Tree On A Rooftop Thrives Atop Historic Structure

By SAM BLACKBURN

Many Big Spring elm trees were bugged last summer and the summer before by beetles, and many of the trees, treasured by homeowners, died.

It's different in the case of V. T. Anderson, who operates the Anderson Music Co., 113 Main.

He's being bugged by an elm tree and the only way to end the problem, he feels, is to apply the old ax to the tree.

ON ROOF

You see, his elm tree is growing on the roof of the storage house at the back of his store. The elm is 20 feet or so tall and soars high above the top of the old storage building. When West Texas winds blow, the tree sways and the building, which has stood for over half a century creaks and crumbles. If things go on unchecked, Anderson is afraid that his misanthropic elm will ultimately bring his storage house tumbling down.

Besides, as he sees things, the roof of a building is no place for a tree to be growing. Trees, he thinks, should grow in the ground.

Already the tree has shattered the stucco on one side of the old building and the plaster has fallen revealing the brick beneath.

HISTORIC PAST

The structure is not used for anything at this time, but it has a historic past. The building at 113 Main is one of the oldest business structures in town. Anderson said that the lot on which it stands originally belonged to Jay Gould, the railroad builder. He sold it to Fred Korn.

Korn was a picturesque figure in early day Big Spring. He operated Korn's Saloon in the same building which today houses Anderson's store. Old timers, including Shine Phillips, report that Korn's place was definitely "respectable." Only the better class of citizens were permitted to patronize it.

ACCESS TO BAR

Anderson said that he understands there was one neat arrangement when Korn ran the place — a barber shop was set up on the southwest corner of the building. A door at the rear of the shop gave access to the bar. A citizen could be readily excused for dropping in to get his hair cut or for a shave. If he then took advantage of the inside door to go into Korn's emporium, who was to know? And, most likely, on departing, he would leave by the barber shop door, chewing vigorously on Sen Sen.

Anderson said he was told the old building at the rear, which is being menaced by the parasitic elm, was the liquor store room for Korn's establishment. Whisky came in barrels in those days and Korn had a youngster employed to keep a supply of choice goods bottled and ready for transfer to the backbar inside the building.

Federal Funds Available To Help Expand Airports

Applications are being accepted now by the federal government in its program to pay 50 per cent of airport improvements, according to information received last week by Howard Loyd, operator of the Howard County Airport and FAA flight inspector here.

The FAA announcement said the agency is accepting applications now and the deadline is April 28 for funds to be spent during fiscal 1968. Funds approved by the FAA can be used to purchase land, build runways and taxiways, or provide lighting. It may not be used for terminal buildings or hangars.

The announcement urged all interested applicants to send their requests to the nearest regional FAA office as soon as possible.

Bill Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Murphy, Luther, passed the first milestone in his flying career last week. With 12 hours of instruction under his belt during the previous two weeks, he made his first solo flight. A student at Howard County Junior College, he attended public schools at Gail. His flight instructor is Don Loyd.

Other fliers have been building time during the week.

Aloft in the Howard County Flying Club planes were Joe Dawes, Sam Dennis 2, Don Long, Byron Orand and Wayne Henry. Up in the planes of Big Spring Flying Club were Linda Falkner 4, E. F. Henderson, Roger Brown, Jack Little, Wayne Bartlett, Ralph McLoughlin, W. J. Rogers and Don Baker.

Flying the planes of Big Spring Aircraft were Guy Talbot 3, Bob Herring 2, Jerry Jordan, John Casselman, Marge Steffen and Bill Murphy 3.

Writer Finds No Answers On The Great Questions

(This is the last in a series of articles by James Rowe, Corpus Christi Caller-Times staffer, writing for The Herald during a three-week tour of the Orient.—Ed.)

HONOLULU — I have talked to ambassadors and prime ministers, four-star generals and privates, waiters and taxicab drivers. Some have provided insight, some have not. But I am no closer now than I was before to the two great and immediate questions of our time: What can we do about Vietnam? And what is going on in Red China.

It is significant perhaps that no one, neither soldier, diplomat, nor civil official in any land I visited had any doubts about the ability of the United States to win the military phase of the war in Vietnam. It is not an easy campaign, to be sure. Portions of Saigon, especially at night, still belong to the Viet Cong.

The night is punctuated by the "whump" of Viet Cong mortar shells which fall well short of the center and the most secure part of Saigon.

In the countryside, though, the nights too often belong to the Viet Cong. In at least half the villages and hamlets. None the less the military phase progresses toward what appears to be an inevitable victory as more and more U.S. men, planes, ships and equipment are applied to the struggle.

MOSTLY HOPE

But there is no more than hope that the political struggle can be won. At the same time, our military and civilian leaders are practically unanimous in saying that a military victory will be meaningless without a corresponding political victory. Furthermore, no one in a position to know believes that we can "get it over with" by bombing Hanoi, by mining the sea approaches to Halphong, or by destroying every military target of significance in North Vietnam.

VARIED HISTORY

The building had a varied history as time passed. For a while it featured an ice cream parlor and boasted an elaborate soda fountain — an installation not too common in those days. The gay young blades of the town and their sweethearts would spend long happy hours as guests of proprietor Vick Flewelen — eating ice cream and sipping strawberry sodas.

Later the place was used for many years as a grocery store and operated by J. B. Pickle. He utilized the storage house at the back to stow the chickens which customers brought in to trade for flour, sugar, salt, bacon and other commodities.

And workers in the store dreaded one chore they had to carry out — going into the storage building, usually after store hours or before the place opened in the morning — to put the squawking fowls in crates to be loaded on the T&P trains for shipment to the markets in Fort Worth.

Anderson has little use for the old building. A mass of ancient dusty junk is inside. Overhead the tall elm waves in regal glory.

"GOT TO GO" "That elm's got to come down," avers Anderson. "This is spring. Last summer he averred the same thing, but the elm tree is still there."

tional center in Saigon. There can be some doubt as to the trustworthiness of those men and women, though.

The Revolutionary Development Program is initiated in villages and hamlets as soon as they can be made militarily secure — the term "secure" is a relative one in South Vietnam. A Revolutionary Development team of 59 men is assigned to the secure villages.

The teams are supposed to detect and eliminate any Viet Cong which remain, receive complaints from villagers, and try to promote a feeling of loyalty to the Saigon government.

One of the faults is the difficulty of finding team members who are native to the village or area to which they will be assigned.

BUFFER OF DESPAIR

There is a great deal of optimism present in the U.S. community that the Revolutionary Development Program will succeed, in spite of earlier failures along similar lines. This optimism stands between us and despair.

What is going on in Red China? I talked with more than a hundred officials on this point plus visiting the border areas in Portuguese Macao, the new territories portion of the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong, and the island of Quemoy just off mainland China.

I found some China-watchers who were quite confident that they knew the full story — at least most of it. They labeled the upheaval as a battle between adherents and enemies of Mao Tse-tung, predicting that Mao would come out of the struggle much weakened.

MAO—THAT'S WHO

Of all the observers I found, one, a British official in Hong Kong, impressed me most. He began with the question: "Who called out the Red Guard?" The answer, of course, was Mao. Hence Mao must be utterly confident of his position. Any doubts on this score, the British continued, could be dispelled by noting that Mao, despite all the disorders, had never once made an appeal to the people the standard procedure for any leader who is in trouble.

It is a great disappointment to be unable to say what is going on in Red China and to be unable to predict the outcome in Vietnam. But there it is. There are no simple answers for any of the issues of substance which

United Fund Session Set For Tuesday

A reminder is being issued on the annual meeting of the membership of the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County, to be held Tuesday. The session will be in the Chamber of Commerce offices starting at 5 p.m.

M. R. Koger, president, said members will be asked to elect new trustees to join the board for three-year terms. Under a rotating system, a third of the trustees' terms expire. The trustees then will elect officers to serve for the current year, and likely first organizational plans will be discussed for next fall's annual fund solicitation. Koger asked for a large attendance.

Miss HCJC Contest Set

Girls of Howard County Junior College will compete April 7 in the first Miss HCJC Pageant ever held on campus.

Any female student, who has never been married is eligible to enter the contest, provided she has a sponsor.

Participants will compete in three categories — fashion, talent and swim suit — and finalists will advance to the Miss Big Spring Contest to be held April 29.

In the fashion category, the contestants may model for a business sponsor. Spring fashions will be modeled for clothing stores, hair styles for beauty shops, and so forth. Any business that wishes to sponsor a girl may do so.

The Press Club at the college is sponsoring the event. Information may be obtained at the "El Nido" office on campus.

EXAMPLES OF JUNKED CARS
Pictures made by police from all parts of city

Other Cities Also Facing Problem Of Junked Cars

The ordinance now under consideration by the Big Spring City Commission to remove junk cars is not an isolated case, Larry Crow, city manager, pointed out last week. Cities throughout the state are being forced to do something about the growing number of cars that are abandoned or partially dismantled. "It is one of the many problems of our modern world, Crow observed. "While many cars are traded in on new ones, others are just abandoned after being partially stripped."

Boomerangs Bring 'Tears Of Blood'

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — "I shed tears of blood when I see Japanese boomerangs imported into this country," Bill Onus told the annual conference on aboriginal affairs.

Speaking as president of the Victorian Aborigines Advancement League, Onus said various members of Parliament "seem to feel friendship with the Japanese (in trade) is more important than friendship with the aborigines."

These derelicts become safety and health hazards, he pointed out. Some become breeding places for rats and mosquitoes. Others are left insecurely blocked up and could fall on children playing around them.

"We see them around our city in many places, on private property as well as on public right-of-way, he said. A recent count in just one subdivision on the east side of the city showed 106 cars that might be considered under the proposed ordinance.

"The ordinance is not designed to inconvenience any resident legitimately working on his car," Crow emphasized. He said it provides that the owner of a junked car would not be contacted for 30 days, at which time he would be given an additional 10 days to sell or otherwise move the car.

Baptist Choir At Lamesa To Give Easter Cantata

LAMESA (SC) — The adult choir of the First Baptist Church will present the Easter cantata, "Golgotha," by Robert Graham Sunday at 6:30 p.m. Dr. George E. Worrell will be narrator for the cantata.

Soloists will include Mrs. Bob Milikan, Tawana Boatright, Mrs. Troy Dale Jr., Marcia Greaves, Mrs. Nolan Cope, Mrs. George E. Worrell, Richard Crawley, Gene Heald and Troy Dale Jr. Mrs. Dale will also be pianist with Mrs. Lanny Allen as organist. Kathy Crawley and Rebecca Dunn will play the flute and Jerry Purkable, education director for the church, will be violinist. Lanny Allen, music director, will conduct.

"We have already tried asking people to remove these hazards," he said, "and this method has had limited reaction." Anyone with a good reason for keeping a junk car will be given every consideration.

In one sense, the removal of junk cars is a part of our continuing Operation Sparkle project, Crow pointed out. "But most important, it is designed to eliminate hazards and unhealthy conditions in our city."

West Texas Rail Line Gains Steam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission approved Friday the application for construction in Texas of a new railroad line, the first such in years.

At a time when railroads throughout the country regularly are asking for abandonment of trackage and services, the ICC approved the application of the Permian Basin Railroad to build and operate a freight line 78 miles between Odessa and Seagraves in West Texas. It will also serve two intermediate communities, Andrews with a population of more than 11,000 and Seminole with a population of 6,000.

TO COST $10 MILLION
The cost of the new railroad was estimated at $10 million. Construction is to begin on or before April 1, 1968, and be completed within two years. The line will connect at Odessa with the Texas & Pacific Railway and at Seagraves with the Santa Fe Railroad.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., who has been working with West Texas interests to secure ICC approval of the application, hailed the action and said it would bring about a greatly

PEANUTS TO MUD

The ICC said the railroad anticipates revenues during the first year of operation of $1,516,343, operating expenses of $981,665 and railway operating income of $534,678. The company estimates 5 per cent increases each year for the first five years.

Interests protesting construction of the railroad estimated the line would produce a net loss of $159,037 in railway operating income, with annual losses increasing to $197,427 by the fifth year.

Tourism Boom

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Not counting American servicemen who came from South Vietnam to Formosa for rest and recreation, 33,722 foreign tourists visited this Nationalist China island in January-February, an increase of 7,702 over the first two months of 1966, the Tourism Bureau reported. The number of visiting servicemen was not available.

Returned To Face Arizona Charge

Samuel Searcy, wanted in Phoenix, Ariz., to answer charges of car theft, was flown back to that city Friday.

Searcy had been arrested by the city police here. Later, after a habeas corpus writ had been filed in his behalf, he was moved to the Howard County jail. A charge of defrauding an innkeeper had been filed against him and he was fined for the offense when he pleaded guilty in county court. Not having funds, he was kept in jail to liquidate the account. He had refused at first to waive extradition to Arizona. A few days ago, he notified Sheriff A. N. Standard he would waive. Arizona officers were notified and flew here to take custody of the man.

SALES TAX SELLING BIG JOB

T-a-x-e-s Spell Trouble For City Dads In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—City dads have trouble and they spell it t-a-x-e-s. Selling the Legislature on the local option one per cent city sales tax was a rough game, but apparently it was child's play compared to convincing the folks back home.

How, the mayors and councilmen must be asking themselves, "do you get a person to vote a tax on himself?" It won't be easy and may be impossible, at least anytime soon, indicates a survey of the Senate and comments from a few House members.

FAIRLY CERTAIN Fifteen of 31 senators were contacted and only one, Sen. A. R. Schwartz, Galveston, was fairly certain his city would adopt the levy.

I WILL HELP Three senators said cities in their districts might accept the tax "if it was presented just right." Eleven echoed the statement: "I seriously doubt if many, if any, cities in my district will approve it." Only one of six House members who told their views, Rep. Wilson Foreman, Austin, said, "I have a feeling they will approve it." "I think Corpus Christi will defeat it 5 to 1, and I will help them," said Rep. Ronald Bridges, Corpus Christi.

SELLING TASK If there is any chance at all for the tax—which many mayors said would solve their money problems—it is "a big selling job," everyone interviewed agreed.

What they have to sell is combining the 2 per cent state sales tax and 1 per cent local sales tax. This would add to the sales tax on the following schedule for a fraction of a dollar: 1 cent on purchases from 17 to 49 cents; 2 cents from 50 to 83; 3 cents from 84 to $1.16; 4 cents from $1.17 to $1.49 and 5 cents from $1.50 to $1.83. Above that, the tax would be 3 per cent of the amount of the sale.

DOUBTS Paso, the Senate sponsor, admitted: "There will have to be a proper presentation—the first reaction to taxes always is negative... the firemen, policemen and city employees who are not paid what they should be are for it—that's a strong force working for its passage."

It'll be one big selling job to sell it to Houston," said Sen. Chet Brooks, Pasadena, whose district includes a portion of Houston. Brooks said, however, he doubted if Baytown or Pasadena or any of the other 12 cities in his district would accept it.

The Senate's only Republican, Sen. Henry Grover, Houston, said, "I don't think the people of Houston will adopt it; frankly, I hope not." Houston's desire to build up its police and fire force might bring the city's approval, said Sen. Criss Cole, Houston, but he added, "otherwise, I have my doubts."

Mexico City Gearing To Handle Tourists

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico City's famous hospitality is going to get its biggest test ever next year when this country hosts the 1968 Olympic Games. Mexico wants to impress the world with its development and many people behind the Olympics feel one of the best ways to do this is by giving tourists a good impression of the country. Tourism is already one of Mexico's biggest dollar earners. It is well-controlled and well-handled by the government tourist office. Many Mexicans expect the Olympics to be a big boom for the tourist industry. But they predict it will be a long-range boom, not one that a lot will put more money in Mexican pockets during the Olympics themselves. So the tourist during the month of October, 1968, is going to be one of the most pampered people in Mexico. Hotel space and transportation are the most likely trouble spots for any city holding the Olympics. Mexico thinks it can solve both problems.

The government virtually has commandeered every decent hotel in Mexico City and surrounding cities for the month of October. A special lodging committee has been set up under the tourist office and the Olympic Organizing Committee just to guarantee hotel reservations. Ramon Alatorre, a former presidential assistant, is head of the committee. All requests for hotel space and tickets go to Alatorre's office. The office assigns the reservations to various hotels and not until five months before the games can a hotel accept a reservation on its own. By then they will probably all be booked, anyway. Despite earlier indications, the government is not going to attempt to limit a tourist's stay in Mexico City during the games. "There has been some confusion about this," Alatorre said. "We are not, absolutely not, going to try to restrict the time a tourist can stay here. He can stay as long as he wants." But the government is trying to limit tourism during the games to those who are actually interested in seeing part of the Olympics. An information sheet distributed by Alatorre's office says, "there is to be no bed without a ticket and no ticket without a bed." This means anyone who plans to visit Mexico City during the games is going to have to buy at least one ticket a day to the Olympics if he wants hotel space.

Big 10 Rules Criticized

CHICAGO (AP) — A former Big Ten football coach said college rules are so strict and unrealistic that they encourage hypocrisy.

"Everybody cheats a little, some cheat a whole lot," the spokesman, who preferred to remain anonymous, said in discussing the recent crackdown on the University of Illinois in the $21,000 slush fund case.

Another coach who moved to a different conference commented: "You can't let a boy go around with holes in his shoes, but if you help him you are breaking the code. It's ridiculous. No wonder the rules always are being broken."

Illinois was slapped down for doing out trivial sums — $15 and $35 a month generally — to needy football and basketball players over a five-year period.

The university, through President Dr. David D. Henry, blew the whistle on itself, only to get the book thrown at it.

Seven star athletes were suspended, five permanently, their careers virtually destroyed. The Big Ten Conference told Illinois to fire head football coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes and assistant Howard Braun or face suspension. The coaches resigned.

"It's like getting the electric chair for spitting on the sidewalk," said Clive Follmer, former Illinois athlete and now a successful attorney in Champaign, Ill.

"You have one policeman to patrol a city. He nabs 17 law-breakers and three million go free. This is the same thing."

Somebody suggested it was like being tried and convicted by the Mafia or the James boys.

Half a dozen of the conference members who voted such stiff punishment for the offenders have been caught with their fingers in the till themselves. Some got off more lightly. Michigan State is sweating out the final year of a four-year suspended probation for paying air fare home for one of its football players.

A spokesman for the conference had an explanation. "Illinois kept a detailed book on its fund and the disbursements," the official said. "The fund was operated with the knowledge of the coaches, who knew it was against the rules. The evidence against others is not always as concrete."

2-4A Scrap Due To Be Close

If the prognosticators are right, the upcoming District 2-AAAA baseball race will be the closest in history.

Odessa High was picked by coaches and sports writers to win the flag but beat Abilene Cooper by a mere point and Permian by two in the balloting.

Coaches did not vote for their own teams in the election. Sports writers cast ballots for all eight teams. Points were awarded on coaches' ballots thusly: first place, seven; second, six; etc. First place votes on the writers' ballots were awarded eight points.

Both Odessa and Cooper got five first place votes in the election while Permian got the other three. None of the three top teams was voted lower than fourth in the election.

Big Spring placed seventh in the voting, immediately behind Midland High and immediately ahead of San Angelo.

Persons participating in the vote were Fern Smathers, San Angelo; Oakey Hagood, Big Spring; Blakely Blackburn, Abilene High; Henry Colwell, Cooper; Dub Headrick, Midland High; Ernie Johnson, Midland Lee; Gene McCanlies, Permian; and Carl Beard, Odessa High, all coaches; and Bob Milburn, San Angelo; James McAfee, Abilene; Ted Battles, Midland; Naaman Nickell, Odessa; and Tommy Hart, Big Spring, all writers.

The predicted order of finish, with points:

- 1. Odessa High, 76.
- 2. Abilene Cooper, 75.
- 3. Odessa Permian, 74.
- 4. Midland Lee, 58.
- 5. Abilene High, 43.
- 6. Midland High, 37.
- 7. Big Spring, 23.
- 8. San Angelo, 18.

Jacobson Added To Lee Staff

MIDLAND — Jack Jacobson, formerly a Lubbock High School varsity assistant, has joined the Midland Lee football staff. Jacobson played his collegiate ball at Oklahoma State University and was with the San Diego Chargers of the AFL at one time. He will coach the defensive backfield here under head coach Bob Burris.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Region V May Be Safe For Time Being

BY TOMMY HART

Buddy Travis, basketball coach at HCJC and Region V director, feels rather strongly that his region will be left alone by the National JC Athletic Association. There had been some talk that the teams in this area would be divided up by other regions.

DOUG ROBINSON

Travis returned from the National tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas, with that conviction, mainly because the section had too many strong teams. He reasons the regions centering around Cameron, Okla., Tyler and San Jacinto in East-South Texas and Moberly, Mo., are safe for the time being for the same reason. Travis plans shortly to talk with Chuck Smith of Odessa Permian, Sam Bradley of San Angelo and Robert Jackson of Big Spring, among others, hoping to get them to enroll in school here. Travis came away from the National tournament with the nagging belief that Cameron might have been shafted in its semifinal game with Moberly, Mo., the ultimate champion. Incidentally, Big Spring is assured of hosting the Region V Basketball tournament for one year only. If it makes a good host in the 1968 meet, it stands a reasonably good chance of getting the meet again. The site of the 1969 tournament will be determined during the tournament here next March. One way the tournament committee would look with favor upon Big Spring as a tournament site in 1969 and beyond would be to offer the coaches bringing the top three or four teams here some expense money for trips to the national tournament. The coaches do all the voting on tournament sites. That practice is followed in several other regional tournaments. Some observers felt Gerald Myers departed the Lubbock school system for that coaching job at Houston Baptist College because new emphasis is being placed on football at the expense of other sports in the Lubbock system. Myers had had only token praises in his long tenure there, too. It's conceded he'll have a tough time recruiting for his new school for some time.

Doug Robinson decided to give up baseball at the local school in order to concentrate on football. He hopes to come along fast enough to earn an athletic scholarship next fall. He's got the potential to be a really good one. Lou Camilli, the Texas A&M infielder, recently ran up a $4.45 bill for one meal in a cafeteria. A restaurant official said it was the biggest individual tab he's seen in more than 20 years. Charley Bright, the new coaching aide here, said that University of Houston officials thought sure they'd land the Bridge City great, Steve Worster, before the big back signed with Texas. If Steve had signed with Houston, he'd have pulled several boys along with him. Bright saw Worster play several times, in fact, coached teams that faced him and Bridge City, and thinks Steve will be a great one. Tom King, who is leaving Big Spring to become coach at Kilgore, says one of the things that influenced his decision was he has to make a home for his aging father. Scout Tom Braatz, who recommended that the Atlanta Falcons draft Randy Matson, says he regards the Texan as the world's greatest athlete. If he does play pro ball, Randy will probably be either a defensive tackle, defensive end, tight end or offensive tackle. Although he weighed 245 while still in high school, Matson could run the 100 in just over ten seconds. Royce Berry, the Odessan who was dismissed from the University of Houston football squad after five games last year for disciplinary reasons, is back with the squad in spring workouts. Look for the Detroit Tigers to make a serious run at the American League flag this season. The Snyder Country Club had a serious fire in its pro shop recently, with the result that its interior was a total loss. Cliff Patton, the former Big Spring coach who goes back into pro ball as a scout shortly, says the ivory hunters no longer seek a defensive back who can do the 100 in under ten seconds. Patton says the minimal speed requirement is 10.8 seconds. The scouts are attracted to the agile individual who can move backward about as fast as he can advance forward. The real speed merchants are prone to overrun their quarries, according to Cliff. Jody Coleman, the Permian halfback, will enroll at NM-MI in Roswell, N.M., this fall. Researchers are experimenting with track shorts that are ventilated in the rear, theorizing that some shorts balloon with air when the athletes are at full speed, thereby acting as parachutes and slowing the runners.

Press Club Sponsors Miss HCJC Pageant

By JEAN FANNIN
A Miss HCJC Pageant is being planned for April 7 at the junior college by the Press Club. The contest will be held as a preliminary to the annual Miss Big Spring Contest scheduled for April 29 this year.

Any female student of HCJC who has never been married may enter. Out-of-town students are welcome and encouraged to enter.

Entrants will need to find a business in Big Spring or their home town to sponsor them. The Press Club will assist them in this requirement.

THREE CATEGORIES

Participants must enter all three categories of the contest. The three categories include a fashion show in which candidates will model spring fashions selected by their sponsor, a talent show and a swim suit review.

If she is selected as a finalist at the contest, the entrant tentatively agrees to enter the Miss Big Spring Pageant April 29.

This pageant is being held to promote cultural education among campus students and to provide entries from HCJC for the Miss Big Spring Contest.

The Miss HCJC Pageant will be held in the Student Union Building on campus. Tickets for those not connected with HCJC will be 50 cents. All HCJC students will be admitted on their activity cards.

Girls wishing to enter may apply at the El Nido office in the SUB.

SENATE CONVENTION

The Student Senate met Wednesday during activity period in the Parlor Board Room of the SUB. Delegates to the state convention were announced by Jerry Peurifoy, president. Sue Burns, Ray Graves, Penny Frazier and Jerry Peurifoy will represent HCJC at the meeting April 6-8 in Pasadena, Tex.

Eighth Graders Present Assembly

By MARY ELLEN HEDGES
An Easter assembly was presented Wednesday afternoon by the eighth grade speech department. David Anderson, eighth grade class president, served as master of ceremonies.
Others in the program were Joy Stevens, Cheri Turner, Sharon Cook, Belinda Gonzales, Jon Rice, Mark Slate, Gary Holley and Ruth Ann Moss.
The choir also had a part in the program. They sang "O Taste and See," in which Mary Dirks sang a solo part, and "Sing Joyous Christians."
Mrs. Naomi Graham, accompanied by Mrs. Velma Gries, sang "He." Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Jane Upton and Mrs. Sue Pearson sang "Were You There."
The eighth grade presented Mrs. Marjorie Talmadge with a corsage. The presentation was made by Ruth Ann Moss and David Anderson.
Mr. Athol Atkins, speech teacher, gave the benediction.
The seventh, eighth, and ninth grade volleyball teams played Goliad Monday night. The seventh graders lost, although the eighth and ninth graders won. The Yeardleys played Lamesa Tuesday night. Runnels lost all three games.
Two ensembles in first class receiving first place. The first one was Audon Saldivar, Keith Gum and Gallyn Smith.
The others were Steve Hughes, Janie Molina, Izell Johnson and Becky James.
One ensemble in second class received a first place. It was made up of Betty Chavarria, Gina Hickman and Joanie Arrick.
Some of the members went to high school Wednesday morning to hear the Texas Tech concert band.

STANTON SOPHOMORE
The installation of new officers closed the meeting. Cindy Davis, a Stanton sophomore, was elected as treasurer for next year.
She will be attending the National Convention in Los Angeles in July. Cindy Clements and Dianna Mims modeled dresses that they made for home experience in the style show. Beverly Clements was the voting delegate.
A "Style and Mock Show" was presented for the high school student body Tuesday. The Pep Squad sponsored the show with the FHA in charge of the mock style show. Downtown merchants furnished the fashions for the style show.
Cindy Pickett narrated the style show. The mock style show was narrated by Eunice Stephenson and the girls participating in it made their own costumes. The money went to help the cheerleaders pay their expenses.
Alma Mashburn and Anna Thompson pantomimed three selections. "Let's Get Together," "Allely Oop," and "Won't Go Hunting With You, Jake."

HOPES TO TURN PRO SOME DAY

R. Smith Twice Played Course At Home In 50's

By NATE MITCHELL

Professional golfer Jack Nicklaus won the Ohio State Open when he was only 16 years of age. Anyone who knows anything about the game of golf knows that this was no mean feat. It is agreed that the burly Ohioan's accomplishment at that age was the exception rather than the rule.

Robb Smith, currently an instructor pilot at Webb AFB, is also a golfer. Coming from a family of golfers, Smith became exposed to the game very early. He actually started competing at age 14, while in high school, and lettered for the Twin Falls, Idaho, high school squad four consecutive years.

PRO HELPFUL

He feels that the most important elements necessary for becoming good at the game are desire, practice and time. He adds that the presence of a "pro" is also most important. He had the local country club professional beside him most of the time for a three year period. Robb Smith did nothing less than make his tutor proud. He not only was able to shoot even par golf his freshman year in high school, but took time out after school to win the Twin Falls City golf championship eight times. Feeling that one can never get too much practice, he averaged 40 holes a day during summer vacation from high school.

By the time he arrived at the University of Idaho, Smith had little difficulty making the links team. After the first year on the frosh squad, he joined the varsity group and lost only two matches in three years. He also was a medalist in the Skyline Conference for two years. Of his four years at the university, he copped the tourney championship three of these, and feels that his greatest year there came while he was a sophomore.

In the summers away from college, he averaged 36 holes per day—just to stay in shape. His first win in the Big Spring area came three years ago when he copped the Webb tournament title, then went on to become runner-up at the Air Training Command tournament.

That same year, he placed 12th in all of the Air Force. Last year, he again took home the Webb title, and later placed fourth at ATC. In the All-Air Force vying, he placed a more respectable sixth. At the All-

(Photos by Nate Mitchell)

DEAD AIM FOR PIN Webb's Smith tough competitor

Air Force meet, he bogied the last three holes for the sixth place finish.

"By paring either of the three holes," he laments, "I could have tied for first place." To date Robb Smith's toughest competition has been in the National Publics tournament (compared to the National Amateur Open), where all of the top amateurs playing public courses in the country get together to decide who swings the best wood or iron. Smith's 144 was nothing to be ashamed of—considering the cut-off was 149—and his sixth place finish made him feel pretty good. The gasser, however, was that Smith was beaten in the quarter-finals by the tournament winner who edged him by a stroke in the last two holes.

LOTS OF RECORDS How about some records? Smith holds the course record for his hometown course—a sizzling 10 under par 58. He shot a 59 at Idaho, where his 27 on the front nine set a mark, although the 59 just tied the existing record. He also holds the Pocatello, Idaho, course record with a 65; has tied Webb AFB's record of 68, and had the Big Spring Country Club course mark of 65 until the pro there overturned his mark with a 63. Since that time, Smith's best 18 holes have yielded 64 swings at the Big Spring club.

Robb Smith's biggest ambition is to turn professional and get on the PGA tour. He has already been offered a job as assistant pro at a Phoenix, Ariz., country club by the pro there—an old links opponent of his.

Of the professional golfers now on the tour, Smith has played several. Perhaps the winningest of the lot is Babe Hickey. Babe and Robb used to play together back at the university. Seems that Babe would always manage to edge Robb by a stroke or two. For example, in the Idaho State Amateur Open, Babe won five of six years—each year downing Smith by one or two strokes. Robb Smith has shot two holes-in-one (one in Spokane, Wash.; the other in Twin Falls), but feels that his double eagle (three under par) in high school was the biggest thrill. Over in Midland recently, Smith missed the cut-off for the National Open by one shot—the same as he did in Spokane a few years back.

Smith feels that perhaps Big Spring's best linksters are Bob Wright and country club pro Jerry Green. Green has the distinction of shooting a course-clubbing ten-under 61 here recently.

Whenever Robb Smith isn't up in the blue at the controls of a jet plane, he is somewhere on the links swinging away. "I still have a lot to learn," he says, "and you can never get too much practice."

Bronchos Split Two Contests

LUBBOCK—Odessa High and Lubbock Monterey finished all even in a practice twin bill here Friday, the home town Plainsmen winning the first game, 2-0 but dropping the second one, 3-2.

Despite Odessa's ace hurler Gilbert Vasquez's one-hitter, the Plainsmen won with the help of four Odessa errors. Monterey's only hit came in the opening inning, but it counted two runs on a rash of bobbles spread over the fifth and sixth stanzas.

Vasquez issued only one walk and fanned five, bringing his season mark to 4-1. Winning pitcher Jim Godley copped his third win in four starts for the Plainsmen.

The five-hit pitching of Jerry Sharp enabled the Odessa club to bounce back in the nightcap and split the two-game series.

Dome Is Still Lure To Fans

HOUSTON—When the Houston Astros play the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday, March 31, in the Astrodome, total attendance to the Astrodome will soar over the eight million mark for less than two years that the unique stadium has been in operation.

Total attendance through Wednesday, March 22, was 7,988,001. Tours of the Astrodome have averaged about 1,000 visitors daily for the past week, and upwards of 20,000 fans are expected for the Astros' first game of 1967 in the Astrodome.

By the time the Astrodome celebrates its second birthday anniversary on April 9, total attendance is expected to be at 8,125,000. Astros games with the Dodgers on Saturday, April 1 and 2, and the next weekend with the New York Yankees, April 7, 8 and 9 are due to swell the attendance figures.

Baseball's significance to total attendance figures is shown by the fact that nearly five million came to see Astros baseball—exhibition and championship games.

Plenty of good seats are available for all the pre-season games and the opening games—Tuesday, April 11 and Wednesday, April 12 against the Atlanta Braves.

The attendance breakdown:

Clay Fight Called Off

CHICAGO (AP)—A proposed fight between Cassius Clay and Oscar Bonavena of Argentina in Tokyo on May 27 is definitely off, the heavyweight champion's manager, Herbert Muhammad, said Saturday.

"The Tokyo fight has fallen through and if Muhammad Ali has any other fights, they will be in the United States," said the manager. "But at present we've stopped booking fights."

"As for ever fighting Bonavena, I don't know," he said. "I've heard from his lawyers, but never from him personally."

"Any plans are up in the air because of Muhammad Ali's draft status," he added. "He is with his attorney, Hayden Covington in Houston today."

Clay has been ordered to report for military induction April 11. He is seeking deferment on the basis that he is a Black Muslim minister.

In Tokyo, the Japan Boxing Commission said Friday that a Clay-Bonavena fight scheduled there was news to it. Kotal Kuchi, secretary general of the commission, said the commission never had been approached on the planned title match. He said the commission sticks to its rule prohibiting a title bout.

between two visiting foreign boxers. The comment followed a report that Art Life Association, a Japanese sports promotion group, had arranged a Clay-Bonavena match in Tokyo May 27.

The late Peter Marshall wrote: "The Voice has said: 'Because I live, ye shall live also.' Our hearts knew all along it must be so. It was what we wanted to hear, and now that we have heard it, we have solved the mystery of life." As do faithful families in all Christendom this day, Capt. and Mrs. Norman A. Little go to their appointed services to worship the risen Lord. Captain Little is attached to the 3561st Student Squadron at Webb Air Force Base, and has been here three years. The children are twins James and John, Mike, Jenny, Mary, Norman Jr. and Charles. (Photo by Frank Brandon).

Marilyn Jo Lawson Weds R. W. Salmon

Miss Marilyn Jo Lawson exchanged wedding vows with Robert Wayne Salmon Friday evening at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church. The Rev. Dan Sanford, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Dawson, 1800 Nolan, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Salmon, Richmond, Va. Gracing the altar were seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers and emerald ferns. Flanking the arrangement were bouquets of white gladioli, stock, pompon chrysanthemums and pink carnations. The family pews were marked with white satin bows. Selections of traditional wedding music were presented by Mrs. Jerry Oliphant, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Vaughn Martin as she sang, "Footsteps of Jesus," "Whither Thou Goest," and as the couple knelt, "The Wedding Prayer." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. The bodice was overlaid in white Chantilly lace and featured long petal point sleeves of lace. The chapel-length train of peau de soie was fastened at the waistline by a Dior bow in the front and back. Her bouffant veil of French illusion was attached to a satin and lace pillbox hat. For her bouquet, she carried atop a white lace-covered Bible, a cascade of French carnations centered with white roses, backed with tulle and picot ribbon. Miss Linda Whisenhunt was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Pamela Salmon of Richmond, sister of the groom, and Miss Linda Fenley. They wore identical gowns of hot pink peau de soie designed in the Empire style featuring lace trim at the waistline. Their headpieces were matching pink halos with shoulder-length veils. They carried nosegays of pale pink carnations with tulle and pink satin streamers. Best man was Mr. Salmon, father of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Robert R. Adkins, cousin of the groom, and William A. Dunkley, both of Richmond. Ushers were Charles D. Mangum, Doyle Lawson and Jerry Oliphant. Flower girl was Miss Ressie Marie Mangum, and taper lighters were Miss Debra Lawson and Miss Sharon Kay Peavey. Their identical dresses were Empire styled in pale pink lace, and they wore matching halos with short veils. Their corsages were of deep pink carnations. For a wedding trip to San Antonio and Austin, the bride wore a two-piece hot pink linen suit with a white overblouse and a matching pink pillbox hat. Her accessories were white lizard and she wore the corsage taken from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

Mrs. Salmon is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of the cappella choir and the All Region choir. She attended two years at Howard County Junior College, where she received music scholarships in voice and choir. The bridegroom is a graduate of Midlothian High School, Midlothian, Va., and attended Richmond Professional Institute before serving four years in the Air Force. He is presently with Civil Service at Webb Air Force Base.

RECEPTION
A reception was held at the church fellowship hall, where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests. A floor-length cloth of white ruffled organdy covered the refreshment table. A centerpiece was formed with the attendants' bouquets, flanked with candelabra. The three-tiered wedding cake was separated by columns and was decorated with pink confection roses, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Paul T. Peavey of Garland, and Mrs. Charles D. Mangum, sisters of the bride. The groom's table was covered with an orchid linen cloth featuring a purple and orchid flower centerpiece. A silver coffee service was used and Mrs. Olen Fryar presided. Miss Jean Malone, Pomona, Calif., was in charge of the register. Members of the houseparty were Miss Ann Harrell, Miss Lou Ann Stroup, Mrs. R. M. Stroup, Mrs. Wallace Napper, Mrs. Virgil Smedley, Mrs. William Fenley, Mrs. Bill Banks, Mrs. D. W. Powell and Mrs. Ray S. Parker. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Robert L. Cooper and Mrs. R. Adkins of Richmond, and Mrs. T. M. Malone of Pomona, Calif. Following the Thursday evening rehearsal, the wedding party and relatives of the honored couple were guests at a buffet at the home of the bride's parents. Gifts were presented to the attendants.

MRS. JOHN MARBROOKS SWEETEN JR. (Brookshaw Studio)

Miss Mary Kinney Weds John Sweeten

Miss Mary Claire Kinney became the bride of John Marbrooks Sweeten Jr. at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony performed in the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor, was the officiating minister.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Kinney, 801 W. 18th, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marbrooks Sweeten Sr. of Rock Springs.

Centering the altar was a large sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums surrounded by emerald palms, and the nuptial scene was illuminated by tall cathedral tapers in seven-branched candelabra which flanked the altar. Wedding tapers marked the aisle, and ivy marked the family pews. During part of the ceremony, the couple knelt on a white prie dieu.

A prelude of wedding selections by Wagner, Bach, Dacqui, Schubert and Mendelssohn was presented by the organist, J. Ball, who accompanied Miss Karen Kee as she sang "Because."

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of candlelight peau de soie designed with a scoop neckline and short sleeves. Panels of Alencon lace appliques accenting the bodice were repeated on the ankle-length dome skirt which extended into a chapel train. A jeweled lace and peau de soie headpiece held her veil of imported English silk illusion. She carried a crescent of gardenias and ivy backed with tulle and showered with picot ribbon.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Leon Johnson of Fulton, Ky. Her hot pink peau de soie gown was sleeveless and worn with elbow-length white kid gloves. Her headpiece was a matching Dior bow, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Happiness red roses with avocado green velvet streamers. Bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Sweeten of Rock Springs, the bridegroom's sister; Mrs. John E. Kinney of Austin and Miss Carolyn McDonald of E. Lansing, Mich. Miss Leslie Kinney of Amarillo was junior bridesmaid. Their gowns were styled identically to Mrs. Johnson's in a deep cerise and they carried bouquets of light pink roses.

Joe H. Franks of Warsaw, Mo., was best man, and groomsmen were Harvey B. Manbeck, Robeson, Penn., and Ronnie W. Luce of Houston. Junior groomsmen were Mike Thomas and the bride's brother, John E. Kinney of Austin. Serving as ushers were Edward Young, Rock Springs; Dr. Mike E. Tatum, College Station; Bob L. Clary, Odum, Ga.; Richard M. Eudaly, El Paso; James E. Epperson, San Antonio; and Emmett Kent Morgan, Ruidoso, N. M.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. With them in receiving guests were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Armstrong of Marshall, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Frank Sweeten of Uvalde, grandmother of the bridegroom; and the feminine attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a white tulle and Chantilly lace cloth, scalloped at the edge and accented with wedding bells and ribbon. The centerpiece was a three-tiered silver candelabrum arranged with white roses and stock. A four-tiered white wedding cake was topped with satin bells, gardenias and Stephanotis, and punch was served from a silver service.

On the bridegroom's table was a floor-length cutwork cloth and a silver compote holding deep red roses. Table accessories were of crystal and silver, and to one side was placed a chocolate cake in the form of a horseshoe.

Guests were registered by Miss Ann Kinney of Amarillo and Miss Kathy Henderson of Deer Park. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Julie Kinney of Amarillo.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Kent Morgan, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. Elvis McCrary, Mrs. S. Gorman, Mrs. Pat Blewett, Mrs. Gerald Wooten, Mrs. Jackie Thomas, Mrs. Charles Kaufmann, Mrs. Jerry Grimes, Mrs. Skipper Driver and Mrs. Jana Kay Lanceley, all of Big Spring; Mrs. Charles Vincent and Mrs. Lefty Morris, both of Austin; Mrs. Dennis Wintertrowd and Mrs. Franklin Williamson, both of San Angelo; Mrs. J. E. Epperson and Mrs. Vernon Massey, both of San Antonio; Mrs. Walley Cups, Fort Worth; Mrs. Mike Tatum, College Station; Mrs. R. Luce, Houston; and Miss Cheryl Jones, Lubbock.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Armstrong, Marshall; Mrs. Frank Sweeten, Uvalde; Mr. and Mrs. Sterling E. McKinney, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henderson, Deer Park; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeten, Rock Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Caveness and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olgan and Tad, and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Towry, all of San Angelo; Mrs.

Miss Cook To Marry C. Conner

The engagement of Miss Suzanne Cook and Coye Conner Jr. was formally announced Saturday morning with a coffee held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

Miss Cook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook, 1706 Harvard, and her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Coye Conner Sr., 2406 Ridgcrest, Garland. The couple has scheduled their wedding for 8 p.m., June 3, in the First Presbyterian Church with Perry B. Cotham, minister of the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, officiating.

The honoree was attired in an apricot yoked shift and was presented a corsage of white carnations. Wearing white carnations, also, were her mother and her fiance's mother.

Members of the houseparty, who wore single carnations tied with apricot ribbon, were Mrs. Hal Battle, Mrs. Vernon Baird, Mrs. J. W. Purser, Mrs. Guilford Jones, Mrs. Harold Talbot, Mrs. R. R. McEwen, Mrs. Joe Fields, Mrs. Avery Falkner, Miss Jackie Cook, Miss Karon Koger, Miss Jody McClung, Miss Jane McElrath, Miss Charlotte Shive, Miss Dianne McEwen, Mrs. Joe Hedleston and Miss Nancy Hedleston.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cutwork cloth and centered with a white epergne holding an arrangement of yellow and white lilies, apricot carnations, white stock and daisies. Similar ar-

Wedding Solemnized On Saturday Evening

Miss Mary Carolyn Rau and John Charles Brinning, exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening in the First Assembly of God Church. The Rev. Homer Rich performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Rau, 1742 Purdue, and Mr. and Mrs. Gayle L. Brinning of Keota, Iowa.

Centering the altar was a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, flanked by palms of emerald foliage and candelabra holding white tapers.

Mrs. Tom Lakey served as organist and sang, "I Love You Truly." She joined the Rev. Tom Lakey in singing "Because" and "Always."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a cage-styled gown of white peau de sole. The bodice and long tapered sleeves were designed with re-embroidered Alencon lace, and a Dior bow was featured at the back neckline complimenting a softly gathered Watteau train. A cluster of re-embroidered Alencon lace petals scattered with bridal pearls formed the headpiece and was attached to a veil of silk English illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and feathered carnations showed with white picot ribbons.

Miss Floretta Rau served as her sister's maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of aqua blue peau de sole, designed with a bow at the back waistline. She wore matching shoes, and carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Pruitt and Mrs. Walter Cummings. They wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor.

Identical to that of the maid of honor.

Roger Brinning, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Sidney Rau, brother of the bride, and Eddie Wulf. Ushers were Richard Nelson and Donnie Brinning.

Rene Ragan served as flower girl. She wore an aqua blue peau de sole street-length dress and carried pink rose petals in a white basket.

Timothy Decker was ring bearer, and altar tapers were lighted by Orville Rau, brother of the bride, and Timothy Dunn.

The bride's traveling costume was an aqua blue knit two-piece suit with beige accessories, and she wore a corsage from her bride's bouquet. The couple's destination was undisclosed. Upon returning they will be at home in Brighton, Iowa.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, and attended Howard County Junior College. She has been employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital. The bridegroom graduated from Keota High School in Keota, Iowa, and has served in the United States Air Force. He is presently engaged in farming.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Those in the receiving line were the honored couple, parents, and feminine attendants.

Members of the house party included Mrs. Don Rau, Mrs. J. D. Ragan, Mrs. Bill Phipps, Mrs. Jim Ryan, Mrs. Fred Pickett, Mrs. Ed Thomas and Mrs. W. L. Pruitt.

The refreshment table was laden with a white organza cloth over white satin, and centered with bouquets from the wedding attendants. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pale blue roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Mr. and Mrs. Elba Lagal of Miss Judy Stocks presided at the guest register.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Goldie Duke of Lubbock and Mrs. Elba Lagal of Carey, Kan.

MRS. KEITH HODNETT

Vows Said In Berea Church

Double ring nuptial vows were repeated by Miss Carol Ann Morris and Keith Hodnett Friday evening in the sanctuary of the Berea Baptist Church. The Rev. Bill O'Dell officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ewing B. Thorpe Jr., 516 Scott, and Edmon D. Morris of Big Spring. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Hodnett of Vincent.

The altar was enhanced by a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and Easter lilies flanked by emerald palms and white cathedral tapers in branched candelabra. Miss Donna Duke accompanied Jimmie Hensley as he sang, "Because." The couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu as the soloist sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her step-father, Ewing B. Thorpe Jr., the bride was attired in a white formal crepe gown with sequin scalloping at the neckline. The bodice was designed of Chantilly lace, and the full skirt was softly pleated at the back. She wore a crown of scalloped Chantilly lace, frosted with crystal beads and seed pearls, which anchored her veil of silk illusion. She carried a white orchid in the center of feathered carnations showered with picot streamers.

Miss Karen Miller, maid of honor, wore a street-length dress of rose crepe with lace sleeves and bodice. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and feathered carnations.

Miss Sarah Morris was bridesmaid, and Angela Hodnett was the junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses made identical to the maid of honor's.

Ted Merrick was best man. Gordon Morris, brother of the bride, served as groomsman, and ushers were Lawrence Leonard of Sand Springs and Mike Himsley of Coahoma. Paula Graves of Lamesa was the flower girl, and Douglas Aston was the ring bearer.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a suit of avocado and beige with white accessories. The couple will be at home at 810 Douglas.

The bride is a senior student at Big Spring Senior High School and is employed at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company. She is a member of the Desk and Derrick Club, Vocational Office Education Club and the Shorthand Club.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is attending Howard County Junior College. He is associated with Gibson's Discount Center. While in high school he served as president of the junior and senior classes. He was a member of the student council and played football with the Coahoma Bulldogs.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the fellowship hall. Those joining the bridal couple in the receiving line were the parents and feminine attendants.

The bride's table was laid with a pink nylon net cloth over taffeta, and centered with a floral arrangement and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Small pink roses surrounded the base of the cake, and crystal and silver appointments completed the arrangements.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a pink linen cloth. Chocolate cake and silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Jimmie Hensley, sister of the bride, presided at the guest register. Members of the house party were Mrs. Hack Miller, Mrs. Dorothy Hensley, Miss Evvie Miller, Mrs. David Hodnett, Mrs. Claude Hodnett and Mrs. Paul Graves of Lamesa.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brooks of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Graves of Lamesa.

The rehearsal dinner was held Thursday evening with 22 guests attending. The engaged couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Double Ring Service Performed In Home

Mrs. Janelle Davidson and James Robert Pasley were married Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Vines, 1421 Hilltop. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Vines and the late V. A. (Bud) McGilvray.

Double ring wedding vows were read by the Rev. John Black, minister of the First Christian Church, before an improvised altar banked in basket arrangements of white gladioli and greenery. Lighted white tapers in silver holders were placed on the fireplace mantle.

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride chose a dress of ice blue lace over a white sheath, fashioned with a high-rising neckline and long gathered sleeves. Her accessories were of ice blue silk, and she carried a bouquet of white roses showered with blue ribbon.

Mrs. A. M. Lockridge of Abilene, sister of the bride, served as her only attendant. She was attired in a light blue sheath dress and wore matching accessories.

George Head was best man. Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will be at home in Midland. The bride is a graduate of Mertzon High School and attended Odessa Junior College. The bridegroom graduated from Ida Bell High School in Ida Bell, Okla.

RECEPTION
The couple was honored with a reception immediately following the ceremony. Those receiving guests were the bridal couple, her mother and Mrs. A. E. Lockridge.

The refreshment table was laid with white linen and centered with a cutglass branched candelabrum designed with glass leaves and flowers entwined with blue bows and fresh flowers. The bride's cake was white with blue roses and silver wedding bells. A blue bow decorated the silver cake knife, and silver and crystal appointments completed the setting.

Mrs. Bobby Chowning of Midland presided at the guest register. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Dwayne Oyerman and Mrs. George Head.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ted O'Bryant of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cox of Langtry; Tommy McKinzie, Keith Pasley, Steve Pasley, Mr. and Mrs. Bonny Chowning and Dwayne Oyerman, all of Midland.

Bristows To Reside In Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Wagonseller of Lubbock are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Charlene Elizabeth, to J. Gordon Bristow Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, 554 Hillside.

The couple was married March 17 in Oklahoma City, Okla., with the bridegroom's brother, Keith Bristow, a student at Oklahoma University, serving as best man. Accompanying the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Wagonseller. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bride attended Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches and is employed by Radio-TV Station KLBK in Lubbock. Bristow, a student at Texas Tech, also attended Oklahoma University and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. In Big Spring, Bristow graduated from Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College.

The couple will reside at 2212 8th St., Apt. 35, Lubbock.

Sets Date

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Somers of Odessa are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary June, to William Joe Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Andrews of the Coronado Hills Apts. The wedding will be solemnized May 27 in Odessa.

Reunion Of Club Slated In Lubbock

Former members of the Koshari Club of Texas Technological College are planning a reunion to be held on April 22 at the Villa Inn in Lubbock. The event will commemorate the 35th Anniversary of the founding of the club.

Visitors will gather at the Villa Inn, 5507 Avenue Q, at 10:30 a.m., for a coffee and visiting period prior to a luncheon which is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. The registration fee is $3.50.

All former members of the club whose addresses were available have been sent letters announcing the reunion. Any alumnae in Big Spring or area who has not received a letter, is invited to contact Mrs. Elmer H. McKinney, 2124 56th St., Mrs. L. F. Holland, 4305 45th St., or Miss Dorothy Rylander, 1808 14th St. (all of Lubbock) for further information about the reunion prior to April 14.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Charlotte Shive and Anthony Wayne Rhodes is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Shive, 604 Bucknell. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Cecil C. Rhodes, 1513 Tucson, and the late Rev. Rhodes. The wedding has been set for August 26 in the First Methodist Church. Both are students at Texas Tech.

It Is Not A Pretty PICTURE

The crosses in the shadows were real. Three hung there and died in agony... two for their own wrong-doing... one for yours.

That chapter to which the Book lies open — it tells of the scandal... the indignity... the injustice — and the pain.

The lilies?... symbols of what men call Easter Day! When the women found the tomb empty... and were afraid to believe He was risen...

IT is not a pretty picture. IT is the stark reminder of man's distrust of God... and God's love of man.

And you'll let nothing keep you from worshipping your Lord when you stop thinking of IT as a pretty picture.

IT happened.

For you — IT happened.

THE CHURCH
FOR ALL...
... ALL FOR
THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Couple In Marriage Friday

The wedding of Miss Mary Kathryn Eggleston and Johnny Larry Merrick was solemnized at 8 o'clock Friday evening in a candlelight ceremony performed in the Trinity Baptist Church.

The Rev. Claud Craven officiated as double ring vows were exchanged before an altar illuminated by cathedral tapers in seven-branched candelabra garlanded with foliage. Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, with palms of jade foliage, completed the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie L. Eggleston, 525 Scott, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Merrick of Ackery.

Mrs. Donald Richardson, organist, and Mrs. Bill Hambrick, pianist, accompanied Leonard Moody as he sang "Twelfth of Never," "Because," and as the couple knelt, "The Lord's Prayer." Rev. Craven read from the Book of Ruth and Mr. and Mrs. Moody sang "Whither Thou Goest" as the couple left the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight peau de soie; the rounded neckline accented with a single strand of pearls. The semi-belted skirt was softly gathered to the fitted bodice which had tiny covered buttons as closings for the long petal point sleeves. The detachable train featured lace appliques entrusted with seed pearls, and seed pearls covered the crown which held her tiered, elbow-length veil of tulle.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of miniature white carnations centered with a white orchid and showered with satin picot.

Her jewelry was a ruby ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Lewis McKee.

MRS. JOHNNY LARRY MERRICK

(Bradshaw Studio)

ATTENDANTS

Miss Joyce Merrick, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor, and Miss Carolyn Craven was bridesmaid. Miss Merrick's gown of pale green peau de soie and Miss Craven's yellow peau de soie gown were identical and styled similar to the bride's gown. Their matching veils were attached to pillbox hats, and they carried long-stemmed yellow roses.

The bridegroom's brother, Jerry Merrick of Ackery, served as best man, and another brother, James Merrick, was groomsman. Ushers were Mike Eggleston and Jake Merrick, brothers of the couple; Phillip Shaffer and Joe Schaak of Cressfield, Ill. Don Eggleston, brother of the bride, and Jackie Merrick, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the altar tapers.

Julie Merrick, sister of the bridegroom, was the flower girl and wore a gown fashioned similar to the adult attendants'. The bride attended Big Spring schools and Howard County Junior College. She was a member of the Choir Club and DE Club of America and was employed at the State National Bank until the time of her marriage. The bridegroom, a graduate of Ackery High School, attended HCJC and participated in football and basketball. He is now serving in the Navy at San Jose, Calif., where the couple will reside.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall and were joined by the parents and feminine attendants in receiving guests who were registered by Mrs. James R. Merrick, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Members of the house party were Miss Connie Shaffer, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Ray Andrews, Mrs. Ronald Shaw, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Mrs. Roy Shaffer, Mrs. L. B. Thomas and Mrs. Henry Adams, all aunts of the bride. Mrs. Thomas provided music during the reception.

The bride's table was covered with white taffeta overlaid with flocked organza tied with yellow ribbon streamers. Centering the table was a crystal bowl holding yellow gladioli and white daisies and flanked by yellow candles in crystal holders.

The bridegroom's table was covered with brown linen overlaid with ecru lace and was centered with a brown vase holding yellow chrysanthemums. The accessories were china and silver. The five-tiered white wedding cake held a miniature bride and groom and the layers were separated with white swans. A chocolate cake was served from the bridegroom's table. Serving were Mrs. Jerry Merrick and Miss Jo Nell Merrick.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Max Hare and daughters, Fort Smith, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Culver, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Dee Ambrury, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Taylor, Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Wadell Strain, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Homer, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Branson Howard, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Miss Sharon Metcalf, Fort Worth.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was wearing a sleeveless-linen dress in a green floral print with coordinated green coat. Her accessories were black.

The rehearsal dinner was held Thursday evening at the Ramada Inn where the T-shaped table arrangement was accented with green and yellow floral arrangements. The bridegroom's parents were hosts, and 30 attended.

Mrs. Vernon Guthrie has returned from Gonzales where she has been receiving treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wynn and daughter, Phyllis, accompanied by Mrs. Sam Buchanan, have returned from Gainesville where they visited Tammy Dorton.

Mrs. Elnora Phillips spent Wednesday in Colorado City with her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Phelan.

Karen Kee Is Tea Honoree

Miss Karen Kee, bride-elect of Tommy Jordan Gentry, was honored with a pre-nuptial tea Saturday evening from 4 to 6:30 p.m. in the Blue Room of Coahoma Country Club. The honoree was attired in a white cashmere suit as she greeted approximately 200 guests.

The couple will be married June 10. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Charlene Kee, 800 Main, and Charles L. Kee of Fort Worth. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Gentry, 1200 E. 16th.

Hostesses were Mrs. Garner McAdams, Mrs. Jerry Hewitt, Mrs. Johnnie Winham, Mrs. J. H. Homan, Mrs. Sherman M. Smith, Mrs. J. B. Ewing, Mrs. Frances W. Griesse, Mrs. Frank McCabe, Mrs. Robert Lee, Miss Katherine Homan, Mrs. Tip Anderson, Mrs. Gail Bonner and Mrs. J. F. Ferguson of Lamesa.

The honoree's chosen colors of green and white were used in the table decorations, which featured a floor-length green gandy cloth centered with a five-tiered silver candelabrum entwined with garlands of orchids and greenery. The orchids were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Poland of Carmichael, Calif. Silver appointments completed the table setting. Mrs. Don Earl McCowan of Lubbock and Mrs. Vernon Massey of San Antonio presided at the tea service.

Miss Karen McGibon presided at the guest register which was covered with a green net and felt cloth featuring an Easter motif.

Members of the house party were Mrs. John Coffee, Mrs.

J. C. Pickle, Mrs. Walter Wheat, Mrs. Merrill Creighton, Mrs. John Richard Coffee, Mrs. John Coffee, Miss Lillian Jordan, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. Cecil Wasson, Mrs. Roger Hubbard, Mrs. Coy Nalley, Mrs. Thomas Hutto, Miss Tommy Lou Hutto, Mrs. Harry Jordan, Miss McGibbon, Mrs. Dexter Pate, Miss Karen Koger, Mrs. Wade Choate and Mrs. Charles Marchbanks. Also, Mrs. Willard Hendricks, Mrs. A. L. Tamplin, Mrs. Cornelia Gary, Miss Nancy Moore, Mrs. Jack Wilcox, Mrs. Kay Renfro, Mrs. Eleana Massey, Mrs. Tommy Rutledge, Miss Judy Jordan, Miss Martha Jordan, Miss Betty Jordan, Miss Cynthia Pond, Mrs. Charles Vincent of Austin, Mrs. Jerry K. Reid of Denver, Colo., Miss Katherine Hepner of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Ray Jackson of Odessa.

Organ music was provided during the tea by Mrs. Bonner and Mrs. Louis Heinze.

Miss Kee, a music major, is now teaching at Cambridge Elementary School, Alamo Heights, San Antonio. Gentry will graduate June 6 from the University of Texas.

C. Elliotts End Trip To Abilene

COAHOMA (SC) - Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Elliott and son, Billy Ross, have returned from Abilene where they have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bradford.

Mrs. Vernon Guthrie has returned from Gonzales where she has been receiving treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wynn and daughter, Phyllis, accompanied by Mrs. Sam Buchanan, have returned from Gainesville where they visited Tammy Dorton.

Mrs. Elnora Phillips spent Wednesday in Colorado City with her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Phelan.

Volunteer Classes

A new class for Red Cross Volunteers will begin April 12-13 at the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb Air Force Base. Classes will convene at 9 a.m. on April 13, and those attending should bring a sack lunch. Any person interested is asked to call Mrs. Walter Putnam at AM 3-6635, or Mrs. Larry Allen, at AM 7-6470.

Miss Kinney Honored At Rice Bag Party

Miss Mary Claire Kinney, who was married to John Marbrook Sweeten Jr., Saturday evening, was honored Friday evening with a kitchen gadget and rice bag party in the home of Mrs. Kent Morgan, Ponderosa Apts. Mrs. Morgan was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Franklin Williamson of San Angelo, Mrs. Jack Magee and Miss Susan Magee.

Miss Kinney was attired in an orange and beige linen sleeveless shift and was presented a corsage formed of orange spider chrysanthemums. With her to greet guests were her mother, Mrs. Leon Kinney and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. J. M. Sweeten Sr. of Rock Springs.

The bride-elect's colors of pink and cerise were used in party decorations. The refreshment table was covered with white linen and featured an Easter theme centerpiece formed of spring flowers interspersed with small bunnies, chicks and colored eggs.

Following the opening of gifts, the group made rice bags of cerise and pink tulle tied with pink yarn.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Phyllis Sweeten and Mrs. Ronnie Luce, both of Houston; Mrs. H. P. Armstrong of Marshall, the honoree's grandmother; Mrs. C. E. Henderson and Cathy, Deer Park; Mrs. Joe Franks and Adra, Warsaw, Mo.; Mrs. Dennis Winterrowd, San Angelo; Mrs. John E. Kinney, Angelo; Mrs. Lefty Morris and Mrs. Charles Vincent, all of Austin; Mrs. Mike Tatum, College Station; Mrs. Leon Johnson, Fulton, Ky.; and Miss Carolyn McDonald, E. Lansing, Mich.

The bride's table was covered with white taffeta overlaid with flocked organza tied with yellow ribbon streamers. Centering the table was a crystal bowl holding yellow gladioli and white daisies and flanked by yellow candles in crystal holders.

The bridegroom's table was covered with brown linen overlaid with ecru lace and was centered with a brown vase holding yellow chrysanthemums. The accessories were china and silver. The five-tiered white wedding cake held a miniature bride and groom and the layers were separated with white swans. A chocolate cake was served from the bridegroom's table. Serving were Mrs. Jerry Merrick and Miss Jo Nell Merrick.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Max Hare and daughters, Fort Smith, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Culver, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Dee Ambrury, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Taylor, Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Wadell Strain, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Homer, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Branson Howard, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Miss Sharon Metcalf, Fort Worth.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was wearing a sleeveless-linen dress in a green floral print with coordinated green coat. Her accessories were black.

The rehearsal dinner was held Thursday evening at the Ramada Inn where the T-shaped table arrangement was accented with green and yellow floral arrangements. The bridegroom's parents were hosts, and 30 attended.

Mrs. Vernon Guthrie has returned from Gonzales where she has been receiving treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wynn and daughter, Phyllis, accompanied by Mrs. Sam Buchanan, have returned from Gainesville where they visited Tammy Dorton.

Mrs. Elnora Phillips spent Wednesday in Colorado City with her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Phelan.

EDGER DOES THE JOB
John Stanley demonstrates

Equipment For Best Lawn Care

Now is the time to start thinking about summer lawn care, and Stanley Hardware, 203 Runnels, has a complete selection of equipment to help take the hardest work out of it.

Lawn edgers, either electric or gasoline engine, are in stock and ready to go to work for you. Roto Trim machines, equipped with a two horsepower gasoline engine or a one-third horsepower electric motor, can take the tough work out of keeping your lawn neat and trim throughout the summer.

Lawnmowers are another specialty of the house at Stanley Hardware, and the firm has every conceivable type to suit your particular likes. In the modern designed Sunbeam, Stanley has the 18 inch rotary electric, complete with a bag to catch the trimmings and with easy height adjustments. It also comes in the 20 inch model and 16 inch models.

The deluxe twin-blade model takes an 18 inch swath with twin stainless steel blades, a short wheelbase for easy turning, and a hefty 1 1/2 horsepower motor for plenty of energy. Or, you can "turn a lion loose on your lawn" with the deluxe self-propelled reel type mower, a powerhouse of cutting power.

For the lawn-man who prefers a gasoline engine, Stanley features the Hahn-Eclipse, which makes mowing the grass a time for fun rather than hard work. These powerful mowers come either self-propelled or push-type, and with easy-spin start or impulse starter, rotary or reel-type.

Wide Selection On Hand For Summer Dress Plans

If you want good-looking slacks, shorts or play clothes at a reasonable price, Fisher's Casual Shop is the place to go. They have blouses in cotton and pure silk in a galaxy of colors and prints.

They have sportswear that would look just right for a shopping trip or bridge luncheon, and fashionable date-time dresses for the casual look.

Color is predominant in the spring fashions shown at Fisher's. They have colorful flats for footwear in unusual shapes and designs, and their handbags are elegant enough for Sunday wear with just the right cotton.

Shorts and slacks with matching or co-ordinated tops are featured in nylon, knit, requiring the very minimum in cleaning care. Just dump them in the washing machine at a low temperature and let them drip-dry or machine dry at very low heat.

Never before has mildy had such selections in bathing suits. They are designed to bare or cover-up, and many do provide their own little "something"

Right Tools Can Make Yard Work Lot Easier

The way to a beautiful, well-kept yard is by acquiring and making use of the right yard tools and machinery. The better the machinery, the more attractive the yard and the less arduous the task of keeping it that way.

Big Spring Hardware, located at 117 Main, has the answer to nearly any yard and garden tool problem you may have.

They are particularly proud of their major line of power lawn mowers. The store features the famous Cooper line. The store has handled the Cooper line 12 years.

Big Spring Hardware stocks lawnmowers of all sizes ranging in horsepower from three to five, and with cutting capacities from 18 inches to 32 inches. Also available are several riding mowers — the dream of the yard worker who wants to do the job better and easier.

The store has a complete line of all varieties of edgers, pruner tools, rakes, hoes and spades — everything needed by the yardworker.

Big Spring Hardware features Scott's Fertilizer — a specially compounded preparation designed for the exact needs of lawns and shrubs in this community.

The store also stocks a complete line of Ortho insecticides.

Houses Settle

New houses can be expected to settle slightly during the first year. For that reason, it is often wise to delay wallpapering until that period of time has elapsed.

Camper For Convenience

The newest addition to the Montgomery Ward line of camping equipment is the Western Field hard-top camper, the "Travler." Just four feet high in trailing position, the new unit offers 80 square feet of off-the-ground living area and 49 cubic feet of storage space when set up. Roomy enough for a family of four, the "Travler" in a matter of minutes becomes a tent 14 feet wide, 6 1/2 feet high, and seven feet long, with a five-foot aisle and 43 square feet of window space. The army duck material is water repellent and mildew resistant. The "Travler" is completely equipped with factory-installed wiring and light. Traveling weight is 665 pounds and it is priced at $789.

Ward's Can Help Camper Get Ready For Vacation

More than 50 million Americans will take to the open road on camping trips to all parts of the United States and Canada in 1967, predicted George True, manager of the local Montgomery Ward store in Highland Shopping Center.

"Camping is one of the fastest growing outdoor activities in the country," True stated. "It has become a family affair, with equipment that makes out-of-doors living as comfortable as a country cottage."

Camping sites throughout the United States and Canada offer the camper such luxuries as showers, bathhouses, modern plumbing, coin washers and dryers, fire shelters, and fire wood. Pure drinking water is standard equipment.

The old idea of roughing it on a camping trip has gone the way of the Model T and silent movies, True said. Today's campers have a choice of several sizes and styles of tents, trailers, sleeping equipment, cooking gear, air mattresses, furniture and other accessory items that make camping out a delightful way to spend a vacation or a weekend.

Montgomery Ward offers the camping enthusiast a choice of several tents and camping trailers, as well as a complete line of accessories. Everything from a small two person tent to a large, family size unit is available for the comfort of the camper. They fold up into small packages that can be easily transported.

Trailers make things even simpler. Just hitch up and take off. Once the camping site is reached, the unit is set up in a matter of minutes. This year Ward's is introducing the "Travler," a compact trailer that opens up into a unit roomy enough for a family of four.

Camping will continue to grow, True added. "Campers sell camping to their friends," he explained, "and they sell others."

House May Need Wash, But It Is Hard Job, Too

A house that appears in need of a coat of paint may require nothing more than a good washing.

The phrase "nothing more than" may be deceptive, however, because washing down a house can be just as much work as painting it. But tests have demonstrated that too-requent painting of the exterior of a house—such as every year—can cause just as much trouble as too little painting. A cleaning can give a fresh look to a home when its dingy appearance is due to dirt rather than to a worn surface.

Wood siding is cleaned very much as an interior plaster wall is cleaned: with soap and water or with a mild detergent. The rubbing should be done with a clean cloth and a fairly light touch. All traces of soap or detergent must be rinsed off. Stucco also can be cleaned successfully, except that it is necessary to use a wire or fiber brush instead of a cloth. While repeated cleanings in this manner might harm the stucco finish, one or two washings will not do so.

There is one case where washing down a house is relatively simple: when the house is covered with surface dust rather than dirt that is clinging stubbornly. In that event, the dust can be rinsed off with water from a garden hose, with enough pressure to whisk away the particles. Be very sure, though, that there are no openings in the structure and that all windows are closed tightly.

Remove Gloss, Then Paint

It is not necessary to remove the paint from a wooden surface in order to do a repainting job—provided the previous coat of paint is in good condition. However, it is important that any remaining gloss on the old paint is dulled with sandpaper, steel wool or a ready-mixed surface conditioner.

Latex or water-based paint should not be used on wallpaper that contains any water-soluble inks or dyes. If uncertain, test on an inconspicuous portion of the wall. If the ink or dye does not bleed through within 24 hours, go ahead with the painting.

In using water to thin latex paint, be sure it's clean water. Thinning should be done only if absolutely necessary.

Saw It First, Then Buy One

The entrance to a room can have a shoddy appearance if the door threshold is worn or damaged.

Since it is difficult to remove most thresholds in one piece, saw it in two, then pry out the two parts. Go to a lumber yard or building supply dealer and get a matching threshold of the same size.

Using the old threshold as a pattern, make the proper cuts in the new one. Insert it into position and drill holes that will take long finishing nails (2 1/2 inches or longer). Drive the nails into place, using nailsets to get them below the surface of the wood. Cover the holes with wood putty or plastic wood. When the filler has dried, fin-

Plastics Aid In Decorating

There's a wide selection of plastic-faced materials on the market for those who are willing to spend a little more to get decorative faces on their paneling.

Hardboard with plastic coatings, for example, have been increasing in popularity with do-it-yourselfers. Even the old standby, gypsum wallboard, can be obtained with a vinyl plastic surface.

The special gypsum wallboard panels can be applied in one of two basic methods. The first is with special nails, which go through the panels directly into the studs, furring strips or other surface which will firmly grip the nails. The second is by cementing to solid existing walls, a procedure not recommended for application to wood framing or masonry.

If the panels are to be part of a new wall construction, in which the studs will be 16 inches apart on center, a single 48 inch panel can be placed across the studding. But if the studs are not perfectly aligned, 1 inch by 2 inch furring strips should be nailed horizontally over the framework with the panels attached to the strips.

Over masonry or broken plaster surfaces, the furring strips are a must, but they should be anchored to the wall using any one of several anchor clips on the market. Concrete stud nails also may be used. In some cases, it is advisable to build new wooden framing a few inches away from the wall and parallel to it. Where it may be necessary to get behind the wall at some future time—to repair a pipe leak, for instance—it is wise to make the distance between the masonry and the new wall at least 4 inches and preferably more. Admittedly, this can't always be done because the limitations it places on the size of the room. The larger the space behind the wall, the smaller the space in the room itself.

Using Care With Lacquer

Professional wood finishers generally use lacquer with a spraying machine. But most do-it-yourselfers do not have the equipment to apply lacquer in this manner. They either purchase it in a pressure container, which permits use of the spraying technique, or they buy and use the ordinary brushing lacquer that comes in a can.

Applying lacquer with a brush requires a certain amount of care, since this finishing material dries so quickly. Because of this quality, the lacquer must be spread quickly and surely. Once you have reached a second area of the surface, the first area has begun to dry. You cannot, therefore, go back and attempt to repair any segment which does not meet with your approval. If you do, a patched-up appearance is inevitable. It is better to wait until the entire surface has dried thoroughly, sand it lightly and then give it a second coat—repeating the procedure a third time if necessary.

A common mistake with lacquer is to use it just as it comes from the can. Applied in this manner, lacquer is difficult to use. It does not spread easily and it often does not dry properly. Lacquer thinner should always be mixed with the lacquer before applying. A 50-50 mixture is recommended for the beginner. After becoming accustomed to the use of lacquer, it is easy to determine what proportions of lacquer should be used for each particular project.

Be Quick Or Wait A Day

When painting a window sash or the putty around the glass, it is difficult to avoid getting a few paint splatters on the pane.

There are two correct times to remove these splatters—when the paint is still fresh or when it is hard. Keep a clean cloth handy to wipe off any paint at once. But if you do not take this step immediately—or if the paint is too close to soft putty to risk wiping it off—wait a day or two. It then is easy to scrape off with a single-edged razor blade or one of those handled tools into which a blade is inserted.

When the paint splatter is partly dry, it smears and does not come off easily with either a cloth or a razor blade.

FISH

All you need is a little luck. A '67 fishing Merc will do the rest.

The world's finest fishing outboard comes in 4 slim sizes: 3.9, 6, 9.8 and 20 HP. All of 'em feature Mercury's patented one-piece aluminum lower unit that's angled to glide you over underwater obstructions and through weeds. Up above, the powerhead's tilted to keep the engine firing smoothly at idle, troll and top speed. Mercury's exclusive shearproof drive eliminates vulnerable shear or drive pins, and Jet-Prop keeps exhaust sound and fumes out of your boat—buries 'em underwater. Add a full forward-neutral-reverse gearshift and one-hand control of both speed and direction, and you've got the finest fishing package ever built. See your Mercury dealer. The only thing he can't guarantee is luck.

COLOR ME PRETTY

Enchanting Look In All Fashions

The new, the kooky, the kooky, the very young look to enchant, these are the clothes that you will find at the Miss Texas Shop.

For those who wish to look pretty and demure this spring, there are dressed-up laces, cotton piques and sleek new knits. All are fashioned in tent shapes, shifts and demi-fitted styles. The long torsoed dress with flaring skirt is a favorite of young teenagers.

Fashions featured at the shop are also shown in the magazines for the young. Thermo-Jacs have a line of play clothes that can be worn almost anywhere. There are bicycle dresses, divided tent dresses and hostess coats that would be sensational at slumber parties or at the beach.

Mrs. Eva Pyeat, owner and manager, advises that all the clothes are designed for the young, or the young at heart, and are also practical to please mothers. Prices range from $10 to $30, and sizes from pre-teens through junior sizes.

Lingerie is frothy, flirty and very feminine. Lovely pastels enhance the elegant look and while materials look fragile, the nylon and silks are almost imperishable.

The fiesta look is rampant in slacks, shorts, and sun dresses. All is color, sometimes seemingly just thrown together, with stripes, diagonal slashes and low hip-rider belts. Others are voluminous African prints or just gay dashes of oranges, purples and pinks.

The MOD look is no longer "in," for the young girls can now wear what is new and what is fashionable without looking like a boy.

White's Makes Gardening Easier

Gardening and lawn care can be a lot easier this year with a new yard appliance from White's Store, 202 Scurry, where there is plenty of parking space.

The White brand of lawnmowers, edgers and trimmers, and tillers are all powered with the famous and reliable Briggs and Stratton gasoline engines, to insure you will not spend the summer making repairs.

All White machines have a full one year warranty, to protect your purchase.

The rotary mowers come with adjustable lever for height control, to clip your lawn just the way you want it. They are push style, and self propelled, as well as riding types. Select the size that suits your taste, from 18 inch to 22 inch blades and powered from 3-5 horsepower.

Edgers and trimmers come equipped with 2-1/4 horse-power engines. Tillers are powered from 3-5 horsepower, and come with either forward and reverse or just forward gears.

All these machines have easy spin starting equipment installed.

One of the outstanding mowing machines is the belt drive rotary mower, with 4-5 horsepower engines, that will chew up tall weeds as easily as it clips off your lawn.

The White tractors, that give you a ride while it does your lawn and garden work, come in 8-10 horsepower models, with big steering wheels, roomy bucket seats that cushion the ride, automobile type operation, and over 20 attachments to handle practically any job you have.

In addition to the motorized

GRANT'S IS STOCKED FOR SUMMER Things needed for outdoor living in abundance

Everything For Outdoors

West Texans are great hands at out-of-doors cookery and the summer evening air is scented almost nightly with the savory odor of steaks grilling over charcoal.

W. W. Grant's store in the College Park Shopping Center, is well aware of this habit of West Texans and it has stocked up heavily on the accessories which go with this mouth-watering way of preparing good food.

Barbecue grills, charcoal, all types of gadgets and equipment needed for summer picnicking in one's back yard are on hand in wide variety at Grant's. The grills run the gamut from the simplest to the power driven types which almost do the cooking by themselves.

The selection is strictly up to the shopper—he can find anything he wants at the big Grant store in the College Park Shopping Center.

A happy combination of activities widely followed in these parts is an outdoor cookout after the head of the house or the son of the family has mowed and trimmed up the back yard.

This used to be lacking in its right to be classified as happy, but with modern lawnmowers such as Grant's stocks, plus all of the other accessories to make lawn care easy, the task assumes some of the air of an outing rather than a chore.

Look at the lawnmowers and other lawn care devices when you go to the store to shop for your barbecue grill.

If your lawnmower is getting along and giving you trouble—discard it and start new. The latest model mowers are trouble free and much less expensive than you would expect.

Grant's has a great many other items which are needed for out-of-door living. Inspect them at the Grant store today.

Prepare To Pep Up For Summer

With spring already here and summer just around the next barbecue invitation, it behooves the ladies to look to their closets — and the Mary Jo Dress Shop, 901½ Johnson, is prepared to pep them up with pretty new fashions that will take you any where, anytime.

Young. They have been working overtime taking the tissue from box after box of dresses for all occasions, sassy stretch pants, washable knit suits and double duty separates that work like magic to expand a lady's wardrobe. The famous labels are Ralph's Originals, Donovan Galvani, McKells and Edith Flagg, and sizes are 3 to 9 in petites, 8 to 20 in misses, 12½ to 26½ in half sizes and 35 to 48 for the fuller figures.

Homeowners Do The Painting

Only about 15 per cent of all exterior painting is done by home owners themselves, compared with about 55 per cent of interior work.

Despite this, it is estimated that do-it-yourselfers spent about $65 million on paint for the outsides of their homes during 1965. This sum represents 15 million gallons of paint.

More Than One

More than 75 per cent of all homes built these days have more than one bathroom.

Knowing that Texas is casual country, Mrs. Allen specializes in sportswear — the kind that takes to the tub and ignores the iron. As long as women wear the pants, she can select petite, average and tall sizes. This year's stretch pants come in traffic-stopper colors of orange, pink, yellow and lime as well as red and black. Color goes under cover, too, in the new Hensen Kickstart lingerie with gowns, robes and pajamas in flamenco rose or rajah green. There are bras by Exquisite Form and hose by Larkwood, and for a touch of glamour, a splash of Arpege or My Sin cologne in purse-size vials.

One of the most popular items at the Mary Jo Dress Shop is a neat, slimming jumpsuit that is just right for so many summer activities. It's brass — buttoned in Klopman fabric that never needs ironing and is the darling of McKell's casual line.

For fun under the sun, there are also perky bathing suits or crisp blouses and easy skirts that go to town and country without showing a wrinkle. Team them with Mary Jo's "barely there" play shoes and a big bag that carries all your clutter, and you're set for a splashy, dashy day.

print, matching the simple, but elegant sleeveless shift worn underneath.

Whatever the occasion, Swartz's friendly personnel can help in selecting the "just right" look whether it be completely feminine or definitely high style.

Accessories and play clothes are designed to gain the wearer the maximum in admiration. Bathing suits are covered or bare as may be desired. One particular suit was of black puckered nylon over nude, and is guaranteed to make the wearer a siren in any pool or at the beach. Earrings and bracelets are big and bold with all the colors in the spectrum, both man-made and otherwise.

Owmed and managed by Adolph Swartz, the store caters to the woman who wants the latest in fashion trends in either the modified styles or in the unusual, sophisticated manner.

Swartz, one of the leading stores offering women's fashions, is the place to go for the total, elegant look so desired in today's fashions. Whether it is for daytime, playtime or those enchanting after-five hours when it is important to look glamorous and appealing, one can find her desires at the fashionable store.

Spring this year sings with vibrant color and fashions are designed to make one prettier than ever. There are sleek slacks with sophisticated tops of unusual patterns and designs. Knits in wool, cotton and dacron come in all shapes and sizes and in varied price ranges.

Shifts, belted or not, come in as many fabrics as can be imagined from pure silks to hopsacking. All are designed to be particularly eye-catching, whether it is an unusual fabric, design on the dress or some trim on the sleeves. Colors are in green, gold, blue and as many colorful prints on muted backgrounds as could be desired.

Featuring the total look, one black flax silk ensemble was fashioned with a yoke-top coat with three-button closing and lined with a white and black

New Neighbors Can Give Advice

Moving into a new home which doesn't have a lawn? Don't start planting seeds no matter how much experience you have had with lawns in other locations.

Soils have characteristics of their own. The type of lawn seed that brought such good results in your previous neighborhood might not be suitable for the soil in front of your new house.

Before planning the new lawn, ask some of your neighbors for their recommendations. You'll not only learn from their experiences with the kind of soil in that area; you'll find it an excellent way to make friends quickly.

GOOD POSTURE FOUNDATION
Found in J&K Shoe Store

Ideal Place For Comfort

In 1941, J&K Shoe Store opened its doors in Big Spring and found that customers appreciated not only the moderately-priced shoes that were offered for the entire family, but also the friendly, courteous manner in which they were served.

The store has been in its present location at 24 Runnels since 1945 and its manager is Bill Hembree. He is assisted by John Williams, Mrs. Vera Crabtree and Mrs. Georgia Cauble. They have all had many years experience in this line of merchandise and know that nothing is more important than proper fit when purchasing shoes. However, the pleasure of a comfortable pair of shoes is doubled when fine leather is top grade and the style is fashionable, and both are available from J&K Shoe Store.

Men's lines are Nunn-Bush and City Club, the latter featuring casual pigskin "Gophers" and Nunn-Bush famous for its "Filmatic" support feature and cushioned soles in dress shoes and brogues. Also, J&K Shoe Store carries Diamond Brand work boots in both low quarter and high top styles.

The color is the thing in spring shoes for women, and here you will find the combinations of yellow and orange, raspberry and pink, and always smart, black and white. New all over again is the perennial spectator pump and the smart little-heeled black patents with big silver buckles. The young, fresh styles are by "Miss Wonderful," Vitality and Cangemi Coeds. For real comfort, there are sturdier walking shoes by Enna-Jettick.

Children can follow the leader wherever he goes in their runabout Jumping Jacks and Weatherbirds. For safety and comfort, too, there's P.F.'s by Goodrich for the entire family. J&K Shoe Store stocks Capzio tap and ballet shoes for the dancing set, and to wear with them, Danskis leotards in black or blue with cap or long sleeves.

Clothing Appropriate To Hard Usage By Children

The tender years are the hardest on clothes. There are races to run, trees to climb, bikes to ride and dolls to rock.

Dorothy Rogan's Tot and Teen, 901 Johnson, caters to the age group that participates in all these things; it stocks clothing appropriate to activities from infancy to the teen years. Both boys and girls can be fitted in garments suitable for play, school or dress-up occasions, and all are brands that have become bywords with mothers.

For girls there is sportswear by Catalina, Dansk and Scottie's Knits, and lingerie by Shirley and Her Majesty. In the boys department there are garments by Catalina, Donmoor and Rob Roy as well as the famous Tex-N Jeans by Man Ranch.

A girl likes to look her best for Sunday school and birthday parties. At Tot and Teen, Mrs. Rogan and her employees, Mrs. L. T. Hargrove and Mrs. John B. Harrison, have stocked pretty frocks that are buttoned and bowed or tricky tailored, and Cracks and breaks in the concrete sidewalk outside of your house can be repaired with a minimum amount of difficulty — provided you can keep anyone from walking on the patch for a few days. The simplest way of doing the latter, of course, is to rope off the area, but how successful this will be depends on the kids in your neighborhood.

Fixing Concrete Is Not Difficult

Ready-mixed patching material, which requires only the addition of water, is by far the easiest to handle. Exactly what type of mix to get is determined by the kind of repair that must be made. If narrow cracks have to be filled, then grout—portland cement mixed with water—is sufficient. If the cracks are large or there are medium-sized breaks, a mortar mix — portland cement, sand and water — will do the job. But for the patching of large openings which extend right down to the earth, a regular concrete mix is necessary. This is a combination of cement, sand and gravel to which water is added.

If you decide to make your own concrete mix, the proportion is one part of cement, two parts of sand and three parts of gravel. Apply enough water to make a workable mass. Too much water weakens the mixture; too little makes it difficult to handle.

To fill narrow cracks, just force the grout into the openings and smooth with a trowel or wooden float. But other patches require a little more attention. Clean the area of all loose or crumbling concrete. Undercut the edges of the surrounding concrete that is still in good condition. This involves cutting slightly under the surface so that the patching material has a place to hang on.

Remember that the patch is inclined to shrink slightly, so be sure the new concrete extends the tiniest bit above the surface. After a couple of hours, go over it with a trowel or wooden float. A trowel, by the way, is used for a smooth finish, a float for a rough one.

To prevent the patch from drying out too quickly — one of the main causes of dusting or flaking — keep it moist, which is known as curing. This can be done by sprinkling the repair several times a day. Or better yet, by placing a piece of wet burlap over it and moistening it occasionally. This is especially important when the patch will be in direct sunlight during the day. If no burlap is handy, use something else that will stay damp awhile. In any case, the longer it takes the patch to dry, the more chance it has of remaining firm.

Choose Right For Indoors

Busy homeowners, aware that there's no substitute for the natural beauty of living plants, can use them as decorative tools in the same way furniture, floor coverings or other accessories contribute to the decor of a home.

These tips can make it easier to choose house plants for varied locations and prolong your enjoyment of them both indoors and out.

1. Save time by selecting professionally grown plants that have been suitably conditioned in porous clay pots for climate prevailing where you live. And keep them in clay containers.

2. Be sure the plants you pick are suitable for the locations in which you wish to place them. Your florist or garden center can give you more detailed advice, but following these simple rules will help you make satisfactory selections.

Bedding plants that do nicely in shady locations include these favorites: tuberous begonias, coleus, caladiums, impatiens and fuchsias. They are available in clay pots from 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

For windows that get good sun, try flowering maples, kalanchoes, geraniums, shrubby begonias (also for hanging baskets). For partly sunny with moderate light, try amaryllis, fern asparagus, bromeliads or Boston ferns.

DRESS UP YOUR YARD

Clarice Rountree relaxes at a beautiful concrete outdoor table

Concrete Can Dress Up Yards

You can work wonders in your yard with concrete without getting into a major concrete job. A dozen or more ready-made aids are at your instant command at McMahon Concrete Company, 605 N. Benton which has prepared a line of items which yard enthusiasts most often want.

These run the gamut from stepping-stones to flower bed curbs, from tables and benches to bird baths.

Most of them come in a variety of styles and even colors, and of course they vary in size.

They are relatively inexpensive, too.

Patio stepping stones come in 12x12 inch and 20x20 inch squares, or in 18 inch and 24 inch diameter circular patterns, in different colors, too.

Those who have downspouts or points of heavy runoff from roof valleys may find splash blocks advantageous.

Flower bed curbs come in three basic styles — plain four inch three feet long, or a plain type that goes 12 inches deep to shut off possibility of grass growing under; and the bed curb with a lip or gutter.

Tree curbs give protection to tree trunks from power mowers and other moving objects.

Picnic benches come in two basic sizes, 3x5 and 4x6 feet slabs which fit into heavy pedestal footings. These are also available in circular tables with curved benches to match.

Then there are flower pots in three different styles.

Bird baths come in four basic sizes, either with a plain concave disc or with a scalloped lip to the basin. They, like the tables, are fixed on heavy bases.

Parking curbs are also handy for border purposes and for protecting a yard area at the end of a drive or parking area.

Bandage Helps Stop Damage

Whenever you are fixing shiny-plated fixtures which require the use of a wrench, your first step should be a trip to the medicine cabinet.

A wrench, no matter which type, is likely to cause scratches or other marks on the nut or other part of the fixture that is being gripped. To avoid such marks, first wrap the metal in adhesive, winding it around twice. This will not prevent the wrench from getting a secure grip, but it will do its expected protective job.

Tells About Signal Peak

FAMOUS TEXAS LANDMARKS by W. L. (Bill) Hopper. Arrow Press, Dallas. 197 pps. $2.95.

William L. Hopper, author of "Famous Texas Landmarks," is a former Howard County boy. The biographical sketch on the dust cover of his newest effort relates that he made his home in this county from 1918-1935. He attended school at the old Center Point School, north of town.

His book has one chapter devoted to a Howard County landmark — "The Saga of Signal Peak." Like all similar stories about historic spots, each introduces new material which is unknown to most folk who live in gunshot of the scene described. In Hopper's version, a new story of how a fabled Mexican treasure trove is buried on the old mesa and how a wild search for it was staged in 1930, is told. Oldtimers hereabout tell other versions of the same story. The book contains 17 chapters, all written in a similar vein to the one about Signal Peak. Most of the historical data is superficial, but the Texas history enthusiast will find it interesting.

'BIG HAND FOR THE LITTLE LADY' Henry Fonda prefers Hoyle's rules

Western Comedy Back With Cast Of Stars

"A Big Hand for the Little Lady," a Western without Indians, laced with comedy and highlighted by a surprise funny ending, opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre. The release stars a galaxy of talent composed of Henry Fonda, Joanne Woodward, Jason Robards, Paul Ford, Charles Bickford, Kevin McCarthy, Burgess Meredith, Robert Middleton, John Qualen and nine-year-old Gerald Michenaud. The Technicolor western tells the story of a handsome couple and their young son who pass through a western town in the 1890's on their way to a new home in Texas. The husband, a compulsive gambler, stumbles on the biggest annual poker game in the territory and uses the family homesteading money for a fling at the game. The ending is a delightful surprise in every sense.

Henry Fonda plays the compulsive poker player who throws his life savings into the pot in "Big Hand," a portrayal that ranks among the best he's ever done. The film marks Fonda's 60th year motion picture and his 30th year in the acting profession.

For Joanne Woodward, who plays Fonda's wife, "A Big Hand for the Little Lady" is her first film after the birth of a third child, Claire Olivia.

Jason Robards, widely recognized as one of America's finest actors on stage and screen, portrays Harry Drummond, the rich, intolerant and loud-mouthed rancher who leaves his daughter standing at the altar to attend the poker game.

Paul Ford raised long sideburns for his role in the film of an 1890's western banker. He got rid of them the day he finished the part.

Charles Bickford plays the richest undertaker in Texas in "A Big Hand for the Little Lady." It is another memorable role for him at the studio where he starred in some of his finest pictures, including "The Days of Wine and Roses" and "Johnny Belinda," for which he won an Academy nomination.

Kevin McCarthy has distinguished himself on the stage and in television in addition to motion pictures, in which he made his debut in "Death of a Salesman." Now he plays a territorial lawyer with a passion for poker who leaves his client literally at rope's end to join in the game.

Burgess Meredith has the role of a small town western doctor who finally gets even with the town to which he has given an unrequited devotion.

Gerald Michenaud portrays the son of Miss Woodward and Fonda. "A Big Hand for the Little Lady" is the fifth feature for the nine-year-old youngster who seems destined for big things in Hollywood.

Fu Manchu Returns To Terrorize Western World

A lifetime of research into crimes of cruelty, that led the late Sax Rohmer to create an Oriental killer famed the world over, culminates in the Technicolor adventure "The Face of Fu Manchu," Saturday at the Jet Drive In Theatre.

Since no recent exploits of this goriest of assassins have appeared on the screen since the '30s, the new release will introduce to the young the most evil man the world has ever known, while bringing renewed thrills of recognition and brand-new excitement to older moviegoers.

In a coup that aroused the admiration of the entire film industry, Oliver A. Unger signed to star in the name role Christopher Lee, handsome 6'4" British actor who is a thrill-and-chill expert with the singular distinction of being the only man in history to portray on the screen "Fu Manchu," "Dracula," the monster of "Frankenstein" as well as "Sherlock Holmes," the famous anticrime creation of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who coincidentally was one of author Rohmer's closest friends.

The action of "The Face of Fu Manchu" revolves around his return from the dead — despite apparent execution in the Shanghai of the 20s — to carry out with fiendish ingenuity his malign plans against the people of the West.

To this purpose, the Chinese arch-murderer seeks the formula for a deadly black fluid, and his savage efforts involved weapons ranging from exotic daggers and silken Tibetan murder scarves to high explosives and drowning in subterranean vaults under the River Thames. Before the breath-taking action has reached its climax, much of the Western World is in terror as Fu's bloody designs achieve their first goals by spreading carnage across Britain.

Pitted against the sinister Fu is Scotland Yard's Nayland Smith played by Nigel Green, Professor Muller of Germany, enacted by Walter Rilla, and Karin Dor who plays the professor's beautiful brunette daughter, Maria. Aiding the murderous Oriental is his own daughter, cunning Lin Tang, portrayed by lovely Tsai Chin, who won acclaim as "Susie Wong" on the London stage.

Others in the cast, which was drawn from seven different nations, include James Robertson Justice, Joachim Fuchsberger and Howard Marion-Crawford.

War Film Opens Today At Ritz

Thrill-packed high adventure combined with stark war drama and sprinkled liberally with deceptive intrigue best describes the World War II epic, "Tobruk," which comes today on the Ritz Theatre.

Starring Rock Hudson, George Peppard, Guy Stockwell and Nigel Green, the film is filled with hard-hitting action from the first Technicolor frame to the final climactic scene. Director Arthur Hiller weaves a strong story, sterling performances and unusual photography into a fascinating screen presentation of high adventure.

Hudson, in a marked departure from the sophisticated comedies in which he has starred in recent years, is a Canadian army officer who is literally shanghaied by a group of British commandos into joining them in a daring raid on the North African port fortress held by Rommel's Nazis.

The steel-nerved soldier who's aware he's battling his allies as well as the Africa Korps in the role of an officer in charge of a unit of German-born Jews fighting on the side of the British is Peppard. He has a new look about him having dyed his hair blond and cropping it short for the Teutonic role.

Stockwell is another officer in the German-born unit who runs the gamut from stern disciplinarian to light-hearted quipster.

And Green is the crusty British colonel who commands the unique raiding party at all times "strictly by the book." The original story by Leo V. Gordon takes a little known actual incident of World War II and dramatizes the eight-day assignment of a handful of soldiers to knock out the big guns at Tobruk and to destroy Rommel's movement possibilities to pave the way for Allied invasion.

In making it one of the biggest productions to come from Universal since "Spartacus," producer Roger Corman built a complete oasis in the desert near Yuma, Ariz., and on the side of a bluff, he had a fortress constructed with a bunker measuring 50-by-70 feet to house four 8-inch naval guns. Built in six weeks at a cost in excess of $100,000, the gigantic edifice actually was blown up in the climactic scenes of the film.

Russell Harlan's color cameras do much to make the massive expanse of the story's scope an intimate one. To accomplish this, he used camera cranes, helicopters, cameras mounted on trucks and hand-held units. Not one foot of stock footage was used; instead the complicated battle scenes all were staged and shot in Technicolor for the picture.

'THUNDER ALLEY' Fabian and Diane McBain

Berlinger Commutes Between Stage, Films

There's nothing like a jet plane trip East to boost an actor's career, that is, if there's a good play waiting for him. Warren Berlinger, currently starring with Annette Funicello and Fabian as a stock car race driver in "Thunder Alley," beginning at the Ritz Theater on Thursday, is an actor whose career has blossomed just a bit brighter with each move from films to stage.

"I won't get into an argument as to the relative satisfactions of stage or film acting. Actually I believe performing in one medium helps you improve in the other. "I love my profession and would go anywhere, anytime for a good role," Berlinger declared.

"No matter how comfortable life is in Southern California, I don't hesitate to make the move to New York if I feel the role gives me the chance to develop as an actor. There is no better place for an actor to grow in self - respect and improve his craft than on the stage."

Berlinger is in the fortunate position of not being typed as either a film or stage actor. As soon as he completed "Thunder Alley" Berlinger boarded a New York bound plane to begin rehearsals on his 10th Broadway play, "Once in Love With Amy," directed by Jimmy Hammerstein.

Commuting from stage to screen has been a way of life for the actor ever since as a 17-year-old he scored a hit in the play "A Roomful of Roses." He was signed and brought to Hollywood to star in the film versions, titled "Teenage Rebel."

After a year in Hollywood he returned to New York to star in "Blue Denim." Again he was paged by Hollywood to recreate his role in the motion picture.

Such films as "Because They're Young," "Platinum High School," "All Hands on Deck" and "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" followed.

"Come Blow Your Horn" lured him back to Broadway for a long run, but this time he did not play in the motion picture. Joey Bishop had seen Berlinger in the play and signed him for his television series.

Borden's Cancer Crusade Slated

GAIL — Borden County's annual Cancer Crusade is set for Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym when a basketball game will pit ex-students against members of the faculty.

In addition, there will be music furnished by the Borden High School combo, similar to Tijuana Brass. Members of the ensemble are Donna and Diana Curry, Steve and David Summers, Pam Wilson and Keith Swain. Norris Samuelson is director.

Among those on the faculty team are Sid Long, Mickey McMeans, Dale Choate, Kenneth Cunningham, Ben Jarrett and John Hamilton.

Local residents and ex-students will be Kenneth Smith, James Hodge, Buddy Telchik, Bill Jameson; also Bill Nunnally, Tommy Burrus, Steve and Joel Dennis; Larry and Jerry Smith, Wilson Walker, Alvin Bradshaw, James Telchik, Shorty Farmer, Bunny Massingale and E. L. Franklin.

Jack Aldredge, high school coach, and Ray Barber will be referees.

Mrs. Allen Stephens, chairman of the Borden County chapter, said no admission will be charged, but donations and memorials will be accepted by the chapter. Other officials are Dude Wilkerson, secretary-treasurer; Glen Toombs, crusade chairman; Mrs. Bert Dennis, program chairman; and Rich Anderson, who will be master of ceremonies for the affair.

Soybeans May Be More Profitable

LAMESA — The experience of Carl Zeek of the Key community indicates that soybeans are more profitable than grain sorghum as a money crop.

Zeek ran three test plots last year on cotton, grain sorghum and soybeans. All were managed similarly except that cotton received 6-40-0 fertilizer, but soybeans and grain sorghum none. Soybeans rarely respond to fertilizing in tests conducted on the Plains and in the Midwest.

Each crop was pre-watered and then received three 3-inch irrigations during the grain season, said Zeek. Soybeans yielded $92.75 from 35 bushels per acre; grain sorghum yielded 4,370 pounds per acre, bringing $73.50; and cotton yielded 1,028 pounds of lint per acre, bringing $182.98.
