Six Killed, Hundreds Hurt By Tornadoes In Midwest

At least six persons were killed and hundreds injured by tornadoes in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois. The violence erupted Tuesday as the Midwest basked in springlike weather that sent the temperatures soaring into the mid-70s. It happened when a cold air mass collided with the unseasonably warm air. A teenage boy and two young girls were killed in Missouri and a 3-year-old boy died in Iowa. A policeman in Chicago and a farmer in downstate Illinois also died as a result of the fierce winds.

schools at Orrick, Mo. School clocks found amid the debris had stopped at 12:52 p.m. The Orrick High School took the brunt of the first tornado reported. One student was killed and 14 other students, a teacher and two townspeople were injured. Danny Gene Barber, 18, a senior, died in the main corridor of the school. He apparently was suffocated under rubble from the school's roof which fell on him as he left his typing class.

strength, spread over a wide area. Tornadoes ripped into sections of southeastern Iowa and killed 3-year-old Byron Swyter on the western outskirts of Fort Madison when one of the twisters wrecked a converted school house in which he and his family lived. A number of persons were injured in Iowa and damage was widespread. About six hours after Orrick was struck, the massive storm pushed into the St. Louis area, with golf-ball size hail, heavy rains and lightning. The storm also bore a twister which hit the heavily populated North St. Louis County area, leaving two children dead, more than 200 injured, and property

FLYING GLASS

"Glass was flying everywhere," said 17-year-old Faye Elliott, a classmate of Barber's. "Then it was over and all we could hear was the rain." The storm front, gathering

ROOFS FOLD

Damage was heaviest in the Kansas City, St. Louis and Orrick, Mo., areas where trees were uprooted, power lines felled, roofs caved in or were ripped off buildings, and various structures were demolished. "I just heard the window blinds shaking and sounds like something falling," said B.M. Carpenter, superintendent of

PERMIAN BASIN COLLEGE BILL FILED AGAIN

AUSTIN (AP) — Three West Texas representatives introduced today a bill to create a four-year state college in the Permian Basin. A similar bill was vetoed in 1965 by Gov. John Connally. Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa said he submitted the proposal to the College Coordinating Board last March, but "to this date they have rendered no recommendation to said request." Connally said his veto should not prejudice Odessa Junior College's privilege of asking the coordinating board to recommend four-year status. Pickens was joined in introducing the bill by Reps. Richard Slack, Pecos, and Randy Pendleton, Andrews. He said the proposed school would be at least initially in Odessa, with space requirements determining its future site.

There will be no change in the scheduling of Trans-Texas Airways flights into Big Spring as a result of a Civil Aeronautics Board ruling Tuesday. Jim Cassidy, director of public relations for T-TA, told The Herald this morning that the authorization merely gives the airlines more flexibility in the use of its aircraft in serving West Texas. In fact, he said, it could result in additional service here. Cassidy pointed out that boardings in Big Spring had increased from 238 in December, 1965, to 491 in December, 1966. That big jump, he said, has caused T-TA officials to consider more service here and no curtailment. In Washington Tuesday, the airline was authorized to serve Brownwood and San Angelo on its routes to West Texas. The only stop between Big Spring and Fort Worth now is Abilene, and Cassidy said this would not be changed. But airplanes making these flights may now be used also to serve Brownwood and San Angelo. Trans-Texas also serves San Angelo on a route between Austin and Midland-Odessa and on its Fort Worth-El Paso run serves both San Angelo and Brownwood. The air line had complained to CAB that lack of flexibility in its schedule authority between the various points served no useful purpose since no other airline served those cities. CAB said the relatively minor change in the operating rights would help the air line route its DC3s into its San Angelo maintenance base and would reduce its need for annual subsidy. Trans-Texas agreed and estimated the reduction in subsidy at more than $16,000.

LATE SEN. KERR RENTED ONE Baker Trial Becomes Saga Of Safe Boxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bobby Baker trial has become a saga of safe deposit boxes. Testimony in U.S. District Court Tuesday centered around two such boxes — one rented by Baker, the other by the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla. At issue was Baker's story that he collected nearly $100,000 in senatorial campaign contributions from California savings and loan executives in the fall of 1962 and turned the cash over to Kerr. Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, is accused of larceny, conspiracy and income tax evasion. The trial, in its third week, is expected to go to the jury by Friday. $50,000 kept? The government says Baker kept $80,000 of the money and spent much of it on his Carousel Motel at Ocean City, Md. The prosecution contends $66,300 of the contributions was received by Baker in Washington, the rest on a trip to California. Edward Bennett Williams, Baker's lawyer, told the jury last week he would prove that when Kerr's Washington safe deposit box was opened after Kerr's death Jan. 1, 1963, it contained the "equivalent" of the funds Baker received in Washington, less $25,000 cash which Baker says Kerr lent him — or $41,300.

Texas Employes' Pay Hike Action Delayed

Wallace Carries Fight To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama told senators today "there is no discrimination practiced" in the federally assisted welfare programs administered by his state. Wallace urged the Finance Committee to take action to void a decision of Secretary of Welfare John Gardner directing that federal welfare funds to Alabama be terminated Feb. 28. Gardner said Alabama is the only state which has refused to give adequate assurances it will administer the public assistance and child welfare programs without racial discrimination, and thus is in violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

court in an attempt to block his order. Alabama is receiving an estimated $95.8 million in federal welfare aid this fiscal year. Up to 200,000 persons would be affected by a cutoff. Prior to the hearing, Wallace termed the dispute "a matter of grave principle." "BEYOND THE LAW" "The principle is whether or not a bureaucrat can cut off funds to the blind and sick and elderly because an official of a state government office won't sign a regulation which we believe goes beyond the law," he said. Alabama officials contend the Welfare Department's regulations go beyond the intent of the Civil Rights Act. They say they shouldn't be required to sign any assurance until courts have ruled on legality of the regulations. The Civil Rights Act requires that Senate and House committees handling legislation dealing with the affected programs be given 30 days notice before funds are terminated. That is why the Finance Committee, which considers Social Security legislation, arranged today's hearing at the request of Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala.

STUPID RULES Wallace, appearing as special assistant to the present governor, his wife Lurleen, said "Alabama may be the only state which has refused to knuckle under to these requirements of the Department of HEW, but our commissioner tells us that at meetings of welfare commissioners from all over the country, they too are tired of these stupid regulations. "We come as free Americans who sincerely desire to prevent the extension of federal executive power into areas not allowed by law or the Constitution of the United States," he said.

MILLIONS AT STAKE The former governor said the cutoff decision "will ultimately affect the lives and well-being of some 200,000 people of Alabama, of all races," who are eligible for the various types of welfare programs. Wallace estimated that $105 million of annual aid is at stake. A major point in the dispute is that Alabama contends it does not have the power to compel compliance by third parties such as nursing homes and hospitals, in programs which the state itself does not directly administer. Gardner says the state could get most of the money by compliance in programs which it does run directly.

'GRAVE PRINCIPLE' On the eve of Wallace's appearance before the committee, Gardner denied an Alabama motion for postponement of the Feb. 28 cutoff date. The state last week filed suit in federal court in an attempt to block his order. Alabama is receiving an estimated $95.8 million in federal welfare aid this fiscal year. Up to 200,000 persons would be affected by a cutoff. Prior to the hearing, Wallace termed the dispute "a matter of grave principle." "BEYOND THE LAW" "The principle is whether or not a bureaucrat can cut off funds to the blind and sick and elderly because an official of a state government office won't sign a regulation which we believe goes beyond the law," he said. Alabama officials contend the Welfare Department's regulations go beyond the intent of the Civil Rights Act. They say they shouldn't be required to sign any assurance until courts have ruled on legality of the regulations. The Civil Rights Act requires that Senate and House committees handling legislation dealing with the affected programs be given 30 days notice before funds are terminated. That is why the Finance Committee, which considers Social Security legislation, arranged today's hearing at the request of Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala.

TELEVISION TAX URGED NEW YORK (AP)—Congress was asked today to impose an excise tax on every television set manufactured in the United States to finance a corporation for production of programs on noncommercial television stations. The Carnegie Commission on Educational Television said this federally chartered, but nongovernmental, nonprofit Corp. for Public Television—CPT—was the key to expansion of noncommercial viewing in the country. It estimated the tax would bring in $60 million during the first year when collected at a rate of two per cent, and $100 million a year when a five per cent rate is reached. The commission urged that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare appropriate $68 million a year to provide basic facilities and operating funds for a national system of stations which would number 380 in 10 years. By that time, it said, the annual cost of operation would reach $166 million. The national education television system, which would form the backbone of the new grouping, operated last year on $5 million, of which $6 million came from the Ford Foundation.

PO Report Is Puzzling Funds for the construction of Big Spring's new federal building office are already allocated and earmarked, and local officials, as well as officials in the office of the General Services Agency in Dallas, are puzzled over a news report published today out of Washington. In that report, which summarized the requests President Johnson made in his budget message for West Texas counties is: "Post office-Federal Building at Big Spring, $951,000." This money, the GSA office in Dallas said today, was formally approved last September and set aside for expenditure on the building. A contract is scheduled to be awarded for the post office building in April. Plans and specifications for the $850,000 structure are now in the final stages. The design has been approved. All that remains to be done is to award the contract and start work. It is understood that the remaining $151,000 of the $951,000 is for land, engineering, and other expenses. GSA spokesman in Dallas said that office had not seen the newspaper report of the President's request for the Big Spring funds and could not understand how it would be included in this budget message. "The money is already approved and set aside," said the GSA spokesman.

Texas Senior Dies In Fire

AUSTIN (AP) — Flames swept through a boys cooperative dormitory just off the University of Texas campus in the early morning today, killing one youth and causing injuries to five others. The body of Raymond W. Short, 22, a senior from Fort Worth, was found in a crouching position in a closet in the two-story frame and stucco building. Justice of the Peace Buck Smith said he died of asphyxiation. Injured when they leaped from the upper floor to escape the flames were: William T. Thweatt, 19, Rockdale; Alex P. Piatnizky, 19, Totowa, N.J.; Joe R. Olivarez, 20, Corpus Christi; Herbert N. Dieringer, 19, Schulenberg, and Harold Harwell Jr., 20, Blanco. All were treated for minor injuries and released. Smith said Short was the son of Mrs. Frances Ledbetter, Fort Worth. Firemen said the cause of the fire, which engulfed the building before it was reported, was not yet known. Walker Horn, Texas City, whose father helped found the coop dormitory in 1946, told the Austin Statesman "everybody discovered the fire at once." The fire department said the fire was reported at 2:09 a.m. and police patrolman R. E. Jones said when he reached the scene at 2:10 a.m. the entire building was in flames. Piatnizky, who was Short's roommate, said he went across the hall to study for final exams after Short went to bed. "That's the way we worked things," he said. "If one of us had to study, he would go to another room so the other could go to bed. . . . The first thing I knew was when I heard a noise like hail but I looked out the window and couldn't see anything. I opened the door to the room I was in and the flames jumped at me. I slammed the door, opened the window and jumped." Twenty-three boys lived in the building, a former home that had been converted into a dormitory, which was known as the Theleme Co-op.

TO FINANCE WAR

Bid For Extra Money Gets Fast Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's request for an extra $12.3 billion to finance the war in Vietnam is getting prompt attention in Congress. The request reached the Capitol Tuesday. Today, the Senate Armed Services and Defense Appropriations Committees hold a joint meeting to receive from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara more details on why the money is needed and how it would be spent. The House Appropriations Committee, not yet formally organized, must originate the bill. Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., committee chairman, promised speedy action. "We will report a bill as soon as we reasonably can after the necessary hearings," Mahon told a reporter. The acting senior Republican on Mahon's committee, Rep. Charles R. Jonas of North Carolina, agreed that prompt action was needed but cautioned against undue haste. "We need to take a close look at how some of the money we have been providing has been spent," Jonas said. "If they can make a good case for it, we'll give them all they request and maybe more." $200 BILLION? Jonas said he was concerned over the huge spending on construction programs in Vietnam. The ranking Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee predicted, meanwhile, that when all the costs of the war in Vietnam are finally met they "will be at least $200 billion." Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., coupled this estimate with a protest that administration offi-

Herring Fails To Put Fellow Solons On Spot

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Charles Herring saved Texas senators from a showdown vote today on his controversial state employes' pay raise proposal, saying he did not want to embarrass fellow senators who had switched sides. In an emotion-packed speech to a packed Senate chamber, the Austin senator denied that his pay proposal was any part of a power play in the running feud between Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Speaker Ben Barnes. "I can't think of any rumor that would have less truth to it than that," Herring said. "My sole purpose was to help poor people in trouble financially."

CHANGE OF HEART Herring failed Tuesday by one vote to get the four-fifths Senate vote, or 25, to get floor debate on his bill. There were reports today that at least two senators who had voted with Herring yesterday were now against him, and at least two who voted against him would be with him today. "I had intended to ask again that my bill be brought up today," he said. "But I understand a couple of senators have had a change of heart and I don't want to put them on the spot this morning. . . . I do hope before very long to pass Senate Bill 32 and I'm going to try again at an early date. I am not going to give up."

SURPRISED Three were numerous meetings overnight of legislators with the governor, who said Herring's bill caught him by surprise, and the speaker and Smith conferred early this morning. Barnes said Smith told him the bill would be sent to the House although not declared an emergency by the governor. Barnes said he told Smith that the speaker would have to enforce new House rules that keep any bill not declared an emergency by the governor from being debated at the first of the session, probably not before May. Herring told the Senate that despite the House rules, which have no counterpart in the Senate rules, the state Constitution clearly permits consideration of appropriations at this time "and besides the rules of either house can be changed by a vote of its members."

The Herring plan, which was introduced without Gov. John Connally's approval and to the governor's obvious surprise Monday, lacked one vote Tuesday of reaching the Senate debate stage. ONE VOTE SHY The vote was 24-6 to bring up the measure, one vote shy of the four-fifths needed. "What's so important about this bill?" Sen. Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, asked Herring in opposing Tuesday's attempt. "And why be so secret about it? House members in your delegation didn't even know about it. Why I've got bills I could call an emergency also." Herring said state employes "have waited and waited, for 10 years, and something is always coming up. Travis County House members don't have to tell me what they're going to do, and I don't have to tell them."

'BADLY NEEDED' The four House members from Travis County issued a joint statement saying they hoped "this unexpected action in the Senate has not jeopardized the chance of passage of this badly-needed pay increase." Connally has asked the legislature to give state employes pay raises averaging about 20 per cent but he did not label his recommendation an emergency. The Connally plan, if approved, would not show up on payrolls until after Sept. 1. MONEY PACKAGE Meanwhile, the Senate got a House-approved $6.38 million appropriation measure that is called a state emergency that is the governor's money, $5.5 million, would go to complete a state building at San Antonio's HemisFair. The 1965 legislature started the building fund with a $4.5 million contribution.

'Essay On Women' Called Witty

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If Andrew A. Rooney, writer and producer of CBS's Tuesday night "Essay on Women" is as smart as he seems to be, he'll get out of town and hide until his feminine reaction to his effort dies down.

The twinkle in the eyes of his narrator, Harry Reasoner, did not make amends for all those snide things he was saying about us. What made things worse was that he demonstrated by film that he was often right.

Rooney, who has demonstrated his affection for doors and bridges in earlier television essays, seems to like us in spite of everything.

CLEAN HOUSE
Bravely risking a broad generalization, his thesis was that "what men want from women is love, a clean house, forgiveness and a stubborn holding to moral values." Obviously, he wishes we would stop stewing about such things as establishing our own identities, get back in the home and concentrate on dinner and dusting.

Rooney poked devastating fun at clubwomen fretting over woman's status and at working women. His reflections on the military woman may be the despair of recruiting officers.

When he was dealing with woman in the family — wife and mother — he was downright sentimental.

TERRIBLE WORD
He agreed that "housewife" is a terrible word, and that modern appliances have actually increased woman's work because she now tackles twice as much. He stated unequivocally that most American women are good shoppers but bad cooks, that women who work give up their own sense of values for men's — position, power and money. He said that women with power "are mean to each other," and use more authority than is necessary.

The unkindness cuts were his illustrations — fat lady shoppers in tight treadsor pants, a bossy supervisor brusquely ordering around a member of her staff, a military review of women in dowdy, mannish uniforms.

He was most interesting when philosophizing on man's relationship to women — "Men like women anywhere and at work is no exception. One man on the other hand, is never really comfortable when the one woman he likes best, works. A man does not like to share a woman with anyone."

Reasoner, at the outset announced that the broadcast had been prepared by men and made no claim to being fair. It wasn't, but it was literate and witty.

A LOVELIER YOU

Be Sparkling Best, But Hide The Shine

By MARY SUE MILLER
A shiny nose may seem a trivial problem. Unless you have it, that is!

As one girl put it, "My nose never stops shining. I powder and the shine comes right through. I repowder and the powder shade changes color."

The fact is that everything you use on your face should be oily-skin oriented, for the sake of future improvement and present appearances.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

When MRS. ZIRAH LEFEVRE and MR. and MRS. BARNEY HINDS went to Abilene last weekend to attend weddings it wasn't a typographical mistake. They attended two while they were there.

Although I haven't seen them, I am told MR. and MRS. ED SHIVE have returned here to make their home after being in Odessa for a while. He is area supervisor for the Trade and Industries Division with the Texas Education Agency.

While we are being glad, I will be glad if, when the next program is held at the Municipal Auditorium, there has been someone with a broom to clean up the approaches and the steps.

And another thing. None of us would mind a little bit more cost to the handling of our letters and packages by the postal services but must we always have battered packages when they arrive at the destination?

MR. and MRS. MARVIN SIMMONS left Friday for Colorado Springs, Colo., where she

Prop Plants By Using Umbrellas

There is always some flower or house plant that needs support. The ribs of a discarded old umbrella make ideal supports for most any flower. They are strong, yet at the same time almost invisible.

How Fraudy Female Creates Her Facade

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Constructing a woman's appearance is a lot more complicated than assembling a rag, a bone and a hank of hair.

It takes several dozen brushes, paint pots, glue, glisteners, sequin strips, eye fringe, hair pieces, specially engineered lingerie that pushes up or flattens in, and a bulging wardrobe of outerwear conceived to deceive.

Just how the fraudy female creates some of her facades was demonstrated with microscopic cruelty Monday for fashion and beauty writers here for the Coty program. It was a part of the American Designer spring previews being held throughout this week.

A plain face the size of a ballroom screen took on high cheek bones, and long thin nose with one brown brush. Sags and eye bags disappeared with a little white. So it went until the face was complete with satanic eyes and eyebrows, framed in hairpieces.

Then the face was denuded and repainted, this time getting a glow on with glitter powder, strips of sequins on the eyelids, even black and white tiger stripes under the eyes.

Designer Geoffrey Beene indicated that he was cooperating by deriving her fashion silhouettes that did not necessarily conform to her own.

Whatever the style was, a copy of his Vatican vestments — called the Padre — or his big girl version of a little girl dress, it almost always did a good job of the figure, from narrow shoulders to wide, sometimes very wide, hemlines.

What Beene called his prophetic shape was a doll-waisted dress with side fullness that would easily camouflage that well-known occupational hazard, secretarial spread.

Along with these were skinny coats and slithery sheaths in wild silk prints, designed figuratively for the woman with nothing to hide. Hemlines in Beene's collection were very, very short — about five inches above the knee — for daytime, floor length and sweepingly full for evening.

Viet Political Pot Heating Up

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnam's ruling military junta tried to head off another political crisis today following the ouster of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co. He had been deputy premier, defense minister and one of the junta's leading members.

Informed Vietnamese sources said several supporters of Co had been put under house arrest and assistants of his on the defense staff were being transferred or watched by security police.

RUMORS FLYING

Saigon, although filled with rumors, was quiet and there was no indication the directory of ruling generals was breaking up.

No troop movements were reported. Some officers of the 7th Vietnamese Division headquartered at My Tho, 30 miles south of the capital, were among those arrested, sources said.

Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu was reported traveling in the Mekong Delta. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky was winding up a tour of New Zealand and was expected back late Thursday or early Friday.

RESHUFFLE

Despite Ky's statement to newsmen Tuesday that no governmental reshuffle was taking place, Vietnamese sources said Ky was present when the junta met before he left and decided to fire Co.

Co was on an official visit to Formosa when the junta cabled him Sunday not to return to Vietnam. The message suggested he visit Tokyo and Seoul.

Co got as far as Hong Kong today but was intercepted there and taken to a hotel to see Security Minister Linh Quang Vien, who had hurriedly flown to Hong Kong after word was received that Co planned to return.

NO SURPRISE

Informed sources said Vien would tell Co if he remained outside Vietnam, he might be appointed ambassador to South Korea, Tunisia or the Ivory Coast. The sources said Co would be warned that if he returned to Saigon, he would face a military trial on corruption charges. It was understood political jockeying in the junta played a part in his ouster.

The move against Co had been long planned and came as no surprise, the sources said. His removal leaves only Thieu and Lt. Gen. Pham Xuan Chieu the only junta members from the group of 13 officers who overthrew the late President Ngo Dinh Diem Nov. 1, 1963.

Cars Hit House

Cars were upended at the Dean Walker home about five miles west of Wapello, Iowa, by high winds Tuesday afternoon. The driver of one upended car saw the storm coming and sought shelter in the basement of the home along with other occupants of the house.

No injuries were reported. The same home was damaged last spring when hit by a car. It had been remodeled before that first mishap and remodeled again prior to Tuesday's damage. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Election Delayed

COAHOMA (SC) — Election of officers for the Coahoma Quarterback Club has been postponed until April. The club, meeting Tuesday evening at the high school, also decided to sponsor a home made ice cream supper during April as a fund-raising project.

Y Membership Drive Launched

Braves from the YMCA reservations were beating the drum today with renewed vigor Wednesday after scouting parties from the first day of rounding up members reported to the council.

Frank (Great Wind) Hardesty, who heads up the annual participating membership effort, said he was pleased with the first report. He urged braves who have not reported to put coals of fire in their moccasins and show up at the big tee pee at 5 p.m. each afternoon through Friday.

Jack (Tall Pine) Price and his Navajo braves set a blistering pace with $1,176 in memberships reported the first day. Mrs. Jack (Little Fawn) Cathey and her Seminoles were gathering $1,100, with $956.50 to report.

The Apaches, led by J. W. (Two Sons) Dickens, were mostly out on the hunting grounds with $162. The Cheyennes, under Ralph (Running Turtle) McLaughlin, were off to a legendary start with one brave reporting $54.50, but Running Turtle granted something about "remember story of hare and tortoise."

First reports Tuesday showed a grand total of 184 members and $2,349 receipts. Tito Arenchbia, Mrs. Cathey and Dr. Charles Warren, always quota busters, repeated by sailing past their individual objectives.

The sustaining membership division, under direction of Mrs. O. S. Wornack, was getting traction. Five workers, about one-fifth of the total, reported $2,271 raised.

Norwegian Is Rotary Speaker

Members of the Rotary club heard a Norwegian officer describe his country and saw slides of the scenic beauty of Norway at the regular luncheon Tuesday.

The officer, Lt. Tor Tingberg, is a member of class 67-F and was accompanied by 1st Lt. Gus Jordan, assistant foreign training officer.

Lt. Tingberg pointed out that Norway is a small country only about half the size of the state of Texas and the population is 3.5 million. He gave a history of his country, touched on some of the customs and then showed the colored slides. He was introduced by Joe Price, program chairman.

President Dick Ream reminded the members that Rotary's anniversary will be next month.

Three Mishaps

Only three accidents were on record here today. Betty E. Hamilton, 1405 State, was in collision with a car driven by Morgan Maule, Lamesa, at Gregg and Edwards. Jake Letton Tranham, 1319 Stadium, and Danny Joe Meade, Big Spring Mobil Lodge, collided at Elm and Airport. Paul Moreno Marquez, 1008 NW 2nd, and Robert W. Rozell II, 604 Bucknell collided at Sixth and Bell.

Council Endorses Sunday Closings

Big Spring City Commissioners gave unanimous endorsement Tuesday evening to the work of Citizens for a Better Howard County in trying to obtain voluntary Sunday closing of business houses here.

Dr. H. M. Jarratt, president, and Bob Spears, secretary, outlined the plans of the organization in seeking voluntary compliance and reported they had favorable commitments from many business houses now staying open on Sundays.

Commissioners approved by resolution the contract with Novis Womack for tax appraisal services. Womack receives $21,600 annually from the City of Howard County.

ACCIDENT CLAIM
Mrs. G. C. Cole and her attorney, Hartman Hooser, answered questions of the commission regarding her claim against the city for injuries she received in a minor accident with a city motor grader last May 5.

Tom Huckaby, city attorney, said he would make a study of the claim and make a recommendation to the commission's consideration later.

Commissioners gave approval for a "shad kill" on Moss Creek Lake, after being told the Texas Fish and Game Department had decided shad population of the lake is detrimental to good fishing.

HELP GAME FISH
The treatment to rid the lake of shad will not be detrimental to game fish, Lillard said, although some perch and crapple will be killed.

The project will involve no cost to the city, and will be coordinated with the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Approval was given a plan to entitle active and retired city employees, 65 or over, to the supplement to medicare under the city's group rate.

The third and final reading was given the zone change request of Al Mutch for the tract at Twenty-fifth and Birdwell Lane changing it from Zone F-1 one family residential, to Zone MF, multiple family.

Charges Follow Burglary Check

Investigation of two burglaries early Wednesday entangled so that one man was arrested and charged with burglary.

Police were looking for other suspects.

District Attorney Wayne Burns filed a charge of burglary against John Riley Yates after Yates had been turned over by city police who were checking on a burglary of Kwikie's No. 2 at Parkway and Wason Road.

Grapes, three cases of beer, four six packs of beer, four cartons of cigarettes, and four pairs of gloves were among the items taken in the burglary of Kwikie's Drive-in. Entry was gained by knocking out the glass of the front door.

Josh Johnson Rites Thursday

Council Decides To Keep Head-In Parking

The parking angle in the Operation Sparkle project on Main, between Second and Third streets, was discussed at length by city commissioners Tuesday evening.

Police Chief Jay Banks said there had been no serious accidents in the area, and few accidents of any kind. He said police could handle the traffic in the block regardless of what the commission might decide on the method of parking.

With the deadline for voter registration only four days off, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, estimated that 7,200 Howard County residents have now qualified themselves to vote in 1967 elections.

Last year, when the final registration and poll tax interval had ended, the grand total of approved voters was 10,622. Whether that number will be exceeded this year by 5 p.m. Jan. 31—the deadline for accepting registrations—is doubtful.

Legislation To Fix Minimum Pay Offered

AUSTIN (AP) — A $1.25 hourly minimum wage bill was introduced in the House Tuesday with the blessings of a Roman Catholic priest and a Baptist minister.

Rep. Lauro Cruz of Houston

Bruce Brown Not Spoiled By Success

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

DANA POINT, Calif. (AP) — Recently a film called "The Endless Summer" placed No. 10 on Variety's weekly list of the country's money-making films, which included "The Sound of Music," "Doctor Zhivago" and "The Bible."

Those epics cost more than $10 million apiece. "The Endless Summer" ran up a total bill of $50,000.

Dubbed "Fellini of the Foam" — New York Times — and "Bergman of the Boards" — Time magazine — Bruce Brown has accomplished what appeared to be impossible. He took his simple, beautifully filmed movie to New York and achieved reviews that many a producer of epics would trade his yacht for.

and Sen. Joe Bernal, San Antonio, sponsors, were present for the short ceremony. Cruz said 25 other representatives signed the bill as co-sponsors.

The Rev. James L. Novarro, Southern Baptist minister from Houston, and Father Antonio Gonzalez, Galveston Catholic priest, prayed for a moment before the clerk received the bill and gave it a number.

$1.25 GOAL

The bill provides a $1.25 minimum hourly wage for all Texas workers not covered by the federal minimum wage law. Exceptions are children working for their parents, outside salesmen, persons under 17 and persons donating their services, Cruz said.

Father Gonzalez, who led the Lower Rio Grande Valley farm workers' march on Austin last summer with the Rev. Novarro, said two million Texans now work for less than $1.25 an hour.

In the Senate, two bills were introduced by Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry, San Antonio, which would put trading stamps under state regulation for profit.

One measure would put the stamps under state control and make the distributors print the cash value on the face of the stamp. The second measure would require that trading stamp companies maintain negotiable assets equal to the total of their distributed but unredeemed stamps.

UP FOR OSCAR

After eight months "The Endless Summer" is still playing at the Kips Bay Theater in Manhattan, and it has broken records in other key cities. It is up for an Oscar as best documentary of 1966.

I dropped down to this sun-swept community 70 miles south of Hollywood to find out if success had spoiled Bruce Brown. It hasn't. He remains the same independent soul as when he was showing his surfing films in high school auditoriums of Southern California.

HOCKS EVERYTHING

"Yeah, there has been a lot of action since 'The Endless Summer' was accepted by a mass audience," he conceded. "Producers call me with ideas for movies, all of which I don't want to do."

"What I want to make is a movie about commercial fishing for swordfish. But every time I mention it to people in the movie business, their eyes glaze and they say, 'Nobody wants to see a film about fishing.'"

For a couple of years, the same persons were telling Brown, "Nobody wants to see a film about surfing." But Brown figured there would be general interest in his movie, which concerned the around-the-world search of two young surfers for the perfect wave. He hocked everything he owned to finance the New York opening, and the gamble paid off.

'X' BILL

Other new Senate bills included:

—By Sen. Tom Creighton, Mineral Wells, eliminating the present method of scratching out the names of unwanted candidates on ballots. Instead, voters would place an "x" beside the name of a chosen candidate.

—By Creighton, requiring a person wanting to vote absentee must either appear in person to vote absentee or make a written request for an absentee ballot application.

—By Sen. Barbara Jorden, Houston, establishing a state labor relations board within the Bureau of Labor Statistics to settle labor-management disputes.

—By Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg, providing up to two years in prison for eavesdropping a telephone conversation without court permission, through electronic listening devices.

—By Berry, making it unlawful to sell or deliver liquor except from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

—By Sen. Criss Cole, Houston, requiring building permits for new buildings or improvements in excess of $1,000 outside city limits.

House bills introduced Tuesday included measures prohibiting the possession or delivery of lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD) and other hallucinogenic drugs, establishing teacher tenure and allowing chemical tests for persons suspected of drunk driving.

Other House bills include:

—By Rep. Bob Salter, Gatesville, appropriating $167,438 for the James Connally Technical Institute and $156,744 for McLennan Community College for the rest of this fiscal year.

—By Rep. John Wright, Dallas, authorizing the Texas Education Agency to establish special programs for pre-school children with language disorders.

—By Atwell and Rep. John Field, Dallas, establishing a University of Texas Dental School in Dallas and appropriating $5 million for the first two years of its operation.

—By Atwell, imposing additional franchise taxes of $1.50 per $1,000 of debt from May 1, 1969, to April 30, 1961, and 65 cents from May 1, 1971 to April 30, 1963.

—By Rep. Alonzo Jamison, Denton, creating a 13-member constitutional amendments study commission to advise the legislature on improving the state constitution "through the amendment process."

—By Atwell and Rep. Dick McKissack, Dallas, allowing cities of 10,000 or more to check off dues in public employees' associations.

Two Brothers Face Police Killing Rap

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two brothers were held in the Parish County prison today after their arrest by the FBI during a nationwide search in connection with the slaying of a Houston, Tex., policeman.

William Glenn Hinkle, 39, and Kenneth H. Hinkle, 48, were given a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Fritz Windhorst after their arrest here Tuesday night in a parking lot, an FBI spokesman said.

BULLET CREASE

They had been charged earlier in the day with interstate transportation of a car stolen in Little Rock, Ark., and showing a bullet crease when it was found abandoned in Houston on Sunday.

The policeman, Louis Sander, 24, fired at his attacker's car as he was slain in Houston on Saturday.

A complaint of auto theft and interstate transportation of a stolen car was filed before a U.S. commissioner in Houston Tuesday.

CALLS TRACED

The bronze Pontiac had been found Sunday morning in a Houston parking lot and the FBI and Houston police used fingerprints and a record of telephone calls made by two men from a Galveston motel last Friday to secure the names of the Hinkle brothers.

The Hinkles are Tennesseans who have made their home in Beaumont, Tex.

The two were charged at Houston Tuesday by the FBI in papers filed with U.S. Commissioner William Costa, but were not charged in the gunshot slaying of Sander.

'EVIL WORLD'

An honor guard of 400 policemen from Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, Pasadena and Galveston stood by Tuesday as Sander was buried at Houston.

 An inspired lead by West against South's three no trump contract led to a stunning upset on the deal.

South opened the bidding with one diamond and North responded with one spade. Had his partner bid anything else, South would have been warranted in forcing the hand to game. With the response coming in his void suit, he bided his time by jumping to three diamonds, hoping to get another chance.

When North rebid three spades, South proceeded to three no trump.
 West was tempted to open a heart, however, on the basis of South's bids it seemed reasonable to place the latter with the king of hearts as well as a long diamond suit, and West feared that the surrender of even a single unit of time might damage the defensive cause beyond repair. If he could hit his partner's strength at the outset, East would be in position to lead back a heart thru South's holding.

Clubs appeared hopeless since West had so little strength there, and by a process of elimination he came to spades. Altho North had rebid that suit, he had not insisted on becoming the declarer and his partner failed to support him.

In the hope that East had a card in spades, West opened the deuce of that suit. The nine was played from dummy which was covered by East's jack as South showed out. The latter was confronted with an immediate discard problem. Inasmuch as he held nine top tricks in clubs and diamonds, he could not afford to part with any of those cards. He was, therefore, obliged to give up a heart.

East shifted to the nine of hearts, South covered with the jack and West was in with the queen. Another spade was led and East was in again with the ace. A heart thru declarer's king enabled West now to run four more tricks in that suit and set his helpless opponent down by three, before the latter could get going.

Had West opened a club originally, South would have taken the first nine tricks. With a heart lead, he scores one over his contract.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade has a staff of 44 assistants. "We usually lose about one third of the staff during the year," Wade said after surveying the 10 vacancies. He said most of those who quit say the increased income of private practice is their reason for leaving.

TOTS STABBED 40 TIMES

Young Wife Accused Of Killing Daughter

HOUSTON (AP) — A young housewife was held under guard in a hospital today, accused of killing her daughter, 6, and wounding her son, 5, gravely in a knife attack.

Mrs. Nancy Carolyn White, 26, was hospitalized after police in suburban Pasadena charged her with murder and assault on murder.

Betty Jean White, 6, died before reaching a hospital in Pasadena. Daniel Jr., 5, was listed in critical condition. Both had been stabbed approximately 40 times.

the house was littered with broken furnishings. The family's pet dog also had been stabbed.

Mrs. Norman Hanson, a church friend, said she realized something was wrong when she called on Mrs. White last Friday morning.

"She gave me back some things I had given her—an electric skillet... some clothes my son had outgrown," Mrs. Hanson said. "She said she wouldn't need them any more."

NAKED

Patrolman A. D. Million said Mrs. White was naked and held a blood-smeared nine-inch butcher knife in her right hand when she answered the doorbell Monday.

Just then her husband, Daniel P. White, 29, pulled up in his car. He went into the house, found the wounded children in their beds and took them in his car to the hospital.

Police said an ambulance service had alerted them to call at the Whites' home and Mrs. White apparently had called her husband home from his job as a draftsman for a firm in the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Cleaning Out

City public works crews are cleaning out the ditch between IS 29 and FM 700 on the east edge of the city, to facilitate the drainage of water from the downtown area. In previous years, water has backed up from the area shown here, creating flooding conditions in the east end of town. In addition, crews are cooperating with the school district in improving the drainage ditch between Goliad and Tenth Street, to facilitate removal of water from this area. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

Ford Employment Up In Southwest

DALLAS (AP)—Ford Motor employment, payroll and sales reached records in the Southwest during 1966, the company reported.

The report, detailing activities in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi and western Tennessee, showed payrolls for the more than 4,500 employees totaled nearly $40 million, up from $36.5 million in 1965. Employment was up 400.

Both of the company's car divisions marked up their highest yearly sales. Ford Division reported sales of 225,630 cars and 91,549 trucks, an increase of 2,364 vehicles over 1965. Lincoln-Mercury Division sales were 40,372, up 1,270 units.

COOL FRONT STALLS

Showers Dot Texas

By The Associated Press
One cool front stalled across Texas to await the arrival of another today, and it appeared that both would have trouble overcoming the state's January heat wave.

Scattered showers in Northeast Texas, drizzle in East Central and parts of Southwest Texas and continuing fog near the coast were other facets of an unsettled weather picture.

Official observers reported a weak Pacific front which pushed into the state Tuesday came close to halting along a line from Paris to Fort Worth and Plainview, and another segment from near Fort Worth to Eagle Pass.

LIGHT SNOW?
Little further movement was expected until a new system from the north arrives to re-enforce it Wednesday.

Forecasts held out a possibility of a little light snow in the north edge of the Panhandle late tonight, but that section was promised overnight temperatures no lower than 36 degrees.

Except for readings down to 24 in extreme Southwest Texas, other sections were due lows early Thursday in the 50s and 60s.

82 IN DALLAS
Showers today dotted the areas from Fort Worth and Dallas to Texarkana, Longview, Tyler and Lufkin and toward Waco.

Fog and occasional rain re-appeared for a fifth straight morning around Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Palacios, Victoria, Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

Temperatures early today ranged from 34 degrees at El Paso and 35 at Dalhart up to 67 at Lufkin and San Antonio.

Top marks across the state Tuesday ranged up to an almost summery 82 at both Dallas and McAllen—the highest readings in the nation reported by the Weather Bureau.

Somewhat cooler weather, but minus any severe temperature drops, was forecast over northern areas of the state by tonight and elsewhere Thursday along with more scattered showers.

City Council Pays For Parking Tickets

DALLAS (AP) — The City Council had to pay for parking tickets after all.

It paid $2,024 for them, but they are blank. The 100,000 motorists who receive them presumably will pay a great deal more.

Son Of Comedian To Wed Filipino

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gary Lewis, oldest son of comedian Jerry Lewis, will be married to a Filipino girl, his mother said Tuesday night.

Gary, 21, was drafted into the Army early this month. He has headed a musical unit called Gary and the Playboys.

Reports from Manila said the wedding will take place March 5 in Los Angeles. The bride-to-be is Sara Jane (Jinky) Suzara, whose father is captain of the port of Manila.

A Devotional For The Day

I implore you by God's mercy to offer your very selves to him: a living sacrifice, dedicated and fit for his acceptance. (Romans 12:1, NEB)

PRAYER: Forgive us, O Lord, that often we have complacently offered Thee our second best. Through Thine indwelling may we be and do our best that all the kingdoms of this world may become Thine. May we live as well as pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From the 'Upper Room')

Not Yet, Please

The average Texas cotton farmer is losing money on cotton, according to the Progressive Farmer in its February issue article, "Will the Southwest Continue to Grow Cotton?" The item contends that only producers in the Coastal Prairie region of Texas and in Southwestern Arizona are in the black from growing cotton.

Some conclusions are that only producers above 100-150 acres have a chance to make any or much profit from cotton on an average yield; that producers have little hope of profit unless they have yields well above average; that most operators are obliged to pay poor wages for labor and are barely able to cover out-of-pocket costs, let alone figure in depreciation, etc.; that in most areas if yields can't be boosted 50 to 100 per cent, other uses should be considered for land and equipment.

That may be, but where is a county like Howard, for instance, going to get something which would replace a $4 to $5 million (conservative average) gross revenue that it receives from cotton, or Dawson County's $10 to $15 million? It may be argued that subsidy is required to sustain this, but it may be a lot better and less costly to support (cotton) farming than to absorb displaced people and support them in urban surroundings. Besides, cotton growing and marketing are in the throes of great change, which may eventually rebound to the benefit of cotton. Before counting out cotton, someone had better come up with something as good or better.

Calls For Close Scrutiny

The President put a price tag on the things enumerated in his State of the Union message, and it adds up to $135 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1. This compares with an estimated $126.7 billion for this year. Although the budget request is one to underwrite what has become known as a guns and butter program.

Contrary to the strange tendency in recent sessions to out-appropriate even the budgetary request, Congress is apt to move more slowly to fulfill the administration's wants. The war on poverty may be every bit as real in the long run as the one against Communist aggression, but it will be hard to convince most solons that it has the immediate implications of survival. Consequently, we feel that the budget will be pared, as indeed it should be, where absolute justification cannot be supplied.

What disturbs us about this budget, as with most within the past decade or so, is that it accepts the theory of a built-in deficit. In times of unprecedented prosperity, if we cannot make a try at balancing the budget, when will we ever come face to face with this issue? True, we are fighting a limited war, which does not reflect its limited scope in its costs. But we should be able to forego some things until we can pare down on defense spending.

This is not to say that everything should be subservient to defense; rather it is to say that everything, defense included, should be weighed with the utmost deliberation. It is not improbable that several billion dollars can and will be lopped off.

Holmes Alexander Business On A New Course

NEW YORK CITY — Not long ago he was a top-flight newspaper editor at Klamath Falls, Oregon, and now he is vice president in charge of public information for a utility company, Portland General Electric.

This youngish and personable switcher has a look that is becoming familiar around Washington, where eager, attractive new Congressmen for some years have been arriving to push out the once-teeming herds of political hacks. Bob Short, like this new school of office-holder, isn't so sure that Coolidge was just uttering a Philistine platitude when he said, "the business of American is business."

FREE ENTERPRISE has been under withering fire from the socializers ever since Franklin Roosevelt and even since Robert LaFollette the Elder. But in recent years there have sprung up men in public office and in journalism who carry a torch for the profits system — not, of course, as it was day-before-yesterday under the robber barons, but as it is today under university-bred executives who have learned the law of survival.

THAT STATUTE of survival says, "Do it first." Action is better than reaction. "Saying so is almost as important as doing so." Business should not wait for the federal government to force it into giving bet-

Billy Graham

I have never written to a preacher because I am a professed atheist. But I tuned in your program on the radio just in time to hear you say, "The fool hath said in his heart there is no God." I have always prided myself as an intelligent man, but your message got to me. Can an atheist be saved?

U. R. It is refreshing to meet an honest unbeliever. Most skeptics fail to keep their minds open to truth; but obviously you are one of those rare persons: a true unbeliever. You ask if you can be saved, and I hasten to say you are one of the best candidates I know of. You, like a lot of other people, have evidently been sidetracked by caricatures of real Christianity. You have judged Christ by the character and actions of those who profess to follow Him. He must be judged upon His own merits. In 2,000 years no skeptic has been able to successfully refute Christ's claim that He was, indeed, the Son of God. No critic has been able to point a finger of scorn at His spotless life. No one has been able to discount His death, resurrection and ascension. No one has been able to account for the transformation of people's lives who trust Him for salvation. But, having said all that, we must come to Him in simple, child-like faith. "He that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." (Heb. 11:6) Come to Him confessing your unbelief, your doubts, your sins, and you, like millions, will find Him, know Him, and love Him.

Editorials and Opinion The Big Spring Herald

2-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wednesday, Jan. 25, 1967

BUT IN RETURN for this social reform of business attitudes — indeed, as a necessity in continuing them — the utility industry needs some easement in Washington. Specifically, it needs repeal or amendment of two basic laws which have become hoary with age and which have dubious application to modern utilities. One is the Sherman Antitrust Act of 1890 and the other is the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. Technology now allows electric companies to do everything more economically by doing it bigger.

WE ARE IN a time of repeal, as was recently argued in this column with regard to our labor laws. It is the nature of conservatism to discard obsolete and oppressive laws. Bob Short, a corporate public relationist, will serve well enough as an example of a new type political reformist. Here is an industrial relationship which has swung full cycle. It used to be the public be damned — today it is the public be informed.

LOUISVILLE (AP)—A woman telephoned the reference room of the Public Library and asked for tips on how to write a thank-you note. "Tell me," she asked, "does it have to rhyme like the ones you buy in card shops?"

James Marlow FBI Boss Shuns Politics

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the field of spying, J. Edgar Hoover is the American version of the Delphic Oracle. Politicians make a pilgrimage to the 73-year-old director of the FBI, seeking his words by phone or mail.

Hoover sticks in the public mind while staying pretty much out of the public picture except for an occasional statement on crime or communism or, more rarely, an argument.

No one knows better than Hoover he would not have been boss of the FBI 42 years if he had played politics. But this doesn't discourage politicians, or others, from sometimes interpreting what he says to suit their own purposes.

There's a recent example of it.

ALMOST THREE years ago the United States and the Soviet Union agreed on a treaty letting them open consulates in each other's country instead of being limited to an embassy, as they are now.

Because the treaty couldn't go into effect until the Senate approved, in 1965 Hoover was called before Congress to say what he thought of it.

He said Soviet consulates in the United States, staffed by Russians, would mean just that much more opportunity for Soviet spying and more work for the FBI.

THIS WAS interpreted by senators who opposed the treaty as meaning Hoover was against it, too. Right-wing outfits, seizing upon Hoover's words, rained letters on senators, protesting the treaty.

That same year the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, after considering the whole problem, put its blessing on the treaty. But it still needed approval by the full Senate and it never got there.

The Democratic leadership held the treaty back, believing the opposition was too strong. Now once again the committee is holding hearings and this year the full Senate is expected to act, one way or the other.

BUT HOOVER had never said he was against the treaty. He never said he favored it, either. What he did say was that once the Soviets opened consulates in this country life would be tougher for the FBI.

This week Secretary of State Dean Rusk, speaking for the Johnson administration on behalf of the treaty, went before the committee and made this main point:

Having American consulates in the Soviet Union would better protect American tourists there while the treaty itself would remove some of the difficulties in American-Soviet relations. He acknowledged that permitting Soviet consulates in this country would increase the chances for Soviet spying. But he insisted the risks were small and could be handled by the FBI.

The irony in all this is that, while Hoover was talking about the increased danger of Soviet spying in this country if Soviet consulates were opened, little was said about American spying in the Soviet Union if American consulates were opened there.

Sick Buck Beats Nothing

NEW YORK (AP) — Whatever happened to the almighty dollar, which many foreigners claim that Americans worship?

If we do, we are bowing down to an anemic idol. For, like the Old Gray Mare, the almighty dollar ain't what it used to be.

As a matter of fact, the almighty dollar looks like a mighty sick buck. It has been suffering weakening relapses for a long time now, and it is unlikely that any miracle medicine will be found that can restore it completely to its youthful vigor.

EVERYTHING in life tends to lose strength as it passes its prime and begins to age. This is as generally true of paper currencies as it is of people.

The dollar may still be a long way from the financial graveyard, but it will probably never again be the big strong buck of yore.

Now and then an event occurs that forces us to realize what inflationary malnutrition has done to the value of the dollar. Such a happening last week was the disclosure that shoes in some areas here have gone up to 35 cents — and that doesn't include the tip.

"THIRTY-FIVE cents for a shoeshine!" The unbelieving cry went up. "What can happen next?"

Well, that is pretty easy to prophecy. The cost of shoeshines in time will go to 50 cents, then 75 cents, and then — probably before man starts building real estate developments on the moon — to one dollar.

There are babies being born right now who will even live to see the day when they will pay $2 for a shoeshine — $1 for each shoe.

Anyone who is over 50 and who has weathered a number of depressions and several hot and cold wars also has a melancholy awareness of the various steps in the erosion of the dollar in his lifetime.

About the only gadgets left that haven't raised their prices in the last two generations are the penny gumball machine and the penny scale.

YEP, MONEY gets tired. It doesn't travel as far as it did when it was younger. Most of us have long realized that money isn't everything. What does dismay us, however, is the realization that money isn't even what it used to be — and in some future tomorrow won't be what it is today.

But ailing as the almighty dollar may be, no one wants to turn his back on it. Everybody still seems to be trying to get his hands on as many dollars as he can.

Better a sick friend than none at all.

Around The Rim

The Queen's Belagured Son

On May 9, 1932, the dirigible Akron, "Queen of the Skies," turned northward from San Antonio on its first transcontinental cruise. Her course was to follow the beacon and radio airway to Big Spring, then turn westward to El Paso, and on to the West Coast.

OVER SAN ANGELO, however, Commander Rosendahl and his 113 men ran into something they had never faced before—a West Texas thunderstorm. The big ship was buffeted by wind, rain and hail and sent out distress messages. While San Angeloans hustled out a Western Union man who could send and read Morse code, the Akron moved off to the southeast and out of range.

Big Spring, with its radio communications at the American Airways terminal and the Department of Commerce station in the City Park, became the focal point of contact. Operators could hear the Akron frantically calling for weather information, but messages from her were not decipherable aboard the Akron. In the early morning hours, however, contact was established as the airship moved over Eldorado, then northward again. The crisis was over, and she sailed triumphantly to California.

JOHN A. (Jack) Cummings, who was in charge of the weather station here then, writes an interesting sidelight from his home in Charleston, S. C.

"We overheard some of the radio contacts between the Akron and the group of two planes as they tried to go back aboard the airship and heard the acknowledgement of the message that Lt. Harrington (a pilot) was to proceed to Big Spring for further orders."

Western Union relayed the message to the weather bureau that Lt. Harrington and fellow pilot were to proceed independently back to Lakehurst, N. J., home of the Akron.

"WHEN I delivered the message, the lieutenant had such a woe-begone expression on his face that I asked him what the trouble was," Cummings recalled. "He then launched upon his tale of woes, beginning with being wakened in the middle of the night and hustled off the airship. He had no clothes under his flying suit, no ID cards, no gasoline chits, and worst of all, no money."

Cummings suggested that Lt. Harrington stop at smaller fields and confidently tell them to send the bill to Lakehurst. "Surely," added Cummings, "they wouldn't pump the gas out after the tank was filled."

ABOUT THE money, he had a plan, too. The pilot altered one of Cummings' checks so it would be on a Lakehurst bank, and Cummings set about taking up a collection to raise the $25 to cash the check. It was in the depth of the depression, but the funds were scraped up. The next day, Cummings blithely cashed the check and refunded the money. Both his plan and the check must have been good, for Cummings never heard from the pilot again until recently when he read Richard K. Smith's book, "Airships Akron and Macon." He learned then that the beleaguered pilot was now Admiral Harrington.

John Cunniff Vietnam Pinches Pocketbook

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson has made clear to Congress that the Vietnam war has made a "deep imprint" on his budget, an imprint most Americans have felt for a year in their personal accounts.

The inflation we now have, and did have through most of 1966, is to a great degree the result of unexpected high spending in support of our military effort in Southeast Asia.

This year Johnson demonstrated a slightly changed attitude since his previous budget message. He still hopes for domestic health and wealth while paying for a war without wartime economic controls, even though it has never been done before.

Now, however, the impact of the costly war is being noted and we are called upon to make sacrifices. Even though its cost is only about 1-35th of our Gross National Product, Vietnam is pinching.

RECOGNITION that the war is costly does not, however, foreordain the correct action. And the question now is how accurate are estimates that Vietnam will cost $2.4 billion in fiscal 1968, only $2.5 billion more than in 1967.

A year ago in Washington there was a tendency to underestimate the costs of war. This underestimate turned out to be a $10-billion error. We spent that much more than we had anticipated.

Economists and perhaps some administration officials now feel that this mistake put a relentless demand upon an economy unable to meet it without inflation.

IF THE COST had been accurately assessed, the administration would have had to consider increasing taxes to pay for it. Since it was not accurately foreseen, taxes were not raised. The economy overheated. The apparent cause of last year's error was an assumption that the war would end sooner than is now foreseen.

The administration has indicated that no such assumptions are being made now. The budget, nevertheless, calls for an increase in expenditures of only $2.5 billion over spending in the July 1, 1966—June 30, 1967, period. Is this enough?

Some Republicans will be quick to show they do not believe so. But if there is to be an addition to spending they will seek subtractions elsewhere. They may not believe that "Great Society" spending has been "carefully selected on the basis of urgent national requirements."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has called for a big increase in American forces in South Vietnam. And Stennis is an influential member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

STENNIS foresees a need for 500,000 American troops in South Vietnam this year.

Such a buildup would be costly, although it still would not be as large an increase as occurred in the latter part of 1966.

Last year's economic imbalances were serious. The cost of living rose. The pressure of wage and price demands shattered the economic guidelines. Money costs soared.

This year the administration is asking for a tax increase to pay for its added expenditures, but many of 1966's imbalances still remain and some critics feel a tax increase will only make them worse.

Johnson could cut spending. He believes, however, that he does not have this option—that deep budget cuts could cause a recession instead of a continuation of prosperity.

This critical balance—if it does exist as described in the budget—leaves little freedom for error. An underestimate could be costly.

David Lawrence A Unified View Of The War

WASHINGTON—Both political parties, as shown by the public comments of their leaders on the "State of the Union," now have told the American people that they approve of the purpose and mission of the United States in the Vietnam war. There is some debate as to how rapidly the war should be intensified in the immediate future or how peace negotiations can be gotten under way. But, basically, there is no disagreement as to objectives.

THIS EXPRESSION of unity can hardly be overlooked throughout the world. Though differences on domestic policies between the administration and its political opponents continue to be numerous, the common desire is to fight the war to a successful conclusion.

It's easy enough to criticize the United States for having become involved in the present war and to argue that Asia is far away and doesn't really concern us. But having heard these same arguments prior to World War I and prior to World War II, and having witnessed the miscalculation by potential enemies who discounted American resoluteness, there is indeed reason for fearing that within our own country lie once more the seeds of encouragement to our adversaries.

EVEN ASSUMING that officials here may have originally underestimated the possible consequences of intervention in Vietnam a few years ago, it seems incredible that so much is being said now by the critics of American policy to undermine confidence in their own government throughout the world.

THERE ARE two main objectives in the Vietnam war. One is to help a small nation to be safeguarded from invasion, and the other is to serve notice on the Communists that their participation in North Vietnam's aggression will not be tolerated. What is our real concern? It is that, in the world of today, not only may continents be overrun but an intercontinental war can ensue if aggressor governments go unchallenged in spreading the use of their power.

WHAT IS BEING overlooked today, as it was before both World War I and World War II, is the terrible threat that comes from an autocracy when it attains tremendous military power. Hitler was not regarded as really dangerous until he invaded Poland. The Japanese were not feared until they began to join in an alliance with Hitler.

Today conditions are more menacing than ever before. Military aid is deliberately being furnished to North Vietnam by the governments of the Soviet Union and Red China. These two actual or potential enemies of the United States both possess nuclear weapons. The trigger can be pulled at any moment by a reckless clique.

DESPITE TWO major wars, the world today isn't safe for democratic institutions. The resoluteness and determination of the United States, therefore, are being tested in Vietnam, but fortunately the test is occurring before and not during a world war.

The dangers of autocracy, however, are not being fully realized. For nuclear power doesn't have to be used to be catastrophic in its consequences. It can be a form of blackmail by which an autocratic government—using the threat of war—can try to impose its will and take away the freedom of peoples not only of neighboring countries in Europe and Asia but also in this hemisphere.

CARRIES WIDE SELECTION OF FURNITURE
Two huge buildings to serve you at Carter's Furniture

Carter's Has Huge Display Of All Furniture Types

No matter what you want in furniture, you can get it at Carter's Furniture, 100-110 Runnels.

From Early American to patio furniture, the perfect choice for your home is on display in Carter's two huge buildings.

J. W. and Terry M. Carter, a father-son partnership, have been in the furniture business in Big Spring since 1948 (when they had Carter's Shop & Swap on Second and Gregg). They moved to 110 Runnels in 1967 and a year and a half ago acquired the old Montgomery Ward warehouse, 100 Runnels. The addition of the old warehouse gives Carter's 21,000 or square feet of floor space—9,000 in 110 Runnels and 12,000 in 100 Runnels—to display whatever furniture the customer wants to see without crowding either the furniture or the customer.

The newly-enlarged operation gave Carter's room to departmentalize all furniture. They put all the Early American, suites, pieces, tables, chairs, in the building at 110 Runnels. At 100 Runnels, they put different furniture in different rooms—French Provincial, Modern furniture, Spanish, colored accent pieces, patio and outdoor furniture, and dining room furniture to match all groups.

With all furniture, it is quality that counts with Carter's. All is brand-name furniture—merchandise of quality. Such famous brandnames as Tell City, Broyhill, Sealy Mattress, Berkeley Recliner, Lane Cedar Chests, and Empire Furniture abound.

"We service what we sell," Terry Carter says. "And we offer a time payment plan, or we'll hold for 30, 60 or 90 days with no interest or carrying charge."

Something popular at Carter's is the $1 table, where a real variety of gift and accessory items are always kept on hand, each selling for only a dollar bill.

The departmentalizing of the furniture makes it easy to

Huge Weed Haul Made

DALLAS (AP)—Police credited a tip from a state narcotics agent for the arrest of a Dallas man with 70 pounds of marijuana Tuesday.

They estimated the illicit dope's value at $140,000 and reported the haul was more than twice the size of any here in the past.

An 11-man squad headed by Capt. W. P. Gannaway surrounded the man's car leaving a North Dallas residence. Officers said the highly refined marijuana, in beat brown paper and plastic bags, was in the trunk.

Lt. Frank I. Cornwall said the man, 35, would be charged today with violating state narcotics laws. He quoted the man, a dress cutter, as disclaiming ownership of the marijuana.

Cornwall said the raid followed a telephone call from L. Maroney, a state agent in San Antonio.

READING AND GRADES

SAN ANTONIO — Educators constantly stress the fact that if a student wants good grades in school, he must read and understand what he reads.

"The most frequent cause of high school and college dropouts is the inability to complete the required reading," said Dr. Cecil J. Mullins, the inventor of the Optimization Speed Reading technique.

The Optimization method has been producing reading speeds of several thousand words per minute for over ten years.

The accomplishments of some of Optimization's previous students sound like something out of science fiction. One 13-year-old lad reads books for his public school assignments in six to 10 minutes. His grades have jumped from barely passing to straight A's and B's after taking the course.

Another ex-student, a 35-year-old public school teacher, had made less than average grades in his undergraduate work. He went back to graduate studies after developing, through Optimization, the ability to read an average non-fiction book in 10 to 15 minutes. His first semester at University of Texas he was awarded straight A's and a chance for a scholarship.

"I know the results sound incredible," Dr. Mullins said, "but we have a standing offer wherever Optimization is taught for anyone who is undecided to come to our first meeting free of any obligation, to see for himself what the course will be like."

Dr. Cecil Mullins, renowned Educational Psychologist, states that the faster you read, the more you comprehend. "Fifteen years ago," he continued, "I became intrigued with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration, I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would ever have been able to in eight to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fictional history, or of a technical nature. A doctor can devour medical books, a lawyer legal matters, etc., at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds."

Dr. Mullins' methods were so successful that he created the OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COURSE. Taught in 12 two hour sessions, OPTIMIZATION GUARANTEES the student will read at least 1000 words a minute or a book in an hour or less with good comprehension. DEAR ABBY

Teacher May Be The Key

DEAR ABBY: I have tried to solve my problem myself, but it has gone too far for me.

I have a 13-year-old son who is an only child, and my husband babies him to death. Anything Ronnie wants, Ronnie gets.

Well, Ronnie has been out of school going on the fifth week. He says he doesn't feel well and his father believes him and lets him stay home. I know Ronnie could go to school if he wanted to, because the minute the bus is gone Ronnie feels better. He spends the day watching TV, eating and fooling around.

If I try to make him go to school, his father says I am being "mean." I am not mean, Abby, I am only trying to do what's best for the boy. Can you help me? "MEAN" MOM

DEAR MOM: Let a doctor examine Ronnie and decide whether or not he is well enough to go to school. Then go a step further and find out WHY Ronnie doesn't want to go to school. A conference with his teacher might be the key to the whole problem.

DEAR ABBY: I just married the greatest girl in the world but she's a terrible cook. So far I have been telling her her meals are terrific, but she is not getting any better and I don't know how much longer I can stand it.

Shall I tell her her meals are not fit to eat so she will improve them, or should I just hope she will improve with practice while I suffer in silence?

G.E. IN HOUSTON
DEAR G.E.: Tell your bride that you've been trying to be patient about her cooking but her batting average hasn't improved. A few cooking lessons—and a loving pinch (of care) in the kitchen might help.

DEAR ABBY: My question is, "How many baby showers is one person entitled to, anyway?"

I have a cousin who has had a baby every year for the past nine years and somebody in the

Virus Threatens Texas Sunflowers

AUSTIN (AP)—An English botanist has discovered the first virus known to infect and kill Texas sunflowers.

Dr. Kenneth M. Smith, visiting professor at the University of Texas, said the virus might reduce drastically the state's sunflower population if allowed to go unchecked.

The work began when Smith observed sunflower leaves covered with yellow spots.

Discovery of the virus was made with an electron microscope. The virus was named the sunflower mosaic virus. Continuing to track the disease, Smith and Dr. Howard Arnt of the university found it had spread to plants in all parts of Austin by the end of summer.

family has promoted a baby shower for each one. The only time I ever hear from anyone in that tribe is when they want a gift for someone.

Isn't there a rule of etiquette that says you aren't supposed to give a baby shower for the same person more than three times? Let me know.

SHOWERED TO DEATH
DEAR ABBY: The only rule I know covering showers is that everyone who gets tapped, gets soaked.

DEAR ABBY: What, in your opinion, motivates people to go into teaching? CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: I can't generalize about what "motivates" teachers. But thank God for it.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

'Funny' Money Flood Probed

FORT WORTH (AP)—Fort Worth bankers complained Tuesday of a flurry of counterfeit $20 bills and revealed that the Secret Service is investigating.

However, Charles Kunkel, resident agent here, refused to confirm or deny such an investigation.

"We have no comment at this time," Kunkel said.

"The bankers said they have been flooded with the counterfeit currency recently, although the bills are easy to spot.

"I think the seven we got today are the most counterfeit bills we've ever got in one day," a First National Bank spokesman said Tuesday.

He said the bank received the first of the bogus bills last Dec. 27.

Three of the city's other leading banks — Continental National, Fort Worth National and Bank of Commerce — told similar stories.

Serial numbers sometimes vary, but other identifying numbers are the same in every case, the bank officials said. Most of the bills have identical serial numbers: I 12540195 A. The bankers said the bills, poor in quality of paper and printing, are faded and give the appearance of having been long used.

"The bills are not as sharp and clear as a genuine one," one banker explained.

The bills have arrived at banks from a variety of sources, including a large number from Beer Distributing Companies. This would indicate, one banker said, that bills are being passed in darkened taverns.

Six Tax Reform Suggestions Made

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Committee on State and Local Tax Policy has six tax reform suggestions that it says will net the state $1.25 billion a year.

The committee report to the governor and the legislature Monday was followed by introduction of two bills incorporating two of the recommendations.

One recommendation would authorize motor fuel tax refunds of only 75 per cent to non-highway users, leaving the other 25 per cent for public school support as it is allotted in tax paid by highway users. "There is no logical reason for exempting farmers, boat owners, airlines and other specialized users from their responsibility to contribute to the support of public education," the report said. The committee estimated this recommendation, on basis of 1965 taxes, would increase state revenue $2.58 million a year.

Another recommendation would decrease tax revenues by $1.25 million. It would exempt from the gas production tax the gas used in exploring or producing oil and gas in the same field or lease by the same operator.

Other recommendations would let the comptroller make tax overpayment refunds instead of giving credit on future taxes, place a seven-year limitation on any legal action on taxes, eliminate charging state audits to tax payers and round off rates for telephone companies and public utilities to get rid of multiple, uneven decimals.

Funeral services were scheduled Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in San Angelo's First Methodist Church.

Federal Credit Unit Has Meet

Officers, directors and committeemen were named Saturday evening for the Howard County Government Employees Federal Credit Union, one of the newest in the county.
