

Lodge Claims: Terrorists Delay War

SAIGON (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge considers "the real cancer in Vietnam is the terrorist inner circle."

"If we could destroy this terrorist (inner circle), the war would be virtually over," the U.S. ambassador said in a wide-ranging interview with The Association Press.

The diplomat, 64, will turn over the American Embassy to Ellsworth Bunker later this month and leave for Washington and a new post as ambassador-at-large.

Pros Pose Problems

"The hard-core professional terrorists who dress and look like everybody else are the biggest problem facing us now," he said.

Counter-terrorism poses problems for the allies, Lodge said, "because that's what we're least good at. But we're making progress."

"The Viet Cong are effective, not because the people prefer them but because of terrorism . . . When you beat main-force Communist units in Vietnam—as we have been doing—you have a good hunting license to go after terrorists," he said.

Spectacular Successes

The ambassador cited Operation Cedar Falls, in Binh Duong Province north of Saigon, and Operation Junction City in War Zone C northwest of this city among spectacular successes against main-force units so far this year. Such operations ultimately will lower American casualties, he said.

In the same connection he had said in a Washington interview Jan. 12: "I believe the purely military part of the war—which is what American forces are engaged in—will make tremendous progress in 1967 and that the percentage of American casualties will start declining."

Lodge praised efforts by premier Nguyen Cao Ky to eliminate bribery and kindred evils in the conduct of the war. He suggested elections would help and progress would continue.

Infiltration Continues

"As is common in many countries—both developed and underdeveloped—there is corruption in Vietnam," he said. "What is different in Vietnam is that people don't like it. There is a strong feeling against corruption and a strong desire to get rid of it."

On the economic front Lodge said: "We and the Vietnamese staved off runaway inflation in all sorts of ways, including selling rice off the backs of trucks to eliminate the middlemen."

The ambassador described several debit items in his analysis:

"By no means are all the major roads open at all times to all classes of people. You may be able to run a tank battalion through some, but not normal traffic."

Infiltration from North Vietnam continues, though at somewhat a reduced rate.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The cold, numbing news of another casualty in the Vietnam war came last week. Sgt. Raymond Gomez, who established his family here last November when he went overseas, was killed in combat on April 1, leaving his wife, Ursula, and three children, Connie, 10, David, 8, and Michael, 6. For Mrs. Gomez the vigil is especially lonely, for she is a native of Germany where she married Sgt. Gomez. Final tributes will be paid the fallen hero probably early this week at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery.

Tragedy of a different sort claimed the third traffic victim on Howard County roads when Mrs. Trinidad Torres, 45, was crushed in a car stopped on Interstate 20 some 8.7 miles west of here. A truck, driven by James Murphy of Odessa, piled into the car, which had been stopped when a hubcap came off. Andrea Nunez, 28, was seriously hurt in the mishap.

The election season has passed with an exceptionally improved turnout of voters (although it is not a good percentage of the potential, by any means). Jack Alexander and Roy Watkins were named to the Big Spring School board, and Garner

55 Die When Plane Smacks Church Dome

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—With one engine sputtering, a South Korean air force C47 hit the dome of a Christian church on a hill Saturday and crashed into a slum of flimsy wooden homes, turning it into an inferno.

Officials said 55 persons perished—41 of them on the ground. Six are missing and 30 were injured.

The plane, with 14 persons on board, had just taken off in a drizzle from Yoido airbase for Taegu, 130 miles to the south-east.

STUDENTS JUMP

Witnesses said the plane circled at a low altitude three times before it hit the church and crashed into the slum with an explosion that set fire to 30 houses holding about 70 families. All on board the plane were killed.

The explosion rocked a high school 50 yards from the crash site and students jumped from second-floor classrooms. Thirteen of them were hurt.

Firemen were unable to contain the fire in the slum with any speed because alleys were too narrow for fire equipment.

FIRE SPREADS

The air force said the twin-engine plane developed trouble with its right engine shortly after taking off and the pilot apparently was trying to return to base when the plane crashed. It had been in the air only about five minutes. The pilot, Capt. Suh Keun-jo, was a veteran with 2,151 hours flying time.

Debris from the plane was picked up 450 yards from the impact point.

The slum is inhabited mainly by laborers, many of whom had stayed at home because of the inclement weather.

The fire spread over an area 225 yards wide and blazed out of control for 1½ hours.

Dr. Coppolino Jury Selected

NAPLES, Fla. (AP)—After a weekend of relaxing at his Sarasota home, Dr. Carl Coppolino returns to this swank seaside resort city Monday to go on trial for his life for the second time.

A jury of 12 men was selected Friday but is not yet sworn. Each side still has peremptory challenges and could exercise them Monday. Two alternates also must be picked before testimony begins.

Coppolino is charged with the murder of his first wife, Carmela, with injection of an exotic drug. He won acquittal in New Jersey on a charge that he killed William E. Farber while engaged in a love affair with Farber's wife, Marjorie.

Most of the trial principals flew out of Naples for the weekend. Coppolino went home with his second wife, Mary, an attractive, well-to-do divorcee he married soon after Carmela's death.

One of those remaining in Naples was Dr. Carmelo Musetto, father of the dead woman. He stays in a small hotel two blocks down US Highway 41 from the courthouse where he will be a key state witness in the trial.

Coppolino told Dr. Juliette Karow his wife had had chest pains the night before she died and Dr. Karow signed a death certificate that gave a heart attack as the cause. She testified that she "took Carl's word for it."

Musetto denied at the preliminary hearing that his daughter had any history of heart trouble. At 32, he said, she was a healthy woman.

Naples, a town of 7,500, which is home to many retired millionaires from the Midwest, has looked on the trial so far with a blasé attitude.

Greek, Turkish Forces Battle

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Greek and Turkish Cypriot forces engaged Saturday in the island's sharpest battle since the general cease-fire of August 1964.

U.N. peace force headquarters said light artillery and heavy machine guns were used extensively during the four-hour clash on the outskirts of the Turkish Cypriot village of Mari, 40 miles southwest of Nicosia and just off the main Nicosia-Limassol highway.

U. S. Faces Worst-Ever Transportation Tie-Up

Ecuador Threat Voiced

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Ecuador, one of South America's less-developed nations, threatened Saturday to boycott the hemisphere summit conference this week unless President Johnson agrees to discuss turning the Alliance for Progress into a virtual Marshall Plan, the gigantic postwar U.S. program that helped restore Europe.

Diplomatic informants said the Ecuadorean delegation made its threat in a closed-door meeting of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and hemisphere foreign ministers working on the agenda for the conference which opens Wednesday in this south Atlantic sea resort.

AID BID

The informants said Rusk and his delegation appeared far from pleased with the bid for massive U.S. aid. The reported Ecuadorean move also apparently marked a reversal of a trend reported by a U.S. source earlier—that the Latin Americans leaned more toward selling more of their products on the U.S. market than in money aid from Washington.

The sources said the Ecuadoreans made their bid soon after the foreign ministers session opened. The delegation said President Otto Rosemema of Ecuador would not attend the summit conference unless Marshall Plan-type aid was placed on the agenda for the meeting.

HOPE FADES

U.S. officials had been hoping the Latin Americans would place emphasis on trade and pull themselves out of poor-nation status through a common market and improved conditions for exports. One American official said President Johnson would be inclined to make a major concession in this direction.

President John F. Kennedy launched the Alliance for Progress shortly after his inaugural in 1961. It was designed to increase Latin America's tempo of development. But Latin Americans complain the program is not big enough.

The delegation from Ecuador, a nation on this continent's northwest coast with nearly five million people, asked for "more ample participation of the United States in the financing of national development plans . . . within the framework of the Alliance for Progress," the informants said.

The request was coupled with another for streamlined credits and an expected demand for hemisphere preference in U.S. markets.

This would involve, as the Ecuadoreans saw it, reductions in tariffs on Latin-American products sold in the United States.

In another development, the Organization of American States, sponsors of the conference, issued a notice that listed President Francois Duvalier of Haiti as head of his delegation. Previous reports had said Duvalier would not attend out of fear that in his absence his government might be overthrown.

Youth Achievement Award Nominations End Monday

No less than 34 young people of Howard County have been honored by friends in being nominated for the 1967 Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award.

Nominations close Monday, and any received beyond a postmark date of April 10 will not be considered. Those who wish to name a senior or junior boy and girl from Big Spring, Coahoma or Forsan high schools are urged to submit nominations immediately. The official entry blank in The Herald (today on Page 7-A) must be used, but a supplementary letter may accompany it.

Latest nominees on the list are Beverly Peters, Big Spring senior; Dianna Rodman, For-

Hippie Mop Brigade

He's seen it all now, the man staring from the background. First there were knights on horses that got your clothes clean on TV. Then there were white tornadoes that cleaned up dirt. But hippies? He's seeing right, though. A brigade of hippies gathered in

Greenwich Village in New York City Saturday, armed with mops, brooms and soap. They attacked 3rd Street, cleaning everything that stood still—and even a few moving cars. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Hippies Stage NY 'Sweep-In'

NEW YORK (AP)—Soap suds rushed down the street and dirt flew in the air Saturday as New York's latest clean-up brigade—the Greenwich Village hippies—held their first sweep-in.

The "sweep-in" actually turned out to be more of a "suds-in" as several hundred members of the Village underground swarmed down East 3rd Street with mops, brooms, hoses and feather dusters in hand—cleaning anything and everything in sight.

Any car that happened to be cruising through the area got a not-too-thorough washing. One youngster went to work on a postal truck making the rounds, as he put it, "to clean up the ZIP code."

The now-famous grapevine which brought more than 10,000 persons to Central Park for an Easter Sunday be-in sent out the call for Saturday's sweep-in, which was scheduled for East 7th Street.

But the Sanitation Department sent a truck down the street before the "sweep-in" brigade arrived. "Look at them—the sneaks," said one broom-carrying youth.

A hurried reorganization followed and the hippies—clad in beat and mod attire—moved the sweep-in to 3rd Street, which had not come under the cleaning broom of the Sanitation Department.

Red Shells Kill Nine Americans

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong rained 80 rounds of mortar fire on a base camp of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division Sunday and followed up with a probing attack on a security outpost guarding the central highlands camp.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said nine Americans were killed and 15 wounded in the outpost fighting that lasted 30 minutes. The base camp of the helicopter-borne division is at An Khe where a spokesman said two cavalrymen were wounded by the mortar shelling and there was light damage to helicopters.

AMMO HIT?

The spokesman said the mortar shelling lasted eight minutes. Gunship helicopters opened fire on the enemy mortar sites and pilots reported a large secondary explosion, indicating hits on enemy ammunition. Only one other significant ground action was reported by the U.S. Command.

SITES DESTROYED

This was near Bong Son of the central coast where other units of the 1st Cavalry clashed in sporadic fighting for more than nine hours Saturday with an enemy force estimated at company strength, or about 115 men.

The U.S. Command reported 23 Communists killed and reported U.S. casualties at 19 killed and 28 wounded.

In air raids over North Vietnam on Saturday, U.S. Air Force pilots hit anti-aircraft sites northwest of Hanoi and reported destroying two sites and damaging others.

New Health Officer Gigs Texas' Mental Hospitals

AUSTIN (AP)—After a month of looking, Texas' new top mental health officer said Saturday that state mental hospitals "aren't quite living in the 20th Century."

"My job," said Dr. John Kinross-Wright, "is to modernize the institutions and shrink their size. Half of the people in the hospitals don't belong there."

15,284 PATIENTS

"If we can reduce the (15,284) patients by half and use the same amount of money on those still in the hospitals, we've improved 100 per cent right there."

Kinross-Wright, named March 3 as mental health and mental retardation commissioner, summarized his first month on the job to the state board for those services.

OUT OF STEP

"The institutions are out of step with the burgeoning mental health program," he said, "unless we let some daylight in, we'll end up with a house divided."

He suggested two ways to reduce the number of patients in state hospitals—get them out faster and keep some out in the first place, placing the emphasis on community care.

For instance, he said Houston sends some 1,800 patients a year to the Austin State Hospital—"taking them away from their families and communities and sending them 160 miles away for 90 to 180 days and then sending them back to Houston."

Showers Sprinkle Red River Valley

By The Associated Press

Light showers sprinkled the Panhandle and Red River Valley of Texas Saturday and more light rain was in the forecasts. Rainfall measured during the 24-hour period ending at 6 p.m. included Amarillo 0.3, Childress 0.1, Dalhart .24, Midland .04 and Wink .11.

Overcast skies covered most of the Panhandle - Plains country much of the day. Temperatures continued warm.

Saturday's showers were a continuance of light rain that peppered the Red River Valley area Friday.

The moisture, however, was negligible in view of the vast need for rain throughout the drought-stricken state—dry all winter, fall and early spring.

Temperatures again were above normal, ranging at noon from 66 degrees at Dalhart into the 80s in South Central Texas.

Major Truck Firms Plan To Shutdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation faces its worst-ever trucking tie-up at midnight Saturday when the industry has called a "defensive shutdown" against what it sees as a rash of Teamsters' Union wildcat strikes.

The union asserted there have been walkouts at only nine of thousands of terminals and accused the industry of a "breach of bargaining faith by calling a lockout in an effort to win "antistrike legislation from Congress."

But even as the threat of what could develop into the nation's worst transportation tie-up hung over the bargaining table, federal mediators resumed national contract talks with representatives of both sides in the dispute.

MIDNIGHT DATE

There was no immediate sign that the government plans an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction against the threatened shutdown, which would immediately tie up at least 65 per cent of the nation's truck-freight traffic. Presumably officials were awaiting an actual shutdown before deciding what steps to take.

"The shutdown is to commence at 12 midnight," said president M. M. Gordon of Trucking Employers, Inc., representing 1,500 of the biggest firms in the national negotiations which involve a total of 450,000 workers in 12,000 firms. "Certainly we would call it off" if all strikes end and the Teamsters Union promises to stop all future walkouts, Gordon replied to a question at a news conference.

WALKOUTS

Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons said, "Despite employer announcements of widespread strikes, at the moment these have been limited to nine of the thousands of the nation's truck terminals."

Fitzsimmons' statement said the scattered walkouts are in support of legal demands for an 11-cent, cost-of-living pay hike already due under the old contract and that the Teamsters national bargaining committee "has not called a strike."

Fitzsimmons said employers are attempting to represent the 11-cent pay boost—which he said was due April 1 under the old contract—as part of the package offer on a new contract.

38 STRIKES

Gordon said 38 strikes had occurred since the old contract expired eight days ago, and called them an effort to "whip-saw and fragment" the industry's national bargaining group.

Union and industry negotiators, resuming talks with chief federal mediator William E. Simkin, still were far apart on contract issues.

Trucking Employers, Inc., said it had offered a total package of wages, fringe benefits, and cost-of-living pay hikes of 62 cents over a three-year contract, compared with Teamsters demands of more than 90 cents an hour.

TRAIN THREAT

The trucking crisis overshadowed for the moment a similar major shutdown threatening most of the nation's major railroads next week. Six shop-craft unions representing some 130,000 men have called a strike for midweek.

Staff Is The Hub Of Chamber's Work

The telephone rings . . . a committee meeting is about to begin . . . there is an industrial prospect to be contacted in another state . . . someone walks in asking for a street guide . . . all of these things might be going on at the same time in one of the busiest offices in Big Spring—the Chamber of Commerce.

Despite a tremendous volume of work, the Chamber of Commerce has only three members on the professional staff: Carroll Davidson, manager, who came here in 1961; Miss Edith Gay, who first joined the staff in 1937; and Mrs. Ann Belew, who has been in the office 2 1/2 years.

The staff members are quick to credit the Chamber's success and progress to the hundreds of volunteers who serve on committees that get things done. Certainly this is the meaning behind the phrase — "It takes two, the Chamber and you."

But Chamber of Commerce committees require lots of help and guidance, background and research, secretarial help and professional expertise — all these and more comes from the professionals. In short, these are the people that make the whole thing go.

Davidson manages the chamber through the directives and policies as established by the board of directors, elected annually by the membership.

He assists in developing a "program of work" after suggestions are submitted by the membership. "We are in the business of complete community development," as he pointed out, emphasizing the word "complete." "Things can be accomplished by organized group participation that could not be done by individuals working independently," he explained. "Residents participate in the program because they feel they benefit as the community benefits, even if only in having a better place in which to live, work, and raise a family."

Davidson spends much of his time in member contact, helping sell the Chamber's over-all program as well as lending a hand where it might be needed in some special project. In particular, he has worked extensively in making industrial contacts and working with committee members in furnishing adequate statistics and information, and tracking down all possible leads.

"We try to keep in mind first, what is best for our community," he said, "and in working with all segments of our community, we try to present a true and accurate picture to all concerned."

The daily demand on the office staff for service or information is all but overwhelming.

As most questioners don't like to wait for information, the staff tries to keep as accurate a file as possible, to give immediate answers.

Miss Gay, who can remember practically everything that's happened in her long tenure, usually gets the bulk of such questions. In addition, she keeps track of all files and records, edits and publishes the monthly "Progress" report; compiles an annual list of local organizations and clubs, complete with officers and telephone numbers; makes monthly reports from all accounts, minutes, resume of committee activities for board members; attends all committee meetings, and keeps the minutes; makes news releases for special activities as well as the rodeo, parade, queens' contest; handles details for the annual Student Government Day; keeps a calendar of community events; etc.

The Chamber does not use form letters, as few people ask for the same information and no form letter has been devised that could quite handle all the various queries that are received.

Mrs. Belew provides the pleasant voice that answers when the Chamber's number AM 3-7641 rings.

In addition, she handles the mail and bank deposits, and sends out the myriad of notices necessary each day. She handles general inquiries, as well as statistical questions from firms and new families to the city. For the latter, she maintains a card file of available housing. Vacationers contact her for maps of other areas, and there is a complete library of city directories of other cities, which she superintends.

These are but the highlights, but give some idea of the scope of the "hub" of the Chamber of Commerce—one of the busiest offices in town—working for complete community development.

Oil Writer's Award Will Honor Frank Kelley

The name of a memorable personality—the late Frank Kelley—will bring honor to one of the nation's oil writers. The American Association of Petroleum Landmen notified the U.S. and Canadian daily newspapers Saturday that they are seeking the oil writer who excels in reporting oil and gas industry information to the public. The writer of the winning article will receive the organization's Frank Kelley Memorial Award and a cash award. The newspaper that published the material will receive a plaque with a medallion carrying the bust of Kelley.

American Association of Petroleum Landmen is an organization of 3,800 men who secure and trade in rights to oil, gas, and other mineral interests.

Kelley, himself a petroleum landman, was a legend during his own life. He worked out of Colorado City, representing Mobil Oil Company and its predecessor, Magnolia. The accomplishments of his life are legendary. He represented his company during the opening of the oil frontier in the fabulous Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico. The great Kelley Snyder Field was named in his honor.

He was a civic leader, and a leader in the fields of water conservation, farming, education, thoroughbred horses, and international relations.

The winning writer and newspaper will be announced at the association's annual meeting in New Orleans, La., during June.

Moisture Short In West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—It is difficult to find any sizable areas in Texas with moisture for normal spring farming operations. Only spots in northern, northeastern, east and upper Gulf Coast counties are reporting improved conditions, said John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

All other sections, he added, are operating from showers to showers except in the irrigated areas. The continuing high winds and temperatures are not helping the situation.

Much improvement in pastures was noted in the areas where rainfall has been most generous, the director said. Small grain prospects continue to hinge on immediate and soaking moisture. Ranges are showing little or no green growth in the drier sections and grazing continues to be short, Hutchison said.

BUG DAMAGE

The planting of spring crops continued active in the spots where germinating moisture is available. Good stands of corn, grain sorghum and cotton are being reported from the more favored areas but planting is being delayed in many counties due to the lack of moisture.

Moisture over the Panhandle district is extremely short and dryland wheat is in poor condition. Greenbug damage was reported from 12 counties. Ranges have not greened.

South Plains soil moisture generally is short and preplant irrigation is continuing. Spotted showers hit the southeast part of the district. Irrigated wheat is making normal growth but dryland wheat has been hurt by the drought. Early potatoes are emerging and onions are being planted. Pastures and ranges are below average and labor is short.

RANGES GREENING

Some Rolling Plains counties have received from a half-inch to two inches of rain but moisture is still very short. Small grain was rated as poor to fair with some greenbug and winter grain mite damage being reported. Some land is being prepared for planting.

Recent showers improved the small grain outlook in North Central Texas a great deal. Considerable corn and grain sorghum are up to a stand and farmers are busy completing spring planting. Pastures and ranges are greening.

Pastures are now furnishing adequate feed for livestock in Northeast Texas and very little supplemental feeding is required. Good stands of corn and grain sorghum are being reported, but seed germination was described as slow. Tomatoes are going to the field.

LABOR IS SHORT

General rains are needed in far West Texas to get range grasses going. Irrigated alfalfa, small grains and vegetables are making good growth and cotton planting is under way. Farm and Small grains are making limited growth in spots where rains have fallen and may provide some light grazing but moisture is short to very short throughout West Central Texas. Some land is being prepared for cotton and grain sorghum planting but most farmers are waiting more moisture. Ranges are showing some green in the showers areas but dry winds are retarding growth. Old grass is short and feeding is continuing. Although feed costs have been the highest in years, there is no big movement of cattle despite the continuing dry weather.

URGENT NEED

All counties in Central Texas are in urgent need of moisture, and wheat and oat yields on the remaining acreage will be short. About 20 per cent of the cotton has been planted in Williamson County with lesser amounts in Milam and Falls to none in other counties. The planted acreages of corn and grain sorghum ranges from none to 90 per cent. The peach set looks good but farm activity was described as slow.

Moisture in East Texas ranges from short to adequate and pastures are improving. Recent showers were not enough to help corn planting now estimated at 70 per cent complete. Grain sorghum is being planted in the western counties. Oats are furnishing some grazing.

VERY DRY

Eleven of the 19 counties in the Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast district are short on moisture but it is adequate in the other eight. Cotton, corn, grain sorghum and rice are being planted and general rains are needed on these crops. Wheat is being grown for the first time in Orange County and now is heading.

Except in spots, the moisture shortage in South Central Texas is critical and crop planting is being held up. Hay is in short supply and ranges are in poor condition. Strawberries, onions and carrots are being harvested.

Moisture in South Texas ranges from short to very short; however, scattered showers in the Winter Garden area did relieve the drought in spots. Oats and wheat are heading and flax prospects are not good due to the dry weather. Practically 100 per cent of the cotton and grain sorghum is planted and up to good stands. Harvesting of cabbage, carrots and onions is continuing. Ranges are very dry.

Catching Dogs Can Be Hectic

By ROBERT SETTLES

It would seem the busiest way to make a living in Big Spring would be to become — an animal warden?

In the last year, Bob Baker, city animal warden, has averaged almost 10 pick-ups a day of stray dogs — both dead and alive — and only a small number of these were redeemed by their owners. The rest were destroyed.

In addition, he averages about four or five cats — either dead or alive — a day, of which the majority is destroyed.

During 1966, there were 3,206 dogs and cats picked up, including 1,521 live dogs and 604 dead dogs, 676 live cats and 465 dead ones.

In February, an average of seven animals were picked up each day compiling a figure a little over 100 for that month.

"It's all unnecessary," Baker said. "We've got to do something about it."

Baker works five days weekly starting at 8 a.m. and many times keeps overtime hours. With the inconvenience of having only one truck added to the fact that the number of pens for dogs in the city barn is limited, he usually finds himself in a mass of problems — and dogs.

When Baker picks up a dog, the animal is put into the pound. If after 72 hours no one claims the animal, anyone who wishes to have the dog may claim it. Otherwise, the dog is disposed of in a gas chamber, according to animal society standards.

"The biggest violation committed concerning dogs is letting them run loose," Baker said. "I receive many calls concerning stray dogs in people's yards and flower gardens," he pointed out.

He urged residents to know the regulations concerning keeping dogs in the city limits.

"Dog owners should know there is a license fee of $1 per year," Baker said. "All dogs should be vaccinated against rabies, and should not be allowed to run at large within the city limits," he said.

Foreign Oil Deals Losing Their Glitter

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — United States oil companies still are pouring more than $2 billion a year into foreign operations but the ventures seem to be losing part of their glitter.

The rates of return on such investments have slumped sharply as many foreign countries claimed larger slices of the profits.

Gulf Oil Corp. officials noted in their annual report to stockholders that U.S. operations accounted for 70.9 per cent of Gulf's net earnings, compared to only 38.4 per cent just 10 years ago.

TAXES JUMP

Stockholders of the Atlantic Richfield Co. were told there are still good business reasons why foreign explorations continue to make sense but that overseas investments are not as attractive as they were a decade ago.

"The trend toward nationalism and short-sighted policies of the governments of producing countries are whittling away the necessary financial incentives for long-term growth," Atlantic Richfield's annual report to stockholders said.

"Taxes and royalties have been raised to the point where diminishing oil company profits make foreign investment less appealing."

30 PER CENT DIP

A Chase Manhattan Bank survey of 29 oil companies indicates the average rate of return on invested capital abroad has declined from 30 per cent in 1955 to 12.5 per cent in 1965.

"By contrast, domestic returns for the group in 1965 were 11.3 per cent," Atlantic Richfield commented. "A one per cent spread as insurance to cover the extra risks of foreign investment is hardly adequate."

Atlantic Richfield officials say there is no sign of improvement abroad.

"Last year a French company reached agreement on a development concession with the Iranian government whereby over 90 per cent of the profits are retained by Iran," the annual report said. "In 1965 the Venezuelan government collected about $1.1 billion in oil taxes and royalties, compared with a net income for the companies concerned of only about $590 million. New income taxes proposed by Venezuela would boost its total take by about $200 million. United States oil companies are now paying all producing countries twice the royalties and taxes they paid 10 years ago."

GULF REPORT

The $2.2 billion invested last year by U.S. firms might well have been much higher, the Atlantic Richfield report said, if the producing countries had been more receptive to oil company profit requirements.

"However, if the trend to higher taxes and royalties continue unchecked, there is bound to come a time when the still remaining advantages of exploring abroad will vanish altogether," the report said.

Gulf officials observed that in the past 10 years the company has followed a long-range domestic program involving an aggressive search for new reserves, refinery modernization to increase yields, expanded chemical facilities, and the reduction of the unit costs of products.

"The results of these efforts are reflected in the fact that at the 1966 level of $356 million, net earnings from U.S. operations are $18 million more than the total from world-wide operations in 1962," Gulf's annual report to stockholders said.

Vocational Pupils Honor Bosses At Annual Event

Approximately 100 students in cooperative vocational training had three score employers, school administrators, instructors and others as guests at the annual joint vocational dinner at Big Spring Country Club Friday evening.

Billy Jones, speaking for the coordinators, said that the program designed to develop basic skills so that graduating students could enter the labor market with salable talents. He praised employers for supplying training stations and teaching young people the "how" of occupations and jobs. The schools, he said, tried to supply the "why."

The program has been going on here for 31 years, the largest continuous operation in the state. It has been broadened from one to three separate programs—vocational office, industrial cooperative training, and distributive education.

Mike Kelly presided over the affair and welcomed guests. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Keith Swim, Billy Jones and George Rice by their students.

Entertainment was furnished by Sally Townes and Helen Denton; by Richard Green and Charles Baird; and by the Ti-Juana Brass.

Representing the schools were Grant Boardman, member of the board of trustees, and S. M. Anderson, superintendent. Jack Alexander, trustee-elect, was a guest, as were Ed Shive and Floyd Pinnell, area supervisors for the TEA.

Atom Blast To Test Site

EL PASO — Information gained from the first test hole at the Project Gasbuggy site east of Farmington, N. M., has confirmed the suitability of the site for an underground nuclear detonation intended to stimulate natural gas production, project officials announced.

Project Gasbuggy is a joint industry-government experiment to determine if an underground nuclear explosion can stimulate production of natural gas from a tight geologic formation. The project calls for a 20-kiloton nuclear explosion 4,200 feet underground, in late 1967. The experiment is a cooperative venture of the AEC, El Paso Natural Gas Company, and the Department of Interior.

The site is in a remote area of northwestern New Mexico, about 55 air miles east of Farmington. It is in Rio Arriba County, in the Southwest Quarter of Section 36, Township 29 North, Range 4 West.

A second pre-detonation test hole is to be drilled by El Paso Natural to provide additional information concerning the reservoir characteristics at the site.

Both pre-detonation holes will be tested for gas producing capabilities for purposes of comparison with production from the Pictured Cliffs formation after nuclear stimulation.

Sex Is Flaunted As Never Before

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Stockholm hasn't experienced war in almost 160 years, but at first glance you'd think this vibrant capital of the north must have come under bomber attack.

Great holes gaped toward the sky, huge areas stand leveled or with buildings partly demolished. Many a graceful old building has vanished. You definitely get a boom-town feeling. Outwardly at least, change is on all sides.

It strikes you with the rhythmic clang of the pile drivers sinking steel shafts for the structures of the future and for the tunnels and overhead roads which will speed traffic in the new Stockholm.

Twenty-five years ago the streets were piled high with cordwood to heat homes cut off from normal coal and oil supplies. Hot water was a luxury once a week. Bicycles and ancient cars fueled by wood gas generators pattered along the roadways.

MORE UNWASHED

Today there's an automobile for every four Swedes and the air throbs with traffic.

The old-fashioned heart of the city around the Hay Market with its quaint up-and-down streets has given way to a new skyscraper center beckoning to the future. But in the sprawling central underground station and shopping center, you momentarily have the feeling of having slipped back to another age.

There youths gather with hair longer, dress more eccentric and appearance more unwashed and unkempt than this correspondent has experienced in any other European capital, London included.

GANGS GATHER

By reputation it's in the subways where youngsters meet narcotic pushers, where gangsters to think up some devilry in an effort to avoid boredom, where the provoc — agitators get steamed up and organize demonstrations against anything, but particularly against America's role in Vietnam.

Prohibition is long past but Swedes are being encouraged to drink more wine instead of spirits, such as aquavit. Drunkenness once was a main target of the Swedish press. Today papers devote columns to the spread of drug addiction, especially among the youth.

GREAT LEVELERS

Over the years, education, taxes and the gradual unfolding of the welfare state have operated as great levelers.

The Socialist way of thinking became imbedded since the Labor government first took office 37 years ago.

And Swedes have fallen more and more under the influence of the American supermarket. Self-service is becoming the thing.

Vending machines at bus stops and on street walls offer contraceptive devices.

Sex is flaunted as never before on all sides and in the mass media and yet there are limits — a male strip-tease act and the use of a four-letter word on television caused a storm among viewers.

PRESSURE

What's happening to the Swede's reputation for stiff, cold formality?

"Intellectuals, leftists and small fringe pressure groups feel they have to find causes these days," says one knowledgeable Swede. "In a way, I suppose, it's a form of purification. A reaction to the days of 25 years ago when Sweden stood on the sidelines."

"Meantime, we've grown plush with material comforts of all kinds and there may be a tinge of conscience about the neutral part we played in the last war. These people, for instance, feel Sweden should be doing more about the underdeveloped countries. We're probably at the bottom of the list there except for humanitarian work."

FLAG FIRES

"They seem to feel that Sweden should react to American participation in the Vietnam conflict although they know nothing about war. They feel they have to react against (Francisco) Franco in Spain, (Antonio de Oliveira) Salazar in Portugal with its colonies, against the apartheid policy of South Africa."

"So you have the protest meetings, the burning of the American flag, the smashing of windows in the American Embassy, demonstrations against an official Portuguese delegation. I don't believe this is the real Sweden."

NEW BUILDING GOING UP
Center houses offices, laboratory

Construction Begun On New Optometric Facility

Martin County led the pack of eight immediate area counties during March in new oil potential, reporting 932.86 barrels of new production from six well completions.

The total for the eight counties was 1,974.06 barrels, from 25 well completions. Borden and Garza counties had no completions during the month.

Three wildcats were completed in the area during the month, one in Howard County and two in Martin County.

The Martin discoveries both found the Spraberry - Mallard No. 1 Breedlove finished for 33 barrels per day and James Brown No. 1-A Block 7 University finished for 118 barrels per day. In Howard County, Midland No. 1 Baldwin found an unidentified zone for a 52 daily barrel potential.

Also during March, there were 51 new locations staked, and eight holes were plugged and abandoned.

For the first three months of the year, the area has reported new potential of 7,370.91 barrels per day from 72 completed wells, including wildcats.

Martin County leads the field with 1,726.66 barrels, followed by Howard County with 1,609.16. Martin had 11 completed wells and Howard had 27.

There were 115 new wells located, with Howard leading with 32 and Dawson next with 21. A total of 31 wells were plugged and abandoned, Sterling leading the area with seven.

The most prolific area field is the Howard - Glasscock pool, straddling the county line of these two counties. It accounted for 1,143.16 barrels per day in new potential during the first three months of 1967.

Eight wildcats were finished during this period, bringing in new potential of 759.73 barrels per day.

Construction has started on the Optometric Center, Seventh and Johnson which will be the future office of Dr. Marshall Cauley and Dr. Harold Smith. Tentative opening date of the new facility is Aug. 1.

Contract was awarded last week to Robert Heinze on a bid of $25,580. Gary and Hohertz are the architects. The optometrists, currently located in College Park Center, said that their operations required larger floor space.

Exterior of the building will be Spanish style face brick with rough sawed cedar trim. The plant will be landscaped with retaining walls, trees, shrubs, exterior lighting. The interior will have walnut panels, carpeting and finished in a Spanish motif.

The office layout will consist of a reception area, booking space, frame dispensing center, contact lens fitting area, lens laboratory, two visual analysis rooms, visual fields testing area, two consultation offices, and children's developmental examining and training rooms.

Zales Opens 84 Stores In Year

Zale Corporation, Dallas, ended its fiscal year on March 31 with nearly twice as many retail outlets as it had just three years ago, according to Ben A. Lipsy, president of the Dallas-based chain of jewelry stores, drug stores, and junior department stores.

"We opened an all-time record of 84 new stores during our fiscal year," Lipsy added. "Along with the 114 stores we acquired in the Levine merger in our grand total of retail outlets to 674 compared with 346 on March 31, 1964. We currently have 72 units scheduled for opening during the rest of calendar 1967, including one in Puerto Rico."

While financial data for the fiscal year just ended are not yet available, Lipsy said that business during the final quarter was just about what the company had expected. Annual sales in the neighborhood of $200 million will be attained, he said. Sales for the nine months ended Dec. 31 were $171,112,949 and net profits were $9,762,664.

Chaplain Hitt Is Barracks Speaker

Chaplain C. O. Hitt of the Veterans Administration Hospital addressed the meeting of the Veterans of World War I barracks Thursday on the 50th anniversary of the great war.

Chaplain Hitt's talk was based on the declaration of war on April 6, 1917, on Kaiser Wilhelm's Germany. A quartet from the North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church favored with several numbers. Ninety-six members and guests attended the affair, including R. M. Crabtree, Plainview, district commander, and Mrs. Crabtree, as well as F. W. Mongford, Colorado City, and two couples from Andrews.

Title Races Change Hands

DENVER — The national lead in two of pro rodeo's 1967 title races changed hands last weekend, said the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Myrtle Dightman, 32, a Negro cowboy from Houston, forged to the front in bull riding competition, and Clyde Vamvoras, 25, Burkburnett, Tex., shoved Oregon's Larry Mahan from the driver's seat in bareback bronc riding.

Dightman, a seven-year veteran who was eighth for the bull riding championship last season, pushed his prize money total to $7,651 during a rodeo in Edmond, Okla.

In so doing, Dightman became the first cowboy of his race to challenge for a national rodeo title since accurate records were started in 1929.

Vamvoras also found the winner's circle at Edmond, pocketing $931 to boost his total to $5,440, and step $358 ahead of Mahan.

Mahan, however, pocketed $1,203 during the week and widened his all-around lead with $15,457 to John W. Jones, San Luis Obispo, Calif., $11,572. Other event leaders are:

Saddle broncs — Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., $8,070, and Marty Wood, Bowness, Ala., $6,645; bareback bronc — Vamvoras $5,440 and Mahan $5,082; bull riding — Dightman $7,651, and Bill Stanton, Ambory, Wash., $7,649; calf roping — Jim Bob Altizer, Del Rio, Tex., $9,166, and Glen Franklin, House, N.M., $7,551; steer wrestling — John W. Jones, San Luis Obispo, Calif., $10,878, and Allen Keller, Olathe, Colo., $9,136.

PARKINSON'S DISEASE IS NOT HEREDITARY

About one out of every one hundred people is affected by Parkinsonism. Because the chief cause is believed to be a decrease in the blood supply to the brain, a result of hardening of the arteries, their numbers will increase as people learn how to live longer.

Early symptoms are a tremor of one hand. Hand and foot movements slow up. Writing is more difficult. The mind is not affected. We have several different relaxant drugs which require a prescription. Early diagnosis and treatment is often effective in preventing more serious symptoms. But a physician must be consulted soon and regularly.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

LBJ Speaks To VA Group

The visit of Big Spring's VA Hospital director, Donald D. Van Meter and Mrs. Van Meter, to the Rose Garden of the White House to hear President Johnson praise VA activities while calling for further improvement was the highlight of a three-day visit to Washington, D. C.

The President reminded Van Meter and other VA managers and directors from around the nation that "We live in a world that is filled with doubts" and asked that doubtful cases be resolved in favor of the men who have "borne the battle." "The bigger the government," the President said, "the more urgent is the need to keep that government and government services personal."

"The April 3-5 Administrator's Conference of VA Managers and Directors, attended by some 240 VA executives and their wives, covered the broad spectrum of VA activities. The group was welcomed by William J. Driver, administrator of Veterans Affairs, and VA Deputy Administrator C. F. Brickfield. Various other top-level VA executives participated in the sessions. Special meetings were held for VA's three major departments — Medicine and Surgery, Veterans Benefits, and Data Management — so that the VA visitors could attend and participate in sessions that related directly to their job.

Medders' High Living Still Big Mystery

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Creditors found themselves Saturday no closer than before in untangling the affairs of Ernest Medders and his wife, although they spent hours in trying for details about the high-speed actions of the rancher.

Medders, in a lengthy session on the witness stand Friday, said again that he never knew what he was signing when he placed his signature on notes and checks. He testified that he cannot read and his writing is limited to his name.

The Medders entertained leading politicians and others at expensive parties at their Colonial Acres Farm, center of their 1,400-acre ranch.

IGNORANCE PLEA They came to Texas from Tennessee in 1960 and started their ranching operations on borrowed money.

When questioning lawyers sought details of his transactions, Medders pleaded ignorance or fell back on his inability to read or write.

The Medders' lawyer, Jack Gray of Denton, at one point in the questioning, interjected, "I suggest you ask Mrs. Medders."

The wife was not in court. Dr. David Wells said she is suffering from "depressive reaction," cries a great deal and often "feels that life is not worth living."

The doctor told Joe Huffstutler of Tyler, who conducted the hearing as bankruptcy referee, that he would advise him when Mrs. Medders was well enough to testify.

SPINDLETOP The referee continued the hearing until May 17, a date which he said he hopes will find Mrs. Medders able to answer questions.

Medders said that he told some of the creditors that he had been informed he was to inherit a fortune from Texas' famed Spindletop Oil Field and that he still believes the supposed inheritance will result in his obtaining money. The Spindletop case is decades old, has involved hundreds of claimants, and appears a dead issue.

The rancher said the Roman Catholic order of the Poor Sisters of St. Francis, loaned him "probably $1 million" in many payments of as much as $60,000 monthly. None, he said, has been repaid.

Three Flips Kill Dallas Teenager

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP)—Jacqueta K. Coleman, who would have been 17 Sunday, died Saturday when a small car overturned three times five miles north of Hillsboro on Interstate 35. She resided in Dallas.

Injured and requiring surgery was a companion, Silva Jean Fivash, 17, also of Dallas. The accident occurred at 10:20 a.m. The car was traveling south.

Texas Oil Dean O'Donohoe Dies

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—John F. O'Donohoe, 81, who brought in the first gusher in this oil-rich North Texas area, died Friday.

O'Donohoe was a scout for J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. in 1910 when the gusher came in. Later he became the dean of independent oil operators in North Texas.

Services were held Saturday at the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church. His widow; a son, Jack O'Donohoe of Wichita Falls, and three grandchildren, survive.

Who Needs It?

An estimated $45 million doesn't mean a thing if your motorcycle's not running right is the attitude of A. B. (Bucky) Wharton III. Bucky, 19, named heir this week to the Waggoner estate by Texas courts, worked on his machine Saturday after returning home at Albuquerque, N.M., from college in Mexico City. He said he left because he was being hounded for donations after his inheritance was announced. (AP WIREPHOTO)

$45 Million Heir Sweats Draft Call

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A 19-year-old youth tinkered with his motorcycle Saturday after discovering that inheriting a $45 million estate is going to present problems.

A. B. (Bucky) Wharton III returned to his Albuquerque home this week after leaving the University of the Americas in Mexico City "because all the publicity on my inheritance brought many requests for donations."

Wharton spoke with a newsman while doing his own repair work on the motorcycle.

"I don't even know for sure that I'll get the money," Wharton laughed.

"I'll probably go back to probate court and take several years before I'll know."

Texas court ruled last month that Wharton is the sole heir to the $45 million oil, cattle and land fortune in North Texas of Electra Waggoner Wharton, his grandmother.

He said he had received no information from the Mexican government of kidnap threats as had been reported by government sources in Mexico City earlier.

He said he was embarrassed by all the fuss raised about the inheritance. "I'm not thrilled," he said nonchalantly.

GIRL CALLS How about the future? Wharton says he would like to continue his pre-law studies at either the University of New Mexico or the University of Arizona but admits that he's "sweating out the draft."

His mother, Mrs. Larita Rohla, jokingly complains about having to pay Wharton $1.40 an hour to work in her machine shop now that the minimum wage has been increased. He used to get $1.25 an hour.

Wharton, a handsome blond, says old girl friends are showing new interest in him now that word of his inheritance is out. One called him long distance at 6:30 a.m. Saturday, he said.

Director Hails Inn Restoration

ROUND TOP, Tex. (AP)—Charles Van Ravenswaay, a Delaware museum director, praised Saturday the restoration of the Winedale Inn, a century-old symbol of German settlement in Texas.

The inn was dedicated Saturday as a museum.

Ravenswaay, director of the Henry Francis DuPont Winterthur Museum at Winterthur, Del., said the inn affords an opportunity "to study a neglected part of our national history, the contributions made by various ethnic groups to the richness of our modern culture."

"These buildings also remind us of the intangible contributions which these people made," Ravenswaay said. "The qualities of mind, of industry, their music and their religious beliefs which have strengthened and enriched our national character."

"From these first villages, in the wilderness, the sons and grandsons of the pioneers went forth as their ancestors had done from their homeland, to contribute to the vigor of our national growth."

"Perhaps the greatest lesson this national experience teaches us is that different races can live together in harmony. Here in Winedale is a tiny microcosm of that greater experiment."

Scotland Yard Probes Sabotage

Damage could delay completion of the plant for years, the newspaper said.

Dallas Dentists Nix College Bill

DALLAS (AP)—Growing dismay echoed through Texas Saturday over the plight of the venerable Baylor College of Dentistry here, whose very life was threatened gravely by hurried moves to establish a state dental college in Dallas.

Curiously the fountainhead of opposition to founding a second school in Dallas was in Dallas itself. There the dentists arrayed themselves in opposition to the proposal pushed by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, among others, before the legislature on the state College Coordinating Board.

HEARING MONDAY The Senate State Affairs Committee has a 2 p.m. hearing Monday in Austin on a bill establishing a University of Texas dental school in Dallas.

The immediate past president of the Texas Dental Association, Dr. L. M. Kennedy of Dallas, summed up the opposition thusly:

"The dentists of Texas recognize the need within a few years for another dental school. They are extremely anxious, though, that a multimillion dollar mistake not be made in selecting its location.

"History has shown that when there are two schools in one city, one or both of them suffer and one usually dominates the other."

TAXPAYERS ESCAPE "The goal of the new school is to produce approximately 100 well trained dentists per year. This Baylor presently does at no expense to the taxpayer."

Dr. Kennedy, in an interview, emphasized that the Baylor school does not cost taxpayers, whereas the initial cost of the state school would be $10 million to $15 million, with an added cost to taxpayers of $6 to $8 million a year.

With Baylor now charging $1,300 tuition, it would be next to impossible to compete with a state school charging $300.

"The cost of building the new school will be $10 million according to Mr. Frank Irwin, chairman of the University of Texas regents, or $15 million, according to Dallas Chamber of Commerce figures," Dr. Kennedy said.

BAYLOR GRADS "It will cost $6 million to $8 million per year of taxpayers' money to operate the new school. The real objection is that bring a tax-financed school to Dallas would most likely result in the closing of a proud and historic dental school which has never cost the taxpayers a dime, either for buildings or for operating budget.

"If Baylor closed, we would be exactly where we are now: Needing another school, and this, after millions of dollars of tax funds have been spent, plus the fact that a proud and traditional school had died an unnatural death."

Dr. Kennedy, who also is a past president of the Dallas County Dental Society, is one of the 2,900 alumni of the Baylor College of Dentistry. There are 3,400 practicing dentists in Texas. Many of the Baylor alumni have died or retired and many others practice outside the state.

Similar views about the inadvisability of having two dental schools in one city have been expressed recently by Dr. James P. Hollers of San Antonio, past president of both the American Dental Association and the Texas Dental Association. Other leaders in the profession have voiced strong opposition to dual schools in one city.

The board of the Texas Dental Association has unanimously opposed the establishment of a Dental Branch of the University of Texas in Dallas.

The Dallas County Dental Society, by a whopping vote of 109 to 18, has gone on record as opposing another dental school in Dallas.

As one dental leader, who asked that his name not be used, put it:

"The Baylor College of Dentistry cannot possibly compete with the millions of tax dollars, state and federal, that would be put into a University of Texas Dental Branch in Dallas."

Dr. Kennedy objected to tactics in Austin in rushing through bills. He noted that Speaker Ben Barnes had even commented that the bill setting up a Dallas dental school "probably should not be on the consent (uncontested) calendar."

"There is a strong feeling that the unwarranted haste with which these bills have, and are being pushed through is a real hazard," Dr. Kennedy said. "There was not even an open hearing on the House bill."

"Last Wednesday the committee hearing on the Senate version was set next Monday at 2 p.m. This is only five days notice and there are no facts showing such urgency."

"There is a wealth of knowledge and experience that is available and has never been tapped in making this decision. The Texas Dental Association is very dedicated and is vitally interested in the finest dental education and dental service in Texas."

"We hope more time will be given to allow careful deliberation on this vital issue."

Eight More Texans Die In Vietnam

AUSTIN (AP)—At least eight Texans died in Vietnam last week, increasing Texas casualty figures to 576 for the war, the Texas adjutant general's office said Friday.

The department said figures compiled by the Pentagon since 1961 show 477 Texans killed in action and 99 others dead from nonhostile causes such as illness and accidents.

A casualty is listed from Texas as if his next of kin has a Texas address.

Diamondback Bite Changes Lecture

WAURIKA, Okla. (AP)—Snake-handling expert Bob Jennie was giving a lecture on reptile safety at a rattlesnake hunt Saturday when his model - a 3 1/2 foot diamondback - bit him on the hand.

He was discussing the snake's striking range at the time.

Not easily stopped by such things - he's been bitten 18 times by poisonous snakes - Jennie treated his wound and became his own demonstration model in a new lecture: How to treat snake bites.

THE WEEK

McAdams and George Zachariah were named to the city commission. In both instances, total votes probably set records, and Zachariah is the first commissioner to be returned to office after being out a term.

Big Spring was teeming with young people Saturday as the annual district interscholastic League events - both literary and track and field - were unraveled here. We hope our people went out of the way to be extra nice to our guests.

Stanton's city council last week gave its blessing to a contract negotiated with the Colorado River Municipal Water District. As soon as financial details are ironed out, the council will call an election for authorization, and probably for whatever bonds might be required. Anticipating this some two months ago, Cecil Bridges told Stanton people at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet that this would probably be the biggest decision Stanton would make this year - or in many years.

Most of us never do today what we can put off until tomorrow. Well, when "tomorrow" came week ago Saturday for car license tag purchases, the office of the tax collector-assessor was swamped. Some idea might be gained from the dollar volume for that last day - $113,740 (which compared with $81,983 for the entire month of February). Total receipts from vehicle registrations were $473,295, virtually the same as a year ago.

Jaycees put a success tag on the annual Rattlesnake Round-up with some 5,000 spectators turning out. A total of 103 hunters brought in 1,136 pounds of the ill-tempered, vile and venomous vipers. Sherman Smith won the main prize with 402 pounds of snakes; Bob Smith had the most rattlers, 18; Ray Fortson and Ray Dabney the heaviest, 66 inches. Now the Jaycees turn from the snake pit to the annual Miss Big Spring Pageant—from the slime to the sublime, you might say.

The City of Big Spring is reshaping part of its organizational structure, and as a result Loy H. (Bo) Anderson is moving into the new position of superintendent of utilities. Veteran departmental heads will continue as they have, but all will be in a coordinated department under a capable and congenial man.

The deadline falls after today on nominees for the second annual Herald - Zale Youth Achievement award. So far, over 30 young men and women have been nominated, a number of them by several different individuals. If you want to pat the good guys in the back, send in your nomination on the official form in today's paper.

Runnels Junior High pupils found out last week that you can't take fire drills for granted. Many thought they were going through another routine rehearsal (with maybe a touch of smoke for realism), but it turned out that there indeed was a fire. With perfect discipline, however, the building was emptied, and the fire in a restroom quickly extinguished.

One of our younger citizens was accorded a high honor last weekend. Bill Henry, son of Mrs. Mary C. Henry, was elected president of West Texas District No. 2 of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs.

A pair of Big Springers now in Texas Tech were pictured in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal during the week when they presented a copy of LaVentana, the Tech yearbook, to Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, to whom it is dedicated. They are Charlotte Shive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shive, and Nancy Heddlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Heddlow. The two are co-editors of the yearbook.

Favors Farm Program, Nixes Soviet Trade

To the Editor: I would like to comment on the column published in your newspaper on April 3.

I am not for vandalism in any form, but as to the comments this writer made on the farmers who instituted the buyers strike against manufactured goods, I would like to ask: "What do you think is happening to the dairy farmers and their milk?"

I think this situation is a case of the organized factories against the farmers. These poor farmers are just getting a taste of this enterprise bunk you are talking about in your letter. Think what would happen if farms were ever taken off the farm and ranch products controls.

As for Mr. Schuman (of the American Farm Bureau) winning anything for the farmers—you are wrong. He is trying to undo something that has taken more than 30 years to accomplish and which has been the salvation of the farmers and ranchers. They have had to have the help of our good government to survive. The success of the plan is a tribute to the fine men who help to make it work for the people of the land.

The plan has helped the consumer as much as it has helped the farmer by keeping prices down and still letting the farmer live. As for Mr. Schuman doing the farmers a big favor by taking the controls off, he should take a look at how the farmers vote every year to continue the controls. Farmers like me would deeply appreciate it if he would stop trying to help us so much.

Farmers work those 16 hours because we have to put in that much time to make a living. You have to have money to pay for the things we have to buy from the organized manufacturers—such as the motor cars, tractors and milking machines. Organized labor, high interest rates, tight money and all of the other modern trends keep our noses in the dirt.

As for Mr. Freeman and his program—it is the best one offered as yet for the rancher and farmer. And as for Mr. Schuman's free enterprise proposal why doesn't he look into the good old days of the late '20's and '30's? In those happy times a bale of cotton would bring $30 and a good cow $15 if you could find someone who had $15.

If Mr. Schuman wants this kind of enterprise, he can have all of it he wants; but I will take the good old farm and ranch control program every time.

I am a farmer and rancher. DORIS BLISSARD St. Lawrence Rt., Garden City

To the Editor: During the past few years, President Johnson has increased aid to the Soviet Union, including ball bearings, complex electrical equipment and computer systems. The President has justified his action by reminding us that the Soviets are good Communists, because they are not supporting aggression. The Red Chinese, however, are bad Communists, because they back the aggression in Vietnam.

But the U.S. News & World Report has reported that 75 per cent of the aid to Hanoi comes from the Russians. It would now seem that the Russians must be the bad Communists. But President Johnson is now going to increase our tax-supported aid to Russia through his East-West Trade bill. According to the New York Times he said:

"Where possible, we shall work with the East to build a lasting peace. We do not intend to let our differences in Vietnam or elsewhere ever prevent us from exploring all opportunities."

In other words, we will just ignore "our differences in Vietnam," such as Soviet aid killing American boys. I predict that if the Republicans nominate a constructive conservative in '68, such as (California governor) Reagan, Johnson and his liberals are going to have a lot of explaining to do, as to why our boys have to fight a no-win war against an enemy aided by the United States.

Marriage Staged In Giraffe House

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Camille Barbato of Providence, R.I., and Daniel Numrich of Huntington, W.Va., married in Baltimore's new giraffe house at Druid Hill Park Friday.

The bride and groom, both 22, are in Baltimore working with Volunteers in Service to America. Numrich said he and Camille had planned to marry under a tall tree in the park, but inclement weather drove the wedding party into the nearby giraffe shelter.

A Unitarian minister performed the ceremony.

W. H. (BILL) REED

Reed Named AMBUC Prexy

W. H. (Bill) Reed, who operates an insurance agency here, has been named president of the local chapter of the American Business Club.

He succeeds Morris Robertson and will serve for one year. Other officers selected in the election held recently by the club include Bill Bradford, first vice president; Leland Pierce, second vice president; Roger Brown, third vice president; V. A. Whittington, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Barris and Joe Ward, sergeants at arms; and Ken Olsen, concessions committee man.

Members of the new board of directors will be Morris R. Robertson, Dr. Bob Johnson and Charles Dunnam, Elmo Phillips, Jim Butler and Bob Hickson. At Friday's meeting of the club, held in the Settles Hotel, final plans were made for the ABC's Regional convention which gets under way here next Thursday.

Mrs. Jim Baum appeared before the group to speak on behalf of a record album she recently made and to play two numbers from that album.

She said the disc was being made available in area music stores. Friday was designated as "Big Hat Day" by the club and 14 members of that exclusive organization were present. Several had forgotten to wear their hats and were fined by the sergeants at arms.

Lloyd Rucker was a guest.

Film Stuntman To Get 'Oscar'

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'll go to the Oscars in a tuxedo, but I'll be damned if they'll get me in a set of tails."

This was the initial comment by Yakima Canutt upon learning that he was to be presented with a special Academy Award Monday night.

The citation to be read by Canutt's good friend Charlton Heston: "For creating the profession of stuntman as it exists today and for the development of many safety devices used by stuntmen everywhere."

BUFFS KNOW WHY
The average citizen might wonder why the prestigious academy would be rewarding a stuntman. Movie buffs know why. They recognize Yakima as a Western star of the 1920s, later a fearless, imaginative stuntman, and more recently the director of action sequences in such films as "Ben-Hur," and "El Cid."

Heston, who performed under Canutt's tutelage in the latter epics, has cited good reason for Yak's honor:

"In the old days stuntmen were a disorganized bunch who could take a chance on anything. A lot of them got killed that way. Yakima came along and reduced stunt work to a science. He could do greater stunts than anyone else because he developed ways of doing them safely."

Despite his concern over wearing tails at the Oscar ceremony, Canutt expressed pleasure at the honorary award.

"It's a pretty wonderful thing," he commented. "It shows that somebody pays attention to what's up there on the screen." He promised "the shortest speech in my life."

Still erect and firm-muscled at 71, Canutt is a man of action, not words. This has been true since his days as a rodeo star. His prowess as national champion attracted movie interests and he was enlisted as a Western performer.

"I was a pretty lousy actor," he admitted, "but I did star in 48 five-reelers that went pretty well."

TIME TO QUIT
When his starring career faded, he switched to heroics for name performers. Among his most memorable: Riding through burning Atlanta as Clark Gable in "Gone With the Wind," and halting the runaway team as John Wayne in "Stagecoach."

Pecan Budding Course Offered

All interested persons are invited to the annual pecan budding and grafting school at Cisco next Friday, according to DeMarquis Gordon, Eastland county agricultural agent.

The session scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. in the cafeteria at the Cisco Junior College will be devoted to lectures and demonstrations on how, when and where to bud and graft.

Besides the Extension Service the event is sponsored by the local chamber of commerce and the county pecan growers organization. A large crowd is expected.

Many requests on pecan propagation have come from women garden club members in the past. The event affords an opportunity to learn the basic fundamentals of pecan propagation free of charge.

Grass Fire Hits County Range

A grass fire swept over 20 to 30 acres of land 20 miles north of Big Spring Friday afternoon, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard. Standard said the land was owned by Davis and Wright. The city fire department answered the call and helped to extinguish the fire.

Police Chief, TV Station Named In Suit For Libel

Mary Thomas, joined by her husband, George T. Thomas, has filed a suit for libel against Jay Banks, chief of the Big Spring City Police Department; the Grayson Enterprises, operators of television station KWAB-TV; and Robert S. Galbraith Jr. and Ed Kissinger, both associated with the station. The petition, filed in the 118th District Court at 7:20 p.m. Friday evening, asks $100,000 in damages from the defendants—$50,000 actual and $50,000 exemplary.

The action is an aftermath to the recent city commissioner election, in which Mary Thomas was a candidate. In her campaign, she made use of a broadside which she relates she mailed to 3,500 persons and distributed some 500 others. The leaflet asked a number of questions concerning the city administration and referred to Banks.

After the election, the petition alleges, Banks prepared a statement which was read over KWAB-TV as well as on radio stations KBYG and KBST, which statement the plaintiff claims was libelous. She recites that the two radio stations gave her equal time to reply to the Banks statement but that she was refused such privilege by the television station.

Banks' statement, the petition alleges, libelled Mrs. Thomas and caused her damage. She specifically charges Banks referred to her as having made a "dirty smear attack" against him and other unnamed city officials.

While plaintiff says Banks in his statement never referred to her by name, that reference he allegedly made to her campaign leaflet made it evident she was the one referred to.

Tots Honor Henry Ford

DETROIT (AP)—The children stood solemnly in a line as their principal, Mark Stroebel, told them: "If it hadn't been for Mr. Ford, we wouldn't have the Greenfield Village schools."

Then Nancy Pine, a third-grader from the Greenfield Village schools, stepped forward and placed a bouquet of lilies of the valley, heather, chrysanthemums and ferns on the granite slab that marks the grave of Clara Ford.

Sixth-grader William Lawton put a bouquet just like it on the grave of Henry Ford. The events marked the 20th anniversary Friday of the death of Henry Ford, April 7, 1947.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Madstones Were Considered Cures For Snake, Dog Bites

By ED SYERS

It was 1885 when the great Louis Pasteur's inoculations ended the deadly, strangling terror of rabies. It's no wonder that few of us today know, as did great-granddad, the rare and marvelous 'madstone' — an old, old cure for snake venom or mad dog saliva.

Rummaging old curatives, a reader recently sent in a 1882 clipping where a Texas boy, dog-bitten, was rushed (by wagon) miles for madstone treatment. And what was a madstone? It was a rare, tumor-like growth — mostly in animals — somewhat like an oyster's pearl, and, to its believers, as valuable. Don't chuckle; here are some witnesses.

"A madstone," says Austin's Mrs. Arthur L. Carnahan, "refers to the idea that certain toads had a stone inside their heads." The stone could be used as antidote to poison.

Not just their heads, adds Fort Worth's Doyle Whitehead, nor just toads. His dad, years ago, took one from a cow's cud. And Ovalo's Marshall Jackson reports the finding, long ago, of a madstone in a white deer from Mary Whitley Clark's "Palo Pinto Story." Jackson extracts a rare madstone tale.

FORTUNE MADE

"B. C. Caraway, ranching near Morgan Mills (Erath Co.), lost a spotted milk cow suddenly; autopsy found two stones in her heart — about the size of two large butter beans, fastened together like an open shell.

"Caraway's family doctor told him his fortune was made (and later the doctor sold for $1,000 the stone the rancher gave him). But the Caraways just used the other, no charge, on neighbors to treat mad dog and rattlesnake bites." Succinctly adds this narrator, "it worked!"

Before the stone was applied to the wound, runs this account, it was soaked in warm sweet milk. If the stone adhered to the wound, it would draw a dark green substance. When all poison was gone, it would drop off. "Many smile at the use of madstones," concedes Jackson, "considering it superstition. The Caraway family wasn't superstitious."

The elder Caraway handed down this healing treasure (estate-valued at $800), finally to his grandson, a Weatherford banker, Walter L. Caraway.

How far back, madstone's use, seems lost in the mist of ancient medical lore.

But Shakespeare knew them, says Austin's Mrs. Carnahan, quoting 'As You Like It':

"Sweet are the uses of adversity . . . which, like the toad, ugly and venomous . . . wears yet a precious jewel in its head."

To be released early this month is a 2,000 mile, self-guided auto tour that showcases East Texas' scenic, recreational and historic attractions. You can sample all or any portion of the route's beauty, mapped and marked in the Chamber's East Texas Vacation Guide. Address inquiries to East Texas Chamber of Commerce, Longview.

From tourism-wise Truett Latimer, Texas State Historical director in Austin, comes word that Sherman plans an 'Old Settlers Village' — complete from red schoolhouse, blacksmith shop and bank, to jail, general store and an undershot water-wheel gristmill; and with Indian teepees on the village edge.

Latimer rightly notes that Sherman can lay just claim to pioneer gateway; its old Preston Crossing of the Red was one of our earliest gates to U.S. for southbound settlers and north-bound cattle drives.

Conductor Hoggard Asks Release From Contract

By WINNIE UNGER

Dr. Lara Hoggard, conductor of the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra and Chorale, has asked to be released from the last year of his contract. The move came as a surprise for his many friends and the directors of the symphony association who had offered him an unprecedented 10-year contract only last month.

Dr. Hoggard stated his reason for leaving is the mental and physical strain of running the West Texas musical groups. He has no other job at present, though he indicated he may return to a college professorship.

One concert remains in the 1966-67 calendar, April 24-25 when the orchestra, chorale and Texas Tech choir will perform the Verdi Requiem.

The new Texas Fine Arts Commission, headed by John Ben Shepherd of Odessa, was signed into law last week by Gov. John Connally. Perhaps this will bring new impetus to the cultural arts in West Texas, something badly needed, and a broader approach to educational programs for our region.

The New York Philharmonic, conducted by William Steinberg, will be heard at 3 p.m. Sunday over KFNE. On the program are Max Reger's "Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Mozart, Opus 132," and Tchaikovsky's "Manfred." This series of programs by the New York Philharmonic will end in mid-May, and because of lack of audible approval from you classics listeners, that may be the end of it.

Spring has brought profuse flowering of art shows in the region. A Texas Fine Arts Region 20 show opened in Lubbock this week, with a public reception 3-5 p.m. today for presentation of awards. The exhibit juried by Sam Smith, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, is on view at Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 College Ave., until April 19. Also on exhibit at the arts center are paintings and woodcuts by James Dean Howze, associate professor of art at Tech.

In Midland, the Museum of the Southwest has opened an exhibit on "Quilts and Coverlets" which include some 200 individually mounted quilt patches showing designs developed in colonial and pioneer days as well as more recent ones.

An antique loom made in a Scandinavian country 150 years ago, also is on display, with weaving demonstrations offered during guided tours. The exhibit will continue through May 14, when it will be replaced by the First Southwest Annual Art Exhibition sponsored jointly by the museum and the Midland Arts Association.

The Southwest exhibition is open to artists in western Texas and eastern New Mexico, with entries accepted from April 11-April 20. Richard Madigan, juror for the exhibit, will select the top three winners of $500 cash awards. A fee of $2 per entry will be collected, with drawings, paintings and graphics in all media accepted. The collection will be open to the public May 20-June 24.

Woody Gwyn, Midland, recently won one of the top awards and $500 in cash in the Gulf Coast art exhibit in Mobile, Ala. His winning entry was an acrylic painting called "Catwalk" depicting a West Texas oil field scene.

Locals Grab Two Firsts

By TOMMY HART

Abilene High lived up to all expectations in capturing first place in the District 2-AAAA track and field meet here Saturday with a total of 113 1/2 points.

Smashing victories in both relay events propelled the Eagles past struggling San Angelo in the scrap for the first place trophy. The Bobcats settled for second place with 104 points while surprising Odessa High was third with 88. Permian settled for fourth, with 63 points while Big Spring showed how far it has come since the first of the season by grabbing off fifth, with 36 points, and qualifying three boys for Regional.

Six records were set in the cinder show, including one by a Big Spring sophomore, Claude (Snake) Tucker, in a new event, the 330 - yard intermediate hurdles. Tucker negotiated the distance in a respectable 39.4.

Big Spring's other two qualifiers for Regional are Kirby Horton, who staged a mild upset by winning the discus throw with a heave of 155-11, and junior Joey Baker, second to Ronnie Green in the 120-yard high hurdles. Joey showed surprisingly good form and might have won it had he not had trouble with one barrier. Green was timed in 14.8.

Other marks fell in the sprint relay, mile relay, half-mile run, shot put and mile run.

Abilene High's 3-16.3 clocking in the mile relay was the second best time recorded in the state this year, bettered only by Spring Branch.

The Eagles also raced to a sizzling 41.9 timing in the sprint relay to beat the old mark by 3 of a second.

Mitch Robertson, Cooper, was off his feed in the discus throw but tossed the shot put a record 60-1 1/2 to beat one of the oldest records on the books. Emory Martindale of San Angelo had set the old record of 57-6 back in 1959.

Jimmy Whitley, Odessa, set another mark in the 880, at which time he was caught in 1:54.8.

Baltimore's defending world champions and the Pittsburgh Pirates are the solid favorites to win the major league pennants as the new season opens Monday and Tuesday after the greatest talent shuffle in many years.

Sandy Koufax has retired to the television booth and major trades have shunted Maury Wills to Pittsburgh, Roger Maris to St. Louis, Eddie Mathews to Houston, Dean Chance to Minnesota, Tommy Davis to the New York Mets and Ron Hunt to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Mickey Mantle has become the Yankee first baseman, Pete Rose has gone to the outfield for Cincinnati, Dick McAuliffe has shifted to second base at Detroit, Ron Swoboda is fooling around first for the Mets, and Mike Shannon is the Cards' third baseman.

Both the sports experts and the Las Vegas gamblers agree on the Orioles and the Pirates as the teams to meet in the World Series next October.

Three new managers make their bow in the American League—Mayo Smith at Detroit, Dick Williams at Boston and Joe Adcock at Cleveland. The season starts with a two-game program Monday, allowing Washington and Cincinnati to exercise their special privileges of getting a jump on the rest of the clubs. All of the other teams will swing into action Tuesday with eight games, four of them at night.

The opening schedule:

National League
Los Angeles at Cincinnati

Tuesday

Chicago at Boston
Detroit at California, night
Cleveland at Kansas City, night

Matson Dazzles In Two Events

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Randy Matson of Texas A&M three times threw the shot 70 feet or better Saturday in a triangular track meet with Texas Christian and Baylor.

Twice Matson threw 70 feet, 5 1/2 inches, just a fraction under his world record of 70-7 1/2. Once he threw an even 70 feet.

His other three throws in the series were 68-5, 68-7 1/2 and 69-5 1/2. It was by far his greatest one-meet series with the 16-pound shot.

SMU Wins, 1-0

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Southern Methodist pushed across an unearned run in the 10th inning to edge Texas Christian 1-0 in a Southwest Conference baseball game Saturday at Turnpike Stadium.

Aggies Succeed

HOUSTON (AP)—Pitcher Rocky Thompson sent a two-run homer over the centerfield fence in the seventh Saturday to break a 5-5 tie and power Texas A&M to an 8-6 victory over Rice.

Bears Defeated

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The University of Texas capitalized on four back-to-back home runs in the seventh to give the Longhorns an 11 to 7 victory over the Baylor Bears Saturday.

Hogan Trailing By Two Strokes

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Bert Yancey, Julius Boros and Bobby Nichols wound up in a tie at 211 in an exciting see-saw battle for first place but an astounding 66 by the immortal Ben Hogan, a ghost from the out of the past, provided the high drama Saturday in the third round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

The 54-year-old Hogan, wincing from the pain of an ailing shoulder and trudging along haltingly on legs shattered by a near-fatal automobile accident, reeled off six birdies in the space of nine holes in an astounding finish for a 54-hole score of 213.

He tied two Masters records and broke another with this brilliant late surge, but his greatest victory came in conquest of a bad case of putting jitters.

His 213 placed him in a tie with Gay Brewer, who blew the hole a year ago. Brewer, one of the hottest articles on the spring tour, had a par 72.

Stringbean George Archer,

Bobby Nichols

with an eagle at the 13th, followed at 214, shooting a par 72, and 22-year-old Tony Jacklin, the high school dropout from England, bogeyed the final hole to the Lionel Hebert at 215. Jacklin shot 74, Hebert 67.

Rugged old Julius Boros, 47, whose game seems to mellow with age, and Nichols, the strapping young pro from Louisville Ky., who won the PGA in 1964, both knocked in dramatic birdies on the final hole for matching 70s.

Yancey had a 71.

The exciting blanket finish and Hogan's rebound brilliance dimmed a temporary surge by popular Arnold Palmer, seeking his fifth title, in the fluctuating fortunes over the 6,980-yard, par 72 Augusta National course before a crowd of nearly 30,000 sweltering under 90-degree heat.

Palmer broke his birdie famine to go four under par through 16 holes. But he three-putted the 17th and hit his approach into a trap at the 18th for a 70 for 216.

He was tied there with Jacky Cupit, who shot 67, and Gary Player, the determined little master from Johannesburg, who shot a 72.

Hogan reeled off four birdies in a row around the treacherous and feared "Amen Corner," the 10th through the 13th, where the tournament often has been won and lost, missed an eagle on the 520-yard 15th by inches and climaxed his round with a 20-foot birdie putt on the final hole. He was given a standing and worshipful ovation by the thousands rimming the green.

Ben tipped his hat and his usually grim, granite-like face broke into a small grin.

Steers Outhit Permian Cats But Kayoed

Odessa Permian pierced the Big Spring armor in a variety of ways here Friday afternoon to win its first District 2-AAAA baseball game in four starts, 6-2.

The resident Longhorns outhit the visitors, 9-5, but three double plays nipped as many Big Spring rallies and the locals found other ways to surrender the initiative.

Permian struck for three runs with the help of only one hit in the opening round and Big Spring was never able to recover.

Kenny Karr, Larry Frymire and David Byerly crossed the plate in that round for the Black Cats.

Big Spring came back to tally in its part of the round when Jesse Zapata singled, stole second and zipped home on a one-batter off the bat of R. J. Engler.

Each team scored a run in the third, Bo McNurien counting for the guests and Junior Mendoza for the Longhorns.

Byerly accounted for the final two Permian runs, scooting home in the fifth on Mike Allen's single and again in the seventh after reaching base on a bobble—he took a third strike but gained a life when the ball got through catcher Mendoza. A passed ball moved him to second, after which Bo McNurien brought him home with a single.

Jerry Ryan pitched very well for Big Spring, fanning 11. The Steers, who have now lost three in a row and are 9-4 for the year, return to play against Midland High on the road Tuesday.

Gary Don Newsom, Dean Gilstrap and Mendoza each had two blows for Big Spring while Byerly and Allen each hit safely twice for Permian. There wasn't an extra base hit in the contest.

Cook And New Claim Crown

Pete Cook and Roy New came back from an early defeat to win the Class A Handball Doubles championship at the local YMCA Saturday.

Cook handed the defending champions, Don Farley and Tito Arencibia, their first defeat in the double elimination meet, 21-19, 13-21, 21-5, then came back to the same combination, 21-14, 21-20, with all the blue chips showing.

In the finals of Class B Doubles, Roberts and Mims turned back Moren and Pozlowski, 21-19, 21-9.

The four teams reaching the finals in the two divisions earned trophies.

Montreal Winner In Stanley Cup

MONTREAL (AP) — Third-period goals by tough John Ferguson and elusive Ralph Backstrom carried Montreal's torrid Canadiens to a 3-1 victory over the New York Rangers Saturday with a 2-0 lead in the National Hockey League semifinal playoff series.

Ferguson, the NHL's penalty king, cracked a 1-1 tie with a power-play goal at 7:46 of the final period and Backstrom, who had scored twice in Montreal's 6-4 first-game victory Thursday night, added an insurance tally with 6½ minutes to play.

Closing Of Track Costly To State

Stephanie Webber of Odessa Permian outlasted Lindi Russell of Abilene Cooper, 6-love, 6-love, in Girls Singles action.

It was Midland all the way in Girls Doubles action as Midland Lee's Bonnie Browne and Becky Sheppard defeated Midland High's June Jarrett and Chris Sigmon, 6-2 and 6-0.

Big Spring Steers Win Region Spot

Big Spring's youthful golf team won the right to take part in Regional competition by finishing second to champion Odessa Permian as five 18-hole rounds of competition wound up at the Country Club here Friday.

Permian achieved a four-man score for the 90 holes of activity of 1525, shooting a 303 the final day.

Big Spring yielded some of the spotlight to onrushing Abilene Cooper by finishing one stroke off the Cougars' pace for the day with a 305 but over the 90 holes beat Cooper by 12 shots. The Steers finished at 1541.

Cooper's great rush enabled it to finish one stroke ahead of fading San Angelo, at 1553, in the scramble for third place.

Only the first two teams in the final standings rate the trip to the Regional and consistent shooting by Ronnie Broadrick, Ken Chaddi, Mike Weaver and Randy Nicholson enabled the Steers to maintain the momentum they needed to clear district.

Also earning a trip to the Regional was medalist Dwayne McNabb of Odessa High School, with a 54-hole score of 74-71-73-218. (Under district rules, a player uses his three best rounds in the five phases of competition to gain consideration for medalist laurels.)

Pat Campbell, Odessa Permian, was runnerup for the medalist laurel but only after beating Broadrick and Midland Lee's Bill Baker on the first extra hole with a par four, Campbell, Broadrick and Baker had all finished their best 54 holes with 220's.

Campbell put together rounds of 72-72-76. Broadrick's tallies were 73-73-74. Baker registered 76-76-77.

McNabb won both a trophy and a medal for his feats. Members of the Permian club got gold medals while the team earned a trophy.

The Steers received for silver medals while the Cooper gang got bronze medals.

SAYS GILES

Seven Teams Eye National Flag

By WARREN C. GILES
President, National League

CINCINNATI (AP) — Every year at this time, I am asked to voice my opinion as to what fans of "the national pastime" might expect from the National League during the season which lies ahead.

During recent years I have voiced unbounded optimism, predicting without the slightest hesitation that "this will be one of the greatest seasons in the National League's illustrious history." And our clubs and players have not let me down. We have seen a series of thrilling and exciting seasons almost too good to be true.

Each season has produced some new and varied form of excitement with pennant races which have gone down to the final week and, in many instances, to the final weekend of the season.

Now I can honestly say, that never in my 31 years in the league—and specifically the 16 years it has been my privilege to serve as president—have I seen as much justified optimism as I observed during the recent training season.

As many as seven clubs sincerely feel they have "a shot" at winning the pennant. I heard the same sentiment expressed by others who were on the scene — baseball writers and broadcasters, umpires, club officials and other neutral observers.

Let's start with the three teams which battled down to the final two days last year—The Dodgers, Giants and Pirates. We label them contenders automatically.

Others I heard labeled as clubs which have a chance to go all the way are Atlanta, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Cincinnati. Each of those four clubs has its question marks, but if some or all of them jell, there is no reason why any one of them could not go all the way.

Remember, the world champion Cardinals of 1964 finished seventh in 1965 and during a similar two years the Dodgers jumped from sixth to first. That's why our slogan is so authentic — "Anything can happen in the National League and usually does."

With this in mind, seven clubs are going into the 1967 season with an eye on the championship.

While I don't like to go on record as ruling out any club, the Astros, Mets and Cubs are not talking pennant. However, all have justifiable reasons for anticipating continued improvement in 1967.

LBJ May Pass Up Sen Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, the former first baseman from Texas, has an invitation to throw out the first ball Monday to open up the 1967 major league baseball season. — nor did Johnson tell baseball officials who visited his office Thursday — whether the President would be on hand for Washington Senators-New York Yankee opener. However, the odds are against it.

Foinavon Aintree Winner

JOHNSON, not an avid baseball fan, leaves Monday night for a summit conference in Punta Del Este, Uruguay, with presidents of the Western Hemisphere.

Foinavon Aintree Winner

AINTREE, England (AP) — Foinavon, a 100-1 shot, steered clear of an incredible pile-up at the 23rd of 30 obstacles Saturday and went on to post a 15-length victory for one of the biggest upsets in the 130-year history of the Grand National Steeplechase.

Different Class, owned by film star Gregory Peck and one of the favorites, went down at the pile-up at the 23rd obstacle.

Foinavon was trailing badly until the horses reached that fence.

DEBBIE KING, daughter of MRS. MERLE KING, former resident of Big Spring and now of Slaton, is having trouble with her head. When she was a little tyke just starting to school, she was struck by a swing and several stitches had to be taken to close the wound. Last week, while Debbie, now 13, sat on the back porch at the Lindol Beard home, watching Miles Beard, 16, practice his archery in the yard, one of the arrows glanced off a tree and hit Debbie on the forehead over her right eye. Her doctor (Glen Payne) at least had a sense of humor, demanding: "Where is the apple?" Year's hence, with an arrow scar, Debbie may be able to pass as a pioneer.

Luncheon Held 'Italian Style'

"Afternoon — Italian Style," brought a bit of Europe to Big Spring Thursday when the 3561st PTS wives at Webb Air Force Base presented this theme for the Officers Wives Club monthly luncheon.

The Italian restaurant theme was carried out throughout the club where the two stages became sidewalk cafes. Background art provided the street scene, and a sign identified the colorful spot as "Cafe Veneto 61st." Near a wicker table and chairs was an artists' easel, and the area was edged with a border of flowers. Red and white checked cloths covered all dining tables where lighted tapers were placed in wine bottles. Placed along the head table were miniature amber lamp posts, and the centerpiece was a bright arrangement of blue irises, red carnations and white gladioli. Italian music was played during the luncheon.

General chairman was Mrs. T. B. Buechler. Mrs. M. F. Hagan had charge of decorations, and Mrs. J. P. Wilmes was menu chairman.

Mrs. S. G. Flowers Jr., OWC president, extended the welcome, and Mrs. R. G. Piland introduced the newcomers. They were Mrs. Diane Paladino, Mrs. Kristine Hubbell, Mrs. Mary Gunhus, Mrs. D. J. Dvorak, Mrs. F. W. Dobl, Mrs. R. J. Hegstrom, Mrs. J. P. Hallett, Mrs. D. W. DeBoer, Mrs. J. C. Quebe, Mrs. T. L. Hopper, Mrs. D. L. Heagy, Mrs. V. K. Meroney, Mrs. E. J. Putak, Mrs. C. E. Coryell, Mrs. D. S. Rader, Mrs. Arlene McElroy and Mrs. Robert Herndon.

Farewells were said to Mrs. Timothy Thomas and Mrs. Robert G. Jerman. Mrs. Jerman, an OWC officer, was presented a gift of appreciation from the club. Introduced as guests were Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. O. B. Williams, Mrs. Delnor Poss and Mrs. Jo Bright.

The program was presented by Mrs. Myrtle Lee, a local artist, who did a chalk board painting while Glen Faison, music director at the First Baptist Church, sang, "The End of a Perfect Day." Mrs. D. R. Eby was the pianist.

Candidates for OWC officers were introduced and resumes read by Mrs. Robert Deming.

Mrs. Flowers presented the $200 scholarship at Howard County Junior College to Gary Givens, son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Donald L. Givens. Gary and Mrs. Givens were honored guests at the luncheon. The scholarship was available to a son or daughter of officer or enlisted personnel assigned to Webb.

Prize winners were Mrs. R. J. Niemotka, Mrs. W. A. Henley, Mrs. W. K. Knight, Mrs. A. L. Rutledge and Mrs. James Van Pelt.

MRS. CHARLES ARTHUR BOYINGTON

Miss Marilyn Pruitt Wed In Chapel Rites

Miss Marilyn Kay Pruitt and Charles Arthur Boyington were united in marriage Saturday evening in formal, double ring services held in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

The Rev. Homer Rich, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, read the nuptial vows before an altar adorned with twin sunburst arrangements of white gladioli and palms. Seven-branched candelabra and baskets of white chrysanthemums completed the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie L. Pruitt, 1002 Wood, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern W. Boyington of Dearborn, Mich.

Mrs. Jim Ryals served as organist and played traditional wedding selections. She accompanied Mrs. Charles Odom as she sang "The Wedding Prayer" and Mrs. Bill O'Leary as she presented "Whither Thou Goest." A trio of Miss Betty Riggs, Mrs. Odom and Mrs. O'Leary sang the selection, "Melody of Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a formal-length gown of white silk organza over satin peau de soie, designed with an Empire bodice and bell sleeves. Embossed lace applique, scattered with seed pearls, bordered the lace neckline, and her tiara of silk organza petals scattered with seed pearls, cascaded into a waist-length veil. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white orchids and Sweetheart roses with white streamers.

Miss Karen Davis of Midland was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Pruitt, Mrs. Kenneth Pruitt and Mrs. Bill Pruitt, all of Midland; and Mrs. David Pruitt, all sisters-in-law of the bride. Wanda Pruitt of Odessa was junior bridesmaid. Female attendants carried single long-stemmed pink roses with pink streamers.

The groomsmen were Robert Pruitt, Kenneth Pruitt and Bill Pruitt, all of Midland, and David Pruitt, all brothers of the bride. Trainbearers were Jana Pruitt of Midland and Monna Pruitt of Odessa, and junior groomsmen were Eddie Riggs of Lubbock.

For an extended wedding trip to Michigan, the bride was attired in a champagne linen dress with matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside in Lubbock.

Mrs. Boyington is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, and the bridegroom graduated from Dearborn Lowrey High School, Dearborn, Mich. He attended Henry Ford Community College, Eastern Michigan University, the University of Maryland and Howard County Junior College. He was recently discharged from the United States Air Force.

A reception was held at Big Spring Country Club following the ceremony. Those in the receiving line were the bride and bridegroom, their parents and the feminine attendants.

The refreshment table was laid with a white floor-length satin cloth and centered with the three-tiered white cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple. The bridal attendants' roses completed the setting with crystal and silver appointments.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a beige linen cloth and centered with a chocolate cake.

Miss Karen Ainsworth of Midland presided at the guest register, and members of the house party included Mrs. Carl Tedder, Midland; Mrs. Tom Lakey, Coahoma; Miss Betty Riggs, Lubbock; and Mrs. Herman Wilemon.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Riggs, Lubbock; Jerry C. Ramey, Dearborn, Mich.; and Mr. and Mrs. James Ainsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Davis, Mr. and

'Gold Star' Mothers End Convention Here

The 14th annual state convention of the American Gold Star Mothers Inc. climaxed here Thursday afternoon with the naming of new officers.

Mrs. Joe Jacobs of Big Spring, retiring president, passed the gavel to Mrs. Ernest Brown of Dallas who will head the organization during the next year. Others named to the slate were Mrs. Gertrude Jones, San Antonio, first vice president; Mrs. John Beard, Houston, second vice president; Mrs. Edna Stewart, San Antonio, recording secretary; Mrs. Colen Collins, Dallas, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Rosa Ash, Dallas, treasurer; and Mrs. Ethel Smith, Dallas, reelected as chaplain.

Approximately 60 members were registered at convention headquarters, Hotel Settles, and about 100 persons attended the memorial service in the ballroom that evening.

Mrs. Smith conducted the service where the Rev. Clyde Campbell of Hillcrest Baptist Church worded the invocation. A solo, "The Lord's Prayer," was sung by Vance Hale of Howard County Junior College.

MRS. JOE JACOBS

and Mrs. Harold Talbot sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. Leslie Green provided accompaniment. The memorial address was by the Rev. C. O. Hitt, chaplain at the Veterans Administration Hospital, and the Rev. Francis Beasley of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church gave the benediction.

A reception followed with local chapter members serving as hostesses and music being provided by the Van Doyle Murphy band. Refreshments were served from a table covered with gold satin overlaid with a drawn linen cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. Centering the table was an arrangement of gold chrysanthemums, and to one side, was a white cake topped with a large gold star.

The convention was formally opened Wednesday with prayer by Mrs. Smith. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Mrs. Gay Dove of Waco, and the national anthem was sung by Mayor Arnold Marshall who extended a welcome to the out-of-town visitors. Mrs. Corrie Casey of Dallas gave the response. Opening remarks were by Mrs. Felton Smith, local chapter president, who introduced the presiding officer, Mrs. Jacobs.

Mrs. Ara Cunningham of the Veterans Administration Hospital staff was the guest speaker for Wednesday's luncheon, and business was conducted during the afternoon.

The women visited informally that evening, and the convention closed Thursday following the installation of the new state officers.

MOSS SCHOOL HAS ENTERED, TOO

Spelling Bee Has 18 Entries

By SAM BLACKBURN
There will be 18 schools competing for the 1967 Howard County Spelling Bee title next Saturday.

Friday afternoon saw the selection of the 18th and final champion of the county school group.

He is 13-year-old David Roberson, a seventh grader at Goliad Junior High School. He won his title over Scott McLaughlin, 13, the Goliad champion of last year who went on to win the Howard County championship and then placed fifth in the regional bee at Lubbock.

David is the son of Capt. and Mrs. John H. Roberson, 4006 Dixon. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, 112 Cedar.

In the final go round Friday afternoon, Scott missed the word "quizzical." David spelled that word correctly and then clinched his claim to the Goliad crown by successfully spelling the next word — "stringent."

Mrs. Janie Rossion, a high school counselor, was pronouncer. The school presented each boy with a small loving cup to symbolize his victory.

Belated announcement was also made Friday that Moss Elementary School, transiently housed at Park Hill, had also entered champions. They are two of the younger spellers who will compete for the county title. Champion of Moss school is Linda Little, 9, a fourth grader, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Little, 1706 Yale. Alternate for Moss is Ann Caton, also 9, and a fourth grader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caton, 1019 Colgate.

This year will also see a speller in the county bee from Lakeview school. Lakeview last year did not field an entry, but has been represented in earlier spelling bees. Lakeview champion this year is Bonnie Anderson, 12, a sixth grader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Anderson, 710 Ohio. Valerie Dunbar, 12, another Lakeview sixth grader, is the alternate. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunbar, 803 Wyoming.

Cedar Crest school champion is David Coates, 11, sixth grader. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coates, 1204 W. 2nd. Brenda Tynes, 11, a fifth grade student, is the alternate. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Tynes, 900 Lancaster.

Tom Biddison, 11, fifth grader, is Airport School's 1967 champion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Biddison, 1503 Oriole. Alternate is Donna De-Flicht, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeFlicht, 1403 Mesa. She is a fifth grader.

Ronnie Peterson, 9, a fourth grader, will be the official champion for Marcy school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Peterson, 24-A Albrook. David Crandall, 11, a sixth grader, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Crandall, will be the school's alternate.

Rhonda Thompson, 12, another sixth grader, is the Washington Place school champion. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Thompson, 1504 Kentucky. The alternate is Cathy Fowler, 12, a sixth grader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Fowler, 1302 College.

College Heights champion this year is David Smith, 12, a sixth grader and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, 1902 Goliad. Sandra Dickenson, 11, a fifth grader, the alternate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmey Dickenson, 1103 E. 15th.

Uvaldo Lopez, 11, a sixth grader at Bauer, nosed out Louis Parras, last year's Bauer champion, for the title this year. Uvaldo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Lopez, 605 NE Ninth. Parras, who also is in

Eastland Tries To Forget Hanging Of Santa Claus

EASTLAND — It is a grisly story—the hanging of Santa Claus—and one Eastland County has done well to try and forget. Many years have passed since the beginning of this tale and it is felt that time has taken care of the human suffering to the extent that the story can be retold.

So recently, when Cisco's First National Bank celebrated its Golden Anniversary, the "Santa Claus Bank Robbery" and the subsequent gunfight which left six Cisco citizens with gunshot wounds, two peace officers dead or dying, and two bandits wounded, was commemorated. An official Texas Historical Marker was dedicated by the Eastland County Historical Survey Committee outlining briefly this most tragic and exciting day in the bank's history.

The robbery began Dec. 23, 1927 when a man dressed as Santa Claus entered the bank with three of his companions and ordered the bank's money put in a sack.

Two small girls were kidnapped and used as hostages as the robbers went through a hall of gunfire in the alley back of the bank to reach their getaway car. Cisco citizens had armed themselves at the first shout of "the bank has been robbed." It was this gunfire which mortally wounded Cisco Police Chief G. E. "Bit" Bedford and wounded Police Officer George Carmichael and robber Louis Davis.

The robbers were captured after several days of searching by hundreds of peace officers from Eastland and neighboring counties.

But what stirred a mob to hang Marshall Ratliff, the "Santa Claus" of the robbery? Ratliff had been sentenced to be electrocuted but through legal petitions by his mother, he was slated for a sanity hearing. In death row he had feigned insanity and paralysis, and when brought back to Eastland on a bench warrant by Judge George Davenport of the 91st District Court, he continued this behavior until the opportunity to escape presented itself. He sanely seized it, shooting aging peace officer, Uncle Tom Jones with his own gun, in a futile attempt to escape.

On Nov. 19, 1929, a crowd of some 2,000 persons overpowered jailer "Pack" Kilborn, took Ratliff from his cell where he covered again feigning insanity and hanged him on a guylire stretched between two utility poles less than a block from the jail.

The first try broke the rope but another rope was brought up and this time the hanging succeeded.

Different fates overtook each of the other three bandits: Robert Hill was given a life sentence which he partially served and is now living a respectable life in a West Texas town under an assumed name; Henry

Helms, after trying Ratliff's insanity game, was electrocuted; Louis Davis died in a Fort Worth hospital of wounds received the day of the robbery.

Mr. Cotton Farmer:

Planting time is near and there is a general shortage of good quality planting seed — place your order for one of the 2 time-tested Lockett varieties that are being offered at lower prices.

LOCKETT 88-A

Lockett 88-A is a time-tested variety you can depend on. We know of no cotton that better meets the rigorous requirements of machine stripper harvesting. Lockett 88-A produces a close-fruited, compact plant with few vegetative limbs. It fruits and matures uniformly, which means that most of the cotton will open at the same time, which is ideal for a good stripper operation. It is a top yielder on dry and irrigated land.

BLIGHTMASTER

The Blightmaster seed you get from Lockett today represent the combined efforts of several of our best plant breeders and plant pathologists over a period of many years. As the name implies, BLIGHTMASTER is the product of plant breeding to produce a good cotton variety that is tolerant to Bacterial Blight (Angular Leaf Spot). Many growers have told us Blightmaster will produce more lint on less water than any variety they know of.

Builds Mountain

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — "We didn't have a real view and we all love the mountains," says Don Lambert. So in the backyard of the Lambert family home he built Mt. Flora — 5 1/2 feet tall at the peak, containing 70 yards of topsoil and covered by eight varieties of ground cover plus dwarf trees.

A Devotional For The Day

Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing. (Luke 5:5)

PRAYER: O God, strong and mighty, to Thee we turn for help, for Thou knowest our weaknesses even when we serve Thee. We pray Thee give us Thine aid so that we may reach the goal Thy will sets for us. In the master's name. Amen.

Splendid Record

The Altrusa Club in Big Spring, rounding out 17 years in community service, is joining this week with others across the country and throughout the world in observance of the 50th anniversary of the organization's founding.

While its contributions are numerous and varied during its half century, Altrusa International is best indeed here on what it has done in the Big Spring area. We are happy to report that it passes the test with flying colors. Aside from its contributions to advancement in business and the professions for the women who make up its membership, Altrusa has been an exemplary citizen. It has given to and it has worked for those things which advance the city culturally and in other ways, and which have given the community a heart in the process.

Big Spring is better off and will continue to be because of the vigor of Altrusa.

Somebody Might Get Hurt

Tenth Street is recommended for study by the city or the traffic commission to see if any steps need to be taken to control the flow of vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

It may be that the present practice is the best, but the situation is a little hairy especially at noon and when school turns out. Tenth along Runnels Junior High has been more than a little congested, but the chief problem there seems to be the juvenile jaywalkers, some of whom defy cars to strike them.

The real problem, and the new one, is along the north side of the greatly expanded senior high school plant. With opening of some of the units on the north half of the campus, and particularly with completion of the parking lot which stretches all the way from Eleventh Place to Tenth Street, the volume of traffic flowing (or erupting) onto Tenth is awesome.

Youngsters in a hurry to get home or at least away from school turn right, left, zoom across the intersection at Owens, and not infrequently bound off the curb into the street if not convenient to go to the parking area outlets.

All of this is compounded by a steady stream of young people wandering across the street, not a few oblivious to the presence of the zipping cars.

It may be that a median, lines, retainers or some other devices will only make the situation worse, but there is the bare possibility that some steps might improve a situation which, left at its own devices, may hurt someone.

Eased Money Market May Pep Up Economy

SUNSHINE AND CLOUDS

- Federal reserve cuts discount to flat 4 per cent
- Lower rates may flush savings into buyers market
- Silk stocking strike may be harbinger of labor unrest
- Bad weather continues to hold car sales well off pace
- Tax hike out for first half, could come in last half
- More money, 7 per cent investment credit brighten outlook

NEW YORK (AP) — The money market eased further during the week, heightening the prospects of business expansion.

The Federal Reserve Board approved a cut in its discount rate to a new 4 per cent from 4½ per cent.

This reduced the interest that member banks have to pay on borrowings from the Federal Reserve system.

The discount rate is the base from which other interest charges stem.

A tight money condition prevailed last year and high-interest rates held down borrowing by business for expansion and modernization.

The first break came in late January when Chase Manhattan Bank of New York reduced its prime rate — the interest charged the biggest and most credit-worthy borrowers — to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent.

Most banks cut only to 5½ per cent then. But in late March they came down to 5½.

Another indication of the easing money situation came last Monday when the yield on treasury bills dropped below 4 per cent for the first time in 18 months.

The Federal Reserve approved the reduction at the request of directors of Federal Reserve banks in 19 of the system's 12 districts.

The lower rate became effective Friday in the Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco districts.

The Atlanta and St. Louis banks were expected to follow.

The board said the reduction was in line with recent declines in market rates and is in keeping with Federal Reserve policy objectives in assuring that availability of credit is adequate to provide for orderly economic growth.

Television stars and truck drivers and race horse owners were in the same boat during the week.

All were in strife with the people who pay their salaries, wages and purses.

This turmoil made its impact on business and the public and was an indication that 1967 may live up to forecasts of the most serious labor troubles in recent years.

The public was most aware of the strike of the 18,000 members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists against the three big networks — NBC, CBS and ABC — and their affiliated stations.

At stake for the networks were millions of dollars in advertising revenues.

The strike stemmed from the demand of television newsmen for a minimum salary of $325 a week, plus percentages of commercial fees.

The 450,000 member Teamsters Union was locked in negotiations for a new contract with the trucking industry. Federal mediators worked to stave off a threatened nationwide shut-down.

The union sought a 56 cents an hour wage increase over three years and the operators offered 37 cents. Truckers now make from $3.25 to $5 an hour, plus fringe benefits.

The horses didn't run at New York's Aqueduct Race Track because of a demand by the stable owners for higher purses.

When the legislature failed to authorize a bigger share of betting proceeds for purses, the 2,000 owners and trainers refused to enter horses in any races.

On the horizon are labor contract negotiations in the automobile and building industries with unions reportedly expecting hefty wage boosts.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York said during the week the most recent economic information points to "a continued moderation in the pace of overall activity."

It added that "unusually severe weather conditions" through March "significantly affected production and sales."

The bank noted that positive factors in the economic picture were the prospect of restoration of the 7 per cent business investment credit and an easing of the money market.

The Johnson administration was reported backing away from a July 1 effective date for its proposed 6 per cent surtax on income taxes.

However, key officials insisted that the surtax was still very much alive and will be needed in the second half of the year to stem inflation in what they predict will then be an expanding economy.

Around The Rim

Let Me Look At That Hercules Model—

Fellow came in the office and said, "Why don't you write about all those girdles men are buying?"

"You're putting me on," I said. "Men are buying girdles?"

"I'm not putting you on. It's the girdles that are being put on. Oh, they don't call them by that name. There are masculine brand names, like for instance, Hercules. What they are, are men's shorts with a big wide, strong elastic band at the top that comes clear up to a fellow's belly-button, and it holds—or helps to hold—that midriff bulge. You could beat around the bush and call the things what you like, but they really are girdles.

"AND THEY tell me that the guys are really going for them. Maybe not as many as should be," he said glancing in the general direction of my un-sylph-like figure.

"Let's not get personal about this," I said. "I understood you were just offering a suggestion for column, not trying to bring me into line."

"Sure, sure," he said. "But how can anybody write about a subject unless he has first-hand knowledge of same?"

"WELL, I could try a Hercules model, I guess. There's a great deal to be said for keeping trim and fit. But there's also much to be said for sheer comfort. I have seen comedians put on these acts wherein they mimic the women. You know, a gal comes home from the party, and in the privacy of her dressing room starts wiggling and shimmying until she gets the corset — er, girdle — off, then she breathes a great sigh of relief and starts scratching where it helps. If we boys have to go through that routine, why not stay comfortable in the first place."

"YOU TOUCHED on it when you said trim and fit," said my caller. "Women for generations have been so careful about their appearance, and employ all manner of aids to (a) restore youth and (b) to look more attractive. Why couldn't men be as concerned about their own appearance?"

"Maybe you don't know that the big climb in the market today in such items as hair coloring, scents and colognes is in the male segment. It's the men who are buying all those new products, although they continue to remain secretive about it.

"A SALESMAN for one of the big cosmetics company told me just the other day that a type of hair-coloring was going like the proverbial hot cakes as far as men customers are concerned. It used to have a name like Evening Sprite, and they wouldn't touch it, but the company put it in a bottle with a label called Lion-Hunter, or something like that, and now you can't be sure about half the guys, whether they are gray, black or red-haired."

"I still would like to invest my stock in a company that had the sure cure for baldness," I told him.

"NOBODY CAN help that, it seems," he answered. "But men can at least get attractive what hair they do have, and they can make themselves smell a little better, and they can, to repeat the phrase, look trim and fit."

"Yeah," I said, "and I read about a woman the other day who said she'd just as soon her man had some air of sweat and tobacco smoke about him and maybe a little odor of beer, too."

"SHE COULDN'T be typical," my caller said. "Even if a man has, how would you put it, his own air, no woman wants him sagging in the middle."

"Well, you can leave me out of it," I said, and as he left I picked up the telephone to call the men's shop and ask them what about that Hercules model . . .

The Non-Candidate At Work

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when everyone is checking on the 1968 Republican nominees for President. It isn't easy when you speak to them to guess their intentions, as I discovered talking to one politician whose good name has been bandied about.

"Sir," I said, "your name has been mentioned as a possible Presidential candidate for 1968. What do you have to say about this?"

"It's absolute nonsense. I have enough to do serving the good people of my state for the next four years and I have no Presidential aspirations at this time."

"But there have been 20 Glotz for President offices opened up around the country," I said.

"TWENTY-THREE, to be exact. There are two more opening next week. I would like to say I strongly disapprove of these activities started by many well-meaning supporters. I have repeatedly told them at fundraising dinners, rallies and press conferences that I am not interested in running for the Presidential office in 1968. Unfortunately, I cannot control what any private citizen wants to do on his own."

"Yes, sir. I went to your campaign headquarters at 1750 Pennsylvania Ave."

"You mean 1755, don't you? The phone number is Arizona 2-3456. What about it?"

"Well, they seemed to indicate that you had no objection to their starting the bandwagon rolling at this time."

"WELL, THEY'RE wrong. I told them at a strategy meeting the other night that I did not wish to be considered a candidate and I would hope they'd respect my wishes in this respect. I further told them I would only accept nonpolitical speeches to GOP delegates and Young Republican clubs. I reminded them there were so many better candidates than myself."

"Gov. Klomk, for example. You know, the one who bankrupted his state. I think he'd make a fine candidate."

"SEN. ZAP. He's young, attractive, has tremendous sex appeal and I don't think his inexperience in government should be held against him."

"Then there's Sen. Zilch, who certainly has a great deal of strength in the Black Power areas. I could support Sen. Zilch with a clear conscience, even though I would hate the religious issue to come up in 1968."

"What about former Vice-President Zimmerman?"

"ZIMMER HAS worked very hard for the Republican Party since he was vice president and should be given another shot at the big job. The fact he hasn't even been able to get elected to Blue Cross in the last four years should not be considered. He's just had a series of bad breaks."

"Sir, there's some talk that Gov. Rhubarb might be a dark horse candidate."

"I've known Gov. Rhubarb and I have the highest respect for him. I also feel strongly that a man who has been divorced three times would make just as good a candidate as a man who has only been married once, so I hope no one will bring that up at the convention."

Clean Up The Campaign Mess

WASHINGTON — Congress is at last face to face with the fact that rich men can win public office by utilizing their own funds, and that persons who have no fortunes are tempted to depend upon big contributions from wealthy individuals, many of whom have an axe to grind in public affairs.

There are some strange inconsistencies in the situation. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Democrat of Connecticut, for instance, is being criticized because he used money raised at testimonial dinners to help him pay personal expenses incurred because of the cost of maintaining political strength between campaigns. If he had been a wealthy man, he would have had no problem.

NOW THE whole emphasis is on how to shift the burden of campaign expenses from the backs of individuals to the government itself. When Sen. Russell B. Long, Democrat of Louisiana, proposed last year a bill that would permit citizens to indicate a willingness to have some of their income-tax payments used by the federal government for campaign expenses of either of the two national parties, Congress promptly approved. But already there are many signs of a change of heart.

THE NEW law was obviously the result of haste, and it opened up more loopholes than it closed. Curiously enough, President Johnson is supporting a retention of the existing measure. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat of New York, on the other hand, who is a rich man himself, wants to see the law repealed and a new law passed which would provide a public subsidy for candidates during political campaigns. Congress is considering a revision of the measure.

THE TRUTH is that both sides are up against a simple fact—elections are, in effect, being bought not only on the national but on the state and local levels. Political committees are limited on campaign expenditures. The whole thing has been in a mess for several years, and if the Senate of the United States takes a "holier than thou" attitude in the case of Sen. Dodd, it will open itself to criticism unless it also cleans up the entire system of financing political campaigns.

Money is much more important in politics nowadays than it ever has been. For publicity cannot be obtained without heavy expenses for paid advertising or paid radio and television programs.

OUT OF the many suggestions being made, one idea widely supported is that the government should grant a tax deduction or credit to individuals who contribute to political campaigns of candidates for office in federal, state or local governments. This is regarded as a far better system than to allow individuals to indicate to the U.S. Treasury that a portion of their income-tax money be given to the national political party of their choice, while ignoring the state and local campaigns.

Certainly, since campaign expenses have risen to such great heights, the limits in existing laws are too low, and it would be more effective if the loopholes were closed and a higher ceiling placed on the amounts that could be contributed by individuals.

AMERICAN POLITICS needs to be cleaned up and better ways devised for financing campaigns. But very little will be accomplished unless public opinion is insistent upon an obvious reform—that no individual or organization should be permitted to use any funds whatsoever to buy votes.

Ronald Reagan The Next President?

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Will Ronald Reagan be the Republican nominee for President in 1968? Will Ronald Reagan be the next President of the United States?

Anyone venturing to ask such preposterous questions a year or more ago would have been considered ready for a sanitarium. But a year ago it seemed preposterous that this former actor and television performer should be governor of California, and here he is sitting in the governor's chair with as much assurance as though he had made a career of politics and high office.

A GROWING number of influential men around the governor are beginning to hope that the answer to both questions will be yes. And while Reagan gives them no outward encouragement neither does he put a stop to their private efforts. Increasingly, the word destiny is in his public utterances—the destiny of the largest state in the Union to show the way for the nation through a leader who wants to give government back to the people.

Reagan has distinct advantages. He has instant identity and that counts for a lot in an age when people are ceaselessly on the move and when in the face of myriad distractions it is all but impossible to get the attention of the voter. A master of the techniques of television, he can appear natural and easy while other politicians strain for effects that seldom come off.

YOU IMAGINE, so good is the performance, that you are watching Ronald Reagan playing the good govern-nor who is doing his best to overcome the evils of waste, corruption and inefficiency. He talks about the state budget which he says is not really $5.1 billion but closer to $4.8 billion if certain fixed charges are excluded. All the fuss over the cuts he has made in the state mental health program ignore the fact that the patient load has dropped 40 per cent due to the use of modern drugs. And wouldn't any hospital cut the staff if the number of patients had been reduced by 40 per cent?

WHAT HE is going for him, and he has a shrewd understanding of it, is much more than a technique or a manner. Most people, he believes, are fed up with the war, with the problems of the cities, air pollution, water pollution, integration, all the rest of it. They want to believe there are simple solutions and wholesome remedies.

That is what he told the people of California in his campaign for governor. You applied common sense. You pared down the fat, wasteful bureaucracies. In virtually every speech he said, "I'm not a politician." This invariably got a hand. Reagan won by a majority of nearly a million votes.

IF THIS is today the mood of the country—fed up, ready to vote against what is and prepared to take the word of the good guy that he can straighten it out—the Reagan appeal in a national campaign cannot be discounted. It is what some of his most convinced backers who have put their money on the line—men like Henry Salvatori, wealthy oilman—count on.

THOSE AROUND the governor say he uses the Eisenhower method. He delegates broad authority to the men he has put in top positions. Reagan is fortunate in having as lieutenant governor a real political pro, Robert H. Finch. Finch's majority last November was 300,000 more than Reagan's, the largest any Republican ever got in California. His role is said to be that of power broker between the governor and the interests competing for his attention.

PUBLIC OPINION sampling shows that some who voted for him now have doubts about his conduct of the office, although they would vote for him again. His majority if another election were held tomorrow would apparently be of the same magnitude. (Copyright, 1967, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

'Crash Corner'

MIAMI (AP) — Dade County (Miami) has started marking its most dangerous intersections with eye-catching red and black signs bearing the warning, "Crash Corner."

Traffic engineers hope motorists will use extra caution wherever the signs appear.

Big Miami Leak

MIAMI (AP) — The City of Miami has discovered that leaky mains and lines are wasting up to 30 million gallons of water a day. This is almost 25 per cent of the gallonage pumped daily by the water department. Contracts have been let to repair a number of the leaks.

Something Odd About That Hair Pulling

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 16, began pulling out her eyelashes, then her eyebrows about four years ago, and for the last two years has been pulling a spot about four inches across on top of her head almost bare.

We have had her checked by family physician, psychiatrist and psychologist, and all say it is just a habit. Will this go on and on? Would hypnosis help her? — A.C.

It may be a habit, all right, but I would proceed on the assumption that she must be severely frustrated in some way, because something must lie behind the habit.

This hair-pulling trick is more expectable at a younger age, but at 16 it is time to look deeper for a cause. Mere habit, without some underlying compulsion, doesn't satisfy me as an explanation.

I am reluctant to suggest hypnosis. That might better be determined by your physician or the psychiatrist, but I surely would return the girl to one or the other for more investigation.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cure for a person who has taken amphetamines for 10 years? — J.T.

Stop taking them.

Dear Dr. Molner: How are

"crabs" transmitted? Can they come from the bathroom stool? How long before the eggs are laid? Does hot soap and water kill crabs? What will? — M.A.S.

Phthirus pubis, or the "crab louse" can be transmitted from person to person, or through direct contact — a toilet stool that has not been adequately cleaned, via clothing or bedclothes.

When a female crab louse lays eggs, she glues them to the base of a hair, usually in the region of the crotch, but sometimes elsewhere on the body. The egg hatches in about 10 days; a female can begin laying more eggs almost immediately after birth, will live about 30 days and in that time lay 300 eggs.

The lice can hide in the seam of clothes, too, so frequent and thorough cleaning is necessary.

Hot water and detergent will kill both lice and the eggs, but taking an ordinary bath with soap will not.

Thus for clothes, thorough washing or dry cleaning is essential as well as through cleaning of bathroom or other places where the insects may be.

A very few lice can cause a great deal of itching and scratching, and when a patient is not treated promptly, irritation and skin infection is a very frequent result.

Several very effective medications or lotions can clear up the crab lice quickly, but have a physician tell you which to use and how. Reason: Self-medication entirely too often leads to skin irritation from incorrect or over-use of the medications.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a birth mark and read in a magazine about a special light that can remove it. Are there any other ways? I am 16. — B.M.

The light you read about might possibly be laser, with which a great deal of experimenting is now in progress. There are other familiar methods, long in use, and very effective. Depending on the location of the mark, you might have your regular doctor remove it, or go to a dermatologist or plastic surgeon if an absolute minimum of scar is required.

Note to "M": No, tranquilizers do not harm the heart. In any event, you are wisely using them in moderate amount.

"Tips on How to Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ABC Schedules Regional Convention Here This Week

Registration for the American Business Club's Region VI convention will get under way at the Settles Hotel Thursday afternoon.

The conclave will draw delegations from Districts 6-A and 6-B, which make up the region. In all, about 14 clubs will be represented here, some from as far away as Amarillo and eastern New Mexico. The convention will extend until noon Sunday.

Delegates attending will number in the hundreds. Most of the business session will be conducted at the Settles.

Among Ambuc dignitaries who have indicated they will attend the conclave are Loren E. Grabb of Decatur, Ill., 43rd national president of the ABC; and H. C. (Bill) Pearson of High Point, N. C., who has served as executive secretary of the national association since Jan. 1, 1960.

Grabb is a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he was a member of the varsity basketball team. Following graduation, he taught for three years in the El Paso, Ill., high school before entering the service in World War II.

Grabb is now a real estate broker, as well as a developer and manager of the Bretwood Village Shopping Center in Decatur.

He was a charter member of the Decatur Ambucs, when the organization was formed in 1946 and has since served as district governor, regional director and national vice president.

sessions and work shops will be conducted that day.

At a Saturday noon luncheon for delegates and their wives, the annual Ambuc awards will be passed out. Recognition will be given to those clubs preparing the best scrapbook, the clubs which have had the most successful projects, those reporting the best gain in attendance and etc.

Presiding at the Saturday luncheon will be Regional Gov. Jon Ferguson of Lubbock, named recently to fill the office of national vice president for the remainder of the term.

Other entertainment includes a "Cave Man" party at the Big Spring Country Club Friday night, a "Big Hat" breakfast at the Settles Hotel Saturday morning, a Saturday morning coffee for wives of members at the home of Mrs. Robert H. Johnson and the annual Governor's Ball at the Cosden Country Club, starting at 7 p.m. Saturday.

LOCAL AID SOUGHT

Cancer Funds Go Into Research

More than one-third of all funds contributed to the American Cancer Society is invested in research—over $15 million in 1966.

By 1970, the society hopes to be able to "close some of the critical gaps in cancer research" with "a minimum annual expenditure of $20 million for sound projects."

This estimate, said Mrs. Joe A. Moss, Crusade chairman for Howard County, "is based on experience in making research grants over a period of more than 20 years."

$8,000 GOAL
This month is being observed as Cancer Crusade month, and while the local chapter works to distribute information to help curb the disease, it also will be seeking financial support. A goal of $8,000 has been set, and solicitations are being made in various divisions. The major house-to-house calls will be on the evening of April 18.

Each year, according to Mrs. Moss, the society is faced with the problem of not having sufficient funds to support all research projects that scientific advisory committees approve and recommend.

GAPS EXIST
The chairman said "critical gaps exist in the research attack on cancer at a time when promise is high. There is not only urgent need for the development and exploration of new ideas, but also need for more trained and qualified research scientists. We have been told by scientists who know the problem that "researchers in many institutions are slowed and hindered by a chronic shortage of funds."

More funds are needed, she said, to find the answers to such questions as: Why does one individual get cancer while another appears to be resistant? Why do cancer patients lose weight and develop anemia? What is the role of body defense mechanisms against cancer? Is there a fundamental difference in cancers that strike people of different ages? What factors influence the spread of cancer? These and other questions, she said, "need answering."

AID TO SCIENTISTS
The American Cancer Society is currently supporting more than 1,000 key scientists at home and abroad — at home through grants to individual scientists and research institutions; abroad through Eleanor Roosevelt International Fellowships administered by the International Union Against Cancer.

The American Cancer Society's research effort is closely coordinated with efforts of the government and other funding groups, Mrs. Moss said. "Increased federal support," she explained, "does not diminish the need for the research program of the society which can be more flexible and imaginative with expenditures. To avoid monopoly, to give researchers a choice and to spark the 'risk' type of research, increased private funds are required for scientific investigation. More important, however, is the fact that federal funds remain inadequate for support of all projects recommended. The work of voluntary agencies is vital to keeping interest high, activity alive, and giving fresh air to the attack on cancer."

Help In Filing Tax Returns

The local Internal Revenue office will be open for Taxpayer Assistant Day Monday, and agents will be on hand to answer questions by telephone.

The office is located at 1011 S. Gregg and the telephone number is AM 7-2612.

The office will also provide assistance April 17, according to Joe Gordon, agent in charge, which is the final day for filing returns, as April 15 falls on Saturday.

Want To Be A 'Shellback?' Join The South Seas Cruise

Are you a "pollywog?" Or "shellback?"

If you have never crossed the Equator by ship, you're a "pollywog."

But if you have crossed the Equator by ship, you're a "shellback."

Whichever you may be, if you join the 42-day South Pacific cruise tour, sponsored by the Big Spring Herald aboard the Matson liner Monterey, you will enjoy the King Neptune ceremonies when the ship crosses the Equator—and when it's all over, all hands will be bona fide shellbacks by decree of the old sea King himself.

Tour members will board the Monterey in Los Angeles Aug. 15, and six days later will be crossing the Equator en route to Bora Bora, first port of call. Here's how it is when you are initiated into the "Order of the Deep." (Active participation is on a volunteer basis, and there is never a shortage of adventurous passengers.)

ALL IN FUN
It's a typically calm and peaceful day as the ship crosses latitude 0 degrees, 0 minutes, 139 degrees longitude 13 minutes west, 1,000 miles from Bora Bora. The ship's whistle shrieks and up the flagpole shoots a skull and crossbones flag. The ship's orchestra solemnly troops up the ladder from the promenade deck, leading as motley an assemblage as ever rode the bounding main.

King Neptune, wild-bearded and bushy-browed, flutters Queen Neptune, Princesses Flotsam and Jetsam and various surgeons, barbers and patch-eyed pirates; they're all there. Then come the "pollywogs," all volunteers for the hilarious ritual. Other pollywogs stand by as spectators to watch the fun.

The participating pollywogs, some wearing flannel nightgowns over bathing suits, are brought forth before King Neptune and charged with such crimes as monopolizing the dance floor, or using their wife as a target on the paddle tennis court.

"VICTIMS"
For punishment, they may be shaved (with a lather of green-colored whipping cream), or operated on (with much dousing of catsup) and, finally, forced to jump in the pool where the whole gooey mess is washed away.

Following the initiation, the "victims"—and all non-participating pollywogs—receive impressive certificates, testifying they are now shellbacks, full-fledged members of the Domain of Neptunus Rex.

So come see for yourself. For information, contact The Herald.

Published in Accordance with the Laws of the State of Texas

We have had several calls and complaints as to why Trinity Memorial Park does their 'Banking' in Midland. The Texas Perpetual Care Cemetery Law states that Trust Funds of a Cemetery operating under this law must be deposited in a bank having Trust Powers. No Bank in Big Spring has a Trust Department. Midland is the nearest location of a Bank with Trust Powers.

These Funds are kept invested by the Trust Department and the earnings only are returned to the Park Corporation for the Perpetual Care — maintenance and beautification of the Cemetery. No portion of the principal can ever be withdrawn.

These Funds must be regularly examined by the Banking Commissioner. All conventional banking services are handled by Big Spring Banks for Trinity Memorial Park.

MUSIC FOR PEOPLE Mrs. Jim Hatler, Mrs. Jim Baum

Local Pianist Releases Record

To many past the teenage years, the only alternative to modern rock and roll music is to turn off the radio or get beyond its reach.

But Mrs. Jim Baum, a pianist most of her life, took more direct action—she has provided a more pleasant way out with a new long-playing album of familiar "standards" — familiar that is to most persons past teenage.

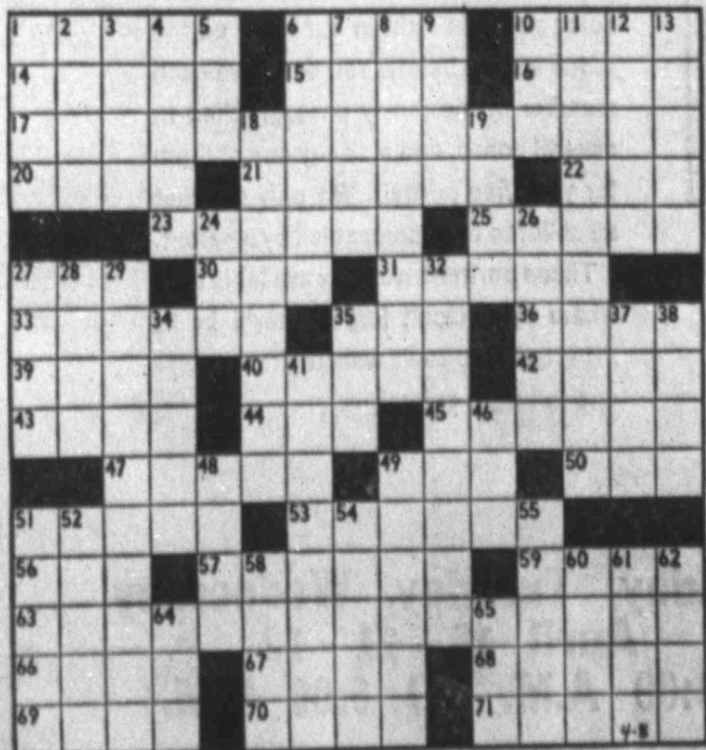

"Margaret Plays Music for People," the album states on the cover, and it is already being broadcast locally, including KFNE-FM, and is available at four locations here: the Record Shop, The Book Stall, White Music Co., and Furr's Super Market.

Bandit Forgot To Sign Note?

LAKE STEVENS, Wash. (AP) — After the Everett Trust & Savings Bank was robbed, it put this advertisement in a newspaper: "To the gentlemen who borrowed $23,000 from our Frontier Village office: 'You forgot to sign the note! And the pistols really weren't necessary. You see, we do our best to help as many people as possible with their financial problems. If you had stopped by our main office, we probably could have worked something out.'"

Malden Stars In 'Hotel,' At Ritz

"It's difficult to find a really original role," notes actor Karl Malden. "Almost every screen character falls into a definite classification." Malden, whose characterizations run the gamut, expands his thespian versatility by portraying a luckless cat burglar in "Hotel," Technicolor drama based on the best-selling novel by Arthur Hailey. It also stars Rod Taylor, Merle Oberon and Catherine Spaak, among others. The film opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Wilbur and I are planning a June wedding. My mother and I went to a bridal consultant who is supposed to know all about wedding etiquette, and she told us the bride's folks give the wedding, the pre-nuptial dinner, pay for all the flowers, the minister, the vocalist, and the organist.

DEAR ABBY: Why should people who do not use the public schools have to pay taxes for them? We are taxed to death. I don't mind paying taxes for things I get some benefit from, but we haven't had any children in the public schools for 12 years, so why should we have to pay to get other people's children educated? K. C.

DEAR K. C.: Free public education, paid for out of general taxes, is the only way to give all children an equal chance to learn. It is considered a "community service," such as parks, highways, libraries, and the police and fire departments are.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a traveling salesman should dance while he's on the road? It's not the actual dancing I object to, but I think it could lead to more serious things. I became aware of this when my husband started bringing home shirts with lipstick on the collar, shoulders, and down the front.

DEAR WIFE: Not many traveling salesmen feel like dancing on the road, but if yours does, he'd better cut it out before he gets all tripped up.

Who's living your life, you or the gang? And what's all this horse hockey about smoking being grown-up? Actually it looks about as grown-up as a four-year-old in long pants. An obvious, pathetic and laughable attempt at maturity.

was willing to discuss his former trade. "I didn't learn enough to turn professional," Malden admits, "but I did get an insight into the characteristics of the breed." Malden began his screen career 15 years ago, portraying the nice fellow in love with Vivien Leigh in "A Streetcar Named Desire." He won an Academy Award for his performance. Later, he played a priest in "On the Waterfront," a killer in "Murders in the Rue Morgue," an eccentric German officer in the U.S. Army in "Cheyenne Autumn," and a song-and-dance man in "Gypsy."
