Has Privacy

Irish Good To Jackie

WATERFORD, Ireland (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has found privacy in the land of her husband's ancestors. Free from camera lights and prying eyes, she went to an Irish pub Friday night, and only those in the place were aware of it.

The pub is in the tiny fishing village called Passage East, four miles from the secluded mansion where Mrs. Kennedy and the children are guests of the Murray McDonnells.

Unannounced and completely unexpected, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. McDonnell walked into the Pier Bar, a tiny pub off the usual tourist beat.

Never Expected Her

"You could have knocked me over with a feather," said the landlord, Denis Twomey, 40. "The last thing in the world I ever expected was to see Mrs. Kennedy walk into my bar."

The regular Friday night sing-song which Passage East's fishermen hold in an upstairs room was under way.

Mrs. Kennedy sipped orange juice while the fishermen sang some of the President Kennedy's favorite songs. One was "The Boys of Wexford," which was played at the late president's funeral. Another was "The Croppy Boy," Mrs. Kennedy herself requested, "Danny Boy," and one of the old rebel songs, "The Boys of the County Cork."

'A World Of Good'

In the seclusion of the McDonnell's country estate, ringed by policemen, she and her children are enjoying their vacations. She says the privacy is doing them all a world of good.

They get up early for pre-breakfast horseback riding, a game of croquet or a swim at the lonely beaches along the nearby Atlantic coastline. Caroline, 9, and John, 6, are thriving on it all.

May Stay Longer

In fact the world around County Waterford is that Mrs. Kennedy may decide to extend the vacation, originally planned for four weeks by two more weeks.

When Mrs. Kennedy and the children arrived in Ireland nine days ago for their vacation—in a rented mansion with a 240-acre estate, the prospects for privacy looked slim.

About 100 newsmen and photographers from the United States and Europe were on hand. More than 80 security men, including two U.S. Secret Service agents, braced for a workout.

The Press Has Gone

But all the newspaper and television men have gone. And the Irish people seem almost deliberately to have stayed away from the area, just to let the Kennedys have peace.

Mrs. Kennedy is keeping her plans totally secret. But she definitely will travel to Dublin next week to spend a day or two as house guest of President Eamon De Valera.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Rain, like wealth, isn't necessarily distributed evenly. One relatively small area east of Big Spring had up to four inches or more in less than half an hour late Wednesday. The same area took a beating, too, from high, turbulent winds and battering hail. Sid Richardson Carbon Company had a costly explosion in one big filter, unit, adding to other multiplied thousands of dollars damage from the freakish storm which moved in from the northeast and then dug in its heels and blew back.

Many odd things happened like small structures being lifted over others, trailer houses overturning, a concrete block fence being flattened, automobiles being rolled or back ends picked up and swung around. But the oddest of all was blowing a loaded box car from the Richardson plant onto the T&P main line where it had enough momentum to get over the jump and roll 14 miles eastward to Iatan Flat. Passing motorists, out of the storm area, thought they were dreaming when a tone box car came rolling down the tracks.

The rain added some to the Moss Creek Lake level, but most of the runoff went down Beal's Creek and eventually into the Colorado. Much of

Meredith Marches Again

James Meredith strides away from spot south of Hernando, Miss., where little over a year ago he was shot down as he attempted to walk from Memphis, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss. He hopes to complete his march in another 10 days. (AP WIREPHOTO).

Meredith Making His Second 'Walk'

COLDWATER, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith waved and shook hands with scores of admiring Negroes Saturday as he began a second "walk against fear" to dramatize Mississippi's growing Negro vote.

Several white motorists, slowing as they met the small Meredith party on narrow, winding U.S. 51, wished the short, stocky Negro well on his 200-mile hike to Jackson, the state capital. Meredith was accompanied by five other men, two of them white.

EARLIER AMBUSH

Meredith, whose enrollment at the University of Mississippi touched off a riot in 1962, commenced the walk at the isolated spot two miles below Hernando, where he was gunned down from ambush on the second day of his original march a year ago.

"We remember that it wasn't a Mississippian who shot me," he told Alfred Dockery, a candidate for DeSoto County sheriff in the Aug. 8 Democratic primary.

War Victims On The Move

ALLENBY BRIDGE, Jordan (AP) — About 5,000 weary Arab refugees crossed the Jordan River in 104-degree heat Saturday, their numbers sharply reduced apparently because Israeli authorities did not run bus convoys from Jerusalem on the Jewish Sabbath.

Refugees who reached Amman, Jordan's capital, said Israeli units were systematically destroying Jordanian villages along Israel's border after removing thousands of inhabitants by force, intimidation and trickery.

The villages are in an area from which Israelis say Arab guerrillas raided Israel before the war earlier this month.

An estimated 100,000 Arabs have crossed the river, the current truce line between Israeli and Jordanian forces since the cease-fire more than two weeks ago.

Refugees said they doubted that many Arabs in the part of Jordan held by Israeli troops were heading King Hussein's appeals to stay put. Hussein broadcast his second appeal Friday.

Air Of Hope At Summit Meetings

Kosygin Just A Tourist At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin oh-ed and ah-ed at Niagara Falls like millions of tourists before him Saturday, and said the spectacle had made a "memorable impression" on him.

"We'll always maintain these impressions in our memories," he said before flying back to New York to prepare for the second half of his summit conference with President Johnson.

ENJOYED IT

Back in New York after the 6½-hour trip, Kosygin greeted reporters at Kennedy Airport with a thumbs up gesture and a smiling "I enjoyed it, I enjoyed it."

Kosygin and President Johnson are scheduled to meet at 1:30 p.m. EDT Sunday in Glassboro, N.J., the same little college town where they held the first half of their historic session on Friday.

The President loaned Kosygin one of his White House planes for the trip here. He had suggested Niagara Falls when Kosygin mentioned at Glassboro that he'd like to see some more sights.

WARM GREETINGS

Kosygin made a good impression in this area, which is much more used to its highly vocal anti-Communist Polish community than to the leading figures of world communism.

Greetings were warm wherever he appeared and police estimated that during his unexpected visit here he was seen by about 15,000 people, who had heard on the radio or television that he was coming.

More Rainfall On South Plains

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains and pounding hail damaged crops in the South Plains of Texas Saturday as a weak cool front barged through the section after sliding down the slopes of the Rocky Mountains.

At mid-evening, drenching rains fell in a 70-mile radius around Lubbock except in the southeastern quarter.

Levelland received 2.80 inches of rain along with golf ball-size hail and winds of up to 57 miles per hour.

U.S. Paratrooper Unit Battered By Vietnamese

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese regulars chopped up a company of 130 Americans of the 173rd Airborne Brigade in a central highlands battle Thursday, killing 76 and wounding 24, the U.S. command disclosed belatedly Saturday.

"We're bracing for an all-out attack, we're laid in well," was the last message radioed from three of the company's platoons which, isolated from the rest of the command, bore the brunt of three human-wave assaults by a screaming Communist battalion.

ENEMY CASUALTIES

Patrols checking over blood-spattered bunkers around the battle site near Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, estimated from 400 to 500 of the Communists had been killed. But the official word here was: "No firm enemy casualty count has been reported."

B32 jet Stratofortresses, each packing 30 tons of bombs, blasted at enemy positions in jungles and bamboo thickets of the area even as headquarters spokesmen lifted a 48-hour blackout which they said had been imposed on news of the action for security reasons.

TEXAN LEADER

Capt. David A. Milton of Dallas, Tex., the company commander, was among the 54 survivors. He told AP correspondent John Lengel at Dak To that he would like to decorate every one of his men.

Some Agreement On Mideast Seen

NEW YORK (AP) — Agreement to limit the nuclear arms race and measures to curtail the danger of a new explosion in the Middle East may come out of the summit diplomacy launched with unexpected success Friday by President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

COME TO TERMS

Furthermore, a Kosygin invitation to Johnson to visit the Soviet Union some day seemed virtually certain as a result of Kosygin's trip to Niagara Falls Saturday at Johnson's suggestion.

The effect of improving U.S.-Soviet relations on the prospects for peace in Vietnam, however, was extremely difficult to predict at this time. U.S. officials believe Kosygin would like to start a move toward peace, but they consider Soviet influence in Hanoi still sharply limited by Red Chinese hostility and North Vietnamese determination.

Fallen Plane 'Came Apart In The Air'

BLOSSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Amid reports of sabotage, investigators probing the still-smoldering wreckage of a Mohawk Airlines jetliner crash that killed 34 persons reported Saturday the plane had come apart in the air.

"Based on the first appraisal from the scene, it is obvious that the plane came apart in the air," said Edward E. Slattery Jr., safety information officer of the National Transportation Safety Board. "Part of the tail was found 1,000 feet from the main wreckage indicating that the plane broke up in the air."

Slattery said, however, that this did not affirm or reject the possibility of sabotage, raised Friday, after the plane had crashed by Mohawk President Robert E. Peach.

Peach wired FBI director J. Edgar Hoover Friday night, saying, "evidence has developed in course of notification of next in kind of crash victims which leads to strong suggestion of sabotage."

He did not elaborate, and a Mohawk spokesman in Utica, N.Y., replied "not necessarily" when asked if the evidence involved any particular passenger.

The FBI said in Washington that it had no determination of the accident cause and no evidence of sabotage which would justify its entering the investigation.

Rodeo Finale Another Tough Night For The Contestants

Rugged cowboys continued Saturday night to find the stock even more rugged than men and, as a result, the high hopes of many of the top rodeo hands at the 34th Annual Howard County Cowboy Reunion rodeo came to low ebb.

A crowd of about 5,000 was on hand for the final night. This was said to be the largest turnout of the four nights the rodeo has been under way.

Top money winners for the week in the several events were announced.

Many were men already high in the ranks of experts in the events and pulling for the coveted national RCA championships.

Young Roy Burk of Duncan was the winner of top spot in calf roping with a score of 23.72. Clyde Fort, Lubbock, placed second with 29.73. Third place went to Dan Riggs, Dryden, with 29.88. Joe Wier, home address not known, was fourth with 30.39.

Johnson Gets A Visit With His Grandson

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP) — President Johnson saw Saturday the grandchild who already has figured in one summit conference and may in another summit session Sunday.

The trip from the LBJ ranch to an Austin hospital to see Patrick Lyndon Nugent, the new son of his daughter Luci, was interspersed among telephone conferences in preparation for a second meeting with the Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin at Glassboro, N.J.

TALKING POINT

Something of what the President described as "the spirit of Hollybush" may have been attributable to the fact that the chiefs of state of the world's most powerful nations found a pleasant, convenient talking point in grandchildren.

Hollybush is the residence of the president of Glassboro State College where the President and premier found a sort of neutral ground for a long summit conference Friday.

In about the second instant after they met, Kosygin was bragging a bit that he is an experienced grandfather with 18 years' start on Johnson—who at that time hadn't even seen his first grandchild born Wednesday.

And the two of them kept coming back to grandpaternal expressions during the five-odd hours they were together. Kosygin had a present for Patrick Lyndon, a gold baby cup he turned over to Johnson for delivery.

Second Suspect Is Sought In 16 Bank Robberies

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The FBI searched Saturday for a second man in connection with one of a string of 16 bank holdups which had once been attributed to a single cool elusive gunman—the "commuter bandit."

The 16 robberies were good for $171,000 over 5½ years.

The FBI obtained a warrant for the arrest of Richard P. Chiocea, 26, of Pittsburgh's Clifton Oliver section, accusing him of taking part in the Aug. 24, 1964, theft of $15,040 from Pittsburgh National Bank's Carroll office.

Friday the FBI picked up William E. Zeiler, 52, at his grocery store on the North Side, the opposite side of the city from Chiocea's home.

Zeiler was charged with stealing $9,000 in a Sept. 23, 1963, holdup.

The FBI wouldn't say if there was any relationship between the men.

Reagan Makes A Big Hit In Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California tested his political philosophy before leaders of the Nebraska Republican Party Saturday and came away with another success.

His reception, however, warm, was nothing like the enthusiastic response he received from the Young Republican National Federation here Friday night.

Still insisting he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, Reagan drew his biggest applause for comments on national and international issues.

He brought the audience of more than 500 to its feet when he declared:

"When a country asks a man to fight and die in a war, then that country has the obligation to provide all resources possible to win that war as quickly as possible. We can win in Vietnam. Ho Chi Minh should be sitting on an apple crate."

More applause greeted his declaration that the United Nations should be reorganized. Reagan said countries with only 10 per cent of the world's population can come up with a two-thirds vote of the U.N. and "The United States should not subordinate its foreign policy to the will of that body."

Commenting on problems in his own state, the governor said he hopes to have tuition imposed on California's college system. But he noted: "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned and a woman hath no fury like the intellectual community when some one steps on its toes."

Reagan said the troubles on the University of California at Berkeley are the result of a national, if not international campaign.

The crowd cheered when he declared:

"The people have the right to lay down the rules on public education and if anybody doesn't want to follow those rules, they can go somewhere else."

Reagan also lambasted federal spending, the War on Poverty, and what he called the trend of government away from the Constitution.

Texas Oil Allowable Given Hefty Boost For Next Month

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas oil production will be allowed to June at the commission's state-wide hearing June 30. Because of the Middle East crisis, the commission at the June hearing amended the 22.5 per cent factor set for June at the May hearing, but postponed setting a factor for July until more data was available on the effects of the crisis on domestic and foreign demand for American oil.

The Railroad Commission increased the July allowable late Friday to 42.9 per cent of potential, the highest percentage factor ever set.

The factor is a big 7 per cent

42.9 PCT. FACTOR

Under the 42.9 per cent factor, a maximum production of 3,512,942 barrels a day may be produced. This is an increase of 399,851 barrels over June's maximum allowable under the amended factor.

The July allowable is expected to provide an additional $1.5 million in state oil tax revenue. Not since the increase in the allowable during the Suez Crisis more than a decade ago has the Texas allowable been so high. More than 50 per cent of potential production was permitted than under the day-allowable system—production for so many days a month.

The commission switched to the percentage factor system in January 1963, and the highest factor set since the inauguration of that system was last January's 37.5 per cent. Some oil experts predicted then it would reach 40 before the year was out, but instead it declined for four straight months, settling to 33.9 per cent for May and also for June before the June allowable was amended.

CLOSE WATCH

There was an oil glut in 1957 when Arab oil again moved through the Suez Canal, and the commission warned Friday that a close watch must be kept on domestic supply and on imports.

The commission said it has asked Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for "executive assurance" that total U.S. stocks will be reduced to normal working levels before any resumption of importation of Arab oil in previous quantities.

The calendar allowable, by district, for July, with the June figure listed second for comparison:

- 1—60,441 barrels, 58,413.
- 2—179,624, 146,631.
- 3—447,369, 398,780.
- 4—283,473, 249,925.
- 5—37,253, 32,349.
- 6 (outside East Texas Field)—167,428, 147,648.
- 6 (East Texas Field)—155,026, 135,247.
- 7B—137,602, 126,196.

Town Needs Help On Memorial To Young War Hero

LOS LUNAS, N. M. — This village of 1,400 is seeking to build a living memorial to the town's former paper boy — SP4 Danny Fernandez.

Danny threw himself on a live hand grenade tossed into the midst of a group of soldiers attempting to rescue a wounded sergeant. The Congressional Medal of Honor was awarded posthumously to his parents.

Now the village is seeking to build a park with an enclosed swimming pool in memory of Danny and all veterans who have died in Vietnam. The town has averaged $10 a head but needs outside help. Gifts may be mailed to the Danny Fernandez Committee, Box 92, Los Lunas.

46 In Class 67-H Win Their Wings

Forty-four United States Air Force officers and two Iranian officers became rated jet pilots Saturday at Webb AFB. The men were members of pilot training Class 67-H, graduated in ceremonies on the Webb flight line during a wing parade and review.

Col. Chester J. Butcher, wing commander, presented the graduates their certificates of aeronautical rating while Col. Thomas J. Rowland Jr., deputy commander for operations awarded them their silver wings.

The class was honored at a dining-in Friday night at the Officers' Open Mess. Speaker for the affair was Maj. Gen. Robert F. Worley, deputy chief of staff for Operations, Headquarters, Tactical Air Command (TAC), Langley AFB, Va.

Three class officers received special awards at the dining-in. Capt. Willis E. Pemberton was awarded the ATC Commander's Trophy and the Academic Training Award. The Officer Training Award went to 1st Lt. Orvin H. Ramlo Jr., while 2nd Lt. Robert L. Ludlam received the Flying Training Award.

Outstanding officer graduates are Captains Peter H. Chapman II, Francesco P. Frullo, Edward R. Marsey, Gerald J. O'Halloran, Willis E. Pemberton, Owen H. Wormser and 1st Lt. Victor L. Genex and Orvin H. Ramlo Jr.

In addition to the class graduation Saturday, five Webb officers received medals. Maj. Carl A. Wyrick received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the fourth oak leaf cluster to the Air Medal. Maj. Gaylon O. Smith was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. The first oak leaf cluster to the Air Medal and a Bronze Star was presented to Capt. Ronnie D. Bouldin, while Capt. R. Adult Leaders Named To Help Junior Rodeo Formation of an adult leaders organization and election of the Junior Rodeo directors occupied the agenda of the county-wide 4-H meeting Friday night.

Officers elected to serve on the Howard County Adult 4-H Council were: Lloyd Robinson, president; James Shaw, vice president; Raymond Phillips, secretary; Harold Coleman, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, reporter; Robinson and Mrs. Gaskins will also serve as district council delegates.

Elected Junior Rodeo directors were: Michael Bridge, Freddy Newman, James Shaw, Brad Posey, Danny Fryar, and Mike Brady.

The executive committee of the adult council will meet in the near future to set up some tentative rules regarding functions and organization," said Mrs. Gaskins. She also reported that a rodeo committee had been appointed to work with the Junior Rodeo directors to assign responsibilities for the August rodeo.

Appointed to the committee were Rip Bailey, Raymond

Tandy Curlee To Lead Drama Unit

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City Playhouse Players elected lumberman Tandy Curlee as president last week, replacing radio executive Porter Richardson.

Curlee and other new officers will take office July 1. Other new officers include Bob Reilly, vice president; Miss Anita Richardson, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Derigibus, treasurer.

New directors are Mrs. Arnel Smith, Don Delaney and Gerald Gordon. Joe Earnest is legal adviser for the Players and is a continuing member of the board of directors.

Local Witnesses Go To Amarillo

Fifty members of the Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are planning to take part in a four-day district assembly in Amarillo Thursday through Sunday. A mass baptism of new students who have undergone discipleship will be one of the convention's main features.

Over 100 candidates are expected to be baptized, said Frank Davis, representing the local circuit. The witnesses hold that candidates must undergo a period of service to establish dedication prior to baptism.

New Contract Awarded For Stanton's Urban Renewal

STANTON — A contract has been awarded to H. G. Counts of Midland for a $450,000 project which is the first phase of Stanton's urban renewal program for the south part of town. Work will start almost immediately, Mayor S. W. Wheeler said Saturday.

The prime item in this job will be the excavation of a 20-ft. deep lake to capture flood waters and hold them for injection into underground formations.

Combined with this is the conversion of the lake basin into a park area.

REROUTING LINES
Another major component of the job will be the rerouting of water and sewer lines now in the natural, shallow lake basin on south side of the Texas & Pacific tracks, plus extension of water and sewer lines to all parts of the south side which are not now served.

When bids for the program were received recently, they were nearly $50,000 over estimates. The Stanton city council, together with urban renewal officials, whittled some of the plans for playground equipment, seating on the lake slopes and landscaping and brought it within the money. Mayor Wheeler was notified Friday afternoon that the contract had been awarded to Counts, the previous low bidder. Stanton has already advanced its portion of the project cost.

FLOOD CONTROL

Because of its flood control potential, this program is one of the most vital in the sequence of urban renewal projects for Stanton, said the mayor. Many times water has backed over the tracks into business houses on the north side, he recalled. This has created a traffic problem because US 80 parallels US 80 on the north side of the tract. Also traffic between north and south Stanton has been complicated during these periods and a health problem created during the long periods water stands in the natural bowl.

PARK AREA

The lake will be cut to a depth of 20 feet with a 600,000 base, which will be developed into a ball park and a playground-park area. The walls will be on 10-1 slopes, giving the top area approximately a million square feet surface or about 25 acres. The basin also will have some landscaping.

Located adjacent to the deep basin will be filtration-purification systems and four injection wells. The purification is necessary to prevent plugging of the underground formations. When flood waters drain into the bowl, the wells will go into action. Once the supply is pumped out, the bottom once more will become a park center.

MORE TO COME

The $40,000 project is part of an ultimate project which would cost $1,745,204, of which the federal agency has earmarked $1,561,704 as its portion. The ultimate project would involve considerable construction of pavement and sidewalks.

Stanton's initial urban renewal at a cost of $643,901, of which Stanton furnished $132,708. This included purchase of over 30 sub-standard and hazardous residences, resale of the lots for new residential construction; also about $87,741 (plus $26,047 by Stanton) for water and sewer extensions (including 8,200 feet of new 6-in. mains); $400,000 for paving ($61,609 Stanton's share). The city also has two public housing projects of 108 units.

Costly Tax Rebate

ATTLEBORO, Mass. (AP) — Frederick Coughlin's Massachusetts state income tax return showed he had a rebate of one cent due.

Coughlin exhibited the check to friends, pointing out it cost the state five cents postage to send it. But the item charge at his bank is 10 cents — so to deposit it would cost him nine cents.

False Fire Alarm

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — There was smoke and there was fire, but not the kind a fire department is needed for.

The St. Louis Fire Department was called to the River Queen showboat and restaurant recently when a passer-by saw smoke coming from the boat which was docked in the Mississippi River near the Gateway Arch.

The firemen returned to the station after they found the source of the smoke — the boat's barbecue pit.

Water Pollution Board Sets Texas Inspections

DALLAS (AP) — An inspection tour of several specific spots in Texas will begin Monday in the Fort Worth-Dallas area by President Johnson's advisory board on water pollution.

The four will last four days, winding up in Houston. The board will visit San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Galveston and the Houston industrial complex in addition to the North Texas area.

Aerial inspections will be made of reservoirs in the middle Brazos basin, the Highland Lakes, and Lower Rio Grande Valley, the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area and the Toledo Bend Reservoir.

Object of the tour and a hearing in Houston will be to adopt water quality standards for Texas.

The board was invited to Texas by Gov. John Connally and the Texas anti-pollution board.

The federal board is under the Interior Department and its anti-pollution functions are set out in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The act states its purpose as that of improving water quality while recognizing primary responsibilities and rights of the states in preventing and controlling pollution.

The federal government also provides a certain amount of money for sewage treatment plants with local governments providing the remainder of the money.

The government can help states enforce water quality which is set by state or federal action. The federal act also sets up standards for coastal waters and interstate streams.

The Evolution of Pharmacy

By Bill R. Spain, R. Ph.

Hippocrates died at the age of 88, laden with honors the likes of which have probably never been bestowed on any other man in the field of pharmacy or medicine. Perhaps the greatest monument to this man, which lives today as strongly as it did then, is the well known Hippocratic Oath. This is the "code of ethics" that many people live by, not just in the field of medicine alone. We would all do well to live by this code in our daily lives.

Along with our low discount prices on all prescriptions, drugs and other needs, we offer sincere friendly service. Friendliness is just sort of built in to our fair pricing policy and accurate compounding of prescriptions, here at

You Can Put Safety First

You and members of your family are encouraged to attend any of a series of demonstrations this week in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, offered as a public service by Texas Electric Service Company in joint sponsorship with The Herald. The summer season is the time to learn the basic facts of first aid, and you may get these through lectures, films and demonstrations in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation with the mannequin, "Resusci-Ann." Shown here with the mannequin are Bob Dunson and Mrs. Frances Wheat of the TESCO staff.

TO BE SURE YOU'RE SAFE

Free Lessons Available In Artificial Respiration

Want to be able to put safety first during the Independence Day holidays, or during your summer vacation?

If you want basic instructions on the accepted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation method, you have an opportunity this week.

Texas Electric Service Company and The Herald are joining in sponsoring a continuous series of safety-first demonstrations on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

These will be held in the Reddy Room at TESCO's downtown offices, and are open to all the public, without any charge or fee. All ages of people are welcome, and families are urged to come in groups.

The sessions, to be conducted by trained personnel, will be conducted throughout the day, but must be arranged in advance. So, if you would like to go through the demonstration (it takes no more than an hour), call 7-6383 and ask for the Safety Coordinator. A scheduling will be made at your convenience.

but it is necessary that the phone reservation be made. The number of people at each session will be limited, so those wishing to take actual practice on the mannequin (named "Resusci-Ann") may do so. For this reason, only those who call can be accommodated. The training session will consist of a film narrative, running about 30 minutes, then a demonstration. After that, those who wish to may practice on "Resusci-Ann."

It has been well established that the mouth-to-mouth method is the most effective way to give artificial respiration to those who needed it — and this emergency treatment is vital in many cases of accidents which occur over the holidays and during the summer outing period.

The Herald - TESCO series are simply to help more people become reasonably well informed on how to perform in an emergency, and perhaps save a life.

"The film, the demonstration, and the chance to practice with the mannequin can prove invaluable to all the public," said Don Womack, Texas Electric manager.

"More people should be aware of what to do when artificial respiration is needed. Our series of lectures and demonstrations can be of important help. We want adults and young people to come. All they have to do is phone as outlined above."

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

They Hung The Fastest Gun In Texas Twice

By ED SYERS

As you note, OBT periodically trails a Texas gunslinger . . . since you can't explore our old State without encountering Judge Colt. To hand name withheld, comes a sympathetic account of one of the West's deadliest, Bill Longley. It's digested here, not for sympathy but for strange claim: this man was hanged more than once.

Like Wes Hardin, William Preston Longley of Giddings-Brenham country was of the generation too young for the Confederate gray but old enough, they figured, to keep a private war going after the Cause was lost. Also like Hardin, Longley came of good family. At age 15, he was a model son, strapping and handsome as a young Rock Hudson . . . and already cat-fast with a gun.

It was at that age, riding the old road for Bastrop with his father, Bill's war began. As he later saw it, a pistol-drawn Carpetbagger barred their way, "insulted" his father and died almost as he saw the boy's gunhand strike. From there, as with Hardin, anything that meant Reconstruction was enemy. Within three months in Lee and Washington counties, Longley's Colt had three notches. And he, now, was fugitive.

"FIRST" NOOSE

First he tried Karnes County brush, but drew another notch-pursuing trooper this time. Then he dodged north and west on an outlaw trail that would kill 32 times but could have only one ending, however its start. Heading for Arkansas, he felt his first noose.

Near the Sabine, midnight vigilantes trapped him with a companion, strung both to opposite limbs of a gallows tree, rode off, firing into the swinging bodies. Longley's money belt stopped one slug, his choking rope, another. His 200 pound weight fell to the ground, and, hidden out, he recovered. From there, he was killer—any provocation would do. One story says a quick victim was the man who'd hanged him. For that one, Longley used the same tree.

Running, he ranged from Missouri to Utah, escaped Kansas and Wyoming jails, hid with the Ute Indians, then tried for his homeland once more. But whatever his Texas range — Mason County to Bell to Delta — it was a gunslinger's labyrinth, killing on killing. He was scarcely 26 when they took him from the Louisiana forests across from San Augustine and Center. They fought his case for a year; but Oct. 11, 1878, at Giddings, near where it all started, Bill Longley walked to a scaffold for his second hanging. There, the record closes.

LEGEND KEPT HIM ALIVE

Friends told later he first talked quietly, warned them to stay on law's side, said the sheriff was his friend . . . so, get on with the hanging. They told it, this rope broke, first try, not the second. Then, goes story, they hauled his casket out fast because Bill wore a special leather harness that took the wrench at his chest, not his neck.

Finally, they say he lived some years quietly near Belton. But even that legend ends in death. He was shot dead, trying to escape, the last time, so this curious story goes.

The old west said you couldn't shoot down a man born to hang, and maybe Bill Longley proved the reverse. Certainly he proved that, however the beginning of a gunman's road, the end inevitably is the same.

Does it still thrive or has it snuck off into limbo?" (Note: Maybe we'll hear from Munger, north of Mexia, Limestone County, population 10, my last information.)

San Antonio's Mrs. Edward F. Flaherty: "We found a token with the name 'Twohig, Texas' on it. Several friends have heard of it, don't know where it is. The token reads, on side one: 'Bueno Por 10c En Efectos'; on the other, 'M. C. McInnes & Co — Precio Fijo — Twohig, Tex.' We are curious about Twohig and the McInnes Co."

Johnny Middleton Will Try For National Roping Title

Johnny Middleton, 17-year-old Big Spring High School senior, will leave July 31 for Elko, Nev., where he will compete against 62 other high school youths for the National High School rodeo championship in tie-down roping.

Middleton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Middleton, who live northeast of Big Spring, returned home early this past week from Hallettsville where he outperformed 124 competitors from all parts of Texas for the Texas Roping Championship for high school performers. His victory won him a beautiful saddle and a silver belt buckle.

He roped and tied three calves in 12, 14 and 16 seconds to score the best time of any high school competitor in the field.

TRAINING

He credited his achievement to two things — excellent professional training given him by his father who in other days, was a rodeo rider and a member of the Rodeo Association of America, and to his mount, a one-year-old quarter horse named Salt. Johnny trained his horse and in calf roping a lot

WAC Band Seeks More Members

Women who can play a horn, piano or drums are the subject of a nationwide hunt by the Women's Corps, which is increasing the size of the WAC band to a total of 60 musicians. All applicants must pass an audition, either in person or by means of tape recording before being considered for membership in the 14th Army Band (WAC), the only women's band in the Armed Forces.

Sgt. Joe Welch, U.S. Army recruiter at 207 1/2 W 4th, has been furnished data on specific requirements and can arrange for auditions for applicants.

FOR COUNTY YOUTHS

4-H Horse Show Set For June 28

Howard County 4-H club horse show will be held at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl on June 28. The county show is preliminary to the District 2 4-H club horse show which will be held here on July 13. Twenty-two counties from the district will send 4-H club members who have horses as projects to the district show here on that date.

James Shelton, assistant county agent said that the show here Wednesday is open to all youngsters in the 4-H club in the age group of 9 to 18. An invitation to all other youngsters of that age bracket who have horses and wish to become 4-H club members is extended. Such boys and girls can carry their horses as projects to qualify for 4-H affiliation.

DISTRICT SHOW

County winners will be chosen at the show to be entered in the District Show. Events are to be pole bending, barrel racing, western pleasure and halter classes. The classes are Halter—Class 1, Registered mare, any breed, 4 years and older; Class 2, registered mare, any breed, 4 years and under; Class 3, grade mare under 15 hands; Class 4, grade mare 15 hands and over; Class 5, champion and reserve champion mare; Class 6, registered gelding, 4 and older; Class 7, registered gelding, 4 and under; Class 8, grade gelding under 15 hands; Class 9, grade gelding, 15 hands and over; Class 10, champion and reserve champion gelding.

Performance—Class 11, western pleasure; Class 12, reining; Class 13, pole bending and Class 14, barrel racing.

REGISTRATION PAPERS

Registration papers will be needed to accompany all registered horses in the halter class. It was said that 4-H club rules will be employed which vary somewhat from AJRA rules. One example is that the races will run six poles instead of five and the poles are on 21 foot spacing instead of 18 feet. The AQHA reining pattern No. 1 will be employed in the reining events.

Each contestant is to be allowed two runs in pole bending and barrel racing with the best average to determine the winner.

Registration for the Howard County Horse Show opens at 8:30 a.m. at the Rodeo Bowl. Additional information is available at the office of the county farm agent in the Howard County Court House basement.

Crime Will Keep Growing, Panel Finds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's crime commission issued its final report Saturday night—and accompanied it with a warning that the nation can "expect increasing amounts of reported crime for the next several years."

The warning came from Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, chairman of the commission, who said, "New and more effective measures of crime prevention and control are urgently needed."

In its final report, the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice issues an urgent plea for the establishment of a National Criminal Justice Statistics Center as an effective beginning in the fight against crime.

The commission found present statistics inadequate and often misleading. "Without this kind of information that can only be obtained through such a center," the commission said, "the country is doomed to continue its fight against crime without really knowing its enemy."

The commission calls Negro ghetto riots—such as the five-day Watts eruption in 1965—a "cry for help" to eliminate the deprivations of ghetto life.

James Vorenberg, commission executive director, said at a briefing for newsmen on the final report that the whole movement to do something about crime is hanging in the balance on the Johnson administration's proposed anticrime legislation.

Vorenberg referred to the law enforcement and criminal justice bill which, before House Republicans forced a change in the name was the "safe streets and crime control" bill. It would provide $50 million the first year for grants to cities and states to help improve crime control.

Collision On Lot
One minor traffic accident was reported to police Saturday night. The collision occurred at the Highland Center Parking lot and involved cars of Robert Wilson Brown, Knott, and Michael Ralph Green, 1410 Wood.

Champions Named At Horse Show

COAHOMA (SC) — Bud Rankin's Bambino Babe was judged grand champion stallion in the fourth annual Coahoma Quarter Horse Show here Saturday.

Champion mare Tom B's Nancy is owned by Bob Collins of Pasa. The owner of Mill Iron Star, champion gelding, Tom and Tommy Buckner of Big Spring are owners of Interest, judged champion stallion, junior division. Also in the junior division, Little Bit's Gal, owned by Robert Haney, Big Spring, was chosen champion mare.

A trophy for most points earned in the Youth Division was awarded to Diana Lavender of Midland. Judge for the 178 entries was R. Clyde Miller, Fluvanna.

Police Check On Traffic Mishaps
Six traffic accidents Friday were investigated by city police.

Andree McCall, Sterling City Route, and Loyd Daniel Copledge, 1906 Morrison, were involved in a collision near the 100 block of W. 2nd. Thirteenth and Gregg was the scene of an accident between Joe Carmen Viasana, 503 S. Bell, and Daniel Bustamante, 4035 Alma Circle. Police charged Viasana for DWI, no driver's license and negligent collision.

A collision of a car driven by James Clifford Moore, Balmorhea, and the parked car of Mrs. Sam Burns, 2911 Navajo Street, occurred in the 300 block of Runnels. Haskel Wayne Coker, Sterling City Route, and Martin Elio Holder, Garden City, were involved in an accident east of the National Guard Armory, on FM 700. Holder was charged by police with DWI.

Elhara Harris Morrison, 801 N. Scurry, received slight neck injuries in a wreck occurring at NW 2nd and N. Gregg, according to the police report. Her car and one driven by James David Yater, Route 2, were involved in the accident.

A collision at Pin's Drive Inn involved a car driven by Wesley Stan Balfou, 2501 Carol Street, and the parked car of Gilbert Martinez, 311 NE 7th.

Percy Wants Negotiations In Vietnam

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said Saturday that total military victory in Vietnam is impossible and there should be no further escalation of war.

Percy, mentioned as a Republican presidential candidate possibility, declared at the same time that he is unalterably opposed to a unilateral withdrawal of U. S. troops.

The senator, in Dallas for a night and morning of talks, said at a news conference that the only way to solve the Vietnam problem is through a negotiated peace.

"We must accelerate the pursuit of peace as diligently as we have been escalating the war," he said.

He said bombing the North Vietnamese into oblivion would be "a dangerous course that could wreck the leadership and stature of this nation."

Percy added of increasing troop strength and bombing that "if we continue this course we may eventually get to the point of saying, 'let's nuke 'em.'" By "nuke 'em" he meant dropping nuclear bombs.

Percy said Henry Cabot Lodge, former ambassador to South Vietnam, has said that even if North Vietnam were bombed into annihilation, there still would be Viet Cong guerrillas in South Vietnam to fight.

He urged a search for an honorable negotiated peace in any manner, noting this is the official policy because of a rider to that effect attached to a recent military appropriations bill.

Conservative Issue Splits GOP Again

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Acrid relations between conservative Young Republicans and senior GOP leaders trying to nominate a moderate to oppose President Johnson next year are germinating a party split which could rival that of 1964.

In five days of parading, caucusing and parliamentary fighting there was clear evidence that the hard-line conservatives who are in charge of the Young Republican National Federation are in no mood to compromise with the elders of their party.

WANT A WINNER
Like their senior colleagues, they want a 1968 winner. But unlike many of the national party leaders, they are not willing to settle for anything less than an anti-Great Society, free-enterprise conservative.

Barry Goldwater demonstrably is still their hero. They would be willing to take California Gov. Ronald Reagan, a self-declared noncandidate. They could settle for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, although there was little display of enthusiasm for him at their convention.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, who couldn't keep a speaking date at their convention, seems to leave them cold.

INFLUENCE
The question naturally comes to just how much influence the Young Republicans will have on the selection of the nominee. They have been told often by senior party leaders that young voters will provide the deciding margin in next year's election, and they have no difficulty in believing this.

Under those circumstances they do not take kindly to the suggestion of GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss that they stand aside while their elders pick a candidate and then pitch in to elect him.

Bliss "elect but not select" program for the YR got a tremendous shelling at the convention. Bliss controls the purse strings on a $91,000 budget for their operations next year. But the juniors are betting that he couldn't afford to cut them off at the pockets and leave the party without any formal youth organization.

Connally, Mahon, Hope Honored
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Reserve Officers Association elected a Texas governor, three congressmen and Bob Hope Friday to honorary lifetime membership for their "outstanding service to the nation."

Honored were Gov. John Connally of Texas and Reps. Melvin Laird, R-Wis.; George Mahon, D-Texas, and William Minshall, R-Ohio; and the entertainer.

67,000 Miles Of Highways Is 50-Year Mark For State

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Highway Department is 50 years old this month. That's all the time it took to go from no paved highways to 67,000 miles of hard-surface roads.

That's better than 2 1/2 times around the earth. There are those who think if all those highways were placed end to end around the earth, the beauty of a lot of countryside would be restored.

But there is a lot of reason to feel proud of a highway system that is the envy of many states. It cost money: $4.9 billion for construction. If that sounds like a lot, consider that the amount would pay for the war in Vietnam for about two months, maybe.

Nearly half of this money came from the five-cent gasoline tax. Most of the remainder came from auto licenses and the federal government.

The beginning — on June 4, 1917 — was unattractive. The legislature set up a 10-man office behind the House chamber the year after congress passed the federal Aid Road Act. That act specified that federal funds had to be administered by state highway departments.

COUNTIES' JOB
Before 1917, Texas highways, such as they were, and they were dusty when it was dry and quagmires when it was wet, were built and maintained by counties.

The federal act was amended in 1921 to require matching state funds and substituting "direct control" by state highway departments for simple "administration" of federal funds.

The legislature in 1925 relieved counties of construction and maintenance responsibilities, and the Highway Department immediately went into its black period.

This was during the first administration of Gov. Miriam "Ma" Ferguson, and the Highway Department became a political football.

CAME AND WENT
Ten commissioners came and went in a two-year period. Every division chief save one and every district engineer lost his job. Four different men occupied the post of state engineer — top executive officer of the department.

And Dan Moody, 31-year-old attorney general, charged many of the construction contracts let by the department were fraudulent. His prosecution of contractors recovered more than $1 million in state money.

Moody defeated Mrs. Ferguson in 1927, reorganized the highway department and the per-mile cost of highway construction was cut by 50 per cent.

17,000 EMPLOYEES
By 1935, the state had 19,800 miles of paved highways. This increased to only 20,359 miles by 1940, then jumped to 41,673 miles in 1950 and 61,979 miles in 1960.

The 10-man staff in 1917 grew to 17,000 employees, including State Engineer Dewitt Greer, who is held in such high esteem by nearly everyone connected with state government that no one even bothers anymore to praise him in the fulsome way they do other officials.

Greer, who will be 65 next month, has held his post since 1940, and is given a large portion of the credit by many for the excellence of the state's highway system.

More than half of Texas' highway mileage—38,000 miles—is in farm-to-market or ranch-to-market roads. The department's master plan calls for 50,000 miles of such roads.

And 3,025 miles of the 41,000-mile interstate highway system has been allocated to Texas.

The remainder of the mileage is in U. S. and state primary highways.

The department will celebrate its 50th anniversary with a party in Austin during National Highway Week this September.

Even if the party isn't a good one, it will be easy to get to.

Members and Senate employees. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Democratic whip who served as Dodd's chief defense spokesman during the floor debate, stressed that there were no written rules on conduct by senators.

"I have some strong views as to what the code should contain, but in view of the fact that the Stennis committee has undertaken the responsibility of drawing up the code, I will not offer them at this time," Mansfield said.

But it rejected by a 51-45 margin a second censure charge by a Senate ethics committee that Dodd had collected travel expenses from both Senate funds and private groups for seven trips.

Mansfield said he was certain that the bipartisan, six-senator Committee on Standards and Conduct, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., would prepare the formal written ethics code for Senate action before adjournment. It would apply to members and Senate employees.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Democratic whip who served as Dodd's chief defense spokesman during the floor debate, stressed that there were no written rules on conduct by senators.

"I think such a code is mandatory," the Senate majority leader said in an interview in which he declined to discuss other aspects of the censure action against the Connecticut Democrat.

After nine days of agonizing and solemn debate, the Senate by a 92-5 vote censured the white-haired Dodd for converting some $116,083 of campaign and testimonial funds to his personal benefit.

Two neighboring communities got funds for substantial projects during the week. Stanton received word that the contract had been let for a flood control project in the amount of $450,000, and Lone Wolf Cooperative at Colorado City learned a $350,000 loan had cleared to provide service to 212 new members along a 64-mile new-line project. Eleven miles of other line will be "heavied," and an additional 1,000 KVA transformer installed.

Wednesday's crazy thunderstorm blessed the rodeo grounds with enough to settle the dust—and then some—with the result that the opening night performance was a bit on the muddy side. However, conditions were ideal for the other shows, and fans got to see one of the best productions in the long history of the affair. It's a cinch we've never had the like of championship cowboys competing as we did this year—Larry Mahan, Jim Bob Altizer, Myrtis Dightman, Harry Tompkins, and many, many other top names in rodeodom.

The passing of Willard Read, 76, reminds us once again that the line of old-timers becomes thinner and thinner. Mr. Read was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Read, who were among the very first settlers in the county 80 years ago.

Somehow it is difficult for people to realize that Lake J. B. Thomas isn't a farm pond, even though it may be considerably below spillway level. A week ago Johnny Gutierrez of Snyder drowned there, the second victim this year and the 23rd since the lake was impounded 15 years ago.

After a period of welcome calm, a group of teenagers got a bit out of hand Thursday. As usual, a relative few stirred up the trouble, but then there were lots of curious on-lookers egging it on. Chief Jay Banks took a dim view of this and warned the kids to respect the rights of others, and warned their parents to know where the young folks are, lest mama and papa come bailing some out of the pokey.

Howard County got a wildcat oil location last week, the W. K. Davis No. 1. Whittaker, almost on the Howard-Borden line and between the East Vealmoor and Hobo reef fields. It will prospect for the Pennsylvania to 7,500.

An old grenade, with pin pulled, was found near Highland South Center last week. It could have been buried there and now unearthed during road construction. At any rate, Webb AFB experts took over and disposed of the potentially dangerous item.

James Hull Heads C-City Lions
COLORADO CITY (SC) — James Hull, manager of the Lone Wolf Electric Co-op, was president of the Colorado City Lion's Club at a combined ladies night and installation dinner.

Hull succeeds Gus Chesney, banker, as president. Joe Pond of Big Spring, former Lion's district governor, installed Hull and other new officers.

These include J. C. Britton, first vice president; B. D. Mason, second vice president, and Judge Austin McCloud, third vice president. Tandy Curlee was installed as secretary-treasurer; the Rev. C. C. Beck as Lion Tamer; Jeff Taylor, tail twister; and George Womack and Phil Berman as new directors.

Outgoing directors are M. O. Hardegree and Charles Godwin.

DEATHS

Newton Infant, Rites Saturday
Rodney Blake Newton, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby R. Newton, died Friday evening in a local hospital. He was born Thursday morning.

Graveside services were held Saturday afternoon with Rev. Bill Odell, pastor of Berea Baptist Church, and Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was at Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors include his parents; two brothers, Ricky Ray and Randy Jay Newton; one sister, Rhonda Rhnee Newton; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Newton of Ira; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Rainwater of Snyder.

Mrs. J. W. Arnett's Mother Dies
Services will be held at 2 p.m. today in the Ellis Funeral Chapel in Midland for Mrs. Celia Raggett, mother of Mrs. J. W. Arnett.

Mrs. Raggett died Friday afternoon after having suffered a heart attack several hours earlier. Mrs. Arnett was with her at the time.

For over 40 years, Mrs. Raggett had been a resident of Midland. She will be buried in Greenwood Cemetery beside the grave of her husband.

Besides Mrs. Arnett, survivors include a son, Oswald Raggett, Midland; a half sister and a half brother; six grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

RODEO

Daughter Born To Jay Sanderses
Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sanders of 4204 Muir have announced the birth of a 7 pound, 13 1/2 ounce girl at 9:37 p.m. Friday in the Malone - Hogan Hospital. The newcomer has been named Robyn Renee.

The Sanderses have two other children, Rodney, 6; and Teresa, 3. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sanders of Brady. The maternal grandparents are John Bailey, Marfa; and Mrs. Don Reed, Mason.

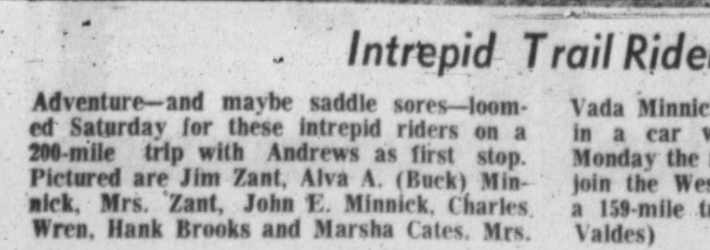

Before leaving the weather front, it should be noted that Providence doesn't pick just on Aggies, who had their scholarship barbecue all but rained out a month ago. Almost the identical pattern plagued the Kiwanis rodeo barbecue — rain came just as serving time started.

Helicopter Crash Takes Record Toll

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., June 25, 1967 7-A

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The in-flight collision of two helicopters that killed 22 Marines was described today by Marine Corps officials as the worst tragedy in the history of the helicopter-troop training program.

Twenty-one of the Marines died in the fiery collision Friday. One of 14 injured died at a hospital hours after the mid-morning crash.

The collision occurred 500 feet in the air. The two craft fell in a small clearing on the wooded New River Marine Air Facility, a base in eastern North Carolina used to train Marines in Vietnam-type helicopter operations.

A CH33A Sea Stallion, a large, fast helicopter carrying four crewmen and 29 Marine troopers, tumbled to earth and burst into flames.

The other copter, a HU2E Huey, had two pilots aboard. Both were killed.

Col. Thomas Tulipane, commander of Marine Air Group 26 to which the copters were attached, said the Sea Stallion was coming in for a landing. The troopers were to leave the helicopter quickly and assault a simulated pillbox, a maneuver practiced many times.

The Huey, practicing landings and takeoffs, came up from the runway and smashed into the tail of the troop-carrying copter and both plunged to earth, Tulipane said. The copters crashed about 1,000 yards apart.

The two pilots in the Sea Stallion escaped with minor injuries. The copter crashed about 1,000 yards apart.

Slaying Case On Slate For Grand Jury

The gun death on April 30 of Abel Rivera Tovar, who was shot to death on the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Settles, will be one of 10 felony cases which Dist. Atty. Wayne Burns will present to the grand jury for the July term of 11th district court next Tuesday.

Juan Carreno Solis is the defendant and is alleged to have slain Tovar as the latter sat in a chair outside the ball room at the Settles. Fourteen witnesses are listed to appear before the grand jury in connection with this case.

Another case names two defendants for embezzlement and two for theft and involves the alleged taking of merchandise from the Montgomery Ward Store here.

The four defendants are said to be former Ward employees. The alleged thefts continued over a span of several months.

The embezzlement cases are against Herb Werner and Max Yocum and the theft charges are filed against Russell Williamson and Stanley R. Owens.

Other cases slated to be presented include: Charles A. Keeran, worthless check; Carol Ann Scaggs, forgery; Aulton C. Vaughn, theft by false pretense; Robert Jennings, burglary; Johnnie D. Key, worthless check; Virtis Gibson, worthless check; Raymond Puga-Nunez Jr. and Rafael Cruz, Lopez, burglary.

The grand jury panel was drawn last week.

The members of the panel who are to report to Judge Ralph Caton at 9 a. m. Tuesday are E. L. Blewett, Bill P. Johnson, Walter Green, Monroe Casey, Manuel Puga Sr., Edgar A. Phillips, Mrs. Charlie Bell, Walter L. Nichols, Joe Pickle, Cliff Proffitt, Mrs. Josh Burnett, George C. Glenn, Ira Bigam, Morris Rhodes, Eugene Thomas, L. B. Edwards, Don Womack, Jack Wolf, James Renfro, and R. M. Lindley.

Staff Will Help You Be An 'Old Hand' On Ship

Taking a ship trip for the first time? If you will be among those vacationers on The Herald-sponsored 42-day South Pacific cruise tour in July, here are a few points of information that may be helpful, especially for first-time voyagers.

The tour will leave Texas July 24 and sail on the Mariposa from Los Angeles the same night for the South Seas, New Zealand and Australia.

Here is a rundown on some people to know about on an ocean liner:

THE MASTER
Absolute boss at sea is the captain — or, as he sometimes is known, the master. The Mariposa's master is Capt. Charles C. (Chick) Wright, a veteran mariner known to thousands of Pacific travelers, and a good sea-story spinner.

Another important man is the purser, who wears many hats. He and his staff will help you plan shore excursions, take care of your valuables, act as your minister on Sunday, and will be helpful in many ways. Hal Wagner is chief purser on the Mariposa. You will find him a friendly, efficient expert who knows all the answers — and the questions, too.

And, of course, there is the chief steward. Should you wish to give a party in your room, and need the fixings, or want to surprise your wife with a birthday cake at the dinner table, or maybe treat your table mates to champagne one night, he will arrange it for you. Chief Steward Joseph Colton is a veteran at handling passengers' requests, and he runs a first-rate department.

HEAD WAITER
Another key man is the head waiter. He assigns your dining room table and is on hand in the dining room to greet and seat you at every meal. Thomas Cook is a genial host who has a master's touch for pleasing passengers.

Private entertaining in staterooms before dinner is a popular feature on all Matson liners at sea. You will undoubtedly want to reciprocate if you have been invited to someone's cabin, or you can start the ball rolling by hosting one yourself. Just call room service and give your order.

It won't take long to familiarize yourself with the Mariposa and its personnel, facilities and activities. Everything is designed to provide a friendly, homelike atmosphere at sea.

Priest Marries Parish Member

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest has resigned the priesthood and married a 21-year-old woman who was a member of his parish, officials said here Friday.

The Rev. James Malone, 37, left the church here where he was working and married Penelope Cole on June 8 in Seguin.

The marriage was recorded in county records in Seguin and Bishop Stephen Leven, auxiliary to the San Antonio archbishop, confirmed the priest's marriage.

Malone is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., and had been a priest here for four years. He was a member of the Order of Redemptorist Fathers.

Peking Reports Bumper Crops

By The Associated Press

TOKYO (AP) — Reports of wheat crops much larger than last year's are coming in from several areas of Red China, Peking's New China News Agency said today.

It said about 200,000 soldiers, Red Guards, teachers, students and government workers have gone out from Red China's two biggest cities, Peking and Shanghai, to help harvest the bumper crops.

The agency said one county in southwest China's Kweichow Province reported its winter wheat acreage was twice as big as last year's and the total output was three times as big.

Wheat Allotment About What Farmers Asked For

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's planting allotment for the 1968 wheat crop will be just what U.S. farmers asked for but somewhat less than that urged by those seeking larger grain accumulation for possible future world food aid.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman announced Friday the national allotment for wheat will be 59.3 million acres, down 13 per cent from this year's 68 million.

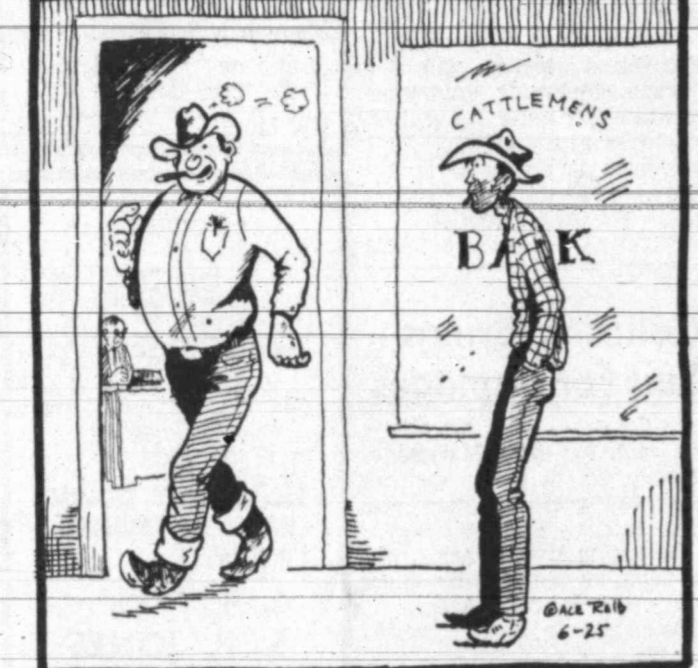

Many farm leaders and a national grain advisory committee on which farmers serve have recommended a reduction from this year to around 59 million acres. They expressed concern that maintenance of this year's high level allotment would result in over-production and a depressed grain market.

But some government leaders concerned with the world's food problems have suggested a larger allotment than Freeman decided on. The announcement of the allotment was made at this time because growers of winter wheat seed their crops in late summer and fall.

Freeman told a news conference he felt confident an allotment of 59.3 million acres would produce sufficient wheat to meet domestic needs and anticipated foreign requirements.

He said with normal weather conditions, a crop of around 1.5 billion bushels could be expected. This would be only 50 million short of this year's indicated crop, production of which has been reduced by subpar weather conditions.

Tax Valuation Board Meets This Week

Real and personal property will be considered at the meeting of the boards of equalization of the county, the city and the school district on Wednesday and Thursday.

come before the boards and state their cases. If there is an error shown, an adjustment will be made by the boards.

The county commissioners court serves as the equalization board for the county at these meetings. The schools and city select three special equalization commissioners to represent them.

The city-school board this year is Billy Smith, Bill Estes and Dick Collier. Lawrence Robinson has been named as an alternate to sit in should one of the regular members be unable to serve.

Sessions of the boards will be in the offices of the county commissioners court and the county judge's office in the Howard County Court House.

MEN IN SERVICE

Airman Milton B. Harp, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Clark of 961 E. 16th, Colorado City, has been selected for technical training at Amarillo AFB, as an aircraft maintenance specialist. He recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

MILTON HARP

Airman Harp is a 1967 graduate of Stephen F. Austin High School, Austin. His wife is the former Sharon G. Henderson, Colorado City.

Airman 2.C. Michael J. Angerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Angerer, 244 Church St., Girard, Pa., is on duty at Korat Royal Thai AFB, Thailand as an aircraft equipment repairman.

Before his arrival in Thailand, he was assigned to the 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB. His wife, Diana, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Dement, 1203 Sycamore, Big Spring.

U.S. Air Force Capt. Joe D. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Parker of 1821 Adams Pecos, has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam, for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight in Southeast Asia.

Capt. Parker, an F-4C Phantom II aircraft commander, received the medal for his outstanding aerial skill. His bomb release jammed while flying through intense ground fire to attack concentrated enemy gun emplacements. With calmness and courage, he quickly corrected the malfunction and attacked the enemy positions, delivering his ordnance with pinpoint accuracy.

His wife, Reba, is the daughter of Mrs. John T. Baker of Coahoma.

Seaman Recruit Bobby R. Kernell, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie F. Brunson of 1907 Lincoln, Big Spring, is undergoing nine weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

He is receiving instructions in Naval customs, courtesies and organization, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship, damage control, first aid, swimming and survival, shipboard drills and sentry duty.

Gary L. McKennon has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force. He is a plumber at Selfridge AFB, Mich. He is a member of the Air Defense Command which provides aerospace defense against hostile aircraft and missiles. His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Kemp, Big Spring.

Homer L. Sweeten has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force. He is a missile mechanic at Robins AFB, Ga., and a member of the Strategic Air Command, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force. The sergeant is a graduate of Big Spring High School. His wife, Sarah, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kinsey, 405 E. 13th St., Big Spring.

Forms Fixed For Cotton Collection

MEMPHIS — Forms and instructions for collecting $1 per bale from growers to finance a market expansion program under the Cotton Research and Promotion Order were mailed last week by the Cotton Board.

Cotton Board Chairman G. C. Cortright Jr., Rolling Fork, Miss., said the forms are being mailed to gins and other potential "collecting handlers."

The assessment is applicable to each bale of upland cotton produced from cotton harvested and ginned on or after June 10, 1967.

A covering letter to gins explains that one pad of the collecting handler report forms is being mailed for use of the gin if it buys cotton and for information if it does not. The forms may also be distributed by gins to buyers who might have not received a supply.

"We have tried to make these forms as simple as possible yet complete enough so that, coupled with the gin reports, we can assure collection on every bale handler," Cortright noted.

Finnish Boy Ends His Year In U. S.

"Parting is such sweet sorrow"—Shakespeare said it; Oiva Knutilla feels it.

Oiva, the Big Spring High School foreign exchange student will leave Tuesday for his home in Finland, following a year of study in the United States.

"I regret having to leave the friends I have made," he said, "but I am looking forward to seeing Finland again."

"The one experience that has meant the most to me in my stay here is getting to know people. It has been interesting to learn the customs and ways of another nation, but these are secondary to the friends I have made," he said.

"AS IT IS" "The value of my year in America is difficult to foresee, now, but I have come to see America for what it is, not for what I thought it was. There are two views to every nation, an external and an internal one.

"I have had to learn why this nation is the way it is, and now, I have begun to look at other nations in the same perspective."

"Living in America has improved my English and broadened my vocabulary. It will be a great help in my school work."

Oiva has one year more of high school when he returns to Finland. Following graduation, he will either enter the military service or attend college. He is undecided on his major field of study.

TO GO ON TOUR Tuesday Oiva leaves for America.

Collision Brings Suit For Damages

A suit for $27,500 damages growing out of a two car collision two years ago has been filed in 118th District Court. Plaintiff is Alvin C. Aring, who is suing on behalf of his minor son, Alan Edward Aring. Defendant is Floyd Brooks Hanson.

The collision is said to have occurred at Gregg and Third. The plaintiff alleges his son was injured in the accident and entitled to $27,500 for his injuries.

Ex-Olympian Would Relax Requirements

EASTCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. James E. Luck, who placed fifth in the 400 meter hurdles at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, has sounded a call for the relaxing of college eligibility rules and at the same time directed a barb at the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"Our colleges, unlike the colleges in other countries, are bound by a number of rules and regulations which restrict rather than encourage participation," said Luck at the Westchester Rockland Newspapers all-county dinner. "One rule prohibits students from playing on varsity teams during their first year in college. While pretending to protect the first year student from the rigors of varsity competition while he adjusts to his college life, the rule in reality is an attempt to control the overzealous coach who would try to replace his graduating stars with athletes of equal ability, recruiting them from outside the college without regard for their academic qualifications."

"The second unnecessary restrictive regulation is that which prohibits graduate students, fifth year students or special students from competing with varsity teams. This rule does not exist at the English universities which operate on a much less formal basis than ours do. In England, the athletes themselves have a great deal, if not complete, control over the regulations which affect them," he said.

Luck, who has just received his engineering degree from Yale, also took a swipe at the NCAA: "The callous disregard for the well being of the student is characteristic of the management of athletics at many colleges and is the most noticeable and disturbing fact in the tactics of the NCAA and its attempt to usurp the power of the Amateur Athletic Union."

Benvenuti Is After First Garden Bout

Nobody at New York's Madison Square Garden is sure when the new Madison Square Garden Center will open and nobody wants to be quoted on how many millions of dollars the complex of seven different facilities will cost by the time it is completed.

Labor problems have slowed the construction and the best guess now is that the new sports palace will open sometime in December. When construction began two years ago the target date was October 1967.

"Everything is up in the air," said a Garden employe the other day.

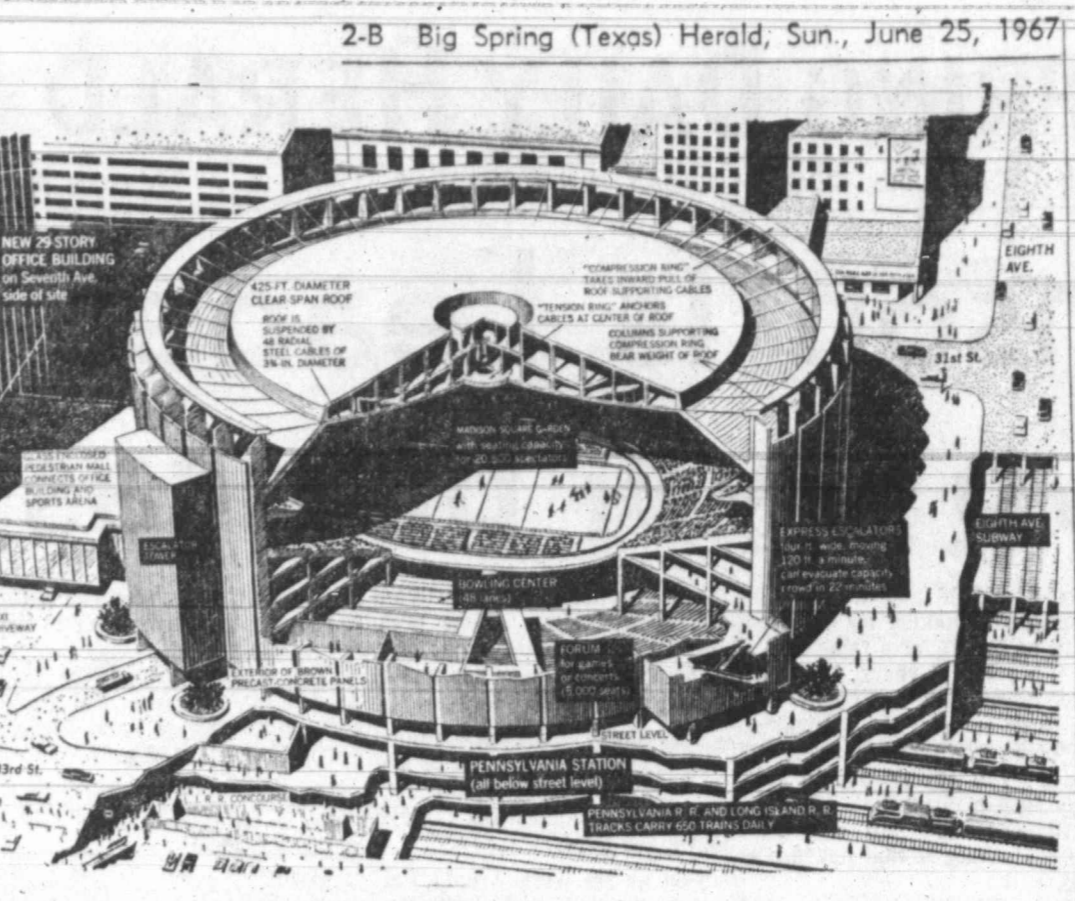

It sure is up in the air, standing out like a multilayered flying saucer 13 stories or 153 feet high above New York's Pennsylvania Railroad Station.

TARGET DATE
"Sometime in December seems to be the best target date," said one source. "But when it opens it will begin with a full week of sports events, including hockey, basketball, boxing and maybe even boxing."

One thing about the new Garden is that nobody ever will sit behind a post, even if the New York Rangers, who made the Stanley Cup playoffs last March, or the New York Knicks, who seldom make the National Basketball Association playoffs, have a packed house.

The main arena has 20,234 permanent seats, meaning that a championship boxing bout could hold about 23,000.

World middleweight ruler, Nino Benvenuti, is successful in his return against Nolie Griffith, set for the old Garden in September, he wants to fight in the new Garden the week it opens.

The new Madison Square Garden Center in New York City hopes to open in December with a week of sports events that will include hockey, basketball, boxing and bowling. Labor problems of the past slowed the construction.

Los Angeles (AP) — Rookie Bill Singer blanked San Francisco on eight hits Saturday, outpitching Juan Marichal as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Giants 2-0 and snapped a three-game losing streak.

Willie Davis broke a scoreless tie with a sixth inning single and W. Parker squeezed home an insurance run in the seventh, helping Singer end Marichal's string of eight straight victories over the Dodgers.

Singer, 2-3, struck out 10 while also breaking San Francisco's streak of six straight victories at Dodger Stadium.

Marichal, 10-6, allowed only five hits, but three of them came in the sixth inning. Parker led off with a single, was bunted to second and scored on Davis' single. Ron Fairly followed with another single before Marichal pitched out of further trouble.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Reggie Jackson tripled a run across in the second inning and scored on John Donaldson's single, carrying Kansas City to a 2-1 victory over California Saturday night that snapped the Athletics' losing string at five games.

Jim Nash checked the Angels on four hits until the ninth, when rookie Tony Pierce came out of the bullpen to preserve the victory by retiring the three men he faced.

Dave Duncan singled against Angels starter Clyde Wright with one out in the second and Jackson followed with a triple to right center. Donaldson then stroked a single to center, scoring Jackson with the deciding run.

Nash, bringing his record to 8-6, and Pierce blanked the Angels after the third inning, when they scored on a walk, a sacrifice bunt and Jose Cardenas' single.

Bob Gibson Pitches Cards Past Phillies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Julian Cardinal's winning streak to hit, an error by second baseman Tony Taylor and a walk to Mike Shannon filled the bases.

The Phils scored in the seventh on Rich Allen's triple and a single by Bill White.

Gibson, running his pitching record to 9-5, allowed six hits and struck out eight. He has beaten the Phillies 13 times in 17 lifetime decisions.

Jackson, who yielded only four hits before going out for a pinch hitter in the eighth, suffered his eighth setback in 13 decisions.

"I told Baeza to get him off the rail as soon as he could because it was really heavy there," trainer Johnny Nerud said. "That's what he did."

Diplomat Way on the same outside took a short lead early with Disciplinary second. But before the field had gone one-quarter of a mile, Baeza sent Dr. Fager between the two leaders and the favorite wasn't challenged thereafter.

Lightning Orphan returned $6 and $2.60 while Diplomat Way was $2.40 to show.

Dr. Fager Wins By Ten Lengths At Arlington

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Fager, the 2-5 favorite, flashed to a 10-length triumph Saturday in the $106,000 Arlington Classic.

The Tartan Stable's 3-year-old star, ridden by Braulio Baeza, and carrying top weight of 120 pounds, drilled through the slop and drizzle to cover the mile in 1:36.

Lightning Orphan of Reverie Knoll Farms was Second and Harvey Peltier's Diplomat Way third in the six-horse field.

Dr. Fager, collecting his third victory in four starts this season and his seventh in nine outings over-all, paid $2.80, $2.60 and $2.10 to backers in a crowd of 23,564.

Lightning Orphan returned $6 and $2.60 while Diplomat Way was $2.40 to show.

The victory was worth $61,000 to Dr. Fager's owner, William L. McKnight of Minneapolis and boosted his two-year earnings to $254,763.

Dr. Fager, taking a step toward sophomore honors of the year, performed on sloppy going for the first time in his career. The bay son of Rough 'N Tumble took the lead midway in the back stretch, expanded it to four lengths on the turn for home and pulled away at will. Disciplinary was fourth.

Hale Irwin Wins Title

SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE, Pa. (AP) — The University of Colorado's Hale Irwin, a football star with a touch for golf, won the 70th annual NCAA golf championship Saturday by two strokes although he soared to six-over par 79 on the final 2 holes, his worst round of the 72-hole tournament.

The 22-year-old Irwin lost the magic putting touch which enabled him to post a seven-under par 65 in the third round Friday, but his five-stroke lead was enough to stand off Georgia Tech's Bunky Henry, San Jose State's Ross Randall and the University of Arizona's Robert Druce Johnson, who wound up in a three-way tie for second place.

Irwin's final round 79 gave him 72-hole total of 2-under par 286, against 288 for the second place trio.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The first baseball game between major league teams since the Braves left here for Atlanta after the 1965 season will be played here July 24. The Chicago White Sox will meet the Minnesota Twins in an exhibition game.

Two Cards Hurt In Phillie Game
ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals catcher Tim McCarver, hit by a foul tip in the third inning of Saturday's game with the Philadelphia Phillies, and slugger Roger Maris, hit by pitched ball in the same inning, apparently were not seriously injured, a club spokesman said.

McCarver suffered a broken nail on the right index finger, and it was feared the base of the finger might have been fractured. Maris was hit on the right elbow by a Larry Jackson pitch.

However, wet X-ray prints made at City Hospital indicated no fractures. The films were to be taken to Dr. I.C. Middleman, the team physician, for detailed study.

Pate On Hill As Lions Win

The Lions, who had clinched the American Little League pennant Friday night when the second place team was upset, added frosting to the cake by knocking the Braves here Saturday night, 17-0, behind the two-hit elbowing of Terry Pate.

The Lions are now 16-2 in the standings while the Braves are 3-14.

The Lions drove out 20 hits, Alan Davis leading the way with four blows. Pate and Randy Jones each connected safely three times for the winners, as did Paul Douglas.

An infield single by Rusty Staub and a walk to Eddie Matthews loaded the bases before Ron Davis doubled home two runs with two out.

Chicago took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a double by Ernie Banks and a single by Randy Hundley. In the fourth, Billy Williams walked with one out before Santo slugged his 12th homer.

The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed because of darkness and will be played as part of a twin bill Sunday.

Jenkins, gaining his ninth victory against five defeats, struck out 11 and didn't allow an earned run. Both of Houston's runs came in the sixth after Jenkins dropped a throw covering first base.

Astros Upended By Cubs, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo's two-run homer in the fourth inning and the six-hit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins carried the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday.

Mexico Sending Big Group To Winnipeg

MEXICO CITY (AP) — This country plans to send two delegations to the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg July 22-Aug. 6—one to participate and one to watch. The participating team will be the largest Mexico ever has entered in the Pan-American Games. The names of all competitors have not been announced yet but early estimates are that there may be 200 or more Mexican athletes competing in every official and exhibition sport, except softball. The other delegation will be from the Olympic Organizing Committee. Its task will be to watch the over-all operation of the Games to better prepare for the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City. Dr. Jose Saenz, president of the Mexican Olympic Committee, holds no rosy hopes for a basket of gold medals for his athletes and said he expects Mexican competitors in events measured by watch or tape measure to do no better than sixth over-all. The size of the Mexican team depends on the budget and on the development of the athletes. Mexico finished fifth in team standings in Sao Paulo, Brazil, in the 1963 Pan-American Games with a 153-member team, which competed recently in the world tournament in Montevideo, the men's and women's volleyball teams and most of the soccer team. The Mexicans took only two gold medals in 1963, in the tennis mixed doubles and when Fidel Negrete won the marathon. Mexico also won eight silver medals in diving, wrestling, shooting and yachting. The country picked up 14 bronze medals in tennis, diving, wrestling, shooting, cycling, volleyball, pantathlon and baseball. Guillermo Echevarria is, at the moment, Mexico's brightest hope for a gold medal. He has some excellent times in the 1,500 meter swimming race and won the gold medal in that event during the 1966 Little Olympics in Mexico City. He also won silver medals in the 400 meters and the 200 meters against some top U.S. and European competition. The size of the delegation from the Olympic Organizing Committee has not yet been announced but it is expected to be large and include Pedro Ramirez Vazquez, the president of the organizing committee.

Ryun Lowers World Mark To 3:51.1

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Amazing Jim Ryun, without collaborators, wrote another lustrous chapter in his continuing series of world mile records with a 3:51.1 in the National AAU Track and Field Championships. Ryun, the lean but powerful Kansan, had to set his own pace Friday night and did so in exemplary fashion. But it was the 20-year-old running star's blistering 53.5 on the final lap that enabled Ryun to break the 3:51.3 he ran last July in Berkeley, Calif.

Pole vaulter Paul Wilson clinched the two-day competition at Memorial Stadium with another world record—17 feet, 8 inches. The Southern California sophomore wiped out the mark of 17-7 established by teammate Bob Seagren just two weeks ago.

But the modest, smiling Ryun captured the sentiments of the 11,600 fans who thrilled to his solo virtuosity. "I wanted the pack to go a little faster in the first lap," said Ryun. "When it lagged a little, I decided to go out on the pace by myself. I knew it would be harder, but it was the only way."

"When I heard the timers say 1:59 at the first half, I didn't think I would get the record," Ryun added but he turned in a 58.6 third quarter, then sprinted away from the field, bringing the screaming crowd to its feet with his classic finish.

Ryun's quarter-mile splits were 59.2, 59.8, 58.6 and 58.3, compared with 57.7, 57.7, 59.6 and 56.3 in his 3:51.3 last year. Incredibly, the next six finishers also broke the once-formidable 4-minute mark.

Jim Grelle of the Multnomah Track Club was "second in 3:56.1; Dave Wilborn of Oregon, 3:56.2; Tom Von Ruden of Long Beach, Calif., 4:09.8; track club, 3:56.9; Roscoe Divine of Kent State, 3:58.7; Sam Bair of Oregon, 3:58.7; and high school sensation Martin Liquori of Essex, N. J., 3:59.8.

Grelle, a 30-year-old veteran of 19 sub-4-minute miles, said admiringly of Ryun: "He's the only runner today who can go out and set his own pace like that." Wilson, who still holds the national prep record of 16-6 1/2, set in 1965, was understandably pleased about orbiting into national prominence. But the Downey, Calif., youngster was realistic about his mark as pole vaulters must be in this space age.

Gary Peters Tames Minnesota Twins

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Gary Peters held Minnesota to five hits and capped a five-run Chicago rally with a two-run single Saturday, leading the White Sox to a 5-2 triumph over the Twins. The Sox got all their runs in the seventh inning with Pete Ward doubling in one, Ken Ber-son's 10th home run with the bases empty in the second inning, and a run in the eighth when Harmon Killebrew singled home Rod Carew, who had singled and gone to second on a wild pitch. Chicago 000 000 500-5 8 0 Minnesota 010 000 010-2 5 0

Local Track Team Will Open Season Saturday

Jack Tayrien, mentor for the summer track program here, has announced that the first competition for the summer will get under way July 1 at Kermit. The first of four meets scheduled, the Kermit outing will pit nearly 30 local youngsters against track and field buffs there.

Boys aged 11 and under will compete in the midget category and participate in special events such as the 25-yard dash and 8-man 440 relays. In the junior group, ages 12-13, junior - high events will be featured, as with the intermediate group, ages 14-15.

Boys age 16 and over, with high school eligibility remaining, will represent the senior division and will vie in the inter-scholastic events. The following weekend, the team will travel to Jal, N. M., for a one-day meet, then return to Harlingen for a Jaycee state meet there July 15.

Other meets confirmed for this summer include the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation Regional meet in Odessa July 21-22; the State TAAF meet in Richardson July 27-28.

According to Tayrien, the entire program is sponsored by the City and Big Spring is the only city in the area without a

Redskins Scalp Kiwanis In 8th

It took the Indians an extra inning to edge the Kiwanis, 3-0, in Hi-Junior Teenage League baseball here Friday. A pitcher's dual all the way, Kiwanis' Jody Flores and Tom Ham of the Indians rationed only five hits between them until Ham got tagged in the eighth round for two safeties, a free pass, and was the victim of a miscue for the loss.

The win upped the Redskins' record to 7-1, while the Kiwanis club slipped to 5-2 on the year.

NBC Tournament Starts July 28

LUBBOCK — It has been announced by Dick Walker, Texas commissioner, that Laredo, Arlington, Boerne, Longview and Lubbock will head a list of teams into the 1967 State National Baseball Congress Texas Championships here. These teams have qualified for tournament play as a result of having finished no lower than fifth place in the 1966 tournament.

The 1966 Texas State champions, the Griffin Truck Center Hubbers, will defend their crown amidst a field of 32 teams from across the state. The 1967 Texas Champion will receive $2500 for expenses to attend the National tournament in Wichita, Kan., starting Aug. 14.

The first round of the tournament will get under way July 28 and continue until a Texas champion has been declared. Any team desiring to participate in the tournament should contact Mr. Walker at once.

City LL Tourney Starts July 5

The annual City Little League baseball tournament will be held here July 5-8. Teams from the four Little Leagues — International, Texas, National and American — will participate. All four Little League parks will be used during the tourney and the home team will be decided by the flip of a coin. All games will start promptly at 8 p.m. and the opening round is scheduled for July 5.

The International League No. 1 team has drawn a bye. Other pairings follow: National No. 2 vs. International No. 2, with winner meeting International No. 1; Texas Meeting Texas No. 1; International No. 2 vs. Texas with winner meeting American No. 1; American No. 2 vs. National No. 1, with winner meeting National No. 1.

Ex-Champion Near Death

SEQUALS, Italy (AP) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Primo Carnera is reported dying in this northern Italian town.

The Italian champion, who returned from the United States to his native village last month, has been in a coma for two days and only his strong constitution has prolonged his life, doctors told newsmen Saturday.

Carnera, suffering from cirrhosis of the liver, is still in the villa he bought when he was one of the most famous fighters in the world.

A doctor of the nearby Spillimbergo Hospital said there was no more hope.

"Nobody can do anything more for him. So we prefer that Primo die in his home," Carnera's wife was quoted as saying.

Players Accept Pension Plan

TORONTO (AP) — Canadian Football League players Friday voted to accept a pension plan proposal which should be in operation this year. The 17-point proposal, earlier approved by the league's nine clubs, calls for each team to pay $300,000 to be matched by the players, into the fund each year.

Bucs Clinch Top Spot In League

A 9-7 victory over the Eagles Friday, coupled with a 4-0 defeat suffered by Stingrays at the hands of the Sports Saturday, clinched first place for the Bucs in the American Minor League here.

Kenneth McMurtrey, Orville Rau and Robin Travis divided time of the mound for the Bucs, who are now 12-1 on the year. The Stingrays trail the Bucs by two lengths, with only one game to play. Craig Lagerstrom led the Corsair attack with a double and a single.

Even Golf Team Makes Money At Houston

By TOMMY HART

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis of HCJC may have picked himself a diamond in the rough by signing on Jim Bond of Hamlin, who ran a 39.6 intermediate hurdles race and has been clocked in 14.8 in the high hurdles, even though track isn't emphasized at his school. The boy distributes 180 pounds on a 6-2 frame and appears to be built for the hurdles. Dominick Mazza, another trackster signed by Lewis, appears likely to break school records in both the discus and shot put his first year here.

Did you know that the University of Houston's golf team not only pays its own way but contributes money toward the school's general athletic budget? When Dave Williams hired on as golf coach there in 1951, there was no money in the budget to pay a coach and only two scholarships were allotted to the sport. Williams is now paid $10,000 for his coaching duties, which he draws in addition to his teaching salary. Big Spring's Robb Smith finished at 301 in the recent West Texas Invitation Golf tournament at Midland, or 13 shots behind winner Bill Holstead. In the President's Flight, Tommy Wilkerson finished with a 317 or 16 back of the leader. At the only golf course in New Delhi, India, a ground-ruler states that if a monkey picks up a player's ball, the golfer must play it wherever the animal chooses to drop it. Ray (Tomcat) Johnson, a Negro athlete from Dallas, may catch on with the Atlanta Falcons of the NFL. He's a glue-fingered pass receiver. It couldn't have been Jim Baum I heard the other morning, the radio announcer who told of plans for a company barbecue and then added "if it rains in the afternoon, it will be held in the morning." A quote attributed to the late Knute Rockne 40 years ago remains as timely as this morning's newspaper. Said the great Notre Dame coach: "Now that our western frontier days are over, football, baseball, basketball and track are the only things that keep our youth from becoming softies."

Frank Pulattie, one of the newest additions to the Big Spring coaching staff, dates back to the Doak Walker era at SMU. He still regards the Doaker as the greatest football player who ever lived. Pulattie, recognized as a fine ball carrier when he played ball under the late Paul Tyson at Waco High, became a blocking back and linebacker in college. He later spent time with the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Steelers but injuries cut him down. He started his coaching career as a head mentor at Itasca in 1949, where his team won eight of ten starts the first time out of the chute, and later coached at Hamilton (1954-55), Childress ('56-57), Livingston ('58) and Reisel (1959-'60). Still later, he coached at Lubbock Carroll Thompson Junior High for a year before moving to Kermit five years ago. At 250 pounds, Pulattie was the heaviest Southwestern Conference collegian ever to win a varsity tennis letter. As a high school griddler, Frank played for Waco against Chicago Finger High on December 25, 1938. The game was close for a half but a Blue Norther hit and the Chicagoans exulted in such weather and ultimately won, 14-0. The game was billed for the National high school championship.

Pulattie also won three basketball letters in high school as a 6-1 center. In his nine years as a head football coach, his teams had only one losing season. In that Wichita Falls Invitational Softball tournament last week (Big Spring's Morton's Foods was an entry), a total of 62 games were played before a champion was determined. A similar meet could be staged here, with a little planning. Johnnie Carrigan's baseball school in Dallas is getting a record registration from Big Spring youths this year. They say one way to avoid all those riots in Madison Square Garden is to book two Puerto Ricans and have the bout end in a draw. You can now buy Arnold Palmer wallpaper, at a cost of $18 a roll. You can paper your playroom with illustrations of Arnie in action—demonstrating techniques and offering lessons and suggestions. Pictures of Our Town's Jerry Green would be better—he's a better teacher.

Hussein Sees A Possibility On Jerusalem Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein does not discount the possibility his nation and Israel might reach agreement over the future of Jerusalem. "I'm not saying it's possible," the Jordanian monarch said of suggestions the two nations could agree on disposition of the holy city, occupied by victorious Israeli troops after the Middle East war.

"I'm not saying it's impossible," the Jordanian monarch said of suggestions the two nations could agree on disposition of the holy city, occupied by victorious Israeli troops after the Middle East war.

Israel has said it intends to keep control of the city, which it shared before the war with Jordan. He took a wait-and-see view also on the possibility of Arab acceptance of the existence of these places, of the holy city of Jerusalem, and will seek to continue to have control of it.

on and the Arabs have refused Hussein's views came in a filmed interview, shown Friday on Washington television station WTOP.

He repeated earlier calls for an Arab summit conference, saying such a meeting would insure there "will be no end to an Arab nation, but the beginning."

Eyes Pyramids

CAIRO (AP) — Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny took time out Friday from talks with President Gamal Abdel Nasser to visit the age-old pyramids in Giza.

Maine Hunters To Wear Orange

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Sportsmen hunting in southwestern Maine will be required to wear fluorescent orange clothing visible from all sides, during the hunting seasons of 1967 and 1968, under a bill signed recently by Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis. It is an experiment in hunting safety.

MISS KAREN McGIBBON

MISS KAREN KOGER

MISS SHERYL GAMBILL

MISS KAY LOVELAND

"ATTENDING THE BRIDE"

June, the traditional month of wonderful weddings and beautiful brides, brought forth some of the prettiest bridesmaids of the season who were attendants in formal ceremonies for their friends.

MISS KAREN McGIBBON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, 108 Cedar, attended Miss Karen Kee during her wedding to Tommy Jordan Gentry. Her Empire gown was of pale green chiffon with rounded neckline, elbow-length sleeves and floating train. Her petal cap was enhanced with pale green veiling.

MISS KAREN KOGER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Koger, 804 Dallas, was an attendant in the wedding of Miss Suzanne Cook and Coye Conner Jr. She was attired in an apricot chiffon gown fashioned in the Empire manner with puffed, pleated sleeves and with apricot satin at the high-rise waist. Her double Dior bow was attached to a circular veil.

MISS SHERYL GAMBILL, daughter of Mrs. F. C. Gambill, 1011 Howell, and the late Mr. Gambill, wore a gown of peacock peau de soie when she participated in the wedding of Miss Mary Newton and Phil Hall. The Empire style was designed with scooped neckline and belled sleeves, and her coif veil was sprinkled with blue blossoms.

MISS KAY LOVELAND, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rosene, 1309 Sycamore, returned from Spain to attend her sister, Miss Dana Rosene when she became the bride of Lt. Carl L. Baker. Her sleeveless lavender crepe gown was worn with a matching braid picture hat accented with lavender feather flowers and a purple velvet bow.

MISS SANDY McCOMBS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. McCombs, 1600 Sycamore, was a bridesmaid in the wedding of Miss Daphne Barnes and Charles Roy Burdette. Her yellow crepe dress had a yoke and sleeves of matching lace, and her headpiece was a cluster of yellow flowers.

MISS JACKIE COOK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cook, 1706 Harvard, participated in the wedding of Miss Harvelyn Adams and Ronnie Ward. She wore a sleeveless A-line dress of white lace over aqua, and in her hair, an aqua braid rosette with matching tulle veiling.

Charlotte Lee Wright Weds Jimmie Cross

Miss Charlotte Lee Wright became the bride of Jimmie Herman Cross before a background of palms and woodwardia trees in a formal, candlelight ceremony Friday evening in the Moberly Avenue Baptist Church in Longview.

Garlands of smilax edged the altar, which was centered with pink gladioli and chrysanthemums. Flanking the setting were spiraled candelabra holding pink cathedral tapers, roses and palms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Preston Wright, 2600 Lynn, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Cross, 5020 Macafee Road, Torrance, Calif.

The Rev. Barney Walker officiated at the double ring service. Wedding selections were played by Pat Hoffer, organist, who accompanied Miss Vicki Johnstone and Don Johnstone as they sang, "We'll Walk with God," and "Miss Johnstone as she sang, "How Do I Love Thee?" Jim Eastman and Bob Miller, violinists, accompanied the duet as they sang "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal dress of cameo silk organza with crescent waistline and an A-line skirt. The Empire bodice was enhanced with pearl-traced Alencon lace at the neckline, and the long sleeves were inset with lace. The skirt was fashioned with lace encircling the hemline, and a cathedral train was embellished with lace motifs. Her full-length tiered veil of silk illusion was designed as a mantilla with lace appliques. She carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses and ivory gardenias.

Miss Nancy Fuller and Miss Jan Martin served as maids of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Laster, Miss Cheri Moore, white wine, 1/4 teaspoon orange, Miss Eloise Wright and Miss Diane Crawford.

The attendants were attired in identical dresses of pink crepe. Silk shantung formed the Empire bodice, and the waistline was accented with a fold of silk fabric. A Watteau panel of shantung fell from the back waistline and a small bow held the tiered veils. The attendants carried Sweetheart rosebuds and rosepink asters with garlands of miniature ivy.

Warren Cross Jr. and Raymone Cross served as their brother's best men. Groomsmen were Chris Doan, Felton Bollinger, Tom Brink and John Hershey. Furman Harold Entz, III, was the ring bearer.

SCHOOLS

The bride attended Howard County Junior College majoring in music education. She will enter Colorado State College, Greeley, Colo., in September. She is a member of the Cum Laude Alpha Et Magna Honor Society and is on the Dean's list.

The bridegroom is a graduate of LeTourneau College and is a member of the Lambda Alpha Sigma.

For the wedding trip to California, Mrs. Cross was attired in a turquoise linen suit designed with sleeveless dress and walking coat. She wore a linen straw hat, white accessories, and the orchid corsage from her bouquet.

The couple will be at home in Greeley, Colo.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately in the fellowship hall. The bride's table was draped with a floor-length white organza cloth over pink satin. Epergnes holding tall pink tapers were placed at either side of the table which was swagged in smilax. The five-tiered wedding cake was accented with sprays of pink rosebuds. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a beige cutwork cloth and centered with a massive brass candle holder encircled with frosted fruit and smilax. A German chocolate cake was placed at one end of the table and a silver coffee service at the opposite end.

Baskets of summer flowers and urns of polished foliage were placed at vantage points throughout the receiving area.

Members of the house party were Miss Sally Cooksey, Nacogdoches; Miss Mary Jane Gabor, Texarkana; Mrs. Jennifer Jones, Marshall; Miss Judy Belt, Longview; Mrs. Anthony Adams, Mrs. Melvin Crawford, Mrs. Craven Beard and Miss Carol Crawford, all of Tyler; and Mrs. Harold Entz and Mrs. Warren Cross Jr., both of Waco.

Miss Smith Is Married Saturday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Charlie E. Smith of Colorado City, became the bride of Denny Burl Belew of Fluvanna, Saturday, in the First Presbyterian Church in Colorado City, with the Rev. Fred Brewton, pastor, officiating.

Miss Smith, given in marriage by her father, wore a slender floor-length Empire sheath of white silk organza over bridal taffeta. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, atop a white Rainbow Bible.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Colorado High School and is a January candidate for a BS in education from Texas Tech.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Belew of Fluvanna, is a 1965 graduate of Fluvanna High School and a junior student at Texas Tech.

MRS. JIMMIE HERMAN CROSS

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

With so many men and boys staying with the long hair I was interested by this little squib from a printer's magazine: In the year 1889, a group of literary Frenchmen, mostly poets, met in Paris to plan a new magazine. One member was Jules Renard whose Journal (George Braziller) has recently been translated into English.

Following the first meeting, Renard wrote in his diary: "There were some strange looking characters. I thought we had done with long hair. It seemed as though I had come into a menagerie!"

Remember this was 78 years ago.

A number of good friends gathered to honor KAREN MCGIBBON who is to marry soon, at the TED GROEBI home Friday afternoon. Among them were MRS. J. R. HENSLEY who now lives in Dallas but who has kept in close touch with her Big Spring friends, MRS. HUBERT STIPP has recently returned from a trip to Houston to see her son and his family, and also from Jacksonville where for the first time in 13 years the three sisters and a brother were together. They were guests of MR. and MRS. FRANK HOLMES at their home at the lake near Jacksonville.

MRS. JONATHAN LANCASTER has returned to her home in Kermit after spending a week with her sister, MRS. MILLER HARRIS, who is at home following surgery three weeks ago.

Those who complain they never can catch fish should take a tip from CECIL THIXTON, who came back from the Gulf with more fish than you can imagine (And we can testify from the string he brought us that they were delicious.) In his party was a man who could never catch anything; after an hour and a half of yanking out a fish everytime he dropped his line, the fellow gave up exhausted but jubilant.

MR. and MRS. E. B. WEAVER have returned to their home in Dallas after a short visit in the home of the DAN CONLEYS. The Weavers are the parents of MRS. JIMMY CONLEY.

MR. and MRS. C. C. JONES are spending the weekend with friends in Dallas.

MR. and MRS. TED POINDEXTER and their children will spend their vacation at Granite Shoals, Brenham and West where they will visit friends.

Guests of the JOHN CHERYS during the past week were her cousins, MR. and MRS. DEL LOSSON whose home is in Gardena, Calif. The Lossons had been to Illinois, Tennessee and Kentucky before coming to Texas. They visited other relatives in Lubbock before starting their trip back to California.

Talked to MALCOLM PATTERSON who is batching while his wife and his sister, MRS. REG JARVIS, and her two daughters, Joy and Judy, of Houston, are touring Europe. He said they were having a wonderful time. They were more than likely in Switzerland

Use Italian Sauce

Accent hamburgers and hot dogs with an Italian sauce. Combine 1 can tomato sauce with cheese with 2 teaspoons chopped onion, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon white wine, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, pinch of sugar and dash of salt and pepper. Heat and serve.

Miss Nancy Fuller and Miss Jan Martin served as maids of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Laster, Miss Cheri Moore, white wine, 1/4 teaspoon orange, Miss Eloise Wright and Miss Diane Crawford.

MR. and MRS. AVERY DEEL, 909 E. 16th, have returned from a trip to Saint Ste. Marie, Mich., and along the coastline of Lake Ontario in Canada. They visited Kinchloe Air Force Base where their son - in - law and daughter, S. SGT. and MRS. RICHARD DENNIS and their four children, Warren, Cheryl, Glenda and Kevin are stationed.

The Deels traveled through Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois. On their return trip they visited in Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and East Texas.

S. Sgt. and Mrs. Dennis will be transferred to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., next month. He is with the Hospital Corps.

Those longtime friends, MRS. J. R. STANLEY and MISS MARY FOREMAN are visiting their hometown of Memphis this weekend. Mrs. Stanley and Miss Foreman were girlhood friends, finished high school together, went to college together and also taught in the same school.

Incidentally, Tom Vettors who was recently made publisher of the Bryan Eagle is a nephew by marriage of J. R. Stanley. Mr. Vettors had been with the Houston Post.

DAVID PICKLE is to leave today for Little Rock, Ark., to join the FLOYD PARSONS family on a ten-day trip to Minneapolis, Chicago and Washington. The Parsonses will attend the NEA meeting which is being held in Minneapolis. He is superintendent of Little Rock schools, a position he held with the Big Spring Independent School district before going to Arkansas.

MISS COLLEEN SLAUGHTER and her brother, KEITH SLAUGHTER, plan to leave Monday morning by car for Roslyn, Pa., where they will visit their sister, MRS. RONALD PHILLIPS, and her family. Roslyn is a suburb of Philadelphia.

The BILL UNGERS with their son, Mark, and his friend, Johnny Pennell, are in Cloudcroft, N. M., for two weeks. Mrs. Unger planned to spend the first week attending classes at an art school.

MR. and MRS. WAYNE NANCE where here last week from Albuquerque, N. M., visiting her father, BILL TODD, and his brother, ERROT NANCE, and families. He was for many years associated with Conoco at Forsan, then entered the field of religious music and education and served many years with the First Baptist Church. Their son, Kenny, is a junior at Hardin - Simmons, a class representative on the student council, head of his music fraternity, Pamela will be entering H-SU in the autumn.

Miss Moore Weds Capt. Q. B. Newman

Miss Nancy Sharron Moore became the bride of Capt. Quincy B. Newman during a double ring ceremony performed Friday morning by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Moore, 109 Jefferson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. M. B. Stevenson of Clemons, S. C., and the late B. F. Newman.

The nuptial prelude was presented by Mrs. Louis Heinze, organist, and Mrs. Harold Talbot, soloist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her formal sheath gown was fashioned of white imported organza over peau de soie. Appliques of hand-embroidered Alencon lace formed the bodice and cascaded the skirt front and the attached chapel train. The bouffant veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of peau de sole roses and leaves enhanced with seed pearls and iridescents. The gown which belongs to Mrs. Michael Davis, was the bride's traditional borrowed item, and something blue was her garter.

The altar was graced with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and Majestic daisies flanked by fern trees, and during prayer, the couple knelt on a white prie dieu. Family pews were marked with white satin bows. The bridal bouquet was a semi-crescent arrangement of white Marguerite daisies accented with miniature ivy and picot.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bruce Moore of Fort Rucker, Ala. Her yellow silk organza dress was styled with rounded neckline and elbow length sleeves, and her Juliet cap was sprinkled with yellow and white flossoms and streamers. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow Marguerite daisies showered in white picot.

The bridegroom's brother, Leon Newman of Atlanta, Ga., served as best man, and ushers were Capt. Bruce Moore, Fort Rucker, Ala.; Dr. Larry Moore, Wichita Falls, Kan.; and Lt. Harry Hopper and Lt. Richard Rossmiller, both of Webb AFB.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, long-sleeved forest green sheath, cuffed and collared in white, with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon returning, Capt. and Mrs. Newman will reside at Park Hill Terrace.

Mrs. Newman is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and North Texas State University. Capt. Newman was graduated from D. W. Daniel High School and Clemson University, Clemson, S. C. He is a member of the Air Force and stationed at Webb AFB.

Ex-Residents Announce Approaching Marriage

Local friends have learned of the approaching wedding, July 1, of Donald Paul Bynum and Peggy Sue Bobo, in the First Methodist Church at Houston. Bynum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Bynum of Dallas, former Big Spring residents. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Bobo, Houston. The engaged couple graduated from the University of Texas, June 3.

Mrs. Oleta Horne, with her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Don Vaughn and Tommy, attended a family reunion in Quantah last weekend.

Keith Sheedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sheedy, underwent a tonsillectomy Wednesday in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. He is recuperating nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hood plan a vacation next week to Ruidoso, N. M. They will also tour the Astrodome in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Norton Jr. visited Dr. and Mrs. John B. Norton and Debbie last weekend in Ft. Collins, Colo.

Arlene Hartin is due back to work Monday after a two-week vacation spent visiting friends and relatives in Paris, Irving and San Antonio.

Miss Linda Rickard has arrived here to spend the summer in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cummings. She is the niece of Cummings and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Cummings.

Mrs. Perry Chandler is doing well after recent ear surgery in Dallas.

The Bennie McChristian family spent a week vacationing at Lake McQueeney near San Antonio.

The Mike Davises were here last weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tamplin. The Davises reside in Laredo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton F. Hull Sr. were to be in Galveston where she was to undergo surgery.

Monterrey, Mexico was Lon Baucum's vacation destination. James Looney, son of the Jesse Looneys, is home from a week's fishing trip to Colorado.

He and fellow members of Post 444, Donny Perdue and John Gibson, accompanied their leader, Lt. Jack Zyger, on the trip. As a highlight, Lt. Zyger conducted the trip through his alma mater, the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Spring flowers decorated the other rooms, and the register table held a white plume pen and miniature bride and groom's book.

On the side table was a limb done in white satin roses, crystal prisms. At the base were wedding bells and lily of the valley with a white Chinese figurine. The buffet held another Manzaneta limb accented with crystal prisms, white love birds, small wedding bells and white satin and pearl leaves. The base was meline with a Chi-Mrs. McGibbon was presented a pink orchid corsage.

Also receiving guests were the cohostesses, Mrs. Cecil McDonald, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. C. O. Nalley, Mrs. Roy B. Reeder, Mrs. Hubert C. Stupp, Mrs. W. A. Hunt and Mrs. J. Arnold Marshall.

Sanctuary Is Setting For Friday Wedding

Formal nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Toni Lynn Taroni and William Conley Edwards Friday evening in the sanctuary of the College Baptist Church.

The Rev. Byron Orand read the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with a large sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and stock, and flanked by tall candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Emerald fern trees completed the altar setting, and white satin bows marked family pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Taroni, 2320 Brent, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William K. Edwards, 2512 E. 24th, and the late Mr. Edwards.

Lathan Wood, organist played "The Lord's Prayer" and "Benedictus" and accompanied Mrs. Jack Berry, soloist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk peau de soie, designed with bateau neckline and long petal point sleeves with tiny button closing. The Empire bodice was accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace that extended to the hemline of the A-line skirt. The detachable chapel train was edged in Alencon lace, and flowed from a self bow at the back. Her headpiece was a full-length mantilla of imported lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with blue orchids showered in tulle and satin picot ribbon.

Miss Kaye Dyer served as maid of honor. Her yellow embroidered taffeta dress was fashioned with Watteau back panel, and complemented with velvet bands which encircled the high-rising waistline. She carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow pompons accented with maline, satin leaves and matching bows.

Bill Honey of Austin was best man. Ushers were Tommy Taroni, brother of the bride, and Steve Stinson.

Valedia Encinas was the flower girl. She wore a floor-length yellow Empire dress and carried a white basket filled with yellow rose petals.

Joe Edwards, brother of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by the ushers.

WEDDING TRIP
For the trip to their home, the Georgian Arms, Apt. 15, in Lubbock, the bride chose a three-piece yellow knit suit with bone white accessories and a yellow hat. She wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Edwards is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom also graduated from Big Spring Senior High School and is attending Texas Technological College in Lubbock. He is employed with Litton System, Inc., in Lubbock.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. Those in the receiving line were the bridal couple, her parents and his mother.

The refreshment table was laid with a white net cloth over yellow, and centered with an arrangement of daisies flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. The bride's cake was three-tiered with yellow rose trim, and was topped with a

Lt. and Mrs. Frederick E. Webb AFB. In July, Lt. and Mrs. Smith will leave Monday for a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, following their wedding Saturday afternoon in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain Gregory Feller, and the altar was graced with a silver urn holding white chrysanthemums, gladioli and greenery. Flanking the altar were candelabra holding white tapers.

Traditional music for Catholic wedding rituals was played by Mrs. J. E. Settles, organist, and she accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot as she sang "Ave Maria."

The bride is the former Mrs. Joyce Sandner of the Kentwood Apartments, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle E. Lennehan of Hotel Settles. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Smith of Levittown, Pa.

Given in marriage by her brother, Thomas Lennehan, the bride was attired in a street-length aqua chiffon dress with rounded neckline and long sleeves fastened at the wrists with jeweled buttons. Matching jewels accented the flared back of the dress. She wore matching accessories and flower headpiece and carried a crescent bouquet of aqua spide chrysanthemums.

Mrs. William V. Keenan was the matron of honor and wore an A-line dress of coral silk with split buttoned sleeves. Her accessories were white, and her bouquet was of coral spide chrysanthemums.

St. Lawrence J. Burr served as best man, and ushers were Lt. Michael D. Smith and Lt. James L. Pyle. All are members of the Air Force and stationed with the bridegroom at

RECEPTION
The newlyweds were honored with a reception in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club where they received guests with their parents and attendants. The refreshment table was covered with white linen and appointed with crystal and silver, and the four-tiered cake was decorated with aqua roses and topped with doves holding wedding rings.

SCHOOLS
The bride attended Florida State University and is a graduate of Wayne State University at Detroit, Mich. She has been employed as activity therapist at Big Spring State Hospital. Lt. Smith is a graduate of Rider College in New Jersey.

Mrs. Everett Vaughn presided at the register, and members of the house party were Mrs. T. B. Tompkins, Mrs. Gaynell Price, Mrs. Harry G. Davis and Mrs. Star Warford.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held Thursday evening in the Officers-Open Mess at Webb AFB with 14 attending, including family members and those in the wedding party.

The newest bug-bait is a 10-inch long plastic strip impregnated with a modern insecticide which can be hung or placed anywhere in a room. According to the manufacturer, the strip slowly releases minute quantities of vapor into the air to kill flies, mosquitoes, gnats and other small flying insects.

MRS. ALLEN DICKSON BOGER JR.

Boger-Glass Nuptials Held In Sterling City

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dickson Boger Jr. plan to make their home at 2102 Pearl, Austin, following a wedding trip to New Orleans, La.

The couple was married in a formal ceremony at 7 p.m., Saturday, in the First Presbyterian Church in Sterling City. The bride is the former Wilene Key Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Glass of Sterling City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Boger Sr. of Vernon.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hubert C. Travis of Yorktown, with Mrs. Larry Glass serving as organist and S. K. Horwood being the soloist on "If With All Your Hearts" and "O, Lord Most Holy."

The father of the bride gave her in marriage, and she was attired in a full-length, A-line gown of imported English net, applied with Alencon lace, over white peau de soie. The gown featured a sculptured neckline and long sleeves, and the hemline was outlined with white roses and leaves sprinkled with seed pearls which anchored her veil of illusion.

Atop a white Bible, she carried a bouquet of white roses and babies' breath showered with picot ribbon.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Ann Connor of Daingerfield was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Lynn Glass, Mrs. Danny Welch, San Angelo; and Mrs. Jim Windle, Dallas. They were attired in full-length pink crepe sheaths with embroidered lace bodice, elbow-length sleeves and floating back panel.

Larry Patton of Berwick, La., served as best man, and ushers were Claude Wilson, Corpus Christi; Mike Greir, College Station; James Deans, Austin; and Larry Glass and Lynn Glass, brothers of the bride. The flower girl was Rebecca Gibson, and altar tapers were lighted by Gary Key, Yeso, N.M., and Skeets Foster.

For the flight to New Orleans, the bride chose a lemon yellow three-piece suit of silk and wool with matching accessories. She is a graduate of Texas Christian University where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta social sorority. During the past year, she has been a teacher in the Sterling City Elementary School.

The bridegroom received his BA degree from Texas Christian University and earned his BS degree in electrical engineering at the University of Texas in Austin. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and Eta Kappa Nu and Tau Beta Pi honor fraternities. He is now enrolled in the graduate school of engineering at the University of Texas.

RECEPTION
Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Boger were honored with a lawn reception at the Glass ranch home near Sterling City. Receiving guests with them were their parents and the feminine attendants, and guests were registered by Mrs. Ervin Grigsby, Sanderson; and Mrs. R. H. Drennan of Vernon.

The bride's table was laid with a silver punch service on a pink organza and lace cloth, and the bridegroom's table was covered with an ecru Madeira embroidered linen cloth and held a silver coffee service. The three-tiered white wedding cake was topped with fresh pink and white flowers.

Members of the house party were Mrs. George Phillips, Miss Martha Greer, Miss Doris Jean Boger, Mrs. Harvey Glass, Mrs. Clyde Greer, Mrs. Collins Key, Miss Jan Phillips, Miss Lois Ethel Price, Mrs. Tony Allen, Mrs. Keith Spears and Mrs. Reynolds Lee Foster.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. M. Key, Roswell, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Key Jr. and daughter, Margie, Ft. Sumner, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Key and children, Billy, Gary and Sandra, all of Yeso, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grigsby, Sanderson; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Floyd, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Stephens, San Antonio; Mrs. Fred Squire III, Coz Cob, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Howe, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Daryl May, Greenville, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, Vernon; and Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Glass, San Angelo.

Can Children Of 'Suburbia' Live In A Different World?

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Are the children of suburbia—growing up in pockets of affluence and a likeness—being properly prepared to live in a world of people who are different in nationality, race, religion and economic background?

For four years a group of teachers, sociologists and researchers, supervised by Dr. Alice Miel of Columbia University, concentrated on a typical American suburb to find the answer. The results of their study, made public today, add up to an emphatic "no."

Although the parents say they moved to the suburbs in the first place "for the children" and "to have better schools," the report states, "in one aspect of their education suburban children are underprivileged."

"Though other races, other nationalities, other generations have a great deal to teach them, there is little in their education, formal or otherwise, to familiarize them with the rich diversity of American life."

"In this sense, despite the many enviable features of their environment, the children of suburbia are being short-changed."

The study focuses on a community not far from New York city which is called New Village. Dr. Miel refuses to disclose its real identity, but says it strongly resembles suburbs around the country.

Growing up in New Village means a youngster has practically no encounter with people different from himself. His life and social contacts are almost totally controlled by his parents, whether or not the parents realize this.

"He depends on his mother to chauffeur him wherever he goes. As a result, he knows little beyond his own home, the very similar homes of friends, the school and the inside of the family car; he is largely insulated to a life different from his own," says the report.

The researchers observed that the children learned to be hypocritical about differences at a very early age, that their supposed tolerance was only skin-deep. "The prejudices of their society were still very much with them, but they had had it drilled into them that it was 'not nice' to express such feelings."

One hopeful thing, the report says was that a good many parents united in desiring more emphasis on certain kinds of human difference, such as their children learning about nationality differences and achieving respect for other faiths.

"Many parents and teachers were found eager to bridge religious differences; many recognized, however, uneasily, the need for discussion of racial differences. But with a few notable exceptions, neither parents nor schools were facing up to economic inequality."

Knowing nothing about people less well off than themselves, the study points out as one of the "most appalling" gaps in the children's learning. "Moreover, their attitude toward the less fortunate was almost insufferably patronizing—a response that was not surprising in view of the great emphasis placed on material wealth in New Village, as in most suburbs."

The report by Dr. Miel, with writer Edwin Kiester Jr., was published as a pamphlet titled "The Shortchanged Children of Suburbia" by the Institute of Human Relations Press of the American Jewish Committee. It profiles the suburban child this way: he is "likely to be a materialist and somewhat of a hypocrite. In addition, he tends to be a striver in school, a conformist, and above all a believer in being 'nice,' polite, clean and tidy. He is often conspicuously self-centered."

In all these respects, says the report, he patterns his attitudes and goals chiefly after those of his parents.

New Village teachers handled matters of human likeness and difference in these ways: some avoided the subject entirely. Some declaimed "Afghanistanism"—praising over the conditions of the heathen in the far-off corners of the world while ignoring the unsolved problems in one's own backyard. Where they were aware of the need for social learning, they seemed "overwhelmed by the difficulty of discussing such delicate matters," says the report.

Dr. Miel indicts the schools for often neglecting opportunities to help children judge the worth of people; for not developing self-confidence in the children but instead tending to make them feel only views conforming with the majority should be expressed; for not giving them help in managing their own learning—"too often they accepted the world of authority without question."

HD CLUBS Advised On Fabric Care

"The Care and Wear of Permanent Pressed Fabrics" was the main topic discussed at Howard County Home Demonstration meetings held during the week. Other programs were offered on "Hem Finishing" and "Drugs and the Human Body."

COLLEGE PARK CLUB
Mrs. Ronnie Richardson brought the program on clothes care at the Tuesday evening meeting of the College Park HD Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Conard Miller, 1805 Morrison, with Mrs. James Shelton as cohostess.

Mrs. John Dinges was elected to replace Mrs. Larry Barnard as council delegate. Appointed to the nominating committee were Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Bud Hart and Mrs. Ralph Grantam.

Money for cookies for the state hospital was collected, and plans were completed to host the July 3 council meeting at the HD agent's office.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a cut-wool linen cloth centered with an arrangement of blue poppies.

Thirteen attended, and a guest, Mrs. Alva Williams, was introduced. The next meeting will be July 5 in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

FAIRVIEW CLUB
Mrs. D. F. Bigony hosted the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Fairview HD Club. Mrs. Frank Wilson presided and announced that the club will not meet July 4, but will meet July 18 in the home of Mrs. P. P. Van Pelt.

Mrs. L. A. Griffith and Mrs. O. D. Engle presented the program "The Care of Permanent Pressed Fabrics." Refreshments were served to eight.

COAROMA CLUB
Mrs. C. E. Bell, of Colorado City, a registered nurse, presented the program, "Drugs and the Human Body," at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Coahoma HD Club in the home of Mrs. D. S. Phillips.

Mrs. Phil Winn, sponsor of 4-H club girls, told of her work with the group. Plans were formulated concerning the exhibit to be held Oct. 18 in Highland Center.

Eleven members and six guests attended. They were Mrs. Winn and Mrs. Charles Wolf, both of Coahoma; Mrs. J. L. Baugh, Mrs. Irene McKinley, Mrs. H. Hanson and Mrs. J. M. Smith, all of Big Spring.

AIRPORT CLUB
Mrs. S. A. Wilson gave hints on the care of permanent pressed garments and sewing hems at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Airport HD Club in the home of Mrs. Marshall Brown, 1503 Robin.

Mrs. Roy Spivey gave the devotion. Plans were made for an ice-cream party Aug. 11. The next meeting will be a coffee at 8 a.m. in the home of Mrs. B. A. Bunn. This will be a creative arts meeting and members are requested to bring projects of work with them.

Guests introduced were Audrey Nell Standard, Cynthia Standard, Sally Bunn, Kaci Bunn, Susie and Julie Brown of Odessa and Marilyn Wren of El Paso.

Refreshments were served to 12 members.

LUTHER CLUB
Mrs. Frances Zant, president of the HD Council, presented the program, "Hem Finishing," at the Thursday meeting of the Luther HD Club in the home of Mrs. J. L. Lloyd. Mrs. Zant demonstrated the "Hong Kong" stitch, and showed members the best method of altering or making a hem.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Lloyd Underwood, Mrs. Edward Burchell and Mrs. Barron Graves. Refreshments were served to eight. The next meeting will be July 13 in the home of Mrs. Webb Nix.

CITY CLUB
Mrs. Ross Callahan, assisted by Mrs. A. W. Page, conducted the program on fabric care at the Friday afternoon meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Marvin Sewell, 407 Washington Blvd.

Mrs. Callahan told of the advantages and disadvantages of permanent pressed fabrics. She told the group to read labels, and follow directions in washing and sewing fabrics.

Plans were completed to furnish cookies July 5 to the state hospital, and roll call was answered with "Ways I Practice Economy." Members of the nominating committee were appointed. They are Mrs. Page, Mrs. Sewell and Mrs. Carl Gum. Mrs. J. W. Elrod brought the devotion.

The refreshment table was laid with a green linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow flowers.

Twelve attended. The next meeting will be in September.

Wedding Solemnized In California Chapel

Miss Judith Elaine Forshee and George L. Horner exchanged wedding vows during a double ring ceremony Saturday afternoon in the chapel at Beale Air Force Base, California, Chaplain B. Kelly was the officiant, and the ritual was conducted before an altar graced with arrangements of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and stock. Flanking the flowers were wrought iron candelabra and emerald fern trees.

The bride is the daughter of SM. Sgt. and Mrs. Harold R. Dietrich of Beale AFB, formerly of Webb AFB, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Horner of Rockford, Ill.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "Because" was sung by Mrs. Robert Reed who was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Lavon Murphy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace which cascaded five tiers to the floor with a bouffant silhouette. The Sabrina neckline was highlighted with sequins and baby pearl trim, and the tapered sleeves ended in petal points over the hands. The princess lines were accented at the back with a bow and fabric flowers at the back waistline. Her elbow-length veil of English silk illusion was held by a crown of lace petals, and she carried a white Bible topped with an orchid circled in white roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. John Paul Amos of Big Spring was matron of honor and wore a long, pale pink gown and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. S. D. Robson of Portland, Ore., was best man.

SCHOOLS
The bride, a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, was graduated from the John Robert Powers Modeling School in San Francisco, Calif. The bridegroom was graduated from Harlem High School, Rockford, Ill., and served four years in the Armed Forces. He is employed at Barber Coleman Company in Rockford where the couple will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Horner planned

to travel to Rockford during their wedding trip. For traveling reception, and Mrs. S. D. Robson of Portland, Ore., presided at the guest register.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Amos and son of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ridenhour, Mrs. Audrey Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Roberta Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bagley, all of San Francisco; Ronnie Palmer, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Friedrichs and children, Pat, Paul and Don, all of Sacramento; and William Forshee, Nashville, Tenn.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white, floor-length cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli flanked by crystal candelabra holding white tapers. A crystal punch service was used, and the triple-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and decorated with white roses and silver leaves.

Dead branches should be removed first, then all small, spindly limbs removed. Water sprouts should be cut off. If this is not enough to allow sunlight and spray to enter, thin out a little more, but never cut a tree until it looks like an umbrella.

Light Pruning Is Best For Fruit

When pruning fruit trees, make many small cuts but few large ones. Remember, it takes a large tree to hold up a heavy crop of fruit. Pruning of fruit trees is best done in the winter.

Use Cloth Heading

When you remodel—or make—plastic curtains, you will have much longer wear if you sew a heading of cloth to the rod to go through instead of folding over and stitching the plastic.

College Chapel Scene Of Wedding Service

MRS. RONNIE DALE SMITH

The College Church of Christ Chapel in Abilene was the setting at 7 o'clock Friday evening for the wedding of Miss Patricia Kay Wilson and Ronnie Dale Smith.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilson of Route One, Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith, 1409 Sycamore.

Joe Pat Hale, Church of Christ minister, officiated for the ceremony as double ring vows were exchanged before an altar enhanced with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and greenery flanked by branched candelabra.

Musical selections performed by a chorus were "The Wedding Prayer" and "One Hand, One Heart." The soloists were Miss Kay Williams and Charles Cayce.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a formal gown of white silk organza with lace appliques accenting the scalloped neckline and slender skirt. The Empire waist dropped to a point in the back where the chapel train was attached below a small bow.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of orchids and stephanotis arranged with a silk handkerchief which belonged to the bride's great-grandmother.

Miss Sheri Wilson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Barsch and Miss Dana Carmichael. The junior bridesmaid was Teresa Wilson, another sister of the bride.

Freddie Stiehl attended the bridegroom as best man, and Terry Fields and Jimmy Johnson were groomsmen. Guests were ushered to their seats by Mike McAlister and Sam Mims, and Tom Wilson, the bride's brother, lighted the altar tapers. Daryl Helm was ring bearer, and the two flower girls were Cathy Arnold and Cindy Garner.

The bride, a graduate of Abilene High School, attended Abilene Christian College, and the bridegroom was graduated from Big Spring Senior High School before attending Howard County

Junior College. He is employed by Universal Oil Well Service at Snyder where the couple will reside at 3111 Ave. C.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Houston and the Gulf Coast, the bride was wearing a blue linen suit with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Smith was held in West Gardner Parlor at Abilene Christian College where they were joined by their parents and feminine attendants in receiving guests.

Miss Connie Gale Smith, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the register, and those in the house party were Miss Paula Cox, Miss Mary Ann Spurrell, Miss Sarah Smith, Miss Suzanne Whatley, Mrs. Leon Wilson, Mrs. Dan Snow, Miss Karen Williams, Miss Pam Shipp and Miss Jonelle Jacoby.

Refreshments were served from two circular tables covered with white linen cloths; each centered with a candelabrum holding white candles. The bridesmaids' bouquets were used as centerpieces, and the three-tiered cake, divided by spacers, was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Gardeners Advised On Objectives

Mrs. Guy Cook presented the program, "Garden Club Objectives," when the Four O'Clock Garden Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. R. O. Linn, 2605 Larry.

Mrs. Cook discussed objectives of Garden Clubs in Texas. She explained that through national and state affiliation, garden clubs work to preserve American heritage through soil conservation, preservation of the nation's natural resources and places of historic interest that would otherwise be lost to progress.

Mrs. Cook reviewed the club's work with the physically handicapped and those in correctional institutions through gardening therapy. She stressed that garden clubs work to beautify highways, in community service and civic development.

Mrs. Jesse R. Crane Jr. announced plans for a study of flower arrangement. A workshop will be held on basic flower arranging in July, with programs on abstract and Japanese flower arranging to follow. A study of soil conservation and good horticulture practices will be scheduled later.

Mrs. Carroll Cannon will serve as president of the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs for 1967-68, and Mrs. Joe Horton was elected council delegate. Committee chairmen were appointed. They include Mrs. Horton, civic beautification and therapy; Mrs. Cook, flower show; Mrs. Cannon, litterbug; Mrs. John Edgar, awards; Mrs. Lowell Hart, scrapbook; Mrs. Bruce Hatfield, pressbook; Mrs. Ronnie Richardson, telephone; Mrs. Edgar, yearbook; Mrs. Cook, budget; Mrs. Don Cannon, ways and means; Mrs. Cannon, constitution; Mrs. Don Campbell, hospitality; and Mrs. Ralph Grantham, parliamentary.

Seven attended.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Hot Biscuits For Company

Dear Folks:

Many of us use canned biscuits these days because they're such a quick and easy way to perk up a meal.

But once in a while we'll have a whole bunch of friends come in and we need to cook four or five cans of 'em at one time. The only trouble is that most of our ovens won't handle enough of those round biscuit pans.

HELOISE

So here's what I did last weekend when I had just such a crowd of guests! I removed the grill from the broiling rack in my oven and set the bottom portion of it on the table where I was going to put the food.

Then I lined up all my canned biscuits on the insert (which I had covered with foil), put it back in the oven and cooked my biscuits on THAT!

When the biscuits are done all you have to do is take that hot grill out of your oven and put it on the cold underpan, that's already sitting on the table. The insert the biscuits were cooked on keeps them warm, yet there is about an inch of air space between the hot insert and the cold drip pan and it keeps your table from being burned.

So next time the crowd comes, don't hesitate to serve hot biscuits.

Yummy biscuits and hot rolls make a meal. Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Save the metal cutting edge from a box of wax or plastic paper. It's perfect for tearing things

Tells Plans

The wedding of Miss Norma Patricia Nail and Lt. Raymond Bryan Alexander of McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita, Kans., will be an event of Aug. 25 in the First Methodist Church at Mineral Wells. The announcement is being made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Nail of Mineral Wells. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Alexander, 707 W. 18th.

from magazines or newspapers. James Niarhos

Dear Heloise: After I have guests, I take my extra pillows that I use for company and put them in the dryer and set the control on "air" for 10 minutes. The pillows not only come out fluffy, but also have a clean smell the next time they are used. Great-Grandmother

Dear Heloise: When working with taffeta or other lovely materials and I want to avoid leaving pin holes and marks, I use several narrow strips of masking tape to hold the cloth in place and then sew.

This works extremely well—leaves no pin marks and it can be removed easily. Grace Hangen

Dear Heloise: How can anyone run a home without the help of shoe bags? When they are cut down, I use them inside my linen closet for the many little items (pins, bows, brushes, etc.) that clutter bureau drawers.

I also hang them inside my cabinet doors in the kitchen for jar lids, plastic bags and all the small kitchen equipment most households accumulate.

They are terrific organizers! Judi

Dear Heloise: If the tile on the walls around your sink, tub and shower is always wafer-spotted, try putting a coat or two of self-polishing wax on it.

I have done this on my tile and it always looks nice and clean. No water spots either! With three children taking baths and washing hands, this is an easy way to have a clean bathroom and save lots of wall wiping. Mrs. K. J. Bauz

Dear Heloise: For that lint build-up in shirt seams, I discovered that my percolator brush works like a charm. It fits perfectly between the edge of the shirt and the buttonholes. Cecelia Miller

And if your husband won't raise the roof, try using his tiny electric shaver brush. Heloise

Dear Heloise: Most cookbooks I have give recipes for six or eight people. Since I cook for only two, I cut most recipes in half, but it is very easy to make mistakes and throw in a lot more spices than I should.

So I write half-amounts with red ink in front of the original amounts. It saves me lots of figuring and cuts down on mistakes. Marga S. Herring

Dear Heloise: Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

A LOVELIER YOU

Foot Fashions Shine On Summer Evenings

By MARY SUE MILLER
Fashions afoot for summer evenings promise to make a lovely's entrance a dazzling affair. New stockings sparkle like champagne and patent leather sandals shimmer like moonlight.

Color and design add to the fireworks. In all versions patent drenched, sometimes with two or more shades on a shoe. Ard brilliance is in no way diminished by styling — by vamp straps and cutouts, by the sling strap and ankle strap, by the open toe and open stripping. No power failures there!

What's more there can be none, according to the Leather

Industries of America. Because of perfected tanning techniques and processes, patent leather — real leather — now has a non-crack finish, durable shine and extraordinary pliability for foot ease.

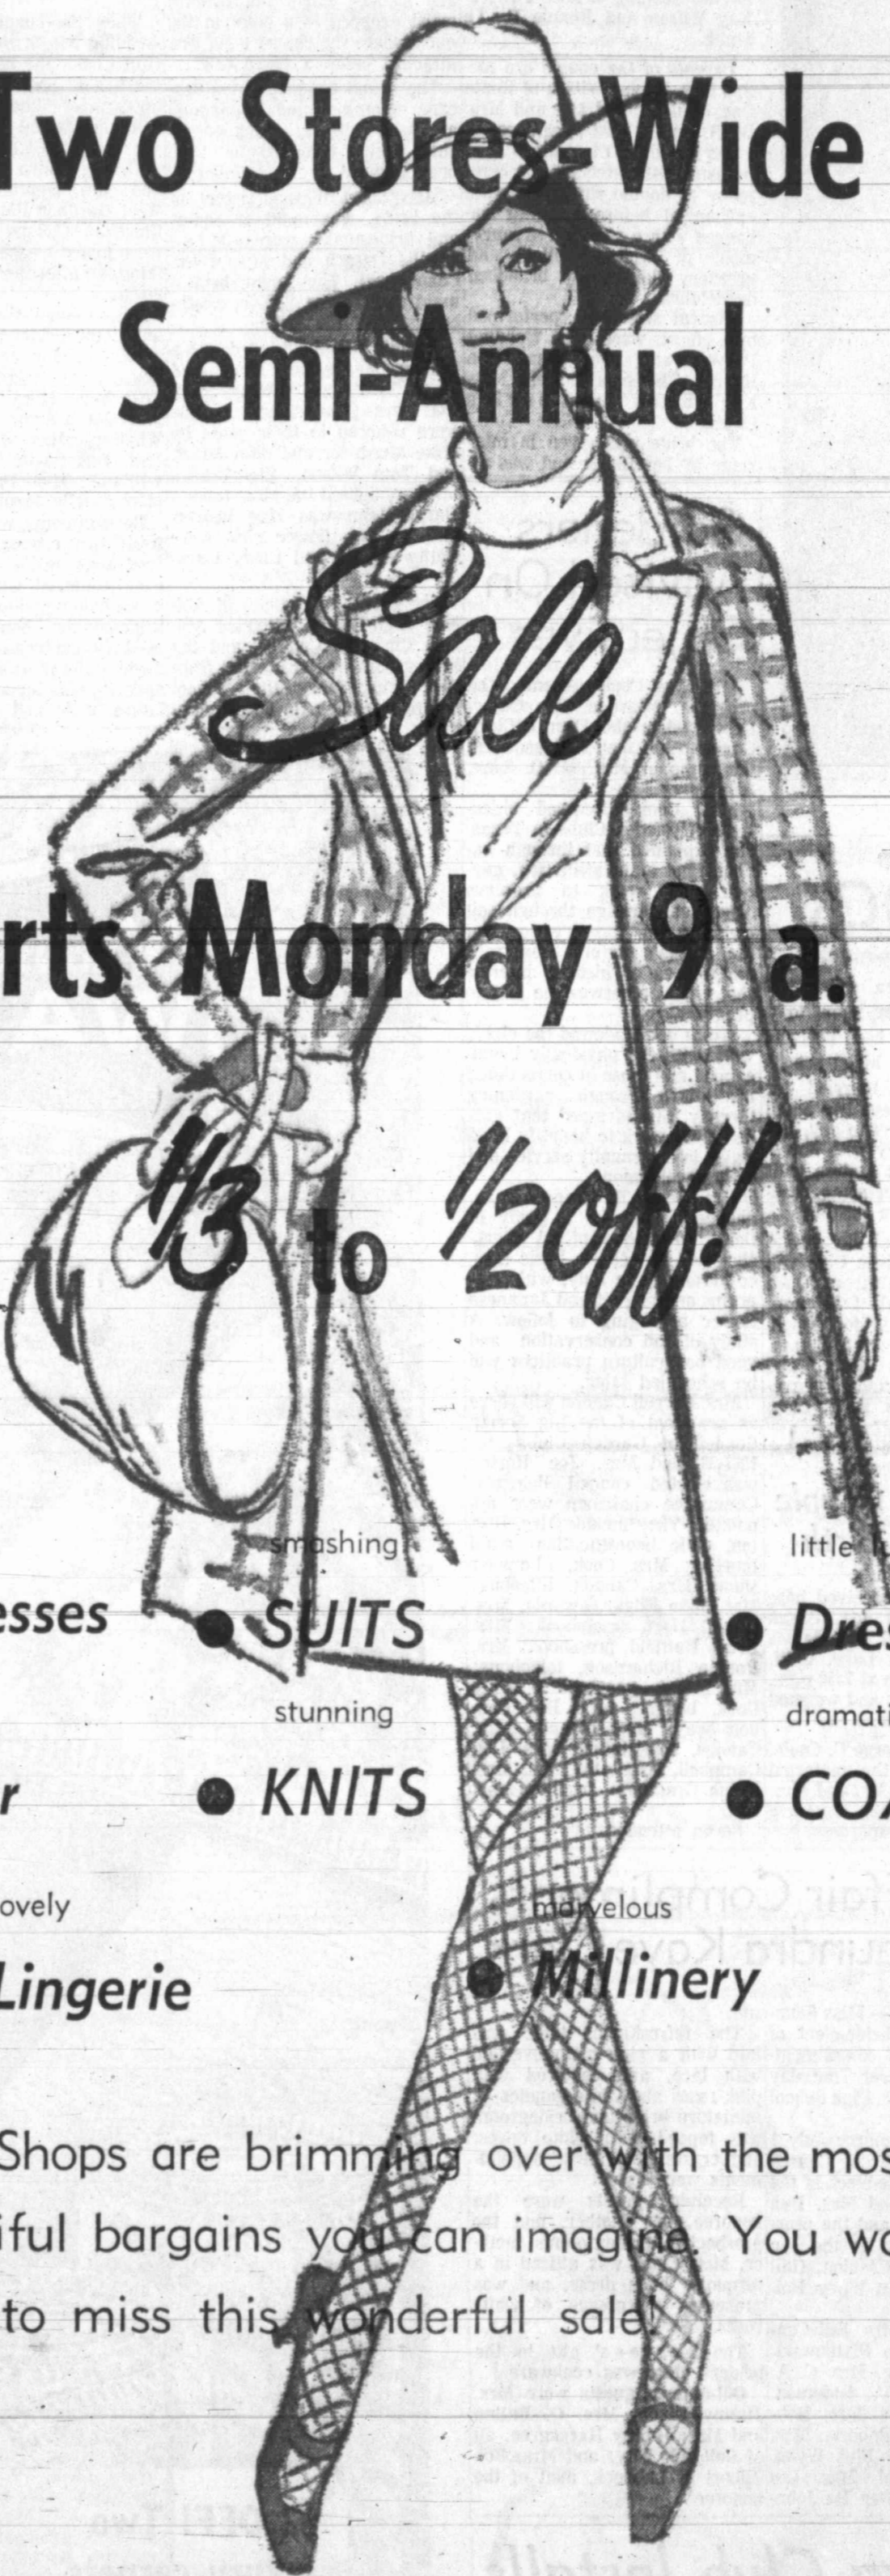

To match the gleam of patent sandals, stockings have glistening, jewel-like finishes. Shades are very pale or blazing hot, the better to complement your sandals, dress or taste. Whether or not patterned, textures are very sheer, so as to let your tan glimmer through. (Better polish it with plenty of lotion massage.)

If ever there were one, it's a summer to kick up your heels in gay array. This is not to suggest that a woman should go for the neon bright footwear so beloved by the go-set. But she might find a lovely change of pace in a pastel patent sandal and stocking — sparkle type.

LEGLINE TRIMMERS
If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, "Legline Trimmers," which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover handling.

Looks Like A Cotton Write-Off Year

By SAM BLACKBURN

Even if the county should receive countywide slow-falling, deep-soaking rains between this date and next Sunday, it's too late now to save Howard County's cotton crop for 1967 from being a fiasco.

The flood which swept the Sand Springs area last week did no good, farmers said. Indeed, it was more harmful than beneficial in the area where it fell. The deluge was so terrific in force that it ran off without being absorbed into the fields and it washed furrows out burying what limited cotton had already sprouted.

DECISION

Sometime within the next two weeks, farmers with cotton allotments must make a momentous decision—the decision being whether to hang on and hope that the wilted cotton some have seen sprout in their fields will survive or whether to plant those same fields to grain.

Meantime, the county's 50,000 acres of cotton land is perhaps 50 per cent seeded. This does not mean that 25,000 acres of cotton is now up and growing. It merely means that farmers have seeded in possibly that many acres—the term used is "dusted" in. If it should rain, perhaps the dusted in fields will come up; regardless, in order to benefit from cotton payments from the department of agriculture in the highly probable possibility the cotton crop is lost entirely, it is basic that the fields must have been planted this area is far from being out of the woods.

Cotton is up but suffering acutely in fields around Coahoma and the hard rains of Thursday caused more damage than benefit, farmers said. Lomax, which had 75 inch of less violence than in the Coahoma area, was benefitted to some degree. The lack of winter rains and the long dry spring has handicapped even the most promising farm areas.

KNOTT HARD HIT

Farmers say there is no place in the county where cotton can be truthfully described as flourishing.

Particularly hard hit is the rich Knott district where many fields last year, produced from a bale and a half to two bales an acre. The fields present a desolate sight today—so dry and bare that busy whirlwinds sweep constantly over the terrain.

The month of decision for the farmers—the period in which their fate is written in the matter of cotton prospects—began June 15 and will end, officially, July 15.

Farmers said that cotton could possibly be planted within the next week (assuming sufficient rains fall) and still make a crop. Many elements enter into this possibility. The rains must continue to fall during the summer and early fall months at the right time. Insect and predatory pests must not be too numerous and frost must be very late in the season.

There are stories of a year when some farmers did not plant until July 4 and still made a crop but farmers are quick to point out that the odds are long against a crop planted after the end of June.

The county has about 700 cotton farms which is the same as last year.

This is a dry year—comparable in many ways with the drought of several years ago which held the country in its grip for nearly a decade.

The U.S. Experiment Station reports that total rain for the year through June 23 is 5.46 inches. June has provided 1.48 inches of this total.

The lack of winter rains left the ground without sub-moisture; the failure of the spring months to produce good rains aggravated an already difficult situation.

Average rainfall January through June for 66 years records have been kept at the U.S. Experiment Station is 8.60 inches.

Instructors Recognized

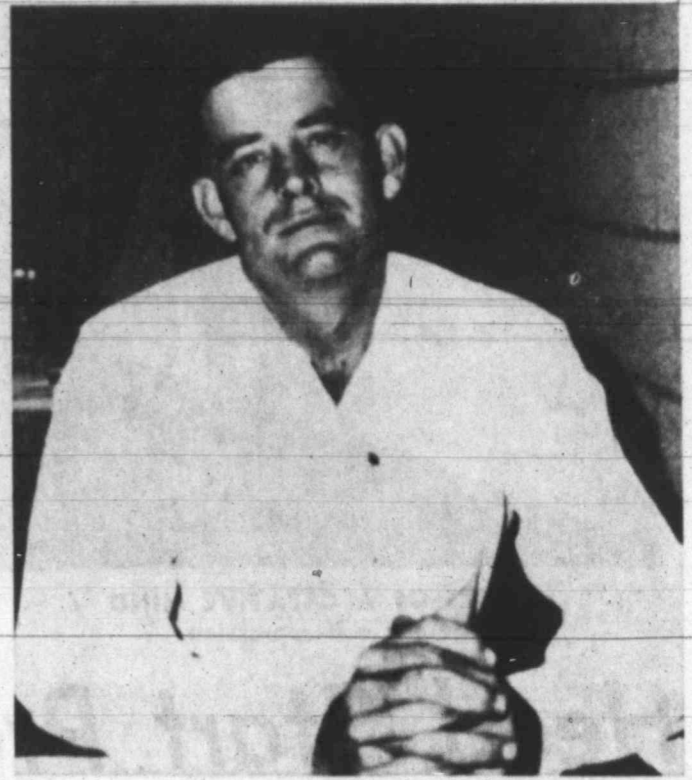

Instructor Pilots of the Month have been chosen in the 3569th Pilot Training Squadron at Webb AFB.

Maj. Serafino A. Carri, T-37 instructor, and Capt. Gerald R. Helmich, T-38 instructor, were the two selected for the monthly honors.

In the letter concerning Maj. Carri, Lt. Col. Edward W. Luby, squadron commander, said: "Maj. Carri is a truly professional officer and one of the finest instructors in the pilot training program. His daily efforts as an element leader and the instructor pilot reflect outstanding leadership traits and the ability to establish an effective rapport with students and instructors alike."

Besides maintaining close supervision over four instructor pilots and 12 students, he personally instructs two students in the primary phase of training."

Col. Luby said "Capt. Helmich is assigned three students, all of whom are progressing in an above average manner. He is enthusiastic and even-tempered instructor who instills confidence in his students. He is able to analyze their problems quickly and offer sound advice."

NEW TEC OFFICE INTERVIEWER
David Newton, Howard County man, now on staff

David Newton Joins TEC As Farm Interviewer

David Newton began his duties last Thursday as farm interviewer for the Texas Employment Commission Office here.

He replaces James Price who had held the post for four years. Price is now in McAllen where he has been transferred to carry on the same type work in that TEC office.

Newton, a Howard County man, is a farmer and rancher.

He has some land south of Coahoma. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Newton of the Fairview community and attended Knott schools and graduated.

He is married and he and his wife with their three children live in the Fairview community.

Leon Kinney, manager of the TEC office here, announced the appointment of Newton to the farm interviewer post.

Office At Webb Gets A Second Commendation

For the second time this year, Webb AFB's Equipment Management Office (EMO) has received commendation from Air Training Command for error-free equipment reporting.

The letter of commendation was received this week from Col. David M. Withers, director, supply and services, deputy chief of staff for Materiel, ATC.

Accompanying the letter from Col. Withers were letters of congratulations from Col. Gregory H. Perron, deputy commander for Materiel at Webb, and Lt. Col. Lewis J. Britain, chief of supply.

The letter from ATC stated that Zero Defects is the ultimate goal of base level supply systems management. This requires teamwork, pride and personal initiative of each member of the system.

EMO at Webb was the only office in ATC to have no chargeable errors in the May 15 report. T. Sgt. Joe T. Smith, NCOIC of requirements and requisitioning unit, was in charge of the report for this particular reporting period. A. C. Jesse Hurtado was the monitor for the report, making changes and approvals.

Head Start Program Is Reducing Ratio Of School Failures

By BRENDA GREENE

Head Start, which got off to a slow start two years ago, has flowered into an educational program that has reduced the failure rate of first grade students.

"We would like to say that the Head Start program has cut the failing ratio of first graders 100 per cent," Keith Swim, director of the program, said, "but still a number of our pupils are not passing. However, the percentage has dropped since Big Spring initiated the pre-school program."

Head Start, a $162,039 federal education grant project, aims primarily at lowering the drop-out rate of students from low-income families.

FOR PRE-SCHOOLERS
"Our goal is to work with pre-school age children and bring them to a level where they can compete with students in the first grade and succeeding grades, and not become discouraged and drop out of school," Swim said.

"We try to bring the children to a stage where they can read with readiness. The language difficulty, especially in the Latin-American children, is one of the primary causes of high school dropouts," he said.

The program was designed to meet physical, social, speech, nutritional, and educational needs of the individual child in areas of low income.

CLASSROOM ACTIVITIES
"We attempt to teach children cooperation and discipline through classroom activities," Swim said. "We encourage accomplishment of independent work, sharing of ideas and materials."

Head Start teachers attempt to expand the child's ability to think, reason, and speak clearly, he said. They try to develop a climate of confidence for the child, which will make him want to learn, and they try to increase the child's ability to get along with people out of his family circle as well as within. For the last month of this year's program Head Start has employed two extra teachers to work with students still having language difficulties.

Teachers work with 40 children in groups of four or five and teach them words that will be in the first grade primers and books.

AWARENESS
"The keynote of Head Start is awareness," Mrs. Michael Messner, teacher, said. "We try to make the children aware of their environment and potential by teaching them basic concepts—such as colors, left to right reading sequence, and orderly class conduct."

Play activities are a major part of the Head Start program. Mrs. Messner said, because physical exercise will increase coordination and involve large and small muscle activity.

"How can elementary teachers expect children to be able to form letters with a pencil if they cannot even catch a ball," she said.

Music and jump rope in the curriculum develops rhythm and balance, she added. The program goes heavily on art.

"Lesson plans for Head Start students have to be flexible as they do for any educational level," Mrs. Kathy Droke, teacher, said.

IN GROUPS
"We work a great deal in groups. Some students learn quickly and can move on to new material, while others need more time to grasp the same material," she said. Thus, they gravitate to compatible groups.

"The children work at their own rate of speed, and are never pushed into new material," Mrs. Messner said. Their curiosity and interest indicate to the teacher what they are ready to learn.

"At first the Latin-American children were afraid to speak English in the classroom. The children had to develop confidence in the teacher, and learn that there is a time for work and for play. The children were so interested in each other, that I had a hard time getting their attention and keeping it," said Mrs. Droke.

FIELD TRIPS
"To broaden the children's experiences," she continued, "we took them on field trips every month beginning in February. The children visited the post office, attended a movie, toured Webb Air Force Base, and visited a farm. They also made trips to a fire station and the police station. In June, we had a picnic in the City Park."

Recently, the Head Start school staged a Community Program, similar to a public school open house. The program included all the Head Start students, and entertained approximately 600 parents and relatives.

"The crowd was so large that the children had to present the program twice that night so that everyone could see it," Swim recalled.

Head Start has had some problems, he explained. Of the 10 paid teachers employed in this year's program, only one will return to teach next fall.

NOT LEADERS
"Another problem is that a few of the regular elementary school teachers expect the Head Start children to be leaders in the classroom," Swim said. "Our purpose is not to make them leaders, but to bring them to the level of other children in the first grade."

During the last month, a reading readiness test was given to the children. The test scores will be given to first grade teachers so that they will be able to judge the abilities of the students from Head Start. "We have asked each teacher to write a critique on each of her students in the pre-school program," Swim said, "to give to the first grade teachers so that they will better understand the student as an individual."

"We, too, plan to follow the children who have had two years in Head Start through public school to see if they are better prepared than those who have only had one year of pre-school."

VOLUNTEERS
There are 10 teachers, 10 paid aides, and 10 volunteer aides in the Big Spring program.

A nurse was employed to give the children medical, visual and hearing examinations. The Downtown Lions Club donated glasses to the Head Start children who need them.

The nurse also administers tuberculosis tests and immunizations for smallpox, polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, and measles which meet the requirement for entrance into public schools.

Attendance in the Head Start program, housed in the Kate Morrison Elementary School building, averaged 185 out of 200 eligible children this year. The program began in October and will end June 29.

LATIN-AMERICAN
Seventy per cent of the children in Head Start are Latin-American extraction; 17 per cent Negro; with 13 per cent Anglo. The children were placed in the classrooms on a percentage basis. For instance, Mrs. Droke has seven Latin-Americans in her class, eight Negroes, and five white children. The students represent four school districts; Cedar Crest, Lakeview, Airport, and Bauer elementary schools. They attend classes Monday through Friday from 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Lunch is served in a central cafeteria by public school dieticians and cooks.

BALANCED MEALS
"The children may have second helpings of food, if they eat everything on their plates. We made this rule to encourage the children to eat balanced meals and to try foods which they may not have tasted before," Swim said.

A nine month Head Start program was the first one for Big Spring this year. Two years ago, Big Spring was approved for a two-month program, and last year, a five-month program. Last fall, Swim received approval for a nine month program and will direct a similar program beginning in October.

Board Proposes Free Drinks End Aboard Airliners

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has proposed an end to free drinks aboard airliners.

The board has given the industry until July 24 to respond to a proposed rule that would require each airline to file provisions for the type and amount of charges for in-flight liquor service, in the same manner that they file passenger fares and cargo rates.

The tentative rule says that "It is the policy of the board to require that each passenger who receives such in-flight service shall be assessed a charge therefor which shall be reasonably related to the cost and value of the service, in all classes of service."

On most trunk airlines, first class passengers receive free drinks, and coach passengers pay $1 a drink.

The board explained its policy regarding liquor service is the same as that toward movies and other in-flight benefits.

The CAB said these services are separate from the transportation functions of the airlines, and therefore the cost should be borne as much as possible by the passengers receiving the service.

Soviets Release 15 Jap Fishermen

TOKYO (AP) — The Soviet Union today released 15 Japanese fishermen detained for violating Soviet territorial waters in the northern Pacific, the Maritime Safety Agency said.

It said a Japanese patrol boat received the 15 fishermen at Anama Bay in Shikotan Island of the Soviet-held Habomai Chains.

They were captured last April and May in waters off southern Kuriles by the Soviets. Fifty-six Japanese fishermen are still detained by the Russians in the southern Kuriles on similar charges.

Welcome To Big Spring Webb's New Pilot Training Class 68-H

All Big Spring joins in a hearty West Texas welcome to the new class at Webb Air Force Base. While they are citizens of our city for the next year, it is our hope that they will find a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere. We hope the new students can become acquainted with our town, and find a "home" here. They are asked to drop in and see us at any time and let us extend, in person, the hand of welcome.

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

A Devotional For The Day

When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. (Matthew 2:3)

PRAYER: O God, give us vision to look upon our world through the eyes of Christ. Help us "to choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong." Use us to correct man's abuses of Thy creation. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Transformation

It takes an old timer to really appreciate the transformation, but the City of Big Spring and all those who joined forces to make it possible are due great commendation for upgrading the City Cemetery.

This is not new, but in this drouthy period, the change is emphasized.

For years and years the cemetery was ill-kempt. Some sections were under control of fraternal and church groups; some under the city. Complicating the problem was the great variety of head and foot stones and the various kinds and sizes of curbing.

For years and years the property was operated on a voluntary basis, and finally passed under certain agreements to the city's hands. Still, funds were inadequate for beautification and maintenance. After a long uphill battle, in which County Judge Lee Porter performed yeoman service as liaison man with fraternal groups, the cemetery was converted to a perpetual care plan.

From this point, the city has done a remarkable job to convert an old cemetery into something more like our other modern and our first perpetual care resting place.

Substance To Our Community

The community today shares with Grace Baptist Church a sense of pride, couched in thankfulness, for its new church plant.

Industries, business houses, public facilities are all important in the growth of cities which offer residents the opportunity of greatest fulfillment. None equals the church, however, its outreach and guidance in imparting that plus quality.

And while a plant is not the measure of a church, it is nevertheless generally true that the building church is a growing, vigorous church. This is certainly the case with Grace Baptist, which stands as a testimonial to faith. From a handful of people who started a mission in an area of modest to low-income families, and from a still small group of only 23 who a year later organized into a church, Grace Baptist has expanded to several hundred membership and to encompass a $150,000 modern facility for worship and religious education.

Kosygin Played Hard To Get

WASHINGTON — Most people must have wondered why there should have been any hesitation on the part of Premier Kosygin to tell the public whether he would have a meeting of some kind with President Johnson. But anyone who has followed the intricate processes of the Kremlin would know that it was considered in Moscow more important for Premier Kosygin to indicate almost up to the last minute of his visit here that he was hostile to the United States and friendly to the Arabs than it was to reveal any plans for a conference with President Johnson. Indeed, the buildup toward a meeting showed that officials of the American government were really taking the initiative and, in effect, were begging for some occasion, social or otherwise, at which the heads of the two governments could get together.

ALTHOUGH Premier Kosygin did not say a word about his plans when he first arrived in the United States, there came successively from the White House and the Capitol intimations that it would be a good thing if the Soviet premier could have a talk with President Johnson. The White House press secretary, for instance, said that the President would be glad to meet with the Soviet premier "for a social visit or substantive discussions." But not a word of comment came from Mr. Kosygin. Then the Democratic leader in the Senate, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, made a further bid when he issued a public statement which was a supplementary form of invitation. He said:

"IT IS MY HOPE that it will be possible for Premier Kosygin to accept the invitations which, have been extended to him by President Johnson for a joint meeting."

But Premier Kosygin unfortunately was in a tough spot. He was operating under instructions given him before he left Moscow by his colleagues in the Kremlin that he must not appear too anxious to meet with President Johnson or even to show that

Billy Graham

I know we are told to pray, but I have often wondered if prayer changes God's mind? R.W.

I believe that the Bible teaches that the right kind of prayer changes us, so that God's attitude toward us is likewise changed. For example, God told Jonah to go to Nineveh and tell its citizens that their city was to be destroyed. But the Bible says: "God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he said he would do unto them; and he did it not." (Jonah 3:10).

There are other examples of God changing His mind, when people change their minds about Him. Hezekiah was told by Isaiah, "Set thy house in order: for thou shalt die and not live." (Isa. 38:1). But Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed earnestly, and the Lord told Isaiah to go tell him, "I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears: behold, I will add unto thy days fifteen years." (Isa. 38:5).

God's will is always to bless us. But our sin and waywardness can lead us out of the pathway of blessing. When we change, like a good father who changes his attitude toward an erring son, God changes too. His will, His love, and His mercy are constant, but His judgment of us can be altered when we remove the causes for being judged.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Many Americans may be having second — and perhaps third, or even fourth — thoughts on the subject of U. Thant, secretary general of the United Nations. His performance in the Middle East crisis was strange, to say the least.

Thant ordered the withdrawal of U.N. forces from the Gaza Strip when Egyptian President Gamal Nasser demanded their withdrawal. Thant explained, truthfully, that he had no other recourse under international law or the U.N. Charter.

Then Thant took off for Cairo for talks with Nasser. He flew back to plead that diplomacy be given a chance to settle differences between Arabs and Jews.

Would it not have been better if Thant had asked for more time when Nasser demanded the withdrawal of U.N. forces? Then diplomacy would have had a better chance to succeed. Negotiations over the withdrawal of the U.N. presence would have provided an excellent opportunity for a re-examination of the Middle East situation in the form of extended debate.

It would be unfair to accuse Thant of precipitating the shooting war between Jews and Arabs. But it is fair to say that the war might have been avoided, at least for a time, if he had not acted with such haste in withdrawing U.N. forces.

Economy Sluggish But Trend Is To Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — The attention of many businessmen, economists and government officials centered this past week on the economic outlook for the approaching second half of 1967.

Opinion was divided but the majority seemed to feel that there will be an upturn in the next six months.

Meanwhile, the Federal Communications Commission approved the $2.8 billion merger of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.

The vote was 4-3, the same as when the commission approved the combination last Dec. 21. Subsequently it held a hearing on the antitrust aspects of the merger at the request of the Justice Department.

TO STUDY DECISION — The Justice Department said after the second approval that it would study the decision before deciding whether to appeal to the courts.

Many factors were involved in the various economic projections: inventory adjustment, capital investment, consumer spending, taxes, government spending, Vietnam and the Middle East.

Among authoritative sources making forecasts were the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and Standard & Poor's Corp., an investment advisory firm.

Morgan Guaranty said: "The customary business indicators continue to show that high-level sluggishness remains the dominant characteristic of the evolving business situation. But performance is nevertheless consistent with the widely held view that conditions favorable to business acceleration in the second half are developing."

MORE ACTIVE — Standard & Poor's commented: "A modified version of the late 1965 experience — a rapidly rising economy, a fast increase in profits, an expanding money supply and rising interest rates — may well be in the making for late 1967."

Indications were that the downward adjustment of heavy inventories was continuing. Some said that it had been completed. In April, total business inventories showed the smallest increase in many months, rising by only $100 million.

Restoration of the seven per cent business investment tax credit gave hopes of increased spending for new plant and equipment. The railroads were the first to respond with sizable orders for new cars.

Consumers were expected to step up their spending to parallel the sustained rise in disposable income. Among the beneficiaries would be producers of consumer durable goods, particularly automobiles.

MORE TAXES LIKELY — After President Johnson recommended in his January budget message a six per cent surcharge on income taxes, effective July 1, many economists doubted it would get through Congress. Now, according to some sources, they have changed their view and expect a tax increase, possibly more than six per cent.

However, the time schedule has been changed. It's too late for the July 1 effective date and the administration is now talking about Oct. 1. Some congressmen think Jan. 1 would be more likely.

Whether the rate of government spending increases will continue depends mainly on whether the Vietnam war will escalate and on what transpires in the Middle East.

THE COMMERCE DEPARTMENT reported this past week that new factory orders for durable goods — a key guide to future factory output — in May posted their sharpest gain since last September.

TREND UP — At $23.8 billion, the order inflow was up 6.6 per cent from $22.3 billion in April although it trailed the $24.3 billion in May, 1966. Last September new orders jumped 7.6 per cent to a record $25.3 billion.

Sales of the country's leading chain store organizations rose sharply in May over the previous month and May, 1966. Sales of 29 chain stores and mail order houses rose by 7.7 per cent in May to $1,898,356,532 from $1,762,015,907 a year earlier. Revenues in April totaled $1,738,057,000.

Automobile production this past week was estimated at 177,000 passenger cars, up 3.6 per cent from 170,849 the previous week but down 5.6 per cent from 187,600 a year ago.

Steel output last week slipped to the lowest level of the year. Mills turned out 2.21 million tons of steel, down 3.1 per cent from 2,281,000 tons the previous week.

GENERALLY UPWARD

- Inventory adjustment seems to be about complete
- Capital spending gains, factory orders up sharply
- Retail sales jump vigorously with 7.7 pct. gain
- Outlook is for more taxes Oct. 1 or Jan. 1
- Car output up, steel skids to year's lowest level

To Your Good Health

Just What Is Meant By 'Habit-Forming'?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking — as an aid to sleep. It claims not to be habit-forming.

I have been taking two a night for about three months and so far it has helped. Is it safe? — MRS. E.Z.S.

Once I knew a man who always, when he sat down at the table, moved all his silverware about an eighth of an inch. No matter how it was placed, he still had to move it a little bit.

It drove his wife wild — just one of those harmless little habits that can grate on someone's nerves. Yet he had the very dickens of a time trying to stop doing it. Why? It was a habit!

So saying that anything is not "habit-forming" is risky. Anything can become a habit. Quite a few people get the idea that they can't go to sleep without a pill — and then it's a habit. Some of these same folks, if given some completely impotent sugar pill or aspirin, still go to sleep if they believe it is a "sleeping pill." A great deal of it is in the mind. If you believe you can do something, you usually can. If you believe that you need a pill, then you have when needed, not every night. Taking a pill once in a week or two weeks on a restless night is one thing. Taking them every night is another matter.

Can these mild pills be habit-forming? They certainly can. After three months, the habit is pretty well established, I would think.

Unless you are prepared to keep on using them for the rest of your life (and perhaps progressing to something stronger) I think it's time to begin breaking the pattern, the habit. Unless something is wrong, I can't see the need for them so regularly.

Maybe it's just "nerves." But, if so, it's time to start taming your nerves, because that much tension isn't good for you, anyway.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne — The Teen-Age Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

All You Do Is Nod Your Head

This may be old stuff to some of you people, but it's new to me. We're talking about now that stage in life when a decision is made to don trifocal spectacles.

I had been through the single-vision and the bifocal experience, and the more things got blurred around me the more it seemed it was time for the eye man to have another go.

He was expert about it, and peered all around, in and through my optics, then put me in that chair and masked me with the twirling shutters. Together we went through reading class.

HE WOULD ask if I could read the letters, and I said Yeah, but they don't say anything, and he said that wasn't their purpose. Were they really clear? Well, he kept flipping the wheels until the characters on the wall were, sure enough, letters in the alphabet.

The man kept reducing the size of the type until I could handle with ease the print which ordinarily comes under a microscope.

PRETTY GOOD, eh, doc? I asked him, and he said, Not so good. You've got imbalanced vision. With one of your eyes you can't see for four apples close up and with the other you're a lame duck at a distance.

That's bad, huh? I asked him. And he said, no problem, we've got the lenses to take care of it.

That's when I put on the front of bravado, and said as long as we're going for the bifocals, why not trifocals?

CAN-DO, he said. But I think you ought to be told that they'll take some getting used to.

This turned out to be the understatement of the season.

Oh, he carefully explained that it was simply to get into the habit of gently tipping your head back and forth, so that when you were inclined downward, you used the near vision portion; when you're about 50-50 in position, you use the middle sector, and when you're at full tilt you get the top part.

THIS SEEMED a little enough chore for a man of my maturity, so I put on the pesky things and stepped out on the sidewalk. After I missed the first curb, I took them off and decided to practice a little later. I tried 'em on again in the car, and when the bumpers scraped, I figured I hadn't tilted my head enough. Back in the office, I went into what the athletes call a secret workout, but if anybody could have peeped they would have thought I was working a crick out of my neck.

ABOUT THAT time an unknown guy came in and said he figured I would want to give 50 bucks to a research organization that was dedicated to the removal of warts. Before I could answer, my head nodded into position to see who he was, and just like that, he had my pledge.

As the eye man said, I'll eventually get used to 'em. But as of right now, the type jumps out of the page at me, the typewriter keys seem 50 paces away, and if my favorite uncle walked in the office all I could see would be the middle button on his coat.

THIS SHOWS you that trifocals are here to stay. As long as I've gone this far, I have one more proposal for the optometrists: Let's build some eye-pieces with about sextuple lenses; four up and down so you can scan everything from your fingertips to the North star; and a couple on each side, so that you see the skin on your nose, and also what's coming from behind. At this stage of the game, I am more and more interested about what's coming up from behind.

The Pressures On Medical Care

WASHINGTON — At least a half-dozen high-level conferences, both government and private, are taking aim at the rapidly rising cost of medical care. The struggle to keep up with inflationary costs is nowhere more acute than with the hospital and the doctor's bill.

A STUDY prepared for the National Conference on Medical Costs next week shows that in 1966 the price of physicians' services increased 7.8 per cent. In the last half of 1966 daily hospital charges rose 11.5 per cent. The Medical Care Index went up 6.6 per cent which was just double the percentage for last year's over-all explosive cost-of-living jump.

None of this is surprising to experts who follow the trends. They point out that the old order is giving way to revolutionary change with medical care in the forefront.

JULY 1 WILL mark the first anniversary of Medicare, a program covering 18,000,000 Americans over the age of 65. Medicaid is being developed in many states to provide medical help for low-income families. In a nation so long resistant to any government participation in medicine, with many professionals denouncing "socialized medicine," this is indeed a revolution. And as in all revolutions the penalties at times seem to exceed the rewards.

WHAT IS MORE, the revolution is just beginning as the Johnson Administration takes a stern look at the facts of medical care in this country. Sargent Shriver, that affluent apostle of revolution, is attacking through his War on Poverty the shocking failure of the poor to benefit from America's high level of medical care. At a recent conference he came up with startling statements about what this failure means — 60 per cent of poor children receive no medical care and never see a dentist; the chance of a child dying before the age of one is 50 per cent higher for the poor, the chance of dying before 35 four times greater.

AS ONE LINE of attack six health centers have been established with the goal of making medicine accessible to the poor in city ghettos. Six more are on the way. Shriver is enlisting under his banner the American Medical Association and other organizations that might once have fought such an experiment.

But as the demand for medical care increases the pressure on the supply of services inevitably forces up the cost. The supply of doctors, and in particular general practitioners and pediatricians, is woefully short — a reminder that for years the AMA opposed expansion of medical education. The Vietnam war takes about 5,000 doctors a year for a two-year stint. To meet the demand, according to the study prepared for next week's conference, doctors are seeing more patients.

ONE CONSEQUENCE of the pressure on inflation, as reflected in the steep rise in the cost of medical service, is in the wages of hospital workers.

"If hospital staff per patient continues to increase at recent rates, the total wage bill per patient day seems likely to increase from $27 in 1965 to about $38 in 1970 or seven per cent a year," the report on medical prices states, pointing out that one result of the wage squeeze is to increase the number of people who will share the work at marginal pay.

IN PRESENTING the report which will be the starting point for the conference, John Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, suggested a number of ways in which medical resources can be employed to greater advantage. The old patterns, Gardner was saying, simply will not suffice if the demand for more and better medical service is to be met at a reasonable cost.

De Gaulle On The Hot Line

WASHINGTON — President Charles de Gaulle is a stickler for prestige, and as soon as President Johnson let it be known that he was on the hot line to Premier Kosygin during the Israeli-Arab war, De Gaulle also revealed that he was in touch with Premier Kosygin on his hot line to the Kremlin.

While we know some of what went on between President Johnson and Premier Kosygin on their hot line, no one knew what De Gaulle and Kosygin talked about — until now.

"Hello, Premier Kosygin. This is President De Gaulle."

"Yes, President De Gaulle. How are you?"

"I just wanted you to know . . ."

"WOULD YOU hold on just a minute, comrade president? I have President Johnson on the other line."

Fifteen minutes later De Gaulle angrily called again.

A secretary answered, "I'm sorry, Premier Kosygin is talking long distance. Can he call you back?"

"Can't I hold on?"

"I'm afraid he may be on for some time. Just leave your number, and I'm sure he'll get back to you."

A day later President De Gaulle called again.

"AH, PRESIDENT De Gaulle," Kosygin said. "I was just going to call you. What can I do for you?"

"I wanted to explain France's position vis-a-vis the Middle East."

"Of course. What is your position?"

"I wish to say that the French position is . . ."

"Oops, there goes the White House hot line. Can I put you on hold?"

BEFORE DE Gaulle could answer,

there was a click. Three hours later De Gaulle was still holding the phone in his hand. He rang Kosygin again. By this time it was night in the Soviet Union, and instead of the Russian premier, De Gaulle got the baby sitter who said, "Mr. Kosygin went to the Bolshoi and won't be back until late. Would you care to leave a message?"

"Just tell him President De Gaulle called."

The next day Kosygin called De Gaulle on the hot line.

"I'm sorry, comrade president, that I never got back to you yesterday, but I couldn't get President Johnson off the phone. Now please tell me what you wanted to say."

"All I wanted to say, Monsieur Kosygin, is that . . ."

WHILE PRESIDENT De Gaulle was talking he could hear Kosygin on the other end of the line, presumably talking to someone else. "I can't talk to the American President now. I've got De Gaulle on the phone. What do you mean he can't wait? All right. Look, comrade president, I don't want to interrupt, but President Johnson has an idea. Why don't I put you on the recording machine? When you hear three beeps, start talking, and when you hear three beeps again, you'll know the tape is used up."

BEFORE DE GAULLE could say anything, he heard the three beeps and he spoke into the phone.

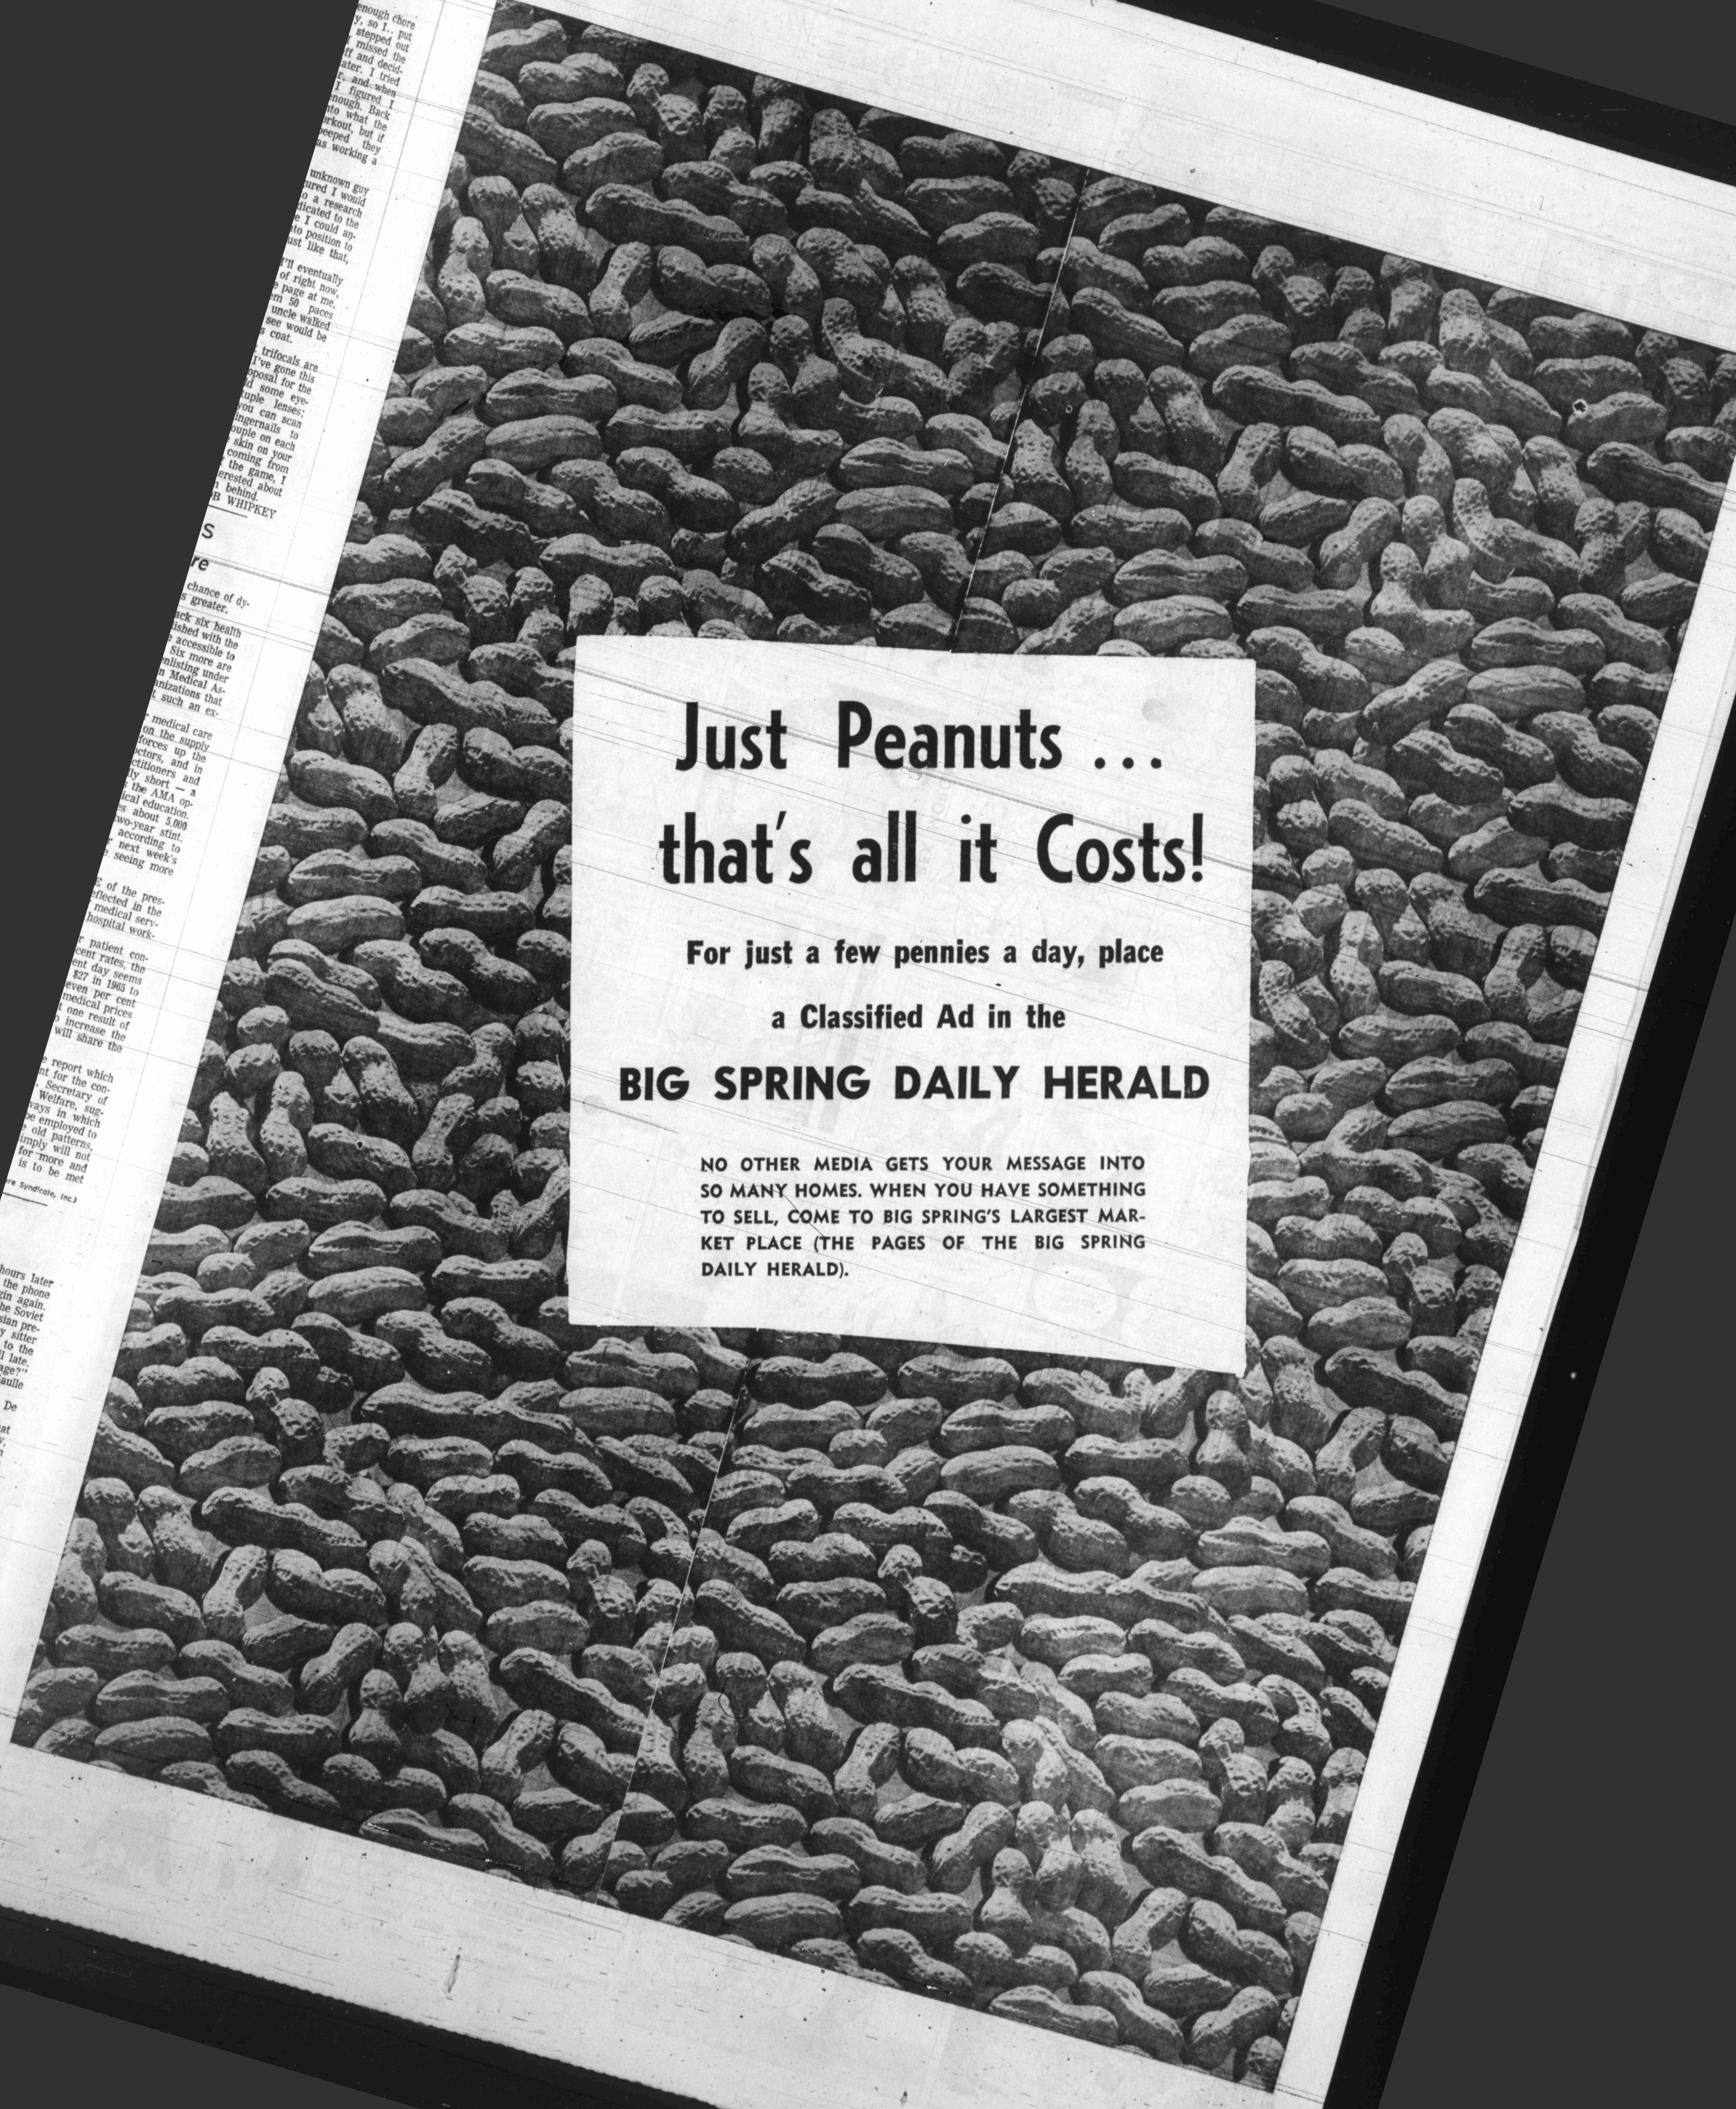

"France's position in the Middle East is as follows: We will not do anything . . ." De Gaulle heard three beeps and a voice saying, "You have just made a recorded announcement. You may hang up now."

'Deadlier Than The Male' Is Motorcycles Current Attraction At Ritz Overpower Little Town

A motion picture in Technicolor, replete with a group of bikini-clad international assassins, and a jet-age Bulldog Drummond who does them in, comes today to the Ritz Theatre. It is "Deadlier Than The Male," a Universal release of a Sydney Box-Bruce Newbery production.

The female assassins are portrayed by Elke Sommer, Sylva Koscina, Suzanna Leigh and others from far off places such as Japan, India and Egypt. The up-dated insurance investigator, Bulldog Drummond, is played by Richard Johnson, whose American nephew in the film is Steve Carlson. Another co-star, who has an important part in hair-tugging thrills, is Nigel Green.

Ralph Thomas, who started in the technical side of British films in 1932, is the director. He moves the peril-laden story at a furious pace, from one cinematic event to another. The beauties are handled so that each one's distinct personalities play an important part in the story's progress.

Richard Johnson's Bulldog Drummond is a dashing, highly intelligent insurance investigator who is never daunted in tracking down the gang of assassins. They are in the business of delivering international oil properties for a fee that runs into the millions. Elke Sommer and Sylva Koscina are the primary executors of the plan. Nigel Green, as a member of the boards of the oil companies that purchase the properties, matches his wits with Johnson.

To accomplish their ends, the assassins use ingenious murder techniques, among them: a harpoon gun in the hands of skin divers on the beach; a pistol barrel in a cigar that shoots its bullet when the stogie is lit; a dart with a paralyzing effect on the victim, who then can be thrown from the penthouse balcony of a tall apartment building; a bomb attached to a timer set to blow up after the perpetrators have long since gone; and a highly powerful explosive capsule dropped in the wig of its female victim.

Boston Paper Death Looms

BOSTON (AP)—The 143-year-old Boston Evening Traveler will cease publication in about two weeks, it was learned today.

The decision to suspend was understood to be subject to approval of the directors of the Herald-Traveler Corp.

One corporation official emphasized that the morning Herald will continue and be published as the Herald-Traveler.

Rumors that the Traveler was to suspend grew when publisher George Akerson held a closed door conference with officials of all unions.

Akerson declined comment but said a statement would be issued Monday.

The Traveler has a daily circulation of some 140,000.

It was founded in 1824 and the Herald in 1846. The corporation also publishes the Sunday Herald, founded in 1861.

In the Boston evening field also are the Boston Evening Globe, which also publishes a morning edition, and the Record American which has an early afternoon edition.

The Herald-Traveler Corp. also operates a television station and radio station WHDH.

Brigitte Shows She Is A Talented Comedienne

Vivacious, blonde, Brigitte today at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Bardot always felt that she had something more to offer than being a target for oohing and ogling. She was a comedienne, she insisted, and a darned good one, too!

But nothing much was ever done about it. People paid to see her.

Nothing, that is, until the young French motion picture director Louis Malle directed Brigitte in "A Very Private Life" some years ago. Not only is this woman the most photographed woman in the world Malle decided, but she could really do comedy!

Brigitte plays comedy — broad, ha-ha comedy — in Malle's latest film venture, "Viva Maria," in which she is costarred with that other French actress Jeanne Moreau. The United Artists release in Eastmancolor and Panvision opens Thirty today, Brigitte faces

Dear Abby Comments On Religion

DEAR ABBY: You really opened your big mouth and stuck both feet in it when you advised the wife of the man who was brought up in the Catholic church, and got fed up with it, to send her husband to a head-shrinker. Religion is so much superstition and hokum which, in itself, is a form of a "mental disease."

Those who believe that a cracker, which comes out of a bakery like any other cracker, becomes the "flesh of God" when they eat it, are sick, not those who don't believe it. I could go on pointing out the absurdities of religion, but I doubt that it would do any good as most religionists are so completely brainwashed they can't think straight when it comes to religion.

Religion serves a good purpose for people who need a crutch. But when they no longer need it, they are well, not sick. I always thought you were half nuts. Now I'm sure of it.

NOT SUPERSTITIOUS

DEAR ABBY: You religious believers can make all sorts of remarks about us nonbelievers in the public press, but the opinion of the nonbeliever is never expressed without censorship or distortion.

If there is truly freedom of religion, and freedom of the press, then a person has as much right not to believe as one has to believe. And the nonbeliever's opinions should be printed alongside the believers'.

This is one letter that will never make your column, but I had to write it.

ANTI-RELIGIONIST

DEAR ABBY: Just because a man has suddenly found out that religion is one of the biggest rackets going on, you say he's a mental case.

And what do you base your opinion on? A poor guy got tired of putting food on the table and hearing his wife and kids thank "God" for it.

I once knew a man who never rose from the table without thanking his wife for the meal. Would you send him to the head doctor, too? NONBELIEVER

DEAR ABBY: So now you are a psychiatric diagnostician yet! I refer to the man who suddenly got this "thing" about religion, as his wife put it, because he refused to go to church, ridiculed her and the children when they did, wouldn't let the priest in the house, and when his wife said grace at the table demanded, "Don't thank God for the food — thank ME!"

With no more than that to go on, you say the man has a symptom of mental illness and ought to see a doctor. E.S.P. maybe you have, Abby?

This man would find many a kindred spirit in a Unitarian church where there are many well-balanced, sane, educated people who formerly belonged to an orthodox church, but developed a "thing" about what they were taught there. P.M.P.

DEAR ABBY: I go along with your answers about 99 per cent of the time, but this time I disagree that the man who has the world more of the assured woman than she was when popularity and great wealth suddenly descended upon — and almost overwhelmed her. Twice married and twice divorced — Brigitte has learned to come to terms with the world. Though hounded by film producers to make more and yet more pictures, she has limited herself to two a year and those only which meet with her highest approval. "Viva Maria" is one of these.
