

Picket Lines What's My New Line?

NEW YORK (AP)—For nine days, long black limousines have pulled up at the three major broadcast networks to discharge their stars, not for work, but for what must be the most star-studded, highest-paid picket lines ever.

There was for instance, John Daly, son-in-law of the U.S. chief justice and erudite moderator of the CBS panel show "What's My Line?"

Around and around the CBS buildings he went, his back and chest emblazoned with black and red letters proclaiming, "CBS Unfair to AFTRA" the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

Heated Picket Signs?

He stopped to sign autographs and chat with admirers, and proposed electrically heated picket signs for winter strikes. When one young woman demanded, "Who are you?" he replied: "Walter Cronkite."

But the real Walter Cronkite hasn't shown up to picket, although he has not gone to work either. Nor has David Brinkley of NBC.

ABC's network newscaster, Peter Jennings, did turn up for his strike placards at least once and was so mobbed by screaming fans that he may have had second thoughts about showing up again. The striking Cronkite, Brinkley and Jennings, and many of their companions, earn annual salaries well into six figures. They walked off their jobs for some 100 members of their 18,000-member union who make around $300 a week.

Traffic Is Heavy

Pedestrian traffic on any side of the street where the star-pickets march has been about three times as heavy as the crowds on the other side, with strollers either stopping for autographs and snapshots or peering over sun glasses for quick glimpses.

Police usually assigned to keep pickets walking are absent, and the star-pickets stop often to affix their names to scraps of paper. One agent has even sent out press notices on when his client would picket.

One fan planted himself in front of Hugh Downs, host of NBC's "Today" show, and asked, "Are you anybody famous?"

"No," Downs replied.

Wednesday, the pickets were counter-picketed by Lillian Miller, 69, who has become a sort of personality in her own right, frequently attending TV broadcasts.

"Unfair to Devoted Studio Audiences," Mrs. Miller's sign read.

Nervous Weatherman

At NBC, a notice was pinned on the news desk for supervisory personnel filling in for striking broadcasters.

It read: "Brass talent: All copy must be at the copy desk 20 minutes before air time—per instructions of your executives."

One of those executives, George Heinemann, usually a producer, launched his new, if temporary, career as an on-camera weatherman by stating: "The temperature tomorrow will be in the fifties and fifty-twins."

The following night, he apologized for the flub. "I was kidded about it all day," he told his audience. "Anyway, the temperature tomorrow will be in the sixties to sixty-fives. Winds will be mostly westerly."

He also apologized for his first-night nervousness. It was due, he said, to the fact that his socks were falling down.

Card Burner Jailed

NEW YORK (AP)—David J. Miller, 24, the nation's first draft card burner, was sent to jail today for still refusing to get a new draft card.

Miller sat down on the courtroom floor when Federal Judge Harold R. Tyler sentenced him to 2½ years as a violator of probation.

"I will sit down, because I want to show you it's against my will," said Miller. Marshals grabbed his arms and legs and carried him to an elevator.

Miller's wife, Catherine, sat on the floor nearby with their infant daughter, Juanita Clare. Miller, once of Syracuse, N. Y., recently has lived in Washington.

Miller declined the judge's offer to spend "a little time with his family" before starting the sentence.

Judge Tyler had found Miller guilty on March 15, 1966, of burning his draft card. He had sentenced him to three years in prison, but suspended it on condition he get a new draft card within 15 days. The conviction was upheld by appeals court and the Supreme Court refused to review it.

Reds Blow Up Trucks, Free War Prisoners

SAIGON, (AP)—Communist troops smashed at U.S. and Vietnamese military positions and staged a jailbreak today at Quang Tri, a provincial capital 16 miles south of the border that would be a primary objective of any new mass invasion attempt from the north.

They ringed the city in raids between midnight and dawn. They attacked U.S. anti-aircraft gun positions and the headquarters of two Vietnamese army regiments and shelled the U.S. military advisers' compound.

They freed more than 200 prisoners from the provincial jail — most of whom had been picked up as Viet Cong suspects.

10 GPs DIE

Initial reports said 10 American soldiers were killed and 13 wounded while the Communists left 47 men dead. Two American government civilian employees were injured.

Eight trucks were burned at one post and four jeeps and three trucks were damaged at another. At a small airstrip, two light observation planes were shot up.

More Communists made sporadic attacks on several village teams of South Vietnamese revolutionary development workers, who have become prime Communist targets as a result of advances in the government's pacification program.

NO INDICATION

South Vietnamese headquarters said that at least 47 Communists were killed in the attacks. South Vietnamese casualties were described as light, but the losses were evidently more serious than reflected in the official report.

There was no immediate indication how many war prisoners had been freed. The camp was not identified in first reports but was probably a forward clearing camp for initial interrogation of prisoners. If so, it normally would contain no more than a dozen or so prisoners.

TOP TARGET

Quang Tri Province, defended by about a division of U.S. Marines plus the Vietnamese, 1st Division and militia troops, is a prime Red invasion target.

The Communists are known to have some 35,000 North Vietnamese regulars in the province and just to the north above the 17th Parallel. They made a serious effort to move into the province in strength last year and are known to thirst for a propaganda victory there.

Most of the fighting in Quang Tri has been done by North Vietnamese regulars, and the Viet Cong guerrilla units there are laced with North Vietnamese replacements.

POWER PLANT

How many Reds were involved in the attacks early today was not immediately known. The attacks centered on the provincial capital which is near the coast and about a dozen miles north of Hue. There are a few U.S. Marine units in the immediate area.

The U. S. command in Saigon reported all-weather jets from the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise carried the war deep into North Vietnam Wednesday with a raid on the country's most modern power plant only 20 miles from Hanoi.

Returning pilots reported the Communist ground fire was so heavy it lit up the low-hanging clouds and the speedy jets as they made their bomb runs.

Connally Closes Giant Sunday Law Loophole

Horse Betting Hearing Slated

AUSTIN (AP)—With a quick scratch of a pen, Gov. John Connally closed today a big loophole in the weekend closing law.

Connally's signature put into law a bill removing the emergency provision from the Saturday-Sunday law, first approved in 1961.

That wipes out the practice some stores had of accepting customers' emergency certificates and selling them any of some 40 articles specifically prohibited for sale on both weekend days.

NOT COVERED

The original law gave stores an option of staying open on Saturday or Sunday but not both. The emergency section provided, however, that when a purchaser "will certify in writing that a purchase is needed as an emergency for the welfare, health or safety of human or animal life...this act will not apply."

The sale of drugs, food, sporting goods, garden and nursery stock or gasoline or oil is not covered by the closing law.

The new change, erasing the emergency section, was sponsored by Sen. George Parkhouse, Dallas, and Rep. Willis Whitley, Houston. It takes effect in late August.

Senators approved, on voice vote, and sent to the governor a bill changing the closing hours for liquor stores from 10 p.m. to 9 p.m. and permitting them to open on election days but requiring that they close on Christmas.

Finally approved, 29-0, was a measure authorizing the Parks and Wildlife Department to enter into agreements with the federal government for eradication of noxious vegetation. The Senate then adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Monday.

The House Counties Committee was scheduled to hear at 2:30 p.m. a bill, by Rep. Maurice Pipkin, Brownsville, providing for horse race betting.

A pari-mutuel horse race betting bill was approved, 6-5, by the Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns Feb. 7, but needs 21 Senate votes to come up for debate and apparently lacks that support. The Senate sponsor is Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg.

75 RACING DAYS

The wager bill, as introduced in both houses, provides for a three-member Texas horse racing commission appointed by the governor. It provides for a maximum of 75 racing days in counties with a population in excess of 300,000 or when adjoining counties each have a population over 150,000. A maximum of 14 racing days is provided for other counties.

Racing is prohibited at night and on Sunday.

Wednesday, senators talked about only one proposal—four-year terms for governors—and voted to wait awhile to do anything about it. The measure, which already has been approved by the House, was placed on the table subject to call, 17-11, after a motion by Galveston Sen. A. R. Schwartz to kill the proposal failed, 8-19.

TWO-THIRDS VOTE

To bring it up for floor debate, its sponsor, Sen. Tom Creighton, Mineral Wells, will need recognition from Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

"I think I understand my problem," Creighton said.

U.S. Judge Gives Stay To Marion

HOUSTON (AP)—A federal judge gave a stay of execution Wednesday to James Lee Marion, who was to die in the Texas electric chair Monday for the 1963 slaying of Midland socialite Mrs. Fred Turner.

U.S. Dist. Judge John Singleton Jr., said the stay was granted pending a hearing on an application for a writ of habeas corpus. No date was set for the hearing.

Marion, 25, was convicted by a Lubbock jury in the Oct. 29, 1963, slaying of Mrs. Turner, widow of a wealthy West Texas oilman.

Warren Burnett of Odessa, Marion's lawyer, contends his client's constitutional rights were violated when the trial court refused to hold a preliminary hearing on whether two confessions were made voluntarily.

Mrs. Turner and her late husband owned Tomy Lee, the horse that won the 1959 Kentucky Derby.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals turned down a request for a stay of execution March 28. Marion, a Negro, is on death row in Huntsville State Penitentiary.

Key Witness Quizzed About 'Boyfriends'

PEORIA, Ill., (AP)—Corazon Amurao, the state's key witness, was questioned by defense counsel today about men — boyfriends — who came to the dormitory where eight nurses were slain.

Gerald W. Getty, who represents Richard Speck, took over the witness for cross examination at Speck's trial on charges of murdering the young women early the morning of July 14, 1966, in their townhouse dormitory on Chicago's South Side.

Miss Amurao, 24, wearing a high necked yellow blouse and a dark skirt, resumed the seat in the witness box from which she told Wednesday the story of the slayings for the first time in public.

SPECK IDENTIFIED

The most dramatic moment came when Miss Amurao, the only survivor, identified Speck as the killer.

Under questioning by Getty, she began retelling the story she had told Wednesday. Getty asked if any of the girls who resided in the townhouse had boyfriends who called on them.

"The American girls have boyfriends," she replied. "They waited for the girls in the living room and would bring the girls home."

DOOR LOCKED

Three young nurses from the Philippines and six from Chicago and other Midwestern communities shared the townhouse at the time of the massacre.

Getty, a veteran of courtrooms who has an easy manner and usually talks in a gentle tone, also questioned Miss Amurao about whether the doors were locked. She said she locked the front door before she went upstairs to bed at 10:30 p.m. July 13 but didn't know whether the back door was locked. Getty also asked if Miss Gloria Davy, one of the victims who came in about 11:30 p.m., had used a key to enter. She replied that she did not know.

'I COULD SEE IT'

Getty also questioned her about the time she heard knocking on her bedroom door. She had told the circuit court jury Wednesday that it was 11 p.m. when she heard the knocking, opened the door and saw a man she identified as Speck standing with a pistol in his hand. The defense attorney inquired about the position of a clock-radio in her bedroom.

"I could see it," she said. She testified previously that the light was on when she retired.

SHE SOBS

The young woman was on the witness stand for four hours Wednesday. She sobbed into her white handkerchief twice but otherwise her face was expressionless. Her voice was mostly calm as she told of the night in which her eight roommates were strangled and stabbed on the South Side of Chicago.

The confrontation between the survivor of the July 14 mass killing and Speck in the murder trial came after prosecutor William Martin asked, "Did you wake up at any time Wednesday night, July 13?"

"I heard a knock in our bedroom," the witness said. "It was about four knocks. I went to the door and I unlocked it and I started to open it and at once there's someone pushing the door."

"As soon as we read that note, my wife and I agreed that the thing to do was to call the police immediately," Young recalled. The family and authorities maintained the secret while scores of policemen and FBI agents went to work.

Dressed in a blue polo shirt, black slacks and a tan wind-breaker, dragging on a cigarette occasionally, the slightly graying Young sat back in a wicker chair in a spacious room.

DOZEN CALLS

"I had half a dozen phone calls Monday but the party at the other end never spoke to me," he said. "Last night I did as the letter said and drove to the phone booth. The call came at 6 p.m. and the man said, 'are you Herbert?'"

Kidnapers Net Large Ransom

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., (AP)—A Beverly Hills financier described today how his 11-year-old son was kidnaped without a hitch, then returned unharmed after a large ransom was paid.

Herbert J. Young, 35, president of Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association, said $250,000 ransom was asked for his son Kenneth, but he did not disclose the amount paid.

Kenneth was bound and blindfolded early today in a car parked in an apartment house garage in nearby Santa Monica. After obeying instructions to wait for a half-hour, he worked loose and ran to the nearest apartment to call his parents. He had been missing since early Monday.

'HI, DAD'

The FBI said the kidnapers picked up the ransom Wednesday in Westwood a few miles from Beverly Hills and were at large.

When he was greeted by the FBI and his family at the apartment, "Kenneth was very calm, not hysterical or crying," Young said. "He said, 'Hi, dad, I'm awfully sleepy.' He acted as if he expected it to end all the time. It was like he'd never been gone."

As Kenneth was examined by a doctor and put to bed in the lavish Young home in a fashionable neighborhood, his father calmly described the abduction and the ransom payment. Police theorized that Kenneth was kidnaped as he slept by someone who knew that an outside staircase on the large white house led to a glass door near the boy's bedroom.

EMPTY BED

A maid discovered Kenneth's empty bed Monday morning and took Young a note she found warning him not to call the police and describing how to turn over $250,000 for the boy's return.

"As soon as we read that note, my wife and I agreed that the thing to do was to call the police immediately," Young recalled. The family and authorities maintained the secret while scores of policemen and FBI agents went to work.

Dressed in a blue polo shirt, black slacks and a tan wind-breaker, dragging on a cigarette occasionally, the slightly graying Young sat back in a wicker chair in a spacious room.

"I had half a dozen phone calls Monday but the party at the other end never spoke to me," he said. "Last night I did as the letter said and drove to the phone booth. The call came at 6 p.m. and the man said, 'are you Herbert?'"

Judge Nixes Santiago Bid

A motion for a new trial for Narciso Santiago, 21, Webb AFB airman, under conviction for assault with intent to commit murder, was denied Wednesday afternoon. Santiago's attorney indicated an appeal will be taken from the guilty verdict carrying a recommended 10 year prison term assessed against Santiago last Feb. 17.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, overruled the motion in a brief session Wednesday afternoon. George Thomas, attorney for Santiago, had asked a new trial in his written motion citing a number of instances where he alleged the court had erred.

Judge Caton denied the motion without hearing any argument or additional evidence.

Santiago was found guilty of the wounding of Jean Morton in a shooting episode on the night of April 25, 1966. In the same fray, Sgt. M. T. Gore, also of Webb, was shot to death. An indictment charging murder with malice against Santiago in Gore's death is still on file and has not been tried. The Morton woman recovered from her wounds and testified against the young airman at his trial here in February.

Dear Abby

It's All A Matter Of Heat

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have not as yet reached middle age, but the romance has gone out of our marriage. A few nights ago we were out to a supper club. Came time to go home, the car was shivering cold, so I snuggled up close to him. He told me to turn on the heater. What would you have done?

DEAR COLD: I'd have turned on the heater.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is in junior high school, came home and said she was asked to join a "club." Specifically it was the "Hate" (another girl's name) "Club."

I pumped for all the information I could get. What had the girl done to deserve such treatment? Nothing! She was getting too popular.

Abby, this sounds like a Junior Ku Klux Klan.

Our daughter defended the club, saying if she didn't join, the members wouldn't speak to her. I said she ought to tell the principal. My wife says I am making a mountain out of a molehill — that this is the way all junior high school kids act. What do you think?

LEXINGTON SOUGH
DEAR LEXINGTON: I think your daughter would be much better off if the members of the "club" didn't speak to her. She and the girl who would be persecuted for "getting too popular," should for their own club, they could call it "The Society to Ignore the Hate — Club.

DEAR ABBY: We are two teenage girls with a question we would like to ask you. Is there a word which means more than "like" but is not such a big word as "love"? We know two boys we more than "like" — but "love" is too big a word to use.

TWO INBETWEENS

DEAR TWO: One may be pleased with, take pleasure in, be fond of, esteem, enjoy, fancy, prefer, adore, or just plain "like a person a lot," which is probably what you want to say.

DEAR ABBY: You ask "How is the world treating you?" May we reply, "Very seldom." ABBY FANS, EAGLES CLUB, TOWANDA, PA.

Statewide Order Bans Open Pits

AUSTIN—The Texas Railroad Commission Wednesday issued a statewide order banning disposal of oilfield brines in pits.

The regulation, resulting from a hearing held Dec. 6, 1966, will become effective Jan. 1, 1969. It will not change things in fields previously banned from pit disposal.

The commission noted that the order would "afford greater protection for the fresh water resources of the state and will reduce the threat of pollution from improperly handled brines." A new section in existing regulations will permit pits for burning of tank bottoms waste.

Apollo Deaths Spur Shakeup

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Apollo program aimed at putting a man on the moon and in limbo because of the tragic Apollo spacecraft fire — got a mild shakeup Wednesday.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the shakeup was not "disassociated" from the Cape Kennedy fire that claimed the lives of astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee Jan. 27.

The shakeup sent Dr. Joseph F. Shea, the Manned Spacecraft Center's Apollo Spacecraft Project Manager since 1963, to a Washington job. Taking Shea's place here will be Dr. George Low, now deputy director of the center.

The NASA announcement said the move came in an effort to strengthen management of the $23 billion moon landing program. Asked for comment, however, a NASA official said: "I can't believe that it was at all separated or disassociated from the Apollo fire."

NASA had said publicly in other instances that success had "dulled" officials to some aspects of danger in the program. Both Low and Shea are 40. Shea will become an assistant to Dr. George B. Mueller, associate NASA administrator for manned spaceflight.

Shea said he was not "disappointed" at the shift. "What I am being asked to do is a pretty challenging thing," he told a newsmen.

Mueller's statement said the shift reflects "our efforts to give more breadth and depth in the management of the manned flight program."

Opening lead: King of ♦
A thoughtful defensive play at the outset by West laid the groundwork for a brilliant upset of South's four heart contract.

West opened the king of diamonds and was permitted to hold the trick as East followed with the deuce. West assumed that when his partner failed to give him an encouraging signal in the suit, that South must have the ace. He feared that a continuation might offer declarer an opportunity to develop North's long card for a discard, by playing the ace and another diamond.

Deciding that it was necessary to attack clubs without delay, West shifted to the three of that suit. The jack was put up from dummy and East covered with the king, dislodging declarer's ace. South had already conceded one diamond trick and was confronted with an additional loser each in diamonds and clubs. If the king of hearts did not succumb, his contract might go on the rocks. Before making a play in trumps, however, declarer decided to take a finesse first for the queen of spades.

If the queen was favorably located, South planned to discard one of his minor suit losers on North's third spade, thereby assuring the success of his contract. Even if the finesse failed, the defense could do no better than cash a club trick inasmuch as declarer still had the ace of diamonds.

The jack of spades was led and passed around to East. The latter won the trick with the queen, cashed the ten of clubs and shifted to a diamond. South put up the ace and played the dummy's high spades, discarding his remaining diamond. He now tried the heart finesse as a last resort; however, when West turned up with the king, the decision went in favor of the defense.

West's club shift at trick two was the key play of the deal. If he continues with a diamond, declarer is in position to restrict his losses by playing the ace and another diamond to clear that suit. If a club shift is now forthcoming, South is in with the ace and cashes the ace of trumps, permitting the king to remain outstanding. He then crosses over to dummy in spades and plays the 13th diamond on which he disposes of his remaining club. The defense is thereby limited to two diamond tricks plus the king of hearts.

A Devotional For The Day

Thou shalt be his witness unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard. (Acts 22:15)
PRAYER: Dear Father, how thankful we are for the sending of Jesus Christ into the world. We are grateful beyond measure that He has saved our souls. Unloose our tongues and lighten our feet that we may be witnesses for our living Lord, in whose name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Humphrey's Visit

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's voyage of discovery to Europe has raised a question: Is this trip necessary? The answer is: Yes.
Our European allies have been worried of late. They fear that our preoccupation with Vietnam may cause us to neglect, if not forget, our North Atlantic interests.
In the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, to paraphrase Dean Acheson, we have lost an empire without finding a mission. The keystone of the arch, France, has fallen. No adequate substitute has been found. Indeed, our friends in Europe may well believe that we have never recovered from the shock, since we continue to repeat the stock phrases addressed to Atlantic unity and the containment of communist in Europe, in heading flight from reality.

Humphrey has been thrown into this breach. His mission is to reassure our allies that we have not forgotten them. He has the additional task (no small one) of assuring our friends that our eagerness for better relations with the Soviet Union does not portend a deal between the United States and Russia at the expense of Europe.
Surely there is no greater reassurer within the administration than Humphrey. If words are equal to the task he will not be found wanting. His greatest test will be in Bonn.
But in other quarters, such as in Britain, he is speaking plainly and with purpose, and making it abundantly clear there are two sides to this business — and our side is one of reality rather than academic detachment.

The New Look

West Texas, successor to West Texas Today, the house organ which served the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for 47 years, is making its appearance.
The new magazine is a new approach to selling West Texas not only to those within its boundaries, but equally as important, to those in other parts of the country who might be stimulated into visiting or investing in this region.
In design, as well as in approach, the new West Texas publication is brighter, livelier and more interesting. The use of full color scenes on the cover and the application of color blocks on the inside pages gives considerable sparkle, and so does the improved layout. The new approach in subject matter and in writing offers additional promise.

Experience doubtless will bring about further improvement in graphics and in craftsmanship, but even so the new format leaves little room for comparison with the old. Where the former fare was pretty hum-drum and almost exclusively internal, most of what is in the new magazine will be interesting to people anywhere.
And apparently, that is what the WTCC has set out to accomplish in this change.

Communist-Inspired Demonstrations

WASHINGTON — A big furor was stirred up by the "liberals" recently when it was discovered that the Central Intelligence Agency was paying some of the expenses of student groups which, while abroad, obtained information concerning Communist operations in various countries. But there is a strange silence when the House Committee on Un-American Activities reports to the public that "every major, large-scale demonstration against the war in Vietnam which has taken place in this country has had all-out Communist support."

REPRESENTATIVE Edwin E. Willis, Democrat of Louisiana, who is chairman of the committee, goes even further as he describes the link between the Vietnam demonstrations in this country and the Soviet government. He declares:

"We must face the fact that certain activities are being carried out in this country by persons who are not dedicated to the principles of our form of government and who use the claim and mask of dissent for no other reason than to try to conceal the fact that their allegiance is to a power other than that of the United States government."

IN THE FOREWORD to the report, Chairman Willis does not mince words. He said that deliberate deception "is not dissent, but conspiracy" and that the "underhanded attempt to manipulate public opinion" in the United States and stifle full and open debate by pressure tactics is the true

Billy Graham

Since religion is such a nebulous thing, does it really matter?
K.W.
I presume you are lumping Christianity in with all other religions. The Christian teaching is either true or false, and if it is true it cannot be irrelevant. Assuming that there is a God, and that of course is a Christian assumption, He is not irrelevant. Assuming that the soul is immortal, this certainly matters. The teaching of heaven and hell, if they are what Jesus said they were, they certainly matter. Nothing could be more relevant than the sermon on the Mount. I know hundreds of people whose lives have been changed by trusting in Jesus Christ. Certainly you would not say that such a transformation is irrelevant.

I would say that nothing in life matters quite so much as faith in God. Question the actions of some professors of religion, if you like. Question the weaknesses in the church if you like. But don't write God off until you have given His claim on your life unburied and intelligent consideration. Don't say it doesn't matter, for nothing matters so much.

It matters so much to me that I have given my entire life to proclaiming the importance of it. And I don't regret a moment of it. For I have seen the impact upon thousands of lives. If I had my life to live over, I would do exactly as I have: proclaim the everlasting Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Around The Rim

Enthusiastic, Well-Informed Citizenry—Ha!

Most folks enjoy an election. No matter where the bets are placed, if any, most residents get caught up in the excitement of an election, and it gets priority attention at most coffee breaks.

DESPITE THE dire warnings before the ballots are finally toted up, the fact remains that the sun continues its tranquil circuit no matter how the elections turn out. And as most elections have multiple humorous aspects, perhaps none is more so than the fact that few will hazard a guess the day before regarding the outcome. Most of these same ones, on the day after, were certain of the outcome all along. Indeed, even shocked that their listeners could have doubted it.

OUR CITY election, as usual, outdrew the school election in total votes, but it's probably some indication that we consider both a "good turnout." The eligible voters for both elections was probably three or four times larger than the actual count. Certainly, both elections were well publicized. The polling places were well distributed so as not to inconvenience even the unshod. Yet, less than a third of us who were qualified bothered to make certain our opinions were counted.

THERE WERE no close races in either election, but who knows what the results might have been, if say, 75 per cent of those eligible had cast votes? Not so long ago, we had a great disagreement over the poll tax, that it might have kept some away from the polls. Although both local elections polled more than the year-in, year-out average, there was no startling increase in the vote totals.

General election apathy, despite a lot of "street talk," is still a major problem, even though it is "free" and open to everyone. There are other signs of public apathy, in this same light:

THE OTHER day, I'm told, a man who has not served on the commission in more than a year received a call demanding the answer to some problems. The caller was shocked to learn his friend was no longer on the commission.

The day of the election I was approached by someone, who should know better, and asked who was in the race. Although there were no incumbents in the race, he assured me he would vote "to turn the rascals out." Didn't even know who "they" were.

FINALLY, one lady confronted me with the query of why commissioners are paid such high salaries. I don't know the answer to that one, seeing as how it pays all of $10 per month.

Changes In Virginia Politics

STAUNTON, Va. — Republican Congressman Bill Scott is a darkly handsome newcomer to national politics, but is affectionately esteemed by Virginians of both parties. Scott's the dark horse that trotted into the stall of the venerable Howard (Judge) Smith who was rudely evicted in last year's Democratic primary.

SCOTT IS not quite as conservative as Smith, but he's almost, and the election of another GOP Congressman from the Old Dominion says crisis to the Democrats and promise to the Republicans. This is the odd-year when Virginia elects both houses of its general assembly, and there might or might not be a significant turnover.

I DROPPED in to hear Scott address a homey, covered-dish GOP rally at Staunton and to chat with him later at the residence of another upcoming Republican, Delegate A. R. ("Pete") Geisen who's being touted as a future governor. Scott was something of an invader for Staunton, in the Congressional District of Democrat Jack Marsh, the only Virginia representative who voted against kicking Adam Clayton Powell out of the House of Representatives. Marsh is considered vulnerable because of his obstinate vote, but that's another chapter in the running story of political turmoil.

AS THE STATE GOP sees it, the Byrd Organization, which ruled so well for so long, is finished, but the Republicans are having the devil's own time coming into their own. They need better candidates, more money, sharper issues if they're to increase the 11 House of Delegate seats and four state Senate seats. Nearly all of today's Republicans were yesterday's Democrats, but meanwhile the pesky Conservative party has sprung up to blur the bipartisan change-over.

Meanwhile, there is a crisis among the state's Democrats. The retirement and death of that grand Old Roman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., has left an awesome vacuum. His son and namesake holds a four-year Senate seat for which there are already many claimants.

THE DEMOCRATIC need is in the court houses and the city councils, down where the people live. It was there that Byrd the elder established the lasting friendships and the immutable moral standards that made words like "machine" and "organization" completely inexpressive of his political leadership. There is never going to be another Harry Byrd Sr., the country picnic-giver and quiet counselor, and there may never be another Democratic party of Virginia as oldtimers knew it.

SO, WHICH way, Virginia? The mountain- and -valley country, from Hot Springs to Staunton to Winchester, is producing most of the GOP grass roots strength. A Republican, Kenneth Robinson, took over the Winchester State Senate seat which Byrd the younger vacated when he left for Washington. But a liberal-leaning Democrat, William Spong of the Norfolk area, replaced Sen. Willis Robertson, a valley man from Lexington.

Britain Has A Bombing Problem, Too

WASHINGTON — It has not been publicized but a very highly emotional scene took place last week between British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and a Member of Parliament.

The dispute was over Wilson's decision to bomb the Torrey Canyon, the wrecked tanker that was hung up on a reef off Land's End.

The M.P. had come out against the bombing and was called into Wilson's office for a serious chewing out. Wilson angrily told the M.P. that his speech about suspending the bombing of the Torrey Canyon had given aid and comfort to the oil that was still left in the stricken ship.

THE M.P. RETORTED that on the contrary, by bombing the tanker, the prime minister was spreading the oil rather than containing it, and he was inviting wider and wider slicks all the time.

The prime minister told the M.P. that he had done everything possible to find some other solution to the tanker problem, but the oil wasn't responding. The prime minister said he was willing to stop the bombing if the oil in the tanker stopped infiltrating the beaches and coastline.

Wilson pointed out that he did not put the tanker on the reef, and if he had his choice he might never have put it there. But since it was there he had no option but to bomb it.

THE PRIME minister produced a poll showing that 85 per cent of all the British people supported him in his war against the oil and many called for heavier air raids rather than a lessening of the bombing strikes.

The M.P. accused the prime minister of upping the terms for finding a peaceful settlement to the oil slicks.

WILSON RETORTED that he held off on the bombing for one full week, and the broken tanker used the time to put more oil on the beaches. He is said to have told the M.P., "I used every detergent I could think of, but it did no good. The only thing the oil responds to is napalm."

The M.P. said that the bombing, rather than weakening the oil slicks, has strengthened them, and the more the RAF bombed the tanker the more the oil escalated and polluted the beaches.

THE PRIME minister, livid with rage, said that the oil was killing British birds and fishes and it had to be taught a lesson. "Any time the oil wants to stop heading for shore, we'll stop the bombing."

The M.P. wanted to know if it was true that the prime minister intended to mine Cornwall Harbor.

"I must be allowed to keep all my options open," Wilson replied.

THE PRIME minister also told the M.P. if he persisted in his attacks on the bombing, the M.P.'s political career would be finished in six months.

The M.P. denied a Time magazine story that he called the prime minister any names. Asked by reporters if he would oppose the prime minister in the 1968 elections, the M.P. replied, "It's too oily to say."

Bilingual Tots

MIAMI (AP) — A second public school is going bilingual in this city with a large colony of Cuban exiles.

Pupils at Central Beach Elementary School, which is evenly divided between native speakers of Spanish and English, will receive instruction in all subject areas in both languages starting with the fall term. The program starts at kindergarten level. The idea is to make all pupils bilingual.

Humphrey Braves Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like holding a wet finger up in the air to see which way the wind was blowing when President Johnson sent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on a good-will mission to Europe.

He found that some of the wind could have been catastrophic. For what almost happened to Humphrey might have turned out far worse than the roughing up Vice President Richard M. Nixon got on his Latin-American tour in 1958.

JOHNSON HIMSELF has not visited Europe as President. This caused some wondering about his concern for relations with the Allies, a relationship which has deteriorated a bit.

Since President John F. Kennedy, with even less time in the White House than Johnson, made two European trips, Johnson's staying at home was even more noticeable.

But Johnson has had the Vietnam war to handle the worry about and keep him busy. No doubt his official receptions would have been cordial — but perhaps not hearty, because of some dissatisfaction in Europe over the U. S. role in Vietnam.

JUST BECAUSE there is dissatisfaction there was no assurance that any Johnson trip through the streets of Europe would not be hectic, molested, or even violent.

And if Johnson were mistreated, or worse, this country's European relationship might be wrecked. So, as time passed, Johnson had a lot to think about before going abroad. Humphrey went.

HE LEFT March 26, visited one capital after another, had a more or less pleasant journey, argued with the British Parliament in private about Vietnam, handled himself well and got a few fees.

He ran into some long-haired demonstrators in Holland, had his car pelted with eggs in Florence, but otherwise seemed to be coming through all right until Wednesday in West Berlin. There the police announced they had seized 11 extremists involved in a bomb plot against "the life or health" of Humphrey on his scheduled visit to the city today.

THE EXTREMISTS didn't represent the German people, but they were a menace and there are probably hands of them in every city in Europe where Johnson might have gone if he, instead of Humphrey, had made this trip.

Tiresome Tax Remarks

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a federal income tax collector gets tired of hearing at this time of the year:

"Well, you can't get blood out of a turnip."
"What do you guys do with all the money you collect—pour it down ratholes?"
"I own a night club joint. Does that mean I should fill out a joint income tax form?"

"NOT THAT I mind supporting my own government, but why do I have to help support every government in the whole world?"
"Business is business. In my business we give 10 per cent off for cash. Why shouldn't you give me 10 per cent off if I pay cash?"

"Irving, don't you recognize me? I used to babysit for you when you were a little boy. Can you take a little off my tax for old time's sake? After all, who's looking?"

"CAN I LIST a sponge as a dependent? I'm speaking of my brother-in-law. That no-goodnik has been sponging off me ever since I married his sister."
"It isn't the money with me, I assure you. It's the principle of the thing."
"You say I owe you $417. I say you owe me a $312 refund."

Okay, why don't we just toss a coin and settle it that way? What'll you call—heads or tails?"

"WHY DON'T you put a tax on salt, like they did in the olden times? Go ahead, you won't worry me. I'm on a salt-free diet."
"I brought my little daughter Elsa along. Elsa, say hello to the nice government fella. Show him the patches on your dress, the holes in your shoes, then ask him what he's trying to do to your poor papa."

"There's only one way to spell bureaucrat, and it always winds up with the same three letters."
"WHY CAN'T I meet you at that little bar down the street after you're through work for the day, and you and I can talk this whole thing over quietly, man to man, in a more congenial atmosphere? Naturally, I'm buying."

"Who drew up the government's tax forms this year—Phyllis Diller?"
"Well, here's my return. Tell me, where do they serve the best chow—in the Atlanta or the Leavenworth penitentiary?"
"Now that I've paid my tax, can you tell me where I go to sign up for the federal antipov-erty program?"

To Your Good Health

Difference Between Here And Vietnam

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Our boys in Vietnam are getting hepatitis, unless they have shots of gamma globulin to protect them, because of the human sewage used over there as fertilizer for food crops.

We are using fertilizer made from sludge for our gardens. What do the manufacturers do to make it safe for us, or do they?—MRS. R.N.

You are right that organic fertilizer is made from sewage from at least one of our major cities, but there the comparison with Vietnam ceases.

Such human waste, being rich in nitrogen and some other materials, makes excellent fertilizer. But in untreated form, it also contains germs of various types.

In this country the material is dehydrated, and the processing amounts to a particularly effective form of pasteurization. The germs are destroyed, and the fertilizer becomes safe to use. In Vietnam and a good many other countries there is no processing, and the germs remain.

Dear Dr. Molner: As a young mother (26) living in a three-story house, are upwards of 20 trips up and downstairs every day bad for my health? I have been told that stairs are very hard on me.—MRS. H.O.

If you are in good health, the stairs won't harm you in any way. After all, it's just exercise.

I grant that a young mother lives a strenuous life, but exercise is what keeps you r shapely.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 39 and have been on birth control pills for three years. Is it possible at my age to be having the change of life or menopause? My doctor claims that when I am taking these pills I won't get menopause. Is that true? I have been having occasional hot flashes and have not menstruated much for six months.—MRS. R.A.

It is possible for menopause to start at 39 although it is a bit earlier than average. I think what your doctor meant was that the pills, because of their hormone activity, can prevent or minimize some of the common symptoms of menopause.

They do not prevent menopause, however. Menopause means that the ovaries cease functioning, and when the time comes, they stop, regardless of medication.

Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think of taking oral vaccine tablets to prevent colds or upper respiratory ailments? Do you believe flu shots are helpful or are they just for older people?—MRS. T. M.

There are no vaccines, oral or otherwise, to prevent colds and upper respiratory infections.

Flu shots will protect anyone of any age against the principal strains of influenza. They are particularly urged for elderly folks, for those with chronic respiratory or heart ailments, pregnant women, and people in high occupations, because such people either are in more danger if they have flu, or having them laid up for a week with flu would be a hardship not only for them but for the public.

Note to Z. L.: The problem of that rebellious four-year-old isn't a medical one. It's a matter of an only child needing to be told when to head in. The longer his parents let him rule the roost, the longer he'll make life miserable for everybody.

To learn of new treatment for this cruel and painful disease, write for Dr. Molner's booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way to Stop It." To receive a copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Governor Gives Leadership In Marking Texas Sites

By ED SYRES

Solomon once warned: "Remove not the old landmark." Whatever their politics, future Texans will owe debt to Gov. John Connally's application of that proverb. No governor has approached him in steadfastly restoring our forebears' trail-markers.

From restoration of missions and frontier forts to the quiet but extraordinary work of our Texas State Historical Survey Committee (county by county searching, recording and marking), the governor has simply done — by direction, indirect or inspiration — what others talked. This is a tangible salute to Texas heritage.

This has been done so quietly, widely, that Texans will scarce know it, for a decade. Because of space limitations, let one OBT example suffice: Independence Country.

A decade ago, you could drive the lonely river hills and bottoms, roughly bounded by Navasota, Columbus and La Grange. Here was Stephen Austin's heartland at San Felipe; tucked and forgotten; up from Brenham, Washington — on — the Brazos and nearby Independence. There were some scattered markers, weed-choked ruins of a college, a barn-like frame where they struck the March 2 Declaration... little more. But this is changing.

Tomorrow's travelers will see the landmarks of Independence Country as in 1836.

Some examples, to hand, from many sources:

Dedicated this Easter at little Independence is the new Texas Baptist Historical Center Museum. Here's where 1837's Independence Academy became Baylor University in 1845-46, and, for so long, only a moldering ruin marked this pioneer higher education. Here, too, is the church into which Sam Houston was baptized.

Nearby Washington — on — the Brazos, where Texans debated Independence even as the Alamo tottered, is scheduled to become a major Memorial Museum that will likely start entire restoration of the pioneer shrine-town, as it stood in 1836.

And to the west, beyond Brenham, a town nearly as old and historic — wayside Round Top — flourishes this weekend with the dedication of the completely restored Winedale Inn, a main stage stop on the old San Felipe to Bastrop Road.

One of Texas' true historic givers, Houston's Miss Ima Hogg — in restoring Winedale's 8-room two-story hostelry to last authentic detail — has given it to the University of Texas to open to Texans. On its old structures, similarly restored.

At public dedication Friday, a Texas classmate of Gov. Connally's, Congressman Jake Pickle will address himself to Texan Heritage.

Thus, Independence Country, long weedy, is being revised. Its planners are wise enough to know the immense tourism dollar, across all Texas, that such restoration means.

It pays, so many ways, to "remove not the old landmark." Politics aside, Texans can thank a governor who knows this for gospel.

Granbury, Main Street, in from Fort Worth? Also derivation of the name "Pontotoc," between Brady and Llano? Finally, what is the story behind Fort "Ringgold" — a name on the map in Georgia, Ohio, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and from Montague County on the Red to this fort on the Rio Grande?

Lubbock's Mrs. William D. Petzel: "Did you ever hear of Sardine City, Washington Co., near Chappell Hill? (Independence Country, too) My grandfather was born there in 1846."

(Note: Old, free-wheeling names changed over the years. For example the nearby community of Winedale was once nicknamed "Trouble" to anglicize its Germanic "Truesdal". With lots of grapes, Winedale was easier, Sardine City? Somebody's gotta help me.)

San Antonio's "Windmill-Hunter": "I'm writing a paper on the history of windmills in Texas. Can OBT give any sources of information? Were there ever any European-type mills with the big wind wheels?"

Fort Worth's Mrs. Joy Martin: "What's the story behind the oddly-shaped old house in

Howard Payne Receives Gifts

BROWNWOOD — Gifts totaling $82,500 for the Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom have been received during the past 10 days by Howard Payne College, Dr. Guy D. Newman, president, announced Wednesday.

A gift of $50,000 from Carr P. Collins Sr., Dallas, and one for $25,000 from an anonymous source were received Wednesday. Announced last weekend was a gift of $7,500 from Texaco, Inc.

The Collins gift was a part of $250,000 offered HPC by Collins several months ago if the college would match the gift on a two-for-one basis. The other $200,000, when received, will go for endowment for the college.

Swine Short Course Planned

LAMESA — A five-county swine short course will be held at the community building in O'Donnell April 18-19. Sessions will start at 9 a.m. and will be over at 3:30 p.m. each day.

Indicative of the quality of swine raising in these parts is the record of Monte Griffin, a Dawson County breeder — a raiser, who recently won first place in the Texas A&M short course litter testing program. Griffin breeds Hampshires, Durocs and Chester Whites.

Robbery Case Is Due First

Carroll Trantham, charged with armed robbery, is slated as the No. 1 case for trial April 17 in 118th District Court. Judge Ralph Caton has set a docket of 11 cases to be tried that week before a jury.

Trantham is accused, in the indictment against him, of holding up a liquor store on April 16, 1966.

His case was called for trial Nov. 8. A jury was empaneled and the testimony begun. About midway, the court entered a mistrial when defense attorney Gil Jones, successfully attacked the legality of a question asked a witness by Wayne Burns, district attorney.

Other cases on the docket to be tried during the week include:

Bobby Gene Keith, theft over $50; D. M. Bembert, worthless check; James Wesley Legate, two cases DWI second offense; Alphonse R. Polasek, two cases DWI second offense; Victor Japan Brygn, burglary; W. E. Harris, embezzlement, repeat; Jim Montgomery, worthless check; a n d Merrill Johnson, DWI second.

The docket is to be sounded at 2 p.m. April 14. All bondsmen are warned it is their responsibility to have their clients in court when the docket is called.

Attend Meet In Psychiatry

Timerlawn Foundation in Psychiatry and the Texas League for Nursing jointly sponsored an Institute of Psychotherapeutic Interventions last week in Dallas. It was attended by Mrs. Mary Hughes and Mrs. Mildred Sevey of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Many distinguished doctors in the fields of medicine, neuro-psychiatry, psychiatry, social service, and related fields lectured the group gathered from the Southwest. The program was headed by Dr. Dorothy A. Mereness, R.N., Dean, School of Nursing at the University of Pennsylvania.

Minor Wrecks Are Reported

Four minor accidents occurred Tuesday and Wednesday but no injuries were reported.

Donald Tucker, 1507 Hilltop Road, and Geraldine Parrish, 1500 Lancaster, collided at 2300 Gregg. Larry Frank Russell, 1105 Lloyd, and John Henry Kountz, 1205 Dixie, crashed at Eighth and Johnson. Dana Bentley, 2917 MacAuslan, and Annette Hodnett, 2718 Lynn Drive, ran together on the Birdwell 7-11 Store parking lot. Karen Kay Dean, Lamesa, and James E. Hedges, 3309 Drexel, were in collision at FM 700 and Birdwell.

Sanity Hearing Set At Monahans

MONAHANS, Tex. (AP)—A Monahans man, sent to the Rusk State Hospital as insane after being charged with murder in 1963, will be returned here for a new sanity hearing Monday.

Hospital officials say William Warren Green is now sane. He was charged in the Nov. 3, 1963, shooting death of Al Jackson of Monahans.

In March of 1964 he was adjudged insane at the time of the killing and at the time of his trial.

If found sane now, Green will be freed.

Police Losing Another Officer

Chief of Police Jay Banks announced today that another patrolman will be leaving the force April 18.

Ben Lockhart will leave on that date to attend the Highway Patrol Training School in Austin. Lockhart's resignation brings the total on the force to two. The other vacancy was left unfilled after three applicants failed to pass the examinations given Tuesday, according to Banks.

Anderson Helps Push Teachers' Pay Raise

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, longtime champion of higher teacher pay, has pushed through committee a 1973-4-year increase for teachers.

Aikin delivered a mock apology to the Senate Education Committee Wednesday night for always fighting hard for teachers. "It just one of you will come down here and tell me you told your son, not somebody else's son, your son. 'Why don't you get in the teaching business and get rich and accumulate something,' then I'll never ask for another teacher pay raise," Aikin said.

The committee approved the bill 13-4, clearing the way for debate by the full Senate.

The president of the Texas State Teachers Association, S. M. Anderson of Big Spring, told the committee more than 5,000 persons were teaching in Texas who would not be if more qualified people were available.

Another factor in the Texas teacher shortage, Anderson said, was the failure of 11,000 teachers who finished the school year in May, 1966, to report back last fall.

And 4,200 student teachers who graduated last spring went to other states or took jobs in other fields, he said.

Even with the relatively unqualified 5,000 teachers, he said, there was a shortage of 1,200 teachers in Texas at the beginning of this school year.

The $775 raise still would leave Texas teachers $4 a year below the national average, Anderson said.

A House bill with more than 50 sponsors calls for a $556-a-year teacher pay increase. Gov. John Connally has recommended a 5 per cent pay increase, averaging $278 a year.

District Scout Meeting Tonight

Planning for several important events is in store at the Lone Star district Boy Scout committee meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Cooden Country Club. R. L. Tollett, district chairman, said that there would be discussion on the Buffalo Trail Council camporee at the Roundup grounds here May 5-7. This could attract from 1,500 to 2,000 scouts.

Another event is the council Pow Wow, slated for April 22 at the First Methodist Church here. While this is going on, the Show-and-Go party for Boy Scout leaders will be held at Camp Pegasus south of Midland.

Emphasis also will be given at the meeting on summer camp plans, said Tollett.

Man Injured By Gun-Rigged Car

James Garcia, 22, who claims Midland as his residence, is in the Medical Arts Hospital with numerous shotgun pellet wounds in his right shoulder, arm, chest and abdomen. He is not regarded as seriously injured and should make satisfactory recovery, according to the hospital staff.

Garcia was admitted to the hospital at 1:10 p.m. Wednesday after being brought here by a companion, James Chapman, also of Midland.

Sheriff A. N. Standard, who investigated the case, said that Garcia was shot with a trap gun which had been rigged on a car in an isolated wrecking lot.

Standard said that Garcia told him that he had entered the lot, owned by Bill Vassuer, and lifted the hood on one of several cars stored there. He then took hold of the radiator and, the sheriff was told, pulled on it to try to loosen it with a tool. There was discharge from the gun, which had been rigged to fire when the car was molested. The charges struck the man for the most part in the upper shoulder.

The yard, which is not attended, is one mile west of the SH 33 intersection with US 87.

Sheriff Standard said that the owner of the car lot had been contacted. Vassuer also talked with Wayne Burns, district attorney, Standard said. Burns said he was investigating the case. Standard said he understood that the trap had been removed from the car.

Tenager Bitten By A Snake

Helen Beth Heckler, 17, 801 E. 17th, was visiting her sister, Mrs. H. R. Daniel, 2510 Central, when she was bitten by a snake in the back yard Wednesday about 4:30 p.m.

Miss Heckler was taken to Medical Arts Hospital for treatment, and police officers searched the yard, but couldn't find the snake.

Hospital authorities said the unknown snake was probably a 12 to 14 inch long rattlesnake because of the two small puncture wounds. Only one of the wounds seemed to have penetrated the skin and injected the poison. Miss Heckler was reported doing well and her condition is not serious.

House Appears In Mood To Give Military Quick Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appears in a mood to give the military a quick pay raise, but action may be slower on President Johnson's companion requests for a hike in postal rates and a pay raise for federal employees.

Johnson asked Wednesday for a penny-per-letter increase as part of an $800-million postal rate boost and for pay raises which could add up to $2.5 billion.

Visit Hospital

Between 80 and 100 students from Texas Tech were to visit the campus of the Big Spring State Hospital here today. They are members of advanced psychology classes at Tech.

man L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, said in reference to the military pay proposal.

But there appeared to be a question of how much of the postal and civilian pay raises would be granted.

POSTAL PLAN
The postal plan, including a six-cent charge for first-class letters and nine cents for air mail, was termed "the most by Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

"I'm inclined to support it," said Rep. Robert J. Corbett of Pennsylvania, ranking Republican committee member.

In the past, the committee has increased administration pay rate proposals for the government's 2.5 million civilian employees, but has trimmed down requested postal rate hikes. Since 1962, the civilian employees have received pay raises averaging about 23 per cent in a move to make salaries comparable with those in private industry. Johnson's new proposal includes an average boost of 4.5 per cent effective Oct. 1 with further increases Oct. 1, 1968, and Oct. 1, 1969.

average military pay increase for 3.37 million men would be added to the combination of basic pay, and quarters and subsistence allowances. But most of the money would come in basic pay, producing an actual basic pay increase of 5.6 per cent. This would be effective Oct. 1.

In other key congressional matters: Some Senate supporters of a presidential campaign financing plan were to press today for amendments to save the basic scheme. The administration has dropped its fight for Senate approval of a resolution pledging new U.S. aid for Latin-American development.

Gleason has been active in community development projects in the Miami area.

CHAMBER WEEK

Success Depends On Many People

The success of any organization is dependent on the equal success of its many parts, and the same is true of the Chamber of Commerce.

The work of all 18 committees of the chamber dictate its success; these committees in turn are dependent on the effort put forth by the many volunteers who staff them.

The balance of the committees include:

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS, chaired by Joe Pickle with Clyde McMahon Jr. as board coordinator. Its program of work includes maintaining close liaison with state officials concerning local road plans and requirements; working with city and county officials on highway projects; studying feasibility for an access road at Sand Springs; working for a shorter route to Robert Lee; continued efforts for a new overpass at Benton Street over the railroad yards.

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS, chaired by R. H. Weaver with Guilford Jones as board coordinator. This committee plans to schedule meetings with lawmakers to get a review of issues before Congress; sponsor a trip to Washington to meet with national leaders; provide voting records of legislators to chamber members.

Davidson Named To Council For Small Business

Bernard L. Boutin, administrator of the Small Business Administration, has announced the appointment of Carroll Davidson of Big Spring as a member of the Texas Small Business Advisory Council.

Boutin said that Davidson had been selected for council membership in recognition of his knowledge of and interest in small business. As a member of the State Advisory Council

Davidson will participate in semi-annual meetings at which will be considered the needs of the small businesses within Texas, as well as a study and evaluation of SBA programs within the state.

The advisory council serves as a channel of information to various businesses and commercial interests regarding specific SBA programs, as well as an advisory body which keeps the regional director informed of current economic conditions within Texas.

Gadget Speeds Up Utilities Billing

BEAUMONT (AP) — Speedier water, sewer and garbage service billing in Beaumont will result from the installation recently of the city's "second generation" computer, which will replace data processing equipment which the city has been using since 1961.

Fred Winter, city finance director, said the computer will be used for utilities billing, accounting, payroll operations, tax billing, parking ticket accounting and notices.

Philanthropic Foundations Growing Fast In Number And Size

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans like to think of their industry as primarily private and profit-seeking, but each year a growing share of our output, employment, and innovation is in the not-for-profit sector.

Aside from government itself, chief of these profitless enterprises are foundations, as most people now are aware following an uproar over the flow of secret CIA funds into the coffers of some of them.

But this emergence into the news is only the beginning, for foundations are growing swiftly in number and size. One estimate places the number at more than 45,000 and growing at the rate of more than 1,000 a year.

MORE VIGOR

The Foundation Library Center reports that assets of philanthropic foundations have now reached a record high of $20.3 billion, an increase of nearly $6 billion in three years. They now distribute $1.2 billion a year.

Numbers, however, do not tell the full story. Feeling their strength, foundations now are asserting their views with more vigor. The Ford Foundation, largest of them all, spotlighted the trend this week.

This foundation, whose president is former presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, challenged the very structure of the Communications Satellite Corp. and suggested its domestic expansion be limited.

In doing so, Bundy's organization showed an aggressiveness and a determination that one is accustomed to associating with companies whose dollars are at stake. But Ford Foundation's interest was not financial. It wished, it said, merely to prevent a COMSAT monopoly of communications satellites.

The COMSAT argument

produces a curiosity: seldom before have so many different forms of free institutions been involved in one matter. They run the gamut from private and profit seeking to nonprofit and public.

Among those whose interests are involved in the dispute are several profit-seeking private companies and a profit-seeking semi-utility, American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

COMSAT TARGET

Chief object of Ford Foundation's criticism is COMSAT, a unique combination, a hybrid of public and private interests united in a profit-seeking enterprise.

And sitting as judge of this controversy — which involves a determination of how and who should operate a domestic satellite — is the biggest nonprofit institution in the world, the U.S. government.

These examples point up the fact that the variations within our system, which we call free enterprise, are becoming very imaginative.

ASC Slates Area Meets

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee has scheduled a series of evening meetings, starting today, at which farmer certification, cotton and feed grain programs and other current farm topics are to be aired.

Initial meeting is at 8 p.m. today in Knott.

Other meetings, all at 8 p.m., are to be in Luther at the Bethel Baptist Church annex, April 11; in Vincent, in the Vincent Baptist church educational building, April 13; in Fairview, at the Prairie View Baptist Church, April 18; in Coahoma at the school agricultural building, April 20; in Elbow at the school cafeteria April 25; and at the L. G. Adkins home in Lomax on April 27.

Farmers are invited to attend whatever meeting is handiest to their homes. Gabe Hammack Jr., in charge of the ASC office here, stressed it was most important that all farmers attend at least one of the meetings.

Pearl Told To Move Out

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Pearl Choate Birch, widow of California millionaire A. Otis Birch, was given official notice Wednesday that her landlord wants her to move.

Deputies delivered the complaint to Mrs. Birch's trailer.

She and brother James Choate were ordered to appear before justice of the peace Tom Naylor next Wednesday.

Naylor said that Dr. A. H. Palms complained that he had already asked the pair to leave his place. On the eviction papers, he said, they were not wanted because they kept a large dog, and "for other reasons."

Witnesses who saw deputies serve James Choate said the dog was large but friendly.

Birch died in Dallas last month. His wife and former nurse filed a handwritten will in which she is left all his estate except $1 bequest to other relatives.

A group of religious and charitable organizations filed a contest to the will Friday. Their attorneys claimed that the aged Birch intended to leave them his estate, once valued at an estimated $300 million.

Brenham Minister Challenges Sheriff To Take Lie Test

HOUSTON (AP) — A Brenham minister has challenged Washington County Sheriff Johnnie Schulte to take a lie detector test.

The Rev. Joseph H. Frazer, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Brenham, said Wednesday he had taken a second lie detector test and a truth serum test and they proved he knew nothing about threatening calls made to Washington County grand jury members during an investigation of an alleged bawdy house last month.

Sheriff Schulte had said Frazer failed a test he underwent last week.

Frazer delivered his challenge to Sheriff Schulte in Brenham after he issued a prepared statement to newsmen in the office of his Houston attorney, Jerard D. Mize.

Schulte declined comment on the minister's invitation for him to take the test in Houston today or in Brenham Saturday.

The Washington County grand jury investigated the alleged bawdy house last month and during the probe five grand jurors reported telephone threats against their children. Several telephone threats also were made to bomb the school.

School Difficulties Called Chief Hazard

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A panel of children's doctors at a meeting of American academy of pediatrics decided that school difficulties are childhood's chief occupational hazard and that success or failure in "compulsory labor in school" can have tremendous consequences for a person's self-image as an adult.

U. S. Declared War 50 Years Ago Today In WWI

By SAK BLACKBURN
 It's been 50 years today since the United States declared war on Germany and took this country into World War I. For most folk, even those who lived in the times, memories of that conflict, April 6, are history have become vague. The U.S. records show that of the average 220 patients in the VA hospitals, now well as hospital, at least 40 to 60 are Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., April 6, 1967 7-8

World War I veterans. The oldest of these now at the hospital is 96 and the youngest of the lot is 97.
COMMENT
 The dividing of the veterans of WW I is reflected effectively in statistics. Of the total population of the United States, 21,522,000 are veterans of wars. In this number — as of February, 1967 — only 1,029,000 are men who served in the 1917-1918 conflict. This is 10,000 fewer than for the month of January of this year and 24,000 less than for February, 1966.

 Neither the oldest nor youngest of the two WW I vets at the VA hospital appear to have actually seen front line service in the conflict.
 What happened in those years?

Well, to all practical ends, the troubles fired up on June 28, 1914, in a little known Serbian city called Sarajevo, in mid-Europe, a mad student assassinated an archduke of Austria named Ferdinand. One month to a day later Austria-Hungary declared war on Serbia. This opened the way for Germany to march on Belgium Aug. 4, 1914. Most of Europe and Japan in Asia were involved in the conflict by Nov. 5 of that year. Only the U.S. of the larger powers remained outside the battle arena.

 The war raged on through 1918, 1919, and 1918.
UNRESTRICTED
 In 1917, Germany began what it called unrestricted warfare. This led to a number of incidents involving the United States. U-boats ranging the seas began sinking American ships in increasing numbers.

The war fever began to grow and Woodrow Wilson, the president who had been re-elected to his second term on a pledge — "Wilson will keep us out of the war" — was forced, on April 6, 1917, to declare war on Germany. The nation moved into high gear war economy and by June 28, 1917, the first U.S. troops were landed in Europe.
 The contribution by the United States to the war brought the ultimate collapse of Germany and its allies. On Nov. 11, 1918, a document called the "armistice" was signed — technically a cease fire order which, in reality, was the end of the war.

TRAGEDY
 This armistice held until 1919 when the treaty of Versailles was signed — coincidentally on June 28 — the same day on which the student fired his fatal shots into the carriage of Archduke Ferdinand in Sarajevo five years earlier.
 The war was hailed in those days as "the war to end all wars." It was also lightheartedly called "the war to make democracy safe."
 In this country, the war had a sort of musical opera flavor — an air which was entirely missing in 1941 when the Second World War came into existence.

The American troops with their distinct fat hats, clove-stitching jackets, lace-up trousers, and puttees were a far cry in appearance from the soldiers who marched away in 1941.
UNDANGEROUS
 The U.S., undamaged by the war which had already raged four years overseas, was transformed into a vast arsenal to pour out arms, ammunition, and food into the hands of the allies.
 Troops boarded trains for points of embarkation singing songs in which they promised to hang the Kaiser to a sour apple tree and assuring everyone that the fighters would not be back until it was over "over there."

The part this nation played in the war undoubtedly brought the conflict to an early end. The relatively short time we were involved doubtless saved the lives of millions of men in this country who would have perished had we been involved at the time most of our allies began fighting.

AIRPLANE
 There were many heroic deeds to mark our part in the war and the airplane, as a weapon, suddenly became tremendously important.
 There were many individual heroes. Sgt. Alvin York, perhaps, was the most widely publicized.
 Apparently only three Texans were awarded the Medal of Honor — highest award for valor in the gift of this nation.
 It is an odd circumstance, but all of the three men who won this high distinction in World War I had the same first name — David. These heroes included David E. Baggett, a hospital apprentice who was born in Florence. The others were David E. Schwartz and David S. Buckley, both U.S. Army men.

Armistice day, which became a widely celebrated holiday in the years immediately after 1918, has now disappeared from the calendar. "Veterans Day" is now observed on Nov. 11 and old timers who inadvertently refer to the date as "Armistice" are asked by the younger generation why they call the day by that name.

NO CELEBRATION
 No celebration is planned locally to mark the first half century since that conflict began — a conflict which, in its final analysis destroyed a happy belief that the United States had held for a century and a half — that it was utterly isolated from the quarrels and almost endless wars across the sea.
 It took World War II to completely shatter this imaginary barrier and to shake the seas to brooks. This second conflict forced the United States to realize (with great alarm) that it was now next door neighbor to every other nation in the world.

Sounds Just Like Soft Snow Job
 LANSING, Mich. (AP) — After Harold Rathbun of Lansing retired as chief maintenance engineer of the Michigan highway department, he planned to move to his retirement home at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Rathbun had received a telegram from Rufe Mickler, assistant Florida highway engineer, announcing Rathbun's appointment as chief consultant on snow removal in Florida.
 Mickler said, "the work will not be heavy. You will not even be asked to submit an expense account."

Mixed Weather In Port Arthur
 PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Although rainfall was fairly well spaced during February in the Beaumont-Port Arthur region, the Weather Bureau reported that the 4.70 inches of precipitation was below normal.
 The highest temperature recorded in the Jefferson County weather station was 77 degrees on Feb. 16 and the lowest was 27 degrees on Feb. 7 and 8.

Creates Elaborate Confection For Altrusa Club 50th Year

By RHODA LEMONS

Multi-talented women are no rarity in Big Spring, but one of the persons seemingly capable of doing almost everything is Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, 308 W. 18th.

Members of the Altrusa Club will celebrate its golden anniversary with a banquet April 11 at Big Spring Country Club, and Mrs. LeFevre will not only bake and decorate the cake but will arrange the table setting as well.

"It usually takes about a week to bake and decorate a cake of this size," said Mrs. LeFevre. She can only work evenings and on weekends as she is Howard County Tax Assessor and Collector. She will bake the cake and put it in her freezer, then let it thaw for one day before decorating it. She feels that the freezing method makes the cake stay more moist.

Designed with tiered separators, the cake will be white with a pale gold icing. It will feature flowers in darker gold and blue, the Altrusa colors, and will be topped with a blue emblem and gold lettering. The club emblem was made by Mrs. Milton Knowles, another member. Miniature golden candleholders will be inserted in one tier of the cake, and the five small, white tapers will each be symbolic of 10 years of service.

"The selection of materials to be used, and the decision of what I want to do is the hardest part," said Mrs. LeFevre. The rest, to her, is just "doing what comes naturally," and often she will find it is 4 a.m. before she becomes tired.

She plans to make the beautiful cake the focal point of the decorations, and will use a pale colored moire taffeta cloth with champagne-colored chiffon overlay. Around the table top, she will place a band of golden leaves. Greenery, crystal and silver appointments will complete the setting.

This is not the first time that Mrs. LeFevre has made elaborate cakes. She is supervisor of the under-three-year-old department at the 14th and Main Church of Christ, an dhas 20 or 30 teenagers working with her. Many of them have later married, and Mrs. LeFevre baked and decorated their wedding cakes as her gift to them.

Mrs. LeFevre has three sons, Leroy, who is married and the father of two daughters, lives in Austin. The other boys are twins, Zay is a teacher in the Forsan schools and lives with his mother, and Jay is married and lives with his wife near door. Jay is employed at the Big Spring State Hospital. All of her sons have degrees.

MRS. ZIRAH LEFEVRE

and Leroy holds a master's degree in engineering.

"I make almost my entire wardrobe," exclaimed Mrs. LeFevre, and her latest professional-looking creation is a heavy, gold metallic demi-fitted shift designed with a set-in front panel and self buttons. The dress will be worn the night of the Altrusan banquet.

She has a workroom where she can sew, make professional buttons and almost any other thing she might desire to do. She has a chest full of lovely materials which she will use in the future as the need arises. Mrs. LeFevre has just completed a large white tablecloth requiring 170 yards of hemstitching, and has crocheted another ecru lace cloth of a beautiful design. These table coverings will be used for weddings and showers by friends and relatives.

Another interest of Mrs. LeFevre's is upholstery. She has covered the chests in her sons' rooms in the quilted old-rose color, resulting in handsome bedside tables, and her next project is the re-upholstering of her living room furniture. She has found just the material she wants in a gold-colored crushed velvet for her sectional divan, and apricot velour for her identical chairs. This will go well with the avocado green carpet throughout the living area.

In years past, Mrs. LeFevre and her sons built her present home. They had a carpenter do the work too technical for them, but most of the inside work was finished by them and friends of the family.

"The one thing I don't like to do is yardwork," admits Mrs. LeFevre, and until last year her parents did all of the gardening while they made their home with her. Mrs. LeFevre regrets that she is not more interested in it.

Her collection of recipes is mostly for parties, and according to Mrs. LeFevre, they are easy to make and the ingredients are readily available. They are selections from an entire book filled with party recipes which she has used over the years, and have been tested for accuracy and taste appeal.

Strawberry Pinwheels: 1 loaf fresh unsliced bread, 2 pkgs. (8 oz.) cream cheese, 2 cups strawberries, washed, hulled and sliced, 2 tbsps. powdered sugar. Soften cream cheese in medium size bowl, gradually blend in strawberries and sugar until smoothly spreadable. Cut crust from loaf of bread, then slice bread lengthwise into nine or 10 thin slices, cover with a dampened cloth, let stand 10 minutes. Leave slices which are not working with covered with damp cloth. Spread slices, one at a time, with cream mixture using three or four tablespoons per slice, roll up jelly roll fashion, wrap tightly in waxed paper, foil or plastic wrap. Chill at least two hours.

To serve remove and slice each roll crosswise into seven or eight pinwheels. Use your sharpest knife, they should be sliced thinly and evenly. Wipe knife between cuttings. Make six to seven dozen.

CHEDDAR MOONS: 1 cup sifted flour, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1 cup (1/2 lb.) grated sharp cheddar cheese, 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 tsp. prepared mustard, 1 stick margarine or butter, softened.

Mix flour, salt and cheese in medium size bowl, sprinkle on Worcestershire sauce. Add mustard, knead in butter or margarine, knead lightly in bowl to form a soft dough. Drop by teaspoonfuls, two inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets, shape quickly with fingers into small balls (they bake into 1 1/2 inches using a scant teaspoonful makes a nice size dainty and about four dozen moons).

Bake in 350 degree oven 12 minutes or until golden brown. This dough can be stored in refrigerator several days before using, remove in plenty of time to return to room temperature before cooking.

SMOKED DAINITIES: 1 pkg. smoked precooked sausage, 2 cups flour, 2-3 cup shortening.

Meat Loaf Adds Zest With Spice

A meat loaf that's distinctly different from what you've had before is made zesty with horseradish and colorful with tomatoes and green pepper.

Beef and Tomato Loaf, made with two pounds of ground beef, makes eight servings. Soft bread crumbs, with milk poured over them, start the easy preparation procedure for this generous-sized loaf.

When only five or six servings are required for dinner, the remainder may be used for sandwiches. Since horseradish is in the loaf itself, make sandwiches with lettuce and mayonnaise, with mustard, if desired.

- BEEF AND TOMATO LOAF
2 lbs. ground beef
1-3 cup milk
1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tsps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. prepared horseradish
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 eggs, beaten
3 firm medium-size tomatoes, cut in 1-inch pieces

Pour milk over bread crumbs. Add ground beef, onion, green pepper, salt, pepper, horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and eggs. Mix thoroughly, add tomato pieces and mix lightly. Pack in a 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees). For 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours. Eight servings.

COLORFUL AND DIFFERENT Use as main dish with dressing

Brown Beans Enliven Supper

These brown-speckled beans turn a uniform pinkish-red after cooking.

- ISLAND BEANS
1 pkg. (1 lb.) pinto beans (2 2/4 cups)
Water
1 bay leaf
1 hambone
1/2 cup olive oil
2 medium onions (peeled and chopped)

1 large green pepper, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Rinse beans; add six cups water and soak overnight. Drain and turn into a kettle with six cups fresh water, the bay leaf and hambone.

Bring to a boil; cover and simmer, adding water as necessary to keep beans well covered, until tender — about 2 hours. Remove bay leaf and hambone and return meat to beans. Drain beans; use liquid in a soup. Cook onions, green pepper and garlic in hot olive oil in a skillet until onions are yellowed; add to beans with salt and pepper to taste. Reheat over boiling water. Serve over steamed rice with a topping of minced mild sweet onion. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Add Flavor Appeal, Make Something New

When your family has appetite doldrums, or perhaps just a touch of spring fever, serve something colorful and different to spark-up winter-jaded palates.

- CRAB LOUIS
1 lb. crab meat
1 head lettuce
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cucumber, sliced
4 tomatoes, sliced
3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Remove any shell or cartilage from crab meat, being careful not to break the meat into small pieces. Shred lettuce and place in a large shallow salad bowl. Sprinkle with salt. Arrange the crab meat over the lettuce.

Around the edge place alternate slices of cucumbers, tomatoes and eggs. Spread Louis Dressing over crab meat. Serves six.

- LOUIS DRESSING
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 tbsps. catsup
2 tbsps. chopped sweet pickle
1 tsp. lemon juice
Combine all ingredients and chill. Serves six.

TEMPTING STICKY APPLE BUNS Coffee and buns make a delectable treat

Serve Festive Buns For Sunday Brunch

For accuracy of description, you'll go far to beat the sweet glazed roll called a "sticky bun." One cheerfully risks sticky fingers for the pleasure of these cinnamon-swirled, syrup-drenched raised rolls, and they are especially tempting for Sunday brunch. Packaged hot roll mix and those versatile canned pie-sliced apples simplify preparation here. The natural flavor apple slices, specially processed to retain fresh texture and golden color, add a delicate fruit accent which piques the taste and delights the palate.

Leftovers from the generous two dozen this recipe makes are delicious warmed again for next-day use.

Here's a neat trick for Saturday night appetizers. Thin slices of corned beef are spread with a tangy mixture of sour cream and blue cheese and rolled around Sweet Gherkins for hors d'oeuvres that are both tasty and decorative.

- STICKY APPLE BUNS
1 13 3/4-oz. box hot roll mix
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 lb. 4-oz. can pie-sliced apples, well-drained
1-3 cup raisins

Prepare hot roll mix according to package directions. Let rise until double in bulk. Divide dough in half. Roll each piece into a 12 x 9-inch rectangle. Brush each piece of dough with one tablespoon butter. Combine granulated sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle evenly over dough. Roll up from longest side; seal edge. Cut each roll into 12 pieces. Combine remaining butter with brown sugar. Place in bottom of greased muffin tins. Arrange pie-sliced apples and raisins on top of brown sugar mixture. Place cut rolls on top. Let rise in warm place, until doubled in bulk (about one hour). Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 20-25 minutes. Let stand for two minutes before inverting pans. Makes 24 buns.

- CORNED BEEF APPETIZERS (Makes about 17)
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1 pkg. (3 1/2 oz.) sliced cooked corned beef (about 17 slices)
Sweet gherkins
Blend together sour cream and blue cheese. Fold each slice of corned beef in half. Spread with sour cream mixture. Place a gherkin on edge of shorter side. Roll tightly. Cut in half. Serve on toasted thin bread rounds or rye thins.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

If you are short of space for your pots and pans, consider putting up some pegboard and hanging the equipment. But do not hang them in higgledy-piggledy fashion, make an attractive design!

Chilling cornmeal mush for breakfast "scrapple?" Mold it in a small loaf pan, but be sure to rinse the pan with cold water before pouring the mush.

Ever brush packaged refrigerated biscuits with butter or margarine — using a generous amount and then sprinkle with sesame seeds? Now the Sesame Biscuits get baked according to package directions. No sesame seeds at hand? Use whatever is — caraway, poppy, celery seeds will substitute well.

Ever serve Viennese coffee? Use freshly brewed strong coffee and pour into cups; add a dollop of whipped cream and pass the sugar. Use 1/4 to 1/2 cup heavy cream (whipped) for four regular-size cups of the coffee brew.

One tablespoon of water is usually added to a slightly beaten egg when this mixture is to be used as a dip in breading chops or similar foods. But if there isn't enough of the egg to go around, you can add a teaspoon or two of water for dipping the last pieces of food.

Remove Grease With Wet Chalk Grease can be removed with chalk or corn meal. Dampen the area with cleaning fluid, allow to dry, and brush. Coffee stains disappear fastest when sponged with cold water.

These All Tested By Mrs. Zirah LeFevre

- HARLEQUINS
8 thin slices whole wheat bread
8 thin slices white bread
1 stick butter or margarine, softened

- PARSLEY CREAM CHEESE FILLING
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
2 tbsps. milk
1 1/2 cups finely chopped parsley
Blend together cream cheese and egg filling.

- EGG FILLING
3 hard cooked eggs finely chopped
3 tbsps. mayonnaise
1 tsp. prepared mustard
3/4 tsp. salt

Arrange bread in four rows of four slices each on large cutting board, making first and fourth rows whole wheat, second and third rows white bread. Spread all with softened butter or margarine. Spread parsley filling on first and third rows of bread and egg filling on second row. Place each fourth row slice, buttered side down, on parsley filling; then on egg spread slices, then on parsley spread slices to make four-decker sandwiches. Cut off crusts; wrap each in waxed paper, transparent wrap or foil; chill.

To serve, cut each into quarters then cut each quarter in three thin slices. Makes four dozen sandwiches.

- POSY PUFFS
1 cup flour
1/2 cup water
1 stick margarine
Dash salt
4 eggs
Heat margarine and water to boiling. Pour in flour and salt all at once, stir and continue heating until dough leaves sides of pan. In large mixer bowl place dough mixture. Add eggs one at a time, beating at medium speed. Drop by 1/2 teaspoonful one inch apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 425 degrees 15 minutes or until golden. Cool on wire racks. Cut each cream puff in half crosswise and fill each with 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of favorite cream filling. Replace tops and decorate with a rosette of butter-cream frosting.

- BUTTER CREAM FROSTING
Cream two tablespoons butter or margarine in small bowl. Gradually beat in one cup powdered sugar, stir in one tablespoon cream. Make rosettes with cake decorator set, coloring frosting as desired.

The cream puffs store in deep freeze indefinitely ready for use. Yield: About five dozen. These little cream puffs may also be filled with chicken salad, shrimp salad or ham salad and topped with rosettes made of cream cheese thinned down with small amount of milk.

- POMPOMS
2 egg whites
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
4 tbsps. (1 1/2 stick) margarine
1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 tbsps. crushed fresh strawberries

Beat egg whites, cream of tartar and salt in large bowl until foamy; add sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition until meringue stands in stiff peaks; beat in vanilla. Drop in tiny mounds, one inch apart, from teaspoon onto buttered cookie sheets.

About one teaspoonful is enough in each mound and should be about same size and shape. Bake at 250 degrees about 30 minutes or until meringues are crisp and delicately golden brown. Remove at once from cookie sheet, lightly press in bottom of each meringue, cool on wire rack.

- STRAWBERRY PINWHEELS
1 loaf fresh unsliced bread
2 pkgs. (8 oz.) cream cheese
2 cups strawberries, washed, hulled and sliced
2 tbsps. powdered sugar

Soften cream cheese in medium size bowl, gradually blend in strawberries and sugar until smoothly spreadable. Cut crust from loaf of bread, then slice bread lengthwise into nine or 10 thin slices, cover with a dampened cloth, let stand 10 minutes. Leave slices which are not working with covered with damp cloth. Spread slices, one at a time, with cream mixture using three or four tablespoons per slice, roll up jelly roll fashion, wrap tightly in waxed paper, foil or plastic wrap. Chill at least two hours.

To serve remove and slice each roll crosswise into seven or eight pinwheels. Use your sharpest knife, they should be sliced thinly and evenly. Wipe knife between cuttings. Make six to seven dozen.

- CHEDDAR MOONS
1 cup sifted flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup (1/2 lb.) grated sharp cheddar cheese
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 stick margarine or butter, softened

Mix flour, salt and cheese in medium size bowl, sprinkle on Worcestershire sauce. Add mustard, knead in butter or margarine, knead lightly in bowl to form a soft dough. Drop by teaspoonfuls, two inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets, shape quickly with fingers into small balls (they bake into 1 1/2 inches using a scant teaspoonful makes a nice size dainty and about four dozen moons).

Bake in 350 degree oven 12 minutes or until golden brown. This dough can be stored in refrigerator several days before using, remove in plenty of time to return to room temperature before cooking.

- SMOKED DAINITIES
1 pkg. smoked precooked sausage
2 cups flour
2-3 cup shortening

Three Houston Riot Leaders Due Hearing

HOUSTON (AP)—A hearing for three men arrested in connection with week-long student demonstrations downtown and at Texas Southern University was delayed five hours today.

Justice of the Peace Jack Treadway was to decide at the 2 p.m. hearing whether the jailed trio will be placed under $25,000 peace bonds.

Defense lawyer Ben Levy had been out of the city and the delay was granted to allow him more time to prepare his case.

The hearing will be held in the Harris County Courthouse where some 125 students ended a 20-hour vigil Wednesday afternoon when told the hearing would be held and that the friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) would be recognized as an on-campus organization at the state's largest Negro school.

Summertime Heat Keeps Texans In Rainless Grip

By The Associated Press

Low clouds and fog blanketed the Gulf Coast today, but in North Texas the hottest reading in the nation was reported as the state braced for another day of summerlike heat.

It was 79 degrees at 2 a.m. in Wichita Falls, the nation's highest.

COOL FRONT

A weak cool front stretched southward into the South Plains from western Oklahoma, but the temperature contrast across the state was not great. Dalhart in the Panhandle reported a pleasant 52 degrees.

Presidio recorded 96 degrees Wednesday—the high for the nation and the state. Other warm maximums included Laredo 95, Childress and Wichita Falls 94, and Abilene 92.

BLOWING DUST

Blowing dust swept across portions of the West Texas High Plains as the state experienced another rainless day Wednesday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau held out the hope for a change. The latest forecasts call for widely scattered showers and cooler temperatures over northern portions of the state on Friday.

Librarian Picked

BEAUMONT (AP)—Dr. Andrew J. Johnson, associate professor of history at Lamar State College of Technology, will become the college librarian Sept. 1, when Miss Julia Plummer retires. Miss Plummer became librarian when it was a junior college operated by the South Park Independent School District.

Struck, Killed

DALLAS (AP)—Peter Balin, 2, of Dallas, was struck and killed by an automobile Wednesday night.

Lions Entry

Ginger Kay Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Brown, will represent the Downtown Lions Club of Big Spring, where her father is a member, in the District 2-A1 queen contest at Midland Friday evening. Ginger is a sophomore in Big Spring High School and her father is a long-time member of the Downtown club. L. T. King, president, will head a delegation of about a dozen members to Midland Friday for the convention which will conclude Saturday evening.

Bank Bandits Abandon Tools

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Tex. (AP)—Burglars broke into the Merchants and Planters State Bank at Mount Enterprise early today, but didn't get a penny. It was the sixth robbery, burglary or attempt on the bank in the last two decades.

Constable Wells Jackson said the burglars were heard over a citizen's hand radio.

He said they fled in such a hurry they left their tools at the scene.

The attempted burglary was discovered about 4 a.m., said Mrs. Norris Langford, the wife of the bank's president.

Jackson discovered the back window open to give more credence to the radio report.

Noted Pianist Due Friday For Scholarship Concert

Stefan Bardas, resident pianist at North Texas State University, will appear in concert here Friday evening, sponsored by the Big Spring Piano Teachers' Forum.

The concert will be held in the City Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Proceeds from the concert will be used for the scholarship fund for a student majoring in piano at Howard County Junior College. The Forum has sponsored similar concerts each April for the past six years.

Bardas, artist-teacher at NTSU since 1954, is well known for his extensive repertoire and for his Beethoven Sonata Cycle. Recently he has done the entire 32 Beethoven Sonatas in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Tulsa, Shreveport and St. Louis. He also did a tour of Hawaii, receiving critical acclaim.

Collard Seeds Signs Of Spring

DALLAS (AP)—Clerks and policemen knew spring was here after they arrested a 78-year-old man with his pockets bulging with collard green seeds.

"My old bones been telling me planting time is getting here and I wanted to grow a mess of greens," the oldster explained.

Officers said he had stolen enough seed to plant the biggest patch in Dallas County.

Three Houston Riot Leaders Due Hearing

HOUSTON (AP)—A hearing for three men arrested in connection with week-long student demonstrations downtown and at Texas Southern University was delayed five hours today.

Justice of the Peace Jack Treadway was to decide at the 2 p.m. hearing whether the jailed trio will be placed under $25,000 peace bonds.

Defense lawyer Ben Levy had been out of the city and the delay was granted to allow him more time to prepare his case.

The hearing will be held in the Harris County Courthouse where some 125 students ended a 20-hour vigil Wednesday afternoon when told the hearing would be held and that the friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) would be recognized as an on-campus organization at the state's largest Negro school.

Summertime Heat Keeps Texans In Rainless Grip

By The Associated Press
Low clouds and fog blanketed the Gulf Coast today, but in North Texas the hottest reading in the nation was reported as the state braced for another day of summerlike heat.

It was 79 degrees at 2 a.m. in Wichita Falls, the nation's highest.

COOL FRONT
A weak cool front stretched southward into the South Plains from western Oklahoma, but the temperature contrast across the state was not great. Dalhart in the Panhandle reported a pleasant 52 degrees.

Presidio recorded 96 degrees Wednesday—the high for the nation and the state. Other warm maximums included Laredo 95, Childress and Wichita Falls 94, and Abilene 92.

BLOWING DUST
Blowing dust swept across portions of the West Texas High Plains as the state experienced another rainless day Wednesday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau held out the hope for a change. The latest forecasts call for widely scattered showers and cooler temperatures over northern portions of the state on Friday.

Bank Bandits Abandon Tools

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Tex. (AP)—Burglars broke into the Merchants and Planters State Bank at Mount Enterprise early today, but didn't get a penny. It was the sixth robbery, burglary or attempt on the bank in the last two decades.

Constable Wells Jackson said the burglars were heard over a citizen's band radio.

He said they fled in such a hurry they left their tools at the scene.

The attempted burglary was discovered about 4 a.m., said Mrs. Norris Langford, the wife of the bank's president.

Jackson discovered the back window open to give more credence to the radio report.

FBI agents from Tyler are helping investigate.

The bank last was robbed in 1965 of approximately $17,400. The bank was robbed three times in the 1950s and this is the third robbery or attempt in the 1960s.

Noted Pianist Due Friday For Scholarship Concert

Stefan Bardas, resident pianist at North Texas State University, will appear in concert here Friday evening, sponsored by the Big Spring Piano Teachers' Forum.

The concert will be held in the City Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Proceeds from the concert will be used for the scholarship fund for a student majoring in piano at Howard County Junior College. The Forum has sponsored similar concerts each April for the past six years.

Bardas, artist-teacher at NTSU since 1954, is well known for his extensive repertoire and for his Beethoven Sonata Cycle. Recently he has done the entire 32 Beethoven Sonatas in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Tulsa, Shreveport and St. Louis. He also did a tour of Hawaii, receiving critical acclaim.

The German-born pianist, before coming to NTSU, taught at Carroll College in Montana, Northwestern in Illinois, and the University of Tulsa. He holds degrees from the Berlin Realgymnasium, the Academy of Music in Berlin, the Conservatorio Santo Cecilia of Rome, and Illinois Wesleyan University.

His presentation here will include the 12 études, Opus 10 by Chopin, Prelude and Fugue in E Flat Minor by Bach. Compositions by Von Weber, Mendelssohn and Schumann are included and Johann Strauss' Valse Caprice will be the last number on the program.

Tickets are now on sale and can be purchased in advance from any Forum member. They will also be available at the door.

All But Two Schools Have Picked Champions

By SAM BLACKBURN
The deadline for the schools in the city system to have chosen their 1967 School Spelling Champion is Friday, but as of Wednesday afternoon, all but two schools had already announced winners.

Goliad Junior High School and Cedar Crest elementary school were the only schools which had not announced their standard bearer for The Herald's Howard County Spelling Bee April 15.

A number of veterans of other spelling bees held in the past four years are bobbing up in the new champions and alternates.

but by the same token youngsters who were rated tops last year are no longer in the lists.

Forsan was the first school to post its champions and Runnels Junior High was second.

Four of the schools which have named their champions include:

BOYDSTON—Julia Evans, 11, fifth grader, champion. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Evans, 616 State. David Raney, 12, a sixth grader who was last year's champion, came up second man this time. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Raney, 609 Steakley.

ST. MARY'S EPISCOPAL SCHOOL—Marianne McLaughlin, 11, a fifth grader, is the champion. She is a sister of the 1966 Howard County spelling champ—Scott McLaughlin of Goliad Junior High—and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, 112 Cedar. Paul Talbot, 10, a fifth grader who was last year's champion from this school, is the alternate. Paul is the son of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Talbot Jr., 1508 Dayton.

MIDWAY SCHOOL—Michael Barbee, 9, a third grader and probably the youngest of the champions who will enter the county spelling bee, will represent Midway school on April 15. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Barbee, Rt. 1. His alternate is Norman Ashley, 8, a third grader, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Ashley, Rt. 1.

GAY HILL SCHOOL—Bruce Felts, 11, a sixth grader, who was alternate in 1966, has moved up to the championship. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Felts Jr., Gay Hill. The alternate this year is Darla Buchanan, 12, also a sixth grader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buchanan, Gay Hill.

The champions of the schools will meet in the Fifth Annual Howard County Spelling Bee April 15 at 10 a.m. The final round will be in the science auditorium of the Howard County Junior College.

Mrs. O. T. Brewster of the Big Spring High School faculty, will be pronouncer. She served in the same capacity last year.

Judges for the bee are Col. George Franks of Webb AFB; Bill Johnson, president of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club; and Roger Brown, Big Spring attorney.

Winner of the county bee wins a free trip to Lubbock June 29 and a chance to try for the regional crown. The Howard County bee is sponsored by the Big Spring Daily Herald.

LETTER
Pleased With Vote Turnout

To the Editor:
It was indeed gratifying to see the record turnout in our City Commissioners election. My congratulations to the winners Mr. McAdams and Mr. Zachariah.

Even with this record turnout of voters it is still discouraging to see that only two thousand of our citizenry saw fit to exercise their right and duty.

To the new and the old commissioners goes my admonition not to forget their duty to the tax-paying public. It is your duty to get the most for their tax dollar and listen with an open mind to all petitioners.

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Cultural Arts Committee, sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, held an organizational meeting Tuesday night in the chamber office.

Mrs. G. D. Foster was elected chairman, Mrs. Curtis Latimer, vice chairman, and Carolyn Baumann, secretary.

The committee will seek to find ways to encourage artists and musicians and patrons of the arts and music, and will sponsor concerts and book reviews. Mrs. Foster said that the committee will attempt to offer a platform for many and varied talents.

Airways Cuts Fare For GIs On Leave

DALLAS (AP)— Braniff International Airways has announced a one-third fare reduction with confirmed flight reservations for all military personnel on leave. The firm already has a 50 per cent discount for servicemen traveling on a stand-by basis.

Fewer Pen Mules

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)— At one time the Texas Prison System's farms used 3,000 mules. Starting in 1948, the system began using tractors and now only 26 mules remain with the system. Those remaining have an average age of 39 years.

THANK YOU

From the bottom of my heart I want to thank those who supported or voted for me for city commissioner, and my loyal friends who spoke a word on my behalf. To all, I say what I said while offering for this honorable office—I will do my best for Big Spring.

Viewers Note TV Troubles

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— Viewers could see for themselves Wednesday night that the base of the performers' union strike against the three major networks had broadened.

In the afternoon other craft unions of the broadcasting industry agreed to support the strike by refusing to cross picket lines. First to be affected was NBC, and the results were evident on the network's dinner-time news programs, both on its local New York roundup and Chet Huntley's half-hour network program. "Management personnel," as Huntley called them in his report on new developments, were obviously handling the switches and buttons in the absence of the regular technicians, and things were not going smoothly.

At times there was no sound at all, even on the commercials. At another time the picture was lost. Then Huntley's voice was heard describing a news story at a time when the picture on the screen was the windup of the commercial.

CBS's special comedy program, reuniting Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner and Howard Morris of the old "Your Show of Shows" was an hour of bright fun, and a reassurance that those old programs were as amusing as we remember they were.

Miss Coca and Caesar were funny and witty in some hand-tailored sketches including an elaborate spoof of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and a short sketch about two American tourists meeting in Paris.

NBC News in its "Crossroads in Space" Wednesday night presented an awesome assemblage of facts and figures about the size and "staggering cost" of activities by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and also much sharp criticism.
