

10 YEAR TERM Santiago Is Guilty

Narciso Joseph Santiago, convicted of assault with intent to murder with malice, Thursday took the witness stand in a last ditch effort to save himself from going to prison. His effort failed and the same jury which took less than an hour to find him guilty of the assault charge, itself decreed he serve 10 years in the state penitentiary for shooting Mrs. Jean Morton, 33, in the arm and face last April 25.

Santiago had not testified in the main trial of the case. The defense rested its case after two witnesses had testified.

Jurors Decide It

After the guilty verdict had been returned by the jury, the defendant elected to have the six men and six women determine his punishment. Since he had not previously been convicted of a felony, he asked for a probated sentence. The state holds that a defendant may be granted probation on any sentence up to 10 years.

Santiago told the jurors he was born in Puerto Rico, but had lived most of his life in New York City. He dropped out of high school, he testified, four months before graduation, to enlist in the USAF.

He said he is married and has two children and that his wife is now in New York.

Cross-Examination

Wayne Burns, district attorney, who told the jurors that he recommended they give the defendant the maximum sentence possible for the offense—25 years—cross-examined the defendant.

He launched a long and complicated question in which he asked Santiago if he was "sorry" now or regretted his action in shooting the Morton woman. In the course of the lengthy question the fact that Santiago had taken a pistol, gone to the NCO club at the Webb AFB, hidden himself in the rear of a car owned by Sgt. M. T. Gore and then fired several shots from his hiding place was set forth.

Sergeant Killed

(Sgt. Gore was killed in the same episode that wounded Mrs. Morton, Santiago is under indictment for murder with malice in the Gore slaying.)

When the question had been propounded George Thomas, defense attorney, objected to his client answering. Judge Ralph Caton overruled the objection. Burns then withdrew the query. The upshot was that Santiago never had a chance to tell the jury whether he rued his action or not.

The jury deliberated three times as long reaching a decision on the penalty than it took to find the defendant guilty as charged.

At Liberty On Bail

When the verdict had been read, the judge excused the jurors from further duty. The defendant indicated he would move for a new trial. He was continued at liberty on bail.

Santiago has been on trial all week in the 118th District Court.

Sunday Closings

"We are very optimistic we will have 100 per cent participation in Sunday closings by our target date, March 5," Dr. H. M. Jarratt, president of Citizens for a Better Howard County, said today.

He said 323 businessmen have signed to close on Sundays, which includes businesses that already close on Sundays as well as some who pledged they will begin closing on Sundays.

Gratified At Response

"We are still shooting for all the major businesses to close on Sundays," he explained, "and have been gratified at the response thus far."

In addition, Dr. Jarratt received a letter from State Sen. David Ratliff, complimentary for the work done here on Sunday closings. "I am for the Sunday closing law," the senator said, "and always have been." He indicated he would continue working for Sunday closings in the legislature.

SPEAKER BEN BARNES
To bring address to YMCA annual banquet

Big Crowd To Hear Barnes

Between 275 and 300 persons are expected to hear Ben Barnes, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, when he addresses the annual YMCA banquet here Saturday evening.

A late surge in demand almost exhausted the supply of tickets for the affair which will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College.

RIISING STAR

Barnes is regarded as one of the rising young political stars of the Texas scene. At 26, he was the youngest man ever to be named speaker of the House, and now he is in his second term as speaker, his fourth as a member of the House.

A native of DeLeon, he attended TCU and then transferred to the University of Texas where he took his degree in law. McMurry College conferred a doctor of laws degree on him. Barnes has his practice and farm interests, but his chief efforts have been in the legislative field during the past two sessions.

He will be flown here Saturday afternoon by Lester Morton and Jack Little, the latter the president of the YMCA. His schedule requires that he fly back to Austin after his address Saturday evening.

ARRANGEMENTS

Arrangements for the affair are in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. E. C. Bell, assisted by Wade Choate, Mrs. R. L. Heith, Clyde McMahon Jr., R. W. Whipkey, and Mrs. O. S. Womack. The decorations are being arranged by Mrs. Womack, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Jack Cathey and Mrs. Zirah LeFevre. Highlights of the program will include the Sam Houston Singers from Sam Houston State College at Huntsville; awards to four outstanding youths, and recognition for membership enrollment.

Republican Leaders Back Powell's Seating, Censure

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack and Republican leaders have thrown their support behind a select committee's recommendation that Adam Clayton Powell be seated but censured and assessed an unprecedented $40,000 for "gross misconduct."

The nine-member committee's unanimous recommendation, which also included proposals to strip 22 years of seniority from Powell and fire his secretary and sometime traveling companion Corrine A. Huff, comes before the House for approval Wednesday.

Powell remained silent at his Bahamian fishing retreat, giving no indication when or if he would return to the Capitol.

FORD SUPPORT

McCormack said he supports the proposal and that "the committee has made recommendations to the House which I think the House will accept." House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford said he also favors the report and will work for its approval.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the select committee, predicted the panel's unanimity would help win support in the House. He predicted "no concerted effort by any group in the House to oppose" the recommendations.

Some Negro civil rights leaders responded to the recommendations with charges of racial discrimination, although others indicated that Powell's actions had left him vulnerable to censure.

EQUAL JUSTICE

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, urged the House to set ethical standards for its members. He said: "Unless it does so and metes out equal justice to all offenders regardless of their race, religion or national origin, it will validate the charge that Mr. Powell, despite his highly irregular conduct, has been singled out personally for special treatment." Whitney Young, national director of the Urban League, said "obviously Mr. Powell was vulnerable on many fronts" because "you can't be black and wrong." Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, termed the committee's action "political castration of the black people in this country."

TOO SEVERE?

Although all members of the committee signed the report, Rep. Claude D. Pepper, D-Fla., reiterated his belief Powell should be expelled from the House, while Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., like Powell a Negro, said he thought the monetary penalty and the loss of seniority were too severe.

The strong leadership support from both parties appeared likely to give a solid impetus to support of the recommendations in the House, despite a continued heavy influx of mail calling for Powell's expulsion.

Under House parliamentary procedure, no amendments will be permitted to the committee resolution unless opponents can first win a test vote. That appeared unlikely.

QUESTION MARK

The biggest question mark appeared to be Powell.

The Harlem Democrat was silent at his fishing retreat of Bimini, and his lawyers declined to make any comment on whether they thought he would appear Wednesday for the debate and, if the resolution passes, to take his oath.

Under the resolution, Powell, 58, would be required to step into the well of the House while the speaker, in behalf of the House, reads to him the official censure and condemnation.

The committee noted the possibility Powell might refuse to accept such a humiliation. It proposed that, if he fails to take the oath by March 13, his seat be declared vacant and a special election be held to fill it.

The committee's proposals, if adopted, would mark the final blow to Powell's once consid-

Webb To Train Sex 'Strangler' Jordanian Technicians

As part of a new aid procedure the U.S. is extending the kingdom of Jordan, Webb Air Force Base is implementing a program of training Jordanian technicians.

The Air Force announced this today, saying that the foreign personnel would be trained in maintenance of F-104 aircraft, the type which Jordan has purchased from this country.

Training will be at the 4760th Combat Crew Training Squadron, which comes into being Feb. 28 as successor to the 331st Fighter - Interceptor Squadron. The 331st has employed the F-104.

The Air Force announcement said "this program will continue indefinitely, utilizing the facilities becoming available by the inactivation of the 331st."

As a result of this activity, after a short period of personnel fluctuations, the (Webb) base population will stabilize at approximately its present level, the announcement continued.

Last December the State Department announced that "at the request of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, the United States government has agreed to provide under its existing military assistance program certain items of military equipment to strengthen the defensive capability of Jordanian armed forces."

BRIDGEWATER, Mass. (AP)

— Albert DeSalvo self-styled Boston strangler, escaped from Bridgewater State Hospital today where he has been a mental patient for more than two years.

His absence was discovered at 6:20 a.m., a State Correction Department official said.

The notorious inmate took with him two other mental patients — Fred E. Erickson, 40, Brockton, and George W. Harrison, 33, Westford. Erickson was under life sentence for murder and Harrison was convicted last November for armed robbery.

HUMAN VEGETABLE

DeSalvo was described by his attorney, F. Lee Bailey, as "a completely uncontrollable vegetable walking around in a human body." Bailey said DeSalvo admitted the sex slayings of 13 women in eastern Massachusetts between June, 1962, and January, 1964.

FOLLOW FOOTPRINTS

Bridgewater is a state mental institution with a section for detention of mentally ill persons with criminal records. It is some 25 miles south of Boston.

State police raced to the hospital area with bloodhounds and fanned out in a wide search through deep snow. Joining the hunt for the three dangerous escapees were hospital guards and local police.

The searchers followed footprints in the snow which led to a wall near a staging used in construction under way at the hospital.

Police said the men apparently moved the staging to a lower section of the wall and climbed over the outer wall.

KEY USED?

Hospital Supt. Charles Gaughan said the men were on the second floor of a building which also housed elderly and sick patients.

"It appears they used some instrument or stimulated key to open the reinforced wooden cell doors," Gaughan said.

Gaughan said the trio got out of the building down a shaft where an elevator is being installed. He said the men apparently were wearing hospital clothing.

'HEN COOP'

Gaughan said "it must be understood Bridgewater is not a prison. We're holding murderers in a hen coop."

Beyond the wall, the police search spread out on a house-to-house basis through the town of Bridgewater with a population of some 30,000.

DeSalvo, 35, was convicted by a jury Jan. 18 on charges of robbery and attacking four women in their suburban Boston homes in 1964.

13 WOMEN

None of the charges was connected with the series of stranglings which terrorized the Greater Boston area between June 1962, and January 1964, but during the trial his attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said DeSalvo was responsible for killing 13 women during the time, 11 of them by strangling.

DeSalvo was sentenced to 10-years-plus-life in state prison after the conviction, but was returned to Bridgewater pending an appeal of the verdict.

Private Clubs In Dry Areas Would Be Hit

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally asked today for legislation of liquor-by-the-drink in Texas restaurants, hotels, motels and private clubs but not in lounges and bars operated solely for drinking.

Private clubs in dry areas could continue operating but would be hit hard financially with permit fees and a special gross receipts tax.

The mixed drink bill, if passed by the legislature, would become effective at once in areas where all alcoholic beverages are presently legal for consumption on the premises. In other areas, even where sale of whiskey by the bottle is legal now, a special local option election would be required.

NEW MONEY

The governor pledged an all-out fight for his measure, which he claimed was a drive for sterner controls over liquor consumption in addition to raising $15 million in new revenue for 1968-69.

The governor disclosed his long awaited mixed drink bill at a crowded news conference in the official Capitol reception room.

TAX ON CLUBS

He said his measure would allow present private clubs in wet areas to continue operating but would outlaw so-called private clubs that serve drinks over the bar in dry areas.

A special tax would be levied on the legitimate private clubs in wholly dry areas which operate under the locker-bottle plan.

DALLASITES LEAD

Connally said his bill would be carried in the House by Reps. John Field and Dick McKissack, both of Dallas, and in the Senate by Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso.

The bill will go to the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, headed by Rep. Ben Atwell, also of Dallas. In the Senate the bill will be considered by the Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns.

"The question before us is not whether the use of alcohol is to be legalized or prohibited," Connally told the news conference, facing a battery of 10 television cameras from throughout the state.

UNREALISTIC

"That question was settled many years ago when prohibition proved unrealistic and unworkable. We are talking about whether a person will have to buy liquor by the fifth or by the ounce.

"I say that if we are going to have it—and we do already have it—we should have it tightly controlled and tightly regulated and it should be sold in small enough quantities to induce temperance and moderation."

'OPEN SALOON'

Connally said his bill would redefine the term "open saloon"—which are outlawed by the state Constitution. Present law says an open saloon is any place that alcoholic beverages are sold by the drink or in broken or unsealed containers.

"This bill defines the open saloon as a place devoted exclusively to the sale of liquor for on-premise consumption or a place without a permit under the Texas Liquor Control Act where any alcoholic beverage is sold for on-premises consumption. Thus the sale of mixed drinks would be permitted provided the selling establishment was not engaged exclusively in the business of selling liquor," he said.

CURE PERMITS

Connally said the effect of his bill would be to restrict "retail drink permits" to restaurants, lodges, hotels, private clubs and certain common carriers.

The state permits would cost $1,000 and the city and county (See CONNALLY, P. 8, C. 7)

Savage Winds Lash Europe, 23 Missing

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Savage winds which lashed Europe from the North Sea to the Alps throughout the night left a trail of wreckage and at least 23 persons dead or missing today.

By morning the Weather Bureau reported the height of the storm over the North Sea had passed. Winds were still strong, however, and the bureau said tides would be high, although nowhere near the disaster level.

DENMARK DAMAGE
Winds during the night pushed North Sea tides to their highest since 1962. In Denmark the worst hurricane winds in 31 years caused millions of dollars worth of damage.

Two persons were reported dead in Switzerland in one of the worst storms in memory. Skies were clear this morning, however, and emergency crews were busy clearing fallen trees and repairing damaged roofs.

Austria was hit by winds of up to 80 miles per hour, accompanied in parts of the country by driving rain.

The Vienna Fire Department was called out 130 times to help cope with severe storm damage during the night.

SIX DROWN
Most of the deaths occurred Thursday. Six crewmen were drowned in the Weser Estuary when their ship, the Ruhr, sank during a rescue attempt.

Five men were missing on a Dutch fishing cutter, and one man drowned in Holland's River Waal.

Eight people were killed by falling trees in south Germany. Near Dusseldorf a Rhine River barge captain was swept into the river and drowned.

Mounting Election Returns Imperil Mrs. Gandhi's Rule

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Mounting returns in India's elections imperiled the ruling Congress party's majority in Parliament today and confronted Prime Minister Indira Gandhi with a crisis that could bring down her government.

With 180 of Parliament's 520 seats decided, the Congress party had won 92, only four more than the combined opposition. The Hindu Communal Jan Sangh had 22, the right-wing

Cram Course In Politics
AUSTIN — Two Big Spring teachers will enroll in a "cram course" in politics this weekend in Austin, when Texas Classroom Teachers Association hosts its first state-wide Political Action Clinic.

Featuring Ben Barnes, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, and Sen. W. N. (Bill) Patman, president of the Texas Senate, as keynote speakers, the clinic will draw almost 1,000 teachers from more than 200 communities in Texas.

Representing Big Spring at the TCTA meeting will be C. Bailey Clements of Big Spring High School and Mrs. Carol Clements of Rannels Junior High School.

Big Spring delegates will study practical political hints provided through political speakers, including Barnes and Patman; personal meetings with legislators; "political pow-wows" to get group ideas; a panel discussion; and a legislative film.

"Teamwork for Effective Political Action in Education" is the topic of the five member panel discussion slated for Saturday afternoon.

Panelists will include Mrs. L. L. Ledger of Copperas Cove, state president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers; Albert D. Brown Jr., school board member, San Antonio; Bo Byers, veteran capitol reporter and chief of the "Houston Chronicle's" Austin bureau; Avery Downing, Waco superintendent of schools; and Herbert Cooke Jr., president of San Antonio Teachers Council. Moderating the panel will be TCTA's vice president, Bobbie Wilborn of Dallas.

Swatantra 14, the pro-Peking Communists 10, the Socialists 10, the pro-Moscow Communists 4 and independents and others 28.

In balloting for 3,500 assembly seats in 17 Indian states, Congress party candidates were winning only slightly more than 50 per cent.

BIG SETBACK
As the party which had ruled since India won independence 20 years ago suffered setback after setback, Mrs. Gandhi's chances of continuing as prime minister were in doubt.

The Congress party had lost control of the local legislatures in two of India's 17 states: Kerala, where a powerful Communist-leftist combine was victorious, and in Madras, where the Tamil Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam won a majority.

The Congress party retained the largest number of seats but lost its majority in three other states—Punjab, Rajasthan and West Bengal. There it must form coalitions to continue to govern.

RESIGNATIONS
The Congress party emerged the victor in six states: Mysore, Hariana, Gujarat, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh and Andhra Pradesh.

Still undecided were the states of Assam, Bihar, Jammu and Kashmir, Nagaland, Orissa and Uttar Pradesh.

As the votes continued rolling in, seven Cabinet ministers went down in defeat along with top leaders of the Congress party.

Resignations have already come in from Food Minister C. G. Subramaniam, who had been supervising the massive relief program for hungry eastern India, and Railway Minister S. K. Patil.

The other five upset in the week-long fourth general elections were expected to follow suit. They are finance, Sachindra Chaudhuri; information, Raj Bahadur; commerce, Manubhai Shah; industry, Damodaram Sanjivayya, and housing, M. C. Khanna.

AGED HELPERS
Mrs. Gandhi scored an easy victory in her own parliamentary race. Also re-elected were Home Minister Y. B. Chavan and Defense Minister Swaran Singh.

Although her political opponents have charged that she relied too much in the past on the advice of oldtime Congress party leaders, Mrs. Gandhi now had to face the crisis almost alone.

Congress party President Kumaraswami Kamaraj, who played a key role in her selection as prime minister 13 months ago, lost his power base when he was defeated for a state assembly seat in his native Madras by a 29-year-old student leader.

Party Secretary T. N. Manan, Treasurer Atulya Ghosh and other kingmakers including Patil were defeated in their races for Parliament.

Headaches Being Nursed By Medders

MUENSTER, Tex. (AP) — Ernest Medders nursed more headaches today over his plush Colonial Acres farm, which became famous as a setting for lavish parties.

Added to his recently hared financial troubles Thursday were two involuntary bankruptcy suits.

Earlier it became known that the former Tennessee mechanic had deeded his showplace farm near this North Texas town to a Muenster bank official as collateral for $730,000 borrowed from three banks.

Records at the Cooke County courthouse show $330,000 more is owed to the Neiman-Marcus store in Dallas.

DEBTS CITED
Seven other debts were cited in the two bankruptcy suits filed in federal court at Sherman. Medders has until March 6 to contest these proceedings, which involve $73,000 in debt claims.

Medders returned Thursday from Tennessee. His wife had said several days ago that he was out "walking on the mountain" near Jellico, Tenn., after word circulated about his financial troubles.

"Medders looks dazed," said one of the persons who saw him at the farm.

TOO TIRED TO TALK
"I'm too tired to talk," Medders told a reporter.

He said Mrs. Medders would return from Tennessee possibly today and certainly by Sunday.

A district court hearing at Gainesville, seven miles east of here, was scheduled today on a civil suit involving a $3,071 bill for livestock feed. It was brought against Medders by the Martindale Feed Co. at Valley View.

The bankruptcy suits allege these debts:
FLOWERS BILL
Claims in one suit by four Dallas firms—Sheraton - Dallas (Hotel) Corp., $20,234.06; Abbey Rents, Inc., $4,166.05; Randall H. Jordan, a florist, $16,709.75; and William E. Reed, decorations rental display, $12,249.18.

Dear Abby SHE HAS PLENTY OF LEGAL RIGHTS

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of marriage I am on the verge of cracking up. My husband is a good provider, BUT he believes that he is free to golf, night club with his friends, go out when he pleases, come home when he pleases, with no questions asked. And the wife is supposed to stay home, raise the children and keep her mouth shut.

For years I have put up with this for the children's sake, but last night he went too far. He stayed out all night! He claims he was playing poker, and didn't want to call me because he was afraid he'd wake me up. WAKE ME UP? I DIDN'T CLOSE MY EYES ALL NIGHT!

I am not old, fat, ugly, or cold. I am thinking of leaving him. Can I put him out of the house, or must I be the one to leave? Doesn't a wife have any legal rights at all? I am sick of being treated like a doormat.

DEAR SICK: You have a whole flock of lovely legal rights with which an attorney would be glad to acquaint you. If you were to recite them to Rover Boy, I can promise you (a) a more considerate mate, (b) none at all.

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a girl making out just a little to keep a fellow interested in dating her? I don't mean a great big love scene or anything like that, just a little light necking and a couple of kisses during the evening, and maybe one extra special good night kiss?

DEAR STARTING TO DATE: That's a dangerous game. The kind of "interest" you could arouse might cost you much more than you planned to pay.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very serious problem. I keep changing my mind about, so maybe you can help me decide.

My fiance lives about 600 miles from here, and we plan to be married this summer. We've gone together three years and we are really crazy about each other, but here's the problem:

Recently he sent me an engagement ring, and in plain words, I just don't like it. To

Film Star's Tomb Looted

CANNES, France (AP) — Burglars broke into the tomb of movie actress Martine Carol Thursday night and took a number of pieces of jewelry that had been buried with her earlier this month, police said.

No estimate has been made of the value of the jewels.

The 46-year-old film star died Feb. 6 in Monte Carlo of a heart attack. She was buried Feb. 14.

Police were trying to contact members of her family to learn exactly what jewels were buried with her. They were known to include a diamond-studded wedding ring, a necklace with diamonds and a heart-shaped brooch of 72 carats of rubies.

Police said the casket had been opened with a chisel. They said the body had not been touched and that the jewels seemed to be the only object of the invasion of the tomb. A lock on the cemetery gate was broken and Miss Carol's headstone also was broken.

Amarillo AFB Cutback Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services subcommittee approved Thursday the disposal of three Air Force bases eliminated or cut back by the Defense Department.

Disposal was approved for Walker AFB, N. M., and James Connally AFB, at Waco, Tex., eliminated by cutbacks announced by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara; and airport facilities at Amarillo AFB in Texas.

Air Force officials asked committee approval to dispose of all 5,500 acres of Walker, built at a cost of $65 million and 2,000 acres of James Connally, built at a cost of $40 million.

Also approved for disposal under the cutback were 1,942 acres of airstrips and buildings at Amarillo. The rest of the base remains in operation for training courses.

Opening lead: Ace of ♠
Depending upon the defensive strategy adopted by West in defending against South's three no trump contract, the latter succeeded in taking anywhere between three and 11 tricks when the above hand was dealt in a recent tournament.

Altho the bidding was not the same at every table, South usually ended up as the declarer in a no trump game and West opened a high spade honor. Where the ace was led, it was a conventional request for partner to follow with his highest card in the suit and East dutifully played the ten of spades. It is West's next play that determines the fate of the deal.

One defender chose to continue leading high spades and on the third round, East showed out signalling for a diamond shift by discarding the nine of that suit. West dutifully switched to the three of diamonds. His partner played the ace and led back a diamond thru the declarer's queen. The defense scored four diamonds and three spades to register a three trick set.

Most of the Wests chose to switch at trick two in an attempt to get their partner in for a lead thru South's guarded jack of spades. Some players chose the jack of hearts—however, this met with a disastrous result, when the declarer proceeded to cash out 11 tricks, four hearts and seven clubs.

Other Wests were fortunate enough to come up with a diamond shift and when East was in with the ace, the spade return enabled the defense to take eight tricks—six spades and two diamonds.

The maximum result for East-West, occurred at one of the tables where West put his partner in with the ace of diamonds. When the latter returned the seven of spades, however, South, for some reason decided not to cover, and West also underplayed, so that East would retain the lead.

Inasmuch as East was out of spades, he had no recourse but to return a diamond in the hope that his partner was not the victim of an aberration in falling to overtake the spade. West obliged by cashing out both the diamond and the spade suit, and the final result was a six trick defeat for the hapless declarer.

Businessmen To Underwrite JFK Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A "conspiracy investigation" fund has been created by New Orleans businessmen to underwrite Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's pledge to prove there was a conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"It would amount to a blank check that would pay the cost of the investigation for months and even years," one of the businessmen sponsors said. "We are prepared to back Jim Garrison all the way — five years if necessary."

Garrison said it might be months rather than weeks before arrests could be made.

CONSPIRACY CLAIMED

He also said he would go to banks, if necessary, to personally borrow money to finance the investigation.

While there have been a number of critics of the Warren report, Garrison is the first public official with power to investigate to say there was a conspiracy.

Convinced that Garrison is right and will produce results if his investigation is free of any money obstacles, various New Orleans businessmen pledged to privately finance the investigation.

MUM ON AMOUNT

The Associated Press learned that pledges have been made. The prime mover behind the fund raising is Joseph M. Rault, Jr., president of Rault Petroleum Corp. of New Orleans.

Rault confirmed the fund's existence, but declined to give any dollar amount.

The unorthodox financing of an investigation by a public official came about partly as a result of newspaper disclosures that Garrison was conducting an investigation into the Kennedy assassination.

The New Orleans States-Item broke the story after discovering that the district attorney's office had spent about $8,000 in three months. Vouchers covering this amount described the use of travel funds for "special investigation."

Garrison said that by publishing the names of the cities to which his staff traveled, possible witnesses or suspects were alerted and that this impeded his investigation.

DEAD IN BED

The solution, he said, was to find money that wouldn't have to be accounted for in public records.

"I am determined to see this through," Garrison said. "There is no question that there will be arrests, and there is no question there will be charges and convictions."

Two days after he made that statement, a free-lance pilot David W. Ferrie, a central figure in Garrison's probe, was found dead in bed. An artery in his brain had ruptured.

Garrison said on Wednesday the death was an apparent suicide. But on the basis of an autopsy, Coroner Nicholas Chetta later ruled out murder as a possible cause of death, leaving suicide, accidental death or natural death as possible causes. Chetta said he saw no evidence of suicide other than an unsigned, undated note which described death as a "sweet prospect."

NEW ARMY SHAKEUP Mao's Power Bid Hits Giant Snag

TOKYO (AP) — A new shake-up in the Chinese army and orders to the Red Guards to remold themselves gave evidence today of formidable snags in Mao Tse-tung's attempt to climb back to power.

New wall posters in Peking cast doubt on the future of the estimated 20-million Red Guards and heightened mystery surrounding Mao's heir presumptive, Defense Minister Lin Biao, who has not been reported seen in public since last November.

They also reflected breakdowns in discipline in the 2.5-million-man armed force which has been Mao's chief bulwark and indicated lower ranks in the army have been using the purge against their officers.

HANDS OFF

Mao has issued a directive putting the Communist party in charge of his purge of military units stationed in the key cities of Peking, Shanghai, Tientsin and Luta (Dairen-Port Arthur). The directive, reported in Peking wall posters, warned soldiers not to try to seize power from "military leadership organs" — the officers and political commissars.

It also warned outsiders to keep their hands off the army command, a suggestion that civilian Maoists are trying to take over the military leadership.

The Liberation Army Daily stressed the need for greater discipline in the army and indirectly disclosed that Mao, and not Lin Biao, is in charge of the Chinese military.

described Lin as "in charge of the work" of the commission, indicating that he had taken over as chairman.

Mao in the past week has publicly made clear he is dismayed at the toll his purge is taking. He has offered his foes a truce and positions of leadership if they will submit to criticism.

Hostility to the Red Guards was highlighted in an editorial in Red Flag, the theoretical party journal.

The journal called on the Red Guards to "seriously remold their world outlook."

Dairy Cattle Judging Due

HOUSTON (AP) — The first dairy cattle judging began today at the Houston livestock show as competition continued for breeding beef cattle, sheep and swine.

The largest crowds ever to watch judging at the Houston event were on hand Thursday at the show's exposition building at the Astrodome.

The American Brahman Breeders Association staged its national show with 176 head from the nation's top Brahman herds competing.

The United States Sugar Corp. of Clewiston, Fla., showed the champion and reserve champion bull and the champion female. J. D. Hudgins Inc., of Hungerford owned the reserve champion female.

Four-T Ranches of Georgetown had the champion bull in the Charolais division and the Michaelis Ranch of Kyle showed the champion female and the reserve champion bull. Litton Charolais Ranch of Chillicothe, Mo., showed the reserve champion female.

Only the bulls were judged Thursday with Texas Real and Sons of Pollett being named champion. The reserve champion was Prince Dominate, owned by Wise and sons of Manning, Iowa.

Roy Allen Schmidt, Burton, showed the champion boar in the Berkshire swine division. Tommy and Charles Real of Converse owned the champion sow. Lawrence Schmidt of Burton showed the reserve champion boar and Joe Gutz of San Antonio showed the reserve champion sow.

In the Yorkshire swine judging, Leroy Grebe Jr., of Belleville, showed the champion and reserve champion boar and reserve champion sow. H. H. Haley of Iola showed the champion sow.

C. W. Hunter and son of Blanco showed the champion ram and ewe in the Suffolk sheep judging. Trans - Pecos Ranch of Fort Stockton had the reserve champion ram and ewe.

In the southdowns sheep judging, Walter Stelzig Jr. of Schulenburg showed the champion and reserve champion ewe. Larry Pratt, Croseye, Ill., had the champion ram and Tielms brothers of Bellville showed the reserve champion.

Stanton Works On Water Plan

The groundwork for negotiations between the Colorado River Municipal Water District and the City of Stanton for the latter to buy its water from the district is being laid.

O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, and Stanton officials have conferred so that each will have a general picture of what may be involved. Meanwhile, Stanton is making more detailed engineering and cost studies, and when these are firm, the district will come up with a rate structure.

Ivie said that the district is ready to expedite matters in order to make water available to Stanton as soon as details can be worked out.

Midland Men Fail To Gain Estes' Check

EL PASO (AP) — A justice of the 8th Court of Civil Appeals has ordered that an $81,299.52 check given by bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes to four Midland oilmen be handed over to Harry Moore, trustee of the defunct Estes estate.

Justice William Clayton ruled Thursday as the court affirmed a Pecos trial court judgment involving a multi-million dollar suit that stemmed from the Estes case.

The Pecos jury handed down a split verdict Jan. 22, 1965. It said on the one hand that the four Midland men — J. C. Barnes Sr., J. C. Barnes Jr., William Ramsland and W. F. Wynn — did not have to pay $1.3 million in worthless fertilizer tank mortgages to Walter E. Heller and Co. of Chicago. Heller had sued for the money.

The four men, on the other hand, had filed a $4 million damage suit against Heller. The jury said the large finance company did not have to pay.

Estes is serving a federal prison sentence for fraud. He was convicted on charges growing from his securing millions of dollars from chattel mortgages on thousands of non-existent steel fertilizer tanks.

Program Sparkles With Imagination

By CYNTHIA LOWRY Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The variety hour, so often a predictable bore, took a giant step Thursday night with ABC's "C'est La Vie."

In the hour, taped in Paris, it may have been the first time in the careers of either Maurice Chevalier and Diahann Carroll that they were successfully upstaged by production values, staging and camerawork. Good as both were, the real star of the show was its director, Jean-Christophe Averty.

The program sparkled with innovation and imagination. Averty used his big white stage like a canvas, sometimes breaking it with straight lines, sometimes with hollow block inside of which were his dancers and stars.

Miss Carroll and Chevalier serenely sang their charming ways through all this inventive background. In one number, Miss Carroll sang "Some of These Days" in a forest of blinking spotlights of various colors.

If the program had one fault it was that the backgrounds were often so busy, so unusual and so attention-getting that the viewer's attention strayed from the principals in the center of things.

The packaging firm of Goodson and Todman, soon to be out of evening game shows when "To Tell The Truth" and "What's My Line?" disappear, have a new daytime entry, "Snap Judgment" arriving in NBC's lineup on April 13.

FEEBLE ENTRY

It will replace the feeble entry, "Reach For The Stars," out of Merv Griffin's production shop, that managed to survive only three months.

Ed McMahon, Johnny Carson's late evening man Friday, will be host on the program which appears to have been inspired by psychologist's word-association tests on one hand and Goodson-Todman's own "Match Game" on the other.

Studio contestants will attempt to react to a series of words with words that they hope will be chosen by their celebrity team mates.

Recommended weekend viewing: Tonight — "The Songmakers," ABC, 10-11 EST, an inspection of contemporary music, with Henry Mancini, Simon and Garfunkel and others.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus said to him (Thomas), "I am the way, and the truth, and the life." (John 14:6, RSV)
PRAYER: Dear God, grant that the simplicity of the gospel may not be a stumbling block to our full commitment to Christ's way of life. Give us daily a deeper understanding of its meaning and a greater determination to follow the Master, who has taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

Preserved For Posterity

The House passed 132-10 and sent to the governor the bill conveying Texas mineral rights in the Guadalupe National Park. This virtually assures the creation of the 70,000-acre park, which in time should become a mecca for tourists.

Should oil be developed in adjacent areas, the state stands to recover its share through pooling arrangements. A reversionary clause would return the mineral rights to the state if the area ever ceased to be used as a national park. Considering the benefits that the park may bring, it seems to us that there have been ample safeguards erected in the conveying legislation.

The Guadalupe park has been compared with the Big Bend park, which already is drawing a quarter of a million people a year to view its unique desert beauty and its majestic, lofty peaks. Guadalupe, however, is somewhat more accessible and should more rapidly hit its stride as an attraction. It is in reasonable proximity to the Carlsbad Caverns and not far off US 180. It is a spot of rare and rugged beauty, of stream and timber, and one that we are happy to see preserved for posterity.

Grist For The Mill

At this stage, about the most that can be said for the claim of New Orleans District Atty. Jim Garrison (that a plot to assassinate President Kennedy was hatched in his city) is that it is an interesting news story.

The claim itself was enough to make headlines, inasmuch as Lee Harvey Oswald, said by the Warren Commission to be the assassin of President Kennedy, had been in New Orleans some time prior as part of the Free Cuba movement.

Garrison has hinted of disclosures, arrests and convictions, but so far has made none. A bizarre touch has been added by the death of David W. Ferrie, one of those Garrison said figures in his investigation. Simultaneously, a Florida man has asked that the body of his brother, Thomas Henry Killiam, who was reputed to have said he had been harassed to death by agents.

All of this is grist for the mill. It has been grinding for over a hundred years after the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, and apparently it is going to grind a long, long time after the death of John F. Kennedy.

Marquis Childs Canada Proud Of New Stature

OTTAWA, Canada. — The biggest birthday party ever is being readied from one side of this broad land to the other to mark 100 years of Canada's confederation. Just about every head of state and head of government from everywhere will be coming in an unending procession from mid-April into the fall.

One of the problems now is to keep them from falling over each other. It was hoped to persuade President Johnson to come on July 4 to see Expo 67, the world's fair in Montreal, and then visit this capital for talks. But Queen Elizabeth has decided on that time for her tour, so the President will come a little later.

owned subsidiary. Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp pushed an amendment to the banking act providing that no foreign interest could own more than 25 per cent of the shares of a Canadian bank.

IF INCIDENTS like this get in the way of peace and harmony it may also be that there is a deeper underlying cause for Canada's fear and resentment. That is the American habit of taking the neighbor on the north for granted — a rather dull place, respectable enough, but they really don't count for much in the sum total of things.

IN CANADA'S long search for nationhood — for identity — the birthday party is a way of saying, "Look, we're a hundred years old, we're grown-up now. And anyone who talks about our becoming the 51st state of the United States had better duck quick."

The boom Canada currently is enjoying is fed by large infusions of American capital. Of the mushrooming expansion in oil, natural gas and minerals 80 per cent of the financing is from south of the border. As much as 30 per cent of all Canadian capital investment is American in origin.

This smug indifference gets in the way of a lot that the giant to the south might otherwise learn from Canada. That is true not only in special fields of diplomacy, notably China and Vietnam, but on the domestic side as well. A formula has been worked out here for the sharing of revenue between the central government and the provinces that could serve as a model for the troubled Federal-state relationship in the United States.

THE NEED for this flow helps to explain Canada's fear — some would say neurotic fear — of domination by her only neighbor, the most powerful nation in the world. While the partnership symbolized by the longest undefended border, to use the favorite cliché, is essential, it is nevertheless subject to constant pinpricks of resentment.

UNDER THE leadership of Mr. Sharp Parliament imposed two tax increases in 1966 to curb inflation. He initiated a two-year delay in the imposition of medicare, which in Canada covers all persons and not, as in the United States, just those over 65, on the ground that there were already too many undigested reform programs.

WHEN THE First National City Bank of New York bought from Dutch interests ownership of the Mercantile Bank in Ottawa a loud outcry went up. Canadians in and out of government saw a threat that with the power of one of the world's greatest banks all American financing in Canada would be funneled through a wholly

The belief of responsible leaders in the two major parties, Conservative and Liberal, is that quite aside from the way in which it would worsen relations with the colossus to the south this line is not productive of votes. Canadians want to believe that there can be a meaningful partnership in which they have a role.

Billy Graham

There are so many contradictions in the Bible such as "He that loatheth his life shall find it" and "When I am weak, then I am strong." How can we know which parts of it are true? G.F.

These are not contradictions: They are distilled truth in capsule form. The musician loses his life, but yet gains it. He loses his life in his music, gives it everything he has, and a master musician emerges. Christ puts it in concentrated form, "He that loatheth his life shall find it."

The same is true with, "When I am weak, then I am strong." A man may be physically strong and spiritually weak, and he may be spiritually strong, yet physically weak. The apostle Paul had an affliction which made him more reliant upon God, and these words were born, "My strength is made perfect in weakness."

One finds what one looks for. I stood in the Sistine Chapel in Rome and viewed the works of Michelangelo. There were visible flaws in these masterpieces where the plaster had begun to erode. But even a novice like me could see the beauty of the artist's genius and skill. I looked for beauty and found it. If I had looked for flaws I could have found them also. The same is true with the Bible. If we search for truth, it is there. If we want to find contradictions, the truth can be distorted to our own bias.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Though unemployment insurance has the worthy aim of tiding workers over a period of involuntary unemployment, that idea has been stretched pretty far. In some states, for instance, payments can be made to strikers.

In New Jersey it doesn't even seem to matter whether the worker's occupation is legal. The state decided the other day that unemployment compensation could be paid to shills, persons hired by auction houses in Atlantic City to pose as customers and bid up the prices of items on sale. Atlantic City outlawed the use of shills three decades ago.

Since most of the shills are elderly and often incapable of doing other work, society may have an obligation to ease their joblessness. But it's a mistake to do so by further distorting the unemployment insurance system.

The distortions, after all, bid up the taxes that employers pay to support the system. And the heavier the burden gets on employers, the more likely it is that they will be forced to add workers to the numbers of the involuntarily unemployed.

'HE'S TAKING STANDS ALL RIGHT'

James Marlow Romney Still Skippy On New Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney has finished a seven-day western speaking trip that still leaves him looking skippy on new ideas or even positive ones on the war in Vietnam.

But when his tour was over — a tour obviously calculated to see what kind of reaction he got from Republican voters — he left little doubt he was satisfied or that he wanted his party's presidential nomination.

As usual, the liking for Romney seems more rooted in his personality than any ideas he had to offer. On Vietnam, in particular, his ideas were, and still are, practically zero.

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no freedom like middle-aged freedom.

Just a few years ago people used to hate reaching their 40th birthday. They'd even try to hide the fact from themselves and the rest of the world.

They felt that merely being 40 had a sound of senility to it, as if their life had been put on the shelf. They silently mourned the passing of their youth.

WELL SIR, today that is an old-fashioned view. People have awakened to the discovery that 40 can be an exit from slavery, a milestone on the path of true human liberty. Far from being a disgrace, it is a condition of dignity and has certain welcome advantages and privileges.

For example: You are too old to have to study algebra but too young yet to have to learn how to fill out a government medicare form.

The chairman of the board of your firm decides you are now dry enough behind the ears to be considered as possible executive timber.

YOU ARE now getting wise enough not to eat the kind of foods that upset your stomach.

On the other hand, if you don't want to accept a dinner invitation, your wife can always phone the hostess and explain, "Sorry, we won't be able to make it. You know Henry's gall bladder—it's been acting up again."

Any company is glad to issue you a credit card, figuring that by now you have reached the age of responsibility.

You can express your views on national and international politics without being regarded as a smart aleck young whipper-snapper.

THAT TOUCH of gray at your temples makes you look more distinguished, and helps bring out the hidden character lurking behind your baggy eyes.

The pretty girls at the office now think you are "harmless"—and, boy, that's where they make their mistake! There is no devil with the ladies like a middle-aged devil.

Barbers and taxicab drivers no longer try to regale you with risqué jokes which were old even when you were in high school. They realize your mind is on grave and important matters.

YOUR WIFE now takes it for granted that you love her, and no longer demands that you explain why.

There is no law on earth that can compel you to stay up after midnight—unless you really want to.

All the recurrent and annoying emergencies that used to clutter your life begin to fade. You begin to quit wasting your energy doing unnecessary things.

Convinced at last that you can't refashion the world single-handed, you are at liberty to start harvesting the real glories of this earth with a quiet eye and a more understanding heart.

Yes, there's no freedom like middle-aged freedom. The wonder is that there are still so many people left who don't want to be that free.

After that it was reported Romney and his advisers thought that before he started talking again in the field of foreign affairs, especially Vietnam, he ought to bone up on the problems. He remained quiet on them a long time.

But he started again on this trip, attacking President Johnson's handling of the war as "clumsy, ill-timed and poorly coordinated." He didn't say how but he did say it was a mistake to get involved in a land war in Asia.

Then he added: "But, since we're still there, we have to see it through." He did not criticize Johnson for resuming the bombing of North Vietnam but later he accused the Johnson administration of "expediency" in handling the war.

The day after that he ducked a question which tried to pin him down. He was asked how the administration was being politically expedient in Vietnam

To Your Good Health When Cousins Marry And Have Children

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article on first cousins marrying. I married my cousin 20 years ago. We have six wonderful children who know nothing of our relationship. Should I tell them? Will their children be normal? Two of my children are slow learners. Could this be because of the parents? Do I owe my children an explanation? — W.

weakness will be intensified in the children. But favorable characteristics may also be reinforced.

The danger comes down to this: We all have our strong and our weak points. Many weak ones are what we call recessive characteristics which die out from generation to generation, unless bolstered by combining with a similar trait in a spouse.

You should, and I am sure will be watchful to see that none of your children marry cousins, but I don't see that anything is to be gained by telling them that you and their father are cousins. It might worry them, and what possible good could it do? So long as they are fine children, that's all that really counts.

heard of a couple being delayed in marriage plans by discovery of such disease? — R. W. F.

Maybe you know only people who are (a) always lucky, or (b) very well behaved.

It's more likely, however, that some of these people did have venereal diseases at some time or other but had treatment before applying for a marriage license.

There's no question about the prevalence of these diseases. The proof is undeniable and frightening. Unquestionably there are more cases than are reported in the statistics.

Whether the slow learning is the result of cousins having married is hard to say. It might be. But what's done is done, and I see no benefit in telling the children about it.

We know that a risk is involved when cousins marry, but the risk will be different for each couple. It depends on their genes, which control the characteristics of the children, and it also depends on precisely how the genes combine when each child is conceived.

Dear Dr. Molner: With social diseases said to be common, can you suggest how we can account for the fact that, of dozens of young couples we have known to get married, we have never in all the years

Crusader's Glean Dims

Crusaders have my compassion. It's a hard habit to break, and I speak as one who has traveled that lonesome road by myself lots of times. One youthful day there wasn't a thing proposed that I wasn't very vocally against. "Stand up for right!" I said—and I was forever nudging the fellow next to me to do the same.

sure up over such things as pari-mutuel horse racing, selling liquor by the drink and merchants hawking their wares on Sunday. Putting my finger to the pulse of the nation is one thing but letting my own temperature rise on any of those things is out of the question.

THE DAY came, though, when some fellow got tired of being bruised by my elbow. He was a pretty big guy. I paid attention when he told me to do as I wished—but just be sure I allowed him the courtesy of doing the same. I did—and he did—and nothing drastic happened either way.

The incident came to mind the other day when a friend said, "Why don't you ever speak out against something — anything — just to see what people are thinking?"

Fine idea, says I. But the years have used me badly or led me astray. There's nothing worth mentioning that I'm against. Not worth arguing about, anyway.

I, along with millions of others, have been to a few horse races, had a few drinks and occasionally needed a can of coffee on Sunday. As far as I know, thunder didn't roll nor lightning strike any of us. The people I saw at the race track didn't look like they were starving or neglecting their children. The people I've had a so-called drink with have been upstanding citizens who contributed much to the community — and the people I see shopping for a needed item on Sunday look like they are going home to share it with their family during their day together.

I SEE by the papers that people are beginning to get their blood pres-

Holmes Alexander The Blunt Facts On Vietnam

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harry Byrd Jr. (D., Va.), now in his second congressional session as a member of the Armed Services Committee, has behaved like a newspaperman—which he is in private life—and has asked questions of the experts.

Byrd recently told the Senate: "I have put this question to our military leaders: 'If you were ordered to conduct the war in such a way as to bring it to an early conclusion with the least possible American casualties, would you follow the present operating procedures?' The answer was No. The military commanders would remove the restrictions on air and naval bombardment of the vital military targets in North Vietnam."

Byrd puts it succinctly. In our overall strategy, we have the option of making this a short war or a long one. If we aim to get it victoriously over with, then we ought to use our superior air power and our supreme Navy power to obliterate the military targets in North Vietnam. Never were the risks so small of intervention by Red China and Red Russia as they are now.

ALL OF US who question military officials are familiar with these views, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff from time to time blurt out something of the sort. But the value of Byrd's contribution is that he sits in the secret council and is quite familiar with the arguments by President Johnson and Secretary McNamara that support the other side of the case.

BUT IF WE continue to shape our strategy to a war of attrition and a prolonged conflict, we may avoid risks of enlargement but we are doing what suits the purposes of world communism.

"I am convinced . . ." Byrd told his colleagues, "that the Vietnam war is dragging along to the advantage of both the Soviet Union and Communist China. Neither is losing men in Vietnam, yet U.S. casualties are running at the rate of 1,000 per week. As to economic costs, the Soviet Union spent $2 billion in supply equipment in North Vietnam during 1966. The U.S., however, spent $20 billion last year and will spend an equal amount again this year."

Moreover, Byrd was applying and relating his information to a very broad spectrum of world relationships. He finds that the United States is wasting its time if it looks to the United Nations to ever back up our resistance to Communist aggression in Vietnam. Byrd has asked some questions in those quarters, too, and he says:

THE SENATOR finds the war strategy over-influenced by the discredited fallacy of buying friendship in Communist lands. Will Russia be less a belligerent if the Senate ratifies the consular treaty or additional nuclear treaties? Will we be better off by "bridge-building" with trade agreements into the East Europe bloc of Soviet satellites? It is the Soviet economy, as Byrd points out, which today supplies the air power, artillery, radar and petroleum which lengthens the war in Asia.

It's apparent to the hearers and readers of the senator's speech that he did not pick his opinions off the wall.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

THOSE AMERICAN officials most closely connected with the U.S. state privately, if not publicly, that of the 122 members of the world organization, perhaps less than 30 are sympathetic with the U.S.'s action in Vietnam.

What, then, are we up against?

David Lawrence Conformity By Coercion

WASHINGTON — Maybe the Johnson administration doesn't realize it, but the bombshell just thrown into the public forum by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights could bring about a defeat for the Democratic party across the nation in November, 1968. The Commission demands the elimination throughout the country of "racially imbalanced schools"—which are defined as those "in which Negro pupils constitute more than 50 per cent of the total enrollment." The solution favored is the assignment of Negroes only to schools in which at least half of the pupils are white. The disturbance that could be felt by communities from such a move, along with the open-housing legislation also urged by the Commission, would certainly provoke considerable resentment at the polls.

ing taken to correct "racial imbalance." Now the Civil Rights Commission apparently has come to the conclusion that the federal government must interpose its power and influence to bring about "racial balance" in the schools as well as in the communities. For one of the recommendations of the Commission is that the Department of Housing and Urban Development should be given the following responsibility:

ONE OF THE recommendations made by the Commission is the following: "Congress should establish a uniform standard providing for the elimination of racial isolation in the schools."

But it is significant that the Civil Rights Commission expects the states to administer the reform. The Commission adds:

"REQUIRE AS a condition for approval of applications for low- and moderate-income housing projects that the sites will be selected and the projects planned in a nondiscriminatory manner that will contribute to reducing residential racial concentrations and eliminating racial isolation in the schools."

The above is just a part of a comprehensive set of recommendations which the Civil Rights Commission has submitted to President Johnson, who now will have to decide for himself whether to support the Commission or repudiate its findings.

"AT THE same time it is clear that the responsibility should be placed upon the states rather than the individual school districts. The states, and not individual communities alone, have the capacity to develop and implement plans adequate to the objective."

It is conceded, of course, that not much can be accomplished without cooperation between neighboring communities, and it is pointed out that the states have the authority and means for securing cooperation "by consolidating or reorganizing school districts or by providing for appropriate joint arrangements between school districts."

THIS IS the kind of issue which affects not only national but also local elections. Indeed, the victory of the Republicans last November in winning majorities in a large number of state legislatures and more governorships may be directly attributed to the wave of opposition which has arisen in the electorate against conformity by coercion.

(Copyright, 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

THE FEDERAL government would, to be sure, come directly into the picture by providing money to implement such programs, and presumably federal funds would be withheld from those states which did not conform to the standard, if prescribed by Congress, that "racial imbalance" shall be removed.

All this, of course, contradicts the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which specifically prohibits any measures be-

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Nashville hotel has been congratulated for the "excellent" linens it uses. The words of gratitude came from a woman who should know — she's been using one of the pillow slips for 31 years.

"Thirty-one years ago my husband and I spent our wedding night in your hotel," she wrote anonymously from Memphis. "When we checked out, we inadvertently mixed one of your pillow slips with our luggage. The pillowcase has lasted, she said, through 'three children and four grandchildren,' but now is wearing out.

"If the lady had given her name and address I would have sent her a replacement," said manager Leon Womble.

Dear Heloise: I am a dentist and I have a hint which a little old lady told me about. We have tested it among our patients for six months now, and I want to tell you about it. Many people brush their teeth with salt, or soda — or a mixture of the two. I think that most dentists will agree that the mixture is wonderful. However, the main fault we find with this is that people use the mixture dry.

A LOVELIER YOU

Takes So Much To Make 'Real' Woman

By MARY SUE MILLER

According to an old saying, "You can't tell a book by its cover." A book may be delightful, but when its cover looks drab, most people never bother to open it. Yet, if the cover proves more interesting than the content, the book is soon laid aside.

Just so, a girl or woman can find herself deposited on the shelf. She has to look attractive to attract attention. To hold attention, she has to be as attractive as she looks.

When her actions and attitudes spring from a desire for the well-being of others, her presence is treasured on every scene. And small wonder, for she has mastered the social graces — tact, timing and tolerance. She has developed a reservoir of winsome traits — sympathy, understanding, good judgment and good humor. What's more, her fine qualities are mirrored in her gracious manner and manners. You just naturally want to be with her.

At this point, the last article in our series on the subject of Total Attractiveness, a young girl may think the goal difficult to reach. Let her remember that nothing worthwhile is won without effort.

For a woman, making the most of herself is a way of life. But loveliness knows no age. It belongs, alike, to the caring lass and lady.

WINNING MANNERS

MIXED REACTIONS TO SOME CHANGES

Church Is Probing For New Truths

EDITOR'S NOTE—Through their long history, Christian churches have been subject to many trends and transitions. Once again today, changes are sweeping through the Christian edifice from all directions.

By GEORGE W. CORNWELL

Associated Press Religion Writer

An odd, new Christian congregation recently was formed in Oklahoma City—without site or sanctuary.

It travels light. It has no real estate, no fixed boundaries. Its components are a committed few. Its nomadic habitation is among men.

HELPING MAN

"That's where the needs are," says the Rev. William F. Nerin, administrator of the Community of John XXIII. Instead of investing in a secluded haven of its own, "we decided to put our capital into helping man."

This free-ranging little band of believers depicts, in miniature, the venturing impulse at work today in the churches at large.

They've become more foot-loose. They're probing new ways, new ideas, new ground. They're in a rather of change—and also strain.

PUFFING HARD

"When God unhinges history, he expects us to move," says an eminent Lutheran leader, the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry. "The church is puffing hard to keep up."

The Rev. John Courtney Murray, a noted Jesuit scholar, observes, "everything seems to be coming unstuck."

Both internally and externally, the Christian edifice is being shaken by transition—of shifting customs and methods, of heightened social activism, an increasingly vocal laity and a re-examination of doctrine itself.

Along with this have come conflict, uncertainty, elation and distress.

CHAOTIC

"I've never seen the situation so chaotic," says a United Church theologian, the Rev. Dr. Roger L. Shinn, of New York's Union Seminary. But he considers it "a creative ferment."

On the other hand, a Boston minister, the Rev. Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, complains, "someone is tampering with the soul of the church."

A midwest edition of the Yellow Sheet, put out by worried Roman Catholics, charges that irresponsible liberal ecumenical extremists have blossomed forth unchecked "to upset the faith."

NEEDS IT

To the contrary, it's a "gloriously disturbing period," says the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. D. Conway, of Davenport, Iowa, a Catholic canon law expert, had said before his death Feb. 5. "It is the spirit of Christ rampant in a world which needs it badly."

A "new age has begun to emerge" in which the church moves "out of its ecclesiastical ghetto to engage" modern life, says the Rev. Dr. James L. McCord, president of Presbyterianism's Princeton Seminary. It is "God's gift."

"There is excitement in a time of renewal," says Catholic Bishop John J. Wright, of Pittsburgh, both "excitement and bewilderment."

HOPE AHEAD

A prominent Quaker scholar, Dr. Elton Trueblood, cites the upheavals and sees both trouble and hope ahead for Christianity. "The coming year and years will be dark times and they will be bright times, and they will be both at once."

"Blessed is he," Pope Paul VI recently advised, "who is not scandalized."

In contrasting ways, and to variable degrees, the unrest has arisen in protestantism, Roman Catholicism and Eastern Orthodoxy. The situations differ somewhat, yet many of the stresses are similar, and the issues connected.

LINKS

Adding to this parallel pattern are the increasing links among churches, resulting in a continuing interflow of viewpoints, initiatives and influences.

Amid the flux, a drive developed—both in and among denominations—to get Christianity out of its protected cloisters and into the skilled, fast-moving secular environment dominating humanity.

This unsettling thrust underlay much of the other tumult about strategies, concepts, even religious terminology. It's "the nub" of the readjustment, says a Baptist advocate of it, the Rev. Dr. Harvey Cox, of Harvard.

CLEAVAGE

It rejects the traditional sharp cleavage between the natural and the spiritual, between an exalted Godliness and a debased world. It stresses involvement, rather than other-worldly retreat. It centers on man's responsibilities in his present technological-urban setting, and calls the devout to get with it.

"Christian secularity" it's sometimes termed because of its focus on men's earthly life. Yet it spurns "secularism"—the enshrining of earthly institutions, such as science, state or church, as the ultimate.

FIND THE CREATOR

It is prone to put the good of persons above traditions or systems to find the creator in the created, although recognizing its ills. "It is through man that we will come again to talking about God," says Episcopal Bishop Kilmer Myers of California.

"Theological disciplines must break out of their sacred isolation and meet man in the world where he is now living," says the Rev. Dr. Samuel Miller, dean of Harvard Divinity School.

The job, he adds, "is to elicit the reality of God's grace in circumstances and events which seem to be quite secular."

A noted Catholic sociologist, the Rev. Andrew Greeley, says the church is moving from its past "static, tribal, highly symbolic ritualistic relationships" into "the dynamic, rationalized, flexible and technological relationships of the contemporary world."

THE ESSENCE

The emerging "secularized church" may seem unchurchly to many at first, he said in a recent address, but this is because they have identified "feudal forms" of the past with "the essence of Christianity."

The tendency cropped up in programs, debates, books and church assemblies.

It proliferated in a multitude of experimental ministries—of interchurch urban projects, worker priests, shopping-center chapels, industrial missions, tavern-touring clergymen, folk masses, discussions with atheists, overseas technical aid, neighborhood study cells, church-sponsored coffee houses, now numbering more than 1,000 across the country.

It showed up when Roman Catholic Webster College in Missouri disclosed in January it was turning secular, and its president, Sister Jacqueline Grennan, was putting aside the veil.

BUZZ SESSIONS

It appeared in campus buzz sessions—and even nightclubs—of a roving Episcopal chaplain, the Rev. Malcolm Boyd. He says the church is moving "out of incestuous preoccupation with self into the world of real men and women."

Aspects of the trend have been praised as the rise of a more relevant, intelligible Christian concern for the world, and it also has been denounced—in some respects—as a sellout to the world.

A "second fall," says religious historian Dr. Mircea Eliade, of Chicago.

SECULAR PERIL

"While moving into the world the church must be on guard against becoming so identified with the secular as to lose the dimension of the transcendent and holy," says the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrae Cavert, veteran ecumenical leader of New York.

"Secular Christianity ennobles neither Christianity nor the worldly life, says philosopher Dr. Milton D. Hunnax, of Wilmotte University, in Christianity

Today, "Its foundations are confused, its witness spurious."

It has provoked troubling questions about the effectiveness of local parishes—sometimes described as "sacred islands" detached from deterministic currents of their communities.

BLAMED

In that connection, the routine, insular, time-consuming nature of much parish activity frequently is blamed for turning many youths away from ministerial careers. Recruiting them has become a problem.

Surveys indicate about two-thirds of Protestant seminarians don't intend to become pastors. Dropouts often turned to service-type secular professions.

The count of Catholic seminarians last year was down nearly 1,000.

If the downtrend continues, "the Catholic priesthood might almost disappear" in the next century, one Jesuit scholar predicted.

On the other hand, another Catholic theologian, the Rev. Raymond A. Schroth, of Woodstock, Md., sees the secularizing trend as "part of a painful and in the long run healthy transformation." That may bring new forms of religious vocations.

The late French Jesuit theologian - paleontologist, Pierre Teilhard de Chardin viewed natural human evolution, of body, mind and soul, as advancing toward total communal consciousness, personalized by love.

It was the theme of the much-quoted letters of German Lutheran Dietrich Bonhoeffer, slain by the Nazis, whose phrases such as "world come of age" and "religionless Christianity" now sprinkle theological parlance.

In the modern functional era, whose mass-organize, scientific knowledgeability has shattered religious controls over many activities, Bonhoeffer said God has allowed himself to be "edged out of life," teaching men to cope more and more without him.

To Conduct Revival Here

These four young evangelists (l. to r.) Delvin Wiles, Ronnie Martin, Keith Barker and Dewey Flock, will preach and lead singing for a special revival at the Apostolic Faith Church, 14th and Goliad. The special evangelistic series begins Wednesday, March 1, and continues for a week, with services nightly at 7:30. Gene Raney, pastor of the church, said a cordial invitation is extended to all persons to attend the services.

Increases Noted In Baptist Camp

DALLAS — Increases in giving and church membership marked the Texas Baptist report for 1966 according to figures released by Cecil Goff, director of statistical services for the BGCT.

Membership in the 3,927 churches cooperating with the convention rose by 23,148 to a new high of 1,786,889.

Total receipts for all purposes through the churches were $112,232,333, a gain of $3.6 million for the year. Of the gifts, a record $17,110,818 was given through the Dallas office for mission causes. The total was more than $980,000 above the 1965 total.

The number of baptisms was down 612 from 1965, but observers saw indications of the reversal of a downward trend. The churches reported 53,344 baptisms in 1966 compared with 53,956 the previous year when almost 2,700 fewer baptisms were reported than in 1964.

The total number of churches affiliated with the convention in Texas was recorded at 3,927 as compared to 3,931 in 1965. Missions were below the 1965 total, 502 in 1966 and 540 the previous year. Questions about the gains in membership in comparison to the dip in the number of churches and missions have been answered in reports of churches disbanding in declining and inner-city areas, several church mergers, and termination of temporary mission points.

Statistics were: Sunday school, 1,152,747 during 1966; 1,147,782 in 1965. Training Union, 420,381 as compared with 433,573 the previous year. Brotherhood, 70,589 as against 74,057. Woman's Missionary Union, 184,152 in 1966 and 186,360 in 1965.

Reported enrollments of churches across the state were 5,950 persons above the previous year's figure for a total of 144,750.

In the 1966 statistics report for the Southern Baptist Convention in which the Texas body is affiliated, membership pressed toward the 11 million mark, but enrollments in most church organizations recorded decreases during the year. Membership in SBC churches reached 10,952,463 during 1966, an increase of 179,751 members over the 1965 report. The 33,949 churches represented a gain of 152 over 1965, while the total number of baptisms in the convention was reported at 360,959 in 1966 compared to 361,634 the previous year.

Financially, Southern Baptists gave a total of nearly $670 million through their churches for all causes during 1966, up $31.8 million over total gifts last year.

Contributions for missions topped the $115 million mark, an increase of $8.4 million over missions gifts of 1965.

Baptists Set Music Festival

Solos, ensembles, hymn players, and choirs will be featured at the Church Music Festival Friday and Saturday at the College Baptist Church, The Big Spring and Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Associations have joined to sponsor this opportunity for church choirs and singers to hear each other and to be judged against a standard by qualified judges. The public is invited.

Friday at 7:30 p.m. the adult and youth choirs will be singing in the sanctuary, and the solo and ensemble participants will be singing in the choir rehearsal room. Saturday at 9:30 a.m. the junior and primary choirs will be singing in the sanctuary, and the hymn players will be playing in the choir rehearsal room.

"The choirs and other participants are coming from as far away as Snyder and Colorado City and the judges are coming from Odessa. I'm sure we will all receive encouragement toward better church music," said James M. Stephens, music director for the Big Spring Baptist Association.

Dial-A-Prayer Launched Here

An extension of its ministry is bringing the First Baptist Church as near as your telephone.

The church has installed Dial-A-Prayer, a service whereby anyone can dial AM 7-8230 and hear a short scripture and a brief prayer. The service is automatically operated and available around the clock.

MUST SHOW WORTHINESS FOR RESPONSIBILITY OF MORE

"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much" is a familiar verse of Scripture which brings into focus the International Sunday School lesson.

The Scripture selection is Luke 16:10-15 and Luke 17:7-10, and as one commentator points out, this would be a harsh lesson if it is not considered in the light of all that Christ has done for us. In establishing the master-servant relationship, Christ establishes our obligation to service. We are to show that we are worthy to be responsible with more.

We are warned not against riches but against letting them become our actual ruler. Life is made up mostly of small opportunities, and thus it is important how we deal with the small opportunities. One scholar warns that "there is no greater temptation for the average Christian than the temptation to be unfaithful in small things."

Christ reminds that there cannot be split loyalties, and that our service is to grow out of love — from exclusive devotion. Nor are we to labor in the expectation of rewards. "We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do." This is at once a withering and humbling verse for those who take pride in earning their own way spiritually. It should strip us of pride and self-sufficiency and remind us that we attain only by God's grace.

Daily Bible readings: Monday, Luke 16:1-9; Tuesday, Luke 16:10-15; Wednesday, Luke 16:16-30; Thursday, Luke 17:1-10; Friday, Luke 17:11-19; Saturday, Luke 17:20-37; Sunday, Matt. 25:14-30.

Overseas Air Program Has A Name Change

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The "Christian Rural Overseas Program"—known more popularly as CROP—will now be known as "Church World Service Community Appeals."

The change of name was announced here by Albert W. Farmer, director of the program, at a meeting commemorating the 20th anniversary of CROP.

Farmer emphasizes that the name "CROP" is not being dropped. "The letters in CROP," he says, "do not now stand for anything, except FOOD—food for the hungry and assistance to them to provide more food for themselves."

Church World Service Community Food Appeal and the CWS Clothing Appeal, CROP, which began in Kansas in 1947 as the "Wheat for Relief" appeal, has distributed more than $60 million in government-donated foods, exported $17 1/2 million of high protein food, seed, fertilizer, and equipment, and transferred $2 1-3 million to other agencies during the 20 years of its community appeal. Aid has been given to persons in more than 40 countries.

The Century of the

SOAP OPERA

Those sentimental serials which accompany many a housewife's daily chores have made an important contribution to our culture. They keep us mindful of the complications of living.

You can't follow a fictional family over an obstacle course of crises without realizing that your own family, too, has its ups and downs.

Elementary in this century is the fact that life can be—but ordinarily is not—beautiful!

We live in a time that requires serious planning of our todays and tomorrows. We ought especially to be concerned for our family's spiritual fibre . . . for the unfolding character of our children . . . for the religious resources with which coming crises will be met.

The Church offers opportunity and inspiration in our quest of the lofty ideals of the Christian faith. The most important decision a family can make is to seek its finest aspirations through worship, religious study, and sacrificial service.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Garrison Fund Boosted

As time was running out, more friends came to the aid of the family of Carl Garrison Friday. Nearly four weeks ago the Garrisons lost their two daughters in a unique traffic mis- hap as they waited for a school bus.

Anxious to help, many Big Springers have found that sharing in heavy expenses is one way that they can be a good neighbor. However, the appeal is being closed out at the end of this week, and whatever funds are raised will be presented to the family at 11 a.m. March 5 at Grace Baptist Church, which has been serving as the receiving agent.

Among the latest to have a part are "A Friend," $25; Fraternal Order of Eagles and KBST, $10 each; Mrs. Olen Lew- ings, Robert B. Wilson, G. S. In- gram and John R. Kuester, $5 each; a total of $65. This pushed to $1,505 the amount so far raised.

Those who wish to have a part before the appeal is closed may mail gifts to Grace Baptist Church, Box 1507.

The Rev. Roy Honea, pastor, who has spearheaded the ap- peal, expressed thanks to everyone who has given or helped. He had special words of praise for Col. George Franks, Maj. Robert L. Rader, Lt. Joseph Tei- ber, and T. Sgt. James C. Bayles, to the entire base hos- pital staff, to local police and others who were such a comfort to the family in a time of great need, and to all who opened their hearts in sympathy.

RED VIET SHELLED Communists Elude Biggest Offensive

SAIGON (AP) - U.S. head- quarters announced today that American forces have begun shelling North Vietnam with long-range artillery based in South Vietnam for the first time in the war.

An American military spokes- man said U.S. artillerymen fired into the demilitarized zone and north of it with 175mm guns, the biggest in Vietnam, which have a range of 20 miles.

The announcement came as about 45,000 American troops pushed behind tanks through jungles of the Communists' war zone C, 70 miles northwest of Saigon, in the biggest offensive of the war. But they failed to find Communist units of any size.

LIGHT CONTACT - U.S. troops reported killing 19 Viet Cong so far in the new Operation Junction City, and the Communists responded with at least two mortar shellings of American positions. U.S. head- quarters said American casualties were light so far.

Though contact with the ene- mies' troops was light, more than a half dozen tanks and other tracked vehicles struck land mines which tore off their tracks. Five U.S. Army helicop- ters were shot down by enemy ground fire, but the spokesman said all five were lifted from the battle area and casualties to- taled three wounded.

MORTAR FIRE - Asked if the International Control Commission which is charged with supervising neu- trality of the demilitarized zone, had been notified of the new U.S. step, the spokesman said: "Not that I know of."

The spokesman said the U.S. guns fired from an "artillery plateau" called Camp Car- roll, a Marine base about 11 miles south of the demarcation line running through the center of the demilitarized zone. This meant that the 175mm guns could fire about eight miles to North Vietnam at the most.

The spokesman said the only targets shelled in North Viet- nam so far were anti-aircraft gun positions.

MORTAR FIRE - In Operation Junction City, the first of the two Communist mortar shelling came at mid- night Thursday. A U.S. battalion command post 25 miles north- east of Tay Ninh City received 12 rounds of mortar fire, U.S. headquarters said. The Commu- nists broke contact after five minutes when American troops fired counterbarrages.

The second Communist shel- ling came early today when a rear-area U.S. supply unit eight miles northeast of Tay Ninh City received 20 rounds. Light U.S. casualties were reported in both barrages.

BUNKERS BLASTED - The American drive so far has destroyed 144 enemy bun- kers and three tunnels and has seized 39 tons of rice, a spokes- man said. In the drive the Americans hope to catch the Viet Cong's political leadership, believed to have its headquar- ters in the area, as well as root out hard-core military units that have ranged the area for 20 years.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, U.S. forces reported only minor skirmishes but South Vietnam- ese and South Korean troops reported several brisk engage- ments.

COAST BOMBARDED - U.S. planes have been bomb- ing North Vietnam for two years and ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet have bombarded the North Vietnamese coast for the last five months.

The first artillery shelling of North Vietnam took place Wednesday, a U.S. spokesman said. He acknowledged there had been prior artillery bar- rages inside the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone which sepa- rates North and South Vietnam.

On Wednesday, the spokes- man said, army 175mm guns fired 83 rounds against anti-air- craft gun positions in the zone and north of it which had fired on a small U.S. Air Force obser- vation plane in the northern part of the demilitarized zone.

Ferrie Murder Is Ruled Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Coroner Nicholas Chetta said today a chemical analysis of the body of David W. Ferrie showed he had died of natural causes.

"There is no indication what- soever of suicide or murder," the Orleans Parish coroner said. A ruptured artery in the brain was the cause of death, he said.

Ferrie, a pilot, was found dead in bed Wednesday. He was a central figure in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's current investi- gation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Garrison had termed Ferrie's death apparent suicide.

DEPRESSED - A chemical analysis of Ferrie's blood, urine and skin was negative for the presence of al- cohol, drugs and poison, Chetta said.

Chetta disclosed he had been contacted by a physician who had treated Ferrie.

"This doctor told me he had treated Mr. Ferrie for high blood pressure and recently for a gastro-intestinal disturbance," Chetta said. "The doctor said he found Ferrie unduly disturbed and depressed and said Ferrie spoke about suicide."

"A BIG JOKE" - "The doctor also said Ferrie was determined to sue Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison for a large sum of money. I believe the figure was something like $500,000."

Ferrie had consistently denied ever knowing Lee Harvey Os- wald - named by the Warren Commission as Kennedy's assassin.

In an interview last Saturday, Ferrie termed Garrison's investi- gation "a big joke" and said he supposedly had been pegged as "the get-away pilot" in an elaborate plot to kill Kennedy.

Garrison, without revealing details, described Ferrie after his death as a central figure in his investigation. He said he had planned to arrest Ferrie next week.

Dr. Chetta said a final, com- prehensive autopsy report would be made public Tuesday.

Aerospace Issues Pace Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) - Airlines and aerospace issues were strong points in an irregularly rising stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moder- ately active.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a comfortable margin but the popular stock market averages showed only a limited advance. Many blue chips did little or nothing.

The slight upward push came after a week or so of irregular or lower markets, a consolida- tion phase which brokers said they thought might be nearing completion. Nevertheless, there was a certain amount of cau- tion, even pessimism, in some published market comment.

There was little in the way of fundamental news to change stock market attitudes although the trend toward a leveling out or firming of interest rates was born in mind by some financial observers. The reversal of the high interest rate-light money trend was one reason for the big advance in the stock mar- ket in January.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 315.4 with industrials up 1.4, rails up .2 and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones industrial av- erage at noon was up 1.78 at 948.55.

Pacing the list on volume, Brunswick added another frac- tion, continuing a strong come- back linked with a resurgence in its profit picture.

M-G-M was a fractional loser as excitement about its proxy fight simmered down.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

CONNALLY

each could levy an added $500 permit fee each.

Connally said his bill would be effective at once, if approved by the legislature, "only in those areas already permitting the legal sale of all alcoholic bever- ages, including on-premise con- sumption of beer and wine."

Even in these areas a local op- tion election could be called specifically on mixed drinks without affecting the present status of sale of alcoholic bever- ages.

OPTION VOTE - In all other areas, a special local option election directly on the mixed drink question would be mandatory.

"Areas where citizens already have prohibited the sale of li- quor will not be affected in any way," Connally said.

Hours of operation of places where mixed drinks could be sold would be the same as the limits on on-premise consump- tion of beer and wine now—9 a.m. to midnight five days a week, 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. on Sat- urdays and 1 p.m. to midnight on Sundays.

"Will this bill alleviate the situation under which so-called private clubs are now circum- venting the law by serving mixed drinks to the general public?" a reporter asked.

ANSWER IS YES - "The answer to this is yes," Connally said.

He said under his bill "pri- vate clubs can continue to op- erate in 'wet' areas but will be required to obtain retail drink permits, pay the same fees and taxes, and operate under the same tight regulations as all other drink permittees."

"Private clubs in dry areas will be required to pay special registration fees in amounts equal to those charged retail drink permittees and shall be subject to an occupational tax," he said.

LOCK SYSTEM - The special tax on private clubs in dry areas would be 10 per cent of the gross receipts from the serving or storing of distilled or fortified wines. Such clubs normally operate on the so-called "lock system" where- by a club member technically buys his bottle of liquor and the club keeps it in a "locker" to serve the member drinks from that bottle.

The tax, that would apply to all liquor used in mixed drinks, would be five cents an ounce on distilled spirits and 50 cents per 32 ounces or quart of forti- fied wine, collected at the whole- sale level.

Hawks Try Amarillo In Last Game Here

Two of the three teams still in the fight for first place in Western Juco conference standings, HCJC and Amarillo, square off at 9 o'clock this evening in the HCJC gymnasium. Ordinarily, the games involving HCJC begin at 7:30 p.m. but this one has been moved back because of the Region VI-B high school tournament going on here. The game winds up the 1966-67 home season for Buddy Traving in Lubbock against the LCC Chaparrals. HCJC will be seeking its 20th victory of the season in the game with the Badgers and will be out to avenge a 70-67 defeat at the hands of Red Myers' team, suffered Jan. 31 in Amarillo. The Badgers are perhaps not as strong as they were the first part of the season, mainly because one of their outstanding scorers, Lynn Simmons, failed to clear a scholastic hurdle. However, the Amarillos pose a dangerous threat to any foe. They hold two wins over the Big Springers this year. The first one was by a margin of 80-60 in the Murray State tournament at Tishomingo, Okla., immediately prior to Christmas. Coach Travis likely will go with a lineup consisting of Lee Leonard, hottest scorer in the HCJC ranks in recent games, Leon Smith, Henry Willis, Jack Hosley and Bill Sinches.

Ryun Breaks Mark In 880

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jim Ryun of Kansas ate sauerkraut, wiensers and onion soup at his dormitory before setting an indoor world record of 1:48.3 in the half-mile Thursday night.

Maybe that ought to be a prescribed pre-meet meal for middle distance runners. The 19-year-old Jayhawk sophomore admitted he was pointing for the race, the only one he ran in a dual meet with Oklahoma State. "I cut down in my training a little this week," Ryun said. "This was the last meet for a long time that I'll have only one race. Next week I'll be working hard right up to the Big Eight meet." Ryun, the world record holder in the mile at 3:51.3, has a pending world mark of 1:44.9 in the outdoor half-mile. All indoor marks are unofficial because of widely varying conditions. He broke the indoor mark of 1:49 set last Saturday by ex-Oklahoma State star Tom Von Ruden of the Long Beach Oilers in the Mason-Dixon games at Louisville, Ky., on an eight-lap board track, considered possibly the best in the nation.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

In New Orleans recently, one-time Texan Y. A. Tittle told this story about Vince Lombardi and Bill Kilmer, who is destined to call signals for the NFL's newest team, the New Orleans Saints. "When Lombardi went to Green Bay, he built a large brick wall at the end of the field and had his players run toward it. The ones who smacked into it and fell backward became defensive linemen. The ones who ran through it became offensive linemen. The ones who ran up to the brick wall and then walked around it became quarterbacks. Kilmer is definitely one of those. It wouldn't surprise me to see Bill become outstanding here. He sure has the potential."

Spike Dykes, Big Spring's new football mentor, may not feel inclined to build any brick walls at the end of his practice field but he has the reputation of being a coach who, if he asks a boy to run through a wall, the boy will try it with no questions asked. Dykes believes in total dedication. He played that way, and he coaches that way.

District 2-AAAA partisans should hold no brief against the Big 33 team chosen to play Pennsylvania's crack football troops in Hershey, Pa., this summer, what with four conference representatives in the ranks. However, too many Houston-area boys may be included in the ranks of the squad, year in and year out. This time, no fewer than nine Greater Houston selections were named to the elite group. The past season, there were three 2-AAAA teams which could have cleaned up on anything in the Houston area — Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper, as well as champion San Angelo.

It remains a mystery, too, why Permian's Billy Dale was not picked on the 1967 squad. Steve Worster of Bridge City notwithstanding, Dale might be the finest running back the state produced last fall.

Perhaps there is nothing to it but it seems to me the sponsors on the pro golf tour delight in shoving the boot toward the likes of Arnold Palmer, already a millionaire several times over, along with such colorful personalities as Doug Sanders and Jack Nicklaus. On the other hand, let a relatively unknown like Tom Neiprice earn the money that goes with a first place finish and those same sponsors seem to be gritting their teeth when they make their presentations. Neiprice didn't follow the script and won the Bob Hope Desert Classic recently and was treated like an interloper by some tournament principals when he went forward to collect his reward.

Johnny Morris, who brought several teams here when the ABC Relays were being held in the late '50's, says a sophomore intermediate hurdler on his University of Houston team, Tony Pickett, is good enough to rate the 1968 Olympic team in his native Australia. If Pickett develops as expected, he'll be the sixth UH athlete to compete in the Olympic Games. The others were Ollan Cassell, Al Lawrence, Stan Levenson, Jack Parrington and Jack Smythe.

When Floyd Patterson took out Willie Johnson in the third round in that fight in Miami Beach recently, a paid crowd of 4,022 sat in on the proceeding, and several hundred more were turned away at the gate. That would indicate the boxing game is booming as it hasn't in many years, especially since Patterson was supposed to have reached the end of the line after his miserable bouts with Sonny Liston.

The Patterson-Johnson scrap, incidentally, took place in the auditorium where Jackie Gleason films most of his TV shows. Patterson insists he takes a punch much better than he used to.

Massingill Trucking Co. First In City Tourney

The Big Spring Men's Bowling Association finished its annual City Championship Handicap tournament the past weekend. Massingill Trucking edged Falstaff in the run for team honors, scoring 3125 to 3088 for Falstaff.

Juniors Fare Well On Road

SNYDER — Two Big Spring junior high schools sent their girls' volleyball teams here Thursday night and fared very well, winning three of four assignments. Rannels won in both outings at Lamar, the eighth graders by a margin of 15-3, 15-3 and the ninth graders by scores of 15-9, 15-9.

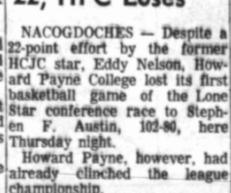

In the eighth grade encounter, Mary Lou Brown, Donna Stanley and Belinda Gonzales all glistered for the Yearlings. In ninth grade play, Janice Cooper, Patty Spier and Carol Grimsley were outstanding for the Rannels team. At Travis Junior High, Gollad's ninth grade team won, 15-10, 8-15, 15-8 but the eighth grade Mavericks lost, 13-14, 15-7.

Glynn Jones and Kathy Urban led the Gollad ninth graders while Nancy Bortner was high for the eighth graders. Rannels will go to Lamesa for two games Monday while Gollad will play host to Midland Carver that same evening.

Nelson Scores 22, HPC Loses

NACOGDOCHES — Despite a 22-point effort by the former HCJC star, Eddy Nelson, Howard Payne College lost its first basketball game of the Lone Star conference race to Stephen F. Austin, 102-80, here Thursday night. Howard Payne, however, had already clinched the league championship.

Talpa, Sands Favored To Clash In Finals

Talpa - Centennial and Sands are slight favorites to reach the finals in the Region VI-B boys' basketball tournament, which gets under way with a single game at 7 o'clock in the HCJC gym here this evening. Sands drew a first round bye and plays Anthony in the semifinals at 11:15 a.m. Saturday. Tonight's only contest sends Talpa-Centennial against Fluvanna at 7 p.m. Winner of that engagement

Game time is 7:30 p.m. Spring Lake won the State Class A championship last year and has most of its talent back. Forsan, marking time for its Tuesday night playoff game in Big Spring's HCJC gym against Mertzon, outlasted Coahoma in a crackerjack contest Thursday night at Forsan, 70-55. Valyncia Conway, Wanda Albertson and Deryl Dunagan did an outstanding job in the back courts for Forsan while Mollie Condron led the scoring with 38 points.

CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE OPENS 15-GAME SCHEDULE APRIL 20

The newly-organized City Softball League will begin its triple-round robin schedule in the City Park April 20. The six-team league will use the diamond Tuesday and Thursday of each week and will play a double header each of those nights. Sponsors of teams include the Letter Carriers, Pioneer Natural Gas, City of Big Spring, Optimist Club, Morton's Foods and Bill Reed Insurance. Huck Dee will serve as president of the league while Derle Pittman is the secretary-treasurer. Each team will play 15 games. A championship tournament will be conducted after regular play has ceased, probably in July.

Piersall Insists Chance Didn't Give Best Effort

HOLTVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Jim Piersall, a 37-year-old outfielder making a bid for his 20th season in organized baseball, just isn't the retiring sort. So it wasn't surprising Thursday when the California Angels' controversial veteran criticized former teammate Dean Chance and called the trade that sent Chance to Minnesota "the best thing that ever happened to the Angels." Piersall is working at the Angels' spring training camp as a free agent trying to make the roster. But he took time out to speak as always — rapidly and expansively. "All I know is we're not going to miss him," said Piersall of Chance, a 26-year-old pitcher who won 74 games in five seasons with the Californians. "What did Chance win for us last year? Twelve games, that's what he won," said Piersall.

Frazier Gets Job At Pecos

PECOS — Glenn Frazier of Andrews has been named head football coach and athletic director at Pecos High School. Frazier has been a highly successful coach at Wink and Andrews but for the past two years has devoted his time to the job of athletic director at Andrews. Frazier signed a three-year contract and formally starts to work April 1. He replaces Dean King, who resigned two weeks ago. Frazier won six district titles during 12 years as a coach at Andrews. He also coached at Coleman, Cuero and Mexia. At Wink, Frazier's teams won three district crowns and in 1952 copped the state championship.

TECH NOW SWC'S HOTTEST TEAM Gene Gibson May Deserve Coach Of Year Laurels

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — One returning starter who averaged only 5.3 points per game the season before, two baseball infielders and a couple of hospital cases fought off the pressure and became the hottest team in Southwest Conference basketball. That's the story of Texas Tech and a coach named Gene Gibson. Out here they're talking about Gene qualifying for coach of the year honors. No one laughed when Gibson mournfully surveyed his team's prospects before the season started — they didn't have the heart because it all was so true. The only returning starter was Billy Tapp, the sixth leading scorer on the team the season before. The only players taller than the 6-4 Tapp were Benny Wiggins, a sophomore, and Vernon

Paul, a junior letterman, each towering 6-7. Well, they were sidelined in November by mononucleosis. Senior letterman Trenton Bonner sprained his ankle and sophomore flash Bobb Cunningham underwent a knee operation. No one would have dared even grin then. Wiggins never recovered completely from the effects of his illness and about the time Paul was re-gaining his strength he had an appendectomy. So through December the Red Raiders captured only one victory and through the first round of conference play Tech won only one decision against six defeats. The lack of humor continued. But the Raiders finally pulled themselves together and since those dark and dreary days have been tremendous. They now are on a four-game winning streak and among those who have felt their lash are the top three teams in the conference — Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas. They also beat Texas A&M, which had defeated them earlier.

Steer Tracksters Comanche Entries

Coaches Jack Tayrien and Johnny Hickman and 14 members of the Big Spring High School track and field team left for Fort Stockton today where Saturday the first outdoor meet of the year, the Comanche Relays, will be held. The Steers' best bet to bring home a first place apparently is shotputter, Kirby Horton, who cleared 53-1 to take third place in the Regional meet last year.

Brotherhood Theme Talked

A Negro preacher, who represented not only his own race but also the Protestant religion, shared time equally with a Catholic priest and a leader of the local Jewish people at the Kiwanis Club Brotherhood Week program Thursday.

He was the Rev. Melvin Montgomery, pastor of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church. The Rev. Francis Beasley, of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, appeared for the Catholic faith, and A. J. Prager, president of Temple Israel, spoke for the Jews.

Bob Bradbury was program chairman for the day. Each of the speakers sounded an appeal for a true recognition of brotherhood and for abandonment of old prejudices and hatreds which have kept the fires of intolerance ablaze for so long.

Final report on the recent Kiwanis Club Pancake Supper was not available. All of the advance ticket sales reports had not been compiled and the bills for the supplies used were yet to be received.

However, Bill Johnson, president of the club, said that the attendance at the supper was most gratifying and that it was certain that the club would net a profit from its effort.

TEXANS AT WAR

Vietnam Proved Test Of Physical Resources

By The Associated Press

The war in Vietnam changed in a flash for a Texan at War, testing his physical resources on a day that began with a routine troop lift and ended with the ferrying of dead and wounded from an ambushed helicopter.

The quick change is the norm, not the exception, for the men who fly air supply and rescue missions in Vietnam, says Maj. Edward Castle Jr.

HORRORS RECALLED

Relaxing at Ft. Wolters in Mineral Wells, the training ground for the Army's helicopter pilots, Castle recalled the horrors of a summer day in Vietnam.

"We were moving a Vietnamese Ranger battalion, one airlift and it was supposed to be a routine mission," the Dallas native said.

"We drew fire on the initial assault." No one on the helicopter was hit, but the Vietnamese "met pretty stiff resistance."

TWO EVACUATED

On the flight back to his Soc Trang base, Castle got word that a T28 airplane had been shot down. Flying through enemy small arms fire, Castle plucked the two crewmen from a rice paddy and carried them to Soc Trang.

Back in the air, Castle was dispatched to try to save the crew of an armed helicopter.

"We went to that site and assisted with recovery of the dead and wounded. Both pilots and the Vietnamese observer were killed but we evacuated two crew members."

"The crewmen safe and his helicopter refueled, Castle returned and tried to destroy the downed helicopter before the guerrillas could strip it.

"This time they were driven off by enemy gunfire. Then Castle realized he was near exhaustion.

It Didn't Take Sheriff Long To Nab Suspect

ZAPATA, Tex. (AP) — It didn't take Sheriff C. M. Hein long to nab a man charged with robbing the First National Bank of $4,000 Thursday.

The holdup occurred across the street from the sheriff's office in the courthouse and he captured Myron Kazmiryk, 24, of Edison, N. J., less than a block away.

Acting U.S. Commr. A. A. Alvarado of Laredo ordered Kazmiryk held in lieu of $20,000 bond.

An intruder handed teller

Hilda Gonzalez a note ordering her to put money in a bag and she complied.

WANTS MORE

Cynthia Stokes secretary of County Judge Pedro Ramirez Jr. who was depositing her paycheck at another window, heard him demand:

"Give me some more." Miss Stokes said he "just stood there calmly . . . like this was something he did every day."

Hein and Deputy R. G. Espinoza dashed from their office as the robber departed.

UNARMED

"We just ran out of the courthouse looking for a car to pull away from the bank," said the sheriff, "and someone pointed down the street where a man was walking."

Espinoza said Kazmiryk raised his hands as the two officers approached with drawn pistols, offering no resistance. They found the prisoner was unarmed.

It was the first bank robbery in the history of Zapata, a Mexican border town overlooking Falcon Lake on the Rio Grande.

Frosty Night In Prospect

By The Associated Press

Temperatures down to seven above zero at Perryton nipped the Texas Panhandle today and an overnight freeze extended as far south as Waco in the state's midsection.

Skies were mostly clear and there was little wind to accent the chill.

In southern areas of the state, still ahead of a cold front which pushed into the Panhandle Thursday, early morning marks ranged up to 53 at Corpus Christi and 50 at Brownsville.

Readings elsewhere in the freeze zone included Dalhart 15 degrees, Amarillo 16, Childress and Lubbock 18, Wichita Falls 20, Abilene 22, Dallas and Midland 25, San Angelo 27, Texarkana and Tyler 28, El Paso and Longview 29, Waco 30 and Alpine 31.

Another frosty night was in prospect but the Weather Bureau forecast a little warming in all sections Saturday.

Hungry Pooch Sets Off Oyster Dredging Probe

AUSTIN (AP) — A hungry pooch sniffing in a driveway at Orange, Tex., led to a complaint that apparently has set off an investigation of a shell dredging company's operations in one spot of Sabine Lake.

The story, according to DeWitt Kinard, Orange real estate developer, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife department is this: Kinard said the family dachshund was sniffing a new load of oyster shell he had bought to fill-in his driveway and suddenly the dog began eating the shell. "I thought at first," said Kinard, "What a crazy dog, eating shell."

"Then, he kept it up so long I decided to take a closer look and saw he was eating live oysters in the shell."

BIG DIFFERENCE

"Now, my friend, there's a considerable difference in oyster shell and live oysters . . . quite a difference . . . oyster shell costs $3.50 a yard, live oysters about $250 a yard."

"What's that mean? Well, it means there are live oysters, so they're coming from a live oyster reef, and that's prohibited."

J. R. Singleton, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, said the department had received a complaint, forwarded from a regional office at LaPorte, alleging that live oyster reefs in the lake were being dredged. He did not know if Kinard had made the complaint.

TOLD TO MOVE

But Singleton said a company dredging shell in the 22-mile long, six-mile wide lake had been ordered to move its operations until the department could complete a survey of the complaint. He said the complaint alleged live oyster dredging just about the middle of the lake, half of which is in Texas and half in Louisiana.

A department order in October, 1963, said shell dredgers could move in from 1,500 feet from a live reef to within 300 feet but no closer. Singleton said in December dredging within 300 feet of some Galveston Bay reefs had not damaged them.
