Mrs. Edward Ramirez and her two children, Priscilla and Orlando, survey the damage of this giant tree felled by the high winds Sunday evening in the family's back yard at 611 N. San Antonio. It knocked down clothes lines, but otherwise caused no damage, she said. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

Winds Sweep In A Chill

Big Springers were subjected to a windy, dusty night Sunday after a day of almost spring-like attributes. The Webb AFB weather station said that the wind reached 48 knots at times during the night. This is about 55 miles an hour. Dust was heavy for a time and left airways and porches heavily coated with reddish sand. The temperature dropped from a warm 70 degrees at mid-afternoon to a chilly 28 at 5 a.m. Monday morning. The wind had died down and the dust had settled out of the air at dawn. The temperature was still around 31 at 10 a.m. Monday with partially cloudy skies. The chill is supposed to hold on today, and tonight is slated to be cold. Tuesday will be some warmer.

Sleet Slows Austin Mayor

AUSTIN (AP)—With sleet tapping on the windows outside, Speaker Ben Barnes had breakfast at the Capitol today with mayors from several cities. Undeterred by the slick streets and foul weather were the mayors of Midland, Odessa, Wichita Falls, Dallas and Waco. The only invited guest who didn't show up was Mayor Lester Palmer of Austin. His car couldn't make it up an ice-slick hill in West Austin.

Big Snowstorm Closes Schools

A heavy snowstorm struck Austin and the Texas Hill Country today as schools closed and highway travel became perilous in the wake of an icy blast spilling into the state from the Northern Plains. The mercury plunged to 16 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle while two inches of rain and winds of 70 miles an hour buffeted Corpus Christi on the coast.

SMASHUPS

Classes in Austin schools were to be dismissed at 1:30 p.m. and the University of Texas shut down for the afternoon as giant snow flakes put a heavy layer of white on the capital city. Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos also suspended classes. Traffic in Austin could barely crawl on the slippery streets and police tried to investigate a flurry of minor smashes. Long-time Austin residents said it was the densest snowfall ever to blanket the city.

SLEAK BROKEN

Moisture came in several ways at San Angelo early today but the combination of sleet, rain and sleet, sleet mixed with snow and mist was enough to break a rainless streak of 111 days. The precipitation was not general enough, however, to start any celebrations by drouth-plagued farmers and ranchers in the area. Rain also fell at Austin during RFK Receives 'Peace Signal' From Reds?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will discuss Vietnam with the White House and State Department amidst reports he has received an indirect Hanoi "peace feeler."

NO COMMENT

Asked about the report Sunday night, Kennedy said through an aide he would not comment until he discussed the situation with the White House and State Department. He would not say whether he means to see President Johnson personally and no date for the talks was mentioned.

Hanoi also said in the official party newspaper Nhan Dan today that peace talks could begin if the bombing stopped. The article, reported in Tokyo, did not list withdrawal of U. S. military forces from South Vietnam as a precondition to opening talks.

NEW FEELER

The article commented on Johnson's news conference of last Thursday, in which Johnson said he was "not aware at this moment of any serious effort that the other side has made in my judgment to bring the fighting to a stop or to stop the war."

The Nhan Dan article called Johnson's statements "arrogant and bellicose. Newsweek said another Hanoi-originated peace feeler was sent to Washington last week from a foreign capital, thought to be Cairo.

TRUCE EXTENSION Informed sources said Pope Paul VI is trying to extend the coming lunar year truce to create an atmosphere for peace talks. The truce begins Wednesday.

These were the major week-end events in the field of peace talk. But in military-oriented developments in Washington: —Pentagon sources said the United States has lost nearly double the number of aircraft announced by the Pentagon, because some categories of Vietnam losses have not been previously listed.

AID DIPS —Information reaching here indicates that Soviet arms aid to North Vietnam is declining but remains substantial. —Some military officers expressed private anxiety that the bombing of the North may be stopped in exchange for what they call something less significant.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY Hits Bronx Dad NEW YORK (AP)—It was a double tragedy for Henry La Casse of the Bronx. He walked into the apartment of a friend and neighbor Saturday night to find her beaten and stabbed body. Then his son, Thomas, 17, was arrested in the slaying Sunday.

The victim was Mrs. Elizabeth Slavia, 68, a semi-invalid widow. She had been stabbed 38 times. Both the father and son had keys to her apartment, running errands for her because of her condition. When La Casse found the woman in a pool of blood, he called police.

Officers traced a trail of blood to a letter basket, where they found a "Chinese special" knife, which is nine inches long, has a five-inch blade and requires use of a button to open it. The blood trail led back to the apartment house, and police awakened Thomas, a high school pupil. The boy had a severe cut on a finger of his right hand, authorities said. They said the killing resulted from a fight over money, but gave no details. The teenager was charged with homicide.

Safe In Vietnam

Michele Ray, 28-year-old French newswoman, emerged today from 21 days of Viet Cong captivity in Vietnam. She said, "I'm feeling great." (AP WIREPHOTO)

It's Freedom Day For Newsgal Ray

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)— French newswoman Michele Ray emerged from 21 days of Viet Cong captivity today dressed in black pajamas — the guerrilla uniform — which her captors made for her and said, "I'm very lucky." "I'm feeling great," said the former Paris fashion model.

Speaking by telephone from An Khe, in the central highlands, Miss Ray, 28, said she would continue her attempt to drive the length of South Vietnam "if possible after some rest in Saigon."

"She still has her press credentials," an American spokesman said earlier. "She can go wherever she wants."

HANDS TIED Miss Ray said the Viet Cong gave her a receipt for the personal belongings they took from her after she was picked up Jan. 17 near Bong Son, about 200 miles north of Saigon. She was driving across the country in a small French sedan.

She said the Viet Cong treated her well and made the black pajamas especially for her because at 5-feet-9 she is taller than the average Vietnamese. She said her hands were tied for the first few hours after she was taken prisoner, but after that she was not bound. At one point, she said, she had to spend most of two days in a foxhole because of a South Vietnamese bombing attack.

PLAYED CARDS She said she had thought she would find the Viet Cong serious and unhappy, but the guerrillas who seized her were for the most part cheerful. She said she spent part of the time playing cards with her captors.

Miss Ray said she was told Sunday she would be released. Her personal belongings were (See FREEDOM, P. 6-A, Col. 5)

President Urges Massive Effort

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson urged on Congress today a massive effort to combat crime "with every means at our command."

Johnson proposed to throw at least $50 million into what he termed a bold venture "to treat ancient evils and to ensure the public safety."

The $50 million is aimed primarily at helping states and cities to help themselves in efforts to uproot crime. The money would be used in the next fiscal year under a Safe Streets and Crime Control Act, largely for grants for planning anti-crime campaigns and for research and pilot projects.

ALARM SYSTEMS Johnson proposed that the federal government put up 90 per cent of the cost of financing the planning and 60 per cent of the outlay for action programs, such as setting up more effective alarm systems, tactical squads, special street lighting, and new rehabilitation efforts.

The crime message is one of a series of special messages sent by Johnson to Capitol Hill, spelling out details of his legislative programs.

Among other things Johnson urged the outlawing of all wiretapping, public and private, and all willful invasions of privacy by electronic devices — the only exceptions to be where national security is at stake.

ARMS CRACK DOWN Wiretapping by the federal government itself has figured in prominent legal cases lately, including the trial resulting in the conviction of Bobby Baker, a former secretary to Senate Democrats.

Johnson also urged enactment of a law to crack down on mail order sales of firearms. It was a mail order rifle that killed President John F. Kennedy.

Mail order sales could be made only between federal licensees, under this proposal. And these licensees would be barred from selling hand guns to any person under 21, and from selling rifles and shotguns to anyone under 18.

DELINQUENCY Johnson noted that the crime rate is highest in the 10-to-21 age group and that "15-year-olds commit more of the serious crimes than any other age group, with 16-year-olds close behind."

In this connection, Johnson said he is submitting to Congress shortly a program for young Americans aimed at relieving delinquency and increasing

COLOR MAP OF VIETNAM

Because there has been an unusual demand, The Herald again is offering a large, detailed, four-color map of Vietnam. However, the supply is limited. This map is helpful in following all phases of the Vietnam conflict. It is a high quality item, made by the Hammond Company, with much detail of Southeast Asia. The Herald offers the map for only 35¢ plus 1¢ sales tax, or 36¢. If you wish to order by mail, add 10¢ for handling.

TWO MORE CHILDREN HURT Second Youngster Dies Of Friday Mishap Injuries

Betty Sue Garrison, 12, second of two sisters injured in a car-pedestrian mishap here Friday morning, died at 11:30 a.m. Sunday in Wilford Hall Hospital in San Antonio.

Her sister, Vicki Ann Garrison, 13, died Friday in the same hospital of injuries she received in the accident. They were daughters of Airman 1.C. and Mrs. Carl Garrison, 1408 Oriole.

Saturday, two more children were injured in traffic mishaps, bringing the total to six youngsters injured in five days on city and county streets. Four involved families connected with Webb AFB.

Praelia Juarez, 11, and Lorenzo Juarez, 8, riding a bicycle were involved in the accident at Northwest Fourth and Trades about 7:17 p.m. Saturday, with a car driven by Gregorio Z. Palomino, 105 Channing. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Cruz Juarez, 1010 NW 2nd.

Both were taken by Alert Ambulance to Hall - Bennett Memorial Hospital, where attendants said this morning they sustained extensive injuries and described their condition as serious. Police said the children apparently rode the bicycle into the path of the car. The Garrison girls were taken first to Webb AFB Hospital, then airlifted to the Lack-land AFB Hospital Friday. Police said Mrs. Lela Maye Littleton, Odessa, driver of the car involved in this mishap, was taken to a local hospital in shock, where she remained today. She has made no statement, officers said.

Services for the girls are pending at Marion, N. C., where Webb Class 67-E, that graduated Saturday, sent a gift of $150 to Airman Garrison, to help pay expenses. Many civilians were asking to help, too, and in response to this, Rev. Roy Honea of Grace Baptist Church, where the Garrisons were members, said that the church would accept gifts to give financial aid to the Garrison family.

Persons wishing to have a part in helping the Garrisons may mail their gifts, payable to the Garrisons, care of Grace Baptist Church, Box 1507, Big Spring.

Keith Gould, six-year-old son of Sgt. and Mrs. Archie Gould, Coahoma, was still in critical condition at the Lackland hospital this morning, however, attendants said he was making slow progress. He was injured in a mishap Thursday while going to school.

Kathy Nichols, three-year-old daughter of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Charles Nichols, 1310 Mt. Vernon, was released from the Webb AFB Hospital. She was hurt in a car-mishap Tuesday on Birdwell Lane.

GARRISON TELLS SENATORS: Court's Rulings Hike Crime

HOUSTON (AP)— Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said today his subcommittee is not interested in hearing criticism of the U.S. Supreme Court, but is anxious to learn whether the court's rulings have tied the hands of criminal investigators and prosecutors.

Bayh made the statement in remarks prepared for delivery as his Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments opened in Houston the first in a series of nationwide hearings set into motion by the court's Escobedo and Miranda rulings.

The Escobedo ruling in 1964 and the Miranda ruling last June, said that suspects must be told by interrogators of their right to silence and to have counsel present during questioning.

HARMFUL TO U.S.? The Bayh subcommittee started work in Washington last summer to determine the effect of those and earlier rulings. The two-day session beginning today in Houston will be followed by visits to Milwaukee, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Miami and Omaha.

"We are not interested in anyone's opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States," Bayh said. "However, if the effect of the court's interpretation is proved to be harmful to the nation, then we will entertain suggestions on how and where to alter the constitution."

Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, the first witness, said "In my opinion criminal trials in recent years have become no more than forums where lawyers show their expertise at employing procedural stratagems to release guilty clients."

"I believe that our Supreme Court has indirectly recognized this fact. They say the rich are able to avail themselves of these legal benefits and the poor are not. They base this on the fact that able, highly paid attorneys were able to secure acquittals for persons able to pay for their services while the poor filled our jails because they could not afford this help."

FALLACY "I believe at this point they erred in evaluating the situation, for as I see it, the answer to the problem is how do we make the trial of the case fair so that the rich as well as the poor are punished. Their approach was, I believe, how do we change the system so that the poor as well as the rich escape punishment. No doubt it's fallacy is one of the basic reasons for the rising crime rate."

Bayh had said earlier that alternatives to such an amendment might include federal aid in setting up new investigative techniques, such as temperature tape recorders to determine whether confessions were voluntary and use of voice-print devices to identify suspects.

INFO LACKING The senator said he and his colleagues were struck last summer by the lack of "information available on the number of times a confession had led to freeing an innocent suspect and, conversely, had resulted in the imprisonment of innocent parties while the guilty went free."

The 28 witnesses for the Houston meeting include law enforcement officials, defense lawyers and legal scholars from across Texas.

Bayh said he would ask them and the witnesses in the later hearings several specific questions.

— "Will these new rules serve, in effect, to make it extremely difficult or, perhaps, impossible for police to gather information leading to successful prosecution of criminals?"

SNIPER SLAYINGS — "To what extent is a confession necessary in solving a crime?"

— "What is the true nature of the modern-day police interrogation? Is it, as the courts suggests, inherently coercive?"

Citing the murders of eight student nurses in Chicago and the sniper slayings on the campus of the University of Texas at Austin, Bayh said, "We were reminded once again of how vitally important to us all is that thin blue line of policemen who are charged with the responsibility of protecting the many from that small but growing number in our midst who would commit murder, rape, robbery and theft."

The senator went on, "It seems to me that we are in great danger in the United States today of developing a reverse-guilt syndrome . . . Seeing too many tears shed for the murderer and too few for the murdered."

"Perhaps worst of all, the problems of the criminal are too often glorified to the point where the finger of accusation points not at the man who would take the life or property of another, but at the law enforcement officer—often overworked, underpaid, risking life and limb to protect the innocent from the guilty."

It's 36-24-36 And Fight For GIs In Vietnam
Tina Scala reads fan letter received from soldiers in Vietnam in response to her picture which appeared in The New York Daily News last December, right. GIs Delight Wants To Entertain Fans

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-four fighting men in Vietnam will get the address of the mischievous lassie they saw stepping daintily over a Manhattan snowbank. Not only her address — pinup pictures too. And maybe even a visit from the gal herself.

It all goes back to last Dec. 27, when the snow in Manhattan wasn't quite as high as an elephant's eye, but high enough.

PHOTO ADMIRERS

On that date, a New York Daily News photographer snapped a picture of an attractive girl making her way through the snows of Central Park South.

Came a letter to the newspaper from Sgt. Cesar A. Soriano, spokesman for the mortar platoon of Company D, 2nd Battalion, 1st Infantry, 196th Light Infantry Brigade, serving in Vietnam.

Soriano wrote: "Pertaining to your issue of Tuesday, Dec. 27 appears a picture of a young lady by the name of Tina Scala. We have been day after day admiring the picture of the above mentioned brunette."

HEARTS THROBBING

Tina's photo, Soriano said, produced an overpowering urge on behalf of himself and his 43 buddies to correspond with her, "thereby satisfying the many hearts that are throbbing in high gear."

Tina, actress sister of film star Gia Scala, commented Sunday: "I'm overwhelmed."

Delight showing in her blue-green eyes — the product of her Italian-Irish background, Tina added, "I'm so — how do you say it — it has really hit me."

Apollo Blaze Clues Sought

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A board of review today continued the slow, methodical search for clues to the fatal Apollo 1 fire.

Officials said the investigation could take several weeks and that the cause might never be known.

More discussions with technicians and study of data were on tap today. Other experts continued to examine the interior of the charred spacecraft, which still is atop a Saturn I rocket on launch complex 34.

Killed in the flash fire were Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

Slowdown Predicted In Rate Of Business Growth

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas Business Research Bureau says 1967 will see a slowdown of the rate of Texas business growth, continuing a trend that began in September.

The seasonally adjusted index of state business activity dropped 2 per cent in December to close the year at 172.2 per cent above the 1957-59 base.

During 1966, the index of Texas business activity rose from 168 per cent in January to an all-time peak of 183.1 per cent in August, the bureau said. The 1966 monthly average increased 9 per cent over 1965, due to the strong rise from January to August.

The bureau said December was the 78th month of a long period of general prosperity. "Despite the outlook for a slower rate of growth during 1967, the current upswing seems to have a good chance of becoming the longest in history," the bureau said.

Glancing at selected barometers of Texas business, the bureau noted:

- Crude oil production rose during 1966, closing the year at 104 per cent of the 1957-59 average monthly rate.
- Total electric power use climbed 9 per cent in 1966 from the 1965 figure.
- Urban building permits issued declined 2 per cent, but nonresidential permits rose 14 per cent over 1965.
- Miscellaneous freight carloadings averaged 4 per cent above 1965.
- Total industrial production was up 8 per cent.
- Bank debits increased 12 per cent in 1966 over 1965.
- Unemployment in 1966 declined 17 per cent from the previous year.

The bureau said average weekly earnings in manufacturing last year were 4 per cent higher than in 1965. A rise in the cost of living consumed 3 per cent of the income gain, the bureau said.

Business activity in 20 Texas cities shows that the average values of the indexes were above 1965 in 18 of them. Only two — El Paso with minus 1 per cent, and Galveston, minus 2 per cent — showed declines. Gains included 12 per cent at Dallas and Texarkana, 9 per cent at Beaumont and 8 per cent at Houston and Laredo.

The bureau predicts that total demand for petroleum products in 1967 will be at least 3 per cent higher than last year.

"There will be a continued advance in general business activity, interest rates will ease somewhat but will remain high, and money will not be so tight in 1967," the bureau predicts.

Opium Goes Up In Smoke

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong government burned more than five tons of opium, heroin and morphine today. Police estimated they were worth more than $10 million on the illegal market.

The government said drugs were seized over the last three years.

Police Probe Link Between Four Slayings

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Police are probing for any possible link between the slayings of a Saginaw educator and his wife and the killings of another prominent couple only a mile away.

The bodies of Karl Middeldorf, 63, and his wife, Gertrude, 62, were discovered in their home Sunday—three days after a doctor and his wife were found slain.

A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arnold Middeldorf, 35, stopped by on her way from church and found Middeldorf slumped across an upstairs bed with his hands and feet bound with cord. He had been stabbed in the back with a kitchen knife and a plastic bag was wrapped around his head.

NUDE BODY

An autopsy showed he had been suffocated and then stabbed, said William Shea, the coroner.

Mrs. Middeldorf's nude body was found in a downstairs bathtub. She had been drowned.

The bodies of a prominent Saginaw physician, Dr. Archer Clayton, 73, and his wife, Marie, were discovered in their $50,000 ranch-style home last Thursday. Both had been shot in the back of the head, with a pillow used to muffle the sound. Their hands were tied behind them.

EMPTY MONEY BAG

The Claytons were Negro, the Middelfords white.

Robert Currie, Saginaw County prosecutor, would not speculate on the possibility of any relationship between the slayings.

Robbery may have been the motive in the Middeldorf slayings, Currie said, because an empty bank money bag and an empty jar which may also have contained money were found in the home.

In the Clayton killings, no money was reported missing and the home bore no signs of having been disturbed.

The locale of both slaying cases is a racially mixed neighborhood in Saginaw, an east-central lower Michigan city of 98,200 residents.

Teen's Bomb Rips Window

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP)—Police said a teenager's homemade bomb blew out a window Sunday in the home of a Baptist minister involved in a controversy over the showing of a film about Negroes at a high school.

The minister, his wife, and their three children were asleep. No one was injured. Damage was slight.

A boy, 16, living in the neighborhood was cited for exploding the bomb—a baby food jar filled with black gunpowder and set off by a six-foot fuse. It had been placed on the window sill.

Police said the boy admitted doing it because the minister was involved in controversy and "it would make a good stunt."

The Rev. Elliott Paulsen, president of the Union City School District board, had objected to the showing of "Nothing but a Man," to English pupils at Logan High School. The boy is a pupil there.

The minister said the film is objectionable to Southern Baptists and contained swear words. The movie depicts a Negro's life in the South.

"The bomb was directly related to the film controversy," the minister said. "Students have been encouraged to make statements against me and to boo and heckle me at meetings by some teachers."

The boy will appear later in juvenile court.

47 Senators Back Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty-seven senators proposed today a special federal income tax credit of up to $325 a year to lighten the expenses of higher education.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who with 46 cosponsors introduced the proposed tax relief measure, noted that the government has expanded greatly its aid to higher and vocational education through scholarships and loans.

"Now is the time to take the next step—and provide meaningful relief for the millions of American families who have received no help," he told the Senate.

Glasscock Grand Jury Empanelled

GARDEN CITY — Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, empanelled a grand jury here today to consider two felony complaints.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that a charge of DWI second offense against Paul Edward Clevenger and a charge of burglary against Joan Elliott were the only cases he would present to the grand jury for consideration.

Judge Caton had also set a civil jury docket for the day.

LIVES OF THREE TEENS SNUFFED OUT 32 Die Violently In Texas

Traffic accidents—the worst of which saw the lives of three teenagers snuffed out when their car was hit by a Rock Island freight train—were the big killer, in a violence-plagued weekend in Texas.

Traffic deaths accounted for 23 victims. At least 32 persons died violently over the weekend.

The Associated Press count of weekend violence began at 6 p.m. Friday and ran through midnight Sunday night.

The car-train crash in the Panhandle happened Sunday afternoon. The victims—Patricia Blanchard, 16; Lewis Dan Blanchard, 15, and Teddy Joe Blanchard, 14—all were children of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Blanchard. Blanchard is a Stratford city employe.

FROZE ON TRACKS

"The kids apparently froze on the track's," said the train's engineer, Jack D. Wilkinson of Dalhart.

"I saw it coming," he said. Maj. Frederic P. Jeffery, 34, of March Air Force Base, Riverside, Calif., was killed Sunday night when his automobile ran out of control and overturned four miles north of Waco on State Highway 6. Jeffery had been visiting his family at Valley Mills, Tex., and was en route back to California.

Two men were killed Sunday when their car failed to make a curve and ran off US 90 about two-tenths of a mile east of Cline. Killed were Phillip Michael Horton and David L. Astley, both stationed at Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio.

ELECTROCUTED

Tim Howard Jones, 15, of San Antonio was electrocuted Saturday when a television aerial he was carrying touched a power line in the backyard of his home.

B. Rijido Torres Canales, 25, of Tivoli was killed Saturday night when his pickup truck and another vehicle collided head-on near Port Lavaca in Calhoun County.

Claude W. Hannah, 55, of Balcliff and Eanda Estelle Knight, 10, of Houston were killed and three other persons injured in the head-on collision of two passenger cars south of Conroe on Interstate 45 Saturday night.

A two-car collision late Saturday night killed Remijo Garza, 18, of Mission. The wreck happened on US 83 in the Lower Rio Grande city.

Mrs. Elis Allen, 68, of Denison was fatally injured in a three-car collision on Farm Road 69 in Travis County late Friday night.

Morris W. Newman, 81, and his wife, Mrs. Willie Adaline Newman, 74, of Hollis, Okla., were killed Saturday in the head-on collision of two cars on Highway US 287 near Electra. Two other persons were injured.

SHOT TO DEATH

Jimmy W. Vandiver, 50, was found shot to death Saturday at his home in Hawkins. Officers said he was killed when a gun he was cleaning apparently discharged accidentally.

Mrs. Mildred May, 37, of Fort Worth was raped and choked to death by an unknown assailant Friday night or early Saturday. Her nude and battered body was discovered on a Trinity River levee in the east part of the city Saturday afternoon.

Jerry Wayne Quinn, 27, of Edna died after his car ran off a farm road near El Campo Friday night. Officers said he drowned after he fell or was thrown from his car into a water-filled ditch.

Final Tryouts Set For Play

Final try-outs for youngsters seeking a place in the Little Theatre production of the "Wizard of Oz" will be at 7:30 p.m. today in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

This round is primarily for children who were out of town during the regular tryout periods during the weekend.

Adults who will be willing to help with backstage work are asked to sign up this evening.

Although tryouts were restricted to children in the fourth grade and above, 61 tried for places during the weekend. Twenty will be chosen for the cast, and competition was rated as terrific.

Princess Margaret Gets Med Checkup

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret, Queen Elizabeth's sister, left King Edward VII hospital today after five days of what was officially described as a medical checkup.

MONAHANS CRASH

A two-car head-on collision on State 18 near Monahans Sunday afternoon claimed the lives of G. D. (Buster) Pipkin, 59, of Kermit, and Emterio Granado Cadena, 36, of Grandfalls. Officers said Cadena was attempting to pass another car when the collision happened.

Mrs. Mary Powell Parker, 18, of Pasadena died Sunday night of injuries suffered earlier in the day in a bizarre automobile wreck. Investigators said Mrs. Parker's car hit head-on another vehicle on State 225 1.5 miles west of LaPorte. Her husband, Barto Laverne Parker, 23, driving behind his wife, slammed into the other automobile but was unhurt.

Skin Benefits From Gentle Sauna Vapor

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely asks: Does steaming really benefit the skin? Would it help my dry skin? My teen daughter's oily condition? Do you recommend the use of an electric facial sauna for the purpose?

The Answer: All types of skin benefit from gentle steaming. The activity of steam deepens the pores and rouses circulation. The end result of regular steaming is a far clearer, more radiant complexion.

Beauties Introduced At Sweetheart Ball

The first Beta Sigma Phi Sweetheart Ball in Big Spring was held Saturday evening at Cosden Country Club with over 400 persons attending.

Jim Baum served as master of ceremonies, and dance music was supplied by Dewey and the Varieties.

The ten sweethearts were introduced by Baum. A brief description of their sorority and other activities was given as they came through a heart-shaped archway on the stage.

The three representatives from Big Spring chapters were Mrs. Oakley Haygood, Xi Mu; Mrs. Jim Murphy, Beta Omicron; and Mrs. Robert Sandner, Xi Zeta.

Local BSP Sweethearts

Reigning over Saturday evening's BSP Sweetheart Ball to benefit the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center were, from left, Mrs. Robert Sandner, Mrs. Oakley Haygood and Mrs. Jim Murphy.

Valentine motif was used in decorations. Clusters of pink balloons hung from the ceiling, and cupid cut-outs were placed on all tables.

The dance was sponsored by the BSP City Council, and the proceeds will be announced.

Debate Rages: Should Reds Be Immune From U. S. Bombing?

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The American bombing offensive against North Vietnam is two years old Tuesday.

To date, it has cost the United States more than 400 pilots dead, captured or missing and 471 aircraft worth roughly $1 billion by Pentagon estimates.

In the wake of publicity and protests about the bombing, a great debate is raging. Is the bombing worth it? Or is the offensive, as some insist, largely a failure in achieving U.S. objectives?

Frequently North Vietnam hints that the bombing is the greatest single obstacle to negotiations on the Vietnam war. But Hanoi has failed to say what it would do to scale down the war if the offensive is halted.

CONFUSION

There are confusion and apparent contradiction in official statements about the effectiveness of the raids on the North.

Some say stop the bombing altogether. Others say restrictions on U.S. pilots create frustrations for them and sanctuaries for the enemy in the North. Some say the restrictions render ineffective the effort to impede infiltration of troops and supplies to the Viet Cong in the South.

President Johnson says the United States is "conducting the most careful and self-limited air war in history."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., leading Senate protests against restrictions, says: "One thing is sure. We must either fight or get out."

Here are some major complaints of U.S. pilots and other military men:

U.S. bombers use approved and known runs to established targets, and the North Vietnamese, aware of this, can concentrate heavy anti-aircraft fire.

U.S. airmen now are forbidden to bomb key targets in the North: industrial complexes, oil depots and the vital irrigation system, either because of a possibility of hitting civilians or because of prospective political complications.

BYPASS BARGES

U.S. pilots must bypass barges loaded with trucks and ammunition, must pass up enemy airfields crowded with Communist jet warplanes. One flier had to fly past barges unloading trucks and supplies which later I attacked, with questionable success, in the jungles of the Ho Chi Minh Trails."

After a tour of Vietnam recently, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reported a trend in the Communist North to disperse anti-aircraft batteries and key supply depots among heavily populated areas because the Communists know "our policy is not to attack populated areas per se." The net result, he said, was in some instances to make installations immune to attack.

BOMBINGS BARRED

Washington sources have reported the administration in January barred bomber flights from an area 10 miles in diameter over the center of Hanoi, which can be penetrated only if an American pilot is engaged in air combat with enemy fighters.

But one source said this hardly mattered because "we're so restricted anyway."

The Pentagon has not confirmed or denied these reports, nor one that the Air Force and Navy must have permission for each bombing raid within 30 miles of Hanoi. They can attack surface-to-air missile sites without explicit Defense Department approval, though the 10-mile diameter rule likely would hold in this case, too.

"HOT PURSUIT"

U.S. policy makers prefer not to bomb airfields in the North on grounds that it might force the North Vietnamese to use fields in Red China. It is argued that this could lead to "hot pursuit" across the border, thus raising a possibility of direct Chinese involvement in the war.

U.S. officers in Vietnam say this restriction threatens the American bombing offensive itself.

Officers say that since U.S. losses to MIG fighters totaled 10 planes in the year and a half since the first MIG encounter, it is conceivable that 10 planes and pilots would have been saved if airfields had been attacked at the outset.

However, they express more concern about the bombing offensive itself. The North Vietnamese, the argument goes, have used MIGs not so much to attack U.S. fighters as to menace bombers and force them to lighten loads by dropping bombs before targets are reached. Hence, they add, the MIG problem has been not so much one of pilot casualties as one of impeding the effectiveness of the bombing runs.

Many pilots say they want to bomb the MIG bases, four of which are in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

471 PLANES LOST?

As for losses, the Defense Department estimates the value of the planes at an average of $2 million each. This would be $942 million for 471 planes. The Pentagon declines to say exactly how many pilots were downed, but obviously all but a few of those lost were brought down over North Vietnam.

The losses — and Western visitors' reports of civilian casualties in the North — have fanned the embers of the debate, but the argument is not new. It dates back almost to the day the offensive began, Feb. 7, 1965.

The story was much the same on the first anniversary a year ago. In the first year 30,000 tons of bombs were dropped in 15,000 sorties, but troops and supplies continued to pour from north to south. The "main lesson was that planes would have to fly more often and drop many more bombs on a greater variety of targets if the raids were to serve their purpose."

Analysis at that time said:

"ASSIGNED" TARGETS

Pilots could destroy or neutralize "assigned" targets, but major targets were not assigned. Pilots were restricted to bridges and vehicles on eight major highways, rail lines, rolling stock, ferries, barges, power plants and the like.

In the second year of the offensive, the number of sorties increased sharply. The U.S. command discontinued announcing "sorties" — one attack by one plane — against the North. But Saigon sources say 90,000 or more in the second year would be a reasonably good estimate.

Since late December, however, restrictions on the U.S. pilots have been even greater, possibly because of publicity resulting from the visits of Western newsmen and others to Hanoi, and their reports on civilian casualties. No bombs have fallen on the Hanoi suburbs since the Dec. 13-14 attacks on a truck depot and rail yard there. The depot and yard now are off limits.

The bombing offensive was launched two years ago as an announced response to a major Viet Cong terror attack on U.S. installations at Pleiku, staged at a time when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was in Hanoi talking to Ho Chi Minh's regime. The bombing was described as a retaliation, and also as an effort to make the war too expensive for Hanoi and to halt infiltration of troops and supplies from the North to the Viet Cong.

CONFUSING

How effective has the offensive been? The estimates are confusing.

Last June 29 U.S. bombers hit fuel depots in the Hanoi-Haiphong areas. The Pentagon said the depots represented 60 per cent of the North's strategic oil supplies and commented: "The price of the war has gone up." But it also said only 15 per cent of the North petroleum facilities had been knocked out.

On June 30, House Speaker

John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said the bombing would "seriously affect the ability of the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese to carry on guerrilla and military activities." Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said: "We're absolutely astounded at the real precision results" and that 66 per cent of petroleum storage facilities in the North had been reached "right on target."

But on July 9, U.S. officials conceded that the oil depot near Haiphong had been much less severely hit than originally claimed.

SHARP DROP

A week later, Cyrus R. Vance, deputy defense secretary, reported about two thirds of the North's oil storage capacity destroyed. He conceded the raids could not completely shut off the flow of men and munitions to the South but could "impose a ceiling, and we believe it will do so."

Nieporte Needed It, Wins Desert Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — It was something out of the book of golfing miracles, the stunning upset victory of Tom Nieporte over Doug Sanders in the $110,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

It was a triumph for a 37-year-old teaching professional who seldom plays the money tournaments and never was famous during the five years he journeyed over the nation on the PGA tour. His PGA winnings last year were $890.

But this likeable, good-looking father of seven, with an eighth expected at his winter home in Boca Raton, Fla., came through under pressure to win an admittedly welcome $17,600.

CRUCIAL BIRDIE
He broke a tie with Sanders on the 18th green with a 12-foot putt for a birdie, a final round 69 and a 90-hole score of 349, 11 strokes under par.

The resplendent Sanders, playing behind the 6-foot-1, 185-pound Nieporte, had two holes to catch up.

Doug, seeking his second Classic win in a row here, came close on two long putts for birdies but couldn't get them.

The tournament concluded the winter swing through California. The $70,000 Phoenix Open in Arizona follows this weekend. But Nieporte left Monday for home and then three tournaments in the Caribbean.

FAVORITES FADE
Such gallery favorites as Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer faded from attention as the final round went down to the wire between Sanders and Nieporte.

Nicklaus's 72 gave him 355. Casper had a 71 for 356 and Palmer dropped out of sight with 73 for 362.

Chi Chi Rodriguez finished third at 354 and tied with Nicklaus were Paul Harney, Bert Yancey and George Archer.

The 356 group included Bob Charles, Dale Douglass and Casper.

Sanders had a one-stroke lead over Nieporte as play began at the par-72 La Quinta Country Club, with an estimated 30,000 fans swarming over the place.

Sands Junior Cagers Win

FLOWER GROVE — The Sands junior high cagers edged Klondike 41-40 here Saturday night in a playoff match to decide the representative of the North half of the district, who will meet Stanton in a best two of three series next week.

Johnny Pugh banged the bucket for 27 points, dropping in 10 field goals and seven charity tosses for the winners. Elridge dropped in 15 points, including six hoops from the field to lead scoring for the losers.

The playoff with Stanton, winner of the South half of the district, begins Feb. 16 at Sands and the second game will be Feb. 18 at Stanton. If a third game is needed, it will be staged Feb. 21 at Grady.

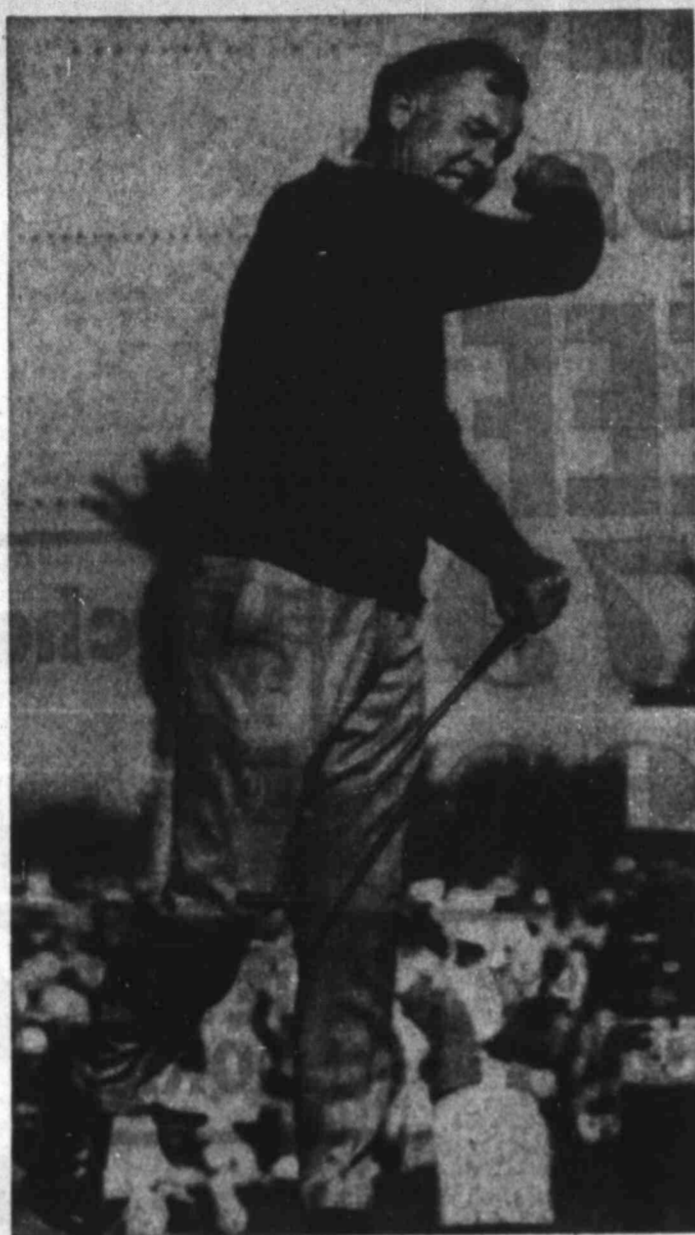

The victory gave Sands a 17-3 season record.
In a practice game, the Sands girls beat Union 35-31, with Jan Nichols scoring 26 points, and Cohorn for Union hitting 16 points. The win gave the Sands girls a 14-6 season mark. Union had previously won the North half of the district in girls' competition.

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Points. Includes names like Pugh, Elridge, and others.

Matson Beats Steinhauer

By The Associated Press
Neil Steinhauer is off the mark with his shot putting and Bob Seagren hasn't set a pole vault record in more than a week now, but little Gerry Lindgren might be ready for his turn at the indoor track record book. Lindgren whizzed to a two-mile victory in 8:31.6 at the Seattle Invitational Saturday night, that clocking is dangerously close to Ron Clarke's indoor two-mile record of 8:28.8, and by far the best time of the season.

Steinhauer, meanwhile, finally got his long-awaited rematch with Randy Matson in the indoor shotput, but this time the script was different.
Matson of Texas A&M came up with a heave of 66-10 1/4 inches on his final throw, at San Diego, Calif., giving him the victory over Steinhauer of the University of Oregon, who a month ago dealt Matson his first defeat in the event since the 1964 Olympics. Steinhauer had a best toss of 66-2 1/4.

Rice Is Surprise In S'west Race

By The Associated Press
Look who is up there among the leaders in the Southwest Conference! Rice, the team that won only two conference games in the last two years.

Because the Owls had a resurgence this season under new Coach Don Knodel, defending champion Southern Methodist had a 1 1/2-game lead over Texas Christian and Baylor today.
The fractional margin will disappear Tuesday night after Baylor and Texas Christian finish playing at Fort Worth. The two second-place teams have 4-2 records and Southern Methodist is 6-1.

CRUCIAL FOR BEARS
It is the first of two crucial

PACHALL HAS HOLE IN ONE

Richard Pachall tasted the heady stuff Saturday in a hole in one.
Playing in a foursome composed of himself, Daryle Hohertz, Ted Gross and Roy Hughes, Richard fired a nine-iron shot from No. 7 tee. The ball arched dead to the pin and rolled in. It was Pachall's first hole in one.

FAVORITES WIN

Southern Cal Almost Pulls Upset By Extending UCLA

By The Associated Press
Southern California, once a warm spot on UCLA's schedule, turned suddenly cool last week and almost froze the top-ranked Bruins out of college basketball's unbeaten ranks.
Only a thaw during an overtime period enabled the Bruins to overcome the Trojans 40-35 Saturday, run their victory string to 17 and avoid the upset of the season.
The rest of the Top Ten scored relatively easy victories, except ninth-ranked Vanderbilt, which fell victim to hot-handed Florida 83-75.
Highly-regarded Tennessee also had problems, losing to Mississippi 66-53 in overtime, and remained in an 8-2 tie with Vanderbilt for the Southeastern Conference lead.

NEAR TIE
UCLA remained the only major school with a perfect record when Toledo lost to Marshall 96-81, the Rockets' first defeat after 14 triumphs.
USC came within one last shot of leaving the perfect list vacant after two free throws by Lucius Allen tied the score for UCLA at 31-31 with 2:19 left in regulation basketball games this week for Baylor. Saturday afternoon the Bears clash with Southern Methodist in Dallas. A pair of Baylor victories would move the Bears into a first-place tie with the Mustangs.

Rice and Southern Methodist are the only conference teams to defeat Baylor and Texas Christian this year. The script was the same in each case.
The Mustangs edged Baylor 85-83 in overtime Tuesday, Jan. 3. Four nights later, a Saturday, the Bears lost to Rice at Houston 89-81.
Last Tuesday Southern Methodist nipped Texas Christian 89-88. Then on Saturday the Owls, playing at home again, struck the second blow at the Frogs 89-81.

OWLS VS HORNS

These were two of Rice's three victories in six conference games and gave the owls a tie with Texas for fourth place. The Longhorns and the Owls play at Austin Tuesday night and the winner will gain a tie for third place.
Rice's 6-10 season record is the fourth best of the eight conference teams. So far for a team that won only three of 47 games in the two previous years and at one time had a 30-game losing streak, the Owls no longer can be taken lightly.

HCJC HAWKS FAVORED OVER FRANK PHILLIPS HERE TODAY

Howard County Junior College's Hawks, fresh from a revival in the Western Junior College conference, return at 7:30 p.m. here today as favorites to clip Frank Phillips of Borger.

Frank Phillips has a 28-game streak going—but in reverse. Until the Hawks came alive suddenly Saturday evening, Frank Phillips might have been accorded a chance of breaking that long losing streak. But against N.M.M.I. here Saturday, HCJC snapped an almost unprecedented five-game losing skid and plastered the Cadets 111-71. This was more than 30 points above the Hawks' average scoring record. HCJC is now 13-11 for the season and 4-2 in conference play.

Last Friday, South Plains of Levelland beat Frank Phillips by an 89-74 count. Dan and Dale Dawson led the charge for Phillips and are expected to be the chief threats here this evening.

Dodd Swaps Jobs At Georgia Tech

ATLANTA (AP)—Bobby Dodd retired as football coach at Georgia Tech today after a successful 22-year campaign in which the Yellow Jackets won 165 games and went to 13 bowls.

The coach, 58, will remain as athletic director of the school where he has spent his entire coaching career. No replacement as coach was named at once.

Dodd's retirement came as somewhat of a surprise, although there were reports already last fall that the 1966 season would be his last.

The tall, slender, head man of the Yellow Jackets has been in poor health in recent months.

Dodd closed out his coaching career with one of his finest teams last fall. The Yellow Jackets won their first nine games before losing to Georgia and then losing to Florida in the Orange Bowl.

That left Dodd with a career coaching mark of 165 victories, 64 losses and 8 ties. Nine of his bowl teams won.

Dodd's retirement at this late date would indicate Tech probably will promote a coach within its ranks to the head job. Top candidates on the staff

BOBBY DODD Leaves coaching include Jack Griffin, with Tech since 1954 and in charge of the offense; and Bud Carson, who took charge of the defense when he joined Tech a year ago.

Ferrari Is Back Again

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ferrari, dethroned as king of road racing in 1966, is back on top.

Stung by Ford victories at Daytona and LeMans a year ago, Enzo Ferrari brought a carefully prepared set of new 12-cylinder models to Daytona International Speedway, and the brilliant Red Ferraris crossed the finish line first, second and third in the 24-hour Daytona Continental Sunday.

Lorenzo Bandini of Italy and Chris Amon of New Zealand were first, and Mike Parkes of England and Ludovico Scarfiotti of Italy were three laps — 11 miles — back in the sister car.

The third Ferrari, a rebuilt 1966 model nearly matching the new ones, was 110 miles behind. Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico and Jean Guichet of France lost ground with mechanical trouble in the closing hours. But everyone else had trouble too, and they held their place.

The fourth place Porsche 6, driven by Hans Hermann of Germany and Jo Siffert of Switzerland was 183 miles back of the winner.

Collins And Hubbard Win

Roy Collins and Harry Hubbard set the pace for a large field in the Big Spring Country Club Sunday afternoon, firing a winning 58-strokes for their round in the partnership tournament.

This was one stroke better than Jerry Barrow and Jim Welch.

Other winning teams were Bob Smith and Jim Walker, 60; Hack Spivey and Bob Waters, 61; Al Kloven and Bob Bell, 62; Tom Butler and Ronny Hill, 63. The team composed of Fred Morgan and Jim Norman tied with Chub Jones and Dick Pfeiffer with a 64 for seventh place.

Ralph Smith won the individual scoring title with a 70 and got four golf balls; Al Kloven came next with a 71 and received three balls; and Rick Terry and Jerry Hill, with 72's, were tied for third and got a pair of balls each. Bunched with 73's were Roy Collins, Jack Wallace, Jerry Barrow and Bill Schwarzenbach, each receiving one ball.

Most of the golfers had cleared the course before the high wind struck late Sunday afternoon. Only a few were caught going against it, and several came in with the wind at their backs. Seventy-two golfers participated in the tournament.

HCJC Queens Capture Third

The HCJC Queens captured third place in the Hardin-Simmons basketball tournament Saturday evening, edging the hosts by a 65-63 count.

HCJC beat Hill County Junior College 88-22 in the opening round, they lost to Temple, winner of the tournament over Ranger, by 55-41.

In the first game Sidney Black got 18 points. Jody Dodd 12. Patsy Jones 18 and Gloria Garcia 11. Against Temple, Black had 19, Dodd 12 and Jones 11. In the final round Jones hopped 27 points, Dodd 21 and Black 12.

The Queens go to Ranger Friday for a game and on to Weatherford Junior College Saturday morning.

Battle Of Words Moves Into Ring At Astrodome Tonight

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay calls Ernie Terrell "a one-armed bandit." Terrell calls Clay "an incomplete fighter." They both may be right, but tonight they will battle for the undisputed heavyweight championship of the world and the millions that often go with boxing's richest prize.

Clay, 25, undefeated and generally regarded as the world champion, is a 4-1 favorite over a 27-year-old foe who has won 15 straight fights and is recognized as the titleholder by the World Boxing Association.

"I'm going to punish him," says Clay. "He's going to receive a Floyd Patterson humiliation beating."

The 6-foot-3 Clay gave Patterson a torturous whipping before the referee stopped that slaughter in the 12th round of their title bout Nov. 22, 1965.

TERRELL TALKS BACK

"He doesn't bug me like he has some of the others he's whipped," said the 6-foot-6 Terrell. "His mouth isn't going to help him against me. I know I can beat him out. And the beauty of it is that I'm going to get paid for it."

Clay will collect about $750,000 and Terrell will earn upwards of $250,000 for this long awaited fight.

A crowd of 35,000 may pay about $400,000 at prices ranging from $5 to $100 for Clay's eighth title defense and sixth within 11 months. The site is the magnificent Astrodome which can seat 60,000 for a fight.

The big money, however, will come from closed circuit telecasts to arenas and theaters in the United States and Canada, the live hookup by the communication satellites to England and Japan, radio, and the delayed tape telecasts in 24 other countries.

PREACHER SUNDAY, BATTLER TODAY Muhammad Ali emerges from Mosque speaking

Local fight fans may see the fight live over cable TV Channel 5 at 9 p.m. today. The cable company bought closed circuit rights on the fight.

It will be the first event to be beamed simultaneously to both Europe and Asia by the satellites.

The telecast will be beamed to 165 locations in 130 cities in the United States, to 13 cities in Canada, and over 69 community antenna systems.

Clay will collect 50 per cent of all receipts. Terrell will receive 20 percent of the Astrodome gate and 17 1/2 per cent of the ancillary rights.

The fight will start about 10:30 p.m., EST.

Clay, a pro since October, 1960, has racked up a 27-0 record including 22 knockouts.

He won the title on a seventh round technical knockout of Sonny Liston on Feb. 25, 1964 and has beaten Liston (1), Patterson (12), George Chuvalo (15), Henry Cooper (5), Brian London (3), Karl Mildenberger (12) and Cleveland Williams (3), in title defenses.

The third round knockout of the once-feared Williams was performed in the same Astrodome last Nov. 14 before a record indoor fight crowd of 35,480 that paid $461,290.

Terrell, a pro since 1957, has a 39-4 record including 18 knockouts. He has been stopped once, by Williams in the seventh round on April 3, 1962 in Houston.

Williams at the time was rated the hardest hitter in the heavyweight division.

Terrell, who relies on a piston-like left jab, avenged that defeat by outpointing the Big Cat a year later in Philadelphia.

Celtics Come Alive, Now Challenging Philadelphia

By The Associated Press

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics are racing at top speed and fans are shouting "They're off" in the team's stretch drive to overtake the Philadelphia 76ers in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

"We're running more and, as a result, getting more shots — just the way we've done in the past," Boston player-coach Bill Russell said Sunday after the Celtics' 137-121 romp over the Cincinnati Royals.

The free-wheeling Celtics exploded for 71 points in the first half and breezed to their 12th victory in 13 games, as well as their sixth straight over Cincinnati this season.

SLOW START
The Celtics started out slowly against the Royals in their nationally-televised game, falling behind 10-4. They closed the gap to one point, 19-18, at the eight-minute mark.

Then Cincinnati ace Oscar Robertson suffered a split lip in a rebounding jam with Boston's John Havlicek. The Big O required six stitches and sat out the rest of the way, with his mates becoming disorganized in his absence.
Russell turned playmaker as the Celtics pulled away from a 22-28 first period lead. He set up six field goals with nifty passes in the second quarter and made only a token appearance after that.

Detroit, paced by Dave Bing, stopped St. Louis 114-104 on the Pistons' home court in another Sunday afternoon game. San Francisco nipped Chicago 142-141 in overtime and Philadelphia topped Los Angeles 130-123 in Sunday night games.

BING ON TARGET
Bing tossed in 32 points, including eight in a last quarter drive that clinched it, as Detroit scored its first victory over the Hawks in six meetings this year.

Bob Boozer's two free throws tied the score at 127-127 for the Bulls at the end of regulation time, and a tip-in by Nate Thurmond with four seconds to go won it for San Francisco at Chicago. San Francisco's Rick Barry had 48 points.

Hal Greer threw in 35 points for the 76ers who got double-figure scoring from five other players in winning at Los Angeles.

The Lakers made a bid in the final two minutes, cutting the lead to 126-121. But two foul shots by Green and Chamberlain's basket clinched it for Philadelphia. Jerry West scored 26, Walt Hazzard 25 and Elgin Baylor 24 for the Lakers.

OHL OUT
Baltimore was idle Sunday, but discovered it will lose the services of team high-scorer Don Ohl for the rest of the season. Ohl, who has averaged 20.9 points a game, will undergo surgery to remove a torn cartilage from his right knee.

In Saturday's games, Baltimore beat Cincinnati 109-99, New York nipped Detroit 102-101, St. Louis took Chicago 119-111 and Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 140-127.

A Look At West Texas Due At 'Infocade' In Odessa

The economic outlook for West Texas and a look at the legislative "inside" of Washington and Austin will be featured at the annual Infocade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce when sessions are held in three West Texas cities February 15, 16 and 17.

Odessa is the site of the Infocade on February 16. George McCleskey, Lubbock attorney and vice president of the WTCC, will present the economic picture of West Texas as compiled from authoritative sources.

Weldon Hart, experienced legislative observer and executive vice president of the Texas Good Roads Association, Austin, will present a look at "Inside Austin," an analysis of pending and prospective legislation of importance to West Texas business.

LEGISLATION
Federal legislation which may come before Congress during this session will be discussed by Tom Martin, executive vice president of Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association in Washington, D. C.

At the Odessa meeting, the role of women and youth in the WTCC will be discussed by a panel composed of Mrs. B. F. Seay, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. J. J. Kirchhoff, of Plainville, who is chairman of the WTCC women's activities committee; Mrs. Dorothy McBride, member of the Alpine city council; Miss Linda Louterback, Lubbock and a student at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene; J. C. Nickens, Odessa Permian high school student and other college and high school students from the area.

WORKSHOPS
Workshops for voluntary leaders in chamber of commerce work will be conducted in each of the Infocade cities during the afternoon. Four sessions have been scheduled: presidents and other officers, directors and committee chairmen, publicity committees and chamber executives.

Keynote speaker for the workshop participants at Odessa will be Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of Big Spring's First Methodist Church.

Mac Hudgins, president of Texas Savings and Loan, Monahan and past president of the Monahan chamber of commerce will lead the workshop for chamber presidents and other officers.

Items which will be listed in the report, all of which are acceptable, it is said, as proof of the Knott area's work in Community Improvement, will include the outside volleyball tournament sponsored by the community in March; organization of the Little League in May; cemetery cleanup and Knott Homecoming celebration in June; blood bank organization in July; mail box paintup and repair project in September; repair job on gym roof in October and erection of the Texas Electric Service Co. Community Improvement sign in December.

Knott Reports On Projects

KNOTT — Knott Community organization will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to prepare and sign its final reports in the Community Improvement Program it has been pursuing.

The reports will be sent to the judges on which the decision will be made if the community has won the award it sought.

All members of the community are asked to attend the meeting in the community building.

Items which will be listed in the report, all of which are acceptable, it is said, as proof of the Knott area's work in Community Improvement, will include the outside volleyball tournament sponsored by the community in March; organization of the Little League in May; cemetery cleanup and Knott Homecoming celebration in June; blood bank organization in July; mail box paintup and repair project in September; repair job on gym roof in October and erection of the Texas Electric Service Co. NY Tugboat Men Gain 30-Hour Work Week

NEW YORK (AP)—New York harbor tugboat men have ratified a contract giving them the equivalent of a 30-hour work week and have ended a week-long strike.

The contract provides that the 3,400 men will receive 16 hours pay for 12 hours worked. Thus, the cut in the work week will not reduce their take-home pay.

The three-year contract with the New York Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Association was approved unanimously Sunday by the United Marine Division Local, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union.

The men operate about 450 tugboats, small tankers and other harbor craft owned by 40 companies that are members of the association. Their vessels began moving in the harbor late Sunday. The strike had created problems for the steamship lines, which had to sail and dock their ships without the aid of tugs, and for city officials who were concerned with the supplies of fuel oil and construction materials and with the disposal of sludge from sewage plants which is towed to sea on barges and dumped.

Joseph O'Hare, president of the local, said the tugboat men's contract was "a major breakthrough for the entire labor movement." He said the men won all their demands.

The major objective won by the union was a fourth complete crew for each tugboat in 24-hour service.

Up to now, except for one company, the tugboats had been operated with three crews formed from the boat's complements which usually ranged up to 12 men. Two crews remained aboard, with the men working two six-hour shifts a day, while the third crew had shore leave. The old system gave the men one day off for every two days worked.

A Devotional For The Day

(Enoch) had this testimony, that he pleased God. (Hebrews 11:5)
PRAYER: O God, with whom we would walk day by day, keep us from yielding to our easy desires or conforming to worldly ways. May we please Thee; and pleasing Thee, enjoy the peace of an utter trust in Thee. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
 (From the 'Upper Room')

Full Benefits For Vietnam Vets

President Johnson is unlikely to have any trouble in Congress getting the full benefits he has requested for veterans of the war in Vietnam. This has always been one area of public policy where Congress' sense of patriotism has overcome its sense of economy, and few Americans will argue with that.
 Congress first adopted a policy of broad benefits for veterans—educational training, housing loans, medical care, disability compensation, pensions and insurance—after World War II. And generally it is believed that those benefits contributed more to the nation's social progress and economic development than they cost the taxpayers. But even if they had not, they would have been justified as compensation for hazardous service to the country.
 There was no serious controversy over extending World War II veterans' benefits to veterans of the Korean war, a conflict fought under United Nations' auspices. Earlier the status of veterans of the Vietnam war was less clear, because it was not an officially declared war. That fiction is now so thin, however, that it is not likely to figure importantly in the President's request. A 1966 GI Bill has already extended partial benefits. The Vietnam veterans certainly deserve the requested equal benefits, and they will surely get them.

 Congress may give more critical attention to the second part of President Johnson's proposal, which is to increase various phases of benefits for veterans of all wars. This will involve a large and long-term outlay, and what the nation can afford will have to be weighed against other budget priorities. The probable prospect is, however, that the President's broader proposal will be met in full or nearly so.

Right To Vote

The response of Howard County people to appeals for vote registration is heartening.
 While we held no brief for the poll tax, for a long time we contended that the mere charge of $1.50 was no real deterrent to voters in qualifying their right of franchise.
 But even in our most heated presidential election years we couldn't get this many people to obtain poll tax receipts or exemption certificates.

Now, in an "off" year (that is no primaries or general elections scheduled), we have about 11,000 who qualified in Howard County.

From this, it would appear that it can no longer be argued that the poll tax was not some sort of deterrent to registration. And if it was, we're glad it's gone and that more and more people are protecting their right to vote.

John Cunniff Chase Gambles Its Prestige

NEW YORK (AP)—In a battle of financial giants, the Chase Manhattan Bank is waging a banner of leadership that might have all the other giants trailing along behind. Chase has lowered its interest rate sharply.

CHASE IS pretty much by itself in this battle. If others follow, Chase will have won a proud victory. If nobody follows, as at present, Chase may have to turn, hang its head and pull up the rear—that is, raise its rates a fraction.

Much depends on whether American business turns up or down in the next few weeks. If demand for money increases Chase may lose. If demand diminishes for loans at present high rates Chase will have won. Other banks then will have to lower their rates.

A LOT OF businessmen are betting that Chase will be a victor and that, in winning, it will raise its prestige.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

"The true test of civilization," Emerson wrote, "is not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops—but the kind of man a country turns out."
 Our country, our political and economic systems, we are proud to say, measure well against Emerson's standard.

Still, the challenge of the new year and every year, is to produce yet a better American—one who has self-discipline, individual initiative and individual courage.

This better American would not shirk his duty on his job, to his family or to his country. He would have the keenest respect for the rights of his fellow citizens, even to speak ideas with which he disagrees.

He would be a leader and he would remember that a leader is one who does more for his community than is expected.

The better American will have the courage of his convictions. He will not listen to the demagogic appeals.

And he will take an active part in the hard and always controversial job of self-government, because he realizes that every citizen, as George Washington once noted, owes more to his country than his taxes.

He will be able to accept change, for it is inevitable, while saving the tested traditions and truths of the past.

He will be a patient citizen, capable of shouldering the great frustrations that fall upon the people of powerful nations.

This better American will work to earn and pay for whatever he receives. He will test his reactions by placing himself in the other fellow's shoes.

He will be understanding of young people as they seek their own answers for the problems that confront every new generation.

This challenge of better citizenship can't be met alone by government, or the churches, or our schools. Instead, each individual must strive to achieve his own potential—to be the best worker, the best parent, the best supporter of his community, the best American.
 —ST. PETERSBURG (Fla.) TIMES

throughout the world and its assets too. Intentionally or not, the battle is turning into one of face and prestige in a business in which face and prestige count highly.

Chase created this situation by dropping its prime interest rate 1/2 per cent. This means that the very best lending risks in the country—the very best corporate customers—can borrow at Chase for 5 1/2 per cent.

ONE HALF PER CENT? It means very little in most areas of life. Multiply it by the billions of dollars lent in the United States each year and it runs into many millions of dollars.

So vital is this fraction that no other large bank in the nation has matched it. The rest have lowered their rates to 5 3/4 per cent.

This means that Chase, if it holds out, will gradually attract some of the most substantial customers in America. And an increase in Chase's financial situation could begin to make a change in alignment of the top three banks.

AT THE FIRST of the year, Chase stood second to Bank of America in deposits. It had $12,913,118,932 compared to Bank of America's $14,937,130,457. Chase is now in a position to reduce, but not eliminate, that gap.

But how will loans increase deposits? In this way: money lent to a corporation will be maintained by Chase in a deposit account until it is used.

More important at the moment, this rate difference could widen the gap between Chase and its biggest New York rival, First National City Bank, which had $11,948,824,000 on deposit and had been gaining on Chase.

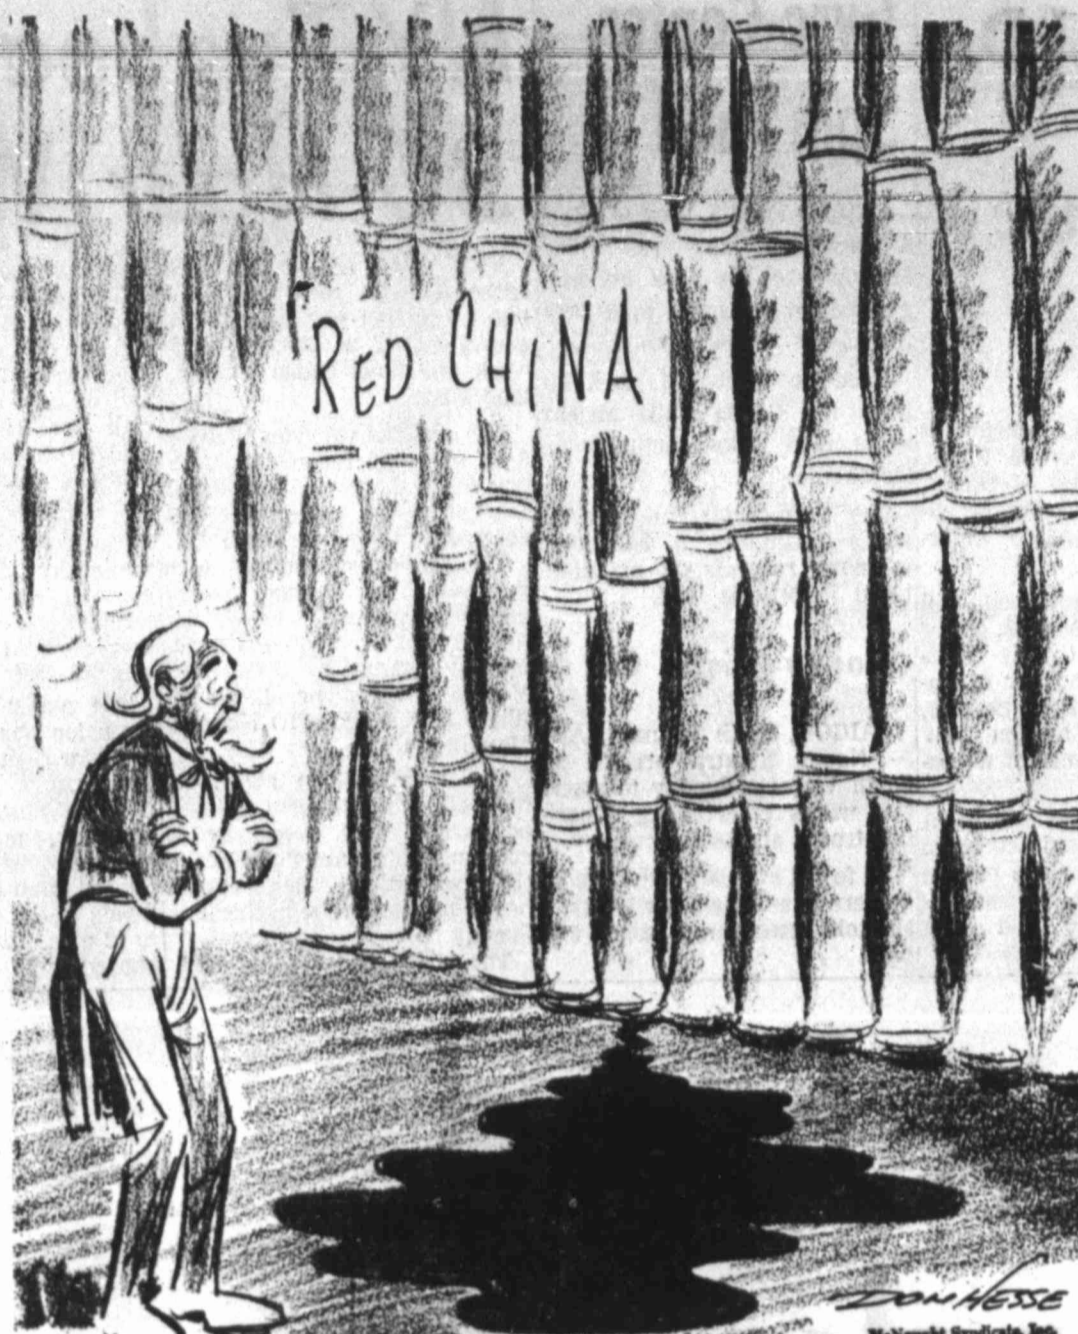

LOANS ALSO build assets, which are another measure of size, strength and prestige. Bank of America had $18.2 billion of assets—loans, property, etc.—at the first of the year. Chase had $16 billion and First City $15.1 billion. This alignment is close enough to change one day.

Billy Graham

I am harassed with fears because I worry so much about world affairs. At times I get in such a state that I doubt there is a God. Can you help me? F. H.
 Your doubt is the reason for your fear. They always go together. Jesus said, "Let not your heart be troubled. . . ye believe in God." The greatest panacea for fear is faith, but doubt is the creator of despair.
 There is no doubt about it, these are times that try men's souls. If fear has ever been justified, it is now. The world seems to be at an impasse, and everywhere we look we see cause for concern and anxiety. But someone has said: "When the outlook is dark, the uplook is always bright." This is the hour to say with David, "I will look away unto the hills from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord."
 So my suggestion to you is this: Look up! Put your faith and trust in God! I see what is happening in the world, but I have staked my life on Him who holds the whole wide world in his hands. Stay on the side of Him who will ultimately triumph, and your worry will dissolve like the mist of the morning. "Fear hath torments," but have faith in God!

'WONDER WHO'S DOING THE BLEEDING?'

James Marlow 'Mr. X' Had Good Vision

WASHINGTON (AP)—George F. Kennan is a good example of how the world has changed in 20 years. It's not so tense but it's still puzzled, even if Kennan doesn't seem to be.
 In 1947 Kennan—signing himself "Mr. X"—suggested in the magazine Foreign Affairs that the United States halt communism by adopting a tough, go-no-further policy. He was then director of the State Department's policy planning staff.

THE UNITED STATES adopted the policy, which goes under the nice-Nettie name "Containment," and has followed it since.

In 1947 Stalin was still alive and the Chinese Communists were only two years away from taking over the China mainland. Gone was any postwar hope that East-West problems could be settled by sweet reasonableness.

The Soviet Union had gobbled up the East European countries, turning them into a batch of communized, subservient satellites. The Soviets were pressuring Turkey. Red guerrillas had tried to take over Greece. And the U.S.S.R. was using West European Communist parties to work their way in France and Italy.

IT WAS a tense, grim, dark time. But the idea of getting tough with the Soviets wasn't new with Kennan. He happened to speak up at the right time to get action.

As early as 1945, fed up with Stalin, President Harry S. Truman said it was time to stop babying the Soviets. And Winston Churchill, in his "iron curtain" speech of 1946, urged the West to stop the U.S.S.R. in its tracks.

KENNAN regarded his "containment" proposal as a temporary necessity. He was optimistic about the future. He thought that if this country put the Soviets under enough pressure they would eventually be forced into moderation. The "gradual mellowing of Soviet power," he called it.

The United States created the Marshall Plan for bailing Western Europe out of poverty and made a series of military alliances around the world, the strongest being NATO in Europe, as a shield against Red pushes anywhere.

Kennan had good vision. In the 20 years since he wrote his piece the Soviet Union has become more moderate, its earlier frenzy has subsided. Its pressure on Western Europe has stopped although, while it has gained no new ground in Europe, it has yielded none. Still independent nationalism has grown in its satellites. In short, Europe has calmed down.

MEANWHILE, the United States, dedicated to containment worldwide, has fought two wars to stop any Communist grab: in Korea and Vietnam. Nevertheless in Asia communism did grab successfully in China and North Vietnam. Yet, both those places are in turmoil. In North Vietnam because of the war with the United States, in China because of its internal convulsions.

Hal Boyle It's Healthy To Laugh

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you're the kind of person who is always putting his foot in his mouth, you'd probably be more comfortable if you used your right foot for this purpose. In nine out of 10 people it is smaller than the left foot.

Some psychologists say that your eyes get wider the harder you think. But it has been my experience that many business executives close their eyes when they're thinking. At least they claimed they were thinking.

FEW PEOPLE love their homeland more than the Japanese. In 99 years, only 1,210,000 have emigrated, and most of them went to Brazil or the United States. Last year only 600 migrated. A further oddity: The entire continent of Africa has only three permanent Japanese residents.

Here's a sobering statistic for motor car drivers: The chances are six in 10 that you will be involved in an accident within the next four years.

Prosperity note: The average bankruptcy case involves not a big corporation but a little guy. He is about 35 years old, has three kids, holds a blue-collar job and owes debts between $3,000 and $4,000.

QUOTABLE notables: "Don't be afraid of opposition. Remember, a kite rises against, not with, the wind" — Hamilton Mabie.

Pioneers: If women can train a husband, shouldn't they also be able to train thoroughbred horses? Well, of course, they can. And at the present meeting of the Bowie, Md., race track there are five women trainers.

Sign on the back of a pest control truck: "Drive carefully and leave the exterminating to us?" Science has found it is healthy to laugh. Laughter exercises the diaphragm and peps up the heart, brings in more oxygen to the lungs, increases the performance of the liver, stimulates the digestive glands in the stomach, intestines and pancreas, even helps against constipation. So if you want to feel as good as Santa Claus, don't forget to "Ho, ho, ho!"

WORTH remembering: "There aren't any rules for success that work unless you do."

Geography: You can't beat America for interesting place names. In Arkansas there is a Morning Sun and an Evening Shade.

The U.S. population is expected during 1968 to pass the 200 million mark. That means some kid will be born next year who will probably grab the parking space you'll be looking for in 1988.

It was G. K. Chesterton who observed: "Youth is always too serious, and just now it is too serious about frivolity."

To Your Good Health Should He Wear Someone Else's Glasses?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: I have a friend who says it is all right to wear other people's glasses and even thinks it is O.K. to buy them at the dime store. He says he got this from a doctor, but I doubt it. Why is this permitted? — R.M.A.

This isn't as dangerous as you surmise, but for most people it isn't as simple as it seems to be for your friend.

Obviously the correct glasses for anyone are the ones that provide clearest vision.

For a person with astigmatism, glasses must be ground to exact curvature to correct the distortion that exists in his eyes. It is only by the longest coincidence that such a person would be able to see clearly through someone else's glasses.

Some other people, however, do not need correction of distortion. For them, glasses which merely magnify can be satisfactory, so for them, inexpensive glasses are helpful.

Any pair of glasses which permit you to see well is all right.

For the other side of the coin, however, consider this: The person who tries to use any old pair of glasses may have his eyesight somewhat improved—but without accurate testing will not know the strength of glasses which will give him BEST vision.

Or he may have mild stigmatism (distortion) and not realize it until his eyes are tested and he has a chance to look through lenses which exactly fit his needs.

Still further, examination by an ophthalmologist is always wise for the sake of discovering whether some eye disease is starting—glaucoma, cataracts, detached retina or other conditions which can lead to partial or complete loss of sight.

Sale of "dime store" glasses is permitted because they will not actively harm anyone. The risk (and probability) is that they will not do as good a job as more accurately fitted glasses.

The really dangerous element is simply that people who use such a haphazard method of choosing glasses do not have the skilled, professional examination by a specialist which will detect dangerous eye diseases in time to treat them effectively.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim It's Easy To Make A Mountain

One thing and another: West Texas would look better with mountains, you say? There's a way to import them, you know.
 Order all of America's glut of solid trash for a while. A year would probably be needed, no more. Pile it up in one place and you'd have enough uneven terrain to please any lover of heights.

You could make a range from the junked cars, discarded bed springs and general refuse that is thrown away in this nation each year.

Fact is, the hills would pop up like biscuits rising in an oven if all the nation's trash were shipped this way for a few months.

Most of yesterday's dreams of the consumer are now junk, you know.

THIS COMES under the Thieves-Will-Steal-Anything Dept.:

Last year in Fort Worth a light-fingered person lifted 37,000 spark plugs from an automobile supply house.

In Birmingham, Alabama, a housewife polltely backed her car out of the way so that the driver of another car could drive away. He had just finished loading it with a television set he'd stolen from her house.

In Colorado Springs, store detectives became suspicious of a woman who seemed to be carrying too much ballast on various parts of her body. They checked her out and found (1) three record albums, (2) a set of bath towels, (3) a suitcase, (4) three rugs and (5) a small foot locker.

THINGS I dislike to see or think about:

An old, abandoned house with windows shattered, where a friend once lived. . . . Obscene signs scratched on public buildings. . . . Awakening at 3 a.m., in time to worry about problems that ordinarily cause no great concern during the hours of daylight. . . . A theatre seat slashed by a vandal who could have been an adult or a child. . . . A rattletrap of an automobile parked on a street, with a flat that hasn't been repaired for months, or has a wheel missing.

HAVE you heard about the computer dragging itself across the desert gasping "Oll! Oll!"

Holmes Alexander Manifest Destiny—Then And Now

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is well that interpretations of our presence in Vietnam be not left entirely to the anti-Americans.

Sen. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) finds us driven by the "arrogance of power" and hypocritical "righteousness" into unprovoked attacks upon a small nation and interference in its civil war. Arthur Schlesinger Jr., sums it up by saying that a ham-fisted bungler succeeded John Kennedy at the White House and lurched into an Asian land war which has no discernible end or purpose.

OTHERS FIND us the stupid victims of the voracious industrial-military complex which has to use its surplus weapons in order to manufacture more of the same and maintain a blood-money prosperity. Walter Lippmann seems to feel that we have allowed ourselves to become bored with Europe, where our true kinship lies, and to become beguiled by fatal lures of the mysterious East.

NATIONS, I think, do not always understand their own behavior fully, any more than persons do. People can go to their psychiatrists for consultation and explanation, but the wise nation will turn to history. No time in our annals is more like Lyndon Johnson's administration than the administration of James Polk whose presidency (1845-49) was also beset with war hawks, pacifists and appeasers, and which was featured by expansion westward and by war, eventually enlarging the Union by the new states of the Pacific coast, the Rocky Mountains, the entire Southwest.

THERE WAS danger that Polk's small war with Mexico would become a larger one with Britain, France, Spain, even Russia. The presidential critics of the day blamed the usual scapegoats which included the eastern money interests, the slavocracy, the military, and the land-hungry pioneers—all of whom, it was said, were egged on by conspiratorial imperialists. Spokesmen for the latter was said to be the Democratic party press with its slogan of Manifest Destiny.

A large majority of the American public in that day and for many years later accepted Manifest Destiny as the cover-title for greed, arrogance, militarism and blundering national policy. I never saw this interpretation questioned in any place except a book called "The Year of Decision: 1846" by the late Bernard DeVoto, my friend and literary sparring partner of long ago. Interestingly enough, DeVoto, a Harvard University doc, had help on this book from Schlesinger Jr., who should reread it for guidance.

ANYHOW, in searching for reasons why Americans should go against their principles of peace and contented republicanism, DeVoto found that the predatory and acquisitive factors in Manifest Destiny did not fully account for the spirit of expansionism. It contained, he wrote, "such other and unanalyzed elements as romance, utopianism and the dream that man might yet be free."

IN OUR OWN day when warfare is widely regarded as utterly wicked and obsolete, as well as entirely man-made, we might open our minds a little and consider that war also may be the work of Providence and something beyond our ken. Certainly it is clear that no other nation on earth has the willingness or the weapons to prevent freedom from disappearing down the maw of Communism in Southeast Asia. No other nation is positioned by its self-interest and power to break down the barriers that have kept Vietnam in ignorance and penury for so long.

UNDER A different man than Roosevelt, we might have stayed out of World War II, but it was our victory that let democracy into Japan, part of Germany and all of Italy. Were we instruments of Providence then? Are we now the same?

David Lawrence Lack Of Support For War Effort

WASHINGTON—Fifty years ago —on Feb. 3, 1917—the United States severed diplomatic relations with the Kaiser's government in Germany. Less than 10 weeks later, America entered World War I. Will history repeat itself? Will the present enemies of this country be similarly misled as to the resolutions of the United States and provoke a major war?

There are many circumstances today parallel to those that occurred just before America entered World War I. The Democratic party in 1916 had re-elected President Woodrow Wilson on the slogan, "he kept us out of war." This was an embarrassment to Mr. Wilson himself. Once he reminded an audience that "at any moment" the time might come "when I cannot preserve both the honor and the peace of the United States—don't exact of me an impossible and contradictory thing."

IMMEDIATELY after the election, Mr. Wilson made a final effort to bring about peace in Europe. But in January 1917 the militarists in Germany decided to resume unrestricted submarine warfare. These assaults against unarmed ships had been suspended in 1915 as a result of protests by the United States when the "Lusitania," an unarmed British passenger liner, was torpedoed and 128 Americans lost their lives.

MR. WILSON appealed in vain to Congress to give him the power to arm merchant vessels. But the pacifists, the isolationists and the obstructionists filibustered the bill in the Senate, and Congress adjourned automatically on March 4, 1917. The President a few days later called a special session for April 2, and this time he presented a message asking Congress to declare a "state of war."

Today, President Johnson is up against an analogous situation, as prominent members of Congress, including the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, are picking flaws in his Vietnam policy. The critics are urging that the United States cease bombing North Vietnam and refrain from "escalating" the war.

IT IS pertinent to recall that the peace or war issue also arose in the presidential campaign of 1964. Sen. Goldwater, the Republican nominee, was accused of being "trigger-happy" and as likely, if elected, to "escalate" the war in Vietnam. In many quarters abroad, the defeat of Goldwater was construed to mean that the Johnson administration would not carry on the war vigorously but would try to pull out through a negotiated peace which would, in effect, give the Communists what they sought.

DEMONSTRATIONS since then in different parts of the United States, in which many clergymen and pacifists take part, have been widely publicized all over the world. The impression created in Peiping and Moscow is that the United States will ultimately pay any price to get peace. This has led Communist officials to declare again and again that the United States must stop the bombing and withdraw its troops unconditionally.

Meanwhile, the armed forces of the United States are fighting intensively and are making substantial progress.

A MAJORITY in Congress are certainly ready to approve a huge appropriation for the war in Vietnam. Real damage to the American cause, however, is being done by the activities and statements which misrepresent the government in Washington as being pressed by an unfavorable public opinion. Circumstances like these can produce a crisis at any time and lead to an involvement of more Communist forces in a larger war in Asia.

Daily Bread

PANEVO, Yugoslavia (AP)—The city health inspector visited a bakery here and showed the bakers an iron nail that some customer complained of having found in his loaf of bread.

"The conscientious customer sends that back," one baker commented acidly. "But nobody has bothered to return the gold wedding ring I lost in the dough."

YOUR Horoscope Forecast

for Tomorrow
By Carroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you adept at winding up any unfinished business while the afternoon and evening bring to light a more progressive attitude, or methods than you have been currently using. Be sure to take great care in driving, talking or if you could lose you allies.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Doing whatever high official expects of you in a.m. is fine, but be careful you do not get into some kind of trouble with a friend. Show you are very capable in your job during day. Evening requires you to take great care in driving, talking or if you could lose you allies.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): You are able to find a better system for gathering the information you require of this time, but after do not continue in others. Some bigwig could require of you to take great care in driving, talking or if you could lose you allies.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Do some last-minute work that will get your insurance, bills, government papers in line order. Then concentrate on improving romantic life as well. Show a little more backbone and you find all works out beautifully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You can keep that appointment that will bring you lucking you need in a.m. and later get your house and car checked. Try not to argue with kin of all. You are out of your mind tired tonight.

SAAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Increasing abundance is relatively easy during day, but tonight you have to be most careful to avoid accidents of all kind. Be very careful of minutiae in business affairs. See that reports are accurate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Follow own inclinations during a.m. and be sure to make out statements that will improve financial matters. Be sure to get health bettered during day. This will make you feel fit as a fiddle for tonight's festivity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): If you consult an expert with regard to some difficult problem, you get right

Plane Crash Kills Couple

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A Houston couple, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Paskie III, were killed Saturday night when their twin-engine plane crashed northeast of Brownsville.

Paskie was 28, His wife, Barbara, was 23.

The Federal Aviation Agency listed the Piper Comanche in which the Paskies were flying as missing about 9 p.m. Saturday when it was two hours overdue from Houston.

Searchers found the wreckage Sunday morning in a field about three miles east of Los Fresnos.

Congress To Tussle With Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress plans to recess late this week for its first 1967 holiday after more tussling with the national debt, the Powell case and reorganization.

The holiday scheduled to start Thursday is for the Lincoln's Birthday period, traditional time of Republican celebrations. It is listed to end by the middle of next week.

$7 BILLION HIKE
The House will take up on Wednesday a bill to boost the national debt limit to $336 billion, $6 billion over the present temporary ceiling.

President Johnson urgently asked for a $7 billion boost but the House Ways and Means committee will begin considering the case of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the New York Negro Democrat refused his House seat pending an investigation.

POWELL INVITED
Powell has been invited to appear Wednesday.

The Senate will continue to debate the congressional reorganization bill, first legislation it has considered this year.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., floor manager for the bill, said there was no chance to complete action on it before the recess.

Students Again Demand Inquiry

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — More than 20,000 students massed in the heart of Jakarta today to again demand an investigation of President Sukarno's part in the attempted Communist coup in October 1965.

The students in a statement said the president is no longer acceptable and demanded that Congress bring him to trial if he was involved in the coup. The rally blocked a visit Sukarno had planned to a hospital about 200 yards away for a checkup.

Congress is to meet in early March. Military leaders, headed by the government chief, Gen. Suharto, are campaigning to get Sukarno out of office and out of the country before it convenes.

Pulitzer Poet Scores Again

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Robert Penn Warren, two-time winner of the Pulitzer Prize, has been awarded the $5,000 Bollingen Prize in poetry — considered by many the most prestigious in the field.

The announcement was made Sunday by James Tanis, librarian of Yale University, which administers the prize awarded every other years.

Terror Campaign Planned By Reds?

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Police say pro-Peking Italian Communists may be planning a nationwide terror campaign to bomb military bases and shoot leading members of Italy's pro-Moscow Communist party.

Investigators said arms caches were discovered over the weekend in Milan and in Palermo, Sicily.

Rape-Slaying Clues Missing

FORT WORTH (AP)—Police reported no clues today in the rape and strangulation slaying of a pretty housewife whose nude body was found on a Trinity River levee Saturday.

Officers asked the public to help locate the flashy outfit that Mrs. Mildred May, 37, was believed to have been wearing when she disappeared.

Police said Mrs. May, wife of a steel company executive, had been strangled so violently that two bones were broken in her neck.

Seven police officers and 25 volunteer motorcyclists scoured the river bottom area Sunday where Mrs. May's nude body was found. Her missing clothing—believed to have been gold stretch pants, gold slippers and a suede jacket with a fur collar—was not found.

The victim's husband reported his wife missing Saturday morning. He told police he went to a party in Dallas Friday night and returned home to find his wife gone. He said he thought she might be visiting friends. He said he called in the missing report after he checked with friends and relatives Saturday.

Detective Lt. O. E. Ball said Mrs. May might not have been dressed in the golden-hued outfit when she left home, and said her attacker might have taken her undressed from her home. He said the clothing could turn up through a check of laundries.

Reagan Needs More Money

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's fiscal problems mounted today as he said he now may have to ask for more than a half billion dollars in higher taxes—and scale down the property tax relief he promised Californians this year.

But Reagan said part of the new taxes will be returned to homeowners and others in the form of local property tax reductions.

His decision to trim his property tax relief program may push the new governor into a dispute with Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, who is demanding bigger local tax cuts.

The Republican governor once again took his case to the people on television Sunday.

Reagan said he needs now to pay back $180 million he said the previous democratic administration "borrowed from various state funds."

As a revenue source, he picked out an increase in the sales tax, from four to five cents—an increase previously estimated at $50 million by fiscal experts.

"At least for this year, some of the increased taxes must be used to pay off that $180 million," Reagan said.

"It will not be until the 1968-69 fiscal year that we will be able to use the entire amount for property tax relief."

Cherokee Paper Editors Picked

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Jack F. Kilpatrick and his wife, Anna, have been named editors of the new Cherokee Advocate, a revival of the old official journal of the Cherokee tribe. Kilpatrick is a professor at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and his wife is a direct descendant of Sequoyah, who put the Cherokee language into writing. Both are experts on Indian history and affairs and have published several books.

Job Agency Gains New Lease On Life

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The Cooke County office of the Texas Employment Commission has been given a new lease on life.

TEC officials had planned to close operations in Gainesville due to lack of business. The office, which had been open on a one-half day schedule, handled 1,500 applications in seven months, but placed only 165 of these.

Gainesville Chamber of Commerce officials, with the aid of State Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, convinced the TEC that an office is needed in the city. TEC members have announced the office will remain here on a one-half day schedule. It will be open from 8 a.m. until 12 noon Monday through Friday.

Now Chief You Just Stop That

SAN SABA, Tex. (AP)—The city hired D. O. Mace the other day as a temporary replacement for San Saba's police chief and one-man force.

He was picked to serve until the city council could act formally on a successor to chief Mack Tyler, who resigned.

When the councilmen got around to that chore, they told Mace the job was his with one restriction: "Just stop tapping on the store windows to warn people inside when the time runs out on their parking meters."

Gainesville Plan Picks Up Steam

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Gainesville's downtown modernization plan will be ready for release by summer.

Billy Ray Hill, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce downtown modernization committee, said that Marvin Springer, Dallas planner, will complete the report by that time.

Springer is expected to present a plan to improve the looks of downtown Gainesville. A nonprofit organization will be set up to act as a steering committee on the modernization efforts.

Texas Takes Lead

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Aeronautics Commission says Texas leads all the other states in the number of airfields, 576. The number decreased by 25 during last year, mainly due to the closing of 34 private fields.

Norton Elected

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Thomas L. Norton has been elected president and chief operating officer for MEMCOR, Inc., which makes sophisticated electronic equipment in Huntington, Ind. The firm's board and that of LTV Electrosystems, Inc., of Greenville have agreed to a merger, subject to stockholder approval. Norton formerly was employed by Ling-Temco-Vought.

Barnes Wants Early Vote On City Tax

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Ben Barnes told a group of mayors today he wants an early House vote on an optional city sales tax bill. He said he has told representatives who oppose to offer alternatives for meeting the cities' money needs.

He met at breakfast in the speaker's apartment with mayors of Midland, Odessa, Wichita Falls, Dallas and Waco.

Rep. John Traeger of Seguin, sponsor of the city sales tax bill, also was present. The bill will be heard Feb. 14 by the House tax committee.

"I have been telling members who are in opposition to the city sales tax to come up with some alternative because all members have said at one time or another that we need to come up with new avenues for the city to raise revenue," he said.

He said he wants the alternative proposals "in the next few days or a week," and said he expects action "early in the sessions."

If the bill passes, he said, Barnes doubts that more than 15 or 20 cities will vote in the next year on a city sales tax proposal.

Barnes said a small sample of his mail on Gov. John Connally's proposal to legalize public sales of liquor by the drink is running "four, five or six to one against it."

He said he does not know what the provisions of the governor's bill will be, since "I haven't seen a bill... I don't know whether Gov. Connally has a bill or not."

Liquor by the drink could receive action either midway in the session strictly as a policy matter or later in conjunction with a tax package, Barnes said.

Barnes speculated that Connally's bill might contain a provision that mixed drinks could be sold publicly only in restaurants.

"What we've got to do is get our general appropriation bill passed before we can start looking at what kind of a tax bill we are going to have," he said. "I don't anticipate voting on a tax bill for another 80 or 90 days."

Returning to liquor by the drink, he said he voted against mixed drinks the only time the matter came up during his house career, in 1963.

"But I intend to see that every means of raising revenue gets its chance," he added.

When news breaks anywhere in the far flung combat areas of Vietnam, you can pinpoint the exact places involved if you have this comprehensive and detailed new Hammond map, offered for sale now as a public service.

Families of boys in Vietnam will want it to hang on their wall, as will every intelligent newspaper reader who wants to keep in touch with the explosive situation in southeast Asia.

Printed in handsome full color on heavy paper of high quality, this 21x29 inch map folds compactly to fit in a handbag, desk drawer or glove compartment.

Da Nang, Hue, Chu Lai and hundreds of other places are shown, including major air bases, United States marine and army landings, roads, railroads, mountain passes, falls and rapids, rivers and other topographical features that help you understand the strategy of the fighting.

Besides the large detail map embracing North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, there are smaller maps showing elevations, Communist dominated countries, and the continent of Asia as a whole; also an economic map of southeast Asia spelling out the agricultural, industrial and power resources of individual countries. Another "extra" is a chronology of events since World War II. An atlas type index lists and locates cities, towns and physical features in North and South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

The map is produced by C. S. Hammond & Company, a leading organization in its field. Get your copy today.

- Detailed 18" x 24" reference map of Vietnam and neighboring countries
- Additional economic, topographic, political and pictorial maps
- Chronology of events since 1945

Teen Gang Pelts Cops
 DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police rushed reinforcements to the White Rock Lake area in North-east Dallas Sunday when a gang of youths began pelting a squad car with beer cans and rocks. Estimates of the number of persons involved ran to 200, but police said not so many took part in the attack on police cars. Seven units rushed to the scene. Several youths were arrested and taken to headquarters. No injuries were reported.

DEAR ABBY
Advice For Babysitter

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter (I'll call her Kay) is 20, pretty and popular. Last summer she started babysitting for a young couple I'll call the Browns. Ever since then, Kay has turned down dates with young men to babysit for the Browns.

One night last week Mrs. Brown telephoned here at 2 a.m. asking if Kay was home yet. It seems that Mr. Brown had left to drive Kay home at around midnight and he hadn't returned yet. Since the drive normally takes about 15 minutes, Mrs. Brown was worried. Just as I hung up, Kay walked in.

When I asked her what took her so long she blushed, became upset, and said she and Mr. Brown had stopped for coffee, and they forgot the time. Abby, am I evil - minded to think that there could be something going on here? How should this be handled?

KAY'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: You are not "evil - minded." Have a frank talk with Kay, and tell her if the incentive to sit for the Browns is the ride home, she is playing with dynamite. Keep your eyes open for other signs of hanky panky, and if your suspicions check out, your next chat — or perhaps your husband's — should be with Mr. Brown.

P. S. Remind your daughter that there is a Mrs. Brown to be considered, also.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to add my voice to that of the mother who deplores how ugly the young girls look in white lipstick, little-boy haircuts, and those ridiculous little-girl dresses.

I don't know whom these stupid girls are trying to please; surely not us men. I don't know of one fellow who doesn't think the new styles are repulsive.

We want our girls to look like girls — not boys. We like a girl's hair to be neat and simple, preferably shoulder length (no streaks or gray). We like a girl to have a natural-looking complexion with a little pink or red lipstick and a little make-up artistically applied to her eyes.

(Most girls look like they put their eye make-up on with a spoon!) And lastly, a girl should wear a dress that complements a well-rounded feminine figure. Very truly yours, JIM S. USN, PEARL HARBOR

 1♦ Pass 1♠ Pass
 2♥ Pass 2♠ Pass
 2NT Pass ?

What action do you take?
 A.—Four spades. Partner has shown a strong hand by his sequence of calls and thus far you have made only noncommittal bids. It is time for you to show signs of distinct strength and even if partner has no more than one or two spades your hand is playable for game in this suit.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AJ9 ♣A9873 ♦Q4 ♠A64
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
 2♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
 4♠ Pass ?

What action do you take?
 A.—Five spades. Everything seems under control, but allowance must be made for the remote possibility that partner has two diamond losers. Four no trump is not available in this case for you may have a slam the partner is asleep. A singleton diamond in partner's hand will do the trick.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South, with 60 part score, you hold:

Reds Holding Yank Student

BERLIN (AP) — Peter Feinauer, 27, an art student from Providence, R.I., has been held by authorities in East Berlin for the past four months, his mother said Sunday night.

Juergen Stange, a West Berlin lawyer representing Feinauer, said the East Germans are still investigating the case and have filed no charges. He said Feinauer was not accused of helping East Germans escape to the West.

Victoria Feinauer, a widow, said her son has been detained since Oct. 7. She said they came to West Berlin in 1959 and he studied art. Feinauer was born in Providence, attended high school there and is a Quaker, his mother said.

Four other Americans were released from East German prisons three days ago. One of the four, Mary Hellen Battle, 26, a theology student from Oak Ridge, Tenn., said Sunday a telegram from a young East Berlin man led to her four-year sentence on charges that she helped an East German try to escape. She served 14 months.

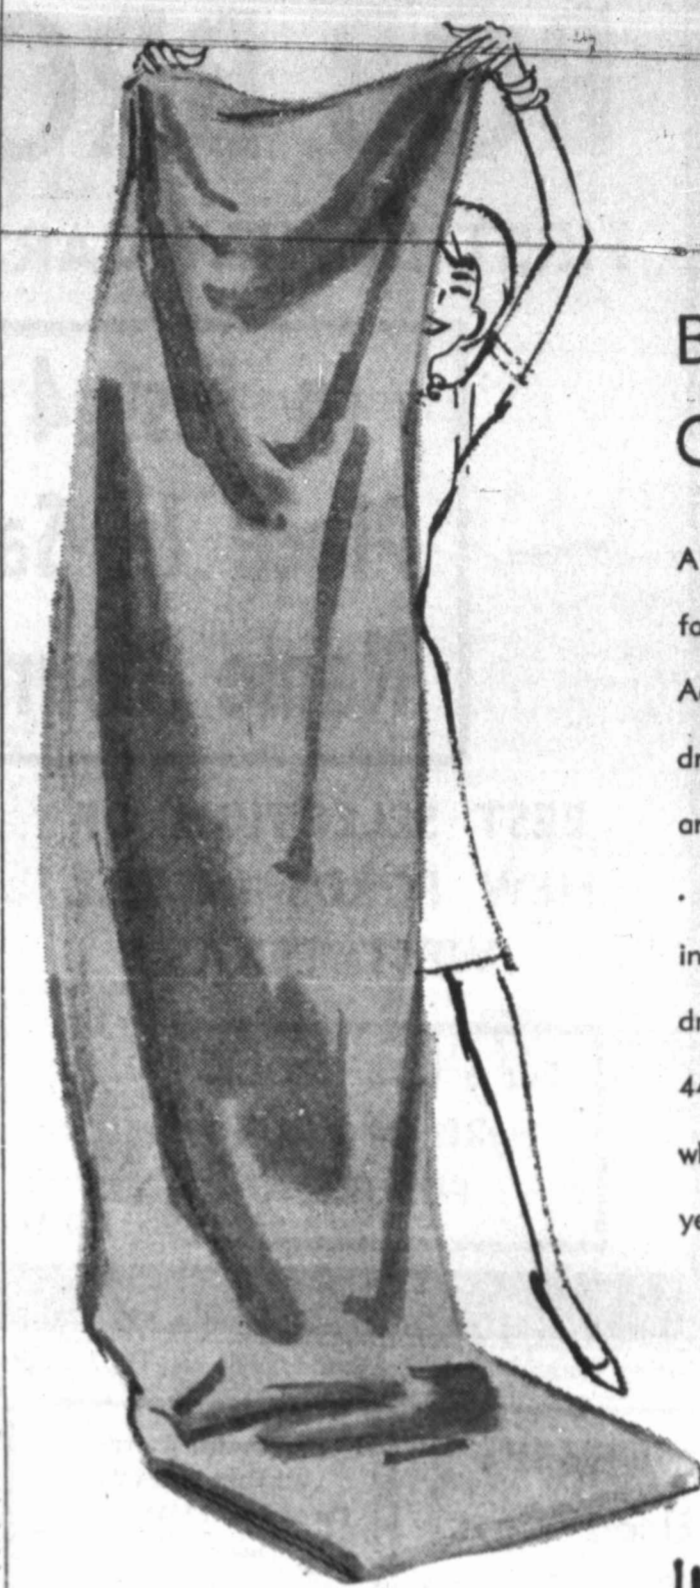

Two of the others, Frederick Matthews, 24, Elwood City, Pa., and Moses Reese Herrin, 25, Akron, Ohio, were jailed for helping East German refugees. William Lovett, 26, San Francisco, was imprisoned following a traffic accident.

Miss Battle said she received the telegram from the East Berliner Nov. 24, 1965.

"I had gotten to know him earlier in East Berlin," she said, "and I had made an appointment to see his mother that day, anyway, to bring her some things. I thought the telegram concerned that visit. So I went."

She said that when she met the man she learned for the first time that he had deserted from the army. She said she would not have gone to East Berlin if she had known that.

Miss Battle was arrested when she visited the man's mother. She said previous conversations with the man about an unsuccessful attempt he made to flee East Germany apparently helped to convict her. No romance was involved, she said.

Red Guards Terrorize Soviet Women, Tots

MOSCOW (AP) — Wives and children of Russian diplomats in Peking arrived in Moscow today after Red Guards terrorized them at Peking airport and held up their plane for more than six hours.

The 97 passengers on the Ilyushin-18 plane included 60 children, many of preschool age.

A foreign ministry official said the plane was "deliberately held up by the orders of Chinese authorities" in Peking Sunday. He said the Soviet government had protested to the Chinese Embassy.

Relatives gave the evacuees a joyous welcome. Earlier Soviet reports said the Red Guards had beaten and pushed some of the women and children, but a bruise on one boy was the only visible evidence of this.

GROWING WORSE
 It was the second group of Soviet dependents to be evacuated from Peking. A third plane with 19 on board was due in Moscow this afternoon. With relations between the two big Communist powers growing steadily worse, Russia has ordered the return home of all wives and children of Soviet officials in Peking.

"We had to pick our way through a fanatical crowd of Red Guards, shouting wild anti-Soviet slogans," said Tamara Mikhhallova, wife of a commercial secretary.

"HANG KOSYGIN"
 "They were brandishing little red books of Mao Tse-Tung's quotations in our faces. I was holding a little girl in one hand and beating off the books with the other."

Yevgenya Barodina said the Red Guards made a terrible noise as they surrounded the buses taking the dependents to their plane.

"The children were very frightened," she said. "So was I."

The Red Guards scrawled anti-Soviet slogans on the Russians' luggage, including "long live Stalin," "hang Brezhnev" and "hang Kosygin."

The scrawls in black paint were still on the bags today.

The women said the Red Guards broke into one bus, pushed and beat some passengers and pummeled the sides of their plane before it took off.

A small boy was asked if the Russians in the bus put up any resistance.

"It wasn't worth it," he said, "there were too many of them."
