

CANCER KEY? Hormones 'Clocked'

NEW YORK (AP) — Men produce their greatest amount of male hormone at the time of awakening in the morning, a new study finds.

Their hormone level then is as much as 40 percent higher than at midnight. Midnight is found usually to mark the low point in a daily cyclic rhythm of male hormone output.

The finding of variations in male hormones by scientists of New York Medical College was reported today by the American Cancer Society, which supported their research.

The study may have applications as to the best time to give certain hormones in treating some forms of cancer, and implications regarding other clinical problems and human behavior, the society said.

Why Men Are Men

Men and women are believed to produce both male and female hormones. Men are men because they produce more male than female hormone, and vice-versa, with the normal man producing about 20 times as much male hormone as the normal woman.

The New York study, by Drs. A. Louis Southren, G. G. Gordon, S. Tochimoto and G. Pinzon, detected a daily or 24-hour rhythm in male hormone production by men. But in women, they said, production of the male hormone, testosterone, stays at pretty much the same level.

Most hospitals, they said, measure hormone levels in the morning, and take that reading as the average.

Daily Variations

Daily variations showed up when blood samples were taken 16 times every 24 hours. A 24-hour internal "clock" may be involved in the variation.

Some women also were found to have daily variations in male hormone. These included stout, muscular, deep-voiced women with excessive hair growth, who have several times the normal female output of testosterone. Such women are unusually susceptible to cancer of the lining of the uterus.

Hormones, male and female, are employed in treating some cases of cancers of the uterus, breast, ovary, and prostate gland.

Detection of the variations in natural hormone output, and how the normal male hormone may be altered within the body, may prove useful in improving hormone treatments of cancer.

FM 700 Work To Begin

Jarbet Company, San Antonio, contractor who is to rebuild FM 700 from Gollad Street west to rejoin US 80 near the Sands Motel, has moved into town and plans to begin construction next Monday.

Conference Thursday

Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the state highway department, has scheduled a conference at the State Highway Department Building northeast of town for 10 a.m. Thursday. At this meeting, which is to be attended by representatives of the contractor, the state highway department, city police, highway patrol officers and all persons interested in the project, details on how the construction is to proceed will be explained.

Safety measures to insure as little interruption of traffic as possible will be discussed.

Smoot said the tentative plans are for the contractor to actually start work near the First Baptist Church and proceed eastward to Gollad with a service road on the south side of the present paving. The main road will be kept open until this side road is completed and paved. Traffic can then be diverted to the service road while reconstruction goes ahead on the main lanes of travel.

Includes US 87 Overpass

The project involves 3,027 miles of road and includes a half million dollar overpass to be built on US 87 over FM 700 at South Gregg Street. The cost will be $1,113,320.

The job calls for 330 working days and should be completed by midsummer, 1968.

Computer Goofs

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Inez Turley, 78, who took a physical last month for possible recall to active duty in the Army nurse corps, says, "I am ready."

Mrs. Turley admitted Sunday that the computer ordering her recall might have goofed, but added: "I can at least serve in some hospital in the states to relieve a regular nurse for Vietnam."

She has worked at Willis-Knighton Hospital here since 1961.

Junior Stock Show To Open Here Tuesday

FFA and 4-H Club members of Howard County were busy Monday getting their steers and lambs in shape for exhibition at the 30th Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club stock show, which officially opens Tuesday.

Approximately 15 steers and 100 lambs are expected to be on hand at the show barns west of town by noon Tuesday—deadline for entering the show.

The show is jointly sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Howard County Junior Livestock Association.

The judging of the entries will be Wednesday. Lambs will be judged in the morning and steers in the afternoon.

Thursday night, the auction sale, which is the highlight of each show will be staged in the show barn. Top animals will be sold at that time.

A barbecue dinner will be served at 6 p.m. Thursday at the barn ahead of the auction. This dinner is for the buyers, the exhibitors, their families and special guests.

Antipoverty, Dodd Probes In Spotlight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Committee probes of the antipoverty program and Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's finances could steal congressional attention this week from an expected final vote on the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty.

Action on amendments to the treaty is expected Tuesday, with a final vote due later in the week.

But meanwhile, the Senate ethics committee opens today its second set of hearings into the Dodd case just after Adam Clayton Powell's exclusion from the House has fastened the public eye on the issue of congressional conduct. Dodd is charged with making personal use of thousands of dollars in campaign gifts.

CONCRETE BENEFITS

A Senate Labor subcommittee begins its examination of the antipoverty program at public hearings beginning today. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., chairman of the subcommittee, says the key point is to determine "what have been the concrete benefits" for the poor.

Friends of the consular treaty say the proposed amendments would doom it and destroy a chance for better Soviet-American relations.

A proposal by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., would make effectiveness of the treaty dependent on the halt of Soviet aid to North Vietnam.

50-50 CHANCE

Mundt said in an interview he sees a 50-50 chance of passage for his proposal. But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said, "I'm cautiously optimistic that we can defeat these reservations."

This other congressional action also is scheduled:

A Senate Foreign Relations Committee closed hearing today on a proposed peace-in-space treaty, with UN Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg the principal witness.

A joint congressional atomic committee closed hearing featuring Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussing China's nuclear capability and a proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Meredith Decides Not To Run Against Powell

Republicans Fail To Keep Promise?

NEW YORK (AP) — James H. Meredith suddenly withdrew today as GOP opponent of deposed Harlem congressman Adam Clayton Powell, saying Republicans had reneged on promised money and campaign help.

Meredith announced his withdrawal from the special election campaign in a surprise post-midnight statement. He told an 8 a.m. impromptu sidewalk news conference that Republicans proved unable or unwilling to keep their commitments.

WON'T SAY

"Political expediency" was the order of the day, said Meredith, whose entry into the race last Tuesday had drawn the wrath of many Negro leaders.

Meredith would not say whether he now will support Powell. He said he had spoken to no emissaries from Powell in reaching his decision to withdraw.

Some Harlem sources said civil rights leaders had appealed to Meredith to withdraw in the interests of Negro unity. By accepting the GOP nomination, he would be the white man's candidate, they argued.

BIGGER HERO

Sources said Meredith was told that he could make an even more dramatic gesture by giving up the support of the white people. This, it was said, would make him an even bigger hero in the Negro community.

One factor that reportedly indirectly influenced his decision to quit, it was understood, was a statement by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King said in Hartford, Conn., Sunday night that Meredith's campaign against Powell in Harlem is ill-timed. King said that it would be much better for the House to seat Powell again because of what he termed "unique factors" which would cause Harlem Negroes to vote for him en masse.

Meredith, 33, admitted when he accepted the Republican offer to oppose Powell that he was laying himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes."

Not a single Negro political leader of either major party, or any Harlem community or national civil rights leader supported him. They said he was being used and didn't stand a chance of winning.

Vincent F. Albano Jr., New York County Republican chairman, said:

"The Republican party of New York County offered this nomination to Mr. Meredith in complete good faith. It was willingly, even eagerly accepted."

OPPONENT PROMISE

Albano said that despite Meredith's withdrawal, the GOP would put up an opponent against Powell.

Meredith's nomination was to have been endorsed by the New York County Republican Committee at a meeting scheduled for tonight.

Meredith, at his apartment, was wearing dark slacks and a white shirt. His knotted tie was pulled down slightly from the open collar. Meredith's wife appeared briefly in the doorway to the living room and then retired to a rear room.

Meredith declined to comment when asked whether he had notified Albano prior to making the announcement of his withdrawal.

G. Robert Belt, a Columbia University student who described himself as Meredith's personal secretary, said Meredith would return to Columbia Law School this semester and not take advantage of the leave of absence given him by the university to enter the campaign.

Meredith's surprise announcement came after the first edition of today's New York Times carried a long interview in which Meredith said he could no more think of turning down the nomination to run against Powell than he could think of turning down a nomination to run for the presidency.

In the interview, Meredith said:

"Only one substantial reason ever came up for my not running — the simple fact of being afraid of the scorn and disfavor that fellow Negroes may have of this action because they had the opinion Mr. Powell was treated the way he was in the Congress because of his race."

He said he had not noted any scorn or disfavor from Negroes in the wake of his decision to run. Meredith added that after his experiences in Mississippi "it would be illogical to recede in the face of fear of an emotional disfavor coming from my own people."

Air Force Helicopters Withdrawn From Thai

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unit of 25 U.S. Air Force helicopters has been withdrawn from Thailand after turning over to Thai pilots the job of airlifting Thai forces against Communist insurgents.

Assignment of American helicopters last year to ferry Thai troops into counterinsurgency operations aroused some concern. Some American observers felt it might be an indicator that the United States was slipping into a Vietnam-type situation in Thailand.

TEMPORARY ACTION

U.S. officials insisted all along that the commitment of American helicopters to help the Thai forces was a temporary measure until Thailand's own pilots could be trained to handle the task themselves.

The Defense Department said, in response to an inquiry, that the U.S. helicopter unit of squadron size had been sent recently to Vietnam after completing its work in Thailand.

The United States is supplying some 50 H34 helicopters to the Thai military under a stepped-up aid program. It is training Thai pilots at Fort Rucker, Ala., and Shephard Air Force Base in Texas.

STRICT RULES

In addition, the United States has agreed to furnish 22 helicopters for use by the Thai national police who are in the forefront of the effort to control an insurgency movement in the wild reaches of northeast Thailand.

U. S. Warplanes Blast Electric Power Center

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes made their heaviest strikes against North Vietnam in four months Sunday, concentrating their strongest attacks on an electric power center 32 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Seizing upon breaks in the weather, the American fighter-bombers from Thailand unloaded tons of bombs on the Viet Tri power complex, sending black and brown smoke billowing 3,000 feet in the air and visible in Hanoi.

BUSY DAY

Although Hanoi radio claimed U.S. jets hit the capital itself, a U.S. spokesman said the Viet Tri strike was the only one in the Hanoi area. Apart from hitting the power complex, American fliers struck only at anti-aircraft gun positions in the immediate area, he said.

The spokesman said 128 missions were flown against the North Sunday, meaning that possibly 400 planes took part. It was the busiest day in the air war since Nov. 8.

One American jet was lost during the day and its two-man crew was reported missing. It was an RF4C Phantom photo-reconnaissance plane which evidently went in after the raid.

MIG SIGHTED

One Soviet-designed MIG was sighted by the American pilots but it made no firing passes.

U.S. spokesmen also reported sharp ground battles Sunday in the vital central highlands and an unusually high number of guerrilla attacks against isolated outposts. The ground action reflected apparent Communist determination to concentrate on hit-and-run assaults to increase allied casualties.

The Air Force spokesman said that heavy weather closed in on the Hanoi area just after the big American strikes. Most of the other Air Force, Navy and Marine strikes during the day fell on supply lines down the southern coast.

TRUCKS AFLAME

One flight of planes coming off the Viet Tri power plant raid, with their bombs all gone, lucked on a convoy of 50 trucks. The flight flashed down with 20mm cannon blazing and left many trucks aflame, a spokesman said.

Wounded, He Still Gives Aid

Draft Call Fuss Brews

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national debate on the military draft, intensified by the steadily growing casualty rate in Vietnam, is certain to produce major changes in the Selective Service System.

The question is: "What is the fairest method of choosing young men for duty that could involve them in a jungle war that already has killed more than 7,900 Americans?"

The catalyst for converting argument into action is the June 30 expiration date for basic sections of the Selective Service Act, enacted 19 years ago when the United States was involved in only a cold war.

and impartial random system." MED EXCEPTIONS

3. Temporary deferments for college students should not become permanent, and no deferments should be given for graduate study, except in medicine and dentistry. Automatic deferments no longer should be given to fathers or to men with so-called critical occupations.

4. Draft-age men should not be deferred by enlistment in the National Guard or Reserve system, except those authorized to fill specific vacancies.

5. The 4,100 local draft boards would be cut to between 300 and 500 that would become in effect, first-level appeal boards.

Area boards staffed by civil servants would replace the citizen draft boards to register and classify men.

Q. When would the President's recommendations go into effect?

A. Johnson said he would issue executive orders for calling 19-year-olds first, and ending deferments for graduate students and Reservists. The orders have not been issued.

Another of the President's major recommendations, the lottery, is to be ready for operation before Jan. 1, 1969.

The President ordered establishment of a task force to study proposals for reorganization of the Selective Service System.

In addition, the Selective Service director has directed local boards to provide information on a youth's legal rights, including his right to appeal, immediately after he is classified for induction.

Q. Which changes can be made by the President and which must — or can — be made by Congress?

A. The President can put into effect nearly all his recommendations, except the one that would abolish most local draft boards.

Congress, when it writes the new law, can put whatever it wants into the law. It could, for example, override any changes the President makes under the present law and set up specific procedures that would preclude any further action by him. But as a practical matter Congress is not expected to do this.

Changes written into the law by Congress could be made effective anytime on or after July 1.

Q. What groups issued reports and when?

A. A civilian panel headed by retired Gen. Mark W. Clark reported last month to the House Armed Services Committee. A National Commission on Selective Service, headed by former U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, reported to President Johnson last week. The President sent his message to Congress Monday.

STATEMENTS STREAM

In the past week, two study commissions have suggested alterations of the draft; President Johnson has announced that he'll make some changes of his own, and members of Congress have issued a stream of statements on the issue.

What would the changes mean to draft-age men? When would they take effect?

Interviews with officials, and a comparison of the various recommendations, produced these consensus answers:

UNFAIR LAW?

Question: Why do many Americans, including President Johnson, argue that the draft law should be changed?

Answer: They believe that aspects of the present law are unfair.

A basic complaint is that there is no uniform national standard to determine who will be drafted.

Another is that the present system creates too much uncertainty in the lives of young men: they can be called up to age 26, when they might be well into a career.

But most of the criticism has been aimed at the means by which some men avoid military duty.

STUDENTS

Students have been deferred first for college, and then for graduate school, until they reach 26, and are no longer subject to the draft. Members of National Guard and Reserve units have escaped active duty because no such units have been called for the Vietnam war.

Changes in the draft system would be designed to assure that as President Johnson put it, "In this land of equals, men are selected as equals to service."

Q. What has Johnson recommended?

A. His main recommendations are these:

- The order of call, under which the oldest men are taken first, should be reversed, and 19-year-olds called first.
- Selections should be made by a limited lottery — "a fair and impartial random system."

Q. What groups issued reports and when?

A. A civilian panel headed by retired Gen. Mark W. Clark reported last month to the House Armed Services Committee. A National Commission on Selective Service, headed by former U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, reported to President Johnson last week. The President sent his message to Congress Monday.

Dear Abby Send Those Letters!

DEAR ABBY: I am a GI stationed in Thailand. During the Christmas rush, I worked in the mail room, and while there I noticed that even though the mail volume was heavy, there were about 500 or 600 guys who would have been tickled to death to get even a bill!

That is how hungry these guys are for something in their mail box! All the world's finest foods and U.S.O. shows cannot do for a GI's morale what one letter from "home" can do.

Abby, if any of your readers, male or female, young or old have time on their hands and can afford one postage stamp a week, please ask them to write to:

PEN PAL

HOPEFULLY,
"GI JOE" KING

DEAR JOE: O.K., I have just lead with a "King" . . . now let's see if we can't make game. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: We recently installed beautiful new carpeting throughout our apartment and should be in paradise, but every time I kiss my wife static electricity gives us a shock. We have now become "conditioned" in the manner of rats who have learned to associate any kind of bodily contact with electric shock.

What should we do? Wear special slippers? Or should we drag leather tail straps behind us like highway trucks? Please consult your electronic wizard and advise us before we electrocute ourselves. SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: First, check your humidity. It's too dry in your apartment. Next, spray your carpeting to provide static electricity. And if after that the spark's still fly when you embrace — you're lucky. It's love!

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letters from "Recent Widow" and "Not Doing So Well," and their resentment of those who gave them condolences in public. May I say that they should appreciate such a respectable question as, "How are you doing?"

I have been a widow for four years and when I meet a couple "we" both knew, the first question the husband asks me is, "Jane, how come you aren't married yet?"

I don't want to cry. I want to SCREAM, "Did it ever occur to you that I was in love with my dear departed — and still am?" Granted, I would like male companionship for social events that require an escort, but I doubt that I will ever meet a man who could come close to being the wonderful man my husband was. Sign me.

NOT LOOKING

DEAR NOT: Perhaps you're friend meant to pay you a compliment, but worded it clumsily. ("Jane, you are such a prize, I'm surprised no man has snapped you up yet.")

Should you ever want "permanent" companionship don't compare every man you meet to your first husband. Few men can compete with widows' "dear departed."

Khrushchev, Molotov Cast Votes In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Two old men who once were among the Soviet Union's most powerful politicians — Nikita S. Khrushchev and Vyacheslav M. Molotov — emerged from obscurity Sunday to vote in a legislative election.

Consigned to what Khrushchev used to call "the dustbin of history," the two former adversaries have been living in the secluded retirement of the Kremlin's post-Stalin leadership reserves for its political losers. Their public appearances are rare, and they are seldom mentioned in the Soviet press.

'The Vine' Is Hailed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The prospect of "a full hour tribute," as NBC called it, to a musical conductor would, under most circumstances, bring a switching of channels to avoid long speeches.

However, Arturo Toscanini was a fascinating, vital man of music during his lifetime. And Sunday night's Telephone Hour was an interesting hour — full of fine music, some great old film of the maestro conducting and even a bit of humor.

Toscanini, who died 10 years ago at the age of 90, started out as a boy prodigy in Italy, and after conducting at La Scala and for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, became — at the age of 70 — conductor of the NBC symphony orchestra.

TEMPER TANTRUMS

Through Toscanini's great years, there were stories about his temper tantrums at rehearsals, and anecdotes were told about these.

Conductors Eugene Ormandy, George Szell and Erich Leinsdorf explained the quality of his musical genius — clarity, balance, conviction were only a few of the words used — and all agreed that he changed the course of 20th century music.

LOVE MESSAGE

NBC had another moving program earlier in the day with "The Vine," which was an illustrated story of the life of Christ.

The narration, in language drawn largely from several different versions of the New Testament, was simple and a fine accompaniment to the beautiful photography made in Jordan and Israel.

The message, of course, was one of brotherhood and love.

If home in 2001 is going to be anything like that projected by Walter Cronkite and "The 21st Century" on CBS Sunday, a number of people would not be sorry to stop the world and get off.

We were introduced to inflatable, portable armchairs, radio-wave cooking, prefabricated blocks, piled one upon the other to make vertical cities of the future, computers in living rooms — and television screens bringing in everything from instant weather maps to the image of the person you are talking to on the telephone.

Heat Clutches All Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Texas kept right on sweating in an unseasonable heat wave today, and chances for some relief from a new cool front appeared to be dimming.

Clouds spread over much of South Texas early in the day and occasional fog, appeared along the coast. It was clear to only partly cloudy in other sections.

Weather Bureau observers said cooler air expected to move into the state this evening might not make it, after all.

They still looked for scattered thunderstorms across the northern half of the state overnight and early Tuesday, but enough moisture to offset lengthening drought was considered unlikely.

No letup in the heat was forecast for southern sections of Texas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged down to 23 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle as brisk breezes calmed but the mercury and wind quickly started back up.

Presidio, the hottest spot in the nation Sunday with a 97-degree high for the second straight day, cooled to 50 overnight.

Longshoremen Picketing Port

GALVESTON (AP)—Picketing continued by striking longshoremen today at cotton warehouses and compresses at the Port of Galveston.

William H. Smith, president of Moody Compress, said federal mediator Willis Ray will guide negotiations when they resume this week.

C. S. Devoy, Port of Galveston manager, said a million bales of cotton are stored waiting export. "Now that the strike is on we will be unable to touch that cotton," Devoy said.

Locals 1453 and 1494 of the International Longshoremen's Association went on strike. Alfonso Monsitas of the union said wages ranged from $1.54 to $1.74 an hour under the contract that expired March 9. He said the union was seeking an eight cent per hour increase for the next three years, and management was offering three cents.

Peace Plea

Asked if he had any message for the world, he said simply, "Let there be peace."

Molotov was virtually ignored as he voted at a polling place near the Kremlin. Once Stalin's right-hand man, Molotov was premier in 1930-31 and foreign minister in 1939-49 and again in 1953-56. Khrushchev ousted him 10 years ago.

Molotov, 77, smiled thinly and walked slowly. He wore his customary rimless glasses, a hat, white muffer and gray coat, and was accompanied by his wife.

GOOD HEALTH

Both Molotov and Khrushchev voted for Khrushchev's successor as premier, Alexei N. Kosygin, who was running for the Parliament of the Russian federation, the Soviet Union's largest state.

Khrushchev seemed surprised by the surging crowd, which forced him and his wife, Nina, to enter the polling station by a side entrance.

They both said they were in excellent health.

'The Flute Player' Painting Missing

MENTON, France (AP) — Count Arnold Maurice Bendern says "The Flute Player," a painting by Franz Hals which he values at $350,000, is missing from a collection he sent to a Swiss bank.

Bendern, who is 88, said he sent the paintings from his home on Lake Geneva to a Geneva bank for safekeeping in 1965. He said when he checked his collection last January, another painting of little value had been substituted for the Hals.

The count is a native of Britain but has been a citizen of the principality of Liechtenstein since 1952.

Resigned Bishop Calls Church Wealth 'Menace'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike says the income and property of organized religion should be taxed because "church wealth has become a menace."

In an article written for the April issue of Playboy magazine, the bishop who resigned as Episcopal bishop of San Francisco to work with California's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, said income taxes could be "significantly reduced" and property taxes abated if churches were taxed.

TAX NECESSARY?

And, he said, taxing the churches might be necessary "to preserve our present democratic form of government."

Church real estate, Pike said, amounts to "no less than $79.5 billion," or 50 per cent more than the value of all real property in New York City, but no taxes are paid.

And this, he added, does not include "the unknown but vast amount of invested endowments or businesses operated for income."

Pike estimated that the Roman Catholic Church owns $44.5 billion worth of real estate, Protestant and other groups $28 billion, and Jewish $7 billion.

VEILED MYSTERY

"There is no atomic secret that is more heavily veiled in mystery than the wealth of American churches today," he said.

Pike said that the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic men's organization, owns Yankee Stadium among their $200 million in assets; that St. Andrews Roman Catholic church in Chicago acquired a hotel by lease-back methods, and "the Southern Baptist Annuity Board picked up a nice little textile mill in the same city way." He speculated that in the future, churches will have enough economic power to make all other organizations, including government, look impotent.

"How many small shopkeepers go under every year due entirely to competition from churches — in some cases churches to which the shopkeeper is giving donation?" he asked.

Oil Slick Spotted

Coast Guard pilots searching for a single-engine plane which disappeared Friday on a sight-seeing hop from El Campo spotted an oil slick, pieces of debris and fishing gear in the Gulf of Mexico off Matagorda Peninsula.

This ship carried Larry Lauritsen, 20, the pilot; his father, A. M. Lauritsen, and his brother Donald, 27, all of El Campo. The operator of an El Campo flying service, Ted Reddell, identified part of a wing and a seat in the water as from the missing aircraft.

Students Protest War

About 20 students from the University of Oklahoma paraded outside Civic Center Music Hall in Oklahoma City yesterday, protesting U.S. bombing in Vietnam, while Vice President Hubert Humphrey addressed a Social Security rally inside. Humphrey did not directly confront the pickets. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Humphrey Backs Vietnam Policy

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey embarked today on the final leg of a two-day swing through Oklahoma after defending the American war effort in Vietnam. He praised President Johnson's Social Security plans also in Sunday talks.

He leaves Oklahoma late today after a noon speech at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater and a major farm policy address to the National Farmers Union convention in Oklahoma City.

NEW GENERATION PLEA

In the Stillwater speech, Humphrey challenged his listeners to become involved in their world and to expect changes in the remaining years of this century that "will make the last 66 seem like a period of stability."

It will be up to the new generation, he said, to avoid the mistakes that have caused injustice and imbalances in the application of advances made in the earlier part of this century.

"Your country needs you," he said. "It needs you in the Peace Corps. It needs you in VISTA here at home. It needs you in volunteer organizations. It needs you at work, on your farm or in your office as a responsible involved citizen."

BOBBY NEXT

Humphrey, meeting with Oklahoma Democratic officials Sunday, criticized "those who would tie our hands in Vietnam."

Referring to "high officials" who want to stop bombing North Vietnam to encourage peace talks, Humphrey declared, "You'd better be damned interested in seeing that those bombs continue to fall in Vietnam."

Sen. Robert (Bobby) Kennedy, who has urged an end to bombing, arrives in Oklahoma City today to address the Farmers Union Tuesday.

Lancaster Is Back On Force

The Big Spring Police Department has filled another vacancy with the re-instating of a former officer, Ted Lancaster. He was first employed Nov. 21, 1961, and resigned Feb. 28, 1966, to enter the restaurant business. He remained on the reserve police force until his re-instatement this month to the regular force.

Lancaster and his wife, Mary Ann, reside at 3206 W. 6th, with their four children. He has attended several police schools held by the FBI and Department of Public Safety.

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(A TEST BY THE CHINESE TRAMP)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AKQ75 ♣842 ♠K82 ♣Q2

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

2 ♣ Pass 3 ♣ Pass

3 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass

What action do you take?

A—Bid at least five and, with an aggressive partner, six spades. Partner should have no more than a singleton heart. An alternate call is a tempoizing bid of five diamonds.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠942 ♣105 ♠A1062 ♣QJ82

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♣ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♣ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—Bid two to trump. Partner's bid of two spades ranks next door to a force and you have somewhat more than the six-point minimum required for the one no trump response.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AJ952 ♣Q5 ♠AKJ5 ♣AJ7

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass

3 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—A further tempoizing bid of four diamonds is suggested. If partner supports that suit, contract for slam in the minor. If you do not choose to carry then go directly to six no trump. The partnership has at least 22 high card points with two good workable suits.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AKJ64 ♣K104 ♠102 ♣A93

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 3 NT Pass

What action do you take?

A—Four no trump. You have 15 points in high cards and a five-card suit. If partner has 13 points you should have a lay-down slam and even if he has 17 points you should be willing to take your chance.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK62 ♣AJ94 ♠62 ♣842

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 NT Dble. 3 ♣ Pass

What action do you take?

A—Pass. Partner's call is put in as a barricade and shows that the hand is below average in high card strength. There can be no hope for game.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠Q1062 ♣1074 ♠KJ962 ♣8

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass

2 ♣ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—Four spades. This wasn't much of a hand to start with, but in support of spades it is worth 10 points and partner has promised 16.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠QJ5 ♣KQ72 ♠K6 ♣KJ93

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

2 ♣ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—Five clubs. Partner has shown a powerful hand by his sequence of bids and, while you have sufficient points to account for the possession of about 32 partnership points, there is a remote chance that partner has two spade losers. The leap to five should induce him to carry on if he has a single spade.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable. As South you hold:

♠865 ♣QJ ♠K97 ♣AJ1072

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♣ 2 ♣ Pass Pass

Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—Pass. The contract should be defeated at least two tricks for 500 points, and a three trick set is not at all improbable. You should win at least three tricks and partner will probably produce four.

Hong Kong Is China's Window To The West

By JAMES ROWE

Corpus Christi Caller-Times Staff Writer for The Herald
HONG KONG — This British Crown Colony is Communist China's only window to the West, which explains why it endures. It is a land of bewildering contrasts, where modern apartments and business buildings compete for attention with the wretched tin and straw shacks of the very poor.

Nothing had quite prepared me as a witness. I thought of the colony as only an island, which it is, with a population of 3.8 million people jammed together at the fantastic rate of density of 28,000 to the square mile in some areas. But it also includes the much larger peninsula of Kowloon, population one million, which is a part of mainland China.

When I came to the border area, defined by barbed wire and the security gate manned by British customs and immigration officials, I passed to one side and went to the top of a hill. There, in a small stand of pines as a chill wind swept me, I looked into Communist China.

Thousands of Chinese used to cross this border daily in earlier years—Hong Kong had a population of only 500,000 in 1949. The movement became a human tide as the Chinese revolution neared an end in 1949. In 1952 the British found it necessary to close the border, limiting further entries to 50 a day. For the last two years, though, the average crossings have rarely exceeded 10 persons—no one seems to know why the tide became a trickle.

"The interesting thing is that the Chinese are crossing the border for the same reason that they have been crossing it since 1941, when the island was leased in perpetuity to the British," a British official told me, after asking that he remain anonymous. "They cross because they haven't been getting enough to eat."

Why, I asked, have the Communist Chinese permitted this British enclave to endure?

"There are at least three possible reasons," the Britisher replied. "One is that the Chinese need money—foreign exchange. Another is that they need a place to do business, for they do have some business with the outside world. Hong Kong is their window to the rest of the world. Then Hong Kong would be a rather tough nut to crack. It would be defended."

BUSIEST PORT

The lower portion of the Kowloon Peninsula was ceded to the British in perpetuity in 1861. The rest of the peninsula, to the Tai Po River, was leased to the British for 99 years in 1898.

From the picture window of my hotel near the tip of the Kowloon Peninsula I have a breath-taking view of the harbor and of Hong Kong. This must be the busiest port in the world. Perpetually in motion sampans, motorized junks, at least 40 passenger ferries, freighters and passenger vessels from the far corners of the world.

There is no shortage of land, even on the island of Hong Kong. But what is left is mountains. The land all belongs to the Crown and can be developed only after securing a lease from the Crown—none is sold outright. Almost everywhere land development operations are under way. It is a gigantic task, consisting of cutting off the tops of mountains, most of them with backbones of solid rock, and using the cut material to fill in valleys.

The airfield used by commercial planes on Lowloon had to be created by filling a strip out into the bay. Planes have to clear a mountain about 1,500 feet high and then come down quickly to touch down at the beginning of the runway. It's a bit hairy, pilots say.

CHINA WATCHERS

Veteran China-watchers from all parts of the world have congregated in Hong Kong. But they seem to be no better off in trying to explain what is going on in Red China than their associates whom I visited in Tokyo, Seoul and Taipei. The

Trouble Looms In East Java

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Former President Sukarno, officially stripped of his powers and titles, remained in seclusion today while the new acting president, Gen. Suharto, prepared for possible violence.

Potential trouble spots in central and east Java — Sukarno's former stronghold — remained quiet, but word of his dethronement may not have reached there yet due to the chaotic state of the island's communications.

The Indonesian Congress swore in Suharto as acting president Sunday to replace Sukarno, the only president the Indonesians have known since he proclaimed their independence in 1945.

SUKARNO SUPPORTERS

There were fears that Sukarno supporters among the military and the people may start an insurrection to keep him in power.

Sukarno declined to return to Jakarta Sunday from his weekend mountain palace, but a spokesman said he may return Tuesday. Some reports said he may be forced to live in retirement at his palace at Bogor, 40 miles east of Jakarta.

Sources from Jogjakarta, the capital of central Java, said troops were patrolling the city but it appeared quiet. There have been numerous small-scale clashes and terrorist killings in the area in recent months between pro- and anti-Sukarno forces. It is considered one of the most troublesome areas for the Suharto government.

IN OR OUT?

At a news conference Sunday night, Congress Chairman Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution repeatedly refused to say pointblank whether Sukarno was still president in name or not. "You must understand the Indonesian way of thinking," he said.

Other members of Congress said Sukarno was out completely, but that top leaders would not say so in exact words because they were trying to maintain stability.

More than 8,000 students massed at the university in Jakarta for a victory celebration. Some were still not satisfied, however, declaring Sukarno must be made to answer for the economic failures Indonesia has suffered.

Sukarno, 66, was stripped by Congress of all executive powers and barred from political activity until the next general elections. Congress also gave Suharto authority to set up a legal body to try Sukarno in connection with the attempted Communist coup in October, 1965.

Insecticide Kills Texas Beer Drinker

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A toxicologist's report was pending today in the Saturday night death of Mrs. Guadalupe Villarreal, believed killed by insecticide dropped into her beer at a nightspot.

A companion of the woman, Onilda de Leon, remained in critical condition at a hospital. She took one sip of the beer served to Mrs. Villarreal, police said.

L. B. E. Blount said two men were questioned. No charges were filed Sunday. An autopsy was performed on Mrs. Villarreal's body Sunday.

Gaullists Get Giant Setback

PARIS (AP) — French voters mauled the prestige of President Charles de Gaulle's government badly Sunday and left his forces with a majority of only one to three votes in the National Assembly. Even that narrow margin was in doubt.

With two of the 487 Assembly seats still undecided, the Ministry of Interior reported candidates pledged to De Gaulle had won 244 seats, or a majority of at least one in the full Assembly.

Other checks of the candidates' political labels indicated the Gaullists had won only 243 seats, while the combined opposition had 241 or 242. French political experts varied in their assessment of the situation.

DEMOS HOLD KEY

The election for one seat in Tahiti will be held next Sunday. Another seat is being held for French Somaliland in case that African territory decides in a referendum next Sunday to remain with France rather than choosing independence.

The Gaullists had a solid 40-seat majority in the outgoing National Assembly.

The president's personal tenure was not affected, he having been elected in 1965 for a seven-year term. But whether De Gaulle will have a "governable" assembly will apparently hinge on a bloc of at least 30 and possible 42 seats controlled by Jean Lecanuet's Center Democrats. Lecanuet indicated before the elections that he would support the Gaullists on certain issues if they showed signs of adjusting to his demands. These include European unity and continuation of the Atlantic Alliance.

FACT PAYS OFF

The voters knocked four of De Gaulle's ministers out—Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, Veterans Minister Alexandre Sanguinetti, and Jean Charbonnel, in charge of cooperation with former French African territories.

The Gaullist defeat, which had not been foreseen in public opinion polls, was fashioned largely by a smooth working electoral pact forged by the strong French Communist party and the leftist federation of Socialists and other non-Communist leftists.

The agreement brought the left surging into French politics in strength recalling the days of the victorious Popular Front in 1936.

Coahoma Lions Schedule Supper

COAHOMA (SC) — The Coahoma Lions Club has scheduled its annual pancake supper for 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday at the elementary school cafeteria.

The menu will consist of pancakes, bacon, coffee and milk — all anyone can eat for 75 cents.

Club officials were urging a large turnout for today's meeting at 6 p.m. in Rick's Cafeteria when the club will elect a queen representative for the district convention contest in Midland April 7-8.

Boosters Meet

Choir Boosters will meet at the Vocational Building at the high school at 7:30 p.m. Monday. No special business is scheduled, it was said, but it is important all members of the organization attend.

'Tiger Lady's' Hubby Killed

SAIGON (AP) — The "Tiger Lady" and her husband used to be the most famous pair of fighters in the South Vietnamese army.

The husband, Maj. Nguyen Van Dan, 44, killed his 39-year-old wife, Ho Thi Que, during a quarrel late in 1965. Now the major is dead, killed during a Viet Cong attack on the infantry battalion he commanded west of Saigon.

The "Tiger Lady" and her husband married while both were with the Viet Minh fighting against the French. They defected to the Saigon government in the mid-1950s.

When her husband was given command of the 44th Ranger Battalion, Ho Thi Que insisted on joining him on every military operation, taking time off only to have children. She had seven.

She wore a camouflage "tiger" suit and a cocky hat and had a pair of pistols slung around her waist. She won many medals and became a master sergeant.

Her husband got a light sentence for killing her, and late in 1966 was given command of an infantry battalion. He was with forward elements of his battalion when the Viet Cong overran it late last week.

City Commission Has Long Agenda

Big Spring city commissioners have a long evening of work ahead of them Tuesday at the regular meeting beginning at 7 p.m. in City Hall.

Lions Plan Bulb Sales Competition

The Fat Cats and the Lean Lions square off in a battle of sales Tuesday when the annual lightbulb sale of the Downtown Lions Club starts.

Lions take off on Wednesday to avoid conflict with mid-week church attendance, then will return Thursday and Friday to knock on every door in town.

Proceeds go to the club fund for sight conservation and blind work. One of the principal projects is furnishing glasses for children and adults who cannot afford them.

Heading the Fat Cats is John F. Smith, who packs a slight amount of avoirdupois just to make the title honest, while Don Shoemaker, sans any extra poundage, lead the Lean Lions.

Jimmy Ray Smith, general chairman, urged residents to continue their usual generous response to the sale.

"Most every home will use up a packet of bulbs within a year's time," he said, "and by buying them from a Lion, they open up a whole new world to a lot of youngsters with visual problems."

The weekend affair at the Diamond M Museum also featured a showing of work by Sculptor Lonnie Edwards of Lubbock.

For the private presentation Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin and their daughters, Mrs. Jon DeFord of Abilene and Mrs. Evelyn Knox of Houston, were hosts. They later entertained with a buffet dinner at the Snyder Country Club.

Hurd was unable to be present, but was represented by another Western artist of note, his friend John Meigs.

The third Cub Scout Leader Training Session will be conducted tonight, 7-9 p.m., at the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Service Co. The Den Mothers will have "Your Den Meeting," led by Mrs. Jerry Williams, and the men will have "The Pack Meeting," led by Bill Sneed, cubmaster of Pack 238.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. No. 1 G. H. McEntire will be a new location in the Credo (7220-Wolfcamp) field, which has four producers. Operator will bottom the hole at 7,800 feet.

Drillsite is 10 miles northwest of Sterling City in Sterling County and located 1,320 feet from north and 474 feet from west lines, section 17-23-H&TC survey.

DAWSON Tidewater No. 1 Smith is drilling below 4,304 feet. It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines, section 34-30-56, T&P survey.

GARZA Warren No. 2 Justice is drilling in shale below 7,317 feet. Location is 1,890 feet from north and east lines, section 28-44-42GR survey.

HOWARD Apache No. 3 Wright is making hole in lime and shale below 9,225 feet. Location is 1,480 feet from south and east lines, section 22-33-T&P survey.

MARTIN Brown No. 1-A Block 7 University is working load with no gas. Location is 1,680 feet from north and west lines, section 13-7-University lands survey.

asked to approve a resolution stating its willingness to accept dedication of Pioneer Park — the site of the original big spring — if it is offered to the city by the owners, Big Spring Hunting and Fishing Club. The site covers 16.20 acres and is adjacent to the Big Spring City Park.

Two on-premises consumption permits will be considered. Charles R. Blake asks a permit for the Mustang Club, 1630 E. 3rd, and Elbert McCalister is repeating his request for a permit at the Bosnova Lounge, 503 NW 4th.

City Attorney Tom Huckaby will report on two claims made on the city — Maudine Cole's claim arising from a traffic mishap with a city vehicle, and Perry Peterson's claim that his car was damaged by a man-hole cover.

Three ordinances will be proposed for approval, and all three will be considered for "emergency reading." One involves increasing the garbage rate to $2 per month, previously approved by the commission to finance wide-scale salary increases. Another would regulate junk cars parked on private property or public streets; and the third concerns disposal of abandoned, lost or stolen property.

Public hearing will be held on annexing 5,222 acres to the city, on US 80 west at the IS 20 intersection, at the request of Humble Oil for a service station. However, the annexation includes other land owned by Charlie Creighton and not associated with the request.

Commissioners will be asked to approve an application to the federal government for a grant to help in a sanitary landfill experiment in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service. Two deep ravines, across from the Cosden refinery, are involved in the request, and if approved, the grant would pay some $18,000 of the $27,000 cost of the project.

Vandals Have Busy Weekend

Vandals, burglars, and prowlers were reported on the move during the weekend.

B. S. Sims, 1004 Gregg, reported a speaker from a drive-in movie theatre was thrown into his yard. Alvis Harry, 4015 Parkway, reported paint had been sprayed on his office building. Jay Curtis, 4216 Muir, reported someone ripped a screen on his house and also painted part of his boat. A sign was sprayed with paint at Seventeenth and Lancaster, and a house at 2718 Ann Drive, received an egg shower.

The Christian Day School, Wesson Road, reported 55 windows estimated at $2,500 were broken, and a plate glass window at Calico Kitchen, 405 E. 9th, was also broken.

Burglars were busy too. Mrs. R. L. Holder, 604 W. 5th, reported someone had removed all the furniture from the house of Austin Audis, 1202 Sycamore. Audis was away at the time and Mrs. Holder was in charge of the house.

Prowlers were reported at 1604 Stadium, and 1108 Stanford, but in both instances they were gone when police arrived.

Center Holding Open House, Easter Seal Parade Slated

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Third and Lancaster, in conjunction with the Easter Seal Drive, will conduct an open house all this week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Regular therapy sessions will be conducted during these hours each day so visitors will see what goes on concerning rehabilitation.

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center was founded by the Easter Seal Society, and although they are separate organizations, the Society helps the center financially.

The center is a local voluntary health organization whose primary purpose is to help the physically handicapped of Big Spring and the surrounding area to become more self-sustaining and independent members of society. It is a non-profit organization, and not tax-supported. Services of the center are available to all of the physically handicapped, regardless of age, race, creed, or financial circumstances, who can benefit by treatment.

It is directed and staffed by professional therapists who are assisted by volunteer lay workers, with Mrs. Roy Granbery, president of the volunteer auxiliary. The operations of the center are financed by contributions of individuals, support of civic groups, various agencies, and memorial gifts.

Donations and contributions help buy crutches, braces, wheelchairs, and the salary for a swimming instructor so mentally retarded and physically handicapped children may learn how to swim.

Services are offered by the center to any patient with a prescription for treatment from a doctor.

Services offered include speech and physical therapy, and treatments for disabilities, such as cerebral palsy, birth defects, arthritis, accidents, polio, and strokes.

Jim Thompson, director of the center, also reminded about the Friday Easter Seal Parade.

"The parade will not only go down the main streets," according to Thompson, "but it will also go from home to home all throughout Howard County. Volunteer marchers will deliver sheets of Easter Seals and tell about the programs of the Easter Seal Society. They will accept donations to help finance rehabilitation services.

"The parade will give everybody a chance to make their 1967 Easter Seal contribution at home," Mrs. Dwight McCann, director of parade volunteers, explained.

Mrs. McCann has named the following district leaders and section captains, who will map out areas to be covered and direct parade volunteers throughout Howard County:

Mrs. J. W. Dickens, Marcy; Mrs. Joe Horton, Washington; Mrs. Fred Blalack, Gay Hill and Center Point; E. S. Morgan, Northside; Mrs. Roy Watkins, Cedar Crest; Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, Elbow; Mrs. T. A. Harris, Sand Springs and Midway; Mrs. Odell Womack, Boydston; Mrs. Alvin Huskey III, Park Hill; Mrs. Howard Dodd, Airport; Jaycee-Eltes, College Heights; Big Spring Association of Life Underwriters, Balch, Highland South, Snyder Road, and Webb; Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Kentwood; and Coahoma will also be covered.

Services offered by the center to any patient with a prescription for treatment from a doctor.

Viewing The 'Ugly' Portrait

Col. and Mrs. T. J. Rowland of Webb Air Force Base, among those attending a special showing at the Diamond M Foundation in Snyder Saturday, look at Peter Hurd's portrait of Lyndon Johnson, the one the President called "the ugliest thing I ever saw." Thousands of West Texans viewed the painting at a two-day showing.

AT SNYDER SHOWING

Hurd's Portrait Of LBJ Viewed By West Texans

SNYDER — The Peter Hurd portrait of Lyndon Johnson that the President didn't like proved a major attraction to West Texans.

Some 3,000 people packed the Diamond M Museum here Sunday to take a look at the publicized picture. There were viewers from towns all over West Texas, and they formed long lines at the Museum.

On Saturday, another 300 persons, invited guests of C. T. McLaughlin of the Diamond M interests were on hand to view the Hurd portrait, as well as all the rest of the fine McLaughlin collection of paintings and sculpture.

The general reaction to the Hurd picture was that it wasn't nearly so bad as President Johnson thinks it is. Most viewers felt the likeness of the President was a good one, but there was also general opinion that Hurd had over-emphasized the lighted Capitol building in the background.

In the wake of the Snyder showing, the portrait goes to

Leader Training Session Slated

The Leader Training for Boy Scout leaders, scoutmasters, assistants, and troop committee members will be held Friday night from 7-9 p.m. according to Lt. Bill Harken, course scoutmaster.

The sessions will be held at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building of HCJC starting Friday at 9 a.m., and ending Saturday at 4 p.m.

Lt. Harken is an experienced trainer and has conducted this course several times prior to this session, according to Bill McRee, scout executive.

This is a new course series put out by the Boy Scouts of America the past year.

"All scoutmasters are urged to take part, along with assistants and troop committee members," McRee said.

Thruston Places Second In Meet

Roy Thruston, Garden City, representing the Big Spring Toastmaster's Club, placed second in the district contest of Toastmaster's International in Amarillo Saturday.

His topic was "Little Things Mean a Lot," and it placed slightly behind Gary Belcher, representing Goodfellow AB in San Angelo. Last year Thruston, who repeated as area winner, represented the district in the regional meeting in Wichita, Kan. This year Belcher will do the honors at Houston.

Besides Thruston, Adrian Randle attended the district confab in Amarillo. Barry Koch, Midland, was named district 44 governor, and William R. Larsen, lieutenant governor.

Gas Company Named In Suit

Pioneer Natural Gas Company has been named defendant in a $20,000 damage suit filed Monday in the 118th District Court. E. R. Brown and his wife are the plaintiffs.

They allege that the defendant company was responsible for the injuries sustained by Mrs. Brown on Dec. 5, 1966. Mrs. Brown, the petition relates, swerved her car to avoid a hole in the paving on Lancaster which had allegedly been dug by the gas company and, in so doing, ran into a post.

Byron Neel Is In Good Condition

Byron Neel was reported in good condition today following lung surgery Friday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He is still in the intensive care unit and his wife and his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Camp, are with him.

Barry Fires Shot At Panty-Waists

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Barry Goldwater, 1964 Republican presidential candidate, said Sunday he telephoned President Johnson recently and told him he was doing a good job in Vietnam "as long as he doesn't listen to (Sen. J. W.) Fulbright and the other panty-waists."

Actress Scores Illness Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Patricia Adams and Vincent Sardi. Miss Neal spoke at the dinner because she has a brain-injured child of her own, six-year-old Theo who was struck by a car when he was three months old. She faltered only once during her speech, and that was with emotion as she spoke about her son.

Two years ago her career was nearly brought to a tragic end by three massive strokes. There was doubt that she would live. When she did survive, there was doubt that she could ever walk, talk or even see normally again.

But Sunday night, everything was perfect.

'I DID IT'

"It was beautiful. Oh, it was just beautiful," Miss Neal, 40, exulted after speaking to a dinner audience of 2,000 at a benefit for the New York Association for Brain Injured Children. It was her first public appearance since the strokes.

"I did it," she said happily. "I really did it. It was good, wasn't it?"

WHO'S WHO CROWD

Here to assure her that she had been a roaring success was an audience that read like who's who from the entertainment world: Rock Hudson, Van Johnson, Leonard Bernstein, Otto Preminger, Joan Crawford, Henry Fonda, Martin Gabel, Skitch Henderson, Charles

THINKING DOUBLE

The rest of the speech came through in the strong, husky voice that movie-goers know so well, a voice it took the actress months of hard work to recover.

She recalled that when she returned to England after the strokes, "I saw two of everything. I remember looking down and seeing that I had four legs. And when they took me to the house, I discovered I had six children, instead of just three, all of them twins."

"When you keep seeing double all the time, you start thinking double as well. Then you start talking double. That's known as doubletalk. I became an expert at doubletalk."

Miss Neal paid special tribute to her husband, writer Roald Dahl, who forced her to work.

Malta Officials Okay Troops Cut

LONDON (AP) — The government of the Mediterranean island of Malta has agreed to a reduction of British troops stationed there after Britain agreed to keep the rate of withdrawal at an "economically tolerable level."

Britain recently announced it planned to cut 3,000 men from its 4,500-man garrison on Malta as an economy move. The Maltese feared a sudden withdrawal would cause mass unemployment among the 6,000 Maltese employed at the British base.

Several Cars Run Over Texas Man

COALGATE, Okla. (AP)—The body of Victor Salinas Perez, 22, of Wilmer, Tex., was found on US 75 about seven miles north of here Sunday.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said Perez apparently had been run over by more than one automobile.

Onstage Again

Actress Patricia Neal, whose career was nearly brought to a tragic end by three massive strokes two years ago, stands near the speaker's rostrum with actor Rock Hudson last night at a benefit dinner for the New York Association for Brain Injured Children at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City. It was the first public appearance Miss Neal has made in more than two years. (AP WIREPHOTO)

'Biggest Book' Contract Landed

LONDON (AP) — Mansell Information-Publishing Ltd. of Britain announced today it has won a $12-million contract from the American Library Association to print "the biggest book to be published since the invention of printing."

The book will contain the national union catalog of the United States, which is contained now on 18-million index cards at the Library of Congress in Washington. The book will run to 610 volumes, each of 704 pages, and will weigh 1½ tons when finished in about 10 years. A complete set will cost between $8,000 and $9,000.

The Library of Congress cards list details of every book held by more than 2,000 major libraries in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

A spokesman for the publishers said they expect to sell at least 1,500 volumes.

Wild Weather Grab Bag Unleashes Twisters, Hail

By The Associated Press

Hail the size of baseballs, thunderstorms and isolated tornadoes poured from a grab bag of wild weather that also unleashed blowing salt in Utah, heavy snow in the West and record-breaking heat in the South.

The hail pounded an area 15 miles northwest of Evansville, Ind., Sunday. Hail the size of golf balls hit Norman, Okla., early today and slammed into Washita, about 40 miles southwest of Oklahoma City, late Sunday night.

Violent thunderstorms, some of which spawned tornadoes, ripped through a broad belt from Oklahoma to South Carolina.

BARNs DESTROYED

Tornadoes were reported near

Holly Hill, and Timmonsville, S.C., and in an area three miles northeast of Evansville, Ind. Several tobacco barns were demolished near Timmonsville, but no injuries were reported.

More than 50 families fled from their homes Sunday night as the Ohio River flooded southern Indiana lowlands in Clark and Floyd counties. The floods forced the worst in three years, called police to close parts of four state highways.

HEAVY SNOW

Temperatures soared throughout the South Sunday. In Georgia, records for the day were set at Savannah with 90, Macon with 88 and Atlanta with 83. Birmingham, Ala., had a record 87 reading. Temperatures soared to 97 at Presidio, Tex., and 95 at Wichita Falls and Carswell Air Force Base near Fort Worth.

Heavy snow fell in sections of western mountains in a continuing late winter storm. Travelers were warned of hazardous driving conditions on snow clogged roads from the Sierra Nevadas in California northward across most of Nevada and southern Idaho.

CLOUDS OF SALT

Clouds of salt and sand from the Great Salt Lake desert blew into Utah's major cities Sunday for the third straight day. The winds overturned a boat on Lake Powell on the Utah-Arizona border and three persons drowned.

Eleven traffic deaths in Southern California since the beginning of the weekend were blamed on rain-slick streets. More than an inch of rain fell in downtown Los Angeles. Up to a foot of snow fell in the mountains.

A small private plane crashed into a fog-shrouded mountainside near Los Angeles Sunday, killing the two occupants.

Two Fined In Garbage Cases

H. G. Knapp, city-county health inspector, said that two Big Spring residents have pleaded guilty to strewing rubbish and trash within 300 feet of a public road. He said the municipal judge fined each defendant $35 and probated the fine.

Charges were filed in connection with a city ordinance which forbids indiscriminate placing of rubbish and trash in alleys or elsewhere in the city. Knapp said that photographs taken of the areas were introduced in the cases.

He said the two charges are the first of a number which will be filed if warnings given to property owners are not heeded. One case involved the 1800 block on Hamilton, another the 1800 block on Main.

Knapp said that under the ordinance, the resident who is in violation of its provisions is warned by a tag being placed on his garbage can. He has 10 days in which to correct the condition. At the end of the period he is granted a second notice. Failure to go along with this second warning will bring about the filing of charges and the visit to municipal court.

Texas' Violence Claims 26 Lives

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents and drownings contributed to a weekend total of 26 violent deaths in Texas.

Motor vehicle crashes took 13 lives in the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday. There were five water fatalities, four shootings and three deaths from assorted other causes.

These were among the victims:

SINTON SMASHUP
A head-on collision 11 miles northwest of Sinton on US 181 late Sunday killed Hiram A. McCann Jr., 46, and David Edwards, 13, both of Corpus Christi. Evangelyn Larson, 47, of San Antonio was taken to a Beeville hospital in critical condition. Her husband Lester Larson, 52, escaped with minor injuries.

Kelvin Gill, 4, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Gill, drowned Sunday while trying to retrieve a ball from a swimming pool at a Houston apartment house.

FATAL FLIGHT
Patrick J. Ferry, 31, of El Paso was killed Sunday when he took a gyrocopter up for its initial flight. The unconventional craft was being towed by a car at a speed of 35 miles per hour. Gene Rodriguez, 11, of San Antonio was pushing his bicycle across a bridge Sunday when he fell into Elmendorf Lake and drowned in 14 feet of water.

An overturning car killed Robert Jay Dee Enoch, 18, Sunday in Baytown. Police charged the driver, Euel Rutherford, also 18, with negligent homicide.

CAR HITS TREE
Paul Vinson, 5, tumbled down a slippery canal bank near Galena Park and drowned Sunday as he was swept four miles downstream.

A car struck and killed Timothy Smith, 2, Sunday when he strayed onto US 60 opposite the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lee Smith, near Farwell in West Texas. John G. Rowe, 33, of Dallas was killed early Sunday when he apparently fell asleep while driving home, investigators said, and his car hit a tree, overturned and burned a block and a half from his house.

SHOT TO DEATH
Troy Martin, 24, of Corpus Christi accidentally shot himself to death Sunday as he returned from a hunting trip and was taking a .22 caliber pistol from his car.

George Marion Dennis Jr., 27, of Orange was killed early Sunday in Port Arthur when his car swerved off US 87 and struck a drainage ditch.

Fannie Mae Lemuel, 55, was shot and killed Sunday at her Dallas home. Police said a man, 60, held without immediate charge, told them Mrs. Lemuel wounded him in the shoulder and wrist, and he seized the gun and shot her.

Copter Picks Up Two Texas Teens
GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Houston teenage boys, adrift on a surfboard in Galveston Bay, were picked up by helicopter early today.

They were taken to Ellington Air Force Base in the military aircraft.

An air and sea search was for Billy Webb, 16, and Jimmy Robson, 18, who left their stalled boat Sunday night and set out to paddle their surfboard to shore 3½ miles away.

They were in a 19-foot fiberglass outboard with Billy's brother, Bobby, 14, when the engine stalled. Billy and Johnny set out via the surfboard for Eagle Point.

Two hours later a passing tug found the boat anchored in the ship channel. Bobby was asleep. The Coast Guard hauled him and his craft aboard and an air and sea search was started for the other two boys.

Texas Pilots Help Blast Steel Plant
SAIGON (AP) — Pilots who led Thunderchief fighter-bombers in raids against North Vietnam's largest steel plant included Air Force pilots from San Antonio and Kingsville, the Air Force announced Sunday.

The pilots were Lt. Col. Gordon A. (Swede) Larson, 39, of San Antonio and Capt. John L. Smith, 28, of Kingsville.

A Devotional For The Day

Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live. (Isaiah 55:3)

PRAYER: Father, give us open ears and listening hearts to hear Thee when Thou dost speak. Help us to have an enduring faith to give us that dependence on Thee that makes obedience our motive. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Conant Worth Heeding

A special governor's committee now has under study means for a comprehensive improvement of the Texas public school system, similar to that achieved two decades ago. Financing will surely be a paramount issue when that committee's recommendations reach the Legislature next session.

When that committee undertook its work there were suggestions, including an indication from the governor's office, that it should critically review the ratio of state aid to local support. Texas has one of the highest ratios of state aid, and the implication was that it might be lowered by increasing the required proportion of local support for total school-district costs.

The latest report by Harvard University president emeritus James B. Conant, who's 1959 book "The American High School Today" made him one of the most influential authorities on public school education, argues strongly against any such move. In his new book, "The Comprehensive High School: A Second Report to Interested Citizens," Dr. Conant in fact urges that public school financing be done wholly a state responsibility, supplemented by no-strings federal aid.

In a nationwide survey, Dr. Conant found state aid ranging from six to 70 per cent of public school financing, with a wider variance in quality of education among districts in states where local support was dominant. This he labeled "chaotic."

But the variance is not so bad in Texas because of the Minimum Foundation Program adopted in 1949. In this state, all school districts get equal state aid on a per-capita enrollment basis from the Available School Fund. In addition, the districts get from the Minimum Foundation Fund extensive supplemental aid, based on capacity for local support as determined by an economic index, that is designed to equalize educational opportunity among the richer and poorer districts.

That is, we believe, a basically sound system, though the economic index might be refined and local-support incentives improved. In most instances the ratio of local support cannot be substantially increased, because of the districts' dependence solely on property taxation, a burdened revenue source shared by all other local governmental units and the state government.

Invite Them, Impress Them

We are nearing the end of a school year, and within the next month or two, schools will be rushing to get in class field trips and outings.

The Chamber of Commerce has been helpful in the past in assisting in arrangements for these visits, but we urge that efforts be redoubled in this direction. Businesses and industries can help first of all by contacting the Chamber and expressing a willingness to conduct tours for these visitors. The Chamber, of course, can make this information available to schools in this area.

And finally, when youngsters and their teachers do come, it is important that they be given a warm welcome, a cordial and instructive tour. Children remember these events more than you realize, and it is important to us that they remember them and us favorably.

More Harmony In Money Matters

NEW YORK (AP)—The smoothness that seems to be developing between fiscal and monetary policy will become, in itself, a restorative to confidence in the future of the economy. Whereas the administration and the Federal Reserve, the controllers of fiscal and monetary policy, were arguing a year ago, they are now humming the same tune. Both feel the economy needs a lift.

THIS PAST WEEK the Fed continued to make credit easier to obtain by opening the spigot it controls and allowing more money to flow to the nation's banks.

The administration proposed making it easier for business to spend for new plants and equipment by asking Congress to reinstate a 7 per cent tax credit.

As a result, the feeling is developing that the economy is being more soundly managed, if only because the Fed and the administration seem to be seeing eye to eye once more.

Pushing in different directions as they were for a while last year—the administration accelerating and the Fed braking—they almost stripped the economic gears. The economic machinery screamed before order was restored.

THIS PRESENT harmony then is

Billy Graham

Where in the Bible is the Apostles' Creed found, and are we supposed to use it in our worship services? I notice that some churches use it and some do not.

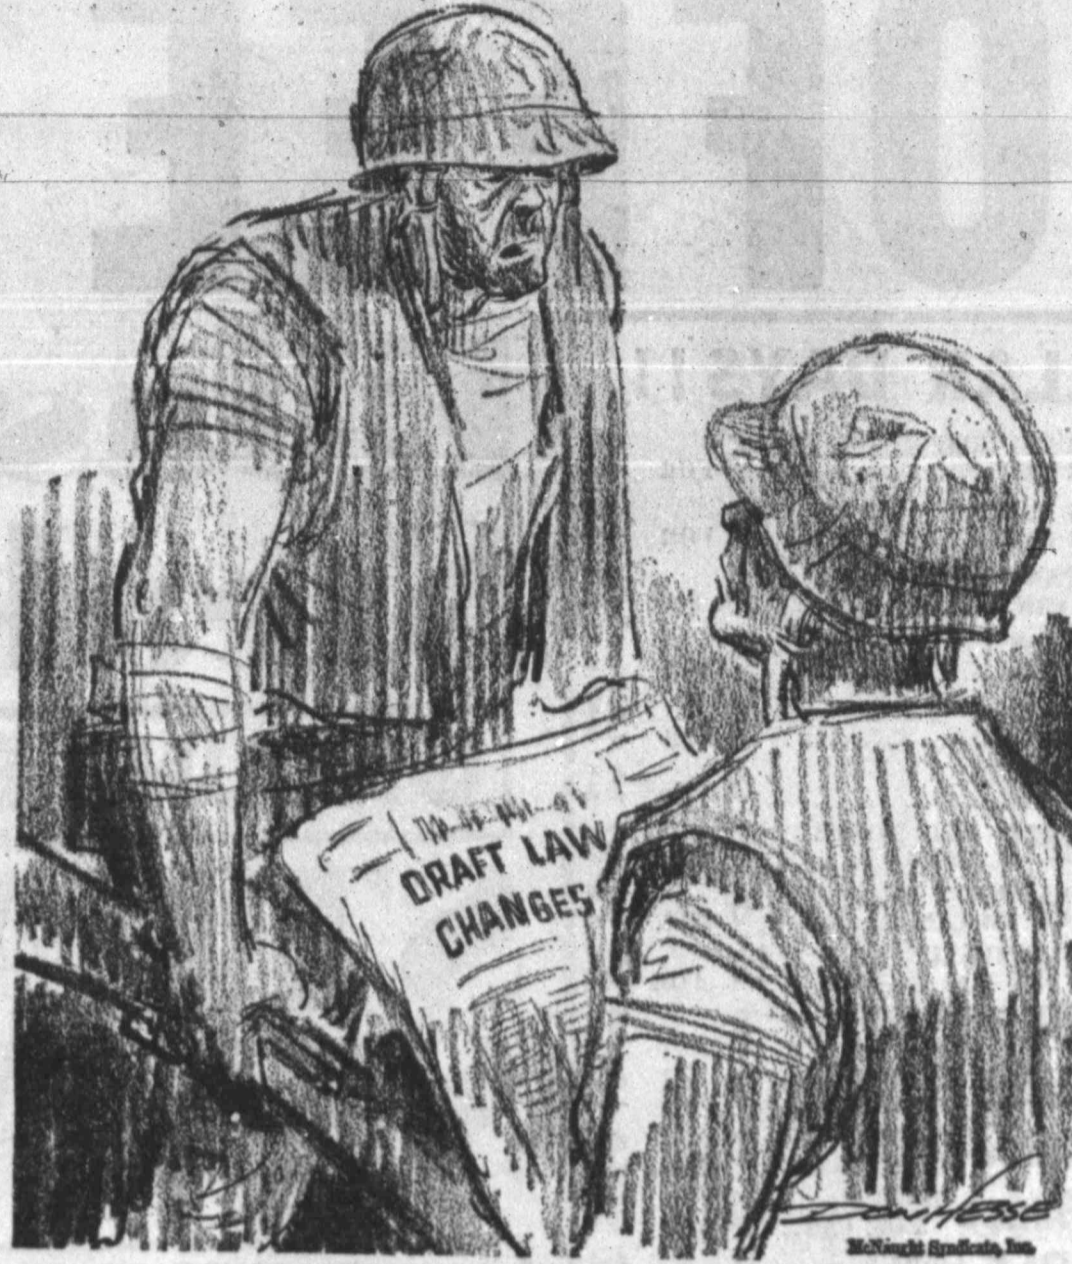

S. L. The Apostles' Creed is not found in the Scriptures. However, it is related to the things taught in the Scriptures, and we thus can say that it is scriptural.

There are several creeds used in Christian churches. All of them are based upon the Scriptures, and summarize the beliefs of the various communions. The Apostles' Creed is the earliest and has been used with only minor variations since the second century. It is used by Methodists, Baptists, Episcopal, and many other Protestant denominations. The Nicene Creed and the Athanasian Creed are used in Roman Catholic liturgy. The Augsburg Confession and the Smaller Catechism of Luther is employed by the Lutheran Church. The Presbyterian use the Westminster Confession as well as the Apostles' Creed, and some other churches use the Heidelberg Catechism. These are all summaries of the articles of faith, were based on the Scriptures, and are repeated by worshippers when a confession of faith is required. The main danger, however, of any creed is that it become a meaningless repetition of words. But on the other hand, sincere, devout people can find great profit and strength in repeating what they believe publicly. As I said before, none of these creeds are found in the Scriptures. All, however, are based upon the Scriptures.

Treaties Spread U.S. Obligations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The words "should" and "must" made and make a lot of difference.

The President asked the State Department to draft the message he wanted to read to Congress. He thought the first draft was too wishy-washy. He sent it back. Then he got the second version.

IT SAID letting communism gobble up one country after another would jeopardize this country's national security by endangering world peace and weakening other still-free countries' will to resist.

The President thought this was the key sentence: "I believe it should be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressures."

He didn't like that word "should." It was too "half-hearted," he felt. He scratched it out and wrote in "must."

Then, 20 years ago Sunday the President, Harry S. Truman, read to Congress a message which asked $400 million in economic aid to Greece and Turkey and changed American foreign policy.

ISOLATIONISM was abandoned and the United States, assuming leadership of the non-Communist world, understood commitments that involved it around the globe, and still do, in economic aid and even war.

The latest example of both is Vietnam, where President Johnson repeatedly has said American involvement is for the sake of American national security.

At that time in 1947, when the Truman doctrine was first stated, Moscow was pressuring Turkey and Greece was near collapse under the onslaughts of Communist guerrillas. Truman's decision was not something long thought out.

In the beginning American policy sought to "contain" the Soviets. The Truman Doctrine was followed quickly by the Marshall Plan of economic aid for Europe and then by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the military alliance to protect Western Europe.

As history unfolded, American obligations spread with treaties around the world, including Asia.

Motherhood Is Safer

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The common cold is uncommonly expensive. Its annual cost in the United States exceeds $5 billion and if you don't get two or three colds a year you're luckier than your neighbor.

WAGING WARS seems to be habit-forming in the human race. It is estimated that since the dawn of recorded history the world has been at peace only eight per cent of the time.

One reason the Arabian camel can go so long without water is that when he does take a drink he takes a mighty big one. He can gulp down 15 gallons at a time.

THE OUTLOOK for coronary patients is improving. Statistics show that 70 per cent of heart attack victims survive at least five years and better than 50 per cent survive 10 years or longer if they take proper care of themselves.

Motherhood is also safer. Only one in a thousand live births results in a maternal death.

Quotable notables: "There is no insanity so devastating in man's life as utter sanity." — William Allen White.

WOMEN ARE more religious than men. A poll by Catholic Digest magazine showed that 77 per cent of women, but only 63 per cent of the men interviewed, said that faith in a divine being was important in their lives.

No wonder dogs sometimes turn up their noses at people. They can smell 40 times as well.

Forgotten heroes of bureaucracy: In 1863 L.E. Chittenden, register of the U.S. Treasury, personally signed 12,500 government bonds in a 48-hour period.

CONTRARY to the opinion of some authors, books don't have to be sexy to make the best-seller list. Perhaps the largest advance sale in the history of U.S. publishing—2,154,000 copies—was for a new Methodist hymn book.

If you separately ask a number of people to tell you quickly what day of the month it is, 6 out of 10 women and 5 out of 10 men can't give you the right answer without consulting the calendar or looking at the date on their newspaper.

FOLKLORE: Students will do better on examinations if they first rub their right hand on the pate of a bald man. A girl who is kissed by seven different men in a single day while standing under a sprig of Christmas mistletoe will be married within a year. A mole on your chin or ear is a sign you'll become rich. It's good luck to have either a first or last name containing seven letters.

It was Oscar Wilde who observed, "In America, the young are always ready to give to those who are older than themselves the full benefits of their experience."

Around The Rim

What Are Worst War Crimes?

Never underestimate the "bleeding heart" element in our society.

Such a group delights in creating a mass aura of guilt in all of mankind. It can slow the wheels of justice, hurry along a crusade, raise vast sums of money for an individual or a family only indirectly involved in the circumstances surrounding the death of a national leader and, all too often, promote timidity among public servants.

REGRETTABLY, too, the information media is prone to widen interest in such matters for reasons that are not always unselfish.

I cite an example: Much has been made of the United States' decision to deposit atomic bombs on two Japanese cities near the close of World War II.

My opinion of Harry S. Truman remains high to this day because, right or wrong, he conceded the decision was, in the main, his and his alone.

MANY PEOPLE throughout the world have never felt it in their hearts to forgive America for such acts, even though the decisions probably brought a speedy end to the most costly and cancerous conflict ever to afflict mankind, and undoubtedly saved the lives of numerous fighting men on other fronts around the world.

For some reason not entirely valid, however, our government has never taken the trouble to focus attention on the fact that more persons in the Allied world, military and civilian (and, in the main, Americans), came to the end of their days in Japanese internment camps or as the result of lingering effects of the sub-human treatment they received in those chambers of horror than died in Nagasaki and Hiroshima combined.

THE AMERICANS interned as prisoners-of-war in the Far East were not only starved and beaten, in many instances, but often refused medical treatment when they did become ill. It would be wonderful to outlaw the atomic bomb. It would be even more wonderful to vote all war unlawful. That is not the point to ponder in this article, however.

SECTIONS OF the U.S. medical profession, those directly involved in efforts to restore the health of the survivors of the prison camps of World War II, remain amazed to this day that so much has been said of the atomic explosions and so little of the reprehensible treatment afforded those in our ranks who were so unluckily as to fall in the hands of the enemy in those terrible days of 1941-45.

Candidate Needs Fighting Spirit

WASHINGTON — "Merrily, I roll along," as somebody must have previously written, for those projects that are dear to the hearts of worthy and proven friends. Sen. Hugh Scott (R., Pa.) is such a friend, as well as being a durable admirer of mine, and it goes hard that our ideas about GOP presidential candidates rarely coincide.

GOV. GEORGE Romney of Michigan is the senator's latest project in president-making, or at least Scott describes himself as belonging to the "Romney Exploration Club." The senator recently invited some of us to his attractive Georgetown home to get better acquainted with the governor and to discover, if we could, the governor's White House qualifications.

HE CERTAINLY qualifies as a handsome, able, earnest, industrious politician with a strong evidence of determination to prove himself a statesman. Long before he began his three-term gubernatorial career, Romney was a concerned citizen about the dangers of impacted poverty, racial suppression and centralized government. He's aware that there's a current prejudice in both parties against nominating state governors for national office, but he believes that the country needs some "education" on that subject.

AS A MAN who proved in the automotive business that compactness can compete with ornate leviathanism, Romney qualifies as a salesman for decentralization, tax-sharing and general demolition of Federalism.

Romney, like the Democrat he'd presumably be opposing next year, is a master monologist. So long as the governor kept talking, he was making mileage. It was when he yielded to questions by a crowded semi-circle of columnists and correspondents that his engine sputtered and steering apparatus commenced to wobble.

HE COULDN'T seem to name one or more Republicans whom he might support if his own hopes didn't make the grade. A reporter mentioned Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, but the governor ducked. He couldn't quite communicate to us on the Vietnam War. He sort of supported President Johnson's policy there, but he sort of didn't.

He was Sen. Scott's friend, guest and prospective candidate, and maybe the propinquity will someday tell. Maybe some of the moxie that Scott has always shown will rub off on Romney. You don't have to believe that Scott was right in 1964 when he sided with the spoilers—Governors Scrantom, Rockefeller and Romney—against Barry Goldwater. You can freely believe that his judgment has been faulty down the years in preferring Little Sir Echo Republicans like Dewey and even Eisenhower, both of whom might as well been middleroad Democrats.

BUT HUGH Scott is never without strong opinions, and he turns into a tiger when finally pitted against any Democratic opponent. He personifies exactly the qualities that are needed. The logrolling for Romney both among fellow-Republicans and anti-Johnson commentators is going to be slow-motion unless some transference of that moxie—the fighting spirit—takes place soon.

The Powell Case And The Court

WASHINGTON — Adam Clayton Powell and the entire civil-rights movement have more to lose than gain if the Supreme Court should rule that the House of Representatives must grant a seat to the Harlem minister. For if the Supreme Court chooses to overrule the House of Representatives about who shall be admitted to a seat in Congress, it will be a reversal of the attitude taken nearly 100 years ago when the highest court in the land refused even to consider such questions.

TO PUT IT another way, if the judiciary should take jurisdiction and order that a seat in Congress be given Adam Clayton Powell, then the validity of the Fourteenth Amendment, which was fraudulently adopted in 1865, when it was first voted on, certain members of both houses were denied seats in Congress. The Supreme Court has always claimed it has been without power to intervene.

HISTORIANS have never disagreed about the facts. When the war between the states ended with Lee's surrender on April 9, 1865, President Lincoln proclaimed amnesty. Yet in December, 1865, when the 39th Congress convened, both houses decided to deny seats to the members from 10 Southern states, including those whose legislatures had ratified the Thirteenth Amendment abolishing slavery. Thaddeus Stevens, the Northern leader in Congress, based his case on the constitutional provision which says that "each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members."

THIS IS the same provision that was cited recently by the House of Representatives in connection with its resolution excluding Powell. Yet every person elected to Congress from the South in the December, 1865, session was over 25 years of age, an inhabitant of his own state, a citizen of the United States, and was elected by the people—the sole qualifications for admission according to Powell's lawyers.

WHEN THE new session of Congress began in December, 1865, it was apparent that the Fourteenth Amendment could not get a two-thirds ma-majority in both houses unless the South was excluded. This amendment was submitted to the states by Congress on June 16, 1866. In the Reconstruction Act, which was passed in March, 1867, by the "rump" Congress, it was declared that the 10 Southern states whose legislatures had rejected the Fourteenth Amendment would not be permitted representation until their legislatures ratified the amendment.

Again and again, efforts were made to challenge these acts of a "rump" Congress. It was pointed out that the Constitution itself said no state could be deprived of its equal representation in the Senate without its consent, that peace had come to the nation, and that there was no longer any insurrection. But the Supreme Court of the United States deliberately put the issue aside and refused to make any ruling.

THE EXPLANATION given at the time—and ever since—was that these were "political" questions and that the Supreme Court felt it had no right to interfere with the way Congress operates—whom it should admit and whom it should reject.

What would happen now if the Supreme Court suddenly decides to overrule Congress and compel the admission of Adam Clayton Powell, especially if he is elected again next month? If the high court abandons its historic position that it has no authority over who shall sit in Congress, then certainly another test could immediately ensue on the validity of the Fourteenth Amendment itself. For even the lapse of time does not alter the historic facts or the constitutional issues.

CIVIL-RIGHTS laws today have as their legal foundation the Fourteenth Amendment. So a victory for Powell in recovering his seat could easily turn out to be a set-back for the civil-rights movement.

Tar Heels Get Shot At Tigers

North Carolina's proud Tar Heels get another chance to twist the Tiger's tail this week—but Duke's disappointed Blue Devils are going to the dogs. And Duke's Vic Bubas thinks these particular dogs—the Salukis of Southern Illinois—will bite just as sharp as they bark. The Salukis is an Egyptian hunting dog. North Carolina, the nation's No. 4 college basketball power, downed the Blue Devils 82-73 last Saturday night for the Atlantic Coast Conference title and a berth—opposite Princeton's fifth-ranked Tigers—in the NCAA championships. Princeton handed North Carolina its first setback of the season last December. Duke settled for the open spot in the National Invitation Tournament at New York, where the Blue Devils will collide with Southern Illinois' small college titans tonight in a quarter-final contest. Last Thursday night, the Salukis established their kinship with the greyhound by racing past St. Peter's, N.J., 101-58 in their Madison Square Garden debut. The margin of victory was an NIT record.

Royals' Star Flubs Chance

Cincinnati almost was in like Flynn but instead the Royals today find themselves still chasing the New York Knickerbockers in the race for third place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. The Royals were two foul shots away from third place and Flynn Robinson had three chances to make them after the final buzzer of Cincinnati's game at St. Louis Sunday. But Robinson missed all three, leaving the Royals on the short end of a 120-118 final score, and a half-game back of the Knicks, who bowed to Philadelphia 131-120. Cincinnati has four games left to play and New York three.

Underdogs pulled off several surprises in both the NCAA and NIT Saturday, with Dayton's 69-67 overtime victory over sixth-ranked Western Kentucky in the nationals and Rutgers' 78-76 NIT ambush of Utah State among the major upsets. In other NIT first-round action, Princeton whipped West Virginia 68-57; seventh-ranked Houston nipped New Mexico State 59-58; ninth-ranked Boston College got by Connecticut 49-42; No. 10 Texas Western eliminated Seattle 63-54; Virginia Tech upset Toledo 82-78 and St. John's, N.Y., ousted Temple 57-52.

Providence, led by Jim Walker's 37 points, trimmed Memphis State 77-68. New Mexico edged Syracuse 66-64 and Marquette topped Tulsa 64-60 in the NIT. Unbeaten UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team, wound up its regular schedule by smashing Southern California 83-55 for a 26-0 mark as Lew Alcindor tossed in 28 points. The Bruins start their NCAA bid Friday night against Wyoming's Western Athletic Conference champions.

Other first-round games today in the NIT include: St. Benedict's, 22-2, the 1964 champion, and Linfield, 20-9, play at 9:45 p.m. Defending champion Oklahoma Baptist, 21-6 will meet Alcorn A&M of Mississippi at 7 p.m. Jungle Jim Loscutt, former Boston Celtics player, coaches Boston State, 18-4, against Illinois-Gulfport, N.C., 25-4, at 2:45 p.m.

FORSAN — Alfonso Calvo turned in a 5:34 mile to pace the Forsan Buffaloes in the track meet at Wink Saturday. In the spring relay Forsan took fourth with a 42.5. Ronnie Nevers tied for fourth in the high jump with a leap of 5-4, while Jim Fryar, a sophomore, got fourth in the shot put with a heave of 43.8 Saturday. Forsan enters a meet at Grand Falls.

NAAI Tourney Opens Today

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Top-seeded St. Benedict's of Kansas plays Linfield of Oregon tonight in one of eight first-round games opening the 30th NAAI basketball tournament, a 22-team six-day meet. Midwestern of Texas, seeded No. 12 with a 20-10 record, was paired with Dickinson, N.D., 18-1, tipping off the tourney at 9:30 a.m. CST. St. Benedict's, 22-2, the 1964 champion, and Linfield, 20-9, play at 9:45 p.m. Defending champion Oklahoma Baptist, 21-6 will meet Alcorn A&M of Mississippi at 7 p.m. Jungle Jim Loscutt, former Boston Celtics player, coaches Boston State, 18-4, against Illinois-Gulfport, N.C., 25-4, at 2:45 p.m.

Jubilant Jump

It took the Chicago Black Hawks 40 years to do it, but they did it in grand style Sunday night by defeating Toronto 3-0 in Chicago. The victory gave the Hawks their first National Hockey League championship. Showing his enthusiasm is Pierre Pilette (7), as he jumps into the arms of a teammate at the conclusion of the game. (AP WIREPHOTO)

After 40 Years, Hawks Beat Curse Of Muldoon

CHICAGO (AP)—The "curse of Muldoon," which had plagued the Chicago Black Hawks for four decades, was buried Sunday when the Hawks finally won their first National Hockey League championship. The Hawks not only buried the curse but literally drowned it in a wild champagne celebration triggered by a 3-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs. "Is the champagne cold?" someone asked. "It ought to be," yelled Stan Mikita, the league's leading scorer. "It's been on ice for 40 years."

CAN LAUGH NOW

The Hawks could laugh now, but it wasn't funny in recent years when it looked as if they were going to win but ended up finishing second by one point in two different seasons.

Back in 1926-27, Major Fredrick McLaughlin purchased the Portland Rose Buds and moved the team to Chicago, where he named the Black Hawks after his World War I battalion. Pete Muldoon was the coach. McLaughlin fired Muldoon and Muldoon pointed a finger and cursed the Hawks saying they would never win a National Hockey League championship. Neither Muldoon's curse nor the combined efforts of the famed witches in folklore could deny this band of Hawks.

HIGH SCORERS

Led by Mikita and Bobby Hull, the Hawks have six players among the league's top 10 scorers. Mikita needs 10 points to break Hull's record of 97 in a season last year.

Hull, who scored a record 54 goals last season, got his 48th Sunday and is a cinch to reach the 50-goal plateau for a third time.

Glenn Hall, who recorded his second shutout of the season in the clincher, and Dennis DeJordy have a virtual lock on the Vezina Trophy for allowing the fewest number of goals scored.

Sophs Make Rice Track Outlook Bright Again

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—The record 3:10.8, which is sensational time for this early in the season. Observers began predicting the Owl quartet would win the Southwest Conference championship again after a season is over. The 440-yard relay team of Brown, Fred Cloud, Douglas Belzung and Bernauer did 49.8, tying the university division record.

Four of the second year men combined for 37 points and three records as Rice won the Border Olympics university class Saturday, scoring 63 points to 45 for the University of Houston and 42 for Baylor.

DASH STAR

Dale Bernauer was the leading exponent of sophomores. He won both the 100 and 200-yard dashes in 9.6 and 21.5 seconds, respectively, beating a star veteran like Wayne Brandt of Baylor in each instance. And he ran rousing legs on both of the Rice relay teams that figured in the record onslaught. His 15 points made him high man of the university class. The mile relay team of veteran John Moss and sophoms Mike Casey, Bernauer and Conley Brown ripped off an over-all

Boros Takes Citrus Open But He's Not Retiring

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros says he won enough money capturing the Citrus Open golf title to "pay off the mortgage and retire," but the cagey campaigner isn't quite ready to call it quits. Off to his fastest start in 17 seasons as a pro, the 47-year-old father of seven is determined to win a spot on the Ryder Cup squad which meets England's top professionals in October.

"There's not much money in the Ryder Cup, but it's worth a lot in prestige," Boros added after picking up a $23,000 check for winning the Citrus crown, his second title payoff of the year.

"That would be a great way to bow out, beating the English," Boros said, but later he added that he had no definite plans to retire.

NOT YET

"I used to retire every Monday and made a comeback every Thursday," said Boros, who with the rest of the Orlando contenders will play in the Jacksonville Open which starts Thursday.

Boros, now second on the 1967 official golf money list with $48,287 isn't playing like a man about to quit.

He and Arnold Palmer are the only two double winners of the pro tour this year, and Boros already has made more money than he did in any year since 1963 when he won three tournaments, including the U.S. Open for the second time. Boros, who won the Phoenix Open last month, shaved 10 strokes off par in his 73-hole tour of the Rio Pinar course, winning by one stroke over

Illi Prexy Hurls Lie

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dr. David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois, Sunday vehemently denied he had any knowledge of the $21,000 athletic slush fund prior to his report to the Big Ten last December. Dr. Henry called a charge that he knew about the fund "a total untruth."

Doug Mills, former Illinois athletic director who resigned Dec. 1, a couple of weeks before the scandal broke, was quoted by the Chicago Sun-Times that Dr. Henry "knew as much about the fund as I did."

In reply, Dr. Henry said, "That Mills knew little about the fund and its operation is belied by investigators. And witnesses on record both from the Big Ten and the university's staff."

He added, "That anybody at a higher administrative level than myself, including me and my faculty representative, had any knowledge of the fund or of the improper activities is a total untruth."

Tigers Schedule Meeting Today

Persons interested in playing with the Big Spring Tigers, oldest of the sandlot baseball teams in this area, are asked to attend a meeting at 7 p.m. today at the home of Gus Fierro, 106 NW 8th. An attempt will be made to set up a roster of players, name officials, a manager and to make plans for the season.

Stanton Ace Makes First Team Of State AA Stars

This year's Class AA all-state basketball teams are dominated by seniors but they had to find a place on the first team for one junior because he led his team to the state championship. That was Bob Chisum, biggest cog in the Hardin-Jefferson machine that swept to the title in a dark horse role. Otherwise, seniors made up all of the three top teams.

- ### FIRST TEAM
- Allen Springer, Stanton, 6-3, senior.
 - Randy Story, Mexia, 6-4, senior.
 - Bob Chisum, Hardin-Jefferson, 6-11, junior.
 - Harold Ayres, Hooks, 6-1, senior.

Fight Cancelled

TORONTO (AP) — Susan Hallacre, Niagara Falls, N.Y., won the 100-yard butterfly in 1:02.7, the 200-yard freestyle in 2:05.2 and the 400-yard individual medley in 5:06.6 Sunday in the Ontario senior swimming championships.

Swimmer Might Win SMU A National Title

LUBBOCK (AP) — Ken Merten, a transplanted Californian, may become the first national swimming champion in Southern Methodist and Southwest Conference history. The 21-year-old Merten already is a national champion as a representative of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He won the 100 and 200 breaststroke in the National AAU outdoor championship last summer and was rated best in the country in that stroke.

Last weekend he was easily the outstanding swimmer in the Southwest Conference meet, won for the 11th consecutive time by Southern Methodist. The Mustangs captured 15 of the 23 events.

He won the 200-yard individual medley and both breaststroke races and swam a leg on the winning 400-yard medley relay team.

Merten directs his next big effort in the NCAA championships at East Lansing, Mich., March 23-25.

Also looking for a national title next week will be two-time All-America Tim Birnie of SMU whose second-place in the 100-yard backstroke in the NCAA last year was the highest finish ever for a Southwest Conference swimmer.

The Kentucky Derby picture is expected to be clarified today with Successor making his first start as a 3-year-old to help welcome thoroughbred racing back to New York at Aqueduct.

Successor, the 2-year-old champion of 1966, is entered in the $25,000 Swift Stakes at six furlongs.

Successor's showing in the Swift, before a likely opening day turnout of 40,000, may indicate his fitness for the forthcoming Triple Crown classics of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Successor's performance also will be compared to the smashing come-from-behind victory of Reflected Glory in the Flamingo at Hialeah. The ease with which Reflected Glory drew out in the stretch made the Hirsch Jacobs-trained colt a strong contender for the Derby at Churchill Downs in May.

Damascus and Great Power, two other, highly regarded Triple Crown eligibles, made their seasonal debuts at Pimlico and Gulfstream Park last Saturday.

Great Power scored by four lengths over Lightning Orphan in a seven furlong allowance. He ran the distance in 1:22 3-5 and paid $3. Damascus jumped several fast puddles, but finished mad to beat Solar Bomb by a head in a six furlong allowance. He ran the distance in 1:12 1-5 and paid $3.20.

Dr. Fager, beaten only by Successor last year and runner-up to the Wheatley colt in the voting for 3-year-old championship honors, is expected to

Big Spring Pair Rolls 909 Pins

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Liberty McMahan of San Antonio rolled a 598 for first place in the Class B singles of the Texas Women's Bowling Tournament Sunday.

She replaced Della Patrick of Greenville and Connie Branch of Denison who had taken the lead Saturday night with 592.

There were 18 changes, three involving first places, in the sixth weekend of the tournament. There are five more weekends.

Big Tow Bowlines of Dallas took over first in the Class A team event with a 2633 and Linda Maberry and Marion Washburn of Big Spring shot a 909 for the novice doubles lead.

Palmer finished with a 68 and Knudson, 29-year-old Toronto veteran, roared home with a 68.

Women Advised To 'Pull It In, Hold In'

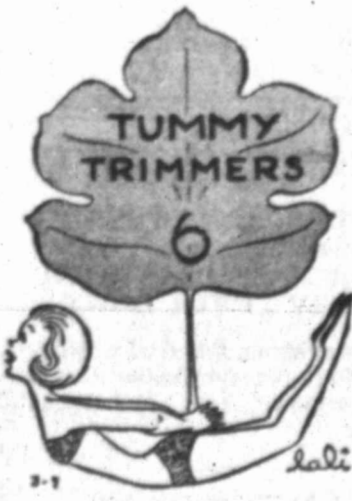

By MARY SUE MILLER

If you need to trim your abdomen, the first step is improved posture. Pull in the stomach and hold it in. Keep at the action until it becomes automatic.

In the development of a pudgy, flaccid abdomen, lax posture is as great a factor as overweight. This is true for both teens and adults.

Keeping a tight rein on the abdominal muscles may be very difficult, when you are not in the habit. Many girls and women claim that they "just can't." Well, you just bet you can if only you perform the following routine 10 times daily for 30 days — it both strengthens and slims: Lie face down on floor, with legs together and stretch out; clasp hands behind body and rest them on buttocks; pull in abdomen. Now simultaneously raise head, shoulders and legs — hold for five counts. Slowly return to starting position. Throughout, you know what — pull in those stomach muscles.

If you are generally overweight a reducing diet furthers the cause. Whether or not you need to lose, a girdle with a controlling front panel is a valuable aid, for it reminds you to contract the stomach muscles and, of course, it immediately improves appearance.

Start on this project today... all of it. Then you will soon be rid of a most disfiguring figure fault.

Skirts To Inch Up Still More

PARIS (AP) — Courreges brought out skirts three inches above the knee in his spring and summer collection today, and added knee-high striped socks with Baby Jane one-strap shoes.

The look was very much "little boy and little girl," according to a selected few who saw the opening show.

Fashion writers were held off until a late afternoon showing.

The collection appeared to be more feminine than last season's.

His girls were still wholesome, sporty, healthy, fresh-air specimens, wearing their hair in short pony tails or short cut.

He showed scalloped edgings around necklines, hemlines, sleeves and pockets, similar to what Givenchy and Balenciaga have shown. There were heart-shaped necklines, a departure from stark geometry.

Red suits were piped in white. The collection closed with three girls dressed in red suits with varying white detailing.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Keep Sugar Cubes Handy For Flavor

Dear Heloise:

I keep a bottle of sugar cubes with my salt and pepper by the stove.

When I want to add a taste of sugar to peas, carrots, etc., voila! One cube equals half a teaspoon, two cubes equals a teaspoon, etc. ... M.W.J.

I'm telling you, this gal really had her old thinking cap on when she came up with this slick trick.

By using sugar cubes you do not dribble sugar all over the counter and stove. And I guess all of us know what a mess that can be. Ugh! ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My sister-in-law cut a stainless steel scouring pad in three pieces.

Just before shampooing her hair, she puts a piece of the pad in the wash basin drain. This catches all the hair but lets the water run through.

The cross bars in the mouth of the drain keep the pad from disappearing down the drain... After she is through, she cleans off the hair and puts the pad in a jar and sets it up for the next time.

Since this is stainless steel, it doesn't rust. She has used the same one for at least six months.

Hair is a large contributor to stoppied-up drains and I was real happy to learn this. ... Mrs. Eugene Eppler

Dear Heloise:

I had trouble keeping flowers arranged in my large wide-mouthed flower vases.

So, I made a circle of styrofoam to exactly fit into the top of each vase and cut holes in this for the stems to go through.

I find that the styrofoam in the neck of the base holds large flowers in place much better than any frog in the bottom.

... Bertha Dirkee

Sure does. Besides, I find it is more sanitary because your frog isn't under the water. ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I found it terribly expensive to buy green peppers out-of-season.

So when green peppers are in season and plentiful, I buy some, dice them up, and spread 'em out on a cookie sheet and then freeze. After they are completely frozen, I put them in a freezer container with a lid.

Later, I can take out just as many pieces as any recipe calls for and they don't stick together.

Sure is nice to have green peppers for seasoning all the year around. ... Dolores Eastlick

And at your beck and call! Please don't throw away the seeds! They are wonderful to put in homemade chili, dips, spaghetti sauce, swiss steak, etc. Bless you! ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For years I have always removed the pane of glass from my aluminum storm door to clean it because of the fancy metal guard on the outside.

One day my 14-year-old son was helping me with the clean-
