Thanks, Uncle Arabs Sent $2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has sent more than $2 billion in aid since World War II to five Arab nations involved in the current Middle East crisis with neighboring Israel.

That's nearly twice the dollar value of all forms of U.S. government aid to Israel.

But unlike the Arab nations, Israel has in the United States private sources of aid and financing that have provided the Jewish homeland funds at least equaling the total of U.S. government help to Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Yemen and the United Arab Republic.

Outright Grants

Military aid of $277.8 million included in the total for Israel's Arab neighbors has gone almost entirely to Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

Most of Jordan's $66 million has been outright grants of money and excess American military equipment. But government records show substantial portions of the $517.2 million in economic aid for Jordan has gone into construction of roads and facilities planned to bolster the kingdom's defense position.

Jordan Burden

A decade ago the United States took over from Britain most of the burden of supporting Jordan. American support has continued, a handbook of the Agency for International Development states, because of "the danger that Jordan's dismemberment might produce violence throughout the area."

Military aid for Jordan compares with $27.6 million for Israel, all in credit assistance to help Israel buy arms.

Saudi Arabia has received $161.7 million in military assistance against $47.4 of economic aid. But 60 per cent of the total has been in the form of loans or credits.

Military Millions

Only $100,000 of the $73.3 million aid total for Syria has been for military purposes and more than one-half has been in loans.

All of the $41.8 million for Yemen has been outright gifts, with less than $50,000 allotted for military aid. U.S. aid to Yemen ended this spring, after the state arrested two American officials, who later were released on bail and then left the country.

Egypt has some of her best troops in Yemen, which has received an estimated $40 million in economic and defense support assistance from Red China and the Soviet Union since 1957.

Shipments Cease

The United States has aided Egypt to the tune of $1.13 billion—or more than half the total assistance to the Arab states of the Middle East.

All of this aid has been economic, and most has gone to Egypt through the Food for Peace program. Sale in Egypt of this food, mostly grains, has in turn generated local currency loans to the government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser and lesser amounts to Egyptian private industry.

As in many countries, the loans are repaid or credited to the account of the United States in local currencies and do not come back to Washington in the form of dollars.

Food shipments to Egypt ceased last June, but technical assistance valued at about $1.4 million continues. Also still underway is a $9.5-million program of feeding people, conducted through voluntary agencies working with the U.S. government.

Baccalaureate Sunday

Baccalaureate will be held at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Stadium for the 282 candidates for graduation from Big Spring High School.

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming, of Webb AFB, will deliver the senior sermon. Baccalaureate theme is "The great use of life is to spend it for something that outlasts it," by William James.

Choir Will Sing

The a cappella choir will sing "No Man Is An Island," under the direction of Mel Ivey, choir director. Kay Slater will read the scripture.

Lynn Anne Green will play the processional and Sherri Patricia Alexander the recessional. David Clint Thomas will give the invocation and Linda Gale Roberts the benediction.

Commencement exercises will be held Tuesday at 8:15 p.m., also in Memorial Stadium.

Vacation Pac

Don't lose out on all the local news when you go on vacation. The Herald again has for you the helpful VACATION-PAC, at no extra charge. All you have to do is call The Herald Circulation Department (AM 3-7331) and ask that your papers be held for you for any specified time. Scars Of Sorrow Cut Deep In Juda

JUDA, Wis. (AP)—Stiff and solemn in blue gowns, the survivors of Juda High School's senior class lined up for the baccalaureate march.

The first 16 were boys.

"You never can forget," said Donna Lehr, the class secretary. "It keeps coming back. Like Baccalaureate. We marched through the door and you see all the boys. Just boys. Then the girls in a small group."

"There's just you and six others."

"It's still hard to believe. It all seems so far fetched."

TAKES TOLL

The other nine girls in the senior class died in an inferno of burning fuel when a jet airliner crashed behind a motel in a suburb of New Orleans. They were visiting the city on their senior trip.

This is graduation week at Juda and strangely, at first, you see no evidence of grief.

"People aren't flying any black flags or anything," says Paul Matzke, the postmaster. "But it has taken its toll."

The scars of sorrow run deep among the 300 persons who inhabit this hilltop hamlet. They show themselves in small and subtle ways.

PETS MOURN

Principal Jerome Kalk keeps waking up each morning at one minute before five.

A mother stands in the dust near a barn and uses words like "is" and "does" as she talks of a daughter now dead nearly two months.

Even pets mourn. Joyce Kaderly's cat, the one with 27 toes, still prowls restlessly through the house at night.

Seventeen of the seniors sit in a classroom and talk to a stranger about themselves. Dan Leaver, the class valedictorian, says, "We were a close-knit group and this has made us closer. We are all friends and we try not to let it show where it hurts."

AD CLIPPED

"I was going through some of her things this morning and I found the jewelry store ad she had clipped, for diamond rings," said her mother, Mrs. Edward Kaderly, twisting a ring on her finger. It was Joyce's class ring.

Nancy Siegentahler was a homecoming princess. It was October and a bonfire blazed. She rode in a white convertible. Dan Leaver passed for one touchdown, ran for another. Juda beat New Glarus 20-14. The seniors danced until midnight.

"I'm so lucky," Nancy wrote once in an English essay.

Of the nine girls, only Nancy answered, "No," when the school newspaper asked seniors if they were anxious to graduate.

ALMOST TOO GOOD

Janice Siedschlag, 17, was anxious. She had so many plans. She had worked as a nurse's aide the past summer. She thought she might become a nurse or a teacher, or perhaps an airline stewardess.

"She was almost too good," her father said on the day she died. "She pulled more than her fair share of the work. Only one child like that comes along in a family. I almost wanted to hold her back."

Janice wrote in a psychology essay: "No, I can't say I'm a definite overachiever or underachiever. No, I'm not in a rut. I have so many things to do that I don't have time to get in a rut."

IT'S NOT EASY

The seniors will graduate tonight.

The ceremony will be in the school gymnasium, where memorial services were held for the nine girls on a rainy Sunday in April.

There will be diplomas for the parents of each victim.

"It's not easy," says Mrs. Harry Smith, mother of one of the girls. "It's pretty tough, I tell you. We all go to these things and we cry."

"It's like a funeral," said senior Ron Gruenberg. "You may not think about it all the time and maybe you will tell a joke afterwards and laugh a bit, but it's still in your mind."

For days after the March 30 accident, whenever the school band marched outside to practice in the spring warmth, Mrs. Smith would be gone from the yellow brick house on Main Street. Her daughter Nelva, 17, had been a baton twirler with the band.

WHISPERS

Seven girls were in the band. All nine were on the school newspaper staff, and from its pages, fragments of vignettes whisper of the past.

"Nelva, what's keeping you from writing that letter to Mike A.? Does college keep him too busy?"

There was once a summer day and Nelva was Juda's dairy queen, helping serve cheese at the Green County Fair. Mike was a boy from Shullsburg, who walked up to the booth. He went off that fall to begin his college studies at Platteville, but he and Nelva wrote every week.

Joyce Kaderly, 17, and her boy friend had a secret, a wedding date in July. He was a dairy farmer, out of school for two years.

Remap Measure Cuts Across County Lines

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas House reshuffled its districts Thursday to comply with a U. S. Supreme Court order, cutting across county boundaries for the first time in state history.

Senate action still is needed on the House redistricting bill.

Whether the Supreme Court or lower federal courts will accept the new House districts is open to question and will determine whether the legislature must revise the districts again in 1969.

BIG SPREAD

The Supreme Court found that the districts drawn in 1965 — also under federal court orders — varied in population by a spread of 26.48 per cent from the average. The new bill has a spread of 24.2 per cent.

Also in its February decision rejecting the Texas House districts, the court said Dallas and Bexar counties each had enough people for another representative. Only Dallas got an additional House member.

But the bill does away with so-called floral districts, declared unconstitutional by a lower federal court. It also reduces from 21 to 4 the number of districts that vary from the average — standard for the equal population, one-man-one-vote doctrine — by 10 per cent or more.

COURT HINTS

The 1965 bill created 11 floral districts. In such districts, a county with enough people for one or more representatives to itself shared an additional House member with another county to balance population. Travis County, for instance, had enough people for three members to itself, plus a fourth shared with Burnet County. Now Travis and Burnet counties will share all four.

Under advice from then-Attorney General Waggoner Carr, the 1965 bill provided only districts that fell within county boundaries.

The Supreme Court hinted, but did not say directly, that it might not consider respect for county boundaries adequate justification for under representation of city dwellers.

AFFECTS ECTOR

Six districts in the new bill comprise only parts of counties. The affected counties are Ector, McLennan, Bell, Grayson, Smith and Gregg.

To give Dallas County an additional representative, the bill takes away a member from the Lubbock area. Rep. Jesse George, Levelland, and the three Lubbock representatives were placed in a three-member district embracing Lubbock, Hockley and Terry counties.

George opposed this.

VOTED DOWN

"It makes it extremely difficult for a rural member from the West Texas area to be sent to Austin. It means if four members vie for three places, those three places would go to Lubbock County," George said.

His attempt to block an amendment, offered by the bill's sponsors, which created the three-county district with four incumbents, was voted down overwhelmingly. As originally drawn, George would have had a district to himself and the three Lubbock members would have had to campaign for two places if all sought reelection.

Rep. Gus Mutscher, Brenham, chairman of the House Redistricting Committee, said Bexar County had a population surplus of 48,000 — not quite enough for another member. The county's representatives, he said, were offered the chance for this surplus to go into a neighboring rural district but they refused.

In the 1965 bill, maximum deviations from average population were 14.84 per cent under (over representation) and 11.64 per cent over (under representation). The new bill contains maximums of 10.9 per cent over population and 13.3 per cent under population. The ideal population per member, based on the 1960 census, is about 64,000.

RECESSION

A reception was held in the recreation area of the Dora

Robertson Student Union Building following the ceremony.

The receiving line included Dr. Hunt, Dean Johnson, B. M. Keese, registrar, and their wives.

The college graduation committee in charge of planning, coordinating and conducting the actual ceremony was headed by Mrs. Dean Box.

Committee members were Dr. Hunt, Dean Johnson, Dr. Dawson DeViney, Wayne Bonner, Miss Anna Smith, Miss Movelda Rhine, Larry Nutter, Van Hale, and L. L. Lewis.

The 1967 class was the largest ever graduated from H.C.J.C., according to Dr. Hunt, with 51 associate in arts degrees and 15 applied arts degrees awarded.

Candidates for the associate in arts degree were Diann Amnett, John H. Bennett Jr., Jena Kay

Horse Racing Bill Advances

AUSTIN (AP) — The horse race bill that got a fast shuffle in the House Rules Committee Wednesday has won tentative approval by the House.

The bill calls for a referendum on the 1968 Democratic and Republican ballots on pari-mutuel betting. The referendum would have no legal effect. It would merely tell the legislature how voters feel about horse race betting.

The House voted 79-62 in favor of the bill Thursday. Another vote is necessary before the question will be put to the voters.

SON LIKE DAD

Only one representative spoke against the bill, Rep. Dave Alford of Wichita Falls, whose father, the late Gov. Jimmy Alford, called a special session of the legislature in 1937 to repeal the four-year old law authorizing pari-mutuel betting. The son said "a small group with personal interest" was behind the bill.

If pari-mutuel betting is revived, he said, "not only will the people of Texas lose at the betting windows, they will lose with the influx into the state of the undesirable elements that gambling draws."

VICE CHANCES

Alford quoted his father's answer in 1937 to the argument that morals cannot be legislated: "We are dedicated as a state to legislation seeking to remove so much as possible the opportunity for unbridled indulgences in vice."

A point of order was sustained against Alford on the ground he was "not addressing himself to the bill before the House."

He then prefaced a continuation of his father's 1937 message by saying he was talking about the bill before the House.

Haircut Almost Jails Teenager

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — David Minnick complied with a school edict and almost got jailed.

Minnick, 15, was one of a group of boys sent home from Tom Browne Junior High School to get a haircut.

The barber gave him a regular haircut Thursday, but then his neighbors didn't recognize him and thought a stranger was burglarizing the Minnick home. Four squad cars answered the burglary call.

"Hey, I live here!" the boy said as he was being led from the house.

Neighbors, after a closer look, realized their mistake. David was set free.

Clouds Roam Over Texas

By The Associated Press

Clouds spread over much of Texas today with a promise of occasional showers in most sections by nightfall.

There was a low overcast along the coast this morning. High clouds covered western areas of the state while it was clear in parts of East Texas.

Despite the promise of moisture, little cooling appeared to be in prospect.

Top temperatures Thursday afternoon ranged up to 93 degrees at Presidio in the Big Bend country. Galveston on the coast was the coolest spot with a high of 80.

Readings early today were mostly in the 60s and 70s.

Extended forecasts, covering the next five days, promised still more showers and thunderstorms throughout the state during the weekend.

Walt Hints More GIs Are Needed

By The Associated Press

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, the commander of U.S. Marines in South Vietnam, says his Leathernecks in the northernmost provinces achieved a significant success by winning the confidence of the Vietnamese people in the area. But he indicates he feels more U.S. troops are needed there.

Walt, who is leaving Vietnam June 1 after two years, said his men in the bloody fighting in the northwest corner of South Vietnam proved to the people, "that we can give them security and that we are willing to support their armed forces" in holding back Communist invasion.

"I think those recent battles up in the Khe Sanh area, and the demilitarized zone area have proven something to people here," he said in an interview.

The 54-year-old general is returning to Washington as personnel director for the Marine Corps. Indicating a need for more U.S. troops, he said there are nearly 500,000 Vietnamese in the 1st Corps Area—the northernmost provinces in his command—who lack adequate protection by government or allied forces. But he said the Marines have made the people there believe the government side is going to win. Before the Marine victories, he added, "the people didn't have confidence." "We have their confidence now," he continued. "They want us here. They want more of us here."

Cops Find Nude Body In Trunk

NEW YORK (AP) — Police found the battered nude body of a woman professor at Hunter College stuffed in the trunk of a car Thursday night. Detectives said she was dragged from the street and pummeled to death by a plumber in his basement apartment.

The body of Mrs. Eleana Gall, 55, a specialist in education, was discovered when police overtook the car during a 70 to 80 mile per-hour chase. Officers who captured three men had originally thought they were tracking burglary suspects.

The blue-eyed 5-foot 2-inch brunette was identified by her husband, Albert, who reported her missing Thursday. Mrs. Gall's bruised and cut body was wrapped in a burlap bag, her hand knotted behind her back with venetian blind cord.

Act Upgrades Standards Of State Realtors

Realtor Week in Texas included Gov. John Connally Tuesday signing into law amendments to the Real Estate License Act. The act upgrades the standards of proficiency required of real estate brokers and salesmen in Texas.

Real estate brokers will be required to show proof of 90 classroom or correspondence hours of actual real estate instruction before becoming brokers. Salesmen will be required to obtain 30 hours of instruction during their first year as salesmen on new applications made after Sept. 1.

Pleas C. Naylor of San Antonio, president of the 11,000-member Texas Real Estate Association, said of the bill, "This legislation is a new professional challenge for every broker and salesman in the state. We will do everything possible to live up to the high standards it sets out and to the Canons of Ethics which the state now demands be followed for the protection of property owners in Texas."

Harold Talbot is president of the local Board of Realtors.

Narcotics Squad Nabs Nine, LSD

AUSTIN (AP) — Narcotics agents made nine arrests in raids on seven houses and apartments Thursday night near the University of Texas.

They reported seizing supplies of LSD, mescaline, marijuana and other drugs. Authorities said none of those taken into custody was a university student.

Federal and state agents teamed with the entire narcotics squad of the Austin police department to make the raids. About 20 officers took part.

Charges were lodged against five persons.

Legion Slates Weekend Rehabilitation Parley

The American Legion Department of Texas will hold a special Rehabilitation Conference at the Big Spring VA Hospital Saturday and Sunday, especially tailored to fit the needs of the Legion Post Service Officers, but will be beneficial to County Service Officers, other post and district officers, and auxiliary members as well.

Special emphasis will be placed on veterans' hospitalization, child welfare programs, VA volunteer services, veterans' programs. Department Commander, Jack W. Flynn, will participate in the conference and on Sunday at 2 p.m. he will deliver the address at the Memorial Day services to be held on the VA Hospital lawn.

Chairman for the conference is Fred H. Ray Jr., department rehabilitation staff. Other American Legion officials participating will be: Paul Pennington and Mrs. Zeldia Rea, American Legion Hospital-VAVS representative and deputy representative; James H. Cornett, assistant veterans employment representative; Garland DeLamar, department rehabilitation staff; Charles Osborn, department chairman of child welfare; Ellis P. Schmid, 19th district commander; and the Rev. M. L. McNabb, department chaplain.

In addition to Donald D. Van Meter, VA Hospital director, several hospital staff members will serve on panels. These are Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff; Dr. Andrew W. Para, chief of outpatient service; C. E. McDonnell, chief of Medical Administrative service; Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of voluntary services; Harold L. Lyles, chief of social work service; John J. Clancy, clinical social worker; and Ray Boren, contact representative.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday in the hospital's main lobby with the conference scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. in the second-floor recreation hall. A tour of the hospital will complete Saturday's program. Sunday's schedule will begin at 8:30 a.m. with chapel services. Refreshments will be furnished by the American Legion Auxiliary, Post 355. At 2 p.m., the conference will recess in order that the conferees may attend and participate in the Memorial Day ceremonies.

Science And You The Up-to-Date Glue Pot

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

The old problem of "all the king's horses and all the king's men" not being able to put Humpty-Dumpty together again would probably be no problem at all today.

We've come a long way in the development of new adhesives. The problem of gluing a broken eggshell back together wouldn't be much of a challenge.

The new adhesives are the result of intensive research in chemistry and physics. Some of these remarkable materials are already common in the household, such as the epoxy cements.

Most of the new chemical adhesives are based on a process called polymerization. Molecules of a fluid get together and form long, strong chains. The result is a tough solid which sticks like mad to whatever is around during the polymerization. Old-fashioned glues, by contrast, usually depend on a solvent in which they are dissolved. The solvent evaporates, leaving the hard glue behind.

Since modern adhesives don't depend on solvents they can harden quickly in very tight quarters where there isn't any air to carry away solvent vapors. Amazing new processes have resulted from the newly-developed adhesives.

Chemists have taught some polymers not to start to set until they are robbed of air. Thus using this type of adhesive, nuts can be kept from backing off their bolts just by adding a little bit of polymer to the thread. When the nut is put on the adhesive is suffocated and bang! That nut will never come off. You get a lock-washer effect without the lock washer.

Another adhesive recently developed is made in sheets and kept under refrigeration until it's used. It's a hard material and is sliced up like bologna and cut to fit the parts to be fastened. When the polymer warms up to room temperature, it quickly sets.

There are several other triggering mechanisms that can be used to start these chemicals to forming bonds. One can do it with heat, or moisture, or even with electric currents.

Such tremendous versatility has not gone unnoticed by industry. Something like three-quarters of the skin of some airplanes is held on with adhesives! In some automobiles, 25 pounds of adhesives go into holding glass, trim, body panels and reinforcements in place. The new adhesives are finding their way into parts for prefabricated houses, into metal skis for the sportsman, and into electronic devices. They are even turning up in the human body itself. Special chemical adhesives are now being used to support broken bones until they mend. After they've knitted, the adhesive is dissolved in the body. Polymer adhesives are used to join severed veins and arteries. The glue pot has come a long way.

Canada's Expo Delights LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson publicly pronounced himself delighted and thrilled by Canada's Expo 67—but he was silent about the controversial U.S. pavilion.

Johnson spent 75 minutes at the exposition at Montreal on a fast, suddenly announced visit across the border Thursday.

For about 30 minutes he visited the 20-story plastic and steel geodesic dome housing American exhibits. The dome itself has been heralded widely as striking and magnificent.

The contents have been tabbed everything from marvelous to horrible.

Unlike one of his potential 1968 election rivals, Michigan Gov. George Romney—who emphatically criticized the contents—the President wasn't offering a nifty descriptive. Reporters trailing Johnson on a swift tour tossed a couple of questions about how he liked the pavilion. Either he didn't hear or chose to ignore them.

But how could he have known if he liked what he saw, at the pace he was going.

Johnson used up 10 minutes or so talking and presiding at the unveiling of a 100th anniversary gift from the American to the Canadian people—a 40-inch tall "Great Ring of Canada" of a bright steel and Steuben glass symbolizing the nation, its provinces and territories.

Then he set off afoot and aboard escalators, through various levels of interlaced platforms and exhibits.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday in the hospital's main lobby with the conference scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. in the second-floor recreation hall. A tour of the hospital will complete Saturday's program. Sunday's schedule will begin at 8:30 a.m. with chapel services. Refreshments will be furnished by the American Legion Auxiliary, Post 355. At 2 p.m., the conference will recess in order that the conferees may attend and participate in the Memorial Day ceremonies.

Bathrooms More Attractive Today

In many homes built 10 or more years ago, the bathrooms were small and the arrangement of the three basic fixtures — tub, lavatory and toilet — was standardized.

Today's bathroom is far different. The rooms are larger, more varied in shape, and there is greater flexibility in the arrangement of the furnishings.

Airlines are getting away from the traditional stewardess uniforms as these pretty girls attest. From left, they are Jeanne Kendall, 21, American; Mary Anne Touhy, 22, Western; Junko Kawai, Japan; and Sherron Goldizen, 22, Continental. The stewardesses are all for the change and say they don't feel out of style any more.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Combine Beer, Salt To Frost Windows

Dear Home Lovers: Many of us have a kitchen window, a bathroom window, etc., that doesn't have a good view.

Then while it is still thoroughly wet, go back and dab, dab and pat the pane with the wet tissue. It's going to look real messy.

covered our picnic table with it and thumb-tacked it down. Now the children draw and color on this paper and love the idea.

For instance, kitchen windows sometime look out on trash cans or alleys. Or perhaps you have other windows that you like to have light come through but don't want people seeing in.

To get an artistic pattern, this is exactly what you want. The most beautiful crystals will form on your window when it dries.

When one side is used, I just turn it over. . . . Reader

Why not frost them? This will only cost you a few cents per window. Furthermore, it even saves washing those windows each month because the rain marks and the dust on the outside do not show!

Light still comes through from God's sunshine, but you can't see IN from the outside, yet you can see OUT. Even the sun glare is reduced.

We had a problem of rust in our water and in doing the laundry all my clothes were stained yellow.

Buy some Epsom salts. Get the smallest jar you possibly can because it's going a long way when we dab our windows with it. This should cost you about 25 cents.

The one thing I must caution you about is: Your window panes must be CLEAN. I recommend washing them with some ammonia water to remove all the carbon, then wiping dry with facial tissues. Don't use a bath towel, a dish rag or a sponge because these contain a minute amount of grease or body oil.

I used a bleach to whiten, but all too late discovered that I had set the stains.

Let it set for at least 30 minutes. The salt crystals will partially dissolve.

When you want to remove the crystals, all you have to do is wash the window. Just plain water removes it.

Is there anything I can do to remove the stain from my clothes? . . . Emily Page

You will end up with a liquid that looks like absolutely nothing but it will make you an artist. And what an artist you're going to be!

Give it a try. You'll not only have fun doing it but you'll love the beautiful designs and enjoy the privacy too! . . . Heloise

Can anyone help Emily solve her problem? If so, please write us in care of this paper. We'd love to hear from you. . . . Heloise

So I bought an inexpensive roll of brown wrapping paper.

Often I run out of drawing paper for my children.

I discovered a marvelous substitute for cake coloring. . . . flavored gelatin! I dissolved two teaspoons of strawberry gelatin in a bit of hot water one day when I ran out of cake coloring. Lo and behold, it not only made an excellent pink-colored icing but a fine-flavored one as well. . . . C. Von Maluski

Other winners were Mrs. H. D. Steinhour, second high; and Mrs. Jack Affleck, special prize.

Mrs. Don Thompson was introduced as a new member, and guests were Mrs. Terry Burke and Mrs. Joe F. Daniel. Mrs. Bertis Harris presided and announced that a family picnic will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Webb Air Force Base pavilion.

Twenty attended. The next meeting will be a luncheon at Cosden Country Club at 9 a.m. on June 7.

Chapel Women Hold Installation Ceremony

The Protestant Women of the Chapel met at the NCO Open Mess Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. for a luncheon and installation of new officers. In a short business meeting preceding the installation, Mrs. Doug Wingate, retiring president, presented past officers and committee chairmen gifts in appreciation of their work.

The installation was conducted by Chaplain Robert Deming. As he presented the service, past officers gave lighted candles to new officers. Retiring officers were Mrs. Doug Wingate, president; and Mrs. Jimmie Shiner, secretary. New officers are Mrs. James Talbot, president; and Mrs. James Talbot, secretary. Mrs. Charles Aggen, vice president; and Mrs. William Mason, secretary.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. T. W. Black Jr., membership and visitation; Mrs. William Koehler, publicity and historian; Mrs. N. L. McDonald, service and projects; Mrs. Richard Formica, social; and Mrs. Robert Deming, spiritual life.

Following the installation, Mrs. Deming introduced Mrs. Gary Sims, president of Church Women United, who spoke on the purposes and projects of this organization. One project is the sponsorship of the West Side Center which gives underprivileged children a place to learn and play. The PWOC will be giving a birthday party for this group in July. Anyone interested in helping may contact Mrs. Richard Formica.

 3NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♠
 A substantial swing resulted when the above hand was dealt in a recent team-of-four match. Three no trump was reached with dispatch and the play began in the same manner at both tables. West opened the seven of spades. East put up the jack and South won the trick with the king. A diamond was led to the king and a small diamond returned, on which East was called to make a discard.

The defender at one table chose to part with the seven of hearts. Inasmuch as one diamond trick must be lost in order to establish the suit, South ducked the lead into West. The latter was somewhat reluctant to continue spades, for fear that the declarer still held a guarded queen and had merely been falsecarding when he won the opening lead with the king.

Hoping that his partner had a quick entry in hearts to make a spade play thru South, West shifted to the nine of hearts. South ran for cover with nine tricks—one spade, two hearts, four diamonds, and two clubs.

At the other table East devoted more thought to his discard when the second round of diamonds was led. By employing the rule of 11 at trick one, he had discovered that the declarer had only one card in spades that was higher than the seven. [The rule provides that when the card led is subtracted from 11, the remainder is equal to the number of cards in that suit—outside the leader's hand—which can beat the card led.]

By subtracting seven from 11—East determined that there were four outstanding spot cards higher than the seven. He was looking at three of them—the queen, jack, and nine—between his own hand and the dummy. South was, therefore, marked with only one higher card, which appeared on the opening lead.

East made good use of this information, for on the second round of diamonds he discarded the queen of spades, in order to clarify the picture for his partner. When West got in with the queen of diamonds, it became routine for him to cash out the spade suit and defeat the contract.

Dictatorship May Wipe Out Athens Boom

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Military dictatorship has failed to change the mixture of Eastern heritage and Western methods that make up the basic flavor of life in Greece.

Democracy no longer exists in this land that invented democracy more than 2,000 years ago, but the physical signs of impact of other democracies can be seen and felt everywhere.

Poverty is no longer the hopeless burden it once seemed to be. Though still one of the poorest members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Greece, until the military takeover, was having the greatest boom in its modern history.

TAVERNS PACKED
 Even under dictatorship Athens is far more vibrant than any city in the Balkans.

Restaurants and taverns are filled with people, shop windows with consumer goods and streets with cars.

White television is still in the beginning stage of the inevitable forest of antennas is rising. Athenians stand sometimes 10 deep outside appliance stores gawking at the foreign models selling at $400 to $600.

CHIC CAFES
 Sleek and busy with its new luxury apartment buildings, chic cafes and high-style offices, Athens nonetheless continues to show its old Eastern face under the Western overlay.

Turkish-style coffee shops abound along with tiny cluttered loft factories where workers produce textiles, closely fashioned leather goods, copperware and rugs.

The gaps between rich and poor are enormous but a middle class of white-collar workers, professionals and technicians has begun to emerge to serve the new kind of life evolving in the past 20 years. A vital factor in that evolution has been the infusion of $4 billion in U.S. aid since the proclamation of the Truman Doctrine in 1947.

AMERICAN AID
 This aid brought roads, bridges, farm improvements, better port facilities, airports, tractors, terracing, fertilizer plants, and a national power system.

American aid also equipped the armed forces.

With its physical and economic improvements and the degree of stability it helped create, American aid was crucial in attracting the interest of foreign investors.

Tourism skyrocketed. Foreigners who fell in love with the country turned out books, movies and a musical comedy lauding the Greeks as frank, earthy, live-loving people.

TOO MUCH FAT
 Despite the boom and the surface look of relative prosperity, the economy is fragile and lopsided. The coup's effect on tourism and foreign investment could wipe out the gains of recent years.

The U.S. government, feeling at the time that Greece was ready to stand on its own feet, ended its aid program in 1963, when the boom atmosphere was at a peak.

Since then the boom has gone somewhat sour, with the economy developing what specialists call "too much fat and not enough muscle."

It Happens In 'Valley Of The Dolls'
 Patty Duke, left, tears a wig from the head of Susan Hayward in one of their scenes from the picture, "Valley of the Dolls." Some earthy dialogue accompanies the wild action and Miss Hayward doesn't necessarily like it. "Personally, I like to see a nice picture," says Miss Hayward. "But then, I'm old-fashioned..." New Movie Is Vulgar?

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Susan Hayward, furiously: "Get outa my way! I've got a man waitin' for me!"

Patty Duke, nastily: "That's a switch from the fags you're usually stuck with!"

Patty yanks off Susan's hair ("My God! It's a wig!") and rushes with it to a toilet. Susan: "My God! She's thrown it down the can!" Patty: "How do you like that? You can't even flush it down the john!"

Such is the movies' new realism — exemplified Tuesday in this acting for "Valley of the Dolls" — and Miss Hayward doesn't necessarily like it.

"It's the way crummy people talk," she justified after the hectic scene. Is that all to the good? "Not necessarily. Personally, I like to see a nice picture. But, then, I'm old-fashioned."

"If you take these lines out of context, they're pretty vulgar. But it's the kind of vulgarity 99 per cent of us use when we're prodded beyond being ladies and gentlemen."

"Still, I think Hollywood more and more is not too healthy an influence. So sue me."

"I liked motion pictures better when you walked out with an uplift. Some said 'Sound of Music' was corny. I loved it."

"The backbone of America still likes decency, and so do I."

At 47 Miss Hayward still looks great — svelte, brittle, cool, a redhead whose cover picture on the Saturday Evening Post got her into movies at 20.

Her role as a tough show-biz veteran, into which she stepped after Judy Garland withdrew for what the studio called personal reasons, is her first in Hollywood in four years. In late 1965 she made a film with Rex Harrison in Rome.

Will Hollywood be seeing more of her on its sound stages? "I don't think so. Once in a great while, maybe. I have no plans except to get back to Ft. Lauderdale as soon as possible."

Work goes better with Worthington cooling.

"Carson can't miss. He'll make one fine engineer. Looks like a Georgia Tech man to me. You should see him tackle a problem. That boy just doesn't give up. Of course, I do help him a little. (What's a father for if he can't give his son some help?) We both get help here in the workroom. From our new Worthington Climatrol air conditioning system. It cools the whole house. Efficiently, too. Dealer says it's built to last. Worthington makes a complete line of heating and cooling systems. Specially designed for our Southern climate. I couldn't possibly interest you in a custom-built pine bookcase could I? Carson made it himself."

Samaritans Are Making Comeback

NABLUS, Jordan (AP) — The Samaritans are making a comeback.

A new survey made in this Jordanian city about 20 miles north of Jerusalem shows that from an all-time low of around 160 the community now is up to 345, with every prospect of increasing.

They have been regarded by the Jews as a dissident Hebrew sect since Old Testament days. Christians have a particular interest in the Samaritans because they are the subject of Jesus' first parable.

High Priest Amram Isaac, a patriarchal figure in dark robes and flaming red turban, attributes the upturn to two factors: the ending of centuries of persecution, and new blood coming in through conversions of outsiders marrying into the community.

The high priest's office goes back to the days of Moses. But he shows with pride the newly built white limestone Temple and comfortable houses in the Samaritan quarter of Nablus as evidence of his people's new status as respected citizens of the Jordanian kingdom.

Chaplains Give Scholarship

In a brief ceremony at the Webb Air Force Base chapel, Col. George E. Franks, base commander, presented the Protestant Chaplain Fund Scholarship for 1967 to Carlene Hammack, Knott Route. Also present at the presentation were Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming, base chaplain, and Mrs. Carl Hammack.

The scholarship is presented to a Big Spring High School senior and is for a church-related college or university. The scholarship, $500, is for the first year of college.

"Military personnel and their families, inspired by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Benjamin F. Meacham, former base chaplain at Webb, began raising the money over a year ago, and the total was completed last fall," noted Chaplain Deming. "Chaplain Meacham initially suggested the scholarship as a way for Webb personnel to show appreciation for the many scholarships Big Spring groups had given to Webb dependents in recent years," he added.

Miss Hammack is a member of the National Honor Society and is president of the Bible Club at the high school. She will attend Howard Payne College in Brownwood. She is a member of the Prairie View Baptist Church.

SHIRLENE RICHTERS

Coahoma Girl To Attend Parley

Miss Shirlene Richters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Richters of Coahoma, and junior student at Mary Hardin-Baylor College in Belton, has been selected to attend the Southern Baptist Women's Missionary Union Convention. The meeting will be held May 29-30 in Miami, Fla., and Miss Richters is one of the 16 students sent by the college to present five Biblical tabloids, taken from the college's annual Easter pageant.

The students will be in costume and will present the various scenes in pantomime. Leonard Holloway, college president, is to narrate the presentation. Miss Richters is a member of the First Baptist Church in Coahoma.

NEW LIFE BRIDGES PAST CONDITIONS OF MANKIND

The Gospel is not bound by provincial limitations, the uniform Sunday school lessons emphasize. The new life in Christ bridges the past condition of man, previous creeds, race and other differences. The lesson is based on the passage from Acts 8:2-40.

The setting is about A.D. 31 in Samaria, the strip between Judea and Galilee. The capital city of Samaria had been captured in 721 B.C. by Assyrians, who took most of the Jewish population to Mesopotamia and brought in people to fill the area. The result was a mixture of races and religion which created hate between the Jews and Samaritans.

Last Sunday's lesson detailed how the mounting persecution of Christians resulted in the fatal stoning of Stephen, one of the first deacons. Persecution did not stop with this tragedy; instead it seemed to intensify so that members "were scattered abroad." It is significant that they went "everywhere preaching the word."

Philip, also one of the first deacons, went to Samaria, preaching "Christ unto them." (Christ himself opened this ministry by converting the Woman at the Well.) His ministry and that of others who were scattered (the apostles were left to continue in Jerusalem) had been termed the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the First century.

The Greek text says that he "proclaimed" Christ and "announced the good news" of salvation. In the power of God he performed many signs to attest to the truth of his message. The Samaritans had great cause for joy because many of their lame and afflicted were healed, and many of them were won to a saving knowledge of Christ.

Learning of the great revival, the church at Jerusalem sent Peter and John to Samaria, not to take over but to complement the work of Philip. As a result of their preaching, the converts were filled with the power of the Holy Spirit.

Urges Stand With The Poor

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, Associated Press Religion Writer PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A Tennessee mountain pastor, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Smathers, 59, took over last week as the chief presiding officer of the United Presbyterian Church, summoning it to take its stand "at the side of the poor."

"That's where he has lived and served since boyhood. 'The church has got to stick by a situation,' he told a news conference. 'It can't lick problems anywhere by quick, fly-by-night means. The church has to be there, with people.'"

A tall, lean man, with a soft drawl and a homespun wit, he was chosen moderator of his 3.3-million-member denomination in an upset election over the Rev. Dr. William H. Hudnut Jr., of New York, head of the church's $50-million capital fund drive.

For 35 years, Dr. Smathers has been pastor of a small, rural church, Calvary Presbyterian at Big Lick, near Crossville, Tenn., in a hill region of poverty which he has helped to ease with numerous health and agricultural projects.

"The church has to relate the Gospel to the real problems people face," he said, observing that his back-country congregation started doing that long before "we learned the words for it" or before it became a fashionable theme in city church circles.

But his congregation has remained only about 75 for some years — because of outward migration.

Asked about his approach to evangelism, he allowed, "My approach hasn't worked too well." He added: "You win people by loving them. My concept of evangelism is you've got to be with people, and show the love of God through our love for them, whether they come into the church or not."

His election came on the opening day of the denomination's week-long General Assembly, its top governing body, drawing about 2,000 delegates.

Calling himself an "unknown pastor" among the Appalachian hill folk, he ascribed his election to the church's "recognition of those who serve in the difficult places of the world" and among "the forgotten ones."

The son of a tenant farmer in Bath County, Ky., Dr. Smathers worked his way through Transylvania College and Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, spending summers as a student pastor in the Ozarks and in Harlan County, Ky., in periods of intense poverty.

Ever since he began his ordained ministry, he has been at Big Lick, where he led local people in building its first church, setting up a health clinic or before it became a fashionable theme in city church circles. And holding the South's first interracial, interfaith camps in 1940 and 1941.

GALLUP POLL

Live Comfortably Now, Or Prepare For Afterlife?

"What do you think you should be more serious about, trying to live comfortably or preparing for a life after death?"

When this question was put to adult Americans of all three great religious groups, 48 per cent of them replied that they should be most serious about preparing for life after death, a decrease of three percentage points since the same question was asked in 1952 in a Gallup Poll. Some 22 per cent thought that they should be equally concerned with trying to live comfortably and with preparing for the next life, down one percentage point from 1952. And 25 per cent thought that one should try to live comfortably, and let the next world take care of itself, an increase of three percentage points. Only five per cent could not decide, against four per cent a decade and a half ago.

Witnesses Plan Meeting

Organizational arrangements have been completed for the forthcoming semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, June 8-11. Frank Davis, presiding minister of the Big Spring congregation, announced today that the religious convention is slated for Ward County Coliseum, Monahans.

Len Prueitt, Odessa, convention manager, and Clarence Newcomb, circuit minister for the group in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, have named several local men to assist in supervising the more than 20 departments comprising the assembly's organizational structure.

Those named and their departmental responsibilities are: Frank Davis, 1400 Benton, assistant in the accounting department; Jack O'Shield, attendant department; Bill Bronough, 500 Austin, installation and construction department; C. L. Lunsford, 3900 Cactus, assistant in the trucking department.

"The departments are organized to distribute the responsibilities that arise when a large group meets in assembly," Prueitt said. "All volunteer their services."

The assembly's chairman will be Lester M. Dugan, special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, N. Y., legal governing body for Jehovah's Witnesses.

Purpose of the program, according to Davis, is to aid Christians in carrying out their ministerial responsibilities both as students of the Bible and as teachers of it.

Dugan will show a special film on Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m. entitled "God Cannot Lie." All interested persons are invited to attend the convention sessions. There is no collection.

As in 1952, Protestants make a better showing with respect to attitudes about an afterlife than Catholics do; moreover, they held more firmly to those attitudes over the last decade and a half. Some 46 per cent of Catholics thought that their first concern should be preparation for the next world, compared with 53 per cent who so thought in 1952. But 28 per cent of Catholics now think that they should try both to live comfortably and also prepare for life after death; this compared with 25 per cent in 1952. Five per cent don't know; three per cent did not know in 1952.

Of Protestants, 53 per cent declare that they think preparation for life after death is more important than living comfortably now, a decrease of only one percentage point. The same percentage, 19 per cent, of Protestants as Catholics, thought in 1952 that one's first concern might as well be comfort, compared with 22 per cent today, and one percentage point above the figure for Catholics. But 21 per cent of Protestants think they should strive equally hard in both directions, against 24 per cent in 1952. That leaves four per cent undecided now, compared with three per cent undecided in 1952.

The survey turned up the fact that less than one per cent of the 2.7 million adult Jews believe in preparing for life after death as a main concern of life, against eight per cent of 3.5 million Jews in 1952. Thus, 86 per cent declared for trying to live comfortably, 18 percentage points more than a decade and a half ago, with 12 per cent of the opinion that both goals are important, against 17 per cent in 1952. Some two per cent were undecided in 1966, seven per cent in 1952.

No! It doesn't happen in one day. It takes four years. And it's not really the years that count. It's the days... and the hours.

For when the scroll is in our hand... what are we? We are what we have become... gradually... through all those hours, days, and years.

So the wiser among us recognize a degree for what it is; a recognition of knowledge and proficiency that have been attained.

And while we're acquiring that knowledge... and while we're applying that proficiency... we build into our hours, days and years the spiritual fibre of religious conviction and Christian service.

For gradually — we are becoming the men and women that one day we will be!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Draft Deferments Of Students OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to extend draft deferments of college undergraduates after a rowdy, late-night session where tempers flared and charges flew.

The controversial college deferment issue evoked the sharpest debate as the House voted 362 to 9 to extend for four years the existing military draft law, due to expire June 30.

The House-passed version clashes with a Senate bill that would give the President broad authority to revise draft policy.

Another difference is the House's insistence that Congress have the final say over whether a lottery-style selection system can be used — as President Johnson desires.

DISGRACEFUL
The differences must be resolved in a Senate-House conference committee.

One member after another denounced as disgraceful Thursday night's proceedings, but the majority of those present — tired after a marathon session the night before — repeatedly voted to limit debate and shouted down amendments.

By the time Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., got the floor with his amendment to end student deferments, debate on the issue had been limited to one minute.

"This is a most disgraceful way to legislate on a bill of this importance," Pike told his colleagues.

48,000 TO DIE?
He said projecting current Vietnam war statistics would leave 48,000 U. S. dead in four years — a normal college undergraduate period. "In time of war there is no justification in saying to one group of citizens, the wealthier, they can postpone their risk of being one of the 48,000 dead."

Pike's amendment lost on a standing vote, 140 to 41.

Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., said, "This is not a debate, it is a travesty, a burlesque. We are asking these young men to give up two years of their lives and we won't give the two days."

ENGINES HOT
Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, inquired, "Can anyone tell us whether the engines are hot on the junking plane to Paris?"

This was a pointed reference to plans of six Armed Services Committee members about to leave for the International Air Show in Paris. Three others are going to Saigon. The House met into the night Wednesday and Thursday to clean up business before a Memorial Day break.

Another major dispute was over extending the draft law two years instead of four. It lost 169 to 77.

The House bill would leave to a new national manpower resources board the setting of guidelines for deferring college graduate students. The President asked for authority to make this determination, but indicated he favored deferring only medical and dental graduate students. He had not taken a stand on undergraduates.

POLES TOPPLE
The high winds toppled utility poles, uprooted trees and smashed windows.

The storms caused extensive damage to crops. Damage was estimated at $1 million to poles and nets used to protect the Connecticut River valley tobacco crop. The weight of the snow collapsed the equipment, mostly in the northern valley areas.

Rain and snow also caused damage to other crops in New England.

Rangers at the Cape Cod National Seashore said winds of 75 m.p.h. Thursday lashed Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod. Winds were clocked at more than 50 m.p.h. along the New England coast and they were more than 60 m.p.h. along the Rhode Island coast and eastward to Cape Cod.

SNOW PILES
Eight inches of snow was reported at East Burke, Vt., with 7 inches in mountain areas of New Hampshire. Six inches of snow fell in less than five hours Thursday at Montpelier, Vt.

Snow mixed with rain in the cold air in Boston where the mercury dropped to 40 degrees, a record low mark for May 25. Snow mixed with rain also fell in Windsor Locks, Conn., the latest snow in the city in more than 60 years.

Skies were generally clear in most other parts of the nation. There was a display of the northern lights—aurora borealis—from Pennsylvania to Oregon and as far south as Kansas and Alabama. The Weather Bureau in Nashville, said the lights were the brightest in recent years in Middle Tennessee.

In contrast to the stormy cold weather in New England, temperatures were mild in the nation's midsection after record high marks Thursday in many cities for the second consecutive day.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN
The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will conduct the first of its quarterly "crippled children's clinics" Saturday beginning at 9 a.m.

Parents of children may register until noon. Other clinic dates are Aug. 26 and Nov. 18, 1967.

The clinic will be under the supervision of the center's medical advisory committee — Dr. B. Broadrick, Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., Dr. Neil W. Sanders, Dr. Louise Worthy, Dr. Desmond McCann and Dr. Lowell C. Suckow.

The medical director of the clinic will be Dr. Thurston Dean, orthopedic surgeon from Midland. Local pediatricians will alternate supervising pediatric service for the clinic.

Children under 21 years of age are eligible to attend, including children from the surrounding area, as well as from Big Spring and Howard County.

There is no charge. Parents of crippled children who wish to have their children seen in this clinic should contact their family physician in order to have them referred. If they do not have a family physician, they should contact the center or register Saturday.

Purpose of the clinic is to offer a diagnostic and evaluation service to crippled children through the team approach. Teams will consist of an orthopedic surgeon, pediatrician, physical therapist, public health nurse and brace man.

The clinic will help to determine what kind of treatment is best for the child.

It is essential that children eligible for the state crippled children's program be seen by a physician such as Dr. Dean who is a member of the board of physicians approved by the state.

Crippled children's division, before they can be placed under this program.

Minor Injuries
Jimmie Long, 3009 US 80 west, driver of the car involved in an accident with a school bus Thursday, was treated and released at Cowper Hospital, where she had been taken in an Alert Ambulance. The mishap occurred at Fourth and Douglas. William Reed Hall, 15 20 Traller Court, was driver of the bus. No passengers were hurt. (Photo by Danny Valdes) ness said, she had bruises and blackeyes which she said her husband had inflicted.

After a time, he said that Santiago told him that he would have to quit going to the place "he was beginning to think too much of Dee and had her on his mind too much."

WITNESSES
Other witnesses included Lt. Bob Bronson, police identification officer, who described photographs he had made at the scene of the shooting; Sgt. D. W. Day, policeman who told of the investigation at the scene and identified empty cartridge shells he said he found in Gore's car and nearby; Leo Hill, assistant police chief, who detailed steps leading to the arrest of the defendant.

A bartender at the NCO Club on the base, Estel Westerfield, told how Gore and Jean Morton, also a bartender at the club, met on the night of the slaying — April 25, 1966 — at the club.

He said that Mrs. Morton had finished her shift at the club around 6:30 p.m. She and Gore, she said, sat in the club several hours. They had a number of drinks and left together. He said that it was not uncommon for Gore to give the woman a ride home, when she had no other transportation. He also said that others gave her rides.

IN CAR
The state alleges that Gore and Mrs. Morton got into his car on the club parking lot and drove outside the base through the main gate. The state claims that Santiago was crouched in the back of the sergeant's car, and when the car had reached a point a few hundred feet from the main gate, Santiago raised himself up on his knees. He fired several shots, two of which struck Gore and killed him, and two others struck Mrs. Morton, wounding her. The defendant then fled into the rainy night.

T. E. Williams, who works at the Webb officers club as a cook, extra duty, testified that he left the club as a passenger in a car of a friend on route home about 9 p.m. Just outside the gate, he said, he saw a car ahead of the one in which he was riding which appeared suddenly to run out of control, and crashed into a sign. He said that as he and his companion rode by, he heard a woman scream "Help — don't let him kill me!" and that he heard one shot. He and his friend did not stop — they paused briefly and drove on.

FINAL WITNESS
Final witness on Thursday afternoon was Ronald Matlie, an airman, who identified Santiago as having come to Matlie's quarters in a barracks around 10:30 p.m. April 25 and asked to borrow a tee shirt and also if he could leave a gun in the room.

On cross-examination Matlie established that Matlie was only half awake when Santiago entered and that he never actually saw the gun — and that in earlier statements he had said only that Santiago asked if he could leave "something" in the room and did not name a gun as the "something."

Today, the testimony began with the story told by Gerchak.

GOOD FRIENDS
He met Santiago he said, soon after he reached the base. They ran around together, he related, and were good friends. One of the places they frequented was the 66 Truck Stop on US 80 west.

Mrs. Dee Gore, wife of the man Santiago is accused of killing, was a waitress at this place and Gerchak said that she and Santiago became good friends. Frequently, he said, Mrs. Gore would complain of mistreatment by her husband. Often, the witness said, she would cry.

NOT TOLD
He said in cross examination that he had not previously told all of the details of the affair in his statement of April 29, to the grand jury nor in a statement made on March 1 of this year.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that his next witness would be Jean Morton, who was Gore's companion on the night the latter was slain. She was wounded in the same affray, but has recovered.

Santiago has been tried for shooting her and is under a 10-year conviction for that offense.

Shotgun Victim
HOUSTON (AP) — Thomas Kerry Wootton, 26, died Thursday night from a shotgun blast as he stood outside a tavern. Two men and a woman were questioned.

Theft Reported
One report of theft was reported to police today. Joe Gonzales, 507 Lamesa Dr., reported the theft of a pistol from his house, sometime Thursday.

Dividend
A dividend of 27 1/2 cents per common share, payable June 30, 1967, was declared by the board of directors of Sawley Stores, Incorporated. The dividend is payable to stockholders of record Friday, June 2, 1967.

War Would Have Only Minor Effect On West's Oil Supply

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Arab and Israel war in the Middle East should have only a minor effect on Western Europe's oil supply, but a prolonged conflict could hurt the economy of the Arab world badly.

The closing of the Suez Canal by the 1956 Suez war cut Western Europe's main oil artery, causing shortages, gasoline rationing and increased prices. Oil executives here think things would be very different now if war broke out between the Arab

SECOND TO COTTON
Many Western and Arab oil reserves believe President Gamal Abdel Nasser would not close the Suez Canal. Egypt earned $209 million from the canal last year, and 72 per cent of this was paid by oil tankers. The waterway was second only to cotton as a revenue producer.

Eleven years ago the Middle East supplied more than 80 per cent of Western Europe's crude oil, and Venezuela, Canada and the United States were the only alternate sources. Now the Middle East provides only 58 per cent, and oil fields developed in Libya, Nigeria and Algeria since 1956 — supply almost one-third of West European oil imports.

Western Europe also has enlarged its storage capacities and keeps more reserves on hand. Even if Nasser closed the ca-

Rich Merchant Dies In Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Robert Perez de la Sala, 50, an international merchant reputedly worth $112 million and known in Sydney for smoking 12-inch cigars, died Friday of a heart attack.

De la Sala was head of John Manners Co., a Hong Kong firm with extensive shipping interests. He also had interests in mining, race horses and real estate in Australia, the United States and Asia. He reportedly owned an entire street of shops that was destroyed by an earthquake in 1964 in Anchorage, Alaska.

nal, oil sources calculate, Suez is no longer indispensable to oil bound for Europe.

In the 1950s, they point out, no oil tankers larger than 50,000 tons were in existence. Now there are more than 400 super-tankers, and the larger ones can make the extra 4,750-mile trip around South Africa at lower cost than smaller ships going through Suez.

Political and economic sources agree that the Arab world is far from united on the idea of cutting off oil exports to the West — which it considers a supporter of Israel — in case of fighting.

Saudi Arabia and Kuwait have both pledged to use oil as a weapon if necessary, but Western observers doubt that either would voluntarily carry out the pledge.

Saudi Arabia's pipeline to the Mediterranean would undoubtedly be cut by Syria, but most Saudi oil moves by tanker from the Persian Gulf.

FEEBLE LIBYA
Iraq would be bound by its nationalist policies to halt exports to the West, and if it did not, Syria would close the pipelines from Iraq. But Syria's recent closure of the Iraqi pipelines for 11 weeks revealed how easily Iraqi oil could be replaced. Algeria probably would side with Egypt in case of war, but all of its oil goes to France, and the dependence of the Algerian economy on France makes a cutoff unlikely. Politically fee-

Novelist To Open Center In Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Novelist Pearl Buck arrived in Seoul today to open a center to educate 3,000 children of mixed Korean and American parentage and help their mothers find jobs and security.

The 74-year-old author said she would select a site for the center and attend the groundbreaking ceremony during her three-week stay in Seoul. She told newsmen she plans to establish similar centers costing more than a million dollars for children of mixed blood in Japan, Okinawa, Formosa, the Philippines, Thailand and South Vietnam.

ble Libya might be pressured by Cairo on its oil policies, but that is problematical.

ACE IN HOLE
Iran, outside the Arab world, is an ace in the hole for Western Europe. And the existence of the supertankers makes Venezuelan and American oil readily available.

"A war here would not have much effect in Europe, but the effects in the Middle East could be considerable," said one Western economist.

Egypt already is on the brink of bankruptcy and can ill afford a war, or even the present alert. Cairo has sold $40 million of its gold reserve since 1956, and fiscal reserves are now estimated at only $146 million—enough to pay for vital imports for only about two months.

Libya might be pressured by Cairo on its oil policies, but that is problematical.

Legion Awards Made Monday

WESTBROOK (SC)—Recipients of the American Legion Awards at eighth grade graduation exercises Monday night, were Sandy Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson and Geary Underwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Medders' Auction Nets $500,000

Action At The Auction

Jo Patterson, 5, of Searcy, Ark., naps during the bankruptcy sale in the "party barn" on the Ernest Medders' Colonial Acres Farm yesterday at Muenster, Tex. Jo accompanied her father, Dr. J. D. Patterson (left) to the auction, but failed to keep interest in the auctioneer's chant describing farms, livestock, autos and equipment involved in the sale to satisfy creditors. Medders and his wife accumulated debts approximating $3 million in loans and retailer charges since they came to Texas six years ago. (AP WIREPHOTO)

MUENSTER, Tex. (AP) — A marathon sale of Colonial Acres Farm assets, attended by a crowd that auction officials estimated at nearly 10,000, ended at 3:10 a.m. today after 18 hours of high excitement and heavy bidding.

The auction, ordered by federal bankruptcy referee Joe D. Huffstutler of Tyler, began Thursday at 9:10 a.m.

Sale officials, headed by fast-talking Wayne Cook of Dallas, figured the total intake would amount to about $500,000 when finally tallied.

FEW BARGAINS
There were few bargains or bargain hunters. Some prices ran ridiculously high, but all participants — buyers and sellers — seemed elated as transactions proceeded through a hot, sunny day and far into the next morning.

The big, noisy crowd had dwindled by the close to a mere 100 persons as an auctioneer pounded the final gavel.

Among those staying for the final moment was Ernest Medders, the big, rawboned former Memphis, Tenn., truck mechanic who, with his ex-nurse wife Margaret, built Colonial Acres from a rough, rock-strewn 185 acres into a showplace ranch that became the talk of Texas.

TROPHIES EXEMPT
Sold during the long hours of the auction were automobiles, farm machinery, two ranches, a Dallas residence, 18 small oil wells, a herd of Red Angus cattle, a herd of Black Angus cattle, about 15 fine Appaloosa horses including last year's junior champion stallion, a few quarter horses and several hundred other items. Huffstutler, at the last moment, exempted from sale the hundreds of trophies that the Medders' prize cattle and horses won at shows across the country.

TRUST DEEDS
The Medders' financial difficulties came to public notice in February when deeds of trust, promissory notes and other documents were filed by their creditors in Cooke County (Muenster) and in neighboring Montague County. Debts amounting to more than $1 million were reflected.

Two involuntary bankruptcy petitions were filed by seven creditors within 10 minutes on Feb. 23. Long sessions of the county grand jury produced two felony indictments charging Mrs. Medders with writing bad checks with "attempt to defraud." A third indictment accused both Mr. and Mrs. Medders of selling mortgaged cattle.

INSOLVENCY
In two long bankruptcy hearings, the couple admitted insolvency but blamed what they described as misleading statements by bankers and hard-sell tactics by some business firms with whom they traded.

The hearings produced testimony and indications that the total debts of the former Tennessee couple would approximate more than $3 million.

A lawyer in questioning Mrs. Medders said that they had borrowed $1.9 million altogether from the Poor Sisters of St. Francis in Mishawaka, Ind. Mrs. Medders said that if the nuns indicated she and her husband owed that much, she was sure they were correct.

OUT OF MONEY
"I never paid much attention to things like that," she testified.

Medders testified that no money had been repaid to the Roman Catholic order or to banks in Memphis, Tenn., and Muenster and Wichita Falls, Tex.

Mrs. Medders accused the National Bank of Commerce in Memphis of refusing to honor checks after she signed a $30,000 note and of renegeing on a promised loan of $100,000. This, she testified, brought on the financial troubles.

"We just ran out of money," she said when asked why the couple went bankrupt.

BIDDING BRISK
The Red Angus herd — 64 registered and 40 commercial animals — sold for $55,456. Cattlemen at the sale said the prices were good. The average for the registered stock was $672.

For the 175 Black-Angus cattle the average ran $962. They brought a total of $112,325. One black-bull, Colonial Evas Bardolierne, went for $12,000.

Auctioneer Cook called the Medders' Red Angus herd "the most famous in the Americas today."

Bidding was brisk all day from the time Cook started with a fast chant of "I want to get this show on the road and rock-in."
Sale of a 1962 Jeep opened the sale. There was a quick bid of $400, near what some auto men present called its real worth, but bidding quickly boosted the price to $850. Cook declared it sold to James Parker of nearby Denton. Mrs. Medders two-door 1966 Cadillac coupe went for $4,150 despite 37,000 miles on the speedometer and a reputation as an "oil burner." An Oldsmobile owned by her daughter, Cathy, likewise sold quickly. A Ford sedan several years old brought $2,375.

Ringo Sansimone, adjudged the world's junior champion stallion at the national Appaloosa show in Syracuse, N.Y., in 1966, commanded $8,000. Joker's owner received $909.34 monthly in royalty checks.

A three-bedroom house in a fashionable Dallas district sold to Donald J. Carter, a wholesale gifts and imports dealer, for $31,750.

"I'll sell it for a $10,000 profit," Carter said, adding that he hoped his wife would move into the place after inspecting it.

A 330-acre ranch immediately north of the original Colonial Acres tract went for $300 per acre. It contains 18 producing oil wells from which Cook said the owner received $909.34 monthly in royalty checks.

28,000-Mile Solo Voyage About Over

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Sir Francis Chichester will finish his solo 28,000-mile voyage around the world Sunday—255 days after he started—if the winds and busy English sea traffic let him keep up his present speed.

Two Royal Air Force planes searched 20,000 square miles of ocean and found Chichester's 53-foot yacht Gipsy Moth IV 385 miles from Plymouth Thursday night, making about seven knots

—eight miles an hour—through long Atlantic swells. The 65-year-old yachtsman, who set out last Aug. 27, looked fit and well. He waved to the planes and they dropped a bright red canister containing the message: "The Royal Air Force welcomes you, Sir Francis."

Chichester this morning was sighted about 230 miles off the southwest tip of England. The weather was good and the wind favored him.

Arsonist Enjoys Matches, Phones

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — An arsonist with a flair for telephoning has set 32 cars afire, investigators said.

"I just happen to be a guy with a couple of books of matches," a man told the Fire Department by telephone Thursday.

Later, in another call, he announced "I'm all through for the night. I'm getting tired." Damage from the fires was estimated at about $100,000.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Some time spent in a.m. to improve your health, appearance intelligently is wise. Then get to be with persons whose personal aims are similar to yours. You have several faire, charm; use it!

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you forget fun and focus your attention on whatever is important, you accomplish a good deal. Assist those comrades who have much worry, troublesome conditions to contend with. Give moral support.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to March 20) Showing devotion to comrades makes them even more valuable to you in the days ahead. Go after personal aims in a positive fashion—also. Then you get the right results in the minimum of time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will be one of those interesting young people with a tragic-misadventure that is pretty much focused on the practical, and since the basic is fine, a tremendous success can be achieved in the outside world, and this is especially true in the field of selling. Give spiritual training to ward off coldness.

save time and money by dialing your own Long Distance calls

- A dial "1" to connect with the Long Distance equipment
- B dial the area code of the city you want
- C dial the telephone number

Direct Distance Dialing is the fastest way to reach out-of-town customers and suppliers. It's about twice as fast and costs about one-third less than person-to-person calls.

Dialing your own calls also frees your switchboard for incoming calls, eliminates many telephone tie-ups caused by unnecessary person-to-person calls and frees your employees to get more work done. Try Direct Distance Dialing. It's a business bargain.

A Devotional For The Day

We are ambassadors for Christ, God making his appeal through us. (II Corinthians 5:20, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord, I thank Thee for Thy promise of eternal life. Increase my willingness and courage to serve and to witness for Thee at home, in my work, or wherever I may be. I ask this in the name of Jesus who taught me to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

How About Some Stability?

The legislature has produced another redistricting bill designed to meet most of the legal criticism which resulted in overturning the redistricting of two years ago. Already there are murmurs that this alignment also is heading for a court test.

Under the bill which goes to the governor (and which he reportedly favored), Howard County remains in the 17th District, which is enlarged by seven counties — six of them carved out of the "district of Rep. O. C. Fisher and one out of the district of Rep. J. J. Pickle. This had the effect of boosting Rep. Omar Burleson's 17th District just over the ideal of 416,000 population per district.

But it is not without problems. When it comes to community of interest, Howard does not have too much in common with Palo Pinto, nor Haskell with Burnett. The district stretches from near Austin to the lower fringe of the Panhandle, and from near Fort Worth to near the New Mexico border — 31 counties in all. Rep. Burleson will have his hands full in serving all this territory and an equal spread in interests.

It has been charged, not without some justification, that there has been wiggling of lines to accommodate certain situations. Perhaps this could be accomplished in a more compact manner, but then this would run into the reality of pitting one congressman against another. Having done this two years ago, the legislature is reluctant to do it again. It would be helpful, however, if this or some redistricting plan could be left intact long enough for congressmen to get acquainted with their constituency.

Puzzling

Some of the faces of war in Vietnam have a touch of comedy. A la Mack Sennett. The creation of a cleared, no-man's-land near the demilitarized zone provided an example. The Marines call this sanitary zone "The Monster." It was cleared with bulldozers at the expense of some dead and many wounded. Then the Marines built five high, wooden watchtowers and placed them in position with helicopters, only to have four of them burned by the Communists that night because no South Vietnamese could be found to man them.

The Marines next prepared to mine the cleared strip. To their surprise they discovered that the Communists had already mined sections of it.

"What we'll have to do is locate their mines, take them out and bury our own," a Marine engineer said.

Still another incident, possibly apocryphal, was the report of an American officer serving as an adviser to a Vietnamese unit.

"You send 50 men out on patrol and 75 come back, and you can't tell one from the other," the officer said.

Acid Test For The U.N.

WASHINGTON — The United Nations faces the acid test of its 22 years of existence. Will it emerge as an international organization that interposes measures to avoid big wars and keep the peace — or will it falter?

The charter of the United Nations specifically outlines steps that can be taken in such a situation as has just arisen in the Middle East.

IF THE U.N. doesn't intervene, then the only recourse is "collective action" by member states. This is permissible as a responsibility of the participants only and doesn't require the approval of either the Security Council or the General Assembly.

The U.N. can offer methods of conciliation, mediation or adjustment, and it can, as in the case of Korea in 1950, call on member nations to act together under the auspices of the Security Council.

THE SOVIET Union as well as the United States possesses a veto power. The Russian representative was absent when the Security Council intervened in the Korean conflict and there still is much speculation as to whether this was accidental or intentional. The Soviets however boasted later that they were supplying Red China with war weapons and supplies. Maybe they withheld their veto so as to be free to help their ally carry out its aggression. The point had never been cleared up.

TODAY THE Soviet Union is supplying arms and ammunition to Egypt, which was initiated the emergency in the Middle East. It certainly would be politically tactful for the Soviets to refrain again from blocking any action by the Security Council. This could be done by abstaining from a veto.

The whole United Nations machinery, however, can be paralyzed if a single member exercises its veto in the Security Council or if a majority of the General Assembly is unwilling to act. The Communists today are believed to have more than half of the members on their side in major questions affecting Russia or Red China. But if this is true, it needs to be proved conclusively before the world.

THE MIDDLE East today is already menaced by a state of war. For, when Egypt declared a blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba — which is Israel's only outlet to the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean — this embargo presumably was imposed not merely against the ships of the country being blockaded but also against the vessels of neutral countries.

The moment a state of war is threatened or begins, the United Nations has an obligation to suggest steps of a peace-making nature. It can ask for a suspension of the blockade, or it can recommend that the grievances be submitted to the World Court, with shipments of nonmilitary articles permitted to land in the interim. It can, if necessary, organize among its members a peace-keeping force.

THE WHOLE world will be expecting the United Nations to live up to the principles written in its charter and try to keep the dispute between Egypt and Israel from becoming a full-scale war. If nothing is done, the U.N. will have demonstrated that its usefulness as an international organization has come to an end.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

History proves that the best interest of our nation lie in a law-abiding, decent and orderly society. We cannot live with lawlessness, unbridled vulgarity, obscenity, blasphemy, perversion, and public desecration of every sacred and just symbol. We should be alarmed when wide-spread recognized and monetary awards go to a person who writes a "satirical" piece of trash which maliciously defames the President of our country and insinuates he murdered his predecessor. We should be alarmed when some groups, under the guise of academic freedom and constitutional privilege, flood our college campuses with obscene four-letter-word campaigns and pornographic publications which violate all codes of ethics. And we should be equally alarmed when an enforcement officer making an arrest must fight for his life against assaults from onlookers who scoff and ridicule him for doing his duty.

Let us stop persecuting enforcement officers when we should be prosecuting criminals. Let us stop defying offbeat dolts whose ability is measured only by how deep they can dip their poisonous pens into the pots of blasphemy, filth, and falsehood. Let us stop listening to half-truths and criticisms of time-tested ideals and start telling and selling the true story of democracy as we know it. In short, let us stop being led blindly toward the cavern of self-destruction by bogus Pied Pipers and get on with the perpetuation of the self-evident truths which, with Divine guidance, have served our nation so well over the years.

James Marlow Election Law Reforms Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A couple of years ago a Texas Democrat, Rep. James C. Wright, told Congress probably every member of it has knowingly evaded the purpose of a federal law limiting election campaign expenses.

The law, passed in 1925, says no candidate for the House can spend more than $5,000 in his bid for election and no candidate for the Senate can spend more than $25,000.

BUT THIS limit applies only to spending by the candidates themselves. The law does not apply to committees set up to help them, and there is no limit on the number of such committees.

Although Wright made his statement two years ago, Congress was not sufficiently disturbed to do anything about it. The same rumble of protest has been going on for years. Nothing was done.

LAST YEAR President Johnson sent a special message to Congress, urging a number of reforms not only because of the loopholes in present laws on financing political campaigns but because these laws are ludicrously out of date.

For example, the cost of the presidential campaign has more than doubled in the past decade. The cost of the 1964 campaign was more than 25 percent higher than the one in 1960 and over 60 percent higher than in 1956.

BUT CONGRESS practically ignored what Johnson suggested in 1966 except for a law that passed allowing a taxpayer to tell the government to take $1 from his income tax return as a campaign contribution. Now this year Congress is about to kill it.

Then Thursday Johnson sent a brand new message to Congress, proposing a number of reforms. But it's pretty late in the 1967 session and Congress will probably do nothing this time, either.

AS AN example of the emptiness of that law putting a limit of $5,000 on how much a candidate for the House can spend personally, take the 1968 House race in Cincinnati between Robert Taft Jr., a Republican, and Rep. John J. Gilligan, a one-term Democrat who lost his seat in that contest to Taft.

The money spent in Taft's behalf was almost $169,000 and for Gilligan it was at least $80,000. This was done through committees.

Wright said two years ago the high cost of campaigning is making it impossible for any but the wealthy — "or the willing wards of the wealthy" — to seek public office.

Happy Moments Revived

NEW YORK (AP) — Some things that make life worth living:

The humming of a wife, happily in her kitchen.

Beating the boss at gin rummy.

OPENING A door and finding on the other side someone you long have wanted to see.

A letter from an old mother saying that everyone back home is doing fine — and so is her flower garden.

Counting the blooms on a lilac bush.

THE STUNNING silence, louder than noise, that suddenly falls on a battlefield when all firing ceases.

The arms-around-shoulders singing of "Auld Lang Syne" at a farewell meeting of men who have fought a war together and know that the peace they won will not separate them forever. Nothing in the world is quite as wistful as that feeling that the price of their victory is the loss of their unity.

HEARING the eager footsteps of someone running gladly to meet you in the dark.

Going window shopping on Fifth Avenue in Manhattan on a lovely summer day, when all the important people have fled to the country.

Listening to an orthodontist say that his overhaul of your young daughter's teeth won't be as extensive — or expensive as you feared.

THE RELIEF at learning that an operation of a long-time friend discovered no malignancy.

The unutterable sensation of eating a plate of fried eggs, country ham, beaten biscuits and cream gravy after ending a long diet.

Dunking your flushed face in a cold spring during a long hot climb up a mountain in Colorado, Wyoming or Montana.

STANDING under a waterfall, and imagining that it is washing away every guilt you've known since you punched the snooty nose of the jeering five-year-old young lady who beat you at hop scotch in kindergarten.

Strolling in the city at twilight past the open window of an apartment wherein a sweet-voiced woman is playing the piano and singing some old tune, such as "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming."

BEING asked to make an assembly speech by the principal who once threatened to throw you out of high school for cutting capers in study hall.

Getting a $15 raise when your wife had insisted only that you demand $7.50 more.

Watching with a child the flash of a falling star, and making a silent wish that the child would grow up in a finer world than mankind has ever enjoyed before.

Around The Rim

Changing Recreational Picture

Within the past four decades, a considerable change has come over our recreational facilities.

In the late 20's, the only things dedicated to leisure time were a ball park, a crude swimming pool (filled with gyp water), a flock of courses to meet the demands of the miniature golf fad, and a sand-green golf course.

TODAY THERE are three public swimming pools (not to mention the facilities at the air base and the YMCA, Big Spring and Cosden Country Clubs, plus a large number of private pools). There are upwards of 10 fields devoted to Little League, Sophomore and Teenage baseball; at least a couple devoted to softball. There are three golf courses — the Muny, Country Club and Webb AFB. There is a bowling alley, plus one on base.

School and college gymnasium facilities have multiplied vastly, and the YMCA has a gym and handball courts. There is a miniature golf course and driving range, along with a ride center for tiny tots.

THE CITY PARKS have places for picnics, large gatherings (under the pavilions), provision for tennis, croquet, courts, a large amphitheatre. The schools and college also have courts for tennis. The college, in conjunction with the schools, has a large stadium and first-class track. Several agencies have combined to provide a city-wide, summer recreational program.

So from almost nothing, we have come a long way in two score years. The facilities are gradually increasing, but it takes time and money. The city now has a parks board seriously at work on the problem.

THIS IS PURELY a personal view, but one of the things which might stand bulwarking is the development of a few neighborhood facilities. We are in pretty good shape for organized activities, but what about the kids who just want to play scrub or have a sandlot game? Where can youngsters go if they want to have a casual softball game? The leagues have a prior claim on the existing parks, so kids have to take to vacant lots or whatever other space they can find. There probably isn't anything wrong with this—we've been doing it for the last half century.

BUT SURELY in the city there are enough vacant areas which could be acquired for taxes or swapped for taxes, or otherwise obtained at low cost, which could be developed over the years as places where kids could flock in from the neighborhoods to play with or without supervision.

The Necessity Of George Wallace

WASHINGTON — Vernon J. Veritas, the old truth-teller, was taking another look at George Wallace, the feisty Alabama spellbinder who somehow doesn't fade away.

Was Mr. Veritas talking about the same George Wallace of whom he'd had some doubts in the past?

"The doubts remain," averred Veritas, "but the Governor recommends himself for the new enemies he's making, the new friends he's gathering and the wild echoes that he sets ringing down the glades of the American past."

GOV. WALLACE'S enemies seem to be the Lunatic Leftists who try to howl him down and scare him off, as well as the stuffed shirts of political respectability who haven't had a new idea since they discovered the advantages of patronizing the Common Man. And his friends seem to be those who like him for the enemies he's not afraid to make. But Mr. Veritas had mentioned the American past. Did he mean the bygone peculiarity of the Southern Confederacy?

"ONLY IN PART," said Veritas. "We could do with some of those qualities that were peculiar to the Lost Cause. But I've been reading a depth interview of Wallace by the high command of the Richmond News Leader, and a good many other qualities emerged from the Wallace responses and the subsequent editorial comment. Principally, it emerged that Wallace could be the first politician in a number of generations who has a native rapport with the Common Man, black and white, wage-earner and private enterpriser, North and South. The wild echoes could be bringing us a message that America, in times of true crisis, somehow seems to call up the sort of leader that the times require."

SURELY, MR. Veritas couldn't be thinking of Andrew Jackson, the Border Captain, who changed the name of the dominant party from Republican to Democratic? Or of Abraham Lincoln, the prairie lawyer, who became President under a new party with a minority of the popular votes?

"Wallace doesn't frighten the established order of political orthodoxy any more than Jackson did," said Veritas. "The Wallace strategy is to take about one-third of the electoral votes, and throw the Presidential election into the House of Representatives. That's what Jackson did in 1824 when he won 37.93 per cent of the electoral votes, and forced the House to give a decision. The country didn't collapse by following this provision of the Constitution.

"WALLACE doesn't stir up any more upper echelon ridicule than Lincoln did," Veritas declared. "But Lincoln was the necessity of his day when the big men and the incumbent political party had badly failed the country. It's going to be hard to laugh off Wallace now that the Gallup Poll concedes him a plurality in 13 Southern and border states, plus strong minority support in many states. It's day-before-yesterday thinking that dismisses Wallace as a racist when, in fact, his pitch is for States Rights, local sovereignty and the fundamentalism of the Constitution."

Pressures On Congressmen

WASHINGTON—The murky waters of pelf and power, influence and high office, have been stirred once again by the disclosure that Sen. Edward V. Long (D., Mo.) took large payments from an attorney for the Teamsters Union to whom he referred legal work.

This is not unlawful. It violates no canon of the Senate. But it underscores the growing doubt of the integrity of the politician and the political process.

HOW MANY MEMBERS of the Senate and the House use the referral system it is impossible to say. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, who is accused by the Senate Ethics Committee of various malpractices, says that he has been paid for referring cases not involving federal work to other lawyers.

It gets down to a question of whether Congress should set for its members a higher standard of conduct than that prevailing among the citizenry. It is interesting that two directly opposed answers to this question come from within the Republican party. With the frankness that is part of his engaging manner Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, the minority leader, says no. He is opposed to requiring senators to disclose their assets or otherwise to be singled out for public view.

ALTHOUGH HE has not been with the Peoria law firm of which he was once a member for 15 years, Dirksen's name still appears on the door as "of counsel." He accepts fees for referring legal work to others when that work is of a non-federal character.

On the other side is Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware who is the incarnation of the Caesar's wife or goldfish-bowl view of public office. Disclosure of assets—perhaps 10 senators have now put on public record their holdings—is not enough, in his view. It would not reveal the influence, direct or implied, that goes with the referral system. Merely listing assets would not show in the long case the connection with a Teamsters lawyer.

WILLIAMS PROPOSES that all members of Congress file their income tax returns with the Controller General. Then without violating the constitutional provision requiring secrecy for tax returns the Controller's office could furnish to the Senate Ethics Committee or the Secretary of the Senate anything shown in the return of a questionable nature. This information could be the basis for action or at least investigation. That same procedure is followed when a Senate investigating committee is allowed to have access to an individual's tax return.

WILLIAMS SAYS that he himself has not disclosed his assets, since he does not want to be a party to the farce that this is the answer to integrity. But, at the very least, disclosure can show the individual's holdings and influences which, without disclosure, he might conceivably be subject to.

The high cost of holding office—the ever-increasing cost of political campaigning—works grave inequities. A glance at the Senate roster suggests that from this reporter's own knowledge 23 members are themselves in the millionaire class or their wives have assets adding up to an income over $50,000 a year from private sources.

MANY OF THE others struggle desperately to make ends meet. This is true with special force of those who are not lawyers and who have no backlog of payments from past legal services.

The hard fact is that Congress will not face up to the cost of political campaigns. The recent skirmish over the $1 deduction for political parties was farcical, since it skirted the issue. Until there is positive action to meet the high cost of campaigning, dealing in power and influence to meet this cost will go on.

Wire Thieves

BULANDSHAHR, India (AP) — Indian farmers are not only being hampered by drought, insects and rodents but they are also plagued by thieves.

About 100 government and private wells ceased irrigation operations in this area recently when thieves cut one mile of electric power cable and made off with the wire—a high demand item on the Indian market.

Awaiting Kickoff In Intra-Squad Struggle

Pictured above are some of the principals who will be very much in evidence when the Blacks and the Golds square off in the annual Big Spring High School intra-squad football game ending spring workouts. From the left, standing, are

Intra-Squad Game Winds Up Drills

The Quarterback Club stages its annual spring extravaganza in Memorial Stadium here to night, at which time the high school football team winds up its three weeks of pre-vacation drills. Two football games are on tap, with the incoming sophomores due to square off about 6:30 p.m. and the varsity troops between 8:15 and 8:30 p.m. A modest fee of $1 will be exacted from the spectators watching the spectacles. All money over and above expenses go into QBC coffers—to be used next fall to promote high school athletics. Game programs and concessions will also be sold by the QBC prior to and during the contests. Bill Burchett, a 150-pound senior-to-be, will quarterback the Black team, backed by Ken Brown. Masterminding the Gold team will be Johnny Cliff Patton. Spelling him occasionally will be Reggie Robertson. Lonnie Clanton, Tommy Ryan, Roy Lee Warren, Kenneth Barfield, Tommy Mauldin, Rocky Wooley and Steve Russell will be running in the Black secondary. Performing for the Gold behind the line will be such performers as Snake Tucker, Ronnie Wright, R. J. Englert, Mike Nobles, Bill Smith, Doug Robinson and Jimmy Wilson. Coach Spike Dykes, who has divided the squad up as evenly as possible for the contest, will take a neutral role and sit in the stands. Plotting the strategy for the Black contingent will be coaches Don Fuqua, Charley Bright and Gerald Lod. Coaching the Gold squad will be Doyle Parker, Jack Tayrien and Oakley Ha-good. Early callers can see some splendid talent in the junior varsity contest. Johnny Rutherford and Gary Hinds will quarterback the White unit in that game while Gary Hughes and Lynn Cauley will map the plays for the Black club. Dub Hallmark, Dan Lewis, Dan Bustamante and Ben Neel will serve as the White coaches. Garland Braun, Jimmy Marcus, Bobby Zellars and Tom Adams will be coaching the Black contingent. Varsity squad:

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The success coach L. L. (Red) Lewis has achieved in track and field at Howard County Junior College is remarkable. Four national championships now, the latest last week in Garden City, Kan. The National Junior College Athletic Association has been staging its meets for 26 years and only Victoria, Tex., with six, has won more championships than Lewis and the Jayhawks. Victoria was winning back in the early and middle '50's, at a time junior college track didn't have the all-around class it has now. Lewis' secret of success: He goes in for quality rather than quantity. Incidentally, teams representing California and Texas have each won the big crown on ten occasions. Kansas and Arizona have each supplied the thirteenth times. Some are prone to say that the California track but there are over 70 junior colleges in the state and none boasts the team strength that HCJC possessed this year. Success breeds success in the sport. The senior college coaches are now coming to Lewis and asking him to help shape up hopefuls for two years before their schools take them. They find that when they invest in the Lewis school of knowledge and experience, the investment invariably pays dividends.

Casualties in the Big Spring High School football camp ending this week include Jesse Brown, who broke his jaw; Doug Robinson, sidelined with a bad ankle; Gary Crane, out with a gimpy knee; and Gary Johnson, sidelined with bleeding ulcers. A mild feud has developed on the golf tour between Doug Sanders and Tommy Bolt. Sanders considers himself the fashion-plate among the linksters and is prone to try and mix the gaudiest colors. Bolt chided Doug recently by saying his slacks cost more than most of Sanders' outfits. That caused Sanders to retaliate thusly: "Why, my caddy dresses better than Bolt does. And my patent leather club covers cost more than Bolt's slacks. Tommy's not a bad dresser, but he's strictly second best. Man, I carry more 'thread' around with me on a trip than he owns."

Earl Stewart Jr., who played in the Big Spring Golf Open with his son, Chip, a couple of years ago, said it: "Golf is a funny game. It's a game of excuses. Whenever you make a bad shot, it's never your fault. It's either the wind, the crowd noise, hard putting surface, bad fairways and stuff like that. A fellow just can't admit that just maybe it was his own fault. No, they never miss a shot."

Marty Fleckman and Jim Grant were the third and fourth University of Houston exes to perform in the Walker Cup matches against England. Cougar trailblazers on the U.S. squad were Rex Baxter and Mark Hopkins. When the Boston Red Sox occupied first place briefly in the American League earlier this year, one Bostonian claimed that the messages going out from the Old North Church read, "One by Petrocelli and two by Conigliaro."

KWAB-TV SET TO AIR TILT

For the first time in history, a Big Spring High School football game will be filmed live in its entirety by crewmen assigned by KWAB-TV Channel 4 tonight.

The local television station will probably take to the air shortly after 8:15 this evening for the intra-squad game, climaxed by spring workouts of the Steers.

In addition, radio station KBST will offer a play-by-play account of the varsity game and station KBYG will air both the junior varsity and varsity contests. The game starts about 6:30 p.m.

Gun Club Plans Sunday Meet

The Mesquite Gun Club has scheduled more competition for its members at its shooting range near Vincent Sunday — this one in light varmint-class rifle weighing no more than 9½ pounds with a six-power maximum scope. Entries will fire in five five-shot groups at a distance of 100 yards from a bench rest. Trophies will be offered to winners.

NEW YORK (AP) — George Hote of Oconomowoc, Wis., will be the manager and Ken Henry of Lake Bluff, Ill., will be the coach of the men's and women's U.S. speed skating teams in the 1968 Olympics at Grenoble, France. The announcement was made Thursday by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Mulkey To HSU

ABILENE — Richard Mulkey, a regular on the Abilene High School basketball team the past season, has signed a letter-of-intent at Hardin-Simmons University. Mulkey stands 6-0.

Richey To Meet Osuna On Court

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Cliff Richey and Arthur Ashe will carry America's hopes in the American Zone semifinals of the Davis Cup competition against Mexico here Saturday. Richey, 19, from Dallas, Tex., will meet veteran Rafael Osuna in the opening match, and Ashe, on a month's leave from the Army, will meet Marcelo Lara. On Sunday the doubles match will be contested by Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, and Martin Beaman of Evans-ton, Ill., for the United States against a Mexican team that has yet to be named, possibly Osuna and Joaquin Loyo Mayo. In the final matches on Monday, Richey and Ashe will switch opponents.

Pros Seeking A New Name For Title Go

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the American and National Football League have determined that Miami will be the site of their next championship game, they can settle down to the weighty matter of finding a suitable name for it. Commissioner Pete Rozelle isn't ready to conduct a nationwide contest in an effort to find a title for the title game, but he has solicited the aid of newsmen covering the pro football meetings which were to wind up today. Although they might not be winners—Rozelle is offering an unidentified prize if there is a winner—some of the early candidates are the Merger Bowl, the Summit Bowl and The Game. Officially, the name of the game that will be played in Miami's Orange Bowl Jan. 14, 1968, between the champions of the two leagues is The AFL-NFL World Championship Game. But by the time anyone could get all that out, television would have missed the first commercial.

So the label Super Bowl became popular. It was born unintentionally as an offhand remark by Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs, and it reached the point that there was Super Week, Super Sunday, Super Teams, Super Players, and infinitum. "We've never used Super Bowl officially or unofficially," a Rozelle spokesman said. "Not many people like it. It's a nickname, and it's a bad play on words. Everything became super this and super that." Club owners obviously had more important matters to discuss on the third day of the four-day meetings, but all that was made public was the naming of the site of the second Super — oops — AFL-NFL World Championship Game.

The first game was held last Jan. 15 in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Orange Bowl, where the AFL Dolphins play and which is being remodeled to accommodate the NFL's Playoff Bowl, which last year attracted 38,088 for a game between Philadelphia and Baltimore. Before selecting Miami and rejecting Los Angeles, Rozelle said, the owners considered bids from New Orleans and Houston. The Columbia Broadcasting System will pay $2.5 million for the rights to telecast the game. NBC will get the telecast of the game after the 1968 season, while CBS will have it again after the 1969 season when television contracts finally run out. CBS telecasts NFL games, and NBC has AFL games.

Hughes, making only his fifth start in the majors after struggling nine years in the minors, brought his record to a modest 2-1, the same mark he had with the Cardinals last season when they brought him up at the end of the year. "He never made it before because he was wild," Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst said. Hughes was walking more than four men a game in many of his minor league labors, although striking out twice that number. But with the Cardinals in 1966, he walked only seven men in 21 innings, struck out 20, pitched a 2-0 shutout in his first start and finished with a 1.71 earned run average. He has pitched 35 innings in 12 games—10 in relief—this season and walked only 14 while fanning 36 with a 2.83 era. Hughes struck out nine Braves and only eight-hitting Woody Woodward and Marty Martinez managed hits off him. Santo unloaded off reliever Ted Abernathy with one out after the Cubs loaded the bases against Gerry Arrigo on two walks and an error by Leo Cardenas. Before that, Randy Hundley of Chicago and Tony Perez of Cincinnati traded two-run homers; Don Kessinger and Adolfo Phillips doubled home runs for the Cubs, and Jim Malone hit a sacrifice fly and Tommy Helms a run-scoring single for the Reds.

Dick Hughes Finds Pickings Are Easy

By The Associated Press

Dick Hughes, a "wild man in the minor leagues," has opposing hitters in the major leagues under control now after taming himself. The St. Louis Cardinal right-hander put down the slugger Atlanta Braves 5-0 Thursday night with a two-hitter, made even brighter because he didn't walk a man. "That's the first regular season game I ever went nine innings without walking anyone," said the bespectacled 29-year-old rookie. "I did go nine innings once in spring training without a walk, but I was a wild man in the minor leagues."

In the only other National League game, the Chicago Cubs used their bats to bring league-leading Cincinnati under control 5-4 on Ron Santo's tie-breaking single in the ninth inning. In the American League, Washington beat Cleveland 2-1; Kansas City edged Minnesota 3-2 and Detroit pounded Boston 9-3.

Lions Win 8th Straight Little League Decision

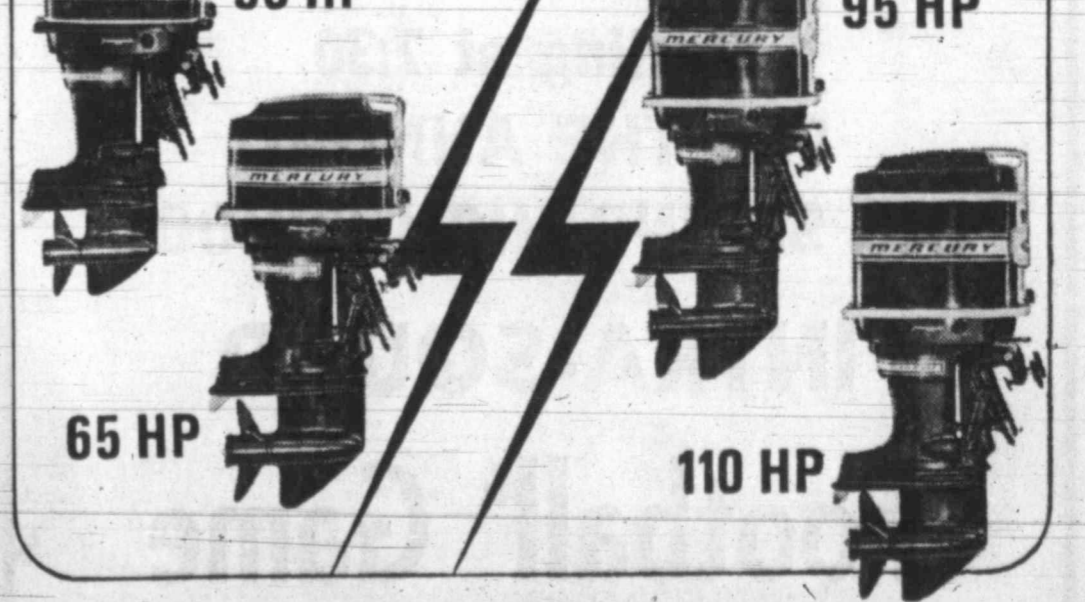

The Lions kept their National Little League record unscathed Thursday night by ripping the Cardinals 4-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Paul Douglas and Alan Davis. Each boy pitched three innings and Douglas, the starter, received credit for the win. The Lions concentrated most of their first power in the third inning, scoring three runs just before Douglas changed positions. Douglas pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Jones pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Davis pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Sifton pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Croft pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Miller pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Guthrie pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Reid pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Jordan pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Plevin pitched 2 1/3 innings, allowing 1 run on 10 hits and 1 walk. Totals: 21 4/3, 000 100-0. Cardinals: 000 000-0.

Rule, Zarley Assume Oklahoma City Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — If predictions win tournaments, Jack Rule Jr. and Kermit Zarley should finish well at the $66,000 Oklahoma City Open.

On a hot, windy day Thursday, Rule, who won in 1965, and Zarley, a former NCAA champion, shot three-under-par 68s to claim a one-stroke lead.

Gary Player, Miller Barber and unknown Larry Ziegler were at 70.

The tournament appeared headed toward the highest cut-off this year, with the wind pushing the projected cutoff to

Faircloth Heads First Foursome

First foursome to leave the clubhouse in the pro-am preceding the first annual Big Spring Jaycees' Invitational Golf Tournament this morning was captained by Gidd Faircloth, Kermit pro, and included a Kermit banker, Dalton Haynes, as well as two local players, D. O. Gray and Lewis Hefflin.

S. A. Smith, Andrews pro, indicated to J. B. Wetsel of the local Muny course that he would also take part and probably bring several players with him.

Wetsel held out hope that as many as 15 pros would take part in the 18 holes of play and that

Talons Nudge Rocket Nine

The Talons laid it on the Rockets in International Little League play here Thursday night, 10-2 running their worst record to 7-1. The Rockets are 3-4.

Barry Truett, who has been catching for the Talons, was dispatched to the pitching rubber with good results. He limited the Rockets to three hits and fanned nine.

The Talons erupted for six runs in the second inning. Truett shut out the Rockets in all but the third inning.

A. Dennis and Alired each collected two safeties for the Talons.

Marinaro Promoted
TORONTO (AP) — Hector Marinaro, coach of the Toronto Falcons, also was named general manager of the National Professional Soccer League team today. The Falcons are in last place in the circuit's Western Division.

Jensen Is Hired
RENO, Nev. (AP) — Jackie Jensen, former major league baseball and college football star, was named sports director Thursday of television station KTVN.

Jim Northrup On Rampage

There are flecks of gray in Jim Northrup's hair, but they're nothing compared to the worry lines the 27-year-old Detroit outfielder is producing in the brows of American League pitchers.

Northrup drove in five runs Thursday night—four of them on his second grand-slam home run in eight days—as the Tigers battered Boston 9-3.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City topped Minnesota 3-2 and Washington edged Cleveland 2-1.

The gray hair gives Northrup an elder statesman look, but he has a ready explanation for it.

"My mother and dad got gray early," he says. "I have an uncle with snow white hair. It runs in the family."

So Jim accepts his premature graying matter-of-factly. The same way he does his hitting.

"I think I should hit .300 up here," he says. "I've always tried to be the best. I can't do anything halfway."

His two hits against the Red Sox raised Northrup's batting average to .290. He has 21 runs batted in and three homers—two of them grand slams.

"When I try to hit home runs," he says, "I get myself messed up at the plate."

He messed up the Red Sox in the fifth inning Thursday night, climaxing a six-run rally with his bases-loaded shot. Al Kaline had driven in two runs with a single earlier in the inning.

The victory snapped a three-game Tiger slide and a four-game Boston winning streak.

Bert Campaneris scored all the way from second on Jim Gosger's two-out infield single in the seventh inning, giving the Athletics their winning run against Minnesota.

Campaneris had singled with two out and then stole second. Then he sped home as Gosger beat out a bounce to Harmon Killebrew.

Jim King delivered a two-out pinch single in the ninth inning, scoring Ken Harrelson with Washington's winning run against the Indians.

Harrelson had reached base on Max Alvis' error and moved up on a wild pitch. Then King, batting for Tim Cullen, singled through shortstop.

Leon Wagner accounted for Cleveland's run with a fourth inning homer, but the Senators tied the score in the sixth on singles by Hank Allen and Frank Howard and a double by Cap Peterson.

Hill Joins Club
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The 100-Mile-An-Hour Club, an exclusive racing organization of men who have gone the complete distance in the 500-mile race here without relief since speeds reached 100 miles an hour, inducted Graham Hill of London as its newest member Thursday night.

Lattin Signed
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Lattin, rebound artist from Texas Western, was signed Thursday by the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

Morton's, Webb Are Now Tied For League Lead

until the fifth inning, when Morton's broke the shackles for 12 runs. The game was called after five rounds, at which time the league's ten-run rule was invoked.

Jim Ward pitched the victory, surrendering four hits to the beleaguered City team. Tom Arista had a double for the City.

Billy Paul Thomas smashed a fifth inning home run with Joe Sharpnack had tripled.

Sharpnack, Thomas and Ronnie Dale Smith each collected two safeties for Morton's, which had 11 hits in all. One of Smith's drives went for two bases.

Morton's and Webb each have won five and lost two games now.

KEITH MILES QUILTS Snyder Seeking New Grid Coach

SNYDER — Snyder High School will have its third head football coach in three seasons this fall.

Keith Miles, on the job only one season, submitted his resignation Thursday.

Miles did not explain the reasons for his decision, other than to say that he may enter business with a brother in Abilene.

The resignation becomes effective June 15.

Miles becomes athletic director and head coach here Feb. 1, 1968. He came here from Quanah. He was named to succeed Horace Bostick as coach here, after Bostick quit to become assistant principal at Snyder High School.

Under Miles last season, Snyder won only three of ten starts. Before coming to Snyder, he had coached at Cisco and Mason.

The Snyder school board is due to act quickly to fill the position, since it would like the new coach to be on the scene this summer.

In his letter of resignation to the administration, Miles said he felt his effectiveness had diminished.

Miles' contract had been extended through the 1968 season this past February.

Snyder is now seeking both a head coach and a superintendent.

Pro Cagers Being Sued

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Professional basketball's legal war flared into a million-dollar court showdown Thursday when two former National Basketball Association teams filed suits to try to block the jumping of stars to the new American Basketball Association.

The St. Louis Hawks filed companion suits in U.S. District Court here to enjoin their rookie star, Lou Hudson, from playing with the Minnesota Muskies of the ABA. The Hawks also seek $3 million damages.

The San Francisco Warriors filed suit in San Francisco seeking to prevent Clyde Lee from going to New Orleans of the ABA. The Warriors seek $1 million plus an unspecified amount of damages.

Previously, the Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA filed suit to attempt to stop Jim Barnes from going to Dallas of the ABA.

Hudson, runner-up to Detroit's Dave Bing in the NBA's Rookie-of-the-Year voting this past season, signed a three-year contract with Minnesota last week reportedly for between $150,000 and $200,000.

Lee, former Vanderbilt All-American, reportedly has signed a two-year, $90,000 contract with New Orleans.

At issue is the reserve clause in NBA contracts, which the established league contends binds a player to a team for at least one year after he completes a contract.

The NBA's reserve clause is similar to that of baseball, but a crucial difference is that baseball enjoys immunity from the antitrust laws under Supreme Court sanction. Basketball has no such solid legal support, and it is under the antitrust laws that ABA attorneys will challenge the NBA contracts.

The NBA reserve clause specifies that when a player's contract is expiring, he is offered a new contract by Sept. 1 of that year. If he does not sign by Oct. 1, the old contract is considered in effect for the coming year, with the player subject to a 25 per cent pay cut.

It's Good Thing Firemen At Home

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — "Anyone home?" the truck driver shouted as he pulled up outside the suburban Spanaway fire station.

The load in his country refuse truck was ablaze. It was soon extinguished, and the vehicle left undamaged.

"It was our first drive-in fire of the year," said Chief John J. Farren.

THE CORRUPT ONES

10-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, May 26, 1967

Dear Abby

He Has 'Papa Myopia'

DEAR ABBY: I have a teenage daughter who is absolutely miserable about the size of her nose. She has been taunted and teased about it ever since she can remember.

I have been in correspondence with a reputable plastic surgeon, who will schedule her for an operation during summer vacation if I bring her in and he thinks she's "mature" enough.

My problem is my husband. He thinks our daughter is "beautiful" the way she is and doesn't need that kind of operation. He blames me for taking her side and says if it doesn't come out right it will be my fault. We don't expect miracles, but almost anything would be an improvement over what she has now. What can I do, Abby?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband has "Papa myopia." If your daughter has been taunted and teased about her nose, she "needs" the operation so necessary to a teenager. Take your daughter to the plastic surgeon and get his opinion. (If he's reputable, he will be honest.) I vote with you and your daughter.

DEAR ABBY: Auggie and I have gone together for two years and we planned to announce our engagement officially with a ring at the wedding of Auggie's sister next month. When we told Auggie's mother of our plan she vetoed it on the spot saying it would take all the attention away from the bride. She asked us to announce it before, or after the wedding, but not the same day.

Abby, it wasn't our intention to take any attention away from the bride. We just thought that since all Auggie's relatives and friends would be at the wedding it would be an ideal time to make our announcement. I am terribly disappointed. What do you think of Auggie's mother? What should we do?

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I think Auggie's mother was out of line, but in the interest of future family harmony, respect her wishes. (P.S. There is a lot to be said for keeping one's mouth shut.)

DEAR ABBY: I am so disgusted with myself I could just die. I sent my 10-year-old daughter off to school with no breakfast because she was slow in getting dressed.

She was crying when she left, and I shouted after her that I didn't care if she ever came back! Abby, I acted like a madman, yelling and screaming and banging things around, and all because she was a little behind schedule, which isn't such a serious crime.

After she left I sat down and cried. I feel so sorry for that child. She is really a sweet girl and I shouldn't be so hard on her, but it seems like I'm always picking on her for something. I am so ashamed of myself. What's wrong with me? Are there other mothers who act this way?

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Yes, there are other mothers who act that way, but they blame the child. Few are wise enough to admit that the trouble could be with them. When did you last have a thro check up? See your doctor. Perhaps your nerves could use a tonic.

East Terrace Awards Slated

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and John Ben Shepperd of Odessa will speak here Sunday at East Terrace, an historic house museum on the Brazos.

The occasion will be the presentation ceremony for the official restoration award from the state. The Heritage Society of Waco will receive the certificate for its restoration of the 100-year-old John Wesley Mann House known as East Terrace.

Sen. Murray Watson of Mart will also be on the program with Roger Conger of Waco, chairman of the Texas Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission; Harry Provencher, editor-in-chief of Newspapers, Inc.; and Mrs. Edward Randall Jr. of Galveston, member of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

East Terrace is a 16-room mansion in the Italianate Villa architectural mode.

Ditch Crash Kills Texas A&M Student

DALLAS (AP)—A car crashed into a ditch Thursday and killed Joseph G. Howell, 20, of Dallas. He was a Texas A&M student.

Boom Town Oil Workers Leave Jobs

MOSCOW (AP)—The oil fields around a boom town in Siberia are losing about three-quarters of their workers a year. The high labor turnover is blamed on primitive living conditions.

The boom town of Surgut—on the Ob River in central Siberia—was opened in 1964. Oil has never been produced in this area before.

"The country needs oil," the first workers were told.

They lived in a windowless building and carried rifles to keep off the wolves at night.

OUTPUT JUMPS

Soon people were pouring in, with the young in the overwhelming majority. Fifty wells were drilled. Output shot up, tripling each year.

But authorities paid scant attention to improving living conditions. The first enthusiasm disappeared. In 1961, half those employed in the oil complex left their jobs. By last year the labor turnover had risen to 72 percent.

ALIMONY ESCAPEES

"We came to the conclusion that the turnover can only increase further," an article in Literaturnaya Gazeta—literary gazette—said. The magazine sent a team of writers to study conditions in the town.

Surgut has attracted a mixture of people—"veteran oil drillers, Siberian collective farmers, bricklayers, new graduates of technical institutes, solid family men, divorced husbands trying to escape alimony, young and old enthusiasts—and skeptics—looking for money and a place in life."

Two-thirds of the residents are 20 to 34. Men outnumber women five to two. Medical services are lacking. Conveniences and amenities are practically unknown.

HARD LIFE

Seven cooperative organizations bring in necessities but not one has a refrigerator. Thus it is impossible to sell fresh meat or fish.

Oil drillers and construction hands eat mostly canned vegetable soup. Even potatoes give out sporadically.

It is impossible to get things repaired.

The oil and construction workers get hardship bonuses amounting to 70 per cent of basic pay. They also get longer vacations and the right to travel free of charge anywhere in the country once every three years.

Most apparently find this does not make up for the hard life.

Columnist Halts Regular Pieces

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Lippmann—77 years old and a columnist for 36 years—has announced he is stopping his regular newspaper pieces.

In a brief final installment of his twice-a-week column, he wrote Thursday: "More and more, I have come to wish to get rid of the necessity of knowing day in and day out, what the blood pressure is at the White House and who said what and who saw whom and who is listened to and who is not listened to."

The Los Angeles Times syndicate had distributed Lippmann's column since the New York World Journal Tribune went out of business recently. The New York Herald Tribune had been the home of his column from 1931 until the paper died last year.

Lippmann said he plans to write articles for newspapers occasionally.

TEXANS AT WAR Point Trooper Draws VC Fire

By The Associated Press

Lance Cpl. Carlos Cuellar, a Texan at war, was point man when the Viet Cong opened up with automatic weapons.

Wounded

Lance Cpl. Carlos Cuellar of George West was the trooper ahead of the main body of military forces on a patrol when VC opened up fire with automatic weapons. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Two wounds tore into his left thigh. Point man is the trooper ahead of the main body of the military and his job is considered the most dangerous in the ground forces.

PINNED DOWN

The automatic rifle fire pinned the rest of the squad down but not before his fellow Marines formed a protective perimeter around him.

"We were supposed to meet up with another patrol and set up an ambush," he says, "but we made contact with the enemy instead."

The Marines had been notified that the Viet Cong had fortified bunkers and lines ahead in the hills, but they didn't expect to run into the enemy so soon.

AREA SPRAYED

"We were out in the open they opened up," said Cuellar, 22, who was born in Three Rivers and grew up in George West.

The squad formed the perimeter and called for reinforcements. Cuellar was the only man wounded.

Two helicopters, one for medical evacuation and the other armed, appeared shortly and the Viet Cong fired on them.

"The armed Huey (helicopter) sprayed the area with machine-gun fire," Cuellar said, and that sent the Viet Cong heading for cover.

He was airlifted out of the Power Line Jolt Kills Texas Trio

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Daniel T. Poston, 31, his wife and their son Danny, 10, were electrocuted while installing an amateur radio antenna.

It brushed against a power line carrying 72,000 volts.

Danny's friend, Johnny Kelly, 11, who was in the back yard, said Poston and Danny were in a tree and Mrs. Poston was on the ground with her hands on the base of the antenna Thursday when she screamed.

"A bolt of flame came down the wires back of the tree," Johnny said.

Lawmakers Hail Midland Pilot

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate unanimously approved a resolution Thursday praising Paul Rachal of Midland for his flight this week from New York to Paris to commemorate Charles Lindbergh's solo flight 40 years ago.

sey Hardeman of San Angelo, said in part, "Texas is proud of the courage and adventurous spirit of its young men and the Senate of Texas wishes to recognize the New York-Paris commemorative flight of Paul Rachal to Midland."

Rachal, 23, landed at Le Bourget Field Tuesday after his 15 hour, 59 minute flight. He piloted a single-engine plane that is to be delivered to a buyer in Switzerland.
