

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

36th Year . . . No. 297

AM 3-7331

Big Spring (Texas) 79720, Tuesday, May 16, 1967

12 Pages . . . 1 Section

Price 10¢

Part Of Chain Cops Jail Ministers

HOUSTON (AP) — Police arrested 10 ministers who authorities said were part of a human chain blocking the entrance to a city garbage dump in southeast Houston today.

About 30 city garbage trucks were halted for an hour by a demonstration that included about 20 persons. After the arrest of the ministers, the other protesters were persuaded to disband.

'Close This Death Trap'

About 50 residents of the Sunnyside area blocked the dump entrance for about two hours Monday before they were persuaded to disband by Alvin Henry, a special assistant to Mayor Louie Welch.

The protesters carried signs saying: "Close the Dump Today," "Close This Death Trap," "We're Tired of Rats, Roaches and Flies."

A boy, eight, drowned in an unfenced, water-filled hole at the dump last week.

'Failure To Move On'

The Rev. O. L. Hughes, pastor of the Riverside Missionary Baptist Church, spokesman for the ministers who were arrested on a charge of "failure to move on," said the protest would go on despite the arrests.

"We have endured the flies, roaches, rats and smells long enough," Hughes said. "We are determined to no longer tolerate the fumes from burning garbage and this unsanitary and unsightly disease-infested dump immediately adjacent to our community parks, library and health center."

Welch was to meet with Hughes later today.

Price Of Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government-sponsored study among Benedictine and Trappist monks indicates that the higher you go in your chosen life's work the greater your risk of a coronary heart attack.

The National Institutes of Health said in a report today that among members of both religious orders, the prevalence of coronary heart disease was approximately three times higher for ordained priests than for members classified as brothers.

Higher Echelons

Brothers are members of a religious order who are not preparing for, or are not yet ready for, the final vows of holy orders.

While the study was limited to the monks, the agency indicated that the risks suggested by the findings might well apply to people moving up to higher echelons in any occupation.

The findings came about somewhat by chance, said the report.

The report declared: "A study originally designed to assess the relationship between dietary habits and heart-disease risk has disclosed that occupational stress may also be a potent factor affecting the development of coronary heart disease and such dangerous complications as heart attacks."

Risk Increased

It said the study "compared a large group of Benedictine monks, who eat a typical American diet, with a similar group of Trappists, who eat a frugal, lacto-vegetarian diet considerably lower in fat."

A lacto-vegetarian diet consists of milk and vegetables.

Coeds Scurry For Lives

DALLAS (AP) — A dawn blaze struck the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority house near the Southern Methodist University campus today, sending coeds scurrying for their lives. No one was hurt.

University Park Fire Marshal Fred Chambers estimated damage to the three-story brick structure at $15,000 to $20,000.

"The girls got out quickly with what they could," he said.

Chambers said the fire apparently started around a hot-plate in the ground-floor kitchen.

Mrs. Helen Bridges, housemother, said the girls would live in neighboring sorority houses until the damage can be repaired.

Mao Foe Denounced

TOKYO (AP) — For the first time the official Communist Chinese press has denounced by name an appointment of Mao Tse-tung, indicating that the power struggle in Peking was headed for a climax.

A broadcast by Radio Peking today named Peng Chen fallen Politburo member and mayor of Peking, heretofore attacked only by Red Guard wall newspapers, as an opponent of "Mao Tse-tung's thinking."

LOOK

Inside The Herald

War Economy . . .

The Johnson administration is gearing its money operations for a Vietnam war lasting as long as U.S. involvement in World War II. Turn to Page 12.

Comics	8	Oil Report	7
Crossword Puzzle	3	Science And You	2
Dear Abby	12	Sports	9
Dr. Motter	6	Stock Markets	7
Editorials	4	TV Schedules	10
Gore On Bridge	4	Want Ads	16, 11
Horoscope	3	Weather Map	7
Looking 'Em Over	9	Women's News	5

WARMER

Fair and warmer through Wednesday. High today 83 degrees; low tonight 59 degrees; high Wednesday 85 degrees.

Redistricting Bill Clears Senate Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—A Senate committee approved today a congressional redistricting bill that will keep any of the present 23 congressmen from running against each other.

"All the congressmen I have talked with seem happy over this arrangement," said Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, who directed the drafting of the bill.

Another source said the only congressman unhappy over the district shifts was Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater, "but he wasn't happy over the 1965 redistricting either."

SAME DISTRICTS

Hall said the bill approved for debate was an improvement over the 1965 bill because variance in size of districts from the average was smaller; all areas are contiguous; and it is closer to the 1960 census figures.

"This bill keeps such areas as Gregg and Smith counties together; it leaves Midland and Odessa in the same districts they are now in; it complies with the requests of many people and leaves Congressman Olin Teague, College Station, in a district that includes part of Dallas County; it puts all of Brazoria County back in the same district; and it doesn't make any congressman run against an incumbent," Hall said.

NOT CHANGED

Harris County (Houston) was not changed.

There was no discussion of the bill before it was approved.

Hall said the Senate bill differs generally from the House redistricting bill in that the House measure does not leave Teague in South Dallas County, and generally changes the shape of Districts 2 and 6 in East Texas.

All districts are within the 5 per cent tolerance indicated by federal court rulings—the difference between the actual size of a district and that of an average districting according to the 1960 census. Hall said this means no district is more than 10 per cent larger or smaller than any other district.

Doctors Plan 'Lindy' Flight

BARBOURVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Francis X. Sommer will soon be perched above candy bars and fishhooks for 18,000 miles—all for a flying idol he may never meet.

The Barbourville surgeon will shut the door of his single-engine plane in New York Thursday, then head across the Atlantic in memory of "Lucky Lindy."

Forty years ago Saturday, Charles A. Lindbergh did the same thing—and Dr. Sommer wants to celebrate that flight.

NEVER MET

After Paris, another leg will take his plane "Mike Dog" in reverse of the Great Circle route Lindbergh and his wife, Ann Morrow, pioneered from New York to Tokyo.

Dr. Sommer never met Lindbergh.

"Never tried to," he said. "It was enough to read his story called 'Spirit of St. Louis' in a magazine back in 1953. By the fourth installment, I was hooked."

So the 54-year-old Harvard graduate took his practice, wife and two children from Boston to Kentucky, began logging his first air time in the "better flying location" and now pilots his fifth plane.

'MIKE DOG'

Dr. Sommer has lost 40 pounds, and his copilot Dr. John Rieber a similar amount, in anticipation of a partial fast during the journey. The doctors have spent more than $12,000 for the venture. The candy bars and fishhooks join maps and life jackets and other gear stuffed in emergency packs beneath seats in case of emergency.

The flight, considered daring in a flying circles because of the single engine, may take the two through a regular airway over Da Nang in central South Vietnam, en route to Hong Kong.

San Antonio Trash Collectors Return

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Garbage collectors on the north side of San Antonio were back on the job today after quitting Monday and leaving garbage cans at the curbs of hundreds of homes.

The walkout was in protest to working 10 to 12 hours on Mondays and Tuesdays because of the heavy weekend accumulation of trash. The men receive no overtime.

Texas House Members Debating Money Bill

Money Matters

House Speaker Ben Barnes, right, confers with Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, as the house began debate on the General Appropriation Bill Tuesday. Barnes has indicated Texas' public school teachers would get nearly $50 million—or an average of about $50 per year in pay raises from the bill. Hinson is author of the teacher pay raise bill in the house and Hale has long been active in teacher pay legislation. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Warfare Continues Unabated In Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Hard fighting at both ends of South Vietnam was reported today, with 113 guerrillas killed in two battles with American infantrymen in the Mekong Delta and 52 of the enemy and 16 Americans killed in three clashes in the northern sector.

Red rocket and mortar attacks continued around the clock in the northern provinces, and the Communists lobbed 60 mortar rounds into the U.S. military advisory compound before dawn in downtown Hue.

99 MISSIONS

The U.S. Command reported 99 air missions over North Vietnam Monday, mostly against trucks, roads and river barges, and announced the loss of an F105 Thunderchief jet which the Pentagon said may have crashed in Red China. It was the 542nd U.S. combat plane reported downed in the air war against North Vietnam.

U.S. officials also announced that 85 Vietnamese civilians were killed in Viet Cong terrorist attacks last week—nearly double the number the week before—while 97 were wounded and 78 were kidnaped. The victims included five workers in the government pacification program killed and two wounded.

STAND-UP FIGHTS

Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, sweeping Mekong Delta paddy lands long controlled by the Viet Cong, flushed guerrilla forces frequently Monday and twice pushed them into stand-up fights in an area about 40 miles below Saigon.

Aided by air strikes, the infantrymen reported 113 of the enemy killed.

U.S. casualties were not reported.

Red gunners in the northern province of Quang Ngai also brought down six U.S. helicopter gunships supporting troops of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division. One of the choppers was destroyed but big flying crane helicopters lifted the other five out to be repaired.

THINLY SPREAD

The paratroopers, part of an Army task force that has moved in to help the thinly spread Marines, suffered seven killed and 34 wounded in a series of actions Monday.

Six Americans were wounded and one South Vietnamese was killed in the mortar attack before dawn at Hue, 60 miles below the demilitarized zone and the old imperial capital of Vietnam.

In the Marine battleground just below the zone, seven Leathernecks were killed and 77 wounded as part of the 9th regiment met an estimated 150 North Vietnamese in a 12-hour fight a mile from Con Thien.

The Marines reported killing 10 enemy regulars in the face of heavy small-arms and mortar fire.

190 WOUNDED

The 9th Marines have had 29 killed and 190 wounded in three days of fighting near Con Thien, one corner of "Leatherneck Square." The three other Marine outposts forming the square are Gio Linh, Dong Ha and Camp Carroll.

U.S. Marines in Operation Union, 22 miles south of Da Nang, reported killing 22 enemy Monday, with six Marines killed and 32 wounded.

A Marine spokesman said 10 other Marines were wounded in a U.S. jet air strike during the operation, but details were not immediately available.

PERSONAL MISSION

Johnson Courts Governors

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is courting the nation's governors in the name of federal-state partnership—and in an apparent effort to avoid the kind of criticism once aimed at him by Democratic state executives.

He underscored that courtship Monday with a personal mission to rainy, foggy Windsor Locks, Conn., and with the appointment of a foreign affairs liaison man to represent the administration before the governors.

Johnson spent about 2½ hours with the six New England governors, four of them Democrats, and declared again his dedication to White House-state house cooperation.

"We can succeed in dealing with the modern problems that confront our people in the 20th century only if the federal and the state governments are willing to work together," Johnson said, "with an exchange of ideas and information, and with the true spirit of real partnership."

DATA DELUGE

The White House produced a deluge of data on 31 administration meetings with governors earlier this year, and nine more to come. Former Florida Gov. Farris Bryant and a team of federal officials are conducting those sessions.

Johnson named Winthrop G. Brown, now U.S. ambassador to Korea, to serve as liaison man with all the nation's governors "in connection with all matters concerning our relations with other nations.

"Of course, he will be available to brief the governors and their cabinets at any time upon their request," Johnson said. "Ambassador Brown will speak with the voice of the secretary of state."

GRATEFUL

Johnson said Brown, a special assistant to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, will be available to talk about the Vietnam war, import and tariff problems, foreign aid, U.S. forces in Europe and anything else on the minds of the governors.

"Mr. President," said Connecticut Gov. John N. Dempsey, a Democrat, "we're very grateful to you for the wonderful and continued cooperation that you

Employees Pay Hike Argued

AUSTIN (AP)—House members debated today a one-year $448.4 million general appropriation bill which involves such other big questions as a possible special session and a teacher pay raise.

This was the latest date this decade that the House has taken up a general appropriation bill in regular session.

Chairman W. S. Healy of the House Appropriations Committee got House consent to consider the massive bill section by section.

FIRST QUESTIONS

The first questions raised were how much money does the bill leave over for a teacher pay raise and how big a salary increase does it provide for state employees.

Healy said a surplus of $34.5 million is left, according to a revenue estimate made months ago by the state comptroller. But he said that on the basis of words spoken in Senate debate on appropriations there might be even more.

$36 MILLION

State employees will get at least a 15- or 16-per-cent pay hike, Healy said, with low-paid hospital attendants receiving about 30 per cent more, or $3,216 a year compared with a current salary of $2,750.

Cost of the employe pay raise for one year is $36 million, he said.

Speaker Ben Barnes said Monday he gave teachers top priority for the $34.5 million in general revenue the appropriation bill leaves unspent. He indicated they probably would get nearly $50 million—or an average of about $50—because of an expected increase in Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's estimate of available funds.

SUBSTITUTE

Before sending the appropriation bill to the floor as a substitute for the Senate's $437.7 million measure, which includes $55 million for the teachers, the House Appropriations Committee worked into it about $5.6 million in new items. Other spending totaling nearly as much was knocked out, including $5.25 million to buy James Connally Air Force Base from the federal government. The state now leases the base for a vocational institute.

The final appropriations bill, and perhaps the teacher pay raise as well, may be worked out in a House-Senate conference committee, although Gov. John Connally's forces have been working hard to win Senate acceptance of the House bill without a conference.

TEMPERS FLAIR

As the regular session moved into its final two weeks Monday, members became testy and tempers sometimes flared.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz, Galveston, charged in a personal privilege speech that "people's bills" were left without action while special interest measures received attention.

"If we are down here to serve the special interests and those with the biggest lobby, then we are doing it," he said. "If we are down here to serve the people, then, by God, we are not doing it."

BAPTIST LOBBY

Schwartz said the Senate's output of three bills Monday consisted of "one for the banking lobby, one for the race horse lobby and one for the Baptist lobby."

The three bills would, if approved by the House:

—Put a horse race betting referendum on the May 1968 primary ballots.

—Exempt from state and local property taxes a building in Fort Worth in which the Southern Baptist Convention prepares radio and television tapes.

—Revise state banking laws, including a provision that directors may make decisions by two-thirds, instead of three-fourths, majorities.

House members devoted most of their time to two special interest bills, killing one, passing the other.

Defeated after two hours of debate was a bill making subcontractors, architects and engineers liable for defects caused by them in public projects. General contractors now are responsible for entire projects.

★ ★ ★ Liberals Nix One-Year Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—A spokesman for four liberal state senators said today they have told Speaker Ben Barnes they cannot vote for the House's one-year appropriation bill.

Their decision apparently destroys any hope of finally passing a general appropriation bill without a conference committee—a hope held by Barnes and Gov. John Connally.

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena confirmed an Austin American story that he, Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston and Sen. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur visited Barnes shortly after noon Monday.

Brooks denied the three told Barnes their reason for not supporting the House bill was to avoid any appearance of supporting Connally.

DEFICIENT

Connally's forces have been working to line up a simple majority of votes to accept the House bill, thus blocking a conference committee on appropriations. Senators traditionally have had an edge in conference, and Connally has called the Senate's $437.7 million appropriation bill "woefully deficient."

TARIFF CUTS APPROVED

Kennedy's Grand Design For Partnership Sketched

GENEVA (AP) — The successful conclusion Monday night of the long Geneva tariff talks has filled in some of the details of President Kennedy's grand design for a partnership between America and Europe.

Walter Hallstein, chief executive of the European Common Market, had predicted: "Only when it is united will Europe be strong enough to assume the rights and obligations of a full and equal partner and so determine its own destiny."

The Kennedy Round is the first example of this policy in practice. With these negotiations the economic dialogue of the continents has been opened.

Businessmen—all over the world ought to be stimulated to improve their products and bring down prices to meet the new competition, but prices are rising so fast that the process may only slow down the natural increase.

For the first time, farm products have been included in a major tariff-cutting exercise. Though the results are more modest than expected, one new thing has been accomplished.

An international food aid program has been set up under which the world's richer nations acknowledge a joint responsibility for feeding the poor nations.

The program is less than half the size of the one the United States has been operating on its own in recent years—the giving of 10 to 13 million tons of grain annually to India, Pakistan, Brazil, Egypt and other countries whose population is increasing faster than their ability to feed it.

Now a dozen governments will be in on the giving. Those which do not have grain surpluses will have to buy on the open market to make their contributions. They will be paying hard cash, to the delight of exporters: the United States.

Whether the savings will be passed on to the purchaser is another question. Few of the 6,300 items in the U.S. tariff book are sold directly to consumers. All pass through the hands of dealers, wholesale and retail.

If past experience is any guide, these businessmen will hang on to most of the savings. Experience may not be the perfect guide. The tariff cuts are expected to average 33 to 35 per cent, which is five or six times more than the last tariff-cutting exercise, the Dillon Round of 1960. This time the savings may be more perceptible.

Economists say tariff cuts stimulate business, in facilitating a free flow of trade. Between 1948 and 1966 world trade increased from $53.3 billion to $180 billion. Five tariff cuts in that period may have had something to do with the increase.

Foreign exporters will certainly see new opportunities to sell their goods in America, goods that would not have been able to compete before the tariff cuts. Likewise American producers should find new opportunities in foreign markets, for tariff cutting is a two-way street.

Not only are the populations of the poorer countries exploding, but the things they want to buy abroad cost more and more and the things they have to sell bring less and less.

Moreover, the richer countries keep thinking up ways to prevent the poorer ones from selling their competitive goods—like the "voluntary" agreement that limits trade in cotton textiles.

Spokesmen for the Asians, Africans and Latin Americans say they want trade, not aid. If they can only sell what they make, they can raise the tiny incomes of their people and make them less receptive to what they hear from the Communists about how their countries ought to be run and who they ought to cooperate with in world affairs.

To do this, they want the benefit of deeper tariff cuts than other countries get. Strictly speaking this may not be fair, but the richer countries may find it to their own interest.

The trouble is that the present system of commercial negotiations, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT—operates on the principle of the "most favored nation." That means if any nation gets the benefit of a tariff cut, so must all the others that belong to the club.

This arrangement may now be inadequate. Eric Wyndham-White, the GATT secretary general who was the major referee in the Kennedy Round, said: "Even the greater economic powers can no longer pursue their destinies in disregard of others. Still less can they seek solutions to their economic problems by narrow nationalistic policies. Nor can one escape the impact of the economic difficulties of the others. When the bell tolls for one, it tolls for all."

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Canada, Australia and Argentina. The exporters will also rejoice in an increase of the minimum world wheat price. This means more money in the pockets of their farmers.

Though the poorer countries will benefit from the give-away, they still feel they are not getting the break they were promised. Many economists see this as the world's next unsolved problem.

Not only are the populations of the poorer countries exploding, but the things they want to buy abroad cost more and more and the things they have to sell bring less and less.

Moreover, the richer countries keep thinking up ways to prevent the poorer ones from selling their competitive goods—like the "voluntary" agreement that limits trade in cotton textiles.

Spokesmen for the Asians, Africans and Latin Americans say they want trade, not aid. If they can only sell what they make, they can raise the tiny incomes of their people and make them less receptive to what they hear from the Communists about how their countries ought to be run and who they ought to cooperate with in world affairs.

To do this, they want the benefit of deeper tariff cuts than other countries get. Strictly speaking this may not be fair, but the richer countries may find it to their own interest.

The trouble is that the present system of commercial negotiations, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT—operates on the principle of the "most favored nation." That means if any nation gets the benefit of a tariff cut, so must all the others that belong to the club.

This arrangement may now be inadequate. Eric Wyndham-White, the GATT secretary general who was the major referee in the Kennedy Round, said: "Even the greater economic powers can no longer pursue their destinies in disregard of others. Still less can they seek solutions to their economic problems by narrow nationalistic policies. Nor can one escape the impact of the economic difficulties of the others. When the bell tolls for one, it tolls for all."

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Canada, Australia and Argentina. The exporters will also rejoice in an increase of the minimum world wheat price. This means more money in the pockets of their farmers.

Though the poorer countries will benefit from the give-away, they still feel they are not getting the break they were promised. Many economists see this as the world's next unsolved problem.

Not only are the populations of the poorer countries exploding, but the things they want to buy abroad cost more and more and the things they have to sell bring less and less.

Moreover, the richer countries keep thinking up ways to prevent the poorer ones from selling their competitive goods—like the "voluntary" agreement that limits trade in cotton textiles.

Spokesmen for the Asians, Africans and Latin Americans say they want trade, not aid. If they can only sell what they make, they can raise the tiny incomes of their people and make them less receptive to what they hear from the Communists about how their countries ought to be run and who they ought to cooperate with in world affairs.

To do this, they want the benefit of deeper tariff cuts than other countries get. Strictly speaking this may not be fair, but the richer countries may find it to their own interest.

The trouble is that the present system of commercial negotiations, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT—operates on the principle of the "most favored nation." That means if any nation gets the benefit of a tariff cut, so must all the others that belong to the club.

This arrangement may now be inadequate. Eric Wyndham-White, the GATT secretary general who was the major referee in the Kennedy Round, said: "Even the greater economic powers can no longer pursue their destinies in disregard of others. Still less can they seek solutions to their economic problems by narrow nationalistic policies. Nor can one escape the impact of the economic difficulties of the others. When the bell tolls for one, it tolls for all."

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

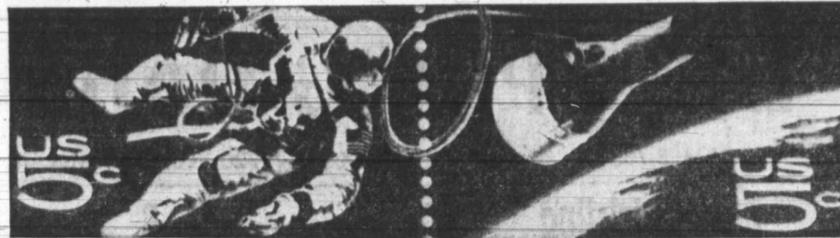

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Something New In Stamps. The Post Office Department in Washington released this design for the first "twin" stamps the United States has ever produced—a design that salutes the nation's accomplishments in space. The design depicts a space-walking astronaut linked to his spaceship. It is twice the width of a horizontal commemorative postage stamp. A vertical perforation divides each segment into a 5-cent stamp. The stamps will be first issued Sept. 29 at the Kennedy Space Center in Florida. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Peking Violence Binge Anniversary

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

A political bomb exploded in Peking just a year ago. The incredible binge of violence which followed apparently brought Red China to the edge of civil war. It may be looking at the same specter again.

Bruised and dazed, Red China's Communist party seems now to be struggling desperately to clear the wreckage. By all evidence, vast political and economic damage has been done, with more likely before the show ends.

The upheaval has endangered China's food supply. It also may be seriously affecting Peking's nuclear bomb program.

Piecing evidence together, analysts deduce that it was on May 16, 1966, that a power struggle claimed its first important victim.

Thereafter, a madness gripped Communist China. Party and government administrative structures in the capital and provinces have been reduced to rubble, if even part of the reports from Red China are true.

From a Politburo of 23 members which ruled the party, and through it the nation, prior to through it, only six members remain, mainlined reports indicate.

Of 47 top government ministers, 23 have been severely attacked by Mao Tse-tung's Red Guards and "revolutionary rebels." Many have been fired. Many others are inoperative because of the confusion swirling about them.

Of 15 deputy premiers who were serving last year under Premier Chou En-lai, eight have been purged. Two others are in danger of being sacked.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

A struggle to determine which way China's future would be shaped brought the nation almost to civil war last summer, some analysts say. Now the confusion seems to be threatening both China's industry and her agriculture in a nation already short of food and goods.

The information upon which such surveys are based comes largely from wall newspapers posted in Peking and other cities by the Red Guards who support Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Some of this information has proved inaccurate in the past, much of it has proved confusing. There appear to be rival Red Guard groups at work reporting one side or the other. In any event, it spells out widespread violence.

Ralph T. Price, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, today announced three farm policy meetings to be held this month.

The meeting for this area will be held on May 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lamesa High School Auditorium, Fourteenth and Avenue F.

These meetings are being scheduled as requested by the secretary of agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and state leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

Secretary Orville Freeman recently held three such "shirt-sleeve" meetings with farmers in major Midwest states. He returned to Washington convinced that such face-to-face talks are worthwhile in reaching important policy and program decisions.

Price said that the secretary has been increasingly concerned about the level of farm prices and the cost-price squeeze on farmers, which has become progressively more severe in recent months.

The chairman said that invitations to attend these meetings have been sent to farm leaders, and that area farmers also are urged to attend. Farmers will be encouraged to participate freely.

Not a province or autonomous region in the whole nation of 750 million has escaped the uproar. The most explosive, Peking reports say, are Szechwan in the southwest, Honan in the south district which is the nation's food basket; Shantung in the east; Kansu and Sinkiang in the northwest. The latter two provinces hold important installations of China's nuclear program.

Horoscope Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until midnight p.m., pretty much anything can happen today or tonight to depress one to make you feel that obstacles are almost more than you can bear, unless you have a soft spot in your heart. Be sure you do not succumb to the temptation of giving up the chance to show just how much you have learned and how well you can handle them. Do just that.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Laboring diligently whether at home or office, or other place is the best means by which you gain the respect of others, make progress, be systematic. You can inspire others. Irresistibly, also.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Be controlled and do not dash out to unknown pleasures that could prove very dangerous, expensive, be more devoted to close ties. Stop telling others off, although underneath you may really like them. This could prove quite dangerous.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep busy with business, practical affairs and get some entertainment of some kind to satisfy your curiosity. Do not permit pressures to hold you back. Rid yourself of what deters your progress.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do whatever you can for individuals who are having trouble and for whom you have a soft spot in your heart. Be sure you are not sarcastic with anyone. Much care must be exercised in motion.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your plans for increasing present income, ideally, are good but do not discuss them with experts just at this time. Be more economical in certain areas. Then this also becomes a source of income.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have a feeling of divine discontent with in so be very careful in dealing with others and do not lose your temper. Avoid discussing personal matters. Do whatever will make your health for better.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Find some intelligent way to rid yourself of obligations that become intolerable, but do so in an objective manner. Take care you do not get into a mood of self-loathing or self-reproach. Be sensible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) If friends are under too much pressure to assist you, do not lose faith in them. Be helpful. Demand more upon your own capabilities. Forget the "sorry" for now and do it for the future. Do not be too very costly, so don't be costly. Get rid of obligations and improve credit. Get an expeditor if necessary.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take a day to look into new and progressive outlets, but don't take any action on them just yet. You need to study them for more facts or more facts, details straight. Then they become successful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Delve right into whatever has to do with business, but don't take any action on them just yet. You need to study them for more facts or more facts, details straight. Then they become successful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Don't try to argue now with partners over certain deal, monetary matters, but wait until you are more sure of your facts, figures. Avoid alterations in or with the public. This could prove to be a dangerous business.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow—The "or" sign will be a young person who is capable of discriminating very early in life and this ability should be encouraged in the right direction. If otherwise there can be a most impressive individual here. Be careful of his diet, also, so that the will is controlled and emotions held down. Then there is success.

Thurber Sets Sixth Reunion

More information on a proposed museum, plus motion pictures made long ago at Thurber, will highlight the sixth annual reunion, set for June 3.

The Texas Pacific Oil Company, a descendant of the original company which helped to spawn Thurber as the biggest city between Fort Worth and El Paso, last year announced plans for a museum at Thurber.

Former residents, and particularly members of the Thurber Ex-Student and Teachers Association, are asked to bring objects and artifacts they would contribute to the museum.

These must be directly related to Thurber.

The association has secured 340 feet of movies entitled "Thurber: Wonder City of the West." More footage is entitled "Thurber Views." By meeting time, the association hopes to have collected 1,000 feet of old time film.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

Information of the gathering may be obtained from Modean Livingston Boggus, secretary-treasurer, Route 1, Box 19, Gordon, Texas, or at 725 W. Green, Stephenville.

<

Oil Output Dips Again

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Production of crude oil and lease condensate declined last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

The nation's total was 8,342,000 barrels daily, down 99,150 a day from the previous week.

Major producing states registering declines included Kansas with 280,120 barrels daily, off 7,490; New Mexico 336,600, off 3,975; Oklahoma 605,030, off 60,710; Louisiana 1,931,500, off 16,575; and Texas 2,858,800, off 8,575.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their willpower thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoked.

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 1011-H-1, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York. It is sufficient to send your name and address. Just a postcard will do.

Mrs. Medders Facing Bankruptcy Hearing

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Medders, wife of financially troubled stockman Ernest Medders of Muenster, Tex., will be in federal bankruptcy court Wednesday to meet her creditors, a lawyer said.

Attorneys for the creditors of the Medders, just a year ago Texas' most celebrated host and hostess, learned here April 8 that if they want details of the pair's financial affairs they will have to get them from Mrs. Medders.

When they quizzed the tall, broad-shouldered Medders last month, they found out little Mrs. Medders then was under the care of Dr. David Wells, Sherman psychiatrist, who testified she was in a severe state of mental depression.

As lawyer after lawyer questioned Medders for about seven hours, he at first shifted uneasily in his chair, wrung his hands and pleaded ignorance. Time and again, he fell back on his avowed inability to read and write.

As the day wore on, he became less reticent and would say, "I told you I don't know how to read or write."

The attorneys, about 18 representing some 200 creditors, got little satisfaction. After hearing Medders for hours and listening to Dr. Wells' testimony, Joe D. Huffstuter, federal bankruptcy referee, set Wednesday's hearing for 10 a.m.

The couple's fancy Colonial Acres Farm, a lush 1,400-acre spread just northwest of Muenster, was the site last year of some of the most lavish parties ever seen in Texas.

They were reputed to be heirs to an estate of oil, gas and sulphur that amounted into the hundreds of millions with an income in excess of $60,000 monthly, at least.

The bubble broke, as Mrs. Medders once remarked to a visitor that it would, when various banks and other creditors began filing deeds of trust, mortgages and promissory notes in Cooke and Montague counties.

These were brought about by a deposition in which Medders told inquiring lawyers that he had "never inherited a dime."

The lawyers were acting for a Medders sister-in-law who believed some of the money might belong to her deceased husband.

PAID CASH
Medders told the bankruptcy court in April that he borrowed vast sums of money but never saw any of it. He testified that he signed "a whole bunch of papers and said he paid cash for improvements on the showplace breeding farm. These included a palatial home, and three big livestock barns including the $175,156 exhibition barn in which the big parties were thrown.

Money for the 185-acre core to the ranch, which he claims as a homestead, was borrowed from the Subiaco, Ark., Acad-

Texas Winds Sap Moisture

AUSTIN (AP) — Hot, dry winds sapped Texas' surface moisture last week, but crops made good progress anyway in the eastern one-third of the state, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The department's weekly crop weather report Monday said "the winds were especially troublesome on the High Plains. Recently planted fields are being dried out and making additional irrigation necessary in many areas."

Wheat was damaged by freezing temperatures in the High Plains.

"Sorghum and corn are making good growth in the Blacklands and East Texas with planting of irrigated fields active on the High Plains," the report said.

Cotton made good progress in the Blacklands and along the Upper Gulf Coast. However, "most dryland fields in the Southern High Plains as well as other West Texas areas will need moisture before planting," the report said.

Planting for the state was 53 per cent complete, compared with 47 per cent last year.

The department said corn made good progress in the major growing areas, but "South Central Texas continues short of moisture." Planting for the state was 95 per cent complete.

"Out maturity has been speeded up by the recent hot, dry weather in the major growing areas," the report said, adding that "prospects are poor for grain on most fields."

It Takes All Night To Hear Milk Price Bill Arguments

AUSTIN (AP) — A rural legislator took a long, hard look at a provision in a so-called milk price fixing bill and blurted into a table microphone: "Hitler didn't have that much power."

The hour was late, but Rep. James Slider of Naples, southwest of Texarkana, was still fresh as a marathon committee hearing on the milk bill went on until breakfast time Tuesday.

The provision, one of several criticized by members of the House State Affairs Committee, would permit a board to check the books and records of dairymen to see if they complied with a proposed milk stabilization act.

'NON-PARTISAN'
That controversial act was what the on-again, off-again, on-again committee hearing was all about.

Forty-five witnesses signed up to testify on the bill — 33 against it, 11 for it and Texas A&M professor R. E. Leighton who said he was "non-partisan."

Well laid plans failed to postpone the committee hearing and that failure had its comic aspects, thanks to Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, a patient committee chairman who lets everybody have his say, and for as long as he wants to talk.

The House voted for a night session — the first of the Legislature except for a recent joint address by Gov. John Connally and Cory said the committee hearing was off.

ARM TWISTING
Witnesses and others nevertheless milled around in the halls at committee time, refusing to leave, and several trooped into Speaker Ben Barnes' office.

One member said Barnes wanted a quick night session so the committee could meet after 30 minutes of lawmaking, the House recessed and Cory — his left arm in a sling to show there had been a little political arm twisting — announced his committee's cancelled hearing had been rescheduled.

House members roared with laughter.

The testimony began shortly before midnight — after deliberation on a long series of other bills and a protest by Slider that the committee had not had the required 48 hours notice in writing to hear the milk bill.

It was finally sent to a subcommittee.

MONOPOLY
The proposed Dairy Stabilization Act, which the Senate passed May 1, would provide for a nine-member state board to regulate the dairy industry.

It would give the board authority to set minimum prices, set standards of trade practices and product quality and, according to its sponsors, "assure an adequate supply of fresh milk to the public at the lowest possible price, and help restore the strength and vitality of one of the state's great industries, now threatened by near monopoly, and eventual out-of-state influence."

DEATH FEAR
Rep. Bill Barton of Borger was in charge of the presentation for the proposal. Co-sponsors are Reps. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville and Gus Mutscher of Brenham.

They said unless the measure is enacted "we inevitably face ultimate death of a major Texas industry."

Jim Sample of Waco, president of the Dairy Products Institute, estimated that industry is worth $750 million a year to Texas.

CHAOTIC CONDITION
"The act is the only answer to the chaotic condition wrecking the dairy industry in Texas," said M. P. Kimbrew, Plainview processor.

Others who supported the measure included Bobby Lilly of Arlington, representing the Milk Producers Federation; Eugene Weatherly, a Nacogdoches producer, and Irving Zimmerman, San Antonio grocer.

The Texas Farm Bureau, which claims 100,926 member families in 202 county organizations, opposed the proposal. It maintained:

"All minimum pricing programs tend to increase costs, which in turn increase consumers price and reduce producers price. . . Large grocery chains are sure to crowd out smaller processing plants if the Texas plan becomes law."

FADE AWAY
Keith Young, president of Jere Dairy, Inc., in Grand Prairie, called the bill "a grand conspiracy for monopoly."

"In every state with price fixing, the big, powerful, oversatisfied companies run the pricing and sales policies of the honest independents who just fade away while the majors violate what they cannot fix," Young asserted.

Jack Parkey, speaking for the Independent Dairy Co.-op. of Whitehair, northeast of Dallas near the Oklahoma border, said:

"If you pass this price fixing bill for the New York companies that already have most of the business, A&P and others will go out of state for their milk. . . Our farmer share of the consumer's milk dollar is about the highest in all the nation and we like it that way."

"All this bill does," said Rep. John Fields of Dallas, "is to fix the price of milk for the processor — there's not one thing in it for the farmer."

Dr. Terry Wins Honor

Dr. Donald F. Terry has been certified as a diplomate in internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Terry has been a member of the Malone & Hogan Clinic staff here since early 1964.

A graduate of Paschal High School in Fort Worth, he earned his bachelor's degree in 1953 at TCU, then entered Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, Mo., where he was graduated with his M.D. in 1957. He interned at the Washington University Medical Center in 1957-58, and did his residency there in 1958-59 before serving as commander of the 514th Medical unit at Fort Richardson, Alaska, until 1961. Upon separation from service, he was on the staff of the VA Hospital in Dallas in the practice of internal medicine with a specialty in cardiology.

Creed Coffee To Get Degree

Creed C. Coffee, son of Mrs. C. C. Coffee, will receive his master of business administration degree from Oklahoma City University in commencement exercises at 6 p.m. Saturday. His home is now at 3009 Orlando Road, Oklahoma City.

A highlight of the commencement will be conferring honorary doctorates on Col. L. Gordon Cooper and Lt. Col. Thomas F. Stafford, two famous Oklahoma astronauts.

Westbrook Graduation Set

WESTBROOK (SC) — Commencement exercises for the 1967 graduating class of Westbrook High School will be May 23 at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Trevor Crawford, Coahoma, and former commercial teacher in the Westbrook High School, will give the address.

Mrs. C. E. Ranne will play the processional and recessional. Ushers will be members of the junior class, Patricia Bell, Kathy Henderson, Eddie Ranne and Doyce Edwards.

Baccalaureate services will be held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday, May 21, in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. H. E. Parmenter, pastor of the Methodist church, bringing the message. Mrs. Johnny Shackelford will present special music.

Members of the graduating class are Valeria Iglehart, valedictorian; Vickie Chambers, salutatorian; Harrell Joe Geron, high point boy; Carolyn Bryant, Janette Rich, M'lessia Killough and Johnny Hines. Coach Sam Scroggins is sponsor.

Prisoner Not Nazi Criminal

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Frankfurt Prosecutor Joachim Richter announced today that a fingerprint check has established that an aged man arrested in Guatemala on suspicion of being Martin Bormann is not Hitler's missing deputy feuhrer.

The man, who is in his 70s, said his name was Falero Martinez and that he was born in Uruguay. He was arrested last week while working as a farm worker in the interior of Guatemala.

His prints were rushed to Frankfurt and compared with those of Bormann, who disappeared at the end of World War II.

Bormann, the most wanted Nazi war criminal, has been reported seen in a number of Latin-American countries over the years but none of the reports has ever been substantiated.

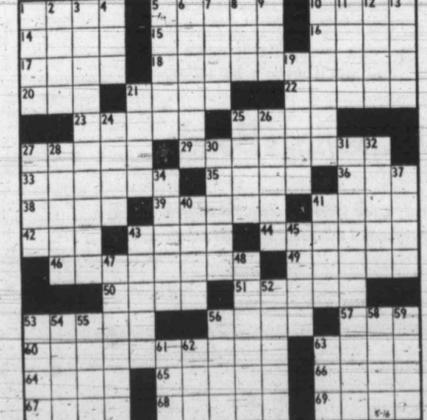

The Big Spring Herald

Published Sunday morning and weekday afternoons except Saturday by Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., 710 Scurry St., Big Spring, Texas 79726. Second class postage paid at Big Spring, Texas. Subscription rates: By carrier in Big Spring $1.75 monthly and $22.00 per year. By mail within 100 miles of Big Spring, $1.60 monthly and $18.00 per year. Beyond 100 miles of Big Spring, $1.75 per month and $19.00 per year. All subscriptions payable in advance. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to the paper. This does not include the local news published herein. All rights for republication of special dispatches are also reserved.

Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|----------------------|--------------------|----------------------|
| ACROSS | 64 Metal | 24 Is situated |
| 1 Quaint mug | 65 One of the | 25 Playing marbles |
| 5 Kid | Pilgrims | 26 French city |
| 10 False god | 66 Tolstoi heroine | 27 Living quarters |
| 14 City of India | 67 Beatrice d' | 28 Tibetan monks |
| 15 Feather | 68 Subfamily of | 30 France |
| 16 Jason's ship | Anatidae | 31 South Americans |
| 17 Lapse | 69 Autocrat | 32 Languished |
| 18 Vessel: 2 words | | 34 Snake scale |
| 20 Understanding | DOWN | 37 Unadorned |
| 21 Wasteland | 1 Job | 40 Mine assets |
| 22 Came up | 2 Flirt with eyes | 41 Indonesian island |
| 23 Gleam | 3 Accomplish: | 43 Sowlike organ |
| 25 Mountain pool | 2 words | 45 Head, French |
| 27 Thrash | 4 Island group in | 47 American |
| 29 Brings to light: | 5 Table implement | 48 Drenches |
| 2 words | 6 Edging loops | 52 Picture |
| 33 Tags | 7 Unique thing | 53 Sleep |
| 35 Small tools | 8 People of | 54 Honeybee genus |
| 36 Umbrella part | Tierra del Fuego | 55 Arab abode |
| 38 Book of Bible | 9 Rooter | 56 Fop |
| 39 Thicket | 10 Children | 58 Arm bone |
| 41 Artificial rubber | 11 Pisto's river | 59 Tragic monarch |
| 42 Greek letter | 12 Cycles | 61 Crane |
| 43 Certain | 13 Knowledge | 62 Cheer |
| 44 Person of | 19 Roman gods | 63 Weapon: slang |
| experience | 21 Factory | |
| 46 Famed church: | | |
| 2 words | | |
| 49 Escape | | |
| 50 Enrages | | |
| 51 Port of ancient | | |
| Rome | | |
| 53 Postoffice device | | |
| 56 Italian title | | |
| 57 — Brynner | | |
| 60 La Scala, for | | |
| instance: 2 words | | |
| 63 Navigation | | |
| hazard | | |

Puzzle of Monday, May 15, Solved

SPECIAL OFFER

LIGHTED HOUSE NUMBER SIGN INCLUDED AT NO EXTRA COST WITH YOUR PURCHASE OF AN ELECTRIC READY-LITE BY MAY 31, 1967

Select your Ready-Lite now at Texas Electric Service Company and get your lighted house number AT NO EXTRA COST. No down payment and up to 24 months to pay with monthly payments added to your electric service bills. Come in or call in soon! All prices include normal installation

The SUBURBANITE $59.50 As little as $2.84 per mo.	The 20th CENTURY $69.50 As little as $3.31 per mo.
The CONTEMPO $79.50 As little as $3.79 per mo.	The EAGLE $74.50 As little as $3.55 per mo.

3206

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

Mansfield Proposes Placing Viet War Issue Before UN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposes placing the Vietnam war squarely before the United Nations—an idea he says U.N. Secretary-General U Thant scotched last year.

Mansfield said Monday in a Senate speech that when he first proposed asking the U.N. Security Council to take up the war issue—in a Nov. 11, 1966, speech in Baltimore—he won backing from President Johnson.

He said Johnson phoned him after the speech and urged him to discuss the matter with Thant and Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

HAD CHANCE

Mansfield said Thant opposed the proposal, saying he would prefer to pursue peace talks privately rather than having Vietnam taken either to the Security Council or the U.N. General Assembly.

Mansfield later told The Associated Press he had not previously discussed publicly the President's request and Thant's response.

"I think the secretary-general has had his chance," Mansfield told his colleagues Monday. "He has done everything he can. It is now time to place the matter formally before the Security Council."

"In view of this background, I would think the President might look on this proposal with favor."

RESTRICTIONS

Mansfield's proposal, and a call by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., for restrictions on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, came in the wake of Thant's forecast last week that the Southeast Asian conflict could explode into World War III.

Cooper urged restricting of bombing to infiltration routes near the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams.

He said if such a limitation on air strikes brought any affirmative response from Hanoi, all bombing should be suspended in an effort to get talks started.

Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, predicted Monday that U.S. military involvement in Asia could last—in Wheeler's words—"till the end of the century."

HARDNOSED

Rusk said if Red China "stays militant and hardnosed, it is difficult to see how a confrontation can be forever avoided."

Wheeler found the current situation in Thailand highly reminiscent of South Vietnam in the early 1960s.

Rusk and Wheeler were quoted in the May 30 edition of Look magazine.

Cooper, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., Mansfield and others agreed in Senate debate that any further acceleration of the war makes it more likely that Red China may intervene and that the Soviet Union would be drawn in, thus bringing on a world war.

Rusk, whose previous judgment on Chinese intentions in Korea was questioned by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, had been scheduled for an appearance today at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to review the Vietnam issue.

NO IDEA

The secretary canceled out to attend two sessions of congressional leaders and committee members for discussion of the Kennedy Round of European trade talks.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated the committee will want to hear from Rusk later but had no idea when that will be.

Church said Rusk was a Far East expert in the State Department when it advised President Truman that Red China would not intervene in the Korean War even if U.S. troops fought their way to the Yalu River.

Church said Rusk was a Far East expert in the State Department when it advised President Truman that Red China would not intervene in the Korean War even if U.S. troops fought their way to the Yalu River.

FEAR BACKDROP

Against a backdrop of fear that this might be repeated in Vietnam, Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., said the administration is following a policy of restraint and he sees no cause for Communist China to be alarmed.

"I think it is important that we are in South Vietnam," he said. "There is some place at which we have to take a stand."

"I think it is important that we are in South Vietnam," he said. "There is some place at which we have to take a stand."

We should not become so obsessed with what China might do that we forget why we're there."

PUBLIC OPINION

Mansfield disagreed in part with Cooper's suggestion for a limitation on the bombing. He said if it failed to bring any response he feared American public opinion would demand even greater military measures against North Vietnam.

But Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said he thought Cooper's proposal was worth a try. He said having 500,000 troops in Vietnam a few hundred miles from Red China's border was a great risk.

But Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said he thought Cooper's proposal was worth a try. He said having 500,000 troops in Vietnam a few hundred miles from Red China's border was a great risk.

MEXICO EXAMPLE

"If there were 300,000 Chinese troops 400 miles from our border, say in Mexico, we would have reacted most strongly," he said.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a persistent critic of Johnson's war policies, said if the United States took the Vietnam issue to the U.N. Security Council and it was vetoed there by the Soviets, it could then be brought before the General Assembly.

"We must come to realization that we are not going to settle this bilaterally," he said.

CAREFUL COMPLAINING Greek Dictators Stepping On Toes

ATHENS (AP)—In a joking round in Athens, a Greek standing in a crowded bus asks the man next to him: "Excuse me, sir, is your father an army officer?"

"No."

"Possibly an uncle?"

"No."

"I'm sorry to bother you this way, but is anyone in your family an army officer?"

"No."

"Well, in that case, get the hell off my foot."

ing worse happened. "It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

FEAR

The military dictatorship which took over Greece April 21 is stepping on a lot of feet, but there is a striking lack of complaint.

Much of this is obviously due to fear.

Despite the efforts of the regime to present itself as a paternal protector seeking to bring order and a sense of decency and purpose into national life, everyone knows the government has absolute power.

"We are not executioners," Gen. Gregory Spantidakis, the deputy premier and defense minister, said recently. But they could be if they wanted to. There is no one to prevent it.

Yet there is evident a general sense of accommodation to what has befallen Greece—at least for now.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

BIG SHOW

The government has made a big show of censoring the local press. Yet Greeks who can read French, German, Italian or English have their choice of foreign newspapers and magazines. Editorials in many of these publications roast the new regime.

There are noticeably fewer tourists than usual. One agency reports a 70 per cent drop in bookings since the coup. But the Greeks seem to be making the best of the situation and waiting warily for what comes next.

There is no doubt that many of the 8.5 million Greeks are bitter about the ending of democracy, the summer imprisonment of some 7,000 persons for political reasons and the arbitrary control over everyone's life.

But like the man in the joke, the people who feel their feet are being stepped on are very careful about who they complain about.

The investigator for the Athens military court announced the arrest of George Bertos, a Greek journalist and former press adviser to ex-Premier George Papandreu's press and information service, on charges of stealing secrets of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and spying for Papandreu's son, Andreas.

The investigator, Capt. Spyridon Melistas, said Bertos, 33, was accused of trying to find out for the younger Papandreu whether nuclear warheads were stored in Greece. He said Bertos also was accused of taking secret NATO documents while the elder Papandreu was premier in 1964.

Andreas Papandreu is in an Athens jail on charges that he was a leader of the Aspida plot to overthrow the monarchy, set up a Socialist state and take Greece out of the North Atlantic alliance. He and his father, Greece's leading left-wing politicians, were the chief targets of the military coup.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

BIG SHOW

The government has made a big show of censoring the local press. Yet Greeks who can read French, German, Italian or English have their choice of foreign newspapers and magazines. Editorials in many of these publications roast the new regime.

There are noticeably fewer tourists than usual. One agency reports a 70 per cent drop in bookings since the coup. But the Greeks seem to be making the best of the situation and waiting warily for what comes next.

There is no doubt that many of the 8.5 million Greeks are bitter about the ending of democracy, the summer imprisonment of some 7,000 persons for political reasons and the arbitrary control over everyone's life.

But like the man in the joke, the people who feel their feet are being stepped on are very careful about who they complain about.

The investigator for the Athens military court announced the arrest of George Bertos, a Greek journalist and former press adviser to ex-Premier George Papandreu's press and information service, on charges of stealing secrets of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and spying for Papandreu's son, Andreas.

The investigator, Capt. Spyridon Melistas, said Bertos, 33, was accused of trying to find out for the younger Papandreu whether nuclear warheads were stored in Greece. He said Bertos also was accused of taking secret NATO documents while the elder Papandreu was premier in 1964.

Andreas Papandreu is in an Athens jail on charges that he was a leader of the Aspida plot to overthrow the monarchy, set up a Socialist state and take Greece out of the North Atlantic alliance. He and his father, Greece's leading left-wing politicians, were the chief targets of the military coup.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

BIG SHOW

The government has made a big show of censoring the local press. Yet Greeks who can read French, German, Italian or English have their choice of foreign newspapers and magazines. Editorials in many of these publications roast the new regime.

There are noticeably fewer tourists than usual. One agency reports a 70 per cent drop in bookings since the coup. But the Greeks seem to be making the best of the situation and waiting warily for what comes next.

There is no doubt that many of the 8.5 million Greeks are bitter about the ending of democracy, the summer imprisonment of some 7,000 persons for political reasons and the arbitrary control over everyone's life.

But like the man in the joke, the people who feel their feet are being stepped on are very careful about who they complain about.

The investigator for the Athens military court announced the arrest of George Bertos, a Greek journalist and former press adviser to ex-Premier George Papandreu's press and information service, on charges of stealing secrets of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and spying for Papandreu's son, Andreas.

The investigator, Capt. Spyridon Melistas, said Bertos, 33, was accused of trying to find out for the younger Papandreu whether nuclear warheads were stored in Greece. He said Bertos also was accused of taking secret NATO documents while the elder Papandreu was premier in 1964.

Andreas Papandreu is in an Athens jail on charges that he was a leader of the Aspida plot to overthrow the monarchy, set up a Socialist state and take Greece out of the North Atlantic alliance. He and his father, Greece's leading left-wing politicians, were the chief targets of the military coup.

Bridge Test

—CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
© 1967 By The Chicago Tribune

Neither vulnerable, East deals.

NORTH
♠ A 8 7
♥ A K 9 5 3
♦ K J 2
♣ A K

WEST EAST
♠ Q 5 2 ♠ J 4
♥ Q J 10 7 6 4 ♥ Void
♦ A Q ♦ 9 8 7 5 4 2
♣ 9 3 ♣ 8 7 6 4

SOUTH
♠ K 10 9 8 3
♥ 8 2
♦ 10 6
♣ J 10 5 2

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass Pass 1 ♠ 2 NT
Pass 3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

Despite the advent of the "unusual no trump," no trump overcalls have not altogether lost their normal meaning. The convention provides that where a defender bids some number of no trump that cannot logically be interpreted as a natural call, it becomes a take-out double for either the minors or else the unbid suits.

In this hand, North's two no trump overcall, coming directly after the opening bid, is a good old-fashioned bid showing a balanced hand of 22 points. South dutifully responded with three spades and North carried on to four.

West opened the queen of hearts, the king was played from dummy and East ruffed in with the four of spades. A diamond was returned and West put up the ace, to lead the jack of hearts. East trumped away North's ace with the jack of spades to complete the defensive book. He exited with a diamond and West's queen was taken by the king in dummy.

If the remaining three trumps were divided two-one, declarer's play becomes routine, for after drawing trump, he can ruff out dummy's small hearts and the North hand is high. However, if all three trumps are in one hand, declarer must proceed with caution, for the drawing of even a single round of trumps may prove fatal.

South began by leading a small heart from dummy. East discarded a diamond and declarer ruffed with the three of spades. The North hand was reentered with the king of clubs to trump another heart, and then with the ace of clubs to ruff dummy's remaining heart. With four cards left, this was the position:

NORTH
♠ A 8 7
♥ J
♦ Q 5 2
♣ 10

WEST EAST
♠ Q 5 2 ♠ 9 8
♥ 10 ♥ Q 8
♦ 10 ♦ Q 8

SOUTH
♠ K 10
♥ J 10
♦ J 10

The jack of clubs was led and West discarded his last heart. North ruffed with the seven of spades. Then, the jack of diamonds was trumped with the king of spades as West helplessly undertrumped with the deuce.

On a club return, his remaining trumps were trapped under the dummy's ace-eight.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

RELIEF

Many Greeks display relief that the coup went off as painlessly as it did—and that nothing worse happened.

"It's quiet, eh?" one often hears. "That's good. Let's hope it stays that way."

It is indeed quiet. So quiet for Greece—in this balmy sunny time of year that something seems strangely missing.

The action is missing, the clamor and hubbub, the outspoken political controversies, the banners, the violent polemics, the demonstrations, the rowdy public rallies that would be taking place if the country were not under a dictatorship that prevented the elections scheduled for May 28.

A first-time visitor would hardly suspect a dictatorship was in force.

Distaff Soldiers Out Of Action

Vietnamese women, captured fighting alongside men of a Viet Cong battalion, sit behind barbed wire compound in Nui Loc Son Valley, southwest of Da Nang. They were taken by Marines on Operation Union. (AP WIRE- PHOTO)

Swindling Retrial Of Estes Ordered

TYLER (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, the imprisoned West Texas promoter, may be headed back into the same courtroom where he first went on trial in 1962.

Dist. Judge R. P. Powers signed an order Monday for the return of the onetime captain of farm finance. It calls for Estes to be tried here on or before June 1 on state charges of swindling.

A Tyler jury convicted Estes in the fall of 1962 and he drew an eight-year prison sentence on an indictment returned at Pecos, then his home.

MAIL FRAUD

The U. S. Supreme Court subsequently threw out the conviction, however, because television and newspaper cameras were allowed in the courtroom, this circumstance kept Estes from receiving a fair trial, the high court held.

Estes likewise was convicted at El Paso in 1963 on federal charges of mail fraud and sentenced to 15 years. He is serving that term in a federal reformatory at Sandstone, Minn.

Both the state and federal charges were based on multimillion-dollar dealings by Estes in mortgages on farm fertilizer tanks. Testimony established that most of the tanks never existed.

Judge Powers granted the order for retrial of Estes at the request of Dist. Atty. A. R. Archer in Monahans, Archer's West Texas district includes Pecos.

Dog, Cat or Kid GARBAGE TROUBLE ENDS With An Underground Receiver $13.95—Free Estimate on Installation H. J. MORRISON SUPPLY 806 Scurry AM 7-2975

NEWCOMER GREETING SERVICE Mrs. Joy Fortenberry Your Hostess: An established Newcomer Greeting Service in a field where experience counts for results and satisfaction. 1207 Lloyd AM 3-2005

Buy Bonds where you work.

He does.

It's miserable work, crawling through a rice paddy. And being shot at. This American does the job for freedom's sake. So do thousands of his buddies. Many of these brave men also support freedom with their dollars: A majority of our servicemen overseas are investing in U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show this man you're with him? One good way is to buy Savings Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll make a good investment. And you'll walk a bit taller.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years... are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen... have special tax advantages... can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

Be

"Mildred be observed Spring Cha the Eastern quiet will Mrs. Edwila, Grand Mrs. Sh

The affair ballroom at p.m. with ing at 8 p. is worthy No. 67, and worthy pat follow the

Mrs. Sh stalled in last state c is on a tr Eastern St which are members, the state, the groups with the us. Instead chapters t for corsage for beauti at the Eas the Aged Ir chapters w money to

The gran member of was introd Star Order Mason sin become a A. C. Garr Dallas. Mrs. Sh grand mat succeeding district de grand mar a member publication conductes

Nan Cha Of A

Mrs. Or lected "Wc the cover Monday e Chapter, Women's A met in the oneer Nat

Mrs. Br Howell an Insurance lone and H pital when 17 years. ing as pri Chapter, i photograp her husba the Colleg

John Cu the State, guest spea formative new check Reserve- I come effe computer planned, a that these able the l ers a mo ice.

Mrs. Irv etician at gan Foun a vocatio A nomin named to forthcomi the comm Garrett, c ert McDo Phillips. Mrs. O. chairman, her birth bers and t ine Waits

Trick Paint

Here's room and, as hinges plates fro paint. Coat al petroleum paint can

OES Grand Officer To Be Honored Tonight

"Mildred Sharpe Night" will be observed this evening by Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, when a banquet will be held in honor of Mrs. Edwin L. Sharpe of Dallas, grand worthy matron of the Grand Chapter of Texas, OES.

The affair will be held in the ballroom at Hotel Settles at 6:30 p.m. with the ritualistic opening at 8 p.m. Mrs. Steve Baker is worthy matron of Chapter No. 67, and C. R. McClenny is worthy patron. A reception will follow the ceremonies.

Mrs. Sharpe, who was installed in her office during the last state convention in Houston, is on a tour to visit the 767 Eastern Star chapters in Texas which are made up of 130,000 members. When visiting over the state, Mrs. Sharpe has asked the groups not to present her with the usual corsage of flowers. Instead, she requests the chapters to place the money for corsages in a special fund for beautification of the grounds at the Eastern Star Home for the Aged in Arlington unless the chapters wish to designate their money to a particular charity.

The grand worthy matron, a member of the Del-Cliff chapter, was introduced to the Eastern Star Order by her husband, A. Mason since 1934, Sharpe has become a Shriner, Scottish Rite Mason and a York Rite Mason. He also is the high priest of A. C. Garrett Masonic Lodge in Dallas.

Mrs. Sharpe became deputy grand matron in 1953. In the succeeding years, she became district deputy grand matron, grand marshal, grand examiner, a member of the credentials and publications committees, grand conductress, associate grand matron and, in 1966, worthy grand matron. Mrs. Sharpe is an active member of Mungler Place Methodist Church in Dallas. Her other interests and activities include Parent-Teacher Association and civic work. She is a past queen of the Daughter of the Nile and member of the Social Order of the Beauceant, and past mother advisor of the Or-

MRS. E. L. SHARPE

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

A pre-nuptial shower for Miss Jean Cox, bride-elect of Garland Mabe, was held Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Joe Peay, 1213 E. 18th.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Rex Edwards, Mrs. A. C. Faulkner, Mrs. Rupert Madrey and Mrs. Eldon Cook.

The honoree was attired in a short-sleeved white lace sheath and was presented a corsage of white roses. Similar corsages were received by her mother, Mrs. H. I. Cox, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Ben Mabe. The hostess' gift was an electric skillet.

The refreshment table was covered with white lace over red linen and appointed with crystal and silver. Centering the table was a crystal bowl holding an arrangement of red roses, snapdragons and columbine. Crystal holders with white candles were placed on the buffet. Twenty-two guests called between 8 and 9 p.m.

California Couple Visits Relatives In Knott Home

KNOTT (SC) — Weekend guests of the Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Hollis were their son and daughter-in-law, S. Sgt. and Mrs. Kenneth Hollis, and children, who were en route to Riverside, Calif. Other guests were Mrs. M. Hollis and Mr. and Mrs. Doran Stott, all of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Blicek of Big Spring were Sunday guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman Sr. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roman are attending a family reunion in the home of her mother, Mrs. R. T. Reid in Dallas.

Verl Shaw is a patient in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital after suffering an eye injury received while working on irrigation equipment at his farm. Mrs. Herman Jeffcoat is a patient in Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

Mrs. O. B. Gaskins is reported convalescing in Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital in Big Spring, where she underwent major surgery Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Nichols of Elbow and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Jackson of Andrews are vacationing in Florida.

Mrs. Elsie Smith of Elbow is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Herschel Smith. Mr. and Mrs. David Alharth and family of New Home visited Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Airhart Sunday.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nichols were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nichols, Mrs. Wayne Paurm and children of Tarzan, and Robbie Merle Cline of Fairview.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols and family visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, in Vealmoor.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ditto were Mrs. Nell Autry and children, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Ditto and family, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Foster and family and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ditto, all of Kermit.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Robinson were Mrs. O'Dell Roman and daughter, Mrs. Carol Chivetta and son, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Parker and family, all of Ackerly.

Pins Cause Damage

Never pin a ripped hem unless it is an absolute emergency. The use of a pin may result in more damage, pulled threads or pinhole marks in the material or snagged stockings.

Fewer Notaries Available Here

Nearly 200 persons, who were qualified as notaries public last year, have not filed for renewal of their commissions and, if they want to be reinstated, will now have to go through the state agency, Margaret Ray, chief deputy in the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, said today.

Deadline for notaries to file to renew their commission expired at 5 p.m. Monday. At that time, 499 of the 670 qualified notaries had filed with the county clerk.

Shriners' Ladies Honored At Luncheon

Wives of visiting Shriners were honored Saturday with a luncheon at Big Spring Country Club which was followed with a book review by Mrs. Clyde Angel. Shown, from left, are Mrs. Cecil McDonald, Mrs. Robert H. Augustinus, wife of the Illustrious Potentate, Mrs. Ted O. Groehl Sr., Mrs. Angel and Mrs. James Owens. In conjunction with the Shrine ceremonials, the wives joined their husbands as Cosden Country Club for a Western dance and ceremonial ball.

Mrs. Ronnie Lindsey In Hawaii To See Husband

COAHOMA (SC)—Mrs. Ronnie Lindsey is in Honolulu, Hawaii, to meet her husband, who is on duty in Vietnam. He will be on rest and recreation. Mrs. Lindsey is the former Shertyn Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woner Robinson.

Mrs. J. B. Hall and children, Julie and Jay, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Harrington and son, Gregg, visited in Snyder Thursday with Mrs. Doyle St. Clair and daughter, Dixie.

Ricky Plunkett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Plunkett, has been released from Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital.

The Grady Tindol family and the Don Allen family spent the weekend in Comanche with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Puckett and girls, and the group enjoyed a fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gore have returned to their home in Olney, after visiting here with their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Phinney and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robert Boadle in Big Spring.

Returning from a trip to Oake Grove, Ark., are Mrs. Betty Weaver and children, Bobby, Barbara and Dicky. There they visited with Mrs. Weaver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Tisdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Brooks have returned from visiting with his mother, Mrs. A. W. Brooks, and with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Horn, in Colorado City.

David Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Grant, is now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lovelace of Kalamazoo, Mich., are visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rorak, and children.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Snow and family have had as their guests, her mother, Mrs. Bessie Mitchell, and brother, James Mitchell, of Wichita Falls.

Sponge In Water

To remove ice cream stains from cotton fabrics, sponge the spots with cool or lukewarm water. Then wash the garment in the usual way in hot suds and rinse thoroughly.

Couple Observes 23rd Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gaskins of Knott observed their 23rd wedding anniversary on Mother's Day Sunday in their home. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gaskins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gaskins and Rhonda, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flinn and Dean Rae of Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Gaskins and Donna Sue, Glenna Harrell of Knott; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Peablies, Kay, Joe and Hoss of Snyder; and Mrs. Phil Grozier of Austin.

Blend Powder To Improve Makeup

The high forehead, symbol of the intellectual, isn't always a symbol of beauty. To make the high forehead seem less pronounced, powder it in a darker shade than that used on the face. Blend the powder at the hairline with a cotton puff, dampened in good quality witch hazel. Eyebrows should be arched, never drawn straight across.

ADDED SERVICE
CARPET AND RUG CLEANING...
Professionally Trained
In Our Plant — Or In Your Home
CALL AM 3-4611
JAY'S CARPET STORE
On Gregg — Across From Safeway

HAMILTON OPTOMETRIC CLINIC
Allen R. Hamilton, O.D.
Dean H. Wallace, O.D.
Tom C. Mills, Optician
Jimmy Bryant, Lab Technician
Larry Foster, Lab Technician
Helen Hughs, Office Mgr.
Joan Low, Assistant
Cheryl Ann Waits, Assistant
(Across Street North of Court House)
106 West Third Dial AM 3-2501

MRS. ORVILLE BRYANT

Named By Chapter Of ABWA

Mrs. Orville Bryant was selected "Woman of the Year" at the covered dish dinner held Monday evening by the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The group met in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Mrs. Bryant resided at 1010 Howell and is employed in the Insurance Department at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital where she has worked for 17 years. She is currently serving as president of the Cactus Chapter, and her hobbies are photography and travel. She and her husband are members of the College Baptist Church.

John Currie, vice president of the State National Bank, was guest speaker. He gave an informative talk regarding the new check rule by the Federal Reserve Bank, which will become effective Sept. 1. The new computer system was explained, and Currie announced that these new systems will enable the bank to give customers a more personalized service.

Mrs. Irving Hill, assistant dietitian at the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, gave a vocational talk. A nominating committee was named to select officers for the forthcoming year, and those on the committee are Miss Nanna Garrett, chairman; Mrs. Robert McDonald and Mrs. Tom Phillips.

Mrs. O. A. Badwick, banquet chairman, was recognized on her birthday. Seventeen members and two guests, Mrs. Pauline Waits and Currie, attended.

Trick Told For Painting Hinges

Here's a way to repaint a room and protect hardware, such as hinges, catches and door plates from getting covered with paint. Coat all such surfaces with petroleum jelly and then the paint can be wiped off easily.

A LOVELIER YOU

Cut The Paper Caper For Summer Party

By MARY SUE MILLER

When first introduced, paper dresses were looked on as a short-lived fun fad. But in no time deliveries could not keep up with the demand. Now we must concede those non-wovens a place and a future.

They still make for fun and conversation, but they also offer a load of fashion. Springing up all over, "Waste Basket" boutiques offer a newsy riot of color and pattern in mini-to-long dresses, hostess skirts and aprons, caftan and karate coats, and even bikinis for the sunbather.

For summer, the advantages of paper wearables are terrific. They're cool as can be and there's absolutely no upkeep. In fact you must not wash them or you remove their fire-resistant feature. Look, ma, no work!

Best of all, perhaps, you don't have to wear a paper dress forever. Just how much wear does it give? Barring accident, like meeting up with a splintery chair, a paper dress can be worn five or six times before it is ready for the discard heap. Then on with the new at a cost that levels out to a few pennies per wearing!

A small wardrobe of paper fashions could keep you swinging through many rounds of all fresco parties — backyard barbecues, patio buffets, picnic suppers. If you really want to go cut a caper when you're the hostess, try those matched sets of paper — a dress, plates, cups, napkins and place mats. Throw-away chic—it's what's happening!

HOUSEWORK

Attention—Homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Annual May Luncheon Held For Music Study Club Members

Miss Sue Crosthwait, Big Spring Music Study Club scholarship student, presented the musical program at the annual May luncheon of the club Saturday at Big Spring Country Club.

Miss Crosthwait sang the selections, "If Thou Lovest Me," by Pergolesi and "People," from "Funny Girl." She was accompanied by Miss Dana Rosene. Mrs. Jay Leonard, played "Chopin's Prelude in E Minor" and "More," the theme from Mondo Cane.

The club collect was sung by Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Rene Brown, Mrs. Carl Bradley, Mrs. Thomas Kessler, Mrs. Louis Heinze, Mrs. J. L. Christensen, Mrs. Robert Heinze and Mrs. Richard Mitchell.

Following the luncheon, Miss Rebecca Stiles of Midland, president of the 12th District, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, served as guest speaker. She told the group of federation aims and plans for the forthcoming year, as well as presenting ideas for improving clubs on the local level.

New officers installed by Mrs. Stiles were Mrs. Bell, president; Mrs. Louis Heinze, first-vice president; Mrs. Jim Baum, second vice president; Mrs. Leonard, secretary; Mrs. Kessler, treasurer; Mrs. Bruce Bate, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mitchell, reporter-historian; and Mrs. Brown, parliamentarian.

Committee appointments announced by Mrs. Bell for next year included Mrs. Baum, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Bate, program; Mrs. Christensen, finance; Mrs. Louis Heinze, Mrs. Robert Heinze and Mrs. Fred Beckham, social; Mrs. Bradley and Miss Kathleen Wood, member-

Repair Tabletops With Tape Strips

If the rough surface of a lamp or an ash tray has been scratched, a favorite tabletop here's how to end the problem. Rather than bothering with glues and felt pads, simply get some tape and run strips of it along either side of the offending surface and the job is done.

The smooth ribbon-like surface of the tape will give your furniture the ultimate in protection.

I SOLD MINE . . .
IN THE BIG SPRING SIMPLY BY PLACING A CLASSIFIED AD
DAILY HERALD

Smart people use this phrase quite often! Like most modern families they know whatever their needs . . . chances are the classified pages has section for their listings. Classified pages are loaded with terrific bargains.

From antique glasswares to modern art, from garden hoses to cabin cruisers, the commonplace and the unusual are offered to you day after day in Big Spring's busiest marketplace . . . the classified section of The Herald.

Do your shopping this modern, convenient, time and money saving way, turn to Classified right now.

Phone AM 3-7331
BIG SPRING HERALD
CLASSIFIED ADS
BUSY MARKETPLACE OF MODERN FAMILIES

A Devotional For The Day

O give thank to the Lord, for he is good; his steadfast love endures for ever. (Psalm 118:1, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father God, we thank Thee for Thy steadfast love. Forgive our failure to trust Thee. Increase our faith in the guidance of the Holy Spirit and enable us to do Thy will. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

In No Hurry

The House of Representatives is in no hurry to act upon the seating of Adam Clayton Powell, although a certificate of election has been filed with the clerk of the House. Nor is Powell in any hurry to present himself at the bar of the House to seek admission.

When the matter was first brought up, Speaker of the House John McCormack said in response to an inquiry, "From the leadership's angle my present impression is that the next move is up to Mr. Powell." Later McCormack amplified this by saying, "When the member appears, if he is challenged, it will be a matter for the House to decide and for the House to express its will."

So matters stand in suspense.

Meanwhile, Powell, from his Bimini hideaway, continued to seek to overturn the action of the House in refusing to seat him at the opening of Congress. For only by affirmative action of the courts can Powell hope to retain the seniority which was stripped from him when his colleagues refused to seat him. It does not suit his fancy to be relegated to the status of a freshman representative, unhorsed from his relatively lofty perch as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

If the House is in no hurry, then probably most Americans are in no hurry to bring the matter to a head.

Crazy Copy Cats

Copying machines that can reproduce printed and graphic materials almost instantly are becoming an important factor in the conduct of the nation's business. It is estimated that such devices turned out close to 12 billion copies last year. But the swift rise in the number of these machines has brought a problem: Book publishers and authors complain that the machines are being used increasingly to reproduce copyrighted materials without authorization.

This practice is clearly not fair to publishers and authors. They have a good case for inclusion of tighter regulations in the current congressional revision of federal copyright law. The present law does forbid copying without permission, and violators can be sued for damages. In practice, however, little has been done about thousands of relatively minor copying violations. The basic problem seems to be one of determining what "fair use" regulations ought to be applied.

There are indications that when the copyright law is amended, the limit on statutory damages will be raised and certain kinds of copying will be strictly prohibited. Such restrictions are needed. The very essence of the copyright law is to encourage people to create — in literature, music and the like — by assuring them that their rights in the fruits of their labors will be protected.

Art Buchwald

All Washed Up At 23

WASHINGTON — The trouble with the American Dream these days is that there has been such an emphasis on youth in our country that a man can be washed up at the age of 40 and not even know it. I didn't realize how serious it was getting until I started trying to find some jobs for friends who were victims of The World Journal Tribune closing.

The first question people would ask me was, "How old is he?" If I said he was 40 or older I'd get a shrug and some comment like, "He's too old for us."

IT SEEMS to me that if the trend continues the age gap is going to be one of the most serious problems this country faces. It's quite possible in another 10 or 15 years that the following scene might become very common.

Personnel manager: "I see your qualifications are in order except for one thing."

Applicant: "What's that?"

Personnel manager: "I'm afraid you're too old for the job."

Applicant: "What do you mean, too old for the job? I'm 23."

P.M.: "Yes, I see that. We don't hire anyone over 21 years of age."

Applicant: "But I just got out of college. I've never had a job. How can I be too old?"

P.M.: "According to our pension planners who have the final say as to how old our employees should be, anybody above 21 years of age is over the hill."

Applicant: "How can I be over the hill if I've never been on?"

P.M.: "There's no reason to get testy about this. We have nothing personal against you. It's just that we have found through experience that men of your age really don't do their best work when they reach 23 or 24 years of age. Oh, there have been exceptions, but on the whole we'd rather take our chances with the younger man who can stand up under the physical and mental pressures of the job."

APPLICANT: "I appreciate your thinking, but I can assure you I can do anything a 21 year old can do. I'm still very strong. I play tennis twice a week. I'm in excellent health and I was even captain of my football team last year."

P.M.: "Sir, I don't doubt everything you say, but we can't judge you as an individual. Statistics show your age group is prone to colds, backaches and burnouts. Even if we wanted to hire you, our group health insurance advisers wouldn't let us. They can't afford to take the risk with a 23-year-old man, no matter how healthy he may look."

APPLICANT: "But if I can't get a job now that I've finished college, what am I going to do the rest of my life?"

P.M.: "Why don't you retire and move to Florida?"

Applicant: "What the hell am I going to retire on if I never worked?"

P.M.: "I'm sorry, sir. I don't wish to be cold hearted about this but I think you should face reality. You're washed up. You should have planned for your old age years ago."

Applicant: "Let me ask one more question and then I'll go. How old are you?"

Personnel Manager: "13."
(Copyright, 1967, The Washington Post Co.)

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Chet Huntley attracted national attention when he followed his principles across picket lines to appear on NBC news. His case, though, merely serves to underline the difficulties any individual, celebrity or not, faces in dissenting from a union edict.

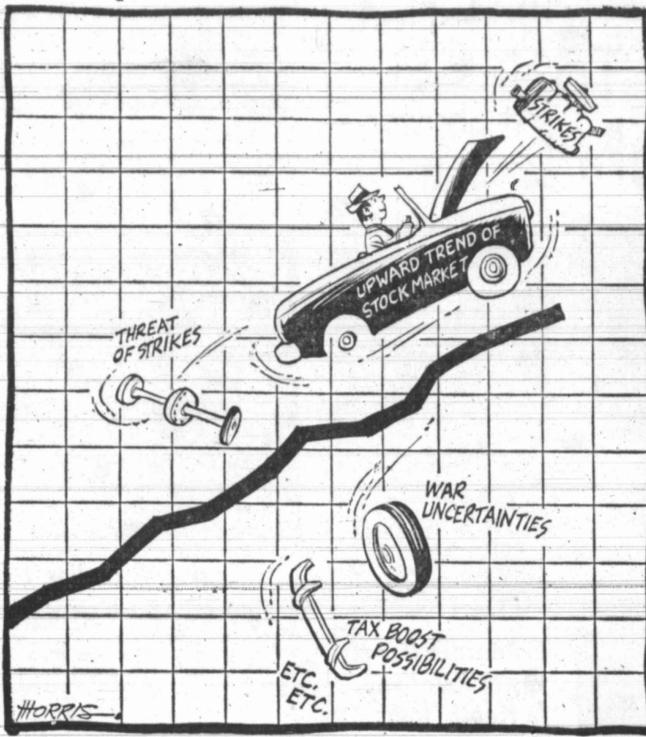

While technically a member of the striking American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, Mr. Huntley disputes the union's jurisdiction over his news broadcasting activities. His decision to ignore the strike, indeed, arises from a conviction that if newsmen must belong to a union it should be one of their own rather than one dominated by actors and dog-food salesmen.

Some of those privy to the workings of television labor agreements, however, raise the possibility that AFTRA could assert its disciplinary power to suspend Mr. Huntley — and thereby force him off the air.

We suspect it's more likely that AFTRA will seek no confrontation with NBC over so valuable a property. But if Mr. Huntley does escape union discipline, it will rather neatly raise the question of why what's fair for him is not also fair for the run-of-the-shop union member.

The right to follow personal convictions, inseparable from the idea of freedom, must be sacred both to the famous TV newscaster and to the unknown factory hand.

—WALL STREET JOURNAL

OKAY, YOU EXPLAIN IT!

James Marlow

Chou Complicates Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the U. S. forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur got ready to drive the North Korean invaders back into their own country and follow them there was some fear the Red Chinese might leap into the war on the side of North Korea.

But Dean Acheson, secretary of state under President Harry S. Truman, minimized — the chance of the Chinese doing that. They'd be mad to try it and besides, he said, there was a lot of trouble going on inside Red China.

But, the Chinese premier, Chou En-lai, said his people would not stand by if the "Western imperialists" invaded the North. But the U.S. and South Korean forces did invade.

THE CHINESE plunged into the war — they called their troops volunteers — and the result was an American disaster. Now the U.S. forces are fighting in South Vietnam. At the moment there is no talk here of American troops invading North Vietnam but American planes have been bombing it steadily and once again Chou En-lai had something to say.

IN AN interview obtained by Simon Malley and published by the Chicago Daily News, Chou warned Red China might decide it is necessary to intervene in this war, too, with a horde of so-called volunteers.

Chou said the North Vietnamese could get this help from Red China any time they asked for it. But in his talk with Malley, a U.S. citizen who is a correspondent for some African newspapers, Chou said China might barge in on its own under some other circumstances.

He said the Chinese would intervene if the Americans invaded North Vietnam and the Chinese considered this a threat to their own security or if the Americans and Soviets tried to force North Vietnam into what he called a sell-out peace.

NO U.S. official so far this time has attempted to minimize the danger implicit in Chou's words even though China, as in the Korean days, is having a lot of internal trouble.

Yet, ominous as Chou's warning was, it has to be looked at two ways — a perilous burden for any administration officials trying to plan for the war ahead with North Vietnam.

In the first place, Chou was saying he can play it any which way. Red China can intervene on invitation from North Vietnam or Red China might decide to intervene, even if North Vietnam didn't want it to, for its own reasons.

THIS IS PRETTY good psychology if he feels that by deepening American uncertainty about Red China's intentions he can make the Americans super-cautious, and as a result perhaps ineffective, in fighting the war with North Vietnam.

For he raised this at a time when critics of the war in this country are urging a pause in the bombing and raising the specter of Chinese intervention if the United States keeps on intensifying the war.

In short, intended or not, he is giving the critics gristly support to serve his own purpose which is to see the United States reduce its war effort, a move that very well might enable the North Vietnamese to continue fighting indefinitely.

Hal Boyle

Remember Raspberry Red?

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the chief sources of man's greatness is his ability to share his memories.

This power to reincarnate the past, to make it live again, and to hand it down to others makes the human race unique, and is the source of many of its greatest satisfactions. For what but ambulant vegetables would we be except for memory?

YOUR POWERS to recall are pretty good if you can look back and remember when —

A walrus mustache was taken as a sign of robust manliness but anyone with a smaller hirsute adornment on his upper lip was suspected of being either foppish or a foreigner.

A MAN with false teeth usually soaked them overnight in a glass of salt water on a table by his bedside.

Office files were neatly pinned together instead of being stapled or held in place by a wire clip.

Women were largely content to wear the same color and flavor of lipstick — raspberry red.

A COMEDIAN could achieve fame — and hold it for years — with a single vaudeville routine. His fans didn't want him to do anything different.

A girl felt it hurt her marital chances if she had to wear glasses.

Ice cream was sold in paper cartons. Most milk wasn't.

PUBLIC indignation ran high when the price of a drugstore cup of coffee went from a nickel to a dime.

Streetcar motormen laughed at predictions that their trolleys would be replaced by buses.

The average housewife's idea of a real swinging day was to go downtown and have a 50-cent lunch at the local department store.

ADULTS spent more time on the telephone than teenagers.

Joan Crawford was most famous for her ability to dance the Charleston.

On national election nights everyone stood outside the local newspaper as the cub reporter importantly posted the latest returns in the window.

OTHER husbands felt that the first guy in the block who bought his wife one of those new-fangled electric refrigerators was simply spoiling her.

Any kid who went to college was expected to earn his own way.

Those were the days! Remember?

Around The Rim

Aylesford Country

I was interested to read in a metropolitan newspaper that this community is all agog, as you might say, to get itself known as "The Earl of Aylesford Country." Sort of like that section of New Mexico widely publicized as "Billy the Kid Country."

THE ARTICLE was interesting to me largely because I hadn't heard of any widespread campaign to get the Earl's name attached to our countryside. The article quoted an unnamed "Chamber of Commerce official" as its source of information.

We already have a street named for Aylesford.

The books tell his story when you dig into Big Spring's history. The tale is good for a rewrite feature story about every decade.

LIKE A LOT of characters who made minor marks for themselves in the pioneer days of these parts, the saga of the Earl of Aylesford is shifting and changing as each year passes.

Only one feature of history seems to remain unaltered in the passage of time and in the romanticism of the subsequent scribblers who take a hand at telling his story.

They all agree that the Earl was a master at bending his elbow — that, when time had cut him down, one of the features of his passing was the size and emptiness of a huge stack of whisky bottles left by him at his ranch north of town. I have been told that even today, more than three-quarters of a century after his honor passed on, you can still see the sun rays glittering on glass fragments of his bottle pile if you visit the site of his pioneer residence. I have never been there so I can't vouch for the veracity of this story. Maybe the "Chamber of Commerce official" could take me to the site if I only knew who he was.

THE CITY fell also told a little different version of how the Earl happened to show up here in the 1880's from the ones I have previously read.

I like the one, though, which links him with the British Crown Prince in some highjinks in old London town. The antics of the Royal scion and the Earl are supposed to have stirred the indignation of her majesty, Queen Victoria. Since old Vic was noted for her shortness of temper and her general dislike for anything loose and lax in the way of morals, I can well believe that she would wax somewhat hot — assuming the story of Aylesford and the Prince is sound.

SO THE EARL of Aylesford showed up in these parts with a pocket full of pounds and shillings; an insatiable thirst for good drinking whisky and a big collection of firearms.

He set about making himself a character hereabout. Big Spring pioneers, somewhat untutored in the ways of the peerage, seem to have dubbed him "judge" and liked him right well.

He didn't last too long.

Long enough to stack up a mountain of empty booze bottles, spend a wad of money and die at a relatively youthful age. Even so, he created a sort of reputation which has perpetuated him in the somewhat incomplete history of our county.

—SAM BLACKBURN

Holmes Alexander

The Fighting Has-Beens

WASHINGTON — Let's see — there was ex-Gov. John Lodge, ex-Sen. William Knowland, former Adm. Arleigh Burke and former Adm. Arthur Radford.

If you wanted to be caustic about it, you could call them has-beens. If you intended to be kinder and more accurate about it, you could call them Earlier Americans — men with a minority viewpoint that today seems out of date. Anyhow, they are the big names in an obscure pressure group called CEASE, Committee to End Aid to the Soviet Union.

IT'S DOUBTFUL if CEASE has much going for it except moral indignation. These men, and their associates, are indignant at the Lyndon Johnson policy of increased American trade to the Soviet bloc while there's a war in Vietnam. It'll be surprising if CEASE can raise much money, because most of the fat cats of U.S. industry are going along with the President's policy of doing bigger business with the Communists in Europe while fighting them in Asia. It's certain that CEASE will not get much support from the metropolitan press which generally supports the President's idea that East-West trade is "bridge-building" for world peace.

AND CEASE won't get much help in Congress, because East-West trade is part of a package deal that includes the Consular Treaty, and Space Treaty, which have already been ratified, and one or more nuclear and disarmament treaties, if LBJ can bring them off. The official attitude, accepted by the strangely apathetic public, is that the little unpleasantness in Vietnam shouldn't break up a budding friendship with the Soviet Union.

BUT THE ex-governor, the ex-senator, the ex-admirals and a good many Earlier Americans form a minority opinion on the subject of regarding Russia as a friend. There is an old-fashioned idea that any country involved in killing America's troops is an enemy, and that there's something wrong about doing business that aids the Soviet economy.

THIS, IN much stronger language, was the gist of Gov. Lodge's statement at a press conference here. He hopes to raise a million subscribers to the CEASE doctrine, and to win some converts in Congress, and to pledge Richard Nixon and other presidential aspirants to the cause. In March, a group of senators — Mundt, Cotton, Fong, Fannin, Dominick, Curtis and a few Democrats — laid on a real blitz against ratification of the Consular Treaty, which was a prime sampling from the package deal called bridge-building. Mundt of South Dakota made one of the great speeches of the session and gave what could serve as a keynote for CEASE:

"I SHALL never vote to make less likely the return of the American boys who have been drafted to fight freedom's battles in Vietnam. A nay act which strengthens the power of the enemy to continue the war and expand the killing will not have my support."

You would think that every member of the American Congress would feel that way, and that the American people would not tolerate any senator or representative who didn't. But there is, I'm afraid, in the American subconscious a craven voice that whispers about world communism, "If we can't lick it, let's join it." For that's what the political and public acceptance of bridge-building is all about.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Marquis Childs

The Changeover In Greece

WASHINGTON — As it turned out, the top-secret meeting in Washington in mid-February was like the lament of a Greek chorus for the tragedy to come. Around the table were military, intelligence, State — all the powers dealing with the Greek problem.

CIA reports had left no doubt that a military coup was in the making with the knowledge if not the sanction of King Constantine. It could hardly have been a secret. Since 1947 the Greek army and the American military aid group in Athens, numbering several hundred, have worked as part of the same team. The team has spent something under $2 billion on the guns, planes, tanks and ships of the Greek forces.

THE SOLEMN question was whether by some subtle political intervention the coup could be prevented. Could parliamentary government be saved even though George Papandreou and his son, Andreas, were driven from the political scene? This last was the goal of the extreme right among the military. The elder Papandreou had become something of a folk hero — he had obtained the only outright majority in the history of Greek elections in modern times. To throw him out would be to throw out the symbol of the democratic process. A "plot" had been worked up, believed largely the fabrication of the military, and Andreas was under investigation for possible conspiracy to commit treason.

THOSE EVENTS have now run their course and Greece is under a Fascist-type dictatorship like that in Italy in the '20s and '30s. The knock on the door, the stern dicta on dress and religion, thousands of arrests of political figures ranging from left to right, all the apparatus of fear and intimidation — this is the grim shadow that has fallen over an important piece of what is so often glibly called "the free world."

In this is a supreme irony. For Greece had successfully, with the help of massive and invaluable American aid, put down a Communist-led rebellion and seemed to have achieved stability with freedom despite quarrelsome political factions and palace intrigues.

SO FAR THE public reaction from Washington has been little more than an unhappy squeak. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara returning from a NATO meeting in Paris said he told the Greek defense minister that the United States would stand aloof until constitutional government was restored.

The State Department line is that any critical statement might precipitate a civil war. How this could happen in view of the tight clamp of the military with all the weapons of mass destruction in their hands is hard to see.

THE ATTEMPT to smear Andreas Papandreou — as a Communist goes back a long way, joined by certain American commentators. Objective observers who knew him well in this country and for many years in Greece call this nonsense, although they readily agree he was inept in the savage infighting of Greek politics. His economic views are those of the American New Deal. Serving in his father's cabinet he proposed basic reforms, including taxing the very rich.

THE EFFECT is of a scratched record being played over once again. Col. Nikolaos Makarezos, Minister of Coordination, in a recent interview said the United States should hurry up and send more military aid to keep Greece from communism — two American ships with aid have been held up. From another junta source came the suggestion that if Andreas Papandreou's friends wanted to save him from execution they had better see that this aid came quickly. That is not so polite a bit of blackmail.

(Copyright, 1967, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Editorials And Opinions

The Big Spring Herald

6 Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tuesday, May 16, 1967

Practicing The Game

This is the card game scene from "Streetcar Named Desire," Tennessee Williams production to be staged Friday and Saturday in the city auditorium by the Big Spring Little Theatre. The players are, from left, Jeff Kan-

DeGaulle Says Intervention Must Cease

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, in an obvious reference to the Vietnam war, called today for an end "to the scandal of foreign intervention in Asia."

The French president, in answer to a news conference question about French policy toward the war, told the hundreds of newsmen in the Elysee ballroom France would continue to oppose foreign — meaning American — involvement in Vietnam.

"The scandal of foreign intervention in Asia must cease; that is the path the government intends to follow," he declared.

This was a repetition, in a harsh form, of De Gaulle's position that the United States must withdraw from Vietnam if there is to be peace there.

Summarizing other broad policy aims, De Gaulle said France would keep its national independence, continue to promote East-West detente and strengthen the six-nation European Common Market.

Faced with a national general strike, the president turned to domestic problems. He pledged his government to improve social and economic conditions in the country, the aim of his move to obtain emergency powers in these areas from Parliament.

At the same time, he warned members of the shaky Gaullist parliamentary coalition that any attempt to weaken this thin majority would be "contrary to political morality and the public interest."

This was an apparent reference to Valery Giscard d'Estaing's 42-member Independent Republican party. The Independent Republicans, junior partners in the Gaullist coalition, have shown themselves lukewarm to the government's move for emergency powers, but have not said they would block.

Medicare Program Planned Sunday

An informational program on Medicare for families with relatives in Big Spring State Hospital has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday at the hospital auditorium.

This may be of special interest to those whose relatives, 65 and over, are patients at the hospital. They may qualify for Medicare or the nursing home care provided under a state program.

In many instances, these patients' unique medical, social and nursing needs can be met better in an extended-care center than they can at state hospitals, which have been increasingly over-crowded. Dr. Kinross Wright, director of mental health and mental retardation for Texas, is anxious that all families be acquainted with the new programs which might offer better opportunities for care and treatment.

A panel will discuss the programs, and it will be made up of the following: Erven L. Fisher, manager of the Big Spring district Social Security office; Coy Burt, director of the Big Spring area for the state department of public welfare; Bruce Frazier, owner-director of Bennett House, a nursing facility; Dr. Frankie E. Williams, acting clinical director, Big Spring State Hospital; and Carl Mangum, social case worker at the hospital. Tours of the hospital and of private nursing facilities will be available after the panel discussion.

17 Schools Share Grants

AUSTIN (AP) — Seventeen Texas schools have been awarded federal grants totaling $1,476,908 under the Higher Education Act of 1965, the College Coordinating Board said today. Bishop College, a Dallas Negro school got three grants totaling $402,106. Huston-Tillotson College, Austin Negro school got two grants totaling $98,366. Other schools and the grants they received included: Angelo State College, $75,000. Incarnate Word College, San Antonio Roman Catholic school, $37,500.

Jarvis Christian College in Hawking, $123,817. Laredo Junior College, $60,000. Our Lady of the Lake College, San Antonio Roman Catholic school, $15,000. Paul Quinn College at Waco, $54,500.

Prairie View A&M, $138,800. Ranger Junior College, $52,500. St. Edward's University at Austin, $15,000. Tarrant State College at Stephenville, $72,940. Texas College in Tyler, $62,614.

Texas Lutheran College in Seguin, $76,596. Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth, $73,439. Weatherford College, $45,000. Wiley College in Marshall, $73,900.

Two Fort Worth Teens Missing

FORT WORTH (AP)—Sheriff Lon Evans said today concern is mounting for two teenage girls missing since Sunday. Their car was found Monday.

"We haven't anything to go on," Evans said, "other than the automobile."

Joanna Loyd, 17, and Sharon Louise Bagby, 19, both from the same Riverside address, disappeared after, relatives said, they left the house to buy a Mother's Day card.

Their car was found on the west side of Lake Arlington, backed into a clump of trees. Investigators said there was no indication the girls had been abducted, but they did not rule out the possibility.

Gradual Warming In Texas Forecast

Recent sieges of thunderstorms and unseasonable heat gave way to pleasant spring weather throughout Texas today.

Skies were generally clear in most sections except for a few clouds near the coast and the extreme northwest part of the state.

Early morning temperatures ranged down to 40 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle. Readings elsewhere were mostly in the 50s and 60s.

These compared with top marks Monday afternoon varying from 72 at Amarillo and Dalhart to 88 at Presidio.

A new buildup of clouds was expected tonight over the northwest part of the state and by Wednesday over most of the northern half, but there was no prediction of rain.

Except for another cool night in South Texas, forecasts promised gradual warming in all areas.

OIL REPORT

Earl Wells Jr. of Odessa has completed the No. 2 Bade in the Parochial Bade field of Sterling County.

On initial potential, operator pumped 12 barrels of 31.2 gravity oil per day and 96 barrels of water. Total depth is 2,136 feet, plugged back at 1,400 feet, with 4 1/2 inch casing set at 2,136 feet and perforations between 1,338 and 400 feet. The gas oil ratio was nil and operator acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Location is 990 feet from the south and 1,787 feet from the west lines of section 21-22-H&C survey, 11 miles southwest of Sterling City.

DAILY DRILLING

HOWARD No. 1 Page is bottomed at 10,770 feet and has been abandoned. Location is 600 feet from the north and east lines of section 34-35-1N, T&P survey.

MARTIN No. 1 Bredlove pumped eight barrels of load oil with 32 barrels of water in 24 hours. Location is 400 feet from the north and east lines of section 34-35-1N, T&P survey.

BORDEN No. 1 Simpson is drilling below 4,350 feet in time. Location is 990 feet from the north and 1,250 feet from the west lines of section 22-23-1N, T&P survey.

STERLING No. 1 McBride is drilling below 2,385 feet. Location is 1,250 feet from the south and 1,250 feet from the east lines of section 17-18-PRR survey.

Stock Mart Snaps Back

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market mounted a fairly snappy rally early this afternoon. Trading was brisk.

Glamor stocks and blue chips rebounded from Monday's selling.

The Monday decline was on markedly lower volume and this was seen as an encouraging technical feature.

Analysts still saw the market as working through a consolidation phase following its recent dramatic four-week climb.

The advance produced gains of several points for some of the higher-priced glamor issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.62 at 887.03.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 at 326.5 with industrials up 1.1, rails up 1.1 and utilities up .5.

As the glamor stocks took off, IBM spurred more than 7 points, Polaroid 4 and Control Data about 3 1/2.

American Motors seemed to be pacing the list on volume as it added a good fraction.

Murder Case Venire Called

Sheriff Aubrey Standard said today that his office is mailing notices to the 200 persons whose names have been drawn as a special venire from which a jury for the trial of Narciso Santiago will be chosen starting May 22.

The jurors are being instructed to report to the 118th District Court at 10 a.m. next Monday.

Santiago is to be tried for murder. He is accused of shooting Sgt. M. T. Gore to death last May. The state has notified Santiago it will seek the death penalty in the case.

Santiago is at liberty on bond in this case. He is also on bond pending outcome of an appeal from a 10-year sentence imposed a few weeks ago for assault with intent to commit murder.

This incident was a part of the same episode which took the life of Gore. A woman companion of the sergeant was shot and wounded in the same gun blast which killed Gore.

Teachers Set Final Meeting

The traditional end of the year banquet for the Texas State Teacher's Association will get under way at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Big Spring Country Club, with an estimated 240 teachers on hand.

Introduction of next year's officers will start the banquet, including Don Green, president; Mrs. Loyce Phillips, first vice president; Wendell Huddleston, second vice president; Mrs. Naomi Graham, secretary; and George Archer, treasurer.

The high school a cappella choir will sing a few selections, and Don Turner, band director at Runds, will provide musical entertainment.

Sam Anderson, superintendent of schools, and Joe Moss, president of the school board, will present 10, 15, 20 and 25 year service pins to teachers. There will also be special recognition for retiring teachers.

Out-going officers are Mrs. Thelma Kloven, president; Green, first vice president; Mrs. Loyce Phillips, second vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Eubank, secretary; and Harlan Hulbregtse, treasurer.

Your Pecan Trees May Need Zinc

If you have a pecan tree which looks puny, maybe the problem is that it needs zinc.

Paul Gross, Howard County farm agent, said today that zinc is a must in the cultivation of healthy pecan trees. He also said that leaves from pecan trees can now be analyzed to determine their need for the metal.

The soil testing laboratory in College Station is providing this special service for pecan growers, Gross said.

The report on each leaf sample analyzed will indicate whether or not the level of zinc is adequate or short and will give suggestions on zinc applications. This information, explains the county agent, can serve as a guide for developing a long-range program to maintain an adequate supply of zinc since annular foliar or soil applications should be made before June.

Here are important suggestions on collecting samples. Sample in June and collect fully mature leaflets from new growth. For most regions, pecan trees are at the desired stage of growth in June.

Collect 100 leaflets for a composite sample. Select from six to 10 representative trees (depending on orchard size) of the same variety. Collect 100 leaflets free of disease and insect damage from points on the trees well above the ground. This will mean collecting from 12 to 16 leaflets per tree, explains Gross.

The county agent emphasizes the need for getting the sample to the testing laboratory in fresh condition. He suggests that

Speaker Named For Medical Meet

Dr. Grady L. Hallman, from the Texas Medical Center in Houston, will be the principal speaker tonight at the Permian Basin Medical Society meeting at the Big Spring Country Club.

Social hour will start at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will begin at 7 p.m. Thirty-eight reservations have been made.

The Permian Basin Medical Society covers three counties with Dr. Preston E. Harrison, president; Dr. James L. Child, vice president; and Dr. Frankie E. Williams, secretary-treasurer, of the organization.

Cancer Society Elects New Slate Of Officers

Just as progress has been made in other fields, the Rev. J. E. Montgomery, of Longview, told members of the Howard County unit of the American Cancer Society that a cure will eventually be found for cancer.

But until then, he said, education will do much to help cure cancer and he urged continued emphasis on physical checkups.

The minister was the speaker for the annual meeting of the society, held at Webb AFB Monday evening. During the business session, a new slate of officers was named for the new year.

Mrs. George Franks will be president, Mrs. Ralph Caton, vice president; Mrs. J. B. Baird, secretary; and John Burgess, treasurer.

Mrs. Donald D. Van Meter, outgoing president, told the board that the local society has had an active year, lending help to cancer patients, including some requiring treatment at the M. D. Anderson Hospital at Houston.

She expressed gratitude to the Civitan Club, Webb AFB employees, and the County Welfare Department, and the news media for assisting in the society's work, as well as local doctors and hospitals for their cooperation.

On behalf of the society, she said certificates of appreciation were given to all persons who had a part in the Cancer Crusade.

Nine new members were named to the board, including Mrs. Caton, Burgess, Dr. Lee Rogers, the Rev. Robert Polk, Joe Moss, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Bob Galbraith, Dr. Clyde Thomas, and Mrs. John Ritenour.

Holdover members include Mrs. Franks, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Lee Rogers, Raymond Tollett, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Dr. Robert Johnson, Dr. M. A. Porter, Dr. P. W. Malone, Mrs. Coy Nalley, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Mrs. Clyde Angel, Dee Jon Davis, Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Van Meter, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Dr. Louise Worthing, Dr. Floyd Mays, Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Mrs. Neil Norred.

Rev. Montgomery is minister of the Woodland Christian Church and a member of the state board of directors of the American Cancer Society, of which he has been vice chairman, a member of the state budget and finance, legal, and personnel committees.

He is advisor to Alcoholics Anonymous, and founder of Conaid, an organization that helps aid and rehabilitate ex-convicts. He is a former vice president of TCU for 15 years.

Opponents to the telephone regulatory proposal by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston did not have a chance to testify. Further testimony was postponed until a Wednesday committee meeting.

Pickers Watch Melons Roll

MISSION (AP) — Pickets hoping to block shipment of Starr County melons watched a trainload go rolling to market Monday night.

There were 32 refrigerators cars loaded with cantaloupes and honeydew melons in the Missouri Pacific Railroad freight train bound for upstate points.

Half a dozen pickets were posted by the United Farm Workers organizing committee after the train, which left Rio Grande City in late afternoon, was stopped here for switching operations.

Texas Rangers and railroad detectives herded the pickets off Missouri Pacific property but they stayed on both sides of the track.

Although a union leader had vowed that "we'll stay here all night if we have to," the train departed.

Part of the melon shipment came from La Casita farms, a major target in the farm union's effort to win contracts for Lower Rio Grande Valley field hands at a $1.25 minimum hourly wage.

Students Reminded About Reporting To Draft Board

Louise Nuckolls, clerk of Texas Local Board 71, Selective Service, warned today that it is important all draft-age college and university undergraduates, classified as Class 11-S, request their registrar to send their class standings for the 1966-67 school year to the local board as soon as possible after the spring semester ends.

College and university registrars will be able to report the standings during the summer months, after all grades are compiled, in order to rank a student in his class. The standings are reported to local boards by registrars on Selective Service System Forms, 109, 109-A, or a form of their own design. Either form the school chooses to use will be acceptable. These forms are in the hands of the individual schools.

High school graduating seniors who intend to enter their freshman year at a college or university should write their local board a letter and state that they intend to enroll as a full-time student on or about Sept. 1, 1967. After registration in the fall, the school will notify the local boards that the student has enrolled.

REV. J. E. MONTGOMERY

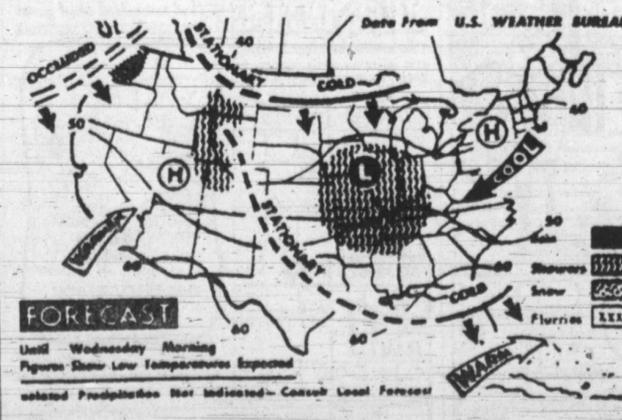

named to the board, including Mrs. Caton, Burgess, Dr. Lee Rogers, the Rev. Robert Polk, Joe Moss, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Bob Galbraith, Dr. Clyde Thomas, and Mrs. John Ritenour.

Holdover members include Mrs. Franks, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Lee Rogers, Raymond Tollett, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Dr. Robert Johnson, Dr. M. A. Porter, Dr. P. W. Malone, Mrs. Coy Nalley, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Mrs. Clyde Angel, Dee Jon Davis, Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Van Meter, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Dr. Louise Worthing, Dr. Floyd Mays, Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Mrs. Neil Norred.

Rev. Montgomery is minister of the Woodland Christian Church and a member of the state board of directors of the American Cancer Society, of which he has been vice chairman, a member of the state budget and finance, legal, and personnel committees.

He is advisor to Alcoholics Anonymous, and founder of Conaid, an organization that helps aid and rehabilitate ex-convicts. He is a former vice president of TCU for 15 years.

Opponents to the telephone regulatory proposal by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston did not have a chance to testify. Further testimony was postponed until a Wednesday committee meeting.

Weather Forecast. Showers are forecast Tuesday night in the Middle Mississippi Valley, Northern Rockies and Washington coast. Northeast will be cooler and the Southwest warmer. (AP WIRE- PHOTO MAP)

DEATHS

Mrs. Molina, C-City Resident

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. Reyes Molina, 22, of Graham, died at 8:45 p.m. Sunday in Root Memorial Hospital, apparently of an illness following childbirth several weeks ago.

Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Ann's Catholic Church in Colorado City, with the Rev. Francis Arbet officiating, and burial in Mitchell County Cemetery under the direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Mrs. Molina was born Oct. 22, 1944, in Loraine and married in Colorado City in 1965. She was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Del Real, both of Colorado City; a six-week-old infant daughter; four brothers; three sisters.

Cliff Prather, Area Educator

Cliff Prather, 40, Gail Route, died in a local hospital at 5:45 a.m. today.

Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, with Perry Cotham, pastor of the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, officiating, assisted by J. R. Perkins, Frisco, with interment in the City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Prather was born May 22, 1926, in Big Spring and attended Big Spring schools. He graduated from Big Spring Senior High School in 1943. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees at Sul Ross State College and was working on his doctorate at North Texas State University.

Mr. Prather taught at Borden County schools, Center Point, Ackerly, and Novice schools. He was superintendent at one time, then became a coach, and later assumed duties as principal during those years.

He married Miss June Stamps on June 18, 1948, in Coahoma and was a member of the Church of Christ, Staked Plains Lodge 508 AF and AM, and took chapter and council at Denton. He would have received his doctorate in administrative education from North Texas State University in August.

Mr. Prather was preceded in death by his father, C. E. Prather, on March 9, 1960, and a brother, Dr. Charles Prather, on Oct. 3, 1962.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Mark Prather and Paul Prather; and his mother, Mrs. Josie Prather.

MARKETS

LIVESTOCK FORT WORTH (AP) — Cattle 600-1000 head steady; good steers 34.25 standard and good, 21.00-22.00; good choice heifers 23.50-24.50; cows 16.75-18.50; good and choice 27.00-28.00; standard and good 23.00-25.00; utility 21.00-22.00; choice feeder steers 24.00; choice calves 27.00-28.00; good and choice yearling steers 24.50-26.50; good and choice heifers 27.00-28.00; good 27.00-28.00; good and choice steer calves 27.00-29.00; good 26.00; good and choice calves 23.00-24.00; standard and good 21.00-22.00.

Hogs 200-300 lbs. higher; 215-250 lbs. 21.00-22.00; 300-375 lbs. 17.50-18.50; 375-450 lbs. 16.00-17.00; 450-500 lbs. 15.00-15.50; 500-600 lbs. 14.00-14.50. Sheep 1.00; steady; prime spring lambs 27.00; good and choice 26.00; utility 13.00-15.00; good and choice shorn lambs 20.00-22.00; ewes 5.50-6.50; good and choice spring feeder lambs 19.00-20.50; old-crop 17.50-18.00.

COTTON NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton was inactive at noon today. Bids: No. 1 contract, July 22-29, Oct. 22-25, Dec. 22-25, No. 2, July 22-29, Oct. 22-25, Dec. 22-25.

STOCKS 30 Industrials 437 1/2 30 Railroads 425 1/2 15 Utilities 42 1/2 15 Chemicals 48 1/2 15 Oil 48 1/2 15 American Airlines 89 1/2 15 American Motors 117 1/2 15 American National 12 1/2 15 American Petroleum 13 1/2 15 American Tel. & Tel. 37 1/2 15 Anconda 27 1/2 15 Alcoa 39 1/2 15 Alcoa & Santa Fe 39 1/2 15 Bethlehem Steel 40 1/2 15 Brant 27 1/2 15 Chrysler 44 1/2 15 Cities Service 44 1/2 15 Coca-Cola 115 1/2 15 Continental Oil 21 1/2 15 Deere 63 1/2 15 Dr. Pepper 48 1/2 15 Dow Chemical 48 1/2 15 Eastman Kodak 138 1/2 15 El Paso Natural Gas 48 1/2 15 Firestone 48 1/2 15 Ford Motor 52 1/2 15 General Electric 34 1/2 15 Franklin Life 48 1/2 15 General Motors 42 1/2 15 General Telephone 49 1/2 15 Grace (W. R.) 48 1/2 15 Great American 179 1/2 15 Gulf Oil 47 1/2 15 Halliburton 154 1/2 15 IBM 37 1/2 15 Independence American 81 1/2 15 Jones & Laughlin 58 1/2 15 Kennecott 48 1/2 15 Massey Ferguson 22 1/2 15 Mobil Oil 40 1/2 15 Montgomery Ward 40 1/2 15 N.Y. Central 28 1/2 15 North American 45 1/2 15 Parke-Davis 28 1/2 15 Pepsi-Cola 48 1/2 15 Phillips Petroleum 45 1/2 15 Pioneer Natural Gas 14 1/2 15 Procter-Gamble 47 1/2 15 RCA 53 1/2 15 Republic Steel 48 1/2 15 Revlon 32 1/2 15 Reynolds Metal 52 1/2 15 Royal Dutch 30 1/2 15 Sears (S. D.) 50 1/2 15 Sears Roebuck 50 1/2 15 Shell Oil 60 1/2 15 Sinclair Oil 53 1/2 15 Southern Life 29 1/2 15 Standard Oil of California 67 1/2 15 Standard Oil of Indiana 57 1/2 15 Standard Oil of New Jersey 58 1/2 15 Sun Oil 63 1/2 15 Sunray DX 32 1/2 15 Swift & Co. 53 1/2 15 Syntex 101 1/2 15 Tencor 48 1/2 15 Texas Gulf Sulphur 113 1/2 15 U.S. Rubber 45 1/2 15 Western Union 28 1/2 15 Westinghouse 28 1/2 15 Xerox 209 1/2 15 (Courtesy: Rouse & Co., Inc., 102 Gulf Bldg., AM 3-2745, Midland.)

Cliff Prather, 40, Gail Route, died in a local hospital at 5:45 a.m. today.

Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, with Perry Cotham, pastor of the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, officiating, assisted by J. R. Perkins, Frisco, with interment in the City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Prather was born May 22, 1926, in Big Spring and attended Big Spring schools. He graduated from Big Spring Senior High School in 1943. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees at Sul Ross State College and was working on his doctorate at North Texas State University.

Mr. Prather taught at Borden County schools, Center Point, Ackerly, and Novice schools. He was superintendent at one time, then became a coach, and later assumed duties as principal during those years.

He married Miss June Stamps on June 18, 1948, in Coahoma and was a member of the Church of Christ, Staked Plains Lodge 508 AF and AM, and took chapter and council at Denton. He would have received his doctorate in administrative education from North Texas State University in August.

Mr. Prather was preceded in death by his father, C. E. Prather, on March 9, 1960, and a brother, Dr. Charles Prather, on Oct. 3, 1962.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Mark Prather and Paul Prather; and his mother, Mrs. Josie Prather.

We are here to... SERVE YOU

MRS. J. W. (ALICE) BROWN, age 79, Passed away Sunday in Tascala, Tex. Services Tuesday in Nalley-Pickle home, wood Chapel, interment in City Cemetery.

MR. CLIFF PRATHER, age 40, Passed away Tuesday, Services a p.m. Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. in Church of Christ, interment in City Cemetery.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Dial AM 7-6331 906 Gregg

BUZ SAWYER

HOW DO YOU DO, CDR. SAWYER. WE'VE BEEN LOOKING FORWARD TO MEETING YOU, SIR.

WON'T YOU SIT DOWN, SIR? WOULD YOU LIKE A FOOTSTOOL, SIR?

COULD I GET YOU A PILLOW, CDR. SAWYER?

WHY, WHAT POLITE CHILDREN, THANK YOU.

WE'VE HEARD MAMA SAY SUCH NICE THINGS ABOUT YOU.

WE'RE THRILLED TO MEET A FAMOUS WAR HERO.

PLEASE TELL US ABOUT YOUR ADVENTURES.

GASOLINE ALLEY

You've something to say to me, Clovia-say it! I'm due at a meeting!

Barry, would you do me a big favor?

You'd like me to drop dead maybe?

Barry, Slim is flunking Chemistry! You're the only one who can help him!

I would prefer that you had asked me to drop dead!

Please, Barry! He won't graduate!

NANCY

SLUGGO IS A BIG HEEL.

YOU CAN'T CALL MY BOY FRIEND A HEEL.

POW!

SHOES REPAIRED AT JOE'S.

L'I'L ABNER

THAT'S AMAZIN' NEWS TONIGHT!

HUMPHREY AGREES WITH L.B.J.!!

THAT'S THE LEAST AMAZIN' NEWS AH EVER HEERD!!

FULBRIGHT AGREES WITH L.B.J.!! RONALD REAGAN SAYS L.B.J. IS 100 PERCENT RIGHT!!

NIXON AND ROMNEY SAY HE'S 200 PERCENT RIGHT!!

OUR RADIO HAS LOST ITS L'I'L MIND!!

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD, I WANT YOU TO FILE THESE ESTIMATES IMMEDIATELY.

BUT, MR. DITHERS, I STILL HAVE FIVE MINUTES TO GO ON MY COFFEE BREAK.

THAT'S OKAY, DAGWOOD... I'LL FINISH YOUR COFFEE BREAK FOR YOU.

HE MADE IT SOUND LIKE HE WAS DOING ME FAVOR!

RICK O'SHAY

YOU STATE THAT THE DEFENDANT AND HIS ALLEGED COHORT ROBBED THE BANK, SHOT BANKER GAGE.

...AND ROPE OUT OF TOWN WITH THE MONEY.

YESSIR... AND MY DEPUTY AN' I FOLLEREP 'EM.

THE OTHER FELLER GOT AWAY WITH THE MONEY, BUT WE WAS ABLE TO CAPTURE POLEY.

HE SURRENDEREP HIMSELF TO YOUR CUSTODY? WHY, MARSHAL?

RECKON HE FIGGEREP GIVIN' UP HIS FREEDOM, BEAT GIVIN' UP THE GHOST, JUDGE!

SNUFFY SMITH

AST OL' DOC IF HE CRAVES TO PLAY SOME CHECKERS, NUSS.

HE'S GONE OFF.

HIS OL' RATTLE-TRAP IS OUT IN FRONT, MISS SNIPPY!! WHAR COULD HE GO TO?

TO NAPPY LAND, IF YOU'LL SHET VORE TATER TRAP!!

KERRY DRAKE

PLEASE HELP ME! HE'S TRYING TO KILL ME!

WH-WHAT'S GON' ON HERE, MISTER?

LET ME THROUGH, BLAST IT! THAT GIRL IS A THIEF!!

BUT JOHNNY'S VISITOR IS ALREADY AT THE FRONT DOOR!

BEETLE BAILEY

HEY! HOW COME BEETLE GOT TWO PORK CHOPS?!

PEANUTS

"DEAR FRIEND, THIS IS A CHAIN LETTER"

"COPY THIS LETTER SIX TIMES AND SEND IT TO SIX OF YOUR FRIENDS"

DEAR FRIEND, THIS IS A CHAIN LETTER.

SIX TIMES?!!

DICK TRACY

WE HAVE TO WALK UP A FLIGHT, MY DARLING. THE JUDGE IS ON THE SECOND FLOOR.

OH, TELL IT TO THE JUDGE. I DO, I DO. I DO!! TELL IT TO THE JUDGE, OH, I DO-DO-DO-

THIS IS MY WEDDING DAY. I COULD WALK UP TO FLIGHTS OF STEPS...

MARY WORTH

THE HOTEL IS EMPTY, OKER! LET'S GET THE BOATS OUT IN MID-STREAM WHERE IT'S SAFER!

THERE WERE SOME GUESTS WHICH I DON'T KNOW ABOUT! PERHAPS WE--

NO! THEY LEFT EARLY THIS MORNING. MR. TWISSG! COME ON!

HELP!!

REX MORGAN

YOU'D BETTER GET TO BED, AGATHA! IT'S LATE!

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

I'LL BE UP FOR A WHILE! I HAVE SOME WORK TO DO!

I'D LIKE TO SPEAK TO MISS WENDY MARLOW, PLEASE!

TERRY

HEY, MACHREE! MOST COLORS LOOK GOOD ON YOU-- BUT A PURPLE FACE? WHAT'S UP?

SOME IDIOT OF A POLITICIAN IN THE MIDDLE EAST HAS GOTTEN HIMSELF KIDNAPPED-- AND MY EDITOR WANTS ME TO COVER THE STORY.

GOT EVEN IN THE NEWSPAPER GAME A LITTLE HONEST TOIL IS OCCASIONALLY REQUIRED.

PON'T LOOK SO SMUG, LEE! I WAS PLANNING ON SPENDING A FEW DAYS BEING IRRESISTIBLE TO YOU... YOU'D HAVE ENJOYED IT.

ON THAT SUBJECT GOLDEN BOY IT WOULD BE UNHEALTHY FOR YOU TO EVEN THINK OF THAT TOO-PRETTY, TOO-NOBLE DOCTOR TILES AS MY SUBSTITUTE!

SMITTY

I'M READY, SMITS!

AA! I SUGGESTED WALKING INSTEAD OF RIDING, SO SHE WON'T SEE THE DENT IN THE CAR!

WONDER IF SHE SUSPECTS ANYTHING. I'M WORRIED--

HI, GINNY! WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

NOTHING!

MOON MULLINS

$9.50?? BUT YOU WERE ONLY HERE 10 MINUTES!

YEH, BUT ONE HOUR'S OUR MINIMUM CHARGE-- SWEETHEART.

FREEZE!!

YER HOUR AIN'T UP

JUMBLE -- that scrambled word game

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

JAROM

ORNOH

SOLUBE

DAMTLE

Print the SURPRISE ANSWER here: "OOOO"

(Answers tomorrow)

Yesterday's Jumbles: HOARD DECAY PEOPLE CHORUS

Answer: How the fast Chinese butcher cut the meat -- "CHOP-CHOP"

GRANDMA

MY, YOU'RE A TALL YOUNGSTER... DO I KNOW YOU?

IT'S ME, GRANDMA... MR. OTIS, THE MAILMAN.

I'M WEARING THIS BOX I FOUND IN THE ALLEY...

... 'CAUSE I FORGOT MY RAINCOAT TODAY!

Big Spring

To Ann Pre... just after s... winning the... ment in Dal... Campsil. E

Tra Da

BALTIMOR... vision viewe... urday will se... cus racing... Stakes than... do all week.

Trainer Pr... following th... plan with Dr... with Tom R... He'll do his... race course... truck over a... the $150,000-... back home b...

If Damas... Tom Rolfe... there will be... ley's system... in, ran off... and went on... year-old of l...

Damasus... leed one T... ance-by fin... Kentucky D... the betting... trailed John... Clarion and

LO 'EM

Sports d... CASEY... "I wa... passes in LARRY... "Some... on athletic... competition... Howard C... track.

FRANK... grid mentor... "Bob... football c... college fo... lize that th... man of t... other ma... growing t... would no... practice... practices of football... per cent... any situa... true. Sec... and third... planning... philosoph...

Golfer l... "I do... give you

WILLI... discussing... "I ca... ever try... don't for... something... lots of ts

PHILA... "Mat... kind of... makes a Coach... long after... "We... we've ha... fumbles

ATLAI... "Hai... as a bon... of the... he didn't... reconstr... that he... his side.

Champagne Shower

Jo Ann Prentice gets doused with champagne after she putted on the 18th hole, winning the Dallas Civitan Open Golf Tournament in Dallas yesterday, by excited fan Joe Campisi. Enjoying the escapade is Kathy Whitworth, right, who played in the three-some. Miss Prentice shot a closing four-over-par 75 with a 72-hole total of 281. (AP Wire-Photo)

Trainer Is Keeping Damascus In Hiding

BALTIMORE (AP) — A television viewer in California Saturday will see more of Damascus racing in the Preakness Stakes than regulars at Pimlico do all week.

Trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. is following the same seclusion plan with Damascus as he did with Tom Rolfe two years ago. He'll do his training at Laurel race course, 25 miles away, truck over a few hours before the $150,000-added race and be back home before dark.

If Damascus can duplicate Tom Rolfe's 1965 performance, there will be no faulting Whiteley's system. Tom Rolfe sneaked in, ran off with the Preakness and went on to be voted best 3-year-old of his year.

Damascus already has paralleled one Tom Rolfe performance by finishing third in the Kentucky Derby. He went off the betting favorite May 6, but trailed John Galbreath's Proud Clarion and Barbs Delight, both of whom will tackle the 1 3/16-mile Preakness.

Whiteley, who never uses two words when one will suffice or one when none will do, confirmed he has the same plans for Damascus as Tom Rolfe. The brief telephone conversation:

"Will you bring him over to Pimlico during the week?"

"I doubt it very much."

"How long before the race will you bring him on Saturday?"

"I couldn't say that right now."

"Are you going to work him out at Laurel?"

"Ease him today or Wednesday."

"Well, if he does the same as Tom Rolfe, you'll be all right."

"If I'm lucky, yes."

Whiteley did work out Tom Rolfe at Pimlico a couple of days before his Preakness victory. But he did so under an assumed name.

Not long after nailing down the Preakness first prize of $128,000, Tom Rolfe was in a truck headed back to Laurel. In the front seat, holding on his lap a reproduction of the Woodlawn Vase, which has been a racing trophy since 1860, was Whiteley.

The trainer is a native of Maryland, a real homebody. While Damascus was born in Kentucky, the son-of-Sword Dancer and Kerala, he has other Maryland connections.

He is owned partly by Mrs. Thomas Bancroft, who lives near Sandy Spring, Md. It is far from the town of Damascus.

The jockey silks are among the oldest and most famous in racing, the red polka dots on a white background of the late William Woodward Sr. He is a former chairman of the Jockey Club, overseer of horse racing in the United States, and once proprietor of the famous Belair Stud Farm in southern Maryland.

His 84-year-old widow is the other owner of Damascus.

Whiteley did work out Tom Rolfe at Pimlico a couple of days before his Preakness victory. But he did so under an assumed name.

Not long after nailing down the Preakness first prize of $128,000, Tom Rolfe was in a truck headed back to Laurel. In the front seat, holding on his lap a reproduction of the Woodlawn Vase, which has been a racing trophy since 1860, was Whiteley.

The trainer is a native of Maryland, a real homebody. While Damascus was born in Kentucky, the son-of-Sword Dancer and Kerala, he has other Maryland connections.

He is owned partly by Mrs. Thomas Bancroft, who lives near Sandy Spring, Md. It is far from the town of Damascus.

The jockey silks are among the oldest and most famous in racing, the red polka dots on a white background of the late William Woodward Sr. He is a former chairman of the Jockey Club, overseer of horse racing in the United States, and once proprietor of the famous Belair Stud Farm in southern Maryland.

Epstein Heads Home To Begin New Career

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Epstein, a talented baseball player with an offer to become a professional wrestler, heads home today for a public relations job.

The Baltimore Orioles thought the 24-year-old slugger had almost unlimited potential in baseball.

So did Epstein, who thought he was ready this season for the major leagues and balked at being ordered back to Rochester of the International League on 24-hour recall.

Harry Dalton, the Orioles' director of player personnel, said Monday the club expected big things from Epstein in the future and would trade him this season "only if he could improve our major league club with a player of outstanding caliber."

Dalton said he sympathized with Epstein's desire to play in the major leagues now, but added, "We cannot operate our ball club to satisfy his wants alone."

But Dalton did say Epstein would be traded early next season if he had not yet made the Baltimore club.

"We sincerely feel that Mike is weakening his chances of being dealt off to another major league club by going home," Dalton said in a lengthy statement issued Monday night by the club's front office.

Dalton at the time was with the team in Boston, and Epstein was completing a visit with relatives in New York.

"The Baltimore club is not so rich in talent that it can afford to trade players because in any one year it does not have a regular position for them to play," the statement said.

"There are quite a few players in our organization, both at a major and minor league level, who are not playing regularly for the Orioles, but could be regulars on other big league clubs."

A source in New York said Epstein reiterated his plan to call it quits, and said he would begin driving to the West Coast today.

Pending further word from Epstein, the Rochester team will place him on the suspended list, and halt payment on his salary, estimated at about $9,000 for the 1967 season.

While Epstein was in New York, he was offered a wrestling contract by promoter Willie Gilzenberg of Newark, N.J., who said the Orioles' rookie would be "sure-fire at the box office."

"If Torres doesn't knock him out or soften him up in the first three rounds then I don't think he'll win," Roger Rouse said today.

"You better root for me," Torres said to Rouse. "We'll do more business. I'm gonna knock him out within 10 rounds."

Rouse is the No. 1 contender from Anaconda, Mont. He has been promised a shot at the winner within 90 days.

"I've been waiting so long for a title shot that I'm losing my hair," said the Westerner. "I may be the first fighter ever to wear a wig in the ring for a title fight."

Torres is a 9-5 favorite to regain the 175-pound division crown he lost to the 37-year-old Tiger on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds at the Garden last Dec. 16.

The 31-year-old Puerto Rican was a 3-1 favorite when he was soundly whipped by the older, shorter and lighter Tiger. The veteran Nigerian had been dethroned as middleweight (160 pounds) champion eight months earlier by Emile Griffith.

The first Torres-Tiger fight drew a crowd of 13,654 and a gross gate of $100,488 plus $60,000 for television.

This time the Garden is looking for a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of between $75,000 and $100,000 plus another $60,000 for national television. New York will be blacked out of the television. Starting time is 9 p.m., CDT.

The first fight lacked knockdowns and real excitement, hence, the expected smaller crowd.

Tiger, outweighed 175 pounds to 167, took the play in the first two rounds in a surprising turnabout, wore down the sluggish Torres in the middle rounds with his body punching and finished strongly.

It was Torres' first loss in three years and snapped a 13-fight victory streak.

The general opinion among the experts agreed with Rouse — if Torres doesn't get away quickly, against a fighter who never has been stopped, he probably will lose.

In a National Minor Little League game here Monday, the Tigers counted in every inning to topple the Scotties, 18-2.

Roger Battle-fashioned the hill success for the Tigers, who have won seven straight decisions. The Scotties are 3-4.

The Tigers had two big innings, opening up with six runs in the first and crossing six more across the last time they ventured plateward.

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes have won the right to represent District 3-AAA baseball playoffs.

The Tornadoes defeated Snyder, 3-0, here Saturday to earn the title. Terry Davis outduelled Roy Davis on the mound to notch the win.

Each hurler yielded only three hits but one of Lamesa's blows was a two-run homer in the fourth by catcher Louis Jenkins.

Clemente Red Hot But Redlegs Win

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Staff Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates were marking time until Roberto Clemente's next trip to the plate.

But Cincinnati's Tony Perez got there first, leaving Clemente with a night to remember — and an empty feeling.

Perez' run-scoring double in the 10th inning gave the National League-leading Reds an 8-7 victory over the Pirates — and nullified the biggest single-game spree of Clemente's career.

The Pittsburgh superstar drove in all of his team's runs with three towering homers and a double, moving in the league lead in both batting and run production.

"This is the biggest day I ever had — in a game that we lost," he sighed. "I've never hit three homers in a game before. I wish we had won it."

Clemente, whose batting average soared to .390 while his RBI mark jumped to 24, socked a bases-empty homer in the ninth inning that capped the personal binge and gave the Pirates a 7-5 lead.

But Lee May's two-run homer pulled the Reds even in the fourth of the ninth and Perez' fourth hit — a booming drive to dead center field off reliever Juan Pizarro in the 10th — knocked in the winning run.

While Cincinnati moved three games ahead of the second-place Pirates, the Houston Astros ended a five-game tailspin by edging Los Angeles 5-3 on Bob Aspromonte's two-run triple in the 10th inning.

Ernie Banks' three-run homer and two-run blasts by Lee Thomas and Billy Williams carried the Chicago Cubs to a 9-3 victory over San Francisco in an afternoon game. New York and Atlanta were rained out.

Kansas City trimmed California 5-2 in the American League while two games—Baltimore at Boston and Detroit at Washington—were postponed because of rain.

Clemente lashed two-run homers off Milt Pappas in the first and fifth innings, sending Pittsburgh ahead 4-0, then doubled two runs across in the seventh before slamming his sixth homer of the year in the ninth.

The Reds scored three runs in the sixth, knocking out Pirate starter Bob Veale, and added two more in the seventh on Perez' run-scoring double and an RBI single by May.

Perez singled before May's tying homer in the ninth, then delivered the winning hit with two on in the 10th.

The Astros lagged LA relief ace Phil Regan with his first loss in almost a year. Regan had won 15 straight since last May 13.

He came on at the start of the 10th, gave up a single by Joe Morgan and retired the next two hitters before walking Rusty Staub intentionally to get at Aspromonte.

HOUSTON LOS ANGELES

R. Davis lf 0 0 0 Parker 1b 0 0 0

N. Miller ph 0 0 0 Hunt 2b 4 1 0

L. Davis lf 0 0 0 W. Davis 2b 1 0 0

R. Jackson ss 5 0 0 Fairly rf 4 0 1

Morgan 2b 5 0 0 G. Morgan 2b 1 0 0

Wynn cf 4 1 1 Roseboro c 3 0 1

Harrison lb 4 0 0 Ferraro ph 0 0 0

Mathews lf 1 0 0 Torborg c 0 0 0

Slough rf 4 1 1 Berry lf 4 0 0

Boyer c 4 0 1 R. Miller ph 0 0 0

L. Little pr 0 0 0 Perronelli c 0 0 0

Schmidt p 0 0 0 R. Miller ph 0 0 0

Glustl p 3 0 1 Regan p 0 0 0

Schneider p 0 0 0 Sempra p 1 0 0

W. Davis lf 0 0 0

W. Davis lf 0 0 0

W. Davis lf 0 0 0

W. Davis lf 0 0 0

W. Davis lf 0 0 0

Defensive Lapses Costly To City

es-loaded home run for Morton's in the second inning and Morton's had no trouble thereafter.

Lee and Jim Ward emerged as the game's leading hitters, connecting for three blows each.

Jimmy Roger and Ronnie Dale Smith smashed four-masters for Morton's while Roy New lashed a round-tripper for Reed's.

Morton's ob r h bi Reed ob r h bi

Davis 2b 3 1 0 Sorley lf 4 0 1

Coe rf 3 1 3 Mitchell lf 4 1 0

Shuck lb 4 0 0 Cox c 4 0 1

Thomas cf 1 0 0 Moore lf 3 0 1

Roger cf 3 1 2 Comp p 2 0 0

Smith ss 4 1 1 Long 1b 0 0 0

Dodson 2b 4 0 0 Mims 2b 3 0 1

Jackson lf 1 1 0 Linman cf 1 0 0

Ward p 4 1 3 Boedie 1b 2 0 0

Totals 31 10 10 Totals 15 6 7

Reed's ob r h bi Web ob r h bi

Mendoza ss 2 2 0 Rankin ss 2 2 0

Aristo cf 4 2 3 Rhoden cf 4 2 2

R. Roger 2b 4 1 1 Spears 3b 2 2 1

T. Roger cf 4 2 2 Thomas c 4 0 1

Owens c 3 0 0 O'Dell pr 0 1 0

Conrad 2b 0 0 0 Johnson 2b 3 0 1

Moore lf 2 0 0 Moore lf 2 0 0

Ward p 2 0 0 Moore lf 2 0 0

Totals 28 9 7 Totals 20 7 7

City ob r h bi Web ob r h bi

Reed's ob r h bi Rankin ss 2 2 0

Aristo cf 4 2 3 Rhoden cf 4 2 2

R. Roger 2b 4 1 1 Spears 3b 2 2 1

T. Roger cf 4 2 2 Thomas c 4 0 1

Owens c 3 0 0 O'Dell pr 0 1 0

Conrad 2b 0 0 0 Johnson 2b 3 0 1

Moore lf 2 0 0 Moore lf 2 0 0

Ward p 2 0 0 Moore lf 2 0 0

Totals 28 9 7 Totals 20 7 7

City ob r h bi Web ob r h bi

Reed's ob r h bi Rankin ss 2 2 0

Aristo cf 4 2 3 Rhoden cf 4 2 2

R. Roger 2b 4 1 1 Spears 3b 2 2 1

BIG LEAGUE STANDOUTS

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting (40 of bats) — Kalline, Det., .347; F. Robinson, Balt., .336.

Runs — Tovar, Minn., 22; Kalline, Det., 21.

Runs batted in — Kalline, Det., 22; Frenhan, Det., 21.

Home runs — Frenhan, Det., 7; Kalline, Det., 7.

Slain bases — Agee, Chic., 10; B. Berra, Chic., 8; Campaneris, K. C., 8.

Pitching (4 decisions) — Horan, Chic., 4-0; 1.000; D. Chance, Minn., 3-1; 2.50.

Strikouts — Peters, Chic., 8; D. Chance, Minn., 4.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting (40 of bats) — Clemente, Pitt., .390; Robinson, Houston, .366.

Runs — Aaron, Atl., 24; Clemente, Pitt., 23.

Runs batted in — Clemente, Pitt., 24; Aaron, Atl., 23.

Home runs — Aaron, Atl., 4; Clemente, Pitt., 3.

Slain bases — Brock, St. L., 12; Harper, Cin., 9.

Pitching (4 decisions) — Holtzman, Chic., 4-0; 1.000; Yanez, Pitt., 3-0; 1.000.

Strikouts — Horan, Chic., 8; Holtzman, Chic., 8.

Yankees Rip Cards, 13-7

Nathan Poss clubbed his second home run in two games and diminutive Pete LaRochele notched the victory as the Yankees mauled the Cardinals, 13-7, in National Little League play here Monday evening.

The Yankees are 5-2 in the race while the Cardinals have won once in seven assignments.

Poss banged out two of his team's four hits. Ken Scott crashed out two safeties for the losers.

The game was close until the third, when the Yanks struck for six runs. The contest was called after five innings of play, when the league curfew was invoked.

Yankees ob r h Cardinals ob r h

Butler lf 4 0 0 Scott 2b 2 2 1

Highley 2b 4 3 1 Abbe 3b 4 1 1

Poss ss 4 0 2 Stewart c 1 0 0

Doves c 4 0 2 Burchell ss 1 0 0

Loftis lf 1 1 0 Jones p 1 0 0

Guin 1b 2 0 0 Morgan rf 0 0 0

McFaul cf 2 0 0 Burger rf 1 0 0

Boulton 2b 0 0 0 Eggleston 1b 0 0 0

Criden rf 0 0 0 Campbell 1b 0 0 0

Criden p 0 0 0 Mathews cf 0 0 0

Dunne lf 0 0 0 Burchell rf 1 1 0

Smith rf 0 1 0 Swartz 2b 1 0 0

Totals 38 13 7 Totals 16 7 7

Yankees ob r h Cardinals ob r h

Butler lf 4 0 0 Scott 2b 2 2 1

Highley 2b 4 3 1 Abbe 3b 4 1 1

Poss ss 4 0 2 Stewart c 1 0 0

Doves c 4 0 2 Burchell ss 1 0 0

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: CASEY STENGEL, the former big leaguer:

"I was such a dangerous hitter, I even got intentional passes in batting practice."

LARRY McCOLLOCH, athletic director at Odessa College:

"Some of the schools are looking for ways to cut down on athletic funds. Amarillo College has dropped out of track competition. I wouldn't be surprised if Howard County didn't eventually give up track."

FRANK BROYLES, University of Arkansas grid mentor:

"Bobby Dodd (retiring Georgia Tech football coach) likely saved the game of college football. Bobby was the first to realize that the head coach should be the chairman of the board. He knew before any other man in his profession that with the growing demands of the classroom, there would not be time for the conventional, grueling system of practice. He delegated authority, he had the best organized practices in existence and I seriously doubt that the game of football could have survived any other way. Today, 98 per cent of all the schools in the country use his system. In any situation at any given time, his perspective was always true. Secondly, he had a unique ability to inspire confidence and third, he was always creative, always original in game planning or life itself. Football-for-fun — Dodd's own unique philosophy — is so much better than football-for-torture."

Golfer DOUG SANDERS, when approached by a woman fan:

"I don't know about giving you my autograph but I will give you my telephone number."

WILLIE MAYS, star outfielder for the San Francisco Giants, discussing his stand-in, Ken Henderson:

"I can't get through to him. I tried once. That's all I ever try. I'm the kind of guy, if I don't get no response, I don't force myself. If he comes to me and wants to know something, I'll give him all the help in the world. He has lots of talent. It looks like he'll play centerfield after me."

PHILADELPHIA NEWS:

"Murry Wills brings to the Pittsburgh Pirates the same kind of chesty belligerence he brought to the Dodgers. He makes a tough club tougher."

Coach DARRELL ROYAL of the University of Texas, not long after his team had started spring training:

"We've had injuries, we've had disciplinary problems, we've had some scholastic worries, and we're not even into fumbles yet."

ATLANTA JOURNAL:

"Hank Aaron has a significant fact in his favor. His pace as a home run hitter has quickened as he has aged. In three of the last five seasons he had hit 44 or more home runs, and he didn't really come into the National League intending to reconstruct homerun records. There is no assurance, even, that he will ever catch Willie Mays, but he does have age on his side. Willie is now 36. Aaron is three years younger."

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

STENGEL

Big Turnout Expected For Industrial Clinic

About 50 have indicated they will participate in the economic development clinic for Big Spring, slated Wednesday in the First Federal Savings and Loan building, and sponsored by the Texas Industrial Commission.

An outstanding panel of speakers will be on hand, including Harry W. Clark, executive director of the TIC; Jim Heath and Don Raburn, industrial consultants on the TIC staff; Oscar Castillon, manager of the area development division of Texas Electric Service Co.; Sam Godfrey, visitor director for the HemisFair 1968; Jake Street, director of special reports of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; and C. H. Rainwater, division manager for Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

EARLY START
Participants will meet at 8:30 a.m. at First Federal and leave on a tour of the city, returning at 9:55 a.m. for the beginning of the program.

Heath will open the program and Clark will discuss "five steps in planning for industrial development" and "building strong civic leadership." Castillon will follow with a discussion of "using your research" and "candidate industries for Big Spring."

Raburn will talk on "industrial financing and evaluating prospects;" Street will discuss "preparing for industry through alignment with the WTCC"; and Godfrey will outline "developing your tourist potential."

NOON
During the noon luncheon at the Settles Hotel, Clark will speak on "the leader's role in industrial development."

The meeting will resume at 1:50 p.m. at First Federal with Rainwater discussing "working with your allies"; Raburn de-

JAMES E. HEATH

HARRY W. CLARK

SAM GODFREY

DONALD R. RABURN

the Southern Association of State Planning and Development Agencies, and he is currently vice chairman of the Texas Air Control Board. He was one of the founders of the Texas Industrial Development Council and in 1961 was chairman of the Dallas Area Industrial Development Association.

Prior to moving to Texas, he was vice president of Fantus Area Research, Inc., specializing in finding plant locations for industry. Texas was designated as the "state with the most effective industrial development program" by the Society of Industrial Realtors in 1963.

HEATH
Heath formerly served as manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and Iowa Park chamber, as well as staff executive on the Wichita Falls chamber. He joined the TIC in 1966 and serves as industrial consultant for West Texas.

RABURN
Raburn joined the TIC in 1965, previously serving as manager of the Farmers Branch chamber, when he served as a member of the Dallas Area Industrial Development Association. His duties involve working with Texas communities in industrial development efforts, and he is a member of the Texas Industrial Development Council, Southern Industrial Development Council, and Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association.

CASTILLON
Castillon has worked 11 years in area development for TESCO, and is a graduate of the Industrial Development Institute of the University of Oklahoma. He serves on the industrial development committee and tourist development committee of the WTCC; and is a member of the North Texas Chapter of the American Marketing Association; the American Industrial Development Council; the Southern Industrial Development Council; the Texas Industrial Development Council and the area development committee of the Edison Electric Institute.

GODFREY
Since March 1, Godfrey has headed the guest relations department for HemisFair, previously serving as director of community relations for the Texas Tourist Development Agency. He previously was in the tourism field with American Airlines and an independent tour program at Dallas.

Veteran Newsman Is Cancer Victim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wally S. Griffin, 73, veteran Washington newsman, died Monday of cancer, Griffin, founder in 1922 of the Griffin News Bureau, now the Griffin-Larrabee News Bureau, had been active as a newsman for more than 40 years.

Some seven miles of the cavern have been charted; the end is not yet in sight. Archeologists know only that this is a major cavern with an unusual array of color. A strong possibility exists that still other cavern rooms lie below the presently known cavern network. A museum collection of rare fossil remains of pre-historic Ice-Age animals has been removed and placed on exhibit. Among the specimens: an extinct form of camel, remains of a giant Mastodon, a dire wolf, and a Glyptodon. Complete remains of a pre-historic javelina have been carefully removed by an archeological team since the peak of the tourist season last year.

The entrance is less than 100 yards off I-35, some 27 miles north of Austin — cable cars transport visitors into and out of the cavern.

Caverns Open Second Season

Inner Space Cavern expects 100,000 visitors this year as it moves into its second season. The unique underground theater at Georgetown drew visitors at the rate of 75,000 last year as it was rushed to its opening in the waning months of the tourist season.

This is the cavern that was added to the state's list of year-around family tourist attractions by accident: highway crews surveying the route for the Pan American Highway — Interstate 35 — drilled into the cavern's present-day Outer Cathedral Room as they made exploratory tests. When the drilling bit suddenly crunched, the core hole was enlarged. Men descended into a fascinating world that had been closed off for uncounted centuries.

Some seven miles of the cavern have been charted; the end is not yet in sight. Archeologists know only that this is a major cavern with an unusual array of color. A strong possibility exists that still other cavern rooms lie below the presently known cavern network. A museum collection of rare fossil remains of pre-historic Ice-Age animals has been removed and placed on exhibit. Among the specimens: an extinct form of camel, remains of a giant Mastodon, a dire wolf, and a Glyptodon. Complete remains of a pre-historic javelina have been carefully removed by an archeological team since the peak of the tourist season last year.

scribing "evaluating and securing industrial sites and buildings"; Heath talking on "community promotion program and personalized prospect presentation"; and Clark summing up with "finding industrial prospects and using the TIC mailing system."

Priority projects for Big Spring — program participants and a question and answer period will wind up the meeting by 4 p.m.

Clark is a nationally known industrial developer, and has been TIC executive director since January, 1962. He has been active in the field since 1938, formerly affiliated with the Texas Power and Light Co. and the Texas & Pacific Railway Co.

HONOR AWARD
In 1954 he served as president of the Southern Industrial Development Council, and in 1957-58 he was president of the American Industrial Development Council. In 1962, the latter organization named him a

Dallas To Fill That Giant Hole

DALLAS (AP) — The city will begin filling that hole in Elm Street about June 1, City Manager Scott McDonald says.

A temporary surface will allow downtown thoroughfare to be opened to traffic about July 15, he added.

The City Council allocated $46,951 Monday to pay for packing 9,500 cubic yards of dirt into the void between Field and Griffin Streets.

That portion of Elm Street caved in Jan. 11 along the 65-foot-deep excavation of the One Main Place project. Since that time, engineers have determined the cause — slippage of a subterranean fault — and taken steps to prevent a recurrence.

Long slender rock piers have been inserted into the rock to connect the faces of the fault. A concrete slab is now being poured on top of the rock foundation some 30 feet below street level.

ENJOY DINING IN BIG SPRING'S UNIQUE K.C. STEAK HOUSE FINEST OF STEAKS AND SEAFOODS Open Mon.-Sat. At 5 P.M. West IS 20 AM 3-1651 (North Service Road)

More Fun For Everyone Go Out To A Movie

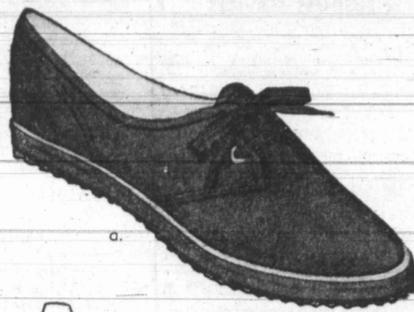

Ritz Today & Wednes. Open 12:45

PAUL NEWMAN WOMBRE

JET Drive In SAN ANGELO HI-WAY

Any Wednesday JANE FONDA JASON ROBERTS DEAN JONES ROSEMARY MURPHY

Wouldn't you really rather drive a bargain? Buick Bargain Days are here!

SUMMERTIME CASUALS BY RED BALL

Fun and sun go together... so do the colors and fresh cotton fabric that make these Red Ball Casuals so popular... fact is they are a must for your summertime wardrobe.

- a. White, mint green or carrot stick orange, 6.00
- b. Pink, white, yellow, beige or powder blue, 5.00

Hemphill-Wells

Johnson Administration Gearing For Long War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration gradually is gearing its money operations—including the national debt—for a Vietnam war lasting at least as long as the U.S. involvement in World War II.

A request Monday to Congress for a permanent debt ceiling of $365 billion to carry the government through June 30, 1969, was one of several recent moves in that direction.

They also include President Johnson's request for a six percent income tax surtax, sales of new "freedom share" savings bonds pegged directly to the length of the war and a voluntary program to stem the flow of investment dollars overseas.

World War II fighting began for the United States Dec. 7, 1941, and ended with Japan's surrender Aug. 14, 1945.

TROOP BUILDUP

The U.S. troop buildup in Vietnam reached major scale in mid-1965 and administration fiscal planning now runs through June 30, 1969.

The implication for the national debt was clear in Fowler's appearance Monday before the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I am here to talk about financing a war. It is a costly war and it must be financed in a manner consistent with preserving sound, balanced and fruitful economic growth at home," he said.

In recommending a permanent debt ceiling of $365 billion, Fowler said World War II provided a precedent for large debt limit increases to insure the ceiling "would not be a constraint on necessary wartime finance."

'FREEDOM SHARES'

The present temporary ceiling of $336 billion will drop to $285 billion, the current permanent level, on July 1 unless Congress acts. The actual debt as of May 10—the latest date for which a figure is available—was $328.4 billion.

In proposing the surtax, Johnson pegged its length at either two years—which would carry it to June 30, 1969—or as long as the war lasted.

The "freedom shares" went on sale May 1 to persons buying Series E bonds on the payroll savings or bond-a-month plans. They pay 4.74 per cent interest

Jury Selection For Damage Suit

A jury was being selected this morning to try a damage suit in the 118th District Court.

The case is styled Jack Vaughan et al vs. Clarence Albert Cox. It is the result of a mishap which occurred Oct. 8, 1965.

The case, which was called for trial Monday — Webb AFB Credit Union vs. William T. Chrane and others — came to a sudden end just before the jurors were qualified for trial. The plaintiff and defendant agreed to withdraw the case from the court jury docket and try it later before the court.

The jury panel was excused with instructions to report at 10 a.m. today.

Cotton Week MAY 15-20

Cool Cottons... for Spring...

Slip type skinny straps from front to back. Made of 100% cotton pique with built-in figure form. Black with a white panel front. Sizes 5 to 15 14.00

Swartz jr shop

School Meet Is Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is expected to seek grass roots support today for its embattled school aid bill as more than 90 educators and school officials open a two-day conference on federal support of big city education.

Harold Howe II, commissioner of education, and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey are making opening day speeches to the conference. Sources said they would reaffirm the administration's resolve to press for desegregation and also ask support of the $6.7-billion, two-year school aid bill.

The measure has run into strong opposition from Southern Democrats and some Republicans backing a different version that will continue the massive federal aid to education but shift the responsibility for administering it to the states.

President Johnson has said the GOP-endorsed proposal would wreck federal aid to elementary and secondary education.

'Safe' Auto Race For Teens Booked

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The auto race scheduled Friday in the Milwaukee Stadium parking lot for teenagers may prove to be the safest contest on wheels.

High school students, organized in 20-member teams, will push small foreign cars for two hours around the track with engines off.

Dear Abby Time For Dad To Shape Up

DEAR ABBY: My husband spends every holiday — Easter, Thanksgiving, Christmas, etc. — with his ex-wife and their three children. When I grumble because I and my two children by a former marriage are left alone, he says, "Why don't you get YOUR children's father to come and spend the holidays with you and HIS children the way I do?"

I want to be fair, Abby, but I also want to be treated fairly. Where do you think my husband's loyalties should lie?

ACHING HEART
DEAR ACHING: How old are his children? And how old are yours? A man who marries a woman with young children (under 10) should assume the role of a father to those children. And if he has young children of his own (and if their mother hasn't already replaced him with another "father") he should see them occasionally, too.

But a man who is seriously trying to make a second marriage work should concentrate on being a father to the children of his present wife. Running back and forth (usually out of a sense of guilt) confuses the kiddies and embitters the wife.

DEAR ABBY: I feel that a 17-year-old girl should be allowed to shut her bedroom door if she chooses.

My mother and I live alone in a four-room house and I am not allowed to shut my bedroom door unless I am studying. My mother claims that I am "shutting her out."

Abby, I love my mother very much, and I am not "shutting her out." I just want a little privacy.

My mother is very fair about almost everything except this.

Please print your answer. If you say I am wrong, I'll promise to do as you say with no more arguments. When I try to discuss it with my mother we both end up stretching our vocal cords. Thank you.

SEVENTEEN
DEAR SEVENTEEN: I think you should be allowed to shut your bedroom door whenever you wish.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my father-in-law. He can't keep his creeping hands off me. I am 24 years old, happily married and am not particularly sexy-looking, and I in no way encourage his advances. No one would believe he is this kind of person. They would say he is only giving me "fatherly pats," but I know better.

I have a father of my own and he doesn't act this way. My father-in-law twists every remark to make it sound dirty and he tries to corner me to squeeze and kiss me. (Molesting is what it actually is!)

I don't want to cause a family fight, but I just hate being in this dirty old man's company. What can I do? He is 60, which is old enough to know better.

MOLESTED
DEAR MOLESTED: Your father-in-law is either a "dirty old man" or he could be sick. Give him fair warning that if he touches you again, you'll tell your husband. And if he does — tell your husband.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.