

Sales Tax, Sunday Closing Bills Win Tentative Okay

Fatigued Senators Smash Filibuster

AUSTIN (AP) — Groggy, filibuster-fatigued senators tentatively approved a city sales tax bill and a Sunday closing law shortly after sunrise today, then quit until Monday.

Hours of searching failed to turn them up.

DELAYING DEVICE This delaying tactic held up everything, including the filibuster, which of course also is a delaying tactic.

Under a call, all senators present are locked in the Senate chamber while the search proceeds. It was the turn of the filibuster partisans to rest while sales tax advocates cooled their heels in the Senate.

Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan, not a member of the filibuster group, was brought in at 6:45 a.m., making a quorum.

The filibuster was resumed. Ten minutes later, five of the filibuster supporters walked in, and a sixth followed three minutes after that.

Earlier, a series of 17-12, 17-13 and 18-12 votes indicated the House approved permissive sales tax would win final approval.

FULLBLOWN Some sources said another controversial measure, also House-approved, to clamp tighter restrictions on Sunday purchases was at least a secondary cause of the 60th Legislature's first fullblown filibuster.

The Sunday closing bill is next on the Senate debate calendar.

And the sales tax discussion delayed immediate consideration by a Senate committee of still another hotly discussed measure—a proposed $1.25 an hour state minimum wage bill, not yet considered by the House.

The city sales tax filibuster began briefly before noon Wednesday with attempts by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston to postpone debate until April 6. After a break for lunch, Schwartz took a stand at his desk and directed a constant filibuster for almost eight hours.

TEST VOTE Joining with him from time to time by asking lengthy questions were Sens. Joe Bernal of San Antonio, Chet Brooks of Houston, Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, Barbara Jordan of Houston, Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, Bill Patman of Ganado and Charles Wilson of Lufkin.

On test votes, the group was joined by Sens. Jim Bates of Edinburg, Jack Strong of Longview and Henry Grover of Houston, the sole Republican in the Senate.

The April allowable was set at 3,151,459 barrels daily, based on a market demand factor of 35 per cent.

This represents a decline of 40,384 barrels daily from the March allowable of 3,191,843 barrels daily, figured on a March demand factor of 35.7.

The April percentage was the third straight decline after four consecutive monthly allowable hikes which reached a record 37.5 per cent in January.

The April allowable a year ago was 33.7.

SENATE CALL The 19-vote total was two under the 21 required for a quorum in the 31-member body.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo moved to put "a call on the Senate"—send out assistants of the sergeant-at-arms and highway patrolmen to round up missing members, through arrests if necessary.

It was the first call on the Senate since 1961. Ten of the missing members were part of the filibuster forces.

Child Dies Of Fall Injuries Rosetta Lacine Bryant, 14-month-old daughter of Airman 2.C. and Mrs. Nathaniel R. Bryant, was dead on arrival at the Webb AFB hospital at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday, as the result of injuries received in an accidental fall at home.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, said an inquest was being conducted in connection with the death of the child. Indications are that the child fell from a soft drink case while in the wash house at the Ranch Inn Apartments, where the family resides. Airman Bryant is assigned to the 3561st Student Training Squadron.

Survivors include her parents; paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bryant, Cleveland, Ohio; maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Berry, Cleveland, Ohio. River-Welch Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements and will deliver the remains to Cleveland, Ohio, for services.

Texas To Furnish 885 Gls In May AUSTIN (AP) — Texas will furnish 885 men in May for the armed forces, state draft officers said today.

This compares with draft quotas of 675 for April, 761 for March and 674 for February, said Col. Morris Schwartz, state draft director.

HONG KONG (AP) — Canton Radio said today the Red Chinese army has taken over the Communist party apparatus and most major factories in the south China metropolis, but other reports said stubborn resistance to Mao Tse-tung's purge is continuing there.

The Canton broadcast said units of the people liberation army seized control of all party committees in the city to "smash revolutionary influence by small numbers of authorities plotting with enemies and planning sabotage."

MANY FIGHTS Another broadcast said troops loyal to Mao took over factories and businesses in an effort to restore production and were "enthusiastically welcomed" by the workers. But other reports from Canton, which could not be confirmed, said there had been many fights between workers and Maoists and thousands of workers were staying away from their jobs.

Canton, 90 miles northwest of Hong Kong, the capital of Kwangtung Province and south China's largest city, has long been a center of opposition to Mao's "great proletarian cultural revolution," his name for the purge begun last summer. Recent reports have told of increased resistance of peasants and workers as Mao brought new pressure to take control of the province.

Tough Task Grandmother Will Oppose Adam Powell

NEW YORK (AP)—Lucille Pickett Williams, a 50-year-old grandmother, has taken on the Republican task of opposing Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11 because she wants to "preserve the two-party system."

For 20 years, she has been working for the Republican party while holding a series of jobs ranging from a stock girl at Sak's Fifth Avenue to teaching beauty culture at the YWCA.

'I Have No Fear'

"I am a determined woman," she says, noting that there appears to be overwhelming popular support for Powell in the Harlem community. She says she has no fear that the people will turn against her as they did on James H. Meredith when he agreed to oppose Powell as the Republicans first choice, then withdrew.

"I have no fear of the people up here," she says. "I've spent the best years of my life here, 22 years. I've worked hard for the two-party system. I think it's important for people who don't want to vote for Adam to have a choice."

Toehold in Harlem

A week ago when Meredith had declared his intention to run against Powell, Mrs. Williams was determined to stop him, because she was sure he would wreck the small toehold the Republicans have managed to get in Harlem.

Two days ago, she went into a caucus of Republican leaders determined to convince her party it should endorse Powell, as it did in 1958, when she supported him.

"I'm not foolish enough to think I can win," she told the caucus which was considering her as the candidate to replace Meredith.

'Powell Is A Legend'

Today, as the formally endorsed candidate of the Republicans, she no longer will say she doesn't think she can beat Powell.

She says she is determined to "do the very best I can" even though she realizes "Adam Clayton Powell is a legend in this community."

Several Harlem Democratic leaders appeared inclined toward simply dismissing her as a serious candidate.

Rolls Up Big Vote

A handsome Negro woman—5 feet 10 inches tall in her stocking feet—Mrs. Williams is little known outside of Harlem, where she has been a coleader of the GOP in the 74th Assembly District for 20 years.

She unsuccessfully ran for the state assembly in 1952 but rolled up a bigger numerical vote in Harlem than did the presidential winner, Dwight D. Eisenhower. She also was an unsuccessful candidate for the state assembly in 1954.

For the past eight years, Mrs. Williams has been serving as secretary to the Cosmetology Advisory Committee of the state of New York.

Kiddoes Cause Uproar

AUSTIN (AP)—Raising the compulsory school age from 16 to 17 two years ago has caused discipline problems in the public schools, the House Education Committee heard Wednesday.

"The kiddoes that are 17 years old are causing such an uproar that the teachers can't give their attention to the kids who want to learn," said Howard Roundtree of Sweetwater, the Nolan County juvenile officer.

The law now allows a youngster to leave school when he becomes 17.

Disciplinary Problems

"The idea was if we just had a little holding power—that's the way they put it—to hold these kids a year, we might be helping them. I don't believe it's worked that way . . . by and large, they are disciplinary problems, said Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater.

Dickson, who voted two years ago in favor of raising the school age, is sponsor of a bill cutting it back to a pupil's 16th birthday.

L. P. Sturgeon of the Texas State Teachers Association said Dickson's bill "would immediately give the right to 200,000 school children in Texas to drop out tomorrow."

He asserted that no educator appeared in behalf of the bill.

"This will move us in a direction exactly opposite from where we have been heading to keep these students off the street and help them make their way in life," he said.

OLD RED COMES THROUGH FOR DOLORES Dolores Lankford, and her grand champion steer. Steer Judge Buddy Logsdon looks on. (Other winners on Page 7-A)

Dolores Wins Again With Champ Steer

By SAM BLACKBURN Old Red, all 1,056 pounds of him, came through in big league style Wednesday afternoon and copped the grand championship Hereford honors for his young owner, Dolores Lankford.

The big, red calf, skillfully shown by 15-year-old Dolores, topped the steer competition and will be sold tonight as the best animal in the Howard County FFA and 4-H Stock Show.

SECOND CHAMP It was Dolores' second grand championship in a row. She won the title in 1966 with another steer which had caught the eye of Hereford experts at many shows.

Old Red had almost made the top money on two other occasions. Earlier this season, he was reserve champion in Kansas City at the Royal Livestock Show and more recently won similar honors at the Fort Worth show.

Auction sale, at which 17 of the prize winning steers, and 70 of the top lambs shown Tuesday and Wednesday at the 26th Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fair Stock Show, will be held tonight at the Fair Grounds Building.

The public is invited to attend. The auction starts at 7:30 p.m. Any person interested in buying some of the animals will be welcome.

The grand champion steer of the show will be one of the steers sold.

A barbecue dinner will be served at 6 p.m. at the barn. Buyers, exhibitors, officials and friends of the 4-H and FFA are to be guests at this meal.

The big barn is heated and there are plenty of seats for spectators.

Robbie Haney, also a veteran of the show ring, was the winner.

Texas Baby Found Knifed, Garrotted

FLOYDADA, Tex. (AP) — South Plains officers searched today for the slayers of a newborn infant, found stabbed and garrotted in a drainage ditch near here.

Deputy Sheriff Foster Amburn said the Latin American baby was stabbed in the left side of the chest and a cord was wound tightly around the neck.

The body was found in a ditch near Barwise.

ner of the reserve championship Wednesday. His 880 pound steer had won first place in the lightweights to get a whack at the top title.

Lawrence Long was the first place winner in the medium-weight division and his victory there moved him into the struggle for the grand championship.

Lawrence's entry lost out to those of Dolores and Robbie, but it won its young owner a $100 savings bond, awarded annually by Loy Acuff, Howard County ranchman, to the youngster who shows the top Hereford bred in this county. His steer was bred by Lloyd Robinson, Howard County rancher.

PRaised QUALITY Buddy Logsdon, who judged the steers, was loud in his praise of the quality of the animals and took much time before he made his decision.

The lamb champions were determined about 1 p.m. from the 150 entries.

The Crenshaw brothers took two of the lamb championships and Elaine Webb the third.

James Crenshaw got the banner for the best Fine Wool lamb entered. His brother, Dale, took similar honor for the best Crossbred, and Elaine's Medium Wool was rated top in that field.

Garrison's Star Faces Questions

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Whiskers for Lee Harvey Oswald and some tough questions haunted the Kennedy assassination conspiracy case against Clay L. Shaw today.

District Court panel he was present in mid-September, 1963, when Shaw, Oswald and David W. Ferrie plotted to kill the President.

Kennedy was shot about two months later in Dallas.

Shaw, booked but not formally charged with conspiracy to murder, has said he never knew Oswald or Ferrie. Free under $10,000 bond, he is the only man of the three named by Russo still living.

Ferrie, 49, a free-lance pilot with a record of morals offenses, died last Feb. 22 while under investigation by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison. The death was officially listed as due to natural causes.

Oswald was killed in Dallas after the assassination.

Russo, stolid under Dymond's questioning, said Oswald had seemed vaguely familiar when he saw photographs of him in 1963, but it wasn't until "they put whiskers on him" that he knew Oswald was the same man he had seen in Ferrie's apartment.

Russo, of Baton Rouge, had told the three-judge criminal court that he had seen Oswald in New Orleans in 1963, but he didn't recognize Lee Harvey Oswald, the one-time New Orleans resident named as the assassin, from television and newspaper photographs shown at the time? Dymond asked.

Dear Abby

The Matter Of Glasses

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a girl who will graduate from college in June. I am a professional man. When she went home for Christmas vacation she had herself fitted for contact lenses. Abby, I LIKED her in glasses (I wear them, too) and I have never told her that I would like her better in contact lenses. I didn't even know she was interested in them.

For whom is she preening? Whom else, besides me does she have to please? Why this sudden vanity? To top it off, her lenses have a violet hue, a la Elizabeth Taylor, and the girl I love has hazel eyes. Should I put her to the test and ask her to choose between me and the contacts?

ONLY HER FIANCE
DEAR ONLY: Perhaps she's pleasing only herself, which is her privilege. You should be familiar enough with the girl you're about to marry to tell her you like her better in spectacles than in contacts. Having said it, drop it. If you insist on making this a matter of "choice" the lady needs neither glasses nor contacts to see the handwriting on the wall.

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago my boyfriend asked me to marry him. I turned him down for reasons I won't go into here.

Well, lots has happened since then, and now I would like very much to marry him, but he hasn't asked me lately.

Is it ever all right for a girl to do the asking? What I mean is, how can I get him to ask to marry me again without coming right out and asking him?

READY NOW
DEAR READY: You might have to come right out and ask him. And if you want to marry him, and he hasn't asked you "lately," that might not be such a bad idea.

DEAR ABBY: We are eight retired housewives (rather our husbands are retired — wives never do) and we have a common problem. We live in Clearwater, Florida, and have all received cards and letters from friends up north who write, "We plan to drop in for a visit this winter."

Nothing is said about WHEN they will drop in, or for how long. This is disturbing because since we have no idea when to expect them, or for how long, we can't make any plans of our own, or even accommodate others who have planned to visit us.

Please print this with your comment for the benefit of others who are similarly vexed.

CLEARWATER, FLA.
DEAR CLEARWATER: Unless you are running a resort and booking reservations, you should be ASKED if it is convenient to receive guests at a specific time for a specific number of days. Those who would descend on you with the kind of "notice" you describe should be given directions to the nearest motel.

Reagan To Fire 3,000 Workers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration says the jobs of almost 3,000 state workers will be eliminated, mainly in the area of mental hygiene.

Philip Battaglia, Reagan's executive secretary, said Tuesday the cutbacks would be made this year and next. He said they will save the state $20 million annually.

The total state work force is 166,000, including state college and university employees.

Texas Auto Deaths Soar

AUSTIN (AP) — Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said Wednesday that a record 3,406 traffic deaths were recorded in Texas last year.

This was an increase of 378 deaths over the previous traffic fatality record of 3,028 in 1965.

Garrison said the most deadly period was the Oct. 29-30 weekend when 51 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. There were 15 or more persons killed on 55 days of 1966.

The department estimated 524,972 accidents occurred last year, resulting in injuries to 208,310 persons and causing an estimated $557 million economic loss.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
The above hand first saw the light of day in an International match held between the United States and England. Alho the result was a disaster for the American team, the deal provides a useful illustration of how a seemingly hopeless situation may be rescued by a resourceful declarer who retains his poise against heavy odds.

When the United States held the North-South cards, North chose to open the bidding with one no trump after three passes. There was no further action taken, and in the play of the hand North suffered a one trick setback. He received a spade opening, and when he tried to establish South's club suit, West held up the ace for one round and thereby permanently retired the dummy from the play.

At the other table with the English seated North and South, the bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram. North took an optimistic view of his holding, and when his partner responded to his one heart opening with a bid of one no trump, he proceeded directly to game—alho he held only 18 points in high cards.

West opened the deuce of spades which was ducked in dummy, and East put up the queen to hold the trick. On the spade return, West covered the jack with the king and dummy played the ace. Prospects were virtually nil for South since any attempt to win nine tricks required bringing in the club suit. This was an exceedingly dim prospect since he lacked an entry to his hand, even if the suit should become established.

A bold front, however, can sometimes accomplish wonders. Declarer led the jack of clubs from dummy and then topped this with the king from his own hand. The sight of two honors on the table must have exerted a hypnotic spell on West, for he unwisely released the ace of clubs without further ado.

The defenders cashed two spade tricks; however, when South regained the lead with dummy's ace of diamonds, he led the six of clubs and finessed the nine in his hand. The queen split out the suit and after declarer finished running the clubs, a successful finesse of the jack of hearts came as an anticlimax.

Altogether South took four clubs, three hearts, one diamond, and one spade—in other words, the English bid and made three no trump while the Americans with the very same cards were set at a contract of one no trump.

Winds Lash West Coast

By The Associated Press

Snow tapered off in the Northeast today after a storm left heavy amounts. Rain, snow and gusty winds still lashed the West Coast from central California to Washington.

The storm in the Northeast, heading out to sea, left 14 inches of snow at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and six to 12 inches covered areas from northeast Pennsylvania and southeast New York into southern and central New England. About 10 inches fell at Windsor Locks, Conn., near Hartford. Boston got seven inches and Albany, N.Y., six inches. Strong winds caused some drifting.

In the far West, whole gale warnings were displayed along the California coast from near Crescent City to Point Arena. Gale warnings were posted in other parts of the storm belt from south of San Francisco, northward along coastal areas of Oregon and Washington.

The Weather Bureau said winds ranging from 30 to 60 m.p.h., with some higher gusts, were expected in inland parts of northern California and western Oregon. Winds up to 75 m.p.h. were indicated through mountain passes and along mountain ridges.

Elks Lodge To Dedicate New Home During Weekend

Climaxing 17 years of history under the present charter, Big Spring Elks Lodge 1386 will dedicate its new home at Marcy and Goliad this weekend.

Activities will begin with a "wearing of the green" birthday party Friday evening, because this is the anniversary date of the institution of the lodge here in 1950. The party starts at 8 p.m. and Jack Kimble, exalted ruler, will propose the 11 o'clock toast.

Saturday will be a big day, starting with a meeting, open to all Elks, in the lodge rooms. Bob Biffle, Galveston, chairman of the Texas Elks State Association lodge relations committee, will conduct the meeting.

The formal dedication is set for 3 p.m. in the lodge home with Kimble officiating. Mayor Arnold Marshall is to extend the welcome, joined by George Zachariah, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce and himself a past exalted ruler of the local lodge.

El Paso Lodge 187 will stage a special ritual, and Alex A. McKnight, Dallas, member of the grand lodge committee on new lodges, will recall the history of the Big Spring order.

E. M. Schleiter, Kerrville, chairman of the state new lodge committee, will recognize several special guests, including Rollin Phipps, Midland, vice president of the Texas West district of TESA; James J. Sharp, San Antonio, president - elect, TESA; J. W. Ellis, Harlingen, president of TESA; C. A. Chapin, El Paso, district deputy grand exalted ruler; H. S. Rubenstein, Brenham, special deputy grand exalted ruler.

Other activities Saturday include a buffet dinner, followed by a dance to the music of the Vets Combo. Joel Ellis will propose the traditional 11 o'clock toast.

Activities conclude Sunday with a coffee session at 9 a.m., followed at 10 a.m. with a past exalted rulers conference in charge of Rubenstein, and W. S. Hembree Jr., chaplain of the Big Spring lodge.

Visitor registration will be in charge of Bob Evans and R. H. (Sharty) Snyder, assisted by members of the BPOE Does.

Present Lodge Has Thrived Here

When the Big Spring Elks Lodge 1386 received the third charter for a local chapter, there was not much to commend it to a brighter future than two predecessors.

It has, however, not only survived but also has thrived. Indeed, it has returned a vigor comparable to the halcyon days of the early 20's when the Elks were the most active organization in these parts — staging giant children's Christmas parties and even sponsoring a semi-pro baseball team that was the scourge of the West.

The present lodge came into being as result of contacts made by Emmett C. Bunch, Odessa, in 1949. The charter was presented on March 17, 1950, with 48 initiates and 41 transfer members. Twenty-one of these are still on the roll. Until recently the lodge maintained quarters in the Crawford Hotel building.

Activities have been numerous. They include such things as a third Tuesday party at the VA hospital (for nearly 17 years now), Flag Day program, bookmobile and walking blood bank, youth scholarships, support of the Elks Crippled Children's Hospital, H.C.J.C. scholarship, distribution of copies of Bill of Rights, sponsoring a Negro Boy Scout troop, newspaper week observances, and many others. The club paid off its $1,000 donation to the National Elk's Foundation and is whittling away another. It is habitually one of the first to pay in its per capita on the chil-

Two Texans Rip Barges

SAIGON (AP) — Two Texans were among the jet bomber pilots who destroyed barges in North-Vietnam Tuesday, the Navy said today.

They are Cmdr. Lee Minnis of Dallas and Lt. (jg) Joel Taliaferro of Odessa.

Minnis led a flight of A4 Skyhawks that destroyed two barges 26 miles north of Vinh with 250 and 500 pound bombs.

Lt. Gano Dick of Hanford, Calif., on his fifth mission over Vietnam, was flying with Minnis.

"We were flying through an overcast about 20 miles north of Vinh when we spotted the barges through a break in the clouds," Dick said. "We rolled over on our backs, dove through the hole and dropped out bombs, destroying the barges."

Taliaferro got a single barge about five miles southwest. Lt. (jg) Jules Harper of Fort Myers, Fla., said he watched Taliaferro drop a bomb that hit the stern of the barge and sank it.

Forensic Award

BEAUMONT (AP)—Mrs. Elbert Pickell, South Park High School speech teacher, has been selected to receive the National Forensic League Two Diamond Award.

Bruno E. Jacob, executive secretary of the National Forensic League, said only 70 speech teachers in the 40 years of the League's existence has received this award. It is given only to sponsors of local chapters who earn 30,000 points in interscholastic events.

McAlister Tells Lions How GAMCO Was Started

The teaching of mathematics requires more than a yardstick, a string and a piece of chalk. Yet, not so long ago, this was about the extent of equipment for most math teachers.

This gave George McAlister an idea, he told the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting, and today it has blossomed into an enterprise with more than two million dollars annual sales.

McAlister heads GAMCO Inc., a manufacturing and distributive firm which grew out of a residential garage operation. He first sought to get a major supplier to put out products which would fill the need of teaching aids he had suggested, but when no one would listen, McAlister started designing his own drafting paper and making his own lined boards with rectangular and polar coordinates.

With $150 for printing and postage, he mailed a circular telling about his aids. Soon orders began to trickle, then pour in. Lining boards by hand was time consuming until he discovered piano hinges were on one-inch centers. Then he created a jig which would guide his lines as fast as he could lift the roller. On a good day he could turn out as many as 25 which he sold for $32.50, which, incidentally, is today's price.

This led to other innovations and other aids, then to distribution of a host of mathematical instruments and teaching helps. As other products were taken on, the original name of Math-Master was confined to one division of the parent company of GAMCO. There are three other divisions now — Gamco Chalkboards, Creative Visuals and Educational Computers.

Hundreds of items are produced or handled through the plant here, employing 75 to 85 people. Sales are made all over the world.

"I think the field of educational aids has one of the brightest futures," said McAlister. "Teachers are going to have to have these to meet the demands of faster, better teaching of more pupils."

"There is no better money spent than for schools and teachers. If we are to preserve and protect the chance for an individual to strive for something higher instead of reducing everyone to a common denominator, it will be done through education. The cheapest and best dollar you'll invest is in education."

McAlister told the club of previous inventive excursions. He turned out an evaporator ("North Wind") air conditioner, which got shot down by the Korean War (McAlister and his colleague-partner, Harold Davis) got called to active duty.

Nominees for new officers were announced. Included are Jimmy Ray Smith, president; Clyde McMahon Jr., first vice president; Waymon Clark, second vice president; Winston Winkle, third vice president; Morris Rhodes, secretary; F. D. (Red) Williams, Liontamer; Joe Pond and James Hatter, directors; R. H. Snyder, Wayne Tolleit and John Richard Coffee, talltwisters.

Connally To Sign Local Bill Soon

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, said today that the office of Gov. John Connally informed him Wednesday the bill abolishing the office of county superintendent in this county will be signed sometime within the next 10 days.

No more specific information is available, the governor's office explained. It requires only the signature of the executive to activate its provisions. The bill was introduced by Rep. Temple Dickson and Sen. David Ratliff and has been passed by both houses.

The bill, when signed, will end the services of a superintendent's office in this county and delegate what duties the office still has to the county judge.

ONLY ELECTRICITY GIVES YOU FLAMELESS COOKING

CLEAN Flameless electric ranges cook with heat as clean as electric light. There are no fuel combustion by-products to soil kitchen walls, curtains and woodwork. Pan bottoms stay bright. Your kitchen stays fresh and new looking longer with a minimum of cleaning and care.

COOL With electric cooking, there are no flames to waste heat into the kitchen air. And because the flameless electric oven heats without combustion, it requires no flow of air into and out of it. The oven is insulated all around — including the bottom — to keep heat inside where it belongs.

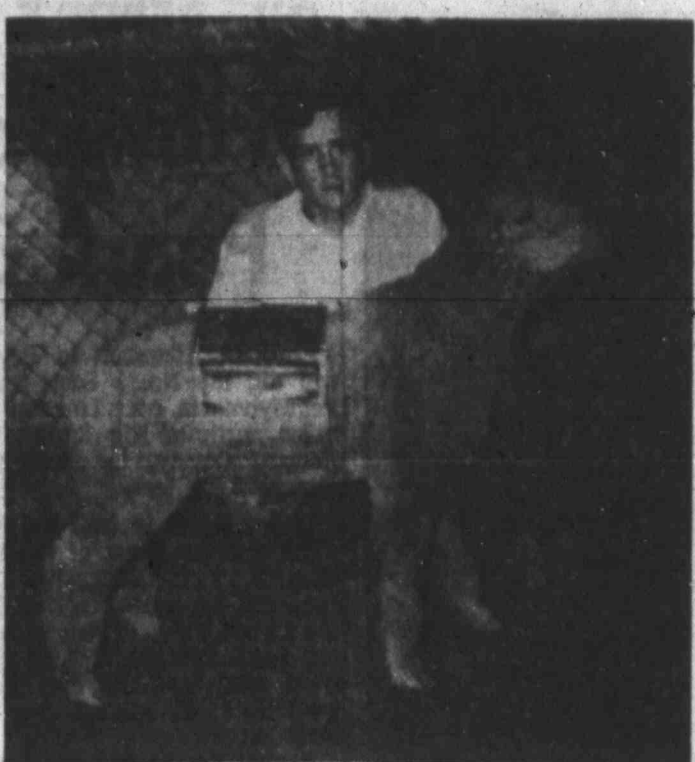

MODERN Only an electric range offers so many modern features for easier, more enjoyable cooking. Many models offer such features as color-lighted pushbuttons or dial controls, clock-controlled ovens, automatic surface units and meat thermometers. Some models even have ovens that clean themselves electrically.

No Quorum, Action Taken During Parks Board Meet

The Parks and Recreation Board failed to have a quorum of members present for the regular meeting Wednesday and could take no action on three agenda items.

J. B. Wetsel, municipal golf pro, told the board the Jaycees want to sponsor a golf tournament on the Municipal Course, and asked the board if they could use the course without paying the standard green fees. The board discussed the loss of money for the two-day tournament, and decided they needed more details, expressing a desire to have Ben Faulkner, with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, to talk with them at the next meeting.

The board reviewed the suggested names for city parks, because of interest shown by those bearing the same name as has been proposed for remaining parks. The board decided to seek more information concerning Colonel Slaughter for the possible naming of the City Park to Slaughter Park. Jim Baum was chosen to talk to Jess Slaughter to obtain more information.

Projects mentioned for consideration in long range planning were: a golf course clubhouse, development for historic sites, development for city-school parks, improvement for the amphitheater, a beautification program, improvement of the city park entrance, addition of public play fields, the "big spring site" improved, and establishing the position of recreation director. These subjects were discussed briefly, but no definite plans were made.

The U.S. Command said a civilian sailor and a U.S. military policeman aboard the ship were wounded.

The enemy shells exploded in the area of the pilot house.

Good Response To Blub Sale

The Fat Cats are setting the pace in the Downtown Lions Club annual light bulb sale.

The division led by John F. Smith had sold approximately 450 packets of bulbs in the first day, but Don Shoemaker's Lean Lions were planning on a surge of strength as the sale is resumed today.

Jimmy Ray Smith, general chairman, said that the response so far had been good. Wherever people have been at home, there has been a better than average ratio of purchases. "We are grateful to everyone who buys the bulbs," he said, "and we want them to know that every time we put a pair of glasses on some child or adult who can't afford them, or when we are able to help a blind person, those who bought bulbs are having a part in that help."

Bunker's First Task Is To Push Constitutional Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is sending his top crisis diplomat, 72-year-old Ellsworth Bunker, to Vietnam to replace retiring ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Bunker's immediate task will be to assure success of efforts already under way to form a new, constitutional South Vietnamese government.

The Lodge resignation and Bunker appointment, suddenly announced by Johnson Wednesday, were the most important changes in a far reaching shake-up of the U.S. Embassy staff in Saigon. No changeover date was announced, however.

DETERMINATION

The overhaul reportedly reflects a determination by the President to put new emphasis on trying to develop political stability in the South Vietnamese capital and to step up pacification of the war-ravaged countryside. Johnson is reported to consider both as vital fronts in the fight to defeat Communist conquest of the South.

Almost as Johnson talked, there were reports from Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin and United Nations sources of fresh peace initiatives. Washington sources said they were aware of these developments but that no indication of change in Hanoi's policy had been received.

Johnson also announced that Gen. William C. Westmoreland's military command will be strengthened by "additional top flight military personnel — the best that the country has been able to provide." He promised intensive ground operations in the months ahead.

There is continuing speculation here that Westmoreland may be given a new Southeast Asia theater command, but Johnson made no mention of any such change in the course of his announcements during a speech at Nashville, Tenn.

WAR MEETING

The President is scheduled to fly to Guam, leaving Washington Saturday night, for a Vietnamese war conference which will bring together Bunker, Lodge, Westmoreland and other U.S. leaders involved in the conflict. South Vietnamese leaders including Premier Nguyen Cao Ky will also attend.

Despite denials from various official sources, Ambassador Lodge is known to have been interested for some months in relinquishing the Saigon post as soon as the President could find a replacement. He began his present tour of duty as ambassador in South Vietnam in August, 1965. He had previously held the post from August, 1963, to June, 1964.

At a news conference last Thursday, Johnson was asked about reports Lodge wanted to resign and Johnson was looking for a successor.

"No, there is no truth that I am looking for a successor," said Johnson. "Ambassador Lodge has talked to me on several occasions that he, in due time, would leave his post."

The President's decision to accept his resignation at this time apparently triggered the series of moves which was made public Wednesday.

Daylight Savings Time In Texas...Who Wants It?

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

"So who needs daylight savings time?" ask the theater owners, the restaurateurs, and the farmers.

"We do!" reply television station and airline spokesmen, commuting businessmen, stock brokers, and big city industrialists and bankers.

The battle to decide what time Texans will abide by from April through October has developed as a sleeper controversy of the 60th legislature with as much mail received on it as on most of the headline-grabbers.

FULL DEBATE

The legislature must specifically exempt Texas from the 1966 federal Uniform Time Act by April 30—or else the state will join the bulk of the nation in setting clocks back an hour for daylight saving time.

The arguments crystallized recent testimony on companion bills to keep Texas on standard time.

The House bill was shuffled to a subcommittee but the Senate measure was approved for debate by the full membership.

Testimony indicated that at most three or four states are expected to exempt themselves from the uniform time act. South Dakota is the only one so far.

MAVERICK TRAITS

Industrialists, businessmen, stock brokers and airlines say this isn't the time for Texas to assert its maverick traits—just because Congress proposed the standardization.

"Very simply, if virtually everyone else is going to be on daylight savings time, why get out of step?" asked Ed Burris, executive vice president of the Texas Manufacturers Association.

The TMA board of directors voted overwhelmingly in favor of daylight savings time at a Jan. 27 meeting, Burris said.

Outdoor movies stand to lose $10 million annually if the states move the time back to where darkness comes at nearer 9 p.m. rather than 8 p.m., as in summers past, since double-features would run too late for most people, says Edwin Tobolowsky Jr. of Dallas.

'DELAYED FEED'

He says indoor theaters also would be hurt because with more daylight time movie-goers might get diverted before they step up to the box office.

The television industry will have to invest in $13 million in equipment, says Ves Box of KRLD-TV in Dallas, just to delay shows until most Texans arrive home from work, if Texas exempts itself from the daylight savings time. Until this year, the national networks have accommodated states on standard time by offering "delayed feed" of key shows.

FARMERS FUME

But this practice will end when the federal act takes effect, says Box, general manager of KRLD and spokesman for television broadcasters.

Two additional groups have gone on record in opposition to daylight savings time—the restaurants and the Texas Farm Bureau. Neither is fighting for the exemption as vigorously as the theater owners.

"Farmers work by the sun and not the clock, and they don't want to go into town while the stores closed," said Bill Hoover of Waco, information director of the farm bureau.

INCONVENIENCE

"But it's a matter of inconvenience, not really of finances," Ed McKay, legislative director of the farm bureau said, however, the issue is "not worldshaking"—such as the question of keeping farm equipment exempt from a state sales tax—and "it's not something we'll bring in delegations on or lobby each member of the legislature on or anything like that."

"Our 800 voting delegates said they didn't want daylight savings time and we notify our membership of the progress of the legislation, that's all."

The Texas Restaurant Association board members voted 92-1 recently in favor of exempting Texas from the daylight savings time, estimating the loss from 10 to 30-per cent.

"People eat breakfast and lunch by the clock but they eat supper when the sun goes down," said Charles W. Horan Jr., operator of five Fort Worth cafeterias. If the sun doesn't go down until 9 p.m., restaurants will have to stay open later, he said, or see their business fizzle.

Gov. John Connally has not taken a stand in the controversy.

Much speculation in the legislature revolves around whether federal agencies would be forced by the uniform time act to operate on daylight savings time—regardless what Texas decides.

In answer to an Associated Press query, the Civil Service Commission in Washington said it saw nothing in the act that would require federal agencies to go on a time different to what was established in the state.

Only one clause in the act could be interpreted to influence government agencies and that covered instances where an agency advertised bids for purchases, for instance, and set a deadline. The deadline—say, 4 p.m. April 30—would be interpreted as 4 p.m. daylight savings time.

COW MILKING

The farmers speak of added inconvenience if they had to milk their cows in the middle of the afternoon under daylight savings time.

But the big city businessmen, stock brokers and airline representatives talk in terms of the added convenience if they were closer to the East Coast by an hour, rather than two hours, as it has traditionally been in summer.

"We get to work at 9 a.m. and it's already 11 a.m. in New York," says R. H. Burke, vice president of public affairs for Braniff International and a spokesman for the airlines industry.

BORDER PROBLEMS

"They're just about ready to go to lunch by the time we call them—we may have 30 minutes to talk business. When they get back from lunch you're eating. When you get through, they're ready to go home. So you may have an hour or an hour and a half to communicate during the day," Burke said.

If Texas joined the East Coast in daylight savings time the business communications time would be expanded greatly, he said.

None of the four regional chambers of commerce has taken stands on the daylight savings matter—partially because the cities bordering Mexico feel they will be at a disadvantage with Mexico keeping on standard time.

EL PASO'S ANGLE

Martin Miles of El Paso's Chamber of Commerce estimated his city would lose from $75 to $100 million in New Mexico business if Texas fails to exempt itself from daylight saving time. El Paso is the only spot in Texas on Mountain Standard Time—as is New Mexico—but it could be challenged by the federal government if it deviated from the rest of Texas' time after the new act passes.

William Hobby, executive editor of the Houston Post, said Texas in effect would be on mountain standard time for six months of the year if it exempts itself from the standardization bill and the neighboring mountain standard time states go along with the daylight savings bill.

Hobby said he mentioned that the Republican National Convention scouts had indicated a slight preference to locate in a city in the central time zone and Texas' potential exemption would mean forfeiting one small advantage over other states bidding for the convention.

EMOTIONAL CRY

A survey by Southwest Research Institute requested by the Post indicated, Hobby said, that the emotional outcry about school children catching buses in the dark was not very valid. He said that for three of the months involved, school is out and in the others, the days are the longest.

Tobolowsky, in arguing to retain standard time, said "Texas already has beautiful long days and long nights and we don't need that artificial time... Before now, 36 states have had daylight savings time and Texas has never been considered out of step or in the minority then."

"Until you put everybody on the same time and say, arbitrarily, it's now noon all over the world, whether it may be light or dark, there's going to be a difference in time because time follows the sun," Tobolowsky said.

"I realize there may be many people inconvenienced because of fewer hours to communicate with the East, but I don't see where we're at all hurt by it," he added.

Arguing on the opposite side, Dick Davis, manager of Dallas' Merrell, Lynch, Fenner and Smith brokerage office, said "Unless people have worked in an area where there is daylight savings time they don't realize the benefits. It's quite obvious the sun comes up that much earlier—the whole principle is to take advantage of the number of productive hours."

"But it's really a matter of convenience and standardization," Davis said.

A LOVELIER YOU

Reducing Road Map Starts You Off Right

By MARY SUE MILLER

Seriously now, would you set out on a cross-country drive without a road map it's not likely!

Yet the majority of us girls set out on the tortuous road to reducing without so much guidance as a calorie counter. And this is precisely why so many of us fall by the wayside.

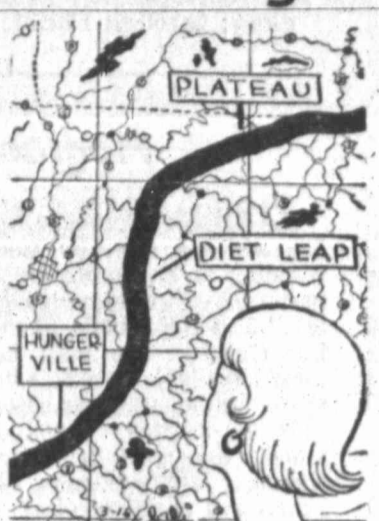

To reach your goal, you must keep an accurate account of your mileage and fuel — your calorie and nutritional intake. After that you must come to an understanding of the possible obstacles ahead. Few journeys ever went off without a hitch and, least of all, this one.

Awareness of stumbling blocks helps you to side-step them. Be sure to take particular note of these:

During the first few dieting days, expect to be hungry. Hunger pangs seem mild, when you expect the worst. Indeed you may not feel them at all. In any event they soon pass.

After some weeks of dieting, anticipate a period when your weight losses taper off. And be not discouraged when and if they do. The occurrence is known as the "dieting plateau" — a resting place where your system gains time to adjust. If you stick with your diet, your weight starts sliding downhill again.

Above all, face the fact that occasionally you will fail off your diet. At such times put aside your conscience and enjoy your spree. It will fortify your resolve to stay on the road to reducing for longer and longer stretches, until you reach the end and normal weight.

A Devotional For The Day

As far as the east is from the west, so far does he remove our transgressions from us. (Psalm 103:12, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, help us to guard against cutting off our communication and companionship with Thee. For sins committed in thought and in deed, grant us forgiveness. Teach us to accept Thy forgiveness with rejoicing and be governed by the desire to live to Thine honor and for Thy glory; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Program That Needs Help

The Office of Economic Opportunity has declared federally aided family planning to be "probably the single most cost-effective antipoverity measure." The U.S. Public Health Service has called it the most economical means available to reduce infant mortality. Neither religious objections nor political controversy nor disinterest among the poor has deterred the spread of family planning and related health and social services to tens of thousands of low-income families in 74 projects nationwide.

But that vital phase of the war-on-poverty's Community Action Programs is now endangered. In a recent Washington press conference, Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood — World Population, warned that current fund cutbacks in the antipoverity program is putting 44 family-planning projects in 24 states in jeopardy. "The gains of the last two years are being vitiated," he said, and his board unanimously resolved:

"Thousands of low-income parents, who for the first time have been introduced to modern family planning, will have no place to turn to for continued care. Thousands more will be denied the opportunity to exercise freedom of choice in family planning. Their aspirations to control the size of their families in order to provide a better future for their children will be thwarted. Our nation cannot afford to allow this to happen. Our nation can afford to provide these urgently needed services which are aimed at one of the root causes of poverty."

Dr. Guttmacher urged Congress to appropriate fully authorized funds, and for OEO and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to make emergency shifts of available funds, to sustain the family-planning projects of the Community Action Programs at least at their present level. That seems a reasonable priority, and a noninflationary proposal.

The Timing And The Climate

Sen. Thomas Dodd (D., Conn.) likely would be satisfied had the Senate disposed of his ethics case last year, or that it wouldn't come up just at this precise moment.

Among other things, he had been called upon to answer charges that he had misapplied campaign funds for personal use. This he at first ignored and then denied. His colleagues listened and delayed, allowing for a period of cool-off.

But the climate has grown warmer, not cooler, thanks to Adam Clayton Powell over in the House. Powell, whose arrogance and lack of subtlety gradually needed a large number of his peers, was summarily booted from the House. He raised the issue of race, the implication being that he wouldn't have been expelled had he been white.

Thomas Dodd is over in the other chamber, for which House members must be grateful, but he cannot help but be caught in the web of Powell's charges. One indication of this is the circulating of affidavits to many who attended dinners for the senator, attesting that they considered the funds as contributing cash to Sen. Dodd personally as a testimonial. But the response has been considerably short of overwhelming, for many indicated they conceived these to be campaign affairs. In a more recent move, the senator has offered to refund moneys, personally applied, to those who might have considered them campaign contributions.

He faces the bar of friendly but uncomfortable colleagues, some of whom may have been beneficiaries of somewhat similar situations. Perhaps the cases are not altogether parallel, but they are bound in some degree together in that battered quality called conscience.

Art Buchwald Meredith Blew The Presidency

WASHINGTON — James Meredith's decision not to run against Adam Clayton Powell for the Harlem congressional seat was a disappointment to Republicans everywhere.

There was more at stake than just a congressional seat. A reliable Republican source told me: "The Harlem election was a trial balloon to see if Meredith could pull in enough votes to make him a serious contender for the Presidential nomination. If Meredith did well against Powell, we were going to build him up for the big job. As a matter of fact, we were all set to start promoting a James Meredith — Ronald Reagan ticket for 1968."

"How well would Meredith have had to do against Powell?"

"HE WOULD have had to beat Powell by at least 3-to-1. The day Meredith quit, the polls showed that he was trailing Powell slightly. But many of us felt he would pick up steam in the last two weeks."

"Why do you think there were so many people in Harlem who were opposed to Meredith running against Powell?"

"I think they heard about our Presidential plans for him. Many people said Meredith was just going to use the congressional race as a stepping stone to higher office and they resented it. One lady told me, 'When I elect a congressman, I want a congressman, not a Presidential candidate.'"

"DID MEREDITH know you were considering him for higher office?"

"No, we decided not to tell him. It might have confused his campaign."

"Then you were just going to let him get elected to Congress before you revealed what you really had in mind for him?"

"That's it. We wanted to test the exposure, see how he stood up under pressure, how he came over to television. We wanted to be sure he was the right man for the job."

"How did you arrive on James Meredith?"

"WE NEVER thought of him because we didn't even know he was available. But then when he agreed to run against Powell in Harlem on the Republican ticket, someone said we were wasting him on a congressional seat when we are so desperate for a winner in the big race."

"That was good thinking," I said.

"Meredith had a lot going for him. He was a strong campaigner, a familiar face, had a good civil rights record and he hadn't committed himself on Vietnam. With Reagan as his running mate we would keep both the conservatives and the liberals happy."

"WELL, WHAT do you think made Meredith change his mind about running for public office?"

"It's hard to say. Maybe he didn't want to get into a primary fight with Romney, or perhaps the Rockefeller people got to him first. In any case the only one who will benefit from his decision not to run is Powell. With Meredith out of the race Powell is bound to win now."

"That's tough luck," I said. "Now that Meredith is out of the running for the Presidential nomination it does not look as though you have anybody."

"Oh, I don't know. There's always Nixon."

Billy Graham

After a person has repented and is a child of God, can he live above sin? Does such a person quit going to the movies, ball games, and refrain from dressing "like the world"? Please answer this.

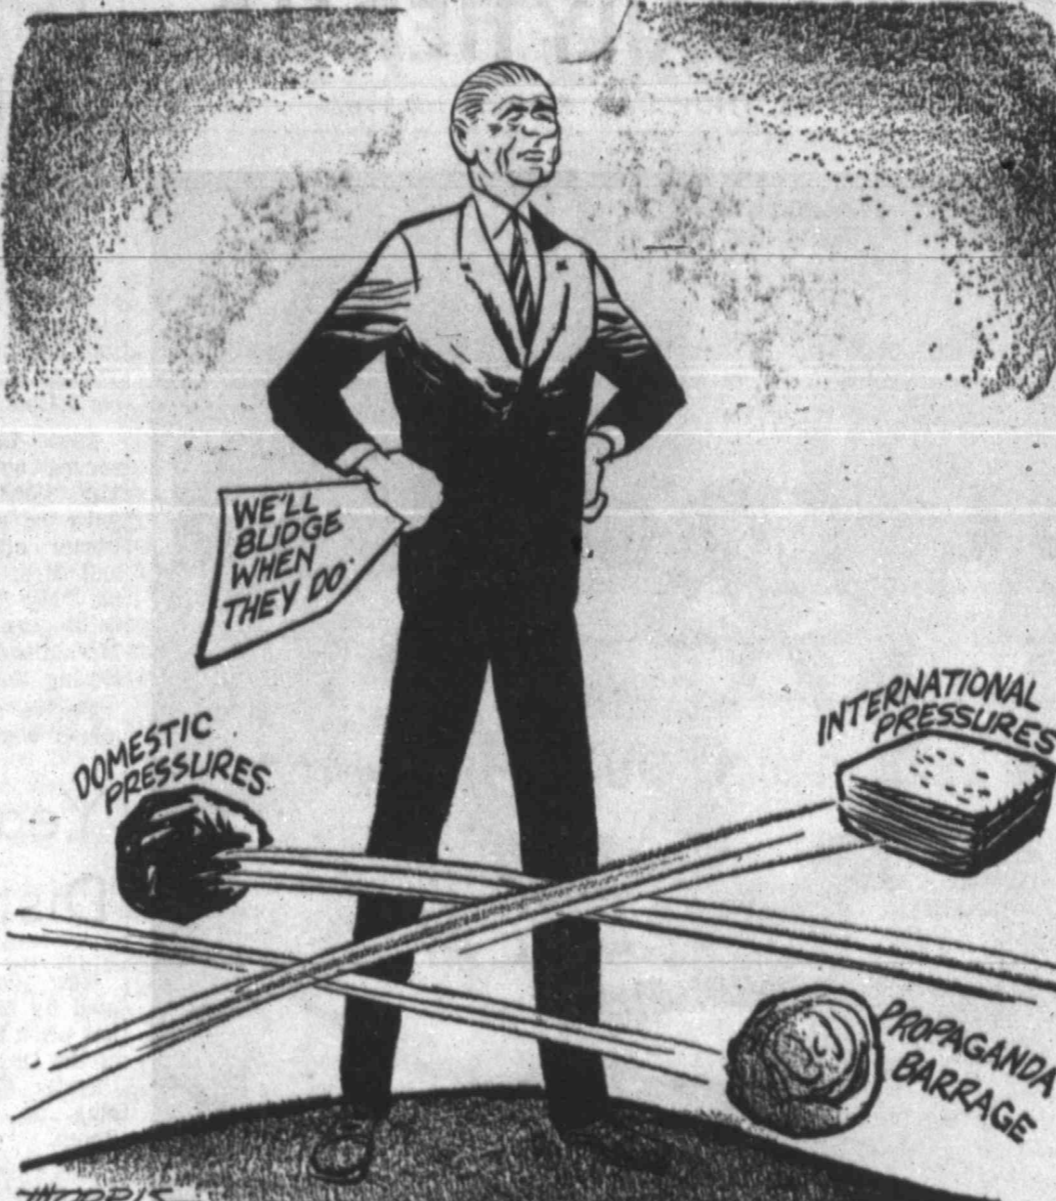

R. S.

A person converted to Christ has a new attitude toward sin. Whereas, once he sought it, he now avoids it. Whereas, once he enjoyed it, if he falls into it, he abhors it. He sees it now as an enemy and not a friend. He sees it as the thing which made the cross of Christ necessary, and he hates it. This, however, doesn't mean that he doesn't encounter it. It is tempted by it, and sometimes may stumble and fall into it. To the Christian the Bible says, "If any man sin he has an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." Whereas, before conversion sin was accepted as a way of life, now it is viewed as alien, and out of character. When the child of God "sins," he quickly and humbly begs God's pardon, just as a wellbred gentleman says, "I beg your pardon," when he commits a breach of etiquette. His changed attitude toward sin is indicative of the new life which lives in him. He is not sinless, but he strives to be. He is not a saint, but he is progressing in that direction.

As to movies, ball games, and "dressing like the world," the child of God will not need a rigid rule book. But one thing is sure: whatever he does he should do to the glory of God.

Imported Pick

LOUISVILLE (AP) — An import establishment in New York recently sent Mrs. Shirley Williams a pancho. It carried two labels. One said "Made in Mexico" and the other "Made in Portugal."

THEY SHOULD GET THE IDEA WHERE HE STANDS

James Marlow Lot Of Fish Fried With Five Words

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We shall stay the course." A lot of fish were fried with those five words from President Johnson's speech on Vietnam to the Tennessee Legislature.

1. They're his answer to American critics who want him to stop the bombing and tone down the war.

2. THEY'RE his warning to North Vietnam not to think American dissonance over the war will weaken his will to see it through.

3. They're a reasonable indication his Guam meeting next week with his top war advisers will deal with intensifying the war. He's been doing that.

Some of his aides have tried to give the impression the Guam meeting will be just routine. One question on that seems appropriate: "Is that so?"

SOME CAN be justly asked, since the administration has also tried to give the impression U.S. military action since February's bombing truce has been routine.

It's been anything but. Since then, and for the first time, U.S. bombers have plastered a steel mill near Hanoi, rivers in North Vietnam have been mined, U.S. long-range guns have hit the North, and the U.S. Navy has shelled the coast.

Since that is more than was done before, it is intensification of the war.

JOHNSON used his Tennessee speech Wednesday to repeat his standard explanation for not softening his effort to weaken North Vietnam's zeal for fighting.

"The United States," he said, "cannot and will not reduce its activities unless and until there is some reduction on the other side."

"To follow any other rule would be to violate the sacred trust we undertake when we ask a man to risk his life for his country."

THIS WAS only part of a much more detailed answer to critics — he didn't name any — who propose an indefinite bombing takeover in the Dominican Republic.

He accused them of "moral double bookkeeping" in complaining about the bombing while letting go "largely unnoted" the viciousness of the Viet Cong in killing and torturing "innocent Vietnamese civilians."

Johnson seems to feel more compelled to answer criticism on Vietnam than he did criticism in 1965 when he sent U.S. troops to prevent a Communist

Hal Boyle It's Hard To Be Young

NEW YORK (AP) — Parental remarks that teenagers get tired of hearing:

"When I was your age, I knew the value of a dollar."

"For heaven's sake, Arnold, can't you even stand up straight? Maybe we'll have to get a board and prop you up like a tomato plant."

"I'M WARNING you for the last time that . . ."

"You're not going out of the house dressed like that, young lady, so you might as well take it off right now."

"Wait until your father gets home, young man. He'll hear about your behavior."

"From the size of this month's phone bill, Susan, I can only suspect you've been making long distance calls to the man in the moon."

"WHEN I WAS your age, I walked three miles to school and thought nothing of it."

"You can have a car of your own anytime you want to, Arnold. All you have to do is get it the same way I got mine — by going out and earning it."

"Look at it this way, Susie — for every candy bar you eat now, sooner or later you'll get another pimple."

"What kind of college do you think will accept you with grades like these?"

"THIS WILL make you laugh, dear. Arnold said he has decided to grow a beard, and when I asked him, 'What with?' he got mad."

"When I was your age, I never spoke like that to my parents. Why, I wouldn't have dared!"

"All kids are spoiled today — every last one of them."

"Your teeth are coming along just fine, Susan. But I think we'll have to leave these braces on for another few months at least."

"I COULD FEED half of starving India with the food that girl leaves untouched on her plate."

"The only reason I can figure why teenagers spend so much time on the phone is that they don't mind talking to each other — but can't stand looking at each other."

"Don't you think it is high time, young man, that you started to make up your mind what you want to do with your life?"

"When I was your age, I didn't expect anyone to hand me out an allowance."

"When I was your age . . . when I was your age . . . when I was your age . . ."

To Your Good Health Signs Of What We Call Mental Illness

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

I will print only parts of a long letter from a worried mother whose son always has been "nervous," dropped out of high school once, now has dropped out of college three times, and, the letter goes on: "He has withdrawn from society and has a bitter outlook on life. His brother said that at college he locked himself in the bathroom, pounded on the walls and shouted at the top of his lungs."

"He says he is mixed up and confused about life in general and sex, too. He freezes up when out with a girl. He is very intelligent and makes good grades but cracks up in the middle of the semester."

"He has applied for a job, but last summer he got a job at a factory and after two or three hours walked out and said he quit."

"He admits he doesn't know why he does these things. I don't know where to turn next."

"My husband had a stroke and has serious lung disease and I can only pay his bills little by little. What can I do?"

— G.M.C.

I am no psychiatrist, but it doesn't require one to recognize that this young man is emotionally disturbed. Call it mental illness or what you will, but he obviously can't cope with the world — not because of lack of intelligence, but because of emotional pressures. If it weren't for the family's economic difficulties, I would urge examination by a psychiatrist at once.

Under the circumstances as they are, I would still seek psychiatric help. The family's regular physician may be able to direct the young man to a clinic. If not, many state hospitals will accept patients on a basis of voluntary admission. This, of course, requires a doctor's recommendation.

A fairly short period of observation and help before a patient breaks down entirely often is sufficient to avert the breakdown.

This benefits both the patient and society in general. Every time a potential mental patient can be helped in time to avoid long - time hospitalization, it saves that much expense for the state.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

We do not have enough psychiatric services to meet all the needs, but such help can be found if one makes a serious effort to obtain it.

The time to help a person struggling with emotional problems is before he goes to pieces completely.

I wish I had some easier solution to offer in this case, but I do urge that every attempt be made to find psychiatric help soon.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins." Enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim Dangerous Latitude Of Discretion

"Yes, that's what the ordinance states, but we don't intend to be too strict in enforcement. We will use discretion in filing charges against anyone."

PARAPHRASED, this is a statement often heard recently during city commission meetings while discussing new laws before giving approval. There is little doubt as to the sincerity of the speakers, as they try to get laws on the books to correct problems and to make these laws strong enough to be effective.

At the same time, well-meaning officials sometime give way to some who are not so well-meaning. And laws, once enacted, have a tendency to be pretty positive when enforcement time comes around. Not a single ordinance in the city's mammoth code has anything to say about the use of discretion in enforcement.

IT CAN GO beyond that. Discretion can often be interpreted to mean favoritism, if improperly used. While our present officials surely have the best intentions in the world, the laws they approve today are likely to outlive us all and still be around to haunt our children.

HOPEFULLY, our officials in future years will be as well-meaning as those of today. If not, some of these ordinances might turn out to be corrosive to many property rights and a method of making some citizens "more equal than others."

SOMEONE HAS suggested that perhaps all new laws should be enacted with a time limit, forcing a periodic review that might eliminate those of no further use or that are being misused. Perhaps.

But importantly, it might not be a bad idea to give all of them a careful and searching study in the first place, to insure that no loophole is left that might leave many of our rights to the discretion of some future officials whom we might not trust quite so much.

—V. GLENN COOTES

David Lawrence Setback In Race Relations

WASHINGTON — Ironically, the case of Adam Clayton Powell is perhaps doing more to intensify racism in the United States than anything that has happened since the emotional era of "reconstruction" 100 years ago.

FROM ALL over the country reports are coming in nowadays that the American people are looking with dismay on the widely publicized utterances of Negro leaders who say the Harlem congressman is being penalized for his misdeeds only because he is a Negro. Astonishment is widespread that, even though a special committee of the House of Representatives has accused Powell of fraud in the handling of government funds, Negro leaders of high education and professional achievement insist that he should not be punished since he merely did what others in Congress have done.

MOST SIGNIFICANT is the virtual unanimous prediction today that Powell will be re-elected in April. The House of Representatives can, of course, refuse to admit him or anybody else, white or black, who is lacking in integrity. But the Negro voters in Harlem are expected to brush aside the misdeeds and continue to charge racial discrimination if he is again barred.

Racism is one of the worst diseases that can afflict a nation. It produces a consciousness of possible discrimination in all walks of life. Particularly discouraging is the fact that it is growing acute at a time when many people were coming to believe that at last the voice of reason and the tenets of fairness were beginning to be applied in America without regard to race.

THE TRAGEDY of it all is that, as the Negro population grows to unprecedented size in the next decade, the congestion of whites and Negroes in many areas will increase perceptibly. Racial problems will plague not merely the cities but the suburbs, too. The hoped-for reconciliation of the races has been definitely retarded by the Powell case.

What is the answer? To punish now every member of Congress who has done what Powell did? But are there any in Congress who went off to the Bahamas or some other resort, as Powell did, refused to obey court orders, and laughed off the fact that, as an elected representative, he has not been back in his district for nearly a year? Is a man a true representative of his constituents if he doesn't even see or talk with them?

THESE QUESTIONS would be answered forthrightly by white and Negro voters if Adam Clayton Powell were not in the limelight. Discrimination because of race is being openly supported.

Nor is all the racism confined to the contest in Powell's district. Many members of Congress, irrespective of race, who hail from localities in the North where there is a substantial Negro population are troubled about how to vote on the Powell case if it comes up again in the house. They don't want to antagonize Negroes throughout the country who seem to be almost a solid bloc behind the Harlem minister. The congressmen are afraid, on the other hand, of the white vote, which also shows signs of solidifying against anyone who condones Powell's behavior.

MUCH OF what has been won since 1954, when segregation in the public schools was outlawed, may be lost now as public sentiment is stimulated to divide again along racial lines. For if Negroes organize behind Negroes irrespective of the merits of a case, the probability is that other races, in their emotional resentment, will react the same way. It may be the beginning of another "tragic era" as the bitterness of the 1860's and 1870's are resurrected a century later.

Holmes Alexander Example Of Our 'Imperialism'

WASHINGTON — Within the next 60 days America's pay-as-you-enter imperialism comes up for another audit — the presidential election in the Republic of (South) Korea. It's a good time to ask, with a side-glance at Vietnam, what's in it for us with these reluctant adventures into modern empire-building.

BEFORE OPENING the books, it's just as well we dust away some accumulated cobwebs of hypocrisy. It is not true, as the caustic liberals like to say, that South Korea, along with the Ky regime in Saigon and the Chiang regime in Taipei, are merely "client states" or vassals to our foreign policy. It's equally untrue, as the President and his cabinet members continuously babble, that we desire nothing whatever from the small countries which we save from communism.

We are not simply going to "get out" of all the massive fortresses we've built from West Berlin to Thailand, but neither are we setting up economic protectorates, as the Communists charge and as domestic carpers like to repeat.

SOUTH KOREA shows the true debit-and-credit of pay-as-you-enter imperialism. We paid at the outset with 33,628 American lives in the three year Korean War and the total investment now stands at $7 billion. We still have 50,000 troops there, and are still supplying aid, including a Peace Corps unit. But the troop input is almost exactly offset by the 45,000 combat soldiers and 10,000 technicians which the Korean government has dispatched to South Vietnam, and President Park said in his state-of-the-nation address last January:

"We who formerly could not subsist without foreign aid are now fast coming to the day when we shall be completely self-reliant."

THUS 14 YEARS after cease-fire, the Korean adventure is showing profits, and also is showing the kind of payoff that our particular kind of imperialism deserves to receive. The ROK expeditionary force in Vietnam is the first known time in 5,000 years of history that Koreans ever fought on foreign soil. They are not there as client-state mercenaries. Reporters who last fall accompanied President Johnson on his Pacific tour can attest to this. At the Manila Conference with other heads of state, the 49-year-old President Park delivered a scathing blast at some faint-hearted Asians and threatened to walk out if the conference took a soft line toward Hanoi and Red China.

IN THE MAY election, Park will try to succeed himself under the two-term clause of his Constitution. In the campaign he is pointing with pride to three big innovations under his leadership. They are the Vietnam participation, the treaty which now allows trade with the long-hated Japanese and the 7.5 per cent growth since 1962 in Korea's Gross National Product, a welcome success which came about under Park's economic development plan for industrialization and exports.

WHAT We have in Korea is the reasonable facsimile of a real republic and of a vigorous private enterprise economy. We also have a fighting ally. The people and government sincerely admire and emulate the U.S.A. They very much hope the conduct of the election wins the approval of the American public and press.

On balance, we made a sound investment. Korea is an excellent showcase of our intents and achievements in the crazy business of modern American imperialism.

Space Indians

WINSLOW, Ariz. (AP) — The Old West and the Space Age were only yards apart as Navajos watched demonstrations of a rocket belt designed to carry astronauts while on the moon.

The demonstration, on the Navajo Reservation northwest of Winslow, was performed by Textron-Bell Aero-systems.

One of the test employees was carried 115 yards by the belt and another flew up and over a butte.

They're Not Well

NEW DELHI (AP) — A student welfare seminar at Delhi university was told 25 per cent of India's college students suffer from some organic or functional disease and that one per cent have tuberculosis.

TEXANS AT WAR

Survives Commie Graveyard Attack

By The Associated Press
Marine Lance Cpl. Albert Paniagua, a Texan at war, was sleeping in a graveyard waiting for dawn when Viet Cong riflemen and machinegunners opened up from 30 yards. "I just ducked my head and hoped for the best," he said. The VC pulled back before American artillery fire and air strikes could be organized. "JUST LUCKY" After the fire-fight, Paniagua found one hostile bullet lodged in his cartridge belt and two more in an empty demolition bag he had with him. "I was just lucky, that's all," says the Dallas Marine. Paniagua said the action took place on a patrol south of the demilitarized zone in northern South Vietnam.

MUZZLE FLASHES
"When the VC opened up on us, I looked around in the darkness and could see muzzle flashes all around me. I didn't think we had a chance," he said. On another patrol, he said, he was resting behind a gravestone when Viet Cong gunners started firing. He said several bullets hit the stone he was behind, but he escaped injury. The Leatherneck, 21, was drafted from Crozier Tech High School, but he quickly enlisted in the Marines.

No Problem Coming Soon

It will be two or three months before any major problem of traffic diversion is created by the construction program on FM 700, it was said at a conference held at the office of Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the Texas Highway department, today.

Jarbet Inc., the contractor for the million and a half dollar job, will start work Monday. He plans to begin his task at Wasson Road and go east with a southside service road to Golf ad.

The first project will be the grading. The regular FM 700 lanes will be left open for the time being and, other than for the problem of trucks and heavy equipment moving up and down the area, no serious traffic problem will exist.

The trucks moving dirt from the south side will be crossing the paving to the north side as the work progresses and caution in travel on the road is imperative.

Twenty-six attended the conference today. In addition to representatives of the contractor, the state, the city, the county and the highway patrol, Webb AFB had a representative on hand.

The job superintendent, who will represent Jarbet's during the course of the job, is Leroy Florus. He has already moved into town and established headquarters.

It will be early July, Smoot estimated, before the first phase of the project can be completed and create the need for shift of traffic from the old road to the newly built service road.

Johansen Wins Essay Contest

John Johansen, a senior in Big Spring High School, is the winner of the $50 first prize in the essay contest sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Permian Basin Medical Society.

Two other BSHS seniors shared in the prizes and will have their essays entered in the state contest judging. They are Carolyn Margaret Campbell, who received $30 for her second place entry, and Debbie Duncan, who received $20 for her third-place essay.

High school students had a choice of writing on one of two subjects, either "Advantages of Private Medical Care," or "Advantages of the American Free Enterprise System." Invitations were sent to Stanton, Coahoma and Forsan high schools, but the 12 entries all came from BSHS. A committee composed of Dr. J. P. Darby, Mrs. Buell Fox and Capt. Jerry Grimes screened and placed the essays.

Competition closed here March 1, and the deadline for state entries is April 1. Prizes there are $500, $300 and $200, plus a chance for the winners to compete in the national contest.

Yankees Facing Long Haul

Spoils For Winner In Trial

R. C. Thomas, John Puckett and Bob Graham (left to right, above) admire one of the big trophies to be given away during the Amateur Field Trial scheduled on the McKinney ranch southeast of Big Spring Saturday. The trial is scheduled by the Permian Bird Dog and Sportsman Club. Puckett is president of the club. Drawings for the trial will be staged at the Settles Hotel here Friday night. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Can a rookie first baseman lead the New York Yankees out of the American League cellar?

Can the rookie play first base? Manager Ralph Houk, who stood by helplessly as the Yankees tumbled into the cellar last year with a thud heard round the baseball world, is waiting patiently to find out if Mickey Mantle can play the new position.

Houk feels much of the team's success depends on whether he can.

Mantle, an outfielder for 16 years, has switched positions with Joe Pepitone because Houk feels Pepitone's presence in center field will stabilize the outfield and playing first could help Mantle save his battered legs.

The question of whether the 35-year-old Mantle can play first is being answered in spring training. If player or manager doesn't like how the experiment is progressing, he can end it immediately, and Pepitone will move back to first.

There's no doubt that Mantle still is better than most hitters in the league, and there's no doubt the Yankees need his bat in the line-up. They don't have too many others.

Pepitone took over the role of slugging leader last season when he hit 31 homers and drove in 83 runs. He'll also be one of the better defensive center fielders in the league and will be well supported on either side in the outfield.

Tom Tresh, who divided his time between the infield and the outfield last year, is set for left field while Houk plans on splitting right field between rookies Steve Whitaker, against right-handed pitchers, and Bill Robinson, against southpaws.

Robinson is the 23-year-old hopeful for whom the Yankees traded third baseman Cleto Boyer to Atlanta. Boyer's departure left New York without any of its regular 1966 infielders back for this season.

Second baseman Bobby Richardson retired, and Horace Clarke, who played a lot of shortstop, was out of position.

Clarke has returned to second, Ruben Amaro is the shortstop and Charley Smith, acquired from the Cards for Roger Maris, will be at third. That's not exactly Jerry Coleman-Phil Rizzuto-Gil McDougald.

Elston Howard and Jake Gibbs will split the job of catching the pitchers, who Houk feels are one of the strong points of this year's team.

Whitey Ford, who underwent another shoulder operation last year, wasn't listed on New York's 40-man roster, but Houk expects him to be one of his starters.

The others will come from Mel Stottlemyre, Jim Bouton, Al Downing, Fritz Peterson, Fred Talbot and rookie Stan Bahnsen. Stottlemyre somehow developed from a 20-game winner into a 20-game loser in 1966 while Bouton pulled out of a miserable first half to compile a 1.66 earned run average for the second half.

Walcott Giving Folley Chance

NEW YORK (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott, who was 37-years-old and a 6-1 underdog when he won the heavyweight title, says Zora Folley has a good chance to upset heavyweight champion Cassius Clay next Wednesday night.

Folley, 34, and a 5-1 long shot, agrees. Walcott was 33 when he got his first shot at the title and almost whipped Joe Louis in 1947. Four years later he knocked out Ezzard Charles in the seventh round and became the champion.

Defeats and hard times marked Jersey Joe's ring career until he got his first big shot at Louis and almost pulled a great upset.

"From my experience," said Walcott, "when you finally get your first chance at the title you step in forgetting everything that went before. It's a lifelong dream at last here and you're ready for the fight of your life."

"He's right," Folley said Wednesday. "That's the way I feel. It's like a dream come true. I never even came close to a title fight all the years I was the No. 1 contender. Floyd Patterson wouldn't give me a chance."

"Now I feel real good at finally getting the chance. I'm in good shape and I feel 100 per cent better because I'm getting the chance after all these years."

Did he think he could knock out Clay? "Sure," replied the old pro. "He doesn't like to get hit in the face and I might be able to get him out."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Come April 11, it will be Pvt. Cassius Clay, U.S. Army — maybe.

The heavyweight champion, turned down by a presidential appeals board in his efforts to remain a civilian, has been ordered to report for induction on that date.

Clay's attorneys had anticipated the decision, however, and before the induction order was made public, they had begun a new legal action.

Pro Football Teams Go For Cage Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — On the final day of the first combined draft by the National and American football leagues such stars as Jimmy Walker, Pat Riley and George Carter were picked.

If you say these three were basketball stars in college, you're right.

And if you also say such pro football players as All-NFL defensive back Cornell Green of Dallas played basketball instead of football in college, you're right again.

So, following the formula which has proved so successful in the cases of players like Green and his Dallas teammate Pete Gent, the pros selected Walker and several other basketball standouts Wednesday.

Walker, the All-America from Providence which fields no football team, was taken by New Orleans on the last pick of the 17th and final round.

The 25 NFL-AFL clubs drafted 262 players in the final 12 rounds after picking 133 Tuesday in the first five rounds.

Some college stars, strictly in football, drafted Wednesday included quarterback Terry Southall of Baylor, by Baltimore in the sixth round; quarterback Virgil Carter of Brigham Young, by Chicago in the sixth; Tulsa tackle Don Bandy by Washington in the sixth, and All-America defensive back Tom Beier of Miami, Fla., by Miami in the 10th.

One player also was signed — San Diego's first round pick, defensive tackle Ronald Billingsley of Wyoming.

Riley, the backcourt star from Kentucky, was selected by Dallas in the 11th round. Carter, the scoring star of St. Bonaventure, another school which shuns football, was picked in the 13th by Buffalo.

Walker was chosen as an end, Riley as a quarterback and Carter as a halfback.

Another well-known basketball player, big David Lattin of defending national champion Texas Western, was picked in the final round by Kansas City. However, Lattin is only a junior, and his selection undoubtedly will be voided.

Beginning with this year, there no longer is a future, or redshirt, draft.

Basketball wasn't the only other sport looked at in the search for talent, the world of track and field also was invaded.

Randy Matson of Texas A&M the world record holder in the shotput, was taken as a defensive tackle by Atlanta in the fifth round.

Oren Lancaster Leader Among Mustang Scorers

ACKERLY — Oren Lancaster led the Sands Mustangs the past season with a total of 361 points while Leon Russell was the top rebounder.

Russell grabbed off 96 offensive and 155 defensive caroms for a total of 251.

Lancaster beat out Lynn Maxwell in scoring by only four points while Russell was third on the team in that department with 244.

The Mustangs, who are coached by Arlen White, won their way to the State tournament for the first time in the school's history and played in Regional for the third straight year.

Returning for another season of play will be Lance Hopper, who is only a sophomore; junior Claude Fryar, junior Alfonso Calvo, junior Larry Newcomer, sophomore Kynn Maxwell and sophomore Ronnie Taylor.

The Mustangs won 22 of 28 starts over the season.

Two Texas Teams Win In Kansas

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Ranger, Tex., emerged Wednesday night as a powerhouse and possible contender for the National Junior College Basketball Tournament championship by wallopping Burlington, Iowa, 96-68.

The Texans had no trouble with Burlington and led 59-39 at the half.

Another Texas team, San Jacinto of Pasadena, gained the semifinals earlier by downing Wright of Chicago 89-78.

Top for San Jacinto was 6-2 Oliver Taylor, who scored 27 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. High for Wright was Buddy Haines with 33.

Rochester, Minn., was the first to be eliminated, losing to Trenton, N.J., 94-80. Rochester was the only undefeated team to enter the tournament and had a 29-0 record.

In first-round play, Powell, Wyo., downed Palatka, Fla., 91-86, and Cameron of Lawton, Okla., defeated Ferrum, Va., 75-62.

Today's schedule includes Ferrum and Palatka, Wright and Burlington, and Dodge City and Broome Tech of Binghamton, N.Y., all in the loser's bracket.

Tonight in quarter-final games Cameron will meet Powell, and Boise, Idaho, will play Moberly, Mo.

Dozier Won't Be Back At Ozona

OZONA — Brooks Dozier has been informed his contract as head basketball coach at Ozona High School will not be renewed.

He was offered the chance to remain in the system as a classroom teacher. Dozier said he would prefer to continue in coaching, if possible.

Dozier has been a coach at Ozona the past nine years. His 1961-62 team advanced to the Regional finals before losing to the eventual state champion, White Deer.

He is a graduate of Howard Payne College.

Salukis Try Rutgers In NIT Headline Go

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Giant Killers of Southern Illinois, college basketball's latest Cinderella team, go after their 18th straight victory against Rutgers in the semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament tonight.

A capacity turnout of 18,000 is expected at New York's Madison Square Garden to watch the Salukis from Carbondale, Ill., play the Scarlet Knights from New Brunswick, N.J., in the semifinals of a doubleheader. Marshall University's Thundering Herd from Huntington, W. Va., face the Marquette Warriors from Milwaukee in the opening NIT semifinal.

KAYOED GIANTS
Southern Illinois, which passed up the NCAA national small college tourney to go after the big boys in the NIT, whipped the St. Peter's Peacocks and the Duke Blue Devils in their first two tourney games.

Rutgers upset Utah State and New Mexico to reach the semis. Marshall put out Villanova and Nebraska while Marquette surprised Tulsa and Providence to reach the round of four.

Waiting in the wings for the NIT finalists to be decided is unbeaten UCLA, the country's No. 1 team.

The Bruins and their super-sophomore, Lew Alcindor, strive for their 27th straight victory against Wyoming Friday night in one of eight second-round games at four regional sites in the NCAA tournament for the national championship.

UCLA and Wyoming meet at Corvallis, Ore., in the Far West regional doubleheader. U. of Pacific, with a 20-game winning streak, battles Texas Western, the defending champion, in the other half of the twin bill at Corvallis.

The NCAA East regional doubleheader at College Park, Md., pairs Princeton against North Carolina and Boston College against St. John's of New York.

Tennessee battles Dayton and Indiana takes on Virginia Tech

Winston-Salem State beat Long Island 62-54, Southwest Missouri defeated Valparaiso 86-72 and Illinois State went three overtimes before eliminating San Diego State 77-76 in the other quarter-finals.

Earl Monroe threw in 29 points for Winston-Salem for a season scoring record of 1,265. It wiped out the mark of 1,255 set by Bevo Francis of Rio Grande, Ohio, in 1954.

Kentucky Wesleyan battles Winston-Salem and Southwest Missouri tangles with Illinois State in the semifinals tonight.

Top-seeded St. Benedict's beat Southern Ark., State 67-56 and Oklahoma Baptist, the defending champion, defeated Valdosta, Ga., State 70-62 to show the way into the quarter-finals of the NAIA national tournament at Kansas City.

SAYS DYKES

List Is Not Completed

Spike Dykes, athletic director of Big Spring schools, said today that the list of coaches which cleared the Tuesday evening board session, is not the final list.

"I simply have not had time to have interviews with others in the short time that I have been here," he said. "The absence of names from anyone has not been passed up, but rather that I haven't had time to sit down with various individuals and work out situations."

There are some schedule complications, he pointed out, as in the case of ninth grade coaches, because next year the ninth grade is due to become a part of the senior high school.

This and other problems will take time to resolve, Dykes said, but added that he appreciated the patience and helpfulness of all members of the coaching staff. He was pleased that all have been named as faculty members.

Deaton Stanley came in second with a score of 100-9X and third place went to Lynn Dale Stanley, who shot 100-6X.

The second event was for hunting class rifles of caliber 6mm. and up with 9½ pound weight limit.

Winner was David Barr, with a score of 100-9X; second place went to Horace Reagan, whose score was also 100-9X and third place to Skeeter Davidson with a score of 100-6X.

Giant Ace Holding Out For $110,000

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of veteran pitchers have discovered they have some problems, while the San Francisco Giants have discovered they have a problem pitcher.

The problem is Juan Marchal. Giants' President Horace Stoneham said in Phoenix Wednesday that contract negotiations with the ace right-hander have reached an impasse.

"and it looks like we have a definite holdout on our hands." The club said Marchal has been offered $100,000 and that he is asking $110,000.

"The next move is up to Juan," Stoneham said. Marchal, 25-6 with a 2.23 earned run average last season, is in the Dominican Republic.

Whitely Ford and Don Drysdale had problems of a different nature Wednesday. Drysdale, making his first start of the season for the Los Angeles Dodgers, gave up five hits and a run in three innings at Vero Beach, Fla., and the St. Louis Cardinals took a 5-2 exhibition victory.

Ford, belted for nine hits in three innings the first time he worked this season, gave up singles to the first four men he faced at Fort Lauderdale. The little lefty regained the touch, however, retired the next 11 men he faced and started the New York Yankees to a 6-3 decision over Boston.

In the other exhibitions in Florida, Cincinnati beat the New York Mets 11-6 at St. Petersburg, Washington nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 11 innings at Pompano Beach, the Chicago White Sox stopped Pittsburgh 4-1 at Fort Myers, Houston edged Detroit 4-3 at Cocoa, Baltimore rumped over Kansas City 11-4 at Miami and Minnesota shelled Philadelphia 14-1 at Orlando.

In Arizona, the Chicago Cubs defeated California 7-6 at Scottsdale and San Francisco edged Cleveland 3-2 in 10 innings at Phoenix.

The Cardinals rapped out 16 hits off Drysdale and his successors, with John Duffie the loser. A two-run single by Ed Spezio, off Duffie in the seventh, wrapped it up.

Steve Whitaker had a homer and two singles and Mickey Mantle a run-scoring double in support of Ford. The Yanks, now 5-1 in exhibitions, got four runs in the first inning.

Rookie second baseman Ron Carew led Minnesota's rout of the Phillies, driving in five runs with a homer and bases-loaded double.

Curt Blefary paced Baltimore's easy victory over the A's. He had a three-run homer, a run-scoring single, walked three times and stole a base.

Rookie Jose Herrera drove in Houston's winning run against the Tigers with a two-out single in the ninth. Bo Belinsky was credited with the victory.

Pete Rose, playing in his first game for Cincinnati after being sidelined with a groin injury, drove in five runs on two homers against the Mets.

The Senators beat the Braves on Dick Billings' 10th inning triple and a sacrifice fly by Jim French.

Tankers Depart For Meet Site

The first swimming team ever to represent Big Spring High School at the Texas Inter-scholastic meet left for Austin this morning.

Big Spring qualifiers for the two-day event, which begins Friday, are Bob Tydesley, Bruce Bunn, Bill Borner and Jim DeVore.

Tydesley qualified in the 50-yard freestyle race and will be a member of the 400-yard freestyle relay team, along with the other three boys.

Midland High is favored to win the team championship at Austin.

First In Doubles

Linda Maberry and Marion Washburn (above) of Big Spring stole the show in Novice Class Doubles competition in the State Women's Bowling tournament at Corpus Christi last weekend with a 909 series. Linda put together scores of 398-143-131 for a 452 series while Marion had 146-136-145 for a 427 series. Both are members of the Pinbusters team. Linda has a 116 average while Marion's average is 123.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Terry Trippett of Odessa High School, next to Dubby Malaise the most sought-after basketball player in the history of District 2-AAAA, was outscored by 46 players in the Southwest Conference the past season.

Trippett appeared in all 14 SWC games involving the Texas Aggies and finished with a 6.2 scoring norm. His single game high was 14 points.

Buzzy Myatt of the Aggies, another 2-AAAA ex, fared a little better. The former Abilene star averaged 7.4 points a start.

The big hitters are going to have it a little rougher in the Masters Golf tournament at Augusta, Ga., this year. The club has made some changes in its bunkers. Officials are not at all sure how the new traps and bunkers will work out, so this has to be regarded as a year of experiment.

The so-called improvements are aimed specifically at Jack Nicklaus.

The night Clete Boyer learned that he had been traded to the Atlanta Braves by the New York Yankees, he was preparing to go from his home in Tulsa to Dallas to see an NFL football game between the Cowboys and the St. Louis Cardinals. Mickey Mantle had lined up the tickets for him.

Don McDonald, the Big Spring High School basketball mentor, says he saw very little talent among the seniors in the recent State tournament at Austin.

Some of the better boys he watched play are juniors. The colleges emphasizing basketball in this state are still going to have to import a lot of athletes from outside its borders, if they hope to compete in playoffs toward national championships.

Rusty Heskett, the Odessa College basketball standout, may wind up at East Central State College in Ada.

Ernest Hawkins, the East Texas State College football mentor, says Ralph Weaver has been looking great in spring workouts and Ernest credits grapefruit with the improvement.

Weaver is the former all-stater at Garland who was at SMU for a while. He lost some weight after arriving at East Texas, mainly because he stayed on a diet of grapefruit.

Hawkins has had to recruit a couple of boys from the basketball team to fill out the ranks after the Lions suffered heavy scholastic losses at midterm.

During World War I, a former All-American guard at Yale University, Clinton Black, was captured by a German officer who, it turned out, had played against him when the Teuton was a member of the Harvard team in 1916.

Weeb Ewbank must be one of those who feels that the NFL brand of football is far superior to that played in the AFL. Although Ewbank is coach of the New York Jets, a team that has taken many fans away from the New York Giants, he is by far the most unpopular coach in Gotham. Ewbank formerly coached the Baltimore Colts.

Hank Iba, the veteran basketball mentor at Oklahoma A&M, predicts that the rules makers will outlaw the dunk shot. Iba hasn't been in favor of the dunk shot since the day seven-foot Bob Kurland graduated from the Stillwater school.

They tell this story about a jaguar safari which took place recently in Latin America.

SAYS NICKLAUS

Golf Not Only Thing In Life

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus became a millionaire by playing golf, but the 27-year-old Ohio better says he thinks there are "lots of things more important in life than beating a golf ball around a course."

The three-time Masters champion — and only golfer to win consecutive titles — isn't ready to halt his bid to become the game's undisputed top player, however.

"As long as I enjoy it and can compete successfully, I'll play," the blond distance-hitter said before starting his challenge in the $100,000 Jacksonville Open today.

Nicklaus won the Bing Crosby Tournament in January for his last triumph, but his failure to claim championships in the spring swing doesn't worry him.

"Any time I play, I play to win," Nicklaus said, "but you can hit your peak only five or six times a year, and I don't want to burn myself out this spring before all the big tournaments come up."

Nicklaus admitted he is pointing toward the Masters' next month, where he will be trying for a third straight title, but he believes his game is good enough now to win the $20,000 prize that goes to the Jacksonville winner.

Doug Sanders is defending champion in the Jacksonville Open, but said his putting still is "lousy," and all of golf's other top names — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Julius Boros, Gay Brewer and Canadian George Knudson — will be challenging him for his title, along with Nicklaus.

'Blackboard Jungle' Fears Spread In NY

Officials Involved In Teacher Dispute

Dr. James L. Mandell, left, principal of Junior High School 98 in New York's Borough of The Bronx, stands with Seelig Lester, superintendent of the 12th district in which the school lies, as they met yesterday in Mandell's office to discuss the mass resig-

NEW YORK (AP) — It was in New York in 1954 that ex-school teacher Evan Hunter described the city's classrooms—already crowded with the angry children of the poor and increasingly the arena for teenage savagery—as "the blackboard jungle."

Today the fear is growing that the jungle is spreading, threatening to obliterate the education of many, along with all that education means to their hope of a better future.

This week New York witnessed one of the most disheartening aspects of the battle for young minds when former comrades-in-arms against the jungle instead took aim at each other.

79 RESIGN

On Tuesday, 79 teachers at Junior High School 98 in the Bronx resigned, accusing the New York City Board of Education of failing to alleviate overcrowding, overwork and student assaults upon teachers.

In an astonishingly rapid and widespread display of sympathy, more than 1,000 teachers from all over the city rallied the next day, echoing the complaints from "98 Bronx," promising protest pickets and urging school boycotts, teachers' union strikes and mass resignations. School officials expressed dismay, stressed their claims that they have tried to ease the lot of teachers and then announced—as boards of education must—several officials suggested—that they would deal firmly with the rebel teachers, that they had "no alternative but to accept" the resignations.

An Associated Press survey of school officials, teachers, parents and even students revealed an ironic similarity in the views of all parties to the bitter dispute: There appears to be no single master villain anyone can name, the same complaints about school conditions feed the wrath of all combatants, and everyone agrees on who stands to suffer the worst—the kids.

'AIN'T LEARNING'

Says a Puerto Rican mother of a 98 Bronx student: "My girl sure ain't learning a thing when those teachers aren't in school, but sometimes I think she ain't learning much anyway. Not when some of those kids start tearing up the classes."

Ken Allen, a teacher at the nearby Bronx High School of Science, said at Wednesday's massive teacher rally: "We're demanding psychologists and psychiatric help, more supervisors and more civilians in the schools to help with the disruptive students."

'DIRTY WORDS'

Seelig Lester, superintendent of the 12th District, in which 98 Bronx lies, commented: "If I had them, I'd assign them. I just don't have them."

And a 98 Bronx boy: "I'm with the teachers. I think they need more protection. There's this girl in my class that's always yelling dirty words, and it always breaks everything up."

When Hunter wrote the "Blackboard Jungle," it was considered chiefly a Manhattan phenomenon. The most crowded of the city's five boroughs, it had long been the first stop and final home of immigrants, Southern Negroes and Puerto Ricans who have come to make up much of the city's population.

CRIME RISE

As the population has soared, the city's disadvantaged neighborhoods—with language problems, high joblessness and welfare costs and rising crime rates—have spread, beyond Harlem and Spanish Harlem to Brooklyn, Queens and the streets teem with children, even on winter days.

The Board of Education announced on Monday that for the first time in city history, Negro and Puerto Rican pupils were in the majority in the public schools—50.2 per cent city-wide, as compared with 31.7 per cent a decade ago.

Dr. Nathan Brown, executive deputy superintendent of schools, said the figures "were no surprise," adding that the increasing ethnic topheaviness "makes it more difficult for us to provide the kind of integrated education that we would like to provide for every section in the city."

FORTRESS

While Manhattan, at around 70 per cent, still held the lead in Negro-Puerto Rican school population, the Bronx had 45.6 per cent as of the October, 1966, count.

And 98 Bronx itself is 77 per cent Puerto Rican and 19 per cent Negro.

A large, squat concrete structure, 98 Bronx broods like a fortress over row upon row of streets filled with three- and four-story brick tenements. The streets teem with children, even on winter days. Built to hold 1,598 students, 98 Bronx currently has about 2,000 enrolled and 200 more scheduled for next September, with a teaching staff of 126.

13 ASSAULTS

Its principal, Dr. James L. Mandell, says: "This is not a terror or fear school." There have been 13 assaults in this school year, he says, "and all can be characterized as minor, requiring no medical attention."

Then he adds: "Even one is too many, of course, but 13 assaults out of an enrollment of 2,000 doesn't seem excessive in this city."

Mandell says teacher absenteeism has risen rapidly in his school in recent months, to roughly twice the city average, and that this has thrown extra work onto those teachers who do report for work.

'COVERAGES'

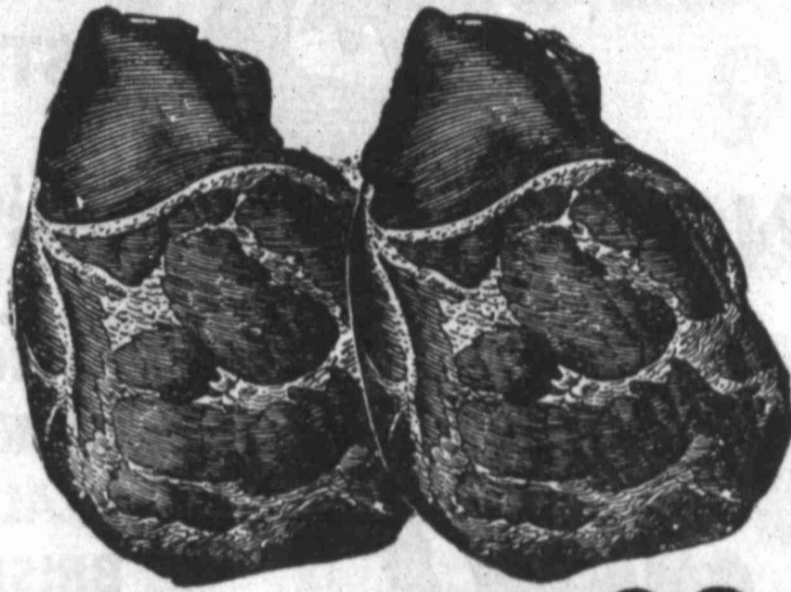

Besides assaults, the other major complaint of the resigned teachers was of "coverages"—being required to take on extra classes, at no extra pay, when regular teachers were absent and substitutes were not available.

Did You Ever Try Ancestors Hunting By Phone? Don't

By EDDY GILMORE
 BELFAST, Northern Ireland, (AP) — Did you ever try ancestor hunting by telephone in a foreign land?
 Don't. It can be disappointing, discouraging, defeating and dangerous.
 Waking up early in a hotel room in the homeland of his ancestors, an hour to go before breakfast, this American-born correspondent reached for the blue-bound Northern Ireland telephone directory beside the bed.

PROMISING
 It listed all the subscribers in all the six counties; and under the G's the field looked promising.

The Gilmores began halfway down column one, filled column two and spilled a good distance down column three.
 Under Gilmore there were 116.
 Under Gilmour were an additional 44.

Out of 160 Gilmores and Gilmours there must be many whose family Bibles, documents, or family recollections numbered ancestors who journeyed from Northern Ireland to the New World more than 200 years ago.

Were not at least 12 American presidents of Scotch-Irish stock from Ulster? Were not many of Gen. George Washington's commanders of Scotch-Irish blood? Were not Generals Stonewall Jackson and Sam Houston? And Davy Crockett? And Stephen Foster?

Why, the Gilmores and Gilmours of Northern Ireland in 1967 would recall with pride their connection with relatives, however distant, in the United States.

To catch up with the past, all one had to do was dial.

NO GO
 The first Gilmore listed did not answer. Neither did the second. The third said, "Hello."

"Excuse me, but do you have relatives in the United States?"

"What's that?"

"Do you have any relatives in the United States?"

"Speak English, man," said a voice with the furry accent of Tyrone.

It was no go.
 I hung up and started all over again.

The next one to answer was a woman.

"Is Mr. Gilmore in, please?"

"Who would be asking for him?"

"Perhaps a relative from the United States?"

A long pause.

"Y'd not be Terence Gilmore?"

"Sorry, no."

"Y'd be sorry if ye was," she said. "If ye're that scoundrel Terence Gilmore and me husband got hold of you. But ye say ye're not and I'll take ye word. Goodbye."

She hung up.

The next, also a woman, spoke more gently.

"Has someone in America died and left some money?"

"Not that I know of."

NEVER BEFORE NINE

"Then why are you calling at such an unearthly hour? My husband never rises before 9."

The next to be located was a farmer.

"Do you spell it ore or our?"

Without waiting for an answer, he continued without pause:

"All the Gilmores and Gilmours originally came from Ireland. The Irish settled Scotland and during some of the troubles the Gilmours — who'd by this time started spelling it our — returned to Ireland in the great plantation migration. They became ores all over again."

'FORGIVE ME'
 "But do you have any relatives in the United States? Did any of your ancestors go to America?"

"Hundreds of them," he said. "But who's talking about America? We're talking about Scotland and the plantation migration to Northern Ireland."

"Forgive me, but I know about that. Could you tell me anything about your relatives in America?"

who went to America?"
 "Too numerous to mention," he replied, "scattered all over the place, anyhow, I've got to see about the sheep."
 He hung up.

'NOT EXACTLY'
 The next one said he was retired and something of a genealogist.

"Do you know what the name Gilmore and Gilmour — spell it how you may — comes from?"

"Not exactly."

"The name means head servant," he said. Speaking as if he had offended, he added very quickly, "Head servant, mind you, and nothing to worry about. Don't forget there were kings who were, in the beginning, stewards, and then Stuarts. They, too, were servants once."

PLAYED VIOLIN
 "But did any of your ancestors go to the United States?"

"I am quite certain that they did," he answered.

 "Do you remember any of their names?"

"I'm afraid I don't, but my sister would."

"May I speak to her?"

"Ha," he chuckled. "Of course you can. That is, if you don't mind paying for a call to New Zealand. Emigrated there years ago."

derry for America about 1760.
 "Now we're getting somewhere," I said. "My great-great-grandfather came from Londonderry. He played the violin."

'YOU DON'T SAY'
 "You don't say?" the man bubbled. "This I very singular."

His voice dropped an octave and he asked gravely:

"How do you know he played the violin?"

"Because the violin was passed down to my grandfather. As a child I heard him play it."

"Sir," he interrupted. "In my family we were always told that a younger son of my great-great-grandfather — a soldier of fortune, if I may say so — emigrated to America from Londonderry."

"Yes, yes, go on, please."

"Emigrated to America with the family heirlooms," he said, his voice rising, "and they included a violin! An almost priceless violin. Do you know where that violin is today? Do you have it? Is it in the family still?"

It was my turn to say goodbye, and give up ancestor hunting by telephone.

Oil Proration Hearing Begins

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Railroad Commission moved into Fort Worth Thursday for its statewide oil proration hearing to set the production pattern for April.

Executives from a number of major companies were on hand also to report on the 1967 outlook for the petroleum industry. The commission invites management representatives to appear each March to testify on industry conditions. Particular emphasis is on anticipated demand for crude oil.

The hearing is the first here since 1950.

Most of the executives were expected to predict another good year for the industry.

Advance surveys indicated a strong possibility that the Texas oil allowable would be reduced for the third straight month. Texas currently is producing on a market demand factor of 35.7 per cent, a reduction from the February figure of 36.5 per cent.

Lucy, Gabor Shun Short, Short Skirts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Short, short skirts on women of all ages, sizes and shapes may be commonplace all over America, but the only place one is likely to run into high style around the hemline on television is in the variety programs.

It isn't that performers like Lucille Ball and Eva Gabor are not fashion-conscious. They are, but they are even more conscious that fashion is fickle and that re-runs of comedy programs are very profitable.

In many current Lucy shows, the actress appears in smart two-piece suits—and invariably the skirt discreetly covers the knees. Miss Gabor who in her present role of an incredibly urban soul in "Green Acres" is, incredibly bucolic setting, probably has the most chic wardrobe in television, but rarely reveals a knee cap.

LONG LIVES
But Carol Burnett turned up Sunday night on the Smothers Brothers variety hour in a short sequin dinner dress. Peggy Cass occasionally wears miniskirts and white stockings on her panel show, "To Tell the Truth."

They are permitted to. There is little rerun value in variety and gemshows.

Comedy shows, particularly Lucille Ball's series, have long lives as reruns. Some of those early "I Love Lucy" shows have been repeated as often as 14 times in 15 years.

Safest shows, from the standpoint of showing age, are the period pieces. After all the cow-boys and dance hall hostesses of the 1880s are no different in dress now than they were in Gary Cooper's heyday.

Lauren Bacall will participate in a documentary about her late husband, Humphrey Bogart, now in production by David Wolper for broadcast next season. She has no connection—nor will have—with ABC's "Bogart" special on April 23, a product of a pair of British documentarians. Because of her attitude toward the upcoming ABC show, Richard Burton, originally set to do the narration, has pulled out.

'BATMAN' BANKHEAD
Tallulah Bankhead, this week's "Batman" villainess, will narrate a children's film, "Melephant" next Sunday afternoon on CBS. This is almost as startling casting as Shakespearean actor Maurice Evans starring in "Tarzan" on NBC April 7.

Recommended tonight: End of the Trail, NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, documentary on the American Indian; Highlights from the Circus, NBC, 8:30-9:30, taped show consisting of circus acts with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans as hosts; "I'm Getting Married," 10-11, ABC, original musical by Betty Comden and Adolph Green with music by Jule Styne.

Directors Elected
BEAUMONT (AP) — J. W. (Bill) Hodges, assistant division manager of Sun Oil Co., Beaumont, was elected an advisory director of American National Bank at a recent meeting of the board.

J. R. (Cappy) Rix and Joe Bob Kinsel, formerly advisory directors, were elected full directors.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL
When St. Nick Heisted A Bank

By ED SYRES

We hear of vast studies to consider, define, and eliminate crime. Here's a variant. Eastland's Mrs. Helen Murrell brings a grisly one: Her County Historical Survey Committee soon will place a plaque commemorating a 40-year-old ordeal when "Santa Claus" robbed the Cisco First National Bank, shot up the town and ultimately died in the noose.

Dec. 23, 1927, oil boomtown Cisco's bank was hit. The immediate gunfight - chase left six citizens wounded, two peace officers and two bandits down and dying . . . and a hanging to come. The robbery struck two days before Christmas when three Confederates of a man dressed as Santa Claus entered the bank at gunpoint, sacked its money, kidnapped two small girls (who would live). It looted all of West Texas in a massive manhunt.

This was a time when citizens ran, armed, to join peace officers; took their losses but ultimately brought in, dead or alive, every man of the gang.

The man who played Santa Claus? He got off, at the time, playing "insanity." Two years later, in the Eastland County jail, he became sane long enough for his break, killed a jailer with his own gun, but never broke clear.

A crowd of 2,000 jammed without, smashed the door, dragged him out, hanged him to a utility pole. Three of the four who had tried the robbery were dead. The fourth served a stretch toward life, and, with pardon, lives out west today under an assumed name.

Is there a moral to all this that shortly goes into steel-tableted history?

Certainly not one to launch a capital punishment debate. Lawful or lawless, we still are confronted by that Sixth Commandment.

But maybe this, for pretending Santa Claus. A community that backs its peace officers to the hilt: That's a community criminals learn to leave alone.

New Braunfels Dr. O. Samuel Randall: "Do you know of any magazine now published that has stories about the Texas Rangers?" (None, exclusively. Best of Rangers is still Walter Prescott Webb's.)

Austin's Mrs. Ima B. Payne suggests the Indians known to Spanish as 'Tejas' were really Aztec offshoot. She calls attention to a new book, "Latest Aztec Discoveries" (Naylor) by Groveton's Guy E. Powell. He believed the mounds near Nacogdoches, between Weches and Alto, were earth-raised duplicates of the Mexican rock pyramids.

Thanks to the several who've forwarded information on gun-running Confederate Brownsville. Best seen to date is new book "Century of Conflict" by Texas A&L. Historian and Graduate Dean, John C. Rayburn (Texian Press). His Rio Grande Valley Neale family memoirs—1821-1913—show, by far, the clearest picture of the forgotten but fabulous Civil War port of Bagdad, at Mexico's Rio Grande mouth.

TIPRO Rips Oil Imports

FORT WORTH (AP) — Congressional action appears the only hope for improvement of the oil imports control program, committeemen of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association said Wednesday.

"All I know about imports is that they are increasing," said L. A. Douglas, San Antonio, chairman of the TIPRO imports committee.

He said independent operators apparently are the only ones concerned with the nation's oil supplies. He suggested that they quit bemoaning economic conditions and alert the nation that it is in danger.

"We have only one claim on the American people and only one claim on the government," Douglas said at a discussion of imports and increasing authority over the oil business.

"Oil is still the No. 1 munitions of war," he said.

He asserted that major companies are major adversaries in the import fight, and there is no way to "satisfy their appetite for profits."

The nation's reserve producing capacity is 10 per cent less than that estimated by the majors, Douglas said.

Executive Vice President - W. Earl Turner of Austin predicted no results will emerge from a recent symposium on oil supplies conducted by the Department of the Interior.

The situation will not be remedied unless Congress takes action, he said.

MRS. LLOYD ZACK GRAY AND DAUGHTER, TAMMY

Three Daughters Help Keep Mother Busy

By RHODA LEMONS

"Having two teen-aged daughters and another going on one is quite enough to keep me busy," said Mrs. Lloyd Zack Gray who resides with her husband at 1905 Pennsylvania.

In reality, however, Mrs. Gray finds time to do a great many things. She does spend a lot of time with her baby, Tammy, whose first birthday is March 20, and she is actively interested in her other daughters' activities. They are Linda, 17, a junior in Big Spring Senior High School, and Robbie, 14, an eighth-grader at Goliad Junior High School.

The Grays attend all the Junior College basketball games and take their girls and friends to high school and junior high football games. They are interested in the youth work at the church and Gray is a leader of the Baptist Training Union at the First Baptist Church where the family has membership.

IS GARDENER
Mrs. Gray is an enthusiastic gardener, both indoors and outside. She has a group of lovely African violets which are flourishing nicely. She is a student flower show judge and is a member of the Spaders Garden Club.

"I keep on a rather tight schedule," said Mrs. Gray. "We do the housecleaning on Saturday, and I serve dinner each evening promptly at 7 o'clock."

"Of course, I had to completely re-do my schedule when the baby arrived," continued Mrs. Gray, who is having lots of enjoyment just being with her youngest daughter.

She is a member of the Child Study Club and periodically takes courses offered by Howard County Junior College in the evening classes. She has had typing and shorthand, English and psychology. Her most interesting class to date was the latter one, which she admits has helped her to better understand her children, her husband and her friends.

"I don't believe in economizing too much on food," said Mrs. Gray. "I know many people think that this is a good place to cut down, but I feel that each family should eat well and nutritionally, but should keep the cost as reasonable as possible."

Mrs. Gray does her own work, with the exception of sending the ironing-out. They have rented a locker for meat storage, which they buy on the side. She watches for grocery advertisements and specials and buys in large quantities at one time. She bakes from scratch, not caring much for mixes. The only time she buys the packaged mix is when baking an angel food cake.

Mrs. Gray is her own decorator. They have lived in their present home for six years and the living room sliding glass doors overlook a small, attractively-landscaped backyard that edges a deep canyon. Light paneling and a brick fireplace, backed by brick, divides the living area from the dining room.

BUSY GIRLS
Because her older daughters are active in school affairs, they don't have too much time to assist their mother at home. However, they each help with the cooking and the cleaning.

They also relieve her with babysitting duties.

Gray is manager at the Big Spring Truck Terminal, and according to his wife, does not care too much for cooking. He does assist with breakfast which is usually large when the whole family dines together.

"My most enjoyable evenings are those when we are all home together," said attractive Mrs. Gray in summation.

Pleasant Lunch From Roast Beef

If there's roast beef left from weekend feasting, you may want to extend it this way.

ROAST BEEF POTATO SALAD

- 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen French green beans with sauteed mushrooms
 - 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 - 3 tbsps. light cream
 - 2 tbsps. prepared horseradish
 - 1/4 tsp. (generous) salt
 - 1 1/2 cups cubed cooked potatoes (3 medium)
 - 1 1/2 cups thin strips cooked beef (leftover from roast)
- Cook beans according to package directions, omitting the butter and increasing the water to three tablespoons; drain. Combine mayonnaise, cream, horseradish, and salt. Add hot vegetable and potatoes; chill. Turn out on serving plate; arrange roast beef on top or around salad. Garnish with lettuce and capers. Makes four portions — one cup each.

Cherry Salad Makes Refreshing Dessert

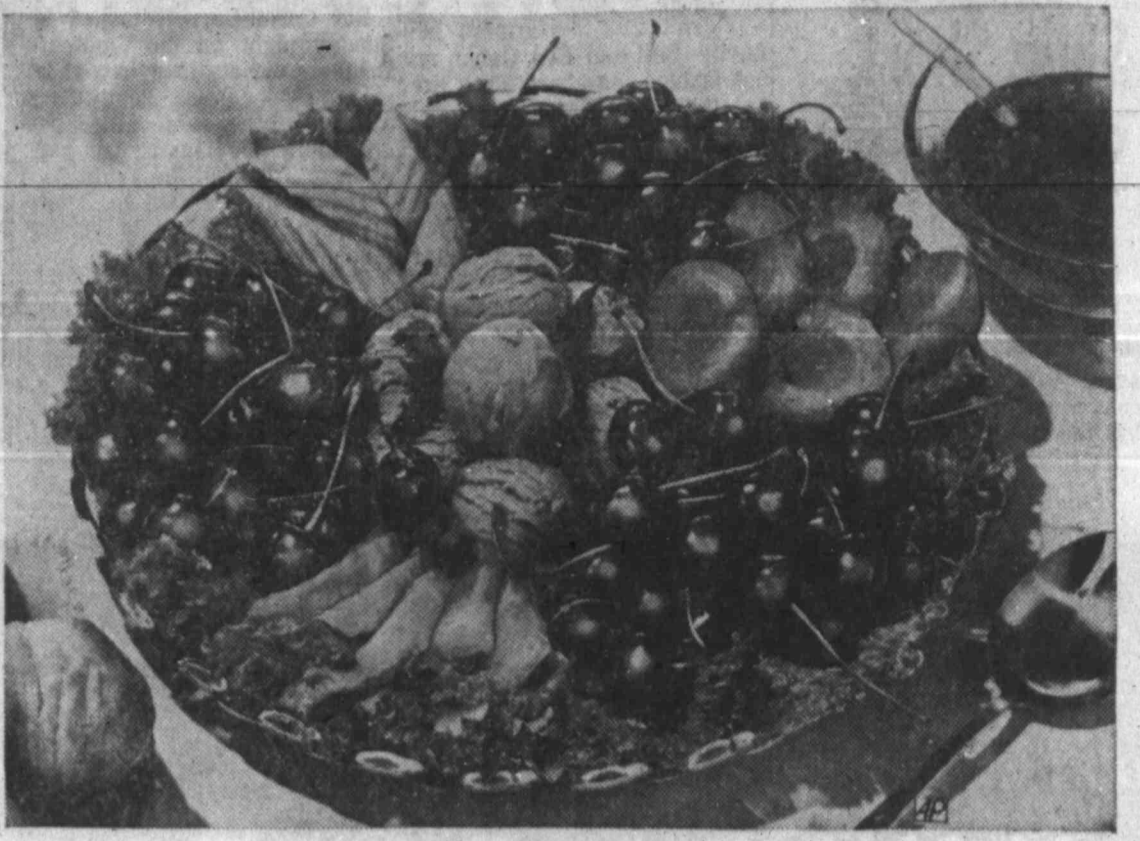

A salad-dessert idea is most inventive. Serve sweet cherries (Bings or Lamberts), now in markets, with other fruits on a bed of crisp salad greens, then mound scoops of lime or lemon sherbet in the center. The addition of sherbet to fruit salad is both refreshing and amusing!

To accompany this salad-dessert, a special dressing is made with oil, fresh lime and lemon, honey and seasonings. The honey helps to keep it in a fine emulsion.

- CHERRY SALAD-DESSERT
 - 2 cups fresh sweet cherries
 - 3 fresh apricots
 - 1 ripe banana
 - 1 can (about 8 oz.) pineapple spears, drained
 - Salad greens
 - 1 pint lime or lemon sherbet
 - Honey Lime Dressing
- Have the cherries, apricots and pineapple chilled. Wash and drain cherries, leaving stems intact. Halve apricots and remove pits. Peel banana; draw the lines of a fork lengthwise down it to score; cut banana in thick diagonal slices. Line the border of a large serving plate (preferably round) with the salad greens; arrange all the fruit over the greens keeping each variety separate. Fill center of plate with small scoops of the sherbet. Serve at once; pass Honey Lime Dressing. Makes four to six servings.

- HONEY LIME DRESSING
 - 3/4 cup salad (not olive) oil
 - 1 tsp. grated lime rind
 - 1/4 cup lime juice
 - 2 tbsps. lemon juice
 - 1-3 cup honey
 - 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
 - 1/2 tsp. paprika
- Into a wide-mouth jar turn all the ingredients; thoroughly beat with a fork or cover and thoroughly shake. Refrigerate, covered, at least one hour before serving to allow flavors to blend. Makes about 1 1/2 cups. Serve with Cherry Salad-Dessert. Refrigerate leftover dressing to serve another time.

CHIVE-CHEESE AND TOMATOES Makes nutritious appetite appeaser

Chive Cottage Cheese Gives Zest To Meals

Chive cottage cheese adds color and flavor as well as high quality protein to many foods.

Add chive cottage cheese to scrambled eggs and omelets for a zesty, nutritious lunch or supper; top slices of French bread with a mound of chive cottage cheese and broil for a quick sandwich. Use plenty of chive cottage cheese in fruit or vegetable salads. It will not only taste good, but the protein in the cheese will act as an appetite appeaser to stretch your lunch while slimming your figure.

The traditional stuffed tomato takes on a special eye appeal when you slice it horizontally into two or three thick slices and spread a thick layer of chive cottage cheese between each slice of tomato. The amount of the serving is determined by the size of the tomato and can range from a main dish salad to a colorful accompaniment for your entrée.

And, of course, as all weight watchers know, cottage cheese provides necessary nutrients with few calories. Creamed cottage cheese is rich in protein; it also contains calcium, vitamin A, thiamine and riboflavin in significant amounts. It is economical. For a small cost it provides a large amount of essential food item elements with no waste. And, the addition of chives does not in any way change this basic balance of nutrition and calorie count.

A rounded cup (4 1/2 ounces) of creamed chive cottage cheese has about the same amount of protein as a medium serving (three ounces, cooked) of meat, fish or poultry; or three slices of Cheddar cheese; or three

What Is Total American Debt?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savor for a moment the figure $1,529,700,000,000.

That's trillion, not billion, and the Treasury Department says it represents total outstanding debt—federal, individual, state, local and corporate—as of last Dec. 31. The total increased $99.1 billion in one year.

The department says there is even more to come, at least as far as the federal government is concerned.

In testimony made public Tuesday night by the House Appropriations Committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said the government will continue to run deficits at least until the end of the Vietnam war. That means higher debt.

DEBT CEILING

Although the national debt is now slightly above $330 billion, the department plans to ask Congress in May to raise the debt ceiling again, possibly as high as $346 billion. It now is $336 billion.

The debt is scheduled to reach $335.4 billion by June 30, 1968, but it is expected to go temporarily higher before then.

Asked by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., if the administration will ever recommend a balanced budget, Fowler replied: "I do, Mr. Chairman, believe that there will be administrations that will recommend balanced budgets.

BOLD REMARK

"Indeed, I would be so bold as to say that I believe there will be administrations that will recommend budgets which will provide for surpluses and some reduction of the federal debt."

Fowler said that time would probably come after the Vietnam war and the subsequent adjustment period when the economy returns to normal.

The federal debt was 133.9 per

New Norther Detour Due

By The Associated Press

Chilly weather lingered across northern areas of Texas early today while the second cold front in three days approached the state.

Thermometers slid below freezing for a second morning in the Panhandle-Plains section. Perryton recorded 23 degrees, Amarillo and Lubbock 27 and Dalhart 28.

Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas, after hitting the nation's high of 94 degrees Wednesday, cooled to 52 overnight.

Readings near dawn in other areas were generally in the 40s and 50s, ranging up to 62 at Brownsville and McAllen in the extreme south.

The last norther finished its sweep to the Texas coast by Wednesday evening, and the Weather Bureau predicted another would push southward into the upper Panhandle by late Friday but most of the cool air would detour Texas toward the east. It was due to warm in all other sections.

There still was no indication of moisture for any of the state's critically dry areas.

Skies were generally clear except for clouds along the coast and over extreme South Texas. Winds died down after Wednesday's passage of the cold front.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Men are more apt to understand what you want than the gentler sex since women are apt to feel they are not getting the attractive things they desire and to be rather put out and petulant about such. Do the things that generally improve your health and let others see you are aware of their practical needs and requirements.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) Being sure to carry through with obligations to those living at home with you is imperative, and you should also listen to constructive ideas they offer. Make future more stable there. Entertain in p.m. if wife or housekeeper, is in the mood.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) Get busy with these telephone calls and visits that will make your whole life more interesting and lucrative. Stop sitting in that comfortable chair. Be socially charming in p.m., also—make fine contact.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) An upset attitude could be quite annoying but you are still able to carry through with obligations at hand, and get support from one who is powerful. Make changes in your surroundings that express you and your ideas better. Be an individualist.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) Good friends will carry through with almost any ideas you have, so concentrate on them instead of irritable superiors. Attend that socially important affair in p.m. This can lead to wonderful things later.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep focused on professional interests, or whatever is connected with the public, and leave recreation for a better time. Civic duties can lead to excellent results. These could also be a great help in your business.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact one out-of-town who can assist you to put over your most important ideas. Then studying into new periodicals, listening to radio, etc. can make you more knowledgeable.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Get surroundings in more ideal order by using that list for perfection that you possess and get these monetary matters nicely arranged with those concerned. Buy sylvan gift for loved one that could bring good luck.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Ideal day and night for you to be with others and arrive at that fine meeting of minds you have long desired. Discuss how to reach aims more intelligently. Showing you appreciate prestige you enjoy in various spots and areas to fine day.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Consider what is best to do in order to start out in any particular phase of your endeavor, which might be at a low peak right now. Get ahead in more charming order so that you can invite friends to be comfortable, happy.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find of better modus operandi so that you get your work done more efficiently. Also, shop for new, etc. If there is some place at furniture you do not like, or is out-dated, realize with the new, be happy.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can add to present abundance now by putting your energy into whatever has been impossible or slow before. Forget all those pipe-dreams and get right down to business. Make your property more valuable.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to March 20) Contacting good pals who can help you in both business and recreational activities is fine, as well as the social, security, being recreational. Get busy and you will find that your happiness is increasing.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow — he, or she, will be one of those charming people who has plenty of ability, but will require encouragement and interest in order to do his, or her, best work. Otherwise there could be a great deal about the business of living. Make interests more fascinating at home or school by giving or buying efficiency mechanisms, etc. Place interest in study early. The big headway can be made.

Comedienne Coca Buys Bloodhound

By BOB THOMAS
AP. Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedienne Imogene Coca has a knack for becoming involved in disasters. Such as buying a bloodhound and starring in a television series called "It's About Time."

About the bloodhound. She had always wanted one, and husband King Donovan located a likely puppy after a lengthy search. Puppy grew to the size of a small horse, and it charges through the living room of the Donovans' hillside house like a runaway freight.

"The main trouble is with our standard poodle, who has decided it has to kill the bloodhound," said Miss Coca. "They had one encounter on my bed while I was in it, and I was never so frightened in my life."

"Now we keep them at opposite ends of the house. I'm terrified to be here alone with them, for fear they'll get out and I'll be caught in the middle again."

Miss Coca seems willing to go along with such a situation, just as she went along with "It's About Time," which some critics termed the worst television series of this—and perhaps any —season. The show concerned two astronauts who crashed the time barrier and landed amid cave men. Reviewers deplored the waste of Miss Coca as a prehistoric crock.

Producer Sherwood Schwartz attempted to save the series from extinction by switching the time element to modern-day. That prevented a mid-season wipe-out, but it wasn't enough to forestall CBS' cancellation at the end of 26 weeks.

"I was sorry about the whole thing, especially for Sherwood, who got the most brutal kind of criticism for creating the series," said the comedienne. "I didn't think that was nice at all."

Miss Coca is wasting no time in lamentation; she has labored too long in the televisionyard for that. On CBS April 5 she will be seen in a re-creation of the historic "Your Show of Shows." The broadcast is ponderously titled "The Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Special."
