

Deleted Daze Red Ink Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Pentagon censors get out their red ink, almost anything can happen.

For example, Adm. David L. McDonald: DELETED. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.: What was that? McDonald: DELETED.

Stennis is chairman of the Senate Military Preparedness subcommittee, McDonald is chief of naval operations. Their mysterious exchange, and a dozen more, appear in heavily-censored testimony made public Wednesday.

Mischievous Wit?

Another bit of repartee: Stennis: You plowed under the DELETED mightily quickly there with one sentence.

McDonald: Mr. Chairman, they are plowing DELETED under quicker than I can, I regret to say.

At times, the censors seem to have a mischievous wit. "I don't think we need to be looking into this at all if we just say DELETED," they have Stennis declaring.

McDonald's rebuttal: DELETED.

Closed congressional testimony by Pentagon witnesses is screened by censors for information that touches on military secrets. The censors put red brackets around the secrets; the committee physically cuts that material out of the transcript before it is sent to the printer.

Your What?

McDonald's assessment — That "DELETED is in short supply" — is not borne out by the record. Take this exchange between Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Marine commandant, and Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

Thurmond: Is there anything else you would do? Greene: Well, I would DELETED.

Thurmond: Your what? Greene: DELETED.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., took the deletion business to its logical conclusion. He had his question and comments stricken from the record altogether, saying they "make little sense because of the deletions made by representatives of the Department of Defense."

McDonald seems to be the authority on the topic. Stennis: Just what do you mean by the DELETED?

McDonald: When I use the term, DELETED, I am speaking of the DELETED.

Sex Series Slated

NEW YORK (AP) — Fordham University, one of the nation's largest Roman Catholic schools, will begin a series of coeducational sex discussions next fall dealing "frankly and directly" with premarital intercourse, conception and the methods of contraception.

"We know we are establishing a precedent," Martin J. Meade, dean of students, said today. "But our primary concern is the students. It's apparent that many undergraduates are confused about relationships between men and women."

Control Devices

Contraceptives, Meade said, would be discussed without touching on their morality. This approach, he contended, would not constitute a break with Roman Catholic opposition to the use of artificial birth control devices.

The decision to offer the series of lectures and discussions came after 150 women at the university's Thomas More College presented a petition asking for birth control information. Fordham previously had given courses in courtship and marriage.

"The petition was the impetus," Meade said, "but the idea had been under discussion for a while."

The program will be open to Fordham's 12,000 students, including 670 women, its faculty and administration. A physician to counsel on individual problems will augment the seminars.

No LSD Guarantee

DETROIT (AP) — There is no guarantee against a bad trip for the person who takes an LSD ride through the contorted scenery of his own eyes and mind, psychiatrists reported today.

Reactions are characterized by continuing hallucinations, anxiety and panic, depression with suicidal tendencies, and by confusion.

The wayward LSD user usually shows up at a hospital in trouble, the researchers told a meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

There are some increasingly believed myths about ways to insure a "good" trip on LSD, said Drs. J. Thomas Ungerleider and Duke D. Fisher of UCLA's Neuropsychiatric Institute.

U.S. Warship Is Brushed Second Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring warnings, a Soviet warship brushed against the U.S. Navy destroyer Walker early today in a second incident of confrontation between American and Russian ships on the high seas, the Pentagon said.

The Walker was scraped by another Soviet ship Wednesday.

Today's incident occurred in the same general area of the Sea of Japan, about 300 nautical miles west-southwest of the Japanese island of Hokaido.

NO CASUALTIES

The incident occurred when the Soviet destroyer turned into the Walker, despite the latter's warnings, a Pentagon statement said.

The Pentagon said the collision occurred at 1:33 a.m. EDT.

As in Wednesday's bumping together of destroyers, "there were no casualties and only light damage was reported," the Pentagon said.

The Soviet ship, not identified by name, was described as a destroyer of the Krupnyy class.

The Walker, along with two other destroyers and the aircraft carrier Hornet, have been undergoing antisubmarine warfare training maneuvers in the Sea of Japan.

PROTEST

Wednesday, another Soviet destroyer — not the one involved in today's incident — made several close sweeps toward the American task group, coming as near as 56 feet on two occasions and finally bumping up against the Walker, causing minor damage.

The United States officially protested to the Soviet government over the first incident and was expected to file another complaint as a result of today's collision.

Sources view the Soviet actions as harassment.

GRAVE TONES

The situation has taken on grave tones in view of the Vietnam war. Russia is a major supplier of war materials to North Vietnam.

U. S. officials said they would await details before trying to assess the significance of the Wednesday collision in the Sea of Japan. A Pentagon spokesman labeled it an accident, but the State Department said the fact the Soviets were repeatedly warned about coming too close to a group of American ships speaks for itself.

MINOR DAMAGE

The State Department protested "close maneuvering and violations of the rules of the road" by the Soviet destroyer Besslednyy, resulting in her colliding with the USS Walker.

The scraping caused minor damage to the two ships and no one was hurt, the Pentagon said.

State Department sources said the incident could indicate a further toughening of Moscow's attitude toward the United States as the Vietnam war intensifies.

The rig, which was one of two operated by Perry, was cleaning the Mittie Walker No. 6, of the Lone Star Producing Co.

The 75,000 pound machine was pulling tubing at the time, but had shut down when a cable broke.

Perry, who had just arrived at the scene from his other rig, near Luther, was with Thurman about half-way up the mast on a platform and the two men were trying to repair the broken cable. A large number of long pieces of oil well tubing was stacked in the holder alongside the mast.

The wind, swirling up clouds of dust, had been blowing hard all afternoon. The Webb AFB weather office said that there was a particularly strong gust recorded at the base around 5 p.m. This gust was well above 55 miles an hour. The average during the day had been from 30 to 35 miles an hour.

Thigpen chased after the runaway hat. He said that the towering mast suddenly swayed two times and then crashed to the ground, upsetting the huge tractor-truck to which it was attached.

Thigpen was about seven or eight feet from the point where the steel deck fell.

"Perry fell off the top of the mast frame on the other side of the rig from where I stood," said Thigpen.

"Thurman was half crawling and half trying to attain his feet," Thigpen said. "He reached the edge of the mast and fell to the ground, about 12 feet."

Thigpen loaded Perry in his car and brought him to the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. An Alert Ambulance had been called, but when it reached the scene the patients had been taken away.

An employee of the lease holder brought Thurman to the hos-

Wind Topples Tall Derrick, One Killed, Another Injured

By SAM BLACKBURN

One man was killed and another suffered a broken back at 5 p.m. Wednesday when a sudden gust of wind toppled the 96-foot mast of an oil well servicing machine on a lease west of town.

Fatally injured was Donnie Thurman, 32, of 1707 Jennings.

Suffering a broken back and in a serious condition in the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital is James A. (Pops) Perry, 32, of Lamesa Road, owner of the rig and Thurman's employer.

SLIGHTLY HURT

Harold L. Bailes, of 2 April Street, operator of the rig for Perry, was slightly injured. A fourth worker, whose name was not available, was not hurt.

The freak accident occurred at 5 p.m. on the Loy Acuff Ranch, seven miles west of town.

The rig, which was one of two operated by Perry, was cleaning the Mittie Walker No. 6, of the Lone Star Producing Co.

The 75,000 pound machine was pulling tubing at the time, but had shut down when a cable broke.

Perry, who had just arrived at the scene from his other rig, near Luther, was with Thurman about half-way up the mast on a platform and the two men were trying to repair the broken cable. A large number of long pieces of oil well tubing was stacked in the holder alongside the mast.

WITNESS

T. A. Thigpen, Big Spring insurance man, was at the rig on business and watching the repair. One of the workers' hat blew off.

The wind, swirling up clouds of dust, had been blowing hard all afternoon. The Webb AFB weather office said that there was a particularly strong gust recorded at the base around 5 p.m. This gust was well above 55 miles an hour. The average during the day had been from 30 to 35 miles an hour.

Thigpen chased after the runaway hat. He said that the towering mast suddenly swayed two times and then crashed to the ground, upsetting the huge tractor-truck to which it was attached.

Thigpen was about seven or eight feet from the point where the steel deck fell.

"Perry fell off the top of the mast frame on the other side of the rig from where I stood," said Thigpen.

"Thurman was half crawling and half trying to attain his feet," Thigpen said. "He reached the edge of the mast and fell to the ground, about 12 feet."

Thigpen loaded Perry in his car and brought him to the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. An Alert Ambulance had been called, but when it reached the scene the patients had been taken away.

An employee of the lease holder brought Thurman to the hospital. He died of massive head injuries at 6:15 p.m.

Perry is a veteran oil well servicing worker, and before establishing his own business, had worked for the Foran Oil Well Service Co. Thurman had also worked for the Foran firm.

Perry has a wife and two children.

HEAVY DAMAGE
The crash damaged the huge machine extensively. The thick steel of the towering mast is warped and twisted and at one point one segment is nearly broken apart.

Services for Mr. Thurman will be at 4 p.m. Friday in Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Myron Crawford, pastor of Fairview Baptist Church of Colorado City, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

He was born July 19, 1948, in Waco. His family moved here in 1954. He attended school here and was married May 1, 1965 to Marie Strickland. He was a member of Fairview Baptist Church in Colorado City.

PARENTS

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Thurman, 626 State.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Carol Ann; his parents; one brother, Jerry Thurman, a student at Texas Tech; and a sister, Mrs. Pat McFall, Colorado City. His maternal grandfather is Newt Carpenter, Sulphur Springs.

MOONSHIP WORKERS WONDER

Apollo Astronauts Express Confidence

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — The astronauts said, "Let's stop criticizing and get on with the job."

But outside, in the huge shop where the replacement for America's first, ill-fated moonship is being built, workers were wondering how long the job would last.

The scene was North American Aviation's space systems division, where the three astronauts chosen to make the first Apollo space flight held a news conference Wednesday.

ORDERLY HASTE
Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., who will command the earth-orbit practice mission now set for early 1968, said: "It is time for self-recrimination to end. We have a job to do."

That task — to send men to the moon and back, hopefully before 1970 — "will proceed with orderly haste," Schirra said.

The program was interrupted Jan. 27 when a launch pad fire killed three astronauts, Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grisom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

GO FORWARD
The House Science and Astronautics Committee concluded a lengthy hearing on the Apollo space program in Washington Wednesday and its chairman called on all involved to "go forward and get on with this job."

Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., said he was satisfied after hearing officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration tell of new safety precautions, and that "we — the committee as well as NASA — were the victims of overconfidence because of past successes."

CABIN CHANGES
"The best thing we can do now," said Miller, is turn from past mistakes and move ahead.

The astronauts' news conference was called to introduce the new flight teams announced Tuesday and to disclose several changes made to forestall another cabin blaze. With Schirra were Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter R. Cunningham, a civilian.

They demonstrated, with the aid of a full-scale mockup of an Apollo capsule, a new hatch designed to open faster in emergencies and they showed how inflammable materials had been eliminated or enclosed.

Schirra, the veteran space pilot who several months before the fatal accident had been highly critical of the original spacecraft, said he is confident the new capsule will be safe.

He's going to spend the next several months here studying the craft and said he will not fly it until he is satisfied with its safety.

ANGRY WORKERS

As he spoke, workmen in other parts of the plant were assembling moonships that Schirra and astronauts after him will use.

Workers selected at random in a section where the conical hulls are built seemed depressed, and some were angry.

"There have been rumors that the contractor might be changed, that the space agency might give the Apollo job to someone other than North American," said Barbara McIsaac, a production control clerk.

JOB PRIDE

"I've been with the company 14 years, but I could get caught if they reduce the work force."

"I felt terrible when the accident happened. Everybody did, we all felt a sense of responsibility, even though we take pride in doing the best job we can," she said.

"We're trying harder now. We want to prove to the world that we are better than they thought."

Welding inspector Keith Angus, 34, said that at first everyone in the plant felt that fingers of suspicion were pointed at them and they resented it.

"We felt we didn't deserve it," he said.

"We were depressed. Nobody likes to see something they have put years of their life into become a failure."

In the news conference, Schirra declined to discuss contract questions, saying only that he thought the contractor "should take his lumps along with the rest of us."

The measure is a permissive one, in that it clears the way for creation of an airport authority, with taxing and administrative powers, in event the voters of Howard County were to approve same through a public referendum.

Civic and public leaders have said this is the most feasible route to finance the modernization of the local airport so that it can continue to accommodate commercial service.

Students Burn Barricades, Loot Store

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Rioting Negro students seized control of the Jackson State College campus area today, driving police back with a barrage of rocks and bottles before burning barricades and looting at least one store.

An estimated 1,500 students swarmed through the business area surrounding the state's largest Negro college, throwing up a barrage across Lynch Street, a main business artery cutting through the campus.

Police sealed off a 15-20-block area during the all-night melee and rioters retaliated by burning the barricades and firing shots into the air.

WANTS GUN

One unidentified student was reported injured, hit on the head by a bottle thrown from a dormitory window.

The riot followed efforts of two Negro policemen to arrest a Negro on charges of speeding on Lynch Street, and student sources said there was resentment about the street running through the campus.

When the area quieted at dawn, several white newsmen walked past barricades toward the campus, but a line of rioters advanced cursing. One carried a hammer and others had bricks. When one yelled, "Give me a gun," the newsmen retreated.

NO COMMENT

Dr. John Peoples, president of the college, said he had no comment. Later the administration office advised callers, "Everyone is unavailable for comment. We don't even know what's happening ourselves."

Classes were scheduled, but several students said nobody would attend and a college spokesman conceded, "We don't know if the students will show up."

Chief of Detectives M. B. Pierce said Negro policemen Ellison Weathersby Jr. and Alex McNeil tried to arrest a Negro driver, and hundreds poured from the dormitories to "give them a hard time." They called for help and a security officer and squad car arrived.

'WE'LL BE BACK'

"They started to back up then," Pierce said. "Things were getting back to normal an hour later when a bus load arrived from Tougaloo College. It started again, worse than before."

When one Tougaloo group left the area at daylight, they shouted to police at the barricades: "We'll be back." Predominantly Negro Tougaloo is a small denominational college located just north of Jackson.

The area remained sealed off during the morning, but a student who identified himself as Lela McGregory, a Clarksdale junior, told The Associated Press: "Students are not going to classes. There is no traffic that is going to come through Lynch Street."

ANGRY STUDENTS

Another student, who identified himself as James Young, a 19-year-old Jackson sophomore, said students were angry about Lynch Street running through the campus.

"People have been driving along throwing bottles and bricks at the students," he said. "It's been going on about six months. About three months ago it happened to me and my girl friend."

"A group of white kids threw a bottle and a brick at us. And then they sped off down the street in a car."

EASY LEARNING

Science today affects everything we do. Sometimes scientific facts are difficult to grasp, but there's a writer — Dr. Leonard Reiffel — who presents scientific matters in the most readable terms. Dr. Reiffel, among other assignments, is a consultant in NASA's Apollo office.

His new column, "SCIENCE and YOU," becomes a daily feature of The Herald beginning Monday, and you will find it of absorbing interest. Young people will find it most helpful, as well as fascinating — and that goes for older folk, too.

Here is real learning in the easy manner, and The Herald editors highly recommend to you daily reading of "SCIENCE and YOU." It starts Monday.

Texas Wheat Forecast Dips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department Wednesday lowered, for the second time this year, its forecast of the Texas spring and summer wheat harvest.

The department lowered its estimate by nearly a million bushels, forecasting a yield of 59,598,000 bushels.

The estimate of a month ago was 60,423,000.

The reason for the lowered yield forecast was the winter drought that caused many farmers to abandon their wheat crops or turn it over to livestock for grazing.

Last year's Texas wheat production was more than 63 million bushels.

The government had hoped for increased wheat production of 29 per cent this year to meet the United States and foreign demand.

The department said nationally the crop will be around 1.5 billion bushels, a record.

The forecast said Texas oranges and grapefruit would be in increased production, with the orange harvest expected to be three million boxes, up 300,000; and the grapefruit crop six million boxes, an increase of 300,000.

Soviet Jazz Comes Of Age

TALLIN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Five years ago the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda denounced jazz as "screamed out hysterical notes" sounding like "a streetcar racing around corners."

Four years ago, Nikita Khrushchev said jazz was "the kind of music that gives you a feeling of nausea and a pain in the stomach."

Three years ago denunciations of jazz as a corrupting, bourgeois influence were still heard. But Soviet youths kept playing it anyway, often in secret.

Two years ago they finally won official approval of jazz.

Tonight, Soviet jazz comes of age with the opening of "the first world jazz festival in the Soviet Union" — as the Soviet press describes it — in this capital of Soviet Estonia on the Baltic Sea.

It is expected to run four days and to include performances by jazz combos from the United States, Britain, Sweden, Finland, Eastern Europe and cities throughout the Soviet Union.

Although the program is still unpublished, the Charles Lloyd quartet from the United States and Monty Sunshine's combo from Britain are among those expected to perform.

Also expected is Willis Conover, heard here for a decade on the Voice of America introducing jazz numbers on his "Music USA" program.

It was largely from the Voice of America and the British Broadcasting Corporation — that Soviet jazz buffs got their start.

Gen. Scott Takes Helm Of Texas National Guard

DALLAS — Brig. Gen. James D. Scott, who rose from the rank of private to become assistant adjutant general of the Texas Army National Guard, will become commander of the "Lone Star" 49th Armored Division June 1.

Scott will take command just three days before the 49th moves to North Fort Hood for two weeks of annual field training, to succeed Maj. Gen. Luther E. Orrick, present commander of the 49th, who retires this month.

Scott joined the Texas National Guard in 1929 in his home town of Mineral Wells, and was a sergeant at the outbreak of World War II.

Commissioned a first lieutenant, his service during World War II was in the Pacific as a member of the Sixth Army staff. He participated in all the Pacific campaigns from New Guinea to the Philippines, and in the surrender of Japan in August, 1945.

During the Berlin crisis in 1961 he was assistant division commander of the 49th during its callup at Fort Polk, La. In addition to serving as commander of the 49th, Scott will continue as assistant adjutant general at Camp Mabry in Austin.

Orrick's retirement comes after 28 years of National Guard service and six years of active duty during World War II in Europe and at Fort Polk during the callup. His combat service was as a member of the 36th Infantry Division. He participated in five campaigns and the amphibious landing at Salerno, Italy.

Orrick's military decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, French Croix de Guerre and the Texas Service Medal. He has been commander of the 49th since April 1, 1965. In civilian life he is audiovisual director of the Wichita Falls Public Schools.

Sheep And Lamb Numbers Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today further liquidation of herds of sheep this year is indicated.

Sheep and lamb numbers declined four per cent in 1966, due mainly to unfavorable returns.

Braniff Profits Take Giant Dip

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International announced Wednesday record figures in traffic and sales but said profits dropped sharply in the first quarter of 1967.

Braniff President Harding L. Lawrence said net earnings were $1,007,777, or 17 cents a share, down 58.8 per cent from the same period of last year.

He said the lower net earnings were caused by bad flying weather in January and February and increased debt expenses brought on by expansion of Braniff's jet airplane fleet.

Lawrence said revenue passenger miles and cargo ton miles were up 74.2 and 165 per cent, respectively, both records.

Dear Abby

Task Of Keeping Up An Artist

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a promising young artist. I encouraged our marriage two years ago and have supported it ever since by teaching school.

My parents agreed at the time of our marriage to pay for all our doctor and hospital bills, but nothing more. They are in their 50s, and my brother and I know that when they die we will each come into several hundreds of thousands of dollars. I am not interested in an inheritance. I would rather have their financial help now when I need it. I am expecting a child and will have to quit teaching soon. I am afraid when I do my marriage will fail because my husband gets depressed and falls apart when he attempts to do any work outside the field or which he is temperamentally suited.

How can I make my parents understand that it is better to help their children financially when they need it, than to die rich?

MONEY WORRIES: DEAR MONEY WORRIES: Ask your parents for a loan until your husband's talents can be developed and applied. If they refuse, your husband will have to find other means of support. Many artists have worked at jobs for which they were not "temperamentally" suited without falling apart. Perhaps if your husband knew he had to, he could, too. If he can't, the responsibility of working things out is yours — not your parents.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone calls my three sons "the wrecking crew." They are, 9, 11, and 13, and believe me they are "all boys." I hate to take them anywhere because they don't get along with each other. Wherever we happen to be, a fight breaks out. (In the dentist's office, a shoe store, or the barber shop.) I've had friends and relatives tell me that if I come over to please leave the boys home. Neighbors have chased them out.

Beeps Driving Residents Batty

SEDRO WOOLLEY, Wash. (AP) — The residents of Sedro Woolley are going batty over a "beep beep" that's been bugging them every night for a month.

The strange noise, which seems to flit through the wooded hills nearby, starts about 9:30 each night and continues until dawn. When the beeping begins, the usual frog and cricket noises cease, listeners report.

An estimated 400 persons drove out to investigate the mysterious sound Monday night, and two deputy sheriffs sent out to check the noise wound up directing traffic instead. Sheriff John Boynton issued a public appeal Tuesday for people to stay home.

The source of the sound couldn't be as dangerous as some of those looking for it. Boynton said.

of their yards, and there are several kids their age who are forbidden to play with them. My boys aren't monsters, Abby, they are just rough and tough and hard to handle. It hurts me to see them treated this way although at times I could knock their heads together. They are too big for me to hit now. What should I do? MOTHER OF THE WRECKING CREW

DEAR MOTHER: Your boys are paying the price for what you failed to teach them earlier. Now you must explain that unless they control their tempers and learn to get along with each other (and others) they will not be welcome anywhere. And keep them separated until they learn to get along with each other. And keep them home until they shape up.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tilt-Wing Jet Crash Kills Trio

DALLAS (AP) — A tilt-wing experimental airplane making a simulated rescue mission crashed into a marshy area near Dallas Wednesday, killing the three men aboard.

Investigators from the Federal Aviation Agency and the aircraft's builder, Ling-Temco-Vought Aerospace Corp., searched the charred wreckage today for a clue to the cause of the crash of the XC124A experimental craft.

The victims were Stuart G. Madison, 39, of Irving, Tex.; John D. Omvig, 43, of Arlington, Tex.; and Charles E. Jester, 34, also of Irving. All were veteran test pilots.

The box-like airplane is designed to carry up to 32 battle-ready troops and was undergoing testing. Its wings swivel so that the engines thrust downward, enabling the craft to take off and hover like a helicopter. Five of the airplanes have been built, with one en route now aboard a ship to the Paris Air Show.

LTV spokesmen said the Wednesday crash was the first such for any of the five aircraft. The plane had been airborne only 29 minutes when it nosed over and plowed into a marshy area at Mountain Creek Lake near Dallas. The sticky terrain and flames from the burning aircraft kept would-be rescuers at bay.

Witnesses said the ramjet-propeller driven plane appeared to nose over just before the crash.

Who Measures Miniskirts?

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A few people at a school board meeting Tuesday night wanted to know who measured up or down, to a miniskirt.

Connie Collier, 14, a ninth-grader at Woodridge High School has been sent home twice because her skirts were too short. So her parents went to the Boston-Northampton School Board meeting.

"We want to know what the standards are," said Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collier of Boston Heights.

School Superintendent Wilfred J. Gregg answered: "It's a matter of personal opinion. I don't know who would do the measuring."

Principal Paul J. Padrucci added: "We have tried to get the skirt to touch the knee, but it gets harder to buy clothes that long."

"This is the time of year the short-skirt always comes up in discussion of school dress policy," he said.

Car Roll Fatal

BEAUMONT (AP) — Richard Gretzler, 28, of Buffalo, N.Y., was killed Wednesday night when a car overturned at a US 73 curve near the south edge of Beaumont.

Herbert Switch, 29, of Shawnee, Okla., in the same car, was injured. He was reported in fair condition.

Both men had been working in this vicinity with a seismograph crew.

The car rolled on Gretzler. Switch was thrown clear.

Two Texans Die In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense Wednesday identified two Texas servicemen killed in action in Vietnam.

They were Army Spec. James W. Cribbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Cribbs, Rt. 1, Box 552 AC, Mineral Wells; and Marine Pfc. David L. Rowell, son of Mr. Roddie R. Rowell, 806 Arapahoe St., Amarillo.

Police Smash Subversive Mob

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Joaquin Balaguer says a subversive movement outside Santo Domingo has been crushed and police have halted hundreds of motorists for questioning in efforts to halt nightly terrorist bombing in the capital. Balaguer told a news conference Wednesday one person was killed and two arrested when government forces crushed a subversive movement in Nagua, about 60 miles north of Santo Domingo. He did not identify them. Bombs have been exploding in Santo Domingo since last Thursday, and police expressed belief they were thrown by persons in cars or motor scooters.

An accurate assessment of his opponent's distribution provided South with the clew that proved essential to the success of his three no trump contract.

West led the jack of diamonds and the queen was played from dummy, holding the trick. South had eight top tricks—two spades, three hearts, one diamond, and two clubs—with a prospect for scoring the ninth in either one of the major suits. He must be careful to keep East out of the lead; however, since West is marked with the ace of diamonds, and a lead thru declarer's king might enable the opposition to cash enough tricks to defeat him.

South led a small spade from dummy at trick two, and when East followed with the deuce, the seven was played from the closed hand. Declarer was willing to let West in for, if the latter led another diamond, it must establish declarer's king.

West won the spade lead with the ten and returned a small heart. Declarer cashed the three high hearts, and East discarded a diamond on the third round, revealing that West had the jack of hearts, as a stopper in the suit.

A spade was led to dummy's king and when West dropped the jack, South was confronted with a choice of plays. He could lead a spade to the ace, trying for a three-three split; or, if he decided that East held both remaining spades, he could take a finesse against the queen.

Before making a decision, South searched for additional evidence. The king and ace of clubs were cashed as everyone followed suit. Since West was presumed to have at least four diamonds, and the sequence of plays had revealed for certain that he held four hearts, two spades, and now two clubs, all but one of the cards in West's hand had been accounted for.

Declarer led the dummy's remaining spade and when East played the six, South covered with the nine. If the finesse lost to the queen, West would be down to nothing but red cards and must eventually surrender the fulfilling trick to South's king of diamonds.

When declarer's nine of spades held the trick, he cashed the ace and then exited with his last heart. West was in, and after taking the ace of diamonds, his forced return permitted South to score an overtrick with the king of diamonds.

Heavy Drill Due Saturday

The Big Spring Steers, now nearing the end of their first week of spring football workouts, may stage their first scrimmage in Memorial Stadium Saturday morning, coach Spike Dykes has announced.

The Longhorns are playing all their drills in Memorial Stadium, waiting until about 8:30 p.m. in order to escape much of the heat that has descended upon the area. The boys are usually busy until about 8 o'clock.

Ninth graders who will be eligible for varsity play work out early, immediately following school.

Coach Dykes has been called to a directors' meeting of the Texas Coaches' Association in Austin Friday and will turn over duties to assistants. He hopes to return in time for the Saturday scrimmage.

Drills will continue through May 27. Highlights of the third week of play will be an intrasquad game sponsored by the Big Spring Quarterback Club.

Terry, Buhl And Coleman Released

After meeting with owner and Harry Dalton, Baltimore director of player personnel, Terry, Buhl and Coleman were released.

"I pointed out the opportunities to him," Dalton said, "but it's his career and it's his decision."

Atlanta hospitalized ace right-hander Tony Cloninger, 1-1, for an indefinite period. The former 23-game winner, who has not pitched since April 26 because of a pulled back muscle and a virus infection, is suffering from an eye problem.

The Los Angeles Dodgers traded infielder John Werhas to the California Angels for outfielder Len Gabrielson and the New York Mets purchased third baseman Ed Charles from Kansas City for $60,000 and minor league outfielder Larry Elliot. The Mets also bought utility infielder Bob Johnson and pitcher John Miller from Baltimore.

Epstein was unable to beat out Boog Powell at first base with the Orioles and Curt Blefary in the outfield, and Baltimore was unable to trade him when other teams would meet its price. He had only two singles in 13 at bats.

"If he fails to report," Dalton said, "he'll be placed on the inactive list."

Terry, 31, a 19-year veteran who starred for the New York Yankees in the 1962 World Series, was given his unconditional release by the New York Mets although he did not allow a run in two relief appearances of 3 1/3 innings.

Detroit placed Monbouquette on waivers when he refused to report to the minors.

They've been taking up money around golf courses in West Texas to pay the medical bills of Warren Cantrell, the one-time Big Springs, who underwent surgery a couple of months ago.

The latest report showed the fund was far short of the $10,000 sought. The touring pros, for the most part, have shown little willingness to contribute, which is somewhat surprising in view of the fact that Cantrell was the PGA president at one time.

Warren has probably done the architectural work on more golf courses in Texas than any other man.

Junior Coffey, who played his high school football at Dimmitt, up near Amarillo, is one of the best seven or eight ball carriers in the NFL. So says Tom Fears, who formerly coached Coffey at Atlanta and who is now head coach of the New Orleans Saints.

Fears also has words of lavish praise for Tommy Nobis, the former Texas star, too. Said he: "If anything, he was second only to Dick Butkus (Chicago Bear). Tommy was so tremendous. It's hard to imagine he'll improve, but I'm sure he will."

The local American Legion post has voted to field a baseball team again this summer, so it looks like the 1967 Big Spring High School baseball team will play as a unit under Legion colors.

The local club would be included in a league that will have two Midland teams, among others. One of the Midland clubs would be composed of Midland High players, the others of Midland Lee boys.

Professional boxing is staging a big comeback in this country—despite the fact that TV has turned a cold shoulder to it or perhaps because of it.

Many cards around the country are doing business in five figures. Incidentally, that Harold Johnson-Herschel Jacobs bout in New Orleans recently attracted a paying throng of 4,300 who contributed to a gross gate of $13,375. (Eliaso Estrada, whose contract is owned by Melton McMorries of Martin County, appeared on the same card).

Steve Niles Inks Letter At A&M

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Steve Niles, 6-foot-11, who led San Antonio Lee to the Class AAAA state high school basketball title this year, plans to attend Texas A&M.

The university said Wednesday that Niles, who averaged 22 points a game last season and who was widely sought, had signed with the Aggies.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Not many of the Longhorn league graduates who made it to the big leagues are still there. Camilo Pascual, who played briefly here, is currently with the Washington Senators and doing a reasonably good job, considering the fact that he has arm trouble.

Boy McMillan, who used to cover an acre of ground as a shortstop for the old Ballinger entry in the late '40's, retired recently as an active player with the New York Mets but was retained as a coach.

Pascual and McMillan were probably the two best performers ever to go up from the Longhorn circuit.

Mike Formisano, another Big Spring ex, has long since departed the scene. He developed as a left relief hurler for the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.

Other Longhorn exes who made it to center stage under the big top include Potato Pascual, who might have lingered had his temperament not got the better of him; Ossie Alvarez, a Big Spring infielder; Trompocino Rodriguez, another Big Spring ex; and Raul Sanchez, who hurried for Big Spring at one time.

The local high school is on the verge of losing one of its finest young athletes to Andrews. The boy, a tremendous player in junior high last fall, is a hard-running back in football.

Sandy Amaros, a World Series star for the Dodgers years ago, recently showed up in Miami on a Freedom Flight from Cuba—broke and destitute but happy to be breathing the air of a free man again.

They've been taking up money around golf courses in West Texas to pay the medical bills of Warren Cantrell, the one-time Big Springs, who underwent surgery a couple of months ago.

Monday Winning Spurs As Flychaser For A's

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Olive drab isn't Rick Monday's best color but he fits into green and gold just fine, thank you.

Monday is the young outfielder who pocketed $104,000 of Charles Finley's pot money in baseball's first free-agent draft two summers ago and now looks ready to pay off the dividend for Kansas City's flashily dressed Athletics.

He belted a homer and drove in three runs for the A's Wednesday night in a 7-4 victory over Boston.

One month ago, with the season about to open, Monday was just finishing an active-duty stint with the United States Marine Reserves. He shifted from fatigues to flannels fairly easily and has just about clinched a regular job in Manager Al Dark's outfield.

That's something he didn't have when he left the green and gold for the olive drab.

"The decision on keeping

Monday," Dark said when Rick went on active duty, "will depend a lot on whether he is in good shape when he reports to me."

Marine duties being what they are, Monday stayed in shape and returned ready to go. His six extra-base hits and 134 batting average have Dark wondering whether he might not benefit some of the other Athletics.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday night, Tommy John buried a six-bitter and Chicago smashed four home runs in a 13-1 romp over Baltimore. Detroit dropped Cleveland 4-1 and California edged New York 3-2.

Monday drove in two runs with a single in the third inning as Kansas City wiped out an early three-run Red Sox lead.

Then, after the A's had taken the lead in the seventh on singles by Danny Cater and Dick Green, Monday boomed his second homer of the season.

The streaking White Sox won their sixth straight with a 15-hit attack highlighted by the long ball.

Tom McCraw, Pete Ward, Dick Hemmerly and Tommie Agee smacked the homers and John Scattered six hits, losing his shutout in the ninth on Curt Blefary's homer.

It was the biggest offensive output of the season for the White Sox, who usually rely on a Punch and Judy attack. The Orioles dropped their sixth straight and ninth in the last 10 games.

Willie Horton hammered a two-run homer for the Tigers, who won their sixth in a row and stayed one-half game in front of the White Sox.

Mickey Lolich, who struck out nine, needed ninth inning help for Fred Gladding for the victory. Larry Brown homered for the slumping Indians, who've lost four straight and six of the last seven.

TORRES SAYS HE'S MENTALLY READY FOR TITLE FIGHT

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres says he's "psychologically up" for his title fight with Dick Tiger and predicts he will knock out the Nigerian "within 10 rounds" next Tuesday night.

That's when the two veterans will meet in a return 15-rounder for the light-heavyweight crown at Madison Square Garden.

Tiger, a 3-1 underdog, lifted the crown from the listless defender on a unanimous decision at the Garden Dec. 16. Despite the defeat, the 31-year-old Puerto Rican-born Torres has been made a 5-5 favorite over the 37-year-old Nigerian.

"I'll knock his brains out," said Torres Wednesday. "I'm psychologically up for this fight. I feel good. I was had—very bad—in the first fight. I didn't jab enough and I didn't punch enough."

"I had many opportunities to knock him out but I didn't take advantage of the openings. I know the openings will be there again and this time I'll be ready for them."

Suppose he loses? "I'll definitely retire if I lose," said Torres, "and I may even quit if I win."

Torres said the pancreas injury inflicted in a fight with heavyweight Tom McNeely on July 21, 1965, bothered him again before his last fight with Tiger.

"The pain is gone now and I feel fine," said Torres. "But doctors tell me that the trouble comes from fighting. So I may quit altogether, win or lose."

FANS EXPECTING WINNER

This Could Be 'Year Of 'Horns' In State

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP) — The leaders have been chosen, the final preview staged, and now Texas football fans are waiting with fingers crossed for the 1967 season: "The Year of the 'Horns'."

BAER

That proclamation is carried on the back bumpers and windshields of thousands of cars in Austin, and a lot of those car owners were among the 8,000 persons who watched the Longhorns close out spring training Saturday night.

They could hardly be over-impressed by the 33-26 victory by the Orange team over the White squad, but there was obviously enough talent on display to set off some conference championship fever in the stands.

Players not on the field, but who should be recovered from injuries by next fall, could make that fever a raging one.

Bill Bradley, the touted and talented triple-threat quarterback, for instance, was merely a spectator in street clothes. Wingback Greg Lott, center Ken Gidney, tailback Pat Sheehan and end Reagan Gennusa were other first-line players who sat out the final intrasquad game with injuries.

After it was over, Coach Darrell Royal commented: "I thought it was sloppy, which made it entertaining."

"The players were more enthusiastic. I'm pretty optimistic," said fullback Linus Baer, recently picked by his teammates as a copcaptain for next season.

"I think it (the key) is mainly our pride. I think something was lacking last year but during spring training we had more zip and hustle than we had last spring."

Royal is one who thinks mistakes can be corrected, but his primary worry is the string of injuries which knocked out a dozen or more starters last season and continued over spring training. A lot of his public and private talk is about injuries and the realization that there is little, if anything, he can do to stop them.

"How," he once said, "do you condition a boy not to break an arm?"

But aside from the Longhorn ailments, a few facts stood out in the spring training windup about Royal's 11th Longhorn squad.

Chris Gilbert has not lost his uncanny knack of threading his way for three or four yards even when the blocking falls him and, when the running room is there, making the long touchdown play. He slid out of three tacklers' arms and raced 77 yards in the intrasquad game, piling up 179 yards altogether on 23 carries. He was never stopped for a loss.

Texas has more good receivers than it has had in recent years, and Bradley and sophomore quarterbacks James Street and Joe Norwood appear capable of getting the ball to them. Street completed three of eight for 94 yards; Norwood seven of 11 for 106, and even Paul Kristynik connected on two of three for 50 yards.

Gilbert is backed up by Ted Koy, a 210-pound sophomore who looks almost as rugged as his brother Ernie, a star a couple of years ago. Koy carried 27 times for 109 yards in the final training game and scored three touchdowns, twice breaking several tackles for scores.

Texas' team is certainly not in the unbelievable class, but its fans are anxious to find out if those bumper stickers were prophetic or just show.

GILBERT

Sunland Vows To Try Harder

EL PASO—The Sunland Park publicity department was a bit chagrined to learn that the Youthful Stakes run at Aqueduct last week carried a gross purse of $23,450.

Sunday's running of the Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity has been publicized as the richest two-year-old thoroughbred race run in America thus far in 1967. The Allison will have a gross purse of $22,750, making it number-two by $700.

However, the Sunland racing secretariat and the publicity department have vowed to "try harder."

Doug Ford Slump May Be At End

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Doug Ford, almost a name from the past in golf although he's won two of the major championships—the PGA and Masters, thinks he's just about over the first big slump of his long career on the fairways.

The 44-year-old pro, winner of less than $2,500 this year, carded a sizzling six-under-par 66 in the pro-am to set the stage for today's first round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tourney.

Ford ranks ninth on the modern era money list but he hasn't green when you drive poorly more pressure on your putts." and then you are chipping up Ford said Nicklaus "may and leaving yourself five or six have lost his desire. He's won feet and you're putting a lot everything.

Streamlined Torre Is Scourge Of NL Foes

By RON RAPOPORT

Joe Torre, whose home run output once went up with his weight, has found he didn't need the extra pounds after all.

The big Atlanta catcher slimmed down over the winter to around 205 pounds, about 10 below the weight he carried when he rose to National League stardom.

With three homers in the Braves' doubleheader split with the Phillies Wednesday, Torre showed that the streamlining hadn't hurt him a bit.

Torre knocked one over the left-field stands in the first game, which Philadelphia won 4-3. He added two more in the nightcap won by the Braves 7-2. Hank Aaron also homered in each game.

When Torre first came up to the majors he weighed in at around 205 and not until he went up to 215 three years ago, did he really break loose in the home-run and batting average department.

Still, Torre's managers

nagged at him to lose a few pounds and this winter he finally did it. Now with a total of seven homers, 18 runs batted in and a batting average of .277 and rising, he can forget about going off that diet.

In other National League games Wednesday, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 2-1, Los Angeles topped Houston 5-1 in 10 innings, Cincinnati beat New York 7-4 and Chicago edged San Francisco 5-4.

The Phillies won the first game of their doubleheader on a wild pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth by Phil Niekro, Aaron's homers—the one in the first game was inside the park—gave him a total of seven for the season. Mack Jones also hit one out for the Braves in the second game.

Bob Veale went 8 2-3 innings for the Pirates and set the Cards down on just five hits. But the big right-hander walked two men in the ninth and needed Elroy Face to register the final out. Willie Stargell hit a two-run homer for the Bucs.

Soccer Rules Are Easy To Follow

By JOHN SMITH

Soccer owes its worldwide popularity to its easy-to-follow rules, non-stop action and the fact that a good little man stands just as good a chance as a good big man.

It is a simple game to understand, combining many of the basics from hockey, basketball and football. It has been described as hockey played with a basketball on a football field by 22 marathon runners not allowed to touch the ball with the hands.

As in these other sports, a team tries to score over the other team's goal. The soccer goal is eight yards wide and eight feet high and resembles a hockey goal instead of a puck, a black and white leather ball weighing between 14-16 ounces with a circumference of between 27-28 inches is used.

The game starts off with a kickoff which is decided by a toss of a coin. The winning side has the choice of either choosing the side it wishes to defend or kicking off.

A player kicks off by booting the stationary ball placed on the ground at midfield. He can kick to a teammate or into opposing territory. After a score the ball is returned to the center of the field and play begins again.

Speed is one of the strong selling points of the game. Soccer is composed of two "fast and furious" halves with only a few minutes of halftime. There are no time outs as U.S. sports fans know them. There is no water, no towels and no consultation with the coach. And, if a player stops to argue with the referee, an opponent may well kick a goal behind his back.

European soccer in recent years has evolved into a defensive game based on the theory that the team which concedes the fewer goals can't lose. South American play is noted for a more aggressive wide-open strategy. The newly-aware North Americans have attempted to open up the game even more.

The National Professional Soccer League, under the stewardship of Commissioner Ken Macker, has tried to encourage scoring output with a new system for its point standings.

Talons Decision Rockets, 19-9

Larry Franks settled down after a shaky first inning to hurl the Talons to a 19-9 victory over the Rockets in the International Little League here Wednesday night.

The Rockets struck for six runs in the opening round but Franks wound up throwing a four-hitter.

The win was the third without a defeat for the Talons. The Rockets are winless in two starts.

Three big innings paid off for the Talons. They chased across seven runs in the second, five in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Scoreboard table for Talons vs Rockets.

Bucs Record Fourth Win

The Pirates scored early and often to hang a 10-2 American Little League defeat on the Jets here Wednesday evening.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for the Bucs while the Jets are currently 2-3.

The Jets could manage only one hit off two Corsair hurlers, Roy Lee Osborne and Earl Reynolds. Bob Priebe managed that blow, Osborne was credited with the victory.

Reynolds also helped his team at bat, collecting two of his club's seven safeties.

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.)
And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 27 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)
And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors. And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires (around 40,000 miles).
But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.
You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL

Ill-Fated Expedition Left - Its Mark On Texas History

By ED SYERS

The ill-fated Gutierrez-Magee Expedition of 1812-13, allying Anglo-American and freedom-seeking Mexican against Spain's Texas — that whole pre-Austin period, too often overlooked by historians — not only presaged the storm clouds of Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto, but pitched three battles around San Antonio of near equal ferocity.

Green-bannered allies — fresh from winning Nacogdoches, then La Bahia (Goliad) — took Bejar. Next came Alazan, bloody repulse of a thousand-man Spanish army, virtually on the city; and finally, the ambush-rout of the allies and collapse of the expedition at Medina, not far from Rosalia's ground.

These were Rosalia, south near tiny Losoya, when the San Antonians, marking their heritage as the historic fortress-key to Texas and doing so with dedication matched by few, are yet unable to agree on the exact site of Alazan. To hand (name withheld to keep the peace) is a query: "Where should Alazan's marker go?"

and Roegelien plants, just south of downtown. And so, I never pass that high-bridged, midtown concrete zoom without a thought for the long ago hundreds who met and killed men they might have liked, except for cause that pawed them. I don't worry too much 'where'; I think of 'what.' That's what you mark.

Yet, with San Antonio, precisely where's Alazan? To provoke no argument but perhaps to help, what's your thought on where was Alazan? In any event, isn't a 'near here' marker a lot better than a hassle and no marker at all? Or do we skip what they fought for?

Here's one writer who believes the Gutierrez-Magee men and, yes, those of Aaron Burr and James Wilkinson and Zeb Pike, before 1806, and the Philip Nolans, long before that (and the Jeffersons, Hamiltons, Napoleons, even Nelson at Aboukir and Trafalgar, chess - boarding them) had far more to do with Texas Empire of today than our history texts now allot them.

That Alazan marker's too important for splitting quarter-mile hairs. What it meant, over-all, is important. Or I'd better ditch my next book.

Short Spring In Montana? HELENA, Mont. (AP) — "It was a short spring," a Helena resident said Wednesday, standing in eight inches of snow. "And what happened to summer?"

The remark was typical of those around Montana Wednesday. A late spring storm blanketed Montana east of the Continental Divide and added to flood threats and feed problems of cattlemen.

West of the divide, rain was reported in most areas. By late Wednesday, Great Falls reported nine inches of snow, Miles City seven inches, Lewistown three, Helena eight and Cut Bank four, and the snow was expected to continue.

Supplies Of Pies In Peril Because Tarts Strain Eyes

SMETHWICK, England (AP) — Supplies of pies to shops throughout the English Midlands — were threatened today because Susan Phillips is tired of watching the tarts go by.

More than 750 workers went on strike in sympathy with Susan and stopped production at one of Britain's biggest bakeries.

For three years Mrs. Phillips has kept an eye on 90,000 jam tarts an hour moving along a conveyor belt. Her job was to spot below-standard tarts before they reached the ovens.

After three years of constant tart-watching, Mrs. Phillips complained of headaches and asked for a transfer to another department. The management refused. Thus the strike.

"These tarts come at me on 120 trays a minute," said Mrs. Phillips, 46. "The strain on my eyes is terrible."

The manager of Scribbans Kemp Bakery, which turns out 1.5 million cakes, tarts and confections a day, refused to negotiate until the strikers return to work.

New Schedules Listed For Carlsbad Caverns

Carlsbad Caverns National Park will soon be converting its tours of the caverns to new schedules, Supt. Luther T. Peterson Jr. has announced.

Beginning May 22 and continuing through June 3, a schedule consisting of six complete 3 1/2-mile walk-in tours (2 hours and 35 minutes) and seven 1 1/4-mile Big Room tours (45 minutes and 10 minutes) will be maintained.

The park visitor center and concession facilities on the surface will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. The complete schedule for this period is as follows: Complete walk-in tours begin at 8 a.m., 9 a.m., 10 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Big Room tours begin at 8:45 a.m., 10:25 a.m., 11:25 a.m., 12:25 p.m., 1:55 p.m., 3:10 p.m. and 4:45 p.m.

The Visitor Center opens at 7:30 a.m., closes 8 p.m. Starting June 4 and continuing through Sept. 4, a schedule consisting of 11 complete walk-in tours (3 1/2 hours) and 11 Big Room tours (1 1/2 hours) will be maintained.

During this period the visitor center and concession facilities on the surface will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. The complete schedule for this period is as follows: Complete walk-in tours begin at 7 a.m., 8 a.m., 8:45 a.m., 9:30 a.m., 10:15 a.m., 11 a.m., 12 noon, 1 p.m., 2 p.m., 3 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Big Room tours begin at 9 a.m., 9:45 a.m., 10:30 a.m., 11:15 a.m., 12 noon, 12:45 p.m., 1:45 p.m., 2:45 p.m., 3:45 p.m., 4:45 p.m., and 5:45 p.m.

Visitor Center opens 6:30 a.m. and closes 9 p.m.

As in past years, the highly popular bat flight programs will be conducted by a park naturalist. Because of the change brought about by daylight savings time, the program will be later by the clock but will still be just before sunset each evening. Peterson said that the colony of bats should return from wintering in Mexico later this month.

The guide and elevator fee for the cavern tour is unchanged — $1.50 for those 16 and over and under 16 no charge.

Car Mark Logged

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — It took a mad last minute rush to do it, but the Cooke County tax collector's office logged a record total of 1967 vehicle registrations before the deadline. Registration this year ran 13,347 for all classes of vehicles. This compares with 12,542 last year.

Educator Enjoys Teaching Career Combined With Rewarding Home Life

Teacher And Homemaker

Since Mrs. William T. McRee's children now have homes of their own, her job with the Big Spring Independent School District as vocational adjustment coordinator in Special Education has become her first interest. She is still vitally concerned with her own home, however, and enjoys her periods of relaxation there.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Mrs. William McRee

OLD-FASHIONED CHICKEN SALAD

1 chicken
3 cups chopped celery
White grapes as desired
Sweet pickles as desired
DRESSING:
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup vinegar
3 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. salt
4 egg yolks, well beaten
Boil chicken, cool, and cut meat from bones into small pieces, save broth. Add celery, grapes and pickles to chicken. To make dressing, place broth, vinegar, sugar, flour, mustard, and salt in pan and cook slowly until mixture coats spoon. Add egg yolks and cook until thick. Add more broth if needed. When dressing is cold, add to chicken. Serve on salad greens.

ICING FOR CARROT CAKE

1 stick butter (margarine)
8 ozs. cream cheese
1 box powdered sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Have cheese and butter at room temperature before mixing. Mix as listed. Spread on cake.

BLUEBERRY SALAD

1 large can blueberries, drained
1 large can crushed pineapple, drained
1 pkg. black cherry gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 small pkg. cream cheese
1/2 pt. whipping cream
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Heat blueberry juice. Add gelatin and dissolve. Add blueberries, pineapple and water. Let congeal. Top with mixture of cheese, whipping cream and chopped nuts.

FOUR BEAN SALAD

1 large can green beans
1 large can lima beans
1 large can kidney beans
1 large can yellow wax beans
DRESSING:
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. mustard
Dash of garlic salt
1/2 cup chopped onions
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup French dressing
Combine above ingredients as listed, and toss with vegetables.

CARROT CAKE (THREE LAYERS)

4 eggs
1 1/2 cups salad oil
2 cups sugar
3 cups grated carrots
2 cups flour
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 tps. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
Beat eggs; add salad oil and sugar. Add carrots, sifted flour, cinnamon, soda and salt. Mix and add nuts. Bake 35 minutes at 350 degrees.

HEARTY JULIENNE SALAD
Add ham or chicken for treat

Fresh Pear Salad For Unusual Spring Meal

A hearty Julienne Salad made refreshingly different with the addition of fresh pear wedges to the traditional ham, chicken and cheese strips. Arrange the pears and julienne strips invitingly over crisp salad greens, garnish with sliced stuffed olives and serve with an oil and vinegar dressing. All that's needed to complete the meal are warm buttered French rolls and beverage.

Any of the three popular varieties of winter pears will complement this salad. The yellow-green Anjou, juicy and tender, adds a special spiciness. The Bosc pear, distinctive with a russet skin and long tapered shape is equally delicious and adaptable. Or try the delicate textured juicy heart-shaped Comice pear.

FRESH PEAR JULIENNE SALAD
2 fresh Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears
1 cup narrow strips cooked ham
1 cup narrow strips cooked chicken
2 slices Swiss cheese, cut in strips
1 small head Romaine lettuce
2 tbsps. sliced stuffed green olives
French or Italian dressing
Cut pears in wedges and core. Arrange pear wedges with ham, chicken and cheese on top of greens which have been torn into bite size pieces. Garnish with olive rings. Serve with oil and vinegar dressing, Italian or French style. Makes four servings.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Section B Big Spring, Texas, Thursday, May 11, 1967

By RHODA LEMONS

The old with the contemporary, the handmade with the factory produced, and vibrant colors of red, green and gold with subtle shadings — all describes the home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. McRee, 1905 Morrison.

The home offers warmth and welcome and personifies the charm of its hostess. Thriving pot plants of scrub-oak ivy and delicate plants of African violets live together harmoniously in a living room designed for just that.

An upstanding desk used as a break-front bookcase and twin end tables were made by Mrs. McRee's father, the late William Frome. Handsomely designed and detailed, these unusual pieces are stained in a dark finish and blend well with maple dinette furniture and prints by Peter Hurd. A contemporary coffee table topped with mosaic tile was made by the youngest daughter of the McRees.

Mrs. McRee is employed by the Big Spring Independent School District as Vocational Adjustment Coordinator in Special Education. In the morning her job is to introduce special education students to the work-day world, to assist them in finding jobs and to work with them and their employers in keeping the job. Her students average between the ages of 16 and 21 years of age. Mrs. McRee assists them until they have had two years work training on a job in the community.

McRee is Lone Star Boy Scout District executive, and his work pertains to the promotion and growth of the Scouting program in the community. He is the only paid worker in the district and assists with the organization of new troops and the promotion of the volunteer Scout program.

The McRees are parents of three daughters, Mrs. Nancy Dowdall of Grand Rapids, Mich., Mrs. Bill Cregar of Elbow, and Mrs. W. E. Droke, Parkhill Terrace. Their three grandchildren are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Cregar.

"Visiting is my favorite recreation," said Mrs. McRee. She has little time to indulge in this, however, as her job demands five days a week, and her home remains the center of her attention. She and her husband like to entertain informally, usually seated dinners for about eight guests.

"Cooking is not so involved for me as it was once," said Mrs. McRee. When her children were home, the cookies and the "extras" just went as fast as they came, but now she and her husband can have their favorite dinner often. Their preference is a good, thick steak with salad and a baked potato. They dine promptly at six o'clock each evening, as frequently McRee has evening appointments.

Mrs. McRee confesses that she doesn't watch for special buys in foods, nor does she freeze or prepare much in advance. Her days in the kitchen are more relaxed, at least until the grandchildren arrive for dinner or a visit.

For enjoyment, Mrs. McRee always turns to the piano. She has played for years and is pianist at the First Baptist Church. She is interested in almost all types of music and plays much by memory.

Mrs. McRee enjoys working in the yard at her home, and even more, she and her husband take pleasure in relaxing there. Much of their leisure time is spent outdoors, and Mrs. McRee feels that she inherited her love for plants and growing things from her father, who was a landscape architect.

Reading is another interest and recreation for Mrs. McRee. Much of her reading is professional material, and for pleasure, she enjoys book condensations and women's magazines.

"We have lived in Big Spring 13 1/2 years," Mrs. McRee said in conclusion, "and they have been good years. We have been able to do work which we found satisfying and rewarding. We have reared and educated our daughters until they have made homes of their own, and we have the enjoyment of close friends. Big Spring has been good to us, and we are grateful for our opportunities here."

Leftover Meat Adds New Taste

Bits of leftover ham, Canadian-style bacon, pork sausage links or patties and bacon may be added to the following dishes for meaty deliciousness: macaroni and cheese casseroles, scalloped or au gratin potatoes, buttered noodles or creamed vegetables.

Beef patties leftover from grilling or meat loaves may be sliced for cold sandwiches with mayonnaise and blue cheese, mustard or chili butter or hot barbecue sauce.

When not used for sandwiches, let them add flavor to quickly heated vegetable soups.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Florist Tells His Secrets

Dear Heloise: I am a retired florist and would like to give some tips to your housewives who grow their own flowers.

Cut flowers last longer if all the leaves are removed from any stem that is under the water. The leaves sap up the power-of-life-in-a-cut-flower. The main point is to get water to the bud itself.

If you have no proper frog or foam, the extra leaves and sprigs may be tucked into the flower container. Often, sprigs of foliage with leaves still attached (such as stems from hedges) may be tucked down into a deep vase and used as a perfect flower arrangement.

For some types of flowers, such as marigolds, a few drops of household bleach, added to the water before placing the flowers in, helps to keep the stench down.

And more power to you, Heloise. My wife absolutely loves you. Larry Soltsberg

Dear Heloise: Know those tiny jars with twist caps that are sometimes so hard to open?

Try releasing the vacuum by punching a hole in the top with a V-type bottle opener. Makes all the difference in the world.

This is especially good if it's a tiny jar of something you will use immediately. Again

Dear Heloise: I've found another use for Heloise nylon net... as a kitchen sink mat to keep the porcelain finish from getting those horrible marks from aluminum, etc.

I made a net pad for the bottom of my sink by using four thicknesses of nylon net and cutting a pattern to fit the bottom of the sink.

Then I stitched these together around the edges and sewed a big "X" through the center with my sewing machine.

I then cut a circle out of the center over the drain and stitched around that.

The little circle I cut out of the center I used in my soap tray to put my bar of soap on.

If you have a double sink, make a net pad for at least one side. This will be interchangeable. O. B.

Dear Heloise: I find if you use elastic thread to hem skirts or dresses made of this new stretchable material, it won't break when you walk or kick.

Don't stretch the thread as you sew... just sew it loosely. Mrs. Wilkins

Dear Heloise: My daughter was recently confined to her bed with a nasty cold.

After the first hour, used facial tissues were all over the bed and floor. I knew this would not do.

I took one of the plastic bags that my husband's laundered shirts came in and pinned it to the box of tissue. This way she had the tissue dispenser and a convenient place to deposit each tissue after using.

Also, she could carry both containers with her when she left her bed, and when I discarded the used tissue it was posite wall seems to have been in a capricious mood - or do you think he intentionally wanted to confuse me? Because the painting is present, it will serve as a conversation starter.

The person who feels inarticulate should be careful not to respond with monosyllables to conversational overtures. Such responses sound flat and terse and tend to discourage the other person. For example, if asked "Are you having fun?" a reply such as "Yes, indeed - isn't this a divine party!" encourages communication. When a man introduces a subject about which a woman knows little or nothing, she should admit her ignorance and add that because of it his opinions on the subject will be of special interest.

Dear Heloise: When I addressed my wedding invitations I also addressed all the envelopes to my thank-you notes. I put them in alphabetical order and set them aside until after our honeymoon.

This sure saved me a lot of time and extra address hunting when I thanked all our friends for our wonderful wedding gifts. Linda

This might save some other bride-to-be many precious hours as she gets her home in order and cooks her first meals. Linda, best wishes to you and thanks for the thoughtful idea. Love, Heloise

Parish Workers Hold Style Show

Members of the Parish Workers at St. Paul Lutheran Church held a mother-daughter banquet and style show Wednesday evening in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club.

Tables were decorated with large paper flowers, made and arranged by Mrs. Alton Marwitz.

Mrs. Frank Long served as mistress of ceremonies and commentator at the style show directed by Mrs. Ronald Watson. Clothes were modeled from the Tot 'N Teen Shop.

Mrs. Elmer Lyster was honored as the mother with the most daughters; Mrs. Marilyn Geisenking, having the largest family; Mrs. Albert Hohertz, the most grandchildren; Mrs. James Von Beechman, the youngest mother; and Mrs. Paul Berset, the oldest mother present.

Mrs. August Graumann gave the invocation.

Blue Room Scene Of Gift Party

Miss Brenda Kay Reid, bride-elect of Charles-Michael Crouch, was complimented with a gift shower Saturday evening in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. Calling hours were from 7 to 9 p.m.

The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Reid, 1609 Vines, and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Crouch of Barstow.

The couple will be married June 3 at the First Methodist Church with Dr. DeWitt Seago of Brownfield officiating.

Hostesses included Mrs. W. S. Goodlett, Mrs. Jack Alexander, Mrs. Weiland Brown, Mrs. J. L. Christensen, Mrs. J. Arnold Marshall, Mrs. David R. Haught, Mrs. W. L. Osborne, Mrs. Wesley Carroll, Mrs. R. V. Colclazer, Mrs. Warden Mayes and Mrs. Robert C. Hill.

Miss Reid was presented with a corsage of white carnations; as were her mother, the bridegroom's mother, and the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. V. W. Lehde of Sweetwater.

The refreshment table was laid with an imported linen and lace cloth, and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and mint green chrysanthemums. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Presiding at the punch service were Miss Lynn Christensen and Miss Virginia Colclazer. Miss Donna Reid, sister of the bride-elect, registered guests.

Sixty-five attended. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Billy M. Jones of Silver, Miss Sherri Goode of El Paso, and Mrs. Forrest Walker and Mrs. Winnie Majors, both of Barstow.

Use Plastic Jug To Water Plants

To keep an outside flower or shrubbery damp during a very dry spell, punch a couple of small holes in a gallon tin bucket or plastic jug. Set closely around plant. The water slowly feeds into the soil.

If plants either in the vegetable garden or flower garden are in rows, water well, then set the jugs or buckets of water at intervals in the rows, or close beside them.

Preserve Flowers

Don't let the rain ruin a blooming prize rose. You can save it from rain destruction by covering it with a plastic bag. Remove the bag as soon as the rain stops.

Mrs. Byron Orand Named To Presidency

Mrs. Byron Orand installed incoming officers of the Child Study Club at the salad luncheon meeting Wednesday in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

A LOVELIER YOU

'Underdressing' Art Will Keep You Cool

By MARY SUE MILLER

A knack for dressing begins with a knack for underdressing, especially in the warm days ahead. Unless your choice of lingerie is with it, the plant materials and silhouettes of your summer fashions will never get with it.

New lingerie, praise be, is all things to all fashions. Sometimes pale and delicate, sometimes bright and kinky, it offers an underline for every shape and every skirt length. For example, there are sleek little slips for sleek little dresses. There are slants—a demipetti layering Pettipants—for baby tent shapes.

For wear under knits, jerseys and other clingables, slips with a seamless bodice give an extra-smooth finish. Full slips, either tailored or frosted with lace, make an ideal underscorer for floating silhouettes. The soft, spare chemise has

Teachers Plan Year

Retiring and incoming committee chairmen and officers of the Big Spring Classroom Teachers' Association met to discuss plans for the forthcoming year at the Monday evening dinner meeting at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Ola Mae Robertson, retiring president, presented the gavel to Mrs. Martin Landers, incoming president. Mrs. Landers introduced the new officers and committee chairmen. They are Bailey Clements, program; Joe Dawes, legislative; Mrs. Ted Hicks, welfare; Mrs. William Martin, TEPS; Mrs. Bill Irwin, membership; Mrs. Rogers Heffley, professional rights and responsibilities; Mrs. Bill Bradford, social; Mrs. E. Y. Buckner, publicity; Mrs. Marvin Tatum, local projects; Mrs. Tom Adams, welcoming; and Miss Doris Peters, financial chairman.

Mrs. Jerry Allen Presents Program

Mrs. Jerry Allen brought the program, "The Christian and World Economy," at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Lalla Baird Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Wesley Methodist Church. The group met in the home of Mrs. W. B. Morris, 1316 Stadium, and Mrs. Jarrell Sharp worded the opening prayer. Refreshments were served to nine members. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Allen, 610 Bucknell.

an affinity for the soft spare crepe dress. Likewise the bra-topped chemise which, of course, serves a two-in-one purpose. Like the shaping of lingerie, the colors are planned to match or blend with outerwear. And the shades, from the pastel to the hot, are lovely. Prints make a stronger impression than ever. For pizzazz, geometric and abstract patterns are tops. Mix-and-match checks are neat and fun. Garden-party florals have a delightful freshness.

To recap: The art of dressing is one part artful underdressing. CALORIE COUNTER Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our new booklet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan—a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller, in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Give Program On Christian Culture

The program "Christian and Culture" was presented by Mrs. Don Crockett, Mrs. M. O. Hamby and Mrs. Harold Knapp during the Tuesday meeting of the Martha Foster Circle of Wesley Methodist Church. The women met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Barker, 404 W. 8th, with Mrs. Helen Ewing presiding. Prayers were led by Mrs. Barker and Miss Ewing, and refreshments were served to six. The next meeting will be at the church.

Club Ends Year With Luncheon

A luncheon for members of the Rosebud Garden Club was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. B. Edwards, 2703 Crestline, with Mrs. Joe Myers and Mrs. Alvin Simpson as co-hostesses.

Miniature roses were used for a May Pole arrangement placed in the living room, and centerpieces of irises and coreopsis were placed on the quarter dining tables.

Mrs. Odell Womack presided and introduced Mrs. Alpha Morrison as a new member. Mrs. John Furquerson, a former member, installed the new officers who are Mrs. Womack, president; Mrs. Myers, vice president; Mrs. Toots Mansfield, secretary; and Mrs. Joe Smoot, treasurer.

The luncheon was the last meeting of the season for the club.

Washington P-TA Installs Officers

Mrs. Roy Watkins served as installing officer at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of Washington Place Parent-Teacher Association at the school auditorium. New officers include Mrs. Gary Poteat, president; Mrs. Jimmy Bumgarner, secretary; and Mrs. Donald McKee, treasurer.

Mrs. Curtis Mullins, vice president, introduced members of Wendell Ware's sixth grade class who served as school patrols during the year. Sgt. J. D. Campbell, of the Big Spring Police Department, presented each of the patrol students with a wrist watch.

Mrs. Don Farley presided and announced that the P-TA will sponsor the children's plays again next year, and that the club will spend $250 in landscaping the school grounds. Dr. K. Gage Lloyd brought the devotion, "The Christian Family." Approximately 75 attended.

Prager Views Judaism Laws

"What I Believe About Judaism," was the subject of the talk presented by A. J. Prager, guest speaker, at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Spodazio For Study Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Bill C. Coleman, 1100 Lloyd.

"The precepts of Judaism are founded in the Bible," said Prager, "and there are three separate concepts of the Jewish religion. They are the Orthodox, or those adhering strictly to the laws of their forebears; the Conservative, a group interpreting the Jewish religion and applying it to more modern times; and the Reform groups which believe much as the Orthodox group, with more leniency in tradition and dietary customs."

Prager continued by saying, "All Jewish religions are based on the principal of one true and living God, the 10 commandments, the principles enunciated in the Golden Rule, the love of learning and the love of one's fellowman, even his enemies."

"Statistics bear me out," concluded Prager. "They show that in Jewish families there is less divorce, fewer suicides and less juvenile delinquency, than in many other religious groups." He discussed, as possible reasons for this, the close-knit family ties, the respect for authority, and the reverence for God often found in homes practicing the Jewish religion. A question and answer period followed his discussion.

Mrs. Don Farley presided during the business session, and plans were completed for the installation dinner to be held at 7 p.m., May 23, at the Spanish Inn.

Refreshments were served from a polished table. Eleven attended.

MR. AND MRS. S. L. (ROY) LOCKHART

S. L. Lockharts Will Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. (Roy) Lockhart will observe their 60th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday at their home, 603 W. 18th. Friends are invited to call between the hours of 1 and 7 p.m.

Frank Pearsons Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearson, 1608 Canary, are announcing the birth of a daughter, Tracy Michele, born at 5:05 a.m., May 8, at Medical Arts Hospital. The baby weighed seven pounds, nine and one-half ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Choate, 102 E. 16th, and the paternal grandfather is T. V. Pearson, 1903 S. Monticello.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart were united in marriage May 14, 1907, while sitting in a buggy outside his brother's home in Knapp. They had met at a "snap" party. A rancher and farmer all his life, Mr. Lockhart was engaged in that industry near Luther in Howard County for 40 years. He retired when he and Mrs. Lockhart moved to their present address in Big Spring sixteen years ago.

They have four children including Mrs. A. J. McClinton, 605 W. 17th; Carl Lockhart, who farms near Luther; Lt. Col. Warren Lockhart of Langley Field, Va.; and Connally Lockhart of Amarillo. All, but Lt. Col. Lockhart, will be with their parents on their anniversary.

The couple has nine grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Geraniums Bloom In Low Border

Dwarf geraniums seem to be the best bloomers of all geraniums and are ideal for low border plants.

The constant blooming quality requires more food and water than other geraniums. The dwarfs should be fertilized twice monthly.

Save For Mulch

Save all grass clippings and use them to make mulch for plants. First, they must be thoroughly dried out before scattering them around. Thick layers of green grass clippings will generate heat, become slimy, and give off a bad odor. So spread them thin and dry them first.

Golden Age Club Has Game Night Meeting

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rees, Leon Ashford, and Mrs. Roy Messimer were hostesses for members of the Golden Age Club when they met Tuesday evening. During a business session the time of the meeting was changed to 7:30 o'clock the first Tuesday of each month. Mrs. A. G. Anderson is president. Dominica and "42" were enjoyed by 15 members from Westbrook and Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Moody and sons visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moody, at Hico during the weekend.

Charles Pope, Maxey Ware, W. A. Bell and three Howard County Junior College students, Larry Bell, Howard Williamson and Harvey Turnbow, spent the weekend fishing on the San Saba River near Fort McKavett.

Guests this week of Mrs. Frank Oglesby were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brackeen of Abilene. Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Carlson and daughter, Gretchen, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oglesby of Corpus who also visited his brother, D. A. Oglesby and family, and his brother-in-law, Ira Hambrick.

Coach and Mrs. Sam Scroggins and children, Stuart and Stephanie, spent the weekend in Austin where they attended the state track meet.

Mrs. Margaret Powell was admitted to Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City, Wednesday night.

The Rev. L. B. Edwards attended the Training Union retreat at the Baptist Encampment near Stanton Friday and Saturday.

Scott Lankford of Lubbock has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lankford.

Supt. and Mrs. Herman Parsons and daughter, Melanie, spent the weekend in Austin where they attended the state track meet.

Visiting in the C-M. (Doc) Alvis home during the weekend were Mrs. Alvis' children, Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Cunningham and Jackie of Anadarko, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ballard and family of Sweetwater. Mr. and Mrs. Alvis visited Ernest Robertson in Malone - Hogan Foundation Hospital in Big Spring Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Henderson returned Monday from a four-day trip to San Antonio and George West where they visited friends.

WCS Leaders At First Methodist Are Installed

"The candle is to light, the Bible to instruct and the cross to inspire," said Mrs. Leo K. Gee as she installed new officers Tuesday for the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Lonnie Zant gave the devotion, and a pledge service was conducted by Mrs. Max Fitzhugh, assisted by Mrs. R. Dorse, Mrs. Harrol Jones, Mrs. Gary Sims and Mrs. Larry Bernard. Mrs. Jones was heard in "Give of Your Best to the Master."

Following luncheon, Mrs. Robert Hill presided as new circle chairmen were elected. They are Mrs. Warden Mayes, Maudie Morris; Mrs. Knox Chadd, Sylvia Lamun; Mrs. Van Hale, Fannie Hodges; Mrs. Jones, Fannie Stripling; Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mary Zinn; Mrs. O. G. Hughes and Reba Thomas.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Carl Rihard and Mrs. Walter Osborn. The head table was accented with an arrangement of spring flowers in a straw hat, and white daisies were placed along the other tables.

The group will meet in circles on May 23, and the next WCS meeting will be June 13.

Rebekahs Send Monetary Gift

Members of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 completed plans to send their "adopted" girl a graduation gift during the Tuesday evening meeting at the IOOF Hall. The senior girl is a resident at the IOOF Children's Home in Corsicana. Mrs. Emmett Hull presided and read a letter of appreciation from the state hospital for furnishing cookies during April. Thirty visits to the sick and shut-in were reported by the 25-attending.

Make Turkey Roast For Mother's Day Festivity

Whether dinner by mother or for mother on her day, a menu both special and easy is in order. A butter-basted two pound turkey roast fills these requirements deliciously. If the youngsters take over kitchen duty to honor mother, the turkey roast is simple to prepare. It cooks in the oven for two hours without special attention. The basting is built into the roast. In families with small tots and mother cooks dinner herself, she will appreciate the same convenience which gives her more time out of the kitchen.

The balance of the meal should be simple too. Baked potatoes are a natural. They go into the oven during the final hour the turkey roast cooks. Tomato tulips brighten the salad course when stuffed with coleslaw. Or, if daughter knows her way around the kitchen, she may want to serve the tomato tulips hot filled with a mushroom cheese stuffing. The cole slaw would then be served separately. For dessert give mother her favorite flavor of ice cream. Perhaps she will choose party peach ice cream or delicate apricot sherbet. There are plenty of other days in the year to serve chocolate or strawberry. Butter cookies, either home baked or from a package are the finishing touch.

TURKEY ROAST WITH MUSHROOM - STUFFED TOMATOES

Butter Basted, 2 lb. turkey roast
4 ozs. fresh mushrooms
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. chopped onions
3 tbsps. flour
3/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 cup milk
6 medium, firm tomatoes
6 tbsps. shredded Cheddar cheese

Roast turkey according to directions on package. Clean mushrooms and chop fine. Melt butter in a heavy skillet. Sauté mushrooms and onion until tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Stir in milk gradually. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring occasionally.

Wash tomatoes and cut off tops. Scoop out centers. Sprinkle insides with salt and pepper. Fill each tomato with creamed mushrooms. Place tomatoes in buttered, shallow baking dish. Sprinkle one tablespoon of shredded cheese over each tomato. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: Six servings.

Sponge Cake Mix

Your sponge cake texture too coarse? You may have under-mixed the batter. On the other hand, too compact a texture often means that the batter was over-mixed. Fold in the flour with a down-and-up motion of the spatula to hold in the air bubbles.

Creative Cookery For May

What a merry May this promises to be for creative cookery! Beef, eggs, potatoes and orange juice not only rate high on your creative cookery list, but they are the only items to rate the May plentiful foods list of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Eggs — the jewels of all creative cookery — continue in heavy supply, as there are many more layers than last year at this season. As a result, farm prices are running six to seven cents per dozen lower than a year ago, according to C&MS market news.

New crop potatoes are expected to overflow local markets in May because of a late winter freeze in Florida. This cold weather delayed the Florida harvest, so it will move to market at the same time new potatoes will move from California, Arizona, and Alabama.

In addition to the new potatoes, there is an ample supply of winter potatoes moving from storage.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

You might like to try marinating hamburgers (before cooking) in a mixture of salad oil, soy sauce and crushed garlic.

A pinchful or two of minced fresh herbs plus some sherry will do wonders for canned consommé. Slowly heat the consommé with the herbs (use parsley and chives if nothing else is on hand) and add the sherry off heat.

For a good salad dressing, mix sour cream with cottage cheese and blue cheese; add seasonings to taste.

Give ready-prepared butter-scotch sauce (it comes in small jars) that home touch; add finely diced candied ginger. This is for the oldsters; small fry will prefer the sauce without the ginger.

Scoop out small tomatoes and fill with sour cream mixed with fresh dill and a suspicion of salt. Garnish with parsley sprigs and arrange on greens. This combination makes an elegant salad course for company.

MEN IN SERVICE

Army Sergeant Raye A. Conway, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Conway, Westbrook, received the Good Conduct Medal April 13 while assigned to the 540th Engineer Group, in Germany. Sgt. Conway received the award for exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity in active military service. He is a radio team chief assigned to Headquarters Company. The sergeant entered the Army in May, 1964, and arrived overseas in October of the same year. He is a 1963 graduate of Westbrook Rural High School.

Aviation Ordnanceman Airman Bill Franklin Horton, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Horton, 1300 Tucson Road, Big Spring, is off the coast of Vietnam helping to launch air strikes against the enemy as a crewmember aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk. The Kitty Hawk's A4 "Skyhawk" and F-4 "Phantom" jet pilots fly combat missions against enemy troops, installations and supply routes, and help halt the infiltration of men and supplies into the South.

Aviation Structural Mechanic 2.C. James R. Scarbro, USN, son of Mrs. J. R. Scarbro, Big Spring, took part in the under way naval training exercise "Blue Coral" off the southern California coast, as a crewmember of the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation. Blue Coral, the second major fleet exercise conducted this year by the U.S. First Fleet, refined the techniques of surface-to-surface and surface-to-air warfare, as well as detection and destruction of subsurface craft. Some 21 air units and 25 ships participated in the week-long exercise.

Airman Robert L. Givens, son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Donald L. Givens, 159-A Fairchild Drive, has been selected for technical training at Keesler AFB, Miss., as a U.S. Air Force radar operator. The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force.

Airman Apprentice Lynn R. Barnett, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berton Barnett, 420 Ryon St., Big Spring, is at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., serving with Training Squadron Four. His squadron conducts training for student aviators in jet air-to-air combat and carrier landing qualifications.

Hospitalman Third Class Robert K. Sneed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sneed, 3914 Parkway, who is presently stationed in Vietnam, has been awarded the Meritorious Mast citation for his services in Vietnam.

In a letter from his Commanding Officer, Sneed was acclaimed for having daily demonstrated the highest degree of professional knowledge and "can do" spirit in accomplishing his duties as corpsman for his unit.

The letter also commended Sneed for his treatment of Vietnamese civilians which he exhibited a high degree of motivation, initiative, and gaining the respect of the Vietnamese. Sneed was also lauded for his pleasant personality which he has shown in his dealings with senior and juniors alike and has been especially noteworthy for his dependability, and respect for others, inspiring the men of his unit.

Hospitalman Sneed is stationed with the 2d Battalion, 12th Marines, 3d Marine Division (Rein) currently stationed in the Republic of Vietnam.

Rex W. Nolen, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur (Sic) L. Nolen, 1902 N. 20th St., Lamesa, was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from the Officer Candidate School (OCS) at the Army Artillery and Missile Center, Ft. Sill, Okla., April 18. Gunnery was the prime subject taught during the 23-week course, designed to prepare men for officer duties in artillery units. He was also trained in artillery survey and transport, map and aerial-photoreading, communications, electronics, counterinsurgency and leadership.

REX NOLEN

Army S. Sgt. Bobby J. McMahan, son of H. E. McMahan, Big Spring, recently returned to the 1st Infantry Division base camp near Phu Loi from "Operation Junction City," the largest military operation to date in Vietnam. During the operation, large enemy encampments along the Cambodian border were found and controlled. These were considered to be national Viet Cong political and military headquarters.

Sgt. McMahan, assigned to Troop D, 1st Squadron of the division's 4th Cavalry, entered the Army in January, 1953, completed his basic training at Ft. Hood, and was last stationed at Dahleona, Ga. He arrived overseas in November, 1966.

Army Spec. 4 Valentina H. Sotelo, 21, son of Mrs. Paula H. Sotelo, Stanton, recently returned to the 1st Infantry Division base camp near Phu Loi from "Operation Junction City," the largest military operation to date in Vietnam. During the operation, large enemy encampments along the Cambodian border were found and controlled. These were considered to be national Viet Cong political and military headquarters.

Spec. Sotelo is an armored personnel carrier driver in Troop C, 1st Squadron of the division's 4th Cavalry. He entered on active duty in October, 1965, and was stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., before his arrival in Vietnam last June. Spec. Sotelo attended Stanton High School and holds the Bronze Star Medal with V Device for valor.

Army Sgt. Charles L. Sweatt, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Sweatt, 945 Elm St., Colorado City, fired expert with the M-14 rifle near Bamberg, Germany, April 20. The expert rating is the highest mark a soldier can achieve on his weapons qualification test.

Sgt. Sweatt, a gunner in Howitzer Battery, 2d Reconnaissance Squadron, 2d Armored Cavalry Regiment, entered the Army in January, 1965, and was stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., prior to arriving overseas the following June. Sweatt is a 1964 graduate of Colorado City High School.

Ensign Ronald S. Hubbard, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Hubbard, 2206 Nolan St., Big Spring, is on his way to advanced jet training after completing the basic course at Forrest Sherman Field in Pensacola, Fla. High point of the course, taught by instructors of Training Squadron Four, was the carrier qualifications. From the decks of the anti-submarine support aircraft carrier USS Lexington he made four catapult take-offs and arrested landings. This was under actual at-sea conditions while steaming in the Gulf of Mexico.

Sharp Rise In Casualties Result From Hard Battles In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military headquarters today reported a sharp rise in American and enemy dead last week resulting from battles just below the demilitarized zone.

The weekly casualty report said 274 Americans were killed in action, equaling the previously weekly high recorded six weeks before. The U.S. Command said 1,963 enemy were killed, 731 more than the week before although not a record.

A total of 1,748 Americans were reported wounded last week, and 18 were missing or captured, the U.S. Command said.

BASES FOUNDED

The rise in casualties resulted from hard battles in the northern part of the zone.

The U.S. Command said about 175 men of the 1st Marine Regiment hit a force of perhaps 300 North Vietnamese dug in on a 300-foot hill. About 300 more shifted to another hill. In an eight-hour battle 25 miles southwest of the most provinces, where U.S. Marines have been fighting off Communist attacks North Vietnam. Casualties were 19 dead and 77 wounded.

DEADLY ERROR

While B-52 bombers continued to pound those enemy bases in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, the Marine battalions dug in on a 300-foot hill. About 300 more shifted to another hill. In an eight-hour battle 25 miles southwest of the U.S. base at Da Nang, the port city, the Leathernecks took the open this morning only about 30 miles northwest of Saigon. The first sudden strike by U.S. jets killed an estimated 50 Viet Cong, and throughout the day 23 more jet strikes were poured into the wooded area.

The Air Force reported catching another group of Reds in the open in the northern province of Quang Tri Wednesday and killing 45 of them.

U.S. spokesmen reported bloody engagements at scattered points in which it said a total of 278 Communists were killed.

The spokesman said a Communist battalion was caught in the open this morning only about 30 miles northwest of Saigon. The first sudden strike by U.S. jets killed an estimated 50 Viet Cong, and throughout the day 23 more jet strikes were poured into the wooded area.

The Air Force also reported the loss of an F100 Super Sabre jet to Red ground fire Wednesday, the 174th plane lost to enemy action in South Vietnam. The pilot was killed.

CHOPPERS SHOT

Communist gunners also downed a troop-carrying helicopter in which three soldiers were injured. At least three more choppers were shot up and several more were slightly damaged in the Mekong Delta when their rotors set off Communist pressure mines in a landing zone.

U.S. headquarters reported that photo reconnaissance of Wednesday's raids against two power plants in the Hai Phong area showed excellent results.

A spokesman said one power plant, just outside the city, was no longer serviceable and the other inside the city was badly damaged.

The Air Force said the Navy planes that struck the MIG airfield at Kien An Wednesday, just outside Hai Phong, cratered the taxiway and both ends of the runway.

CLOUD COVER

A spokesman said that although the Hai Phong raids were made in clear weather, most of the rest of North Vietnam was covered by clouds Wednesday and pilots were limited to a total of 81 missions. Most of them were against road, rail, barge and supply targets along the coast above the demilitarized zone.

The Air Force reported four B-52 raids in South Vietnam Wednesday night and this morning.

One, just before dawn hit suspected Communist fortified bunkers, trenches, automatic weapons sites and supply areas 14 miles northwest of Khe Sanh, just below the demilitarized zone, while another about nine miles farther north struck suspected Communist trails and supply areas in the northern part of the zone.

CRISIS

The first 70 men of a 210-man New Zealand infantry company arrived today to join the Australian task force in South Vietnam. About 150 New Zealanders already were in Vietnam, serving in an artillery battery.

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant renewed his appeal for the United States to stop bombing North Vietnam in order to resolve what he called "the greatest crisis facing mankind since World War II."

He reiterated his conviction that a halt to the bombing would lead to North Vietnam's agreement within a few weeks to start meaningful peace talks.

Japanese diplomats serving in 14 Asian nations concluded a three-day information exchange in Hong Kong and one source said they saw little likelihood of direct Red Chinese intervention in North Vietnam.

NOT POSSIBLE

Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson's analysis was that the war will expand, meaning "the destruction of the Vietnamese people wherever they are."

Speaking to the House of Commons Wednesday, Pearson said:

"My reading of the situation indicates that the possibility of early negotiations has receded, that a quick military victory is not possible, nor a military solution."

Hoffa Back In Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa was back in Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary today after a judge denied his fourth appeal for a new trial on a jury tampering charge.

U.S. District Judge Frank W. Wilson denied in Chattanooga, Tenn., Wednesday the appeal which had been based on an allegation by Hoffa and three co-defendants that the federal government used electronic eavesdropping and wiretapping during their trials at Chattanooga in 1964.

Hoffa, who had been taken to Chattanooga for the hearing was already on his way back to Lewisburg when Wilson issued the denial on the grounds that Hoffa's attorneys had failed to present any evidence at the hearing. Hoffa began serving his eight-year sentence at Lewisburg in March.

Codefendants Ewing King and Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville, Tenn., and Larry Campbell of Detroit were also returned to federal penitentiaries to continue serving three-year sentences on the charge.

Professor Plans Return To India

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mohammed I. Khan, 35, a visiting history professor here, will return to his native India next month as nephew of the nation's president.

Khan's uncle, Zakir Husain, 79, has just been elected first Muslim president in the predominantly Hindu country.

Khan, also a Muslim, will leave California State College at Los Angeles at the end of the present semester.

He said he hopes to improve the teaching of United States history in India.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man. (Luke 2:52)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for our homes and the high privilege of living the gospel there. Guide us that we become like the Master, in whose name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Deserved Opportunity

One of the major reasons for the giant strides of our school music programs is the calibre of those who direct them. It is no small wonder that they are offered advancement by senior institutions.

Such is the case with Melvyn (Mel) Ivey, who has resigned his position as director of choral programs in Big Spring High School. He has been offered a teaching position and directorship of a women's choir at North Texas State University and an opportunity to work toward his doctorate in music. Interestingly, this is the second time that NTSU — perhaps the outstanding music school in the Southwest — has called upon Big Spring for personnel. Last year Doug Wiehe was enlisted to direct the NTSU band.

In the six years that he has headed the high school vocal music division, Mel Ivey has achieved an imposing record. His choirs have not only taken on the best possible rankings in competition, but they have produced far more than their percentage of voices for the regional and state choirs. Equally impressive, Ivey has brought to the choir an unusual maturity and quality, and best of all a new stature and popularity in the school and community.

For The Public

At long last it appears that Texas will get an open-meeting statute. Actual practice may determine how effective it is, but the bill sent to the governor should go a long way toward insuring the public's right to know what goes on in the sessions conducted by public bodies.

In short, the bill sponsored by Sen. Chet Brooks of Houston would require all state agencies, commissions and boards to conduct business in open meetings, and the same would be applicable to city councils, commissioners courts, school boards and other local boards and agencies. Some exceptions are provided, among them the matter of hiring and firing employees, plans to acquire real estate, or matters affecting security.

It should be said that in the vast majority of instances our governmental units have kept the doors open to public scrutiny but the new measure will simply bar the door on most instances where public bodies have held star chamber sessions as a matter of course.

Fortunately, the House knocked off (and then the Senate concurred) an amendment by Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry which would have exempted governmental agencies not spending tax funds. The House added a provision for closed-door sessions of investigative committees in initial sessions until reasonable soundness of allegation can be established.

But by and large, the bill should be a help — not to just newspapers and other media, but primarily to the people. Governments derive their just powers from the governed, and the governed are entitled to know how their affairs are being shaped or administered.

David Lawrence Soviet Blocks U.N. Peace Moves

WASHINGTON — The dialogue in the diplomatic world on the question of how to end the war in Vietnam has taken a significant turn. America's ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg, has twice in the last few days made it clear that peace in Vietnam today rests with the Soviet Union.

Mr. Goldberg has reiterated what he said previously at the General Assembly — namely, that the Soviet Union could, if it chose, end the Vietnam war right away. He declared:

"JUST THE other day, I said at the General Assembly that if the Soviet Union would withdraw its objection, we could go to the Security Council tomorrow and take up what the U.N. might do to bring about peace."

Asked what the Soviet representative had said in reply, Ambassador Goldberg continued:

"Well, he said the U.N. hasn't got competence to deal with this subject. I don't agree with him."

THE SOVIET attitude — as outlined by Ambassador Goldberg in an interview Sunday on the "Face the Nation" program of CBS — has caused frustration here. The Soviets not only are blocking any action at the U.N., but they are checkmating any possible moves by the Geneva Conference machinery set up in 1954. Mr. Goldberg makes a concrete suggestion as follows:

"I wish the Soviet Union would join the United States in putting its full force behind working out an honorable solution to Vietnam. I think it is in their interest. I think it is in our interest. We are the two largest world powers. The greater the power, the greater the responsibility to try to work out world peace and world security.

"NOW, HOW DO you explain their (the Soviet) attitude? They say they want a peace, we say we want peace. They say they want the Geneva accords implemented, we say we want the Geneva accords implemented. Then we fall apart. We fall apart because we say anything — you — should do something about it. You are a co-chairman of the Geneva Conference. If you don't agree that the U.N. is the place, join Prime Minister Wilson (co-chairman from Great Britain), and reconvene the conference — we will be there. We are ready to do it, we are ready to say that we ought to reaffirm the Geneva accords."

THE FACT that the entire peace of the world depends upon autocratic governments — the rulers in Moscow and in Peking — emphasizes the sad condition in which the United Nations finds itself.

For some strange reason, members of the U.N. generally have not spoken up in the General Assembly and demanded that action be taken on the Vietnam War. U. Thant, Secretary General, has attempted personal diplomacy, but his efforts have failed largely because world opinion has not been built up behind the peace drive. Ambassador Goldberg's speech could stimulate such a movement.

THE UNFORTUNATE truth, however, is that most of the nations of the world have been reluctant to entangle themselves in any way in open expressions of sympathy with one side or the other in the Vietnam conflict. Yet the war is gradually expanding, and sooner or later will involve other countries in both Europe and Asia. The big question is why the Soviet government is not put on the spot by emphatic speeches in both the security council and the General Assembly, so that the whole world will be able to fix responsibility for the existing barriers to peace in Vietnam.

CERTAINLY ALL the talk about a policy for the United States to make concessions in East-West trade agreements will have a hollow sound unless the Moscow government is willing to initiate peace negotiations in Vietnam.

Billy Graham

What is happiness and how does one find it?
G. A.
The dictionary says simply: "Happiness is a state of well being and pleasurable satisfaction." Since dictionaries are written by men, and men can be in error, this definition is a bit misleading. A thief in good health after a successful robbery might have feelings of well being and pleasurable satisfaction if his conscience was sufficiently deadened.

The fact is: There are two kinds of happiness: temporal happiness and eternal happiness, or to put it another way: Material happiness and spiritual happiness. We experience material happiness when we get a promotion, a good grade on exams, or a surprisingly expensive Christmas gift. There is nothing sinful about this happiness, just as long as we do not confuse it with spiritual happiness. Material happiness is short-lived, fleeting, like a beautiful rose so fresh in the morning but so wilted by nightfall.

Spiritual happiness is something else. It endures affliction, adversity, trouble, and bereavement. It says with Job, "Though he slay me yet will I praise him." It is abiding. It does not fade, nor ebb with the changing tide.

There is a God — shaped void in each of our hearts. Unless that void is filled we will be restless and troubled. Christ said many times, "Be of good cheer." He alone can bring eternal joy to our hearts. He imparts real happiness.

our interest. We are the two largest world powers. The greater the power, the greater the responsibility to try to work out world peace and world security.

"NOW, HOW DO you explain their (the Soviet) attitude? They say they want a peace, we say we want peace. They say they want the Geneva accords implemented, we say we want the Geneva accords implemented. Then we fall apart. We fall apart because we say anything — you — should do something about it. You are a co-chairman of the Geneva Conference. If you don't agree that the U.N. is the place, join Prime Minister Wilson (co-chairman from Great Britain), and reconvene the conference — we will be there. We are ready to do it, we are ready to say that we ought to reaffirm the Geneva accords."

THE FACT that the entire peace of the world depends upon autocratic governments — the rulers in Moscow and in Peking — emphasizes the sad condition in which the United Nations finds itself.

For some strange reason, members of the U.N. generally have not spoken up in the General Assembly and demanded that action be taken on the Vietnam War. U. Editorials And Opinions The Big Spring Herald

8-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thursday, May 11, 1967

James Marlow High Court Hazy On Obscenity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is a mixed-up tribunal on obscenity, making up the rules as it goes along, although more liberal on this subject than it was a generation ago.

But handling obscenity in American courts has been a long-time jumble anyway.

AS FAR back as 1927 a Boston bookseller was convicted for selling Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" because certain passages were considered obscene. This was tried in Massachusetts courts and did not reach the Supreme Court.

The state's main point was that obscene sections of the book might corrupt the morals of youth. The defense argument was that the book should be considered as a whole, along with the author's intent, was ignored.

THIS KIND of reasoning generally prevailed until 1957, although in between times lower courts' thinking had some effect on the American legal mind.

In 1957 the Supreme Court decided the test of obscenity should not be whether a book tended to corrupt youth. Justice Felix Frankfurter said that kind of test was like "burning a house to roast a pig."

HE SAID if the youth test was allowed to stand it would reduce adults to reading children's books.

That same year the court handed down another opinion, more far-reaching, by saying obscenity is not covered by the First Amendment, which protects freedom of speech and press. But the court was anything but clear on what obscenity is.

It decided material is obscene when it deals "with sex in a manner appealing to prurient interest." What's that? The court said this meant material which has a "tendency to excite lustful thoughts."

BUT JUSTICE William O. Douglas, backed by Justice Hugo Black, complained that this kind of reasoning would punish a book for causing thoughts and not for "overt acts nor antisocial conduct."

This kind of complaint is not new. Douglas and Black are solidly for First Amendment protection. But the nine justices have been at odds so often on obscenity questions that several times they have given decisions without being able to agree on how to express their opinions.

Hal Boyle Conversation Camouflage

NEW YORK (AP) — Science has made considerable progress lately in learning the languages of such birds as the crow and such beasts as the dolphin.

What it should set out to decipher next is the language of women. That would really do civilization a favor.

HOWEVER, it is unlikely that science will ever accomplish this feat. Women don't want anyone to solve their language. It is the real secret of the legendary mystery of their sex.

There is a fundamental and inescapable difference in the employment of language by man and woman.

A MAN USES language to say what's on his mind. To a woman, this is incredibly naive. She uses language to say what isn't on her mind.

Except when she loses her temper and thereby reveals herself inadvertently, a woman opens her mouth only to plead the 5th Amendment. Her conversation is a camouflage to protect herself and her motives.

NOTHING ABOUT her wife puzzles a new husband more than her enigmatic use of language. The marriage really begins to succeed only when he begins dimly to perceive that she rarely says what she means and rarely means what she says.

Once that happens he can usually manage to get along with her very well.

HE KNOWS that when she asks him if he feels chilly she really means, "Go, close the window, Dopey; I'm cold."

He knows that when she asks, "Do you care for any more meat?" what she really means is, "Pass the platter, Buster; can't you see I'm starving?"

He knows that when she says, "It's so nice out, shall we walk?" what she really means is, "My feet have been hurting for hours—so go call a taxi, Big Stupid."

Even a veteran husband, no matter how accustomed he gets to a wife's upside-down-use-of-language, can't quite adjust himself to her use of the words "never" and "always."

FOR EXAMPLE, if he hasn't taken her out for a week, she tells him, "You never take me out anymore." If he forgets an anniversary once, she tells him forever after, "You never remember our anniversary."

A situation that befell a friend of mine may serve to illustrate the wifely use of the word "always."

IN 1935, as he was turning at an intersection, another car brushed against his and dented his fender.

"For 32 years since then," he told me mournfully, "every time we have approached that intersection my wife has grabbed me by the sleeve and said, 'Be careful. Remember, you always have an accident here.'"

There are some more things I could tell you about how wives use language. But why should I? In this field every husband has to learn how to interpret his own babbling brook.

To Your Good Health Two Kinds Of Coated Tongue And What They Mean

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have had a heavy coating on my tongue for about two years, but feel all right. I wonder what to do.
— G. L.

Dear Doctor: Would you write about cause, treatment and cure of black tongue?
— MRS. N.

AUCKLAND (AP) — New Zealand's Maoris are a fiercely proud people who for many years have smarted because the smelliest bug in the two islands was called the Maori bug. They are happy now because it has been renamed the "stinking black cockroach."

The change is revealed in a proposed standard list of bug names being compiled by the New Zealand Entomological Society.

The bug's name dates from the early days of the country's settlement when the pioneers did not worry about the Maoris' feelings on the subject.

One method which can be tried is softening of the thickened surface — powder the tongue with pancreatin and hold it there for about 10 minutes before spitting it out. Then gently scrape the tongue with a tooth brush or the edge of a spoon.

A supplement of Vitamins A, B and C may help.

As for the ordinary "coated tongue," it is not necessarily a sign of digestive disturbance or any health ailment, although some illnesses do contribute.

Smokers have the heaviest coating. A furred tongue often goes with respiratory diseases, such as the common cold.

Particles of food, mucus, cells of the tongue's surface, and yeasts constitute part of the coating. The papillae may become enlarged and trap debris between them.

Mouth breathers, doubtless in part from both dryness and dust, have a furry, coated tongue.

Tongue-movements, as in chewing, talking and swallowing, tend to keep the tongue surface clean. The coating is thicker in the morning because there has been less tongue movement at night, and if the person is a mouth breather the coating will be heavier yet.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does a hernia high in the chest come from and can anything be done about it? My son was told by his doctor that he has one, but that he should not worry about it. Can it be operated on? Occasionally he has pain.

He is worried. He is 35. — MRS. M. P.

Sounds very much like hiatal hernia, which is at the diaphragm. If so, write for my booklet on hiatal hernia — send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald.

By far the majority of hiatal hernias can be successfully controlled without surgery. The booklet will explain all your questions.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write in care of The Herald for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Back-Stage Pageant Problems

Mayor Arnold Marshall recalled the other evening of our delightful times a few years back working in the Christmas Pageant at the YMCA. That we did.

ON THE other hand, we had some difficult and frustrating moments, not the least of which was his difficult job of narrating the program under the most trying conditions. Perched as we were in an unlikely hiding place in freezing cold, he balanced a flashlight in one gloved hand, and turned the pages of his script with the other, all the time keeping pace with the actors on "stage." It was a major effort from the rest of us to keep our teeth from chattering.

The Little Theatre had some similar experiences in staging the annual Easter Pageant each year in the City Park amphitheatre, overcoming the most stubborn obstacles in order to get the show on the stage. A large number of fanciful, and professional, sets were constructed with little more than a wad of paper and a jar of poster paint.

ROY ROGAN, who was the mainstay in both of these pageant ventures, managed to get lights in improbable places and hauled his equipment out at all hours of the night to make sure the best was available.

Why were these pageants stopped, someone asked recently.

A lack of manpower is the best answer. There are still some who would like to participate in these activities, but like most volunteer programs, it isn't always easy to find enough people to fill all the slots.

EVER TRY to stage The Lord's Supper scene with only 11 men? At the last moment, one year, we found out that one of our disciples was missing. Hastily recruiting one of the women, who had helped make the costumes, we quickly outfitted her in a robe and she filled the bill. As she was obviously pregnant, our superb dim lighting saved the pageant and no one in the audience knew the difference.

ANOTHER YEAR at the Y, we were using a handy electrical outlet to light the star which led the Wise Men to Jerusalem. Our selection turned out to be a bad choice, when someone flipped off the switch in the Men's Room that controlled that outlet.

THE MISADVENTURES of these amateur shows have provided a lot of after-show laughter, and many of them still provide delightful after-dinner anecdotes. Such as the year a non-farm female cast member tried to catch a runaway lamb by grabbing its tail — and missing; once, the cow lay down and would not make her curtain call in the manger scene; another year, one portion of the set was meticulously fixed so that it could be dismantled in a hurry by one man between scenes, making way for the next one; the small tacks turned out to have the grip of railway spikes and required four men to take it apart.

Taking one with another, they were happy times. — V. GLENN COOTES

Holmes Alexander What The GOP White Paper Says

WASHINGTON — Republican Leader Dirksen called it a superior "paperback" on the nature of the Vietnam War. GOP Chairman Hickenlooper said it challenges the old cliché that "politics stops at the water's edge."

They were talking — as everybody in Washington seems to be doing — of the 91-page white paper on the Vietnam War, prepared by the staff and released by the chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

MOST REPUBLICANS regretted its publication, especially Dirksen, because the long, exhaustive study seemed to cut the GOP from its moorings as a loyal supporter of the President's war policy. Some Republicans were delighted, for the paper expressed their own doubts.

But whatever else the white paper is or does, it is a renunciation of "me-tooism" on the subject of Vietnam, and it makes Vietnam the dividing issue among GOP candidates for the Presidential nomination.

ALL TOLD, the white paper's publication is the best thing that's happened to the Republicans since Eisenhower. Ike's credentials as a great American soldier made it possible for him to run in 1952 against "Communism, corruption and Korea." Nobody could say of the Supreme Commander that his dissent had any taint of "disloyalty," or that his criticism smacked of opportunism.

NOTHING IN the Policy Committee's white paper calls for surrender in Vietnam. If it gives encouragement to Republican peacemongers — Percy, Hatfield, Javits et al — that is an unfortunate side effect. The main purpose and impact of the paper is to highlight many facts which show that modern Democrats, with their proclivity for meddling in everybody's domestic and foreign affairs, are everlasting bunglers.

THERE IS not a political truth in our time that is more self-evident. There is nothing that the American people so much need to know. There is nothing that the Republicans, as the minority party, so much owe it to the people to proclaim.

The white paper binds Republican endorsers to no proposition save one — namely, that the Kennedy-Johnson administration has tragically blundered. The white paper does not oblige an endorsing Republican to betry Gen. Westmoreland's fighting forces by non-support or to sue for a soft peace. But there is plenty in the paper that calls the last two Democratic Presidents to account.

WHAT ARE we doing in an Asian land-mass war? What's all this foolishness of trying to transplant the Great Society to Indochina? With air superiority and naval supremacy, how have we failed to win? Since we are, as Dirksen says, in Vietnam "500,000 strong," why isn't it frankly called an American war — and, accordingly, fought to win?

In the briefest words possible, the white paper is an antidote to "me-tooism." It is anti-Democratic Republicanism. And it's about time.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Art Buchwald Who's Opposing Whom?

WASHINGTON — The latest Republican policy report on Vietnam has caused great consternation in Republican circles in Washington. The report, which was quite critical of the Democrats' handling of the Vietnam war, was responsible for more anger among Republican politicians than it was among the Democrats. The reason for this is that the Republicans so far have been supporting President Johnson's policies with far more vigor than the Democrats.

ONE REPUBLICAN leader told me, "As the opposition party, we think it's wrong at this time to criticize the Democrats. The way our government is set up all opposition to the Democratic policies must come from the President's own party."

"Then you think it was wrong for the Republican policy committee to release a 'white paper' pointing out the mistakes the last two Democratic administrations have made in Vietnam."

"I certainly do. The one thing the Republicans have been noted for is their unity in backing the Democratic Party. We may not agree with everything President Johnson does, but we should keep this dissatisfaction to ourselves and show a solid front. Otherwise the opposition in President Johnson's party will take advantage of our minor disagreements."

"BUT IF YOU DON'T criticize President Johnson's policies how can you maintain that you're the opposition party?"

"Everyone knows we're the opposition party because we're not in power. But just because we're the opposition party doesn't mean we have to oppose the party in office."

"If the role of the opposition party is not to oppose the party in power, what exactly should your role be?"

"To support the President against his own opposition in the Democratic Party. We don't want to do anything to encourage the Democratic Party leaders who are against President Johnson."

"THAT MAKES sense," I said. "But why if the Republican Party feels this way did it release the GOP report pointing out all the errors of the past two Democratic administrations?"

"Very few of us knew about the report. The policy committee was acting in good faith because they thought Republicans might want to have some guidelines on which to attack their Democratic opponents in the 1968 campaign. But we had no idea the report would also attack President Johnson and the Democratic Party as well. It was so serious Sen. Everett Dirksen had to come out of the hospital to defend the President."

"DIRKSEN'S A GOOD Republican," I said. "I notice Barry Goldwater has also been defending President Johnson's policies in Vietnam."

"Most Republicans are," the spokesman said. "There is a small minority of discontented politicians in our party who are against Mr. Johnson, but every opposition party has to put up with them."

"Will you punish the Republicans who have come out against President Johnson?" I asked him.

"It's being discussed. After all if you don't have party discipline, what have you got?"

I RAN INTO a Democratic Party leader a few hours later and asked him if he was disturbed by the GOP "white paper."

"Not in the least," he said. "You can't blame all the Republicans for what a few misguided Republicans do. You have to have a strong two-party system in this country and as long as the majority of Republicans support President Johnson and many of the Democrats oppose President Johnson, we'll have the balance that has made this country so great!"

Companies Coddle Underachiever

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Obviously he wasn't doing well. His attitude and achievement were definitely beneath his capabilities.

He was an underachiever and needed to be placed in a special class.

With children? No, with other executives.

In this class he would be taught better executive practices. He would be given on-the-job supervision. He would be forced or induced to achieve, perhaps by being given more responsibility or maybe less.

STILL RARE

This gentle treatment of middle executives is still rare, but more common now than it was viewed as capable but misunderstood, a potential producer in an uninspiring environment.

It is coddling, certainly, but some companies consider it not just necessary but also rewarding to both the individual and the company.

As a result, numerous corporations have set up formal training programs to assist those who fail to pick up the pace they left 20 years before, attending special courses at company expense.

This attitude has other facets also: schools at which management games are played before swimming or after golf; a growing tendency toward sabbaticals; instant success courses—salesmanship, speed reading, dress and behavior—paid for by corporations.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., May 11, 1967 11-B tools of the trade simply by working and observing.

These companies feel today's business environment, in which electronic computers change century-old management methods within a year, demands formal training.

FACTS

Reflecting this, thousands of businessmen this summer will spend from a few days to more than a month on college courses—paid for by corporations.

Gov. Connally Might Trigger Both Barrels

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

A Texas governor has a gun on each hip to back up his dealings with the legislature—the veto and the special session.

Right now, Gov. John Connally probably is considering the possibility of bursting out of his office with both barrels blazing to settle the legislative brawls that range from one end of the Capitol to the other.

Connally already has said he will call a 1968 special session for new taxes if legislators will concentrate now on one-year appropriations instead of a two-year package.

VETO POWER

When the 1968 spending bill reaches his desk, the governor still has his veto power allowing him to cancel the entire measure or any specific part of it.

If this regular session does not agree on a spending bill, Connally likely will call a 30-day special session at once, in which legislators would be required to devote all their efforts on a spending compromise without such distracting legislation as redistricting and school teacher pay raises.

ONLY CONTROLS

The veto and special session powers are about the only direct controls a Texas governor has over the senators and representatives.

His official messages and budget requests to a regular legislative session are just advisory and often ignored, at least in part, by legislators who often feel their folks back home deserve more attention.

APPOINTMENTS

A governor controls the appointments to the many state agencies and boards but he cannot remove his appointments nor can he dictate their actions—unless they want to be controlled. Many appointees to agencies and boards develop close contacts with senators and representatives, particularly on appropriations, that sometimes sever their original close relations with the governor.

And the governor has no direct control over the elected heads of state departments such as the attorney general, comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner, and others. They usually deal directly with legislators and most recent efforts of governors to influence the operations of their departments.

But the veto and the special session are the governor's own effective departments.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you need to be very careful what you say in any business matters or you can have a loss either through misunderstanding the actual facts of a situation or else you can have deceptive conditions in effect. However, excellent whatever has to do with charm, romance and the lighter side of existence.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Care must be exercised in any monetary matters and then show devotion to close ties so that you make excellent progress in all endeavors of your endeavor. You get a letter that pleases, but it is of an intimate nature.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't permit any suspicions to enter your mind that can cause you to feel ill over others, but wait until the true facts come out. Keep busy of your work. One in business gives you fine idea that will help in advance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more attentive to business affairs but not to the place and point where you neglect social matters that are also important. Confer with associates, tell them your aims. Stop trying to boss a coworker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) See that all around you is in finest order and try not to spend too much for recreation. One you confide in can be of great assistance. Forget the frivolous for now and get right down to business.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have a desire to get admiration from others in a social way and this can lead to wonderful advancement. State aims to right persons. Settle home conditions by being more thoughtful and kindly instead of belligerent.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Ideal day to confer with persons of power in the outside world and get your particular aims. You get a letter that could be disappointing, but take care of the matter at a later date. Be of good cheer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) There are fine opportunities all about you and you should forget present anxieties and take advantage of same. Expand, important personalities give the helping hand you need just at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You find it difficult to comprehend ideas of associates as well as your own, so get the impersonal views of some authority. Get the right answers. Evening is just fine for romance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look to that charming person you admire for just the right ideas, advice, etc., you need right now. Avoid that propensity for worrying and do something constructive about your progress.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) First get yourself dressed nicely, then you find that associate will help you carry through with some plan you have in mind. Stop rushing around, letters from a distance are disappointing, but local ones are fine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Work that smile more and amuse those who are in trouble so that you forget your own problematical affairs. Carry through with some plan you have in mind. Don't worry if a close tie does not understand.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Stick to what is true and true in fundamental affairs is wise, especially where family is concerned. Steer clear of people who are very demanding. Insure greater security and start upward by getting rid of the obsolete.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he or she will be one of those young people who is capable of accomplishing almost anything mainly because God has blessed him, or her, with all the physical attributes plus the mental. However, the field of entertainment would be best here as a profession. Skillful should be provided, since others will resent or be jealous of anyone who is too good looking. Physical culture is fine, though.

Unemployment Checks Added To Economy Here

Howard County's share of state and federal unemployment insurance payments during the first three months of 1967 totaled $45,115. In Texas, the payments totaled $11.9 million. Leon Kinney, TEC manager, said that the payments to those out of work was a major contribution to the economic well-being of the county.

"State unemployment insurance is an employer-financed program which compensates eligible workers a portion of their wage loss when they lose their jobs through no fault of their own, and practically all of the payments are spent immediately in the local community for groceries, rent, and other necessities," Kinney explained.

Of the state total, $8.9 million was paid out of Texas' unemployment insurance trust fund. The federal government paid some $762,000 to Texas' unemployed ex-servicemen and ex-federal workers during the quarter, while other states sent $2.3 million into Texas to claimants now residing in Texas who had previously qualified for unemployment insurance benefits in other states.

This compares to only $549,821 sent from Texas' trust fund to Texas claimants now residing in other states. TEC acts as an agent of the federal government in receiving and processing federal claims and reciprocates with other states in processing interstate claims.

Of the amount paid to claimants in the Big Spring area, $30,013 came from the Texas trust fund, $5,799 from the trust funds of other states, and $9,303 from federal funds.

Evidence of the increasing number of Texas migrant laborers who worked in non-farm, in-plant jobs in other states in 1966 is seen in the large amount of unemployment insurance paid by other states in McAllen, Laredo, Eagle Pass and other migrant worker centers. In McAllen, for example, $132,177 in UI benefits was paid out of Texas' trust fund during the first quarter, while $226,092 came into the area from the trust funds of other states. In Eagle Pass the figures were $120,557 and $349,014, respectively; in Laredo, $144,964 and $264,234.

Advertising Chief Dies At Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Edgar Harold Richter, 53, advertising director of the Texarkana Gazette and Daily News, was found dead at his home Wednesday. He had suffered a heart attack a year ago.

The widow found the body in bed. Richter had been advertising director here since 1948, coming from a similar position with the Jefferson City, Mo., News Tribune. He was a past president of the Texas and Missouri Advertising Managers Associations.

In addition to the widow, four children, two brothers and three sisters survive. Funeral services were pending.
