Yankee Infantrymen Under Heavy Attack

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Three battalions of American infantrymen were reported under heavy enemy attack tonight in the central highlands near the Cambodian border about 330 miles north of Saigon.

The fresh battle developed after actions in which 385 Communists were reported killed, two U.S. infantry companies suffered moderate casualties and 13 U.S. helicopters were downed.

The U.S. Command disclosed that action last week, covered in part by the Tet truce, pushed American combat casualties in the war above the 50,000 mark. Of these men, 7,353 were killed.

MORTAR FIRE

Associated Press photographer Al Chang told of the highlands battle. He reported from the field that all three battalions of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division's 2nd Brigade — totaling about 2,200 men — were being hit with "heavy mortar fire and extremely heavy automatic weapons fire" in jungled terrain.

The troops, engaged in Operation Sam Houston, were credited with killing 74 of the enemy Wednesday. Two of the division's companies suffered moderate casualties.

NO REPORT
No report was available on losses for either side in Thursday's fighting. Chang said the Americans believed they were engaging a North Vietnamese army regiment, or 2,900 troops.

South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen smashed a Viet Cong battalion during a two-day battle in the canal-laced Mekong Delta, killing 311 guerrillas and capturing six, a government spokesman said.

In the central highlands near the Cambodian border, two companies of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division suffered moderate casualties Wednesday in fighting that took the lives of 74 enemy.

243 KILLED

Coupled with 243 guerrillas reported killed by Korean marines in a seaway battle Wednesday, the three engagements accounted for 628 enemy dead.

Four American crewmen were killed and eight wounded in the downing of the 13 U.S. helicopters Wednesday.

Ten of the UH1 helicopters were shot down as they shuttled more than 3,000 South Vietnamese troops in to reinforce two ranger companies in the raging delta battle 110 miles southwest of Saigon.

Nude Posing Coed Seeks Anonymity

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Jan Lienke, the University of Minnesota coed who suggested that people should take the bride off sex-and-enjoy-it, would like to slide back into peaceful anonymity.

She'd just as soon forget the whole thing, she told a reporter. "It's not that I am sorry for what I said — I believe this very strongly," added the attractive 19-year-old nursing school senior. "It's just that my comments have been taken out of context, sensationalized and misinterpreted."

"I've lost my privacy. I find it difficult to get back into the swing of my studies and school responsibilities."

OLD CODES
What Miss Lienke said — which shook up this conservative Midwest area — was that old morality codes are out of date and, now that some contraceptives are 100 per cent safe, the sexual drive should not be suppressed.

Advocating premarital sexual relations as something natural, she said sex life is just a form of communication and shouldn't be regulated any more than dancing or shaking hands.

The willowy, 5-foot-10 Miss Lienke, who looks like the girl next door, has been chided in newspaper editorials, insulted by letters and telephone calls and harassed by male callers.

Artillery Shell Blast Kills Eleven In Texas

Powell's Wife Claims Forgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's estranged third wife testified today that somebody else endorsed payroll checks made out to her. She said the signature was not her own.

Marjorie Powell did not name anyone as having put her name on the checks, saying she could not be sure although the signature "does look familiar on some."

PAY STOPPED
She testified before a special House committee investigating Powell's right to take his seat in the current Congress.

Powell, a New York Democrat, has said he deposited his wife's checks in an account from which he paid her expenses.

The House Administration Committee ordered her dropped from the payroll last month on grounds she was not working either in Washington or in Powell's New York congressional district, as required by law.

NO EXPERT
William A. Geoghegan, counsel for the investigating committee, showed her 19 paychecks, from January, 1965, to July, 1966. They were in the name of Y. Marjorie Flores, which Mrs. Powell said was a name she had used.

"Are the endorsements in your handwriting?" he asked. "No, it isn't," Mrs. Powell said.

"Can you identify the signatures," Geoghegan asked. "I'm not an expert," she said. "It does look familiar on some but I couldn't be absolutely sure."

DROPPED
She said she had not authorized Powell to receive her payroll checks.

Marjorie Powell told the Senate committee investigating her husband's activities that she has lived in Puerto Rico since about a year after their marriage in 1960 but stayed on his payroll as far as is known until December last year.

She was dropped from her husband's payroll last month by the House Administration Committee on grounds she worked neither in Powell's New York congressional district nor in Washington, as required by law. Her salary at the time was $20,500 annually.

'FULL-TIME JOB'
Asked what happened to her paychecks except for the two months late last year, Mrs. Powell said "I didn't get them."

She said that until 1963, she did a full-time job translating mail sent to Powell by his Spanish-speaking constituents but that the work diminished until the summer of 1965 and stopped entirely after that time.

She said the last time she had seen her husband was in Puerto Rico in September, 1965, and she has not spoken to him since then.

PERSONAL LIFE
Since she has been living in Puerto Rico, Mrs. Powell said she has visited Washington twice and New York once.

She said that when she came to Washington last August, she tried to get in touch with Powell "to see what the situation was," both with respect to her job and "our personal life."

Asked if Powell declined to see her, she replied, "That's right."

TELL THE TRUTH
Mrs. Powell, dressed in a two-piece green ensemble, spoke softly in response to questions by Geoghegan. When she took the oath to tell the truth, her right hand was shaking and her voice was barely audible.

"I intend to answer everything I know," Mrs. Powell told reporters Wednesday on arriving from San Juan, P.R., in response to a subpoena from the select committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

VERY HOPEFUL
"We are very hopeful she will testify and will give us a good deal of information," Celler said.

After meeting with Mrs. Powell for four hours Wednesday night, civil rights attorney Joseph L. Rauh Jr., of Washington said, "I would assume she will answer all questions put to her respectfully which are designed to elicit pertinent information."

Rauh said he did not expect Mrs. Powell to ask for a closed hearing.

The committee also plans to hear from C. Sumner Stone, former special assistant to Powell.

Dig Big For Little Pups

Volunteer Rescue Squad members in Knoxville tunnel underground try to save three 4-week-old pups from under-ground trap. The German Shepherd pups fell in a 28-foot well Tuesday and owner Avery Clark hired a mechanical ditch digger to try to dig them out. Cave-ins have hampered rescue operations, under way since Tuesday. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Mrs. Powell failed to appear in December before a House Administration subcommittee which was looking into charges that Powell used government travel funds for personal trips while chairman of the committee on education and labor.

As a result of that probe, Mrs. Powell was removed from her $20,500-a-year job on her husband's payroll on the grounds she worked neither in Washington, Powell was stripped of his chairmanship at a Democratic caucus Jan. 9.

But Mrs. Powell denied Wednesday that she had refused to appear before the earlier committee.

Rescuers Dig For Puppies

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Fighting cave-ins, hard rock and loose earth, rescuers gingerly picked their way toward three puppies trapped in the bottom of a well.

One man was buried up to his chest when the walls of a rescue shaft began to crumble Wednesday night, calling an overnight halt to the operation.

"The first thing I want done is to get that place safe," said Avery L. Clark Jr., the owner of the 4-week-old pups. "I don't want anyone to get hurt."

The three frisky offspring of "Lady," a German shepherd, wandered away from their mother Tuesday afternoon and fell down the 28-foot well.

YELPING
"I fed them last night after the digging stopped," said Clark, who has been dropping food down the 15-inch-diameter well shaft to keep the pups alive until they are dug out.

"We could hear them yelping down there, so we feel sure they're all right," Clark said.

Clark said the walls of the rescue shaft had to be braced before the digging could be resumed. The rescuers were only five feet from the puppies when the cave-in stopped them.

DANGEROUS
The rescue trench, 10 feet wide, 150 feet long, and 36 feet deep, was dug at a slant toward the well by a mechanical ditch digger which moved an estimated 800 cubic yards of dirt. The last step was a short tunnel to the pups.

"The situation is relatively dangerous," Capt. W. C. Brooks of the Volunteer Rescue Squad said as the diggers neared the puppies. "Most of us are a little afraid of it."

The digging machine was called in after attempts to raise the pups with grappling hooks failed.

Searing Flames Deadly

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—A single 105 mm shell blew up, killing 11 and wounding many others at the Army's ammunition plant near here Wednesday night. A spokesman said some of the ammunition made there goes to Vietnam.

Eight persons required hospital care, and of this number, one succumbed to make the death toll 11. All but three others were discharged by today. A large number of other persons suffered minor injuries, a spokesman said.

HEARS BELLS

James Johnson, who was working about 15 feet from the explosion, said, "My glasses went one way and I went the other way. It knocked me up against the wall but I was able to limp out. I can still hear bells."

Miss Thersia Bellafiore, 20, was working her first day at the plant. "I thought my hair was on fire and I started patting it and running out of the building. I was so dazed I don't remember what I heard," she said.

Lt. Col. Duane Harris, commander of the semisecret installation, said the explosion occurred in a room 20x40 feet with about 12 persons present.

ROOF BLOWN OFF

About 12 persons were in adjoining rooms in the building, which is about the length of a football field about 10 miles west of Texarkana. The official name is Lone Star Army Ammunition Plant.

Col. Harris said the explosion occurred on an assembly line where fuses are attached to the shell. He said the projectiles are not picked up or taken off the line in that area.

The commander said that the roof was blown off the building immediately above the room where the explosion occurred. He said operations continued today in other portions of the plant.

PROBE SLATED

Harris said cause of the explosion is unknown and that a board of investigation will probe for the reason. He would not speculate. He said he could not determine whether all the fatalities were in the room where the blast occurred.

The shift lacked only an hour and 12 minutes of completing its day. Col. Harris said the explosion time was set at 10:30 p.m.

The projectile weighs about 33 pounds and is a foot or more in length.

FIRE BALL

One witness said, "A ball of fire went right down the line and several people's clothing caught on fire."

The building is of hollow tile and reinforced concrete. The plant employs 7,000 persons and is one of the largest such plants in the nation.

Lone Star Death Toll

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—The dead from Wednesday night's explosion at the Lone Star ammunition plant, as identified by the plant:

1. Mrs. Nell Marie Ashford, Hooks.
2. Eugene Bowers Russell, 18, Clarksville.

4. Clarence G. McDonald, 18, Texarkana, Ark.
5. David Arnold Skelton, 19, Texarkana, Tex.
6. Mrs. Whittie Marie Jones, 44, Texarkana, Ark.
7. Jessie Odell McCoy, Texarkana, Tex.
8. Rose Mary Fleming, New Boston.

Thug Robs State Bank

HOUSTON (AP) — A well-dressed young thug took an undetermined amount of cash from the Meyerland State Bank in southwest Houston today after threatening a teller with a gun.

Frank Needham, a vice president, said the man, about 20, walked behind the teller's cage, placed the gun against the teller's ribs, and demanded that a briefcase be filled with money.

"He escaped in a black and white automobile," Needham said. "It happened so quickly we have no idea as yet how much money is involved."

The bank was robbed of $37,000 by two men in 1965 but both men were captured a short time later and the money recovered.

UNANIMOUS HOUSE VOTE

Regional Port Bill Approved

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill permitting Dallas and Fort Worth to pool their efforts in the state's first multi-county airport authority passed the House today, 147-0.

The action climaxed years of dispute and negotiation to create a regional airport for the heavily populated North Central Texas area.

NO DISCUSSION
The unanimous House vote sends the bill to Gov. John Connally for signature. There was no discussion on the measure, other than a brief explanation by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, House sponsor of the bill introduced by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas.

The House adjourned until 11 a.m. Monday after tentatively approving on voice vote a Senate-passed bill allowing beer wholesalers to continue operating if their areas outlaw retail sales of beer.

A move to suspend the rules and finally pass the bill failed, 102-40, with 120 votes needed.

An amendment to prohibit a distributor from giving away or employing a minor was tabled 72-62.

TEACHER BENEFITS
The Senate passed the House 26-4, a bill allowing payment of survivor benefits from the teacher retirement fund to widows or widowers of teachers who died before April 8, 1957. Survivors of teachers who died since then already are covered.

Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris spoke against the bill, contending it would cost $300,000 to $500,000 a year and affect 400 to 800 persons.

Senators passed the North Central Texas Airport Authority bill 28-1 Feb. 6 after several days of behind-the-scenes efforts to smooth out rough spots which had been criticized in committee hearings.

OPEN MEETINGS
Amendments were added in the Senate requiring open meetings of the authority's board of directors and prohibiting racial and religious discrimination in hiring employees. Deleted also in the Senate was a provision allowing 30-day jail sentences for violating the authority's regulations.

Voters approved in November a constitutional amendment allowing voters in two or more counties to decide whether the counties should unite to provide airport services.

The amendment, and the enabling legislation, were the outcome of months of squabbling between Dallas and Fort Worth over the location of a regional airport. Both cities now operate their own airports.

Eleven members would serve on the board of directors—seven from Dallas County, four from Tarrant County.

Plans are under way for a 21,000-acre airport south of Grapevine, to cost about $220 million, exclusive of the land.

Violent Storms Whiplash Nation

By The Associated Press
Violent storms of one form or another whiplashed across the nation today, spawning heavy snows in the northern Plains and Great Lakes region, gale-force winds through the Midwest and thundershowers in Pennsylvania and New York. A mammoth deep freeze tracked the bitter storms and temperatures fell below zero in many areas.

Cotton Meet Set In Lubbock

Cotton producers throughout Howard County are urged to attend a special meeting on principles of improving cotton quality to be Wednesday, Feb. 22 at the Koko Palace, at 50th and Ave. Q in Lubbock.

County agent Paul Gross says the session will include talks on such topics as cultural practices, ginning methods, cotton grading and block ginning.

Featured speaker at the cotton quality meeting will be Dr. Mack Horn, economist with the National Cotton Council. Dr. Horn is recognized as one of the top cotton economists in the United States, according to Gross.

Horn will discuss the world cotton situation and cotton supply and demand in the U.S. The agent said the meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue into the afternoon following a dutch luncheon.

The cotton quality meeting is open to the public. Gross said he and members of the Howard County Program Building Committee are planning to attend.

Ethics Bill Starting Up From Bottom

AUSTIN (AP)—A tough code of ethics that twice sailed through the House and sank in the Senate has started up from the bottom again.

The bill would make legislators, state employees and legislative employees file financial statements on their "substantial interests"—meaning ownership of 10 per cent or more of a business activity.

Rep. James E. Nugent of Kerrville, co-author of the bill, told the House State Affairs Committee Wednesday night the bill also would cover representatives of such organizations as labor unions.

If a legislator receives a fee from any organization whose principal source of income is membership dues, contributions or assessments, he would have to include that in the statement. Nugent was the only witness to appear before the committee on the bill. It was referred to a subcommittee.

Nugent said the bill passed the House in the 58th and 59th legislatures, but died in the Senate without so much as a committee hearing.

Under the bill, a legislator could not represent clients before an administrative agency while legislation or appropriations affecting such agency are before his committee.

A conflict of interest would exist if a legislator or state employee is involved with an agency that has substantial regulation over the business in which he has a major investment. A major investment is defined as more than $25,000, unless a greater investment constitutes less than 10 per cent interest in the business.

Violation of the code would be ground for "expulsion, removal from office or discharge, whichever is applicable."

Another bill referred to subcommittee Wednesday would establish a planning division in the office of the governor and make the governor the chief planning officer of the state.

Terrell Blodgett of the governor's office told the committee there are 17 federal programs (excluding higher education) that require a state plan before a state can participate.

R. H. Cory of Victoria, chairman of the committee, said the committee would take up the daylight saving bill—that would exempt Texas from the federal law establishing daylight saving time nationwide—next Wednesday night.

Ceramicists Meet Tonight

Members of the West Texas Ceramic Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Community Room. Mrs. Bob Fuller, president, invited all interested persons.

Gerald Wilson, teacher in the Big Spring school system, will bring the program. It will be a slide presentation of a commercial pottery plant, showing techniques of mass production of ceramic items.

British Urge Troops Slash

LONDON (AP) — The British government today recommended a balanced East-West reduction of military forces in Europe, saying "there is little danger of aggression" on the continent because of the changing Soviet society and Red China's anti-Soviet trend.

An annual review of the nation's defense policy suggested that some combat-ready forces assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization could be deployed in other theaters, and rushed back to Europe if war threatened.

The government white paper announced Britain is well on the way to an over-all cutback of $2.1 billion in defense spending by the end of 1968.

In money terms Britain's estimated defense bill for 1967-68 is going up $92.4 million to $6.171 billion.

But in real spending terms — taking into account the rise in prices and incomes — this represents a decrease of $126 million compared with last year's defense expenses.

Defense Secretary Denis Healey's report to Parliament noted that NATO planners are revising the alliance's strategy "in the light of the forces which governments would undertake to make available on a rolling five-year program" while retaining the over-all commitment for forward defense.

The British government said it "believes that both the political and military extension of the detente — the standoff between Western and Communist Europe — would best be achieved by mutual reduction of the forces of the NATO and Warsaw Pact powers."

Prime Minister Harold Wilson discussed this with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin during their talks here last week, and British authorities report privately this is likely to become a major area of East-West discussion in the next year or two.

Maxwell To Sell Champ

Maxwell Barr's grand champion Hereford of the San Antonio show will be put on the block Friday and his young owner will probably be somewhere around $7,000 to possibly $9,000 richer when the sale is ended.

The 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Barr of Vincent will be on hand to display the big 980 pound steer in the sale ring.

Howard County agricultural agent Paul Gross and assistant agent James Shelton said that the sale at San Antonio is rated as the richest on the southwest circuit.

Last year Dolores Lankford won the grand championship at Fort Worth and her steer sold for a high price of $6,300.

Barr had the winner of the grand championship of the junior show at San Antonio last year and his steer sold for $2,500 at the sale Feb. 20. This price was nearly $1,000 higher than had been expected for the animal.

Father Drops Spanking Rap

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — The father of a pupil dropped charges today against a West Orange teacher who spanked the boy when he fell asleep in class.

J. R. Carpenter, father of David Carpenter, 14, filed simple assault charges Feb. 2 against Harold McLeod, a physical education teacher and coach at a West Orange junior high school outside Orange.

McLeod's lawyer, James Morris, criticized officials after today's court hearing for accepting the charge in the first place.

The How Of A Hydrocollator

Members of the 1953 Hyperion Club gather with little Valerie Wasson to see how the hydrocollator works at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Civil Rights Proposal Faces Same Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's open housing civil rights proposal already is running into the same sort of congressional opposition that killed a similar plan last year. Johnson proposed late Wednesday that a ban on discrimination in the sale and rental of housing not become fully effective until 1969.

Last year's plan, passed by the House but filibustered to death in the Senate, provided for no such phasing.

House leaders indicated they would like to wait for the Senate to act first on the legislation this year. But the chances of any early Senate action appeared nil.

'INJUSTICE'

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee, said the proposal would "destroy liberty on the installment plan."

But Johnson told Congress he was "proposing fair housing legislation again this year because it is decent and right."

"Injustice must be opposed, however difficult or unpopular the issue," he said.

BAN SOUGHT

As he did a year ago, the President also called for a ban on discrimination in the selection of federal and state juries and a strengthening of federal criminal law against the use of violence, threats or other interference with the exercise of constitutional rights.

He further proposed that the Equal Opportunity Commission be empowered to issue enforceable orders against discrimination in employment, that the life of the Civil Rights Commission be extended for five years, and that funds for the Community Relations Service be increased from $1.4 million to $2.7 million.

OPEN HOUSING

Johnson's open housing proposal would go into effect in three stages but, as the President emphasized, by 1969 it would apply to all housing.

The secretary of housing and urban development would be directed to try to eliminate discrimination in housing through education and conciliation.

To begin with, a prohibition against discrimination in the sale or rental of housing would apply only to housing insured or financed by the federal government.

Comfort Girl Goes To Contest

WASHINGTON, D. C. — An 18-year old Texas girl is on her way to San Francisco, Calif., where she will compete in a national beauty pageant.

Laura Louise Gass, Comfort, Tex., will represent her state in the "Miss Rural Electrification" contest being held in conjunction with the 25th annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Miss Gass will be competing with girls from eight other states for the $2,500 first place college scholarship award jointly by NRECA and the General Electric Company. A $1,000 scholarship is awarded to the second place winner with $700 going to the third place contestant. In addition to beauty and personality, each girl will be judged on achievements in school, civic and youth activities.

Policeman Killed

MORIARTY, N. M. (AP) — City policeman Gilbert Montoya, about 28, was shot to death early today as he surprised two or three thugs in a burglary.

ment, as already provided by a 1962 presidential order. In 1968 the ban would take effect against dwellings sold or offered for rent by someone other than the occupant and dwellings for five or more families.

Webb Changes Flight Plan

Flying training operations at Webb AFB undergo a significant change Friday as Operation Smooth Flow begins. The new program eliminates the flying periods and replaces them with alternating three and four minute engine starting times.

According to Capt. Howland S. Russell, deputy commander for T-37 Operations officer, the plan is designed to increase the use of air and runway space while decreasing traffic density. The program will undergo a two-week test period to iron out the problems unique to Webb.

Capt. Russell said the plan has worked well at Laughlin AFB, where it has been in effect nine months. Craig AFB, Ala., and Reese AFB, Tex., also use the plan. Craig and Webb are the only two-runway bases using it.

Capt. Russell said it promises to cut down on early starting time in the summer flying schedule, as the present flying periods may not launch the maximum number of sorties the field is capable of handling. Rather than launch just a few aircraft during any one flying period, the sorties will be set up on a time interval basis, to allow a later starting time on days when certain periods would not have a full complement of flights scheduled.

More Rally For Family

More individuals and groups rallied today to the aid of the Carl Garrison family, which recently lost its two daughters when they were struck by a car while waiting for a bus.

At Grace Baptist Church, which is serving as the receiving agent for those who want to lend a helping hand, a total of $68.73 was reported for the day. Others may have a part by taking the gifts to the church or mailing them to Box 1507.

Among the latest donors are School Bus 34, $24.23; Travis W. Mauldin $12.50; Dale B. Vaughn, $10; Daddy Don Brooks, Jean D. Fields, Center Point Home Demonstration Club, and Anonymous, $5; Mrs. Wayne Moore, $2.

So far, friends have raised $1,216.58 to assist the family in its hour of need. The Rev. Roy Honea, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church and also pastor of the Garrison family, said plans are being made for presentation of the funds to the family.

GOP To Meet Friday Night

The Howard County Republican Party will meet Friday at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company at Fourth and Runnels.

Each family is requested to bring a hot dish for a pot luck supper. This will be a planning session and everyone is invited.

"Essentially," Johnson said, "this stage would cover large apartment houses and real estate developments."

DIRKSEN MUM

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen withheld comment on the President's message pending further study, but last year he strongly opposed the open housing proposal as unconstitutional.

Although the House watered it down last year to apply mostly to large apartments and housing developments, Dirksen said there could be no compromise with principle.

His opposition, combined with that of Southern senators, prevented Senate supporters of the bill from mustering the necessary two-thirds majority to overcome the filibuster.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chief Senate sponsor of last year's legislation will "not be debated to death."

Civil Rights Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highlights of President Johnson's civil rights proposal submitted to Congress Wednesday:

Open housing—Three stages leading to complete national ban on discrimination in sale or rental of housing. Provisions would apply in 1967 only to housing insured or financed by the federal government; in 1968, to dwellings sold or offered for rent by someone other than the occupant and to buildings with five or more units; in 1969, to all housing.

Juries — new safeguards to guard against discrimination in federal and state jury selection and to guarantee that juries are properly representative of the community.

Employment—Equal Employment Opportunity Commission would be given authority to issue cease and desist orders against those they call discriminatory employers.

Exercise of rights — Legislation would specifically list activities "protected" as exercises of federal rights and would clarify and strengthen existing federal laws against interference with such rights.

Hanoi Uses Same Line

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi indicated today it is still ready to talk peace with the United States but demanded the Americans first "put an immediate end" to their bombing of North Vietnam.

An article in the North Vietnamese official newspaper Nhan Dan also hinted that Hanoi might have gone to the peace table if the United States had not resumed bombing after the lunar new year.

Nhan Dan said the United States "immediately changed its language" about peace talks "as soon as the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam declared that the two sides could have a talk after the U.S. had stopped for good and unconditionally its bombings of North Vietnam."

But Nhan Dan made clear Hanoi considers the door still open, saying: "We demand that before any talk could be started the U.S. government must put an immediate end to this act (the bombing)."

Film Stars Sing Tributes To Songwriter Cole Porter

4-A Big Spring (Tex.) Herald
Thursday, Feb. 16, 1967

By BOB THOMAS
AP Wire - 17
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Only Cole could write a passionate song," said Alan Jay Lerner. "And he never wrote with self-pity."
For illustration, longtime friends of the late Cole Porter sang a few of his passionate, nonplanning songs. Fred Astaire intoned "Night and Day." Ethel Merman belted out "Make It or Break It."
Another Old-Fashioned,

"Please," and Frank Sinatra delivered "I've Got You Under My Skin."
INDIANA-BORN
These figures, along with Gene Kelly and Garson Kanin, saluted Porter this week at a dinner given by the Friends of the Libraries of the University of Southern California. The panelists sang their tributes and talked about their association with the Indiana-born songwriter.
Sinatra recalled when he was a striping of a singer appearing at a roadhouse in Englewood, N.J. To his astonishment, Cole Porter came in the place one night with friends. Sinatra, who doubled as head waiter, gave Porter "the greatest buildup since Charles Lindbergh," much to the songwriter's displeasure.

"BORN TO DANCE"
"I dedicated one of his songs to him — and then I forgot all the words," Sinatra recalled.
Kanin asked Astaire if he knew "Night and Day" would be such a success when he first sang it in "The Gay Divorcee."

"I didn't recognize it as a great hit," the dancer admitted. "I was more concerned with whether I could sing it, with all those high notes."
Kanin introduced a guest panelist. "A young man who sang 'Easy to Love' in 'Born to Dance.' A skinny, towering actor, grizzled for a Western role, ambled to the microphone. "I'm Jimmy Stewart," he announced.

"I CAN'T PEDAL"
He told of his own concern as to whether he could hit the high notes. He asked Porter if he could "hit some of those notes down." The songwriter refused. Stewart demonstrated his way with the U.S.C. audience his way with "Easy to Love," grimacing at the high notes like a choir boy in puberty.
The panelists talked sadly of Porter's final years, when his illness prompted him to drop the big, elegant dinners he enjoyed giving. Then he would entertain only a few close friends, but always with the same elegance.

Porter had given up songwriting after supplying a couple of tunes for Kelly in "Las Vegas." Porter, long troubled with his broken legs, had undergone an amputation.
"Once I asked him why he didn't write some more," said Astaire. "He said, 'I can't pedal the piano, and I can't think without that.'" He died at his Brentwood home Oct. 16, 1964, at the age of 71.

'Pygmalion' To Be Staged Here By College Troupe

The touring repertory company of Incarnate Word College in San Antonio will bring "Pygmalion" to the Howard County Junior College auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m. The Big Spring High School drama department is sponsoring the event, and selling tickets at $1 each.

'Killers' Captured

SEATTLE (AP) — Ted Griffin, whose famous killer whale Namu died last year, has captured several more. Griffin, director of the Seattle Marine Aquarium, said he believed he had "10 or more whales ranging from small to pretty good size." It was too dark to count them. Namu drowned last July when he became entangled in a net at the aquarium. Griffin was notified Tuesday by the Coast Guard that killer whales had been spotted at Port Angeles, Wash., headed this way. Griffin began the search Wednesday morning and ran the whales down about 6 p.m. in the Yukon harbor area of Puget Sound.

He was assisted by a helicopter and an airplane. He hopes to bring the whales to Seattle, a distance of about seven miles, in a floating pen.

Rebels Meeting Slated In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Latin-American revolutionaries' conference will convene in Havana July 28, the Cuban radio reports.

"The conference of representatives of the people and of revolutionary movements of Latin America will serve to intensify the struggle against U.S. imperialist domination in Latin America," a broadcast said.

Armed Clashes Spread In Southwest Peking

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party accused Mao Tse-tung today of planning new attempts to provide a break in Soviet-Chinese relations, while more anti-Soviet pronouncements were reported from Peking.

On Formosa, Nationalist China's official Central News Agency said armed clashes between forces for and against Mao have spread from Tibet throughout the adjoining province of Szechwan, in southwest China. It said that the fighting had prevented supplies from reaching Maoists in Tibet and that clashes in Lhasa, the capital previously reported under anti-Maoist control, were nearing a climax.

FIERCE CAMPAIGN
A pro-Nationalist Chinese newspaper in Hong Kong said part of Kwangsi Province bordering on North Vietnam has been taken over by anti-Maoists but Mao's supporters have the upper hand in some big cities. Clashes were reported in Wuchow, a Kwangsi city of more than 200,000.

Except during actual war, the Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda said in a 4,000-word article, "never before has such a fierce campaign been conducted" against the Soviet Union. It said relations with China were likely to get worse.

'STORM TROOPERS'
In an implied appeal to Mao's Chinese opponents, Pravda said Peking still had the chance to restore friendly ties with Moscow and rejoin "the ranks of the socialist community." The Soviet people "want precisely this prospect to emerge victorious and want the Chinese People's Republic to advance along this correct road," the newspaper said.

In perhaps the strongest Soviet press attack yet in the Chinese-Soviet split, Pravda said Mao's "storm troopers" are ready to sacrifice the interests of communism and the Chinese people for the sake of power.

PURGE SUCCESS?
The Tokyo newspaper Asahi reported that Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi had told a Japanese trade group in Peking that the Soviet leadership will be overthrown because it is cooperating with U.S. imperialism.

Chen said Mao's purge will be entirely successful and that definite results will be seen by next January, Asahi said.

TESTING AREA
Peking wall posters described Sinkiang Province on the Soviet border as "a front line against (Soviet) revisionism and imperialism." The posters said military controls had been tightened in the rebellious province, which contains China's nuclear testing ground.

The Hong Kong Star quoted Chinese arriving from Canton as saying Red Guards had seized a plane believed to have been ready in Canton Wednesday night to carry anti-Mao officials to Sinkiang.

The Star said Gen. Kwok Pang (Kuo Peng), deputy military commander in Sinkiang,

Second Charge Filed In Deaths Of Two Girls

Mrs. Lela Maye Littleton, 60, Odessa, was charged with negligent homicide in a complaint filed Wednesday afternoon by Dece Jon Davis, county attorney. The complaint accuses Mrs. Littleton of negligence in the traffic death Feb. 3 of Vickie Ann Garrison, 13. It was the second negligent homicide charge naming Mrs. Littleton. She was charged earlier this week in the death of Betty Sue, sister of Vickie.

Bond was set in each case at $1,000. Mrs. Littleton, who has been ill since the tragedy which took the lives of the little girls, was taken before Judge Lee Porter in Howard County Court. He explained to the defendant her rights and the nature of the charges being filed against her. She posted the required bail.

She was accompanied to the courthouse by her attorney, John Burgess.

The Garrison children, daughters of Airman I.C. and Mrs. Carl Garrison, were fatally injured when they were run down by a car as they stood awaiting a school bus near their home.

Mrs. Littleton was immediately taken to the hospital after the incident, where she was detained for several days recovering from shock. Since her discharge from the hospital, she has been at the home of a daughter here.

Flames Rushed To Fire House

SEYMOUR, Tex. (AP) — A citizen turned in a fire alarm but told the fire truck to stay in its house. The fire would be brought to it. Shortly a pickup truck, a portion of its seat blazing, skidded to a stop at the station. Three men were aboard. Firemen said one of the men had dropped a cigarette on the cushion and set the fire in the cab.

Historian Honored

AUSTIN (AP) — A University of Texas historian has won a national award for the best article on Latin American history written in 1966. Dr. Warren Dean's article, "The Planter as Entrepreneur: The Case of Sao Paulo," appeared in the May 1966 issue of Hispanic American Historical Review. It won him the $100 Robertson Prize given by the conference on Latin American History.

Construction Of Dams Asked

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A Texas Water Development Board official said Wednesday that three dams proposed for Northeast Texas are needed to help meet a part of the state's long-range water requirements.

Executive Director Joe G. Moore Jr. urged immediate start of construction of Cooper Dam on the South Sulphur River in Delta County.

He added that work should be started toward congressional authorization of dams on Bois D'Arc Creek and Cypress Creek.

The Cooper Dam, already authorized by Congress, would be built about 4½ miles southeast of Cooper. It would store 413,700 acre-feet of water. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

The proposed Cypress Dam in Titus County would be built about six miles southeast of Mount Pleasant and would have storage of 422,700 acre-feet.

The Bois D'Arc project, with a proposed storage capacity of 102,040 feet, would serve as a water source for Bonham, Sherman and Denison.

Moore spoke at a meeting of the coordinating committee for a comprehensive basin study of the Red River below Denison Dam.

The committee is composed of representatives of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana and five federal departments.

Opening lead: King of ♠.

Altho an unkind fate apparently consigned South's six spade contract to defeat in today's hand, the latter diagnosed the highly adverse distribution in time to take appropriate counter-measures.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen which declares ruffed. There appeared to be little more to the hand than to draw trump and run the heart suit. If no one held more than four hearts, then South had 12 tricks—six spades, five hearts, and the ace of diamonds. If dummy's suit divided badly, then declarer could ruff the last heart and fall back on the diamond finesse.

On the second round of trumps, East showed out, discarding a club. This was somewhat of a surprise to South for, West surely held five or six clubs for his overall and since he was now revealed to have four spades, he was obviously short in both red suits.

With East apparently marked for length in both hearts and diamonds, an alternative line of play suggested itself which might succeed even if neither red suit responded favorably. At trick three, South abandoned trumps temporarily and led the jack of diamonds. When West, followed with the three, declarer put up the dummy's ace, re-entered his hand with the ace of hearts and drew two more rounds of spades reducing all hands to the following five card position:

The last trump was led and the queen of diamonds was discarded from dummy. East could not afford to part with a heart or else North's entire suit would become established. He, therefore, gave up the king of diamonds, however South now produced the jack for his fulfilling trick.

Observe that it is essential for declarer to cash dummy's ace of diamonds before running the spades, or else the suit will block up, and East can safely discard his king in the end position.

CIA Probe Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, warning against Uncle Sam becoming big brother, urged today that the Senate as well as the White House look into the Central Intelligence Agency's cloak and gown operations among students.

"It's a move toward big brotherism if we get the government into everything," said Mansfield, a former Montana professor. He called the CIA's secret subsidy of the National Student Association "most unfortunate."

As signs of congressional concern increased, President Johnson stepped directly into the CIA-student controversy, ordering a careful review of any government activities that might endanger integrity of U.S. educational groups.

MONEY LINK

He gave the mission to Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, former law professor and ex-attorney general.

Katzenbach announced Wednesday that the President also directed key officials — including CIA Director Richard Helms — to spell out a policy to guide federal agencies "in their relationship to the international activities of American education organizations."

Johnson acted one day after the administration acknowledged the 15-year financial link between the nation's biggest spy agency and biggest college student organization. Meanwhile, rumors, reports, charges and denials followed heel on toe.

CHARGE DENIED

One charge, denied by NSA, was that its officers automatically received draft deferments. Another: that the CIA channeled funds to three other student groups.

Administration officials argue the subsidy was needed so the NSA could afford to present the American view to counter Communist-financed youth groups abroad.

NSA leaders met in an atmosphere of gloom to decide what the organization could do to regain its standing in the academic world. Some board members saw little alternative but to shut the doors and go out of business.

VIOLATION

The chairman of NSA's supervisory board, Samuel Brown, 23, a Harvard divinity student, charged it was "morally reprehensible" for the intelligence agency to have involved the student group in the dark side of world politics.

"It also appears to be a clear violation of the intent of Congress that the CIA should function in international affairs, not through a domestic, private organization," he added.

This also worried Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. He told a news conference he would introduce a resolution calling for a select Senate committee to probe the CIA's involvement "in domestic affairs and institutions."

NO NAMES

Ramparts magazine, which originally blew the cover off the secret CIA-NSA ties, said the CIA provided draft deferments despite acceleration of the fighting in Vietnam.

An NSA spokesman denied this, saying the group's top two officers are classified IA. A Selective Service spokesman said "six of these men in NSA have their classifications under appeal." He did not give their names.

OIL REPORT

Second Oiler In Pool Found

Clarence D. Wheeler No. 2 A. D. Justice has been completed as the second well in the Dorward, West (San Andres) field in Garza County for an initial pumping potential of 67 barrels of 36 gravity oil per day.

Total depth is 2,850 feet, 4 1/2 inch casing is set on bottom, and perforations between 1,830-907 feet were washed with 750 gallons of acid. Wellbore is three miles southeast of Justiceburg and 1,650 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines, section 34-6-H&GN survey.

Textota Oil Co. has finished No. 3 T. S. Currie as a new well in the Ackerly (Dean sand) pool of Martin County.

It flowed through a choke of unreported size at the daily rate of 183.8 barrels of 37.3-gravity oil from perforations between 8,354 and 8,516 feet after the section was fractured with 100,000 gallons of refined oil and 200,000 pounds of sand. Gas-oil ratio was 775-1.

RIO GROWERS CLAIM: Florida Flooding Texas Citrus Mart

AUSTIN (AP) — Florida is flooding Texas markets with unripened grapefruit, several Rio Grande Valley citrus growers told the House Agriculture Committee today.

The growers testified in favor of a bill by Rep. A. C. Atwood of Edinburg that would make out of state citrus growers meet Texas standards before they could ship their fruit into this state.

Jay Bogue of the Texas Citrus Mutual said Florida gets its grapefruit into Texas stores from three to four weeks earlier than the Texas grapefruit.

Mike Frost, a state director of the Texas Farm Bureau said, "Housewives buy this early fruit and agree with us that it isn't fit to eat, but they don't come back to buy our ripe fruit."

LOW STANDARDS

Texas law requires Texas grapefruit to contain nine per cent sugar before it can be sold, Bogue said. Florida's law requires only seven per cent sugar.

Atwood said all his bill would do is place both states on an equal footing. Present law requires the Texas agricultural commissioner to judge out of state fruit by the standards of the other state.

Atwood's bill was referred to a subcommittee.

FOREST FIRES

Also referred to subcommittee was a bill by Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine that would permit law enforcement officers to hand out tickets to persons accused of setting forest fires.

31,000 Reservists Face Active Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he will call to active duty up to 31,000 reservists who either are "unable or unwilling" to participate in reserve activities.

McNamara told a news conference Wednesday the action will affect individual members of the Reserve who are not participating satisfactorily in a unit or have not fulfilled their statutory reserve obligations. No complete units would be activated.

DRAFT ESCAPE

McNamara's move is aimed at the reservist who joins a unit to escape the draft.

Beginning next July, the defense chief said, these men will be called to active duty for 24 months, less any period of active duty or active duty training they may already have served.

Authority for the new defense department move is contained in the 1967 Defense Appropriation Act, which provides that certain individual reservists not satisfactorily fulfilling their obligations could become eligible for active duty.

The legislation was sponsored by Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Pentagon officers said the new authority would aid reserve units by enabling them to do some weeding out, thus creating vacancies for youths who are more interested.

NEW RULES

"The new rules are designed to assure greater equity in fulfilling military service obligations," McNamara said in a statement. "The individuals directly affected are now enjoying draft deferment without contributing directly to the strength and readiness of reserve components."

Pentagon spokesmen said the new rules will affect all reservists who are delinquent, including those who sign up for six months of active duty but miss meetings or otherwise misbehave before going to basic training.

LONG DELAY

Congress has criticized the policy of not activating reserve units while permitting young men of draft age to join units for six months of active training and thus, in effect, to avoid the draft.

The long delay in training these men also has been a sore spot with Congress.

McNamara made clear, however, that the Defense Department will permit exceptions to the new rules, particularly for those reservists who are prevented by government action from attending reserve meetings on a regular basis.

DOCTORS CALLED

Pentagon spokesmen said all reservists in this category — members of so-called control groups and those unable to attend meetings because units are on a case-by-case basis. Exceptions also will be permitted in cases of extreme hardship or critical occupation, sources said.

The Defense Department estimated that the new plans will affect anywhere from 15,000 to 25,000 Army reservists, 3,500 to 4,000 Air Force reservists and 2,100 Navy reservists.

Sources said the new rules do not apply to reservists who already have served two years of active duty or completed their obligated term of service in the Reserves.

In a related move, the Defense Department announced the call-up Wednesday of 100 doctors who now hold reserve commissions. They will serve two years on active duty.

Man Charged In Shop Burglary

Tommy Clifton Parks was arrested late Thursday night and charged with the burglary Monday of Casey's Body Shop. Two other men were held for investigation.

The three men were brought to the police station by Monroe Casey, owner of Casey's Body Shop, and others.

The men recovered a stolen transmission at the home of one of the men and the remainder of the stolen items were hidden three-fourths of a mile west of US 87 and one mile south of the Garden City Highway, under a bridge, police said.

Bond for Parks was set by Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, at $2,000.

Road Safety Goals Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department unveiled today an initial set of 13 standards — including an eye test and re-examination of drivers at least once every four years — it expects states and cities to follow in setting up highway safety programs.

They also include vehicle inspection at least once a year, protective helmets for motorcyclists, driver education programs, uniform traffic signals and markings and revocation of the license of a driver refusing to consent to an alcohol test.

The standards submitted to a meeting of representatives of the 50 states are somewhat broader than the nine suggestions put out by the National Highway Safety Agency last December for study by the states.

This contrasts with the auto safety standards announced by the Commerce Department which last month withdrew three of its original 23 proposals and toned down the other 20 it adopted.

Officials have indicated the highway safety standards are firm and won't be softened. They could be strengthened.

The ground rules in this program, however, differ from those employed in auto safety where the industry must comply with standards issued by the government.

Federal funds on a 50-50 basis will be made available to the states to establish highway safety programs. Officials have referred to the standards as guidelines.

Lowell K. Bridwell, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, told the meeting the standards are designed to help states and localities develop safety programs with federal financial aid, coordination and leadership.

Dr. William Haddon Jr., administrator of the Highway Safety Agency, said state programs must be in full operation by Dec. 31, 1968, but he urged the states to develop their programs immediately.

After Dec. 31, 1968, a state which is not implementing a safety program approved by the federal government faces the possible loss of 10 per cent of its federal road construction money.

No Charges In Robbery

STANTON — Dan Saunders, sheriff of Martin County, said today he and his deputy have questioned a score of suspects in the recent holdup of a Texaco service station in his town.

"I have two men in jail now," he said, "but they are just possibilities. The victim of the robbery is out of town attending a funeral and will not be back until late today. He has not had a chance to see this pair."

He said that so far the investigation into the robbery has been futile.

The holdup occurred early Tuesday morning. Harry Guerra was the attendant on duty at the station which is on the western edge of the city.

Two young men, one armed with a chrome pistol, entered the station and took $140 from Guerra. They walked away into the night.

Saunders said he had found where the pair had apparently parked their car prior to the holdup. The place was about a block from the filling station.

CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS Republicans Tap Unlikely Source

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans charged with raising money to help elect GOP congressional candidates in 1968 have successfully tapped an unlikely source—some members of the exclusive President's Club.

The club is made up of donors of $1,000 or more to Democratic campaign war chests. But a Republican congressional source said Wednesday this didn't deter Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois or House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

They reportedly wrote a letter to President's Club members, asking them to subscribe to a $500-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner here March 1. The response, said the source, has been surprisingly good.

He added: "Quite a few of the President's Club members have purchased blocks of tickets and others have sent in contributions without requesting a dinner ticket."

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1,900 women and children have staged a noisy demonstration at the Pentagon to protest the war in Vietnam.

The women shouted "war criminal!" at passing military officers and screamed demands for a meeting with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, calling the U.S. defense chief "Mac the Knife."

At one stage in Wednesday's demonstration—organized by Women's Strike for Peace—the crowd of women blocked the doors of one Pentagon entrance for about a half-hour.

Police made no arrests and the crowd quieted after six demonstrators were permitted to enter the building and talk with Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas Morris. The women called the discussion with Morris unsatisfactory.

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative was off to a good start in January, according to operating statistics.

The system had 2,603 miles of lines energized, a gain of eight for the month and 88 miles more than a year ago. There were 6,270 members connected, an increase of 20 during the month and 456 more than for January, 1966.

IBM Dips 7 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — An irregular stock market softened somewhat early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The caution in Wall Street was increased by the usual tendency to even-up gains and losses on a Thursday. The exchange community seemed little affected by favorable business news, which included a strong rise in January housing starts and a number of good reports of fourth quarter earnings which were expected to be sub par.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon showed a loss of 1.45 at 854.34.

In the morning, this closely watched indicator had shown a slight rise even as gains and losses on the New York Stock Exchange were running about even.

In the afternoon, however, the edge shifted a bit to the downside in the advance-decline ratio.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1 at 318.1 with industrials off 3, rails up 2 and utilities up 4.

The New York Stock Exchange index, however, was off a little, apparently confirming the drift of the market to the downside.

IBM fell seven points while Xerox and Polaroid lost nearly two each.

Hawks Seek Seventh Straight At 7:30

Cactus-tough South Plains College of Levelland comes to town tonight to see what it can do about arresting the HCJC Jayhawks' six-game winning skein.

Tipoff time is 7:30 p.m. HCJC is now 17-11. South Plains, after a slow start, just got over the .500 mark and is now 13-12.

The Jayhawks, who had their problems in Berger the other night although they won by 17 points, still have hopes of finishing first in Western Conference standings. They are currently 8-2 in the race.

With a 5-5 league record, Bill Powell's Texans aren't going anywhere in the race but they are in a position to send the

The Hawks can't hope to finish in the No. One position, unless they win the remainder of their games and, after tonight, they only appear once more at home.

HCJC takes off from conference play this weekend to tangle with Texas Western's freshmen in El Paso (Saturday night). The Hawks then catch Odessa on the road, Amarillo here and South Plains on the road in that order.

The Big Springers have already clinched a spot in the Region V tournament at Amarillo, which takes place the first weekend in March.

They would like nothing better to take a record which includes at least 20 wins to the tournament site.

Buddy Travis' team is not at full strength. Ace guard Bill Sinches has missed several games due to a pulled hamstring muscle. There is no indication when he will be ready again.

Odessa, the league leader, leads HCJC by only one game on the losing side. The Wranglers catch Amarillo at home Friday night.

Clay Handlers Must Uncover More Fodder

NEW YORK (AP) — By the time Cassius Clay has disposed of 34-year-old Zora Folley on the night of March 22, he will have defended his world heavyweight title seven times in 12 months.

No wonder the great man, who insists his foes call him by his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, is looking for new worlds to conquer.

"I'd like to say one more thing," said Clay Wednesday at a news conference to announce Defense No. 9 against Folley in Madison Square Garden.

"I would like to start working on those top basketball players after I finish whupping this man."

MATCH MIXED

Clay drew a laugh because there have been stories recently that he had been lined up for a bout with Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 pro basketball star. Herbert Muhammad, Clay's manager, reportedly nixed the match.

Apparently the champ, who is appealing his 1-A draft status on the grounds that he is a Muslim minister, intends to keep fighting as often as possible.

Johnny Persol of New York, who will box Clay's stablemate, James Ellis, in a 10-round semifinal on the March 22 Garden card, was in the audience. He heckled Clay about a shot at the title.

"Ellis is better than the last two contenders," said Clay. "If I can hit James and get away with it in training I know I'm ready. If Persol can whup Ellis he will be among the men considered. I'm fighting at least six men this year and you (pointing to Persol) have got to be involved. Just keep talking."

Although Folley is ranked the leading contender now that Clay has beaten Ernie Terrell, he will be a longshot. Matn Bout, Inc., the closed circuit people who usually handle Clay's bouts, are not involved.

Fred Weir New Andrews Coach

ANDREWS — Fred Weir, coach of Class AA grid football Granbury, has been named to succeed Max Goldsmith as head football coach at Andrews High School.

Goldsmith resigned recently to become track coach and a football aide at Lewisville High School.

Weir will assume his duties at Andrews March 6. His contract starts at $10,800 annually and extends for two years.

Weir was head coach at Granbury for six years, during which time his teams won two district titles. Sweeney defeated Granbury in the 1966 state title game.

Before hiring on at Granbury, Weir coached at Copperas Cove.

New Mexico State Rips TWC Again

New Mexico State is the comeback team of the year in college basketball this season.

The Aggies from Las Cruces cemented their claim to the honor by whipping Texas Western, the national champions, 64-53 Wednesday night for the second time.

It was the Aggies' sixth victory in their last seven games and upped their over-all record to 14-3 compared to their dismal 4-22 mark last season.

The second straight road defeat of nationally eighth-ranked Texas Western overshadowed Syracuse's 11th straight victory. The 10th-ranked Orange, in the Associated Press Top Ten for the first time, whipped Colgate on the road 100-86. Seventh-ranked Houston romped over St.

Mary's of Texas 122-58 at home. Mal Graham, the nation's leading major college scorer, threw in 45 points to lead NYU over Manhattan 76-63.

Villanova edged Canisius 47-44, Toledo whacked Bowling Green 103-83, Georgia Tech downed Georgia 87-79, Virginia Tech thumped George Washington 78-66, Dayton walloped Northern Illinois 101-60, Marquette nipped Xavier of Ohio 71-69, Chicago Loyola squeaked by Western Michigan 85-84 in overtime and Denver defeated the Air Force 75-73.

Bob Evans, with 16 points, led New Mexico State to a 29-11 halftime lead as the Aggies handed the national champs from El Paso their fifth defeat against 16 triumphs.

The Aggies' terrific defense limited Texas Western to only two field goals in the first half. The Miners actually didn't score a field goal during a 14-minute span.

Ken John topped Texas Western with 11 points as David Latin, the Miners' star, was limited to five points and fouled out on personals. Don Haskins, Texas Western coach who is probably thinking of changing his team's orange road uniforms to blue, was not available for comment after the game.

Syracuse upped its record to 18-2 by defeating Colgate behind George Hicker's 24 points. Rick Caputo topped the Red Raiders with 25. Elvin Hayes' 30 points sparked Houston in its rout of St. Mary's.

Wetsel Discusses Pro Shop Plan

J. B. Wetsel, golf pro at the Municipal course here, broached the idea of new pro shop in a meeting with the City Parks and Recreation Board Wednesday afternoon.

Wetsel said an ideal structure would have to include no more than 2,400 square feet and could be of corrugated iron. He estimated that the cost would run about $10 per square foot.

The links pro said the debt could be retired in seven or eight years, if the increase in business is maintained as anticipated.

The idea of increasing green fees 25 cents per round, with the extra money going toward a fund to finance the proposed structure, was also discussed.

Texas Team 2nd In Juco Poll

PODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) — For the sixth week in a row, Moberly, Mo., is ranked No. 1 in the basketball coaches poll of the National Junior College Athletic Association. Moberly is 20-2 for the season.

San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex., 32-3, held second place and Mineral Area of Flat River, Mo., 22-3, again was third.

Dick Corsetto of Harford at Bel Air, Md., retained the individual scoring lead with an average of 36.3 points a game. Coahoma of Clarksdale, Miss., once again was the team scoring leader with a 108.2 average.

Big O Gives The Business To NY Knicks

Oscar Robertson looks like a man from Mars in the cumbersome face guard he wears to protect his injured mouth but he's just the same old Wizard of Oz to the New York Knickerbockers.

Robertson put on one of his routine shows against the Knicks Wednesday night, leading Cincinnati to a 129-118 home court victory. The Big O scored 46 points and added 14 assists in his one-man blitz against New York.

In other games Wednesday, Philadelphia downed Detroit 127-121 and Los Angeles whipped Boston 124-114. As a result, the 76ers opened up a 7 1/2 game lead over the Celtics in the Eastern Division race.

Robertson hit on 15 of 28 field goal attempts and raised his average against the Knicks this season to better than 34 points per game. He got scoring help from Happy Hairston, who had 24 points and Adrian Smith, who added 22.

Dick Barnett led the Knicks with 21 and Dick Van Arsdale had 20.

The victory moved Cincinnati within two games of New York in the race for third place in the BA's Eastern Division.

At Detroit, Wally Jones did the early scoring and Billy Cunningham picked up the late points as Philadelphia whipped the Pistons for the seventh straight time.

Jones, who finished with 23 points, scored 12 in the first period and Cunningham had 13 of his 34 in the final quarter for the 76ers.

Dave Bing and Eddie Miles led the Pistons with 24 each.

Meredith Takes Job At Belton

BELTON — Jack Meredith, head coach at Hereford, has been named to succeed Spike Dykes as head coach and athletic director at Belton High School.

Dykes resigned recently to become head coach and AD at Big Spring. Hereford finished second to Dumas in 1-AAA last fall and boasted an 8-2 record.

Baird Elects To Call It A Day As Mentor

The dean of athletic coaches in this immediate area, Roy Baird, has called it a day.

The native of Loraine is in his 19th year as a Big Spring mentor. For the past 16 years, he has served as head baseball coach of the Steers.

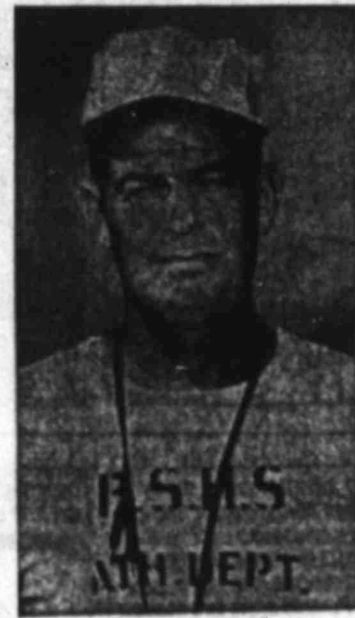

Baird will remain in the local system as a classroom teacher. In announcing his resignation as a coach, the amiable West Texan said he had no plans other than to catch up on his fishing.

Baird hired on as a coaching aide to the late Herschel (Mule) Stockton in 1948 and was immediately assigned to help Con Isaacs coach the baseball team.

After Isaacs moved to Amarillo three years later, Baird was elevated to the head baseball post. He continued to help with football down through the years.

In 1956, Baird and Harold Bentley, now the assistant high school principal here, served as head co-coaches of the Steer football team.

Stockton moved on after the 1948 season and Baird has since served as aides to Carl Coleman, Al Milch, Emmett McKenzie, Don Robbins and Herman Smith.

ROY BAIRD

Pending an official announcement from Spike Dykes, new head coach and athletic director of the Steers, Oakey Hagood and Dan Bustamante are serving as the Steer baseball mentors.

One of the big thrills of Baird's coaching career occurred in 1953, when he watched the Steers go all the way to the state finals in football.

Perhaps his greatest thrill, however, occurred when he watched the locals trounce Abilene High, 20-0, in 1962. Baird had scouted the Eagles that fall and is given much of the credit for spotting weaknesses in Abilene's offense that enabled the Steers to blank the Eagles.

Down through the years, Baird's work as a football scout was lauded by all the mentors who worked with him.

Roy said he knows he will miss athletics and the chance to work with the boys. It will take him some time to get used to the fact that his services at the school are not required on a "daylight to dark" basis.

Baird has worked with some outstanding baseball talent down through the years, including Jeff Brown, Billy and Jimmy Roger, Yogi Anderson, Rod Roberts, Rick Terry, Preston Daniels, Jackie Everett, Wilson Bell, Jackie Thomas, Bernard McMahan, Chubby Moser and many others.

Last year under Baird, the Steers were 5-9 in District 2-AAAA play and 10-16 over-all.

Roy had several chances to become head coach at other schools after signing on here but preferred the role of an assistant. He was noted for his unquestioned loyalty to the head coach for whom he happened to be working and to the school in general.

He remains one of those individuals who, if he can't say something nice about an individual, he prefers not to say anything at all.

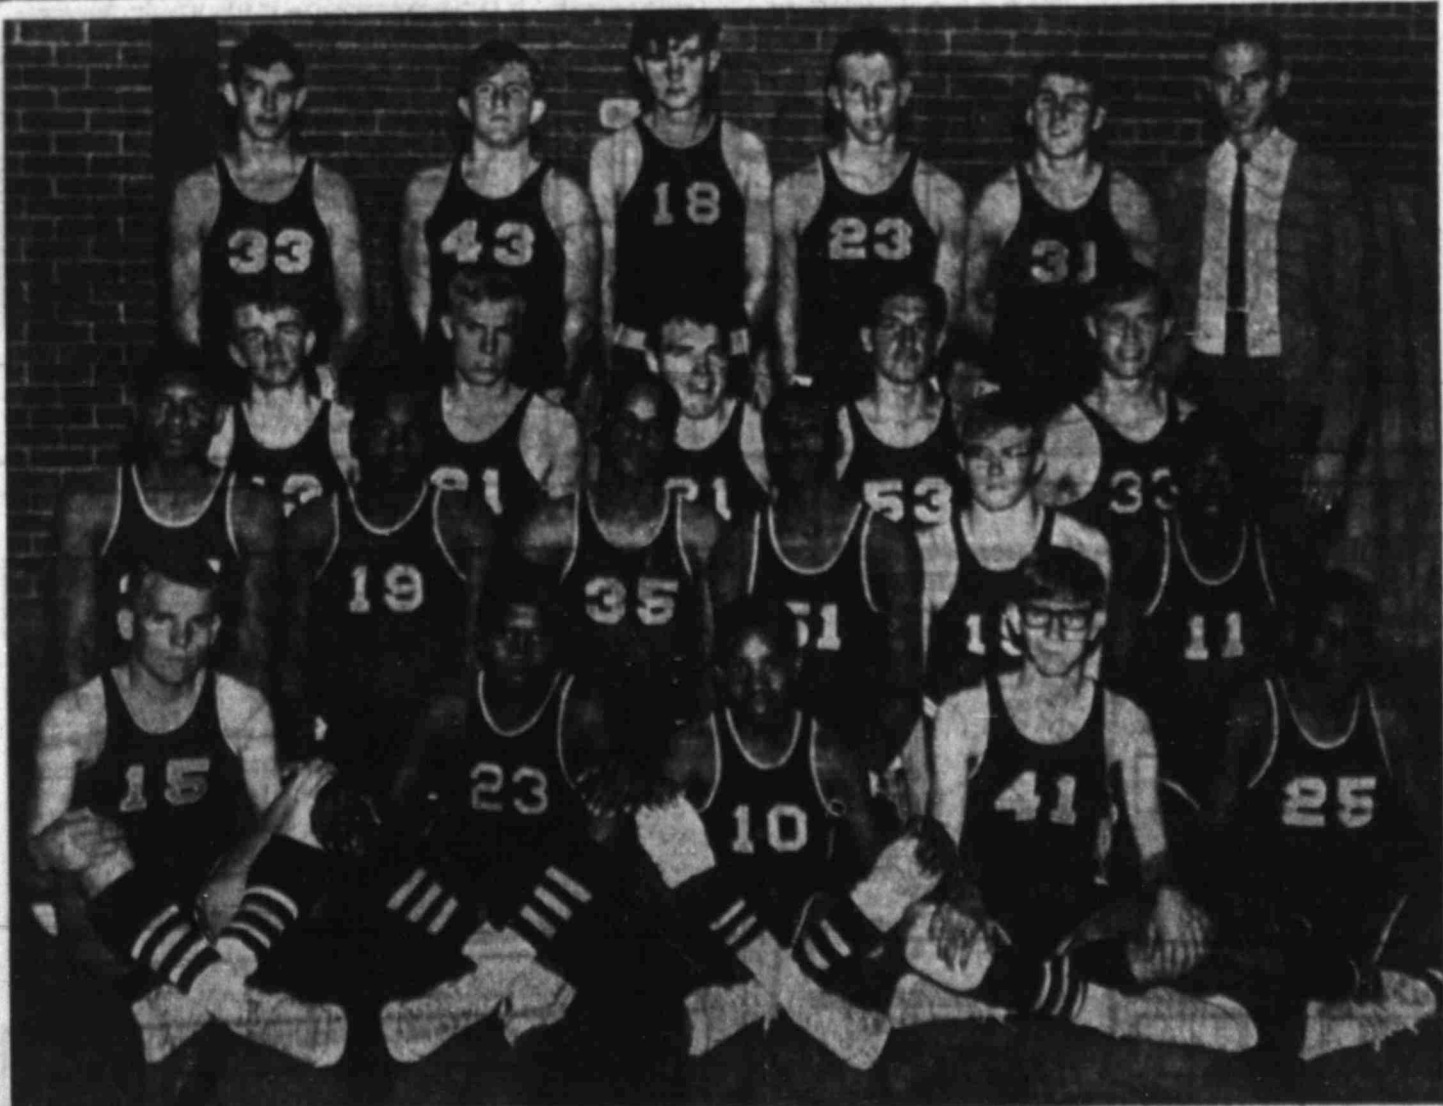

Smith, Acri Are Renamed To Posts In Association

Jimmy Ray Smith was re-elected president of the Big Spring Basketball Officials' association at the organization's last official meeting of the season Wednesday night while Eddie Acri was again named to the position of secretary-treasurer.

For the first time, an assistant to the secretary was appointed and will handle the scheduling of officials for B team and junior high school games. He is Jack Griffin. The association now boasts 25 members and welcomes those who aspire to learn the trade. Association members worked approximately 700 members during the season which is now drawing to a close.

A dinner for members and their wives will be held at the Ramada Inn at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 22. Efforts are being made to get a speaker for the program.

Aspire To Regular Berths

Pictured here are members of the Big Spring High School B basketball team, some of whom are destined to clock a lot of playing time with the regulars next season. The Dogies finished with a 9-15 won-lost record and would, no doubt, have done better had not some of the boys been promoted to the A squad after the season began. Back row, from left, they are Tim Childress, Johnny Hedges, Dan Alexander,

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring High School's golf team which has developed a lot of muscle and earned a lot of respect in a hurry, finished a strong third in the first round of District 2-AAAA competition last Friday in Abilene.

It might have done even better had sophomore Ronnie Broadrick run down a three-foot putt for an eagle on 17 and not bogied 18. As it was Ronnie toured the layout in 73 strokes, one over par.

Another member of the team, Mike Hall, came to 18 all even, only to drive the ball out of bounds. He came in with a respectable 74.

The 2-AAAA race appears more evenly balanced than it has in years, with all eight teams given a shot at the crown. Unless San Angelo builds up too much of an advantage on its home course in today's matches, the Longhorns have a good shot at first place.

Big Spring has won only two team championships in 2-AAAA since it became a member of the league and one of those came in golf at a time Bobby Maxwell was going to school here. (The other occurred in basketball nine years ago). It would be nice to add a third crown to the school's trophy case.

Neal Morgan, who came here to help Emmett McKenzie institute a radical new football program several years ago, is now a member of the Trinity University coaching staff.

He has been assisting Gene Henderson, the former Odessa aide, at Nederland High School (where McKenzie is now the superintendent).

Dick Mabry, new head coach at Midland High School, helped Odessa mentor Joe Means one season when Joe was at Phillips High School. He quit there to go to Houston Smiley.

Now that Emory Bellard of San Angelo has departed the scene, no District 2-AAAA football mentor has been in the saddle longer than two seasons. Gene Mayfield at Permian and Merrill Green at Cooper are the deans of the conference mentors and neither held his present job as recently as the 1964 campaign.

Roy Hofheinz, who now operates the Houston Astrodome, says the biggest problem he ever faced was getting an owl out of the ceiling after the place was built.

"We couldn't find him," explains the judge.

If the University of Texas doesn't land Bridge City's Steve Worster, the University of Alabama very likely will.

The all-state back has been sought by half a hundred of the nation's finest schools.

Ex-boxing champion Lew Jenkins, who still has close ties in Big Spring, now makes his home close to the Diablo golf course not far from Antioch, Calif., where he works. Lew's son attends San Jose State College as an engineering student.

After he fought Henry Armstrong years ago, 41 stitches were required to close the wounds in his face.

Armstrong is a preacher of sorts now and Lew once told him:

"Henry, we ought to team up. You could preach against whiskey. I'd just stand there."

Lew always said his love of the bright lights and the sauce shortened his ring career by several years.

Tentative plans called for the teams to gather at San Angelo for the match today. That plan was pronounced OK by Dan Lewis of Big Spring but the other mentors, especially those in Midland and Odessa, didn't cotton to the idea.

Another poll was taken and the majority favored leaving the schedule as it was.

San Angelo now leads the race by six strokes. Big Spring is in third place, 11 shots off the pace. Lewis said he was not opposed to playing in San Angelo because the Steers had done so well in a practice match there.

Friday's round will be the second of five 18-hole matches scheduled among 2-AAAA teams. The contingents wind up conference play in Big Spring the first weekend in April, the match then coinciding with the remaining of the spring meet planned by the conference.

Lewis will probably take eight players to Midland with him, five of whom will be designated to shoot for the team score.

Of that five, the scores of the four shooting the lowest medal scores will count toward the championship.

Last week in Abilene, Big Spring's contingent consisted of Ronnie Broadrick, Mike Hall, Mike Weaver, Ken Chadd and Randy Nicholson. Broadrick posted the best score of the group, a 73.

The two teams meet here at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The same teams met last year in a playoff game and Levelland pulled out a 61-60 victory.

HELP!
Have we got troubles? Don't ask! There we were, minding our business and tending to our little distillery in our own quiet way. SUDDENLY THE ROOF FALLS IN! Overnight, everybody discovers our rare old Sippin' Whiskey. We're a hit! We're also way behind in our orders.
The trouble is Ezra Brooks is so sippin' good, you buy it faster than we can deliver it. So if your liquor store is out of Ezra Brooks, take heart. More is on the way. Keep asking for it. Or play it safe and leave your order. Today. It's worth waiting for.

Aid For 80 More Dropouts Sought

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Tom Riddlehuber, coordinator for the Neighborhood Youth Corps in Cooke, Denton, Wise, Montague, Clay, Collin, Fannin and Grayson counties, said his office is requesting aid for an additional 80 school dropouts.

There are 70 enrollees in the program. These include 42 girls and 28 boys.

School dropouts are employed in various capacities in the hopes they will be trained in a vocation. The enrollee remains in the program for six months, drawing a salary of $1.25 per hour for a maximum of 32 hours.

The program is financed by the Federal government.

Flying Whale Isn't Really An Airplane

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — This isn't really an airplane. It's a flying version of Mammoth Cave.

Yet within four years this whale-like flying machine will be hurtling from Los Angeles to New York in four hours carrying 362 passengers — and their luggage—in its cavernous belly.

It could carry as many as 400 passengers in economy-class seats, but nobody seems to want that at present.

The plane is the 625 mile per hour Boeing 747 and the first models are scheduled for delivery to Pan American World Airways for international runs in just two years.

NEVER THE SAME
Whatever flying was like before, it will never be the same again.

Picture this:
A spiral staircase leads from the main cabin to a luxury lounge on the second deck. The seats — perhaps nine abreast — are divided by two separate aisles. Windows are bigger than present jet passenger plane windows, easily big enough to step through. There are as many as 11 lavatories. The ceiling is comfortably above present heights.

CHORUS LINE
And heaven knows how many stewardesses it will take — but it ought to be enough for a chorus line at the Latin Quarter, if not the Radio City Music Hall.

It is so big that the wings and tail assembly for the mockup model could not be attached to the fuselage. The tail — 63 feet high — would have gone through the roof of the plant, and the wings — almost 196 feet in span — through the walls. It might have been simpler just to put the tail and wings on the building itself.

"They're sawing it (the fuselage) up in sections now," explained a spokesman for Boeing. "And then they'll truck it over to the new Everett Wash., plant, where the 747 will be made."

It will double or triple almost anything today's big jets can do, except speed.

FOURTH IN A SERIES

Wife Not Considered Income Tax Dependent

EDITOR'S NOTE — For income tax purposes, a wife is not considered a dependent, but some relatives, or even a friend, might be. This is the fourth of five articles on income tax returns.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Claim every exemption you rightfully can in filing your 1966 income tax return since each one means $600 knocked off your taxable income.

This is true for yourself, your wife, and your dependents. But the rules on exemptions vary, particularly the rules on dependents. A wife is not considered a dependent for income tax purposes.

Everyone filing a return gets $600 exemption for himself if he is under 65, $1,200 if he is 65 or older, and an extra $600 if he is blind. He gets the same for his wife but only up to a point.

NO EXEMPTION
He gets a $600 exemption for his wife only if she files a joint return with him, whether or not she had income, or, if she had no income, she fails to file jointly with him and she is not a dependent of another taxpayer.

If she had $600 or more income, she must file a return, either separately or jointly with her husband. If she files separately, she takes her $600 exemption on her return, he takes his on his return.

If a wife had any income at all — say it was less than $600 — and therefore didn't require a return from her — her husband can claim no exemption for her unless she files jointly with him. Failure to file jointly in a case like that is throwing away all or a part of a $600 exemption.

KEY TEST
If the wife died any time in 1966 and the husband did not remarry in that year, he can claim a $600 exemption for her and file a joint return. So much on married couples.

Now for dependents. A dependent could be your child, stepchild, adopted child, parent, or some other relative, or even a friend. But you get no extra exemption for a dependent because he is over 65 or blind.

There is one well-known test — called the support test — on whether you can claim a person as a dependent: Did you contribute more than half his support in 1966?

For instance: You can claim as a dependent your child who was born or died in 1966, if you met the test for that part of the year in which he lives, even if a new-born child lived only a minute. But you cannot claim as a dependent a stillborn child, which means dead when born.

AGE 19 IMPORTANT
Age 19 is important in deciding whether you can claim a child, adopted child or stepchild as a dependent.

Remember: Anyone under or over 19 who had $600 or more income of his own in 1966 must file his own return and take his own exemption on that return.

child, and so on; your legally adopted child or stepchild, but not the latter's descendants; your brother or sister; your parents, grandparents, or other direct ancestors, but not a foster parent; your stepfather or stepmother; your niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; and such in-laws as your father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law.

Generally, you could not claim them as dependents if they lived overseas, unless they were U.S. citizens.

Death or divorce does not end any of the above relationships. For example: Suppose your wife is dead or divorced. You can continue to claim her father — your father-in-law — as a dependent if he fits the rules given above.

MORE QUESTIONS
A relative doesn't have to live with you for you to claim him or her as a dependent. For instance: You may have been paying more than half the support of your father who is living with your brother.

But if any of these relatives had taxable income of $600 or more you could not claim him as a dependent, even though you did contribute more than half his support.

If he had $600 or more taxable income, he would have to file his own return and take his own $600 exemption there.

That raises some other questions.

If one of the relatives listed above had nontaxable income — say $700 to Social Security payments — could you claim him as a dependent?

Suppose that relative with $700 in Social Security payments banked the money and did not use it to live on. You could claim him as a dependent if you met the support test.

But if he spent some or all of it to support himself, then you'd have to decide whether your support was more than half the support he got from that nontaxable $700.

EL PASO (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, serving a federal prison term for fraud, will not appear at El Paso for a hearing to determine the validity of government tax claims against his bankrupt estate.

Assistant U.S. Atty. Harry Hudspeth said Wednesday attorneys had agreed to accept written testimony from Estes.

The government canceled a request for a writ of habeas corpus order Estes from Minnesota to El Paso for the hearing.

Estes, convicted on fraud charges in connection with the sale of mortgages on fertilizer tanks that did not exist, was transferred last year from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to the minimum security institution in Minnesota.

Overdue Justice

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An Albuquerque public library employee had the library's system of paying fines applied against her recently in a courtroom.

Mrs. Jesus Flores told Municipal Court Judge James A. Maloney she had forgotten about a $1 parking ticket she received 82 days ago.

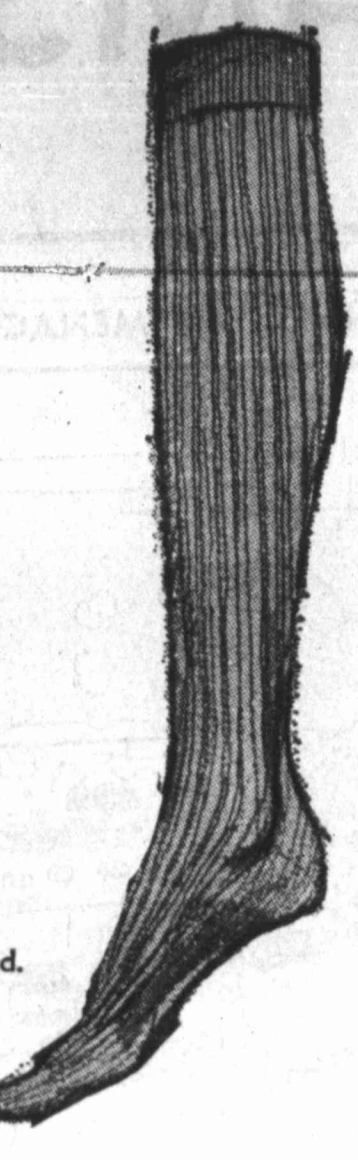

Maloney fined her four cents — the same charged for overdue books at the library — for each day the ticket was unpaid. The ticket plus the fine totaled $4.28.

A Devotional For The Day

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)
PRAYER: Our Father, who art able to work for good and through all things, guide our thoughts and acts. In Thy strength, help us to overcome the evil that tempts us and master it with the good, which is a gift from Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Disquieting Disclosure

The news that the Central Intelligence Agency has been supporting several student organizations is disquieting.

The organizations may be deserving of support because of the nature of their contributions. If so, could not their subsidy be accomplished in the open rather than secretly? It may be argued that open support might make an organization suspect of outside influence. This would, it seems to us, be less of a risk than the embarrassment of disclosure of clandestine support?

Some will say that the government has no business supporting any organization, and there is considerable weight to such an argument. This could be a short cut to the governmental control of institutions ostensibly private and independent—especially when this is done under the table.

Still, when in the case of some small minority of student organizations there is good reason to believe that support comes from outside this nation, why should we be barred from counteracting this? If, on this basis, support is deemed prudent, then it should be done openly and with clear guidelines which would make an honorable association. There is a difference between aided and kept.

Varying Logic

The City of Big Spring has moved to adopt the extra-territorial control powers made available to municipalities by the Texas legislature.

There is more than a little logic to this, for if there is the possibility if not the probability that territories involved eventually may be brought into the corporate limits, the city should be protected against having the costly job of replacing substandard and inadequate utilities, streets and similar services.

Nevertheless, this will strike fire from many who believe that in the absence of ability to furnish services, the city should have no right of control.

In the same breath, the commission has given the green light to water sales outside the corporate limits for industrial and agricultural purposes. The industrial policy, based on creating jobs for municipal residents, has been in effect; the reasoning on agricultural uses is obscure, especially since residences will continue to be barred. Is it all right to water a turnip but not a person? Or is it that the turnip dodges fewer taxes than a residence? Or does the whole policy need review? There seems to be more logic to the former action than the latter.

Acts Could Be Invalidated

WASHINGTON—Why doesn't the United States government today have an attorney general instead of an "acting attorney general"? Are actions valid which have been or are being currently taken under the Civil Rights Act of 1964, since that statute stipulates that certain duties can be performed only by the attorney general?

Reorganization Act of 1953 which state that whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of the attorney general, the deputy attorney general may serve as "acting attorney general." But are laws like the 1953 statute constitutional? If they are, then a president can withhold from the Senate the nominations of other cabinet officers, too, at any time and merely designate them as "acting."

NICHOLAS Katzenbach resigned as attorney general on Oct. 3, 1966. Although Congress did not adjourn until Oct. 22, no nomination of a successor was sent to the Senate by President Johnson. Nor was any recess appointment made between the time of the adjournment in October and the beginning of a new session of Congress on Jan. 10, 1967.

It can be contended that the Constitution does not recognize a president's right to make any recess appointments except when Congress has adjourned, and that the failure to make a nomination while the Senate is in session contravenes the letter and the spirit of the Constitution. It would not be surprising if many of the orders recently issued by the "acting attorney general"—not only those under the Civil Rights Act but other laws as well—were challenged in the courts as unconstitutional.

The Constitution provides that "the President shall have the power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session." Presumably any acts by an attorney general serving under a recess appointment but not yet confirmed by the Senate are valid because the Constitution explicitly provides for such appointments.

SOME STATUTES have been passed, of course, which stipulate that, when the head of a cabinet department is away from Washington, his duties may be performed by his deputy. But the assumption is that these are temporary actions which can be ratified or confirmed when the secretary or top executive returns to his desk. It would be difficult to accept as legal, however, the continuing operations of an "acting attorney general."

WHAT IS PUZZLING, however, is that President Johnson gave no recess appointment to Ramsey Clark, who was designated as "acting attorney general," and that no nomination has been submitted to the Senate to fill the four-month vacancy in the office of attorney general.

THIS MAY lead some day to invalidation by the courts of important acts which have adversely affected individuals or their property.

The same thing happened when Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy resigned on Sept. 3, 1964, and Nicholas Katzenbach, deputy attorney general, took over the duties of attorney general. Congress didn't adjourn until Oct. 3, 1964, and there was no recess appointment afterwards by President Johnson. The nomination was finally made on Jan. 28, 1965—again after Congress had been in session for several weeks. Were the acts of Mr. Katzenbach valid from the time he was designated as "acting attorney general" in September, 1964 until his name was sent to the Senate late in January?

THE junior senator from Illinois proposes to finance a national home ownership foundation through the sale of bonds, at first to the government. Billy Graham

Why does God require us to bow down and worship Him? F.A. Men worship God, not because He demands it, but because they have a sense of awe and wonder before Him. It is rational to recognize authority, and to show respect for our superiors.

But worship of God goes deeper than this. Christians are possessed of adoration and love for God, and a sense of joy and wonder drives them to their knees in His presence.

Man by nature is proud, self-sufficient. To know who is supreme in the universe, and to kneel to Him, is a part of wisdom. When we get to the place where we recognize no superior, respect no authority, or do nothing to break our pride, we have indeed sunk to the level of animals.

From the beginning of time, men who have caught a glimpse of the majesty of God have worshipped Him, not only because He demands it, but because it is normal and instinctive to honor greatness wherever it is found.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

When Charles Percy described his housing plan as an urban homestead act, he captured its essence: a plan guaranteed by government but carried out by individuals for their own benefit.

The junior senator from Illinois proposes to finance a national home ownership foundation through the sale of bonds, at first to the government. The foundation in turn would lend money to nonprofit associations that would renovate slum properties and then to poor families at long-term rates they could afford. Breadwinners unable to come up with even modest payments could contribute their labor.

Other politicians have been climbing aboard the Percy plan since it was first announced last fall on the campaign trail in Illinois. It is now an official part of the Republican program, or at least an official part as a mention in the GOP's own state of the union message can make it. More than a score of Republican senators endorsed it in the opening days of this Congress.

And now the Democrats are presenting it, with stylistic adjustments, as their own. Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.) has generalized the Percy approach into a wider though less specific program for all of America's cities—Ribicoff calls for a systematic policy of incentives for private initiative, including tax credits for businessmen who provide jobs in low-income areas and guaranteed mortgages for low- and middle-income homeowners.

'Great Debate' Still Rages

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 16 years it's the "great debate" all over again, maybe. The argument is the same — about American troops for Europe — but this time with a twist.

Last time Republicans led the pitch for fewer U. S. troops in Europe, or none at all. Democrats argued for more. Now 31 Senate Democrats and 11 Republicans call for fewer troops in Europe. But some Republicans say "wait."

The original argument had its roots in the 1940's, with Republicans divided then, too. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, long an isolationist, abandoned that position.

how they figured this country could survive if fascism and communism took over the rest of the world is hard to say.

Within less than a month after Hoover made his second speech Taft backed him, opposing the use of any large American force in Europe. But Taft, and those Republicans who supported him, lost.

The wheels turn. Last year the Senate's Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, called for a big reduction in U.S. forces in Europe. The Senate didn't do anything about it in 1966.

But this year Mansfield and 41 other Senators joined in challenging U.S. policy in Europe and offered a resolution urging a substantial reduction in American troops there.

HE ASKED in 1948, and got Senate approval of a resolution for U. S. military alliances and mutual help among the allies. This paved the way for the creation of the North American Treaty Organization a year later as a bulwark against possible Soviet attack.

But Senate Republicans, led by Robert A. Taft, did their best to scuttle NATO. They failed and the Senate approved the treaty in 1949. President Harry S. Truman quickly said he would send troops to Europe as part of NATO.

Boy's Heart Rate Speeds Up To 200

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Two weeks ago my son, 16, was hospitalized because his heart rate was 200 beats a minute. Tests and X-rays showed all his organs functioning properly otherwise except for gas forming in his stomach. The doctors said that could be the result of the rapid heart rate.

He is now at home and on an ulcer diet, but his heart rate is still faster than normal. I never heard of such a case before, but the doctor said he has handled many. I am concerned as to what is causing this.

L. Z.

Periods of rapid heartbeat (paroxysmal tachycardia is the technical term) are not particularly uncommon, and in a good many cases folks are more alarmed than they should be. I don't know as I blame them. When your heart starts to race for no reason that you can readily understand, you worry about it.

The comforting fact is that this rapid beat usually can be returned to normal. The causes vary enormously — from too much smoking or too much coffee, to emotional tensions. Sometimes it is quite difficult, if possible at all, to pin it down to any specific cause, yet even in these instances normal rate often is restored.

Of the more involved causes, one which should be considered is thyrotoxicosis resulting from an over-active thyroid.

As to the gassy stomach, that is a common symptom of tachycardia and (assuming that no other stomach disorder is involved) it abates after the heart rate returns to normal.

Dear Dr. Molner: My girl friend is engaged to a man who cannot talk above a whisper because of surgery on his vocal cords. She is terribly disturbed because other friends told her this surgery is always a result of cancer, and that the cancer would be contagious to her. Where can she get help? — C. A. C.

So here's some more misery caused by know-it-alls who do not know what they are talking about. My advice to anyone being pestered by idle scare stories is to get some facts first before wasting time worrying.

The girl friend might best ask her fiancé. Maybe the surgery was because of cancer; perhaps for some other reason.

Assuming that it was cancer in the first place it isn't contagious; in the second place the surgery would have been aimed at curing it. This type of surgery is very often highly successful.

Bed-wetting is a distressing problem. If your child has the habit, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of his helpful booklet, "Enuresis — Ten Ways to Stop Bed-Wetting." Please enclose a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is delighted to receive letters from his readers, but regrets that because of the great number received daily he cannot answer them individually. Whenever possible, Dr. Molner uses readers' questions in his column.

Picturesque City Is Awakening

Returning for a visit to Marfa is almost like taking a trip backward in time. All but isolated with its sister city of Alpine in Far West Texas, the tiny city (5,000 population) is pockmarked with evidence of bygone glories, while some of the forward-looking residents prepare for a new era of prosperity when tourists begin to discover the beauties of that land.

While Big Spring struggles to keep pace with the aviation age and enlarge its airport, Marfa boasts two air fields, the smaller one equal to our county port in runway size. The larger one will accommodate jets of the largest size, provided the antelope stay clear of the landing strips.

A GIGANTIC hangar braces against the occasional stiff wind, and the prairie grasses are gradually winning the battle to take over magnificent runways, left over from WW II, when the government had a training base there. Curiously, the larger field is abandoned; the city uses the smaller one for its air traffic.

On another side of town stands the vandalized remains of Camp D. A. Russell, one of the last posts for the now forgotten cavalry. Rows and rows of barracks stand in a clutter of broken glass, where idle youngsters have methodically thrown rocks through the windows.

THE BIG air ducts on the roofs mark the days before air conditioning, and they still turn in the wind, keeping the inside vacantness cool with soft breezes. Residents in that land can point out the old hospital, the mess halls, the stables, the stockade, and other military standbys.

On the hill overlooking the camp is Officer's Row, elegant houses that have since been purchased by residents for homes, but retaining their past beauty, right up to the top where the commanding officer lived.

To the west of town stands a gaulty false front, all that's left of a Hollywood movie set, where Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson, James Dean, and scores of other stars walked through their paces and recited the lines for the film "Giant." Many Marfa residents lived among the common folk.

To the south, toward Presidio, is a ghost town, the remnants of still another age when men robbed the earth of quicksilver at the abandoned town of Shafter. The walls of a multitude of homes still stand. Several years ago, a flurry of excitement developed when a firm unveiled plans to sell homesites in the area. Promoters wound up in trouble, however, and the rocky ground stands barren.

NOT TOO far away is Big Bend National Park, to the north is Fort Davis, a historical site, the Davis Mountains and an observatory.

It is a land of many wonders, gradually awakening to its potential.

USA—Indeed A Land Of Riches

WASHINGTON — If there were a Voltaire Award, it should go this year to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Anybody, observed Voltaire, who makes two blades to grow where only one grew before deserves better of his country than all the politicians. To modernize that dictum, one could say that whoever delivers additional raw materials to the American Commonwealth deserves the highest national honors. This Udall has been doing in his Public Lands program and his Heavy Metals program, but he hasn't received due credit.

THE SUBJECT is enormous, and I hope to be writing several columns on it. For present purposes, let us recall a little-noted remark by Abraham Lincoln: "A nation may be said to consist of its territory, its peoples and its laws. The territory is the only part which is of certain durability." Lincoln is not remembered as a materialist, but he is saying here that the good earth endures for us all from generation to generation, and in our industrial age earthly beneficence means minerals as well as food and fiber. An incomplete list of what Secretary Udall is planning to add to the country's net worth would include:

material by any means) will not be instantly had by rubbing some Aladdin's lamp of science. But in a time that is clearly foreseeable, we stand to become many times over the richest, the most economically independent, the most materially fortunate nation of them all. There is cause for general thanksgiving in that other national regions besides these three states have some blessings in store.

IN APPALACHIA and the Central States there have been airborne instrumental surveys that disclose a huge "basement" of iron ore deposits beneath the forests, the vegetation and some 1,500 feet of rock.

Off the shores of New York City a veritable treasure trove of sand and gravel has been discovered by Interior Department subdivisions. It means employment and money-saving that should dance like visions of sugarplums in Mayor John Lindsay's mind.

In Buford County, N. C., and stretching southward into Florida, are fresh lodges of phosphates that have already set off a boom in new manufacture of fertilizers.

IN THE Southwest and in the Great Basin—roughly from the Rockies to the Pacific — huge natural caches of minerals are being spotted by airborne sensors (soon to be borne by satellites), and the money-values are incalculable.

In the coastal waters off Maine, and off the continental shelf of the Atlantic and in the Gulf of Mexico are potential hauls of minerals other than petroleum that cannot fail to enrich those territories.

This sampling, I repeat for emphasis, does not exhaust the catalogue of new possessions for us lucky Americans, and does not even touch upon what must be done in technology and legislation to make it all our own.

BUT I see no reason to withhold a salute to Stewart Udall, whose leadership in this largely unpublicized work can be rated as, "So far, so good."

There Must Be Fairer Ways

WASHINGTON — The Joint Chiefs of Staff have just made a proposal to protect 50 U.S. cities from missile attack by defending them with the costly Nike-X antimissile system. The Pentagon said the cities were selected on the basis of size, but it turned out that many cities chosen were, in fact, smaller than those left off the list (i.e. Charleston, S. C., population 76,000 and home of L. Mendel Rivers, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, would be protected; San Diego, population 1 million, would not).

WHEN SENATORS and congressmen from unprotected cities heard about the list they hit the Capitol dome, and some of them haven't come down yet. It's obvious that the joint chiefs' antimissile plan in its present form will never get through.

There must be a fairer way of selecting the cities that will get missile protection as against those that will have to be sacrificed in a nuclear war, and I've been giving it a lot of thought lately. Here are some of the ideas I'm running up the flagpole to see which ones the joint chiefs of staff will salute.

The first thing would be to select 25 cities that have Democratic administrations and 25 cities with Republican administrations. In that way, after World War III, the United States could preserve the two-party system.

THE NEXT thing would be to select cities that are in good shape financially. It has to be assumed that after an all-out missile attack the country will have some economic problems, and there is no reason it should be burdened with additional financial difficulties from urban areas.

The cost of making 50 cities bomb-proof, according to the Pentagon, is in the neighborhood of $20 billion, which is quite expensive; and there may be some resistance from those taxpayers whose towns are not in the protected areas. But this is shortsighted, because it is economically unfeasible to save everybody, and those citizens whose cities cannot be protected will at least expire with the knowledge that their taxes kept so many of their fellow Americans alive.

THERE ALSO may be people who live out in the country and suburban areas who might feel they have as much right to survive an atomic attack as the city folks, but here again they're taking the small view.

As an industrial nation we need the cities for commerce, advertising, television and mass transportation. Except for farmers, there's no one worth saving in the countryside.

So the question boils down to which cities do you save? It could be left up to Billy Graham, Cardinal Spellman or Bob Hope.

But if they couldn't agree, I think the best solution would be to hold a Miss Antimissile Contest on television.

EACH CITY would send its most beautiful girl to Atlantic City and she would be judged according to beauty, intelligence and talent. The jury would select 50 girls as Miss Antimissile, and the cities they came from would be spared.

Another suggestion has been to give the Nike-X to any city with a professional football team, on the theory that people are going to need something to take their minds off the inconveniences caused by another world war.

Word For New Board Members

G. G. Morehead, left, new chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, seems to have a word of instruction for new officers. With him are Oliver Cofer, secretary, Chester Cathey, treasurer; W. L. Mead, vice chairman; and Capt. Bill Thomas, commander of the Army's work in Big Spring. New officers were installed at a meeting Wednesday noon.

New Officers Installed On Board Of Salvation Army

With thanks for his leadership, H. W. Smith turned over the chairmanship of the Salvation Army advisory board at a luncheon affair Wednesday noon at Cosden Country Club.

G. G. (Gibby) Morehead, who succeeded him, observed that the "Salvation Army does a work that no other organization does."

The installation of officers also was the occasion for presentation of the annual report by Captains Bill and Gladys Thomas, who are now in their fourth year in charge of Salvation Army work here.

Noting that Smith had headed the board at a time when a successful effort was made to liquidate the outstanding indebtedness, Capt. Thomas had words of praise for Smith and for W. L. Mead, who served as vice chairman and is continuing in this post.

Other officers installed were Oliver Cofer, secretary, and Chester Cathey, treasurer. Clyde McMahon Sr., a new member of the board, was unable to be present.

In administering to the needs of people, the Salvation Army "must uphold the banner of Jesus Christ, or it has failed," said Capt. Thomas. "As we wage war against sin, most of the other ills will be cured. With the help of God, Christ and the Holy Spirit, we must help those less fortunate."

Funds may be more limited this year because the United Fund did not reach its goal, but board officials said every effort would be made to stretch available funds over needs.

Mead observed that the "Salvation Army is doing one of the most wonderful works being done. We have helped a lot of people who couldn't have been helped any other way. We should be glad to give what the Lord has given to us."

Report of the work in 1966 included these highlights: Transients provided with 10,334 meals, plus 3,935 nights of lodging and 3,684 items of clothing; family service with 20,182 garments and 1,960 pair of shoes provided, plus 2,600 items of other aid; youth activities with 332 meetings and 5,516 attendance, plus 20 attending camps; 210 adult meetings with 6,233 attendance; casework service to 3,260 transient and 582 families, and 31 job placements; 983 patients visited and 1,089 gifts given by the League of Mercy; Christmas baskets given to 251 families with 1,371 members (this was accomplished by donations, by the city firemen repairing 2,632 toys and school children contributing vast amounts of canned goods).

The Salvation Army had resources of $33,058 last year including $9,504 from Christmas and special campaign donations, $18,672 from the United Fund, and $4,881 from program and activities. Total expenditures stood at $32,456.

Arrangements for the installation dinner were made by Robert Stripling, and Mrs. J. E. Hogan was in charge of decorations.

Those awarded citizenship Valentines' Day were: Robert N. Bellevue, Brian Pokrant, Edward W. Luby Jr., Irene D. Woolverton, Christopher J. Martinez, Dorothy A. Burton, Mrs. Edith Williams, Mary E. Stiede, Stephen R. Franke, Christina J. Price, Mark J. Magdefrau Jr., Michelle M. Magdefrau, Dale A. Hutchinson and Dean A. Hutchinson.

Immigration official James Cludt processed Certificates of Citizenship for dependents of military personnel stationed at Webb AFB and the surrounding area Tuesday in ceremonies at the Personal Affairs office.

Junior College To Join Closed Circuit TV System

Howard County Junior College trustees voted Wednesday evening to join in the Western Information Network, a proposed closed circuit television network designed to serve 13 senior and junior colleges in West Texas.

The obligation of the college would be to provide space for a classroom studio, a lecture studio and a control room.

Cost of the educational network has been estimated at $3,900,000 with financing coming from federal, state and private sources. A bill creating WIN and to authorize it to receive funds is before the Texas legislature. The Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System as well as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have expressed support of the program.

The network is envisioned as a means of sharing outstanding specialists in one school with others on the network system. Camera equipment at the sending and the receiving ends would permit the instructor to see his students as well as to be seen by them. Library services could be transmitted upon request, and computer data could be run in late evening and early morning hours since the network would be operated around the clock.

One educator has drawn the analogy that WIN would be the equivalent of a 24 classroom building, a 40,000 student campus, a 2,000-member faculty and a 2,000,000-volume library.

Trustees also considered bills including one for insurance.

Child Improved

Keith Gould, who was struck by a car three weeks ago while on his way to school at Coahoma, is much improved. Word from Lackland AFB is that he may be able to be returned home within a couple of weeks. The son of Sgt. and Mrs. Archie Gould, Keith, 6, was critically hurt and for almost two weeks the issue was in doubt.

Fire Destroys Aircraft Aid

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an ILS (Instrument Landing System) auxiliary building 8.4 miles directly north of Webb AFB early Thursday.

Fire trucks from Big Spring and from Webb AFB went to the scene of the structure, near Fairview, but the unit was described as a total loss. Electronic equipment in the approximate value of $23,000 was lost. One theory is that a spark from a motor may have started the blaze.

Available figures indicated that coverage would be increased from $1,900,000 to $2,200,000, or 15.9 per cent. At the same time premiums would be raised from $16,170 for five years to $17,745 for three years. On a per year basis, this would figure out to a 73 per cent increase.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that the contractor had given a March 15 completion date on the new library building. The college is prepared to utilize this new facility immediately. The new science building will not be completed until later, but it cannot be utilized until the summer because some equipment must be transferred from the present laboratories.

The board authorized Dr. Hunt and Dr. Dawson DeViney, administrative dean, to attend the American Association of Junior Colleges in San Francisco, Calif., approved purchase of three walker-type vacuum cleaners for $405; authorized transfer of $100 from the unclaimed property deposits fund to the scholarship fund.

Bandit Robs Oglesby Bank

OGLESBY, Tex. (AP) — A holdup man who robbed the First National Bank of Oglesby of $3,675 and drove away in a station wagon was sought today in Central Texas.

The man, dressed in overalls and concealing his face with a woman's stocking, forced the bank's only on-duty employee, Mrs. Lucille Searcy, to hand over the money.

Mrs. Searcy said she was ordered into the vault but that the bandit was unable to work the lock. She said she waited inside until he drove away and then called authorities.

Director Seeking Australian Nurses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hospitals in the Los Angeles area are looking to Australia to recruit nurses.

"The shortage is very acute," said a spokesman for White Memorial and Glendale Seventh-day Adventist hospitals.

Frank Phillips, personnel director at White Memorial, has already left for Australia to interview nurses at Sydney.

A survey last year showed there were only 261 nurses for every 100,000 residents of the Los Angeles area. The average 10 years earlier was 300 nurses.

date on the new library building. The college is prepared to utilize this new facility immediately. The new science building will not be completed until later, but it cannot be utilized until the summer because some equipment must be transferred from the present laboratories.

The board authorized Dr. Hunt and Dr. Dawson DeViney, administrative dean, to attend the American Association of Junior Colleges in San Francisco, Calif., approved purchase of three walker-type vacuum cleaners for $405; authorized transfer of $100 from the unclaimed property deposits fund to the scholarship fund.

Two New Suits Ask Damages

Two damage suits were filed Wednesday afternoon in 118th District Court.

Lorena Pineda and Joe Olivias are the plaintiffs in one of the suits in which Glen Patrick Harrison is the defendant. This suit asks $16,000 for Pineda and $6,000 for Olivias for alleged injuries sustained in a car wreck on the Snyder highway Jan. 1.

The second suit is brought by E. C. Jones and his wife, Ramona Jones, against Coy Turner and Lottie Turner. This suit is the outgrowth of a traffic mishap at Linda Lane and East Sixth, Jan. 20. The Joneses ask $14,400.

Common Mart Deal Rapped

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's trade chief warned Wednesday night of adverse economic effects if Britain enters the European Common Market, causing a stir during Wilson's visit to Bonn to seek more West German support for Britain's candidacy.

One member of Wilson's Labor party said Douglas Jay, president of the government Board of Trade, "completely demolished the case for going into the Common Market" in a talk to a closed meeting of Laborite members of the House of Commons.

Wilson seemed certain to react angrily to the content and timing of Jay's speech. One of the prime minister's biggest problems in his current visits to the six Common Market capitals has been to convince the Europeans that Britain sincerely wants to join.

Wilson completes two days of discussions in Bonn today, apparently without much or any progress toward getting increased backing from Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's government. Kiesinger indicated he wants Britain in the Common Market but not enough to get into a dispute with French President Charles de Gaulle, who has opposed British membership.

Jay reportedly predicted British entry into the European trading bloc would result in repeated economic crises. He was said to have told the meeting acceptance of the market's agricultural policies would cost the British balance of payments between $280 million and $400 million a year.

Jay reportedly said the cost of living would rise 4 per cent after Britain entered the market. Wilson has said the rise would be 2½ to 3½ per cent.

Several other government officials have expressed doubts about joining the market and Emanuel Shinwell, chairman of Labor party members in Parliament, is leading an open battle against it.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL

Well, It Seemed Like The Longest

Well, all aboard again; we're heading for quite a tunnel.

Your mail has ticketed far more railroads than OBT's line can seat, so forgive omission of all who pinpointed our Texas shafts. However, give Fort Worth's Ray Mackey the throttle; he once rode maybe the world's longest train tunnel, and not Colorado's six-mile or Swiss Alps' 12 miles. No, sir . . . in our State.

Maybe you remember we found the old, abandoned Fredericksburg and Northern shaft, up from San Antonio, eight miles northwest of scenic little Waring . . . listed under a mile long. Not on Mackey's train, as he recalls, "about 1913." Not just a mile!

Its Hill Country line complete, San Antonio planned a whopper of an excursion. Bands accompanying and fun aboard, they loaded a real string of cars. Up the valleys and passes they went, for a happy Fredericksburg reception. All that, and a scary tunnel, too!

Into its black, they chugged . . . and chugged (that tunnel climbs) . . . and slowed (too much grade, too many loaded cars) . . . and stopped! Black as the pit! Was this planned excitement for this excursion? Seemed like it until grim conductors confessed they'd uncoupled half . . . inside . . . but don't worry, the engine would be right back, once it put the first section safely away.

"However," recalls Mackey, "Fredericksburg's siding wasn't long enough to handle what came in, then clear the engine to go back for the mid-tunnel train." Nothing to do but "lengthen" that siding, get the cars on, and the engine back. Feverishly, they did, but it took time.

Back in mid-tunnel? "Some of us started to walk out, but it looked too long. We decided to remain on the train," and did, hours. A trainload of subdued celebrants, the little engine finally pulled to daylight . . . and ultimately back to San Antonio. "That experience had some effect on the passengers," Railroader Mackey understates. How long was the tunnel? "Several miles long, some were sure."

And others? Well, that one day, you can bet — with old-railroader Mackey — that many a Texan knew his state had the darkest, longest train tunnel in the world. And once they were out of it . . . they were just that proud of it.

MAILBOX — Family Circle: Hamilton's Mrs. James Burrus (Rt. 2): "I want to learn all I can of (cattle-emping) Butlers of Karnes Co. My great grandmother was a Butler. Understand your books tell about them." (Note: Just OBT's Vol. 1: the embattled Butlers finishing the brushcountry guntown of Helena. They left legend; likely you'll hear both sides, direct.)

Midland's John McKenzie (301 S. Jefferson): "I'm searching information, my grandfather, discharged at Millican (old Confederate railroad, near Bryan), 1865. He was John McKenzie, supposed one of Brady's first settlers (livery stable, hotel), later Valley Mills blacksmith."

Brownfield's Elizabeth W. Bowers (1210 E. Tate): "I inquire of the J. H. Joutet family who came to Plano, Collin Co., about 1877."

Troopers To Tip Crosses With Red

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Some white crosses which state troopers erect at the site of fatal traffic accidents are going to be tipped with red to indicate the victims might have survived if they had been wearing safety belts.

State police say there might have been 267 less traffic fatalities in 1966 had the victims been using belts.

105 Too Old?

"One hundred and five — that's too old for anyone," she said.

Vandals Silence Courthouse Calls

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — More than half the telephones in the Cooke County Courthouse were knocked out recently when vandals snipped the wiring in eight places.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. wire chief Bob Bice said one 25-pair cable — about one-half inch in diameter — was cut also. Telephone service to the Cooke County sheriff's office was not disturbed, except for an intercom connection between that office and the Texas Highway Patrol office.

Two repairs were worked six hours finding and repairing the cut wiring.

Kosygin Ready To Talk About Weapons

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, indicated today the Kremlin is ready to hold talks on halting the development of antimissile systems as well as offensive arms.

The paper said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told a news conference in London last Thursday that "the Soviet government is ready to discuss the question of preventing a further arms race both in the field of offensive and the field of defensive weapons."

The official Soviet text of the news conference had carried no such statement by Kosygin. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said that Kosygin gave this reply when asked in London if he believed the antimissile defense system planned by the Soviets is a new step in the arms race: "I believe that defensive systems, which prevent attacks, are not the cause of the arms race, but constitute a factor preventing the death of people."

U.S. RIPPED "Some argue like this: 'What is cheaper, to have offensive weapons which can destroy towns and whole states or to have defensive weapons which can prevent this destruction?'"

At present, the theory is current somewhere that the system which is cheaper should be developed." Kosygin's remarks were seen as a criticism of U.S. plans to develop stronger offensive weapons to counter improved Soviet defenses against missile attack and a rebuff to President Johnson's overtures for U.S.-Soviet negotiations to prevent a new arms race between the two major nuclear powers.

It appeared that Pravda's revised version, obviously issued with official sanction, might be an attempt to soften the impact of Kosygin's off-the-cuff reply to a question at the London news conference.

COSTLY RACE U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn

E. Thompson arrived in Moscow Jan. 11 with a personal message from President Johnson to Kosygin which reportedly contained a bid to avoid a costly race to develop antimissile systems. In his State of the Union message the day before, Johnson noted that the Soviet Union had begun setting up an antimissile defense system near Moscow and called for avoidance of a spiraling arms race between the superpowers.

Some members of the U.S. Congress have long urged that the United States press ahead with an antimissile system which has been under development for years. But Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has expressed doubt of the effectiveness of such a defense in the face of heavy missile attack.

Pentagon experts estimate that such a system could cost as much as $40 billion and would take two or three years to set up. Opponents of the system contend that the Soviet Union would then develop costly new missile systems which could penetrate the defenses, just as the United States probably would develop new weapons if the Soviets developed an effective antimissile system.

Income Tax Becoming More Burdensome For Single Persons

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A single person with a taxable income of $6,000 will pay $130 more in federal income tax this April than a married couple will pay on the same amount.

This situation has persisted since the late 1940s despite the inability of anyone to convince the single taxpayer that it is fair. To him, it amounts to a subsidy of marriages and babies.

Moreover, some single persons are finding the situation becoming more burdensome. The higher the income the wider is the payment disparity. And more Americans are working up into these higher income brackets. At that figure the married taxpayer pays $5,560. The single taxpayer pays $8,030, or $2,470 or 29.5 per cent more.

Tax authorities now note that there are many more workers in the $6,000 or higher categories than in 1948, when the present law was passed, and that it can be argued that the present tax setup is thus becoming more discriminatory.

In answer to the argument that a married couple is entitled to a tax break they draw attention to the fact that a married couple gets an automatic deduction of $1,200, or $600 more than the single person.

How did this situation develop? In the 1940s nine states had laws, upheld later in the courts, that said earned income and property income belonged equally to the husband and the wife. More states made plans to copy these laws.

APPLIED TO ALL
What did this mean? Well, look at your income tax schedule of rates. It is progressive. More, proportionately, is taken from an $8,000 income — a bit more than 20 per cent — than from a $6,000 income — about 19 per cent. The tax take escalates.

So, the single taxpayer with $8,000 taxable income must pay $1,630.

Under these state laws, however, the married taxpayer could divide his $8,000 income into two $4,000 incomes — one for him and one for his wife. Because a $4,000 income is taxed proportionately less — $600 — two $4,000 incomes are taxed a total of only $1,380, a $250 difference.

Well, in 1948 the federal government decided that if some states had this advantage it must be applied to all.

Area Of Moon Slick Enough For Landing?

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — First pictures televised by Lunar Orbiter 3 show at least one area of the moon probably is smooth enough for astronauts to land.

The area, in the dry Sea of Tranquility, near the eastern edge of the lunar disk, was photographed Wednesday as the 850-pound spacecraft swung within 33½ miles of the moon's equator, near the low point of its 33-by-1,147-mile orbit.

The photographs, matching if not bettering the quality of those made last year by Lunar Orbiter 2, showed broad level areas pocked with small craters but few large enough to prevent a manned landing.

Some of the 32 frames of wide-angle and closeup pictures showed craters and rocks as small as three feet across.

Televised a quarter of a million miles to earth, the pictures were of the first of 12 equatorial sites to be photographed by Lunar Orbiter 3 during the coming week.

The space craft actually photographed four sites during the day but these films will not be released until later in the week.

The sites to be covered were chosen from pictures made by previous orbiters as the most likely landing areas. Two more lunar orbiters are to be launched this year.

One of the prints released Wednesday showed a string of craters in the shape of a giant footprint. Another pictured a spray of rocks apparently thrown out of a large crater by the impact of a meteorite.

Most of them were of monotonous similarity, however, picturing precisely the kind of level landing site experts are seeking.

Boat Captain Faces Murder

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Five pistol shots fired in a barroom killed Maria Fontenot, 32, and wounded a bystander Tuesday night.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Jerry Davidson charged her estranged husband, Oralee Fontenot, 42, a Brownsville shrimp boat captain, with murder.

Bullets struck Mrs. Fontenot and wounded spectator Gabriel Rodriguez, in the back.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Sandlin arrested Fontenot aboard his shrimp boat about two hours after the shootings. The officer said he found a .38 caliber pistol under Fontenot's mattress.

Justice of the Peace Jaun E. Gavito returned an inquest verdict of homicide. He ordered Fontenot held without bond.

Gavito had married the couple Sept. 16. Mrs. Fontenot had filed suit for a divorce.

Sanity Hearing Request Denied

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas supreme court refused Wednesday to order a sanity hearing for Dr. Harold Eidinoff, confined in Rusk State Hospital for many years following the slaying of an El Paso lawyer.

Eidinoff's attorneys sought a sanity hearing through a Trier district court and then the 12th Court of Civil Appeals last year, claiming he now is sane.

Both the district and appeals court refused Eidinoff's request and the Supreme Court ruled today.

The high court said it found no errors in earlier proceedings and denied his appeal. The court ruled without comment.

Eidinoff, 57, of El Paso, was arrested Jan. 28, 1959, at El Paso International Airport after Theodore Address, a lawyer, was shot to death.

He was charged with murder. A Lubbock jury in November 1959 found him of unsound mind at the time of the shooting. This means he can never be tried for murder.

'Sgt. Schultz' Dies

McNamara Admits Air Attacks Alone Won't Humble Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two days after the United States resumed bombing of North Vietnam, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said air attacks alone won't humble Hanoi.

The Pentagon chief would not say — as he reportedly has to Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Feb. 16, 1967 7-B

Congress behind doors — that the bombing has only limited value.

Instead, McNamara spoke Wednesday of two objectives "clearly accomplished" by the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam initiated two years ago.

The raids, he told a news conference, have raised the morale of the South Vietnamese and made it very troublesome for the Communists to move men and supplies south of the 17th Parallel.

At the same time, McNamara related a new over-all helicopter loss figure for Southeast Asia — 682 choppers lost from all causes, compared with an officially posted total of 255 downed in combat alone.

Combined with fixed wing aircraft losses — which were doubled only a few days ago to 1,172 — this raised U.S. aircraft losses in the war to $1,854 to date.

Most of the losses occurred in the past two years at a rate nearly matching the 1,000-a-year pace of the Korean war.

BIG HELP

"The implication that I consider the bombing program is effective is not correct," McNamara stated. The air operation is an "important supplement" to ground operations in South Vietnam, he said, and should be measured against its limited objectives.

Two goals — raising South Vietnam's spirits and complicating Hanoi's infiltration program — have been achieved, McNamara said.

THIRD GOAL

Accomplishment of the third goal — convincing Hanoi that the price of trying to topple Saigon is too high — "while not fully documented to date can be judged in part by the great efforts of the North Vietnamese to force us to stop the bombing."

Some observers feel the administration long ago made a mistake by putting too much faith in the bombing.

When U.S. planes staged major, well-publicized strikes at the Hanoi-Haiphong oil complexes last June 29, McNamara went before a nationally televised news conference to declare: "There is no question but that these attacks will make infiltration far more costly for North Vietnam."

RED STRENGTH

Wednesday he told newsmen, "I am not prepared to say today" whether infiltration has declined.

In the first half of 1966, he said, North Vietnamese strength in South Vietnam rose by 20,000 to a total of 45,000 to 50,000. This level has remained stable the last six to eight months, McNamara said, because Hanoi now appears to be only replacing individual combat losses in the South, rather than infiltrating military units.

As for raising the cost of infiltration to Hanoi, McNamara said the North Vietnamese have had to divert about 300,000 people from other activities to repair blasted bridges, roads and supply points.

Jack Ruby's Will Filed For Probate

DALLAS (AP)—A handwritten document, forgotten for 16 years, was filed for probate Wednesday, the last will and testament of Jack Ruby.

Ruby died Jan. 3 in Parkland Hospital of cancer. The will, discovered by Dallas lawyer Jules F. Mayer as he cleaned his garage Sunday, makes Ruby's two sisters and a nephew, Ronald Magid, the recipients of the estate.

There had been no previous indication that Ruby had drawn up a will before he stepped from a crowd in the basement of the Dallas City Hall Nov. 24, 1963, and gunned down Lee Harvey Oswald, subsequently named by the Warren Commission as the rifleman who killed President John F. Kennedy.

Mayer said the will, like the rest of Ruby's life, came about in a strange way.

TRUST FUND

He said he and his wife had handled Ruby's night club interests for 10 years and were in a Galveston motel in August, 1950, when Ruby knocked on their door at 3 a.m., and was taken in for the night.

Mayer said Ruby wrote his will the next day. "I'm sure he didn't have death in mind," Mayer said. "It was just one of those things we had been discussing."

The document left one-half of the Ruby estate to Mrs. Eileen Kaminsky, a sister in Chicago, and one-fourth to Mrs. Eva Grant of Dallas, another sister. The rest of the estate went to the trust fund for Magid.

NOT KNOWN

Earl Ruby of Detroit, Jack Ruby's brother, has filed in a Wayne County, Michigan probate court asking to administer the estate without a will. The newly-found document will void that attempt, if it is allowed.

The value of Ruby's estate is not known.

A new will was prepared for signing shortly before Ruby died. A sheriff's deputy said he refused to witness it.

Mayer said he was going through old files "preparatory to burning or destroying them" when he found the last will and testament of Jack Ruby.

APPEAL ERASED

In Washington Wednesday, the Supreme Court formally dismissed from its docket an appeal by Ruby claiming he was not tried fairly for the slaying of Oswald.

Ruby had claimed his Dallas trial in 1964 did not have "the remotest semblance of a fair trial." His lawyers contended this was so because the judge, Joe B. Brown, was not qualified to sit as the trial judge because he intended to write a book about the case.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals had reversed Ruby's conviction three months before he died. The new trial had been set for Wichita Falls. Charges there were dropped last month after Ruby died.

Vandalism, Theft Reports Checked

One vandalism report and a theft were reported to police Wednesday.

Police officer Bill Rogers, 1407 Stadium, reported that the back glass in his pickup had been shot and broken.

Ernest Palmer, McMahon Concrete, 605 N. Benton, reported 80 gallons of gas taken from trucks parked on the lot.

A woman on East Sixth reported obscene calls being made to her daughter. She was told to notify the phone company.

MRS. JOHN WILLIAM GARY

Architect And Family Enjoy Planned Home

By RHODA LEMONS

What kind of home would an architect design for his own family? In the case of Mr. and Mrs. John William Gary, 2516 E. 24th, the style is contemporary architecture with Gothic ceilings, walnut paneling and floor to ceiling glass walls.

"We wanted a home to fit our family, one in which we could relax and enjoy each other," said Mrs. Gary. "We also wanted lots of storage space and a house so arranged that we could all be together, or have individual privacy."

Not too long in the planning stage, their home offers just that. The living room is decorated in striking colors of amethyst and pale green with black accessories and dark brown walnut furniture. A handsome tapestry highlighting the colors in the room, hangs over the modern sofa.

The dining room has a carpet of burnt orange and walnut furnishings. The woven-backed chairs have black leather seats.

Mrs. Gary is the mother of three children. John Jr. is 14 and a ninth grader at Goliad Junior High School, Lonnis is 10, and Janet is six. Both younger children go to Kentwood Elementary School.

The boys' room is so designed as to be two complete bedrooms when the folding walnut doors are closed, and can be opened to make one large room when they desire to be together.

"The focal point of my life is my family," said the attractive and gracious Mrs. Gary. "I actually enjoy most of the facets of homemaking, and I also enjoy working in the yard," she continued.

Having done very little cooking before her marriage, Mrs. Gary attributes much of her culinary skill to her mother-in-law, Mrs. L. M. Gary. With this in mind, she encourages her young daughter to help in the kitchen, and Janet enjoys every moment of it.

The family always has breakfast and dinner together. Gary comes home for a sandwich and soup luncheon, but the children usually eat the noon meal at school.

Mrs. Gary does not shop on a budget. She buys as the family needs, and tries to plan ahead so that the "outgo" will not exceed the income. All new purchases are a family affair and are discussed in advance. Mrs. Gary does not utilize her food freezer to any great extent, but finds that her dishwasher has freed her from hours of drudgery in the kitchen.

Sewing for her daughter is very rewarding to Mrs. Gary. She finds that she can save money and have a sense of accomplishment at the same time. She also sewed the draperies in the living room and in the bedrooms of her home.

A handsome arrangement of antiqued flowers in the living room attests to Mrs. Gary's skill in this department. She purchased a group of artificial flowers in colors of orange, green and yellow and made a solution of varnish, turpentine and gold dust. After dipping them, she allowed them to dry and placed the arrangement in a blue stemmed vase, with dramatic results.

Gary is a partner in the firm of Gary and Hohertz, Architects.

According to his wife, he is interested in whatever his sons are doing at the time. This has ranged from model airplanes to riding motorcycles.

Mrs. Gary is a member of the Preceptor Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and enjoys a game of bridge with friends. She is secretary of her Sunday school class at First Baptist Church where the Gary family has membership. She collects household hints and tries to remember and utilize them.

"My primary goal is to make a home for my husband and children, and to enjoy them to the fullest while we are all together," concludes Mrs. Gary.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Chop sweet onion and fresh sweet red pepper (or canned pimiento) very fine and add to an oil and vinegar dressing to be used on tossed green salad. Refreshing combination!

When you have canned chow-mein noodles leftover, put them in a small jar, cover them tightly and store in the refrigerator. Heat briefly in the oven before serving as a garnish for practically any creamed dish.

Washing soda may do a good job in cleaning glazed ceramic wall tile. If the tiles are badly discolored, wipe the tiles with a damp rag on which a little of the powdered material has been sprinkled.

Costs Drop This Week On Foods

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter eased its icy grip on food prices this week.

Farmers cut their marketings during last week's blizzards, limiting the supplies available for the supermarket. This week, with better shipping conditions, there are increased supplies of many fresh foods.

Wholesale food prices have dropped 7.3 per cent from a year ago.

Pork and beef are on special in the Midwest, Northeast and Southeast. Choice beef cuts are down 1 to 2 cents a pound on the West Coast. Smoked ham is on special in the Midwest and canned ham is down 2 to 3 cents a pound in California.

Shoppers can look for bargains in poultry in the months ahead — but not right now.

Wholesale egg prices dropped sharply, after a big increase last week. That leaves a mixed basket of eggs for weekend shoppers, but with prices generally much lower than they were two months ago.

The housewife will find more fresh fruits and vegetables to choose from. A year ago, supplies were low — helping push up the family food bill.

You can look for specials, on Florida citrus products — especially oranges. The crop is even bigger than the huge crop forecast — 29 per cent larger than a year ago.

Whether it be party fare or a simple family dinner, grapes add spark and flavor to dining.

More grapes are produced in the world than any other fruit. Yet its abundance hardly diminishes its popularity. Thousands of tons a year are produced in California alone. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, holdings of all California grapes on Oct. 15 of this year numbered 5 1/2 million packages.

You'll see especially good supplies of Emperor, Almeria and Ribier grapes on the market. The Ribier is America's chief black table grape. It is also one of the finest European hothouse varieties, but it grows well out of doors in California.

The Emperor season runs from October through May. They're important mainly because they ripen late, are attractive and keep and ship well.

Almeria is a late-maturing white table grape. The clusters are medium or medium large, short conical and well filled to compact. The stems are tough and the berries adhere firmly.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports both grapes and pork in plentiful supply. So it's a good time to serve this Fresh Grape and Ham Salad.

Dear Abby

UNWANTED 'GUEST'

DEAR ABBY: My husband's business associate (Mr. G.) recently lost his wife after a marriage of nearly 40 years, so we telephoned him (he lives in Indiana) and invited him to our little winter home in Florida to rest up and get over his grief. Mr. G. said he would love to come for a few weeks.

About 10 minutes later he called us back asking if he could bring his "girl friend"! Abby, we were shocked! My husband said, "But we have only one guest room." Mr. G. said, "That's all right. I want to see how this gal looks in the morning before she puts her face on."

With that he hung up, so now we are trapped. We certainly don't want that kind of set up here, but what can we do?

TRAPPED IN FLA.
DEAR TRAPPED: If you can catch Mr. G. before he heads south, call him and tell him that the invitation was for him, alone. And if he has in mind auditioning "new talent" while he recovers from his grief, he'll have to find friends with a larger home.

DEAR ABBY: I sure wish I knew what to do about my husband. He is so jealous if someone looks at me he thinks they are going to grab me and run. He has lots of friends and he thinks all of them are (or at one time have been) in love with me.

I have to think over every statement 10 times before I say it to be sure I don't mention some man's name, because if I do, I will have a fight on my hands.

I am not raving beauty and I am not forward or overly friendly to men. I am a good woman, Abby, and I was when he married me. He knows that for certain, but he's still jealous.

He is making a nervous wreck of me. I am 25 and he is 29 and if I have to put up with this rest of my life I will crack up.

A WRECK. It's your husband who has the problem. He is tormented by fantasies, self-doubts and insecurity. Insist that he get some professional help (and I do mean a doctor) or your marriage is headed for the rocks.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CIN- DY LOU:" All of us have been taken advantage of in our lives. But the man who is ALWAYS complaining about how everyone has "done him wrong," could be the wrong number. Steer clear of him, unless you want to be a lifetime waiting wall.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Liz Taylor Will Strip In New Film

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor in the nude?

"Precisely," replied film director John Huston today, "strictly in the buff."

You mean that takes place in your new picture?

"Yes. Her role calls for her to strip completely. A magnificent actress, she strips very artistically."

How will you get away with this kind of movie?

"I can assure you the nude scene's done very tastefully," he answered.

And Marlon Brando playing a homosexual?

"Yes again," said Huston, "it'll be his most controversial part ever."

And what is this picture? "Reflections in a Golden Eye, from Carson McCullers' novel about life in a big Army post in Georgia. I've just finished it and we've been pretty hush-hush about it."

The book was first published 26 years ago, the same year that Huston directed his first film — and the movie is Huston's 26th.

"It should hit the screens fairly soon," said Huston as he took off for his home in County Galway, Ireland. "Next week I go to Nyack, N.Y., to see Miss McCullers. She's ill, but I hope she will be well enough to visit us in Ireland this spring. She says she will."

Highway Beauty Chief Selected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former California State Sen. Fred S. Farr, pioneer in scenic highway legislation, will be named to a new $22,760-a-year post as federal highway beautification coordinator, it was learned today.

The appointment is expected to be announced this afternoon at a White House gathering of 300 leaders of conservation organizations.

BRIDWELL ADVISER
It is the first time there has been such a fulltime post in the highway administration.

Farr, 56, will serve as adviser to the federal highway administrator, Lowell K. Bridwell, under the new Department of Transportation.

It will be Farr's job to keep an eye for beauty on far-flung federal highway operations, ranging from right-of-way acquisition and road engineering to maintenance and legislation. Bury, graying and soft-spoken, Farr built a statewide reputation with his conservation legislation.

Burkeville's Boarding House To Close Doors

BURKEVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Burkeville's most famous institution—Miss Letitia Lucas' boarding house—will close its doors at 4 p.m. today.

Today is both Miss Lucas' 74th birthday and the 30th anniversary of the opening of her boarding house.

Although a college graduate with a degree in home economics, Miss Lucas attributed the popularity of her boarding house to the fact "I cooked just like mother taught me to cook."

Burkeville, a hamlet of 475 in Newton County, has been a popular stopping point for many residents of Southwest Texas for years because of the boarding house.

The menu varied but the quantity was always the same

—the diner could help himself to four meats, six vegetables, two salads, hot biscuits, corn bread, and a variety of desserts. On many a Sunday afternoon, the boarding house served 400 persons—almost as many as the entire population of Burkeville. Her most popular dish? Chicken with dumplings and dressing.

Texas Oil Allowable Cut Again

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission lowered the statewide oil allowable today for the second month in a row, reducing the March market demand factor to 85.7 per cent of potential.

That means Texas oilmen will be able to produce a maximum of 3,147,541 barrels a day next month, compared to 3,193,233 barrels daily under February's 86.5 per cent factor.

The February percentage was the first decline after four consecutive monthly allowable hikes which reached a record 87.5 per cent in January, and was reduced one full percentage point this month.

Last March Texas had a 33.2 per cent production factor, a slight increase over February and the first time since 1961 the March allowable had been raised from February.

So, today's reduction from February to March was not unusual.

The Bureau of Mines had forecast a march demand for Texas crude oil of 2,560,000 barrels daily, a decrease of 90,000 from February.

Of the ten major purchasers nominating by percentage, nine asked for a March allowable lower than this month. Sinclair Refining Co. dropped its allowable request from last month but still was high with 86.5 per cent.

The four major purchasers who nominated by barrels only split. Two asked for reductions, one for a slight increase and one sought the same number of barrels daily as this month.

J. K. Moore of Shell Oil Co. said his company was "not very successful in finding purchasers." He said Shell would have to go into storage with one million barrels of crude between February and March.

R. W. Pitcher of Pan American Petroleum Corp. said that "more spot crude oil seems to be available now than 30 to 60 days ago." Pan American reduced its written nomination of 300,000 barrels by 10,000.

Nominations by major purchasers in percentage and barrels daily:

36.5—Sinclair 107,800 barrels.
36—Sun 124,224.
35.5—Mobil 280,800; and Standard of Texas 44,500.

35—Pure 51,965.
34.5—Atlantic-Richfield 77,500.
34—Cities Service 74,500.

33—Phillips 118,021; Gulf210,900; and Continental 37,000.

Humble asked for 430,000 barrels daily in March, a reduction of 5,000. Shell sought 173,800, an increase of 200.

Pan American lowered its request from 300,000 to 290,000. Texaco remained the same at 165,000.

A LOVELIER YOU

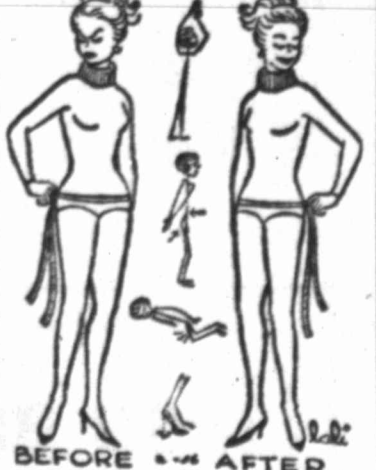

Could You Measure With Pleasure Now?

By MARY SUE MILLER

You can diet until you are feather-light, and still be hip-heavy. Perhaps you've had that experience. It's not unusual.

Why should it be? Well, diet trims weight but makes no promise as to where. Ideal measurements are achieved through a combination of diet and spot-reducing exercises. The following routine actually works three ways: 1. re-countours and firms the entire figure; 2. helps to overcome the flabbiness that sometimes accompanies weight losses, and encourages graceful carriage. So come on, get busy!

FIGURE SHAPERS

- Breathe deeply before an open window for one minute.
- Without raising shoulders, draw head up toward ceiling. Really stretch!
- Stand erect with feet together and arms stretched overhead. As though climbing up long rope, hand over hand, reach toward ceiling. Working for pull in waist and upper hip, continue for thirty seconds.
- Stand tall, relax knees and contract abdominal muscles. Holding position, tense hip muscles—squeeze buttocks together—for five slow counts. Rest and repeat five times.
- Back down on floor, draw knees up until feet rest flat. By twisting hard in waist, roll hips from side to side so that thighs slap floor and slap together with each change of direction. Ten times.
- Standing on tiptoes, slowly lower heels to floor. Then walk around room for half-minute, using toe-heel motion.

Note for Teens: Double performance of Exercises 3, 5 and 6.

Tomorrow: Individually Becoming Fashions.

LAZY EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for "Lazy Girl's Exercises." Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Mini-Skirt For Males?

A Munich, Germany, men's shop reasons that if women can wear trousers, men can wear mini-skirts. The male model drew mixed reactions of horror and admiration at the style show, but a street test showed most of the public wasn't ready for it. Passers-by laughed and shook their heads. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Child's Mirror Helps Grooming

For children in the family, add a child-height mirror, hanging it low enough so the smallest child can see himself.
