Campaign Financing Voted Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted in a slap at President Johnson—to repeal the presidential election campaign financing law. But the measure's chief backer vowed today the fight isn't over.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the law, told newsmen he considered the defeat "a small skirmish in a long war."

Sponsor Confident

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., sponsor of the repeal move — which won 48 to 42 — said he's fully confident the law will be wiped off the books effective July 1.

The repeal move still faces House action.

A sometimes heated debate on the Gore rider included a sharp clash between Long and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Plan Called 'Monster'

Kennedy argued the campaign financing plan was "a monster" that would let national party leaderships in Washington destroy state and local political organizations.

Long argued the plan would prevent the presidency from becoming a prize only the wealthy could capture. He inferred the wealthy New York senator might want to make the office a province of the rich.

"Some people," Long added, "are interested in preserving the power of great wealth."

Johnson Signed It

Johnson had endorsed the campaign financing plan in signing it into law last November. But he also is pushing for congressional approval of the tax bill, which would restore two major tax incentives for business—a 7 per cent investment credit on machinery and accelerated depreciation on income-producing buildings.

Pilot Found Safe

LAS VEGAS, N. M. (AP) — The pilot of an Air Force SR spy plane was found alive today, several hours after the plane crashed in flames.

Maj. Earl M. Bonne was found after a night-long search, "apparently in good shape," a Kirtland Air Force Base spokesman said in Albuquerque.

Crewmen Previously Okay

The other crewman on the two-passenger, 2,000-mile-an-hour plane, Maj. Richard E. Sheffield, was picked up Thursday night by a military helicopter soon after the crash.

"They both seem to be okay," the Air Force spokesman, Jim Harvey, said. "We don't know any more about the finding of the pilot except that he's apparently in good shape."

Fired For Sex Test

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Latimore, 23, a junior high school teacher who administered a verbal "sex test" in class, "was honestly trying to help the kids," her principal, Vaughn Hughie, asserts.

Mrs. Latimore, dismissed by the Blackfoot School Board Tuesday, retained lawyer L. F. Racine Jr. to fight her dismissal. John Knutson, president of the American Federation of Teachers Local 1087, said his union will back her legal action.

Students Protest

A group of pupils at the school protested for the second straight day Thursday during the noon hour. The Blackfoot News said estimates ranged from "350 to 500," a student estimate, to "a very small group," one teacher's statement.

Hughie said Mrs. Latimore took away the 36-question test from a pupil during class and after several student questions concerning the test, she offered to read it in class.

Hughie said pupils answered the questions on paper and "were free to do with the answers and their scores as they wished. Mrs. Latimore, to my knowledge, did not see the answers or ask for them."

Kathy Perkins, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moreland Perkins of Cortland, N.Y., appears to have little trouble staying dry even at the deep end of the swimming pool at the Cortland YMCA. War's End Not Yet In Sight

SAIGON (AP) — Despite an impressive string of allied battlefield victories and soaring Communist desertions, Gen. William E. Westmoreland believes the end of the war is not in sight.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam said in an interview that his battle plan remains the same: "We'll just go on bleeding them until Hanoi wakes up to the fact that they have bled their country to the point of national disaster for several generations. Then they will have to reassess their position."

PUT PRESSURE

"My strategy is to put the pressure on the enemy everywhere and that includes the major bombing campaign in the North. The only way I know how to fight a war is by putting the maximum pressure on the maximum amount of the time."

Westmoreland believes Hanoi is still pouring troops south in the mistaken belief that they are winning great victories even though they are suffering terrible casualties.

Intelligence reports show Communist commanders are claiming five to 20 times the number of allied troops actually killed in fighting. The U.S. command believes that in this sense Hanoi is a victim of its own propaganda.

The Communists have suffered more than 22,500 casualties since Jan. 1 but are still capable of launching regimental attacks with regularity. Although U.S. intelligence rates the morale of various enemy units at poor to adequate, leadership and fighting spirit remain quite high.

The Pentagon has agreed to boost U.S. troop strength this year from the present 438,000 to about 500,000. Westmoreland declines to discuss strength ceilings, but other senior U.S. officers are known to believe far more are necessary.

MURDER OF EIGHT STUDENT NURSES

Speck Case Going To Jury

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The defense has ended its surprisingly brief testimony in the Richard Speck murder trial, and the case of the murdered eight nurses will go to a jury Saturday.

11 WITNESSES

Public defender Gerald Getty called only 11 witnesses to rebut the state's contention that Speck, 25, strangled and stabbed the young women last July 14 in a townhouse on the South Side of Chicago.

The defense's final witnesses Thursday were a man and his wife whose testimony provided an alibi for Speck's whereabouts at the time of the murders.

Murrell Farmer, a bartender in a waterfront restaurant told the court he saw the defendant twice July 13. The first time, Farmer said, was at 8 p.m.

"The next time I saw him, it was pretty close to midnight," Farmer said.

His wife Gardena said she saw Speck sometime after 11:30 p.m. "I served him a hamburger and a glass of ice water," Mrs. Farmer said she did not see Speck leave but she estimated the time of his departure at 12:30 a.m. July 14.

Getty, Cook County public defender, asked Farmer if he was certain he had seen Speck on the dates and times specified.

STAKE LIFE

"I'd stake my life on it," Farmer answered.

This conflicted with the prosecution's timetable of Speck's activities the night of July 13. Corazon Amurao, 24, who survived the massacre by hiding under a bed, has testified that the intruder entered the townhouse at 11 p.m. July 13.

Miss Amurao said she could remember the time exactly because there was a luminous dial clock on her dresser.

FAMILY

The first eight defense witnesses were members of Speck's family who appeared briefly Wednesday.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen said he would discuss today with both counsels their proposed instructions to the jury. Paschen said he would instruct the seven men and five women jurors immediately after closing arguments Saturday.

The jury then will begin to deliberate the evidence.

The state has asked the death penalty for Speck. Illinois law provides that the death sentence can only be imposed by a jury but a judge may override the sentence and reduce the penalty to a prison term.

Common Growth Action Pledged

HHH Meets With Maddox

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey, after a meeting with Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia, said today Maddox has "a very considerate and reasonable attitude on a lot of problems."

RACIAL MATTERS

Humphrey and Maddox, who has been highly critical of the administration, especially on racial matters, met for 90 minutes in the governor's mansion.

"Areas of disagreement are not peculiar to any one state," the vice president said after the meeting.

Maddox, who joined Humphrey in a joint news conference, said, "We are one state of 50 states. We recognize that the national party has got to look to all 50 states."

Asked if the two discussed the federal school desegregation guidelines, Humphrey said, "No. We had a lot of other things to talk about."

The vice president said they discussed the "well being of the Democratic party." He described Maddox as a "good Democrat."

Inter-American Summit Session

PUNTE DEL ESTE, URUGUAY (AP)—President Johnson and the chiefs of 18 Latin American nations signed today a "declaration of the Presidents of America" to speed economic progress, but Ecuador broke the united front and refused to sign.

The declaration of the inter-American summit conference pledges the nations to long-term common action to assure the hemisphere's economic growth. In addition to Ecuador, which has demanded more U.S. aid, Bolivia did not attend the conference.

SHOW OF UNITY

Even so Johnson in turning homeward could feel that he had helped to bring about a show of unity.

He was relaxed and smiling as he arrived at the final session of the 2½-day meeting. He remarked that the summit had "turned out better than we really expected." He called it "an extremely valuable" conference.

The 19 nations agreed to a 10,000-word declaration and action program whose outstanding pledge is to create a common market in Latin America by 1985.

Johnson tried up to the last to persuade Ecuador to change its mind.

PARTED AMICABLY

President Otto Arosemena of Ecuador met with Johnson Thursday and they parted amicably.

"I do not consider that the document contains anything damaging to my people, but I consider it incomplete," Arosemena told the other chiefs of state.

The 42-year-old Ecuadorean president evidently feels the Alliance for Progress is not the answer to Latin American problems and that the United States should treat the area as it did western Europe after World War II, when billions were pumped into the European economy.

IMPASSIVELY

Most listened impassively as he spoke. Johnson, wearing earphones to follow the English translation, stared fixedly at the table.

Argentina's President Juan Carlos Onganía, first to sign in alphabetical order, glowered at Arosemena as did Uruguay's President Oscar D. Gestido, who as host declared the final meeting ended shortly before 11 a.m.

Punta del Este meetings have produced other ringing declarations in the past. In 1961 with the creation of the Alliance for Progress, and in 1962 with a Declaration of Democratic Aims. However, a summit still was considered necessary in 1967 to deal with the same urgent matters which faced Latin America six years ago.

Jury Orders Death Penalty

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury, which convicted Hershel Joseph, 33, of murder in the Christmas Day beating death of an infant boy, set his punishment today at death in the electric chair.

Joseph was charged in the death of Rickey Joseph, 3-month-old son of Ruth Miner, 28.

Miss Miner had testified that Joseph flew into a jealous rage on Christmas Eve and beat her and the baby. She said he tortured the child who died the next day.

Swirling Dust Settles Down

By The Associated Press
Texas' capricious and turbulent springtime weather subsided today into a fall-like crispness and light breezes following a vicious storm which saved crops but caused thousands of dollars in damage.

High winds sent dust swirling into the air in West and Central Texas during the night, but it was settling at dawn today.

Fog and low clouds cloaked the piney woods section of East Texas today.

Wednesday and Thursday's round of hail, torrential rain, hurricane-force winds, tornadoes, blowing dust and even snow drove the length of the state ahead of a Pacific cold front.

The rains were a million dollar blessing to farmers and ranchers and seriously dented what has been described as the worst Texas drought since 1950.

The Department of Agriculture in Austin said "the rain has helped everywhere, especially on the grasslands."

But the damage was another story. Ft. Wolters in Mineral Wells was still cleaning up today from damage estimated at $500,000 to 191 training helicopters.

Numerous towns and cities were damaged by hail, winds, rain and tornadoes.

Winds of 75 miles per hour trailed the front Thursday in the Guadalupe Pass area in extreme West Texas, shrouding Wink, Tex., in dust.

The mercury, which was supposed to plunge to near freezing today in the Panhandle, could only make it down into the high 30s.

All the state was cooler. Slightly warmer readings were predicted for the northern half of Texas Saturday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the northeastern section of the state stood a chance for a shower or two today.

A shrimp boat, The Drake was flung into a South Padre Island jetty Thursday when it tried to make port in high winds. The three men aboard were rescued.

Rainfall amounts for the 24-hour period ended at 6 p.m. Thursday included Beaumont 3.52, College Station 3.30, Galveston 1.49, Houston 1.46, Victoria 1.50, Waco 1.23, and Amarillo .83.

Brownsville had the highest reading in the state Thursday—91 degrees. Dalhart's maximum of 56 degrees was the low.

Baptists Will Not Go Along

ATLANTA (AP) — Southern Baptists have refused to participate in a revival crusade in South Africa because Negro preachers could not enter the country with the whites.

The Home Mission Board canceled the tour Thursday after planning to recruit 100 evangelists including about 20 Negroes.

"That would be embarrassing to both the white and Negro pastors," said C. E. Autrey, director of the division of evangelism.

"Until recently we were to bring along Negro evangelists," he said, "but this was ruled out by the South African government because there could be no mixed group of welcome at the airport."

In addition, he said, the South government ordered that evangelists refrain from raising the race issue.

South Africa is governed by an apartheid policy of strict separation of the races.

The group was to participate in a September crusade at the request of the Baptist Union of South Africa. Other restrictions included a ban against theological liberals and smokers.

Dates Fixed For Stamford Rodeo

STAMFORD—The 37th annual Texas Cowboy Reunion will be held on July 1, 3 and 4 this year in Stamford, with three night performances and a matinee on the afternoon of the 4th. Traditional with ranching people, "laying by" on Sunday is still observed when a Sunday intervenes with dates of the show. However, there are always a lot of "free" shows and activities going on all day at the arena. The Palomino horse show is scheduled for 9 a.m. on July 2 at the quarter horse arena. The American Quarter Horse shows will be on Monday and Tuesday.

Orders New Elections In Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Rightist Premier Panayiotis Canelopoulos dissolved the Greek Parliament today and ordered elections to be held May 28.

The decision was reached following a 30-minute Cabinet meeting at which Canelopoulos presumably told his ministers that efforts to win over enough small political parties to give him a vote of confidence had failed.

Canelopoulos, 65-year-old leader of the National Radical Union party, was chosen by King Constantine last Monday to succeed the interim Cabinet of Ioannis Paraskevopoulos.

Demonstrations last week in the capital and in Salonika by leftists and students friendly to former Premier George Papandreou reflect a stormy future for Greece if the political situation does not soon return to normal.

Papandreou, who has a knack for getting people out into the streets, has encouraged "revolution," meaning strikes and fighting demonstrations.

It now appears the May 28 elections will be a neck-and-neck battle between Papandreou's Center union and Canelopoulos' Radical union.

House To Debate Issue Of Midland-Odessa College

AUSTIN (AP)— Bills that would authorize a four-year college in the Midland-Odessa area and give Texas its first industrial safety law have been approved for House debate.

The House Education committee approved Thursday two bills heavily amended in subcommittee that would permit the addition of junior and senior years to Odessa Junior College, with the added years paid for by local funds.

However, the College Coordinating Board would have the say-so on when instruction starts in the top two years. The board would conduct a feasibility study.

The House Labor Committee approved a compromise industrial safety bill Thursday that would give a state board rule-making and enforcement powers. Both the rules and the penalties could be appealed to the courts, and firms with good workmen's compensation records would be exempted.

Testimony was taken on several other important labor and education bills Thursday. All the bills were referred to subcommittee.

The Education committee heard two bills that would ease teacher and classroom shortages. The bill by Rep. David Crews of Conroe would allow a retired teacher to teach on a one-third time basis and not lose his retirement benefits.

The bill by Rep. Billy Williamson of Tyler would establish a pilot program for a four-quarter scholastic year in not more than 10 school districts with a total enrollment of not more than 100,000. Although this would increase classroom usage by 25 per cent, Rep. Joe Ratcliff of Dallas saw a couple of problems: Who would decide which pupils attend during which quarters and what is to be done with the pupils released in the winter who hang around school?

Another bill, by Rep. Oscar Carrillo Sr. of Benavides, would permit students whose families have an annual income of $4,800 or less to attend state-supported colleges tuition-free if the students graduate in the top 25 per cent of their high school class.

The Labor Committee heard testimony on a bid by Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth which would repeal the state law prohibiting union shop contracts.

Testifying for Gladden's bill was Dr. Vernon Briggs, associate professor of economics at the University of Texas, who said "right to work" is a Madison Avenue phrase to obscure the real issue which is union security.

Briggs said the bill would allow labor and management to negotiate on this subject.

James Yancy, general counsel for the Texas Manufacturers Association, said the 1948 law was an anti-discrimination law. "It says you may not discriminate . . . against any individual because of membership or nonmembership in a union," he argued.

Hungarians In Shuffle

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary's heads of state and government resigned today in a major reshuffle of the Communist hierarchy following national elections held last month on a Communist-dominated one-party ticket.

President Istvan Dobi, 69, stepped down for apparent reasons of failing health after having served since 1952. He was replaced by Pal Lozoncz, a 48-year-old farming expert and minister of agriculture since 1960.

Premier Gyula Kallai, who ranks as No. 2 Communist leader behind Party Chief János Kadar, resigned to take the post of president of the new 349-member Parliament which elected the new state and government leadership.

Kallai's successor is expected to be named by the assembly later today. There was no immediate indication who might be given the job.

Communist sources explained Kallai's transfer as a measure aimed at upgrading the hitherto purely ceremonial function of Parliament president under a current reform of the assembly's role in domestic affairs.

Kallai is a 57-year-old Communist veteran who had been government chief since 1965.

Defense Says Coppolino's Rights Denied

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — F. Lee Bailey, chief defense attorney in the murder trial of Dr. Carl Coppolino, said in court Thursday that the prosecution had violated his client's constitutional rights.

He said the head toxicologist for the City of New York, Dr. Charles Joseph Umberger, acted under pressure from his superiors when he refused to discuss the case with defense attorneys prior to the trial.

Umberger made chemical analyses on organs taken from the exhumed body of Carmela Coppolino, first wife of the 34-year-old anesthesiologist. Coppolino is accused of fatally drugging her.

This portion of Umberger's testimony was delivered with the jury out of the room, and Bailey had it made a part of the record "for the purpose of appeal" after Judge Lynn Silverthorn denied his motion to bring the jurors in.

Umberger said he found a lethal amount of the alleged death drug — succinylcholine — in the body of the dead woman and could say "with reasonable scientific certainty" that it caused her death.

After her death in Florida Aug. 28, 1965, Mrs. Coppolino was buried in New Jersey. The New York medical examiner became involved when an autopsy was ordered. Heart attack was listed as the official cause of death.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As established 400 to 0 Thursday without mention of Powell during a one-hour debate. But the proposal adopted was one of scores which had been submitted at about the time the House refused to seat Powell because of alleged misconduct.

WTCC Plans For College Seminar

ABILENE — Upperclassmen in Abilene's three institutions of higher education will join with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday to stage the first college seminar in WTCC history.

The event will be held at McMurry College from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday and will feature WTCC president John Ben Sheppard, Odessa, and young West Texas leaders, speaking on opportunities and potentials in West Texas.

"The future of West Texas lies in the hands of these young leaders who are still in our colleges and universities today," Sheppard said.

Sheppard will discuss West Texas growth potentials, and other speakers will give the students the latest background information on opportunities in petroleum and petrochemicals, industry, agriculture and ranching.

Cultural opportunities in West Texas will be discussed, and life in West Texas will be covered by a woman representative.

Powell seating formula that can attract winning support represents a switch from last month. Then, leaders supported a proposal to seat and censure Powell but lost after making no full-scale attempt — especially among Democrats — to line up enough votes.

Leadership meetings the past two days have produced no agreement except on the desirability of avoiding a repetition of the events of March 1. Then leaders lost by 20 votes on a key issue that opened the way for Powell's subsequent exclusion.

The leadership work on a

Powell will show up. He is still at his Bahamian retreat in Bimini. The earliest possible date for certifying his 86 per cent victory Tuesday appears to be late next week.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who drafted the proposal for a permanent Ethics Committee, warned that to throw the Powell case to it would be to destroy the Ethics Committee at the start.

Various groups within the House were reported drafting ways to punish Powell sufficiently to gain enough votes for his seating.

One proposal being recommended by some liberal Democrats would couple the seating of Powell with a severe censure and a call for a prompt Justice Department follow-up of leads that might result in criminal prosecution of the preacher-politician.

The select committee which weighed the Powell case said he wrongfully appropriated to his own use more than $44,000 in salary illegally paid to his estranged wife. It urged the Justice Department to look into this and other allegations against him.

Defense for the Navy version, the F111B, came from Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze.

Acknowledging serious problems in converting the TFX to Navy needs, Nitze added: "I have confidence that changes... not being implemented will make the F111B suitable for operation from our first-line attack carriers and will give it the capabilities to perform its mission."

Nitze didn't detail the problems, but they reportedly center on reducing the weight of the Navy version for carrier use.

Military Gives Support For Controversial Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Renewed criticism by Sen. John L. McClellan of the controversial F111 warplane has drawn strong statements of support for the plane from Air Force and Navy spokesmen.

McClellan issued a statement questioning whether Congress should authorize any more money for developing and manufacturing the F111, formerly known as the TFX. The Arkansas Democrat said the plane had been inadequately tested and predicted it would fail to meet Air Force and Navy standards.

Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown and Gen. J. P. McConnell, Air Force Chief of Staff, later issued a joint statement expressing confidence in the F111A "will fly faster, farther and carry a greater payload, nuclear or conventional,

Robot Scout To Check Moon Site

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Surveyor 3, the most complex robot yet designed to scout the lunar terrain, aims moonward Monday to sink its own little shovel into the soil and return thousands of photographs from a place where U.S. astronauts may land.

Better equipped than Surveyor 1 which achieved America's first soft landing on the moon, the 10-foot-tall craft is to thunder into space at 1:14 a.m. EST Monday atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket.

Sixty-five hours later, on Wednesday, the three-legged spacecraft is scheduled to trigger a braking rocket and settle gently at a spot on the moon's Ocean of Storms.

The target zone is located on the right side of the moon's visible face and slightly below its equator as seen from earth. Based on photographs from Lunar Orbiters 1 and 3 which showed the area as relatively smooth, scientists picked it as a candidate landing site for astronauts.

Surveyor 3 is the first moon-landed spacecraft equipped to dig into the soil. A scoop about the size of a man's hand is attached to an arm able to reach up to five feet away from the spacecraft's main frame.

Project officials said it can be manipulated like a small steam shovel to turn a furrow as deep as 18 inches and swing in an arc more than one-quarter of the way around the spacecraft. The scoop will be able to plow up a total of 24 square feet as controllers on earth watch its progress via Surveyor 3's television system, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

The scoop also has a small tiddler that has a "bite" twice as strong as a man's jaw. This could be used to pick up debris or possibly crush a lunar rock so scientists can see whether boulders on the moon are tough enough to damage a manned moonship.

Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program director, Phillips said that after reading the report he had "felt top management was not giving sufficient attention to direction of and attention to contracts."

But Phillips said he made an oral report in April, 1966, in which he said North American had improved its practices.

Carries Probe To Site Of Tragedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee will carry its probe of the Apollo spaceship fire to Cape Kennedy, Fla., scene of the Jan. 27 tragedy that killed three astronauts.

After a closed session Thursday, Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., said his space panel will talk to Apollo project workers as well as National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials.

One purpose of the on the spot probe—for which a time still is to be set—is to check testimony indicating firemen had not been trained to open the capsule and attempt rescue in case of an accident, members said.

"That's one purpose of going to Cape Kennedy," said Rep. Richard Rondebusch, R-Ind. "We want to talk to some of the people about that."

In a parallel Senate inquiry, North American Aviation Co.—prime contractor on the Apollo project—was both defended and criticized.

George Mueller, assistant NASA administrator, told the Senate Space Committee that North American could not be directly blamed for the Apollo fire.

But Robert Seamans Jr., deputy NASA administrator, said: "There has not always been at North American sufficient dedication either to engineering design or workmanship."

Responding to questions, Seamans could recall no suggestions that North American be replaced. He said replacing the prime contractor could delay seriously the nation's lunar landing program.

Criticism of North American also was presented in a 1965 task force report summarized for the Senate panel by Maj.

Police Chief Walter Eubanks said that on request of management, the women moved from inside to the outside of the hotel with their signs Thursday afternoon. Let a man examine himself, and so eat the bread and drink of the cup. (I Corinthians 11:28, RSV)

Remaining Reform Should Be Effected

Respectably, Gov. John Connally has felt compelled to forego this session two important phases of his seven-point plan for improved metropolitan-area government in order to try to save the rest. That can be justified only if a strong push is made for the five recommendations in the Texas Research League's excellent study that can and should be quickly accomplished by simple legislation.

An apparent majority of the state's county judges and commissioners are still shortsightedly opposed to two recommended constitutional amendments to strengthen and moderate county government. One would increase the taxing power and functions of counties to eliminate the need for special purpose districts in "urban counties" in metropolitan areas. The other would permit local-option reorganization of counties' governmental structures. Such reform would give county governments broader and more constructive and progressive roles in metropolitan-area affairs, but that achievement is politically improbable without enlightened support from county officials.

Delay in major county governmental reform, however, need not delay the five statutory proposals for improved metropolitan-area planning and intergovernmental cooperation and state aid. These are (1) state authorization and aid to councils of government as voluntary coordinating agencies in metropolitan areas (2) state incentives for cooperative contracts among local political subdivisions, (3) county authority to regulate subdivisions beyond municipal control, (4) creation of a state local government agency to coordinate state-local relations, and (5) a state board to screen new incorporations for need and fitness in metropolitan-area development plans.

If those state encouragements for voluntary intergovernmental cooperation in metropolitan areas can be initiated this session, perhaps the need for related constitutional strengthening of county government can be more clearly demonstrated by next session. The Texas Research League's plan would work much better as a whole unifying package, but any phase of it can be effectively initiated separately. And every effort should be made to get as much of the program adopted this session as is politically feasible.

No Surprise Factor

Auto safety research makes it clear that the crucial immediate need is for means of lessening injury and death in the "second collision." This occurs, after the initial impact, when passengers are hurled against objects in the car's interior. It is thus ironic that the auto makers' chief complaint with regard to the new federal auto safety standards involves some of the features intended to meet this need.

The things that hurt and kill in that "second collision" are instrument panels, sun visors, seat backs, arm rests and a variety of knobs and handles. It is redesign of precisely such things that the manufacturers say will be impossible in time for the Jan. 1 deadline.

The manufacturers deserve a full hearing on this point — and should get it under auspices of the National Traffic Safety Agency. But the effect of projections and unspaded surfaces has been known for years. It is a pity the auto makers did not redesign them long ago in accordance with research findings.

Florida GOP Stages A Dunkirk

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Only in the case of Dunkirk, perhaps, did the losers of a campaign have the almost instant perception that their recovery from meriting defeat gave them a blessed chance to win the war. But there has been a Dunkirk-like recrimination by Republicans since Barry Goldwater's defeat in 1964, and never was it so evident as in last month's legislative election in Florida.

IN A WAY, Goldwater's campaign of that sunny peninsula was a microcosm of his national strategy pitch. He was too proud to grovel for votes, and too practical to scorn them.

As a result, Barry ran behind Republican Congressman Cramer of that district. Had he run as well as Cramer did, Goldwater would have taken the state.

BUT THERE is more to the story than that. The Florida beaches, like those of Dunkirk, were strewn with many lives-bodily and much usable equipment. Somehow, the Florida Republicans rescued and salvaged a great deal of what looked like a total calamity. Their national candidate was beaten, but their organization remained intact. It was a case of Goldwaterites and Goldwaterism without Barry. The businessmen, lawyers and farmers who exist quite apart from the retirees and the vacationers, did not quit the Republican ranks. They withdrew, regrouped, and planned to fight again.

A PECULIAR condition existed, however, in that there were plenty of party workers and party contributors, but a scarcity of candidates when the 1966 elections came around. There were few volunteers for what looked like certain defeat at the polls in 1966. The Goldwater debacle left only two Republicans in the state senate, only 11 Republicans in the house of representatives. The GOP had to concede many local offices by leaving the posts uncontested. The Republican gubernatorial nomination was regarded as so worthless that a California-born, Alabama-educated insurance broker, Claude Kirk Jr., was not even named when he became the party's standard-bearer.

Much to the astonishment of the national, out-of-Florida press, Kirk won the governorship against Robert King High. He was accompanied into office by 11 (nine additional) state senators, and 26 (15 additional) house of representatives members.

IF THE aftermath of the 1964 election had been Goldwaterites without Barry, the aftermath of 1966 was a strong Goldwater party base without much resultant success. There might well have been more candidates elected if they'd been in the field. But at New Year's with the proof that GOP aspirants were not doomed in advance, with Gov. Kirk and others there as winners, the situation had radically altered. The approach of a special election in March, 1967, to meet the requirements of reapportionment was hailed as a new opportunity for Southern Republicans.

THEY WERE able to find plenty of candidates for last month's election, and they scored in a big way. Today there are 26 Republican state senators, and 29 Republican members of the house of representatives.

It's a Dunkirk story of a beaten force that saved itself from ruin, and lived to enjoy the sweet smell of success at a later time.

Mosque Despite Racial Rules

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Johannesburg's new Moslem mosque, built in contravention of government race laws, has been completed.

It stands on the edge of downtown Johannesburg in what is proclaimed a white area under the Group Areas Act. This means that all buildings in the area must be occupied by whites, although nonwhite labor is allowed there.

Hundreds of Moslems pray daily at the 50,000 Rands ($7,000) mosque, which has one minaret. It replaces the mosque which was built on the same site 50 years ago, long before the introduction of the Group Areas Act.

Work on the new structure began without the government being aware it was in a white area.

When it was half built the government realized this would mean non-whites occupying the building, and declared it illegal. But because of government policy of no interference in religion, it was granted a reprieve and work was allowed to continue.

Running 'Round Mulberry Bush

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the myths of American life is the sanctity of free, collective bargaining. It's worshiped, protected and encouraged — until the going gets too tough.

It gets too rough when there is danger of a strike that would shut down an industry vital to American health, welfare, or security. No president or Congress is going to sit idly by and let that happen, at least not for long.

BUT, INSTEAD of approving a law which beforehand would forbid a strike in an essential industry by, for instance, compelling both sides to submit to compulsory arbitration, the presidents and Congress have skipped around the dilemma.

Apparently hoping these emergency strike threats won't come along too often, and therefore can be handled as special cases when they do occur, the presidents and Congress have tried to get by with "one-shot" actions.

One of them occurred this week when President Johnson asked Congress for, and instantly got, legislation forbidding a railroad strike for 28 days, or until May 1.

IF THERE is a settlement then between six railroad craft unions and the country's major rail lines, Congress will probably follow the pattern it has adopted for years: don't do anything until the next big threat comes.

But the population is increasing, thus increasing the nation's needs and the interdependency of its various parts. Inevitably, therefore, Congress will eventually have to pass antistrike legislation in vital industries.

Meanwhile, the only strikes likely to stay free of government interference indefinitely are those in industries of a minor nature.

PRESIDENT Johnson, who values the goodwill of labor, has shown a great reluctance to hand Congress proposals for coping with emergency strikes although in his State of the Union message in January, 1966, he called for laws to "enable us effectively to deal with strikes which threaten to damage the national interest."

But he never followed this up with specific proposals. Instead, he created a task force to study the problem and the task force hasn't been heard from, either.

THIS WEEK the task force reportedly had finished its work and perhaps Johnson will send its report to Congress but that doesn't mean Johnson will send along with it his own recommendations.

After the 43-day airline strike last summer by the machinists' union, it seemed possible the 1967 Congress, where Republicans had captured a lot of seats, thanks to the 1966 elections, might take some action. It hasn't yet.

In the airline dispute, when the strike was supposed to start April 21, Johnson compelled a 60-day delay under the authority given him by the Railway Labor Act. After the 60 days were over, the strike began and became the longest in the history of the airlines.

Daydreams Dash Boredom

NEW YORK (AP) — Retirement comes to some men as a crushing burden and a vast boredom.

They are like a child on a rainy day: they don't know what to do with themselves. It might help if, well in advance of that farewell dinner with their colleagues, they made a list of their daydreams — and consider whether any are now worth carrying out.

SUCH A LIST is surprisingly varied. For example, here is a random selection of daydreams by one who has never yet—

Joined the French Foreign Legion or a Rotary Club.

Become the living idol of a savage African tribe.

Planted a garden, grown a beard, or worn a toupee.

PERFORMED an appendectomy on a submarine by flashlight.

Walked on water.

Skated across this ice to save a beautiful girl from drowning.

Met a payroll.

Looked across a crowded room on an enchanted evening and fallen hopelessly in love with a total stranger.

Ridden in an ice sled or a surrey with a fringe on the top.

FOUGHT off head hunters on a lonely south seas isle.

Danced all night with Julie Andrews.

Roped and tied a steer in prize-winning time at a rodeo.

Eaten off a gold plate, and wiped the platter clean.

Owined a racing car, a thoroughbred horse, or an electric toothbrush.

THROWN KNIVES at a woman on a revolving board in a circus act.

Given a lecture at Harvard, Yale, Oxford—or a neighborhood kindergarten.

Knowingly taken money from the CIA.

Been pecked by a maddened pigeon or mauled by a Siberian bear.

GHOSTED A speech for President Johnson, or written a sonnet in Swahili.

Lifted a glass of vodka in the Kremlin.

Boredom? How can any man become bored, retired or not, in a world with so many wonderful daydreams still waiting to come true?

Around The Rim

Good For Everything

Mrs. Mary Cochran, volunteer coordinator at Big Spring State Hospital, is my good friend. She always says nice things to me — and that's really about all one should expect of a friend in these day-a-grayer days. Take the other day.

"JO," SAID Mary, "when you die it's going to be Page One news."

"Thank you," said I modestly, showing my affectionate gratitude with a few quick ticks on her winged brows.

"The reason you will find yourself worth even an ounce of print," continued Mary, gently disengaging her Kodak, "is because the noble people who dispose of dead bodies will have to dig for days through old newspapers to find your obituary."

For emphasis, she added, "Of course, your cats will have starved to death by then, too."

MY FRIEND spoke truth, and one of her psychiatrist friends could probably chill my bones with a recitation of reasons for my hesitancy in parting with the printed word. My family has even been known to send me an obituary so that they might slip out in the dead of night—like thieves—to fill the trash can with my treasures. On the rare occasions when they could pry my hands away from something like, say, the 1947 Spiegel catalog, I followed the garbage truck for miles.

The world's itinerant gals who collect diamonds, drinks and men—why not a pure, harmless pack rat who only asks to be left alone with her books, pamphlets and stacks of beautiful newspapers?

DO YOU know, Dear Friend, that newspapers aren't just for reading? Now remember with me for a minute.

When I was a child and sank into my grandmother's leather bed, the hot brick that warmed my toes was wrapped in newspaper. On her back screened porch, the table that held vegetables and fruit was laid with fresh newspaper and by the fireplace was a wicker basket filled with slender wands of rolled newspaper that freed the legs and kindling. The bottom of the basket that brought eggs from the barn was lined with newspaper, and in the barn itself, I remember seeing wads of newspaper serving as stoppers for kerosene cans.

WHEN THE preacher came for dinner, he left with a ham or fresh pork site wrapped in newspaper, and his tea had been served with ice taken from a blanket of newspaper. My mother "put up" produce from the garden in glass jars that were stored with newspaper in between, and when she sewed, she created dress patterns out of newspaper. On baking days she turned out the hot cakes and gingerbread planks onto newspaper sprinkled with cinnamon sugar. There was still plenty left for me to make into kites, cut into paper dolls, snip into snowflake designs or fold into boats or sailer hats.

OH, THERE'S so much more. Newspapers are shredded to pack dried possessions, rolled to swat a dog or fly, crinkled to clean windows, circled to carpet bird cages — and scissored into items that record the family history.

And in the end — they bring this whole, glorious world to a stay-at-home gal like me.

Only a dime? Wrap me up two dozen.

—JO BRIGHT

The South American Conference

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has at last emphasized that his administration is deeply interested in cooperating in the economic development of the Latin-American countries. His personal participation in the conference in Uruguay removes a feeling that the United States government had turned its eyes to Europe and Asia and was not so much concerned with the many perplexing situations, both in trade and in international politics, that have arisen in Central and South America.

SOME OF the countries in Latin America have made substantial progress, but it is very small in comparison with many of the other nations of the world. This is largely attributable to the fact that most of the countries in Latin America have long been giving their attention to the production and export of basic commodities at the expense of modern industrial development. The growing of coffee and other export crops has even superseded the filling of food needs.

FOREIGN CAPITAL has played a significant part in the history of Central and South America. For many years the "colonialists" controlled local resources and derived profits from them. There was little interest in putting money into schools, transportation, communications or other needs. The "colonialists" and their heirs also became involved in the domestic political game, with the result that the region's history is full of so-called "revolutions" in which one clique merely displaced another.

THE UNITED States can be of immense help to Latin America, but the leaders of each of the countries will themselves have to recognize the importance of self-development along modern lines. Money from abroad will not alone suffice. Many Latin Americans have come to schools and colleges in the United States, and when they returned home have been of immeasurable assistance to their countries. More trained technicians from other lands are needed in Latin-American countries.

The most important fact about the "summit conference" in Uruguay is that it is being held. A President of the United States has come a long distance to attend the sessions there. This is dramatic evidence of interest and will be appreciated throughout Latin America.

NATURALLY, differences of opinion will arise as to how the declarations and official communiques shall be worded. Such problems as tariffs and trade agreements in a "common market" cannot be solved at a single meeting. All the statements issued after the conference will, however, be meaningless unless a practical formula of cooperation is devised that will help each of the Latin-American countries to improve its economic situation in the future.

CENTRAL AND South America have rich resources which can be utilized not only for the benefit of the two continents but for other continents as well. The "Alliance for Progress" was a good title for the effort begun six years ago, but not enough has as yet been accomplished.

The unfortunate plight of the Latin-American countries as a whole is something which has given the Communists a chance to intervene and make trouble. The policy of the United States today is motivated by a desire not only to cooperate in the economic evolution of Latin America, but to see to it that no more situations like that which has arisen in Cuba will be permitted to emerge anywhere else in the hemisphere. That's why President Johnson's trip is of the utmost importance to the people of North as well as South America.

California Demos Floundering

LOS ANGELES — The Democratic party in California is fragmented like the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle scattered on the floor. No one is in sight who can supply the firm leadership to put the pieces together again.

This reporter asked a number of politicians, high and low, Democrats and Republicans, about President Johnson's standing in the state. They agree that if the election were held next week he could not carry California. Loyal Democrats say this can change later before the Presidential contest. Republicans, speaking their private conviction, believe nothing can retrieve the Johnson fortunes in this largest state in the Union.

PARTLY IT IS doubt and confusion over the Vietnam war. This is related to the cutbacks in domestic programs, high taxes, rising prices. Majority opinion seems to be: Let's bomb the hell out of 'em, get it over with and get out.

But the discontent among Democrats, who still hold a three-to-two edge in registration, is not alone over the war. The credibility gap and the Johnson personality have something to do with it. The faithful who do the day-to-day political chores are in the middle of the kind of credibility gap that results from the President's singular habits of secrecy.

JOHNSON IS due here in June for a big fund-raising President's Club dinner, or so everyone believes. A drive began to sell tickets at $500 each. Then from the White House came word that there was no knowledge of any plan to visit Los Angeles in June. Angered by this uncertainty the faithful said, "Okay, we won't sell any more tickets until we get a promise on the record that the man is coming."

UNDER ORDINARY circumstances

the sale of tickets should be no problem. Southern California lives on aerospace contracts and the big contractors are anxious to show the flag. A potential Republican candidate for Sen. Thomas Kuchel's seat is Gen. Curtis LeMay, who left as Chief of Staff of the Air Force to take an executive post with Network Electronics with large defense contracts.

AS OF NOW, it is widely conceded, there is no Democrat who can defeat Kuchel should he come through next year without a bruising primary fight. This is not for lack of talent ready and willing. Younger men like Thomas Braden, Oceanstate publisher and former head of the state board of education, have proved their ability.

Survival in the fierce party-in-fighting is, however, increasingly the test. Mayor Sam Yorty repudiated John F. Kennedy in 1960 and contributed to the defeat of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown by opposing him in the primary and drawing off nearly a million votes. Despite Johnson's passionate plea, Yorty declined to support Brown in November.

THE MAYOR now says he means to team up with Jesse Unruh, Speaker of the Assembly who was also in the movement to cut up Brown, to enter a slate of delegates for Johnson next year. This could mean a three-way and even a four-way split, for Brown, now practicing law here, is determined to keep his leadership of the party. If the left-of-center California Democratic Council gets into the act and Alabama's George Wallace has a foot in the primary door it will be a fracas worthy of the brawling gold rush days.

One of the so-called "spiritual" people in our church is also the biggest critic and gossip. This has discouraged some people in our church in striving to be spiritual for fear they may become like her.

D. F. There is a difference between "seeming to be spiritual," and actual spirituality. The one is pretending the other is real. It is interesting that the word hypocrite comes from the Greek HYPOCRITES which means, "one who plays a part; a pretender." The person you refer to is evidently a "pretender," because she is playing two roles: that of a gossip, and that of a spiritual person, and these two do not actually exist in one person at the same time.

James wrote to those who made a pretense of being spiritual: "If any among you seem to be religious and bridleth not his own tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this person's religion is in vain." (James 1:26)

Candy Wins On 3 Fronts

By The Associated Press
Hey, boys and girls, there's good news today for the sweet-tooth set.

North Dakota is soon to lift its ban on candy cigarettes, a scientist says licorice ropes won't harm you and a British judge looks kindly on bubble gum cards with war pictures.

The ban on the sweets in North Dakota went into effect 14 years ago and was aimed at keeping youngsters from picking up the smoking habit.

It was pushed by a woman appalled at the sight of a youngster with one of the tidbits in his mouth.

A new statute updating the state's food and drug laws goes into effect July 1. It will once again okay the cigarette-and-cigar-shaped candies.

In San Francisco Thursday, Dr. David R. Rovner of the University of Michigan Medical School warned against eating too much licorice.

A lot of it every day over several years can produce — in nonmedical terms — too much tension and affect the salt and water balance in the body, he said.

"But you can eat those candy ropes of licorice until the cows come home," he told the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians. "They are licorice flavored but contain little, if any, actual licorice."

In London, a school headmistress objected in high court to two-penny gum packets with picture cards showing World War II battle scenes.

Her complaint, previously rejected in a lower court, was that the cards tended to deprave and corrupt the children. A psychiatrist testified that some children might be influenced toward acts of cruelty by exposure to the combat pictures.

On the bench, Lord Parker, chief justice of England, quipped at the cards laid out before him.

"There are scenes of battle and violence," he noted, "but they are all in association with good people and heroes, not criminals. It is an indication of adventure and battle."

The good guys were British army, navy and air force lads busily beating the bad guys of a generation ago.

Lord Parker's observation was not an official decision. That comes later.

Silly Game, But Curious

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Dating Game" on ABC Saturday evenings revolves around assorted pretty single girls who direct inane or way-out questions to three bachelors concealed behind a screen. From their answers, she picks one — for a big date which is a short visit to some far-away spot.

It's all rather silly, but some of the unexplained strings do stimulate the viewer's curiosity.

How can attractive, eligible young men — who presumably can get all the dates they want — be persuaded to play such a dangerous game? Moreover, suppose the girl and the blind date, stuck for several days in some distant spot, discover they can't stand each other?

Dennis Cole, the good-looking, eligible 23-year-old actor who plays the "junior detective in the 'Felon Squad'" was able to provide some but not all of the answers. He recently was chosen sight unseen by Kim Carnes of the New Christy Minstrels to be her date. The reward was a four-day sojourn, all expenses paid, in Puerto Rico.

"I went on the show because I figure that the more exposure I get on television the better it will be for my career and for our series," explained Cole earnestly.

However, Kim was summoned home in the Midwest in a family emergency. Dennis was told to pick his own date. Off they flew with their chaperone for the holiday.

"It was all just great," he reported, returning to California via New York. "And the chaperone was a ball — they use people who work in the producer's office. They had good reservations and a big busy schedule planned. Actually if I'd gone with some girl who turned out to be just awful, it would have been easy just to split and go off alone to see the sights or lie in the sun."

Britain's Conservatives Score Election Victories

LONDON (AP) — Britain's ruling Labor party was shaken today by its worst election defeat in years, the loss of the London County government after 33 years in control. And the opposition Conservatives were riding high in other county elections all across England and Wales.

The local setbacks had no effect on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's large majority in the House of Commons or Labor's hold on the national government. But there was general agreement the landslide in the capital and much of the anti-Labor vote elsewhere resulted from discontent with Wilson's policies, particularly the wage freeze and credit squeeze to protect the pound sterling.

The Conservatives won by a landslide in the London voting Thursday, leaving the Laborites shocked and despondent.

With only 23 results still out in six districts, the Tories had won 59 of the 100 seats on the Greater London Council which administers the capital of eight million people. Labor's total was down to 18, and poll experts predicted it would remain there.

In the last London election three years ago the Laborites won 64 seats to 36 for the Conservatives.

"This is another nail in Wilson's coffin," said Conservative party chairman Edward Du Cann.

Foreign Secretary George Brown, a veteran of the London administration, was near tears as the results came in early today.

"London has done itself badly. It has hurt itself," he told newsmen. "I speak as a cockney who loves the place. We will live to win again, but this is a sad night."

Outside the capital, the Tories won control of four more counties in results declared during the night, making a total of nine county councils won since the week-long elections began Monday.

Lancashire, held by Labor since 1961, gave the Tories another landslide. The Laborites lost 35 seats, many in the cotton mill towns where unemployment has risen sharply since the government's deflationary program got under way nine months ago.

In the 28 counties which have voted so far the Conservatives have gained 150 council seats and Labor has lost 140. Elections are still to come in 31 counties.

Bunker Okayed For Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has agreed to the appointment of Ellsworth Bunker as American ambassador to Saigon, informed sources said today.

There has been no indication when Bunker will arrive to replace Henry Cabot Lodge. Embassy sources said Lodge probably would leave late this month for Washington, where he becomes an ambassador at large.

Children Blamed In Forest Fire

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Sixth graders, who sent homemade objects flying over forest lands near here this week, were blamed for setting fire to a mountainside of timber.

Forestry officials said some of the plastic laundry bags, propelled by hot air from burning candles attached by soda straws, flew more than a mile at heights of about 1,000 feet.

Several hundred acres of woodland burned on Mt. Alto Tuesday night and officials blamed the blazes on the contraptions.

The youths were let off with a warning not to send up any more of the objects.

On the bench, Lord Parker, chief justice of England, quipped at the cards laid out before him.

"There are scenes of battle and violence," he noted, "but they are all in association with good people and heroes, not criminals. It is an indication of adventure and battle."

The good guys were British army, navy and air force lads busily beating the bad guys of a generation ago.

Santa Gertrudis Bring $76,650

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — King Ranch's 17th annual live-stock sale Thursday saw 25 Santa Gertrudis bulls sell for a total of $76,650.

Tom O'Connor of the Rurimar Ranch of Lucedale, Miss., paid the top price for a bull $11,000.

A two-year-old filly was sold for $7,000 as the ranch sold 25 registered quarterhorses for a total of $41,925. George Bunn of Springfield, Ill., bought the filly.

John Keith, ambassador to the United States from Australia, and 33 Australian ranchers were among the crowd that attended the sale, held at the ranch headquarters.

Foreign Secretary George Brown, a veteran of the London administration, was near tears as the results came in early today.

"London has done itself badly. It has hurt itself," he told newsmen. "I speak as a cockney who loves the place. We will live to win again, but this is a sad night."

Opening lead: Ten of ♠
South, the declarer at four spades, handled his assets in a very loose fashion, and when he ran into adverse distribution in both major suits, his campaign collapsed.

West opened the ten of diamonds which was covered by North's jack and East won the trick with the ace. He continued the suit and West's nine dislodged the king. Declarer played the ace, king and another heart, ruffing in dummy with the ten of spades.

East overruffed with the jack and led a third round of diamonds, putting his partner in with the queen. West played a fourth heart, trumped by North's seven and overruffed by East's eight of spades for the setting trick.

South was guilty of gross carelessness. When the third heart is led, a precautionary measure is in order. Instead of ruffing in dummy, it is suggested that declarer discard North's remaining diamond. If it should prove that the hearts are divided three-three, he will have surrendered nothing by his gesture, for he can now trump his diamond loser in dummy — and will merely have traded trick for trick.

The advantage of discarding the diamond on the third heart can readily be seen in the present instance, where it serves as a safety play against an unfavorable break in hearts. West is in with the ten of hearts, and his best return is a club. The dummy's ace is played and a trump led to the closed hand, so that South can ruff a diamond.

Another spade puts South in again to trump a fourth round of hearts in dummy. If East overruffs, it is the third and last trick for the defense. If he refuses to trump, South can ruff a club in his own hand and then score a 10th trick with his remaining high spade.

BEE

spelling bees, will direct the contest.

Winner of the county bee will receive a specially engraved plaque to commemorate his victory. He also will get a free trip for himself and his parents to Lubbock. If he wins there, he gets an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D. C., in June.

If he places high in the national bee, he has a chance to win a number of valuable prizes.

Each school champion will be presented with a blue ribbon and a special pen.

ALTERNATES

The alternates from each school—those who wound up in second place in the school bees—will be recognized. Alternates will not compete unless their school champion is unable to take part.

The vocational agriculture classrooms are just inside the east door of the high school. Those planning to attend the bee are advised to come on Tenth Street to Birdwell Park and turn south onto the parking lot around the school flag pole.

Each champion will spell until he or she misses a word. When a miss is scored, that champion is retired. The bee continues until the final two youngsters remain. The first of these who misses remains until the other champion has had a try at the same word. If he spells it correctly the second youngster retires.

To clinch his title, the remaining speller must then spell one more word given by Mrs. Brewster.

Area Dusts Off Wounds After Beating By Storm

Weather put on a smiling face and a benign air today to atone for its misbehavior Thursday.

Howard County residents digging out from under a blanket of dust left by a roaring windstorm, were not lulled into wholly accepting this new character.

Thursday, a sand storm reminiscent of the old, bad days of the big drouth, blanketed the area. In the rural areas it cut visibility to yards. Here in town, the dust chopped down visual range to a mile or two. Winds which were measured at more than 56 miles an hour roared throughout the day.

The gale took its toll of tree limbs and sign boards. No damage to houses was reported, but many treasured trees were split by the raging gusts.

One tree, which took a severe beating at the hands of the wind was the towering desert willow at the rear of Lucelle's, 1001 Scurry. This tree, said by many, to be one of the largest of this species in the area, was split by the gale. Big Spring Nursery workers were called to the scene and planned to save as much of the old tree as possible. The willow was at least half a century old, it was said.

The big Highland South Shopping Center signboard was battered by the gale and lost most of its display area.

A heavy Texaco sign atop the Petty Brothers service station, across the street from the Settles Hotel, toppled and took out one of the station's gasoline pumps. The flood of gasoline which followed was put under control without fire by city firemen. No damage other than to the pump and sign ensued.

All over town dust piled up as the sandstorm held and continued to rage.

What little help a small shower of Wednesday night might have offered was erased by the wind. The front also broke the temperature down to a chilly 48 degrees which shut down the air conditioners and restored floor furnaces to favor in many homes.

In the rural areas, some farm trailers were overturned or blown loose from moorings; some out buildings were damaged; and fields took a devastating blow.

The forecast for today is brief. "Sunny and warm today and Saturday. Clear and cool to night," was the prediction handed down at noon.

He Met Some Friendly Folk

One theft and one vandalism was reported to police Thursday.

A man staying at the Holiday Inn reported to police a watch and two men's diamond rings, all valued at $850, and a billfold with four $20 bills had been stolen. The man, traveling from New Mexico through Big Spring, told police a man and a woman started buying him drinks in the bar. The last thing he remembered was starting for his room. When he woke up this morning, he told police he found all of these items missing.

Mrs. Helen Eggleston, 1217 Madison, reported several windows in trailer houses had been broken out during the night.

Albuquerque May Get Clay's Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — The proposed heavyweight title bout between champion Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson April 25 appears headed for Albuquerque, N.M., Clay's manager said Friday.

Herbert Muhammad, Clay's Black Muslim adviser, told The Associated Press that he has rejected a bid by the Atlanta Braves to hold the bout in Atlanta Stadium.

"I have told everybody concerned on the telephone this morning that I don't want the bout held in Atlanta and take a chance that some government official will jump up at the last minute and have the fight canceled," said Muhammad.

Muhammad said Chauncey Eskridge, Clay's attorney, was instructed to leave Atlanta where he had been in overnight conference on the fight and proceed to Albuquerque to try to set up the fight there.

"He ought to be there later today and if he can settle who would do the promoting and other details, we will go ahead with plans for the fight in that city," said Muhammad.

"Most important is that we have the approval of the governor of New Mexico for the fight in that state."

In Atlanta, the Atlanta Constitution said Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox had indicated he would not bar the fight if it is approved by the Atlanta Stadium authority. Said Muhammad: "I told Eskridge and Robert Arum, (attorney for Main Bouts Inc., controlled by Clay's group) that we should forget about Atlanta because we might just be taking a chance like we did in Las Vegas and Pittsburgh and have the fight knocked out at the last minute."

Thursday, Gov. David Cargo of New Mexico said he had no objection to the fight being held in his state.

Criminal Docket Sounded Today

A criminal docket, which opens in 118th District Court on Monday, was sounded at 2 p.m. today by Judge Ralph Caton.

A jury panel is to report to the court at 10 a.m. Monday.

Eleven cases are on the original docket, but how many of these will be announced ready is problematical.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that he had hopes of bringing Carrol Trantham to trial as the first case on Monday. Trantham, charged with armed robbery, was placed on trial some months ago and the case was abruptly ended in a mistrial as a result of certain questions made by the state. The court held these were improper.

County Board Slates Special Salary Meeting

Howard County School Board legislative act a few weeks ago. The county board has not met since the office was abandoned and the duties relative to it delegated to the county judge. The three members of the board attending were J. D. Gilmore, just re-elected for another term; Wade Choate and R. L. Heith. H. H. Rutherford, the other re-elected member, was out of the state, and Hayes Stripling Jr. was not present. Gilmore was re-elected president of the board and Rutherford as vice president. Bond for County Porter's duties began when the office of county superintendent was abolished by announcement was made that all children who will have to transfer from one school district to another should file their applications in April or in May with the county judge's office. The applications will be considered by the county board at its meetings between now and the end of May.

Bull Produces Extra Steaks

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A 6-year-old Hereford bull named Dr. Onward 211 produces offspring with an extra rib and an extra vertebra which means four extra T-bone steaks, says Bruce Taylor, head of the University of Arizona animal science Department. He said he didn't know the reason for the anatomy change.

Burleson Says Budget Should Be Balanced

Domestic spending is not being adjusted to bring the federal budget into balance, Rep. Omar Burleson said in his weekly newsletter to the 17th District this week.

Taxpaying time brings the budget into its most painful focus, he says.

Pointing out the difficulty of control because of piecemeal appropriations (there are about 12 principle appropriation bills plus supplemental ones), he said that "fiscal sanity can only be brought about by a rising tide of public opinion."

Always there is a demand for spending, else there would be no provision for it, but "somewhere, sometime, there has got to be a stop," the congressman warned. The assets of the federal government are sufficient to maintain its faith and credit... but if the time ever comes when faith and confidence are shaken in the government's ability to pay, it will be a time of real trouble.

"The cost of the war in Vietnam places a burden upon our financial resources. Some other things which, in themselves, may be good but should be put off until we can better afford them. Since 1961, defense expenditures have risen by almost $30 billion. During the same period, non-defense spending has risen by more than $43 billion. Currently $5½ billion is called for in defense spending over last year, compared to more than $6 billion increase in non-defense spending for the same period. The many demands upon the treasury... require that an order of priorities be established on spending."

Cycle Complaints

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — After teachers at Mitchell Hall, a general classroom building at the University of New Mexico, complained that motorcycle noise was drowning out their lectures, university officials decreed there would be no more motorcycle travel or parking in front of the building.

Baptist Association Has Two Meetings Set

Phillips, College, beginner; Mrs. Jo Jones, East Fourth, and Noel Hull, College, nursery workers. VBS leaders are not only urged to attend but to bring all workers so far enlisted.

Tuesday, starting at 6 p.m. with an executive board meeting at the LaFe Mission, the monthly associational meeting will be held under the theme "Family Witness Conference." The Rev. Francis L. Wil- church in Monahans, will be the speaker.

'HEART OF CASE NOT COVERED'

Reviews Evidence Against Dodd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Ethics Committee sources indicated today that evidence gathered against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd is being reviewed in response to a request for re-opening of committee hearings.

The appeal for additional public hearings into misconduct charges against Dodd was made by four ex-employees of the Connecticut Democrat. All four admitted rifled Dodd's files to disclose what they said was serious wrongdoing.

HEART OF CASE

Their letter to the bipartisan committee said areas not covered in hearings last summer and last month "constitute the heart of the Dodd case."

Although the committee already is at work on a report to the Senate of its findings and recommendations, an authoritative source said that Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., has never foreclosed the possibility of additional hearings.

Stennis is expected to issue a statement on behalf of the committee, although this was left somewhat up in the air Thursday night after he and other committee members conferred informally.

One committee member told a reporter he wanted to take another look at the evidence in the light of the ex-employees' letter.

REVIEW CHARGES

The committee staff was instructed, it was learned, to review the charges on which new hearings were requested.

Stennis and the committee's vice chairman, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said the charges already have been looked into during the year-old investigation.

"Some of these things may be incapable of proof," Bennett told a reporter. He asked what would be the point of holding hearings on them if substantiating evidence were not available.

At the outset of its investigation, the committee said it would rely on evidence it developed independently of documents which Dodd has protested were stolen from his office by employees he accused of betraying him.

TAINTED

Bennett said Thursday the committee had been advised by counsel it could not use material in documents taken from the senator's files by his ex-employees.

"They were tainted because they were stolen," he said.

The four former employees, James P. Boy, Jr., Marjorie

Carpenter, Michael V. O'Hare and Miss Terry Golden, have acknowledged taking some 4,000 documents from Dodd's files and turning over copies to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Pearson and Anderson wrote columns last year accusing Dodd of misappropriation of campaign funds and other misconduct. Dodd requested the Ethics Committee to investigate the charges, sued the columnists for libel, and has demanded criminal prosecution of his former employees.

NO COMMENT

Dodd had no comment on the request for a re-opening of the hearings. But in a Senate speech Thursday he strongly opposed repeal of a law providing for use of tax money to finance presidential election campaigns.

"The lack of personal wealth and the unwillingness to sacrifice principles for campaign contributions frequently combine to discourage some of our finest citizens from running for public office," he said.

"If they do run," he added, "the odds are heavily against their election."

Dodd made no reference to his own case except to say that if such candidates do get elected, they are sometimes so encumbered by debt, as happened to him, "that they suffer years of anguish before they extricate themselves."

EXECUTIVE HEARING

Boyd, Dodd's former administrative assistant, said the letter he and the other ex-employees wrote April 4 referred to matters about which the committee had gone into detail at an executive hearing last April.

He also said that in subsequent weeks he and the other former aides were "interrogated thoroughly by the staff" and also interviewed repeatedly by FBI agents.

Boyd said their complaint was not that the committee had not investigated the charges but that they had not held public hearings on them.

"We are not accusing the committee of being negligent or anything like that," he said in an interview.

BASIC ISSUE

However, he said they felt additional hearings would provide "a wonderful opportunity to illustrate" basic policy issues and assist in developing public support for a code of ethics for senators.

He said that largely overlooked in their letter urging a re-opening of the hearings was this statement: "We feel that, as the Senate prepares to enact a code of ethics, the public has a right to know all the major aspects of the Dodd case, so it can bring an informed judgment to bear upon the Senate deliberations promised for later this year."

They asked more hearings on charges that Dodd sought government contracts and appointments for persons who contributed to his campaigns or loaned him money and that he accepted cash and gifts from executives of industries being investigated by committees on which he served.

$500 GIFT

As one example of what it described as "a serious violation of Senate ethics," their letter cited a $500 contribution made in 1964 to Dodd by Edward Cooper, the Washington lobbyist for the Motion Picture Association.

The letter said Dodd requested Senate funds in 1964 to investigate the motion picture industry, but never conducted the study after getting Cooper's contribution.

Cooper said the suggestion "that Dodd was bought off by me is very, very unfair."

PETER'S SERMON ANSWERED QUESTION THAT HOLDS TRUE

Peter's sermon at Pentecost raises and answers a question that persists to this day. In the International Sunday School lesson (Acts 2:22-24, 32-39), Peter makes it clear that Christ was "taken, and by wicked hands . . . crucified and slain" with the "determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God." And yet "this Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses . . . let all know that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ."

This was a stinging message, and his hearers asked, "What shall we do?" Peter's answer, just as valid and as relevant today as then, was simple: "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

It is significant that Peter's sermon is the first public proclamation to the resurrection. Peter makes it clear that Jesus was proclaimed of God through His ministry, miracles, and in divers ways. This brings into focus divine sovereignty, and also human freedom because "ye have taken and . . . have crucified and slain."

This points up man's personal reaction to the question of "what shall we do?" Having heard the message of Christ (of which Peter's sermon is a splendid example), man accepts or rejects; he is responsible for the consequences of this decision. Peter underlines the doctrine of repentance — the quality of being sorry enough for sin to quit. He also sounds a radiant hope that salvation and the presence of the Holy Spirit are assured for all those who surrender to God.

Teachers' Workshop Set At 14th-Main Church

A teacher's workshop and leadership training series is planned next week. Monday through Thursday nights, at the Fourteenth and Main Streets Church of Christ. Services will be conducted each night from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

Brad Brumley, of Austin, will be the main speaker each night. A graduate of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., he is an outstanding conductor of such clinics. He participated in over 150 such workshops in churches and on Christian college campuses.

Assisting Brumley in this work will be Mrs. Philip Evanson, Midland, who will hold a class on teaching the pre-school group; Mrs. Brumley, who will instruct teachers on teaching the primary and junior classes; Philip Evanson, who will conduct a class for junior high and high school teachers. Brumley will also have a class for adult teachers and church leaders.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Troy Roberts, Midland, will discuss for all teachers the use of visual aids in teaching. The women of the church plan a special session Tuesday morning at 10:30, with Brumley as guest speaker, to be followed by a covered dish luncheon.

"This teacher's workshop and leadership training series is open to all Sunday school teachers and educational directors, regardless of any particular faith," said Walter Stroup, educational director of the church. "We invite all to attend." Perry Cotham is minister for the church.

A LOVELIER YOU This Treatment May Shrink Large Pores

By MARY SUE MILLER

A mature lovely writes: Enlarged pores are my problem. It all began in my teens when my skin was oily. With the passing of the oily condition (and the years), I hoped the pores would tighten. Such is not the case. Please advise.

The Answer: It is almost impossible to shrink enlarged pores to normal size. But gaps become smaller and less noticeable by the faithful use of this treatment:

The most vital step is hospital cleanliness. Wash the face at least once daily with a thick lather of mild complexion soap. And be sure to apply the lather with the fingertips or a soft complexion brush; work it in for a full minute. Next rinse with splashes of warm water, until the fingers "drag" on touching the skin. Finish with splashes of cold, but not icy, water.

Several times weekly, after washing, apply astringent lotion directly to each trouble spot with a cotton swab and let air dry. For occasional use astringent masks are recommended.

To cleanse between washings, film on a very light - textured cleansing cream or lotion. Remove all traces of it first with cleansing tissue and then with a cosmetic cotton ball, dampened in skin freshener. Furthermore, before washing the face, always remove any make-up with cosmetic cleanser.

Together those measures help refine the pores and prevent the clog to which they are prone. Firm the facial tissue, too!

LOVELIER COMPLEXION

Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types; proper application methods; treatments for blackheads, enlarged pores, circles, wrinkles, crepiness, etc. For your copy of "A Lovelier Complexion," write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

You watch (via TV) the way the Boston Celtics clobber the opposition in Boston and it makes you wonder about the caliber of officiating in the NBA.

The fans in Boston's snake pit, of course, are so inhosptable, the arbiters have a right to feel intimidated.

That 68-1 1/2 shot put by Abilene Cooper's Mitch Robertson, achieved last Saturday, likely will stand as a conference record for a decade, at least.

Emory Maristdale's old mark of 57-4 had endured for eight years.

Marlene Hagge, who played golf out of Midland when her last name was Bauer, recently was voted the Best Dressed Female Tournament golfer professional by Golf Digest.

Marlene's sister, Alice, recently became the bride of Robert A. Gwinner, a Toledo, Ohio, physician.

The Atlanta Constitution took a poll of golf writers on the possible winner prior to the recent Masters tournament at Augusta and only Jimmy Smothers of the Gadsden, Ala., Times picked the ultimate champion, Gay Brewer.

Five other golfers drew first place ballots, with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, of course, drawing most of the support.

Bob Hertzog of the Atlanta Journal tabbed Palmer for a first place finish and had Brewer in second place while Furman Bisher of Atlanta and Dick Forbes of Cincinnati figured Brewer for third.

No one reasoned Bobby Nichols would wind up among the top three.

The father of Green Bay's Donny Anderson is paid $1,000 a month by the Packers, and he never has to watch another football game, if he's so mind. The 'salary' will go to him as long as he lives. He's listed as a scout.

That was part of that fabulous deal signed by the one-time Texas Tech All-American.

The senior Mr. Anderson had only two years to go toward his pension with an oil company but the arrangement worked out by the Packers was so flattering that he quit his job on the spot.

Donny was paid $55,000 in cash in a $550,000 bonus arrangement. The remainder comes in yearly payments (for income tax purposes).

What's that about having second thoughts about raising your son to be a football player?

Willie Mays Clubs Homer, Giants Win

Gaylor Perry was scared of one batter, but it looks as if National League hitters may be spending another season worrying about Gaylor Perry.

A 21-game winner last season, the San Francisco pitcher allowed Atlanta just four hits in his 1967 debut Thursday night as the Giants rode homers by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey to a 2-0 triumph over the Braves.

Perry didn't pitch more than seven innings at a stretch during the exhibition season and around Thursday, the tall right-hander found himself with a name on base and the tying run at the plate. The tying run's name was Hank Aaron. "I was scared to death when Hank came up," Perry related later in the dressing room. "He's the toughest out in the league."

But Aaron became Perry's fourth strikeout victim and two fly balls later the game was over.

Mays' home run, the 543rd of his career, came in the first inning off Tony Cloninger, who also gave up McCovey's shot in the third and took the defeat.

The game was Atlanta's home opener and was played before 33,225 fans.

Martin Is Named Houston Coach

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's entry in the newly formed American Basketball Association has a head coach and general manager today although the team itself has no official name.

Slater Martin, former college and professional star, was named to the positions Thursday.

Martin, a star at the University of Texas and at Minneapolis and St. Louis in the National Basketball Association, declined to reveal the length of the contract or the salary terms.

The Houston Basketball Corp., owners of the new club, announced Martin's selection at a news conference.

Kats, Buffs Run In Angelo Meet

Track and field teams representing Garden City and Fort San go to San Angelo to compete for honors in the District 44-B meet today.

First and second place finishers there become eligible to take part in the Region VI-B meet in Big Spring, scheduled a week from Saturday.

Other schools entered at San Angelo include Sterling City, Wall, Robert Lee, Water Valley, Miles, Merizon, Christoval, Barnhart and Bronco.

Softball Meet Play Delayed

All action in the City Softball league's pre-season tournament last night was cancelled due to the uncooperative elements.

Play will be resumed in the meet this evening, with two contests on tap.

The 7 p.m. opener sends Reed Insurance, which drew a first round bye, against Morton's Foods while Chapman's Meat Market tangles with the City of Big Spring at 8:45 o'clock.

The tournament will be concluded Saturday night.

LISTEN

You've got to listen hard to hear a '67 Mercury—quietest outboard you can buy.

An exclusive "System of Silence" makes Mercury really quiet. A sound-isolating support frame attaches to the engine with heavy-duty rubber mounts. The entire engine cowling assembly rests on this frame. The powerhead's wrapped in an acoustically lined exterior cowling. Control and fuel line fittings are sealed with neoprene. Finally, the exhaust tube is surrounded with a sound-deadening "wall-of-water" jacket. And remember, Mercury was quieter than other outboards to begin with. Small-bore, short-stroke engine, internal reed valves deep within the crankcase, tighter-fitting parts and closer tolerances, Jet-Prop exhaust—that's designed-in quiet. Listen to the difference—at your Mercury dealer. '67 Mercury—engineered to stay ahead—quietly.

Steers Host Eagles At 2:00 Saturday

Still trying to regain that competitive edge they enjoyed up until the beginning of District 2-AAAA baseball play, the Big Spring Steers return to competition at 2 o'clock here Saturday afternoon against the Abilene Eagles.

The Longhorns have dropped four in a row since edging Midland Lee in their league debut. The locals have been unable to overcome the first inning jitters.

Over-all, Big Spring is 9-7, thanks to bold thrusts against non-conference foes in the Andrews tournament. Jerry (Moose) Ryan may go to the mound for Big Spring Saturday, in which case Lonnie Clanton would take over at first base. Other probable starters for the locals are apt to be Junior Don Newsom at second, Tony Mendoza behind the plate, Gary Martinez at third, Billy Burchett at shortstop, Dean Gilstrap in left field, Jesse Zapata in center and R. J. Englert in right.

EX-STEER IS LOBO COACH

Bobby Hayworth, former star quarterback of the Big Spring Steers, has signed a two-year contract as head football coach and athletic director at Levelland High School, a District 3-AAA school.

More recently, Hayworth has served as a coaching aide at Lubbock Monterey High School. He will be allowed to take two aides with him. Hayworth succeeds Harold Barrett as coach at Levelland.

Lubbock Christian Wins Over HC Hawks, 12-0

Lubbock Christian College swept the boards in Western Conference tennis matches with HCJC here Thursday. The margin in each division of competition was 6-0.

The matches were played indoors because of the weather conditions. For that reason, winners in the girls' matches were determined in "pro" sets.

The Hawks will host Frank Phillips of Borger Tuesday in another round of WC tests. Results:

NBA Finals Set To Open

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The offensively powerful Philadelphia 76ers will need their finest defense here tonight against the San Francisco Warriors in the first game of a best-of-seven series to determine the National Basketball Association champion.

The high-scoring Western Division champs eliminated Los Angeles 3-0 and St. Louis 4-2 in their division playoffs. The Warriors averaged 126.2 points against the 76ers during the regular season and tallied a massive 145 to win their last meeting by 14 points.

Some Philadelphia fans wonder if their team could get "up" for the San Francisco series.

Dear Abby
Tricks Of The Imagination

DEAR ABBY: While I was out of town recently, my husband accompanied a very attractive friend of ours to a dinner party. (Her husband was also out of the city.) Upon questioning him, he told me he took her home and went in with her after midnight and had a drink. I have not drawn a happy breath since. Although I don't think anything serious happened, it could have, as both this woman and my husband are very physically attractive. Now I am uncomfortable in this woman's presence. I feel she is smirking, and knows something I don't know. We are constantly thrown together, and after being friends for years I have actually developed a dislike for her.

I keep imagining there is something between her and my husband. When I mention it to my husband he says I am "foolish." How can I get this thing out of my mind, Abby? It is eating my heart out.

DEAR MISERABLE: Your "misery" is a classic example of what imagination can do. This may sound like a preposterous over-simplification, but I can give you two magic words which will solve your problem. "FORGET IT!" If you nag your husband, or show your contempt for the lady, you will tempt your husband and this woman to join forces against a common "enemy." YOU! Say nothing, ask no questions, and be your old sweet self.

DEAR ABBY: I answered an "ad" in a magazine for information about joining a flower club. All I wanted was information about joining but before I knew it, they started sending me all kinds of seeds.

I didn't want these seeds and did not order any seeds, so I just put them aside. I may have even thrown some away. Now I am getting letters from this flower club telling me that if I don't either send them the money or the seeds they are going to sue me.

Abby, I am worried sick. Can they sue me? For God's sakes, help me! I have six children and no money to go to court to fight this thing.

CAN'T SLEEP
DEAR CANT: Throw your letters in the waste basket. No one is obligated to pay for — or RETURN — anything that is sent to him unsolicited.

DEAR ABBY: One day while cleaning the living room, I came across an unfinished letter my daughter was writing her girl friend. It was hidden behind the sofa cushion. Here is what I read:
"Dear B—,
This afternoon Mr. R. came over. He's Mom's and Dad's best friend. Mom was out. He hung around and hung around. Finally he pulled me closer and gave me a real passionate kiss right on the lips. I told him he'd better leave, but Kiddo, was I scared. I'll never tell my folks as it would break up a beautiful friendship."

Needless to say, Abby, I cooled that friendship quickly. With "friends" like that, who needs enemies? I am glad I read that letter as there are some things a daughter won't tell regardless of her relationship with her mother. You say you are against "snooping." Do you still think I was —
"WRONG, WRONG WRONG!"
DEAR WRONG: You were cleaning your living room, not "snooping" when you came across your daughter's letter. There's a difference. And in this case, your daughter could hardly charge you with mistrust or prying. You did what came naturally and your daughter knows it.

Horoscope Forecast
—CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SATURDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much emotionalism can be present this Saturday that can keep you from getting headway in the many things you have to do unless you take yourself firmly in hand and carry through with a course of action decided upon early as the means by which you can best cooperate and handle all pending problems of importance.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) See that you maintain your composure when others of home are getting irritated, nervous, but be kindly. Avoid making a big to-do about some small matter. Show that you have your feet on the ground.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Some close he could be rather irritating but is actually clearing up some problem-atic matter that also concerns you. Be sure you keep promises made without a lot of fuss and feathers. Be reserved.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be careful you are not extravagant with money through a feeling of satisfaction, since you later need it for practical matters. Get busy putting house in order instead. See that the oil is prophetic.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Improving your health and good looks is wise so that you can get into the social matters that please you most. Make sure that all at home is in perfect condition. Make a good impression on those who drop in on you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able to handle these various problems intelligently right now, so do something about them quickly. Carry through with the advice experts have given you. Show that you are grateful and on the beam.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Avoid that pal who is just loaded down with imaginary anxieties and could get you quite involved unnecessarily. Keep busy on your own affairs. Evening social affairs probably could prove to be disappointing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show that you are meticulous in handling matters in the business or civic world and be sure to get an early start on them. Contact people. Plan to progress in career by doing the dull work connected with it in a.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have planned certain work that is important on this free day, so be sure that those who have nothing to do, do not take you away from it. Follow advice of the wise. Do nothing to deter advancement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Forget the frivolous right now and get busy with whatever will bring in more income or make your home more valuable. You and your mate want to keep promises made. Show that you can be depended upon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Talk over policy matters with associates. Also how to straighten out problems with the opposition. Be more discreet with the public in general. You will have her more success with them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your work is considerable, but if you start right in on it, you can at least make a good dent in the pile, which will be inspiring just the same. Please pilles.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you relax you can realize that pleasure you desire to have, but being fearful only brings depression. Do not be extravagant! What you go after may not be worth the paper it is written on.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will be one of those fascinating people who intuitively know what others desire as well as what it is that is disturbing them. He, or she, would do well in sales work or in the field of psychology, psychiatry, or family counseling. Take care your property does not stir things up when young just to test his, or her, ability to get things straightened out. Send to private college.

Gentle Thursday Rites Observed

AUSTIN (AP)—Happiness was "Gentle Thursday" for about 100 young persons sitting on the grass at the University of Texas.

As part of "Flipped-out Week" activities, they sang songs, tossed flowers and played guitars.

There was sporadic kissing, but it was not the en masse kissing suggested by the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), sponsors of "Flipped-out Week."

The SDS said Stokely Carmichael, black power advocate and chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), would speak Friday night on the Austin campus.

Several hundred curious bystanders clustered around the "Gentle Thursday" group to watch them fly paper airplanes, play with yo-yos and sing.

Students and ex-students, some dressed in bizarre clothes, sat in the "happiness groups."

Boys with full beards played guitars and girls with mod dresses and long hair read comic books.

Across the street a girl stood by a cart and sold "hippie" lapel buttons, "Make love, not war," "Pray for sex" and "Save water, shower with a friend," some of the buttons said.

One neatly-dressed student who called the Thursday group "disgraceful," said he thought it was only an attempt to distract from Roundup activities.

Roundup is the university's traditional spring festival held, until this year, without "Flipped-out Week."

Other "Flipped-out Week" events include an "angry arts exhibit," poetry readings and a "soft Sunday" picnic at an Austin Park.

An SDS spokesman said the activities coincide with the National Spring Mobilization Against the war (NSMAQ), a group advocating peace in Vietnam.
