MAJOR BILLS

Key To Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two major pieces of legislation — an increase in Social Security benefits and a boost in income taxes — apparently hold the key to how long the 1967 session of Congress runs.

Back To Work Monday

Members of the 90th Congress will return to work Monday after a 10-day recess with not only these two big items but a host of other measures remaining to be acted on before adjournment.

The 1967 session has not been too productive so far, and congressional leaders concede that many bills, including several of President Johnson's urgent recommendations, will fall by the wayside.

But there is every expectation that the Social Security and tax bills will be put through, even though this means sine die adjournment cannot come before October, as key legislators now expect.

More Money Bills

In addition, Congress must pass 20 more regular money bills to run the government in the current financial year which began a week ago. Only two of these have been sent to Johnson so far.

And it probably will act on legislation to extend several programs now in operation, even though some are highly controversial.

In this category are foreign aid, the antipoverty campaign, the elementary and secondary school act, and highway beautification.

Delay Adjournment

An important reason why the Social Security and tax bills will delay adjournment is that each must be handled by the same committee — Ways and Means in the House and Finance in the Senate.

The Ways and Means Committee has been struggling with the mammoth Social Security measure for months and is understood to be ready to complete work on it in about two weeks.

Increase In Benefits

Johnson recommended that Social Security benefits be increased effective July 1 this year an average of 20 per cent, with every recipient to get at least a 15 per cent hike.

There has been some talk at the Capitol that the Senate might delay action on this bill until 1968, a presidential election year.

But Democratic leaders say they do not believe this could or should be done. They note that the Republicans pushed for a Social Security increase last year and that Democrats blocked this with a pledge the matter would be taken care of in 1967.

Strong Opposition

Strong opposition to an income tax increase still is voiced in Congress, particularly among Democrats.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Nothing much happened to change the general agricultural picture last week, unless it was hot, searing wind which took over Friday. Spotted showers did put out 1 1/2 inches in a locality west of Ackerly, and part of Luther got half to three-quarters of an inch. There is no longer speculation about when the cotton planting deadline is past. Now the only speculation is over whether the extremely limited acreage will survive and flourish, and whether grain or some other type of crops can be planted.

To some degree, the bleak agricultural outlook was reflected in the bank deposit figures on the June 30 call. Considering all things, however, the $42,335,369 was a good total, being off only $366,414 from a year ago. It was down about two million from the April call. Loans and discounts were $25,900,962, which represented an increase of $1,442,313 over a year ago. This brisk clip contributed to earnings which boosted total resources over a year ago.

Perhaps the biggest piece of news for the week was the announcement of an impending major apartment building complex at 17th and Lancaster. To be known as Lancaster Square Apartments, Inc., the project will contain 90 units of bachelor.

Marines Die In Flaming Crash

A Marine Corps F4B Phantom jet crashes into the sea off Laguna Beach, Calif., Thursday after bursting into flames on a routine training mission. The pilot, Capt. Lance Lieb of Jupiter, Fla., and the radar operator, Lt. Timothy G. Miner of Santa Ana, Calif., were killed.

Gurkhas Guarding Hong Kong Village

HONG KONG (AP) — Six hundred heavily armed Gurkha troops Sunday patrolled the Hong Kong half of Shu Tau Kok village, where 1,000 Communist Chinese crossed the border and attacked a Hong Kong police station Saturday with rifles and machine guns.

FIVE KILLED

Five police were killed and 13 wounded before the Gurkhas rescued 86 police who had barricaded themselves in the police post and 80 others in a government building 50 yards behind it.

Government officials in this British colony and in London said they believed the attack was "an isolated incident" and did not presage a Communist Chinese military offensive against Hong Kong. The colony is recovering from Communist rioting and anti-British demonstrations in May and Communist-instigated labor strife in June.

NO UNIFORMS

Supt. D. G. McNeill, commander of the police station, said no army or militia uniforms were worn by the Chinese who swarmed across the border, rushed the post 100 yards inside Hong Kong territory, and opened fire.

He would not speculate on whether troops or militia might have been operating in civilian clothes. Many observers in Hong Kong believed that some troops or militia were involved. Reports out of Red China say no one except soldiers and militia is allowed weapons.

Britain's envoy in Peking was instructed to ask the Red Chinese Foreign Ministry to clarify circumstances of the attack. Officials in London said this was not a protest but an attempt to clear up a confused situation.

FRIGHTEN

Hong Kong officials viewed the incident as another attempt to frighten Hong Kong's four million Chinese, most of whom have remained loyal to the colonial government despite Communist charges of racial suppression and atrocities.

Sha Tau Kok is 20 miles north of the colony's twin cities, Hong Kong and Kowloon. The border with Red China runs along the main street of the village, the scene of repeated incidents in the last 12 years.

The main island of Hong Kong was not affected by Saturday's violence.

DYNAMITE

McNeill said 1,000 Chinese had crossed the main street, surrounded the police post and tried to blast open gates and doors with dynamite.

Congolese Troops Take Revenge For Losses

KAMEMBE, Rwanda (AP) — Congolese government troops, routed by rebels aided by white mercenaries, returned to the border city of Bukavu Friday and killed more than 60 persons, including five Europeans, in a wild rampage of revenge, diplomatic and Red Cross officials reported Saturday.

They said disciplined Congolese paratroopers brought calm to the eastern Congo resort city after their arrival by air from Kinshasa, the Congolese capital.

The reports of the refugees from Bukavu to this neighboring nation came as the Congolese nation announced that forces loyal to President Joseph D. Mobutu had defeated mercenaries and rebels in Bukavu, Kisangani — formerly Stanleyville — and Kindu. The radio said the fighting was over.

SECOND SUPERFORTRESS TRAGEDY IN VIETNAM AREA

Impressive Victories Claimed Over Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Impressive victories over Communist troops in South Vietnam's hard-pressed 1st Corps area were claimed by the U.S. Command Saturday after a week of heavy action in which 134 American Marines were killed, 631 wounded and five missing.

NINTH VISIT

The victory claims coincided with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's ninth visit to Vietnam, during which Gen. William C. Westmoreland is urging a substantial addition to his U.S. armed forces beyond the presently authorized strength of 475,000 men.

In the second B52 tragedy of the weekend, a U.S. Stratofortress crashed and burned at Da Nang Air Base Saturday night while attempting an emergency landing, killing five of the six-man crew. No bombs were aboard the B52 that was returning from a bombing mission and tried to land with electrical trouble and two of its eight engines but. The surviving tail gunner was pulled from the burning wreckage.

Two of the giant bombers collided Friday as they were approaching Vietnam for a bombing run. Seven crewmen parachuted into the sea and six others were missing.

Headquarters spokesmen said the series of ground clashes and duels with artillery, rockets and mortars that broke out below the demilitarized zone last Sunday had left 836 enemy soldiers dead. That would be six times the death toll of the Marines.

AIR STRIKES

Most of the casualties among the enemy, largely North Vietnamese regulars, were attributed to air strikes and artillery barrages. The spokesman said 565 were killed Thursday and Friday.

The total of 836 dead was drawn up from reports of ground patrols and aerial observers.

Correspondents with Marines in the area said they had not been able to observe personally the big enemy kills. Some Marines expressed the belief the reports were based largely on estimates from the air and that there might have been some duplication in the counting.

The main emphasis in ground fighting again centered in the northernmost sector. Men of the 3rd Marine Regiment were reported in contact with North Vietnamese forces Saturday night about two miles southwest of the Leatherneck base at Con Thien.

Field dispatches said the Marines, planes and artillery had killed 84 of the enemy during the day in a fight in which three Marines were killed and 41 wounded.

Artillery duels persisted, and enemy gunners twice lobbed a few shells into the Marine base at Dong Ha, 10 miles south of the DMZ. Thirteen helicopters were reported hit, though it was not immediately determined how seriously they were damaged.

AP Correspondent John Langel, who was on the scene, said the Dong Ha air strip was knocked out for a while for planes that ferried ammunition to Marine lines and helicopters took over the job.

The continuing Communist threat was emphasized by the North Vietnamese introduction of a Russian-built 152mm gun that fires a six-inch, 90-pound shell.

Israel, Egypt Quit Shooting At Nightfall

Squabble Returns To U.N. Council

By The Associated Press

Egyptian and Israeli jets, tanks and artillery battled Saturday at the Suez Canal for nearly nine hours in the biggest fight since the June 10 cease-fire that ended the Middle East war.

STOPPED

The fighting stopped by nightfall, but Israel and Egypt carried their battle before the United Nations in New York. At an emergency Security Council meeting, each blamed the other for breaking the cease-fire. (See Page 6-A.)

Egypt said its jet fighters engaged the Israelis in dog-fights and acknowledged that one of its planes did not return. Israel claimed one Egyptian MIG21 shot down south of Port

Said and that the Egyptians started the fight by shelling Israeli troops on the east bank. Israeli soldiers occupied the east bank territory during the six-day Middle East war.

Israel put its casualties at five killed and 31 wounded after nearly nine hours of intermittent fighting. It said tanks were thrown into action by both Egypt and Israel and exchanged fire in the El Qantara region.

Israel claimed its forces knocked out two Egyptian tanks and said one Israeli tank was damaged. The Israelis said the Egyptians turned their heavy coastal batteries "with good results," according to an army spokesman.

THREE TANKS

Radio Cairo said Egyptian forces destroyed three Israeli tanks and 11 armored cars in breaking up an armored drive from the south aimed at important canal installations at Port

Fuad. Along the Suez, reports were that the first fighting broke out at about 9:25 a.m. and hostilities died down by nightfall.

Nigerian Troops Seeking To Capture Rebel Leader

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A drive by Nigerian federal troops into Biafra is aimed at the arrest of the governor who led that Eastern territory to secede May 30, a military spokesman said Saturday. The governor is Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu.

MEAN AN END

"If we can get him today, that's it," the spokesman said, implying that the capture of Ojukwu would mean an end to this latest of the African wars.

The governor and Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of the federal military government, had feuded for months before Ojukwu broke away and proclaimed his bailiwick, with 14 million of Nigeria's 56 million inhabitants, to be an independent republic.

The spokesman said 500 Biafrans, mostly raw recruits, were captured in the overrunning of a training camp Friday between the towns of Obudu and Ogoja, 10 miles below the border between the former Eastern region and Northern Nigeria.

BATTLE

Federal and Biafran troops battled on in rainy weather over hilly terrain in the third day of a fight in which each claims to have inflicted heavy casualties on the other. Rival radio stations broadcast sometimes conflicting accounts of the struggle.

Radio Kaduna, in the north, said Nigerian forces were within 20 miles of Enugu, the Biafran ran capital, which is 300 miles east of Lagos.

Without confirming this account, the Lagos station Radio Nigeria said federal troops had captured the towns of Obudu and Obolo and were pressing deep into the oil-rich territory in a hunt for Ojukwu.

Radio Enugu declared Eastern forces had repulsed Eastern government soldiers, though there was fierce fighting "on four fronts."

Ho Forces A Showdown

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's President Ho Chi Minh has forced the United States into a showdown test of will that U.S. intelligence estimates once rated as impossible.

In 1965, when it was decided to send about 120,000 American troops to rescue South Vietnam from the prospect of defeat, senior U.S. military officers said it was preposterous to think North Vietnam could resist, let alone turn back, a predicted allied victory tide.

Crossroads In War

But by mid-1967 Hanoi's determination to counter the allied offensive, regardless of the cost in blood and national resources, has forced Washington to a crossroad in the seven-year-long war.

American and Vietnamese military sources say that, unless 100,000 to 140,000 more U.S. troops are sent, the allies may be forced gradually into a defensive posture that could end in stalemate.

This could mean the loss of any hope for a negotiated peace favorable to the allied side.

Weigh Considerations

But McNamara and the administration must weigh considerations the military men don't have to contend with.

To send 100,000 more men probably would mean three divisions together with helicopter, supply and other support units.

Military men here believe this would involve a partial mobilization of reserves, higher draft quotas, higher battle casualties, an additional $10 billion or more in defense spending, the possi-

Lost Their Lustre

The Americans, hailed in 1965 as the saviors of Vietnam, have lost lustre from their public image for a number of reasons. One is the terrific amount of bombing and artillery used in the countryside.

One well-informed source cited three current situations as symptomatic of deterioration in the allied military position since the first of the year.

—North Vietnamese troops have set up antiaircraft batteries and a major base in the Shua valley region, near the Laotian border 30 miles south of the demilitarized zone. Though B52 jets have worked over that region repeatedly, the enemy buildup has yet to be challenged.

—Despite official claims to the contrary, U.S. Marines along the demilitarized zone have suffered a number of deaths. No one has come up with a method to stop the almost daily showers of steel and explosives from North Vietnamese artillery, rockets and mortars based in and north of the DMZ.

The biggest rockets are 140mm, nearly six inches in diameter. Each weighs more than 90 pounds. A top U.S. spokesman dismissed reports of these rockets as mainly a propaganda stunt. Marines, who have suffered 8,000 casualties along the DMZ since the first of the year, disagree.

Star Dies

SCARLETT O'HARA, BLANCHE du BOIS

Vivien Leigh, Winner Of 2 Oscars, Dies Of TB

LONDON (AP) — Actress Vivien Leigh, who won an Oscar in 1939 and rose to international stardom by playing Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," died Saturday.

She won another Oscar 12 years later for her portrayal of neurotic Blanche du Bois in "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The 53-year-old actress was found dead in bed in her London apartment after a recurrence of tuberculosis, an illness which had dominated her life since 1945. She suffered frequent collapses and in 1960 lost a baby she was expecting shortly before her divorce from Sir Laurence Olivier.

Miss Leigh was stricken ill a month ago as she was to start rehearsals for the London stage production of Edward Albee's "A Delicate Balance."

She had a daughter by that marriage. Olivier, now married to actress Joan Plowright and himself under treatment for prostate cancer, visited his former wife's home for half an hour after her death was announced.

Slim, with a heart-shaped face and twinkling gray eyes, Miss Leigh aimed only at acting success.

Born in India of an English father and Irish mother, she left an English convent at 14 and studied drama in Germany and France. Miss Leigh was appearing on the London stage when she first read Margaret Mitchell's massive Civil War novel, "Gone With the Wind." She promised marriage: "She had a daughter by that marriage. Olivier, now married to actress Joan Plowright and himself under treatment for prostate cancer, visited his former wife's home for half an hour after her death was announced."

Then little-known Miss Leigh, who was in Hollywood on a two-week holiday, took a screen test and won the part.

She played opposite Clark Gable's Rhett Butler and the film went on to set box-office records for a generation. Miss Leigh received only $16,800 for her Oscar-winning role.

type units to three-bedroom, two-bath apartments. Cost is estimated from $80,000 to $1,000,000. Before the end of the month, the Washington office of GSA should approve the post office job, which will contribute another $772,900 to local construction.

The "Let Freedom Ring" program on Independence Day drew a substantially larger crowd than a year ago. With participants costumed for their colonial roles, the affair was well done. Credit goes to Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodd, director, and to the ABC club for helping finance it.

Starting with a round of Gospel singing this evening, there will be special activity at the City Park Amphitheater every night this week. Monday brings a change of pace with presentation of the delightful comedy, "Harvey," followed by a series of programs on different types of music the balance of the week. Starting time is 8:30 p.m.—don't miss it.

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative can now plan on serving a large number of additional customers during the next two years, and in beefing up its system in the six-county area it serves. A 1,222,000 loan to the cooperative by REA was announced last week.

Central American Airways Flying Services, Inc. was announced as the new contractor for the T-41 flying program at Howard County airport last week. Central had the first contract awarded, then lost in bidding to a group that went broke. The new contract is for $20.72 per flying hour for training Webb's fledgling pilots, or about $281,000 for the year.

This week Big Spring goes to an all-number system of telephone communication. This means the AM prefix is dropped, and instead there is a 26 (the same as AM). So nothing is really changed, just going back to numbers like it should have been all along.

Our neighboring city of Snyder last week took the wraps off an impending announcement of a new industry, southwest of there (mentioned in this column a number of weeks ago). The actual announcement is due prior to Sept. 1, and prospects are that this will employ some 220 people with a monthly payroll of $125,000. We rejoice with Snyder, for it will help the entire area.

One oil wildcat venture in northwest Glasscock County looked good last week—but not good enough. Apache No. 1 Powell had shows of gas and free oil in two drillstem tests from 7,990-8,006 and 7,990-8,032. But the porosity was considered too low for profitable production. The test was abandoned.

The rate of car collisions stepped up in Big Spring last week, and at least two persons were sent to the hospitals for treatment. Keep this up, and sooner or later we will have something more than injuries to report.

The oldsters may be taking to the rocking chair prematurely, for the traditional Big Spring Country Club Golf tournament was dominated by youth. Robb Smith captured the tournament. Several other young players made exceptionally good showings, so it may be hard for the veteran players to get a look-in if they don't watch out.

Bears Stroll Through Town

MOUNT JEWETT, Pa. (AP) — A big black bear and her two cubs took a stroll Friday through this western Pennsylvania town, frightening a number of residents. Mrs. Charles Bonini was in her garden when her 12-year-old daughter shouted, "Mother, there's a bear in our yard!" "And sure enough," said Mrs. Bonini, "there was this big bear standing there."

City Workers Calling In Sick In Wage Hassle

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sick calls poured in Saturday as municipal workers obviously protested failure to meet their demands on wages and other matters. Texas law prevents them from striking.

A union spokesman, Humberto Villalpando of the City, County and Municipal Employees Local 1996, estimated 350 to 400 garbage collectors, street cleaners and heavy equipment operators reported they were ill.

The workers scheduled a meeting for 1:30 p.m. Sunday and a spokesman said they hoped a representative of the city would be present.

Villalpando said the union members are asking a 25-cent an hour wage increase, a union dues checkoff, extension of a 30-day sick leave program to 60 or 90 days and a family insurance plan.

A union spokesman said that the garbage collectors had been able to obtain agreement on formation of a grievance committee and an offer of a 5 per cent pay hike, which would amount to about 7 or 8 cents an hour in most cases.

City Manager Jack Shelly said earlier that if workers called in sick "they had better be sick," adding, "if they aren't we will take appropriate action."

Officials at three service centers where the workers normally report said they were flooded with sick calls.

Divers Find Sunken Ship

LONDON (AP) — A team of navy divers has found a gold coin which may lead them to a sunken treasure hoard.

The coin, dated 1704 and believed to be Portuguese, was found in a wreck off the isles of Scilly, a treacherous sea lane which has claimed many ships—including the oil tanker Torrey Canyon this spring.

The British ship, Association, founded in thick fog in 1707 on its way home to Plymouth after more than two years abroad. Adm. Sir Cloudesley Shovell and 2,000 sailors died.

The warship was said to be carrying "great riches of the grandees of Spain," including 10 chests of gold coins.

The divers have seen more than 40 cannon on the seabed near the wreck and are trying to hoist one to the surface.

Lt. Cmdr. Jack Gayton, in charge of the expedition which has searched for Association for three years, said: "We think it is the admiral's flagship and the cannon number will prove it."

The cannon has an embossed crest with a number and maker's mark.

High Priest Of Masonry Visits Monday

Dean W. Turner, Henderson grand high priest of the Royal Arch Masons of Texas, will be honored by the local chapter here Monday when he makes his official visit here. Turner, a Henderson attorney, is spending two weeks on a tour of West Texas chapters. All 11 Royal Arch Masons are invited and all master Masons are urged to attend, said Ray Thomas, high priest. There will be a dinner served at 6:30 p.m. in the Masonic Hall at Third and Main, followed by the meeting at 7:30 p.m. Turner is to speak on "York Rite Master Masonry." Turner took his law degree from Baylor University in 1938 and has been a member of the firm of Bath & Turner in Henderson since 1946. His Masonic connections date back to 1936 and include numerous honors. He served as a worshipful master and later high priest in 1958, being ordained to the grand order of priesthood that same year. He served as deputy grand high priest in 1965. Turner also is a grand select master, holds the super excellent master degree, is a 32nd-degree Scottish Rite Mason, Knight Templar and member of the Hella Temple of the Shrine.

Some Areas Need Rain, Others Sun

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The overall Texas agricultural picture at the beginning of July is one of contrasts. There is a need for hot, dry weather over the South Plains and for moisture over the southern two-thirds of the state, said John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, last week. Livestock feeding is increasing and heavy rains of livestock through the markets are being noted, in the drier sections while pastures, ranges and grazing prospects improve in the more favored northern third of the state, he said. Crop conditions vary with the moisture situation and growing conditions but dryland grain sorghum yields have been cut from Central Texas south by the lack of moisture. The district Extension agricultural agents gave Hutchison these reports: Moisture in the Panhandle ranged from adequate to short. The wheat harvest is about 85 per cent complete in southern counties and 40 to 50 per cent complete in the northern half. About 90 per cent of the grain sorghum is planted. Some dryland is yet to be sowed. Ranges were listed as average to below. Hot, dry weather is needed over the South Plains where June rainfall set records. Except for small spots, mostly in Howard and Mitchell counties, moisture is adequate and it is time for the rains to stop. Cotton and other crops are making good progress. The onion harvest is in full swing, potatoes are being harvested and sugar beets and soybeans are doing well. Provided the weather permits, the cucumber harvest will start this week. Ranges are making excellent recovery, labor is short. Moisture ranging from showers to four inches hit parts of the Rolling Plains but half of the 22 counties are still short on moisture. Small grain harvest and cotton planting are complete except where moisture is still short, and grain sorghum plantings range from 75 to 90 per cent complete. Cotton stands are good. Fleahoppers, webworms, thrips and beetles are causing some trouble. Peaches are being harvested in a few counties. Light showers to heavy rains covered most of the North Central district. The overall moisture is good. Most crops are making good growth with some cotton being poisoned for thrip and boll weevil control. Farmers are plowing small grain stubble and baling hay. For the first time in 1967, adequate moisture was reported in Andrews, Culberson, Hudds, Pecos, Reagan, Reeves, Loving and Brewster-Jeff Davis counties in far West Texas. But moisture is still short in all other district counties. Ranges in the rainfall area are making excellent recovery but livestock conditions continue to range from poor to good. Irrigated crops are making good progress but cotton insects are increasing. Scattered showers and rains have helped but West Central Texas needs general rains. Cotton in some areas is making good growth, is getting started in others and some is yet to be planted. Grain sorghum ranges from the heading stage to not yet planted. Peanuts are looking good, but pastures are below average and livestock feeding is increasing. Heavy marketings of most types of livestock are taking place.

Docket Has Unique Angle

A criminal docket set for 11th District Court the week of July 17 has a unique feature in the number of defendants set for trial who are either indicted for habitual or repeater offenses.

Under Texas law an habitual offender convicted, draws an automatic life sentence. Repeater defendants, convicted of the charge, are automatically assessed the maximum penalty the law provides for the crime alleged. Wayne Burns, district attorney, Friday released a list of the five cases he hopes to dispose of during the week's docket. He said that Judge Ralph Caton has set the docket and will have a jury panel on hand July 17 to serve in the trial of the cases on hand. The docket lists: Morris Lester Madden, theft, habitual; Robert Jennings, burglary, habitual; Robert Villarreal, burglary, repeater; Aulton Vaughn, theft, repeater and Harry Tom Staples, DWI second. An habitual offender is one who has been convicted of a felony charge at least three times and a repeater is one who has been previously convicted of the same offense for which he is currently under indictment.

Remodeling Work Makes Progress Work is progressing satisfactorily on remodeling of the old library wing at Howard County Junior College. The interior has been ripped out and plates put down for the new partitions for several offices and new classrooms. Jones Construction is doing the work, which is to be completed the first week in September. Meantime, the maintenance force of the college has refurnished classrooms in the former science wings of the college, and has refurbished furnishings.

Double Eagle

Two young men, who did all their work in Troop 9 (Wesley Methodist Church) received their eagle badges at the troop court of honor Friday evening. They are Barney Gulley, now an explorer, (left) and Brian Mayes, Lester Goswick, who formerly served as their scoutmaster, presented the badges. Keeps Track Of RR Cars

WASHINGTON — The first computerized system to keep track of the country's entire fleet of 1,800,000 freight cars will be established by the Association of American Railroads, it has been announced by Thomas M. Goodfellow, association president. Called the TeleRail Automated Information Network (T.R.A.I.N.), the system, with its nationwide reach, is designed to serve as an effective means of dealing with localized freight car shortages. The result will be better service to shippers and greater utilization of freight cars in meeting the nation's growing transportation demands. TeleRail Central will provide the AAR Car Service Division with complete reports of car locations by railroads and car flows through principal rail gateways, and will permit more rapid mobilization of equipment to meet shipper needs for freight cars.

Champ Roper Competes In The National Contest

Johnny Middleton, 17, Texas state champion calf roper in the high school rodeo world, has but one short month left in which to get himself in shape to bid for the national championship.

JOHNNY MIDDLETON

The National High School Rodeo championship events are to be in Elko, Nev., the week of Aug. 1-6. Johnny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Middleton, Howard County ranching family, is currently a student of Toots Mansfield, the grand old master of the rodeo roping competition. Johnny won his state championship at Hallettsville in early June and now goes to Elko to compete for the national title against the champions of 21 states.

When he does his roping in the Elko arena, one of the spectators looking on will be a famous film great who in his movie career played many western roles. He is Joel McCrea, who lives in the Elko community and is a prominent rancher in the area. McCrea will be the preacher at a Sunday morning "in the saddle" church service Aug. 5. Middleton will leave here with the other champions from Texas in a special air conditioned bus furnished by a Texas moving van operator. The same man is supplying trailers to haul the horses of the Texas competitors to the national rodeo. Elko is preparing a gala week for the young rodeo riders and many special events are on tap. Mr. and Mrs. Middleton are leaving their ranch July 29, accompanied by Johnny's sister, Candy (who is a rodeo performer in her own right and winner of a silver buckle at a July 4 junior rodeo in Fort Sumner, N. M. Johnny will already be on his way at that time. His horse will have left for Nevada July 25.

German Military Roll-Back Catches U.S. By Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. strategists are surprised and displeased by West Germany's proposed large military cut-back. They plan a high-level diplomatic approach to Bonn aimed at forestalling any one-side West German force reduction without agreement among Washington officials said the U.S. view probably will be presented within a few days to the West German government — perhaps to Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger himself — by the ranking American diplomat at Bonn, Charge d'Affaires Martin J. Hillenbrand.

Sgt. Head Commended

M. Sgt. Rayford N. Head, first sergeant of headquarters squadron, Webb AFB, received the Air Force Commendation Medal last week for meritorious service in Southeast Asia.

The citation accompanying the award stated Sgt. Head distinguished himself as a non-commissioned officer in charge of the civilian pay and commercial services section while assigned to the 355th Combat Support Group from May 16 to Dec. 6, 1966.

During that period, he played a major role in the activation of the disbursing agent office. He made disbursements to foreign national employees and vendors for more than $1,500,000. He also established the effective methods of consolidating, reviewing reports, invoices, time and attendance reports, plus scheduling individuals for payments in such a manner that civilian pay and commercial services are "... now smooth, well coordinated operations."

A native of Rule, the sergeant grew up in Dallas. He is a veteran of 31 years service — 20 active duty — and began his military career with the 36th Infantry Division at Camp Bowie. He has been at Webb since January.

Europe, including the six U.S. divisions stationed in West Germany.

Publicly, the State Department's position is that the Germans should make no unilateral force cuts without consulting with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies. The question is expected to come up at a NATO defense planning council session in Paris later this month.

The German proposal also seems certain to set off another round of congressional calls for bringing more GIs home from Europe.

Last year, when Britain contemplated a sizable pullout of her forces from West Germany because of financial difficulties, the United States was instrumental in staying off what it feared could become a pell-mell unraveling of the European defense system.

After months of U.S.-British negotiations, the allies agreed last May on a modest force reduction accompanied by offsetting money arrangements. Britain was to withdraw one of her nine brigades and the United States, under a rotation plan, was to pull out about 35,000 men from its 225,000-man NATO contingent.

U.S. officials professed surprise that the Kiesinger government had not advised Washington before of the proposed military reductions.

And they privately voiced displeasure at Bonn's move in the face of years of American effort — often at German urging — to keep up allied strength in West

NONE OF THEM HAVE RECEIVED A SINGLE PENNY Billie Sol's Creditors Waiting

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — "I'll work it out to see that not a creditor loses one dime," said Billie Sol shortly after his farming-fertilizer-grain storage empire collapsed in 1962. Some creditors didn't believe Sol at the time, but those who did must be getting mighty disappointed.

NOT A PENNY
To date, 5½ years after Sol was forced into involuntary bankruptcy, none of the 47 creditors has received a penny. None will be paid soon, and it is becoming increasingly doubtful whether any ever will be.

Harry Moore, El Paso bank executive and trustee of the Sol estate, says the estate is worth about $7 million. Creditors say they are owed $38 million. So creditors would take a stunning loss even should the $7 million be parceled out today.

TAX CLAIM
But 446 of the creditors are between a rock and a hard place in the road: Not only do claims greatly exceed assets, but one of the 447 is the U.S. government, and it apparently has priority with its $11 million tax claim.

Aside from the dismal implications of the cold mathematics of the situation, some creditors are grumbling about how the estate is being managed by the trustee.

An Amarillo attorney representing creditors with claims totaling about $1.5 million says the delay in settling the bankrupt estate "is disappointing and disgusting."

STYMIED
"It is dissipating the assets and not equitably protecting the creditors' rights," the lawyer says. "The whole thing is stymied and they've sold everything and they've given no accounting."

"As far as the creditor is concerned, they (the administrators of the estate) haven't done anything for us."

An executive of an Amarillo company with a sizable claim against the estate says he's not sure whether anything will ever happen for the benefit of creditors.

EATEN UP
"I think the assets in the bankruptcy kitty will just be eaten up," he complains. "You can bet, though, that the trustee and the trustee's attorney will do all right."

Moore, a banker with the part-time job as trustee of the estate, says "The case is just kind of at a stalemate now... no one will be paid soon."

Moore says that the assets consist of $1.2 million in cash and approximately $5.75 million due from Morris Jaffe, a San Antonio businessman, who purchased the Sol properties.

Jaffe has 10 years in which to pay his indebtedness. Moore says that during the first five years Jaffe has paid approximately $1.2 million.

IMPOSSIBLE
Settlement of the estate "would be impossible as it stands now," says Moore. "We could not make distribution now."

The trustee says that a ruling is needed on the validity of the government's claim for taxes. The government claims that the money received by the former Pease promoter in the financing of his non-existent fertilizer tanks was income; attorneys for creditors claim that the money should have been considered loans, not income, and hence not subject to income tax.

Not only has there been no ruling on the government's claim but there has been no ruling by the referee in bankruptcy on any of the other 446 creditor claims during the five-year proceedings.

NO ACCOUNTING
Neither has there been an accounting of income and expenses from the operation of the estate.

Asked for a listing and total of all expenses used to administer the estate and for a listing of all income from properties which have been sold by the trustee, Moore replies "I don't have that figure."

Moore does not say what he has received in fees or what he expects to receive.

"I'm entitled to a fee, but that seems to be a gray area on which there are no experts available and I seem to be sailing in an uncharted sea," he says.

FRANCE, RUSSIA

Premiers Join In Demand For Troop Withdrawal

MOSCOW (AP) — The premiers of France and the Soviet Union joined Saturday in demands for withdrawals of American forces from Vietnam and Israeli forces from conquered Arab lands.

Premiers Alexei N. Kosygin of the Soviet Union and Georges Pompidou of France also declared in a joint communique that they had made "considerable progress in many fields" during their talks here, especially "in the political field."

Pompidou held separate talks with Kosygin and Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev at the end of a five-day visit.

The relatively restrained language of the communique appeared closer to the French position than the more rigid Soviet stand on international questions, but clearly showed the two countries were close on Vietnam and the Middle East.

On Vietnam the communique said "the governments of the Soviet Union and France are convinced that this war can be ended only through ending a foreign intervention in Vietnam. First of all through cessation of bombings." There was no specific mention of the United States but there was no doubt the United States was meant.

On the Middle East the communique said the two premiers "regret the failure of the U.N. General Assembly" to adopt resolutions calling for withdrawal of Israeli troops from conquered Arab territory and the failure in the U.N. Security Council to reach a political settlement in the area.

Clearly calling for an Israeli withdrawal, the communique said, "Any seizure of territory as a result of military actions cannot be regarded as an accomplished fact."

GI Bill Checks To Come Earlier

Checks for more than two hundred thousand veterans who will attend college next fall under the new GI Bill for Vietnam veterans will arrive about 10 days earlier each month because of an improved system adopted by the Veterans Administration.

Future checks will normally arrive about the 10th of the month, according to Jack Coker, manager of the VA regional office in Waco. Now a veteran who is attending a regular course at an approved college or university certifies his attendance at the beginning of the school year. Checks continue as long as he continues in regular attendance or until his eligibility expires. The additional certifications required are handled independently of the checks.

assigning its mortgage claims to the trustee "in order to facilitate the sale," Moore said. Asked about the rate of payment—$1.2 million in five years with $5.75 million still unpaid—McGregor said:

TURN BACK
"Unless something unforeseen happens, Jaffe may have to turn the assets back to the trustee, in which case Commercial Solvents would have to take over." And that would put the situation back to 1962.

Meanwhile, Billie Sol, now serving concurrent federal and state prison terms for his financial manipulations, will be eligible for parole in 1970.

And under the bankruptcy proceedings, Sol has been relieved of his debts and has, in the words of the federal law, "an opportunity to start again and to contribute to the business of life and the general welfare of society."

REGULATIONS
Federal regulations list receiver and trustee commissions which could provide Moore with about $140,000.

So far, the El Paso attorney for the trustee, Allen L. Poage, has been paid about $90,000 for his services.

Poage receives a $1,500-a-month fee plus allowances for office rent, stenography, telephone and supplies and could receive additional sums when the bankruptcy is closed.

"You can't work for five years without sustenance," Poage says. "Three-fourths of my time, I'd say, is spent on the Sol matter."

PART-TIME
The referee in bankruptcy, Malcolm McGregor, is a young attorney and former state representative who was appointed in March 1966 to the federal post on a part-time basis at a salary of $11,000 a year.

He succeeded J. C. Brooke, who retired after 18 years in the appointive post. Brooke went from part-time to full-time referee in bankruptcy and $17,000 a year "when the Sol business broke."

"NO"
Ask McGregor if the Sol bankruptcy has made any progress and he'll give you a direct answer "No."

McGregor alone will decide whether Uncle Sam's claim for taxes is valid though his ruling would be subject to appeal by either side all the way up to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Asked about the ruling, McGregor says any decision on the government's claim will come "within the next two or three weeks, unless the parties were to settle it, and we're exploring that possibility now."

But the ruling on the government's claim is not the only roadblock facing the other 446 creditors.

NEEDS PAYMENTS
McGregor says the bankrupt estate can't be settled until the Jaffe payments are in.

That would be another five years—if Jaffe completes his payments in that period.

Before the sale of Sol's properties in September 1962, Moore worked out an arrangement for Commercial Solvents Corp., largest creditor besides the government's tax claim, to receive about $3.7 million in return for equipment was signed with the Auerbach Corp. of Philadelphia, the department said.

The equipment will provide for the exchange of a wide range of information between city and state agencies, including job market and manpower data.

Once the first systems are developed and evaluated, others will be built for all states, the department said.

The announcement said the computers will handle "complete employment security data—applications, claims, job orders, tax data and management information."

In addition to making information more quickly available for filling job orders and training opportunities, the data processing systems will greatly reduce paper work in employment offices, the department said.

BURSITIS IS A PAINFUL AILMENT
In many cases bursitis is considered to be part of an arthritic tendency. A bursa is a little sac, often containing an oily like substance. It may be positioned under a muscle or a tendon and there it serves as a pulley.
When a bursa becomes inflamed it may fill up with calcium, (sometimes called "lime") salts, which can be easily seen with X-rays. In the early stages it cannot be seen with an X-ray examination. Usually two out of three cases can be quickly cleared by a couple of treatments with rays. Sometimes injections are needed. Quick medical examination and treatment usually saves much pain.

Predicts GOP Strength, State Income Tax Fight

By BECKY STARK
Possibilities of a state income tax and increasing Republican strength in Texas were the dominating points made by State Sen. Henry C. Grover Friday night in an address to local Republicans.

Grover told a crowd of 150 at the Howard County Junior College student union building that "Texas is part of a movement toward Republicanism in the South and West."

BORDERING

The senator pointed out that three of the four states bordering Texas — Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma — have Republican governors. Louisiana is the sole exception.

"The assassination of Kennedy set the movement back temporarily," said Grover, "and the only thing that is keeping Texas in the Democratic column today is President Johnson."

Part of the reason Republicanism in Texas should receive a shot in the arm during the next few years was explained by Grover through a detailed account of the last session of the legislature.

SURPLUS

"We entered the last session with a surplus of $140,000,000 in the general revenue fund," said Grover, adding that this was somewhat the opposite from the situation before the state sales tax. The only bill the legislature actually had to pass—the appropriations bill to keep state schools, institutions and welfare going—met with great difficulty, he said.

"Gov. Connally introduced $137,000,000 in new tax legislation similar to the other portions of his piecemeal, patchwork program," said Grover. When one of the tax bills got out of committee, he said the governor resorted to "typical federal government tactics" and managed to have $140,000,000 appropriated for one year instead of the two.

"This meant we would have to come up with new money when the second year rolled around," stated the senator. "By spending $140,000,000 in one year, we compound the problems faced by state finances."

FORMULA

Grover explained that most state spending is done on a formula basis. Each school and institution is given so much money per student and the allotment follows a normal increase and is raised each two years. During the last session the formula was raised by an excessive amount and as a result, the item will compound in the next year, he claimed.

"At the present time we will need at least $200,000,000 in new taxation a year — a special problem to be faced by the special session called by Connally to meet within the next year. The session alone will cost taxpayers $500,000."

More taxation is almost a dead certainty for Texas citizens as a result of the action of legislators during the last session, he explained, but the form of taxation is still open to debate.

Grover predicted the state sales tax would be increased from two to three per cent, bringing in an additional $141,000,000 each year.

SHORT

"Still we are $60,000,000 short even if there are no additional proposals, and I've never seen a session when there were not, especially under the present administration," he said.

The natural thing to ask is how the governor was able to get 181 members to go against the "spirit of the constitution and reverse tradition" by appropriating for the one year period, the speaker said.

In answering the question, Grover pointed out that Connally has tight control of the House of Representatives, while the Senate is divided into three factions — the liberals, those following Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and those behind Connally.

"Connally obtained a working majority by working with the liberals and was able to pass it through the senate. In the special session this same group will be his working majority, a fact of more significance than first thought."

INCOME TAX

The liberal element in Texas favors a state income tax, both personal and corporate, said Grover. Their strength in the senate is enough to kill an increase in the sales tax and bring them to the bargaining table with Connally. As a result, he warned there is a serious threat that a state income tax will result.

During a question-and-answer period following his talk, Grover based his opposition to the state income tax on three points: 1. The federal government takes a big enough bite; 2. If passed it would probably exempt everybody under $6,000 a year; a group with the largest number of votes; 3. Texas is rated first in the South and second in the nation in attracting new industry because it has neither corporate or personal income tax.

REASON

"The main reason I'm here tonight is to warn you and other people of the situation we face in the state," said Grover. "Keep an eye on the legislature during the special session."

servative — is slowly coming together," he said.

"Also, the conservative Democrats were being forced to pass liberal measures, and I could not go along with that."

Grover said that of the three divisions of the state Senate, he was in the Preston Smith faction, opposing the groups following Gov. John Connally and the liberal factions.

In a more general question and answer period, the senator commented on such topics as abolishing the death penalty in Texas. He said that he favored the death penalty and that he had voted against abolishing it all six years he served in the House.

OPPOSED

He also commented on the proposed annual session of the state legislature, and he also is opposed to that. "I do not believe that it is necessary to meet annually to take care of the state's problems," he said. "The problem lies in the internal struggles of the houses."

He touched lightly on the tax issue, the topic of his talk to local Republicans Friday night at the HJC Student Union Building.

"The topic of my speech, 'The Tax Bite Ahead' is an appeal to the state to consider the results of the annual budget the legislature passed in the last session."

There will be an inevitable tax increase which may result in a state income tax or a combined sales-income tax, he said.

REVIEW

He closed the conference with a review of his educational background, and past years of secondary teaching in history and government. He plans to teach college level American history and government in a Texas school. He will take a leave of absence every other spring for the legislative session.

PRESS CONFERENCE

Discusses Wide Range Of Topics

By BRENDA GREENE
Sen. Henry C. Grover, in an informal press conference Friday afternoon, said that Texas, along with most Southern and Western States, is going Republican.

He touched on many topics of interest to Texans — oil, redistricting, the state power structure — and elaborated extensively on his switch from the conservative Democratic to the Republican party in 1966.

The 46-year old senator served three terms in the state House of Representatives and was elected to the Senate in 1966 on the Republican ticket.

Judges Named For 4-H Horse Show

Jimmy Taylor, former Howard County farm agent, and Bill Gunter, horse specialist with Texas A&M College, will be judges at the District 2 4-H Club horse show to be staged at the Rodeo Bowl here Thursday.

At least 100 horses and riders from most of the 20 counties in the district are expected to be on hand. Deadline for entries for the show is today.

James Shelton, assistant county farm agent, said that Bill Gunter, district extension agent, will be on hand to direct the show. All of the participating counties had county shows earlier and selected the riders and animals to send to the district show. Howard County's show was June 28.

Showmanship judges are to be Bill Reagon, Stanton, and Charlie Green, Midland. Activities get under way attending; and barrel racing.

Construction Totals Show Sharp Drop

A total of 26 building permits for $75,889 were issued in June, the third lowest monthly total this year. Almost twice as much — $148,135 — was recorded in June of 1966.

Building and electrical permits, as well as the number of sewer and water taps, were down during the month and for the year's cumulative total.

The total for the first six months of building permits equaled $1,024,742, far below that of the same time last year when it amounted to $1,826,068.

The largest permit was issued to C. J. T. Enterprises to construct an addition to a business at 602 Main St. Estimated cost of the construction was listed at $25,000. Other permits issued for a sizable sum included Texaco, Inc., at IS 20 and SH 350 for an addition costing $11,500 and another to the same oil company for a station on US 87 north for a similar addition costing $11,500.

Robert Thomas obtained a permit for $7,000 to remodel his home at 1806 Johnson. Joe Ruppel acquired a permit for $6,000 to remodel his business at 1907 Birdwell Lane.

By category building permits issued for the month of June are: new residence and new commercial; none; additions, 14 permits, $57,766; remodeling, two permits, $13,000; signs, four permits, $2,180; moves, one permit, $150; reroofing, two permits, $400; demolish, one permit, $200; metal awning, two permits, $2,193.

Building permit fees collected during the month totaled $139; 47 inspections were made and there were no zoning board cases. Electrical permits totaled 46; plumbing permits, 14; gas permits, 17. Fees collected for the three were $257.40. Inspections totaled 130.

Five sewer taps totalling $212.50 and one water tap for $85 were also recorded.

Gov. Wallace Waits For Doctor's Verdict

HOUSTON (AP) — Still in buoyant spirits, Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama waited Saturday for the preliminary verdict of doctors testing her for a newfound cancer.

Specialists at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute said they hoped to complete the tests in time to make public a "summary of the findings" Sunday afternoon.

But the nation's only woman governor, 40, who thought she had won the fight against cancer 18 months ago when a tumor on the uterus was removed, still faces exploratory surgery before the full extent of the recurring malignancy can be known. Her doctors said they hoped to announce in the next medical bulletin at 3 p.m. (CDT) Sunday when the "surgical examination," as they called it, will be performed.

The daily report on Mrs. Wallace's condition was omitted Saturday.

Her husband, former Gov. George Wallace, said the stricken chief executive planned to "take it easy" over the weekend, resting and reading in her flower-filled hospital suite.

Security officers, flown here from Montgomery, Ala., kept a round-the-clock guard on the governor's suite from a room across the hall. It was equipped with special telephone facilities to maintain communications with Mrs. Wallace's office back home.

Friday's medical bulletin said the governor had permission to leave the hospital for "brief outings" if she chose. But Wallace said she had no such plans for the weekend.

Accompanied by her husband and their eldest daughter, Mrs. Wallace went to the Astrodome to watch her first major league baseball game Thursday night. With screaming Houston fans, she cheered as the Astros beat the Chicago Cubs.

The governor arrived Tuesday after her physicians had told her she had a recurrence of cancer. She brought her medical records with her to help the tumor specialists.

FIRST CHICK DIED

Whooper's Second Egg Watched

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Zoo staff hovered anxiously Saturday over Crip and Rosie hoping their second egg will hatch and the chick live after their first little bird died under its mother's wing.

Zoo director Fred Stark said the second egg could hatch momentarily and almost certainly by Monday.

The first chick was born Thursday, bringing elation to the zoo. No whooping crane had been born in captivity in five years.

Then despair followed Friday when the chick was found dead. Stark speculated that Rosie stepped on it or that it smothered. It will be sent to the Interior Department's wildlife refuge center in Baltimore, Md., Monday for further examination.

The eggs were laid two days apart last month. Experts had been trying for more than 10 years to mate Rosie but succeeded only after pairing her off with Crip last January. No new plans have been made for the second chick should it break from the shell.

"I don't really know what else we could do," Stark said. "We'll just do our best. There was nothing I wanted any more than for that chick to live."

The staff was prepared to whisk the egg to an incubator should Crip, whose paternal duties make him the No. 1 egg sitter, and Rosie abandon it, which sometimes happens.

The number of known whooping cranes in the world now is 57, of which 12 are captives.

There were only 14 in 1938 when a determined campaign to preserve the species started.

Both Crip and Rosie are wild. Each was found injured and taken to zoos. Rosie wound up in the San Antonio Zoo and Crip was in the New Orleans Zoo until he was brought here for the mating experiment.

Bailey Urges Internships

F. Lee Bailey, prominent Boston attorney, urged members of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association meeting in Dallas Thursday to spearhead a drive to require an internship for trial lawyers.

Speaking at a luncheon at the Statler Hilton, Bailey advocated an internship for every attorney, including at least one year of apprenticeship with a trial judge, before the attorney begins practicing in the courtroom.

"Our friends in medicine have the good sense to learn their skills on cadavers," the colorful Boston defense lawyer said, "but in the legal profession our beginners have to learn their skills on live persons whose life and liberty are in jeopardy."

The luncheon was attended by more than 600 attorneys. Bailey was introduced by John Watts, Odessa attorney, who is dean of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers.

Former Russian Premier Lives In Lonely Compound

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is described in a magazine as living "a sad and relatively lonely life" with his wife, Nina, in a seven-acre fenced compound 15 miles southwest of Moscow.

The description is given in a Parade magazine article, "What the Russians Have Done to Nikita Khrushchev," by editor Jess Gorkin. He says Khrushchev's "old comrades, including his proteges, avoid him like a plague."

Gorkin says he made his contact for the story some time ago through a Russian newsman, whom he did not identify. He did say it is not Alexei Adzubei, Khrushchev's son-in-law, as reported by some sources. Adzubei is the former editor of Izvestia who now has a lesser job on the Soviet publication.

The Parade article says the Khrushchevs' 10 or 12-bedroom country home is one of 10 in the compound, which has a guard-house protecting the entrance. Gorkin supplies this description of what he calls the 73-year-old Khrushchev's "life in limbo."

"Nikita and his wife are attended by two maids, two cooks, a gardener, two chauffeurs, all paid for by the state. As a pensioner, he receives 530 rubles — $600 — a month."

"Khrushchev lives a sad and relatively lonely life. He sees few people outside his immediate family. Occasionally an old friend will make an appointment to chat, but his many ex-colleagues, even though they live nearby, stay away from this political leper. The result is that Khrushchev spends much of his time taking long walks, a small transistor radio nestled comfortably in his left shoulder holster. To help fill his time, he has taken up photography. He does his own darkroom work, has developed into a fair amateur photographer. "Khrushchev's precipitous descent from the power pinnacle in 1964 traumatized him badly. For six months he moped about the house, an abject figure. He lost 32 pounds and his sense of humor. His downfall was so psychologically painful to him that today his wife, under no circumstances, will permit the subject to be broached in his presence. "Khrushchev's favorite American is the late President John F. Kennedy. The American who irritated him most was Norris Poulson, a former mayor of Los Angeles. When Khrushchev described how Poulson greeted him in 1953 and criticized him at a civic dinner, the old man scowled and his balneal reddens.

"For the gregarious Khrushchev, life in limbo has been torment. Even his neighbors in the compound, all lesser lights in the Soviet hierarchy, keep aloof from him. They felt awkward over what to say to the man who once towered over them. At most, they may engage briefly in small talk about the weather or local agriculture.

"Except for an occasional 30-minute drive to Moscow, he doesn't venture beyond a 25-mile radius, though free to travel anywhere in Russia."

The story information was gathered in conjunction with the National Broadcasting Co., which on Tuesday night will televise filmed scenes of Khrushchev, mainly around this country house. A taped interview with Khrushchev, NBC said, will be broadcast with the hour — 10 to 11 p.m. — documentary.

Priest Named In Bingo Charge

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest has been released in $500 bail after being charged with operating an illegal bingo game in his church parish.

Although bingo games are illegal in Pennsylvania, some local officials permit churches and nonprofit clubs and organizations to hold bingo games.

In Lehigh County, where Dist. Atty. George A. Joseph has set an unofficial limit on prizes of $20 in merchandise, Msgr. Thomas J. Doyle, rector of the Notre Dame Catholic Church, was charged Friday with conducting a lottery.

The warrant was sworn out by a man who was arrested on a lottery charge last February and later fined $300. It charged that Msgr. Doyle's bingo game of July 3 offered prizes of up to $255.

The complainant, Walter R. Kratzer of Allentown, had been arrested along with the Rev. Paul Pekarik of St. Anne's Church in nearby Emmaus, and Charles Sorrentino on a complaint signed by Emmaus Mayor Joseph Zeller, a member of St. Anne's Parish. It said St.

Anne's had offered cash prizes of up to $200.

Father Pekarik, Kratzer and Sorrentino were subsequently fined $300 each.

Msgr. Doyle's arrest was the second in the county forced by Kratzer. Mrs. Irene Richards of Allentown, president of the West End Cubes Playground Association in Emmaus, was arrested last month. Her case is pending.

Coahoma Audit Shows Balance Of $318,209

COAHOMA — The City of Coahoma shows assets of $318,209 according to the annual audit for the fiscal year ending March 31.

Mayor Joe T. Swinney, urged citizens to examine the report, or — see the city's books — at any time.

According to the statement of assets and liabilities (printed elsewhere in The Herald today), all funds of the city carried a balance of $36,981 at the end of the fiscal year. Of this, $19,018 was in the general fund, the remainder in special or debt retirement funds.

Capital assets were pegged at $280,078, of which the waterworks accounted for $102,932, water and street equipment $35,811, sewer system $90,084. Fire-fighting equipment, city hall, furnishings, buildings, paving, parks and land accounted for the balance.

The city's bonded debt at that time was $133,500 (plus $172.56 in a matured interest coupon), leaving the city with an equity of $184,537.

Chisholm Trail Items Issued

Roger Conger, Waco, chairman of the Texas Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission, announced that as part of the centennial celebration of the founding of the Chisholm Trail, two official commemorative items have been issued — a bronze medallion and a soft-bound edition of the "Miracle of the Chisholm Trail."

Conger said the items ($1 each) may be purchased from either the mobile Chisholm Trail museum now travelling the three states or from the Texas Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission. Their address is Post Office Box 12276, Austin, Texas 78753.

Lions Prexy

Jorge Bird of San Juan, Puerto Rico, was elected president of Lions International, which closed its Golden Anniversary convention Saturday in Chicago. One of the objectives of Bird is development of stronger friendships between North and South America during his year as president of the 835,000-member organization. Attending the convention from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Melcar, and Ludwig Grau.

State Board Turns Down An Appeal By Teacher

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education turned down an appeal Saturday by a San Antonio teacher who lost her job for refusing to be the home room teacher for pupils described by one board member as "barely housebroken."

The vote was 12-6 against Mrs. Geneva W. Owens, who was dismissed as an art teacher at Sidney Lanier High School March 10.

She said she would take her case to court. Mrs. Owens, a tall, big-boned woman with red-sandy hair and freckles, told the board she did not feel she was able to handle a home room class of seventh graders in the all-Latin school because of injuries she suffered in an auto-accident on Dec. 23, 1966.

She said she suffered a whiplash, a sprain and that arthritis in her back that was discovered after the accident had been aggravated.

"I knew what I could handle and what I could not handle," Mrs. Owens said. She had handled seventh graders before, she said, but it was a high IQ group, and the home room she was assigned to was "a low IQ" group. She said her doctor told her to avoid mental strain because of her dismissal by the school district, she said.

Later, when she tried to present the doctor's statement to the office of the state commissioner of education, she was not allowed to, she said.

Dear Abby Doesn't Like Kissing

DEAR ABBY: I think something is wrong with my husband. He hasn't kissed me since Jan. 10, 1964. That's the day we were married. I am 22 and Le Roy is 23, and we have two adorable children.

Everybody in our whole family knows about how Le Roy never kisses me, and it's just terrible. Yesterday I went to kiss him, and he turned his head away and said, "I don't kiss anybody."

His mother said, "Le Roy, your wife isn't just anybody." He shrugged his shoulders and said, "I just don't like to kiss, so sue me," and that was the end of it.

I keep myself immaculate, Abby, and my mouth is always clean, so that's not it. It doesn't seem natural for a married man not to want to kiss his own wife. I am almost at the end of my rope. I'll do anything you say. Please help me. UNKISSED

DEAR UNKISSED: Le Roy is the one who needs the help. He has a "hung up" on kissing. And until (and unless) he wants to overcome it, you will either have to learn how to live without Le Roy's kisses, or you may have to learn to live without Le Roy.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have been dating a certain young man a short while. I enjoy his company very much, and he seems to enjoy mine.

Recently I heard that he was engaged to another girl, so I asked him for the truth. He told me that he definitely was NOT engaged to anyone, and that he liked me very much.

I believed him. Now, again, I heard from a good friend that not only is he engaged, but he gave the girl a diamond last Christmas.

I don't want to date him if he is engaged because I don't want to start trouble, and besides I'd only be wasting my time. The problem is: Who should I believe? What should I do? TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell the young man that you heard he gave a girl a diamond last Christmas, and watch his reaction. It shouldn't be too difficult to learn the truth about an official engagement. Personally, I would believe a person until I caught him lying.

DEAR ABBY: It is very late but something is compelling me to write this letter.

After several years of marriage, and nearly as many miscarriages, my husband and I heard of a prospective unwed mother who was willing to give up her unborn baby.

We were thrilled, but didn't dare to get our hopes up just in case something went wrong. Well, everything went fine. We now feel that we lost our babies because God in His infinite wisdom was preparing us for the most precious gift of all — having a chosen child.

Abby, never have we known such happiness, such peace and harmony in our marriage.

As our son grows older we will tell him of his real mother's love for him. I doubt if I could have been as brave and unselfish as she was. Although I don't know his real mother personally, I pray for her. I pray that this letter may ease the burden of just one unwed mother's heart, for it expresses that which all adoptive parents feel.

A HAPPY MOTHER

Calf Tour Set July 22

Annual Howard County 4-H Club Calf Tour is set for Saturday, July 22.

Ten boys and girls of the county, all of whom are prominent in the feeding and showing of calves at stock shows over the state, will be hosts at their respective homes to the members of the tour.

Paul Gross, county farm agent, and James Shelton, assistant county agent, will direct the tour.

Gross said there are 30 steers being fed by 4-H Club members. Plans call for three stops to be made in the forenoon and the remainder during the afternoon.

The tour will be back in Big Spring at City Park for lunch on the day of the tour, then set out from the park on the afternoon leg.

The tour leaves from the Howard County Courthouse at 9:30 a.m. First stop will be at Robert O'Daniel's home. Marty and Iva Jo Brooks will be the second feeders to be visited, and Robert Haney will be third. After lunch, stops will be made to see the steers of Linda and Steve Foster, Mark and Maxwell Barr, Dolores Lankford and Mike McClain. The tour will end shortly before 4 p.m.

Forgotten Town Well Remembered

By ED SYERS

By way of rediscovering Texas together, I hope more of you will use OBT's swapshop to hunt our so-called forgotten towns. Fact is, somewhere ... somebody remembers well. And so often that now-gone community rates recall. Take Munger, sought here recently. Available record shows little.

First, Bryan's M. B. Horn and Waco's Mrs. W. D. Brown Jr. came up with vital statistics. Munger was northwest of Mexia, in the black farmland between Coolidge and Hubbard. Once it prospered with a school, a "teachery," two churches, a general store, filling station, blacksmith shop, depot and — most important — a gin for its sea of cotton. Now only the teachery stands, used for hay storage. The school closed in 1943-44.

FAMILY NAME

Then, from Hubbard's Curtis V. McClinton, we begin to sense what Munger gave to its four decades' time. Town name came from a family who operated some 2,000 acres of plantation before century turn, brought in several Norwegian families to work the rich land. One man, a Mr. Johanson, operated the gin and, an expert mechanic, he designed the first brush type unit: one, much faster than its airblown contemporaries.

It was patented, manufactured in Birmingham, Ala., as the Munger Gin Stand (later, the Continental). At one time, nearly all the gin stands were Mungers, and the family owned "about 100 gins in the nearby counties." The town grew up with railroad, about 1903.

How accurate is this recollection? Postmaster McClinton also ran Munger's store.

Finally, a different memory, from Elgin's Mrs. Mildred Connor Roemer: "My brother, Jack Connor, Rt. 1, lives directly across the highway from Munger. He is its closest resident now."

"In the '30s, when I was a little girl, I visited in summers with an Aunt and Uncle John Connor, near Munger. My cousins and I would take our afternoon naps with the understanding we could walk to the Munger store (Mc-Clinton's), and spend our nickel—which could buy several items in those days.

OVER A TRESTLE

"I enjoyed every part of each journey except my cousins' insistence that we walk the railroad track and across the trestle over the deep creek. Most of the time I just literally crawled across where they could stand up and step lively from one cross-tie to another. If the creek was dry and the grass wasn't too high, I just walked underneath. The gap of the old trestle brings it all back each time I drive that road today." Then, Mrs. Roemer gives little Munger its final salute.

"Near where the old town was, live the Frank Comers, whose daughter is well-known in TV and movies as Anjanette Comer. They fly back and forth to Hollywood to visit her."

Well, there's Munger. We talk of so many "Mungers" as "ghosts," when they live ... if we find the right memory. And most generally, it's a memory of real good things.

AND TWOHIG FOUND

Recently came a searcher with a merchandise "token" imprinted in Spanish for a store in "Twohig, Texas." Where was this town? Here are two succinct answers:

Crystal City's Andrew Dickens: "Twohig was located on the Raices Creek, about a mile and a half from the present town of Artesia Wells (US 81, between Cotulla and Encinal). Railroad forced relocation of Twohig to present Artesia Wells.

"The token was issued by M. C. McInnes Mercantile Store, whose customers mostly spoke Spanish. It was used in lieu of silver, often scarce there. My grandfather, William C. Dickens, operated Twohig's meat market and a great uncle, Ed McCoy, ranched near there."

There's yesterday. For today, hear Artesia Wells' Ezra F. Alderman: "I ranch and own land on the old Twohig townsite on the west side of the railroad between San Antonio and Laredo. I believe Twohig was named for a San Antonio hotelman."

TEGAS-TIGAS, TEXAS?

Bandera's Miss Marie Wood: "Can anyone provide information about the town Tegas or Tigas, Texas: its location and, if the name has been changed, what is it now?" (Note: Unless we're hunting El Paso country's white missions—Ysleta, Socorro and San Elizario—for the Tigua Indians, relocated 1680 from New Mexico's Pueblo Revolt, OBT draws a blank map; needs help anyhow.)

Write OBT, care of the Herald, or Ingram, Texas 78025. For personal reply, please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Johnny Peugh Wins First On Cotton Production

Johnny Peugh, 14-year-old member of the Knott 4-H Club, has been announced as the Area II winner as dry land 4-H cotton competition for 1966. Next Wednesday he will be presented with a cash award of $125 and a plaque to commemorate his achievement.

Johnny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh, Knott, was credited with producing 770.5 pounds of lint cotton in the competition last year—his production exceeding that of the second place winner by 155 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Peugh will go to Lubbock with Johnny Wednesday to see him receive his award. He has been a member of the Knott 4-H Club five years. He was winner in the county in field crops in the annual achievement awards and has been a leader of club activities of his community since his membership began.

His remarkable achievement in cotton production was an easy winner over the youngsters from all of the cotton counties in Area II. Paul Gross, county farm agent, is scheduled to go over the cotton production methods followed by the young farmer preliminary to the awards dinner.

Plains Co-Op mill puts up the prizes for these annual cotton contests and will be host to the winners, their parents, friends and relatives at a luncheon Wednesday. The program begins at 10:30 a.m.

Top winner in irrigated cotton was a Terry County youth, Monty Farrar, who produced 1,138.4 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

He did not have the wide margin of victory scored by Johnny. His second place competitor was Jim Miller, Gaines, who produced 1,085.5 pounds of lint to push Monty's record.

Howard County 4-H Club members have won honors before in the cotton contest, but not first place. Bruce Nichols was fourth place for 1966 and Kelly Gaskins won a second place for the 1965 competition. All three of these boys are members of the Knott 4-H Club.

Second to Peugh in the dry land cotton production this past season was Clifford Kitten, Lubbock. He had 615.6 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

Minor Mistake?

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet officials forgot one thing when they claimed Y.A. Levit missed work three days in a row and tried to fire him. The three days were Feb. 29, 30 and 31.

Levit, a school library worker, had no trouble winning his case before a court in the Soviet central Asian village of Urtskoye. He showed the court a calendar.

It was not a leap year, so there was no Feb. 29, let alone Feb. 30 or 31.

Swim Meet Here Will Lure Top Athletes

The fourth annual All-Trophy Invitational Swimming and Diving meet will be held here July 21-22 at the City Pool. The diving events will begin at 4 p.m. Friday, July 21 and the swimming competitions will commence at 8 a.m. the following day.

The meet will be sponsored jointly by the Big Spring Aquatic Club, the City of Big Spring, and the Big Spring YMCA.

The following cities will send representatives to this meet: Midland, Abilene, Arlington, Lubbock, San Angelo, Pampa, Anderson, Andrews, Sweetwater, Snyder, Odessa, Fort Worth (Panther Boys Club), Houston, and possibly San Antonio.

Headed under the auspices of the AAU, the meet will be sanctioned by this organization and will be governed by the current AAU Swimming Handbook. All swimmers will be seeded according to times.

All contestants must have either a YMCA or AAU registration number, and will be limited to three individual events—exclusive of relays and diving. There is no limit, however, on the number of swimmers a team may enter in individual or relay events.

Ages will be computed as of July 21, 1967, and under no conditions will swimmers be allowed to move up to other age groups. This includes moving up for the purpose of completing a relay.

The pool will be available to swimmers for warm-up from 6:30 to 7:30 a.m. Saturday, July 21.

An entry fee of 75 cents per contestant for each individual event and $2 per relay team will be charged. These fees must accompany the entry form, and if paid by checks, should be made payable to the Big Spring Aquatic Club. No refunds will be made for scratches.

All entries must be postmarked no later than midnight Saturday, July 14. It is urged that all information on the Official Entry Blanks be filled out correctly, since no changes will be permitted later.

For swimming awards, trophies will be given for first, second, and third places, while fourth through eighth places will receive ribbons in all individual events.

For all relay events, trophies will be awarded for first place only, with ribbons being given for second through eighth places. Rounding out the swimming awards, a first place team trophy will be awarded as well as high point individual trophies in each age group—boys and girls.

For diving awards, trophies for the first three place finishes will be awarded on block places. Rounding out the swimming awards, a first place team trophy will be awarded as well as high point individual trophies in each age group—boys and girls.

In the preliminaries, swimmers will be scratched on block such scratches, however, will not eliminate swimmers from other preliminary events, but swimmers who miss any final event will be scratched from all finals.

Age groups range from 10 and under through 15-17 and Open. Freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, individual medley, freestyle relay, and medley relay will be the events featured in groups 11-12 and over.

Bucs Vanquish Cincy's Reds By 6-1 Tally

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tommie Sisk scattered 10 hits and Willie Stargell keyed two Pittsburgh rallies with doubles as the Pirates whipped Cincinnati 6-1 Saturday.

Stargell's first double launched a two-run Pirate rally in the fourth and his second drove in Gene Alley in the fifth.

Manny Mota stroked three straight hits and Bill Mazeroski delivered a pair of sacrifice flies as Sisk won his seventh game in 13 decisions.

Mazeroski's first sacrifice fly and a two-out single by Donn Clendenon drove in two Pirate runs in the first against Cincinnati starter Gerry Arrigo.

Bruins Bomb Orioles, 14-6

Overcoming a two-run deficit in the second inning, the Cubs bombed the Orioles 14-6 in Sophomore League baseball action here Friday. The win upped the Bruins' mark to 8-3 on the year, while the Song Birds leveled off at 4-5 for the season.

For the losers, Oscar Del Bosque smashed a solo homer in the Bird half of the second inning, as did teammate Tom Brewer the very next go 'round. Despite their fine game work, Moses Flores was credited with the mound loss.

Sparking the Bruin 12-hit attack, Clay Thompson belted a circuit shot with mates aboard in the sixth, while Mark Powell slammed two triples to aid hurler Dave Carter with the win.

Indians Tip Sens, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lee Maye drew a bases-loaded, two out walk in the bottom of the 10th inning, forcing home Chico Salmon with the winning run as the Cleveland Indians nipped Washington 4-3 Saturday.

Salmon had walked with one out in the 10th and scooted to third on Joe Azcue's single. After Larry Brown was retired, reliever Casey Cox walked pinch hitter Fred Whitfield intentionally, loading the bases.

Then Cox walked Maye and Salmon trotted home with the winning run.

Frank Howard's 22nd home run of the year tied it for the Senators in the eighth.

Tony Horton had given the Indians the lead in the third with a bases-empty homer and Luis Tiant protected the margin until Howard connected.

Yanks Hang On To Edge Rebs

The Yankees, exploding early for three of their runs, defeated the Rebels, 4-3, in a Sophomore Teenage-league game here Friday.

Jeff Bartlett, on the hill for the Yanks, scattered five hits effectively.

Joe Chavez of the Rebs led all hitters with three blows.

Junior Fems Are Awaiting Meet

DALLAS (AP) — A field of 50 is expected for the third annual Texas State Junior Girls Golf Tournament at Las Colinas Country Club July 17-21.

Thirty-three girls 18-years and younger have already entered the tournament, which is sponsored by the Dallas Times Herald.

Two state courses will be decided—an over-all champion and a Sub-Junior champion. Girls 13 and under are eligible for the Sub-Junior title. Competition in the Sub-Junior is over the nine-hole route.

White Sox Shade Minnesota, 1 To 0

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy John pitched a brilliant three-hitter and Wayne Causey's ninth-inning sacrifice fly drove in the only run of the game as the Chicago White Sox blanked Minnesota 1-0 Saturday.

John allowed only three singles by Tony Oliva—two of them bloops—and hurled his fifth shutout of the season, raising his record to 8-5. He struck out four and walked three.

Causey's sacrifice fly pushed the winning run across against loser Jim Merritt, who dropped his first game after six victories.

Rookie Dick Kenworthy opened the ninth with a double. Jim Stewart ran for Kenworthy and Merritt walked Ken Berry intentionally. Ron Hansen moved the runners along with a sacrifice and then Charlie Bradford was intentionally walked, loading the bases.

Then Causey fled to Ted Uhlender and Stewart raced home after the catch.

Detroit Tigers Retain Momentum With Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain fired a four-hitter and set up Detroit's first run with a key single as the Detroit Tigers blanked the Boston Red Sox 2-0 Saturday.

It was the sixth straight victory for the second-place Tigers.

Boston has dropped four in a row.

The Tigers punched two of their five hits and pushed across an unearned run off Lee Stange in the third.

Rico Petrecci bootied Ray Oyler's grounder with one out. McLain singled and Lenny Green followed with a base hit, pushing Oyler around.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Can Touring Linksters Get Along Without PGA?

By TOMMY HART

If the San Francisco Giants continue to run on a flat wheel, don't be surprised if Herman Franks is replaced as manager by newly acquired Dick Groat, who eventually is going to make it as a big league skipper somewhere. . . . Did you know that three hours of golf for those who spurn the use of carts, is harder on feet than three hours of tennis? . . . Golfers play more slowly but they constantly walk on uneven surfaces and tennis get to rest occasionally. . . . Murry Bowden, who quarterbacked the Snyder Tigers against Big Spring last fall, likely will attend Dartmouth College this fall, where he would try out for the football team. . . . Frank Pulattie, the new high school tennis coach here, says he is now in a position to offer private tennis lessons. . . . He can be contacted by calling the fieldhouse (263-2271). . . . Sands High School likely will be favored in its own district basketball race again next season but much depends upon a boy who has never played a minute of varsity ball. . . . He is like Lewis, who at 6-1 will be the tallest member of the team. . . . Lettermen due back with the Ponies include 5-10 Kynn Maxwell, 5-11 Lance Hopper, 5-10 Larry Newcomer, 5-10 Claude Fryar and 5-6 Alfonso Calvio. . . . That tubercar Parnelli Jones drove in the last Indianapolis 500 wouldn't catch fire in a forest fire, they say. . . . Seven Notre Dame exes will play in this year's College All-Star football game at Chicago, compared to only one for the entire Southwest Conference. . . . Famed athletes Donnie Anderson, E. J. Holub, David Parks and Chuck Harrison all have something in common—none ever qualified for his degree at Texas Tech. . . . Radio pitcher Jim Baum, who has never wavered in his fidelity toward the recording, "Winchester Cathedral," probably doesn't know that the name of the wee kirk was changed because so many shotgun weddings were performed there. . . . Would you describe a modern executive as a man who talks golf in the office and business on the course? . . . Coach Spike Dykes of Big Spring didn't feel like he could spare the time but he took a few days off recently to be with his family on a holiday. . . . The annual coaching school is right around the corner for Spike and other coaches.

Gene Gibson, the Texas Tech basketball coach who visited here the other day, says that he and the Dallas pro basketball team owners never did get too serious in their discussions about the coaching job there—Gene set his price and the Dallas people didn't meet it. . . . Gibson also said that Bob Glover, the big Tech center who was dismissed from the Raider team, was pro material, in his estimation, had he completed his eligibility at the Lubbock school. . . . Incidentally, Gibson's Red Raiders have withdrawn from the rest of the Southwest Conference schools at the gate ever since they've been a member of the league. . . . More and more observers were siding with the club pros in the PGA's battle with the touring golfers in their titanic struggle for authority. . . . The working pros made the PGA the strong organization that it is and built the tour into the great money maker it is. . . . Some think the touring group would operate like a ship without a rudder if allowed to make its own decisions. . . . The club pros, through junior programs, have done more to popularize golf than the big-time players. . . . With club pros, members come first. . . . The success or failure of any golf club depends upon the pros' ability to cultivate and build the membership. . . . The touring pro, on the other hand, thinks only of himself—not an unforgivable sin but a fact that he must live with. . . . After the pros got famous and start having equipment manufactured in their own names, they are prone to take their business to a discount house or a mail order store rather than let the club pros merchandise their wares for them. . . . In that way, they become direct competitors to the club pros. . . . The big question remains in golfing circles: How many courses could the touring pros get access to without the help of the PGA and how many sponsors could they keep without the cooperation of the home pro? . . . Deserving O. W. Fells of Lamesa has been nominated as Basketball Coach of the Year by the Texas Sportswriters Association.

Coody, Patton Head Odessa Golf Field

ODESSA (AP)—A field of 100 teams, headed by defending champions Charles Coody of Fort Worth and amateur Richard Patton of Midland, will move out Thursday in the opening round of the 72-hole, $30,000 Odessa Pro-Amateur golf tournament.

Coody and Patton fashioned a 255 last year in winning, first place.

Sixty-seven teams have already been named and this will be filled out to 70 by Monday when qualifying is held for the remaining 30 places. One hundred teams will vie for the latter.

A $3,000 special pro-amateur is scheduled Tuesday.

Among the entries is the 1965 championship team of Babe Hiskney of Galena Park and Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur. They were runners-up last year. Also entered is a highly-rated duo of Miller Barber of San Antonio and Bill Halstead of Wichita Falls, while Rex Baxter of Houston gets John Farquhar of Amarillo as his partner. Farquhar was on the 1961 and 1964 championship teams.

Bruce Crampton, the Australian who stars on the PGA tour, will have Joe Denton of Dallas as his partner.

Singers Don Cherry and Dean Martin are entered and are expected to be crowd-pullers as they were last year.

Bill Martindale, Don January, Homero Blancas, Ernie Vossler, Butch Baird, Billy Maxwell, Rives McBee, Chris Blocker, Ray Floyd, Terry Dill, Don Massengale and Buster Cupt of the PGA tour and Earl Stewart, Lee Trevine, E. J. (Dutch) Har-ison, Randy Petri and Doug Higgins are other pros among the entries.

The tournament has increased its prize money by $10,000 and the pro on the first place team will win $7,500.

Publinx Play Is Upcoming

SEATTLE (AP) — A field of 150 amateur golfers, the pick of 2,847 from sectional play around the country, will tee off here next Wednesday in the four-day National Public Links Tournament.

The July 12-15 tourney, all medal play for the first time in Publinx history, will run 72 holes at the par 70, 6,329-yard Jefferson Park municipal course.

Many are coming early for practice rounds on the scenic rolling, wooded layout.

The defending champion, Monty Kaser of Wichita, Kan., won't be on hand. He turned professional late last year and is ineligible.

One of the top contenders is the 1966 runner-up, long-hitting Dave Ojala of Two Harbors, Minn.

The field of the pay-as-you-play golfers from the country's public courses will be pared to the low 60 and ties after 36 holes — one 18 Wednesday and another Thursday. The survivors will continue play Friday and Saturday with low scorer for the 72 holes jugging home a traveling trophy for the tourney's 42nd individual championship.

The team championship also will be decided in the first 36 holes. There are 29 teams entered, each composed of the three lowest scorers in a sectional qualifying round.

The team with the lowest aggregate score wins the Harding Cup, a traveling trophy put up by President Warren Harding, A Pittsburgh, Pa., team won it last year.

Club Slates Drill Class

The Big Spring Kennel Club will begin a series of conformation training classes, beginning Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the College Park Shopping Center.

Classes will be held each Tuesday night through July and August. Instructors will be Mrs. Becky Given, Odessa, and Mrs. Michael Specht, Midland. Mrs. Given is a breeder and exhibitor of German Shepherds, Welsh Corgis, Cocker and Great Danes. Mrs. Specht has several years experience, handling a total of some 21 different breeds of dogs.

Capt. Roy Linn, Big Spring Kennel Club president, extended an invitation to all area owners of pure-bred, AKC dogs who might be interested in obtaining instruction in how to show their dogs, to take advantage of these training sessions. All phases of ring procedure will be covered. These classes will offer local dog owners an excellent opportunity to gain valuable ring experience, prior to the Big Spring Kennel Club's second AKC plan "A" Sanctioned Match, tentatively set for Sept. 17, pending AKC approval.

Additional information can be obtained from Capt. Linn (AM 3-4490) or from Bruce Wright (AM 7-8276).

Everything Going These Days For Lippy, Stanky

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher and Eddie Stanky, Eddie Stanky and Leo Durocher. It's not exactly a song and dance act but the names strike a familiar tune, if less than old time terror in the hearts of umpires.

Currently, each is bent on guiding a Chicago team, to a major league pennant. And each claims to be unmelodramatic by long sabbaticals.

The two were main cogs in 1951 when the New York Giants completed the "Miracle of Coogan's Bluff" by defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers in a third game of a playoff on Bobby Thomson's famous "heard around the world homer."

Durocher was the manager of the Giants and Stanky was the scrapping, take charge Brat who asked and yielded no quarter.

Durocher and Stanky today are the guys who have the baseball world agog — after dismal comeback attempts last year.

Both had been absent from the managerial scene for a decade. Then suddenly, and surprisingly, Durocher was named manager of the Chicago Cubs following the 1965 campaign.

DUROCHER STANKY

Lindy McDaniel to get Randy Hundley and Bill Hands. Philadelphia wanted a shot at the pennant with proven starters. We gave them Larry Jackson and Bob Buhl to get Ferguson Jenkins and Adolfo Phillips."

How much have they contributed toward Cub success? "Don't ask ridiculous questions," says Durocher. "Just check the records."

Stanky ran into a different situation. "I inherited a knowledgeable ball club. The important difference is my coaches are getting their instructions through to the players this year."

Stanky didn't elaborate that he got rid of the coaching staff willed him by Lopez and now has his own choice of lieutenants.

Stanky also made some trades, not so much for gain but rather to rid himself of disrupting influences.

"I don't believe in personality conflicts," says Stanky. "Even if a manager doesn't like a player but the player can bunt, then you use the guy who can do that. Let's say I don't believe in keeping players around who tempt you to use them when fifth as first."

you're trying to break in kids." Durocher is proud of the deals which have helped the Cubs. But he's happier when he explains in vivid detail victories set up because noted sluggers like Ron Santo and Ernie Banks successfully hit behind the runner to advance men into scoring position.

"I don't believe in safety-first baseball," says Durocher. "I want them to bunt, steal, squeeze. I'm not going to sit around and wait for a guy to hit a home run."

"I don't believe in safety-first baseball," says Stanky, whose light-hitting Sox have to bleed for every run, "but I'd sure like to have five or six guys in my line-up who can hit home runs."

There's a lot of Durocher style in Stanky's tactics.

"I learned offense from Leo," says Stanky. "Attack, offense, gamble. But I learned defense in the minor leagues from Milt Stock. Yes, I married his daughter. But when I say defense I'm talking about baseball. Without a good defense, the Sox could just as well be fifth as first."

MEET MR. GRAY FRANCOLIN He's one of 96 new Howard County residents

Look Out For Francolin Family — It's New Here

By SAM BLACKBURN Howard County has 96 brand new residents — members of the Gray Francolin family, whose ancestors hailed from the north African and south Asian wastelands.

If you should be around Moss Creek Lake dam and sight an odd looking grayish bird trotting around on the ground, be advised he is not an oversized bob white (which he somewhat resembles) but is, as the encyclopedia puts it, "a small partridge" whose official name is Gray Francolin.

Royis Tucker, state game warden, Thursday released 48 of these interesting birds just under the dam on the east side of Moss Creek Lake. He took 48 others and freed them on the Walker Bailey farm and in the area adjacent to that farm in the Lomax Community.

He hopes he can keep better track on these birds than on 204 which were released on the old Gular ranch, northwest of town, in October, 1966.

"We hope they are still there," observed Tucker. "There's heavy cover on the land and it's quite possible we haven't seen them because the grass and brush protects them. Nevertheless, no one has reported seeing a single one of 'em since Francolins free."

we let the 204 out of the crates." The Francolin looks like an oversized gray and black quail. In Pakistan and India, they are sometimes raised as fighters much as fighting cocks are in Latin-American countries.

If the birds should prove adaptable to this county and flourish, they will be an added game fowl for the nimrods of the future.

The 96 birds released here were hatched from eggs at the Tyler State Game Hatchery. They are about 11 weeks old and not quite full grown.

Their native habitat in Pakistan and Africa is said to resemble the terrain in these parts.

All of the 96 Francolins arrived safe and sound on their journey from Tyler and were all very much alive and healthy when Tucker ripped open the light wooden crates and released them.

The 48 on the Moss Creek Lake property will be protected from hunters and should do well since there is an abundance of water and feed available.

El Pasoan Bids For Mace Lead

By The Associated Press Willie Crawford, Albuquerque outfielder, lost 27 points by getting only one hit in 20 times at bat last week, but he still retained the Texas League lead, although it has grown mighty short.

Batting .336, Crawford leads Lee Rodriguez of El Paso by only six points as the league race rolls toward its two-thirds mark.

Rodriguez is batting .330 and also is a multiple individual leader. He tops in hits with 95 and total bases with 160.

Bull Watson of Amarillo leads in runs with 59, Joe Hague of Arkansas in doubles with 21 and Mel Corbo of Albuquerque in triples with nine.

The home run race is a standoff, with Nate Colbert of Amarillo and Adrian Garrett of Austin tied with 20 each.

White On Staff DENTON (AP) — Bill White, former Texas Wesleyan basketball star who has coached the past four years in junior high school ranks, has been named assistant basketball coach of North Texas State.

Third In PeeWee League

Pictured here are members of the Phillips 66 Truck Stop team, which finished third in the National PeeWee League. The circuit recently wound up its 1967 season of activity. First row, from the left, they are Chip Whitten, Gary Don Weeks, Darrell Nichols, Gary Wilkerson, Bryan Ferrell and Hank Adams. Second row, Chris Hundley, Brad

OPERATIC HUMOR of Mennatti's "The Telephone" will be a topper of Tuesday evening's Starlite Special when Mrs. Don Brinegar, far right, and Van Hale, standing, sing the charming skit. They will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. David Garrett and Lynn Puckett, left, will assist in the production. The "Sweetwaterettes" will also appear during the evening's program.

WESTERN ENTERTAINMENT will be the feature of the Saturday night show which will spotlight Western bands and other acts. Shown here are the "Western Royals" one of the bands that will be on stage. Musicians shown are from left, Dale Myrick, Mrs. Dale Myrick, Olan Haddock, Vandoyl Murphree, Mrs. A. C. Jensen and A. C. "Pete" Jensen, the leader of the band.

FOLK DANCES FROM Latin America will be presented in the big Tuesday evening show by this group of youngsters from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. In the foreground are Arthur Arsiago and Peggy Hernandez. Backing them are from left, Joe Puga, Sandy Rubio, Patsy Rubio, Rosie Parodiez, Margie Trevenio and Rudy Puga.

CULTURAL AFFAIRS Committee members who are promoting the "Starlite Specials" are shown as they planned for the week-long entertainment feature. From left they are Mrs. Dan Bailey, Mrs. Donald Van Meter, (standing), Mrs. Harold Davis, committee chairman, Mrs. Thomas J. Rowland, Dan Shockey and Joe Dunn.

LEADOFF PROGRAM of the "Week in the Park Starlite Specials" will be the Community Church Singing under the chairmanship of Joe Dunn who is shown in a typical pose for leading people of the city and area in singing at tonight's event. The City Park Amphitheatre will be the setting for the special activity. For this opening affair there will be no admission charge. All programs begin at 8:30 p.m.

ELWOOD'S PRIVATE POOKAH and Elwood P. Dowd, played by Steve Copton, will be seen in the Monday night performance of "Harvey." Members of the Summer Drama Group of Big Spring High School will present the comedy under direction of Dan Shockey. A 25c charge for adults and students will begin with this program; pre-schoolers will be admitted free of charge.

'Starlite Special' Opening Tonight At Amphitheater

There is entertainment planned for all ages and all preferences this week at the "Starlite Special" to be performed on the big stage at the Big Spring City Park Amphitheater beginning tonight.

The week of entertainment has been planned by the activities committee of the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce whose chairman is Mrs. Harold Davis. Mrs. Larson Lloyd and Van Hale are cosponsors of the activities committee.

Programs will begin at 8:30 each evening beginning tonight with the big Community Church Singing under the chairmanship of Joe Dunn who will lead off the weeks activities. Church choirs from First Methodist, First Baptist Youth, Birdwell Lane Baptist, Berea Baptist, Trinity Baptist and Mt. Bethel Baptist will participate. There will also be trios, duets, and quartets from many other churches.

Programs are scheduled each night this week with the exception of Wednesday. A nominal charge of 25 cents for adults and students will be made for all offerings after tonight's opening; no charge for preschoolers.

A free-will offering will be taken tonight. The proceeds will be used to defray expenses of production.

CONCESSION STAND
A concession stand will be open beginning Monday evening at 8 p.m. and will close during the performances and open again at the intermission. From 19 clubs and other groups who responded to the invitation to operate the stand, five names were drawn by the committee headed by Mrs. Elbert Bouillon Jr. The names drawn and the nights they will operate are: Monday, Mu Zeta of Beta Sigma Phi; Tuesday, PBX; Thursday, Pythian Sisters; Friday, Boy Scout Troop No. 2; Saturday, Alpha Beta Omicron, Coahoma, Beta Sigma Phi. The other names will be placed on the waiting list in the event one of the other groups cannot operate on the night drawn for them.

Monday night's program will offer a contrast with the comedy presentation of the delightful "Harvey" by the Summer Drama Group of Big Spring High School under the direction of Dan Shockey. The play is the story of the giant rabbit, a pookah, that is the imaginary (or is it?) friend of one Elwood

P. Dowd, played by Steve Compton.

HUMOROUS SKIT

A humorous operatic skit, "The Telephone," by Mennotti is one of the highlights of the Tuesday evening offering and will be sung by Mrs. Don Brinegar and Van Hale with Mrs. David Garrett as their accompanist. The story concerns a boy attempting to propose to his girl by telephone before going on a trip but is constantly being interrupted by the ringing of the telephone. Lynn Pickett is providing the telephone ringing. Also included on this program are the popular "Sweetwaterettes" a baton-twirling group of some 30 young girls from Sweetwater who will offer special routines under the direction of Mrs. John Guest. There will also be folk dances by children from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church who are directed by Mrs. Ysa Mendosa.

Lovers of band music will want to be sure to attend the Thursday night performance when from 60 to 80 band members will play under the direction of Bill Bradley. The hour long program will include selections from such popular musical comedy hits as "The King and I," "South Pacific," and "Music Man." There will also be a number of stirring traditional band music.

TEENAGE NIGHT

Friday is Teenage Night and Mrs. Carolyn Shivers has coordinated a program that might be called "The Battle of the Bands." Bands popular with the youngsters will be on stage for the presentation that will be emceed by Jim Baum. Scheduled to play are "Just Us Four," "The Mercenaries" and others.

Saturday night the square dance clubs of Big Spring will be hosts for the big Western show and entertainment and Ace Ball will be master of ceremonies. Curtis Thompson will direct the evening's activities. Dance clubs from neighboring towns have been invited to join in the dancing.

Pete Jensen's "Western Royals" will be among the western bands to furnish music during the evening and a special group of youngsters from the Parkhill School will present a folk dance routine.

Alaska Given Boost By Former Resident

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Alaska's Chamber of Commerce will never have a better emissary than Mrs. Maude Stanger whose home is in Anchorage and who has made eight trips back to Colorado, New Mexico and Texas in the 16 years she has lived in the 49th state.

Big Spring holds a special interest for Mrs. Stanger who is now here visiting a cousin, Mrs. Pauline Petty. It was here that she was married to Howard Stanger at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. Mr. Moore. She came here in 1914 as Maude Ellis and worked four years in Leon Harris' dry goods store and had a room at Larmon's Hotel on the north side of town. Her second cousin, Mrs. Mamie Schubert, Mrs. Petty's mother, took her under her wing during her years here.

The Stangers were living in Eunice, N.M., when they decided to go to Alaska in 1951. She took passage on an airliner and he drove the pickup. The drive took him seven days. Although his plumbing business was successful after two years they realized the climate was too low for Mr. Stanger so the couple came back to Monument, Colo., where they lived until his death in 1957 of a heart attack.

Having acquired much property in Alaska, Mrs. Stanger went back to Anchorage to live and half of her family of four daughters and their families live there now. One is employed at Elmendorf AFB and the other lives at Soldotna. Two daughters are in New Mexico, one at Eunice and the other Los Alamos.

WINTERS ARE COLD

Although the weather in winter is cold Mrs. Stanger says it doesn't hurt like the Texas heat even though in the long winter months one is likely to get 'cabin fever'. But the summer-time, though short, is a wonderful time and the people enjoy the four hours of sunshine to the fullest. Then one can see to read in the twilight until midnight. Vegetables and flowers take on tremendous growth in a matter of days (one cabbage head weighed 60 pounds) but vine vegetables do not do well. Also the weather is too cool for pigs and chickens to flourish.

Wild animals are abundant and include moose, bear, deer, mountain goats and sheep. The moose are the most belligerent and are likely to come into the yards which necessitates close watch on young children at play.

Mrs. Stanger enjoys just about everything about Alaska. She likes to live there and recommends it as the ideal vacation spot particularly at Anchorage which is on the ocean side where people enjoy boating in the summer and ice skating and skiing in the winter. It is a hunter's and fisherman's paradise and when the dog racing time comes around in February people come from miles around, especially the Eskimos.

VACATION TIME

The Fourth of July is always a special vacation time and Mrs. Stanger and her family make some special trips on this occasion. One year the family spent the holiday with friends at their old homestead on which was a big log house with bunk beds made of logs upon which they slept in sleeping bags. In the morning the aroma from their hot cakes attracted many moose to the door.

On another July Fourth hill-day the family went to Hope, the oldest settlement in the state where the stores still display the wares in a most rustic fashion.

According to its good booster, Alaska is a free country in which to live. Wages are good (no one works for less than $1.20 an hour) and staples are pretty much the same price as in other states. However, until recently fruits and vegetables were extremely high; Mrs. Stanger has paid as high as 65 cents a pound for bananas. Now that several new stores have been built in the area, fruits and vegetables are being trucked over the recently completed highway and the prices are beginning to stabilize.

There are still numbers of people who pan gold in this land where the northern lights dance about during the fall days and the snow never melts on the high mountains. The rainy season comes in spring just in time to melt the snow and in the summer the ice breaks up in the big lakes and the rivers are flooded. The breakup is a big thing and this spring 3,000 tickets at $1 a ticket were sold to spectators.

FRONTIER COUNTRY

When the Stangers went to Alaska it was just after the 1951 earthquake and it was real frontier country. People moved in overnight for the wages offered the strikers area. Wages are still high. An oil company recently offered Mrs. Stanger's grandson $1,000 a month but he turned the job down as he would have to work on Sunday. Stores are open day and night and Sunday is a big shopping day. Even during the week it is hard to find a place to park.

Although the roads are kept open, driving automobiles is dangerous as there is a time when the snow and ice melts on the roads and then comes a sudden freezeover, causing numerous accidents from slick roads.

Mrs. Stanger noted that Alaska is a friendly new country where there are more women workers than men and that there is more wind in Alaska than in Texas. She enjoys the modern facilities and doesn't mind the cold as she feels the discomfort is overshadowed by the natural merits of country.

When she came back to New Mexico last Jan. 21, her plane schedule was interrupted as the airliner nosed into a snowbank. However, the flight was cleared by 11 p.m. and they arrived in Albuquerque at 1 p.m. Sounds like fast travel but there is a two and one-half hour time difference which boosts the travel time to five and one-half hours. But for the little lady who has loved ones in both places and who loves her home in Alaska, travel time between the two areas of these United States is well spent.

Wedding Solemnized In Church Sanctuary

Miss Judy L. Gillean and Stephen-Scott Blair were united in marriage before an altar graced with a sunburst arrangement of daisies and gladioli Saturday afternoon at the East Fourth Baptist Church.

Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra and basket arrangements of gladioli and greenery flanked the altar setting. Family pews were marked with satin ribbon and greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe L. Gillean, 1206 Lancaster, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Blair, 508 Dallas.

Miss Linda Lee served as organist and accompanied Miss Curlee Rogers as she sang, "Whither Thou Goest." Traditional wedding selections were played during the recessional and processional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a lace over crepe sheath dress designed with a lace jacket featuring a V-neckline and long fitted sleeves. The street-length dress was tied with a self bow at the neckline and scalloped hemline. Her bouffant lace veil fell from a headpiece encrusted with crystal and pearls. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of gardenias atop a white Bible.

Miss Jeanie Gillean served as her sister's maid of honor. She chose a street-length yellow crepe dress with white lace trim and carried a nosegay of daisies.

Emmett Kent Morgan of Ruidoso, N.M., was best man. Ushers were Thomas Goggan, San Antonio; Webb Baird, Paris; David Nisbet, Austin; and James Dalton, Thomas.

For traveling on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a white A-line skimmer with black patent accessories. She wore a gardenia corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 1200 Enfield Road in Austin.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is a graduate of Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos, and has been employed as a teacher at Brooke Elementary in Austin. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring Senior High School, Howard County Junior College and is attending the University of Law School in Austin. He will get his degree in January, 1968.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. Those in the receiving line were the bridal couple, her parents, his parents and the feminine attendants.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cutwork linen cloth and centered with three-branched candelabra holding yellow lapers. Bouquets of the bridal attendants were placed at either side of the candelabra, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature bridal figurines.

Miss Rebecca Blair, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Kent Morgan, Mrs. Edward Sampley, Mrs. Franklin Williamson, Mrs.

MRS. STEPHEN SCOTT BLAIR

Jerry Iden, Mrs. Tommy Vacek, and Mrs. David Flynn. Out-of-town guests attending were Mrs. Ora Hendrix, Commerce; Mrs. Scott Blair, Brownfield; Mrs. Delilah Hendrix, Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brownfield, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blair, Brownfield; Miss Barbara Blair, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hinds, Denton; Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Liles, Plains; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Fancy and Vivian, Lovington, N.M.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Norton of San Antonio.

Party Series Honors Miss Karen McGibbon

Parties for Miss Karen McGibbon, bride elect of Earl C. Smith Jr., continued through the past week with luncheons at Big Spring Country Club and an informal lemonade party.

Hostesses for a pink luncheon Thursday at the Big Spring Country Club-Gold Room were Mrs. Doris Chalk Cole, Mrs. Jordan Grooms of Brownfield, Mrs. Winifred Greenlees, Mrs. Jerry Hewett, Mrs. Catherine Granger of Lubbock and Mrs. Robert K. Wagner of San Francisco, Calif.

The large table was laid with a pink cloth and the floral arrangement of carnations ranged in shades of pale to deep pink. Pink carnation corsages were presented to Miss McGibbon and her mother, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon. The honoree wore a dark blue pinstriped shift with white collar and cuffs.

The hostesses gave Miss McGibbon a library of six cookbooks. Twenty-six friends were present.

MEXICAN MOTIF

A Mexican motif was used for luncheon decor July 1 when Mrs. Toots Mansfield and Mrs. Harvey Williamson were hostesses in the Gold Room of the Big Spring Country Club.

Gaily colored paper flowers filled the large bean pot at the head of the U-shaped table and small pots similarly filled were used to further decorate the table.

Guests brought recipes for Mexican-style food and the hostesses gave the honoree casserole dishes and bean pots in which to prepare the dishes.

Eleven were present for the affair including Miss Janet Ross of Baird.

LEMONADE PARTY

Mrs. James Duncan and her daughter, Miss Debbie Duncan, were hostesses for a clever lemonade party at their home, No. 6 Indian Ridge, June 29.

Fifty guests attended the in-

Repair Window Before Painting

Before painting your windows, carefully remove any loose putty and apply house paint primer to the wood recesses. After the new putty has been applied and dried, you're ready to paint. Use a 1 1/2-inch sash brush, starting with the members which divide the window glass. Next paint the frame and finally the trim, sill and apron.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

This wonderful time of the year, vacation time for someone, somewhere in every town and city in these United States and Big Spring is following the trend with at least a third of the population going or coming.

MR. and MRS. ADOLPH SWARTZ and their son, Andy Mike, sailed from New York Friday at 1 p.m. on the Queen Elizabeth for a six-weeks vacation in Europe. They will visit the British Isles and then visit cities of interest on the continent. They will make the return trip by air.

FRED and KELLY GREEN, sons of MR. and MRS. LAMAR GREEN, have returned from Camp Flaming Arrow near Kerrville where they spent two weeks. While they were in Kerrville, Mrs. Green and Susan spent a week in Corpus Christi.

MRS. DAWSON DEVINEY is in Taos, N. M., taking a summer workshop with Dr. Clarence Kincaid, a faculty member of the Texas Tech art department. Dr. Kincaid will complete his classes at Taos on July 15.

We'll miss the CHARLES McKASKLES who left Wednesday for Fort Worth where they will make their home. Mr. McKaskle is employed in the machine shop of General Dynamics.

MRS. SAM BROOKS and her children are visiting in the home of MAJ. and MR. RICHARD DAVIS. The Brookses are making their home in Dallas where he is a pilot for Braniff Airlines.

MR. and MRS. LONNIE COKE and their granddaughter, Shauna Henry, will return Wednesday from Glorieta, N. M., where they have been for several days.

MR. and MRS. WAYNE HENRY flew to Shamrock today to take their son, Greg, for a visit with his grandparents, MR. and MRS. WOODIE HENRY.

DR. JOHN KINROSS-WRIGHT of Houston was in town last week to get his children, Jade and John, who have been visiting their grandparents, MR. and MRS. JOHNNY LANE, 1604 Nolan St.

CAPT. and MRS. CLEVELAND PUCKETTE and their children, Steven and Linda, are now making their home in Colorado Springs, Colo., where Capt. Puckette has been assigned to the teaching staff of the Air Force Academy. He returned from Viet Nam in June where he had served a year as a fighter pilot. During his Southeast Asia tour Mrs. Puckette and the children made their home here with her parents, MR. and MRS. H. W. SMITH.

MRS. PAM HAMIL is expected to return today from Dallas where she has been since Thursday visiting friends and relatives. She has only recently returned from a flying trip to San Bernardino, Calif., where she was the guest of a cousin, Mrs. Estelle Mullet.

MISS KATHLEEN SOLDAN of El Paso accompanied her sister, Christine, plans to leave the forepart of the week for her home after a visit here in the home of her parents, MR. and MRS. PAUL SOLDAN. Miss Soldan, a Texas Western graduate, has recently returned from the Kappa Delta national convention in Pasadena, Calif., for which she served as pianist. She is serving her second term as president of the El Paso Alumnae Association of the Kappa Delta sorority.

MR. and MRS. A. S. WOODS and her brother, W. J. BIRDSONG, and his family of Memphis, Tenn., have returned from a three-week automobile trip through the western states. They toured Grand Canyon as they were on their way to Los Angeles where they visited in the home of Mrs. Woods' son, S. E. SLEDGE. Another son, W. D. SLEDGE and his family came down from Seattle, Wash., and joined the family gathering. His son, Steven, returned here with the Woodses. He also accompanied them on a trip to San Francisco, the Yosemite and Sequoia National parks.

MRS. EDNA RATCLIFF of Lexington, Ky., will return to her home today after visiting in the home of CAPT. and MRS. T. B. TOMPKINS, 119-B Kelly. Other visitors in the Tompkins home are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, July 9, 1967 3-C Tompkins of Corbin, Ky.

MRS. JAMES DURHAM of Tekin, Ill., is a guest in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, L.T. and MRS. VON BOECKMAN, 29-A Albrook.

Guests in the home of MRS. VIOLA YOUNGER, 2602 Carol, are her sister, MRS. H. E. CANTRELL and her niece, MISS LINDA JENKINS, both of Lincoln, Ark. They will be here until Tuesday when they will go to Amarillo to visit other relatives.

MRS. TERRY OLIVER TOTENHAM

Repeat Formal Vows In Marriage Service

Miss Carolyn Sue Lewis and Terry Oliver Tottenham of Austin exchanged formal wedding vows Friday evening in 14th and Main Street Church of Christ with Perry Cotham, minister, serving as officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lee Lewis, 2708 Rebecca, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Tottenham, Brenham.

The double ring ceremony was performed on the Golden Wedding anniversary of the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Box of Abilene. Vows were repeated before an altar graced by twin baskets of white bridal flowers, flanked by 15-branch candelabra and emerald palms.

Members of the a cappella choir sang the musical selections, "The Pledge," "This, Our Wedding Day," and "Be With Us Lord."

The father of the bride gave his daughter in marriage. She chose a gown of peau de soie re-embroidered with Alencon lace motifs and bridal pearls. The sculptured bodice was fashioned with delicate sleeves, and a Watteau train, re-embroidered with Alencon lace insets, complemented the controlled silhouette. Her circular headpiece was attached to a flowing veil of pure silk English illusion. She carried a testament arrangement of garlands of Stephanotis and a detachable white orchid.

Mrs. Charles Ray Cunningham of Seminole served as matron of honor.

Bridemaids were Miss Shirley McCrary, Miss Claudia Ann Richardson of Austin, and Miss Patricia Ann Tottenham of Brenham, sister of the bridegroom. All were attired in identical lime green A-line dresses of daisy lace. Their headpieces were of lime green headpieces trimmed in lime ribbons, and they carried daisy arm bouquets.

Donald Dale Barton of Austin was best man. Groomsman were Tommy Beard, and Wayne Parchman, both of Brenham; and James H. Bates, New Braunfels. Ushers were Lynn Warthan, Gerald Alexander and Paul Walker of Dallas.

Treva Jean Turner served as flower girl, and Kent Turner was the ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by Sammy Box and Fred Box, both of Abilene.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple will spend their wedding trip in Acapulco and Mexico City, Mexico. For traveling, Mrs. Tottenham chose a beige raw silk two-piece suit with bone accessories, and she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They will make their home in Austin.

The bride is a graduate of Howard County Junior College and of the University of Texas, where she was a secretary of the senior college in Pharmacy and sweetheart of College of Pharmacy. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pharmaceutical School where he was listed as an outstanding student at the University of Texas. He will enter law school in September.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College following the wedding. Those in the receiving line were the bridal couple, her parents, his parents, and the feminine attendants.

The refreshment table was laid with a floor-length cloth designed with two flounces of tulle over satin and bordered with Chantilly lace. The top of the cloth was swagged and caught with lace bells and satin ribbons. The wedding cake was three-tiered on separate columns and trimmed with a ruffle of tulle topped with miniature satin bells.

The bridegroom's table was laid with an oyster linen cutwork cloth and centered with a German chocolate cake. Mrs. Donald Dale Barton of Austin presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. James H. Bates, New Braunfels; Mrs. George McClaren, Dallas; and Miss Jeannell Lewis and Miss Dearene Lewis of Bridgeport.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodger, Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Lewis and family, Bridgeport; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Watkins, Dallas, Judge and Mrs. Odie Tomachetsky, Brenham; Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Tottenham, Bellville; Miss Lydia Tottenham, Austin; Mrs. James Considine, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Box and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Box, all of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jobe, Austin; and Roger Hernandez, El Paso.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Tottenham were hosts to the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at the Ramada Inn. Gifts were presented by the honored couple to their attendants. Approximately 35 attended.

Bold, splashy prints, Muumuu and patio dresses with sandals was the costume of the day at the July Hawaiian luncheon hosted by the Officer's Wives Club Thursday at the Officer's Club Mess, Webb Air Force Base. Classes 68-D and 68-E were in charge of arrangements.

Colorful paper crabs, flowers and leis decorated the walls and the tables, and torches burned brightly on stage leading toward the tables. A beaded curtain was used as a room divider, and the walls and ceilings were brightened with hanging flowers and monkey heads.

Mrs. D. R. Bruce and Mrs. J. A. Daily served as general luncheon chairmen. Mrs. J. S. Mayfield was the menu chairman, and Mrs. H. E. Carrington was decorations chairman. The invocation was offered by Mrs. John Hussy, and announcements were made by Mrs. R. J. Piland.

Mrs. Edwin A. Henningson presided, and Mrs. T. B. Tompkins welcomed the new members and bade farewell to those leaving to other stations. New members introduced were Mrs. T. J. Shaw, Gainesville, Fla., Class 68-H; Mrs. J. G. Caffey, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. P. C. Blackman, Quantico, Va.; Mrs. P. L. Chik, Denver, Colo., 68-E; Mrs. William Merrell, Lafayette, Ind., 68-H; Mrs. Earl C. Justus, Washington, D.C., 68-H; Mrs. William Dangoia, Smithers, W. Va., 68-H; Mrs. Edward C. Parker Jr., Mather AFB, Hospital; Mrs. William T. Hoadley, Mather AFB, Medical.

Also, Mrs. Philip L. French, Tinker AFB, 68-H; Mrs. John E. Scott, Tuscaloosa, Ala., 68-H; Mrs. Michael R. Gallagher, San Francisco, Calif., 68-H; Mrs. Charles E. Decker, Little Rock AFB, 68-G; Mrs. James D. Freeman, Odessa, 68-G; Mrs. Frank V. Fisher, McChord AFB, Wash., 68-C; Mrs. Robert DeFee, San Antonio, 68-G; Mrs. Ronald H. Brekke, Hill AFB, Utah, 68-G; Mrs. Jacob Gawelko, Clark AFB, Philippines, 68-H; and Mrs. William E. Boston, Malmstrom AFB, Montana, 68-H.

Farewells were said to those leaving on new assignments. They were Mrs. R. M. Bosker, Class A; Mrs. T. F. McGuire, Class A; Mrs. R. J. Niemotka, Class A and Mrs. K. L. Grandia, Class A. All are leaving for destinations unknown.

Prizes were won by Mrs. R. J. Formica, Mrs. J. C. Queebe, Mrs. H. T. Boe, Mrs. T. F. McGuire, Mrs. E. C. Casstevens, Mrs. D. W. Bell, Mrs. F. B. Dahl, Mrs. T. J. Reed, Mrs. J. F. Teiber, Mrs. J. R. Goebel, Mrs. S. A. Civonich, Mrs. J. R. Huestes, Mrs. W. N. Merrell and Mrs. R. A. Swanson.

Guests attending were Mrs. J. D. Durham, Mrs. Chuck Kaufmann, Mrs. B. E. Frankum, Mrs. E. A. Ratcliff and Mrs. Jim Lemons.

Two Are Installed At OES Meeting

Installation services were held for two officers at the recent meeting of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter No. 67, in the Masonic Hall.

Mrs. Albert Davis was the installing officer and Mrs. Pyrie Bradshaw was installing marshal for the ceremonies that seated Mrs. Orbin Dailey as associate conductress and Mrs. W. B. Grant as treasurer.

A. A. McKinney, worthy patron, called the meeting to order and introduced Orbin Dailey who is district deputy grand high priest of District 44, Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas.

Following the meeting a birthday party in the banquet room honored Mrs. C. E. Gressett.

Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. Florence Casey and Mrs. B. E. Haston, members of the refreshment committee, served punch and cake from the tea table that was covered with a pink taffeta cloth with net overlay. The pink decorated cake served as the centerpiece.

Miss Nancy Gay Journey, Lt. Gerry Harkrider Wed

The marriage of Miss Nancy Gay Journey and Lt. Gerry Goodhue Harkrider was solemnized Saturday at 8 p.m. in the First Methodist Church in Orange.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. David Journey of Orange and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harkrider of Forsan.

Dr. Cooper Waters, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony before the altar that was centered with a rainbow candelabra and a gold and white prie-dieu. Spirals of white candles, interspersed with emerald green palms completed the altar decor. Aisle candelabra marked the family pews.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. R. A. Ingram, organist, played a medley of nuptial music and accompanied Don Norris as he sang "Treat Me Not to Leave Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie fashioned with an Empress A-line design, worn under a full length bridal coat of Chantilly lace with a chapel-length train. The high fitted bodice with scalloped neckline and brief sleeves was accented with seed pearls and sequins. The bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a petal cap of lace with fabric bow trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a tussy-mussy bouquet of majestic daisies centered with a yellow-throated white cattleya orchid with green velvet streamers.

Mrs. C. Wayne Morris was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sarah Honea and Susie King of Galveston, Mrs. Trent Piper of Beaumont and Mrs. Natalie Foster of Houston served as bridesmaids. The attendants wore long frosted time gowns made with scooped necklines and high-rise waists. The bodices were of Alaskine and the crepe skirts were enhanced with detachable trains. The short veils were atached to matching tiaras and their flowers were nosegays of Margatite daisies.

Julie Journey of Houston, a niece of the bride, was dressed in yellow as she served as the junior bridesmaid.

Janet Journey of Houston, and Amy Fairchild, niece and cousin of the bride, wore flower girls and wore floor-length dresses of pale yellow organza over taffeta, with matching hair ribbons. They carried baskets of daisies.

Ringbearer was Richard Dale Morris.

Lt. Terry Harkrider of Forsan was his twin brother's best man. Candelighters and groomsmen were John Kirk and Gilbert Sousa of Galveston. Ushers were John B. Asbury of Big Spring and Mike Waters of Orange.

The bride attended Lamar College in Beaumont where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority. She graduated June 30 from the University of Texas Medical Branch School of Radiologic Technology in Galveston. Lt. Harkrider attended Sul Ross State College and is a graduate of the University of Texas Medical Branch of Physical Therapy in Galveston. He is in a commissioned corps of the United States Public Health Service and is stationed in New York City. The couple will reside at 26 Oliver Place, Staten Island, N. Y.

RECEPTION
Following the wedding a reception honored the bridal couple and their attendants. The affair was held in the church fellowship hall where refreshments were served from ornately decorated bride's and groom's tables.

For a wedding trip to points in West Texas, the bride wore a soft yellow crepe dress with white trim and accessories. Her flower was a white orchid.

REHEARSAL DINNER
Preceding the wedding rehearsal Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harkrider were hosts to a buffet dinner at 181 Azalea for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests. Included in the group were Mrs. R. G. Halden, grandmother of the bridegroom, of Fort Worth; Mrs. H. W. Firstbrook of Marfa; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Nichols, Fort Worth; and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blewett, Sweetwater.

Couple Is Married In Home Ceremony

MRS. RONALD RICHARD THOMPSON

Miss Lela Joyce Neill became the bride of Ronald Richard Thompson in a ceremony read Friday evening at 9 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Neill.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson.

The single ring service was read by Dan Clark of the Anderson Street Church of Christ before an archway of greenery and white roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length dress fashioned with a bodice of lace trimmed with seed pearls and the softly gathered skirt of white bridal satin was overlaid with tulle and lace. The shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Connie Thompson, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of pink made along empire lines.

Frank Hardy attended the groom as best man.

When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride wore a two-piece suit of beige and gold.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson graduated from Big Spring Senior High School. They will make their new home at 311 1/2 W. 4th St. He is employed by the Continental Oil Co.

RECEPTION

Miss Sandy Thompson registered guests as they joined in the reception following the ceremony. Mrs. Charles Armstrong and Mrs. Thomas Dignon served refreshments from the bride's table that was covered with a lace cloth and accented at either end with single white roses held in crystal vases.

The tiered white cake was decorated with confection white roses and topped with a miniature couple.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Derrell Womack, Brenda, Kenny and Rickie, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Johnson, Barbara, Wade and Dale, and L. W. Stevens all of Perryville, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thompson, Becky, Gary and Kelly of Waxahachie and Vicki Thompson of St. Peters, Mo.

Miss Jean Brown Feted At Gift Party

As a compliment to Miss Jean Brown, bride-elect of Don Schneider, a gift shower was held Thursday evening in Fellowship Hall of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Miss Brown was attired in a blue and yellow patsley tent dress and wore a white carnation corsage which was a gift from the hostesses who also presented her with an electric toaster and a stainless steel double boiler.

Hostesses were Mrs. Reba Lemons, Mrs. Billy Powell, Mrs. Roy Shaffer, Mrs. E. O. McNeese, Mrs. J. L. Swindell, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Paul Beasley, Mrs. Avery Deel, Mrs.

Ruth Hampton, Mrs. Lonnie Roney and Mrs. Jack Shaffer.

The refreshment table was laid with a yellow cloth with white net overlay and floor-length ruffled skirt. The centerpiece was a bridal couple standing under an archway entwined with yellow and white roses, lily-of-the-valley and greenery. The white cake was decorated with yellow confection roses and hearts with the names of the couple, "Jean and Don" inscribed on it.

Thirty-five friends attended the party.

The couple will be married on July 17 at Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Claude Craven officiating.

MRS. J. R. ASBURY

Office Orchid

Travel coordinating is the special job of Mrs. J. R. (Libby) Asbury as the secretary to Jack Gully, traffic manager for Cosden Oil and Chemical, and she loves it!

She didn't enter her job as a specialist on air travel coordinating but with the help of volumes on the subject and pictures to help identify, she has become very efficient.

Forsan Graduate

Mrs. Asbury graduated from Forsan High School and took secretarial courses at Howard County Junior College. She managed the Forsan Telephone Exchange until 1942 when the dial system was installed. She then became bookkeeper for Forsan Welding Service and Forsan Hardware. She began her tenure with Cosden in 1956 in the secretarial pool.

Libby served one year as secretary to A. V. Karcher who was secretary of the company. When he took his retirement she transferred to the traffic department.

She and her husband have lived on their four-acre place south of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church for the past three years. He has been district gauger for Cosden Pipe Line Co. for 27 years. Their son, John Jr., is in his junior year at Baylor University College of Medicine at Houston and their daughter is Mrs. S. C. Lagourney Jr., who with her husband and son, Stan, live here.

The Asburys are members of the Forsan Methodist Church. She is a charter member and past president of the Big Spring Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International). She is also a life member of the Parent-Teacher Association and was president of the Forsan P-TA for two years.

Hobbies

Away from the office, Mrs. Asbury likes to play with her grandson, read, go fishing, raise tropical fish, enjoy her dogs and do yardwork. She raises some flowers and nearly always has a few vegetables growing.

The attractive, gray-haired, gray-eyed secretary is personable proof that grandmothers make efficient as well as decorative Office Orchids in the modern business world.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE WANTS 'BEST EVIDENCE'

Birth Certificates Have Growing Importance

By SAM BLACKBURN
If you were born prior to 1903 in Texas, and if you haven't already done something about it, you probably have no birth certificate.

For that matter, if you happened to have been born even later than 1903, and your birth occurred in some of the lesser populated counties of this state, there is a good possibility that your birth may not be on record.

CONCERN

One thing is sure—if you were born in that era, the odds are you are looking with considerable concern to the relatively near future when you will be eligible to retire from your job and receive your retirement benefits from the Social Security System. For women, the earliest date for ordinary retirement under Social Security is 62; for men, 65 years.

One bit of evidence you will need when your retirement day comes around is proof of your age. However, although a lot of folk think differently, you do not necessarily have to have a birth certificate to prove your age. In fact, the Social Security office notes that a type of birth certificate which many older Texans have obtained called a Delayed Birth Certificate is eyed with only mild interest in the establishment of a person's age. There are other bits of evidence which are held to be better and more convincing.

CLEAR

One thing is quite clear, though, if you wish to retire under Social Security and claim your benefits. You must offer proof of your age. The agency states this must be "the best proof to be obtained." Until November, 1965, the agency had merely stipulated "the best proof readily available."

Here's the classification as defined by the Social Security Administration of the "best proof to be obtained":

1. The best evidence, if you can obtain it, is either (a) a birth certificate or hospital birth record established during the first few years of life or (b) a church baptismal record which shows the date of birth and was established during the first few years of life.
2. If these are not obtainable, records from the following sources may be acceptable, provided they show age or date of birth.

School, census, church, physician, midwife, Bible or other family record, insurance policy, marriage record, passport, employment, military files, delayed birth certificate, child's birth certificate showing parent's age, hospital treatment files, labor union, permit, license, poll tax receipt and so forth.

Note how far down in this list the delayed birth certificate appears. Such DBC can be obtained, but getting one isn't always easy. There is a maze of red tape involved and many good citizens, who feel they have to have such a certificate to qualify for Social Security benefits, sometimes give up in despair before completing the wearisome routine. And all of the time, according to Social Security officials here, a delayed birth certificate is not actually necessary.

CENSUS

With Social Security officials, a federal census search carries more weight than a DBC. A federal census search (if you are not in a big hurry) costs $4. If you are in a big hurry it costs $5.

A DBC costs you $4.50.

Even these searches are not really necessary, except in the case of persons who actually do not know how old they are or if their existing records show conflicting dates of birth. (This, incidentally, is not an unusual circumstance. A great many people are not certain of their real birth date.)

The average person, even though he may not have a birth certificate, should have no difficulty proving his age if he has access to his church, school, employment and insurance records.

Suppose, however, you do want a birth certificate and have none.

WRITE

Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, suggests if you were born after June 30, 1903, write the county clerk's office where you were born (we are assuming you are a Texan) and ask if your birth was registered. Give your full name, date and place of birth and both your parents' names. Ask for forms for filing for a delayed birth certificate.

If your birth was recorded, you will be so informed and a fee of $1.50 is charged for providing you with a certified copy. If you are not on the list you will get a handful of forms and detailed instructions on how to apply for a delayed birth certificate.

NOT SURE

Suppose you are not sure of the county where you were born. Write the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 E. 5th, Austin. Send your own name, the full name of your parents, and ask for a search of the records. The fee is $1.50.

However, if you were born before mid-1903, there's no use to bother the Austin bureau. Your birth is not on record, unless at some time since they completed a file and obtained a delayed certificate.

Get a Delayed Birth Certificate, if you so desire, but keep in mind, as the Social Security Administration points out, it is not the "best proof obtainable" of your age.

If you are nearing the retirement age, it would be well (1) to call on the office of the Social Security nearest you and talk to one of the case workers on just what you should do to insure prompt approval of your claim; (2) assemble where it will be handy, the insurance records, census search reports, church baptismal statistics and other data which you may need when the big day arrives and you retire.

SAVE WORRY

It will save you a lot of worry if you get all of these chores done ahead of time.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 9, 1967

SECTION D

EARLIER THAN IN SOME COUNTIES

First Here Was In 1903

Sixty-four years ago yesterday (July 8) the first birth certificate ever to be officially recorded in Howard County was issued to Mr. and Mrs. James Wilburn. It was for their son, born July 2, and, on the date the certificate was written, the child had not been christened.

The Texas legislature, at its session that year, had enacted a law specifying the registration of births — the first official step in maintaining official lists of births and deaths in the state.

DISCREPANCIES

Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, points out that some of the early records were kept by the city officials and some by the county. As a result there is often discrepancies in the books.

Because the state had not provided for the registration of births prior to 1903, thousands of Texans have difficulty in establishing proof of the date they were born.

This has been important throughout the years, but since 1930 has become increasingly so. Today, hundreds of Texans who were born prior to the establishment of birth registration must now establish their true age in order to benefit from the provisions of the Social Security law.

Retirement at 65 years or for women at 62 years is a matter of grave importance to thousands of older citizens and the proof of their age is a paramount issue to them.

EARLIER

Howard County, it may be added, began its registration of births earlier than many of its sister counties. Hence, persons born here in the early days of the registration law have a better chance of proof of birth than many of their fellows who were born in other Texas counties.

Counties in West Texas in the early 1900's were thinly populated and their country governmental machinery often rudimentary. As a result, even though the legislative act specified that registration of births begin in 1903, many counties were unable to set the system in operation until 1904 or even later.

One of the problems of providing date of birth arises from exactly the situation which prevailed in the case of the first birth recorded in this county. The child was merely listed as "not named," and, if he tried later to prove his birth date, he was faced with establishing that he was the particular child of his parents born on the date stipulated.

DOMINATES

The number of "not named" entries dominates the early birth records. The custom continues on into relatively recent years.

Mrs. Petty's records show that the first twins to be officially recorded as being born in this county were two little Latin-American girls born July 7, 1903 and registered in the county books on July 16. They were identified as Fermina and Ginalda Martinez, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Martinez. The recording of their births was credited to N. J. Phenix, whose address is given as Colorado City.

Howard County's first "single" child to be registered was the son of "Mr. and Mrs. Wooten." J. G. Wright filed the certificate. The baby was born on July 2 and, when the registration was entered July 10, 1903, he was still unnamed.

LEGITIMACY

The first legislative act providing for birth registration required that the records also show whether the baby was "legitimate" or "illegitimate." This has since been stricken from the requirements. Modern birth certificates make no reference to the legitimacy of the birth being recorded.

The first "illegitimate" child to be listed on the Howard County records was a white boy, whose birth was recorded on Sept. 24, 1904.

The clerks of those early days obviously disliked entering the term on their books. In the column where the legitimacy was noted, the usual form, where the child was unnamed parents, was "otherwise."

The interval July 8, 1903, through July 2, 1904, only 124 births were recorded in this county. In the year which followed, there were 137 entries.

Time have changed, Mrs. Petty points out. Last year, for example, her office recorded 933 births which was as many as the county showed in the first seven years of birth registration in the county's history. Nor was 1966 a particularly big year in births. In 1965, the total was 1,134. For the past decade and longer the average annual number of births has been in excess of a thousand.

The current year appears to be well on its way to being one of the larger years.

"In June," said Mrs. Petty, "we entered 104 births on the lists. This is within 20 of the year's total for that first year of births were registered in this county."

There is little difficulty in getting a copy of a birth certificate for any person who was born in relatively recent years.

HUNDREDS

The county clerk's office issues hundreds of certified birth certificate each year. The fee is only for a certified copy. Students in school need the copies and there is a grand rush at the office just ahead of the opening of school each fall.

Sixty years ago, the county clerk scrawled the entry about a birth across a page in a record book. Only the scantiest of information was incorporated.

Today, a birth certificate provides valuable statistical information which makes the task of establishing beyond debate the identity and date of birth.

A Devotional For The Day

(Pharaoh's daughter) called his name Moses; and she said, Because I drew him out of the water. (Exodus 2:10)
PRAYER: Draw me nearer to Thee, O God, that Thy spirit may rule in my heart. Draw me out of myself that with humbleness, compassion, and love I may serve Thee and others in Jesus' name. Amen.

Something Special This Week

Under the sponsorship of the cultural affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Starlight Specials will be presented at the City Park Amphitheatre each evening this week. There will be something to satisfy nearly all tastes — gospel singing, drama, operatic music, band concert, a battle of teenage bands, square dancing. The charge for these events is normal (only 25 cents for adults and students), just enough to help defray some of the expenses.

We hope that people in Big Spring and surrounding area will turn out in large numbers for these events. First of all, the programming is entertaining and pleasing. The series also will furnish a platform for talent — a place for seasoning, for applause, for stimulation and encouragement.

Certainly, the Starlight Specials will be making use of an excellent public facility which has had far, far too little use. The idea of the amphitheatre was brought over from Colorado City by the late Jimmie Greene when he became Chamber of Commerce manager here. He had promoted one in our neighboring city, where thousands turned out for weekly amateur programs. That same thing happened here, for in those depression days it was a costless way for an entire family to enjoy an evening. Most of the performers appeared for fun, but some got their start in the entertainment field on the old amateur night programs.

Most of all, and this is still probably most important, the amphitheatre programs proved good for the community. People came together in a relaxed atmosphere, got to know each other better and as a result, they worked better together.

A Bad, Bad Record

Texas' record of traffic deaths for the long July 4 holiday season was the worst ever. The national record was almost as grisly.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, was moved to righteous wrath by the state's tragic achievement. He called for stricter penalties for traffic law violators, pointing out that in nearly every instance, there was one or more infractions of the law involved in the fatal crashes.

He may have something there, and certainly this is worthy of consideration by every magistrate within the state. But before a penalty may be imposed, there must first be a charge.

And before there can be a charge, an officer must make a stop and issue a ticket.

Thus, it gets back to the element which is probably the most effective of all—the presence of law enforcement officers in sufficient volume as to make motorists more cautious. Most drivers give more thought to avoiding a ticket than they give to avoiding situations which may lead to serious or fatal accidents.

It might be an interesting study to try to achieve a saturation of officers, state and local, on highways over one holiday season. We might educate our people to the probability of getting caught as well as the possibility of getting killed.

David Lawrence Failure Of The United Nations

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union was reported in the headlines generally as having been "defeated" in the United Nations when its resolution endeavoring to blame the Israelis as the aggressors in the Middle East war was rejected by the U.N. General Assembly. But it was really the U.N. itself which suffered a severe defeat in the eyes of the world.

FOR THE international organization of which so much has been expected failed to face up to the real issue in the Middle East dispute. First it was essential that a verdict on the statement of the facts be submitted. Secondly, competent legal authorities should have been asked to state the obligations of each side under international law.

The world will not move toward more effective procedures to achieve peace until fact-finding in a disinterested way is accomplished. Principles then can be applied which have universal support. To try to settle a dispute between rivals otherwise means only that their respective allies will line up also on opposite sides and, in the end, a political verdict is rendered.

THE ISRAELI-ARAB quarrel could have been submitted to a fact-finding commission or a court of law in the first place to make an authoritative exposition of what had actually transpired. The threat to close the Gulf of Aden as well as the Suez Canal and the movement of Egyptian troops to ward the Israeli border were relevant factors prior to the firing of the first shots on June 5. Unless disputes of this kind are carefully analyzed and the truth is revealed to the whole world, the United Nations itself cannot make much progress in bringing about peace or in preventing wars.

IT IS A MATTER of regret that the United Nations has not conducted its activities in a way that could win widespread support. The spectacle of a variety of resolutions being introduced by partisan groups is not a creditable one and is not calculated to enhance the prestige of the United Nations.

Nor is the behavior of the Soviet government since the "cease-fire" likely to be regarded throughout the world as helping the cause of peace. The Soviets permitted their president, Nikolai Podgorny, to visit the Arab states and to promise more military aid. His mission has been construed as one that could incite further hostilities. The Soviet Union is portrayed as intent on assisting the Arab countries to re-open the war, rather than on finding a formula to encourage them to live in peace with adjacent peoples.

IT IS IMPORTANT for the non-belligerent countries to produce an atmosphere of reconciliation and peace. When the heads of governments ignore the need for bringing the contending countries together and instead contribute to a continuance of bitter feeling, there can be little hope that the United Nations will take constructive steps.

The United Nations is only as strong as its most powerful members. As long as the political influence exercised by the large countries on the smaller states is centered on building factionalism and partisanship, the United Nations can hardly become the instrument of world peace which it was designed to be by its founders.

WHILE A LOT OF criticism is being directed at the U.N. because the organization has not been effective in the Mideast dispute, the real responsibility rests with the major powers. A phenomenal change could come if the men in the Kremlin began to take to heart the earnest words spoken to the Soviet premier by President Johnson at the two conferences held in Glassboro, New Jersey — to forego emotional differences and make a sincere effort to establish peace in the world by a process of reason.

Billy Graham

I find myself dwelling on me and my problems more and more. How can I get away from myself?

M. F. Fenelon once said: "Never let us be discouraged with ourselves. It is not when we are conscious of our faults that we are the most wicked; on the contrary, we are less so. We see by a brighter light; and let us remember for our consolation that we never perceive our sins until we begin to cure them."

Self-examination is all right if we do it constructively, instead of negatively. If you dwell on your problems, your weaknesses, you only compound your misery and plight. But if we think of what we might become by the grace of God, and set out to make improvement, self-contemplation can be a profitable exercise.

A sure sign of self-improvement is what you begin to think of others. A man said to me one day: "When I begin to feel sorry for myself, I hurry down across the tracks and try to bring a ray of sunshine to those who are much worse off than I. When I share myself, my goods, and my love with the poor and discouraged, I find my heart blessed and filled with gratitude to God."

A good prayer to pray is: "Lord, help me to live from day to day.

In such a self-forgetful way. That all I do, and all I say, Must needs be done for others."

The person who learns to live outside himself has found his real self.

HE HUFFED AND HE PUFFED—

Jack Lefler Ruling On AT&T Shakes Biggest Stock Family

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest stockholder family was jolted this past week when the Federal Communications Commission clamped a lid on American Telephone & Telegraph Co. profits.

The FCC, after a long investigation of the giant utility's financial structure, ordered AT&T to operate its interstate and foreign operations with a profit range of seven to 7.5 per cent. These operations account for about 25 per cent of the company's total revenues.

And the FCC ordered AT&T to cut its interstate rates by $120 million a year — about three per cent of its earnings from this source.

TO NEW LOW

The immediate impact was to send AT&T stock to a new 1967 low on the New York Stock Exchange on Thursday. The issue closed at $54.25 a share, off $1.50.

AT&T is the most widely held stock on the big board, with more than three million investors owning 539.6 million shares.

The stock has been under pressure since the FCC investigation was announced Oct. 27, 1965. On that date it sold at $66.87.

AT&T's profits on its interstate and foreign services have been running about eight per cent.

In 1966, AT&T earned $1.9 billion, or $3.69 a share. An investment analyst estimated that earnings would have been 12 cents a share lower if return on investment had been held to 7.25 per cent.

This analyst said the key factor is whether the FCC decision spreads to the regulatory commissions in the 50 states. If the states should adopt similar restrictions on operations within their borders, he said, the combined cuts could reduce AT&T's over-all earnings by an amount equal to 57 cents a share on 1966 earnings.

Auto Workers on new three-year contracts. The current agreement expires Sept. 6.

- FCC clamps lid on profits from foreign operations
- Stock dips $1.50; 51-cents cut in earnings predicted
- New car sales experience biggest week of the year
- Steel production turns to lowest level since 1965
- Heavy repayments slows consumer credit sharply

"DISAPPOINTING" AT&T called the order "most disappointing."

"If allowed to stand for the long pull," the company said, "this restriction on our earnings prospects would inevitably slow down our effort to provide constantly more and better communications service to the public."

It added that company officials were reviewing the order "to determine what steps we should take to obtain modifications of its restrictive provisions."

In the automobile industry, General Motors and Ford reported sales increases in June over a year earlier, but Chrysler showed a decline.

General Motors dealers sold 412,347 new cars, up 5.2 per cent from 381,593 in June, 1966. Ford's sales climbed to 279,097 last month from 256,280 a year earlier. Chrysler sales dipped to 124,466 from 125,280.

HIGHEST OF YEAR Production in June of 762,000 cars and 152,000 trucks, a total of 914,000, was the highest for any month this year. It compared with the year's previous monthly high of 906,481 in May.

Because of the Fourth of July holiday, output this past week dropped to 131,128 cars from 172,463 last week.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are scheduled to open talks Monday with the United

Around The Rim Be Sure To Get My Name Right

There's no denying that the very important, personal thing is a man's name. It's his and his alone, and he may not be able to claim the same for much else.

We in the public communications business have always known and are kept constantly aware that the worst tragedy committed is playing hob with somebody's name. If it's Schmick-eheimer, spelled with a "c" as the second letter, we had better not spell it Shnickelheimer. Mr. S. doesn't like it, and he can't be blamed.

BUT WOULD you believe that the big corporations are pretty jealous of their names, too — those which have obtained the status of trade-marks?

A federal law protects these trade-marks by granting them the dignity of a capital letter; and the owners are watchful to see that the capital is used.

It seems that in The Herald's issue of June 4 there appeared the usage of that popular drink, Coca-Cola. Somebody around here stubbed his toe in using the word, and it came out with a small "c," as in "coke."

YOU THINK this escaped notice? It did not. We get a letter about three weeks after the error appeared, written from the Coca-Cola Company's office in Atlanta, Ga., saying that we just shouldn't do this any more. Oh, it was a nice letter, and noted that newspapers rush to deadlines, and that writers and proof-readers sometimes forget that "Coke" is a registered trade-mark and is entitled to the same typographical treatment as a proper name. But—please watch it!

WELL, THIS is understandable.

Great companies have spent plenty of dough in building up their names, and want them protected. Many of them have become, like "Coke," such household words that the formality of a copyright doesn't occur to most people.

We get jugged by other trade-mark owners. Band-Aid is a copyrighted name, and won't do in talking about other competitive adhesives, and needs to be capitalized. So does Calgon, the water conditioner.

IF YOU SAY "Deepfreeze" you actually are not talking about any home freezer, but about the special product manufactured by Amara Refrigeration, Inc. "Frigidaire" is no word for all refrigerators; it's the one made by General Motors. You might want a box of tissue, and there are several good brands, but the name Kleenex belongs exclusively to the Kimberly-Clark Corporation. Some gals might think that Pan-Cake Make-up is a general term for beauty aids; it isn't. Pan-Cake is the trade-mark of Max Factor & Co. And the guy who buys jeans had better be knowing that when he says "Levi's" that these are the product solely of Levi Strauss & Co.

IT'S A TRIBUTE to good products and extensive advertising that trade-marks have gotten into the common vocabulary. I take it the manufacturers want us all to buy and use their products, but they also want us to know who owns what, and to say it with capital letters. Let's drink a Coke to it.

—BOB WHIPKEY

Art Buchwald High Living In The U.N.

WASHINGTON — As the United Nations gets larger, its member countries are becoming smaller and sometimes it's hard to recognize the name of a nation, much less to pronounce it. The other day I was in a restaurant in New York and I got to talking to a man who turned out to be the ambassador to the United Nations from Boleh Boleh, a speck of land located somewhere between the Indian Ocean and the Antarctic Sea.

"How many people in your country?" I asked him.

"I THINK about 2,000," he said. "I haven't been home for some time. My brother is the prime minister and I'm the ambassador to the United Nations. We tossed a coin for our jobs, and he lost."

"Then you like being ambassador to the United Nations?"

"I adore it. The General Assembly is air-conditioned, we get diplomatic immunity when it comes to parking, and if you get tired of listening to the speeches you can always tune in a transistor radio. Everyone thinks you're listening to the translation of a speaker."

"If you're such a small country, where do you get your funds to entertain?"

"I DON'T HAVE to do any entertaining. Everyone wants to entertain me. First the Russians take me to lunch, then Americans take me to dinner, the Arabs have me over for shish-kebab, and, I must say, they don't serve a bad breakfast at the Israeli delegation. If you get a good debate like this one, you can eat for months without picking up a check."

"The trick, of course, is never to tell them how you're going to vote. If you align yourself with one side or the other too early, you could starve to death."

"Then it's best to be neutral," I said.

"ABSOLUTELY, particularly, because the French are always wooing neutral countries, and you know what kind of a feed they can put on."

"People really make a fuss over you, then?"

"Why not? My vote is as important as Great Britain's in the General Assembly, and as long as they don't know which way you're going to go, they have to cater to you."

"How do you finally decide which way you're going to vote?"

"I SEND a wire back home and ask them what we need. If they cable back that we need a dam, then I inform the Soviet bloc and the United States bloc, and I let them bid on it. The highest bidder gets the job and my vote."

"That's one way of getting a dam built," I said.

"This doesn't happen every day. We really get most of our aid during an emergency session of the General Assembly. You can't get a ton of wheat during a regular session or, for that matter, a cup of coffee."

"I NOTICE you're eating alone now. Does that mean no one is taking you to dinner tonight?"

"Not exactly. I'm eating alone, but the bill is being sent to Red China. Although they're not a member of the U.N., they're so mad at the Soviet Union and the United States that they're trying to get me to abstain."

What Others Say

Within the past week we wrote in these columns that "despite its failures and fumbling, democracy (in South Vietnam) continues to struggle and sprout."

The Constituent Assembly has demanded an end to censorship. And now comes the biggest news of all. Premier Ky has announced that he will not compete for the presidency.

To Your Good Health Problems Of The Nails-Finger And Toe

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My right thumb nail continues to crack down the middle. I have been taping it for weeks. The trouble began eight months ago, and now it is becoming painful. Have you a remedy? — A. Z.

No, sir, no definite remedy. These lengthwise fissures or cracks are usually due to an injury at the nail base or below the cuticle.

Once the split has started, it continues as the nail grows. Occasionally a colloidion (celluloid-like) material is used to fill the crack and prevent soreness. In your case, the pain could be from infection.

While there is no home remedy, there is good prospect that a dermatologist can help you — and if infection is starting, that should be treated promptly.

Dear Doctor: The nails of my big toes have turned white about half way down and have come loose from the flesh. What causes this? They don't exactly hurt but seem a little sore or irritated at times. Is there anything I can do? — MRS. B. W.

The whiteness could be due to the separation of the nails from nail beds. Injury or fungus infection can cause such a separation. Whiteness also can result from a faulty development of the keratin (hard) part of the material which makes up the nail substance. Usually, though, that occurs in fingernails rather than toenails.

Some conditions should send folks to the doctor immediately, and day by day I try to call attention to such matters. This nail problem, however, is one of the things which does not demand such urgency.

I would, however, make it a point to show these nails to the doctor on your next visit. He may well detect something that I cannot deduce from your letter, and be able to help the condition or tell you not to worry about it.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is quinidine? — MRS. D. W.

It is a derivative of cinchona bark, from which quinine also is obtained. Quinidine is used primarily for regulating certain disorders of heart rhythm.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 70 and have so much trouble with heartburn. Sometimes I can scarcely swallow.

Does diet have anything to do with this? One person tells me I have too much acid and another says I don't have enough. — B. R.

Heartburn is a pain that comes from many things — an ulcer, gall bladder disease, lack of sufficient flow of digestive juices, hiatal hernia, tension, sometimes faulty diet.

Guessing that it is "too much acid" or "not enough acid" is futile. Rather than asking your friends (or even asking me) how to combat heartburn, you must find out the cause in your case. That means going to your doctor for diagnosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 54 and still have my regular menstrual periods. My doctor tells me he doesn't know when I will stop. Could you give me more information about this? — MRS. P. K.

No, because there is so much variation in individuals. At 54 you can be sure that it won't be very long before periods cease, however. This is close to the upper age limit. But nobody can predict positively whether your menopause will come within a few months, or possibly within another year or so.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send in care of The Herald for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

MEN IN SERVICE

Lt. Col. Harris L. Moorhead Sr. has been decorated with the U.S. Air Force Combat Readiness Medal at Castle AFB, Calif. A B-52 Stratofortress instructor pilot, he was awarded the medal for four years of professional performance as a combat crew member with the Strategic Air Command, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force.

He served during World War II and is a veteran of the Korean War. He was commissioned through the aviation cadet program in 1944. His wife, Moselle, is the daughter of Mrs. Gladis Terral of Lamesa.

Radioman 2.C. Jack R. Piper, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Piper, 273 E. 29th St., Big Spring, is with the staff of Commander Amphibious Squadron Three aboard the attack transport ship USS George Clymer. He will take part in "Operation Beach Cabin," a series of three Battalion Landing Team amphibious exercises in Southern California. The exercises will involve several San Diego based naval ships and some 5,000 Marines in the 28th Marine Regiment.

Army Pvt. I.C. Gilbert A. Madrid, 20, son of Mrs. Maria A. Madrid, Colorado City, was assigned to the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam, June 17. Pvt. Madrid is assigned to headquarters Battery, 2nd Battalion of the division's 9th Artillery. He entered the Army in July, 1966 and was last stationed at Ft. Bliss.

Ship's Serviceman Seaman Robert L. Allen, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Allen, 1403 Austin St., and Electronics Technician 3.C. Haley H. Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Haynes, 800 W. 17th St., all of Big Spring, are serving aboard the Navy oiler USS Chemung with the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. His ship just completed a six-month overhaul period which made the more comfortable. Air conditioning and a new laundry were installed and the ship's store was enlarged. While in the Western Pacific, the Chemung will visit such ports as Kao-hsiung, Taiwan and Hong Kong.

Army Sgt. Robert E. Allen, 28, whose wife, Annie, lives at Bldg. 3, Ellis Homes, Big Spring, helped the 88th Transportation Company pass the one million mark in miles traveled on Vietnam roads June 18. The unit, which has on record 390,000 accident-free miles, is responsible for short hauls in direct support of troops near Pleiku. A squad leader, Sgt. Allen entered the Army in 1961 and was stationed at Ft. Hood, before arriving in Vietnam last August. He is a 1957 graduate of Lakeview High School, Big Spring. Before entering the Army, the sergeant was employed by Sears Roebuck and Company, Big Spring.

Capt. Thomas R. Pickle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pickle, 2803 Cactus Drive, has received the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Takhli Royal Tahl AFB, Thailand. He was decorated for meritorious service as an aircraft maintenance officer at Takhli. He was cited for his outstanding knowledge and ability which aided in the accomplishment of his unit's mission.

The captain is a member of the Pacific Air Forces which provides air power to maintain the U.S. defense posture in the Pacific and conducts air operations in Southeast Asia. He was commissioned in 1963 upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, Capt. Pickle attended Howard County Junior College and received his bachelor's degree in 1963 from Texas Technological College. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega.

96 Aged Draft Officials Axed

AUSTIN (AP)—Ninety-six of the present 674 Texas draft board members must step down because of new limits on age and years of service, state headquarters said today.

An amendment to the Selective Service Act prohibits draft board members from serving after they reach age 75 or after they have served more than 25 years.

Col. Morris Schwartz, state draft director, is advising all draft board members affected by the change.

Dog Visitation Rights Granted

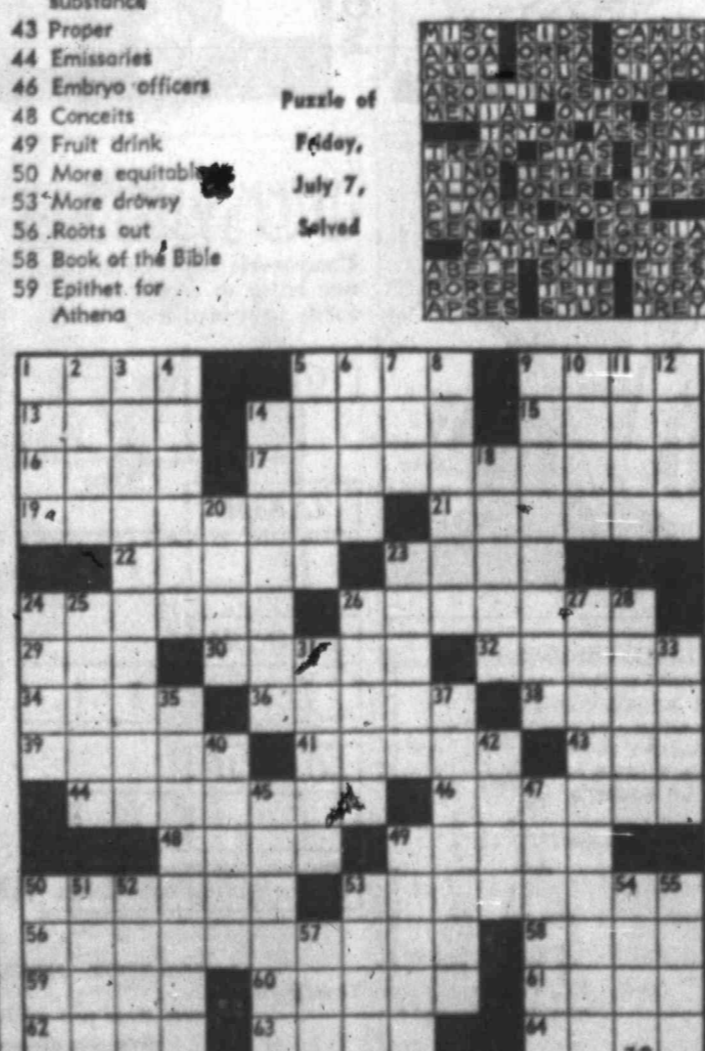

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A wife has been awarded custody of a cocker spaniel and dog visitation rights have been granted to the husband in a divorce case.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Clark had been childless.

Circuit Court Judge George D. Young ruled Thursday that Clark could visit the dog, Pepper, at reasonable times and must provide the animal with blankets and collar. Mrs. Clark must buy the dog licenses, he said.

THE ARTS

More Books On Art Given To Growing Library Shelf

By WINNIE UNGER

Howard County Public Library is well on its way to having an unusually wide selection of books on its "arts" shelf, thanks to the Big Spring Art Association. The library received six new books last week, costing up to $35 each. It will be difficult now for a local painter to excuse any poor work he does by begging "lack of art educational opportunities," for a little time and concentration with good books can take him far in most any direction.

"The History of Color in Painting" by Faber Birren is a most complete in-depth coverage of color theory, that of the Old Masters as well as modern psychological uses in abstract expressionism.

"Painting and Understanding Abstract Art" by Leonard Brooks will give a fresh viewpoint and maybe a little boost in a new direction to many who have become bored with conventional approaches to painting. This 142-page volume is being used in many college art departments to stimulate new creative ideas. It has an extensive coverage on methods of constructing colors.

"Picasso's Picassos," by David Douglas Duncan is a huge volume of beautifully reproduced color prints, with a few explanatory paragraphs to give a little more understanding of what the enigmatic Spaniard is trying to say with his sometimes terrifying compositions.

Also in the collection are "Sculpture of This Century" by Michel Seuphor, "Art Through the Ages," Helen Gardner; and "Drawing Lessons from the Great Masters," Robert Beverly Hale.

The Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang has booked the Ice Capades for Sept. 13-17 in the Ector County Coliseum, according to Charles McCarroll, business manager of the Gang.

Palo Duro Canyon's spectacular Pioneer Amphitheatre in Canyon is packing them in with the second season of "Texas," replete with pioneers, cowboys, drama, music, pageantry and dance. The performance begins nightly at 8:55 p.m., with tickets or information available from PO Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015. In the summer of 1966, 61,000 people attended the performances.

Big Spring is having an unusually busy week in the entertainment field this week. The hardworking, talented folks who are arranging the "Starlite Specials" in City Park deserve enthusiastic support from everyone.

Tammie Returns In New Film

The fun picture of the season comes to the Jet Theatre when "Tammy and the Millionaire," a feature-length hit from the TV show, opens Thursday. Debbie Watson is Tammy in the comedy which also co-stars Denver Pyle, Frank McGrath, George Furth, Donald Woods and Dorothy Green.

Debbie makes a lovable Tammy. She has a ball with the English language as Grandpappy spoke it; the dialogue is hilarious. And Tammy is enchanting as moonlight, warm as a sunbeam and funny as no young beautiful star has been funny before.

In his novels, "Tammy Out of Sight" and "Tammy Tell Me True," upon which the current feature-length hit is based, author Clid Ricketts Sumner put the first quaint words into Tammy's mouth, and George Tibbles wrote "Tammy and the Millionaire" for the screen. Sidney Miller, Ezra Stone and Leslie Gordon directed for producer Dick Wesson.

This marks the fourth screen adventure for the doll from the bayous. But, while the previous "Tammy and the Bachelor," "Tammy Tell Me True" and "Tammy and the Doctor" were made only for the feature motion picture screen, this one is unique in that it was made entirely from the successful TV show.

New Stars In Jet Feature

Three new young stars, plus a veteran of many Western films, co-star in the exciting outdoor action drama, "The Ride to Hangman's Tree," coming Thursday to the Jet Theatre.

Making their debut in the Technicolor western are blonde Melodie Johnson, as a music hall entertainer; James Farentino, as a bandit; and Don Galloway as a fellow outlaw. Familiar to outdoor action fans is co-star Jack Lord who portrays a reckless criminal.

The story, set during the time of California's hectic gold rush days, revolves around an outlaw trio who split after a big robbery. Farentino playing the loner who tries to go straight, falls back into his old ways and, as a masked bandit, leads a double life. x-pals Lord and Galloway stumble onto their old cronies and try to muscle in on his well-laid schemes to steal a big gold shipment, with romantic complications added by Miss Johnson.

The production in Metrocolor, directed by Robert Aldrich, has been filmed on a big scale with the large cast headed by Academy Award winners Lee Marvin and Ernest Borgnine and with each of the pivotal roles filled by a star. They comprise in alphabetical order, Charles Bronson, Jim Brown, John Cassavetes, Richard Jaeckel, George Kennedy, Trini Lopez, Ralph Meeker, Robert Ryan, Telly Savalas, Clint Walker and Robert Webber.

'THE DIRTY DOZEN' Lee Marvin and Ernest Borgnine

Unusual War Action Story Told

"The Dirty Dozen" unfolds a spellbinding and unforgettable story of a remarkable mission taking place behind enemy lines in France during World War II. But this is far more than a powerful and explosive drama of men and war. It is an inspiring story of the possibilities for depravity or decency in every man—and of redemption for even the worst.

Air Force Exhibit Set

An exhibit of over 40 original paintings from the 2,500 in the United States Air Force collection will be displayed at the new library of Howard County Junior College next week.

Paintings in this display were donated largely by artists from the Societies of Illustrators in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco who were flown to all parts of the world to record on canvas the contemporary life of the USAF. Over 750 paintings have been donated by this group in the past 10 years.

Some of the works in the collection hang regularly in the White House, the Pentagon, at the Air Force Academy in Colorado, and the Air Force Museum in Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

There is no admission charge to the exhibit which will be open to the public on the following schedule: Monday, 2-5 p.m. and 6:30-9 p.m.; Tuesday and Wednesday, 8 a.m.-12 noon, 1-5 p.m.; Thursday, 8 a.m.-12 noon, 1-5 p.m. and 6:30-9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m.-12 noon; Sunday, 1-4 p.m.

'LET'S KILL UNCLE' Curious story

Kids Are Far From Innocent

Who says children are "innocent?"

Whoever it was that started the idea or keeps it circulating has an argument coming from movie-maker William Castle, whose experience in dealing with evil in many successful pictures should qualify him as something of an authority in the field of innocence.

"Children," says Castle, "are many things — charming, cute, affectionate, lovable—but 'innocent' they are not! Webster defines 'innocence' as 'free from evil, without guile or cunning, harmless.' Anybody who thinks kids are innocent doesn't know children."

Castle feels that his newest suspense chiller, "Let's Kill Uncle," in Technicolor which opens Saturday at the Jet Theatre, illustrates his contention.

The story concerns two 13-year-olds, Pat Card and Mary Badham, who learn that the boy's uncle, Nigel Green, plans to do away with them in order to get his hands on $5,000,000.

It's Mary's idea that the best defense is a good offense, and that instead of waiting to become targets, "let's kill uncle." Once committed to the deadly duel for survival, the kids outdo each other in what Webster refers to as "guile," "cunning" and all-round harmfulness.
