Fast Halt Called

Headache Ads Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says advertising which makes false claims about the benefits of various headache remedies must be halted—fast, fast, fast.

Control yourself, the commission in effect told manufacturers of pain relievers Wednesday in proposing a new rule aimed at what it called "unfair and deceptive advertising practices." The FTC said it is used to push sales on nonprescription painkillers.

Equally Effective

The commission inferred the public is likely to swallow claims that one type of pain reliever works faster or is stronger even though, said the FTC, it appears the various brands are equally effective.

Indicating it may have reached the end of its rope in accepting such advertising, the commission set Sept. 15 as the deadline for filing or written comments on its proposed rule.

Thing Of The Past?

The FTC announcement of the proposed new rule specified no products, companies or advertisements. The commission estimated there are about 40 producers and 100 distributors of analgesic drugs.

The FTC said advertisers should make claims of faster, stronger or longer-lasting analgesics a thing of the past unless they can prove a significant difference does exist in the individual brand.

Rusk Restates U.S. Stand

CHICAGO (AP)—In a speech that was delayed somewhat by demonstrators against the war in Vietnam, Secretary of State Dean Rusk pledged today that the United States will stay in that country "until the right of the South Vietnamese people to determine their own future under a government of their own choice has been secured."

As Rusk prepared to speak to delegates attending the Golden Anniversary convention of Lions International, a handful of demonstrators in the Chicago Stadium unfolded anti-Vietnamese War banners and began screaming:

'You Are A Murderer'

"Mr. Rusk, you are a murderer."
Others in the audience ripped the banners away from the demonstrators and threw them on the ground. Ushers bodily removed two of the demonstrators from the stadium, dragging them out while they struggled.

The convention delegates booed when the demonstrators broke out their banners and cheered when they were ejected.

Rusk entered the stadium through a rear door and did not see a group of about 40 pickets at the main entrance.

After Edward M. Lindsey of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., the Lions president, apologized for the interruption, Rusk began his speech.

He said there is more at stake than self-determination for the Vietnamese — there is even more than security for the other nations of Southeast Asia.

"The greater question is whether aggression is to be allowed to succeed, thus opening the way for further aggression," Rusk asserted.

War Prescription

His assessment was given in a speech prepared for the Golden Anniversary convention of Lions International.

Rusk surveyed a wide range of foreign policy issues from Vietnam to the Middle East and to relations with the Communist world.

Discussing the war between Israel and the Arabs and how to settle it, Rusk restated the U.S. position in the United Nations General Assembly. Simply to order Israel to withdraw to positions held before the war broke out would be, Rusk said, "A prescription not for peace but for renewed hostilities."

Fighting Reported In Eastern Congo

KINSHASA, The Cong (AP)—The government radio reported hard fighting between Congolese forces and foreign mercenaries at Bukavu today and described the situation in the eastern Congo as grave.

The mercenaries were reported Wednesday to have been airlifted to Bukavu and Kisangani (Stanleyville), two major eastern cities. Quoting Congolese sources, the Belgian radio in Brussels said the foreign soldiers had taken a number of important eastern points and that Congolese troops had counter-attacked in Kisangani.

EMERGENCY DECREE

President Joseph D. Mobutu decreed a state of emergency throughout the country Wednesday and complained to the United Nations Security Council of aggression by invaders sent from "Western countries." It was widely believed that the behalf of ex-Premier Moïse Tshombe, kidnapped and taken to Algeria last week.

The Belgian consul in Bukavu, on the eastern border north of Tshombe's former stronghold in Katanga province, reported to Brussels that fighting had broken out in the eastern Congo but gave no details.

AIRPORT SEIZED

Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked the Congolese army in Bukavu and fighting was in progress.

The U. S. consul in Bukavu, Triston F. Crigler, reported to Washington that the town was "under the control of mercenary-led national army dissidents."

Mobutu reported two plane-loads of foreign commandos had seized the airport at Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville and the biggest city in the northeast Congo, while the government radio claimed foreign mercenaries had parachuted into Bukavu.

GO-GOING TO COLLEGE

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Slinging hash and scrubbing floors are out for coeds who work their way through college.

Go-go dancing is in. "The way I rationalize it is by saying it's not any worse than dancing on a beach," said a coed go-go girl.

The girls are go-go-ing through school at $3 and $4 an hour.

At a Madison discotheque, a go-go coed, Su Huntington of Whitefish Bay, Wis., said, "I hate it when it's not crowded here. You get no response. It's nice when you get up there and they smile. Eye contact is really nice."

Su, a 20-year-old junior at the University of Wisconsin, wants to be a commercial artist.

U. S. Bombers Blanket Key Communist Route With Tons Of Bombs Marines Hunt Red Soldiers

SAIGON (AP) — High-flying American B52 bombers blanketed the Communist infiltration route through the jungled A Shau valley with about 500 tons of bombs in the past 24 hours, the U.S. Command said today.

The giant Stratofortresses made a record number of eight raids during the period, six of them Wednesday night and this morning against A Shau, due west of the big U.S. base at Da Nang.

The 20-mile-long valley enters South Vietnam from Laos about 30 miles below the demilitarized zone and has long been a vital infiltration route. It funnels supplies to most of the major Communist units operating in the northernmost area of South Vietnam, the sector where U.S. forces have recently been under heaviest attack.

JUNGLE STRIKES

The heavy strikes on the jungled valley were ordered after tactical bombers hitting the area in the past few days caused several landslides in areas where heavy rains had loosened embankments. The landslides caused Red supply convoys to bunch up at narrow points in the valley.

A U.S. spokesman said immediate assessment of the bomb damage was not available. The busiest 24 hours previously for the B52s was on Feb. 16, when seven raids were mounted. While the B52s raided west of Da Nang, the U.S. Marines launched a new ground sweep southwest of the big American base and U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara left Washington on his ninth visit to Vietnam.

NO CONTACT

Although assessment of the U.S. Command's requests for additional troops was believed to be the chief purpose of McNamara's trip, he also was expected to look into the increased danger from North Vietnamese guns and troops near the demilitarized zone, the lagging pacification program, the ineffectiveness of the South Vietnamese army and misuse of the $700 million a year U.S. aid program.

The U.S. Command said several battalions of the 7th Marine Regiment went out looking for enemy soldiers Wednesday in an area 12 miles south-southwest of Da Nang but made no contact in the first day of Operation Elliott.

Sporadic ground action was reported Wednesday, but the U.S. Command said 124 Communist soldiers were killed.

GUNNERS DUEL

Marines and North Vietnamese gunners duelled all today, during heavy artillery across the demilitarized zone. Two Leathernecks were killed and three wounded when North Vietnamese troops ambushed a Marine squad on patrol. Seven other Marines were wounded by artillery barrages.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., Marine commander in Vietnam, said the Marines have had 95 men killed and 211 wounded in the demilitarized zone area since fighting broke out Sunday north of Con Thien.

According to daily announcements since Sunday, the Marine casualties totaled 106 killed, 321 wounded and six missing.

The air war against North Vietnam continued unabated with 107 missions flown and two Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs lost to ground fire, making 397 U.S. combat planes reported lost over the North. One helicopter was also shot down over South Vietnam.

The two Thunderchief pilots were missing.

Major strikes were directed at the rail lines leading north from Hanoi to Red China, and Air Force pilots reported shooting up 23 boxcars in yards along the line running northeast from the capital.

MAJOR RAID

Navy pilots from the carriers Intrepid and Bon Homme Richard hit an underground fuel dump 13 miles above Haiphong. It evidently was a major complex. The smoke from the raid rose 13,000 feet and was visible aboard the carriers 65 miles away in the Tonkin Gulf.

Air Force and Marine pilots also made a major effort against the Communist artillery positions which have been causing heavy casualties to the Marines below the demilitarized zone.

Apollo Barge Trip Booked

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The wreckage of Apollo 1, built with visions of rocketing three astronauts to the moon, was packed in cardboard boxes and plastic bags today for trip by slow barge to Virginia.

There it will be sealed in a silver container the size of two house trailers to remain in storage for 10 years.

PIECES PACKAGED

The more than 1,000 packaged pieces of the ill-fated space vehicle leave Cape Kennedy next Wednesday aboard a flatbed trailer. They will then be hauled to an awaiting barge.

And six to eight days later Apollo 1's container—40 feet long, 24 feet wide and 19 feet tall—will have a pure nitrogen atmosphere to prevent its contents from corroding. NASA spokesmen said. The smaller pieces have been wrapped in nitrogen-filled plastic bags.

The container is made of steel, coated with aluminum. Three tiers of shelves for the boxes and bags line both sides and one end.

After arriving at Langley, the craft will be placed in a fenced-in area at the center's west end where NASA said it is to remain for 10 years.

No decision has been made as to what happens to Apollo 1 after that.

Mrs. LBJ, Pickle To Eye Landmarks

AUSTIN (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., of Austin will make a 10-hour tour of historic landmarks in Central Texas Friday, the White House says.

Pickle represents the 10th District of Central Texas, which President Johnson served as a young congressman in the 1940s. Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, said the tour will cover restored historic buildings as well as original land marks.

The trip will include visits to the old court house square in Lockhart, Boot Hill cemetery in La Grange and restorations at Round Top and Winedale.

TSHOMBE BACKERS

Mobutu did not mention Tshombe, but the government radio said Tuesday that 200 Belgian mercenaries were ready to fly to the Congo to try to free the former premier if he was returned to Kinshasa to face a death sentence for treason. Mobutu's government has sent representatives to Algiers seeking Tshombe's extradition.

Authoritative sources in Algiers said they had pieced together the story of Tshombe's kidnaping. They said his chartered plane was hijacked last Friday and forced to fly to Algeria by members of his own entourage who probably wanted to collect a big reward offered secretly by Mobutu's government.

Diplomats in Algiers say Algeria almost certainly will extradite Tshombe if it is convinced of a pro-Tshombe plot in the Congo; Algiers holds Tshombe responsible for the death of the Congo's first premier, leftist Patrice Lumumba.

Billions Due United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Other nations now owe the United States more than $41 billion—about half in principal and interest from World War I debt.

Officials estimated today that foreign governments and organizations owe Uncle Sam about $29.8 billion as of last March 31 exclusive of interest and World War I debt.

Principal and interest from World War I added another $21 billion to the bill.

If past experience is any guide, the figures will go even higher.

Seventeen nations still owe money from World War I. At last listing 96 nations and five international organizations owed the other debt.

Police said Mrs. Hughes had parked the vehicle on an incline at a home for the elderly. They said the car started to roll down the hill and she was knocked down when she ran in its path trying to stop it.

Teachers' Pay Jumps In Texas

By The Associated Press
Teachers' paychecks will be fatter this coming school year—up to a whopping $1,014 a year fatter, in the case of Houston, thanks to a $60 million pay raise approved by the 60th Texas Legislature.

The nearly 122,000 public school teachers in Texas are watching this summer to see just how much of the raise their school boards pass along to them.

An Associated Press survey shows some districts are giving teachers an across-the-board $54 raise, which is the average for the state under the legislature's bill. Other districts are following the precise language of the bill and boosting beginners $630 a year but tapering the raise to $396 a year for the most experienced teachers.

MINIMUMS LISTED
Districts already above the state minimum level had to decide whether to use additional local funds to stay ahead of the new state pay scale or to pass along a smaller raise to teachers.

According to state law, school districts must pay a minimum of $3,132 a year to a beginning, non-degree teacher; $4,734 to a beginning bachelor's degree teacher, and $5,040 to a beginning master's level person.

The mandatory minimum salary for a non-degree teacher with 10 or more years' experience is $4,185; for a B.A. teacher with 12 or more years' experience, $5,904, and for an M.A. teacher with 18 or more years' experience, $8,912.

HEFTY RAISES
Earl Cantrell, assistant director of research for the Texas State Teachers Association, which pushed hard for the $60 million state increase, said Texas' ranking nationally as far as teacher salaries won't be known until late in the year when all legislatures have acted.

Texas ranked 33rd in salaries last year, its average salary of $6,076 was nearly $800 below the national average.

Houston set the pace for hefty raises for next fall, with salaries bolstered by local funds to a total raise of at least $1,104 above last year's salary.

Houston has the nation's largest independent school system and has been plagued by teacher shortages because of its low salary scales. It now will pay a beginner with a bachelor's degree $5,616 and a beginner with a master's degree $6,075. The maximums for a B.A. go up to $7,887 and with a master's, to $8,647.

RECRUITING BAIT
Richard Jones, personnel director for Houston schools, said the higher salaries will help in recruiting but the fall teaching staff is still incomplete because recruiters couldn't promise college graduates anything as substantial last spring.

Houston's increase in salary is impressive but the apparent salary leaders are the West Texas sister cities of Odessa and Midland with a starting pay of $6,000 for teachers with bachelor's degrees, up $900 from last year.

The Ector County School Board also promised a tax increase to help finance the Odessa pay raise and other pending school programs.

SCOUTS WEST TEXAS
A recruiter from schools at Eagle Mountain, Calif., had been prowling the West Texas region recently, however, with figures that made Odessa and Midland salaries look puny. He offered $7,000 a year to beginners with a B.A. and $8,275 to new teachers with a master's degree.

Lubbock trustees are considering a $630 across the board raise to bring the minimum pay to $5,530 but a tax increase is possible if the increase is approved.

Corpus Christi schools will vote next week on plans to give across the board raises of between $550 to $600 to put beginning B.A. teachers with $5,500 and M.A. teachers with $5,700.

Dallas officials say they also intend to pass along the hike for teachers in about the same ratio. Current beginning salaries are $5,100 for those with a bachelor's degree and $5,300 for those with a master's degree.

$300 BONUS

San Antonio's Independent School District, the largest in that city, has not set its rates yet but raises are planned.

The Northeast School District outside San Antonio matched Alamo Heights' new salary scale and the Northside School District was close behind with smaller increases up to $5,328 for a bachelor's degree and $5,634 for a master's degree.

The much-courted special education teachers were offered a $300 bonus, compared to $100 bonus last year, by Northside schools.

Nederland's minimums went up $600 to $5,500 for a bachelor's degree and $5,800 for a master's degree. Fort Neches raised salaries $600 to $5,600 for a bachelor's and $6,000 for a master's, and Port Arthur teachers will get $300 more next year with minimums of $5,500 for a bachelor's and $5,800 for a master's.

Court Docket Chopped To Only 1,005

Judge Ralph Caton's order dismissing 78 old divorce petitions and his disposal of 14 other divorce suits in court without a jury contributed heavily to chopping the 118th District Court case docket to 1,005—one of the lowest month-end totals in a long time.

Fern Cox, district court clerk's monthly report, showed there were 39 new divorce suits filed in June — a new high in itself — which brought the peak for the period to 239. There were already 230 on the books when the month opened. The total of 92 disposed of during the month left only 177 on file when the month ended.

Annulment suits dropped 50 per cent. There were four pending, two were disposed of by the court and no new cases filed so the total July 1 is two.

Tax suits were unchanged. There were 307 on file when the month began and 307 on file when the period ended.

Twenty-eight new civil suits, other than those listed, were filed in June to bring the peak to 513. Ten were dismissed and 21 tried before the court. The month-end total was three less than the total at the start of the month — 482.

Twelve new criminal cases were filed in June and the highest total for the month was 46. One was tried before the court, eight were dismissed and the month-end figure was 37 which was up three from the start of June.

Staunch Jail Is Symbol Of Borden's Maximum Security

By ED SYERS
For 71 years now, cow country Gail's jail has proved too rugged to change much, except for adding a Texas Historic medalion. When those South Plainsmen spent $4,500 in 1896 to buffalo range - riding hardcases, they got their money's worth. Gail Historian Mrs. Pauline Clark forwards a description of their crime-buster.

"The barred door which once supplemented a heavy steel one has been removed - just too much of a good thing." When plumbing was installed, workmen found some of the reasons why the jail remained virtually escape proof.

THICK WALLS
"They had to use cutting torches on the one-third inch steel plates which line the cell floors. Under that, they found huge blocks of stone, four feet square and six inches thick. The cell ceilings were of the same steel plate."

And the two-foot-thick walls? They cut those from Gail Mountain in massive blocks, vented those walls with windows that used, instead of bars, "case-hardened steel plates pierced by two-inch-square holes. A hack saw had no effect whatever. There was a cage beyond the multiple - locked double doors, through which a prisoner was fed."

"Even the key reminds of ancient dungeons - massive and six inches long."

West, 1860-1910, the Chisholm Trail started north of Austin near the Little River and today's Belton."

Its route, says Mrs. Clark, crossed the Brazos west of Fort Worth; the Red (south) east of Fort Sill, Okla.; the Canadian, east of Fort Reno; then across the Cimarron west of today's Oklahoma City, and the Arkansas, west of Wichita, Kan., bearing slightly northeast to Abilene.

"Now, if my maps and atlases are wrong," she declares, "so am I."

25-Year-Old Rule Changed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court abandoned Wednesday a 25-year-old legal rule and ordered a new trial of a Lubbock County woman's suit alleging a sponge was left in her body when doctors performed a caesarian section on her in 1956.

The 7-2 decision knocked down a rule laid down in a 1942 ruling that damage suits in such cases must be filed within two years from the time of the operation.

Having built their peace-keeping calaboose, these West Texans found lawbreakers too awed to fill it. Late as 1931, a Gail old timer told a newsman, "No, we've never sent anybody to the pen from Borden County. We're just here and hate to push in ahead of our neighbors." Implication was, Gail handled its own.

"We did sentence a fellow to the pen once, but dang it, he wasn't one of the natives - just a young fellow visiting - and we gave him a suspended sentence . . . and he left."

Turned out the Sheriff, W. A. Clark, invited that young fellow home to spend the night after Gail's jail had first impressed, then released him. It took 46 years - that jail standing there to warn - for the town to experience her first murder trial.

Does Gail still use it? Occasionally. Even then, the offenses are minor.

Fem Hippie Back Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Karen Wertheimer, 18, left her parents' home in one of Brooklyn's better residential sections after Memorial Day to live in a communal hippie apartment in a Lower East Side tenement.

She is back home in Flatbush today because she prefers that to six months in jail.

Wednesday she was in Manhattan Criminal Court, charged with assaulting a policeman - biting his hand.

Judge Herman Weinkrantz turned to Karen's father, Max, a retired federal civil servant, and said: "Apparently you have troubles, haven't you."

Wertheimer, almost in tears, nodded: "My wife and I were heart sick. We don't know what to do. She won't come home."

Asst. Dist. Atty. David Markewich said he would accept a plea of guilty of disorderly conduct because Karen had expressed sorrow over the alleged assault while trying to protect a girl friend from being photographed June 15.

Judge Weinkrantz then said: "If she tells me she's going home now I'll give her a suspended sentence. But if she does not, I'm going to give her six months."

As Karen wavered, the judge told her to go to lunch with her lawyer and father and make up her mind.

Outside the court one of her male hippie friends told her, "You're not going to solve anything by going home. You're going to resent it and it's going to make you hostile."

Then Ronald Johnson, 21, head of the commune where no one works but somehow the rent money is raised, told her father: "Let the girl have her way."

"I wouldn't have left if I was happy at home," Karen told her father.

Back in court she said she would return home. Judge Weinkrantz declared: "Suspended sentence. I sincerely trust this will be good for the young lady and her family."

Karen and her father left the courthouse - arguing.

In so ruling, the court adopted the so-called "discovery rule," embraced by "a growing number of the courts of other states."

"Accordingly, we hold that the cause of action for the negligent leaving of a foreign object in a patient's body by a physician accrues when the patient learns of, or, in the exercise of reasonable care and diligence, should have learned of the presence of such foreign object in his body," the majority opinion, by Associate Justice Robert W. Hamilton said.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Dorothy Gaddis and her husband against Drs. William Smith and Stuart Nemir. Mrs. Gaddis alleged the two physicians performed a caesarian section on her about Jan. 7, 1959. She said that after a long period of increasing internal pain, she underwent surgery in California in 1963 for what she believed was a tumor. The operation resulted in discovery of a surgical sponge in her body, she alleged.

TEXAS CHRISHOLM?
A recent OBT reference to Texas' Chisholm Trail brought prompt protest that the Chisholm began in Oklahoma. Now comes rebuttal from Oklahoma's Mrs. Charles F. Clark: "According to my historical maps of the

Levee Repairs Are Progressing

Good progress is being made in the repair of the Bull Creek diversion levee which had a gap washed in it a week ago.

Wednesday evening more than six feet had been restored in the 25-ft. hole, and this would handle a diversion into Bull Creek up to 10 feet deep in the channel. Work may be completed this week.

Dear Abby

Divorce And Kids

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I have a problem. My mother and father are getting a divorce.

My mother has a lawyer to fight for her rights, and my daddy has a lawyer to fight for his rights. Why don't our kids have lawyers to fight for our rights? The court says you have to live with your mother or your father. I want to live with both of them, but nobody asks me anything. What can I do?

DEAR RICHARD: Your letter eloquently expresses the hurt felt by many children when their parents divorce. Your "rights," however, do not include forcing your parents to live together whether they like it or not.

I don't know what the circumstances are in this case, Richard, but most parents don't like dividing their families any more than it likes to be divided, but they have apparently decided that this decision is the best for all concerned.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a neighbor who gets up bright and early on Sunday morning to cut his grass with a power lawn mower? I once mentioned (kiddingly) that he shouldn't "work" on Sunday. He said it wasn't "work," it was exercise.

DEAR RUINED: Tell him (and this time NOT kiddingly) that he is "disturbing the peace." (This grim phrase could throw a scare into him.)

P.S. I think anyone who uses a power lawn mower before noon on Sunday should be forced to shave with it.

DEAR ABBY: We are a one-car family, so my mother drives my father to a corner about two miles from home, and a fellow employe picks him up there and gives him a ride to work.

then he calls home for someone to drive out and pick him up. He rings the house, lets the phone ring twice, and then he hangs up and saves the dime.

It seems that everyone we even know calls our house between 4:30 to 5:30. When mom answers, she can't hang up until she's told the caller all the latest news. My father gets mad because the line is busy, gives up, and walks home. And naturally he's in a bad mood all evening. How can I, a teenage daughter, keep peace in the family?

DEAR NO: Stand phone guard. When it rings after 4:30, YOU answer it, and tell the caller you are expecting an important call, and to please call back after 5:30.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Christmas Comes Late For Sailor

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It was 71 degrees when Phillip Philo, 45, was greeted recently by his wife, Mary, and children as he came home on leave from eight months of duty aboard the cruiser Long Beach off Vietnam. But when Philo got home, he found a Christmas tree with the usual trimmings and the presents he had missed last Dec. 25.

Rangel Posts $2,000 Bond

Clemente Fierro Rangel, 27, charged with assault with intent to commit murder, surrendered to city police Wednesday afternoon.

He is charged with the shooting early Saturday morning of Arthur "T-Bone" Lockett, 30, Lockett, shot twice in the chest, is in the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. His condition is serious, but he has been showing improvement.

Rangel posted $2,500 bond set by Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, and was released from custody at the county jail.

City police have been investigating the shooting since a nurse at the hospital reported a gunshot victim had been admitted to the hospital at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Hartman Hooser, attorney, accompanied Rangel to the police station when the latter surrendered, according to Jay Banks, police chief. So far, officers have not determined the reason for the shooting of Lockett.

A Devotional For The Day

Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. (II Corinthians 3:17)

PRAYER: Eternal God, teach us to come into Thy presence with a feeling of deep reverence. We humbly bow before Thee, grateful for the blessing of freedom and especially for our liberty in Christ, whose prayer we pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."
(From the "Upper Room")

Pin-Pointing Costs

It is often noted that for some years the cost of community and state government has risen faster than government costs at the federal level. There are various reasons for this.

It is of general interest, therefore, that pilot projects in various parts of the country by George Washington University, financed by a Ford Foundation Grant. In five state, five county and five city governments are scattered points across the nation, experts will help authorities to set up or expand planning - programming - budgeting systems such as those pioneered in the Department of Defense and now being widely adopted in the federal government.

A description of such systems in the Ford Foundation announcement is instructive: "In essence, they bring together as an integrated, ongoing process a number of sophisticated management tools which themselves have been receiving wide acceptance in public administration. These include grouping expenditures for related government activities by purpose rather than administrative units; continuous consideration of possible alternative strategies to serve the purposes; intensive cost - benefit analysis and both short - and long - range projects of the commitments implicit in each."

A comment by the project director, Dr. Selma J. Mushkin, provides insight into its underlying purpose: "The long - run objectives of the program are to strengthen the cooperation among all levels of government in seeking rational and efficient allocation of public resources." And as Dr. Mushkin notes, "this intergovernmental effort to apply science to the affairs of government is an important aspect of creative federalism." Improved coordination and efficiency at local and state levels can be a good safeguard against the excessive growth of centralized federal power.

Point Of Attack

The Federal Communications Commission, according to reports, has secretly considered the problem of "dirty music" being broadcast over radio stations and has shied away from the sticky problem.

The fundamental reason is that this gets into the morass of censorship. Moreover, there is the issue of unrestricted license for record-makers to cut discs of almost anything, and a correspondence license of individuals to buy and listen to almost anything.

However, it should be noted that not all radio stations have not been swept along with the tide and thus made a party to building some of these suggestive ballads into hits. Indeed, many have flatly refused to include this swell of sound in their daily programming.

This, perhaps, is the best point of attack against vulgarisms of this sort. Most operators have their own moral scruples against promiscuous broadcast or promiscuous lyrics, but those who see no harm in it, invariably are deeply sensitive to public reaction. This reflects ultimately in the market place, and thus those who object to suggestive titles and lyrics can exercise a strong influence containing to management or by turning off the switch.

John Cunniff Professional Speculators

NEW YORK (AP) — In less than one year the prices of some stocks listed on Canadian and American exchanges have doubled, tripled and more than quadrupled, bringing fortunes to some speculators and tremors to market officials.

The eventual danger that market men see is the crashing return to earth of some of those stocks, with the impact certain to be detected by congressional and regulatory listening devices in Washington.

of the bluechip, investment grade stocks.

Nevertheless, at least one company now has a price-earnings ratio of 200 to 1, and many others are in the 50 or 100 to 1 category.

Some of these stocks warrant such ratios because they represent thriving companies whose earnings are expected to continue growing, just as General Motors, once a speculation, has continued to grow. Others in the category are simply overpriced.

THE IMMEDIATE concern is that some stocks are being manipulated, that prices of others are rising on incomplete reports and rumors, and that heavy trading in some represents nothing but a fatal greed.

The evidence is coming in faster than it has been, and the Securities and Exchange Commission and stock market officials have been active lately, primarily in seeking clarification of rumors.

SPECULATIVE activity is shown also by trading volume, which generally has been setting one record after another in the past 12 months. Volume in some stocks has exceeded the total supply over a year's time, meaning that some shares were traded several times.

This is hardly the type of activity that could be produced by small investors. Obviously, it is professional trading, by the institutions, but the fear is that the contagion could envelop the small trader. The temptation is there.

But the evidence comes also in the form of price-earnings ratios, a standard guide on Wall Street. It is a figure calculated by dividing the company's earnings into the price of its stock.

THUS A $100 stock with income of $5 a share has a price-earnings ratio of 20 to 1, a figure that is considerably higher than the multiple for most

THERE IS plenty of evidence, however, that most small investors avoid the temptation to speculate. In fact, they have been accused of being too conservative and timid.

A list supplied by the New York Stock Exchange provides some documentation of this conservative behavior, showing that the small investor buys mostly blue chips.

Billy Graham

Successful in business, plenty of money, but still with a feeling of emptiness and purposelessness. And I have no one to share these sunset years, and life has lost meaning. I would like to "pay up" for the lost years, but how do I begin?

O.B.W.

You are one of the many legendary successful failures. You have achieved all that you set out to achieve, only to find that you went after the wrong things. You are neither the first nor the last to do this. Millions are making the same mistake you made: Devoting every waking hour to the pursuit of financial security, only to find that in the end it is disillusioning.

To Reduce Poisoning

AUCKLAND (AP) — Skull and crossbones labels are being distributed throughout New Zealand in a bid to reduce the total of 2,000 accidental poisonings of young children each year.

Chemists hand the labels to customers with the suggestion that they should be put on all tins and bottles containing household, medicinal or gardening materials that could cause illness or death if swallowed.

A study of poisoning cases among children aged under five years showed that most occurred among the 2-year-olds. Kerosene and petrol caused the most trouble.

Tot Karate

AUCKLAND (AP) — Following a trail of splintered rulers and pencils, the headmasters of two Invercargill schools found a startling cause. Their fourth- and 5-year-old tots were practicing karate, the Japanese form of self-defense.

The children's interest had been sparked by a television program. After practicing karate chops on their pencils and rulers, some had started on their schoolmates. Although they did not cause any injuries, there were plenty of tears.

James Marlow UN Strikes Out Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — After weeks of getting ready the United Nations this week faced its showdown on the Arab-Israeli tension and the result was zero.

That there was a lot of wheeling and, perhaps dealing, with the various members by the United States on one side and the Soviet Union on the other can be taken for granted.

when the U.N. peacekeeping force was yanked out of Egypt. Secretary General U Thant pulled his peacekeepers out immediately. And Thant did. So the U.N. troops, which had been in Egypt a decade, weren't there when needed most.

AS NASSER neared the peak of his war buildup, he told U.N. Secretary General U Thant to pull his peacekeepers out immediately. And Thant did. So the U.N. troops, which had been in Egypt a decade, weren't there when needed most.

Hal Boyle Resort Remarks Rehashed

BUT, LIKE PRESIDENT Johnson's meeting with Soviet Premier Alex. N. Kossygin, an outsider knows what went on behind the scenes. All that is known is that when the test came neither side had enough votes to win.

Thus once again the United Nations looks ineffective. By now this is an old story.

But, despite all the yelping and handwringing about the condition of the international organization, it has been clear from the beginning that on any given problem the United Nations can only be as strong as its members want it to be.

MOSCOW COULD have, and would have, prevented this action, if it had been present at voting time. But it wasn't. It happened to be deliberately absent, putting on a sulking act because Red China wasn't given U.N. membership.

To Your Good Health Nobody Can Guarantee Weight Will 'Stay Off'

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: May I have some advice on dieting? I am going to a doctor but would like to know if his method is harmful.

He has two prices for dieting. One is $10, and the other is a $15 plan which he says is better because once the weight is off you cannot gain it back.

The one I have is $10. He gives me a shot and lavender pills and a diet sheet to follow, and I exercise half an hour every morning. Do you suppose when I lose the weight and stop the shots and pills, that I will be able to keep my weight down? — Y.T.

I frankly don't like the sound of this, perhaps because of fairly recently having observed the closing of some "reducing parlors" by the authorities because of inadequate supervision of the use of drugs.

your county medical society to see whether this "doctor" is a physician or something else.

I don't object to careful use of medications, if under proper supervision and for a limited time, when a person has trouble getting started on a reducing program. But the weakness of drugs is that when you stop using them, your eating habits go back to what they were — and that's what gave you the excess weight to start with.

A change in eating patterns and exercise patterns is necessary for permanent results. If you resume eating more than you need, your weight will increase. A weight reduction program is an educational one as well as a dietary one. If you don't learn the lesson of what and how to eat, your time has been wasted.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our son has what the doctors describe as a sliding hernia and has been told he needs an operation. He has asked me to write and find out if anything else can help him. — W.L.

I gather that your son has a hiatal hernia, which goes under a variety of names. When the term "sliding" is used, it indicates that the lower end of the gullet presses through the diaphragm, then slips back to normal position again.

Quite A Contrast

Despite all the ruckus of anti-war demonstrations etc., the young men in the Armed Forces probably haven't changed a lot since the Korean War, nor World War II for that matter.

Seaman Don Lovelace, who was our escort aboard his destroyer now docked at Long Beach, took an infectious pride in his ship as he pointed out her merits, even though a veteran of three wars.

ing or seeking some cushy job back home. Lovelace is not a career man, but a young lad who interrupted his college years to serve four years at sea.

The demonstrators and the beatniks get most of the publicity, but I suspect they are vastly outnumbered by such young men as Lovelace. After all, in any of our country's wars, I suspect most young men had just as soon stay at home in safety. But we have always had enough to man the bulwarks when it came time to fight.

SHE RECENTLY returned from the waters off Vietnam, and the seaman proudly pointed to her battle scars. She took two direct hits, but made it back home for repairs under her own power. He also pointed out the record of her victories, which included sinking a number of North Vietnamese torpedo boats, some smaller boats, and a large number of shore installations.

Although two crewmen were killed and a larger number injured, he said most of his fellow mates are ready to return to that area. "We can't win the war waiting here for repairs," he said.

WE MET a number of other men aboard the destroyer, and all of them appeared to fit this same appraisal, including the navigator, a competent officer who took us on the bridge and explained how a modern fighting ship is operated at sea and in combat.

A few days earlier, we visited with friends who live in the general area of Watts, and they predict continued trouble for the area. There are some who would rather destroy than work, we were told, and they are merely biding their time.

WE DID NOT HAVE a chance to discuss the philosophical aspects of the war with him, but he said he had not talked with any man in the Navy who is attempting to avoid the fight-

Holmes Alexander Election Fever Is Catching

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. — Away, dull economics! Sex raised its ugly head. Sex, both in politics and biology, is the reproduction function, and every-time the Western governors and their guests allowed their thoughts to wander from the stuffy business of water and nuclearonics, states rights and tourism, you knew what was on their minds. They were leering and mentally electioneering. They were thinking about the renewal process in next year's big political contests.

former vice president's star might rise again. Dick Nixon, always devious in seeking his rendezvous with destiny, was far from the Rockies.

ALL THE SAME, Nixon is no slouch as a political strategist. When he'd slipped away from public view after helping GOP candidates to win many seats last November, Nixon apparently had one man to beat for the Presidential nomination — and that was Gov. George Romney, now a victim of over-exposure and under-conviction.

How will Nixon, the slyboots, deal with the rising expectations of other rivals: Reagan and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller? Pat Hillings had some ideas, spoken in confidence to a reporter who was disguised in a tuxedo.

ELECTION FEVER, the sex life of politics, had been ever-present, if suppressed. Individually and in wolf-packs, the reporters had been pursuing Gov. Ronald Reagan for statements on his Presidential availability. He made several Delphic utterances, each one spiced with hidden meaning. The scribes also tested each of the other Republican governors for symptoms of bias or extraneous perception concerning next year's GOP convention choice.

THEN, THERE was another candidate - scout, so heavily masked in confidentiality that he seemed to wear a hood. But his conversation went to Nelson Rockefeller who (said the scout) wanted the presidency so much, and desired it so well, that nothing else mattered. Yes, but how on earth was the liberal Rockefeller going to wrench a nomination from the east-iron conservatives who would dominate the next GOP Convention? Well, Rocky would rise above his principles as many a politician had done before, that's what.

MASKED in nonchalance was Cliff White, the debonair maestro of the still-hunt that had fetched Barry Goldwater the Republican nomination in 1964. White had rounded up delegates so silently and skillfully that Goldwater's rivals never had a chance at San Francisco. What was Cliff White up to now? On what candidate would he beam the magic of his managerial talent? A winner, naturally. A conservative, probably, although the definition of that title wasn't as rigid as it used to be. But who would be Cliff White's man-who-in-'68? I sat at the table with Cliff and didn't find out.

The mating season had begun.

WINE WAS flowing and waitresses skipped among the guests with course after course of imaginatively presented food. Songs were sung and dancing took place. Table - hopping was prevalent, and comradely arms were thrown across masculine shoulders for whispered conversations. Gone was the dreary business of gubernatorial tax - problems and bargain - hunting for federal funds. The life - force of politics, the sex-substitute, had asserted itself. The mating season had begun.

WASHINGTON — One of the worst things to come out of the Dodd censuring hearings is that no one can trust the people working for him any more. It will be recalled that all Sen. Dodd's troubles started when four staff workers got mad at him and copied all of his files which they turned over to Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. Since then everyone in Washington has been watching the people who work for them like hawks.

Youth Riots To Spread?

CHICAGO (AP) — The student and teenager riots that have become annual events at some of America's best known summer and winter resorts will continue and perhaps grow larger and spread to more places, a sociologist predicted today.

Bernard Beck, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology at Northwestern University, said in an interview that these youths gather at places where they are unknown with the avowed purpose of breaking out of their ordinary routine.

"A lot of the public's concern is that college students were once looked upon as special kinds of people who were expected to act in a special way," Beck said.

"All that is changing," he added. "Teenagers are coming to regard themselves as ordinary people and they want the same autonomy and freedom that is allowed others."

Although he said there is considerable difference in scale, he compared the student uprisings with the antics of some convention delegates who block traffic and play practical jokes on spectators, usually without interference from the police.

"What these kids are doing is like an outdoor sport for them," Beck said. "But they know the police are keeping a sharper eye on them. Because the police are more watchful and intervene sooner, resentment is triggered once that intervention occurs."

Beck said permanent residents in such resort areas as Lake Geneva, Wis., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the youths who flock there for vacations have completely different viewpoints on what constitutes "having fun."

He said some "frightening overtones" of the youthful escapades might be avoided if there were a closer meeting of minds or if special resort areas were established to cater to the special desires of young people.

Nice Serial Number—

Nineteen-year-old Batya Kabiri, a member of the Israeli army, poses at New York's Kennedy Airport yesterday after arriving from Tel Aviv. She was en route to Miami Beach, where she'll participate as Israel's entry in the Miss Universe contest. Her measurements are 36-22-36, which is as nice a serial number as we've seen in a long time. Oscars Are Not Gang Film Goal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It will never match a Hollywood spectacular and the stars won't win Academy Awards, but those who filmed "The Jungle" aren't looking for Oscars — they're looking for a new way of life.

"The Jungle" is a 20-minute film that was photographed, directed, produced and edited by the actors — all teenage members of the Negro 12th and Oxford Streets gang in North Philadelphia.

Twenty-two of the youths were persuaded to make the film by Harold J. Haskins, a 20-year-old 6-foot-7 Negro who was a product of the same type of slum the gang members live in. Now, they have their own film company, a near-elimination of their previously staggering arrest rate and hope for a better life.

GANG KILLING

"Well finally, we worked out a plan that would give the boys a $1-an-hour stipend. We solidified the group to 10 members, gave them a camera and taught them photography."

Haskins said a "natural phenomenon" developed.

"Some of the boys became adept at different aspects of photography," Haskins said.

"Others worked on taping the sound. Everything was taking shape."

The story is about a country boy who comes to the city and helps the 12th and Oxford's gang leader when the youth is attacked. The country fellow is told that he must join the gang because the members now know him. The boy socializes with his new friends, but in the end he is killed in a gang fight.

The film was started in October, 1966 and finished last March 29.

POOR TEENS

Haskins worked with the youths apart from his job with College Bound Corp. here, which lends financial assistance to poor teenagers who demonstrate ability but cannot afford to attend college.

"The gang leaders didn't believe me when I told them about the project," said Haskins, who was asked to contact the youths by the Brooks Foundation, a California educational research firm working with teenage dropouts.

"I had to keep talking to the boys, to convince them this was for real," Haskins said. "I knew the gang leaders and the way they thought because I've worked with them as an area

Former Exile Leader Freed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sergio Arcacha Smith, a former Cuban exile leader sought by New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in an investigation of President Kennedy's death, officially got free of extradition proceedings Wednesday.

Lawyers for Arcacha promptly threatened to sue Garrison and his financial backers for linking Arcacha to the investigation and, they said, damaging his reputation.

Arcacha was officially released by Justice of the Peace Charlie T. Davis from the $2,500 bond posted when Garrison instituted the extradition proceedings.

Garrison sought extradition on charges Arcacha conspired to burglarize a Houma, La., armory in 1961. Garrison said, however, he actually wanted Arcacha-extradited so he could be questioned about the alleged New Orleans-batched conspiracy to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Texas Gov. John Connally refused to sign the executive warrant of extradition within the specified 90 days.

Lawyer Frank P. Hernandez of Dallas said Arcacha's "reputation has been stained forever both here and in other parts of the world" by Garrison.

"Since the moment Garrison injected Arcacha's good name into this investigation he became unemployable and has remained so until today," Hernandez said.

Emmett Colvin, another lawyer for Arcacha, said the Cuban lost his job as export manager for a refrigeration firm after Garrison linked him with the investigation.

Colvin worked in an office with Cuban exiles in New Orleans.

Three More Texas GIs Die In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense Wednesday identified three more U.S. servicemen from Texas killed in action in the Vietnam War.

Killed in action were Army Spec. 4 Wilma J. Barr, husband of Mrs. Mary H. Barr, 372 Marlin Drive, Dallas; and Spec. 4 Waylen L. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Powell, 4516 40th St., Lubbock; and Marine Lance Cpl. Davis M. Predmore, husband of Mrs. David M. Predmore, 244 McKee St., Orange.

Johnsons Remain At Texas Ranch

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson remained at their LBJ Ranch today with no indication when their next burst of public activity might come.

The Johnsons raised few ripples Wednesday. The Chief Executive worked at his desk in the morning and, before sun-down, managed a good bit of relaxation.

The Texas White House had no word on when Johnson might return to Washington.

Three Regents Reappointed

AUSTIN (AP) — Three members, including Emil C. Rasmussen of Midland, were reappointed Wednesday to six-year terms on the Board of Regents for State Senior Colleges.

Also reappointed by Gov. John Connally were J. C. Kellam, general manager of President Johnson's family radio and television interests, and William C. Donnell, Marathon. Their terms expire in January, 1973.

Kellam, of Austin, is president and general manager of Radio Station KTBC and KTBC-TV, Austin.

The board supervises East Texas State University at Commerce, Sam Houston State College at Huntsville, Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos, Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches, Sul Ross State College at Alpine, West Texas State University at Canyon and San Angelo State College.

Train Collides With Gas Truck

BERLIN (AP) — A passenger train collided with a gasoline truck at the station in Langenweddingen near Magdeburg, East Germany today, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

The gasoline exploded, causing deaths and injuries to train passengers, the agency said. It gave no figures.

The explosion set four cars of the passenger train and the train station on fire, ADN reported.

Magdeburg is about 30 miles east of the West German border crossing point at Helmstedt.

Sexy Look Banned By Welfare Boss

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Women employes of the Mecklenburg County Welfare Department have been told to take the sexy look out of social work.

Department Director Wallace Kuralt said Wednesday short skirts, long hair and tight clothes are "out" — at least during working hours.

"We didn't have any staff members wearing skirts up to the thighs," Kuralt said. "But I feel that we have to warn them... there is a professional appearance."

Political Experts Betting Ky Will Get Out Of Race

SAIGON (AP) — Seventeen candidates are running for president of South Vietnam, but few observers expect all will still be in the race on election day, Sept. 3.

Only a few seem to be serious contenders.

Last week Premier Nguyen Cao Ky accepted the No. 2 spot on a ticket headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu. Some Vietnamese who consider themselves political experts are betting that Ky will be out of the race entirely before long.

With most of the armed forces' 600,000 votes behind them—about 12 per cent of South Vietnam's 5.2 million registered voters—the Thieu-Ky ticket at this time appears to be running ahead.

CONFUSING BID

A confusing element is the candidacy of retired Lt. Gen. Duong Van Minh, now in Thailand. "Big Minh" was exiled as ambassador-at-large several months after he was overthrown as premier in 1964.

His ticket was registered by his vice-presidential running mate, Tran Ngoc Lieng, a lawyer. But South Vietnam's ruling generals say Big Minh would not be allowed to return.

Thich Tri Quang, leader of a militant Buddhist faction, has begun to exploit the general's refusal to allow Minh back. Although Tri Quang's faction was able to call tens of thousands of demonstrators into the streets as recently as a year ago, it now is divided.

BUDDHIST BACKING

Tri Quang, however, could get a few thousand into the streets, and if other groups apply enough pressure, the generals could be forced to change their minds.

Minh could be expected to draw off some of the military votes from Thieu and Ky and would have some Buddhist sup-

Defendant To Repay Victims

Charles Keeran, under indictment for false pretense, drew a probation sentence in 118th District court Wednesday afternoon, when he entered a plea of guilty to the charge against him.

Judge Ralph Caton accepted Keeran's plea with the stipulation the defendant repay more than $500 he admitted he obtained from his victims. He must make restitution in eight quarterly installments. The probation is for three years.

Keeran told Wayne Burns, district attorney, from the witness stand that he was certain he could repay the money in the time set up.

port. He is also Southern born and because of this would take southern votes from Thieu, born in central Vietnam, and Ky, a native of Hanoi.

The most prominent civilian candidate, Tran Van Huong, 63, is also a Southerner and has a large Southern following, especially among intellectuals. Huong has chosen a lay Buddhist leader, Mai Tho Truyen, 61, as his running mate.

POPULAR THEORY

A popular theory among Vietnamese politicians is that if Thieu wins, Huong would be asked to serve as premier.

Another prominent civilian ticket unites Phan Khac Suu, 61, a former chief of state and now speaker of the Provisional Assembly, with Dr. Phan Quang Dan, 49, a member of the assembly. Suu was jailed briefly by President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The candidates include 15 Southerners, 11 Northerners, and eight born in central Vietnam. Twenty-two of them live in Saigon, 22 in the surrounding province of Gia Dinh, one in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese suburb, one in Vung Tau, south of Saigon, and one in Thailand.

The candidates include five lawyers and judges, five businessmen and firm owners, three teachers, four doctors, four former civil servants, three military men, a religionist, three writers and journalists, an engineer and a tax consultant.

Back From Cruise

Mrs. Norman Read, 503 Washington Blvd. and her niece, Miss Sue Read of Midland, returned Tuesday from a Mediterranean cruise. They are shown here as they are being welcomed by the Gibraltar tourist office staff. Mrs. Read and her niece first docked in Lisbon, Portugal and Gibraltar. While on the cruise, they toured the Riviera, Sicily, Naples, Sorrento, Genoa, Monte Carlo, Nice and Cannes. They last docked at the Azores en route to New York City. They spent four days shopping and attending Broadway plays, and on Sunday they dined with Mrs. G. T. Hall, 704 Texas, who was in New York saying "bon voyage" to her daughter, Marie, who was leaving for Europe.

Stockings Make The Costume

NEW YORK (AP) — Current supershort styles stem from gaudy stockings, a fashion that baseball players thought of years ago. Once stockings were accessories. Now they are the costumes themselves.

At the fall collection previews Wednesday, the first of a four-day schedule arranged by the New York Couture Group, designers who seldom agree on anything were in unison in hailing the crazy leg as the root of all fashion.

As if to prove that diverse backgrounds means nothing, makers of banlon fabrics brought Ken Scott from Milan, Iranian-born Ferro Ettehadieh from his posh mansion in Palm Beach and Gayle Kirkpatrick from the garment district to show off their wares. Most of their offerings had to do with stockings.

Discotheque-loving Ferro believed that the curvy gams of girls should be covered with swirls of purple, pink, and green. Ken Scott sent his stocking stuffer out in hues like a fire in the night, while Kirkpatrick had painted conch shells and butterflies bigger than life on browns and blacks for his ladies' tights.

All three designers topped these tights, but very sparingly sometimes, with tunics or shifts. Anything longer was slung to the arm on the sides to preserve the all-important long view of loud legs.

HINTS FROM HELOISE Moving Hints Prove Useful

Dear Heloise: I hear that your husband was in the military service for 24 years.

Won't you please give us some tips on moving? Many of us are not military and may not be transferred clear across the country, but we change homes and towns just the same.

"Mover"

Well now, the first thing I always do is drag out my biggest suitcase a day or two ahead of time and drop everything into it that we use daily... toothbrushes, soap, a box of facial tissue, change of underwear for the entire family, a towel or two, etc. And I always stick in instant coffee, a can of tuna fish, some crackers and that all important can opener!

Next, I set aside one footlocker or strong carton I've gotten from the moving company to pack by myself and I label this one loud and clear.

Into this goes my skillet, a favorite pot or pan, a roll of aluminum foil (you'd be surprised what you can cook in that when you can't find anything else), butcher knife, salt and pepper, a few cans of soup and some dish towels.

At least we can exist on these for awhile. And if you want to be a real perfectionist, buy some paper plates and cups. It might be days before you get settled down and these sure come in handy.

If this footlocker or carton won't fit in your car, be sure that it is the LAST thing that goes on the van. Remember, the last thing in the truck are the first out.

Lots of movers allow you to leave your clothing in the dresser drawers, so I cover the contents of mine with bath towels. They keep your things from messing up, saves you a little packing charges. Besides you'll know where to get a towel in a hurry.

Another tip is to leave your fitted sheets on the mattresses. They not only help protect the mattress, but when you're tired and the children are crying and need a nap, you've got a place to sleep without rumaging through a jillion boxes for that bedding. I always tuck a top sheet and two pillowcases under the fitted sheet.

Thank goodness I'm not moving tomorrow. I've had enough of it.

If anyone has more ideas on "easy moving," do drop them along to us. We would love to hear from you. Just pick up that pen and write to us in care of this paper.

Dear Heloise: Here's a suggestion for getting rid of your used razor blades the safe way.

Drop them into an empty spice can. The kind that has a slide top, such as cinnamon and nutmeg cans.

When the can is full, just slide the top shut and drop the whole thing in your trash.

Sure prevents cut fingers. Bonnie Linden

LETTER OF LAUGHTER Dear Heloise: After reading in your column the letter from the harried housewife who felt that housework was never finished, I had to share a saying with you that is a favorite in our family.

My great-grandmother used to say, "Good Lord, we fight dirt all our life and then we lie down and they bury us in it."

Another Mother

Dear Heloise: During the picnic months, I find this hint handy.

When taking deviled eggs along, I put them in my muffin bins. So handy to carry and they don't get all smashed.

Mrs. Howard Tyson.

Dear Heloise: Did you know that corn plaster can be used on the bottom of chairs with small legs to keep them from marring those pretty hardwood floors?

Just stick them on. There's no mess, no glue. Lee

I'm a little red hen if it doesn't work beautifully. Who would have ever thought it? Heloise

Dear Heloise: When making jelly there is nothing quite like a piece of dry nylon net for removing hardened wax that has dropped on the outside of the glasses. Louise

Stortroen

Dear Heloise: Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

A LOVELIER YOU

Blend Brows And Hair Color Expertly

By MARY SUE MILER

The color of a lovely's hair and eyebrows is not infrequently at odds. It is sure to happen when a brunet with near-black eyebrows changes her hair coloring from dark to blond or red. Then, unless the eyebrow shade is softened, it plays her false. Not many natural blonds and redheads have dark eyebrows. Most wish they did.

For keeping light hair and dark brows attuned, as should be, pressed powder, brush-on brow cosmetics are handy-dandies. A few wisks of a taupe shade pales like filmy veiling. The original color is still there, but it's a whisper instead of a shout.

The reverse problem — brows so pale you can scarcely see them — also responds to brush-ons. The effective shades are amber and medium brown. Applications require care, for strands must be colored in depth without staining the skin. Stain the skin and the takers is revealed. Color only the outer-most strands and the change is so slight as to defeat the purpose. And the purpose is no mere whimsey. By giving the brows more emphasis, the face and eyes gain in character.

There are other ways to deepen brow color. Mascara does the job, but it's harder to handle than a brush-on permanent tint is long-lasting, but not a do-it-yourself project. Shall we brush on?

EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, "The Eyes of Youth." To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ex-Sooner Judge Awaiting Parole

SEAGOVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Earl Welch, 74, former Oklahoma Supreme Court justice sentenced to three years in prison for income tax evasion, should learn in August whether he will be paroled from the Federal Correctional Institution here, it was learned today.

Welch, now working as a dentist's clerk in this so-called "prison without walls," was interviewed by a member of the Board of Paroles June 21-23 during a parole hearing.

CASE EVALUATED
"Welch talked to a case worker," a source said. "His case was reviewed and evaluated to determine how he was getting along. He is eligible for parole." The Board of Paroles in Washington determines whether an inmate should be paroled from a federal prison.

Welch was convicted at Muskogee, Okla., in 1964 on charges that he evaded $13,000 in federal income taxes from 1957 through 1961.

BRIBERY SCANDAL

He was a key figure in Oklahoma's Supreme Court bribery scandal two years ago and stepped down from the bench in 1965 as the Oklahoma House of Representatives prepared to impeach him.

A source said, "It usually takes 4-6 weeks before an inmate hears back from Washington about the results of his interview."

Queen Returns

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip returned by plane today from their week's visit to Canada's centennial celebration and Expo '67.

Labor Pact Is Canceled

NEW YORK (AP) — A labor contract between the Suffolk Sun and its mechanical employees has been canceled by a federal judge.

The National Labor Relations Board had sought an injunction against the contract on the ground that it was illegally consummated.

Gardner Cowles III, publisher of the newspaper, said after the ruling Wednesday: "I anticipate no change in our working relations as a result of this decision."

The decision by Judge George Rosling was in favor of the NLRB which acted against Cowles Publications Inc. and the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union (ITU).

The core of the complaint lay in the ITU's alleged attempt to incorporate all mechanical and production workers in the Suffolk Sun plant at Deer Park, on Long Island into a single ITU unit. Newsmen and office workers were not covered by the agreement.

Vicious Storms Rip Across North Texas

By The Associated Press. Several areas in North Texas were the latest targets for the almost nightly thunderstorms disturbing slumbers in some parts of the state.

Wind gusts estimated unofficially up to 80 miles per hour whistled through Paris as about two inches of rain drenched the area. Police said several power lines broke, cutting off electricity for a time, but snapped tree limbs were about the only other damage.

A falling tree battered a parked car and a number of others also were felled by winds hitting 50 m.p.h. at Denison. Light hail accompanied a quick downpour which measured 1.25 inches. About the same amount of rain fell at neighboring Sherman.

BOATS BATTERED
The wind wrecked one boat and battered several others at the Island View resort on Lake Texoma near Denison.

Moisture amounts at other points near the Red River included Bonham 75 inch, Texarkana 39 and Gainsville 33. Observers reported the storms directed much of their fury at points across the state line in Southern Oklahoma, but there was no word of severe damage. The boiling turbulence caused the Weather Bureau to post severe thunderstorm watches at times during the evening for Cooke, Wise, Denton, Grayson, Lamar and Red River counties.

Showers also fell during the night or early morning along the west edge of the Texas Panhandle and at a few points in East Texas.

Slow, steady rain soaked the countryside around Hereford on the Plains.

Lufkin in Southeast Texas measured .36 inch of moisture. Skies were generally clear in other sections of the state early in the day.

Forecasts called for widely scattered showers by evening in all areas except in South Central Texas and continued hot weather. Top temperatures Wednesday hit 106 degrees at Presidio and 105 at Cotulla. Laredo recorded 103, Alice and Waco 102, Wink 101 and Junction 100. Amarillo was the coolest spot with a high of 86.

28 Sailors Take Bad 'LSD' Trips

WASHINGTON (AP)—At least 28 sailors so far this year have taken LSD "trips" that carried them out of the service, says the Navy.

Uses of drugs other than the hallucinatory LSD by sailors also show an increase through the first five months of this year, the Navy disclosed Wednesday in response to questioning.

Since February, said a Navy spokesman, 187 sailors have received administrative discharges for wrongful possession or use of drugs. That compares with 176 Navy men who received the same type discharge — nonpunitive but not honorable — throughout 1966.

LSD recently was banned under a new Navy regulation.

Chilly Weather Disrupts Picnics, Swim Parties

By The Associated Press. Chilly, fall-like weather continued to disrupt summertime picnics, barbecues and swimming parties over most of the Eastern half of the nation today.

The late season chill, caused by a high pressure area, pushing south from the Arctic, persisted from the Midwest and the Great Lakes to the Middle and North Atlantic states. Low temperatures for this date have been equaled at Waterloo, Iowa, with 49 degrees and at St. Louis with 57. Readings have dipped to the 30s in parts of Michigan.

Ad Pioneer Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Barton, a pioneer in modern advertising and a Republican congressman who bitterly opposed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, died Wednesday at age 80. Barton was the last surviving founder of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc., one of the best known names on Madison Avenue.

McNamara Plans Searching Review In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP)—The chief issues discussed during Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's visit to Saigon this weekend are expected to be more U. S. troops for the war, what to do about the Communist threat in the northern part of the country, the pacification program, the South Vietnamese army and U. S. aid.

Indications are that McNamara is planning a more searching review than he has made on some of his past trips. The U. S. Command is preparing to fight for plans it considers vital to military victory.

Here is how the major issues shape up:

Troop strength—This is the most widely publicized reason for McNamara's trip. Because of heavy North Vietnamese infiltration, U. S. commanders here want a major boost in manpower above the currently authorized 470,000 men. Military sources say Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. commander, wants up to 200,000 more men than the 466,000 now in Vietnam.

MORE GI'S DUE
Washington appears ready to boost the limit, possibly to around 550,000. But the Johnson administration is believed concerned because a larger increase will mean calling up reservists, greatly expanding the defense budget, and imposing a terrific strain on the inflation-ridden Vietnamese economy and the hard-pressed U. S. Asian supply line.

The war in the north—U. S. Marines continue to take the heaviest casualties of any force in the country as they man positions below the demilitarized zone. U. S. bombers have not been able to silence the heavy artillery, rocket and mortar fire that has been responsible for most of the 8,000 U. S. casualties in the area so far this year.

Newspapers Probe Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate antitrust subcommittee will open hearings next week that seem likely to become the first in-depth congressional study of newspaper business economics.

The hearings will center on a bill to permit an antitrust exemption for mergers or joint business and commercial operations of newspapers, both dailies and weeklies, in order to save "failing newspapers."

Subcommittee aides report being flooded with requests to testify and with material taking strong stands for and against the bill. Some objections have been directed to wording of the measure rather than its basic purpose.

Labor unions were listed as leading the opposition. Newspaper publishers were described as split, with the strongest support from multiple-paper operators and with owners of suburban papers among the bill's chief foes.

The hearings begin Wednesday. Nine additional days of hearings have been scheduled in July and six or seven more are planned in August. Further hearings are expected in November or December.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., on March 16 with 14 other senators—seven Democrats and seven Republicans—as co-sponsors. It's called the "Failing Newspaper Act."

It stems from an antitrust suit brought by the Justice Department in 1965 against a 1941 arrangement by two Tucson, Ariz., daily newspapers, the Citizen and the Star, under which a single company was created to conduct their printing, advertising, circulation and business operations.

Independent news and editorial staffs have been maintained by the two newspapers.

Hayden's bill provides that if a newspaper is failing, it may merge with another newspaper or enter into arrangements for certain joint operations without violating antitrust laws.

Pool Receipts About Average

Short holiday trips and competing activities outweighed pleasant weather during the Fourth of July weekend as swimming pool receipts remained just about average.

Only $212.16 was received during the three days all pools were open. Receipts were: $56.51, Saturday; $50.61, Sunday; $75, Tuesday. The pools are closed Mondays.

Crash Claims Teen

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP)—Christopher Beard, 16, was killed Wednesday when a car loaded with holiday surfing enthusiasts collided with a truck on Texas 73. Three other persons were injured, one critically.

Some officers say the southern half of the demilitarized zone should be taken or that a seaborne invasion of the north should be carried out to encircle and destroy the Red guns.

PACIFICATION PROBE
The latest in an eight-year series of pacification programs to win the loyalty of the countryside looked promising when it finally got off the ground in late February. However, government battalions assigned to protect the pacification teams have often proved ineffective. Some 700 pacification workers have been killed or wounded, and whole teams have deserted. Corruption and divisive political maneuvering have been reported in some areas. The program is clearly sagging.

The South Vietnamese Army—Despite billions in aid and thousands of U. S. advisers, the Saigon government's troops with only a few notable exceptions have not been built into an effective, aggressive, dedicated military machine. Since American divisions were sent to Vietnam, Saigon's soldiers have been doing less and less fighting and launching fewer and fewer operations aimed at showdown battles with the enemy.

American aid—Reports to Washington by those outside the aid chain of command but charged with monitoring it remain pessimistic. The reports say only a small percentage of the annual $7700 million flowing into the program will reach the peasants whose loyalty is the key to victory or defeat in Vietnam. U. S. sources have said no real improvement in the situation is possible unless some sort of control is maintained over funds and commodities once they pass into Vietnamese channels.

come Home Enterprise," will be unfurled as the 90,000-ton nuclear-powered aircraft carrier sails under the Golden Gate Bridge.

The carrier and her 5,300-man crew are returning from seven months combat in Vietnam waters. Nine air squadrons flew more than 11,000 combat sorties from the vast decks of the ship.

Horse Missing

Sheriff A. N. Standard said he had been asked to help find a horse which has been missing from the Anderson Addition for the past week. The horse, a bay, about five years old and weighing 1,100 pounds, is owned by B. J. Bowers. Anyone seeing such a horse is asked to call the sheriff's office or contact Bowers.

772 Texans Die In Vietnam War

The department said 122 died of non-battle causes.

Israeli Seaman Tells Why U.S. Liberty Attacked

EDITOR'S NOTE: On the morning of June 8—the fourth day of the Arab-Israeli war—the U.S. Navy communications ship Liberty was lying off the Egyptian coast when it was attacked by Israeli jets and torpedo boats. Thirty-four U.S. seamen were killed and about 75 injured. An Israeli naval reservist, Micha Limor, was aboard one of the torpedo boats that attacked the Liberty. He tells the graphic details in this story written especially for The Associated Press.

By MICHA LIMOR
Written For The Associated Press
TEL AVIV (AP) — The torpedoes were ready for firing when our three Israeli torpedo boats zeroed in on the gray ship moving slowly on a southeasterly course off El Arish.

At that tense moment, not one of us on those torpedo boats could have suspected that this was the beginning of an incident which was to cause a long-draw-out international wrangle.

On June 8, the sun was already high in the sky when we received notification of an unidentified sailing vessel some 12 miles off the El Arish coast, suspected of being an enemy craft.

Within moments, the face of our torpedo boat changed. Sailors took their positions, engines were revved up, and in five minutes we were moving out in formation, torpedo boat after torpedo boat, toward the de-

We spotted the objective once on the radar screen. She was moving on a steady course, southeast at about 10 knots. We sailed toward the objective at an increased speed, looking at her through binoculars in an effort to identify the vessel.

Two of our planes flew over our heads a few minutes afterward. We saw them circle the ship several times, and then dive into the attack.

ROCKETS FIRED

They spat two rockets into the gray ship, and plumes of smoke rose from her. Then the two jets headed away toward the coast.

About 2,000 yards from the ship, a strange spectacle met our eyes. The high masts and the many weird antenna showed that this was a warship. The side of the vessel was blotched out by smoke, and apart from three numbers along her side, which meant nothing to us, we could not discern a thing.

We could see no flag on the mast, nor was anyone to be seen on the decks and bridge.

For seamen, this can mean only two things: it was either a ghost ship or an enemy ship.

THE ENEMY

To us — who do not believe in ghosts — it was clear that this was the enemy.

We spent several minutes trying to contact the ship and demanding identification. We tried by radio and by helicopter, in accordance with internationally-accepted methods. But she gave no answer. It also seemed that she had managed to control the fires and continued on a stable course.

It was decided to pass by her in battle formation and demand identification by firing across her bow. So we moved past at a tremendous speed, firing across the empty bridge and the bow. Suddenly a sailor appeared in view and started firing at us with a heavy machine gun from the bridge. We took the challenge and directed cannon fire against him. A moment later he fell, together with the machine gun.

NO DOUBT

Thus there was no doubt that we were faced by the enemy. The prolonged refusal to identify herself, the absence of any flag, the shooting at us, and above all the weird contraptions on the ship left us without doubt.

We wanted to make the ship surrender without sinking her. Once again we circled the vessel in battle formation, firing again and again. This had no effect. No one appeared. No one reacted. The shells caused little damage to the hull and the ship proceeded on its way.

The order was given to prepare for a torpedo attack.

WATER SPOUT

We drew up along the left side of the boat and advanced at full battle speed.

One of the torpedoes hit the boat amidships. There followed an enormous explosion and a huge water spout.

And then fires broke out — the boat leaned sideways as if about to sink. We waited for survivors as is customary for seamen — whether friend or enemy. But no one appeared on deck.

Suddenly something fell into the sea. One of our formation approached and picked it up from the waters found it to be a rubber lifeboat with the lettering "U.S. Navy."

That was the very first sign of identification.

FLAG RAISED

A moment later there arrived on the scene the helicopter that was to have picked up prisoners. He hovered over the boat and then signaled us:

"They are raising the American flag."

It was crystal clear we had hit friends.

Dozens of shells, rockets and torpedoes were needed to drag a sign of identity from them, said one of my seamen who, like the rest of his mates, was bitterly upset at this surprising turn of events.

At the same time, it turned out later shore emplacements also learned that the attacked vessel was the American intelligence boat Liberty.

OFFERED HELP

We received orders directly from the officer commanding the navy to give all necessary help. So we approached the Liberty and offered help, shouting through a loudspeaker.

Then an officer appeared for the first time on the bridge and screamed "Go to hell!"

It seems they didn't want strangers aboard.

Learning they did not need aid, we left. And the Liberty returned to its regular operation. It seemed any other ship would have sunk.

MRS. R. M. DEAN
Nancy, Terri Lynn and Susan

Age Variance Offers Interesting Home Life

By RHODA LEMONS

From a pre-schooler to a sophomore in college — this is the age span of the children of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dean, 1518 Vines. Consequently things sometime become hectic in a household with such a variety of interests and activities.

Their children are Bobby, 19, a sophomore student at Texas Technological College in Lubbock; Nancy, 16, a junior at the Big Spring Senior High School; Susan, 14, a freshman at Big Spring Senior High School, and Terri Lynn, 4, who stays home with her mother.

Dean is self-employed and operates and owns the Dean Claim Service. He is occasionally assisted by Mrs. Dean when things pile up at the office, and when this happens the children are called upon to pitch in at home.

Bobby has summer employment at Kelly - Coppedge Oil Field Construction, Inc., and has paid for his own car and has enough saved for his next year of college. He is majoring in Industrial Management.

Both older girls are responsible for certain tasks in the home, and are also capable of assisting their mother in the kitchen or occasionally managing alone if necessary. Both keep their room, and serve as baby sitters for their small sister when their mother is busy with other activities.

Mrs. Dean prepares three meals a day as her husband comes home for lunch. Robert prepares his sack lunch before the rest of the family arises as he has to be at work before 7 a.m.

"My main problem with meals is making sure that I have enough," said Mrs. Dean ruefully. "I find that double portions for everyone are ample, at least for one meal." She usually tries to prepare enough so that leftovers may be frozen for TV dinners, and may be used when emergencies arise.

The girls love to entertain their friends with parties consisting of lots of food, music and confidential conversation. They most always prepare their treats of brownies, homemade candy, dips and chips.

Terri Lynn is still too young to do much entertaining but she joins her sisters and emulates them whenever possible. Most of Bobby's social life takes place outside the home as he is a member of the mobile generation.

Mrs. Dean sews almost all of the clothes worn by her daughters and herself. She economizes on patterns by using one basic one and changing it into several different fashions.

"I feel that I save more money by sewing than by any other thing I do," said Mrs. Dean. She sews beautifully and keeps a number of projects in advance so that she can supply the need as it arises. Her three daughters are proud of the wardrobes she makes for them and are careful with their clothes.

Mrs. Dean also made the attractive curtains in her living room. They are made from wide unbleached domestic, gathered as full as possible, and trimmed with a four inch braid. The curtains crisscross and offer privacy as well as durability.

Mrs. Dean is actively interested in her older daughter's activities, transporting and chaperoning them as often as she can. She also spends a great deal of time with her youngest daughter and lets her entertain her little friends at their home during playtime.

"The noise factor really bothers me at times," said attractive Mrs. Dean. "It is difficult to have radios and television sets blaring all over the house, but mostly I just enjoy my children and their friends."

She recently accompanied the two older girls to a Baptist church encampment in Gloria. She took her youngest child along and served as chaperone for a group of girls. She found the experience most rewarding, and is looking forward to going in other years.

Her comfortable home is attractively furnished and is capably managed. The rooms are designed for family living, easy cleaning and offer a hospitable atmosphere for a variety of interesting activities.

The Deans entertain informally most of the time. They usually have dinner and two tables of bridge, or an outdoor cookout with Dean serving as chef. More often than not, the parties are family-type affairs and the children are welcomed, too.

Mrs. Dean is active in the First Baptist Church, where the family has membership. Mrs. Dean teaches a ten-year-old class of girls. She enjoys reading and playing bridge, but is mainly interested in her home and her family's activities.

Dissolve Jello, add the remaining ingredients and chill until set.

CHERRY-CHEESE PIE
1 9-inch pie crust baked

1 cup chopped nuts,
¼ tsp. salt

CHICKEN ON SUNDAY
8 chicken breasts (best parts of chicken can be used)

Roll chicken in melted oil. Place on top of all other ingredients. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 2½ hours.

Beef With Eggs

Do something different with scrambled eggs for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Lightly brown 2½-ounces dried beef in butter or margarine, add the scrambled egg mixture of four to six eggs to the frying-pan with the beef. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally. Serve with toast, hot biscuits or muffins. Serve at once.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Sesame seed in the house? Use it as a topping for yeast bread and rolls. Brush the top of the dough with melted fat before sprinkling on the seed.

Recipe arithmetic: A 3-ounce package of cream cheese measures 1-3 cup.

Salad garnish: Melt soft cheddar cheese around pitted olives and roll in finely chopped nuts.

When nuts are added to chifon-cake batter, they must be very finely chopped or they won't be evenly distributed.

Learn to prepare a good Custard Filling! It can be used with cut-up fresh fruit, in eclairs or cream puffs, or as a filling for sponge-cake layers.

For new cooks: Slits or "vents" are always cut in the top crust of a fruit pie to allow the steam that forms during baking to escape.

Leftover cooked meat makes a good sandwich filling if it is chopped fine and mixed with celery and well-seasoned mayonnaise.

Add finely chopped ham to the stuffing for deviled eggs; serve on a bed of cooked rice and top with a well-seasoned cream sauce.

Don't re-freeze raw meat once it has been taken from the freezer and thawed.

Cook pitted dates with a little orange juice and sugar; add grated orange rind and use as a filling for oatmeal cookies.

Save the small foil pans in which some frozen cooked foods come; wash thoroughly and dry. Use them for individual pineapple upsidedown cakes; you can serve some of these as soon as baked and put the rest in your freezer for use another time.

Snap beans need to be scrubbed with a vegetable brush in cold water. Cut the ends from the beans before giving them this dunking.

Prepare A Dessert

Follow directions and you'll have a fine dessert.

CARROT COFFEECAKE
1½ cups sifted regular flour
2 tbsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
2-3 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 large eggs
1 cup packed down medium-coarse grated raw pared carrots (2 very large)
½ cup raisins, rinsed in hot water and drained
½ cup chopped (medium fine) walnuts

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Gradually stir in sifted ingredients to blend; add carrots, raisins and walnuts and stir enough to distribute evenly.

Turn into a 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan (bottom greased, then lined with buttered wax paper). Bake in a 350-degree oven for one hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool completely. Wrap tightly in saran and refrigerate overnight. Slice after chilling; wrap slices (piled on top of the other) and reheat briefly in moderate or hot even oven. Serve at once.

CRUSTY SWEET SOUFFLE
Delights family and friends

Serve Chocolate Souffle For A Sweet Ending

Looking for a dramatic finale either for a party or a special family dinner? A crusty sweet Chocolate Souffle made with the magic of sweetened condensed milk may be the answer. Bake slowly and thoroughly, then serve immediately either plain or crested with heavy cream.

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

- 5 (1-oz.) squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1 1/3 cups (one 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
- 1/4 cup hot water
- 8 eggs, separated
- 1-3 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp. salt

Make a paper collar for a 2-quart straight-sided soufflé dish: Cut a sheet of brown paper 26-inches long and 4-inches wide. Place paper around outside of soufflé dish, forming a 2-inch collar above edge of dish. Tie in place with string. In the top of double boiler melt chocolate over hot water. Stir in condensed milk; blend well. Stir in water; cook over rapidly boiling water; stir constantly, until mixture is very thick. Remove from heat; cool to room temperature. Place in refrigerator or chill over ice water. Place egg yolks in large bowl; beat with electric beater until thick and lemon-colored. Slowly add cooled chocolate mixture to yolks; beat until ingredients are blended. Stir in flour. Place egg whites and salt in a large bowl; beat with electric beater until stiff, but not dry. Fold gently into chocolate mixture. Pour into prepared soufflé dish. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven, 65 minutes, or until puffed. Remove from oven; remove collar. Serve immediately. Makes eight to 10 servings.

Serve Hot Rolls Now

Small version of a favorite.

TWO NUT ROLLS

- 1/4 cup warm water
 - 1 pkg. active dry yeast
 - 3 cups unsifted regular flour (stir to aerate before measuring)
 - 1 1/2 tbsps. sugar
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 cup butter, melted
 - 2 large eggs
 - 1/2 cup commercial sour cream
 - Walnut Filling (see below)
- Dissolve yeast in water. Stir together the flour, sugar and salt; stir in melted butter, one whole egg and one egg yolk (slightly beaten) and the sour cream, reserve the one egg white. Thoroughly mix in the dissolved yeast, let stand 10 minutes. Divide in two equal parts, roll out each on a prepared pastry cloth to a 14 by 12 inch rectangle.
- Spread each with half the Walnut Filling. Roll up tightly from 12-inch side, seal edges. Place the two rolls, sealed edges down, well apart on a greased large cookie sheet. Cover and let rise until about doubled — one hour.
- Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until well browned (about 40 minutes); about five minutes before removing from oven, brush rolls with the reserved egg white slightly beaten with one tablespoon water.
- WALNUT FILLING: Mix together 1/4 cups ground walnuts, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup butter

Purple Stamp Grades Beef

NEW YORK (AP) — It's probably easier to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear than it is to create a thick, tender, juicy steak out of the wrong grade of beef.

But a lot of people try anyway and end up with a disappointing mouthful of tough, stringy meat because they didn't pay attention to the little, shield-shaped purple stamp on their cut of meat.

"Success in preparing any meat dish," says the Department of Agriculture, "begins with the selection of a suitable quality and cut of meat."

Assuming the consumer knows what meat cut he wants, how does he determine its quality? The five main USDA meat grades of prime, choice, good, standard and commercial are "plainly marked on the package or product" by a federal meat grader using a roller stamp.

The stamp uses a "harmless purple vegetable coloring" as its ink and when the grade rolls it across the carcass it "leaves a ribbon-like imprint of the grade name on practically all the retail cuts."

Beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton and mutton are the types graded. Chicken, turkey, butter and eggs also are graded. Grades are available for a great many other products but these are not widely used.

Among the meats, pork is not graded because "pork basically is pork, it doesn't vary that much in quality," says a department spokesman, "also there isn't much demand by the industry for pork grading."

The grading service, unlike the government's inspections on a voluntary basis, but not at government expense.

"They pay a fee for the service if they wish to use it — and many do," a spokesman says. "They paid nearly $21 million for grading services in the year ending June 30."

Here is a breakdown of the meat grades and what they mean:

BEEF

—Prime is the top grade and is produced from young cattle. It is liberally marbled (fat interspersed within the lean), and roasts and steaks are consistently tender and juicy.

—Choice is of high quality but usually has less fat than prime. It also is tender and juicy.

—Good is lean but of fairly good quality. These cuts are relatively tender but lack juiciness and flavor associated with more marbling.

—Standard has little fat and a mild flavor. It lacks juiciness but is relatively tender.

—Commercial lacks tenderness and usually requires long, slow cooking with moist heat.

There are three other beef grades — canner, cutter and utility. Utility usually comes from cattle somewhat advanced in age and is seldom sold as fresh beef. Canner and cutter usually are used in processed meat products and are rarely, if ever, sold in retail stores.

VEAL AND CALF

Veal comes from animals that are three or less months in age. Calf is from animals ranging between 3-and-8 months in age.

Prime and choice veal is more thickly fleshed than the lower grades with a higher proportion of meat to bone and also has more fat. The flavor, texture, tenderness and juiciness of calf lies between veal and beef.

LAMB

The meat of sheep is classified as lamb, yearling mutton or mutton, depending on the age of the animal when slaughtered. Lamb comes from young animal and in its highest grades is tender enough to be cooked by dry heat. Yearling mutton comes from animals between one and two years of age is more flavorful than lamb. Mutton comes from mature animals and lacks natural tenderness.

Science And You About Medical Radiation

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

Over the years, there has been a tremendous amount of discussion, controversy and research on the question of nuclear fallout. What might it be doing to our genetic inheritance?

In a sense, our genes are the essence of humanity — the race has no more precious possession than the threads of molecules that encode the way to make a man out of undistinguished protoplasm. Small wonder that any threat to our hereditary structure should get attention.

But attention to fallout has sometimes clouded the fact that in medical practice we continuously subject people to substances which also could have serious effects upon cell structure. This is not a possibility that has escaped the medical profession. The U.S. Public Health Service has been carefully watching how much X-ray dosage, for example, the average person in the United States gets. It's quite obvious that as our use of X-rays goes up, there is increased potential for producing harmful genetic changes or mutations.

A recent study of a cross-section of the 1964 U.S. population in which such questions have been examined is encouraging. Basically, it has been determined that an acceptable level of radiation exposure for a human being is 10 so-called Rad units. This is the total amount of radiation that the average human being should be allowed to absorb during his whole reproductive lifespan (which, of course, is not the same as his total lifespan). This corresponds to something like one-third of a Rad per year.

In the study of the 1964 population sample, which numbered some 4,000 people, the Public Health Service found out that the average yearly dose absorbed was about one-sixth of a Rad. About two-thirds of the dose came from natural radioactivity in the ground and buildings, from nuclear fallout and from cosmic rays, or naturally radioactive body substances. The remaining dose — about one-twentieth of a Rad — came from medical and dental uses of X-rays.

In viewing these figures, the medical profession has a right to a certain amount of satisfaction because there had been concern that diagnostic procedures were responsible for much more of the radiation dose being delivered to humanity. Nevertheless, an advisory committee to the U.S. Surgeon General suggests that the radiation levels from medical work could still be cut in half if the best practices were followed. This would result in a corresponding decrease in bad mutations or other effects.

With really careful control, by keeping the X-ray beams narrow and by taking X-rays of patients only when it's really justified, some people feel the average dose to the population could be cut to perhaps 10 or 20 per cent of its 1964 level.

Clearly, responsible medical researchers are looking quite hard at ways of reducing medical radiation exposure, the inevitable result of all the benefits X-rays have conferred upon humanity.

Filmsters Gain Help In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The camera focuses on the marquee sign of a grocery market at Broadway and 90th Street: "We are Proud of Our Boneless Smoked Ham."

Then the shot pans down to the figures of Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau, strolling down Broadway in animated conversation. It is midnight, and they are shooting final scenes for "The Odd Couple." "Hey, Walter!" shouts a heavy-set woman who is standing between two parked cars. "Remember me? I'm your second cousin, once removed."

CROWD FORMS
"Hi ya, honey," Matthau answers with a sour grin. He continues rehearsing the scene with costar Lemmon.

A crowd forms on the sidewalk, and they are gently urged out of camera range by city policemen with night sticks. A grizzled older man in overcoat of ancient tweed totters out of a tavern and demands, "What's goin' on here?"

"They're just shooting a movie," says an affable young policeman, who directs the drunk on his unsure way.

Within an hour, the Paramount company has finished the complicated scene and moves to another Manhattan location. Such is the facility with which film crews can operate in New York since Mayor John F. Lindsay proclaimed this city to be "Hollywood on the Hudson."

ITCHY-PALMS

'Twas not ever so. Until a year ago, film makers returned from New York locations with horrendous tales of unruly crowds, itchy-palmed police and civic officials, and movie unionists who demanded triple pay for indifferent work.

The busy new mayo gave the complaints his attention. He drew promises of cooperation from unions and cut red tape so producers needed only a single permit to film on city streets. He also promised adequate police protection for the filmsters.

Lindsay's campaign appears to have produced results. In his recent review of accomplishments in 1966, the mayor cited a 100 per cent increase in the number of films shot here and claimed a $20-million expenditure for goods and services by the movie companies. The record is likely to be even better this year; 25 features have already been shot here.

STUDIO SHORTAGES

"Welcome!" said a recent Macy's ad in the New York Times. "The movie makers are back where movies began — in New York." The ad's special welcome was for "The Odd Couple" and four other Paramount films that will location here this summer.

Producer-Director George Seaton is a veteran of New York filming, having made such films as "Miracle on 34th Street," "Anything Can Happen," "Country Girl" and "The Rat Race."

IN UNITED NATIONS Soviets Wooing Latin Americans

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union began wooing Latin American members of the United Nations today in an effort to salvage something from the abortive U.N. Assembly session on the Middle East.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan adjourned the 122-nation forum until next Wednesday to give members a chance to "bring about something that we might be able to refer to as a fruitful result."

STRIP PENIALS
Israeli officials, meanwhile, sought to allay a furor roused by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's statement that the Gaza Strip, administered by Egypt before the June 5 war, would be incorporated into Israel.

Both the Israeli Defense Ministry and the Israeli delegation to the U.N. issued emphatic denials that the government of Israel had made any decision on the future of the strip.

ODDS EVEN
Informed sources said Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov was urging the Latin Americans to try to draft an acceptable compromise resolution from the Security Council.

salvageable parts of the rival Latin American and nonaligned proposals which failed to get the needed two-thirds majority in the assembly Tuesday.

The U.N. members split almost evenly over the nonaligned draft, which demanded that Israel pull its troops out of Egypt, Jordan and Syria, and the Latin American proposal coupling a withdrawal demand with a demand that the Arabs and the state of war they have maintained against Israel since 1948. The Russians and the Arabs backed the nonaligned resolution, while the United States and Israel supported the Latin American draft.

ANOTHER SETBACK
Defeat of the nonaligned resolution was another setback for the Soviet Union, which had asked for the emergency assembly session and sent Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to press the Arab case.

There was considerable agreement that any resolution which could be adopted by the assembly would be no more than a general expression of hope for a peaceful resolution of the crisis, and that the matter would revert to the Security Council.

Tech Spokesmen Laud Importance Of Athletics

More than entertainment is involved in collegiate and school athletics, Burl Huffman, freshman coach at Texas Tech, told the Downtown Lions Club here Wednesday.

Huffman was with a battery of coaching staff members from Tech visiting here to help organize a Red Raider Club which helps underwrite athletics at Tech. Guests at the luncheon included Polk Robinson, athletic director; Gene Gibson, basketball coach; Burl Bartlett, offensive backfield coach; and Lee Jackson, executive vice president of the Red Raider Clubs.

"In this day and time," said Huffman, "you can't take for granted the things that are important — things like right and wrong; things like hard work; discipline; toughness; competitiveness and teamwork. Where else but in athletics does a boy learn all this? I think the field of athletics is not only worthy — I think it is necessary."

He had a word of cheer for Tech fans, declaring that in football Tech this fall will have "the deepest, best and most talented group of players since entering the Southwest Conference. That doesn't mean we'll win the conference, but it does mean we could win any game we play in."

The program was in charge of Bill Roark. Clyde McMahon Jr. presided in the absence of Jimmy Ray Smith, president, who is attending Lions International in Chicago. Last week Smith was installed by Harvey Palmer, San Angelo, district governor, along with McMahon; Waymon Clark, second vice president; Winston Wrinkle, third vice president; Morris Rhodes, secretary; F. D. Williams, Liontamer; R. H. Snyder, Wayne Tollett, John R. Coffee, tailwisters; Jim Hatler, Joe Pond, Charles Havens and Jim Lemons, directors.

Late Tally Hikes Toll

Late reports Wednesday of Independence Day weekend fatalities boosted the holiday traffic toll to 732, within range of the National Safety Council's estimate of 700 to 800.

The statistics broke a record no one wanted to break. The previous high mark for a Fourth of July weekend was 576 during last year's three-day holiday.

A nonholiday tally made by The Associated Press for comparative purposes showed 530 fatalities in a four-day period.

The record for any holiday — 748 — was recorded by The Associated Press during last year's four-day Thanksgiving period.

The Safety Council said the large number of fatalities reflects an increase in the number of drivers and motor vehicles and the millions of miles motorists traveled.

Huge Death Duties Paid

LONDON (AP) — As a matter of principle, a rich British businessman refused to make legal arrangements to avoid huge death duties, his widow said today.

As a result, his executors are paying the tax collector the equivalent of $3,648,640.40. His widow, son and daughter will share only $571,200.

"My husband was a man of great principle and would not entertain the idea of doing anything to evade taxation," said Mrs. Elsie Sykes.

Charles Sykes died at the age of 95 in April.

"He knew all along that the death duties would be fantastically high, but he said it was not right to try to avoid paying the duty," Mrs. Sykes explained.

"We talked it over and I was in full agreement with him," she added.

Had Sykes given away most of his money to relatives and friends five years before his death, bought agricultural land, or employed other legal devices, he could have cut his death duties by about 80 per cent.

Sykes built a fortune in wool spinning.

U.S. Chiefs Adopt Riverine Warfare

MEKONG RIVER DELTA, South Vietnam (AP) — American military commanders have harkened back to Civil War days on the Mississippi for tactics to fight guerrilla dominance of Vietnam's lush Mekong River delta.

It's called riverine warfare, a term first used by Union troops in 1862. The 1967 version combines amphibious tactics, river assault groups like those formed by the French in Vietnam, and an historical thank-you to Gen. Winfield Scott who saw the need for Navy gunboats on the Mississippi.

PINPRICKS

For the past month a flotilla of barracks ships, gunboats and landing craft has been launching antiguerrilla sweeps in estuaries below Saigon. These are pinpricks in the vast area that holds one-third of Vietnam's people and furnishes most of the rice to government and Viet Cong alike.

The heart of the operation is the Benueah, a converted tank-landing ship now jammed with troop quarters, command centers and communications gear — as well as a popcorn stand.

Aboard the troopships are two battalions of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division; the officers anxious to make riverine warfare work and the infantrymen bemused at finding themselves

Water Sales Easing Off, But Still High

Water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District eased off from May's peak, but the volume of 1,217,990,180 was good enough to make it the second best June on record. Only the 1,223,535,192 in June, 1964, exceeded it for the month.

In May of this year the total reached 1,246,355,512 gallons, easily a record for that month. Spotted showers, particularly around Snyder and to a lesser degree at Big Spring, dulled the municipal demand somewhat in June. The member cities used 576,023,000 gallons, up 2.30 per cent from the same month a year ago. In May this figure had been 972,996,900 gallons.

The deliveries to oil companies amounted to 341,967,160 gallons, or 9.23 per cent less than for June, 1966. With an increased allowance for oilfields, the July demands for repressuring is expected to substantially boost this figure.

During June, Odessa used 510,400,000 gallons (up 10.72 per cent over June a year ago). Big Spring 297,996,000 (up 1.30 per cent), and Snyder 67,727,000 (down 27.21 per cent).

Through the first half of the year, deliveries have aggregated 6,380,063,428 gallons, or 13.86 per cent over the first half of 1966.

A four heart contract was reached at both tables when the above hand was dealt in a recent team-of-four contest. One declarer played carefully to cinch his contract. At the other table, a defender induced his opponent to take a fatal misstep — with the aid of a spectacular falsecard.

At the table, West opened the king of spades and the ace was played from dummy. South observed that he was off two diamond tricks, and that the success of his contract, therefore, hinged on confining himself to one trump loser.

As a safety play, he led a small heart at trick two and put up the ace from his hand, dropping West's jack. Dummy was reentered with a club to play another heart. When both the ten and king appeared, declarer conceded two more tricks in diamonds and claimed his contract.

Observe that, if South takes the heart finesse, West will be in position to score an upset by shifting to his singleton diamond. After East cashes the ace and king a third-round of diamonds enables West to score the cincher with the jack of hearts.

At the other table, West decided to open the eight of diamonds in the hope of obtaining an immediate ruff. East obliged by winning the first two tricks and then continued with a small diamond. West trumped, but not with the jack of hearts. Instead, he played the king at trick three!

West shifted to the king of spades and the dummy was in with the ace. To declarer, it appeared that his left hand opponent had started with the singleton king of trumps, which would leave East with the J-10-5. The nine of hearts was, therefore, led from dummy and, when East followed with the five, South backed up his conclusions by letting the nine ride. West produced the cleverly concealed jack for the setting trick.

Whether or not the declarer should have fallen for his opponent's false card, we will leave to the reader's judgment, however, West certainly earned the victory. His sole concern was to score a second trump trick, and he feared that the true play of ruffing his partner's diamond with the jack of hearts might prove very revealing to declarer and induce the latter subsequently to refuse the heart finesse and play the ace instead.
