charles Percy. (AP WIREPHOTO)

No Real Hot Suspect After 2,500 Quizzed

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — Valerie Percy last Sept. 18. The chief of police, a courteous, soft-spoken man, fingered his bow tie and considered the question. "We don't," he said, "have what we could call a real hot suspect."
That is the status of the search for the murdered 21-year-old Valerie Percy, five months after the fact.
"There are more than 1,000 items of physical evidence in this case," said Police Chief Robert Daley in an interview. "There are some items we regard as clues. But there is nothing we think of as a real good lead."
Snow patches the two acres of lawn around the $200,000 mansion where a killer budgeted and knifed to death Valerie Percy last Sept. 18. There are no other surface changes at the home of Valerie's father, millionaire Charles H. Percy, now a U.S. senator, or in Kenilworth, a Chicago enclave for the very rich on the shore of Lake Michigan. Occasionally, Chief Daley, commuting 55 miles each morning to his job, drives past the 17-room limestone mansion, set off from the main road by its private drive. Trees and hedges form a covering maze for the house, named Windward.

NO CHARGES

There are no other surface changes at the home of Valerie's father, millionaire Charles H. Percy, now a U.S. senator, or in Kenilworth, a Chicago enclave for the very rich on the shore of Lake Michigan. Occasionally, Chief Daley, commuting 55 miles each morning to his job, drives past the 17-room limestone mansion, set off from the main road by its private drive. Trees and hedges form a covering maze for the house, named Windward.
For Daley and for his 14-man force there is another kind of maze involving Windward — one formed by the massive file of information on the unsolved slaying of Valerie Percy.
On Sept. 17, Daley, a 34-year-veteran of the force, seven years its chief, was planning retirement, approved by the village board for Nov. 1.

But in the murky dawn of the following Sunday morning, an intruder cut his way through a patio door of Windward, crept upstairs and killed the blue-eyed, 5-foot-6 Valerie, whose father then was the Republican candidate for the Senate.
Daley went ahead and bought a retirement home in Racine, Wis., his wife's hometown. But he promised the village he would continue to head the murder investigation that encompasses a file of more than 1,000 leads.
"We have questioned more than 2,500 persons," Daley said. "We have chased down leads in more than 25 states and several foreign countries."
"The FBI contacted people in Canada, Puerto Rico, France and England. We are checking them all. And another thing, one lead always leads to another."
"Our people — 14 men, plus myself — work regular hours. But if a lead turns up, our work on it past midnight."
Daley, 58, speaks softly, pre-acting each statement with "sir." He has a batch of unruly pepper-gray hair and favors bow ties and tweed sports coats.

CLEARED FOURTEEN

Fourteen persons have been given lie-detector tests; each has been absolved.
There are 1,020 leads in the file labeled "Percy investigation." Some 300 of them have been separated into an inactive file. The names of about 100 persons are kept in the active file of suspects.
The more than 1,000 items of physical evidence include the slain girl's blood-stained nightgown, a man's glove found in a shallow ravine near the mansion, a bayonet salvaged from Lake Michigan by scuba divers and two well-defined palm prints from the circular stairway the killer climbed en route to his victim.

PALM PRINTS

The palm prints are of use only in checking against those of a suspect. No connection has been disclosed between the bayonet and the murder weapon. Chemical tests failed to establish whether wooden fibers found on the victim's bed matched those of the glove.

More than 300 fingerprints taken from friends of the Percy family have been checked out by the FBI. At the time of the slaying, Daley said it appeared the killer was familiar with the Percy mansion. The family was questioned extensively by Daley and a list of their friends was compiled.
At an October inquest, Mrs. Percy told a coroner's jury of Valerie's slaying: "I'm convinced it was nothing she provoked."

FEW DIVERSIONS

The victim's father declared: "She was the embodiment of freshness and sweetness. I really can't imagine her having an enemy."
In November Percy was elected to the Senate by Illinois voters.
A month later, Valerie's twin, Sharon, became engaged to John D. Rockefeller IV.
But for Chief Daley, the five months since the slaying have provided no highlights, few diversions. His retirement is still in the future.

Bill Cosby Is Advancing Negro Cause

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two years ago, Bill Cosby was a former athlete trying to make a name as a comedian.
Today he is a television star and a prime symbol of the ascending status of the American Negro.

The first of his race to succeed as costar of a television series, Cosby expounded on his new position during the lunch break of "I Spy." In lieu of lunch, he puffed a cigar and relaxed in his dressing room, which features photos of Ben Turpin, W.C. Fields, Laurel and Hardy, and other great comedians he admires.

EXHAUSTED

Cosby seemed tired. He admitted that the rigors of an hour-long drama filmed on far-off locations, and the pressures of being a civil rights symbol, had left him mentally exhausted.

"You do what you can without killing yourself," he said. "Every Negro has a stake in the civil rights movement, and each of us has his own way of operating. Muhammad Ali has his way, Martin Luther King has his, Stokely Carmichael has his."

The Cosby way is less vocal. He figures he is advancing the Negro cause by his partnership with costar Robert Culp in "I Spy."

"Of course there are people who will ask, 'Has Bill Cosby done more for himself or for the cause?'" he said. "I won't argue that. But I do think that the sight of two men, one white and one black, working together and living together in a dramatic context on weekly television must be doing some good for racial understanding."

PLAYS BENEFITS

Cosby also plays benefits for Negro causes and spends some time at Studio Watts, an organization to help Negroes in the Los Angeles neighborhood torn by rioting in 1965.

Cosby figures his best contribution to the Negro cause will come from his own performances as an entertainer. In his night club and concert appearances and on his records, he has never stressed his Negroesness. Next he hopes to star in movies in which his race will not be an issue.

"When I do a film, I would like it to be something along the line of things that Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis do," he said. "Or I might even play a spy. Why couldn't I make black 'Goldfinger'?"

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Didn't we get our collective leg pulled Saturday night? Most of us were really taken in by Mr. Geoffrey Bray... he even kissed my hand and that's something that doesn't happen around our house every day. JIM LEWIS, hot to be outdone, kissed both of them when he gave us the Red Coat treatment in the receiving line so you can plainly see I started out impressed with the whole evening.

Lodge Gets Letters Of Gratitude

Letters of appreciation were read during the meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 held Tuesday in the IOOF hall. Mrs. Travis Melton read a letter from the state hospital, thanking the group for participating in Christmas activities there, and the second letter was from Mrs. Thelma Gage of the Rebekah Assembly, congratulating the new officers.

Bride-Elect Feted With Gift Party

Miss Donna Wood, bride-elect of Raymond W. Ferry, was honored at a gift tea Monday evening at the Baptist Temple. The couple will be married Jan. 21. Hostesses for the affair included Mrs. A. W. Page, Mrs. Max Legg, Mrs. Jim Blotner, Mrs. Clyde Bryan, Mrs. L. W. McCann, Mrs. F. D. Rogers, Mrs. W. L. Sandridge, Mrs. Bill Myers, Mrs. Bob Wren, Mrs. A. F. Gilliland and Mrs. Ross Hill.

when he wouldn't answer the question of his political standing. To say most of us were horrified when it appeared there might be some scuffling at the speaker's stand was the understatement of the year... One woman was said to have grabbed her pink and tugged at her husband to come flee with her away from the banquet room. Some guests from Lampasas who were with MAJ. and MRS. HENRY HILL, were certain the speaker looked very much like Cactus Jack Pryor from Austin but he was so veddy, veddy British he finally became Geoffrey Bray to them, too. SAM ANDERSON wasn't fooled because he had been at a gathering in Washington, D. C., when Mr. Pryor had posed as an ambassador or some such representative and had completely hoodwinked the audience.

Anyway, it was a delightful evening, and the deception was a good one. I'm glad it turned out that way but I can't help wondering what would have been the outcome if, indeed, the speaker had been what he was accused of being. He wasn't very popular for a minute or so Saturday night.

MRS. HOMER WILKERSON who has been undergoing tests at Scott and White Clinic at Temple, has returned home.

TOMMY WILKINSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Wilkinson, is to leave Sunday for Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio where he will enter the Air Force reserves.

MRS. WALT STOUTENBURG left Tuesday for her home in Yakima, Wash., after being here with her father, S. P. JONES, who recently underwent surgery.

Also visiting in the Jones' home are his sister and her husband, MR. and MRS. GENE SPRINGER of Dallas.

MR. and MRS. J. T. BAIRD JR. of Boston, Mass., are expected today for a visit in the home of his parents. They expect to be here until Jan. 29.

MR. and MRS. MILLER HARRIS, who have made their home in Durango, Colo., for several years, are here for a visit in the home of her father, J. B. PICKLE. En route here they visited relatives in Dumas and Lamesa.

A LOVELIER YOU
Cosmetics Applied To Slim Round Face
By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes; I have a moon face, but not the dreamy "moon baby" kind you read about. Everything about my face is round. Yet I have a slim figure. What's the solution?
The Answer: When there is no weight problem, the slimming tactics for a round face is cosmetic camouflage. The kind to use is based on the artist's principle of shadowing to minimize curve. These are the steps:
First shadow the cheeks. For the job you need brownish contour cream or brush-on. Both are more effective if applied over a skin-toned foundation. To apply the contour cosmetic, start in the center of the cheek and blend to form a wide triangle that overlaps the side of the jaw.
Using the same cosmetic, next shadow the eyelids from the center of the lashline upward to the eyebrow and outward to the temple. Then, with brown or black eye pencil, draw a soft line close to the lashes, starting a quarter-inch from the inner corner of the lid and ending just beyond the outer corner in an upsweep. Finish by brushing the eyebrows in the straightest possible line.
In addition, give the lips a slow curve — elongate their shape with flat brush strokes. And, for its ovalizing effect,

DEMOCRATS WAITING

Republicans In Congress Raising Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans are off and running in fund-raising for the 1968 campaign but Democrats are waiting to see what trends Congress takes before starting their drive.

Sen. George Murphy of California, newly elected chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said he is beginning to deploy GOP "fresh faces" across the country for what he hopes will be an uninterrupted appeal for votes up to election day next year.

But Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, chairman of Democratic senatorial campaigns, took the position in a separate interview that it's too early to get excited about an election so far away.

"SHAKE DOWN" Under the party custom, Magnuson must be replaced as chairman because his own seat is at stake in 1968. But he said Democrats decided to postpone any decision on a successor "until things shake down."

Reports to the clerk of the House show that Magnuson's committee spent little more than half what its counterpart GOP group spent in the 1966 campaign: Democrats $356,457, Republicans $639,640.

Murphy said congressional Republicans are staging a $500-a-plate March dinner in Washington to honor the party's new members of the House and Senate. Magnuson said Democratic dinners are only in the preliminary planning stage.

"TOTAL VICTORY" Most of the GOP dinner money will be spent nationally. Murphy said the five new GOP senators elected last November and the 11 whose seats will be at stake next year will be asked to fund-raising dinners across the country.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois took on such an assignment Monday night when he told a Republican "victory" dinner in Harrisburg, Pa., that Congress should not abandon humanitarian programs by escalation of the Vietnam war in search of "total victory."

"BROOKE POPULAR" Percy, Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., and four new House members participated in

Teacher Shortage Solution Idea

CANYON, Tex. (AP)—An official of the Texas Education Agency suggests enlargement of the public school classroom from 20 to more than 50 students may be a solution to a state teacher shortage.

Dr. Milo E. Kearney, director of Teacher Education and Certification, said here "this is just an idea" but "the problem of teacher shortage is going to get worse before it gets better."

Kearney thinks by placing teacher aides in a classroom with one teacher the aides would receive valuable experience.

"I would much prefer my child to be in a class of 50 with a master teacher than in a class of 20 with an inexperienced, unqualified teacher," Kearney said.

$5,000 MINIMUM

Teachers' Pay Bill Filed In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma Legislature had before it today the first of an interim committee's judicial reform bills and a measure seeking to raise starting teachers' pay from a minimum of $4,180 to $5,000 a year.

Rep. John McCune, chairman of the Interim Committee on the Judiciary, introduced the first of three joint resolutions seeking constitutional changes in the state court system Tuesday.

The resolution provides for abolishing the justice of peace system and sweeping reorganization of other courts.

Still to be introduced are resolutions to change the method of selecting judges and proposed changes in the Oklahoma Constitution to make jury trial provisions conform to the new court structure.

ANNUAL RAISES

Sen. Al Terrill introduced the teacher pay measure, which also would raise minimum salaries for teachers with master's and doctors' degrees. Annual raises of $150 would be provided for the first 15 years of teaching.

Sen. Bryce Baggett said his Governmental Affairs Committee would meet today and may send a congressional redistricting bill to the Senate calendar.

The House passed 80-12 Tuesday a bill to let state agencies hire aliens.

Rep. John Levergood declared the bill, which would repeal a World War I act prohibiting employment of aliens by the state, was dangerous.

Secretary's Short Skirt Ups Eyebrows

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A state senator's young secretary has lowered her hemline on the miniskirt that raised some eyebrows and drew some complaints at the Capitol last week.

The complaints came mostly from older, rural senators and some other secretaries.

"That dress is just something my constituents wouldn't understand," said one senator. "They'd walk in and say that girl forgot her dress."

A secretary commented, "It's all right until she starts filing in the bottom drawer of the file cabinet."

But the 23-year-old lass will have strong support in case the Senate tries to legislate the matter.

One of the younger senators said, "With us around to vote, I don't think they'd ever get it out of committee."

Sense Of Humor Relieves Daddy

BEAUMONT (AP) — A man called to report for jury duty seemed a little reluctant to let the deputy district clerk see his summons.

"I hope I don't get into trouble for this," he said. "But my little girl got hold of it."

On the back, in bright colors, were drawn a house, seven trees and three children.

The man was relieved to learn the clerk has a sense of humor.

Barnes Admits Contributions

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Ben Barnes said today he has about 160 constituents in his four home district counties who contribute $10 a month to advance his political career.

"I really don't know how much is in the fund," Barnes said. "I don't get any regular amount every month. I have never written a check on the fund myself. It is all in several banks in my home district."

"When there is something I want to do, I call up and talk with some of my supporters and if they think I need the money they send it to me."

Published reports in the Houston Chronicle Sunday and the Dallas News today said the Ben Barnes Clubs in Brown, Runnels, Coleman and Comanche counties raise about $20,000 a year to supplement the $4,500 a-year state salary Barnes receives as a legislator, the same as other state representatives and senators receive.

Barnes is from DeLeon.

Barnes said there are local supporters in each county who have full control of the fund. More than a year ago the people in my four counties started asking my best supporters if they would give $10 a month to help me. They call them the Ben Barnes Clubs. The money stays up there and when I think I need anything, I telephone them, like when I needed money for postage for Christmas cards."

4-H Club Has Reports

Reports from state conferences featured the meeting of the Big Spring 4-H Club Tuesday evening in the Howard County courtroom. Sixty members and parents attended the sessions presided over by Cathy Shaw.

Diana Rodman, a Forsan junior, reported on the governor's conference to which she was a delegate from Forsan, and related how as a result of information gained, she helped establish a youth center at Forsan. This is operated by a youth council and adult advisors.

Details of the Texas Farm Bureau citizenship seminar last summer on the campus of Baylor University in Waco were given by Larry Callahan. He said that positive elements of citizenship were stressed as well as negative forces exposed.

Last autumn, Cathy won the state contest in dairy foods, and at the meeting she received a gold watch from the Carnation Company for this honor. James Shelton, assistant county agent, reviewed the livestock show record of the past year.

Aid To Libraries

A Congress under heavy wartime economic pressure may be tempted to cut back programs that lack vigorous and vocal popular support, even if such programs are constructive and the revenue saving would be relatively slight.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt of Kentucky recently warned that federal aid to public libraries is in such danger. He urged the new Congress "not only to retain . . . but to increase" federal funds for libraries during the next fiscal year. Other state governors should join him in that appeal.

In recent years, Congress has included library - improvement funds in federal aid to all levels of education. It also extended a program of federal aid to rural libraries to the urban library systems, with increased funds for both construction and services on a matching basis. The federal aid for public libraries has helped Corpus Christi add a second branch library to its city system, increase its book stock, and improve other facilities and services. Naturally, this federal aid has been an effective incentive for increased state and local support for public library development.

As Gov. Breathitt says, this library aid is "minimal in comparison with other federal expenditures," but it is doing a great deal of long - range good. Public library systems are an essential complement to educational institutions in the effort to achieve an enlightened citizenry and promote social progress. The federal responsibility is clear, and this aid program is one of proved effectiveness. It would be false economy to allow it to falter during the current emergency.

The DSA Winner

The selection of Capt. Henry Hill to be the recipient of the Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award further illustrates the closeness of Webb AFB and the Big Spring Community.

It should be pointed out, however, that his selection has nothing to do with Webb AFB, for Capt. Hill earned the recognition because of his outstanding record of participation in civic affairs, which is over and beyond his call of duty as training officer of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron. The list of things in which he has participated and taken a leading role is impressive. It is heartening to note that the community does look upon the air base not as a separate entity but as an integral part of the community. This bears it out that those who are stationed at Webb are just as much a part of the town as an oil company employe, a business store manager, a construction worker, or anyone else from the moment they arrive until they leave. We're doubly indebted to Capt. Hill for his service and for demonstrating this close relationship.

Misrepresentation Of The Budget

WASHINGTON — If the head of a business saw that his financial operations were going into the red and he then included money derived from the sale of assets as a part of profit, the stockholders would call this misrepresentation and the auditors of the Securities and Exchange Commission would throw it out as inaccurate.

BUT THIS is what the government itself is doing today in estimating the actual deficit for the fiscal year that ends on June 30. For, instead of the red figure of 9.7 billion dollars which President Johnson used in his "State of the Union" message to Congress last week, the real deficit appears to be at least 18.8 billion. This sum includes some of the items to which Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, Republican — a member of the Finance Committee — called attention. Here is the list taken from government sources:

Billion
Deficit estimated by President	9.7
Accelerated tax payments by corporations	3.2
Speed-up of individual withholding tax payments and excise taxes	4.0
Graduated individual withholding taxes	4.0
Income from reduced silver content of coins	1.0
Sales of "participation certificates"	4.1
Real deficit	18.8

WHAT ARE "participation certificates"? They are, in effect, a form of government security. When sold

Billy Graham

We are members of a large church and attend every Sunday. However, we listen to you on Sunday afternoon, and hear you speak of the new birth. This is new to us. We have been going to church for years and no one has told us we need to be born again. We are quite disturbed. Is it necessary to have this experience before we are Christians?

F. L.

It seems curious that you consider the preaching of the New Birth "something new," when Jesus spoke it two thousand years ago, and Bible-believing Christians have been speaking of it ever since. Jesus said to Nicodemus: "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." Nicodemus was a church member. Not only so, but he was far above the average. Being a Pharisee, he fasted, he prayed, he read the Scriptures, he observed the Sabbath, and he believed in the resurrection of the dead. But Jesus said to this fine religious man: "Ye must be born again."

You see, according to the Bible, our nature needs to be changed. Jesus said, "Except ye be converted, ye shall not enter the kingdom of heaven." Going to church is fine, but Jesus didn't say, "Except a man go to church, he shall not see the kingdom of heaven." Living a good, moral life is commendable, but Jesus did not say, "Except a man live a decent life, he cannot see the kingdom of heaven." But He did say that if we are to be in His kingdom, we must be born again. I am sorry you are upset, but I'd rather you know the truth here, than to go to the judgment not knowing it.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Eleven Texas cities could profitably use desalting plants to solve water problems. Southwest Research Institute concludes in a study released by Texas Water Development Board. The municipalities are Beeville, Dell City, El Paso, Fort Stockton, Freer, Hebbronville, Italy, Kingsville, Rankin, Refugio and Port Mansfield.

The report said desalting at these cities would cost less or about the same as water from conventional sources. Port Mansfield's existing plant, the first in Texas supplying municipal water, was used as the yardstick for costs.

Costs of water in the 11 cities would range from 30 cents to $1.44 per thousand gallons. Plant capacity would range from 200,000 to 10 million gallons daily.

Twenty-six other Texas cities were found able to obtain water from conventional sources at less cost than in desalting. But nine of these were in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, so close together that they could be served by large-scale plants.

Desalting water for irrigation would not be economical, the study indicates. At 30 cents per thousand gallons, the lowest cost found, irrigation water would cost approximately $96 per acre-foot. That is far above current water costs for agriculture. — DALLAS NEWS.

LBJ's Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who might almost be called a new man because of his revised tactics in public relations, has shown how to take some of the thump out of a blockbuster.

In this case the blockbuster is the $73 billion he will ask Congress to approve for defense spending in the 1968 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Johnson in his State of the Union message Jan. 10 told Congress and the country his budget for all government spending in the next fiscal year would be $135 billion, a record figure.

THE COUNTRY had been prepared for something like that. There had been a lot of guessing about it for weeks. Some guesses had run as high as $145 billion.

Since the country gets bigger every year, there are more people making more money, and the government's responsibilities increase, the budget is a cinch to keep going up.

But, if it weren't for the expense of fighting the war in Vietnam, Johnson's budget would be a lot less than $135 billion. There also had been a lot of guessing about how much Johnson would ask of Congress for defense spending.

HE CLEARED that up Tuesday night by calling in newsmen to say the figure would be $73 billion, although he estimated this would be only $5 billion more than the level for the present fiscal year.

But, by calling in the newsmen, Johnson was able to explain how hard he is trying to keep down expenses, despite the war. That $73 billion was the second highest estimate on defense spending in history.

In 1944, when he figured his total budget at $100 billion, President Franklin D. Roosevelt estimated spending on World War II activities for fiscal 1945 would be $88 billion. Those "war activities" covered practically everything connected with the war.

As an example of how defense spending has climbed because of Vietnam, in his last budget message President Dwight D. Eisenhower for fiscal 1962 in 1961 gave Congress a budget of $80.8 billion, with defense spending at $46 billion.

AT THE PEAK of the Korean War President Harry S. Truman

— in his 1953 message for fiscal 1954 — laid out a budget of $79 billion, with $59.9 billion for military spending. In 1950, Truman had asked only $13 billion for defense.

Johnson, aware, of course, about some of the protests over his request to Congress on Jan. 10 for a tax increase, took pains when asked about it to inform newsmen on all the consulting he had done with the government's top economic experts.

HE LISTED those who had recommended the tax boost.

After his news conference on Dec. 31, 1966, there could be no doubt Johnson has changed his approach to public relations. This came after months of relative silence in which he saw his popularity slipping.

At that news conference — which was televised and broadcast — Johnson eliminated the facial expressions which he had used in the past. He deadpanned the reporters without smiles or gestures and, remaining simply straight-faced, answered their questions.

This change was evident for more than an hour the night of Jan. 10 when his State of the Union message to Congress was nationally televised. This was a straight-faced delivery, too.

Even the color of previous messages was absent from that one although, oddly enough, Johnson was then criticized by some for not being more colorful although, if he had been, he probably would have been criticized for being too fancy or optimistic.

Unusual UN Facts

By MAX HARRELSON
 UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
 (AP) — In case you didn't know:

The U.N. secretariat has two members named Ofa Yuen and Louise Yuen. The name is pronounced Yu'-en.

The U.N. secretariat building has 5,400 windows which are washed every 40 days.

The U.N. representative of the Maldives Islands also runs a philatelic agency in New York. The sale of stamps is a major source of revenue for the tiny country.

The longest continuous speech ever made at the United Nations was delivered in 1960 by Cuba's bearded Prime Minister Fidel Castro. It lasted four hours and 29 minutes. A recording is in the U.N. archives.

FOUR persons have died at U.N. headquarters but there have been no births or weddings in the internationalized zone.

Dag Hammarskjold admired the peacocks on the grounds of the Geneva U.N. office. He brought five to New York, but even though their wings were clipped, the colored birds wandered onto the busy streets, snarling traffic. Two finally died. The others were presented to a zoo.

Luxembourg achieved a measure of distinction by not making a single speech during the 1966 General Assembly session.

ALTHOUGH the U.N. secretariat building is usually described as having 38 floors, it actually has 40 plus its three basements. The 39th is used as a machine shop and as classrooms. It is reached by a freight elevator. The 40th, reached only by stairs, is used as a recreation area. The 13th floor is designated by that number, and is in full use.

The present U.N. headquarters on Manhattan's East Side is located near the spot where the British hanged American patriot Nathan Hale from an apple tree.

The Security Council has held more meetings on Middle East problems than on any other one thing — 242 since 1946.

The United Nations uses the British style of spelling: labour, centre, aeroplane, connexion, programme, etc.

The U.N. post office is the only one in the United States that does not use U.S. stamps. It is run by U.S. postal workers, but by agreement is permitted to use U.N. postage. The world organization has an income of well over a million dollars a year from stamp sales.

Around The Rim

An "Aye" Vote For Marigolds

Almost every winter Mr. David Burpee tantalizes me with a packet of seeds, mostly new flower selections with exotic descriptions. Sometimes he throws in a few items like Fordhook water cress or a new mustard just to stimulate circulation around my green thumb. I can't resist the temptation, thus start cutting the sides out of milk cartons and turn the bedroom into a hothouse.

IT IS therefore with pleasure that I discovered that the restless spirit of Mr. Burpee also descends upon other souls. In this case it is members of Congress whom he besieges annually. When the solons showed up last week, they were greeted with his annual bounty of freshly cut American Marigolds. This is his subtle way of reminding the brethren that a national flower has not yet been selected — and that the marigold is the logical choice. He is a registered lobbyist to make it the national flower, and he demonstrates his astuteness in this field by sending large bouquets of marigolds to congressional leaders — and to all lady members of the Congress.

THERE ARE many reasons which he believes qualify the marigold as the national blossom. One is that it meets the basic test of being native to the American continent and to no where else in the world; it is not the floral emblem of any state or nation; it can be quickly and easily grown.

FRANKLY, I'M in Mr. Burpee's corner. I think the marigold is well suited. It germinates easily, is hearty and thrives even in the rigorous climate of West Texas. If it flourishes here, I figure it ought to do well anywhere. All you have to do is give it a reasonable drink of water now and then. If bugs bother the marigold, I have never seen any signs of it. The plants are prolific, and many of the new variety such as the American Marigold produce large golden blossoms which would do credit to a commercial grower. Moreover, the flowers, which have good stems, will keep for a week — or even longer — and still appear fresh. So long as you keep cutting them off, there always is an inexhaustible supply coming on.

WHEN THE marigold is pinched or cut, it has a pungent fragrance or odor, depending upon your sensibilities. This quickly goes and there lingers an aroma of freshness.

The marigold is vigorous, which Mr. Burpee points out is typical of the people he hopes it will represent. It is a flower everyone can grow and everyone can enjoy. Mr. Burpee, I vote "aye."

Rottenness Calls For Reformation

WASHINGTON — As a state of the nation speech, none ever matched for clarity and succinctness the one in Hamlet: "Something is rotten in the state of Denmark." The President's address on Jan. 10 was not so lucid nor so curt, but a rereading keeps finding the rot just for the state of the American union: rotten.

LET US TRANSLATE from the presidential text. He emphasized several times that we are fighting a "limited" war in Vietnam, and could only promise "more cost, more loss and more agony." But the extent of the limitations which Mr. Johnson himself has imposed upon this most powerful nation on earth could be found in a news story which broke the same day of the speech. Because the enemy in North Vietnam had howled about its civilian casualties, the government in Washington rescinded permission for the Air Force to strike again at the Hanoi railroad yards.

IT MUST BE the first time in warfare that military policy has been dictated from a hostile capital under attack. It took place just after General Westmoreland said in public what he has often said in private: the lives of his soldiers are spared whenever we hit the enemy at home. Something is rotten at the top level of target-mastering.

MR. JOHNSON spoke of two other wars: one on poverty, the other on crime. He more than hinted at his Administration's failure to achieve what was intended for the poor, and at his apprehension that Congress might decide that enough's enough. He asked whether the vast expenditures at poverty-razing during the last three years "shall be only monuments to what might have been—abandoned now by people who lacked the will to see their great work through."

THIS WAS NOT the utterance of a confident statesman, or one who had much at which to point with pride. As to leaping increase in violent crime, Mr. Johnson called it a matter "that weighs very heavily on all our minds, on yours and mine," and promised to submit a "master plan" to be subsidized in the States by the federal government. But, again, his tones and words bespeak decay in the nation, and since he refrained throughout from mentioning the Great Society, the President might, with regret but accuracy, have tried another descriptive term: Rotten Society.

SOME OF THE President's message suggested that deep in his mind was a yen to turn from political revolution to political reformation. Last year, at his bidding, Congress established a new Department of Transportation, and before that was a new Department of Housing and Urban Development. But this year, astonishingly, the President proposed the reduction in size of government; that is, the merging of the Departments of Labor and Commerce into one Department of Business and Labor.

IT IS AN idea that appeared long ago in this column, where it has also been recommended that the Departments of Agriculture and Interior could be combined. The President came at long last to the disagreeable but unavoidable decision to raise taxes rather than raise the national debt still higher.

It was not by any means a message devoid of hope, but we are not likely to achieve self-improvement until we honestly dare self-scrutiny.

Business Bureau Challenged

NEW YORK (AP) — The growth of consumer fraud bureaus and increasing action by law officers is presenting a big challenge to the National Better Business Bureau and its affiliated groups.

A letter documenting this challenge — and conceding the root cause lies in abuses but with political overtones — goes out to members next month. It will ask their help to "stem the current tide."

Better business bureaus represent self-regulation by business. The concept is that by protecting the consumer business protects itself from a bad reputation, one that might be recognized some day in restrictive laws.

THE BUREAUS always have cooperated with law agencies. But, in what they term "the age of consumerism," some of the initiative is being taken from them. The national bureau, and the 130 or more local bureaus, can be bypassed.

Federal agencies increasingly are involved in consumerism and so is Congress. Consumer fraud departments, reporting directly to governors, were established in three states last year. Still another begins work in April.

Attorneys general are far more active in the consumer area than they were just a couple of years ago, and 20 states now have consumer fraud bureaus headed generally by that official. Cities and counties have groups of varying powers.

The national bureau's letter will ask members to protect free enterprise: "Against ever-increasing governmental restrictions of marketing practices. Business must aim its guns at the root cause, i.e., the abuses in the marketplace which give rise to consumer laws and regulations."

The national bureau acts on complaints or inquiries mostly, leading some critics to argue that it handles only the obvious cases and ignores some of the large, overriding problems.

THESE CRITICS cite as an example the considerable Senate interest in deception and confusion through packaging of products. The bureau, however, has been relatively inactive in this area, receiving less than six complaints last year.

The bureau can reply, perhaps correctly, that the scarcity of complaints is proof that customers do not feel deceived or confused, an attitude maintained by many packagers and processors.

The complaint and inquiry method has channeled much of the bureau's energies into the areas of bait and switch advertising — in which the customer is baited by a low-priced product and sold an expensive one — magazine salesmanship, phony free credit plans and charity gyms, among others.

Another criticism, which the bureau claims has no validity at all, is that its ability to strike hard against offenses is neutralized by its very personality — the 2,000 national or regional businesses that support it.

"WE CALL the shots as we see them," says Kenneth Willson, president. "We wouldn't have lasted 54 years if we didn't. And we wouldn't have the respect of our members if we ignored complaints against them."

Willson and his staff of about 35 handle an amazing amount of work from their Park Avenue headquarters. They process complaints and inquiries by telephone, by letters, by bulletins, and often they incur risks. "Libel and slander are our constant bedfellows," Willson says.

If the bureau cannot correct a major abuse it turns the case over to the proper law agency for possible prosecution. "We work hand in glove with law enforcement agencies," Willson maintains.

Cancer Increases

PRAGUE (AP) — Cancer cases increased in Czechoslovakia during the first half of 1966 by 2.1 per cent compared with the previous time of last year, the news agency C.T.K. reported.

C.T.K. said venereal diseases also increased during that time, but reported a decrease of tuberculosis by 1.9 per cent.

To Your Good Health

What 'Leaky Heart' Really Means

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: Would you write about a leaky heart? I know it has something to do with the valves. I am 78 and have always worked hard. My doctor tells me I work too hard unless I slow down, my heart will blow out on me. Would you explain in down-to-earth language what this is all about? — MRS. J.K.

Saying that such a heart will "blow out" doesn't sound like a doctor's words. But if he said you should slow up to avoid heart failure, that's something else.

Your heart isn't going to explode, nor will it "spring a leak." Blood is pumped through the heart by contraction of the heart muscle, which squeezes all four chambers of the heart. With each squeeze, or heart-beat, blood is forced out of each chamber and into the next one ahead of it. As the heart muscle relaxes, and the chambers expend again, more blood moves into the chambers. It cannot flow backward, because of valves which connect the chambers. They are one-way valves. Blood can flow through them in only one direction.

Or at least it can flow only one way if the valves are normal. When a valve becomes "leaky," it means that it lets some blood flow in the wrong direction. You must remember the old-fashioned kitchen pump. If the leather in the valve stiffened, or cracked, or wore too much, you would get less water with each pumping. You had to do a lot more work to get a pail of water.

It's the same with a heart when a valve is leaky. It has to work harder to pump the necessary amount of blood. When you work strenuously, you need more circulation. When you take things easy, you need less, and the heart doesn't have to work so hard. That's all your doctor is telling you: If you don't work so hard, your heart can do a little more resting. It has served you well for 78 years. Ease its burden so it can serve you for more years.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

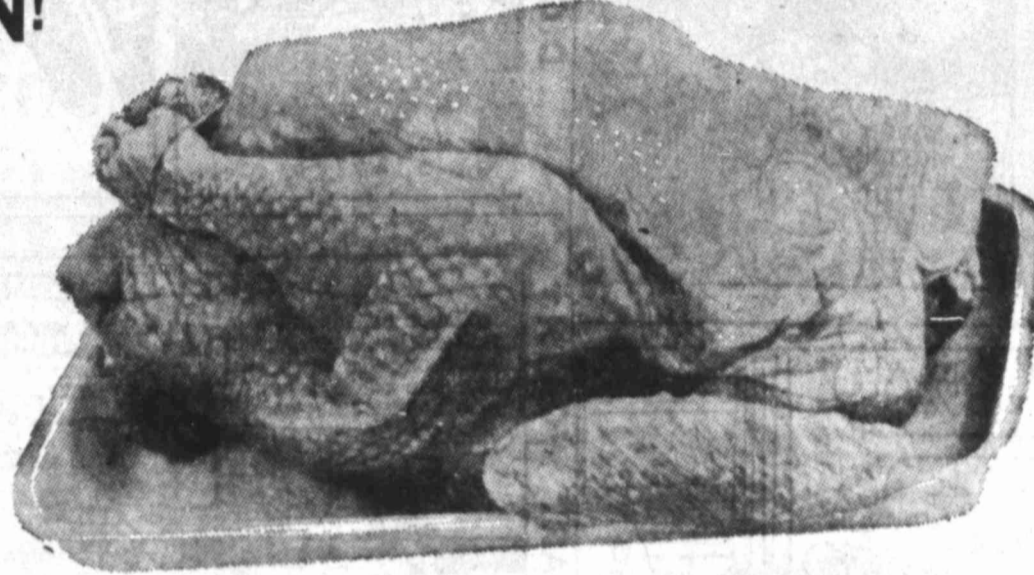

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Mother's March Gathers $3,900

Big Spring and area mothers braved the Tuesday evening chill to make the annual Mothers March and received a warm reception for the March of Dimes campaign, bringing in $3,900 on the initial count. The total is expected to climb higher, however, when several Big Spring areas and two at Forsan have are completed. "We hope the final total to reach last year's record collection of $4,500," said Mrs. Roy Watkins, co-chairman of the Mothers March with Mrs. R. E.

notes, I suppose," he quoted David as replying.

He related how David admitted that the notes were forged and stated he had none of the missing money. Asked if he could make restitution, he said perhaps, with the assistance of his mother, he might do so. He also agreed to go through the note case, Hollingsworth said, and extract all of the forged notes.

There were about 1,200 notes in the case. By 11:45 a.m. Hollingsworth testified, the three men had gone through about a third of the notes and he said David had laid aside a stack of the documents as forged, plus two from the list he said were not forgeries.

David informed the two officers he was expected home for Sunday lunch. Hollingsworth testified David said he would go home, eat and come back. "Half an hour later," said the bank president, "we heard he was dead."

Others who testified Tuesday afternoon, much along the same line as Hollingsworth to establish proof of loss, were B. P. Middleton, bank staff member; Tim Cook and Ralph Riddell, vice presidents, and Robert S. Wilton, auditor. David's body was found in a storage room at his home. He had shot himself, according to the official verdict, with a shotgun.

TWO HUNDRED NOTES In all, Hollingsworth testified, there were 200 bogus notes in the case. They ranged in face amount from $500 to as much as $2,000. The plan followed, he testified, was for a forged note to be prepared and the money for it withdrawn from the bank. The payments would then be made on the note for a time with entries posted on a ledger sheet and the payments financed by other forged notes created and deposited in the note case.

Hollingsworth testified that he and his fellow bankers sent letters to all of the persons named on the 200 notes at the addresses listed asking them to reply and confirm the face of the notes. Not a single letter could be delivered, he said. The post office returned all 200 with the notation there was no such person nor any such address.

The insurance company, in its petition, said it refused to pay the bank for its loss because the alleged irregularities were in operation at the time the bonds were issued and that the bank officials should have known of the irregularities. This, the company holds, means the bonds were improperly obtained and were thereby invalidated from the time of their issue.

Insurance company attorneys waived cross examination of Hollingsworth Tuesday afternoon, asserting they will recall him later.

1st Lt. Wayne K. Babcock, instructor pilot in the 3661st Pilot Training Squadron, and 2nd Lt. John O. Dalke, student pilot in Class 68-B of the 3561st Student Squadron, were killed Tuesday when their Webb AFB T-37 jet trainer crashed 15 miles north-northeast of Midland. They were on an instrument training mission when the accident happened.

Memorial services will be held at the base chapel at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Lt. Babcock, 24, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne H. Babcock, 4135 4th Ave., South Great Falls, Mont. Lt. Babcock was born July 25, 1942, in Pocatello, Idaho. He graduated from Great Falls High School. He attended Montana State College, Bozeman, Mont., and received his BS degree in general studies in 1964.

He was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve through the ROTC program, and entered undergraduate pilot training at Webb Oct. 5, 1964. He was assigned to Webb as an instructor pilot.

Lt. Dalke, 23, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Dalke, 1130 E. Simpson, McPherson, Kan. He was born March 2, 1943, in McPherson, Kan., and graduated from McPherson High School in May 1961. He attended the University of Kansas and received a BS degree in Civil Engineering in 1966.

Dr. W. A. Hunt Is Installed As Council Vice President Jack M. Stricklin, Odessa, succeeded District Judge Perry D. Pickett, Midland, as president of the Buffalo Trail Council at the annual recognition banquet of the Buffalo Trail Council in Odessa Tuesday evening.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, Big Spring, was installed as a vice president, as was Curtis Carnes, Odessa, and E. L. Kent, Monahans. Hoyle McCright, Midland, was returned as treasurer, and R. L. Cranford, Big Spring, became council commissioner.

Approximately two score people from Big Spring and Sterling City attended the affair from the Lone Star District. The banquet, which followed the annual business session in Permian High School, drew over 400 people.

The Silver Beaver Award, highest the council can make for distinguished service to boys, went to J. E. McAnnally, Pecos, Dr. Paul Hillinshead, Kermit, W. B. Stowe, Odessa, Dr. Bill Shaw, Odessa, and Ed Mueller, Van Horn.

Dr. J. Joel Stowe Jr., Odessa, who installed officers, looked on Scouting as an avenue to give meaning to the philosophy of life in which an adult shares with a boy. He contrasted this to the selfishness or personal survival.

At the business session, Judge Pickett, in a final report to the board, said that the council still faced the task of organizing to raise around $85,000 this year to meet the council budget in order not to pinch on service to boys.

David White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. White, Midland, was introduced as the 11,000th boy to be recruited in the council within a single year, and he was given his Cub Scout uniform.

P. Taylor, vice presidents; Charles Dummam, cashier; Betty Rains and Faye Stratton, assistant cashiers.

At an earlier annual meeting of stockholders, all First National directors were re-elected: Clyde Angel, James Duncan, Horace Garrett, C. W. Guthrie, P. C. Harbour, G. H. Hayward, Jack Irons, H. G. Keaton, R. V. Middleton, Lester Morton, L. S. McDowell III, K. H. McGibbon, Clyde McMahon, Morris Patterson, Jackson Parker, E. M. Schur, H. W. Smith and Adolph Swartz.

Social Worker Takes Special Training Course Carl Mangum, 31, social worker for five years at the Big Spring State Hospital, is presently in Albuquerque, N. M. He is being trained as a "community treatment coordinator."

These coordinators are able to implement and utilize an effective treatment program in a community setting, using available community help.

He will return Jan. 30. The training is under the auspices of Alcoholism Research and Training, Inc., which has found that the community alcoholism treatment coordinator approach lends itself to a variety of illnesses and disabilities.

The community has been developed primarily by Dr. William F. Sears, psychiatric consultant, New Mexico State Hospital, and a member of the New Mexico Commission on Alcoholism.

One of the primary gaps in existing alcoholism treatment programs has been an alarming absence of local community follow-up procedures, state hospital officials everywhere say. The average patient, alcoholic or mental, needs to learn adjustment techniques to enable him to establish a new pattern of living. Mr. Mangum's training should enable him to coordinate, plan and use, all community rehabilitative facilities; work with the immediate family, friends, pastor, employers, as members of the community team.

Colorado Regains Lead

By The Associated Press

Knocked out of first place in the Big Eight Conference by Nebraska last week, the Colorado Buffaloes are back on top today.

The Buffaloes upset the seventh-ranked Kansas Jayhawks 62-59 in one of the top college basketball games Tuesday night to regain the conference lead.

A free throw by Steve Rowe on a 1-and-1 situation with five seconds left broke a 59-59 tie and Bob Bauers' tip of Rowe's missed second free throw sent the Jayhawks down to defeat.

"KU beat us by about 20 points 72-54 in the Big Eight Christmas tournament and we were at full strength then," Colorado Coach Sox Walseh said before the game at Boulder.

"Now we have two starters out with injuries." He referred to Lynn Baker, out with a dislocated shoulder, and Chuck Williams, who has an injured knee.

It didn't work out that way, however. Colorado led virtually all the way and held a 37-50 lead before Kansas rallied to tie at 59-59 on Vern Vanoy's basket and five straight points by Roger Bohnstiehl with two minutes left. Bohnstiehl fouled Rowe in the closing seconds setting the stage for Rowe and Bauers to score the winning points.

Kansas was the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, but Bradley whipped Cincinnati 64-53 in a battle of two former members of the Top Ten.

Wichita downed Drake 91-85 in overtime, DePaul edged Bowling Green 73-72, Southern Methodist defeated Arkansas 69-59, Weber State humbled Seattle 86-72 and Dartmouth snapped a 10-game Ivy League losing streak by beating Harvard 67-63 in other games.

Record Threatened

By The Associated Press

Talk all you want about Super Bowls, but for the Philadelphia 76ers, it's Super Season in the National Basketball Association.

What else can you call it when a team has won 42 games and lost only four, and shows no signs of letting up.

The monotony of victory continued Tuesday night as the 76ers handled the New York Knicks 119-111 for their 35th straight triumph in Philadelphia. They haven't lost there since last January.

The Boston Celtics, having only a great season, tripped the Chicago Bulls 109-101 in Chicago, but remained 9½ games behind the 76ers in the Eastern Division.

Philadelphia, well on its way to cracking the Celtics' record of 62 victories in a season, hit 10 of its first 12 shots and led by 23 in the second period before the Knicks cut the deficit to 66-59 at the half. But they never got closer than five after the break.

Wally Jones led the 76ers with 27, Chet Walker added 22, Bill

FIRE BOMBS DROPPED 'Looks Just Like Fourth Of July'

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers rained tons of fire bombs on Communist War Zone D today in an attempt to burn Viet Cong hideouts in triple canopy jungles 32 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman who observed the unusual incendiary bomb raid from a helicopter said "it looked just like the Fourth of July."

He said the huge eight-engine Stratoforts, flying out of sight at 30,000 feet, made 10 passes over a 30-square-mile area of the D Zone which the Viet Cong reportedly used for base camps and infiltration routes.

A few miles to the west of the zone, U.S. forces reported killing 20 more Viet Cong in Operation Cedar Falls in the "Iron Triangle" 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon. U.S. troops also uncovered a grave with 19 enemy bodies, and a spokesman placed the Communist death toll at 495 since the operation began Jan. 8.

YARD PLASTERED

Only small, scattered ground fighting was reported elsewhere, but U.S. headquarters announced successful results from stepped-up air raids over North Vietnam Tuesday.

The headquarters said the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 40 miles north of Hanoi was heavily damaged by 16 flights of F105 Thunderchief bombers which pummeled the sprawling yard for eight hours.

Pilots reported 10 large and several small secondary explosions and said they left the area covered by smoke. They said they also destroyed some anti-aircraft gun positions around the yards.

U.S. pilots flew 103 bombing missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, the first time after weeks of bad weather they exceeded 100.

PHANTOM LOST

One plane was lost, U.S. headquarters said. An Air Force photo reconnaissance Phantom jet failed to return. It was the third Phantom reconnaissance plane lost over the north in two days and the 460th U.S. plane reported lost in the north. The Phantom's two-man crew is missing.

ARMS SEIZED

Navy fliers reported damaging three surface-to-air-missile sites, one of them 23 miles south-southwest of Haiphong.

Other pilots claimed damage or destruction to seven bridges, seven military buildings, thirteen trucks, two oil storage areas and six other storage areas.

47 SORTIES

Lt. Cmdr. L. L. Herzog, who observed the B52 incendiary raid, said the bombs started breaking up into fire clusters at an altitude of 8,000 feet and sent up large clouds of white smoke when they hit the jungle and undergrowth.

Herzog said there were no villages in the area.

Nearby, in Operation Cedar Falls, U.S. troops uncovered a heavily mined, booby-trapped tunnel which contained a sizable arms cache, including four machine guns and 78 individual weapons.

The number of weapons seized in the 11-day-old operation, the biggest ground sweep of the war involving more than 30,000 U.S. troops, was placed at 324. The operation also has yielded a record haul of 3,170 tons of enemy rice.

Twins Upstage Mayor Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Three-year-old twins Gavin and Gregory O'Connor upstaged Mayor John V. Lindsay, a pretty good actor himself.

"Maybe they're going to grow up to be real hams," said the twins' father, Patrolman John O'Connor.

Almost as if they had rehearsed for it, the twins took center stage at City Hall Tuesday during a ceremony honoring O'Connor and his partner, Patrolman Francis Keating, for their heroic actions in evacuating residents shortly before a massive fire in Jamaica, Queens, last Friday.

'LOOKED SILLY'

"These men," Lindsay began, "said to me a few minutes ago, 'You know we would have looked awfully silly, turning everybody out in the cold in their pajamas, if nothing had happened.' Well, that was a mark of greatness — not being afraid to make a decision that might be laughed at."

Just as Lindsay launched into the formal text of the citation commanding the patrolmen, there came cries from a front bench in the chamber where the families of the patrolmen were seated. Gavin and Gregory wanted to be with their father at the speaker's stand.

O'Connor turned to the mayor and said, "Pardon me, mayor, I think I'll have to make another decision now."

The patrolman was thinking of asking his wife to take the twins out of the room. He nodded to her, and she held them.

BEGINS HOWLING

"I don't know of anyone more deserving of this award I am about to make," Lindsay tried again. He got no further.

Gavin, all of 40 pounds, broke away from his mother and ran over to hug his father's leg.

He was brought back to the bench only to find Gregory sitting in his place. Gavin booped Gregory on the head with a pamphlet he was carrying entitled "What Does a Patrolman Do?"

Lindsay started anew. Again the mayor was interrupted by cries from Gregory. He fled from his mother to his father's knee, with mother in pursuit. O'Connor scooped up Gregory. The mayor proceeded with the citation.

Gavin, who had been banished to the rear of the room in the arms of an uncle, began howling when he saw his brother in the arms of the father. He was brought to O'Connor, and the patrolman scooped him up in the other arm.

He turned to Lindsay once more, and the mayor, with a wide smile, finished the citation.

'Hemisphere' Word Corrupted

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Some San Antonio idea man started it.

He corrupted the word "Hemisphere" to create "HemisFair" for the name of the planned 1968 international exposition here.

Following his lead, others have gone into print with such words as "HemisTower" (for a structure on the exposition grounds); "HemisCat" (an animal that hangs around the HemisFair headquarters); "HemisWheels" (officials); "HemisFeria" (Feria is Spanish for fair), and "HemisChatter."

The HemisFair newsletter, sadly surveying the use of the prefix, noted that half and half of anything may well become "HemisHemis."

Child Evangelism Fellowships Will Sponsor Picture

Why should the bell in an abandoned rural church ring mysteriously night after night? That question stirs the superstitions of a farming community and forms the backdrop for a 40-minute color motion picture drama titled, "The Haunted Churchbell," which will be shown at the Community Room, First Federal Savings and Loan Building, Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m.

The film's appearance in this area is sponsored by the Child Evangelism Fellowship.

The film recounts the adventures of two children — a boy and a girl back in the states with their parents, following a jungle missionary assignment.

The boy first sets into motion the story elements which bring about a solution to the mystery.

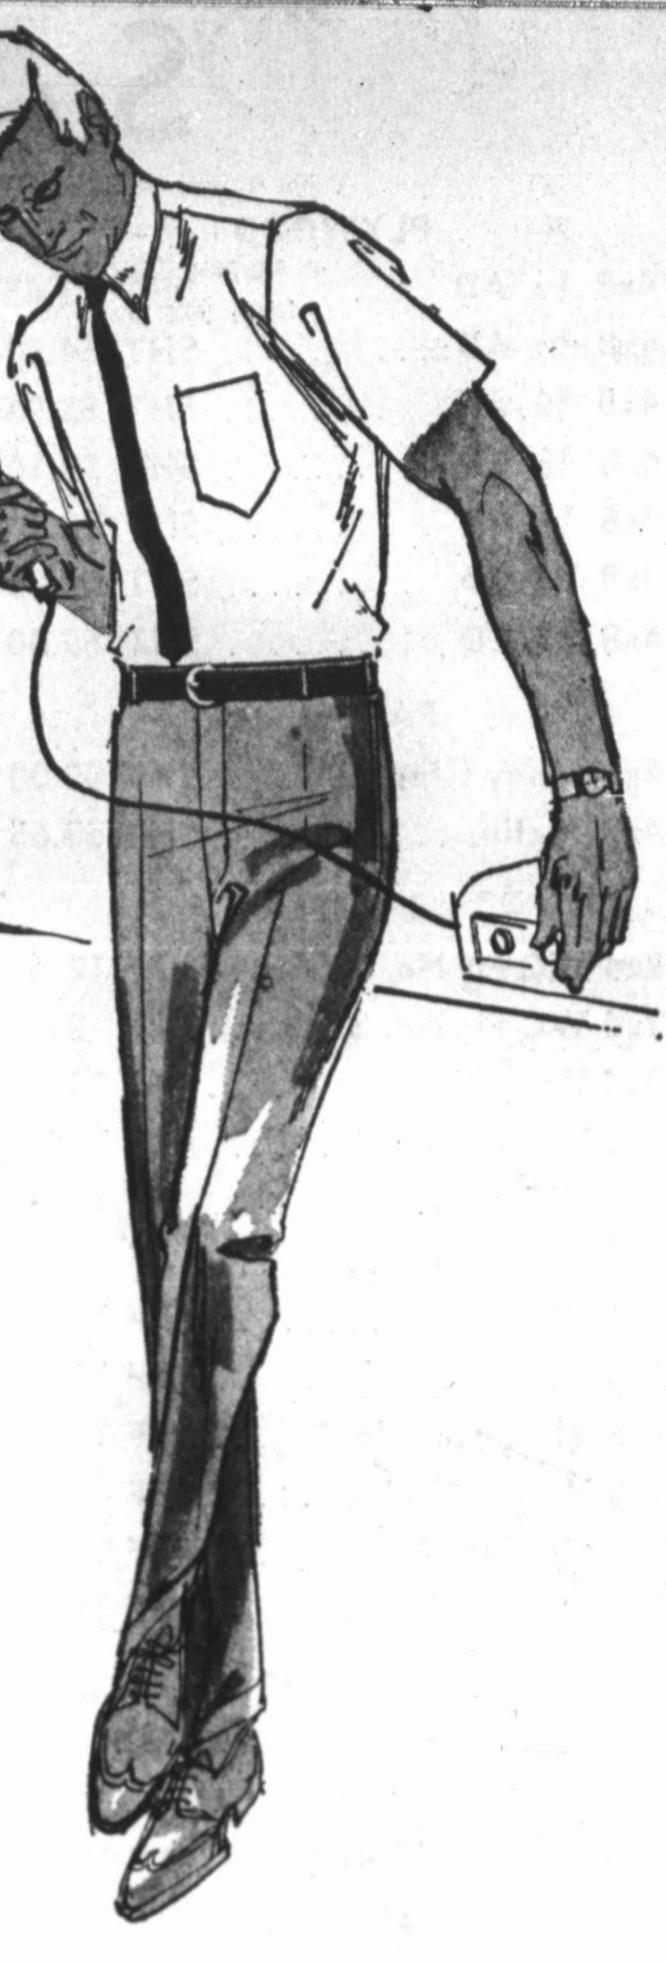

Featured on the program in addition to the film showing will be greetings from Dr. Frank R. Mann, executive director of the Child Evangelism Fellowship, internationally. The showing is open to the public. It is requested that those not directly affiliated with the fellowship, who wish to see the film, call AM 3-3512, local CEF Headquarters, for reservations.

That even the top ranking experts are prone to an occasional lapse is a thought that may bring comfort to the average bridge player when he is contemplating his own mistakes. We dug back into our archives for today's hand, taken from a World's Championship match of several seasons back, in which both North-South pairs reached the wrong slam contract.

When the American team held the North-South cards, the bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram. In this partnership's methods, the three no trump bid was employed as a gambling opening based on a long solid suit without much on the side. North was aware that the partnership had the assets
