

Singers Swing Mod Opera Is Staged

BOSTON (AP) — The Opera Company of Boston went mod about Igor Stravinski Wednesday night, staging his only full-length opera, "The Rake's Progress," in swinging 1967 terms.

Costumes were mod miniskirts and vinyl and rocker motorcycle jackets; lighting was psychedelic; dances were staged by the darling of the discotheque, Killer Joe Piro; and act two was all camped up.

Surprisingly, the opera which Stravinski set in the 18th century and wrote in an individualistic interpretation of neo-Mozart style, proved a natural for the switched-on treatment it received at the Back Bay Theater.

Bearded Bride

When Tom Rakewell is lured to the city by Nick Shadow, he finds himself in a discotheque instead of a brothel. When he awakens, in act two, bored by his new life, he is discovered wearing a Stravinski sweatshirt, reclining under photographs of Allen Ginsberg and Timothy Leary.

His bride, a bearded lady according to Stravinski and librettists W. H. Auden and Chester Kallman, in this production turns out to be bearded only on half the face. Half the person—the half with the beard—wears men's clothes. The other half wears an earring and a dress. The singer is countertenor John Ferrante.

Padded Cycle

Costumes were entirely in black and white and settings were in gray, with crosshatching, reminiscent of the Hogarth etchings which inspired the opera.

A contraption for making stones into break-Tom Rakewell's downfall—looked like a giant zebra-decorated frozen custard machine. If the machine's revolving disks or the constant barrage of expanding-contracting, shifting, overlapping colors hadn't made a viewer dizzy, the epilogue might. After the final moments of the opera, a mod mad scene complete with padded motorcycle, the chorus got out of their beds in bedlam and sang the moral—"The devil finds work for idle hands"—while popping giant flashbulbs in the faces of the audience.

Record 'Heat Wave'

The "unseasonably hot" prediction of the weather man was borne out Wednesday when the official temperature reading was pegged at 94 degrees—for the hottest March 29 in the recorded weather history of the town.

It was the second day in a row that a new high record for warmth had been set. On March 28, the official 91 degree reading was tops for that date.

The forecast for today calls for some slight relief in the heat, but warmer weather on Friday is promised. There is a possibility of thundershowers held out for Friday.

Pickle Political Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pickle packing people came to town today passing out wooden pickle nickels and diller bills.

They're having a convention of Pickle Packers International, Inc., "for those who think pickles," according to their program.

W. R. Moore—"My name is Bill; it rhymes with dill"—secretary-treasurer, from St. Charles, Ill., said about 160 pickle packers were coming. But, he said, they represent about $90 million worth of business.

Guns And Pickles

He said in an interview the pickle packing industry is a $300 million-dollar-a-year business in this country; it uses 100 million dozen glass jars a year and more than a billion caps and labels.

"Pickles make paychecks," he said. Moore maintained that the American people eat more pickles per capita than butter. It's below six pounds annually for butter, almost seven pounds for pickles, he claimed.

"I say the government can support guns and pickles," Moore declared.

Pickle Packing Problems

The pickle packers have formed the Pickle Political Party. But all they do is pass out big white buttons that say "Vote for Pickles, the People's Choice."

The pickle packing delegates were supposed to bring some members of Congress to a reception this afternoon. But they're in a pickle—Congress is in recess. They're going to have the reception anyway to meet Miss Pickle, Kathleen Holly of Chicago.

Their convention winds up Friday with a party to celebrate the 4,000th birthday of the pickle.

Cartwheeling Jet Explodes Into Rear Of Luxury Motel

Fierce Flames Kill Eighteen

Aftermath Of Plane Crash

A section of the Delta DC jet rests in the doorway of a room at the Hilton Inn in New Orleans as firemen pour water into the smoldering wreckage early today. At right, an unidentified man was helped to an ambulance after he was injured in the flaming holocaust. (AP WIREPHOTO)

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A cartwheeling Delta Air Lines DC8 jet exploded into the rear of a luxury motel opposite New Orleans International Airport early today, killing 18 persons including nine high school students from Juda, Wis.

The big jet was on a training flight. It carried five pilots and a federal inspector. All died in the flaming crash at the Hilton Inn.

The students were on a senior class outing, part of a group of 32 from Juda High School who had been at the motel since Monday and were scheduled to leave today.

GIRLS HUDDLE

The bodies of eight of the students — all girls — were found huddled together in charred bathrooms of the motel. They had turned on the showers in a futile attempt to escape the holocaust.

The jet fell as it was banking sharply to return to the landing strip. It struck two houses, peeled off the top of a truck and began cartwheeling, spewing fuel and blistering the area.

It blew apart when it smashed into a rear corner of the rectangular shaped multimillion-dollar motel. Wreckage was scattered for a hundred yards. The nose of the craft was imbedded in the structure.

PIERCE FIERE

The motel erupted in fierce flames after the jet struck. Numerous rooms were destroyed or damaged. At least 10 persons were treated for injuries at a New Orleans hospital.

The surviving students, many hysterical or in a daze, were placed under sedation by doctors. Some wore bermuda shorts, others were dressed in blankets. Tour leaders were busy informing relatives in Juda, a village of 300 persons in Wisconsin's dairy country of the tragedy.

SEA OF FUEL

Police Capt. Marvin Leonard said the plane "spewed a sea of fuel right to those rooms where those eight kids were staying. That's what killed them. Not the impact from the wreckage. There were eight girls in four rooms. You could see where they took refuge in the shower stalls. One girl even took her purse with her.

"They turned on the water, but it didn't do them any good."

PANIC

Most guests fled the fiery scene in panic, many in their nightclothes. Some charred rooms were inaccessible for hours because of the heat.

"We saw a real bright light," said Doug Baer, 16, of Park Forest, Ill. "I opened the door and saw all those flames. We just ran. There was a series of explosions and breaking glass. The girls were hysterical, screaming and some throwing up."

The plane — the oldest DC8 in use by the airline — had been airborne only nine minutes before the crash occurred. It had arrived shortly before with passengers from Chicago. The night was balmy with a nearly full moon.

GIANT WHOOF

"It sounded like a giant whoof," said Jim Millet, an off-duty policeman who reached the scene minutes after the fiery crash at approximately 2 a.m. EST. "I heard screams coming from the Hilton Inn, and started leading people out."

Some of the guests were in their underwear with soaked towels around their heads, he said.

Parts of the airport and surrounding neighborhood were blacked out. Dozens of pieces of firefighting equipment were rushed to the scene, 15 miles from downtown New Orleans.

A temporary morgue was set up in front of the motel. Bodies were taken later to a freight shipping room in the airport terminal complex across the highway.

PILOTS NAMED

The plane made the world's first DC8 flight in 1959, from New York to Atlanta, an airlines spokesman said. The Delta pilots aboard on today's training flight were identified as: M. E. Watson, Houston, Tex.; J. W. Marton, Covington, La.; G. Piazza, New Orleans; W. T. Jeter, Norman, Ark.; D. E. Posey, Brookhaven, Miss.; and W. A. Koon, an inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency.

An apartment building behind the motel, and near the path taken by the doomed plane, escaped unscathed. A resident, Jackie Hogan, said the crash "sounded like a thud. It wasn't as loud as I would have expected. It sounded like it hit something concrete."

She said she could see bodies lying along the railroad track which runs behind the motel parallel to US 61, the heavily traveled highway separating the Hilton Inn and the airport.

Shot Is Fired At Ruby Writer

LEAGUE CITY, Tex. (AP)—A sheriff's deputy said today that someone took a shot Wednesday night at Norman Hooten, who says he is writing a book about his conversations with Jack Ruby.

Hooten, said not to have been injured, could not be reached for comment today.

Now a Galveston County game warden, Hooten was a deputy sheriff in Dallas during part of the time Ruby was in jail for the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man the Warren Commission said assassinated President John F. Kennedy in Dallas.

Galveston County deputy Sheriff Karl Phillips said Hooten was shot at as he was driving along a country road near League City, 30 miles southeast of Houston.

He said the incident happened about 7:30 p.m., and that Hooten's car window was shattered.

Galveston County criminal investigator Fred Grieger also said Hooten was shot at.

But League City Police Chief B. T. Austin said through an employee that the alleged shooting did not occur.

Hooten has said he had many lengthy conversations with Ruby in jail in Dallas.

He says his forthcoming book on the talks will "shed light on many things people are talking about" concerning the assassination.

He told a newspaper Wednesday that he believes New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison is "on the right track" in his probe of the assassination.

Hooten also says Ruby wrote a will leaving him Ruby's diamond ring, watch, and a suit of clothes.

'This Is A Cross We Have To Bear' Senate Won't Demote Dodd

JUDA, Wis. (AP) — "This is a cross we have to bear," said the Rev. Melvin J. Nickel.

He talked in hushed tones in the quiet corridor of Juda High School today as teachers and townspeople gathered in the aftermath of a New Orleans plane crash which killed nine senior girls staying at a motel.

Four of the girls attended the Evangelical United Brethren church of which the Rev. Mr. Nickel is pastor.

PREMONITION

He said the parents of one student, Doreen Williams, told him of a premonition she had before the senior class trip.

"She didn't want to go. She thought something serious was going to happen, but she wanted to be with her class," said the pastor.

Only seven girls survived in Juda's senior class of 35 pupils. The trip was an annual affair for each graduating class at the small, brick school in the hilltop town of 300.

"I just can't believe it," said the school bus driver and teacher Neil Scott. "It happens to others but you just can't picture it happening right in your own home town."

LAST MORNING

In the crossroads post office of the small, southern Wisconsin village, Irma Nordor said, "It is just horrible when you think about it. I don't think we feel the full force of it yet."

Mrs. Nordor had two cousins among the victims in the senior class which had sold cookies and ice cream and washed cars to raise money in its treasury to finance the trip. Students paid for their meals themselves and she told of one girl, Linda Kay, 18, who had worked as a babysitter for weeks.

The class had left on the school's first senior trip to New Orleans after previous annual excursions in Washington, D.C. In the school's library lay an itinerary for the trip.

Thursday's notation began: "This is your last morning in New Orleans."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee has decided against recommending expulsion of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd. But neither will it exonerate him of misconduct charges.

It also was learned Wednesday that the panel will not propose that Dodd be stripped of his Senate seniority or penalized financially in any way.

The 59-year-old Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs and his relations with an agent of West German business interests have been under investigation by the bipartisan committee for more than a year.

SECRET MEETING

The committee's recommendations to the Senate are not expected for three or four weeks, but the staff is working on a preliminary draft.

At a secret meeting last week, to set guidelines for the staff, the committee ruled out both total exonerations and expulsion, it was learned.

Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., one of the six committee members, said when asked about this he thought it was fair to conclude that whatever action is taken "will fall between these two extremes."

Thunderstorms Watch Issued

By The Associated Press

Spring turbulence dipped into Texas today as the Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm watch for portions of North Central Texas.

Forecasters said the threat of isolated severe thunderstorms would exist from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m. in an area bounded from Henrietta to McKinney to Lake Tawakoni to Paris.

The affected region stretched in a 120-mile swath from south of Ardmore, Okla., to east of Chanute, Kan.

Large hail and damaging winds could be expected in developing storms, the Weather Bureau said.

Meanwhile, a cold air mass swept off the Rocky Mountains into West Texas but it had little effect on the state's weather pattern.

Boy, Girl Added To Nominees For Youth Award

Two more students' names have been put in the lists for consideration for the annual Zale - Herald Youth Achievement Award. Friends have nominated Larry Don McKinney, Coahoma senior, and Ann Garrett, a junior in Big Spring High.

Meanwhile multiple nominations have come in for other young people whose names already have been announced.

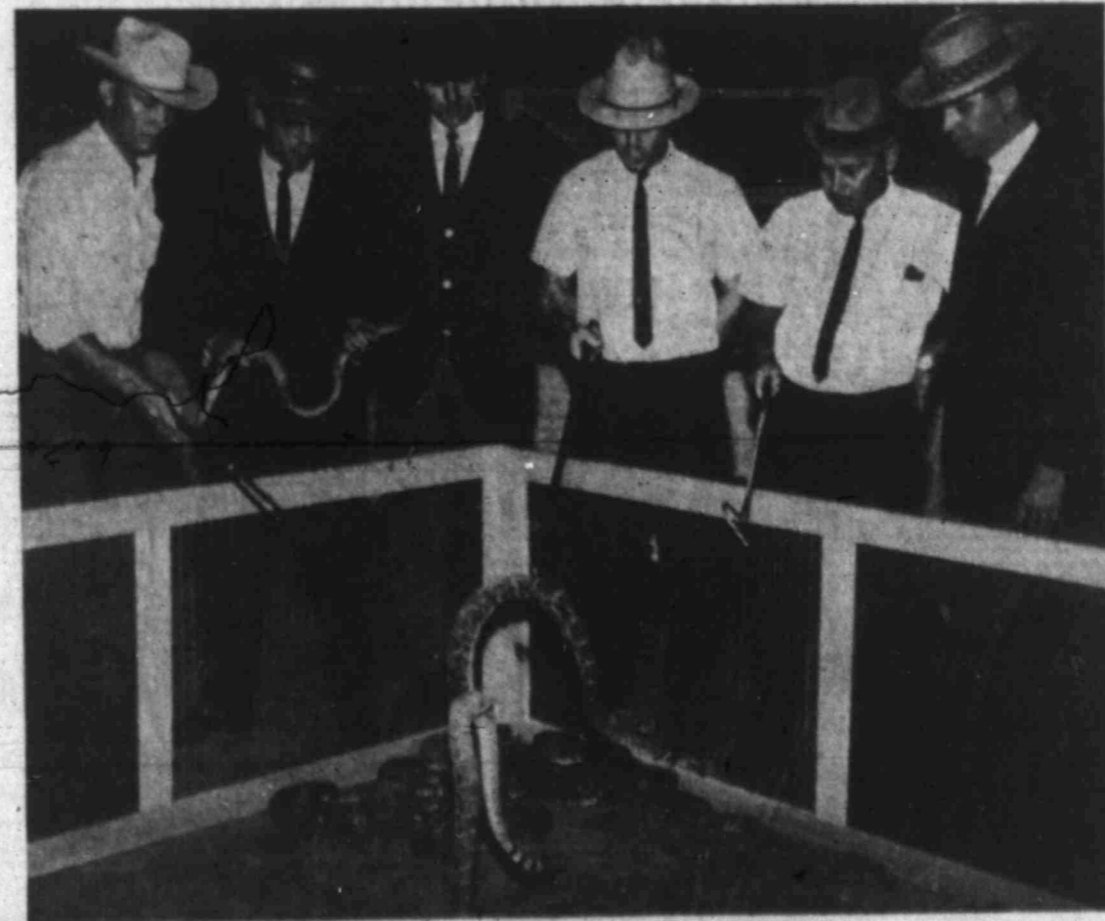

Anyone can make nominations, and as many as they care to. The Herald nomination blank must be used (it is on Page 5-A today), but may be accompanied by a more detailed letter.

Object of the program is to pay recognition to those young people who are leaders in church, school and community service activities, and one junior or senior from one of the county's three high schools will be honored at a public banquet. The winner receives a large trophy and an engraved watch from Zale's.

Body Of Partially Clothed Teen Found

DALLAS (AP)—The body of a teenage girl, partially clothed, was found today near a boat house on the western edge of White Rock Lake.

The circumstances surrounding the death were not clear. T. L. Baker, detective in the homicide division of the Dallas police department, said "we don't know yet how she was killed, but it apparently happened last night."

Signs Of Spring—Straw Hats And Snakes

Spring has arrived, no matter what the weatherman says, when the Jaycees stage their annual Rattler Roundup and the first straw hats replace the felts of winter. Jaycees in this scene are more concerned with the snakes at the moment, but this gives a good angle at the various

Connally Says He Won't Veto College Bill?

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally indicated to three West Texas legislators Wednesday he probably would not veto a bill aimed at creating a regional four-year college district in the Midland-Odessa area, informed sources said.

Bills authorizing creation of such districts are pending in both the House and Senate.

The College Coordinating Board has refused for the time being to recommend creation of a four year college in the Midland-Odessa area. The regional college bills are designed to allow counties in the area to join in a taxing district to operate a four year college on their own.

Reps. Richard Slack of Pecos, Ace Pickens of Odessa and Randy Pendleton of Andrews met with the governor Wednesday afternoon.

A source said Connally was asked directly whether he would veto the regional college bill if it passes.

"I don't think I will," Connally was reported as saying.

The governor reportedly told the group they should keep the overall educational needs of the state in mind.

Printers Union Strike Threat Cooling In NY

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility of an immediate strike by the Printers Union against five of the city's major newspapers at midnight tonight appears to have eased.

Bertram A. Powers, president of Typographical Union No. 6, said Wednesday that his union did not plan to strike tonight even if no agreement has been reached by midnight when the current contract expires.

Powers said, however, that the union planned to put pressure on the New York Daily News. He said the News had been an obstacle to an over-all settlement. Powers said that instead of strike action he planned to hold a chapel meeting of printers at the News at 2 a.m. Friday. When chapel meetings are in progress no work is done.

FIFTH WALKOUT

The situation remained uncertain in other disputes between newspaper unions and the publishers of the News, The New York Times, the New York World Journal Tribune, the Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press. The five newspapers are members of the Publishers Association of New York City.

The New York Post, a member of the association and bargains separately.

A strike would be the fifth newspaper walkout in less than four years. Since Nov. 1, 1962, some or all of the city's major dailies have been shut down by strikes for a total of 41 weeks, or an average of one of every five weeks.

PAPERS DIE

During that time, the number of major dailies in New York was cut from nine to six. The New York Mirror halted publication shortly after one lengthy strike and the Herald Tribune died before the last strike was settled on Sept. 12, 1966.

The unions are seeking new contracts to replace the two-year contracts for 17,000 salaried and hourly rated employees of the five newspapers which are members of the publishers association.

While attention had been centered on the powerful Printers Union this week, top negotiators for the publishers concentrated their attention on the Newspaper Deliverers Union Wednesday night. It is one of the unions that has authorized a strike for midnight tonight.

SLIGHT PROGRESS

Talks between the deliverers union and the publishers broke up at 3:30 a.m. today with both sides reporting slight progress.

Other unions that have authorized a strike include the electricians and machinists, both relatively small groups.

The photoengravers voted on March 19 to seek authority from their international union for a strike and have scheduled a meeting for Sunday to hear a report on negotiations.

WAGE OFFER

George E. McDonald, president of Mailers Union 6, announced Wednesday night that his union had asked the parent International Typographical Union to authorize a strike.

Also, the representative assembly of the Newspaper Guild adopted a resolution that Guild members would refuse to cross the picket lines of any craft union that might strike. The Guild, which is also involved in negotiations, has not taken a strike vote among its members.

The unions have been seeking substantial wage increases, ranging up to 20 per cent.

The publishers made their initial wage offer to the printers on Monday. It would provide a 4 per cent wage increase in each year of a three-year contract.

Nevada Pilot Lands In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Nevada pilot sought as missing came down safely in Cuba, the Coast Guard says it learned.

Richard Coopman, 45, had trouble with his radio and landed for repairs Wednesday, the Coast Guard was informed by the State Department which relayed information from the Swiss Embassy in Havana.

Coopman, of Reno, was en route from Miami to Curacao in the Caribbean in a twin-engine plane and was sought after he failed to make a scheduled touchdown at Great Inagua Island in the Bahamas.

Brief One-Man Crime Caper Ends In Death

BEAUMONT (AP) — A brief one-man crime wave ended Wednesday with a paroled convict shooting himself after a running gun battle with police. He died at a hospital early today.

Officers said he held up a tavern, kidnaped its owner and a bar maid, shot her in the head and fled. Doctors said the wounded woman probably will recover.

Police Capt. H. C. Walling identified the 5-foot-6 gunman as Thomas Wayne Hair, 29, and said he was paroled from federal prison at Terre Haute, Ind., while serving 20 years for a bank robbery in Phoenix, Ariz.

CORNERED

Walling and inspector C. M. Snell reported Hair turned his pistol on himself after pursuers cornered him beneath a house.

The officers related this sequence of events:

Hair pulled a gun and forced William Behannon to give him about $500 from the cash register at a dance hall and bar in mid-afternoon. He took Behannon and Pamme Roads, 29, the bar maid, with him as he drove away in a 1956 model car.

After tying Behannon to a tree in a wooded section north of Beaumont, he took Miss Roads to another brushy area, shot her above the right eye and departed, apparently believing she was dead.

Child Shot By Brooding Mother Remains Critical

DALLAS (AP)—Nurses reported Rachel Lee, 14, one of three children shot by their brooding mother, remained in critical condition today at Parkland Hospital.

Her brother Russell, 13, previously said to be in serious condition, showed improvement. "Fair" was written on his chart.

His sister was shot between the eyes.

EX-TEACHER

Nellie Beatrice Lee, 35, a public school teacher until a few months ago, killed her son David, 12, at the same time she shot the others in their home early Wednesday. Then she ended her own life by slashing her throat and wrists with a razor.

Justice of the Peace Joe B. Brown Jr. entered a verdict of murder and suicide.

Police broke into the house after a frantic call from Russell, grazed on the forehead by a bullet. He wrested a pistol from his mother before darting to a neighbor's house.

SUICIDE FEAR

Officers found Mrs. Lee slumped across a bath tub. Under her were the gun, which she had retrieved from the backyard, and a safety razor.

Maurice E. Lee, the husband and father, learned what had happened while attending a sales meeting at the natural gas company where he heads the air conditioning branch.

A minister and others close to the family said Mrs. Lee had suffered from severe depression and there had been concern that she might take her own life — "but we certainly didn't expect this," said one friend.

AFTER FIRM BURNS

Brenham Grand Juror Enters State Hospital

BRENHAM, Tex. (AP) — The possibility of arson was being investigated today in a fire that destroyed the business of a member of the Washington County Grand Jury which is investigating an alleged bawdy house. The Chappell Hill Electric Co. of Chappell Hill, 10 miles east of here, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Damages were estimated at near $15,000. The firm is owned by C. M. Hurst who said he had received two telephone calls threatening harm to him and members of his family unless the grand jury ended its investigation.

90-DAY STAY
Late Wednesday, County Judge Otis Thomachefsky signed an order committing the 32-year-old Hurst to a state mental hospital. The 90-day commitment order also was signed by two physicians, one of whom said Hurst suffered from "depressive psychosis."

Apollo Fire Cause Still Big Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, a congressional space watchdog, said today, "I don't think we will ever know what caused that fire" which killed three Apollo astronauts.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is expected to release its final report about April 8 on the January accident. The astronauts died in their spacecraft on a launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla., during tests.

Teague, a Texas Democrat and chairman of a subcommittee on space, said in an interview he has been in daily contact with the investigators and there has been no indication they have been able to pinpoint the cause.

He said he thinks the thousands of NASA and industry technicians responsible for the Apollo capsule always will have to wonder whether they might have had something to do with the accident.

Asked whether space officials had taken unnecessary risks in pushing ahead the American n-to-the-moon program, Teague said, "Maybe we were a little bit careless." He said some of the safety checks probably should have been more thorough but did not elaborate.

In a preliminary report, NASA said it believes the fire probably was caused by an electrical malfunction under the seat of the Apollo 1 command pilot, Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom. Killed with Grissom in the blaze were Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

After NASA makes its report, Teague's NASA oversight subcommittee of the House Science and Astronautics Committee is to conduct hearings on the NASA investigation.

In reply to criticism that the current inquiry amounts to NASA investigating itself, Teague pointed out that about a dozen astronauts are taking part and declared: "Nobody can make me believe that any of them are going to allow anything to be covered up."

PHONE THREATS
An arson investigator from the state fire marshal's office in Austin arrived in Chappell Hill and sifted through the smoldering remains of the fire late Wednesday.

The grand jury met Tuesday despite telephone threats to school officials that the schools would be blown up. However, there were no incidents. Attendance at the schools Tuesday was about 50 per cent but attendance Wednesday was 78 per cent. School officials said 95 per cent is the normal attendance.

The schools are under 24 hour police guard.

Cuban Major To Visit Here

The Deryl Johnstons, 2010 Runnels, will hold open house Saturday morning for those interested in meeting Maj. Pedro Diaz Lanz, formerly chief of the Cuban Air Force when Castro took control of the country. Maj. Lanz will be the guest of the Johnstons overnight Friday, and will make no public appearances here. He testified before a congressional committee after he broke with Castro, warning that the dictator had Communist leanings.

The major fought with Castro in the hills and served as his personal pilot.

Shotgun Squad Member Kills

DALLAS (AP)—A member of the Dallas police "shotgun squad" shot and killed a man Wednesday night in the rear of a drive-in grocery.

Officials identified the victim as Sammie Ed Williams, 21. He died shortly after having been admitted to a hospital. It was the third fatal shooting inflicted by the squad in recent weeks. Police officers are stationed in the rear of frequently burglarized establishments in an effort to cut crime.

Pentagon Denies Bomb Shortages

WASHINGTON (AP) — A serious bomb shortage in Vietnam, Senate subcommittee's assertion that a shipping shortage endangers U.S. ability to supply troops in Vietnam has drawn a prompt Pentagon denial.

The Defense Department, responding to a report by the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, said "potentially available U.S.-owned sealift resources could support an operation 2 1/2 times the size of Vietnam today."

The Pentagon also denied Wednesday published reports of

Pack 202 Gives Awards

One Bear Badge, four Wolf Badges, 16 arrow points and one Bobcat pin were awarded Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of Pack 202 held at the First Methodist Church. The opening ceremony was presented by Den 5. Skill was presented by Den 4. Parents attendance award was won by Den 1.

Wolf Badges were awarded to Eleno Paredes, Raymond Sandoval, Phillip Ouellette and Richard Talley. Gary Turner received his Bear Badge. A Bobcat pin was awarded to Paul Nabors. Arrow points went to Steven Lyles, Hugh Porter, Gary Graves, Paul Kasch, Richard Tally, Richard Affleck, Jimmy Baker, Johnny Christian, Theodore Christian, Jessie Ramirez, James Greenhill and Joe Cochran.

Ben Crocker, pack committee chairman, presided. Olen Graves was introduced as the new Cubmaster.

The next Pack Meeting was announced for April 25th at 7 p.m.

Pack 63 Organized

Youngsters between 8-10 years are being urged to join the newly organized Cub Scout Pack 63, sponsored by the North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church. The pack will meet the last Tuesday of each month.

The charter completion ceremonies were held Tuesday, with Marion H. Conner as cubmaster. Mrs. W. C. Garver and Mrs. Marshall Spruill are the den mothers. The Webelos Den conducted the opening and closing ceremonies.

Danny Spruill and Jim Bob Phillips received their Bobcat pins, and David Bright, Michael McMullen, and James C. Conner moved into the Webelos Den.

The bidding:
South: West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
6 ♥ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♣
A decisive swing occurred on the above hand when it was dealt in a recent National Team of Four match.

The first round of bidding was the same at both tables. When North responded with two no trump, announcing a minimum of 13 high card points, South was determined to reach slam inasmuch as his holding was worth 21 points.

One South chose to rebid his heart suit on the second round — suppressing the clubs — and when North offered a delayed raise, he proceeded without further ado to six hearts.

A club was opened by West and when declarer learned of the unfavorable trump break, he tried a finesse for the queen of spades. When this play lost, he conceded defeat and East and West scored a 100 point profit on the deal.

At the other table, their teammates arrived at an ambitious grand slam contract in clubs with the North-South cards. Over North's two no trump response, South chose to show his second suit by rebidding three clubs. When this received a raise to four, South employed Blackwood to check for aces. His partner's response accounted for both missing controls and South proceeded resolutely to seven clubs, choosing to adopt an optimistic attitude toward disposal of his third spade.

A trump was opened and won in the closed hand. A diamond was led to the ace and the jack was trumped with the ten of clubs. The queen of clubs was overtaken by the king, so that South might ruff out the ten of diamonds. A spade to the ace permitted North to draw East's remaining club as South discarded the jack of spades.

Declarer now proceeded to establish his long heart by cashing the top three honors and then ruffing out West's jack. The last two tricks were taken by South's king of spades and the ten of hearts. The 2,240 point profit registered by the declarer added to the 100 points which his teammates had chalked up at the other table, was more than enough to decide the fate of the match.

Stanton To Discuss Pact

The Stanton city council is due to talk over a contract with the Colorado River Municipal Water District at its Tuesday meeting.

Representatives of the council, headed by Mayor S. W. Wheeler, conferred in Big Spring Wednesday with O. H. Ivie, general manager of the CRMWD. There appeared to be general agreement over the form of contract, which will come back to the district board for final action should it be approved by Stanton. Even if the council concurs, Stanton voters would have to authorize the contract.

Stanton officials have been in contact with fiscal agents concerning means of financing the cost of a pipeline to the CRMWD main supply line, plus a filter plant to handle the water from Lake J. B. Thomas.

Both parties have talked in terms of a maximum of 2,000,000 gallons per day, which exceeds the projection on Stanton's requirements for the next 20 years.

Horoscope Forecast

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day-time finds an element of good fortune released in almost anything you wish to do and you can be just as direct as you desire about it. However, the evening takes a turn for the worse and many delays, limitations and restrictions are apt to occur to bring you some pretty annoying moments.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) New situations arise today that you should welcome as they can open up a new vista of success for you now. You have novel ideas that can add to your growth. Put them in operation as quickly as possible.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Getting personal matters well attended, as well as those of a business nature, is wise, so that your whole life operates on a very smooth basis. A close tie can be succeeded to carry through with some idea of yours. Be courteous.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more positive in getting others to cooperate with you for mutual benefits, and all goes fine. Come to new agreements that will bring pleasure that you truly like. Make this a day for accomplishment.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Being sure to keep promises you have made is important and it is wise to be cheerful about it, too. Plan your time wisely so that you accomplish a great deal. Take it pretty easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you are the Golden Child you will find that today can be most delightful and profitable for you. Show ingenuity in setting your fine talents to right blow. Meet with success in all that you do.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be courteous with others instead of criticizing so much, particularly those who live with you are in need of inspiration. Your own life with others will then also change for the better. Be ambitious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Dash out to appointments during day and be sure they are scheduled correctly so that you get the most done in the minimum of time. Statements should then be made out correctly, too. Off to friends and hobbies tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can now get correct answers to certain problems that have been bothering you for at least two days and nights. Then you can increase abundance as you desire to do. Thinking big is the secret.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Following your highest ambitions is fine during the day, but tonight don't start arguments at home, or get into them. Your charm is high and you can cash in on this now. Be very active.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Private affairs need your intelligent handling during day, but be careful of a faux pas later on. This could be very embarrassing to you and others. Confer with some expert for data you require.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A kind act will give you the assistance you need for whatever project may be uppermost in your mind, and then you can handle monetary affairs wisely. The social should be gotten into seriously. Be as generous as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Doing whatever will make your position more tenable with a higher-up is wise, but be very sure you are not dictatorial. This would not even be fitting, let alone get right results. Take it easy tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow ... he, or she, will be one of those remarkable young ones who will quickly follow through on some inspirational idea and get wonderful results therefrom. However, see that a thorough training is given scholastically, since later on in life success does not come to readily, and theory and decision must be relied upon more and more, studiously. A happy, industrious life here, though.

GRACE PRODUCTS REACH THE WORLD'S CONSUMERS

W.R. Grace & Co.'s increasing interest in consumer products in the fields in which it is established—chemicals, food and beverages, and paper—is highlighted in the 1966 Annual Report. Sales and revenues totaled $1,278,682,000, a 17% increase over 1965. Income before extraordinary items increased by 21% to $58,599,000, while earnings per share were up 19% to $3.32. Per share earnings have increased an average of 14% per year for the last six years.

Sales of agricultural chemicals, industrial and specialty chemicals, and chemicals for packaging and plastics totaled $800,275,000. Chemicals accounted for 71% of total company pre-tax earnings before allocation of interest and general corporate overhead.

Food and beverage sales, including Miller High Life beer, snack foods, chocolate and confectioneries, were $243,311,000. The 1966 Annual Report reviews all aspects of W.R. Grace & Co.'s operations.

Record Losses Are Recorded In Viet War

SAIGON (AP) — More American and Communist troops were killed last week than ever before in the Vietnam war, U.S. military headquarters announced today.

The United States lost 274 dead and the Communists 2,774, the American command said.

While the Communist death toll set a record for the second straight week, the U.S. total exceeded a record of 240 that had stood since the battle of the Ia Drang Valley in November, 1965.

Although the ground war has been relatively quiet for the past few days, the casualty summary for last week emphasized the growing intensity of the struggle in Vietnam. Many of the casualties were suffered in one of the war's deadliest one-day battles, on March 21, in which a crack Viet Cong regiment lost more than 600 dead in the jungles of Tay Ninh Province.

DEADLY PACE
The deadly pace of the war continued Wednesday with 50 Viet Cong reported killed by South Korean soldiers sweeping the central coast and scattered actions dotting the countryside.

U.S. pilots smashed at targets in North Vietnam with 108 missions, including strikes on a storage complex 27 miles northeast of Hanoi. In the south, rockets from a U.S. Army helicopter on a firing mission fell short, killed three civilians, wounded 20 others and destroyed 31 huts in a government-controlled village 35 miles southeast of Quang Ngai.

The weekly casualty summary reported 1,320 Americans were wounded last week, the third highest total of the war, and 12 were missing.

ATTRITION WAR
The casualty figures also reflect the increasing use by the Communists of mortars, rockets and recoilless rifles — relatively long-range weapons which they now generally favor in an attempt to escape the massive and growing U.S. firepower. U.S. officers say the Communists have apparently decided to wage a war of attrition for the time being.

Despite record losses for two weeks, the U.S. estimate of total Communist troop strength increased by 1,000 men last week and 4,000 the week before, to a total of 287,000. This indicated continued heavy infiltration from North Vietnam despite the U.S. bombing and successful local recruiting of guerrillas.

TROOP SLASH
American troop strength dropped for the first time in the war, being reported at 425,000. This was 2,000 less than the total force reported the week before, but the U.S. command said it was the result of an "administrative shuffle" and had no significance.

Apparently there was no real appreciable drop in troop strength.

The sharp fighting by the South Koreans Wednesday took place in coastal Phu Yen Province where major elements of two Korean divisions are conducting a vast road clearance sweep. The operation is designed to free a major segment of coastal Route 1 from Viet Cong control.

POOR WEATHER
Korean headquarters reported only light casualties for its force.

The most significant reported action involving U.S. troops took place in the coastal foothills of the central highlands where 10 U.S. soldiers were wounded in a jungle sweeping operation.

Poor weather continued to limit the air war against North Vietnam, but an armada of some 400 warplanes from Thailand, South Vietnam and aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf raked far-ranging targets.

The storage area near Hanoi was hit by Air Force Thunderchief and Phantom jet pilots who reported the area in flames after they pulled out of their bomb runs.

Most targets for the day were along the rail and highway route down the coast toward the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Vietnam. Navy and Air Force pilots reported blasting nearly 40 barges during the day.

NO ANSWER
The U.S. destroyers Cunningham and Waddell edged close to the coast to shell a radar station near Dong Hai and reported no answering fire from the shore.

B52 bombers added their 60,000-pound bomb loads to the war effort with three raids on Communist troop bivouacs in the South. The big bombers' raids will be stepped up this weekend with the arrival of the first contingent of B52s in Thailand, from which they can reach South Vietnam in less than two hours instead of the six it takes from Guam.

George Raft Denies Being Mob Member

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Somebody must have put the finger on me," said George Raft, barred from England as an "undesirable." "The only thing I can figure is that it was the FBI. And so I'm going to try to see J. Edgar Hoover and find out what they've got against me."

The onetime coin-flipping gangster of movies, still dapper at 71, was discussing the latest blow in a decade of personal trouble. For a year he had been front-man and greeter for George Raft's Colony sporting club, a Las Vegas-type casino in London, where gambling is legal.

STILL SHOCKED
During a trip home, Raft was notified that he was one of eight Americans whose "continued presence in the United Kingdom would not be conducive to the public good."

A month later, Raft is still shocked. "What have I done?" he asks as he chain smokes — despite an asthmatic condition — in his comfortable Beverly Hills home.

"They haven't accused me of anything; they've just barred me from the country without charges, without a trial or anything. And just when I was about to start participating in the profits of the Colony. All I got was an apartment, the use of a car and a small salary until the investors were paid off. Now they have been, but I won't be there to collect."

"I suppose the British had some information on me, and it must have come from the FBI. I'm going to New York this week to see about a job, and I plan to drop down to Washington and wait in Hoover's office until he sees me. I know him; once I introduced him to Aly Khan at Del Mar race track."

'BROADS' COST
"Hell, I'm not a member of any mob, never was. Sure, I know some guys that are, but I know a lot of people. What am I supposed to do when those guys say hello to me — tell them to get lost?"

Raft, who was married briefly in 1923 to Grayce Mulrooney and never divorced, claims to have spent a million dollars on "broads."

TEXANS AT WAR The Bad Day At Black Rock

By The Associated Press
The date was Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, but for Texas it was "Bad Day at Black Rock."

Dobbins, 26, a warrant officer from Pleasanton, near San Antonio, spent most of 1966 at Vinh Long in Vietnam, a helicopter pilot for a gun platoon with the 17th Aviation Co.

ENGINE HIT
"We were just leaving the area to escort some 'slicks' back in," he said.

"We crossed a little river going out to pick them up and the VC opened up with a machine gun."

"It was just one of those strange things. One round was all it took."

"It glanced off the bell crank assembly that controls the tail rotor... It hit the engine somehow. Anyway, the engine lost power, and we were at about 150 feet when they hit us."

GROUND GLIDE
Without a tail rotor, there was no control, he said. "We were at a loss... We glided to the ground, fast like, too."

The ship crashed about 100 yards from a tree line and Dobbins said he didn't know what to expect next.

"That's the only thing that scared me... the way the VC hide in those trees."

Mystery Flatfish Is Photographed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Eric Barham says the preadult, a 9-inch fish he photographed at a depth of 400 feet off the Baja California peninsula, "is the largest post-larval flatfish that anyone knows about." He added, "It is a biological curiosity. It points out that there are organisms now living in the ocean that we haven't seen or caught in our nets."

Woes Nothing New To Illini Additions

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The ill wind of athletic scandal at Illinois, after wrecking careers of two veteran head coaches, Wednesday had launched new careers for two products of the assistant coaching ranks. "It's like coming home," said Jim Valek and Harry Schmidt, former Illini athletic stars, named Tuesday to succeed, respectively, head football coach Pete Elliott and head basketball coach Harry Combes. Elliott and Combes were pressured into resignation by a Big Ten suspension threat against Illinois.

Valek, 40, former grid assistant at four colleges, and Schmidt, 31, cage aide at New Mexico the past three seasons, were given one-year contracts to help steer the Illini back on the Big Ten's straight and narrow path of recruitment.

"We faced this same kind of thing when Coach Paul Dietzel took over at South Carolina last year," said Valek, who also served under Dietzel four previous seasons at Army. "Just as our tenders went out, the school was placed on probation for recruiting violations before our arrival. This didn't ruin South Carolina's recruiting. It made kids mad at what had been done to their state university. It firmed up their determination to go to school there."

Mailing date for Big Ten football tenders is Saturday.

Valek, a star Illini end from 1945 to 1948 and also an assistant football coach at Wichita and Illinois, said he hoped Elliott's entire seven-member staff would stay with him.

Valek said he was not concerned over the Big Ten code which forbids red-shirting, limits football tenders to 30 per year and bans financial aid beyond room, board and tuition, prohibiting the $15 per month spending money permitted by the NCAA.

"If it takes $15 a month to have athletes come to Illinois, we don't want them," said Valek.

Schmidt, Illini basketball captain in 1957, also starred in the National Industrial Basketball League for the Denver Truckers and coached high school basketball at Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, before joining the New Mexico staff.

Schmidt faces a stiffer rebuilding job than Valek. The Illini scandal not only forced the March 19 resignations of Elliott, Combes and assistant basketball coach Howie Braun, but also permanently benched two basketball stars, Rich Jones and Ron Dunlap.

Additionally, a promising reserve, Steve Kuberski, was declared ineligible until the 1968-1969 season.

Like Valek, Schmidt said he would concentrate recruiting within the state of Illinois and added that the replacement of Braun as his assistant would be "an established Illinois high school coach."

Turner Uninjured In Bad Wreck

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—It was a good day at Atlanta International Raceway for Cale Yarborough; but a bad one for Curtis Turner.

Yarborough, driving a 1967 Ford, grabbed the pole position Wednesday for Sunday's $77,000 Atlanta 500, but Turner was lucky to escape without serious injury when his 1967 Chevelle was demolished after it flipped and overturned several times. Turner was taken to a hospital for observation but was released Wednesday night.

The Charlotte, N.C., driver also lost his AIB records for one lap and four laps to Yarborough, also from Charlotte. Yarborough's four-lap average was 148.996 miles per hour and his one-lap speed was 149.461.

Yarborough narrowly escaped Turner's crash. He was behind Turner on a test run when the Chevelle began to spin. Smokey Yunick, who owned the Chevelle and had teamed with Turner to get the qualifying record at AIB in 1966, was thankful his driver had escaped with his life.

"It was the wildest ride I've ever seen a man take and live," he said. "I don't remember seeing one that bad in recent years."

The car went out of control coming out of the fourth turn, flipped end over end for 150 yards in front of about 2,000 grandstand onlookers, broke through an infield rail and burst into flame. But Turner walked away from the wreckage say-

Area Netters On Tech Team

LUBBOCK — Rice University, toughest tennis foe for Texas Tech in Southwest Conference play, invades varsity courts for an SWC round robin match Saturday.

Since the Red Raiders began conference play in 1958 the Owls have captured all nine meetings, taking 48 individual matches to Tech's six. Besides Rice, only Texas has compiled a better record than Texas Tech in SWC round robin matches beginning in 1958. Tech has a pair of draws with Texas and holds an edge over all the other SWC opponents.

Last season Tech lost to Rice by 6-0.

The match, slated for 2 p.m., is open to the public free of charge.

Playing for the Red Raiders will be Mike Beene, Odessa sophomore; Rudy Gutierrez, Midland sophomore; Pat Acton, Wichita Falls junior; John Woods, Midland junior; and Murphy Yates, Wichita Falls junior.

Texas Tech, opening its Southwest Conference title play with the Saturday encounter, is 3-1 in dual match play this season. The Red Raiders have downed Hardin - Simmons, Oklahoma, and Oklahoma City, and lost to New Mexico.

Boston Ace Finds One Lefty Easy

By The Associated Press

Curl Yastrzemski often had that left out feeling when left-handers pitched against the Red Sox, but this spring he is showing signs of becoming the big hit of the Boston Baseball Party.

The left-handed hitter smacked two home runs off southpaw Alvin Jackson Wednesday as the Red Sox nipped St. Louis 10-9.

His first homer came with a man on in the third inning, and his second came with two aboard in the fifth. He also drove in a run with a bases-loaded walk and made the game-ending out by spearing Jim Williams' fly to deep left field.

Earlier this spring, first-year Manager Dick Williams said Yastrzemski, who hit 278 but only 198 against southpaws in 1966, definitely would not be platooned this season.

In other exhibition games Wednesday, Joe Morgan's home run lifted Houston over Atlanta 3-2; Donna Clendenon smacked two homers as Pittsburgh beat the Chicago White Sox 6-4 in 10; Harmon Killebrew's fifth homer of the spring helped Minnesota past Washington 5-0.

The New York Mets beat Cincinnati 5-3; Cleveland nipped California 2-1; Detroit rocked Philadelphia 6-2; Los Angeles edged Kansas City 3-2 and San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs were rained out.

Joe Foy's three-run double in Boston's five-run sixth provided the winning runs. Mike Shannon drove in four runs with two homers and a pair of singles and Orlando Cepeda homered for St. Louis.

In the Houston game, Larry Dierker retired 13 straight while working seven innings or the Astros, while Tony Cloninger set down 12 straight in a seven-inning stint for Atlanta.

Pittsburgh got three runs from Clendenon's homers but needed three straight singles for a run in the 10th to win it. The Pirates added another extra inning run with a sacrifice fly. Chicago's Ken Berry hit a grand slam off Bob Veale in the third.

Dave Boswell, Jim Perry and Al Worthington of the Twins combined to shut out Washington.

The Mets got seven hits, including Ron Swoboda's triple, in scoring all of their runs in the fifth inning. The outburst was at the expense of Cincinnati's Mel Queen, an outfielder trying to make the grade as a pitcher.

Cleveland got two unearned runs in the fifth to overcome California's 1-0 lead fashioned on Rick Reichardt's second-inning homer, and pitchers Gary Bell, Vicente Romo and Dick

CARL YASTRZEMSKI

Radatz made them stand up.

Doubles by George Korince and Dick McAuliffe and three singles enabled Detroit to break a 1-1 tie with three runs in the eighth against Philadelphia.

Los Angeles got its three runs in the first inning, two of them on Bob Bailey's homer, in beating Kansas City. The Dodgers, however, lost center fielder Willie Davis for seven to 10 days. Davis sprained his left ankle while attempting to steal second.

Gail Host To Track Athletes Saturday

GAIL—The first annual Borden County Relays will be held Saturday on the new all-weather racing oval at Borden County High School.

Field events get under way at 9:30 a.m. Preliminaries in the running events are scheduled for 10:30 a.m., while the afternoon finals are slated for 3 p.m.

Twenty-one Class B schools have entered teams. In all, 266 boys will be participating. Among schools which have entered teams are Loraine, Forsan, Fluvanna, Meadow, Southland, Loop, Hermleigh, Westbrook, Hobbs, Sands, Klondike, Dawson, Anton, Highland, Wilson, Bronte, Three Way, Amherst, Sterling City, Borden County and Water Valley. Favorites are Amherst, Anton and Loraine.

Top entries include Loraine in the 440-yard relay, which has been clocked in 45 seconds flat; Reep, Anton, 2:07 in the 880; Bench, Amherst, 15.1 in the 120-yard high hurdles; Hardwick, Amherst, and Clark, Highland, each 10.2 in the 100-yard dash; Rose, Loraine, 51.2 in the 440; Park, Forsan, 52.2 in the same event; Buchanan, Anton, 52.5 in the 440; Vercamp, Wilson, 41.9 in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles; Nunnally, Gail, 42.5 in the same event; Chorn, Hermleigh, 23.2 in the 220; Hardwick, Amherst, 23.3 in the same event; Britton, Loraine, 23.5 in the same event; King, Meadow, and Castillo, Hermleigh, both 5:00 in the mile run; and Anton, 3:37.0 in mile relay.

Also Loraine, 3:39; Meadow, 3:40 and Wilson, 3:40 in mile relay; Nunnally, Gail 29-3/4 in broad jump; Stephens, Klondike, 136-0 in discus; Williams, Three-Way, 6-0 in high jump; Nunnally, Gail, 6-0 in same event; Beal, Sands, 46-6 in shot put; and Gambrell, Loop, 12-6, in pole vault.

Many of the boys appearing in the meet will take part in the Region VI-B meet at Big Spring next month.

Director of the meet will be Jack Aldridge, track coach at Borden County High School.

Palmer Nears New Plateau

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Doug Sanders and Gary Player — those were the names most frequently mentioned today as the $125,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament got under way.

They shaped up as the most formidable of the 144 contenders in the chase for $25,000 top money in the richest tournament of the professional tour thus far this year.

Palmer, who elected to sharpen his game for next week's Masters under competitive conditions while Jack Nicklaus preferred to practice at Augusta, has won two of the 10 circuit tournaments this year. So has Boros.

Sanders, the GGO defending champion, has demonstrated a liking for the par-71 Sedgefield Country Club course measuring about 7,000 yards. He has won twice and lost a playoff here in the last four years.

Player demonstrated that his game was nearing its peak with a 66 in Wednesday's pro-amateur play.

Palmer is $252 away from becoming the first professional to reach the $800,000 plateau in official tournament winnings.

Other tournament winners this year who are on hand are Bob Galyb, Tom Nieporte and Dan Sikes.

Ken Still shot a 65, six under par, to win top money of $500 in Wednesday's pro-amateur. He is one of several players still in the running for two Masters invitations which will be determined on the basis of tournament performance this year.

He finished with four successive birdies for a one stroke margin over Player, Don January and Frank Beard.

Angelo Athletes Busy Saturday

SAN ANGELO — Teams from Angelo State College will be competing in Sherman and Abilene Saturday with competition expected to be tough at both spots.

Coach Wade Turner's track team will perform in the Hardin-Simmons Invitational meet in Abilene Saturday afternoon at the same time the baseball team takes on Austin College in a twinbill at Sherman.

Whitis Is Named Guest Lecturer

BROWNWOOD — Glen Whitis, athletic director and head basketball coach at Howard Payne College, will serve as a guest speaker at the Waco Basketball Coaches Clinic April 28-29. Whitis' Yellow Jackets have participated in the NAIA national tournament the last two seasons.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Mike, a Negro, performed against Big Spring two straight years. He's the son of a retired Army sergeant.

Jim Napier, the former HCJC athlete, is up among the leaders in both the discus throw and broad jump among Southwest Conference athletes this spring. He's now wearing TCU toggery.

Napier has cleared 22-9 in the broad jump. When he was in school here, coach Red Lewis depended upon him to return first places in the discus. Any points he picked up in the long jump were velvet.

Jim is built like a fireplug but he's surprisingly fast.

When Bum Phillips departed the scene for a job with the San Diego Chargers, ex-Stanton mentor Melvin Robertson took on the added duties of coordinating the defense with the University of Houston football team.

Melvin also scouts the West Texas area for the Cougars, who are striving to become Texas' No. One collegiate team.

The past basketball season, the Texas Tech Red Raiders won two of three starts against NCAA tournament representatives, beating New Mexico State and splitting with SMU.

Incidentally, Dubby Malaise, who lived here as a small boy, will probably sign with the Dallas entry in the recently organized American Basketball League.

Dubby, who finished at Texas Tech a couple of years ago, would be a great crowd favorite in pro basketball.

Television's oldest golf show, "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf," will continue into its seventh season next year. The 1968 series will consist of 11 one-hour shows, all scheduled for Saturday afternoons.

Don McDonald, who departed here recently to become head basketball coach at his alma mater, Texas A&I, still ranks among the four top A&I scorers of all time and retains the top free throw percentage in a single game. He hit 13 of 14 free throw opportunities in a 1957 game with the Javelinas.

McDonald is one of ten A&I players to score more than 30 points in a single game. He turned the trick twice in 1957. He was named to the All-Lone Star Conference team three years running.

You'd have to give the Big Spring Steers a high rating in the baseball Future Book when you consider what coach Oakey Hagood has coming back next season.

Jesse Zapata, David Mitchell and Johnny McCullough are about the only seniors who have been seeing regular action.

The Scraphorn Johnson who fights Floyd Patterson in Sweden shortly is the same heavyweight who once was in the stable of Martin County's Melton McMorries.

Truett Newell, the one-time Big Spring coaching aide, is now residing in Artesia, N.M., where he is working for a company selling chemicals in oil fields.

Newell was one of six sons in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Newell. The elder Mr. Newell, who is a school principal here, came from a family that included eight boys.

Madison Square Garden in New York is sometimes referred to as the Cathedral of Boxing but last week's imbroglio between Cassius Clay and Zora Folley was only the tenth heavyweight championship scrap there in 42 years.

Joe Louis was featured in eight of the others, although all of Joe's biggest scraps were staged out of doors.

Healthy Astros Could Be Tough, Says Grady

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Jim Landis, Lee Bales and Darrell Griffith aren't exactly Willie Mays, Rich Allen and Bill Mazeroski.

But Manager Grady Hatton of the Houston Astros believes that players of the caliber of the first trio could have meant the difference between a highly successful season and another disappointing, unsuccessful one.

Landis, Bales and Griffith are players the Astros acquired during the winter — not to step right in as starters but to step in if something happens to any starters.

Ed Mathews was another acquisition, but he'll probably serve a slightly different function.

The Astros were sailing along in the surprisingly high position of fifth place last season until their ridiculously bad fortune

LEE BALES ED MATHEWS

As late as July 22 they were in fifth. But injuries to such players as Joe Morgan, Jim Wynn and Bob Lillis were too much, and Houston plummeted to eighth.

The string of injuries started June 25 when second baseman Morgan fractured a kneecap. Lillis, Morgan's replacement, separated his right shoulder. Lillis' replacement, Felix Mantilla, pulled groin muscles and Julio Gota, Mantilla's replacement, pulled a hamstring muscle.

The injury bug hit the outfield July 1 when Wynn ran into a center field fence and fractured a wrist. He was out the rest of the year.

Nor was the pitching staff passed over. Bob Bruce, Barry Latman and Dick Farrell all were out at various times. In fact, at one time, 18 of the 25 Astros were under doctor's care.

Landis, obtained from Cleveland, can play any outfield position while Bales, formerly of the Atlanta Braves, can play second, short and third. Griffith, who came to Houston from the New York Mets, can play second, short and third plus the outfield.

Mathews, a Brave for 15 years, was the Astros' biggest acquisition. Hatton plans to use him primarily as a backup man at his normal position, third, and his new position, first.

But if Bob Aspromonte doesn't come through again at third or Chuck Harrison doesn't make it at first, Mathews will be No. 1 somewhere. Morgan is completely healthy and will team with shortstop Soupy Jackson as one of the better second-short combinations in the league. John Balemán will do most of the catching.

Assuming he's sound, Wynn will play center field while Rusty Staub will be in right and Aaron Pointer is the leading candidate for left.

For his pitching staff, Hatton will start off with Dave Giusti, Larry Dierker and Mike Cuellar. Rookie Don Wilson is making a strong bid for the fourth starting spot while others competing with him are Chris Zachary, Bruce Von Hoff, Arnold Umbach, Danny Coombs and Tom Griffin.

The bullpen is set, with Farrell, Latman, Claudy Raymond, Carroll Sembera, Bo Bellinsky and Dan Schneider comprising the crew.

John Kerr Named Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — John (Red) Kerr of the Chicago Bulls was named the Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association today.

Kerr led the Bulls into the Western Division playoffs in their first NBA season. They lost to St. Louis in the semifinals.

Kerr won Coach of the Year honors with 17 votes in the balloting of a 30-man committee of sports writers, three from each NBA city.

Fishermen Find They're Biting

Several Big Spring fishermen have reported good catches at Lake Colorado City recently.

Wayne Morris reeled in two yellow catfish, one weighing five pounds and the other three pounds. A. G. Hall took a four-pound yellow catfish, another weighing two pounds, seven channel cat weighing a half pound to four pounds each, plus two crappie ranging from one-half to two pounds.

H. O. Harris came back with an 11-pound yellow catfish pulled from the lake.

Stewart Holds Stroke Lead At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Chip Stewart of the University of Texas held a one stroke lead today in the second round of the annual All-America Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Stewart, a 20-year old sophomore, carded a 4-under-par 68 in the first round Wednesday. Mike Mitchell of the University of Houston was alone in second place with a 69 as only seven golfers broke par over the 6,690-yard, par 36-36-72 Pine Forest Country Club course.

Bob Barbarossa of Houston, Mason Adkins of Texas and Hale Irwin of Colorado each had 70. Skip Graham of Oklahoma and Lee McDowell of Texas as A&M were one under at 71. Houston and Texas were tied for team medal honors, each with a 293. Arkansas and New Mexico State were locked at 302 and tied for third and fourth place in the 16-team meet.

Other team medal scores included Arizona State 304, Texas A&M and Oklahoma State 305, Colorado and North Texas State 309, Baylor 311, New Mexico and Southern Methodist 312, Texas Tech and Oklahoma 328, Rice and Missouri 335.

In team low four ball, New Mexico State held the lead with a 62. Texas and North Texas State were tied for second with a 63.

Other low four ball scores included Houston 64, Arizona State and Arkansas 65, Oklahoma, Baylor, Texas Tech and Oklahoma State 66, New Mexico and Texas A&M 67, Colorado 68, Southern Methodist 69, Rice and Missouri 72.

In first round match play, Oklahoma State defeated Rice 5 1/2-2 1/2, New Mexico State defeated Arizona State 5-1, North Texas State defeated Arkansas 4-2, Texas defeated Oklahoma 6-0, Baylor defeated Texas A&M 3 1/2-2 1/2, New Mexico defeated Southern Methodist 3 1/2-2 1/2, Colorado defeated Texas Tech 3-3 (medal play 309-316) and Houston defeated Missouri 6-0.

In the winners bracket in match play today Oklahoma State plays New Mexico State, North Texas State meets Texas, Baylor plays New Mexico, and Colorado meets Houston.

Invitation To Golf Tournament

Jack Cook, member of Big Spring's Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, and Col. Chester J. Butcher, Webb AFB Wing commander, have extended an invitation to Big Spring Country Club members and Webb personnel to participate in Saturday's golf tournament. The 18-hole match will be played at Webb's golf course, with tee off time set for noon. Cook (left) and Butcher are pictured here.

Steer Tennis To Stay Busy Next Several Days

The Big Spring High School tennis team, consisting of six boys and two girls, are in Sweetwater today for a dual meet with the Mustangs.

The Steers go on to Abilene Friday for the two-day invitational there.

Those making the trip are Carol McEwen, Colette Tooke, Russ McEwen, Richard Macklin, Scott Porter, Craig Frank, Mike Warren and Tim Childers.

The Abilene meet will serve as a final warmup for the District 2-AAAA meet, which starts on two courts here Friday, April 7, and continues through the following day.

The boys will use the courts at Webb AFB for their division of the meet while the girls will make use of the courts behind the high school, which only recently were opened.

A mixed doubles exhibition match is being planned for the first afternoon of the district meet, with principals to be announced later. It is tentatively set for 2 p.m. and will feature

McMahon Resigns Cincinnati Post

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals can expect to have a new coach "within a week to ten days," General Manager Pepper Wilson said after the announcement that Jack McMahon has accepted another job.

McMahon, who had led the Royals since 1963, Wednesday was named coach and general manager of the new National Basketball Association team at San Diego.

There had been talk that McMahon's days at Cincinnati were numbered ever since the Royals went on a losing streak last season. The team finished with a 39-42 record for third place in the NBA's Eastern Division. McMahon's record in the NBA is 199-160.

Wolves To Open With Buffaloes

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Wolves, District 5-AA champions, will open their 1967-1968 basketball season against the Stanton Buffaloes of District 4-AA.

The two teams clash in Colorado City the night of Nov. 21. The Wolves will enter tournaments at San Angelo Lake View and Stamford and will be the host team in the Lone Wolf Invitational tournament Dec. 8-9. Caddo Matthews' club plays Stanton in a return game Jan. 2 and will oppose Coahoma in a home-and-home series.

Lee Turns Back Local Lassies

Midland Lee turned back Big Spring, 15-12, 15-8, in a District 3-AAAA girls' volleyball encounter here Tuesday night. Cooper leads the conference standings with a 7-1 record while Lee is right behind with a 6-2 mark. In B team play, Big Spring won, 15-13, 14-16, 15-2.

Shave Beard, Cokes Told

NEW YORK (AP)—Curtis Cokes has to shave off his beard but he says it won't make him any weaker for his nontitle 10-rounder with Gypsy Joe Harris at the Garden Friday night.

The welterweight champion will be permitted to keep his mustache but the New York Athletic Commission decreed the beard must go.

"I'll start growing it right after the fight," said the dapper, 29-year-old champion from Dallas. "I like a beard. It makes me different and people know me. I like that. It's part of being the champion and I like being the champion."

Cokes, a father of four who has quit the ring twice, was a virtual unknown until he whipped Luis Rodriguez, the former welterweight king, Manuel Gonzalez, and then Francis Jean Josselin.

The victory over Josselin in his home town of Dallas, Tex., earned the lean 5-foot-9 boxer-puncher the 147 1/2-pound division throne vacated by Emile Griffith when he won the mid-deweight title.

This will be Cokes' first fight in the Garden.

IDALOU IS BACK

Oil Belt Relays Slated Friday

FORSAN — Idalou is the defending champion in the third annual Forsan Oil Belt Girls Relays, scheduled here Friday. Competition starts at 1:30 p.m. Preliminaries in all running events are slated to get under way at 2:55 and continue until about 4:30 p.m. Finals open at 6 p.m. and will continue under the lights.

The meet is being sponsored by the Forsan Service Club. Trophies go to the top three teams and to the high point entries, as well as to winners in each of three relay events. Ribbons will be awarded in other events.

The Forsan track has an oil-calle base and actually isn't regulation. It extends 390 yards. For that reason, the so-called "mile relay" will be only 1,560 rather than 1,760 yards. All other events will be regulation distance, however.

The program will include 12 events: Sprint relay, 880 relay, 1500-yard relay, 100-yard dash, 60-yard dash, 80-meter hurdles,

Safety Agency Nixes Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Traffic Safety Agency rejected today all of the appeals by 38 auto manufacturers for changes and deletions in the initial federal motor vehicle safety standards.

The agency did, however, grant a public hearing on the industry's objections to one key standard, the one providing for interior impact protection in the event of accidents.

Lowell K. Bridwell, acting undersecretary of commerce for transportation, said the auto manufacturers requested a wide variety of changes, deletions or postponements of the effective dates of 18 of the 20 standards issued Jan. 31.

The agency only granted minor technical amendments or interpretations.

The public hearing on interior impact protection will permit the manufacturers to explain and produce evidence on their argument that they cannot meet all the details of the standard by the deadline next Jan. 1.

That proposed rule says instrument panels, seat backs, sun visors, arm rests and knobs and handles must be constructed to reduce the possibility of injury to occupants of the cars in accidents.

All the federal standards must be met by manufacturers on all cars produced after Jan. 1 for sale in this country, unless the public hearing results in a modification of the one standard.

READY FOR SIGNATURE

Weekend Closing Law On Governor's Desk

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. A. R. Schwartz, Galveston, insisted he could still be talking today against a bill changing the weekend closing law, but he wasn't, and the bill was ready for Gov. John Connally to sign.

Schwartz was apparently in his prime on a filibuster Wednesday night when he loosed a final furious blast at Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, snuffed out one last cigarette and sat down, finished for the day at 8:33 p.m.

Senators quickly and overwhelmingly defeated, 23-6, the amendment on which Schwartz had tied up the Senate and, on voice vote, finally approved the House-passed bill which removes the emergency provision from the Saturday-Sunday closing law.

SCHWARTZ SHOUTS That provision has enabled customers to buy certain articles on either day if they sign a certificate saying the sale is an emergency.

Voting against the bill were Schwartz and Sens. Jack Strong, Longview; Oscar Mauzy, Dallas; J. P. Word, Meridian, Ralph Hall, Rockwall, and Jim Bates, Edinburg.

Staring at the press table, Schwartz shouted: "I want to be absolutely certain Mr. President, the honorable lieutenant governor, Preston Smith, gets full credit for this bill . . . for denying 11,000 Seventh Day Adventists and 200,000-300,000 Texans a chance to be heard, for being able not to abide by their religions and the God-given right to buy on Sunday, to go to church on Sunday or go to hell on Sunday if they want to."

ARM TWISTING Schwartz charged last week, when he first delayed a vote on the bill, and Wednesday that

Family Helps Dad Out Of Doghouse

OSAKIS, Minn. (AP) — When Ted Lano built a doghouse for his family's pet, Sporty, he discovered he had forgotten to cut an outer entrance. Lano then cramped into the tight space to cut it and got wedged into the doghouse. His family had to help him out. Lano's 13-year-old son, Jerry, finished the cutting job.

Smith had headed off possible amendments to the bill and cut off debate.

House action centered on adoption of a proposed constitutional amendment providing four-year terms for Texas governors and a charge by Rep. Ed J. Harris, Galveston, that this approval "reflects the brazen arm twisting and political intimidations which went on behind the scenes by Gov. Connally and his political lieutenants."

'SOUR GRAPES' Harris said Rep. Bill Healy, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, had told members unless they voted for the measure "he would look with disfavor on requests for funds by state institutions in their districts. Other House members were told by committee chairman on the Connally-Barnes (Speaker Ben Barnes) team that their bills would not be reported from committee unless they voted for four-year terms."

"I think that is completely false," said Barnes. "I think that is just sour grapes on Ed's part."

"That's not true," Connally told a news conference. "Nothing could be further from the truth," said Healy.

Two Texans Die In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon Wednesday identified two Texans who died in the Vietnam war.

Killed in action was Army Capt. John K. Adams, husband of Mrs. Donna K. Adams, 1100 Avalon St., Apt. 3, El Paso. Changed from missing to dead — nonhostile was Army 1st Lt. Jack R. Lichte Jr., husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Lichte, Palestine.

Several Thefts Are Investigated

Three thefts were reported to police Wednesday.

Mrs. J. R. Corbell, 2509 Carol, reported an auto stereo had been stolen from her car while she was shopping in the Highland Center.

W. T. O'Dell, 802 W. 3rd, reported the theft of electric clocks and razors from his residence. Mrs. B. G. Sanderson, 1109 Pennsylvania, reported the theft of a bicycle.

Three Federal Loans Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration announced Wednesday a $575,400 loan to East Central Water Supply Corp., in Bexar County for water system improvements in the communities of Sayers and Adkins, near San Antonio.

The Housing and Urban Development Department announced a $900,000 loan to Tarleton State College at Stephenville to build an addition to a women's dormitory.

The Health, Education and Welfare Department authorized $286,362 to help finance a $511,000 recreation building at the Mexia State School for the mentally retarded.

Minor Accident

One minor accident was reported to police Wednesday. A car driven by Mickey Gammmons, 2100 Runnels, and the parked car of Bill Jay, 400 Hillside, was involved in a collision at Hillside Drive and Lancaster.

Doctors Honored By Center Contribution

"Doctor's Day" was observed locally today in conjunction with National Hospital Week, being celebrated all over the nation. To mark the occasion, the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary contributed funds to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center in honor of all local doctors.

The auxiliary was formed in the 1930's, now having a membership of 33. Meetings are held each third Tuesday at Big Spring Country Club, and this year's officers are Mrs. Fred W. Lurting, president; Mrs. B. Broderick, vice president and Mrs. John Affleck, secretary-treasurer.

The women have undertaken a number of projects over the years as well as giving support to programs sponsored by the Permian Basin Medical Society. Monthly contributions go to the Lakeview YMCA nursery, and auxiliary members volunteer their time to sew hospital gowns for overseas hospitals. In 1965, the women held a "tasting tea" with proceeds going to equip a "flying hospital" for the Tom Dooley Foundation in Laos. Locally, in 1966, they instituted an education safety program to

B&PW District Head Cites Accomplishment

Mrs. Cass Hill, local member and district director of the Business and Professional Women's Club, made her official visit Tuesday at the B&PW dinner meeting at Coker's Restaurant.

In outlining Plan for Progress, the program theme for the next two years, Mrs. Hill stressed the importance of individual accomplishment to make a strong federation. She noted that even though leadership on all levels changes from year to year, the individual contribution is essential for the even flow of progress and that talents and abilities of each member should be encouraged. In this way, standards are elevated, cooperation is developed and interests promoted. Mrs. Hill said that each club should strive to win a national award at the national meeting at St. Louis, Mo., in 1969. This will be the golden anniversary of the national organization.

In conclusion, Mrs. Hill pointed out that members should keep informed on legislation and work in their community to live up to the heritage of the country

Mrs. Hill has held several offices, including that of president, in the local club and has served as delegate at all state conventions, district conferences and two national meetings. A teacher for 33 years, she earned her bachelor and masters degrees at the University of Oklahoma. She is a member of the First Baptist Church, American Association of University Women, Delta Kappa Gamma, National Education Association, Texas Classroom Teachers Association, Texas State Teachers Association and Rebekah Lodge. She has held office in all of the local organizations, and is listed in Who's Who of American Women and Who's Who of the Southwest.

Mrs. C. R. Rhodes presided for the meeting, and hostesses were members of the civic participation committee. They are Miss Ruth Dyer, Mrs. Ruby Billings, Mrs. C. A. Murdock, Mrs. Sybil Head, Mrs. Jess Bailey and Mrs. Ray C. Nichols.

Members were urged to sell all tickets for Porter Randall's appearance here, April 28, which is being sponsored by the club. Randall will speak on conditions in Southeast Asia and show slides.

The next meeting will be April 11 at the Cosden Snack Bar.

Wheat flour is usually added to rye flour in making rye bread because the wheat supplies necessary gluten.

Note to carvers: You'll produce smooth looking slices of meat if you do NOT use a sawing motion and have a really sharp carving knife.

Ever add a suspicion of crushed fennel (similar to anise in flavor) to an apple tart?

You can pep up applesauce by adding a tiny piece of ginger root while cooking the apples.

Note to new cooks: A dash of turmeric added to white sauce gives a lovely golden color.

Ever make a sandwich spread from baked beans mixed with celery, walnuts and onion-flavored salad dressing?

Cook those chicken gullets and use them in a sandwich spread!

Cook extra bacon at breakfast and refrigerate. When you are preparing hamburgers, crumble the bacon and add it to the meat along with the usual salt and pepper. About four slices of the bacon will be right for a pound of the ground beef.

Leftover roast pork or fresh ham? Slice it and heat in a barbecue sauce. Serve over toasted buns.

Leftover cooked rice? Add grated orange rind, a little orange juice and curry powder to it; heat over boiling water. Delicious served with chicken.

 Squeeze garlic, lemon juice, and other seasonings over chicken. Four wine over chicken and cover. Put in oven, let cook for one and one-half hours at 350 degrees.

 After cooking garnish with pimientos and onion slices. Serve with cooked rice or mashed potatoes.

GROUND BEEF CROQUETTES
 1 lb. ground beef
 1 tooth finely chopped garlic
 1/2 tsp. parsley
 1/2 tsp. oregano
 1 tsp. butter or margarine
 Salt and pepper to taste.
 1 egg, beaten
 Place the above ingredients in a large skillet and fry over low fire until meat is done. Place in a platter to cool.

To prepare croquettes for frying: Prepare as follows: Put one large tablespoon of butter in a skillet; add four teaspoons of flour, salt to taste and add milk, little at a time. Stir continuously adding milk until you have a smooth cream. Without ceasing to stir, add the first ingredients and cook over a low fire for approximately five minutes.

Turn the batter into a platter to cool. When cool, roll into finger sized bars, dip in egg, cover with cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat until brown.

WHITE RICE
 1 lb. rice
 3 1/2 cups of water
 1 tsp. salt
 2 teeth of garlic
 3 tbsps. of olive oil
 In a sauce pan warm olive oil and fry the teeth of garlic, then take the garlic out. Add to the olive oil, the water with salt. When water starts boiling immediately add the rice. Let it boil again, then cook over low fire for approximately 30 minutes.

DIPLOMATIC PUDDING
 1 cup brown sugar
 2 cups of milk
 1 stick of cinnamon
 6 eggs
 1 cup sugar
 1 tsp. of vanilla
 1/4 tsp. of salt
 2 tps. apricot brandy, or any kind of brandy
 1 medium size can of fruit cocktail
 1 small pound cake or small cake (same size as dish to be used for pudding)

Boil milk with cinnamon. Let cool. Beat eggs, sugar, salt, and brandy together. Remove cinnamon stick. Mix milk mixture with other ingredients, except fruit cocktail. Mix cup of brown sugar with enough water to line bottom of dish.

Put above mixture over brown sugar mixture. Drain off the juice of the fruit cocktail, then pour fruit cocktail over ingredients. Put cake over this. Steam in oven for one and one-half hours at 350 degrees. To steam place cake pan in larger pan half filled with water. Let cool before serving.

Budgeters Keep Eye On Chicken
 The consumer who keeps an eye on the budget knows that chicken is always a good buy—but does she know just how good it is? The price of chicken has actually decreased over the years, according to experts.

In 1950, average retail price per pound of broiler-fryers was 54.8 cents; in 1955, 52.8 cents; and in 1965, 39 cents. This is a remarkable record over the years when the price of most basic foods has increased.

TENDER CRAB WITH SAUCE
Makes gourmet fare with spinach

Crab Almondine For Exciting Mealtimes

Tender crab served in an elegant sauce is gourmet fare when surrounded by a lovely green spinach ring. The sauce is rich, creamy and delicately seasoned to bring out the luscious flavor of King crab. It's an easy dish to prepare with the appeal of a culinary treat.

Whether you choose canned or frozen crab you can be sure of top quality. The American processors of this colorful shellfish work under careful quality control and are justly proud of their tendon-free pack. This large crab, caught in Alaska's frigid waters, has meat similar to lobster but with a distinctive flavor all its own. Perfectly wonderful for appetizers, cocktails, salads and glamorous dishes like crab almondine.

2 (7½ oz.) cans crab, or 1 (1 lb.) pkg. frozen crab
¼ cup thinly sliced celery

2 tbsps. diced green pepper
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. white pepper
1 pt. half and half
2 tbsps. chopped pimiento
1 lb. spinach, cooked and chopped
1 sliced hard cooked eggs
2 tbsps. toasted silvered almonds

Drain canned crab or thaw and drain frozen crab. Saute celery and green pepper in butter until transparent. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add half and half, stirring and cooking until thickened. Stir in pimiento. Line edges of shallow baking dish with spinach. Layer crabmeat, sliced eggs and sauce in center of baking dish. Top with toasted almonds. Bake in 350 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Makes six servings.

TUNA FISH WITH ALMONDS
Keep recipe handy just in case

Prepare Dish Hastily, It Will Be Delicious

Tack this recipe up on your kitchen bulletin board the next time you leave on a shopping trip. Even if you rush home just minutes ahead of your hungry troops, you'll be able to have this appetizing entree on the table in time. Sautéed almonds add texture to the minute rice; a well-seasoned cheese sauce complements the tuna. Best of all, the recipe needs no last-minute marketing. All the ingredients can be kept handy on your kitchen shelf, ready for quick cooking and serving.

Meanwhile, saute almonds in butter until golden brown, stirring constantly. Add almonds and butter to rice, fluffing lightly with a fork. Pack rice into a well-greased three or four-cup ring mold. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Set mold in a shallow pan of hot water over very low heat for five to 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine milk, mustard, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Scald over medium heat about two minutes, stirring frequently. Add cheese, peas, olives and onion. Continue to cook, stirring constantly, until cheese melts — about one to two minutes.

Turn rice ring out onto a hot serving plate. Fill center with tuna. Then pour cheese sauce over tuna and rice. Makes four or five servings.

TUNA SUPREME ON ALMOND RICE
1 1-3 cups water
¼ tsp. salt
1 1-3 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
¼ cup silvered or chopped almonds
2 tbsps. butter
1 2-3 cups (14½-oz. can) evaporated milk
2 tbsps. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
2 cups (8 oz.) grated process American cheese
½ cup cooked green peas
2 tbsps. sliced green olives
2 tbsps. chopped onion
1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked

Bring water and ¼ teaspoon salt to a boil. Stir in rice. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand five minutes. Meanwhile, saute almonds in butter until golden brown, stirring constantly. Add almonds and butter to rice, fluffing lightly with a fork. Pack rice into a well-greased three or four-cup ring mold. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Set mold in a shallow pan of hot water over very low heat for five to 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine milk, mustard, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Scald over medium heat about two minutes, stirring frequently. Add cheese, peas, olives and onion. Continue to cook, stirring constantly, until cheese melts — about one to two minutes.

Turn rice ring out onto a hot serving plate. Fill center with tuna. Then pour cheese sauce over tuna and rice. Makes four or five servings.

Cheese Provides New Breakfast

Why not cheese for breakfast? Add a new flavor to familiar scrambled eggs — and get the bonus of extra protein — by sprinkling shredded Cheddar cheese over the eggs and allowing it to melt just before serving. Serve with hot, buttered cinnamon toast for a breakfast your family will love.

Antitrust Suit Filed Against NFO

By The Associated Press
The National Farmers Organization, faced with a federal antitrust suit, has accused the Johnson administration of trying to stop farmers from bargaining for fair prices for their products.

The Justice Department filed a civil suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Des Moines, Iowa, charging the NFO with using coercion in attempting to monopolize the interstate sale of milk in 19 states.

Judge Roy L. Stephenson said he would hear arguments today on the possibility of issuing a restraining order against the NFO, which since March 15 has sought to withhold milk from market in the hope of forcing the price paid to farmers up by 2 cents a quart. Most farmers now receive 8 to 10 cents a quart.

FORCE CHARGES

While federal suit did not challenge the milk withholding by NFO members, it did accuse the farm group of forcing non-member farmers, truckers and processors to cooperate with withholding, but would obey a court order.

The court action seeks an order forbidding the NFO from trying to monopolize the sale of milk by illegal means and from threatening non-NFO members.

The response from NFO President Owen Lee Staley was an attack on the Johnson administration for what Staley called a campaign to deny farmers the right to bargain for fair prices.

WILL OBEY
He added that his group has no intention of ceasing its milk

processors to cooperate with withholding, but would obey a court order.

It was the first time since the holdout started that Staley has openly brought politics into the dispute.

The suit was filed at about the same time the NFO was announcing a switch in its tactics. Until now, the NFO has attempted to keep milk off the market in 25 states by dumping it. The new plan, called phase two, will put grade A and grade B milk into storage in the form of cheese, butter and powdered processors to cooperate with withholding, but would obey a court order.

Staley did not say how many processing plants were cooperating in the plan.

SPOTTY ACTION
NFO activity in the 25-state holding area was spotty.

The farm group in Nashville, Tenn., acting in concert with two labor unions, has signed a contract with milk processors ending a six-day ban on deliveries. The contract, affecting the Middle Tennessee marketing area, ties any potential price increase to price move-

Ford Salesmen Will Be Honored

C. L. Wasson and W. Allen Jr. of the Bob Brock Ford, Inc., are among the 370 Ford dealership car and truck salesmen in the Dallas sales district who will be honored for outstanding performances at a banquet at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas Friday.

They will be presented with Ford's 300-500 Club membership awards.

Heavy Snow Dots Arizona

By The Associated Press
Strong winds slashed much of the western half of the nation today as cold rain and heavy wet snow fell in the Rocky Mountains.

Wet snow piled up to eight inches in parts of Utah and Arizona Wednesday and falls of one and three inches were common as far north as Montana.

Stockmen's warnings were in effect today for western Colorado, western and northern Wyoming and northwestern North Dakota. Cattlemen were warned the wet snow and rain would spread to all of North Dakota and most of South Dakota by tonight. Livestock warnings also were up for north central Nebraska. Locally heavy snow still fell in the mountains from western Colorado to western Montana.

Hazardous drivers' warnings continued for the mountains of western Wyoming and travelers' warnings were posted for the mountains of western Colorado and eastern Utah.

The Weather Bureau forecast frost or freezing temperatures for north central and northeast Arizona for today and for northeast and north central New Mexico tonight.

In advance of the wintry weather, southerly winds carried unseasonably warm air northward from the Gulf states across the midwest and the great plains. Temperatures soared to the record-breaking 80s as far north as the Black Hills of South Dakota Wednesday.

In the Great Plains, south winds kicked up dust from West Texas to the Dakotas. Gusts up to 61 miles an hour were clocked at Salina, Kan.

Skies were clear across the Southland and the eastern states from the Gulf Coast to New England.

Wage Order Is Extended

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A three-judge federal court said today it would extend a temporary restraining order prohibiting the federal government from enforcing some provisions of the wage and hour law until a decision is rendered on their constitutionality.

The court, asked to limit federal power over states, took the case under advisement Wednesday.

At issue is whether the 1966 amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act are permitted under the federal-state system.

The judges acted after hearing Charles Donahue, U.S. solicitor for labor, warn against trying to "fashion a new law out of whole cloth."

"It may not be the path of wisdom," Donahue said, "to issue a blanket rule on a variety of structures existing in so many states."

Donahue said it is a case for the U.S. Supreme Court to decide.

Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch of Maryland initiated the suit against the law, which requires minimum wages for employees of schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped. The facilities may be public or private.

The law, effective Feb. 1, 1967, required a minimum hourly wage for those employees of $1.15 in the first year, $1.30 in the second, $1.45 in the third and $1.60 in the fourth. It would affect some 1.4 million public employees.

Maryland obtained on Jan. 27 the temporary restraining order delaying its enforcement.

Antipoverty Funds Vanish

NEW YORK (AP) — A city report said today that hundreds of thousands of dollars had vanished and could not be traced in the nation's largest antipoverty program, a two-year, $13.4-million effort in Harlem.

The report was issued without comment today by New York City's top fiscal officer, Comptroller Mario A. Proccacino. It covers operations of HARYOU-Aet, the Harlem antipoverty agency, from July 1, 1964, through June 30, 1966.

Some highlights of the report: Haryou-Aet still owes commercial creditors at least $600,000 but finished the period with less than $39,000 in unspent cash.

More than $700,000 went for "miscellaneous and unclassified" expenses, much of this difficult to trace.

GARDEN CITY—The Glasscock County Riding Club will hold a play day program at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Garden City Roping arena. All junior contestants must have an adult partner.

Events will include barrel racing, pole bending, flag race, racing, pole bending, flag race, roping and boot scramble. There is no entry fee. Sandwiches, hot dogs, cold drinks and coffee will be available.

Stockpile Surpluses Spark Big Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — This nation's $8-billion stockpile of minerals, medicines, feathers and whatnot, accumulated supposedly to avert critical shortages in time of war, is having vast effects on peacetime commerce.

Americans have traditionally not hoarded. As a result, the existence of stockpiles creates the desire to use them. In turn, this makes the biggest stockpile of all: problems.

The latest suggestion for activating part of this heap came from Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who feels the nation's quinine supply might be used to deflate prices run up by an alleged international cartel.

BIG WEAPON

Meanwhile, a U.N. study finds that sales from the American stockpiles "have been playing an increasingly important part in maintaining a balance between supply and demand in world markets."

In other words, the U.N. study indicates, the stockpiles may have a tendency to depress prices sought by exporters of raw materials, which often come from underdeveloped nations.

The history of stockpiles also has been one of problems. Aluminum stockpiles were used by the Johnson administration as an anti-inflation weapon when that industry attempted to raise prices in 1965.

CUT URGED

By threatening to flood the market with that metal, which the government had greatly overstocked, the administration let it be known that supply suddenly could become so great that prices would fall.

Now the huge stockpiles, maintained in between 150 and 200 storage areas around the country, are again the subject of a domestic squabble.

Several bills now call for the government, which has sold tremendous amounts of metals and other stockpiled items in the past few years, to reduce some of the piles further.

BOONDOGGLE?

However, some congressmen from mineral and metal producing states fear this might depress prices, even though the government is committed to buying and disposing at market prices. They feel that whatever the government sells producers can't sell.

Whatever is done with the stockpiles simply means problems. If nothing is done it could mean waste, for the stockpiles still are subject to corrosion, decay—even obsolescence—to say little of criticism that they represent a vast boondoggle.

Complicating the picture is the changing judgment as to what is needed to fight a war. Originally the stockpiles were accumulated on the basis of a five-year conventional war. Later that criteria was dropped to a three-year war.

Thus, by the stroke of a pen, stockpile surpluses were created.

Now, earlier this year, the Office of Emergency Planning changed the picture again. The goal for tin, for instance, dropped to 26,200 tons from 200,000 tons.

Despite these new requirements, the OEP stated that no matter what war terminology is used—limited, conventional, nuclear or other kind of war—the type demanding the largest stockpile is to be the criteria.

This, too, will be criticized, for whether overstocked, understocked or even unstocked, stockpiles mean problems.

Fresh Faces Read TV News

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There must have been considerable confusion and even some snarls behind the cameras caused by the strike of the performers union Wednesday, but little of it showed on the small screens. The three major networks carried on with a minimum of disruptions.

In fact, it was often quite stimulating for the viewer to be suddenly confronted with an assortment of fresh faces reading the news reports in time spots when for months Edwin Newman or Mike Wallace would unfailingly turn up to read the headlines for five minutes between the game shows and soap operas.

ANTIQUe SHOWS

The news reports were the major headache. Chet Huntley was the only familiar face to turn up on the evening news reports. But the earnest bespectacled substitutes — all network executives with some broadcasting experience, handled their jobs with poise and clarity.

CBS, caught without actors for two live soap operas, pulled a pair of antique comedy shows from the shelf. As a result a circa 1956 "I Love Lucy" episode replaced "Love of Life," and a "Candid Camera" episode made in the days when Arthur Godfrey was its host substituted for "As The World Turns."

Today more old shows will be in use during the soap opera emergency. The hour-long "Playhouse of Stars" made many seasons back, will replace "Edge of Night" and "Secret Storm." NBC will haul out some shows from the bygone "Loretta Young" series to replace "Another World."

MORE RERUNS

Most of the game and panel shows are taped for a short period ahead.

Evening schedules, even if the strike continues for a long period, will not be disturbed if the current situation remains as it is. Most series on all networks are on film and this season's production is completed. Variety shows, like those headed by Jackie Gleason, Ed Sullivan and Red Skelton are still in production but will be using reruns. The "Today" and "Tonight" shows too will broadcast old shows — which a lot of programs do anyway even when there is no emergency.

Recommended tonight: "The Beautiful Blue and Red Danube," ABC, 10-11 EST, documentary on the river that flows through iron curtain countries.

Captain's Trial Slated April 12

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Trial of an Air Force captain's suit to block his transfer from the Air Force Academy is scheduled for April 12.

Capt. Dale E. Noyd, 33, a 12-year veteran of the Air Force who teaches psychology, claims the proposed transfer would lead eventually to flying a fighter plane in the Vietnam war.

U.S. District Judge William E. Doyle Wednesday granted Noyd's request for a temporary injunction blocking the transfer and set the trial date. Noyd had been ordered to report April 1 to Cannon Air Force Base, N.M., to receive training in the F100 jet fighter.

The injunction will remain in effect until a court determination of Noyd's suit. It asks the court to order his superiors to accept his resignation or assign him to duties consistent with his beliefs in humanitarianism.

A Devotional For The Day

He will swallow up death in victory. (Isaiah 25:8)
PRAYER: Father of us all, we thank Thee that by the redemption offered through the crucified and risen Christ we are Thy sons. With joy we offer our gratitude that we can also experience triumph over death; through Jesus Christ Thy Son, in whose name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

One Thing Can Be Done

Lobbying before the legislature cannot be eliminated because it is covered by the constitutional right of petition. Nor, as a practical matter, can it be regulated as effectively as might be ideally desirable. But certainly its most flagrant abuses can and should be curbed.

One such abuse is allowing lobbyists on the floor of the legislative chambers to work for or against pending bills. This has been most common in the Senate, which, because of its smaller size and greater powers, is the main target of lobbyists. And this disgraceful conduct has been condoned despite the fact that it is against state law and Senate rules.

The 1957 Lobby Control Law, though notoriously weak in regulatory provisions, prohibits admission of registered lobbyists to the floor of the House or Senate except on invitation by the chamber. Senate Rule 99 prohibits lobbying for or against bills on the Senate floor.

Even so, the situation got so bad in this session recently that Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock was moved to get the Senate to adopt a resolution requiring strict enforcement of Rule 99, which was designed to enforce the 1957 Lobby Control Law. It remains to be seen whether the Blanchard resolution will work any better than the law and the rule which it admits has been flouted.

But if the Texas Legislature wants the respect and confidence of the public, the least it can do is to keep the floors of its chambers cleared of special-interest agents while it is debating and voting on the laws we must live by and on the appropriations for which taxpayers will be billed. Surely that is the minimum dignity due the legislative process.

Good News

The formal announcement by J. C. Penney Company of plans for construction of a new store facility in the Highland Center is welcome news. To some there is the factor of inflation picture. This is a project of such proportions that it will invigorate a section of construction activity which has, until recent years, shown less strength than public and residential building.

There also is the angle of a major merchandising center, which means that not only people in the immediate vicinity will be served, but that they will be attracted from a wider area. This is good for the entire community.

With an operational staff at least four times as large as the present one, the contribution to the work staff is not inconsequential.

But most of all, the investment represented in this step is of such magnitude that it is unmistakable evidence that J. C. Penney Company sees a good future here. That vote of confidence ought to say something to us all.

Holmes Alexander Old Conflict Over Public Lands

WASHINGTON — Christopher Columbus and the mariners of yore were pikers at discovery — compared with modern explorers.

By "remote sensors" in aircraft and Space satellites, and by on-the-spot instrumentation, geologists have located inestimable treasures in the earth's crust and, below that, in the earth's mantle.

SOME of these metals and minerals, such as gold, iron, dawsonite, and uranium, are immediately valuable in increasing America's net worth.

Other earthbound materials, such as the one called "geothermal steam," have not been fully evaluated. But the idea of using heat from the earth's core as an industrial energy source is inherently exciting. And it has recently excited Washington.

GEOTHERMAL steam (or even subterranean dry heat that will produce steam) may some day rival petroleum, coal and uranium as an energy source. Thus far, near-the-surface steam in America has been found in useful quantities only in Sonoma County, Calif., but traces have been discovered throughout the Rocky Mountain West.

Predictably enough, a classic conflict is developing for control of this new material wealth. Companies such as Shell Oil, Signal Oil, Morton Salt and Geothermal Resources International, Inc., have sunk money into exploration and research. They and their stockholders legitimately hope for profits. But the Johnson administration also has its eye on new riches and has asserted its duty to protect the steam that lies under federal lands.

HISTORICALLY, federal lands

Billy Graham

I would like to accept Christ but I find it hard to admit that I'm a "miserable" sinner. The fact is: I'm not anymore miserable than the average person. K.D.

I don't read any place in the Bible where one must say he "is a miserable sinner." As a matter of fact some people are very comfortable in their sins. Our reluctance to confess that we are sinners stems from the common definition of the word "sinner." We usually associate sin with sex offenses, drunkenness and dishonesty. This definition, which deals only with the sins of the flesh is far too narrow. Everyone away from God is not a sex deviate, an inebriate or dishonest. The word "sin" literally means, "Missing the mark," or coming short. When we use the word sinner in the Biblical sense we refer to those who have failed to measure up to God's standard for them. He wants to be free from guilt, free from pride, free from harboring an unloving spirit toward others. It is only by his grace and love that we are able to experience such freedom.

You don't have to admit you are a miserable sinner — just a plain sinner who has "missed the mark," and stands in need of the love, mercy and forgiveness of God. The Bible says: "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

ESCALATION ON THE HOME FRONT

James Marlow Ky Moves Americans To Tears

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There wasn't a dry eye in the place."

Those are the words of one of President Johnson's aides. The place was Guam where the President, surrounded by his top advisors, met with South Vietnam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

And this was the occasion: Ky handed the President an embossed copy of South Vietnam's new constitution which Saigon's constituent assembly, after working on it since September, had just approved so Ky could take it to Guam.

If the Americans were moved to tears it was because this constitution was the first solid step toward a democratic society by a people who had endured endless centuries of domination by Chinese, mandarins, emperors, and the colonialist French.

THE SAME Johnson aide said that before Ky left Saigon he had worked four days and nights to get the constitution through the assembly. Election of a president and a new assembly will follow in a few months.

"The Americans were fatigued by their long journey to Guam," the aide said, "but Ky should have been exhausted. He wasn't. He was very self-confident." Newsmen who watched and heard him at Guam can testify to that.

KY ASSERTED himself at Guam—to such an extent that he took the headlines away from Johnson—and has continued to do so since, which may have a significant effect on the war and American relations with South Vietnam.

In the past week some prominent South-Vietnamese have expressed great hope for the future, believing a popularly-supported, established government will take the starch out of the Viet Cong and induce North Vietnam to talk peace.

THEY WERE realistic enough to believe that just achieving a democratic government is not enough — to prove it can endure will take a little time and until then American help will continue to be needed.

"IT'S FANTASTIC," says Simon, still looking a bit dazed. "I reckon it may not last more than a few months though."

To Your Good Health

What Happens When A Muscle Splits

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to read about split muscles, which is my problem. It is in my right shoulder. I do not know when it happened or how, but it has become progressively more uncomfortable. The lump is about the size of a goose egg.

One man who had an operation for a similar condition said he would never go through it again because it didn't help him. — D.T.G.

A "split" muscle is one which has ruptured. A sudden strain is the usual cause. The fibers actually separate and the ends of the fragments form into lumps. If not repaired, these lumps remain and discomfort persists.

Ordinarily one is very much aware of the injury when it occurs, but you may have dismissed it as a cramp or the like at the time, and were not aware of it again until the lump developed.

Of the man who told you of his operation, I can say only that there is always someone who has had an unsuccessful result or is dissatisfied with almost any type of operation. Others have had very good results.

At a news conference in Guam Ky called for broadening and intensifying the war against North Vietnam. He blasted those American critics of Johnson and the war who call for an end to bombing the North and for a coalition government in South Vietnam to include the present enemy, the Viet Cong.

Hal Boyle Moustaches For Sale

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — False moustaches for men may soon be as common as false eyelashes for women if the sell-out success of a Chelsea shop is any indication.

You'll have to get up early in the morning if you want to buy one, though. Every day Simon Shop gets a fresh supply they're sold out in about two hours. Admittedly, the shop can only get about 20 at a time, for the wig men who make moustaches of real hair (no joke shop stuff, this) weren't geared for the unexpected demand. They only turned out a few for film stars and actors, and never dreamed that a wider market existed.

THEN SIMON Boyle, 26, got the bright idea of putting a few on sale along with his mod gear for men.

The idea was a sleeper, according to Simon. "It first occurred to me two years ago, after I made a false moustache for George Harrison." His bearded friend has since grown his own lip adornment, but at that time he just wanted to disguise himself so he could have a quiet holiday in France without the screaming fans and thickets of autograph books.

Simon made the moustache, George wore it, and nobody knew one of the Beatles was in Paris.

Simon didn't do anything about it until two weeks ago, when he brought a few to his shop as a gimmick. They sold, a Sunday paper mentioned it, and the rush was on. Along with eager customers, stacks of mail orders poured in.

"IT'S FANTASTIC," says Simon, still looking a bit dazed. "I reckon it may not last more than a few months though."

He could be wrong, according to the barbers. The big attraction, aside from the faddy one, is that the stick-on moustaches don't need the daily trim and grooming the real thing requires. A lot of men who had a secret yen to adorn their upper lip found it too much bother.

The mod moustache of the moment is the "Viva Zapata," a droopy Mexican villian style that a lot of young fashionables affect. But there are 34 other styles available, including everything from the Hitler toothbrush to the Clark Gable hairline, the Salvatore Dali twister and the RAF bristler.

They cost from $4.20, for timid mini-models, to $7 for flourishing "Viva Zapatas," and come on a transparent nylon net backing that is glued to the lip with spirit gum. They are far more convincing than false eyelashes, too.

"SOME FELLOWS buy them just to wear for parties," Simon says, "just for a laugh, like."

But the pretty young lady assistant in his shop says that her best customers are not the long-haired youths.

"You'd be surprised, but mostly it's conventional middle-aged men who come in to ask for false moustaches. We cut a lock of their hair to get an exact color match."

There seems little hope that moustaches are about to oust the long-hair fad. However, long hair, beard and moustache are considered too much. When fashionable hairdresser Michael decided to wear a "Viva Zapata," he sacrificed his beard.

Some of the Simon Shop customers shaved off the real thing when they discovered the false ones. Less trouble, and less expensive in the end.

(Hal Boyle is in L.)

Around The Rim Too Complex For Untrained Minds

All things considered, I suspect the annual public hearing on the budgets as duly arranged by the several public bodies in Big Spring, are not too fruitful. Giving some study to most of them through the years, I have rarely been able to penetrate those many pages of dollar marks to decide whether they were good budgets or bad.

ON THE only occasion that a public body here has ever counted every last penny and accounted for every single expenditure, I did feel like the money was well spent. But to put the appellation of "good" on it was quite beneath the qualifications of anyone but a highly trained accountant.

Apparently, most residents feel the same way, as so few of them bother to attend the budget hearings of the city, schools, junior college, or county. In the event of some tax increase or some major expenditure, a few usually show up to stand for or against it.

BUT IT IS rare — if not unknown — that the budgets of any of these agencies is taken apart by fully qualified accountants, who know what per-tent points to question. Perhaps the public interest might be better served if our system included a "devil's advocate" to do this very thing. Actually, this system is used by all the agencies each year when their "books" are audited.

AN INDEPENDENT accountant is called in to check all the dimes that have already been spent and to see that everything is in apple pie order, as it were.

A similar plan to analyze a budget by an independent agency before it is spent might be an equally happy arrangement for the taxpayer. For as most of us are not qualified to audit the books after the money has been spent, probably even fewer are qualified to judge the same thing in advance.

THIS IS not to say the money is not now being wisely earmarked. But if an audit by independent agencies is of benefit, such as we now have, perhaps it would be of similar benefit to have a qualified opinion in advance, while there is time to do something about it.

Let The Military Men Fight

WASHINGTON — The theme which is of growing importance in world affairs today is how to end a war and save thousands of lives.

The pacifists — including several senators who are obsessed with the idea that a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam would terminate the conflict — seem to think that if the United States stopped the shooting, the other side would make peace. This is a form of reasoning called "appeasement." It proved futile before World War II, and the net result was a six-year conflict and the loss of millions of lives.

THERE IS frustration currently because, in the hope of placating the enemy, American armed services are being restricted in fighting the war as military men would like to do.

In the Korean war, although the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended unanimously that the air bases and supply lines north of the Yalu River be bombed, the diplomats of governments friendly to the United States intervened and really prevented such a strategy from being adopted by the United Nations command. Thus, the war was prolonged.

TODAY THE Korean dilemma is being repeated. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Democrat, formerly Secretary of the Air Force, who has just returned from a trip to South Vietnam, has emphasized that the American military forces are being restrained and that they are not being permitted to fight the war in Vietnam as they should. The Missouri senator says that there is "too much detailed instruction" being given by civilian officials in Washington as to the tactical conduct of the war.

Sen. Symington's lengthy report on his month-long Asian trip was submitted to the Senate Armed Services Committee and to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after having been cleared by the Defense Department so as to eliminate classified information.

BUT WHAT was made public contains a significant revelation — namely, that talks with pilots indicate a widespread dissatisfaction with the interference by civilians in Washington with the operations of the war. One pilot is quoted as having said:

"Twenty times I've been across the Phucyen Airfield not far from Hanoi. Not one of us has ever dropped a bomb on it. We see a MIG-21 taxi out and take off, then the next thing you know he is at you. They are well trained, well disciplined and carry out excellent maneuvers."

Other American pilots said they wished they could destroy the MIG-21's on the ground and also "put some holes in their runway while they're airborne." When Sen. Symington asks what reason was being given the American pilots for not doing this, the reply was "escalation, sir — but the enemy has already escalated the war in the air."

FEARS HAVE been expressed in diplomatic circles that, if American pilots bomb the air bases in North Vietnam, the enemy would start operating from Chinese bases. This, of course, is one of the risks of war. But, in the long run, military policy prevails — usually after expensive delays. For no war can be won by making concessions to the enemy on the battlefield. Nor is a termination of hostilities likely as long as the enemy feels it has what are known as "privileged sanctuaries."

ONLY BY SUCH reports as Sen. Symington has made and similar disclosures will the American people learn that it is the pacifists who are prolonging the war and that the people who cry "escalation" are breaking down the morale of the American forces. This is making it more and more difficult to achieve soon the objectives for which so many American lives have already been sacrificed.

Leave The Speaker Out Of This

WASHINGTON — The free speech movements on various campuses have become more militant in recent months and I naturally was interested to know what they were up to. So I went over to the Sitdown Institute of Technology to confer with an organization called the Students for Utterly Free Speech and the Preservation of Democratic Institutions Through the Exchange of Ideas Movement.

I've young man in charge of the organization was very happy to speak to me.

"Sir," I said, "what is the purpose of the Students for Utterly Free Speech?"

"OUR MAIN PURPOSE is to keep speakers who come to college campuses from speaking."

"That's a very idealistic goal," I said. "How do you do this?"

"It's quite simple. When the speaker starts talking we begin to heckle and shout at him so he can't be heard. The more he persists, the noisier we get and pretty soon everyone is shouting and if we're lucky it turns into a brawl."

"This probably sounds like a stupid question but if your organization is presumably for free speech, why don't you let the speaker say what he has on his mind?"

"BUT WE'RE not for free speech for the speaker. We're for free speech for ourselves. We demand the right to interrupt anybody any time he opens his mouth. This is still a democratic country and we have a right to prevent anyone we want from speaking."

"But if you don't hear what the speaker has to say, how do you know you disagree with him?"

"We know we disagree with him before he comes. Anything he says might just confuse us. We're not fools, you know."

"I DIDN'T say you were," I said. "But let's say, for argument's sake, that a speaker may have something new to add to the debate. Don't you think he should be able to put forth his position at the university?"

"None of the speakers has anything new to say. Besides, if we let one speaker put forth his arguments, then we'd have to let other speakers put forth their arguments, and pretty soon you'd have all sorts of ideas floating around and it would hurt the free speech movement."

"How could it hurt the free speech movement?"

"WELL, OUR members don't want to sit around listening to people making a lot of speeches all day. They like action. That's why they joined the free speech movement. We prefer to boo and shout a lot. It gets rid of our hostilities."

"I can see that. But on the other hand, look at it from the speaker's point of view. He's probably worked on his speech for several days; taken time off to come to the university. Shouldn't he be allowed to talk?"

"IT'S NOT our fault he went to all that trouble. If he were smart he would have just written the opening lines of his speech, and we would have seen to it that no one knew that was all he had to say. We'll cooperate with a speaker if he cooperates with us."

"Is there any situation where you would allow a speaker to finish his speech?"

"We don't like to make exceptions but I guess if he used four-letter words we might let him finish. You see, our free speech movement believes we should be allowed to use four-letter words."

"How do four-letter words contribute to the cause of free speech?"

"It helps us understand the exchange of ideas."

Bullet Removed

NOVISAD, Yugoslavia (AP)—Milovan Nedlic, 61, finally went to the hospital and had doctors extract a bullet from his lung. He was shot 22 years ago while serving with Marshal Tito's partisans, but he said "it only recently started to bother me a bit."

Fastest Gun Met A Faster One In El Paso's Acme Bar

By ED SYERS

With maybe 40 sixgun notches, John Wesley Hardin was — to most — our West's fastest and deadliest. It was hard to believe he was outdrawn in El Paso's Acme Saloon, the night of Aug. 19, 1895.

To those who follow gunslungers — even some historians — it had to be like Jesse James, hanging a picture; or Wild Bill Hickok, fanning Aces and Eights; a back shot. The Hardin legend put him at Acme's bar, rolling dice for the drinks; his last words: "You've got four sixes to beat." Then, from behind, a slug through the head!

MIRIAM'S 703 W. 3rd

Yet, to his dying day, Hardin's killer would insist it was a head-on, fair fight—to the fastest gun. Few believed him; even his name was largely forgotten . . . and his motive. Not so, to the careful, facile pen of El Paso historian Leon C. Metz, recently out with "John Selman, Texas Gunfighter." (Hastings House).

Metz trails little-known Selman (fast as any), inside and outside the law, from Sherman to the hidetown of Fort Griffin near Albany, and on to Fort Davis, through the range-rustling wars as far west as New Mexico, and finally to the El Paso showdown.

He pretty well documents that

American Motors Sales Increase In Southwest

DALLAS — The Dallas zone of American Motors reported that its retail sales in the second 10 days of March were 48.5 per cent higher than in the comparable period of February.

William F. Dunlop, zone manager, also said that sales in the first 20 days of the month almost matched those of a year ago—404 compared with 409—in the face of an industry decline.

Dunlop said that Rambler American sales have almost doubled since its new prices and market position were announced in February.

He said that the company's national sales also were higher, rising to 6,125 in the second 10 days of March, compared with 5,469 in the preceding period.

The Dallas zone serves American Motors-Rambler Dealers in Northern Texas, Southern Oklahoma and Southern New Mexico.

'See The Car Go'

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP) — Sixteen-month-old Nancy Pederson knocked the emergency brake loose on her family's car while it was parked on their inclined driveway but she turned the steering wheel so it rolled into the front lawn instead of a busy street.

"See the car go," said Nancy, who emerged unhurt.

MAPS—OLD AND NEW

Kingsville's D. W. Sparck: "Would like to know where I can get maps on old roads, forts, and Indian camps. My boyhood school in DeWitt County was by the old San Antonio-Indianola Road."

Big Spring's C. M. Lewis: "We're interested in places to camp, explore and rock - hunt. We camped the Llano and liked it." (Note: Most good road maps now show excellent public camping facilities. To good campers like the Lewis family, OBT'd like to pass along more information on some of the many fine private campgrounds, open with care to real campers for a small fee. Want to let us know?)

Dear Abby

Jurers Can't Be Choosy

DEAR ABBY: I would like to volunteer for jury duty as I have lots of time on my hands and I think I have as much sense as the next person.

I wouldn't care to sit through anything boring, but I would be willing to give my time for something worthwhile, like a murder, rape or kidnapping trial.

How can I get on such a jury? "PATRIOTIC"

DEAR "PATRIOTIC": Sorry, but as far as I know there is no way to get on a jury with assurance that the cases will be "worthwhile" according to your yardstick.

DEAR ABBY: A couple of years ago you had a letter in your column from a girl who signed herself "TOO NICE." Then you ran another letter right after it, signed "NOT SORRY," from a girl who said she was "nice" and it paid off.

If you can locate those two letters, please run them again as they would be perfect for discussion period in our Teen Girls Club. Thank you. DOTTY D. IN WATERLOO, IOWA.

DEAR DOTTY: I have "located" them—and here they are:

DEAR ABBY: No offense to you, personally, but you're nuts! I agree with that girl who signed herself, "TOO NICE." She's right. If a girl is too nice she sits home. It's the fast girls who are popular. I am only 16 and I know from experience that the only reason a boy asks you out is for one thing, and if he doesn't get it, you don't see him again. That's no lie, either. When you said, "If a girl has to fight with a boy to keep his hands off her, she must have led him on," you were wrong. She can be sitting next to him, doing nothing, and he will almost attack her. Since January I have had to break up with three boys because they all tried to go too far. But I'll stay nice because I have my self-respect. But so far it hasn't got me anywhere.

"TOO NICE," TOO

DEAR TOO NICE: Another "nice" girl had this to say on the subject:

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and have just completed my freshman year at college. I want to tell all those girls who wonder if boys really like a sweet, old fashioned girl what I learned from experience: Don't be shocked if even the best boys try. After I painstakingly explained my views on the matter of morals, many more dates and fine friendships resulted.

Some jokingly called me prudish and mid-Victorian, but I was elected to a position of high honor by the student body. There were times when I actually pitied the girls who allowed boys liberties, thinking it would increase their popularity. (I have a brother, and boys talk.) The girls who parked with boys on dark roads at night were ignored by the same boys in broad daylight. Keep telling young girls that it pays to be nice, Abby. I am, and I am—

Reds Hope To Open Arctic Ship Route

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government hopes to open the Arctic shipping route between Europe and Asia to other nations. Merchant Marine Minister Viktor G. Bakayev told a news conference. He mentioned no date.

The route, once known as the Northeast Passage, stretches from the North Sea near Norway along the north coast of Siberia to the Bering Sea near Alaska. It is frozen for more than half the year, but convoys of Soviet ships use it by following an icebreaker.

Coin Flip Winner Killed In Vietnam

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Walter K. Singleton and his brother both wanted to go to Vietnam but agreed only one would go.

Walter won a coin toss and eventually wound up in Vietnam — where he died.

Mrs. G. P. Singleton said she received word Tuesday her son, a 22-year-old Marine sergeant, had died of a gunshot wound Friday in combat.

Mrs. Singleton said Walter had considered himself lucky when he won the coin toss with his brother, Bobby Joe Singleton, now stationed on Okinawa. The sons decided that for their family's sake, only one should go to the fighting in Vietnam.
