Pope Eyes 'Batman'

VATICAN CITY (AP)—In a spectacular audience for entertainers that was a bit of show business in itself, Pope Paul VI Saturday received Claudia Cardinale, Gina Lollobrigida and Adam West — "Batman" himself, minus cape and mask.

The Italian actresses, beautiful in black with lace shawls on their heads, were among thousands of luminaries from the performing and producing ends of cinema, radio, television and the press attending a special audience in St. Peter's Basilica.

Communications Day

Batman was involved in a postaudience show of his own when autograph seekers mobbed him as he was leaving. He said he got the idea the pontiff had seen him in a television show.

The occasion was World Communications Day, sponsored by the Roman Catholic Church.

Missing from the glitter and bright lights of the huge basilica were Sophia Loren and her husband, producer Carlo Ponti, who had received invitations along with other celebrities.

Love And Peace

The Pope delivered a formal address from his throne under the massive Barnini bronze canopy. He said the Church was also in the business of communications, with the mission "to announce from the rooftops the word of Christ."

"You must first find yourselves" in order to reach others, the pontiff told the show business and communications specialists. He said "order, love and peace must predominate in your lives."

Pope Paul went down from the altar after his talk and received many of those present for brief personal chats.

Miss Cardinale—who wore a miniskirt—and Miss Lollobrigida, both of whom have had involved marital situations, were among the stars who stood in line to see him.

Suspended Sentence

Miss Lollobrigida and husband Milko Skofic recently separated after several years of estrangement. The actress got a suspended sentence in Italy last November after she was accused of offending public morality in her film "The Dolls."

Miss Cardinale recently became the second wife of Italian producer Franco Cristaldi, making headlines by disclosing she had had a son nine years ago while she was single.

West, before his Batman days a virtual unknown who made Grade B Westerns in Italy, was in Rome this week on a promotional tour. A Batman film was shown a few weeks ago on Italian television and he appeared on a five-minute televised interview Friday night.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Reports of bloody battles by Marines in South Vietnam struck from the abstract to the terribly personal last week with word that Cpl. Gene Vaughn, who would have been 21 on June 10, had been killed in action near the demarcation line between North and South Vietnam. Whatever might have lay ahead for him now is laid on the altar of his country. Few if any communities in the nation have felt the impact of war such as Big Spring. Twelve — some reared here and some whose families lived here — have been killed in action.

Put last week down as an odd ball for weather. Although the official low was 39 degrees (three degrees off the pace for May, 1929), we had ice (due to evaporative and back-draft cooling). Even in Glasscock County 30 miles to the south some tender leaves were killed. Now how about that? And how about sprinkles on two days? It is still possible to get moisture from the skies.

Violence with tragic endings came in abundance. Abel Tovar, 19, attending a birthday party at the Settles, was fatally shot and Juan Solis, 17, was charged with murder. At Colorado City, J. P. Nunn, 70, returning from a visit here with his sister, Mrs. Inez Lewis, and brother, Bob Nunn, was killed when his car was hit by another. Jim Raymond Burditt, 19, Snyder, was charged with murder in the case. Happily, another tragedy was averted when Police Sgt. John Scott discovered a (See THE WEEK, Page 6-A, Col. 1)

Trench-Coated Mob Bops Cops

BOSTON (AP) — Just about everybody wore a trench coat in downtown Boston early Saturday morning. They were all headed for the movies.

The movie-goers numbered about 15,000 youths and soon turned into a howling mob battling police when they found that the movie house was already full.

The riot resulted from a promotion stunt at the Savoy Theater. Anyone wearing a James Bond-style "supersleuth trench coat" would be admitted free to a 4 a.m. showing of "Casino Royale," a picture that parodies the Bond films.

IDIOTS

"They're ridiculous to have gone down there in the first place," snapped Municipal Court Justice Elijah Adlow as he surveyed a dozen youths arrested on charges of unlawful assembly later Saturday morning.

"These idiots went down there," Adlow said, "but there's no crime in being a fool. You don't send idiots to jail." He dismissed the charges as being too vague. One other youth was held for a hearing on a charge of attempting to set fire to a police cruiser.

At least 10 persons were treated at hospitals for minor injuries.

SLAPPED, SHOVED

Boston Mayor John F. Collins ordered Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara "to meet with theater officials to assure that the disturbance which occurred at the Savoy Theater early today will never happen in the City of Boston again."

The mayor's office estimated the crowd at 15,000. "Under no condition," said a theater spokesman, "will there be another preview of this type. I never dreamed . . ."

As the mob surged through the streets of the honky-tonk district, Pamela McKeen, 19, an usher inside the theater said she was "slapped, pushed and shoved."

Communist Forces Revert To Mortars, Hit-And-Run Raids

Vietnam War May Increase Tax Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A firm decision by the administration on a tax increase this year is at least five weeks away but further escalation of the Vietnam war would increase the pressure for it.

Administration sources say mid-June is the earliest date for a proper assessment of the economy and even then the picture for the future could be cloudy. They contend there still are uncertainties in the air.

Government officials want enough evidence on paper — and not just projections — to convince Congress a tax increase will be needed if and when one is formally requested.

INFLATION

As yet the six per cent surtax on corporate and individual income taxes is only a proposal made by President Johnson in his State of the Union message last Jan. 10.

No legislation embodying that suggestion has been sent to Congress and won't be until a better picture of second half economic activity has emerged.

But government officials as of Saturday insist their best estimate still is the one presented in January — a sluggish first half and an upturn in the second half requiring a tax increase to help stem inflation, pay for the war and keep interest rates in line.

TROOP STRENGTH

This estimate, however, is based on Vietnam war spending of $21.9 billion for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

A substantial increase in American troop strength — a possibility now being debated both in and out of official Washington — would increase this figure and add to the budget deficit, other things being equal.

Government sources have said a tax increase beyond the six per cent surcharge would be considered as one possibility under these circumstances. But a decision on troop strength must come first.

The projected budget deficit of $8.1 billion for the next fiscal year already is based on adoption of the six per cent surtax by July 1, a now impossible deadline.

Administration sources hesitate to say when the surtax should take effect. In any case, the final decision will be made by Congress.

The only economic data now available confirm the sluggishness anticipated by the administration last January but the March figures did hint at an upturn.

Civilians Suffer Heavy Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers dropped tons of explosives Sunday on North Vietnam seaborne bunkers and troop positions in the northwest corner of South Vietnam where U.S. Marines fought a bloody, 12-day battle to wrest three hills from the Communists.

The raid before dawn by the eight-engine Stratofortresses was the fourth in two days northwest of Khe Sanh close to the Laos border. It was in the same area Friday that Marines seized Hill 881 North to end the fierce battle for high ground overlooking Khe Sanh.

REDS SHELL POST

Elsewhere, the U.S. Command reported little new ground action in South Vietnam. Air raids over North Vietnam were limited by poor weather Saturday to the southern panhandle.

Just below the demilitarized zone, the Communists shelled a command post of the U.S. 4th Marine Regiment six miles west-southwest of the forward allied post at Gio Linh.

U.S. headquarters said the Communists unloaded 35 rounds of mortar and recoilless rifle fire on the command post, wounding 17 Marines.

In the raids over the north, Air Force pilots from Thailand bases struck at truck convoys, a ferry complex, and anti-aircraft sites in the southern end of the country.

BLASTED BURGERS

They also hit at a truck and storage area near the Mu Gia gpass infiltration route and fliers reported touching off four fires.

Navy pilots from the aircraft carrier Bor Homme Richard in the Gulf of Tonkin reported destroying or damaging 22 cargo barges in raids along North Vietnam's coastline and inland waterways. Fliers from other carriers attacked a rail bridge, supply areas, a truck park and a causeway around Vinh and Thanh Hoa.

Roving Communist bands Saturday launched several mortar attacks and hit-and-run raids. A government spokesman said casualties included 121 civilians killed or wounded.

The flurry of guerrilla operations in South Vietnam followed up American air strikes Friday at key targets on Hanoi's outskirts, including the first raid of the war on the Ha Dong army barracks, four miles southwest of the Communist capital.

HEAVY ACTION

A 92-shell mortar barrage killed one U.S. Marine and wounded six atop Hill 881 North, which the Leathernecks seized Friday in closing out a 12-day

Soviets Warn United States Against Stepup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets have given the United States warnings that a stepup in U.S. attacks on North Vietnam may be met by increased Russian help for Hanoi.

The Kremlin's prime interest apparently lies in preventing the downfall of the North Vietnamese regime, its Communist ally. The Soviets seem less concerned about what is going on in South Vietnam.

Avowed U.S. policy in the air raids is not to destroy North Vietnam, but to raise the cost of the North's drive against South Vietnam by hitting militarily important facilities.

POWER PLANTS

However, the recent stepup in the bombings of such targets as cement and power plants has produced some accusations that Washington intends to collapse North Vietnam's entire economy.

Soviet Embassy sources were reported to have conveyed a warning to the State Department late last month during a period of intensification of the U.S. air strikes. A similar somber line was given to some U.S. newsmen at an embassy press party Thursday.

U.S. officials expect to get another reading on Moscow's attitude when Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin returns to Washington in the next few days. Dobrynin's departure from Moscow was delayed about a week, presumably for last-minute consultations with the Soviet leadership.

WEAPONS HELP

No specific detail on what increased Moscow aid to Hanoi might consist of is available. There has been evidence recently of expanded Soviet arms help to the Reds in such items as short-range rockets, artillery and antitank weapons.

In U.S.-Soviet relations, the Russian implication has been that bilateral issues will be adversely affected.

One example is the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty, which the Soviets have not ratified so far through the U.S. Senate approved it in March. Another is the proposed U.S.-Soviet direct commercial air link, which was supposed to swing into operation about this time but has been held up by some Soviet technical objections.

'University . . . Now!

Texas Technological College students—more than 500 of them—marched through downtown Lubbock Saturday afternoon chanting their desire to change the name of the 46-year-old college to include the word "university," and preferably "Texas State University." Proposal to change the "college" to "university" has been debated on the 17,000-student campus for some 10 years, off and on, and last Wednesday a committee met to attempt agreement on a recommendation for the board of directors; however, all that was agreed was "university" should be in a new name. Otherwise, students and faculty differed with ex-students on what specific new name, and the committee said no action would be taken immediately on the subject. Students parading Saturday chanted "Now is the time." (AP WIREPHOTO)

WORKS WITHOUT PAY, LIVES IN A SUITCASE

Resusa-Ann Trains Life-Savers

By ROBERT SETTLES
"Resusa-Ann", the first "woman" to join the staff of the Big Spring Fire Department, works without pay, lives in a suitcase, and she never talks back.

Firemen call her "Resusa-Ann" because she provides the unique service of assisting in training citizens in the correct techniques of resuscitating a heart attack victim or any needing artificial respiration.

GIANT DOLL

Resusa-Ann is a giant doll—a life size mannequin—who joined the fire department through the suggestion of the Howard County Heart Association and will reside at the central fire station during her tour of duty.

She has been a member of the community and the fire department since last December, and she has helped teach various members of local organizations (especially members of the fire department) the correct method of sustaining a heart attack victim, and the correct procedure of giving artificial respiration.

Acquiring Resusa-Ann was the individual idea of two members of the Howard County Heart Association, Dr. Donald F. Terry and Dr. Preston Darby represented the association, suggesting to the city commission she be acquainted to train police officers, firemen, nurses, ambulance attendants, and other interested persons in reviving persons who might have had sudden heart failure or sudden shock.

The commission agreed to the advantages of such a helper as Resusa-Ann and purchased her for $250.

H. W. Clawson, battalion chief and training officer for the fire department, introduced Resusa-Ann to the firemen—her primary students—and Clawson takes care of all her appointments and demonstrations.

Demonstrates Techniques Used To Save Lives life last year when her heart stopped beating and she ceased to breathe. (Photo by Frank Brandon) ments and demonstrations. Clawson conducts two hours of classroom work with from five to seven firemen in a group. In time, this training with Resusa-Ann will become a requirement for firemen, policemen, and hopes are that nurses, attendants, and ambulance drivers will receive the training too.

ONE OF FIRST

The program of resuscitation is a state-wide program and Big Spring is one of the first areas to teach the techniques.

The technique "Resusa-Ann" helps demonstrate is called external cardiac massage or manual heart compression, which substitutes externally applied pressure for the rhythmic contractions of a normal heart muscle—maintaining circulation at a level sufficient to sustain life.

Do these techniques really work? Mrs. J. S. Sims, mother of Mrs. L. M. Tucker, 1207 Pennsylvania, or Mrs. W. J. Clooney, mother of Mary Alice Anderson, 1309 Eleventh Place, say yes.

Mrs. Sims started having pains in her shoulder and upper chest and was taken to the hospital. In another minute, her heart stopped beating and her lungs quit functioning. Her doctor used the same techniques as taught with Resusa-Ann to sustain Mrs. Sims' life until a machine was able to provide electrical shock through her heart, and revive her.

SIMILAR ATTACK

Mrs. Clooney had a similar attack. She experienced severe pains in her shoulders and back and had just been brought to the hospital when her heart stopped beating and her lungs stopped functioning. Doctors used the same technique to sustain her life until the machine was able to send an electric shock through her heart.

Through the efforts of Resusa-Ann, such experiences may become more commonplace, as more and more people learn to use these life-saving techniques.

Over 30 Taking Anti-Rabies Shots

At least 31 persons, all residents of the Reef Camp community in northeast Howard County, are taking anti-rabies shots as result of the proof that a young fox, kept as a pet by a family in the camp, died of the disease.

Lige Fox, county health office sanitarian, said he had been told that many persons have been to Big Spring hospitals for treatment to avert possible infection. Each of the patients will take 14 shots in a day-by-day schedule.

In addition to the persons who are being given the serum, numerous pet dogs owned by the families in the area have been brought to the kennels maintained by veterinarians here for observation. Some chickens have been killed because it was feared they had been bitten by the fox.

The little animal, brought from another county, died about a week ago. His head was sent to the laboratory at Austin, and it was confirmed he was suffering from rabies.

In the few weeks he had been in the Reef Camp community, he had been handled and seen by many persons. Some of those who are taking the anti-rabies shots are not believed to have been bitten by the fox but are taking the serum as a precautionary measure.

REA Loan OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rural Electrification Administration has approved a $1.6 million loan to the South Plains Electric Co-Operative. Planned improvements include 247 miles of distribution lines, 23 miles of transmission lines and two new substations.

UF Workshop Scheduled Here

Questionnaires Indicate Welfare Worker Need

Returns from surveys of agencies, institutions and officials have underlined need for a child welfare worker, according to forces pressing for this service in Howard County.

The Child Study Club, which has taken a leading role in the effort, distributed questionnaires to learn how many children those contacted might have been in need of the services of a child welfare worker. The total came to 311, and some returns are yet to be tabulated.

Of this number agencies dealing primarily with youth cited 45 cases they thought should definitely have been referred to a child worker. The health unit listed another 45. Ministers, doctors, etc. added 58 to the list, and teachers listed 163. Naturally, some of these cases may be duplicated one or more times.

Representatives from the Child Study Club met last week with County Judge Barbara Culver in Midland and will meet to evaluate and classify the information. A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce health and safety committee, which has been one of the spearheads of the child welfare drive, is due to be convoked to hear latest reports. Out of this may come a date to lay the matter before the Howard County Commissioners Court.

Among the material collected is a list of cases handled by state workers on an emergency basis. Within the past six months there have been nine in Howard County, involving 34 children. This is approximately enough for half a case worker's time. Nature of the case ranged from finding parents for adoptions, to physical abuse, to exposure to bizarre sexual activity on the part of a mother, to men-

PALACIOS, Tex. (AP) — An auto hit a truck on State 35 eight miles west of Palacios Friday night, killing James Lester, 28, of Port Lavaca. Lester was thrown from his vehicle when it hit a truck from the rear. A woman riding with Lester and the driver of the truck escaped serious injury.

Harpers Seek State Suit

The State of Texas may soon be named as defendant in a damage suit to be filed against it by the Ivory Harpers, 805 Wyoming, and several other Big Spring residents.

They claim their homes were flooded, and they blame the Texas State Highway Department. They have petitioned Temple Dickson, state legislator from this district, to file a bill which would authorize them to bring suit against the state. He said Friday that he thinks the Big Springers should have their day in court and has asked the House Judiciary committee to approve his bill. The chairman of the committee, Renal Rosson, Snyder, sent the bill to a subcommittee to be checked before it is brought out for full committee action.

Dickson told the committee his constituents claim the highway department caused the flooding through the construction work performed on IS 20. An unusual feature involved in Dickson's efforts in behalf of the Harpers and their neighbors is that the Sweetwater representative has been successful in getting a bill approved by the House which would make the state and local subdivisions subject to suit for wrong doing without the plaintiff having to go through the legislature to get permission to sue.

Each session more than a hundred bills of this nature have to be sent through the legislature for action.

Honor Graduates

Danna L. Wert, left, with a 94.38 average for four years of high school, is valedictorian of the Garden City Class of '67. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wert. Paula Beth Hardy, right, with an average of 88.6 for the four years, is the Salutatorian. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hardy.

Jury Finds For Defendant In Damage Cross Suit

A jury deliberated for more than 10 hours Friday before reaching a verdict for the defendant on the latter's cross petition in a damage suit tried in 118th District Court.

The jury reported to Judge Ralph Canon at midnight Friday after having deliberated since mid-afternoon. The jurors found for Paul Goodman over W. C. Winters. They awarded him several thousand dollars, but the amount will be determined when the court prepares the judgment in the case.

stemmed from the collision of a big tractor truck with a piece of heavy road building machinery in 1964. The accident occurred while Winters, prime contractor on IS 20 rebuilding, was engaged in his construction work. The truck was loaded with almonds.

Planes To Seek Out Kidnapers

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Airplanes will drop policemen into southern West Pakistan jungle areas to search for men believed to be kidnaping children for forced labor camps, the Pakistan Press Association said today.

Ky Now Intimates He Will Run For Vietnam President

HUE, Vietnam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today he may run for president after all in the national election Sept. 1.

Asked if he knew what Thieu plans to do, Ky said he did not. "I am too busy with my own plans," he said.

Today he flew by helicopter to Dong Ha, 12 miles south of the demilitarized zone, and then stopped in Cam Lo and Hue. Ky was questioned by newsmen after meeting with 35 civilian and political leaders in Hue. The military situation in the provinces just below the demilitarized zone is still serious, Ky said.

Case Load Is Static

Litigation in the 118th District Court maintained a status quo as to volume during the month of April. Fern Cox, district court clerk, said Friday.

The month began with a total of 1,036 cases of all kinds on file in the court. It closed with 1,033 cases on hand.

There were 27 new divorce cases filed in April to bring the maximum total to 240 but the court tried one with a jury, eight without a jury and dismissed 16. The month opened with 215 divorce suits in the files; it ended with the same number.

One annulment suit was dismissed, and this left the total at four which was one under the April 1 mark.

Tax suits remained unchanged with 209 on hand. All other civil suits on April 1 numbered 461. Twenty-five new suits were filed. The court tried 11 during the month, and eight were dismissed. The total at the end of the month was 467.

There were 48 criminal cases on file April 1. Four were tried before the court, one before a jury, and five were dismissed. The total April 30 was 38.

Ky commands the Vietnamese air force. He and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, are regarded as contenders for the nod by the military junta as its presidential candidate. Under the new constitution, any officer who runs will have to resign from the armed forces.

Asked if he knew what Thieu plans to do, Ky said he did not. "I am too busy with my own plans," he said.

Ky flew to Da Nang Friday for a military briefing on the status of the war in the 1st Corps area—the five northern provinces of South Vietnam—and then visited a textile factory and a Vietnamese navy facility.

Shrine Rally Coming Here

One of the liveliest parties of the year is shaping up for Friday and Saturday when the spring ceremonial of the Suez Shrine Temple comes to Big Spring.

Several hundred nobles and their wives are expected here for a round of business and social events, plus the induction of some 40 novices into the Ancient Arabic and Mystic Order of the Shrine. There will be receptions and side meetings such as the Camel Herders, and activities will be heightened by four ring candidates from the class of novices. Headquarters will be at the Settles Hotel and events will be there, at Howard County Junior College, Cowden Country Club and Big Spring Country Club. A highlight of the event, as it always is, will be the Shrine parade through downtown Big Spring at 11 a.m. Saturday. There will be several motor parades, marching bands and other units in this colorful procession. The Big Spring Shrine Club is host for this year's ceremony.

Port Lavaca To Host US 87 Unit

Approximately 750 persons from as far away as Raton, N.M., are expected to arrive Thursday in Port Lavaca for the annual meeting of the U.S. Highway 87 Improvement Association.

Registration for the convention will begin at 3 p.m. that Thursday in the Community Room of Coastal Bend Savings and Loan Association, 1329 N. Virginia.

Events scheduled for that evening at the Continental Ballroom include a social hour from 7-8 p.m., followed by a seafood buffet. Friday the annual business meeting will be held from 9:30 a.m. until noon at which time DeWitt C. Greer, chief engineer for the Texas Highway Department, will be the guest speaker.

Selection of next year's meeting site and election of new officers will take place following the concluding noon meal.

The Association seeks to have Highway 87 — a 1,400-mile highway linking Port Lavaca to Harve, Mont. — named an Interstate Highway and made into a four-lane divided thoroughfare all the way from the Texas Coast to the Rocky Mountains. Authorities say that the highway now has more miles of four-lane divided highway than any state road with the exception of the Interstate Highway system.

Lamesa was one of the strongest supporters of the Association during the last year with a contribution of $100.

Association officers during the past year were Bill Taylor of Port Lavaca, president; Leslie R. Neal of San Antonio, president elect; Judge K. O. Ellington, of Brady, vice president; Gordon Kenly of San Angelo, vice president; Arch

Lamb of Lubbock, vice president; Rex E. Reeves Jr. of Clayton, N. M., vice president; and Herman Ladewig of Port Lavaca, secretary-treasurer. Directors in this area include County Judge W. R. Brooks, Sterling City; County Judge Otto Dorzier, Garden City; County Judge Lee Porter, Big Spring and County Judge Leslie Pratt, Lamesa.

LETTER

Band Is Well Mannered

To the Editor: Big Spring should be very proud of the manner in which our community was represented by the Big Spring High School Band during its recent tour of Corpus Christi, Houston and San Antonio.

It was my privilege to be one of the adult sponsors who accompanied the group and to witness the exemplary behavior of these fine young ladies and gentlemen in many different situations. Their thoughtfulness even included surprising each of their sponsors with corsages and bouquets to wear in Houston to the Astrodome and to church there the following morning. Both my husband I enjoyed every minute of the trip, and wish to thank Mr. Bill Bradley and the members of the band for the opportunity to join in the fun and excitement of their Spring Concert Tour.

Sincerely,
MRS. CRAIG E. CAMPBELL

FANS REMAIN LOYAL

Presley, Bride Lead Garbo-Like Existence

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elvis Presley emerged this week from the seclusion of his private life. He celebrated his marriage to Priscilla Ann Beaulieu at a lavish Las Vegas reception, then disappeared once more.

The wedding apparently caused no wave of consternation among the Presley fans. Most of the girls who screamed at his gyrations 10 years ago are now wives and mothers. While many of them remain fiercely loyal to their hero, they appear sympathetic to his acquiring a wife.

The loyalty of Presley fans puzzles Hollywood insiders. Unlike some popular favorites who are willing to share their personal lives with the public, Elvis has led an almost Garbo-like existence in recent years.

STILL SELLS

He makes no personal appearances, gives only perfunctory interviews on movie sets. His records and movies are his only exposure to the public. While his record sales have been overshadowed by the Beatles and other more recent favorites, he is still a top seller. He can still earn a million dollars apiece for the three films he makes annually.

His romance with Priscilla Beaulieu was typical of Presley's penchant for secrecy.

Movie magazines and gossip columnists started to sniff out a romance when the petite brunette appeared amid the platoons of handlers and hangers-on that surrounded the singer. It was discovered that Elvis had met her when he was 24 and she was 14. He was stationed with the Army in Germany, where her father was an Air Force officer.

PERMANENT GUEST

His chief romance when he returned to his career was a girl named Anita Wood. But that blew over about the time Priscilla's father was transferred to the United States. She turned up as permanent house guest at Elvis' lavish Memphis home, Graceland. The singer's father and stepmother lived there at the time, but later moved out.

Priscilla finished high school in Memphis, remaining there during Presley's forays to Hollywood for film making. After graduating, she joined the entourage, living in the mosque-like Bel Air mansion Elvis rented during filming.

RED CORVAIR

"She used to drive around Memphis in a fire-engine red Corvaire convertible," said a Memphis reporter. "She wouldn't say whether Elvis had bought it for her. In fact, she wouldn't say much of anything. She was as hard to get to as Elvis."

Priscilla helped preside at the parties for the Presley group at Graceland. She also went along on the nighttime entertainments.

Waco Doctor Is Installed

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Howard R. Dudgeon Jr. of Waco was installed Saturday as the president of the Texas Medical Association, the second time for a son of a former president to serve.

The installation was during the 9,850-member group's 100th annual session.

Dr. Dudgeon's father was president in 1936. Born in Galveston, where his father was an associate professor of surgery, Dr. Dudgeon belongs to several medical and surgical groups and has come up through the ranks of the Texas Medical Association.

A Temple physician, Dr. G. V. Brindley Sr., was selected to receive the highly honored Distinguished Service Award of the association.

Dr. Brindley, one of only four emeritus members of the association, is the third Texas physician to receive the award since it was created. The other two are Dr. Milford O. Rouse of Dallas, president-elect of the American Medical Association, and Dr. George R. Herrmann, professor of medicine at the University of Texas Medical Branch.

Dr. Brindley has practiced medicine for 50 years and has served as senior surgeon at Scott and White Memorial Hospital and in other Scott and White facilities. Dr. and Mrs. Brindley have three sons, all of whom are doctors of medicine.

NY Times To Eye Afternoon Field

NEW YORK (AP) — The morning New York Times intends to study prospects for entering the afternoon field, which was left solely to the New York Post by the death Friday of the World Journal Tribune.

Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, president and publisher of the Times, said in Saturday's issue that "we are going to take a look at the situation."

"It would be foolish of us," he said, "not to consider whether the afternoon newspaper field does not offer us a business opportunity and an opportunity for public service. That's all I can say at the present time."

RATES RISE
The Post raised its advertising rates 20 per cent immediately and the morning Daily News, the city's other major daily, raised its per copy price from seven to eight cents, beginning Monday.

And in an attempt to have the World Journal Tribune shut down reviewed, James J. McMahon, president of the stereotypers union, demanded a meeting with the paper's management, McMahon said his union was "ready and willing to explore every possible avenue of approach in an effort to save" the paper.

LITTLE LATE
Matt Meyer, president of the paper, quickly replied that the shutdown was "an irrevocable decision on the part of the owners." He added: "I would say it's a little late to save the paper."

The developments came as city newspaper readers for the first time Saturday had a choice of only three Manhattan dailies. The World Journal Tribune, the offspring of three newspaper families, rolled out its last paper Friday and shut down its presses for good at 4:45 p.m. Its life of eight months ended with

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison accused the Central Intelligence Agency on Saturday of giving the Warren Commission a "fake photograph" of Lee Harvey Oswald, the New Orleans-born ex-Marine the commission said killed President John F. Kennedy.

Garrison's charge came after the CIA pointed Friday to Warren Commission testimony in which officials of the agency denied reports published in New Orleans that Oswald may have been acting as an undercover agent for the secret espionage organization.

Garrison is conducting a probe here of what he says was a plot conceived here to kill President Kennedy, assassinated in Dallas, Tex., on Nov. 22, 1963.

Drive-In Divorce Court Saves Steps

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP) — An accommodating judge set up a drive-in divorce court.

At 88, Rose McClellan was unable to make it to the second-floor chambers of Superior Court Judge Curtiss E. Wetter.

So the robed judge went down to the rear of the courthouse, listened as she testified Friday from a car and granted her a divorce from her husband, James, 65.

Specialized Units Could Cut Cardiac Death Rate?

DETROIT (AP) — Specialized treatment units in the nation's more than 3,000 small hospitals could make early death from heart attacks as rare as an appendicitis death, a heart researcher said Saturday.

The report came from Dr. Malcolm K. Dolbee, who announced at the same time great success with such a treatment center in one of Michigan's small hospitals.

Dr. Dolbee said a three-bed unit for care of heart attack victims at the 36-bed Standish Community Hospital had a death rate of only 8 per cent over a two-year period.

The death rate in well-operated coronary care units, even in major metropolitan hospitals, ranges from 14 to 18 per cent, and sometimes higher, according to Dr. Larry H. Birch, associated professor at the University of Michigan Medical School.

Dr. Dolbee speaking to the Coronary Care Unit Committee of the Michigan Heart Association, said the portable treatment unit was made permanent at the Standish hospital 10 months ago. Since then, 60 cardiac cases have been hospitalized in the unit and only one died — of automobile accident injuries.

"This is one of the most significant experiments in the United States," said Dr. Birch.

Lees Community Seeks Top Prize

LEES—The state, it is very certain, had no plans to build a roadside park where the Garden City road and the paved east-west Glascock County road cross at Lee's store.

Nevertheless, there is a very attractive roadside park there—the completed project of the Lees Home Demonstration Club and the club's major enterprise of 1966 on which its members base high hopes of winning first place in the District 2 Texas Community Improvement program.

TWO RIVALS
Saturday, the members of the club, and the residents of this community as a whole were impatiently waiting word on how Lees fared in competition for the cash prizes posted by Texas Electric Service Co. The three judges had spent an hour Friday afternoon inspecting the project and had told Mrs. E. B. Low, president of the HD club, there was a good chance the decision would be announced Saturday.

The Lees community has two rivals for the top prize — St. Lawrence in Glascock County and Imperial near Fort Stockton.

H-SU Appoints Dean Of Music

ABILENE — Dr. T. W. (Jack) Dean, nationally known music teacher and Hardin - Simmons University alumnus, has accepted the deanship of the H-SU school of music, effective July 1, Dr. Elwin L. Skiles, president, has announced.

Dr. Dean, former H-SU faculty member, currently serves as director of graduate studies in the School of Music at Southwestern Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth. He is also chairman of the seminary's theory department.

first grade crop will be contacted by their school where practical, but since many of these people are not known in the newspaper and on the air will have to serve as a notice for many.

In general, the program will include a welcome by the principal, tips to parents from first grade teachers, while the preschoolers visit first grade classes where they will be in the autumn.

Parents from a number of the schools will be notified that their current first graders will be dismissed early Friday afternoon.

The program which is held each year is designed to let both parent and child know what is in store for him next fall so that as much of the anxiety as possible will be erased in both child and parent's mind. Even though a school census is conducted each February and a survey of families now enrolled in the schools is staged from time to time, the shifting population particularly in some areas of the city makes an accurate count of prospective first graders impossible.

The schedule includes Lakeview, 1 p.m.; Kentwood, Park Hill, College Heights, 2 p.m.; Airport, Marcy, Cedar Crest, Boydston, and Washington, 2:30 p.m.; Bauer and Moss, 3 p.m.

CULTIVATING AND WATERING BEARGRASS! — CRAZY, MAN! Unusual scene encountered on fields of U. S. Experiment Station

Experimenters' Are Hoping Beargrass Will Aid Farmers

By SAM BLACKBURN
What are the men doing in the picture above? They are cultivating and irrigating beargrass plants. Why are they doing that, when landowners generally would like to kill off all of the beargrass and never, never see it return? The men are running an experiment using beargrass. They want to find out if there could be a practical use for the plant. What practical use, for goodness sakes, could there be for beargrass?

The experiment seeks to find out if beargrass can be used as a wind barrier to stop the blowing dust from damaging tender young crops in the fields of Howard County farmers. The experiment is under way at the U.S. Experiment Station north of the city limits.

Bill Fryrear, in charge of the station, said that healthy beargrass plants (sometimes called "Adam's Needles" and a widely common member of the extensive Yucca family) have been taken up from the Howard County Airport grounds and planted in twin rows along the west side of the tract of land on the station.

The beargrass plants grow about two to three feet high in their native habitat. Perhaps, Fryrear believes, under cultivation they may grow taller.

Statistics show that for each additional foot of height of barrier between the field and the wind, that more rows of a cultivated field are safeguarded from the cutting sand.

Why beargrass — hated by ranchers and farmers all of these years? Several reasons are offered by Fryrear.

One — the stuff is readily available and easily transplanted. Two, the beargrass has a long taproot which goes straight down into the earth, and therefore will not sap the land around it of surface water as heavily as other wind barrier plants. Three, the beargrass is almost indestructible and can survive any kind of weather.

The plan being followed is to plant two rows of the yucca in varying directions around the test plot and then see how well the stuff keeps out the wind and sand.

Nor is this all — the station has rows of choya planted as well as beargrass. The choya is a well known, but highly unfavorable known cactus.

"Maybe," said Fryrear, "we can find a useful purpose to which these plants can be put. If so, we could help farmers a lot."

So if you see workers busily hoeing and watering beargrass and cactus, instead of digging the stuff up with grubbing hoes (as is generally the case), don't think the heat has caused 'em to blow their tops.

There's a reason for it.

WIND EROSION

Research Is Helping Reduce Loss Of Land

This is one in a series of articles concerning wind erosion — the consequences of ignoring the wind-erosion problem, and what can be done about wind erosion.—Ed.

People in West Texas recognize wind erosion, as illustrated by the number and frequency of high winds and corresponding dust clouds during the spring of 1967.

The problem of wind erosion is not restricted to Big Spring or unique to North America. Substantial portions of Central Asia, the Middle East, and North Africa were once fertile productive lands supporting large populations. These fertile lands, to a large degree, were transformed into their present barren state through improper land use.

Getting a little closer to home, in North America there was little wind erosion while the land was under natural vegetation. The worst wind erosion in the United States occurs in the semiarid areas of the Great Plains, extending from the Mississippi River to the Rocky Mountains, and from the Gulf of Mexico into the provinces of Canada.

There are accounts of severe wind erosion in the Great Plains occurred in dust bowl days of the early 1930's. A severe and extended drought returned to the Plains in the early 50's, and continued on through 1956. The area extent of the 1956 drought was the greatest in the history of the Plains. However, erosion was less because research in the late 1940's and early 1950's helped farmers protect their soil from wind erosion.

Some of the conditions necessary for wind erosion are a loose, dry, smooth soil, void of vegetation, and the wind at least 15 miles per hour. Soils in the Southern Great Plains certainly fit this description well. Also, because cotton is generally grown, the fields are void of vegetation and the wind has an excellent opportunity to erode the soil.

On many of the areas north of Big Spring the soils are finer, and when wind erosion occurs the finely divided particles are carried away by the wind. In the 1930's many fields in Western Kansas, Eastern Colorado, and the Panhandle of Oklahoma lost as much as 12 inches of topsoil. Some sandy soils were converted to sand dunes, causing many farmers to abandon their farms and leave the Plains.

In the Big Spring area the sandy soils are eroded by the wind; however, all of the soil is not carried away by the wind. The soil is deposited in fence rows, houses, and in the most inconvenient places. Since the 1930's many farmers learned to work with mother nature. Because farmers were using improved cultivation practices and techniques that protected their soil against wind erosion, the long and severe drought of the 1950's did not bring back the cries of "dust bowl" and "abandon the land."

To illustrate the magnitude of soil moved by wind erosion — when the visibility is reduced to one city block, the quantity of soil in the air in one mile is equivalent to digging a hole 27 feet deep the size of a football field in one hour. If we multiply this by the tremendous acreages covered by most dust storms we can see the quantity of soil transported by the wind is phenomenal.

The next article will be on the practices and techniques being tested by personnel of the USDA, Big Spring Field Station to protect the soil against wind erosion.

Credit Unions To Maintain Rates

Credit union interest rates on loans will remain at one per cent per month on the unpaid balance under the new consumer credit code, despite some reports to the contrary, the managing director of the Texas Credit Union League, James M. Barry, declared in Dallas Saturday.

"An amendment was made to the code by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas at the request of Texas credit unions who neither want nor need higher rates," Barry said. "Credit unions are nonprofit financial institutions, and their maximum loan rates are maintained at the one per cent level with no additional charges. Some charge less."

Farmers Urged To Attend Guar Meet

Farmers and landowners are invited to a meeting Thursday to hear the possibilities offered by guar as a money crop in this county.

Paul Gross, county farm agent, said the meeting is to be at 8 p.m. in the Howard County Commissioners Courtroom.

Demand for guar beans has been steadily expanding in recent years and Breckenridge Grain Inc., Big Spring, has agreed to purchase the 1967 guar production from Howard County fields.

Dub Coates, manager for the firm, said the purchases will be for General Mills.

Gross said there are a number of prime reasons for the new interest in guar in this area. The establishment of a substantial market locally for purchase of the beans is one. Guar is a qualified alternative crop under the ASCS regulations and, with certain limitations, can be harvested from cotton and feed diverted acres.

It is a deep-rooted summer legume which offers farmers a good top crop replacement for acreage formerly planted to peas in planned crop rotation systems. New varieties of guar have been developed which produce more beans and crop residue and guar can be grown and harvested with standard row crop equipment.

Herbert Patridge, General Mills field agronomist, whose home is in Munday, will be here Thursday to speak to the local farmers. Coates will also explain the offer by Breckenridge Grain Co.

New Theater For Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Plans were announced Saturday for a 22-story building in downtown Dallas that will house a motel, theater, drive-in bank and office buildings. It will be the first new theater in downtown Dallas in 30 years.

The builders, Herman Blum Consulting Engineers of Dallas, said construction should start in June.

A spokesman for the concern said the "multi-purpose" building will contain a 312-room motor hotel covering nine floors, an eight-level self-park garage, Texas Bank and Trust Co. drive-in facilities, three floors of office space on the top stories and a 1,200-seat theater.

DERBY JOCKEY IS A HAPPY FELLA Bob Ussery up on Proud Clarion

FAVORED DAMASCUS WINDS UP THIRD Proud Clarion Triumphs

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Proud Clarion, a doubtful starter four days ago and without a jockey until 48 hours before the race, came charging out of the pack for victory in the 93rd running of the Kentucky Derby on this rainy Saturday at Churchill Downs. Under the driving ride of Bob Ussery, the bay son of Hail to Reason from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm came down the middle of the soldier-lined stretch to win the $162,200 race by one length. Barbs Delight, lightly regarded winner of the Derby Trial, took second after setting practically all of the early pace with the favored Damascus another 2 1/2 lengths back in third place and Reason to Hail fourth in the field of 14 3-year-olds.

There were no incidents marking this American classic horse race. Advocates of an open housing law had threatened to disrupt the race but Churchill Downs, city and state officials answered the challenge by assembling 2,500 law enforcement men who practically circled the one-mile track. Proud Clarion, a son of Hail to Reason out of Breath O' Morn, stepped the 1 1/4 miles in 2:00 3/5 for the third-fastest time in the history of the race. Northern Dancer established the record of 2:00 in 1964. In winning the second Derby for Galbreath, Proud Clarion picked up $119,700. Second place was worth $25,000 to Guy Huguellet, Gene Spalding and trainer Hal Steele of Lexington, Ky., who owns Barbs Delight. Damascus, who went off the 8-5 choice of the rain-drenched crowd, earned $12,500 for Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft. Fourth money of $5,000 went to Patrice Jacobs, owner of Reason to Hail. Back of the first four in order came Ask the Fare, Successor, Gentleman James, Ruken, Diplomat Way, Second Encounter, Dawn Glory, Dr. Isby, Field Master and Lightning Orphan. Overlooked in the wagering as the crowd favored Damascus and made Ruken and Successor the co-second choices, Proud Clarion paid $62.20, $27.80 and $12. Barbs Delight paid $16.00 to place and $7.60 to show while Damascus returned $3.40 for finishing third. It was a moment of sweetness for trainer Lloyd (Boo) Gentry. A year ago he had the great Graustark only to have the horse come up lame on the Sunday before the Derby. Early in the week Gentry did not favor starting Proud Clarion following a bad workout in the mud but the track dried out and the husky trainer was able to obtain the riding services of Ussery. It rained most of the day but the track still remained fast, just what Gentry wanted for the Darby Dan colt who gave Galbreath his second Derby victory. The part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Baseball League had won with his only previous Derby starter, Chateaugay in 1963.

Odessa Ector Claims First Place In AAA

AUSTIN (AP)—Odessa Ector, Palacios and Vernon Lockett won division championships at the State Schoolboy Track Meet Saturday. Falfurrias' Robert Gonzalez won his fourth consecutive mile title in record-setting time, and San Angelo Lakeview's Rockie Woods turned in an outstanding one-man performance. Ector, paced by its fine sprinter Johnny Gentry, swept the Class AAA title with 54 points. Palacios outran Teague on the mile relay, the final event to take the AA title with 58 points, and Lockett got the maximum from his sprinting duo, Ed Rubicek and Mack Lewis, to win the B title with 56 points.

places in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and Ector picked up points in the 880 and 330-yard hurdles. San Antonio Wheatley was second with 44 points, Snyder third with 35 and El Campo fourth with 32. Palacios, trailing Teague by two points going into the mile relay which is the final event, won that event in 3:19.7 and captured the title. Teague finished fifth in the relay and was second in total points with 44.

Lockett, near Wichita Falls, could not have asked more from his team. Lockett's 440-yard relay team won in a record-breaking 2.2, and Kubicek and Lewis ran one-two, respectively, in the 100 and 220-yard dashes for all of Lockett's points. Kubicek's 9.7 in the 100 ties a conference record, and his 21.9 in the 220 set a conference record. Friendswood was a distant second in team totals with 25 points, and Fort Hancock was third with 23. In all, including some records which counted as state and conference, there were 16 records set and four tied the second day of the meet, bringing the two-day total to 30 records set and 8 tied.

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Carol Mann pulled into a one-stroke lead Saturday at the end of 36 holes in the $12,500 Tall City Open when she shot a two-under-par 70 over the 6,500-yard Midland Country Club course for a two-round total of 143.

Arnie Holds Shaky Lead At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer blazed his third sub-par round Saturday to hold a shaky two-stroke lead in the $115,000 Champions International as U.S. Open champion Billy Casper came racing to Palmer's heels with a torrid, course-record 65. Palmer, who began the day with a three-stroke lead, found himself locked in a familiar battle of champions with Casper for the $23,000 first prize in the final round. Palmer carded a 70 for a three-round total of 204. Casper was alone in second at 206.

That's the best putting I've ever done," said Casper, who was the 1966 PGA player of the year and the leading money winner with $121,944. He has only $16,676, eighteenth on the list, and has yet to win a tournament in 1967. He used only 24 putts, including 12 one-putt greens, while sinking seven birdies against only one bogey, which came on the sixth hole when his approach shot hit a bunker and he chipped 10 feet from the hole, only to two-putt. He had one string of four birdies. Casper's charge was reminiscent of the seven strokes he made up on the final nine holes in last year's U.S. Open to throw the tournament into a playoff, which he won, beating Palmer by four strokes. Palmer has rounds of 68, 66 and 70, nine strokes under par on the heavily wooded, 7,118-yard par 71 Cypress Creek course which has attracted the strongest field of golfing stars on the tour since the Masters. At one point Saturday, he was 11 under. Casper slipped to a three-over 73 the first day, partially accountable to a one-stroke penalty assessed when he lost a ball that hit a tree limb at the edge of the ninth fairway. He followed with a 68 Friday. Behind Palmer and Casper were Frank Beard at 207, Harold Henning and Dan Sikes at 209, Bunched in a five-way tie for sixth were Kermit Zarley, Dave Marr, Tom Weisocoff, Ben Hogan and Dave Hill, at 210. Bantam Ben, playing some of his best golf of the year, followed consecutive 68s with a one-over 71. He had 17 pars in 18 holes, carding his only bogey at No. 16 when he missed the green.

Dean Chance Hurls Twins To 4-2 Win

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Dean Chance pitched a five-hitter and Zoilo Versalles drove in two runs with a pair of singles, leading the striking Minnesota Twins to a 4-2 victory over Boston Saturday.

Chance posted his fourth triumph in five decisions and hurled the Twins to their fourth straight victory.

Chance allowed only two hits until the ninth when singles by Jose Tartabull, Don Demeter and George Scott plus Dalton Jones' sacrifice fly produced two runs.

Versalles knocked in one of two Minnesota runs in the first inning with his sixth straight hit over three games. The streak ended when Versalles walked his next time up, but he singled in another run in the seventh, raising his batting average to .370.

Rookie Ron Clark homered for the Twins in the seventh.

Memorial, Tidehaven Claim Track Crowns

Memorial, Tidehaven Claim Track Crowns

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP) — Irving's Kelvin Korver, was the big surprise, Spring Branch Memorial was almost surprised, and Dave Morton was every bit as good as he was supposed to be.

Those were the main stories as Memorial, in Class AAAA, and Tidehaven, in A, won state titles Friday night.

Korver, the mammoth weightman, unleashed a mighty toss of 197 feet 3/4 inches in the discus, breaking the great Randy Matson's state record by more than five feet and surpassing the national mark by almost two feet.

Matson, the Texas A&M strongboy who has approached the world record in the college discus, threw the discus 192-3 as a schoolboy at Pampa in 1963, and most Texas track fans thought his record was safe for a long, long time.

The national record was set by Bob Stocker of Los Altos, Calif., high school in 1962 at 193-4, and Korver's mark cannot be certified for a new record until the level of the field where he performed has been surveyed.

While Korver's unexpected performance was not even favored in the discus — took some attention away from the night's running events, Horton lived up to his advance billing and paced Memorial to a hard-earned championship.

The lean senior, who says he will enter the University of Texas in September, pulled the Mustangs back into contention after they were disqualified in the 440-yard relay for passing the baton out of a zone. Morton ran the fastest time, high school or college, in the state this year in the half mile, in 1:49.9, was fourth in the 220 and anchored Memorial's record-breaking mile relay team in 3:14.1.

Memorial had to win the relay, the closing race of the night, to take the title since it trailed defending champion San Antonio Highlands going into that event and was only two points ahead of Fort Worth Paschal.

Both Highlands and Paschal had mile relay squads, but could not challenge the Mustangs and fell back in the pack.

Memorial finished with 54 points, 20 of that total coming in the relay, while Highlands was second with 36 and Paschal had 32.

Tidehaven, near Houston, was pitched to have a close battle with Bartlett, but rolled up 76 1-3 points with widespread strength to Bartlett's 44. Ozona

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Johnson's Physical Woes Serious, Says Nofsinger

By TOMMY HART
Quarterback Terry Nofsinger, who played behind Big Spring Charley Johnson with the St. Louis Cardinals, will now perform behind another Johnson from Texas—Randy—at Atlanta.

The Cardinals think so much of Charley's talents they're going with three virtual unknowns behind him — Jim Hart of Southern Illinois, Tim Van Galder, Iowa State, and Vidal Carlin, North Texas State.

Nofsinger made a disturbing statement about Johnson's physical condition after being informed of the trade, however.

Said he: "I doubt if he can make it through one more season. He's held together with bailing wire after operations on both knees and both shoulders."

The boxing stock of Eliseo Estrada is really booming after that sixth round kayo of Bennie McCall in a battle of featherweights on the Harold Johnson-Herschel Jacobs card in New Orleans last Monday night.

Estrada is the Mexican puncher who fights under the aegis of Martin County's Melton McMorries and Melton was on hand to see Estrada take McCall apart.

McCall, who had beaten Estrada in an earlier bout, was decked three times with right hands but was standing when the referee stepped in to call a halt.

Some New Orleans people influential in boxing now say they're going to try to get Estrada rated among the top ten featherweights in the world, which would be quite a feather in the cap of McMorries, who has devoted a lot of time to improving his fight stable.

Estrada's record is now 19-3-1. Before Tom Fears was piped aboard as head coach of the New Orleans Saints, club owner John Mecon Jr., dangled a $60,000 per annum offer in front of UCLA's Tom Prothro for the job.

The Saints also made overtures to Bear Bryant of Alabama about the position. If you aspire to a pro football career, don't try to make it with the Dallas Cowboys. Only two spots are open on the 40-man roster and 53 rookies will be trying out for the positions this summer.

O. W. Follis, coach of the state championship basketball team at Lamesa High School, has high words of praise for Kirby Pugh, the former Abilene High athlete who coached the roundball team at Brownfield last season, says Kirby did more with his material than any coach he played against over the year.

Pugh is now in the service, stationed at Fort Bliss. Remember Glenn Davis, who ran here with the Ohio State track team in the ABC Relays after having been a member of the U.S. Olympic team?

He recently retired as the track mentor of Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., after one year on the job. He plans to enter business in Ohio.

Three national magazines (Time, Look and Sports Illustrated) and the New York Times are among the publications sendings writers to the Houston Champions International Golf tournament this week.

In 1959, at the 50th annual Drake Relays in Des Moines, the crowd was ecstatic when Oklahoma State's Jim Graham pole vaulted 15'3" because it had taken half a century to conquer the 15-foot barrier there.

Just eight years later, the pole vault action at Des Moines was started at 15 feet. Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis of the HCJC track team told sprinter Linwood Wright he was flaking out at the very end in his 100-yard dash efforts and the problem didn't go unnoticed: Linwood turned in a 9.4 effort in the Wayland College meet at Plainview.

Even with a favoring breeze, that is skipping through the dew. Ricky Martin, a center-linebacker for Odessa Permian last fall, has been moved to guard on offense, with good results.

Look for Texas Tech to contend strongly for a first division berth in SWC football play this fall. Will Chamberlain has an offer to take over and run the Harlem Globetrotters but will probably be back in the NBA next season.

The pro circuit would suffer at the gate without him. Gay Brewer, the Masters' golf champion, is a resident of Dallas in more than name only—he and his wife recently started construction of a $100,000 home there.

There's absolutely no truth in the story that Jim Baum wired his mother congratulations on his birthday — she got chocolates.

Royal Contract Is Extended

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas regents extending Athletic Director and football coach Darrell Royal's contract Saturday through Dec. 31, 1977.

Royal's present 10 year contract was to expire Dec. 31, 1969.

The Longhorn coach is in his 11th year at Austin. His first five year agreement began Jan. 1, 1957. On Jan. 1, 1960 he received a 10 year contract.

Royal was granted full professional status by the board of regents in 1964.

In addition, on recommendation of the Athletics Council and the university administration, the regents approved home and home football games for Texas with Colorado and South Carolina in 1976-79.

Gustafson Named Baseball Coach

AUSTIN (AP) — Cliff Gustafson, the most successful high school baseball coach in Texas history, will become the University of Texas' new baseball coach July 1, when he succeeds retiring veteran Bibb Falk.

Appointment of Gustafson was announced by Athletic Director Darrell Royal and confirmed by the university regents.

A six time state championship coach at South San Antonio High School, Gustafson will become only the fourth baseball coach in 57 years at Texas when he assumes his new post.

Horoscope Forecast

—CARROLL RIGHTER

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only by a smile and living the Golden Rule do you succeed in life. Do nothing that will endanger your importance to act accordingly, so take time out to show these others that you are the one who realizes the need for consideration to words others. Chiding up those who are blue brings its own big reward.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) An ideal day for visiting with good friends and relations and talking over what ever is uppermost in your mind. Avoid arguments of home. Do nothing that will endanger your security. Live graciously, though.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Shining down with others and helping them to solve the problems that they cannot solve by themselves. Success begins with your telephone. Have more up-and-go than in the past.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can be with fascinating companions to day but be sure you don't keep repeating where some financial matter is concerned. Forget anxieties and be very sociable. Much may be gained if you play your cards right.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Listening to the ideas of powerful individuals is better than giving out with your own. The idea of power is somewhat impractical now. Be more concerned with the practical. Delegate the personal to the background.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Elevate your consciousness to more lofty ideas and ideals that are expounded by successful, powerful individuals. Put your self of that limiting situation. You can start a new beginning now that is very favorable.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A day for getting together with an expert and discussing important matters. Instead of going ahead with what an unscrupulous acquaintance has to suggest, do that which is right and just. Have respect for the proven, standard.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Studying well what a clever associate wants you to do over a civic or public nature is wise, then you know exactly how to proceed. Later you can be very happy at dinner or some social function.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Serving others as you deserve will now show your devotion, but steer clear of whatever is tempting but not good for you. Use wisdom you have already acquired. Avoid changes that are truly radical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Dating whatever is pleasurable for others is fine, but don't be so concerned about some bill that is outstanding. Do something constructive about that. Use the finest talents you were born with.

Auto Classes Set On HCJC Campus

Classes in auto mechanics and auto body repair are to be reactivated at the Howard County Junior College under the Manpower Development Training Program.

The classes are to begin May 29 and a minimum of 20 students are needed for each class, according to Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission. The TEC is recruiting trainees for the classes. James Banks will teach the auto mechanics class, and W. H. Scarbrough, the body repair class. Both have conducted similar classes.

Each class will run 39 weeks. Students accepted will be allowed subsistence, where they need such help. Subsistence varies in accordance with the need of the individual student, measured by his household responsibilities. As a general rule, to be accepted the applicant must be head of family and he must be either unemployed or underemployed.

Certain single men who are past the age of 22 can also be accepted even though they are unmarried and not family heads. Their subsistence can be as much as $32 a week.

Thixtons Attend New Model Show

Cecil Thixton and his son, Howard, who operate the Cecil Thixton Motorcycle agency on West Third, have returned home from Dallas where they were guests of the U.S. Suzuki Motor Corp.

They had been invited to Dallas to see the new model Suzuki motorcycles which were unveiled at elaborate ceremonies last week.

Thixton and his son are agents for the popular motorcycles here. They will soon have stocks of the latest models on their lot, Thixton said.

Texan Leads Air Attacks

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Air Force attacks on the Yen Vien railroad yards six miles northeast of Hanoi Friday were led by Maj. Jack W. Hunt, 39, of Freeport, Tex., Capt. Thomas Lesan, 28, of Lebanon, Ohio, and Capt. Jacques Suzanne, 33, of Flint, Mich., the Air Force reported.

The leaders of the F105 Thunderchief strikes reported inflicting heavy damage and rendering the yard unserviceable, the Air Force said.

Heavy ground fire was reported over the target area, but pilots said two anti-aircraft sites were silenced.

"The last formations of jets which rolled in reported so much smoke was billowing from the area, they were unable to obtain bomb damage assessment on their targets," the Air Force added.

Defendant Ordered To Jail Starting Tuesday

Jimmy Crosson earned the questionable distinction Friday of being the second person to have a probated sentence out of county court revoked since the probationary law became effective in such courts.

Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said that Crosson pleaded guilty March 13 to a charge of theft. He was fined $100 and given a six months probated sentence when he stated he had never been convicted of a felony in any court.

Davis said that it has now been established that Crosson had been convicted in the 118th District Court of a felony — forgery and passing — in 1966.

When this information was brought to light, Lee Porter, county judge, ordered the de-defendant into court and revoked his probation. Porter stipulated that Crosson enter the county jail Tuesday to serve the six months sentence assessed against him last March.

THE FORTY-FOURTH ANNUAL observance of National Music Week, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs, begins today with the Big Spring Music Study Club joining in activities for the week. From left, standing, are Mrs. Charles Beil, president; Mrs. Mel Ivey, member of the music week committee; Mrs. Jay Leonard, recording secretary; and Mrs. Bruce Bate, corresponding secretary. Seated are Mrs. Louis Heinze, vice president; and Mrs. Tom Kessler, treasurer. Mrs. Beil and Mrs. Leonard are also serving on the music week committee.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC will be heard at luncheon and evening meetings this week as civic clubs hear performances by local choirs. Shown comparing their programs are the directors, Van Hale of Howard County Junior College; Mrs. Joe Dawes of Goliad Junior High School; Sampsy Wall of Runnels Junior High School; and Mel Ivey of Big Spring Senior High School. Programs will also be presented by the school bands under the direction of Bill Bradley, Don Turner and Russell McKiski.

"MUSIC IS FOR EVERYONE"

Photos By FRANK BRANDON And DANNY VALDES

PRACTICE IS ESSENTIAL for performance, and Mrs. Robert T. Deming accompanies her daughter, Melodie, as she prepares for a program to be presented on television this week.

With them is Miss Sue Crowait, recipient of the music club's scholarship at Howard County Junior College. In the picture at left, the pianist is Mrs. Jim Baum, who has recorded an album of standard melodies, "Margaret Plays For People." Anxious to hear the record are Mrs. Richard Mitchell and Mrs. Rene Brown.

"MUSIC FOR EVERYONE" means music for the teenagers, too, and even though they appreciate the classics, there are fun times when what they want to hear is the popular music of their own generation. A number of young musicians have formed combos; among them this group who call themselves "The Mercenaries." From left, they are Steve Holley, drums; Mike Covington, bass guitar; Clay LaRochelle, rhythm guitar; Rick McKinney, lead guitar; and Bob Creech, electric organ.

SECTION C

BIG SPRING HERALD

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 7, 1967

World Viewed By Business Women

"Straws in the Wind," a resume of national and world conditions and happenings in recent years, was presented by the Rev. Leo K. Gee when he was guest speaker this week for the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The group met in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company with Mrs. Tony Barron presiding.

The Rev. Gee, pastor of First Methodist Church, noted that during the past 30 years, the world passed through more growth than it had in the several preceding centuries. The day may come, he said, when there will be "standing room only" on the earth if birth is not controlled. In giving statistics, he said that one-half of the people of the world go to bed hungry, one out of 12 juveniles will have a police record before they reach maturity, 53 per cent of today's women drink an alcoholic beverage daily, and one out of five hospital beds are occupied by mentally troubled patients.

Continuing, Rev. Gee observed that although we may travel around the world in a matter of hours, we still do not have brotherhood. The average man, he said, cannot run for high political office in the United States because of the tremendous expense involved. Because of this, Rev. Gee feels that the man elected is not always best for the job.

REV. LEO K. GEE

According to Rev. Gee, the five richest nations in the world, the United States, Switzerland, Great Britain, Denmark and France, have the highest divorce rates and lead in juvenile delinquency. He said the time has come for parents to discipline children for their own good as well as that of the world.

Rev. Gee was introduced by Mrs. L. E. Rose.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Betty Heideman who is employed at Webb Air Force Base in the Order Section for Publications. This section is in charge of all paper forms used at the base.

Mrs. Geraldine Dietz, Mrs. Barron and Mrs. Herman Taylor were named to the nominating committee, and Mrs. Dietz read a letter from the Pet-A-Zoo saying it would accept donations.

A salad supper was served with Mrs. Paul Esslinger wording the invocation. The benediction was by Mrs. Taylor.

Guests were Mrs. Neil Norred and the chapter's scholarship recipient, Rebecca Taylor, who were introduced by Miss Shirley White. Miss Taylor is now attending Howard County Junior College and plans to attend the University of Texas next semester. Her major is corporation law.

The next meeting will be June 6 in the Flame Room.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Time passes so swiftly when we are with people we love. There has amounted to 14 years of teaching at HCJC for MISS ELIZABETH DANIELS who is taking her retirement and plans to move to Austin with her sister, MRS. MARGARET PITTS, who is being transferred from her duties at the Big Spring State Hospital to the Austin State Hospital. The popular twin sisters were attending the family picnic Friday night at the junior college and were recalling all the receptions and picnics they had been a part of at the college. We'll miss them both and hope they come back to see us often.

When American Airlines created the new position of Southwest vice president a former Big Spring resident was named to the position. He is WARREN G. WOODWARD, Woodward lived in Washington, D.C. for a number of years and more recently in Los Angeles, Calif. The announcement was made in Dallas.

MR. and MRS. E. H. BOULLIQUIN are in Albuquerque, N.M., where they went to be with her brother, A. B. SWANN, who has had surgery.

The AL ATONS with their children, Sherry and Kay, are in New Braunfels where they have been the guests of MR. and MRS. ED VOIGT.

The JOHN COFFEES have to get ladders to cut the topmost magnolias on the big tree at the south side of their home but all the trouble is worth it. Mrs. Coffee had some big blossoms of the tree the past week and they are beautiful and have a delightful fragrance.

The J. P. LANCASTERS of Kermit made a brief visit to her father, J. B. PICKLE, and the MILLER HARRISES Thursday enroute to Austin where they heard their son, David, debate in the Interscholastic League competition. David is a senior in Kermit High.

It's going to be a happy Mother's Day for MRS. M. S. WARREN who left today for a trip to Bridgman, Mich. A son, CARLOS WARREN, of Coahoma drove Mrs. Warren to Dallas where she explained for Bridgman for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. WAYNE LOWRY, both of whom teach school there. Mrs. Lowry is the former Wanda Warren who has taught school for 25 years.

MR. and MRS. LEROY ECHOLS of Coahoma will leave Tuesday for Elizabethtown, Pa., where they will visit their son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. STEVEN P. LAZARUS. They plan to be away for a month.

The JOE CRUMPS and the BEN T. FAULKNERS are having a short weekend trip down on the Mexican border and planned to go across some place along the line.

After being away for five weeks, MRS. R. D. ULREY has returned from a visit with relatives in Maryland and Wisconsin. In Silver Springs, Md., Mrs. Ulrey visited her daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. OWEN SCOTT and their children. The Scotts celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Easter afternoon. In Racine, Wis., Mrs. Ulrey was the guest of her sister, MRS. H. E. RHODES for several weeks. Later, as she was traveling through Illinois she saw plenty of rain and her travel conveniences included bus, automobile and almost anyway she could go. She even caught the last train out . . . this was all on account of bad weather.

Comes a note from JOE PENDLETON, who now resides at 2213 W. Chandler Blvd. in Burbank, Calif. A staunch Democrat, he got a charge out of a clipping about the Democrats who were swept out of office on the Reagan wave last November. One of them wryly observed that he had won a moral victory in defeat—he received more votes than he deserved. Pendleton was with Turner Drilling Co. here for several years, then was one of the earlier "pioneers" of exploration in Lybia. Just as his family thought it had acclimated to Southern California, 2 1/2 inches of rain came in the first four months of the year.

Mrs. J. G. Bristow Describes Perennials

"Perennials I Have Grown in My Garden" was the program presented by Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow for the Wednesday morning meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club. The women met in the home of Mrs. Hayes Stripling, No. 2 Indian Ridge, with Mrs. G. T. Hall presiding. Mrs. Bristow, a national flower show judge, exhibited and talked about 24 perennials suitable for this area. Among them were irises, peonies, daisies, passion flower vine, columbine, chrysanthemums, day lilies, galandias and sedum. She also discussed various ground covers.

Mrs. Norman Read, chairman of the committee to revise the constitution and bylaws, read the proposed changes which were adopted. Mrs. D. S. Riley, District President, announced there will be a regional workshop for presidents and program chairmen scheduled soon. The date will be announced. Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Riley for her service to the club and district.

Members of the social committee, Mrs. Robert Stripling, Mrs. John Coffee and Mrs. Garner McAdams, assisted the hostess in serving brunch and the group toured the garden.

Park Hill P-TA Inducts Officers

New officers were inducted with Mrs. Dan Johnson assuming the presidency, at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Park Hill Parent-Teacher Association.

The slate included O. O. Craig, vice president; Mrs. Carl Small, secretary; and Mrs. Leeon Pettitt, treasurer. Mrs. Pettitt was presented with a past president's pin, and Mrs. Johnson was given the incoming president's pin.

Craig gave a program on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Room count was won by Mrs. Billy Ray Jones' third grade class.

Approximately 40 attended.

Mrs. D. A. Miller was installed as president of the Spaders-Garden Club at the meeting and salad luncheon held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland.

Other officers installed were Mrs. H. B. Perry, vice president; Mrs. Jimmy Anderson, secretary and reporter; Mrs. Don Williams, treasurer and librarian; Mrs. Zack Gray, council representative; Mrs. Morehead, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Kyle Cauble, program chairman.

Home League Has Small Items Sale

Members of the Ladies Home League convened Wednesday at the Salvation Army Citadel to hold a small items sale from which they netted $27. The money will be used this fall for the Mexican Children's Home.

Plans were completed to attend the May Fellowship Day of the Church Women United at the Birdwell Lane Methodist Church Friday at 10 a.m.

The next meeting will be May 10 at the Citadel. Members will hold their annual party for the Cradle Roll department ranging in age from birth through three years.

Clubwomen Convene For State Convention

The 70th annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs was held May 2-3 in the Baker Hotel in Dallas. Theme for the convention program was "Preserve Our Heritage — Enhance the Present — Educate for Tomorrow."

Those attending from Big Spring were Mrs. Morris Rhodes, Mrs. Earl Zetsche and Mrs. Wayne Henry of the Junior Woman's Forum, and Mrs. A. C. Bass of the Modern Woman's Forum.

Activities began at 7 a.m. with a breakfast in the Terrace Room, and then members of the Junior Conference convened in the Texas Room at 8 a.m. for regular sessions. Highlights of the day's activities included a talk by Mrs. A. C. Hughes, third vice-president of TEWC membership chairman, who spoke on the subject, "Why Be Federated?" She expounded on the idea that a body of service women can accomplish more than an isolated club.

Another informative speaker was Mrs. Cecil Cabiniss, chairman of the Board of Trustees, Headquarters Maintenance, who spoke on the maintenance of the headquarters in Austin which is 30 years old. She told that it cost between $10,000 and $12,000 each year to operate and maintain the building.

Mrs. Frank Dotterweich, chairman of the community improvement program, told of the importance of federated women in assisting community improvement projects and how each member will assume one small part.

Mrs. James Morrow, Junior director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, gave the morning address at the Junior conference. Miss Carolyn Bean, Musical Penny Scholarship recipient, sang three selections at the club luncheon.

The formal opening of the convention was held in the Crystal Ballroom. Mrs. B. F. Seay, president of the State Texas Federation of Women's Club, presided during the business sessions. She was assisted by Mrs. Henry F. Shaper Sr., first vice president.

The welcoming address was given by Erik Jonsson, mayor of Dallas. Mrs. J. Howard

Gifts For Men In Vietnam

Mrs. Dorothy Carey of the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter demonstrates one of the sturdy cloth ditty bags which will be made and filled with personal items, and sent to the fighting men in Vietnam as Christmas gifts.

DITTY BAGS FOR CHRISTMAS

Help Sought In Making Gifts For Men In Vietnam

Wanted: Volunteers to help bring Christmas cheer to the fighting men in Vietnam.

Sound early? Not really. For these gifts — by personal testimony from military men — must be prepared now, and they will be handled under Red Cross sponsorship.

The Christmas gifts will be hand-made ditty bags, with a collection of personal items in each. The Howard-Glasscock chapter of the American Red Cross has issued an earnest appeal for helpers — individuals, women's club groups, merchants who might help with merchandise, and others who would give a bit of cash — to help complete and fill the handy personal cloth bags.

Red Cross leaders already have made a few of the bags according to instructions, and will accept calls at telephone AM 7-5031, to give full information. The chapter has on hand denim to make some of the bags, and this material is available to women who will fabricate them.

The Red Cross regards this as one of its most ambitious projects of 1967. The local unit is one of nearly 1,400 Red Cross chapters across the country to join in the Shop Early-Vietnam 1967. Nationally, the goal is to make and fill at least 525,000 gift bags.

The program is because of the need for this service. Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, executive secretary of the local chapter, said "a similar program last year was received with enthusiasm by servicemen in Vietnam. The hundreds of letters of thanks from men in every military rank testified to its popularity."

The bags, red or green in color, will be made of cotton material sturdy enough to withstand the tropical heat of Vietnam and remain serviceable for their owners' personal effects after the original contents are used.

"Each bag we fill will contain a card identifying the chapter and names of cooperating clubs and agencies," said Mrs. Sawtelle.

Each gift bag should contain a variety of small items, which might include the following:

1. Ballpoint pens
2. Paperback books
3. Plastic soap case
4. Small packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes
5. Small address book
6. Plastic toothbrush holder
7. Terry cloth washcloth (other than white)
8. Nail clippers
9. Plastic cigarette case
10. Comb

11. Pocket games
12. Mailing-size voice tapes (reels of 3 inch tapes — 150 foot length)
13. Small tins of nuts or candies, vacuum packed
14. Windproof type cigarette lighters
15. Small plastic snapshot holders
16. Small kitchen size and sandwich type plastic bags
17. "Wipe and shine" packet shoe polish

These are among the many personal and recreational items desired by the men in the far-off country, and removed from any source of supply. It is specified that no liquids, glass containers, combustibles, food or any kind of item that would melt or deteriorate in heat should be included. The Red Cross can help with instructions on this.

The Red Cross will welcome contributions, specifically marked "Vietnam Gifts" and will apply such money to obtaining articles as outlined above.

First work must come, however, in the sewing of the ditty bags. The Red Cross has full instructions on how to do this, and will welcome an opportunity to talk to groups or to leaders who would supervise making of the bags.

VA Facility Plans Tours During Hospital Week

"Your Hospital—City of Care" is the theme for National Hospital Week, May 7-13, which will be observed locally at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The theme selected by the American Hospital Association, sponsor of the national observance, focuses attention on all hospitals as cities within themselves, employing many people with diverse backgrounds and occupations making available the most sophisticated equipment that modern medical technology can provide. National Hospital Week also features the May 12 birthday of Florence Nightingale, the famous nurse-crusader.

CITY OF CARE

The Big Spring VA hospital is a "City of Care," staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to protect and restore health in much the same manner that the city police and fire departments work around the clock to protect lives and property.

Observance of the special week at the VA hospital will include special displays and guided tours, conducted at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily throughout the week. Groups interested in touring the hospital should contact Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of Voluntary Service.

For their own protection, children under 15 years of age are not permitted above the second floor.

Once hospitals were places of custodial care, commented Donald D. Van Meter, VA hospital director, but today they are institutions of healing, staffed by teams of highly trained professionals who use scientific equipment as aids in diagnosis and healing.

Some of the advanced machinery that visitors to the local facility will see during the tours are modern X-ray and dental equipment; radioisotope equipment used in diagnosis of thyroid diseases, malignant efusions, polycythemia vera, leukemia, and others. Modern laboratory equipment on display will be an autoanalyzer which enables laboratory technicians to perform up to 120 tests per hour simultaneously.

BIG STAFF

Nearly two million Americans work in "cities of care" — the nation's 7,000 registered hospitals. Of this number, an average of 270 are employed by the local VA hospital, performing the services that provide patients with the care his condition requires.

Because of the advances in technology during the last few years, youngsters are being urged to enter the hospital field for a lifetime career. For example, complicated equipment such as dialysis and heart-lung instruments that save and prolong life demand the services of teams of highly skilled and technically trained men and women. In many hospitals computers now handle patient billing and accounting and contribute to medical research and diagnostic applications.

The people who serve in health care facilities from Maine to Hawaii come from all walks of life, from small towns and large cities, from high schools, vocational schools, colleges and universities.

PREPARE HIM

For the person with a high school diploma, additional on-the-job training will prepare him for such jobs as nursing aide, electrocardiograph technician, food service supervisor, dietary aide, laboratory technician, psychiatric aide, or surgical technical aide. College graduates can find careers in purchasing, hospital engineering, public relations, or personnel. Individuals with post graduate training can qualify as occupational therapists, physical therapists, medical social workers, hospital administrators, health science librarians, or speech pathologists. And, of course, there are unlimited opportunities for those who want to enter medicine or nursing.

The rewards of a hospital career include broad experience, stimulating work, security, and chances for advancement.

During National Hospital Week, students are invited to explore the careers that exist in VA hospitals by contacting the personnel department of the VA Hospital.

VFW Officials Planning Tour

Clifford T. Teer, surgeon, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Texas, from Austin will pay an official visit to the Big Spring VA Hospital Thursday. Accompanying him will be Cecil Shonyo, VFW Department Service Office from Waco, and several members of the VFW and Ladies Auxiliary.

Hospital Has Perfect Record

The Big Spring VA Hospital has been notified that it is again this year one of the "perfect record" winners in the 1966 Hospital Safety Contest, sponsored by the American Hospital Association and the National Safety Council.

A total of 380 hospitals completed the contest designed to encourage and recognize safety among hospital employees. The local hospital took honors with 113 other hospitals of various size throughout the country, operating 91 million injury-free man hours since the last reportable injury.

McGuire Veterans Administration Hospital, Richmond, Va., was again named grand award winner. Of 44 competing hospitals having 200 to 299 employees, there were 13 "perfect record" winners with the local facility ranking third.

BOTH SPUDS AND TOMATOES ON ONE VINE? — POMATO MEBBE? Elton Weavers puzzled by horticultural antics of their potatoes

Weavers Are Growing A Batch Of 'Pomatoes'

By SAM BLACKBURN

If you could get corn and beans to grow simultaneously on a single plant, you could have all of the makings of succotash right at hand. The Elton Weavers, who live about a mile east of Coahoma on the Byron Wolfe farm, may not have the corn-bean dea-working, but they are wondering about their potato plants.

They think their potato plant is not only producing nice tasty spuds under ground, but some of the vines are growing roundish green objects on top which look (and taste) very much like tomatoes.

Maybe, just for the sake of the record, one could say that the Weavers are growing "Pomato" plants.

"All we know," said Mrs. Weaver, "is that the green balls at the top of the potato plant look like tomatoes, and when we cut into one, it tasted like a green tomato."

The Weavers are ardent gardeners and the potato patch, where these off-beat vines have popped up, is one part of their large home garden.

Weaver, who works at Webb AFB, puts in all of his idle time in the garden.

"We went to the grocery store," explains Mrs. Weaver, "and bought a peck of Irish potatoes. I cut the 'eyes' out and we planted them. They were just ordinary spuds."

Weaver added the planting was on Valentine Day.

"Maybe these things are not tomatoes," he said. "We read in the encyclopedia where a tomato vine could be grafted to a potato, but in this case, we did no grafting."

Meantime, the vines are yielding generous helpings of tasty new crop spuds and are finding their way on the Weaver menu.

And the Weavers are keeping a weather eye on their potato patch to see what cooks with the "tomato" invaders.

Vietnam Veteran To Speak At Webb

Col. William E. Bethea, commander of the 4410th Combat Crew Training Wing at Hurlburt Field, Fla., will speak at the Dining-In for Class 67-G at Webb AFB May 12 in the Officers Open Mess.

Col. Bethea was born July 4, 1919, in Goldsboro, N. C., and attended Clemson College, receiving his wings and commission in March, 1942.

During World War II, he flew 124 combat missions in the European Theater, piloting P-38 and P-47 fighters. In the Korean conflict, he flew 130 combat missions in F-80 and P-51 fighters.

Col. Bethea completed the command and general staff course in 1946, the Marine Corps Senior Officers' School in 1952, and attended the Industrial College of the Armed Forces during 1961-62.

A Devotional For The Day

A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver. (Proverbs 25:11)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, O Lord, for showing us the way of loving-kindness. Help us in our daily living to remember how important love and encouragement can be to our family and friends. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Things That Live On

The latest gifts from the Dora Roberts Foundation continue a tradition of investing in young people and helping them in need.

The good that will come from the investment in the student loan fund at Howard County Junior College and in freeing the YMCA from the shackles of debt will pay incalculable dividends in young lives. The gift to the rehabilitation center will bring renewed hope and comfort to the crippled and handicapped, both young and old.

It is an act of compassion and mercy.

In all these, and those which have gone before, Big Spring is a far, far better place because this pioneer ranch woman had the vision to establish a fund that would go on working for humanity after her death. In a very real sense, Dora Roberts lives on and on. Surely there are others who could, by the same device, perpetuate the noblest impulses of their lives.

Pulling Out Some Kinks

The recent litigation over a county commissioner's office, and evidence revealed therein, should serve to point up strongly the need for better control of our election procedures.

The Texas Election Code is in need of clarification, revision and modernization, but this probably will not be accomplished by the present Legislature.

But, on the local level, action can be taken to arrange procedures that will not put such a burden on judges and clerks; and to see to it that those who do work on election days (and this really amounts to civic volunteer labor) are thoroughly familiar with the responsibilities and duties of the assignment.

The voter himself obviously is paying too little attention to voter requirements, as witness the large number of ballots whose numbered stubs were unsigned. It can be presumed that any box in the county would have the same ratio of invalid votes as that shown in the court-contested boxes.

The voter thus needs education before hand, and then guidance at the polling place. This is no reflection on any individual or any precinct involved in the court hearing. What we stress is that this case shows clearly that some action ought to be taken.

The Herald suggests:

- (1) That the larger precincts of the county be divided — and this year — so that there will not be such a disparity of voters at various polling places. Some boxes are so large that — until automated voting comes along — it is virtually impossible to be assured of enough trained help to handle the tabulation.

- (2) That seminars — more than one, if necessary — be conducted for election officials, so that they are versed in the basic provisions of the Texas Election Code and will see to it that they are followed. A good start in this direction was made last year, when a night of instruction was given for election officials. We commend this, and suggest it be carried further.

- (3) That those responsible for conducting elections (whether primary or general) make provision for sufficient help. This may cost a little more, but the public expects election returns to be both prompt and accurate and no doubt would be willing to pay more money, if needed, to assure this.

- (4) That the voter be given simple instructions (in keeping with the law) as he enters the polling place. He dislikes the idea that, through ignorance or neglect, he cast a ballot that didn't count.

These suggested improvements are not insurmountable by any means. Our appropriate authorities, having seen the weaknesses in election conduct and tabulation, ought to be anxious to establish the remedies. We hope the people will call for just this sort of action.

Nuclear War Threat In Europe

WASHINGTON—The chief military officers of the United States now predict that, if a major war breaks out in Europe, it will be fought with nuclear weapons and that this country will immediately become involved and be subject to nuclear attack.

This bleak prophecy could have a salutary effect. It could bring the Soviet Union and other nations of the world to the conference table to agree on an effective means of checking the use of nuclear power.

THE AMERICAN people read on Wednesday morning an announcement that the United States will withdraw 35,000 troops from Europe. This means an obvious weakening of the American ground forces on that continent. But, on the same day, a subcommittee of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives released a condensed transcript of testimony given on March 6 by Gen. Earl Wheeler. It quotes the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as challenging the recommendation of Secretary of Defense McNamara against appropriating funds for the deployment of the Nike-X anti-ballistic-missile system. This is the type of defense which the Soviets now are building up.

THE PEOPLES of Europe are face to face, therefore, with the fact—at least officially confirmed—that there is no realistic plan to defend Western Europe by a large army of ground troops or against Soviet missiles. Instead, the 7,000 nuclear warheads stacked up in Europe will be utilized by a relatively small force for a limited defense and, if necessary, to damage the territory of an aggressor. This in turn could mean a Soviet strike against the American continent. A major war with maximum nuclear power would then become inevitable.

THE NEW developments mean that the United States will have to spend many more billions of dollars in order to make it possible for a substantial number of Americans to survive in the case of a nuclear attack.

Gen. Wheeler's reasoning is frankly expressed. He points out that two years ago the Joint Chiefs of Staff unanimously recommended deployment of Nike-X, which would mean a counter to the anti-ballistic-missile system around Moscow and in other parts of the Soviet Union.

"We believe that the Soviet offensive and defensive buildup does increase the risk of nuclear war."

"SHOULD THE Soviets come to believe that their ballistic missile defense, coupled with a nuclear attack on the United States, would limit damage to the Soviet Union to a level acceptable to them, whatever that level is, our forces would no longer deter. The first principle of our security policy would be gone."

"The 30, 40, or 50 million American lives that could be saved by Nike-X, therefore, are meaningful, we believe, in every sense of the word."

"ACCORDINGLY, Mr. Chairman, the recommendation of the Joint Chiefs that we now initiate deployment of Nike-X is based fundamentally on the requirement to maintain the total strategic nuclear capability or balance clearly in favor of the United States."

To preserve the nuclear balance, of course, means huge expenditures, both for the Soviet Union and the United States.

The facts now coming out emphasize that the most acute issue before the world is the necessity for an agreement limiting nuclear power hereafter and assuring some effective system of mutual inspection so that agreements will not be violated.

The Question: Surcharge Or No Surcharge?

DIFFERENT

- President thinks surcharge would be good for economy
- Former secretary says no; doubts low point yet reached
- Gardner Ackley warns that inflation danger not past
- Unsettled labor conditions presenting major problem
- Car sales down in April, but rate of decline halved
- On price front, some are reduced and some are raised

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson is pushing again for a six per cent income tax surcharge later this year.

It would be good for the economy and provide needed revenue, he told a news conference during the week.

But Johnson's former secretary of commerce, John T. Connor, said a tax increase no longer was needed to check inflation. He urged Johnson to withdraw the proposal.

Connor said the economic slowdown is more pronounced and widespread than was anticipated when he left the Cabinet in January to become chairman of Allied Chemical Corp.

He added he wasn't certain yet whether the low point was behind, or if several months of rough going were ahead. The slower pace, coupled with a sharp drop in profits for many companies, has made businessmen cautious, Connor said in a talk to the Society of American Business Writers.

ASKS CREDIT RETURN — He called for quick action by Congress to restore the investment tax credit allowing businessmen to deduct up to seven per cent of what they spend on new plants and equipment.

That is one point on which Connor and his former boss agreed.

Johnson said he believed there would be an upsurge in the economy during the second half of this year "if we can get it."

The bill has been passed by the House but has been tied up in parliamentary maneuvering in the Senate.

The President's chief economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, warned that price inflation was likely to intensify in the next few months.

"Many of the prices that have been falling will soon stabilize or even move back up," he told the Society of American Business Writers.

HEED GUIDEPOSTS — Steps to revive the wage-price guideposts must be taken soon, Ackley said.

President Johnson stepped in to head off a threatened nationwide railroad strike. He proposed a 34 per cent wage increase.

ported its deficit widened to $21.6 million from $8.3 million a year ago.

LOAN EXTENDED — But AMC said it had received a seven-month extension for repayment of $95 million it owes 24 banks. And it sold its Redico, Inc. financing subsidiary to Chrysler.

Auto sales fell again in April, but the manufacturers said they expected May sales to show the first year-to-year gain since September. Sales have been running 20 per cent lower than in 1966, but the automakers took some cheer that they were down only 10 per cent in April.

Ford assembled its 70 millionth car. But autos assembled for all of the industry during the week still were 14 1/2 per cent lower than a year ago.

The Securities and Exchange Commission sent to Congress its long-awaited proposals for reform in the mutual fund business.

MUTUAL REFORMS — The major changes would limit sales charges to five per cent — about half of what they are now — and abolish the front-end load, in which up to half of the first year's payments may be applied to sales charges.

General Electric will raise prices May 15 about three per cent on major appliances from washing machines to freezers, despite sluggish sales and high inventories.

National Sugar Refining Co. also said it would raise prices May 15 on industrial and consumer grade sugar.

Cerro Corp. cut the price of copper tubing 7 1/2 per cent. And major zinc producers cut prices for zinc from 14 1/2 to 13 1/2 or 13 cents a pound, the first change in U.S. zinc prices in 2 1/2 years.

American Motors Corp. reduced its price of copper tubing 7 1/2 per cent. And major zinc producers cut prices for zinc from 14 1/2 to 13 1/2 or 13 cents a pound, the first change in U.S. zinc prices in 2 1/2 years.

Heads! — You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like a cure for cheilosis. It is a most disfiguring thing! — MRS. J. M.

Cheilosis, a cracking at the corners of the mouth, is a sign of Vitamin B deficiency as a rule, particularly of riboflavin or Vitamin B-2.

It is usually accompanied by a sore, red tongue and eye changes, as blurring or tearing. It is also seen in pellagra (a Vitamin B deficiency), which I discussed recently, but in that case with the emphasis on lack of niacin.

The cure is to get more of the appropriate vitamins into the system — a balanced diet with ample meat, milk, eggs and vegetables.

I must point out, however, that cracking and other symptoms involving the lips are not necessarily from this cause. A dermatologist (skin specialist) can identify other conditions which, from a mere description in words, may sound the same but in actuality are somewhat different. One of these is perleche. This is a fungus or strep infection occurring at the corners of the lips. Treatment often includes antibiotics and a vitamin supplement.

Principal among causes are sensitivities — to the sun, to chemicals, not infrequently to lipstick or other cosmetics, occasionally to toothpaste, mouth wash or some such thing which is used regularly.

If altering the diet to insure adequate Vitamin B does not help, and if omitting cosmetics for a time doesn't, the shortest, surest road to ending the trouble is to have a skin-specialist diagnose.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a person have cancer on the tongue or in the mouth? The rough part is gone from two spots on my tongue and one spot is getting bigger, but it doesn't hurt. We have no family doctor to ask. — MRS. B. K.

Cancer is very much possible in the mouth or on the tongue. Your description could indicate cancer, or could mean something quite simple, and nothing short of tests by a physician

Around The Rim

Just A Little Thing On The Neck

Now that it's over except for such residual developments as learning to quit scratching the scar, and paying for the whole deal, I might as well tell you about my operation, just as everyone else does.

What it was, it was a nub on the back of my neck. It got to be annoying after a time, so I had the Doc take a look at it. "Doesn't seem too bad yet," he opined. "Let's wait and see what happens." He may have said go home and take a couple of aspirin and come back tomorrow, but I wouldn't certify to this.

THE NUB did eventually flare up, got to hurting like heck and was so mean-looking that it even scared my barber into trimming 'way around it.

Next trip to the Doc: "Hey, that thing's too infected to do anything with now. Let it subside and come back." He may have said take a couple of aspirin, but he didn't need to.

MEANWHILE, as is the old American habit, I got many diagnostic readings from helpful friends. "Just a hair turned under," said one. "Looks like an old-fashioned carbuncle," said another. "I had a knot like that once, only it was on my back," observed a third.

This obviously was no help, so when some of the inflammation went down, back to the Doc.

"Ah, hah!" he said. "Now we can get to work."

I FINALLY summoned the courage to ask him what the thing was.

Quoth he: "Why, that's a subadion-altransmogrifiedcalistrophimicrocutaneousoxidicmalmulticopicystolicmicrocosin."

"That sounds expensive, Doc," I said.

"Don't let that worry you now,"

he said. "The thing to do is have it out."

I climbed on the wrestling mat face down and he and the nurse got to work. It was a prick here and a jab there, and a bunch of commands for scalpel, sponge, gauze and suture and all the rest. I could hear and feel that something was going on, but I couldn't see.

"THE STUFF you're cutting out of there, Doc: that isn't brains, is it?" I asked. "We all know I can't spare the tiniest smidgen."

He retorted: "I don't have the tools to get to penetrate that skull." I assumed he was referring to a broad-axe.

"If you were to go too deep and cut that major tendon in my neck, I'd have to go around with my head hanging down, wouldn't I?" I queried again.

"YES, AND if I happened to reach as far as your tongue, you couldn't talk so much," he came back.

I stayed quiet after that, except to ask at the end if the stitching resembled the lacing on a football. This touched his professional feelings, and he said: "I'll have you know these are patterned after baseball stitches."

This made me feel a lot better, because I know more about baseball than I do football.

"YOU'RE MAKING an awful fuss about the removal of a little cyst," he commented.

"Why didn't you tell me in the first place it was a cyst?" I cried. "That's something I could re-cyst at any time."

And with that he threw me out of his office. As I landed on the back of my neck, it was a comfort to know that the baseball stitches still held.

Different Ways Of Looking At Things

WASHINGTON—The graffiti craze (inscriptions or drawings scratched on pillars, buildings and walls) is now in full swing in this country. Many have been made into buttons, a practice which has not only furthered the art of graffiti, but has everyone trying to think of new ones.

Time magazine held a graffiti contest, as a promotion, among advertising agency personnel throughout the United States and these were some of the entries that were submitted.

"I DREAMED I could wear a Maid-enform bra" — Twiggy.

"Hire the handicapped" — the Hath-away man.

"The Jolly Green Giant is a vegetable" — J. Edgar Hoover sleeps with a night light.

"Richard Nixon is dead and living in New York."

Other graffiti now making the rounds of Washington are:

"Sen. Dodd has never eaten a bad dinner."

"Impeach George Hamilton."

"GEN. WESTMORELAND come back—you forgot to salute Sen. Fulbright."

"George Wallace uses hair straightener."

"No, thank you, Dr. Coppolino, I've already had my shots."

"For Brotherhood Week—take your brother to lunch."

"Dean Rusk is a recorded announcement."

"Mrs. Johnson never waters the trees she plants."

"L.B.J. reads Walter Lippmann under the bedcovers."

"The U.S. has the answer."

Great National Park Disappearing

EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK, Fla. — You need not be an expert to see how one of America's great natural treasures is threatened with destruction. Creeping urban sprawl, creeping pollution, creeping drought are beginning to overwhelm the rare and even-vanishing life in the 1,400,000 acres of this park and in the waters around it.

We flew in a small plane over areas that seemed about to become desert — dry, barren, apparently empty of the bird and animal species flourishing for endless centuries in this biological wonderland. The water that means life, flowing in an age-old cycle, has been interrupted.

THEN AT the southern edge of the park we came on sloughs, with water and there were the birds, the white ibis, the wood ibis with black-tipped wings, the great white heron, and the egret—the snowy, the common and the reddish. From about 200 feet over the roosting areas they were great white flowers on the dark green of the mangrove. As though in response to some inner biological drive the wood ibis were nesting for an almost-unprecedented second time in a single season.

IT WAS like coming on a camp of refugees driven out of the land that had long been theirs and making the best of it. Where they once existed in hundreds of thousands or millions these rare species are now numbered in precious hundreds that may or may not survive the swift alteration of their native habitat.

The land speculators and the agricultural interests keep up unremitting pressure for more and more and more. Their instrument is the Central and Southern Florida Food-Control District, with plenty of political muscle in Tallahassee and Washington.

Allied with the flood-control district is the Army Corps of Engineers, which does the bulldozing and builds the canals and dikes. With pork-barrel projects in each of the 50 states the Corps of Engineers is one of the most potent and yet invisible of the Washington lobbies.

ONE ESTIMATE is that in Florida alone the Engineers have spent or will spend in projects already planned a total of $375,000,000. It is called flood control but in effect, it is drainage for speculative development and agriculture. In short, this is a fat subsidy for private developers.

THE ARGUMENT of the National Park Service, through the dedicated public servant, Roger W. Allin, who is the Everglades superintendent, is a simple one. There is enough water that can be released from Lake Okechobee to the north if the Corps of Engineers would agree to its release at appropriate times and not just in flood. It could be fed into the park without the residue of pesticides and chemical fertilizers that comes with the water off farm areas — the kind of pollutants so destructive to life and fertility.

WHAT THE visitor today — more than a million a year — including fishermen out for some of the finest sport fishing in America — cannot help wondering is whether any of the Everglades treasure will be left for another generation.

Allin and the others in the Park Service are engaged in a lonely struggle. They have the support of the conservationists, the Izaak Walton League and fishing interests aware of what pollution and reckless waste of water mean in destruction of a resource both for sport and commercial fisheries. Only agreement between the state authority, the Corps of Engineers and the Park Service ratified at the top can save the park.

Students Make Six-Day Band Trip To Gulf Coast

By ANDREA McCAIN

Thursday morning, April 27, proved to be a very sleepy morning for the BSHS band students. On that day, the band left for a long and anticipated six-day tour through the cities of Corpus Christi, Houston and San Antonio.

The band played individual solos and ensembles in the annual Buccaneer Festival at Corpus Christi Friday and performed as a whole in the concert contest. They received a second rating in concert and a first, second and third in solo and ensemble contests.

ASTRODOME VISIT

The band visited the Astrodome Saturday in Houston to watch the game between the Astros and the Cubs. Special attention was focused on the BSHS band at the Astrodome as a sign flashed at the top of the scoreboard reading "Top of the Dome to the Big Spring High School Band."

The following morning the band attended church services in Houston and visited the San Jacinto Monument and the Battleship Texas. Monday morning, the students received a guided tour through NASA and then headed for San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO

Monday night in San Antonio the students went downtown to the river and also attended "Man of All Seasons," an academy award winning movie. The group also went bowling. The band headed back to Big Spring Tuesday and students returned to classes Wednesday.

The BSHS seniors have a busy schedule set up for them during this month, their last month at BSHS. They picked up graduation announcements Tuesday from Mr. Bates in the cafeteria.

The Junior-Senior Prom will be held May 12 in the BSHS cafeteria. Only BSHS juniors and seniors will be allowed to attend the prom and each student must have an activity card.

The prom will be on a Friday night but the time has not yet been announced. Colored pictures of couples will be made at the dance for $3.50 each.

The band concert will be held May 13 in the city auditorium. The senior assembly will be held May 19. The class history, prophecy and will, will be read.

SENIOR EXAMS

Senior exams will be given May 25 and 26. Seniors will be dismissed from school Friday, May 26.

Baccalaureate services will be held May 28 for graduating seniors.

Juniors and sophomores will take finals May 29-31. Graduation is set for May 30 and the Senior Ring Dance for May 31.

The senior edition of the Coral will be issued May 24. The edition will be in magazine style and will be 16 pages with five concerning the prom. The edition will be given to all subscribers but extras may be purchased for 50 cents per copy.

ARCTIC CIRCLE

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL More About Those Ghostly Mountain Lights Of Marfa

Forgive me if I begin a lovely spring Sunday visiting ghosts upon you; but then, it's you who direct OBT content. It seems we have no more persistent phantoms abroad, dark nights, than the strange 'lights' that wander our western mountains. Here are reports from a couple of Austin watchers.

Will C. Carter moves them north from the Chinatis, which range dark below Marfa, to Davis Mountain country. He recounts the legend of Mt. Dolores, outside Fort Davis:

A Mexican maiden, the late 1880's was to wed a handsome shepherd from near the fort. Scoffing danger, he drove his flock to Apache canyon country's peril. To show him she waited with constant love, she climbed that mountain to build a signal fire each night. Far away, he was to strike an answering flame. One night, he didn't.

They found him scalped, and the mind of Dolores, his betrothed, snapped. From the beauty of lissome girl, she seemed to age to ruin. But every night, she struggled up to that watchfire. Finally they found her dead by it, those windy heights; her last trip up, toiling to signal she yet waited.

If the night is right, goes the story, Dolores' light still flickers at its peak.

But this is not the ghostly Marfa Light. Here Austin's Mrs. Michael Frary, whose husband is University of Texas professor of art: "Two years ago we were loaned the 101 Ranch (adjoins Marfa's airport, nine miles toward Alpine). We'd go to the airport, watch the lights. There were quite a few. They'd zoom in and be as big as a headlight (yet with no possible road to put them up the mountains, south), or they'd seem to bounce off the mountainside.

"We talked to many people, asked the mechanics at the airport how they could dare leave so much unguarded. They said no one would dare come near the airport at night. Too many funny things happened there.

"The local story is that the government built the runways for World War II pilot training and had to abandon them because, somehow, the pilots spun in. Washington sent down investigators with helicopters. They flew over the lights, which stayed bright until the observer was quite close, then vanished.

"Scientists ruled out marsh gas in the arid mountain country. "Mike took photos last year, but somehow they didn't come out. We'd love to hear any more information. But we definitely have seen the Marfa Ghost Lights."

Now, Mrs. Frary, artists and writers both seek the truth, don't they? I wish your husband would throw his camera away and paint what you saw. Of course, we OBTers can help to a degree. We really know that the mummified ghost of Alsate, last Apache chief, comes from his final, cornered cave to strike those beacons up the heights, south of US 90.

The light is a signal to bring his people home. What more would an artist want?

A Dallas man asked, "What happened to Buffalo Gap?"—way west by Abilene. For the many who answered, hear Austin's Weldon Hart, who ably directs our Texas Good Roads Association. A rare Texan breed, Weldon: a philosopher who can administer, a planner who can write (and this will, though true, embarrass him); but all of this, in anybody's league.

"But 85 years ago, Abilene was a cattle-loading point, tiny on the new Texas & Pacific Railroad. Buffalo Gap was booming capital of Taylor County nearby.

"The name was natural. There was this gap in the Callahan Divide, and the buffalo traveled it between Brazos and Colorado watersheds. The great buffalo kill of the 1870's left room for the Longhorn to plod the old trails, driving for Kansas. The settlement, logically accumulated at the Gap, was chosen county seat in 1878.

"Progress ripped Buffalo Gap early. No sooner was the sturdy limestone courthouse-jail finished than upstart Abilene was trying to get the county seat. Got it, too, in '83 (in those days, you couldn't fight the railroad). Now, Buffalo Gap's a forgotten gateway to a fine campground State Park; but during its brief stand-as fountainhead of Taylor County justice, that boomer carried on a compact operation.

"Lawbreakers were jailed upstairs, tried downstairs, hanged outside—either before or after the trial. As the town waned, the abandoned building was sold to the Odd Fellows, then to a gentleman from Wisconsin who thought it a good place to grow mushrooms. (It wasn't.)

"So Ernie Wilson finally got it for a museum—his dream for a long time. Ernie's still working at it at 75, after more years as 'city attorney' than most natives can remember. He resurrects the past so present and future generations can see it and touch it."

Glasscock Hit By Spring Freeze

GARDEN CITY — Vealmoor in Howard County was not the only place to feel the nip of frost last Tuesday.

Not only was there ice in Glasscock County, but the frost was severe enough to strip the leaves from acres of mesquite, south of Garden City and to defoliate the big pecan orchard being developed by the Currie interests east of here.

Oliver West, county farm agent, said that he had seen expanses of mesquite nibbed by the cold and the pecan trees had been almost denuded.

READ AND LEARN from a new HERALD Feature Science And You

Of interest to every age . . .
by an expert on today's marvels
DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

Dr. Reiffel's new daily, column makes readers sharply aware of how science affects us today in everything we do. This distinguished scientist, a participant in the first hydrogen bomb experiments, combines a staggering breadth of scientific knowledge with a knack for presenting science in an exciting, easy-to-understand manner.

These column leads show how effectively he grasps readers' attention: "The heart is such a simple organ that it's probably replaceable . . . Guerilla warfare is a mean business at best, and science is getting right into the middle of it . . . Some eager beavers think that we are going to the stars after we get through with the solar system, but they are wrong . . . Have you wondered how atomic bombs work? It's really quite simple — too simple, in fact."

Dr. Leonard Reiffel is a consultant in NASA's Apollo Program office. He has participated in many nuclear energy advances, including developments in America's weapons programs. Author of numerous articles in scientific journals, he is a Fellow of the American Physical Society, a member of American Nuclear Society, American Geophysical Union, American Astronomical Society, American Institute for Aeronautics and Astronautics and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Raquel Welch Appears In World's First Mini-Skirt

Recreating the physical and emotional climate of life on earth at the time indicated by the title, "One Million Years B.C." is set to open Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. The production, in color by De Luxe, stars Raquel Welch and John Richardson.

Stirring Raid During War

Twenty-four years after one of the most stirring commando raids of World War II, many of the participants still insist on anonymity.
 The raid, undoubtedly one of the most heroic accomplishments of the North African campaign, had sent a special force numbering less than 90 men into Axis-held Tobruk to capture and hold for 12 hours the North African seaport's main defenses.
 When he started the film, producer Gene Corman instituted a worldwide search for survivors of the unique Special Identification Group that participated, along with the British Long Range Desert Group commandos, in the September, 1942, assault which forms the basis for "Tobruk," a $6,000,000 Universal war drama in Technicolor starring Rock Hudson, George Peppard, Guy Stockwell and Nigel Green and coming tonight to the Jet Theatre.

Michael Carreras wrote the screenplay and produced "One Million Years B.C." To help dramatize the peril of being alive at that time, his story concerns two tribes of humans with vastly different ideas on how to live. First, he introduces the Rock Tribe, a swarthy, dark haired lot who hunt viciously and live the hard, rugged cave life which their name implies. The central male character, played by John Richardson, is a member of this tribe who is forced outside the family cave by a father and jealous brother. Alone in a brutal world of prehistoric mammoth beasts, gorilla men and vegetation difficult to cope with, the man stumbles exhausted upon a beautiful body of water which is enjoyed by a village of Shell People, a fair, more sensitive tribe living in relative peace. One beautiful Shell girl, Raquel Welch, finds the prostrate Rock tribesman and nurses him back to health. Their struggle to find common understanding leads them into many adventurous and exciting experiences battling the elements.

For exterior filming, producer Carreras took the company to the Canary Islands where primeval and volcanic terrain provided realistic settings. These settings were reconstructed with the monsters done by Ray Harryhausen and the overall sets under the supervision of Art Director Robert Jones after months of research to make everything authentic.
 Director Don Chaffey had the monumental task of working carefully with his actors with a screenplay lacking dialogue to see that they did not overact or exaggerate too much in their effort to communicate meaning without speaking.

Bans Critics

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Shepard is a playwright who would like to avoid critics permanently.
 Shepard, 22, wrote "LaTurista," produced recently by the American Place Theater, a private producing club which relies on membership subscription for audiences. He was the first writer to exercise an APT option to bar reviewers.
 "Why should everything be evaluated in terms of success or failure?" says Shepard. "If I've got wealthy enough to produce my own plays, I'd never have them reviewed."

'Georgy Girl' Opens On Ritz Screen

Lynn Redgrave, daughter of Michael Redgrave and sister of Vanessa, moves into the star spotlight on her own, in the title role of "Georgy Girl," the new release at the Ritz Theatre today. Miss Redgrave, whose earlier screen appearances were in minor roles in "Tom Jones" and "The Girl With Green Eyes," makes a bow in the new comedy, appearing as a gawky plain Jane who tries to hide her desperate need for romance by her clowning and her wit.

That she possesses the subtlety and skill to make her "Georgy Girl" characterization so poignant is a tribute to her training and talent.
 James Mason and Alan Bates are co-starring. Mason plays a wealthy, loveless and childless businessman who watched her grow up in his own home, the daughter of his domestics, and no longer regards her as a "daughter" but as a woman with whom he wants to live.
 Bates appears as an irresponsible young bank clerk whose love affair with Georgy's roommate ends in marriage, even before the arrival of their baby, he comes to realize that he chose the wrong girl. Charlotte Rampling, a former model, also stars as the selfish young woman whose romantic freedom is so strongly envied, and whose baby member of Laurence Olivier's is so warmly welcomed by the ungainly "Georgy Girl."

According to Hollywood, Miss Redgrave will become the "personal discovery" of every moviegoer, so adroit and appealing is her performance. Despite her family background, Miss Redgrave is only five years away from her initial decision to act. She now is an important member of Laurence Olivier's National Theatre Company.

'Hombre' Stars Newman In Western Adventure

Potent blocks of talent-power have developed in Hollywood which are responsible for the big strides in making motion pictures today. Director - producer Martin Ritt has completed his sixth film starring Paul Newman, "Hombre," which opens Saturday at the Ritz. It is a product of collaboration by co-producer Irving Ravetch who wrote the screenplay with his wife, Harriet Frank Jr. This group first joined forces in 1958 when they created "The Long, Hot Summer." Their last project before "Hombre" was the highly acclaimed "Hud."

mountains. He made arrangements to take his company into the altitudes of heat and high winds. But he hadn't bargained for the hard run of bad luck fighting illness, injury and foul weather that resulted in delays and discomfort. Now that it is all behind them, however, this very element of fighting for survival has given the film a sense of realism which the cast and technicians are the first to applaud with pride.
 Filming in Panavision and DeLuxe Color started at Old Tucson. After two weeks, the company moved 30 miles southeast and 5,200 feet up in the Santa Rita Mountains. Here, literally clinging to a cliff, was the film's mine set — constructed on the side of the old King Mine.

Newman plays the hombre in "Hombre." It is the story of a white man raised by the Apaches until he is more Indian than white. He rejects his own people and their way of life only to discover suddenly the salvation of a group of hostile whites is in his hands alone.
 Newman shares honors with Fredric March, Richard Boone and Diane Cleinto. Also co-starring are Cameron Mitchell, Barbara Rush and Martin Balsam.
 Ritt accepted the full challenge of the screenplay's loud cry for the jagged, bold and dangerous setting in the Arizona

Plans Announced For 34th Rodeo

Plans for the Thirty-Fourth Annual Big Spring Rodeo, June 21-24, are rapidly shaping up, according to C. W. Creighton, president of the association.

Creighton said this year's performance promises to be the most colorful and saltiest in its history.

Longtime rodeo producer Tommy Steiner, Austin, will produce the world championship rodeo. Steiner comes from a long line of rodeo producers and his stock is in top condition.

The five major events will be saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bull dogging, bull riding, calf roping, and girls' barrel racing.

Tom Hadley, from Oklahoma, who announces all the Steiner shows, will be at the mike during the rodeo here.

Kicking off the four-day rodeo, on June 21, a parade will wind through downtown, and according to Malcolm L. Patterson, parade marshal, the parade will feature floats, sheriffs posses, riding clubs, bands, clowns and other entries.

The rodeo association is offering a total of $100, in prizes for the first, second and third place winners in the float contest. The contest is open to anyone in Howard County wishing to enter and all are cordially invited to participate. All clubs and organizations have been urged to participate in the float contest.

Sheriffs' posses and riding clubs from Knott, Andrews, Dawson, Garza, Lynn, Martin, Ector, Scurry, San Angelo Saddle Club, Howard County Youth Horsemen's Club, will compete for trophies in this parade division.

Bands have been invited and urged to march in the parade from Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan.

The Santa Rosa Roundup Palomina Club from Vernon will appear in the parade and present a special precision drill during the rodeo performances.

Preceding the rodeo season (June 20), the Big Spring Square Dance clubs will stage a street dance, to which all square dance clubs in the area are invited.

Immediately following the parade on June 21, Sheriff Posses riders and members of their families will be guests of the rodeo association, at a barbecue at the fair barns on rodeo grounds.

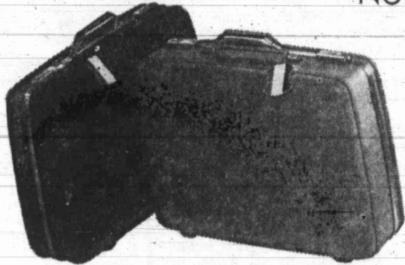

The Kiwanis Club will sponsor a public barbecue at the Big Spring City Park. Tickets for this barbecue will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.
